Destruction Of Penniman Building Is Rated Plymouth's Most Stubborn Blaze In 50 Years

Although no lives were lost and the extent of the damage still is unknown, the fire that destroyed the Penniman Building that housed Bode's restaurant, Minerva's Dress Shop, the Draft Board and several other business firms Sunday afternoon, was the worst and most stubborn blaze in the city's history.

Started by a stray spark from a welding machine in the basement of the restaurant where work was being done on the refrigeration system Sunday morning, the blaze required the yeoman work of more than 100 firemen, toiling in sub-zero temperatures, and equipment from eight communities before it was brought under control shortly before midnight. Even after the stubbornness was subdued the blaze continued well into Monday afternoon.

Aside from the freezing temperatures, the work of the firemen was made more difficult because of the physical layout of the building. It had a series of false ceilings and the basement was cut up in a number of small rooms and hallways.

"WHEN WE answered the alarm shortly before 10 o'clock," Fire Chief George Schoenneman explained, "and couldn't locate the blaze I knew we were in trouble. It was then that I called for mutual aid."

Immediately after this call the firemen responded with equipment from Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville, and Northville Township. In late afternoon when the core of the blaze still could not be found another call went out and ladder equipment from Livonia and Ypsilanti Township responded, along with an additional pumper from Salem Township.

It was not until the ladder equipment and the snorkels arrived that much headway was made in the gallant fight to control the fire and save the old P&A theater on the one side and Fred Hadley's paint store on the other.

With the men working from the high ladders and pouring water in from the top the weight forced the false ceilings to give way and the resultant draft brought the flames into sight after the fire had been smoldering for almost six hours.

THROUGHOUT most of the long, cold afternoon, the City of Plymouth ladder truck was stationed in the rear of the building and poured thousands of gallons of water through the windows. It was this flooding that helped confine the fire in one building and keep it from spreading until the larger equipment reached the scene.

The grueling task finally took its toll late in the evening when Chief Schoenneman, who had been supervising the fight from the start, was sighted on the verge of collapse and was rushed to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor, along with four others. — Richard Hill, Roger Norris, Jim Jack and Coy Robertson.

They remained in the hospital for about four hours, but the Chief returned to the job and stuck to the finish, even though he has been suffering from bronchitis for more than a week.

"This is the most stubborn fire I ever have seen", he commented before the roof caved in, "and there seems to be no way to get at the flames. So, we'll just flood the buildings and drown it."

That was the plan of battle and it worked when the roof gave way, forcing a draft, and bringing the flames into the open.

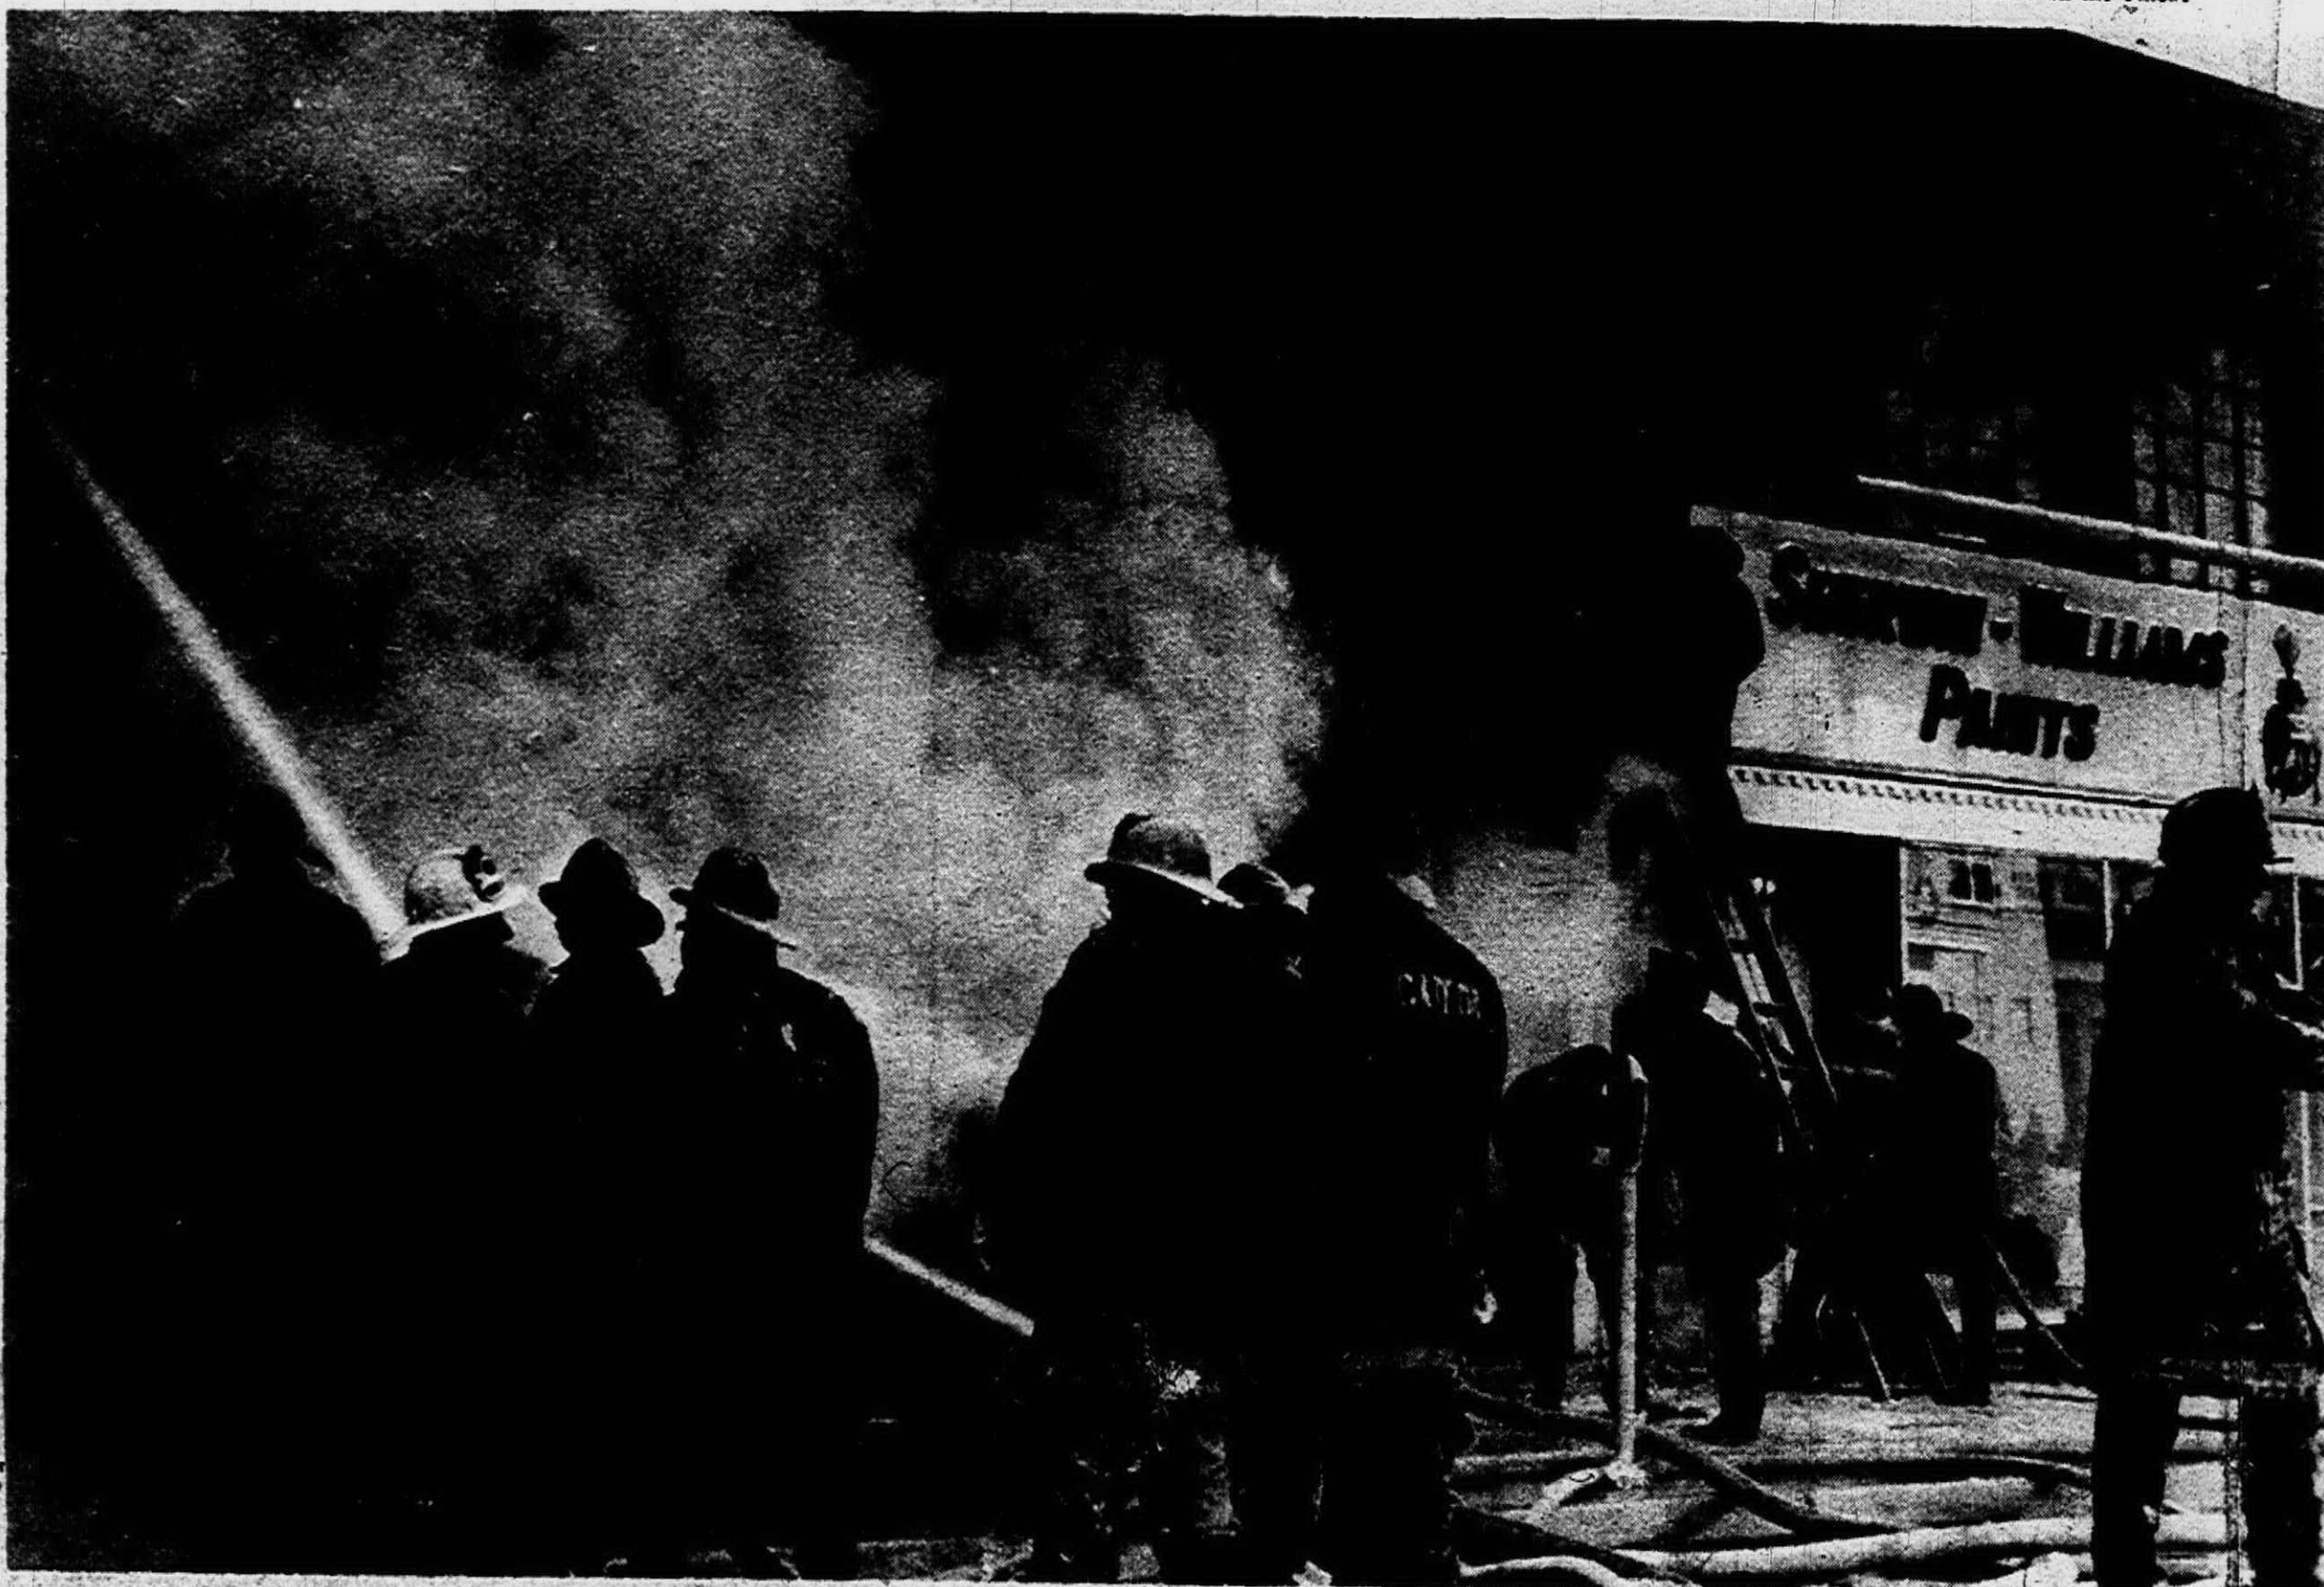

FOR A TIME it was feared that Jimmy Allen, the veteran rug cleaner who operates his business in the building, and Mrs. Eugene Narry, who serve as caretakers, were trapped in the building. Fortunately, they had made their exits shortly after the alarm sounded.

"I don't know just how much damage was done", Herbert Chaiken, owner of Minerva's Dress Shop, commented, "but I sure am glad that our Spring stock was just starting to arrive."

"We have been in business here since 1951", he pointed out while seeking shelter in the corner gas station, "and this is positively the worst I ever have seen. Nothing like this ever has happened to us."

Nothing was left of Bode's Restaurant, the barber shop was left in ruins and the records in the Western Union and the Draft Board were ruined. The Western Union immediately re-routed its service through Detroit and Ann Arbor, and the government stated more time would be needed to determine Continued On Page 4 A

HERE'S SCENE FROM EARLY STAGES OF FIRE THAT SET RECORD FOR STUBBORNNESS IN CITY

City Commission Gives Ground In Long Assessment Controversy

The Plymouth City Commission gave ground in its running battle with Dr. John Robison over the special assessment set up for the purchase of the Davis property that is to be used for a parking area.

Ever since the special assessment was voted and the assessment on Dr. Robison's property was fixed at $6,000 he has claimed that it was unfair and unjust in that some of his property was being used for residences.

"I am not opposed to the parking area project," he has told the Commission more than once, "but I do think that my rate is fixed too high for the benefits that I will receive."

HE HAD FAILED to attend the original public hearing on the ground that he had not received his official notice. Since this charge the Administration has changed its policy and now all such notices are sent by registered mail.

All the while, however, even though the special assessment had been approved, Dr. Robison or his son has appeared before the city fathers with the plea that it was unfair and asked for some sort of relief.

Meeting after meeting has been held, unofficially, with members of the city government and only two weeks ago Commissioner James Houk suggested that the assessment be levied over a 10 year loan instead of five. Even that did not meet approval.

The running battle came to a head Monday night when Commissioner Arch Vallier, picking up the cudgels for the doctor, asked just what could be done. He argued with both Richard Blodgett, City Manager, and Charles Lowe, City Attorney over some change that would make the assessment more in keeping with the use of the property.

WHEN BOTH city officials pointed out that nothing could be done, but to stretch the payments over a 10 year period and that would mean the setting up of a new assessment roll and another public hearing, Vallier threw up his hands and said, "Well, I guess that's it."

Dr. Robison, who was seated in the audience, agreed to the plan and a new roll will be set up and a hearing arranged.

It was argued that the businessmen were allowed to contribute a share of the purchase price of the Wiedman property and, perhaps, the same should have been done on Penniman Ave.

It was pointed out that the original survey of the Penniman Avenue property owners did not favor the contribution and favored the assessment.

And so, another round in the running battle has been fought. Meanwhile, the city has purchased the property and some means must be found to pay for it.

City Extends Thanks

Mayor James Jabara and the entire City Commission went on record Monday night with sincere thanks to the Salvation Army, American Legion, and all the business firms and townspeople who furnished food and coffee to the firemen during the Sunday fire.

The Salvation Army and American Legion set up coffee trucks, while all others were quartered in the gas station at Penniman and Harvey--and the Mayflower Hotel.

Joanne Hulce Given New Job

Joanne Hulce, secretary to the board of education, has been appointed as the board's representative to the Plymouth Area Planning Commission.

John Moehle, vice president to the board, has been named as the board's representative to the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

And, Robert Gilmore, trustee, has been named by the board as a personnel liaison between the board and the school administration.

Fires Uses 1,500,000 Gallons Of Water

It required 1,500,000 gallons of water to conquer the Penniman Avenue fire last Sunday.

That is the amount that was metered from the time the first stream was played on Bode's Restaurant until the fire was under control shortly before midnight.

"Our entire system worked just fine", Kenneth Vogras, head of the Plymouth DPW announced, "and we were building up the reservoir all the time."

He added that there was no great strain on the system, but possibly this was due to the fact that it was Sunday and the major industries, great users of water, were not in operation.

Not only were the city officials pleased with the water

Draft Call Still Stands

All individuals who were ordered to report for induction Jan. 10 by Local Draft Board 102 in Plymouth must report as previously ordered, officials for the draft board stated Monday.

Anyone who was ordered and fails to report will be eligible to be delinquent and subject to prosecution, they said.

The Draft Board officials also stated that individuals who will be reaching 18 years of age and, who, therefore, must register with the board, will be given instructions and information as soon as a new site for registration can be established.

Western Union Re-routes Calls

Because of the fire that gutted its office on Penniman Avenue last Sunday afternoon the Western Union has re-routed its service from Plymouth.

According to an announcement from W.A. Osbert, regional supervisor, the residents and business firms of Plymouth will be routed through Ann Arbor while those of Livonia will be channeled through Detroit.

The Ann Arbor phone number is 663-4221, and Detroit can be reached at 962-2211.

system, but the great work made possible by the ladder truck also came in for high praise.

"After watching it work today," Mayor James Jabara stated, "I think the money we used to buy that piece of equipment is one of the finest investments we ever have made."

Commissioners James McKeon and Arch Vallier, who

Schools Acquire Two New Sites In Unprecedented Agreement

In an effort to keep up with the rapidly expanding school population and the ever increasing need for more schools and classrooms, the Plymouth Community School Board has agreed to purchase a 20-acre school site and has taken an option to purchase another of 18 acres.

The 20 acre site will cost $50,000 while the option to purchase the other 18 acres will cost $500 and with the final cost amounting to $22,000, if it is bought.

The first site is located in Canton Township between Warren, Lilley, Sheldon and Ford Roads and is owned by the Quality Construction Company.

The 18-acre site is located on the north side of Maben Rd., west of Canton Center Rd. and east of Beck Rd.

THE PURCHASE agreement for the 20 acres is different from most contracts between a school board and an owner.

Instead of purchasing the 20 acre parcel from the company and then eventually building a school on that parcel, the company has agreed to offer the district a minimum of 10 acres close to where a subdivision is built.

The school district's property is located in the center of a 700 acre lot that will someday hold 3,000 homes. The developer may decide to build his first group of homes at the edge of the 700 acres, which would not be near the original school site.

Therefore, if this is the case, the company has agreed to offer the school district a 10-acre parcel near the first subdivision if 200 homes or more have been built or are planned.

THIS WOULD eliminate the possible situation that would force the school district to construct an access road for students in the new subdivision. Instead of having the students come to the school the school will move closer to where the students will be living.

However, the school district does have the additional option to refuse to accept the proffered 10 acres and keep their original 20 acres intact.

Possibly, however, the school district may have two schools on two 10-acre sites located in different places in the 700 acre plot in the event it does accept alternate sites offered to it by the company.

John W. Moehle, school board trustee, expressed the hope that this type of purchase agreement may set a precedent and enable the district to be somewhat flexible with growing population and subdivision development.

The 18-acre future school site will cost the school district $22,000, if it picks up the option after it has made soil tests and has determined if it is the kind of site that can support a large school building.

Group Begins Study Of Vocational Center

A citizens advisory committee appointed by district school officials to assist in a feasibility study for an area vocational school started work on its assignment in an organizational meeting at Schoolcraft College.

Thirty-two members of the committee, representing educational, industrial and commercial, and general community interests in Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City and Northville, attended. Committee members had been appointed by school superintendents of the Clarenceville, Livonia, Garden City, Plymouth and Northville public school districts, which comprise the Schoolcraft College district.

THE CITIZENS GROUP is one of two committees organized to investigate the possibility of an area vocational center. The other being an executive, or steering, committee. Elected as co-chairmen, were Carvel M. Bentley, principal of Plymouth High, and Russell Millar, school board member from Garden City.

The committee's assignment is to obtain and review data on the need and feasibility of an area vocational center. As the study progresses, the group will also formulate recommendations, based on data collected, to the executive committee.

To tackle the assignment, members elected three subcommittee chairmen and staffed up each of the subcommittees.

IN THIS PHASE of the organization:

Dr. Donald E. Friedrichs, director of secondary education for the Livonia schools, was elected chairman of the subcommittee on population and enrollment. Serving with him will be Fred Turner, from the Clarenceville district; Stanley Glamb, Garden City; and Glenn E. Delbert and James Hayward, both of Northville.

James R. Laatsch, manager of the industrial relations department at the Ford Transmission Plant, Livonia, was elected chairman of the subcommittee on occupational demands.

Serving with him will be Elbert Hartom and Leo Hasley of the Clarenceville district; John Parry, Raymond Kenyon, Dr. Richard Mallow and Richard Lechel of Garden City; Mrs. Phyllis Patterson of Livonia; Carl Stephens and John Hyde of Northville; and Joe West, Clarence Moore, Dr. Gary Hall and Jerry Greer, of the Plymouth district.

ARLIE G. FAIRMAN, coordinator of vocational education for the Livonia schools, was elected chairman of the subcommittee on existing programs. Serving with him will be Norman Hunt and Norman Frid of the Clarenceville district; Gerald Gould and John Thompson of Garden City; George Clark, Dr. Werner Grunheid and Fred Holdsworth of Northville; and John W. Moehle and Keith Baughman of the Plymouth district.

The occupational demands subcommittee set its first meeting for 7 p.m., Jan. 11, and the existing programs subcommittee called its first meeting for noon, Jan. 12.

In addition, parent committee co-chairmen Bentley and Millar called a meeting for Feb. 29 at which time subcommittees will submit progress reports. The feasibility study executive committee will also be asked to attend the Feb. 29 meeting for a report on its activities.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE is comprised of the superintendents of the five school districts: Benton Yates, Livonia; Raymond Spear, Northville; Donald Shader, Garden City; James Rossman, Plymouth; and David McDowell, Clarenceville; two members of the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees: Harold Fischer, chairman; and Mrs. Jane K. Moehle, vice-chairman and four members of the Schoolcraft College administrative staff.

They are Dr. Eric J. Bradner, president of the college; John H. Brinn, vice-president for instruction; W. Kenneth Lindner, vice-president for business affairs; and Jon P. Adams, dean of technical-vocational instruction.

Bentley and Millar also serve on the executive committee. In addition to organizing for the feasibility study, citizens committee members heard remarks from Dean Adams, who presided at the meeting; Joseph A. Borgen, assistant to Adams; Robert Pangman, Michigan Dept. of Education vocational education consultant, and Brinn.

Pangman reviewed recent manpower and occupation studies made in Michigan, and stressed the patterns of operation "in organizing area vocational centers as set forth in the state education department's position paper on AVC development in the state.

Dean Adams reviewed state and federal legislation which provides assistance to communities in establishing area vocational centers. Borgen who developed the feasibility study outline, explained the functions and relationships of each of the major committees and the subcommittees.

THE STUDY PLAN has been approved by the Schoolcraft College board of trustees, and boards of education as well as the superintendents from each of the five school districts in the area.

In a brief comment, Fischer, speaking for the college, said Schoolcraft's interest in the study was to serve the community by assisting in finding the best way to accomplish the task of providing vocational education for all segments of the population.

Public Hearing Thursday On New M-14 Route

The State Highway Commission will hold a public hearing Thursday, Jan. 11, on the proposed construction of the final 12-mile section of a second freeway (M-14) between Detroit and Ann Arbor.

The hearing will be at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth High School auditorium, 650 Church, Plymouth.

Purpose of the hearing is to explain the proposed project and to record testimony concerning its economic effects. Transcripts will be forwarded to the Highway Commission and the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads for consideration before final decisions are made.

The hearing will be conducted by Robert Adams, the Highway Commission's director of public hearings.

THE PROPOSED M-14 FREEway would link Detroit's Jeffries Freeway (I-96) and the existing M-14 Freeway near Dixboro, passing through Plymouth, Salem and Superior townships in Wayne and Washtenaw counties.

Based on present construction and right-of-way costs, it is estimated that the project will cost $32 million.

A recently published engineering report, approved by Henrik E. Stafseth, acting state highway director, recommends that the freeway start at the interchange of I-96 and I-275 near Schoolcraft and Haggerty roads.

It would skirt the north edge of Plymouth and continue west to Ridge Rd., just north of Territorial Rd.

At that point it would swing southwesterly, cutting through a corner of Salem Township and then paralleling Plymouth-Ann Arbor roads to existing M-14 Freeway just west of Plymouth-Ann Arbor roads.

THE ENGINEERING report recommends the construction of interchanges at Sheldon, Beck and Gotfredson roads and at the point where the freeway merges with existing M-14 Freeway. An interchange at I-96 and I-275 would allow traffic on the proposed freeway to interchange with the other freeways, but it would not be able to enter or leave the freeway at that point.

Grade separations are recommended at Schoolcraft Rd. relocated, Robinwood Dr., Northville Rd., Edward Hines Dr., Ridge Rd., Territorial Rd., Napier Rd., Joy Rd., Curtis Rd., and at two Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks north and northwest of Plymouth.

The proposed freeway would be built at grade level west of Ridge Rd. It would go under Beck Rd., over the western C&O tracks, over Sheldon Rd., under the eastern C&O tracks, over Edward Hines Dr. It would be depressed along Schoolcraft Rd. to minimize freeway noises in the area.

THE FREEWAY would be six lanes between the I-96 - I-275 interchange and Beck Rd., and four lanes the remainder of the route.

Right-of-way would be a minimum of 220 feet in the Plymouth area and up to 418 feet in rural areas.

Daily traffic volumes on the proposed freeway are expected to eventually average from 44,000 vehicles at the west end to nearly 60,000 near Plymouth. Stafseth said the Route Location Division studied three alignments between Haggerty and Ridge roads and two alignments between Ridge Rd. and the Ann Arbor area. The alternate alignment west of Ridge Rd. was between N. Territorial and Five Mile roads and would have ended at the N. Territorial Rd. interchange on the US-23 Freeway north of Ann Arbor.

THE FORD MOTOR Co. plant, the Consumer Power Co. natural gas reservoir and St. John's Provincial Seminary, north of Plymouth, were major considerations in selection of the recommended alignment in the Plymouth area.

Stafseth said the alternate alignment through Plymouth Township would have cost an estimated $9 million more than the recommended alignment.

Preliminary studies indicate approximately 143 parcels of land would be acquired in Wayne County and 45 parcels in Washtenaw County.

The Wayne County right-of-way, costing an estimated $4 million, includes 72 residential properties, 46 vacant lots, 14 farms, and 16 industrial, commercial and miscellaneous properties.

The Washtenaw County right-of-way includes 23 farms and 12 residential properties, costing an estimated $764,000.

The Highway Commission's construction timetable calls for bids on the freeway to be taken in the summer and fall of 1971 so that it would be completed soon after the Jeffries Freeway is built. The Jeffries is scheduled for completion by the end of 1972.

Romney Firing Overruled By Supreme Court

THE STATE SUPREME COURT has overruled Gov. Romney's firing of Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald as State Adjutant General. THE MICHIGAN chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, accusing Selective Service Director Lewis Hershey of "playing God" with draft reclassifications, has filed suit in federal court to prevent local draft boards from reclassifying men who protest the Vietnam war and the draft system.

TOP MICHIGAN NATIONAL GUARD official Col. Leo C. Whitaker, chief of staff of the Guard's 46th Infantry, says he believes the state is in for even worse rioting than it saw last summer in Detroit. He added that if the Guard had been called out earlier last July, the disorders would not have reached the proportions they did.

THE BODIES OF TWO MEN who died in the crash of a private plane near Black River in Sanilac County were found by a search party Friday. The two, who had been missing since Wednesday, were identified as Leslie Parker and Larry Bullock, both of Yale.

Charge 4 Evaded Taxes

Four Observerland businessmen were among eight in the Detroit area charged with evading Michigan taxes on cigarettes.

The four are: William E. Maskeny, operator of the Maskeny Vending Co., 25270 Westfield, Redford Township; his son, Gerald P. Maskeny, 6074 S. Norbourne; Robert Vandermeulen, 6037 Belton, Garden City; and Azezeh Aneed, 8650 Shari Dr., Garden City, a party-store owner in Plymouth.

The men face payment of $245,586 in taxes and penalties. They were charged with conspiracy and other counts of tax evasion before Judge Anthony Nacita in Taylor Township.

JESSE B. EGGLESTON, chief of the out-county office of the Wayne County prosecutor, issued the warrants for the arrests and said that in the information against the men, one item involved more than 18 million cigarettes not accounted for.

The other men arrested and charged are: Donald Maskeny, 23855 Van Bourne, Taylor Township, head of the Van Bourne Wholesale Distributors, a large tobacco wholesaler; Showki Salah, a supermarket operator of Madison Heights; Norman Koss, 5353 Russell, Detroit; and William Spino, 23855 Van Bourne.

According to Eggleston, the cigarettes were brought into Michigan to the wholesaler and distributed through the vending company and stores, bypassing accounting procedures and avoiding payment of state tax.

The tax is approximately 70 cents on each carton of cigarettes.

THE INVESTIGATION, which took more than six months, was led by State Deputy Commissioner of Revenue Sydney Goodman, with the cooperation of state revenue agents, State Police and the FBI.

The eight were released on bond and are scheduled to appear Jan. 15 before Judge Nacita.

Marie McGee Joins Staff In Redford

A new face has been added to The Redford Observer news staff, Mrs. Marie McGee, of Livonia, joins Editor Dennis Pajot in covering news events and producing feature articles for Observer readers.

Marie joins The Redford Observer after two years as editor of commercial employee publications and 10 years previous experience as editor of the weekly Wyandotte News-Herald.

Most recently she was assistant publications editor for a major insurance company and just prior was publications editor for a large western Michigan grocery firm.

All the while she has been raising a family of five children, now aged 2 to 13, with her husband, William M. McGee. He is a supervisor of Sales Engineering.

An avid golfer in her leisure time, Marie brings a professional inclination for human Livonia Postmaster Arthur G. Jenkins reminded mailers that new higher postage rates became effective Monday including the 6-cent-an-ounce charge for first-class letters.

Other rates effective he noted, are: 10 cents an ounce for air mail, 5 cents each for postal cards, and 8 cents each for air postal cards.

"When you consider that six cents will carry a first-class letter addressed to any one of 200 million persons in 50 states, as well as letters addressed to any of 63 million persons in Mexico and Canada," he added, "this still remains one of the biggest bargains on earth."

THE 20 PER CENT raise in first-class letter rates, effective today, is a smaller percentage raise than that imposed on other types of mail.

He pointed out that there has been a 24 per cent raise in the rates for mailing newspapers and magazines and a 34 per cent hike in the charges for advertising circulars, "occupant" mail and other bulk third-class mail items.

The new rate provisions also establish important rate changes for heavier first-class mail pieces, Jenkins explained.

If the first-class mail piece weighs more than 13 ounces, it will go automatically by the fastest transportation available -- meaning air service usually.

Heavier first-class pieces, above 13 ounces, will be merged with air parcel post under a single rate schedule," he said, "and all air mail above 7 ounces will be subject to the air parcel post rate schedule."

THE POSTMASTER assured local residents plenty of one-cent stamps are on hand for use with any existing stocks of 5-cent stamps they may have on hand.

There are also adequate supplies of 6-cent stamps to meet the new first-class letter rate available at the post office, he said.

The higher rates become effective today also for other categories of mail used primarily by large-volume mailers. These include bulk third-class advertising mail rates, special rates for books, films and records.

The post office is working closely with commercial mailers to provide them with every possible assistance in complying with the technical provisions of these rate changes, Mr. Jenkins noted.

Student Rolls Show Gain

Student enrollment in the Plymouth Community School District, for the last quarter of 1967, showed a slight increase over the final total of the previous quarter.

Total elementary enrollment up to Dec. 22, 1967, was 4,846 students. The secondary school level enrollment for the same period was 3,604.

The number of students in the elementary schools was increased by 110 from Oct. 29, 1967 when the enrollment reached 4,736 while on the secondary level there was a loss of 25 students. In October there were 3,630 secondary students.

All told, there was a total gain of 84 enrollments in the combined levels. The total of the two in October was 8,366, and at the end of December it was 8,450.

Fire Called Worst In 50 Years

how to remedy the loss of the draft records.

ONE OF THE redeeming features of the fire was the manner in which the various organizations and townspeople responded with food and coffee for the firemen.

Shortly after the alarm sounded the Salvation Army reported on Penniman Avenue with a coffee truck. A bit later the American Legion set up coffee service in the parking lot in the rear of the building. Over the dinner hour the Mayflower Hotel sent a supply of sandwiches and additional coffee, while many of the townspeople brought coffee and food in all manner of containers.

The food and coffee service was set up in the gas station at the corner of Penniman and Harvey and various townspeople and businessmen took turns in serving the gallant fighters. To many of the oldtimers who gathered in the crowd through the day, the fire was the worst since the high school burned a half century ago. Other serious fires, and all of them happened during freezing weather, were the blazes that destroyed the frame building that is now the site of Gould's Cleaners and another home several doors away a few days later.

"But for stubbornness, this is the worst we ever have had", was the comment of more than one of the older residents who braved the weather to watch Sunday's fire.

Lawyer Raps 'For Sale' Sign On Dr. Clark Clinic

A Detroit attorney this week branded the appearance of a "for sale" sign on the Farmington Township medical clinic occupied by Dr. Ronald E. Clark as "completely unauthorized." He immediately demanded its removal.

The attorney, Abel J. Selburn, who represents the estate of the property's deceased owner, Mrs. Hannah Bowerbank, expressed amazement when informed that on the front of the building at 30735 Grand River there appeared over the weekend a sign which reads:

"For Sale. Write: Dr. R.E. Clark."

The administrator of the estate, William E. Winsper, of Marshall, Mich., who is Mrs. Bowerbank's brother, confirmed that he had not authorized the for sale sign either.

Dr. Clark occupied the clinic, which is labeled the "Farmington Medical Group," until his arrest Nov. 16 on a charge of manslaughter resulting from the Nov. 3 death of a part-time nurse. The prosecution contends the death of Mrs. Grace Neff, 43, of Livonia, was from an overdose of sodium pentothal administered by Dr. Clark.

The physician currently is free under $15,000 bond.

At one time, Mrs. Bowerbank also worked for Dr. Clark. She died at her Detroit residence last March 30, and her death is one of several being investigated by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson. Her attending physician was Dr. Clark, but the death went unreported for three months.

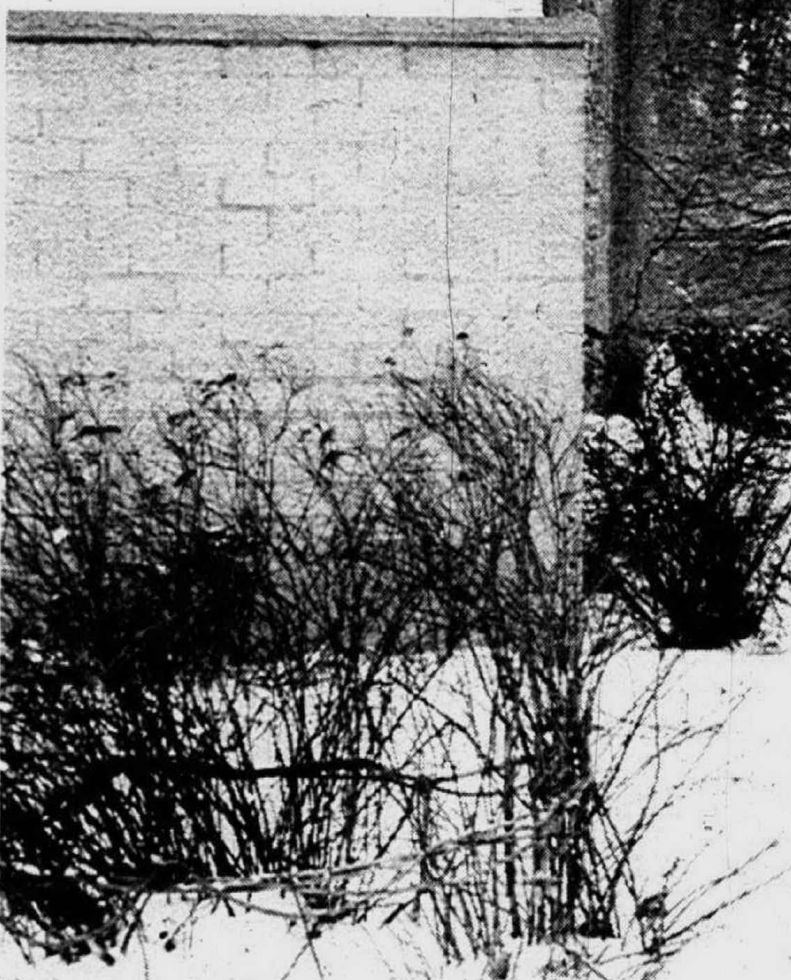

In 1957, Mrs. Bowerbank and Dr. Clark bought the Grand River property jointly. The Bowerbank woman then bought out Dr. Clark's interest in 1962, but the physician continued to occupy the building.

According to Selburn, the Wayne County Probate Court has appointed two appraisers to determine the value of the property and the building. Not until they submit a report as to its market value will the parcel be put up for sale, and then it will be with a registered real estate broker, he said. Meanwhile, Selburn has written Dr. Clark and his wife, demanding they cease any unauthorized steps to dispose of the property.

Moelke Stands On Record Of Six Years As Mayor

By MAYOR HARVEY W. MOELKE

Standing on the record of accomplishment during my administration, I am announcing my candidacy for re-election

THINKING MEN, ARISE!

DON KEETH

The "thinking men" are really puffing up a storm. Mouths filled with a smoking man's taste, they are happily inhaling away, tickled to death that somebody reminded them that they are thinking men and should smoke a certain brand of cigarette. Good. They are happy. So is the cigarette maker.

My appeal is to thinking men and women, whether they smoke or not. (And if you are a non-thinking slob, you are still welcome to sit in on the rest of this column. I don't get very deep.) Did you ever stop to think how much air conditioning costs? Did you ever weigh the benefits against the cost?

Compared to many other ways you can spend a buck, your air conditioning dollar really does a job for you. Besides keeping you cool, here is what central air conditioning does for you: Reduces humidity indoors (ends mildew, stickiness and soggy potato chips).

Cuts housecleaning time (indoor air is filtered constantly; doors and windows are kept closed).

Improves dispositions (you don't have this trouble at your house, but some people get grouchy in a hot, sticky house).

Often hayfever sufferers (many report air conditioning gives relief from some allergies.) You sleep better (unless you have something on your conscience).

Entertain and dress as you wish (why let the weather dictate your social life?)

Your home is more quiet (if you lock the kids out. And with doors and windows closed street noises are shut out; you can do some high powered thinking undisturbed!)

So, thinking man, next time you are thinking why not ponder on this central air conditioning? If you have a couple of heavy smokers in your family, you can get Lennox central air conditioning for cigarette money. incidentally, we sell it.

as mayor of the City of Livonia. Your local city government has achieved great progress through team effort.

I have appointed many competent Livonia citizens to represent the interests of all of us in the important growth years of our community. It has been said that I have been able to attract competent people into city government.

These people are accepting their official responsibilities because they believe in the same philosophy that I do.

I HAVE WORKED FOR and encouraged industrial development and my administration established the Industrial Development Department and the industrial coordinator's position. As a result of this decision, our community has experienced more industrial development than any other community in the Metropolitan Detroit area.

The City Planning Commission, which is appointed by the mayor, has worked diligently with the Industrial Development Commission and other city departments to assure Livonia being a balanced community. We have achieved a 51 per cent industrial and commercial tax base, an increase of 13 per cent during my term of office.

We have encouraged quality residential growth. The average new homes in our community are double the value of the average homes that were built prior to my administration. This has resulted in every home owner's property in Livonia being more valuable.

Our community is a very desirable community in which to live. We have developed one of the metropolitan area's most active recreational departments. Our city has purchased 20 times more park land than we had before. We are building more recreational facilities than any other community, which include two indoor artificial ice rinks, three swimming pools, baseball diamonds, football fields, an 18 hole municipal golf course, tennis courts and playground equipment in neighborhood parks.

Our administration has recognized our responsibility to the youth of this community. We instituted the nation's first youth employment service operated by a municipality.

Our senior citizens have not been forgotten. On Jan. 23 we will be taking bids on senior citizens housing at the Livonia Mall, we have opened two new drop-in centers and will be letting bids soon on a new senior citizens center at Henry Ford Field.

EVEN THOUGH CITY government and school districts are autonomous governmental jurisdictions, we have been able to achieve a close working relationship with both the Livonia and Clarenceville school districts.

We were one of the first communities to institute joint purchasing with the schools and the city resulting in the saving of thousands of tax dollars to both the school district and your city government.

Livonia, under my administration, has installed more storm drainage facilities, sanitary sewers and water lines than any other community in the county. We also have the distinction of having more miles of major road improvement in Livonia than any other city in the metropolitan area during my term of office.

My administration has worked closely with the Livonia Chamber of Commerce, the League of Women Voters, the Livonia Junior Football League and other civic minded community groups who are working for the betterment of our community. We have accomplished all of this with the lowest city tax rate in the Detroit area.

Our school district has had the responsibility of educating the youngsters who come from our rapidly residential developing area. We have controlled our residential growth. Six years ago, when I was first elected to office, Livonia was the second fastest growing community in the state. Today we are no longer listed by the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission as a rapidly growing community. Our policy is to grow slowly and well.

MY ADMINISTRATION HAS required that land developers assume their rightful responsibility in providing the necessary utilities and local park areas in their subdivisions. Livonia is one of the few communities in the metropolitan areas that has controlled apartment development. The communities around us are built up with thousands of rental units while Livonia has remained substantially a single family home-owner occupied community.

Our commercial development has kept pace with our industrial development and we have required adequate off-street parking for these business places. I would be the first to agree that we have a great deal more to do. However, I believe that the record of my administration greatly indicates that the policies which I have advocated will result in a well balanced, financially sound city.

MY ADMINISTRATION HAS provided the leadership which has been good for Livonia. I have served two terms as president of the Michigan Conference of Mayors, I am presently a member of the Board of Trustees of the Michigan Municipal League, vice chairman of TALUS, I am serving on the governor's statewide committee to investigate local government problems and I have served six years on the Wayne County Roads and Bridges Committee. I believe that the record of my administration warrants the continued support of the citizens of Livonia.

I ran for office six years ago after serving as president of the Livonia Federation of the Civic Associations, president of my own civic association and as an officer on the school board advisory committee because I felt that the potential of this community could be utilized to bring about a city that was planned for the interests of the people of the community rather than the interests of the land developers and builders. I hope that the majority of people in our city will examine the record of accomplishments of my administration and honor me with the opportunity to continue to serve them.

WHAT! IRONING IN A GAS CLOTHES DRYER?

Wait a minute! We don't mean you should literally iron your clothes inside a dryer. We mean you won't have to iron them at all. When you dry today's new durable press fabrics in a Gas clothes dryer, you can forget once-and-for-all about ironing them. With the even heat, gentle tumbling action and special "no-iron" cycle of a Gas dryer, durable press clothes bounce back to their original shape without wrinkles and with creases razor sharp. Save yourself a lot of work—let a new Gas clothes dryer do your ironing!

Mrs. Dumas: Livonia Needs More Balance

By MARY DUMAS

Livonia is a growing city, one of the largest in Michigan, and I believe it has a great future ahead. But like all rapidly growing communities it faces many problems, most, if not all of them caused by its rapid increase in population. These problems require new and constructive solutions and they require immediate attention and careful planning. In this planning we must make a projection of our future needs, while at the same time allowing for the immediate needs of Livonia's present citizens.

Too often, long-run benefits have been sacrificed to the ends of immediate expediency. We must learn that a second cure is sometimes more expensive than a long-slow cure the first time around (witness Plymouth Rd.).

We must consider how we would like to see our city in 20 years, but in doing so we must not place such straining tax burdens on many who have spent their lives in Livonia and consider it their home, that we force them out of their community.

It is the duty of each citizen to concern himself with the future of this city and it is for this reason that I have decided to run for the council.

IT IS NO GREAT surprise to my friends and supporters that I have decided to file for public office, as I have been actively engaged in politics for many years. This is, however, my first venture into the non-partisan arena. I do so because I believe we need a greater political balance than we have on the present council, so that the views of all of Livonia's citizens and taxpayers will be represented.

FINALLY, LIVONIA needs a councilman who is willing to place the community and the taxpayer's interests ahead of self interest. It needs a councilman willing to spend the time necessary to study the many matters concerning our city.

Most of our present councilmen have full time jobs and are the primary bread winners for their families, and the council business is their secondary interest. I not only have the time, but I am willing to devote the time it takes to serve as councilman to a city of the size and importance of Livonia.

Initial Prayer Breakfast Set

A Farmington version of the Community Leadership Prayer Breakfast held annually in Washington, D.C., since 1952 has been scheduled for Jan. 15 to help further the cause of a national spiritual awakening.

George E. Gullen, Jr., Wayne State University vice-president for university relations and president of the national council of YMCA's, will deliver the principal address.

THE BREAKFAST is being sponsored by the Farmington Jaycees whose announcement of the event calls it "an effort to bring to our community an opportunity to discuss and discover collectively the foundation stones of our nation's life."

Dr. John H. Richardson is general chairman, and he has announced the following program for the 7:30 a.m. gathering in the Himmelsbach restaurant:

Opening prayer by Mayor Wilbur V. Brotherton of Farmington, welcome by vice-president John Bailey of the Jaycees, Old Testament reading by President F.J. Orsini of Quakertown, New Testament reading by Township Trustee Earl C. Oppertbauer and a closing prayer by President William E. Brown of Woodcreek Farms following Gullen's address.

Music will be provided by the Falconaires of Farmington High School under the direction of William Feucht.

ALTHOUGH this will be the first such event of its type in Farmington, similar breakfasts have become annual fixtures in many American cities since given impetus by leadership groups in Congress 16 years ago.

Dr. Richardson said invitations have been sent to business, political, governmental and educational leaders of the area, as well as presidents of various subdivision groups and service clubs, plus members of the clergy.

"The breakfast will provide a vehicle of expression for our leaders regarding their concern for a renewed morality, new emphasis on 'our nation under God,' the need to bring God into every facet of our personal and collective life, and the need for laymen to assume a personal responsibility for their community's spiritual life as well as its economic, political, educational and social life," said Dr. Richardson.

In Gullen, the group attending the breakfast will hear an executive, who long has been active in area and national civic affairs. He joined the administrative staff at Wayne State University in 1966 after serving as vice-president for industrial relations of American Motors Corp.

OFF FOR SKI SLOPES: One of the major week-end attractions for the in-school youth this year is the ski trips planned and sponsored by the Plymouth Community School District. The first outing last week at Pine Knob drew four bus loads. Here is shown the first group waiting for the transportation to get under way.

City Plans Authority On Parking

Over the stubborn protests of Commissioner Arch Vallier, the City Commission, by a vote of 4 to 1, voted Monday night to discharge the parking committee that has been serving for the past several years and replace it with what Mayor James Jabara called a "Blue Ribbon" committee.

The switch came about when a resolution to name a special committee was introduced.

"We have a parking committee," Vallier charged, "and I see no sense in appointing a new one—unless the present group hasn't been doing the job."

MAYOR JABARA pointed out that conditions had changed over the past several years and parking was now one of the city's most important problems.

Commissioner McKeon echoed these sentiments and claimed that the City Commission was too busy with other things to take the time for the all important task of solving the parking problem. He even suggested that it may be possible to name outsiders to the new parking authority.

"I still insist that we have a parking committee," Vallier bellowed, "it has to be proven to me that the job isn't being done."

"Perhaps, we didn't charge the old group with the work that was to be done," Commissioner Bob Smith commented, "and the fault is now our own."

VALLIER SHOT back again and wanted to know if the resolution was, in effect, discharging the old committee. He was answered in the affirmative and the motion was put to a vote.

Vallier lost 4 to 1, and there will be a new parking committee—blue ribbon, to be sure.

Mayor Jabara announced that he would have the new committee named by the time of the next meeting.

The members of the old committee who were summarily discharged include: Robert Reid, Richard Anderson, James Taylor, Herman Halprin, Ralph Lorenz, Herman Bachaus, Robert Barbour, Robert Beyer, Police Chief Robert Corrington and Eugene Davidson.

Thieves Steal Copper Parts

A construction shed located on Canton Center Rd. north of Joy Rd. was broken into Jan. 5 and approximately $500 worth of copper fittings and two gas train assemblies were stolen.

Bill C. Sargo, plumber, reported the theft to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and told them he had no idea who could have committed the crime.

Fatigue, Cold Show In Faces Of Firemen Fighting Blaze

The fire was finally drowned from hoses connected to aerial ladder trucks in the front and back of the building. One man directed the spray from atop the ladder while another stood guard at the foot of the extension.

Nearly 1,500,000 gallons of water were pumped by equipment from eight communities, that had been summoned by Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman. The blaze was drowned by the huge volume of water.

Two lone fighters stood watch on a nearby roof and directed water into the burning building. The temperature was below freezing most of the time and there was a fierce wind that kept the men extra cold and wet.

On Monday morning, following the all-night ordeal, the task of standing guard in case of a possible flare-up was cold, tiring and lonely. Spectators had long since departed and the job was left to a handful of nearly exhausted men.

The Salvation Army was quick to assist the beleaguered firefighters by supplying them with hot coffee and words of encouragement. The fire was too stubborn to allow any of the men to take more than a few minutes rest.

After most of the danger of the fire spreading to nearby structures had passed, it still smoldered deep inside the basement. Plymouth firemen remained on the job for more than 24 hours to make sure nothing else burned.

During the most critical portion of the inferno, the men worked feverishly and hectically trying to conquer it. Every vantage point was sought in efforts to end the holocaust as quickly as possible.

Smoke proved to be the worst enemy of the firefighters in the early stages. For hours the entire central business district of Plymouth was blanketed with the thick, impenetrable black clouds.

7 Towns Help Plymouth Fight Downtown Fire

By W. W. EDGAR

More than 100 firemen and equipment from eight communities were needed to successfully fight the most stubborn fire in the history of the City of Plymouth last Sunday afternoon.

The fire, originating in the basement of Bode's Restaurant on Penniman Ave. where repairs were being made to a refrigeration system, for a time threatened the entire business block in the downtown area. But the assistance that came in response to a call from Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman for mutual aid helped confine it to one building. Aside from the restaurant the building also housed a barber shop, Minerva's Dress Shop, the office of the Western Union and the Plymouth Draft Board.

THE FIRE was discovered shortly after 1 p.m. on Sunday afternoon and wasn't brought under control until shortly before midnight. It was still smoldering late Monday afternoon.

"When we answered the call," Chief Schoenneman explained, "we couldn't see any flames, and I knew we were in trouble. That's when I put in a call for mutual aid... and it sure helped."

Early in the afternoon the pumpers from Plymouth Township, Canton Township, City of Northville and Northville Township arrived to aid the city pumper and the ladder truck. Later in the day, when the fire still proved puzzling because no flames could be located, another call was sounded. This time the hook and ladder from Ypsilanti Township and Livonia, plus another pumper from Salem Township, arrived.

It wasn't until the big Livonia and Ypsilanti ladder equipment and snorkel were put into service that much headway was made. The City of Plymouth ladder truck was used in the rear of the building through the long, cold afternoon to prevent the fire from spreading to the P&A Theater on one side and Fred Hadley's Paint Store on the other.

ADDED TO THE sub-zero weather, the firemen were handicapped by the physical layout of the building. It had a series of false ceilings, and the basement was a series of small rooms and hallways much like a honeycomb.

Chief Schoenneman explained early in the day that his only method to fight such a fire would be to flood the building and thus attempt to drown it.

This is where the Livonia and Ypsilanti equipment came to the fore. With the men high on the ladders directing streams of water on the roof, it finally caved in, caused a draft, and flames showed after the fire had been smoldering for more than six hours.

The firemen were forced to do yeoman service under the hazy conditions and four of them, including Chief Schoenneman, collapsed and were rushed to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. None of them remained hospitalized more than four hours. By early Monday they were back on the job.

SUNDAY'S FIRE was the latest in a series of costly and stubborn fires that have marked Plymouth's history during the past half century. And, ironically, almost all of these history-making blazes came in below freezing temperatures.

Some of the older residents of the city recalled that the high school fire more than 50 years ago, when there was no such thing as mutual aid, was the worst, but that it wasn't as stubborn as Sunday's blaze. Others recalled the fire that damaged the old Daisy Air Rifle plant a dozen years ago, while still others related that the apartment fire across Main Street from Plymouth City Hall, and the frame home several blocks away a short time later, also were ranked with the worst. In these cases, the fire worked its way into the walls and the firemen had a difficult time.

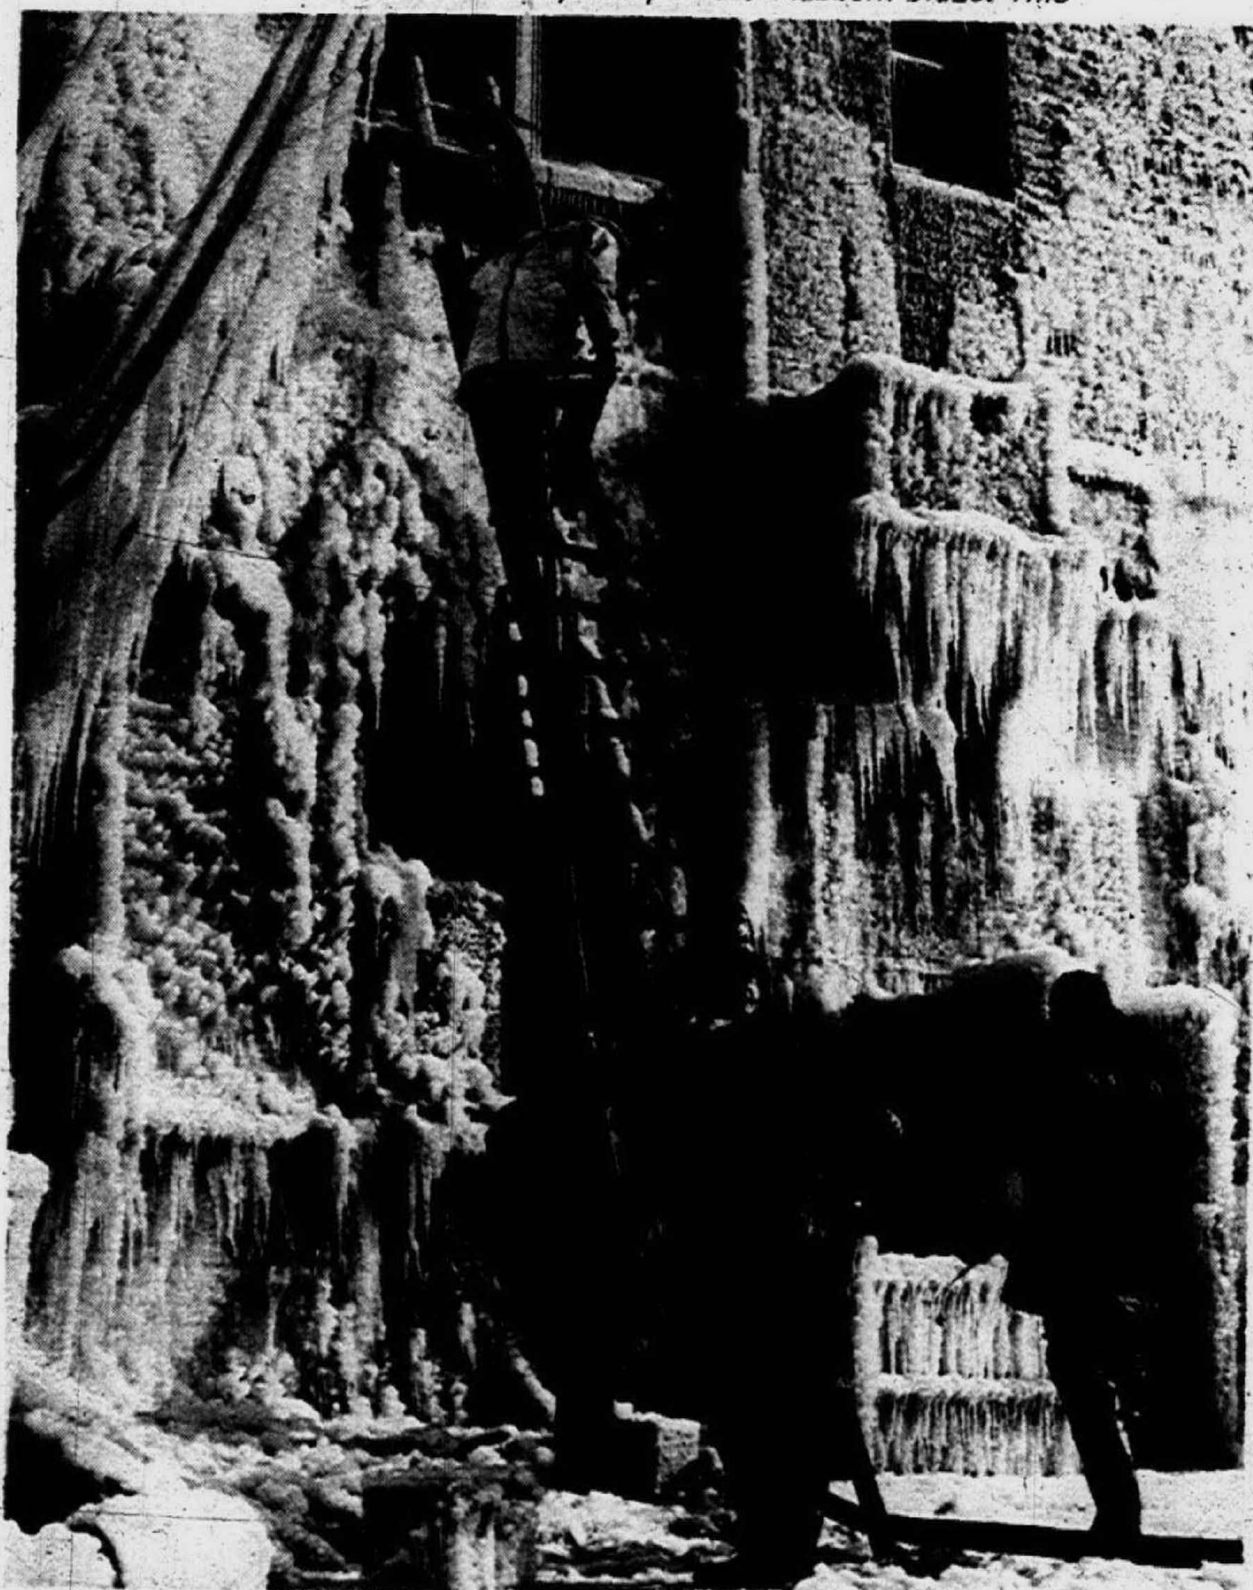

All agreed, however, that Sunday's fire was the most stubborn. Somehow, a spark from the welding machine, used to help repair the refrigeration in Bode's, got away and landed in the basement. There

The Penniman Building burned for hours before firemen were able to confine it and finally conquer the stubborn blaze. This is the front of the building.

The welding torch in the foreground is believed to be the culprit that sparked the blaze into action Sunday afternoon. It is ironical that the cause of the fire remains unharmed while the building was completely destroyed.

The building was still smoldering nearly 14 hours after the fire broke out. Firemen diligently remained on guard early the following Monday morning.

The blaze proved extremely difficult to pin down because there were no flames when the firefighters arrived on the scene. They had to do the best they could from the outside of the building because of the thick smoke.

Plymouth Fire Chief George Schoenneman.

it caused the fire, but it was a smoldering fire that seemed all smoke and no blaze.

WITHIN AN HOUR the entire downtown business section in Plymouth was enveloped in smoke, and there were reports that the central business district would be erased by the flames.

Due to the hard work of the firemen, however, the fire was contained in one building. But it smoldered on and on for six hours, and the clouds filled with thick black smoke and the white smoke of steam.

Then, along toward evening, when the pressure of the water caused the roof to cave in, the flames showed and firemen had the target for which they had been waiting.

"Our only hope", the combined chiefs pointed out, "was to get at the flames, but they didn't show. There was only one alternative—flood the building, drown the flames or cause the roof to cave in and force a draft. That's what happened when the mutual aid trucks from Ypsilanti Township and Livonia got to work."

Once the flames showed, the fire was under control in a few hours.

Fortunately, no lives were lost and the amount of damage has not been determined although it is expected to reach more than $300,000.

However, one thing is certain: The damage would have been a great deal greater without aid.

Smoke was the watchword during the beginning of the fight to quell the burning building's fire. Thick clouds hung in the air and spread throughout the central downtown business district making it impossible for persons to drive their cars on nearby, but open, streets.

When the firefighters first arrived early Sunday afternoon, they were unable to locate the spot where the fire was burning the fiercest. The building was filled with smoke making entry next to impossible plus the added problem of no flames being visible because of the lack of oxygen which would stimulate the blaze.

The Snowmobile: A Fun Machine Without A Place

The snowmobile is making enemies almost faster than it's winning friends.

The snowmobile is a small tractor with runners that chugs across the snow, carrying one or two persons with the greatest of ease.

Its problem is that it's neither fish nor fowl nor mammal nor anything. It doesn't have a clear-cut place in urban—or even rural—society.

THE OTHER DAY, the Wayne County Road Commission banned snowmobiles from Hines Park. "Good," said a Plymouth mother immediately. She told of the fright her kids had sledding down a hill one Sunday with snowmobiles buzzing around them.

The snowmobile is clearly out of place in a park.

Police say they shouldn't be driven on the roads. Auto and truck drivers can't see the little snowmobiles and could run them over. Besides, the snowmobile is too slow for vehicular traffic.

The snowmobile is clearly out of place on the streets.

A Conservation Department officer recently told us of a couple of people riding a snowmobile on the ice of a northern lake. The lake, it seems, wasn't entirely frozen over and—kerplunk! One survived, one drowned. The Conservation men point out that the little tractors go so fast that the driver can't tell if he's on thin ice until he's gone through it.

The snowmobile is clearly out of place on the lakes, at least until the ice is much, much thicker.

A week ago, we were doing a little leisurely hunting with the dog in the Island Lake State Recreation Area a few miles west of these parts. Hunting? phooey! The snowmobiles were mowing down more game than the hunters. Leisure? nuts! You had to get out of the path of the snowmobiles. Enjoy nature? hah! Not with the racket the snowmobiles were making.

The snowmobile is clearly out of place in the woods.

THIS IS NOT to say that the snowmobile is totally useless and completely harmful. Last winter, when ice coated the roads under a couple of feet of snow, many physicians called by snowmobile on patients who might otherwise have been stranded.

And it's possible to see how a farmer or the caretaker of a large piece of agricultural or commercial property could make use of a snowmobile.

People riding snowmobiles seem to be having fun, and we're all in favor of fun. We'd like to add, however, that they seem to be the kinds of persons who are opposed to exercise, who get the heebie-jeebies when they can't hear the roar of an engine or smell gasoline, who in the summer buy 35-hp outboard motors so their 12-year-olds can gun across a 10-acre lake in 45 seconds flat.

But however nervous snowmobilers may be, this is still a free country, and it would be nice if snowmobile enthusiasts could have their place under the sun.

One possibility is to allot portions of some golf courses to snowmobilers. This must be handled delicately, however, to avoid harm to kids on sleds and toboggans. Golf courses, incidentally, could even make some off-season revenue by charging snowmobilers.

Perhaps the Legislature ought to give us a better definition of what the snowmobile is, comparatively speaking; where it ought to be driven; by how old a person... and so on.

Right now, the snowmobile doesn't have a clear-cut place in society.

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenshell

Crazylegs Kelley proposes that all cops get a 25 per cent raise and that the state pick up 80 per cent of the extra cash outlay for the cities.

He is Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, an eminently sincere gent whose moves recall the legend of a former U. of Wisconsin and Los Angeles Rams end.

Crazylegs Hirsch zagged when the defense figured him for a zig and thus came his fame.

Kelley—like others before him—is asking for subpoena powers for his office, the better to tackle crime and criminals. A sort of instant one-man grand jury.

Now a 25 per cent raise for all policemen?

YEARS AGO there was a small rhubarb about local cops wearing uniforms almost identical to those of the Michigan State Police. Because of Car 99 and a general excellence achieved through hard work and honor, everybody wanted to look like them.

Small example: Look at Livonia's policemen outside their "Courtesy is Our Motto" cars. They look like State Police troopers.

Years ago, the State Police noticed the trend among local departments and they were proud. So they tried gimmicks, like sun helmets in the summer and fur hats in winter. A quick run to a surplus store and everybody looked like a State Police trooper.

So Charley Pegg, Chief of Police at East Lansing, dressed his troops in brown with epaulets and whistle strings and all the rest. Then they looked like off-the-rack deputy sheriffs.

They were beautiful. Everybody looked like a colonel in the Mexican army.

This, then, is a call for higher police standards.

There was a few years ago the testimony in court of a deputy sheriff who said he drove 120 miles an hour to an accident scene because "I just wanted to open 'er up."

THERE IS the classic story about the cop who ran into a bank being held up who retreated at full tilt out the front door because, "Hey, this guy has got a gun."

The Michigan State Police has a training course you wouldn't believe. Survive and you get a chance at a six-month probationary period. You prove yourself once, then twice.

It's an honor to be a State Police trooper. The salary is important but not conclusive. By the time he's finished with training, a State Trooper wants to be that more than anything else.

Let us expand the Michigan State Police training program and let no man carry a gun or drive a police car with its siren and lights until he's ready.

There is something seriously out of balance with our political system: Money.

It takes a lot of money to get elected. But the ways politicians go about getting it are simply not discussed, and the legal requirements they face for reporting how much they get are a farce.

The result is suspicion. The John Q. Citizen asked by some candidate to contribute to his campaign feels he can afford perhaps $10. But he knows full well that some fat cat or even a large corporation can contribute a lot more and in such a way, perhaps, as to have a big influence over the candidate if he is elected.

"So why should I bother," thinks John Q., thereby shutting off his $10. So the politician concludes the American people are apathetic and he continues trying to hit up the fat cats instead of trying to broaden the base of financial participation in his campaign.

THE FACTS ON: the national level are well known. The Citizens' Research Foundation estimates that total U.S. campaign costs in 1964 were $200 million. Ronald Reagan and Nelson Rockefeller probably spent more than $5 million each to win the governorship of their respective states.

A rich guy in Pennsylvania, Milton Shapp, spent $4 million winning the Democratic primary for governor in 1966. He lost. Bobby Kennedy spent anywhere from $1.2 million to $20 million on the Senate election in New York. He won.

It doesn't seem to make all that much difference. Win or lose, the bill is high and it's getting higher.

No one seems to know what this year's Presidential election will cost. It's a good guess, however, that both parties will spend somewhere over $15 million to get their guy in. And that won't include a lot of unreported expenses.

IN MICHIGAN, the problem is just as severe.

Time was that you could put on a pretty fair state-wide campaign for $250,000. At least that's what the money raisers were talking about as a goal in the late 1950's and early 1960's.

But G. Mennen Williams is estimated to have spent somewhere around $400,000 in his unsuccessful bid for a Senate seat in 1966, and the winner, Robert Griffin, is said by insiders to have coughed up something like $600,000.

One of the big problems with Zolton Ferency's campaign against George Romney was money. Television shows previously scheduled had to be canceled at the last minute because money didn't come in. Ferency couldn't get around the state by (expensive) planes; so he did it in a sort of big camper on wheels.

Freshmen Democratic Congressmen who had astonished incumbent Republicans in 1964 by outspending them found themselves outspent in 1966. Four out of five were defeated.

LOCALLY, THE ISSUE is the same.

Sources close to former 19th District Congressman Billie S. Farnum estimate their man spent around $30,000 in his unsuccessful attempt to defend his seat against Jack McDonald. McDonald is estimated to have spent much more.

But both sides say they can't tell accurately because the laws governing reports of campaign expenses are so lax and so badly enforced.

Even city elections are mighty pricey.

Take Livonia, the fifth largest city in Michigan. City Council President Peter Ventura, who should know since he's a candidate against Mayor Harvey Moelke, says he guesses a campaign for mayor should cost around $8,000 at the low end. A council seat in Livonia probably costs from $2,000 to $3,000.

Moelke agrees with these estimates, adding that the big problem is getting a broad base of contributors.

ALL THIS IS one heck of a lot of money.

The practical consequences are two. First, it means that only rich men (or men with rich friends) can afford to run for office. This seems to destroy the American contention that this is the land of the politically free, where any man can be president. (Just so long as he is rich.)

Second, it means that candidates are put in a position where they have to pay a lot of attention to listening to the views of those who forked over the big green. I can imagine the secretary in Congressman McDonald's office saying, "You should speak to this man, Congressman. After all, he's a big contributor."

Politics is more important than money and fat cats. It's the way the big decisions are made, and if we're going to have some sort of democracy we can't let it be botched up by money matters alone.

WHICH BRINGS US to a consideration of the main problem: There are laws governing how much people can spend on their campaigns and how these sums should be publicly reported. They are hopelessly out of date. They are ignored. They are full of loop holes. They are useless.

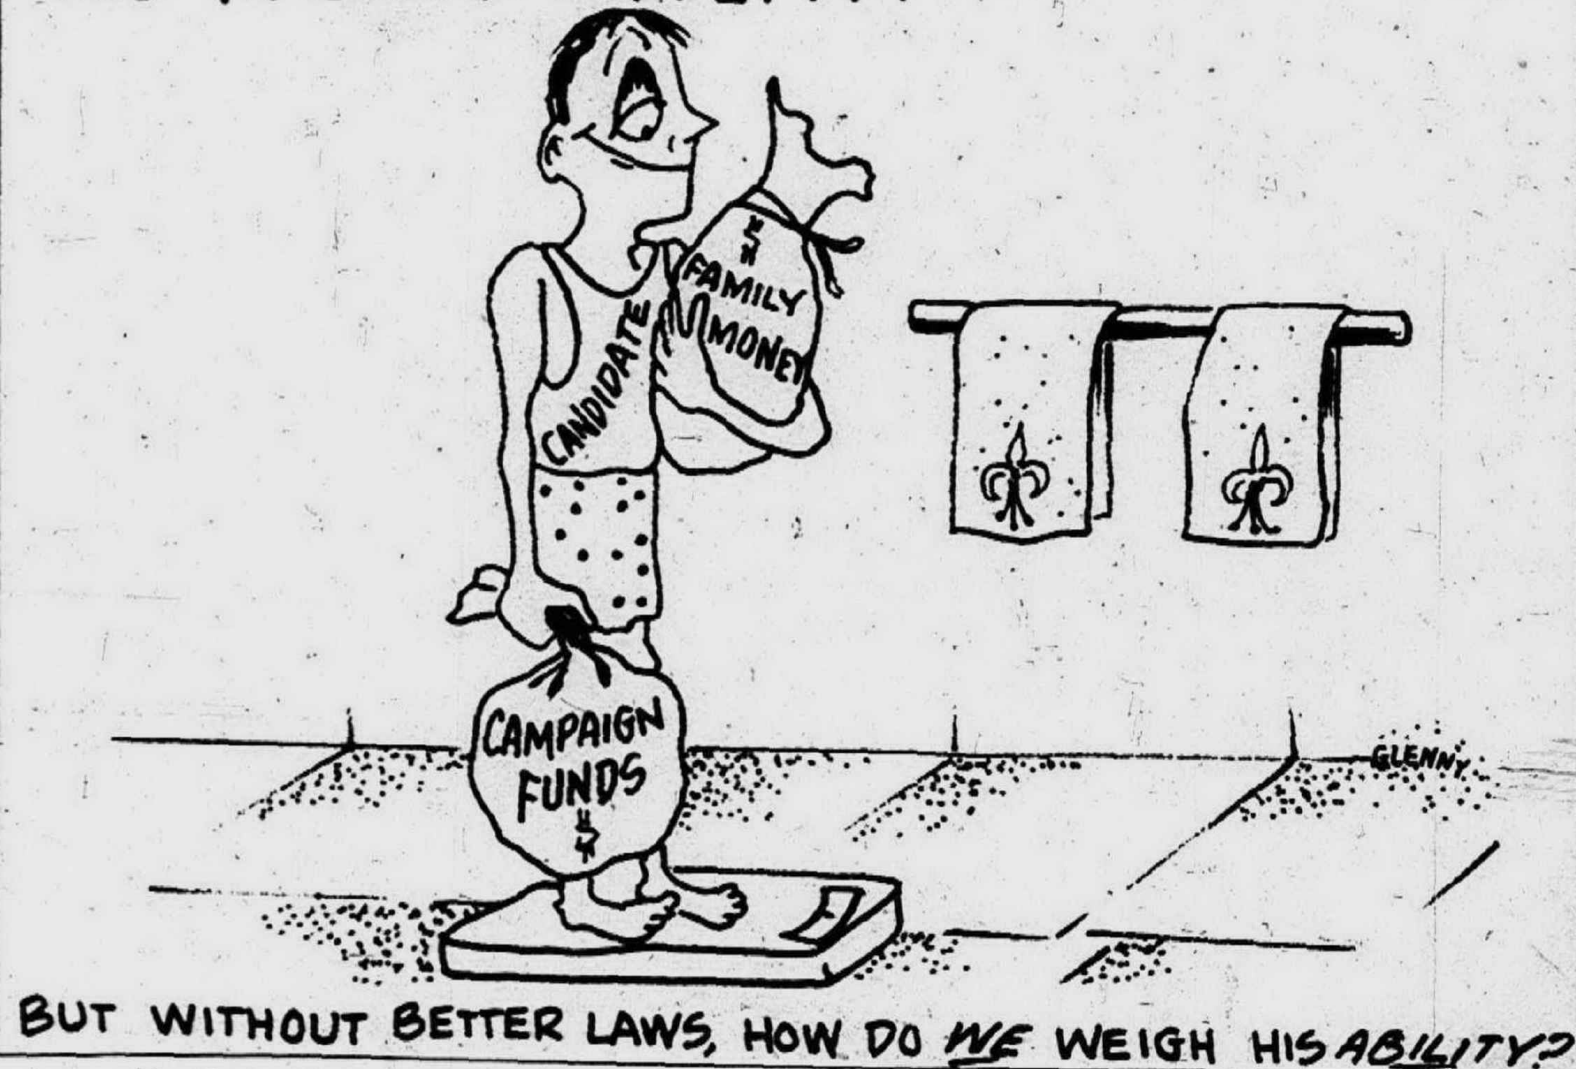

More importantly, neither of the political parties seem much interested in changing them. One can only speculate why. Perhaps they like the system as it is.

To me, this seems silly. In Michigan, the Democrats face a $100,000-plus deficit; obviously the system doesn't work too well for them. And the Republicans' best money men, including Detroit financier Max Fisher, are all busy raising money for Romney's presidential drive. What's going to happen to the GOP when Romney pulls out of the nomination and the party finds that all its Michigan money has gone down the drain?

If the State Legislature is sensible, they'll take up campaign law reform during this session.

I don't think they will. But it's going to be one of the goals of this paper over the coming months to find out just why.

HE'S IN GREAT SHAPE . . .

A recent editorial published in the Birmingham Eccentric appears appropos to activities of governmental units and school boards in Observerland. At least, staff members of the newspapers belonging to the Observer Newspaper Group have encountered similar incidents—we feel, like the Eccentric, they should be halted immediately.

Reporters have often left meetings only to learn later that items not listed on the agenda had been discussed and passed after the reporter had checked out.

It was such an incident that resulted in the following editorial in the Eccentric.

"A WEEK and a half ago the Birmingham City Commission passed a Fair Housing ordinance at its regular Monday meeting.

"It was a controversial subject which they met head-on and took the only defensible position that could be taken under our state constitution and our moral standards.

"But they sneaked it through. The commission was perfectly within the law in passing the ordinance.

"The law does not require this type of ordinance to be aired at a public hearing before passage.

"But the commissioners are representatives of the people and owe the electorate an opportu-ity to be heard.

"The ordinance was passed at the Nov. 27 meeting.

"The first time the public had an opportunity to know they were seriously considering this type of ordinance was when an item under 'manager's report' on the agenda said 'proposed fair housing ordinance'.

"It did not appear on the agenda the week before. It was discussed at the meeting the week before, apparently after our reporter had gone home, which is a source of embarrassment to us.

"The fact that it wasn't on the agenda and was discussed after the press left makes us rather suspicious, if they wish to point to this discussion to prove a public airing.

"If their defense is that the ordinance might not have passed after a public airing because of the controversial nature of the legislation, then this reflects on their courageous attitude in passing the law.

"The Birmingham City Commission is not a private club. It is a public body to represent the public.

"ON EVERY OTHER controversial issue, from ring roads to parking structures, they have given the public a chance to voice its thoughts.

"On some of these issues they have given the public so much time that they haven't even voted on them today.

"But a week and a half ago they slipped through an ordinance in a week.

"We wish they would show the same speed and forcefulness in solving the really important local issues still facing the city.

"Good government is never served by quiet legislation.

"We feel, although we support the ordinance, that the Commission did not live up to its responsibility to the public in this matter."

Observer reporters have encountered the same type of action on numerous occasions. Thus we echo the thoughts of the Eccentric and point out to all governmental bodies in Observerland: "you are not living up to your responsibility to the public when you deliberately pass legislation quietly and without knowledge of the public."

Arch Vallier's Folly--Wasn't!

Vallier's Folly!

That's what many City of Plymouth residents called the purchase of an aerial ladder fire truck a couple of years ago.

It was Commissioner Arch Vallier who successfully dickered with the City of Detroit for the used truck and convinced fellow members that it should be purchased.

There was some doubt in the minds of many whether a City the size of Plymouth needed such equipment.

Proof of the pudding came Sunday in the downtown fire that razed two buildings. It smoldered and smoldered for hours before the roof caved in and then the blaze shot about 40 feet in the air.

That's when the value of the aerial ladder truck became apparent. Tons of water were poured on the fire from above and worked wonders. Plymouth did have assistance from an aerial ladder truck from Livonia and a snorkel from Ypsilanti Township.

All helped but Plymouthites were extremely proud of the manner in which their own aerial played such a major role.

THE RUSSIAN government newspaper, Izvestia, has chosen New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as its choice for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968. Editor: I received a "special" Christmas card from my son now assigned to Vietnam that I feel must surely express their feelings toward all the protest action here in the United States. The card itself cannot be reprinted because the human hand in the popular G.I. gesture but the printing is as follows:

BEST WISHES FROM VIETNAM

To Joan Baez, Dr. Benjamin Spock, Stokely Carmichael, and the rest of you "valiant crusaders" who bask in the lights of TV cameras and news films. The actions of you and your "followers" are doing the best in trying to kill me and your fellow Americans.

WE HOPE YOU ARE PROUD,

We should not be here now, but we are. What we are doing now should have been done and finished in Korea in 1950-53, in Hungary in 1956, in Berlin when they put up the wall and in Cuba in 1960.

We are going to stop and destroy communism now, we are going to inoculate the "Reds" against further outbreaks of adventurism, and their desire of oppressing those who do not choose communism.

Eat your holiday meal in security, enjoy your family in peace this season. We won't, but we pray and hope future generations of free people will!

The least these guys can ask from us is our moral support instead of a kick in the teeth as those so-called "valiant crusaders" are doing.

Tell me, what kind of city do we live in?

When my son's brand new bike is stolen out of our fenced-in back yard—nothing happens! When our car is parked legally in front of our own house and some drunken teenagers smash it up and try to run over a neighbor who yells at them to stop and the police know who they are, arrest them, change the police report and then let the kids go—nothing happens again!

Now, a visiting eight-year-old nephew goes sledding to Botstford Park with my own sons. Right across from our home and another kid takes off with his sled. (Incidentally, my nephew's name was plainly marked on his sled.)

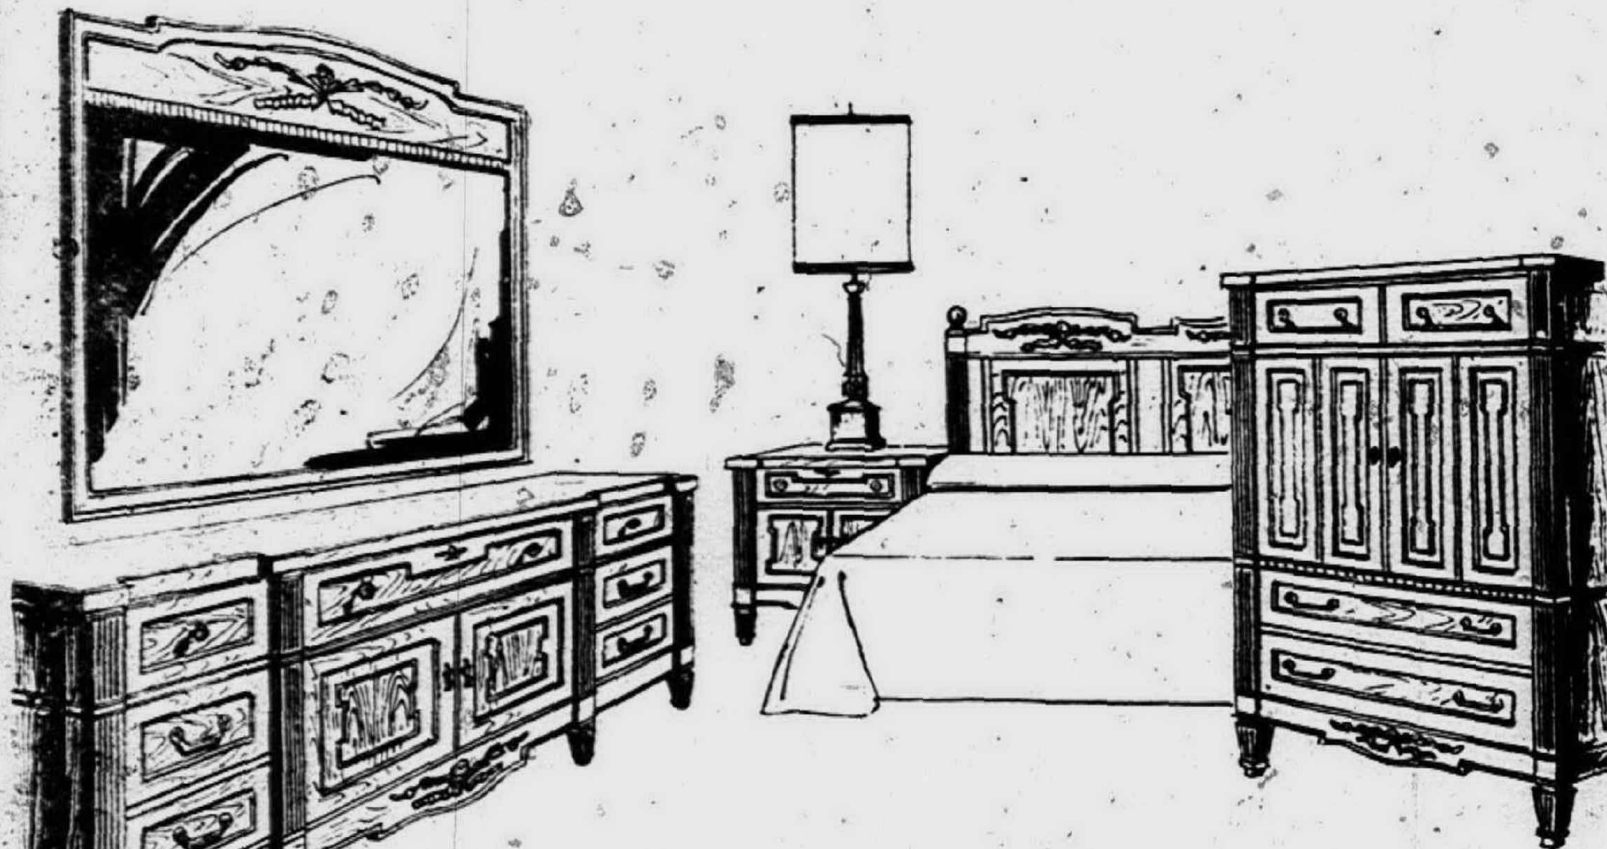

Where are the parents of these children? Where are they when the kids bring home other people's property? And where are our protectors—the police-men?

These are only a few happenings in Livonia—I could list many more, but why bother? Who listens or cares?

Area Police Open Search For Missing Redford Boy

Police have launched a tele-type for a missing 13-year-old, but the youth's father is convinced that he is somewhere in Farmington Township.

Missing is Steven Lang, son of Gordon Lang of 26605 Pembroke, Redford Township.

Until last July the Langs lived on Roosevelt in Farmington Township and the elder Lang is convinced that his son is somewhere in the area.

Steven returned to the Wayne County Training School in Northville Jan. 1 after spending the holiday with his father, one brother, step-mother and seven step-brothers and sisters.

On Jan. 2 he was reported as missing from the training school. On Jan. 2 or 3 he was seen in the Roosevelt area in the township.

STEVEN WAS sent to the school by his father in October after running into difficulty in the Redford Union schools.

The sixth grader is about 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs about 155 pounds and has black hair.

His father is convinced that someone is sheltering him as he says that a 13-year-old boy just can't run away at this time of the year and live without help.

Winter Flower Show Will Open Saturday

The 1968 Winter Flower Show at the Belle Isle Conservatory in Detroit opens Saturday.

Although the name "rose" figures in the description of the flowers on display, there are no roses.

There are, however, cyclamen (a herb of the primrose family); camellia (red or white double rose-like flowers); rhododendron (from the Greek word "rhodon" - "rose" and "dendron" - "tree," and azalea (related to the rhododendron).

In shades of red, pink and purple and in white, the flowers will provide a brilliant, colorful accent to the winter season.

A special attraction being featured in the fernery will be the display of cymbidium orchids.

The show is open free daily from 9 a.m. until dark.

LANG HAS VOWED that he will sign a complaint against the people harboring the youth and prosecute. Penalty for harboring a run-away is up to 90 days in jail and/or $100 fine. "Whoever is hiding the boy is not helping him," Lang said in explaining his decision to see that when the boy is found the people providing shelter will be punished.

Anyone having any information as to the whereabouts of Steven is requested to contact the Wayne County Training School at GL 3-6500 between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. or GL 3-6508 during other hours.

If you cannot reach these numbers contact your local police.

24-Second Rule OK With Rocks

It wouldn't require much salesmanship to sell the Plymouth High basketball team on the use of the 24 second professional rule--the Rocks used it in their game against Farmington Friday and came out with the big end of a 66-62 score.

It was a big victory for Plymouth since the Rocks trailed 45-31 early in the third quarter before Mike Kubik and Jeff Adams sparked a spree that netted 15 points while Farmington was held to a pair of free throws. That made the score 47-46 with a minute and a half to play in the period.

Adams dropped in two charity tosses, hit from the field and Gregg Corrigan added a one-hander to give Plymouth a 52-51 going into the final eight minutes.

THE ROCKS never trailed from that point although the Falcons pulled up within two points in the final 50 seconds when Kubik led the triumph with a one-hander from the corner.

The teams played the pro rule which requires that the offensive team must take a shot at the basket within 24 seconds of the time it took possession. This was by agreement of the two coaches and with the sanction of the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

The 24 second timing device was loaned to Plymouth by the management of the Detroit Pistons through the courtesy of General Manager Ed Coll and Public Relations Chief George Maskin.

Strange enough, neither team was caught once during the game and the closest either came to losing the ball was when Farmington took 20 seconds to get a shot off.

Both Coaches expressed satisfaction with the 24 second rule and most certainly it made the game more interesting for the spectators who saw the lead change hands constantly.

PLYMOUTH FOUND itself in a strange situation when it held a 64-62 lead with less than a minute to play and had to get off a shot in 24 seconds rather than stall for the remaining time.

As it was the Rocks missed on the shot, Farmington started downcourt but a pass went awry and Plymouth took possession for a fast break which found Kubik going in for the two points that clinched the victory.

Plymouth Athletic Director John Sandmann and Jack Cotton, his counterpart from Farmington, were happy with the experiment and plan to make a report to the State Association. Cotton is a member of the State Athletic Board and was one of the big factors in getting permission to experiment with the 24 second rule. He has made arrangements to try a similar experiment at the North Farmington-Southfield contest later in the month.

FARMINGTON HAD all the best of the game in the first half, taking a 21-16 edge at the end of the first quarter and holding a 36-27 lead at the intermission.

Mark Lynott and Paul White hit for three quick baskets early in the third stanza to boost the lead to 15 points at 42-27.

That's when Kubik started his one-man spree, hitting twice on fast breaks and again from the corner to make the score 45-33.

Adams connected from the foul line and Jerry Latham on a rebound to whittle the margin to 45-37. Kubik broke loose twice for a 45-41 count and then Adams took over to make the score 47-46 in Farmington's favor with a minute and a half on the clock.

Adams registered four points on two free throws and a one-hander and Corrigan's field goal with four seconds left in the quarter gave Plymouth the lead for the first time. They held it for the remainder of the contest.

CHECKING 24-SECOND clock are Athletic Directors John Sandmann (left), of Plymouth, and Jack Cotton, of Farmington. The clock and the professional rule of the offensive team must take a shot within 24 seconds were used in the Plymouth-Farmington basketball game Friday night.

Is Michigan backward when it comes to high school football?

You asked the question after noting that in several states prep football is a big item well into December . . . that in many areas all-star prep games have the blessings of school officials, etc.

Not so, of course, in Michigan. Most prep teams here wind up their schedules by the first week of November. Except in rare instances, the campaigns end by the second Friday or Saturday of November.

Time was when Thanksgiving was a big day for high school football in Michigan. Not any more.

Only one Turkey Day prep tilt remains -- it's held in Flint between Northern and Central High. The big reason for finishing the season so early is the weather. So we're told, anyhow.

But in Chicago, where the chills come as early as they do here -- and sometimes even sooner -- the preps carry on until around December.

Down in Florida, just the other week, they were talking about a team from Coral Gables being named as co-national champs with a prep outfit from Texas.

There was talk, too, about an upcoming all-star game involving Florida and Texas -- or was it Pennsylvania preps?

They have an all-star game each year down in Ohio and in several other states.

All of which helps to add a little more excitement to the prep grid scene.

WE SUSPECT that here in Michigan the school fathers hesitate on all-star play for fear they may be overexploiting the preps.

But what can one game do to ruin the preps, who already are being "overrun" by college coaches and scouts from every part of the country?

Some of the preps first find themselves in a recruiting war while they still are in grade school. This holds for boys attending Catholic Schools and playing in the CYO programs.

The various all-male schools--DeLaSalle, Austin, Catholic Central, U. of D. High, etc.--put on a full-scale battle to land the services of the standout eighth graders, who can choose any of the so-called "open" schools.

It's no different in New York, or Chicago, or San Francisco.

More than one private school also has besieged a standout grade school or junior high football or basketball star and offered a free ride through senior high.

So, by the time a boy becomes a 12th grader, he has been through the rigors of being wooed and dined.

It can't be any worse than playing in an All-Star football game. Or can it?

PERHAPS, our State High School Athletic Association is just a little too conservative. It can't be knocked, because, after all, the association guided by Charles E. Forsythe has done one tremendous job of keeping schoolboy sports in line and broadening the program of activities over the years.

But nothing stays firm in this world. Our kids keep insisting: "Things aren't the same now, pop, as they were when you went to school."

We older folks like to think things are the same. But actually there have been oodles of changes.

Suburbia, for example, has had a great effect. Most of us old city folks used to walk to and from school. Now the kids drive in either the family car or get bused.

The schools have placed far more emphasis now on athletics. Look at the beautiful gyms which have been built.

In our day at Detroit Northern, we thought we had a palace for a gym, yet in comparison to the gyms at Bentley or Plymouth or Farmington or you name it, the Northern gym was dingy and small and ill-lighted. It still is.

Outdoor athletic facilities have improved over the years. Lights have made it possible for football, plus track and baseball.

Wrestling didn't exist in our day as a prep sport. It's probably the fastest growing activity of all now.

Who ever thought about prep skiing three decades ago? It's a big thing, too, which reminds us that some area teams will engage on Saturday in the annual prep championships sponsored by The Detroit News. (Remember that paper?)

So, with all that's going on, maybe the time has come to give thought to some phase of All-Star football activity in Michigan.

We can't see where it would hurt.

West Blows Big Lead, Loses To Crestwood

Why do basketball coaches get gray hair early in life?

Chris Babler could supply the answer.

He's the bossman at Garden City West High and in last Friday's game with Crestwood, Babler saw West pull ahead, 14-13, after one quarter; lead 43-36 at halftime and enter the final period with a 47-39 command.

But when it was all over, Crestwood had rallied for a 62-56 triumph.

Babler was mystified why a team (meaning West) which had shot so well for three quarters suddenly couldn't locate the hoop in the last eight minutes.

During the closing period, West fired up 15 shots and only four went in.

WEST HAD some other problems -- excessive fouling. This figured prominently in deciding the game, too.

In field goals, West had out scored Crestwood, 24-16. But from the charity mark, Crestwood clicked 30 times in 42 attempts.

West had only 20 free ones and muffed 12.

Notwithstanding, West led until around 2 1/2 minutes remained. Crestwood finally went on top, 52-50, with 2:13 left and in the remaining time out scored West, 10-6, mostly on free throws.

In the final 14 seconds alone, Crestwood notched four charities.

In the final period, Crestwood hit on six of nine shots from the field -- 66.7 percent -- and pumped in 11 out of 14 free shots.

Dwayne Drewitz led three West players in double figures. He had 14. Dave Leemgraven notched 13 and Jerry Hopkins 13.

GARDEN CITY West High's Gary Robinson battles with Crestwood's Joe Guerriero (35) and Bill Byrd (21) during a tense moment in Friday's contest. West rolled to an easy victory.

Five College Coaches Aid Swim Meet

Five college head coaches will be directly involved with the running of the first annual Michigan High School Invitational swimming meet Saturday, Jan. 20, at Wayne State University.

In addition to meet director John P. Hussey, of WSU, college coaches who have agreed to serve in official capacities are Mike Jones, Eastern Michigan; Jerry Misner, Central Michigan; Don Trost, Northern Michigan; and Fletcher Gilders, Ohio University.

Entry chairman Pat Wallace, of Ann Arbor's Huron High, expects fast fields in each of the meet's 10 swimming events. He also is lining up a strong field of divers.

Swimmers from throughout the state will be invited to compete on the basis of current season times and divers on the basis of average points. Wallace said invitations will be sent after he considers all performances reported to him by Jan. 10.

Tight Defense Wins For Glenn

John Glenn High's basketball team had a battle on its hands for a half against Carlson.

Then with Glenn leading, 35-31, at the intermission, coach Chris Theodore ordered his Glenn charges to tighten up defensively.

"Make them shoot from the outside. Stop giving them those easy shots from close in," Theodore directed.

Forest Service May Raise Sports Fees

Sen. Peter Dominick, R-Colo., is leading a protest against what some senators call a U.S. Forest Service proposal to raise winter sports fees on national forest lands.

Dominick and 13 other senators from 10 states made the protest in a letter to Forest Service Chief Edward P. Cliff. They said the change may "well have a disastrous economic impact on the entire ski industry."

His letter was cosigned by senators from New Hampshire, Oregon, California, Idaho, Pennsylvania, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada and Montana.

Dominick said the Forest Service plans to charge sharply progressive rates based on a formula instead of the present flat percentage of gross revenues.

Asking reconsideration, Dominick said the move was proposed without the advice of the skiing industry and general public.

Turnovers Are Costly To Sorrows

Ball control is a vital item in any sport.

Our Lady of Sorrows couldn't hang on to the ball against Our Lady of the Lakes Friday and the result was a 78-50 walkaway for the team from Waterford. "Turnovers hurt us," moaned coach Bob Morris of Sorrows.

"So did the fact we couldn't do much in the way of rebounding. We'd come down, take one shot -- and they'd get it back."

THE LAKERS jumped ahead, 21-13, after the first period; led, 41-28, at halftime and then sewed up the game by outscoring Sorrows, 15-6, in the third period.

In that third session, Sorrows was limited to two baskets and two free throws.

Dick Sloma proved the giant killer for the winners. He scored 23 points and also dominated in rebounding.

Mike Hart had 10 points for Sorrows, while Tom Strand and Tom Webster each made nine. Dennis Perry contributed eight.

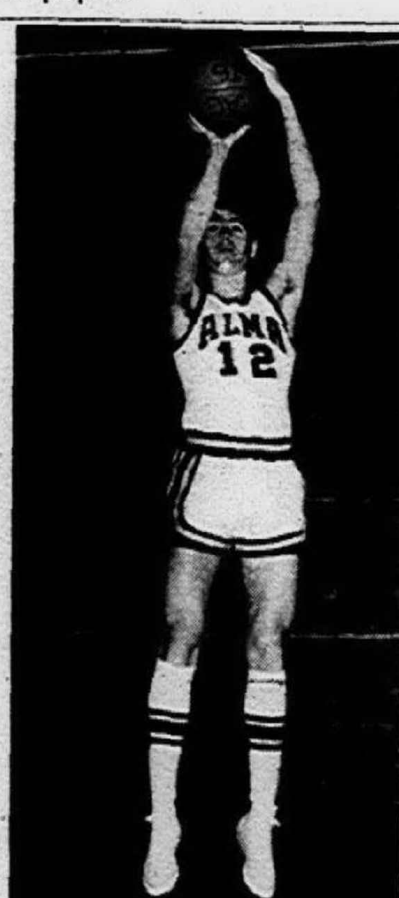

Damage Claims Hit Milwaukee

The City of Milwaukee has been hit by more than 225 injury and property damage claims as the result of summer riots and racial disturbances.

City Atty. John J. Fleming said the claims totaled more than $600,000 with 188 claims turned in by mid-November. He refused to estimate the total damages in the 40 to 50 claims filed in the last two weeks.

Fleming said the claims were referred to his office for investigation. So far he has recommended that the Common Council deny every claim. Assistant Dist. Atty. Thomas E. Hayes has said the city is not liable for alleged failure or inability to provide adequate or general police or fire protection.

Most of the claims are filed by insurance companies seeking payment reimbursement for payments made to their insured.

STARTING GUARD for the Alma College Scots basketball team is Gary Faulkes, former Bentley High star of Livonia. He is the son of Mrs. Patricia Ellsworth, 14135 Cardwell, Livonia.

Safety Plan Benefits Kids

If a worker at Seattle Stevedore Co. has an accident, it will cost his child money from a scholarship fund.

Fred Smith, company president, set up the unusual safety incentive program for employees.

He is putting up $500 each quarter to a safety scholarship program for children of the members of Longshoremen's Union Local 19.

However, each time there is a lost time accident reported on a company job, $10 is deducted from the amount.

Rocks Faculty Battle Clowns

The Harlem Diplomats clowning basketball team will perform against the Plymouth High faculty in a special exhibition game Saturday in the Plymouth High gym at 8 o'clock. Proceeds of the game will be turned over to the school's Varsity Club athletic fund.

Michigan, MSU Drop Openers

The Big Ten basketball season opened on an "off" note for both the University of Michigan and Michigan State.

The Spartans, last year's co-champion, couldn't cope with a zone defense and wound up a 66-56 loser against Illinois. Michigan, meantime, was nipped in a television thriller, 77-75, at Wisconsin.

State and Illinois engaged in a see-saw game until the final eight minutes when the Illini broke a 48-48 tie to pull away to victory.

At one stage, Michigan State went scoreless for 6 1/2 minutes in the game. Steve Rymal was high for State, now 4-5, on the season, while 6-3 Dave Scholz topped the winners with 21.

MICHIGAN AND Wisconsin were tied with a minute to go and Michigan had the ball, trying to stall for a final winning shot.

But Mike Carlin stole the ball for the Badgers, went in for an easy layup and was fouled in the act of shooting. He missed the charity, but Joe Franklin put in the rebound and it was all over in a heartbreaker as far as Michigan was concerned.

Jim Pitts had 21 points to pace Michigan which hosts Michigan State next Saturday in the new University of Michigan fieldhouse.

Meantime, the winning ways of the University of Detroit ended. So did the Titans' long home stand.

The Titans were topped by Duquesne in a battle of teams, each of which went into the game with an 8-2 record. Detroit started strongly and by half time had built up a 40-28 lead. With 11 minutes to go, the Titans still were in command, 53-48.

Then Duquesne made its big push and from then on it was strictly Duquesne the rest of the way.

THE TITANS, who played their first 11 games at home this season, now take off on a three-game road trip which begins Wednesday night at Notre Dame.

Detroit visits Dayton Saturday night and Xavier Monday.

UCLA and Houston, the No. 1 and 2 college teams in the country, both continued their easy victory parade.

The Uclans crushed Washington, 93-63, while Houston won over Centenary, 118-81.

A week from Saturday, it'll be UCLA vs. Houston in the Astrodome in Houston in a game which probably will draw the biggest attendance ever for a basketball encounter.

More than 45,000 are expected to jam the Astrodome and millions more will see it on television.

Indiana, co-choice with Purdue for Big Ten honors, creamed Minnesota, 74-59, in its conference opener while Purdue was damped by Ohio State, 108-80, and Northwestern bested Iowa, 76-67.

Sorrows Heavy Mat Champion

Frank Walsh of Our Lady of Sorrows captured the heavy-weight championship in the Oakland County invitational high school wrestling meet.

Team honors in the meet went to Pontiac Northern with 87 points, followed by Birmingham and Walled Lake.

Farmington High's Glen Caudron reached the 127-pound finals where he was beaten by Ben Moon of Pontiac Northern.

Schoolcraft Bombed By St. Clair

Schoolcraft College's basketball team is having its problems.

The cagers went down to their fifth loss in six games Friday when bombed by St. Clair Community College, 129-74.

St. Clair ranks among the top ten in the country among community college teams.

Schoolcraft tried to stall, but it didn't help. St. Clair jumped on top, 68-30, by halftime and it was a romp the rest of the way.

Mike McCauley had 19 points for the losers while Steve Moore scored 17, Fred Neil 13 and Carl Gulbransen 10.

This Wednesday night Schoolcraft plays against Henry Ford CC at Northville's Community House, the Schoolcraft home floor.

Wayne State University swimming coach John Hussey led Tartar swim teams to President's Athletic Conference championships in 1962, 1963, and 1964.

East Tramples Robichaud Five

Garden City East's rotating defense finally worked the way coach Billy Joe Young had hoped.

With signals from the bench, East went from a zone, to a man, to a press, to a zone, to a man to man, etc.

It was something to behold as East rolled over Robichaud, 87-46, for its eighth victory in nine starts and third without a reversal to stay on top in Mid-Wayne League action.

"We had some injuries in previous games, so this hurt us in doing the defensive job we had desired," said Young.

Franklin Fades, Loses To Romulus

Adjusting to a switch in defensive tactics is important if you're to win in any game.

Franklin high's basketball team did well against Romulus for one half when Romulus resorted to a pressing zone.

When Romulus ditched the press and just "laid back" in a zone, troubles mounted for Franklin and the net result was that Romulus rallied for a 77-69, non-league victory.

Romulus had taken a 20-17 lead after one period, but with Chris Lang leading the way in scoring and rebounding, Franklin boomed into a 41-37 halftime edge.

The Romulus press wasn't bothering Franklin too much.

TO START the second half, Romulus started plugging the middle more. At the same time, Franklin went cold, making only two baskets in the period.

Romulus also went hot and came up with 21 points in the period to a mere six by Franklin to put the game out of reach.

By the time Franklin could get going again, the Livonians were some 15 points behind. Lang had 19 points and also 19 rebounds for Franklin. He made 11 of his points in the first half.

Doug Sutton had 16 and Charles Wiggins 10 in a losing cause.

"But all worked great against Robichaud and let's hope nothing happens now because we have three tough games coming up in a row."

IN SUCCESSIVE action, East must go against Riverview, Taylor and Inkster.

"If we come through those games okay, we should be well on our way to the league title," added Young.

Against Robichaud, East gave up 12 points in the first period, eight each in the second and fourth and 18 in the third.

Meantime, East's offense generated in high gear, too. With Mike Maciaz and Harvey Kightlinger ignited for nine and eight points, respectively, East led, 25-12, after one period.

The East lead mounted to 47-20 at halftime.

Kightlinger topped all scorers with 18 points, Maciaz had 11, Rick Clack and Harold Slade 14 each and Charles Sakmar six.

LONE OBSERVERLAND champion in the annual Garden City East Christmas wrestling tournament is Bill Shiek, of Thurston, who won the 145-pound crown by beating Jim Taddonio, of Bentley, in the finals.

MOVING IN for a two-pointer against Redford St. Agatha High is Mt. Carmel's Pat Gallagher (13). Entirely out of the play is Agatha's Jim Howell (14). It was a sad night for Agatha Cagers who scored the most points of the season and still lost 100-70.

C'ville Learns Scoring Slumps Can Be Costly

It was like a case of playing "odds and evens".

Clarenceville High's basketball team distinguished itself in the first and third periods against powerful West Bloomfield in their Wayne-Oakland League battle.

Things were different -- much different -- in the second and fourth periods.

Unbeaten West Bloomfield was held to 10 points in the opening eight minutes as Clarenceville countered with eight.

Then in the second period, West outscored Clarenceville, 20-11.

To start the second half, Clarenceville was back in the groove and sliced the West lead to three points at one stage by outsourcing the Bloomfield team, 11-9, in the period.

THEN WEST exploded in the closing eight minutes and finished an easy 63-44 victor.

"As long as we were able to press them and use our zone, we did a great job against them," said coach Ralph Weedle of Clarenceville.

"When we finally had to come out of our defense, they had too much depth and strength."

Bob Duman had 18 points to top Clarenceville while Brian Kent tossed in 10, Dave Brandemuhl, who had been scoring in double figures, was held to five points.

Dan Brown, a sub, was the star for West Bloomfield, with 15 points.

Only Big Game Remains; Packers Against Oakland

The preliminaries are over. Now for the big one in pro football -- the Super Bowl battle between Green Bay and Oakland next Sunday at Miami.

Green Bay has been installed as a 14-point favorite to whip its rival from the American League and thus give the Packers their second straight championship in pro football's dream contest.

Oakland will put a 12-game winning streak on the line against the Packers, who staged a series of dramatics to win the NFL title.

In the Runnerup Bowl, also played in Miami, Los Angeles had no problems with Cleveland, winning by a 30-6 score last Saturday.

ROMAN GABRIEL started the Rams off fast with a 21-yard touchdown pass to Bernie Casey. Then after Bruce Gossett booted a 41-yard field goal, Gabriel hit Bill Truax on a short heave for another TD.

Gossett followed with a 46-yard field goal before Leroy Kelley plunged two yards for the only Cleveland score.

Willie Ellison ran over from the nine and Gossett ended the Rams' scoring with a 19-yard field goal.

The North and the South broke even in a pair of All-Star contests featuring college seniors. Duffy Daugherty from Michigan State led the North to a 50-6 win in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu. Larry Gzonka of Syracuse starred offensively for the North while Bob Apisa of Michigan State scored one of the touchdowns for the winners.

JIMMY RAYE of MSU shared the quarterbacking for the victors.

In the Senior Bowl game at Mobile, it was 34-21 for the South as Kim Hammond passed for two touchdowns and Bobby Duhon ran for two more. Hammond is from Florida State and Duhon from Tulane. It marked the 12th victory for the South against six losses in the series.

Pistons Place Two Men On East All-Star Squad

Dave Bing and Dave DeBusschere of the Detroit Pistons have been named to play on the East team in the National Basketball Association's annual All Star game in New York on Tuesday, Jan. 23.

Their selections hardly came as a surprise. Bing has been leading the league in scoring most the season while DeBusschere has starred both in scoring and rebounding.

Named with them on the East team were: Wilt Chamberlain and Hal Greer, Philadelphia; Bill Russell, John Havlicek and Sam Jones, Boston; Willis Reed, New York, and Jerry Lucas and Oscar Robertson, Cincinnati.

Named on the Western Stars were Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, Los Angeles; Rudy LaRusso, Nate Thurmond and Jim King, San Francisco; Bill Bridges, Zelmo Beaty and Len Wilkens, St. Louis; Bob Boozer, Chicago, and Walt Hazzard, Seattle.

Classes ranging from yoga to folk guitar are on the winter program for members of the Livonia Family YMCA, 12330 Middle Belt Road.

A family instructional swim program will be offered from 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday evenings at Stevenson High School, beginning Jan. 18. The eight-lesson series will include instruction for tots, beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers, as well as a beginning and a refresher course for adults. Cost per family is $12.50.

Also on the swim docket is a family recreational swim hour, 8 to 9 p.m. Thursday evenings at Stevenson. Dates are Jan. 18 and 25; Feb. 1, 8, 15 and 22, and March 7 and 14. There will be no charge to Y families. All children must be accompanied by adults.

Men and women interested in yoga may take 10 one-and-a-half hour lessons on Tuesdays, beginning Jan. 16. Daytime sessions will be from 1:30 to 3 p.m. and evening sessions from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Instructor will be Mrs. Ruth Gill and registration will be limited to 15 persons per class. Fee is $7.

An exercise program designed for the figure-conscious is the Y's "Slimnastics for Women," planned from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesdays, beginning Jan. 17. Cost is $7 for eight weeks.

Also planned is a family gym program from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Fridays at Hoover School, 15900

Levan, beginning Feb. 9. Activities will include volleyball, tumbling, jogging and basketball. The course will be free to the first 20 families to register.

Hair-styling will be taught in four half-hour sessions by Joseph, area hair stylist. Classes, from 9:30 to 11 a.m., will be held Jan. 17, 24 and 31 and Feb. 7.

For the potential guitarist, the Y will offer 10 one-hour lessons in folk guitar, with Mrs. Betty Lewis as instructor. Guitar I will meet Mondays from 2 to 3 p.m.; Guitar II from 2 to 3 p.m. Fridays, and a second Guitar I class from 11 a.m. to noon Saturdays. Classes will begin the week of Jan. 15 at $7 per adult and $5 for young people.

Scheduled to begin Jan. 20 is a Saturday Fun Club for boys and girls ages 6 to 9. The youngsters will meet from 1 to 4 p.m. for eight weeks, with arts, crafts and sports on the docket. Pre-registration will be necessary.

An innovation called "Trailblazers," designed for families with trainable mentally handicapped children, will include family bowling, camping, swimming and a gym program. Interested persons are asked to contact Don Dinwoodie, YM office, 261-0370, for further information.

Also of special interest will be a Young Adults Club, to be formed for persons 18 and over, in the Livonia area.

Additional data on all classes and programs may be obtained by calling or writing the Livonia Family YMCA.

LRD Starting Winter Class

Winter term recreation classes of the Livonia Recreation Department will start the week of January 15 and continue for 10 weeks.

Classes include American Step Ballroom at 8 p.m. and Latin-American Step Ballroom at 9 p.m. on Wednesdays at the Frost Junior High School and on Fridays at the Livonia Mall Community Room.

Bridge aspirants, including beginners and intermediates will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Stevenson High School cafeteria.

Rounding out the schedule are beginner square dance classes at 8 p.m. on Mondays, and folk guitar lessons at 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. Both of the latter classes are held at Frost Junior High School.

Registration for all classes are made at the first meeting. For further information, contact the Recreation Department, Ga. 1-2000, ext. 291.

PWP To Sponsor Square Dance

Livonia's Parents Without Partners will sponsor a square dance in the Rosedale Gardens Civic Building at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, January 20.

Proceeds of the dance, at $2 per person, will go to the Metro Coordinating Council, Parents Without Partners.

The program will include both square and circle dancing. Pat Costa will be the caller. The ticket chairman is Dorothy Berry, 422-8020.

Look First When You Buy House

Surveys show that the vast majority of Americans make several moves during a lifetime. So, chances are, your first home won't be your last. When it comes time to consider the rental or purchase of an apartment or house, study these timely signals:

BUY WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD
Many a dream home has turned into a financial nightmare because costs weren't calculated correctly. In addition to the down payment, consider the money required for preliminary and closing costs, mortgage payments, taxes, deeds, insurance, utilities and upkeep. Next, add the expenses for furnishings, appliances and landscaping. Then total up your monthly housing costs.

If you can meet your monthly expenses comfortably within your income, and still have enough left over for food, clothing, medical expenses, transportation and savings, then you can afford your dream house.

LOOK AROUND
A home is a major investment. When shopping around, check locations and compare neighborhoods. Ideally, the house should be accessible to transportation, schools, churches, shopping, recreation facilities and medical services. Check to see if the sidewalks, street lights, sewers and curbs are installed and paid for.

Look at the building site, too. Quality of the soil, drainage, and exposure to wind, sun and shade are important considerations all year around.

STUDY FOR SOUNDNESS
Both brand-new and older dwellings should be checked for soundness of construction. (A spanking coat of paint sometimes can conceal shoddy materials and poor workmanship.) Check important items such as the foundation, water supply and sewage disposal, chimney, roof and gutters, heating system, electricity, insulation and storage space.

Take a good look at the walls and ceilings, too. Many building experts consider genuine lath and plaster construction superior to other materials. Durable plaster doesn't burn, is seamless, has excellent soundproofing qualities, and increases resale value of a home.

CONSIDER THE FUTURE
A honeymoon home can start bursting at the seams as the family grows! Before you buy, make sure that local zoning laws and building codes permit expansion or redesign of the dwelling, and that the structure itself is expandable. For instance, is there an unfinished basement or attic that can be converted into a family room or extra bedroom? Is the plumbing located so that another bathroom can be added without prohibitive expense?

When making additions or repairs, use the best quality material you can afford. Good materials increase your own use and enjoyment and enhance the home's worth.

JERRY RAYMOND, a labor lawyer who was appointed to the Livonia city council to fill a vacancy, becomes a candidate for a full four-year term. Raymond is second from the left.

Raymond: Rowdyism Still An Issue

By JERRY RAYMOND

It is almost 17 years since Rosina and I, and our four children moved to Livonia. We have seen our city grow, and generally it has grown well and we Raymonds have grown along with it. We have been very fortunate, for here Eldon and Rhea and Joyce and Sharon played and graduated from Bentley High School. Then each of them went on to college with Eldon doing his military stretch in Okinawa.

The three oldest children are married now, and there are seven wonderful grandchildren, three girls and four boys, and Sharon is well on the way toward her R.N. from the School of Nursing at Schoolcraft College. So Livonia has been good to us Raymonds.

SINCE MAKING Livonia our home, Rosina went on to Wayne State University. She received her bachelor's degree, and she taught for a few years in the Livonia schools. Then she received her master's degree, and now she heads the Speech Department at Madonna College here in Livonia.

In 1960 the family decided it was about time for "Father"—that's me—to pick up my education where I had dropped off more than 27 years before. With the encouragement of many Livonia friends, and a special assist from former Livonia City Attorney George Haller, who was then professor at Detroit College of Law, I was admitted as a student to law school.

Since graduating and my admission as a member of the Michigan Bar, I have practiced law here in Livonia.

Yes, we have seen Livonia grow, and at the same time

Livonia has made it possible for us to grow along with her. When 16 months ago I was chosen to serve on the Livonia City Council, it was indeed an honor, but more than that, I consider it an opportunity to serve the people of the community that has made Rosina's and my life happy lives.

AS A COUNCILMAN I have looked upon each problem with the view, that the sole function of the city government is to serve the people; and that a satisfied people is the only test of good government. It is with that thought in mind, that I have decided to present myself to the voters, and to ask for the opportunity to continue to serve as a member of the Livonia Legislative branch of government, the City Council.

Street paving, and parks, and skating rinks, and swimming pools and multiple dwellings, and taxes, and the Civic Center, and boulevards, and garbage disposal, and a downtown Livonia, all of them and more, are problems that must be faced, and for which solutions must be found.

But the foremost question, and immediate problem that must be met head on, if the people of Livonia are to continue to enjoy living in a safe community, is the problem of rowdyism, violence and terror, which are destroying our parks as parks, and which are making our streets unsafe.

VIOLENCE ON the streets is not something that is happening only in our neighbors' backyard, we have our own share of it right here. Unless we can make our parks safe places for recreation, and our streets safe places to walk at night, we will have wasted our parks' money and failed in our sole function, serving the people.

The problem cannot be resolved by blaming someone else, for it is our problem, it belongs to all of the branches of government, and to all of the people. And it is in that spirit that I offer my candidacy for City Council.

I believe we can solve the problem before it gets out of hand. We have two jobs. First, we must let it be known that rowdyism and vandalism will not be tolerated in Livonia. A halt must be called now.

OUR SECOND and the most important job is to get to the root, the cause, and then to find a cure. That's a job for the Council, the Mayor's office, the Department of Recreation, the Police Department, the Municipal Court and the Schools; all of them, working together.

I ask to be retained as a member of the Livonia City Council, and I am prepared to meet the challenge threatening the safety of our people.

Whites' Illegitimate Births Up

Since 1960, the illegitimate birth rate among non-white women has declined.

But the illegitimacy rate among white women has risen sharply, according to Stephanie J. Ventura, a statistician for the National Center for Health Statistics.

Mrs. Ventura spoke at a session in New York of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

IN 1940, she said, the illegitimacy rate for non-white women was 35.6 per 1,000, or about 10 times greater than the rate for white women.

By 1965, this ratio had declined to about 8 to 1 or perhaps less, and "actually since 1960, the illegitimacy rate for non-white women has declined slightly (one per cent between 1960 and 1965) while the rate for white women increased 26 per cent in these five years."

NOT ALL ILLEGITIMATE births are fully reported, but estimates taking this and other factors into consideration, she said, indicate:

• The number of illegitimate births rose from 89,500 in 1940 to 291,000 in 1965.

• The number or rate of births per 1,000 unmarried American women, aged 15 to 44, also about tripled, from 7.1 per 1,000 women to 23.5 in those same years.

Schools Eye Campaign

School superintendents and board of education members interested in millage campaign tactics will attend a one-day seminar at Grand Rapids next Tuesday. It will be sponsored by the Michigan School Public Relations Association.

The session will be followed, Wednesday, by a meeting of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

Titled the "College of Millage Knowledge '68," campaign methods will be discussed by several public relations workers including Paul Lutzeler, of the Livonia staff. Livonia has no new millage campaign in sight.

An Amiable Record Keeper

Township Clerk Makes Two Assets Go Long Way

Two of Helen Richardson's greatest assets as Plymouth Township Clerk are her pleasant smile coupled with a serene disposition.

Both of these "attributes" are absolutely necessary for Mrs. Richardson's day-to-day operation because one of the side lights to her regular duties is answering the telephone explaining the latest moves of the township board of trustees, of which she is secretary.

When the board acts on something controversial, her phone is flooded with calls from inquiring township residents wanting the whole thing explained.

MRS. RICHARDSON is the youngest of 12 children. She was born in 1921 on a farm in Marion Township which is about four miles outside of Howell.

The clerk said that at the time of her birth her father, Arthur Wright, was out in the field plowing. The doctor came running out to him and said, "Arch you've got another daughter." Her father commented, "Another one," and kept right on plowing.

The township clerk explained that her father is dead now, but her mother, Josephine Wright, is still living near Howell and has reached the ripe, old age of 93. However, Mrs. Richardson added, her mother has faded considerably in the last year.

Possibly, being raised with eight sisters and three brothers has helped Mrs. Richardson cope with the problems of the many people she deals with every day.

THE AMIABLE RECORD keeper remarked that the clerk for Marion Township is nothing more than a figurehead because the township is sparsely populated and the supervisor is able to handle most of the business himself.

She added that when she tells her relatives, who still live near Howell, that she is Clerk for Plymouth Township, they are not impressed and think that she has a pretty easy job.

They couldn't be more mistaken in their assumption, she added.

OFFICIALLY, the supervisor is in charge of everything that goes on in the township daily and he is directly responsible to the board of trustees.

Directly under the supervisor is the clerk and the treasurer. Maybe in Marion Township, like Mrs. Richardson pointed out, the clerk is nothing more than a figurehead, but not in Plymouth Township.

MRS. HELEN RICHARDSON

In the last few years, the township has experienced an influx of families and this has made everyone's task more difficult.

The increased population didn't add any new duties to the three top jobs in the township, but it did make the regular duties more complicated.

MRS. RICHARDSON ENUMERATED:

Mixed in with her daily routine, her office receives all incoming calls, which she termed as a tremendous job.

Among her other regular duties as clerk, she is in charge of all elections held in the township—from the smallest to the largest. The clerk prepares the ballots, makes sure that the voters are properly registered and strikes all those from the record who are ineligible to vote.

Her office accepts all applications of election inspectors and forwards them to the board for approval or rejection.

The clerk serves as chairman of the election commission and along with the supervisor and treasurer selects the other members of the commission.

HARD WORK and lots of it are the key adjectives for Mrs. Richardson's job.

Another part of her duties is to keep the minutes of each board of trustees' meeting and keep all the records of the township.

Along with the supervisor, the clerk acts as contracting agent, and purchasing agent for the township.

Mrs. Richardson is the clerk to the township planning commission, secretary to the township board, has the responsibility of getting out the agendas for both bodies and, then, must see that the minutes of the board are published in a paper or appropriate publication.

She must prepare all bills for payment and then, on approval of the board, pay them. Her office prepares the payroll and submits it to the treasurer which again awaits the approval of the board and she also must prepare the annual budget for general government expenses.

The list seems endless, but these are some of the clerk's most important duties.

IN THE FACE of all this difficult and time-consuming work, Mrs. Richardson insists she enjoys it very much. She said, "I guess, feeling I'm a part of doing something for the township is satisfying—it has been a challenge and I have enjoyed doing it."

Mrs. Richardson first came to the township as an employee in the treasurer's office under Mrs. Holmes.

She worked there for five years and then was appointed deputy township clerk under C.V. Sparks in 1966. He resigned shortly after and she was appointed to the post by the board on May 1, 1966.

The following November, after she had served the remainder of Sparks' term, she was elected to the post along with the supervisor and the treasurer, in a regular township election.

AFTER GRADUATING from Howell High School in 1939, she attended LaSalle Institute of Chicago and received a two-year degree in filing and indexing. LaSalle is a highly specialized business and secretarial training school.

She worked as a private secretary in Howell before coming to the township in the treasurer's office.

She met her husband, Robert, in Howell. They were married in 1941.

Mrs. Richardson commented, "If marriages are made in heaven, we have one."

The Richardsons have three daughters: Brenda, 25, who is a curator for the Museum of Art in Berkeley, Calif.; Rosemary, 22, who is working on her master's degree in Seattle, Wash.; and Pamela, 16, who is a sophomore in Plymouth High School.

Mr. Richardson is employed at Burroughs.

Southgate Is Named To Guidance Post

The Plymouth Board of Education has appointed Robert Southgate to the newly created post of Coordinator of High School Guidance in a move that may have created an inequity in the definition between the positions of teacher and administrator.

The position of Coordinator of High School Guidance formerly carried the title of assistant principal in charge of guidance counseling.

Southgate will replace Mike Hoben, who has been the assistant principal in charge of guidance. Hoben will remain a part-time counselor but will spend the major part of his time working on the guidance program for high school No. 2 which is still in the planning stages.

The position, although an administrative post, will carry a teacher's salary plus a $700 stipend for guidance to compensate for a longer day and 15 per cent of the basic teacher salary for an extended six weeks during the summer.

The appointment of Southgate marks the first time an administrative post has not carried an administrative salary. Southgate's basic pay is computed on a teacher's salary with a Master of Arts degree—$11,200. Added to this is another $34 for two semester hours beyond masters.

Along with the $700 stipend goes the 15 per cent or $1,680 for six weeks summer salary. Southgate's total salary will then be $13,614.

This salary is unprecedented for this position because it is less than was previously paid for the same job before Southgate was appointed.

Firemen Make Annual Grant For School Bus

The Plymouth Community School District recently received a grant of $232.02 from the Plymouth Firemen's Association.

The money has been earmarked to cover the cost of transportation to away-games in athletic events.

The district is obligated to transport all of its athletes, but it is not obligated to bus any spectators to the games.

The Firemen's Association donates an amount of money each year to help the school district defray the costs of transporting the spectators.

Consumers Power Plans $187 Million Expansion

Consumers Power Company, headquartered in Jackson, has budgeted a record expansion and improvement investment for 1968 of $187 million.

In announcing the 1968 budget, A.H. Aymond, chairman of the board and James H. Campbell, president, said it exceeds by 35 per cent the company's construction expenditures in 1967. The previous record for one year's construction was 1966, when the company spent $147 million.

The company expects to invest nearly $130 million in expansion of its electric facilities; $42 million in expansion of its natural gas facilities, and more than $15 million in additions to office, service, transportation and warehouse facilities.

than one million electric customers in 61 of the 68 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. It expects to add 27,000 more in 1968. The company also serves more than 750,000 customers in 37 counties with natural gas, and expects addition of 34,000 more in 1968.

A large share of the 1968 capital budget is $50.7 million for continuing construction work on the company's new Palisades nuclear plant, 35 miles west of Kalamazoo. The plant is scheduled for commercial operation in 1970, with initial capacity of 710,000 kilowatts, and eventual capability expected to exceed 800,000 kilowatts.

Engineering work on the recently announced Ludington pumped storage hydroelectric plant is estimated to cost $900,- 000 in 1968. Actual construction will not commence, however, until late 1969, and the major share of the projected $186 million plant cost will occur in the succeeding four years.

The plant, with a generating capacity of 1.8 million kilowatts, is scheduled for initial operation in 1973. It will be used principally to meet peak demands for electric power.

CONSTRUCTION OF THE company's third nuclear power plant, announced in December and to be located near Midland, is scheduled to begin in 1969. Total cost of the project is estimated at $267 million, but only about $1 million will be spent on engineering work in 1968.

OTHER MAJOR ITEMS of construction cost in expanding the electric service include $17 million for additions and improvements to the transmission system, $9.4 million for construction of interconnections, $10.7 million for additions and improvements to distribution substations, and $24.4 million for expansion and improvement of the distribution system.

The company is adding three more gas turbine peaking units of 21,000 kilowatts each at locations near Erie, Gaylord, and Bay City. Their cost in 1968 is estimated at $5 million. It now has four peaking units in operation near Gaylord.

Major natural gas projects extending into 1968 include continuing acquisition of gas storage fields and the expansion of the company's transmission and distribution systems. The budget includes $28.3 million for work on the distribution system, and $7.9 million for expansion of the transmission system, mainly for completion of a 26-inch pipeline from the Ray storage field to the City of Flint.

ADDITIONAL compressors are being installed at the Ray field, helping to complete major natural gas storage facilities in St. Clair and Macomb counties, near Detroit. In all, $4.4 million will be spent in 1968 for expansion and improvement of the company's gas production plant.

Of the budget for other items, $8.8 million will be spent on office and service buildings, $4.1 million for automobiles, trucks and equipment, and $1.5 million for tools, implements and testing equipment.

Consumers' service area covers more than 30,000 square miles of Michigan's Lower Peninsula, and includes 1,835 communities.

Make Plans To Convert Machines

Nearly 10,000 postage vending machines, including those at Livonia Post Office, will be converted over the next three months to reflect the new postage rates, Postmaster Arthur Jenkins said today.

New postage rates went into effect January 7. The new rates raise first class postage to 6-cents an ounce, air mail to 10-cents an ounce, and postal cards to 5-cents.

The job of converting the thousands of vending machines found in post office lobbies from coast to coast is so massive that it will take several months to complete. Five different types of machines are involved.

Taxpayers Warned To Save Receipts

Now is the time to put your financial house in order and get a head start on the income filing season which began January 1. A. M. Stoepler, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, emphasized that cancelled checks, receipts, records of contributions and other financial records should be gathered now to help prepare 1967 Federal income tax returns.

Complete records help to insure that taxpayers do not overpay their taxes and also make the job of preparing the tax return easier.

Stoepler said that a copy of your 1966 return is one of the best guides for preparing your 1967 return. He also pointed out that through 1968, one should accumulate records and receipts to ease the tax filing job in the following year.

COG Assembly To Open; Some Suburbs Missing

The General Assembly of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments will go into business Saturday, but some of the leading suburban units may not be formally represented.

The SEMCOG assembly will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the auditorium of the Ford Motor Co.'s headquarters on American Rd., Dearborn.

All units of government in the six-county area of southeastern Michigan may send representatives, but voting will be restricted to those which have formally joined SEMCOG by adopting and returning a form resolution.

AMONG THE 90 units with formal membership are:

Farmington city and township, South Redford School District, Livonia School District, Plymouth city and township, Plymouth School District, Canton Township, Wayne School District, Wayne County and Oakland County.

Those who haven't formally joined yet include:

The City of Livonia, Farmington School District, Clarenceville School District, Redford Township, Redford Union School District, Garden City, the City of Westland, and Garden City School District.

SEMCOG is replacing the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission and the Inter-County Supervisors Association.

Whether the council will be able to pick a full-time executive director Saturday remains to be seen.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and acting chairman of SEMCOG's executive committee might be able to make some recommendations.

Overseas Mailings Improved

A new air transportation plan for sending packages up to 30 pounds to military personnel served by Army and Fleet Post Offices went into effect Jan. 7, offering senders special low rates.

Users of this airlift service will get much faster delivery on parcels going overseas. To qualify, packages must not weigh more than 30 pounds nor measure more than 60 inches in combined length and girth.

The airlift depends on a space-available basis, and that packages may be shipped at the domestic parcel post surface rate to the point of embarkation plus a flat fee of $1.

The air parcel post rate for a 15-pound package being sent to Vietnam is $12.88. The same package could be shipped under the new service for $4.45.

On some light packages, air parcel post rates may be lower than those of the airlift.

Farmers Must File Estimates By January 15

The Internal Revenue Service reminds farmers that their declaration of estimated Federal income tax for 1967 should be filed on or before Monday, Jan. 15. Farmers who filed the estimate need not file their income tax return until April 15, 1968.

If an estimate is not filed on or before January 15 farmers must file their Federal income tax return, Form 1040, and pay any tax due by Thursday, February 15, to avoid a possible penalty for underpayment of estimated tax.

Allen: 'They're Way High'

Colleges Ask Big Aid Boost

Anticipating a 5.3 per cent enrollment increase, Michigan's 11 public universities and colleges are asking for a 32.4 per cent increase in state aid.

"Obviously," says State Budget Director Glenn S. Allen Jr., "they are way high."

The colleges want a total state appropriation of nearly $271 million for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

Says Sen. Frank D. Beadle,

R-St. Clair, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee:

"I suspect we'll end up with enough to take care of increases in enrollment and some improvements."

THE UNIVERSITY of Michigan projecting a 1968-69 enrollment of 37,283 students, has requested the largest sum—$75.81 million, $16.64 million more than the 1967 Legislature appropriated. Michigan State University, the largest university with its Oakland branch, wants $70.31 million, $13.57 more than it now receives. MSU is anticipating a total enrollment of 44,839 students, about 1,700 more than are now enrolled. Wayne State University is asking for an $11.05 million budget increase to raise its total appropriation to $44.60 million. Wayne State officials say they will have nearly 26,000 students next year, about 1,400 more than they have now.

CENTRAL has requested $10.94 million, a $3.37 million increase; Eastern $16.45 million, a $6.15 million increase; Ferris $9.23 million, a $2.45 million increase; Grand Valley $2.63 million, a $652,227 increase; Northern $8.17 million, a $3.05 million increase; Saginaw $1.13 million, a $632,210 million increase; and Western $21.73 million, a $6.85 million increase.

THIS YEAR an estimated 169,711 on and off campus students are enrolled at the state's public colleges and universities. An estimated 178,713 are expected to enroll next year. Beadle's committee is holding unprecedented pre-session hearings with the officers of the state's institutions of higher learning. "Normally, we don't start having these hearings until the governor's budget comes in," he said.

Allen has already held similar hearings and his staff has cut the budget requests in preparation for Gov. George Romney's spending message to the 75th Michigan Legislature sometime between Jan. 28 and Feb. 3. Allen declined to say what his recommendation to Romney will be.

Benefit Hikes To Help 64,000 In The Suburbs

Social Security benefit increases will be added automatically into April checks received by 64,000 in northwest Detroit suburbs.

President Johnson signed the bill Jan. 2 providing benefit increases of at least 13 per cent.

SAM F. TEST, district manager for Social Security in the Detroit-Northwest office, said beneficiaries will not be required to take any action, that the increases will be made automatically.

Residents of the northwest area can expect the first increased check on April 3.

Some Social Security beneficiaries will receive more than a 13 per cent increase. The minimum benefit for workers retiring at 65 is increased from $44 to $55.

The average benefit payable to a retired worker, about $86, will be raised to $98, an increase of $12 a month. The average couple's benefit, now $145, will go up to $165; and the average aged widow's benefit will rise $11, from the current average of $75 to $86.

THE LAST INCREASE in social security benefits amounted to seven per cent, and was effective January 1965.

About three out of every 10 beneficiaries receiving an increased check in April will be someone under 65, many of them the children of working fathers who have died.

The value of Social Security survivors insurance is often overlooked. Social Security is more than just a retirement system. But it is also income protection for the family in case of the breadwinner's death or disability.

WITH THE increased benefit payments provided under the new amendments to the law, the face value of Social Security survivors insurance protection is increased to about $940 billion.

This is just about equivalent to the value of all the private life insurance now in force. Under the amended law, maximum payments to families now on the Social Security benefit rolls will go up from the currently payable maximum of $309.20 a month to $322.40.

In the future, the maximum payable monthly to any one family can be as high as $434.40.

Tax Sharing To Be Issue --McDonald

Congressman Jack McDonald (R-19th District) predicts that the idea of revenue sharing between the federal government and the states will be much discussed in the next session of Congress.

McDonald, a first-term representative who lives in Redford, is in favor of the idea. In a newsletter this week, he said:

"Under such a plan, federal lump-sum payments to states would be combined with tax credits as a substitute for the present federal grant system."

"One of the prime advantages of such a shift in emphasis would be the strengthening of programs at the state and local level."

"TESTIMONY before a fiscal affairs subcommittee of the Joint Economic Committee showed that failure to solve poverty, welfare and education problems at the state and local level stems in part from the shortage of top-level administrative employees. This is due to the 'brain drain' caused by the mushrooming of federal programs. There are now 485 such programs giving out $15 billion a year."

"Some of the federal agencies with a high percentage of top personnel drawn from state and local government:

"Interior Department, 34.1 per cent; Bureau of the Budget, 31.6 per cent; Department of Housing and Urban Development, 28.6 per cent, and Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 28.5 per cent."

"THESE FIGURES show that the areas where states and communities are most in need of competent, trained, managerial-level personnel are the areas of budget analysis and general administration for those programs administered by Interior, HUD, and HEW. "Revenue sharing, it is clear, would help redress the fiscal imbalance created by proliferating federal grant programs administered in Washington," McDonald said.

Hart Bill Aimed At Antitrust

Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) has introduced a bill designed, he said, to correct tax policies that encourage violations of the federal antitrust laws.

Hart said that the 1964 IRS ruling has cost the government about a half-billion dollars in revenue.

The bill would:

1. Prevent antitrust violators from deducting triple-damage court penalties from their income tax. Such deductions are currently allowed under an Internal Revenue Department ruling that Hart has hotly disputed.
2. Give tax-free status to penalty payments awarded to the victims of antitrust violators. Currently, these payments are charged as taxable income, thus reducing the incentive to sue.

Congressman Esch Reports

Congress Takes Steps To Bolster Education Program

In the closing hours of the first session of the 90th Congress the House and Senate completed action on the Elementary and Secondary Education Amendments of 1967 and cleared this legislation for the President's signature. After months of committee work and floor debate Congress gave final approval to legislation authorizing two-year extensions and $9.23 billion in federal aid for many diverse programs of education and for strengthening state administration of education programs.

Along with many of my colleagues in the House, I had been working since early in the session to promote a comprehensive bill that would support a strong commitment to the view that federal support should be designed to strengthen consistently state and local responsibility for the schools, and offer a long-range, broader commitment to education in general.

I EXPRESSED MY support for these ideas as a member of the House Committee on Education and Labor and, more recently, as an appointed member to the House-Senate Conference Committee on Elementary and Secondary Education. The final product of our lengthy deliberations is a bill which will insure that state and local responsibility will not be further undermined in the area of education.

Under Title III, which will continue to provide funds for the creation of supplementary and innovative education programs and projects to upgrade schooling, 75% of the $500 million authorized for next year will be given in a block to be administered by the states. In fiscal 1970, 100% of Title III funds will go directly to the states.

At the same time, another Title of the bill recognizes existing weaknesses in some state and local agencies, and provides funds to enable the states to strengthen their education departments and administer and plan programs more efficiently and effectively.

There is also a third provision in the new legislation which will do a great deal to eliminate the perennial problem of plans for educational programs that are upset by delayed and altered funding. In the future, the Congress will appropriate school funds a year in advance, so that unlike this year state and local officials will be able to plan programs with comprehension and certainty.

With the three developments above the Congress has indicated a growing willingness to recognize the role of state and local governments in solving their own problems, administering their own programs, and planning their own futures. The innovative idea of federal revenue sharing has, at last, won a significant victory in this legislation. * * *

Other new or extended programs authorized by the Education Amendments include:

--Programs of state grants and regional centers for the education of handicapped children.

--$5.6 billion in additional assistance for the education of children of low-income families.

--Extension of adult education programs.

--A new section providing funds for the development of creative programs of Bi-lingual Education to upgrade the level of education for migrant and other children who suffer from inadequate knowledge of English.

--A study to promote school-bus safety.

--New projects for the prevention of school dropouts.

Now that the Elementary and Secondary Education Amendments have been completed, my committee will turn to beginning work on higher and vocational education. Your comments on these and other federal programs are always welcome.

Plymouth Architect Passes Away In East

Mrs. Arvin Benjamin Shaw III, the former Belva Jane Barnes of Plymouth, died in New York Tuesday, Dec. 26, following a long illness.

She was the daughter of the late Mrs. Mildred Mills Barnes of Plymouth and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Mills, of Plymouth.

Mrs. Shaw was a Plymouth High School graduate in 1939 and received her degree from the University of Michigan School of Architecture in 1944.

Her career in the field of architecture is marked by her outstanding work with the architectural firm of Harrison and Abramovitz on the United Nations building, with Marcelle Breuer on the UNESCO building in France and with the Wallace K. Harrison firm on the New York Metropolitan Opera House in Lincoln Center. While working with the famed French architect, Le Corbusier, Mrs. Shaw completed the designs for the American Embassy in France.

She is survived by her husband, Arvin Benjamin Shaw III, partner in the New York firm of Carson, Lundin and Shaw, Skyscraper Architects.

Adams House Owner Dies At Convention

Charles Deitch, partner in the Adams House furniture store on Ann Arbor Trail, died suddenly Sunday night in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, of an apparent heart attack. He was attending a furniture show there.

Deitch, well known and respected in his field, has been in the furniture business for 25 years and received the "Furniture World Award of Honor" in 1958.

Only a few short months ago, in October 1967, "Chuck and Marge", as he and his partner, Marge Banner, liked to be called, opened the Adams House after many months of preparation and hard work.

The 48 year old businessman is survived by his wife Sarah, and their four children; Howard, Rene, David and Jeffrey who reside in Southfield.

Services are set for Wednesday, Jan. 10 at 3 p.m. in the Ira Kaufman Funeral Home Southfield.

The Adams House will close its doors Wednesday and a request has been made for contributions to the Heart Fund in lieu of floral arrangements.

Five professional nitpickers criticize the Javelin.

"Javelin is a world apart from the other ponycars in styling, comfort, space and features...the car turned and cornered as if it were nailed to the road...Nearly every interior dimension is larger than its competitors, and three in the full width back seat is a reality...Performance of our test car was just short of surprising...Too few cars have brakes equal to the optional front disc/rear drum power units on the Javelin..."
—Motor Trend, January, 1968

"BRAND NEW IMAGE BUSTER...transmission responds well to hard active operation and the synchromesh is all but flawless...driving the Javelin is an interesting and satisfying experience...the ability to bring a howl from the rear wheels in any of the lower gears is undeniably exciting...the Javelin has a lot of things going for it..."
—Car Life, December, 1967

"AN EXCITING NEW SPORTSTER...A real racy-looking car...shows up well on the road-handling course...fun to drive..."

particularly liked the action of the optional power steering...The Javelin reacts almost the same at high speed as it does during low-speed maneuvers."

—Popular Science Monthly, September, 1967

"AN AMERICAN DREAM...seat is surprisingly soft...On long series of tight right- and left-hand curves, the quick response, the time it took to go from one steady state to another, was pleasingly impressive...Javelin's brakes were all we could want...optional heavy-duty suspension and wide tread tires really work wonders...you could feel and even control the point at which tire adhesion gave way..."
—Hot Rod Magazine, December, 1967

"FRONT END OF JAVELIN IS MEAN LOOKING...Fresh, clean lines and a luxurious interior...interior appointments very comfortable and well-laid out...visibility forward is excellent...has a lot more legroom than is generally associated with pony cars..."
—Motorcade, November, 1967

Everyone Loves A Sandwich

The sandwich was named after John Montagu, Fourth Earl of Sandwich, England (1718-92). The story is that the earl was so interested in gambling that he would not stop for a meal, but ordered bread with meat. At that time only hard, crusty bread was common. The earl had bread baked in a deep pan so only the top was crusty and the rest remained soft. This bread became known in England as "Sandwich Loaf".

TIPS FOR sandwich making:
Spread butter to edges of bread, as this prevents filling from soaking the bread.
For variety, butter may be flavored with lemon, honey, chives, cheese or mustard to blend with the filling.
Cut sandwiches for ease in eating.
Many types of sandwiches may be frozen for future use. Remember to label before storing.
Remember that if a sandwich is to make the entire meal, a protein food should be used. Garnishes add flavor contrast and color.

County Starts Radio Network, Anti-Crime Unit

Two new anti-crime measures—an emergency police radio network and a unit to combat organized crime—are being put into action in Wayne County.

The radio network will provide for the first time a direct in-the-field radio link between police of different departments during emergencies, such as natural disasters and civil disturbances.

HEART OF THE RADIO network will be a mobile communications and command center which can be stationed at the scene of the emergency. Development of the radio network is being coordinated by the office of Sheriff Peter L. Buback.

The organized crime unit is being established by Prosecuting Attorney William L. Cahalan. It will consist of two assistant prosecutors and an investigator who will concentrate on the investigation and prosecution of organized underworld operations.

Both new programs were approved by the County Board of Supervisors Jan. 4. The board authorized an $18,200 outlay for purchase of equipment for the mobile communications center and a $38,000 outlay to cover the cost of the organized crime division for the balance of this fiscal year.

THE BOARD ALSO made an emergency allocation of $100,000 to bring the pay of nearly 400 county nurses up to the average pay level of other nurses in this area. The board was warned that a nurse shortage, resulting from uncompetitive salary rates, threatens to

Sayre To Headline Livonia Town Hall

The Livonia Town Hall program at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 17, will feature a philosopher, professor, mountain climber, musician, Congressional candidate and writer.

The speaker is the versatile Dr. Woodrow Wilson Sayre, author of the 1964 best-seller "Four Against Everest." The program, third of five in the Livonia series, will be held in the Terrace Theater, 30400 Plymouth Rd.

Dr. Sayre, who has taught philosophy at Tufts University, Harvard University and Pomona College in Calif., will lecture on "Philosophies We Live By."

IN DISCUSSING HIS TALK, he referred to the present time as "the era of the organization man," and added:

"More security is a barren ideal. We need to pay attention to what is done with that security. And we also need to ask whether security itself does not have its own dangers."

Dr. Sayre is the grandson of President Woodrow Wilson, to whom he bears a strong resemblance, and the son of Francis B. Sayre, former Harvard law professor, high commissioner of the Philippines and U.S. representative in the United Nations.

HE AND THREE "amateur" companions several years ago came within 3,500 feet of the peak of Mt. Everest, and more recently he tried to climb the highest mountain on the

Easter Seal Drive Asks Volunteers

Women and men with skills in typing or hand addressing and a few hours to spare are invited by the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County to volunteer their services in preparing for the 1968 Easter Seal Appeal.

The drive begins March 1 and continues through Easter Sunday, April 14.

Addressing the envelopes which will carry the Easter Seal message into homes throughout Western Wayne County is the first step in a series of activities designed to raise the funds to finance services to crippled children and adults not available otherwise.

Individual volunteers or groups may arrange their hours of service by telephoning the Easter Seal Center, Parkway 2-3055. Working at the Center addressing envelopes from card files gives volunteers an opportunity to see the program in operation, and may suggest other less routine assignments during the campaign or in the year-round service program.

The Center is located near Middle Belt and Michigan in Inkster. Regularly scheduled hours are 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays.

Antarctica continent. He has said of his mountain exploits: "Men climb mountains because they are not satisfied to merely exist, they want to live."

"I feel a special happiness to be alone in the high, silent places of the world, tucked close under the sky. Only then does a person turn deeply inward."

Mrs. Jerry Joyner, a member of the Livonia Board of Education and active in the American Field Service program in Livonia, will introduce Dr. Sayre. Town Hall proceeds are used to support the AFS student exchange in the community.

A celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth will follow the program at the theater.

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by calling Mrs. John Layman, 422-5729, by Friday, Jan. 12.

Remove Stain

To remove perspiration stains from white fabrics, place the stained parts over a bowl of very hot water and rub briskly with a cut lemon. Then rinse in cold water. Finish by washing in the usual way.

-- m. m. memos --

I do my spring housecleaning in January. No, I'm not two or three months early with the project—more like nine or ten months late.

But the need for a neat desk drawer, an uncluttered closet, even a semi-organized attic seems to hit irresistibly at this time of year.

I decided it may be a widespread feminine urge, for my daughters joined in the general hoeing out with less protest than usual, and a call to Goodwill Industries indicated that I'll have to wait longer than is customary before they can come to pick up my six bags full of discards.

It may be that the new year and all that it implies leads to the urge to clean. Or maybe putting away the Christmas paraphernalia makes one to move on to more general tidiness.

Or just the relief of finally having a bit more time and a bit less pressure after the holidays brings on a burst of housekeeping energy. Probably it's a combination of all three.

At any rate, I find myself as pleased with my cleared-out cupboards and closets as the children are with their Christmas toys. Even though I know it won't last, it's delightful to be organized.

Woman's Club Plans Benefit

A dessert bridge and wig fashion show will highlight the annual Plymouth Woman's Club benefit Monday, Jan. 22 at 12:30 in the Westland Shopping Center Auditorium.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Robert Gilmore, GL 3-6402 and Mrs. Robert Taylor, GL 3-7499.

Make A Game Room

Shuffleboard is a favorite game for young and old. It can be played in a basement of any size by simply putting down a hard-surfaced flooring with the goals and other markings already imprinted.

As a proper setting for this game, install a durable, attractive wall such as Masonite Royalcote, available in 17 patterns and woodgrains. A few comfortable chairs for spectators and players will make this a popular indoor game area.

TABLE TENNIS is another game inviting to all age groups. Even a small basement can accommodate a playing surface, especially if the ingenious handyman can store it out of sight between sessions.

One handyman, finishing his basement with prefinished hardboard panels, made several of them removable. Behind the wall is adequate space for storing the table tennis outfit, which has removable legs.

Livonia Couple Is Wed

Aldersgate Methodist Church in Redford Township was the scene of the marriage vows of Linda Arleen West and Airman 1/c Roger D. Fleming on Dec. 16.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Warren K. West and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald L. Fleming, both of Livonia. The Rev. William G. Wager officiated for the afternoon double-ring ceremony.

GIVEN BY her father in marriage, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin trimmed with lace. Her cathedral veil was elbow-length, and her bouquet a cascade of white orchids surrounded with baby white rosebuds.

Shelly Graves wore a pastel pink gown for her role as maid of honor. She carried pink rosebuds and carnations. Also carrying pink rosebuds and carnations was flower girl Patricia Fleming, sister of the bridegroom. Her dress was powder blue.

Airman 1/c Charles Prismo was best man, and the bride's brothers, Warren West Jr. and James Allen West, were ushers.

MRS. WEST CHOSE a dress of beige and gold on white for her daughter's wedding, and Mrs. Grace West, grandmother of the bride, wore a beige suit. Mrs. Fleming's costume was silver on white.

City Plan
For Ice Arena

A meeting between the Plymouth Board of Education and the City of Plymouth has been scheduled for Jan. 29 in City Hall to discuss the city's construction of an ice arena on school property.

In a previous letter to the board, the city requested two and a half acres from a corner of the high school property as a site for the proposed recreation facility.

At the board's Jan. 8 regular meeting, the city again requested that the board make some kind of arrangement with it--however, the city boosted its former request from two and a half acres to four acres.

Esther Hulsing, president, said that the high school property is overcrowded as it is now and it would be doubtful if the board could give up the four acres.

Energy Topic Of Lecture

The question "Where Does Energy Come From?" will be examined from the Christian Science point of view at a public lecture in Plymouth on Tuesday, Jan. 16.

Gertrude E. Velguth, C.S., a Christian Science practitioner from Flint, Mich., will be the speaker, under sponsorship of First Church of Christ, Scientist. The lecture will begin at 8 p.m. in the church auditorium located at 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

She is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music at Eastern Michigan University and currently a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Religion Must Not Conform

Even if people don't like it, their religion ought to shake them up, says Rabbi Balfour Brickner, an official of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. He adds:

"As soon as a church goes into a suburb, it is essentially in the midst of a conformity which masks all kinds of social problems and unpleasanties. But when the church starts to do its job, to tear away the veneer, people dislike it."

Panel To Discuss Means Of Coping With Mental Illness

The most effective means of combating mental and emotional disturbances will be discussed by a panel of three at the 10 a.m. program Sunday, Jan. 14, in the Universalist-Unitarian Church of Farmington.

Members of the panel will be Dr. Sanford Bloomberg, psychiatrist and member of the Farmington Board of Education; Don Kern, psychologist and assistant director of the Detroit-Wayne County Mental Health Board; and Robert Miles Eddy, minister of the church.

Eddy recently has conducted several "coping groups" in which small groups of individuals meet in discussions to try to help each other find solutions to problems.

HE SAID THE PANEL would go into a number of questions in the field of psychiatry and counseling, including:

What special training for psychotherapy to psychiatrists, psychologists and ministers have?

For what does this training qualify them?

Has the so-called medical model been harmful to people's attempts to cope with mental and emotional disorders?

What differences between "insight" and "crisis" therapy, and what are the pros and cons of using each?

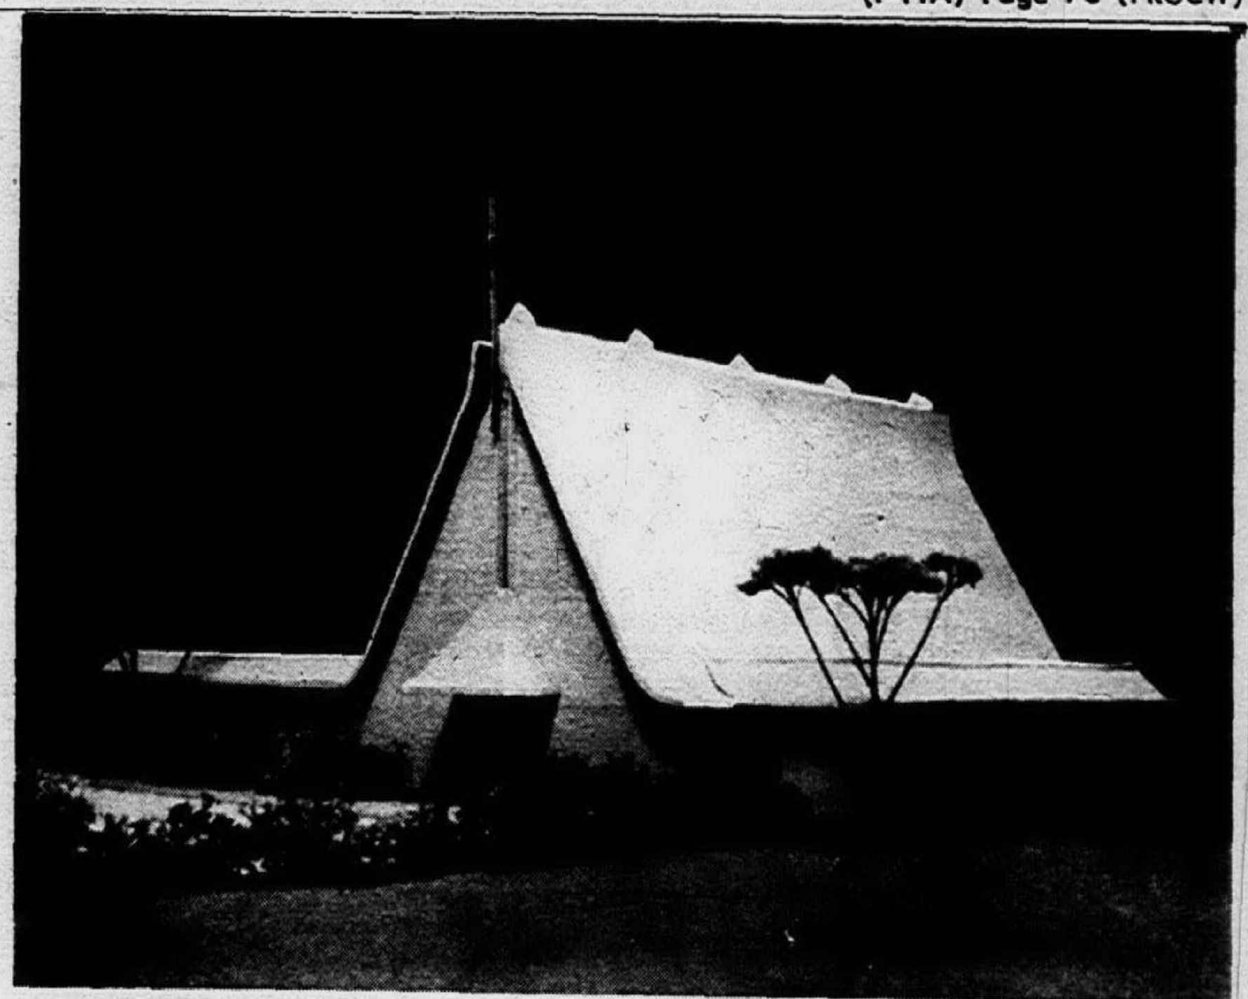

Does the mental health of the therapist determine his effectiveness?

How can the various helping professions best cooperate to improve the mental health of people in our communities?

EDDY SAID all persons interested in the subject are invited to attend the program. There will be an opportunity for written questions from the floor and open discussion of the topic after coffee.

DBC Sets Three New Courses

Three new courses will be offered in the DBC evening school schedule for the spring semester, Dr. Charles H. Shaw, director, announced recently.

They are: "Roman Catholicism," "Remedial English," and "Reading Improvement."

Registration for evening school is scheduled Jan. 25 with classes beginning on Jan. 30.

Dr. Shaw said Robert F. Ramsey, associate professor in Bible and Theology, would teach "Roman Catholicism," and Owen Fraser would teach both "Remedial English" and "Reading Improvement." Fraser is an executive in the personnel department at Chrysler Corp.

A course that will be continued from the fall semester is "Introduction to Greek" with the Rev. Grant Richison, pastor of Chandler Park Drive Baptist Church, Detroit, instructing.

In addition, the "Book of Psalms" will be taught this spring by the Rev. Al Ferla. This particular course has not been offered in recent years, Dr. Shaw commented.

Persons desiring more information should call UN 4-8400, or write: Director of Evening School, Detroit Bible College, 17370 Meyers Road, Detroit, Michigan, 48235.

Dedication To Learning Service Held At LJC

The Livonia Jewish Congregation held their annual Dedication to Learning service at the Dec. 30 Sabbath Services. First Graders in the Sunday School, led by Mrs. Norma Zelch, presented a program of poetry and song and received prayer books by Rabbi Martin Gordon.

The service was also the occasion of an interfaith visit by a group of parishioners from St. Aidan's Catholic Church of Livonia. Rabbi Gordon conducted the Sabbath service, and later welcomed the guests at the reception which followed. Marcus Bass, president of the congregation, explained many details of the Sabbath service to the visitors.

Rabbi Gordon's sermon dwelt upon the true nature of religious education—the transmitting of genuine religious fervor from the teacher to the hearts of the pupils.

Participants will live at the International Inn adjacent to the WSU campus. Cost for the seminar, including hotel rooms, all meals, tuition, books and incidental expenses, is $125.

Among other lecturers and guest consultants will be the Rev. John Kirvan, director of the Newman Apostolate at WSU and author of "The Restless Believers," Dr. Nathan Wright, Jr., director, department of urban work, Episcopal Diocese of Newark, the Rev. Albert Cleage, minister of the Central United Church of Christ, and the Rev. E. Douglas White, of the Detroit Industrial Mission.

Participants will live at the International Inn adjacent to the WSU campus. Cost for the seminar, including hotel rooms, all meals, tuition, books and incidental expenses, is $125.

Abortion Law To Be WEC Topic

The proposed liberalization of Michigan's abortion law will be the program topic at the Jan. 15 meeting of the Women's Economic Club.

Speaker for the session will be state Sen. John E. McCauley, who introduced the much-discussed McCauley Bill into the Michigan Senate last March. The luncheon meeting will begin at noon in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.

Sen. McCauley, who holds a law degree from Wayne State University, has had a long career in public service, dating from 1955 when he began his first term as a member of the Wyandotte City Council.

Before being elected to the State Senate in 1964 he served as mayor of Wyandotte, a delegate to the Michigan Constitutional Convention, and a member of the governor's commission on county home rule.

He is presently a member of the Senate Committees on taxation and municipalities and serves as Democratic Caucus Leader.

The WEC will depart from its customary Tuesday schedule for January to hear Sen. McCauley.

UP' GOING 'CURTAIN'

Best way to start a heated discussion is to state categorically in loud tones, "I think the 10 best films of 1967 were..." You'll get arguments from the meekest members of the group as they stoutly disagree with your choices.

For a number of years now old Wally has reported the findings of the New York Times as to the 10 best films of 1967. Even The Times is featuring listings by additional theatrical and movie personalities in an effort to ward off excessive complaints. It's time we recognized that the movies appeal to people in various degrees of total enjoyment. One man's meat can very well be another man's poisoning in the area of cinema viewing.

CONSEQUENTLY, let's take a broad approach to the various lists that have appeared during the past week. First, it is important to note that the foreign "art" film is losing ground. Where listings in other years appeared to be of an international flavor since French, Italian, and British pictures dominated, not so in 1967.

Sweden has a lone entry in the film "Elivira Madigan." Critics across the country agree this Swedish legend of doomed lovers so beautifully photographed in sensitive color is a real cinematic experience. The Campus theater in Ann Arbor has scheduled this outstanding film beginning Feb. 1. It should play four or five weeks in the Ann Arbor area.

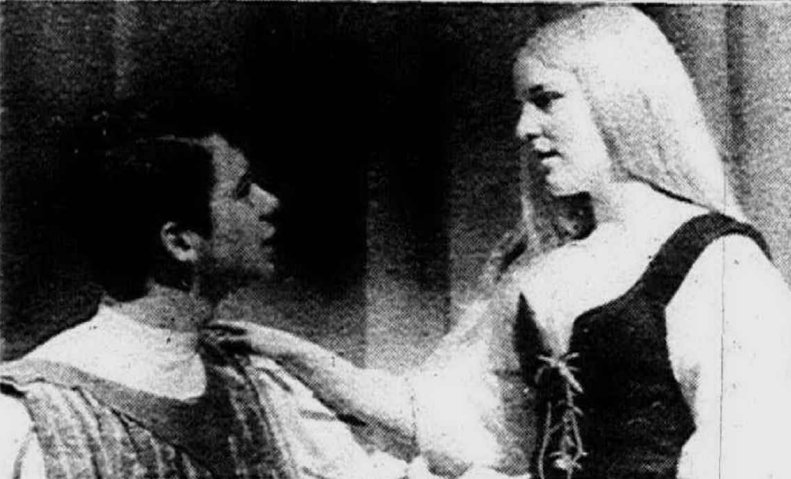

The United States dominated the 10 best listings for a change. The Hollywood crowd has finally seen the light. Scripts are done realistically. If an obscene oath is needed to express a character's wonderment, anger, or what have you, the profane expression comes out frankly and sincerely.

HOLLYWOOD has finally decided that the great American mass audience can handle honest dialogue. There is no need any more to be vague, use Sunday school language, or cloak the story-line in simon-pure silliness.

"In The Heat of the Night" and "Cool Hand Luke" are two examples of mature pictures that hit hard and have appeared on all lists. "Bonnie and Clyde" is another example of good scripting creating an outstanding picture.

The Hollywood moguls are discovering one of the early techniques that made movies real competition for the live stage: going out on location and shooting a picture in the actual settings.

"In Cold Blood," a classic cinematic study of a quadruple murder, went to the actual home in Kansas where the killings took place and did much of the screening.

PAIR OF STARS -- Rehearsing to perfect their lead roles in the Mercy High School production of "Ondine" are Pat Thull, Mercy sophomore, and Bob Davis, of North Farmington High.

Mercy High Sets Stage For Play Of 'Ondine'

Jean Giraudoux's sea fantasy, "Ondine," will be presented by the drama department of Mercy High School at 8:15 p.m. Jan. 12, 13 and 14 in the school auditorium. Lead roles will be taken by Mercy High's Pat Thull and Bob Davis, of North Farmington High.

Directed by Sister Ann Elizabeth, R.S.M., the play tells the story of a knight errant, Hans, who seeks shelter in the hut of humble fisherfolk. Dwelling with the couple is Ondine, a water spirit with magical powers. They fall in love, Hans forgets he is betrothed and they go off together.

'Graduate' Top Fare

In "The Graduate" scriptwriters Calder Willingham and Buck Henry have fashioned a social satire certain to stun you into provocative discussions about the ills of our affluent society. Director Mike Nichols has taken the sharp script and created a fresh, exuberant visual experience.

"The Graduate" plunges you into a world too easy to recognize. You squirm a bit during the early scenes as you recognize too many of your fatuous friends. Dustin Hoffman as the graduating college student is brilliant and handles serious, senuous, and the slyly comic scenes in superb fashion.

Subliminal shots of nude Anne Bancroft seducing Dustin in the cozy confines of her bedroom are handled tastefully. Later sex-play sequences are adroitly presented and become an integral part of the story line.

Kathrine Ross fairly radiates her dew-like goodness. She plays the college gal that can't make up her mind between Dustin and another college student.

Playing the title role will be Earl D.A. Smith, a first-year member of the Hilberry company. Other major roles will be played by Frederick Coffin, Joel M. Kramer, David Adamson, E. Lee Smith, Claudia Wilkens and Michelle Dezeran. "Hamlet" will also be performed Friday night, Jan. 19, and continue in repertory through May 23. The play is directed by Leonard Leone, director of the University Theatre.

Also scheduled during the opening week of the Shakespearean tragedy are George Feydeau's "A Flea in Her Ear" at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 18, and 2:30 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 20, and Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Two more plays, John Whiting's "The Devils" and Jean Anouilh's "Becket," will open in February and March.

Slate Concert

The 14th Annual Dance Concert for Young Folks will be offered in two performances at 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 13 at the Community Arts Auditorium at Wayne State University.

Premiere Set For New Play

One of the most provocative new American plays in years, written in American idiom and devoted to peculiarly American problems, "Ironically," had its first professional production in England.

"And People All Around" by George Sklar was first produced professionally at the Bristol Old Vic in October. The play, which explores the murder of three civil rights workers in Mississippi in uncompromisingly brutal terms, will receive its American professional premiere at the hands of the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre Jan. 19.

The Meadow Brook production, now in rehearsal, is being directed by John Broome and George Guidali, with original music by Booker T. Bradshaw Jr. The Meadow Brook production team has made many alterations. "And People All Around" will premiere from Jan. 19 through Feb. 18. Tickets are now on sale.

The show ranges from the Thomas Flyer, winner of the famous New York-to-Paris race in 1908, to the Ford Mark IV which captured the 1967 Le Mans Grand Prix of endurance. Major events immediately following the Sports Car Show are the Antiques Lecture Series, Feb. 16 and March 8, and the Famous Early Movie Series, each Sunday at 2 and 4 p.m., beginning March 18.

Lottery Has Woes

New York's state lottery, once expected to be a pot of gold for the treasury, isn't. The lottery, begun last June, has run into trouble. Instead of selling the predicted 30 million tickets a month, it is selling only 5.7 million.

One problem is federal laws seriously hampering the amount of advertising that can be done for a lottery.

Another potential problem is that President Johnson may sign a bill prohibiting all federally insured banks from selling lottery tickets.

This would take away nearly 2,500 of the 4,500 ticket outlets.

FACED WITH that serious situation, New York State sold tickets experimentally in a supermarket near Columbia University--part of a plan to put new life into the lagging lottery. Business was fair and 305 tickets were sold in one day.

"Sales outlets are the crux of the whole thing," explained Joseph H. Murphy, New York state tax commissioner, who administers the lottery.

"It's a question of getting the merchandise to the people. The market is there."

UNDER THE present law, the small $1 tickets can only be sold in banks, hotels, motels and state governmental offices.

Lottery managers are especially worried if banks are taken away as a source.

"What effect that will have we don't know," said a lottery official. "Obviously we will have to find a substitute, though it could be a blessing in disguise enabling us to get our tickets out in more accessible ways."

Drawings are monthly with a grand prize of $100,000 every month. A $250,000 super prize will be given in March.

THIS SUPER prize will be drawn from tickets which haven't won in the monthly contests. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is credited with the idea of giving the monthly losers something to look forward to on an annual basis.

Despite all the money to be won, interest has lagged. Advertising has been badly hampered by federal regulations prohibiting the promotion of lotteries across state lines.

New College In Carthage

The Carthage College campus in Carthage, Ill., is back in business—but under a new name.

Old Carthage College, founded in 1870, was moved to Kenosha, Wis., in 1964.

The new Robert Morris Junior College of Carthage offers a two-year course of study in one and one-third school years through the "trimester" system, which provides three 15-week terms each school year. It opened with 415 students.

The campus was purchased by J.R. McCartan and Associates of Pittsburgh, which incorporated as a nonprofit Illinois corporation.

The McCartan group also is associated with Robert Morris Junior College of Pittsburgh, but the two schools are not legally related.

Most Cars Are Under Five Years

LANSING--Nearly seven out of 10 Michigan motorists drive in cars that are less than five years old, a survey of passenger car files for 1967 revealed.

In announcing survey results, Secretary of State James M. Hare said that of the 2,709,896 passenger cars in the records of the Michigan Department of State, 66.5 per cent were 1963-1967 models. Study was made before 1968 models went on sale, Hare explained.

An overwhelming 83 per cent of the passenger cars on Michigan roads were 1960 or later models, Hare noted.

Only about five per cent of all passenger cars were more than 10 years old. A fractional 1 per cent of all registrations dated back to models made before 1946.

"ALTHOUGH IT'S interesting that we have this kind of study to determine what percentage of newer cars are on the road, this is no indication of the conditions of many of these cars," Hare said.

"Some older cars may be in excellent shape, while some of those less than one year old may be in terrible shape. Their condition depends on owner care. Number of miles and how they are driven are also variable factors very important to the condition of cars."

Hare added that many older cars are "not in good shape."

Military-Industry Ties Hit

It's not a conspiracy, but a natural partnership. Nevertheless, that partnership threatens to become a Frankenstein's monster that could grow to control the federal government that created it.

The partnership in question is the military-industrial complex. Its dangers were detailed in Washington recently by a Michigan State University economist.

DR. WALTER Adams, in a paper presented to the American Economic Association, said:

"The complex is not a conspiracy between the 'merchants of death' and a band of lusty generals, but a natural coalition of interest groups with an economic, political or professional stake in defense and space."

Adams took issue with Harvard economist J. Kenneth Galbraith's theory that the emergence of giant, all-powerful corporations is inevitable in the new industrial state.

"Concentration is often the result of unwise, man-made, discriminatory, privilege-creating governmental action," he said.

"Defense contracts, research and development support, patent policy, tax privileges, stockpiling arrangements, tariffs and quotas and subsidies have far from a neutral effect on our industrial structure. In all these institutional arrangements government plays a crucial, if not a decisive role."

ADAMS SAID the military-industrial complex includes the armed services, industrial contractors, labor unions and a large segment of Congress itself.

"Every time the Congress authorizes a military appropriation, it creates a new constituency (i.e., propaganda machine) with a vested interest in its perpetuation and aggrandizement."

The proposed $40 billion "thick" anti-ballistic-missile system involves an estimated 28 private contractors with plants in 42 states, Adams said. This means 84 senators and 172 House members have a built-in interest in the project.

Adams said there is little hope "the corporal's guard of auditors in the General Accounting Office... or a handful of disinterested university analysts will constitute a dependable and adequate force of countervailing power."

THE PETROLEUM industry was cited as an example of a government-sanctioned cartel that stifles competition with the blessing of Congress.

"Under the antitrust laws, it is a per se offense for private firms to fix prices or allocate markets, yet in the name of conservation the government does for the oil companies what they could not legally do for themselves," Adams charged.

He noted also the oil companies receive a more visible favor, the 27 1/2 per cent depletion allowance against gross income.

ADAMS SAID the government should not interfere in those markets which, in the absence of such interference, would be workably competitive.

And the government should preserve and use effective yardsticks for measuring and controlling monopoly performance, he said, adding:

"The public must recognize that the servants of the military-industrial state cannot be allowed to become its masters—either in the name of 'free enterprise' or under the guise of promoting the 'national security.'"

Court Finds Itself With A Menagerie

When Alexander Nicholas Orloff Jr., who just happened to own a pet shop, filed a petition of voluntary bankruptcy in Denver, the federal bankruptcy court there didn't realize what it was getting into.

The court is now the technical guardian of a menagerie that includes two boa constrictors, a tiger lizard, four other lizards, two geckos, two parakeets, four canaries, one gerbil, 12 alligators, tropical fish, hamsters, mice, rats, guinea pigs, rabbits and a few unidentified creatures.

WANT AD POPULARITY IS SKY HIGH!

103,621 INDIVIDUAL ADS

WERE PUBLISHED IN THE OBSERVER WANT AD PAGES IN 1967

We just have to brag about it a little, because if we didn't you might never know how helpful Want Ads can be. They must be helpful, or there wouldn't be so many thousands of them published each year.

It's a fact that Want Ads are the only kind of advertising successfully used by both business people and private individuals. The Want Ad pages are like a big department store, offering a wide variety of goods and services. That is why they have such high readership, and it is because of the readership that people who advertise get such great results.

If you are one of the few people who has never used a Want Ad, you most surely will have occasion to use one soon. You can advertise to convert something you no longer need into cash by selling it quickly, or you may advertise to locate a hard-to-find item you need, or you may even use an ad to hire an employee or rent a vacant property. There are hundreds of ways to profit from Want Ads.

To place your ad, just dial the Observer Want Ad number, GA 2-0900 or 453-5500. A friendly, helpful Ad-Visor will assist you in wording your ad.

Soviets Gain In Nigeria

Soviet written propaganda ... Soviet writers in the local press ... A Soviet "cultural center" ... Soviet sale of arms ... Ever since civil war broke out in Nigeria last year, the Soviet Union's position has been improving, and the U.S. position has been weakening. With 55 million persons, Nigeria, on the Atlantic coast, is Africa's most populous nation. It has been the recipient of U.S. Peace Corps aid and help from a Michigan source--Western Michigan University--in its efforts to develop.

ALL THAT began to change last summer when the Eastern Nigerian province broke away and set up shop as "Biafra." Soviet-Nigerian friendship societies spring up even in Benin, scene of fighting only 10 weeks ago. Soviet writers analyze the plight of the dollar in the Nigerian press. The Russians have opened a new $15,000 cultural center in the low-middle-class district of Surulere in Lagos. Four Moskvich car agencies have opened around the country, although you still can't plunk down a check and drive off in a Moskvich the way you can in a Volkswagen. The Soviet gains reflect Soviet sales of arms to Nigeria, including a dozen MIG-17s, three patrol boats, some ground equipment, and the services of technical advisers to go with the material.

SUCH A SWITCH in popular political feeling could become significant if the Nigerian government veers permanently to the Soviet side. Some Nigerian officials fear this might happen, but there is no evidence of it yet. Trade and economic aid still come overwhelmingly from the West. Or it could become significant if the younger generation gets too large a dose of Communist propaganda in its press and schools. It will take time to measure this. But in almost every African country where the Communists have won significant gains, those gains have been subsequently sidetracked--as in Ghana.

IT IS ALSO NOTED that the British have been gaining points here as well as the Russians. The British position was weakened at the outbreak of the civil war when Britain equivocated about selling arms, and British oil companies equivocated about paying royalties to Biafra, where the oil is, or Lagos, where the legal government is. U.S. officials, on the other hand, are busy chasing down Nigerian newspaper stories about American diplomats allegedly helping the breakaway state of Biafra. Nigerian police have arrested a dozen foreigners on suspicion, and all but one were Americans.

ARTHUR GIBSON, 46, a Los Angeles building contractor, left Nigeria Tuesday after 23 days in a maximum security jail because he tried to buy a ticket for Luanda in Portuguese Angola and incidentally mentioned Sao Tome, a Portuguese Island used as a staging point for flights into Biafra. James Miles, 23, of Baltimore, is being detained in Calabar in southeastern Nigeria, where he was sent by the International Red Cross to care for those afflicted by the war. Nigerian army officers said he had been "hosing around." The American embassy said it had not been notified of his arrest. One old Nigeria hand, not an American, suggests that the Americans should not panic, but should wait until American and Nigerian interests again clearly coincide and then make the most of it.

Esperanto Used In Timetables

Esperanto, a phonetic language devised in the 19th century and once promoted as an international language, is getting a new lease on life. Italy's state-owned railway agency announced its train timetables, starting with the 1968 summer edition, will be printed in Esperanto along with the customary Italian, English, French, German and Spanish.

State Using Trailer Trap On Bad Bears

State conservation officers are using a new trailer-type trap to catch "nuisance" black bears in the lower peninsula.

The trap can then be hauled away, and it doesn't require several men to carry a hefty bear and trap to a truck.

Conservation officer Jack Bowman recently trapped a 430-pounder on a farm near Gaylord. The big brute had done $800 or $1,000 damage to some beehives.

After four days of work, Bowman lured the bear into the trap with a bait of Coho salmon skins, beeswax, honey, oxtails and a bottle of anise oil.

Then he simply hauled the trailer away with his car and released the bear in a wilderness area of Otsego County.

THE NEW TRAP was developed at the Conservation Department's equipment station and repair shop at Gaylord. There was a need to improve on the old culvert type live trap which the department has built and used for many years to catch bears doing damage, upsetting garbage cans and campers in state parks or otherwise frightening the citizenry.

The old trap lay flat on the ground and took at least four strong men to load and unload with even a medium-size bear inside.

That 430-pounder would have needed two more men. Hence, it couldn't always be placed right where it ought to be, because a big truck had to bring it and take it away.

O.J. Bennett, regional law supervisor, went into conference with Lewis Dorman, superintendent; shop foreman Don Richardson, and Officer Bowman and they came up with plans for a new and better bear trap in hopes the blackies would beat a path to its door.

USING A HEAVY steel culvert tube mounted on permanent wheels and a steel frame, they built a you-haul trailer that any passenger car could place and pull.

It has a heavy steel screen on the front end so the bear can be seen, and steel drop-door on the other, attached to a steel cable running down into the tube where the trigger is baited.

A small trap door was cut into the side to set the trigger or, if necessary, to tranquilize the bear for tagging or other treatment.

In placing the trap, a depression is dug into the ground for each wheel, so the trap sets close to the ground and the bear can get into it.

He grabs the bait, pulls the trigger and the heavy steel door slams shut behind him and is locked by two strong spring latches.

THE FIRST live traps designed by the department had two-inch wooden doors bound with strap iron but every once in a while an irate bear would tear it to shreds, so steel was substituted. That holds 'em. Once the bear is caught, the officer or game man backs his car up to the trailer, hitches on and pulls it to where the bear ought to be.

A long rope, the longer the better, is attached to the drop-door, the officer releases the latches and pulls the door open from a safe distance. The bear looks out, sniffs, clambers out and ambles off into the bushes to establish a new working territory.

IF HE ISN'T HAULED far enough, at least 50 miles, he's apt to be back in a few days tipping over the same garbage cans and he's harder to fool the second time.

Some bears at the Cusino Game Research Station, where this work has been going on for years, have become so entranced with their shiny new ear tags that they came back time and again.

This kind of research is trickier, as the game men have to tranquilize the bear with a hypodermic and hope he snoozes soundly until the tags are in place.

Now and then one wakes up early and scatters biologists in all directions.

CAMPUS-TO-PEOPLE LINK -- This is Michigan State University's Kellogg Center, which an estimated 45,000 persons a year visit to attend more than 3,000 different conferences. The 16-year-old building, constructed with a grant from the W.K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, has hotel facilities, meeting rooms, dining rooms and dozens of offices. It's the home of MSU's Continuing Education Service and meeting place of the eight-member Board of Trustees. It stands on the west side of Harrison Ave., south of Michigan Ave., in East Lansing.

Relatives Liable For Retarded Under Age Of 21

By Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

For the purpose of the Act, Prior to Act 335, the law imposed liability on the relative during the entire commitment period of the retarded person.

If the liable relative had means of property sufficient to pay for the care and maintenance of the retarded person, the Court determined the amount for which the relative was liable.

In the new law there is incorporated a table based on the relative's net taxable income to determine the monthly liability.

In 1966, Act 335 of the Public Acts of 1965 was amended to include any epileptic admitted to the Caro State Hospital for epileptics.

The new Michigan law has brought substantial relief to spouses and parents of retarded and epileptic persons committed to public institutions.

Recipes To Make Holiday Entertaining A Party - Not A Panic - For Hostess

All too often, holiday entertaining is fun for everybody but the hostess. There is so much to get ready all at once — the house, the children, herself, and the food — that party preparation tends to be tinged with panic. To help shorten the time that the homemaker has to spend in the kitchen, a Christmas package of quick party recipes for dips and hors d'oeuvres has been prepared by the kitchens of Heublein, makers of A.I. Sauce.

CREAM CHEESE DIP

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
1/2 cup A.I. Sauce

Soften cream cheese. Gradually add A.I. to cheese, mixing until thoroughly blended. Makes 1-1/2 cups.

HAM AND CHEESE DUNK

1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese with chives
2 cans (4-1/2 ounces each) deviled ham
1/4 cup A.I.

Soften cream cheese. Blend in remaining ingredients until thoroughly mixed. Makes about 2 cups.

CHEESE AND NUT HORS D'OEUVRES

1 package (3 ounces) Roquefort cheese
1/4 pound butter or margarine
1/2 pound cheddar cheese, grated
1/4 cup A.I.
3/4 cup finely chopped walnuts

Mash Roquefort cheese with fork. Blend butter or margarine, cheddar cheese and A.I. into Roquefort cheese. Shape into balls, about 3/4-inch in diameter. Roll in walnuts. Chill. Makes about 3 dozen.

BLUE CHEESE SHRIMP HORS D'OEUVRES

1 1/2 pounds medium sized shrimp, cooked shelled and deveined
1 jar (5 ounces) blue cheese spread
3-tablespoons A.I.

'68 Good For Homebuilding

The outlook for the savings and loan business in 1968 appears "reasonably satisfactory" despite the British pound devaluation and recent rises in interest rates, Hans Gehrke Jr., president of the United States Savings and Loan League, said recently in a speech in Texas.

Gehrke, a Detroit, in his first speech since his recent election as League president, said that although 1968 will be a more "challenging" year than was expected several weeks ago, it will not produce the return of extremely tight money seen in 1966.

GEHRKE, PRESIDENT of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Detroit, said that as a result of the events in recent weeks, he expects savings gains of savings associations in the early months of 1968 to be less than expected, and that anticipation of this slowdown is already being reflected in greater caution in extending loan commitments. The Detroit executive said that the volume of current loan commitments now outstanding will keep homebuilding healthy in the early months of next year, but the uncertainties of the savings and money markets

Shirt Button To Push Button

New York (NAPS) -- The first fully automatic washing machine was made from a bone -- a rib, actually. She had a strong back, ran on lots of elbow grease, eventually got tired out -- and alas, wasn't effectively replaced as a clothes washer until relatively modern times.

Today, American women own over 50 million automatic washing machines. And whether type, you may find it hard to imagine, as it goes through its smooth cycles, what its distant ancestors were like.

But picture a lady back in 1858 who is trying out a washing machine just invented by Hamilton E. Smith.

She puts the clothes into the box-like tub which is filled with revolving paddles. She adds soap and water and grinds manually on a crank which turns the paddles ... she finds the going harder and harder, until exhausted, she thinks they must be clean by now. Hopefully, she reaches under a mountain of soapsuds and untangles a few knotted tatters of clothing fit only for the rag collector.

IT MAY BE EASY to think that the word "mangle" arose from the use of Smith's washing machine back in 1858. However, it's an old English word meaning "to roll back and forth" and devices to press and wring clothes were used in British households during the 18th century.

The earliest known patent for a washing machine was taken out in 1793 by a British clock-maker, Robert Webster. But this device, and another early one which duplicated by mechanical means the action of a scrubbing board, never gained household acceptance.

In 1907, the first electrified washing machine came into existence. Five years later they were on the market -- and by 1920, over a million had been sold! A nearly electrified model was a large tub affair which sat on three legs and was surmounted by a r. After filling the machine from the kitchen tap with a hose, the lady of the house put in the clothes and soap, then turned on the machine which agitated them thoroughly until she decided they were clean.

She then turned on the wringer and put each soapy piece through into a rinsing tub on the other side. After rinsing, back they went through the wringer, etc., etc. Milady usually wore galoshes, for by this time the entire kitchen or basement would be awash with suds. Unlike the modern homemaker who knows that clothes won't come as clean if she uses too much soap, many a laundress of yesteryear thought that twice as much soap would get clothes twice as clean!

THE LAST STAGE in this washing would be hanging the clothes up to dry outdoors. So exhausted was the lady of the house on washday that women's magazines used to feature special "washday meals" which could be thrown together with one limp hand.

U.S. Wants To Salvage 100,000 Draft Rejects

Project 100,000 is well under way and has accepted 49,000 men who would otherwise be rejected by draft boards for mental or physical reasons.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara began the program last year and through it he hopes to be able to reclaim 100,000 poverty-stricken youth each year for military service.

This year the goal is to reach the full 100,000 annual rate. The services have just received their quotas: Army 70,400; Navy 11,000 and the Air Force and Marines 9,300 each.

THESE "NEW STANDARDS" men, as they are called, are getting close attention and instruction to help them get through the basic training and in the process, acquire a job skill intended to make them productive later in society.

A small percentage is receiving minor surgery or other medical treatment to correct health problems which otherwise would have made them unfit for military duty.

"I don't want to prejudge the data but we are encouraged by the training results," L.M. Greenberg, director of Project 100,000, said in an interview.

IN THE NEXT FEW months the new standards men -- they are not identified or singled out, to avoid any stigma -- will be watched as they perform their assigned jobs in operating units, some in Vietnam.

Beyond that, the Pentagon is planning a decade of regular reports on new standards men after they leave the service to see what impact the special training has had on their performance in society.

Greenberg said the Defense Department is now working out a system of tracking all individuals who are involved in Project 100,000 through the military reserve units to which all will eventually be attached.

IN ORDER to make the long-range evaluation valid, the Pentagon will hire a private firm to follow the social progress of another group of individuals who barely failed, for one reason or another, to get in the project 100,000 program, Greenberg said.

This probably will involve a sampling of perhaps 2,500 men whose backgrounds are similar to the new standards individuals in geographical area, race and education. This second group would be interviewed by the firm mainly about their jobs, or lack of them. The program has McNamara's personal stamp of approval. He has said many of the men rejected for service are victims of "the slow and silent poison of the poverty virus."

Non-Combat Life Tough For CO's

A conscientious objector doesn't have a free ride out of military duty.

The "CO's" -- men who say it's against their religion to fight -- are serving as medical corpsmen in Vietnam's battlefields and in many other jobs.

At Fort Sam Houston, Texas, they undergo training as rugged as combat troops.

Not all conscientious objectors go right from this training to front line duty. Some, including those whose objections also include wearing the military uniform, serve in civilian posts, usually in hospitals.

CONSCIENTIOUS objectors willing to go into battle without having to fight are classified IAO. Those whose religion forbids wearing of the military uniform or taking part in military action are rated 1-O. Col. M.S. Schwartz, director of selective service in Texas, stresses that these men are sincere in their religious convictions, "not trying to shirk responsible service to their country."

"There are approximately 3,500 of these men now serving in the Army. Many of them, incidentally, are pulling duty in Viet Nam where they have won praise and even been decorated for bravery under fire in the performance of their job as medical corpsmen."

SCHWARTZ EXPLAINED the law permits a true objector to serve out his military obligation in non-military capacities so long as these duties are in the national interest. Not all religious groups necessarily accept this.

Objectors undergo much the same recruit training as other draftees at Fort Sam Houston.

They are exempted from 83 hours of individual weapons qualifications, four hours of hand grenade training, and eight hours of combat training. Many request permission to participate in some arms training.

All must participate in counterinsurgency operations, guerrilla marches and week-long bivouacs and be familiar with signal communications and ground navigation.

THE MAJORITY of conscientious objector trainees take a 10-week medical corpsman training course upon completion of basic training.

"The only conscientious objectors who are not assigned to medical training are those whose religious beliefs encompass faith healing," he said. This group is trained as cooks, truck drivers and clerks or for other noncombatant roles.

Schwartz said each local selective service board makes the decision as to whether an applicant qualifies as a conscientious objector under the law.

All applicants must present concrete evidence of their church affiliation and activities. If the request is turned down, the applicant can present his case to an appeals board.

By Not Asking For Tax Increase In 1966

Businessmen Charge LBJ Made Biggest Mistake

ANN ARBOR -- President Johnson's failure to ask for a tax increase in 1966 was the biggest business mistake of that year, according to businessmen voting in a University of Michigan survey.

The results of the survey, taken a year ago, have just been released.

"We waited to see whether the answers would be valid after a year of development," said Prof. David L. Lewis, who conducted the survey. "It is clear now that the 2,000 businessmen who took part were excellent prophets."

BUSINESSMEN ALSO voted on the best business decisions of 1966, and events have now proved the wisdom of the actions they selected. That part of the survey was made public a year ago.

Lewis, who made the survey for the Bureau of Industrial Relations of U-M's Graduate School of Business Administration, said these were the five "business blunders" of 1966 mentioned most frequently by the respondents:

1. Johnson's refusal to ask for a tax increase.
2. The wage settlement between the airlines and their mechanics.
3. General Motors Corp.'s investigation of auto critic Ralph Nader.
4. The auto industry's general handling of the safety issue.
5. Douglas Aircraft's bungling of its financial affairs.

One result of President Johnson's delay in asking for a tax boost in 1966 was an inflationary spiral during 1967. It forced the Chief Executive in August to ask Congress to pass a 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate taxes. If such a tax were not enacted, he warned, the annual budget deficit would exceed $28 billion; and such a deficit would accelerate inflation, force higher interest rates, and worsen the nation's balance of payments.

The late-blooming surcharge proposal is yet to be enacted. Johnson's gloomy predictions, on the other hand, have been borne out, prompting the President this week to impose controls over private investment abroad, to reduce bank lending overseas, and to ask Americans not to travel outside the U.S. for the next two years.

THESE ACTS were the bitter fruit of the President's delays in 1966, as foreseen by many of the businessmen who participated in the U-M survey.

The second biggest mistake of 1966, according to the businessmen surveyed, was the 5 per cent wage boost awarded by the major airlines to the International Association of Machinists.

The businessmen scolded the IAM for making "excessive demands," criticized the airlines for acceding, and attacked Congress and the Administration for "futile handwringing" which in effect supported the unions' position.

The airline settlement made a mockery of the Administration's guideposts of 3.2 per cent suggested annual wage increases. Today most unions are demanding and getting six per cent raises.

GM'S INVESTIGATION of Nader, which dealt with his private life as well as his crusading activities, culminated in an apology to Nader by GM President James M. Roche before a Congressional committee.

Publicity arising from the investigation is credited with speeding Congress toward authorizing federal regulation of vehicle safety design.

The fourth biggest mistake, related to the third, was the auto industry's handling of the safety issue "from start to finish," as one respondent put it. The industry, which until 1966 was the only unregulated transportation business, fought desperately to stave off regulation.

But, in the view of survey participants, it virtually invited regulation by failing to respond to public and Congressional pressure for improved safety design. Future design regulations are expected to be much more stringent than those now in effect.

The fifth mistake was judged to be Douglas Aircraft's failure to maintain sound cost controls. Despite a $3 billion backlog of orders in late 1966, the firm lost $27.5 million and needed a staggering $350 million to remain solvent. The company was merged into McDonnell-Douglas Corp. last Jan. after McDonnell Aircraft acquired financial control of Douglas.

Among other business blunders of 1966 mentioned in the Lewis survey was French President Charles de Gaulle's ouster of U.S. and NATO troops and American Motors Corp. with efforts to imitate the Big Three product lines.

THE FIVE BEST business decisions of 1966, announced a year ago, were:

1. The merger of the National and American professional football leagues. This is moving ahead on schedule and is to be completed in 1970.
2. The research and development program which won for Boeing Co. the contract to build the supersonic transport. The SST project is proceeding at full throttle despite concern over the sonic boom that the 1,800 mph plane will leave in its wake.

3. The merger of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads, expected to be completed by Feb. 1. All that remains before the biggest corporate consolidation in history is a green light from the U.S. Supreme Court expected this month.

4. The Senate's refusal to outlaw section 14 (b) of the Taft-Hartley Act. That section permits states to bar contracts requiring union membership as a condition of employment.

5. The $3-a-ton increase in steel prices, restoring profit margins. Lewis is now polling businessmen on the best and worst decisions of 1967. The results in both categories will be made public late this month.

Will Bridge Toll Reduction Work?

Will reduction of tolls on the Mackinac Bridge to about $1.50 one-way actually benefit the tourist trade?

A report this week from Lansing indicated that it's a calculated gamble.

Reductions are expected to take effect Jan. 1, 1969, or soon thereafter, when an annual $3.5 million appropriation from the new state gasoline tax increase is transferred to the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

Legislators Of Sweden Study Law

Many Michigan legislators took junkets to the sunny climes on "investigative" trips in the last few weeks.

But one group of four House members went the other direction--to chilly Sweden. They propose to study Sweden's labor court system.

REP. JOSEPH P. SWALLOW, R-Alpena, chairman of the House Labor Committee heads the special committee.

Other committee members making the trip to Stockholm are Reps. James Bradley, D-Detroit; Gustave J. Groat, R-Battle Creek; and Raymond C. Kehres, D-Monroe.

They were to be accompanied by Philip Weiss, a member of the State Labor Mediation Board.

Swallow said the committee would meet with judges of the Swedish Labor Court, representatives of the Labor Market Board, Trade Union Confederation and Swedish Employers Federation, members of the Swedish Bar Association, and economists and labor professors of the University of Stockholm.

"UNDER SWEDISH law," Swallow said, "when an impasse in collective bargaining procedures between employers and employees is reached, instead of a strike resulting, the questions is referred to a court which decides the issue."

"As a result of this unique system, Sweden has not suffered a major strike in decades."

The Legislature, in passing the gasoline tax hike, provided for the bridge appropriation with the intent that this would permit reduction of the bridge tolls from the present $3.75 one-way trip for cars to about $1.50 per-car one-way.

State Treasurer Allison Green said Tuesday that the $3.5 million figure may be too low to accomplish this purpose, and asserted that this is "cutting it close."

GREEN SAID the toll reduction was based on the idea of an annual bridge traffic growth of five per cent, plus the projection that the toll reduction would increase bridge traffic another 10 per cent.

Projected increases in maintenance and operation costs were also taken into account, he said.

He said it was calculated that the $1.50 toll, plus the 15 per cent traffic increase, would provide as much revenue as the $3.75 toll now produces.

The $3.5 million appropriation, meanwhile, would supplement the toll revenues and leave enough money in reserve to retire the bridge bonds.

THE PROBLEM, Green said, is that everything is dependent on the traffic growth in the bridge. He said if this does not develop, the $3.5 million appropriation won't be enough to meet costs.

This would result in a situation where the tolls would either have to be increased again or the appropriation would have to be increased above the $3.5 million, Green said.

The state official noted that it was originally proposed that the bridge tolls be reduced to about 50 cents for cars one-way. But some financial figuring showed that this would have required a diversion of about $6 million annually from the gasoline tax.

Green said backers of the good roads tax package and others in the Legislature were unwilling to go this high. So members of his staff and others started projecting various figures on how much could be appropriated for the bridge to reduce tolls and still not take too much away from the gas tax funds.

How States Battle Great Lakes Pollution

Michigan and other states bordering the Great Lakes are beginning to act to curb pollution of the inland seas.

The states, along with the Canadian province of Ontario, are working to disprove predictions that the Great Lakes will one day become too contaminated for use by humans.

Nevertheless, some cities, industries and even the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers have continued to dump inadequately treated wastes into the lakes.

THE SAD STATE of Lake Erie was pointed out to Michigan in 1962 when a state park beach near Monroe was posted as unsafe for swimming.

The Michigan Water Resources Commission reported recently that some offenders won't move to make corrections until pushed. Others—notably Dow Chemical Co. of Midland and Consumers Power Co.—were given credit for starting their own corrective programs early.

Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin officials will take part Jan. 31 in a regional conference in Chicago on Lake Michigan pollution.

A RECENT congressional hearing, however, pointed out one of the problems: A U.S. Army Corps of Engineers official admitted that the agency was polluting Lake Michigan with harbor dredgings; he cited insufficient funds as the reason.

But an Illinois congressman observed: "You can't really crack down on private industry when you have a federal agency doing the polluting."

In Michigan, the WRC has set next Nov. 1 as the deadline for approval of pollution abatement plans, and wants facilities in operation by Nov. 1 of 1970.

HERE'S A RUNDOWN of what is going on in other states:

- The Illinois Legislature adopted a law in October banning dumping in Lake Michigan without a state permit and approved in July a referendum on a $1-billion bond issue to fight water and air pollution. The referendum will be held in 1968.
- The Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago filed suit in Circuit Court against one Chicago steel plant and 12 plants in Indiana asking that they be enjoined from polluting Lake Michigan.

- Indiana and Illinois officials set Dec. 31, 1968, as the deadline for completion of industrial and municipal waste treatment facilities where needed near the south end of Lake Michigan.
- The Minnesota Legislature created a Pollution Control Agency with increased power, staff and funds.
- In New York, comprehensive sewage treatment studies are under way in 17 counties along the Great Lakes to develop immediate and long-range plans for treatment facilities. In addition, there are 104 construction grant projects in various stages of planning or development.
- Industrial waste treatment facilities in New York are being reviewed at 36 plants. In an attempt to combat oil pollution, the State Health Department is working with the Corps of Engineers and major oil companies to keep spillage of oil at a minimum.
- In Pennsylvania, Erie and the Hammill Paper Co. are collaborating on a joint project to determine if their excess wastes can be treated jointly.
- The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board has set 1970 as the target date for all municipalities in the Lake Erie basin to install sewage plants for at least secondary treatment and for industry to step up waste controls.
- Ohio's Natural Resources Department is moving on another front to build reservoirs for control of water flow in streams emptying into Lake Erie. The program includes stream monitoring stations for constant pollution surveillance.
- In Wisconsin, Milwaukee officials are studying the possibility of constructing storage tanks to hold storm and sewage overflow until the polluted water can be treated after high runoff periods.
- In two years since a get-tough antipollution law was enacted in Ontario, 14 industries have been convicted or pleaded guilty for violations.

Special Kind Of Burger

You may like your hamburgers with mustard and catchup, with chili sauce and onions or tomato and lettuce, but scores of hamburger buffs prefer their hamburgers cooked with a barbecue sauce.

The barbecue sauce may be a bottled one (quick tip: add a little corn syrup to the bottled barbecue sauce; it does wonders for flavor) or as simple as a one as bottled chili sauce mixed with corn syrup.

Or the barbecue sauce may be a specialty of the house made with a variety of herbs, catchup, mustard and the like.

Barbecued Hamburgers

- 1 tablespoon corn oil
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 cup catchup
- 1/4 cup dark corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 1 1/2 teaspoons mustard with horseradish
- 1 teaspoon vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed rosemary
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed thyme
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon crushed savory
- 4 uncooked hamburger patties (1 pound ground beef)

Heat corn oil in heavy saucepan. Add onion; cook over low heat, stirring frequently, until tender but not brown. Stir in catchup, corn syrup, Worcestershire sauce, mustard with horseradish, vinegar and dry seasonings.

Simmer, uncovered, 10 to 15 minutes. Cool. Place hamburger patties in a shallow pan. Pour sauce over patties, moistening completely, including the bottom. Cover; let marinate in refrigerator 2 to 3 hours.

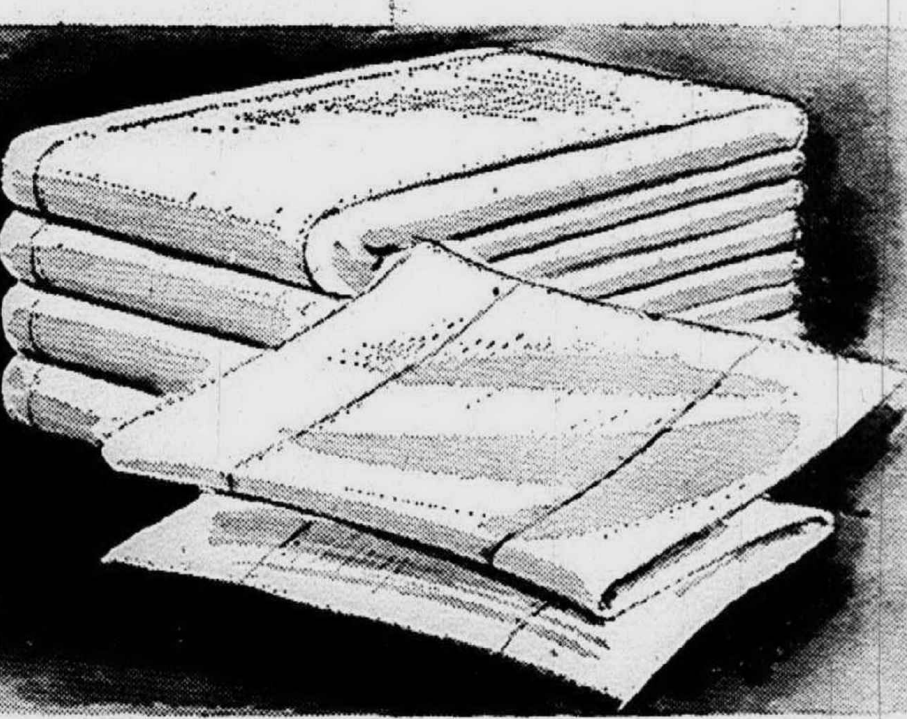

Remove patties. Broil to desired degree of doneness, turning once. Meanwhile bring marinade to a boil and serve over hamburgers. Makes 4 servings.

Use Rice For Gay Touch

Broiled or pan-fried cubed beef steaks are favorite family fare. Bring the steaks to the table with a fancied up rice dish such as Mushrooms and Rice and you have a meal fit for the family plus guests; a meal, too, that goes mighty easy on the budget.

Mushrooms and Rice is the kind of accompaniment you can put together on a moment's notice. The rice you use can be your favorite variety—regular white milled, parboiled, brown or pre-cooked.

The flavoring trick is to toss the hot cooked rice with sautéed sliced mushrooms, salt and pepper, and a generous dash of sherry.

Prepare the rice side-dish in an attractive range-to-table skillet so you can whisk it to the table as soon as the steaks are cooked to perfection. To pretty the steak platter, surround the hot-from-the-broiler steaks with tomato wedges or your favorite steak garnish.

Serve the rice and steak with a mixed green salad and your specialty-of-the-house dressing.

MUSHROOMS AND RICE

- 1 can (2 oz.) sliced mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 4 tablespoons sherry
- 3 cups hot cooked rice

Saute mushrooms in butter about five minutes. Add salt, pepper, and sherry; simmer five minutes. Stir in rice; cover and heat through. Serve with broiled cubed beef steaks. Makes six servings.

FIX-IT TIP

• It is generally not necessary to thin paint any more, but when it is needed, be sure to carefully follow thinning directions on the label. Use a large mixing pot and thin down only the amount of material which is to be used at once. Most paints have the required amount of thinner in the paint formula, according to the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, so you should never try to over-thin or "stretch" your paint.

Know Your Law

You Must Stop When Signalled By Policeman

By Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley

(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Many of you, at one time or another, have either experienced or have known someone who has experienced the shock of being stopped, while driving an automobile, by a police officer who is out of uniform and driving an unmarked police vehicle, all because of a claimed traffic violation. At night especially, and in relatively uninhabited areas, this can be an agonizing experience.

The citizen who has been the subject of this kind of episode knows what a terrifying decision he must make in a flash when signaled to stop. He must decide instantly whether he will stop and risk a possible assault, or hold-up, or whether he should flee and risk a possible injury, arrest for fleeing an officer, or worse.

MANY PEOPLE have been legitimately concerned about this phase of law enforcement and the implications arising from either stopping for, or fleeing from, an unmarked police vehicle.

The Michigan 73rd Legislature, sensing this, has amended the Michigan Vehicle Code by enacting Public Act 203 in its regular session of 1966.

Briefly, this act provides that a driver of a motor vehicle, who is given by hand, voice, emergency light or siren, a visual or audible signal by a police officer, acting in the lawful performance of his duty, directing the driver to bring his motor vehicle to a stop, and who wilfully fails to obey such direction, by increasing his speed, extinguishing his lights, or otherwise attempting to flee or elude the officer, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

THE OFFICER giving the signal shall be in uniform; and a vehicle driven at night shall be adequately identified as an official police vehicle.

The effect of this legislation is to assure each citizen that, while driving, he or she will not be stopped or harassed by any individual unlawfully purporting to be a police officer.

Accordingly, only when a uniformed police officer signals you to stop in the day time you must stop and, only when a uniformed police officer, in a plainly marked police car, signals you to stop at night, must you stop.

Drug Could Cut TB In Half-IF

A new drug could reduce tuberculosis cases by 50 per cent in the next 15 years, but there are two big "ifs".

1. If the state Department of Public Health can identify the more than a million Michigan residents estimated to be infected with TB--and most of whom are unaware of their infection; and

2. If those infected persons will take a full year of treatments of the drug isoniazid to safeguard against breaking down with active TB.

THE STATE AGENCY is enthusiastic about the drug's new value.

Dr. John Cowan, chief of the adult health division of the Michigan Health Department, said the first persons on the priority list for the drug treatment will be household contacts of newly discovered cases of active tuberculosis.

There also are recovered victims of active tuberculosis, who did not receive a course of drugs because they were hospitalized before the drugs were put to widespread use, Cowan said.

The drug treatment, known as "chemoprophylaxis," also should be given, Cowan added, to all positive skin test reactors who have abnormal chest X rays, all reactors under 20 years of age regardless of chest X rays showings and and certain others who are infected and are under treatment for other diseases.

Mail Delivery Questions Accompany Rise In Rates

What is the value of an air-mail stamp? Can you expect over-night delivery of first-class mail anyway?

The mail delivery question has become increasingly pertinent as Congress prepares to raise first-class postage to six cents an ounce and air mail to 10 cents an ounce.

Postal officials are not eager for the fact to be publicized, but much of the first-class mail leaving major cities goes by air whether it has an air mail stamp or not.

The mail delivery question has assumed added controversy because of the gradual phase-out by the government of railway post office cars. This speed and economy move, which has increased the use of air transportation for mail, has been attacked by some who feel that it has hurt the railroads economically.

AT LEAST ONE senator--Hiram L. Fong (R-Hawaii)--believes air mail should be abolished as a special class because "everything is going by the fastest route anyway."

Such action, however, might cut into the revenues of the Post Office department, which already operates at a deficit of 1.2 billion dollars a year.

Postal officials say first-class mail throughout the nation generally moves by air where distances of more than 250 to 300 miles are involved.

It's quicker and often cheaper, they say. But they also say the railroads themselves have hastened the development. According to Post Office figures about 1,800 mail-carrying passenger trains have been discontinued by the railroads in the last 10 years.

DEPARTMENT officials explain the air delivery system this way:

If you're a gambling man, you may be lucky enough to have your first-class letter ride the first available plane--the same as if it bore an airmail stamp.

Once it reaches its destination, however, it may be processed a little more slowly--but only about an hour slower before it reaches the mailman's bag.

The point, say postal officials, is that first-class mail isn't guaranteed the first flight as air mail is.

"It just may happen that the two letters would arrive at the same time, but it's a gamble," a spokesman said.

MUCH OF THE time, he explained, your air mail letter will leave ahead of the regular first-class mail.

This jump in departure, in many instances, enables the air mail letter to make connections the next morning with a delivering postman.

But your first-class letter, going on a slightly later plane, may arrive and be handled at its final post office shortly after the postman has left for his morning rounds.

It may then have to lie around for 24 hours before the next residential delivery.

"THE SAVINGS of a few hours in leaving can often mean the saving of 24 hours at the other end of the line," an official said.

Air delivery of first-class letters between major cities, which first began on the east coast some years ago, has gradually been expanded to the rest of the nation.

Cities getting this service include Los Angeles, New York, Chicago, Washington, San Francisco, Dallas, Houston, New Orleans, Birmingham, Miami, Jacksonville and Cleveland.

Postal officials would provide no comprehensive breakdown of routes for publication. They are reluctant to advertise the system for various reasons.

First, a misunderstanding might cause patrons to shy away from air mail to save postage, some said. Secondly, people may begin to believe such overnight delivery of all mail is just around the corner, which it isn't.

Mail volume is increasing by a staggering three billion pieces a year, and neither modernization nor mechanization has caught up with it. In October, 1966, the antiquated Chicago Post Office Building became so clogged that mail spilled over on the receiving docks and it took weeks to break the logjam.

William J. Hartigan, Assistant Postmaster General, says the development of zip-coding has helped to make railway post office cars (called RPOS) an expensive anachronism, although some will continue to be used.

These are special mail cars where letters are sorted en route by employees. Now most first-class mail is dispatched by zip code to 552 sectional centers, where further sorting takes place.

A frequent critic of RPO discontinuance, Sen Gordon Allott (R-Colo.), says that "nearly every long-distance passenger train still operating in the United States is threatened with discontinuance proceedings because of the loss of RPO service."

"The economic harm which the policies of the Post Office Department have already caused is irreparable," Allott added.

Students Design Satellite

Fifteen University of Michigan undergraduate students have designed a complex long-term weather-prediction satellite which has drawn the interest of NASA and corporations such as Lockheed and Boeing.

Named Project STRATUM (Stratified Thermosphere Research at the University of Michigan), the proposed satellite would have a one-year lifetime in a near-polar, circular orbit. It would be particularly valuable in predicting extreme weather conditions.

Designed in 15 weeks as part of a course in the U-M department of aerospace engineering, STRATUM will be made known through a report summary indexed by NASA and sent to laboratories around the world. In the design course, students work together as would an industrial team to design and prepare a report on a satellite.

The proposal is feasible and has been worked out carefully for a launching in 1970 at a single unit cost of $4,910,000.

SPECTRUM would measure atomic and ionic composition. It would also measure electron density and intensity of air-glow phenomena.

The 235-pound satellite would be injected into orbit 295 nautical miles high by a Scout rocket, the smallest rocket used for orbital launchings.

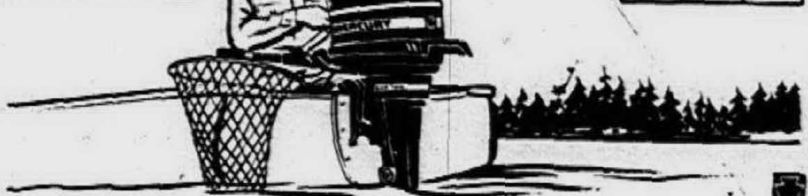

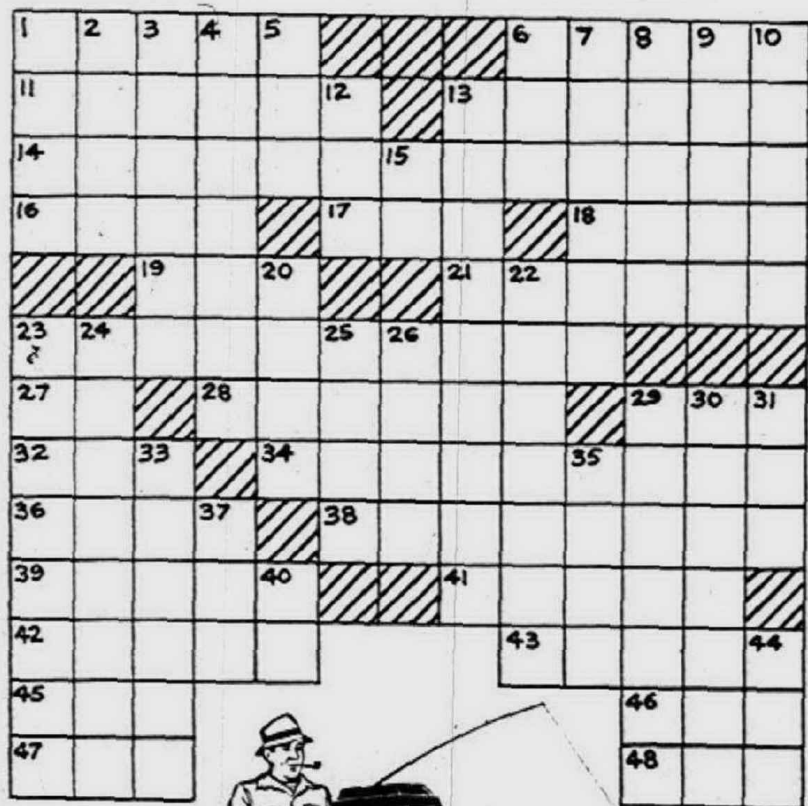

STRATUM is designed to carry six scientific instruments: a retarding potential mass analyzer, a mass spectrometer, a Langmuir probe, a resonance relaxation probe, an impedance ion mass spectrometer, and an airglow photometer. Data for these instruments would be recorded on six tape units.

Hereford Bull Worth $320,000

M.P. Moore of Senatobia, Miss., might be called the king of the Hereford growers.

Moore, owner of the Circle M Ranch, sold CMR Rollotrend 5th for $320,000 to set a world record price for a bull.
