Supervisor Answers Complainers

Police Protection Adequate - - McEwen

Pleas for more police protection have come from all quarters of Plymouth Township in the last few years. At one time or another, township residents have asked "Why can't we have our own police force?"

Township Supervisor John D. McEwen was asked the same question along with others, in the hope that his answers would shed some light on the feeling of the administration.

Throughout the question and answer period Supervisor McEwen maintained that the Wayne County Sheriff's Department was doing an adequate job.

Currently the department has two cars on duty during the day and, then one car on duty in Plymouth Township during the night.

The service is split between Northville and Plymouth Townships. At night, when the incidence of crime is the highest, there is only a share of a police car for Plymouth Township.

McEwen said, "Currently, I feel the sheriff's department is doing an adequate job."

"People in the township complain because there are breaking and enterings, like there is in any other community," he said. "But," he added, "the sheriff's department and the State Police (which has one car in Plymouth Township) respond in a manner of minutes."

How many men would it take to man a police force in the township?

McEwen answered "It would take between eight and ten—when the time arises."

What would be the cost? "That is a tough one," he said "Three years ago it was $35,000 for one two-man car a year. Now, costs must be more than $40,000 a year." Is it legal for Plymouth Township to establish its own police force?

"Yes it is," he quipped.

"As far as the cost is concerned," he remarked, "if the people of Plymouth Township are desirous of having a police force, additional millage would have to be voted."

How much additional millage? "At least two mills," he said. Since the sheriff's department has, at the most, one and a half cars at any one time covering the entire township, do you think one man can cover it effectively?

"That depends on the area which you have to cover. In some areas 20 men couldn't cover 12,000 people (approximate population of the township). Again, I think the sheriff's department is doing an adequate job."

"Plymouth Township will, in the very near future, come up with a definite plan for police protection, but again the money must be voted in extra millage," McEwen concluded.

Rail Crossing Study Reveals Need For Two Underpasses

After analyzing and evaluating the data compiled in the long survey of the various rail crossings in the Plymouth area during the past year, the Wayne County Road Commission has concluded that two areas should be considered for underpasses.

The two sites are the Sheldon Road crossing, Main Street or Farmer Street—under certain conditions.

The Starkweather and Ann Arbor Trail crossings were cast aside as not presenting an unacceptable vehicle delay problem at the present time.

The survey, taken at the suggestion of the Mail & Observer last Spring, brought out some interesting findings.

For example, the Main Street crossing experiences the largest total delay time, with Sheldon Road in second place.

FOR YEARS it has been charged that the rail crossings have been slowly strangling the business life of downtown Plymouth. Time and again the residents and the businessmen have complained to no avail.

By the same token the C & O Railroad has complained of the heavy fines it has been asked to pay because of violations of the city ordinance that limits delays to five minutes.

It was to get some sort of order out of chaos that the Mail & Observer sponsored a meeting of all concerned almost a year ago.

Since then the survey has been made and the data studied with the hope of providing a solution to the problem that is unique in the state of Michigan inasmuch as the Plymouth area has nine rail crossings.

HERE ARE the findings and conclusions of the Wayne County Road Commission Planning Division:

SHELDON ROAD--The Sheldon Road crossing experiences some long delays and the second largest number of vehicle minutes of delay. Especially with the expectation that Sheldon Road will become an increasingly important thoroughfare for the City and Township as a major exit from M-14, an underpass could be justified at this crossing.

STARKWEATHER -- The Starkweather crossing experiences the largest total delay time, but because of a lower traffic volume it is only third in vehicle-minutes of delay. An underpass would probably not provide as much benefit here as at Sheldon or Main.

MAIN STREET--The Main Street crossing experiences the largest amount of vehicle-minutes of delay, because of its large traffic volume and long delays. From the standpoint of the City, this crossing would seem to have the most justification for an underpass.

FARMER STREET -- Although the total delay time is larger at the Farmer Street crossing, the individual delays are generally short and the vehicle count is low. If Farmer Street became a more important thoroughfare with improvement and extension to Mill (which is planned), it could be considered as an underpass alternative to Main Street.

ANN ARBOR TRAIL--This crossing does not present an unacceptable vehicle delay problem.

BEFORE HE resigned from the City Commission George Hudson advocated a move to have the City Commission ask the State Highway Department to include an underpass at Sheldon Road as part of the new route of M-14.

Conditions in some areas will change, too, with the construction of I-275 and the new M-14 route. Starkweather likely will become the main gateway from the northwest.

After hearing the report of the survey Monday night the City Commission instructed the City Manager to contact the C&O officials, notify them of the finding, and ascertain what help can be expected from the railroad.

HERE'S NEW LOOK PLANNED FOR CORNER OF MAIN AND ANN ARBOR TRAIL.

Plymouth Gets First "Mini-Mall"

Plymouth is going to get its first "mini-mall" and the northwest corner of Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street will take on a new look within the next several months.

Under the plans announced Monday by Lew Goddard, owner of the building recently vacated by the D & C Co., the space will be divided into four sections and four new businesses will spring up where only one grew before.

The new quartet will include: Mr. Ray's Wig Shop, McCormick's Yard Goods, Wayside Gift Shop, Home Appliance Shop.

A new entrance, to the north, will be built on Main Street and immediately inside there will be an eight-foot mall. Each of the four new tenants will have its shop entrance on this mall and there will be all sorts of display cases on the north wall.

The Wig Shop is a new business spreading out from a residence activity. Wayside Gifts is moving from Ann Arbor Road and McClumpha and McCormick's Yard Goods presently has a store in Farmington.

The re-modeling of the business corner is the first major job being done in the Main Street block for years and it is coming at a time when other areas also are projecting face lifting moves.

On Ann Arbor Trail, the 11 merchants soon will start on the covered side walk program and within days the John Smith Men's Store will occupy the space vacated by Davis & Lent.

administrators forecast what could be expected for the district in the future.

It was the first meeting of the Plymouth Community School Council, which was formulated by the Board of Education to establish direct communication between the school board and the community to keep them both informed of the other's activities and desires.

Superintendent James Rossman explained that the School Board must plan and estimate the coming student population far in advance of even a house being built. Therefore, he said, "we keep in contact with government officials."

Rossman pointed out that the school board tries to find the trends in the community and, then follow them as close as possible so that the board meets the requirements of the community.

ASSISTANT Superintendent William Harding pointed out that right now middle school #3 on Ann Arbor Rd near Canton Center should be completed for the first of September 1968. The next school for the future is high school #2 which hasn't yet come out of the complete planning stages.

In general, Harding summed up the feeling of planning with children in mind. He said that the board believes that children who play and live near each other should go to school together.

When districting, "we never take just one side of street but take both sides," he said that he felt that children tended to play with other children across the backyard.

The other thing they watch for is to never have a child go by one school to attend another. This takes the child out of his way and gives him extra harassment for nothing, Harding added.

Assistant Superintendent Earl Gibson explained the building progress and attendance areas for the elementary schools.

He said that elementary school #9 on Canton Center Rd. near Ann Arbor Rd. is scheduled to be completed Sept. 1 and he was hopeful that the work would proceed on schedule. Barring any labor strikes, he added, things should go as planned.

THERE ARE always more elementary schools in any

Senior Housing Plan Given Another Boost

After meeting with the federal officials in Chicago last week City Clerk Gene Slider and William Silvis, Chairman of the Housing Commission are more confident than ever that the Plymouth Senior Citizens Housing project will proceed as planned during the summer.

For a time it was feared that the design and construction would have to be changed to stay within the bounds of the federal grant of $987,000.

The City Commission was told at the last meeting in Plymouth that the construction would have to be of frame and aluminum siding instead of brick veneer, with small rooms.

At that time the Commission went on record that such construction would not be suitable on the proposed site in the rear of the Christian Science Church. And there were fears that the project may be dropped.

Then, following an inspection visit of a project in Roseville, being built under what is termed a "turnkey program", hopes soared for the original plan in Plymouth.

Under the "turn key" plan, the City would invite a builder or developer to design a plan and offer it. If it was within the bound of the federal grant the City would have the right to use the government money to pay the developer.

Under this plan costs are cut considerably in that it eliminates the need for the city to employ an architect.

It was to discuss these plans that Slider and Silvis met with the Housing and Urban Development officials last week.

LIVONIA — Workmen of Rocco Ferrara & Co., laying huge concrete sections of a storm-drain system for Livonia, unwittingly turned the work area into a panic area late Friday evening when a mechanical crane bit into a high-pressure gas line. Police blocked traffic and onlookers from the area, in front of the new Livonia National Bank building, Plymouth and Wayne Roads, for more than eight hours, until the danger of a gas explosion had passed. The gas line, under 250 pounds of pressure, was a feeder line in a Consumers Power system supplying gas for the homes and industry of Plymouth, Livonia, Westland, Northville, Wayne and Farmington Township.

FARMINGTON — Formal negotiations begin Thursday, March 7, between the Farmington Board of Education and the Farmington Education Association.

FARMINGTON — Approximately 200 hourly employees struck the Star Cutter Co. in Farmington Township Monday morning. Spokesman for Local 985 of the U.A.W. and the company, which is the largest plant in the township, conceded that they are still at odds over both economic and non-economic issues.

WESTLAND — The economic and physical characteristics of the Westland-Wayne communities were outlined Monday by Irving Rubin, director of the Transportation and Land Use Study, known as TALUS. Some of the data compiled for the two cities shows that the percentage of pre-school children is much higher than the surrounding area; the median income is under the level of the rest of suburban Wayne County; and there are more families with children than in other communities.

WESTLAND — The City Council Monday listened to two state civil defense officials emphasize the importance of a local civil defense plan and program for the community.

GARDEN CITY — A long-standing parking dispute involving an office next to the Secretary of State auto license plate branch is over — until next February. A local businessman blocked his parking lot for nearly two weeks to keep license plate buyers off of his property.

REDFORD — With less than a month remaining until the start of a new contract period, the Redford Township Board ratified a three-year contract with police Monday. Annual re-opening of salary negotiations is possible. The patrolmen gained across-the-board $600 raises in 1967.

55 Rail Violations In Week

The results of the rail crossing survey made public on Monday revealed the startling fact that the C&O trains were guilty of 55 violations of the city ordinance in one week.

According to the ordinance, no delay shall be longer than five minutes. Each year the C&O has been heavily fined, but the violations continue.

During the week of the survey these violations were reported: Sheldon Road 18, Starkweather 8, Main Street 13, Farmer Street 5, Ann Arbor Trail 6, and five at the other crossings.

THIS WEEK WILL mark another trip of the West German parliament to West Berlin, which is separated from the rest of the country by 110 miles of East German territory. The parliament makes this move several times a year as a show of confidence to city dwellers. However, this most recent move is expected to bring loud protestations from the Communists who will be taking advantage of the United States being tied up in Vietnam.

JAPANESE RAILWAY officials said that 105 passenger trains and 274 freight trains on major national lines were suspended and in Tokyo alone, 117 local trains were canceled and 840 delayed. The protest was against management's modernization program to relocate 50,000 railway workers, including removal of assistant engineers on electric and diesel trains.

Parks is recovering from wounds inflicted by the assailants who fired point-blank at his face while Parks knelt. Redford police are still searching for a suspect. They now estimate his age as between 18 and 21, weight about 150 pounds, height 5'8" and hair and eyes light brown.

Parks was tending a gas station at Inkster Road and Eight Mile about 2 a.m. Feb. 20 when the man walked in and struck up a conversation.

After several minutes he pulled a blue steel revolver, robbed Parks of $90, pistol-whipped Parks, made him kneel and fired the gun.

Schoolcraft Reinstates Six Teachers

The air of secrecy and silence surrounding the dismissal of six probationary instructors at Schoolcraft College was shattered Monday with a brief three-paragraph statement from Howard Kahn, assistant to President Dr. Eric Bradner, who also has the duties of public relations director, that the Administration has agreed to offer probationary contracts to the six for the 1968-69 academic year.

The brief announcement ends what threatened at one stage to break into revolt against the Administration's policies of evaluation abilities of members of the faculty.

It also put an end to threats from the Faculty Forum, the group representing the faculty in negotiations and grievances, for a complete investigation of the dismissals and a public hearing before the Board of Trustees.

Although the announcement indicates the agreement was reached in an open assembly by a mutual show of faith by both the Administration and the Faculty, it has all the earmarks of a decisive victory for the Faculty.

THE DISMISSED instructors received notice of the action by registered mail one day after Dr. Bradner had informed the Trustees in the regular second meeting of January that contracts would not be offered for the next academic year to six probationary teachers.

The policies of the Board are that personnel problems are entirely in the hands of the Administration and the announcement was accepted as a decision of the Administration.

The announcement from the desk of Kahn, which contains no signatures either from the Faculty Forum or the Administration, reads:

"With the interests of the College uppermost in mind, the Faculty and the Administration of Schoolcraft College have pledged, by a mutual show of faith expressed in open assembly, to work together at all levels for a speedy and satisfactory resolution of differences.

"Specifically in the instance of six probationary instructors who were notified their contracts would not be renewed, the Faculty has agreed to withdraw all prior demands it has made to the Administration for a remedy and the Administration has agreed to offer probationary contracts to the six instructors for the 1968-69 academic year.

"The Faculty and Administration further have agreed that, to demonstrate a mutual dedication to the principles and purpose of the College, this statement be prepared and issued as a joint expression of faith and respect of one toward the other."

ALTHOUGH THE statement specifically states "by a mutual show of faith expressed in open assembly," the meeting between the two groups was held on Thursday, Feb. 22, without a public announcement. No word of the planned meeting or the results were made available to the public or the press.

The matter did not come up for discussion at the regularly scheduled Board of Trustees meeting last Wednesday although it reportedly was brought to the attention of the Trustees at a study session held one hour in advance of the 8 p.m. meeting.

The study sessions are open to the public but are in the nature of a committee-of-the-whole meeting during which no official actions may be taken.

Anthony Rizzo, chairman of the Faculty Forum negotiation committee, was asked specifically after the Board meeting if there had been any steps taken in regard to the dismissals but refused comment other than that there would be a statement forthcoming within a day or so. He did not mention the "open assembly" agreement.

Kahn, who sits at the press table with reporters during the Board meetings, also was questioned about the situation but refused to comment.

The big question now is whether any or all of the six instructors will accept the probationary contracts following the turmoil that developed after the initial announcement of the dismissals.

Of the six, one was on a third probationary contract, three were in the second year and two serving their first year.

The agreement between the Administration and the Faculty appears to have smoothed over a situation that was a bit ticklish for a few days after the original announcement of the firings.

Representatives of the student body, including members of the Student Council, asked for permission to attend a closed meeting of the Faculty Forum on the day following the announcement.

Apparently aroused by what they heard, they formed a Student Investigation Committee and pressed The Observer to express their views.

This meeting was held in the Plymouth offices of the Observer Newspapers with Schoolcraft Board Chairman Harold Fischer and Vice Chairman Mrs. Jane Moebie attending in the role of listeners and not in an official capacity.

AT THAT TIME the student group indicated they would ask for a public hearing before the Trustees to air the situation, claiming the student body thought summary dismissals of this type would lower the quality of education at the college.

The Board was unable to get a quorum for such a meeting and indicated the matter should be taken up at the first regular meeting in February.

In the meantime, the Administration arranged a meeting with the students and explained ed their side of the matter to the satisfaction of the group.

This meeting was preceded by one between department heads and the Administration at which several matters were ironed out. These included among others, according to reports, a definition of evaluation of teachers and the part of each department head in the final findings. Something that apparently hadn't been clearly outlined.

The situation was still far from healthy until the release of the joint statement, but now appears to be under control.

Michigan Calendar Lists Festivals

More than 200 spring and summer Michigan community events are previewed in the March-September edition of the Michigan Calendar of Events, just issued by the Michigan Tourist Council.

Sault Ste. Marie events are highlighted, as the nation's third oldest city celebrates its 300th anniversary this summer. Although the actual celebration will not be held until August 14-24, several other events will help commemorate the tercentenary.

The re-enactment of Father Marquette's arrival at the Soo will be staged May 19. Other related events include Etienne Brule Day, June 5; Dedication of the new Poe Lock, June 15; International Days, July 1-4, and Dedication of the Shrine of the Missionaries, July 14.

Traditional festivals mark the calendar throughout, leading off with Kalkaska's famed National Trout Festival, April 26-28. Other community tributes include Maple Syrup Festivals at Vermontville, April 27, and Shepard, April 27-28; Mushroom Festival, Lake City, and the National Mushroom Festival, Boyne City both May 12-18, St. Joseph Benton Harbor and the Tulip Festival, Holland, May 15-18. Later festivals include the Bass Festival, Mancelona, May 31-June 2; International Freedom Festival, Detroit, July 1-4; Bavarian Festival, Frankenmuth, June 9-15; Alpine Festival, Gaylord, July 17-20, and the Danish Festival, Greenville, July 26-27.

Listings of most of Michigan's county fairs are also included in the publication.

Aid To Non-Public Schools Opposed By State Boards

A proposed state law to allow public funds to reimburse parents of children in private parochial schools has met head-on opposition from the Michigan Association of School Boards, which represents virtually all public schools in the state.

If passed, the bill would result in "the end of public education as we know it today in America," said the board's executive director Julius Barbour in a prepared statement.

The bill would grant up to $150 for children enrolled in non-public schools with the estimated cost on a state level pegged at $21 million a year.

"We do not want to digress to a dual system like our neighbors in Canada or the home of our forefathers in Europe," the board's administrator said. "We object to the efforts of private school pupils," he continued.

"We further doubt that this small amount of the present day tuition to a private school is even desired by most of the private school patrons.

"Can anyone deny that this would be a diversion, in the face of surety, that each recipient would be obliged to turn the money over to a private school in one form or another?" Barbour asked.

The school board association objects to the bill because it also gives public funds to "school systems set up by dissidents."

"Some wish to dissent from the laws under which public acts dedicated to segregation as to political beliefs."

"We believe it true that if one religious group—or more for that matter—is to receive public money to operate their schools, each church not only would have the same right, but by way of self-preservation would be forced to establish a system of their own. The result would be the end of public education as we know it today in America."

Lindner Heads Schoolcraft Negotiators

Acting on a recommendation of President Dr. Eric Bradner, the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees approved the appointment of Kenneth Lindner, vice president in charge of business affairs, to head the administration negotiation teams dealing with the faculty, business and custodial employees.

Lindner replaces Executive Vice President John Brinn on the team working with the Faculty Forum. Other members are: Fred Stefanski, director of the night college; and Dean of Students Edward McNally. Brinn and Dr. Bradner will serve as advisory members.

The team negotiating with the business staff is headed by Lindner and includes: Howard Kahn, assistant to the president; and Stefanski.

That dealing with the custodial staff includes: Lindner, as chairman, Stefanski and Dale Bertin, building superintendent who also has charge of maintenance.

College Takes Steps To Halt Campus Thefts

With a total of 94 reported thefts in the 183 days since the start of classes last August, the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees Wednesday gave Kenneth Lindner, vice president in charge of business, permission to hire an additional security officer until the end of the college year.

Lindner told the trustees the thefts were about equally divided between day and night classes, some taking place in the parking lots and some in the college buildings.

The Student Council took action two weeks ago to try to halt the robberies by hiring three student security officers. This did have some effect but since the students do not have police authority, Lindner asked for and received permission for the additional officer.

He pointed out the college had been short one man since mid-January when an officer was dismissed.

"We must have an additional officer on the campus with authority if we hope to check these thefts," he said.

The trustees agreed since they gave him permission to add the officer at a cost of no more than $3,000 for the balance of the college year.

FIRST GRADUATE — The first graduate of the State Highway Commission rehabilitation and training program for women at the Detroit House of Correction is shown here receiving her State Civil Service achievement award from Frank Wilkinson, the training director. Township Starts First Major Sidewalk Program As Pilot Plymouth Township, for the first time, has begun a project on sidewalks on its own.

It has authorized its engineer to study and evaluate the laying of sidewalks on property on the west side of Sheldon Rd., south from N. Territorial, to Bird Elementary School.

Engineer Herald Hamill, has also been directed to submit an estimate of costs for the township's share of the construction.

IN SO DIRECTING, the township has begun the first sidewalk project. The only sidewalks in the township to date have been built by private contractors and subdivision developers.

However, the township, from time to time, has received complaints from parents whose

School Board Town Meeting Successful

"We don't enter this light heartedly," Gibson said. He stated that he follows certain commitments when redistricting on the elementary level. Gibson commented that he tries to maintain a teacher pupil ratio of 1 to 28; he tries to limit the need for buses; always remains conscious of safety conditions and avoids hazards to children; and he tries to keep children in a close proximity to the school.

These were only a few of the commitments Gibson claimed he adhered to when redistricting.

AT THIS point the audience was encouraged to ask any questions it felt were not explained or touched upon during the talks.

Bill Moon, a Plymouth resident, asked about the elementary busing policy?

Gibson explained that children, generally, are bused to school if they live more than one mile from the building. Otherwise, he added, they are asked to walk. However, this doesn't always work according to plan.

Another member of the audience said, "Doesn't the planned new four-school complex on the high school #2 site defeat the busing policy?"

Rossman pointed out that for a secondary school the walking limit is a mile and a half but that it did make it necessary to bus a lot of children to the new high school anyway.

HE SAID that the factor of having to bus a lot of students is far out-weighted by the fact that the students at the four proposed schools will eventually be able to share so many facilities and thus avoid duplication, which is costly, he added.

One of the last questions asked was "What can citizens really do?"

Rossman stated that the citizens, by voicing their opinions, give a certain amount of direction to the board and the administration and, therefore, act as a check on the school's future activities.

He said that the citizens act as a sort of strong advisor for the board and in some cases could give the board some direction as to how to pursue some angle on some topic.

The meeting was adjourned, but will be continued at Junior High East on April 1.

children attend Bird School. The parents complained that their youngsters had to walk in the mud along Sheldon Rd. or cross the road to the city side.

The parents claimed that when their children went to the city's side of Sheldon—where there are sidewalks—their offspring had to cross the busy street twice in order to get to school.

JOHN McEVEN, supervisor, said that he recommended that the sidewalks be put in but that he would like the Board of Trustees to have the firm commitment of the property owners along the strip that they would construct a sidewalk as well.

The cost to the township may run high because the drain must be extended to accommodate the sidewalk.

Hamill said the rough estimate of cost would be about $5,000. He added that the improvement of the drain—by making it bigger when extending it—would increase its capacity 30 or 40 per cent.

City Studies Minor Liquor Law

To speed action in cases of violations and with the hope of diverting more money in the city coffers, the City Commission agreed Monday to take steps toward enactment of an ordinance governing minors and the possession of alcohol.

The request was made by Police Chief Corrington who pointed out that such an ordinance would eliminate the necessity of going to the Prosecuting Attorney's office to obtain authorization for a warrant.

"If the City of Plymouth had an ordinance controlling the possession of alcohol by minors," he wrote, "we would be able to charge the persons arrested for this offense under City Ordinance, which would eliminate the time consuming trip to the Prosecutors office with the subsequent waiting and any penalty charged for conviction of this crime or violation would go to the City of Plymouth rather than to the State."

He suggested that if such an ordinance was approved it should contain the following section:

"No person under the age of 21 shall knowingly purchase or knowingly possess or transport any alcoholic liquor or knowingly possess, transport or have under his control in any motor vehicle any alcoholic liquor, unless said person is employed by a licensee, licensed under the provisions of Act

#8 of the State of Michigan, acts of 1933, extra session, as amended, and is possessing transporting or having alcoholic liquor in motor vehicle under his control, during regular working hours and in the course of employment."

The Commission instructed City Attorney Charles Lowe to ascertain if the Commission had the legal right to enact such an ordinance. He was also instructed to proceed with such an ordinance—if it were legal to do so.

City Police Get $4,760

At the request of Police Chief Robert Corrington, the City Commission approved an appropriation of $4,760.60 for the purchase of equipment.

In his request Chief Corrington didn't name the equipment, but stated it was needed to "bring our equipment up to date".

Since he took over the post last year Chief Corrington has been striving to have the Plymouth department rated with the best in the state. His request was considered in this light when the Commission granted approval.

Change In MSU Rules Approved

A Women's Inter-residence Council of Michigan State University proposal to delete two sentences from the student handbook has been approved by Milton B. Dickerson, vice-president for student affairs. The sentences to be deleted call for overnight sign-out by a coed to a man's apartment unacceptable behavior.

Dickerson said that he hopes that the deletion does not give the impression that "we don't expect student to use standards of conduct. We expect the responsibility of conduct to rest with the student," he said.

A sample of women's opinions on campus indicated that 66 per cent approved and 34 per cent disapproved of the policy change.

This question was asked on a questionnaire distributed by WIC. Out of the 5000 questionnaires distributed, 1000 were returned. The number of questionnaires returned amount to about 10 per cent of the coeds living on campus, said Joy Tu-baugh, adviser to WIC.

Of the women who answered the question on whether they were in favor of visiting privileges of the opposite sex in dormitory rooms with the door closed, 55 per cent voted yes, 45 per cent voted no.

The others and the dates of probable Negro majorities were listed as: New Orleans and Richmond, Va., by 1971; Baltimore and Jacksonville, Fla., by 1972; Gary by 1973; Cleveland by 1975; St. Louis by 1978; Detroit by 1979; Philadelphia by 1981; Oakland, Calif., by 1983; and Chicago by 1984.

Reading Program Aids First Year Students

Plymouth Schools have a reading program that is designed to prevent first grade students—who have difficulty reading—from failing their first year in school.

Mrs. Shirley Spaniel, coordinator of curriculum—reading language arts—explained that the program is only five months old and it was too soon to tell if it has been a smashing success.

However, she said that the hardest part of the project was convincing parents that just because their children happen to be enrolled in the remedial reading program, does not mean the youngsters are "stupid" or "incompetent."

SHE ADDED that the program is not for children who are mentally retarded and therefore cannot advance themselves. But, rather, the program is made for children who are slow and need a little extra helping hand.

The majority of the children in the program are there because of some mild physical defect—perhaps their hearing is slightly impaired, but enough to make it difficult to keep up with other children his age, she said.

According to Mrs. Spaniel the program is fairly simple. Here is how it works:

When the children are in kindergarten, the teacher is told to choose those tots who appear to be a little slow in learning. After this, these children are tested to discover their problem and, then entered into a project to correct it.

She said that once they are in their first year of "real" school they are given added help. In this manner the child can be a success in the first grade and consequently will have more of a chance in the years to come.

SOMETIMES the child is slow, Mrs. Spaniel explained, because he is not mature. In other words, the child is not ready to learn. And, when a child isn't ready to learn you cannot force him.

This program prepares them to learn how to read. It also helps the child who is unhappy in school because he cannot do all that the other children are doing.

In the program, the child is given projects he can successfully complete, and, therefore, he becomes happy with school because he is able to be a success like the other youngsters.

Dog Census Now Planned In Township

Plymouth Township will conduct a dog census this year in the newer subdivisions.

Helen Richardson, township clerk, said that she has received complaints from residents in Plymouth Estates subdivision that a pack of dogs has been running loose.

She said that Wayne County Sheriff's Department has tried several times unsuccessfully to catch the dogs.

Mrs. Richardson added that a census will give her an idea who might own these and will also force people to obtain licenses.

The census will be conducted in Twin Arbor, Old Orchard, Plymouth Estates, Lake Pointe #9, Woodbrook and Riverside #3.

Justice Gives Three Drivers Heavy Fines

Three men were fined a total of $343 by Plymouth Township Justice of the Peace James McCarthy last week.

Walter G. Mulligan, 17465 Fenton, Detroit, was fined $115, given a suspended sentence of 90 days in jail and put on a year's probation on the charge of fleeing traffic arrest.

James R. Sennett, 28360 W. Warren, Westland, was fined $115 on the charge of driving with ability impaired and then was fined another $8 on a second charge—having an expired operator's license.

David A. Reed, 6370 Greenview, Detroit, was fined $115 on the charge of driving with ability impaired.

Judge McCarthy issued a total of $816 in fines to 30 persons.

School Board Invites OLGC

Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic School Board of Education invited the Plymouth Community Board of Education to Our Lady of Good Counsel School to discuss the controversial non-public school aid bill, now proposed in Lansing.

V.F.W. Auxiliary Sponsors Dinner

The V.F.W. Auxiliary to Mayflower Post 6695 is trying to corral all its friends to a western style beef dinner on Sunday, March 10 at the Post home, 1426 S. Mill Street, Plymouth.

Dinners are served hourly, 1 p.m. through 4 p.m. and will be chuckwagon style. Mrs. Robert Smith is general chairman and her co-chairmen are Mrs. Robert Barber and Mrs. Edward Kopenski. Tickets are available by calling Ticket Chairman, Miss Dolly Bouterse at 453-8104 or 453-1529.

to accept the invitation but rather extended an invitation to the Catholic educators to come to their next regular meeting in March.

Esther Huising, Plymouth Board president, said the bill was up to the Legislature and she was not quite sure what the two bodies had to discuss.

Supt. James Rossman was directed to talk with the Catholic Board and see if they will accept the Plymouth Board's invitation.

Madonna To Host Open House Program

Brooks-Perkins

Gains In Earnings

Brooks & Perkins, Incorporated earned $218,000 or 48 cents a share on sales of $4,168,000 for the second quarter ended January 31, up from a year earlier earnings of $75,000 or 17 cents a share on sales of $3,754,000.

The company manufactures components and equipment for the aerospace, materials handling and air cargo industries. The company has a plant in Livonia.

Edward H. Perkins, Jr., president, attributed the increase in sales and earnings to increased productivity, better product mix, greater operating efficiency and accelerated contract deliveries.

The Directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of five cents a share payable March 20 to holders of record of March 11, 1968.

High school juniors, teachers and counselors of Farmington, North Farmington, Bentley, Stevenson, Franklin, Plymouth, Ladywood, Nativity, St. Florian, Our Lady of Mount Carmel, St. Casimir, St. Stanislaus and St. Andrew are expected to attend the program.

Sponsored by the Public Relations Club, the event will acquaint incomers with programs of study and life at Madonna.

SISTER M. GERARD, dean of students, said, "This year we're carrying out the program from a different angle, the departments will become directly involved."

She said that each discipline will handle activities for students interested in that particular department. Twenty of the 21 departments are planning tours and informal discussions.

The day will begin at 12:30 with a half-hour general session. Students will then recess to the department of their choice for a one-hour briefing and tour.

In an effort to increase enrollment, the annually sponsored open house is only one means of recruiting prospective freshmen.

Boycott Olympics? That Wouldn't Be Joe's Style

By W. W. Edgar

'Eddie' Films Show With Joe

"Eddie" Edgar, editor of the Plymouth Mail & Observer, covered the youthful Joe Louis 30 years ago for the Detroit Free Press and knows the champ probably better than any newspaperman. Edgar will appear with Louis between scenes of the movie "The Joe Louis Story" Friday at 11:30 p.m. on channel 2.

While taping the program, Edgar talked to America's foremost Negro athlete about the proposed Negro-black African boycott of this summer's Olympic games, and got this exclusive story for the Observer Newspapers.

sprang to world prominence by the use of his fists, Joe recalled some of his thrills on the way up the pugilistic ladder.

HE WAS BACK home to visit his boyhood haunts again as part of the side features to promote the showing of the "Joe Louis Story" on Channel 2 on Friday evening, March 8, at 11:30 p.m.

"To bad," he said, "that they couldn't put some of the thrills

I had in the picture. The picture shows what I did. But it don't show how I felt after winning some of those fights."

Still looking toward the "Valley" and trying to recognize such places as Brewster Center gym, where he boxed the first time, and Bronson School, where he was in the vocational class, Joe recounted some of his biggest moments.

"I always got a thrill from winning," he said, "but it was bigger when I fight a man from another country. When the referee raise my hand at the finish and the crowd cheer, I feel I did something for my country. I was helping to make it the best."

HE HESITATED for a moment, then turned away from the window and went on—

"If the young people only knew what a thrill it is to stand and be cheered as a winner for your country, like I stood many times in the ring, they would know it is a privilege, and they wouldn't listen to those who are talking about boycotting the Olympics."

While he didn't mention any of his victims by name, he no doubt was thinking of the fights he had with former champion Primo Carnera, the giant Italian; Paulino Uzcudun, the "Basque Woodchopper"; Arturo HAPPY DAYS of the past are discussed by former Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis and Plymouth Editor Eddie Edgar, who was one of the first to write stories about the rising young boxer back in the mid '30s. The two have been close friends ever since.

Godoy, the big Argentinian; and Max Schmeling, the beetle-browed German who once knocked him out only to fall a victim to Joe's fists in a second meeting.

In each of these fights Joe felt he was fighting for his country's prestige and, as he band playing and the American flag waving, when they pin the medal on you," he continued, in a rare talkative mood, "you won't even be thinking of whether South Africa had a team in or not. It will just be a privilege to be there."

The Brown Bomber should know, for he came on the historic horizon at a most unusual time, for such thrills. It was at the end of the depression in 1934 when he won the Golden Gloves and then turned pro. At the time he was "hustling" axes at Ford's for a comparatively few dollars a day. His family was on the welfare and World War II was in the making.

"IT WAS ALMOST like war the night I fight Carnera," he recalled. Italy was fighting Ethiopia and it seemed like big Primo and me were fighting part of the war that night. It was much the same in his bouts with Schmeling. Prior to their first meeting in 1936, Schmeling let it be known that he had been promised a big job by Adolph Hitler—if he won. And after he conquered Louis with a knockout in the 12th round, Max was named minister of recreation in the Nazi government.

It is no secret that Louis' pride was hurt just as much as his body that unforgettable night. It is no secret, either, that Schmeling is the only opponent for whom Louis ever harbored resentment. That's why Joe was so determined and vicious in their second meeting in 1938 when he stopped Max in 2.04 of the first round.

JOE CONFIDED the other afternoon that he was fighting two fights that hot night in 1938—one to regain his pride and the other to bring prestige back to his country.

"Sure, it was a thrill," he admitted, "and it's the kind of a thrill these young athletes could get in the Olympic Games in Mexico if they don't listen to the fellows who are talking about a boycott."

"They could have the privilege of doing something for their country—and the thrill of being part of it."

No Complaint About NSH New Budget

Northville State Hospital stands to get a 7 per cent service improvement in its budget—including a much-discussed new X-ray machine—if Gov. Romney's new budget is approved by the Legislature.

So says the NSH superintendent, Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin, and his smile this year is in great contrast to his unhappiness over last year's budget.

A year ago there was a dollar increase in the NSH budget, but it was more than eaten up by a pay increase. On balance, Dr. Yudashkin said, NSH suffered a 6 per cent service cut in that budget.

THE NEW $8.6 million budget, for the fiscal year beginning July 1, was proposed by Gov. Romney several weeks ago, but it wasn't until the last few days that details of the Northville State Hospital proposal were spelled out.

"Assuming that one never gets all he asks for, I'd say we did pretty well. That's also assuming the Senate and House go along with the governor's recommendations," he said. "This budget will allow us to gain some ground," Dr. Yudashkin said.

BIGGEST SINGLE gain will be $47,900 for a new X-ray machine. Dr. Yudashkin last year was publicly critical of the state's failure to replace an old machine that "fails to meet State Health Dept. standards as far as the amount of radiation is concerned."

"This is the third year we've tried to get it," he said. "The old one is still in constant use—between breakdowns. It's obsolete—so old that it can't be repaired properly. Our X-ray technician went to Traverse City to strip a (similar) machine there for parts."

The unhappiness with the old machine reached the point where the patients' council began a campaign to collect donations of trading stamps in order to save money for a new unit.

The state budget department gave the new X-ray machine a high priority by putting the proposal in the operating budget rather than in the capital budget, which tends to be cut in legislative economy drives.

THE NEW operating budget is $8,583,000, about $900,000 more than the current year's appropriation.

More than half of the increase is used up in a 7 per cent pay increase for employees that will cost $488,000.

Some $317,000 is budgeted for improvements in operation. This includes:

• $215,000 for patient care—25.1 jobs and equipment for attendants, social workers and nurses.

• $94,000 in community services—10 jobs and equipment for taking care of out-patients, the night hospital and after-care.

• $11,000 for "other" uses—1.6 jobs and equipment for housekeeping, safety and general work.

THE CAPITAL budget amounts to some $320,000. Big items here are roof repairs, brick repair and treatment, and electric cable replacement.

Northville State Hospital has a capacity of 2,200 beds. Its population service area amounts to some 1.5 million in western Wayne County.

In addition, there is a "community service" area of some 200,000 population, largely in the Observerland suburbs, that is getting greater and greater attention as mental care shifts its emphasis to treating the patient in the community rather than institutionalizing him.

College Gets Grant

The vocational technical training program at Schoolcraft College, which was started in the fall on the assumption federal funds would be available on a matching basis, will continue for the remainder of the college year on a grant of $11,826.

Kenneth Lindner, vice president in charge of business affairs, announced the grant at Wednesday's board meeting. There was a time in late fall when Lindner thought the college would have to bear the entire financial burden since the federal government had denied a grant for lack of funds.

The Trustees earlier had voted to curtail the Schoolcraft program but decided to continue on the present limited scale on receipt of the grant.

THE TRUSTEES approved advertising for bids on the proposed remodeling of the library with the bid opening slated for March 20 at 4 p.m.

The board approved purchase of new furniture for the library at an estimated cost of $46,000 on the basis of matching funds from the state.

Lindner received permission from the board to look into the matter of having instructors construct six hydraulic benches for the Vocational-Technical Education department.

He Advised Gen. McArthur

Army Training Fits Bill Harding For School Job

By HENRY J. TEUTSCH

Bill Harding, assistant superintendent of schools in Plymouth, is an unassuming sort of fellow and is probably the only former platoon sergeant in Plymouth who can brag that he advised Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Harding went into the infantry in March, 1943 and fought in World War II with the 25th Infantry Hawaii Division. He saw action in Guadalcanal, New Georgia, Vella LaVella and made the Luzon invasion where he was wounded and sent home for six months.

"I joined the Army as a young boy of 18 and I feel that that was probably one of the real growing up periods of my life," reminisced Harding.

"I can remember being on a road, after a morning skirmish. MacArthur was going through the area and assessing damage, casualties and the en-enemy's strength.

"He stopped in front of where I was standing and called me over. He asked about my platoon, about the terrain and the enemy's strength where we had fought.

"I'll never ever forget the experience because I had idolized the man from the time I knew who he was."

HARDING MAY HAVE some of the platoon sergeant left in him, as he sits at his desk in his glass-walled office, issuing directives, having conferences and making innumerable memos to call so-and-so at such-and-such a time.

He is a busy man--and for one very good reason, Harding has the responsibility of secondary education for Plymouth School District.

The ex-soldier became assistant superintendent for secondary education in 1964 and the good old Army days are just fond memories now.

WILLIAM C. HARDING was born Aug. 15, 1923 in Iron Mountain as a twin with his sister, Ruth.

He and Ruth graduated from Iron Mountain High School in 1941 and Harding finished one semester at the University of Michigan, in the fall of 1942, before he went into the service.

Before he was wounded on Luzon, Harding, a star athlete, was one of the front five of the 1939 Class B State Basketball championship team at Iron Mountain High School.

His athletic career was cut short, but he never lost interest in sports and went on to coach some other championship teams throughout the state.

SOON AFTER GRADUATING from U. of M., in 1950, with his bachelor of science in education, Harding began teaching in Dexter High School, Dexter.

Besides teaching he was assistant football coach under Carl Kreger and, for the year, they formed a good team with a 6-2 record.

The former basketball star then came to Plymouth, in 1952, as a teacher and assistant football coach.

For three years, Harding and John Sandmann, who is athletic director now, worked under Charlie Ketterer, piling up an impressive record of 22 victories and only two losses.

In 1956, the former assistant football coach and teacher was named principal of the first junior high school--grades seven and eight--which was located in an annex behind the high school.

With these important duties he had to give up coaching and devote full time to his new job.

THE FOLLOWING YEAR, the new principal opened Junior High East and then in 1961 he was given the extra task of being principal for the new Junior High West and remained principal of both until he became assistant superintendent.

"What are the duties of the assistant superintendent for secondary education?" Harding was asked.

He replied, "I am a coordinator of secondary schools, in charge of staffing, programs and equipping them."

"I am a member of the school board's negotiating team, for which I was chairman in 1957, and I also perform a public relations role. Things like that," he commented.

"What are some of your thoughts on education, as you see it today?" he was asked.

"I'M AMAZED and pleased by the growth that's taken place in Plymouth and is still going on."

"My first year as seventh and eighth grade principal, in 1956, there were only 500 students, but the next year there were close to 1,500 seventh and eighth graders."

Harding spoke with conviction and a penetrating stare, as if he was trying to burn with his eyes the meaning of his words.

"I'm pleased about the programs that are being planned and the organization of schools that are under way."

"This is a dynamic growth of enthusiastic youngsters in the area. I like that kind of growth."

"WHAT ELSE is going on in secondary education?" "We have changed the concept of educating from one way of learning to many ways of learning."

"Junior high schools are turning into middle schools and we are swinging into middle schools rather than junior high schools," he said.

Junior high schools group seventh, eighth and ninth grade students while middle schools group sixth, seventh and eighth graders, explained the superintendent.

It is better, he continued, to group sixth, seventh and eighth grade students because they are more nearly alike in their wants and needs than are ninth graders in the same group.

A ninth grade boy is becoming interested in girls, parties and dances and has less in common with students in lower grades than he does with high school students, he went on.

Eighth grade students, however, don't really care about girls and the rest and therefore don't mind being grouped with lower grade students, he explained.

"WHAT ARE SOME other changes going on?"

Harding replied, "The kinds of staffs are different."

"We feel that the teacher supplements the parents' role and in some cases serves as a parent to the child. Therefore, we try to get teachers that are child-oriented rather than subject-oriented."

"With this kind of teacher, we feel that we can stop the that good textbooks are valuable but he does not put all of the stress in writing-learning. This, he said, changes the direction of the method of teaching from being subject-oriented to child-oriented.

"I am especially pleased with the flexibilities we are putting into our schools."

"We are adding films, tape recorders, overhead projectors and other learning tools. Our libraries are no longer just stacks of books, but are now learning resource centers where students can use their entire faculties."

"But, we still are trying to help the disabled reader so he can succeed in higher education."

are those which interest me the most."

He attributes his first interest in education to his father, Iver Harding, who served for 16 years with the Board of Education in Iron Mountain.

He says he is trying to instill in his children the same interest in becoming educated as was instilled in him.

Harding was married to his wife, Delphine, in November 1950, while he was at U. of M. She was a medical technologist working at the University Hospital when they met. They have two sons, Bill, 16, and Tom, 9.

Just possibly, an ex-platoon sergeant, who has witnessed the ugliness of war, but who is tempered with respect for a person's dignity, will be successful with his own sons as well as those given to his care for only a few hours a day.

Big Beams Arrive City Building New Ice Rinks

Livonia's two new indoor ice rinks have glided closer to completion with the arrival of building materials from the Pacific Northwest and the City Council's OK of $21,000 in equipment.

From Oregon state came five railroad cars loaded with massive ceiling beams, 110 feet in length with a 17-foot bow.

THE BEAMS were hoisted into place Tuesday morning at one of the rink construction sites, Lyndon and Stark Road. (The other rink will be at Roberts Drive and Sunset.)

Teflon plates necessary for erection of the ceiling beams were overlooked in the first railroad shipment from Oregon and held up ceiling construction for a few days. While awaiting the plates, workmen concentrated on the huge masonry walls for the rinks.

Carrying a $21,000 price tag, two ice-surfacing machines were OK'd for purchase by the Livonia City Council. The machines shave and smooth ice in one motion.

THE CITY'S TWO rinks, at least one of which will boast an 85 by 200 foot rink section (compared to Detroit's Olympia, 85 by 185), will cost more than $1 million, though officials plan for their eventual self-support.

Board Scans Budget For 2 Courses

Pilot projects in vocational education for the next school year, and for driver education simulators for next summer, have been approved in principle by the Livonia Board of Education.

But final approval has been withheld pending a survey of finance, Supt. of Schools Benton Yates said.

The vocational program comes under four classifications. There would be orderly and nurses training at Bentley High School; small engines and machinery training at Franklin High; commercial foods management at Franklin, and the graphic arts at Stevenson high.

QUALIFIED vocational instructors would be in charge of the program, and students would come from all over town to the schools designated for the courses. Students mostly would be juniors and seniors.

For the driver education program, the proposal is to lease a tractor with 10 trailer units for one year at the cost of $10,000 to be applied toward the purchase price of $35,000, Yates said.

THE DRIVER training program is emphasized in summer, with about 1,600 youths registered for the classes. About 1,000 also register for after-school driver education.

Livonia, however, has been paying about half the cost of the program, or $25 a student, against the $25 provided by the state. The state, however, may pick up the entire tab this summer, it was said. The board is waiting to see where program money must come from, because of the tight budget.

American filling stations pumped a record amount of fuel in 1967, the Bureau of Public Roads reports.

The bureau estimated that nearly 78 billion gallons of fuel were consumed by the nation's motor vehicles during 1967—an increase of 4.3 per cent over last year. Nearly 73 billion gallons of gasoline and more than five billion gallons of diesel and other special fuels are included in the total. An additional four billion gallons of motor fuel was used for non-highway purposes—pushing the total fuel consumption to 82 billion gallons.

Performances will be at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. both days, with tickets available at the door.

Two Ladywood seniors, Pam Pisani and Judy Hamrick, will take the lead role of Alvis Denny in "Bright Girl."

U.S. Will Have 100 Million Cars In 1968

The total number of registered motor vehicles in the United States will surpass 100 million in 1968.

The Bureau of Public Roads puts the 1967 year-end total at 97,527,000 registrations, an increase of 3.5 per cent or 3.3 million vehicles over 1966. Truck and bus registrations are estimated at 16,476,000—an increase of four per cent over last year's total of 15,839,065. Passenger cars total approximately 81,051,000 or 3.4 per cent more than 1966's total of 78,353,534.

WHO WANTS TO
Don Keeth

Do you ever feel like estivating? Before you take offense, let me state that my research staff has come up with the information that to estivate is to pass the summer in a torpor. Torpor (they mercifully added) is a state of dormancy or sluggishness.

Estivate, then, is the flip side of hibernate. Some animals do both. Chipmunks for instance. This probably gets em through the hot spells and cold spells with a minimum of discomfort. The rest of the time they are bright-eyed and bushy-tailed. But I digress. Back to people.

We do not estivate, neither do we hibernate. Couldn't even if we wanted to. Our aim is to be bright-eyed and bushy-tailed the year around—summer, winter, spring and fall. We beat the hot-cold rap by heating and cooling our homes.

Unfortunately, this heating or cooling doesn't always leave us bright-eyed and bushy-tailed. Sometimes indoor winter air is baked bone-dry and how we suffer! Or the indoor air is stale and stuffy, hardly anything to brighten one's eye. Maybe there is dirt, odor, noise. You know the problems. We've all experienced these things. Many are still putting up with them.

But take heart! Help is at hand. It comes undisguised as the Lennox TOTAL COMFORT SYSTEM. You get even heat, humidity control, air freshening, air cleaning, refreshing air circulation and extreme quietness. Gas, oil or electricity can be the heat source—and it's all ready for central air conditioning now or later!

Let our furry friends estivate and hibernate. We've got a better system... Lennox Total Comfort. Call for the whole story. Ask for "Bright Eyes."

Schoolcraft Trustees OK $3.7 Million Issue

Citing need for additional land and buildings to meet the rapidly expanding needs of the college and acting on recommendations of their bonding attorneys, Schoolcraft College Trustees have approved a $3.7 million building and site bond issue.

Robert Hammell, representing the bonding attorneys, and Robert Russell, from the First of Michigan Corporation, recommended the bond issue rather than a $5.5 million issue that would have included re-funding $1.620 million bonds now outstanding.

They stressed that a $5.5 million issue would have to go to the vote of the five communities in the college district and would involve costs of an election, the risk of having an unfavorable vote, delays in getting approval of the Michigan

Finance Commission which could cost existing federal and state grants allocated on the basis of matching funds and the dangers involved in attempting a vote during a national election year.

Among items listed for consideration through funds secured by the sale of the bonds are:

Remodeling of the library at a cost of $102,000.

Physical Education building, including equipment, $660,000. This amount is needed in local funds to put the building under contract by June 30, 1968 to protect state grants under made ($225,000 partial share, full share not to exceed $1,178 million. The college already has $1 million to be applied to the project from the 1966 bond issue).

Physical education outdoor areas $112,500 with an anticipated state grant of $112,500 for a total of $225,000.

Maintenance building $410,000 with an anticipated state grant of $240,000 for a total cost of $650,000.

Culinary Arts expansion, $125,000 with an anticipated state grant of $125,000 for a total of $250,000.

Office and Administration space $375,000 with an anticipated state grant of $375,000 for a total of $750,000.

Master Plan, Phase II, $25,000 with an anticipated state grant of $25,000 for a total of $50,000.

Equipment for ongoing programs, $250,000 from the new issue.

Instructional Building A, $470,000 with an anticipated state grant of $470,000 and an anticipated federal grant of $50,000 for a total of $1,440,000.

Instructional Building B, $465,000 with an anticipated state grant of $465,000 and an anticipated federal grant of $500,000 for a total of $1,430,000.

Instructional Building C, $465,000 with an anticipated state grant of $465,000 and an anticipated federal grant of $500,000 for a total of $1,430,000.

Land purchases, $450,000 from the new issue.

The total costs of the project is estimated at $7,585,000 with $3,807,500 from the college district and the balance from anticipated or already allocated state and federal grants.

Happy Start For East, Raiders, Falcons

The form sheet held up on opening night for Observerland teams in the district high school basketball playoffs.

To nobody's surprise, powerful Garden City East stormed past Franklin, 88-63, in the Class A opener at Franklin.

In the "A" play at North Farmington, the host school tripped Plymouth, 82-70, while Farmington recovered from a slow start, then survived a last-second scare to oust Redford Union, 78-76.

Clarenceville didn't last long in the Class B district the Trojans are hosting. Despite some drastic stalling tactics, Clarenceville was ousted by Riverside, 46-33.

East, No. 16 in the state Class A rankings and with a record now of 17-1, was to engage Stevenson Wednesday night in what shaped up as another easy affair for Garden City's Mid-Wayne League champs.

A victory would send East to the district finale Friday night against the winner of Tuesday's game between Bentley and Garden City West. All signs pointed to East vs. Bentley for the right to advance to next week's regionals at Franklin.

EAST NEVER trailed against Franklin, jumping on top, 14-2, as Charles Sakmar and Rick Klack got East going. But Franklin put on a mild comeback, came within 26-22 at halftime as Doug Sutton and Charles Wiggins led the comeback.

But then Bill Young came off the bench with Mike Maciasz and teamed to turn matters into a runaway.

Young popped two free throw and Maciasz six quick points to help shove East on top, 36-25. Then East ripped in 16 straight points with Young the chief marksman to make it 52-25 at halftime and the rest was no contest.

Maciasz wound up with 24 points. Rick Klack had 17, Sakmar 11, Harold Slade 10 and Young eight. Chris Lang with 17 and Wiggins with 14 topped Franklin. Sutton ended up with 10 for Franklin.

At the North Farmington gym, the host Raiders, by beating Plymouth earned the right to clash with Thurston, the Northwest Suburban League champ, in the feature half of Wednesday's semifinals. It'll be Farmington and Walled Lake in the other encounter.

NORTH FARMINGTON, runner-up to Thurston in the league, got a life with the return to action of high-scoring Ron Flutur, who has been sidelined with a fractured toe.

Although he arrived in the gym on crutches, Flutur popped in nine points in the first quarter to lift the Raiders into a 24-18 lead. It was 42-33 at halftime and after Plymouth cut the gap to four in the third period, the Raiders made it 63-52 going into the final period.

Flutur collected 17 points, while his ace mate, Mike McCoy, was high man with 27.

Bob Kellman scored 18 for Plymouth. Mike Stakias had 15, Mike Kubik 13 and Greg Corrigan nine in the losing cause.

The Farmington-Redford Union game was as strange as they come.

Redford Union roared ahead 20-6 in the first six minutes on the scoring of Dennis Fifield and Dale Bjerke. But by the period's end it was 25-16 for RU and then early in the second period, the Falcons tied the game at 29-29.

Once more RU exploded, this time with nine straight points and reached the half with a 38-30 command.

In the third period, the score was tied at 43-43, 45-45 and 53-53 before a hoop by Doug Hamilton shoved Farmington ahead, 55-53, just before the buzzer.

The Falcons never yielded their advantage. With Hamilton and Joe Himmelsbach sharing honors, Farmington ripped into a 74-63 with 2:35 left to go.

WITH JUST over a minute remaining, Farmington was on top, 78-68.

But RU wasn't through yet. The Townshipers ripped in eight straight points, including four charities by Bjerke, but only two seconds remained when Fifield connected to put RU two points down. Before anything else could happen, time had expired.

CLARENCEVILLE RESORT-ED to delaying tactics in its encounter with Riverside.

The strategy didn't work, however.

Riverside led, 6-4, after the first period, made it 20-11 at halftime and 36-18 at three quarters.

Why not build up local rivalries, we say! What's wrong with Bentley clashing with Stevenson in all sports or Franklin contending regularly with the new Churchill High?

Or North Farmington finding itself bucking the third Farmington High for a championship of a league?

WELL, IT DOESN'T look like it's going to happen.

At least, the future signs don't point that way. Just the other day, a group of area athletic directors assembled to discuss the formation of a possible new league.

There were representatives on deck from six interested new schools — in Walled Lake, Northville, Livonia, Waterford, Farmington and Plymouth.

"It's not too early to start planning," explained Bob Bentley, current athletic director at Franklin who'll be switching over to the new Churchill High in Livonia starting next fall.

Our question at this juncture was a natural one, we thought.

"What's with putting Bentley, Stevenson, Franklin and Churchill together?"

Bob Bentley, a long time veteran in the Liv-

Observer Sports News

onia schools and well respected in the metropolitan area for his coaching as well as sports administrative ability, had a ready answer:

"We've thought about that kind of a setup. But, all of us feel that it makes for better competition to have your schools go out and contest against other communities.

"There's less chance of getting into a rut."

Bentley elaborated:

"Suppose we put all the Livonia schools together. Well, we all operate under the same rules. Presently, we can't have seventh and eighth grade programs. Were we together, we probably never would have to consider going down into the lower grades to start sports.

"BUT, NOW WE MUST. After all, Franklin is in the same league as Thurston and Thurston does extremely well in football and basketball and wrestling . . . and a big reason is that their kids get into competitive sports two and three years ahead of ours.

"Bentley High has to keep on its toes, because of similar grade school programs among some of its rivals. The same goes for Stevenson, which plays in its own league."

Competition and outside relationships lead to better sports teams, according to Bentley, who is all in favor of keeping the Livonia teams separated as far as leagues are concerned.

Bentley adds that the Grand Rapids schools wish they hadn't banded together, and the feeling is the same in other big cities in the state.

So the trend is to stay away from "unity."

Perhaps, it could be noted that under the present setup, it's possible for Bentley, Stevenson and Franklin to all win titles in the same sport . . . and the same goes for Farmington and North Farmington . . . Redford Union and Thurston.

Who can deny that?

THE greatest basketball race in the history of the Northwest Suburban League couldn't have had a more fitting windup.

With three teams battling for a share of the title, it took a rally by Thurston in the closing 60 seconds of the last game to beat Oak Park, 62-61, and enable it to gain the title outright.

The win gave Thurston a 9-1 loop record, followed by North Farmington at 8-2 and Oak Park at 7-3.

Had Oak Park triumphed over Thurston, there'd have been a three-way tie for the flag—a first in the circuit.

Thurston won it all the hard way. The Townshipers appeared to be sailing along. They had a 10-point lead in the third period and led by seven going into the final quarter.

THEN OAK PARK struck back and with 1:10 left to go in the game, the Parkers grabbed a 60-59 lead.

With their backs to the wall, the Thurston players produced when they had to. Dale Joyce ripped in a basket and Dennis Day a free throw and that proved just enough to decide the game.

Urban Rice had 18 points, Joyce 17 and Tim Forbes 11 for the winners. Brian Harbin had 20 for the losers.

Thurston finished the regular season with a 13-5 record. The Townshipers also won the reserve title in the league by knocking off Oak Park's second stringers, 65-30.

RAIDERS ROMP

Mike McCoy was the man of the hour as North Farmington blasted Birmingham Groves, 84-54, to end the 1967-68 Northwest Suburban League season with eight wins and two losses and finish behind champion Thurston.

McCoy fired in 37 points to set a school record for the Raiders. He hit on 14 baskets and nine charities to eclipse the former mark of 34 set earlier in the campaign by Ron Flutur, who was sidelined in the closing stretch by injuries.

North Farmington, hoping that Oak Park would beat Thurston to create a three-way tie for the league crown, never had any trouble against Groves. The Raiders stormed off to half time and coasted in from there.

Thurston Rallies For Cage Title

Swim Title To Groves

TOURNEY ACTION opens on all fronts for area schoolboy quintets and this shot shows Garden City East displaying the offensive power that has made it one of the top teams in Observerland. Big Charley Sakmar (23) reached for a loose ball as Franklin's Mike Slavin (30) moves in. East eliminated Franklin, 88-63.

Gift Days Planned

Three big gift days, always popular with the Tigers' young fans, have been scheduled for 1968 at Tiger Stadium.

Free Cap Day will open the series on Sunday, May 19, when the improved Washington Senators meet the Tigers in a doubleheader.

Free Bat Day, which brings out the largest crowd of the season, is scheduled for June 9, when the Cleveland Indians will be on hand for a single game.

Free Ball Day, winding up the series, has been set for Sunday, June 30, with the Tigers playing the pennant-contending Chicago White Sox in another single game.

Junior teams are invited to attend in a group, with each member receiving a bat, ball or cap.

Thurston Nips Farmington For Wrestling Title

More honors have come to Thurston High's wrestling team.

After an unbeaten dual-meet campaign in the Northwest Suburban League, Thurston won the overall loop crown.

Then last weekend at Glenn, Thurston carried off the regional Class A wrestling title by edging Farmington for the top prize, 73-71, when Chet Proctor won the heavyweight title.

John Glenn was third with 56 points, followed by Wayne with 44.

Individual champions and runnerups qualified for the state meet Friday and Saturday at Parkside High in Jackson.

Thurston produced only two individual titlists while Farmington grabbed off four crowns.

The Farmington winners included John Cassell, who was the state's 120-pound king last year.

Cassell now scales 127 pounds and will be a favorite for the state crown.

Fifth place in the team race went to Garden City East with 43 points. Then came Redford Union 36, Garden City West 27, Stevenson 26, Bentley 25, Southfield 24, tie between Crestwood, Franklin and North Farmington 16, and Inkster 13.

TEAM CHAMPIONSHIP trophy has the attention of this happy group from Thurston High after winning the regional wrestling championship. They are: (from left) Co-Captain and Heavyweight Champion Chet Proctor, Coach Jim Knotts, Assistant Coach Earl McBride and Co-Captain Barry Sheik, who was unable to compete due to a sprained wrist.

2nd Perfect Loop Year Fashioned By Bentley

A second perfect league season, undisputed champs for the second year in a row, a streak of 21 straight conference wins over three seasons!

That's the way the curtain fell on the 1967-68 regular campaign for Bentley High in basketball.

Best Year Posted By West Team

It was the "best" basketball season in all departments for Garden City West.

At least as far as the regular season was concerned.

The curtain dropped with a 79-71 conquest over Southgate and thus enabled West to:

1. Wind up with a 10-4 record and second place in the Tri Rivers League, two marks never before achieved by West.
2. Post a final record of 10-6, the finest in West's history.

THE TURNING point came in the third period when West outscored its rival, 25-15, as Dwayne Drewitz had eight points and Dave Leemgraven seven. Leemgraven closed with 20 points, Drewitz 17 and Gary Robinson 13.

Robinson also nailed down 13 rebounds to up his total to 297 for 16 games or an average of 18—one of the best in the state. Craig Wilson joined Robinson in rebounding stardom by grabbing 15.

West made 29 out of 61 shots from the field, but had problems in the free-throw department, making only 21 out of 42.

Southgate, meantime, fired in 25 out of 46 charities as the game saw a total of 88 free attempts fired.

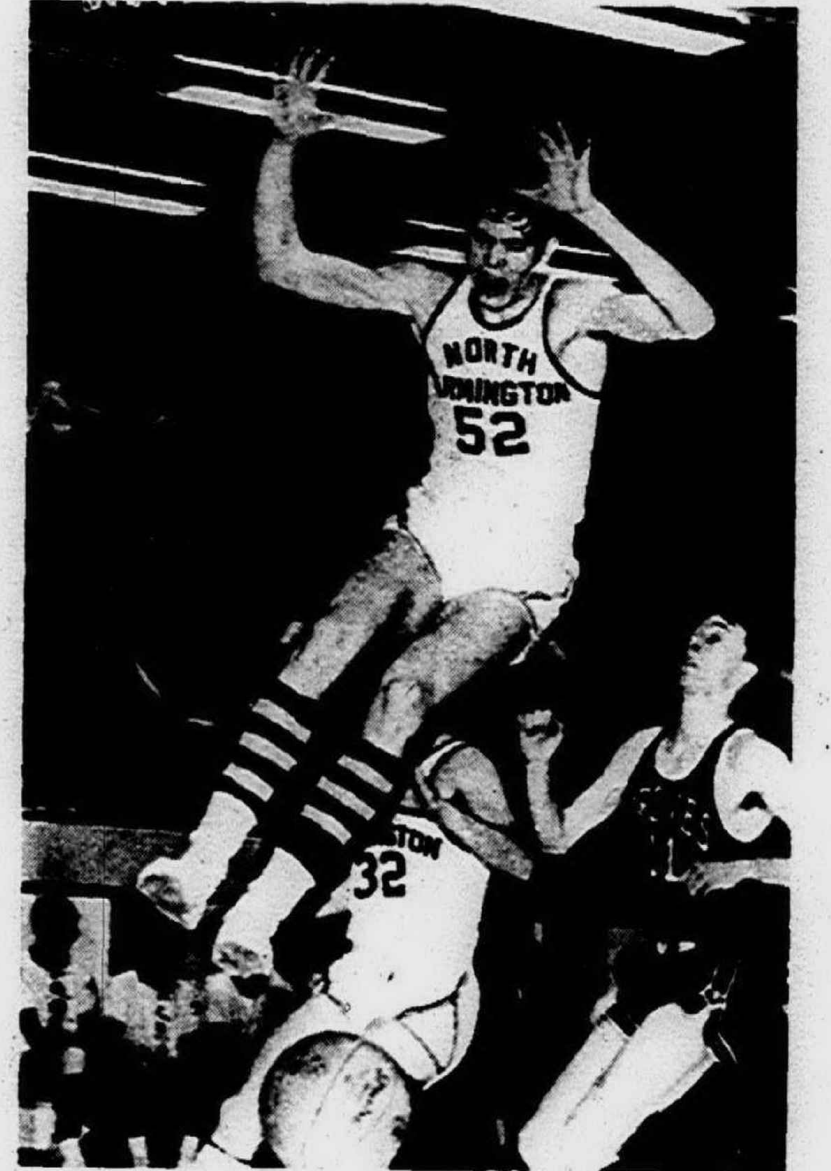

Bentley again made it a 10-0 Suburban Six League season. The Livonians had put away their second title in succession three weeks before.

One has to go back to the 1965-66 season to find when Bentley last lost in the league.

Bentley had its first-half problems with Belleville, reaching the intermission with a 25-23 edge. But in the third period, Bentley clicked for 17 points and held Belleville to six in putting the game out of reach. Leroy Watson and Ken Bollin each had six points in the third period as Belleville was held to only three baskets. Mark Chiasson and Dan Doyle led Bentley with 14 points each. Bollin was next with 12.

Bentley, thus fashioned an overall 17-2 record during the regular season. The two losses came against Ypsilanti and Dearborn Edsel Ford by a total of four points.

RANDY PAFFORD (52), of North Farmington, has an anguished look after being fouled by Grove's Steve Mimms (11) as he drives in for a short shot. The Raiders rolled to a one-sided 84-54 victory to finish second in the final standings of the Northwest Suburban League.

RU Ties For Second In League

Redford Union gained a share of second place with Trenton in the final Suburban Six League standings by winning a 70-69 thriller from Allen Park in the final game of the regular season.

It took some strong hearts to survive the closing moments of the game.

Redford Union thought time had run out with the Townshippers leading, 70-67. But the officials ruled two seconds still remained.

In the time that remained, Allen Park made a pair of free throws, RU missed a technical foul, a double foul was called, Allen Park got the ball and took a shot as the gun went off.

But Bill Fahey of RU reached up to block that last desperate Parker attempt and preserved the win for RU.

The Townshippers had led most of the way. They were in front, 34-28, at halftime and 50-46 going into the last period.

Dennis Fifield topped RU with 19 points, Jim Walker had 17, Fahey 15, Bill Styles eight and Dale Berke seven. Walker made nine free throws. So did Fahey.

5 Redford Boxers In Ring Final

Five amateur boxers from Redford will be participating in the Southeastern Michigan Golden Gloves finals Friday night in Cobo arena, four in the junior novice division and the other in the novice class.

Only the open division champions will advance to the national tournament scheduled later in March in Salt Lake City. Detroit will enter that tourney as defending team champion, with two of its fighters seeking second straight national titles.

Redford amateurs who will be in action in the Cobo ring include Jerry Watson, 112 pounds; Pat Henahan, 119; Marc Arsenault, 125, and Dan Coates, 147, all junior novices, plus Tom Coates in the novice 156-pound bracket.

Twenty-one three-round bouts are carded for Cobo, with the action starting at 8 p.m. Highlights in the open division will be the appearances in defense of their Detroit crowns of national titlists Quincean Daniel, 132, and Willie Richardson, 139. Another national title holder on the card is 178-pound Leonard Hutchins, 1967 U.S. AAU champion.

KALAMAZOO -- Sonny Means, Western Michigan University head basketball coach since 1966, was captain of the 1952 Michigan State basketball team.

Wings Get Mahovolich; Send Ullman To Leafs

Norm Ullman of Livonia made some National Hockey League history Sunday night.

He scored two goals for the Red Wings in a 5-2 win over Montreal at Olympia and that gave him 324 for his 13-year career with the team—tying Ullman with former great Nel Stewart for ninth place on the league's all-time goal list.

The next day Ullman was traded away by the Wings in the biggest deal the club ever negotiated.

Ullman departed with veterans Floyd Smith and Paul Henderson, both forwards. They all headed for the Toronto Maple Leafs in exchange for Frank (the Big M) Mahovolich, Peter Stelmowski and Jim Unger and the rights to deal with Carl Brewer, an ex-Leafs defensive star now playing amateur hockey in Toronto.

Mahovolich has scored 296 goals in his NHL career. Stelmowski at 24 is a fine center while Unger is 20 and rated a great prospect.

MANAGER-COACH Sid Abel of the Wings feels he can get Brewer to come back to the majors, although it won't be until next Dec. 18 that Brewer can play full-time in the NHL. Smith, like Ullman, 32 years old, scored 18 goals for the Wings this season while Henderson, a major disappointment on the team, netted 13.

Abel also revealed that this will be his last year as the team's coach. He plans to devote fulltime henceforth to the job of general manager.

Ex-Wing great Ted Lindsay reportedly has the inside track to become the coach.

The Wings' chances of making the playoffs are almost impossible. They have 13 games to go and could attain a total of 80 points. Fourth-place Boston already has 72 points to its credit.

MSU Rules On Mat, Shares Gymnastics Crown

It was the weekend of settling championships--except in basketball--for Big Ten teams.

Indiana rolled to the swimming crown, Wisconsin repeated in track, Michigan State made it three straight in wrestling and the gymnastic meet produced an unprecedented three-way tie for the title--Michigan, Michigan State and Iowa.

In basketball, where the race still has another week to go, Iowa remained in first place by a half game over Ohio State. Wisconsin scored 51 points in track to 48 1/2 for Michigan, 33 1/2 for Minnesota and 25 for fourth-place Michigan State.

Hurdler Mike Buttlan of the champions was the only double winner as he won the highs and lows.

INDIANA AMASSED a record total of 490 points to gain the swimming crown. Michigan was second with 339 points, followed by Michigan State with 248, Wisconsin 236 and Ohio State 158.

Juan Bello of Michigan turned in a double victory.

Dave Thorn was the hero for Michigan State in gymnastics. He won three events and took a second on the final night to vault the Spartans into a share of the crown.

The Spartans took the wrestling flag with 74 points while Iowa, Michigan and Northwestern tied for second with 50 each.

Dale Anders (137 pounds) and Mike Brady (177) repeated as individual champs for MSU, while Jeff Smith downed defending champion Davors Porter of Michigan in the heavyweight finals.

IN THE HEATED basketball race, Iowa won over Illinois, 61-56, as Detroit Sam Williams led the way with 16 points.

Williams drilled in four straight baskets in the second half to break up what had been a tight game.

Ohio State clung on Iowa's heels with a 107-93 decision over Indiana as Steve Howell and Bill Harper each scored 25 points.

Surprising Michigan gained its fourth straight Big Ten victory and fifth of the season by downing Northwestern, 83-79.

The Wolverines blew a 10-point lead in the second half before Dennis Stewart hit four free throws in the closing moments to wrap up the game. Stewart led the winners with 20 points.

Minnesota spurted later to beat Michigan State, 75-66, as Tom Kondia led the Gophers with 29 points, including five in the last 2 1/2 minutes. It was only the second home loss in the last 31 at Jenison Field House for MSU.

Big E Sparks Houston Breeze

Alvin (The Big E) Hayes knocked in 51 points as Houston made it 27-0 on the season, 120-79, over Virginia Tech to remain the nation's No. 1 college team.

No. 2 ranked UCLA, which has lost only once (to Houston) this season, sewed up the Pacific Eight title for the second straight year by whipping California, 115-71. Lew Alcindor had 32 points for the winners.

THE 1967-68 cage season ended on a winning note for the University of Detroit when the Titans rallied to upset Canisius, 90-83.

As a result, the Titans wound up the season with a 12-11 record.

Late Surge Nets Victory For Falcons

A last-period surge did the job for Farmington as the Falcons overcame Kettering, 68-60, in the final regular season game for both teams.

Doug Hamilton was the hero for Farmington in the late drive. He personally scored 11 points in the last period when the Falcons outscored Kettering, 30-19.

Farmington had led, 25-23, at halftime, but then fell behind by a 41-38 count at three quarters.

Farmington, which finished second in the Interlakes League, was led overall by Hamilton who had 21 points. Joe Himmelsbach and Mark Lynott also hit in double figures with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

West Tops East For Swim Title

Garden City West carried off top honors in the Garden City East Invitational swimming meet.

West scored 68 points to East's 65. Wayne was third with 48 points, while Annapolis had 40, Robichaud 21 and Clarenceville 17. Four other teams also tied.

East had four winners with Kim McDonald capturing the individual medley in 2:16.3 and the butterfly in 1:00.3; Ted Wasilewski the 50-yard free in 24.3 seconds and Todd Bomberry the 100-yard free in 55.4 seconds.

West had winners in the medley relay and 400-yard free style relay in the diving where James Sellers led the field.

Jim Rhodes, Ken Kinast, Bob Horrick and Rick Miller formed West's medley relay. Miller, Kinast, Mike Blaney and Carl Schwab swam on the 400-yard free style relay.

HITTER TOO
Mike Marshall, Tiger, reliever, had a .500 batting average as a pinch hitter in 1967.

WHITEWASHER
Mickey Lolich led the Tiger staff with six shutouts in 1967.

Stevenson Flips Pontiac In Upset

They'd been saying all along that Stevenson High School's basketball team would engineer a "big" victory.

And Stevenson did on the final night of the regular season. Listed at least a 25-point underdog--one paper said a 50-point underdog--Stevenson arose Friday to jolt Pontiac Northern, 72-68.

Yes, this was the same Pontiac Northern team which already had wrapped up the Interlakes League title...and the same Northern team that was ranked No. 8 in the state in Class A...and the same Northern team which had lost only twice previously, both in thrillers.

NORTHERN LED 34-31 at halftime, but then found Stevenson a much different team after the intermission. Led by a 10-point individual barrage by Jim Olson, Stevenson roared ahead, 50-45, after three quarters.

In short order Stevenson had a 10-point lead in the fourth period. Northern then put on a flurry, got to within two points of a tie before a tip-in by Olson and single free throws each by Dave Mastny and Jerry Dettler put the game safely in Stevenson's column.

Olson and Dettler provided Stevenson with its big scoring punch. Olson had 24 points, Dettler 22. Nick Exarhos chipped in with 12.

Bob Traylor had 20 for the losers.

Mathis Title Hopes End

Nino Benvenuti of Italy has regained the world middleweight boxing championship while cocky Joe Frazier of Philadelphia rules as the new heavyweight king--as recognized in four states, New York, Illinois, Maine and Massachusetts.

Benvenuti took the title away from Emile Griffith for the second time Monday night when he gained a unanimous decision in the first half of a double header in Madison Square Garden.

Bentley Routed By Allen Park In Swimming

Allen Park High's swimming team had little trouble winning over Bentley, 73-32, in a dual meet. David Kee accounted for the only Bentley victories as he captured the individual medley in 2:13 and the 400-yard freestyle in 4:18.

Bill Palmer, 50-yard freestyle; Craig Auten, diving; and Bob Jepson, breaststroke, took seconds for Bentley.

Rocks Sink Trenton 5 In Thriller

It was a 60-59 finish when Plymouth battled Trenton and thanks to a rebound-shot by Greg Corrigan with six seconds to go, Plymouth came out on top.

Trenton had struck back from an eight-point deficit in the final period to gain the lead with 18 seconds remaining.

Plymouth played it calm to set up the winning two-pointer by Corrigan.

Trenton still had a chance to take "another shot, but the try went awry as the fans went wild in the Plymouth gym.

Trenton jumped off to a 20-12 lead after one period but Corrigan paced a comeback that brought Plymouth even at 26-26 at halftime. The score read 42-42 after three quarters.

Kerner Conclusion: Ghetto Is To Blame

'Enrichment, Integration' Solutions Of LBJ's Commission On Riot

The riots that ripped apart Detroit and many other American cities in 1967 were not the result of any "plot." They were the result of social ills suffered primarily by Negroes.

So says the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, appointed last July 28 by President Johnson. It made its report public last week.

The commission says America has three basic choices: It can maintain the segregationist status quo; it can attempt to "enrich" the ghettos while abandoning integration as a goal—a policy advocated by both black and white racists; or it can pursue both ghetto "enrichment" and racial integration.

It prefers the final alternative. The commission was headed by Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, a Democrat. Vice chairman was New York Mayor John V. Lindsay, a Republican. Other members were Sen. Fred Harris (D-Okla.); Sen. Edward Brooke (R-Mass.); Rep. James Corman (D-Calif.); Rep. William McCulloch (R-Ohio); United Steelworkers President I. W. Abel; Litton Industries President Chairman Charles Thornton; Roy Wilkins of the NAACP; Katherine Perden, Kentucky's commissioner of commerce; and Herbert Jenkins, Atlanta police chief.

Here are excerpts: Our nation is moving toward two societies, one black, one white—separate and unequal. Reaction to last summer's disorders has quickened the movement and deepened the division.

To pursue our present course will involve the continuing polarization of the American community and, ultimately, the destruction of basic democratic values.

Segregation and poverty have created in the racial ghetto a destructive environment totally unknown to most white Americans.

What white Americans have never fully understood—but what the Negro can never forget—is that white society is deeply implicated in the ghetto. White institutions created it, white institutions maintain it and white society condones it.

We issue this report now, four months before the date called for by the President. Much remains that can be learned. Continued study is essential. An analysis of our survey information leads to some conclusions about the riot process.

'White Symbols'

The civil disorders of 1967 involved Negroes acting against local symbols of white American society, authority and property in Negro neighborhoods—rather than against white persons.

In the 75 disorders studied by a Senate subcommittee, there were 83 deaths. Eighty-two per cent of the deaths and more than half the injuries occurred in Newark and Detroit. About 10 per cent of the dead and 36 per cent of the injured were public employees, primarily law officers and firemen. The overwhelming majority of the persons killed or injured in all the disorders were Negro civilians.

Initial damage estimates were greatly exaggerated. In Detroit, newspaper damage estimates at first ranged from $200-million to $500 million; the highest recent estimate is $45 million.

In the 24 disorders in 23 cities which we surveyed:

The final incident before the outbreak of disorder, and the initial violence itself, generally took place in the evening or at night at a place in which it was normal for many people to be on the streets.

Violence usually occurred almost immediately following the occurrence of the final precipitating incident, and then escalated rapidly. With but few exceptions, violence subsided during the day, and flared rapidly again at night. The night-day cycles continued through the early period of the major disorders.

Disorder did not erupt as a result of a single "triggering" or "precipitating" incident. Instead, it was generated out of an increasingly disturbed social atmosphere.

"Prior" incidents, which increased tensions and ultimately led to violence, were police actions in almost half the cases; police actions were "final" incidents before the outbreak of violence in 12 of the 24 surveyed disorders.

'Typical Rioter'

The typical rioter was a teen-ager or young adult, a lifelong resident of the city in which he rioted, a high school drop-out; he was, nevertheless, somewhat better educated than his non-rioting Negro neighbor, and was usually underemployed or employed in a menial job. He was proud of his race, extremely hostile to both whites and middle-class Negroes and, although informed about politics, highly distrustful of the political system.

Most rioters were young Negro males. Nearly 53 per cent of arrestees were between 15 and 24 years of age; nearly 81 per cent between 15 and 35.

The proportion of Negroes in local government was substantially smaller than the Negro proportion of population.

Although almost all cities had some sort of formal grievance mechanism for handling citizen complaints, this typically was regarded by Negroes as ineffective and was generally ignored.

No 'Conspiracy'

The President directed the commission to investigate "to what extent, if any, there has been planning or organization in any of the riots."

On the basis of all the information collected, the commission concludes that:

The urban disorders of the summer of 1967 were not caused by, nor were they the consequence of, any organized plan or "conspiracy."

Specifically, the commission found no evidence that all or any of the disorders or the incidents that led to them were planned or directed by any organization or group, international, national or local.

Militant organizations, local and national, and individual agitators, who repeatedly forecast and called for violence, were active in the spring and summer of 1967. We believe that they sought to encourage violence, and that they helped to create an atmosphere that contributed to the outbreak of disorder.

We shift our focus to the factors within the society at large that created a mood of violence among many urban Negroes.

'Frustrated Hopes'

White racism is essentially responsible for the explosive mixture which has been accumulating in our cities since the end of World War II. At the base of this mixture are three of the most bitter fruits of white racial attitudes:

Pervasive discrimination and segregation in employment, education and housing have resulted in the continuing exclusion of great numbers of Negroes from the benefits of economic progress.

Black in-migration and white exodus have produced the massive and growing concentrations of impoverished Negroes in our major cities, creating a growing crisis of deteriorating facilities and services and unmet human needs.

Recently, other powerful ingredients have begun to catalyze the mixture:

Frustrated hopes are the residue of the unfulfilled expectations aroused by the great judicial and legislative victories of the civil rights movement and the dramatic struggle for equal rights in the South.

Was The Dissenter Right?

Even before the Kerner Commission issued its report, a Detroit official predicted what it would say—and said it would be wrong.

Irving Rubin, director of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments' Transportation and Land Use study, said the Kerner Commission would adopt the "riff-raff" theory of the Detroit riots: That the low-income, unemployed, youthful Negroes were the rioters, and that the civil disorder had a sociological base.

Rubin's data, however, showed that the riot took place in near-average Negro neighborhoods, and that the majority of those arrested were job-holding adults with some roots. His thesis was that the riot occurred not in a rock-bottom poor area, but that it was a lower middle-income political rebellion.

While the jobs-housing-schools programs advocated by the typical liberals on the Kerner Commission will help the rock-bottom ghetto areas, Rubin said, the real solution is one of more political power for those Negroes who have met the basic bread-and-butter needs of money and roofs and are seeking a place in the political sun.

will encourage Negro movement out of central city areas.

The first choice, continuance of present policies, has ominous consequences for our society. The share of the nation's resources now allocated to programs for the disadvantaged is insufficient to arrest the deterioration of life in central city ghettos.

The second choice, ghetto enrichment coupled with abandonment of integration, is also unacceptable. It is another way of choosing a permanently divided country. Moreover, equality cannot be achieved under conditions of nearly complete separation.

The major goal is the creation of a true union—a single society and a single American identity.

Local Government

The commission recommends that local governments:

Develop neighborhood action task forces as joint community-government efforts through which more effective communication can be achieved, and the delivery of city services to ghetto residents improved.

Provide more adequate police protection to ghetto residents to eliminate their high sense of insecurity, and the belief of many Negro citizens in the existence of a dual standard of law enforcement.

The commission believes there is a grave danger that some communities may resort to the indiscriminate and excessive use of force. The harmful effects of over-reaction are incalculable. The commission condemns moves to equip police departments with mass destruction weapons, such as automatic rifles, machine-guns and tanks. Weapons which are designed to destroy, not to control, have no place in densely populated urban communities.

Federal Government

The commission recommends that the federal government:

Amend the Federal Disaster Act—which now applies only to natural disasters—to permit federal emergency food and medical assistance to cities during major civil disorders, and provide long-term economic assistance afterwards.

Enact a comprehensible and enforceable federal open housing law to cover the sale or rental of all housing, including single family homes.

As a long-range goal, the commission recommends that the federal government seek to develop a national system of income supplementation based strictly on need.

CHAMP AT HOME — Gov. Romney may have quit the presidential race after his experience in the campaigns of New Hampshire and Wisconsin, but the folks in Michigan still love him—as evidenced by a crowd of 200 and a brass band which greeted him at Detroit's Metro Airport Friday afternoon. Chief Photographer James Hubbard snapped the scene.

Switch To Rocky Starts

A prominent Michigan Democrat will pledge $50,000 of his personal fortune backing Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York for president, but there are three conditions attached.

The offer was made by Flint philanthropist Stewart R. Mott in advertisements in Michigan and New York newspapers.

MOTT SAYS he will put up

$50,000 to help elect Rockefeller provided that:

1. Rockefeller announces his candidacy by March 15.

2. Others match his offer by pledging at least $100,000.

3. Rockefeller "clarify his views on Vietnam and offer a plan for negotiated settlement as soon as possible."

MOTT IS operating from an office at 515 Madison Ave., New York City 10022.

His advertisement congratulates Michigan's Gov. George Romney for withdrawing from the Republican presidential nomination race but thanks him "for giving leadership to the moderate wing of the Republican Party."

Mott calls Rockefeller the only "real choice" of persons who favor a negotiated settlement in Vietnam.

Mott, 30, spent $25,000 on the two-page ads, which ran in eight outstate Michigan dailies and in the New York Times.

Mott is the son of Charles Stewart Mott, 92, the largest single stockholder in General Motors Corp. Young Mott is considering running for Congress in the 7th District against Republican freshman Donald Riegle Jr., of Flint.

Romney Boosts Their Prestige

Governors Get The Ball

George Romney lacked more than just the support of "rank and file Republicans" for his abortive presidential bid.

The Michigan governor failed signally to generate any enthusiasm among his fellow governors.

This was critical to his thinking.

Romney is interested in holding down the federal government's role in domestic affairs and building up the role of the states.

OTHER REPUBLICAN governors felt the same way.

Philosophically, they should have been in the same boat with George Romney.

Politically, they weren't.

They didn't back him openly.

Romney's withdrawal statement acknowledged the help of only two Republican governors

--even though the GOP controls about half of the governors' chairs in the nation.

Those two were Nelson Rockefeller of New York and John Chafee of Rhode Island.

THE U.S. SENATE? Romney wasn't likely to do too well there as long as the GOP senators were led by the conservative-lining Everett Dirksen, the man who delivered Barry Goldwater's nominating speech four years ago.

To be sure, New York's Sen. Jacob Javits was around, but he had to be, with Rockefeller backing Romney.

Illinois' Charles Percy? Oregon's Mark Hatfield? They may have ambitions of their own. At any rate, they didn't jump on the Romney bandwagon.

ROMNEY IS STILL oriented toward his fellow governors. He showed that when he singled them out as a decision-making group in his withdrawal statement.

"This is a critical moment," he said. "The Republican governors are not scheduled or likely to be in one place again until June."

They were in one spot—a Washington hotel, for a conference. To be more than fair to them, Romney chose that moment to quit the race for the big job.

"If they are to have an opportunity for any meaningful consideration of candidates, it is desirable that they be able to act now, or make plans to do so," Romney said.

"THE REPUBLICAN governors have an opportunity to make a maximum contribution to the drafting of a sound party platform and to the selection of a candidate who will offer solutions to the problems which confront America."

That was important, Romney the idealist not only wanted them to unite behind another candidate, but also to influence party thinking.

The shots aren't to be called by the congressional crowd. "I am ready to work with them to achieve these goals --and I am prepared to give wholehearted support to the candidate whom they"—that is, the governors again--will support," said Romney.

So, George Romney, governor of Michigan, will back the man his fellow Republican governors want.

It's a bit more than most of them did for him.

Signatures Delay Many Tax Returns

Delivery of Federal income tax refunds to 1,479 taxpayers in Michigan is being held up because the returns were filed without necessary signatures.

"Instead of refund checks, these taxpayers are getting their Forms 1040 or 1040A back to be signed," IRS District Director A.M. Stoepler for Michigan said today.

As a legal document, a tax return must be signed to be valid and to permit the IRS to process it and issue the refund, Stoepler said. Many missing signatures were those of wives required to sign joint returns, he added.

ANOTHER MAJOR REASON for delay of refund checks, Stoepler said, is the neglect of taxpayers to include their correct Social Security numbers on tax returns.

Incorrect or missing Social Security numbers are delaying 998 refunds of Michigan taxpayers, he noted.

Stoepler reported that refunds also are being held up by other taxpayer errors or failures to comply with instructions that accompany tax returns.

Leaders Getting Many Reverses At Schoolcraft

The most recent activities on the Schoolcraft College campus which eventually involved the administration, faculty and student body in the furor created by the dismissal of six probationary teachers and then the offering of one-year probationary contracts to each a month later, leads one to wonder whether these things are due to growing pains or to the much used word misunderstandings.

There was a time late last summer when one of the Detroit metropolitan newspapers published a series of articles discussing the rise and development of community colleges in the tri-county area — Wayne, Macomb and Oakland.

During that series the writer, referred to Schoolcraft College as Haggerty High and loud howls were heard from the administration, faculty and the student body.

BUT EVENTS OF the past two months lead one to wonder if the writer hadn't hit the nail on the head — Schoolcraft College has been acting in the role of a Haggerty High.

As a matter of fact, the day college head count of 2,400 is less than the total enrollment of many high schools in the area covered by Observer Newspapers and the high schools seem to function satisfactorily without all of the top-brass listed in a college administrative staff.

Perhaps one of the reasons is that one can go into a high school and discuss programs and activities with the principal, with the school superintendent and the local Board of Education and learn all of the details.

This isn't quite true of Schoolcraft where it appears the principal thought is to tell the public only those things the administration thinks the public should know and keep other matters in a veil of secrecy.

A typical example is that of the recent dismissals of the six instructors and the subsequent offers of new contracts a month later after considerable turmoil on the campus.

The administration was well aware of the fact that Observer Newspapers was very much interested in the developments of the situation.

The dismissals were first brought to light by a brief announcement by President Dr. Eric Bradner to the Trustees that contracts for six probationary teachers would not be offered for the 1968-69 academic year.

The announcement was taken as a matter of course by the Trustees since such actions are strictly in the hands of the administration.

BUT THREE DAYS later, a student group asked Observer Newspapers for an audience to discuss the situation which it felt tended to lower the quality of education at the college. To that moment, Observer Newspapers, like the Trustees, had accepted the dismissals as a matter of policy.

Feeling that it would be unfortunate to have the students stage a strike or boycott, since petitions already were circulating the campus, Observer Newspapers agreed to listen to the student body representatives.

The Administration then took a stand that The Observer had fomented the turmoil, that it was interested in creating trouble on the campus. This is far from the truth.

Then followed a meeting between the administration and department heads for the purpose of ironing out difficulties that came to light for the first time. There were numerous misunderstandings, we have been told, created because neither the administration nor the department heads were entirely certain of the policy in regard to evaluation of probationary teachers.

There was never a report of this meeting to the press.

Then the administration called a meeting with representatives of the student body and went over the entire situation. The result of that session was that the students received a clearer idea of the happenings and also agreed that the administration may have been on solid ground in its actions.

This meeting was never reported to the press by the administration or the students — the latter group was the first to bring the matter to the attention of Observer Newspapers.

Trustee Dr. George Martin wrote a caustic memo to all members of the Board and to Observer Newspapers requesting it be published in its entirety so that the voters who had backed him in his successful campaign, would know how he felt. In his memo, Dr. Martin made some charges against the administration, whether right or wrong will probably never be known since the Trustees never mentioned the memo at the next regular meeting four nights later.

TO CLIMAX the secrecy surrounding the situation, the Administration met with the Faculty Forum in an "open assembly" during which an agreement was reached to offer probationary contracts to all six of the dismissed teachers.

This meeting was held on Feb. 22 (Washington's Birthday) and all participants were apparently sworn to secrecy with an agreement that a joint statement would be issued to the press and to the public.

This statement was finally received on March 1, almost 10 days after the meeting and two days after a regular meeting of the Trustees at which the matter of the dismissals was never discussed.

Meanwhile, word of the agreement had leaked to all of the teachers Education Associations in the college district — not to the press but to the teachers' groups!

All of which goes back to the original point, the Schoolcraft College administration prefers to have the public know only those things it feels should be known and nothing else.

AND THAT GOES back to an action of September when the administration recommended that the Trustees increase the tuition rates for resident and non-resident students on the grounds that the contingency fund in the new budget was much too small to carry on the college programs.

Three weeks later the auditors in their annual report showed a contingency fund of $211,000 on the books (it was labeled as a fund equity but is generally known as a contingency since the funds are available for use when the cash is in the hands of the college).

The climax to this came in December when some of the Trustees, who had fought against increased tuition fees but voted for hikes because of the small contingency fund, passed a resolution rescinding the previous action and restoring the fees to the level at the start of the school year.

Again one wonders, is this to be taken as the successful operation of a rapidly growing college or did the Metropolitan Detroit reporter have the right label — Haggerty High.

—R. T. Thompson

I don't know how many people watched the Smothers Brothers Show two Sundays ago. I don't know how many people realized that part of the show was censored.

It was. The decision to do so was made on the local level by authorities at WJBK-TV, Channel 2, the station which carried the show.

The decision raises all kinds of issues about censorship in a free society, and I think it's worth while to go into the details a bit.

THE STAR GUEST on the show was the folk singer Pete Seeger.

Now Seeger is a darn good folk singer. He also happens to be passionately opposed to the war in Vietnam. He also, understandably, doesn't like President Johnson very much. Neither, evidently, do the Smothers Brothers.

Seeger had appeared previously on the show and had been blacked out by the network while singing a song against the war in Vietnam. Evidently he had agreed to come back on again on the condition that the network wouldn't censor him again.

MIDWAY IN the show, Seeger started singing a song about a captain leading a group of troops across a river. The sergeant raised questions about whether the spot selected was the best fording area, and the captain said follow me, boys, it's OK. So the captain and the troops went farther and farther into the water, and the captain ultimately went under with a big plug. The sergeant took over command of the troops and started backing out of the river.

The whole thing was, of course, an attack on President Johnson's leadership of the country, carrying with it the implication that he didn't know what he was doing and that the war was a bad place to be.

But in the middle of the verse where the captain starts backing out of the river, at the point where the sergeant starts saying that the captain was a big fool, the TV screen unexpectedly went blank.

Then there was a Department of Justice ad explaining why it was a bad idea to leave your keys in your parked car. Then a TV 2 station break. Then an ad promoting the movie, "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs," then another station break. Then another ad promoting the Carol Burnett Show, scheduled for a later run. Then a Pall Mall cigarette ad traveled the smoke farther. Then another station break.

And then, strange to behold, Dick Smothers was back on, talking about Las Vegas.

No word that the local station had censored what it thought was a passage in bad taste. No hint that censorship had, in fact, been exercised.

THE NEXT DAY I called up TV 2 and, after being given the runaround for a while, got on to Larry Carino, the Vice President and General Manager of the station.

I asked Carino about the matter, and he said that the station had received the advance tape of the show on Friday, had screened it, and had decided to censor the section in question. This decision was confirmed early Sunday evening, just before the show went on.

Why did TV2 censor the show? "We considered the passage a flagrant example of bad taste," Carino said. "We have a responsibility to the people we serve to use good taste in what goes on the air. We don't believe that any reference to the President as being a 'big fool' belongs on our station."

Did TV 2 consider notifying the audience that it was exercising its powers of censorship? "No, we did not. But in retrospect we should have. If it happens again, we will do so," Carino explained.

Carino said that the station had been getting many telephone calls (the switchboard girl who answered my call said there had been "at least 500"), with almost all of them opposing TV 2's action.

He also remarked that if the Smothers Brothers Show continued to be way off base, the station would consider "taking it off at the local level."

NOW THE ISSUE here seems pretty clear.

As Carino says, the Office of President should carry more respect than to be referred to as "a big fool." Bad taste is often a matter of opinion, but Carino's view of what constitutes bad taste is as valid as anyone else's.

But whether or not the song was in bad taste is not the point.

What is at issue here is the right of a local station to censor a program on its own say so, without notifying its viewing audience, and then to suggest that it might take a show off the air if it continues being out of line.

The problem with censorship really works itself down to the old question of who will censor the censors? Is TV 2's view of what is in bad taste exactly the same as everyone's in the audience? Should we get ourselves into the situation where someone or some group has the power to censor television programs according to their own criteria, without even giving the viewers a chance to see the passage in question and to make up their own minds?

I think not.

If the part of Seeger's song which was censored was so objectionable, then people should have been able to make up their own minds about it. If people had found it offensive, they could have taken their own action; perhaps Seeger would have found people boycotting his records, or the Smothers Brothers would have found people ignoring their show.

But the point is that no one got the chance to make up his own mind. They should have had that chance.

WHEN ALL IS said and done, it does appear that local television stations do have the authority to censor objectionable parts of their shows at the local level. So we can assume the temptation to repeat the episode of two weeks ago will continue.

At the very least, it seems to me, the people should be informed that censorship is taking place.

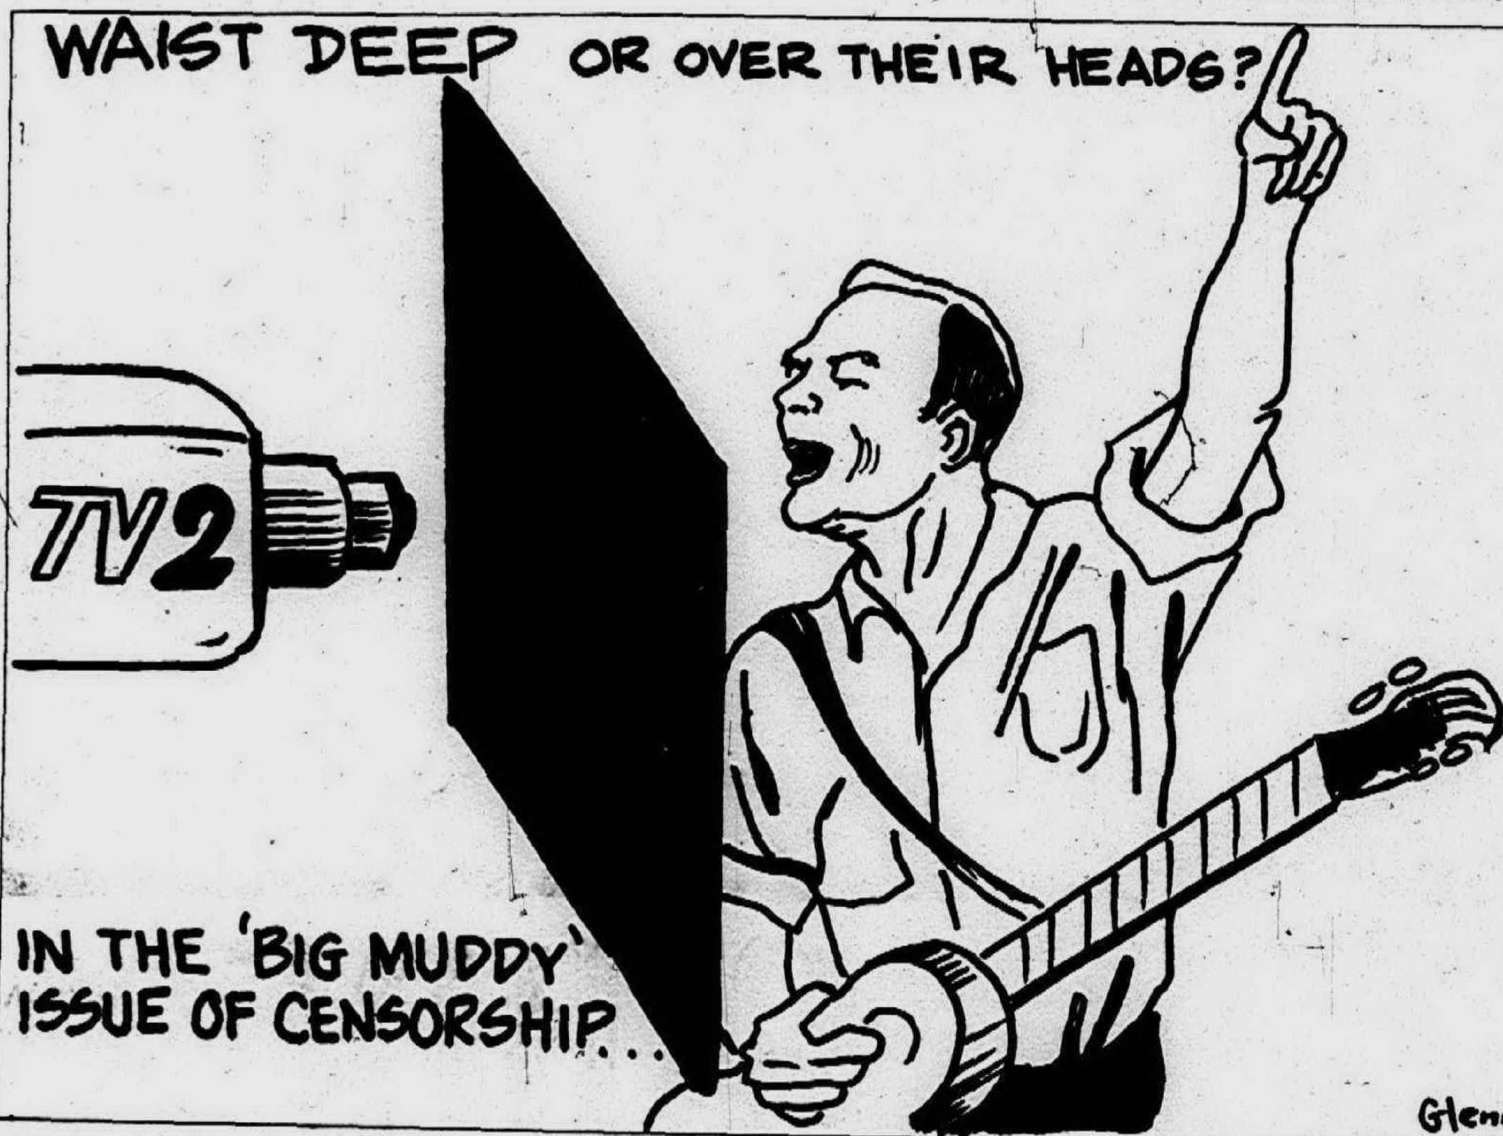

Either the Federal Communications Commission, which has authority over broadcasting media, or the Congress should immediately explore requiring local radio and television stations to explicitly inform their audience when censorship of a show is taking place and, perhaps, why.

In that way, at least the people would know when censorship is being exercised and that their right to know and make up their own mind is being restricted.

OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

This Is The Week That

... By Don Hoenschell

Cut away the humor and the bawdy irreverence and the cynicism born of reality, and there were the politicians standing naked and shivering at a curb on E. Grand Blvd. in Detroit last night.

It's good clean fun taking apart the movers and shakers once a year in the Detroit Press Club Steakout.

Maybe it's not as clean as it could be since the affair is staged at the Latin Quarter, but fun it is. The politicians always survive the charades but the barbs make them bleed a little.

The purposes of the whole business are to raise money and to needle politicians. Since the Steakout was conceived in 1959, the pursuit of both goals has been brisk.

TUESDAY NIGHT there were Sonny Eliot and Jim Harrington and someone else portraying three witches from Hamlet — Mary Beck, Mary Ellen Riordan and someone else.

You've never seen three less charming broads.

Jerry Sullivan, once a Detroit News ace and now a Ford PR guy of great talent, went on as a singer with his group lyrically discussing the Stop and Frisk law and how it makes swingers clean in the suburbs.

They wound up with turned out pockets and nothing to turn them on.

Jim Kerwin, now on the News and aching to get back to business, portrays a shoot-em-all Ku Kluxer in an Uncle Sam suit addressing the Economic Club of Detroit.

"Those were sure inspiring words," said the toastmaster.

We got a business about Walter Reuther — leading an imaginary UAW strike — planning an interim car (a spoof on interim newspapers) and building a vehicle which "will be just what you need for taking the wife and kids for a Sunday drive in Detroit."

Unveiled in the final scene, it was a tank. Whee!

Then finally there was Reuther commenting bitterly about the pickets at his interim car plant, the old Packard factory which Walter had bought from money withdrawn from the Ford Motor Co. credit union and like industrial sources.

THE SOAPY SINGERS, first organized to give a farewell party in Lansing to former Gov. Williams in 1960, came on as the Latter Day Soapy Singers to again toss darts at Gov. Romney.

This group had to completely rewrite a rehearsed act after Romney's withdrawal from the presidential race in Washington last Wednesday. They are all newspapermen and rewriting is easy, but rehearsal is something else again.

One of the stars of the show was TV newscaster Bill Bonds who imitated President Johnson and "my fellow Amurricans" so well you just hoped he wouldn't declare war on radio or somebody.

It was all good fun and the best music of all was the bell on the cash register.

SENSE 'N' NONSENSE

According to a report in the Columbia Journalism Review, radio station KNBC in Los Angeles brought ready-made protest signs to distribute at a Claremont Men's College debate on Vietnam that the station was covering.

Just hoping, evidently, that they could stir up a little action, even if the students didn't have anything like that in mind.

Some newsmen, now stigmatized as old fashioned, have the feeling that the news media are supposed to report the news and not make it.

Incidentally, the students did not cooperate with the radio station. One supposes the signs are in storage, ready for another attempt to cover a Vietnam debate.

Congressman William Ford tried for nearly two years to get a $43,000 urban renewal debt lifted for his Garden City constituents. He introduced two bills in the House of Representatives. Neither got anywhere and last month, the City Council agreed to pay the federal government's bill. Last week, Ford sent tickets to local officials to be sold by them for a $50 per plate dinner to be held in March. That's what you get for being part of The Great Society.

Verdi's Operatic Funeral Mass

A mass or an opera? Purists still argue, but the public has always liked Giuseppe Verdi's "Requiem," which will be performed Sunday at 4 p.m. in Plymouth High School.

Combining forces for the program will be the Plymouth Symphony, conducted by Wayne Dunlap, and the Kenneth Jewell Chorale. Admission is free.

Verdi had written 24 operas when he undertook the "Requiem." It was finished in honor of Italian novelist Alessandro Manzoni, who was mourned by the entire nation when he died in 1873, although Verdi had actually written parts of it before that time.

Each section of the "Requiem" corresponds to a part of the Catholic funeral mass, but it's anything but a dreary piece of music.

"It's one of my favorite pieces of music," says Conductor Dunlap. "It has beauty, drama, sweep. It's exciting. One of the criticisms leveled at it is that it's so operatic in style."

Verdi employed the full orchestra and chorus for the more dramatic portions, soloists and ensembles for the more reflective parts.

The Kenneth Jewell Chorale, made up of 40 voices, is supported in part by the Michigan State Council for the Arts.

One of England's most famous royal families was named after the humble Spanish "broom plant." Richard the Lionhearted and Richard III were two of the Plantagenets, whose name came from the sprig of "planta genista," or "broom plant," worn as a penance by one of their ancestors.

Wildlife On View

"High, Wild and Free," a wildlife film by Gordon Eastman with the excitement of true-life adventure will open today March 6 in Plymouth's Penn Theatre for an exclusive run.

A picture story of a safari into Canada's northern British Columbia, the film was photographed from life from its opening sequence of 250,000 snow geese rising on their long flight north to the final sequences of two bull caribou in deadly combat.

There are photographic visits to the beautiful Bella Colla Valley to fish for the trophy fish of the world, the steelhead; to the last of the mountain men, living off the land as their forefathers lived; to the den of a grizzly bear as he leaves his winter hibernation.

There are also scenes of the majestic wildlife of the mountain tops as they view man for the first time and glimpses of fishing in un-named lakes for Northern Pike and Arctic Grayling, as well as pictures of Eastman hunting the largest sheep of North America, the beautiful Stone Sheep.

Have you visited the glorious?

'Noah' Opens March 22 At U. Of D.

"Noah," by Andre Obey will be played by the University of Detroit Theatre for three consecutive weekends beginning Friday, March 22.

The story is the biblical narrative of Noah and the Flood, told with a delicious innocence and naivete, yet humanly, as the simple old man grows lonely in his faith, yet pilots his craft safely to shore in the midst of doubts. Obey's Noah finds that Heaven is often very far away. Divine inspiration hard to follow, and prayer seems to go unheard.

The playwright has produced words which are simple and lovely even in translation, a stage picture, conceived as sharp and clear and happy, and a central idea of goodness, patience, faith, service without thought of a reward or the achievement of it.

Which doesn't mean that Noah is without its humorous moments. His perplexities and his reluctance to call on a far-away God for further instructions are a little comic. But on the whole this is a tender, poetic, reverent human and true story of one man's faith in his God.

It will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Fridays through Sundays, the weekends of March 22-24, 29-31, and April 5-7. Tickets at $2 and $1.50 are available at the Central Ticket Office in the Student Union Building on Florence, 342-1000, ext. 339.

Bach Passion Set At Masonic

Members of two choirs and two orchestras will combine to present "The Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew" of J.S. Bach, Sunday, March 17, in the Masonic Temple Auditorium.

Concert time is 8 p.m. On stage will be the 250-voice Rackham Symphony Choir, two orchestras composed of members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and the 1,000-voice Choral Choir from the Detroit High Schools. The performance is sponsored by the University Center for Adult Education.

USSR Children's Art Exhibit On In Area

A visit to the Soviet pavilion at Expo '67 has resulted in a special exhibition of children's art from the Soviet Union being displayed in downtown Detroit.

The 31 children's art drawings are on exhibit at the Main Floor Gallery of the First Federal Building in downtown Detroit through March 30.

THE SHOW is co-sponsored by the Central Business District

Association and First Federal Savings of Detroit. It is believed to be the first time any children's art has been received direct from Moscow into the United States.

Last summer CBDA Promotion Director Diane Edgecomb purchased an art book "Through the Eyes of Children" at the Soviet Pavilion at Expo. Upon returning to Detroit, Mrs. Edgecomb made numerous inquiries about having some of the Soviet children's art displayed in the metropolitan area. She finally wrote directly to USSR Premier Alexi Kosygin. On Jan. 5 the Committee of Youth Organizations of the USSR stated that 31 drawings by Soviet children between the ages of 5 and 13 were on their way to Detroit.

Wally Roberts UP' GOING 'CURTAIN'

"King Lear," the Shakespearean tragedy written at the height of the Bard's career, is at the Meadow Brook Theatre on the campus of Oakland University for a four week engagement.

The John Fernald Company has mounted an impressive professional production of "Lear". The lighting and scenery by Frank Mast rate special kudos. His concept of the wind-blown heath and the exciting light plot that moves the Shakespearean tragedy along at break-neck speed are plus items.

Costume director Elizabeth Penn put in many hours creating the 12th Century robes, rugged men's clothing. Broadway has not seen such splendor or realistic garb that graced the Meadow Brook stage.

"LEAR" is seldom played since the lead role calls for an actor of great maturity, versatility, and tremendous depth. Eric Berry has had the necessary experience. The vocal mannerism so appreciated when Berry does comedy roles only weakens his attempt at being the egocentric King Lear. The majesty and power so needed to convey the inherent qualities of this early English monarch were missing from Berry's portrayal.

Without an acceptable Lear, any production of "King Lear" is headed for trouble. Costumes, lights, sound effects, and even the hard work of the Director John Fernald can really go for naught if the King has the queasy qualities of a common serf.

Still if your entertainment calendar calls for seeing "King Lear," you might be able to withstand some of the irritating aspects of Eric Berry in his attempt to do the lead role.

LEAR'S DAUGHTERS (Con-della, Regan, and Goneril) are played with the proper degree of professionalism. Barb Caruso, Lorna Lewis, and Jill Turner give Berry excellent support.

The over-all power of the Shakespearean line in "King Lear" makes it a favorite of many actors. Two seasons ago at the Connecticut Stratford Festival, Morris Carinovsky performed the role to the accepted raves of all the critics. Such unanimity is unusual in the case of "King Lear."

PERHAPS a better way to spend the evening is to contact the Court Theater Players box office (822-6655) and reserve a pair of ducats for "MacBird." The Court Players have a dilly of a show in "MacBird."

"MacBird" is social satire with a vengeance. L.B.J. and his followers are all given a swipe or two of the satiric scalpel. And yet some of the Shakespearean elements have been kept intact by the barbed-filled script.

The events of the next few months will make this biting satire even more controversial. Go to "MacBird" and you'll come away either praising the show or wondering why such material is so effective.

An evening with "MacBird" has one large advantage over "King Lear" in that there are a million laughs in the former production. If the Bard had included a bit of comic relief, it might have helped "King Lear" considerably.

Take the time to see "MacBird." It's filled with contemporary comment and let's you laugh for the moment. It's only over that late-night cup of coffee when you're discussing this play that the real impact of "MacBird" is truly appreciated.

Town Hall Lecture Stars Cindy Adams

Cindy Adams, actress, model and internationally recognized author of "Sukarno, An Autobiography As Told To Cindy Adams," will speak before a Northville Town Hall audience Thursday, March 21 at 11 a.m. in the P&A Theatre, Northville.

A luncheon, following the lecture, will be held in the Mayflower Meeting House, Plymouth. Luncheon reservations must be sent to the Northville Town Hall Series, Box 93, Northville, no later than March 16.

Mrs. Adams will speak on "Woman's Role -- East and West" and few women are more qualified. Her travels include interviews with the Empress of Iran, India's Prime Minister Nehru, President Sukarno, the King and Queen of Thailand and the Duchess of Windsor.

As an author, Mrs. Adams contributes to the United Nations magazine, "Vista" and is currently an ABC-TV correspondent.

On the lighter side, her career has included a Broadway debut with Bert Lahr.

In private life Cindy Adams is Mrs. Joey Adams, wife of the famed comedian.

CINDY ADAMS

Asks Women's Aid In War Against Crime

A call to constructive action by women throughout the metropolitan area against crime has been sounded by State Senator Lorraine Beebe.

As a first step, she would like to see women help keep a closer watch on the courts so that those individuals who make streets unsafe are not released time after time.

The only woman in the Michigan Senate thinks women in this area could do what their counterparts in Indianapolis have accomplished toward cutting down crime in the streets of their city.

"SO MANY WOMEN," said Sen. Beebe, "have told me they wish they could do something to help in the many problems of today. I'm suggesting a course of action that can involve women of all races and in city and suburb alike."

Delta Gamma Sets Founder's Day Luncheon

The Farmington Alumnae Association and the Detroit-Dearborn Chapter of Delta Gamma will be co-hostesses for the annual Delta Gamma Founder's Day Luncheon at 12 noon Saturday, March 16, in the Mayflower Hotel, Plymouth.

The guest speaker for the luncheon is Mrs. Jane Greenawalt. Mrs. Greenawalt is a member of the Speakers Bureau of the Continuum Center of Oakland University. She will speak on "The Changing Role of Women."

Reservations for the luncheon may be made by sending a check for $4.25, payable to The Detroit Dearborn Chapter of Delta Gamma, to Mrs. Richard Boyesen, 16412 Ronnie Lane, Livonia by March 9.

Sen. Beebe, whose district includes Redford Township, plans to meet next week with Mrs. Margaret Moore, a writer for the Indianapolis News, who sparked the program that has attracted nation-wide attention since 1962.

Mrs. Moore began her move after a friend of hers, a retired woman psychologist, was attacked near her home one evening by a young teen-ager.

THE FIRST STEP in her program was "court-

Tiny Catherine Gives Her Clan 5 Generations

Small Catherine Ann Cooney, born Feb. 2 to Mr. and Mrs. Greg Cooney, of Westland, is the first of a fifth generation in her mother's family.

Mrs. Cooney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow O'Dette, live in Farmington. The baby's great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sloat, of Royal Oak, and she has a great-great-grandmother, Mrs. Ida Hilliker, living in Muskegon, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Cooney, of Garden City, are Catherine's paternal grandparents.

watching."

"It's a well known fact," explained Sen. Beebe, "that often, because of crowded jails and court dockets, those who have committed six crimes are released on bail."

"There is one example in Michigan in which a man was arrested for rape three times and released. The fourth time his bond was set at $75,000."

Women attending court sessions and observing proceedings can keep records of habitual offenders and give support to the law and to judges, Sen. Beebe believes.

SHE PLANS TO SET UP workshops to instruct women in court procedures and the method of being observers. The workshops will be started in areas where interest is shown, she added.

Sen. Beebe said she already has advanced her plan to many women's groups, and will be glad to appear before others interested whenever her busy legislative schedule permits.

WOMEN WISHING TO participate are urged to send their names and addresses to her office in the Michigan State Senate, Box 240, Lansing.

Some women in Detroit already have started making court visits, the law-maker said.

"It really shook up a couple of the judges," she said, but added that court officials are most anxious to cooperate in the program and many will be assisting in the workshops.

BILL SIGNED — Senator Lorraine Beebe, shown here with Michigan Lt. Gov. William Milliken as her bill establishing a commission on women's rights is signed into law, now is beginning a move to involve women in fighting crime.

"The response has been tremendous," Sen. Beebe stated.

IN INDIANAPOLIS, where there has been a substantial drop in street crime since the women's program was instituted, the action also has included assisting in a successful fight for high police pay.

LIFE OF THE CARPET

m. m. memos

One of the wisest people I know is the gentleman who cuts my hair.
I travel the full width of this sprawling metropolitan area not only for his expert clipping but for the excellent conversation I get in the process.
He remarked during a recent visit: "It seems our lives are so complicated now that if we shall lose one little nail the whole thing comes apart."
I agreed, of course. I've read that old story about the horseshoe nail.
But I hardly thought that the next little nail missing from my life would be an unexpected teachers' meeting.
It was a day or so later that I told my older girls to come right home from school for a mighty kitchen cleaning. Everything was out of the cupboards, ready for three sets of hands to clean and replace.
But the girls had to see a certain teacher before leaving, and he had a surprise meeting. They waited. So did I.
With time galloping on and dinner time approaching, I took out the shelves and decided to wash them the fast way, in the dishwasher.
But the slightly-too-large shelves kept the dishwasher door from closing completely. Before I knew it the suds were flowing all over the floor. And when my helpers showed up, only a little late, they couldn't even get into the kitchen.
Dinner was late. The kitchen-cleaning never did get completed.
My hairdresser's one little nail had done its work in creating chaos.

Child Art Noted By CBDA

Art work by children—in Soviet Russia and in the metropolitan Detroit area—is a current concern of the Detroit Central Business District Association.
The CBDA currently is conducting its third annual art competition for local youngsters between five and 12 years of age, and has on display throughout this month a collection of 31 drawings by Russian children.
The Soviet exhibit, obtained by CBDA promotion director Diane Edgcomb, in direct correspondence with Premier Kosygin, is on display in the main floor gallery of the First Federal Building in downtown Detroit.
The Detroit area competition invites entries in crayon, paint, oil, pencil or collage, on the theme of "Love."
Entries may be submitted to the CBDA office in the Penobscot Building before May 11 and should contain the child's name, age, address, telephone number and school. The first prize is a trip to Disneyland.

To Hear Of Decoupage

"The Art of Decoupage," will be presented by The Wicker World of Birmingham at the monthly meeting of the Northwest and Suburban Detroit Christian Women's Club, Thursday, March 14, at 12:30 p.m. in Devon Gables Restaurant.
Music for the luncheon will feature Mrs. Leslie Hartzman, contralto, of Clarkston. She is a member of the Pontiac Christian Women's Club and is well-known for her record album "One Day." Mrs. Hartzman will include in her program "Scarlet Ribbons."
Lillian Hitt, of Merion, Pa., will be the speaker. She is the wife of Russell Hitt who succeeded Dr. Donald Barnhouse as editor of Eternity magazine. Mrs. Hitt was involved in the advertising world in Detroit and Chicago prior to becoming actively engaged in Bible teaching in Chicago and later in Philadelphia.
Child care is available during the luncheon.
Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. E.T. Nelson, 16774 Lola Drive, Redford Township.

Rita Radzialowski reminds you a bit of a white tornado—a very well-organized one—as she spreads efficiency through St. Mary Hospital.
The director of nursing services in the Livonia hospital keeps tabs on so many programs and activities in the bustling medical center she seems to be all over it at once.
And the joy she finds in the community service St. Mary can render and her own part in it always comes through loud and clear.

RITA RADZIALOWSKI, tall and blonde and the youngest of a Hamtramck family of 10, joins two of her sisters in administration of the hospital.
They are Sister Mary Columbine, administrative head of St. Mary, and Sister Mary Calasanta, director of nursing at Madonna College, which trains its student nurses at the hospital.

Rita left a similar position at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital to take on her work in St. Mary about two years after the institution opened its doors.
She maintains a residence at the hospital and finds a busy and satisfying life with the various programs aimed at improving the quality of medical service in this area.

TOPPING THE LIST is the training of student nurses from Madonna, which graduates registered nurses in its four-year degree program. Some students from Schoolcraft Community College also train at St. Mary, particularly in pediatric and obstetrical nursing.

There are 34 students in this program now, and they get an associate degree at the end of two years' study.

Nursing head Radzialowski also considers the nursing refresher courses St. Mary offers a most valuable undertaking. They are for graduate nurses ready to return to work.

"We accept just 12 or 14 women at a time in these courses," she said, "and while there is no fee, we ask that only women ready to accept employment immediately make application.

"The need for nurses in hospitals and nursing homes is so great, and changes and advancements come rapidly that we must make this requirement."

RITA SAID Mrs. Walter Gusa, in-service coordinator at the hospital, conducts the course that brings nurses who have been out of the field for a while, a chance to get up to date in the use of equipment and supplies, learn about new procedures and machines.

Some of the "refreshed" nurses come to work in St. Mary, Rita said, and some go to nursing homes in the area, where trained nurses are needed badly. She's also glad to see them go to hospitals all over the metropolitan area, sort of as a gift from St. Mary.

TWO OTHER TRAINING PROGRAMS make a valuable contribution to medical personnel, Rita feels.
One is the credit course for nurses aides and orderlies offered in Livonia high schools. Like other co-op program courses, the students spend considerable time at the hospital learning on the job, and Rita has been glad to welcome several of the students from these classes back to the hospital to become members of the staff.

There also is a two-year course for X-ray technicians, both men and women, and residencies for medical technologists under the direction of the hospital's pathologist.

Rita's busy schedule includes as well membership in a long list of organizations—the executive boards of the Michigan Heart Association and the Livonia Family YMCA as well as the Livonia Soroptimist Club and Business and Profession Women's Club, the American Nurses Association, the National League for nursing and the Catholic Hospital Association Committee on Nursing Service, and Sigma Phi Sigma, national honor society.

World Travelers Join AAUW International Night Dinner

Plenty of world travelers were in hand when the Farmington branch of the American Association of University Women held its international dinner recently in St. Paul's Lutheran Church. There were a total of 15 foreign exchange students--13 of them studying in Farmington schools this year under the Youth for Understanding program, and two in this country under auspices of the American Field Service.

There was the speaker of the evening, Farmington High graduate Muriene Dowding, who spent two years with the Peace Corps in Africa and now is teaching in Flint.

Bloodmobile Visits Livonia

A bloodmobile will be set up in the Livonia Mall Community Room, Seven Mile Road and Middlebelt, Thursday, March 7, from 3 p.m. to 9 p.m. Blood may be given to replace that used by a patient, to a group of the donor's choice, or to a self-account. An appointment may be made by calling 422-2787.

AND THERE WERE two English gentlemen who left their homes at Swindon, England, to teach in the International Teachers' Association school on the island of Ceylon and after completing that assignment traveled to Malaya, New Zealand, Australia, the Fiji Islands, Hawaii and Canada.

Hettie Murrish and Irene C. Knight were completing their travels with a bus tour of this country, and went to the dinner as guests of Mrs. Leona Stidwell, of Farmington, who was there to introduce the Youth for Understanding students. Miss Murrish and Mrs. Stidwell are cousins.

THE PEACE CORPS, Miss Dowding told AAUW members in her talk, tries to help the countries its members visit within the framework of the system they know rather than by bringing in American standards.

She spent two years in the small, landlocked nation of Malawi, both teaching and later helping to set up the Malawi Broadcasting Corp.

Sorority Sets Irish Potluck

California Church Scene Of Marriage

Joseph Allen Fink, of Redford Township, claimed Adeline Mentzer as his bride in a ceremony Saturday, Feb. 24, in St. Augustine-by-the-Sea Episcopal Church in Santa Monica, Calif.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen M. Fink, of Southwestern Avenue, Redford Township, attended the ceremony, along with his 11-year-old brother, Jeffrey.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Mentzer, of Santa Monica, and was given in marriage by her father.

HER GOWN was white satin with lace appliques and a train flowing from the high waistline. She wore a shoulder-length veil and carried a cascade of white roses.

Four attendants wore floor-length spring green dresses and carried red roses. The bride's sister, Gretchen Mentzer, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Donald Cutler, Carolyn Dickson and Kathleen Witt.

The bridegroom asked his father to be his best man. Ushers were Homer Sheffield Jr., William Rogers, Marshall C. Sale and Andrew Selden.

THE REV. ROBERT E. HOGGARD officiated for the ceremony.

After a reception in the bride's home, the couple left for a honeymoon in Northern Michigan. They will live in Detroit.

Both are graduates of Oberlin College. The bridegroom graduated from Thurston High School and attended Wayne State University before going to Oberlin, and later received his law degree at Duke University.

New Career Prep. Course To Start

If you're a college graduate with a "dusty" diploma and would like to go back to work, now is the time to apply for a career training program that starts soon in Detroit.

April 1 is the opening date for a 10-week, non-credit job preparation course to be sponsored jointly by Camp Fire Girls, Inc., and Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. Its aim is to train women in this locale for sal-

Sorority To See Action Line Film

An "Action Line" film by the Detroit Free Press will be shown at the next regular meeting of the Alpha Xi Delta Western Wayne County Alumnae Chapter on Tuesday, March 12, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Matt Dotson, 22682 Beech, Dearborn, will be hostess.

Alumnae living in the vicinities of Livonia, Plymouth and Dearborn are invited to attend.

The group will join the Grosse Pointe Chapter to observe Founder's Day at a noon luncheon at Stouffer's Northland restaurant on Saturday, April 27.

aried administrative positions with community service agencies.

MRS. RUBY SILLS MILLER, of New York, director of the experimental project for administrative trainees, has announced that interviewing of candidates already is underway.

"THE UNDERTAKING is designed to help relieve the shortage of community agency personnel by utilizing previously untapped sources of womanpower," the director explained.

NOT ALL JOB OPENINGS are in this vicinity, so women who are willing to relocate will have the best opportunities for employment. There are no tuition fees for the course, as it is funded by the U.S. Department of Labor's Manpower Development and Training Act.

Interested Detroit-area women holding degrees may obtain a brochure that describes the course, enumerates qualifications, and includes an interview request form by writing to: Experimental Project for Administrative Trainees, 65 Worth St., New York, N. Y.

MRS. NEILSON JOHN CURRAN
(Judith Ann Kearns)

Curran-Kearns Vows Are Spoken

Judith Ann Kearns and Neilson John Curran exchanged marriage vows in Grace Lutheran Church, Redford Township, Saturday, Feb. 24.

Giving the bride in marriage were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kearns, of Redford Township. Mr. and Mrs. John Curran, also of Redford Township, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride's pease sole gown featured a sweeping train edged in rose petal lace. A silk flower held her shoulder-length veil, and she carried a cascade of white carnations centered by a white orchid.

Apple green silk and velvet fashioned the gowns of the bride attendants, Linda Meyer, as matron of honor, and Kris Johnson, Linda Carrier and Darlene Pearl as bridesmaids.

James Hardy was best man. The guests were seated by Fred Luoto, Carl Moss and John Curran, brother of the bridegroom.

Plymouth Library New Books

"The Naked Ape" by Desmond Morris reveals the human race through the unemotional eyes of a zoologist. He claims that beneath the skin the tastes we exhibit, at play, in sex life, and at war, are striking evidence of our close relationship to the animal world.

"The Black Cliffs" by Gunnar Gunnarsson was originally published in Danish in 1929. It is a psychological novel based on a sensational murder which took place on an isolated farm in Iceland early in this century.

"The American Schoolbook" by Hillel Black describes how schoolbooks are written and sold, how teachers select them, and why a publisher decides to produce a new textbook.

"The Travels of Maudie Tipstaff" by Margaret Forster, author of "Georgy Girl," is the story of what happens when a well-organized widow sets out to visit her three married children, armed with a grim determination to be patient and long-suffering.

"On Not Leaving it to the Snake" by Harvey Cox, author of "The Secular City," probes the nature of man's true responsibilities to both God and himself, and urges us to move toward a future whose shape we can determine.

"Christine Jorgensen" is a personal autobiography about the U.S. born, world famous trans-sexual whose much celebrated change of sex in Denmark has led the way to similar operations in America, most notably at the Johns Hopkins Hospital.

DSR Hikes Bus Fare To Meet Deficit

Faced with mounting costs of services and materials needed to provide its more than 130 million passengers with convenient and efficient service, the Detroit Department of Street Railways (DSR) has announced its first fare increase in nine years.

The five-cent increase in the basic fare went into effect Saturday, March 2.

DSR Board President Paul C. Ackerman said, "The DSR has held the line on costs in every area where it has been possible while at the same time maintaining the high level of service Detroiters expect from us."

THE DSR provides passenger service on 1,719 route-miles, a 30-mile increase over the 1966 figure of 1,689 route-miles.

Ackerman pointed out that, even with the increase, Detroit remains among the lowest-priced of all comparable public transit systems in the United States.

Fares of 30 cents are charged in Pittsburgh, Cleveland,

Chicago, St. Louis, Ann Arbor, Cincinnati, Houston, Los Angeles and New Haven (Conn.), while fares of 35 cents are charged in cities such as Grand Rapids, Flint, Muskegon, Toledo, Kansas City and San Diego.

"The DSR certainly has received one of the greatest public endorsements any public transit system can receive," Ackerman said. "In fiscal 1966-67 the DSR carried 130,718,122 passengers in the metropolitan area, an increase of almost eight million over fiscal 1965-66. This jump of 6.4 percent constitutes the greatest increase of new bus riders of any major transit system in the nation."

"This, however, has not been enough to offset rising operating expenses," he added.

DSR ENDED the 1966-67 fiscal year with gross income of $33,063,615, and expenses of $33,483,571. This left a revenue deficiency of $419,956.

The DSR revenue deficit from July 1 through December 31, 1967, was $908,377. Without a fare increase the projected operating deficit through the last six months of the present fiscal year would approach $590,000, leaving a net operating deficit for fiscal 1967-68 of almost $1.5 million.

Ackerman stated that known increases of $700,000 in retirement system contributions, plus at least $100,000 in Social Security taxes have to be added to the budget.

To combat mounting costs, the DSR has been constantly streamlining its operation. One of these steps has been to replace buses at an earlier age. This produces more breakdown-free passenger miles per coach and reduces maintenance costs.

AFTER THE 1959 fare increase the average age of the DSR fleet was 8.96 years. The average purchase price for a 53-passenger coach was $25,417. That was the advent of the familiar silver and green coaches now seen on the streets of Detroit.

The older coaches had been run until they were 25 years old. They had nearly no replacement value. Normally they were sold to individuals or groups for up to $200 plus the tires and batteries.

Now the average age of the 1,200-bus fleet has been cut from 8.96 years in 1959 to 7.50 years. When the silver and green coaches are replaced they are expected to bring resale prices of up to $2,000, ten times the amount of the older coaches upon replacement.

He estimated that although the cost of the 50-passenger coaches now being purchased by the DSR has risen to more than $29,000 each, maintenance costs have been cut by about 30 percent. Much of the higher original investment is recouped through higher resale value and lower maintenance costs.

Oldest swimming record still in the books at Wayne State University is the 23.1 in the 50-yard freestyle set by Guy Lumsden in 1940.

GOP Sets Up $1.5 Million Budget In '68

Republican State Chairman Elly M. Peterson said recently that GOP officials have set the party's state operating budget for 1968 at $1,585,005, nearly double the $882,000 of authorized spending for 1967.

Most of the increase, she explained, will be earmarked for the 1968 presidential, congressional, legislative and state office campaigns.

THE 1968 BUDGET, Mrs. Peterson said, is $2,743 less than the Republican outlay in Michigan for the 1966 election year.

However, she pointed out, there will be no campaign races this year for governor, lieutenant governor and other State Administrative Board posts or for U.S. Senator, as there were in 1966.

The expected available funds will thus support more vigorous Republican campaigns for other offices on next year's ballot, Mrs. Peterson said.

As approved unanimously by both the Republican State Central Committee and the GOP State Finance Committee, the party budget for 1968 allots $600,000 for the Republican National Committee and its national campaign, $200,000 for the Michigan congressional campaign, $90,000 for the state legislative campaign, $24,000 for the campaign for eight state educational board positions and $26,000 for the state judicial campaign, including two seats on the State Supreme Court.

THE PARTY BUDGET ALSO allots $50,000 to Gov. George Romney and Lt. Gov. William G. Milliken for political expenses in connection with the operation of their offices.

Mrs. Peterson said Romney and Milliken could split the money as they see fit, to cover such expenses as hiring additional office help, issuing news letters, purchasing Michigan flags for servicemen in Vietnam or other activities which she described as political in nature.

Part of the $50,000 also may be used for expenses of Mrs. Romney's political activities, the state chairman said.

IN 1966, when Romney and Milliken were campaigning for reelection, the party gave them $60,000 for the political expenses of their office, Mrs. Peterson said.

Introduces 'Tenants' Bill

State Representative Louis E. Schmidt, Republican of Livonia-Northville, has introduced a "tenants rights" bill which requires owners to maintain leased property fit for the use intended, in good repair and to comply with applicable health and safety laws.

"The bill extends legal protection regarding unsafe or unhealthy living conditions to persons leasing property," Schmidt said.

"I think it is only right that we expect landlords to protect the rights and health of those who are least able to do so," Schmidt added. The bill also spells out that if any disrepair or violation of the applicable health or safety laws has been caused by the tenants conduct, then the lessor is not held responsible.

DAFFODILS, little girls and baby lambs provided a feeling of Spring last week at Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village. Linda Perry of Dearborn and her new-found friend (one of more than 32 lambs born in Greenfield Village this season) crept into the Museum when it became apparent that March would come in like a lion. Lambs, calves, colts and other baby animals, with their mothers and fathers, can be seen in the Village at the Country Fair of Yesterday, May 23 - 25.

Urges Check For Defects In Heating

In conjunction with the generalized search to locate defective heating systems in response to reports of carbon monoxide exposures, Arthur O. Lund, engineer with the Michigan Department of Health, Division of Occupational Health, states that the most frequently encountered problems are:

- Dust and lint accumulation in the burner section of wall-type heaters. This restriction at the combustion air opening results in a lower combustion efficiency which accounts for higher concentrations of carbon monoxide in the flue gases.
- POOR DRAFT due to stacks of insufficient height; also, poorly designed or installed weather caps.
- Poor maintenance of the combustion chambers of both oil and gas-fired unit heaters.
- Pilot light access doors left open and often removed.
- Draperies too close to a heater, often in contact with the hot stack, creating a potential fire hazard.

Central heating systems located in utility rooms without adequate openings to the outside for combustion air. Also, combustible materials stored too closely to the boiler or hot water heater.

LUND RECOMMENDS that all types of heating units should be serviced annually by persons qualified in the operation of combustion units. He advises that frequently the first indication of an excessive carbon monoxide concentration is persistent headaches, by one or more members of the family, especially upon awakening in the morning.

West Coast City Hopes To Set Integration Example

The city of Berkeley expects it is about to set an example for the rest of the country in the area of school integration. Forty per cent of Berkeley's elementary school pupils — Negroes and whites — will be transported to their classes next fall to provide identical racial mixtures at every school, or "total integration."

SUPT. NEIL V. SULLIVAN said his plan to bus 3,650 youngsters would not only solve the city's segregation problem, but "set an example for all the cities of America."

It was approved unanimously by the board of education after nine months of public discussion in which opponents mounted a token and tardy campaign able to gather just 3,000 signatures.

This traditionally liberal city of 125,000 on the east shore of San Francisco bay, best known as the home of the University of California, made the basic decision for "total integration" in a bitter 1964 recall election for school board members.

The integrationists won overwhelmingly and have run up big majorities in elections since the city's high schools were desegregated that year. Opponents, after the recall defeat, have been unable to mount an effective campaign against busing.

DESPITE THE mandate from voters, Sullivan and the board moved slowly at first to integrate the grade schools.

The superintendent, hired in 1964 after setting up schools for Negro youngsters in Prince Edward county, Va., sought "workable solutions" which would maintain the high quality education demanded by the university community and also be "least traumatic."

The solution he recommended to "the most crucial problem of all" was accepted early this year by the board. It will require busing 3,650 of the city's 8,900 grade school pupils and reorganizing the elementary system.

IT WILL GIVE each city school a racial composition corresponding closely to that of the entire system — 50 per cent Caucasian, 41 per cent Negro, and 9 per cent Oriental and other minorities.

Sullivan viewed the program both as an example for other cities and as a test of integration.

"In solving this problem, we will set an example for all the cities of America," he told the school board. "We will not fail here. Where else would there be hope of success if there were failure here, in Berkeley?"

THE SUPERINTENDENT said the plan would make Berkeley the first United States city with more than 100,000 population and a substantial Negro community to fully integrate its schools. He said large cities which have integrated by busing Negroes had a Negro population of only 5 to 10 per cent. Berkeley will spend $518,000 on the busing and realignment of schools during the first year. Ten smaller schools, located in predominantly white neighborhoods, will house kindergarten and the first three grades. Negro children will be bused to them.

Fourth through sixth grades will be taught in four larger schools in the predominantly Negro southwest section, with white youngsters bused to class.

THE CITY, with 16,000 students, has only one high school. The 1964 realignment put 7th and 8th graders in two racially balanced schools and all 9th graders in a separate facility.

Sullivan said three years' experience with the junior high program showed "white people didn't run away."

"When they see Negro children are not violent, and when they see academic standards don't drop, they withdraw their opposition," he said. "We've proved both fears wrong."

Drop Tours Of Deeryards

LANSING—For the first time in many years, the State Conservation Department is making no plans to hold deeryard tours in northern Michigan this season because of the unusually mild winter and the lack of public interest in these field trips.

Department deer specialist Dave Arnold reports:

"The purpose of our deeryard tours has been to show people wintering pressures that face deer. This winter, those conditions have been so easy on deer that any field trip would not give a true picture of what these animals normally have to go through during the cold-weather months."

Ralph Bailey, the Department's regional game biologist for the Upper Peninsula, says that deer above the Straits are not tightly yarded except in a few deep-snow areas. And even in those areas, they haven't been confined until the last couple of weeks, later than they normally are.

AUTOPSIES OF road-killed deer in the Upper Peninsula indicate that the animals are in particularly good physical condition for this stage of the season, which also reflects the mild tone of this winter.

In the northern Lower Peninsula also, deer are having unusually easy going and are not typically yarded in any areas, according to Department Regional Game Biologist Nels Johnson.

Perhaps because of the generally mild winter, public interest in deeryard trips has been virtually nil. Unless that and wintering conditions change dramatically, these field excursions will be ruled out for this winter.

Asphalt Tile Wears Well In Entrance

Compromise is sometimes the best solution in home decorating problems. Clearly a resilient floor covering is best while the youngsters are growing up but you long for an occasional touch of carpet.

So why not install long-wearing, easy-to-clean asphalt or vinyl asbestos tile and use area rugs?

Decorators have decided that is is very chic to have vinyl asbestos tile hard-use areas, such as entrance halls, in a marbleized design that harmonizes with the living room carpet.

Other home designers suggest tiling major rooms in neutral colors and using small bright-colored rugs for accent. One dramatic style is a black-and-white checkerboard floor spiced with scatter rugs.

A MAJOR ADVANTAGE of a resilient tile floor, whether it is through-chip, marbleized or embossed design, is that it doesn't date.

Such floors wear well at least 20 years. In that length of time home fashions change drastically—but these floors look well with any style decor. That's a big consideration when budgeting a big-cost item such as flooring.

Medical Schools Hurt By Loss Of Federal Funds

WASHINGTON -- America's medical schools are beginning to feel the pinch from a halt in the growth of the National Institutes of Health, which supplies as much as half of the schools' budgets through research grants.

The real squeeze will come later this year when present grants run out, medical school officials say.

cation instead of research. NIH is also considering a new program to give direct grants to the schools to support medical education.

Medical schools became locked into depending on NIH grants during the last 20 years when the federal agency's influence in the research field and its budget grew in a seemingly unending manner.

NIH grants enable doctors to devote full time to research and teaching as medical school faculty members. The schools pay part of the salaries and research grants make up the rest.

THE GRANTS also pay for expensive equipment that is supposed to be used for research only. But since the research also involves patients, the equipment serves to add to a medical center's treatment facilities.

"The research part of the medical school's activity... has had to carry much of the cost of faculty salaries, physical plant and scientific equipment that is essential for educational functions," says Dr.

Lewis Thomas, dean of New York University's School of Medicine.

"Much of what exists today for medical education has thus become dependent on research productivity."

For years NIH appeared to be the perfect benefactor of medical schools. Its allies in Congress and nongovernmental lobbyists combined each year to get NIH more money than the administration requested. Now that has changed. The steady increase in NIH appropriations, which sometimes amounted to as much as 33 per cent a year, leveled off.

NIH's 1967 appropriation of $1.2 billion was an increase of 8 per cent, barely enough to meet the pressures of rising costs and not enough to finance new projects or expand old ones.

"That's what people never expected," says Clifford F. Johnson, NIH's director of research information.

NIH's financial troubles spring from a squeeze play caused by the Vietnam war and the death early last year of Rep. John E. Fogarty (D-R.I.), its staunchest supporter in Congress and chairman of the House Appropriations sub-committee that handles its budget.

With its budget growth stalled, NIH Director James Shannon says the Institutes' greatest problem is continuing present projects while financing new research so young scientists can get the chance to show their stuff.

THEY FEAR THE squeeze could cause some schools already on shaky financial footing to close.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see some go to the wall," says Dr. Thomas B. Turner, dean of Johns Hopkins University Medical School in Baltimore.

This comes at a time when the federal government and the medical profession are acutely aware of a shortage of doctors in the nation. Studies show that the nation's medical schools do not graduate enough doctors to meet present and future needs.

Because of the cutback in its appropriations, NIH has judged projects as Georgetown University Medical School in Washington and Johns Hopkins worthy of support, but has failed to come up with the cash, officials at both medical schools report. They are among the largest recipients of NIH grants.

"It's a new phenomenon," says Dr. Turner. "What is disapproved at the moment is not important. But it is perfectly clear that this process is going to accelerate. We can't count on NIH money any more."

Net Stars Vie In Ann Arbor

Tennis fans in this area will have the opportunity to see the world's top professionals in the Michigan Tennis Classic, a three-day tournament featuring eight outstanding players from six nations, which will open in the University Events Building on Friday, March 8.

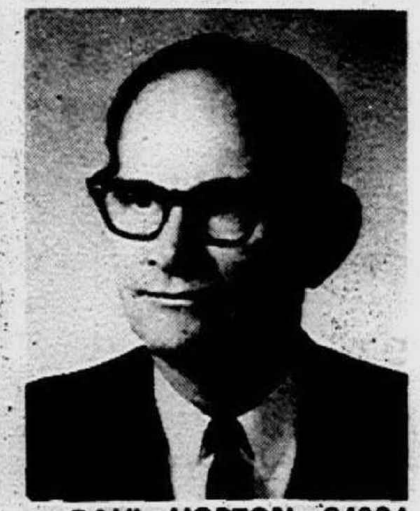

The tournament will be completed in Detroit's Cobo Hall on Saturday and Sunday. Matches here will start at 8 p.m.

The all-star roster contains the names of Australian Davis Cup greats John Newcombe and Tony Roche, who just turned pro; Dennis Ralston and Butch Buchholz of the United States; Cliff Drysdale of South Africa; Nicki Pilic of Yugoslavia; Roger Taylor of England, and Pierre Barthes of France.

NEWCOMBE is the defending Wimbledon and Forest Hills champion. The 23-year-old Australian is the youngest of the group which contains three left-handers--Roche, Pilic and Taylor.

Ralston and Buchholz will represent the U.S.; Newcombe and Roche, Australia; Pilic and Barthes, Europe and Taylor and Drysdale will form the Great Britain-South Africa team.

All players will wear bright colors instead of the traditional white and the Van Allen Simplified Scoring System (VASSS) will be used to make the game easier to follow.

PAUL HORTON, 24064 Maryland Court, Farmington, has been promoted to vice president for business development by City National Bank. He joined the banking institution in January, transferring from Massey-Ferguson Inc. of Detroit where he served as secretary and assistant treasurer.

Readers 'Speak Up' On Controversial Subjects

Asks All Facts

EDITOR:
I would like to reply to an editorial in Plymouth-Mail-Observer recently. If left unchanged, most of your readers will be left with the impression that all of the farmers and residents living in the western half of Plymouth Township are money hungry land barons.
Is it a crime to own plain farmland for this is what it actually is? Regardless of whether it is zoned residential or agricultural, the value per acre does not increase until it is platted for subdivisions.

SUBDIVISIONS require roads, water, sewer etc. These are what cause property to appreciate. The extension of sewer and water west of Beck Road is not in the foreseeable future except in small close-in developments.

Currently, water hasn't reached Beck Road. Sewer to Beck is not on the books yet. The land in question extends two miles further west. The so-called building boom is headed southeast through Canton Township where the land lends itself to small home building.

This is where the new high school complex is to be built plus additional sites. There are no schools out our way and none contemplated shortly.

Statement was made that an acre cannot be purchased under $5,000. This should have included editorial clarification. In a subdivision having all utilities and improvements, yes, it might cost $5,000 or more.

How about an acre on a paved or gravel road lacking sewer, water, etc.? Well, you might have to pay $5,000 also. Why? Well, the roads are generally one mile apart.

To build, you must face on the road. Now this property is generally one quarter mile deep

EDITOR:
After reading Don Hoen-shell's article in the Feb. 14 issue of The Observer, I sat down and wrote personal letters to each of the 12 Senators and 10 Representatives listed asking them to please send me copies of their findings on reports on the various aspects of the junkets they were involved in during the period covered by the article.

I asked them to explain to me as a taxpayer how these expenditures helped our state and what we received for our money.

In the light of cutbacks in funds for mental health, education, hospitals etc. and the drive to establish district offices for them, I am appalled at this waste of state money.

I requested a reply and it will be interesting to see first, how many even bother to acknowledge my query and second, to read their justifications and "reports."

Congratulations to Don Hoen-shell for opening our eyes to what's going on in Lansing!

Offers Solutions

EDITOR:
Here is a suggestion for Mrs. Mae Hales and her friends who object to their children's wait to enter the school on inclement mornings. Why hasn't she thought of these simple solutions?

1. Organize a car pool with her neighbors, to take the children to school on those days. They could plan their time to arrive exactly on time for school.

2. If she or they are not willing to sit with a car full of children, she could take them (her own) to school in her own car.

Of course there are two inconveniences involved in these plans. First she would have to be dressed. Second she would have to notify the bus driver that her children would not be riding on the bus that morning.

"ANOTHER LIVONIAN"
P.S. I am neither a bus driver nor a teacher in Livonia.

EDITOR:
Enclosed is a check for $4.50 for one year's payment.

This paper is a pleasure we must have, because of its news of our town (Farmington) and friends.

It is a pleasure to read. Thanks for making it so!

FARMINGTON

or more. If the owner sells you only one acre roughly 160' X 264' the seller is left with no access to the property in the rear unless he owns additional frontage.

However, if you buy five acres or approximately 160' X 1320' the price per acre could drop 50 per cent or more.

Just how much does land out in this area sell for? Well, it depends on who owns it, whether he must sell, where it is located and the size of the parcel.

THE LARGER the parcel the lower the cost per acre generally. As an example, last summer five acres on Beck sold for $1350 per acre.

Five adjoining acres sold at $1450 per acre. The state equalized value of these two parcels is higher than the sales price. If you would like 20 acres on Ridge Road south of Ann Arbor you can purchase for $1800 per acre.

If you were interested in a few acres at Territorial and Napier, two miles west of Beck, it sold last fall at well under $1,000 per acre.

This may explain some parcels assessed at $900 per acre. This land is two to three miles away from sewer or water.

As to residents' taxes on these lands being low, if they were increased to 50 per cent of actual cash value, the editorial recommends, they would not pay a great deal more according to my arithmetic, as this was considered and included in the added makeup of 78 per cent called the equalization factor.

IN THE WESTERN part of our township there are many older residents who back 20 years, or more, purchased five to 25 acres in the wilderness to build their dream home--looking towards retirement.

These people wanted to live in a rural area and be able to look out their side window and not look into a neighbor's bathroom. Many of us joined together to improve the residential characteristics of the area and to assist in the development of the township as a whole. (Details upon request).

These are solid citizens who, as the records will show over the years, did not sit at home on voting days, but turned out percentage-wise in greater strength than other precincts. Is it someone's wish to force these residents to sell their homes and land through higher taxes?

Who do you suppose would be in on the kill? Not new residents. Then who? Why not land speculators with quick cash to drive the price down? Are these the people you wish to entrust with the orderly development of our township?

Would they be willing to do the job we have done so far? Would you miss the plowed fields, the waving corn, the roadside stands?

Would you appreciate the great number of "For Sale" signs along the roads? We would be overwhelmed with requests for spot zoning.

INCIDENTALLY, you are in error in stating that some land, prior to reassessment, was assessed at $10 per acre. A correct statement would read 10 per cent of true cash value today--or $100 per acre.

As to your cartoon, might I suggest a drive out through this area, particularly between Powell and Five Mile Roads. Visit some of the old farm-houses and talk to the people still tilling the same land they have farmed since the turn of the century. I am sure you will paint a different picture.

You state that these farmers are howling at the Township Hall over the new zoning ordinance, claiming it will raise their taxes.

This appears to be an exaggeration as the ordinance has not been made public yet. Possibly they may object but let us not jump the gun. I predict you will have your answer soon.

OUR PEOPLE in the area are not howlers. We are going to analyze the question sensibly and discuss it amiably with our elected officials.

So what? Around 1940 a Japanese professor at the University of Minnesota wrote a book which I believe was titled "Language in Action" today called semantics.

Now semantics as I use the word, is the art of using our language to tell half truths. I visualize some politicians, dictators, demagogues, etc. when I hear the word, all trying to convert us to their ways by telling us only half the story. They must now tell the other side. I would like to see our newspapers give us all of the story. When they don't, they are doing the public a disservice. If you would go out of your way to give us the full story I am sure we would all benefit. In my mind the Observer does a good job generally and I would miss it greatly if it was ever discontinued. However, let's not rely on headlines. Each time I start to open the paper, I ask myself, "What headlines do we have this week?"

ICE HOCKEY

In 1870, students at McGill University in Montreal played the first crude form of ice hockey on the frozen surface of a river. Skates and regular hockey sticks were used, but the puck was cut out of a hard rubber ball.

This swift sport is unlike any other in rules. When a player commits a serious offense, he must sit in the penalty box for a designated time period. His team is handicapped, for no other player may be substituted for him.

Today there are more than 2,000,000 pro hockey fans... with enough enthusiastic followers to support six new teams this year. To keep all fans zeroed in on this fast-paced, sport, get Life's February 2nd issue with its colorful 14-page pictorial review of all the rough and tumble.

Construction Contracts At High Level

October's contracts for future construction set another new high and extended the record-breaking pace of the two previous months. It was announced by the F.W. Dodge Company, leading analyst of construction activity and a Division of McGraw-Hill, Inc.

A commitment of $5,053,226,000 for new construction projects in October brought the Dodge Index to its peak of 171. This seasonally adjusted index (1957-59 = 100) was 168 in September and 165 in August — each a record high.

Compared with last October, the value of contracts in the latest month was ahead by 23 per cent, with gains in all major categories. Current housing totals were up sharply from their depressed levels of a year ago.

"The construction industry continued to add to its backlog of future work with a record October total of newly-contracted projects," reported George A. Christie, Dodge's chief economist. "But, he noted, 'It looks very much as though the period of rapid acceleration from the depressed level of contracting at the beginning of 1967 to the present is about at an end.

"THE BLISTERING PACE of the past few months has been partly a matter of catching up with deferred demand—especially for housing," Christie explained. "The renewed upward movement of interest rates, a recent trend that now has been compounded by the chain of financial events leading from the British devaluation, is likely to inhibit construction growth for a time," the Dodge economist added.

"Revival of the tax surcharge proposal," he pointed out, "should help relieve the severe pressures on the capital markets next year, however."

CONTRACTS FOR residential buildings totaling $1,887,148,000 in October were 54 per cent higher than the comparable year-ago figure when the housing market had skidded to its twenty-year low.

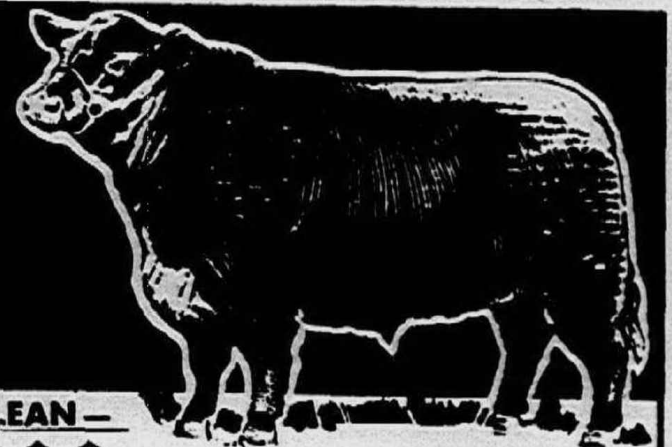

One-family home building value was up 65 per cent from last October's amount; apartment construction gained 44 per cent since that time.

Contracts for nonhousekeeping residential buildings were up nine per cent in value as hotels and motels gained and dormitories declined during October.

Nonresidential building contracts were up four per cent over last October's value at $1,874,217,000. The latest month's gains were confined largely to industrial and commercial construction where a spurt in office building and a new $150 million oil refinery boosted activity. October contracts for institutional building held even with the year-ago total as a small dip in educational projects offset a gain in hospital construction.

Chevy Offers New Travelers' Guide

Mom, dad, junior and sis, too, can add a big plus to that upcoming motor pleasure trip by packing along the latest edition of Chevrolet's "Family Travel Guide."

The expanded 1968 publication, a 152-page library of travel information, touring tips, fun games and songs, is now available at most Chevrolet dealerships throughout the country.

Featuring something for everyone, the comprehensive travel book includes easy-to-read maps, complete with latest coded highway information, of the United States, Canada and Mexico—aids that will make dad's driving task a snap.

THE FAMILY CO-PILOT will especially like the book's listing, by geographic region, of favorite American scenic points and recreational areas.

Mile after mile of highway travel will whiz by pleasantly for restless tots of all ages as they entertain themselves with the book's numerous new games and a parade of sing-along tunes.

Produced by Rand McNally & Co., the travel guide is being made available by Chevrolet for the second straight year. Nearly 300,000 traveling families took advantage of the initial offer in 1967.

Chevrolet anticipates that 500,000 copies of "Family Travel Guide" will be purchased during the current vacation season.

Dentists Warn Public To Guard Against Gum Disease

In a report just released at The University of Michigan, 114 of the world's leading periodontists have put the public on notice: "Guard yourself against getting gum disease, since lost support of the teeth cannot be regained, and methods for treatment are still controversial."

Periodontal (gum) disease is considered the most widespread affliction of mankind. It is found in every corner of the globe and is the major cause of human tooth loss.

THE 114 DENTISTS and scientists who prepared the report came from every continent but Africa and Australia. One spokesman said they "possessed the greatest assembly of knowledge in periodontology that the world has ever witnessed."

But despite their collective knowledge and the high incidence of periodontal disease, the conference found "a vast lack of scientifically controlled studies."

As a result, practitioners and the public have to rely to a great extent on individual observations, notions, and case reports which have provided inconclusive and potentially misleading information.

REVIEWING THE causes of periodontal disease, the assembly concluded that there is: A "great probability" that certain bacterial enzymes irritate and destroy the gums and the bone support around the teeth; No evidence that gum disease is the result of any specific bacterial infection; Good evidence that thorough oral hygiene and prevention of plaque on the teeth are of great importance for prevention of periodontal disease.

The report notes that present treatment is based largely upon assumptions that have not been adequately verified by scientific testing. It stressed the great need for scientifically conducted clinical trials of the current methods of treatment.

A fundamental problem in studies of the cause and treatment of the disease has been a lack of accurate ways to measure the chief symptoms: gum inflammation and destruction of the housing of the teeth. CLINICAL INDICES developed during the last five to 10 years now make it possible to study results of periodontal treatment in a more scientific manner.

There seems to be no proof to indicate that the patient can be helped significantly by caustic drugs, antimicrobial agents, cortical steroids, and vaccines.

Even dentifrices and mouthwashes do not have a directly curative effect upon periodontal disease, the report says.

Although treatment with drugs has also failed to control the disease, the periodontists warned against "ruling out the value of all drugs because of past experience and disappointments."

Since the disease has frustrated practically all scientific efforts to find a cure, the conferees agreed that the most promising area for immediate help lies with prevention.

"The occurrence and severity of periodontal disease could be drastically reduced if all known preventive procedures were put into action by the public and the dental profession."

The assembly could not find any scientific proof that specific methods of toothbrushing, interdental stimulation, gum massage, or the individual's state of nutrition have a positive and predictable effect on prevention and control of the disease.

However, the beneficial effect of improvement in oral hygiene has been established beyond doubt. The report suggests that new approaches may also establish methods other than toothbrushing for prevention of plaque on teeth.

It also urges scientists to attempt to establish sound guidelines to measure the abrasive and detergent qualities of toothpastes and powders, since these important factors have not been adequately measured so far.

Take Die Out Of Diet, By Cutting Down On Fats

"Please pass the cholesterol ... And do have some more of this delicious saturated fat. I cooked it especially for you."

An impossible dialogue? No, but though often told in jest, the situation it reflects is real enough.

Each year, more and more Americans may be eating their way to premature heart attacks, the Michigan Heart Association says.

This warning is being made on the basis of growing scientific evidence that eating too much of the wrong kind of fats is causing increased mortality from heart attack.

Changes in eating habits are in order for all of us, young and old, sick and well.

The underlying process is atherosclerosis, a buildup of fatty deposits along the inner walls of the coronary arteries that feed blood to the heart muscle. This process, starting silently early in life, can suddenly -- or slowly -- cause a block.

A COMPLETE and sudden block can cause death; a small block can damage that part of the heart deprived of blood, while enough narrowing can cause chronic heart disease. The tragedy of this disease is that it hurts or kills so many perfectly good hearts.

A similar process in the brain can cause a stroke.

What has this all to do with what we eat?

The medical scientists who have been on the trail of any clues to the causes of atherosclerosis have come up with substantial evidence incriminating the fats we Americans love best -- butter, eggs, ice cream and prime steaks.

Studies of population groups on a world-wide basis have disclosed an association between blood levels of cholesterol and other fats and the incidence of heart attack.

Populations with a low blood level -- Africans and Japanese, for example -- have a lower heart disease death rate.

Moreover, laboratory studies tend to confirm the statistical findings. Scientists have produced atherosclerosis and even heart attacks in animals by feeding them diets high in cholesterol and saturated fats, says the Michigan Heart Association.

Daily Lenten Service Topics Are Listed

Following is a listing of messages scheduled for the daily Noon Day Lenten Services sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches. The services are held Monday through Friday from 12:10 to 12:50 p.m. in Central Methodist Church, Detroit.

Wednesday, March 6 -- DR. FRED E. STEPHENS, Ebenezer African Methodist Episcopal Church, Detroit, Michigan

"CONVICTIONS OF A CHRISTIAN"

The light of democracy in many places is bending low before the winds of concussion of this day. The light of friendship abroad in the world is burning low, for our world is now divided into camps of mistrust, suspicion and ill will. The light of political science which is the wisdom of government, is very low, for governments don't seem to know what to do to preserve peace. But worst of all is the light of idealism which should burn in the heart of man, but is now very dim. The greatest question before us now then: "IS THERE A LIGHT THAT WILL NOT FADE NOR GROW DIM? What are a Christian's convictions in such a time as this? My conviction is that it is impossible for anyone to be betrayed by the life, love and light of Jesus Christ who said: "I am the light of the world: he that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life."

Thursday, March 7 -- RT. REV. JOHN P. CRAINE, Bishop, Episcopal Diocese of Indianapolis, Indiana

"THE GOD WHO MAKES ALL THINGS NEW"

In these days when rapid and drastic changes are the order of the day in all the affairs of men, it might be helpful to us to think about what happened to the men and women who first came into contact with Jesus Christ. They were for the most part very simple people, burdened with the normal cares and anxieties of their day, and certainly with the feelings of guilt that are common to mankind. It was a shocking and joyful surprise to them to find the knowledge of a God who was able to make all things new.

Friday, March 8 -- RT. REV. JOHN P. CRAINE

"BELIEF IS IN YOUR HANDS"

The God whom Christians worship is a most wise Father who understands that such things as love and faith must be voluntarily given, not simply demanded. It is evident that a love which is demanded of you is not really love at all -- the only relationship which can be understood as love is a feeling that you want to give yourself to the love one. The same statement can be made about faith or belief.

Monday, March 11 -- DR. DAVID H.C. READ, Pastor, Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City

"THE AFTER GLOW OF GOD"

And while my glory passes by I will put you in a cleft of the rock, and I will cover you with my hand until I have passed by; then I will take away my hand, and you shall see my back, but my face shall not be seen." (Exodus 33:22, 23 (RSV))

Tuesday, March 12 -- DR. DAVID H.C. READ

"NO HEALTH IN US?" (Confessing our sins today)

If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us. If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." (1 John 1:8-9)

Wednesday, March 13 -- DR. DAVID H.C. READ

"HOW CAN WE BELIEVE IN A GOD OF LOVE?"

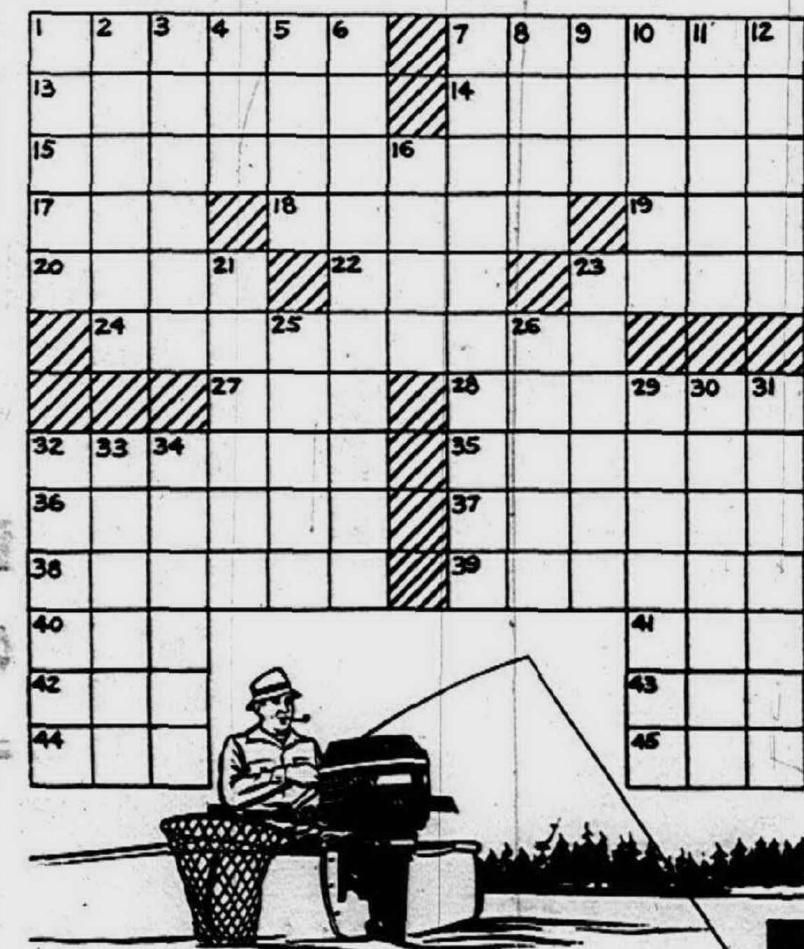

There may be many that say, Who will show us any good? Lord, lift thou up the light of thy countenance upon us." (Psalm 4:6)

Thursday, March 14, and Friday, March 15 -- DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, Atlanta, Georgia

(In response to our request for sermon titles, we received the following reply from Dr. King's secretary.)

"Dr. King looks forward to his appearance in Detroit under the Council of Churches on March 14th and 15th. Regretfully, however, he finds that because of an unusually crowded schedule it is not possible for him to send you this advance material prior to his arrival. Please know that Dr. King would be happy to do this, but he is so pressed for time during this particular period, that he has not had an opportunity to write out his sermons as yet. We trust that you will understand the dilemma he confronts at this point."

'Moonshine' Still Problem To Lawmen

Moonshine continues to plague the American society, but law enforcement officers and the courts are making steady progress in curbing this national menace.

This a key conclusion of a 1967 report, issued by the Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc. (LBI), the public relations arm of the distilled spirits industry, and based on LBI's 18th annual nationwide survey of moonshine activities.

The report, released by LBI President Thomas J. Donovan, reveals that moonshiners, on the basis of projections calculated by LBI, produced 55.7 million gallons of non-taxpaid, potentially lethal liquor in 1966, compared with 59 million in the previous year, and deprived public treasuries of at least $744 million in taxes.

DONOVAN SAID that heavy pressure had been put on the moonshiners by the Treasury Department's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division (ATTD) in cooperation with local lawmen. These agents in 1966 seized 17,774 stills.

Although this was a decline of 8.3 per cent from the previous year, he pointed out, the fact that production per still was up 3.2 per cent nationally indicates a shift from small stills to larger-capacity units. Output in the 12 Southeastern states, known as the "Moonshine Belt," rose 6.9 per cent—more than double the national average.

THE LBI REPORT notes that many of the large stills seized operate in a manner resembling organized crime syndicates. Also cited are the huge volume of "export" traffic (interstate transportation), the use of trailer trucks to haul moonshine to large cities, including the Northeast and Midwest, and the moonshiner's devious ruses to conceal their operations and avoid detection.

A powerful profit motive for the illegal producer is to be found in the excessive taxes on legal liquor, the report notes. When Federal, state and local levies are combined, the total tax per gallon of legal liquor comes to $13.50. Obviously, the moonshiner evades all of these taxes.

This heavy tax burden constitutes "a $13.50 subsidy to moonshiners," the LBI survey states, explaining that a typical batch of non-taxpaid illicit liquor costs only about $1.50 to make; when the distributor buys it for about $6, and then charges up to $2 per pint to his customers, he can net a tax-free profit of $10 on every gallon.

THE REPORT also emphasizes the grave menace to health presented by moonshine. The incredible filth and vermin found by ATTD officers in raided stills are described through vivid reports and pictures.

A frequent ingredient of moonshine is lead salts—which can cause paralysis, blindness and death—and which results

Realtors To Hear Of FHA Programs

New programs offered by the Federal Housing Administration and a review of older programs as they have been modernized and updated by the government agency to meet the current needs of brokers and home buyers will be discussed by FHA spokesman Eddie McGloin on March 7.

when the illicit liquor is condensed through the soldered core of an automobile radiator, or other standard moonshiner equipment.

The public's erroneous image of the moonshiner as a harmless, colorful, cartoon-type "hill-billy" is dispelled by an account of the murder and mayhem that characterize today's moonshine racket. Among the reported acts of violence that maim and kill lawmen are booby traps, "Molotov Cocktails" and shotgun blasts.

On the positive side, the survey shows that courts and prosecutors are taking a sterner attitude. Heavier sentences and Where Should Will Be Kept?

By Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley
(This is a public service article explaining in general terms a provision of Michigan law. Individuals who wish to determine the effect of any law upon their private legal affairs should consult a private attorney.)

Where should a will be placed for safekeeping? The answer, of course, is that a will should be kept in a safe place where it can be readily obtained by the maker and also be available to a proper party when the time comes to file a petition for probate of the will.

Wills must not only be kept safe from the threats of fire and flood, but also from the possibility of theft or destruction by persons who have a motive to oppose the testator in the making of his will.

SOMETIMES an original of the will is left with the lawyer if he has a proper and safe place, and a true copy is given to the maker.

By this method the maker knows what is in his will, but if a copy is lost the original is still available. Also, easy access to the will in a lawyer's office allows one to change his will at any time.

Another method of placing a will in safekeeping is by filing it with the probate court. As a matter of fact, the law concerning the filing of wills with the probate court was changed just last year by Act No. 279 of the Public Acts of 1967.

The law now provides that any will in writing which is enclosed in a sealed wrapper, having endorsed thereon the name of the maker of the will, his place of residence, his social security number or Michigan driver's license number, if any, and the day when, and the person by whom it is delivered, may be deposited by the person making the will, or by any person for him, with the judge of probate in the county where the maker of the will resides.

The law provides that the probate judge shall receive and safely keep the will and give a certificate of deposit therefor.

THE NEW LAW further provides for return of the will to the maker or to his authorized representative under certain safeguards. Under the new law the death of the maker of the will, the sealed wrapper containing the will is publicly opened by the probate judge.

The law then provides the proper steps to be taken to initiate probate proceedings with notice to all parties concerned. The cost of filing the will with the probate court is $1.00.

You should consult an attorney if you have any questions concerning the making of your will.

State Police Machine Reads, Identifies Voices

The Michigan State Police, with a sound spectrograph now on hand at East Lansing headquarters and two officers already trained in its use, is adding voice identification to their investigative capability in criminal cases.

Col. Frederick E. Davids, director, reported that the state police are the first police department in the nation to obtain this electronic equipment for such purpose.

There is only one other spectrograph in the state, this one obtained recently at Michigan State University for primary use in speech analysis.

THE SPECTROGRAPH which cost a little over $12,000, was built by Voiceprint Labs Inc., Somerville, N.J.

For voice identification, the spectrograph "reads" tapes to produce a visual record, or spectrogram, which is a graphical representation of spoken words.

The spectrogram then may be compared with records of known voices, much like the procedure in processing fingerprints. Research has demonstrated that voices, like fingerprints, are unique to the individual.

Voiceprint identification has already had successes in court cases, according to the New Jersey firm.

Dial direct and let the savings roll in.

If you'd like to save some money, you'll be interested in Direct Distance Dialing. It's a more economical way to call Long Distance because direct dialed calls are all Station-to-Station instead of Person-to-Person.

It's easy, too. Just dial "1", then the Area Code, if it's different from your own, and the number you want. For an idea of how much you can save, here's an example. A 3-minute Person-to-Person call between Detroit and Chicago costs $1.30 at the day rate. Dial-direct and the cost is only 85¢.

So whenever you're reasonably sure the party you're calling will be there, dial direct and let the savings roll in!

the Romney Administration, said he was surprised that the governor had pulled out of the race for the GOP presidential nomination.

But Kuhn insisted he had never done anything to hurt Romney's White House ambitions.

KUHN, OF WEST Bloomfield Township, said he wasn't sure whether he would take part in a March 9 conservative convention in Grand Rapids --a gathering apparently aimed at deciding on a presidential candidate and devising a strategy to get some conservatives elected Michigan delegates to the GOP national convention.

The freshman senator said he had received an invitation to the conservative gathering, but added he had tried to steer clear of intra-party fights.

His brother, Richard Kuhn, a Pontiac attorney, has been in the middle of a conservative group at odds with the Oakland-19th District moderate GOP leadership.

George Kuhn said in a telephone interview that he's leaning toward Richard M. Nixon as a presidential candidate.

"IT WAS CERTAINLY a kind of surprise--a real surprise--to see him withdraw before the first primary. I was looking forward to seeing him campaign on the grassroots level.

"It's a whole new ball game now, both on the state and national levels.

"Personally, I've always supported the local political figure. I wouldn't do anything to detract from his campaign--let's put it that way.

"I believe he should stand on his own merit and his own ability to campaign, without any interference or help from anyone, senators or legislators or Michigan Republicans--let's put it that way.

"I THINK IT'S a new ball game. Richard Nixon--somebody said there's a poll showing he's got 85 per cent, and the other candidates running out there (New Hampshire) share 15 per cent.

"Quite a one-sided situation."

How about himself?

"Well, at this time, I lean toward Vice President Nixon myself, on the basis of experience and knowledge.

"It'll be interesting to see what happens. I know Gov. Rockefeller will be a strong write-in candidate.

"I regret that Gov. Romney pulled out at this late date, even though he might have lost. He would have done a better service to the party to stay in there."

Romney's Pullout Took Political Guts

EDITOR'S NOTE: Sue Shaughnessy, our Farmington editor, is a Republican in her private politics, but last Dec. 13 she took the unusual step of saying in an editorial that Gov. Romney wasn't the man for the Republican presidential nomination. She's as sophisticated a political dooper as any man, and so we asked her to analyze Romney's decision to withdraw as a presidential candidate. These are her views.

By SUE SHAUGHNESSY

Whatever you might say about the man, you must admit that George Romney has the courage of his convictions.

Another, less elegant word is guts!

In December I wrote an editorial for this paper asserting that Romney had been an excellent governor, but that I wasn't sold on him as a presidential candidate.

I happen to be a pretty staunch Republican. What's more I'm proud of it.

MY FEELINGS about his withdrawal are mixed.

I'm happy that he has pulled out in time to give the moderates of the party an opportunity to unite behind one candidate and thus keep the "Grand Old Party" from throwing away the prize in November.

On the other hand, I thought he just might pull the New analysis

Hampshire election out of the fire. Since I like and respect the governor, it would have been a nice thing for him.

However, even winning in New Hampshire would not have won the nomination, and I don't think that Romney could have stopped the Nixon bandwagon.

IT TOOK COURAGE for the governor to pull out of the race at this point in time. Many lesser candidates might have held on to the bitter end or until it was just too late.

Remember 1964 and Rockefeller withdrawal after the California primary? The moderates of the party convinced Pennsylvania's Gov. William Scranton to make the race. Scranton tried, but he didn't have a chance.

If the Republican moderates can unite now behind a candidate, they might be able to save the party from disaster.

If they don't, the party workhorse, Richard M. Nixon, will make off with the GOP nod. Thus, the Republicans will once again exercise their own phenomenon of snatching a certain defeat from the jaws of a very possible victory.

ROMNEY HAS MATURED as a politician over the past few years. He learned a few things in the 1964 debacle and he applied the lessons to the current situation.

He made a hard decision that it was time to get out.

His decision shows a kind of inner fortitude that is sadly lacking in many people.

The strongest selling point Romney has is his honesty. These qualities strike a responsive chord in the rank and file American.

PRESIDENTIAL nominations are made by the party regulars, not by the average citizens. Romney recognized this.

Thus the first reason the governor cited for his withdrawal was that "it is clear to me that my candidacy has not won the wide acceptance with rank and file Republicans that I had hoped to achieve."

Ford Sales Take Dip

Ford Motor Company's consolidated sales in 1967 were $10,515,700,000 — compared with $12,240,000,000 in 1966, Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, and Arjay Miller, vice chairman of the board, announced. Consolidated net income in 1967 was $84,100,000 or 77 cents a share, compared with $621,000,000 or $5.63 a share in 1966.

The sharp decline in 1967 net income was caused primarily by the strike of the United Automobile Workers, which began Sept. 7, 1967 and lasted approximately two months. The strike reduced scheduled 1967 production of cars, trucks and tractors by 619,000 units.

Because of the strike, a loss was incurred in the fourth quarter of 1967. In that quarter, sales were $2,445,100,000 and the loss was $109,100,000 or 99 cents a share. In the fourth quarter of 1966, sales were $3,372,900,000, and net income was $128,100,000 or $1.17 a share.

GM Offers Speakers For Clubs

Speakers from the General Motors plants in Livonia are available to service clubs and other community organizations to talk on current automotive subjects, it was announced by H.T. Price, Chevrolet plant manager and chairman of the GM Plant City Committee in Livonia.

Price said that the speakers bureau was offering three different presentations to interested groups and that scheduling and arrangements could be made by contacting the personnel director at the Chevrolet Spring & Bumper plant.

"TRAFFIC SAFETY Today", a slide-illustrated talk, takes a broad view of traffic accident causes and discusses GM research and testing procedures and automotive design changes that have contributed toward passenger safety.

The second talk, "Air Pollution" is also slide-illustrated and deals with the automotive exhaust emission problems and what GM is doing about them.

A third speech, "The Automobile and the Future", discussing many facets of public and private transportation now under development is also available.

Tours of GM's Fisher Body facility, a producer of car interior soft trim, are available every Thursday at 1 p.m.; special tours for groups at both the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants can be scheduled by writing or calling the personnel director at each installation.

Urge Birth Control Teaching In Schools

A report which recommends that the state include birth control in public school programs of sex education has been shelved by the State Board of Education.

The 19-page report, prepared by the board staff, is now scheduled for discussion at the regular board meeting this week.

Along with the proposal on teaching birth control, the report also recommends lifting the requirement that sex hygiene instruction be taught only by physicians or registered nurses.

The board dropped the report like the hot potato it is sure to become at the suggestion of Board President Edwin L. Novak, Flint, who said other items on the agenda needed immediate attention.

Among those items was the department's 44-page budget analysis of Michigan's colleges and universities that the board called a major step toward giving higher education an authoritative voice before the Legislature's influential appropriations committees.

During the second half of its regular two-day business session, the board also urged public school teachers to "seek to interest students in the need for moral considerations and to show them how to judge their own affairs and the affairs of men in terms of moral values."

The sex education report states that "periodically throughout the years, teachers in physical and health education have been charged by individual parents and some groups with teaching birth control methods on the basis of their having taught facts about human sex anatomy and answering questions presented by students."

The report concluded that "apparently many teachers are so mindful of the fact that by law they are not permitted to teach any aspect of birth control that they are reluctant to present complete facts about sex. Some teachers have held that the teaching of factual material about sexual reproduction could be construed as the teaching of birth control itself."

The report coupled its recommendation with the suggestion that sex education programs be developed "in close harmony with the parents" of the district's pupils.

The board approved a budget analysis prepared by John Porter, associate superintendent for higher education, of the requests for funds by Michigan's colleges and universities.

The document is Porter's second effort at what he called the "evolutionary process of advising the Legislature as to the financial needs of public higher education."

Although completed too late to be of value as an initiating factor, the proposal was enthusiastically received by the board as a significant step toward making the board the spokesman for higher education before the Legislature on budget requests.

Porter's budget contains a detailed analysis and recommendation of new programs proposed to the Legislature by colleges and universities for funding during the 1968-69 school year.

Bloodmobile At Mall Jobless Campaign Thursday Rate 3.5 Pct.

The Southeastern Michigan Chapter, American Red Cross, announces that its Bloodmobile unit will visit the Livonia Mall, directly in front of S.S. Kresge Co., from 3 to 9 p.m. Thursday, March 7.

All persons from ages 18 to 59, "in general good health," are urged to drop by the mobile unit and contribute blood. A physician and registered nurses will be on duty to register donors and take hemoglobin counts.

THE RED CROSS points out that donated blood may be credited to: An organization to which the person belongs, a company or firm for which they work, a patient in a hospital, or to the account of the donor, himself.

Blood will not be typed at the Bloodmobile.

The Red Cross' traveling unit is an attempt to make donations more convenient for Livonia residents, from business people to housewives. No appointment is necessary, although persons who wish to make them ahead of time may call the chapter office, 422-2787, to confirm a donor time for Thursday. Besides through the Bloodmobile, the Red Cross welcomes donors the third Thursday of each month at chapter headquarters, 31228 Five Mile Rd., Livonia. Appointments are requested.

Last year's Bloodmobile travels (in September) resulted in 100 pints of donated blood. Officials hope for similar results Thursday.

John R. Thomas, Jr., has been named personnel director for General Motors Central Office. The appointment, in charge of the Personnel Staff, is effective immediately. Thomas replaces Donald E. Vantine who resigned.

But payroll employment showed little change in January after allowance for normal seasonal declines, the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

In January, the number of unemployed workers totaled 3.1 million, down 100,000 from a year earlier. Of those jobless, 1.3 million were adult men, 1.1 million adult women and 650,000 teenagers.

Surviving besides the son and daughter are six other children, Sam Ventura and Mrs. Stephen Cappuccio, of Livonia; Leo, of Detroit; Mrs. Lucille Golden, of Dearborn Heights; and Mrs. Ester Lambardo, of Scranton.

The body will be returned for burial to Scranton, where services will be held Thursday from the Musso Funeral Home.

Ask More Study On Osteopathic School

Michigan's Advisory Committee on Education for Health Care has recommended further study of state support for an osteopathic college and suggested the possible merger of the school with one of Michigan's major medical schools.

Michigan has two full medical schools at the University of Michigan and at Wayne State University.

Artist Wins Four Prizes

Janice Starkey, senior at Cass Technical High School from Farmington, was a big winner in the annual Student Scholastic Art Exhibit held recently.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Starkey, 29830 Highmeadow, Miss Starkey, had four winning art works out of six entries in the competition.

She has been given two gold keys, the highest regional award, and two blue ribbons, which qualifies her for the scholastic art finals to be held in New York.

The committee, appointed by the State Board of Education to study the osteopathic college issue, said it recognized the contribution made by osteopathic doctors in Michigan who make up "a sizable percentage of Michigan's physician manpower."

"It was the advisory committee's considered opinion that there is little likelihood that a privately supported school could develop a medical program comparable to existing medical schools in Michigan," the group said.

It would cost an estimated $90 million through 1975 to start a building program for such a college, the committee said. The committee suggested that four steps be taken before granting recognition to the creation of an osteopathic college. They are:

—Meaningful university affiliation and control with a major university;

—A clarification of the differences between the education and practice of osteopathic physicians and medical doctors;

—Establishment at existing medical schools of a program to grant degrees in general medicine and osteopathic medicine, and —Further study of the possibility of creating a college of osteopathic medicine.

The Committee said the 33 osteopathic hospitals in Michigan contain about 12 per cent of the total hospital beds in the state.

"The efforts of the osteopathic profession in Michigan to develop a facility to educate osteopathic physicians is evidence of the profession's desire to further meet its responsibility in the area of growing medical needs," the advisory committee said.

Officials of the Osteopathic College Board have told the State Board of Education it could obtain about $6 million from private contributions to begin construction of a basic college plant.

Mrs. Mary Gerritsen, a Protestant who lives in Grand Rapids, did the painting at the request of her daughter, Mrs. Jeanne Paluzzi of Livonia, who headed the program book committee.

A Warm Welcome Awaits You At Calvary Church

THE MEANING OF THE CROSS

It's a pretty thing. You can hang it around your neck on a gold chain. Use it to top a spire. In walls and windows, stone and statuary, crosses are everywhere.

Would you take a hangman's noose, guillotine, or electric chair and hang it, gilded, around your neck? Gruesome, you say! The cross is an instrument of torture, of death. How macabre for people to sing "In the cross of Christ I glory..."!

But there is a reason for that song. Jesus lives! He said, "Whoever believeth in me, though he die, yet shall he live." The instrument of Christ's death has become symbolic of the promise of life. He died that we might live.

Life takes on new excitement when you know that God Almighty cares that much about you! The Christian can know freedom from guilt, from the depressing dullness of a meaningless life, from the fear of death. We invite you to come and learn about this life, and to share it with us joyfully!

READY FOR OPEN HOUSE - This is the artist's drawing of the new Morman church at Six Mile and Merriman, Livonia. The members, who did much of the actual labor in building the church, are holding open house there this weekend.

Open House To Show New Morman Church

Members of the Livonia Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints will show the community this weekend the work their hands have wrought.

Visitors are invited to attend an open house to see the church building at Six Mile and Merriman Road, Livonia, that represents about 10,000 man hours of labor on the part of its members.

Bishop Charles S. Baldree, of the Livonia Ward, said the building was constructed at a cost of $400,000, and estimated that the labor on the part of about 100 of the 600 members saved at least $100,000.

THE OPEN HOUSE for neighbors and friends of the Morman church will be held Friday, March 8, and Saturday, March 9, from 7 to 9 p.m. and Sunday, March 10, from 1 to 4 p.m.

Community officials and members of other wards in the Latter Day Saints Detroit stake, extending from the Ohio border to Canada, also have been invited.

Bishop Baldree said the church planned its formal dedication next month and expressed hope that Gov. George Romney would be able to attend.

THE CHURCH'S exterior and interior is completed, the bishop said, and the only remaining work is the landscaping and parking lot. Services have been held in the building since Feb. 4.

The ward was established about six years ago, and members met in Thurston High School, Redford Township, before building their own church.

Death Topic Of Series Opener

"Death--Arrangements and Rehabilitation" will be the topic of a panel discussion opening the Wednesday evening Lenten series at the First Methodist Church of Farmington at 7 p.m. tonight, March 6.

Participants will be funeral director Walter Sundquist, Dr. Edward C. Blumberg, D.O., the Rev. James O'Hagan, of St. Gerald Catholic Church, and Dr. W. Leslie Williams and the Rev. Bryce Swiler, of First Methodist.

The discussion leads off a series titled "The Challenge of Choice."

In the March 13 meeting, Dr. A.W. Church, a psychiatrist, will speak on "Alcoholism, Who is Allergic?"

Fun And Games

A "Games Nite", sponsored by the PTO of the United Hebrew Schools, 31840 West Seven Mile Road, Livonia, will be held Wednesday, March 6 at 8:30 p.m. in the school.

There will be door prizes and refreshments. Donation is $1.50

Accessories Help Finish Remodeling Job

Do you find remodeling projects easy to start and hard to finish? It's probably because the "finishing" process is often as complicated and time-consuming as the basic work. One way to end finishing problems is with ready-made accessories. For instance, if you're installing prefinished hardboard wall paneling, you don't have to worry about countersinking and putting nails so they won't show or trying to stain moldings and trim the right shade. Color-matched nails are available for use with prefinished hardboard paneling. Or, you can eliminate nailing and install the panels with a special cartridge-type adhesive. Matching or color-coordinated prefinished wood, metal and vinyl moldings are also obtainable for use over joints, as baseboards, and for inside and outside corner trim and ceiling trim. They simplify the paneling job and give the walls an attractive "professional" look.

Plan Fences Now

Winter, while many trees and shrubs are bare of foliage, is a good time to check need for privacy fencing along property sidelines and at the front.

Warn Gardeners To Be On Alert For Con Artists

LANSING-- "Springtime opens the season on home gardeners and landscapers for miracle plant con men. Don't be taken in by these racketeers" is the warning sounded by Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, Agriculture Director B. Dale Ball and the Michigan Association of Nurserymen.

The public is warned against high pressure salesmen and mail order advertisers using fancy names for ordinary shrubs and plants and making exaggerated claims for their plant material.

BEWARE OF GLOWING word descriptions and faded photographs of climbing vine peaches, giant climbing strawberries, 1,000 giant red roses on a single bush (unknown to horticulturists), flowering shade trees that grow roof high in a single year, including the "Flowering Maple" that turns out to be the common silver maple with most inconspicuous blooms, etc.

"All consumer complaints, including verbal misrepresentations are reviewed by the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office and appropriate action is taken, said Assistant Atty. Joseph B. Blittzke. "It is our experience that purchasers who deal with established local merchants can see what they are buying and are not misled by photographs or lurid verbal pictures."

"One cannot expect to get high quality stock at ridiculously low prices," said Dean F. Lovitt, chief of the plant industry division of the Dept. of Agriculture.

"Purchasers should always demand a certificate of inspection with the stock as their assurance that it has passed inspection for insects and disease. Local nurserymen are usually familiar with local conditions and the varieties likely to do well in an area, and their advice can be helpful," he said.

"There are reliable mail order houses but there is no substitute for the expert service on selection, planting and care of the plant that your local nurseryman can give you," said M.A.N. Exec. Sec. Victor C. Beresford. "He wants to protect your interests so he can continue to serve you. That's why we advise--'Ask Your Nurseryman First'."

Borman Stores Receive Award

To symbolize its 1967 accomplishment in becoming the first single group of Detroit area supermarkets to retail more than $1 million worth of soft drinks in a 12-month period, Faygo Beverage Co. has presented Borman Food Stores, Inc., with a gold-plated, suitably engraved and mounted replica of a Faygo 16-ounce non-returnable bottle.

The presentation was made to Robert Garbarino, Borman's vice president of grocery sales and store operations, by Morton and Philip Feigenson, president and vice president, respectively of Faygo.

Actually the 83 Detroit area Borman stores (all now known as "Farmer Jack" markets) moved a volume of Faygo products over their check-out counters during 1967 that was well in excess of a million-dollar level.

The total cases sold by Borman supermarkets contained nearly 800 million ounces of flavors, enough to provide a 19-ounce serving for every man, woman and child in Metropolitan Detroit's four-million population market.

Calorie Saving Recipes

By JOYCE TOTTON

Homemakers today are often faced by several special diets within their family. Sometimes it isn't easy to prepare foods that fit each individual's needs and still have a well-balanced meal.

The weight watcher's principal concern, of course, is to eliminate unwanted, excess calories. And it's all the better if you can do it without sacrificing your enjoyment of eating fully-sweetened foods.

A non-caloric sweetener gives you all the sweetness you want in your diet without the calories. You'll enjoy the non-caloric sweeteners in cooking and baking and as sweetening for beverages.

IF SOMEONE in your family is a diabetic, he too can enjoy the following foods. For their convenience, food exchange values have been included with each recipe.

Some people prefer to use Sucaryl tablets in cooking. You can dissolve tablets in a small amount of hot water equivalent to the amount of Sucaryl solution called for in the recipe. For example, if recipe requires one tablespoon of Sucaryl solution, or 24 tablets, crushed, dissolve the crushed tablets in one tablespoon of hot water.

YOU MAY SUBSTITUTE Sucaryl for sugar in your own recipes if the sugar serves only as a sweetening agent—for example, in beverages.

However, when preparing certain foods, such as frozen desserts and baked foods, remember Sucaryl provides neither the texture nor the preservative qualities of sugar.

LOW-CALORIE CHEESE PIE

1 1/3 c. unsweetened pineapple juice
1 pound small-curd creamed cottage cheese
1/2 t. noncaloric liquid sweetener
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Fruit (optional)

Soften gelatin in 1/3 c. cold juice. Heat remaining juice, add to gelatin and stir until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken. Beat cheese until fluffy, then gradually beat in gelatin mixture. Add liquid sweetener and fold in egg whites. Pour into 9" piepan and chill one hour, or until set. Top with slices of fresh or canned fruit, if desired. Makes six servings.
(1 serving equals 1 fruit exchange, 1 fat exchange)

CHOCOLATE-NUT BROWNIES (55 calories in each brownie)

1 square unsweetened chocolate
1/3 c. butter
2 T. Sucaryl solution
2 t. vanilla
2 eggs, beaten
1 c. sifted cake flour
1/2 t. salt
1/2 t. baking soda
3/4 c. chopped walnuts

Melt the unsweetened chocolate and butter in a saucepan over low heat. Remove from heat. Add Sucaryl, vanilla and the beaten eggs. Stir until well blended. Add sifted cake flour, salt and baking soda. Mix until blended. Stir in the chopped walnuts. Pour into a greased 8-inch square pan. Level batter in pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 F.) 20 minutes. Cool. Cut into bars.
(2 Brownies equal 1/2 bread exchange, 2 fat exchanges)

STRAWBERRY SPONGE (29 calories per serving)

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 c. cold water
1 T. Sucaryl solution
1 1/2 T. lemon juice
1 pint strawberries, crushed
2 egg whites

Soften gelatin in water in the top of a double boiler. Add Sucaryl and lemon juice; heat, stirring until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat and add the crushed berries. Let stand until mixture begins to thicken; then beat until light and fluffy. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into the gelatin mixture. Spoon into six individual molds or into a large 3-cup mold, lightly oiled. Chill until firm.
(1 serving equals 1/2 fruit exchange).

Progress At Wayne State

NOW CELEBRATING ITS 100th anniversary, Wayne State University traces its origins to the Detroit Medical College (above, left), founded to train doctors for an army hospital after the Civil War; the building had a bad reputation by the time it was torn down in 1963. Campus landmark (above, right) is the tower of Old Main, built in 1896, which rises behind State Hall, one of the first post-World War II buildings. Today (below) the campus has 32,000 students in degree programs and 26,000 more in extension courses, and it's putting up some $40 million in buildings at once, including a new Science Building (background).

See Hope For Cure To Deaf Counseling Service Available At FHA

A study recently begun at the University of Michigan Medical Center could help find a cause for some now incurable forms of deafness.

The project is headed by Dr. Frank N. Ritter, clinical assistant professor of otorhinolaryngology at the University. He is exploring a theory that some types of deafness of the inner ear, at present incurable, may be caused by abnormalities in the blood vessels supplying that area.

If such an abnormality prevents the blood supply from reaching the inner ear, Dr. Ritter says, the effect could be similar to gangrene: the organ dies and its function is lost forever.

DR. RITTER began working on the theory last September when he received a grant of $10,000 from the Deafness Research Foundation. The physician is assisted by Drs. Joseph E. Hawkins Jr. and Merle Lawrence, both physiologists.

His study is complicated by the fact that the inner ear is deeply embedded in bone. Research is conducted on tissue from both persons with normal hearing and those with deafness problems. The bone structure is so minute that work must often be done with microscopes and magnifying glasses.

A free housing counseling service to help people who are having difficulty finding housing they can afford, has been introduced here, Eddie McGloin, Director of the Detroit Insuring Office of the Federal Housing Administration announced.

"The counseling program, already instituted in 15 other cities, has been especially useful to low- and moderate-income families, minority group members, and others facing perplexing and vexing housing problems," McGloin said.

Housing counselors in the local office will interview families and individuals seeking advice on housing. Information concerning family circumstances, including income, debt, credit data, and other related information will be obtained by the counselors. FHA will keep this data confidential.

THE INFORMATION will be used to guide FHA's counselor in the advising families on the type and location of housing available. The counselor will help the housing seeker make appointments to inspect housing that is for rent or sale which is within the financial means and in line with individual circumstances, needs, and desires.

The program works in co-operation with private real estate brokers and other housing sources. A family interested in buying is referred to brokers who have the kind of housing in the desired area and at the prices the family can afford. Those who desire rental housing are referred to rental agents. The housing counselor might also assist the housing seeker in making appointments to inspect the dwelling.

"The housing counseling service is one way the Department of Housing and Urban Development is working to help families at all income levels to obtain better housing. It has been tested in 15 other cities and has proved useful in helping people find decent housing. I am hopeful that many families and individuals in the Detroit area will take advantage of this free service," McGloin said.

The counseling service will be located in the FHA insuring office at 1249 Washington Blvd. (10th Floor, Book Building). Appointments for interviews may be made by calling 226-6081 or 226-7231.

Apply Lawn Weed Spray In Spring

Weedone type weed chemicals respond better when applied on warm Spring days when dandelions begin to blossom, according to lawn and garden experts at Anchem Research Farm. If these weed killers are applied on cold days, however, your lawn weeds will die more slowly.

U-M Has Realtor Course

Detroit area residents can accomplish three things with one enrollment in the week-long Real Estate Institute I to be offered here March 18-24 by The University of Michigan.

The institute offers preparation for the real estate salesman's license examination within a single week, completion of the basic course for the University's Certificate Program in Real Estate, and credit for the first 30 hours toward the new GRI (Graduate, Realtors Institute) designation of the Michigan Real Estate Association (MREA).

The program will be at Rackham Educational Memorial, 60 Farnsworth.

Russel A. Pointer, supervisor of the U-M Real Estate Program, said a comparable course given in Ann Arbor Jan. 22-26 was a complete success. More than 100 were enrolled, and some applicants had to be turned away.

Real Estate Institute I was organized, Pointer said, because "The real estate brokers throughout the state have been asking for it for some time. At present it may take their new prospective salespeople 11 weeks to study in regular courses to qualify for the salesman's licensing examination. Brokers wanted to get them prepared in the shortest possible time. This new institute is the answer to their problem."

Melvindale Pair Wins Top Prize At Builders' Show

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Burns, Jr., 17179 Flora, Melvindale, and their two-year-old daughter Sheryl, are $20,000 richer today because of a magic number--16881.

Thirty-year-old "Bernie" Burns was declared the winner of the grand prize of the 1968 Home, Furniture and Flower Show at Cobo Hall which closed Sunday night.

Putting the house number of his aunt, Mrs. Edwin Niemenski 16881 Murray Hill, Detroit, on his ticket to the show, which he dropped in the box in the Idea Home center at Cobo Hall, Burns hit the nail square on the head.

It was a long shot of long shots for Bernie in his fantastic nail estimating contest which is worth $20,000 in cash or down payment on one of the 26 Idea Homes which have been open in the suburbs of Detroit since shortly before Jan. 1.

Burns indicated that he liked best the home entered in the 1968 Parade by Binder & Lark Construction Co. at 17334 Westbrook Drive, Livonia. The house called "The Fairleigh" is in Denmar Estates. After thinking it over, the Burnses took the $20,000 check.

Counting of the nails, which were in a small plastic model house on display at the show and earlier at the First Federal Building in downtown Detroit, took most of Tuesday afternoon.

When the number of nails was finally determined, after having been counted three times by 25 Kelly Girls, Frank Laurens, one of the contest judges, called the Burns home and 26-year-old Mrs. Burns answered.

When Laurens told her she and her husband were the apparent winners of the $20,000 prize, all she could say, "You're kidding us; we never won anything but a magazine subscription in some give-away long ago."

Other contest judges were Robert FitzGerald, manager of the Veterans Administration office in Detroit, and Eddie McGloin, director of the Detroit F.H.A., insuring office.

Doctor In The Kitchen

by W.W. Bauer, M.D. Consultant, National Dairy Council

What part does diet play in the protection of your teeth against the most prevalent disease of a prosperous civilization--dental decay?

Are your teeth living structures of just dead "ivories"? Can a good diet help poor teeth? Can a bad diet harm good teeth? Who needs tooth protection most?

Teeth are living structures, even though portions of them are not. The dentine and the enamel are inert, but the pulp of the tooth contains blood vessels and nerves. The membrane which fastens the teeth to the bone, and the bony ridges of the upper and lower jaw in which the teeth are imbedded, are definitely living structures. As such, they depend on good nutrition for their integrity. Their most essential needs are calcium and phosphorus plus the vitamin D necessary for their effective absorption and utilization.

There are certain times in life when nutrition, and therefore, diet, is most important in relation to the teeth.

One of these times is when the teeth are first developing. It is not generally realized that although teeth do not usually appear until about the sixth month of an infant's life, they were formed as embryonic structures before birth. This includes not only the baby teeth, but the adult teeth as well. The newborn child's mouth contains the beginnings of 52 teeth.

Since the unborn child depends on its mother for nourishment, her supply of calcium, phosphorus and vitamin D--and of course all the other requirements of a balanced diet--is of special importance. Not only the child, but the mother herself needs these nutrients for the protection of her own teeth.

It is too often overlooked that older persons, too, need a supply of calcium, phosphorus and vitamin D for the preservation of the health of their teeth and supporting structures. As people grow older, dentists find that they tend to have trouble with periodontal disease. This means that there is loss of bone in the jawbones which support the teeth, and deterioration of the membrane which attaches the tooth to its socket. The consequence is loosening of the teeth, and loss of teeth if the process is not halted.

Calcium is best derived from milk and cheese made from the milk.

Open One-Stop Vietnam Vets Service Center

The experiment of a one-stop service center for Vietnam veterans gets under way this week in Detroit. It is a high priority project for America's 10 largest cities by direction of President Johnson.

Not only will the U.S. Veterans Assistance Center, as it is called, be geared to provide "instant" assistance to veterans in obtaining some half-hundred direct benefits and services provided by law, but it will also offer "personalized" help to ex-servicemen and their families. Attention will be given to all areas, federal, state and local, in helping the veteran and his family completely and profitably adjust to civilian life.

NEW STEWARDESS -- Judith Lee Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Horn, 11925 Newburgh, Livonia, has been awarded the silver wings of an American Airlines stewardess and has now been assigned to flight duty out of New York City. She is a former Franklin High School "Homecoming Queen."

Rep. Riegle Heads Mock Convention

Donald W. Riegle Jr., Republican congressman from Michigan's 7th District, will keynote the mock GOP national convention at The University of Michigan on March 16-17. Riegle, 30, elected in 1966, has won wide acclaim as the youngest man ever appointed to the powerful House Appropriations Committee and as a leader of the successful House drive to create a permanent Ethics Committee.

His most intense work has been concerned with the Vietnam war. Last November the Washington Post said: "Despite his lack of seniority, status, and renown, Riegle is making a significant contribution to the process that must precede any intelligent reappraisal of American policy in Vietnam."

He has appeared on national television to expound the Republican viewpoint and in December led the public press response of 59 freshmen Republicans whose party had been criticized by President Johnson.

The mock convention, a first-time venture for U-M students, is being sponsored by the University's political science department.

The program will simulate as realistically as possible the actual 1968 convention in Miami, according to Prof. John Kingdon and student Richard Katz. Kingdon is faculty adviser for the project.

THIS ONE-STOP OFFICE, created by Executive Order, will be officially opened Friday, March 8, at 10 a.m. at VARIO, 210 Gratiot at Library in Detroit. Then the serious work of performing its unusual humanitarian task will be officially under way.

"This is not a VA project," explained Robert M. Fitzgerald, Manager of VA's Regional Office at the same location. "It is a multi-agency project designed to help our new veterans with their specific problems. There will naturally be emphasis on the educational disadvantages since their problems are demanding."

"The Center, manned by representatives of federal and state agencies, is designed to streamline the veteran's initial problem of finding the right agency geared to solve his particular case."

"If experts manning the Center cannot provide this personalized service, they will have direct lines to the agency most concerned. Immediate appointments will be made."

AGENCIES MOST concerned with veterans affairs were listed by Robert M. Fitzgerald as the Veterans Administration, the Federal Civil Service Commission, the U.S. Re-employment Service of the Department of Labor, and the Michigan Employment Security Commission. All these will have full time representatives on hand. Other agencies will have liaison personnel or direct lines for service and consultation. Responsibilities of the various agencies include:

Veterans Administration. For all statutory benefits such as compensation and pension, medical care and hospitalization of the veteran himself (not his family), education and training benefits, counseling, home loans, death benefits and various programs for specialized groups.

Civil Service. For vacancy lists in all federal positions and their requirements, particularly in GS grades 1 to 5, where, by presidential order, a veteran has preference rights. Information will be available on all forms of civil service employment. Tests will be arranged when necessary.

Federal-State Employment Programs. For veterans seeking private employment. The Michigan Employment Security Commission will arrange testing and counseling to assist the veteran in bettering himself in his present job or in obtaining one. For veterans seeking to return to their old jobs, advice and assistance will be available from a representative of the U.S. Re-employment Service of the Department of Labor. This representative will also advise employers on their responsibilities in re-employment of veterans.

Health, Education, and Welfare. For guaranteed educational loans, particularly to married veterans.

Small Business Administration. For loans to veterans in business for themselves. Provides managerial counseling and assistance to veterans on self-employment. Provide loans for purchase of equipment necessary to such self-employment ventures.

IRS Crackdown Has Affect On Returns Effect

The American public is being influenced by the stiffening policies of the Internal Revenue Service, Raymond B. Oldham told members of the United Northwestern Realty Association - Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors.

A CPA and resident partner with a national public accounting firm, Oldham reviewed the government's income tax procedures for his Realtor group audience. He said that in 1965 the IRS began checking income tax returns at random in different cities. This spot check uncovered cases of individuals who made fraudulent returns and others who never even submitted returns. Thus the advent of a computerized check of all tax returns now in effect.

"FREQUENTLY, when the IRS initiates legal action against a well-known individual, the resultant story makes news headlines, which serve to implant a fear of IRS penalties in the minds of the public," Oldham said.

Oldham explained that these tactics have proven successful. Prior to the campaign an average of 300 persons voluntarily surrendered as tax evaders. In 1965 this figure jumped to 600 people, and in 1966 there were 1,800 voluntary disclosures.

"Unfortunately," Oldham said, "fear causes many people to overpay their taxes." One large tax return firm, he noted, estimates that approximately seven out of ten Americans overpay their income tax.

Super Markets Report Check Cashing Hikes Prices

There's a sign in a lot of little mom-and-pop grocery stores across the country that says something like this: "We have an agreement with the bank. They don't sell groceries and we don't cash checks."

The stores don't know how lucky they are. They might have a bit of trouble if banks did start selling groceries, but they would have a whole lot more if they started cashing checks. That, at any rate, is the lesson being learned by many supermarkets and other big retailers.

They're finding that more and more shoppers are paying by check, and they're finding that this is producing more and more headaches. The deluge of checks causes stores to run out of cash at awkward moments swells administrative costs and worst of all, leave merchants stuck with piles of bad checks.

WHAT'S MORE, stores don't know what to do about the problem. The only real solution is to quit cashing checks, but retailers fear such a move would cost them valuable business. As a stopgap measure they are trying to screen check-writers better -- though a Chicago drugstore admits it cashed a check signed U.R. Stuck.

Acme Supermarkets Inc., a Philadelphia-based chain of more than 900 stores, says it loses about $4.7 million a year from bad checks, equal to 0.4% of its annual sales. The chain's pretax profit is only about 1.6% of sales.

Colonial Stores Inc., a 422-supermarket chain based in Atlanta, estimates its bad check losses, coupled with the administrative expenses of check-cashing, total more than $1 million a year. That's a hefty sum -- especially when compared with the chain's pretax profit of $14 million.

SUPERMARKETS SUFFER most from bad checks. THE Federal Bureau of Investigation says that supermarkets are hit for about 40% of all bad check losses in the U.S., indicating they were taken for about $240 million in 1966, the latest year for which figures are available.

Customers as well as stores are hurt by bad checks. "There's no doubt that the cost of check-cashing (losses and administrative expenses) is reflected in the price of food," says J.E. Fain, vice president of Colonial Stores.

John C. Colleton, detective sergeant in charge of the New York police's forgery squad, also says that losses "are reflected in the retail price of many consumer goods."

Some retailers bitterly blame their predicament on banks. They say that banks are so eager to attract checking-account business that they accept poor risks, and then the stores are stuck with having to cash the se poor risks' checks.

Banks, says Edward Deeb, executive director of the Associated Food Dealers of Greater Detroit, are becoming irresponsible. Bankers retort that retailers are careless in screening check-writers, and they say that the retailers don't have to cash checks.

IT'S TRUE RETAILERS don't have to cash checks, but many of them say that if they didn't, their customers would go to check-cashing competitors. For people apparently don't like to cash checks in banks.

Some 70% of the $6.5 trillion of checks written last year were cashed in retail stores, up from 50% in 1960, according to an estimated by the American

Stock Brokers Plan Forum At Bentley

The trend toward "performance" growth stocks will be discussed at a stock market forum, Tuesday, March 12 in the Bentley High School auditorium, at 15100 Hubbard, in Livonia.

It will be conducted by Gabe Werba of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith and will analyze the significance of today's stress on growth companies.

The program will also cover the uses of leverage, the outlook for 1968, an analysis of some of the faster growth industries, with emphasis on the computer industry, and a recommended approach for investing in it.

Bankers Association.

"It's the most convenient thing to do," says a Mt. Lebanon, Pa., man who in the past six months has cashed 25 personal checks totaling $1,164 at A&P and Kroger food stores in his neighborhood.

"We have to buy groceries anyhow, so why not cash a check to give us enough money to last until the next time we buy groceries?"

MANY OF SAFEWAY Stores Inc.'s 2,200 supermarkets cash $60,000 to $90,000 of checks a week, says A. Russell Griffith, vice president of the chain. He points out that those totals far exceed the $30,000 in weekly sales posted by the average Safeway.

The manager of a suburban Pittsburgh A&P store cashed so many checks on one recent payday that he didn't have enough cash left to pay his own employees.

The owner of a woman's specialty store in Pittsburgh says, "We used to provide a convenience check-cashing service as a courtesy for our customers. Now, they're simply using us as a bank, period."

EVEN BANKERS are cashing their checks at the corner store. Carl Junker, a systems analyst for City National Bank of Detroit, has an identification card on file at a drugstore near his downtown office so he can cash checks there.

"I use it on those frenzied Fridays when I haven't had time to get to the teller's window during the workday," he says.

Many people who cash checks at retail stores must be bad bookkeepers. They are always overdrawing on their accounts. Most of these bounced checks are eventually made good, but they're still costly to the retailer.

Overall, it costs about $3 to collect $4 worth of bad checks in urban areas, according to a study by the Detroit food dealers' group. The expenses include telephone calls, collection agency charges and "just plain legwork," says the group's Mr. Deeb.

THERE ARE OTHER expenses in offering check-cashing services, too. H.L. Margules, controller for the Pittsburgh-area stores of Gimbel Bros., says it is difficult to estimate personnel costs for the service, "but over a year's time, the part-time involvement of many people in authorization and handling mounts up."

Simply having more cash on hand also means more expense for retailers. Money tied up in cashing checks can't be put to work buying merchandise. And companies that insure against holdups and employee dishonesty charge by the amount of cash on hand.

Ryun Set To Defend Mile Title

The University of Kansas' fabulous Jim Ryun, world record holder in the mile run, heads a list of eight defending individual champions who will participate March 15 and 16 in the national collegiate indoor track championships at Cobo Hall.

Ryun already has a 3:57.5 indoor mile to his credit this winter, posted in the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet in New York, and the lean Kansas junior is an odds-on bet to erase his own N.C.A.A. mark of 3:58.6 when he returns to the Cobo Arena boards.

Two of the returning champions are mainstays of the University of California forces who are favored to gain their second straight team title. This pair of record holders includes Bob Seagren in the pole vault and high hurdler Earl McCulloch. The latter is a pro football-draftee of the Detroit Lions.

THE FIVE OTHERS who will enter the meet as defending titlists include:

Villanova's Dave Patrick in the 880; Ray Arrington, of Wisconsin, in the 1,000-yard run; Gerry Lindgren, of Washington State, in the two mile; Aaron Hopkins, of Toledo, in the broad jump, and Ted Downing, of Miami, O., in the high jump.

In the same arena a year ago, every one of the eight either set a N.C.A.A. indoor record, or tied the old one, in gaining his victory.

Tickets for this 1968 Olympic preview are on sale at Cobo Arena, all Grinnell stores in the Detroit area, and at J.L. Hudson Company ticket offices downtown and at Northland, Eastland, Westland and the Pontiac Mall.

'The Great Mating Game' And 3rd Annual 'Miss Teen International Pageant' Are TV Highlights

A special that covers the full gamut of love and marriage today and a telecast of 1968's crop of young beauties will highlight television viewing on the ABC-TV network early in April. Both are sponsored by Clairor, Inc.

"The Great Mating Game," to be telecast on ABC on Monday evening, April 8, (9:30 to 10:00 p.m. EST) documents how mating has changed since Adam courted Eve.

Today's "singles" get together in ways which their parents would have considered startling and their grandparents might have called downright shocking. And what they do when they get together -- also represents a radical change from the past.

"The Great Mating Game" delves into the "for singles only" apartment houses. "Over 28" dances, discotheques, senior citizens clubs, ski resort weekends and computer dating. The show also points out that telling the girls where the boys are and vice versa has become a billion dollar business in the U.S. Figuring out ways of removing singles from the open market is virtually a new industry.

The second Clairor special to be telecast that week, the third annual "Miss Teen International Pageant" will be seen over the ABC television network on Saturday evening, April 13, (9:30 to 10:30 p.m. EST).

Eleven foreign contestants and one from the United States will vie for the title "Miss Teen International." The finalists from abroad will include girls from Australia, Canada, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Japan, Norway, the Philippines, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland. Girls from Australia, Israel, Spain and the Philippines will be competing in the contest for the first time.

The United States entrant will be selected from among eleven regional winners who will compete for the Miss Teen United States title the Finalists for the "1968 Miss Teen International" Pageant with last year's winner (center) Alice Alheim. They are, clockwise: from Australia, Janette McLeod, from Sweden, Marie-Sophie Persson, from Italy, Elena Pedamonte, and from Japan, Sachiko Yamana. The Clairor special will be telecast on ABC-TV, April 13th, 9:30-10:30 p.m., E.S.T.

week preceding the ABC telecast, which will originate from the Hollywood Palace. One of the highlights of this year's "Miss Teen International Pageant" will be film clips of the foreign contestants' "Landmark Tour" of the U.S., visiting various shrines and sites that are landmarks in America's heritage.

The eleven U.S. regional winners, who automatically become finalists for the "Miss Teen United States" title and semi-finalists for Miss Teen International include:

Miss Teen Great Lakes, Pamela Martin, 18, Birmingham, Mich.; Miss Teen Southwest, Charlene Kay Anderson, 18, Phoenix, Ariz.; Miss Teen Rocky Mountain State, Leslie Hobson, 18, Morrison, Colo.; Miss Teen Gulf States, Kandy Kay Wright, 17, Houston, Tex.; Miss Teen Northern California, Sharon Anne Coleman, 15, Marysville, Calif.; Miss Teen Pacific Coast, Diane Marie Estrada, 17, San Francisco, Calif.; Miss Teen Midwest, Linda Hartz, 18, Louisville, Ky.; and Miss Teen Mid-America, Kathy Bauman, 17, Independence, Ohio.

GM Will Open 30 Centers For Training GIs

General Motors will make available its 30 training centers and all facilities, including instructors, for training of members of the Armed Forces who are nearing separation and seeking mechanics training, Edward N. Cole, General Motors president, announced Monday.

In addition, General Motors Training Center managers will act as intermediaries between General Motors dealers and the Armed Forces in preliminary hiring activities, Cole said.

THE NEW PROGRAM is being conducted in conjunction with "Project Transition," a program of the Department of Defense. Initial classes will begin in nine training centers about May 1, and will continue for six weeks. Other classes will be started as applicants are processed through the GM Training Center-Dealer Employment program. At the conclusion of the 240-hour course of instruction, trainees will be employed by GM dealers in various parts of the U.S.

The first classes will be held in training centers located at San Leandro, Calif.; Burbank, Calif.; Hinsdale, Ill.; El Paso, Tex.; Denver, Colo.; Atlanta, Ga.; Fairfax, Va.; Moorestown, N.J. and Union, N.J. Trainees will be transported by the Armed Forces camp nearest to those locations during the weeks prior to actual separation from the Army, Navy or Marine Corps.

Ford Pays $3 Million For Ideas

Better ideas--28,492 of them--resulted in a $3 million windfall for Ford Motor Company employees in 1967.

That was the value of cash, cars and appliances taken home by Ford employees during the year for ideas they submitted under the employee suggestion and management proposal plans.

The $3 million payout was the largest for one year in the history of the plans. It included cash, a record 229 new cars and several thousand dollars worth of Philco appliances.

FOR THE FIRST time since 1964, when a new car became part of the maximum award under the employee suggestion plan, a female hourly employee received the top award in 1967.

Mrs. Amelia Lademann, 6336 Beech Daly Road, Dearborn, received a new Ford Galaxie and $6,000 for suggesting a plan to reduce scrap at the Rawsonville (Mich.) parts plant, where she is an assembler.

The 1967 awards increased to $19 million the amount paid to U.S. employees in 20 years under the suggestion plan.

The management proposal plan, introduced in June, 1949, was revised in October, 1965, to include the maximum award of a new car.

Nearly half the eligible employees submitted at least one idea in 1967. Approximately 190,000 ideas were received.

Members of the Armed Forces will be provided with questionnaires to determine whether they seek educational or training programs. Those seeking mechanics training for either auto or appliance repair work will be given aptitude tests by military staff personnel.

NAMES OF THOSE acceptable will then be forwarded to the local training center manager who will provide zone personnel of the GM divisions with the necessary information. These field representatives will then contact dealers with all information about the individual who is about to return to civilian life that the dealer might select those whom he feels might be valuable additions to his service repair staff.

Currently 20 Army, Navy and Marine Corps bases are involved in "Project Transition" and are beginning initial paper work to seek potential trainees.

The GM training portion of "Project Transition" is under the direction of Paul E. McDonald, manager of the General Motors Training Centers.

NO CHARGES will be made by GM for training of these men who are about to return to civilian life," Cole said. "There will be no cost to the dealer. The government will furnish transportation to the centers.

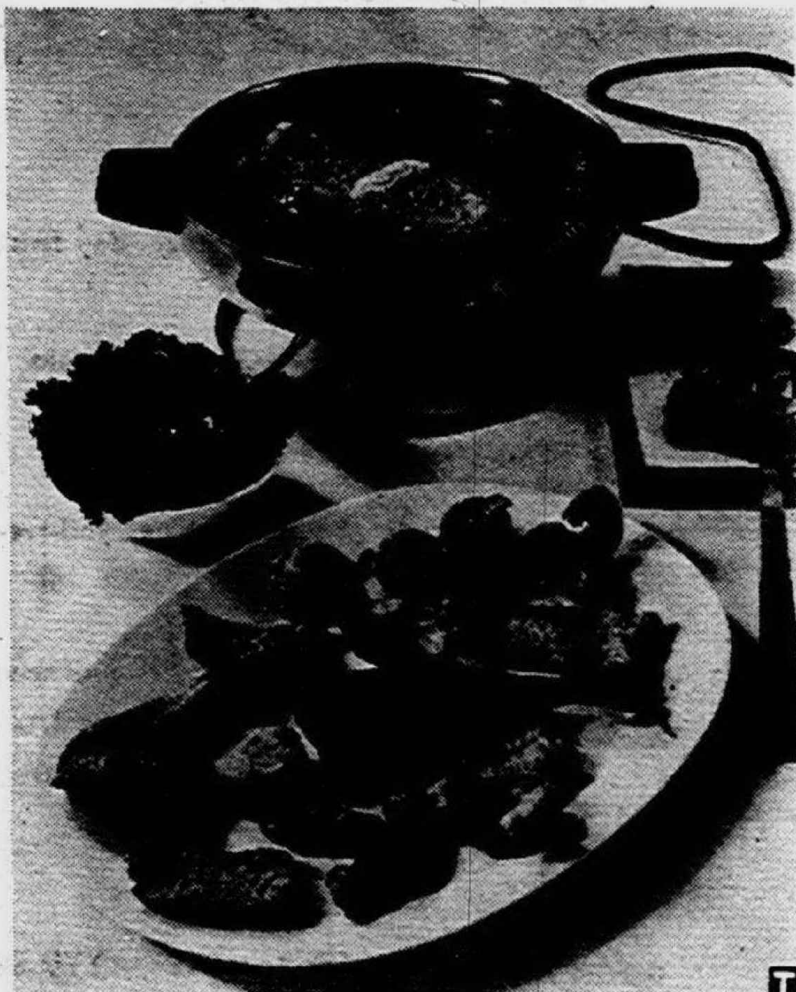

"We are happy that we have 30 General Motors Training Centers which can be made available for this purpose. We are further encouraged from early reports that many GIs are interested in entering this field of endeavor. There is great need for more properly trained mechanics.

"Not only will we train those who want to enter the automobile business, but we will also make available a program for those who are desirous of becoming repair technicians in the appliance field. We have such facilities in the center where we now train servicemen for the Frigidaire Division.

"In the automotive field, all five car divisions, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick and Cadillac, plus GMC Truck & Coach Division, will participate in the program," he said.

FRY A KETTLE OF FISH

How do you like your fish? If you're like most Americans, you like it fried--fried crisp and golden and served with a wedge of lemon.

Now, how you fry your fish is altogether another kettle of fish. First of all, it depends on the fish. If you're frying oysters, shrimp, crab or other small fish, you may prefer to fry it in shallow or deep fat, while if you're frying a fish steak, fish fillets or whole fish, it's better to pan fry it in 1/4 to 1/2-inch of fat.

For frying fish, it makes sense to use an oil, such as 100 per cent corn oil, that provides active polyunsaturates. The fat in all fish, you know, is unsaturated. So by serving fish cooked in corn oil you can cut down your family's saturated fat intake.

Here are directions for shallow frying fish in an electric frypan.

MIXED FRIED FISH

Clean fish and dry well. Dust with flour, or dunk in corn meal batter, or coat with a crumb coating.

Pour Mazola corn oil into a skillet or frypan to 1-inch depth. Heat over medium heat to 375 degrees F. on a deep fat thermometer or as registered on electric fry pan. Fry fish in hot corn oil 2 to 3 minutes, turning to brown both sides. Drain on absorbent paper.
