Santa Arrives On Time Despite Rain And Sleet

Neither the heavily overcast skies nor the maddening, misty drizzle that hung in the morning air could stop Santa Claus from arriving in Plymouth on time last Saturday morning. The bad weather forced Santa to give up his helicopter for a fire engine but, nevertheless, he greeted the anxiously awaiting children who stood in the cold, crisp wind patiently peering in every direction. The youngsters had been looking forward to this day for an entire year and it showed in the anxious expressions on their faces as they gathered long before the scheduled time of arrival for the man from the North Pole.

Forum Hears Four Views On Housing

In keeping with its policy of discussing the most important topics of the day, the Businessmen's Forum will present a forum on "Open Occupancy A Hot Issue" at its noon luncheon meeting on Thursday noon at the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth. The topic will be pursued from four different angles: James Tierney, state representative, from the state's position; Charles Lowe, city attorney, from the city angle; Dr. Henry Walch, president of the Plymouth Ministerial Association, on the church's view; and Earl Keim, Plymouth realtor, from the businessman's viewpoint. All area businessmen are invited to attend and hear the opinions of the panel.

MANY PARENTS reached the central business district where Santa was due to land several hours in advance to assure their children a good look at the fat man with the white whiskers.

The rain and mist didn't seem to bother any of them—even when word came that Santa had foregone the helicopter and was now arriving by fire engine. The mere fact that he was on the way was sufficient to keep the youngsters keyed up.

A wild howl of delight rent the heavy morning air when the fire engine hove into sight with Santa standing on the back platform waving to all and sundry.

WHEN HE reached the section of Main Street, opposite Kellogg Park, he was greeted by city and township officials. In the group were Mayor James Jabara, Township Supervisor John E. McEwen and former Mayor James Houk.

They escorted the jolly old gent to his new home in the P&A Theatre which had been nicely prepared for him by the members of the Garden Club. This will be Santa's headquarters until Christmas and he will be on hand each afternoon and evening until the big day.

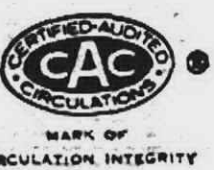

The new home is a big improvement over the igloo in the park that has been used in other years. But the big news is the fact that Santa has arrived in Plymouth and he's anxious to meet all his young friends while here.

Lawton Quits Post On Area Planning Body

George Lawton, former member of the Plymouth City Commission, has resigned from his post as one of the city's representatives on the Area Planning Commission.

He recently has moved into a home in the township and, therefore, is no longer eligible to represent the city.

The resignation was received with regrets by the City Commission Monday evening.

Surprise-- Traffic Lights Are Normal

If you have been one of the many who have been caught in the middle of the intersection at Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street when the light changes it might interest you to know that the timing of the lights meets accepted standards throughout the country.

This was the information imparted to the members of the City Commission Monday night by Police Chief Robert Corrington.

The Plymouth chief was moved to make an investigation following the publishing of a picture in The Mail & Observer showing the distances and the time allotted from one side to the other.

IT WAS STATED then that a pedestrian did not have sufficient time to make the crossing with the lights.

Following is Chief Corrington's report:

On Nov. 9, 1967 the timing of the pedestrian signal at Main and Ann Arbor Trail was made and crossing Main St. it was found that the WALK sign is on 5 1/2 seconds, and the flashing DON'T WALK sign is on for 17 seconds making a total walking time for 22 1/2 seconds allowed by the signals before the light turns red.

Crossing Ann Arbor Trail at Main St. the WALK sign is on for 10 seconds, and the flashing DON'T WALK sign is on for 17 seconds making a total walking time of 27 seconds allowed by the signals before the light turns red.

The width of Ann Arbor Trail on the West side of Main St. is 67 feet and on the East side of Main St. is 46 feet. The width of Main St. crossing Ann Arbor Trail on the North side is 81 feet and on the South side it is 51 feet.

MR. HARRISON of the Wayne County Signal Department was contacted on Nov. 21, 1967 and the width of the streets together with the timing was given to him. Mr. Harrison explained that the pedestrian signals timing is determined by the width of the street at the crosswalks, and that the standard used throughout the country is four feet of street width per second of walking time. This is considered the walking pace of an elderly person or a woman with a baby carriage. Thus we find that even at our widest part, 81 feet, the time required by the accepted standard to cross the street would be 20.2 seconds and the light allows 22 1/2 seconds.

The timing of the pedestrian signals at Main St. and Ann Arbor Trail conform to the accepted traffic engineering standards throughout the country.

Open Housing Code Adopted By 4-3 Vote

After a heated debate of more than two hours and a great deal of political maneuvering, the Plymouth City Commission approved a controversial open housing ordinance Monday night by a slender 4 to 3 margin. Before the final vote, two attempts were made to delay action.

The first of these came when Commissioner James Houk attempted to have the matter tabled and Commissioner Arch Vallier tried to rally enough strength to have the issue placed on the ballot at the next election. Both attempts failed before another well filled commission chamber.

Then, when the all-important vote was taken to approve the third and final reading of the ordinance, Commissioner Robert Smith, who has carried the fight for adoption from the start, was joined by Commissioners Peter Schweitzer, James McKeon and James Houk in supporting it.

The negative votes were cast by Commissioners Vallier, George Hudson and Mayor James Jabara.

WHEN THE CLERK called the tally and announced that the open housing ordinance had passed, it marked the end, for the time being at least, of a struggle that has been going on for several months on the Commission.

The controversial measure was discussed for the first time when the Human Relations Committee requested that the Commission adopt an open housing ordinance. Heeding this request, the Commission instructed City Attorney Charles Lowe to prepare such an ordinance. This required several weeks.

The ordinance was given first reading on the night it was introduced. Then followed one of the largest attended public hearings of all time in the city before the measure was given the second reading.

The third reading was delayed because of the absence of Commissioner Houk from the city, and the date for the final action was set as Monday, Dec. 4.

Meanwhile, Commissioner Smith attempted to swing a vote in Commissioner Houk's absence when he moved that the commissioners approve a resolution, asking the members of the State Legislature to pass the open occupancy measure.

His effort failed when Commissioner Vallier commanded sufficient strength to beat the motion.

This cleared the decks for Monday night's final action—but it wasn't a cut and dried meeting by any means.

BECAUSE OF THE large gathering in attendance, Mayor Jabara had the item advanced on the agenda in order that action could be taken before the largest number of spectators. No sooner had he introduced the action than Houk, in a written statement, asked that the third reading of the ordinance be tabled, on the premise that the Commissioners did not have the time necessary to study the various points brought out at the public hearing.

This Familiar Sight Is Due To Pass From Scene After Holiday Season.

D&C To Close After 29 Years

Another old land mark in the central business district is going to be missing after the holidays.

The D & C Store, which has been on the corner of Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail since 1939, is falling victim to economic pressures and will pass into history about mid-January.

"We are opening our closing out sale the day after Christmas", Jack Herman, manager of the store, stated, "and we should be closed about the middle of the next month". WITH THE passing of the once popular store, 13 employees will be left unemployed but, according to Manager Herman most of them are of retirement age.

"We sure hate to leave Plymouth", he confided, "for we have enjoyed it here for years. But economics are forcing the move and there is just nothing that we can do about it."

The Plymouth store at one time was the top establishment in the chain. In recent years, however, it has fallen by the wayside in the heavy competition from the larger shopping centers in the area.

According to Manager Herman the Plymouth store is now ranked in the mid-twenties of the 39 stores in the chain.

IT WILL BE a sad parting for the employees, too, as most of them have been with the store for from 15 to 20 years and have been looked upon as the patriarchs of the central business district.

The passing of the D & C store marks the second departure of a long established firm in the past month. Only recently Wendell Lent announced the passing of the Davis & Lent clothing store after many years in business.

Court Finds Youth Guilty

Lawrence Albert Marsh, 18, of South Lyons, pleaded guilty Monday in the City Municipal Court on the charge of larceny from an automobile and was fined $75 or seven days by Judge Dunbar Davis.

Davis made the stipulation that if the fine was not paid by Dec. 7 Marsh would serve the jail sentence.

Marsh was arrested last week for stealing a tachometer and a four-speed gear shift knob from a car. The items were valued at $53.

Driver Injured When His Truck Hits Train

Robert W. Perry, 31, of 41307 Wilcox, Plymouth, was injured early Sunday morning when he drove his 1963 Chevrolet Pickup Truck into the twenty-second car of an 83 car train at the C & O crossing near Fair on Main St.

Perry left the cab of the truck after the accident and called Plymouth City police from a nearby friend's home. He was reported to be in satisfactory condition. No one else was in the truck.

The truck driver told police that, as he passed Fair St. while going north on Main, he was blinded by oncoming lights and the next thing he remembered was that he was unable to stop in time. He said that he turned the steering wheel sharp to the left to avoid the train.

THE CONDUCTOR, Frank Russell, of Ohio, stated that he realized the train had been hit when he heard something scrape the caboose. When he looked out he saw a truck sitting on the track and stopped the train.

The train was traveling about five miles an hour and it carried the pickup about 60 to 70 feet before it stopped. The front end of the truck was badly mangled.

Two other serious accidents were also reported by police over the weekend.

One involved a pedestrian, Claude Cornwall, 35, of Westland, who was struck by a car driven by Gloria T. Brooks, 45, of 6386 Curtis, Plymouth.

Cornwall was hit while walking across Penniman by the Brooks' car which was making a left turn from Main onto Penniman. His condition is unknown.

The woman was issued a violation for failure to yield right of way to a pedestrian.

THE SECOND accident occurred in front of Plymouth High School on Main St. It involved two cars colliding head on.

A vehicle driven by John Zander, 28, of 535 Starkweather Plymouth, crashed into a car driven by Raymond O'Neil Golden, 26, of Wyandotte.

Golden and his three passengers, Elaine Golden, 21, Dorothea Golden, 22, and Arvie Golden, 24, were all injured but their condition was not disclosed by a Wyandotte Hospital.

Zander told city police that he saw the other car come at his vehicle and he told his passenger "watch it". He said he hit the automobile and drove it back about four feet.

No one was injured in the Zander car.

Golden stated that the other vehicle came right at him but he couldn't get out of the way. He said he was on his own side of the street.

In an analysis, the police reported that Golden's car was about six inches on its side of the double yellow lines after the collision and Zander's auto wheels were sitting on the yellow lines after the accident.

Dr. Clark Faces Trial For Manslaughter

OBSERVER

Medical Experts Testify

Testimony of medical experts in Farmington Township Justice Court was vital Monday in Dr. Ronald E. Clark being bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for trial on a charge of manslaughter.

The same testimony served to indicate that what amount of sodium pentothal may be used safely in medical treatment, and for what purposes, are the key questions both in the prosecution and defense of the 56-year-old Farmington medic.

JUSTICE of the Peace Byron Walter, at the end of Dr. Clark's three-hour examination on the accusation that the physician is accountable for the Nov. 3 death in his office of Mrs. Grace Neil, 43, of Livonia, ruled:

1. "That sufficient evidence has been produced to believe a crime has been committed."

2. "That the testimony is sufficient to establish reasonable grounds for the belief that the defendant has committed it."

Mrs. Neil, a part-time nurse for Dr. Clark who also was being treated for an alleged heart ailment, died, according to the prosecution, after receiving an overdose of sodium pentothal from Dr. Clark.

Dr. S. David Kutov, toxicologist of the Michigan Department of Health, testified that in testing a blood sample from Mrs. Neil after her death he had found the blood to contain 3.1 milligram per cent of sodium pentothal.

"I am of the opinion that this particular concentration would account for the death of the subject," said Dr. Kutov from the witness stand.

He said no other barbiturates were found in the blood and added that men of his profession consider any quantity of sodium pentothal between three and four milligrams "to be lethal."

DR. RICHARD E. OLSON, the pathologist who performed the autopsy on Mrs. Neil, testified that he found no cause for her death, "but the fact that the blood did not clot indicated presence of some foreign substance in the blood."

He also testified that he does not consider it proper medical procedure to treat a heart patient with sodium pentothal. He said the drug has a hypnotic effect and is normally used in psychiatric treatment or as an anesthetic.

Under extensive cross-examination by Philip Rowston, the court-appointed attorney for Dr. Clark, Dr. Kutov reviewed the entire testing procedure in detail. He was ordered by the court to maintain all organic samples involved in the case for future laboratory availability.

MEANWHILE, Dr. Clark has been returned to the Oakland County Jail to await trial after Rowston's plea that his bond be reduced from $50,000 to $5,000 was denied by Judge Walter.

Assistant Prosecutors John Bain and Bruce Leitman vigorously protested any reduction in the bond. They also predicted that Dr. Clark will be brought to trial "within three or four months."

Arraignment on the manslaughter charge has been set for Monday, Dec. 18 in Oakland County Circuit Court before Judge William Beer.

He is scheduled for one more appearance in Farmington Township Court, this one on a misdemeanor charge that he failed to notify the coroner after Mrs. Neil had died "under unusual circumstances." That lower court hearing has been set for 2 p.m., Friday, Dec. 15 and bond set at $10,000.

'Why Was License Renewed?' Asks Schmidt

LANING—Rep. Louis E. Schmidt today asked state officials to explain how accused killer Dr. Ronald E. Clark is still a licensed physician.

He asked for details on two previous revocations of his license despite complaints from patients.

Clark underwent examination Monday for manslaughter in the death of a Livonia nurse to whom he administered sodium pentothal. Clark's clinic is at 30735 Grand River, Farmington.

Schmidt noted the criticism of licensing practices of the State Board of Registration in Medicine by Dr. Irving Kurtz, president of the state board and his promise of an "informal perusal of the facts."

"WHY, UNDER the circumstances, and in view of previous revocations of Dr. Clark's license, can't the State Board of Medicine suspend the license pending the results of a more formal hearing," Schmidt demanded in his letter.

"The lay public places their lives in the hands of doctors. It is, therefore, most important that those in authority in the state take action to protect the people."

"I hope someone will be able to explain the general policy that 'the board does not act on the license of a doctor who has a case pending in court.'"

"Suspension of the license is not revocation. Surely there may be cause for a third li-

11 Resignations Hit Oakland Board

Oakland County's Mental Health Board met Tuesday to determine the extent of its personnel problems.

Convicts Nabbed In Killing

Two inmates of Jackson State Prison will stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court in the murder of Westland's Anthony Volante, supermarket owner whose body was pulled from the Detroit River last July 2, nearly five months after he disappeared.

BOUND OVER for trial following a preliminary examination in the Inkster Municipal Court were David Krogol 24, formerly of Southgate, and Gene Mitchell 26, formerly of Wyandotte.

Volante, manager of a Wrigley Supermarket in Lincoln Park, was the object of an intense police search ever since he was last seen driving his auto into his driveway at 7531 August Street the evening of Feb. 15.

Another auto immediately pulled in behind him and Volante was seen by a neighbor getting into the second car which drove off.

The two defendants have been in police custody since Feb. 24, nine days after Volante's disappearance when Mitchell and Krogol were arrested in the armed robbery of a Wyandotte bar.

AT THE TIME of the bar holdup, Mitchell was facing trial for a Jan. 12 robbery of a Southgate supermarket.

Last June, the pair was given 20-to-30 year prison sentences in the Wyandotte bar holdup.

Although the car used in the bar robbery and in the Volante kidnapping were identical, Lincoln Park police investigators had other reasons to feel that the two were involved in the Volante case.

In the week just after Volante's disappearance, Krogol was reported to have taken the auto to a do-it-yourself car wash three times with the interior being scrubbed.

Stains were found on the vinyl seat covers and the car's interior although the police could not identify them.

But until Volante's body was found in July floating in the Detroit River near Celeron Island, southwest of Grosse Ile, there was a chance that Volante was still alive.

The safe at the supermarket he managed was emptied of $2,658 the night of Volante's disappearance.

cense revocation regardless of whether a criminal act has been committed.

"THE WELFARE of the general public and welfare of a community are involved," he said he wanted to discuss with the board its guidelines for revoking and renewing licenses and for followup investigation of such cases.

Schmidt fired off his letter to Gov. Romney, Kurtz, and Lenton G. Sculthorp.

Charges made by the 11 had been heard earlier by mental health leaders in the county.

The resignations are to become effective Jan. 3. The director of OTI resigned last week. Those resigning Monday included a psychologist, a social worker and various therapists.

Seniors To Hear Planner

ANN ARBOR--Constantinos A. Doxiadis, the Athenian urban planner who has been projecting southeastern Michigan's future into the 21st century, will deliver the winter commencement address at The University of Michigan on Dec. 16.

The University will confer about 2,000 degrees, about 900 of them at the bachelor level and the rest in graduate and professional programs. Two hundred thirty doctorates will be awarded.

Doxiadis will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from U-M President Harlan Hatcher.

THE CEREMONY will begin with the academic procession into Hill Auditorium at 1:45 p.m. Doxiadis, an architect and engineer by training, has been directing the Detroit Urban Area Study for the past several years. He also is director of research on the cities of the future being conducted at Athens Technological Institute. He is chairman of the institute's board of directors.

He is president of Doxiadis Associates, consultants on development and esthetics. Esthetics is the science of how man is related to his environment in human settlements from villages to megalopolises.

Doxiadis has served the Greek government as head of the department of regional and town planning and, after World War II, as secretary of housing reconstruction and coordinator of the Greek recovery program.

The curriculum in French will offer to those interested Elementary, Intermediate French and French Literature.

Other courses are: Theoretical Chemistry, Foundations of Education I, Directed Reading in English, Advanced Clothing, Modern Algebra, Instrumental Techniques, Comparative Government I, Biological Science, Introduction to Anthropology, Elementary Spanish and Liturgy in Family Life.

Application blanks and additional details may be obtained by calling the registrar of Madonna College, 425-8000.

Cigarette Tar Listing Questioned

A new government report listing tar and nicotine content of 59 brands of U.S. cigarettes has been attacked as meaningless by the Tobacco Institute, spokesman for the tobacco industry.

The validity of the government findings was also questioned by two of the five members of the Federal Trade Commission, which issued the listing.

The report said Marvelfilter cigarettes had the least tar and nicotine. It said the brand with the most tar content was the nonfilter, king-size Chesterfield, and the one with the most nicotine was the same type Raleigh.

The Tobacco Institute said the rankings meant nothing because there is "no scientifically established relationship between tar and nicotine levels and human health."

And, the institute said, while there are more than 150 kinds and sizes of cigarettes made in this country, only 59 were tested.

Edison Constructs Plant In Canton Twp.

Frequent travelers along Cherry Hill Road near Lilley Road, in Canton Township, have, since last April, been witnessing the construction of a major bulk power station in the Detroit Edison new 345,000-volt electric transmission system.

Designated by the company as the Wayne Station, the facility will fulfill two key functions. It will be the junction point for three sections of the 345,000-volt system and it will serve as a step-down station to 120,000 volts for subsequent distribution to most of the western half of Wayne County and for all of Washtenaw County.

The power-carrying capacity and efficiency of electrical transmission lines increases with voltage; electricity can be carried over greater distances, with less line-loss, when the voltage is high. The technology, however, for sending high volttages through electric wires has presented the electric industry with some very challenging and expensive research.

EDISON'S accomplishment, in raising its major transmission system from 120,000 volts to 345,000 volts, will, theoretically, increase the capacity of its lines by a factor of nine.

A spokesman explained that, in electric transmission, the power carrying capability of 345,000-volt lines is not merely three times that of 120,000-volt lines, as appears mathematically logical, but is actually nearly nine times the power carrying capability of 120,000-volt lines.

However, with Detroit Edison's concern for system reliability, along with that of the entire electric industry, the company has constructed double circuit lines, each capable of carrying 345,000 volts, to assure firm electric supply.

The company's 345,000-volt system is designed to loop the Detroit metropolitan area, and will run for 128 miles from the St. Clair Power Plant, west through Pontiac, south to Wayne, and extend on down through Monroe and to the Ohio border.

THE WAYNE STATION is one of two major stations in the system. The other one is the Pontiac Station. The two stations are almost exactly alike in structure and capability, but the Pontiac Station is about four months ahead in construction.

The primary equipment on both sites are breakers, transformers, transmission towers, and switching bus bars. The station towers are 70 feet tall while the transmission towers rise approximately 130 feet above ground level.

The design of the Wayne Station, however, is low profile with structures, other than towers, at heights of less than 30 feet. The station occupies about 11 acres near the center of more than 70 acres of property at the site owned by Detroit Edison, permitting wide yards between the perimeter of the property and the transformer station structures.

The 345,000-volt system is a part of the Michigan power pool, of which the Detroit Edison Company and Consumers Power Company are the principal members, and is designed for interconnecting transmission lines to five other major electric utility companies in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois.

IN ADDITION to Consumers Power and Detroit Edison, the other electric systems are Toledo Edison Company, Toledo, Ohio; Ohio Power Company, Canton, Ohio; Indiana and Michigan Electric Company, Fort Wayne, Indiana; Northern Indiana Public Service Company, Hammond, Indiana; and Commonwealth Edison Company, Chicago, Illinois.

The Wayne Station will serve as the interconnection point for lines going south to Lima, O. and for lines west to Consumers Power's large nuclear plant just west of Kalamazoo and on into South Bend, Ind.

Approximately one half of the Wayne Station is scheduled to go into operation in October, 1968, and the other half will be in service by June, 1969.

The interconnection transmission lines for the four states and seven utilities are scheduled for completion in June, 1969.

News In County Tax Bills

Wayne County's new fiscal year began on Dec. 1 with a cheerful note for the taxpayers. County property tax bills being mailed to approximately 750,000 property owners in the county reflect a tax cut.

The county tax rate has been cut from $7.747 per $1,000 of equalized valuation to $7.07. The 67.7 cent decrease means a tax savings of about $3.40 on property with a market value of $10,000.

The decrease results from completion of an $82-million capital improvements program in 12 years, three years ahead of schedule.

IN 1954 THE VOTERS approved a 15-year special levy of 75 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation for the building program. The full 75 cents was levied for only 11 years. Only 67.7 cents was needed last year for debt service on the bonds used to finance the program.

Buildings constructed under the program include the 511-bed Wayne County General Hospital; the Wayne County Youth Home, built to accommodate 160 boys and 60 girls; the jail annex, which increased capacity from 770 to 1,124 prisoners; the Wayne County Federated Library System headquarters; and the D.J. Healy Home for neglected children.

By redeeming the bonds early, the county saved nearly $600,000 in interest, county officials estimate.

The largest single project was the $36.7-million water plant, located in Allen Park. The facility was acquired by the City of Detroit in 1963 as part of a metropolitan water supply system.

The county's budget for the new fiscal year is $127,160,325, compared with $120,456,100 for 1966-67. Despite the budget increase, property tax revenue is expected to come to $67,011,625—$4,031,805 less than last year.

Canada Hikes Taxes, Fights Inflation

Canada's Liberal government has attacked inflation by raising the taxes on alcohol and tobacco by 10 per cent, effective immediately, and slapping a 5 per cent surcharge on personal income taxes Jan. 1. The surcharge will reportedly affect five of every six Canadians paying income tax. More tax increases appear to lie ahead for the Canadians. Opposition members of Commons attacked the tax measures as an attempt to get out of a bad situation brought on by past fiscal mistakes.

A team of Capetown, South Africa surgeons Sunday performed the world's first successful human heart transplant on a 55-year-old man. They worked for five hours replacing the man's heart with one from a young woman killed in an automobile accident. One of the surgeons said that the heart began beating as soon as the patient's nerves were connected to it. The doctors cautioned that it may be some time before they are able to tell whether the new heart will be accepted by the man's body.

Mao Tse-tung is reported in failing health by Westerners who attended Revolution Day ceremonies in Peking. The 74-year-old Mao was reported to be paralyzed in the left arm following a stroke.

His first name is Adolf and Adolf von Thadden, chairman of West German's neo-Nazi National Democratic Party speaks in a manner reminiscent of the Adolf Hitler. Among the planks he has included in his Party's political platform: The infamous Waffen SS of the last World War should no longer be subjected to: defamatory condemnation; Germany must repudiate the lie of its guilt for World War II; former German territories seized by the Allies must be returned; and education must be placed under the jurisdiction of the government.

The United Nations, after nearly six weeks of debate, has agreed unanimously to send a special envoy to the Middle East in a move to establish permanent peace between Israel and the Arab nations. The UN action, first concrete step since the six-day war erupted in the Middle East on June 5, comes at a time of continued bloodshed along the Israeli-Jordanian cease-fire line and armed clashes in the tense Suez Canal area.

GOP Set To Help Children

"Operation: Christmas for Kids" -- a Michigan Republican sponsored campaign to provide Christmas gifts of clothing and toys for more than 700 underprivileged children in the metropolitan Detroit area--has been launched in the 15th Republican Congressional District (which includes Westland and Garden City) by Mrs. Althea Amerman of Belleville, District Involvement Chairman.

"These young children, who are from three to five years old, attend day care centers and have largely been neglected by service and charitable organizations," stated Mrs. Amerman.

"They have no family to speak of, and have not experienced the joy of Christmas as many of us have," she said. "Many of these children have very little underclothing, and only meager necessities of outer clothing. While their most pressing physical need is for clothing, each child emotionally would like a toy of his very own."

"We urge all citizens, Republicans and Democrats alike, to purchase socks, underwear, dresses, heavy sweaters, trousers or toys for these children," urged Mrs. Amerman.

A collection center for these gifts will be maintained at the District Headquarters at 23749 Van Born Rd., Taylor, and is open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Study Nears Finish

The Garden City Charter Study Committee is expected to complete its work and submit a list of recommendations to the City Council by the end of this month, reported Luther Walker, committee chairman. He said that the committee, which has been meeting weekly since October, has been discussing nine amendments to the City Charter.

The most discussion among the committee members, he said, has been on the changing of the city's fiscal year from a April 1-March 30 period to the July 1-June 30 period and the suggestion of four-year terms for city officials, who now serve two year terms.

Walker stressed that the committee has been only discussing the charter points and no recommendations have been made yet.

All recommendations would have to go to the City Council which would then decide which amendments would be placed on the ballot for the voters' approval or rejection.

Since the five-member group was formed several months ago, Councilman Douglas Waddell was replaced by Gerald Coleman who underwent surgery last week and was subsequently succeeded by Dr. Francis Schmidt. In addition, Councilman Wilson Taylor stepped down in favor of Jess Talbot.

BPW Plans Party

The Garden City Business and Professional Women's Club will hold its annual Christmas party in conjunction with its Bosses' and Men's Night, Thursday, Dec. 16.

The event, to start at 7 p.m. in Plymouth with a smorgasbord, is under the direction of chairman Margaret Erickson. On her committee are Loupatti Miller and club officers Fran Thibodeau, president; Thelma Nash, first vice president; Marjorie Rayl, second vice president; Maybelle Shon, recording secretary; Evelyn Fitzpatrick, corresponding secretary; and Hilda Murphy, treasurer.

Christmas gifts will be exchanged among members that night along with a man's gift if the husband or boss also attend.

The November card party and smorgasbord brought in more than $300, reported chairman Marjorie Rayl, although not all of the receipts are in yet. The event is the club's largest fund-raiser of the year with the funds being used to support annual scholarships of $100 each to seniors at East and West High Schools, plus other donations, including a needy family at Christmas.

Answers On Public Workers Strikes

Here's a practical question for Michigan residents, especially in the suburbs where teachers and policemen and building inspectors are bargaining with local government: Do you think public employees should have the right to strike? Before you snap back "yes" or "never," listen to Jack Stieber, director of Michigan State University's School of Labor and Industrial Relations.

HE SAYS some should and some shouldn't -- and he suggests which ones, and what to do for those who shouldn't be allowed to strike. Writing in the autumn issue of MSU Business Topics, Stieber distinguishes three categories of public employees:

1. Those whose services "cannot be given up for even the shortest period of time." He includes policemen, firemen and prison personnel. No strike should be allowed, but he proposes compulsory arbitration as the final tool in negotiating.

2. Those whose services "can be interrupted for a limited period but not indefinitely." These are workers in hospitals, public utilities, sanitation and schools. He would allow them the right to strike, but any strike "should be made subject to injunctive relief through the courts when they begin to threaten the health, safety or welfare of the community."

3. All other public employees. "Work stoppages in government activities which do not fall into either of the above classifications should be permitted on the same basis as in private industry."

THE PROBLEM of work stoppages--whether one calls them "strikes" or simply "failure of employees to report because they have no contract"--is a growing one, Stieber writes.

There were 142 stoppages involving 105,000 employees nationwide in 1966, more than three times as many as in 1965. What's more, all but nine involved local government, with schools leading the list.

"Strikes in public employment are bound to increase because government is the largest and fastest-growing industry in the United States, and public employees are joining unions at a rapid rate," Stieber observes. The only AFL-CIO unions growing rapidly are those with government employees.

"The trend is away from laws calling for automatic dismissal or other severe penalties...for striking public employees," Stieber says, citing Michigan's 1965 modification of the Hutchinson Act.

THE GOVERNMENT as an employer is not, however, in the same bargaining position as the private employer, he notes.

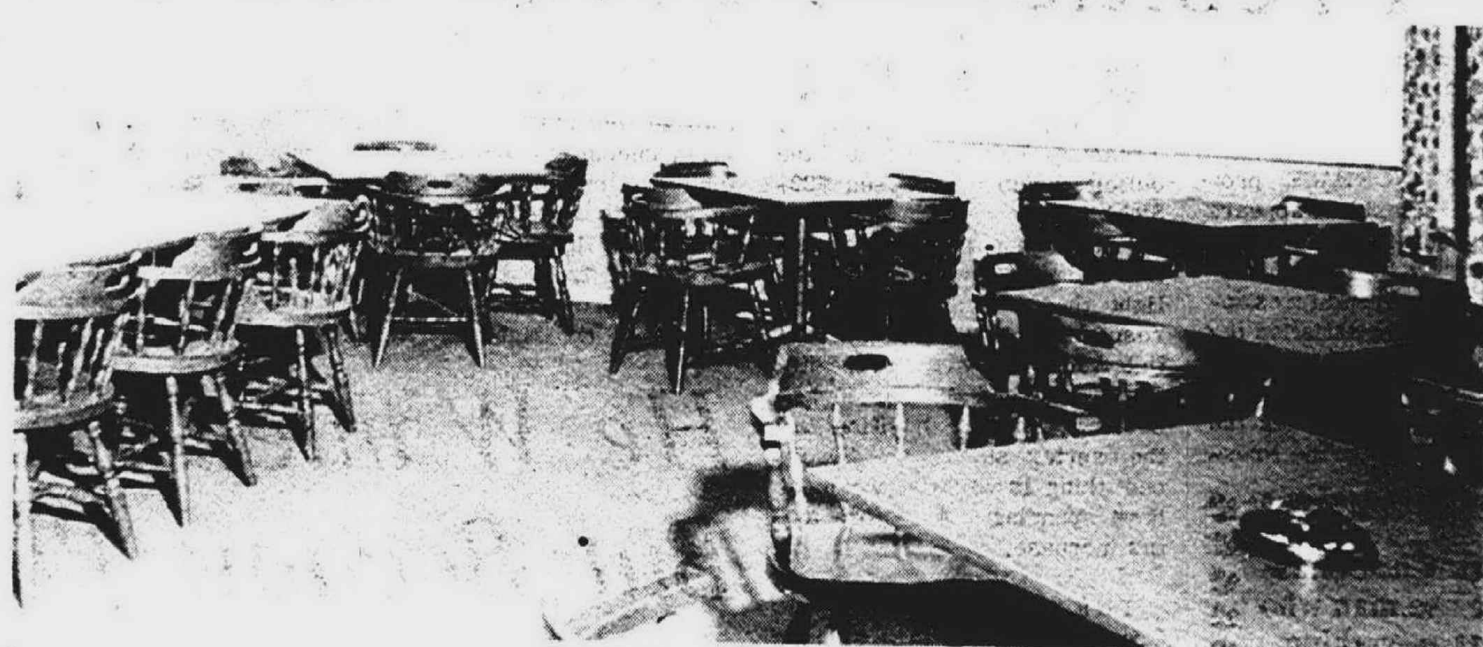

"Given the low salaries and poor conditions that often characterize employment in our schools, hospitals, social agencies and other public services," Stieber says, "one is loath to deprive these employees of any legitimate weapon to improve their situation, unless it is clear that irreparable injury may result to the community at large."

Thus, he argues for new methods for handling the impasses that governments and their employees sometimes face.

President's Proposed Tax Increase Appears Doomed

As this session of Congress numbers to a close, here are some random thoughts on current topics.

The TAX INCREASE proposed by the President appears to be dead for this year. Last minute actions by the Administration to cut expenditures appears not to have satisfied the House's appetite for frugality.

The current game seems to be "Budget, budget, who has the budget." Last week, the President indicated we may have between a $30-$35 billion deficit. This week, Secretary of Treasury Fowler indicated the deficit would be between $22-$25 billion.

Far from a humorous game, the budget inaccuracies highlight the great lack of fiscal responsibility on the part of this Administration and the difficulty the country has in assessing what its position on the surtax should be. Surely one thing is certain, we must have spending cuts before any tax increase.

THE ADJOURNMENT OF Congress will occur shortly and both the people and their representatives will get a rest from the workings of this rather uneventful session. The failure to come to grips with the major issues is indicative of poor leadership by the majority party and its tendency to move away from close association with an unpopular Administration. There is no real excuse for federal workers having to face payless paydays and closed offices as a result of Congressional foot dragging on appropriations and other basic legislation.

Air Mail Service to the Second Congressional District may be improved as a result of an investigation initiated by my office. My action came after I had received complaints about air mail letters taking up to four days to arrive locally from nearby midwestern points. The Post Office has promised me that air mail will now be routed directly to its destination from the airport rather than be routed through Detroit as in the past. A recent decision by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads has given encouragement to my efforts to eliminate roadside traffic hazards. Rigidly fixed signposts and lightpoles will now be banned from all new construction projects. While this is a move in the right direction, the need is still urgent to eliminate existing hazards and the many other types of deathtraps which continue to be built next to our roads.

THE number of U.S. military casualties in Vietnam continues to mount. One day last week the daily casualty list received in my office ran 11 pages and contained the names of 116 dead and 53 missing. The supreme sacrifice recently paid by four more young men from the Second Congressional District brings closer to home and emphasizes the need the desire for a rapid conclusion to this war.

More administrative mix-ups in social security payments continue to be brought to my attention. Currently I have some 20 cases in progress bringing the total handled this year to something more than 150. In the rush to increase benefits this year, Congress failed to consider the obvious need for administrative improvements in the program. I will renew my demand next year for a full investigation of the operations of the Social Security Administration as a part of my continuing effort to end the long delays and inaccuracies found in the processing of claims. In the meantime, if you are experiencing difficulties with Social Security or any other Federal government service contact me immediately by writing care of the House Office Building, Washington, D.C. or by calling my district office in Ann Arbor (665-0618) or in Monroe (242-7580). You can be sure I will do everything possible and proper to be of assistance.

He Wanted To Be A Sailor But Became Plymouth Fire Chief

"My biggest ambition was to be a skipper of a lakes freighter. I went to work on the lakes in 1939 and when the war broke out I joined the Merchant Marine and was commissioned a lieutenant by the Coast Guard."

Not everyone who has become a fireman has started out as a deckhand on the lakes.

But, the City of Plymouth's Fire Chief, George Schoenneman, did it and he has put in twenty years as a fire fighter to prove that he made the right choice.

Schoenneman became the city's first full time fireman besides the chief at the time, on Sept. 8, 1947.

Before that he worked at a small factory in Wayne, Mich. He said that he simply answered an ad in the paper that advertised for a fireman for Plymouth.

"After I started, the work grew on me and I realized it was my life's work," he said.

THE FIRE CHIEF was born in Detroit on May 14, 1921. He graduated from Cooley High School in 1939 and from there he went into sailing.

In 1945 he married his wife, Winifred, and shortly after they moved to Plymouth where they now live at 357 N. Harvey. He said that he and his wife will celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Feb. 27, 1968.

The Schoennemans have two children: a married son Dave, 23, who lives in Plymouth; and a daughter Ann, 20, who is attending Eastern Michigan University.

SCHOENNEMAN WAS assistant fire chief for 15 years before being appointed chief on Oct. 4, 1965.

When he started, the city department covered both the city and the township with two full time firemen, a chief and a few volunteers.

In 1947, the department had two rigs: a 1921 American LaFrance 750 gallon pumper; and a 1937 General Motors 500 gallon pumper.

At the time there were no fire hydrants in the Township and the rigs only carried 150 gallons of water in their tanks.

THE CHIEF SAID he could remember the first fire he went to fight.

It was in the Township at the Supervisor's house. A shed behind the house was burning. After they arrived with the truck, the rig ran out of water and nearby farmers formed a bucket brigade and scooped water from a nearby trough and kept the truck filled.

However, the firemen couldn't save the shed because the leaves and sediment from the bottom of the trough got scooped up with the water and clogged the fire engine's pump.

SCHOENNEMAN SAID that he has seen many changes in the department since he has been here.

The department now has six full time firemen plus the chief and 19 volunteers.

They got rid of the old trucks and now have two new American LaFrance pumps, one with a 1,000 gallon capacity and another with a 750 gallon capacity.

They also have a 65-foot aerial truck.

A single stream of water has been replaced with fog. This is water shot under high pressure that breaks into a fine spray and when it is applied to a fire it quickly turns to steam and smothers the fire.

THE CHIEF SAID that fires are more hazardous now because of the smoke that is caused by the new plastics being used.

When he started he commented that there were more grass, roof, and chimney fires. He said that people used to burn paper and sparks would come out of the chimneys and land on the wooden shingles and start a fire.

All the volunteers are monitored on home radios and are able to respond much quicker than before when they depended on hearing just the siren from the station.

THE MOST RECENT and most hazardous action the department has seen was during the riot in Detroit last July when the city firemen assisted the Detroit department. The chief said that he spent 30 hours on the job while his men changed crews on and off.

THE CHRISTMAS POINSETTIA

The lovely Christmas poinsettia came from Mexico, and received its name from Dr. Joel Poinsett of Charleston, S. C., who introduced it to the United States. It is another flower that only has red leaves, not petals, surrounding the tiny flowers.

It will grow in gardens in the South, and reaches heights of two to ten feet.

It is associated with Christmas mainly because of its red and green coloring, and some say it is a replica of the star of Bethlehem that guided the shepherds to the Christ child.

Order your poinsettia for Christmas now... or send one to a friend or a loved one. We have many beautiful Christmas flowers and decorations.

Come From Campuses, Pulpits, Ghettos To Press Views

Concerned Dems Put Strength Behind McCarthy

By DON HOENSHELL

Intellectuals and liberals who are walking away from President Johnson on Vietnam and estranged by a faltering war on poverty and racism will be heard in the Democratic party in 1968. They warn that they want more than a one-shot nod in 1968, that they are shooting for a hand on the levers of power.

They came to Cobo Hall Saturday through the ice and drizzle to the convention of the Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats.

THERE WAS a shortage of the old familiar faces and voices from the halcyon days of the 1950s as more than 500 revived the image of Briefcase Democrats, less concerned with candidates than with issues.

They came from the campuses and the pulpits, from the ghettos and the suburbs to seek involvement.

Concerned Democrats, headed by temporary chairman, James Pino, the Gratiot County Democratic chairman, are massing behind Minnesota Senator Eugene McCarthy, challenger to President Johnson in early primaries and, in Michigan, behind resigned Democratic State Chairman Zolton A. Ferency.

They heard Ferency and U.S. Rep. John Conyers, of Detroit's First District, preach the gospel of self-determination — in politics as well as in foreign policy — they took a dose of general liberalism from TV Star Robert Vaughn and heard McCarthy's speech piped in from Chicago.

Even McCarthy doesn't believe he can dump Mr. Johnson as the party's candidate in 1968, but states with Ferency and others that this growing voice should be heard.

Ferency, who said earlier he will resign Jan. 15 or sooner if a successor is chosen, said he is bucking the Establishment on the approach to issues, not philosophy.

"Hopefully, we'll have a slate in Michigan for McCarthy and slates on the issues," he said. "When I say 'we,' I place myself in the category of seeking alternatives on candidates and issues on the great questions of our time."

Ferency reiterated he has no plan to join Concerned Democrats or, if he does, to take a leadership role, but said the reasons for the organization are many of the reasons he quit.

Throughout the day there ran a series of consistent points:

- Vietnam is an "immoral war" and the United States should withdraw in that the sending of troops to Asia is of doubtful legality.

- Domestic policies, such as the War on Poverty, have not substantially helped the have-nots of either major race or lessened racial tensions which brought riots to the major cities last summer.
- Concerned Democrats are rebelling against the party hierarchy.

"We will serve notice on the gentlemen at 900 W. Michigan in Lansing (state party headquarters) that this organization is no longer a plaything," said Lynn Parsons, of the 17th district.

Bernard Klein, Detroit city controller, welcomed the delegates, adding that "you are providing a spirit of dissent that challenges the warped sense of priorities that seems to be taking place in our society today."

LIVONIA'S RON MARDIROS, fired from his license plate fee office by Secretary of State James M. Hare who said he might run for Congress against Rep. Jack H. McDonald as a peace candidate, said:

"He (Ferency) has paid a price, as you all know. But our work here today will be a testimonial to his cause."

Ferency, responding to a standing ovation, started with knuckle-cracking humor and smack-ed the administration in Washington and party leadership here with head-cracking criticism:

"I want to thank those who worked so hard to make this possible—Lyndon Johnson, Neil Staebler . . .

"There are some risks in doing what we are doing here today. You will become outcasts in the minds of some people if you have the courage of your convictions.

"But this is where the action is and this is where you belong."

He said that "liberals tend to engage in cannibalism," and urged the delegates to move ahead with their organization rather than get bogged down in fly-specking and structural disagreements.

"You should devote most of your energies to the cause in which you seek to struggle," he said. "I think the American people are now concerned by the overriding issues of our time."

"Each of us knows in his heart of hearts that if there were no Vietnam, there would be another issue — race, poverty, perhaps — to bring about critical dissent."

He said the nation still faces major problems in mass transportation, in water and air pollution, "in our very environment."

"Don't let anyone say we're a single-issue organization," Ferency said. "We are not."

Ferency urged the delegates to work through the Democratic party.

"That's where I'm going to stay whether as state chairman or delegate from Precinct 6, East Lansing," he said. "That's where I'm going to stay. I'm not going to depart the premises."

"Let them know in the halls of the party and make them listen to you. You can fight for a free convention in 1968."

HE SAID the Michigan Democratic leadership already has committed themselves to President Johnson as the 1968 nominee, and quoted a letter from National Chairman John N. Bailey urging Democrats to work for the nominee "and we all know who that will be."

Ferency quoted McCarthy as saying that he is "at least one of the" anti-LBJ candidates, adding that "I share Senator McCarthy's view that there is room for others to come forward."

"Because of groups like this, there may be a re-examination of its position by the National committee," he said. "I'm sure you will be able to deliver Michigan to the Senator McCarthy cause if you work like you have shown you can in the past."

Ferency lashed out at the "power vacuum" in the party in Michigan, adding that it is in the hands of fewer than 5,000 people.

"There is enough spirit right here in this room to take over the Democratic party of Michigan," he said. "Don't overlook the power of your individual presence at political meetings."

Ferency said the average Republican "doesn't know how he stands on Vietnam."

"But before you laugh too loudly, consider the plight of the average Democrat," Ferency said. "He has the position of LBJ or lump it."

LATER CONYERS, who won by 48 votes in a bitter primary in the First District against Richard A. Austin, defined the major issues as war and poverty, both colored by the overriding posture of racism.

He said 50 per cent of the Negro ninth graders in Detroit schools do not graduate from high school, creating "functional illiterates."

"We need in the Negro community voices to speak out," he said. "It is time we began to look at the great struggle going on in the Negro community."

Conyers said that the white-vs-white problem is just as compelling, that institutional prejudice works within the races as well as between them. "It is out of this kind of association that we're going to see some results of the struggles that have been going on for these many years."

The First and 13th district organizations already are planning to go to the national convention backing McCarthy as a favorite son.

The Concerned Democrats' statement of purpose opposed the war in Vietnam, called for self-determination among the races in this country and a marshaling of resources to solve domestic problems. It added:

"The MCD believes that the Democratic Party is the property of its members, not of its officers and candidates. It therefore will continue to seek means by which grassroots opinion may be expressed, and by which all Democrats may participate in decision-making . . ."

Stunned Dem Bosses Map Recoup Plans

By DWIGHT JARRELL
Staff Writer

CLARE, Mich.—This small central rural community sits at the intersection of US-10 and Highway 75 and proclaims itself proudly as the crossroads of Michigan.

It was here the Michigan Democratic Party met to map its direction at another crossroads, one of political crisis.

It is a party that is still stunned and hurt by the political treachery of a top general in its ranks, State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency.

After the party's big defeat in 1966, infectious apathy swept the ranks and file, morale plummeted, recruitment fell and the room was an easy ambush.

The bones of old party war horses were left beside the roadside of retreat that year. Yet all seemed merely stage setting as Ferency went on to organize the splinter organization of Concerned Democrats (now more and more often referred to as the hyphenated Democrats as differentiated from concerned Democrats) and to back the presidential candidacy of Minnesota Sen. Eugene McCarthy in a grandiose move to dump President Lyndon Johnson.

The meeting in Clare, Mich., was without precedent in the annals of the State Democratic Party.

In attendance were County and District chairman or representatives from across the Mackinac Bridge and the Upper Peninsula, to Berrien County on the Indiana border and Newberry, more than 300 miles away.

Conspicuously absent was Ferency who in Detroit was a speaker at a conference of his rebel group of concerned Democrats numbering little more than 300 in the stark expanse of empty seats in Cobo Hall.

Saturday in Clare and most of Michigan was a day of freezing rain and sleet but inside the Clare meeting the talk was of the green political pastures of grassroots politics.

Prominent by the implication of his presence as representative of Secretary of State James M. Hare, possibly the most powerful Democrat in Michigan today, was Assistant Secretary of State James F. McClure.

OSTENSIBLY, MCCLURE was there to lay plans for the reconstruction of the party after its political and financial bankruptcy in the wake of Ferency's firebrand secession.

The goals ahead are plain to see. A poll financed by the party earlier this year reveals that 49 per cent of the people of Michigan are Democrats, 35 per cent are Republicans, 16 per cent are independents.

The inference and the party's defeat in 1966 is obvious. The party is not turning out that 49 per cent.

Party Figures Come To Watch

Democratic Vice Chairman Patti Knox paid cash for her registration and listened to the new voice rising in the party in Michigan.

She had opposed Chairman Zolton A. Ferency's anti-Johnson position earlier and now must carry the load with his impending departure. Asked if she was signing up, she said:

"I've just paid my registration fee. There is no corner on the Democratic party. We need all kinds of Democrats. We have an election to win."

Mrs. Knox was the Concerned Establishment figure at the Convention of Concerned Democrats in Cobo Hall Saturday.

UAW'S POLITICAL ARM,

COPE, had observers and one of the union's top political powers, Paul Silver, arrived today as a delegate into the corridor for a talk. Neither would discuss it later.

There were others there without a direct organizational stake in either side, but long associated with the party. It was plain everybody expects Concerned Democrats to stay inside the party fold.

THE WAYNE and Oakland 19th appeared to be active in the Conference of Concerned Democrats. There was Bob Rowson, of Redford Township, whose wife, Millie, is chairman of the movement in the 19th.

There was Tony Probe, of the 17th and Gerald Fay, one time candidate for Congress from Ann Arbor, later aide to House Democrats in Lansing, and now a professor at Oakland University.

From Livonia there was Ron Mardiros, a boyhood neighbor in the downriver area of Delray to Ferency, a possible peace candidate for Congress from the 19th next year.

Paul Kadish, president of the Livonia Democratic Club, attended with a delegation, and scores of others from Farmington, Redford, and other points in the northwest suburbs were there.

Camera Catches Dem Dissidents In These Poses During Talks To Conference

'Soapy' Turns Down Plea

Ex-Gov. G. Mennen Williams turned down an appeal by the State Democratic Party's hierarchy to take over the state chairmanship held by anti-Johnson rebel Zolton Ferency, it was learned this week by The Observer Newspapers.

Williams, who led his Party to unprecedented victories in his five consecutive terms as governor (1949-1960), declined for personal reasons that have taken him out of the country on at least two occasions, this newspaper was told.

The "personal reasons" were believed connected with his expressed desire on previous occasions to make a more individual contribution in various missionary works of the church of his faith. Williams is an Episcopalian.

AT THE TIME the request was first made by Democratic leaders, as long ago as October, Williams told them, also, that he felt the position required a full time chairman.

Top Party leaders felt that Williams' political magnetism could quickly put the crippled Democratic Party back on its feet and again in step with the people in time to overcome immense political setbacks and a mounting dissipation of prestige before the 1968 general state and national elections.

THE LATTER, which resulted in a political catastrophe for the Democrats in Michigan in 1966 when Republican Gov. Romney returned to office in a landslide with a swarm of GOP office holders statewide on his coattails, was a monster Frankenstein loosed by Ferency's desertion of his duties as State Democratic Chairman.

See Levin As Probable State Chief

State Senator Sander M. Levin has emerged as the top-heavy favorite to succeed the dissident Zolton A. Ferency as Democratic State Chairman.

Support developed strongly over the last week for the 35-year-old former labor lawyer and Oakland County Chairman.

Vice Chairman Patti Knox, boomed by some for the post as the state's first distaff Democratic chieftain (a neat balance for GOP State Chairman Ely Peterson) took herself out of the race.

Mrs. Knox, wife of Detroit Housing Director Robert A. Knox, endorsed Levin. In a Clare meeting for district and county chairmen, Charles Moskowitz, 10th district chairman from Mt. Pleasant, went on record favoring Levin.

School Chief Favors All Year Plan

James Rossman, superintendent of the Plymouth Community School District, views the idea of a year around school session with favor but flatly states that the question must be approached slowly.

He said that the concept is fraught with problems and that possibly the solution should come on a larger basis than an individual school district.

At the present time, the Plymouth Board of Education has a committee studying the issue for Plymouth schools, however, they are giving the concept a different name--extended school year.

ROSSMAN STATED that he wants the study to be a real study and not simply a rubber stamp.

The Plymouth concept of an extended school year is not adding another term and dividing the regular year into four quarters or three terms, but rather is extending the present year into extended activities.

The board is proposing something akin to a summer day camp where children would attend and which would give them a chance to catch up on items they had to let go during the regular session.

This would be a definite advantage to slow learners who perhaps had trouble with reading. Rossman added they could have small classes with individualized reading instruction.

Despite its acres of open land that have yet to be developed, Plymouth Township is interested in discovering who owns an old decrepit cemetery on N. Territorial near Ridgewood Rd.

It is a small plot of land that has long since been abandoned. The few grave markers that remain--all of them have collapsed--date back to around 1886.

THE PLYMOUTH Board's idea contains three areas: special activities for brighter children to broaden and augment their regular subjects; enrichment which will enhance a student's knowledge; and remedial to help the slow learner.

Rossman explained that the Plymouth concept is different than that proposed by the state legislators.

He said that the state proposes that school districts do something on the order of colleges and their school year.

In the future, this will have to be done, he said, but it is a unique problem because local school boards serve a mobile populace while colleges serve a stationary populace.

The Educator explained that a college can demand that its students conform to its curriculum because the students come to it and live on campus.

However, public school districts have people moving in and out of them all the time.

For a student to shift is difficult enough, but for him to have to adapt to a different school year is too much to ask him right now, he said.

ROSSMAN continued that recently two students came to Plymouth from Georgia into the second and third grades.

"Right now, we have to make it possible for these and other students to enter our schools in the middle of the school year. These children cannot be forced to wait until another term begins like college students would be if they transferred in the middle of one of their semesters."

Therefore, he said, it is a scheduling problem; although it will not save the taxpayer thousands of dollars if the school year is extended as he is led to believe by some people, Rossman added.

Rossman concluded, "Emotionally I am in favor of the concept of year around education, but at the same time I recognize its many difficult problems. In order to be successful in the long run, it will depend largely upon the acceptance of it by the public who will be most affected by the change."

Lake Michigan Conference Set

A meeting of federal and state officials is planned in January to map a broad attack on pollution in Lake Michigan.

In making the announcement, Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said that he had not discussed the conference with the governors of Illinois, Michigan and Indiana, but that he was hopeful they would participate.

The parley was requested by Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

The four states border the lake which health and pollution authorities say is dangerously polluted to the point where it is a serious hazard to health, navigation and marine life.

Tools Stolen From Church

A tool shed was ransacked and $1,420 in equipment stolen Sunday night from the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints under construction at 31450 Six Mile Rd., Livonia. Thieves entered the building by cutting a hole in a plastic covering above a door. The theft was reported by Deward Dennis of the Ralph Burk Construction Co. of Salt Lake City.

$2 Million Back Pat On Farmington Road -- A Traffic Stopper

A $2 million job deserves a pat on the back, and while it may be a little late, it's going to get it.

That's the new stretch of five-lane Farmington road, from Five Mile to Eight Mile, opened last Friday to all traffic, local and through.

But the Wayne County Road Commission and Livonia officials are turning back the calendar to December 1, for a few minutes Friday. Then, at 11 a.m. at Farmington and Five, a barricade will block traffic, while a yellow ribbon stretches across the boulevard roadway.

A SNIP WITH the shears by public officials and the hurried removal of the road block will send traffic back on its way, although there may be a word or two from officials--city or county.

Coming to town for the post-opening party are the three road commissioners, William Kreger, Philip J. Neudeck and Michael Berry. Their names adorn signs announcing that the improvement job was a county project, and a grateful community is willing to pat their backs for the $1,780,000 paying project.

What's more, the commission expects to start work in the spring on paving a two-mile stretch south of Five Mile to Plymouth road, with boulevard from Five to Lyndon. That will provide five miles of four lane and center lane pavement from the heavily traveled thoroughfare that splits the city down the middle.

THE RIBBON ceremony is set for the geographical center of the six mile square -- 36 square mile--city, Five and Farmington. That is within shouting distance, almost, of the City Hall which is on land set aside for the civic center.

There will be an outpouring of officials from the City Hall, including Mayor Harvey W. Moelke, the city's seven councilmen, Robert A. Shaw, the director of the Department of Public Works whose planners and engineering staff worked with the county on the job, and elective officials.

The Road Commission engineers, who supervised the job done by private contractors, will be joined by William J. Strasser, Livonia chief engineer and his staff.

THE ROAD WORK on Farmington started last spring, and with the added right-of-way cost the county $2,492,964.

The general contract was held by the Eisinhour Co. of Lansing, with bridge and drainage contracts sublet.

Drivers, after months of detours over Merriman and Middle Belt and Five Mile and Schoolcraft roads, are enjoying the widened Farmington three-mile stretch, with center lane ending the left turn tieups.

Business places along the route also are enjoying the relief from the inconveniences tolerated through the months that the work was underway--slowed considerably by the building of two bridges, yet completed ahead of a spring guess that the job would be done by mid-December.

After the ribbon cutting, officials and contractors will gather for luncheon at Livonia Knights, Shaw said, to celebrate another step in easing Livonia's traffic problems.

School Program Plans Underway

The Garden City Board of Education has met informally to discuss plans for a new school program.

Church To Hear Guest Speaker

The Elmwood Church of the Nazarene, 6149 N. Wayne Road, Westland, will hear Rev. Douglas Dennis, of Mt. Morris, as guest speaker at its 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services Sunday, announced Pastor T.C. Riddle.

with Superintendent Don Shader and architect Gene Ralls to establish a time and priority schedule for the construction of new school facilities recently approved by Garden City voters.

Dr. Shader reported that final formalities of the bond issue are being cleared through Deputy State Superintendent Ralph Frostic and the Municipal Finance Commission.

He asked for, and received direction from the board for the architects to make necessary test borings and surveys. A priority schedule and timetable were approved calling for constructing the Instructional Materials Centers and Activity Rooms first.

Alterations at the Junior High schools will be made simultaneously.

This will be followed by construction of the Administrative Service Center and, finally, the Auditorium.

The West High athletic facility will be completed prior to the start of the 1968 football season.

Ralls, of Ralls, Hamill & Becker, Livonia, reported that the entire project will be completed in less than two years, barring unforeseen circumstances.

They will base final plans on board approved recommendations from education specifications committees.

ARCHITECT Gene Ralls shows plans for a new instructional materials center to Mia Mifsud, kindergarten at Henry Ruff Elementary School, who will benefit from the educational facility when it is completed. Looking on are school principal Donald Watkins (second from right) and William Keith, president of the board of education.

MSU Offers 3 Courses

Michigan State University will offer three evening extension courses during the winter quarter at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty.

The courses are Special Methods and Materials of Teaching Language Arts; Special Methods and Materials of Teaching Elementary Science; and Problems in Elementary Reading Instruction.

Registration will be Thursday, Jan. 4, from 7-9 p.m. in the Technical Building at Schoolcraft College.

Free Diabetes Tests Are Given At PCHA

Free diabetes detection tests were given to 554 people at the four unit hospitals of the Peoples Community Hospital Authority during Diabetes Detection Week recently. The PCHA includes Westland and Garden City.

The tests were performed without charge as a community service in cooperation with the Michigan Diabetes Association and the American Diabetes Association.

This was part of an intensified program to find an estimated 1,600,000 undetected diabetics in this country.

Michigan tests more patients for diabetes each year than any other state in the nation, and also has the highest rate of followups.

'Commitment' Catches On

The sign on the wall said "Commitment" in big red letters. That was all it said, and since it was on a high school wall, that might mean anything. Like an underground movement to have the administration committed to a mental institution. Or a club devoted to supporting the war in Vietnam. Or maybe a name for a new musical group — The Commitment. Not bad.

The real explanation is a lot harder to believe than any of those possibilities.

Seems that a whole lot of the people who spend the major part of their day at Stevenson High have decided that the atmosphere has become intolerable.

For the same reasons that the atmosphere in most high schools is intolerable. Smoke in the men's rooms so thick you can't find a wash basin. A cafeteria that looks like the city dump after lunch. A lot of minor vandalism.

The only difference between the problems at Stevenson and anywhere else is that a group of people want to do something about the situation.

"Commitment" isn't yet a plan of action. At least two mass meetings turned up several hundred kids who think the time has come to care.

The plan is to divide the group into sections, or committees, to deal with specific problems.

But the group has no organization yet, no membership cards.

Jack Hoffman, president of the school's Student Council, said that he thought "Commitment" had a better chance if it remained a sort of mass movement.

Several students have begun sweeping the hall near the cafeteria after lunch. A desk has been set up in one of the "worst" men's rooms. It's manned by volunteer monitors who turn in anybody who does not put out a cigarette when asked.

Because there hasn't been a major "Commitment" project yet, it is difficult to gauge the level of actual participation.

But one thing is for sure. It's not a musical group.

Hillsdale Honors 4 From Area

Four students from the Observer circulation area have been elected to campus honorary organizations at Hillsdale College.

Epsilon Delta Alpha, which requires a 3.5 or better average for 40 or more hours tapped Robert D. Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lorenz, of Farmington; Stephanie Miquelon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miquelon, of Livonia; and Linda Stout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lindley Stout, Jr., of Farmington. Miss Stout also received the Windsor H. Roberts Award as the outstanding student in American history.

Stephen C. Ott, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Ott, Jr., of Plymouth, was pledged by Alpha Psi Omega.

The Hillsdale College Chapter of Alpha Psi Omega, chartered in 1949, awards membership to students distinguishing themselves in theatrical studies and production work.

F'ton Students Elected At Orchard Ridge

The Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College has elected its first student government. An inaugural ball honoring the new officers and representatives was held last weekend.

Four students from Farmington are members of the new government. Nancy Etue, of Newell Circle West is corresponding secretary. Heather Cunningham, of Brook Hill; Larry Napier, of Grayfield; and Jon Handzik, of Hardenburg, are representatives.

More than 400,000 teenagers, 12 through 17, represent about 25 per cent of the Young Women's Christian Association's annual enrollment in community YWCAs.

Fad, Fashion In Glenn's Shoppe

By SUE KENDALL
John Glenn High

Stop-and-shop is the theme behind the John Glenn student variety store, the 1208 Shoppe. Located on the second floor, it caters to styles and trends in fashions suitable for eighth graders to seniors. Hence the name 1208.

Like the chef who seasons his salad with spice to make it creative and unique, the retailing students in charge of the Shoppe select original mods and modes to decorate their showcase.

Polls, surveys and inventories aid the students in determining which items to re-order. And on occasion, popular request for a new article results in its arrival to the Shoppe.

Headlining the list for the second year is the Outsider, a V-neck sweater in brown, burgundy or blue, accented by a white JG emblem. Next on the line-up is the Pacesetter. This nylon jacket is lightweight and has a roll-up hood that becomes a collar. Available in a wide assortment of colors, the Pacesetter is unique in that it bears the school emblem and white cord trim.

Another of the more popular items is the Campus Nitee. Blue, red and navy blue and white striped nitees with matching night caps are attainable together or separately.

1208 shoppers discover new features each year. As the fall display revealed, class jerseys of navy blue and white, V-neck short sleeved sweatshirts in gold and blue, and teeshirts of gray or green bearing the initials JGHS are included in the selection for this year.

The latest "in" however is the Statuseeker, a navy blue nylon jacket with elastic tapered sleeves, front snaps and white lettering that labels John Glenn Rockets on the front.

Service, quality, and experience best describe the 1208 Shoppe. In service to the students, the shop provides selections that are comfortable, appealing, and priced to fit a student's budget. Quality, a factor sometimes lacking in commercial products, is critically judged by retailing students and co-op co-ordinator James Linderman before any product is displayed.

The retailing students who maintain the Shoppe obtain experience in purchasing items through large companies, taking orders, inventories and polls, and selling.

The successful teams in any sport are those which can put on a late rally, when necessary, to win.

This always has been a trade mark of the winning Bentley High school basketball squads and it was no different last Friday when Bentley went to work in the last quarter to down Farmington, 83-79, in the season's opener for both teams.

Farmington held a four-point bulge going into the last period, but gave way to a Bentley flurry that yielded 24 points to only 16 for the Falcons in the stretch drive.

The game literally went down to the final buzzer.

With two minutes to go, Ken Bollin finally brought Bentley even with a basket.

The lead didn't last long. Doug Hamilton made two free throws and Farmington was back in front.

But Walt Blancha hit for Bentley and the score was tied again.

Then with about a minute left Greg Haugsby delivered what proved the deciding basket for Bentley. Farmington failed in its next rush to tie the score.

Farmington had to foul, but Dan Doyle delivered two free throws for Bentley and that was the ol' ball game.

Farmington went into a 21-15 lead at the end of the first period. It was 36-35 for Farmington at halftime and 63-59 for the Falcons at the three-quarter mark.

Bollin, the all-suburban and All-Observer great, led Bentley with nine baskets and nine free throws for 27 points. Hamilton had 30 for the losers, hitting eight baskets and 14 charities.

THE GRUELLING BATTLE against Bentley obviously took its toll on Saturday night when Farmington lost at Southfield, 71-59.

The Falcons stayed close for

a period, leading 16-15. But then fouls got Farmington into trouble and the Falcons were outscored, 19-9, in the second period and from then on it was all Southfield.

N. Farmington Rubs 10-Point Deficit To Win

North Farmington high's basketball team proved at least two things in nipping Kettering, 44-43, in its season's opener: 1--A team may fall behind by 10 points and still win. 2--It takes strong hearts to survive many basketball encounters.

The Raiders had a tough time getting started against Kettering. By the end of the first period it was 17-7 for Kettering and in the first period, North Farmington could talk about making only two baskets.

Matters improved slightly for the Raiders in the second period, but they still trailed by eight points at half time.

IT WAS KETTERING by five points going into the fourth period but by now North Farmington was blazing on defense and improving its offense.

Still it wasn't until Jay Hazelroth scored with about two minutes to go that North Farmington finally got in front.

But not for long.

Kettering regained a one-point bulge with 90 seconds left. North then got the ball and moved it around, working for the good shot. The ball went to Ron Flutur who hit from 17-feet out.

North now led, 44-43, but the final 40 seconds were full of madness.

Kettering tried a shot and failed, North got the ball back with 20 seconds to go and called a time out.

PLAY IN and North kicked away the ball. Kettering got it and in went a Kettering player for a layup. He missed, North rebounded and the game was saved for the Farmington delegation.

Clarenceville Learns Zone Defense Is Rough

There'll be some drills this week on how to cope with a zone defense as Clarenceville High's basketball team prepares to invade Brighton Friday night.

It was a zone that paralyzed Clarenceville and led to a 49-41 loss at the hands of Northville Friday night in a Wayne-Oakland League opener for both.

Clarenceville had downed Crestwood, 63-59, in its non-league debut just 72 hours earlier.

Clarenceville was locked in a 25-25 tie with Northville at halftime. Northville had been pressing until the intermission break.

THEN NORTHVILLE went in to a zone and forced Clarence-

The brightest note for Coach Dick Wilson's winners was their second-half defense. They allowed Kettering only nine points in the third period and just four in the fourth. In the last eight minutes, Kettering was held to two baskets.

Pete Evans, the Kettering star, had 16 of his 20 points in the first half.

Only four players scored for North Farmington: Flutur, 7-4 ---18; Mike McCoy, 4-3-11; Rick Knock, 3-1-7, and Haz-elroth, 4-0-8.

ville to shoot from a longer range. The net result was that Clarenceville made five baskets in the third period and only three in the final stanza.

In the last 16 minutes of play, the Trojans shot only two free throws... and missed both.

"We just couldn't drive on them, and that hurt," said coach Ralph Weedle of the losers.

Dave Brandemihl had 14 points to lead Clarenceville, which shot 35 per cent in the game. Northville hit on 45 per cent of its attempts from the field.

The one-two punch of Bob Duman and Cary Rifkin carried Clarenceville from a 28-26 halftime deficit to a 63-59 win over Crestwood, Duman had 22 points, nine in the third quarter and Rifkin 15 in the game.

RU Tightens Defense But Still Can't Triumph

You'd think holding the opposition to four baskets in the last period might produce a victory for your team.

Redford Union High's basketball team found out differently last Friday in dropping its season's opener to Southfield, 55-50.

It just happened that RU made only two baskets, plus four free throws in the final eight minutes and this slowdown in offense spoiled what had been a happy evening earlier.

Southfield after tying the score first at 47-47 and then at 49-49 pushed in six points to only one for RU in the last two minutes to leave the floor a winner.

THE COMBINATION of Dave

Glenn Races To Triumph In Opener

The full-court press has been known to disrupt many a basketball team.

But not John Glenn.

The Glenn team showed it knew what to do when pressed and as a result opened its season on a happy note--with a 65-57 victory over Robichaud.

Glenn jumped in front, 14-9 after one period and held the five-point bulge at halftime.

That's when Robichaud put on its pressing tactics.

The net result was that Glenn managed 13 points in the third period and then finished with a rousing 25 in the fourth to put the game out of reach.

Ron Tipple and Gary Webb had themselves a happy time against Robichaud with 21 and 20 points, respectively.

In particular, they delivered big points in the final period to ward off an attempt by Robichaud to cut the Glenn lead.

Steve Decker	6	5	17

Kontroy and Bill Chalmers proved too much for RU. Kontroy made six of his 15 points in the final period, while Chalmers scored 14 points in the second half.

Redford Union had trailed, 14-11, after one period, before zooming ahead, 24-22, at halftime as Dennis Fifield and Jim Walker each scored four points.

In the third period, RU out-scored Southfield, 18-17 led by Bill Fahey's seven points.

But then the RU players seemed to lose sight of where the basket was.

Cazzie Finally Shows Signs Of Greatness

The old saying--he who laughs last, laughs best--certainly must apply to Cazzie Russell.

After a brilliant three-year career at the University of Michigan in which he was All American and All Big Ten each season and as a senior was voted the player-of-the-year in the country, Russell had a disappointing debut in the professional ranks last winter with the New York Knicks.

Performing as a guard for the Knicks, Russell had his problems adjusting to the changes in play. In particular, Russell "appeared lost" on defense.

But Coach Dick McGuire this season switches Russell to a forward position and the Russell of today performs like the Russell the basketball world knew at the University of Michigan.

"HE'S MORE suited to playing up front than at guard," says McGuire whose Knicks will serve up the opposition for the Pistons twice within the next week. The Pistons play at New York Saturday (Channel 50, 8:30 p.m.) and then host the Knicks next Wednesday at Cobo Arena.

"Cazzie really is a trifle slow to be opposing the swift guards we have in the National Basketball Association," McGuire declares. "As a forward, it's a much different story. In many cases he's faster than his rivals."

Russell now ranks No. 3 among the New York scorers with an average of just under 16 points per game. He also won himself a starting role and with his flashy play is the toast of the fans at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Prior to invading New York Saturday night, the Pistons will engage the Los Angeles Lakers at Cobo Arena for the second time in 10 days. The "rematch" is slated for Friday evening at 8 p.m. Last Wednesday, the Pistons turned loose on the Lakers in the final five minutes to pull out a 126-123 victory.

'Junk Mail' Abandoned

"Junk mail" may be a plague for the mail box owner, but it also makes life hard for postmen all over the world.

One postman in Arnhem, Holland, decided recently that it was simply too much trouble to deliver the printed matter in his pouch.

He was fined $20 and given a suspended jail term for not delivering his full mail shipment over a period of several weeks.

It seems that some clubs hedged on Ribant. They thought he was too small. But as Mooraw-nick recalls:

"Everybody around the sandlots knew that Denny would make it in the majors. He had that one vital requirement--DESIRE."

The Braves sent Ribant to the New York Mets, who in turn whipped him to the Pittsburgh Pirates. Now he's a Tiger.

And, what a coincidence!

So, of course, are Freehan and Marshall.

WE HAD FORGOTTEN that Marshall was in that threesome we had taken to New York until No. 2 son slapped us on the back and declared, after the Tigers called up Marshall to save them in relief:

"Hey, pop. That's the same Marshall that went with us to New York."

It'd be folly for us to say that the chronicler of this effort had any part in the success story of the Freehans, the Marshalls, the Ribants -- and even the Snortons.

All we did was tag along.

But it's stories like this that make the job of writing about youngsters so interesting.

Star or no star... all the boys have left a happy memory within you.

Thurston Girl's Dances
Will Highlight Show

"The Boyfriend," to be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 13, through Saturday, Dec. 16, in the auditorium of Thurston High School will be highlighted by 13 novel dances created by Vicki Radke, Thurston senior. A background of 11 years of dance instruction qualifies Vicki for this challenge. The choreography represents one-third of the work load of the most elaborate production Thurston has undertaken in years.

Vicki's previous experience includes doing the choreography for Thurston's production of "Denny and the Witches" last year.

Devoted to dance, Vicki starts by listening to the selection and getting the general idea. Next comes reading the script and counting the measures, followed by 45 minutes to two hours of concentration.

"However, the most difficult task," Vicki said, "is teaching the members of the cast the steps."

"Won't You Charleston With Me?" performed by brother and sister, Ted and Kathie Enright portraying the roles of Bobby and Maisie, promises a real treat. Gary Parker, as Tony, and Laura Kopack, as Polly, also do a duet.

A bit of mystery has been added to the play. In the third act a tango will be performed by five unknown people. No one, including members of the cast, knows who they will be.

Wearing a terry-cloth apron when you sew any kind of slippery material will keep the material from sliding off your lap as you work.

Anne Ayer
Recital Scheduled

Mezzo-soprano Anne Ayer, who recently completed her eighth foreign concert tour, will present a recital of art songs at 8:30 p.m., Dec. 13 in the Lecture Hall of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The program of the Massachusetts-born soloist will include arias by Handel, Mussorgsky, Tchaikovsky, songs by Berlioz and Faure, and will conclude with a group by the American composers Charles Ives and Samuel Barber.

On the most recent of her European tours, Miss Ayer sang in Stockholm, Copenhagen, Hamburg, Geneva, Lausanne and London. Tickets for her Detroit recital are available at the Institute of Arts, Hudson's and Grinnell's.

WSU To Stage
Winter Concert

"Music for the Seasons of Advent and Christmas," will be the theme of the Wayne State University Women's Glee Club winter concert to be held at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 8, in the Community Arts auditorium on campus.

Robert A. Harris, assistant professor of music at WSU, will conduct the 42-member vocal group in selections which will include "Christmas Cantata" by the 17th century composer Vincent Lubeck, and "Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

Three Redford
Schools Join
For Concert

The Rogers, Vandenberg, and Mason schools of Redford Township will present a combined Christmas Concert, with the Glee Clubs of all three schools and the bands of Vandenberg and Mason.

The concert will be given Thursday, Dec. 14 at 7:30 p.m. in the Pierce Junior High School Auditorium.

The vocal program will be divided into four sections: religious, folk music, novelty pieces and carols.

In the religious group, such songs as "O Savior Sweet," "Dona Nobis," and "He Shall Feed His Flock," will be done.

The folk music group contains songs like "Go Tell It On The Mountain," "Jeanette, Isabella," and "Born Today Is The Child Divine."

Bloomfield Show In December

Seven prize-winning works of art are on display in the tenth annual Bloomfield Art Association Members' Show, continuing through December.

Selected by Juror Donald Willett, painting instructor at Cranbrook Academy, the exhibition includes oils, water-base paintings, prints, drawings, sculpture, jewelry, ceramics, and weaving by B.A.A. member-artists. Mrs. Merritt Hulburd, who has won many awards for her drawings is chairman of the show and in charge of its installation.

Leo Martin's iron and brass figure of a mother and child was the judge's selection for special award. Martin is from Warren. Irene Stretten, of Union Lake, received the best of show award for an acrylic entitled "Circus". Second place was awarded a lithograph by Kathleen Birch, of Birmingham and third place to Shari Brush of Bloomfield Hills for "Transcendent" an acrylic.

Three works were selected by the juror for honorable mention. "Plaza," an acrylic by Isabel Loosemore of Detroit,

'CURTAIN'
GOING

Man's struggle for status, cultural attainment, and a secure financial position is truly universal. Moliere's "The Would-Be Gentleman" examines these universals in a most satirical manner.

The University of Michigan Players last week staged a commendable production of Moliere's "Would-Be Gentleman" in the Trueblood Auditorium. Monsieur Jourdain, a merchant with newly-acquired riches and a desire to acquire culture, entertains ballet teachers, fencing instructors, music masters, and philosophers to give him the "high society" cultural outlook on life.

Dale Bellaire played Jourdain with the proper air of stupidity as each of his instructors did their best to fill the void that existed between his ears. Dale was at his best when playing farcical scenes with either Mark Metcalf or James Coakley.

IT WAS a pleasant surprise to meet Director Coakley of "Sergeant Musgrave's Dance" doing a splendid bit of boisterous acting in "Would-Be Gentleman." His expert handling of the poetry-prose scene was superb. The pacing, timing and movement in that scene produced maximum audience response and gained ample applause for Coakley as he finished the scene.

Director Halstead provided additional comic touches giving the Moliere script real zest. Audience approval in the form of laughter and prolonged applause was auditory evidence so pleasing to any director's ego.

Mark Metcalf, Francine Karasik, Paul Holtreter, and Robert C. Chapel provided strong support for Dale Bellaire's wistful portrayal of Monsieur Jourdain. In fact, Robert Chapel in his scenes demonstrated how effective comic actions can be if properly triggered. His sense of timing was flawless.

"The Would-Be Gentleman" while it is not the best script by Moliere (his "Tartuffe" is tops) does give us an insight into the constant struggle of mankind to be more refined and cultured. This yearning to be well-read, a patron of the arts has been a gnawing concern for many centuries.

Common folks as soon as they acquire a little wealth or status attempt to understand opera, collect great paintings. They have an innate desire to be identified with the finer things in life. Grubbing for money most of their life (so they claim) has left them little time to appreciate the esthetic, the beautiful works of art created by their fellow man.

MONSIEUR JOURDAIN in "Would-Be Gentleman" presents an object lesson for all of us in case we inherit great wealth. It is best not to act the part of the all-American Boob and try to acquire a feeling for art, music, or literature overnight.

To be cultured takes time. The door is always open for everyone whether rich or poor. The public libraries, the art museums, the inexpensive concerts are available for anyone who chooses to veer away from the TV set, forget the local bar, and abstain from the endless shop talk. You can become a patron of the fine arts, but it takes time and determination.

"The Would-Be Gentleman" as presented by the U of M players spoke volumes in an enjoyable satirical manner. Moliere would have been happy to have seen this version.

Yule Show, Antiques
On Museum Docket

The opening of the Henry Ford Museum Christmas exhibit and an antiques lecture are scheduled for December 8 in Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

The exhibit, "Toys and Dolls" will remain in the special display area of the Museum through December 31.

Jolson
Classic
At Museum

A lavish film production that characterizes motion pictures of the 1930's highlights this Sunday's Famous Early Movie in the Henry Ford Museum theatre at Greenfield Village in Dearborn.

Museum visitors may see "Go Into Your Dance" (1935) starring Al Jolson and his wife, Ruby Keeler, at 2 or 4 p.m.

The film features vast musical productions and the talent of the Jolson-Keeler team, in their only joint film appearance. "Go Into Your Dance" was the last of Al Jolson's movies, and from a critic's viewpoint, his best. Appearing with Jolson and Keeler are Helen Morgan, Glenda Farrell, Barton MacLaine and Patsy Kelly.

Jolson's songs in the film include "Mammy," "I'll Sing About You" and many others. Admission to the film is included in the regular admission charge to the Henry Ford Museum. For a complete schedule of the Henry Ford Museum Famous Early Movies call 271-1620.

Rod Puppets To Portray Magic Of 'Cinderella'

The clock will strike 12 for "Cinderella" three times on Saturday, Dec. 16, when the rod puppets of Dick Myers perform the fairy tale for Detroit Puppet Theatre audiences at 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. in the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium.

Myers headquarters his puppets at Woodstock, N.Y., but he has worked with major puppet companies throughout the United States. Between puppet engagements, he earned his degree as a graduate engineer, his wings as a commercial pilot and flight instructor, and five radio broadcasting licenses.

Praised for his creative and original approach to puppetry, Myers combines color and motion with fine music in his shows, as Detroit audiences learned when he staged "Dick Whittington and His Cat" for the museum's Theatre Arts Department in November, 1966.

Tickets for the three performances of "Cinderella" are at the Detroit Institute of Arts Ticket Office (832-2730), all J.L. Hudson Ticket Services, Sears and Grinnell's.

Symphony Features
Goteborg Conductor,
Wayne State Chorus

Sergiu Comissiona, music director of the Goteborg Symphony Orchestra, makes his first appearance with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra as guest conductor Thursday and Saturday, Dec. 14 and 16. Concert time at Ford Auditorium is 8:30 p.m.

Comissiona's program will include Ravel's complete music for the ballet Daphnis and Chloe, with chorus. The Wayne State University Choral Union, conducted by Malcolm Johns, will participate in conjunction with the Centennial Celebration of the University. The other works performed will be Stravinsky's Petrouchka.

Sergiu Comissiona was born in Bucharest, Rumania in 1929. His musical studies included violin, chamber music, theory and composition and special training in conducting with Constant Silvestri and Edouard Lindenberg.

From 1959 until this season, Comissiona was conductor and musical director of the Halfa Symphony Orchestra, during which time he frequently guest-conducted all over Europe. In the last few years, his guest conducting appearances in the United States have steadily increased.

His recent appointment as musical director of the Goteborg Symphony Orchestra allows him time to accept some of the many invitations from all over the world for further appearances as guest conductor.

Malcolm Johns is associate professor of music at Wayne State University. He is presently organist and choir master of Grosse Pointe Memorial Church. He has conducted choral workshops at Michigan State University, Berchtesgaden, Germany (for the U.S. Air Force), and in the summer of 1967, a choral workshop of American music at Musashino College of Music, Tokyo, Japan.

The WSU Choral Union is primarily devoted to performing large choral works for chorus and orchestra. Membership is approximately 120.

Yule Concert Set For Christ Church
Music lovers should circle Sunday, Dec. 10, on their calendars.
At 3:30 p.m. Kingswood School Cranbrook and Cranbrook School glee club and orchestra will present the annual Christmas concert in Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.
During this performance the Cranbrook brass group, directed by Edwin M. Tower, will debut and for the first time 7th and 8th grade girls from Kingswood will sing, directed by Suzanne LaCroix.
The two schools' orchestra will present Handel's "Overture to the Royal Fireworks Music" and the combined glee clubs, directed by Eric D. Freudigman, will offer varied short compositions of the Christmas season.
This presentation will be followed at 5 p.m. by the annual vesper music service of Christ Church's adult and youth choirs and young instrumentalists of the parish. The vesper service will be directed by Robert E. Bates, organist-choirmaster at Christ Church.
The first number of the program will be Vivaldi's "Magnificat", accompanied by strings and organ, followed by Berlioz' "L'Enfance du Christ", both works performed by the adult choir and soloists.
The program will be concluded with the "Christmas Story" according to St. Luke by Richard Hillert, performed by the youth choir accompanied by young instrumentalists.
Both performances are open to the public without charge.

Wildlife Film Planned
"Three Seasons North" is the wildlife film D. J. Nelson will present to the Detroit Audubon Society Saturday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. These programs are held in the Rackham Memorial auditorium, Farnsworth at Woodward.
D. J. Nelson has established himself as one of the country's most renowned documentary film producers. "Bold Journey", "Wild Kingdom" and "I Search for Adventure" are but a few of the network television shows which have featured his motion pictures.
"Three Seasons North" was taken in the remote northern reaches of British Columbia and shows the river otter as a shy comedian at its favorite swimming hole. A mountain lion cub, rescued by the Nelsons was temporarily adopted by

Childbirth Films Are Scheduled
Two films for childbirth education will be shown at 8 p.m. the next two Fridays at Pioneer High School in Ann Arbor in conjunction with the Family Life Education course in the Ann Arbor Public Schools Evening school.
The films Dec. 8 will be "Childbirth, The Great Adventure," and "Postnatal Care." On Dec. 15, the program will include "Labor and Childbirth" and "Birthday."

Set Production Of Menotti's 'Amahl'
The music department of First Presbyterian Church of Farmington will present performances of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" on Sunday and Monday, Dec. 10 and 11. This, the first opera ever commissioned for television, was premiered Christmas Eve 1951, conducted by the composer, Gian-Carlo Menotti.
John W. Cross will produce the drama.
It is the story of the Three Wise Men, on their way to Bethlehem, who seek shelter for a night at the hut of a crippled boy, Amahl, and his widowed mother.
Even though "Amahl and the Night Visitors" is reproduced each Christmas season on television, Menotti believes that since his opera is "impulsive and warm-hearted" it must be seen and "experienced" as a theatrical performance in order to fully enjoy its drama and mystery.
With Susan Cross LaBatt as director, the cast is headed by

Yale Men Set Choral Concert
The world-famous Yale Glee Club is bringing its choral talents to the Detroit area.
The 80-voice, all-male chorus will present a concert at 9 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 16, in the Parcels High school auditorium, 20600 Mack Ave., Grosse Pointe Woods.
This concert is sponsored by the Yale Alumni Association of Michigan and will be followed by a formal dance at the Country Club of Detroit. Proceeds from the combined program are earmarked for scholarship funds for Michigan students at Yale University.
Concert tickets are priced at $2.50 and $3.50 each, and for the dance, $4 per person. They may be obtained by sending a check made out to the Yale Alumni Association to Brian J. McMahon, 805 Whittier Rd., Grosse Pointe Park.
A second concert by the Yale Glee Club will be held on Sunday, Dec. 17, in conjunction with Wayne State University.

Food Industry Jobs Available

Scores of high paying jobs in the world's largest industry are being left unfilled.

The world's largest industry is food. The jobs are those requiring education and training in food science--food processing, quality control, research and development, food engineering, food chemistry and food microbiology.

"We average at least 25 inquiries from industry for every student graduating in food science," reports Prof. Laurence G. Harmon, teacher, researcher and academic advisor for Michigan State University's Department of Food Science. "It's not unusual for me to get three or four telephone calls a week from people looking for food scientists."

"At present, we have only 25 students in our undergraduate programs. If job availabilities are any indication, we ought to have 10 times as many. "We have the physical facilities to teach many more students."

Dr. Harmon points out that MSU is one of the few universities offering special training and education in food science. The recently completed $4.5 million food science facilities are considered to be among the best and most complete in the nation.

"Right now, the food industry is being forced to operate without all the trained people it needs," says Dr. Harmon. "If this trend continues, the industry can't help but be hurt by the shortage of personnel."

The shortage of personnel is reflected in the number of scholarships available to MSU food science students. Various food industry organizations have provided over 30 scholarships of $354 to $1,000 per year for undergraduate students. And many of the scholarships receive no applicants, simply because there aren't enough students majoring in food science.

"The food processing industry is the most stable business in the United States," says Dr. Harmon. "There always have been and there always will be jobs in this industry."

"Starting salaries for graduates with B.S. degrees have ranged from $7,500 to $8,400 during the last three years. Jobs have included production; supervision and management of commercial food plants; control of food quality; research and development of new and improved food products; and regulatory work for state and federal agencies."

Road Toll Declining

Michigan's 188 traffic deaths in November were nine per cent fewer than the 206 in the same month a year ago, according to State Police provisional figures.

The count was 14 more than the November average of 174 for the five years 1962-66.

A Christmas Story... Annette's Smile Will Light Tree

Little Annette Stock, 5-year-old daughter of the Donald Stocks, 29231 Lori Ave., Livonia, has been inviting all of her friends (next-door neighbors included) to a very special Christmas party.

Annette, who has suffered since birth from a spinal disorder and walks with a cane, will light Livonia's giant Christmas tree, signaling the start of the Yule season, at a community gathering at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 11.

LIVONIANS are encouraged to join Annette's "party" that evening.

To be held in front of the city hall and civic center, Farmington and Five Mile Road, festivities will include a visit from Santa (Webb Cooper, Civil Defense director), and an official welcome by Harvey W. Moelke, mayor of Livonia.

As Annette puts it, "Mr. Mayor is going to hold me up" so she can throw the switch to light multicolored Christmas bulbs on trees, light standards and shrubs around the center.

Livonia's 1967 tree will be a 30-foot Scotch pine festooned with 200 lights and traditional decorations.

Songs announcing the Christmas season will be sung throughout the evening by Livonia's 55-member Civic Chorus, directed by Robert Slusarski.

Religious Racketeers Defraud Through Mail

Tripping up religious phonies who use the mails to defraud is becoming a big operation for the U.S. Postal Department.

H.B. Montague, chief inspector, said it is a difficult kind of racket to expose, since the U.S. Constitution guarantees religious freedom to even the most bizarre cults.

Usually, he added, charges can be made to stick if it can be proved that money is solicited for one purpose and used for another.

"RELIGIOUS FRAUDS have become a multimillion dollar business, and they appear to be growing in number," he said.

Within the past year and a half, postal inspectors have investigated 33 individuals or organizations suspected of using the mails to defraud the public in the name of God. These investigations have resulted to date in nine indictments and three convictions. Several cases are still pending.

ONE INDICTMENT involves the Rev. J. Charles Jessup, 51, a former tent-meeting evangelist who has operated in recent years out of Gulfport, Miss., where he heads an organization called "The Fellowship Revival Association."

Jessup made his pitch by mail (he is reputed to have a mailing list of some 75,000 persons) and on paid-time radio "sermons."

According to the indictment, he represented himself as "a man who has sat and talked with God in the presence of a heavenly choir" and who has been "blessed by God with power to intercede" for others so that his prayers are "far more effective" than those of an ordinary minister, priest or layman.

PEOPLE WITH troubles were invited to write to him and send cash donations. Although he claimed that he personally read each letter and held it in his hand while praying for the writer, the indictment alleged most of the letters actually were handled by staff members who simply extracted the money and were never seen by Jessup.

Any cagey contributor who sought positive confirmation that Jessup was indeed using his "powers of intercession" could send in $5 for a recording of Jessup actually praying for the client in question.

These recordings, the indictment said, were produced on an assembly-line basis, with Jessup reading onto a tape a long list of names prepared by the staff. Each name was then dubbed into a previously-recorded standard prayer.

The specific fraud alleged was that Jessup told donors their money would be used entirely for "religious purposes" whereas, in fact, "he has used donations for his personal enrichment to purchase a home... luxury automobiles, boats and a seaplane."

Evidence presented at the trial showed that Jeffers claimed to enjoy "direct personal contact" with God, who gave him advance word on public events, including the outcome of political elections.

HE DID A BRISK business selling what he called "reincarnation revelations" which would tell a person who he was in his prior life or lives. The price for such a spiritual genealogy was $25.

As a come-on, he publicized what he said were the previous incarnations of well-known people, Franklin D. Roosevelt was King Saul of Israel. Josef Stalin was Nebuchadnezzar. Huey Long was Napoleon. And Winston Churchill was Marie Antoinette.

Both of the Jeffers received three year suspended sentences and fines of $6,500 each.

Council Keeps Building Fees

Councilmen kept in force a battery of building inspection fees Mayor Harvey W. Moelke insisted they abolish and asked him to report on their completeness.

Only Council President Peter A. Ventura and Councilman Rudolf Kleinert voted against the majority.

Councilman Edward Milligan said he objected to placing the cost of such inspections on the general tax burden, that businessmen are already paying for other kinds of inspections.

"The only objections I have heard is that the inspections have been haphazard," said Councilman Jerry Raymond. "If business want better inspections let's make certain they can have them."

Hoover PTA Plans Supper

The Herbert C. Hoover Elementary School PTA plans a "chuckwagon style" pancake supper from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 14, at the school, 15900 Levan Rd.

Dinner, including sausage, apple sauce, syrup and beverage plus pancakes, will be $1.25 for adults and 75 cents or 50 cents for children. Tickets may be purchased now in the Hoover School lobby, or at the door, Dec. 14. The public is invited.

"Vanishing Cornwall" by Daphne DuMaurier laments the encroachment of poorly planned commercialism on one of Britain's most scenic and hitherto unspoiled countries. The author used a Cornish setting for "Rebecca" and other of her well-known novels.

"When She Was Good" by Philip Roth is the story of a Midwestern girl who believes herself to be the moral superior of her family and friends and how this belief eventually brings destruction to her and to those around her.

"The Beautiful People" by Marilyn Bender of The New York Times examines the influence of "jet set" society on the world of fashion. It gives inside information on how new idols are created and manipulated and on how one becomes a fashion society leader.

"Janus Island" by Sloan Wilson, author of "The Man in the Grey Flannel Suit," is the story of a treasure hunt off the Florida keys, sponsored by a demented millionaire. It is also a love story about two of the people involved in the search, who have both been deeply hurt and are desperately seeking for happiness.

"The Sunny Caribbees" by Robert Bagley is an informal guide to the West Indies, covering 23 islands, from popular Jamaica to St. Lucia and the tiny Carriacou.

"The Fox and the Hound" by Daniel P. Mannix is the tale of a duel between two superbly skilled antagonists, both animals, which has won the 1967 Dutton Animal Book Award.

"The Manchester Affair" by John Corry presents a complete account of the "battle of the book" involving William Manchester and members of the Kennedy family, by a New York Times reporter who was assigned the job of covering the story.

Questions & Answers

Why do small turkeys provide fewer servings per pound than larger birds?

The number of servings of turkey per pound varies according to the size of the bird because the proportion of bone to meat is greater in the smaller birds. For turkeys under twelve pounds, allow three-fourths to one pound per serving; for a bird of over twelve pounds the allowance need be only one-half to three-fourths pound per serving.

TIME FOR A CHANGE
by DON KEETH

Just the same as political offices and babies, there is another thing that needs fre-quent changes.

That is the air filters in a forced air heating system (or air conditioning system). The above is just a little bit of information I'm pass-ing along to you. It can save you discomfort, money and consid-erable gnashing of teeth . . . because clogged furnace fil-ters is the one largest cause of service calls.

You see, when furnace fil-ters become clogged with dust, only a very small amount of air can get through. The fur-nace blower will run and run, but very little air will be pushed through the registers. And because so little air is go-ing through the furnace, it overheats and the safety con-trol shuts off the burner. Re-sult: you get cold.

That's why I say again: change those filters . . . or at least clean the old ones. Filters can be taken out and some of the dust tapped out of them. This will keep them going a while longer, but new filters should be put in three times during the heating season. It's easy to do yourself, and they are inexpensive. Our shop has all sizes.

Never be ashamed of dirty filters. That merely means the system is doing its job of pick-ing up, heating and recirculat-ing the air. All air has dust in it. And it's better to have that dust in the filter than bounc-ing around the house. That's why Lennox puts oversize fil-ters in its furnaces.

Another tip: Don't operate a forced air furnace without fil-ters . . . the dust then collects inside the furnace and ducts. If you have any questions, just call us at and airfields. Extensive in-struction was given in combat engineering, camouflage, re-connaissance and demolitions.

Marine Pvt. Robert G. Tate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Tate, 33807 Hathaway, Livonia, was graduated from eight weeks of recruit training at the Mar-ine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, Calif.

He will undergo from two to four weeks of individual com-bat training and then, after leave at home, will report to his first Marine Corps Assign-ment.

Army Pvt. John B. Rollins, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Rollins, 9063 Beatrice, Li-vonia, has been assigned as a heavy equipment operator in the 87th Engineer Battalion's Company A in Vietnam.

Marine Corp. Gregory A. Fuchs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Fuchs, 33064 Scone Drive, Livonia, was promoted to his present rank while serv-ing with the First Marine Air-craft Wing in the Republic of Vietnam.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, mili-tary appearance, and his know-ledge of selected military sub-jects.

Marine Sgt. James J. John-son, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel T. Johnson, 30440 Lyndon, Li-vonia, is serving with Head-quarters and Service Battalion, Third Light Anti-Aircraft Mis-sile Battalion, a unit of the Second Marine Aircraft Wing at the Marine Corps Air Sta-tion, Cherry Point, N.C.

Using "HAWK" (Homing All-the-Way Killer) missiles, his battalion provides local medium range air defense against hostile low or medium altitude targets. The battalion's HAWK missiles are also capable of destroying some types of mis-siles.

Marine Pvt. Glenn E. Cham-pagne son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Champagne, 33063 Perth, Livonia, has completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrolling, employment of in-fantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics.

Please Pardon Our Improvement

The promise of progress is often accompanied by a bit of inconvenience. As you've perhaps seen, Farmington Road is now being beautified as a six lane boulevard to accommodate Livonia's increased traffic.

There is EASY access from 5 Mile Rd.

Try This Holiday Torte

It's a wise hostess who keeps an ample supply of dairy eggnog in her refrigerator throughout the holiday season. No other beverage fits so well into all kinds of festive occasions, with so little preparation.

Eggnog is a pleasure to serve. It's always ready to pour with no mixing, measuring, or seasoning and, it's a time-saver and a perfect partner for Christmas fruitcake, cookies and other holiday foods. You'll want to use eggnog in other ways too, like this Holiday Torte Dessert.

Taking a hint from famous Viennese tortes, it's made with multiple layers of cookie and filling. Delicately flavored dairy eggnog makes a luscious filling to sandwich between the cookies. Topping it all is a fabulous frosting made with velvety-smooth whipped cream and vanilla. Delicious...and easy to make.

Plan to serve this delectable Holiday Torte Dessert at least once during the season of hospitality around Christmastime. Delicious dairy foods help make it one of the best desserts you've ever tasted.

HOLIDAY TORTE DESSERT
8-10 Servings

Preheated 375° oven
Baking sheet, 17x14-inch
2-1/2 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 cup (1-1/2 sticks) butter, softened
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons milk
1 recipe Eggnog Filling*
1 recipe Icing

Into a mixing bowl sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder; cut in butter until it resembles coarse meal. Combine egg and milk and add to first mixture; blend thoroughly. On baking sheet roll dough out to a 15x11-inch rectangle. (Use floured rolling pin to keep dough from sticking.) Using sharp knife, trim edges to even them.

Cut dough across to make three 11x5-inch rectangles. Bake 15-18 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on baking sheet; loosen with long bladed knife or spatula. Place one cookie rectangle on large piece of aluminum foil; spread with 1/2 the Eggnog Filling.* (Do not spread completely to edge.) Repeat with second cookie rectangle and remaining filling. Top with third rectangle. Wrap loosely in foil and chill at least 24 hours. Spread top with Icing. To serve, cut into squares and decorate with red and green candied cherries.

EGGNOG FILLING
1 egg
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup regular all-purpose flour
1-1/4 cups hot dairy eggnog
1/2 cup whipping cream

In small mixing bowl beat together egg and sugar until thick and lemon colored; blend in flour. Gradually add eggnog. Return all to saucepan; cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thick; cook 2 additional minutes. Cool. Whip cream; gradually fold into eggnog mixture.

*ICING

1 cup confectioners sugar
2 tablespoons butter, softened
2 tablespoons whipping cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

In small bowl combine sugar, butter, cream and vanilla; beat until smooth and creamy.

Hearings Set On Insurance

A hearing on insurance problems in substandard and riot-hit areas of the state, particularly Detroit, has been set by a Senate committee for Dec. 15.

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford, chairman of the committee named to study the problem, said testimony will be heard from citizens, government officials and representatives of business and commercial interests.

Lodge added that he is greatly concerned at the inability of property owners, many of them Negroes, to get adequate insurance coverage.

Electric utility companies cannot generate electricity in advance of use or store it against future demand, according to a Detroit Edison spokesman, but must have facilities available and operating to meet the maximum customer demand for electricity at any instant.

WORLD OF WOMEN

Senior Girls Take Homemaker Exams

Senior class girls in high schools here joined half a million others in approximately 15,000 high schools across the country in a written knowledge and attitude test touching on all phases of homemaking Tuesday.

They competed for a $5,000 college scholarship as Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

National runners-up will be granted $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively. State winners will be awarded $1,500 scholarships with state runners-up receiving $500 grants.

Winners in each local high school will be presented specially designed silver charms and will have their test papers entered in state competition. THE GIRLS who take the test will be entrants in the 1968 Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow, sponsored by General Mills, Inc.

Next spring, state Betty Crocker Search winners, each accompanied by a school advisor, will enjoy an expense-paid educational tour of historical shrines in Washington, D.C., and Colonial Williamsburg. Then national winners will be announced at a dinner at Minneapolis, Minn., General Mills' headquarters city.

JUDGING FOR national honors is based on original test scores plus personal observation and interviews while the girls are on tour. The program, launched in 1954 to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career, is the only national scholarship competition exclusively for high school senior girls.

It is on the approved list of national contests and activities of the National Association of Secondary-School Principals.

Science Research Associates, Chicago, one of the nation's outstanding educational testing organizations, prepares the test and has charge of scoring and judging the contestants. Schools of state winners will be presented sets of Encyclopaedia Britannica by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc.

New Tradition Will Honor Volunteers

The Detroit area has inaugurated a new tradition, an annual, community-wide recognition ceremony honoring outstanding women volunteers.

That's the purpose of a recently formed Volunteer Award Council comprised of representatives of 35 leading women's organizations working in cooperation with Women for the United Foundation (WUF).

Formation of the council and its plans for staging a single, significant ceremony each year to honor those who unselfishly serve the community were announced today at a press conference in the Detroit Press Club.

AT THE HELM of the new council are two of Detroit's foremost women civic and cultural leaders, Mrs. Gerard R. Slattery and Mrs. Lynn A. Townsend, who are serving as co-chairmen.

They have scheduled the council's first recognition luncheon Feb. 14 in Cobo Hall. The event, culminating nearly a year of planning and organizing activities, will honor a group of six to 12 women volunteers chosen to symbolize all those who give their time and talents for community betterment.

Those selected will receive the council's "Heart of Gold" awards signifying noteworthy service. A "Spirit of Detroit" charm will be attached to each gold heart award.

CORNELIA OTIS SKINNER, actress, writer and moderator of a new radio program, "We the Women," will be the principal speaker at the luncheon.

Five committees already are at work on arrangements for the recognition ceremony designed to encourage other volunteers to take part in community affairs as well as to underscore the importance of citizen participation.

Nominations for the "Heart of Gold" award are being sought from all segments of the community and may be submitted by an organized group. Nominations from individuals also will be accepted.

ANY WOMAN in the Metropolitan Detroit area may become a nominee providing her volunteer activities involve one of the following:

Child and family services including care of the elderly and work with teens or retirees. Church, cultural, educational, political, health-related or war-related activities. Involvement in citizens' groups.

Fund-raising, budgeting or planning for the United Foundation or its federations, United Community Services and Michigan United Fund.

Unusual act of personal heroism, moral courage or simply being an unsung heroine.

A NOMINATION must be made in a letter of 200 to 500

-- m. m. memos --

It is with real alarm that I view evidence of a drastic drop in Jackie Kennedy's hemline.

Not because I'm an all-out booster of mini-skirts. If anything I'm a pretty fuddy-duddy enthusiast for the skirt that just neatly covers the knee.

But I recall all too clearly the nothing-to-wear panic of the early days of the "New Look," those full, calf-length skirts that hit the fashion picture in the early 1940's after the short skirts of World War II.

And I noted then that just over a decade earlier there had been a similar drop in skirt lengths after the Roaring Twenties.

So all my historical sense and common sense tell me that when the mini-skirt comes down (its length, I mean), it will be with a bang.

And if I thought it was financially rough to convert to the New Look on a first-job salary some 20 years ago, I'm fully aware that the problem will multiply by five this time when I have to restock my wardrobe AND that of four daughters.

Jackie, on you the mini-skirt looks terrific. Hold off a while on the mini, please.

YWCA Greens Hanging To Be Colorful Pageant

The "Hanging of the Greens," the YWCA's traditional ceremony opening the Christmas Season will be celebrated in pageantry at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 12, in the YWCA Building, 1034 Monroe Blvd., Dearborn.

The fantasy and serenity of the holiday season is incorporated in the pageantry of old world customs and present day modernizations.

Heralding the procession will be a trumpet solo, "Joy to the World." Dressed in colorful robes, the verse and singing choir and symbol bearers Y-Teens will bring in the spirit of Christmas singing "We Three Kings."

OFFICIALLY OPENING the Christmas season, the green singers and wreath bearers will present wreaths to the presidents of the YWCA clubs in Western Wayne County area. Each president will hang her wreath in the building where it will remain throughout the holiday season.

Christmas in many lands will be depicted in tableau and native Christmas carols. Countries to be visited in this manner will be Holland, Sweden and Germany. The Association Candle will be lit by the pages after which the solo "Nazareth" will be sung.

THE CEREMONY of Light depicting the pilgrims' search of the Holy Child will be given by Y.W. Wives. The Madonna will be Diane LaFotune, of the Garden City West Y-Teens.

"Brotherhood of All" and a "Prayer of This House" will precede the Recessional. The green singers' invitation to the audience to join the cast in refreshments at the Wassail Bowl will conclude the formal presentation.

The Western Wayne County YWCA invites all to attend and bring in the spirit of Christmas.

Christmas Walk Sunday Displays Holiday Glitter

Ten versions of holiday finery for the home will be displayed in the Hill and Dale Garden Club's Christmas Walk from 1 to 7 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 10.

Eight homes will be decorated in varying styles, and the other two will offer a boutique shop of Christmas items and refreshments for the "walkers".

Cars will be needed, of course, to travel between the homes, and those attending are asked to wear low-heeled shoes. They will be furnished disposable house slippers to use in the homes.

TICKETS CONTAIN maps showing locations of the homes and a list of addresses.

They may be purchased at the time of the walk, or by calling Mrs. Arthur Lynn, 476-8888; Mrs. Earl Johnston, 474-7011; Mrs. W. Robert Wichman, 476-1358; Mrs. Jack Raker, 626-2956; Mrs. John Scapelliti, 476-5258, or any Hill and Dalex member.

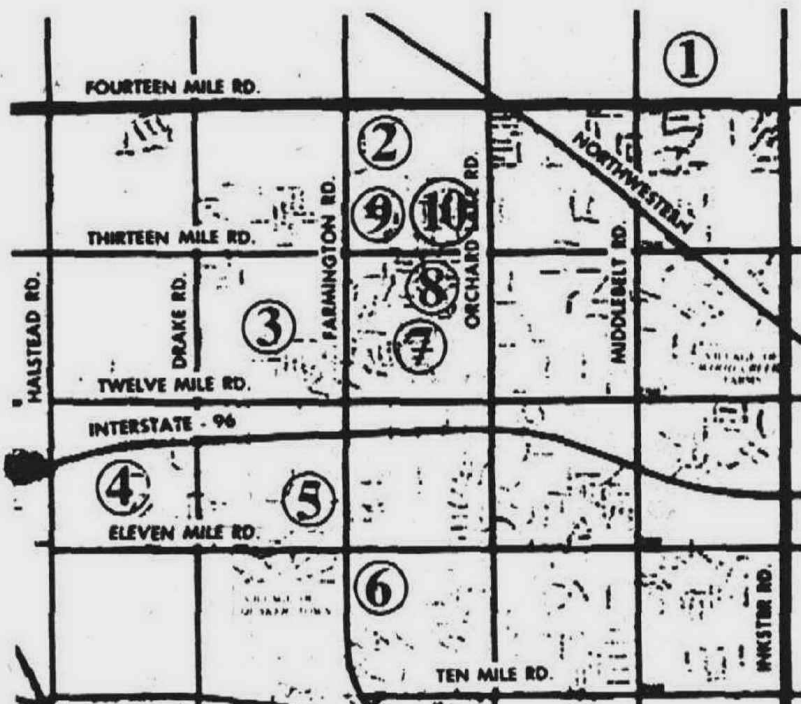

Proceeds from the Walk will be used for club work with 150 handicapped children in 12 Farmington schools. The club's entire membership is involved in the garden therapy project.

THE WALK will begin at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Kurger, 7270 Cedarcroft, Birmingham, where the decor will be eclectic, a combination of various periods, and the theme will be "The Magic in Believing--a Mother's Version of a Child's Christmas."

Other decorated homes on the list include those of: Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Thompson, 30941 Pear Ridge Road, Farmington Township, with antique decor and a theme "Through the Woods to an Old-Fashioned Christmas."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Steiger, 28197 Quail Hollow, abstract decor with the theme "A Holiday Palette Painted in the Modern Manner."

MR. AND MRS. FREDERICK BULMAN, 26428 Old Homestead, Mediterranean decor and theme "Holiday Moods Glitter in Their Many Facets."

Mr. and Mrs. George Reimold, 25779 Ridgewood, transitional decor, theme, "Under Garlands of Chestnuts the Yule Log is Lit."

Mr. and Mrs. William Go-belle, 23660 Farmersville, Williamsburg colonial decor, theme, "Deck the Halls with Boughs of Green and All Good Things."

Mr. and Mrs. F. Hal McDavid, 28701 Aranel, contemporary decor, theme, "Treasures from Afar Sparkle in Sapphire, Green and Gold." Mr. and Mrs. John Pasfield, 29901 Fox Grove, traditional decor, theme, "Christmas is for Family and Friends."

THE BOUTIQUE shop will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Yates, 33480 Quaker Valley, and tea will be served from 2 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Vickland, 29866 Mulland Drive.

The accompanying map shows general locations of homes on the walk.

Christmas Concert Set By Choral

Songs of Christmas will be performed by the Suburban Chorale in a program of "Glad Tidings" at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 10 in St. Paul's Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia.

William Roth will direct and there is no admission charge. The program will contain folk tunes from England, Spain, Germany, France, the Ukraine, and the United States.

The classical "Sanctus" from St. Cecilia Mass will have a solo, as will "As Joseph Was A-Walking" and "Gesu Bambino."

There will be the traditional songs too, such as "Good King Wenceslas", and to end the program the audience is asked to join in on the favorites such as "Silent Night" and "Joy to the World."

The Suburban Chorale was formerly known as the Livonia Women's Chorus, is sponsored by the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation, and is comprised of women from most of the surrounding suburbs. For any further information please call Mrs. K. Tituskin, Publicity Chairman, 427-2312.

Osteopathic Wives Give Plymouth Home Party

Wives of the osteopathic physicians of Botsford General Hospital will play Santa to 28 little girls in the Plymouth State Home, Saturday, Dec. 9. They have a gift for each of the children and will treat the youngsters to ice cream Christmas trees, fancy Christmas cookies and candy canes. The children will be entertained by four young dancers, Diane McDevitt, her sister Karen, Vickie Emmert and Debbie Baldwin.

This auxiliary, also affiliated with Ziegler Osteopathic Hospital, was organized in 1951. Its main function is to raise funds for the osteopathic scholarship and research program. The women also work toward promoting favorable public relations for and within the osteopathic profession.

The chairman of this program is Mrs. Frank McDevitt of Farmington. Serving on her committee are Mrs. Roland Ensign, Mrs. Edward Lonewski, Mrs. Paul Howe, Mrs. L.J. Juliano, Mrs. Monroe King and Mrs. John Struthers.

Pledges Sorority

Karen Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arden Hoffman, of 11807 Nathaline Avenue, Redford Township, is one of eight pledges to Alpha Theta sorority at Alma College.

Miss Hoffman, a sophomore, is a graduate of Thurston High School.

Picture a jeweled garden set on black velvet.

Or a bouquet of rosebuds that turns out to be shells.

Perhaps a huge scene made up of literally thousands of bits and pieces from Christmas cards.

And Christmas trees of woolly pink and white yarn and trimmed with glittering balls.

CREATION of these works and many more fill the busy days of Mrs. Archie Stabler, of Redford Township, who figures she joined her husband in retirement when he gave up his Detroit haberdashery business 14 years ago.

And she does her intricate work despite the fact that the thumb and forefinger of her right hand have virtually no feeling, due to an old injury.

"I wouldn't do it if I didn't like it, though," she said. "I've always loved handicrafts, and as some of the very intricate work became too difficult for my hand, I have substituted some other that I can handle."

"The important thing is to keep doing something interesting."

A FOUR-BY-EIGHT-FOOT Christmas card hangs in her basement room, along with several small ones. To make it, she cut pictures of people and animals, houses and churches, Christmas trees and snowy sleighs from discarded greeting cards.

She pasted them on with the larger ones in the foreground and the smaller ones in the background to give an amazingly accurate sense of proportion.

Every tiny figure was cut out completely, as were the flowers in a garden picture she made from birthday cards and a winter scene that hangs in her kitchen.

WHEN, IN the last year, the painstaking cutting became a little too much, Mrs. Stabler turned to an equally original creation—a 24-by-28 inch picture made of costume jewelry and mounted on black velvet.

"I had all my friends saving their old costume jewelry for a long time," Mrs. Stabler said. "I found a pair of clippers I could use, and used it to cut the parts of the jewelry apart for the effects I wanted."

The pieces are mounted with glue onto a piece of velvet laminated on wood, and the effect is that of a gleaming garden growing along a shiny cobblestone path.

"It took me about a year to make it," Mrs. Stabler said, "and it's fun now to have friends come in and recognize parts of the pin or necklace they used to wear."

MRS. STABLER'S rosebud-shell bouquet was one of many things she made from shells—an interest developed during the six years the couple spent in Florida at the start of their retirement time. For the roses, she used carefully selected shells and painted them with fingernail polish, adding artificial leaves and stems.

Her current project is the Christmas trees, made from hundreds of loops of yarn on styrofoam.

SHE ALSO made a board of mementos of the Stabler's 50th wedding anniversary celebration June 23, 1964, and has SEASONAL WORK -- Making Christmas trees from pink and white yarn is Mrs. Archie Stabler's current project.

Couple Wed In Home

Betty J. Walter, of Warner Avenue, Farmington, became the bride of James A. Schnarr, of Auburn Avenue, Detroit, in an evening ceremony Saturday, Nov. 4, at the home of the bride.

The Rev. W.F. Rutkowski, of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, officiated, and Mr. and Mrs. Martin Welsh, of Redford Township, attended the couple. A small reception followed the ceremony.

Sorority Gives Annual Bazaar

The Livonia Alumnae of Alpha Chi Omega will participate in the Alpha Chi Omega Christmas bazaar and dinner in the Grosse Pointe War Memorial on Wednesday, Dec. 6, at 7 p.m.

At the speakers table will be the Detroit Area Alumnae President, Mrs. Robert G. MacDonald and Mrs. William McDonough, immediate past president, both of Livonia.

The Livonia group under the direction of Mrs. Thomas W. Ray has been working for several months on Christmas items which will be offered for sale that evening.

Proceeds from this event go to aid the five collegiate Alpha Chi Omega Chapters in Michigan and the MacDowell Colony for artists in New Hampshire.

Carol Ann Moore Is Wed To Max Benjamin

Carol Ann Moore and Max Benjamin exchanged marriage vows in a double-ring ceremony Friday, Nov. 17, in the Cherry Hill United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon G. Moore, of August Circle, Westland, and Mr. and Mrs. Max W. Benjamin, of Dearborn, are the parents of the bridegroom.

The bride's gown was a diminutive cage of ivory rosepetal-embroidered chantilly lace over affata, and she wore a silk illusion mantilla trimmed with matching lace. Her flowers were ivory cymbidium orchids. Her father gave her in marriage.

Brown velvet empire gowns trimmed with ivory lace were worn by the attendants, Mrs. Donna Miller as matron of honor and Marlene Becoskey, Mrs. Catharine Becker, Mrs. Paula Benjamin and Sue Tyler.

They carried nosegays of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

Tom Benjamin was best man. The guests were seated by Alan Becker, David Garman, Phillip Gordon and Donald Moore.

Mrs. Moore wore a gold brocade coat and dress ensemble, and Mrs. Benjamin's costume was silver blue silk and wool.

The reception was held in the church parlor. The newlyweds had a two-week honeymoon in northern Michigan and will live in Romulus Township.

Musicale Sets Youth Program

The Farmington Musicale, emphasizing its interest in the young people of the community, will present East Junior High School's choral group, The Jubilaires, and the Dance Guild of Our Lady of Mercy High School in a Christmas program at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 13, in Nardin Park Church. Directing the Jubilaires will be Claudia Ferguson. Sister Ann Elizabeth will direct the Dance Guild. Program chairman is Mrs. Melvin Walck. The Musicale, an affiliate of the National Federation of Music Clubs, invites anyone with an interest in good music to contact its president, Mrs. Edwin Savely, at 626-0908, for information about membership.

Purdue Women Hear Singers

Women of Purdue University Club will meet for luncheon at 12:30 on Thursday, Dec. 7, in Bonnie Brook Country Club. The Livonia Stevenson High School Symphonic Choir will present a musical program for the members and honor guests, mothers of all Detroit area Purdue students.

(Lorraine Cutler)

Inter-faith Ceremony Unites Teachers

An inter-faith ceremony in Our Lady of Victory Church, Northville, united Lorraine Cutler and Terrence Hallinan in marriage Nov. 11.

The Rev. John Wittstock and Bishop Loyd Adams of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints conducted the rites.

Both bride and bridegroom are teachers in Taylor Township.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Cutler, of South Ely Drive, Northville, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hallinan, of Redford Township.

A LUNCHEON reception for 175 guests in Botsford Inn followed the ceremony.

The bride's gown was fashioned of ivory silk and wool and made in an A-line style. Embroidered lace trimmed the bodice, sleeves and skirt. A headpiece of pearls and crystals on lace held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white tulips and snowdrift chrysanthemums with roses.

Her attendants wore copper-colored gowns with ivory lace trim and matching headpieces.

They carried chrysanthemums, sea oats and carnations in fall shades.

SUZANNE HOUK was maid of honor, and Mary Galliano and Mrs. James Mayo were bridesmaids. Small Mary Beth McIntosh wore white lace over copper taffeta for her role as flower girl.

Larry Lamb assisted the bridegroom as best man, and the guests were seated by Arran Stander and Wallace Fuslier. Dale Dames Apley was ring bearer.

Mrs. Cutler wore an apricot suit dress and matching feather hat, and Mrs. Hallinan's costume was avocado green.

The couple honeymooned in Chicago and will live in Ypsilanti. The bride is a graduate of Graceland College, and the bridegroom received his degree from Eastern Michigan University.

Hiveleys Wed In Livonia

Linda Jo Crittenden became the bride of Ronald Herbert Hiveley Saturday, Nov. 18, in Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Dr. Richard C. Dunkelberger.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Hollis Crittenden and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hiveley, both of Livonia, are parents of the couple.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white chantilly lace over satin with a chapel train. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and orchids.

Loretta Doran, of Centerline, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaid was Linda Hiveley, sister of the bridegroom. They wore floor-length green velvet gowns and carried cascades of yellow roses.

Dale Forest, of Livonia, was best man, and Frank Fsadni was usher.

Following a northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will live in Plymouth. The bride is a student at Michigan State College.

MRS. RONALD HIVELEY

Gorski - Matthews Rites Held

Merry Carol Matthews and Anthony Paul Gorski were united in marriage in a recent double-ring ceremony in St. Valentine's Church, Redford Township.

The Rev. James McGurran officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Matthews, of Inkster Road, Redford Township, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gorski, of Warwick Avenue, Detroit.

THE BRIDE wore an A-line empire gown of white satin peau de sole with alencon lace appliques, scalloped bell shaped sleeves and a chapel train. Her illusion veil also was chapel length, and she carried white roses and stephanotis.

Marsha Bills was matron of honor for her sister, and her daughter, Dawn, was junior bridesmaid. Elizabeth Markarian and Earleen Kisner were bridesmaids.

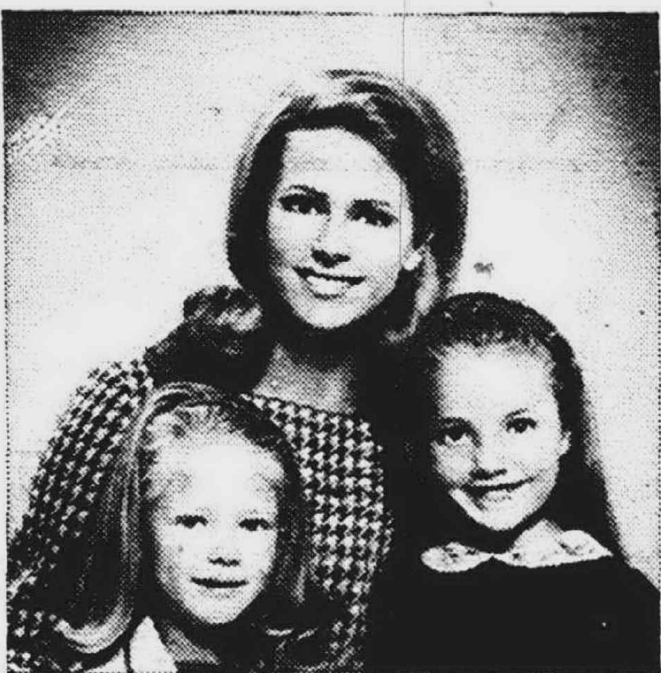

All wore gowns with plum velvet bodices and satin skirts and carried plum and pink mums.

ASSISTING THE bridegroom were Ronald Pohlonski, his cousin, as best man, and Eugene Gorski, his brother, and Jack and Craig Bills, brother-in-law and nephew of the bride, as ushers.

MRS. DOUGLAS LEE HOSSACK
(Charlene Ann Sutton)

Pair's Vows Taken In Rosedale Gardens

Charlene Ann Sutton and Douglas Lee Hossack were united in marriage Saturday, Nov. 18, in an evening candle-light ceremony in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, Livonia.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin N. Sutton, of Westfield Ave., Livonia. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Hossack, of Detroit, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau de sole, with chantilly lace bodice, long sleeves and bouffant skirt trimmed in lace. A cathedral train fell from her shoulders, and her illusion bubble veil was held in place with a forward headpiece of lace petals, pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of fuji mums and carnations.

MRS. LEONARD LENTZ was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Gayle Sutton, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Martinez, sister of the bridegroom.

They wore floor-length sheath coat dresses in brocade and peau de sole with Dior bow headpieces. The maid of honor's gown was sapphire blue and the bridesmaids' were gold, and they carried harmonizing bouquets of chrysanthemums.

The best man was Gilbert Minock, and the ushers were Douglas Sutton, brother of the bride, and Robert Martinez, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

THE NEWLYWEDS left for a honeymoon in Florida after a reception in the church hall. They will live in Redford Township.

The new Mrs. Hossack graduated from Franklin High School and attended Schoolcraft College. She is employed by Allstate Insurance Co. Her husband is a graduate of Cody High School and employed by Borman Foods.

CAROLYN HENK

The Fawns Club of the Livonia Elks will sponsor its second annual Christmas Bazaar at the Elks Lodge, 3117 Plymouth Road, Livonia, Saturday, Dec. 9, from 12 noon to 8 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 10, from noon to 6 p.m.

There will be Christmas decorations, hand-made candles, centerpieces and crafts.

There will be a country store which will carry baked goods and a special booth for children. A white elephant booth and children's games also are planned along with handwriting analysis and portrait sketches.

Engineers Wives Hold Workshop

The Engineers Wives Club will hold a Christmas workshop at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 6, in the Rackham Building, Mrs. Jerome Komendera and Mrs. Gerald Dorsey will teach members to make paper mache angels.

For reservations call Mrs. William Simms, 422-7896.

Wine Tasting Meeting Planned

A wine-tasting program is planned by the Franklin Knolls Woman's Club in St. Coleman's Church, on Middlebelt, Thursday. Members will provide hors d'oeuvres to go with the wines.

Chorus Plans First Concert

The Community Chorus, organized this fall at Detroit Bible College, will give its first concert Dec. 11 at 8 p.m. in the Covenant Baptist Church, in Detroit.

The group will perform the Christmas section of Handel's Messiah under the direction of Leon G. Anderson, assistant professor in music at the College.

Mary Ellen Montgomery, of 17205 Gaylord, Dianne Phelps, of 16916 Five Points; Evert Lindman, of 934 Marion Crescent, and Howard Phelps, 16916 Five Points, are Redford Township residents who will sing in the chorus.

ROSEMARY LABORDE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Laborde, of Roselyn Avenue, Garden City, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemary, to James Robert Barnowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Barnowski, of Stonycroft Avenue, Bloomfield Hills. The bride-elect is a graduate of Garden City West High School and the Electronic Computer Programming Institute of Detroit, and is employed by International Business Machines. Her fiancé, also an I.B.M. employee, graduated from Dandero High School and the International Data Processing Institute, and attends Detroit College of Business. The couple plans to marry Dec. 16 in St. Hugo of the Hills, Bloomfield Hills.

Plymouth Chief Warns Drivers

Although the southeastern portion of lower Michigan has not yet had a severe snowstorm, City Police Chief Robert Corrington warned Plymouth motorists to be prepared for the "big snow time."

Corrington commented that everyone who drove a car in Plymouth last year should remember what it was like after nearly six inches of snow fell in one night. All automobiles were practically paralyzed.

He said that because the "big snow time" is close at hand, now is the time to prepare your car for when it arrives.

The Chief stated that smart winter drivers will equip their cars with snow tires or studded tires, carry chains for the worst weather, pump their brakes for stopping control and approach icy intersections with caution.

"YOUR CAR RESTS on four small areas of tire treads and from these treads you need the best possible traction you can get when driving in ice and snow conditions," Corrington observed.

He pointed out that there is a new development on the winter scene in the studded tire—tires with metal studs imbedded in the rubber.

For the first time, this type of winter tire is legally allowed to be used from November through April.

Corrington said, "We have had many inquiries about these new tires from car owners. Although the efficiency of studded snow tires drops as they wear down, they provide more starting traction on ice than anything except tire chains. Every driver should carry

THE POLICE CHIEF added that tests conducted during recent winters by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards show that studded snow tires give better traction on icy pavements than regular snow tires.

"From the standpoint of traction on glare ice, studded tires develop about three times the pulling ability of regular tires," he said. "At the same time reinforced tire chains provide more than seven times the pulling ability of regular tires."

He stated, "On loosely packed snow, according to National Safety Council tests, snow tires develop about half again as much pulling ability as regular tires."

"To get going on ice and snow, you need two things—traction and the know-how to get the most pull out of what you have," he said.

CORRINGTON ADDED that drivers should use the gas pedal gently—very gently. He said, "Start in drive, or second gear with a manual transmission. Spinning the wheels only makes things slicker, digs you in deeper."

The Chief advised that if you get stuck there are a number of traction tricks you can use. He said sand, a metal mat or a piece of carpeting under the rear wheels can help.

Letting the air out of tires does no good and increases wear. Adding extra weight in the trunk gains little and risks a lot in more chance of skids, he concluded.

Balloting Begins In Synod

The Archdiocese of Detroit takes another step forward in its unprecedented synod program Sunday when Roman Catholic parishes begin balloting on the various proposals that have come out of the study.

Balloting will take place in all parishes participating in the synod Dec. 10, Dec. 17 and Jan. 7.

Each participating church will put before its members on the three Sundays the proposals worked out by synod study groups in nine separate areas of church affairs.

THUS, EVERY Roman Catholic will have a chance to gain close knowledge of the proposals and express his opinion in all areas.

The results of the voting, together with the proposals themselves, then will go to the archdiocese for its synod 1968. The program, put into effect at the invitation of Archbishop John F. Dearden, marks the first time that lay members of the churches have worked along with the clergy in charting future plans for a large archdiocese.

IN PREVIOUS synods, only a few representatives of the clergy aided the bishops in setting programs.

This time, representatives of both laity and clergy formed study groups on the nine designated topics—the laity, community affairs, administration, ecumenism, missions, worship, clergy, the religious orders, and education.

Each study group in each church was free to develop its own proposals in the various areas.

INCLUDED IN THE program were "Speak Up" sessions, in which parish communities met in groups of about 15 to consider proposals.

The parish participation plan was titled "Seeking Progress Together."

It began Sept. 17, and for three weeks the stage was set with special programs televised over the Archdiocesan Channel.

8 and 10 and the Detroit Education Channel 56.

After that the individual study groups got under way.

VARIOUS PARISHES in the area will vote on varying proposals, since each parish will consider only the ideas put forth in its own confines.

The archdiocese covers eight counties in Lower Michigan, with about 350 parishes. About 90 per cent of these, including about 125,000 Roman Catholics, participated in the preparation and will join in the balloting.

Six Choirs In Concert

Six Church Choirs will present a Christmas Musical Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church, Garden City. The church is located at 30054 Marquette at Henry Ruff.

Choirs taking part are from Alpha Baptist, Livonia, Calvary Baptist, Dearborn; Coronado Baptist, Detroit; First Baptist, Garden City; Nankin Mills Baptist, Westland; and Nor-wayne Baptist, Wayne.

The 85 singers for the concert will be under the direction of Mrs. Beverly Murray of Nankin Mills Baptist, Mrs. Joan Lee, Organist, Alpha Baptist, and Mrs. Leah Long, Pianist, Calvary Baptist.

The public is invited.

Program On Candles Set

The Christmas meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 12, in the First Methodist Church of Farmington, beginning at noon with luncheon served by Dorcas Circle.

The program will begin at 12:50 p.m. with devotions by Mrs. Ralph Mattmueller. The guest speaker, Mrs. C.H. Kippenhan, will show her original candles for the months of the year in "A Candle Calendar", ending with a meditation which Mrs. Kippenhan calls "Candles of the Lord."

Please make luncheon reservations by calling Mrs. John Haines at KE 5-8355.

Adventists Continue With Appeal

Farmington Seventh-day Adventists have started their 64th annual World Service Appeal. Participating in the appeal will be volunteers of the local congregation, who will personally visit community homes during the next four weeks. Their goal is $3,000.

Funds solicited will go toward extending medical, welfare, and educational services in 200 countries, including the United States.

On a worldwide basis, the church last year aided more than 8.2 million persons, distributed more than 9.6 million articles of clothing, donated 10.7 million hours of volunteer time, and contributed $4.6 million in food and cash to the church's welfare program.

The church operates 137 hospitals and sanitariums and 183 dispensaries and clinics, which treated more than 4.3 million persons last year. It supports a school system enrolling 375,000 students.

AT OAK HILL — This is the Day Room complete with a games area and a color TV set at the new Oak Hill Nursing Home and Extended Care Facility located at Gill Rd. and Grand River in the City of Farmington. An open house of the 80-bed home is scheduled for Sunday, from 3 to 6 p.m. The public is invited.

Oak Hill Nursing Home Opens Monday

A half million dollar extended care facility will open its doors for patients Monday, Dec. 11, in the City of Farmington. Newly completed is the Oak Hill Nursing Home and Extended Care Facility located on a two acre site at Grand River and Gill Rd.

Thurston Starts Off With Double Victory

There's a youthful touch about the Thurston High basketball team this season, but the squad plays more like a veteran unit.

That was the story last week when Thurston belted Troy, 66-54, and then came back with an 80-50 romp over Cherry Hill. Fast starts marked the Thurston play in both games.

Against Troy, Thurston piled up 17 points in the first period to its rival's five (one basket and three free throws) and never was in serious problems the rest of the way.

Against Cherry Hill, Thurston exploded with 22 points in the second period, while Cherry Hill made only six points and the rest of the evening turned into a breeze for the Townshipers.

Tim Forbes seized Thurston scoring honors in both games. He collected 22 points against Troy and tossed in 16 in the Cherry Hill game.

Sorrows Slips By Pontiac CC

Coach Bob Morris scratched his head after his Our Lady of Sorrows basketball team slipped past Pontiac Catholic Central, 56-51.

"Strange game, this basketball," said Morris.

Truer words never were spoken. Take the developments of the first half. At one stage with four minutes left in the second quarter, Pontiac led by a 21-13 score.

When the intermission rolled around, Sorrows was on top, 29-21. That's right, Sorrows outscored Catholic, 16-0, over a four-minute span leading up to the half.

By the end of the third period, Sorrows had expanded its lead to 10 points. Things were looking rosy.

But wait! Now it was Catholic's turn to do some spurning. With a little more than two minutes left, it was Sorrows which had to do some catching up as they went for more than four minutes with only one free throw to show for their scoring efforts.

But with the chips down, there were Tom Webster and Paul Bunker who emerged as the heroes for Sorrows.

Mike Hart was the top scorer for the winners with 13 points, 11 in the first half. Webster and Bob Theisen each had 12.

	G	F	P
Hart	5	3	13
Webster	4	4	12
Theisen	6	0	12
Bunker	3	0	6
Perry	2	0	4
Briolat	1	3	5
McGheekin	2	0	4

She Believed Those Slogans

Out of southwestern Kalamazoo County comes the story of the little old lady who actually believed an advertising slogan. The unidentified woman hastily summoned police after she received a package in the mail marked: "Top secret weapon. Do not open here."

Sheriff's deputy Lawrence Dashner arrived outfitted with crash helmet, plastic face mask and thick leather gloves to deal with the situation as best he could.

He unwrapped the package with tender care. And what was inside? A metal tube.

A toothpaste tube, containing a brand of toothpaste that advertises that it gives your mouth sex appeal and offers a 10 cent discount on the next tube.

The woman didn't want it anyway. She gave it to Dashner, whose report said he would dispose of it in "the normal way."

ANN ARBOR -- The 75th annual May Festival, presented by the University Musical Society of The University of Michigan, will again offer five concerts by the Philadelphia Orchestra and with guest artists. The 1968 festival opens Saturday evening, April 20, and ends Tuesday, April 23.

The orchestra will be led by musical director Eugene Ormandy and guest conductor Thor Johnson.

Programs and artists, although subject to change, are planned to include sopranos Eileen Farrell and Judith Raskin, contralto Jean Sanders, tenor Leopold Simoneau, baritone Theodore Uppman, and piano virtuosos Claude Frank and Anthony di Bonaventura.

The University Choral Union, conducted by Thor Johnson, will be featured in two famous choral works: Honegger's "King David" and Brahms' "German Requiem."

ORMANDY, who is returning to conduct the festival concerts for the 32nd year, will open with the "Egmont Overture" by Beethoven and Bartok's "Concerto No. 2" with di Bonaventura, soloist. Di Bonaventura was one of the artists opening the current season of the Philadelphia Orchestra in September. The opening program will conclude with the Brahms "Symphony No. 1."

The second concert, conducted by Johnson, will present Honegger's "King David" with the University Choral Union. Soloists will be Miss Raskin, Miss Sanders, Simoneau, and Uppman. Simoneau, brilliant Canadian artist, has performed throughout North America and at the Paris Grand Opera, the Vienna State Opera, and La Scala.

Miss Raskin made her professional debut in Ann Arbor as a young artist performing with the NBC Opera in the Choral Union Series. She has since become one of the most important members of the Metropolitan Opera roster and is an exceptional recital and oratorio artist.

With the exception of two Glyndebourne seasons, she had not sung in Europe until appearing last spring with the Metropolitan Opera in Paris. Both Miss Sanders and Uppman have appeared previously in Ann Arbor. Miss Sanders was heard in the New York City Opera Company performance of "Carmen" and in 1964 "Messiah" performances. Uppman's previous appearance was in an all-Gershwin program in the Choral Union Series.

Concerts At May Festival

performing Mozart's concerto, K. 456. Frank most recently gained fame in the Mozart Festival in Philharmonic Hall, Lincoln Center, and the Tanglewood performances with the Boston Symphony last summer.

In the third concert, Sunday night, Ormandy will conduct an all-Russian program: "Fireworks" by Stravinsky;

"Symphony No. 3 in A minor," by Rachmaninoff; and "Symphony No. 5 in B-flat major," by Prokofiev.

On Monday night, Johnson will open the program with Miss Raskin in Mozart's "Exultate Jubilate." After intermission she and Uppman will be soloists with the University Choral Union in Brahms' "Requiem."

THE CLOSING CONCERT of the festival on Tuesday night will feature American soprano Eileen Farrell in two groups of arias.

Season ticket orders are now being accepted at the office of the University Musical Society, Burton Tower, Ann Arbor.

State Police Records, ID Division Lengthens Hours

Michigan State Police records and identification division at East Lansing headquarters will be in operation on an around-the-clock basis beginning Dec. 10, Capt. Glenn M. Daffoe, division commander, reported.

This will mean scheduling several technicians on the extra shifts from 5 p.m. to midnight and from midnight to 8 a.m., including weekends.

Division personnel in the past have responded as necessary to after hour callbacks and have maintained a daytime operation on a limited basis on Saturdays.

The expanded work schedule results from general police information traffic occasioned by the around-the-clock activities of Michigan's computer-based law enforcement network, which has been operating since mid-summer.

Information available through the police network will include criminal fingerprint records and arrest data, gun registrations, concealed weapons permits, and stolen property listings.

WSU Men Give Church Concert

The Wayne State University Men's Glee Club, with Dr. Harry Angstrom and Milton Olsson, will appear in concert with Randall B. Robertson, Jr., or-

Greene Motors Gives College VW Equipment

Students in automotive technology at Schoolcraft College will study the operation of modern air-cooled engines this term according to Jon Adams, dean of instructional technology vocations.

He said expansion of the study program is being made possible by the donation of 50 new Volkswagen engines and special tools to American schools. This engine donation program is a joint effort of individual dealers in cooperation with their distributors.

The equipment for Schoolcraft College was presented by Greene Motors, Inc., 3450 Plymouth Road in Livonia. Mr. Avery Greene, general manager of Greene Motors, Inc., said the donation of VW equipment to the local school is part of the nation-wide program "to teach future automotive service specialists about the role of air-cooled engines in today's and tomorrow's vehicles."

Participating in the ceremonies at which the VW equipment was turned over to the College were Mr. Adams, Mr. Greene, general manager for Greene Motors, Inc., and Al Priest, service manager for Greene Motors, Inc.

LIVONIANS had a big time attending the initial luncheon with Santa Claus at Crowley's Downtown Store. This group includes: (rear) Michael Leigh; (center) John, Susan and Irish Neuman with Mrs. George Neuman and George Neuman in front.

Livingston, Hamlin Win Spots With Conference All-Stars

KALAMAZOO -- A pair of Western Michigan University football players from Observerland have been named to the Mid-American all-conference football team.

Junior center Gene Hamlin of Redford (Redford Union) was picked as a center on the offensive first team and senior Dale Livingston, of Plymouth, was named the team's kicking specialist for the second straight year.

Also grabbing first team berths for the Broncos were defensive end Jerry Collins of Muskegon and rover Back Dave Hudson of Battle Creek.

The selections of Hamlin and Livingston resulted from much praise from the Mid-American coaches who picked the team.

ALTHOUGH HE missed half the season because of a leg injury, the 6-2, 248-pound Hamlin was selected as one of the first-team centers along with Paul Krasula of Miami.

Hamlin was injured in the 35-9 loss to Toledo and missed the last three games of the season but league coaches felt he did such a good job they selected him to the team.

Hamlin, who also earned all-conference honors while at Redford Union High School, was one of the Broncos' most versatile performers, playing first string at either center or tackle. He was an All-MAC second-team selection last season at center.

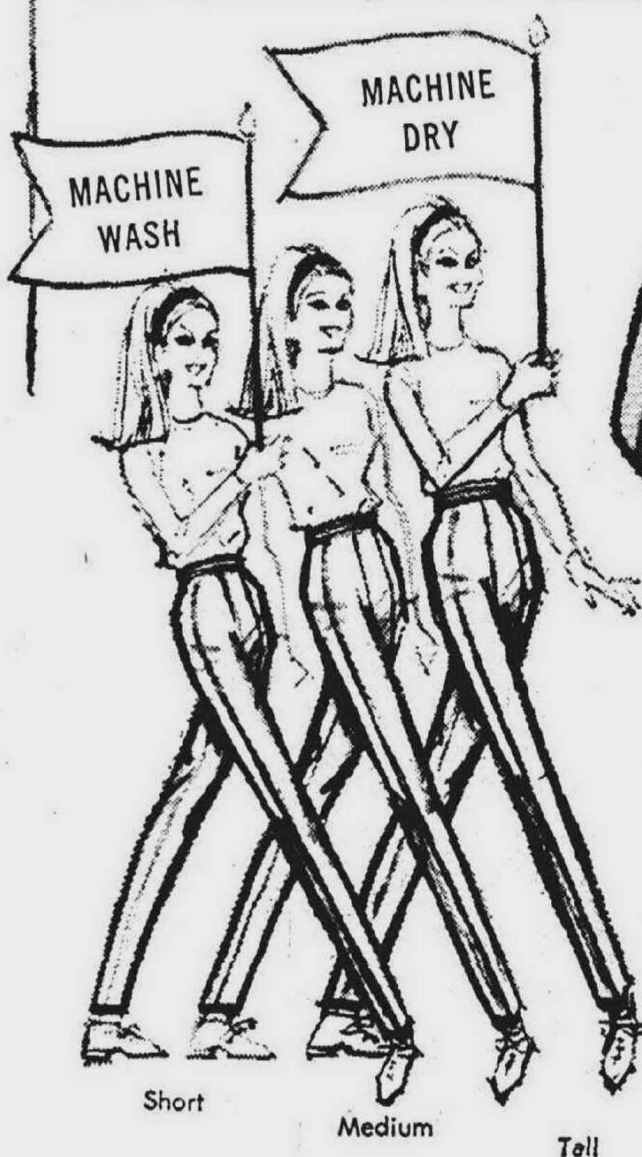

Livingston's selection was no surprise but the acclaim he received was not expected. He was a unanimous selection and the coaches felt he was so outstanding that they didn't even bother to name a kicking specialist to the second team.

Livingston's second straight first-team berth capped a tremendous career that saw him move from the intramural playing field to a role as one of the nation's top collegiate kickers.

Schoolcraft Opens With Bang--Then Gets Lesson

The start was a happy one for Schoolcraft College's basketball team--an 87-72 win over Concordia.

But the next night saw Schoolcraft run into a buzz-saw at Auburn Hills and leave the floor a 117-78 loser.

The Schoolcraft team might be called an "All Observerland" combination.

Members of the team hail from Plymouth, Farmington, Franklin, Clarenceville and

Nate Luibrand, a product of Plymouth, had 22 points in the pacing the victory over Concordia.

Ex-Bentley standout Mike McCauley registered 22 points, 14 on free throws, in the Schoolcraft loss to Auburn Hills.

There is only one game on the Schoolcraft schedule this week. The team visits Alpena Friday night.

ELIMINATE THIS "GRUESOME TWOSOME" WITH A Gas Incinerator

Yes, one clean, smokeless, odorless appliance—a gas incinerator—can replace this depressing duo. No further use for that trash burner—a gas incinerator burns paper, rags and cartons. No need to put refuse in that smelly can—a gas incinerator burns garbage and bones, too. Not only does a modern incinerator consume garbage and trash without smoke or odor—it does it indoors.

Decorate Your Kitchen Goodies

Delicious goodies from your own kitchen are always wonderful gifts. But what makes them even nicer is the way you dress them up.

Little individual cakes, for instance, are so gay when tied with ribbons.

Coffee cans, painted, trimmed and lined with dollies, are just-right containers for a gift of home-roasted nuts.

Festive little mincemeat or cranberry pies are even more giftable if set on a small paper plate and wrapped with cellophane, clear or colored, and tied with a sprig of holly.

Forum Will Examine Longer Township Terms

Legal or not legal? The lengthening of terms of township officials by legislative action, that is.

The public has been invited to hear a state official speak on this topic Tuesday, Dec. 12, 8 p.m., at Pierce Junior High School, 25605 Orangelawn, Redford.

Bernard Apol, of the Department of Elections, Secretary of State James M. Hare's office, will speak.

Sponsoring the public meeting is the South Redford Civic Association.

Mrs. Carmen Herrero, president, said it is hoped to have another knowledgeable speaker on another "legal or not legal" topic of public concern that same evening.

"The general feeling on the lengthening of terms seems to be that citizens' voting powers have been usurped," she said. "This is a topic of quite a bit of interest, although many people will not come out and say it openly," said Mrs. Herrero.

THE MICHIGAN Legislature adopted a measure which attempts to eliminate the "lame duck" period between November elections and new officials taking office the following April. The legislation extends terms of officials from a normal two or four years to the next following general election.

In so doing, it overrides the length of term stated for each official on the ballot at his November, 1966 election.

Those elected for two years gained an additional seven months: from expected April, 1968 termination to November, 1968.

But, those elected for four years gained an additional two years and seven months, due to the bi-annual election of 1970 being eliminated in companion action, and the next gen-

Druggist Foils Drug Shopper

Falsifying a doctor's prescription to obtain narcotics in a Redford Township drug store didn't work due to the alertness of the pharmacist.

The "shopper" will have a day in Wayne County Circuit Court to explain her "doctoring."

Julia Anderson, alias Pauline Chester, of an unknown address, was apprehended by Redford Township Police Detectives and arraigned in Justice Court Nov. 9.

She stood mute before Justice Randall C. Kohler and was assessed a $5,000 bond to await examination.

Conferences At SR Eye Personal Factor

The annual fall schedule for such meetings of Redford Township parents and teachers has been announced by principals.

The December 6 schedule in the afternoon follows: A-K 1:30 L-P 1:30-2:15; Q-Z 2:15-3:00. The Thursday evening schedule on the 7th is A-K 7:00-7:30; L-P 7:30-8:15; Q-Z 8:15-9:00.

"Although there is no set pattern for a conference," explained Dr. Jan Jacobs, coordinator for secondary curriculum in South Redford, "we find that there is a general eagerness by parents to hear first-hand reports from teachers about many phases of their child's life at school."

"The growing success of conferences as a supplement to printed reports on progress illustrate that the personal factor in educational relationships is still as valid as it was in the days of the one-room country school," the educator pointed out.

"When a parent asks about 'How Johnny is doing?'" explained Supt. M.D. Roe, "we are really hearing a whole battery of questions in one, and during the conference the teacher and parent will explore numerous aspects of adjustment by a changing, growing adolescent both at school and home."

"Since teachers have had recent education in child development in many instances, they are able to provide commentaries for benefit of parents representing the latest thought by psychologists in our universities," the superintendent noted.

Thurston High School schedules parents according to alphabet but the welcome mat is out at any time the school advises. Since the teachers are assembled at interview stations in the gym according to a seating arrangement, it is possible for a busy parent to go from one teacher to another when a teacher is free.

'War' And 'Peace' Replaced By Mud Of World Politics

Quickly: What does the date Dec. 7 signify?

Right: The Japanese attack on our naval base 26 years ago that triggered our entry into World War II.

Now: When did the Viet Nam war start? When did the Berlin crisis begin?

Ah! You argue that they had no clear beginning dates and that they're not legally wars because Congress never declared "a state of war."

Conclusion: The term "war" and the idea of a clear-cut state of war are obsolete, and so, for that matter, is the word "peace."

"WAR" AND "PEACE" were good words that served us well until the last 20 years or so. Today they are about as useful in understanding world politics as the "four humors" are in psychology or the "just price" in economics.

There is no out-and-out war today in the old-fashioned legal sense; there hasn't been in 20 years, and there may never be again. And there is no peace, there hasn't been for a long time, and there may never be a definable period of peace again in human history.

There is just politics.

Sometimes you shoot or use grenades and Molotov cocktails. Sometimes you start a run on the other guy's monetary balances, dangle foreign aid, depress or raise prices on world markets. But you don't declare "war" and you don't write treaties of "peace."

Guys like J. William Fulbright and Wayne Morse have trouble understanding this. Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee argues that "only in the present century have Presidents used the armed forces of the U.S. against foreign governments entirely on their own authority, and only since 1950 have Presidents regarded themselves as having authority to commit the armed forces to full-scale and sustained warfare." The result is the "erosion" of Congress' power over war and peace, says Fulbright.

Morse, one of the nation's most brilliant men in the field of labor law, where everything is in the contract and the contract is sacred, also has a hang-up on this business of congressional authorizations and legally declared wars.

ONE FELLOW who comes a little closer to reality is Robert Welch, if we may use his name in a sophisticated, polite newspaper. Rather than worry about World War III being started, Welch contends that it has been here since right after World War II, and that the first victim of the war, back in the late '40s, was a young chap named Birch. Hence Welch's conclusion that anyone who isn't fighting the war at the top of his lungs is a Commie, a Comsymp or a dupe.

Welch is correct in seeing the long-term nature of things but out of kilter with his black-and-white usage of "war."

When we had clear-cut, black-and-white wars, it was easy to rally a nation behind the cause. Now the situation is muddy. It's tougher to arouse emotions of patriotism among those who are for you, and tougher to hang a treason charge on those who are against you.

The 1968 election campaign has started, and a lot of candidates have already begun talking about "war" and "peace."

We'll do ourselves a big favor, in trying to understand the realities of world politics, if we eliminate those words from the campaign vocabulary. "War" and "peace" don't mean anything any more.

—Tim Richard

Robert Strange McNamara has resigned as Secretary of Defense, and for the first time since the assassination of President Kennedy I am afraid.

No. More than afraid. Puzzled and confused and troubled. But most of all, afraid deep in the pit of my stomach.

This extraordinary man, who for so long has held in his hands whether it would be war or peace in our time, is now leaving his post. And who will—or can—replace him?

AFRAID FOR ANOTHER reason, too.

There is growing evidence that McNamara did not resign just because he was tired or wanted a change in jobs. He did not jump; he was pushed.

And there is only one man in the country big enough to push a Secretary of Defense.

Why if not to push him out did President Johnson nominate McNamara as president of the World Bank without formally notifying him?

Why did the President's statement announcing the resignation leave off the usual over-full expressions of regret?

And why did McNamara's own remarks seem curiously incomplete about the reasons compelling him to leave?

I CAN'T BE SURE. No one can.

But the manner of McNamara's leaving ill becomes the man whom he had advised for so long. It compels speculation.

Perhaps Johnson wanted McNamara out because his consistent views urging moderation in Viet Nam lost out in the delicately savage game that is higher Washington politics.

Maybe the President decided that McNamara had lost his usefulness as a lightning rod and could not draw enough further criticism away from himself.

Possibly Johnson decided that McNamara succeeded too well in what he set out to do: To wage a limited war in such a way as to make it into a rationally technical exercise of power, quite separated from continued domestic prosperity and certainly not the sort of thing which can bring the country to rally to the flag—or to a President facing a difficult election.

No one knows. That's a little frightening.

THE FACT REMAINS that he is going, and this requires us to think about what he did.

He took the sprawling Department of Defense, that vast confusion of power and policy that was so complicated to have been called uncontrollable, and made it into the smooth and rational instrument of national needs.

More importantly, he did it in such a way as to return control over the military to those civilian hands so clearly specified in the Constitution.

"War is too important to be left to the generals," Winston Churchill is supposed to have said, and McNamara must have been listening, for he made the Defense Department into the servant of government policy rather than the playpen of competing generals and admirals.

He did it by putting into effect an entirely new method of decision-making which insisted on clarity of thought, accurate measurement of costs and benefits, and precise information.

This marvelous new system clearly broke down in the case of the Viet Nam war, and McNamara's record must remain marred in this respect. But as an effective public servant, who not only administered but also created, he must rate as by far the best the country has produced in recent history.

HE WAS KNOWN as a human computer. But the quality of the man is far different, and it is over this human quality that the sense of loss is sharpest.

I remember him in twilight at Camp David, the President's weekend hideaway in the mountains some 80 miles from Washington. He walked through the dogwood and sassafras talking, laughing and joking. A quick and warm wit. A whiskey and water. Computers don't laugh or have a drink.

He likes poetry, particularly English 19th century. Romantic, but just ask him to quote you some Tennyson or Browning. He feels it deeply.

With old friends he is old shoe, happy and warm.

With colleagues he is willing to argue his point of view, forcefully and passionately, but then to come to a decision and go on about his day without rancor or defensiveness.

And on top of it all, that astonishing mind.

MORE IMPORTANTLY, it is a mind in gear with McNamara's being as a man.

Many men at the top are either driven there by insecurity or they find it there at the summit. Not McNamara. Unlike the President, he doesn't seem to need a sheaf of opinion polls constantly nearby to reassure himself of his popularity.

He is secure in his own being as a man of power, who has not given in to it. He is a whole man.

As Secretary of State, he was a rational and civilized man, with a sense of style and taste that reminds me of Kennedy and that seems now out of place in the Johnson Administration.

He is not indispensable; no man is.

But somehow I keep wanting him to tell me that it's all right. That a new man will carry on as he would wish.

But that pit deep in my stomach keeps telling me different.

'Change' Makes The News

Change makes the news, asserts social historian John Brooks in his recent Book-Of-The-Month Club selection, "The Great Leap."

How refreshing a viewpoint! Many a journalist will no doubt feel vindicated. Hopefully many a recruit to the calling will rise to this apt slogan.

The concerned journalist has been all-too piqued by the adage of "names" being the most important element of reports.

There can be no quarrel with the assertion that "names enhance the news," which is quite different from making the news.

For instance, the one sentence: "War broke out today," is news. The facts of who would be warring and the sources of the information enhance the basic fact.

TO BE SURE, names—of countries, of military leaders, of the reactions, plans and desires of affected people "enhance" and provide basis for readers' evaluation of the basic news.

"War broke out today" is a basic statement of change. Yesterday there was peace, and an aggregate assortment of issues. Tomorrow there is likely to be conflict (another statement of change) and an assortment of actions.

Names are indispensable. No question. Without names there would be no indication that people are involved, affected, acting, etc.

Or, (horrors!), one might think that the change is coming about as a result of a computer plan!

READERS (and journalists, too) will get far more out of their newspapers and other reporting media if they look to them for announcements of "change" rather than "names."

Once the central element of change is grasped, then the influence of names upon that change can be more objectively evaluated.

How many people considered the "change" that occurred in American politics at the time of

Professional politicians did. From now on they'll look more for candidates with sparkling TV personalities.

Only a public concerned with change will be able to discern truly worthwhile candidate attributes.

Those concerned primarily with names would likely chose Rin-Tin-Tin over James S. Duesenberry (who happens to be a widely recognized economist now advising President LBJ).

Harding's Example A Lesson For Romney

NEXT TIME Gov. Romney feels moved to complain about the manner in which his campaign for the presidency is being reported, it would be a good idea for him to remember Warren G. Harding.

No President has ever looked better in the newspapers of his time than Harding did. No President looks worse than Harding in history books. That contrast is due to the fact that newspapers did not do their job while Harding was President.

Beginning with his campaign for the presidency, Harding developed a technique of talking with reporters in semi-confidential tones, sometimes asking them not to print certain news and sometimes simply trusting them to write about him in a friendly way.

After his installation in the White House, selected Washington newsmen enjoyed the Harding administration's poker parties and violations of the federal prohibition law. From there, it was an easy step to ignore or play down far more serious events which should have been reported.

While Harding lived, the public received almost no solid information about the signs of corruption in his cabinet. The fault lay almost as much with newsmen as with Harding.

NEWSMEN ASSIGNED to report activities of Romney or other holders and seekers of government office do not go about their jobs with the horrible example of the Harding administration constantly in mind. But they do go about their jobs aware that most seekers and holders of government offices work to keep publicity about themselves favorable. Efforts at honest reporting are not, however, always entirely favorable.

Beyond the fact that Harding and Romney have both been said to "look like a President," there are no known similarities between them.

If Romney feels some newsmen are biased against him, the main reason is that newsmen who report on presidential politics have been given no reason, so far, for taking Romney's White House aspirations more seriously than those of several other possible candidates.

Romney himself takes his aspirations extremely seriously. Others will do the same, to the extent he attracts endorsements from political leaders, and wins primary election votes, outside of his home state.

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenshell

Guido Russo was a 19-year-old GI from Detroit chosen by his friends and neighbors to serve dehydrated eggs and leather pancakes in a mess hall in Italy during World War II.

This one was a writer of oddments concerning the military and its pursuits, fresh off the Alpena News and 19, too. And anything that comes fresh off a newspaper has got to have something.

Now, as the plot goes, black out 24 hours — with each doing what he does. Then it comes small-world time.

YOU NEED CIGARETS of an evening and stop into The Livonia Knights Inn like a loner willing to swap war lies with a bartender, or maybe talk about the 1935 Detroit Tigers.

Italy is the key word. It was Cassino with the 88s clearing your throat from the outside. Foggia where wine was used to mix the mortar in the buildings. Spam, olive groves and cold nights in the B-24 hardstands.

Yeah, Guido says. I was with the 74th Squadron of the 456th Bomb Group (H) and, yeah, I know Hal DeLong in Detroit. I bunked with him at headquarters near the old farm house which was near Stornara.

Yeah?

Well, I bunked with DeLong, too, in a pyramidal tent with three other guys. You and I must have been two of them. Who was the guy from Bay City?

It all checked out with Guido, whose martinis crackle now they're so dry.

There was this afternoon Lt. Doug Hillman's plane came back shot up and the crew bailed out over the base.

THERE WAS THE afternoon we stood around the radio in Guido's mess hall and listened to the news that FDR was dead. Cigarettes in the PX were 40 cents a carton.

Guido Russo, now 43, was a slightly more svelt Guido then. He came back in 1945 to run a spaghetti place on Fenkell in Detroit with his family. Now he's older and grander, like the rest of us.

There's a lot less of the curly hair and he seems shorter, like he's standing in a ditch.

It seemed appropriate to ask Bill Kirschman in the combo to play, "Flyin' Home," like we used to play the Lionel Hampton record in the enlisted men's club.

Then we ask Bill to play "Misty" to bring us back.

Guido's been back to Italy but it's not the same and that's good. Cassino has been rebuilt and the monastery stands at the crest of the mountain like it should.

The roads are better and there are glass windows in the Galleria in Naples.

Funny about coincidence, how it happens. Guido Russo, Hal DeLong and this one. We still don't have the final answer, though.

TV Star Demands End Of Bombing In Vietnam

Television spy Robert Vaughn spread Hollywood frosting on the Michigan Conference of Concerned Democrats with a demand for "an unconditional cessation of bombing in Vietnam."

Vaughn, star of Man from U.N.C.L.E., was the banquet speaker at the day-long session of more than 700 Michigan Democrats.

"We must do this," he said. "We must demand unconditional surrender of the bombing, reconvene the Geneva Conference and withdraw all foreign forces from Vietnam."

VAUGHN IS leader in a similar California organization called Dissenting Democrats whose membership he said is 50,000. He agreed with the Johnson administration on domestic issues but parted company on the bombing and other Vietnam policies.

In the South Vietnam election, he said, only 35 per cent of those eligible went to the polls and the minority candidate is still under house arrest. During an earlier press conference, Vaughn said there is real hope that organizations such as his own and the MCD will force a change in national policies before the next election in 1968.

"I wouldn't be here if there were no hope," he said.

On draft card burning, he said: "It is a violent and emotional thing to do. If I were of draft age, I would be thinking about it, too. The kids today are frustrated. They are afraid to go to war and afraid to be killed. I do think that draft card burning has an adverse effect on the peace movement."

On other subjects, Vaughn said Shirley Temple Black's campaign for Congress was unsuccessful because "she was uninformed and was a victim of the Hollywood backlash," he will make a movie in Europe; he would support Senator Robert Kennedy for the Democratic nomination over Senator Eugene McCarthy; and would back Gov. Nelson Rockefeller if he got the GOP nomination against Johnson.

THE STATE GROUP named James Pino, Gratiot County Democratic chairman, as its permanent state chairman; Allen Jones as secretary and Mariah Williams as treasurer.

The 19th district group named Mrs. Millie Rowson, of Redford Township, chairman; Allen Sipher, vice chairman for Wayne County; Geraldine McNabb, vice chairman for Oakland County; and Miriam Grinnell, secretary.

The 19th district group will meet Dec. 10 at 7 p.m. in the Rowson home at 25920 Lyndon, Redford Township.

Vaughn summed up the reasons for many of the dissidents: "To me it is a social obligation not to remain silent."

Lions Wait For Next Year — After Loss To Steelers

The chances for a .500 finish have gone out the window for the Detroit Lions.

They couldn't even beat the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday before 47,713 fans at Tiger Stadium.

Pittsburgh wound up on top, 24-14, and Detroit now has failed to win in five games—losing four of them—and all that remains before the season ends is a visit to New York Sunday to face the Giants and the closing contest a week from Sunday against Minnesota at Tiger Stadium.

The Lions' record reads three wins, seven losses and two ties—hardly what the team or its fans had expected—especially after Detroit tied Green Bay on the first day of the season.

Against the Steelers the Lions fell behind, 21-0, and then made a minor rally. But it wasn't enough.

DON SHY scored two quick touchdowns for the Steelers. Each time he went over from a yard out.

Then a Kent Nix to J.R. Wilburn pass covered 66 yards and the Steelers, led 21-14.

The Lions then rebounded to score when Milt Plum flipped three yards for a TD to Mel Farr and Tom Nowatzke ran across from the three after Plum had passed 43 yards to Bill Malinchak.

The Steelers settled for a field goal in the final half, but they didn't need it.

Coach Joe Schmidt bemoaned the lack of blocking by the Lions.

"You can't run, if you can't block," said Schmidt.

Owner Bill Ford called the Lions showing "perhaps the worst of the season."

THE LIONS growled over the officiating. Two alleged fumbles by the Steelers were disallowed and Pittsburgh kept the ball each time. Touchdowns followed on each occasion.

Later the Lions screamed for pass interference. The officials called nothing.

Elsewhere in the National Football League last weekend:

Dallas lost to Baltimore, which remained the NFL's only unbeaten team, by a 23-17 score but Dallas still backed into the Capital Division title when Philadelphia and Washington played to a 35-35 tie.

Lenny Moore scored in the last quarter to cap a comeback for Baltimore. In the Philadelphia-Washington tie, Sonny Jurgenson and Norm Snead each passed for four touchdowns. The former made 30 out of 50 at-

Los Angeles stayed right behind Baltimore, beating Atlanta, 20-3. A showdown between Los Angeles and Baltimore for the divisional crown comes up a week from Sunday.

Economic Club Asks Wallace To Skip Date

THREE CHILDREN DIED in two Detroit area fires Monday. Both of the house fires were blamed on children playing with matches. Clarence Dickerson, Jr., 4, and his sister Tawonia, 2, were found dead in their Highland Park home. Both parents were away. Lynn Harrison, 18-month-old daughter of Mrs. Martha Harrison, died in a fire at a babysitter's home in Detroit.

SEVEN YOUNG MEN turned in their draft cards Monday at the Wayne County Selective Service Headquarters, marking the beginning of "End the Draft Week" in Detroit. About 75 male and female demonstrators marched around in front of the building for more than an hour before crowding into elevators to reach the Selective Service offices. Local draft boards will undoubtedly classify the men delinquent and order them to report for a hearing.

AMERICAN MOTORS 1968 sedan models have been termed unsafe in the upcoming January issue of Consumer Reports magazine. The magazine charges that gasoline spillage when the cars brake to a stop from 60 m.p.h. is hazardous. AMC claims the hazard is "minimal." Company officials pointed out that the cars exceed spillage requirements in the new federal safety standards.

ALABAMA GOV. GEORGE WALLACE, a possible right-wing candidate for president in 1968 has postponed an appearance at the Detroit Economic Club scheduled for Dec. 11. Club President L.S. Bork said Wallace had been asked to skip his appearance when community leaders said that after the Detroit riots his presence might kindle racial tensions.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S name will not be entered in the March 12 New Hampshire primary. Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said in Washington that Johnson doesn't want to disclose his intentions officially in March in a state where there are only 85,000 registered Democrats. A slate of Democratic National Convention delegates will represent Johnson in the balloting, however, McIntyre added.

THE UNIVERSITY of Michigan basketball team, led by Rudy Tomjanovich, edged the University of Detroit for a 104-99 victory Monday night at the U-D Memorial. Tomjanovich, a 6-7 sophomore from Hamtramck, hit a fantastic 10 out of 14 shots from the floor as he led Michigan to a 54-51 halftime lead.

BADGE OF AUTHORITY as new Director of Security at the Livonia Mall is pinned on Frank Nordman by General Manager Robert Poris while Oscar Kahan, president of the Livonia Mall Merchants Association, looks on. The new position was created a week ago by Poris.

Cook Holiday Gifts

Homemade cookies and candies, attractively wrapped, make welcome Christmas gifts. At every season of the year it is good to have some tricks up your sleeve for making cookies and candies that can't go wrong. No matter what the weather may be, hot or cold, wet or dry, these techniques can be depended upon for best results.

Although they are simple and quick to make, don't forget to make use of your marketing list. The time you save by using one of these recipes can very easily be lost by having forgotten to add one of the ingredients to your marketing list.

DECIDING UPON the gift most suitable for the recipient is important. Personal likes and dislikes as well as nutritional requirements need to be considered.

Make pretty wrappings for presents with everyday household items: plastic wrap and aluminum foil, paper dollies, paper cups and leftover candy and cookie boxes. Principles of good design help in the selection of attractive wrappings.

CHOCOLATE CLUSTERS
1 pkg. chocolate chips
1/4 c. corn syrup
1 c. raisins
1 c. salted peanuts
Melt the chocolate chips and corn syrup in a pan and then divide the mixture in halves. Into the second half add the nuts. Drop by teaspoon into cookie sheet with waxed paper. Top with cinnamon candies. Refrigerate 1 hour--makes 3 dozen.

PEANUT BUTTER MARSHMALLOW FUDGE
2 c. sugar
2/3 c. milk
1 c. marshmallow whip
1 c. peanut butter
1 t. vanilla
Heat sugar and milk over medium heat, stirring. Cook to 234 degrees stirring. Remove from fire. Stir in marshmallow whip, peanut butter and vanilla. Beat well. Pour into butter 8 inch pan. Cool and cut.

CARAMEL LOGS
3/4 c. sugar
2/3 c. light syrup
1/4 c. boiling water
2 egg whites
2 1/4 c. sugar
2/3 c. light syrup
3/4 c. boiling water
1/4 c. melted butter
1 t. vanilla
1/8 t. salt
Dissolve 3/4 c. sugar and 2/3 c. corn syrup in 1/4 c. boiling water. Stir until dissolved. Cook at 238. Remove from fire. Beat whites to peaks. Add syrup slowly beating. Beat about 5 minutes. Make a well in the center and let stand.

Dissolve 2 1/4 c. sugar and 2/3 c. corn syrup in 3/4 c. boiling water. Stir till dissolved. Cook to 258. Slowly pour into egg white mixture beating with wooden spoon. Add butter, vanilla, and salt. Beat for 2 minutes every 10 minutes till stiff enough to hold shape. Press into a buttered 8-inch pan. Chill till firm.

COATING
1 1/4 c. light syrup
1 1/2 c. coffee cream
1 t. vanilla
1/4 t. salt
2 qts. broken pecans
Combine sugar, syrup, and salt, and 1/2 c. cream. Stir till dissolved. Cook at 236. Remove and add another 1/2 c. cream. Cook at 236. Remove and add last 1/2 c. cream. Cook at 242. Remove and add vanilla. Place over hot water while dipping logs. Cut nougat into 16 rectangles 1x4 inches. Drop into hot caramel and quickly coat and drop onto pan of nuts. Wrap in waxed paper and place in refrigerator. Slice in 1/2 inch slices.

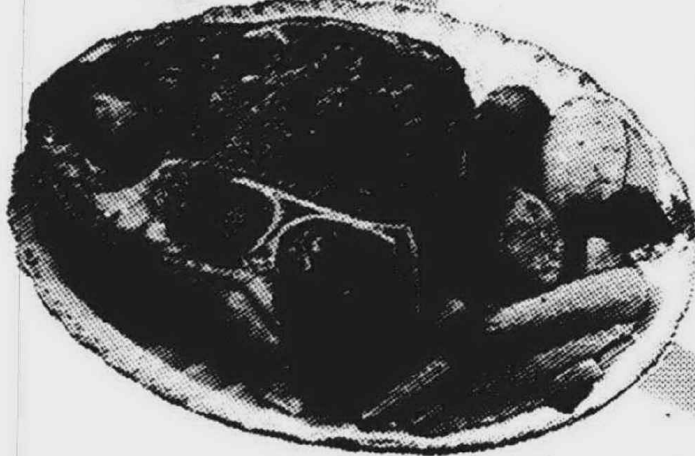

Spice CABINET

BARBECUED PORK CHOPS

(Serves 4)

- 4 pork chops
- 1/4 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/4 cup chili sauce
- 1/4 cup water
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon celery seed
- 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 bay leaf

Brown pork chops on both sides in skillet over medium heat. Place in 1 1/2 quart casserole. Combine corn syrup, chili sauce, water, vinegar, salt, celery seed, nutmeg and bay leaf. Pour over pork chops. Cover and bake in 325-degree (slow) oven until chops are done, about 1 hour.
