City Commission Takes Steps For More Downtown Parking

After many months of study and planning the City Commission finally has cleared the way for additional parking as part of an over-all plan to preserve the central business district.

The final obstacles were removed at the last meeting when approval was given for the purchase of the Davis property on Penniman Avenue and Wiedman property on South Main. Land contracts were authorized for both sites and work should start on the improvement early in spring.

The Davis property, long known as the Penniman Avenue "eyesore" will provide at least 22 parking places when completed and it is expected that Wiedman site will add more than 100 places to the plan.

UNDER THE plan being worked out by the City Commission, the parking program will be handled by the Building Authority which, in time, is to include a Parking Authority. An authority of this kind would have the right to issue bonds and exercise general supervision of the activity. In both cases the businessmen of the area played a leading hand in helping to provide a solution.

In the case of the Davis property the abutting property owners agreed to a special assessment in a joint venture with the city's share of the purchase price is to be obtained from parking fees.

The lone complainant in the Penniman Avenue case was Dr. Robinson who protested his assessment on the ground that there was a double use of his property, with much of it being used for apartments.

This complaint is being studied by the City Commission, but it, in no way, will delay the project.

Under the work schedule the property will be razed in the Spring and the blackout applied just as soon as weather will permit.

THE PLAN for the Wiedman property was brought to fruition when the businessmen in the area agreed to underwrite the sum of $86,000 over a five year period.

As in the Penniman Avenue project, the city's share of the total cost is to be obtained from resultant parking fees.

Approval of these two projects are the first tangible steps taken in the Loop plan that has been planned, discussed and studied for more than 10 years.

The businessmen have claimed that the only hope of saving the downtown area was to provide additional parking. They pointed out that the large shopping centers in the outlying areas provided parking and the lack of it left them in a poor competitive position.

It is to help remedy this situation that the Commission, after its long study, has put the wheels in motion.

David Olson Wins VFW Speech Prize

David Olson, Plymouth High School senior, captured first place in the Annual Voice of Democracy Contest, sponsored by the V.F.W.

The speech consisted of a three to five minute tape on the theme "Freedoms Challenge." Olson will now enter the District Contest to be held in January.

Second place was awarded to John Cummings, a sophomore, and third place went to Tim Robinson, a junior. All three boys will receive a bond from the V.F.W.

Jim Kalliel, Kathy Kosachenko, Jim Wee, Barbara Ross, Janet Synder and Jeff Morgan participated in the contest and all nine contestants will be awarded a medal by Mr. Gene Leader.

$1,000 For Peace Corps

For the past several years the Plymouth High School students have raised considerable sums of money for the Peace Corps in what is known as the Participation Program.

This year the sum reached $1,000 and the money will be used for the Peace Corps in Chile. Michael Stakias, the Student Mayor of the High School (left) is shown presenting the check to R. Keith Wittenstrom, of Oakland University who is past president of the Michigan Peace Corps Council.

Plymouth Township Still Enjoying Boom

John E. McEwen
Township Supervisor

We, in Plymouth Township are completing a year of growth, development, progress and sorrow...it has been a year of challenge and regrets.

Commencing in 1966 a "tax equalization program" on all land in the Township was accomplished for the first time in 25 years. This updating and equalization was performed by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation in accordance and directed by the new State Constitution.

It is acknowledged that the word "re-assessment" strikes terror into the heart of every taxpayer. To him it means an increase in his taxes. Why else would you re-assess? The primary goal was to equalize.

Through this equalization program the property owner benefits on the assurance that his own property assessment has been equalized with other valuations in the township... Government benefits through the development of a more healthful tax climate existing in the Township... the School District benefits through the assurance that the steadily increasing school tax levies will be applied to an equalized tax roll... The entire Township benefits because assessment equalization creates a sound foundation for the entire ad valorem tax structure in the Township.

We are certain of our continuing right to representative government. We shall continue to impose certain restraints and obligations upon ourselves including the levying of taxes for governmental expenses and public purposes.

As predicted last year Plymouth Township will have its largest growing year in its history. It is estimated that 1967 will show a total of 905 building permits being issued with a construction valuation of $16,600,000. An increase of 430 permits over those issued in 1966.

During the year 2.40 miles of water mains were installed at the estimated cost of $150,000. An additional 2.16 miles of sanitary sewers were installed at the estimated cost of $220,000. Early in 1968 an additional 9.5 miles of water mains will be constructed at the approximate cost of $1,000,000. With these additional improvements the Township will have 59.3 miles of water mains and 45.39 miles of sanitary sewers within its boundaries.

The entire Township was saddened with the passing of two key personnel during the last month. Matthew "Matt" McLellan, Director of Buildings and Department of Public Works and Herbert "Herb" Smith, Building Inspector, who will be missed by all who knew them. The community shares the loss of both men who exemplified the highest ideals of their professions.

Another banner year is expected. Please turn to page 4

Area Shows Major Industrial Growth

By Harold Fischer,
Director Planning Commission

The year now fast drawing to a close has been a good year for the industrial development of the Plymouth Area.

During the year six new industries made the decision to move into the Plymouth Community and add to the boom

Aside from these six new plants Parker-Hannifin expanded its plant on Plymouth Road during the year.

Commercial development has also moved ahead in 1967 with Michigan Bell's new building and the start of Calhoun Ford buildings on Plymouth Road. Another encouraging trend may be starting with the modernization of the stores on Starkweather and Liberty Streets. Plans are well underway for improvement of the stores along Ann Arbor Trail to Harvey Street.

The problem of downtown parking has been approached by acquisition of the Wiedman property on Main Street and the Davis property on Penniman Avenue. Parking on these new sites should be available early in the new year.

The Plymouth Area Planning Commission welcomed the Plymouth Community Schools as a supporting member this year; with James Rossman, Supt. of Schools, Carl Schultheiss, and Cal Strom as members of the Commission. George Hudson represents the City of Plymouth on the Commission, replacing George Lawton, who took up residence in the Township.

As a method of communicating what is happening within each unit of government and how it may affect the whole community, one representative from each member group reports at the monthly meeting of the Plymouth Area Planning Commission. Please turn to page 4 that has been developing for the past several years.

These new industries include:

Intaglio Services on Plymouth Road

Crankshaft Form Tool Co. on Industrial Drive

Hope Picture Frame Co. on Haggerty Road

Sparling Plastic Industries on Haggerty Road

Howmet Metal Products on Ann Arbor Road

Quibonic, Inc. on General Drive.

Road Survey Asked

Working on the theory that the future belongs to those who plan for it Commissioner James McKeon is sponsoring a move on the City Commission to obtain an up-to-date report on all major and secondary roads in the Plymouth area.

To this end he has won approval of the entire commission to have the Area Planning Commission develop a report showing the number of roads in the various classes and their lengths.

"We can't do much planning to attract business or industry," Commissioner McKeon stated, "unless we know of suitable sites and the facilities that are available."

"We need Class A roads for the major activities and it is just fitting and proper that we should have them."

Harold Fischer, Director of the Area Planning Commission also confided that there is a shortage of industrial sites on Class A roads and he is urging that more and more land be developed so that both industry and business can be attracted to the community.

"People we have," Fischer said, "and we will have no trouble getting, but it is the broadening of the tax base that business and industry provides that we need most."

Most of this type of growth is destined to develop in the Township for the simple reason that the City of Plymouth is "hemmed in" and there is little land available for development in the two square miles.

There is a chance, though, that during the coming year some of the land use may be changed and the city then can make a bid for a portion of the growth.

BUILDING A LIFE LINE--With the widening of Sheldon Road between North Territorial and Five Mile Road, there was left a steep inclined bank on the east lanes. This was a real hazard, but to protect life and limb the Road Commission is installing what can be called a life line -- to prevent cars from rolling down the bank.

City Hopes Rest On Unification

By James Jabara
Mayor of Plymouth

As we look ahead to the challenge of the future, and 1968 in particular, we pause to reflect on the past to review the course of our destiny.

The year 1967 saw the very successful celebration of our centennial year highlighted by the presence of the Lord Mayor and his colleagues of Plymouth, England. This event, while being important to Plymouth history, is not critical to the future of the city. However, the joint efforts which lead to its success are meaningful.

OUR CENTENNIAL Committee, like the Plymouth Community Fund, Fall Festival Committee and numerous others, was comprised of members of the total community who contributed their time freely and without reservation.

Mayor Jabara

Dimes Drive Heads Named For Plymouth

January will mark the 30th campaign of the March of Dimes.

The annual March of Dimes in the Plymouth area will again be headed by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Witwer, 593 Hartsough. Both have served as General Chairmen for many years.

The Plymouth Mothers' March, which will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 30, will be handled by Mrs. Donald Wee, 41914 River Oaks Dr. Special Activities for the campaign will be handled by Mrs. Barbara Olson, 1464 Hartsough, who last year served as co-chairman of the Mothers' March.

INDIVIDUALLY, the City and Township have many valued assets, which, if combined, would complement and strengthen each other. A few of the advantages from a citizens' view would be the economics of government operation, planning for the orderly growth and development of the community, improved police and fire protection, area wide recreation and fully realized social cohesiveness. We, of the City Government, pledge our continued efforts to developing the full potential of the Plymouth area and in maintaining its identity as the "oasis" of Western Wayne County.

Plymouth School Board Ready To Meet Challenges Of 1968

By Mrs. Esther Hulsing,
President of School Board

The Plymouth Community School System is heading into another important year and we are looking forward to 1968 with eager anticipation.

The growth that we shall experience will merely bring into sharper focus the problems a school system always faces:

- (1) A quality education for the diversified student body our public sends us,
- (2) The obtaining of highly qualified and well-paid professional teachers and an able administrative staff supported by all of the services needed to make them of maximum effectiveness in their jobs,
- (3) Sufficient clerical, transportation, and operational personnel to serve the staff, children, and buildings well,
- (4) Money to pay for all of this.

IT WILL become increasingly important that the board continue and increase the fine cooperation with our other local units of government as we plan ahead for the future of our home community. The appointment of Messrs. Schultheiss, Strom and Rossman as members of the Plymouth Area Planning Commission will improve communication of plans among our governing bodies.

We must continue to take every advantage we can of the public's interest in our schools. The fine work of planning facilities done by a previous citizens' committee has been implemented and shortly a new citizens committee will study the feasibility of an extended school year with its many ramifications.

Our public has demonstrated many times that it is just as interested as the professional staff in the up-dating and improvement of the curriculum. We shall earnestly solicit and search for such continuing communication. Please Turn To Page 4

MSU Expects Grad School Drop

Michigan State University is expecting a drop in the number of graduate students it will get next year.

One reason is the Selective Service's ending of a number of draft deferments for grad students, and another is a cut-back in federally sponsored fellowships.

The new draft law, passed last summer by the Congress, includes a gradual elimination of many graduate school deferments.

It also provides that, beginning in September, students entering graduate school in the fall can be drafted anytime during the year.

Continued deferment areas, however, include medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, osteopathy, and optometry.

DR. JACOB C. VINOCUR, associate dean of graduate studies, said financial difficulties attributed to the need for federal funds to support the Vietnam War, are expected to cut into graduate student aid programs.

And the decrease will probably be accompanied by new draft regulations making more graduate students eligible sooner.

As a result, Vinocur sees probable vacancies in teacher, as well as pupil, ranks because graduate students often serve in the classroom as teaching assistants.

Vinocur said he anticipates an overall decrease in the number of graduate students corresponding with an increase in demand for professionals in all fields.

He said it is not possible now to predict how developments will affect MSU's current graduate student enrollment of 7,661.

AS AN EXAMPLE of early cutbacks, Vinocur cited National Defense Education Fellowships.

Congress passed enabling legislation for 7,500 fellowships and eventually financed 6,000.

Michigan State University has received about 70 of the three-year grants per year. From now on, officials anticipate a cut of about 45 per cent in the number of new fellowships available here.

Vinocur said university officials have been told not to expect specific financial data from the government before Feb. 15, 1968.

Ford Sales Show Recovery

Ford Division car sales continued an upward trend during the final 10 days of November, M.S. (Matt) McLaughlin, Ford Motor Company vice president and division general manager, announced.

"Our daily sales rate for cars in the Nov. 21-30 period was up 57 per cent and for trucks 106 per cent over the preceding period, when the division's sales began to recover from effects of the strike which ended November 6," McLaughlin said.

Total sales for the November 21-30 period were 27,054 cars and 8,636 trucks. In the corresponding period last year, car sales were 56,891 and truck sales were 14,731.

National News Round Up

Despite Congressional reluctance to approve a 10 per cent surtax as proposed by President Johnson, a member of the President's Cabinet feels that 10 per cent is not enough. John W. Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, said that the figure as asked by Johnson would not be enough to finance the country's domestic programs. However, passage of the 10 per cent surtax would be enough to move ahead with those programs.

Congressman William W. Ford (D-15th District) has joined with 11 other members of the House in sponsoring legislation to expand the Great Lakes anadromous fisheries program.

Ford explained that anadromous fish are those that ascend rivers from seas or lakes for breeding purposes, such as salmon.

The legislation followed the recent success of the Coho salmon program in Lake Michigan.

Three sailors died Monday when a fire gutted the crew's quarters in a Norwegian freighter anchored in the Hudson River near Manhattan. The blaze left the area of the ship a charred mass of bent and buckled wreckage but firemen prevented the fire from spreading to a sugar cargo.

Major sponsor of the legislation (H.R. 14228) is Congressman John Dingell, Democrat, of Michigan's 16th District, who is chairman of the Subcommittee on Fisheries and Wildlife of the House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee. The bill has been referred to Dingell's Subcommittee, which will conduct hearings shortly.

Prosecutor Sees Slight Hope Of Early Court Date

Clark Freed On Bond; See Delay In Trial

Legal maneuvering may delay the manslaughter trial of Dr. Ronald E. Clark for months, Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson indicated this week as he discussed the Farmington physician's release from jail on a $15,000 cash bond. The doctor was released from the county jail in Pontiac Friday when his wife presented the court with a certified check for $15,000.

AT THE SAME TIME, Dr. Clark's medical and drug licenses were surrendered to the Prosecutor and, said Bronson, "are under lock and key in my office."

"The fact that Mrs. Clark was able to rally $15,000 from friends shows that Dr. Clark has a following," said the prosecuting attorney.

Attorney Philip Rowston, the physician's court-appointed counsel, disclosed he has instructed Dr. Clark not to return to his Farmington office and residence.

When asked of Dr. Clark's whereabouts, Rowston stated only that the doctor is staying "with friends."

BRONSON DECLARED, "We will make every effort for as speedy a trial as possible, but the very nature of the case causes me to believe that many motions may be submitted to the court by opposing counsel. Any appeal of a motion to a higher court would bring a further delay in bringing the case to actual trial."

The prosecutor expressed the opinion that the trial "will have national implications for the entire medical profession" and said it "carries great significance in a new area involving a physician."

Dr. Clark is charged with manslaughter in the Nov. 3 death in his Farmington Township office of his part-time nurse, who he also has defined as a heart patient, Mrs. Grace Neil, 43, of Livonia. The prosecution claims Mrs. Neil succumbed as a result of being given an overdose of sodium pentothal, a barbiturate which also is known as a "truth serum."

Deaths during recent years of several other patients in the same office at 30735 Grand River, all allegedly after use of sodium pentothal, also are under investigation by Bronson's staff and Farmington Township police.

DR. CLARK'S release from custody Friday morning came after he had spend 36 nights in jail. It came about after Circuit Judge W. J. Beer had reduced bond from $50,000 to $15,000 despite strenuous protests by the prosecutor's office.

The entire $15,000 put up as cash security would be sacrificed in the event that Dr. Clark flees the state and does not appear for trial, which the prosecution argued was a "real possibility" in fighting to have bond retained at $50,000.

Editorial Gets U.S. Attention

An editorial endorsing an open housing ordinance for the City of Plymouth has earned the Observer Newspapers national attention.

The Nov. 12 editorial, in the Plymouth Mail & Observer, was inserted in the Congressional Record by U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, who commented:

"I THINK all of us are encouraged when local governments take steps to meet pressing local problems. I continue to believe very strongly that the answer to the national problem of discrimination in housing must be national action. It is because of this belief that I shall continue to support legislation at the national level."

"In the absence of a national fair housing law, however, it is good to know that there is some forward progress such as that in the city of Plymouth."

THE EDITORIAL, headlined "Open Housing Is Just A Matter of Keeping Two Promises," said in part:

"The first promise goes back nearly two centuries to the founding fathers. It has simply to do with a pledge that America shall be the land of the free for everyone—not free for some and partly free for others..."

"The second promise...was made by President Lincoln specifically to the Negro people of America: That slavery should be ended; that all citizens, Negro and white, should be equal in the eyes of the law; and that no one should be deprived of his rightful place in every day living and the chance to enjoy the things that bring happiness to other folks just because of the color of his skin..."

"If you were a Negro, would you want these promises that made America to be kept?"

"We think so."

The ordinance was subsequently adopted.

The Best Ever For Patients At Dorven

Patients at the Dorven Nursing Home enjoyed a Christmas party.

Members of the Third Order of St. Francis, of the St. Elizabeth Fraternity of Dun Scotus College make monthly visits. For the past seven years they have provided a Christmas party with carols and accordian solos. Christmas cookies, candy and ice cream, with gifts for each were distributed.

In the beginning the parties were small, but thanks to the generosity of many persons and organizations, they have grown bigger each succeeding year.

This year's party was the best ever as the Order was augmented by members from the Lady of Mercy, 791 Daughters of Isabella, Hazel Park; Red Arrow VFW Post 2284, Detroit, and Senior Citizens from Hazel Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamel of Hazel Park are the organizers of the hospital group which they founded seven years ago.

Hazel Park senior citizens sang carols to entertain the patients in the recreation room.

Those taking part from Livonia and serving the 84 patients were Mrs. Catherine Taylor, Mrs. Michael Costello, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Rudolf Kleinert.

Eisenhower Sees Romney Out As Top Candidate

Former President Eisenhower has apparently ruled out Michigan's Gov. George Romney as a serious contender for the 1968 Republican Presidential nomination. The New York Times reported Monday that the former Republican President, "has been telling friends" that Romney "has been on so many sides of so many questions that one begins to wonder just where he does stand. He sounds like a man in a panic. And a man who panics is not the best candidate for president."

Eisenhower was also quoted by friends that he does not expect to endorse any Republican candidate before the national convention next August. Meanwhile, Romney was rebuffed on another front—in South Vietnam where he has been visiting American troops. A Marine at Danang refused to shake Romney's hand because he disagreed with the governor's comments on Vietnam and that he objected to the candidate's statement that he had been brainwashed by government officials on the war. Romney told the marine that he has learned a lot about the country since making the controversial statement—and then the marine shook Romney's hand.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held today, Wednesday, for Leon Pody, a labor organizer during the United Auto Workers union early years. Pody died Sunday at 64. For the last 15 years, Pody was an organizer for Local 705 of the Hotel, Motel, and Restaurant Employees Union in Detroit.

Traffic fatalities claimed at least 20 lives during the three-day Christmas holiday week-end. Freezing rain and snow caused hazardous driving conditions during the final day of the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Varian of 13940 Prairie St., Detroit, found triplets under their Christmas tree Monday. Mrs. Varian gave birth to three girls at Brent Hospital, Detroit. The three were born within a four minute period.

ATTEMPTS TO QUICKLY discover the arsonists who set fire to St. Beatrice Catholic Church in Southfield are failing because most potential evidence was destroyed in the fire, said Det. R. Jerry Simmons of the Southfield police.

Simmons said that he was waiting for a full laboratory report. Preliminary reports show that gasoline was poured through a broken window of the church.

MICHIGAN STATE University has asked the Senate Appropriations Committee for a $54,854,000 operations budget appropriation for 1968-69.

The budget proposal was about $2.5 million below last year's request because of the university's new tuition raises.

Part of the budget is to defray cost for the expansion into a third year of the university's two year medical college, eventually into a full-degree granting medical school.

DETROIT -- UAW members at Ford Motor Co. will share in a $4,799,566 bonus to be paid before Christmas. The bonus will be included in the workers' last pay check before Christmas, Bannon said.

License Revocations Show Rise

LANSING -- Even though total driver improvement actions by the Michigan Department of State show a decided decrease under 1966's all-time record, actions such as suspensions and revocations of driver licenses are ahead of last year's pace.

Ten-month figures released by Secretary of State James M. Hare note that nearly 44,000 actions had been taken against licenses including cancellations, revocations, suspensions, restrictions, denials, and referrals to county driver safety schools. This was a rise of nearly 4,000 over last year and a hike of about 17,000 in these categories over 1965.

"At the rate we are now going, we'll shatter all records for these actions against Michigan's errant drivers," said Hare.

HARE REVEALED that the 5,354 license actions taken during October was the highest this year and the biggest month since May of 1966.

An additional 58,000 warning letters have been sent out to drivers who are "on the verge of getting into point troubles," said Hare. "These are sent to drivers between the seven and 12-point levels. When they reach 12 points, other action is taken depending on the overall driving record."

Hare said that drivers who are in trouble for the first time may be asked to attend a

Suburban Police Work On Plans To Use Other Units

In accord with a policy statement by Gov. Romney, suburban police are developing procedures to better utilize state police and the National Guard during any civil disturbances or natural disasters.

Oakland County chiefs of police are also developing mutual aid agreements to help one another during any civil or natural disturbances.

ROMNEY'S statement serves as a guide for local police in obtaining aid from state agencies in case of disorder or disaster.

As outlined, it specifies that an early request for state police assistance is both desirable and encouraged and requires only a phone call to the Operations Office of the Michigan State Police, East Lansing, or the district commander in each municipality.

The statement makes a strong point that requests for assistance will not call for a takeover of local police functions by the state police. State police will be on hand to serve as support and as observers.

AS LAID down, the statement calls for development of better exchange of information and liaison between local police and state police to minimize delays in preparation of any proclamation by the governor that might be necessary.

School Seeks Drivers

The Livonia school system, which operates one of the biggest bus fleets in Michigan, is looking for qualified substitute drivers to keep the equipment rolling throughout the 39 square mile district, which includes most of northern Westland.

According to William A. McLellan, whose responsibility it is to see that thousands of Livonia youngsters get transported to school each day, standby bus operators are needed to take over when the 86 regular drivers are not available.

"We'd like to talk to qualified drivers, men or women, who would like to work for us," McLellan said. "At the present time nine out of 10 of our present staff are women."

Substitute drivers usually work from four to six hours. Applicants who show potential are given up to 25 hours of training at a moderate training wage.

"There are special techniques to be learned in loading and unloading youngsters," McLellan said, "and in handling bus loads of boys and girls. Those who apply must get chauffeurs licenses, which the Secretary of State issues. The cost is $6 for initial licenses, $4 for renewals."

Persons interested in full-time or substitute work as bus drivers can phone McLellan at GA 2-1200 or KE 7-4493.

Mrs. Manuel Valenciam of Santa Barbara, Calif., sat on a lump in her couch for a week and thought nothing of it.

Even her family took the lump for granted until one day it was suddenly gone.

Then, her husband discovered it coiled under the refrigerator where all good lumps coil. It turned out to be a 7 foot box constrictor.

the boundaries of a given community, Romney made a tentative commitment in his statement of designating a representative to be charged with the responsibility and authority to bring the emergency under control.

Commission.
To the critics of our industrial expansion, I would like to point out that we have at least 1,000 acres already optioned for subdivisions. For every one new home built, there will be a $200 school tax deficit, which must be met by the community.

When one contemplates the exorbitant bill 1,000 acres of homes will present, then our only alternative (since we cannot prevent these housing developments) is to balance the coin by attracting industry, which does not use the tax dollar, but generates the tax dollar.

If for only one year we tried to meet these costs by "staying like we are," which is the familiar cry, we would soon recognize that increased traffic and the side effects of new industry are a small price indeed!

Township Public Safety Shows Great Improvement During Year

Paul J. Albright
Safety Director

Numerous improvements were made to provide better fire service in Plymouth Township during the past year.

Part of the improvement came with the employment of two additional full-time men. This brought the total operating force to eight full time members, with 15 call men and six reserves for a total of 29 men available for duty.

Total fire service activities for the year, as compared to 1966, were down considerably. This was due primarily to the wet spring and summer, resulting in a decrease of grass fire runs. It is noted, however, that Rescue calls for this same period were increased over the preceding year.

The largest single activity of the Department was the Detroit Special Assist during the July Civil disorder. Eighteen members, one pumping engine and the department car responded to Detroit for a total service time of 45 hours and 15 minutes.

Police protection in the Township has been of concern to many residents. The Police Study Committee still is investigating various areas of concern, however, the protection afforded by the Wayne County Sheriff Department has been improved considerably over 1966.

Nine patrolmen are assigned on a shift basis to the Plymouth and Northville Township areas with supplemental help available from the Park Patrol of the Sheriff Department as needed. The Michigan State Police from both the Redford and Ypsilanti Posts also are patrolling the area at various intervals.

As an example of additional or supplemental protection available, 18 men and nine patrol cars were assigned to the Plymouth City and Township area in August during an emergency situation. They were headquartered at the Plymouth City Hall for five hours.

Naturally, as we enter 1968, a look to the future needs of the community is in order. Additional fire protection facilities and equipment for the western portion of Plymouth Township is being studied and plans to accomplish this are being developed.

The Police requirements of the area will continue to receive additional study. It is felt at this time that to abandon the present service available would be premature in light of the present area study being conducted by the Citizens Research Council.

Plans are underway at present to coordinate more effectively the Western Wayne County Mutual Aid and Tri-County Mutual Aid programs, and the Wayne County Sheriff Department is formulating a Disaster Control plan with the City Police Departments cooperating.

Both the Fire and Police will be centrally coordinated to further the Public Safety of all concerned.

In closing, our wish to all is a Safe, Joyous and Peaceful New Year.

Supermart Non-Food Sales Rise

The convenience of buying almost everything in the supermarket seems to appeal to today's shoppers, points out Harold E. Neigh, extension consumer economics specialist of The Pennsylvania State University.

During the last 10 years, food sales have increased 51 percent while nonfood sales in food stores have gone up 140 percent. About 21 cents of each dollar spent in the supermarket is for non-food items.

TWO OUT of three shoppers include at least one non-food item in their shopping cart. A man shopping alone spends the highest percentage of money for non-food items. Suburban shoppers buy the most non-food items and city shoppers buy the least, says Neigh.

Health and beauty aids are big non-food sellers. More than half the toothpaste, half of all the aspirin, and almost half of all shampoo sales in this country are in food stores.

AMERICA'S DOGS and cats eat more than $600 million worth of pet foods annually. An average supermarket sells about 130 different pet items.

Supermarkets are the greatest single outlet for cigarettes. Housewares, clothing items, and reading materials are other big non-food sellers. About one-fifth of the supermarket cash register tape is made up of non-food items, exclusive of soaps and paper products, Neigh adds.

Michigan Painters' Show Set

The Bloomfield Art Association, Birmingham, has announced its first open juried exhibition of paintings by Michigan artists.

Michigan Painting '68, which will open Feb. 11, is a sequel to Michigan Art '67, and continues the BAA's established tradition of presenting annual exhibitions limited to the work of Michigan artists. The Bloomfield Art Association is the only gallery currently presenting such a show annually.

Michigan Painting '68, will be juried by William McCloy, chairman of the Department of Art and Art History at Connecticut College, New London, Conn. Any Michigan artist is invited to submit two works in oils, acrylics, tempera, watercolor or collage, to the Bloomfield Art Association at 1516 Cranbrook Road in Birmingham. The entry fee is $2 per work and works will be received no later than Saturday, Jan. 27.

Prizes to be awarded include a first prize of $400, second prize of $250, and a third prize of $150.

Mealtime Habits Set By Parents

Parents play an important role in the development of eating habits of their children, says Louise W. Hamilton, extension foods and nutrition specialist of The Pennsylvania State University.

Children react to the general atmosphere around them at mealtime. Serving meals in pleasant and quiet surroundings, instead of in an atmosphere of bustle, contributes to improved eating habits.

Attitudes of parents influence the development of good food habits, reminds Miss Hamilton. It is essential to be patient with young children at the table.

Laughing at their cute tricks encourages them to do them again, but approval given at the right time helps teach children to repeat good behavior.

Eating patterns may affect eating habits. Haphazard cleaning day may cause children to dislike haphazard because their mothers were too busy to give them the attention they wanted.

Each child is an individual and needs to eat according to a pattern of his own, cautions Miss Hamilton. It's important not to force a child to eat according to the eating pattern of a neighbor's child. Regular mealtimes, no nagging, and no forcing help to make eating a pleasant experience and at the same time improve food habits.

Shopping Center Tabled

The Westland City Council again tabled action on a proposed commercial development to allow time for a meeting between the council, developer and neighboring property owners.

The action came after presentation of a study of the Cherry Hill-Venoy Rds. area by a private planning firm.

The study, ordered by the council last month on the recommendation of City Planning Director Eugene Katz, actually coincided with the developer's hopes to have the parcel on the southwest side of the intersection rezoned to allow for a neighborhood shopping center.

The private consultant urged the council "to accept the plan in principle and then sit down with the property owners involved to resolve any differences."

Council President Charles McIlhargey commented that the commercial development fits in with the planner's proposal but that the council should meet with the other property owners in the area to work out a plan. A better plan in the long would be more profitable to all concerned, he added.

The council was also told by the private consultant that the commercial venture has an advantage in that it is in the center of a region and not just an extension of an existing strip of stores.

The meeting between the council, the developer, and other property owners will be held sometime in January.

IN OTHER ACTION taken by the council last week, a three-man committee was formed to study the updating of the city's electrical ordinance. On the committee are Councilmembers Gene McKinney, Justine Barns, and Robert Wagner. Building Director Frank Diehl will also take part in the discussions.

Approval on a 4-3 vote was given to a revised site plan for Riverbend South Apartments following discussion on the merits and disadvantages of one- and two-bedroom apartments. It was pointed out that the new site plan calls for 95 units to be built instead of 105 with more two-bedroom planned and a decrease in the one-bedroom units. Favoring the new plan were Council members Charles McIlhargey, Gene McKinney, Robert Wagner, and Virgil Gagnon. Opposed were Justine Barns, Henry Lundquist, and John Markes.

A date of Jan. 15 was set for a public hearing on a rezoning request to allow for a unified complex of commercial and apartment facilities on the southwest corner of Joy and Newburgh Roads.

Returns Issued On Vote

The overwhelming rejection of last week's proposal to merge the smaller Nankin Mills School District with the larger Wayne Community district was reflected in the official voting returns.

In the Wayne district, which includes most of Westland, 1,214 voters turned out with 1,098 opposing the merger and only 116 favoring it.

Nankin Mills voters, felt the same way about the proposal, with 474 opposing the issue and only 101 favoring it.

With the issue decided on a total vote in both districts, the returns had the proposal rejected by a 1,572-217 margin. The election cost nearly $4 per vote with the Wayne County Intermediate School Board paying the estimated $7,000 cost of the special election.

The election was called under a 1964 state law which requires all school districts to have a high school. At present, Nankin Mills offers a kindergarten through ninth grade program.

Sports At Area Parks

Two parks near the western suburbs will offer fine winter sport facilities, according to the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, which operates them.

Kensington Metropolitan Park, on I-96 in western Oakland County, is one of the most popular areas in southeastern Michigan and has facilities for tobogganing, skating, sledding, ice fishing, hiking, and picture taking.

Vagnozzi Honored As Editor

The Michigan AFL-CIO News took a total of five awards in the annual International Labor Press Association journalism contest.

Editor of the labor paper is Aldo Vagnozzi of 26193 Kiltartan, Farmington.

Vagnozzi was elected a vice president and a member of the ILPA Executive Council at the ILPA convention, which was held in conjunction with the AFL-CIO convention in Miami Beach.

AWARDS received by the paper included the ILPA Executive Council special award. The awards were announced at the ILPA convention.

The special award is for development by the Michigan AFL-CIO News of the so-called "make-over" plan which amounts to a combination of the state labor publication with more than 60 local union and area papers. The citation on the special award praises the winner for developing a plan "which has vastly improved trade union communication in its state and set an example for the labor movement as a whole."

Aldo Vagnozzi

In addition to the special award, the Michigan AFL-CIO News won three first and one second prize. These were: Editorial excellence--first place (tie); Best front page--first place; Best single editorial--first place; and Best regular column--second place.

The winning editorial was on the need for repeal of the right-to-work laws. The column cited in the contest is the Michigan Background Report, a regular weekly commentary on the state's political scene.

Judges of the contest entries were the Nieman Fellows of Harvard University.

THIS MARKS the 11th year in which the Michigan AFL-CIO News has won at least one award in the 12 years during which the paper has been eligible for the contest.

The five awards this year bring the number of total prizes to 26.

Vagnozzi's local activities include the chairmanship of the 19th District Democratic Organization. He is a past chairman of the Farmington Democrats and was twice a candidate for Farmington Township Supervisor.

Zone For Wine Store

A retail wine store may be added to the Farmington business community by spring.

Solomon Goldfarb, 31650 Farmville, Livonia, has received approval from the City Council and the Zoning Board to operate a retail wine outlet at 33312 Grand River, the site of the former Elks Club.

Contacted by The Enterprise & Observer Wednesday, Goldfarb would give no details of his project and stated he was "still dealing with the U.S. government" in relation to the undertaking.

As planned, there would be no processing of wine on the premises from actual berries. The product would be derived from juices and would then be bottled. There would be no manufacturing of wine for wholesale purposes and the wine would be a specialty type used for cooking.

Goldfarb plans to sell specialty jams and preserves as a sideline. He will form a corporation for the entire business.

Abutting property owners, Edwin Oglesby, 33312 Grand River, and Dr. Morris Hutton, 33308 Grand River, offered no objection to the operation provided there is no outside storage, no odors in connection with the processing of the wine and there is proper refuse disposal.

City Manager John Dinan says Goldfarb plans some remodeling of the Elks building to adapt it for retail use.

The Elks plan to be in their new lodge on Orchard Lake Rd.

Speed Incinerator Job, Report Urges Livonia

The Incinerator Feasibility Report for Livonia has been brought up to date and submitted to the Municipal Incinerator Authority, the City Council and Mayor Harvey W. Moelke.

The product of Stellwagen-DiClemente & Mow, Inc., Detroit, the report recommends that Livonia lose no time in preparing for its future needs.

An incinerator to care for 600 tons of waste a day, at the construction cost of $4,500 a ton, would require expenditure of $2,640,000. But the city should plan for 800 tons, said Robert Stellwagen, Jr., whose father was an authority on incinerators and established the firm.

ALONG WITH the report came a bill for the second payment of $14,040—a similar amount having been paid Aug. 4. The contract called for payment of 20 per cent of the estimated fee, based on 5.2 per cent of the $2,640,000. If the incinerator is built, the firm's total fee would be $140,400.

David L. Jones, assistant director of public works and in charge of the city's rubbish and garbage collection and disposal problem, declared the report to be "a very good approach and analysis." Jones has been backing the incinerator plan for years.

The City Council, in renewing its collection and disposal contract this fall, also ordered a speedup on the incinerator report. It was suggested that Livonia and Plymouth, perhaps others, join in an incinerator authority.

He suggested that within 10 years the authority could include Redford Township, Plymouth Township, Northville and Northville Township. The community, he said, needs a master plan to include disposal of burnable and non-burnable waste. More landfill also would be needed for burial of ash, but the reduction would extend the life of the dumpsite.

The committee includes Robert A. Shaw, director of the Department of Public Works; Councilmen Peter A. Ventura and Edward H. McNamara; City building inspector Frank Kerby, John Kaiser and Darold Jennings.

IF WORK WERE begun soon, Shaw told the Council recently, it would require two or three years to complete an incinerator—or about the life of the present contract with the Commercial Removal Co., which has handled pickup and dump for eight years.

"There's always a crisis in the garbage-rubbish program," Jones said, adding that for health and sanitation reasons it is a vital service, and costly.

Jones said the report revealed that 86 per cent of commercial and industrial concerns answered a questionnaire sent by Stellwagen, because of their interest in the disposal problem. They pay a collection tax, but because of limitations cannot use city trucks or the city dump. A dozen private contractors haul waste away. One factory here pays about $400 a day for trucking.

A summary of the report said: "The present refuse production in Livonia is apparently 400 tons a day. By 1974, this figure will have increased to 585 tons. In 1980, the production will be 770 tons. The erection of a single disposal facility at the present landfill site will adequately serve the present and future needs of the City of Livonia. A total future capacity on a 6-day week basis of 800 tons should service the ultimate needs of the City of Livonia. "It is not necessary nor recommended that an 800 ton plant be erected at this time. It is only necessary that provisions be made for future additions to bring the plant up to 800 ton capacity.

"The optimum individual furnace capacity for an ultimate 800 ton plant is 200 tons. Smaller individual furnaces are uneconomical and larger furnaces would result in too great a reduction in capacity in the event of furnace shut down for repairs.

"It must be recognized that a reasonable plant completion date if design were to proceed immediately, would be some time in 1969 or early 1970. By 1970, the total refuse production will be close to 500 tons per day.

"In the light of the preceding, the construction of a 600 ton plant would serve the City of Livonia's needs until the year 1976. Construction of a 400 ton plant at this time would be foolhardy as by the time construction is completed the refuse production will have exceeded 400 tons.

"It is estimated that the construction costs for a 600 ton plant would be approximately $2,640,000.00. The above construction costs and the costs indicated in the table are based on the continuous flow reciprocating grate furnaces, each with a capacity of 200 tons when operated (as recommended) 24 hours per day.

"The first cost of a rotary kiln furnace plant would be approximately $200,000 higher. A batch feed plant would cost approximately $3,000,000. The operating costs of a rotary kiln would be higher due to increased maintenance. A batch feed plant would operate for a slightly lower per ton cost. Tables indicate the operating costs per ton of a 600 ton plant for the years 1969 and 1975-76.

"The capital costs indicated in the tables are based on a yearly interest rate of 4% at 20 years. Labor charges were established from present Livonia rates for the personnel indicated in a table. Electrical and water charges were computed from current rates.

"Agitating grate furnaces are recommended as the most satisfactory compromise of agreeable and disagreeable characteristics of continuous flow furnaces.

"Based on the report prepared by the Department of Public Works, it appears that the present Livonia ordinances are sufficient authority to erect and maintain an incinerator plant. It is anticipated that funds for payment of capital and operating charges will be obtained from the present waste disposal millage and adjustments thereto.

"Considering the foregoing, we recommend that the City of Livonia proceed immediately to commission the design and construction of an incinerator plant to be located at the site of the present landfill and that said plant be 600 ton capacity.

Sides With Vets

Councilmen reversed themselves to ask the legislature for a better break for senior citizens and disabled war veterans who are losing tax exemptions through increased state equalized valuation.

The vote was 6 to 1 with Councilman Rudolf Kleinert dissenting.

Councilman Edward Milligan sought reconsideration of the defeated resolution to the legislature. The 3-3 vote earlier was changed when Councilmen Edward McNamara and Jerry Raymond changed to back it.

MICHIGAN'S increase in equalized valuation raised the value of more than 150 pieces of property beyond $10,000, thus depriving senior citizens and veterans of homestead tax exemptions then in effect.

The Livonia resolution asked the legislature to raise the breaking point from $10,000 to $15,000 of equalized valuation and the permissible income for the property owner to $6,000 for senior citizens and $8,500 for disabled veterans.

John Bibik told the council his home had been assessed for $8,000, or 50 per cent of its $16,000 value. The state raised the assessment to $10,800, depriving him of the exemption.

"It wasn't the city's action," said Council President Peter A. Ventura. "It was increased by the state and I'd suggest you all write to your legislators and your senator."

Councilman Robert Nash added:

"The council has no jurisdiction over the matter we can only make a suggestion to the legislature."

Henry C. Buckley, president of one of five senior citizen units in Livonia, said that incomes of retirees were fixed years ago, that they remain frozen while the cost of living soars.

"A LOT OF THEM are trying to get along on less than $100 a month," he said. "We don't have any union. You people are our only union."

Evening School Expects 2,200

More than 2,200 suburban men and women are expected to enroll in some 150 adult education and extension courses in Livonia when the winter evening term starts in January.

Following a regional cooperative policy established by the Livonia Board of Education, all suburbanites can enroll for the same fees as paid by adults in the 39-square-mile Livonia district.

Detailed information regarding the winter term offerings can be had by phoning the Livonia Evening School office. A schedule of all extended school class offerings is available in high schools or at the Board building, 15125 Farmington Road south of Five Mile.

THE 150 OFFERINGS are in home and family life education, language arts, health and safety, practical arts, fine arts, and business education.

Winter term courses will be held at Bentley, Franklin, and Stevenson high schools and at Emerson, Frost, Riley, Holmes, and Whitman junior high schools. Registration for all courses will be taken at Bentley High, Hubbard road, south of Five Mile, on January 10, 11, and 12.

Detroit Asks Parley In Water Fight

It may be the season that's having an effect, but the Detroit Water Board, reported belligerent last week over Livonia's challenge of an $11,000 October water bill, has extended an olive branch and asked an opportunity to sit down and talk things over.

It was not suggested where the conference be held, Detroit, Livonia, or under the mistletoe.

Recently, through Chester Pierce, counsel for the Wayne County Drain Commission, Livonia officials were warned that the Wayne County Board of Supervisors would be asked to withhold approval of Livonia bond petitions pending settlement of the quarrel between the suburb and the city's water board over whether the new wholesale water rate became effective Oct. 1 or Nov. 1.

MAYOR HARVEY W. Moeke also had ruffled the Board's fur further by protesting against the rate increases on a percentage rate instead of a flat rate to all communities buying water from the board.

He called the policy unfair, said Detroit's own users were buying a bargain compared to the outcounty communities where the percentages varied. Detroit's raise was 15 percent, up to $1.35 from $1.17 a 1,000 cubic feet (7,500 gallons).

Livonia's Water Commissioner David L. Jones cited conflicting letters from Gerald Remus, general manager of the Detroit Water Board, fixing the date the raise became effective. Referred by Moeke for a legal opinion, the city's Law Department decided the raise was effective Nov. 1, and the October extra $11,000 was withheld pending "justification".

The action was followed by a request from Remus' office for payment, and reports that pressure would be exerted to end Livonia's challenge, Moeke said. There were reports that drainage bond requests would be tabled by committee.

Moeke said that Pierce had pulled no punches at a conference when he announced the pressure plans.

However, a letter came from the Water Board over signature of Gerald L. Dessert, secretary, asking for a conference to be attended by the mayor, members of the City Council, Remus and Commissioner John H. McEwen "to see if the difficulties could not be resolved". Dessert said the matter had been discussed by the Board after Remus made a report.

DESSERT ADDED that if the conference does not settle the differences, "a Board meeting could be held at a later date."

The inclusion of the Council in the conference excluded Jones and Department of Public Works director Robert A. Shaw. Council had approved new Detroit retail rates based on the wholesale increase, setting rates at $1.80 per 1000 feet for the first 50,000, dropping it slightly for larger users.

While the Council went along with the opposition to the October bill, there was little reported enthusiasm among members for Moeke's fight on the percentage policy for raising rates to communities.

Pierce reportedly said that Livonia's challenge could upset the county's financial position, since the revenue is needed for its bond program. If other communities withheld checks for the raise for October, the amount could be considerable. Moeke suggested that the board already has a number of delinquent accounts among its 67 clients.

EMPLOYEES OF the Board of Supervisors denied knowledge of the reported plan to withhold approval of Livonia bonds in view of the fight with Detroit, declaring that the Detroit majority never votes as a block. The city has 60 supervisors, out-county 61.

The mayor said water bonds are revenue bonds, drainage bonds are general obligation bonds. The county's faith and credit are not pledged on water bond issues, he said. So, he added, the city's challenge would have no effect on the drainage bond business.

Moeke added that the city has not refused to pay the $11,000 for October, but has withheld it pending legal decision on the effective date if the board persists.

Four Livonia drain projects were before the Drains Committee for consideration this week, Donald E. Ivey, staff assistant to the Board of Supervisors said. They were to be considered at a meeting called by Willis H. Hall, committee chairman. Livonia would be represented.

CONCERNING the suggested meeting with the Water Board representatives, Moeke wrote Dessert:

"We will be more than happy to meet with you at any time."

"I would appreciate it if Mr. Remus would provide outcounty community with communications from the office of Civil Defense which state that it is required that a water intake be placed a minimum distance of 50 miles from the city of Detroit. Mr. Remus made this statement at the public hearing held by the Water and Sewer Committee of the Board of Supervisors."

"I would also appreciate having available the increases made by the Board of Water Supply to your customers within the city of Detroit. It would be helpful to have all the pertinent information available which establishes the basis for the different water rates to the several outlying communities in Wayne county, including the city of Livonia."

The mayor hasn't called off his lawyers in behalf of peace.

Livonia Eyes Deal On Trash

Livonia officials plan to see a modern new trash disposal system in Louisville, Ky., to determine its application here. The trip will be part of the research going into the proposed Livonia-Plymouth authority.

Mayor Harvey W. Moeke said the Louisville installation is a hammer-mill operation which sorts trash according to weight and substance.

"IT MIGHT BE this would enable us to develop a salvage operation," he said. "At Pittsburgh, for example, we even saw broken glass being sorted out and sold."

The development came as Plymouth officials delayed completion of the joint plant with Livonia, asking for a study of needs.

"This is like the wedding of the elephant and the mouse and I certainly wouldn't want to enter into anything like that until I had completed an exhaustive study," Plymouth City Commissioner James McKoen was quoted as saying.

Livonia officials said a great deal of research must be made before either city knows which direction it will take—an incinerator, some other type of disposal equipment or expansion of its landfill.

"ALL LIVONIA wanted to do was establish an authority which could be used for this purpose if we jointly decided to do anything," he said.

Legal documents have been prepared to establish the authority under a 1966 state law empowering two or more communities to jointly solve a mutual problem or government.

Moeke On County Tax Group

The Wayne County Board of Supervisors has created a committee to "explore alternative methods by which the county can be assured continued tax revenues in a like or greater amount."

Livonia's Mayor Harvey W. Moeke has been appointed a member by Mel Ravitz, Detroit city councilman and chairman of the board. Ravitz named 18 members, and will serve as an ex-officio member. The supervisors adopted a resolution Oct. 30 setting up the study.

New Books
In Library

"Katie Mulholland" by Catherine Cookson is a novel, set against the bustling background of the Tyne, which covers three generations of English life, from the 1860's to World War II. The story centers around Katie Mulholland, the daughter of a Tyneside miner, who survives shame and the hatred of powerful enemies and goes on to fashion a full and satisfying life.

"The Intruders" by Edward V. Long, Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Administrative Practice and Procedure, describes the range of privacy-intruding techniques and gadgets used in governmental and commercial snooping and some of the methods employed to combat the intrusion.

"The Manor" by Isaac Bashevis Singer is a family novel set in Poland during the period of rapid change in the 1800's. A wealthy, pious Jew leases the confiscated lands of a count convicted of treason and makes a fortune selling off the timber, only to find his children affected by the revolutionary ideas he so distrusts.

"A Modern Priest Looks at His Outdated Church" by James Kavanaugh examines the way of the Catholic Church and suggests changes in many controversial areas.

"The Pyramid" by William Golding, author of "Lord of the Flies", is a novel set in the superficially placid village of Stillbourne, a contemporary English community huddled beside a small river. It presents three episodes in the life of one young man, at definite stages in his progression toward maturity.

"Nabokov, His Life in Art" by Andrew Field is a critical narrative about the whole of Nabokov's work, both in Russian and in English, including some untranslated novels, plays and poetry.

"Enjoy Europe by Train" by William J. Dunn is written especially for the first-timer who wants a safe method for touring the continent and the British Isles.

Thieves Get Garber Sign

If anyone has been driving through Plymouth Township lately trying to find the Ralph Garber Farm they haven't had much luck because the sign that used to hang on the front lawn is no longer there. It has been stolen.

Garber reported to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department that some scoundrel tore the 18 x 14 inch sign from its traditional place at the front of 46225 N. Territorial Rd.

The sign is worth $25.

Conversation overheard in a department store toyland a day or so before Christmas:

Small Child--How did Rudolph get his red nose?

Slightly larger child--I guess he swallowed a light bulb.

Small Child--Then did Santa Claus plug him in?

Slightly larger child--No, silly, it was a transistor!

Court Ruling May Affect Juvenile, Mental Cases

BATON ROUGE, LA.—The action guaranteeing rights to juvenile court defendants is likely to have widespread effects on mental hospital commitments, welfare administration, and perhaps even school operations, a University of Michigan law professor has predicted.

Prof. B.J. George Jr., speaking at the Louisiana State University Law School, said the specific guarantees will be less important in the long run than the Supreme Court's "refusal to accept benevolent motives as a justification for informal procedures that cannot be distinguished in any appreciable way from punitive imprisonment."

This year the Supreme Court, in the case of 15-year-old Gerald Gault, held that even in juvenile court there had to be notice in writing of the charges, along with the right to counsel, the right to cross-examination and the right against self-incrimination.

YOUNG GAULT, who had none of these rights, admitted to a policeman that he had made an obscene phone call. The juvenile court judge ordered him to the Arizona training school, perhaps until his 21st birthday.

George said the juvenile court practices which the court condemned "are present, if anything in exaggerated form, in mental health proceedings."

Involuntary commitments to mental hospitals, George said, result in "incarceration that is difficult to distinguish from penitentiary imprisonment, except that the penitentiary is likely to offer more rehabilitative services than the mental institution."

GEORGE NOTED a "considerable punitive element" in the administrative hearings involved in public welfare cases, even though no court is involved.

"The rulings made in many cases often appear to be unjust and as repressive to the welfare recipient as a criminal sentence...or an adjudication of juvenile delinquency might be," George said.

He asserted that a welfare client is rarely notified of an administrative action pending against him. Moreover, the client cannot confront the source of information on which the ruling is based, nor does he have the guidance of a lawyer. The ruling may be appealed, if at all, only to a higher office in the same department.

"THE SYSTEM in practice is one of unfettered discretion less judicially controlled than the traditional juvenile court system in its most lax form," George asserted. "One can expect that (the Gault ruling) will be invoked by analogy with ever greater frequency in welfare proceedings."

The professor also forecast the adoption of similar guidelines in school expulsion cases. "Deprivation of the right to receive an education is important enough to the future of the pupil and his family that protests against arbitrary administrative action can be expected," he declared.

But the Gault decision is only a mixed blessing, George said. By requiring proper judicial procedure, it is likely to increase the unregulated evidence-gathering activities of court personnel. He foresees no impairment of these officers' activities, "particularly when their end goal of 'concern for the child' or 'regard for the family welfare' will be viewed by them to be justified by almost any means."

BY THE SAME token, when cases are dismissed on procedural grounds, the juvenile defendants are likely to face the same recurring problems as adult offenders on probation.

"A strong wash of cynical acid is necessary if we are to derive anything lasting from the Gault decision," George told the law school audience. "The case at least gives us the right to be heard in court, and this in turn strengthens our hand as we negotiate with administrators and caseworkers in preparation for judicial proceedings.

"But we will also have to learn that overzealous advocacy, or even proper advocacy as viewed by an attorney, is not in the long run advantageous to our clients if they can continue to be detrimentally affected by administrative actions which for the time being are beyond the reach of the courts to remedy."

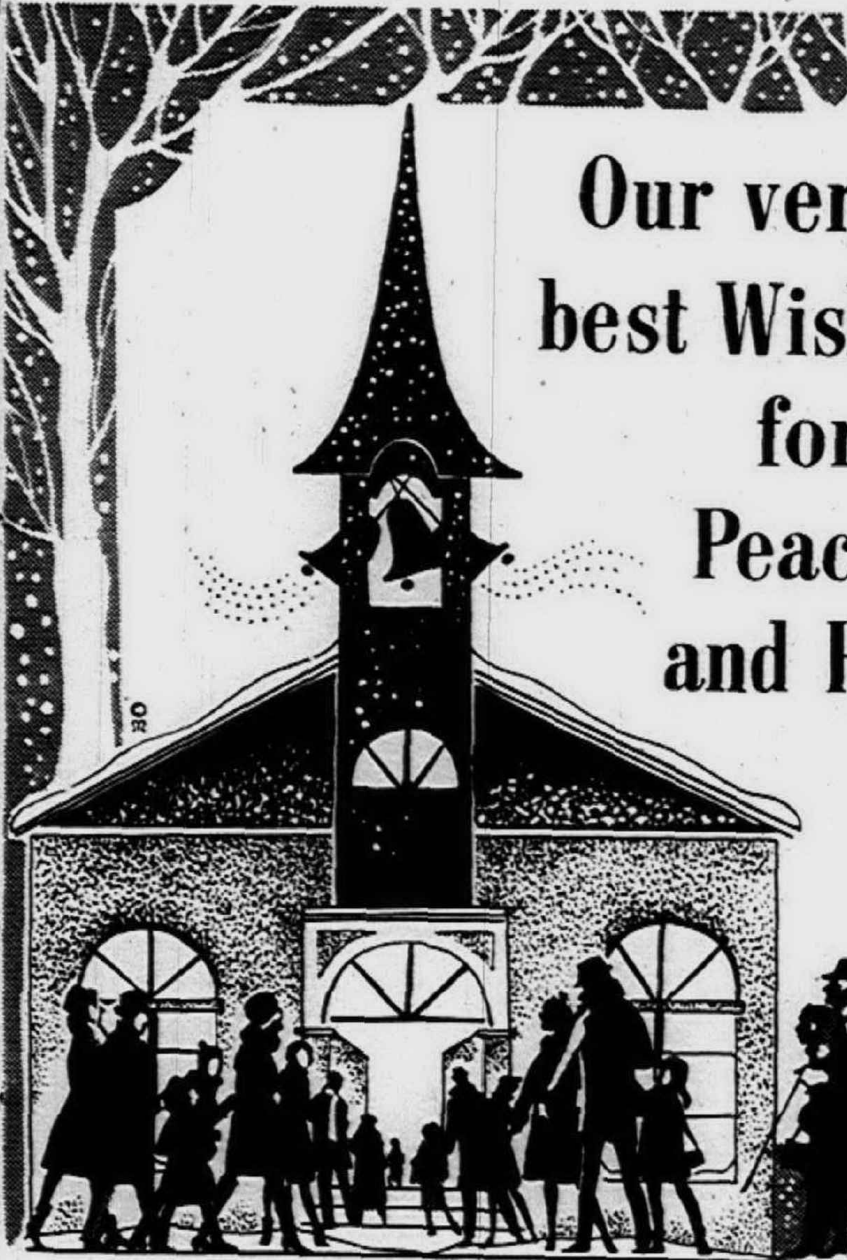

Families will have an opportunity to shop and compare at the Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show, Feb. 24-March 3 in the Detroit Artillery Armory, W. Eight Mile near Northland center.

SIGNS TELL STORY of the heavy rains last week. This picture was snapped at the Wilcox Road entrance to Hines Parkway where the road was closed to southbound traffic when the waters flooded the parkway at several spots. Imagine floods in late December in Michigan.

FLOODWATERS completely inundated Hines Parkway and forced closing to all traffic late last week. These two pictures show why the Road Commission had to take the action—only a boat could have been used in the shot above. (Below) This shows the high waters over the highway under the Joy Road bridge.

Our very best Wishes for a Peaceful and Happy New Year

The church with its bells ringing joyfully, the people gathering in happy family groups...scenes like these, we believe, most appropriately express the wishes and hopes of all, for lasting peace and contentment. Happy New Year!

Thank you for your many favors and friendly good will.

THURSTON HIGH'S Tim Forbes drives in for a short shot during a tense moment in the thrilling overtime duel with Redford Union, which was won by RU, 85-82. In the action are: Chuck Pilar (34), of Thurston; Dale Bjerke (21), Bill Styles (23), Chris Baron (41) and Bill Fahey (31), all of the Panthers.

RU Nips Thurston In Overtime

Followers of Redford Union's cage fortunes received an early Christmas gift Friday when the fast-breaking Panthers tallied three points in the final 45 seconds of an exciting overtime contest to nip crosstown rival Thurston, 85-82, in one of the most thrilling games of the early season.

Bill Fahey accounted for the winning field goal with 45 seconds remaining when the Thurston defense eased up momentarily and he was wide open at midcourt for a long pass and dribbled in for the two points to make the score 84-82.

Bill Styles dropped in a free throw for the insurance point that put the clincher with barely 15 seconds to go.

With the score knotted at 82-82, Dale Bjerke had a one and one situation from the foul line but missed. Then with 50 seconds showing on the clock, Thurston's Urban Rice faced the same situation and he too missed.

That set the stage for the long pass to Fahey and he didn't hesitate in driving in for the winning points.

IT WAS SECOND victory in four starts for RU and the second straight loss for the Eagles who were beaten, 49-48, earlier in the week by Assumption in another cliff hanger.

RU appeared to have the victory in hand after three minutes of play in the final period when it opened up a 66-57 margin.

But the sharpshooting Eagles came storming back and hit the cords twice in two minutes to whittle the lead to 66-63. Dale Joyce hit twice with shots from the corner and Rick Wagner tipped in a rebound for the six points.

Dennis Fifield converted on one of two charities to give RU a four point edge. Then Thurston came right back with fielders by Tim Forbes and Wagner to tie the game at 64-64 with four minutes remaining.

FROM THEN on it was a wild affair with the score tied four times before time ran out with a 78-78 count.

Wagner made one of two free throws to give Thurston a 68-67 edge. Dave Day hit from under for a 70-67 margin. Styles dribbled in on a fast break and RU was only a point back, 70-69.

Wagner hit from the side and Thurston had widened the gap to three points again. Bjerke and Fifield missed free throws after Fifield tallied from underneath and then Wagner dropped in a pair from the foul line to make the score 74-71. Fifield's free throw whittled the lead to two points again. Bjerke was loose on a fast break and hit from under the basket to tie the score at 74-74 with a minute to play.

Day was fouled and made both and Thurston had a 76-74 lead which he boosted to 78-74 with 55 seconds remaining on a shot from the corner. Fifield was fouled with 35 seconds on the clock and made the first and then Fahey connected on a fast break to tie the score at 78-78 with two seconds remaining. Forbes was fouled in the battle for possession of the ball but missed and the game went into overtime.

THE SEESAW ACTION continued in the extra period with Dave Foss putting Thurston ahead after a half-minute. Bill Mieras tied it for RU and Styles put his team ahead at 82-80 only to have Rice deadlock the count with 1:15 to play.

Then came the climax which found Fahey scoring a two pointer and Styles adding the insurance free throw.

Thurston led at the end of the first quarter, 15-12; RU was in front at the intermission, 42-37; and the visiting Panthers held a 61-53 margin at the end of the third quarter.

Then came the climatic final period and the overtime that had every person in the crowd of more than 1,000 standing for the final three minutes.

Fifield was the big gunner for the victors with 24 points followed by Bjerke with 20. Wagner sparked the Eagles with 25 as Forbes contributed 18 and Joyce 13 to the cause.

The Redford Township Jaycees paid tribute to the top performers and awarded trophies to Wagner as the most valuable player for Thurston and to Bjerke as the most outstanding for RU.

IT WAS THE second heartbreaking loss in as many nights for Thurston.

A shot by Craig Everingham with six seconds left enabled assumption to slip past Thurston, 49-48, after Thurston had staged a fourth-period rally to pull in front by a point.

Chuck Pilar's hoop appeared to have won it for Thurston with less than a minute to go before Everingham delivered as time was fading out.

Urban Rice was top man for Thurston with 11 points. Dave Foss had eight while Dale Joyce, Pilar and Wagner got six each.

Juniors Pay Off For West

The "All Junior" look is paying off so far for Garden City West High in basketball.

The five eleventh graders, who make up the West starting unit, took off in fancy fashion against Taylor Kennedy and chalked up a 78-62 victory.

This made the West record 2-1 in Tri Rivers League play and 2-2 overall at the close of the 1967 phase of operations. Dwayne Drewitz was the big man from the floor for the winners.

He socked in 10 of his team's 16 points in the first period when West rolled on top, 16-8. Then in the second period when West expanded its lead to 40-20, Drewitz drilled in 13 more points to give him 23 for one half.

HE ADDED eight more in the second half to end the night with 31 points.

Meantime, Craig Wilson, a junior starting for the first time, clocked for 10 points and 13 rebounds while other juniors, Francis Stanisz, Dave Leem-graven and Jerry Hopkins came through with nine, eight and six points, respectively.

The West team received some senior help. Gary Robinson, a 12th grader, came off the bench to haul down 16 rebounds.

West, which shot 41 percent from the floor, resumes play on Jan. 5 after pausing from action during the holidays.

Busy Slate Ends Year For Wings

The Detroit Red Wings face three games in four nights as they say farewell to 1967.

They'll host the Philadelphia Flyers at Olympia Thursday night, travel to Pittsburgh Saturday and return home on New Year's Eve (Sunday) to take on the strong Boston Bruins.

The Wings have been beset by injuries and illness in the last week, which has caused them the services of several regulars.

By George Maskin observing sports

MIAMI BEACH — It took a lot of force (ha, ha) to persuade us into testing out the Atlantic Ocean and the Florida sunshine (we hope) during this holiday season.

But the Pistons play here Friday night against St. Louis and we'll join Tom Hemingway in the play-by-play telecast going back to the Detroit area on Channel 50, starting at 8:30 p.m.

No, we'll try not to mention the weather down here. As we've said before, nothing grows up more than to be sitting home and receive a post card from someplace else with the words etched out:

"Wish you were here."

If it weren't for the call of "business" here, there's no question that we'd be hopping around in high gear back home.

This happens to be a very congested week for the sports fans up around the Detroit area. There are some classic events on the docket.

Take the dinner they're tossing over at Roma Hall to honor the champs of Redford Township's Free Press and Class A baseball competition.

No community size of the Township has turned out the baseball men like Al Turner and Bob Atkins have during the recent years.

The Free Press team has dominated the Greater Livonia League and state meets for something like five years.

For the past two seasons, the Redford team has won the right to represent outstate Michigan in the All America Boys tournament at Johnstown, Pa.

The "A" team came through with flying colors in 1967. First there was the title parade in the Greater Dearborn League.

Then Dearborn made it to the finals in the state meet and into the finals of the national area regional and then clear to the wrap-up of the national meet at Battle Creek.

The big league scouts have plucked merrily at Redford boys, the most noted of whom is Rick

★ Please turn to page 5

Now come the championships of professional football's two leagues.

It'll be Green Bay's defending titlists against Dallas in a repeat of last year's final classic for the National Football League flag.

They'll collide Sunday at Green Bay at 1:30 p.m. with Channel 2 the Detroit area outlet.

Bay at 1:30 p.m. with Channel 2 the Detroit area outlet.

Three hours later, Houston and Oakland square off at Oakland for the American Football League flag. The game will be televised on Channel 4.

Green Bay and Dallas had no problems last weekend making their ways into the finals. The Packers bumped the Los Angeles Rams, 28-7, in what was tabbed as an upset in some quarters.

Dallas, meantime, rolled over the Cleveland Browns, 52-14, in a game which never was close. The Cowboys stormed ahead, 24-0, and coasted the rest of the way.

HOUSTON WON the Eastern title in the AFL in crushing fashion, 41-10, over Miami. It was a good thing Houston won, because of the New York Jets because the New York Jets blasted San Diego, 42-31, and would have tied for the divisional lead had Houston lost.

Oakland, already assured the Western flag, finished out the regular season with 13-1 record

Council Of Governments

Suburbs In No Big Rush To Join

As 1967 draws to a close, the beleaguered Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (COG) has a mixed record in Observerland. The COG is expected to begin operation Jan. 1, 1968.

According to COG Staff Director Robert D. Farley, a total of 11 school and governmental units in the area have returned the agreement to participate to the regional group's headquarters.

Two Observerland units of government are expected to approve the joining of the organization after the first of the year, while 12 units of government have not returned the agreements.

IN SOME CASES, however, it seems that the governmental units have voted to join the Council, but that the forms and fees have not been sent to COG headquarters.

For example both the Farmington Schools and Farmington Township have formally voted to join the council. Their agreements have not been returned, however, and they are listed as not having joined.

Another likely example is Redford Township. Supervisor Aldrick Bellaire is a township representative on the temporary executive committee. To date, that group's application has not been received.

FARLEY TOLD The Observer that the COG had 81 signed agreements from governmental units in the six county area. He predicted that by the Jan. 13 general session of the council the number of agreements would be "well over 100." One-hundred-fifty-seven units passed resolutions of intent to join.

The COG has received signed agreements from the City of Farmington, the City of Plymouth, the Village of Quakertown, Plymouth Township and Canton Township.

School districts who have returned agreements are Livonia,

South Redford, Plymouth and Wayne. Livonia's Superintendent Borton Yates is a member of the temporary executive committee.

The Oakland County Intermediate Schools has signed its intention to join, while the Wayne Intermediate School District is expected to join by the end of the year.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors has voted to join the group and its chairman, DeLos Hamlin of Farmington, has been named temporary vice chairman of COG. Wayne County is expected to come into the organization after the first of the year.

GOVERNMENTAL units in Observerland who have not returned agreements to COG are the City of Livonia, Garden City, the City of Westland and the Village of Wood Creek Farms.

(As was noted before, COG does not have agreements from Farmington Township or Redford Township, but these two are expected to formally join the organization along with the Farmington School District.)

Neither Oakland Community College nor Schoolcraft College has returned COG agreements.

Other school districts that the COG has not heard from are Clarenceville, Redford Union, Garden City and Nankin Mills.

BILLED AS "A voluntary association of local governments," the council was formed to consolidate the existing regional organizations into one unit.

The idea ran into trouble in the state Legislature when an enabling act was defeated. Since then, however, the council has continued its activities under existing legislation.

Opposition to the COG has come mainly from the conservatives who see the regional association as another erosion of local autonomy.

Pro Grid Title Games Sunday

over from the one for another six-pointer and Ken Houser turned an intercepted pass into a 30-yard dash for a touchdown to pace Houston's romp over Miami.

John Wittenborn booted two field goals and five extra points to add to Houston's margin.

OAKLAND, WHICH now has won 11 straight, counted on a yard plunge in the fading moments to pull out a win over Buffalo.

Meantime, Joe Namath flipped passes for four touchdowns and set a new pro football record with 4,008 yards gained in one season via the air as New York closed out on a winning note against San Diego.

Next Sunday's play by no means will end the pro grid season.

The National Football League Runnerup Bowl on January 7 between Cleveland and Los Angeles, with the Sugar Bowl booked for Miami, Fla., on January 14.

Then will follow the all-star games for each league on Jan. 21 to end the campaign.

Pacers Resume At Windsor Raceway

Windsor Raceway, enjoying a record-breaking Fall Meeting, closed for the Christmas holiday from Dec. 17 through Dec. 25, resumed at the popular all-weather oval on Tuesday, Dec. 26 and will continue until Thursday, March 21.

During the Winter Meeting which officially gets underway Jan. 1, matinee programs will be presented each Wednesday and Saturday, in addition to the six nightly sessions.

Post time for the opening event of the afternoon cards will be 1:15 p.m. while the nighttime programs maintain the early 7:45 post time.

During the first nine weeks of this year's schedule, Windsor has attracted nearly a quarter-million fans who have wagered over $15 million dollars and these figures reflect gains of about 14 per cent over a comparable period in 1966.

Gerry Bookmyer of Sycamore, O. successfully defended his driving championship for the Fall Meet.

The Orchard Ridge Raiders will face the Northwood sextet Jan. 8 on the Winter Wonderland rink, Schoolcraft near Southfield. The game with U. of D. will be played the evening of Jan. 12 in Olympia Stadium.

Co-captains of the Raiders are Terry Smith, Dan Venezia, Jack Anderson and John Dembecki. Roger Norstrom, former hockey captain at Michigan State University, is coaching the club.

One Point Too Much For Bentley

Bentley High's swimming team hasn't been able to get untracked.

The Livonians dropped their third straight meet when downed in a squeaker by Pontiac Northern, 53-52.

Bentley boasts pretty much an all junior team except for Bill Palmer who captured the 50-yard free and 100-yard butterfly.

Dave Kee also was a double winner for Bentley, taking the individual medley and the 400-yard free style races.

The Bentley winners:

50-yard free: Bill Palmer, 24 seconds.
100-yard butterfly: Palmer, 59.9 seconds.
Free style relay: Bentley (Mike Tooley, John Ehrenfeld, Bob Johnson, Bob Crowder), Time: 1:56.

Miami Game Starts Trip For Pistons

Three straight neutral court encounters will mark the schedule of the Detroit Pistons as they end the 1967 part of their schedule and then embark on the 1968 phase of action.

The Pistons meet St. Louis at Miami Beach, Fla., Friday night, but the opportunity to enjoy the southern sunshine will be short. The next night will find the Pistons at Syracuse to engage Philadelphia.

After returning home to mark the New Year in with their families, the Pistons will head to New York next Tuesday to engage Baltimore.

East Rolls Unbeaten In Wrestling

Garden City East's wrestling team reached the holiday break with an unbeaten record.

East engaged in four meets and emerged victorious each time. First it was a 28-23 win over Cathedral Central, then a 34-11 win over Our Lady of Sorrows, then a 41-8 romp against Southgate and finally a 37-13 decision over Ann Arbor Huron.

Four East matmen have won all their matches.

Jim Toor, 95 pounds, has scored three pins and one decision; Greg Topper, 103 pounds, two pins and two victories; Ted Takesin, 112, two pins and two decisions, and Mike Jose, 127, three pins and one decision.

Holiday Tournaments Keep Preps Busy

It's high school tournament time—holiday fashion—this week for most of the Observer-land basketball teams.

The schools are contesting in three meets—the Northwest, the John Glenn and the River Rouge Invitational.

Play in the Northwestern meet opened Wednesday night with games at Redford Union and Bentley.

Redford Union met North Farmington and Ypsilanti Southfield at RU, while Bentley opposed Berkley and Stevenson faced Farmington at Bentley.

For the remainder of the week all the action will switch to Bentley.

Wednesday's losers play Thursday night while the first winners clash in the semi-finals Friday evening at 7 and 8:30 p.m.

THE FINALS and other consolation action will take place on Saturday afternoon and evening.

In the first holiday meet sponsored at Glenn, action begins Thursday with Plymouth meeting Wayne at 7:30 p.m. and Belleville engaging Glenn at 9:30.

The losers play for third place in Friday's first game while the title game will follow two hours later.

Garden City East puts its five-game unbeaten streak on the line against a classy field, which included Thurston, in the annual River Rouge High Invitational.

EAST HOOKED UP with Northville in Wednesday's first at Rouge. It was Thurston vs. Robichaud in the second encounter, followed by Ecorse vs. Lincoln Park and Highland Park vs. River Rouge.

Clark, a star pitcher this past year for the California Angels.

Gentlemen, we'd like to join you at Roma Hall. But, we know you'll understand why we're not there.

This also is the time of the year for Holiday basketball tournaments.

High School and College! Most of the Observerland prep teams are squaring off in invitationals being held at Bentley, River Rouge and Plymouth.

The coaches and players like the tourneys. They provide a chance to do something else but practice while school is out for the vacation period.

"These meets make us sharper, too," said the coach. "We'll be ready this way better to bounce back into our regular season schedules after the first of the year."

The tourneys serve, perhaps, a more important purpose—to the non-participants.

What better place is there for a high school student to go during vacation than to a game featuring his or her school?

On the college side of the holiday play, meets are going on from coast to coast. But the meet closest to the folks at home is the annual Motor City Classic Bob Calihan is putting on at the University of Detroit Memorial Building Friday and Saturday.

"Cal" has come up with one of the most talked-about sophomore cagers in the country in Niagara University's Cal Murphy.

Murphy is averaging something like 45 points per game this season and rates as the most talked-about player to engage in the Motor City since Dave DeBusschere performed a half dozen years ago.

Those who have seen Murphy, go away bubble eyed. He'll shoot 'em from anyplace on the floor. The odds are that it'll be U. of D. vs. Niagara in the final on Saturday.

We'd suggest you get your tickets early. A sellout appears a cinch.

The Red Wings also are home Thursday night to meet Philadelphia and if you have any time left on your hands before rushing out to greet the New Year on Sunday, how's about all the football games, including the National and American League championships you'll be able to see on television.

In case we haven't said it before—A HAPPY, HAPPY NEW YEAR.

RU Wins No. 5 In Swimming

If the new year in anything like the way the old one ends for the Redford Union High's swimming team, Coach Ralph Deetz and his contingent will have no complaints.

Redford Union engaged in five meets before pausing for the holiday break -- and won them all.

In its last action prior to the holiday, Redford Union rolled up 91 points to 57 for Stevenson and 21 for John Glenn in a triangular meet.

Glenn LePein and Ray Woods each captured two events for RU. LePein won the 200-yard free style and 400-yard free style, while Woods copped the 50 and 100-yard free styles.

The results:

Medley relay: Redford Union (Myers, Charles, Favor, Ringel), Time: 1:51.5.
200-yard free style: 1—LePein (RU), 2—Cifaldi (RU), 3—Gott (S), Time: 2:09.8.
50-yard free: 1—Woods (RU), 2—Swiatkowski (S), 3—Link (RU), Time: 2:12 seconds.

He Learned The Hard Way

Plymouth Police Chief Started In Toughest Districts

Plymouth's Police Chief, Robert Corrington, became a patrolman in Flint on April 16, 1942 and two weeks later he was walking a beat in one of the roughest parts of the city.

He was one of two men who had been hired that year and they were the first new recruits on the force in ten years.

"Most of the men I worked with at the time were old-timers who were close to retiring. They were not very good at training new rookies and some of them believed that the two of us were out to take away their jobs," he said.

"They seemed reluctant to give us any tips on how to do our new jobs and believed that the best way to learn was by doing."

"SO, TWO weeks after I was hired, I found myself walking down Industrial Dr. The street is in an industrial section of the city and it was a pretty rough neighborhood.

"I had a brand new badge, a club and a gun and I walked down the street hoping no one would notice how nervous I was because I didn't know what to do."

Those early days seem far away to the Chief now, because no situation is too tough or too complicated for him to handle and after nearly 26 years in the law enforcement business he has learned almost all there is to know.

Robert A. Corrington was born on August 21, 1916 in the city where he began his career and later graduated from Birch Run High School in 1934.

WHILE HE was at Birch Run he took a course in civil law, and decided that he wanted to become a lawyer.

Things were tough for a young man in 1934. The depression had ended, but, its effects were still being felt by a lot of people.

"I had hoped I could attend college somewhere but that was out of the question for me at the time. I didn't have the money and neither did my parents."

"The course in civil law had really peaked my interest in law in general and I decided that, since the possibility of attending college seemed to be too remote, I would become a policeman. Since, I made that decision I have never regretted it," he added.

"After I became a policeman, I have never yet seen the day I hated to go to work. I come to work as early as possible so that I'm sure that I don't miss anything."

HIS UNABATED enthusiasm for his job and profession led him to a quick succession of promotions with many honors.

Corrington was a patrolman for only six years before he was promoted to detective in 1948 and a short five years later, in 1953, he was appointed detective sergeant.

The following year he was given the rank of detective lieutenant.

While he was still a patrolman, walking a beat on Industrial Dr., Corrington was inducted into the Naval Reserve in 1944.

He spent two years in the reserve and was chief pistol instructor for the Navy at Sackett Point, Rhode Island.

In 1957, the chief was appointed as the first training officer in the department's history. Probably, Corrington, better than anyone else on the force, knew the value of a good training program because of his experience of being so poorly trained.

HIS FIRST years as a patrolman taught him the need for well trained policemen and some of his ideas of what went into a training program were formed while he walked that long lonely beat.

As the first training officer, he set up a complete training program which was previously non-existent; instituted reloading procedures for a firearms training program; drew specifications for uniforms and was in charge of ordering uniforms, firearms, ammunition and other material.

Corrington's talent for organization and leadership did not go unnoticed. In 1961 he was promoted to the rank of police captain and commanded the 130-man patrol bureau, and later the detective bureau, in 1965.

These were busy years for the chief because he attended school and, among other things, he became a guest lecturer at Flint Junior College for classes in police administration. Added to these chores he was a frequent speaker for different civic organizations throughout the city.

HE ATTENDED and graduated with honors from the FBI National Academy, a 90-hour course with the Saginaw Valley Law Enforcement Officers Association, a Delehanty course in police practices, a Purdue University Arson Investigators Seminar, Civil Liberties seminars given by the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, a Flint Junior College course on criminal investigation and crime causes, and in 1960 the U.S. Army Explosive Ordnance Reconnaissance School.

After all this on-the-job experience and training he was forced to retire from the Flint force on April 16, 1967. According to the city charter a policeman must retire after serving 25 years.

When he knew the big day was close at hand, he decided that he wasn't going to just sit back, draw his pension and never darken a police department door again.

He sent out resumes to three cities, Buchanan and Plymouth, Michigan, and Blaine, Minnesota.

ULTIMATELY he decided upon Plymouth after the city asked him to take the job as head policeman.

Corrington said that he was also accepted at the other two cities as police chief but each had its drawbacks while Plymouth seemed to have none.

"I didn't like Buchanan because it appeared to be a small town that was regressing rather than progressing. Obviously, there wasn't very much opportunity for anyone there."

Blaine, Minnesota, on the other hand, is much larger than either Plymouth or Buchanan but the chief didn't like the cold weather up there.

"Blaine was just too darn cold," he said, "and besides it was too far north and away from everything I had known."

As far as he is concerned, he has made the right choice in coming to Plymouth and one of the main reasons for settling as Plymouth's police chief was the town itself.

"I chose Plymouth because it is closer to Flint than any two other choices and because it is a nice city."

Corrington became chief of police on March 20, 1967, almost a month before his official retirement date in Flint. He said that it cost him nearly $1,000 in vacation and sick pay to take the Plymouth job because the city insisted that he start as soon as possible.

Another reason he chose Plymouth is his wife, Dorothy. Mrs. Corrington still lives and works in Flint and is due to retire from A.C. Spark Plug in five years.

"Since my wife has worked at A.C. so long we wanted her to be able to retire from there. Therefore, our home is still in Flint and I go back there every weekend unless something important comes up."

The Corringtons were married Aug. 1, 1936.

They have one son, William, 28, who is following in his father's footsteps. He is a patrolman on the Flint police force.

WILLIAM ATTENDED college for two years but decided that what he wanted was to be a policeman. "I guess he didn't know anything else because from the time he was born he was around me and my friends who were policemen," the chief commented.

With a twinkle in his eye, Corrington added that he was also a grandfather of a beautiful 13-month-old granddaughter.

Being chief of police for Plymouth seems a far cry from the 130-man force he commanded in Flint.

Corrington now commands a 15-man contingent. Since starting with the city, he has instituted a new monthly crime reporting system and a new personnel rating system.

He said that one of the biggest problems in the city is the job of trying to cut down on the accident rate.

"The only way to do this, and it has been proven in other areas, is to give all drivers the assurance that if they commit a moving violation they will

Weatherman Puts On Unusual Performance For The Holidays

Mixed in with everything else in 1967 was the memorable week before Christmas that no one will forget for a long time -- and for one very good reason.

The craziest weather that anyone from these parts has seen in 107 these many years, ran the full gamut and caused people to stop and shake their heads in disbelief.

One day was sunny and bright with little clouds dotting the horizon. The next day was foul with rain falling in buckets driving shoppers under cover.

The weather was unusual this time of year when everyone expects and hopes that they will have a white Christmas with lots of snow.

Well, we might have had lots of snow if the temperature on Dec. 21, Thursday, hadn't been so high -- 61 -- and stopped the pouring water from turning to the light fluffy stuff.

Instead of the hillsides being blanketed with a beautiful coat of the kind of thing which brings tears to an avid skier's eyes, there was rain.

However, the day proved to be a record setter in the weather department.

The Metropolitan Airport Weather Bureau reported that 2.17 inches of rain fell on Thursday and never has so much water tumbled from the skies since the bureau started keeping precipitation records way back in 1872.

As a matter of fact the whole week was a record setter for this time of year.

The temperature for Thursday was also the first time the thermometer rose so high since 1872.

Friday had no rain but it suddenly turned cold and everyone was again dumbfounded to find an explanation for the sudden change.

From a record high of 61 on Thursday the mercury dropped to a cool, crisp and brisk high of 39 on Friday. This low broke no records.

The bureau again said that the record high for Dec. 22 was 56 and was set back in 1941.

Needless to say the area went the full gamut of temperature and rain. It could be said that alpha was competing with omega to see who could top the other.

Another interesting sidelight is the figuring of the weather bureau.

These experts said that if all that rain had been in the form of snow we would have had a white, white Christmas.

Figuring on the average of 10 inches of snow to every inch of rain the area would have been inundated with almost 20 inches of fluff.

No wonder the week before Christmas in 1967 will never be forgotten.

Six Mishaps Mar Holiday Weekend

Six accidents occurred in the township and city marring the holiday weekend.

An 11-year-old boy was injured when he ran into the side of a car driven by John Calvin Griffin Jr., 29, of Garden City.

The boy, Bruce Kevin Wright, of 39519 Birchwood, Plymouth, was taken to St. Mary Hospital, Livonia. His condition is unknown.

Two people were injured on Dec. 23, after their car was struck by another car driven by Frankie Lee Cooper, 34, of Detroit.

Injured was Thomas N. James, 27, and Sonja James, 26, both of 6295 Beck Rd., Plymouth.

After the Cooper vehicle hit the first car it then careened into a second car driven by Jimmie Faye Chapman, 28, of Garden City.

In another mishap, Joyce Ann Simpson, 40, of 41765 Elk Rd., Plymouth, was charged with failing to yield the right of way when she pulled her car from the curb on Union St. into the path of a car driven by Floyd Ford, 44, of 376 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Two accidents happened in the township on Christmas Eve.

John C. Raymer, 21, of Livonia, and a passenger Thomas L. Raymer, 25, of Walled Lake, were injured when their car struck in the rear of another vehicle driven by Andrew E. Young, 18, of 42026 Lindsay, Plymouth.

Police said that Young was making a left turn when he was hit.

The other Christmas Eve accident resulted in the injury of Patrick McCord, 17, 1310 Elm, Plymouth, and his passenger, Jennifer Bidwell, 17, of 1465 Ross, Plymouth.

Police said that they were traveling on Greenbrier St. and McCord momentarily took his attention from the road and drifted to the right. His car then smashed into a vehicle from Hobson's Beef House, Detroit.

One mishap marred Christmas Day in the city.

No one was injured but David Rathbun, 28, of 369 Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, was charged with failure to have an operator's license on his person and disobeying a stop sign.

James D. Westfall, 20, of 840 Irvin, Plymouth, was driving on Junction when Rathbun failed to heed a stop sign and skidded into the path of Westfall's car.

Police Chief Warns Of Slippery Streets

When the streets are icy and more slippery than butter on a porcelain doorknob, you've got to use special knowledge and skill to keep out of accidents, Chief of Police Robert Corrington warned.

"Best thing to do is not drive," the chief said, "but if you must be on the go here are some reminders that may be of help."

The chief said most accidents on ice and slippery snow occur when drivers don't allow enough distance for stopping, or make sudden changes in speed or direction which result in uncontrolled skids.

"You have to winterize your driving technique just as you do your vehicle," Corrington said. "It may take almost ten times as far to stop on glare ice as on dry pavement. Regardless of the traction device you use--tire chains, snow tires, studded snow tires--far slower than normal speeds are essential to safety on ice-covered pavements."

Many drivers get into trouble when they jam on the brakes which locks wheels and causes loss of steering control, the chief said.

"It is important to pump your brakes rapidly when stopping," he said. "This lets the wheels roll naturally between brake applications. You can't control the direction of a sliding wheel. Skidding can be prevented if you anticipate your steering movements and slow down sooner. If you do skid, turn your front wheels in the direction of the skid."

heavy traffic adds another hazard because it polishes ice, making intersections and curves more slippery.

Livonia Bank Starts '68 With New Branch In Area

Workmen have been rushing to completion the interior finishing touches on Livonia National Bank's new Plymouth-Wayne Road office in time for a three day open house celebration which is planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 4, 5 and 6.

Elvin D. Dougherty, bank president said: "The pre-Christmas rush has put the interior contractors and decorators slightly behind schedule, however, everything should be in order at the new Plymouth-Wayne Road office in time for the open house scheduled for the first week in January."

Dougherty noted that considerable planning with the architects, contractors and interior decorators preceded the construction of the new banking facility.

"Every attempt was made in the initial planning and construction of the new bank office to come up with a modern, contemporary building that would provide the best possible banking services to the residents of the area.

"The interior decor has been designed to provide increased customer convenience, while at the same time conveying a feeling of hospitality to in-bank customers rather than an institutional feeling," Dougherty said.

The modern, contemporary structure features extensive use of tinted, gray glass windows on three sides of the building, which provide glare-free illumination to the main lobby and service area. The interior decoration, lighting and furnishings are in keeping with the architectural concept.

The spacious modern lobby on the ground floor of the two-story structure has nine easily accessible teller stations, an executive office area, convenient areas for confidential conferences with bank personnel, an open lounge area, and safe deposit vault section. The upper level of the building will be used as a storage area.

Interior decorator for the new bank office, Miss Donna Dugan of the General Fireproofing Company of Detroit, used warm colors throughout the interior of the building to accent the rich walnut wall paneling used on the rear wall of the main lobby, and for the tellers' cages, railings, and check writing stands.

Random-striped draperies in early autumn hues of avocado, slate and marigold complete the extensive window treatment and provide contrasting highlights to the deep walnut wood. The countertops on the check writing stands and the teller stations are walnut.

THE MAIN TRAFFIC area of the bank is covered with white Travertine, a vinyl asbestos tile which has a stone texture. Carpeting on either side of the main service area is a soft avocado green with gold flecks. The carpeting extends up the staircase at the rear of the main lobby to the second floor storage area.

Apartment Complex Opens In Plymouth

Republic Management Company, apartment leasing and maintenance agents have announced the opening of a new 94 unit apartment complex, in Plymouth.

The exterior of the units features a modern interpretation of traditional chalet design. Masonry and wood tones are used to give a softer design than is possible with brick alone. Upper levels are enhanced by balconies overlooking the landscaped courts.

Situated on seven acres of land, Plymouth Estates Apartments are convenient to transportation, shopping, churches and schools. The keynote is for comfort and convenience, highlighted by a year-round party and game room and a swimming pool. Both are for the exclusive use of the apartment residents.

The three basic units are a one-bedroom, a one-bedroom deluxe and a two-bedroom unit. All units have individual air conditioning, full-size refrigerator, oven and range and sink disposal units.

Plymouth Estates Apartments are located on Postift Road, just west of Lilley Road

Registration Begins For New 'Y' Term

Registration for the North-west Branch YMCA winter term will open Tuesday, Jan. 2nd, at the YMCA building, 25940 Grand River, Mrs. W. P. Lind-out, chairman of the board, has announced.

The program, beginning the week of Jan. 15, contains 99 classes in 40 different subjects covering a wide variety of interest for men and women as well as young people and children.

The popular Ladies Day Out Program designed for home-makers will include such subjects as knitting, sewing and alluring, furcraft, bridge, lanc-i-cize, psychology, enter-ain for fun, millinery, flower arranging, group sewing, cer-namics, decoupage, charm, oil painting, sketching, physical fitness, bowling and yoga.

Nursery programs for pre-schoolers are available for those women in the program.

MANY OF THESE subjects are also offered in the evening program as well as classes in fencing, square dance, ballroom dance, skiing, banjo, guitar and dog obedience.

Programs for sub-teens and youth are held at Ford High School on Saturday morning as well as in the branch building during the week.

GUITAR and driver training classes for teens meet during the week at the YMCA building as well as Crank & Jack (a teen mechanics course) and a motor bike interest group. An extensive ballet program is available for girls from 2 1/2 years up.

An early registration is suggested since the program runs to capacity.

m. m. memos

A colleague has shared with me a wonderful tidbit she read somewhere — it refers to Christmas as "that annual redistribution of the nation's wealth."

I not only appreciate the thought — I'm also fully convinced about 11 a.m. every Dec. 25 that the entire process takes place right in our living room.

But when the crumpled wrappings have been gathered — they make some beautiful colored flames in the fireplace — and the clothes tried on and the first toy broken, you stow away in the mind some of the small items that made this Christmas a special one.

I won't forget the big bunch of little girl carolers I happened on one evening. They were singing valiantly at "The Twelve Days of Christmas," but I'm sure half of them were at least three days of Christmas and two turtle doves behind the others.

Or one patient clerk who helped me with a difficult selection, then remarked as she handed me my change that when she finished work she had to look for presents for 32 grandchildren.

Or the light in our six-year-old's eyes the morning after we trimmed our tree. She stole downstairs all by herself just to admire it in solitude.

What remains now is rest of the holiday parties and the trying out of new finery and possessions and the inevitable return trips to the stores—I guess you'd call that the redistribution of the redistribution.

And then we'll have made it for another year.

Dimes Campaign To Start

Plans for Livonia's annual March of Dimes drive in January are in full swing.

Mrs. Robert Fox, chairman for the campaign, said the aim was to surpass the record collections of the past few years. Money collected this year will again be used for research in combating birth defects, as well as for aid to families with children afflicted with such difficulties.

Since the battle was virtually won against polio with the development of vaccines, reducing birth defects has been the target of the March of Dimes National Foundation.

Mrs. Fox said there would be March of Dimes school activities all month, including a Teen Dance Jan. 21 with WKNR Disc Jockey J. Michael Wilson as MC.

Other plans include Tag Day Jan. 27 and the Mothers' March the evening of Jan. 30.

The campaign will be concluded with the Livonia March of Dimes seventh annual card party Feb. 13.

Neighborhood chairmen for the Mothers' March will be glad to hear from volunteer workers. Those who would like to take part are urged to call Mrs. Fox at GR. 4-1372.

LIVONIA MARCH OF DIMES TEAM—These ladies will play a major role in the National Foundation drive in Livonia during January. In front are Mrs. Rita Hoeft, door prize chairman for the March of Dimes card party Feb. 13, and Mrs. Rae Pearlman, coordinator for school activities for the drive. Directly behind them is Mrs. Bess Fox, Livonia March of Dimes chairman. Ranging down the stairway, from left, are Mrs. Bertha Cohen, Mrs. Eunice Meyers, Mrs. Bonnie Paiva, Mrs. Marlene Plott, Mrs. Sylvia Katz, and Mrs. Phyllis Grant, all area chairmen for the Mothers' March Jan. 30. Area chairmen not pictured are Mrs. Betty Meyers and Mrs. Betty Smith. Women interested in participating in the drive may call Mrs. Fox at GR. 4-1372.

Luncheon Planned
Mrs. William Wood, 1636 Mark Hopkins, Bloomfield Hills, will entertain the University of Minnesota Women's Club at a salad luncheon in her home 12:15 p.m., Friday, Jan. 5.

Classic Dance Course Slated
Mercy College will offer special instruction classic dance technique beginning Jan. 16. Taught by Mrs. Mirdza Le-manis, Mercy assistant professor of dance and choreography, the 10 week class will meet Tuesdays from 6 to 7 p.m.

Holmes 'Adopts' Foster Child

One good "adoption" deserves another, decided the students of Oliver Wendell Holmes Junior High School in Livonia.

So when they read in The Observer that teens in their sister junior high, Whitman, had taken on financial responsibility for a boy overseas, they decided to do likewise.

Through the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., the students at Holmes now are "proud parents" of a bright little five-year-old lad who lives in Vietnam.

HONG THANH TRI, the second youngest in a large family, is going to be able to start school next year because of the $15 a month that the Holmes students are sending him.

The project started at Holmes, one of the newest schools in the Livonia system, at the suggestion of Gloria De-Maestri, vice president of the student council.

"As the school year was coming to a close last spring," she wrote, "we of the student council were still seeking ways of taking a more active part in life around us."

GLORIA SAID she read about Whitman's project in this paper last June 21, and put the idea before her fellow council members.

After a bit of correspondence with the Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Ave. South, N.Y., the students received the name and picture of Tri, whose family lives in the Khanh Hoi district of Saigon.

Gloria added that she was enclosing a copy of the picture so everyone could see "why we are very proud 'parents.'"

SHE REPORTED that students at Holmes are organizing several special fund-raising activities to support their new foster child, and expressed hope that parents and teachers connected with the school would join them in the project.

"We feel our involvement in this matter can be even more worthwhile if we can influence others to participate in this Foster Parents Plan," she said.

New Hint For Mending Slacks

When mending a leg in either jeans or slacks, you can make the job easier by inserting a rolled up magazine. Let it unroll, and you will be able to fit and pin on a neat patch. Leave the magazine in the leg until the patch is sewed securely in place.

Keep Shoes Clean

Slip plastic freezer bags over your shoes before slipping them into boots. This keeps your shoes lint free as well as keeping the inside overshoe clean.

Better Education Is Her Great Aim

It's not at all unusual for Minnie Zielke to be asked by parents considering a move to Farmington:

"Just what kind of a school system does your community have?"

And the head of elementary education has her answer ready. She's been thinking about it for 21 years, since she first joined the system.

"I tell them," Miss Zielke said, "that it's the kind of system in which every child is encouraged to meet his own greatest potential."

"It's one that tries to see every child as a gifted child—and then seeks to discover just where his particular gifts lie."

THIS HAS BEEN her philosophy throughout the two decades of tremendous growth that she has seen in the schools of her mushrooming suburb.

It's also an idea that she practiced even before coming to Farmington.

Minnie Zielke likes to remember one of her first teaching assignments, in a small community where the elementary class she taught showed such a wide range in ability that keeping order had been a serious problem.

"THERE WERE youngsters with high ability," she said, "and I also remember a set of 15-year-old twin boys who had problems in reading and other learning areas."

"I tried to find something that would interest them and pull them together, and we decided to study transportation as a class. We soon had everyone joining in in different ways—of course I didn't realize it, but this was team learning."

"And when the children decided they wanted a fireplace for a Christmas play, it was the twins who took over planning and building one, and the top students who respected their leadership in this matter."

THINGS HAVE CHANGED greatly since Miss Zielke arrived in Farmington in 1946 as the first supervisor of district elementary education and also principal of the city's one school.

There were 25 elementary teachers then, compared to well over 300 now. Class loads ran between 40 and 50.

"That was about the first thing to be changed," Miss Zielke said. "I was certain there couldn't be effective teaching in a situation like that."

The big sprouting of the suburbs was just beginning then, so by 1951 Ten Mile School alone had 23 teachers. And, Miss Zielke was glad to report, most class loads were around 30.

THE GROWTH continued to boom. But, to Minnie Zielke, some "qualitative" changes ranked more important than the number of schools.

"I've been very proud of the libraries in our schools and the way they are used," she said. "And we have added instrumental and vocal music instruction, a fine physical education program, special education facilities and reading specialists."

The special education developments are a matter of great pride, because they are geared to help each child do his best. "I was really thrilled recently," Miss Zielke said, "to visit a class of children supposed to be trainable rather than educable. I saw real learning going on there."

AND FOR THE children able to progress faster than most of their contemporaries?

"In every classroom you see individual learning going on," Miss Zielke said. "Each child is encouraged to do all he is capable of doing in each subject."

New tools to learning—including differing methods of teaching children to read—are constantly being tried. So are such systems as ungraded classrooms.

"At one school," she said, "we experimented with a non-graded system for the lower grades. Then we started wondering why it should stop at third grade, and are trying the idea for the later elementary level."

ONE PROBLEM she'd like to solve in a new way is the matter of evaluation—also

Prevent Children's Accidents

Protection and education are two ways to prevent accidents among young children, according to Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, extension specialist in family life of The Pennsylvania State University.

In the early years of childhood, complete protection must be offered. Young children lack judgment and they must learn this during the growing years from their parents.

With motor vehicles, fire, drowning, poison, and falls among the main causes of accidents and perhaps deaths from birth to midteens, parents need to anticipate what children can get into, Mrs. Duvall points out. Parents need to teach children to avoid certain dangers and to distinguish between what they can play with and what they can't. Time spent teaching skills, attitudes, and judgment to keep children safe is time well spent, says Mrs. Duvall.

Mary Thomas Wed In Annapolis Rites

St. Andrew's Chapel at the U.S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, was the setting for the wedding of Mary E. Thomas and Ensign Richard Douglas Poole Sunday, Dec. 17.

Chaplain Robert F. McComes heard the couple's vows, and the afternoon ceremony was followed by a wedding breakfast in the Charter House and a reception in the USNA Officers' Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Thomas, of Wood Drive, Livonia, are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. H. Herbert Poole, of New Holland, Pa., and the late Dr. Poole.

FOR THE double-ring ceremony, the bride chose a gown of candlelight satin with detachable train and appliques of alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her head-dress was a mantilla with alencon lace.

She carried gardenias and stephanotis with a removable corsage center.

Three attendants wore floor-length dresses of spruce green velvet and carried pink carnations. Martha Thomas was maid of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were another sister, Nancy, and Karen Oss.

The Free Ride Is All Over In Plymouth Twp.

After hearing numerous complaints during the past few weeks about the increase in tax bills in Plymouth Township, we feel it is about time to set the record straight and place the responsibility where it belongs.

The Observer Newspapers have been blamed for the higher tax bills; the State of Michigan is getting some of the blame; fingers have been pointed at the Wayne County Tax Bureau and at Township Supervisor John McEwen, who is also the township assessor and the only one legally responsible for the township assessments.

Most certainly the Observer Newspapers couldn't be responsible, and those spreading that kind of propaganda should better check their information. The Observer pointed out to Plymouth Township residents some weeks back that the tax rate would be reduced but that actually many tax bills would be increased because of higher assessments.

The higher assessments were the result of the new state constitution which provides that all land and property shall be assessed at 50 per cent of its true cash value.

THIS MADE IT mandatory for Supervisor McEwen to order a reassessment and re-evaluation of land in the township in order to fulfill the provisions of the Constitution. McEwen did request the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation to make an assessment but only at 25 per cent of the true value. That's only half of the job, but it did raise the total valuation and did raise the values of land in every section of the township.

As a result many landowners who have rather large holdings found their taxes raised to astronomical figures. And many shed tears as big as elephant pears when they received their latest tax bills.

That's why we feel it is time to set the records straight.

It has been known for years that there were inequities in assessments in Plymouth Township. For years many owners of large plots of land have been riding the gravy train, a train that suddenly came to a jolting stop this year.

It isn't as if warning weren't given that the days of the free rides were over. Arch Vallier, the City of Plymouth elected supervisor to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, a member of the City Commission and also of the County Board's taxation committee, predicted a huge increase in township taxes almost two years ago.

College: Mind Vs. Subconscious

Freedom of college students to speak out or to protest is often confused with license — license to damage the school they are attending presumably for higher education. The point was aptly made by Howard Mumford Jones of Harvard:

"The college is neither a mental hospital nor an auditorium for loud debate. It demands sterner and more dedicated allegiance.

Its life is the life of the mind, not of the subconscious; its contribution to social welfare is appraisal, not crusading. Health and sanity are its requisites and a proper understanding of what intellectual liberty truly means."

He said then that his committee was studying the tax situation throughout the county and had discovered Plymouth Township was low in its assessed valuations. He indicated property owners could expect big boosts within a short period of time.

Supervisor McEwen scoffed at the statements then, but apparently Vallier knew of what he was talking. The truth came out a year ago when the county raised the township tax rate $18 per thousand to make up for the low assessments. This year the tax rate was lowered, but increased valuations more than made up for the reduction.

WHO IS RESPONSIBLE for the hike in the tax rolls this year? Those who have been riding the gravy boat for years when they knew the assessments were low must share some of the blame. The township supervisors, who condoned the low valuations and used the low tax base as a selling point to induce builders, developers and industries to locate in the Township, must also share the blame.

Supervisor McEwen inherited some of the inequities, but he also preferred to do nothing until forced to take action by the state constitution. Even then he ordered only a boost to 25 per cent of the cash value on land instead of the 50 per cent ordered by the constitution. Which leads one to wonder: What was the same land assessed at prior to his order?

As a prominent tax expert in Detroit so aptly stated: "One began to wonder when land assessed at $100 per acre was being sold for as much as $5,000."

Large Apartments Benefit Community

The argument of having developments of primarily one-bedroom apartment units rather than two- or three-bedroom units was heard recently in Westland, among many other suburban city councils and township boards.

Although a Westland developer gained council approval for his new site plan including more two-bedroom units than originally planned, the vote was a 4-3 decision and it was felt by the minority that the additional two-bedroom units would pose a problem for local school officials who would have to find room for more students.

But the developer pointed out a factor which is becoming more and more prevalent in today's suburban society.

IT WASN'T TOO many years ago, like in the past decade, when newly-married couples had the choice of an apartment, with a minimum of living space, or a single-family home with the added space but also with added costs.

Ten years ago, most couples were satisfied to start out in a one-bedroom apartment with the plan to move into a single-family home when the family started to grow.

But this thinking has undergone a drastic change in recent years and township officials had better become aware of it.

They usually get into a two-bedroom apartment or townhouse and use the smaller bedroom for a study, den, guest room, and any other purpose they have in mind.

One of the nice things about the Christmas season is the giving of gifts to family and friends.

Sometimes these are useful (A pair of warm socks, for example, or a radio for your office.) Others are not so useful. (How many men have repressed a gasp upon viewing the pleasantly hand-painted necktie sent by Aunt Edna?)

These newspapers regard the communities they serve as both family and friends. For purposes of the Christmas season, we have constructed a little shopping list of useful items. We certainly wish the gifts we have in mind could just be neatly wrapped up and put under the tree.

They can't. But these newspapers can do their best to try to get them accomplished during the coming months.

FOR LIVONIA, a sense of identity. This city of 103,000 people is the fifth largest in the state. But as Livonians never tire of saying, the community really consists of 50 subdivisions in search of a city.

This was the thinking behind the recent bond proposals for building a civic center which, in theory, would have helped to pull the city together. The parts having to do with improving roads passed; the others didn't.

Maybe a city center is the answer. Maybe it isn't. But continuing efforts should be made to exploring this key problem. Perhaps some surveys might be useful to explore people's attitudes.

It might even be that Livonia, being a new kind of city, needs a new and as yet unexplored kind of civic identity.

But civic identity and unity it needs.

FOR PLYMOUTH, completion of the work on development of the downtown, in cooperation with the surrounding township.

Plymouth is an old community, with the kind of genuine city center that Livonia lacks. This city center, however, is slowly being strangled, and forward-looking people in Plymouth are trying to do something about it.

If these newspapers could tie some red ribbon around a couple of underpasses for the C&O railroad tracks, we'd do it.

But we look forward to bringing to the Plymouth community the results of the local government survey now being developed by the Citizens' Research Council.

FOR FARMINGTON, a sense of cooperation between the city, township and villages.

Recently, some of the mistrust between the various local government units in the Farmington area has been overcome. People in the city are beginning to understand the hopes and fears of people in the township, and vice versa.

There is still real confusion over when a study of local government development in the area will take place and by what agency. But the constructive thing is that all parties seem to agree that a survey is needed.

Once the facts are out on the table, people can get together to make some reasonable decisions about the future of this rich and complex community.

FOR REDFORD TOWNSHIP, completion of plans now under way.

This includes developing a real system of storm drains and sewers, so that much-needed paving of streets can continue with the growth of the community.

It also means completion of the civic center plan, which will bring some order and focus to the expansion of local government services.

We also would like to put some tinsel around a few new industrial plants for the north end of Redford Township. The Redford Union school district tax base needs some beefing up, and industry is certainly the best way of doing it.

FOR WESTLAND, we would wish industrial development to give this new city the kind of tax base it needs.

Progress in Westland has been rapid ever since the voters' decision to incorporate as a city. New buildings have been built, fire and police developments developed, and a plan for the development of the city worked out.

Now what's needed is money. Tax money. A lot of it.

FOR GARDEN CITY, we wish a new era of development.

One of the first suburban communities in the metropolitan area, Garden City developed early compared to, say, Livonia.

In a sense, this early development has hindered the progress of the community now. There are zoning problems. There are problems involving updating certain neighborhoods. There are the inevitable problems of red tape with federal government programs.

A redoubled effort in these areas would bring out the real potential of the city.

FOR ALL OUR readers in Observerland, we wish a Merry Christmas, and a Happy New Year.

WE WISH IT WERE

AS EASY AS THIS...

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenschell

They're naming a new Federal office building in Detroit for Patrick V. McNamara and it couldn't happen to a better memory.

Pat's dead now but what he left still lives as one of the guttiest political performances Michigan has seen.

You may know the stuff about Pat being a plumber and a good one. He was union through and through, no great sin in these days.

He got elected to the old 25-member city council in Detroit and one day stalked out calling the other 24: "a bunch of jerks." It was enough to kill a guy at the polls.

But the charm and stature of this big bluff man with the deep voice of a chain saw cutting through oak and the flowing gray hair and the deep eyes that saw more than you cared to reveal!

PAT McNAMARA was a man who could take advantage of accidents. And that's what he was. Nobody except Pat and a couple of other people wanted him to go to the United States Senate.

Senator Homer Ferguson was riding high, and rocking the Big Forum with a union guy-plumber-maverick was unthinkable.

But go back a bit.

Blair Moody, a great newspaperman, had been appointed to the Senate to succeed Arthur Vandenberg. The deal was made with Moody while he and Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams rode back to Lansing from Vandenberg's funeral in Grand Rapids.

Moody was defeated in his first try at the polls by Charley Potter, a legless war veteran from Cheboygan. Moody started to run the next time and here comes Pat.

For the first time (there was only a second), Soapy blessed Moody in the primary and who wouldn't? Pat ran against him decidedly out of favor with Williams and the people on top.

Then Moody contracted pneumonia in the Upper Peninsula and Ron Linton—a former UPI star in Lansing and then Moody's aide—telephoned daily bulletins to Lansing and to his friends.

Moody was transferred to the University of Michigan Hospital. There he died, tragically cut down in the middle years. Some who loved him and detested McNamara, not because Pat was detestable but because he was next in line, launched a campaign: "Show You Care, Vote For Blair." And a dead man came close to winning.

Pat, in effect, was choked down resisting Democratic throats. Soapy embraced him politically because it was the honest and right thing to do. Pat had a lot to learn and he did it well.

There was a night in Escanaba when he stood in a high school corridor telling blue jokes to the people when he should have been on the platform reciting cliches. He didn't make a mistake twice.

So Pat beat Ferguson in a surprise to almost everybody except himself. Doris Jarrell answered the telephone that night in the headquarters and said wonderingly: "He did it, he beat Ferguson."

PAT GOT CANCER and the medicine and treatments held him together. He looked great when this one met him at City Airport in Detroit at the height of the Cuban crisis.

"This is going to violate our editorial policy, Pat, but you look great."

"It's OK," he said. "Give my regards . . ."

And there was Pat again and again. He called people jerks if they were and he stood up even when he counted.

President Johnson stepped off the stage at the AFL-CIO convention in Miami last week to sign the bill naming the Detroit building after McNamara.

Live on with us, Pat, if only in bricks.

SENSE 'N' NONSENSE

The city of Plymouth now has had its open housing ordinance for nearly a month and the town is still standing, contrary to beliefs of some of its citizens. Apparently, some minority would rather stay where they are than make the big move into the community.

Congress' Record

The 90th Congress closed shop on its first session last week—one of the longest sessions since the second world war—and it spent more money than any Congress except one.

Despite continued Democratic majorities, the consensus holds that President Johnson was lucky to get his programs passed or continued without major amendments.

Here is a scorecard on what Johnson proposed, what Congress did about it, and how

The President Proposes:

Congress Disposes:

1. Restoration of the 7 per cent investment tax credit, which had been suspended last year as anti-inflation move.

1. Restored it.

2. Extension and reform of the military draft, with presidential authority to draft by lot and end college deferments.

2. Extended draft, with few reforms.

3. Extension of the Teacher Corps through 1970.

3. Passed bill, but guaranteed greater degree of state control.

4. Increase in the national debt limit to $365 billion.

4. Raised it in two steps.

5. A foreign aid program of $3.46 billion for fiscal year 1968.

5. Authorized $2.6 billion but appropriated only $2.3 billion—smallest in years.

6. Continuation of the rent supplement program ($40 million) and a model cities program ($622 million).

6. Passed them, but cut rent supplement to $10 million and model cities to $312 million.

7. Establishment of a public, non-profit television corporation.

7. Passed it.

8. A 15 per cent increase in Social Security benefits costing $4.4 billion the first year.

8. Passed a 13 per cent increase at a cost of $3.9 billion.

9. A rat extermination program for the slums.

9. Defeated once, but added to a second bill later and passed.

10. Federal-state meat inspection standards.

10. Passed a stronger bill, demanding specific improvements in state programs and providing for federal inspection in states that fail to meet U.S. standards.

11. Expansion of federal air pollution programs, establishment of national standards on emission of pollutants.

11. Expanded federal role in state air pollution programs, rejected national emission standards, and designated funds for research into fuel-combustion pollution.

12. Extension of the Appalachian Regional Development program ($980 million) and addition of 26 Mississippi counties to the program.

12. Reduced authorization to $887 million, added 24 counties to the area, 20 of them in Mississippi.

13. A three-commissioner government in the District of Columbia with a chief commissioner and nine-member city council.

13. Approved it.

14. Extension of the anti-poverty program ($2.06 billion).

14. Reduced authorization to $1.77 billion and placed authority for community action programs in the hands of local officials.

15. Postal rate increase of $825 million tied to postal pay hikes.

15. Raised rates $900 million and increased pay $63 million over LBJ proposal.

16. Aid to elementary and secondary education of $3.3 billion.

16. Authorized $9.3 billion to extend program for two years, added measures for greater local control.

two local U.S. representatives voted—Democrat William Ford, who represents Garden City, Westland and Canton Township; and Republican Jack McDonald, who represents Redford Township, Livonia and Farmington.

You can't just "look at the record," because the record usually reveals only roll call votes on final passage. So the Observer Newspapers spent several hours interviewing them, asking for comments and votes on key amendments.

Jack McDonald (R-19th) Voted:

1. Yes.

2. Yes, but wanted revisions and high pay in attempt to create "a strong volunteer army." Against ending college deferments.

3. Yes.

4. No, "to show the Administration some effort had to be put forth to reduce expenditures."

5. No. "Too many mistakes" in past; wants "technical assistance rather than goods and money."

6. No first time, yes on final passage. Preferred home ownership bill, but "this was the best that came to the floor."

7. Yes. "Channel 56 in Detroit will receive a great deal of assistance."

8. Yes; favored requirement that ADC mothers accept some job training.

9. Yes, when it was made as part of a public health bill. Against the program, however, because "there are five existing rat programs."

10. Yes.

11. Yes.

12. No. "The original Appalachian bill was to help one small area of the country. Now they're extending it westward... just another layer of government."

13. Yes. "Step in the right direction." But favors full home rule, non-partisan government. (His bill would give D. of C. a representative in Congress.)

14. Yes. But doesn't favor program in all its details; favors bigger role for states.

15. Yes.

16. Yes. Favored greater local control, would have liked to see greater state role.

William Ford (D-15th) Voted:

1. No. Tax increase would have slowed economy; this bill is "inflationary... and increases profits to business."

2. Yes-- "unfortunately." Favored eliminating college and job deferments; favored lottery.

3. Yes. This would have aided not only big city Negroes but the suburban poor, who "aren't as easy to see out here."

4. Yes. A phony issue because "you can't control the amount of debt by limiting debt"—it must be done by limiting spending.

5. Yes on both. Opponents who cited Iron Curtain trade items played "politics" and are being "super anti-Communists."

6. Yes. Better than public housing.

7. Yes.

8. Yes.

9. Yes both times. "Republicans laughed us out of business the first time, but the second time they found it wasn't so funny."

10. Yes, but wanted amendments for intra-state commerce.

11. Yes.

12. Yes.

13. Yes--"it seems to be working very well."

14. Yes. Republican amendments would "let the governors run it the way they want to. If they think I'm going to take money out of Michigan and give it to Lurleen Wallace, they're crazy." Target city administration better than state control.

15. Yes; "I was on the subcommittee that wrote the postal pay increase."

16. Yes. Opposed amendment on local controls. Also opposes GOP state control plan--"you're talking about 50 different things when you talk about state education offices."

Open Housing Defeat

An Absent Romney Catches The Blame

LANSING -- Republicans in the Legislature are hopping mad at Gov. Romney for taking his Michigan political magic on a world tour and leaving them with open housing.

Democrats agree with Republicans that a Romney-less campaign on a hot issue was dead the minute he flew away.

"He doesn't care about me or about this caucus," said Rep. Frederic J. Marshall (R-Allen). Marshall, a fiery ex-sheriff whose conservative voice can be strident, said what most of the others felt.

WITHOUT ROMNEY there was no statewide political power to back up the membership on a decision they would have to explain back home.

The open housing issue was first to start in the Senate where Republicans had a 20-18 edge before the death of Senator Harold Volkema (R-Holland).

But its chances there were even more remote, and the last nose count of the leadership showed only 12 votes in favor of any bill, however much tinkering might be done to its provisions.

Corridor talk identified the bill as the "Lockwood Bill"—for Majority Leader Senator Emil Lockwood—until a huddle of House and Senate GOP leaders figured it would have a better chance in the House.

Romney, whose charm won him tax reform and a national reputation as a doer with a reluctant Legislature, left on his European and Asian tour and turned open housing over to Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken.

MILLIKEN, whose father served in the Senate, came from Traverse City in the mid-1950s as a state senator and joined the "Young Moderates" who later took control of the chamber.

Milliken was a stand-up fighter for civil rights when it was automatic for outstate Republicans to vote against legislation.

When the final house vote was announced in Lansing shortly after 8 p.m., Milliken said:

"It is a disgrace."

LEGISLATORS voting against open housing in its final form stated their reasons:

● A court case is pending, and its result would almost certainly make it unconstitutional.

● The bill exempted churches and religious organizations.

● One amendment restricted its scope to new housing. Any person who had lived in a house for three of the past five years was exempt.

● It gave the Civil Rights Commission too much authority and, in the words of Senator Stanley F. Rozycki (D-Detroit), would have made it "a sort of Gestapo."

THE BILL IS dead and, as a special session item, will not hold over in its last committee until next year. Undoubtedly there will be a new bill drafted and introduced.

All but Rep. Vincent J. Pettipren (D-Wayne) of area legislators voted against the bill.

On a motion to reconsider which would have allowed a second bill to be brought up so that the issue could be tossed to the Senate, area legislators split 3 to 3.

Supporting the reconsideration were Democrats John Bennett of Redford, Pettipren and Richard Young of Dearborn Heights. Opposed were Democrat James Tierney of Garden City and Republicans Louis Schmidt of Livonia and Raymond Baker of Farmington.

Rep. Louis E. Schmidt (R-Livonia) said he attended all the meetings of the House civil rights committee "when at times we had a bare quorum."

"I passed when the question of referral to the House was voted upon because I could not vote that the bill be reported with the recommendation that it pass," he said.

"I have attended all meetings of the Legislature when the proposal was being discussed. It was unfortunate that a key item in the bill, as approved by the committee on civil rights, was inadvertently omitted in the transcript to the clerk and as appears in the journal."

He said that "there are moral rights and property rights," but there are also other, "civil rights that are a concern to many people."

"For these reasons, I could not conscientiously vote for a bill that could deprive so many of civil rights without really giving any new rights to any group."

Schmidt later told The Observer that the Pulte case now before the Michigan Supreme Court could, when decided, void an open housing bill.

"Until such time as this decision is made, it seems to be exercise in futility to enact legislation that might prior to date of effect not be constitutional."

He said the committee recommendation omitted, in the report to the floor, would have prevented civil rights investigators from building a case to harass or entrap a homeowner into discriminatory and illegal acts.

More Privacy

Today's telephone user desires more privacy. In 1952, only 15 per cent of the residential customers had private lines. By 1961, 49 per cent of the homes had one-party service. Today, two out of three residences have individual lines.

90th Congress, As Partner, Sees No Federal Cure-all

EDITOR'S NOTE: Rep. Marvin Esch, R-Ann Arbor, whose 2nd Congressional District includes Plymouth, left on vacation before an interview could be arranged. He did, however, supply this interpretive summary of the first session.

By REP. MARVIN ESCH, 2nd Congressional District

The first session of the 90th Congress will certainly not go down in the history books as one of the most significant. Nor will it have earned the "do-nothing" label.

What we have experienced is a Congress in transition—a transition both in terms of its relation to the Executive Branch and in terms of the way the federal government will approach problem solving.

We have seen this transition taking place under poor and ineffective leadership—a condition which, while allowing some accomplishments, stymied many measures designed to come to grips with the important problems faced by our nation.

THE TRANSITION as it concerns executive-legislative relationships has meant a move away from Congress acting as a rubber stamp for the Administration.

Unlike its predecessor, the 90th Congress has been reluctant to accept Administration programs, ideas and statements as the gospel. Instead it has begun to question and reassert itself as a co-equal partner in the federal system.

This move was most obvious in budget considerations. The Congress refused to buy the policy of guns abroad and butter at home to be financed by increased taxation. Instead it turned to budget cuts to combat inflation. Cuts of some $5.8 billion off Administration requests are significant but not sufficient to reduce waste and promote a sounder economy.

THE OTHER significant transition now in process is a move away from the federal government as our only problem solver toward the utilization of more resources, including the private sector and state and local government. Legislation this year which visibly demonstrates this trend include such measures as the meat inspection bill, the crime bill (which passed only the House) and the amendments to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. Each of these programs encourages the utilization of both the diversity and needs found in state and local government.

Jewish Holiday

Families Hail 'Festival Of Lights'

The centuries-old Jewish celebration of Hanukkah, which began when the sun went down Tuesday, and will conclude Wednesday, Jan. 3, is a festival as often misspelled and mispronounced as it is misunderstood.

Jewish people, themselves, admit they have a little trouble deciding where to put the C's and H's.

On a box of Israeli candles, for instance, the Festival of Lights is referred to as "Chanuka;" on a greeting card, as "Hanukkah," and on the title of a child's storybook, "Chanukah." Reference sources generally prefer "Hanukkah." The "Chanukah" is explained as an attempt to utilize the CH sound of Hebrew.

Often confused with a Christmas-type celebration because it falls during December, Hanukkah began with a battle more than 2,000 years ago-- the first recorded religious war in history--between the Syrians and the Jews of Israel, who were led by Judah.

Judah's followers, called Maccabees, went to war to defend their invaded homeland and religious beliefs, returning victorious to Jerusalem only to find their holy temple desecrated.

The Maccabees went to work repairing and cleaning and re-built the lamp, using one remaining flask of oil to light it. But, "Ness Godol Hayah Shom" ("A great miracle happened there"). The lamp, which contained only a one-day supply of fuel, continued to burn for eight full days--until new oil could be prepared.

The "miracle of the light" became Hanukkah, an annual eight-day celebration of thanksgiving.

In Jewish homes throughout the Livonia area, sundown

FESTIVAL OF LIGHTS -- Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greenfield, 19645 Rensellor, Livonia, lighted the first of eight candles in the family "menorah" (candelabrum) for Hanukkah. The Jewish celebration began last night and will conclude Wed. Jan. 3.

Tuesday will mark the lighting of the first of eight candles in the family menorah, or holy candelabrum. Each consecutive night another taper will be lighted in memory of the eight days the original menorah burned until, finally, Jan. 3, all will be ablaze.

In the Livonia home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Greenfield, 19645 Rensellor, the family menorah, Israel blue in color, will be brought out Tuesday for the first day of the Hanukkah celebration.

According to Mrs. Greenfield, Hanukkah is hailed in their home as a happy celebration with some special foods, gifts, games and songs by the children.

"We say a special blessing each night with the lighting of another candle," she said. "We don't often sing, but our children, (Andrea, 8, and Julie, 5,) have learned little Hanukkah songs in Sunday School."

Keeping the Greenfield children happy during Hanukkah, besides special foods and songs, will be traditional games.

Stock Gifts Save Capital Gains Tax

(The following article is the one in a series on year-end tax planning prepared for this newspaper by the committee on federal taxation of the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants.)

People are beginning to associate tax planning with charitable giving because planning in connection with charitable contributions can result in tax savings in many cases.

Take for example, a taxpayer who owns stock for which he paid $600 and which is now worth $1,000. If he intends to sell this stock in the near future and also wants to make a contribution to his favorite charity of $1,000, he could save himself as much as $100 (depending on his tax bracket) by giving the stock rather than cash to the charity.

The tax saving results from the fact that while he will get a charitable deduction for $1,000 whether he contributes cash or stock, the capital gains tax on the $400 appreciation in the value of the stock can be avoided by making a contribution of the stock.

THE AVOIDANCE of the capital gains tax by making contributions of stock or other items which have appreciated in value is not the only way of saving taxes through contributions of property.

Many people have furniture and clothing and other articles lying idle around the house which would be useful to a charitable organization. If these items were to be contributed to a charity, the donors would be entitled to a charitable deduction of the fair market value of the items.

This produces benefits for the taxpayer and the charity. It is advisable to request a written receipt and appraisal of the fair market value of the donated property from the charitable organization to which the contribution is made.

WHETHER contributions are made in cash or property, tax savings can result from grouping contributions in one year rather than having them spread over several years.

For instance, take a man who makes $7,000 a year and who has itemized deductions other than charitable contributions of $600 a year, and who usually gives $100 a year to his favorite charity. Under these facts he gets no tax benefit from his charitable contributions because his itemized deductions ($700) never exceed the 10 per cent standard deduction.

However, if he were to group his charitable contributions by giving $200 in one year rather than $100 each year he would get a tax benefit for at least $100 of his contributions since now his itemized deductions for the year in which he gave the $200 exceed the 10 per cent standard deduction by $100. He still is permitted to use the 10 per cent standard deduction in the other year.

(Of course, if his minimum standard deduction ($200 plus $100 for each personal exemption) exceeded 10% of his adjusted gross income, the above tax planning should be carried out taking the higher amount into consideration.)

BETTER BELIEVE IT. Tiny Roger Hogan, 1027 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, was the winner of this huge guitar.

12 Youngsters Win In Contest

Old Kris Kringle checked in a few days early for 12 youngsters in the Plymouth area who received awards as winners in the annual yule contest conducted by Beyer's Drug Stores.

The awards were made to the group in brief ceremonies at the Ann Arbor Roadstore where Plymouth Mayor James Jabara served as a stand-in for Santa.

Top awards, or grand prizes of bicycles, went to Johnny Hammond, 9244 Northern, and Jeannie Hughes, 47606 Saltz Road.

Other winners included: Roger Hogan, 1027 W. Ann Arbor Road, a guitar; Tim Prevo, 424 N. Main, an Action Highway; Bill Mainville, 1321 Ross, a drum set; Dave Orr, 412 Starkweather, a baseball glove; and Charlie Fellows, Ford

Street, a carpenter's chest. Girl winners were: Theresa Paschall, 1040 N. Mill, an organ; Lynda Bunyea, 40595 Joy Road, a record player; Sherri Ann Watts, 1040 Fairground, a typewriter; Marianne Stoddard, 311 Holbrook, a big bear; and Beth Ann Bradburn, 44563 Charnwood, a button machine.

MAKE ROOM FOR PROGRESS by
DON KEETH

It doesn't take a Jules Verne to foresee that central air conditioning will be as much a part of the home of the future as a heating system is now.

Thousands and thousands of homeowners have already decided that comfort during hot weather is just as important as comfort during cold weather. They already have central air conditioning.

Thousands more are preparing for it. So can you.

How? Simply by making sure that you have the right kind of heating system. If you are building, or remodeling, it will cost very little more to plan the heating system with cooling in mind.

That calls for a forced air heating system, with properly sized ducts. It takes a furnace with a blower designed with air conditioning in mind. You can even go a step forward and put in an empty cooling cabinet. Then simply add the "works" inside the cabinet when your budget permits. (Of course, the entire year around system can be installed all at once, too, with only a slight increase in the monthly payment.)

If your present heating system is in good condition, chances are that it can be adapted to summertime cooling at a big savings to you.

By planning for air conditioning now (all through the house, not just a couple of rooms, etc.), you're making room for progress... for comfort and for better health.

Don Keeth Heating has the famous Lennox equipment to do the job. Call 453-3000 for a free estimate.

Baptists Set For Building

With $92,524 in gifts and pledges following a building fund campaign, the First Baptist Church of Plymouth is ready to begin construction of its new facilities on North Territorial Road.

Building will begin next month, and completion of the church and education unit is expected by September.

The Rev. Paul Thompson, pastor, said the funds given and pledged during the building fund drive in late November and early December broke all records in per capita giving in the 6,000-church American Baptist Convention, with which the local church is affiliated.

MRS. CHARLES HERRICK headed the financial campaign. She reported the gift and pledge total Dec. 17, and said gifts were still coming in so the amount was expected to go over $100,000.

A highlight of the capital funds campaign was a Loyalty Day dinner at St. John's Episcopal Church, Plymouth. At that time advance gifts totaling $66,066 were announced.

The new building, to be located just west of New England Village, is designed by George Bery of the architectural firm of Bery-Kiel Associates, Oak Park, and the builder will be Harry O. Anderson of Detroit.

PLANS FOR the church's expansion began two years ago under the leadership of the Rev. Donald Williams and Charles Olson, a member of the church.

The Rev. Williams was called to another church in March, and the Rev. Thompson took over the work.

The church has a membership of 225.

PASTOR SHOWS NEW CHURCH -- The Rev. Paul S. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth, displays a drawing of the new building the church plans to build on North Territorial Road west of New England Village. Construction will begin next month.

Nazarene Churches Make Major Gains During 1967

The Church of the Nazarene, represented in this area by Elmwood Church of the Westland and Plymouth Church of the Nazarene, has reported notable gains in 1967 through its church world offices in Kansas City, Mo.

World membership climbed to a total of 453,187 persons--a net gain of 20,470 over a year ago. Sunday school enrollment increased to 983,525 -- a gain of 57,000 over 1966.

PER CAPITA GIVING was a record $190.13--an increase of $10.43 above the previous peak of $179.70 in 1966.

Giving for all purposes reached $69,792,571 -- an increase of $4,897,102 over 1966.

Mirroring the war impact, the names of seven Nazarenes killed in Vietnam were added to the War Memorial plaque in 1967. This made a total of 16 gold stars on the Vietnam roll. More than 8,000 Nazarene young men were in the Armed Forces in 1967.

IT APPEARED likely that the denomination would achieve its goal of one million persons enrolled in Sunday school by the 17th quadrennial General Assembly to be held in June, 1968, at Kansas City, Mo.

The annual statistical report by Dr. B. Edgar Johnson, general secretary, showed a domestic net gain of 7,532 members, with a gain of 12,938 members overseas, for the total world membership gain of 20,470.

The Nazarenes had a net gain of 32 churches which brought the denomination's total to 4,958.

The stewardship gain very likely assures the Nazarene church of remaining in first place in the nation in per capita giving among all denominations with 100,000 or more members.

THE WORLD MISSION program was expanded and strengthened in 1967. Gains included the opening of work in the Netherlands, new churches in Denmark and purchase of land in Costa Rica for a Central American Nazarene Bible college to be started in 1968.

A report at year-end showed that the Netherlands was the 48th nation or world area with Nazarene work. This program is supported by money raised among all churches.

Two new national missionary superintendents were elected in 1967: the Rev. Esperidon Julca, Peru, and the Rev. Andres Valenzuela, Philippines.

Also work was done on two new color-sound films which are to be ready in May 1968. Both were filmed in Central America. "Spreading Flame" tells about national evangelism. The second film depicts the work of literacy classes and Bible translation.

Preaching Effectiveness To Be Conference Topic

The effectiveness of current preaching will be examined by about 400 religious leaders and laymen Jan. 15 and 16 at The University of Michigan.

Pastors, their wives, and interested church members are being invited to attend.

The event is the 29th annual Michigan Pastors' Conference, whose theme is "Potentials of Pulpit Preaching." Subthemes are "The Foolishness of Preaching: A Paradox" on Monday, and "Improving Techniques for Pulpit Preaching" on Tuesday.

DR. EDGAR E. WILLIS, head of U of M speech department, will be one of the three principal speakers. In his address on "Critical View of Preaching," scheduled for the Monday morning session, Dr. Willis will deal with some of the pitfalls and weaknesses of contemporary sermons.

Before joining the Michigan faculty in 1952, Dr. Willis taught in the Detroit public schools, at the University of Wisconsin, Wayne State University, and San Jose State College, and lectured at Stanford University.

He spent the year 1958-59 as program associate for the Educational Television and Radio Center, and 1963-64 as a Fulbright lecturer on educational TV in Great Britain.

DR. WILLIS will also participate in the conference fire-side forum on Monday evening. This is to be a spontaneous, informal dialogue among conference members as they reflect on the issues raised during the day.

Other speakers will be George A. Buttrick, pastor emeritus of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York, and Wallace Fisher, senior pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Holy Trinity in Lancaster, Pa.

How Old Is The World?

Happy birthday, world! But, which one? The New Year is 1968, but how old really is this world of ours?

One thing is certain. The world is centuries old. Using the principle of radioactivity, modern researchers have dated wood samples to be as old as 4,600 years.

Atomic scientists expect to extend their measurements beyond 20,000 years, which would, of course, be long before the dawn of recorded history.

THE SPICE OF LIFE

Spices are seasonings, used since ancient times. The most common spices in the average kitchen are salt and pepper. When the use of salt is restricted for medical reasons, both cook and patient face the problem of a dull and tasteless diet. That's where other spices come in, adding life and zest to otherwise tasteless food.

The so-called salt-free diet gets its unfortunate name from the chemical formula of table salt, sodium chloride. It is the sodium ion that must be restricted in circulatory and kidney diseases -- but note, restricted, NOT eliminated.

Sodium chloride is an essential factor in every body tissue.

Among other useful spices which may help to replace salt in the diet are:

- capers for sauces and salad dressings;
- fennel or laurel (bay leaves) for soups, sauces, pot roasts or boiled fish;
- ginger or anise for bread, rolls, cakes, puddings, cookies or pickles;
- mustard (with discretion) for hot dogs, gravies, sauces and sandwiches;
- nutmeg for custards, egg-nogs and cream sauces;
- oregano and licorice for sweetening;
- pimento (allspice) for mince-meat, wines and pickles;
- coriander for soups, cakes or cookies or pickles;
- cloves for baked ham, apple pies and spice cakes;
- dill for pickles and relishes;
- sage for meats, sausages, stews and stuffings;
- sesame seeds with vegetables or with garlic and sweet butter on toast;
- basil for bringing out the taste in tomato dishes;
- vanilla for innumerable uses known to any experienced cook.

Spices, along with salt substitutes, and flavorful vegetables like carrots, onions, celery and garlic can help to tempt the palate of the salt-deprived person.

Twelfth Night Marks End Of Season

There are many ancient and modern rituals surrounding the observance of the Twelfth Night or Epiphany, January 6, which marks the end of the Christmas holiday season.

Epiphany was first observed in memory of the baptism of Christ. It was first mentioned in A.D. 194 and by the 4th Century was a widely accepted holiday. Today, Epiphany has a three-fold meaning: the visit of the Wise men to Jesus; the baptism of Jesus; and the miracle at Cana when Jesus changed water to wine at the wedding feast.

In 9th century England, King Alfred decreed that the Christmas season would include Christmas day and the 12 days following.

The Twelfth Night cake, along with the tradition of burning Christmas greenery on January 6, was in vogue when Charles II ascended the throne.

Latin peoples regard Epiphany as not only a solemn religious festival but also the beginning of the pre-Lenten carnival season. Mexican observance of Epiphany includes a march of the devout to the shrine of the miraculous Lord of Chalma in a valley south-west of Mexico City.

A January 6 ritual at Tarpon Springs, Florida, involves blessing of the Greek sponge divers and casting of a gold crucifix into the waters to signify the baptism of Christ.

Cranbrook To Display Swedish Wood Items

"Living with Wood", an exhibition of contemporary and traditional design in Sweden, will open in Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries Jan. 9 and remain up through Feb. 4.

The exhibition shows the many ways wood influences daily life in Sweden from buildings to furniture, tools and utensils, toys and games, musical instruments and sporting equipment. The show was organized by the Swedish Institute for Cultural Relations in cooperation with the Swedish Society for Industrial Design and is touring the country under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution.

DESIGNED to create an environment of its own, the display has 20 six-foot curved wooden panels mounted with photomurals showing modern and traditional architecture and wooden objects in use. Over 200 three-dimensional objects of contemporary design are shown in such a way that the exhibit visitor is made to feel how completely wood dominates human existence in Sweden.

Objects selected range from furniture and sculpture to toys and household items. Many that in other countries might be made of ceramics, metal or plastic are in Sweden made of wood because of the designers' preference for the material. The children's toys are most appealing both for their whimsical design and their forms. Many of the other items are intended for daily use—chairs, bowls, spoons, cigarette boxes—where they give pleasure merely through touch.

THE TRADITIONS of wood-working in Sweden date back to the Vikings. From medieval times the rich farm culture encouraged the use of wood, available in abundance. Today Sweden still has the largest timberland in Europe and her contemporary designs in wood are used and imitated all over the world.

The exhibition includes pieces by many of the country's foremost designers: chairs by Carl Malmsten and Bruno Mathsson, sculptures by Axel R. Petersson, "Doderhultarn" and by students of the Arts and Crafts School at Lidings. For comparison, old carvings from the Nordiska Museum and the Wasa Warship Museum and examples of traditional crafts by regional artisans have been included.

Lena Larsson and Sven Ake Gustafsson, two of Sweden's leading designers, selected the objects and designed the installation, while the tour is being sponsored by Hubert de Besche, ambassador of Sweden.

Players Stage Fantasy

Farmington Players Children's Theatre will present "The Clown Prince of Wanderlust" at 1 and 3 p.m. Dec. 27, 28 and 29 as a holiday treat for Farmington children and their parents.

Directed by Hope Nahstoll, this is the Children's Theatre's third production. Assisting Mrs. Nahstoll is Cecil Orman and members of the Players. The storybook setting has been designed by Don Briggs. The play has been double cast so that all 36 youngsters in the Children's Theatre may play a part. Each cast will play three performances.

The play concerns Juan of Evergreen, a young boy who finds himself in the peppermint candyland of Wanderlust. He becomes involved in the predicament of the lovely Princess Rose-Violet, who is unable to laugh. The plot builds itself around the antics of the townspeople who try with their most hilarious jokes and tricks to make the princess laugh. And of course, there is a "happy ever after" climax.

Red China Goofed On Nuclear Test

SOUTH VIETNAM President Nguyen Van Thieu has publicly agreed with President Johnson to have informal talks with individuals of the National Liberation Front (NLF).

A joint statement said Thieu "reaffirmed willingness to discuss relevant matters with any individuals now associated with the so-called National Liberation Front, while making it clear that his government could not regard the front as an independent organization in any sense."

GREEK KING CONSTANTINE is expected to return to Athens soon, according to diplomatic sources.

The king's demand for a timetable by the ruling junta for the restoration of parliamentary democracy as a condition for his return is not expected to block the way.

LUXEMBURG and the Netherlands refused to take part in talks between member nations of the European Economic Community (Common Market) in retaliation for France's latest veto of membership for Britain.

It is believed that French President Charles de Gaulle's rigid refusal to allow Britain in, will touch off a round of bitter haggling among the six market members—West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, and France—it is feared.

President Johnson spend the Christmas Day holiday at home in the White House following a six-day, 27,000 mile journey around the world highlighted by a meeting with Pope Paul VI in the Vatican. Main topic of discussion was the Vietnam War and how to end the fighting there. Following the meeting, President Johnson emphasized the unity between the two men although Pope Paul declined to comment publicly.

Red China may have goofed on its latest nuclear test, according to U.S. government officials. China has refused to comment on the results of its seventh and latest test, causing the Atomic Energy Commission to speculate whether the test was unsuccessful. Previously, China had announced its nuclear tests results within hours, setting off nationwide celebrations.

A representative of the Greek military regime met with King Constantine in Rome Monday before announcing that the King may return to Athens soon. The representative, a retired air force general was sent to the meeting with the king as an emissary. Meanwhile, in Athens, the military junta announced that it changed its mind and will not free 2,600 political prisoners, an action certain to displease the King.

A number of deaths were feared following the explosion of a six-story apartment building in Moscow Monday night. The building collapsed in a heap of rubble after the explosion.

STUART ERWIN, a movie and TV actor, died Dec. 21 in his Beverly Hills, Cal. home at the age of 64.

FOUR UNIVERSITY of Georgia students drowned Dec. 21 while scuba diving in a cave in Jennings Springs, Trenton, Fla. They ran out of air while 700 feet inside the cave.

THE SENTENCING of John Patler, convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of American Nazi Party Leader George Lincoln Rockwell, has been delayed until January.

The jury recommended a 20-year prison term for Patler, but under Virginia law the judge may reduce the term or set it aside.

NEW ORLEANS DIST. ATTY. Jim Garrison has ordered the arrest of Edgar Eugene Bradley, the second person he has formally charged with conspiring to murder President Kennedy.

In North Hollywood, Calif. Bradley denied any knowledge of what Garrison was charging him with and said that he had only been in Dallas once in his life—last March or April.

THE MASSACHUSETTS Superior Court, in an opinion upholding the state's marijuana laws, has said the weed is properly classified as a narcotic.

The ruling of Justice G. Joseph Tauro came in his denial of motions to dismiss narcotics charges against two men who made the first challenge of the constitutionality of Massachusetts laws banning possession and sale of marijuana.

THE U.S. COURT of Appeals ruled that the State Department has exceeded the power Congress gave the department to curtail constitutionally protected rights to travel and cannot deny a passport to an American simply on the suspicion that he might visit an off-limits country.

The three judges unanimously overturned a regulation that was aimed at preventing anti-war protesters from traveling to North Vietnam or one of the three other communist countries.

H. RAP BROWN, black power advocate and leader of SNCC, was turned down by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, after Douglas was asked to lift a court-imposed travel ban that restricted Brown to portions of New York State.

Federal courts restricted the travels of the chairman after he was freed on bail pending action on charges he incited riot and arson earlier this year in Cambridge, Md.

U.S. REP. GERALD FORD, house Republican leader, called President Johnson's suggestion that the government may have to find jobs for the hard-core unemployed in the nation's cities a "throwback to the New Deal. What America needs is new ideas for new problems, a better deal," he said.

However, the proposal was endorsed by a key house lawmaker, Rep. Carl D. Perkins (D-Ky.), chairman of the Education and Labor Committee that would handle any such plan.

Readers Speak Up

Editor:

Anent the "Open Housing Ordinance," editorials favoring same and the various reports concerning views pro and con. As you know, I spoke against the same because I believe in the Constitution, the right of contract, the freedom of association, the right to respect your neighbors, the right to protect your property and all other freedoms inherent in a free and decent society.

May we refer to some of your articles the subject before us. I recall an item by some person, maybe a clergyman, who favored a 15 per cent mix. My question is, "Just who is this person, does he favor miscegenation, destruction of the City of Plymouth and crime in the streets?" Then you published a letter signed by clergy in this area. They favor the ordinance. Nice to know them, but the ordinance exempts their business and sects from the effects of the legislation. This hypocrisy alone should have defeated the ordinance, if the City Commission had discernment and sense.

YOU REPORTED Plymouth Township proceedings and the opinion of Ralph Cole, attorney for the Township. He ruled against such an ordinance. I have known Mr. Cole many years, he is a capable attorney and I agree with him. May I note that the City Attorney for Plymouth has refrained from saying that the ordinance is constitutional? In justice to him, I may say that no attorney, having due regard for the law, can draw a valid bill or ordinance plundering the public for the benefit of a minority, if it be a benefit.

You published the position of Rep. James Tierney in opposition to the bill in the state legislature. His position is correct, I admire his courage, and I shall vote for him even though I am not of his party. May I add that I am not a Roman Catholic.

In your issue of December 13, you report views of the Michigan Council of Churches et al. They claim that colored do not destroy property values. Sorry, but they do. So do shiftless whites. Said article is, on the whole a blatant distortion. Note the 12th-Clairmont area. I lived there many years. Not only was this fine section made a slum, but they burned it down. Honestly, I was sickened by the sight. As we know, the rioters went after Jewish stores. also they killed some poor old man on Linwood, of foreign extraction, in front of his little store or shop in cold blood. A few days ago, two white men driving on 12th had to stop for a traffic light. They were shot by negroes and taken to Ford Hospital. Whether they pulled through intensive care I do not know.

So let us come down to earth. We cannot have cheap politicians selling out our decent citizens, black or white, we must have order, we cannot have clergy leading riots, advocating violence and murder or condoning homosexuality as we know has happened per newspaper reports.

The remedy? Well, the people have the ballot and they do, I believe, have yet the right to trade where they wish, and contribute or not to their churches. Many are deciding that they have had enough and are leaving their churches. More will do so.

I am sorry about this, because my people suffered religious persecution in France, built one of the first churches in New York and have fought in every war we have had. I think we need true religion. But we must remember that history tells us that when churches become political or corrupt there is a reaction.

'More Sports Coverage'

EDITOR: In the Dec. 13 issue of The Livonia Observer you posed the following question in the attached article:

"As we have pleaded before, why not more city-owned ice-skating arenas?"

Evidently, very little of your time is devoted to the sports and recreational activities in the City of Livonia since you are unaware that there are presently two Olympic size indoor skating rinks under construction and scheduled for completion by Sept. 1, 1968. The Parks and Recreation Department certainly has recognized the need for this type of facility and should be given credit for the foresight to satisfy this need.

Additionally, since the assumption must be that your paper is directed primarily to Livonia activities as indicated by its title, "Livonia Observer," many sports achievements for the area have not been and are not recognized in your sports' section; e.g., during this past summer's baseball season several of the Livonia teams won state and/or inter-city titles and very little, if any, mention was made of this fact.

I don't feel I am being overly critical of your newspaper for your apparent lack of interest in local sports activities since the question has been posed to me by many people as to "How does one get sport's coverage in the Livonia Observer?"

This matter was also discussed with Phil Powers who indicated that his policy is not to directly interfere with the thinking and policies established by his editors, however, don't you think its about time for a reappraisal of the policy of the sports' section of the Livonia Observer?

Time To End Vandalism

EDITOR:

Once again it is the Christmas season and you can drive around our city and enjoy the beauty of the lights. They come in all colors and designs and as you drive you can appreciate the time and effort that goes into this gala spectacle. Those of us who go through this every year do so with the hope that we are adding to the enjoyment of others -- in the true Christmas spirit.

Enjoy it Mr. and Mrs. Public because we have lost the spirit, because each year the number of us grows smaller, not because we have lost the spirit, or the energy, but we are losing heart. Each night when we light up our displays, we find that sections are darkened by missing bulbs which we find smashed on the sidewalks.

Though in the minds of children this is just a prank, an adult mind interprets it to be total disregard for the true meaning of Christmas. Peace on Earth cannot begin until we all learn the total respect for other individuals, their properties, and their customs.

You cannot give an answer to stop this sort of thing. It is not a problem that can be totally solved. I appeal to you parents--talk to your children. Today's childish pranks lead to tomorrow's lawless element.

I'm not giving up. I replaced my bulbs. Kids channel your energies elsewhere.

The Spirit of Christmas.
