Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh Friday declared a "state of emergency" existed in the city following a series of demonstrations and some street fighting in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Thursday night in Memphis, Tenn.

Cavanagh ordered a curfew from 8 p.m. to 5 a.m., effective immediately, closing all bars and taverns, banning public meetings and closing gasoline stations during the curfew.

The Mayor asked Gov. George Romney for assistance of the National Guard and the Governor ordered troops dispatched to Detroit, Hamtramck, Highland Park and Grosse Pointe. More than 9,000 guardsmen were affected by the order.

Complements of the Michigan State Police, under the personal direction of Col. Fredrick Davids, arrived in the disturbed area Friday afternoon.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission ordered all bars closed in Wayne County. At the same time, Livonia, Garden City, Westland, Redford Township, all of the Pointes, Highland Park, Hamtramck, Madison Heights, Dearborn Heights and Dearborn, joined in the curfew for the duration of the emergency.

Mayor Cavanagh called up all auxiliary firemen and reserve policemen for immediate duty, cancelled all leaves and placed all police and firemen on 12 hours of duty.

Mayor Cavanagh appealed for all to remain calm but warned the city would "demand full respect of the law."

Demonstrations were reported in other cities throughout the land where trouble was reported in Minneapolis, Boston, Memphis, Chicago, Cleveland and Washington, D.C.

Most stores will be closed Sunday in compliance with the request of President Johnson to observe a day of mourning for the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Readers please note: It will make advertisers unable to follow through on special offers on that day.

King's Death Stirs U.S.-Calm Urged

Dr. Martin Luther King is dead. Shock waves fanning out from a sniper's rifle in Memphis, Tenn., brought the nation up tense over its domestic future even as desperate efforts went forward for world peace in the world.

President Johnson Friday urged the nation to be calm, to help its leadership develop solutions to the troubles which climaxed tragically in Dr. King's death.

He urged the nation to observe Sunday as a national day of mourning.

The president said he would make his recommendations about the future of the domestic crisis in an address to the nation at 9 p.m. Monday.

In Washington, D.C., police put down disturbances within sight of the nation's capital. National guardsmen were called back to patrol the streets of Memphis.

Hundreds of Negroes congregated along Detroit's Twelfth Street, scene of last July's rioting, but there was no violence.

Detroit's Mayor Cavanagh ordered flags flown at half staff in mourning for the 39-year-old civil rights leader who preached nonviolence but died violently.

Tension grew in suburbs.

In Livonia, Mayor Harvey W. Moelke pressed for council approval of the purchase of $40,000 in police equipment to control unrest. Plymouth is preparing to vote April 29 on open housing.

President Johnson postponed temporarily his trip to California to confer on Vietnam peace feelers with former President Eisenhower. He was scheduled for later talks in Hawaii enroute to the peace table with the north Vietnamese.

Domestically, the nation fought frustration and bitterness.

Dr. King, in Memphis to lead demonstrations on behalf of striking garbage collectors, fell from a sniper's bullet in the neck as he stood on the balcony of the Lorraine Hotel chatting with aides.

Police descended on the scene from all directions as more than 150 milled in the street below. The area was sealed off as the description of the assassin was broadcast.

Dr. King was taken to a hospital where he was pronounced dead.

His last words were in reply to his chauffeur who yelled up at him from the street, advising him to wear a topcoat.

"OK, I will," Dr. King replied.

Then came the shot.

THE FIGHT to save his life ended two hours and 45 minutes later in the emergency room at St. Joseph's Hospital in Memphis. A terse announcement from Assistant Hospital Administrator Paul Hess:

"At 7 p.m., Dr. Martin Luther King expired in the emergency room of a gunshot wound in the neck."

The Observer Newspapers, sensing the importance of the development, put together the story with the help of two staff reporters on the Memphis Commercial Appeal. They are published on inside pages of this edition.

Township Firemen Denied As Officials Get Salary Boosts

Plymouth Township approved a record budget of $325,720 Tuesday night, but only after Trustees Gene Overholt and Dick Lauterbach cast negative votes in opposition to a $1,700 pay increase for Supervisor John D. McEwen.

During the next fiscal year the township will be spending $87,125 more than last year when expenditures reached $265,595.

The inflationary spiral also engulfed the water department operating budget which was approved at $268,360--an increase of $87,850 over last year.

However, the sewer operating budget dropped $4,000 from last year to $202,000.

THE THREE budgets were approved in separate motions. However, two trustees, Overholt and Lauterbach, voted against the new general fund or the budget that pays most of the bills for the township.

They were not in opposition to the other two budgets.

Their explanation for voting "no" was their opposition to a pay raise for Supervisor John D. McEwen. His salary was boosted from $10,300 to $12,000--a raise of $1,700.

They explained they were also against giving an increase to the township trustees. The trustees' per diem fee was raised from $25 to $30.

They emphasized that although the boost in trustees' fees did not sound like a whole lot of money the total came to $4,000. This is $500 more than last year.

In stating his position, Gene Overholt said he believed that elected officials should not be trying to make money, but rather they should be trying to serve the public.

THE TWO trustees repeated that they could not give their consent to the new general fund--which is the biggest part of the total budget--because their approval amounted to using a double standard for township employees.

Overholt and Lauterbach are the board's representatives in bargaining with township firemen for a new contract.

Prior to Tuesday's meeting they told the firemen that the township would not grant them a pay raise in accordance with what other communities already were paying their firemen. The trustees told the firemen that the township, at this time, was not rich enough to pay the firemen the same wage as that being paid by the City of Detroit.

Lauterbach and Overholt let it be known that they applied the same logic to any and all township employees--including the supervisor.

They said the township should grant raises only according to the township's ability to pay and not what other supervisors are making somewhere else.

BY APPROVING the supervisor's $1,700 salary increase, and after saying the township would not grant the firemen an increase, would be following a double standard, the two dissenting trustees pointed out.

Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes also was granted a raise in salary. Her stipend went from $8,900 to $10,000. And Clerk Helen Richardson's salary was boosted from $9,200 to $10,000. The trustees stated they did not like the $1,100 boost in salary that Mrs. Holmes was given in lump sum.

They said they felt that she should have been given a graduated pay raise. They would have rather seen her receive her entire raise in three segments over a three year period to help prevent a tremendous leap in any one year.

However, their opposition to the approval of the general fund stemmed mainly upon the supervisor's salary increase.

Chamber President Makes Strong Plea For Unification Of Area

More than 200 business, industrial, and governmental leaders from the greater Plymouth area gathered Thursday to honor one of Plymouth's oldest, well-respected residents, Sidney Strong, and hear Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

The occasion was the 46th annual Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce banquet held in the Mayflower Meeting House.

After dinner dishes had been pushed aside and W.W. "Eddie" Edgar, Editor of the Mail and Observer, had topped all speakers with his inimitable story telling style, Carl Pursell, president of the chamber, shocked his audience by making an open plea for cooperation and good will between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

BEFORE the combined members of the two elected bodies--the city commission and the township board--Pursell pointed out the bitterness and pettiness that has been displayed by them in the past.

He asked that this be stopped and the two governmental units come together for the betterment of the entire Plymouth area.

The outspoken chamber president said that the township form of running a community was too antiquated to be effective anymore and in this light he urged that the two look seriously at the upcoming unification report to be made public some time in May or June.

MUCH TO the consternation

High School Suffers First Safe Robbery

Plymouth school authorities were stunned when they learned Wednesday morning that the high school safe had been broken into and robbed of $764.75 and an attaché case worth $20.

It was the first time the high school safe had ever been tampered with. The Principal, Carvel Bentley, and other staff members had thought the safe was safe and secure for all time.

City police are now searching for unknown persons who broke through a cinder block outer wall of the walk-in safe in the principal's office.

The burglars crawled through the hole they made and pushed over some file cabinets that were blocking their way.

The police placed the time of the theft at early Wednesday morning sometime between 12:05 a.m. and 5:50 a.m. They reported that there was no indication of a forced entry into the school building from the outside.

of the local officials who were chided by Pursell, Atty. Gen. Kelley in his talk about crime on the streets also urged the two bodies--city and township--to look seriously to the future and the possibility of working together.

He also told his audience that township government was no longer an adequate governing tool and should be replaced. He said that if the governing body had not established a police force which was part of its obligation as a government, then it should be abolished for something else.

Near the conclusion of his talk, Atty. Gen. Kelley mentioned that the people would be greeted with tragic news. This turned out to be the news of the murder of Martin Luther King Jr. in Memphis earlier the same evening.

DURING THE evening the Chamber paid tribute to four outstanding citizens but Sidney Strong, who has compiled quite a record of public service, was the only one present.

He was presented with a suitably engraved plaque by R. T. Thompson, Managing Editor of the Observer Newspapers.

The others honored were Arnold Johanson, Floyd Kehr, and Carl Caplin.

A service award also was presented to John Herb for his many contributions during the year.

JAMES ROSSMAN

Federal Aid Needed To Halt Inflation-Rossman

James Rossman, the big, broad-shouldered superintendent of the Plymouth Community Schools, took another look at the contractors' bids piled on his desk--bids that told the shocking story that the cost of the new high school will soar above the $9 million mark.

"Don't ask me when this inflationary spiral is going to stop," he remarked with a voice as firm as you would expect from a school teacher, "because I don't know."

"And the more I look at it and study these conditions," he went on, "the more I am convinced that the only way it can be stopped is by some sort of Federal action."

He made no secret of the fact that the new high school bids stung him, along with other members of the Board of Education. But they never guessed that the construction costs would soar above nine million.

There was little solace for the wounds in the knowledge that labor costs are rising daily and that by the time the school is built the various wage scales may be much higher.

It didn't help either to recall that the taxpayers had voted down a bond issue several years ago when the school could have been built for a much more reasonable sum.

"I really don't know where we're heading," Rossman went on, "and if these bids are a sample of what is in store, the cost of education is really going to be something in a few years."

"And I don't know how we can stop it, either," he continued, "without Federal help."

"I don't like dictatorship any more than anyone else," he said very seriously, "but there doesn't seem to be any sense in priming the pump, if you can't control the flow."

Turning in his chair, he went on--

"Walter Reuther can't ask the members of his union not to seek higher wages. They wouldn't listen to him."

"We can't ask the teachers and the other employees not to seek better pay, either. It's the trend of the times."

"So, who is going to put an end to it?" he asked.

Before he could receive an answer he reiterated--

"The government has got to step in with some sort of legislative controls--and the sooner the better."

Meanwhile, Superintendent Rossman and his aides are making a thorough study of the high school bids to make certain that the cost will be kept as low as is possible.

April Balloting Rules Cited

Because of the importance of the referendum on the open housing ordinance City Clerk Gene Slider is leaving no stone unturned to prepare for the balloting on April 29.

"It is important—in fact, very important, that no slip is made in getting ready or during the days of the voting," he explained, "and one of the chief concerns with which the public is not too well versed concerns the challengers."

"We are going to live up to every letter of the law," he went on, "and it is well to know just how the law provides for challengers—how they must be selected and registered and how they must perform their duties."

With that he provided a copy of the election information bulletin distributed by Secretary of State James Hare two years ago.

Under this case, a challenger is anyone who is appointed by a recognized political body or interest group and they are primarily committed to protecting the interests of their party or group.

In order to place challengers in the field, interest groups must give notice to the City Clerk not less than 10 days nor more than 20 days prior to the election.

The notice must be in the form of a statement which will include:

The reason why organization claims right to challenge. Copy or facsimile of the challenger card, bearing signature of the person authorized to appoint the challengers.

Statement sworn by chief officer, secretary or some other official in the organization, and

As a courtesy the interest group should also include a list of the precincts where the challengers will act.

Stiff penalties are provided for not adhering to the rules.

First, any person who will file such a statement as above for an interest group who is not authorized to do so, or any clerk who willfully and intentionally fails to carry out the duties required of him by statute shall be subject to a fine not to exceed $1,000 or imprisonment in a state prison for not more than two years, or both.

The Stroller...

Strolling through the downtown section of Plymouth doesn't seem the same anymore. You keep looking for a familiar face and, somehow, you just can't believe that the man with the sparkling eye and the little goatee won't be around any of his old haunts again.

You see, "Ace" has gone back home to old Mississippi to be with the kinfolk and never again will we hear the quiet chuckle or the sharp wit of the slender southern gent who had the courage to take life as he found it and enjoy it along the way.

Yes, they took all the mortal remains of Dr. A. C. Williams back to Vicksburg Tuesday night, there to rest on the hillside of his boyhood days. But the memory of the man with the goatee and the sparkling eye never will leave those of us who looked forward to meeting him and enjoying his company while strolling along the thoroughfare... or listening to him at the luncheon table.

Like most professional men, he was devoted to his career, but when he took surcease from his daily dealing with pills and bandages and giving advice to those with all manner of ills, he was a champion companion. He was a fellow well met and there was sure to be fun and hilarity anytime he was around. Life to him, at least on the outside, was a song, and he hummed its tune despite what must have been a heavy heart for the past few years.

Few men would have the courage to carry on in the manner in which he did — with a smile on his face and a sparkle in his eye — knowing that his days were numbered and that they were running out on him.

Only a week before he shook off this mortal coil, the good doctor who helped deliver more than half of the babies born in Plymouth in the last quarter of a century, confided to intimates that the end could be near. And he grinned as he said it.

THEN HE REMEMBERED

One of his favorite activities was serving as the Sergeant-at-Arms at the Rotary Club and just a week before he was to depart this vale of tears he was discussing a new bit of humor he was concocting for his next meeting when, of a sudden, he said, "Gad, fellows, I won't be here next week. I'm headed for the hospital again."

This came as a bit of surprise for he had seemed to be recovering from a hospital siege only a few months ago.

"What's wrong this time?" someone asked.

"Same old trouble," he answered as a soft grin spread across his face, "and this could be it."

It was.

The Stroller, along with many others, has good reason to remember him. And he'll never forget the day he met him. It was a St. Patrick's Day and as the group moved toward the Meeting House for the Rotary meeting, along came this slender gent wearing a neatly trimmed goatee that was painted green.

"Who in the world is this?" the Stroller asked. He had been on the job in Plymouth only a few months and was attempting to make as many acquaintances as possible to build up news sources. And anyone wearing a green goatee was a likely prospect.

"This is Doc Williams," they chorused as he offered his hand in greeting, "and he is the kind of a fellow you won't forget."

No greater truth ever was spoken. In the seemingly few short months The Stroller knew him, they became fast friends. And it was to The Stroller that he confided, "This may be it."

He said it with a smile — and it wasn't until his passing that The Stroller learned that the slender fellow with the chuckle and the sparkle in his eye, had a letter in his pocket explaining the seriousness of his illness and warning him of the nearing of the end. But "Doc" never let on. He left us smiling.

AN INTERESTING PERSONAGE

Often referred to as a quaint character, he was much more than that. He was an interesting personage who was at home on a crowded thoroughfare or some quiet spot — or in the midst of a roaring multitude such as you find at the race tracks.

In his younger days "Doc" was a great sportsman who loved to hunt and fish. In later years, however, he turned to the county fairs and the sulky races.

He was both an owner and trainer of the standard breeds and oftentimes, without a moment's notice, he would hie himself away to some county fair track of an evening — just to watch one of his horses run.

Yes, he was a most interesting personage, so unusual that he cherished his certificate of membership in the United States Trotting Association more than he did the prized bit of parchment that established him as a full-fledged osteopathic physician.

Now he is at rest on the hillside among his kinfolk — but the memory of the man with the green goatee never will be forgotten.

He left a void in downtown Plymouth that won't soon be filled.

Budget Recreation Appropriations Could Be Step In Right Direction

One of the most significant items in the annual budgets now being put into operation by both the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township is in the increased appropriation for recreation.

In past years the sums provided for such activities as a recreation program were a mere pittance with the result that the young people in the area were forced to go their way or rely on civic-minded organizations to provide such things as baseball, basketball, football and hockey.

As a result, the youngsters had to make untold sacrifices, such as traveling great distances at odd hours, sometimes after midnight, to engage in hockey practice.

It was their enthusiasm and the generosity of a few that kept the young players in competition throughout the year.

THE SAME WAS TRUE OF baseball where outside organizations fostered a program for boys of various ages to compete in their own age groups. This ran the gamut from the Little League up to and through the teen-agers.

Many things contributed to the plight of the youngsters before the private organizations took things into their own hands.

First, the ever exploding population eliminated many of the corner sandlots and areas used for any type of football. Secondly, the number of youthful athletes increased in such numbers that the available indoors facilities were overtaxed and,

Third, hockey, a comparatively new sport in the area within the last generation, had to rely on the weather, with the result that no organized program could be planned until some of the suburban neighbors constructed ice arenas.

NOW FOR A HOME RUN...

Now, there is a new twist taking place and our governmental officials finally are recognizing that a recreational program is an important asset in any community.

Not only is a good recreational program a deterrent to such things as juvenile delinquency, but it helps build healthier boys and girls along the way — and this will make for stronger and healthier parents in the years to come.

THERE WAS SOME eyebrow lifting a year ago when the Plymouth Centennial Committee suggested that an ice arena be built as a permanent memorial to the centennial. But, while it is taking a long time to bring it about the wheels are now in motion to have such a facility in the not-too-distant future.

The Township started it last Tuesday night when an appropriation of $5,000 for recreation was approved in the budget.

It was approved with the understanding that it was to be used for the most part in helping to bring about the arena.

The City of Plymouth also will have figures in its budget for recreation when it finally is approved toward the end of the month. Just how much is not known, but it should be substantial to keep pace with the township and to inaugurate a long needed program.

For the greater part of the past year there has been a feeling among some members of the City Commission that a city-sponsored recreation program was needed.

UP TO NOW THE schools have provided most of the facilities, aside from the baseball diamonds on the Plymouth Road playgrounds.

With the increased interest among the government officials, who are backing their statements with cash, recreation, at long last, will be on the upswing.

The building of the ice arena would be one of the greatest boosters of all, for the building could be used for other activities. But, most of all, with such facilities being constructed in Livonia and other suburban communities, Plymouth no longer would be an "orphan" and our youngsters would not be forced to make sacrifices to engage in their favorite sports.

No longer is it necessary to sermonize that "there is nothing wrong with a nation that plays." The benefits to be derived are now being recognized and it will be further assurance that the cry of "Play Ball," which will resound throughout the major leagues next Tuesday, never will be drowned out.

Congressman Esch Reports

Legislation Progressing On Standard Code Of Ethics

The people have every right to expect their lawmakers not to be lawbreakers and the House of Representatives last week took a first step in assuring that its members abide by high ethical standards.

Early last year I proposed the establishment of a Select Committee on Standards and Conduct in the House of Representatives to draw up a code of ethics for House Members and their employees. The House approved the establishment of this committee by a unanimous vote nearly a year ago and since that time the committee has held extensive hearings. I presented testimony to this committee urging immediate enactment of enforceable and effective regulations.

THE COMMITTEE has recommended a code of standards and conduct to the House for its action. While this is only a first step and further attention is needed in a number of areas, passage of the resolution will go a long way toward assuring the public that its representatives in Congress are not swayed by conflicts of interest. I have urged immediate action by the Congress to approve this bill.

The code will establish a Permanent Committee on Standards of Official Conduct and will require each member of Congress and all their employees to file with that committee a list of all companies in which they hold a substantial interest which do business with the Federal Government or which are subject to federal regulation. It also will require a listing of earnings of more than $1,000 from any professional organization (such as a law firm) of which he or his wife is a member, as well as any source of outside income or capital gain exceeding $5,000, and reimbursement for expenses exceeding $1,000.

This list will be maintained by the committee as a matter of public record so that information regarding possible conflicts of interest will be readily available.

AT THE SAME time, each member and employee also will file a sealed and confidential list giving precise financial information and figures relating to the outside sources of income listed above. When any charge of misconduct or conflict of interest is lodged with the committee, this information will be available. If a majority of the committee feels that evidence of misconduct is substantial, such information also will be released to the public.

The code also requires that every employee of a member must be doing substantial and official work. No member or employee can accept gifts of any substantial nature and cannot be compensated for actions and contacts which "would occur by virtue of influence improperly exerted from their positions in the Congress."

Left untouched was the broad area of campaign contributions. However, the committee recommended, and I strongly agree, that there is a need for a complete overhaul and updating of laws in this area. There is an urgent need for total disclosure of campaign receipts and expenditures and I have urged that legislation be approved in this field before the upcoming election.

Public confidence in the legislative process and in the integrity of members of Congress and their employees must be maintained and strengthened. I believe that this code will play an important role in ensuring that those who are elected and serve in positions of responsibility are in fact, as well as appearance, men and women of personal integrity who regard public service as a public trust.

MRS. FARRIS BARNES lists the ingredients that make malkemason cake a favorite with her family and friends.

Her Southern Cooking Takes The Cake

"My wife is the best southern cook in the world," was the proud statement that came over the telephone several weeks ago.

Farris Barnes, of 500 Parkview Drive, told of his wife's southern style cooking, "that the preachers just love," and wondered if we'd like a few of her recipes.

We sure enough did. This week Mrs. Helen Barnes is sharing three of her family's favorite recipes with the women of Plymouth and they are among those surprisingly easy to prepare.

The Barnes' have been Plymouth residents for 10 years, and have two children, an eight-year-old daughter Nancy, and Michael, five years.

"Family" for both Mr. and Mrs. Barnes is back home in Tiptonville, Tenn., a small town about 100 miles from Memphis.

Mrs. Barnes' malkemason cake, which is a delightful change from traditional holiday fruit cake, has an unusual name that very likely could have been derived from the word amalgamate, meaning to make a combination, usually of metals instead of rich melt-in-your-mouth jam and spices.

"You can make this cake months ahead, freeze it, and it will be as fresh as the day it was made," explained Mrs. Barnes.

However you slice it, malkemason cake which is so popular in the south, will be an added treat to any Plymouth table.

MALKEMASON CAKE
4 cups self rising flour
2 cups sugar

2 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoon all spice
1 cup pecans-ground
1 cup raisins-ground
1 cup butter
1 pint blackberry jam
6 egg whites
1 1/2 cup buttermilk
Mix dry ingredients, then add moist ingredients. Will make four or six layers. Bake at 350 degrees, 20-25 minutes.

ICING

3 cups milk
6 egg yolks
2 cups sugar
1/2 cup butter
Mix and bring to a boil for one minute. Pour over

2 cups ground pecans
2 cups coconut
1 cup ground raisins

Mrs. Barnes has two favorite meat courses that are easily prepared but are sure to be considered "good eatin'" by country or city folks.

COUNTRY RIBS - SMOTHERED

Three pounds of country style ribs, sliced into six pieces. Salt and brown slowly in a small amount of fat. Add one cup of water, one can of mushroom steak sauce. Slice one medium onion, place on the ribs and simmer for 20 minutes. Serve with green beans, mashed potatoes and tossed salad.

BEEF LIVER SMOTHERED IN ONIONS

Two pounds of beef liver, rolled in flour. Salt and pepper to taste. Brown quickly, in small amount of fat. Add one pint of water and one onion. Cook slowly until gravy thickens or about 15 minutes.

Sheryle

Eight-year-old Sheryle Rippee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rippee, 15622 Maxwell, is a member of Girl Scout Troop 286.

When the troop's leader, Mrs. Gerald Heaton, read Sheryle's essay on "What Girl Scouts Means to Me," she was so impressed she gave me a call to see if I'd be interested in sharing it with my readers.

After I read the lines penciled on school note paper, cleared the lump from my throat and the mist from my eyes, I decided that Sheryle's paper should be printed and dedicated to all Scout leaders—past, present and future.

GIRL SCOUTS

Girl Scouts to me means to learn and to teach. I feel this way because in Girl Scouts you learn to cook, clean and other useful things.

If you learn to do these things you can teach other people and they can learn too. The badges you earn show you know how to do these things. The badges aren't there to show people how wonderful you are, but to show people that you know how to do those things safely and can teach other people what you know.

In Girl Scouts you do other things like going on field trips. Our Troop 286 has gone on three of these trips. The first trip was to the State Home where we visited a boy's ward where we had a Halloween party for them.

When I saw that they didn't have the right kind of clothes I felt that if they could have new clothes and things they would be better off.

The second trip was to our leader's house for a cook-out. The day when we had it was very cold. But we had fun anyway. We played games and roasted hot dogs. I learned that it doesn't have to be warm to have a cook-out and have fun.

The third trip I thought was the best. It was an overnight trip to Greenfield Village. We had lots of fun and ate at an old time restaurant.

But to me it felt as though we were sharing that famous person's life. It was like walking through history.

Girl Scouts is learning, and teaching; helping and loving. There are Camp Fire Girls and Pioneer Girls, but I like Girl Scouts best.

Smith School's Girl Scout troop 526 has elected new patrol leaders. Shelly Wilson, Barbara Smith, Cheryl Jacobson and Sue Kovach will serve as new leaders with Peggy Muller as treasurer and Cindy Richards as secretary.

Fashion Shows Marry Clothing To Coiffures

Townhouse residents of Northville and Westland recently viewed "Fashions in Capsule Form" presented by Plymouth House of Glamour.

Total fashion today must include hair styles that will complement midlady's apparel. With this in mind, the preview of summer fashions included the latest dress fabrics and the new trend in curly tresses.

Fabrics shown included the products of the modern age, paper frocks in bright stripes for picnics and poolside, knitted and crocheted outfits for travel and town.

Evening culottes designed for dinner at home were also shown. Linda Fentner, well-known Detroit area designer, modeled several designs from her collection.

Summer fashions were made complete with hair styles in mini-falls, cascades of curls, the Victorian look and Sassoon's Grecian look.

"Fashions in Capsule Form" were modeled by Libby Moyer, Ireta Romek, Jeanine Tidwell, Bert Marshall, Sandy Smith, and June Willmet.

Coiffures were designed by Dennis Cooper, Dolly Ettenhafer, Marion Slintz, Alice MacDonald and Patricia Hann. The shows were coordinated and moderated by Mrs. Patricia Hann and Mrs. Dorothy Sinecock.

Public Invited To Travel Memory Lane

The Plymouth Historical Society will meet Thursday, April 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Federal Credit Union, 500 S. Harvey.

Memories of the fire, its aftermath, and temporary school quarters will be revived. The meeting is open to the public.

Annual Home Tour Planned

The Ann Arbor Women's City Club will hold its 17th annual home tour Monday, April 22 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Eight Ann Arbor homes, furnished in traditional, modern and antique furniture will be opened for the tour. Those making the tour will see a wide range of architecture including a Greek Revival residence as well as contemporary dwellings.

Tickets for the tour, which is open to the public, may be obtained at the City Club office, 662-3279. Tickets are $2.50 with an additional $2 for luncheon at the club.

TELEVISION LESSON

NUMBER TWO

A couple of weeks ago we indulged in some thinking about television as a revolutionary force in society.

Today we return to the tube in order to communicate some hastily scrawled notes about television and churches.

These notes were penned one week ago after I went through a kind of brainwashing experience: Watching, in succession, 13 of the best television commercials produced by one agency.

YOU HAVEN'T LIVED until you've seen at least that many at one sitting—in living color of course.

Excedrin (Case #39 -- a shoe salesman trying to sell a size seven shoe to a lady who insists she's size four).

Arrow Shirts, Plymouth (or Petula -- I'm not sure who was selling what). Some kind of rum, Eastern Airlines (a sales pitch for the sun). Even a commercial for Rayno cigarettes. That's Salem in a Latin American language, I think.

THE COMMERCIALS were excellent. They were imaginative, creative, well-produced, clever, and dramatic. It was obvious that some of the most talented people in the country put their efforts into these commercials.

It was also obvious that huge sums of money had been invested in any single one-minute thing about Eastern Airlines.

Consider now that people see these spectacular presentations numerous times a day, seven times a week.

Consider something else: Churches, and especially their clergy, are wondering out loud why many adults and many more young people are turned off by the church.

Ministers ask each other why few people really listen when they preach. Churches wonder why youth join the Peace Corps to serve humanity rather than the ranks of missionaries and clergy.

ALL OF THIS MUST raise some questions in the dark, religious corners of our minds:

When people are able to see in their living rooms the products of the most creative minds in the country, why should they be expected to sit through church services which are old, out-of-date and often uncreative?

When people are accustomed to slick, polished, well-produced, exciting ways of hearing a message, why should they be expected to listen to a 30 minute sermon which is frequently unpolished, unexciting, and disorganized?

An ad agency will spend hundreds of thousands of dollars and use all kinds of talent for one minute of television time. The average minister spends three or four hours on a much longer sermon.

Friends, we should not be surprised if commercials make a greater impact than sermons. Churches have never before had so much competition.

RIVER CITY, IOWA COMES to Plymouth as Sue Robinson, as Marian the librarian, and Jim Warren as Professor Harold Hill, rehearse a scene from "The Music Man."

Music Man Comes To Town

Meredith Willson's "Music Man" will be presented by Plymouth High School students Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 2-4 at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Set in the quiet little town of River City, Iowa, the play's action revolves around the smooth talking, energetic personality of "Professor" Harold Hill, the music man.

Jim Warren will portray Professor Hill, a role which calls for rapid fire dialog and songs delivered in Meredith Willson's unique style.

Sue Robinson will co-star as Marion, the pretty, highly principled librarian who in spite of herself becomes attracted to the music man.

TWO PLYMOUTH HIGH School instructors, will assist in the production. Fred Nelson will direct the vocal music and act as accompanist and Michael Endres will conduct and direct the orchestra.

There will be several guest musicians assisting the orchestra, and Professor Hill's band will include boys from Junior High-West.

Dennis McVittie, a senior and drum major with the Plymouth High School Band, has devised some complicated modern ballet and 1912 jazz steps for the production.

SCENERY, lighting, costumes, sound, make-up, stage hands and publicity are all in the hands of the students. Rehearsals and committee meetings require many after-school hours.

Tickets may be purchased for $1 on the night of each performance or in advance from the school's drama director, Miss D. Johnroe.

what do you trust?

You can't do much without trusting in something besides yourself. And sooner or later, all our trust must come to a focus in God. We must go deeper with our spiritual searchings until we understand Him as the divine Principle of everything that really exists. Explore this subject with us at a public lecture called "What Do You Trust?" by GORDON F. CAMPBELL, C.S.B., member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

Kadish Praises Johnson, Hails Peace Move

Paul Y. Kadish, chairman of the Livonia Democratic Party, today praised President Johnson for "courageously removing himself from the political arena in order to put the welfare of the nation above political ambition."

The statement is part of an effort to weld together the party factions split by the Vietnam war issue.

Following is the remainder of Kadish's statement:

"Personally, I believe that this was the only effective manner in which the United States, under the present administration, could have initiated steps to begin preliminary negotiations in Vietnam. I am convinced that President Johnson was sincere in his announcement, as recent events prove.

"It has been obvious for some time that the position of the United States in Vietnam has been completely untenable.

"The leading spokesmen in this country for peace in Vietnam have been Senators Kennedy, McCarthy, Fulbright, Morse, General John Gavin and John Kenneth Galbraith. They, along with many others, have foreseen the need to stop the bombing in order to make negotiations possible.

"Now that preliminary negotiations seem to be inevitable, it is hopeful that we will, within a relatively short period of time, be able to settle the dispute in Vietnam.

"Once this has been accomplished, we in America will be able to take the necessary steps to solve some of the major problems at home. It is my hope that, if we are able to settle the Vietnam war, the people of the United States, through their representatives in Congress, will see fit to provide the necessary funds to combat poverty and provide improved education, housing and employment for all."

Two Honored For Vietnam Deeds

High school chums and now ex-army buddies Sp/4 Ronald Duprey and Sgt. Dave Littleton are now swapping war stories. They recently returned from a year's tour of duty in Vietnam and Korea, carrying multiple honors.

Ronald, 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Duprey, of 26074 Elba, Redford Township, was attached to the 25th Medical Battalion as a chief radio operator in Vietnam.

Dave, 22, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Littleton, of 14812 Seminole, was with Army Intelligence based at Taijon in Korea.

Both boys were graduated from Redford Union High School in 1964. Ron was president of that class. Both went into the Army at the same time in

SP/4 RONALD DUPREY
Home From War

June 1966 and arrived home within two days of each other. Ron came back first on March 15, followed by Dave's arrival on St. Patrick's Day.

Dave admits his stories aren't nearly as exciting as Ron's because he wasn't in combat. But a year in another country still makes for some interesting conversations as the two compare notes on impressions of the Far East.

AS FOR RON, there was plenty of excitement as evidenced by awards of the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart, and Combat Medical Badge given to him while in Vietnam.

His unit, like Dave's, also won the Presidential Citation and the Meritorious Unit Citation.

The Purple Heart came in connection with rescue work during "Operation Dust-Off" at Cu Chi last July. Under heavy mortar attack, Ron dispatched helicopters to pick up the wounded, setting an unofficial record of 13 minutes per rescue.

The Bronze Star came after "Operation Yellowstone" last December through February at Katum, three miles from the Cambodian border.

The Combat Medical Badge followed work in the field during enemy attack last November when U.S. forces were attempting to secure an air strip at Songbee.

CMU Honors

Among 49 undergraduates at Central Michigan University who have been selected for membership in Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary scholastic society, is a senior from Farmington, Mark Gaylord, of 29944 Minglewood.

A 3.5 academic average for the entire collegiate career is necessary for membership. Gaylord is majoring in biology.

With their Army service out of the way, the two friends are looking to the future—and finishing college. Both (naturally) have selected Wayne University.

Strike Enters 2d Month

The strike of 200 hourly employees against the Star Cutter Co., in Farmington Township, entered its second month this week with no indication that there has been any progress in contract negotiations.

A bargaining session was held April 3, the 31st day of the walkout, between representatives of the management and Local 985 of the United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, after which company president Norman Lawton said, "Little was accomplished."

This was only the second return to the bargaining table since the strike began, and was called by officials of the State Labor Mediation Board.

Lawton said, "The outlook for an early settlement doesn't look 'very good.'"

No further meetings are currently scheduled.

The strike started March 4 after members of the U.A.W. local had rejected by unanimous vote a company proposal for a three-year contract. Bargainers still are far apart both on economic and non-economic issues.

The company, located at 34500 Grand River, is Farmington Township's largest single employer. Its monthly payroll is in excess of $200,000, officials have stated.

7 Bid To Widen Farmington Rd.

Widening of Farmington Rd., between Eight and Nine Mile Rds., brought bids from seven contractors this week, the lowest being for $456,649, according to an announcement from the Oakland County Road Commission.

Less than two weeks ago an official engineering estimate of the project's cost had been pegged at $440,000.

The road commission has taken no action on the bids which were opened Wednesday, but City Manager John D. Dinan said he expects the low figure of the Sterling Garrett Co. of Walled Lake to be accepted. The second lowest bid was for $488,168.

City council approval also will be necessary, and work is expected to start in late spring to permit conclusion of the widening job by Oct. 15.

In addition to the mile of paving to make Farmington Rd. a four-lane thoroughfare, the project includes installation of curbs and gutters to provide proper drainage.

Also included are turning lanes at the southern approach to Nine Mile Rd. and the northern approach to Eight Mile Rd.

The City of Farmington will pay 25 per cent of the project's total cost, as will the county. Federal funds available to the county will be used to cover the other 50 per cent.

Frink Eyes Race For McDonald's Seat

Former congressional aide Gary Frink came back to the 9th district this weekend to sound up help for his campaign to unseat Republican Rep. Jack H. McDonald.

Mardiros Will Expand Campaign

Volunteers promoting the candidacy of Ron Mardiros for Congress on the Democratic ticket this week extended his petition drive into the home grounds of incumbent Republican Congressman Jack H. McDonald of Redford Township.

Mardiros is yet to announce officially that he will run although he was out with Mardiros volunteers Monday when they began circulating his nomination petitions.

Owner Begins Sentence

Joseph G. Kwasny, owner of a trailer park on Orchard Lake Rd. at 11 Mile Rd., started serving a 90-day jail sentence Thursday for failure to eliminate a stream pollution hazard at his 43-unit court.

Kwasny was sentenced to the Oakland County jail for contempt of court by Circuit Judge William J. Beer, who had issued an order to correct the sewage conditions last November.

The county health department originated the complaint against Kwasny, and a spokesman said neighboring subdivisions were being endangered by downstream pollution from the trailer park.

Township Supervisor Curtis H. Hall, when asked about local authority over trailer court operations, said all such matters rest in the hands of the county and state.

Democratic leaders in Livonia, Farmington and Redford and is expected to announce shortly.

He charged he was forced out of his $21,000-a-year job as staff director and counsel for the Postal Facilities and Modernization subcommittee and the Civil Service Committee.

FRINK BECAME a target of Rep. Delbert L. Latta (R-Ohio) for permitting a $50-a-plate fund raising dinner to raise campaign money while still on the congressional staff.

"I have been attacked on the floor of the House because I had the audacity to consider running for Congress," Frink said.

HOWEVER, Mardiros had moved beforehand to obtain a ruling from a state elections officer in Lansing that the petition drive near polls was not in violation of election laws as Mardiros, himself, was not a candidate in the election.

Local school officials were left to rule on whether the unannounced candidate or his workers could seek out names for the petitions on school property, and School Board Secretary A. Edward Katz later admitted there was no existing Board policy prohibiting the petition drive at the schools.

Mardiros, himself, set up operations at the entrance of his own Precinct 8 at Wilson Elementary School.

HE AND THE volunteers collected more than 2,400 signatures in a 13-hour period Monday. Three thousand signatures are necessary for filing with the Secretary of State by June 1.

The volunteers will continue collecting petition signatures, expanding their drive both into Redford Township and Farmington, according to Mardiros' aide, James P. McCarthy.

The 19th Congressional District in which Mardiros seeks the nomination includes Farmington, Redford Township and Livonia.

ernization subcommittee and the Civil Service Committee.

"I do not want to involve members of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee in a partisan, mudslinging battle. If my resignation is a sacrifice I must make to avoid this, then so let it be."

Frink said the dinner funds are frozen in a separate bank account and may be withdrawn only for campaign expenses.

The account is under the control of the organization, "District of Columbia Friends of Gary Frink."

by a Republican congressman on the legally-privileged sanctuary of the House floor," Frink said.

Frink was quickly defended on the floor by Rep. James O'Hara (D-Mich.), who said the dinner and fund raising meets all the requirements of House canons.

"I am hopeful that the gentlemen from Ohio will take an appropriate opportunity to repair any damage to Mr. Frink's character that may have resulted from these innuendos."

Frink was born in Rochester and has spent his life in what are now the 18th and 19th districts.

McDonald, ending his first term, faces challenges from Frink and Livonian Ron Mardiros, who is rounding up signatures for petitions to place him in the Democratic primary.

By TIM RICHARD
Sunday Editor

In politics, it's a good idea to avoid voting "no" on a hot issue when the pressure is on. Take the teeth out of the bill you don't like; offer some kind of substitute that will swing borderline votes; divide the opposition forces — these are far more gentlemanly tactics.

So it was in the Michigan State Senate last week as Gov. Romney and Senate Republican Leader Emil Lockwood put on the heat for a "fair housing" bill to outlaw bias in real estate transactions. They were joined by some Democrats, including a suburbanite, Sen. Roger Craig of Dearborn.

Among those opposed to the administration's bill were a pair of Oakland County suburbanites — Sen. George Kuhn, of West Bloomfield, who represents the Observerland communities of Farmington, Livonia and Plymouth; and Sen. Robert Huber, of Troy. Both are Republican conservatives.

This is a case study in some of the methods Kuhn used in fighting the bill and the arguments for and against his proposed alternatives. It is based on interviews on the floor of the Senate with Kuhn, Huber and Craig, along with an examination of the bills.

The Romney-Lockwood leadership made what was considered a politically clever opening move by getting as sponsor of the fair housing bill one of the Senate's most conservative Republicans, Charles O. Zollar of Benton Harbor. The "how" and "why" of this maneuver are another story in themselves.

In brief, Zollar's SB 804 lists certain activities that are to be considered "unfair housing practices," excludes some practices, provides for enforcement by the state Civil Rights Commission or local CRCs, and spells out punishments and corrective actions.

The debate went on for more than a week during which Kuhn offered amendments, his own substitute bill, and support for another substitute bill sponsored by Sen. James Fleming, R-Jackson.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS Commission was a major bone of contention.

"A kangaroo court," Kuhn calls it, charging it engages in "undue harassment" of persons charged with bias.

"Last year the CRC had 3,320 cases. Eighteen of those cases went to court, and in only 15 did the court issue 'cease and desist' orders. In the other 3,315, no court order was issued," Kuhn says.

The lack of formal trials in courtrooms bothers conservatives. Both Kuhn and Fleming substitute bills provide for handling of complaints by county prosecutors in circuit courts.

Huber is a frequent and articulate critic of the CRC:

"It's very biased (against the accused). Something like 65 per cent of the CRC's employees are Negroes. Does that sound unbiased?"

"We have three branches of government — legislative, executive and judicial. The CRC wants to be a fourth branch, not subject to review by the Legislature.

"You (a legislator) write and ask them for something. The first thing they say is, 'we're not under your supervision.' Then they'll answer the question as if they were. They're being real nice now. But this thing is growing. They're after more funds, and

OPEN HOUSING was one of the concerns of high school students who entered a poster

The State Constitution

"...Nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof, because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation."

—Art. I, Sec. 2.

"There is hereby established a civil rights commission which shall consist of eight persons...It shall be the duty of the commission in a manner which may be prescribed by law to investigate alleged discrimination against any person because of religion, race, color or national origin..."

"Appeals from final orders of the commission...shall be tried de novo before the circuit court having jurisdiction..."

—Art. V, Sec. 29.

they're trying to extend their power into more areas."

(Michigan's Civil Service Commission, Michigan State University, the University of Michigan and others have similar constitutional status barring legislative interference.

(The Public Service Commission, the Liquor Control Commission and other state agencies are authorized to make legally-binding quasi-judicial decisions, as does the CRC.)

Craig, an attorney who is respected in liberal circles, opens his argument by saying the Zollar bill sends cases to the CRC but provides for judicial review.

But the main thrust of Craig's argument is that the Civil Rights Commission's investigative process "lends itself much more seriously to conciliation of the parties... There's a chance to convince a bigot that he's violating the law; there's a chance to show a complainant that his complaint is false."

"Courts are operating by 'adversary' proceedings — the prosecution on one side, the defense on the other. As soon as you go into court, you draw battle lines."

Craig disagrees entirely with the idea that the CRC is biased against the accused.

contest on the theme of "social justice" sponsored last week by Livonia Mall.

"Granted that most persons who seek employment with the CRC have some commitment to the integrative process. But that's at the lowest level of work. At the highest level, the people are more in line with the chief executive's thinking."

"The Civil Rights Commission is more easily intimidated by the White Establishment than are the courts. And what Huber misses is that in circuit court, you could draw a Negro judge or a John B. Swainson (former Democratic governor, a liberal)," says Craig.

But while he sees plenty of chances for courts to be more liberal than the CRC, Craig feels the CRC has the advantage of working much faster than the courts. "The courts are so damn slow, they'll just further delay fair housing," he adds.

THE INDIVIDUAL HOMEOWNER is one of the centers of Kuhn's attention.

In his own bill and amendments, Kuhn has tried to get the homeowner who sells his house without help exempted from the fair housing law.

Kuhn cites the State Supreme Court's opinion in the case of Beech Grove Investment Co., which allegedly refused to sell a lot in the Bloomfield area to a Negro couple from Inkster.

Said the court: "There is a civil right to private housing... where... that housing has been publicly offered for sale by one who is in the business of selling housing to the public." In that case, the Negro had read

Two Bills Spell Them Out

What's An 'Unfair Housing Practice'?

Despite Sen. George Kuhn's disagreements with the Romney Administration's proposed "fair housing bill," both the administration bill (SB 804) and Kuhn's substitute contain virtually identical language on what would be outlawed.

They're also similar in the kind of housing deals that would be exempted from the law.

CHAPTER 2 of both bills defines "unfair housing practices."

It provides that "an owner, a real estate broker or salesman, or any other person" may not rely on "race, color, religion or national origin" for any of the following activities:

"(a) To refuse to negotiate for a real estate transaction with a person...

"(b) To refuse to engage in a real estate transaction with a person...

"(c) To discriminate against a person in the terms, conditions or privileges of a real estate transaction or in the furnishing of facilities or services...

"(d) To refuse to receive from, or to fail to transmit to, a person, a bona fide offer to engage in a real estate transaction...

"(e) To represent to a person that real property is not available for inspection, sale, rental or lease when in fact it is so available, or to fail to bring a property listing to his attention, or to refuse to permit him to inspect real property...

"(f) To publish or advertise, directly or indirectly, an intent to make a limitation, specification or discrimination...

"(g) To use a form of application for a real estate transaction for the purpose of making a limitation, specification or discrimination...

"(h) To make a record or inquiry in connection with a prospective real estate transaction which indicates the race, color, religion or national origin of a person.

"(i) To offer, solicit, accept, use or retain a listing of real property with the understanding that a person may be discriminated against in a real estate transaction or in the furnishing of facilities or services...

"SEC. 202. It is an unfair housing practice for a person to whom application is made for financial assistance in connection with a real estate transaction or for the construction, rehabilitation, repair, maintenance or improvement of real property, or a representative of such a person:

"(a) To discriminate against the applicant because of race, color, religion or national origin.

"(b) To use a form of application for financial assistance or to make or keep a record or inquiry in connection with applications for financial assistance which indicates, directly or indirectly, the race, color, religion or national origin of the applicant..."

SEC. 204 prohibits the practice of what is commonly called "block-busting." Often employed in Detroit in recent years, "block-busting" means scaring practically everyone in a neighborhood into selling out because of an influx of Negroes.

The section makes it an unfair housing practice for a person who may gain financially to "induce a real estate transaction" by using the following methods:

"(a) To represent that a change has occurred or will or may occur in the composition with respect to race, color, religion or national origin of the owners or occupants in the block, neighborhood or area in which the real property is located, or

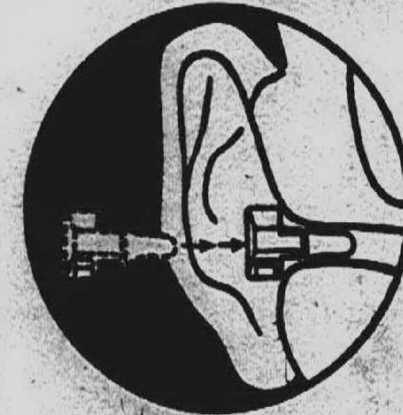

"(b) To represent that this change will or may result in the lowering of property values, an increase in criminal or antisocial behavior or a decline in the quality of schools in the block, neighborhood or area in which the real property is located..."

"Sec. 205. It is an unfair housing practice:

"(a) To retaliate or discriminate against a person because he has opposed an unfair housing practice, or because he has made a charge, filed a complaint, testified, assisted or participated in an investigation, proceeding or hearing under this act..."

CHAPTER 3 of both bills provides for "exclusions" — that is, the rules about "unfair housing practices" don't apply in some cases. For example:

Cranbrook Schedules German Metal Exhibition

An outstanding exhibition of contemporary German metal design is the new show which will open in Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries on April 13 and will remain up through May 5.

"Metal: Germany" presents items as diverse as candlesticks, cutlery, tabernacle doors and pendants. They were selected by Paul Smith for the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York City, where the exhibition was first shown, and are now touring the country under the auspices of the Smithsonian Institution.

OLD METAL-WORKING methods such as granulation have been rediscovered and put to use by modern craftsmen in West Germany and certain of their techniques of obtaining colors recall Renaissance jewelwork.

Yet Germany's famous Bauhaus simplicity is there, however, and "form-follows-function" in much of the flatware and tableware. The most advanced techniques—electrical welding, the use of the cutting torch, centrifugal casting and oxidation—add variety to the works.

Although many of the pieces are models of mass-produced items, the works included are splendid examples of how the beauty of the material can be enhanced by the design.

Rudolph Rochelt's aluminum and steel candelabrum has flexible joints.

HAS IT EVER OCCURRED TO YOU

THAT YOU MIGHT BE DIFFERENT?

Teen Posters Show Concern With Justice For Minority Groups

By CLAIRE DIETZ

Society is rough on teenagers, and you might expect that if they were invited to comment on the theme of "Social Justice," there would be a lot of concern with their own status as second-class citizens.

Not so. Last week, Livonia Mall sponsored a poster exhibit and contest for area high school students. The contest drew 62 entries from Plymouth, Stevenson, Thurston, Farmington and Northville high schools.

And for most of the students, "Social Justice" meant rights and opportunity for minority groups.

THE DEPTH of feeling expressed in the posters may have been surprising to the adults who viewed the exhibit. Indeed, some of the posters seemed to be aimed directly at the prejudice or apathy which many teenagers see in suburban adults.

One asked: "Has it ever occurred to you that you might be different?"

Another featured two sets of pictures: half clipped from society magazines and advertisements plugging "the good life"; half clipped from articles on famine in India, hopelessness in the ghetto and poverty in Appalachia. The two sets of pictures were divided by a wide red line. The title, pasted above the good life pictures: "Darling, How Divine..."

The posters which weren't concerned with civil rights or better opportunity for the poor dealt with war. Some focused on Vietnam; the others simply pleaded for peace. None of the artists saw the war in Vietnam as the road to social justice.

THERE ARE ADULTS who say that kids in high school don't care about anything except their boyfriends, girlfriends and whether they get the family car on weekends. It may be that there are even some adults who would rather have it that way.

One mother, as she looked at the poster with images of struggle and suffering ringing a mirror which demands "Take a look," said:

"I don't know. If my child had all of that in his heart, I think I'd be frightened. But then, maybe he does, and just can't express it."

The contest was judged by Sam Field, an area artist, and Frank McGuire, an advertising executive.

Four top winners: Rick Culling, of Stevenson, for "Mind Excursion," (best of show); Greg Gorham, of Stevenson, for "Take a Look," (first for originality); Mary Herb, of Ladywood, for "Rings of Prejudice," (first for humor); Chris Schechner, of Plymouth, for "Has it ever occurred to you..." (first for artistic achievement). Prize money totaled $345.

AAUW Has Voice On Council

Mrs. Eugene Schoemich will represent the Farmington branch of the American Association of University Women on a steering committee formed with an eye to developing an Oakland County Arts Coordinating Council.

The committee is chaired by John Carlisle, assistant director of community services at Oakland Community College. The group has applied to the Michigan State Council for the Arts for a $2,500 grant to hire a part-time person who can conduct a survey of Oakland County during the next year to determine current cultural programs and organizations available in the county. According to Carlisle, the survey will also attempt to evaluate programs.

THEY ARE: Sixten Ehrling, conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and John Fernald, founder of the John Fernald Repertory Company of the Meadow Brook Theater.

Area Blood Donors Can Aid Sally

An appeal for blood donors for a five-year-old Waterford Township girl, hospitalized since last September with a blood deficiency which contributes to uncontrolled hemorrhaging, has met with overwhelming response.

She is Sally Harrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Harrington. Sally has aplastic anemia, a condition in which a blood component producing clotting is lacking. The slightest bruise will produce a hemorrhage.

The child, in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital at Pontiac, presently requires 50 pints of new blood a week and at the time the appeal for blood donors was made earlier this week her parents had been billed for 360 units used in transfusions. (The commercial cost of a pint of blood is from $22.50 to $25.)

A Red Cross official later this week, however, reported the 360 pints had been replaced by donors answering the appeal.

There is a continuing need for donors in the case, although no emergency now exists, the official said.

Individuals or groups desiring to contribute blood in the months ahead should telephone the Livonia Red Cross office, 422-2787, to make appointments.

The youngster's case shows an indication of remission with medical authorities hoping she eventually will be cured.

Petroleum is the correct name for oil, the word coming from the Latin meaning "rock oil." This name was given to it when, in ancient times, men saw petroleum oozing from the earth's surface.

Easter Bunny Cakes

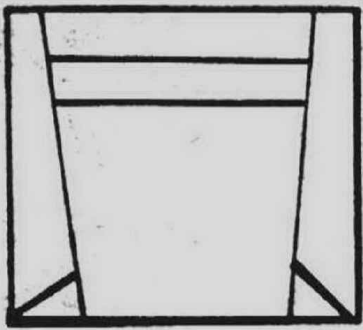

Here's How To Give Pastry A Special Touch For Kids

By JOYCE TOTTEN

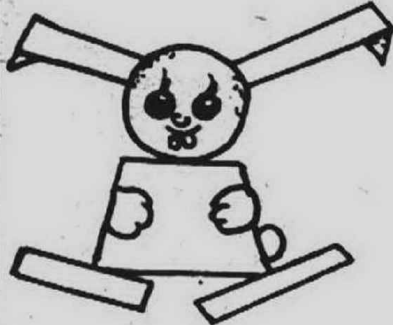

Children are usually more than willing to help you prepare something in the kitchen. With Easter approaching this would be a good time to have some fun and make an Easter Bunny cake.

You can use a cake mix of your choice or make your favorite cake from scratch. You need to bake an 8-inch round and an 8-inch square cake.

Cut the square cake as shown here.

Now put the pieces together on a tray, like this. You could also use a large piece of heavy cardboard and cover with foil as this cake is large when completed.

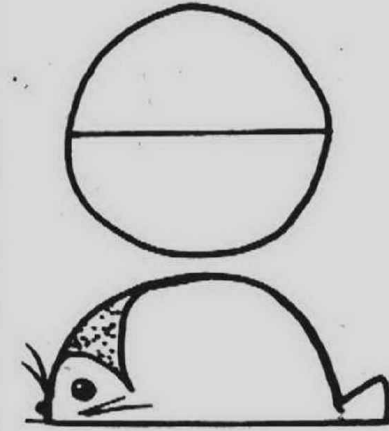

Cover with fluffy, yellow-tinted frosting. Then top with plenty flaked coconut.

Use mints and gumdrops for eyes, a candy for a wiggly nose, candy-coated gum for smelly front teeth and marshmallows for a tall and paws. Licorice is used for the eye lashes and marking the paws.

If you want to make one that is easier and you're creative here is one to try.

Bake one 8-inch round cake. Cut the cake in half. Set the two halves side by side on a plate with both cut sides down. Then cut a notch out of the side to distinguish between body and the head. Insert the notch that you just cut on the opposite end for the tail.

Cover with fluffy white frosting. Coat with coconut. Tint some coconut green to place around the bunny and place miniature jelly beans in the coconut. Ears may be cut from construction paper. Use candy for the eyes, licorice for the whiskers.

Use Caution In Dry Cleaning

When clothes smell of dry-cleaning fluid after coming from a coin-op establishment, it's a good idea to air the garments thoroughly before wearing or storing. Hang them outdoors or in a well-ventilated room. Do not use plastic hangers.

Sometimes enough solvent is left in heavy fabrics or shoulder pads to soften the plastic although the fabric doesn't feel damp. The hanger will stick to the fabric and will be hard to remove without damaging the garment.

Meat Relish Adds Zing!

A popular meat accompaniment in Hawaii is Hot Pineapple Jelly. Made with dried chili peppers, the Mainland version has a hint of tart-sweet and lots of that bite that makes it excellent with beef, lamb or roast fowl. This is jelly making time, so include a few glasses of this specialty while you have the cookers, paraffin and sterilizers in operation. Then use them as hostess gifts at holiday time.

Hot Pineapple Jelly

2 1/4 cups Hawaiian Pineapple Juice (No. 2 or 1 pt., 2 oz. can)
3/4 cup cider vinegar
5 1/2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon crushed or chopped* chilies (dried small hot whole red peppers)
1 bottle liquid fruit pectin
Combine and mix pineapple juice, vinegar, sugar and chilies in a large saucepan. Place over high heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in liquid fruit pectin; then bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and carefully skim off foam with metal spoon. The pieces of chili shell tend to float to the top; leave as many in the jelly as possible for color. Pour quickly into sterilized glasses. Cover jelly at once with 1/4 inch hot paraffin. NOTE: *Wash hot substance from hands after chopping chilies.

Veteran Recalls Days When Area Had Two Papers

I was just thinking this morning (Monday, 4/1/1968) as I looked over and read most of your last week's issue of the MAIL AND OBSERVER and thought of what a wonderful paper you are getting out each week—wonderful for the advertiser and wonderful for the public that is supporting such a fine publication—what Myles F. Gray would do if he could see a few issues of your paper. And thereby hangs a tale, so far untold in the annals of Plymouth newspapers.

Myles F. Gray was the publisher of a small, second-hand paper that was known as THE NORTH END INDEPENDENT and was a competitor of THE PLYMOUTH MAIL. It had its office over the Jolliffe general store in the north end. Myles was the sole owner, proprietor and publisher, as well as printer, compositor, pressman and what-have-you.

Myles and Bert Baker were later proprietors of the Plymouth Mail, but quite a story evolved before they finally got control of it.

As near as I can remember, and my memory of events in those days is pretty clear, the former proprietor of The Mail wanted to sell, and Messrs. Gray and Baker wanted to buy. The only thing that stood in the way was money—and the price. The owner wanted $3,800 for The Mail and all that pertained thereto, and Baker and Gray cogitated separately and individually for quite a while and concluded that the price was an even $1,000 too high. And as they had only a few hundred to pay down, a thousand dollars made a big difference to them.

SO, WHAT did they decide to do? Why nothing more than start a second paper in Plymouth. They worked out a plan whereby Baker would keep his job in an out-in-the-state paper and save what he could toward the down price to be paid for The Mail. Gray would run the new paper, THE NORTH END INDEPENDENT alone and unaided, except for a local news reporter, which proved to be myself. I was taking a course in journalism at the time and what could be better than putting my studies to work at an actual job, even though the pay was miserably small.

THE INDEPENDENT got out its first issue in late summer of 1967. I chased local news all around the town and surrounding territory. Our main contemporary then, and which was to remain a thorn in the side of the Plymouth Mail as well as all the small papers surrounding Detroit, was The Detroit Courier, a 16-page paper filled to overflowing with local jottings from every conceivable corner of Wayne County.

In one issue it might have 150 or better correspondents groups from all over the county. Small, personal, intimate and interesting items that everybody read and talked about. Such items as: "Hi there Liz; glad to see you're wearing that little diamond at last. Good luck, Liz," and so on and on and on.

THE CORRESPONDENTS who totaled probably two or three hundred were paid nothing, but got The Courier free with writing paper, envelopes and stamps, plus the honor of being a writer on a paper. Naturally, such a paper attracted advertising from every section of Wayne County to the disadvantage of the papers in the various towns. Until The Courier went out of business with the coming of the automobile, this kept small town papers in Wayne County on the neglected list as far as advertising was concerned, for everybody, and I mean everybody, took The Courier.

The idea back of the North End Independent was that if the new paper caught on—and Gray was a hustler from away back—it would make the owner of The Mail reconsider his price of $3,800. And though The Independent wasn't much of a paper, it got quite a lot of local advertising and subscriptions, and did just what

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a series of articles of Plymouth in the old days written by George Mack Adams who began his newspaper career as a "printer's devil" on the local papers. He now is retired and lives in Wyandotte.

Baker and Gray had anticipated. After a few months of operation—I think it was a little over six months—the owner of The Mail capitulated and Baker and Gray became owners and publishers of The Mail.

While The Independent was being published several big things happened and because of my father's interest and intimacy with the farmers, I got an unusual lot of news that The Mail had never had. One great piece of news at that time was an epidemic of trichinosis, a disease caused by trichina in the intestinal tract and the muscles, resulting from eating diseased or infected pork. Over a period of several months, over two score of farmers, their wives and children died from the dread disease. Several score more were sick and lingered between life and death. I took my father's horse and wagon and "covered" that epi-demically, and the Independent made good on a serious event in Plymouth's history.

AFTER OPERATING several months, Gray traded his small outfit for a merry-go-round and operated it just once, at the Redford Fair, where I accompanied him and acted as ticket seller. I shall never forget the four nights sleeping in a blanket on the cold ground and eating the food that is dished out at a fair. A bed never has felt so good in the 70 years that have passed as it did the night I returned home. Gray made money at that fair and sold the outfit as a result of his luck there and thus was able to lay on the line his share of the down payment on the Plymouth Mail.

I would give a good deal right now to see a copy of that Plymouth North-End Independent for it contained several articles of that time that proved interesting then and would be even more so today as relics or keepsakes.

Township Sets Meeting Dates For New Year

With the coming of a new fiscal year for Plymouth Township, the board Tuesday night formally approved its meeting dates and place for the next 12 months.

The procedure of approving the time and place for upcoming meetings was done strictly for legal purposes since only one date was changed from the previous year's schedule.

As always, the township board will meet in the township hall at 42350 Ann Arbor Road on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month with the exception of June, July, August and December.

The second meeting in December was deleted because it fell on Christmas Eve.

Township Keeps All Officials For New Term

The Plymouth Township Board made it official Tuesday night by re-appointing the attorney, engineer, auditor and planning consultant.

Ralph Cole was named attorney, Herald Hamill was named engineer, Walter Markin, C.P.A., was named auditor, and W.C. Johnson, of the Waring and Johnson firm, was made planning consultant.

NEW LEO CALHOUN FORD headquarters on Plymouth Road opened last week.

Two Zoning Switches Are Approved

Two zoning requests that have been before the Plymouth Township Board for the last month finally were approved Tuesday night.

Property located on the south side of Plymouth Rd., east of the City of Plymouth, was granted a zoning change from M-1 (Industrial) to C-2 (commercial).

Property directly behind the Calhoun Ford Agency on Plymouth Rd. was changed from C-2 to R-2-A (garden apartment).

Property located on the south side of Plymouth Rd. east of the City of Plymouth and connecting to the above mentioned property that fronts on Plymouth Rd. was changed from M-1 to C-2.

THE FIRST change the board approved was given to property owned by Harold Fischer. He informed the board that he is planning to sell the parcels in parts to two automobile agencies.

The second change was made to have the area around the Calhoun Ford Agency that was already zoned for apartments conform to the same zoning.

The third zoning request was granted to Allan Tann, who will begin construction of 192 apartment units as soon as his preliminary plot plan is approved by the Township Planning Commission.

The township board had balked at approving the rezoning requests of Tann and Fischer because there was no outlet from the proposed apartment indicated by Tann from the proposed apartment complex to Plymouth Rd.

IN ORDER to have an access to Plymouth Rd., Tann would have to purchase 40 feet of land from Fischer so that there would be a 60 foot concrete road from the complex to the road.

Fischer agreed to sell the 40 feet and Tann agreed to buy—all in writing—and in this light, the board approved their requests.

Tann already had access to 20 feet for a roadway but the board felt this was not adequate to support a possible 192 cars using it every day.

Leo Calhoun Realizes His Fondest Dream

A long cherished dream came true for Leo Calhoun during the past week when he moved into his new headquarters on Plymouth Rd.

"When I started in the automobile business after getting out of school in 1949," he said with an air of satisfaction, "I dreamed of some day having a big auto agency of my own in an enterprising community. Now, here it is."

It was a big step for Leo to take as he was moving away from a downtown location that had been a traditional landmark in Plymouth. In that historic sight he was carrying on a business that had been started by Paul Wiedman almost a half century ago.

"I HATED to leave the old place," Leo said, "but this new place is what I always dreamed about—and now it is a reality."

The new setting provides the start of what is planned to be a new "automobile row" in Plymouth. It is understood that Leo soon will have the company of other dealers.

According to Leo, his new site contains 640,000 square feet and has 57 service stalls.

"And would you believe it," he chuckled, "we already are planning an addition to the body shop in the vacant eight acre plot just next to us."

LEO HAD HIS baptism in the automobile business under the tutelage of Louis Rose in Detroit. Later, he served as general manager for Stu Evans in Wayne and came to Plymouth to take over the Wiedman agency in 1962.

"We had phenomenal success from the start and we just grew out of the old place."

Born in Caseville, Leo received his early education in Port Huron and later attended the University of Michigan, where he majored in math and psychology, with religion and ethics as his field of concentration.

"I was the only one in the religious concentration group," he smiled, "and there was no teacher for it. So, I had quite a time."

The religious training did prove helpful, however, for he spent five years as a preacher in the Methodist Church.

He is married and has two children.

He has come a long way in the automobile business to realize his most cherished dream.

Fire Calls Set Record In Township

The month of March was the busiest month Plymouth Township Fire Department has ever known.

A record number of 50 runs was made by township firemen. This compares to 30 runs in March 1967.

Thirty-six of the 50 runs were for fires, and the bulk of these were grass fires. Nearly all of the grass fires occurred along the railroad tracks.

The amount of water pumped in March 1968 was 3,435 gallons as compared with 1,860 in March 1967. Also, the total fire department runs for the first three months of the new year was 107, which was 38 more than was made by this same period last year.

Easter Week SERVICES

Science Churches Set Easter Topic

"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in all Christian Science Churches on Easter Sunday.

The Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, at 20011 Grand River, at Evergreen, will have the lesson at two services, at 9 and 10:30 a.m. In Plymouth, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail, begins its service at 10:30 a.m. All services are open to the public.

SELECTIONS from the Bible include this verse from Isaiah: "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else."

Among citations from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy are these lines: "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made."

In the Detroit church, a special Easter solo entitled "First Eastern Morn," by John Prindle Scott, will be sung by Mrs. Ellen Killeen.

MRS. MARIE WITHAM, at the organ, will play "Cibavit Eos" by Everett Tipcomb, "Offertoire for Easter," by Francois Dandrieu and the "Hallelujah Chorus," by Handel.

The Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist, also has a Sunday school session every Sunday at 10:30 a.m. Children and young people up to the age of 20 are accepted. The Sunday school teaching includes study of the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health," adapted to the students' age level.

A reading room located in the church building is open daily from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., except Sundays, when the hours are 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. The reading room provides a quiet place to study the works and periodicals available there on the subject of Christian Science. The various books and literature on the subject also are on sale there.

Easter Plants To Be Sold

Easter plants and cor-sages will be sold by members of St. Robert's Altar Sodality in St. Robert Bel-larmine Church Hall, 27101 W. Chicago at Inkster, for three days before Easter.

Vigil Hour For Ford Workers Set Friday

The Good Friday family noc-turnal vigil hour for Ford em-ployees and friends will be of-fered with a dual intention this year. For the past 19 years, the hour has been a prayer of atone-ment.

"Increasing global tensions prompted the planning commit-tee for the Hour to add the se-cond intention," Committee Chairman James P. Barry, ex-plaind. "We felt the nocturnal hour would provide an excellent opportunity for another com-munity prayer for world peace."

"Since Good Friday became a holiday at Ford Motor three years ago there has been an increase in family attendance at the vigil. Instead of going on to work, employees attending can return home now, permitting them to bring their families along."

Rev. Dennis Harritty, princi-pal of Shrine High School, Royal Oak, will be the guest speaker at the 5 a.m. service April 12th in St. Aloysius Church in down-town Detroit.

YOUNG AND GAY -- Rehearsals keep Wyllow Waloch, (left) who plays Cornelia Skinner, and Debbie Eyerman, who is Emily Kimbrough, busy as they prepare for the April 27 and 28 production.

Ladywood Stages 'Our Hearts Were Young...'

A musical-comedy of the 1920s, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," will combine the talents of the music and drama departments at Ladywood High School, Livonia, April 27 and 28, at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Based on the book by Cornelia Otis Skinner and adapted to a musical by Lois B. Carey, the story involves two young American girls, Cornelia Skinner (Wyllow Walloch '68) and Emily Kimbrough (Debbie Eyerman '68) on a madcap 1920 European holiday.

Romance on the high seas, a measles quarantine on the ship, and bedbugs in Paris, are only three of the problems the girls confront.

The scenery and dramatic action will be supervised by Sr. M. Franchene and the members of the drama department.

The musical numbers will be presented by the choral department under the direction of Sr. M. Franchene.

Included on the passenger list is Judy Krempa '68, as Cornelia's mother.

Of the 140 girls who are involved in the production, the following are cast in the musical:

Seniors: Mary Ellen Plasko, Charlene Gusti, Cathy Scruggs, Karen Howza, Janet Kula, Beverly Skene, Carol Degi, Mary Renauer, Pam Pisan, Cathy Chaput, Janice Kallnowski, Debbie Demaline, Barb McCormick, and Rita Hosey.

Juniors: Nancy Cousins, Rita Rackley, Fran Garbinski, Marianne Stepanian, Sue Rosiek, and Ann Alger.

The musical accompaniment for the production is performed by members of the Ladywood orchestra augmented by guest string performers and brass instrumentalists.

Tickets will be $1.25 and can be purchased from any choral member.

Hints For Baby Sitter

If you are a baby-sitter, or about to become one, there are certain things you should know to help you do the job well, says the American Insurance Association.

The Association offers these suggestions:

• Your first baby-sitting jobs should be for parents you already know, and with children you already know. A good personal relationship with parents and children is essential, and you can develop such a relationship effectively if your first jobs are with people who know you, and know you are responsible, reliable, and like children.

• If the family has a watchdog, make friends with it immediately. You can't do a good job unless the dog is on your side.

• Before you start the baby-sitting job, ask the parents to show you all the exits, so you can select the best one if fire occurs. Ask them to provide you with the name and phone number of the family doctor, for use in case of emergency. Know how to call the police.

• Keep the children out of the kitchen, if possible, and make sure that matches are out of the children's reach. Children also should be kept away from electric cords and appliances--these are not playthings.

• Have the parents provide you with a flashlight for use in case the lights should fail.

• Ask the parents to tell you at what hour they expect to return, and to telephone you if they are unavoidably delayed.

• And keep this in mind always: In case of fire, get the children out of the house immediately, and ask a neighbor to call the fire department, in that order. After that, notify the parents about the fire.

..... OF DINING AND FINE WINE

BY STATON LORENZ
Special Writer

Last week, I mentioned that American wines have customarily been given European names corresponding most closely to the American wines' characteristics, such as rhine or burgundy.

Now let's take a look at the naming procedure for French and German wines.

This may sound a bit confusing until we discuss the naming procedure for French and German wines. In these two countries the town and vineyard name appear on labels to denote finer wines. The grower's name and, when pertinent, the shipper's name are marks of quality.

TO ILLUSTRATE, let's expand on a generic name like claret.

The English coined this name from the French word "claret," used to denote a light, red wine from Bordeaux centuries ago. Today claret is found on American labels and means only that the wine is dry and red, hopefully. The grape used in California and in Bordeaux to make claret is the Cabernet Sauvignon, hence, the "varietal" wine so named.

The French do not call their wines by varietal names because the vast production from one type grape from one region alone would leave no method of quality determination.

Through the decades, certain French regions, districts, townships and parishes have become famous for their quality wines in general. Famous chateaux, estates or castles have a reputation as well, and more people are recognizing these names on labels.

The grower's name will usually be found on "chateau bottled" and "estate bottled" wines, another mark that will help you remember a favorite wine. Since many growers often share the same vineyard, the grower's name may be your only means of picking out a wine again.

THE FRENCH ALSO have what is called "appellation controllee" meaning, controlled naming, to be discussed in detail in a future column. Briefly, it guarantees the origin and authenticity of a wine made in France. Each district or region has its own "appellation controllee," and the words appear on all honest wines.

Wines of Bordeaux are labeled with the word "chateau" preceding the vineyard name. Chateau Latour is an example of a classic Bordeaux wine from Pauillac (a commune) in the Medoc (a district in the Bordeaux region located just north of the city of Bordeaux and bordered on the west by the Atlantic and the east by the Gironde estuary). "Appellation Controllee Pauillac" appear on the label, very specific.

The words, "Mis en Bottelles au Chateau" or "Estate Bottled" appear on wines grown and bottled only on land owned by the chateau or estate. This is important protection against adulteration of good wines with cheaper filler wines grown in Algeria, for example.

GERMANY HAS TWO major wine producing regions, the banks of the Mosel-Saar-Ruwer and the Rhine rivers. Wines here are named most accurately and uniformly throughout the country and even down to the precise cask or "fuder" if need be.

German labels put the town name first in adjectival form, such as, Piesporter, meaning the town of Piesport. A person from Detroit is a Detroiter. Then the vineyard name follows, such as, Goldtropfchen, and the grape name (not used on less expensive wines), Riesling, may also be tacked on.

The label would then read, Piesporter Goldtropfchen Riesling.

FURTHER ADDITIONS to this would indicate what degree of sweetness may be present, relative to the year in question only, as is determined by how late the picking takes place in the season.

Late-picked wines called, "Spätlese," are liable to have more sugar, less acid and higher quality than those harvested at the regular harvest.

"Auslese" means the grapes were picked later yet and selected bunch by bunch; the more shriveled the grapes become, the sweeter the wine as the sun drives out the water and leaves sugar in higher percentages, like raisins.

"Beerenauslese" (picked off berries) or a "Trockenbeerenauslese" (raisined and picked off berries) wine will be a very sweet one indeed and cost hundreds of dollars a case.

GERMAN WINES are estate bottled, as in France, and the equivalent words used to say so are, "Original-Abfüllung" (original bottled) or "Keller-Abfüllung" (cellar bottled). The owner or vintner will add his name and so would a shipper, of necessity.

Liebfraumilch and Mosellumpchen are two generic exceptions to these naming and labeling practices. Both are blended wines of no real specific origin and frequently are poor values.

Liebfraumilch comes only from the southern Rhineland and the other from up and down the Mosel. Both can be beautiful, but neither is considered great.

ITALY HAS a universal system for naming and classifying its wines yet. This is said, but Italian wines found in America are not that many and varied, so little study will be needed. Basically the wines represent grape names, place and vineyard names and generic names of geographical significance.

Italian varietal wines are named after these popular grapes: Nebbiolo, Barbera, Dolcetto, Friesa, Grignolino, Lambrusco and Sangiovese.

Most wines not having a grape name are named for a place or group of hill vineyards such as Soave or Barolo (little Italian towns). Valpolicella and Chianti are sort of geographical place names, both being grown in strictly delimited regions. Chianti has been misrepresented and still is, but the classical Chianti of Tuscany can be regal indeed. A seal with a little black rooster on it appears near the top of the bottle on true Chianti.

GENERALLY, there is very little Italian wine made that is estate bottled. This is not bad because they do pretty much the same thing as Americans. Large wineries dot the countryside with such famous names as Bolla, Cinzano, Ferrari and Brolio.

Here is some pleasant homework for you. Pick up a bottle of American or Italian "Varietal" wine for the weekend. Incidentally half-bottles of two varieties give twice the experience at one meal.

COMEDY AND BEAUTY — Theater goers will be rewarded with both when the Farmington Players production of "Barefoot in the Park" opens April 19 in the Players Barn. Eileen Waldecker and Norm Hosking, the leads, are shown in rehearsal. The play will run for three weekends.

'Phantom' Is Early Classic

A monster of a man will once more stealthily emerge from murky sewers Sunday, April 7, to snatch away his terrified victim.

The brilliant 1925 horror film, "The Phantom of the Opera," starring the "king of makeup artists," Lon Chaney, will be shown in the Henry Ford Museum theater at 2 and 4 p.m.

The scary but sad melodrama follows the hideously deformed Erik (the Phantom) as he seeks revenge on the person responsible for the ruin of his face, fame and fortune.

The cold damp underground catacombs and the lavish interior of the Opera House are only a few of the film's elaborate settings not easily equalled even by today's modern movies.

The climax of this silent epic comes near to bringing the roof down on the Opera House audience, when a huge swinging chandelier crashes to the floor unmasking and crushing Erik.

There is no admission to view any of Henry Ford Museum's weekly Famous Early Movies other than the normal entrance fee to the Museum.

"Peck's Bad Boy With The Circus," starring Tommy Kelly and Edgar Kennedy will be next week's feature along with a compilation of Mack Sennett comedy highlights, "Happy Times and Jolly Moments."

Tigers, Red Sox Open Season Tuesday

Play Ball!
The old cry will ring out at Tiger Stadium Tuesday when the Detroit Tigers lift the lid on the 1968 American League season facing the Boston Red Sox.

No more appropriate opener could have been arranged by the American League. It was Boston which beat out the Tigers for the junior circuit flag last season, with the Bosox margin of victory being one game and coming on the final day of the season. The Red Sox had negotiated a stunning upset. They were listed at from 75-100 to 1 going into the 1967 season.

Notwithstanding their title finish of a year ago, the Bosox can't find too many who think they'll repeat.

Instead, it's the Tigers who appear to have excited most experts, although Minnesota and Chicago are rated as major threats to Detroit along with the California Angels.

The Bosox are figured for around fifth place.

THE TIGERS appear ready to spring off to a flying start. After three weeks of indifferent action in exhibition play, the Tigers last week finally started "putting everything together."

They received solid pitching, good defense and some mighty hitting.

The item that makes the Tigers happiest is a healthy Willie Horton.

An ailing heel kept Horton sidelined for almost a third of last season. When he did play, he never operated at 100 per cent.

But Horton underwent off-season surgery, which has made his heel sound again.

His big bat has been rocking the fences in Florida, prompting Tiger Manager Mayo Smith to say:

"With Willie available to us for fulltime work, well, it sure will make a BIG difference."

A SOUND Horton gives the Tigers the best outfield in either league. He'll be in left with Al Kaline in right and either Mickey Stanley or Jim Northrup in center.

All four have had fine springs and Stanley even showed in a game last week against the White Sox that he could do the job for the Tigers at first base, if needed.

But the starting first baseman against Boston will be Norm Cash. Dick McAuliffe will be at second, Ray Oyler at short and Don Wert at third.

Tommy Matchick, a rookie, will stick around to help out and there's also the veteran Eddie Mathews, who can play either first or third.

Catching is a bright spot for the Tigers, especially when Bill Freehan is healthy.

The same has to be said about the pitching where the Tigers boast the best group of starters in either league—Earl Wilson, Mickey Lolich, Dennis McLain and Joe Sparma.

IF THE TIGERS have a problem, it could be in relief pitching. But Manager Smith doesn't seem to be worried.

"In the past week, fellows like Mike Marshall, Dennis Riant and Fred Lasher all have done excellent jobs for us coming out of the bullpen. So has Pat Dobson.

"We'll be okay, I'm sure."

While the Tigers plunge happily into the new season, the defending champion Red Sox have their problems.

Missing from their roster Tuesday will be Jim Lonborg, their ace pitcher. He's still recovering from a torn knee, suffered while skiing the day before Christmas.

With Lonborg absent, the Bosox will probably send Jose Santiago to the hill.

Bosox also is worried about Tony Conigliaro, their great outfielder who was beamed last Aug. 18.

CONIGLIARO STILL complains of split vision when batting and wasn't able to complete spring training. He was sent home to undergo new tests after doing very little with his bat in Florida.

He struck out 22 times in 66 at bats in Florida and whiffed on eight of his last 10 appearances before the Bosox sent him home.

Until he was felled by a pitch delivered by Jack Hamilton of the Yankees, Conigliaro was hitting .287 and had poked out 20 homers.

The Bosox aren't the only contender ailing. Minnesota won't have star pitcher Jim Kaat around for at least three weeks. He has an ailing left arm.

Bengals Sight Opening Record

The Detroit Tigers may attract a record Tiger Stadium opening day crowd for their battle with the Boston Red Sox Tuesday.

Much will depend, of course, on the weatherman.

In 1960 the Tigers beat Chicago, 6-5, before a turnout of 53,563. The thermometer hit 80 degrees that day.

The customary opening day ceremonies will mark Tuesday's getaway action.

The parade to the flag pole will start at 1:05 p.m. There will be presentations at home plate, after which Gov. George Romney and Mayor Jerome Cavanagh will participate in throwing out the first pitch.

They have formed the starting pair since 1963.

If Tuesday's game is knocked out by the weather, the two teams will try again on Wednesday. Boston also is scheduled for a game on Thursday afternoon at the stadium.

THE TIGERS will remain home for the weekend to meet Chicago on Saturday and Sunday. Cleveland then comes in on April 17-18.

Observer area fans may purchase tickets for Tiger games at J. L. Hudson's at Westland.

The major league season actually begins on Monday with three games.

Minnesota plays at Washington in the American League in the traditional contest at which the president usually tosses out the first pitch.

Other duties are expected to keep President Johnson from being present. It's likely that Vice-President Humphrey will handle the honors.

There'll be two games in the National League—Chicago at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at

UCLA To Face Houston

LOS ANGELES -- UCLA's Athletic Director J.D. Morgan announced the Bruins 1968-69 basketball schedule and among their up-coming opponents will be three of this season's hottest rivals.

The schedule includes Houston, which was the only team to beat UCLA this year and whom the Bruins knocked out of championship play, and Ohio State plus participation in the Holiday Festival in New York in which North Carolina will play.

UCLA also beat North Carolina to win this year's NCAA championship.

Falcon Trackmen Show Power In First Meet

The Williams boys are off and running for Farmington high school in track.

So are Russ LaFever and Chris Brown.

All of which helped the Falcons romp to an easy verdict over Garden City West and Franklin in a triangular meet Thursday.

RU Wins Triangular Meet

John Morrison and Dennis Fifield each won two events Tuesday as Redford Union High's track team roared to an easy victory in a triangular meet with Fordson and Franklin.

Redford Union posted 74 points while Fordson had 43 and Franklin 31.

Morrison won both the hurdles, stepping the highs in the time of 14.9 seconds and hitting the finish first in the lows in 20.2 seconds.

Fifield, a star on RU's basketball team during the recent season, clicked off speedy performances in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, posting respective winning times of 10.4 and 23.7 seconds.

Rick Kenyon won the pole vault for RU with a performance of 11 feet, six inches, while Bob Junk captured the mile in 4:41.

RU also triumphed in both relays. Fifield, Bob Plantrich, Bill Mieras and George Corom teamed up in the 880-yard relay, carrying the baton in 1:34.5.

In the mile relay it was Corom, Larry Moore, Dennis Kenny and Jim Childress in 3:37.8.

Franklin came up with three individual winners in the meet.

Bob Rogalski won the long jump with a leap of 19 feet while Rob Kelsey, a transfer student, captured the two-mile in the very excellent time of 9:54 and Paul Lucas the 440-yard run in 53.3 seconds.

Kelsey's time of 9:54 set two records—the Franklin varsity mark of 10:05 made by Jack Clark last year and the track standard of 10:12 turned in by Don Yates of Detroit Redford in another meet last year.

Farmington scored 70 points to 41 for West and 37 for Franklin on the Franklin oval.

Larry Williams made the big news for the winners.

Half of the twin brother act which has been exciting Farmington track fans for three years, Larry set a new school record in outkicking Rob Kelsey of Franklin in the two mile.

Larry hit the finish in 9:55.8 to erase his former school mark of 9:57.2 set a year ago.

KELSEY KEPT close behind all the way as he finished just two seconds behind the winner, despite the fact a stiff breeze hit the runners in their faces on the back stretch.

Larry's brother Gary turned in a winning effort of 2:02.3 in the half mile.

Meantime, Brown won the 440-yard run and the long jump and anchored the winning 880-yard Farmington relay with a blazing 22.3-second final "220."

LaFever gained a pair of wins by capturing both the hurdles.

Farmington sought more honors Saturday in the Spartan relays while Franklin prepared to host Bentley in what figures to be an interesting meet Tuesday.

The results:

Two Mile: 1--Larry Williams (F), 2--Kelsey (FR), 3--Casper (W). Time: 9:55.8.

Long Jump: 1--Brown (F), 2--Wilson (W), 3--Rogalski (FR). Distance: 19 feet, 5 1/2 inches.

High Jump: 1--Klawender (F), 2--Ellis (F), 3--Deitz (FR). Height: 5 feet, 8 inches.

880-yard relay: 1--Farmington, 2--West, 3--Franklin.

Lang (FR). Time: 4:51.9.

High Hurdles: 1--LaFever (F), 2--Bernier (F), 3--Smith (W). Time: 15.5 seconds.

2 New Teams

To Pick In May

NEW YORK -- Phoenix won a coin toss from Milwaukee and will have first choice in the National Basketball Association expansion draft.

The two new teams will each select 18 players from the other 12 clubs in the pro draft to be held in New York on May 6.

Shot Put: 1--Gallop (F), 2--Lynott (F), 3--Charniga (FR). Distance: 45 feet, 11 inches.

FARMINGTON HIGH'S hopes for a big track season hinge on the performances of the Williams twins — Larry and Gary. Each started the 1968 campaign with a victory in a triangular meet on Thursday.

Bentley Romps Past Stevenson Trackmen

Bentley High's track team zoomed away to a fast start Thursday by winning its season's opener from city rival Stevenson, 72-46, in a dual meet.

A rainstorm, minutes before the meet, played havoc with the bids of individuals for excellent times, but didn't keep the entries from staging some red-hot fights for honors.

Tom Spuller, Bentley's veteran dashman, accounted for the only double victory when he hit the wire first in both the dashes.

The results:

M Shows Offense In Drills

ANN ARBOR -- Moving through its third week of spring practice, Michigan's football squad has shown definite signs of offensive power, but Coach Bump Elliott is seeking to bring the defense, particularly in the line, up to equal strength.

Spearheaded by halfback Ron Johnson, and Dennis Brown, quarterback, the Wolverine attack unit has shown ability to move the ball, particularly on the ground. Besides the two seniors, lettermen juniors, John Gabler and Garvie Craw, have been performing well at halfback and fullback, respectively.

Johnson, who gained 1,005 yards rushing last year to set a new Michigan record, and Brown who broke two Big Ten total offense marks, seem to have lost none of their ability to advance the ball.

TWO BIG PROBLEMS remain to be solved, however, one at split right end where Jim Berline performed last year, and in the development of the right side of the offensive line.

Bill Harris, a letterman junior from Mount Clemens, injured last year, and veteran defensive back George Hoey, have been operating here. Hoey's shift is not definite as yet, but his fine speed makes him a possibility. Harris also has good speed and a sure pair of hands.

Dave Denzin, who ranked as No. 3 center last year, after playing as a reserve back the year before, is seeing most of the action at the offensive post vacated by Joe Dayton, who started there for three previous seasons. Stan Broadnax, letterman senior tackle, has been shifted to right guard, while Bob Baumgartner, also a senior, has been moved to left guard to replace graduated Ray Phillips.

The Wolverines stepped up their pace this week, hoping to continue outdoor practice. Thus far Coach Elliott has taken his squad inside Yost Field House only once, in contrast to previous seasons when inclement weather has made inside drills the usual order.

The Wolverines will wind up 20 days of spring drill with the annual intrasquad game in Michigan Stadium, Saturday, April 13.

5 Wolverine Gymnasts Enter NCAA Finals

ANN ARBOR -- The University of Michigan gymnastics team, second place winner behind Iowa in the Big Ten championship playoff, will have five men in the NCAA championships at Tucson, Ariz., although the Hawkeyes will be the official Big Ten team representative.

Iowa won the title with Michigan second and Michigan State third. The Spartans also will send a delegation.

The Wolverine quintet which Coach Newt Loken will take to Arizona includes Wayne Miller, midwest trampoliner and former world champion; Dave Jacobs, present Big Ten winner; George Huntzicker, who topped two third places in the Conference meet; Sid Jensen, who took a second and third and Ron Rapper, Big Ten parallel bars titlist. The latter trio are sophomores.

All College Pigskin Tourney Considered

KANSAS CITY -- The possibility of staging a national collegiate football championship next fall is in the air and a National Collegiate Athletic Association study committee met in California last month to discuss the playoffs but no decision was made.

There is talk of an eight team national playoff consisting of four games, one Saturday, a pair of semifinals the following Saturday and the championship game a third Saturday--all in December.

Tigers Edged 5-4

TAMPA, FLA. -- The tigers brought their exhibition season record to nine wins and 13 losses Thursday when they dropped a game to Cincinnati 5-4.

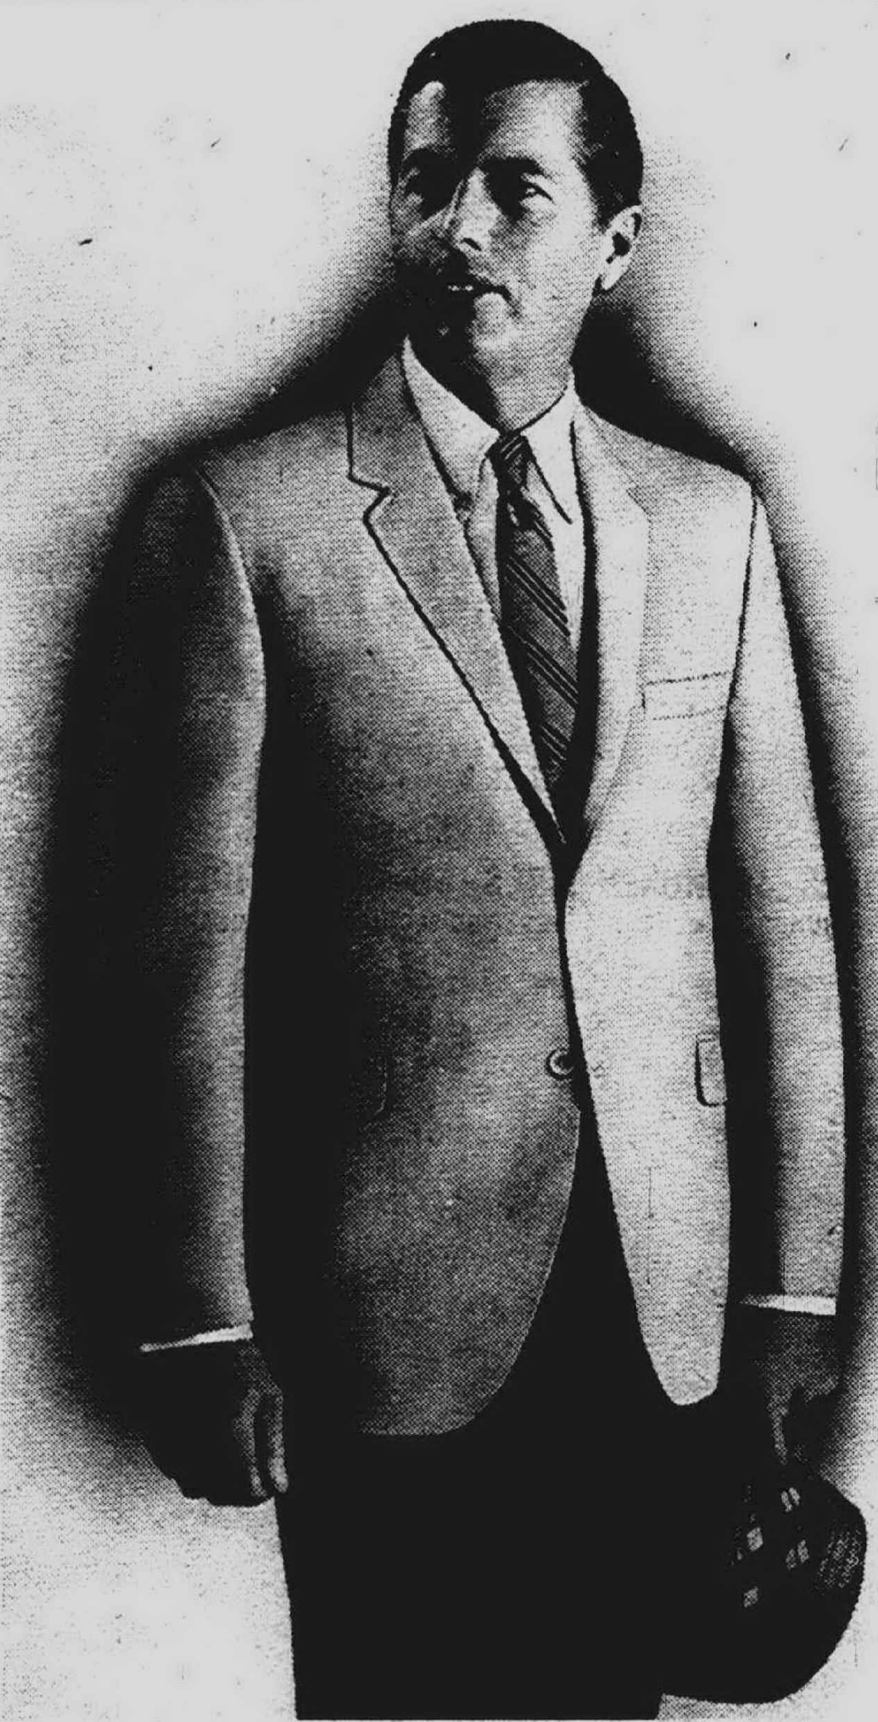

Don Wert cut loose with a wild throw on a perfect double play with the bases loaded which permitted Alex Johnson to score and edge the Bengals in the 14th inning.

Sniper Kills Dr. Martin Luther King In Memphis

By CHARLES THORNTON
Staff Writer

The Commercial Appeal
Special to the Observer
Newspapers

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 5—A sniper shot and killed Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., as he stood on the balcony of a downtown hotel here.

The most intensive manhunt in the city's history was touched off minutes after the shooting.

Violence broke out in Memphis, Nashville, Birmingham, Raleigh, N.C., Washington, New York, and other cities as news of the assassination swept the nation.

NATIONAL leaders including President Johnson and aides close to the slain 39-year-old Nobel Peace Prize winner urged the nation to stand calm and avoid violence.

But the entire nation was tense.

The slaying of Dr. King brought Tennessee National Guardsmen back into Memphis. The entire 11,000 men in the state guard were on duty today.

Memphis was placed under a tight curfew by Mayor Henry Loeb.

All schools will be closed today. Parents were urged to keep their children at home.

A rifle bullet slammed into Dr. King's jaw and neck at 6:01 p.m. He died in the emergency room at St. Joseph's Hospital here at 7:05 p.m.

King, foremost American Civil Rights leader, was alone on the second floor walk of the Lorraine Hotel at 406 Mulberry when the bullet struck.

A young white man is believed to have fired the fatal shot from a nearby building. LOOTERS and vandals roamed the streets despite the imposition of a tight curfew. Shooting was widespread. National Guardsmen were rushed to the North Memphis area after bullets blasted the windshield out of a police car.

Police estimated that more than 150 descended on the Lorraine Hotel in South Memphis, sealed off the area and almost immediately broadcast a description of the sniper: a white male, 30 to 32 years old, five feet 10 inches tall, about 165 pounds, dark to sandy hair, medium build, ruddy complexion, as if he worked outside.

Doctors Lose Fight To Save Negro Leader

Special to the Observer
Newspapers

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 5—Dr. Martin Luther King, his head wrapped in a towel and an oxygen mask over his face, looked small on the stretcher as he was wheeled into the emergency room of St. Joseph's Hospital at 6:16 last night.

His eyes were closed and the only sound was from the resuscitator which was pumping oxygen into his dying body.

Several of Dr. King's aides, his attorney, Chauncy Eskridge, and his chauffeur, Solomon Jones, Jr., leaned over the fire department ambulance stretcher. Their eyes were red-rimmed and all were silent.

AS THE STRETCHER disappeared behind the swinging double doors, Mr. Eskridge leaned on the desk in the waiting room and put his head in his hands. "Why, why would anybody want to do this," he cried. "I just don't understand it."

He did not go into the room where a team of doctors were treating a gaping wound in Dr. King's neck. "I just can't go in there," he said.

Other members of Dr. King's party emerged from the room and leaned against the walls, most were crying. Police arrived within minutes after the ambulance and quickly posted guards at every entrance to the hospital.

Two patrolmen with shotguns guarded the entrance to the emergency room and allowed only police officers and aides of Dr. King into the room.

Every telephone in the waiting room rang constantly and police referred all inquiries to Police Chief J.C. MacDonald at Central Police Station.

Nurses ran in and out of the emergency room pushing their way through the crowd with the help of policemen.

An aide emerged from the operating room about 15 minutes after Dr. King arrived and stood with tears running down his cheeks. "They have done killed Dr. King," he said

The suspect was wearing a black suit and white shirt.

The weapon which was thought to have been used was a Remington pump action 30.06 caliber telescope mounted rifle.

The rifle was found nearby. Frank R. Ahlgren, editor of The Commercial Appeal, announced that the newspaper will pay a $25,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Dr. King's assassin.

Dr. King returned to Memphis Wednesday morning to map plans for another downtown march—scheduled for next Monday—in support of the city's striking sanitation workers. He had spent part of the day yesterday awaiting reports from his attorneys who are in Federal Judge Bailey Brown's courtroom asking that a temporary restraining order against the proposed march be lifted.

THE INJUNCTION was obtained by the city after Dr. King's first march on March 28 broke out in violence in downtown Memphis and brought the National Guard to the city in strength and seriously damaged the Negro leader's reputation for nonviolence. For the first time in his career, he had been present during violence, and it was this picture he was planning to dispel in the march next Monday.

Mayor Loeb declared today, tomorrow and Sunday as days of mourning and said all flags in the city will be lowered "with appropriate observances."

All ministers, priests and rabbis in the Memphis area have been asked to meet at 10 a.m. today in St. Mary's Cathedral (Episcopal).

Frank Holloman, Memphis fire and police director who took personal command of the murder investigation minutes after the shooting, said "every resource" of city, county, state and federal law enforcement agencies "is committed and dedicated to identifying and apprehending the person or persons responsible."

MAYOR LOEB ordered a tight curfew much stricter than the one imposed after last week's rioting. "All movement is restricted except for health or emergency reasons," the order stated.

A few minutes after the shooting police reported a high-speed chase in which a blue Pontiac was being pursued by a white Mustang out the Austin Peay Highway here. Shots were reported fired between the two cars. A white Mustang seen near the scene of the slaying was still being sought by police early today.

Officials of Dr. King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), some of whom were standing near him on the narrow balcony of the hotel when he was shot, continued to urge his nonviolence teachings. His chief lieutenant, Dr. Ralph Abernathy, went to the Mason Temple last night to address a gathering of Dr. King's followers. (Dr. King was scheduled to speak at the Temple, a large Negro church, last night.)

"Let us live for what he died for," Dr. Abernathy told the mourning group. "If we respect his leadership, if we appreciate the service that he rendered, then we must do all in our power to carry forth the work that is incomplete."

"If a riot or violence would erupt in Memphis tonight Dr. King in Heaven would not be pleased."

A few had other ideas. "He died for us and we're going to die for him," a young man shouted.

Early Friday morning, Mr. Holloman said police believed the murder weapon was a .30 caliber pump action Remington rifle equipped with a telescopic sight. Such a weapon was among those stolen Tuesday night from Dowdle Sporting Goods Co. in Memphis. About 15 weapons were taken in the burglary. "The distance over which the bullet traveled before it struck Dr. King was 205 feet three inches at a down angle," Mr. Holloman reported.

HE ALSO DETAILED "other evidence....that may help us identify the assassin. The shot was fired from the window of a common bathroom at the end of the hall on the east side of the building at 420 South Main, directly across from the Lorraine Hotel. The suspect checked into the boarding house between 3 and 3:30 p.m. yesterday. His room was close to the bathroom."

"We do know he bought a pair of binoculars Thursday afternoon in Memphis. The man was seen to run from the 420 South Main building and discard and gun and a suitcase at 424 South Main. He simply faded. Nobody saw him get in the car but a white Mustang was seen to flee.

"The evidence we now have indicates that only one man was physically in the area of the bathroom."

Mr. Holloman would not reveal where the binoculars were purchased and said he did not know if the name used by the sniper is his real one.

The gun found at the Main street address was turned over to the FBI for ballistic tests. Mr. Holloman said his office is working closely with the FBI on other aspects of the investigation.

Former FBI officer Holloman also said the investigation was "impaired by the riot situation which developed almost immediately."

"The bullet knocked him off his feet," said the Rev. Jesse Jackson, executive staff member of SCLC. "It sounded like a stick of dynamite or a big firecracker."

The Rev. Mr. Jackson said Dr. King had walked out of his room ahead of several friends on the way to a dinner engagement at the home of the Rev. Samuel B. Kyles.

HIS LAST WORDS were in reply to his chauffeur, Solomon Jones, Jr., on the street below. "I went out to start the car" Mr. Jones reported "Dr. King was on the porch. I yelled up at him it was cool and that he had better put his topcoat on. Dr. King said, 'OK, I will.' He smiled and then I heard the shot."

"He just fell back. I turned around and I saw a man jump out of the thicket across the street. He ran toward Main. We all scattered."

Comedy Opens At Bonstelle

Brian Friel's popular Irish comedy "Philadelphia, Here I Come!" will open at Wayne State University's Bonstelle Theatre at 8:30 p.m. Friday, April 12, and run for six performances.

Regarded by New York critics as "one of the truest plays ever to come from Ireland," it is a simple and honest treatment of a lonely, frustrated young Irishman who dreams of leaving his native village to discover the glitter and glamor of an American city.

This will be the play's first appearance in Detroit. Following the April 12 opening, performances will continue Saturday night, April 13, and Thursday through Sunday, April 18-21.

Curtain will be at 8:30 p.m. except for the Sunday matinee which will start at 2:30 p.m.

Leading roles in the Bonstelle drama will be played by James Corrigan, Nicholas Calanni and Denise Abood. The play is directed by Dr. Robert T. Hazard with sets by Norman Hamilton and costumes by Janice Snodgrass.

"Philadelphia, Here I Come!" will be the fifth Bonstelle production of the current season. A sixth play, "The Royal Hunt of the Sun" by Peter Shaffer, will open May 17.

Tickets at $2 are available at the University Ticket Office, Mackenzie Hall, Cass and Putnam, or by calling 833-1400. Ext. 265. Tickets may also be purchased at all J.L. Hudson Ticket Services and Grinnell's downtown.

Film Slated

"Don Quixote," (1933), a German film directed by G.W. Pabst, will be shown at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, April 6, in the Rackham Educational Memorial Auditorium.

Wally Roberts 'CURTAIN' GOING UP

The lively Leslie Bricusse-Tony Newley musical "The Roar of the Greasepaint—the Smell of the Crowd" gave a capacity audience at the Hill Auditorium every reason to applaud loud and long.

"Greasepaint" from every angle has all the earmarks of a real Broadway hit. The musical score is pleasant, diverting, and hummable. "Who Can I Turn To" and "A Wonderful Day Like Today" set many a toe to tapping. The script provoked laughter on a most serious subject.

Cyril Ritchard and Tony Newley weren't there in their original roles but David C. Jones and Edward Earle more than adequately filled those talented shoes. In fact, Earle added a few tricks of his own and made the role of Cocky more expansive and expressive.

"GREASEPAINT" is a symbolic treatment of life's constant struggle. The Establishment or "Sir" in the play has everyman or "Cocky" playing the game of life. Sir constantly makes Cocky take the first move and play the game according to his rules. Not until late in the second act does Cocky decide to rebel against the established order. At the final curtain Sir and Cocky decide they do need each other and join hands to set the world in order.

"Stop The World I Want To Get Off" was the first Bricusse-Newley smash hit of several seasons ago. "Greasepaint" is not as strong since the symbolism gets a bit tiresome in Act I. The boy-girl humor of "Stop The World" had more universal appeal. In "Greasepaint" much of the humor comes less from the storyline and more from untiring work of the principal actors. Edward Earle replaced Tony Newley after the first six months of "Greasepaint" on Broadway. His dancing is impeccable. His voice will never equal Newley's but his interpretative approach sells each of the songs most effectively.

"Greasepaint" is another in the excellent series offered every year by the University of Michigan Professional Theater Program. Incidentally, they are taking orders right now for the coming Fall season for the Association of Producing Artists series of three new plays.

Ellis Raab and his talented group, presently on Broadway, are busy making plans for their seventh season at their Ann Arbor headquarters starting Sept. 17.

Call Mrs. Edward Drury between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. for all the details on the reduced rates available to season ticket holders. Her phone number is 764-0450.

THE CAMPUS Theater is showing "Elvira Madigan" on an extended run basis. This Swedish film has a somber theme and a conclusion that could send you out into the chilly night quite depressed. However, the tragic love story is spun out of sheer gossamer.

Two lovers are hopelessly entwined in their web of passion. To complicate matters the rigid lines of 19th Century Swedish life give them little opportunity for acceptance of their adulterous love affair.

Society's unyielding lines of reference force the lovers to a tragic end. The utter waste of two lives so complicated by the intrusion of passionate concern for each other is told compellingly in "Elvira Madigan".

It is easy to see why this superb Swedish picture was voted one of 1967's 10 best cinemas.

Village Sets Easter Programs

When a boy spends his train fare on a roll of circus tickets for his gang the humor starts. It's all in the 1938 family film "Peck's Bad Boy with the Circus" starring Tommy Kelly and Edgar Kennedy.

This feature will be one of two Famous Early Movies to be shown in the Henry Ford Museum Theater during Easter Week, April 13 through 21.

Presentations during this vacation period will be at 1 and 3 p.m. weekdays and 2 and 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays.

An 18 minute compilation of Mack Sennett comedies which will include his famous bathing beauties, Fatty Arbuckle, Ford Sterling and the well-remembered Keystone Kops, will follow Mr. Peck's boy in "Happy Times and Jolly Moments."

Museum Sets Easter Concert

Visitors in Henry Ford Museum on Easter Sunday afternoon will have a chance to hear the boys choir that last Easter sang for the U.S. Senate.

The 34-voice Lafayette County Boys Choir of Washington Court House, Ohio will offer a program of sacred music at 3:30 that afternoon. The boys, ages nine to 19, will perform between the two showings of the Museum's regular "Famous Early Movie" presentation, although they will be singing outside the Museum Theater in which the old films are shown.

Senate Maneuverings Stalled Housing Bill

about the subdivision in a daily newspaper ad.

But the court added: "No opinion is presently expressed upon the question of whether there is a civil right to private housing where that housing has been publicly offered for sale by one who is NOT in the business of selling housing to the public . . ."

In other words, Kuhn would exempt the man who puts up a sign that says "For Sale by Owner."

"Completely inappropriate," says Sen. Craig.

"The man who decides to sell his house has decided to divest himself of his interest in the property," says Craig, contending that there should be no right for anyone to practice bias.

Craig argues that it's particularly necessary to eliminate bias in the field of "items essential to life — food, clothing, housing."

KUHN'S AND FLEMING'S bills provide for considerably less harsh punishments than the Zollar bill.

Zollar's bill would allow the CRC, after finding that someone committed an unfair housing practice, to ask the circuit court to levy a fine of up to $1,000; and if the person has violated a previous order of the CRC, then the court may fine him up to $2,000.

The Kuhn and Fleming bills would charge only one-tenth as much—$100 and $200.

This is in line with the Kuhn principle of looking out for the potential defendant in a civil rights case and of lightening the load of "harassment" that the property seller must bear.

"Look," says Craig, "if I were convicted of bias in selling my house, I could get the White Citizens Council (a Dixie-based racist group) to go the $100 fine. But they couldn't pick up many $1,000 fines."

Craig adds that the low-fine provision

"reflects Kuhn's racially bigoted attitude. He doesn't want integrated housing and hasn't from the beginning."

(The Zollar and Kuhn bills are virtually identical, however, in providing that the violator can be charged up to $500 "economic damages . . . for an injury caused by the unfair housing practice.")

One provision of Kuhn's bill, missing from the Zollar bill, puts some pressure on the man making the complaint:

"If a complaint is dismissed by final order of the prosecuting attorney or a court after a court has granted temporary relief or a restraining order under subsection (1), the respondent may recover from the county damages and costs sustained by reason of the temporary relief or restraining order . . ."

Thus, a county prosecutor will be pretty conservative about going to court with a complaint if it's likely that the county will get socked for damages should the complaint be dismissed.

It's easy to see Kuhn's reasoning. A heavy proportion — perhaps a majority — of the complaints of bias now filed with the state Civil Right Commission are eventually dismissed. This means the complaint had little or no foundation in fact. The CRC critics contend that the heavy number of invalid complaints constitutes harassment of innocent whites.

DESPITE ALL HIS differences with the Romney Administration and the Zollar bill, Kuhn said in the middle of last week that he would vote for the bill if at least two amendments were tacked on.

One would be to exempt the homeowner selling his own house. The other would be for an automatic referendum.

Any act of the Legislature can be subject to a referendum if enough people petition for it, but Kuhn would go a step further: He would provide that the act did not take effect until the voters approve.

An OPEN LETTER To The PUBLIC . . . Why Telephone Employees MAY Strike April 12th

We, the workers at the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, represented by the Communication Workers of America, would like very much for you to take the time to read this letter and get some of the facts about our current bargaining with the telephone company.

This is not a sales pitch, a case of crying the blues, or one of sour grapes. We just want you — the Public — to know the wages and fringe benefits we receive now and let you decide for yourself if we have a problem or not.

This letter is necessary due the fact that most major radio and television stations will not even sell us time to express our views. With no major papers operating at this time we are all but blacked out in our attempt to bring our case to the public.

Most people, including us, think of Michigan Bell as a very secure place to work. But why? Ask the 103 men in Metro Detroit who were laid off in the early 1960's and never re-hired. All these men had approximately 4 years service with the company. We certainly could have brought you people quicker and better service these past few years with their talents and experience.

Many telephone people have, the past 3 years, made a bundle of money. But then, who couldn't working 70-80 and sometimes 90 hours a week. The money is fine, but our families mean more to us — as does our health.

Now some facts about our "TOP" wages: In the Metro Detroit area — for a 40 hour week. The average pay for JANITORS, INSTALLERS, REPAIRMEN, OPERATORS, And all top paid men is $133.00 per week.

A new man starting with the company receives $82.50 weekly and it takes him 66 months to reach the top. A telephone Operator starting with the company receives $80.00 weekly and it takes her 66 months to reach her top pay.

All overtime is time and one half. Men scheduled on Saturday must take a day off during the week and then receive just straight time for Saturday work. Sunday pay is time and one half. All Holidays, if worked, are worked for straight time. Differential pay for night duty is an additional 30c an hour. For top paid men only — and only for 8 hours a day and 5 days a week.

FRINGES:

Our Blue Cross is partially paid by the company, but is a poor plan. No Outpatient benefits, few X-Ray benefits, a far cry from the M-75 plan that most other companies have for their employees.

Our sickness benefits are good, but workers are fearful of using this benefit. The telephone company is a real "HOUND" on attendance. Over 5 days a year puts us in the Supervisor's office for a long talk about dependability. We have experienced dismissals along this line. No man receives sick pay for the first day of illness until he has 10 years' service.

Our Retirement Plan is too embarrassing to talk about.

VACATIONS:	1 year service	1 week
	2 years service	2 weeks
	10 years service	3 weeks
	20 years service	4 weeks

Here again we run into the problems of summer vacation — deer hunting, etc. Where 'needs of the service' dictate when vacations shall be taken.

These are a few of the facts and figures. Think it over — talk it over with your neighbors, compare and you will see, as we do, that the telephone worker does take a back seat to most of the workers in other industry in Metro Detroit.

After waiting 66 months to reach top pay what other Employer can use our skills.

AAU, NCAA Can't Agree On Terms For Track

There's no peace in the track war between the NCAA and the AAU.

The college group has refused to agree to a settlement proposed by a U.S. Senate group. It has been suggested that the AAU should sanction all international and open domestic track meets and the NCAA handle meets limited to full-time students.

But the NCAA now says it wants no part of such a ruling, thereby periling the selection of members for the U.S. Olympic team.

It appears now that the Senate may now step in and write a settlement into law, which both the NCAA and AAU must follow.

RICHES IN THE way of a half-million dollar contract have come to Peggy Fleming, the figure-skating Olympic champ. She has turned professional and will tour with one of the leading ice shows.

EX-HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION Joe Louis, recovering from an operation in Detroit, told reporters that Negro athletes would make a serious mistake if they didn't represent their country in the 1968 Olympic games in Mexico City.

Louis also rapped Cassius Clay for not entering the army. However, the Brown Bomber still considers Clay the world's heavyweight champion.

MICHIGAN STATE'S Duffy Daugherty has been named to coach the East in the annual Shrine East-West football game next Dec. 28. John Pont of Indiana and Tom Cahill of Army will assist him.

This will mark the fourth time that Daugherty has coached the East.

ZIP: Paul Nash, 20, of South Africa, has equalled the world record in the 100-meter dash, with a time of 10 seconds flat.

BOBBY HULL, the high scoring forward of the Chicago Black Hawks, says he'll seek a spot in the Canadian Parliament when he wraps up his hockey career.

MICHIGAN STATE'S baseball team enjoyed a banner spring-training trip to Miami. The Spartans finished with an 8-5 record in the Miami Invitational, finishing just behind Miami U. of Florida, the host, which won eight, lost four and tied one.

The Spartans are considered a good bet for Big Ten honors this season. They were to open their regular campaign Saturday, facing Ball State in a doubleheader.

CALL IT A surprise -- the San Francisco Warriors upsetting the St. Louis Hawks in their Western Division semifinals in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Hawks had led the division all season, while San Francisco was struggling without all-star Nate Thurmond, who has been sidelined for two months with a knee injury.

San Francisco won the clincher, 111-106, to take the series, four games to two, and now is engaging Los Angeles in a best-of-seven Western Division final.

In the East it's Boston vs. Philadelphia.

The two divisional winners will square off for the league crown won last year by Philadelphia.

PUTTING TOGETHER A SPORTS COLUMN IN SHORT-PANT FASHION:

It's amazing what "old" bodies can do in sports -- like 40-year-old Gordie Howe of the Red Wings and Bill Russell, 35, of the Boston Celtics.

At ages when each should be slowing up, they continue to amaze those they play with, play for and the sports world in general.

Howe has just ended his 21st season for the Wings. With 82 points -- 39 goals and 43 assists -- he finished third overall in league scoring. It was his best scoring campaign in a decade and the demise of the Wings certainly wasn't his fault.

Meantime, they've been saying around pro basketball that Russell is "on the way down." He certainly showed anything but that in helping the Celtics oust the Pistons in the recent Eastern Division playoff semifinals.

SPEAKING OF THE Pistons, a question asked 10 times a day centers around whom the team may protect in the forthcoming expansion draft.

Here's the way the stocking of the new Milwaukee and Phoenix franchises will go. Each current team freezes seven players from the roster that finished the 1967-68 season.

After losing one player to either Milwaukee or Phoenix, an established team may protect an eighth man. From any others on its list, it may lose two more.

WONDER WHY MORE of the high schools won't copy the radical changes adopted by the Catholic League of Greater Detroit last season when it made walks possible on three balls, instead of four, and ruled that a man strikes out on two, not three strikes.

The three-ball, two-strike idea makes for a more enjoyable schoolboy game. It makes it necessary for the pitchers to get the ball over the plate and the batters to be swinging all the time.

You don't see coaches sending too many batters plateward with orders to wait out the pitcher.

THE TROTTERS are enjoying some big nights at the Wolverine Raceway's current meeting at the Detroit Race Course.

After being literally buried in snow the first two nights, the horses have come booming back to perform before crowds which have been waging in at a near record pace.

It's funny about the people who run the race tracks. Publicist Bill Kofender keeps insisting that we come out for "a good evening of fun."

But neither Bill, nor his colleagues, will offer any sure-fire bets.

MANY YOUNGSTERS inquire about attending a basketball camp. We'd like to recommend the one that Dave Bing of the Pistons will stage in Pennsylvania this summer.

For information, just send Bing a note, care of the Pistons, 202 Michigan, Detroit, 48226.

BASEBALL COMES BACK to the television channels next Saturday. Most of the Tiger Saturday games will be carried on Channel 2, plus several night attractions and others on Sundays.

The game-of-the-week series begins next Saturday on Channel 4.

When baseball specifies the game-of-the-week, it means just that. Two years ago, the NBC network ignored the American League in the final six weeks of action.

Last year, it was all American League and no National League in the home stretch.

Which is the way it should be?

Pistons Bag Center

The Detroit Pistons have plucked themselves a center in the National Basketball Association's college draft.

Their No. 1 choice is Otto Moore, who stands 6-11, and starred for three seasons at Pan American College in Texas.

Moore was one of 14 players--one a team--plucked by NBA members in a special first-round, pre-draft selection conducted last Monday.

The rest of the draft will be held on May 8 in New York.

Moore averaged 20 points and 20 rebounds in his career at Pan American and the Pistons considered him the best of the senior college centers in the country.

He has expressed a desire to play with the Pistons and just when he reports to the team will hinge on whether he makes the Olympic team.

MOORE WAS among 88 play-

Brighten Your Home If You Plan To Sell

Spring is an advantageous time of year to sell your home, advises William Y. Mathers, president of the United Northwestern Realty Association - Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"Buyers have been cooped up all winter and now are anxious to get out in the open. Many prospective buyers have put off looking for a new home because they dreaded moving in the middle of winter," Mathers said recently.

"In addition, nature helps out by providing a pleasant setting of greenery and spring flowers for most homes."

MATHERS explained that home sellers should prepare their homes to make them "sales-ready." He recommended that owners clear the yard of any debris that has accumulated during the winter. As soon as possible, flower beds should be spaded and shaped, trees and shrubs should be cleared of dead branches, and, later in the spring, easy-to-grow, inexpensive annual flowers should be planted to fill out the landscaping.

"Arrange yard furniture attractively, even before it is warm enough to use it. This will suggest to the prospective buyers relaxing summer evenings to come."

When readying the exterior of the house, take down storm windows and doors, touch up paint where necessary, or, if required, repaint the entire house, Mathers said.

TURNING TO the interior of the house, Mathers suggested that windows be thrown open on the first mild day to air the house, paint and wallpaper be inspected and touched up, shades and curtains be opened to make rooms as airy and light as possible, and spring housecleaning be completed so every room is spotless from floor to ceiling (including windows).

Closets and other storage areas should be neat and orderly, and, generally, the house should be at its best.

"Many of these suggestions are valid in summer, fall, and winter, as well as in the spring," he said. "A house on the market should be neat and clean, no matter what the season."

He noted also that his recommendations are for all home sellers and, therefore, have to be general.

"Your Realtor can make suggestions for you and your house specifically," Mathers concluded. "As a professional in real estate, he has had much experience with home buyers. He knows how they will react; what they will look for and at. That is why it is wise to follow his recommendations when it comes to preparing a house for sale."

SOME OF THESE plans require that the improvements be "built-in," such as paneling a room with hardboard walls, and some are less promising in periods of "tight money."

The type of loan you seek should be determined by your own financial circumstances, the condition, value and location of your home.

Check Window Placement For Sill Height, Light

When you build or remodel, will you get the most from your windows in terms of light, ventilation and views?

You won't if the windows are not installed at the correct height for a particular room, do not face the best wind direction, or are not the proper size and proportion.

A leading window manufacturer, advises homeowners of several points to keep in mind when selecting and installing windows for maximum sunlight, air, visibility and good looks: The right sill height for a window depends on whether people in the room are likely to be sitting or standing most of the time. For example, windows in the kitchen should be high enough for a woman to look out of while she works, and allow air flow at a height that will keep her comfortable. In a living room or dining room, where people will be seated, sills should be lower for best visibility and ventilation.

In general, large-expanse windows in a south wall give the best effect of day-long sunlight. If this brings unwanted glare, use tinted glass.

For good ventilation, place operating windows where they are most likely to pick up wind currents. Outdoor obstructions such as a high stand of trees, tall buildings or a high wall can cut air flow.

Select window styles to suit each room. In bedrooms, a ribbon of operating windows placed high in the wall will give privacy as well as light and air. It also makes an interesting window treatment, and frees the lower portion of the wall for furniture placement.

In kitchens, casement windows are best for that awkward area above the sink because they can be easily reached and operated, and offer maximum ventilation to rid the room of cooking odors.

Consider the low-maintenance qualities of windows. New vinyl-clad windows do not require painting, and will not pit, rust or corrode. Welded insulating glass is standard, so storm sash is eliminated and window-washing chores are cut by half. Other ideas are contained in a booklet, "How to Get Good Windows," available free from Andersen Corporation, Dept. C-1, Bayport, Minn., 55003.

Tight Money Doesn't Bar Fixup Loan

One solution to the new-home mortgage problem is to improve your present home. Many homeowners are doing just that. "Tight money" is not a problem in home improvement financing, and there are many alternatives available for obtaining the money you need. Here are some:

• FHA Property Improvement Loan (Title D). You may borrow up to $3,500 and take up to five years to pay.

• Conventional bank installment loan. This is usually more flexible than FHA loans as to purpose, amount and terms. • FHA Section 203 (k) Loan (Title II). Under this plan, devised for homes over 10 years old, you may finance improvements up to $10,000 and take up to 20 years to pay.

• Open-end mortgage loan. If you have an open-end mortgage, you may be able to finance improvements by borrowing on the same mortgage.

• Mortgage refinancing. You may be able to convert your present mortgage for another in a larger amount to include the cost of your improvements.

• New mortgage. If your home is unimproved, you can finance improvements with a new mortgage. Or if you plan to buy an older home requiring extensive repairs, get a mortgage that will include the cost of both the home and the improvements.

SOME OF THESE plans require that the improvements be "built-in," such as paneling a room with hardboard walls, and some are less promising in periods of "tight money."

The type of loan you seek should be determined by your own financial circumstances, the condition, value and location of your home.

You Can Give 'Mod' Look To Dismal Hallway, Stairs

The most neglected parts of a home are the ones that don't show up very well in dim light. These include:

Back entrance, laundry, stairwells and closets.

These unkempt-looking places can drag down the general impression the family and visitors have of their home, according to Norma Brown, homemaking consultant to Masonite Corporation.

"The living room, kitchen, bathroom and bedrooms may be top drawer for looks," says Miss Brown, "but the drabness of the 'hidden' areas has a downgrading effect on the occupants and others who may see them. So why not fix them up?"

SHE RECOMMENDS PRE-decorated hardboard paneling for this.

"Take a stairwell from the first to second floor. When lighted, how does the wall look? Smudged, no doubt, from fingerprints. With woodgrained paneling like Masonite Royalcote, marks like this hardly show, and they can be wiped clean with a damp cloth," Miss Brown declares.

LAUNDRY ROOMS TOO OF-

"You'd be surprised how paneling in a stairwell or other neglected area will upgrade the appearance and make housework much easier."

Paneling is available in 17 woodgrains and colors, including one called Marbletone because of its resemblance to travertine marble.

"Closets are a 'no man's land' in many homes," she continues, "chiefly because they're crammed and disorganized. One of the best closet organizers is Peg-Board, now available in three shades of walnut woodgrain. These panels have beauty as well as function. They 'expand' the closet by using the walls."

No High-Powered Rifles For County Riot Control

Wayne County supervisors have struck five high-powered rifles from the list of arms sought for Sheriff Peter Buback and his men to control civil violence.

They ordered Buback and his two-man community relations bureau to get ideas from public groups on putting down unrest without violence.

Plymouth Supervisor Archie E. Vallier, chairman of the sheriff's committee, said the rest of the $40,000 arms package would be approved despite objections from Livonia Councilman Edward Milligan.

Buback was summoned before a joint meeting of the sheriffs and human relations committee of the Board of Supervisors to explain the need for the arms. He defended the five AR 15 rifles as weapons.

really serious situation develops," he said.

Buback said they were not essential, but the rest of the list is "bare minimum" needed to cope with any large scale trouble. The arms will be kept in a vault, he said, for use only if a riot occurs.

"We certainly hope it is never brought out," Buback said.

The two-hour meeting heard objections to the armament purchase, heard one witness who lived through the 1967 riot, and watched a continuing rharb between Vallier and Milligan.

Buback said his tactical mobile force of deputies and local police has been well-organized. Vallier said Livonia had not joined as other suburban communities had.

MILLIGAN CHARGED that the agreements between the communities are illegal, that City Atty. Steve Polgar has been asked to study the law on the subject.

"The agreements you have aren't worth the paper they're printed on," snapped Milligan. "They are contrary to state law."

Milligan called for high standards of treatment of prisoners, stating the County Jail was filled to twice its normal capacity and that the Belle Isle bathhouse and other buildings were used as lockups.

He said most communities in the suburbs have clean, well constructed lockups that could be used, including the jail in the Livonia Police Department. Vallier said:

"I PERSONALLY sat at the telephone for four hours with the sheriff during last summer's riot, and we called all over eastern Michigan trying to find places to house prisoners. Every jail was filled."

"I personally resent your (Milligan's) statements. If you knew what you are doing, you wouldn't make them. It is not as easy as it sounds.

"Maybe we missed checking with Livonia. If so, it was an oversight, but we had prisoners housed as far away as Milan."

Buback said his department booked 3,300 prisoners during the riot, housing them "all over eastern Michigan."

"We got them out of jail as soon as we could," he said. "We saw that they got a bath and three meals a day."

FRANK JOYCE, who said he represented People Against

Racism, told the joint meeting that the AR 15 rifle was a "weapon of war" and from 30 feet or less cuts through a brick wall and "will absolutely kill at 300 yards."

Millie M. Rayford, a Detroit appointive member of the Board of Supervisors, said the community was not consulted on the arms. Milligan made the move to get sentiment through Buback's office.

The Rev. John Forsythe, of Detroit, a member of the board, said the Interfaith Action Council, formed from all faiths during the last riot, was opposed to the arms purchase. He cited the Kerner report:

"The commission condemns moves to equip police departments with mass destruction weapons, such as automatic rifles, machine guns and tanks. Weapons which are designed to destroy, not to control, have no place in densely populated urban communities."

Malvina Hawk Abonyi, of Detroit, told the meeting of the terror of the riot last July:

"I watched out my front window and the riot moved into the neighborhood. I saw them looting, and I saw them throwing fire bombs. I called the police but was told there was no police protection in the neighborhood."

"Luckily, I managed to make it to my car and I managed to get out of the area. I would have been very happy to see a sheriff's officer with any kind of weapon because I was frightened to death. I don't want to be in that position again."

THESE WEAPONS were intended only for command officers who would be thoroughly trained in their use in case a

ATTY. GEN. FRANK J. KELLEY

Kelley Hits Honigman's Judges Plan

Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, Michigan's chief law enforcement officer, is opposed to the so-called "Honigman plan" for appointing all state judges.

In an Observer Newspapers interview in Plymouth, Kelley attacked the method proposed by the Honigman-led citizens' committee for panels which would nominate three judicial candidates, one of whom would be appointed by the governor.

Kelley will debate Detroit attorney Jason Honigman on the subject in a weekend television program. Although Kelley's formal speech hadn't been finished at the time of the interview, he was able to outline his reasons for opposing the proposed constitutional amendment.

"I WAS ONE of the first persons, along with Gov. Romney in 1964, to advocate doing over the judicial article (of the state constitution) because it simply wasn't working," Kelley recalled.

"The method of selecting judges wasn't working properly. It was winding up as a popularity contest, rather than in picking the best people possible."

"We advocated at that time a return to the gubernatorial appointment."

"When I advocated that four or five years ago, it wasn't for political reasons," said Kelley, a Democrat, "because the (Republican) governor would have been able to appoint literally dozens and dozens of judges. I know that when a governor appoints a man, regardless of political affiliation, he will appoint the best man to do the job."

"I'm an advocate of judicial reform. However:

"THE HONIGMAN plan, or his group, are now advocating going from the ridiculous to the sublime."

"We admit that the public can't pick a qualified lawyer at first blush because of intricacies of the bedsheet ballot and they don't know the qualifications of a lawyer."

"It would be better to have the man most responsible to the people of the state--the governor--put on the spot and let him make the appointment."

"What they're doing by their plan is handcuffing the governor with a committee, not accountable to the public, but who must be appointed from the bar association and some members of the public."

KELLEY WAS referring to the Honigman plan's provision for seven-member panels in each judicial district which would draw up a list of three candidates from whom the governor would choose.

Three members of each panel would be selected by the governing board of the State Bar, the legal guild to which all practicing lawyers must belong. Four lay members--no more than two from a single political party--would give the non-lawyers a majority on the panel.

The governor could bypass all three of the nominating panels suggestions, under the Honigman plan, but he would have to state his reasons in writing.

Kelley charged that such a panel would be "completely unaccountable to the public" but would still have effective power "to bind the governor of the state," adding:

"It's worse than what we have now."

KELLEY stuck to a prepared text in his speech to the annual banquet of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Kelley said that the revenues of organized crime run to $21 billion a year, nearly as much as the cost of the Vietnam war, and that illegal gambling alone rakes in $7 billion, or more than five times as much as General Motors' profits.

To those who would legalize gambling, Kelley replied that Nevada, the state with the greatest amount of legal gambling in the union, also has had the highest crime rate in four of the last five years.

Kelley advocated a two-pronged attack on crime--eliminating the social conditions that breed crime and improving law enforcement through college training and better pay for police.

"We can't eliminate crime any more than we can eliminate sin. But we can get it down to its irreducible minimum," he concluded.
