

Centennial Year Takes Unforgettable Place In City's History

When the bewitching hour of midnight is reached tonight it will bring to a close Plymouth's Centennial year that long will be remembered as one of the most exciting and colorful years in the history of the city.

Not since the first house was built in 1825 on the site of the Mayflower Hotel has there been so much crowded into a single span of 12 months.

From the very start the year was unusual. Before it closed the city had enjoyed its centennial; a minister of the gospel had the city charter declared unconstitutional to win a seat on the City Commission and Plymouth became one of the few cities in the state to pass an Open Housing ordinance.

It all began when the City Commission, deciding to celebrate the centennial throughout the entire year, appointed a committee and asked it to make all possible plans for a great year and top it off with a recommendation for a lasting memorial.

Then, in quick succession, came these events to stand the year apart from any of its predecessors:

The Leadership Conference at Schoolcraft College that brought an agreement between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township for a study on the feasibility of unification.

The city's refusal to place Rev. Peter Schweitzer's name on the ballot for the spring election and his resultant court battle that resulted in Judge Victor A. Baum declaring portions of the city charter unconstitutional.

Rev. Schweitzer's name being put on the ballot and his winning of top place for a seat on the City Commission.

The acceptance by His Worship, Frank Chapman, Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, of an invitation to help celebrate Centennial week over the July Fourth period.

His arrival, with three aides, which caused more excitement in the city than it had known in years.

The annual Fall Festival which proved more of a success than ever when 12,500 chicken dinners were served in a six hour period in Kellogg Park.

And as the year drew to a close excitement reaching a high peak again when Plymouth became one of the few cities in the state to adopt an Open Housing Ordinance.

Mingled with these outstanding events were the continuous struggles for revitalizing the central business district; the never-ending battle to curb the long waits at the rail crossings; the turmoil and court suits over the widening of South Main Street and the legal steps taken to improve

BRUCE HUDSON

Plymouth Student Cited For Medical Research

When Bruce Hudson was eight or nine years old he received his first chemistry set and from then on he had a consuming interest in molecules, equations, and chemical compounds.

Hudson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hudson of 44951 N. Territorial Rd., and he has gone a long way from those early tinkering with simple chemicals.

The young scientist has risen from this meager beginning to be a top graduate student at the California Institute of Technology and last month received national recognition for a new discovery in the field of biochemistry.

Hudson, along with another Caltech grad student, David Clayton, and their teacher Dr. Jerome Vinograd, were cited for their development of a new form of Desoxyribonucleic Acid (DNA).

DNA has been attributed by scientists as the source of life in all cells and has been called the basic genetic material of all life.

THE NEW form is shaped in a series of loops connected like links in an iron chain. Genetic chains of as many as seven links have been found.

Before the discovery, DNA was believed to exist only as very long molecules in the nuclei of animal and plant cells. In the last year, however, biologists have found ring-shaped DNA molecules in the cells, although not in the cell nucleus.

Hudson said that the discovery has two important aspects to the scientific world. The obvious fact that this form of DNA was previously undiscovered and, possibly more significant, the fact that the study team found this particular form only in human cancer cells.

THE FACT that only human cancer cells have this ring-shaped DNA molecule may someday help scientists discover the cause of cancer and maybe its cure.

Hudson was quick to add that no relation between the disease of cancer and the new DNA has been established and there should be no inferences drawn. Hudson and the other student worked only as graduate assistants to Dr. Vinograd and are credited with helping the professor make the discovery.

While Hudson was still a youngster, his interest enabled him to conjure up a small explosion and have the chemistry set taken away from him until he was a little older and more responsible.

THE ASPIRING biochemist is near the completion of his graduate work at California Institute of Technology (Caltech) and his next move will be to Harvard where he plans to earn a doctorate degree as a biochemist.

He graduated from Plymouth High School in only three years in 1963 and spent one semester at the University of Michigan before going to Caltech.

Shortly after starting at Caltech he donated his chemicals and test tubes to the high school for their use.

In 1967, he finished his undergraduate work at Caltech. After entering graduate school things began happening for him.

Christ Child Stolen

Vandalism in the City of Plymouth reached its peak during the holidays when the Christ Child was stolen from the manger in the Nativity scene in Kellogg Park.

"We don't know just when it happened," City Manager Richard Blodgett explained, "but it did cost the city $35 for a replacement."

The officials are without a clue as to who did the low down act.

Year Of Decision

Chamber To Strive For Answers

BY CARL PURSELL
C. of C. President

THE NEW YEAR promises to be an exciting year for the Plymouth Community.

One must, however, look back for a moment and reflect not only our progress and achievements but our disappointments too.

Our citizens voted to move ahead with a new high school. The City of Plymouth celebrated a Centennial year centered around the Lord Mayor of England.

Plymouth Township depicted a typical farm scene and celebrated 140 years of history. Industrial development enjoyed success.

New commercial and professional offices moved to Plymouth.

Two major expressways became an official reality--I-275 and M-14 will have a tremendous effect on Plymouth.

It means Plymouth is no longer a rural area. Urbanization is here and land use will be changing.

PROBABLY ONE of the most important decisions in our Community was made at the Schoolcraft Leadership Conference. Here 65 community leaders agreed to a unification study by the Citizens Research Council of Michigan. Both Plymouth and Plymouth Township supported the study which should be completed about May, 1968.

Some of our disappointments and problems continue to retard our progress. A critical housing shortage exists. The downtown area needs a Big Leader. Experts say we need 75,000 population before a department store would settle here. The Community needs a Recreation Commission. This idea is not new but we need some aggressive leadership to make it a reality.

The Centennial Skating Arena could be its first accomplishment.

1968 SHOULD provide the people of Plymouth with some important choices.

Is the Unification Study feasible?

Do we really want a Skating Arena?

Are we willing to support a new cultural facility in the P&A Theatre?

Are the public officials serious about a Parking Authority? Open Housing?

Do we see new store fronts on some of the streets?

The Chamber of Commerce will continue to press for decisions. We can act as a catalyst to promote Plymouth and progress. We will continue to suggest solutions and work diligently to serve the best interests of Plymouth.

Township Request May Cut Area Planning Action

In a move that could seriously curtail the work of the Area Planning Commission at a time when the services are needed most, Plymouth Township has asked for a moratorium of one year or at least a 50 per cent reduction in dues.

The action was taken at a recent meeting of the Township Trustees and was unanimous, with Trustee Ralph Garber, a member of the Planning Commission, abstaining.

"When the commission was set up several years ago," Township Supervisor John McEwen pointed out, "it was on the policy of always having a surplus in the treasury sufficient to carry on the work for a full year. This was done so as to prevent any stoppage in the services."

LATER, Mrs. Helen Richardson, township clerk, explained that the action was taken when the Planning Commission's budget for the coming year, was well below the balance on hand. So, it was only in keeping with the policy of having a year's funds on hand that the request was made.

"It was the feeling of the trustees," she said, "that taxpayers money should not be used to build up a big fund for some activity outside of our regular governmental work."

The Planning Commission was organized several years ago with three integers--the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township. During the past year the Plymouth Community School District also was admitted to membership.

Under the dues set-up each integer is billed for $5,000 annually with the exception of Canton Township. Inasmuch as only one half of the township is involved in the school district Canton's dues are only $2,500.

"WE HAVE received the Plymouth Township request," Tom Alexy, president of the commission stated, "but we don't plan to take any action until our next meeting in mid-January."

"It is my understanding,"

he said, "that the dues checks have been received from both the City of Plymouth and Canton Township, while the school district was paid at the time of affiliating last summer."

The commission has only one full-time employee -- Harold Fischer who serves as the director and whose duties are those of an industrial co-ordinator.

Fischer spends his time-- or most of it--attempting to lure industry to the area to help broaden the tax base. He also serves as the coordinator of commercial projects and is the liaison man between commerce, industry and the government.

Through the efforts of the Planning Commission five industries were located in the area during the past year.

"What some folks overlook," Alexy pointed out, "is that there are expenses other than the director's salary and office rent. It is the Area Commission's duty to sponsor welcoming parties for new industries and play the role of good-will ambassadors throughout the year. This takes money--but pays off."

CLIMAX TO YEAR'S TOP STORY -- The visit of the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, has been rated the year's top story by the readers of the Mail & Observer and this is the climax--the presentation of four Locust trees to com-

Lord Mayor's Visit Rated Top Story

The visit of the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, and his aides, to help celebrate the city's centennial has been voted the top story of the year in the Plymouth area.

In a survey of a good cross section of readers, The Mail & Observer poll revealed that four out of every five rated the visit of the distinguished guests far above other events of the year.

The competition for the top story was a two-way affair, with Rev. Peter Schweitzer's suing of the city and having the charter ruled unconstitutional, far behind in second place.

Surprisingly, the adoption of the Open Housing Ordinance ran a bad third in the voting and a single vote was cast for the City

Commission's action in making possible more parking in the downtown area.

"I am voting for the story that told of events for the over-all good of the city," this lone reader explained, "and getting the parking after all these years is the best thing that has happened."

"Nothing that stirred this city more than the visit of the Lord Mayor, Frank Chapman," one of the voters remarked, "and it not only gave us nation wide attention for that week, but proved that the city and township could work together."

"For that reason, the Lord Mayor's visit has to be given top place."

Most others agree with him.

City Looks Forward To Year Of Progress

BY RICHARD BLODGETT
City Manager

As we come to the end of a very busy year, it is always nice to stop and reflect on the past accomplishments, and then look to the future to see what progress can be anticipated by the City of Plymouth in the coming year.

Highlighting 1967 was the Centennial Celebration. The whirlwind week of July 4 was one which will never be forgotten by our four visitors from Plymouth, England, and I am sure that those who participated as hosts and citizens will long remember the festivities.

Sewer Lines

Unacceptable

The dedication to Plymouth Township by Plymouth Heritage Apartment Company of the water and sewer lines servicing the buildings on Heritage Dr. together with a right of access for maintenance will not be accepted by the township until work has been completed on the complex.

The board said that the work had not been finished and it would wait until it was before they would accept the sewer lines.

As a result of this visit, it can be anticipated that the "Plymouth Rock," which was cut from the steps from which the Pilgrims embarked on the Mayflower, and presented to the City of Plymouth, will become a part of Plymouth, Michigan's heritage, and will become symbolic of the ties between our two cities and countries.

Steps were also taken to study the economics of unification between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township. The results of this study will be available in the spring of 1968 and I would anticipate that the citizenry will have an opportunity to be heard on the matter.

IN 1967, the public works garage was completed. This 200' x 80' facility is capable of housing all of the present D.P.W. equipment.

Harvey Street was widened from Penniman Avenue to W. Ann Arbor Trail; Lena and Goldsmith Streets were reconstructed; and Main Street was widened to 44 feet, from W. Ann Arbor Trail to Burroughs and Sutherland Streets. We feel that this and the Harvey Street improvement will help strengthen our central business district.

In 1968, the City plans to construct Amelia Street from Farmer to Liberty, which is another industrial street similar to the Goldsmith project. Furthermore, it is planned that Farmer Street will be constructed from Starkweather to Mill Street, enabling a better flow of traffic to develop on the north of town. Linden Street and Evergreen Streets are two residential street projects which are to be completed. Engineering and right-of-way acquisition is in process

The Top Stories And The Outlook

As the New Year draws closer, local top stories of 1967--and projections for 1968--are analyzed by public officials and this newspaper's editor throughout today's edition.

A Christmas basketball tournament found Livonia's Bentley high an easy winner over Berkley, North Farmington dropping Redford Union, and Farmington rallying to beat Stevenson. Plymouth and John Glenn highs, however, were out of the running in a holiday invitational cage tournament at Glenn.

With an adventurous federal grant, Clarenceville schools have been working at all three levels on a language arts program aimed at more vigorous creative writing and reading. Page 1-B.

conditions on Penniman Avenue and the creation of additional parking in the hope of preserving the downtown area in the keen competition with the larger shopping centers in the outlying districts.

It was a year that was filled with hope—and despair.

The Centennial Committee not only developed a year-long program, but completed plans for an ice arena which the city is now considering as the permanent memorial of the outstanding year.

The despair came with the failure of the city fathers to bring about the long-awaited loop traffic system and the beautification of Kellogg Park.

Hopes rose and fell. Tempers flared and cooled, but all told, it was a most exciting year.

Where is there another city that could celebrate a centennial for an entire year, have its charter declared unconstitutional, entertain celebrities from abroad and set an example by adopting an open housing law all in one year?

Well, it happened in Plymouth — and that's why 1967 is a year that always will be remembered.

Trustees To Attend MTA Meeting for the widening of Ann Arbor Trail from Hamilton to the easterly city limits.

A new site was picked for the senior citizens home, which is in the park behind the Christian Science Church. This three story facility will contain sixty dwelling units, and its construction is anticipated to begin in the summer of 1968 with the project being completed a year later.

TWO NEW parking lots were acquired in the downtown area, which will result in 128 new spaces. This, too, is hoped to serve as an impetus toward development in the downtown.

The engineering layout was completed on the Loop Drive and cost studies are in progress. This $500,000 project is greatly needed to provide the necessary circulation around the downtown. Looking to the future, I would expect the project to be underway in 1969. I would also anticipate the city's involvement in additional parking lots.

1967 saw the gaslights installed in Kellogg Park and 189 trees planted throughout the city. More trees will be planted in the spring of 1968, and a new plan will be thoroughly engineered and developed for Kellogg Park.

It is hoped that 1968 will find us closer to a solution which involves what is often referred to as a $1,000,000 underpass project.

1967 saw the purchase of the Wheel Truening Property by Intanglo Service Corporation. This building will be completed in the spring of 1968, and will serve to strengthen our city's tax base. One and a half acres in the Industrial Park is also optioned to Crankshaft Form Tool Company.

It is hoped that this fine industry will see fit to locate here, sometime in 1968. Many other industries have added onto their buildings and, while the city is quite land-locked, it is anticipated that we will continue to realize a much improved tax base, in order to continue the many services that a municipality is called upon to provide in years to come.

City Asks For Help On Arena

Representatives of Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth have agreed to meet in January to discuss the proposed Ice Arena and multi-purpose room that the city wants to build as a permanent memorial of centennial year.

Richard Blodgett, city manager, asked that the meeting be arranged because the city feels that the bulk of the users of the arena would come from the city and township.

They agreed to meet in City Hall on Jan. 16 at 8 p.m.

The Stroller...

The journalism profession and the newspaper "game" in general lost one of its most interesting and colorful characters with the passing of Jack Manning, former Managing Editor of the Detroit Times, during the past week.

He was not known too intimately in Plymouth for the simple reason that the Detroit Times, in its heyday, was what was known as a street sale paper, given to large and sensational headlines and wasn't meant to be a small town or home newspaper.

So, at lunch the other day, The Stroller was asked to tell of his experiences with this colorful editor.

It never was The Stroller's pleasure to work on the same paper with Jack, though, after the demise of the Times, he did move to the Free Press as a consulting editor.

But, in those days, it made little difference where you worked, Jack Manning kept his eye on you. He knew what was going on and read incessantly. What's more, he always let you know what he thought of your journalistic efforts — regardless of which paper carried your material.

The first time The Stroller ever received a letter from him was following the first Louis-Schmeling fight in 1936. This was the fight in which Schmeling registered the upset of upsets by stopping the Brown Bomber in 12 rounds.

On The Stroller's return from that stunning battle, there was a letter waiting from Jack Manning. It was brief, but to the point, and stated simply: "Your fight story was superb and surprisingly free of alibis for the home town boy."

What a compliment! ... praise from the head of a rival paper. That was Jack Manning.

A stern taskmaster, but a lot of fun, he was a great teacher.

It is too bad the Detroit papers are not available this week for they would carry an interesting tale of the man who was the "chief" the day the Detroit Times died.

Of all the yarns spun about him, the Stroller always liked best the one his publisher, Bill Anderman, told.

Manning was given to imbibing laughing juice a bit too freely at times, but always hied himself away for these forays.

On one occasion he had been gone three days and the Times was trying frantically to get hold of him. After some deductions it was supposed that he had gone to Chicago.

Sure enough. He had. And the publisher finally got him on the phone.

"Whereinell have you been?" Manning was asked. "We have been trying to reach you for three days."

"That's just the way it should be," Manning is reported to have answered. "I am a firm believer in the office seeking the man and not the man the office."

Jack's gone now. The ranks of the newspaper "characters" are thinning. But he will live in memory with all those who knew him.

A MAGICIAN'S COMPLAINT

Roy Rew, the popular magician who can do more with a set of three rings than anyone else in the area, slumped down at the luncheon table and remarked, "It was a disgrace."

He said no more for a moment and most of the diners figured he had been involved in some transaction that left him disgusted.

Then, without being asked, he continued: "I drove downtown the other evening to see the lights. After all, it was the Christmas season, and things should be real colorful."

"But what I saw was a disgrace," he commented. "Kellogg Park virtually was dark."

"Places like Livonia and Westland were sights to behold, but here in Plymouth we celebrated in darkness."

The magician was not alone. Many others mentioned the lack of decorations and a community tree with all the trimmings and all the other things one has come to expect in the downtown areas of cities these days.

Someone suggested, "If the City Commission is holding back because of spending taxpayers' money, it can take advantage of the post-Christmas sales. All tree lights are now half price ... it might be well to buy them now and be ready for next year."

Nuf sed.

CHAMPING WITH MIXED EMOTIONS

Some time ago The Stroller purchased a snow blower — for protection. It always has been his experience that when he was prepared for something it didn't happen.

Thus far, it has worked. We haven't had a snowfall heavy enough to use the blower.

But you should see the wry faces on fellows like Dr. Herbold, a skiing enthusiast, every time it is mentioned.

He hasn't been able to get out on the "slats," and every time he looks at The Stroller it is with a prejudiced eye.

Can't help it, Doc.

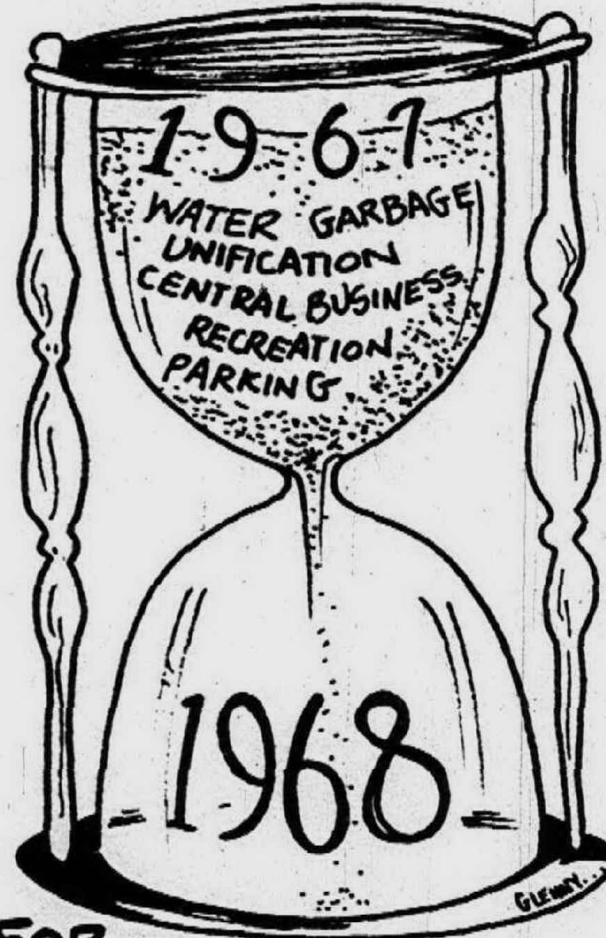

I just don't want to shovel snow.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

You must have more than a good aim in life — You must also pull the trigger.

Plymouth Area's Greatest Need: It's Men To Climb The Mountains

TIME WAITS

FOR NO CITY...

With the advent of a new year the Plymouth area is faced with serious growing pains and the challenges held over from 1967 are certain to pick up strength to the point where the highest type of leadership will be required to obtain any sort of solutions.

For more than a year the City of Plymouth has dealt with the water and garbage disposal problems to no avail. The Commission is no closer to a solution now than it was at any time during the past year.

Meanwhile, the sewer system, not too good at best, is a year older and could be troublesome.

Added to these are such hold-overs as the Unification Study, the Central Business District Loop plan, the establishment of a recreation program for the city, completing a workable program with the government in order to get federal aid.

There is great need for revitalizing the downtown section, improving parking conditions and a host of other matters that have plagued the Commissioners through the year.

On the Township side, there is a steady growth that calls for wise use of land and being prepared to lure business and industry that will be so vitally needed to broaden the tax base and help to give the residential taxpayer a break.

The Township, too, is certain to be faced with the Unification Plan that is designed to bring about a more cohesive governing body and a more economical method of operation.

There are two very interesting sides to the problem coin in the area.

First, the City must fight to preserve what it has and make it more attractive.

Secondly, the Township must prepare for an explosion not only of population, but business and industry.

It has the land—but it must be made inviting and kept as an attraction for those industries that are in search of new sites. There can be no letup ... or the ingredients of a broader tax base will move on to other parts.

The Township has the area and the tools. It now needs the kind of leadership that will look forward and take heed of the old admonition that "the future belongs to those who plan for it."

The big opportunity is there. The main job is to be ready for it when the time comes.

The City's problem is quite different. It is land locked. With only about two square miles it cannot look forward to attracting large new industries, or big businesses. It must get by, virtually, with what is here.

This means that the local problems must be solved without much help during the coming year.

A check reveals that the City has only one and one-half acres of land available for development—and industry today needs much more than that.

Hovering over the entire area is the fear that the new freeways, when built, will develop big business, shopping centers, motels and the like at the interchanges.

Should this happen—and it will if no plans are made to help stem the tide—the downtown area in editorial

Plymouth could become little more than a ghost of the wonderful place many folks hoped it would be.

There is no denying that the freeways will do a lot of good for the area. But the local problems will not be helped.

The freeways won't help to improve Kellogg Park. Neither will they help solve the garbage disposal problem, or the water trouble ... or help with the parking problem, other than to lure business away and leave the parking areas empty.

The Plymouth area has been facing these problems for years. For one reason or another they have been shunted aside, for the most part. But now the time has come to act. They can be shunted aside no longer.

The freeways will be here before we know it. Then it might be too late.

So, what the entire area needs now, and needs badly, are men to climb the mountains.

New High Price Index

Higher transportation and housing costs pushed the Detroit Consumer Price Index for November to a new high of 116.0, up four-tenths of one per cent from October.

Consumer goods and services which cost $10 in 1957-59 now cost $11.60, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. The index is 2.9 per cent higher than a year ago.

Thomas J. McArdle, regional director of the Chicago office, reported that average transportation costs rose 1.1 per cent in the Detroit area from October to November. Higher prices for both new and used cars account for most of that increase.

Higher mortgage interest rates are responsible for part of the half per cent rise in housing costs.

Computerized Payroll Puts Decimal Points In Work

Preparing payrolls for the Observer Newspapers' 126 employees used to be a week-long job for a bookkeeper, and another helping hand was needed for annual reports.

As of Dec. 4, the job became a 12-hour a week task—much simpler, cheaper, and more accurate.

The difference is a computer service by Livonia National Bank.

The million-dollar computer system is housed in the Michigan National Bank Building in Lansing, and the Livonia bank has virtually around-the-clock courier service.

The only mistakes the computer can make are "people" mistakes -- such as using a wrong number or forgetting to insert a decimal point. Even then, the machine will usually come to a halt, buzz and print the word "error."

PREVIOUSLY, bookkeeper

Katy Dorow used a "peg-board" system to prepare the Observer payroll. A manual method, it required hand entries and carbon copies on an employee earning card, check and journal.

Mrs. Dorow spent Monday and Tuesday computing the checks of salaried employees, Wednesday and Thursday calculating the payroll for hourly employees, and Friday making summary reports for management.

Now the job takes 12 hours from the time Mrs. Dorow starts until the final check is printed, and her time is freed for other duties.

She prepares a time report for each hourly employee and notes any changes in pay rates or deductions.

The computer multiplies the hourly rate times the number of hours worked, figures any overtime, subtracts the deductions (such as federal income tax and social security), computes the net pay, and prints the check and earnings statement.

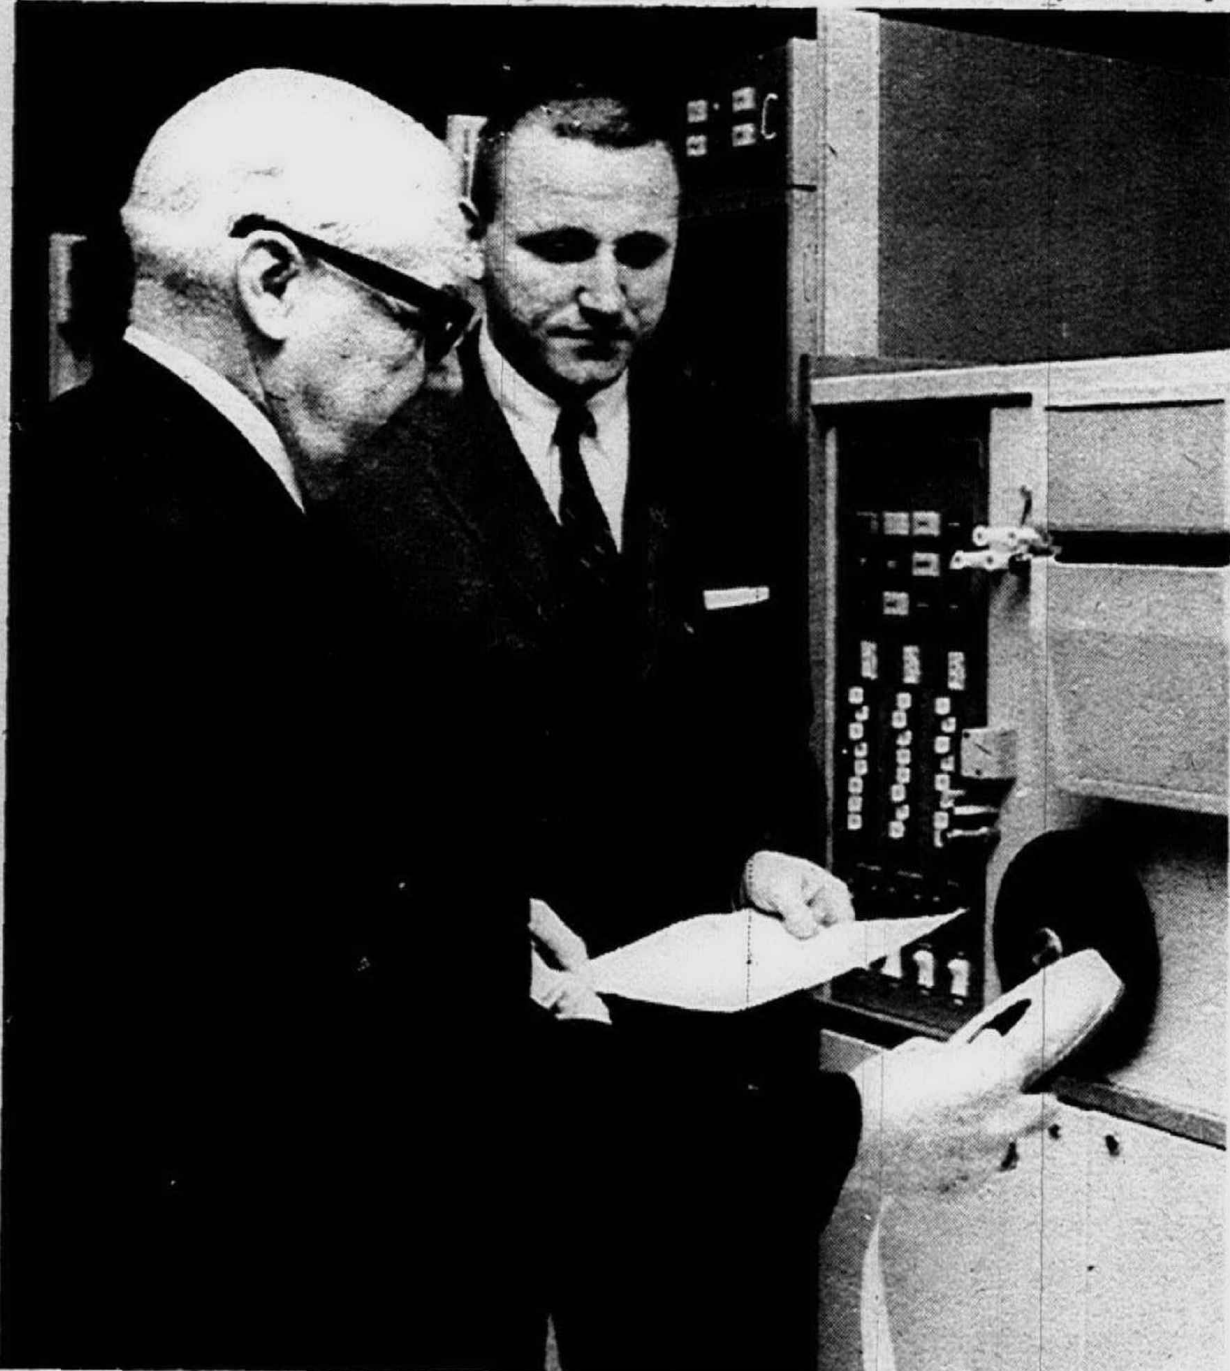

CONTROLLER Dale Perin said it took about 10 days from the time the Observer Newspapers signed an agreement until the delivery of the first payroll.

"We put together all the data needed by the computer in about two days," Perin said. "It took another day or so to complete the tape-punching job (in Lansing) and another day to run and verify the program."

The computer can do much more than the payroll.

It also prepares monthly and quarterly tax statements and will produce employees W-2 forms at year's end.

In addition, the computer prepares periodic reports for the newspapers' management that summarize wages by department, all deductions and other detailed information for business analysis and planning.

J. RUSSELL SENNETT (left) of Livonia National Bank shows Observer Newspapers controller Dale Perin a tape roll containing data for a computer, which calculates employees' pay, deductions and net pay and prints the check and earnings statement.

SLEDS AND TOBOGGANS are the preferred method of travel on this safe hill in Hines Park north of Plymouth. Wayne County Road Commission, which operates the park, has designated this area for sledding, kept it clear of obstructions and provided bales of hay along the edges so that sledders won't crash into trees and bushes.

Oakland County Honors Veteran 'Mr. Government'

Oakland County's "Mr. Government," Delos Hamlin of Farmington, will be the object of a county-wide tribute Friday, Jan. 26 with a testimonial banquet climaxing a day named officially in his honor by unanimous vote of the Board of Supervisors.

A resolution designating Jan. 26 as "Delos Hamlin Day" throughout the county was given a standing vote of endorsement Tuesday by the supervisors. Hamlin currently is in his 12th year as chairman of the board and his 25th consecutive year as the City of Farmington's delegate to that body.

In addition to his role as chairman of the Oakland county board, Hamlin also is the current president of the Michigan State Association of Supervisors.

He is Michigan director of the National Association of County Officials, as well.

Co-chairman of "Hamlin Day"

activities are Supervisors

Levinson, Willis M. Brewer

of Sylvan Lake, Harry W. Horton of Royal Oak and William L.

Mainland of Milford.

The recognition dinner scheduled for the evening of

Jan. 26 will be held in the New

Raleigh House in Southfield.

He was Farmington's mayor from 1939 to 1949, after serving the previous nine years as a councilman, and has been the city's appointee to the Board of Supervisors since 1942.

Supervisor David Levinson

of Birmingham introduced the resolution Tuesday, setting aside Jan. 26 in Hamlin's honor.

Now in his 34th year on the board, Levinson is the only one of the 87 supervisors with greater seniority than Hamlin.

Janet Marshall, 9241 Lilley Plymouth, has been chosen social chairman of the Student Association.

Velma Bishop, 21105 Metroview, Farmington, has been elected secretary of the Women's Fellowship.

C'ville Gets State Payment

Clarenceville School District, which includes portions of both Wayne and Oakland Counties, received $181,430 this week from the more than $10 million in state aid distributed for December to Oakland districts.

It was the second payment to the district by Oakland County Treasurer James E. Seeterlin, the October payment having been $186,830.

The Top Side Of Life

(Editor's Note: If you have been searching for a New Year's resolution or want to add to your present list, give some thought to the subject of a column written by Rev. Strang in the early spring of this fading year.)

By Rev. David Strang

E. E. Cummings described more than "the Cambridge ladies" when he wrote that people "who live in furnished souls are unbecomingly and have comfortable minds."

There are too many comfortable minds around today. Comfortable minds belong to people who don't want to be bothered—by anything. Comfortable minds want to be sheltered from anything that even threatens to stone the status quo. What's even worse, comfortable minds want to bring the rest of us under their protective unconscious.

Comfortable minds scour newstands and high school reading lists to assure that we are not corrupted. Comfortable minds still refuse to confront the reality of the racial crisis in our country—which means that we may look forward to another summer of discontent.

Comfortable minds can't open their ears to hear the dissenters in our "great society", the people who question the value of our wars and moon races and poverty programs. Comfortable minds think that only kooks and beatniks oppose our national policies and that the 200,000 plus people who gathered on the two coasts of the nation last week-end to protest the Vietnam War must surely be pink.

Comfortable minds never ask why teens rebel and college kids revolt. They think that all we have to do is take away the kids' cycles and long hair and everything will return to glorious normal again.

There are too many comfortable minds—and so, with the hope that we may someday grow to become a more human and honest and realistic people, the church has a new task. It must not only comfort the afflicted, which has been its more traditional job, it must also afflict the comfortable.

This is not a new role for the church, however. Not when you realize that the church's boss is the Jesus who has always bugged people. After all, no one gets hung on a cross for being a pollyanna.

It's not that the church wants to shock people, or turn them away, it's just that we can't go on much longer believing that all of our problems will disappear by themselves. We need to have the sleep rubbed out of our eyes so that we can see what is really happening around us.

Don't be surprised then if, when you go to church sometime, you don't leave with the sweet rosy feeling you thought you went for. Don't be surprised if some preacher reminds you that there isn't much room in our society today for comfortable minds. We either have to shake off our phony comfort so that we can understand where our participation is needed as we try to give order to the chaos of our society, or we will find ourselves being dead citizens of what T.S. Eliot calls "an age which advances progressively backwards."

SANTA AND FRIENDS—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McCann, 790 Beechcrest was a very merry place last Saturday, Dec. 23 as the McCann's friends and neighbors gathered for their children's Christmas party. The children stood in awe as Santa Ho-Ho-Hoed down the basement stairs and each child received a gift from the merry white-whiskered gentleman. (Top left to right) Jill McCann, Butch Rhinehart, Kevin McCann, Cara Lewis and Michele Blodgett assure Santa that they have been very good boys and girls. (Michele doesn't know it, but she's sitting on her Daddy's lap).

Relentlessly, surely, the moments pass and our eager hands are not able to restrain them.

We cannot keep back the flying years, but we can and should keep the blessings they bring. Hold fast to the lessons they have taught. Keep the memory of their joys. Enrich every day of life with the garnered wealth of the days behind.

The years pass, but they leave their treasures with us, if our hands and hearts are open to receive them. So as with one hand we shake farewell to 1967 let us stretch out the other hand to warmly greet and welcome 1968.

Still time to thank all of our customers for your help in making this a successful year. May 1968 bring you happiness and luck!

RX RECORD SYSTEM

Here, at Wiltse's Community Pharmacy, we have a modern "Safeguard Record System" in order to make available to you — at any time — a complete record of your various prescriptions, and prescription refills, for each year or any given period.

Under this system, your family's individual record for prescriptions will be maintained so as to qualify you for Income Tax deduction purposes, insurance requirements, or for any purpose you may desire.

For instance —

If you were to lose, or misplace, your prescription and had no record of its original number through which you would customarily obtain a refill, it would be instantly available to you under your individual record at Wiltse's Community Pharmacy.

As another illustration of the benefits of Wiltse's "Safeguard Record System," your doctor may wish to review the medication that you have taken over a particular period of time. This information, too, is readily available to him from your personal file here at Wiltse's Community Pharmacy.

A copy of your complete prescription record will be available to you at any time during the year, and at the end of the year as well. And, of course, your record for each previous year will become a permanent part of your personal file.

There is no charge for this additional service . . . in fact, we automatically begin such a file for each of our prescription patrons.

Visit Wiltse's in Plymouth at your next opportunity. We're confident that you will enjoy the visit and will return again over the years.

Advice In An Eggshell

Have you ever wondered about the use of egg whites in frostings, whole eggs in homemade egg-nogs and soft cooked eggs in relation to salmonella, the disease that made headlines recently when it was found in chocolate candy.

Dr. Larry Dawson, a specialist from Michigan State University states that much has been written about salmonella in recent years and the federal authorities are diligently searching and finding sources and information about salmonella throughout the United States.

Salmonella may appear in many foods--meat, poultry, milk, fish and eggs but especially in prepared meats, meat pies, and custard filled bakery products.

However, salmonella has never been reported from the contents of clean, whole, sound, fresh eggs. In the few instances in which salmonella has been associated with eggs, the eggs were dirty or cracked.

Do not hesitate to use raw eggs in fresh mixed fruit drinks or similar products provided the eggs are Grade A or better, with clean sound shells. Do not serve mixed drinks that have been made over 24 hours in advance and prepared with eggs.

Remember that our state egg laws prohibit the sale of cracked eggs, therefore any eggs that are accidentally cracked in a carton may be replaced.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Battle of 48015 Five Mile enjoyed a short vacation recently in Nassau, Bahamas. They are shown here returning from Nassau's colorful native straw market with an unusual straw hat.

House Parties Greet Arrival Of New Year

The Plymouth community will join the rest of the nation this Sunday evening as the world bids farewell to 1967.

If the glasses that toast the new year hold spirits stronger than wine or beer they will be found in private clubs or at parties held in private homes.

Plymouth's restaurants will make the best of a Sunday New Year's Eve and plan merriment around paper hats, horns, and ice buckets filled with sparkling champagne until midnight.

Vinyl itself is a chemical compound derived from water, coal, air, and chlorine. Under heat and pressure, it can be given the texture and appearance of many natural fiber fabrics for use in apparel, upholstery and wall coverings.

Although this versatile plastic has been adapted for many products, vinyl dressmaking fabric is a recent development. Because of its water-shedding properties, it is particularly adaptable to rainwear.

cause it is rich in purpose. Mrs. John S. Wimsatt and Robert recently enjoyed a visit to the Ringling Museums while vacationing on Florida's lower west coast.

The museums feature a Museum of the Circus, the first ever to be dedicated to the history of the circus.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bournais' second party of the holiday season filled their home on Ann Arbor Trail with Plymouth friends.

Mrs. Bournais tells me that because her family is Greek, she prepared such delicacies as leg of lamb, stuffed grape leaves, Greek-style chicken and Greek cheese triangles. I wonder how you say "Yummy" in Greek.

Mrs. C. Gust Cummings spent an especially joyous Christmas as her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Raptier of Mt. Clemens and her sister Katherine gathered for the holidays in her home on Lexington.

They tell me that Dr. and Mrs. Robert Rosbold of 1441 Linden are avid skiers and will start the new year with a ski trip to Boyne Mountain. Daughters Jean, Judy and Jane will accompany their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spaniel and Mr. and Mrs. Price Watts will join the Rosbold family on the slopes.

Many holiday parties and friendly gatherings added sparkle to Plymouth's social season.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beyer were among those who opened their home and enjoyed the company of good friends last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas, newly settled in their home on Beck Road, plan a holiday gathering Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Darnell of 12900 Dunn Ct. will hold a New Year's Eve open house for family and friends.

Novel Fabric Adds Interest To Fashions

If you've shopped for clothes or fabrics recently, you may have wondered how those glossy vinyl prints are made.

They're really "upside-down" productions. The fabric is produced in layers with the bottom-most layer becoming the top or face of the finished fabric--like an upside-down cake.

The process begins with a casting paper that is coated with a film of clear vinyl. A pattern is then rolled over this coating, followed by an application of solid color, which shows through those areas not covered by the pattern. A two-toned pattern results.

Next comes a foaming substance that is applied to give suppleness to the fabric and to help bond it to a fabric backing. The backing, either knit or woven, is the last layer that builds up the finished product.

During the upside-down act, the material is reversed; the casting paper peeled; and the pattern, color, and finished fabric are revealed for the first time. The design appears to be imprisoned in a sheet of flexible glass.

PLYMOUTH DAR YULE TEA: Mrs. Harold Beatty, chairman of the National Cathedral Association for the Diocese of Michigan, chats with Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, guest of the club, and Mrs. S. C. Saunders of Plymouth. Mrs. Williams joined Mrs. Beatty in a presentation of slides and Christmas movies of the National Cathedral and grounds.

Specialty of the House Hot Rolls Make Dinner Complete

Mrs. Merrill Kaake

Mrs. Merrill Kaake, of 11314 Russell, has an easy recipe for dinner rolls that will complement your favorite casserole or add an extra special touch to that Sunday dinner.

The Kaakes have been Plymouth residents for one year. They hail from Detroit where Mr. Kaake is district instructor with IBM.

There are four little Kaakes, Beth, eight; Brigit, six; Belinda, four and Mike 20 months.

Mrs. Kaake enjoys sewing and is a member of the Plymouth AAUW Club.

The dough for this recipe will be very soft so don't become alarmed if it's mighty gooey--it's supposed to be.

TO MAKE BUTTER HORNS: Stir down dough that has risen. Divide dough into three parts. Roll each part on a well floured board into 10-inch circles. Brush with melted butter and if desired sprinkle with poppy seeds.

Cut each circle into 12 wedges. Roll each wedge, beginning with the large end and rolling to the point. Shape rolls into crescents and arrange on greased cookie sheets. Brush with melted butter. Cover with cloth and let rise until double (about one hour).

Bake in 400 degree oven 12-15 minutes. Makes three dozen.

YEAST ROLLS

- 1 pkg. active dry yeast
- 1/2 cup water
- 1 cup milk, scalded
- 2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 Tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 well-beaten egg
- 3 1/2 cups sifted flour

Soften yeast in warm water (110 degrees). Combine milk, sugar, salt and butter; cool to lukewarm. Add yeast and egg. Gradually beat in flour (by hand) to form soft dough. Beat as vigorously as possible, cover, let rise in warm place until double--about 1 1/2 hours.

TO MAKE BUTTERFLAKES: Stir down dough and roll to 1/4 inch thick rectangle on well-floured board. (Work with half the dough at a time.)

Brush with melted butter, cut into 2-inch strips. Stack strips 5 high and cut off in 2-inch pieces. Place cut side down into greased muffin pans. Cover with cloth and let rise until double (about one hour). Bake in 400 degree oven 15-20 minutes. Makes two dozen.

TO MAKE PARKERHOUSE: Stir down dough that has risen. Roll into small balls, on well-floured board. Place three balls in each greased muffin pan. Cover with cloth. Let rise until double in bulk (about one hour). Bake in 400 degree oven 15-20 minutes. Makes two dozen.

"a little child shall lead them"

How can a child learn to find his place in the world, and make it a better place to live? We would answer, by having the great treasures of the Bible opened up to him, and learning its lessons of love and spiritual power. That's what goes on every Sunday at the Christian Science Sunday School.

What's A Better Name For 'Exemplary Language Arts'?

By TIM RICHARD
Sunday Editor

If the kids had been asked, the first thing they would have done would have been to re-title the program.

The program is called "Exemplary Language Arts," and one of its purposes is to teach them how to write more vigorous and creative terms than the bureaucratic-sounding "Exemplary Language Arts."

The kids, in this case, are small groups of elementary, junior high and high school students in Clarenceville public schools. That's the district that perches on the southeast corner of Farmington Township, the northeast corner of Livonia and the northwest corner of Redford Township.

Clarenceville has carefully but boldly leaped into a federally-aided program operated by the Oakland County Intermediate School District. The idea is to try new methods in the teaching of reading and writing using specially trained teachers, smaller classes, extra equipment--and an experimental approach.

IT'S NOT LIKE they taught school in the old days. The kind of adequate but uninspired prose that students have traditionally produced in essays is out the window. What these kids write shows surprisingly mature techniques and a refreshing sensitivity to a reading audience.

The deal is typical of new U.S. programs: Federal money and local ideas. The federal government pays the teachers' salaries and finances such equipment as tape recorders, projectors and books; the county district provides the ideas and trains the teachers; Clarenceville and other participating Oakland districts release the teachers for training and provide the classroom space.

It's a two-year arrangement. Last school year, three Clarenceville teachers took their training. This year, they're working with classes.

Next Year? Maybe there will be more federal money; maybe not. The federal government wants to finance and start programs "that could not be done locally... only until the districts are able to incorporate them into their regular school budgets."

So much for the theory and the economics. Let's see what they're doing in the classroom.

MRS. MARTHA SAGE, 43, has raised five children and in 1963 got her B.A. at Wayne State University. She has been teaching in Clarenceville since then, and she is the district specialist in the elementary creative writing program.

Her classes are drawn from all four of Clarenceville's elementary schools. They're third to sixth graders, and each class meets twice a week for two hours.

"If a piece of writing is correct, but flat or stale," Mrs. Sage recently said in a report, "they'll not only be able to show you why but will offer several alternatives... The most beautiful handwriting in Clarenceville cannot compensate for a foggy notion."

Mrs. Sage recalls one youngster: "Everything (in her writing) was 'furry' or 'fuzzy' or 'pretty.' This is the way she was taught to think. She was getting all A's in school because she was checking the right boxes." In time, the boxes are splintered and discarded; the young writer tries to fascinate his audience.

"Audience," Mrs. Sage uses the word constantly. "Are you sure your reader is going to understand that?" They start with extremes--the effect of a breakfast food commercial on adults, the effect of a New York Times bank ad on children. Then they try to rewrite a story for an age group one year younger. Is this material right for the audience? How do you relate your subject to your audience's interests?

Across the district, only one to three children per classroom are directly exposed to Mrs. Sage. But part of the idea is that she'll be a consultant or resource person for other teachers. Teachers do get together a lot, after all.

THE JUNIOR High program is an extension of the elementary program. Both are called "Creative Writing."

Dennis Ringle, 27, has a total load of 94 seventh and eighth graders, or about one-sixth of all the students in those grades. A University of Detroit graduate, he has been teaching five years, the last two in Clarenceville.

He uses no textbook. His raw materials are what the students read and what they write.

Like Mrs. Sage, he stresses the principles of creative writing--invention, arrangement, style.

Students, the teachers find, will tend to write like encyclopedias when working on a report. Ringle pointed to the first version of a student's explanation on blood: "...in the fourth or fifth month of foetal life..." The wording was abstract: How many kids that age know what "foetal" means? How many will stay awake?

The student rewrote the piece: "When your mother was in her fourth or fifth month of pregnancy with you, your blood formation took place within your liver and spleen." Now he was writing for an audience.

The class lesson that day was on solid objects and the emotions they can convey. Ringle's class numbered only a dozen. There is easy give-and-take of ideas--more like a committee meeting than an exercise in academic discipline.

He deals with projected pictures (see photo) of abstract shapes, the objects they suggest, and the human emotions those objects conjure up. The moral of the tale is obvious: When these youngsters write a story, it won't just have faceless people performing surface acts; each scene is going to have a mood, and the mood will be conveyed by the spiders or the waves or the tall pines of the setting.

THE ROOM in the high school is attractive--carpeting, comfortable reading chairs, a softer color scheme than the usual institutional tones, paperback books.

The teacher is attractive, too, although that isn't why she was picked for the job. Sheryl Hosley, 23, has a great empathy with youngsters, an ability to draw them out.

As she explains her work, it seems that the eighth and ninth grades are critical years for a lot of students, because reading development begins to drop off.

"But this age group will pick up a paperback when they won't touch a hardcover," she says, and so there are 1,200 paperbacks on the shelves.

Her program is called "REAP"--an acronym for "Reading Extension And Progress."

Miss Hosley has a pupil load of 105, all ninth graders. They come in two days a week in small class sizes of 15. They have a free choice of what they read.

"At the beginning, some of them came in and just sat. But they found that a bit boring.

JUNIOR HIGH creative writing teacher Dennis Ringle uses an overhead projector, quickly accumulating a class-offered list of sparkling, active verbs to replace drab, inert ones.

'R.E.A.P.' -- which stands for "Reading Extension and Progress" -- is conducted with paperback books and an atmosphere more like a den at home than a formal library, as the program is conducted in Clarenceville High School. Teacher Sheryl Hosley (left) looks over the shoulder of Steve Aguitar as Virginia Ballen and Elyce Lentovich pore over novels. The informality of this photo is staged; but the students really could repose this way if they felt more comfortable.

NO ROWS OF DESKS but an informal circle characterizes the third grade creative writing class of Mrs. Martha Sage, whose pupils come from all Clarenceville elementary schools to

Ice Conditions Bad Locally

The ice on southern Michigan inland lakes is still rather thin for fishermen, the state Conservation Department office at Pontiac warns.

Some good perch catches have been reported further north on Lake St. Clair and on Saginaw and Wildcat bays, west of the state's "Thumb." Russian hooks are the recommended lure.

THE UPPER Peninsula ice fishing season for northern pike and walleyes is just getting under way, the Conservation Department reports.

Department officers told the Observer Newspapers they are urging "extreme caution" and not recommending going out on any lakes south of Standish.

Higgins Lake, popular with ice fishermen, still isn't frozen. Houghton Lake is safe for walking, but there are no autos on it yet.

ICE SPORTSMEN are being given this advice:

* The ice usually isn't safe until there have been several days of zero or near-zero weather.

* Lakes with currents or that are spring-fed will be last to freeze.

* The ice may vary in thickness from place to place on the same lake. Danger spots are where weeds come to the surface.

* Snowmobile drivers are advised to use "extreme caution," especially because they don't have time to check the ice ahead.

* Check the thickness of the ice before venturing out.

* If you do go out on the ice, mark your trail with evergreens so that you can find a safe path back.

Drug Firm Blasts Hart

PARKE, DAVIS & Co. has strongly denied charges by Senator Philip Hart (D-Mich) that the firm had failed to reduce the price of quinidine tablets following raw material price decline.

A company spokesman said the price of a bottle of 1,000 quinidine tablets had been reduced more than 50 per cent in the past year through a series of catalog price reductions and subsequent special offers.

"The net price was reduced from $62.40 to $53.04 in December 1966; another approximate 15 per cent drop to $45 in July 1967; and the product has been on special offer four out of the last five months, with the current offer equivalent to $30 per bottle of 1,000," the spokesman added.

Bentley, Farmington Fives Pass Tests

Bentley dumped Berkley, and the two Farmington quintets slipped past opponents in the opening round of the Christmas tournament, Wednesday.

Bentley's Bulldogs had no trouble with Berkley as center Ken Bollin scored 28 points to lead the way, 62-51.

North Farmington used balanced scoring to hold off Redford Union, 65-74, in a game at RU. In the other contest there Ypsilanti's big man, Craig Larsen put in a bucket at the buzzer to beat Southfield 65-63.

IN THE BENTLEY-BERKLEY game, the taller Bentley team dominated play as they worked the ball to Bollin for easy shots. Bollin and Walt Blacha dominated the backboards.

Berkley troubled the Bulldogs in the opening quarter and outscored them 18-11. But Bollin hit for 10 points in the big second quarter as Bentley scored 22 and went to the locker room with the game at 33-33.

Pressure defense and balanced scoring combined with a meager seven points from Berkley put the game out of reach in the third quarter. Bentley felt an extra pinch as Bentley scored three points on a technical foul.

Dan Doyle scored 13 for Bentley.

THE ON-AGAIN-OFF-again Stevenson five rocked Farmington with 24 points in the opening stanza and went on to add 13 in the second quarter to lead 30-37 at the half.

But whatever they had in the first half was gone in the second as the ice-cold Farmington team hammered away at Stevenson's lead.

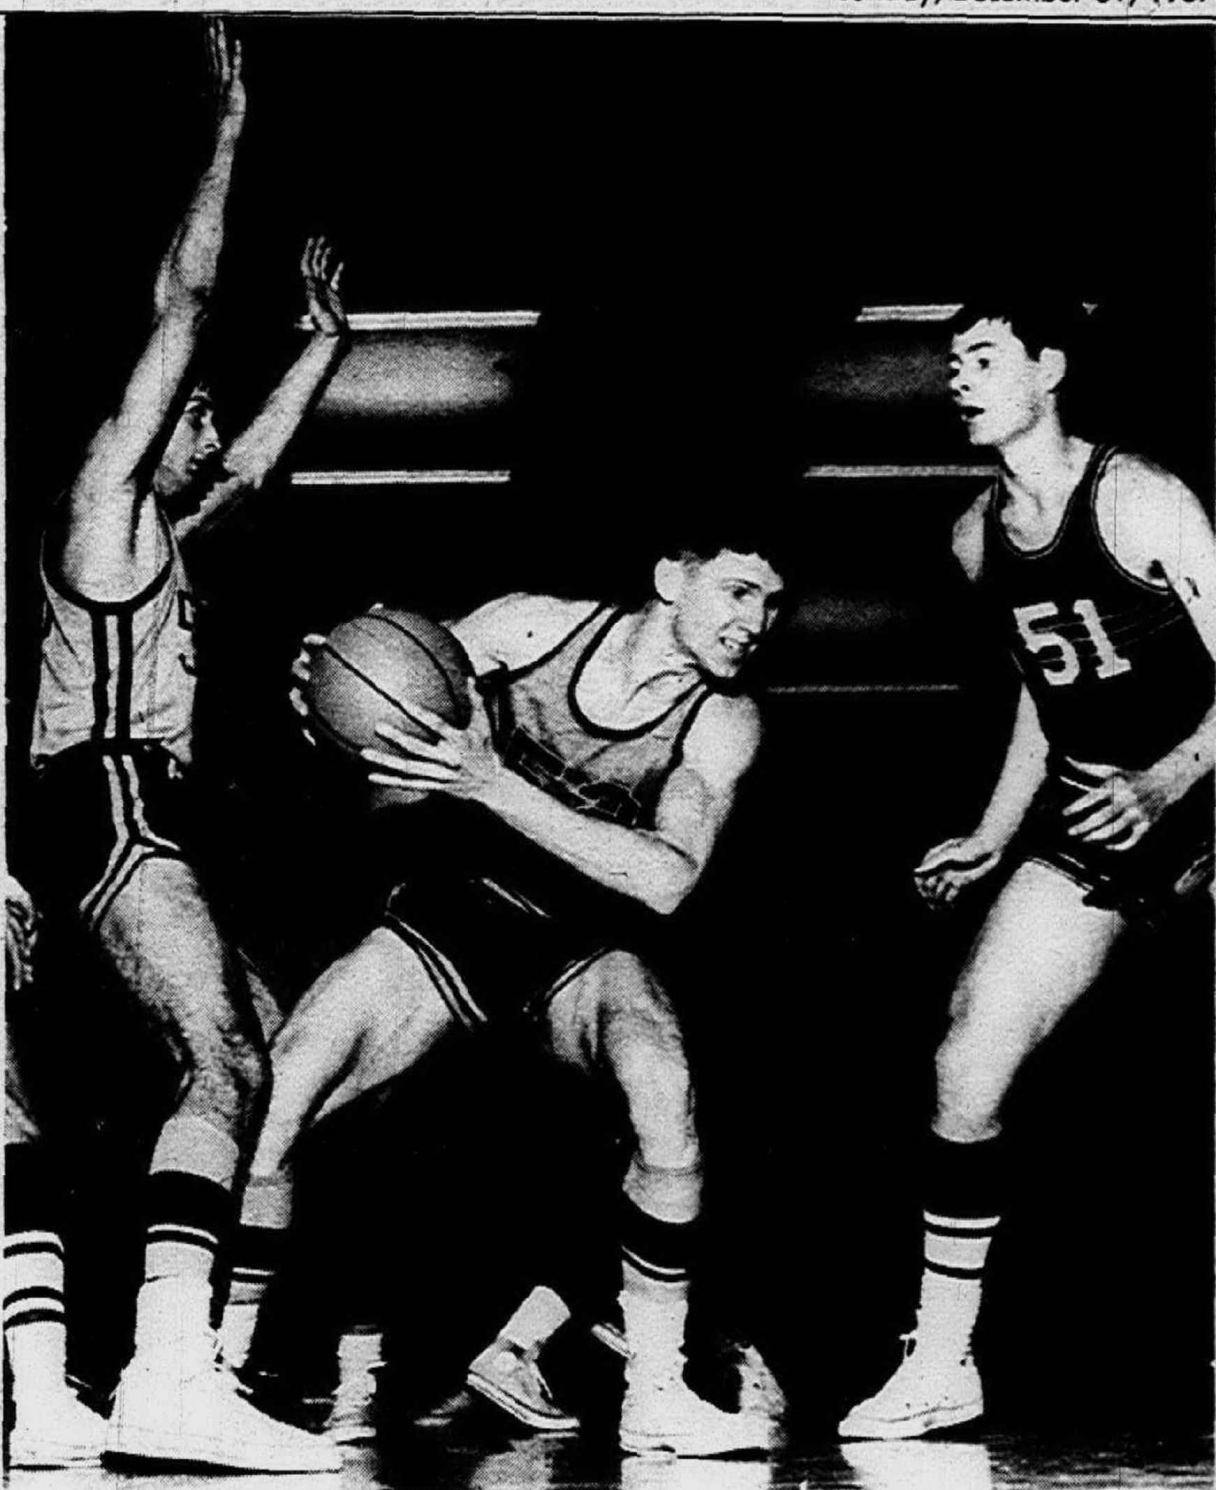

In the fourth quarter the Spartans turned cold and could only muster six points. A full court press forced them into several turnovers.

Farmington netted 19 points in the final quarter, including 9 free throws.

In the first half Stevenson could do no wrong as Farmington time after time tried to find the hoop. Jim Olsen hit for 11 of his 17 points in Stevenson's hot first quarter. Paul Tonnemacher scored 17. Game honors went to Mark Lynott of Farmington who had 18 points; Doug Hamilton added 18.

MIKE MCCOY hit for 24, Rick Knock for 19 and Ron Fluter for 18 as N. Farmington topped Redford Union. Redford's Dennis Fifield scored 26 and Dale Bjerke tossed in 22 in the first game at Redford.

Down 18-11 at the end of the first quarter, RU rallied to go ahead in the last of the second quarter. Opening the final quarter the score was 53-50 in N. Farmington's favor. RU was still down only five points with 40 seconds to go but a couple of quick buckets put the game out of reach.

WHO'S GUARDING WHO? Gregg Corrigan (51), of Plymouth, is ready to close in on Wayne's Bob Sample and then finds Steve Vince (50), of Wayne, also guarding his teammate. The Rocks wilted in the third quarter of the tourney game at John Glenn High and were eliminated 74-67 in the opening round.

Drought. Fatal To Plymouth In Cage Meet

It was one game and out for Plymouth and John Glenn, Observerland's only representatives, in the first annual holiday invitational cage tournament at John Glenn High.

A combination of a scoring drought in the third quarter and a hot streak by Wayne sent the Rocks to the sidelines, 74-67. Belleville had too much for host Glenn and rolled home with a 61-55.

For Wayne, it was the third victory in four starts and just the opposite for a Plymouth team which has height and experience but hasn't yet measured up to the full extent of its ability.

The Rocks battled even with Wayne in the opening frame and wound up with the short end of a 12-11 count.

IT WAS A DIFFERENT story in the second quarter when veterans Mike Stakias and Mike Kubik hit from the corner and sides to pace Plymouth to a 36-29 halftime lead.

The world had a comfortable look for the Rocks at that time but Wayne quickly dispelled that in the opening moments of the third stanza when Steve Vince, Dave Cwikla and Nick Marchywka hit for 10 points in less than three minutes to make the score 40-39. Plymouth couldn't buy a basket during the drought which eventually extended through the entire eight minutes and found the Rocks on the short end of a 53-40 count as the period ended. They were outscored, 24-9.

WAYNE WIDENED the margin to 60-49 in the early moments of the final quarter when the Rocks came to life again as Stakias and Kubik broke loose on a spree that netted 16 points and made the score 70-67 with a minute to go.

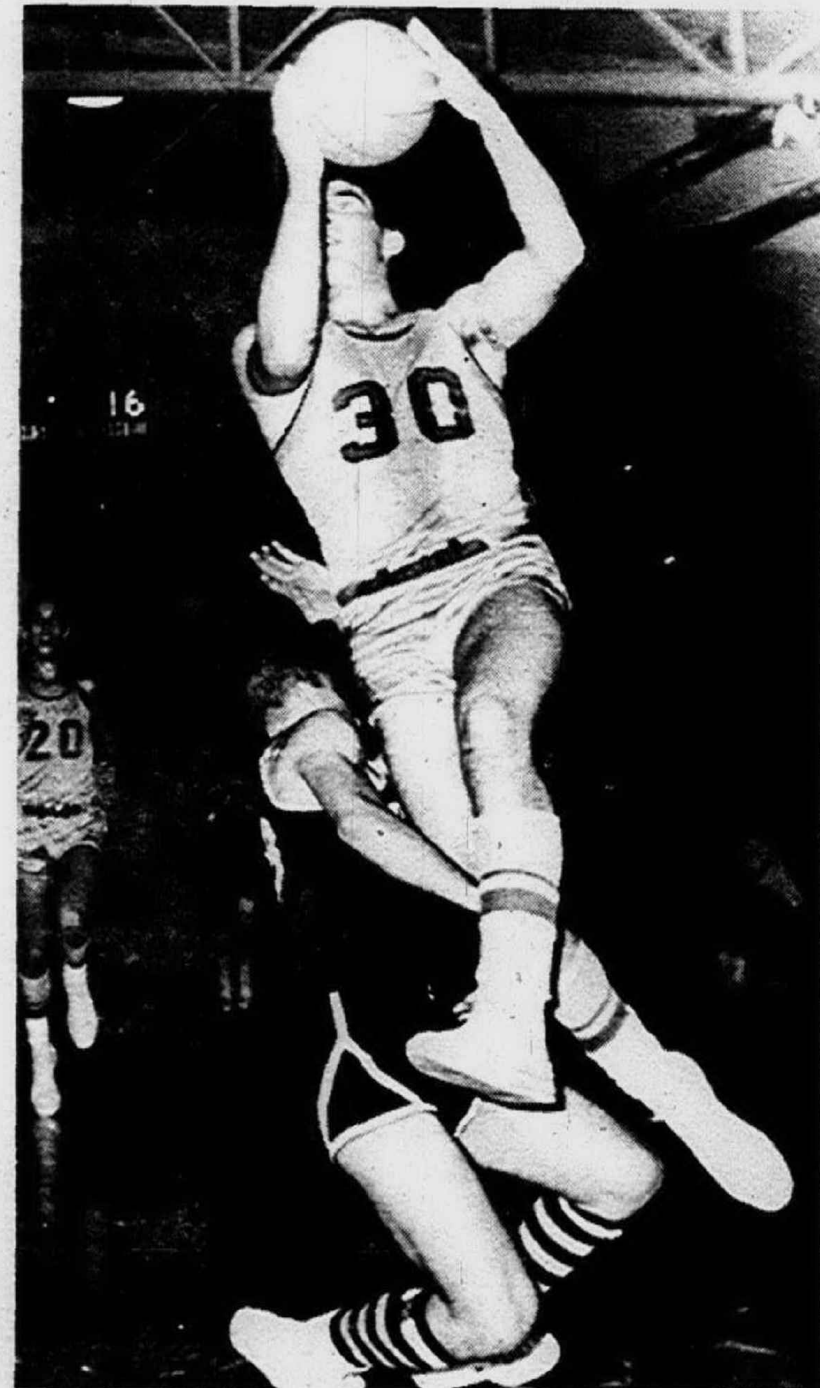

A pair of free throws by Bob Sample and a fielder by Vince at the final whistle gave Wayne the victory.

Ron Daniels was the big gunner for the victors with 22 points while Sample contributed 16, Marchywka 12 and Vince 10.

Stakias and Kubik did most of the big work for the Rocks, the former coming in with 23 and the latter with 16. Plymouth made only 13 of 28 free throws.

BATTLING FOR REBOUND are Dan Doyle (42), of Bentley, and Dick Robinson (33) and Steve Pykkonen (15) of Berkley, during a tense moment in the holiday tournament at Bentley High. The Livonians whipped Berkley, 62-51.

Wings Close '67 At Home

It'll be good-by 1967 with Saturday and Sunday action for the Detroit Red Wings.

On Saturday the Wings play at Pittsburgh, which formerly served as the No. 1 farm club of the Detroit team.

Then it's back home Sunday to take on the Boston Bruins at 7 p.m., thus affording fans plenty of chance to see the game before they head on to celebrate the arrival of 1968.

TIGER KILLERS Jim Lonborg of the Red Sox and Joe Horlen, a White Sox hurler, beat the Tigers three times in 1967 without losing a game to them.

MIAMI BEACH, FLA. — This is like another world, especially when the papers down here blare away with how cold it is up north.

There are moments on the Beach, too, when the chills get into you.

But, since this is just a temporary stop and by Tuesday night we'll be bundling up, hopeful that the ol' car will fire up without causing any aggravation, you can't help but look out over the ocean and think of back home!

Besides, a new year is on the horizon and you wonder what it holds, especially in the way of sports.

ONE DOUBTS that many will listen, but if we had our way, we'd like to see the following happen around home in '68:

1 — All of the communities in Observerland find themselves with new and better baseball diamonds. And lighted ones, too. There is a crying shortage of diamonds all around the area. It's particularly sad that youngsters can't locate a baseball field when they want one and that sponsors of Little League and other leagues literally have to fight to locate spots for games.

2 — The erection of two or three indoor arenas for ice skating and hockey. This is an item we have harped upon for a long time. We should feel that as long as private enterprise can't see fit to provide such facilities, our individual cities and communities should. Skating is something good and healthful for all of us.

3 — A revamping of some of our high school leagues. We still would like to see Bentley, Stevenson and Franklin playing in the same league . . . the same for Farmington and North Farmington . . . Thurston and Redford Union . . . Garden City East and Garden City West.

4 — A thought be given to making possible fall baseball for boys. The weather is much better than one usually finds it in the spring. In addition, the boys have been playing all summer and are in shape to carry right on for five or six weeks in the fall.

5 — More and more thought be given to adding soccer as a regular high school sport. Stevenson found great success in fielding its first team this past fall and it's to be expected that more schools in the area will follow suit.

6 — Greater emphasis be placed on girls sports on an interscholastic basis. The beautiful ones are being short-changed.

7 — Those who promote Little League activities, continue to work as hard as they have. One suggestion: Let the kids have fun. Encourage them to win. But don't make winning a MUST. All of us must learn to lose, too.

8 — We should like to see more adults take advantage of the various recreational facilities at their disposal. Recreation officials go all out to set up events for folks of all ages. The kids usually are right there to capitalize; the older people who can use a little physical exercise, for the most part are too lazy.
