Bulletin

A suspected case of hepatitis involving a Cambridge Junior High School student in Garden City caused alarm among parents of an epidemic, but the later was ruled out late Friday by Acting Deputy Director George Pickett of the Wayne County Health Dept. "We don't believe the case is hepatitis," he told the Observer, "and, it is a very mild case involving one family. There hasn't been an epidemic of hepatitis in Wayne County since the 1950's," he added.

FARMINGTON — Necessary rezoning of 19 acres at Grand River and Halstead Rd. was approved by the city council this week to permit construction of a $5 million apartment, motel and shopping center complex.

REDFORD — Police are still searching for a young white man, about 5' 8", 150 pounds, with dark hair, who shot a 51-year-old service station attendant after ordering the victim to his knees. Cool conversation with the man was followed by a demand for money, a pistol whipping and then the single shot. Wounded in the face, the attendant is recovering satisfactorily.

LIVONIA — A wooden bridge crossed daily by 350 children at Botsford Elementary School, 19515 Lathers, was the subject of a dispute this week between an irritated group of Livonia mothers and the city council. Mothers said that to call the bridge and its steep eroded accesses hazardous was "putting it mildly." Councilmen took action to improve the crossing by regrading and black-topping.

LIVONIA — A meeting of the Livonia PTA Council and the 38 chapter presidents and their executive boards will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the board of education offices on Farmington at Five Mile. PTA officers will be briefed on the controversial non-public school aid bills now in the State House and Senate. Mrs. Andrew Varbedian, council president, said Friday the council is on record as opposing the non-public school state aid legislation.

Ten Turning Points In Plymouth History

City Historian's Choices

Speaking before the Rotary Club Friday, Sam Hudson, official historian of the City of Plymouth, listed what he termed "the 10 turning points" in the history of the Plymouth community.

Going into the most minute detail in his reasons for the selections he listed them as follows:

1. Selection of the name of Plymouth in 1827.
2. Establishment of Kellogg Park, known as Plymouth Green in 1835.
3. Establishment of city boundaries--no official date known.

4. Coming of the railroad in 1870.
5. One man's vote to bring about the Daisy Air Rifle Company.
6. The major fire of 1893.
7. Partition of Plymouth Township in 1898.
8. Arrival of Burroughs Corporation in 1937.
9. Extension of Detroit water lines to Plymouth Township in 1959.
10. Judge Victor Baum's ruling declaring part of city charter unconstitutional in 1967.

In naming the points, Hudson pointed out that there were other events that could be listed as important to the development of the area as we know it today. But, he said, he was just listing his choices.

Selection of the name "Plymouth" proved an interesting point as a starter. He revealed that on Feb. 26, 1827, in the home of John Tibbitts (now the Ralph Garber property on North Territorial Road) a group met to name the community. Up to this time various names had been used, or suggested. The intersection at Ann Arbor and Main Street was called Podunk. The section near Main and Mill was known as Joppa. And because of high interest in China at the time it was suggested that the area be known as Pekin.

At this point, according to Hudson, William Bartow, then a member of the Territorial Legislative Council, and later the first supervisor of the township proposed the name "Plymouth."

He explained that many of the first settlers had come from families located at, or near Plymouth Rock. The name "Plymouth" was then adopted and approved several months later by Gov. Lewis Cass.

Historian Hudson also called attention to the shortsightedness of the residents then in setting the boundaries and limiting the area.

But one of the real turning points, he claimed, came when Lewis Cass Hough cast the vote that kept the Plymouth Iron Windmill Company in operation, and set the stage for the Daisy Rifle Co.

30 Revisions Recommended By City Charter Commission

Thirty changes and revisions in the City of Plymouth charter have been recommended by the Charter Study Committee that has been at work on the document for the past few months.

"Many of the recommendations are being made for clarification of the language," Committee Chairman George Hudson who also is a member of the City Commission, explained in filing the lengthy report. Despite the numerous recommendations, however, the Committee decided against doing anything with Section 4.4 which deals with eligibility for office and which Circuit Judge Victor A. Baum declared unconstitutional early last spring.

It was as a result of a suit brought against the city by Rev. Peter Schweitzer after he had been denied a petition to seek a place on the ballot for election to the City Commission.

THIS SECTION specifies that to be eligible for office a person shall have been, for a period of two years prior to the date of his election or appointment to office, the owner of property located in and assessed for taxes by the city.

Since Judge Baum's ruling the City has protested and the case is now in the State Supreme Court awaiting action.

"We thought it best to await the decision of the Supreme Court," Chairman Hudson explained, "before we did anything about it. If the court upholds our protest the charter could be left as it is."

Of the many recommendations offered, Chairman Hudson explained that there were only about three that really were important.

"The first of these, and the most important," he said, "was Section 5.2 which deals with the terms of office."

"Under the present charter the newly elected commissioners take office on the Monday following the general election. Then, at the next regular meeting, the Commission organizes and elects the Mayor and the Mayor pro-tem."

"It is my contention, and that of the committee, that this provision leaves the city without a Mayor or Mayor pro-tem for the period of one week between taking office and organizing."

"We are recommending that the elected commissioners hold office until their successors are seated, and the commission organized."

The next most important, according to Hudson, deals with the appointment of non-residents to such groups as advisory committees.

"We could call on, and make use of, a great deal of talent if the charter were changed to permit such non-resident appointments," the chairman continued.

"This is especially true, because the City of Plymouth is confined to such a small area."

He pointed out that ownership of property within the city could be a major factor in determining such appointments.

The third most important change being recommended deals with tenure of office of the city officials.

Under the present charter the City Commissioners are limited to two consecutive terms.

Chairman Hudson, who has been elected to two-year terms in each of the last two elections, and therefore, is a "lame duck" pointed out that the charter specifies two terms, notwithstanding the fact that there are both two-year and four-year terms.

He stated that there was some feeling by members of the committee making the study that the limitations should be placed on the number of years and not the number of terms.

IN SUBMITTING the lengthy report, Hudson informed the Commission that it was the intent of the committee to suggest areas of the charter that needed consideration and that those items which the City Commission wishes to change should be referred to the proper administrative people for preparation and submission to the voters.

Before these changes can be placed on the ballot, however, there is a lengthy procedure to follow.

First, the City Commission must approve the changes. Then, the City Attorney must phrase them in the proper legal language. After this they must be submitted to the Governor of the State for his approval.

It is not until the Governor gives his approval that the suggested amendments can be placed before the people for a vote.

Aside from Commissioner Hudson, the others on the committee that made the study included former Mayor Richard Wernette, City Manager Richard Blodgett, City Clerk Gene Slider, Bill Hartmann, Art Shepard and John Ward.

Township Approves 196 Apartment Plan

Plymouth Township will soon have another complex of apartments, plus, possibly, two more automobile agencies as a result of action by the Plymouth Township Planning Commission.

The Commission has approved the rezoning of three parcels of land which surround the Plymouth Bowl and run along Plymouth and Haggerty Roads.

It changed the zoning of the corner lot and the two streets from M-1 (light manufacturing) to C-2 (commercial). The property is owned by Harold Fischer.

Fischer told the commission that he tentatively plans to have two car dealerships located on the parcel.

Also changed was a parcel directly below Fischer's lot from M-1 to R-2-A (garden apartment residential).

The property runs from the southern boundary of Fischer's site to Edward Hines Park and east from Haggerty Rd. to an existing apartment complex behind the bowling establishment.

Plans for the property, which is owned by Allan Tann, call for a 196-unit apartment complex with 70 one-bedroom and 120 two-bedroom apartments with parking for 419 cars.

The third parcel rezoned was the property directly behind the Plymouth Bowl, where the Plymouth Park Apartments already are located.

The commission changed the zoning from R-3 (multiple family residential) to R-2-A. They made this move to have the entire piece of land from Haggerty Rd. to the end of the Plymouth Park Apartments have the same zoning classification.

Fire Fighters Ask For Help

Plymouth Township Fire Department needs help--but not the usual kind.

It is looking for volunteers to operate the radio and answer the telephones in the different fire stations when the firemen are called out on a run.

Paul J. Albright, public services director, explained that if they have someone to handle the desk while the men are out, then they could free a trained firefighter to help fight a blaze.

Plane Tour Planned To Plymouth, England

In response to an invitation from His Worship Frank Chapman, Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, plans are now under way to sponsor a tour in 1970 for the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower.

While the plans, for the most part, are in the formative stage the wheels have been put into motion to arrange a mass air-lift for the celebration. And all residents of Plymouth and their friends will be invited to join in the party.

No specific date has been set for the tour, but it is anticipated that it will be in August of 1970. The actual anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower, is September 6. But, because of the necessity of having the children back in time for school and the annual Fall Festival, the August date is being considered.

The plans now being finalized call for the formation of a club, much like a Christmas Savings Club, with an initiation fee and monthly dues. The initiation fee has been set at $25, which will include the first month's dues. After this initial payment the monthly dues will be $15 per person for 30 months. This amounts to $450 and will cover your return air fare and the expenses incurred with all the planning and organizational work.

The dues will be deposited in a bank each month and the interest that will accrue over the next two and one half years will be used to stage a mammoth party in Plymouth, England, to which all of the government officials will be guests.

The club will start to function on March 1 and all information will be available at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. The Steering Committee planning the air lift consists of Harold Guenther, chairman, Carl Pursell, Don Sutherland, Tom Healey, Ralph Lorenz, Bill Scott, Perry Richwine and W.W. Edgar.

IT'S OFFICIAL NOW -- J. Arthur Milligan, who has been serving as Acting Postmaster in Plymouth since Oct. 16, 1965, now is the full-fledged postmaster. He is shown here receiving his official certificate from Bruce W. Baughman, (right), field officer of the United States Post Office Department, who is headquartered in Detroit.

Rossman Calls Emergency State Meeting On School Aid Measure

James Rossman, superintendent of the Plymouth Community School District, who also is president of the Michigan Association of School Administrators, has called an emergency meeting of the MASA to discuss the controversial school-aid bill going before the state legislature.

"I have called the meeting to be held in Lansing on Tuesday and Wednesday," Rossman said upon his arrival home from Atlantic City where he had been attending a convention of educators.

"We will go over the entire bill with the members of the Board of Directors and the 30 member Council," he continued, "and I will ask that they go on record with a statement by the time we adjourn Wednesday."

Asked his own reaction to the proposed bill, Rossman answered emphatically--

"I am a public school man and always have been. We have worked long and hard to establish larger school districts in the state for a more economical operation. Now, with the impending bill, the work will be for naught.

"Because of that I can not support the measure," he went on, then added, "but I would accept it--if it is passed."

Rossman pointed out that the measure strikes at the very foundation of the country.

"Our colonial forefathers," he said, "came over here to escape the church and state order of things--and now there are those who want us to go back to it. At least, that's what the measure means."

"I don't think tax money should be used to support more than the public school system," he continued, "and while the proposed measure doesn't mention them, the aid could be extended as far as beauty schools. I know the measure isn't meant for that--but it could happen."

The proposed bill, the first of its kind ever introduced in the United States, authorizes the State to grant parents $50 for each child in parochial and non-public elementary schools, and $100 for each child in non-public and parochial high schools.

Township Rejects Wolverine Industrial Park

One industrial park was approved while another was delayed in separate action by the Plymouth Township Planning Commission.

Gould Industrial Park, on Lilley and Ann Arbor Rd. in Plymouth Township, was given final approval.

The approval was held for more than a month because of a small lot, called Outlet A, that was included in the final plat plans.

The commission felt that the outlet could not be included properly in the final plat because the piece was not zoned for industry.

Consequently it was excluded as part of the plat.

In its approval, which is subject to confirmation by the township board, the commission said the final plat and protective covenants are included.

However, the commission refused to approve another industrial park on Sheldon Rd. north of Shearer Dr. and south of St. John's Seminary.

The commission soundly rejected the final plat of the developers of the proposed Wolverine Industrial Park because they had violated Ordinance 13--the subdivision ordinance.

For one thing, the park had not been approved by Herald Hamill, the township engineer, who said that the developers failed to show exactly where sewer and water lines would run.

Specifically, nine violations were discovered by Planning Consultants Waring & Johnson, who recommended that approval be withheld.

The consultants said that there had been no abstract of title certified to date and that no certificate had been furnished by the Wayne County Road Commission to show that the subdividers has complied with its requirements.

Said bonds will be dated March 1, 1968, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from one (1) to one thousand seven hundred (1,700), both inclusive, will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1%, or any combination thereof, the difference between the highest and lowest rates bid shall not exceed 2%. Said interest will be payable on the first day of November, 1968, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of May and November in each year. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and represented by one interest coupon for each coupon period, and all bonds maturing in the same year must carry the same interest rate. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially--as follows:

- $ 25,000 on May 1 of the year 1971;
- $250,000 on May 1 of the year 1972;
- $275,000 on May 1 of the year 1973;
- $300,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1974 and 1975;
- $325,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1976, 1977 and 1978;
- $350,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1979, 1980 and 1981;
- $375,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1982 and 1983;
- $400,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1984 and 1985;
- $425,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1986 and 1987;
- $450,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1988 and 1989;
- $475,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1990 and 1991;
- $525,000 on May 1 of the year 1992; and
- $550,000 on May 1 of the year 1993.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of the School District.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1971 to 1980, inclusive, are not subject to prior redemption.

The right is reserved of redeeming bonds maturing in the years 1981 to 1993, inclusive, at the option of the district, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after May 1, 1980, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows:

- 3% on each bond called for redemption prior to May 1, 1982;
- 2-1/2% on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1982, but prior to May 1, 1984;
- 2% on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1984, but prior to May 1, 1986;
- 1-1/2% on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1986, but prior to May 1, 1988;
- 1% on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1988, but prior to May 1, 1990;
- 1/2 of 1% on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1990, but prior to May 1, 1992

No premium on bonds called for redemption on or after May 1, 1992.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds, and in case of registered bonds thirty (30) days notice shall be given by mail to the registered holder at the registered address. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the School District has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping a high school building; constructing and equipping high school athletic fields; and developing and improving sites.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from April 1, 1968, to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the School District.

Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the School District, computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all the bonds or at a price less than 100% of their par value will be considered.

The bonds of this issue may be registrable as to principal only on books kept by the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 12, Part II, Act 269, Public Acts of Michigan, 1955, and the School District is authorized and required by law to levy upon all taxable property therein such ad valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay these bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

A certified or cashier's check in an amount of $170,000.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. Payment for said bonds shall be made in Federal Reserve Funds.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified approving opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddeck and Stone, Attorneys, 2500 Detroit Bank & Trust Building, Detroit, Michigan, a copy of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond, and the original of which will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds at the delivery thereof. The school district shall furnish bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be designated by the purchaser.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds".

The Stroller...

With all due regard for my many doctor friends who have been sounding warnings for years to take things easy... to avoid tension and try to escape pressure, I have tossed aside their tranquilizers and other preventatives for stomach ulcers, nervous rashes and just plain jitters.

It isn't that deadlines and the many other demands of the news gathering profession have been eliminated or that ways have been found, through such things as automation, to lighten the burden.

There still is nothing in the world hungrier than a newspaper press for no sooner is one edition out of the way than it is crying for another one. There is a great deal of truth to the old saying that there is nothing older than yesterday's newspaper, so the presses keep up a steady demand to be fed with the latest news of the day.

And never does a deadline approach without reason for tension. There is always the rush for the last minute story, or photograph, and with each one comes the opportunity for frayed nerves and the jittery feelings that often have left editors talking to themselves, and incoherently at that.

In the old days when there were several editions on each shift The Stroller developed an unusual way to break the tension. When things started to pile up and he could feel his nerves tighten, he'd place a fresh piece of paper in his typewriter and drop a note to his Mother. It was the finest way to calm nerves he ever had found—for no one can remain jittery and excited when writing to his mother.

But Mother is gone now—God rest her soul... and the pressures and tensions are still here. And there have been times when the doctors' words of warning were taken seriously. But now the tranquilizers have been put away.

They're no longer necessary, for in the mail this morning came the first of what surely will be a series of spring garden and flower catalogues.

No sooner had the Stroller opened them than he started to dream of the garden, the multi-colored flowers and the many other beauties listed on the pages.

There is nothing more soothing than just sitting dreaming—especially of the daffodils, petunias, roses, glads, snap dragons and the other wonders of nature.

So, Doc, you won't have to worry any more about pressure, tensions and the like as far as I am concerned, for all is well with the world.

The Stroller will take the garden book any time in preference to pills.

BARNUM'S SPIRIT CARRIES ON

Back at the turn of the century the late P. T. Barnum, part owner of the famed Barnum & Bailey Circus, made a fortune on his belief that "there is a sucker born every minute."

He lined the outside of the big tent with all sorts of side shows to attract the imagination of the gullible souls who placed their cash on the line and then went inside—only to be fooled by some sleight-of-hand trick or other.

Well, old P. T. is gone, but his spirit still is carrying on. In my mail this morning came a fancy invitation from one of the country's largest nurseries inviting The Stroller to accept appointment to the Board of Experimental specialists to help in the development of new roses.

"Because of your enthusiasm and experience in the growing of roses," it said, right there on the paper, "you have been chosen to act on our board of experts."

What a laugh! My experience! The Stroller never has attempted to raise more than a dozen rose plants a year—and few of them ever have survived the winter.

But the invitation went on, "your experience will aid us in the development of these roses that still are unnamed. And you will have the thrill of helping to create them."

Well, well, well. Then came the catch. In the small print it stated very simply that if you accepted, the plants would be sent to you at HALF PRICE, as a favor for turning in monthly reports.

Well, the Stroller isn't going to accept. They will have to get along without his experience. But he couldn't help thinking that old P.T. Barnum's spirit still is hovering around somewhere in that nursery.

THOUGHTS WHILE STROLLING

How did the Area Planning Commission ever arrive at that name for its organization? It doesn't do any planning. It is more of an industrial development group. Why not say so?

Wouldn't an appliance shop look good in the old D&C store on the corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street?

Plymouth is a great place to live. There is only one funeral home in the entire area.

Did you ever try to get your shoes shined in Plymouth? Shoe shine shops are scarcer than funeral homes.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

The years skip along easily enough—it is just the days that are tough.

Flare-Up On City Commission Could Be Blessing In Disguise

IT'S TIME TO CHANGE

The unfortunate flare-up between City Commissioners James McKeon and Arch Vallier during the public meeting last Monday night might be a blessing in disguise.

Their verbal battle—with no holds barred—was unfortunate in that it provided tangible evidence that conditions have come to that point on the City Commission that tempers flare in the open and grown men, with more than the average intelligence, act like youngsters.

It could be the silver lining in the dark cloud in that it could be the means by which a new order of things would be established and an effort made toward providing leadership.

The feud between the two commissioners has been smoldering for quite a while—and has its root in the seemingly unnecessary amount of time to get things done. This is especially true in obtaining reports of the various committees.

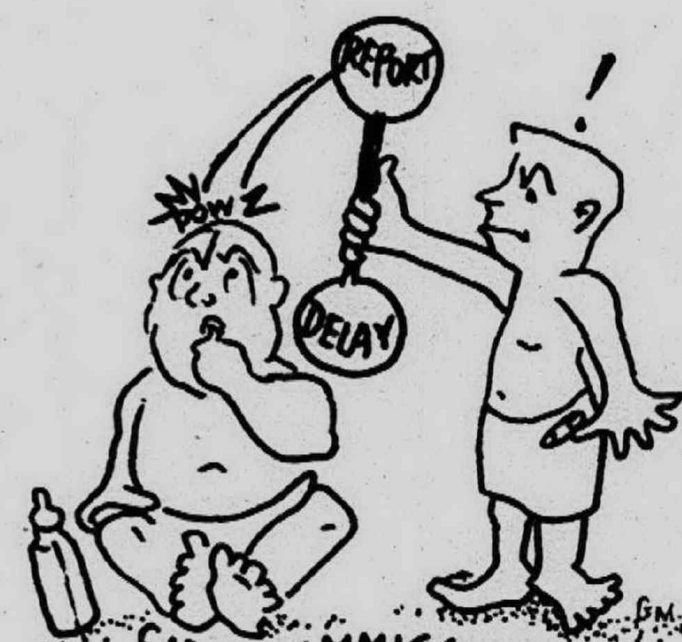

It is no secret that the Commission has gained a reputation as a burial ground for many movements that would be beneficial to the city. Subjects of importance are brought to the floor, then tabled for further study, or put on the shelf to gather dust.

One of these subjects is the study of the City of Plymouth water system.

The water system has been a controversial subject ever since it has been established. Complaint after complaint has been received regarding the rust in the water that makes it extremely difficult for the housewives on the days when they do the family wash.

Other complaints have piled up regarding the hardness of the water that makes it necessary to install softeners at added expense. Only a week ago a delegation of housewives visited City Hall to lodge their complaints with the water supply—and its rust.

Last fall, the Chamber of Commerce appealed to the city for information regarding the water problem and asked a voice in helping to solve the problem.

At the time, Commissioner Vallier stated openly that the Chamber officials didn't have the latest information and said, "I will bring you up to date in two weeks."

The two weeks expired and nothing happened.

When questioned, Commissioner Vallier answered that he was working with the engineers and that a full report would be made by the end of the year.

The old year faded out and still there was no word from the chairman.

There hasn't been a report yet. It is this fact that raised the ire of Commissioner McKeon. In his verbal blast last Monday he stated that he had been waiting for 25 months to get answers to the water question—and that he wanted them now in order that "we can do our home work and get the questions on the ballot, if necessary."

At this point, Commissioner Vallier, an individualist, retorted that "you'll get the report when I am ready to give it to you—and I won't be pressured into it."

It is his claim that there were some differences in the engineers reports that haven't been worked out and there are still some questions unresolved.

Fair enough. But reports could have been made. The Commission and the taxpayers are entitled to progress reports. There is no rhyme or reason to a system that permits long delays in committee reports.

The water report, while one of the most important, is not the only one that has been in preparation for months on end.

The Charter Study Committee has been almost as lax. It has been at work for months on end without a word being reported. Then, last Monday night, Commissioner Hudson dropped the lengthy report listing all manner of suggested changes on the table.

Up to this time there hadn't been a word from the committee.

It is such things that cause tempers to flare... and feuds to develop.

Both Commissioners McKeon and Vallier are intelligent men. Both show considerable enthusiasm for the work of the commission. This enthusiasm should not be stifled. It should be guided.

When men such as McKeon and Vallier fight in public it is a sign that something is wrong.

Possibly, much of it could be corrected if committees, at the time of appointment, were given instructions to report progress from time to time.

Your Opinion, Please

Congressman Esch Invites Guidance On Bills

Congressman Marvin L. Esch today announced the mailing of "Your Opinion, Please!" questionnaires to the residents of Michigan's Second Congressional District.

Businessmen To Hear About New Highways

How will the re-routing of M-14 and the construction of I-275 affect the Plymouth area? These questions have been asked ever since the final routes have been announced.

Part of the answer will be given at the monthly meeting of the Businessmen's Forum on March 7, when Robert S. Boatman, director of the transportation planning division of the State Highway Department, will appear as the main speaker.

The speaker has had wide experience in planning and once served as the technician on the Grand Rapids Commission.

The meeting is scheduled for the Meeting House at noon.

farm legislation. "I have included the same Vietnam question as last year in order to measure any shifts in popular opinion," the Congressman added.

"CERTAINLY this new questionnaire does not include all of the issues upon which I will have to vote," Esch explained, "nor does it spell out the many specifics of each problem. However, I have attempted to single out some of the most important areas and concerns."

Esch said the questionnaire was scheduled to be delivered to every home in the Second Congressional District, but that if persons fail to receive it they should write him for a copy care of the House Office Building, Washington, D.C. The authority for this postal patron mailing is found in 39 U.S. Code 4161 and regulations in Postal Manual 123,512 which permits U.S. Representatives to communicate with their constituents in this manner.

The Congressman indicated that he also makes an effort to stay in communication with Second District residents through frequent trips to Michigan, through meetings with community groups and through mail on specific legislative concerns.

Concert Of Jazz Tonight At Mercy

Music is the by-word at Our Lady of Mercy tonight (Sunday, Feb. 25) and again on March 3.

This evening brings a group of professional musicians to the school for the big annual OLM Jazz Concert at 8:15 p.m.

For the price of a $1.50 ticket, jazz buffs will be able to hear the orchestra from Detroit's Roostertail Restaurant, featuring Terry Harrington on the saxophone; the Jack Brookensha Quartet, the Chowcase-men and the Matt Michaels Trio, of Channel 7's Morning Show. The Mercyairees will also sing a couple of numbers to round out the evening's entertainment.

On March 3, OLM's 130-voice senior choir will join the 80-voice Catholic Central Boys Choir and the 80-voice Youth Choir of Westminster Presbyterian Church in an ecumenical concert called "Sing Praise to the Lord with One Voice."

The concert will take place at 7 p.m. in Westminster on Outer Drive, Detroit, and is free of charge.

A musical service of worship, the concert will conclude with the combined choirs singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The Gourmet Adventures of

Jack Pyle Opens At 24-Karat

Jack Pyle, versatile comedian, will make his debut at the 24 Karat Club, 16890 Telegraph at West McNichols, on Monday night, Feb. 26. His engagement is for one week.

Pyle, a professional performer, is one of the most unusual sight of hand artists in the business, a standup comedian and a mentalist of the first order.

Sharing the limelight with Rapp and Pyle are the Step Sisters, a song and dance duo who continue to be a hit attraction, and song stylist Pearl Mae. The Lennie Schick Trio continues to provide music for dancing and as background for the acts. Stage shows are at 8:30 p.m., 10 p.m. and 12:30 a.m. on Friday and Saturdays; and at 9:30 and 11:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Reservations are recommended.

.....OF DINING AND FINE WINE

BY STATON LORENZ Special Writer

"HOW NOW BROWN COW" When this writer was a boy, a Sunday drive past a farm would prompt the question, "Do brown cows give chocolate milk Daddy?" and the all too familiar answer was, "No, son, white milk comes from all cows... black, brown or spotted."

Confusing and mysterious perhaps to a little tyke but plain as black and white to "Daddy." Well Daddy, what of the wine you drink, "Is white wine made from all different colors of grapes?" What do you think, friends?

Wine, unlike milk, requires a substantial transitional period once extracted from its original source. During the first few days of the wine-making process, after the vintage (harvest), the freshly crushed and/or pressed grape juice begins to show its true color. Slip-skin grapes, the kind you squeeze and pop into your mouth while retaining the skin, such as the Concord, yield a nearly white juice yet the skin is blue.

This juice surprisingly will yield a white wine once fermented and cared for. Would you believe that a red wine too will result from the same juice...the only difference is that the skins must remain in contact with the juice to make red wine. "What?" you say, "Red wine from blue grapes?" You see, that powdery stuff one mistakes for spray on the skins is actually a natural yeast which reacts with the sugar in the fresh grape juice to produce alcohol and CO-2 in equal parts.

The alcohol resulting serves as a solvent for the pigments found (insoluble in water) in the velvet-like black lining of the skins and causes color to come to the fermenting mass (must). The longer the contact with the skins the deeper the color of the wine. Therefore, a brief contact of skins and juice would yield a light red or pink wine hence the term Rose wine.

Elements present within the skins contribute more than just color to a wine. Life-prolonging tannin, the bitter and often astringent taste found in coffee and tea, comes from these skins and enables a red wine to require more age to reach its prime.

Incidentally, green, pink, purple, black and pastel color grapes are not always used to or are capable of making just any color of wine. Individual taste, pigmentation, juice and blending characteristics require some grapes for many uses and others for limited, highly specialized blending and/or varietal type wines. One must remember, though, that certain grapes are more abundant or indigenous to an area, and therefore cheaper than the more recently developed and under-planted hybrid varieties of vines.

This is both the plight and blessing of American wineries for the flavor of NYS Champagne is the American favorite while California commands the devotion of the majority of our table wine drinkers even though all varieties of wine are produced in each area. Both of these regions are working feverishly on new wines for the ever-expanding American demand. Don't, however, look for a blue wine from those blue grapes.

'There's Romance To Wine...'

And Pop Go The Lorenzes

Staton Lorenz and his bride, Carolyn, will mark their first wedding anniversary March 3 in their home town of Plymouth. The celebration? A bottle of fine wine.

Traditional paper gifts for each other? Wine-bottle labels. And that's as fitting a fete as ever a cork was popped for.

Considered at the age of 27 an expert on the ways and bouquets of fine wines, Staton Lorenz makes his debut this month as a weekly columnist for the Observer Newspapers, Inc.

HIS CONTRIBUTION, "Of Dining and Fine Wine," will tell Mrs. Modern Homemaker how to diminish her liquor budget, expand her culinary talents and her wine vocabulary, and when the occasion arises, be the Pearl Mesta of Suburbia with the right wine at the right time.

"I take a great deal of satisfaction in showing people that a good bottle of wine can cost

Jazz Concert Planned At UM

A free public jazz concert will be sponsored by the Dearborn campus of the University of Michigan Monday, Feb. 26. The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the music room of the Fairlane Conference Center.

The Ron Brooks Ensemble will perform a wide range of jazz styles. This quintet has appeared in a number of nightclub engagements as well as presenting concerts for Wayne State University, the American Studies Association, Cranbrook, and the Detroit Board of Education.

Members of the quintet are: Ron Brooks, bass; Charles Moore, coronet; Leon Henderson, tenor sax; Danny Spencer, drums; and Kenneth Cox, piano.

Vienna Choir

The famed Vienna Choir Boys will appear Sunday, March 3, in the Ford Auditorium as a part of the current Christian Culture Series. Curtain time is 8:20 p.m.

under one dollar," Lorenz said. "For $3.25, you can have the finest available.

"I'll give short recipes for hors d'oeuvres and canapes made with wine; for wine punches and wine cocktails; tell what to serve when and with what course.

"I'll tell about cheeses to serve with wines and how to buy the best for less than American pasteurized process cheese from the grocery store.

"I'll show how champagne or Cold Duck can cost less and make an evening more festive than any amount of hard liquor you can serve."

Lorenz also plans through his column to pop a few bubble-like "mysteries" about wine: "I'll contradict many of those rules you see printed on wine charts," he said. "I'll show that red wine can go well with white meat--breast of turkey, for instance. I'll prove that wines with screw caps are by no means inferior to corked wines.

"AND I WILL emphasize that the quality of wine may not depend on the country or the cost. A lot of people think a good bottle of wine is an import that costs $11. In a course I teach, I never have the audience sample any wine that sells for more than $3.50 per bottle. The price of an imported wine is directly proportionate to its scarcity--it doesn't mean it's an excellent wine. American producers not only equal but surpass imported wines in many cases and their products cost from 1/2 to 1/3 as much."

Like the craftsman, teacher or dedicated businessman, Lorenz likes his subject and gets downright effervescent about it: "There's a feeling for wine," he says, "a combination of interest and knowledge. I have it. The trouble with most salesmen and store owners today is that they couldn't give any on the wine they're selling. They've probably never tasted it.

"There's romance to wine. It lends a special flair to any occasion. I'll venture everyone can remember the last time they had a glass of wine. They wouldn't remember the last time they had a glass of beer or a highball. There simply isn't much importance attached to drinking heavier beverages."

LORENZ, unlike some of his gourmet counterparts, will not dictate choice to his readers: "Taste is purely a matter of opinion. What's good to one person might taste like India ink to another. I just want to encourage people to sample enough wines to be able to choose their favorites. I hope to have a 'wine of the week' and explain each one in detail.

Staton Lorenz may have taste-tested more wines in his few years than most of us have sipped X brands of coffee.

A graduate of Cornell University in hotel administration, his palate was first wine-sensitized at the Finger Lakes wineries in New York State, where he traveled often with college friends.

His knowledge since has been gleaned from touring, tasting, testing.

Once a week the young Plymouthite attends a wine-tasting session in Detroit; at home, he tries to sample from six to eight different wines per week. And whenever he reads about a new wine, he buys and samples it.

"I NEVER STOP LEARNING," Lorenz said. "When I give a lecture, I never go without six or seven different re-

Top Side Of Life

By Rev. David Strang

What are young people asking for today? I mean, what kinds of questions are they seriously asking, and what kinds of answers do they expect?

I began to find out a few days ago when a Roman Catholic priest and I spent two hours sweating out answers to some of the questions 200 high school seniors were asking.

We went to a suburban high school at the request of a teacher who said, "Will you come and just talk with these kids?" We said, "Yes."

That was before we had a look at the questions. The students had prepared written pages of questions for us—at least 50 pages—as many as ten or 12 questions to a page. And there weren't any dumb questions, either (except maybe for the fellow who wanted to know if Adam had a navel).

THE QUESTIONS most frequently asked had to do with inter-racial marriage, race relations—in general, sex, drugs, Viet Nam, birth control, abortion, God, the church, morality, "The Graduate," marriage vows, and the ecumenical movement.

So we sat there, on a stage, the Priest and I, facing 200 high school youth. Frightening? You better believe it. One false move, one phony answer, and we would have been turned off and tuned out.

Which means that the only thing you can do at a time like that is to be honest.

Maybe that's all the kids are asking for anyway. Honesty. Not all the answers. Not agreement with their ideas and doubts. But honesty.

Certainly those kids don't want phony answers, or easy answers, or moralisms, or lectures. It isn't enough to say to them, "Go to church on Sunday, and be a nice kid."

It isn't enough to say, "Don't do mean and nasty things." Whether we adults realize it or not, most young people do care, (even the one who asked about Adam's navel), and they deserve honesty.

PERHAPS THAT'S what they haven't seen enough of from adults; maybe that's why a few of them are tuning out of our society. They have seen so much dishonesty that they begin to wonder whether it's all worth it.

Anyway, it was quite an experience fielding the questions of those people. And just in case you want to know what it was like, I'll throw in one of their questions.

How would you answer it—honestly: "What can the church do for a person who rejects society and doesn't want anything to do with it because of the limits it puts on one's individual beliefs toward life?" "Could the Peace Corps help in finding oneself? If the church can't help, who can? Where can you look for the answer?"

Baptist Church To Recognize Brigade Youths

The Calvary Baptist Church, 43065 Joy Road, will hold a recognition service Sunday, Feb. 25, at 7 p.m. for Christian Service Brigade Charter No. 1225.

Many young men have benefited from the Brigade since the chapter was chartered in 1957 and three have been awarded "The Herald of Christ Badge," the highest honor in this international organization.

THIS YEAR 44 boys are registered members of the Stockade which includes boys eight to 11 years of age and 20 boys between the ages of 12 and 18 are registered in the Battalion.

The Pinewood Derby highlighted the year's activities with model cars made and raced by members of the Stockade. The 1968 local derby winners were John Hawley, Jr., David Bingham and Tom Kelly in the eight and nine year old class.

Three brothers; Kevin, Kelly and Gary Snow were winners in the 10 to 11 year old competition. John Hawley, Jr. was awarded second place for the Builders and Gary Snow third place for the Sentinals in the Detroit area competition.

THE CALVARY BAPTIST Church Christian Service Brigade holds Stockade meetings each Wednesday night at 6:45 p.m. and Battalion meetings at 7 p.m. every Thursday night. All boys eight through 18 interested in the Brigade are invited to attend the meetings and apply for membership.

Women Hold World Day Of Prayer

The Plymouth Council of Church Women United will sponsor a "World Day of Prayer" on Friday, March 1, 1:30 p.m. in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

The same services, consisting of prayer and mission contributions, will be observed by Church Women United groups in 126 countries and territories throughout the world.

Mrs. David C. Schlick, chairman, and Mrs. Charles A. Ploughman, co-chairman, will be assisted by members of nine participating community churches.

St. John's Episcopal Church will provide music; the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, publicly; Assembly of God, Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, the First Baptist Church, the First Methodist Church, the First Presbyterian Church and St. Luke's Methodist Church will present the program.

Mrs. Samuel Volpe, soloist for the services, will be accompanied by Mrs. Francis Smith at the organ.

A tea, following the service will be held in Our Lady of Good Counsel church hall. Mrs. Theodore Matley is tea chairman.

Women of the Plymouth Community are invited to attend.

Minister To Leave In July

The First Methodist Church of Plymouth will lose Rev. Edward D. Pumphrey, Minister of Visitation, in July 1968.

Rev. Pumphrey announced recently that he has accepted the position of Supervisor of Social Service with Bronson Methodist Hospital in Kalamazoo and stated, "This position with Bronson is particularly exciting because the hospital does not have a Social Service Department and I have accepted the responsibility of establishing and directing one."

His new work will necessitate his resignation as a case worker for the Family Service of Metropolitan Detroit.

Student Art On Display In Detroit

The work of six Plymouth High School students recently has been accepted by the annual Scholastic High School Art competition.

The gold key was awarded a pencil drawing by Tori Ketchman, Batiks by Karen Schultz, Tom Elias and Tom Keltzman; a mixed media collage by Scott Lundquist; jewelry by David Kime and photographs by James Weed are presently on display at Crowley's in downtown Detroit.

Plymouth Girl Heads Sorority

Sharon Olin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo A. Grower of 397 Mrs. has been elected president of the Delta Zeta sorority on the Albion College campus.

As Delta Zeta's president Miss Olin will work closely with the college administration and other sororities. She is in her Junior year at Albion and is also a member of the Education Club.

Christian Survey Due In Plymouth

Pastor William K. Dennis, of the local Seventh Day Adventist Church, has organized a group of volunteers to make a Christian survey in Belleville, Wayne, Ypsilanti, and Plymouth.

"There is a decided trend away from primitive Christianity or basic neighborliness and a demonstration of love for our fellow man," states Pastor Dennis. This trend has apparently motivated the survey.

Pastor Dennis plans a series of weekly discussions dealing with present world conditions as related to Bible prophecy.

Lutheran Church Ushers Lenten Season

The Plymouth Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ will observe Lenten Devotions Wednesday, Feb. 28 and each following Wednesday evening at 7 p.m. during the Lenten season.

The theme, "A Passion Pilgrimage," will allow the congregation to travel in mind, heart and spirit to the scenes of Christ's sufferings.

Rev. David F. Romberg will present films from his travels in the Holy Land as part of the devotion.

The Plymouth community is invited to join the congregation as they celebrate this holy season in the new church chapel for the first time.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP BOARD OF TRUSTEES - REGULAR MEETING FEBRUARY 13, 1968

The meeting was called to order by the Supervisor at 8:00 p.m. All members were present.

The minutes of the Regular Meeting of Jan. 23, 1968, were accepted, upon the motion of Gene Overholt, supported by Dick Lauterbach, after a correction was made on page 8 (11-14). The second paragraph should be revised to read as follows: Mr. Hamill advised the Board that he recommended final acceptance and payment on the above-mentioned contract upon receipt of a release from the Wayne County Road Commission Maintenance Division; also a sworn statement that all bills incurred in connection with this project have been paid.

The Special Joint Meeting minutes of the Planning Commission and Board of Trustees held January 24, 1968, were unanimously accepted after adding the name of C. Johnson to the list present, upon a motion by Ralph Garber, supported by Gene Overholt.

Upon a motion by D. Lauterbach, supported by L. Norman, the minutes of the Special Joint Meeting of the Planning Commission and Board of Trustees held January 21, 1968, were accepted unanimously as presented.

The list of bills was unanimously approved as presented, upon a motion by Ralph Garber, supported by D. Lauterbach.

Opening of Bids for the "48" International Fire Truck.
Robert Widmaier, 321 Adams St., the only bidder, was awarded the bid for the 1968 International Fire Truck at his bid of $206,000 upon a motion by R. Garber, supported by G. Overholt, and unanimously approved.

Old Business — Earl J. Demel — Re: Supplement to present Dump Agreement. Upon a motion by L. Norman, supported by D. Lauterbach, the Board unanimously voted to adopt the supplement to the agreement between Joseph Szalay and Almeda Szalay and the Township of Plymouth relative to dumping rights and charges therefor.

Don Gargaro Company, Inc. — A motion by R. Garber was supported by Gene Overholt to approve payment in full for contract proposal "A" and "B" dated August 15, 1966, in the amount of $5,435.00. Carried unanimously.

Past Albright — Re: Hydrant Use and Sharing Rink Policy.
After much discussion on the proposed ordinance amendment, it was felt by the Board that the residents of the Township should have the privilege of obtaining water from the Township for certain needs, but that there should be some restrictions regarding fire hydrant use primarily for fire fighting.

Upon a motion by H. Richardson, supported by E. Holmes and unanimously approved, the Board members approved the policy submitted by Paul Albright, and adopted an amendment to Ordinance XXVI, known as XXVIA.

New Business — Charles E. Child, Secretary — Plymouth Township Planning Commission Re: Action taken at their meeting on January 17, 1968. It was moved by Gene Overholt, supported by Dick Lauterbach, that we accept the Planning Commission's recommendation to deny Mel Lake's Application No. 29 to rezone Lots 48, 49 and 50 on Schoolcraft (near Eckles) from R-1 to R-3. Carried unanimously.

Paul Albright — Re: Billing City of Detroit on the Special assist call on July 23, 1967. It was moved by H. Richardson, supported by R. Garber, that the Board accept the recommendation of the Public Service Director to demand payment for Invoice No. 13, dated September 13, 1967, in the amount of $3,625.00 submitted to Detroit. The motion was denied.

Helen Richardson — Re: Recommendation that Rita Brehmer be given a $200.00 annual increase, per the wage progression scale. It was moved by E. Holmes, supported by H. Richardson, that the Board accept the recommendation and Rita Brehmer be given a $200.00 annual increase per the wage progression scale. Carried unanimously.

Past Albright — Re: Requesting permission for Sgt. Knupp to attend a Fire Apparatus Seminar on Feb. 13, 14, 15, 1968. It was moved by H. Richardson and supported by L. Norman, that the Public Service Director's request be accepted and Sgt. Knupp be allowed to attend a Fire Apparatus Seminar on February 13, 14, and 15, 1968. Carried unanimously.

Carl Pursell — Re: Police Protection (Presentation of Basic Information). After reading the report and considering possible ways and means of reducing the crime rate, the Board decided to receive and file the report for further study. The members felt they should not make any decisions along this line until they have a chance to see the results of the unification study now in progress, but additional statistics should be obtained and studies continued in this area of police protection.

Elizabeth Holmes — Re: Approval of Estimate No. 2, Weissman Contracting Corp. Sanitary Sewer Main — Joy Road to Elementary No. 8 (Water & Sewer) Ann Arbor Road to Terry (Sewer), Hagerty and Five Mile (Water to St. Kenneth Church). Sewer to Elementary No. 9, also the Engineer's bill on same project. It was moved by H. Richardson, supported by D. Lauterbach, that the Board accept the recommendation of Mrs. Holmes and approve estimate No. 2, Weissman Contracting Corporation in the amount of $79,779.40; also the Engineer's bill in the amount of $5,528.79. Carried unanimously.

A motion to transfer $20,000 from certificates in the Water Dept. and $50,000 from certificates in the Sewer Dept. to the Construction Fund was made by Gene Overholt and supported by L. Norman. The motion carried unanimously.

John D. McEwen, Supervisor — Re: Recommending the appointment of Mr. C. Veach Sparks, 4854 Joy Road, to the Plymouth Township Board of Review to replace Mr. Walter Sumner, who resigned. It was moved by R. Garber, supported by E. Holmes, that we approve the Supervisor's recommendation and appoint C. Veach Sparks to the Board of Review. Carried unanimously.

John D. McEwen, Supervisor — Re: Recommending the appointment of Mr. Paul Albright, Public Service Director, as Civil Defense Director in conjunction with his other duties. It was moved by D. Lauterbach, supported by H. Richardson, that the Board approve the appointment of Robert Totten as temporary refrigeration inspector, effective Feb. 7, 1968 at 50 per cent of the permit fee. The motion carried unanimously.

John D. McEwen, Supervisor — Re: Appointment of Robert Totten as Temporary Refrigeration Inspector. It was moved by D. Lauterbach, supported by H. Richardson, that the Board approve the appointment of Robert Totten as temporary refrigeration inspector, effective Feb. 7, 1968 at 50 per cent of the permit fee. The motion carried unanimously.

Ralph W. Cole — Re: Ordinance No. 1 (Amendment with respect to fees). Upon a recommendation of the Township Attorney, who has represented the Township against O'Hara Catering, D. Lauterbach moved, supported by H. Richardson, that the Board amend Ordinance No. 1 by changing the fees from $100.00 to $22.00 for itinerant food vendors. Carried.

Ayes: Lauterbach, Richardson, Garber, Overholt, Norman.
Nays: Holmes.

The motion carried.

Discussion on Preliminary Draft of the Proposed Ordinance No. 14 and Zoning Map. Feeling that the time to suggest changes in the preliminary draft is now, while the Planning Commission is still in the process of studying the Ordinance, Ralph Garber made the motion, supported by Elizabeth Holmes, that the Board of Trustees adopt a resolution advising the Planning Commission that they feel a large portion of the agricultural district should be maintained. The motion carried.

A motion was made by Ralph Garber and supported by Louis Norman to adjourn the meeting. Supervisor McEwen adjourned the meeting at 12:15 p.m.

Approved,
JOHN D. McEWEN, Supervisor
Respectfully Submitted,
HELEN I. RICHARDSON, Clerk

SAVE 20% ON DRAPERY CLEANING DURING FEBRUARY

FINAL WEEK FOR SAVINGS

OFFER EXPIRES FEBRUARY 29

SLIP COVERS, BLANKETS and QUILTS INCLUDED

During the month of February, Tait's are offering a 20% discount on household cleaning — draperies, slip covers, and blankets.

In March and April, our plant operates at its highest level of volume. A large percentage of the volume is household. If you will send now, in our slower period, we will bill you at regular price less 20% discount.

We'll benefit by leveling our peak volume into the slower months — you'll get a substantial savings — plus the benefit of having your order handled with extra care since we have more than adequate time now.

At Tait's, your draperies are always carefully measured, gently cleaned by the Sanitone process, and returned to their original measurements. All draperies receive decorator folding for perfect hanging.

Tell It To Glenn

453-5500

They tell me that I've missed the hedgehog, ground hog, woodchuck or whatever they call that furry little animal that appears on the second day of February and is scared not by his pudgy little shadow—but by the various representatives of the press and television trying to capture him on film.

We already know that we won't see tulips right away and that the snow shovel shouldn't be put too far out of reach, but it also means that I've missed an opportunity to tell another "grandfather story"—which I will tell anyway.

Once upon a time, back around the turn of the century, my grandfather was out in the frozen fields of February or March, aimlessly exploring as only little boys of any century are able to do.

He spied a log and after poking around and under it discovered the winter home of two fat woodchucks in a very frozen state.

Intrigued by the fact that the chubby animals were completely oblivious of his presence he promptly picked them up, one under each arm and headed home with them.

Kitchens in those days were the hub of activity in a farm home, with a large woodburning stove in constant use. Without being noticed, grandfather placed his new found friends behind the stove.

It was very warm behind the stove. Soon all bedlam broke loose as the woodchucks thawed out and discovered that it was not only NOT spring—it was not even a proper winter, what with being inside a house and all.

The moral: if you want warmth early, thaw out a couple of woodchucks—you won't be able to sit down for a week!

Harlie (Buzz) Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Smith, 598 Ann, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Ohio Wesleyan University in December and will do his graduate work at the University of Michigan, specializing in audiology research.

Betty Korte, of 686 Maple, was recently honored by members of the Plymouth Community Fund Board of Directors at a breakfast in the Mayflower Hotel for her work as treasurer of the Fund.

They tell me that Betty is "retiring" from this position and that it's going to take two people to fill her shoes.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schoeneman of North Harvey will celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on Tuesday, Feb. 27—while vacationing in Jamaica. Congratulations!

They tell me that Sunday, March 10 is the day to lasso your family and treat them to a western-style beef dinner put on by the Plymouth VFW Auxiliary #6695. Dinners will be served between 1 p.m. and 4 p.m. in the VFW Hall, 1426 Mill St., Plymouth.

Mrs. Donald Urquhart entertained her Duplicate Bridge Club last Friday afternoon in her home on Palmer.

Attention mothers of engaged daughters—a trend may be in the making! They tell me that Mrs. W.R. Augustine of Joy Road, was hostess at a surprise "Mother of the Bride" shower for Mrs. Arthur Larson, whose daughter, Sue, plans a May wedding.

Mrs. Augustine was joined by 28 friends of the bride's mother with Mrs. Gerald Fischer, in town from Connecticut to wish the happy mother well.

Mrs. Richard Straub recently entertained the Study Club in her home on Ann.

They tell me that Mrs. Charles Thumme, formerly of Plymouth and now living with her son in Elkton, will be visiting friends here over the weekend. Mrs. Thumme will stay at the home of Mrs. Sam Davis and a party in her honor is planned Saturday evening.

Colony Swim Club Elects New Officers

The Colony Swim Club held its annual meeting recently and Charles McKinley, Robert Gottshall, Richard Tobin and Harvey Cooper will serve as new members of the Board of Directors.

Financial reports were read and plans made for the 1968 season. Mrs. John Jacobs, 453-1629, or Harvey Cooper, 453-4083, may be contacted regarding membership in the club, which is located on Beck Road.

Janet McCully Joins Sorority

Janet McCully, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. McCully, of 9352 Marilyn, was recently initiated into Alpha Phi Sorority.

Miss McCully is a freshman attending Adrian College and a member of the Artesian Swim Club.

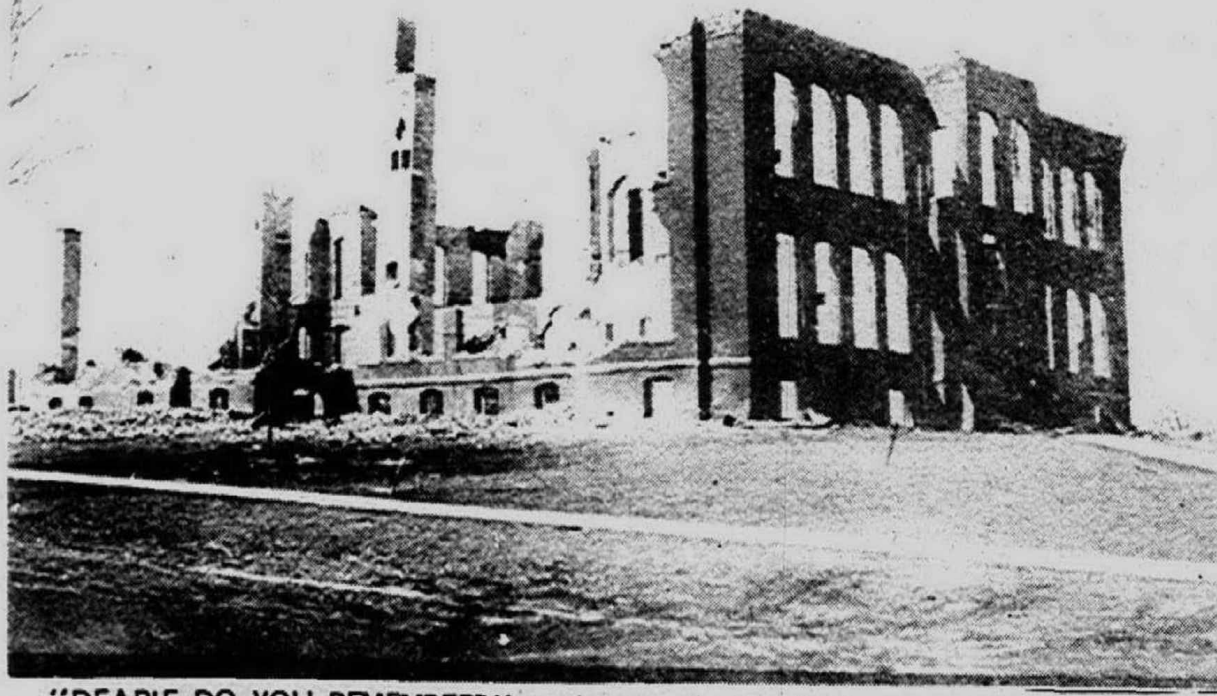

Historical Society Seeks Memories Of School Blaze

On Thursday, April 11, the Plymouth Historical Society will journey back through the years to a cold March night in 1916 when it studies the fire that destroyed the High School. Plymouth residents who have memories of the fire or its aftermath are invited to participate in this meeting.

PLYMOUTH'S FIRST school building, located where the present high school stands, originally was known as the Seminary building and was given in 1840 by Dr. E.J. Penniman as a memorial to his wife. The school opened in 1853 with three teachers in charge; C.A. Frisbee, Edward Adams, and Miss Sarah Shattuck.

In 1854 and 1855 the building underwent many additions and repairs and several years later was moved out onto the common near the Presbyterian church, placed upon a temporary foundation and used by the students and teachers while a new brick building was being constructed on the original site.

The new school was completed in 1884 and the old wooden seminary building was purchased by Marvin Berdan and moved to the rear of the Hotel Plymouth where for many years it served as a hotel barn and later housed the Plymouth Artificial Ice Co.

"DEARIE, DO YOU REMEMBER?" — then you're invited to attend the April meeting of the Plymouth Historical Society and recall the night of the high school fire and the days following.

In 1907 The school enrollment made it necessary to enlarge the building to nearly twice its original size and nine years later a blaze destroyed the building and students found themselves attending classes in the churches and factories of Plymouth. In the fall of 1917 a new school was again ready for use. That school is the nucleus of the one standing today.

Panhellenic Plans Bridge And Luncheon

The Plymouth City Panhellenic Association will hold its annual "Telephone Bridge" Thursday, Feb. 29.

Proceeds from the afternoon of cards will be used for the School Service Award presented to a high school girl for outstanding leadership and scholarship. Mrs. James Surratt and Mrs. Rodney Shroyer are co-hostesses for the event.

The club also has a "Bring Your Own Sandwich Luncheon" scheduled for Monday, March 4 at 12:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert Vorech, 1421 Hartsough. Mrs. Arthur Radcliffe, 453-6340, and Mrs. Robert Weideman, 455-0686, are luncheon hostesses.

The Plymouth City Panhellenic has recently elected its 1968 officers. Mrs. Robert Vorech (Delta Gama) is the club's newly elected president, with Mrs. John T. Mullin (Delta Delta) as vice-president, Mrs. William King (Kappa Alpha Theta) recording secretary and Mrs. George Bauer (Kappa Delta) treasurer.

Riots Triggered By Lower Middle Class, Not Riffraff

The conventional theory is that July Detroit riot was caused by "riff-raff"—poor, jobless single, juvenile Negroes.

It's wrong, says Irving J. Rubin, writing in the Feb. 22 issue of the Reporter magazine. Every bit of data points to a "lower middle - class rebellion" by working, married, adult Negroes.

Rubin picked up some of his data in his job as director of southeastern Michigan's TALUS (Transportation and Land Use Study). (In an interview with the Observer Newspapers, however, Rubin emphasized that he was writing on his own account, not in his TALUS role.) Other data came from arrest statistics gathered by the University of Detroit's Urban Law Center.

WAS POVERTY to blame? "The majority of the poor live in the deep core of the city, which was not the scene of the riots....Relatively few of them took part in the violence," Rubin writes.

Median Negro income in the riot areas was $6,200 per family, only a shade below the city wide Negro median of $6,400 and not much below the white figure of $6,800.

Nearly 77 per cent of the riot area Negro households had a male head; 40 per cent own or are buying their homes in the riot area compared to a citywide Negro figure of 45 per cent and a white figure of 69 per cent.

WERE YOUNG, jobless hoodlums to blame?

Arrest records, said Rubin, showed only 10 per cent were juveniles and only 18 per cent between ages 17 and 19.

The other 72 per cent were 20 years or older. Nearly a third were over 30.

The U-D figures showed that of 1,200 non-juvenile male arrestees, 83 per cent had jobs—most in unionized factories, indicating good incomes.

Were they criminally inclined? Two-thirds had never been convicted, and 20 per cent had only one criminal conviction. That leaves only about 13 per cent with more than one criminal conviction.

WHAT SHOULD be done about it?

Rubin says the conventional solutions—"jobs, housing, education"—would help the really poor, but "the overwhelming majority of the rioters had good jobs, few would be eligible for low-cost housing, and only a small proportion were of school age."

Rubin's proposals are for open housing, higher police pay and standards, neighborhood

Changes Location

Wayne State University's Centennial Concert has been moved to the Masonic Auditorium because of the ticket demand. The concert, by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, was originally scheduled for the Ford Auditorium. Concert time is 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 25.

organizations and district political representation on the council and school board.

He analyzes the riots as "an outburst of frustration over unmet demands for dignity and for economic and political power" by people who had the basic necessities and were ready to move upward, but were frustrated by a lack of equal opportunity.

Francescatti Is Soloist

Master violinist Zio Francescatti will be featured with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Feb. 29 and March 2 in the Ford Auditorium. Concert time is 8:30 p.m.

He will play Lalo's "Symphonie Espagnole." Paul Paray, conductor-emeritus, will be on the podium.

Also on the program will be Paray's Symphony No. 2 in A major and Henri Rabaud's tone poem "La Procession Nocturne."

Security Council Needed—Sen. Kuhn

State Sen. George W. Kuhn (R-West Bloomfield), member of the Senate investigating committee on crime and riots, has introduced legislation supported by 20 senators for the establishment of a State Internal Security Council comprised of key civilian law enforcement and military leaders of the state.

This group would function much like the U.S. National Security Council, which is designed to watch over and protect the security of the country, Kuhn said, adding:

"Today's complex and grave internal power struggles have been emerging relative to our urban crises and necessitates the closest security and surveillance of all extremist groups and individuals—be they white or black—who are now engaging or planning to engage in criminal activity.

"Further, we learned from last summer's riots the necessity for the utmost coordination and planning by all law enforcement agencies to effectively combat any future unrest that may develop.

"The last crisis proved to be a 'comedy of errors,' with each police agency 'passing the buck' as far as deployment of personnel and responsibility was concerned. The protection and security of public utilities such as electrical power plants, communications, water, gas, etc., are also of prime concern.

"I propose that this Council be composed of the following nine individuals: governor, state police commissioner; commander in chief of the Michigan National Guard; officer in charge of the FBI; state attorney general; two members of the Senate and two members of the House of Representatives," Kuhn said.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN'

Broadway and off-Broadway entertainment arrived in the form of two widely separated pieces of entertainment "George M", a new musical comedy, and "MacBird", a satirical jab at LBJ fresh from its year run off-Broadway.

"George M", overflowing with all the ragtime rhythms fathered so expertly by George M. Cohan, is a veritable cornucopia of corn at the Fisher, The Yankee Doodle man waves his flag and tries to tap dance his way into your heart. But to no avail.

Maybe as audience members we view the early vaudeville days as too artificial, too shallow. Vaudeville by its very nature depended on the quick short turn. The hoofers knew you never over-loaded the act. If you had a solid 20 minutes of material, you always kept the act moving as fast as you could and you only gave them 10 minutes.

A vaudeville show had no theme, no plot—merely variety and plenty of sparkle. It was like cotton candy, pretty to look at, but not too good for a steady diet.

"GEORGE M" has the same cotton candy malady. The plot is almost non-existent. It merely exists as a thin thread on which to string the pretty bauble-like songs of Mr. Cohan.

Choreographer-Director Joe Layton manages to keep your mind off this deficiency occasionally with some clever staging of the dance numbers.

Joel Grey in the lead does what he can, but his talent is not large enough. His minuscule physical size creates pity rather than the cockiness the part requires. The real George M. radiated charm in that contagious smile of his. Joel Grey has to work too hard and ends up with a dour characterization that casts a pall on the entire production.

FOUR OR FIVE miles in an easterly direction from the Fisher Theater a brighter piece of theatrical endeavor brightens up the east side of Detroit. The Court Theater opened "MacBird" this week for a long run. "MacBird" is having its mid-western premiere in the Waldorf School Auditorium, Charlevoix and Burns, by the Court Players. It's only a few minutes from Jefferson Avenue or the Ford Expressway. Call 822-6655 between 12-5 p.m. for reserved seat tickets.

"MacBird" just closed on off-Broadway after a controversial run of over 400 performances. The Court Players were lucky enough to obtain the rights for this extended run. What is the controversy in "MacBird"?

If you are a loyal fan of L.B.J. and admire his hawkish ways, if you feel his ways are saintly, or if you shudder at anyone poking a little fun at his Lady Bird, stay away from "MacBird". The evening is a gala, glorious grand debunking session. L.B.J. is the butt of the evening's fun.

OF COURSE, more is said in "MacBird" than a caustic ridiculing of our majestic Texan. "MacBird" comments quite cogently about the falseness found in most of our political shenanigans. Two hours of social satire provide considerable food for thought.

Director Clyde Vinson once again proves his competency with the brilliant ensemble acting of the Court Players. No one actor stands out. They work as an artistic team. The total impact of the play's message is the thing.

However, Fred Cahill as MacBird and William Patent as Robert Ken O'Dunc deserve special mention. Their accents were impeccable and their characterizations so realistic that they were at once frightening and fascinating.

Douglas Wisby's lighting effects and the original sound tapes from the off-Broadway production gave "MacBird" biting power.

Give yourself a real jolt and a jar by getting into the car some evening to see The Court Players in an electrifying production of "MacBird". Only in America could you have the privilege of seeing "MacBird".

Folk Singer To Appear In Junior Town Hall Series

Tom Glazer, popular singer of folk songs and ballads, will strum his guitar and take Detroit Junior Town Hall audiences through his entertaining repertoire of work songs, jail songs, songs of love, of the sea, and western trails, on Saturday, March 2.

Children and adults know Glazer through his recordings—"Ballads for the Age of Science," "Tom Glazer's Concert for Children" and the recent hit record "On Top of Spaghetti."

GLAZER HAS made numerous concert, radio and television appearances. For the award-winning movie "Face in the Crowd," he composed the songs and background music and collaborated with Budd Schulberg on the lyrics.

Painting Lecture

Scheduled

A lecture demonstration on painting at Mercy College will feature a wrecked automobile and several other projected images.

Ray F. Fleming, assistant professor of the Mercy Fine Arts Department, will conduct the demonstration Monday, Feb. 26.

The demonstration is intended to illustrate the artist's thinking in relation to the creative process, which in this instance is painting.

Open to the public, the lecture will begin at 8 p.m. in the East Ballroom of the Student-Conference Center, 8200 W. Outer Drive.

One of his recent projects was compiling "A New Treasury of Folk Songs" in paperback. His records for children have received Parents Magazine awards.

His special interest in folk music stemmed from his wartime assignment in Washington, where he became familiar with material in the Archives of American Folk Music at the Library of Congress. While there, he was honored by a request for two performances at the White House.

In post-war years he returned to New York, became active in radio and recording, and made his Town Hall debut in 1948.

FOR THE ENTERTAINMENT of children and adults, Tom Glazer will appear at the Detroit Institute of Arts auditorium Saturday, March 2 at 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Junior Town Hall programs are sponsored by the museum's Theatre Arts Department.

Tickets are available at the museum Ticket Office (832-2730), and Hudson's and Grinnell's.

Pair Are Backstage During CMU Play

Two Observerland students were employed on the production crew of the Central Michigan University production of the comedy "Barefoot in the Park."

They are: Larry Capo, a sophomore, of 33584 Longwood, Farmington; and Barbara Francis, a junior of 34051 N. Hampshire, Livonia. The production was staged Feb. 15 through 17 in Mt. Pleasant.

Erma Bombeck Stops For Coffee

BY MARGARET MILLER Women's Editor

In her column, Erma Bombeck seems to be matter-of-factly suburban housewife and mother with a terrific sense of humor who might be dropping in for coffee.

"My children don't read the column; it's on the editorial page."

When you meet her, you find she's a matter-of-factly suburban housewife with a terrific sense of humor who wish lived next door so she could drop in for coffee often.

Mrs. Bombeck, whose three-times-a-week column is syndicated in 135 daily newspapers, was speaker for the Livonia Town Hall Wednesday.

IN HER TALK at the Terrace Theater, and later answering questions at a Mayflower Meeting House celebrity luncheon, she kept the ladies chucking and roaring with an oral version of the columns that have had women across the country laughing at themselves for three years.

She said she considered the American housewives "among the most overworked and loneliest people in history," but made it clear her antidote for their troubles is humor.

She showed how by dissecting her own situation and adding a liberal dose of humor. For example:

Her limitations-- "I don't know how to stop the war in Vietnam. When my husband told me Taylor was there, I wondered if Burton went along with her.

"And I'm no feminist. If someone asked me what I was doing for my sex I'd probably say my husband gives at the office."

"My neighbors don't seem to recognize themselves."

HER HOME-- "We live in a cheap house, and when I needed room to write I put a makeshift desk at the end of the bed. My files spill into the bathroom. And if you don't believe that, the Internal Revenue department didn't either."

Her husband-- "He speaks six words a year, none to me, watches 163 football games, is attached to his car by an umbilical cord, and for Christmas gave me a gift certificate for a flu shot."

Her children-- "My husband and I would have separated long ago but neither of us wanted custody of the kids."

"My daughter wanted to let her hair grow, but I didn't know she meant all of it in front of her face. Did you ever follow an eyeball around the house?"

"We got some sea-horses to give my younger son some sex information. But we didn't realize the male sea-horse bears the young. Boy, is that kid mixed up!"

"MY THEORY about boys' bedrooms is that if you use enough incense, you can hold your own with the board of health."

The speaker said her book, "At Wit's End," seems to be "a well-kept secret--the libraries have waiting lists, and the bookstores don't have a single copy."

"Of course, I didn't get as many Christmas cards this year."

"It involves six depression cycles in a woman's year," she added. "They're two months long, which happily adds up to a year."

"I thought of putting in some sex, but didn't know how to handle it. I got my sex information by sneaking chances to read the Faith Baldwin and Kathleen Norris books my mother used to get out of the library."

The columnist said she enjoyed her television appearance with Johnny Carson-- "you talk about what he wants to talk about" and also a radio panel appearance in Denver.

The other panelists, she said, were a plastic surgeon, "I asked him if he made house calls," a psychiatrist-- "he asked me why I lie about my age," and physical fitness expert Debbie Drake "who lies down on the floor and the rest of her stands at attention."

"I felt like Twiggy's brother."

It's Easy To Go Hawaiian

By JOYCE TOTTEN

Imagine yourself wearing a fragrant flower lei, swaying to enchanting music, eating delicious Polynesian food, and surrounded with flowers and greenery. You are having the time of your life...at a Hawaiian party!

Why not make this dream come true by planning a Hawaiian party now? It's easier than you think, and your guests will love you for it!

While Hawaii has been our 50th state only nine years, its contribution to our cuisine goes back to the days of the first traders who reached our coasts with pineapple and coconuts.

Today the islands are populated by Americans of Oriental, Polynesian, European and Hawaiian descent. The blending of these cultures has created a cuisine unlike any on the mainland, the islanders' word for the other 49 states.

MOST FAMOUS of all meals in Hawaii is the luau. In olden days and even now at feasts, roast pig, Puaa Oma, is the main entree. Heated stones are placed inside and around the pig in a large open pit, which is then covered with leaves. The meat cooks all day, and the feasting begins in the late afternoon.

To a newcomer to Hawaii, many foods served at a luau are unusual. Poi, the slightly fermented paste made by pounding taro root, is traditionally eaten by dipping the fingers into the poi.

As in many of the Pacific island menus, baked bananas, yams and breadfruit and coconut or sweet potato puddings are common. Lomi, raw fish pickled with zippy juice of onion and fruit juices, is often served as an appetizer.

Tropical fruits present a wide gamut of colors, flavors and textures. Pineapples are, in fact, the sign of friendship. Natives once hung them beside their huts as an invitation to enter. Avocados, bananas, oranges, lemons, limes, grapefruit, coconuts, dates and figs can be incorporated in meals any time of day.

AMBROSIA

- 1 lge. fresh pineapple
 - 2 oranges
 - 2 fresh pears
 - 1 c. white cherries, stoned
 - 1 c. fresh strawberries
 - 1 c. seedless white grapes
 - 4 T. sugar
 - 3/4 c. sliced peaches
 - Juice of 2 lemons
 - 1 c. grated coconut
- Cut pineapple through the stem in half lengthwise. Be sure it is a fruit with fine unbroken leaves, as this is part of the decoration. With a sharp knife, cut out the hard center from each half and throw it away. Cut out the flesh carefully, leaving a thin layer of it next to the prickly husk, save the shells. A grapefruit knife is good for this. Cut flesh into small cubes; put the juice left in the plate aside in a cup. Mix all fruits together, but do not break the fruit. Add the sugar. Take the juice from the lemons and pour over the mixture along with part of the pineapple juice. Leave in the refrigerator 3 to 4 hours to chill. To serve, spoon the fruit into the pineapple shells; arrange on a large platter side by side.

AWAY DESSERTS

- #### WIKIWIKI WALK
- 1 8-oz pkg cream cheese
 - 1 c. milk
 - 3/4 c. crushed pineapple, drained
 - 1 pkg. instant vanilla pudding
 - 8 ice cream cone cups
- Soften cheese to room temperature. Gradually blend in 1/4 c. milk with mixer. Add remaining milk, pineapple and pudding mix; beat for 1 minute. Chill if desired. Just before serving, spoon into cone cups placed in muffin tins for support. Yield: 8 servings.

To add the Hawaiian touch to your tables...

Hawaii abounds in flowers so use them lavishly on your tables. Tables should be close to the floor so that your guests can sit on cushions or mats. Large plywood sheets with 4 books under each end serve the purpose admirably well. Ping pong tables and house doors removed from their hinges make good substitutes. Cover tables with tapa paper and green leaves, and crown them with mounds of fresh pineapple, green bananas, limes, shells, corals, net and flowers.

Couple Married In Hosanna Tabor Rites

Christine Susan Lishinski became the bride of David Carl Nitz in a candlelight ceremony in Hosanna Tabor Lutheran Church, Saturday, Feb. 3.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lishinski of Harrison Avenue, Livonia. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nitz of Detroit.

The Rev. Roy G. Pranschke officiated at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown of white peau de soie, with a high neck and yoke of embroidered lace and seed pearls, three-quarter length sleeves and a wateau train. A lace and pearl cap held her illusion veil. She carried pink roses and white orchids and carnations.

Lishinski, sister of the bride; Marsha Lishinski, and Cheryl Symons, cousins of the bride, and Pamela Lucas.

Their gowns were emerald green silk, with matching head pieces, and they carried pink roses and white carnations. Flower girl Debra Harbin, also the bride's cousin, wore an emerald green gown and carried a basket of pink roses and white carnations.

The bridegroom was assisted by his brother-in-law, Dr. Robert Baker, as best man. The ushers were Gary Lishinski, brother of the bride; Dennis Drew, cousin of the bride; Terry Lucas; Richard Mueller; and Douglass Lockhart.

The bride is a graduate of Schoolcraft Community College.

After the reception, the couple left for a honeymoon in Chicago. They will make their home in Livonia.

BARBARA KELLSTROM, maid of honor, wore a pale green silk A-line gown and carried pink roses and white carnations.

The bridesmaids were Diane

MRS. DAVID CARL NITZ
(Christine Susan Lishinski)

Madeline Price And Tom Newell Wed

Madeline Rae Price became the bride of Tom Alan Newell in a double-ring ceremony recently in North Farmington Baptist Church, with the Rev. Ralph C. Rideout officiating.

Parents of the couple of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Price, of Middle Belt, Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Newell, of Malden Avenue, Farmington.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet empire gown with scoop neckline and short sleeves appliqued with sprays of lace roses. Roses also decorated the long train, and a cluster of white velvet roses held her illusion veil. She carried roses with a camellia center.

HER JEWELRY was a silver chain and diamond and silver cross, a gift of the bridegroom.

Jean Gray was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Sandra Godfrey, the bride's cousin, and Carol Ber-nick. Kimberly Price, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid.

Assisting the bridegroom were Jim Smigelski, as best man, Dennis Kinsman and Tom Grey. Ushers were Herbert Price, brother of the bride, and Bill Newell and Michael Newell, brothers of the bridegroom.

A dinner for 200 guests in the IOOF Hall in Clarenceville followed the ceremony.

The couple honeymooned in Canada.

MICHAEL GODFREY, cousin of the bride, wore full-dress kilts and piped the couple out of the church following the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Newell and her husband both are graduates of Farmington High School. The bride also is a graduate of the Virginia Farrell Academy of Cosmetology, and the bridegroom a Purple Heart veteran of the Vietnam fighting.

NSH Patients Seek Stamps For X-Ray Unit

The Patients Council of Northville State Hospital, 41001 Seven Mile Road, Northville is undertaking a major project. It aims to collect sufficient trading stamps to replace an x-ray machine considered hazardous to the patients and labeled unsafe by the Michigan Health Department.

The Council decided to collect the necessary 15,000 books of trading stamps whose value, $45,000, will be the approximate cost of the x-ray unit.

Since the project was launched in January, patients, relatives, friends, staff members, and volunteers, as they have passed the many containers spread by the Council throughout the hospital, have deposited stamps totaling about 50 books.

Stamps may be mailed to Patients' Council, c/o Northville State Hospital, Or brought to the hospital and deposited in the special container in the main lobby of "A" Building. It was during meetings of Patient Council officers with hospital staff members that officers learned of this need. After sharing details at the Patient Council Meetings, its members accepted the responsibility of the project.

Awareness of the dangers of radiation to patients and the fact that lack of replacement of the antiquated present machine was one of the reasons the Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation recently reduced its usual approval from three years to one have added impetus.

Further, information about approval of a limited state budget this year is not optimistic. The fate of the request for a new x-ray machine could be the same as in the past few years--no approval.

Bagwell Will Address League

Paul D. Bagwell, former Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, will address the annual meeting of the Detroit League for the Handicapped at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 27, in the league's main building, 1401 Ash, Detroit. Tea will be served following the meeting.

Finlandia Women To Serve Dinner

The Finlandia Women's Organization will serve a "Laskiais Dinner" Sunday, Feb. 25, from 1 to 4 p.m. at Kaleva Hall, 14023 Puritan Avenue.

Traditional food, hernekeitto and lihakeitto, (pea soup and meat soup) will be served with coffee and pullaa.

Surveys show that the vast majority of Americans make several moves during a lifetime. So, chances are, your first home won't be your last. When it comes time to consider the rental or purchase of an apartment or house, study these timely signals. BUY WHAT YOU CAN AFFORD Many a dream home has turned into a financial nightmare because costs weren't calculated correctly. In addition to the down payment, consider the money required for preliminary and closing costs, mortgage payments, taxes, deeds, insurance, utilities and upkeep. Next, add the expenses for furnishings, appliances and landscaping. Then total up your monthly housing costs. LOOK AROUND A home is a major investment. When shopping around, check locations and compare neighborhoods. Ideally, the house should be accessible to transportation, schools, churches, shopping, recreation facilities and medical services. Check to see if the sidewalks, street lights, sewers and curbs are installed and paid for. LOOK AT THE BUILDING SITE, too. Quality of the soil, drainage, and exposure to wind, sun and shade are important considerations all year around. STUDY FOR SOUNDNESS Both brand-new and older dwellings should be checked for soundness of construction. (A spanking coat of paint sometimes can conceal shoddy materials and poor workmanship.)

When making additions or repairs, use the best quality materials you can afford. Good materials increase your own use and enjoyment. Finally here's an appropriate motto to hang over the hearth. Aesop, the creator of famous fables wrote: "Outside show is a poor substitute for inner worth."

GOLDEN TOUCH OF HOSPITALITY

BY JANE ASHLEY

Carnival Cakes Have Swiss Origin

Native to Switzerland is the carnival cake, sometimes called scrambled pancakes. They get the name wrinkled or scrambled from the way they look due to the way they are fried. The cakes are very thin rounds of dough which are fried in deep fat in a pan that is too small for the cakes. As it is fried, the edges of the cakes curl up and give the attractive curled appearance.

SWISS CARNIVAL CAKES

- 2 cups sifted flour
- ¼ cup corn starch
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 2 tablespoons light cream
- 1 tablespoon margarine, melted
- 1 teaspoon kirsch (optional)
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- 1 quart corn oil, for frying
- Confectioners sugar

Sift flour and corn starch together. Combine milk, cream, margarine, kirsch, salt and eggs; beat with rotary beater. Stir in flour mixture, mixing until dough forms. Knead on floured board or cloth until dough is smooth and elastic, about 5 minutes. Cover; let rest in warm place 30 minutes.

Divide into 16 equal parts. Roll out two parts to 3-inch circles on floured board, keeping other portions of dough covered. Sprinkle one circle generously with flour; place second circle on top. Roll out to thin circle, then carefully separate two pieces, over back of hand if necessary. Stretch, if needed, to form 7-inch circles. Dust off excess flour and place circles between two layers of clean cloth. Continue rolling until all 16 pieces of dough are thin, 7-inch circles; keep covered.

Then heat corn oil in deep skillet or large heavy saucepan to 375° F. (Oil must be at least 1 inch deep, but should not fill utensil more than ½ full). Drop two dough circles into hot oil, one at a time, and fry turning once, until light brown on both sides (about 2 minutes). Remove both cakes together; do not separate. Place in low temperature oven to keep warm, if desired. Continue frying until all cakes have been cooked. Dust with confectioners sugar before serving. Makes 8 cakes.

Music Boxes Are On Display

Music boxes from two noted collections are included in "The Wonderful World of Music Boxes" on display in the Industrial Hall of the Detroit Historical Museum until April 21. The exhibit features the Museum's Leonard N. Simons Collection which includes such splendid examples as a Baccarat Decanter incorporating an early cylinder movement, a product of Mermod Freres and one of Nicole Freres' (c. 1861-65) boxes distributed by Imhof and Mukle of London.

In contrast will be the gigantic, colossal and amazing Belgian Fair Organ that stands a good twelve feet wide and eight feet high and projects with an astonishing purity the tones of xylophone, drums, cymbals, organ pipes, trumpets, flute, castanets and violin!

THE DISPLAY includes traditional musical boxes such as cylinder examples by Samuel Troll Fils, and Charles Ullman and a Swiss "sublime harmonie." The versatile disc playing box, which heralded the golden age of "Regina" will also be seen in many forms. In all, 70 instruments will be shown.

Rounding out the exhibit and suggesting the stereophonic sound of the 1960's will be a selection of instruments inspired by Thomas Edison's invention of the phonograph.

You are invited to see and hear the "Wonderful World of Music Boxes" Tuesday through Sunday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Admission is free.

AND THERE will be the rare opportunity of seeing -- and hearing -- the prize mechanical musical boxes from the noted collection of Mr. and Mrs. Arch L. Rankin of Grosse Pointe. Among the choicest pieces is an early 19th century watch housing a minuscule musical movement that sounds the quarter hours and even plays a little tune each time another 60 minutes rolls around.

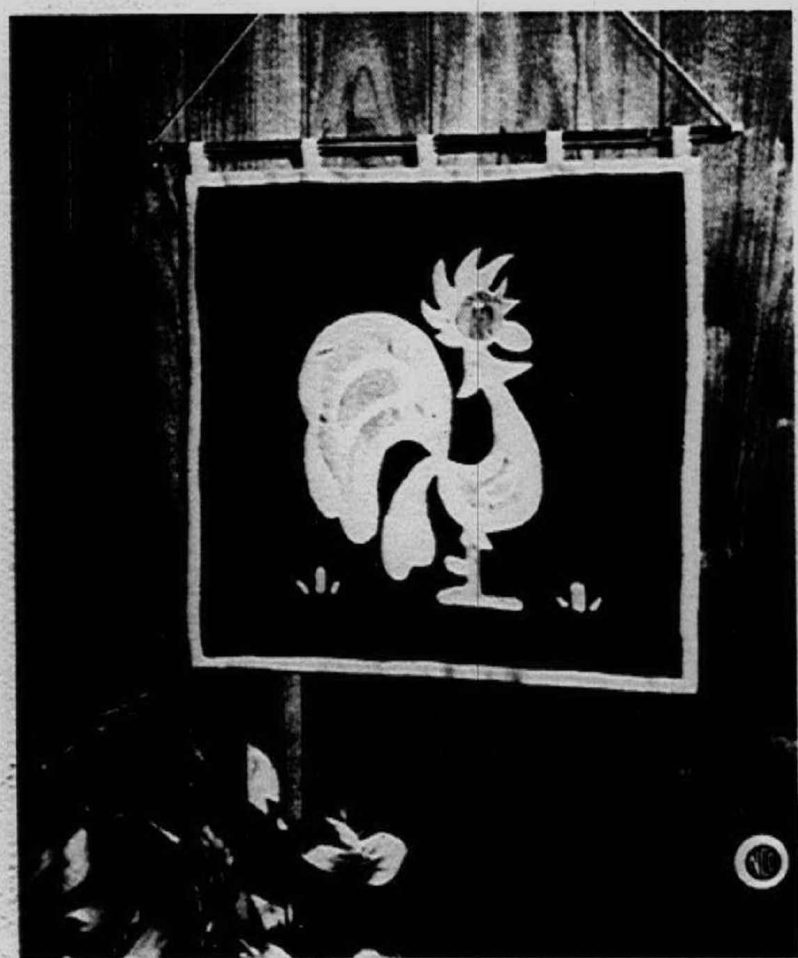

Orchestra Slates 1st '68 Concert

The first Wayne State University Symphony Orchestra concert of 1968 will be presented Tuesday, Feb. 27, at 8:30 p.m. in the Community Arts Auditorium on the WSU campus.

Dr. Morris Hochberg, associate professor of music and director of the WSU music program, will conduct the orchestra.

Clement Barone, Detroit Symphony Orchestra member, will be the featured soloist on the piccolo.

There is no charge for admission and the public is invited to attend.

FINISHED APPLIQUE -- Here's an example of San Blas or cut-away applique, turned into a colorful wall hanging. In this design, cotton squares of brown, gold, red, yellow and orange were used. The over-all finished wall hanging looks like a patchwork of bright-colored cottons.

First Time Since The '30s

Girls Sports Make A Comeback In Suburbia

Competitive sports for senior high girls are making a comeback after being dormant for more than 30 years. Although girls' athletics were never completely abolished by the Michigan High School Athletic Association, the programs did take a sudden drop in the early '30s when most high schools had varsity basketball teams which played on the same programs as the boys. There also were the popular tournaments, in which teams played as many as four games over a period of as few as 10 days, and which eventually led to the movement to bar varsity athletics for girls in the high schools.

THE RISE STARTED three or four years ago when Girls Athletic Associations in many of the area schools began scheduling basketball and swim meets on an informal basis.

The MHSAA stepped into the picture three years ago with an addition to the state rules covering activities of girls athletics and setting a guideline.

Thus when Plymouth and Livonia Bentley varsity and junior varsity teams met last week on the Livonia court for the mythical championship of the GAA teams in the Suburban Six League, it marked the first time since the '30s that a title had been at stake.

The MHSAA rules state that all games must be governed in the same manner as the varsity and junior varsity athletics — the schools must exchange eligibility lists, the games must be handled by registered, paid officials, and the teams must be coached by feminine members of the staff.

Under this code, teams from Plymouth, Livonia Bentley, Redford Union, Garden City East, John Glenn, Thurston and Ypsilanti have arranged regular schedules, starting this season.

THE BENTLEY-PLYMOUTH contests climaxed the league activities and found Bentley winning twice. The varsity whipped PHS, 36-19, and the jayvees romped to a 16-5 triumph.

The Livonia varsity went through the season with an unbeaten record and the jayvees won five of eight contests.

Both Bentley and Plymouth have scheduled games remaining, and won't end season play for another two weeks.

The Bentley varsity includes Gloria Houdeshell, Karen Jameson, Carolyn Paterson, Debby Stojanoff, Nancy Klein, Mickey Kocenda, Sally Goettelman, Mary Liddill and Nina Truchon.

The junior varsity lists Terri Pavlinski, Laura Toy, Marie Flanigan, Debbie McCune, Becky Adams, Carolyn Wood, Denise Rolfe, Mary Jo Jorgenson, Janie Holbert, Sue Genslak, Judy Frederige, Karen Bulke, Kathy Boone and Colleen Avery.

THE GIRLS' PROGRAM may be accelerated in the months to come and athletic directors are discussing plans of widening the scope to include golf and tennis in the spring, field hockey and swimming events in the fall.

Plymouth Athletic Director John Sandmann indicated his school is prepared to join in any of the activities and did have a field hockey team on an informal basis last fall.

"We are arranging schedules for the girls teams in the same manner as boys," he said. "Naturally, we have to follow the MHSAA code, but it does allow for a sports program which could be much more inclusive than that of years ago. Few schools had swim pools then, and golf and tennis were just coming to the front with the construction of tennis courts and numerous golf courses in the area.

"We believe this program, when finally developed, will bring girls athletics back to the prominence it held back in the early '30s."

HAIR FLIES HIGH as Bentley's Gloria Houdeshell prepares to pass ball to one of her teammates during the 36-19 victory over Plymouth.

EVEN THOUGH her hair is over her eyes, Plymouth's Bev Dundow (#2) manages to close in on Nancy Kline as she attempts to dribble away. That's Plymouth's Raina Smith helping her teammate check the Bentley star.

RACING UP to fight Plymouth's Barb Rickard for possession of a loose ball is Nancy Kline (23) of Bentley.

PLYMOUTH'S JUNIOR VARSITY nibble on bits of oranges during a rest period and receive instructions from the woman coach. The Jayvees did alright on defense but only scored five points in the 16-5 defeat.

Tigers Present 'Old Look' As Training Camp Opens

Special to Observer
 LAKELAND, Fla.—The new faces—at least any with established major league backgrounds—are few and far between in the Detroit Tigers camp.

enter their first weekend of the 1968 training season here at Marschall Stadium.
 The Tigers can't forget 1967 when they went down to the final game before they missed out on the flag.
 "The experience has to help us," says manager Mayo Smith. But the so-called "cruel" experts don't think the experience will HELP the Tigers.

 They see other teams, like Minnesota, Baltimore and even Chicago, as more serious contenders for the flag than either the Tigers or the Boston Red Sox, the latter in 100-1 winners in 1967.
 THE TIGERS basically are counting on the same faces to get the job done in '68.

 All of which means they still have a problem, although Smith disagrees, at shortstop and in the bullpen.
 Ray Oyler is still Smith's man at short, although Oyler was benched in the stretch drive in favor of Dick McAuliffe last season. McAuliffe was moved over from second base where he played most the '67 season and where he's slated to start this year.
 Norm Cash still rates the inside track at first base, although he had an off year in '67, and Don Wert is the top contender for third base again.

 The outfield again shapes as the Tigers' strongest suit with Al Kaline and a healthy Willie Horton (his foot has responded to surgery) available along with Jim Northrup, Gates Brown and Mickey Stanley.

 The Tigers in Bill Freehan boast the No. 1 catcher in baseball, but if something happens to Freehan, the Tigers have no capable substitute.
 ON PAPER, few teams boast a more solid pitching staff, when it comes to starters, Mickey Lolich, Denny McLain, Wilson and Joe Sparrang vs Detroit one of the strongest starting staffs in the majors.

 The bullpen remains the problem, although the Tigers feel that Dennis Ribaut, a product of the Detroit sandlots who was obtained from Pittsburgh, may plug the gap.

The Tigers have a squad of 40 in camp, although Lolich is expected to be lost for 15 days shortly because of military duties in the national guard.
 The Tigers start their exhibition schedule on March 9. A month later the regular-season opens against Boston at Tiger Stadium.

Bad Start Costly For Franklin

Basketball more than any other sport is a game of streaks. Teams have their hot spells and their cold ones.
 Franklin High was the victim of a chilly spree Tuesday with the result the Livonians found themselves out of contention early against Fordson and ended up a 77-53 loser.
 Despite the fact Franklin missed its first 11 shots, the team stood tied at 8-8 midway in the first quarter.
 Then, it happened.
 Fordson reeled off the next 13 points in the period and finished the initial eight minutes with an advantage.
 From then on, Franklin played Fordson fairly even, but it was too late.

FRANKLIN MANAGED only two baskets in the first period in its poor start.
 By halftime the score was 39-22 for Fordson.
 Doug Sutton had 10 points for Franklin and was the team's only player to hit double figures. Dennis Hopkins was next with seven.
 Brad Lyons, Chris Lang, Charles Wiggins and Dick McAdam each had six, while Mike Slavin and Jim Salter scored five each and Mike Newman two.

Plymouth Swims Past Bentley

Plymouth High's swimming team engineered a 60-44 victory over Bentley in a Suburban Six League swimming meet.
 Chick Porter paced the Rocks by winning the 50-yard free and also the 100-yard free. Dave Key of Bentley won the 200-yard free and then came back to take the 400-yard free. Porter's times were 23.9 and 50.1, Key's 1:57.6 and 4:13.1.
 Other winners:
 Medley relay: Plymouth (Mourth, Gotshalk, McCord, Norman). Time 1:46.8.
 Individual medley: Rianas (P). Time: 2:13.9.
 Diving: Auten (B).
 Butterfly: McCord (P). Time: 54.2 seconds.
 Back stroke: Notebaert (P). Time: 1:02.5.
 Breast stroke: Jepson (B). Time: 1:08.6.
 Free style relay: Plymouth (Osburn, Ehrenfeld, Tolley, Palmer). Time: 3:39.

Cycling Big In Holland

THE HAGUE—In a flat country like the Netherlands, cycling is more than a hobby; it is a vital part of the transportation system. More than six million bicycles are in use along with a million motorbikes, called mopeds or brommers. More than 100,000 bicycles and 150,000 mopeds were imported last year.

By George Maskin observing sports

Maybe what the world needs are more Indians and fewer chiefs.
 One couldn't help but get that impression during the past week in watching the various events in the Winter Olympics at Grenoble.
 In particular, there were the closing ceremonies when Americans marched along side of Russians, Germans with Japanese, etc.
 The little guys seem to get along wonderfully well. They battle each other in the true sense of sportsmanship — be it in hockey or skating or skiing — then show a warm friendship when it's all over.
 But, it's a different story with the big shots. They seem to be forever squabbling, which, perhaps, explains not only the arguments which marred the Games, but also the more serious troubles our world finds itself in today.

RON CANTERA, the able publicist of the Detroit Red Wings, passes along some interesting information in connection with the Wings' Oldtimers who'll be staging their annual charity game at Olympia this Sunday (today) at 2 p.m.
 Cantera notes that the ex-Wings collected some $13,600 from last year's game. Of this amount almost $10,000 was passed out to various youth hockey programs in the Detroit area.
 Leagues in Farmington, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth and Westland were among the benefactors.
 The Oldtimers also donated $2,500 to Children's Hospital to aid crippled children and another $1,000 to the Detroit Sports Broadcasters Association scholarship fund.

THE HOUR of suspense quickly is approaching for the 700 teams which will vie in this year's State High School Basketball tournament.
 Come Tuesday, the draws will take place for the various district tournaments.
 There is one major stipulation in the draw — a host school's team can't receive a first-round bye.
 This means that teams like North Farmington and Franklin, which will entertain Class A meets, must play in the opening action. It also means that to win the district, such teams usually must play in three games.
 Other teams can capture the crown by playing only twice.
 However, a change has been made should, say, Franklin make it to the regional scheduled at Franklin. In such a case, Franklin could be lucky enough to draw a bye — if that's the way the slips fall.

ON THE SUBJECT of the districts, we long have contended that the State Association should withhold assigning of teams until the season is well along.
 If this approach were followed, we think there would be less of a chance of one district being "loaded" with strong teams and another jammed with so-called mediocre or weaker sisters.
 Take, for example, the district coming up at Franklin.
 Why should Bentley and Garden City East both be in the same meet? Both are listed among the state's top 20 in the polls conducted by the Associated Press and United Press International.
 Yet there are nearby districts in which not a single rated team appears . . . nor even a champion.
 Oh, well, we've brought this subject up before and never have won.

HAPPY THOUGHT:
 With spring training underway in Florida, Arizona and California, warmer weather can't be too far away.
 FRIGID THOUGHT:
 Will Tiger Stadium be warmed up in time for the season's opener on April 9 with the Boston Red Sox?

Preps Awaiting Tourney Draws

This is the week that wraps up the regular season basketball activities for the state high school teams. After next Friday night's action, the preps will plunge into the state tournament which opens with district competition and then leads on to the regionals, the state quarters, the state semifinals and then the finals.

Who plays whom in the districts will be determined at draws to take place Tuesday morning.

The Observerland area spotlight will shine on district Class A tournaments to be held at North Farmington and Franklin. Bentley, the Suburban Six League champ, and Garden City East, winner of the Mid-Wayne loop flag, find themselves in the district at Franklin along with Stevenson, Franklin and Garden City West.

Plymouth, North Farmington, Farmington, Walled Lake, Redford Union and Thurston have been assigned to the district at Franklin.

IF THE LUCK of the draw prevails, the logical final at Franklin would match Bentley and Garden City East. Thurston which has clinched a share of the Northwest Suburban Loop flag, appears to be the top con-

Pistons Eye No. 200,000 On Sunday

The Detroit Pistons expect to achieve a pair of notable accomplishments Sunday when they entertain the New York Knicks at Cobo Arena at 2 p.m. The Pistons need fewer than 150 fans to set a record for most fans in one season in Detroit. The current mark of 193,782 was set last season.

At the same time the Pistons are shooting for their first 200,000 fan season since coming to the Motor City.

To mark the occasion, the Pistons will honor Fan No. 200,000 with special gifts, which include "A weekend on the town."

"We should hit 200,000 Sunday," said general manager Ed Coll. "If we don't, then we'll put off the festivities until next Friday when St. Louis comes to Cobo Arena."

The Pistons hold a 4-2 edge over the Knicks who have been booming along in recent weeks to seize third place in the Eastern Division standings.

Meantime, the Pistons have had their problems--problems which were climaxed Wednesday when center Joe Strawder was indefinitely suspended after missing practices and plane flights.

Area fans will get a chance to see the Pistons on television Saturday night against the Baltimore Bullets on Channel 50 at 8 p.m.

Cage, Puck Tilts Head TV Action

Basketball will share the spotlight with hockey on the weekend's television sports schedule.

Area fans can see no less than four cage encounters, including battles featuring the Detroit Pistons against Baltimore and the University of Detroit against DePaul.

In hockey, the sagging Toronto Maple Leafs will be seen against Boston Saturday night and against New York Sunday.

The Sunday slate includes a head-on basketball duel between Philadelphia and St. Louis, the two divisional leaders in the National Basketball Association.

The weekend TV schedule:

Saturday
BASKETBALL—DePaul vs U. of Detroit, Channel 7, 1:30 p.m.; Miami U. vs. Toledo, Channel 13, 1:30 p.m.; Ohio State vs. Purdue, Channel 4, 2 p.m.; Pistons vs. Baltimore, Channel 50, 8 p.m.

HOCKEY—Toronto vs. Boston, Channel 9, 8:30 p.m.

BOWLING—North Tampa Open, Channel 7, 3:30 p.m. Channel 7, 3:30 p.m.

Sunday
HOCKEY—Toronto vs. New York, Channel 2, 2 p.m.

BASKETBALL—Philadelphia vs. St. Louis, Channel 7, 2 p.m.; Goodyears vs. Zipcodes, Channel 50, 4 p.m.

Longest punt ever recorded by a Wayne State University football player is the 80-yarder booted by George Gembris vs. Akron in 1937.

COURAGEOUS CAGER is the description of Pat Devenny (right), of Livonia Bentley High. Although his left leg is withered from a childhood ailment, he has won a spot on the varsity squad and is shown stealing the ball from Allen Park's Mike Ferguson. Devenny is an excellent shot and doesn't allow the gimpy leg to bother him at all.

Better Year For U.S.

GRENOBLE, France--Norway the new king... an improvement for the United States... arguments...

These were the highlights of the 1968 Winter Olympics which ended here Sunday.

Norway dislodged Russia as No. 1 in the medal department by winning six gold, six silver and two bronze. The Russians, leaders four years ago, wound up second with 5-5-3.

The Americans improved on 1964, with one gold winner in Nancy Ann Fleming in figure skating, five silver and one bronze victors. Four years ago the Americans totaled only six medalists.

Of the five silver winners representing the U.S., two were Michiganders--Tim Woods of Bloomfield Hills in the figure skating and Terry McDermott of Birmingham in the 500-meter freeskating.

THERE WERE the usual arguments, among them the beef by Austrian Karl Schranz who said he shouldn't have been disqualified in the special slalom, thus making it possible for France's Jean-Claude Killy to become the only winner of three gold medals in the competition.

Purdue, Ohio Clash For Lead

What figured to be the "game-of-the-year" in the Big Ten basketball race was slated Saturday when Purdue battled Ohio State.

The game, to be televised on Channel 4 at 2 p.m., pitted Ohio's front-runners in the conference with a 7-3 record against the Boilermakers, who share second place with Iowa, with 6-3 marks.

If precedent means anything, Purdue will win, marking the third time in eight days a new team has led the league. Iowa was on top until Tuesday when Purdue dumped Iowa, 86-73, as sophomore star Rick Mount poured in 38 points.

Ohio ended a two-game losing streak with an 87-67 win over Northwestern.

Michigan State upped its Big Ten record to 4-5 by downing Indiana, 75-70. The Spartans broke a 55-55 tie in the second half and went on to win as Lee Lafayette led the way with 17 points, nine in the second half.

More trouble plagued Michigan's Wolverines, who were downed by Illinois, 72-64. Twice in the game Michigan went four minutes without a basket. The loss dropped the Wolverines into the Big Ten cellar with a 2-8 record. Dennis Stewart topped the winners with 19 points.

The Big Ten standings:

Ohio State	W	L	Pct.
Purdue	7	3	.700
Iowa	6	3	.667
Northwestern	6	4	.600
Wisconsin	5	4	.556
Illinois	5	4	.556
Michigan State	4	5	.444
Indiana	3	6	.333
Minnesota	3	7	.300
Michigan	2	8	.200

Hunting, Fishing Taper Off

Little hunting and fishing activity were reported during the last week, according to the State Conservation Dept.'s district office at Pontiac.

Water in most lakes has been roily due to recent rains.

Bluegills were biting on Pontiac, Duck, White and Middle Straits lakes. Pair catches of perch were made near Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair.

No trout activity was reported.

Pre-Games Track Fever

Pre Olympic track and field interest will reign in Detroit March 15 and 16 when the city hosts the national intercollegiate indoor championships for the fourth successive year.

Led by the sensational Kansas runner, Jim Ryun, who ran a 3:58.6 mile here last year, the elite of America's Olympic hopefuls will gather for a two-day assault on the record book in Cobo Arena as a major stepping stone on the way to Mexico City.

It will be from this brilliant array of some 300 athletes that the United States will form the nucleus of its 1968 Olympic track and field forces. Ryun, Villanova's Dave Patrick Tennessee's Richmond

RU's Haltom Sets New Swim Mark

Redford Union High's swimming team found Franklin little trouble as the Townshippers breezed to a 67-38 victory in a dual meet.

The Redford team won all but two events--the 200 and 400-yard freestyle races in which Greg Anderson beat the field home each time.

Anderson's time was 1:55.8 in the shorter race and 4:20.5 in the longer grind.

Highlighting the victory parade for RU was Jerry Haltom, who chalked up another new varsity record when he captured the individual medley in 2:11.9 to eclipse his own mark of 2:13.2.

SUZIE LA FEUER improves the Bentley Bulldogs to win and clinch the Suburban Six League championship. She joined the other members of the varsity cheerleading in building up spirit for the home club. The cheers worked--Bentley won and took the league crown for the second time in three years.

Haltom also won the butterfly with a time of 58.1 seconds and along with Ray Woods shared honors for RU. Woods took the 50-yard freestyle in 24.1 seconds and came back with a triumph in the 100-yard dash with a time of 53.8 seconds.

Other winners for Redford Union:

Medley relay--Gary Myers, Rod Charles, Ralph Mullen and Randy Link. Time: 1:53.1.

Diving--Richard deManico.

Backstroke--Myers. Time: 1:04.2.

Breaststroke -- Charles. Time: 1:08.2.

Freestyle relay--Bob Ringel, Link, Mullen and Mike Masterson. Time: 3:43.3.

REDFORD UNION followed up the Franklin win by routing Belleville, 68-36, as Gary Myers and Jerry Haltom led the way with a pair of triumphs.

Livonians Near Marks With Wings No. 1 Houston Picked For NCAA Cage Meet

Major career milestones are within striking distance this season for four Detroit Red Wings players.

Floyd Smith, Norm Ullman, Capt. Alex Delvecchio and Dean Prentice all are due to reach key points in their careers before the current season ends. Ullman and Delvecchio live in Livonia.

Smith, who played his 400th NHL game Saturday, is just two goals shy of 100. The 32-year-old right winger has 18 goals this season--third-high on the Detroit club--and is shooting for his second 20-goal season in the NHL.

Ullman has 27 goals--his 11th straight season over 20 goals--and needs just three more to tie Nels Stewart for ninth place on the all-time NHL list with 324 goals.

To nobody's surprise, No. 1 ranked Houston was invited and promptly accepted an at-large spot in the forthcoming NCAA basketball tournament.

Eight other teams also were picked--among them St. John's, St. Bonaventure and the Ivy League champ--to go along with 14 other league kings which automatically qualify.

The loop winners are expected to include UCLA, the 1967 NCAA king, which rates No. 2 behind Houston and all but has locked up the Pacific Coast flag.

The Big 10 winners also move directly into the NCAA.

Three teams--Army, Fordham and Oklahoma City--have accepted invitations to play in the National Invitational Tournament to be played in New York.

B, Detroit All Saints in Class C and Ewen-Trout Creek in Class D.

Garden City East ranks No. 16 and Bentley of Livonia No. 18 in the "A" rankings.

THE PROFESSIONAL golfers will be shooting for a record loot of $5,392,416 this year.

A list of 25 spring and summer tournaments has been announced beginning with the Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas, April 18-21. The pros will make their annual visit to Michigan to play in the Buick Open at Warwick Hills near Flint on July 4-7.

THE COUNTRIES boycotting the Summer Olympics because of the readmission of South Africa has jumped to 14 with the Soviet Union indicating it might follow suit.

South Africa was suspended in 1963 because of racial policies. The country was reinstated last week after giving assurances it would field an integrated team.

THE NATIONAL Hockey League has shifted its format for the annual all-star game. Next season the best of the Eastern Division will meet the best of the West...or the best of the old established teams (East) will clash with the best from the expansion teams which operate in the West.

Heretofore, the defending Stanley Cup champs have gone against a team of stars from the entire league.

THE FIRST RACE at the new Michigan International Speedway, being built in the Irish Hills, is set for Oct. 6.

DELVECCHIO IS FIVE goals away from scoring the 350th goal of his career, a milestone reached by only six others in league history.

Plymouth Township Home Rinks Doomed

A revision to the ordinance governing use of fire hydrants in Plymouth Township was approved by the board of Trustees Tuesday night—and, in effect, prohibits them being used for making ice skating rinks in back yards.

Under the new plan anyone who wants to use a hydrant for any reason must have permission from the township and the fire department.

The requesting user must also post a $25 deposit at the time he is given permission. The deposit will not be returned if the hydrant was improperly used or any of the equipment was broken.

Also, a $2.50 fee must now be paid to offset the cost of the township furnishing an inspector to keep track of the hydrant and the user.

Once the inspector, who will be one of the township firemen, gives his approval the deposit will be returned.

Dog Shot Fees Stir Argument

Whether Plymouth Township residents will be able to have their dogs inoculated against rabies at $3 each is a moot question.

The Board of Trustees was informed by letter that the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association was strongly opposed to clinics that were held once a year by a private animal doctor. He was not identified.

The going price for rabies vaccination is $5 a dog, the letter said, and besides the jobs should be spread around to the various doctors in the community.

The animal doctor who had conducted the clinics told the board that he would respect the wishes of the association and would no longer conduct the Saturday clinics.

Trustee Ralph Garber said he felt this move by the association was rather arbitrary and unfair.

"After all, even though the shots are given to dogs, the inoculation protects people from contracting rabies from a dog's bite," he pointed out.

Supervisor John McEwen took final action and requested the clerk to find another veterinary who will conduct the clinic as in the past.

Canopy Snarled In Red Tape

The wheels of the Gods may grind slowly, but they don't compare with the untangling of red tape that is required before such a simple thing as a covered sidewalk can be constructed.

Merchants on Ann Arbor Trail found this out in their plan to present something different and attractive to help revitalize the downtown area. Several months ago they agreed on a design for the canopy and covered walks. An architect was hired and his plan was accepted.

But this was just the start. Because of the city's rules and regulations nothing can proceed from any building more than 18 inches. So the Planning Commission has to give its approval to the new plan.

Next, the canopy and cover need support so posts are required in the sidewalk. This means that the City Commission must give its authority.

And because Ann Arbor Trail is under the jurisdiction of Wayne County, the consent of the County Road Commission had to be obtained, to say nothing of the building and fire inspectors.

The Commission started the ball rolling toward approval Monday night when, at the suggestion of the City Manager, the entire plan was turned over to the Planning Commission.

School Year Study Plans Set

The 22-member Extended School Year Study Committee for the Plymouth Community School District has appointed three subcommittees in an effort to lighten the work load on the committee as a whole.

The committee, of which 14 are resident representatives and eight are teachers and administrators from Plymouth schools, will study aspects for utilization of an extended school year and report its findings in May.

The subcommittees include: Resource Material—Chairman J. Michael Hoben, Marty Fleming, Arthur E. Larson, Mrs. Wilma Barnes, James H. Hopkins, Mrs. Marie Geddes and George Dodson; Financial Committee—Chairman John Jacobs, Arthur Larson, William C. Harding, Carrol Nichols, Mrs. Joan Carlson and Mrs. Sally Baumgartner; Public Relations and Attitudes Committee—Chairman Neal K. Finkell, Edward Foster, Carl V. Taylor, Dr. Robert Petersen and James H. Hopkins.

Young Driver Sent To Court For Assault

Robert Lee Frey, 20, 20925 Hugo, Farmington, was bound over by Plymouth Township Justice of the Peace James McCarthy to Wayne County Circuit Court for trial. He is charged with assaulting a Northville Township police officer.

Police said they stopped Frey's car for not having a license plate light. After two officers approached the car, they noticed a young girl in the back with her clothes disarranged.

The police said they ordered the girl, who was 14, out of the car along with four boys and another girl.

When the boys stepped out of the car two of them attacked the police officers and Frey was subsequently arrested. The other defendant was sent to the hospital.

In other cases, Judge McCarthy fined Charles F. Meyers, 9028 Rucker, Plymouth, $80 for speeding 35 miles an hour over the posted speed limit.

All told, $308 in fines were handed out by the court.

More Use Of Technology Could Trim Costs Of Roadbuilding

WASHINGTON -- The staggering costs of roadbuilding could be reduced by the more effective utilization of available technology, members of the national Highway Research Board were told recently.

Dana Parker, an engineer in The University of Michigan's Institute of Science and Technology (IST), said: "The economics of exploiting remote sensors in highway engineering have been demonstrated for the case of aerial photography."

"It appears obvious that this one data form alone has much more to offer to highway research and engineering than is currently being exploited, and this situation should be rectified to realize the full economic impact of aerial photography."

Parker and a U-M research colleague, Virginia Prentice, surveyed the highway departments of Michigan and nine other states. They found that conventional aerial photography and photogrammetric techniques were commonly used and were felt to be more efficient and less expensive than ground surveys.

PHOTOGRAMMETRY is an exacting science devoted to creating three-dimensional contour maps from photographs. Some highway departments use it in determining the best route for a proposed highway.

"It is significant that most of the reported savings involved the photogrammetric rather than the photo-interpretive attributes of air photos," Parker said. "Uses for which uncultivable savings were mentioned included materials investigations, studies of slide areas, condemnation cases, land appraisals, and preliminary location surveys."

If any of the surveyed departments knew how much money they were saving in all, however, they didn't say.

Only one state, Montana, indicated a dollar figure in estimating savings.

Their highway commission said that "through the use of photogrammetric projects we are able to produce plans for highway construction at a saving of approximately 75 per cent of the cost of conventional plan preparation. Just recently we had savings of about $60,000 on a project simply because we were able to use photogrammetric techniques."

Idaho estimated that photogrammetric methods might result in savings, depending on the terrain, of 25 to 50 per cent in surveys for the preparation of maps.

REMINING HIS audience of potential savings, Parker zeroed in on the "problems involved in reconciling technological feasibility with economical exploitation."

He foresees far greater savings through greater use of aerial photographs and of electronic remote sensing as well. "Our survey points up two facts. First, when aerial surveys are used, savings result. Secondly, no state reported on uses or savings with electromagnetic sensors."

"We think this illustrates that there is a lot of growth potential for the field of electromagnetic sensing applied to highway research and engineering."

PARKER DISCUSSED the potential uses of many recently developed remote sensing techniques, including the use of infrared, radar, passive microwave mappers, lasers, and radio frequency sounders.

He added, however, that even if new sensors were not applied to engineering problems, the conventional camera could be used to far greater advantage through photo-interpretation techniques.

"The use of this one sensor along (the conventional camera) could provide at least 90 per cent of the information available through remote sensors."

Currently aerial cameras are used almost strictly for photogrammetric mapping, according to the highway departments which Parker surveyed.

Parker suggested that the same films, properly interpreted, could also help determine the general expense of buying rights of way along a given route and help discover many features of the subsurface terrain.

Corporations Still Use Survival-Of-Fittest In Most Promotions

American corporations still resemble jungles in which survival of the fittest determines who will rule, according to a University of Michigan authority.

Edwin L. Miller, assistant professor of industrial relations in the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration, maintains that leading business firms do not really plan ahead to select tomorrow's leaders in a systematic way.

MILLER TOLD members of an executive forum arranged by the U-M Bureau of Industrial Relations that there are two main reasons for the failure to plan for manpower utilization:

1. The highest levels of executives generally cling to a Darwinian survival-of-the-fittest theory of getting to the top.

2. The professional personnel manager who is pressing for more systematic manpower planning often has too little real influence in the highest councils.

stress exams, or single opinions."

THE GENERAL STANDARD for sizing up tomorrow's business leaders has at least three dimensions.

First, an emphasis on youth and education appears to work favorably toward moving up rapidly. Having a resemblance to present top managers of a corporation seems to give a young man some advantages.

Second, the all-purpose professional manager who can handle a wide range of managerial posts, rather than the specialist in engineering, accounting, labor relations or the like, is moving faster in most cases.

Third, a man selected as having potential for heading a special unit of the firm, but is unlikely to take over general management or the top-level executive job.

"Even where he is a corporate officer," Miller says, "his voice is a shade less influential than executives who produce immediate profits." "Today the key to moving upward in a corporation lies more in finding the right kind of immediate supervisor than in joining the firm with the best training program," he added.

THE WAY to succeed in a large organization today "is to help your boss succeed," Miller declared, adding: "Personnel departments may act as quiet 'king-makers' but most often this power is that of merely knocking out those they deem unsatisfactory."

Psychological tests for executive performance are used only by a limited number of the largest firms, he reported.

A man's experience and past performance loom larger than any other kind of criteria in the upward mobility of executives, Miller said. "Top managers are very suspicious of one-shot predictors, whether they are tests, interviews,

That may sound like a travel folder, or a page out of Holiday, but it's actually a course description for Schoolcraft College's Geography 280.

The course is described as a field trip, but it's a few cuts above the first-grade jaunt to the neighborhood pond to see the frogs in action.

Students will board a jet char-

The course will carry six hours of college credit as part of the summer session. Emphasis will be on both rural and urban geography of Europe.

Included in the list of stops are Amsterdam, Munich, Rome, Paris and London, as well as small agricultural villages along the Rhine River in Germany.

Ralph Miller, geography instructor who has been planning the tour for a year and will act as tour director, pointed out that interested persons do not have to be enrolled at Schoolcraft now to join the group.

The course is open to all residents of the Schoolcraft College District who have a high school certificate or its equivalent and who can meet requirements for the course. Total cost for transportation, lodging and meals for the trip is $1,025, plus the college applications fee and tuition for the six hours of credit.

Students now attending other colleges are eligible for the tour and may transfer the credit, Miller said.

Miller, who joined the Schoolcraft faculty a year ago, has conducted a number of geography tours of Europe for Wayne State University. He said that the plan assures constant contact with foreign students and residents.

Travel on the continent will be by first-class rail coach, and by steamer. Lodging will be in university hotels or small European hotels.

Details are available by writing Ralph Miller, Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, 48151, or by calling him at 591-6400.

Clarenceville Seniors Selected For Honor

Two Clarenceville seniors, Sharon Lynn and Bryan Levy, have been selected as Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1967 by the Outstanding Americans Foundation.

The two were selected on the basis of ability and achievement and will compete with other winners in Michigan for the Governor's Trophy awarded annually to Michigan's most outstanding teenager. They will be eligible for one of the top 10 national awards and college scholarships offered by the Foundation.

Sharon is president of the Clarenceville Honor Society, a member of Student Council and on the board which plans activities for Dollars for Scholars. An A student, she plans to attend Ferris State College and Michigan State University to earn a degree in elementary French teaching.

Bryan, a B plus student and president of the Clarenceville Student Council, has been a member of the football and wrestling teams and is also in the Honor Society and United Synagogue Youth. After graduation, he plans to attend Wayne State University and hopes to become an attorney and possibly a judge in Michigan.

Livonia Student Honored

A University of Michigan student from Livonia has been named a Woodrow Wilson designate, marking her as among the top prospects for eventual college professorships.

Wilma E. Wetterstrom, of 15841 Greenlane, a senior in anthropology, was one of 27 students honored at the U of M. The designates' names have been sent to graduate schools around the country with the recommendation that they are "worthy of financial support."

In past years the Woodrow Wilson Foundation has supported such students with fellowships for their first year of graduate study, financed by the Ford Foundation. Now, however, the Ford Foundation has shifted the bulk of its assistance to other causes.

Ford is continuing to support 200 Woodrow Wilson dissertation fellowships and 50 first-year fellowships for Canadians annually. It also is supporting the Woodrow Wilson Foundation's selection procedures. In the past 10 years, the Ford Foundation gave some $52 million to support some 10,000 U.S. and Canadian students in their first year of graduate study.

"Now our major role is to identify for graduate departments those students who in our view have the best potential for college teaching," said Sir Hugh Taylor, president of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

This year's 1,124 designates were chosen by regional committees of professors, from 11,682 students who had been nominated by their faculties.

Changes In Pregnancy Policy Eyed

A change in the Michigan State University policy on pregnant coeds, both married and unmarried, has been approved by the Associated Students of MSU.

The proposed changes would remove the requirement that pregnant women drop out of university courses when they are four and one-half months pregnant.

A second proposal is that a decision on notifying the parents of an unwed coed under 21 be left to the discretion of her physician. At present, university officials notify the parents if the girl does not do so herself.

Before the new policy on dealing with pregnancies can go into effect, it will have to have the approval of both the dean of students and the faculty committee.

Dr. Milton Dickerson, dean of students, said that the major aim of the proposed policy is to allow students to continue their education. Approval or disapproval of the pregnancies is not the function of his office, he added.

Travel-Study Group Packing

Nineteen Observerland high school and junior college students are planning and packing for a 40-day travel and study trip to England, France, Italy and Switzerland this summer. The group was organized through the Foreign Language League, and will be chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chapple. Mrs. Chapple is a Stevenson High teacher.

The group will spend 10 days in each of the countries visited and will be gone from July 12 to Aug. 22.

Mrs. Chapple said that there are still a few openings for interested high school or junior college students. The Chapples may be contacted at 453-8797. Observerland teens who will be members of the group include:

Dean's List Released At WMU

Six Livonia students are included in the Dean's List for the fall semester at Western Michigan University. To be included, a student must have compiled a 3.5 grade average while enrolled in at least 14 hours of class work.

Janice Foster, a Farmington junior, in elementary education won a place on the list while carrying a course load of 22 hours.

The Livonia students honored are: Beverly Lynn Dygert, of 10064 Clements Circle; Jack Edmond Ellis, of 30109 Greenland; Janice Marilyn Graham, of 16119 Ronnie Lane; Ann Virginia Myers, of 16905 Farmington Rd.; Giannina Santangelo, of 30451 Lyndon, and John E. Smanicotto, Jr., of 30451 Lyndon.

Christian Club Begun In Plymouth

An inter-denominational Christian club has been started in Plymouth. Pattered after successful clubs in Livonia and Redford Township, the group plans to develop a program of religious discussions, service projects and social activities.

President of the new organization is Jim Kalliel. Regular meetings are held Tuesday evenings at members' homes.

The group is planning a youth rally later this month which will include a showing of the film "The Restless Ones" and entertainment by two folk singing groups.

Initial membership in the club is about 25, although the organizers are hoping for 100 more. Any high school students in the Plymouth area are welcome to join.

Changes Asked On Car Permits

More than 700 students and several faculty members recently signed a petition circulated at Plymouth High asking for a revision in strict car permit rules. Students want more car permits issued and permission for those who drive to let others ride with them. The Student Council voted unanimously to support the proposed changes and a student-administration committee is now working out a solution.

Can Local Rivers Be Trout Streams?

By TIM RICHARD
Sunday Editor

How much of the Middle Rouge and Huron Rivers can be brought up to trout stream standards? A few miles, says the staff of the State Water Resources Commission.

Many, many more miles, says the State Conservation director and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

THE MEN WHO must answer those questions—along with dozens of other questions about southeastern Michigan waters—are the members of the State Water Resources Commission.

They will have to weigh testimony taken at Ann Arbor last week and come up with answers under a program to establish water uses on a batch of area rivers—also including the Raisin, Clinton, Belle and Pine.

A decision will take a few months, at least. The WRC has allowed another 30 days for additional written testimony, and its staff will need weeks beyond that for study and analysis.

An April decision appears to be the earliest. A WRC pamphlet, received by this newspaper in December, put the time of decision only "eventually."

A STAFF recommendation from within the WRC pointed to trout stream standards for the Johnson Drain from where it enters western Wayne County (Napier Rd. north of N. Territorial in Plymouth Township) for about a half-mile north-eastward.

But Ralph MacMullen, director of the Conservation Department, recommended trout standards not only for the entire length of that creek, which flows northeast and joins the Middle Rouge River at Northville, but for all of the Middle Rouge above Phoenix Lake in Plymouth.

MacMullen also recommended protection of the Middle Rouge downstream from Phoenix Lake and at the Upper Rouge, to their confluence in the Dearborn area, at a level that would support smallmouth bass.

This level, which MacMullen dubbed "intermediate species," doesn't exist in WRC standards. The WRC standards have three categories: (1) intolerant cold-water fish, such as trout and salmon; (2) intolerant warm-water fish, such as bass, pike and panfish; and (3) tolerant fish, such as carp and bullhead.

THE WRC STAFF recommendation would put most of the Middle Rouge, with the exception of the Johnson Drain trout section, into the second category of general sport fish.

The WRC has also pointed out that the Conservation Department discontinued operation of a trout hatchery at Northville in 1958 and ceased stocking the Middle Rouge because of the water's warmth. Moreover, the Conservation Department last fall stocked the Middle Rouge at Phoenix Lake with 7,000 rainbow trout, not with the expectation that the trout would reproduce, but with the idea that the permanent fish population of that lake would be bass and bluegills.

Thus, MacMullen's recommendations last week seemed at variance with his department's previous activities.

MacMullen's recommendations were echoed by Lawrence Braun, district I chairman of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs (MUCC), who asked trout standards for the Middle Rouge above Phoenix Lake.

FROM THE STANDPOINT of popularity with fishermen, the WRC recommendation of trout standards for only a half-mile of the Johnson Drain seem likely to be less than popular.

That segment of the creek is heavily posted with "no trespassing" signs where it crosses Napier Rd., this newspaper found.

Most of the property in the area designated by the WRC appears to belong to the Western Wayne County Conservation Association ("Members Only" says the sign on its fenced entrance) and the Detroit House of Correction.

A large part of the Middle Rouge above Phoenix Lake flows through public property—Edward N. Hines Park.

THE WRC and the Conservation director also differed on what standards should be placed on the Rouge from the point where the Middle and Upper branches meet to where it flows into the Detroit River. Conservation Director MacMullen recommended the southernmost section be protected for "anadromous species"—that is, fish such as salmon which ascend a river to spawn.

A WRC staff member told this newspaper, however, that such a standard was not feasible because of the frequent dredgings of the Rouge that roll its waters. The WRC staff recommended a commercial standard, the lowest clean water standard.

OTHER DIFFERENCES arose over the Huron River. The WRC staff recommendation was for trout standards only for the region north of Milford in the Proud Lake State Recreation Area. The rest of the Huron was recommended for a general sport fish (bass, pike, panfish) category.

MacMullen proposed his "intermediate" (smallmouth bass) standard for the Huron upstream from Ore Lake in Livingston County; a trout standard from Ore Lake to Dexter in Washtenaw County; the intermediate standard from Dexter to Ford Lake in southwestern Wayne County; and the anadromous standard from Belleville Lake to Lake Erie.

The MUCC representative went even further. Spokesman Braun asked a trout standard north of Milford; a trout-bass standard from Milford to Ore Lake; a trout standard from Ore Lake to Dexter; and a continued trout standard for Hell Creek—"a real hot brown trout stream."

GOP Victory Holds State Senate Edge

CHARGING THAT there are "some indications we're not wanted to proceed," the chairman of a Michigan senate committee investigating the Detroit newspaper strike said the probe will resume in three weeks. "I want to make it clear we will proceed in three weeks," Sen. Robert Huber (R-Birm.) said. "All concerned will appear before the committee."

prisoner by the Viet Cong in the imperial central Vietnam capital of Hue, last week, her parents announced. Miss Johnson had been teaching high school in the war-ravaged South Vietnamese city.

THE REPUBLICANS maintained their state Senate majority last week with the victory of Gary Byker, 47, of Hudsonville, in the race for the 23rd District post. Byker beat Chester J. Harmsen, 52, a Democrat from Holland. The unofficial tabulation of the vote was 15,583 to 6,379.

MICHIGAN'S STATE Selective Service director says local draft boards still will be able to grant deferments from the draft on the basis of what they consider essential occupations. Col. Arthur Holmes said the local boards still will have this power despite a decision by the National Security Council suspending indefinitely its list of critical occupations and essential activities.

THE STATE LIQUOR Control Commission has revoked the tavern license held by Cos-tas Colacassides, owner of the Greecian Gardens in Detroit. Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley had asked that the license be taken away since Colacassides had been convicted for bribing a police officer to let him keep his restaurant open after hours.

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY discarded an eight-page text on U.S.-European relations in favor of a broadside blast at John-son administration Vietnam policies last week. "The problem foremost in the minds of the world's leaders is Vietnam.

There's no question about it," Romney told a Milwaukee dinner audience.

LIBERAL DEMOCRATS in the Michigan Senate charged that the leadoff anti-riot bill could result in life imprisonment for one fellow who urged another to take a swing at a third guy. Democratic Senators Basil Brown of Detroit, Roger Craig of Dearborn and Sander Levin of Berkley said that punishment for "inciting" to assault could wind up being stiffer than for assault itself. CREATION OF A State Internal Security Council to close "a serious communications and intelligence gap" between civilian law enforcement and military agencies in the state was proposed in the Senate last week. Sen. George W. Kuhn (R-Birm.) introduced the measure, with signatures of 20 other senators, which is designed to function much like the National Security Council in Washington, D.C.

Forest Fires Fewer, Smaller

Michigan is suffering from fewer forest fires.

And the fires are burning less acreage when they do occur.

Well, says the Conservation Department, somewhat proudly, it has to do with its change-over from look-out towers to airplanes in fire patrol.

SINCE THE STATE entered the aerial fire detection program in 1959, 110 fire towers have been phased out, and only 39 are left.

All but a few of those will be abandoned. The exceptions include towers at such places as Drummond Island and the tip of the Keweenaw Peninsula. They are in remote areas that don't lend themselves to good flight patterns.

With rains falling at right places at the right times and Conservation Department forces acting fast to snuff out the year's 871 fires, Michigan's 1967 forest fire season has officially ended, with damage held to an all-time low of 2,819 acres.

The season's total, best since record-keeping began in 1871, is 66 acres under the previous low set in 1965. It marks a happy turnabout from last year when 1,672 forest fires gutted 13,691 acres in the state.

Standing out among this year's statistics is the average damage figure of only 3.2 acres per fire, also lowest on record.

MILTON M. BERGMAN, chief of the forest fire division, reports that only two or three more planes need to be added to completely round out his agency's air operation for watch-dogging fires.

"Our present air force," he explains, "is giving us the same coverage we got from those 110 abandoned towers."

Computer To Study Earth's Heat

A more accurate method of calculating the earth's changing heat balance has been developed by a research engineer at the University of Michigan. Dr. S. Roland Drayson, of the department of meteorology and oceanography, used an electronic digital computer to give more precise answers to the equations governing long-wave radiative transfer. Those answers will aid weather forecasters and atmospheric scientists.

Drayson's work, done as part of his doctoral degree, was supported by a three-year grant from the National Science Foundation.

"RADIATIVE TRANSFER" is the name for the interaction between solar radiation, which heats the earth and its atmosphere, and long-wave infrared radiation, given off by the earth and its atmosphere.

The close balance between this take-in and give-off energy keeps the earth's climate livable.

"Radiative balance can be modified by a variety of factors, including air pollution," Drayson explained.

"We're continually increasing the amount of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere by burning coal and oil. We're not positive yet what the long-term effects will be, but if the net result is to increase the surface temperature of the earth by as little as two degrees Fahrenheit, it might be enough eventually to melt large amounts of polar ice and cause flooding over low-lying areas of the earth."

OTHER ENVIRONMENTAL factors—wind, clouds, and the topography of the earth—also affect radiative transfer, so "it is very difficult to understand atmospheric conditions and how the various processes interact," Drayson said.

Thus he has applied his calculations to the relatively unexplored Martian atmosphere in an attempt to find out more about atmospheric conditions there on earth.

"There are no oceans on Mars, very few clouds, and virtually no water vapor and ozone in the atmosphere there," he explained.

Drayson's calculations will be used on a circulation model of the Martian atmosphere, a project being directed by Dr. Edward S. Epstein of the department of meteorology and oceanography.

Drayson is currently doing research, in conjunction with interpreting measurements from weather satellites, at the High Altitude Lab on U-M's North Campus.

Commission On Aging Asks Allowance Hike

The Michigan Commission on Aging has urged the State Legislature to appropriate enough money to the Department of Social Services to raise the monthly food allowance for those on Old Age Assistance from $30.10 to $43.10 per month. The recommendation was adopted at the Commission's February meeting in Lansing. The present allowance is based on 1957 food budget figures, and was last priced in 1961. The Commission described this budget as "totally inadequate."

The proposed increase would raise the daily food allowance from the present $1 to $1.43. THIS FOOD BUDGET increase can be achieved now at minimal cost to the state because of a Social Security increase which goes into effect March 2.

The Commission said that 52 per cent of those on Old Age Assistance (OAA) also receive Social Security, and much of the increased food budget would be supplied by this increase. State funds would only be needed for those OAA recipients who do not receive Social Security payments.

The Commissioners suggested that this increase may prevent many persons from becoming Medicaid patients, as a major reason for old persons becoming ill is food diet, resulting in poor health and hospitalization.

This hospital care costs taxpayers more than a proper food allowance in the first place.

Poster Campaign: Can You Stop In Time?

Winter has a way of playing strange tricks on motorists and one of her favorites is to fool them into thinking they can stop on icy or snow-covered roads just as easily as they could on dry pavement. It can be a cruel joke.

That's why the Traffic Safety Association launched a traffic safety educational program this month with street-side posters asking motorists, Can You Stop In Time? The posters are designed to caution motorists against getting trapped into dangerous traffic situations where it's too late to get out safely.

Approximately 1,350 posters are erected on street-side standards in Detroit and another 1,350, bearing the same timely question and provided by local safety organizations, are posted throughout the state.

"IT TAKES MORE time and more distance to bring a car to a stop in the winter," said Garnet M. Griffin, managing director of the Traffic Safety Association.

"This means that drivers must be extra alert to the condition of the road and think ahead in order to avoid trouble. Quick stops, resulting from lack of attention or foolish acts usually lead to skids, loss of control and accidents."

Griffin pointed out that a sensible and safe driver will automatically reduce speed on slippery roads and leave extra space between his vehicle and the one ahead. He noted that the posted speed limits are applicable only under perfect conditions and drivers who insist on driving too fast for conditions or "tailgating" during the winter months are driving straight into trouble.

The Association advises drivers to slow down in winter, keep a safe following distance, and to inspect their vehicles before driving. The Association also advises drivers to slow down in winter, keep a safe following distance, and to inspect their vehicles before driving.

State Police To Inspect School Buses

LANSING--After discontinuing the assignment for several years, Michigan State Police will this year resume inspection of Michigan school buses, Superintendent of Public Instruction Ira Polley said.

Beginning Feb. 5 and through March 1 State Police will handle the job of inspecting brakes, horns, lights, steering and various other aspects.

No College Sex Revolt, Says New Kinsey Report

"Contraceptives are not changing sexual behavior," a noted scientist says after a survey of 1,200 college students.

"They are simply making safer the sexual behavior that would have occurred anyway... People are going to behave sexually regardless of the availability and type of contraception."

The speaker was Dr. Paul Gebhard, director of the Institute for Sex Research at Indiana University--an office once headed by the late Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey.

DR. GEBHARD'S 1967 survey achieved similar results to the one Kinsey made 20 years ago. Dr. Gebhard reported in New York at a session of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Compared with a generation ago, Dr. Gebhard said, "It is clear that the enormous difference between how males and females view their initial partner has changed very little."

"In brief, females surrender their virginity to males they love, whereas males are much less emotionally involved."

For college coeds now at their first experience, "love was involved in 70 to 90 per cent of cases"--similar to the earlier findings.

AMONG MALES, 11 to 14 per cent in the new study said they first had relations with girls they intended to marry.

This compared with only one to five per cent--in various college years--who so reported in the earlier surveys.

Young men now rarely have their first experience with prostitutes--only two to seven per cent in the new study compared with 20 to 25 per cent previously.

Dr. Gebhard said the studies show a significant percentage increase among girls who said their first experience was pleasurable.

DR. IRA L. REISS, sociologist at the University of Iowa, agreed that the effect of contraception on rates on premarital intercourse was small indeed. But, he observed, there is today "a new social context of premarital sexual permissiveness" evolving in America.

"In the old days," he said, "the highest degree of sexual permissiveness was found among the lower classes. Now it is highly rooted in the college-educated community. There is a more intellectualized attitude toward sex as acceptable, particularly when a love relationship is involved."

Dr. Reiss said that no change has occurred in the percentages of people performing sexually, but a change has occurred in male behavior--"from the prostitute to the girl next door." He concluded that "males today are much tamer than their fathers or grandfathers."

DR. AILON SHILOH, University of Pittsburgh anthropologist, described initial or pilot studies among women coming to Planned Parenthood Clinics of Pittsburgh.

One indication so far, he said, is that Catholic women express a more personally satisfactory sex relationship than do white Protestants, and Negro women articulate the least satisfactory personal relationship. After women began using some birth control technique, they reported a slightly increased frequency in sex relations per week, and a "greatly increased personal pleasure from sex relations as measured by her changed feelings about sex relations and her enjoyment of sex relations."

GENERAL CONCLUSIONS: --There has been "no sexual revolution" strictly speaking, rather more a continuation of long existing trends.

--College coeds continue to equate their first sexual relations with love, whereas men continue to be opportunistic.

--There is a definite trend, especially among young women, for the first sexual relations to be a pleasurable event. --Newer contraceptive devices do NOT seem to have prompted any rise in the percentage of women having relations before marriage.

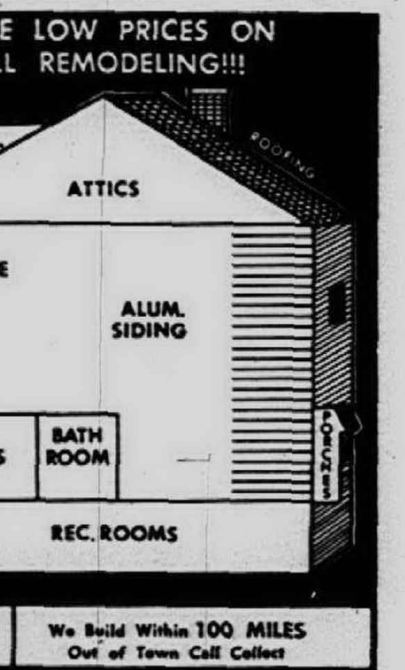

--Use of birth control devices doesn't seem to lead to increased sexual activity so much as to increased enjoyment.

U.S. Asks Travel Industry To Cut Prices

ARSONISTS last week set fire to the main office of Miami Springs High School, one of the 6,000 Florida schools hit by the nation's first statewide teacher walkout. The fire was brought under control in a few hours and no one was injured.

THE FEDERAL government will try to attract more foreign tourists to the United States by cutting prices on travel and attractions including free admission to national parks. A White House task force, in a report emphasizing tourist and cost cutting, said it has enlisted cooperation of the travel industry.

AFL-CIO President George Meany says voluntary arbitration by "impartial" outsiders might be the answer to the nation's rising rash of strikes by public workers ranging from garbage men to teachers. State laws forbidding strikes under which some union leaders have gone to jail, aren't the answer, said the chief of the 14 million member labor federation.

week after he returned from making two speeches in California. A U.S. Justice department spokesman said Brown's $15,000 bond was revoked by a U.S. District Court Judge in New Orleans, where Brown was arrested last year on charges of transporting a gun across state lines.

Robert S. McNamara handed Congress a $1.88 billion request to pay for new military construction around the world, including U.S. antimissile facilities. The request, for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, contains $227.3 million for installations which will support the nation's $5 billion anti-ballistic missile defense, soon to be deployed.

Canada Faces Prospect Of New Elections

CANADIAN Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson returned from a Caribbean vacation Tuesday apparently fully prepared to ask for a confidence vote from the House of Commons. While he was away, a Liberal sponsored bill met defeat which was viewed as an expression of non-confidence in the government. The bill was voted down 84-82. The crisis in Pearson's government came just six months before his previously announced retirement from political life.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE military headquarters reported last week that aerial observers had sighted several Communist anti-aircraft guns menacing a section of Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Air Base. South Vietnamese bombers were sent out to destroy them.

SURGEONS transplanted the heart of a 20-year-old woman into a 35-year-old man last week in the first such operation outside South Africa and the United States but the patient died 2 1/2 hours later, doctors said. They said the operation was performed in King Edward Memorial Hospital in Bombay, India.

A NORTH KOREAN diplomat claimed the crew of the USS Pueblo "will be punished," "Having committed crimes in one country, they will get the punishment provided by the law in this country," North Korean Embassy Councillor Zang Ie Zoon told a news conference.

HAGGARD and worn out Marines fought for the last 100 yards or so of the imperial capital of Hue last week while doggedly, determined Communist forces refused a "surrender or die" ultimatum from the Allies. Marine fighter-bombers were able to help the ground forces for the first time in a week last Thursday.

A BOMB EXPLOSION tore into the ground floor office of the Soviet embassy in Washington before dawn Wednesday in what a United States spokesman called a "senseless act of terrorism." No one was injured. The Soviet Union promptly delivered strong protests in Washington and Moscow, charging that police protection for the embassy was inadequate. The U.S. rejected the charge.

Michigan Bell Plymouth Payroll Hits All-Time High

Michigan Bell Telephone Company today reported it paid an all-time high of $3,668,978 in wages to its 619 employees who worked out of its Plymouth office during 1967, according to John Peard, manager. He said the company's entire wage bill of $198,973,054, which went to 26,228 employees throughout the state, set a company record. In addition to Michigan Bell's payroll, the Western Electric Company, manufacturing and supply arm of the Bell System, paid $19.2 million to its 2,104 employees who worked in Michigan, and AT&T's Long Lines department paid $4.3 million to its 642 employees in the state. Areas in which Michigan

Bell's 1967 payroll topped the five-million-dollar mark include Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Royal Oak, Saginaw and Southfield.

The one-million-dollar mark was passed in: Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Bay City, Benton Harbor, Clawson, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Livonia, Marquette, Mt. Clemens, Petoskey, Plymouth, Pontiac, Port Huron, Roseville, Traverse City, Trenton, Warren, Wayne and Wyandotte.

Schools Win Protest On Sprinklers

The Plymouth Community School District has won its protest to the State Fire Marshal with the result that $50,000 will be saved in the cost of construction of senior high school No. 2.

At the start of the year the school officials were informed that the fire marshal had ordered that sprinkler systems be placed in all sections of the school. Until this report there were some areas without sprinklers and it was thought they weren't needed.

The architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett, and Luckenbach, stated that the design of the school was such that sprinklers would only be needed in certain places.

The architects explained that since the second and third floors are going to be completely sprinkled at a cost of $100,000 the extras ordered would add $50,000 to the cost.

In honoring the protest the State Police intimated that the favorable ruling would be considered as an exception to the rule.

Letters To The Editor

Editor's Note:

Mrs. Kenneth B. Jones, 853 Sutherland, was one of 300 Americans to respond by letter to the editors of Life magazine regarding a recently published interview with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin.

Mrs. Jones is unhappy, even though her picture was printed with her letter and her words share the page with those of Senator J.W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations.

"I would rather they had omitted by picture and printed my entire letter," she explains, "as it is, they used just one paragraph of two hand-written pages."

Following is her complete letter:

Dear Editor: Mr. Kosygin is slightly confused concerning history. The history that will never be forgiven is not the Vietnam war, but the way the United States and Britain handed over to Russia the nations of Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria, the Baltic countries and others. Free people were sent into slavery. Memories are not so dull as to forget the heroic try for freedom in Hungary in the fifties, while we stood by--not wanting to offend "our friends."

The remark, "We had to fight a lot, but not on our own initiative--we have never shown such initiative" shows, not only do the Soviets think us chicken-hearted, but also stupid!

Then again, the Russians have good reason to think us stupid. We speak and preach "co-existence," and many really believe it a possible Christian solution.

The atheist, Lenin, stated, "the capitalistic system cannot co-exist with the Soviet Republic; conflict is inevitable."

When first reading the article I was ready to cancel my subscription, shocked at Life for allowing itself to become a 'sounding board' for such propaganda, but since cooling off I realize you have done a great service.

The colorful photographs on pages 22 and 31 point to the fact that with all her talk of change, Russia is still governed by the ideals of Lenin.

If those who refuse to shut their eyes to cold fact, as done in the past, are called "hawks" so be it, I'd feel safer with a "hawk" than a "dove" (the word could be ostrich). Being a live hawk is better than becoming a "sitting duck."

Historian Picks Turning Points

"On January 14," Hudson said, "the members of the board met to consider a resolution for liquidation as a result of losses sustained for six straight years. The motion was defeated and the deciding vote was cast by Hough."

"Two months later Clarence Hamilton, a local inventor, showed the company his latest invention--the first real air rifle."

"Boy," said Hough, "that's a daisy."

In July of that year the company manufactured a few rifles to test public reaction. It was sufficient enough to put the company in the black the following year and it was a profitable operation from then on.

"Because of that one vote," Hudson pointed out, "Daisy and its people were to become a vital influence on the community for more than 60 years."

The partition of Plymouth Township in 1898 also brought some interesting comment.

"On a Saturday afternoon in the spring of 1898," Hudson went on, "100 people met in the Opera House in Northville to listen to a heated debate on the question of whether Northville should pull away from Plymouth Township of which it had been a part since the township came into being in 1827."

In the group were 88 Northville residents and only 12 from Plymouth. Leading the Plymouth group opposing separation were George Starkweather, the first child born in the Township, and Township Treasurer Whitbeck.

The argument centered on the claim that Northville was too distant from Plymouth. When the final vote was taken the Northville delegation won, 40 to 30.

It is ironical that now, 69 years later, forces are at work in an attempt to bring the areas together again.

So, who can deny that the partition of the Township in 1898 was one of the real turning points in the area.

These and many other points made Historian Hudson's appearance one of the most interesting of the year.

Robert Evans Given Top Job

Farrand Elementary School Cub Scout Pack 863 elected new officers at its Blue and Gold banquet in Roma Hall in Livonia. The newly elected officers are: Cub Master, Robert Evans; Assistant Cub Master, Melvin Periberg; Committee Chairman, Chuck Arney; Secretary-Treasurer, Len Solon; Awards Chairman, Jim Lewick; Registration Chairman, Allen Heimiller; Outing Chairman, Dan Spence; and Publicity Chairman, Don Reid. Registration of all boys for the Cub Scout Pack will be held at Farrand School Feb. 28.

Thank You!

I take this opportunity to say "Thank you" to all of my friends and supporters. To each of you who worked so very hard to achieve my successful nomination in the Livonia Primary election, I am greatly indebted. I have tried to be a good Councilman. The victory you recorded for me at the polls is a generous reward, and I am pleased that my service has gained your approval. Rosina and I respectfully ask for your continued help during the six-week campaign ahead. It is indeed an honor to serve you.

If the thought of buying a new furnace bothers you, read this new Three-Step Protection Plan.

- First, call Edison. We'll give you the names of electric heat contractors near you. Each has been Edison-approved as capable and reliable. (And, right now, each will give you a $150 trade-in on your old furnace if you convert to electric heat.)
- Next, the contractor will check your home, review your needs, and recommend the type of heat best for you. He will estimate both installation and operating cost and give them to you in writing. All without obligation. We'll check the quotes if you like.
- Then, after your new electric heat system is installed, Edison and your contractor will make any adjustments necessary to the system if operating cost exceeds the original estimate during the first three years of use. At the end of this time, if operating cost still exceeds the estimate, and you aren't satisfied, Edison will remove the system and refund your original price.

That's our new Three-Step Protection Plan. Remember the first step. Call Edison.

WANT AD POPULARITY IS SKY HIGH!

103,621 INDIVIDUAL ADS

WERE PUBLISHED IN THE OBSERVER WANT AD PAGES IN 1967

We just have to brag about it a little, because if we didn't you might never know how helpful Want Ads can be. They must be helpful, or there wouldn't be so many thousands of them published each year.

It's a fact that Want Ads are the only kind of advertising successfully used by both business people and private individuals. The Want Ad pages are like a big department store, offering a wide variety of goods and services. That is why they have such high readership, and it is because of the readership that people who advertise get such great results.

If you are one of the few people who has never used a Want Ad, you most surely will have occasion to use one soon. You can advertise to convert something you no longer need into cash by selling it quickly, or you may advertise to locate a hard-to-find item you need, or you may even use an ad to hire an employee or rent a vacant property. There are hundreds of ways to profit from Want Ads.

To place your ad, just dial the Observer Want Ad number, GA 2-0900 or 453-5500. A friendly, helpful Ad-Visor will assist you in wording your ad.
