

City Officials Plagued By Drainage Problems

The drainage problem which has plagued the city administration in Plymouth for years reared its ugly head again during the rain and fog that gripped the area in the fore part of the week.

When almost one and one-half inches of rain fell over Sunday and Monday the three worst locations again flooded and required the work of the Department of Public Works to get them cleared.

The three troubled areas were at the intersection of McKinley and Sheridan; the area in front of the Odd Fellows Hall on Elizabeth Street, and the intersection of Holbrook and Liberty.

In each case the water was curb high and caused all manner of concern in the respective communities.

Ironically, the latest trouble came just at a time when the City Commission had approved an in-depth study of the entire drainage system by the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson. The study has been under way for little more than a week.

"It was most fortunate that we didn't have more than a little over an inch of rain," Kenneth Vogras, head of the Public Works Department, stated late Monday when most of the trouble was under control. "Had the rain been any heavier --like it was last summer--and we could have been in a real fix."

HE POINTED out that many of the storm sewers are well along in years--some of them as much as four decades--and are now out-moded.

"Take the northwest section," he continued. "There were very few homes in that area when the sewers were installed. Now homes are everywhere. And when you build homes and construct streets and cover them with concrete or asphalt, you cut down the amount of earth available to absorb the water."

Returning to the area at McKinley and Sheridan, Vogras pointed out that there is a stretch of about one block where it is impossible to clean the sewer with a machine--and most difficult to clean it at all.

City Manager, Richard Blodgett, who had just returned to duty after a siege of the flu, nodded his confirmation of the statement.

"It is bad along Tonquish Creek at best," he commented, "but that one block doesn't make things any easier."

WHILE THE drainage problem has been a bugaboo for some time, a switch at the Ford Motor Company plant on Sheldon Road has prevented it from getting worse.

There was a time when the water from the parking lot and the entire area drained on to Sheldon Road and helped to create a much larger problem.

Recently, however, curbing has been constructed in the large parking lot and the water is directed toward the creek area. This takes the bulk of the load off Sheldon Road.

However, the development of the New England sub-division has eliminated another large amount of drainage soil and has added to the problem in the northwest section.

"Of course," Vogras added, rather philosophically, "this is the time of the year when these things happen. The frost is still in the ground and it won't absorb any water. This, along with the ice and snow in many places, only adds to our problem."

THE DPW CHIEF cited one instance--at the intersection of Wing and Main Street, where the water shot out of the manhole to a height of about two feet--just because the main sewer was full."

These are the problems the City Commission has been trying to solve for years. When the current study is completed within the next few months, the real core of the trouble may be found. . . and action taken.

Until then, under present conditions, the drainage problem will rear its head with every storm.

Ruins Of Fire Carry Memory Of Hard Work

Unmindful of the rain and fog that almost entirely engulfed the area, Herbert Chaiken stood on the edge of the city's central parking lot Monday afternoon and chewed lustily on a cigar as the demolition crew started cleaning out the debris from the recent Penniman Building fire.

With each move of the bulldozer in the gloomy afternoon he would sigh:

"There goes 17 years of hard work--there's nothing left but that ugly looking frame."

He was referring, of course, to Minerva's Dress Shop, which was a victim on the recent blaze, and of which he shares ownership with his wife, Minerva. "I have seen a lot of businesses come and go," he said, as the slight drizzle went unnoticed. "We put in a lot of time to build up this place--and now look at it. It's just memories."

The sight of the wreckage was a sad one as the bricks came tumbling down and it was evident that the building was just a frame.

Two big steel girders stretched across the upper floor, but contrary to general belief, they were big single girders that went through the entire block of stores and not just the one building.

One of them--the center one--was badly twisted, which was an indication of the intense heat in the building when the fire smoldered for almost six hours before breaking out into flames.

The contractor who took on the job was the most surprised of all the spectators.

"What I see here isn't worth very much," he moaned, "and I sure am due to take a licking on this job. Such a building never should have been built. The few bricks I can get out of it I can take in a pick-up truck. And the rest is worthless."

Another concerned is Fire Chief George Schoenneman who commented, "that even the theater wall may be too badly damaged to be used again. You know it was a 'common' wall."

The Fire Chief also expressed concern over the wall adjoining Fred Hadley's paint store.

But with all of these dire thoughts, Herbert Chaiken stood there, unmindful of the rain, mumbling--

Businessmen's Forum Discusses Recreation

Recreation and what part it could play in the Plymouth Community will be the topic of discussion at the monthly meeting of the Businessmen's Forum next Thursday at the Mayflower Hotel.

James Rossman, superintendent of schools, will be the speaker and he will have two of his staff--Herb Woolweaver, Director of Adult Education and Recreation, and Jon Kipke, assistant director, with him.

The school chief has prepared a fine program that will be built around these questions: What is the role of the community school district in community recreation?

What recreational programs are now available?--sponsored by the school district? Sponsored by community organization?

What facilities are available for community recreation? What facilities are being planned?

How will the 300-acre Educational-Recreation Park site enhance the community recreation program?

What programs are needed? What part should the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township take in the future of community recreation programs and facilities. The answers to these questions should add up to an interesting and informative meeting. It is a luncheon meeting set for 12:15 p.m.

Tragic Blaze Claims Dog As Victim

A tragic small fire, which destroyed a dog house and the dog, a prize Walker Hound, was reported by City Fire Chief George Schoenneman.

The chief said that the fire occurred at the home of Mrs. Dean Wall, 1007 Roosevelt, and he believed the dog house at the rear of the lot was sparked by nearby burning rubbish.

The dog, which was an excellent hunting animal, couldn't be saved because, the chief said, it refused to leave its burning shelter.

"No one could get near it," Schoenneman reported, "and there was nothing we could do for the helpless animal."

Traffic Accidents Reach Record Pace

If the month of January can be used as an indication, 1968 should prove one of the highest traffic accident years for the City of Plymouth.

The first month of the new year had a total of 40 traffic accidents with a total of 10 persons injured, but no fatalities.

If following months produce the same number, or more, then the city will have 480 when the year ends.

In 1967, there were 335 automobile mishaps and 338 accidents were reported in 1966.

A year end report issued by the city police department, comparing 1966 with 1967, showed a slight increase in nearly all other categories in which the department is involved.

There were 50 juvenile complaints handled by the department in 1966, while 62 were handled in 1967 which was an increase of 24 per cent.

The number of traffic tickets issued for moving violations jumped better than 50 per cent over 1966 when 769 were issued compared with 1,280 in 1967.

The other most striking increase between the two years was auto theft complaints which increased 47.6 per cent. In 1966, there were 21 cars stolen while the following year there were 31 thefts reported.

There was, however, no increase in armed robberies with the figures remaining the same, one each year.

With the population constantly mushrooming and more cars traveling the streets each year the City of Homes may see an over-all increase again this year.

Cherry Bomb Stirs Firemen

The explosion of a "cherry bomb" on the roof of Saxtons Garden Center on Ann Arbor Trail caused considerable anxiety Monday evening until the fire department came to the rescue.

Allegedly tossed on the roof by a passer-by, the bomb smoked in the drizzling weather and for a time it was thought the roof of the center was on fire.

The firemen soon quenched the bomb and there was no damage.

We're Filling The News Gap

There's more news in this week's Observer than ever before as we continue our expanded coverage during the blackout caused by the strike of the Detroit Metropolitan dailies.

We tell of the new budget presented by President Johnson, of the squabble at Schoolcraft College over the firing of six instructors, doings of the Republican Party in the State Central Committee meeting in Plymouth, plus national, state and world roundups.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN from all over the state joined the Plymouth Republican Women's Federation in the Mayflower Meeting House for a luncheon and installation of 1968 Michigan Federation of Republican Women officers. Elly Peterson, Michigan State Chairman and guest speaker assured the women, "You do not have to hold a legislative position to wield a very genuine influence among the voters of this state." Her speech detailed the woman's role in politics and was a plea for party unity.

Newsstand Prices To Rise

Beginning with the Sunday issues of Feb. 4 and the Wednesday issues of Feb. 7, the newsstand price of all Observer papers will be increased to 15 cents.

The price increase is necessary, Circulation Director Fred J. Wright explained, because of the continuing rise in the cost of printing and distributing a newspaper.

He emphasized that the increase would apply only to papers sold from newsstands, stores and Observer offices. Rates for carrier subscription plans will remain 40 cents a month.

The new rate will make it possible to supply more papers for newsstands and stores, where available copies have sometimes been sold out within a half hour, Wright said.

College Trustees Reject Public Meeting

Would Violate Pact

Taking a position that an open public meeting on the subject of the dismissal of six probationary instructors would be contrary to the letter and spirit of the existing contract with the Faculty Forum and would serve no useful purpose, the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees has refused a request of nine representatives of the student body for such a meeting.

The students met with Chairman Harold Fischer and Vice Chairman Mrs. Jane Moehle more than a week ago in an informal discussion of the matter and did receive a promise of an open meeting with the Board at a special session.

However, Fischer called the Trustees to an executive session last Wednesday at which seven of the eight were present, learned that it would be impossible to have a quorum present prior to the regular meeting on Feb. 7 and then issued a statement of the events from the meeting.

FISCHER EMPHASIZED that no official action was, or could be taken, but that a thorough discussion took place and resulted in agreement on the following points:

1. That the evaluative criteria and procedures used by the Office of Instruction are objective, pertinent, consistent with law and acceptable practice, and were well within the spirit as well as the letter of the contract existing between the Board of Trustees and the Faculty Forum.
2. That Division Chairmen of the faculty must exercise a greater degree of co-operation and participation in the evaluation procedure than has been the case up to now. In this connection, the Board received assurance from the Administration that steps will be taken to improve the evaluation procedure.
3. That the Office of Instruction has throughout exhibited a high degree of awareness of its responsibility for protecting the rights of all individuals under contract to the College.
4. That, particularly in the case of probationary instructors but applying equally to all members of the faculty, a confidential relationship between the individual and the College is involved in any question of the competency of a faculty member. This confidentiality cannot be breached. Individual faculty members always have the right to discuss their status problems with the Office of Instruction. Two of the six probationary instructors involved here have already exercised this right.
5. That the contract existing between the Board of Trustees and the Faculty Forum provides a mechanism by which any faculty member, group of faculty members, or the Forum itself can seek redress of any believed wrong. This mechanism, as enunciated in the contract, accepts the principle of confidentiality.
6. That, bound by a legal contract, the Board of Trustees cannot contravene its terms by opening to public discussion such matters as the contract specifically requires to be held in confidence.
7. The Board took notice of the fact that in recent days some faculty members have dismissed or failed to meet their classes without having made proper prior arrangements as required by the contract; and expressed concern over such contravention of the contract by these faculty members or by any faculty member.

IN CLOSING the Board's statement of the situation, Fischer said the Trustees also expressed the opinion that a source of action demanded by some faculty members would be contrary to the principle of continued quality education at the College—a principle to which the Board believes all members of the College community are dedicated.

Millage Fails, Inkster May Close Schools

SOMETIME IN FEBRUARY, a bill seeking about $21 million in state funds to help support parochial schools will be submitted. A statewide campaign for support already is under way. The funds would be in addition to auxiliary and bus services which parochial schools already receive from local school districts which in turn receive state funds. The bill is designed to help ease the non-public schools financial burden.

EDWIN NOVAK, state board of education president, said that Gov. Romney's 1968-69 budget recommendations for state school aid are "$67 million shy of what is actually necessary." Romney asked for a $794 million increase including $55 million from the state general fund and $24 million from earmarked funds. However, Novak said, "the state board of education asked that state aid appropriation for next year be increased by about $125.5 million. . . . This may sound high," he continued, "but our most important concern is children."

IN OTHER ACTION, the State Board of Education is refining a set of 14 proposals aimed at correcting or preventing ing the many factors that convince thousands of students each year to drop out of school. The report has yet to be revised to satisfy the board but the proposal is expected to help the approximately one-third of the boys and girls who drop out of Michigan high schools each year.

THREE WOMEN, Mrs. Delbert Liggins and Mrs. Robert Cooley of Trenton, and Mrs. Ervin Salgeon of Pontiac, announced that they have gathered more than 4,000 signatures from persons outraged over plans to send an Air Force sergeant to Vietnam, leaving five motherless children at home. The women said they were going to send the signatures to the White House hoping that the President would take notice of the plight of S. Sgt. John L. Wolfe, whose wife died two years ago. So far, they claim, they have been unable to get any action from senators or congressmen.

GILBERT A. DAWE, of Ishpeming, has been named by Acting Gov. William Milliken to the State Safety Board. Dawe, 46, succeeds Robert P. Matson of Iron River who resigned.

THE MICHIGAN STATE DEPARTMENT of Highways announced that President Johnson has cut $7.6 million from Michigan's share of highway construction funds. "Combined with state matching funds, this will mean a $10 million cutback in our construction program," said John P. Woodford, deputy state highway director.

TWO OBSERVERLAND U.S. Congressmen, Marvin L. Esch (R-2nd Dist.) and Jack H. McDonald (R-19th Dist.), have joined four other Michigan representatives and Senator Robert P. Griffin to take an active part in Gov. Romney's presidential primary campaign in New Hampshire. Romney added his endorsement and appreciation of the offer of assistance.

HARRY WHITELEY, publisher of the Presque Isle County Advance in Rogers City, has been named to succeed Norman C. Rumble, managing editor of the Midland News, as president of the Michigan Press Association. Other officers are Frank Angelo, Detroit Free Press, president-elect, Jim Brown, Ingham County News Mason, vice-president, Blair C. Bedient, Albion Recorder, treasurer, and Elmer E. White as executive secretary.

A PROBE BY the Senate Investigations Committee urged by Senator Robert P. Griffin is expected to hasten talks between the striking Teamsters Local 372 and the Detroit News which has been dragging on since Nov. 16.

THE DETROIT BOARD of Education announced it will file a suit against the state to force a decision on constitutional responsibilities of the Legislature regarding financing. The Detroit officials are saying that financing of public education, according to the Michigan Constitution, is totally a state responsibility, and should not be shaded by partial reliance on local taxes, geographical location or wealth of individual school districts.

GENERAL MOTORS strikes that have forced the layoff of 47,000 auto workers have drastically curtailed railroad operations in Lansing causing further layoffs. New York Central and the Grand Trunk Western report an 85 per cent drop in business because of the shutdown at Oldsmobile and Fischer Body. New York Central has laid off 36 men and Grand Trunk says it has had to layoff 18 men.

JOHN KOBS, who had only four losing seasons in his 39 years as Michigan State University's head baseball coach, died Jan. 19 at his home of a heart attack. He was 69.

17 Cars And Trucks Damaged In Crash

TRAFFIC IN both directions was excessive, no major injuries resulted. The east-bound portion of the highway was the scene of the first series of collisions, and westbound traffic got into the same jam when motorists slowed to see what had happened.

Action Hit By Pupils

Feeling that they are getting the 'run around' from the Board of Trustees and the administration, representatives of the Schoolcraft College student body have made a second request for an open meeting with the board to discuss the ramifications of the firing of six probationary instructors two weeks ago.

In a letter signed by co-chairmen Earl Menary and Richard Flynn, the student group, which met in an informal session with the chairman and vice chairman of the board, stress that their group feels this matter is 'pertinent' and ask for an open meeting.

THE LETTER INDICATES that Menary and Flynn are co-chairmen of a group called The Student Senate Investigation Committee of Schoolcraft College.

"It has been brought to our attention that students have no right to question the procedures of a college, but as future leaders of the community we feel it is our duty as the mainstay of the college to see that 'quality education' be insured for not only ourselves but for future students of Schoolcraft," the communication reads.

"We do not question the devotion and many hours spent by the Board of Trustees, but we do suggest the reconsideration of the relevancy and importance of this matter. We further suggest that a special board meeting, open to the public, be called."

The letter continues "We would like our position made clear: we are making no contentions or allegations, we are merely trying to determine what procedures are used in the valuation of instructors."

"We, as students, taxpayers and voters feel it is our responsibility and right to know the facts as it is the responsibility of the general public to be aware and concerned about quality education."

The letter continues with the information that Chairman Harold Fischer had promised that "if sufficient time was allocated (allowing for the 48-hour time limit), he would call a special meeting of the board on Wednesday, Jan. 24."

Then it details the actions of the group in the following manner:

"Monday-1/22-68-A letter was hand delivered to Mr. Fischer in time for the 48-hour requirement, requesting a special Board of Trustees meeting opened to the public, Jan. 24."

"Tuesday-1/23-68-A committee was formed by the Student Senate to investigate the evaluation procedures of instructors at Schoolcraft College."

"Tuesday-1/23-68-Vice President John Brinn met with the co-chairmen of the Student Senate Committee. At this time the committee was informed that there were procedures, but there were no published procedures, nor was the committee informed as to what the procedures were."

"Tuesday evening - 10:45 p.m.-Mr. Fischer notified the committee by telephone that there would be no open meeting Jan. 24, 1968; there would be a closed session of the Executive Board of Trustees and the administration. He also stated at this time that he felt there would be a special meeting Jan. 31, at which the students would attend and be able to address the Board of Trustees."

"Thursday-1/25-68-Appointed members of the Student Senate Committee went to see Mr. Fischer to find out definitely if there would be an open meeting of the Board of Trustees, Jan. 31. At this time Mr. Fischer stated that the Board of Trustees would not meet until the regularly scheduled monthly meeting, Feb. 7, 1968. He indicated that the Board of Trustees were too involved with outside commitments and that the situation was not pertinent enough to warrant a special meeting."

"He further stated that special communication would be sent voicing the opinions of the board by no later than Friday morning, Jan. 26. This communication to be sent to the administration, faculty, students and to the press in time for the Saturday deadline for publication in the Sunday papers."

Consumers To Invest $2.8 Million

In Livonia Area

Construction projects in the West Wayne division of Consumers Power Company in 1968 require the investment of $2.8 million, primarily to expand and improve the natural gas distribution system, James P. Thomas, division manager, said Monday.

The division expects to add 3,750 new gas customers in 1968. An addition is being constructed to the service center in Livonia where 310 employees are housed. The expansion, started in 1967, is adding 14,200 square feet for general purposes and 6,700 square feet for storeroom use.

AREA SERVED by the division includes 260 square miles of western Wayne county with 70,000 customers. The communities of Farmington, Livonia, Wayne, Northville, Novi and Plymouth are included.

A major project will be the addition of 32 miles of new gas lines for the continued expansion of the gas distribution system. A new regulator station is planned for Industrial drive and Halsteads roads in Farmington Township.

Customers in the West Wayne division receive supplies through a network of pipelines bringing gas from storage fields in Michigan and from suppliers in the southwestern United States.

Thomas said the construction plans are part of a record $187 million which Consumers Power has budgeted for projects to improve and expand its statewide operations in 1968.

The company provides electric service to over 1,000,000 customers, and gas service to over 750,000 customers, in a combined service area which includes all but one of the 68 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

AMONG THE MAJOR gas department projects is the continuation of development of underground storage facilities in fields in St. Clair and Macomb counties. Included are additions to the Ray compressor station and construction of pipelines to carry the storage gas to the communities of Michigan. Thomas said that the storage complex near Detroit is capable of producing enough gas to meet the needs of the Detroit area on the coldest day so far experienced. A record 1.7 billion cubic feet of gas was required statewide on January 4, and most of it came from the St. Clair storage facilities.

Futurmill Strike Bitter

FRICITION BETWEEN management and striking U.A.W. employees of the Futurmill, Inc., manufacturing plant in Farmington Township resulted this week in renewed police protection for salaried personnel entering the factory.

Contract negotiations, which had been resumed Monday in the 12th day of the strike, were halted because of picket line flareups. Company officials said talks will not be renewed until the union guarantees peaceful picketing.

Hospital Employee Killed On Highway

The Plymouth area experienced its first traffic fatality on Saturday when a pedestrian was killed while hitchhiking in front of Northville State Hospital.

Dead is Carl Hay, 50, an employee of the hospital. He was hit by a car driven by John Andrew Brantley, 37, of Inkster.

Brantley told police that as he neared the hospital while traveling west on Seven Mile Rd. he saw someone at the side of the road hitchhiking.

Brantley said that the man jumped in front of his car and started waving his arms while jumping up and down. Hay leaped directly into the path of the automobile and Brantley said he couldn't avoid hitting him.

A passenger in the car, Ethel Mae Brantley, 35, of Inkster, also was injured.

Another accident which involved a trailer truck and an automobile occurred on Friday. A car driven by Ronald Bayless Hayslip, 59, 645 Ross, Plymouth, struck a 40-foot truck which was driven by Robert James Smith, 35, of Detroit. The truck, according to police, was making a turn at Ann Arbor and Lilley Rd. when it was hit by the car.

Hayslip said that he suddenly saw the truck in front of him but couldn't stop in time. The truck driver told police that the last time he saw the other car it was stopped for the light at the intersection.

Township Hears Old Complaint

Lauren J. Januz, a perennial Plymouth Township critic, has again lodged a complaint with the Township Board of Trustees protesting the lack of snow removal on his street.

In a letter, Januz said he felt like "the unwanted child" because his streets were not salted or scraped.

Dick Lauterbach, trustee, commented, "It's not our problem. The Wayne County Road Commission takes care of township roads."

The letter was duly received and filed by the board.

Bakhaus Honored As Breeder

Herman W. Bakhaus, owner of the Cloverdale Dairy, has gained another honor--as a cattle breeder.

It has just been announced that he bred the grand champion steer at the Michigan State Fair and moved to the head of the class among the Angus breeders.

He has been presented with the certificate of award by the American Angus Association, according to Glen Bratcher, secretary of the beef registry organization.

These special certificates of award are presented only to registered or commercial Angus breeders who breed a champion Angus steer at a county fair, district show, state fair or major livestock show.

The certificate reads "In recognition of meritorious service to the livestock industry by being the breeder of the champion Angus steer."

The new honor arrived while he is enjoying a vacation in Florida.

Newcomer Wins First As Speaker

The honor of representing the Motor City Speakeasy Club of the Livonia-Plymouth area went to new member, Bob Marzec who presented his speech, "Computerized Education", at the club's annual contest with all eligible members participating.

The club now in its 13th year of operation meets at 6:30 p.m. on alternate Mondays at the Hillside Inn, in Plymouth. The next meeting will be on Feb. 5. For further information contact Bob Kuster, KE 4-7511.

Police Chief Gets Fast Reaction To Penal Criticism

EDITOR'S NOTE: Several weeks ago Robert Corrington, City of Plymouth police chief, placed himself on record with a caustic criticism of the proposed penal code being offered to the State Legislature by a special committee of the Michigan Bar Association.

His remarks brought all sorts of reaction, including an invitation to appear in Lansing and discuss his views with the state representatives.

Choice Of Words Brings Criticism

I am writing with reference to a front page article in The Plymouth Mail & Observer about, and mostly by, Chief Robert Corrington. In this article the chief speaks out against laws which prohibit police officers and, supposedly, private citizens, from using firearms to protect themselves and the community.

In answering some of Chief Corrington's points, however, I hope to avoid being offensive to him—something which he did not succeed in doing when he used adjectives like "stupid," "asinine," and "ridiculous" -- something which he did not succeed in doing when his arguments drifted into statements like: "Perhaps all officers should exchange their sidearms for slingshots so they could be sure not to harm the poor felon who is only trying to escape custody." Surely such language does the chief's position more harm than good since it seems to indicate an emotional involvement that colors what amount to very straightforward laws which should be considered as such.

CHIEF CORRINGTON begins his comments with this statement: "... it seems that an effort is being made to reduce any authority a law enforcement officer might have in the course of duty." Certainly Chief Corrington is again exaggerating for effect. One cannot believe that thousands of law makers across the country are involved in a mass conspiracy to make life LESS safe for all of us or that the police, who most certainly deserve our respect, are the only ones who want just law enforcement. The chief's remark that people actively concerned with protecting citizens against human error are "... staying in their ivory towers and trying to find out what else they can do for the criminal now" is entirely uncalled for.

Next the chief complained that officers could only shoot a fleeing felon "... if the felon has used or threatened to use deadly physical force or is attempting to escape by use of a deadly weapon. In other words, an officer could not shoot an escaping rapist, burglar, safe cracker, mugger, purse snatcher, etc." With the possible exception of the rapist and mugger who have themselves done physical harm, many people, including myself, find it difficult to think of a stolen purse as worthy of the possible penalty of death from a well-meaning officer whose marksmanship is just too good.

I am a teacher, and I have encountered students who act without mature judgment and who might make the mistake of thinking that illegal acts could go without punishment. I don't condone such thinking; I'm not applauding purse snatchers or safe-crackers. I think everything should be done to teach such people, of any age, that respect for the law is not only desirable but absolutely necessary. But one mistake in judgment, one foolish, hot-headed move designed to take a handful of coins cannot be corrected, a mistaken attitude cannot be changed or correctly punished—if the person is dead.

ALSO, I WOULD appreciate correction if I'm wrong, but there seems to be a questionable interpretation about the law: "... a citizen has no right to shoot a burglar in his own home unless there is the imminent threat of deadly physical force from the burglar."

Chief Corrington goes on to say, citing a sensational and rare crime perhaps to lend weight to an argument which otherwise has little, that a man watching his wife or daughter being assaulted would be unable to defend himself "... merely because the felon did not use a deadly weapon." To me this situation, hypothetical or deadly real, is without question one in which there is "... threat" even evidence "... of deadly physical force." Force does not necessarily have to involve a knife or firearm. All the physical qualifications a police officer most possess surely bears witness to this fact.

Finally, Chief Corrington manages to put sociologists, professors, and lawyers into the category of "do-gooders." The chief's use of the phrase puts a sneer into it, but many people wish there were more people who tried more often to "do good." They are proponents of laws which at least try to confine killing and maiming to those people who have done so in a criminal context, and they try to prevent the extension of physical destruction as an approved method of apprehending an alleged felon who is not threatening life or safety and whose guilt has not even, according to law, been established.

I hope that Chief Corrington will agree that police officers cannot, in all good conscience, be expected to be more than human, and I, along with many other people who are interested in good law enforcement, would prefer that understandable human mistakes or pressured reactions on the part of police officers or police administrators, didn't prove to be fatal.

Sincerely,
Linda A. Arndt

Chief Given High Praise

Dear Chief:

I read your condemnation of the proposed new criminal code in the Livonia Observer, I agree with you completely.

Who gives a murder victim a second chance in 6 years? The criminal already has more protection than the "average" citizen. Many judges are lax, crime rates soar, prison population goes down, policemen wear the handcuffs, and society suffers.

Roger Craig, of Dearborn, was quoted in a recent issue of Life magazine as advocating the legalization of the use of marijuana and now he is revising laws of this state!

Having been employed at Northville State and Ypsilanti State Hospitals for two and one half years I have seen what is turned loose on society if the psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers go by the book.

Appalled,
P. Pavlat
Livonia, Mich.

Asks People To Help Him

Editor:

I have to say three cheers for Chief Robert Corrington. There is a man who understands completely why the crime is increasing. Now it is up to the people to help him do something about it.

Here is hoping,

Anna Bortins,
Plymouth, Mich.

Feels Better About Future

To The Editor:

After reading Chief Robert Corrington's published remarks about the newly proposed penal code from the State Bar of Michigan, I feel much better about the future of the City of Plymouth.

This man talks the language that the criminal doesn't want to hear; however, all citizens who are potential victims of the lawless minority should be pleased that we have a Chief here in Plymouth who in fact is pegging the authors of this drive as the foolish do-gooders that they are.

May I suggest that all of you good citizens who are not at present actively engaged in criminal activities write to your legislator friends in Lansing suggesting a squelch to the fat-heads who would sponsor this new code.

Sincerely,
Joe Merritt

500 Forest Ave. Plymouth GL 3-0080

Open Friday til 9 P.M.

The Plymouth Board of Education has approved six teacher resignations and simultaneously hired four others to take their place.

Charles Fretwell resigned from the fourth grade teaching post in the Smith Elementary School and Mrs. Joan Marquard was given the post in his place. Mrs. Judy Pieman will leave as fifth grade teacher at Smith while Mrs. Adele McCall will move into that vacancy.

Mrs. Marjorie S. Okada will be replaced in Junior High West as English and social studies teacher by Mrs. Martha Schryer and James J. Marchio will begin teaching math-science at the junior high.

Three other positions will be left vacant.

Trailer Park Agreement Is Reached

Plymouth Township and the Plymouth Hills Mobile Court on Ridge Rd. finally have reached an agreement regarding the poor conditions in the trailer park.

The Township threatened a court suit if the owner didn't repair the broken down roads and conform with Ordinance 14 governing the park.

The owner has assured the township that all repairs will be made as soon as the weather will permit his men to begin the work.

The township has had the cooperation of the Wayne County Health Department in policing the park. In the case of trailer courts, the health department, under state law, has full jurisdiction except where a township has specific laws for specific instances.

Hendry Home Has Open House

The Hendry Convalescent Home, one of the newest and most modern facilities of its kind in the area, will hold an open house on Sunday, February 4, from one o'clock to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The new home is located at 105 Haggerty Road.

Mrs. Judith A. Van Blaricom will leave as the third grade teacher at Allen Elementary School; Mrs. Nancy M. West will leave as the fourth grade teacher at Fiegel Elementary School and Mrs. Donna J. Angle will leave Plymouth High School as a tenth grade English teacher at the end of the school year.

Parkinson's New Target: Europe

C. Northcote Parkinson, witty British discoverer of "Parkinson's Law," is pointing to the United States' federal system as a model for Europeans.

Prof. Parkinson, in a new book entitled "Left Luggage," contends that European government is growing too far away from the people.

He proposes redrawing the map along the U.S. model.

PARKINSON GAINED fame 10 years ago with his "law" of corporate behavior: "Work expands to fill the time available for its completion."

In later laws, he contended that government spending and bureaucracy expand at a steady rate, regardless of the service given to the public.

He gives a mass of figures to demonstrate the truth of his prophecy of 1957 that civil servants multiply as their responsibilities shrink.

His new book blames Socialist governments for escalations in the number of public employees.

The mushrooming ranks of government employees and the lists of companies dependent in some way on government, he says, threaten the freedom of the individual.

PARKINSON PREDICTS that by the year 2145 half of Britain's working population will be absorbed into public administration; by 2195 the entire working force will draw its pay from the government.

"The high public payroll can keep rising to a point at which it has virtual control," he warns.

"The position will then be impossible. People will vote as citizens for their own conditions of service as employees."

"Parliamentary government already living in a dream world too far removed from the people--will then have to head for dictatorship of some form."

instances of an attempt being made to govern 52 million people from one headquarter.

"France is trying to do something similar--but it has resorted to an individual."

"GOVERNMENT must be broken down into provinces or states so it is close enough to the people to give them influence."

The nationalist upsurges in Scotland and Wales provide the pointer, he says. Both have elected nationalist representatives to the London Parliament. This, believes Parkinson, is the one ray of sunshine.

"Europe can set up local legislatures," he says. "The model must be the United States--the biggest example in the world--where we find 200 million people divided into 50 states giving an average of 4 million persons each."

At present, he says, "I wouldn't think a united Europe can come into existence. Is France going to have control, or Germany? I think it would be Germany. There can only be domination of one country over the other--something the other countries are not likely to accept readily."

"BRITAIN COULD prepare itself for entry into the Common Market--which I don't think will be for some time, incidentally--if it started to break itself down now. This is the real preparation for entry into a united Europe."

Will this happen? "It would be rash to predict. The rate of progress is directly in proportion to the threat to the West from the Orient--at the moment, China. As anxiety grows, the thought of it brings people together and makes them tackle problems or unity."

"A small example of this is the way the Christian churches are talking about unity: the little churches are frightened an oriental religion will swallow them up."

Political Parody On View At Court Theater

The Court Theatre will open its third season with the Detroit premiere of Barbara Garrison's "MacBird!" This outrageous political satire has just completed a successful year long Off-Broadway engagement in New York.

Using the plot of Shakespeare's "MacBeth," Miss Garrison parodies the current political Establishment, impartially demolishing the Johnsons, the Kennedys and their respective entourages in a series of explosive caricatures. Mixing sharply pointed satire and low-comedy fooling in exuberant fashion, she emerges with a hilarious yet powerful burlesque of the American political scene and its power-hungry politicians.

THE PLAY HAS aroused a good deal of controversy, provoking such terms as "irresponsible," "seditious" and "shocking." But Dwight MacDonald, in The New York Review of Books, called it "The funniest, toughest-minded, and most ingenious political satire I've read in years..." and Robert Brustein in The New York Times Sunday Magazine said that it "may even be suppressed by some government agency; it will very probably go down as one of the brutally provocative works in the American theatre, as well as one of the most grimly amusing."

U-D Opens Box Office

A new central box office where tickets to all University of Detroit campus events will be sold has been set up in the first floor of the Student Union Building on the McNichols Road campus.

Tickets to the U. of D. Theatre, Town and Gown Celebrity Series, Pop Concerts, U. of D. movies, and Club football and hockey may be purchased from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"Tickets will be arranged for off-campus events of interest to students," said Dr. James W. Rodgers, director of U. of D. Theatre.

Wednesday, Feb. 14, and play through Saturday. Subsequently it will play on Friday and Saturday evenings throughout February and March. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

THE COURT Theatre is located in Indian Village at the Detroit Waldorf School, 2555 Burns Ave. at Charlevoix. General admission tickets are $3 and $2 for students and groups. Tickets are available at the theatre ticket office from 12 noon Monday through Friday and at all J.L. Hudson stores and Wayne State University ticket offices. For reservations and information call 822-6655.

Happiness For A Child Need Cost Only Fifty Cents A Day

Republican Senator John G. Tower and Democratic Senator William Proxmire are at opposite poles politically but they have something in common—both are Foster Parents! Little Filipina Elisa M. Tria and Ecuadorian Vicente Camacho also have something in common—both are Foster Children and both were hungry and hopeless until they were "adopted" financially through Foster Parents Plan.

Foster Parents are generous people in the U.S. and Canada, who contribute 50 cents a day so that a destitute child in a war ravaged or underdeveloped country may eat nourishing food...see a doctor when something hurts...sleep on a mattress instead of a dirt floor...and go to school.

IN EACH of the countries where Foster Parents Plan maintains offices, there is a North American Director with a large staff of trained local social workers who investigate, enroll, guide and counsel the Foster Child and his entire family.

Because the aim is more than to rescue a single child from despair the plan rehabilitates the entire family.

The monthly cash grant is used for the benefit of the entire family and there are regular distributions of household equipment, blankets and other necessities such as medical care and education that are looked on as luxuries in the countries where Foster Parents Plan operates.

FOSTER PARENTS Plan has been caring for children in need for thirty years. It all began with the Civil War in Spain in 1937. Bombed wreckage, debris, disease and the stench of death were everywhere. Hordes of children roamed the streets searching for a scrap of food and shelter against the cold and the ceaseless bombardment.

John Langdon-Davies, an English correspondent, was there on assignment. He found little Jose wandering aimlessly in the streets. In the child's pocket was a pencilled note reading:

"This is Jose. I am his father. When Santander falls I shall be shot. Whoever finds my son I beg him to care for him for my sake."

The reporter teamed up with another compassionate Englishman, Eric Muggeridge, a travel agent, and Foster Parents Plan was born.

AT FIRST they sheltered children in castles in the north of Spain. But the war spread ever northward. Eric Muggeridge led a band of terrified children across the freezing, snowbound passes of the Pyrenees to France. Cold, snow, and incessant bombing ended the flight for many children. This was January 1937. Plan children were given shelter in chateaux in the South of France.

The final refuge was England where emergency shelters were set up. Now the children were no longer numbered in the hundreds--there were thousands.

After the United States entered the war in 1941 Plan colonies in England cared for children from warring Europe. When peace came headquarters were opened in the war ravaged countries. Today Plan is supporting 45,800 children in nine countries. People from every state in the union are Foster Parents. Canada cares for more than 9,000 Foster Children.

THE PEOPLE who become Foster Parents are as varied as the places where they live. The inmates of San Quentin prison adopted a Greek girl; Chief Petty Officer Norman Weiss supports 10 Foster Children as a living memorial to his 21-year-old brother who was killed in the Korean War. Chief Weiss, who has managed to visit every one of his children, insists that a Foster Parent receives more than he gives. A Foster Parent gives $15 a month. He receives a letter every month from his child describing what the money is doing for the family.

In turn he writes to his child. Original and translation are sent both child and Foster Parent. Chief Weiss found that his letters were sometimes bound into an album, always read and reread until they were tattered. His photograph occupied the place of honor in every home that he visited.

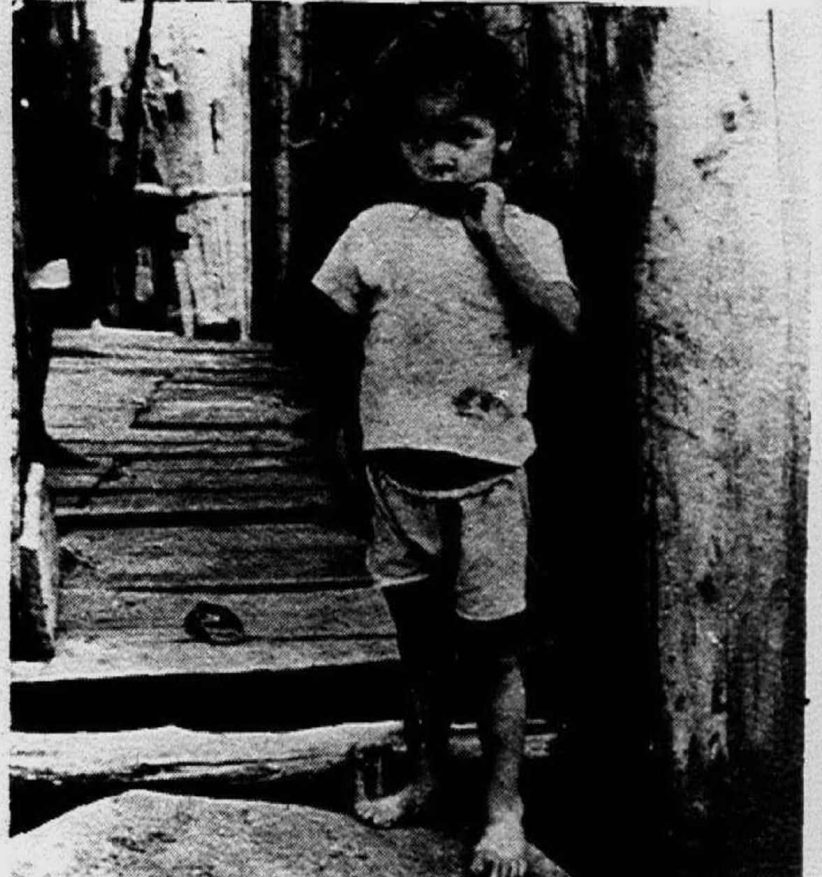

IN ADDITION to individuals and schools many business firms "adopt" children instead of giving Christmas presents to clients, or office parties for staff.

The organization that started in 1937 with one small boy now has an enrollment of over 47,800 in nine countries. More than 86,000 former Foster Children have been graduated as independent adults, good citizens of their country, loyal friends of the U.S. and Canada. Some are doctors and lawyers, others are housewives and farmers.

A Foster Parent may choose a child according to age, sex and nationality in Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, The Philippines, Vietnam, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador, Peru.

Foster Parents Plan cannot promise that a child will turn out to be a professional or a scholar. But it can guarantee the feeling of warm, personal satisfaction that comes from helping a hungry child exchange a life of destitution and despair for one of decency and hope. For information write to Foster Parents Plan, 352 Park Avenue South, New York, New York 10010.

VICENTE CAMACHO, age 7. South American. Mother abandoned by husband tries to support 6 children as laundress. All live in one room of cane shack. Children have parasites. Through Foster Parents Plan entire family will receive medical care as well as other benefits.

'Straw Hat' At U. Of D.

The delightful comedy with songs, "Italian Straw Hat," will be offered for a second weekend, Feb. 9-11, in the Library Theatre on the University of Detroit's McNichols campus. The play by Eugene Labiche and Mark Marc-Michel revolves around a wedding party in Paris following a frantic bridegroom in his search for a straw hat which inadvertently has been eaten by his horse.

Bob Bolan, U. of D. senior, has written original songs sung by the bridesmaids with guitar accompaniment.

The cast includes Nancy Ann Brown, 16887 Patton, Redford, as a member of the wedding party, and James McGrath, 31964 Lamar, Farmington, who portrays the Duc de Chateau Guillard.

Both Miss Brown and McGrath are freshmen in the College of Arts and Sciences.

The play also will run Friday through Sunday the weekend of Feb. 16-18.

Milliken On Suburban Issues

Acting Governor Fields Tough Ones

By TIM RICHARD

One of Bill Milliken's friends once said he was just a good-looking, easy-going guy who couldn't really fight.

Milliken, though 45, still has the boyish good looks of a movie star, but there are a few new wrinkles around the eyes since he has more frequently been acting governor of Michigan.

Yale-educated, president of the family's department store based in Traverse City, an Army Air Force combat veteran of World War II (purple heart with two oak leaf clusters), Rotarian, Boy Scout council president, William G. Milliken has been getting the battles of his life in Michigan now that Gov. George Romney is campaigning in other states for the Republican presidential nomination.

Milliken was elected in 1960 and 1962 to the State Senate, became floor leader in 1963 and, under the new constitution, was elected lieutenant governor in 1964 on the ticket with Romney.

When Romney was campaigning in Viet Nam, it fell to Gov. Milliken — that is the proper way to address him in such circumstance — to try to get passage of an open housing bill during the December special session.

Milliken got the brunt of conservative Republican Sen. George Kuhn's criticism about the administration's interest in open housing.

The acting governor was in Plymouth last week to address a Jaycees meeting, and we asked him some pointed questions about issues of annexation, housing and taxation that are pretty controversial in suburbia. He took them on.

Annexation

Q. Keeping in mind that the area you're in is about half township and half city, and that they have annexation problems, we noticed in Gov. Romney's State of the State message that the Boundary Commission proposal was missing this year. (The

AS ACTING GOVERNOR, Milliken signed a bill pushed by State Sen. George Kuhn (standing) establishing arbitration procedures for highway right-of-way disputes, but at other times the conservative Kuhn has been at bitter odds with the Romney-Milliken Administration.

Boundary Commission would decide the governmental sense of annexation, consolidation and new city incorporation petitions before putting them on the ballot.) Is the administration of which you are a part still in favor of this proposal?

MILLIKEN: "Yes, the administration is in favor of a Boundary Commission."

"As a matter of fact, it's my understanding that Sen. Milton Zaagman (R-Grand Rapids) will once again be introducing this bill. I think without any question it will have the support of the administration."

"The Zaagman proposal, if similar to the one presented last year, will make it easier for annexation to occur. I think this is important under certain controlled conditions, because we're facing the need to improve our public services, our sewage, our other facilities. Annexation, in some instances in the past, has been almost impossible of achievement."

"This bill, through setting up proper safeguards and proper machinery, will make that possible, and I think that is in the public interest."

'Obsession'

Q. Sen. George Kuhn, whose district you are now in, sent you a letter last month accusing you and the administration of having an "obsession" with open housing and having a lack of interest in better riot control and police laws. Will you comment?

MILLIKEN: "Well, I don't agree at all with the choice of words — 'obsession.'"

"It is true that Sen. Kuhn wrote me to that effect and requested that the administration become, as he said, I think, more active in the field of law enforcement and crime prevention."

"I replied to Sen. Kuhn to the effect that this administration is vitally interested in law enforcement in this state and the prevention of crime."

"I have recently received the Governor's Crime Commission report, and in that report many specific recommendations have been made which are now incorporated in the governor's State of the State message."

"We're concerned about crime and the problems of riots. This session (of the Legislature) will indicate the extent of that concern."

"But at the same time, it is important that all of us have a balanced approach to that problem. It's important, in my judgment, that we have open housing legislation in this state, and that we move along the lines of correcting social injustices which do occur."

"My point to him — and I repeat it here — is that we need a balanced approach which acknowledges the importance of both areas — vigorous action for crime prevention and control, and equal justice for all people."

MILLIKEN'S PORTRAIT — There are a few more wrinkles around the eyes now.

Q. Several suburban state representatives in our circulation area have listed as one of the prime reasons for the open housing bill defeat in December the fact that Gov. Romney was not in the state. This reflects two ways — on Gov. Romney for not being here and on you personally, as acting governor in his absence. What is your reaction to the criticism that not everything was done to pass that bill?

MILLIKEN: "My reaction is this:

"The governor enlarged the special session to include the open housing issue. The governor has made his position clear from the very beginning."

"And without any question at all, everything was done that could be done to achieve open housing in this state during that special session."

"And I might add that the predictions earlier were that the bill would be overwhelmed. That was not true. The measure received 47 of the necessary 56 votes. We felt it represented a tremendous achievement."

"We'll be successful in the regular session."

Strategy

Q. You're a former member of the State Senate, and one representative out this way (Democrat John Bennett of Redford) suggested that things might have gone better for open housing had the bill gone to the Senate because the House members were afraid of it until they knew what the Senate would do. Have you any reply?

MILLIKEN: "It's always easy, of course, to look back and to decide that, had a certain course of action been taken, the result might have been different."

"I can only say that, in our best judgment at the time, the House was the place to begin the action."

Commuter Tax

Q. Sen. Kuhn has proposed that the income tax limitation on cities — he was thinking of Detroit, although it would apply to all cities — be raised to two per cent on a quid pro quo basis: In exchange, the commuter tax — that is, the half per cent on non-residents working in the city — would be eliminated. Can you comment for the administration or for yourself on this proposal?

MILLIKEN: "Yes, I think we need to think more and more in terms of areas, and there's no question that suburban communities are vitally affected by the quality of life and the economic activity which goes on in the City of Detroit."

"It just seems to me it is not unreasonable that the present arrangement (tax on commuters) be continued, and that it would be unreasonable to adopt the proposal of Sen. Kuhn to place a disproportionate burden on those individuals within the city and absolve the persons who live outside the city who commute and regularly use its facilities — it would absolve them of some of any real responsibility for progress or for future development in that area."

New Social Security

Medicare Payments Made Simpler

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles by Sam P. Test, Social Security District Manager in the Detroit-Northwest Office, telling what the Social Security Amendments of 1967 mean to you and your family.)

When Medicare first started on July 1, 1966, there were two ways for older people to get their doctor bills paid under the program.

The first called for the doctor's agreeing to claim the 80 per cent payment direct from Medicare, by filling out a very simple one-page application form. The other required that the beneficiary first pay the bill and then apply for the medicare payment, with or without the help of the doctor.

DURING THE first year and a half of Medicare, about half of the claims for doctor bills were put in directly by the doctors, while the beneficiaries had to apply, after paying the bill, in about half the cases.

The system worked well enough—almost $1.3 billion was paid in benefits under it—but not without hardship to those older people who could raise the money to pay the bill only by borrowing or by depriving themselves of necessities while waiting for the Medicare payment to come in.

Now Congress has changed all this to eliminate the necessity for the beneficiary's paying the bill first, in cases where the doctor decides not to make the claim himself.

Beginning Jan. 1, all the beneficiary needs is an itemized bill—not an itemized, receipted bill as in the past.

OF COURSE, the assignment-to-the-doctor method is still the simplest method for all concerned. It requires the use of only a single sheet of paper (the "Request for Payments" form), with no attachments or enclosures that might become separated from the claims form and delay a payment.

Also it has blanks for all of the kinds of information needed to pay a claim, thus further preventing "write-backs" for missing data without which a claim cannot be paid.

Under this method, the doctor agrees to accept the "reasonable charge" determined by the carrier, as his full charge, and the basis of the 80 per cent payment made to him. The patient is responsible for the other 20 per cent, plus any part of the $50 annual deductible that might be remaining.

But even if the doctor declines to accept an assignment, it can be to his advantage to use the "Request for Payments" form in lieu of his standard receipted bill in the case of Medicare beneficiaries.

Increase Exemptions -Tierney

State Rep. James Tierney (D-Garden City) has joined forces with Rep. Joyce Symons (D-Allen Park) in an attempt to bring more tax relief to the qualified senior citizens of Michigan.

They have introduced a bill in the Legislature to increase the present exemption on real estate taxes by 50 per cent or from $10,000 to $15,000 of state equalized valuation.

"When the new constitution was adopted," Rep. Tierney explained, "it called for the assessment of property at 50 per cent of its true cash value. That was in 1963, but the law now has worked a hardship on many of the retirees, and the bill we introduced would bring relief."

At present, all property owned by persons over 65 years that is valued at $20,000 or less is eligible for the exemption. This means that the seniors get an exemption for $10,000.

With the increase in values and the new assessment, the case has taken a different twist, and the $10,000 figure, according to Tierney, has worked too many hardships.

Welding Gets
Major Blame
For Two Fires

Two small fires were easily held in check with only minor damage in Plymouth Township over a three day period, during the past week.

The first was at the home of Charles Bublin, 40597 Micol. It started in the basement and crawled the inside of the rear wall of the house, on Monday.

Paul Albright, Township public services director, said the probable cause of this blaze was a spark from a cutting torch. A man was cutting a beam that protruded from the rear of the house and a spark caught the insulation above the beam, he said.

The director estimated the damage to amount to about $1,000.

The second fire was in a house under construction at 44598 Charnwood Court.

Again Albright said the culprit was probably a welding torch that gave off a spark which started the fire. He said that plumbers had recently sweated two copper pipes together and left while the fire must have smoldered undetected.

The damage was placed at $100. Albright said that in the last four or five fires in both the city and township welding torches have been named as the cause.

A Sandwich Turns Into Colorful Bavarian Village

Donald Day and his father, Gordon, opened a liquor and party store 13 years ago in a 20-by-70-foot building.

Today, their Town Food & Sausage Shop in Bavarian Village at 14157 Telegraph Rd., just half a block north of Schoolcraft, is one of the largest of its kind in the country.

And it all started with a submarine sandwich and literally grew by leaps and bounds.

Their original store, now closed, was located at the southeast corner of Telegraph and Schoolcraft, just up the road from the new place.

When they first moved there, they added a 30-foot addition for storage. Later, they built a second 20-by-70-foot addition for the sausage shop. Then they got into the submarine sandwich business which snow-balled so rapidly that they finally had to build a third addition, this time 20 by 30 feet, for take-outs and light luncheons.

THEY ENDED UP with a 40-by-100-foot building which eventually housed not only a liquor and party store but their sausage department, their sandwich and restaurant operation, but a delicatessen as well. That, in essence, is the make-up of their new Bavarian Village store but which is twice as large and for the connoisseur, whether of a submarine sandwich or pate au Foie, is a place sublime, indeed. With a name such as Town Food & Sausage Shop there must be, of course, sausage. And, there is. In fact, there are over 125 different varieties laid out to behold in the 36-foot long sausage counter, including the full line of Kowalski and about 60 per cent of Usingers of Milwaukee. A STEP FURTHER is the delicatessen area filled with such delectable old favorites as potato, bean or jello salads (over 500 pounds of potato salad is sold in a week), pigs feet, pig hocks, dilled baloney, smoked fish, creamed and wine herring, liver spreads, meat loaf, Cornish hens, and capons.

NEW WINE SHOP, that is part of the facilities of their recently opened Bavarian Village complex in Redford Township near the intersection of Schoolcraft and Telegraph Roads, has the attention of Donald Day and his father Gordon. The Village is a culmination of a lifetime dream.

Training Center Begins Operations

The new RCA Training Center at 30622 Industrial Road, Livonia, has announced that it will begin full scale operations this year.

The ultra-modern center is one of six built throughout the nation last year. The other centers are near New York City, Philadelphia, Miami, Chicago and Los Angeles.

According to W.W. Cook, manager of technical training for RCA, the centers have been constructed to meet the unprecedented demand for skilled technicians required to provide TV owners the most prompt, expert service possible.

The building, including a 7,200 square foot area, includes classrooms with the latest in audio-visual training aids, fully-equipped laboratories, and administrative offices for its staff.

Cook added: "This forward training approach becomes a necessity when one considers that new color TV set purchases will top 34,000,000 in the next five years. At the training centers, we expect to train 2,796 men during this year with a schedule of 5,632 man-weeks of training. This represents 50 per cent more men than were trained during the past year.

Pipelines Work

Pipelines carry 44 per cent of the petroleum tonnage transported in this country, but trucks, water carriers and railroads also play important roles. The gasoline purchased at a neighborhood service station may have reached the pump through a combination of several means of transportation.

PowerCo. Reports Records

JACKSON--Consumers power Company Monday reported record sales of electricity and natural gas in the 12 months ended Dec. 31, 1967, setting highs for annual operating revenue and net income.

Earnings per share, on the average number of common shares outstanding, totaled $2.87. This compared with the previous high of $2.81 in 1966, after adjustment to show the effect of the 10 per cent stock dividend on common stock issued April 3, 1967. Year-end earnings figures are subject to final audit and adjustment.

The statement reported that total gross operating revenue in 1967 was $477,181,447, compared to the previous high of $447,900,267 reported for 1966. Revenues, included $270,086,001 from electric customers, up 4.7 per cent from the previous 12 months period; $205,882,426 from natural gas customers, up 8.9 per cent from 1966; and $1,213,020 from customers purchasing steam for heating, up 6.5 per cent from 1966. Net income was $68,523,498 compared with $67,178,716 for 1966.

The company supplies energy to 1,002,706 electric customers and 764,903 natural gas customers in a 30,600-square-mile area of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

In the 12 months period, customers used more than 16.7 billion kilowatt hours of electricity, and more than 237.5 billion cubic feet of natural gas; in each case an all-time record.

Cornices Dress Up Windows

The do-it-yourselfer can be a big help to the "missus" in helping her accent living room windows, for instance, at a nominal cost for materials.

Cornices can be made in the home workshop of predecorated hardboard. This sturdy material, available at lumber and building materials yards, looks well, wears well, and is inexpensive. It requires no decorating, either.

Excellent for a window soffit is a textured hardboard with the appearance of travertine marble. Called Marbletone, it has an off-white surface color with gray in the fissures.

THE HOME craftsman simply cuts any desired pattern of scallops his wife may wish with a coping saw, nails up some wood supports around the window frame and attaches the textured hardboard with Royalcote adhesive.

Another interesting window treatment may be developed using Masonite Filigree hardboard panels. These may be purchased in narrow widths, along with grooved moldings which are used to make a framework.

Due to the openwork of the Filigree panels, they can serve as shields for fluorescent light fixtures in the window area or other locations in the home. These decorative panels may be painted to match or contrast with the room decor.

KIDS AND grown-ups flocked to the Livonia Mall Saturday to hear the Shrine Oriental Band and enjoy the actions of the Shrine Moslem Clowns. Shrine leaders led the band through the Mall to advertise the Shrine Circus, January 26 to February 11. Livonia Mall customers pitched coins into cups in the fountain for prizes. Coins will be turned over to the Shrine for their crippled children's fund. From left: Shrine leaders George Bobbish, Mike Gentile, newly elected Illustrious Potentate, William Spence, with clowns and their fans.

NW Realty Association Reports Record Year

Another all-time record year of home sales was rung up during 1967 by members of the United Northwestern Realty Association, according to figures released by William Y. Mathers, association president.

Total sales of residential properties multi-listed with the 1,700-member association for the year amount to $178.6 million--up 19 per cent from sales of $144.6 million during 1966, Mathers said.

The number of homes sold, the number of properties listed and the average selling price per home also set new records.

UNRA BROKERS completed 9,359 home sales from 14,329 property listings, compared with 8,246 sales and 12,245 listings in 1966. The average selling price was $18,787 per house in 1967, as against an average selling price of $17,402 the year before--an increase of 7.4 per cent.

"Total number of sales and listings for each month from April on also set new records as compared with the same month in previous years," Mathers stated.

"In dollar value, sales likewise set records each month, starting with March. Prior to 1967, the highest sales total for any single month was $15.2 million, a record that our members set in August, 1966."

"During 1967 that record was surpassed five straight months, from April through August, and in the single month of June our members sold more than $20 million worth of homes."

PROPERTY SALES, by members of the multiple-listing organization, who are also members of the Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors, provides the most comprehensive and reliable index to residential real-estate activity throughout the metropolitan area, Mathers explained.

Serving northwest Detroit and the western portions of Wayne and Oakland counties, the board's territory encompasses more than 20 separate communities covering over 800 square miles with a population of 1.9 million people.

Mathers was highly optimistic about 1968 real estate activity. "UNRA computerized its multilist system in November--the first of its kind--and already the results are worth noting. Sales were up 30 and 41 per cent in November and December respectively."

"A special benefit of this computerization to the prospective homebuyer is that realty salespeople are now freed of the bookkeeping necessities by the old multilist system, and as a consequence salespeople have more time to spend with their clients in the selection of a home," he concluded.

Williamson Salespeople Join $500,000 Club

Twenty-six salespeople for the Gordon Williamson Co. have qualified for membership in a nationwide organization known as the Gallery of Homes $500,000 Club. Each of them sold more than a half million dollars' worth of homes and commercial properties during the year ended last Nov. 30.

The firm has 50 full-time salespeople working out of its six offices in Detroit, Dearborn, Farmington, Birmingham, Livonia and Walled Lake.

The $500,000 Club members helped push Williamson sales during the last year to a record total of $22,630,581, according to Daniel R. Williamson, vice president and director of sales. The total number of properties sold was 960, from Jan. 1 to Dec. 31, 1967. This was a dollar gain of $6,584,267 in residential sales over the previous year.

Williamson gives credit for the 25-year record in sales to the firm's computerized home-finding service, which has been in operation at all Williamson offices since March 1, 1966.

He said that the computer, called ASK, and a teletype system which relays information on listings to all Williamson offices, had greatly accelerated the problem of finding homes for hundreds of families, many of them newcomers in the Detroit area.

Williamson's top salesperson in 1967 was Ilona Zimmersmann of the Farmington office, which recently became corporate headquarters for the firm. She sold $2,076,225 worth of homes and other properties during the year ended Nov. 30.

Second and third-place winners in the $500,000 Club competition were George Luenberger of the Dearborn office, with a total of $1,588,993, and Robert Curtis of the Detroit office, with $1,282,830.

Others who qualified for the $500,000 Club were: Dorothy Michel, Richard Diem, Ray Papsun, Sam Buckwitz and Dorothy Fuller, Dearborn office.

Bernice Peterson, Adaleen Harden, Ruth Sullivan, George Clements and Betty Patterson, Farmington office. Ralph Masters, Birmingham office.

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenshell

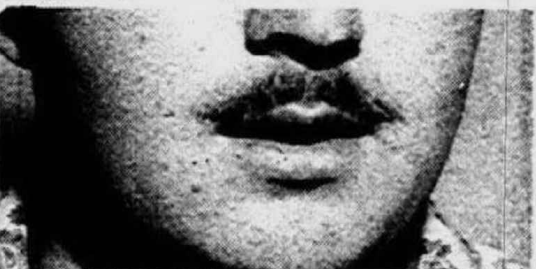

Charley Murphy's mustache is an issue that someday could be resolved by a young lady with a fastidious nature and a strong will.

He will either shave it off or keep it in wondrous plume, depending on the sensitivity of a lady's fair cheek.

But while the processes of justice grind fine, the mustache brings us a delightful confrontation—lip-to-lip, maybe—between the generations.

Oh ho, you say, it was the kids themselves who proposed the code of conduct and appearance. The Board of Education sanctioned it and, thus it became law. And everybody is equal under the etc.

THE HUTCHINSON Act is also law, if you'll permit an aside. It

forbids public employees to strike or "absent themselves from their jobs."

Extend the logic a mite: If educators establish the conduct and appearance code as law, folks, it means there will be no teacher strikes next spring.

The kids drew the code themselves, but picture the carnage if they had proposed long hair and mini-skirts and beards. Instantly we would deem them flighty and incapable of sound judgment.

The smarts don't necessarily come with age.

So Charley wins and somebody loses and that's the way it is. Let's hope it isn't a tie.

AN OLD PROFESSOR used to quote Blackstone by the yard. His favorite was:

"The law is not primarily concerned with justice."

Murphy and his parents contend he's worn the mustache for years and makes him valid as a musician.

School officials contend it violates the rules and its existence under these conditions sasses the code by which every other student is required to live.

It is discipline with a touch of Blackstone.

The case is getting to be funnier than an old Spike Jones symphony. The schools have hired an outside attorney, one more specialized in mustache litigation. The students are saluting Charley with half-covered winks.

Charley doesn't merit the attention.

WITHOUT PREJUDGING the case — and with some of the recent Supreme Court decisions, this could be a capital offense — we think Charley should keep his mustache if he can stand it.

The no-mustache rule should be erased from the books — the only test being whether it prevents Charley or others from getting a proper education.

Kids will accept discipline but not arbitrary dictums (or dicta, if you're a purist).

WE REALIZE that the board of education is trapped on the issue. But the damage to discipline and order, if indeed there has been, already has been done.

We don't think this whole business will result in mustaches on every kid able to grow one.

Kids these days need discipline and leadership, but not inflexibility. A smart slap on the fanny is better for the young than rules they don't understand which provide another opportunity to rebel.

So the board and the courts and the teachers and other students are all fretting over Charley's mustache.

Personally, it looks adequate on him but would look terrible on anybody else.

If he wants to look like that, OK.

SENSE 'N' NONSENSE

The nationwide economic inflation has had its effect on the cost of new homes in Garden City.

One developer last week changed his roadside signs and raised the price of his new homes $500 to $19,490.

Patriotism Requires A Quiet Sacrifice

Just two weeks ago the President closed his State of the Union message with an appeal to the people for pride in their country. He used the term "patriotism."

Just what does a person mean by patriotism? What is the emotion?

Webster's defines patriotism as "love and loyal or zealous support of one's own country, especially in all matters involving other countries."

It's a nice dictionary definition, but it doesn't quite do the job.

Maybe, Adlai Stevenson came closer to describing true patriotism during the 1952 presidential campaign than anyone else. In a speech he asserted that patriotism in the current day is:

"A patriotism that puts country ahead of self; a patriotism which is not short, frenzied outbursts of emotion, but the tranquil and steady dedication of a lifetime."

That comes closer.

A PERFECT CASE in point (and what has prompted this piece) is the grumbling and scorn that has been heaped on LBJ's plea for Americans to confine their travels to the Western Hemisphere because of the balance of payments problem.

It's a blow to think that the Americans who have always prided themselves on being free agents face the possibility of having their travel rights restricted. However, this is where the quiet, unobtrusive type of patriotism comes into play.

No doubt there is a balance of payments problem. No doubt, if every single American were to stay within the confines of this country during the coming year, the problem wouldn't be solved. However, it would help.

PATRIOTISM involves many complex factors. It is more than marching off to fight for one's country during a war or having that strange feeling when one hears the national anthem, visits a national shrine or even sees the flag flying in certain circumstances.

Patriotism is more than attending a Memorial Day or Fourth of July parade once a year.

Stevenson said in the same speech that "it is often easier to fight for principles than to live up to them."

True. It would be easy to be patriotic in the case of another Pearl Harbor or even another presidential assassination.

It's not so easy when the quiet, unobtrusive personal sacrifice is involved.

—Sue Shaughnessy

From the Publisher's Desk OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

By now, everybody knows about the Pueblo crisis and how the North Korean seizure of the American intelligence ship has plunged the world onto the brink of a wider war in Southeast Asia.

Briefly, the facts are these. The Pueblo is a ship crammed with electronic gear designed to snoop on various things going on in North Korea. (Similarly, Russian ships appear daily off our shores.) Last week it was surrounded by North Korean vessels, boarded and towed into the port of Wansan.

The 83 American crew members were packed away into prison, the boat was investigated by North Korean engineers (who, hopefully, found the secret equipment and codes already destroyed or thrown overboard) and the North Korean radio broadcast an obviously fake "confession" by the American Captain.

Presently, the United Nations is debating the matter. President Johnson has called up some naval and air reserves, including an air rescue squadron based at Self-ridge Air Force Base near Detroit. The Americans say they won't put up with this, and the North Koreans say they're ready to fight about it.

IT'S A FULL-FLEDGED crisis, and over the weekend every time I thought about it I got that sinking feeling in the pit of my stomach that I remembered so well from the Cuban missile crisis.

Then I started to wonder just what the North Koreans were up to. Why in heaven's name should they run such a heavy risk of retaliation? And why should the Chinese Communists, who have everything to gain from egging the North Koreans on to do such a thing, have slapped a complete news blackout on the story?

There is no certain evidence to show that the seizure was in fact specifically authorized by the authorities in the North Korean government. Surely no evidence of this could ever be found, now that the event has happened. But it makes you wonder.

While Cities Burn...

His Response: A Speech

It seems that summer riots will be commonplace as the 4th of July holidays, according to remarks in the Michigan State Journal.

In the Dec. 14 journal, Senator Robert J. Huber of Troy in Oakland County, painted a dim picture of what is expected to happen on the riot front in Detroit and its suburbs this summer and he gained comments of agreement from the state's "chief law enforcement officer," presumably referring to State Police Director Col. Fredrick Davids.

Huber, according to the account of his remarks in the Senate Journal, said:

"I'M VERY concerned about the fact that we as a Senate have done nothing about the coming year and the rioting that we know is going to occur in Detroit. Now, I'm tired of hearing about the New Detroit Committee and all the noble men who are doing nothing on that committee except meeting."

"I've been reading in Business Week (financial magazine) where the members of the Detroit Committee are quoted as saying that 'if you fat cats don't give us what we want, it won't be our places that will be burning next summer, it will be yours.'"

"I have a letter here that was submitted to the New Detroit Committee from our chief law enforcement officer in which he states that people are being trained today in the use of incendiary devices. The letter was dated Oct. 18 and nobody is doing anything about it."

"I have a release from a Macomb daily paper that says that next summer — this is a report given by a seminararian who is apparently supposedly have been a counselor to Romney and Cavanaugh — and he said that next summer some 50 carloads of militants from the core of the city of Detroit are going to the suburbs and shoot children, and then head back to the core city to start the next riot."

"I CHECKED THAT out with the chief law enforcement officer here in the state and he said that is substantially correct from information which he has."

"And here we sit some six months after the worst riot the state has ever had doing nothing but worry about lower court reorganization and open occupancy with the lives and safety and the security of every member of the state, particularly in the core area, threatened daily."

"Now I think the time has come now to take some sort of constructive action. I think it's a shame that when these conditions exist and I have these things in print, that the Executive Officer (Gov. Romney) isn't here in the state instead of running for the presidency. I think these are critical times and critical matters and we're doing nothing, and my constituents if they had any idea of some of these things or if they had been made public I think they would rise up in righteous indignation and demand that their Legislators do something."

"We haven't had a single thing on this agenda that we were called back for that would in any way protect the lives, welfare, and security of the people back in our districts, particularly in the metropolitan area where there is a sad situation."

"MANY OF THE members of the floor here and in the House (of Representatives) carry guns and have permits because of their own recognition of the insecurity and the possibility of being attacked. I intend in the next Legislature to do something along these lines in the way of asking that all members of the Legislature, while they are in the Legislature and maybe for one term thereafter, be able to arm themselves."

After calling for action by his fellow senators, Huber, whose $90,000 home on a nine-acre site in a district which includes the plush Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills communities, issued his concluding comment: "I would like my remarks printed in the Journal."

When the riots start next summer, maybe the good senator can pass out copies of his speech and stop the disorders right then and there.

The honorable legislator is also conspicuous for not asking why "the chief law enforcement officer" of the state doesn't seek conspiracy to commit a crime warrants against those persons who are plotting the 1968 riots?

Possibly, Huber is waiting until the smoke dies down and then tell everyone, "I told you so."

Then next year, he will again make a long speech on the floor of the Senate and conclude his rousing call to arms by asking that his remarks be printed in the Senate Journal.

—Leonard Poger

HERE IS THE port commander at Wansan. He sits in his office and every day he sees this American intelligence ship cruising off his installation, safely outside the 12-mile limit. He knows the ship is monitoring his radio messages, just as he knows there is nothing he can do to stop it.

So one day he gets sore and tells some of his patrol boat captains to go out and seize the Pueblo... without checking with the political authorities in Poyngyang, the North Korean capital.

His men go out and bring the Pueblo and its crew back to Wansan. Then the port commander gets on the blower with Poyngyang.

"Well, I've got this American ship and 83 crewmen in port," he says.

"You've got what!?" replies someone in the North Korean politburo.

"An American intelligence ship and its crew," comes back the inscrutable reply. "What do you want me to do with them?"

"But you didn't get any clearance! Don't you know what this means? This is a full-fledged international crisis!"

"Well, that may be. But I was getting madder and madder every day that darn ship cruised back and forth, just outside the 12-mile limit, and I finally blew up and sent my ships out to bring it in."

"It's your problem now, so I guess you'll want to send someone down here to handle the situation."

Spitting eruptions in Korean on the other end of the line as the port commander puts down the phone.

I'M NOT TRYING to be flip-pant about the incident. What I'm trying to suggest is that it certainly could have happened in this way and that such a possibility is very alarming.

One man in a comparatively minor position gets mad. He goes off half-cocked and seizes a ship without checking with the higher-ups. And although his government may wind up busting him back to the North Korean equivalent of a naval buck private, the event has happened and there is no way to back out of it.

And the world is in the middle of another nuclear crisis.

IN AN EARLIER and perhaps more civilized day it wouldn't have been so serious. Minor officials could make mistakes, but military reaction wasn't so quick or so catastrophic then as it is now. Ships on their way to bombard a port could be recalled, simply because it might have taken them weeks to get there.

But recalling an atomic bomb after it has been dropped is another matter.

And correcting or rectifying a miscalculation by one individual — in an age when electronics bring the mistakes of one man into the center of the world stage in the flash of a radio message — is almost as difficult.

Most governments have various built-in fail-safe devices to try to prevent one man's miscalculations from setting off a train of events which would bring nuclear destruction. But no fail-safe system can stop every possible mistake or miscalculation.

That's a little frightening. And it may be that a certain North Korean port commander now realizes it.

SENSE 'N' NONSENSE

Westland Municipal Employees Union charged a conflict of interest in the Civil Service Commission because its chairman has his wife working as an employee with civil service protection. But nothing publicly was said about the union last month picking its representative on the Commission although the new member has a son working for the city. On top of that, the previous Commission member who recently resigned had a brother working for the city. Who says there's no close family ties anymore?

It's Better Economics

New Budget System Cuts Deficit

The single, most important change that President Johnson made in his new budget was not in any such category as defense or housing.

Rather it was the style of the budget itself.

And the change will be politically controversial.

UNTIL THIS year, presidents had presented Congress an "administrative" budget covering the basic foreign, defense, debt service and domestic programs.

This year, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, Johnson presented a "unified" budget. It includes the administrative budget plus the Social Security, Medicare and highway trust funds.

If Johnson had used the "administrative" budget only, his proposed outlay would have been about $139 billion.

Under the "unified" budget, however, the outlay would be $47 billion higher—or a total of $186.1 billion.

WHY THE change?

Republicans—for example, 19th District Congressman Jack McDonald—point out that the "unified" budget shows a smaller deficit than the "administrative" budget.

"I think the President misrepresented the real situation in this budget with the new accounting," said McDonald.

"His projected deficit falls short by about 10 billion dollars. The Social Security revenue is greater than Social Security payments. What we have is an accounting gimmick to make the administrative deficit look smaller than it really is."

To understand McDonald's point, take a look at the accompanying chart. In the revenue coin, note that "Social Insurance Retirement Taxes" are 22 cents. On the spending coin, note that payments from that fund are only 20 cents.

Under the "administrative" budget, the deficit would be $11.8 billion. Under the "unified" budget, it would be only $8 billion.

THE CHANGE was recommended last year by a 16-member presidential commission.

Most economists would approve it.

For one thing, the unified system shows more accurately the full impact of federal taxing and spending in the American economy.

For a second thing, the unified budget avoids the confusion created last year when the president presented three different budgets—the administrative, the cash consolidated and the national income accounts budgets.

HERE'S HOW the new budget would compare to the current fiscal year's budget, both shown on a unified basis:

rent fiscal year's budget, both shown on a unified basis:

Spending would rise from the current $175.6 billion to $186.1 billion.

Revenue would rise from $155.8 billion to $178.1 billion. The deficit, projected at $19.1 billion for this year, would be $8 billion in the coming year, and the total federal debt would rise to $387.2 billion.

SOME OF JOHNSON'S specific proposals:

War-Vietnam costs add up to $25.8 billion in the new budget, rising $1.3 billion from this year. In four fiscal years, 1966-69, the U.S. will have poured $75 billion into the war.

Excises—The 10 per cent telephone tax and 7 per cent auto excise should be extended beyond April 1, Johnson said, instead of dropping then to 1 per cent and 2 per cent respectively. Thus, plus the surtax and proposed speedup of corporate tax payments, would bring total tax increases to $12.9 billion in fiscal 1969.

Construction—A broad slowdown looms in federal construction. Cutbacks will reduce 1969 building programs by about $1.6 billion below the appropriated levels of 1968, Johnson said.

Federal debt—The national debt, as measured by the unified budget, will total $387.2 billion on June 30, 1969. Since part of this is not subject to the congressional debt ceiling—which rises automatically to $365 billion on July 1—Johnson said no increase in the legal limit will be needed. But if Congress fails to vote the surcharge, he will have to ask an increase.

Credit—A possible squeeze on the supply of mortgage credit, perhaps enough to damage the housing recovery, is seen in a proposed curtailment of the Federal National Mortgage Association. The FNMA's mortgage purchases—which funnel money into the hands of mortgage lenders—would be cut from this year's $2.3 billion to less than $1 billion in 1968.

Housing—In an apparent effort to offset the FNMA squeeze, Johnson recommended elimination of the 6 per cent ceiling on interest rates on mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration and guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

That would permit higher mortgage interest rates, raising the cost to homebuyers. But it might attract more investment funds into the mortgage market.

Johnson loaded his message with assurances to congress that his budget is a barebones spending blueprint, frugal enough to justify the House Ways and Means Committee in reviving consideration of the surtax. The committee recently shelved the tax plan for the third time, waiting to see this budget.

Johnson called on Congress to help him "cut out lower priority programs," and he devoted 2 1/2 pages to a listing of entrenched but less-essential programs which he said should be slashed.

Many of the proposed cuts would require legislation, and most were deep enough to assure heated opposition when they start through the congressional mill.

Included were merchant ship construction, to be cut $156 million from the authorized 1969 level; federal outlays for college academic facilities construction, to be cut $83 million; other education and health programs, to be cut $176 million; farm operating loans, to be cut $50 million; rural electrification loans, to be cut $45 million.

A slash of $230 million in space agency funds was urged. Nevertheless Johnson promised an aggressive space program to reach the goal of a man on the moon by 1970 and develop a "new spacecraft for launch in 1973 to orbit and land on Mars."

On the up side, about $3.3 billion of the $10.4 billion budget increase would go into the military budget, Johnson said, producing an over-all national defense outlay of $79.8 billion. The latter figure includes not only the Pentagon's $76.7 billion but indirect defense outlays in the atomic energy, stockpile and other programs.

Another $3.9 billion increase reflects enlarged Social Security, medicare and other social insurance benefits. About $1.6 billion reflects the government pay increase voted by Congress last year.

Steadily climbing interest charges on the federal debt will add $900 million to the taxpayers' costs, bringing the total interest outlay to $14.4 billion.

Thurston, N. Farmington Prepare For Friday's Showdown Battle

BING, BANG, BOOM --- That's what's in store Friday night when Thurston enters North Farmington in basketball.

Something must give. The two rivals, along with Oak Park, presently find themselves locked in a three-way tie for first place in the Northwest Suburban League.

Each of the trio has a 4-1 record.

Oak Park was rolling along until last Friday when Thurston erupted for a 66-58 victory.

Meantime, North Farmington slipped past Birmingham Groves, 66-60.

Coach Mike Pasternak isn't surprised that his Thurston team finally has begun to jell.

"WE LOST our first seven men from last year's team," Pasternak explains. "We had to start over again in building a first unit, and it's just taken our boys a little time to get adjusted."

the way now."

North Farmington, on the other hand, rated among the circuit's powers from the start.

Coach Dick Wilson has boasted a veteran squad and the team has played pretty much to the form sheet in building up its fine record in the league.

Thurston jumped off to a 14-11 start against Oak Park as David Day tossed in four baskets and one free throw in the first period.

THE TOWNSHIPERS expanded their lead to 30-25 in the second half, then pulled away to a nine-point edge in the third period as Day clicked for six more points to give him 18 for the game and individual honors for the winners.

Dale Joyce had 11 and Urban Rice and Rick Wagner 10 each for Thurston. Tim Forbestossed in six and Ernie Foess five.

Thurston had to make some adjustments, especially in the rebounding department, after the first half.

"We were not getting in position under the boards early," said Pasternak. "So we really were outbounded in the first half. We held our own with them in the second half."

Defensively, Thurston stuck to its regular zone defense. "We didn't try anything fancy," a happy Pasternak said.

North Farmington had to fight back for its victory over Groves.

THE BIRMINGHAM team took a 15-10 lead at the end of the first quarter. In fact, Groves jumped on top, 10-1, and then 12-3, before the Raiders started to move and outscored Groves, 7-3, during the rest of the initial period as Ron Flutur flipped in five points.

By halftime, North Farmington had a 29-28 advantage thanks to Mike McCoy's seven points and four each by Flutur and Jerry Hazelroth in the second period.

The Raiders' upped their lead to 11 points in the third period when John Mann clicked for six points, but Groves cut it to three by the period's end.

Mann fired in six more in the final period when North Farmington built up a comfortable advantage.

North Farmington alternated between a man-to-man and zone defense in the first half. Thereafter, North resorted strictly to a man-to-man.

Flutur was the high scorer for the winners with 18 points. McCoy and Hazelroth had 15 each, Mann 13, Rick Knockfour and Joel Comstock three.

Jim Cameron had 14 and Ron Douglas 12 for the losers.

East Tips Inkster For No. 11

On rolls the Garden City East basketball team.

East made it 6-0 in Mid-Wayne League play and 11-1 for the season Friday in routing Inkster, 68-51.

There was never much doubt about the outcome. East got off to a 16-8 lead in the first period and dominated until late in the game when foul difficulties by East helped Inkster into a splurge.

However, by that time the game was out of reach in favor of East.

Harold Slade pumped in seven points and Rick Klack six to get the East attack buzzing. Then Mike Maciasz took over in the second period with six points, while Slade and Maciasz had six each in the third stanza.

EAST CONTINUED to rotate its defense which unquestionably plagued Inkster.

The rebounding of Maciasz again was outstanding. He hauled down 23 off the boards to zoom his average for the season to 17 grabs per game.

Slade finished as the high man for East with 19 points. Klack had 14 while Maciasz was "low" for himself with only 14 points.

Charles Sakmar tossed in nine, Mike Roth five, Harvey Knightlinger four and Phil Young two.

Schoolcraft Swimmers Win Twice

Schoolcraft College's swimming team emerged winner in two out of three dual meets over the weekend.

Schoolcraft beat Alpena, 59-35, and then lost to Kellogg, 60-34, in a triple event; then the next night, Schoolcraft won over Auburn Hills, 61-30.

Against Alpena, Schoolcraft triumphed in the following events:

200-yard breast stroke -- Trembath.

400-yard medley -- Goerlitz, Trembath, Bob Wellman, Len Ferguson.

200-yard free -- Zynowicz.

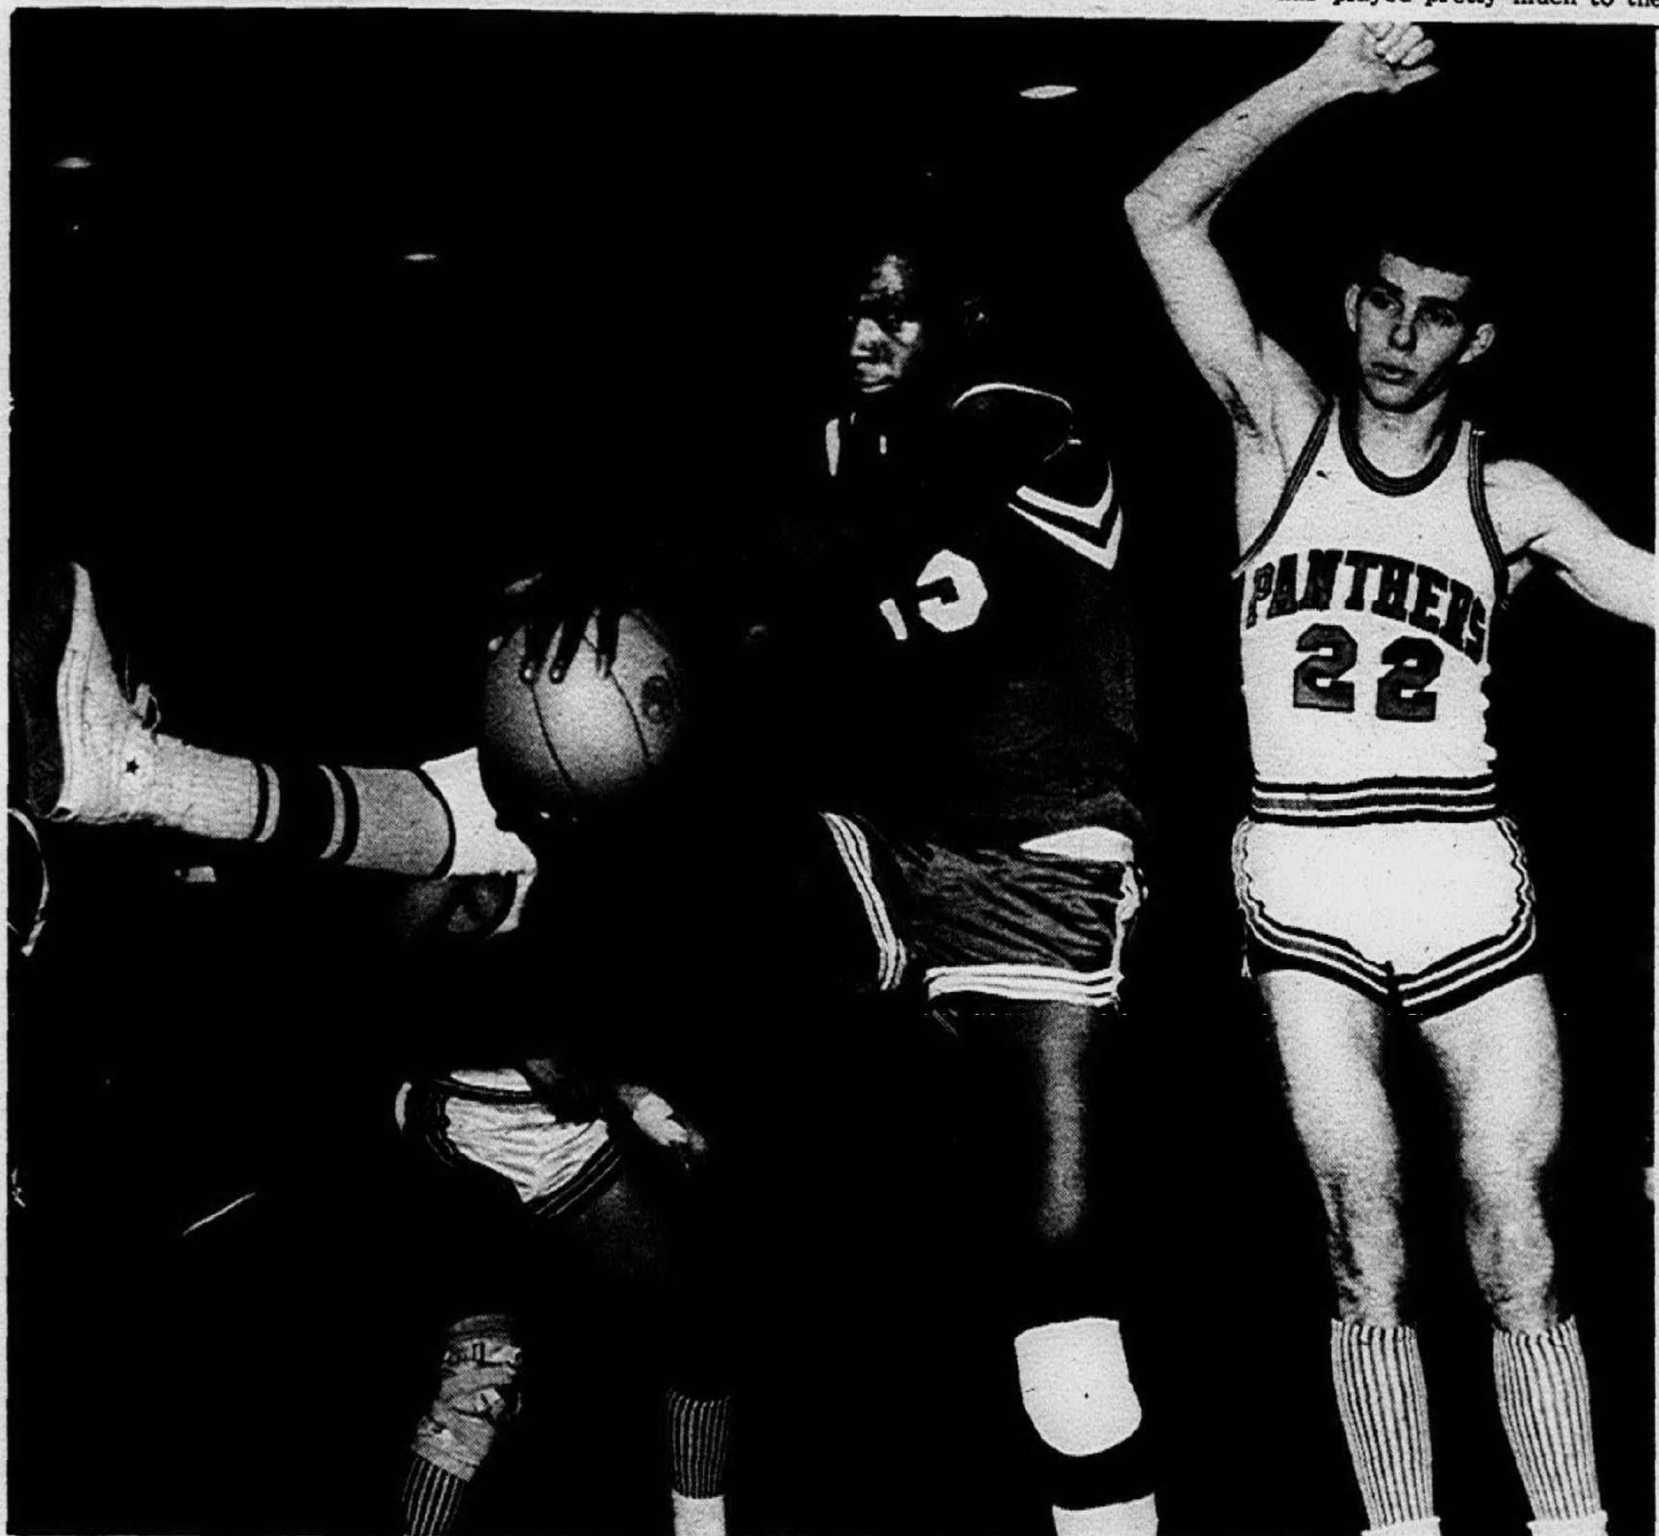

Diving -- Bars.

200-yard butterfly -- Zynowicz.

200-yard back -- Bars.

500-yard free -- Zynowicz.

200-yard breast stroke -- Trembath.

NO QUESTION about who was going to get the rebound in this action during the Garden City East-Inkster game. Lanky Calvin Lewis (15), of Inkster, has his feet out wide as he snatches the ball and dares East's Charles Sakmar to move in and fight for it. However, it didn't do Inkster much good since East rolled to its 11th victory, 68-51. Incidentally, it may have been the final game of the year for Inkster -- school officials have stated they will close down all buildings this week due to a lack of operating funds.

GC West Rips Riverside Five

Winning basketball is catching on across town in Garden City, too.

Schoolcraft Streak Ends In A Jiffy

After winning two straight, Schoolcraft College's basketball team slumped again Friday, this time losing to Kellogg of Battle Creek, 75-67.

In Kellogg, Schoolcraft was up against a powerhouse, a team which stands 10-0 in its division of the state junior college league and 15-2 overall.

Al Jose tallied 14 points for the losers while McCauley, Carl Gulbransen and Fred Neal each had 10.

Steve Moore, Schoolcraft's top scorer, was held to four points.

Schoolcraft rallied late in the game to pull within six points, 69-63, of a tie before Kellogg erupted to put the game out of reach with two minutes to play.

West High is starting to follow in the steps of East, which has a 10-1 record this season.

West made it two straight and upped its overall record to 5-3 Friday by smothering Riverside, 83-58.

As was the case in East's win over Inkster, West had no problems with Riverside.

After gaining a three-point edge in the first period, West swelled its margin to 11 at halftime and coasted the rest of the way.

Bob Muncy fired in 10 points in the second period when West broke the game open.

DOUG DREWITZ had 24 points to head the West parade. Muncy was next with 16, followed by Greg Wilson with 12 and Gary Robinson and Jerry Hopkins each with ten.

EXPLAINING the improved play of his West team, Coach Chris Babler said:

"We are predominately a junior team, you know. We start four or five underclassmen in every game."

"Because of our inexperience at the outset of the season, it just took time for our boys to jell into a unit. Now that we have arrived, we should do well the rest of the season."

West now is tied for third in the Tri-Rivers League.

WMU Records Set

KALAMAZOO -- Pohlonski is a familiar name in the Western Michigan University swimming record book. Ron Pohlonski set three school records while swimming for the Broncos in 1965 and 1966.

Thurston Matmen Rate 5th In State

No. 5 ranked in the state. That's the Thurston high wrestling team this season.

Thurston has won seven straight dual meets, adding two more victims last week in Fordson, 28-14, and Oak Park, 31-11.

Co-captains Barry Sheik and Chester Proctor have starred for the Thurston team this season. Sheik wrestles at 145 pounds and Proctor at heavy-weight.

In addition Bob Bryant (180), Dean Wheeler (140) and Ken Meinschein (127) also are rolling along.

Thurston faces two big meets this week--Garden City East Thursday and North Farmington Friday. A win over North Farmington virtually would assure Thurston the Northwest Suburban League crown.

Thurston stands 3-0 in loop action.

In the meet with Oak Park, Phil Gentile (103), Glen Schneidmann (112), Brian McGreevy (120), Paul Forester (133), Wheeler (138), Jerry Papazian (154), Bryant (180), and Proctor (heavyweight) won for Thurston.

Slow Start Costly To Sorrows

Our Lady of Sorrows' basketball team got off to a slow start and never was able to recover against Ferndale St. James.

The result was St. James rolled to an easy 84-52 victory and dropped Sorrows' season record to four victories against six defeats.

St. James pulled out on top, 25-10, after the first period. It was 45-23 at halftime and in the third period the winners piled up 21 more points to only 10 for Sorrows.

Dennis Perry and Tom Strand each had 13 points for the losers while Mike Hart had nine, Paul Bunker five, Mike Briolat four, Tom Webster and Terry Doyle three each and Bob Theis two.

Dave Woodcock tallied 20 to pace St. James.

HIGH IN AIR to grab ball off backboard goes N. Farmington's Rick Knock as he helps his team slip past Birmingham Groves, 66-60 in a tight league battle.

Trenton Rally Sinks Plymouth

Trenton High's basketball team stayed on the heels of front-running Bentley in the Suburban Six League by staging a second-half splurge that led to a 64-52 victory over Plymouth.

Trenton trailed by only, 12-11, after the first period and by 26-24 at halftime.

But after the intermission, Trenton took a 45-34 edge and held on to triumph despite the fact Plymouth staged a late surge that cut the Trenton command to only four points with three minutes to go.

Trenton then countered with a final breakout that put the game in the bag.

Poor shooting hurt Plymouth. The Rocks clicked only 25 per cent of their attempts while Trenton tossed in 37 per cent from the floor.

Mike Stakias, who paced the Plymouth late comeback, topped his team in scoring with 18 points. Jeff Adams was next for the Rocks with 13, while Mike Kubik notched nine, Greg

The battle of the unvictorious
--- John Glenn vs. Franklin --- wound up on the happy side for Glenn.

Both took the floor Friday night with 0-4 records in the Northwest Suburban League.
They were fighting to avoid the dubious honor of sinking into undisputed possession of last place.

Glenn picked up a four-point lead in the first period and stayed in command the rest of the way to emerge a 76-70 victor.

It was 14-10 for Glenn at the end of the first period and 33-28 at halftime. Then Franklin staged a late surge which brought the Livonians within four points of a tie in the final moments.

Two free throws by Paul Chevarat put the game out of reach.

Kerry Webb had 21 points for the winners, while Chevarat tallied 18.

Bill Shellenbarger clicked for 11, Dick Ditman 10, Bob Walker eight and Rick Mathews six for the winners.

Charles Wiggins paced
Franklin as he fired in 23 points.
Chris Lang contributed 14 points.

WHO'LL GET IT? Franklin High's Doug Sutton scraps with two unidentified Glenn basketballers in this action during Friday's game. The ball had already been batted away from his outstretched arms.
It was a happy night for Glenn which registered a 76-70 triumph.

Showdown Time For Farmington

The stage is set for what shapes up as "the game-of-the-season" in the Interlakes League.

It will be Farmington hosting
Pontiac Northern Friday night and this will be "it" for Farmington.

The Falcons have a 3-1 record in league play while Northern stands 5-0, adding Stevenson to its list of victims, 89-57, Friday night.

"We must win," say the Falcons.

They well realize that unless they triumph, Pontiac Northern will have all but wrapped up the championship.

Farmington should be well rested--at least from game action.

THE FALCONS had last week off because of the mid-year final examination period.

Meantime, Northern had no trouble with Stevenson. The Pontiac team shot ahead 17-10, in the first period and dominated matters the rest of the way.

Stevenson never could get close.

Bob Traylor had 16 points for the winners while no member of Stevenson was able to hit in double figures.

Paul Tonnemacher and Paul Bunker with eight points each and Jim Olsen with seven topped the Stevenson attack.

The Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation last year staffed 25 senior citizen facilities, offering an average of 300 man-days of activity a month to 25,000 retirees.

Redford Union Bowls Over Parkers, 76-72

There's still a chance for Redford Union high's basketball team in the Suburban Six League race.

The Township's downed
Allen Park, 76-72, Friday night in a game in which the score deceives the type of action.

As a result, Redford Union has a 3-2 standing in the league, two games back of leading Bentley.

Redford Union built up as much as a 22-point lead with five minutes left in the game.
Then with reserves finishing for Redford Union, Allen Park was able to cut the lead down in the closing moments.

REDFORD UNION moved in front, 15-11, after the first quarter when Dale Bjerke led the way with seven points. In the second period, the RU lead mounted to 35-22 as Bjerke fired in six more points and Dennis Fifield five.

Fifield bounced in eight more in the third period when Redford Union added still more to its advantage.

Bjerke was the scoring star for the winners with 24 on seven baskets and 10 free throws.

Fifield wound up with 15 and Jim Walker with 14 to pace
the winners.

Terry Wilson tallied 24 for the losers, making 12 of them in the final period.

observing sports

The Winter Olympics are just around the corner in Grenoble, France.

Thanks to the modern techniques of television we'll be able to sit in our homes and watch live the action taking place 3,000 miles away.

There's one unhappy aspect, however, from an American standpoint.

The U. S. may be the greatest nation in the world in athletics — and some other things, too. But when it comes to the winter aspect of the Games, we are due to take another bad beating.

We just can't seem to ski or skate or bobsled or play hockey with the other countries on this globe. They (meaning the other nations) show us up badly.

The last time the Winter Games were held, the U. S. won a total of something like six medals — Gold, Silver and Bronze.

It's not that we don't try. Our young men and women try as hard as they do any place else in the world.

Perhaps, our terrain or weather just doesn't give us a chance against those who reside in the proximity of the Alps, etc., or where they have chilly weather the year around.

IT'S IRONIC, too, that hockey has become a big sport—for the fans—in the U. S. We also have more and more youngsters playing the game.

But when it comes to the big leagues, we still have to count on Canada to produce the players who stock the Red Wings, Black Hawks, Rangers, Blues and all the rest.

Perhaps, the hockey trouble explains something; we are short on artificial rinks.

Let's look around in our own neighborhoods. The good people who like to ice skate, must wait for the thermometer to drop below freezing in most cases.

It's especially true for the hockey bugs.

The few rinks that operate, regardless of the weather, can't accommodate all who wish to use them.

Little wonder that a place like Gordie Howe's Iceland over on Detroit's Far East Side stays up the clock around and that be it 2 p.m. or 1 a.m., the place is jammed with skaters or hockey players.

The question of local artificial rinks has come up several times. Very little has been done.

Doc Fenkell brought up the subject the other evening at a press get-together held by the Tigers. Doc lives in Plymouth.

"Why not plug for artificial ice rinks?" Doc pleaded.

Well, if you'll check the back files of the Observer you'll find that we have mentioned the subject at least three times every year.

It's always a prime subject on our list of New Year's wishes for Observerland.

MAYBE, IT'S TOO much to expect at this critical time with costs so high, that the taxpayer should be slapped with the cost of erecting such buildings. Granted, an artificial rink would be wonderful from a recreational standpoint.

The various overseers of our tax money already have more places to use the cash than they have cash coming in.

Our schools are plagued with financial problems. If they aren't at the moment, they will be next month or next fall.

So luxury items must stand aside.

All of which should bring the enterprising private citizen into the picture. It strikes us that if somebody had the necessary cash to put up, he not only could benefit handsomely in the pocketbook, but he'd also be doing his community a great service.

With more rinks, we would be pulling more youngsters off the streets.

Give the kids more to do... there's less chance they'll get into trouble or less chance they'll get hurt.

Do we have any takers?

Swimmers Split Meets

Schoolcraft College's swimming team broke even in a triple dual meet last Friday.

Schoolcraft beat Jackson, 46-39, but lost to Windsor, 47-43.

Roger Zygnowicz won the 200-yard free style for Schoolcraft while teammates Russ Hoffman copped the 200-yard individual and Larry Bars the 200-yard back stroke.

The Schoolcraft 400-yard free style relay of Les Ferguson, Bars, Dane Trembath and Zygnowicz also triumphed.

Bentley Girds For Trenton Duel; Suburban 6 Lead Up For Grabs

The halfway point has been reached in the Suburban Six League basketball race and it's Bentley of Livonia, as expected, showing the way.

The Livonians stand 5-0 in the circuit (11-2 overall) as they start the second half of their league schedule this week at Trenton in what could be the biggest game of the season for both teams.

Trenton holds down second place with a 4-1 mark after bumping Plymouth, 64-52, Friday as Bentley trimmed Belleville, 78-45.

"If we can win this one, we'll be in pretty good shape," said coach George Fefles of Bentley, in referring to the Bentley invasion of Trenton.

"Pretty good" is a modest way to put it. A victory would give Bentley a two-game bulge over its nearest rival with only four games left on the schedule and its roughest test behind.

BENTLEY HAD no problems against Belleville. Ken Bollin flipped in nine points in the first period to shoot Bentley on top, 23-15.

The lead swelled to 46-25, at halftime and in the second half, Belleville was held to 20 points—only six in the last period.

Bollin again paced the winners with 25 points on 11 baskets and two free throws as he upped his scoring average for the season to 23 points.

Mark Chaisson had 16 for Bentley, 10 in the second period.

Dan Doyle with 12, Leeroy Watson with eight and Jim Powers, Mark Hurlburt and Walt Blacha with four each contributed to the victory. Dave

Tennis Squad Captain Picked

ANN ARBOR—Dick Dell of Bethesda, Md., letterman junior, has been chosen captain of the University of Michigan 1968 tennis squad, Coach Bill Murphy announced. Dell, who lost only one match last season, succeeds Ed Waits of Jackson, Mich.

Rep. Esch Analyzes Work Of Congress

Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) analyzed the present session of Congress in a number of speeches throughout the Second Congressional District recently. Esch discussed major issues to be faced by Congress and the nation in the months ahead. The following are excerpts from his speeches before these groups.

"The number one problem facing the nation is the under educated, ill-housed, unemployed and unmotivated population of our urban and rural areas. The problem has long been clear, but the Administration has only offered new versions of the ineffective solutions of the 30's. The President's proposal for massive government make-work programs epitomizes the regressive thinking that characterized the Administration's handling of these problems.

"The challenge of this Congress will be to restructure our thinking and to develop new solutions utilizing the expertise found in private industry, small business, hospitals, schools (both public and private) and community colleges. New and imaginative programs must be undertaken, but reliance on a totally governmental solution must be altered."

VIETNAM

"There continues to be confusion toward our Southeast Asia policy. While we must remain rigid in our determination to fulfill our commitment to a free South Vietnam and Southeast Asia, the United States cannot and must not be rigid in our diplomatic and negotiation efforts. It is evident that there has been increased and extensive indirect peace feelers from Hanoi in recent weeks. Unfortunately, the President's public utterances have remained inflexible in tone and content. The cause of peace and the prestige of the United States in the world community is ill served by this apparent unwillingness to enter into flexible negotiations."

INFLATION

"Are we willing to face up to the problem of the shrinking dollar or will we continue to have a program of spend, spend, spend? Make no mistake—we pay for every government service we obtain, either through direct taxes or the indirect, hidden tax of inflation which hits hardest at the poor, the aged and those on fixed incomes. The confused budgetary game that Congress plays with the President each year must be stopped and we must have a well thought-out and coordinated study of our fiscal position and spending priorities. The inability of the President and the members of his own party to cooperate in the consideration of the budget and fiscal policies has severely limited the capability of the Congress to enact such a coordinated program.

"Although specific details are not yet available, the President's suggestion that we discriminate against traveling school teachers and students to stop the flow of dollars abroad is like applying a bandaid to a serious wound."

SOCIAL SECURITY

"It is time for a thorough review of the structure of our Social Security system — its purposes, its functions, its financial structure, and its ability to meet the needs of those who receive benefits. The Congress should establish a blue-ribbon commission of representatives from the financial community, the life insurance and pension fields and the social sciences to review the present system and its future course. It is time that the politicians quit playing patriarchy with the people's funds."

on federal expenditures, we must not be so shortsighted as to hamper the ongoing research programs of our major research institutions. Research facilities and personnel must be given assurances of a stable base of support and must not be hampered by political whims."

SUMMING UP

"The issues facing the Congress and the country are so important that they cry out for non-political solutions. In the past year, my record has been called everything from ultra-liberal to right-wing conservative. It is my effort to be neither but to analyze each issue on its individual merits. Despite the partisan temptations of an election year, the Congress must avoid political exhortations and maneuvers and must be analytical and pragmatic in its approach to the crises facing the nation."

3 From Livonia Family Study At Bob Jones U

When a student leaves home headed for college, it's a big event in his immediate family. But when three members of the same family are attending concurrently the same institution 750 miles away from home, that's some kind of record.

Two daughters and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Fisher Jr., who made their home at 35840 Parkdale, Livonia, until recently--are doing just this. They are students at the world's largest fundamental Christian school--Bob Jones University in Greenville, S.C.

"Why are so many from one family attending one particular school so far away?" is the first question that may come to one's mind.

Patricia, oldest of the three, gives the answer. "Two alumnae told me about BJU, and their description intrigued me. They were very excited about the school, and I had never heard about anything like it before. I felt sure I could get the best education there. Then after I came, I just loved it--and I guess I talked my brother and sister into coming, too."

A SENIOR majoring in elementary education in the school of education, Pat has been doing her student teaching at the Lake Forest Elementary School in Greenville this semester. She feels that she has been well prepared for her field at BJU. "The training here is practical--not all theory," she says. "And we are taught how to live--not just how to make a living. We also learn to appreciate culture."

Pat has many interests: she enjoys camping, swimming, tennis, reading, cooking, and sewing. She has served as a counselor at several summer camps in Michigan and one in Nova Scotia. In the summer of 1964 she went with a group of teen-agers from various churches under the sponsorship of the Grand Rapids School of the Bible and Music and did evangelistic work in Idaho.

JAMES IS A JUNIOR majoring in secondary education, and he would like to be a physics teacher. He, too, feels that he is being well prepared for his life's work. "Academically it's hard here, but I think that's good. This kind of training will make me a lot better teacher. And here we feel free to walk up to any of our teachers and talk to them about anything--they are really interested in each one of us as individuals."

He plays the baritone horn in the marching band at BJU and also is the goalie on his literary society's intramural soccer team.

James was active in music also while attending Franklin High School. He was the drum major, as well as soloist in the winter band concert during his senior year. He was chosen with two others from the school

It's Brotherhood Week

Brotherhood is practiced year round at the Livonia Jewish Congregation.

It has been practiced over the past two years, in many Christian churches not only in their area or in Livonia, but also in Farmington, Garden City, Plymouth and South Lyon.

Over the past two years, many Christian churches not only in their area or in Livonia, but also in Farmington, Garden City, Plymouth and South Lyon.

When the program began, it was headed by Marcus Bass, now president of the congregation, and Max Hoffman, principal of the Sunday School.

Now Rabbi Martin D. Gordon, who joined the congregation in August, 1967, as their spiritual leader, is participating in the program of making speeches, answering hundreds of questions and explaining the meaning of various symbolic articles.

The Youth group has taken part also by putting on a model seder before Passover, for a young adult class in Plymouth.

Catholics, Protestants Join In Worship

"This is my neighbor, Mrs. Smith, who goes to St. Michael's. We've been friends for years, and worked together on many community projects, but this is the first time we've ever worshipped together."

These words, in many variations, were heard over and over the last two Thursday evenings by Livonia clergymen, Dr. Richard Dunkelberger, minister of the Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church, and Father Andrew Forish and Father Charles Sears, priests from St. Michael's Catholic Church.

The occasion was a brand-new step toward church cooperation—union worship services held Jan. 18 in Rosedale Gardens and Jan. 25 in St. Michael's.

THE CHOIRS WERE combined for both services, the clergymen both preached sermons of brotherhood, and neighbors went to church together for the first time, first to pray and then to join in fellowship.

Both clergy and congregations of the two churches feel great pride that theirs, two of the oldest religious establishments in Livonia, had been able to take this new step with such success.

"There was such a joy," Father Sears said later, "Everyone was bubbling with it. It was almost like a champagne bottle popping its cork."

ADDED Dr. Dunkelberger: "We really had no idea how well the idea would be accepted—decided that if no worshipers came, we clergymen would just talk business.

"But all our parishioners came. Our church, which seats 600, was nearly filled, and there must have been more than 800 attending the service at St. Michael's."

Dr. Dunkelberger, who worked with the Rev. Arthur Beumler and the Rev. William Lovick, of Rosedale Gardens, preached the sermon at his church.

"I pointed out that we must realize that toleration is not enough—we must find new roads to Christian unity. But unity does not mean uniformity. The gospel prayer to be one must be the ideal toward which we move, in a new spirit of conciliation."

FATHER SEARS, preaching:

In St. Michael's, said: "We are beginning a whole new movement to fulfill Christ's prayer that all may be one."

Each service was followed by a time of fellowship, with the women's associations of each host church serving refreshments.

The plan for union services began as a means of recognizing the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Besides the two services, the churches joined in several other projects. On Sunday, Jan. 21, the youth groups of both churches had union worship, followed by a dance. They have met together before, but this was the first worship.

AND DURING the week Dr. Dunkelberger met with 150 eighth grade students at St. Michael to tell them about his Protestant faith and answer their questions.

"I was most impressed," he said, "with their maturity and the thoughtfulness of the questions they asked—questions about our church government and ministers' training, what we believe about the Apostles Creed and the supremacy of the Pope."

Cooperation between the churches will not end with this week.

Immediate plans call for organization of a number of small study groups to meet in homes of both parishes to discuss new steps toward unity.

Honor 3 Scouts At Bellarmine

During a recent celebration of the Holy Mass at St. Robert Bellarmine's Church, Redford Township, the Rev. Herman Kueyk presented the Ad Altare Dei Medal to Eagle Scout Keith LaPointe and Star Scouts, Robert Leonard and David Olan.

The Ad Altare Dei Medal is a bronze cross suspended by a ribbon of papal and national colors from an inscribed safety-clasp bar pin. This honor means "to the altar of God".

The boys are members of troop 499, sponsored by St. Robert Bellarmine's Mens' Club, with Jerry Redouty as Scoutmaster.

Other scouts of the church who received Ad Altare Dei awards in the past are Mike Redouty and Ron Garbinski, of troop 499, and Paul Cervenak and Tom Pengelly, of troop 737.

Three Faiths Will Join In Jazz Music Concert

For the first time in the Detroit area and possibly for the first time anywhere, the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish communities of the city will join forces in a musical roundtable.

"Three Faiths in Jazz," an exposition of three traditions of ritual music in the jazz idiom, will be presented at Ford Auditorium at 8 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 11.

The Rev. Thomas Grady, of St. Jude Catholic Church; The

Rev. Derin Geard, of historic Fort Street Presbyterian Church, and Cantor Harold Orbach of Temple Israel will take part in the combination of ancient liturgy and contemporary sound.

Some leading jazz artists, including the Jack Brokensha combo, will provide the musical background, with Steven Jones conducting the Youth for Understanding Alumni Chorus, a 30-voice choir with representatives from many of Michigan's college campuses.

The concert will be recorded, and those attending will have the additional excitement of being a part of it. Proceeds from the program will be used to promote the creation and advancement of contemporary liturgical music.

Tickets for the performance may be reserved by calling Temple Israel Men's Club, UN 3-7769; Fort Street Presbyterian Church, WO 1-4533; or St. Jude Ecumenical Guild, LA 7-0380.

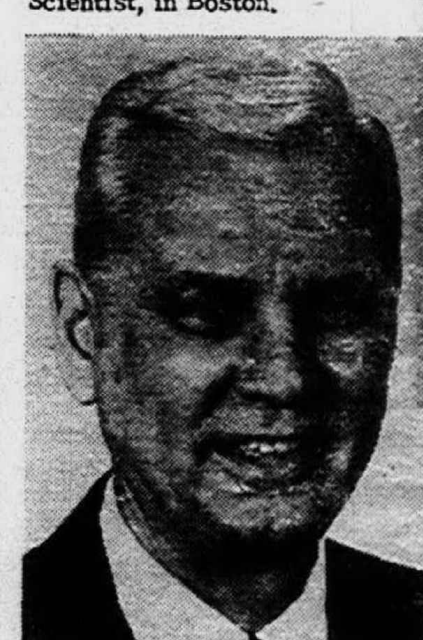

'The Great Awakener' Is Lecture Topic

"The Great Awakener" is the title of a public lecture at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 6th, 1968, in the Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, 17425 Second, Detroit.

Martin N. Heaffer, C.S.B., is the speaker. His lecture will explore the element of "spiritual perception," its relation to Christianity, and how it operates in human thinking and affects human life.

Heaffer is a recognized teacher of Christian Science and has been listed as a practitioner in Houston, Tex., since 1957.

He is a graduate of Southern Methodist University in mathematics, served in the United States Army Air Corps during World War II, and is currently on a speaking tour as a member of the Board of Lectureship for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston.

Priest Hits Regulations On Attending Mass

A Roman Catholic's general obligation to worship God should be more important than his physical presence at Mass every Sunday and Holy Day, a South Carolina priest has stated.

The Rev. Leo Croghan, of Charleston, urged in a religious publication that the church hierarchy drop its teaching that failure to attend Mass without sufficient reason is a mortal sin.

He called that position "defenseless" in an article written for "Ave Maria," weekly magazine of the Congregation of the Holy Cross, religious order that operates the University of Notre Dame.

FATHER CROGHAN said present teaching is that "the deliberate omission, without excuse, of mass attendance on a Sunday or holy day of obligation is considered a mortal sin; a mortal sin denies one the life of God, there is eternal punishment."

Friday was the feast of the immaculate conception of Mary, one of six holy days of obligation in the United States. The others are Christmas, New Year's Day, Ascension Thursday, the feast of the assumption of Mary on Aug. 15, and All Saints Day on Nov. 1.

"THERE ARE men within church intellectual circles who have moved beyond popular Catholic approaches," Father Croghan said. "For them, such an announcement which attaches mortal sin to the Sunday obligation has lost its traditional force and meaning."

He asserted: "Future generations will be encouraged, not ordered, to attend mass. They will be persuaded to take part in...ucharist, not threatened with eternal damnation."

Orchard Joins Birmingham

Women of Orchard Methodist Church, Farmington, recently affiliated with the Church Women United of Birmingham and joined that group in its annual meeting in the Birmingham Congregational Church.

The Rev. Eric Hammar, of Orchard Methodist, gave the devotional service for the meeting and Mrs. Lester Beltz was named key delegate. New officers were installed.

There is "a widening gap" between the common practices of the church and the thinking of Catholic intellectuals and theological writers, Father Croghan said. The gap will leave ordinary Catholics without inner resources for times of crises in their religious faith unless new theological expressions are brought to widespread understanding, he added.

"Many of the faithful now live their religion on two levels," the author said, believing the traditional proclamations because they have been trained that way, but subconsciously convinced God could not be so severe in punishment.

WHEN PEOPLE are struggling for faith in a climate which questions God's existence against secular humanism and agnosticism, faith is neither helped nor sustained by church laws of archaic and inadequate wording, he said.

Just as the old law obliging abstinence from meat on Fridays has been replaced with the positive concept of a personal and voluntary exercise of some type of penance, Father Croghan said he believes the church should make a distinction between a Christian's general obligation to worship God and the present precise way ordered under fearsome penalty.

Spiritual awakening comes in many ways. It can come in a sudden flood of unselfish love — or a quiet, growing spiritual sense of life. A deeper awareness of the presence of God enables you to see things differently. Hear a public lecture on "The Great Awakener" by MARTIN N. HEAFER, member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

20-20 HINDSIGHT
by Don Keeth

They say hindsight is usually 20-20 vision. I agree. Sometimes it is even better than 20-20. When it comes to hindsight, I'm a regular eagle-eye on some things.

Foresight is another story... there I usually tap along with my white cane. Except when it comes to heating and air conditioning. Experience has given me foresight in that field.

For instance, foresight and common sense scream out loud for planning any new heating system so that air conditioning can be added with a minimum of cost and trouble. Let's face it, central air conditioning is common now. And in a few years it will be as common as the auto's automatic transmission or television.

The only type of heating system that is suited to the addition of air conditioning is a forced air system. (A forced air heating system has many other advantages, including cost, but we'll go into that story later.)

And the forced air heating system should be planned with an eye to cooling. Many forced air systems can be adapted to air conditioning, but they would do a much better job if they had been designed with air conditioning in mind.

So... if you are planning a new heating system sometime in the near or distant future a little foresight is in order. Give us a call, no obligation.

We are your certified Lennox dealer.

Rock Throwing Marks L. A. Newspaper Strike

IN LOS ANGELES, pickets marching for unions on strike against the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner suddenly became violent Friday night, throwing rocks through windows and hurling firecrackers at the newspaper's downtown plant. Fifteen plate glass windows were smashed on the ground floor and others were broken by rocks and picket signs. A small fire was ignited in the lobby of the building but quickly extinguished. The labor rally had been called to support a 42-day-old strike by the American Newspaper Guild against the Hearst-owned paper, the nation's largest afternoon daily.

IN WASHINGTON, a special Johnson administration mediation panel has ordered public hearings next week on the 197-day-old strike that has crippled the nation's copper industry.

IN TAMPA, Fla., the state's largest installment land sales company, Gulf American Corp., accused three state officials Friday of violating a state law providing for secrecy during an investigation of its sales program. The company, in a $16 million suit filed in Hillsborough County Circuit Court, accused the state officials of releasing confidential information to a Wall Street Journal reporter, Ken Slocum.

IN WASHINGTON, the Supreme Court Monday cleared the way for states to require teachers to sign loyalty oaths to uphold the state and federal constitutions. The shift in court opinion on affirmative loyalty oaths came in a brief, unsigned order in which the court upheld a lower court ruling approving use of the constitutional pledge of allegiance in New York State. In the past, the court has struck down loyalty oaths which required teachers or other public employees to swear they were not members of subversive organizations.

IN WASHINGTON, President Johnson's administration told Congress today his 10 per cent income tax surcharge is urgently needed—even though federal spending has been cut to reduce the prospective deficit below this year's level. Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler urged prompt action by the House Ways and Means Committee whose leaders have indicated they are not satisfied with a budget for the year beginning next July 1 forecasting $10.4 billion more spending than during the current fiscal year.

IN CALIFORNIA, Dr. Norman Shumway, of Stanford Medical Center and the first American doctor to perform a heart transplant operation, has told newsmen that "if the findings of the post mortem bear this out, then we feel we have every basis on which to plan another clinical attempt." Mike Kasparak, who the post mortem was being done on, died 15 days after Shumway transplanted Kasparak's heart with another.

IN WASHINGTON, Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga., called the training maneuver absurd and said single-wing landing procedures put pilots in a dangerous position. Thompson was referring to a federal requirement that pilots rehearse emergency landings with power out in both engines on one wing which the Congressman blamed for the March 1967 crash of a jet airliner that knifed into a luxury motel killing 19 persons.

IN LONDON, informed sources reported that the British government has decided to resume normal diplomatic relations with the authoritarian Greek regime of Premier George Papadopoulos. Britain's move is based on the conclusion that no new recognition of the Athens regime is needed. A military junta seized power in Greece last April.

IN FORT BRAGG, N.C., 15 persons were overcome by chlorine gas fumes which leaked into a gymnasium and swimming pool. Seventy-five others fled to safety. Authorities said the leaking gas came from a defective valve in a 100-pound bottle of chlorine which was being put into the swimming pool filtration system. All 15 hospitalized were released after treatment.

IN CAMBRIDGE, Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, has been banned from using his $3,120 sports car by university officials there. The rules state that students must be at least 22 before being allowed to drive a car within a 25-mile radius of the city. The Prince is 19.

IN BEERSHEBA, ISRAEL, Pola Ben-Gurion, wife of Israel's elder statesman and first premier, David Ben-Gurion, died Jan. 29 in the Negev Central Hospital after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Ben-Gurion, 75, was born Paula Moonvess in Minsk. She went to the United States when she was 13 and was a student nurse in Brooklyn when she met Ben-Gurion, who had been expelled from Turkey for Zionist activities during World War I. They were married in 1917.

IN WASHINGTON, the Supreme Court, Monday, ruled that a gambler can exempt himself from prosecution for failing to register and pay special taxes by claiming possible self-incrimination. The 7-1 decision did not declare a 1954 gambling law unconstitutional but it gave bookies and other professional gamblers a wide loophole to avoid punishment for refusal to comply. The law required gamblers to register with the government, to pay a flat $50 tax to operate and an additional 10 per cent of their gross betting intakes.

'Anastasia' Opens Feb. 2

Costuming of the 13-member cast which will appear in the Farmington Players' production of "Anastasia," opening Feb. 2, has taxed the wardrobe collection built up over the last eight years.

Not only must all of the cast wear period costumes, but some must make changes for different acts and some must be garbed in clothes that suggest the Russian Imperial Court.

The costume crew, headed by Kay Britton, has had to do a wide variety of remodeling and altering and some ingenious answers have been found to fit the unusual needs of the play which will run three weeks in the Players Barn on 12 Mile Rd., near Orchard Lake Rd.

The audience will see a velvet dress from a Cranbrook rummage sale, spats and great coats that were found in antique shops and hats dug out of old trunks from decades ago.

Ceci Orman, as Anastasia, will wear a shawl that comes from a costume collection donated by a retiring elocution teacher.

Hope Nahstoll, as the Dowager Empress, has revamped a black beaded suit purchased at an antique sale to create the elegance of the Russian royal family.

Also, boxes of assorted furs have been ransacked for portrayals which take place during a Russian winter.

Tickets for "Anastasia," still are available for the performances of Feb. 2, 9, 11 and 17. A special half-price ticket is being offered high school students.

Tickets are available at Welby's House of Music in downtown Farmington, or from Noral McNeely, 476-2749.

'Fantasticks' To Open At U-M

The long-running off-Broadway musical, "The Fantasticks," will hit the boards in the University of Michigan's Hill Auditorium Feb. 5 and 6.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m. for this first attraction in the Play of the Month series of the University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program. The National Company of the show will make up the cast.

A musical phenomenon, "The Fantasticks" has been presented in more than 1,000 cities in the country. In 1966 it became the longest running musical in theatre history and recently played its 3,225th performance.

Some of the most popular songs from the show are: "Try To Remember," "Soon It's Gonna Rain" and "Much More."

"The Fantasticks" tell the story of a teenage boy and girl having their first taste of romance. Their fathers pretend to frown on the match—in a deliberate attempt to bring them together—and it works! Soon, however, flaws begin to break through the pair and the "ways of the world" draw them apart.

Tickets for the two performances are available at the Hill Auditorium box office beginning Jan. 31 or through the J.L. Hudson and Grinnell ticket agencies.

'Dark' Is Thriller

A mighty gasp, collective and spontaneous, issues forth nightly at the Mercury Theater as the vicious killer lunges at blind, defenseless Audrey Hepburn in the chiller-thriller "Wait Until Dark".

The search for a cache of heroin hidden somewhere in the blind girl's apartment by a trio of hired killers makes for an evening of suspense and cinematic excitement.

Alan Arkin in his first dramatic role proves that comedy is only one of his many thespic facets.

The pace and persistent tautness achieved by the director and his technical crew provide the actors with the proper mood to set your spine a-tingle for the entire two hours of the one of the year's best mystery-thrillers.

If you're smart, you'll not wait too long to see "Wait Until Dark".

Curtain Going Up...

By WALLY ROBERTS

"Who calls me villain? Who breaks my pate (head) across? Plucks off my beard and blows it my face. O from this time forth my thoughts be bloody, or be nothing worth."

Are these words voiced by a black militant sniper cursing silently in the shadows of Detroit's riot-torn area? Or are they lifted boldly from the text of Shakespeare's immortal "Hamlet"?

The excerpt is the Bard's, to be sure, but Director Leonard Leone has put a contemporary urgency in his havoc-strewn version of "Hamlet" now alternating with "Flea In Her Ear" and "Twelfth Night" at the Classic Theater on the campus of Wayne State University.

GIVING THE TITLE role of the mixed-up Prince of Denmark to a Negro points up society's inability to make up its mind as to the true status of the colored man. Reluctance to pass open housing laws, admit Negroes to equal treatment on all levels of life, and the need for the black man to light up the sky with the fires of rebellion subtly invade this interesting version of "Hamlet".

Sharply costumed in the free-flowing capes of the Napoleonic era this production technique evokes the rumblings of the French Revolution. As you listen to the tormented philosophizing of this brown-skinned Dane, you anticipate the downfall of the present King and know that a full revolt for the black man's freedom is only a step into the future.

Le Roi Jones in "The Dutchman" has written a one-act play depicting a full scaled black versus white war in a metropolitan area. Director Leone's approach, more symbolistic and thoughtful, jolts and jars your conscience with more impact than Le Roi Jones with his literal machine gun approach.

IRONICALLY enough, the Meadow Brook Theater company is presently engaged in a new play based on the 1964 murder of the three civil rights workers in Mississippi. "And People All Around" by George Sklar has been re-written and given a Brechtian treatment by several creative members of the John Fernald Company. Did the re-writing succeed? After examining the original text, I would hope that Mr. Sklar is angry enough to force the Meadow Brook troupe to close this tepid, ineffectual effort. It's a true clinker.

Where Sklar's original version called for great masses of people and activities of bloody violence, the present pallid Meadowbrook staging has a group of strolling singers ineffectively pantomiming riots, murders, castration and other assorted acts of sadism.

If the audience is to be moved at all, it must see quite candidly how inhumane man is to man. To sing and dance about all this violence off-stage is too mild an approach in these days of James Bond, the Vietnam war, and impending Korean conflict.

had none of the biting quality of Brecht who they were imitating. It's not easy to emulate the master of social satire. And to begin with Mr. Sklar was merely reporting what happened in Mississippi. It was his hope to stagger us with the bestiality of the situation. To be coy and clever about the struggle of the Negro down South for recognition seemed out-of-order in the present diluted revised version of Sklar's "And People All Around."

To paraphrase the Bard it was old Wally's heart-felt wish that this solid Meadow Brook creative effort would melt and dissolve itself into dew. Maybe their next effort, "King Lear" will put the John Fernald company back on the right track.

Remus Asks $564 Penalty On Water Bill

Livonia's Water Department finally got another bill for October water at the Detroit Water System's new wholesale rate—a bill it challenged in November and refused to pay.

Gerald Remus, general manager of the Detroit system, not only wants the $11,280.78 he contends is overdue—but has added a 5 per cent penalty, or $564.04. He wants it added to the December bill of $73,286.15 for a check totaling $85,130.97.

Failure to pay the disputed bill will compound the penalty, by adding 5 per cent interest monthly. In two years the interest would exceed the principal.

BUT IT IS PRINCIPLE rather than principal that has caused Livonia to refuse to pay the increased rate for October, with Commissioner David L. Jones contending the 15 per cent raise was not effective until November, payable in December.

With the approval of Mayor Harvey W. Moelke, based on an opinion from the city's Legal Department, Jones withheld the $11,280 from the bill paid in November. The city wants proof that the debt is justified.

Jones again has asked the mayor for instructions, pointing out that this action (bill for arrears and penalty) is contrary to the Schedule of Water Rates received by the City Clerk Aug. 3, 1967, attached to a letter dated Aug. 1, signed by Remus....A letter from Gerald L. Dessert, Dec. 6 (a Remus aide) again verified the effective date of rate increase as Nov. 1, 1967. It said:

"UNDER DATE of Aug. 1, 1967, all of our suburban customers were officially notified of the above board action. In setting Nov. 1 as the effective date of the rate increase, the board felt they were giving the maximum 90-day notice required."

Jones referred to the Legal Department's opinion, that the notice clearly indicated the effective date was Nov. 1 for the increase from $1.17 to $1.35 per 1000 cubic feet.

A recent conference at which Moelke, Jones and Robert A. Shaw, director of public works, conferred with Remus and some of his staff advisers, failed to bring about a settlement of differences. There was, instead, a threat by Remus to ask the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to hold up approval of Livonia drain project bonds pending settlement of the water bill.

HE SAID he would not go to court to collect the "arrears," however -- which Livonia had hoped he would do as a test case.

Livonia is waiting the next Remus move—confident that any such request made to Lansing for bond approval withholding also would result in holding up bond issues proposed by the DWS to finance expansion of its water system.

IF EVER WAR is given a common denomination, the processing line will be it. Whether you went through one in World War I or II, or during the Korean War of the 1950's, or Vietnam, the processing line for the GI is the same today as it must have been during the legions of Caesar. The line, above, is reminiscent of any man's war and the old Army adage of "hurry up and wait." The picture, above, was taken at 305th Air Reserve Rescue Squadron at Selfridge Air Force Base last week when the Michigan unit was called up by President Johnson in the newest Korean crisis. The laughing airman is A2c Robert Brusseau, 26, of 14953 Marsha, Livonia, an auto mechanic and father of 2-month-old Scott Brusseau. In a more serious mood earlier, Brusseau told an Observer reporter, in regards to North Korea's seizure of the U.S. naval ship, Pueblo, and its crew, "There's no sense letting us get pushed around any longer."

Plymouth Women To Hear Of Herbs And Witch Doctor

"Granny's Herbs and the Witch Doctor" is the talk the Plymouth Women's Club will hear at its meeting at 1 p.m. Friday, Feb. 2, in the Plymouth Masonic Temple.

The speaker will be Dr. C. Howard Ross, past president of the Michigan chapter of the American Medical Writers Association.

The well-known Ann Arbor physician also has served as president of the Tri-State Medical Association and the Northern Academy of General Practice, and has written extensively on geriatrics and infant care and feeding, as well as medical ethics and economics, history and gardening.

Mrs. Ray Barber will be chairman of the meeting, which will be the annual guest day for the club.

Mrs. F.R. Hohelsel is tea chairman, and her assistants will be Mrs. Leo Crane, Mrs. Walter Gempeline, Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, Mrs. Ralph Taylor, Mrs. Roger Vaughn and Mrs. R.E. Ward.

Mrs. J. Craig Bowlby and Mrs. Austin Stecker will be greeters.

Providence Gets Grant For Nurse Training

A federal grant will help the Providence Hospital school of nursing shorten the time it takes a licensed practical nurse become a registered nurse.

The hospital recently announced it had approval from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for funds for the first 12 months of a three-year project grant.

It is the first program of its kind in the country.

Specifically, the program will provide reorganization of curriculum content so that the licensed practical nurse who meets certain criteria can have advanced standing in a two-year diploma program offered at the hospital. She then could finish the program in 14 months.

The typical beginning student with no previous nursing background completes the Providence program in two academic years, or 20 months. The successful licensed practical nurse candidate could complete the program in one academic year and four months, or a total of 14 months.

The three year grant request is for $35,653 and funds from this project will help offset the administrative, testing and selection services as well as allow for independent study methods and materials which will be essential to meet the individualized needs of the students.

Columnist Bombeck To Speak

Columnist Erma Bombeck will replace Betty Furness in the Livonia Town Hall series, officers have announced.

The housewife humorist, whose columns appear regularly in the Detroit Free Press, will speak at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Feb. 21, at the Terrace Theater, Livonia.

Her acceptance was reported as new officers took over for the 1968-69 season.

Mrs. R.A. Joyner, Jr. is the new president, and other leaders include Mrs. Robert M. Jones, vice president; Mrs. Don McClelland, secretary and Mrs. Robert Kelly, treasurer.

The Town Hall in Livonia works with the American Field Service group, and proceeds from the lecture series are used to finance the AFS foreign student exchange program.

Merrill Palmer Head To Talk To Volunteers

Community attitudes and their impact on urban progress will be discussed by Dr. J. William Rouse, new president of Merrill Palmer Institute, when the Women's Committee of United Community Services observes its 33rd anniversary at 12 noon Monday, Feb. 5, in the Masonic Temple Crystal Ballroom.

The luncheon program is expected to draw nearly 500 men and women from the tri-county area to hear Dr. Rouse speak on "The New Detroit: What Will It Demand of You?"

In announcing plans for the widely-attended annual program, Mrs. John C. Hopp, president of the UCS Women's Committee, said, "The shattering events of last summer made us acutely aware that we must continue to find more effective ways to carry out our basic concept of bringing information to as many people as possible and a special obligation to react in a practical way to the disturbing and massive exigencies in our community."

Engineers Wives Hear Of Norway

The Engineers Wives Club will meet at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 7, in the Rackham Building.

The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Robert Goodman from Wayne State University. Dr. Goodman will speak on "North Through Norway" and will include films with his presentation. Husbands are invited for this event.

Hostess for the evening will be Mrs. Gerald Jahan. For reservations call Mrs. William M. Simms, 422-7896.

His topic will be "Trouble Spots in Focus."

A celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth, will follow the talk.

Wrong Note

Exams can get to teachers, too.

The local high school music teacher, who doubles as a choir director, was rehearsing his church group after a day of testing and then correcting papers.

"Take that section again," he said. "Start at the E-minus. No, I mean E-flat."

Definitely, too many exams.

Sorority To Hear Tips On Beauty

Tips on beauty and grooming will be the program for the monthly meeting of area alumnae of Chi Omega sorority at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 8, in the home of Mrs. Ronald Jenkins, 995 Pilgrim, Birmingham.

With a Dutch passport, he has been able to visit areas considered off-limits for American correspondents, such as Communist Cuba. He also has covered Asia, Africa, the Near East, India, Indonesia, Malaysia and southeast Asia.

Last summer he made an extensive tour of Africa, his fourth visit there in 10 years.

-- m. m. memos --

The time for writing thank-yous is not too far past, for an old procrastinator like me, but this is a note of appreciation of a far different sort.

It's directed to the planners and developers of a few decades ago — those men who had the foresight to provide in the midst of these mushrooming west suburbs some places like the Edward Hines park system and Kensington Park.

There are not many places in the country, I'll wager, where there is a drive like the Hines Parkway that gives pleasure to the driver as well as all sorts of places to stop for skating, sledding or picnicking, as the season may be.

And where else could you find a spot like Kensington — less than half an hour from many homes in this area and with an abundance of sports for every season and just plain beauty any time of year?

Those who dreamed up that mecca for families who love exciting toboggan runs, smooth ice for skating and the quiet of winter woods get a special vote of appreciation from our gang at this time of year.

We'll be equally enthusiastic when spring comes to the nature trails, when summer warms the fine beaches, and when the Canadian geese come squawking to show it's fall.

It took genuine vision to bring this lovely area into being. I'd vote it one of the best bargains a tax dollar ever bought.

MRS. JOHN FRANCIS MILLS
(Barbara Cranston Utter)

Barbara Utter Bride Of John Mills

Barbara Cranston Utter carried home from Germany the gown she wore for her marriage on Jan. 13, to John Francis Mills.

The couple spoke their vows in St. John's Episcopal Church, Plymouth, with the Rev. Canon David T. Davies officiating.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Utter, of Amherst Court, Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mills, of Darlen Center, N.Y. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

THE BRIDE'S GOWN, which she made while working as a nurse in Germany, was floor-length white crepe with bell sleeves and wide lace outlining the empire bodice and the end of the panel train.

She wore a small medieval hat of matching lace with a trailing of illusion, and carried a nosegay of gardenias and stephanotis.

Her two sisters, Mrs. John Harper and Judith Utter, were her matron and maid of honor. They wore pale pink floor-length gowns with matching double veils and carried nosegays of sweetheart roses and small pink carnations.

JAMES MILLS was best man for his brother. The ushers were Ralph Worthington, of Cortu, N.Y., John Harper, of Detroit, and Jay Densmore, of Plymouth.

Following the ceremony there was a reception in the church and a buffet supper for the wedding party and relatives in the bride's home, Northern Michigan was the honeymoon destination.

Mrs. Utter chose a turquoise dress and coat ensemble with deeper turquoise accessories, and Mrs. Mills wore a gold dress with black accessories.

The new Mrs. Mills is a graduate of the University of Michigan school of nursing. Her husband, a specialist 5/c in the U.S. Army, will leave soon for 13 months in Vietnam.

Vandersys- Steinman Vows Taken

Wearing a gown of peau de sole and English lace, Pamela Steinman became the bride of William A. Vandersys in a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church of Farmington recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Steinman, of Farmington, are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandersys, of Poulso, Wash.

The Rev. B. Bryce Swiler officiated at the double-ring ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bisard, of Whitmore Lake, lit the candles. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

THE BRIDAL GOWN was A-line, with a lace bodice, sabrina neckline, long sleeves and detachable chapel train trimmed in lace. The bride's shoulder-length veil was silk illusion, held in place by a crystal and pearl crown. Her cascade bouquet was white roses and stephanotis.

The attendants wore empire gowns of cranberry velvet and carried white fur muffs, topped by single American Beauty roses, with camellia leaves and streamers to match the gowns.

JUDY BECKER, of Detroit, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Ruthann Fahner, of Farmington, cousin of the bride, Kathy Vandersys, sister of the bridegroom, and Sharon Giroux, of Southfield. Shelley Steinman, as flower girl for her sister, also wore a cranberry velvet dress and carried a white muf, and Scott Glenn Kosa carried the ring on a white satin and lace pillow.

Best man was Roland Vandersys, of Walled Lake, brother of the bridegroom, and the ushers were John Becker, of Detroit, Rodney Kosa, cousin of the bride, and Tim Maloney, of Southfield.

MRS. STEINMAN chose a floor-length gown of turquoise and gold brocade, Mrs. Vandersys' gown, which she designed and made, was emerald green velvet with matching hat. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Jay Steinman, was in teal blue.

After a reception for 230 guests in Venetian Hall, Detroit, the couple left for a northern Michigan honeymoon. They will live in the Farmington area.

The bride is a graduate of Clarenceville High School and employed at the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., Southfield. Her husband received his discharge from the U.S. Navy recently after four years of service.

Volunteers Will Be Honored Feb. 14

Hundreds of area women received invitations this week to Metropolitan Detroit's first community-wide recognition ceremony honoring outstanding women volunteers. The event, scheduled for noon Valentine's Day in Cobo Hall, will be staged by the newly formed Volunteer Award Council, comprised of representatives of 35 leading women's organizations working in cooperation with Women for the United Foundation (WUF). The award luncheon will be open to the public, and reservations may be made by telephoning the United Foundation, WO 5-7100.

Honored will be a group of women volunteers now being selected from nominations submitted by Wayne, Oakland and Macomb agencies and organizations as well as individuals. Principal speaker for the luncheon will be actress-author Cornelia Otis Skinner, star of stage and radio.

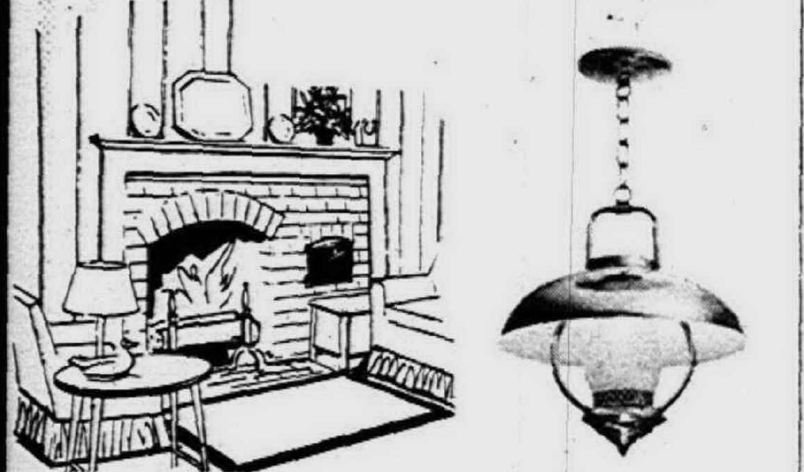

A panel of judges is now at work choosing the group of not more than 12 tri-county women volunteers who will symbolize the many thousands who give their time and talents for community betterment.

Those selected will receive the council's first "Heart of Gold" awards signifying noteworthy service. A "Spirit of Detroit" charm will be attached to each gold heart award.

Serving on the panel of judges are public officials, media representatives, educators, clergy and executives from business.

Life in Vietnam, through the eyes of one American woman, can hold a clue to the United States government's bafflement there.

For the gulf between Vietnamese and American cultures, says Mrs. Homer Higbee, is so wide that even while living there you can't be sure that what you are seeing is really happening.

"What we saw was through Western eyes," explained Peg Higbee, who is living in Farmington this year. "But what the Vietnamese saw, with their different cultural background, may have been entirely different."

PEG AND HOMER HIGBEE lived in Vietnam with their three young children in the years between 1955 and 1957--just after the French pulled out.

Higbee, an administrator at Michigan State University, now on sabbatical doing graduate work at Wayne State University, was one of a team sent in by this country at the request of the Vietnam government to help train the local people to fill administrative jobs that had been done by the French.

"There was a great void to be filled," Mrs. Higbee said. "Suddenly there were very few teachers, doctors and nurses, postal workers, administrators. The Vietnamese had to learn to do these jobs."

SHE SAID THE FAMILY was in Vietnam when Ngo Dinh Diem was first elected president "and we felt we were living history." "Whatever he became later," Peg said of that official, "he started out as an impressive

Life In Vietnam Sometimes Puzzling For Americans

idealist--at least as we saw him."

But observing what went on in the country at large took second place for this visitor to the constant business of making a home in an utterly new environment. She's reporting on this for the Northwest YWCA Sampler Program at St. Matthew Church, Livonia, today.

She found that things like language, climate and servant problems filled her life with problems that never were more than partially resolved.

FOR INSTANCE, she and other American wives tried to learn Vietnamese.

"But it's a language based partly on tonality," Peg explained, "so the same sound varied in tone has an entirely different meaning."

"And after the day I thought I was inviting a high-born lady to be seated, and found I had actually told her to lie down like a dog, I decided to confine myself to a few sure phrases."

THE MATTERS of climate and servants worked together to change the Higbees' way of life mightily.

"I started out deciding nobly that I'd always done my own housework and I'd manage on my own in Vietnam," Peg said. "But it wasn't long before I realized I could not."

"For one thing, because of the heat, we had to change clothing three times a day and change and air the beds after each night. But the humidity was so high that the only way to get things dry was by ironing."

So the Higbees needed a domestic--as they are called in Vietnam--to help with the laundry.

THEN THE MATTER of feeding the family required complicated marketing.

"I tried and failed at the market place," Mrs. Higbee said. "The language problem was too great."

So the family hired a cook, who is by tradition the shopper. But, of course, he could only be expected to buy the food in a morning at the market and then cook dinner. So they needed an assistant to cook breakfast and do the dishes.

Also needed were a general house domestic, and an amah for small Marjorie Jo, then less than three.

"And at that point we found out," said Peg, "that when you hire servants you take on responsibility for the problems of their entire families."

"You also have to expect that they will appropriate a certain amount of the food you buy--it isn't stealing or dishonesty to them, it's just part of the system. But you have to watch constantly, or they'll take ALL you buy. And you can't just turn the kitchen over to the cook. You have to check and make sure there is fuel, or he just won't prepare dinner."

PEG SAID SHE DECIDED to just do the best she could about the various problems and enjoy the total experience.

So she joined with other American wives in setting up a study and service group. These women tried to bring together as many different cultures as possible, and toward the end of the two years the Higbees spent in Vietnam even managed to bring in a few Vietnamese women.

The Americans assisted in some of the orphanages "where the children were the saddest ones I've ever seen," Peg said. "They had been affection-starved for so long they could hardly respond to love. But we played with them, and managed to raise money to buy them more milk and vital supplies."

The family has kept alive some of its Viet ties and feels a personal anguish over the strife there now. Peg put it this way:

"It was our whole life for two years, and we'll always feel that a bit of us is there."

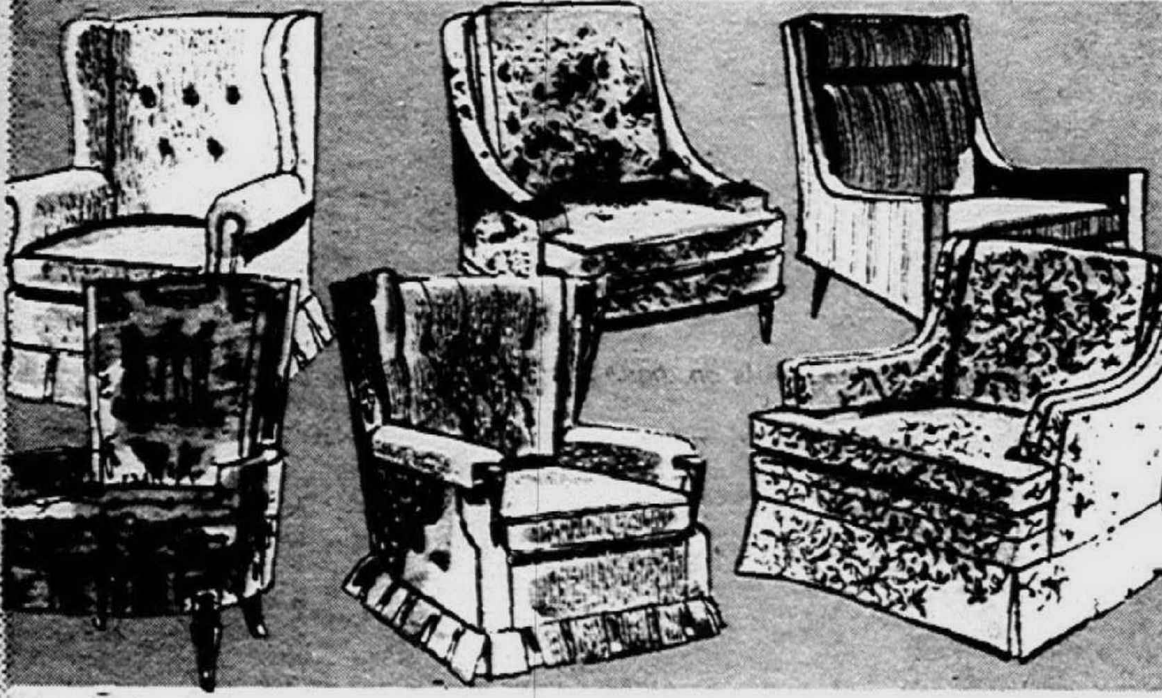

TELLS OF VIETNAM -- In traditional Viet garb, Mrs. Homer Higbee pours tea in her Farmington apartment and recalls the two years her family spent in the troubled little country.

Art Council Needs Ideas On Projects Childbirth Group To Meet Feb. 2

The Michigan State Council for the Arts (MSCA) is asking for special project proposals from individuals, groups or community arts councils.

The MSCA said in its announcement it would give priority consideration in its funding to imaginative proposals for programs which are geared to culturally disadvantaged urban areas and geographically remote areas outside. An April 1 deadline was set.

"We are particularly hopeful of receiving fine arts project proposals for inner-city summer activities," said E. Ray Scott, MSCA, executive-director.

The main guideline in formulating a project which could receive MSCA support is whether or not it will initiate, stimulate or expand cultural activity in a specific area, according to Mr. Scott.

Proposals received are referred to the appropriate MSCA committee for study and evaluation during April and May. In June, the 15-member Council takes action upon committee recommendations. Those approved will be implemented through the MSCA administrative office within the limitation of funds appropriated by the state and federal legislatures for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

Project proposal forms can be obtained by writing the MSCA office, 7310 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48202.

The Childbirth Without Pain Education Association will meet at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 2, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Miller of Robson Ave., Detroit. The CWPEA is an organization dedicated to the teaching of the Lamaze method of childbirth. Psychologist Milan R. Majarow will speak.

Outlook Bright For 1968—

'67 Good Year For Dunn Steel Products

For Dunn Steel Products Division of Townsend Company in Plymouth, 1967 was a good year and the forecast for 1968 looks good, too. Even with sales down slightly in 1967 from 1966, development of new business and increased penetration into Dunn's market — automotive and farm implement industries — made 1967 a successful year.

John G. Spruhan

In spite of a 1 1/2 percent drop in total sales (over-all fastener industry sales dropped 12 percent in 1967), Dunn managed to wrack up and increase in the number of parts or fasteners sold per vehicle.

John G. Spruhan, vice president and general manager of the Townsend division since 1954, said that per vehicle sales in U.S. alone increased 9 1/2 percent.

Makes Car Ball Studs

Dunn Steel Products developed special techniques to cold-form precision ball studs for automotive-type steering and suspension systems and was the first to mass produce ball studs for steering systems by this method in the middle 1930's. Since then, Dunn has pioneered in the design and production of many precision parts for the automotive industry.

People Key To Dunn's Success

Much of Dunn's success as a leading producer of critical "safety" parts for the automotive and farm implement industries is due to the company's loyal, competent and skillful employees — from apprentices in the shop to top management.

Many of Dunn's 93 employees have long and distinguished records with the company. It is their experience and knowledge that makes Dunn Steel Products a leader in its field. Workers like Roy Helm, who has been with the company for 38 years, have contributed much to Dunn's success. It is from the older workers that the younger ones learn their trade. Without outstanding employees, Dunn would not be where it is today — on top.

To remain on top, changes must take place not only to improve products and provide new ones but to improve the company's ability to serve its customers adequately and properly.

Wilson Retires

A.G. Wilson, senior accountant and a veteran Dunn Steel Products employee who has carefully helped keep the company's accounts in order for the past 12 years, retires on March 31 of this year.

Mr. Wilson joined Dunn in 1952 as a drill press operator in the plant's Secondary Department. In 1955, he was brought into the Accounting Department to assist the company controller as Mr. Wilson had studied accounting at the University of Detroit and was moonlighting as accountant for two Plymouth concerns at the time. Subsequently he was named senior accountant.

Perz Leaves Dunn

Dunn loses another veteran employee on February 29 when John J. Perz leaves the company to become a manufacturers representative in St. Louis, Mo.

Indirectly he will still be working for Dunn as he is going to represent Dunn Steel Products in the St. Louis sales territory. He also will represent another Townsend Company division, the Engineered Fasteners Division in Ellwood City, Pa.

Mr. Perz has been with Townsend for over 15 years and has been Dunn's sales manager for the past 8 years. His contribution to Dunn's success has been substantial.

Parko New Sales Engineer

Following the Townsend Company policy of promoting from within wherever possible, Donald R. Parko has been named sales engineer for Dunn Steel Products.

Mr. Parko has been with Dunn since September of 1965 when he started as a sales trainee. Following his training period, he became a salesman for the company. As sales engineer, Mr. Parko will be responsible for field sales activities with many of Dunn's key customers.

Dunn Steel Products Division's plant today on Dunn Street in Plymouth.

Record Set in December

Bookings of released orders in the last month of 1967 were the biggest in the company's 45-year history. And there was an 18 1/2 percent higher backlog of orders than at the same time in 1966 Mr. Spruhan said.

Dunn enjoyed a total increase of 30 percent in new business last year even with the reduction in the total number of new autos produced. Part of the increase was due to Dunn being able to convert the production of large ball studs for trucks from the screw machine to the cold-forming method.

However, not all of '67 was rosy for Dunn. Replacement sales were down 4 percent from 1966. Said Mr. Spruhan: "This was 15 percent under our forecast for 1967."

Predicts Increase For 1968

Based on the auto industry's forecast for 1968 and Dunn's own one-year and long-term forecasts, Mr. Spruhan is looking for a 5 percent sales increase in 1968. A major obstacle which could easily prevent Dunn, as well as many other companies, from achieving its sales goal in 1968 is the possibility of a steel strike this summer.

In light of its '68 forecast, Dunn is submitting for approval a substantial capital expenditure program to its parent company, Townsend Company with headquarters in Beaver Falls, Pa. The proposed program involves the division's primary production equipment, secondary machinery equipment and tool room equipment plus a possible expansion of the physical plant facilities. Total cost for the proposed program is in the neighborhood of $2 million.

Harry J. Christensen who has been with the company for nearly 28 years has been named cost accounting manager.

Mr. Christensen joined Dunn in 1940 and has handled various duties including inside sales, scheduling and accounting. He also served as office manager, and purchasing agent-personnel director, his position before this promotion. In addition to his cost accounting duties, he will be in charge of payroll.

Edward F. Kopski, a 22-year Dunn Steel Products employee, has been promoted to production planning and purchasing manager.

Mr. Kopski joined the company in the Inspection and Shipping Department and was assistant foreman there when he was brought into the Service and Scheduling Department 16 years ago. He takes over the complete purchasing function from Mr. Christensen and will no longer be responsible for customer service.

C. G. (Tip) Smith has been division controller and general office manager since 1959.

He began his career at Dunn in 1950 as a drill press operator in the Secondary Department. In 1952, he was moved into the office as an accountant. Two years later he was promoted to division accountant and in 1959 was named to his present position.

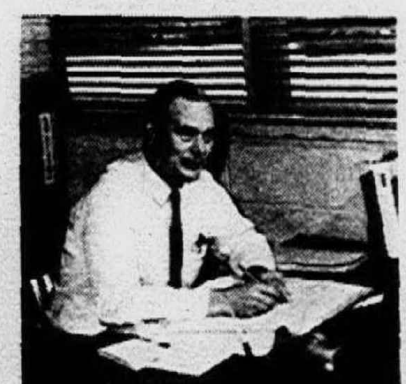

As division controller, he is responsible for all the division's financial matters.

Mr. Herter first worked for Dunn during summer vacations while in high school and part-time while attending the University of Michigan where he majored in chemistry. In 1963, he began working full-time for Dunn and was graduated from the University of Michigan in 1966.

Upon finishing the company's management training program, he was named project engineer and then named quality control manager, his present position.

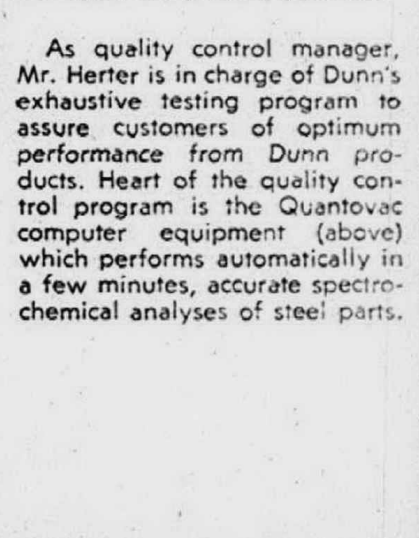

As quality control manager, Mr. Herter is in charge of Dunn's exhaustive testing program to assure customers of optimum performance from Dunn products. Heart of the quality control program is the Quantovac computer program (above) which performs automatically in a few minutes, accurate spectrochemical analyses of steel parts.

Robert F. Rouse is director of industrial relations, a new position at Dunn.

As manager of industrial relations, Mr. Rouse is the company's chief negotiator with the UAW-CIO Local 985 Union which has represented Dunn's 70 hourly employees since January 1967.

In addition to his industrial relations duties, Mr. Rouse is safety director and personnel manager for the company.

J. L. (Les) Herter is in his 21st year as a Dunn Steel employee. Like so many others at Dunn he has worked his way up the promotion ladder until today he is plant superintendent.

After WW II, he came to work for the company as a machine repairman. Later he was made assistant foreman of the Tool Room and in 1960 was promoted to plant superintendent.

As plant superintendent, it is his job to see that things run smoothly in the shop and that production schedules are met. He also acts as maintenance engineer, keeping equipment and facilities in top condition.

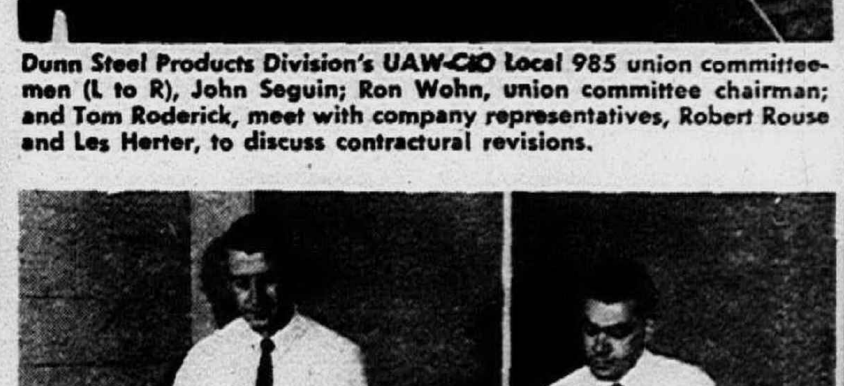

David G. VanHellemont, a native of Northville and a 1966 graduate of Michigan State University, injects fresh blood into the Dunn organization.

He worked for Dunn on and off in the plant while going to college. After graduation, he went through the company's management training program and subsequently was named staff assistant and sales office manager. Mr. VanHellemont will be involved in special staff projects in addition to handling field sales assignments with specific key customers. As sales office manager, he will be responsible for customer service formerly handled by Mr. Kopski.

Peter F. Yost has spent the last 22 years of his working career at Dunn.

Mr. Yost started as a grinder in the Tool Room's Grinding Department and worked his way up to tooling and development engineer for the company. He has held this position for the past 18 years. Mr. Yost is responsible for designing and developing the tooling necessary to produce a new part.

C. W. Copeland (seated, center), works manager and chief engineer, meets with his staff (L to R), P. F. Yost, tooling and development engineer; E. F. Kopski, production planning and purchasing manager; J. L. Herter Jr., quality control manager; and J. L. Herter, plant superintendent, to discuss the tooling, production and quality control of a new project being considered.

Reception High Risk Driver To Honor Receives Warning Levin

Democrats from 10 Michigan counties are being invited to a February 9 reception in honor of the newly elected chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, State Senator Sander M. Levin. The reception will be held from 4 to 8 p.m. in the ballroom of Detroit's Pontchartrain Hotel.

Tickets are $25 per couple, which includes a V-1968 membership in the Democratic Party of Michigan. Tickets are $10 to those who already hold memberships.

Additional information is available from the Democratic State Central Committee's two offices: 623 Lafayette Building, Detroit, 48226, Area 313, 965-3041, and 500 W. Michigan, Lansing, 48915, Area 517, 484-4511.

Invitations have been sent to Democrats in Jackson, Ingham, Shiawassee, Lenawee, Washtenaw, Livingston, Monroe, Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties.

Begin Cottage Program For Retarded

A new residential program for retarded children, described as a "tremendous success" in its initial stage, has been expanded at the Wayne County Child Development Center.

Fifteen girls, all new students have been admitted as a group to a freshly remodeled residential cottage on the campus of the school, which is located in Northville.

The new program of group admissions was launched on an experimental basis last November when 25 boys moved into the refurbished Haskell Cottage.

THE COTTAGE PARENTS and other adults who are staffing the two cottages received special group training before the cottages were opened.

The goal of the program is to establish a sense of "family" and cottage pride among the children and staffs of the cottages, and thus create a better atmosphere for development of the children.

The Child Development Center, the only county-operated school of its kind, is designed to help mildly retarded children become self-sufficient members of the community.

LANSING--If you are a "high risk" driver and you plan to buy liability insurance before the license plate deadline, you might do well to buy your insurance soon so that the policy can be processed in time for you to buy 1968 plates before Feb. 29.

Secretary of State James M. Hare has warned these drivers that it takes three weeks or more for some of the non-standard insurance companies as well as Michigan's Assigned Risk Plan to obtain approval of a policy after checking out a driver's record.

Owners who wait until February to begin arrangements might find they waited too long and may be forced to pay a $35 fee into the Motor Vehicle Accident Claims Fund and be registered as uninsured drivers.

Tax Seminar Planned

Problems and aspects of taxation will be the subject of the Third Annual Schoolcraft College Small Business Seminar which will be offered for owners, managers and operators of small business establishments in the area starting Feb. 21.

Fred Stefanski, Director of the Evening Program at the college, said the eight-week seminar will meet on Wednesdays from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

COOPERATING AGAIN will be the Chambers of Commerce of Livonia, Garden City, Northville and Plymouth, as well as the Detroit office of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Instructor for the course, will be Lee Holland, tax manager for the Detroit CPA firm of Miller, Bailey, Smith and Dale. Holland was formerly an instructor for the Internal Revenue Service.

Individual sessions will be devoted to techniques of appealing revenue agents' rulings, de-

TWO ALTERNATIVES are open to persons in the so-called "high risk" categories...buying public liability and property damage insurance (P.L. and P.D.) through one of the few non-standard companies doing business in Michigan; or making application through the Assigned Risk Plan, in which all the standard companies in Michigan take high risk drivers in rotation from a pool.

"One thing is sure in these instances, the driver pays a much higher insurance premium," Hare said.

He announced a sharp rise in license plate sales so far this year.

As of the first week in January, Michigan was fast closing on the 1-million sales total, nearly 190,000 ahead of a similar date in 1967.

Fleming Inauguration Scheduled March 11

ANN ARBOR--More than a thousand official delegates and special guests are expected at the inauguration of Robben W. Fleming as University of Michigan president on March 11. Fleming assumed office officially on Jan. 1, succeeding Harlan Hatcher.

THE FORMAL inauguration in Hill Auditorium will be open to university students and faculty with tickets as well as to the official delegates and invited guests.

More than 1,800 colleges and universities all over the world are being invited to send delegates to the inauguration. Experience at other institutions indicates that 400 to 600 will actually be represented, according to Herbert W. Hildebrandt, secretary of the university and vice chairman of the inauguration committee.

In addition, some 200 learned and professional societies are expected to send delegates. Some of these delegates, it is likely, will be members of Michigan's own faculty.

Specially invited guests will include officials of the City of Ann Arbor and the State of Michigan, along with members of the State Legislature and Michigan's senators and congressmen.

THE INAUGURATION itself is scheduled for 3 p.m., after an informal reception and luncheon. A reception for President and Mrs. Fleming will follow the ceremony.

Highlight of the day will be Fleming's inaugural address, in which he is expected to set forth his own educational philosophy and chart the course he expects the university to take in years ahead.

Focus On Business

Business has been at residential areas for several years. Home ownership and income and especially income tax relief, especially in Cleveland, meant escape from the city. For many years. The old business areas became too small for aggressive firms and they moved out to the suburbs. And when they left big companies and formed their own outfits in suburbs, a little closer to their homes and on less expensive land. Local government saw they needed faces, especially for schools, and that homes alone couldn't carry the load, so they began creating new industry. And so industry, once thought of as a year by year business, became a more important part of the Cleveland scene.

Westland Builds Its Future On 105 Acres Industry Park

A 105-acre parcel of land, which now stands vacant, is Westland's hope for an industrial tax base for the future.

The site on the northeast corner of Palmer and Newburgh Roads, in the southwest corner of the city, is owned by the Leho Corporation and officially known as the Nankin Industrial Park.

The land, when fully developed, would bring in a tax income to the city which would surpass the entire industrial development now in Westland.

According to the community's Comprehensive Plan completed in 1963, when there were only nine small industries in the city, occupying less than 40 acres and employing about 35 persons.

THE NANKIN INDUSTRIAL PARK already has had seven sites out of the first 24 sold to companies. The park is bisected by the Cheseapeake and Ohio Railroad tracks. Some 45 acres south of the tracks are available for immediate development. The remaining 60 acres will be developed at a future date.

The Leho Corporation hopes to have the completed development with a total real estate of $5,000,000 or considerably more than the practically non-existent industrial tax base which now exists.

Westland now has nine properties classified as industrial. These include Pam Transmission Rebuilders, 2045 S. Wayne; National Block Co., 30000 Joy Road; Lake Master Boat Co., 8630 Middlebelt Road; Kenwood Fence Co., 28975 Joy Road; Nankin

Auto Parts, 310 S. Newburgh Road; Addroc Waterproof Paint Manufacturing Co., Joy at Ravine; Joy Tool and Die, 8611 Oxbow; and Reese Motor Sales, 350 S. Newburgh Road.

REFLECTING THE low industrial activity are the building permits issued for plants within the past few years. In 1960, a $21,000 building went up and two years, construction went up on a building valued at $22,000, or about the same value of a single-family home.

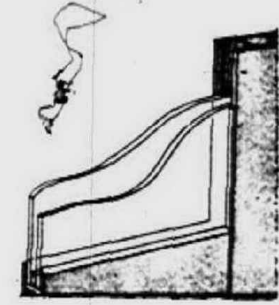

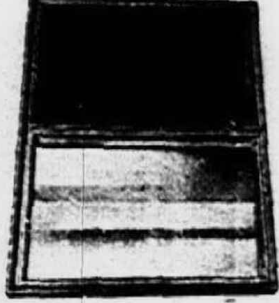

Parkins, Rogers and Associates, planning consultants who drafted the 1963 comprehensive plan, said that by 1980, the city should have 806 acres of industrial use, representing 6.2 per cent of the city's total land area.

The planners urged that future plants would require access to good railroads, and often, air and water transportation. Their assumptions for the 1980 industrial plan include available land near major roads and railroad tracks; the consideration of large undeveloped parcels for industrial use; the reservation of enough land for non-residential uses to give a high tax value to stabilize and strengthen the city's tax base; reservation for potential plants of large parcels in established or natural industrial corridors; and industrial sites should be provided to encourage diversification of industrial activities.

THE PLANNERS URGED that the principal areas for future use be corridors along the C & O and New York Central Railroads and in an area bordered on the southwest and west by Holliday Park, near the present Westland Shopping Center.

Glamb Builds Better Things

Build a better, self-sealing and the world will cut a path to your doorstep. Glamb Engineering Co., 30175 Ford Rd., Garden City, has managed in its short industrial history to build not only a better pair of scissors (safe for homes, hospitals or institutions), but a better bicycle and an automobile accessory guaranteed to give passengers cool comfort in hot weather.

The design features two tension blades brought together by squeeze pressure. The contoured blades are of phosphorous bronze, non-toxic and self-sharpening. The scissors will fit into pocket or purse and are recommended for hospitals, institutions, schools and homes.

GLAMB ENGINEERING, owned by Stanley Glamb, also boasts its "play-make Six-In-One Tricycle," a single tricycle unit which easily converts into a side car, two-wheeler, unicycle, cart, back tow or tri-cycle.

Designed to help the automobile passenger or driver "ride in style and cool comfort" is Glamb Engineering's "Arm-Ez," an automobile-window arm-rest manufactured from, among other things, surplus automotive fabrics.

The invention, which rolls neatly back up when the window rolls up and folds down comfortably with the window, is designed to stay "cool and clean" and offers passengers a comfortable armrest, with protection against "burned arms, dirty clothes, sore elbows."

Livonia Bank Earnings Up

President Elvin D. Dougherty, Livonia National Bank announced that 1967 earnings showed a 40 per cent increase over 1966. Net operating earnings per share for the year ending December 31, 1967 was $5.54 compared to 1966 earnings of $3.94.

Other areas of the bank's statement also showed significant increases. The following figures indicate a 37 per cent increase in deposits.

Total Resources	$42,489,000	$31,536,000
Total Deposits	38,229,000	27,947,000
Total Assets	42,489,000	31,536,000
Total Capital	2,113,000	1,906,000

Recent advancements announced by Dougherty, include the election by the Bank's Board of Directors of Floyd S. Jarvi as an Assistant Vice President, and the appointment of Gerald F. Leitner as a Director.

Service Is Main Goal

The name of the company is International Harvester Sales & Service, with the emphasis on service. Located at 31600 Eight Mile in Farmington, the firm's policy in customer relations is aptly described by Manager Don A. Steven when he says: "We serve everything we sell."

And International Harvester, one of the 20 top volume corporations in the world and in business over 100 years, has a long list from which the suburban home owner, the business man and builder can buy.

THE LIST includes everything from a seven horsepower garden tractor for the suburban gentleman farmer's backyard to a 60 horsepower crawler for road construction and West Coast International truck models for over-the-mountains hauls, to gravel trucks carrying a 100-ton load.

Ford Plant Still Grows

The Ford Motor Company Heating and Air Conditioning plant on Sheldon Road, which went into production only last summer, has its sights set on being the industrial peace-maker in the area during 1968.

"The outlook for 1968," Plant Manager Robert Winder confided, "for the Ford Motor Co. and the entire auto industry is very good. This, in turn, means higher production on all fronts." At the present time, the Sheldon Road plant manufactures heaters for all Ford models. There scarcely is an auto sold that doesn't include a heater.

The air conditioner also is becoming more popular and with this increased interest, the production is certain to jump during the months ahead.

WHEN THE PLANT was opened last spring it was stated it would employ 1,000 persons and be in full production by the end of the year.

Instead, the full production peak was reached in July and August and the number of employees reached 1,500—a jump of 500 in a few months. This included salaried and hourly rated employees.

The outlook for 1968 reduced to figures provides good news for the Plymouth area. For instance, the payroll for 1967 reached approximately $6 million.

The forecast of the company officials now places the 1968 payroll at $9 million or a jump of at least 50 per cent.

Despite the increased production and payroll no mention was made of a possible addition being built.

But, this is certain to come sooner or later, as Plant Manager Winder stated at the opening.

Wonderland Business Booms; Taub Heads Merchants Council

Approaching the end of its first decade, Wonderland Center still reigns as one of the most successful regional shopping centers in Detroit's sprawling metropolitan area.

Since its formal opening in October, 1959, the 57-store shopping complex has enjoyed steady increases in sales volume, according to Wonderland officials.

Developed on a 73-acre site at Plymouth Road and Middlebelt by Ale Green and Henry Alpert, Wonderland ranks as one of the nation's most prosperous regional shopping centers.

MONTGOMERY WARD, principal link in a chain of leading department and specialty stores, has consistently led all other Ward stores in the Detroit district. Sales volume of Ward's Wonderland unit is the highest of the company's 500 stores.

Wonderland's second-largest tenant, Federal's, is one of the Detroit-based department-store chain's most successful units. The store is nearing the end of an expansion program which will add several new lines of merchandise, including a complete paint and hardware department.

Edward Taub, Federal's manager, reported that the Livonia store has experienced "substantial annual increases" during its 8 1/2 year history. "We are extremely confident that this prosperity will continue," he added.

Several Wonderland stores are in the process of remodeling and expansion. Among those, Kinney Shoes will add 1,300 square feet to its present 4,900 square-foot facility. When completed, the store will be one of the largest in the Kinney chain.

Mary Jane Shoes has also planned a major remodeling program.

Edward Taub

Edward Taub, veteran retailer and manager of the Federal Department Store at Wonderland, has been elected president of the center's Merchants' Council.

Taub, who has been with the Detroit-based chain for 14 years, will head a seven-member board of directors which governs the center's advertising and public relations programs. Other board members include Thomas Becker, Montgomery Ward; Raymond Hibel, F.W. Woolworth; Robert Keyton, Lerner Shops; John Michlewicz, Livonia National Bank; William Marcus, Rasht's; and Louis Segel, Wonderland Center.

Tremendous Growth As Result Of New Products

The continual development of new products in the railway equipment field has characterized the rapid growth of Evans Products Company's Transportation Equipment Group in Plymouth.

When it moved to Plymouth from Detroit late in 1945 Evans had behind it a long list of contributions to the advancement of national transportation. These included the introduction of grooved wheel blocks and attachments for shipping automobiles in freight cars in 1918, and the introduction in 1932 of the famous Auto-Loader which reduced shipping damages in freight cars from 55 cents per auto to 9 cents per auto.

In 1938 Evans introduced the Utility Loader which was used extensively for shipping explosives by U.S. Naval Ordnance.

AFTER THE COMPANY moved, out-put of new devices continued. In 1948 the company introduced the nationally famous DF Loader for bracing loads and preventing damage in freight car equipment. This raised the revenue capacity of a box car from an average of $4,000 per year to an average of $12,000 per year.

In 1955 it produced the Evans Coil Car for safely transporting large coils of steel. In 1958 it advanced the art of freight car cushioning with a device known as the Hydra-Cushion Under-frame, now used on thousands of freight cars to prevent damage to the car and loading.

In 1960 came the DF-B Bulkheads, now widely used by shippers for protecting packaged commodities in freight cars.

In 1962 Evans placed in use an American railroads five demonstrator freight cars which act as rolling laboratories, providing information useful to shippers, railroads and Evans' engineering and sales programs.

IN 1964 the company embarked in the business of constructing the entire freight car instead of only its components. It added to its facilities on the corner of Eckles and Plymouth Roads a huge freight car plant at an expense in buildings and equipment of approximately $6 million.

Since 1964 it has introduced a variety of specialty railcars, including a new Movable Bulkhead Flat car especially designed for the safe transit of building materials.

ONE OF THE newest damage-prevention devices is the "Air-Pak" Bulkhead introduced late in 1967. This device makes use of air chambers which expand to control the load in freight cars, and to prevent it from shifting in any direction.

General Foods, which tested the device for over two years, reported that damage to commodities shipped in cars equipped with the "Air-Pak" was 50 percent less than with standard mechanical load restraining devices. Evans has equipped 10 demonstrator freight cars with this device, and they will soon be offered to shippers through their railroads, for test purposes.

Evans' Transportation Equipment Group is located on a 115-acre tract on the C&O Railroad on Eckles Road. It employs approximately 1600 people in its local divisions, the Railway Car Division and the Industrial Division.

Focus On Business Needs For Greater Industrial Activity

To the leaders throughout Michigan who influence public opinion because of their high positions in government, corporate business, advertising, publishing, labor, and education, what the industrial park effort needs is a more simple means for increasing industrial capital so that the investment in fixed assets for land, buildings, machinery, tools, equipment, and inventories can be put into immediate productive use.

The federal or state government could encourage greater activity in industrial expansion and the creation of new jobs by providing some means that would make it possible to easily increase operating capital in an amount at least equal to that invested by business in fixed assets. If a business man has the courage to make investments in fixed assets, the government should have the courage and foresight to back up such an investment with easier means for increasing operating capital based on future earning possibilities and not as at present based on past earning records or credit reports.

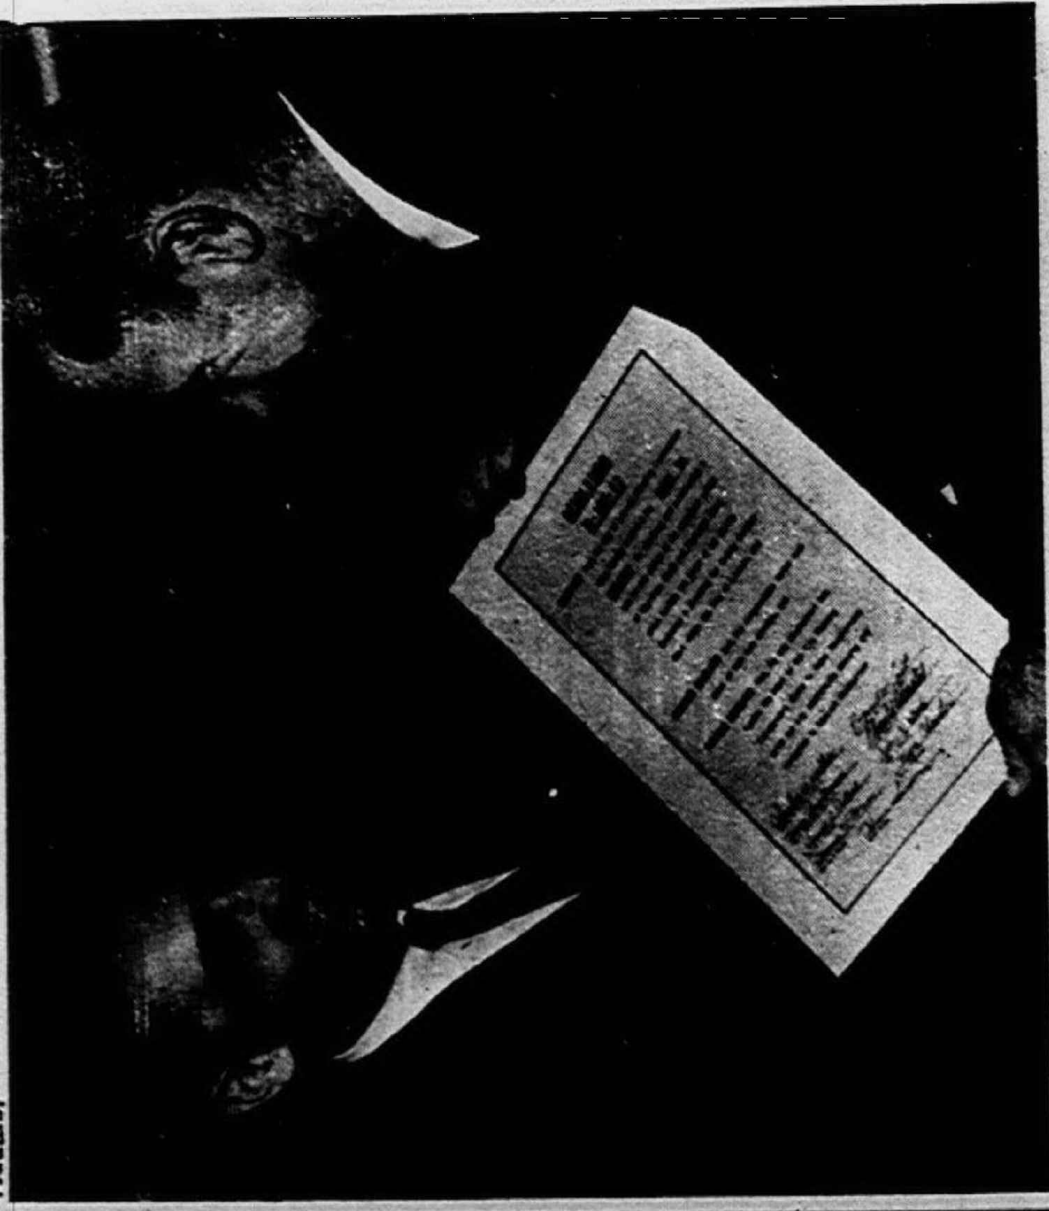

Since the federal and state governments are the first to derive benefits through taxation from any business, they should assume some of the risks involved in providing venture capital at least equal to the fixed investments made by private initiative.

Bright Steps To Top Ranks In Three Years

The use of insulated glass in the home building and commercial construction fields has doubled each year since 1959.

A Livonia company, Bright Aluminum Products Co., 34203 Plymouth Rd., organized only three years ago is already a big name in the industry and by 1970 will have expanded its current Midwest operations nationwide with 15 plants throughout the U.S.

Its officers are George Jeruzal, President; James Miller, Vice President and Sales Manager; and Herman Ziegler, Secretary-Treasurer.

Each of Bright Aluminum's executives has over 20 years' experience in the field, all in the Metro Detroit area.

THE FIRM HAS BOTH a manufacturing plant, located at the Livonia address, and an assembly plant in Bay City. The Plymouth Rd. plant currently employs 25 persons on one shift with plans early this year for starting of a second shift of almost twice that number.

The company's present organization projections call for the expansion to 15 other cities throughout the country by 1970.

Bright Aluminum's market, under the trade name "Bapco", is composed of new construction builders, modernization contractors, and commercial general contractors. It presently has distributors in Metro Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Toledo, and other Michigan and Ohio cities.

GM Chairman Says Industry Met Great '67 Challenges

Chairman James M. Roche of General Motors issued the following statement about business during 1967.

The auto industry enjoyed good business in 1967 and met great challenges. Abrupt changes in demand, both down and up, work stoppages and the complex job of negotiating national labor agreements—all played a part in shaping the results for the year.

Nevertheless, retail sales of passenger cars and trucks this year will total about 9.9 million units—making 1967 sales the third highest in the history of our industry. This total includes 8.4 million passenger cars, of which 750,000 are imported vehicles, and 1.5 million trucks.

The pace of economic activity generally was reduced during the first half of the year. One of the reasons which had been rising rapidly, into better balance with sales. As a result, industrial production declined and the rise in employment was slowed.

The second half saw some improvement as the decline in inventory demand was halted, and despite strikes, employment was higher than in the first half.

Set Record

Detroit Bank and Trust announced record net operating earnings for 1967 of $13,331,924 or $6.12 per share.

The earnings, reflect an increase of $553,338 or 4.3 per cent over the bank's figures for 1966 adjusted for the merger of Detroit Bank and Trust with the Commercial State Bank of Roseville on October 31 of last year.

Farmington Has Big Hopes For Industrial Park

One must see to believe the transportation taking place on what once was a remote farm land where old Grand River and Halstead Rd. intersect in Farmington Township.

The day is fast approaching when at least 10,000 persons will be employed in the northwestern and southwestern quadrants of this corner which since ground breaking took place in Farmington Freeway Industrial Park in October, 1966, 21 of the first 38 sites made available by the developers, the Thompson-Brown Co., have been purchased.

Just to the north, six of seven sites offered by Hubbard Associates in Halstead Industrial Park have moved equally quickly.

ADJACENT ARE the Independence Green multi-family residential development, and two new exclusive single-family subdivisions linking the area with the city of Farmington.

William W. Bowman, executive vice-president of Thompson-Brown, pointed out this week that 1967 saw 13 added manufacturing firms commit themselves to plant construction in the park, some already under way.

A heliport in the midst of the sector opened in mid-year, and Bowman said plans for an elaborate service center are well advanced, with first phases to be constructed in 1968. Included will be a major restaurant, banking institution and motel.

The total area includes approximately 700 acres on the two sides of Grand River and Halstead, all zoned industrial by Farmington Township in a deliberate and successful attempt to strengthen its tax base.

The roll call of manufacturers already installed in the area, or soon to arrive with construction crews, includes:

H.M.L. Industries, Jense, Inc., Solar Industries, Multi-Elmac, Kelbach Enterprises, Carter, McCormick & Peirce, M&H Tool Co., T.F.C. Specialty Building, Chorkey-Ellis.

Barget Mold and Die, Dow Furnace, Teletrans Corp., Consumers Power, Electronatic, Stanley Carter, Whitlock, Inc., H. M. White, Inc., Lorne Co., Control Power, Futurmill, Inc., Moore Industries, Automatic Valve, Omni Spectra, Inc., Eaton, Yale & Towne, Garcia-Cote, Yale Die Sinking Co. and Boensch Co.

Farmington Office Has Biggest Year

The Farmington Office and Paper Supply Co., owned by Robert Chappa, has just completed its third full year in operation, and recent growth figures show a continuing increase in sales.

The December sales receipts showed a 40 per cent increase over December of 1966.

The firm plans to open a photo copy division in February to handle machines retelling from $109 to $1200.

Space in the store has been increased to 5000 square feet for display and 2,500 for the warehouse. Chappa describes the operation as a "complete business-man's department store."

Ford Promotion

John Pepper has been named manager of a new Film and Electronic Communications Department on Ford Motor Company's Public Relations Staff. The department combines radio and television news and feature activities, formerly headed by Pepper, with motion picture production and distribution.

pounds by wearing special tight plastic blouses and slacks.

You can buy an electrical device for effortless reducing that is a convenient, pleasant, comfortable and relaxing form of exercise resulting in substantial weight and girth reduction.

There are pills that allow you to "lose 54 pounds of ugly, dangerous fat in only three short months" while eating all the spaghetti, malted milks and pizza you want.

False is the answer to each of these questions, according to the American Society of Bariatrics—the association of physicians who specialize in weight reduction.

Americans spend more than $250 million each year for a fantastic array of easy weight reduction schemes such as these, say the bariatricians.

IF OBESITY were merely the result of over-eating, treatment would be relatively simple, the doctors say. But there are several possible medical reasons for obesity, and each patient must be treated according to the reason for his obesity:—

1) Environmental, or "mis-nutrition" due to the excessive availability of food; 2) physiological, which may be due to aging, to the onset of menopause, or the lack of exercise; 3) psychoneurotic, or emotional, obesity; 4) genetic, or metabolic, obesity such as may be related to diabetes; 5) hormonal obesity; and 6) iatro-genic obesity, that which is caused by certain drugs, such as "the pill."

Some of the most interesting reasons for obesity, bariatricians say, are psychological. Dr. Jean Mayer of the Department of Nutrition at Harvard agrees. He says: "Many of the obese are effectively, indeed compulsively, habituated to excessive food intake or weight gain."

For this reason, in the most severe cases, psychiatric therapy must accompany a weight reduction program.

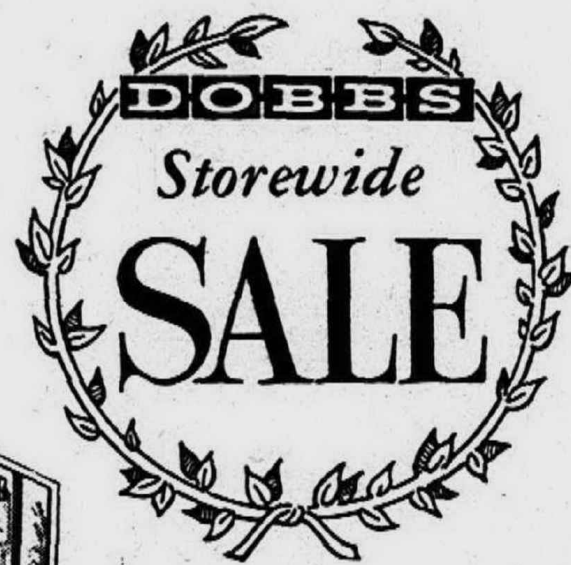

Dr. Grace A. Goldsmith, Professor of Medicine at Tulane University School of Medicine, states, "Too little attention has been given to the many facets of therapy: motivation, psychic and emotional aspects, familial and environmental problems and individualization of treatment with close supervision. Therapeutic success can be obtained only if the patient strongly desires to lose weight, and if the physician is willing to devote the necessary time to the patient's problems."

IT SELDOM does any good for the physician to accuse the patient of gluttony and treat him by trying to frighten and reform him. Tolerance, sympathy and understanding on the part of the physician and the willingness of the physician to spend time with the patient can mean the difference between success and failure.

Because a good patient-physician relationship is so important to effective reducing, bariatricians concentrate on dealing with many different aspects of obesity. They endeavor to guide patients in a safe, sensible weight-reduction plan that takes into account the psychological as well as physical factors involved.

Members of the American Society of Bariatrics are specialists who have agreed to highly restrictive procedures in their medical practice. One aim of the Society is to educate people against common misconceptions about weight reduction.

It cannot be overemphasized that overweight is a medical problem, capable of control by medical means, not by self-administered crash diets, fad foods and magic pills. According to Dr. Norman C. Joliffe of the New York City Department of Health, "At least 90 per cent of all the people who lose weight on a diet proceed to gain it right back, and usually they gain more than they have lost."

Who Must File Income Tax Blanks? Use Tips

This is one in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants on money-saving tax tips and errors to be avoided in preparation of the 1040 Federal Individual Income Tax Return.

Even though it comes only once a year, April 15th rolls around too often for millions of Americans.

While preparation of the 1040 Federal Individual Income Tax Return is seldom a pleasurable chore, it need not be an ordeal because the instructions are fairly explicit.

Here, however, are some common pitfalls to be avoided -- and some possible ways to save money without cheating Uncle Sam -- in preparing your return for 1967, starting with the basic question of whether husband and wife should file a joint return.

ALL CITIZENS and residents of the United States must file, of course, in the event they had $600 or more income. If over 65, they must file if they had incomes of $1,200 or more. In the event their incomes were less than $600 or $1,200 but subject to withholding, they should also file since they may be entitled to a refund.

Generally, married couples filing a joint return pay a smaller tax -- or obtain a larger refund -- than if they filed separately because of the lower tax rate used in computing the tax on a joint return.

This is not always the case, however. If both husband and wife work and earn approximately the same income, and if, for example, they sold stock which they owned jointly for a loss in 1967, they can offset up to $2,000 ($1,000 each) in capital losses against ordinary income by filing separate returns. On a joint return, however, the maximum capital loss they can claim is limited to a combined total of $1,000.

Similarly, in the event that either had extraordinary medical expenses in 1967, it can be to their advantage to file separate returns.

A joint return cannot be filed, however, in the event that either husband or wife was an alien who at any time resided outside the United States during the year.

SOMETIMES OVERLOOKED in preparing a return is the tax break given widows and widowers.

In the event that either the husband or wife died in 1967, the survivor should check the "surviving widow(er)" item on line 1E and file a joint return. This not only results in a lower tax but, in the event there is a dependent child, permits the survivor to file a return using the joint-return tax rate table for two additional years, in this case for 1968 and 1969.

If you were 65 or over in 1967, you can claim an extra $600 exemption in addition to your regular $600 exemption. If your wife was 65 or over during the year and does not file separately, you can also claim an extra $600 exemption for her in addition to her regular $600 exemption. If you were both 65 or over, you are allowed four exemptions totaling $2,400 on a joint return.

An additional $600 exemption for blindness may be claimed for either husband or wife, or $1,200 in the event both are blind, regardless of age.

YOU ARE ALSO allowed a $600 exemption for each dependent.

In general, a dependent must:

- (a) receive more than half his support (food, clothing, lodging, etc.) from you;
- (b) have less than $600 in income unless he is under 19 or a full-time student attending school at least five months during the year;
- (c) be related to you by blood (or to your wife if you file a joint return) and (d) be a citizen or resident alien.

A foster child placed in your home for adoption by an authorized agency is considered a dependent and entitles you to a full $600 exemption.

U-M Radiation Scanner Probes Nature's Changes

Researchers at the University of Michigan Institute of Science and Technology have developed a powerful new aerial scanner which can now be used to focus on such problems as water pollution, wildlife movement, and glacial changes.

This scanner, which acts as an eyeball sensitive to ultraviolet, visible, and infrared radiation, has a combination of three qualities which distinguish it from previous remote sensors.

It is sensitive to 18 channels of radiation, while the eye is thought of as having only three color channels. It has quantitative calibration, and its outputs are electrical signals in a format which allows automatic computer processing of the spectral information from each scene point.

ALTHOUGH MANY aerial scanning devices are now in use, according to Marvin R. Holter, head of the IST's Infrared and Optical Sensor Laboratory (IROS), "this is the most advanced scanner now available for nonmilitary uses. The challenge is to learn to utilize efficiently for scientific purposes the vast amount of information available from the scanner."

IROS researchers, under the direction of Donald Lowe, are exploring the potential of the 18-channel device with biologists, geologists, geographers, geophysicists, ecologists, and agriculturalists.

Among the possible suggested uses, which would be faster, more thorough, and conceivably less expensive than the ground sampling techniques now used, are:

- crop census taking
- plant disease detection
- plant productivity studies
- aerial soil surveys

water pollution detection and mapping landform and rock type identification and mapping mapping of geothermal activities

determining a heat budget of glaciers and identification and mapping of Great Lakes and sea ice.

INSTALLED IN an airplane, the device produces a continual strip map picture of the ground passed over. The picture is produced by rapidly scanning individual "lines" and the image has the appearance of a television picture.

The scanner, more than three years in development and refinement, got a big test last fall when an IROS group under the direction of Philip Hasell conducted an aerial survey around Pt. Barrow, on Alaska's Arctic coast.

The scanner gathered thousands of feet of imagery which are just beginning to be analyzed. The images are exceptionally clear and reveal information about the "arctic heat sink," ice packs and ice islands, and the contours of parts of the Arctic coast.

The data could not have been gathered with any other device in the format needed for electronic multispectral processing.

Last summer, while en route to this Arctic survey, the team conducted a survey of Yellowstone National Park. Data from this survey indicated some of the effects of ground temperature on vegetation.

A SURVEY OF Tennessee Valley Authority waters to determine the distribution pattern of warm water injected into the Tennessee River by generator plants was also conducted by an IROS group last summer.

Psychology Important In Clothing

You sometimes may feel you have nothing good looking to wear although the closet is full of clothes.

That's normal, points out Mrs. Ruth Ann Wilson, extension clothing specialist of The Pennsylvania State University.

From the pocketbook standpoint, you may not have reason for a new hat, new shoes, or a new dress. And from a protection standpoint, you could get by with what you now have in your wardrobe. But, from a personal recognition and personal security standpoint, new clothes do count.

MANY PSYCHIATRISTS have noted the significance of clothing as a means of self-confidence, self-expression, and ego-boosting.

When you think about the right color and style of garment to buy, put this down as one of your desires to make the best impression you can, suggests Mrs. Wilson. This is another way of feeling good about how you look to others and your feeling of security.

If you think about what to wear when you give a talk to a group, count this feeling as a normal desire for added self-confidence.

A NEW HAT could be the antidote for the "blues" that come from everyday problems. It's not that the hat overcomes the problems and tensions, but it helps.

A 'PSYCHEDELIC' BASEMENT is a home decorating idea that would make a lot of mothers cringe, but Mrs. Virginia Petzinger, of Plymouth, manages to live in peaceful co-existence with the room created by her son Fred and his friend Matt Johnson. The boys are students at Plymouth High. The room took several months to complete and a poster dedicates it to Mrs. Petzinger, "who sacrificed sanity for the beautification of these olive drab walls."

Students Listed In 'Who's Who'

Three Observerland students are among 26 from Western Michigan University who have been selected for listing in the 1967-68 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The annual directory lists outstanding students who were nominated by their colleges and universities and is limited to juniors, seniors and graduate students. Those named were honored for scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, general citizenship and the promise of future usefulness.

Included in the listings are: Karen Jacobson, of Farmington; Dale Livingston, of Plymouth, and Sheila Sandrock, of Livonia.

Miss Sandrock is treasurer of the University Student Center Board and a member of the Student Association Constitution Committee.

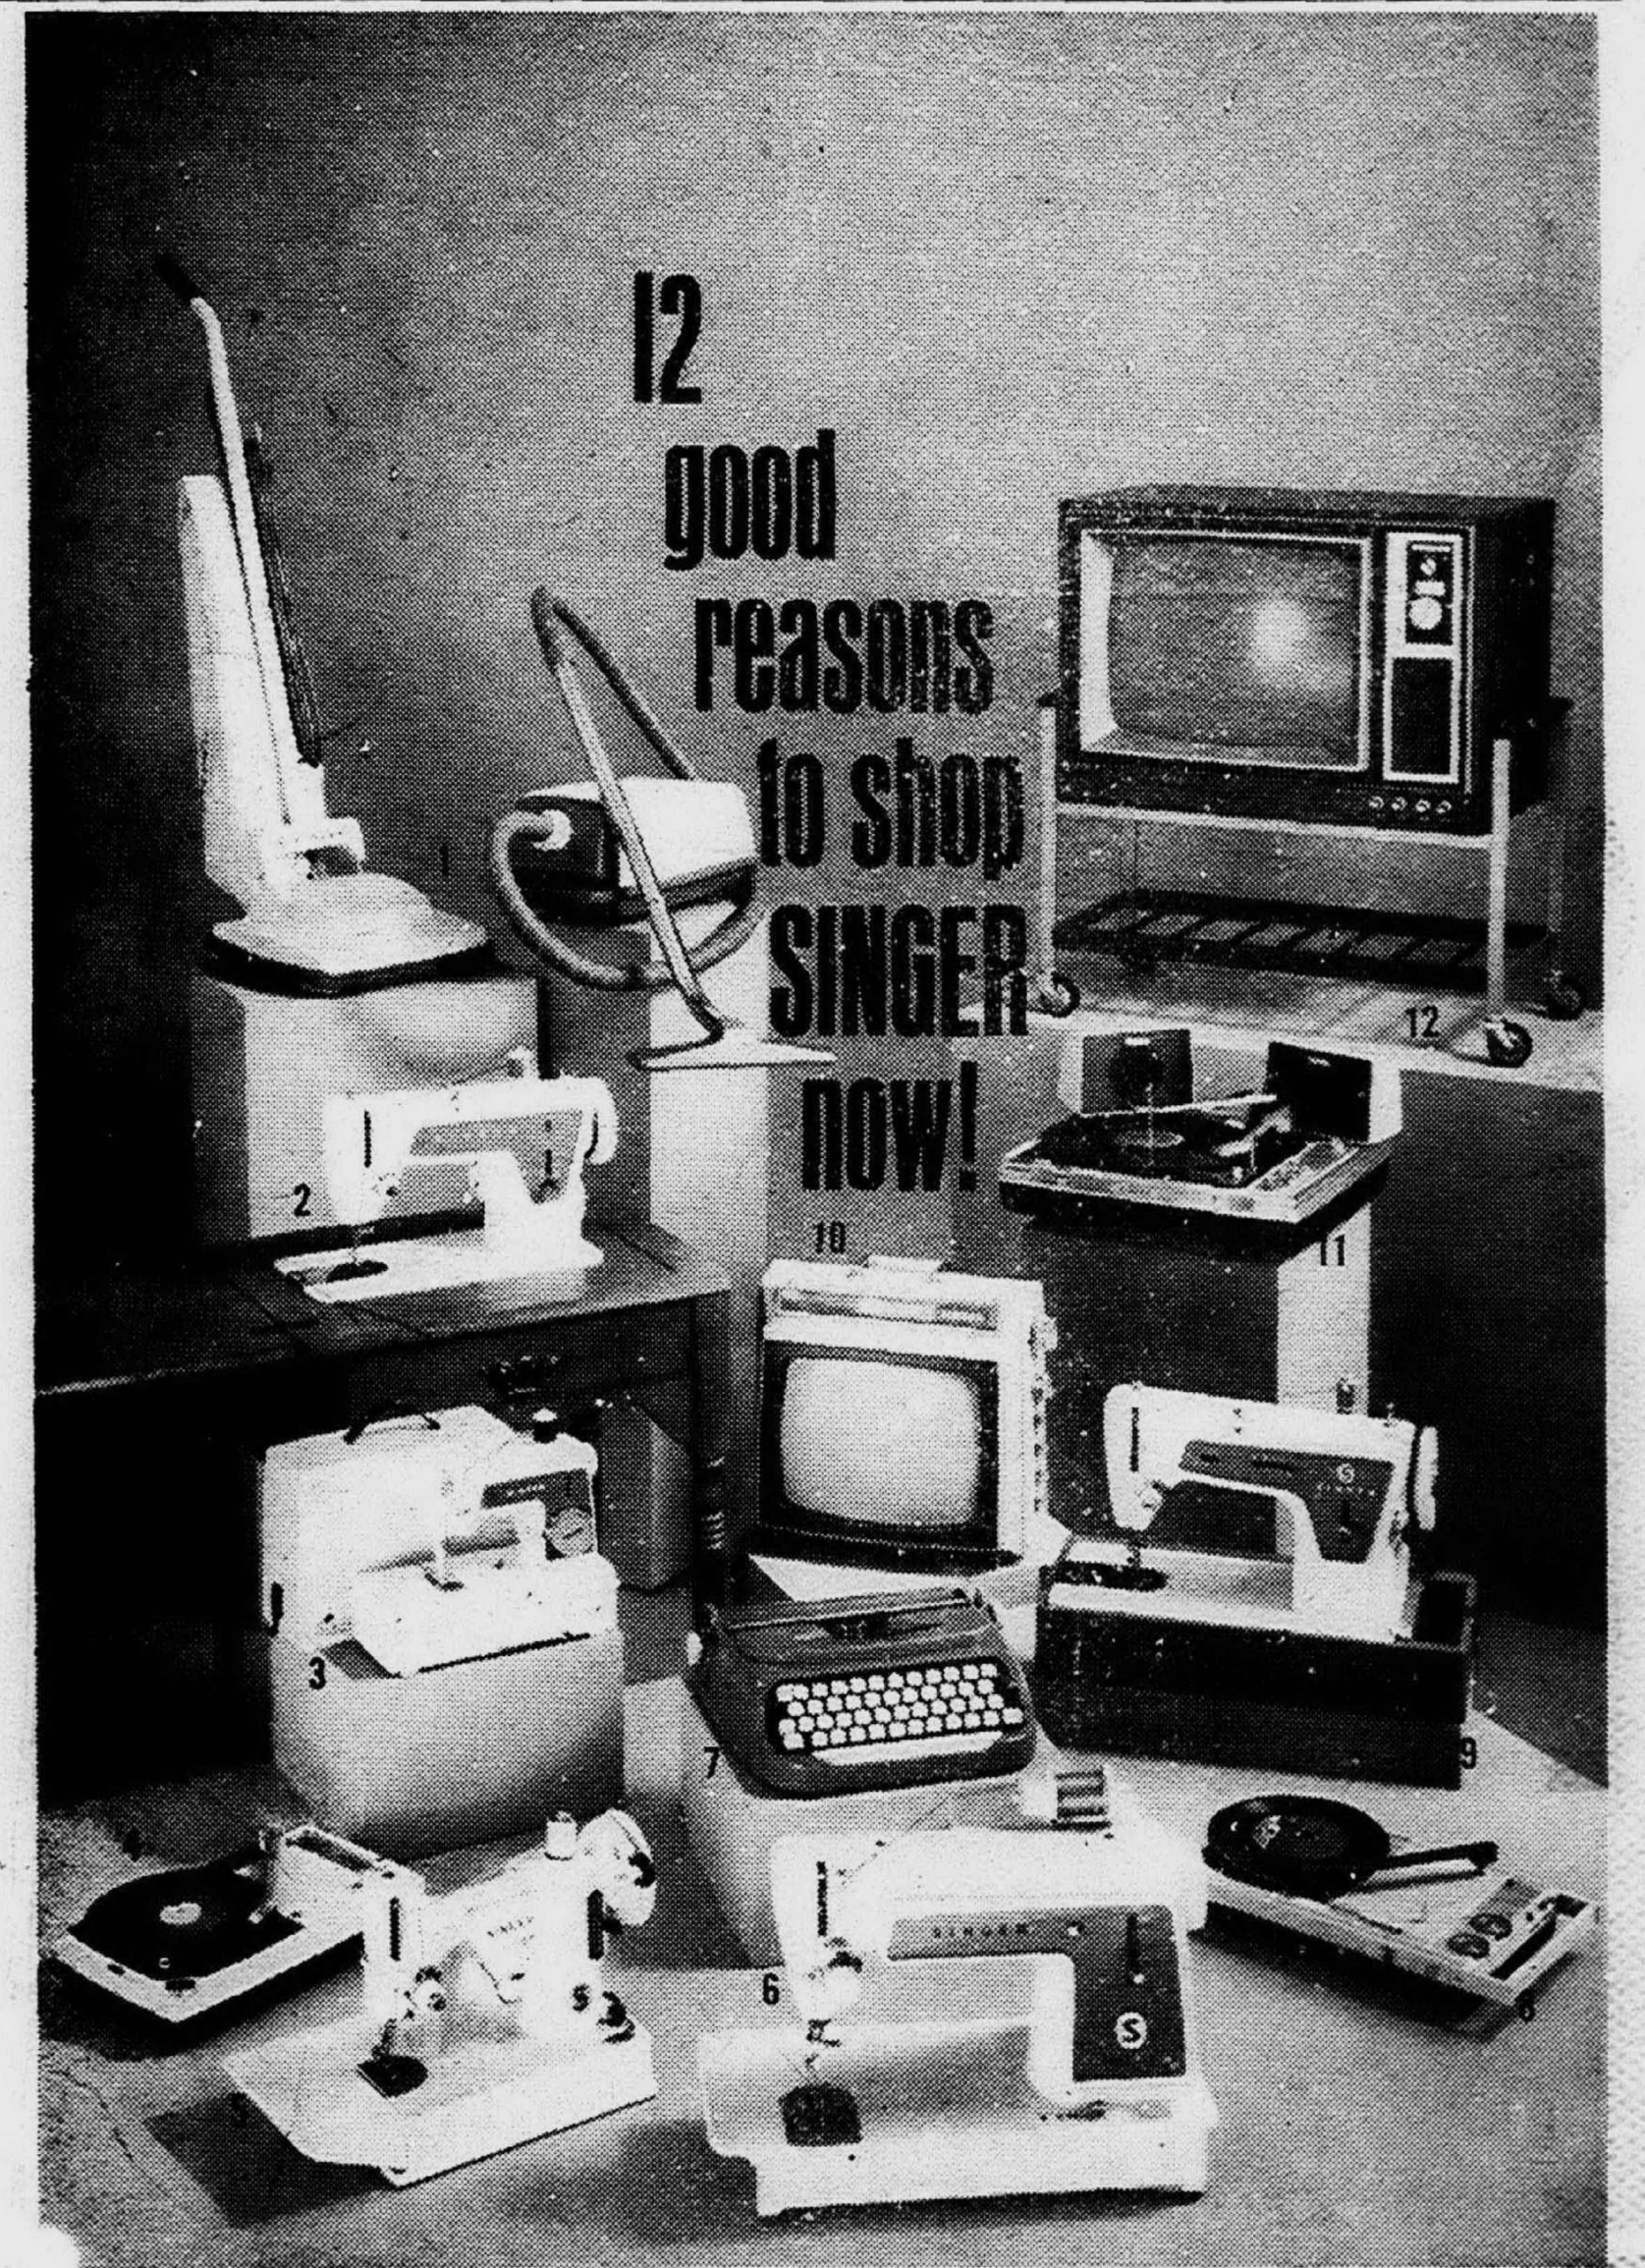

RICHARD G. MYERS of 19930 Sunset in Livonia is among 28 southeastern Michigan residents who have been awarded first-year tuition grants at Michigan colleges by Detroit Edison.

Under the company-sponsored program, each freshman scholarship is renewable annually for students who maintain a 'B' average.

Rick, who is now attending Kalamazoo College for a pre-medical course in Biology, graduated with honors from Clarenceville High School last June. He holds high school departmental awards in science and social studies and has been honored by the Thomas A. Edison Foundation, the Engineering Society of Detroit, the Detroit Free Press, and the Michigan Cancer Foundation with various awards, and was named DeMolay of the Year (1967) by the Farmington Chapter, Order of DeMolay. He is the son of Jay I. Myers.

THE BEACH COVER-UP used to be a sweatshirt or an old blouse tied at the waist, but high fashion is taking over this year. The beach dress, to wear over a suit or alone, will appear in the stores this spring in several different versions. The beach coat on the left is of soft salmon terry cloth; the pique baby dress has white flowers on a navy background. Even if you're not resort-bound, this is a good time to THINK SUMMER.

Faculty Agrees On Limitations For Research

ANN ARBOR -- Continuation of classified research, subject to some specific limitations and to prior faculty review, has been unanimously recommended by the University of Michigan faculty's Committee on Research Policies.

Classified research, especially military research, has been a subject of controversy on several campuses, including Michigan's, in recent months. The Michigan research policies committee of 15 members, headed by Robert Eldersfield, professor of chemistry, was instructed last October to review this subject.

Its final report is addressed to the Faculty Assembly, which will debate the report and make recommendations to the University Regents.

THE COMMITTEE proposed four restrictions on classified research:

1. That the University refuse any contract for research which has as its purpose "to destroy human life or to incapacitate human beings."

2. That the University decline any research contract which "would restrain its freedom to disclose the existence of the contract or the identity of the sponsor."

3. That the University not accept contracts which would limit its freedom to disclose "the purpose and scope of the proposed research" to the degree needed to permit informed faculty discussion of the appropriateness of the research to the University and its potential contributions to human knowledge.

4. That the University refuse support for any classified research "unless there is reasonable expectation (a) that the research will make a significant contribution to the advancement of knowledge or (b) that it will contribute significantly to enhancing the research capability of the investigator or his research unit."

TO IMPLEMENT these policies, the Committee on Research Policies proposes establishment of a continuing review committee of nine faculty members, "broadly representative of the entire faculty." This body's assignment would be to examine all proposals for contracts involving national security classification, including extensions, supplements, or changes in existing contracts. It would advise the University's vice president for research whether classified contracts should be accepted or declined.

The vice president would have the authority to overrule the committee. But if he did so, the decision would be reported to the faculty assembly, together with the reasons both for the committee's recommendations and the vice president's action.

Finally, the Research Policies Committee called on the University of Michigan to take the lead in forming a nationwide university group to "work toward the reduction of federal restrictions on publication and dissemination of the results of university research."

The committee said that "classification is sometimes imposed for no defensible reason and entire projects are classified even though only a small part of them involves sensitive information."

The major universities should band together, the committee said, to press for declassification "to the absolute minimum consistent with national security."

IN EXPLAINING the recommendation that some classified research be permitted, the committee declared there "is not adequate justification for categorically banning classified research."

It said a ban would deny some staff members "freedom to choose the area of inquiry to which they wish to work." In some fields, it added, taking part in classified research "is vital to the professional development of the scholar."

REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE — Mrs. Cecelia Phelan (left), president of the Plymouth Area Republican Women's Club; 2nd District Congressman Marvin Esch, luncheon speaker; and Mrs. Isabelle Haynes, of Farmington, president of the Republican Women's Federation of Michigan, were among the leaders at the GOP State Central Committee's meeting in Plymouth last weekend.

Esch, Elly Prod Party On Crisis In Cities

By TIM RICHARD

An intense personal, as well as governmental, interest in urban problems was urged on Michigan's Republican leadership last weekend.

The prodgers were 2nd District Congressman Marvin Esch, of Ann Arbor, and GOP State Chairman Elly Peterson. Esch was luncheon keynote speaker as the GOP's top policy-making group held its weekend meeting in Plymouth. The meeting itself was devoted to unanimous approval of routine reports.

MRS. PETERSON, who is also a member of the Republican National Committee, was asked in an interview about criticism of National Chairman Ray Bliss by the Ripon Society, a group of young Republican intellectuals.

The Ripon Society, in a book entitled "From Disaster to Distinction," charged a year ago that Bliss was failing to redirect GOP attention to northern, urban and racial problems and had made too few changes from Goldwaterite Dean Burch's policies of aiming at the rural, southern and white vote.

Mrs. Peterson said that Bliss in the last six months had considerably "beefed-up" the organization's minorities division.

She also pointed to a seminar on urban problems which Republicans had conducted in Detroit.

The party's first lady state chairman added that the Ripon members seemed to have "something personal" against Bliss, who became national chairman after Barry Goldwater's massive 1964 defeat for the presidency.

ESCH FIRED UP the normally unemotional Republican leadership with his post-luncheon talk.

The "social crisis in the cities," he said, is the concern not only of government but of private individuals and private industry.

The freshman lawmaker said that what would prepare poor people for jobs wouldn't be "massive make-work" programs run federally, but cooperative efforts bringing in the resources and skills of private industry.

CONGRESSMAN ESCH

GOP Goal In '68: Hold State House, Save Five Congressmen

By DOUG JOHNSON
Staff Writer

Republicans will fight to keep the five "swing" congressional districts in 1968, hopefully bolstered by Gov. George Romney leading the national ticket.

That was the prediction from Republican State Chairman Elly Peterson as the GOP State Central Committee met in Plymouth last weekend.

The meeting, held in the Mayflower Hotel and Meeting House in Plymouth, represented something of a local triumph for local Republicans Bud Weber and Carl Pursell, who had invited the party's top policy-making body here.

THE FIVE KEY seats include two in Observerland—the 2nd District (including Redford, Livonia and Farmington) of Jack McDonald.

Other swing districts are the 3rd (Gary Brown of Kalamazoo), the 7th (Donald Riegle Jr. of Flint) and the 11th (Philip Ruppe of the Upper Peninsula). Each of the five was taken from a Democrat in the Romney sweep of 1966.

"Each of these men has kept in close touch with their districts," Mrs. Peterson said. "We will back them with money and organization, and I don't know of any primary opposition."

"We are determined to keep the marginal districts in 1968; I think each of the men have outstanding records."

PERHAPS ONE key to any Republican retention of the districts will be Romney's ability to personally help in the campaign. But Mrs. Peterson said he may be too busy.

"The question of how much the governor can help us hasn't been given too much thought. He covered the ground so well in 1966 the aura is still there. It will depend on how he is occupied outstate. If he comes through the New Hampshire and Wisconsin primaries, he will be very busy," she said. "It looks like chances are good," she added.

However, many Republicans feel the best thing Romney can do to help in Michigan is to lead the National ticket.

Either way, Mrs. Peterson said, he will do "what he can" with letters, tapes and photographs filling the gap for personal appearances.

IN OTHER RACES, the Michigan Republicans are "building a backlog of candidates," Mrs. Peterson explained. "And we plan to put more muscle behind them than ever before because we feel the time has come that the urban areas will turn our way. Even if we don't talk about winning we can talk about gaining."

Romney broke the myth that urban areas were solid Democratic, Mrs. Peterson said. He campaigned door-to-door for Anthony Licata, who in May 1967 won a seat in the Michigan House in an upset over James P. Hoffa in the Detroit 19th District. Licata won by a slim 168 votes.

Licata, and other state representatives, including Louis Schmidt of the 35th House District serving Livonia, face campaigns in 1968.

"We are already working on them. We picked up about 20 seats scattered all over the state in largely urban areas and they will be rough to keep," Mrs. Peterson admitted.

The GOP will try to retain the 56-54 split in the house in 1968, Mrs. Peterson said.

OVERRIDING the entire Michigan congressional and state house campaigns will be the national election.

"There is a general disenchantment with President Johnson, and it will seep down to other areas. But I don't want to be a part of any campaign against Johnson."

Mrs. Peterson has told her party workers to avoid negativism this year. "Don't conduct a campaign against Johnson and his obvious problems,"

The State Chairman forecast of possibility of the people "saying a pox on both houses" if the GOP spent its energy campaigning against Johnson.

"The people today are concerned and frightened, and they want the men who can answer their concern and dissolve their fright," she said.

Apply Now For Senior Tax Cut

It's time for persons seeking a property tax reduction under Michigan's Senior Citizen Homestead Tax Exemption Law to apply at their local assessor's office.

Last year this law meant an average saving per senior citizen of $95.88. The state spent $16 million reimbursing local units of government for the tax loss.

All eligible Michigan homeowners who are 65 years of age and over will need to file an affidavit for a tax reduction for their 1968 taxes. Those who applied last year must file again.

APPLICANTS MAY file between January 3 and sometime in March, a date set by each local assessor's office. There are no lien provisions attached to the Homestead Tax Exemption Act, and there will be no attempt by state or local governments to collect from the heirs or otherwise attach the property.

Michigan residents of more than five years, aged 65 or over, are eligible for the exemption if their homestead and real property tax value does not exceed $20,000, and their gross income does not top $5,000.

Each applicant must supply a deed, land contract, or mortgage; a birth certificate or other legal proof of age; a recent tax bill or bills for all real property owned; and his social security number.

Cost Of Inspection Up $4

ST. LOUIS—If you're the average American car owner, you can expect to pay upwards of $4 a year to have your vehicle inspected.

New federal auto safety standards demand some form of motor vehicle inspection in each state this year. The typical cost of such inspection, either in taxes or fees, would total $400 million or more across the country.

But most vehicle inspection experts can't tell you either how good their vehicle inspection is or what good it does.

Now this can be changed, according to James O'Day of the University of Michigan Highway Safety Research Institute, who told how to do so with an analytical "model".

A Plymouth resident, O'Day was head of the university's navigation and control systems laboratory at Willow Run before joining the Highway Safety Institute.

The model, or method of engineering analysis, allows vehicle inspection administrators to measure not only how valuable their inspection system is, but also what its defects are, and how it compares with other vehicle inspection systems. The model can also predict how changes in an inspection system will affect the condition of vehicles.

State Police Seeking More Trooper Recruits

With legislative approval to fill 225 more trooper positions, the Michigan State Police are intensifying recruiting in special efforts to reach that training goal by midyear, Col. Fredrick E. Davids, department director, announces.

Adding urgency to the project is the fact that the department's current waiting roster of approved candidates is nearly exhausted.

"This makes it an especially opportune time for qualified young men to apply for enlistment," Davids stressed, "I also want to emphasize that the State Police is an equal opportunity employer and is actively seeking candidates from all groups."

The director added that trooper pay has been greatly improved in recent years and that a proposed pay increase under consideration would become effective July 1. In addition, there are fringe benefits. Troopers do interesting, challenging work, he said, and the benefits and advantages of a trooper career make it one of the finest a young man can choose.

Present biweekly pay in the trooper class begins at $257.60 and through regular increases climbs to $361.60 after six years. The proposed increase would raise these biweekly scales respectively to $272.88 and $383.20. Trooper pay begins with the first day of recruit school.

The department's extra efforts in this intensified training program include a team of several specialist recruiters to expedite the field processing of candidates and the overlapping of recruit schools beginning in February. The 60th recruit class is now in training at East Lansing. Recruits are given 12 weeks of instruction in basic police work.

Eligible to apply for enlistment are young men, married or single, who are citizens of the United States, between 21 and 30 years of age, high school graduates, and at least 5 feet 9 inches tall with weight ranges of 150 to 230 pounds in proportion to height. They must be of good moral character and free of any serious arrest record.

Interested young men can apply at any State Police post or by writing to the Michigan

Civil Service Commission. Troopers work a 40-hour five-day week and get paid for overtime.

Household Expenses Slated To Rise 3% In 1968

The housewife will pay more for food in 1968 but her budget for the kitchen and family table will take much less than other household and living expenses, where increases are expected to be as much as 3 per cent higher.

This is the prediction of S. Kent Christensen, vice president and economist for the National Association of Food Chains.

CHRISTENSEN FORESEES an increase in prices for food at home of 2 to 3 per cent by the end of next year, due, the economist says, entirely to increasing costs in processing and distribution from inflation forces.

The latter, he sees, as "mainly of a labor 'cost-push' type, intensified by a massive increase in the Federal deficit."

He points out also, that the biggest unknown is the spending mood of the American public.

"Should consumers decide to unleash their spending power," he warns, "drawing on record savings, plus record current incomes, the intensity of overall, general inflation could become much more serious than that now anticipated. The impact of this on food prices could be substantial."

Christensen, like most economic forecasters, sees prices for the economy as a whole rising 3 to 4 per cent in 1968, nearly double the average rise in prices since 1950 with the exclusion of the sharp increase in the early phases of the Korean War, and three to four times greater than the average 1 per cent increase in the period 1957-1959 to 1967.

According to him, labor accounts for about 50 per cent of the cost of marketing food, and he says: "Overall, the wage increases granted to date and in prospect are nearly double the annual gains in national productivity. The result is cost-plus inflation - to the extent competition and/or consumer and business demand will permit wage increases to be passed along in higher prices."

CHRISTENSEN WARNS, also, that a change in consumer demand, purchasing power plus a willingness to buy, could drastically affect inflationary pressures. Overall price increases of around 3 per cent during 1967, he says, were tempered by a bountiful farm harvest and an unusually high rate of consumer saving.

"A return to the more normal rate of savings," he reports, "would up consumer spending by more than $5 billion annually. The consumer spending mood is the big unknown for 1968 and deserves very careful watching."

In his outlook for 1968, Christensen draws the following conclusions:

"Overall 1967 was a year of record agricultural output in both crops and livestock. The wheat and feed grain crops were the largest in history, assuring ample supplies and lower prices for feed ingredients for poultry, red meats and dairy producers through harvest time in 1968.

"Among the individual agricultural commodities there will be some increases and some decreases in volumes and prices relative to the same periods in 1967. However, the effect of change in the overall volume of products available for sale, at least in the first six to eight months of 1968, is not expected to change farm prices significantly. Abnormally good or bad weather in 1968, could, of course, materially affect fruit and vegetable prices in the summer and fall.

"Beef supplies remain strong and will be down only slightly if at all from 1967. Pork supplies will probably be up 1 per cent. Supplies of turkeys, broilers, and eggs likely will be down slightly, although very adequate. Milk production will be about the same as 1967. Fresh and processed vegetables will be in a stronger supply, while fresh and processed fruit will be in shorter supply. The change in fruit supplies is much larger than for any other product group, and will result in the largest change in price."

License Numbers Confusing

LANSING -- Check cashing businesses and banking agencies which use the Michigan driver license as official identification should make sure they put down the person's license number and not the accounting number which also appears prominently on the new color-photo licenses.

"The meaningful number for identification purposes is the one letter, 12-digit number which appears at the top left of the new licenses," explains Secretary of State James M. Hare.

A driver's record and other pertinent data is centered about this number.

"Apparently, some check-cashing businesses and banking institutions have mistakenly used the number which appears at the lower left of each new license. This is an internal accounting number used by the Michigan Department of State for distribution purposes. But because it is large and in red, it stands out and could be misconstrued as the license number," Hare noted.

The old style licenses do not present any problems because there is no accounting number on them, he said.

Ford Motor Company has begun offering more extensive tours of its auto assembly and steel operations in the world-famous Ford Rouge plant.

For the first time, Rouge tours will include final inspection as well as the assembly of new Ford Mustangs and Mercury Cougars.

Tours also have been extended to include the Rouge steel mills and metal stamping operations. Tours of Ford Motor Company computer operations also are offered by appointment. Large groups are asked to make advance reservations for Rouge tours.

Announces Scholarship

For the third successive year, the Ford Motor Company Fund is sponsoring a competition for automotive technology scholarships among children of more than 170,000 employees of Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealerships.

Approximately 100 scholarships will be awarded for two years of study at qualified junior colleges and technical institutes selected by the winners. The scholarships pay full tuition and provide an annual stipend toward room and board of $300 for students living at home and $750 for those living away from home. The fund also makes an annual contribution of $250 to the general education budgets of the institutions for each scholarship student in attendance.

Candidates must be graduated from a high school between September 1, 1965 and August 31, 1968, or must have been discharged or scheduled for discharge from active military service between September 1, 1966, and August 31, 1968. In the latter case, they may have graduated at any time. Applications must be submitted by April 1, 1968.

'Sexual Attitudes Shifting Rapidly'--Psychiatrist

ANN ARBOR -- Attitudes about sexuality are changing rapidly, and tomorrow's physician will have to be much more involved than today's in family planning, says a University of Michigan psychiatrist.

Dr. Stuart M. Finch, professor of psychiatry and chief of U-M's Children's Psychiatric Hospital, sees adults struggling with both old and new attitudes about sex.

"Sex has been looked upon as a necessary evil by a large proportion of our population almost since the beginning of our country's history," he observes. "To think that we can change such attitudes in the space of a few years is ridiculous."

"Young people feel the social pressures, but if they are emotionally mature they can make the right decisions," the psychiatrist said. "Sexual activity for the immature person will be somehow distorted. The mature person, on the other hand, may be able to handle the sexual and procreative side of his life reasonably well even though it does not conform to some of his culture's standards."

"FOR EXAMPLE, there is great pressure on many young girls in our society today to be promiscuous," Dr. Finch says. "Those who are mature and whose psychological growth has been adequate will probably resist this group pressure and behave in a socially acceptable fashion.

"For those who are immature, such pressures only aid and abet the already present tendency of the adolescent to act out."

"All physicians, including psychiatrists, will have to become much more aware of social and cultural influences. The world today is in an obvious period of transition, particularly in regard to sexuality. Nowhere is this more true than in our own country. One can only speculate on the contrast between the sexual attitudes and behavior of 40 years ago, and that of 40 years hence. Much has changed in the past 40 years, and certainly an equal amount of change will take place in the next 40 years."

DR. FINCH SAID that 40 years ago little if any sex education was provided to youngsters, either in the home, church, or school.

"Not infrequently, for instance, they were taught that masturbation was wicked and harmful. Today we are reaching literally millions of youngsters with some type of sex education, and it is relatively rare to hear masturbation condemned," he said. Nevertheless, the adults who are involved in sex education are products of the earlier generation. "They are still struggling with many of their own emotional roadblocks to a comfortable discussion of sex." "An example of our current paradoxical sex attitudes is that while we provide sex information to many youngsters both in schools and churches, we still deny it or at least give short shrift to it for many of those youngsters from low-economic levels who might need it most. They, after all, are apt to get less from their parents than our middle-class youngsters." "And the same holds true for general family planning advice to teenagers," says Dr. Finch.

WHAT TO BUY?? That's the question 348 Fisher Body and Chevrolet salaried employees in Livonia will be asking as they receive their share of $517,162 being paid out under terms of the General Motors Stock Purchase Plan. Chevrolet's assistant personnel director, Jack L. Gray, and stenographer, Miss Judy Laramie are considering taking vacation trips with their savings. GM's eligible employees received $2.66 for every dollar they saved under terms of the program.

GM Pays $117.8 Million In Area

General Motors made significant contributions to the Livonia area economy during 1967. Employee payrolls at the four General Motors facilities in the area totaled more than $117.8 million. An additional $119.8 million was paid to more than 1,500 firms in the area which supplied the plants with materials and services during the year.

Employees at the GM Chevrolet, Detroit Diesel, Fisher Body and GM Parts Division installations contributed more than $480,000 to the 1967 United Funds in communities where they reside.

In addition, workers purchased U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deductions valued at approximately $3.2 million. Employment at the four plants averaged over 13,000 during the year.

DURING 1967, GM awarded approximately $288,000 to employees for ideas submitted in the GM Suggestion Plan. Three of the program's top awards of $6,000 were given to Fisher Body employees, two to Chevrolet employees and one to a Detroit Diesel employee.

The 1.1 million square foot Fisher Body plant, located at 28400 Plymouth Road, fabricated nearly 1,125,000 sets of interior trim for GM cars during 1967. These included seat cushion covers, door trim pads, headlinings, sunshades, and the like.

The plant held an employee open house

last spring and, along with public tours, entertained a total of 4,500 visitors during the year. A weekly plant tour is available to the general public each Thursday at 1 p.m. The tour leaves from the main lobby and is about one hour in duration.

The Chevrolet plant, at 13000 Eckles Road, plays a major role in Chevrolet manufacturing. All springs and bumpers of current model Chevrolet passenger cars are produced there, as well as most of the service parts for Chevrolet truck and commercial vehicles. In addition, such parts as stabilizer bars, control arms, and various engine, bumper and spring mounting brackets are made at the plant.

Airlines Count Safety First

Airlines are more interested in changes which offer improved safety than those which may cut costs, a University of Michigan researcher reports.

Robert L. Thornton, research fellow in the Bureau of Business Research at the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration, found in a study of airlines that innovations designed to control costs ran a poor third in priority to changes made for safety or passenger convenience.

His interviews with airline people also "suggested that advisability might occasionally be given priority over cost control."

"WHEN ASKED To identify their primary incentive for change, almost all of the airlines cited safety," the U-M researcher states.

"Any innovation which offers significant safety improvements is usually evaluated with little consideration of cost, a fact which sometimes encourages a missionary to over-emphasize the safety aspects of a predominantly cost-motivated change."

Sixty-two per cent of the airlines queried considered passenger comfort and convenience to be second in importance. For example, Thornton says, schedule regularity is a means of cost reduction as well as an aspect of passenger convenience, but these airlines would give more attention to its impact upon sales than to its impact on costs.

Concerning advisability, Thornton says: "Certain highly visible features which could capture the imagination of the public might be adopted even though neither safety nor passenger convenience was really involved."

ONE AIRLINE executive cited weather radar in its early days as an example. At that time, weather radar was not reliable enough to constitute much of an advantage. Yet many airlines adopted the innovation before reliability had been achieved.

"Waiting for the improvement would have been cheaper and would have required no appreciable penalty in passenger comfort and safety," Thornton says. "However, the idea was very attractive to passengers, who could not know its shortcomings. Because of the advisability of weather radar, the airlines adopted the equipment in versions which were then technically unsatisfactory."

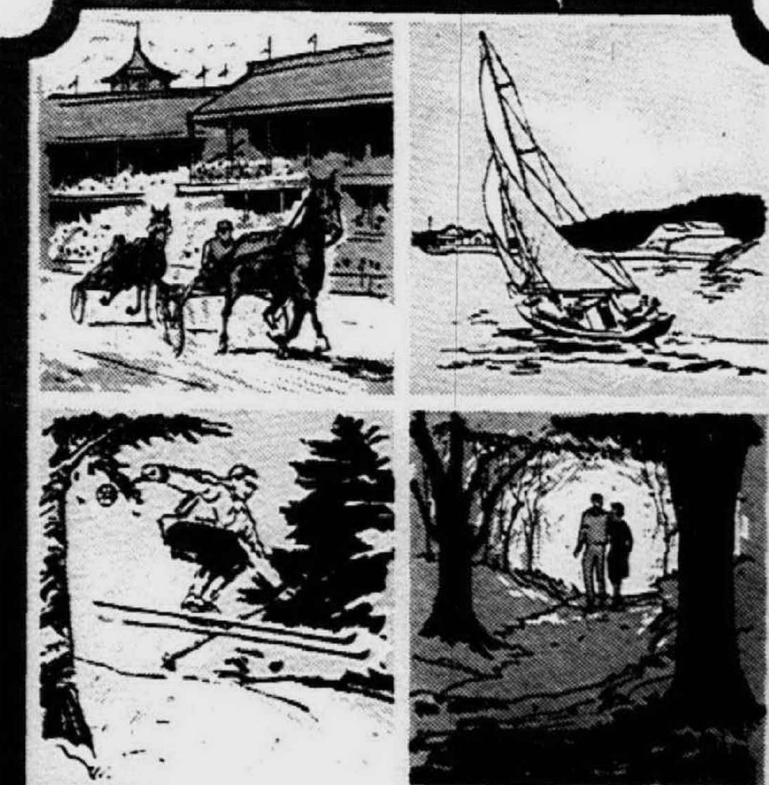

Thornton's statements, based on research done under a grant from the American Academy of Transportation, points out that since 1958 the air transportation industry has had wide experience of the benefits and the headaches which come with technological change.

Area Students Take Offices At Lawrence

Two area residents have been elected to offices in the various student organizations at Lawrence Institute of Technology.

For Retarded Children A Critical Need For Help, Homes

By Glenna Merillat

The Plymouth State Home and Training School, located at Sheldon and Five Mile Roads, has two critical service needs.

First, a concerted effort to increase the volunteer membership is being made by the Home's Auxiliary.

Second, a search for families who would serve as foster parents of the home's mentally retarded children is being conducted by the Social Work Department.

MRS. JOHN McIlhargie, volunteer coordinator of the Auxiliary, says:

"With another new resident building about to open and a recreation building scheduled for completion by next July, expanding facilities invariably necessitate a growing volunteer force to meet the needs of an expanding patient population."

Profound changes have taken place in the past few years in the treatment of the mentally retarded, but the most important ingredient is still dedication of man to help his fellow man.

Like other children, the retarded child responds and progresses more rapidly in an atmosphere of personal attention and affection. The more volunteers at the home, the more children who are ultimately able to return to the community.

The volunteer may choose from more than 40 areas of service. While most of these involve work with the children, volunteers may choose office work in one of the many departments or provide transportation to the various clinics within the institution.

A SECOND, equally important family care program is asking area residents to open their homes to the children who have received maximum benefit from the home and are now ready to receive the attention only a family experience can offer.

Denied this personal relationship and introduction to community living, some of the children would never achieve their highest potentials.

Several attractive, responsive and lively boys, ranging from 8 to 11 years old, are presently ready and in need of family life, special public school classes and community recreation facilities.

MRS. MARY LINDSAY, family care supervisor at the home, says:

"Placement in foster homes implies a responsibility to select those parents who will provide the children with a warm affectionate atmosphere for the enrichment of their social, emotional development and who will encourage and help a child become more self-sufficient and secure in the community."

Parents selected to participate in the program receive $4.50 per day for each child, and all clothing and medical care are provided. The foster home is licensed in accordance with state regulations for a boarding home.

teers and foster homes will continue to grow unless Observerland residents open their hearts and their homes to these children.

Those who can help may contact the Plymouth State Home, 453-1500, for further information.

AREA VOLUNTEERS AT PLYMOUTH STATE HOME -- Mrs. Thomas Turner of Plymouth, Mrs. P.J. Brancheau of Farmington, Mrs. John Hay of Redford, Mrs. Stuart Chipman of Livonia and Mrs. John McIlhargie of Plymouth represent four Observerland communities as they give their time and love to the children in the home.
