BULLETIN

The strike of the Communications Workers Union of America against Michigan Bell started late Friday afternoon according to word received by the Observer. The CWA has been negotiating with the Bell System on a national basis for some time but notified Michigan Bell earlier in the week that it would not strike until the end of the crisis in the Detroit area. The curfew was lifted Friday morning and apparently the strike began in the afternoon.

A subcommittee of the Michigan Legislature will conduct an investigation into Redford Township election procedure starting Tuesday morning.

Announcement of the assignment of the committee was made in Lansing Friday afternoon. It was not known at presstime where the hearings would be held.

REDFORD—Redford Township Supervisor Aldrick Bellaire, despite recently learning that federal aid money is in short supply, has applied for a $1.5 million grant for purchase of the 105-acre Glenhurst Golf course for township recreational use. If the aid is received, the township plans to seek an identical amount through local millage support of a bond issue. The application is likely to stall current attempts to have Glenhurst rezoned for high rise and commercial development. The property is the last remaining large site suitable for recreation use in the township.

REDFORD—The township's human relations council, a voluntary civil rights corps of all-white citizens, did not join in marches in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King. "We were afraid of local opinion," said the council leaders.

FARMINGTON—The Farmington Township Board has indicated that it will overturn the Township Planning Commission's recommendation for an apartment and single-family home proposal at the corner of Middle Belt and Northwestern Highway. The proposal, which has been vigorously opposed by the residents of the area, is substantially the same as was turned down by the Planning Commission three years ago.

FARMINGTON—The City of Farmington's representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, Delos Hamlin, was re-elected to his 13th term as chairman of the county board this week. Hamlin has served as the city's supervisor for the past 25 years.

LIVONIA—Mayor Harvey W. Moelke didn't spend a cent, nor receive a penny contribution, in his campaign for reelection to a fourth term in Livonia. But his Boosters Club, which financed his campaign against Council President Peter A. Ventura, had $99.21 left from contributions it had received after paying expenses and a primary deficit of $278.

LIVONIA—An Olive Branch has been waved between the executive and legislative ends of Livonia City Hall in an attempt to bring closer cooperation between the mayor and the reorganized city council. It is intended to ease or end the friction that existed between Mayor Harvey W. Moelke and the Council while Peter A. Ventura was president. Ventura has been replaced as president by Councilman Edward H. McNamara.

State Plans For Sheldon Underpass

Partial relief for the rail crossing problem that, allegedly, has helped to strangle business in the downtown area of Plymouth for years, may be on the way in the not-too-distant future.

The new ray of hope was contained in a letter from The Wayne County Road Commission to the City Commission in which it was stated provision is being made by the state highway department for an underpass on Sheldon Road — if required.

According to the letter, written by Robert

Larson, planning and negotiating engineer of the County Road Commission, "the Wayne County Road Commission asked for and received assurance that in the design of the M-14 Freeway crossing over Sheldon Road, provision would be made for the possibility of depressing Sheldon Road beneath the C&O railroad tracks."

The letter further stated that Engineering Report 1 prepared by the Michigan Department of State Highways includes a statement which indicates that provision will be made for a future Sheldon Road grade separation — if required.

At its regular meeting on Monday evening, the City Commission is expected to make a formal request for the separation in an effort to speed the work.

In the formal study made during the past year following a meeting sponsored by The Plymouth Mail and Observer, it was indicated that two crossings should be eliminated—Main Street and Sheldon Road. This could be the starter.

Teachers Open Demand For $2,000 Salary Hike

More money and smaller classes are the two main issues which the Plymouth Education Association plans to focus negotiations on with the school district in the coming months. The association presented its opening bargaining package to the entire school board Wednesday evening, and Ray Homer, president of the PEA, stressed a point that this was simply an opening wedge of negotiations and nothing more.

Howard Yost, Gallimore teacher who is in charge of the PEA's salary proposals, told the board that the PEA was initially asking for a $2,000 raise for first year Bachelor of Arts or Science degree teachers. The proposed raise for a master's degree first year teacher also is approximately $2,000.

THE SALARY proposal states that in 12 years, or steps, a B.A. or B.S. degree teacher will move from a starting salary of $8,800 to a maximum of $14,200.

An M.A. degree teacher, according to the proposal, will move from a beginning salary of $9,300 to a maximum of $15,550.

The present salaries are: B.A. or B.S. degree teacher $6,200 to $10,000; M.A. degree teacher from a minimum of $6,700 to a maximum of $11,200.

THE UNION—which said it would rather be called as association of professional people—told the board that the B.A. schedule would cost $773,650; the M.A. schedule $447,624.50; the M.A. plus 30 more credit hours will cost $78,300; graduate hours $25,000; fringe benefits $87,500 and all other certified persons not called teachers will cost $20,000.

To meet these salary demands, would increase the district expenditures a total of $1,432,074.50 over what it now spends on salaries.

Yost said that these estimated costs elect only the improvement factor in the salary schedule.

He said the costs were computed by moving every teacher up one year on the salary schedule and do not include earned increments.

ALSO, HE SAID the estimates do not take into consideration the turnover in the teaching staff and applies only to this year's bargaining unit. He added that the PEA proposals call for a reduction of one increment.

The salary negotiator explained that with the rising cost of living and with increasing Continued on Page 5A

Engineers Error Again Delays City Water Study

The oft delayed report of the City of Plymouth Water system has been sidetracked again.

Scheduled to be discussed by the City Commission at its regular meeting on Monday, the report has been taken from the agenda—all because the engineering firm of Johnson and Anderson has discovered an error in its study of rates.

For more than a year there has been a cry for a full fledged report of the entire system. And just as often as a report has been sought it has been put off.

Finally, about six months ago the Chamber of Commerce made an official appeal for a study and asked to be a part of it.

At the time Commissioner Arch Vallier stated, in open meeting, that some of the complaints were not justified and that he would bring the committee up to date in two weeks.

When the two weeks elapsed Vallier admitted that the report was delayed because of the "engineers' figures."

"I sent them back to be checked," he stated, "and there'll be a report as soon as the engineers give me the right information."

Then nothing more was heard, officially, until several weeks ago when Commissioner Vallier, near the close of a meeting, announced that he had turned in a report of the city.

Asked what it contained he simply stated, "It is a complex thing and will have to be studied by the Commission before any kind of a public report can be made."

Since then the Commission has been studying the report, along with the budget and a full report was expected on Monday night.

Now, the engineers have been at fault again and the study has been delayed—Indefinitely.

4,516 Voters Registered

The final registration figures reveal that there are 4,516 persons qualified to cast ballots for the open housing referendum on Monday, April 29.

This figure shows a slight increase over the number of eligibles for the last election—the vote for City Commissioners in 1967.

Two Women Named To Principal Jobs

Two elementary school principalships were awarded during the week to two highly recommended women educators by the Plymouth Board of Education.

Miss Anne Louise Welch, who has come up through the ranks of the Plymouth school system, next fall will take over the duties as head administrator of Farrand Elementary School, replacing Gerald Elston who recently became the new principal of Middle School #3. Mrs. Beverly Ellen Marshall, who gained her teaching and administrative experience outside the Plymouth system, will become the new principal of Elementary School #9 which is scheduled to open next September.

Haggerty Road Plan Due To Stir Debate

If coming events cast their shadows before them—and they usually do—that section of Haggerty Road that lies between Plymouth Road and Ann Arbor will be the subject of a great controversy. It will evolve around the question of whether it should remain a quiet, rural road through a park or become a major concrete highway with an overpass to preserve the park.

Since the official routes of the new expressways—M-14 and I-275—have been announced, attention has been turned to Haggerty Road as one of the main avenues of approach to Ann Arbor and the route to Ann Arbor.

With the shifting of the route of M-14 to a point above Five Mile Road, it has been pointed out that the residents in the southern part of the Plymouth Community would have to drive several miles to Six Mile Road for access to the new highway. By contrast, they need only travel a mile or so to reach Ann Arbor Road and head for the well known route to Ann Arbor.

Aside from that phase of the promised argument is the fact that much of the section of Haggerty Road in question is adjacent to industrial property and will be the main source of travel for heavy trucks and other vehicles used in connection with industry.

On the other side of what promises to be a good debate is the fact that Haggerty Road cuts through a beautiful section of Hines Parkway and embodies more than three blocks of a quiet residential neighborhood between the Park and Ann Arbor Road.

It has been suggested by the Regional Planning Commission that Haggerty be made a Class A Road. This would call for a 60-foot highway of either black top or concrete to accommodate what should be a heavy volume of traffic.

The county also has hinted that to preserve the beauty of the park in that area that a bridge could be built from a point just south of Plymouth Road to the top of the bank on the other side of the Park. These are the ingredients of what could become a great argument in the next year or two before a final decision is made.

Moehle Goes To Conference

Plymouth School Board Trustee Jack Moehle has been designated as the board's representative to the 17th Annual Regional Planning Conference to be held April 25 in Cobo Hall, Detroit.

The conference is being sponsored by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Observers Buy Building Site

Purchase of a 38-acre site for a planned central administrative building for Observer Newspapers, Inc. was announced Saturday by Publisher Philip H. Power.

The site is located at the southeast corner of the intersection of Schoolcraft and Levan Roads in Livonia.

THE PARCEL was acquired from the Stark Land Company, of Detroit.

"The new site meets virtually all the site selection criteria developed by our organization and by the site selection specialists who worked for us," Power said.

"In particular, it is near our two major needs: rail and expressway transportation facilities. A rail spur is near the southern boundary of the site, and the intersection of a north-south and an east-west expressway is just about three miles to the west on Schoolcraft Road.

"SOIL CONDITIONS are excellent for building, and the site with its beech forest is very attractive.

"Regardless of what or when we build on the site, we intend to maintain offices in each of the communities served by Observer Newspapers. This is absolutely essential if we are to provide the kind of community service which is at the heart of our operation," Power said.

Bird School Safety Group Lists Series Of Demands

A Bird Elementary School PTA safety study committee has singled out eight specific areas around the school, which, when corrected, will make it safer for the school's children.

The Safety Action Committee of the PTA made its recommendations to the school board Wednesday night stating its findings—after a year-long study of conditions—were the answer to the school's safety problems.

Earl W. Bunkers, committee chairman, said the committee recommended:

1. More protection for children crossing Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail,
2. A sidewalk on the east side—western side of Sheldon Rd.—of the school.
3. A fence along the south, west and part of the north side of the school.

4. A permanent entrance at the west side of the building.
5. Widen existing sidewalks.

6. More follow-up of absent children.

choices and had confidence in their abilities.

Miss Welch was born in Ann Arbor in 1927 and graduated from University High School in 1945. She completed her undergraduate work at Northwestern University in 1949, was awarded her Master of Arts degree in 1957 from the University of Michigan, and received her Education Specialist degree from U. of M. in 1967.

She has spent 17 years in Plymouth schools and taught 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades at Starkweather School. For the past two years she has been working in the elementary administrative internship program at Bird and Farrand Elementary schools.

Mrs. Marshall was born in Detroit in 1930 and graduated from Dearborn High School in 1948. She was awarded a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Michigan in 1952, and obtained a Master of Education degree from Wayne State University in 1963.

In 1967, Mrs. Marshall completed her doctoral program at W.S.U. She has taught nursery, 2nd, 3rd and 8th grades in Maryland, Alabama and Garden City. She also was an elementary classroom supervisor in the Garden City system.

Mrs. Marshall is married to Ross Marshall, who is employed by the National Bank of Detroit. They have two children: Mary, 21, a student at Northern Michigan University; and Sam, 15, a student at Fairlane Junior High School in Dearborn Heights.

From 1966 to 1968, Mrs. Marshall was an assistant professor in teacher education with the University of Toledo.

7. Change the school's starting and dismissal times.
8. Additional black topping around the building.

Bunkers said one of the most pressing needs was to change the starting and dismissal times so children would be able to avoid the rush hour traffic from nearby factories.

The traffic in the morning is not a problem, he said, but the afternoon traffic—when the Sheldon Rd. Ford plant and other factories change shifts—is a very dangerous time for small children to be crossing the streets.

He said the committee suggested that the current dismissal time of 3:30 p.m. be changed to either 3:15 or 3:45, because either time would be between shift changes.

James Rossman, superintendent of schools, explained that the administration felt that 3:45 would be the better time because of also having to rearrange bus schedules to conform to a new time.

In connection with the new time, the committee chairman said that another crossing guard should be hired. There is only one now and one guard is not nearly enough, he pointed out.

Some of the school's children must cross Sheldon Rd. twice because there is no sidewalk along the eastern edge of the property, he commented.

In the spring the area is quite muddy and almost impassable for walkers, so the children must cross Sheldon Rd. to the east side where there is a sidewalk and go up to N. Territorial and recross Sheldon to get home.

The chairman said the double crossing was too dangerous for small children to risk.

Rossman said that the school district would not install a sidewalk on the eastern side until Plymouth Township set the grade of Sheldon Rd. and specified where the sidewalk should be laid.

Bunkers added that the committee felt that absentee follow-up was also crucial because they were under the impression that little of it was being done.

They suggested that another telephone line be installed specifically for tracking down absent children—the same day they were absent—and possibly mothers could volunteer to do the extra work.

Rossman said that follow-up was being done at all schools. Bird School didn't have 100 per cent follow-up and this was due to lack of help and lack of cooperation from parents.

He said that it was district policy to check on every absent child but that it is sometimes impossible to be effective.

Esther Hulsing, school board president, said the other recommendations would be studied as well as the most pressing and she commended the PTA committee for once again compiling a complete and accurate study.

Mrs. Hulsing said that a decision on the dismissal time, the crossing guard—which has been sought already—and the need for a sidewalk would be forthcoming as soon as possible from school district administrators.

OPEN EASTER SUNDAY 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Stroller...

It all started when one of the regulars at the luncheon table, for a change of pace, ordered a couple of poached eggs.

It isn't often that you see anyone eating eggs, in any style, at lunch. So, when the waitress placed the order on the table, one of the more inquisitive luncheon companions wondered out loud —

"I wonder how many eggs are consumed each day."

All eyes turned to The Stroller.

This was only natural for there is an odd belief that anyone engaged in any category of journalism has the answers — or knows where to get them.

Not a word was spoken, but The Stroller became the cynosure of all eyes as all awaited an answer.

"How many eggs are consumed each day," The Stroller repeated. Then in self-defense, he asked —

"Do you mean in the state or country wide?"

ANSWERS ARE SURPRISING

This set everyone back a bit, but it did give The Stroller time to do some research on the subject and the information obtained was most surprising.

According to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service, in its March report, the state's commercial and farm flocks produced 131 million eggs in February. It was the largest February egg production since 1957. This was brought about partially by a 2½ per cent increase in the number of layers and the added fact that there was an extra day in the month because of leap year.

The information took an unusual twist when it was noted that the population of Michigan according to the 1960 census is 7,823,194.

This means that the egg production in the state during February averaged out at 16 eggs per person — or roughly one egg every two days. If you have eaten more than that you have eaten someone else's share.

Moving across the nation the figures become even more fascinating.

The latest information places the number of eggs produced from the Atlantic to the Pacific as 5.6 billion during the month of February. This was an increase of four per cent over February of 1967 and the extra day of the month accounted for about three per cent of the increase.

NOT DOING OUR SHARE

It was an easy matter to figure out the average daily consumption per person. With 200,000,000 persons in the United States and an egg production of 5.6 billion, it means that the average consumption is 28 eggs per person per month.

Imagine that!

Michigan is far behind the national average when it comes to consuming eggs.

The Stroller now hopes that his colleagues at the luncheon table will be satisfied and won't ask any more embarrassing questions, such as how many laying hens it required to produce the nation's egg crop.

And don't ask him how many of the eggs will be colored for Easter.

He doesn't know — and has no way of finding out.

YOUR FORK TELLS A TALE

One never would think that the manner in which you use your fork while dining would reveal your nationality.

But it does, according to those who make a study of such things and talk about them in their idle moments.

We got to discussing the trait the other day and The Stroller was surprised to learn about the telltale customs.

It was pointed out to him that the English (pure bred) use their fork in the left hand and, with the knife as a bracer, pile up food and then lift it to the mouth with the upside-down fork.

The Scandinavians, so the story goes, also use the fork in the left hand, but hold it in an almost upright position.

And we Americans hold to the left hand tradition, but only when using the fork as an anchor while we cut food with a knife. Then — and here is the telltale — we switch and place the fork in the right hand to lift the food to our mouths.

How's that for a gem of information? It's such tidbits of knowledge one picks up around a luncheon table with the modern business and professional men.

Makes a fellow sort of look forward to lunch — even if he isn't hungry.

NEW CONCEPT FOR PARKS?

An entirely new concept is being planned for Kellogg Park, if you listen to the word that is sifting through the walls at City Hall.

It is being said that the Planning Commission is making use of a professional designer and that the new plan calls for grading the ground, and replacing some of the ornaments now in the park.

Hope they don't forget that the Woman's Garden Club has done a great deal of work on the park in past years. It was the women in Plymouth who developed and completed the program that resulted in the installation of the gas lights. And it is the women who have just about completed a deal for the erection of a fountain.

Police And Firemen Don't Deserve Side Tracking With Salary Demand

During the course of his remarks at the annual Plymouth Chamber of Commerce dinner the other evening State Attorney General Frank Kelley made a very significant statement.

He said, very seriously, that one of the best investments that could be made would be to bolster the police departments in the various political subdivisions and that this could be done much easier by paying the kind of salaries that would attract the highest caliber of men.

The state's chief law enforcing officer went on to explain that the Federal Bureau of Investigation, more familiarly known as the "FBI," built up an enviable reputation through the years simply because FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover demanded that the ranks be limited to men with law degrees or accountants.

"This was one of the wisest moves the FBI chief ever made," Kelley explained.

It was ironical that the state attorney general's words were spoken at a time when the political leaders in the Plymouth Community are either turning their backs on pay increases for members of both the police and fire departments — or keeping the requests secret.

ONLY TWO NIGHTS BEFORE Kelley let his opinion be known, Plymouth Township officials denied a request from the firemen for salary increases in keeping with the rise in the cost of living.

Denial of the request was amazing, for while the firemen were being told that the Township did not have the money to raise their wages, the salaries of the three township officials — the supervisor, treasurer and clerk — were given substantial boosts.

To make it even more surprising, the supervisor's salary boost was another in a continuing series since the day he took office more than three years ago.

This is not meant to say that the township supervisor is being overpaid, even with the current boost, but there is good reason in the face of it why the firemen should have been turned down so flatly.

It is to the credit of Trustees Gene Overholt and Dick Lauterbach, who cast the only negative votes, that they went on record with the explanation that they couldn't, in all good conscience, vote raises for one group and not the other, when the firemen play such an important role in the area.

Over in Plymouth City Hall it is another matter.

While readily admitting that the police have made a request for a salary increase in keeping with the rising cost of living and the fact that the City of Detroit has set the pace with a scale of $10,300 a year, the city officials steadfastly stick to keeping the demand secret.

It is a known fact that the city police have placed their request several weeks ago. It is a known fact that the subject has been discussed in high places among city officials — but yet the size of the demand is kept from the public.

Why?

The taxpayers in the City of Plymouth, who eventually will pay the bill, are entitled to know the details of the police request.

AFTER ALL, when trouble arises, it is the police to whom they plead for help, and the public has a right to know what type of salary increase is being asked — and whether it is in keeping with the type of work that now has to be done.

At a time when there is so much unrest and fear throughout the country — and that includes the home precincts — it is well to have high morale in the police and fire departments.

These are the men who will be our first line of defense in any civil disorders. They could be asked to risk life and limb in an effort to assure safety and protection for others.

And the job is just as dangerous in the suburbs as it is in the metropolitan areas.

For that reason the members of the police and fire departments are deserving of an attentive ear when their requests are made.

They shouldn't be turned down flatly while raises are granted in other areas — or their wants should not be kept a secret from those who would have to foot the bill.

There must be a reason for the secrecy. The public is entitled to know this, too.

A Page Out Of The Past

Do You Remember When Plymouth Had Trolleys?

By GEORGE MACK ADAMS

I surmise that there are very few people alive in Plymouth today who remember the little one-horse Toonerville trolley line that ran from Wayne to somewhere, over in Dearborn. But there was such a railway believe it or not, and looking back fifty or sixty years — maybe it was longer ago than that — it was a heck of an electric line.

But by a devious route one could get on a Detroit to Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor electric line, at Wayne and get to Plymouth, Northville and the outskirts of Dearborn without taking a train. And there were eight to ten round trips a day. They only had two cars at the start, when one started from Wayne, another started from the outer limits of Dearborn. I think that the Dearborn Wine Company now occupies the main barn and take-off place of the little coaches. Of course it is greatly remodeled.

The tracks were laid mostly right on top of the ground, and swayed and shuddered with the motion of the car, which could travel at the speed of 10 and 20 miles an hour, depending upon the state of the track and its uneven ground work. It dipped over low places, creeks and roads like a drunken snake looking for a place to flounder.

AS WAS the case in all trolley lines at that time, were they big or little, the cars all had a motorman and a conductor or ticket-taker. The pay in those days was small and in keeping with the times. At the Markham Air Rifle factory in Plymouth the pay in those early days varied from 75 cents a day to $1.25 for expert machinists and the two operators of these little cars drew a dollar a day for eight or ten round trips. So, to increase their salary, the motorman and conductor would change places on return trips so they could "knock down" a nickel or dime on each trip. It finally got so these sly little guys were purloining more than they should and this, with more modern types of travel, finally put the line out of business.

It was a "Hummer" in more ways than one, and could be compared exactly with the famous "Toonerville Trolley" cartoons of that time, which, by the way were the funniest ever devised.

On one trip I took on this little "jump and leap" line, the spring that held the trolley up against the electric wire, broke when we were half way from Northville to the headquarters' barn at Redford. We were out in the country miles from anywhere and the trolley wouldn't stay up against the wire from which the car got its current.

What to do?

Well, the little car had an ingenious motorman. He got out and began to recruit the vicinity for anything that MIGHT be of use. He came upon a small tree with a wonderful crotch at one end, and a long limb at the other end. Not having a knife or a saw, he shay-shayed back to the trolley and asked the passengers if anyone had a knife, preferably a big, strong one. And believe it or not, someone did. And within a few minutes he came back with the branch, climbed up on top of the car, sat down and held the limb up against the trolley and moving slowly, with an off-and-on every once in a while we proceeded slowly into the barns at Dearborn.

ONE DIDN'T have to go to a musical comedy in a legitimate theatre, or to one on TV, or see a lady fall down a man-hole or a lady or man fully dressed thrown into the swimming pool at the White House to get a good laugh. All he had to do was ride the little trolley line from Wayne to the outskirts of Redford, and he had bright and witty conversation for a week.

Of course there were other amusing and exasperating things that happened in those "good old days" that occupied our conversations, such as in winter when we kids hitched a ride on the back end of a box sleigh, hoping for a catch of another one on the way back. We carried with us a long rope, the longer the better, and this we slipped around the axle, back board or anywhere, where it had free play. We would take hold of the other end of the rope as we lay on the sled and when we had gone as far as we wanted to go, all we had to do was let go of one end of the line.

One day Harold Jolliffe and myself, on a big sled, caught a ride on Starkweather avenue, just below the restaurant north of the RR tracks and headed for Northville for a good ride. We expected to get off at Phoenix, if no other sleigh going the other way was in sight and wait until there was one, and if not, it was not a long walk back into town. Well, when we let go of our end of the rope it caught a knot at the other end. We had tied a big knot to keep the rope from unravelling, and it didn't. And we stayed on until the sleigh landed on top of a large hill, a place called Waterford in those days. I knew this little place well, having delivered flour for my father who ran the Phoenix Mill, there with Harry Northrup, the teamster.

Well, we walked down the hill until we got to the Plymouth-Northville road and by golly, we didn't see a single sleigh for two hours, and by that time we had walked into Phoenix and on to Jolliffe's store where we stopped and rested. Then there was the time when a bunch of us boys went in swimming along the banks of Phoenix pond. Because houses were in sight and there was a nearby road we wore anything we could scare up for swimming trunks.

Sometimes it was even an old flour sack or any old piece of cloth tied around our middle. One of the kids found a big plank coming down toward the dam, but it looked as it was going to be shoved over the dam, and we would miss the dam, of course, so one of the kids gave one end of it a huge shove toward the dam, and the shove took his flour-bag swimming trunks with it. One of the kids had to go over to the Phoenix mill and explain things to Harry Northrup, who devised something for the kid to wear until he could get to his clothes half a mile away.

And instead of smoking dope, we smoked corn silk.

And instead of movies and TV which "were not" in those days we either took part in, or went to see, home-talent plays three or four times a winter, in the little opera house back of the City Hall.

And I KNOW from my own experience and from the lives of my two now-grown-up men that we had a helluva lot more real fun than any kid knows of today.

Kennedy Unveils Massive Plans For 'New Cities'

DEMOCRATIC CHIEFS hold a private confab in Lansing to go over campaign plans for Robert F. Kennedy in his bid for the presidential nomination.

Soapy Emerges In RFK Tour

By DWIGHT JARRELL

LANSING -- Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams re-emerged as a Democratic political hero in the entourage of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and started tongues wagging about his future.

Williams, the first six-term governor for Michigan, was defeated in 1966 in his bid for the United States Senate by Senator Robert P. Griffin, a Republican.

Democrats recalled that Williams, who with his flamboyant green and white polka dot bow tie and his search-and-hand-shake technique rewrote political history, was one of the first John F. Kennedy boosters in 1960.

IN LANSING to greet Robert F. Kennedy, Williams was his old self.

As Kennedy prepared to fly off to Grand Rapids for another Michigan appearance, Williams and Democratic Vice Chairman Patti Knox talked briefly with reporters at the airport.

Williams said he was not taking a position just now on a Democratic candidate for president but would speak out later. "Right now I'm unspeaking," he cracked.

Williams was interrupted in answering the usual question about his political future.

"WHAT'S THE matter with the cabinet?" queried Mrs. Knox.

Williams was appointed by John F. Kennedy as assistant secretary of state for African Affairs, serving in that post until he ran for the U.S. Senate.

State AFL-CIO President Gus Scholle said he would not make a personal commitment to Kennedy or any other candidate until the AFL-CIO executive board and the Committee on Political Education (COPE) acted.

"I'm an organization man," he said.

By DWIGHT JARRELL

LANSING—Senator Robert F. Kennedy stalked Democratic national convention delegates in Indiana today after a swing into Michigan to unveil a massive program to save the cities from ghetto rebellions.

He called for an early end to the war in Vietnam and a private and public attack on idleness and poverty in the cities.

Kennedy, cheered wildly by youngsters and accorded a strategic audience with Michigan Democratic leaders, left Michigan without commitments of support but apparently happy at the reception.

DEMOCRATS huddling secretly with Kennedy following the first major policy speech of his campaign in the Jack Tar Hotel included former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, National Councilman Neil Staebler, Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley, Secretary of State James M. Hare and others.

Kennedy said the money now draining out the treasury to finance the war in Vietnam should be used to rebuild the economy at home, reducing welfare and other costs by training the poor for jobs. He said: "We have before us a historic opportunity. Out of the tension and trouble, out of our difficulties and danger, we can—and I believe we will—forge a new nation."

"We can build new cities and new communities among men. First, the most immediate need is for a national impact project: To put men to work, to restore possibility to the young and to give the resident of the ghetto some sense that the nation is committed to the fulfillment of his hope."

THE NATION, he said, could cutback some of its programs which have less immediate needs and re-direct some of the existing projects to activate his proposals.

"We can slow down the race to the moon if it means the salvation of our nation here on earth. We can postpone work on the supersonic transport if it means that we can safely sit in our cities."

"We can adjust our research and development programs, now running into billions of dollars, if it allows us to search for purpose and human dignity within our own communities."

THE CROWD was receptive but undemonstrative until Kennedy started zeroing in on the nation's move toward peace in Vietnam. He was interrupted continuously with applause as he said:

"We can press our efforts for an early end to the war in Vietnam. This week's announcement from Hanoi and Washington seems to offer new hope that contacts perhaps leading to fullscale negotiations will soon begin."

"Meanwhile, we must encourage and accelerate efforts to return the major burdens of the war to the South Vietnamese—where it should have been all along—and to lessen the cost of American lives and money, for so long as the fighting continues."

Kennedy said the people of the "other America" understand that rebuilding the cities and placing all the jobless at work cannot be done immediately but planning must start now.

"They want, not promises which cannot be met, but genuine commitment to achievable goals," he said. "We must make that commitment and plan seriously for its fulfillment with them."

"That is a place to begin."

HE URGED THAT Americans stop thinking of welfare clients, the poverty stricken and the ghetto dwellers as liabilities. "Let us see them for what they are: Valuable resources as people whose work can be directed in all these tasks to be done within our cities and within the nation," Kennedy said.

"If we begin to meet these pressing needs, there will be jobs for all our people. In our present difficulties is the opportunity to match need for need—to put men to work on vital tasks—and thus, save our own lives and enrich the life of the nation."

KENNEDY spelled out a seven-point program for domestic enrichment:

• Projects which will provide jobs, especially in the poverty areas. He called it the "best antidote to the debilitating welfare system."

• Government training programs concentrating their money power on the job-training and finding projects.

• A formula of tax credits, tax deductions and depreciation benefits "to make it profitable for private industry to bring jobs and housing into the ghetto."

• Gearing the educational system to the anti-poverty projects and reconstruction work, similar to the GI Bill of Rights by which war veterans achieved new potential through education.

• Meeting social needs of the ghetto, such as building clinics in "areas of poverty which are shockingly short of medical services."

• Bringing local people into the programs by hiring them as medical aides in the clinics, for example. Youths in construction work should be encouraged to study architecture, he said. Buildings should be decorated by students of art and housing should have facilities for students of drama and music to perform.

• Creating of local institutions managed and controlled by the people for whom the programs are designed.

"BLACK AMERICANS want to work," Kennedy said. "They want not mental dead-end jobs. They want to share in the life and creative enterprises of the nation."

By building the economy, the wealth of the nation will increase through productivity and more and higher paid people will increase tax revenues, he said.

Kennedy delayed his appearance in Lansing 30 minutes to avoid interrupting a memorial service for the late Dr. Martin Luther King on the state capitol lawn.

His appearance in Lansing was sponsored jointly by the Business and Professional Men's Club of Lansing and the newly-formed Alliance for Kennedy, headed by Joel Ferguson, a Negro leader and member of the Lansing city council.

Street Holes Draw $100 Fine

An ordinance violation ticket charged that a 350 foot section of Dover street had been damaged.

A company representative pleaded guilty to the charge.

O'Brien Joins RFK Campaign

WASHINGTON -- Lawrence O'Brien has resigned as Postmaster General and President Johnson named Marvin Watson, presidential appointments secretary, to succeed him.

O'Brien will join the presidential campaign staff of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

The resignation was effective immediately but a spokesman for O'Brien said no date had been set for Watson to take over.

The President said two other White House assistants, James Jones and Larry Temple, would take over Watson's duties there.

DPW News Notes

KEN VOGRAS, DPW

The City's Annual Cleanup Week will be May 6 through May 11. A flyer will be sent to all homes through the mail before this time. All grass and yard material will be picked up at this time.

Starting April 18 all blankets will be removed from the Riverside Cemetery. Also, unsightly flowers in the Mausoleum will be removed. Anyone owning such blankets or flowers and wanting them should take them before this time.

Public Works Department was busy cleaning Kellogg Park, and Riverside Cemetery.

Work is being done on park benches to prepare them for painting. The department began its sweeping program. This consists of sweeping all residential streets every month and all downtown area twelve times a month. All residential streets are swept during the night, starting at midnight.

The spraying of Elm Trees was done. All city Elm Trees and all private Elm Trees that could be reached from the street were sprayed.

A six-inch storm and sanitary sewer and a one-inch water tap was installed at Wing and Forest Streets.

A water leak was repaired at Harvey and Maple Streets. Gravel and sand was hauled to Coolidge Street in preparation to possible opening this street for new homes.

Work is being done on the storm sewer in the alley bounded by South Evergreen and Sheldon, Ann Arbor Trail and Sheridan.

Gravel was put in various locations throughout the city.

Seven Leave Teaching Jobs

Seven Plymouth teachers have been granted honorable contract terminations by the board of education at the teachers' requests.

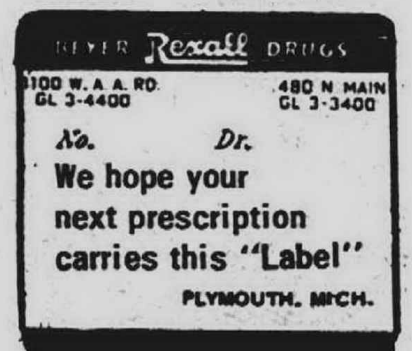

Leaving are: Sandra Knudsen, Allen-3rd grade, maternity and husband transfer; Barbara Logan, business education-Plymouth High, husband transfer; Jeanne Mannard, English-Plymouth High, husband transfer; Anne McKimmy, German-East Junior High and the high school, no reason; Virginia Olmsted, counselor-Plymouth High, marriage; Donna Richter, 7th grade math-science-high school, maternity; and Mary Rogers, English-Junior High East, husband transfer.

Schools Fill Recreation Posts

Seven persons from governing bodies within the Plymouth School District have been appointed by the board of education to serve on the community recreation commission.

The commission, which has been defunct for about four years and was failing before because of lack of interest, will be composed of one Canton Township member, two Plymouth Township members, one Northville Township member, two City of Plymouth members and one member from the board of education.

The appointed members are: Canton Township -- Richard Fulghum; Plymouth Township -- John Van Wagoner and Roy Jacobson; Northville Township -- William P. Smith Jr.; City of Plymouth -- James Dysinger and Vern Schlawske; and the school board -- Calvin Strom.

Teachers Demand $2,000 Hike

enrollments, the salary increases were absolutely necessary.

He claimed to speak as a parent, a resident and a bargainer and said that his goal was to improve the quality of education for every child in the district.

Kenneth Gabel, a seventh grade teacher at Junior High West who is in charge of class size negotiations for the PEA said that the union wanted the size of present classes reduced to 25 pupils to each teacher.

Gabel pointed out that several student-teacher ratio studies claim that the ideal ratio is 50 teachers for every 1,000 students.

The district's student-teacher ratio is now about 23 to 1 which is an average taken of total student enrollment divided by total certified personnel.

THE CLASS size negotiator said that the ratio on the elementary level was higher--approximately 28 to 1. The lower level, he said, was the main concern of the association. Although class size on the secondary level is also important, the situation is quite different, he added.

Gabel shocked the board when he said that it would cost about $2 million more for the district to obtain the average of 25 to 1 in grades 4 through 12 and the average of 22 to 1 in grades K through 3. Homer told the board, "This board attempts to represent the best interests of the citizens of the Plymouth community. The PEA, on the other hand, attempts to represent the best interests of the teachers who teach in the Plymouth community schools, and who have dedicated themselves to the task of continued improvement of quality education in this system."

THE PEA PRESIDENT stresses that both bodies are also dedicated to "represent happy that the PEA came to them first and let them have first hand knowledge of what the demands would be this year. Mrs. Hulsing made no comment on the demands themselves but directed the board negotiating team--composed of James Rossman, superintendent of schools, William Harding, committee chairman and assistant superintendent for secondary education, and Earl Gibson, assistant superintendent for elementary education--to keep the board informed of future meetings and progress with the PEA.

Before concluding, Homer made it clear that these proposals were just the beginning and were necessarily high as a starter.

Mrs. Esther Hulsing, board president, said that she was very pleased to hear the union's proposals and commended them for their fine job of presenting their case.

She said that the board was

"Babbitts and Bohemians; the American 1920's" by Elisabeth Stevenson attempts to convey the spirit as well as the history of the era; the men and mood that shaped the times, the political, international, and economic apathy, the conformity and rebellion of a decade unlike any other before or since.

"The Brigade" by Hanoch Bartov was the winner of Israel's most coveted literary award, the Shiloah Prize, in 1965. It is the story of what happens to a brigade of young Jews serving under the British in Italy at the end of World War II.

"One Very Hot Day" by David Halberstam, whose reporting from Vietnam won the Pulitzer Prize in 1964, presents a sharp picture of the war in Vietnam through a fictional account of one day and a particular battle, and the men involved.

"Rickenbacker" by Edward V. Rickenbacker is the adventure-filled life story of the famous World War I Ace who also was one of the earliest racing-car drivers and owner of the Indianapolis Speedway and later went on to take over Eastern Air Lines from General Motors.

"The Great Vitamin Hoax" by M. Daniel Taitkon maintains that vitamins may be harmful, are frequently unnecessary, and in any case should only be taken under medical supervision.

TopSide Of Life

By FATHER ROBERT SCHADEN

A few months ago there was a storm in Chicago over the fact that Martin Luther King was compared to Jesus Christ in a children's religious book. This week, when that man's funeral received national television coverage, the same complaint was put into different words and re-applied, "With all the fuss that is being made, you would think that he was Jesus Christ!"

I DO NOT often get very "churchy" in this column, but, perhaps, I can get away with it on Easter morning—my dentist tells me to stay away from chocolate bunnies and besides I do not consider what is on my mind a "High in the pulpit" idea.

Very briefly it is this: Why get so upset about someone being compared to Jesus Christ when that is what a Christian is—unless that fear be one of comparing myself to Him and being afraid that I may not be able to match up to what I should be, or would like to be.

This morning church bells ring and people with hope sing their Alleluias. But even that is a word that I can neither sing nor say unless I can dream a dream.

Dreams, though, belong only to those who can let go. To let go—that is difficult. It was difficult with my rattle, my yo-yo and my marbles. Even now, it is my idea, my attitude and my hurt—but it is still mine and I do not want to let go.

TODAY I CELEBRATE Jesus rising from the dead—and there is even more reason to celebrate—in so doing He has raised you and me.

You say you are black, yellow, green or red. You say that you are an extrovert or introvert. That's all right. He raised you too. I am white and He raised me—if I will let go.

If I will trade my attitudes for His, my life for His love and my religion for His teaching, then His Easter can be my reality.

And unless this be true, there is not—nor can there be—a top side of life.

I consider myself lucky because I believe in both.

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP BOARD OF TRUSTEES - SPECIAL MEETING TUESDAY, APRIL 2, 1968

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by the Supervisor. MEMBERS PRESENT: John D. McEwen, Elizabeth Holmes, Helen Richardson, Ralph Garber, Gene Overholt and Dick Lauterbach.

MEMBERS ABSENT: Louis Norgrove, Jr. and Dick Lauterbach. READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF CURRENT BILLS. Mr. McEwen explained that the items in the list of bills represented expenses incurred in the fiscal period of the Township ending March 31, 1968.

1. Wayne County Planning Commission Re: Rezoning of property located on the south side of Plymouth Road, east of the City of Plymouth - Application No. 75 of Allan Tana from M-1 to R-2-A and the property directly behind Calhoun Ford Agency from C-2 to R-2-A on the Planning Commission's own motion.

Following Mr. McEwen's comments regarding the reason for the Board's action on the rezoning of property, which was to allow the petitioner to obtain more land for right of way to Plymouth Road, Mr. Tana, the petitioner, came before the Board. With the use of drawings, he indicated the relocation on the plot plan to accommodate a 60 foot right-of-way from the proposed project to Plymouth Road. He then presented a communication to the Board which stated that there would be a 60 foot right-of-way emanating from their site to Plymouth Road for road purposes only, and that they felt the road would be an asset to the project. Mr. McEwen asked Mr. Harold Fischer, petitioner for Application No. 75, if he concurred in Mr. Tana's remarks and he stated that he did.

Following this, Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board concur in the recommendation of the Planning Commission and approve Application No. 75 covering the rezoning from M-1 to R-2-A and the property directly behind Calhoun Ford Agency from C-2 to R-2-A. Seconded by Mrs. Richardson and carried unanimously.

2. Wayne County Planning Commission Re: Rezoning of property located on the south side of Plymouth Road, east of the City of Plymouth - Application No. 75 of Harold E. Fischer from M-1 to C-2.

Mr. McEwen explained that this application involved the same area that Mr. Tom Nobile had an agreement to purchase a 60 foot right-of-way as discussed in Item No. 1 (1) above.

Mr. Overholt then moved that the Board accept the Planning Commission's recommendation and rezoning property as covered by Application No. 75 from M-1 to C-2. Seconded by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously.

ITEM NO. II - NEW BUSINESS 1. Approval of General Government Budget for 1968-1969 fiscal year. Mr. McEwen advised that the General Fund Budget for 1968-1969 was $332,720.00 or $87,125.00 over and above 1967-1968. He then reviewed the appropriations recommended for each Division and Department and asked for comments from the members of the Board. At this time, it was brought out that income in Account No. 601-41-1 - March 31, 1968. She stated that the proposed total expenditures for the purchase of water was $388,300.00 and the total summary of estimated revenues was $688,300.00.

There being no questions or discussion, Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board approve the Water Department Budget for the 1968-1969 fiscal year. Seconded by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

2. Approval of Sewer Department Budget for 1968-1969 fiscal year. Mr. McEwen explained the Sewer Department Budget Summary, stating the proposed expenditures were $302,000.00, and the Summary of Estimated Revenues was $502,000.00.

Following discussion, Mr. Lauterbach moved that the Board approve the Sewer Department Budget for the 1968-1969 Fiscal Year. Seconded by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

Mrs. Holmes stated that the sewer and water departments were in excellent condition, and discussed having been notified regarding the services of a manager for these departments, which she believes is necessary and concurred in same.

At this time, Mrs. Richardson read an Amendment to Plymouth Township Wastewater Practices, Section (C) Solidity, and following a short discussion on the wording, the amendment as follows was adopted by the Board upon motion of Mrs. Richardson, seconded by Mr. Lauterbach and carried unanimously.

Scottish Lass Awarded Medals For Dancing

Jacqueline Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Kennedy, 680 Provincetown Lane, recently received a second place and two third place medals in competition at Indoor Games, sponsored by the Detroit Highland Dancing Society.

Competitors in the day-long event held in Henry Ford Community College, were judged on their ability to execute four dances, the Highland Fling, the Sword Dance, the Seann Triubhas and Highland Reels.

Jacqueline, a tenth grade student at Plymouth High School, was born in Glasgow, Scotland, but began her dancing lessons in Detroit when she was only nine years old.

"Jacqueline has worked very hard," said Mrs. Kennedy. "Few people realize that Scottish dancing requires the same strength and skill as ballet. In fact, it is precision dancing and the five basic positions are the same as ballet."

These are not Jacqueline's first medals. Her love of dancing has been rewarded many times in the past six years.

"WE HAVE two events coming up in May," said Mrs. O'Connor, "our Mother and Daughter Banquet on Wednesday, May 1 and a fashion show and luncheon set for Wednesday, May 15."

"Kay's of Plymouth will present the fashion show," she continued, "and they tell me that we'll be seeing some new fall things—they're that much ahead of the season."

THE BIG event that Mrs. O'Connor is anticipating will Easter is the time of renewal and the return of living things to the land.

Bright tulips, crocuses, and daffodils bask in the warm sunshine and are nourished by April showers. Red breasted robins and budding leaves share limbs that have held the heavy snows of winter and survived the blustery winds of early spring.

It is a time of beginning for all creatures upon the earth. May I take this opportunity to wish you and yours an Easter filled with renewed hope and a quickening of spirit and purpose.

Heeellllllpppp! That's the cry of the Plymouth Theatre Guild these days. It seems that the Guild's next production, "Arsenic and Old Lace", is suffering from a severe shortage of manpower.

Five men are needed to fill various roles in the play. There will be another reading of the script Tuesday night, April 16 at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth High School auditorium.

Why not stop in and read a few lines, Anita Benson, who plays an old lady in the play (and tells me that she may not have to wear a gray-haired wig because of this new development) wants to invite everyone interested in little theater to attend the Guild's regular monthly meeting, Monday, April 15, same time, same place.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Albend, Mrs. Dale Arnold, and Mrs. Doy Pritchett from Plymouth were there.

Lots of family came from out of town too. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Bakewell of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Anderson of Valley Station, Ky., Mrs. James Deeg and son Michael of Dearborn, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Anderson and family of Fenton, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Fegan and family of Westland, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sommerman and family of Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Margaret Sommerman of Livonia and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fegan of Westland were also there.

A total of 46 people were present and accounted for, while son Kenneth and family in Los Angeles, Calif., telephoned their birthday greetings.

VFW Program On Patriotism Now Available

"The Flag Speaks", a dramatic program sponsored by the Mayflower Post #6695 Veterans of Foreign Wars, is presently being offered to clubs, churches, schools and businesses in the Plymouth community.

"The program is a stirring message of Americanism and patriotism," said Gene Leader, the Post's Sr. Vice Commander, "and it is our goal to have every citizen in Plymouth see this presentation."

So far, 8,500 children and 1,500 adults in eight Plymouth elementary schools, two junior high schools, two parochial schools, one cub scout pack, two boy scout troops, one explorer scout pack, one girl scout troop, five PTA groups, one employees' association, two women's clubs and the Kiwanis International of Plymouth have seen the Post's program.

The heart of the program is Leader's tape-recorded voice delivering "The Flag Speaks." Copies of this tape are currently being made for groups of armed forces stationed in Germany and Vietnam.

Bill Cummins Plans South American Trip

Bill Cummins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Cummins, 50100 Hanford, is making plans for a summer journey to South America.

While there, he will work with the Wycliffe Translators, an interdenominational mission board with a goal to translate the word of God into every spoken language.

Cummins is presently completing his junior year at Taylor University, Upland, Ind., where he is class president and has recently been elected president of the university's student union.

Cummins graduated from Plymouth High School in 1965.

Rouge Gives That 'Now' Look

Rouge is the most misused of all the cosmetic glamour products. Consequently, many women are afraid to use this most important beauty aid.

Every woman should use rouge in her daily make-up routine because it counteracts the natural droop of the facial muscles by drawing attention up toward the cheekbones, brightens eyes and gives a healthy glow to dull complexions.

There is a proper way to apply this essential beauty aid. Place a tiny dot at a point the width of two fingers away from your nose. Tenderly blend the rouge upward along the cheekbone to the hairline until your cheeks shyly flush with color.

Then lightly press translucent powder over your face and after make-up is completed gently pat a moist sponge over your entire face.

Now notice how your eyes suddenly appear larger. That tired look has disappeared.

Today's lively, colorful fashions call for make-up that is just as vivacious as a gal's wardrobe. So, don't let a pale, wan complexion detract from your good looks.

Remember, a subtle brush of rouge will give your face the bright, lively look of "now".

MRS. KENNETH BRANDT enjoys cooking and crafts. The bouquet of Easter eggs shown here adds a holiday note to her kitchen.

Specialty Of The House.

Chicken And Cashews Delicious Combination

Mrs. Kenneth Brandt, of 10403 Sheldon, has filled her lovely home with many hand-crafted objects. They are delightfully individual pieces that reflect her enjoyment of working with her hands.

The huge red antiques candle holders that grace her family room hearth are fashioned from a variety of ordinary household jars and lids.

A basket of interesting hem-wrapped fruit with brown felt leaves rests on the coffee table while a plump rooster made in the popular seed-mosaic craft looks down from his place on the dining room wall.

"I've always enjoyed crafts and it was through The Observer Newspaper that I learned of the Plymouth Newcomer's interest group in crafts. I've since joined Newcomers and am still active in a hobby club in Westland where we lived two years ago," said Mrs. Brandt.

THE BRANDTS HAVE four children, 10-year-old Kenneth; David, eight; and two girls, Kelly, four and Robin, 19 months.

When asked who plays the organ that stands in the living room, Mrs. Brandt confessed that she is learning to play, but that eight-year-old David has been playing since he was a little fellow of five.

Mrs. Brandt's recipe, Chicken Casserole, is one that her friends and family enjoy. "It's an easy dish to prepare and one that people would like, at least it's a recipe that people ask me for quite often," she said.

CHICKEN CASSEROLE

1/4 cup chopped onion
1 cup finely cut celery
1 tablespoon butter
1 can mushroom soup
1/3 cup chicken broth
1 teaspoon soy sauce
Dash of Tabasco sauce (optional)
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 cup chow mein noodles

Here Are Some Tips For Washing Of Walls

Nothing cheers up a home more than bright, clean, sparkling walls. If you can't take the time to repaint the interior of your home, there is an easy solution--washing the walls!

A good sponge down is the quickest way to erase junior's art work or to give new life to "tired walls." Perhaps since the pressure cooker exploded in the kitchen the walls just haven't had that same sparkle!

BASICALLY, WASHING your walls is easy. Simply use a cleaning solution applied with a brush or sponge. Rub lightly to loosen the dirt and rinse it off with clean water. Your cleaning solution should be a mild type of non-abrasive detergent in water--follow label instructions for amount of water to add.

Keep in mind that tougher cleaning jobs require stronger detergents and hotter water-- but may also mean adding a coat of paint. Soap is a mild detergent that may not affect the paint, but will not always remove stains.

Synthetic detergents are stronger and more effective. Trisodium phosphate and sodium silicate, sold under such names as Oakite, are even stronger--but if applied in hot, strong solutions are effective paint removers.

Paint thinners will remove many stubborn stains but should be used judiciously since they soften and may dissolve the paint.

A FUNDAMENTAL RULE to follow is to try any solution on a small inconspicuous part of the wall first to make sure the paint film is not attacked. If it is, dilute the solution with water.

When a deposit of what seems to be dirt cannot be removed by ordinary detergent, it may be mildew or another mold. These unsightly patches of mildew don't have to spoil the appearance of your home.

Common household cleaning and bleaching products easily destroy the mold. The following solution is very effective for cleaning these areas:

3 ounces (2-3 cup) of trisodium phosphate, found in Oakite, Soliex

1 ounce (1-3 cup) detergent, such as Tide, All, Calgonite

1 quart of five per cent sodium hypochlorite; Chlorox or Purex, for example

3 quarts of warm water

Rinse well, allow to dry and repaint

It is always good practice to start washing at the top of a wall and wash down so run-down does not streak walls that have already been washed.

Washing walls takes time and effort of course, but such a simple project will give you gratification and genuine pleasure once you have transformed your old walls into livelier, sparkling ones!

Potted Petunias Add Beauty

The most popular annual in the United States today is the petunia, says the American Seed Trade Association. Among its many uses is that of planting in pots or other containers, a type of gardening more widely used every year.

There are reasons for the greater use of containers and for the expanding use of petunias.

Petunias come in so many growth forms, so many varying shades and tints of so many colors that they lend themselves even to intricate color scheming.

THREE LOCAL SAFETY officials were among approximately 51 police officers from Metropolitan Detroit and southeastern Michigan communities who attended the third in a series of three one-day safety seminars sponsored by the Automobile Club of Michigan in Dearborn. Shown discussing bicycle safety and enforcement is Reynier Staats, (left), Auto Club's coordinator, special projects; Cpl. Dewey Combs, Westland Police Department; Cpl. Archie A. Hewett, Livonia Police Department and Officer Donovan Huseman, Westland Police Department. Staats pointed out that one of every four injuries involving a bicycle is the result of a child darting out into path of a moving vehicle from a place of concealment.

Time To Think About Planting Of Rose Bushes

It is now time to think about the selection and planting of the queen of flowers. Roses may be divided into two groups--the climbers and the bush type--and plants, whether growing in cans or dormant in a moss, should be purchased from a reputable nurseryman or garden center.

Buy only strong, vigorous varieties, which may not necessarily be the newest.

Before deciding on the number of plants, you must select the area where the roses are to be planted. The best location for roses is full sun, although that will do well in a location that has a minimum of seven hours of direct sunlight.

Dormant roses can be planted in early spring. Container-grown stalks can be planted any time during the growing season, just as any other plant. The climbers should be planted eight feet apart, and bush type roses should be planted eight feet apart.

ANY GOOD GARDEN soil will do. Be sure the hole for the individual plant is at least a foot deep and eight inches in diameter. Whenever a rose plant is placed in a new location, be sure the region where it was grafted on the root stalk is at least two inches below the ground when the surface soil is settled.

At planting time, place two to three inches of top soil in the bottom, mixed with a little bone meal or commercial fertilizer and perhaps peat moss to hold moisture if the soil is light and sandy.

Place the dormant plant in position and spread the roots evenly around the hole. Water the plant and fill in the remainder of the top soil. Pack the soil firmly around the roots and supply additional water.

If the roots appear dry, soak them in water for a few hours before planting. Remove all broken roots or top shoots.

Always plant a rose bush about two inches deeper than it was in the nursery row or containers.

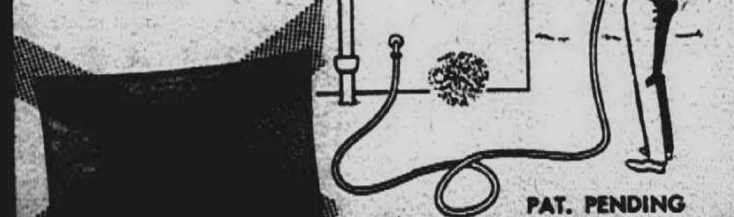

"THE CITIZENS' Responsibility in Law Enforcement" will be the subject of a talk by Col. Fredrick E. Davids, Director of the Michigan State Police, on Thursday, April 18; at a noon luncheon meeting of the United Northwestern Realty Association - Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors. Col. Davids will discuss last year's riots and civil disorders and propose measures to prevent their repetition. A member of the State Police force since 1937, Col. Davids was instrumental in the formation of the State Police Racket Squad, the forerunner of the present Intelligence Division.

Tool House Easy Let Wood Weather

In many yards, a garden tool house can be attached conveniently to the back wall of the garage, doors opening to the garden. Slant its roof to the front and build doors gate-style, with Z-bracing, siding boards. Match wood siding pattern to the garage.

Don't stain or paint wood deck boards unless you look forward to repeating the job. For carefree living and top appearance, let the wood weather naturally. If Douglas fir decking is finished with clear water repellent, weathering comes faster and more evenly.

Schoolcraft Students Flop

Eat-A-Thon Doesn't Faze Vic

When Vic DeLuca opened the restaurant in Livonia for lunch Thursday at 11:30, he was met by an orderly crowd of 175 Schoolcraft College students.

THE ATTACK — Long lines of students pile their plates high from both sides of the table.

EAT-A-THON IN FULL SWING — The Varsity Club table digs in.

Their goal: to take advantage of his "all you can eat" offer and eat him right out of house and home.

As far as that went, the event, dubbed the "First Annual Eat-a-thon," was an utter flop.

The students piled their plates up to six inches high with fried chicken, spaghetti, dressing, gravy, potatoes, salads and rolls. But still the food kept coming. And the "all you can eat" offer held firm throughout the onslaught.

The students surprised Vic DeLuca, but as one boy said: "The defenses were a little better than we expected."

When their defeat was obvious and their stomachs stuffed, the students gave DeLuca an ovation, then quietly drifted back to classes at the college.

The owner leaned back in his chair.

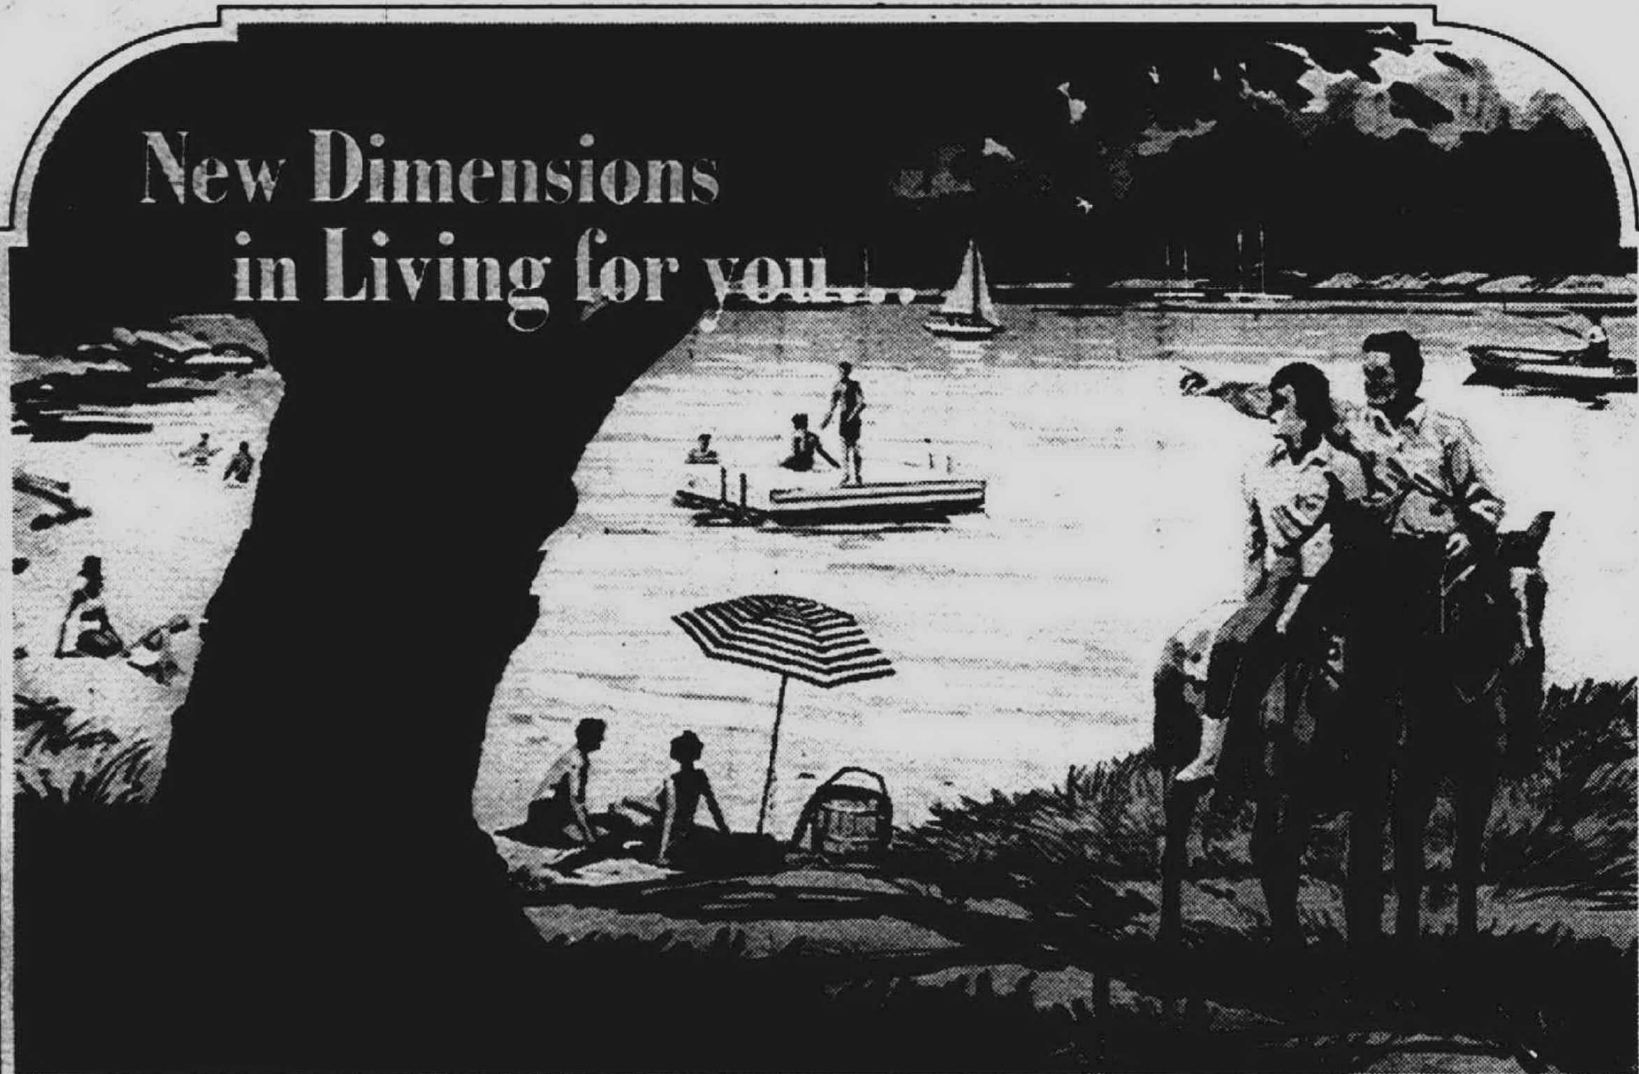

"No," he said, "I'm not going to make any money today. But a lot of these kids never knew this place was here. Maybe some of them will come back when they're not quite so hungry."

But even another Eat-a-thon wouldn't faze DeLuca. As he said to the students:

State Senate Passes Big School Aid Bill 24-9

LANSING—The Senate has approved a $37 million state school aid bill which makes up a major portion of the new state budget.

The bill, already passed by the House, was approved 24-9 despite contention of several senators from the suburban area of Detroit that current aid formulas fail to give enough consideration to districts which levy high property taxes to cover school operation costs.

It was argued that districts with high optional millages in some cases receive the same amount in state aid as those which levy much lower property taxes.

The President's Commission on Civil Disorders said that $19.6 million in federal funds spent during the first nine months of 1967 provided job opportunities for less than half of the city's unemployed. It also said the community action programs costing $12.6 million reached only 30 per cent of the poor.

LANSING—The House is still trying to pass a bill aimed at aiding financially distressed school districts.

Members rescued a measure to keep alive beyond next July a seven-member school reorganization committee created to reduce the number of school districts in the state.

The committee was created in 1964 by the Legislature to reduce Michigan's 1,500 school districts to 600. More than 600 still exist.

LANSING—Senator Raymond Dzendzel, of Detroit, has asked for creation of a special committee to study the cost of medical malpractice insurance.

Dzendzel introduced a resolution which would create a special committee to look into insurance costs and the feasibility of setting up district medical malpractice review committees within the Board of Registration in Medicine.

He said there appears to be evidence that the cost of providing such insurance for physicians and hospitals has risen sharply in the last few years.

MARQUETTE—The faculty of Northern Michigan University has taken under advisement a student endorsed three-point plan including a so-called "students' bill of rights."

The week gave heavy support to three proposals with 56 per cent of the student body voting.

The bill of rights issue involved such matters as jurisdiction over disciplinary matters and off-campus housing regulations. The students approved it, 2,960 to 176.

State Roundup

DETROIT—Plans for a $6 million program of business services designed to bring Detroit poor people into the "mainstream" of the American economy has been announced by a nonprofit corporation.

Lawrence Doss, president of Inner City Business Improvement Forum, said the corporation anticipates receiving the $6 million within a month from voluntary contributions, foundation grants and the federal government.

Doss, who is director of the Internal Revenue Service Data Center, said the group hopes to establish wholesale and retail shops, shopping centers, financial institutions, cooperatives, manufacturing plants, a data center and education programs serving disadvantaged persons.

LANSING—The House gave a second and final defeat to a bill which would have legalized greyhound racing in Michigan.

Bills of a similar nature have been brought before the legislators in each session for several years, but none has received approval.

UTICA—Shelby Township police received an unusual phone call recently.

"There's a man stealing a building" an alarmed citizen reported.

Police discovered a man was stealing a utility building. The man dismantled the building and carted it off after a dispute with the owner of the house he had been renting.

His name was withheld pending further investigation.

SAGINAW—The Saginaw Board of Education said because of lack of finances there will be half-day sessions for nearly every public school child next fall, athletics will be eliminated and other programs reduced.

Some concerned parents have urged the board to try again for passage of an eight-mill tax levy. It was defeated by a 2,200 vote margin on March 19.

DETROIT—City, state and federal investigators are busy searching the record of Detroit's antipoverty agency, trying to find out why $50 million in federal funds has helped only a fraction of the city's poor.

By the antipoverty agency's own admission, only 53,283 persons were participating in its programs at the end of last year. The figures, listed in an unpublished quarterly report, represent barely 15 per cent of the 349,719 poor people in the agency's target areas.

Mover's Liability Increased On All Interstate Loads

The extent of a mover's liability on household goods being moved interstate is 60 cents per pound per article. That's double what it was a year ago, but it's still not enough to cover replacement of valuable items, moving experts agree.

For this reason, Aero Mayflower Transit Company urges its shippers to purchase extended coverage.

For such extended coverage, up to the full value of the shipment, the owner of the goods pays 50 cents for each $100 valuation. However, he may not set the value of his total shipment at less than $1.25 per pound of the shipment.

Computed on the basis of a 4,000 pound shipment, the average of Mayflower's 125,000 long-distance moves in 1967, you must place a valuation of at least $5,000 on the shipment and pay $25 for the increased coverage.

A still higher valuation can be placed on the shipment at a correspondingly higher premium.

Earl Starts Well--Then Bosox Lower Boom

Opener Brings Out Color, Drama And Tradition

The 1968 Tiger opener had all of the color, tradition and the spirit that generally comes with the start of a season for America's favorite sport. The attendance was announced at 41,429 but judging from the number of empty seats in the stands, there must have been quite a few that bought tickets who didn't attend.

In the typical chilly, blustery weather that seems to be one of the earmarks of an opening game in the Motor City, Gov. George Romney and Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh came out for the opening pitch.

The crowd seemed about equally divided in its sentiments towards the pair — half was booing and the other half cheering. Who the booing was for and who the cheering couldn't quite be decided.

Gov. Romney went through the motions of a pitcher but the ball was some 15 feet short of the plate and Catcher Cavanagh quickly gobbled it up.

Both vanished into the stands after the ceremonies.

The fireworks, if one could call it that on such a chilly day, were provided first by Tiger Pitcher Earl Wilson with a home run and then by Carl Yastrzemski who powered one into the right field stands and then added an inside-the-park blast in the ninth inning.

FIRST BALL into the stands came on the first pitch by Tiger Earl Wilson. It was a foul off the bat of Boston's Mike Andrews into the second deck back of first base.

FIRST STRIKEOUT victim was Andrews who went down swinging. So did Dal Jones who followed him into the batter's box. Yastrzemski, everybody's choice as most valuable player of the year last fall after leading the Bosox to the American League flag with his tremendous bat, popped out to Ray Oyler.

OPENING DAY FANS were treated to another first — it was the first time in modern history American League umpires wore anything but the traditional blue.

The four-man crew appeared in sporty blue jackets and caps and grey slacks. That's the official attire this year.

MICKY STANLEY, who started at first base in a somewhat surprise move by Tiger Manager Mayo Smith, gave the crowd something to cheer about when he blasted the first pitch of Lefty Dick Ellsworth down the third base line for a single. That's as far as he got — he was a victim of force-play grounder by Al Kaline.

Picture story of Tiger opener
by R. T. Thompson and Chief Photographer Jim Hubbard.

BOSTON SHOWED some signs of a defending champion in the second inning when they broke the scoring with two runs on a long double by Rico Petrocelli.

Reggie Smith had opened the frame with a smash to shortstop and beat the throw, George Scott flied to Al Kaline but Joe LaHoud worked Wilson for a walk. Then Petrocelli lofted one into the left field corner that went for two bases when Willie Horton acted like anything but an antelope in chasing down the ball.

Jones received credit for the season's first stolen base when he loped from first to second while Andrews was on third in the third inning.

WILSON, WHO IS as well known for his hitting as his pitching, received a standing ovation from the crowd when he belted one into the second deck of the stands in left-center. It was the first homer of the season and the first Tiger run of the American League race.

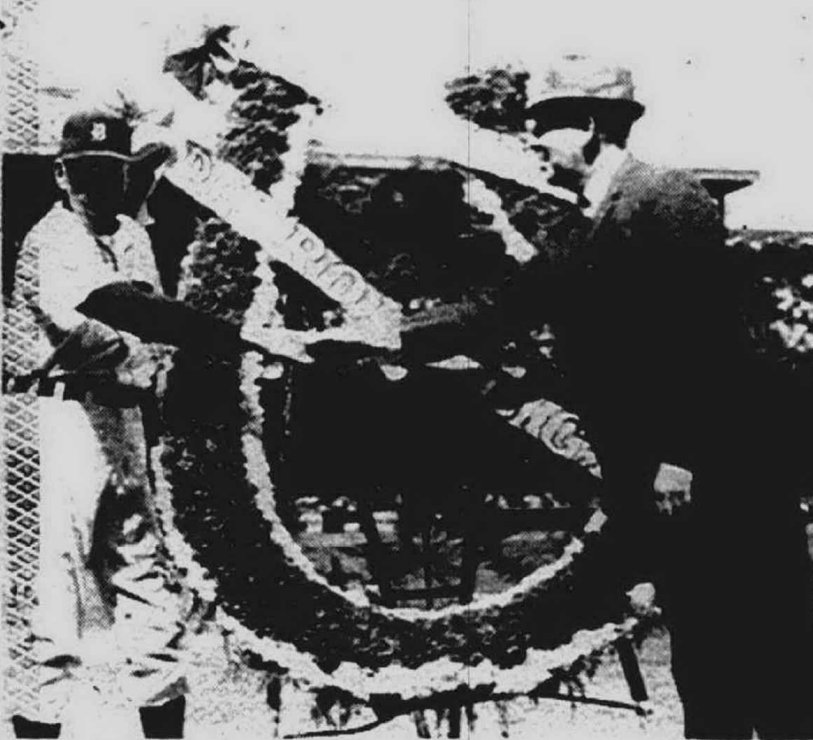

JOE LAHOUD, the 19-year-old Connecticut youngster filling in for Tony Conigliari in right field, had some anxious moments in the third inning when he had to chase three high flies in the blustering wind catches. He just did catch up with and hang on to a towering blast by Dick McAuliffe. The fans received a big kick from the manner in which he chased, stopped and then chased the ball again before finally making the catches.

IN A FAMILIAR ROLE is Gov. George Romney who fired the opening pitch to officially open the season. He almost made it this time — the ball bounced once in front of the plate and then was nabbed by catcher Mayor Jerome Cavanagh of Detroit.

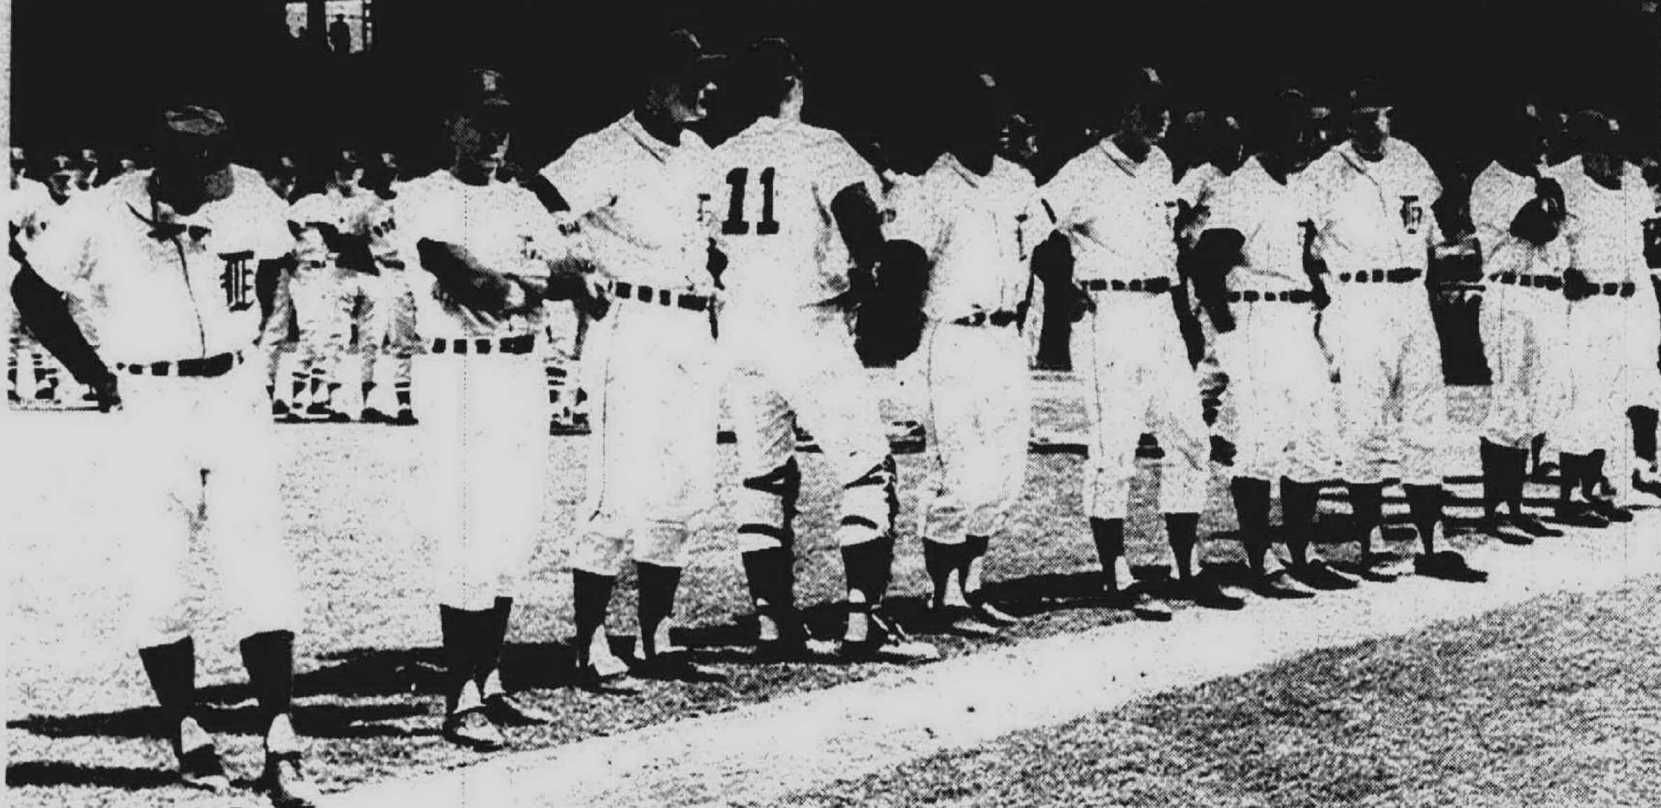

GREETING EARL WILSON at the plate following his long distance blast into the left field bleachers is first baseman Micky Stanley. Earl did alright batting but ran into trouble in the pitching department and had to be replaced by Pat Dobson.

TRADITIONAL GOOD LUCK floral piece is turned over to Tiger Manager Mayo Smith by a representative of the Detroit Firefighters Association. As has been the case in many other openers, the horseshoe wasn't lucky this time.

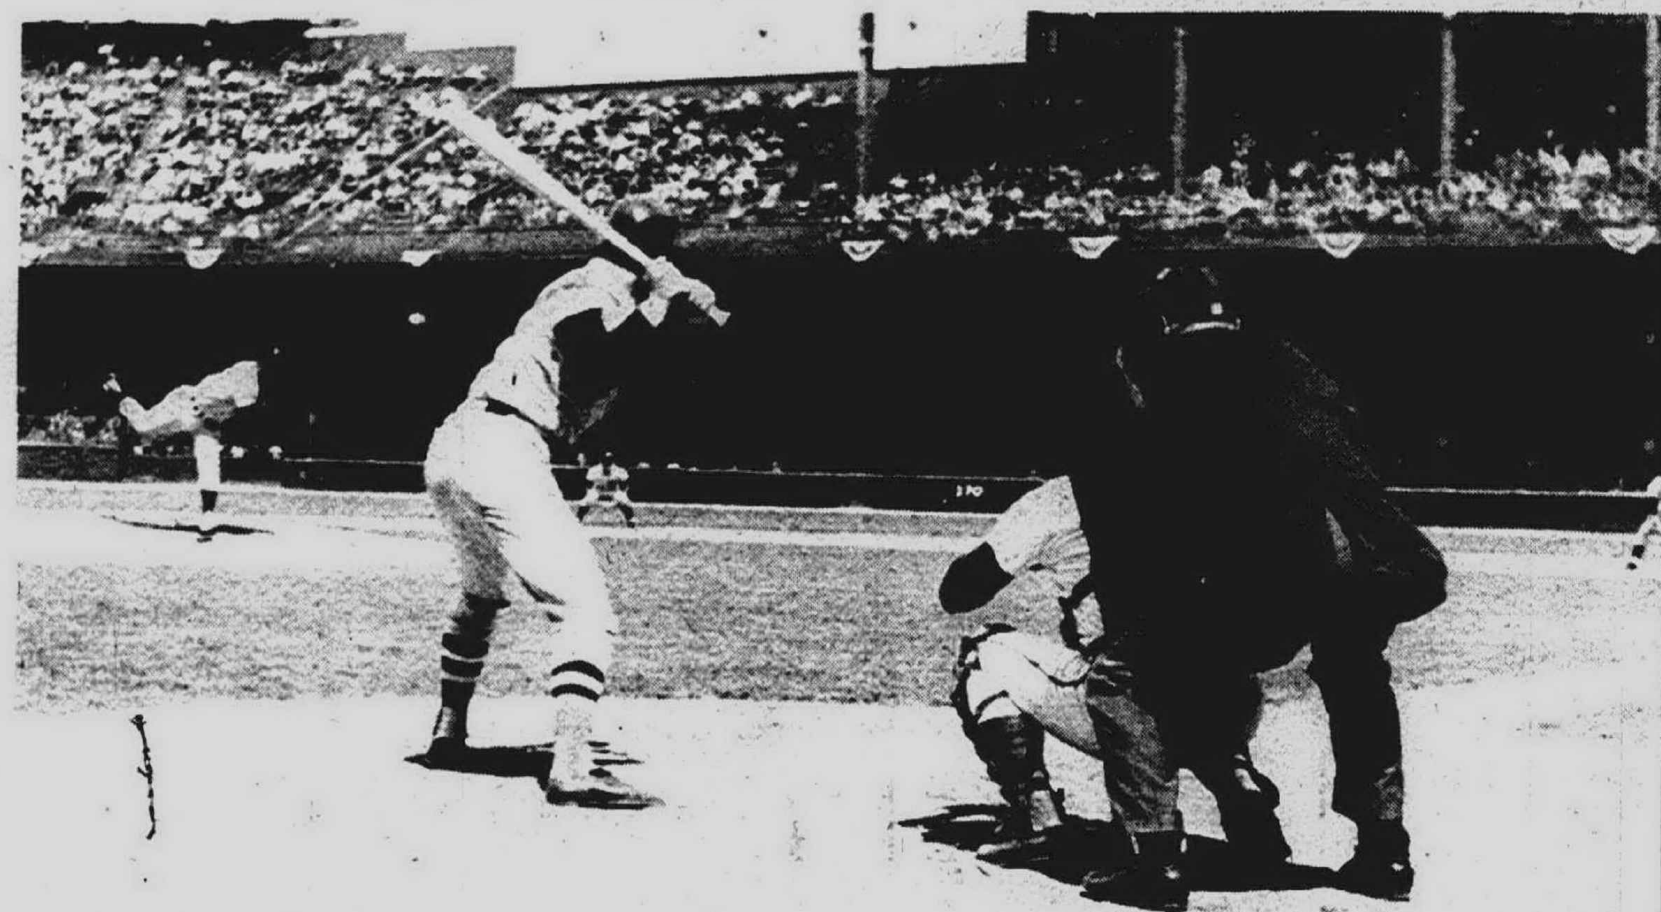

DISCUSSING PROSPECTS are Tiger President John Fetzer and Manager Smith. It was cold and blustery and the team lost but Fetzer was still there rooting when the final out was recorded.

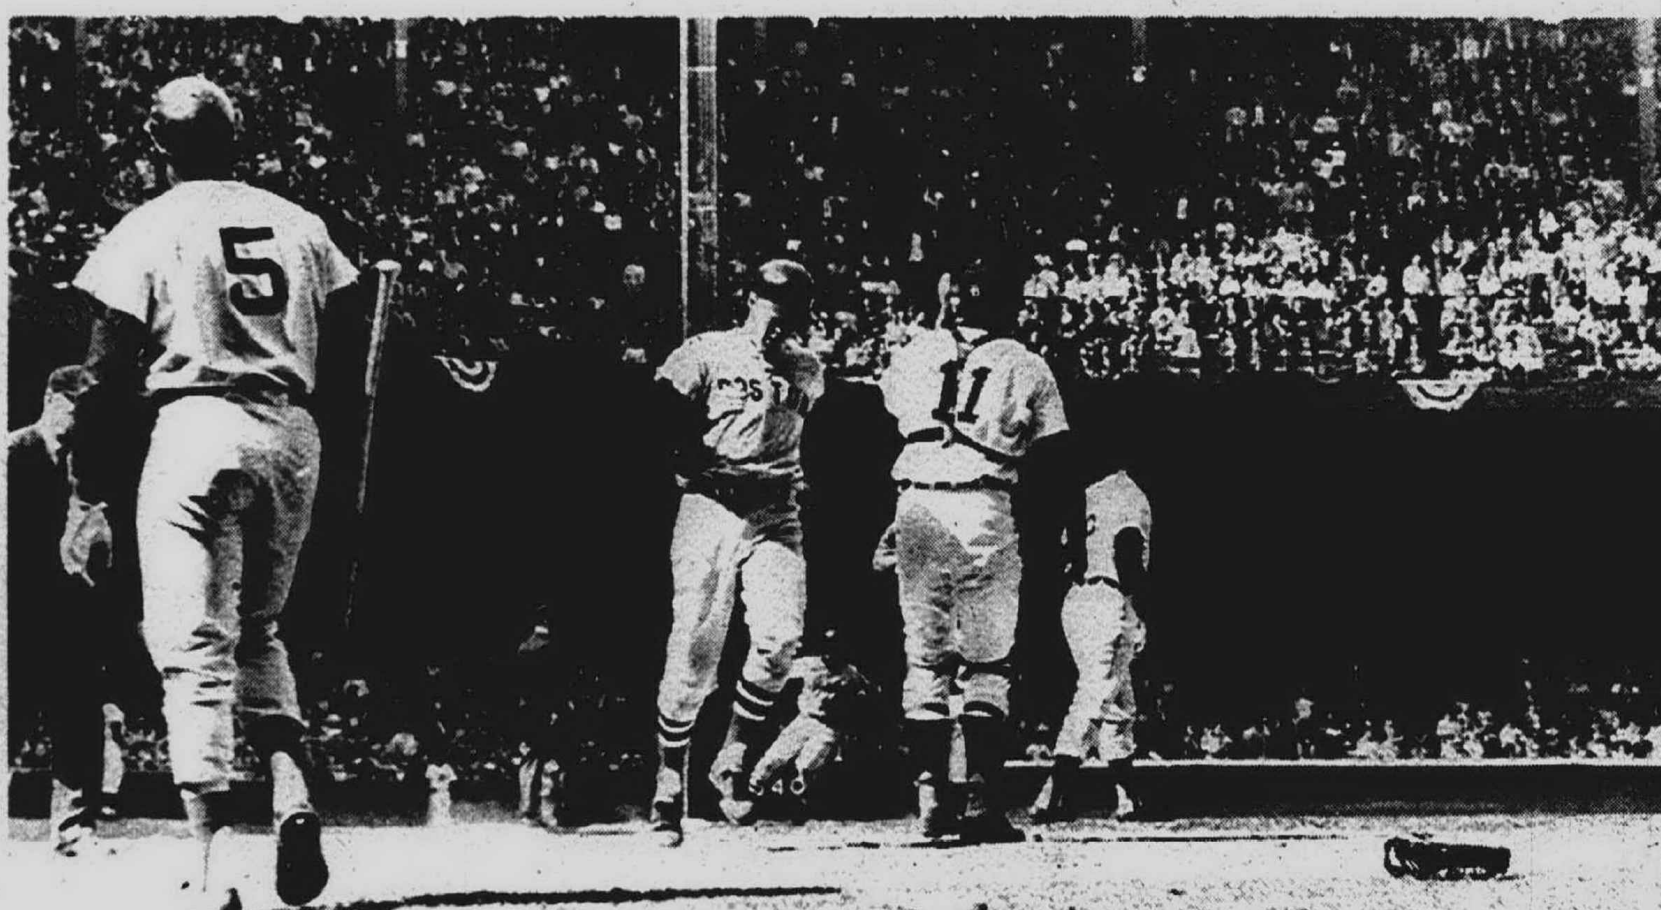

MEET THE TIGERS. The huge opening day gathering had just that opportunity prior to the start of the game. All players were introduced over the PA system and trotted from the bench to the third baseline as the names were called.

PLAY BALL. Here comes the first pitch from Tiger starter Earl Wilson and Boston's Mike Andrews promptly fouled it off into the second deck behind the plate. That's catcher Bill Freehan behind the plate.

SCAMPERING HOME to score on his inside-the-park homer on a long belt to centerfield is Carl Yastrzemski, everybody's choice as most valuable player a year ago. It was one of his two circuit clouts — the other landed high in the second deck of the rightfield stands.

GROUND CREW puts the finishing touches on the diamond, laying out the batter's box and the catcher's position. Then came the call of "play ball" and the season was underway.

Giant Ferry Capsizes In 125-Mile Typhoon

WELLINGTON, N.Z.—One of the world's largest ferries, carrying 744 persons, sank in 125-mile-per hour typhoon winds that smashed New Zealand's largest city.

Police reported more than 57 bodies have been recovered or washed ashore from the sinking of the 9,110-ton ferry Wahine. More than 100 survivors were hospitalized, and rescue officials estimated that another 100 were missing.

The 19-month-old vessel with 614 passengers and 130 crewmen aboard had come to Lyttelton on the south shore when it struck a reef just outside the harbor. The ferry floundered for hours and then capsized.

WORLD ROUNDUP

SAIGON—With U.S. pressure being exerted in the background, President Nguyen Van Thieu has asked legislative approval for a general mobilization to meet the Communist threat in Vietnam.

An extensive mobilization and increased South Vietnamese fighting ability would put Thieu in a better position to ward off any move towards formation of a coalition government with the Communists.

LONDON—Britain's Labor Government has presented its plans for a tougher civil rights law intended to assure equal treatment in housing, jobs, and public accommodations but placing emphasis on conciliation to obtain compliance.

The new bill, which Parliament will debate next week, replaces a less stringent measure enacted in 1965 and will extend the ban on discrimination to the sale or rental of housing.

A familiar sight in Britain are placards in shops saying "white tenants only" or "no colored." The bill will outlaw these advertisements but will not extend to all forms of housing.

TOKYO—The Viet Cong has charged that two of its leaders were murdered in Saigon in January and threatened to retaliate for any future killings with "appropriate measures" against its U.S. and South Vietnamese prisoners.

BUENOS AIRES—A singer here spent 12 hours in police custody for singing the words of a tango. A police patrol entered the night club during the performance and heard the singer warble, "arrest me! Sergeant and put me in chains."

That's the way the song goes, but the police thought the singer was trying to be a wise guy and hauled him away.

RICCIONE, Italy—A young Italian electronics student has invented a cheap and portable jamming device that will silence your neighbor's television when it gets too noisy.

The device went on display at a hobbies exhibition with a sign warning that to use it is to violate an Italian law.

WARSAW—Defense Minister Marian Spychalski, 62, was nominated to become the new president of Poland in the midst of political turmoil that apparently included a power struggle in the Communist Party.

Spychalski was virtually assured election by the Parliament to succeed the nearly blind and ailing President Edward Ochab. Such a step would remove Spychalski from any active political role. The presidency is a largely ceremonial position.

Name Head Of Ind. Engineering

Prof. Daniel Teichroew is the new chairman of the University of Michigan's department of industrial engineering. His five-year appointment, effective with the fall term, was approved by the U-M Regents.

Prof. Teichroew, currently at Case-Western Reserve University in Cleveland, will replace Prof. Walton M. Hancock, who will return to full-time teaching and research after serving as chairman.

MRS. RANDY ELTON ROBERTS
(Sandra Lee Merritt)

Sandra Merritt Is Wed In California

Sandra Lee Merritt became the bride of Randy Elton Roberts in a ceremony Saturday, March 16, in the Chapel of Roses, Pasadena, Calif.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman L. Merritt, of Glendora, Calif., formerly of Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. G.E. Roberts, also of Glendora, are parents of the bridegroom. Dr. V.B. Enselman officiated.

THE BRIDE'S gown was fashioned on empire lines of peau de sole and lace, and featured a round neckline and chapel train. A single rose held her elbow-length veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and butterfly orchids.

Janice Merritt, as her sister's maid of honor, wore a floor-length peach crepe sheath with matching headpiece and carried a cascade of peach spider mums.

Dressed like her were the bridesmaids, Pamela Chamberlin, Nancy Roberts, Roni Stalanker and Sue Bang.

FLOWER GIRL Lair Jones wore a white eyelet pinafore with lace trim and carried a colonial basket of peach petals. Chuck Detwiler assisted the bridegroom, and the ushers were Mike Kickcock, Chris Geyer, Tom Dunn and Greg Miheve.

A reception for 200 guests in the chapel followed the ceremony. The couple will live in Los Angeles after a motor trip up the California coast to Carmel and Monterey.

Both are graduates of Glendora High School. The bride attends Citrus College and the bridegroom is a student at U.C.L.A.

String Puppets To Do A Roaring 20's 'Peter'

"Peter Rabbit" with a new twist—a Roaring Twenties setting—will be presented by Tony Urbano and his troupe of string puppets in three performances of the Detroit Puppet Theatre April 27 in the auditorium of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

"Peter" will tear up the cabbage patch at 10 a.m., 1 and 3 p.m.

Urbano is a creative puppeteer who admits his youthful audiences are much tougher than adults. "If they don't like a show, they don't applaud politely—they get up and walk out," he says.

To keep young audiences on the edges of their seats, he concentrates on action. This technique brought him success for four years of directing and producing the puppet shows at San Francisco's Children's Fairland.

In his California studio and workshop, Urbano has created more than 300 marionettes for Hollywood, New York and Las Vegas nightclub shows, proving his versatility in pleasing adult audiences as well as children. He and his puppets made a 10-week tour of the Soviet Union, appeared on network television shows of Dean Martin, Red Skelton and Jimmy Durante.

Tickets for the show are 75 cents each, groups of 10 or more 50 cents, and may be obtained at the Art Institute ticket office (832-2730), Hudson's ticket services or Grinnell's.

Sailing Film Show Slated

John Biddle will present his newest film "Sail America First" April 19 and 20 in the Ford Auditorium. Show time is 8:30 p.m. both evenings.

The film features the 1967 America's Cup Race. Tickets are available from American Youth Hostels, 14335 W. McNichols, J.L. Hudson ticket offices and the Ford Auditorium.

Brides-To-Be: Their Plans

STEFANIE PETROVICH

Mr. and Mrs. Steven Petrovich, of Riverside Drive, Monroe, announce the engagement of their daughter, Stefanie Virginia, to Carl Russell Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of Beech Avenue, Plymouth. The bride-elect is a senior at Eastern Michigan University, where she is majoring in special education for the mentally handicapped. Her fiancé, a graduate of EMU, was commissioned an officer in the U.S. Army, and presently is teaching accounting and doing graduate work at Wayne State University. A May 31 wedding is planned in St. Marys Church, Monroe.

JUDITH MATHIESON

Mr. and Mrs. James Mathieson, of Lytle Road, Farmington, announce the engagement of their daughter, Judith Arlene, to Ronald Allan Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison Jr., of Dearborn Heights. The bride-elect is a graduate of Redford Union High School and her fiancé graduated from Allen Park High School. Both are seniors at Eastern Michigan University. An August wedding is planned.

SUSAN HARNESS

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry K. Harness, of Jackson, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Grier, to John Paton Park III, son of Mrs. John Paton Park Jr., of Holbrook Avenue, Plymouth, and the late Mr. Park. The bride-elect is a graduate of Parkside High School in Jackson and attends Michigan State University. Her fiancé graduated from Plymouth High School and is a senior at MSU, where he is affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi. An August wedding is planned.

WORLD OF WOMEN

Meet To Consider Child With Learning Disabilities

The child with learning disabilities will be the focal point of a two-day conference May 24 and 25 at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Members of the recently-formed Livonia chapter will participate.

The conference is expected to draw some 2,000 professionals and parents interested in the problem of understanding and teaching such children, according to Dr. Lee W. Haslinger, president of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Disabilities.

MACLD is sponsoring the conference in cooperation with the University of Michigan School of Education and Extension Service.

Two experts in the field will address the conference in the morning sessions. Dr. William M. Cruickshank, director of the Institute for Mental Retardation, and professor of Psychology and Education, U. of M., will discuss "Diagnosis and educational planning for the child with learning disabilities."

DR. SHELDON R. RAPPA-PORT, president of the Parkway School, Norristown, Pa.,

will speak on "Life Planning for the child with learning disabilities: home, school, community."

Afternoon workshop sessions will be devoted to special groups as parents, counselors, school principals, special education directors, psychologists, pediatricians, school social workers, teachers and others.

Because the speakers will address concurrent sessions, the Friday (May 24) conference program will be repeated on Saturday (May 25) so that participants may hear both speakers.

GOP Women Hear Pontiac Police Chief

Pontiac Police Chief William K. Hanger, will speak on "Civil Disobedience" at the meeting of the Republican Women's Organization of Farmington Hills at 8 p.m. Monday, April 22, in the auditorium of the Farmington Savings and Loan Association Building. The meeting is open to the public. The building is located on Orchard Lake Road at Grand River.

Chief Hanger completed studies at the University of Wisconsin, Texas A. & M. College, Oakland University and Michigan State University. He is a graduate of the F.B.I. National Academy, Washington D.C. and is a former instructor and coordinator of police training at Oakland University.

He joined the Pontiac Police department in 1946 and was appointed chief four years ago. He is a member of the U.S. attorney general's planning committee for national police training in the prevention and control of civil disturbances.

Health Guild Sets Luncheon

Members of the Livonia Health Guild will hear Mrs. Gertrude Redmond, supervisor of the Western Wayne County Branch of visiting nurses, Thursday, April 18 at 12:30 p.m. in St. Paul Lutheran Church, Farmington and Five Mile.

Mrs. Redmond will discuss the nursing services provided to the county by the visiting nurses association. Reservations for the guild's spring luncheon may be made with Mrs. James Lynch, 421-7685.

Hospital beds, wheel chairs, walkers, crutches and small hospital equipment are available through the Guild. Mrs. Marian VanRiper, 421-2771 may be contacted regarding these items.

In addition to this equipment the Guild supervises a well baby clinic which is open twice a month. Interested persons may contact Mrs. Laura Rolan, 421-6665, regarding the clinic.

YOUNG MODELS—The young ladies enjoying the spring flowers will be modeling some of the "Travel Togs for '68" to be presented by the women's guild of St. Priscilla Catholic Church, Livonia, at 8 p.m. Thursday, April 18, in Roma Hall. From left, the girls are Mary Jaskowiak, Susan Lynch and Peggy McGarry. Guild members also will model. Mrs. Richard Hamilton is general chairman, and tickets are available from Mrs. Michael McGarry, 427-7234.

All Purpose Wine Glass

The all-purpose wine glass—first acquaintance of the wine novice and old friend of the gourmet—is increasing in popularity throughout the country. Although graceful wine glasses come in various shapes and sizes and in many different price ranges, some people don't wish to keep a large supply of glassware.

For them, the all-purpose wine glass is the answer. It has an 8 or 9-ounce tulip-shaped bowl with plenty of room for a generous serving of wine, and space above for the delicious wine aroma and bouquet. Stems may be longer or shorter than the 1 1/2" standard length.

Any wines—appetizer, dinner, dessert and sparkling, may be served with assurance in an all-purpose glass. The usual serving is a little over half-full for table and sparkling wines, a little less than half for appetizer and dessert wines. The all-purpose glass is attractive enough to enhance any table, inexpensive, and sturdy. When the glasses are combined with a bottle of California wine, a thoughtful and distinctive gift results.

It's Open Season For Summer Jobs For Teens

Unlike the deer or the trout season, there isn't any official opening date for summer job hunting.

For people who like to plan ahead, the season arrives just on the heels of the first case of spring fever. For others, summer job hunting never gets underway until the schoolbooks are put into summer storage.

Few people in Observerland know more about jobs for teens and young adults than Mrs. Betsy Tagami, who directs Livonia's Youth Employment Service. We asked her to provide a few basic job-hunting hints which just might make the search a little easier and a little more successful.

Here are her suggestions:

•DEFINE YOUR OBJECTIVES. It's important to decide what you want from a summer job. Money? Training? A new experience? Often a job will provide more than one of these things, but if you decide which is most important to you, you'll be in a better position to evaluate the jobs that are available.

•PREPARE YOURSELF. It's not too late now, Mrs. Tagami points out, to get some training which could land you a great summer job. A Red Cross water safety course between now and the end of school could qualify you for a camp job, for instance. Or a typing course could land you an office job. There are two months until school is out, and that's enough time to learn a lot.

•LOOK EARLY. The sooner you get started, the better chance you have of finding the job you want. Employers, too, need a chance to plan. Sometimes they can even create jobs if they know help will be available. Looking early also demonstrates interest and enthusiasm to an employer. And, Mrs. Tagami adds, there's an obvious advantage in job hunting before the market is flooded with applications—"The early bird..." and all that.

•VISIT SEVERAL EMPLOYERS and file several applications. It pays to look around, and there's no law against filing as many applications as you can get your hands on. You may be able to discover jobs that you didn't know existed. Even if you know exactly what you want to do, you may be glad to have a second or third choice to fall back on if the first-choice job doesn't work out.

•DON'T BE AFRAID of new experiences. Most summer jobs don't require extensive training, so this is a great chance to try something different for a few months. If you already know all there is to know about babysitting or ringing a cash register, maybe this is the summer to look for a job feeding the elephants in the zoo—or something.

•DISCUSS JOBS WITH YOUR PARENTS. Often, Mrs. Tagami says, teens ignore the help their parents could give in job hunting. Parents are often aware of where or how jobs can be found.

•DON'T SELL YOURSELF SHORT. If you have some special interests, talents, or abilities, let employers know about them. Modesty is great, but no employer wants to conduct a full-scale investigation to find out what you might be able to do.

City Teens Hunt Jobs-165,000

About 165,000 Detroit teenagers (16 to 19-year-olds) will actively seek jobs—unless they already have them—in the summer of 1968. This prediction was made today by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics in a release of estimates of teenage employment needs in the 20 largest metropolitan areas this summer.

Detroit teen-age employment in the summer of 1967 was 135,000, thus the number of jobs available will have to be 30,000 greater than last summer's total if all teen-age job-seekers are to have work opportunity.

Thomas J. McArdle, regional director of the Bureau's North Central Region said the estimates will be of value to civic authorities who are planning summer employment programs together with business, labor and educational leaders. He said that although the estimates are not precise, they are close enough for purposes of program planning. Much has been said about the responsibilities of private and public employers to provide work experience and earning opportunity for teenagers in the summer.

Many teen-agers have had jobs in the winter and spring. Although the total number of these in Detroit is not available, McArdle said, the Bureau estimates there will be 1,600,000 employed 16 to 19-year-olds in the 20 areas in the spring of 1968. About two-fifths of these jobs are full-time, and presumably will carry over to the summer.

Natural Fence Graces Yard

Want to do something nice for your garden? Highlight planting beds with a backdrop of weathered fencing. Rough, silvered wood has a beauty all its own, but it's also one of the finest complements possible for plant materials.

Though new fencing will appear raw, it begins acquiring its silver sheen in just a season. Homeowners can hasten the process by finishing the wood with bleaching oil or a clear water repellent. In sunny yards, the fence will weather more rapidly if sprayed regularly with the garden hose.

For a shaded yard and homeowners too impatient to wait for nature, new fencing can be finished with a single coat of exterior-grade, semi-transparent stain in a driftwood shade. The transition between stained finish and weathering will be barely perceptible.

Earns Degree

Detlef Soberay, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Soberay, of Livonia, has completed requirements for a Bachelor of Science degree at Valparaiso University. His field of concentration was business.

MISS DEB

... answers questions about Junior Miss etiquette, grooming and interests.

Q. I'm not a nail nibbler—but my nails look like it. Every time I let them grow, they split and peel and look a mess! What's my problem?

A. Could be your diet! Eat lots of calcium-rich foods, such as milk and cheese. Gelatin also helps make strong nails. A weekly manicure is essential. If, in the growing process, one of your nails starts to break, reinforce it with a tiny piece of white Kleenex tissue placed over the broken spot. Then apply polish over the nail and tissue. No one will notice your nifty handiwork, and the nail will be saved until it grows out.

Q. Two summer job possibilities have come up, one as a junior counselor at camp, the other here in the city. I'd like the counseling job best, but what do I say if the other is offered first?

A. Lucky you! Summer jobs are hard to come by. Write to the camp director as a follow-up to your conversation. It's unlikely you'll be offered the city job on the spot, but if you are, level with your prospective employer. Tell him the job sounds just wonderful—but you've been wanting to work for the camp since you were eight. Then tell him you'll be in touch with him in a couple of days. Summer is still many weeks away—and you'll have plenty of time to make the right decision!

Q. Believe it or not, I have 10 best friends, and we're all turning "sweet 16" this year! That means an important birthday—AND a present—almost every month of the year! But what about my budget?

A. The best gifts are those with more thought than money poured into them. For the writer in the crowd, take an empty tin can and cover it with Marvalon adhesive covering in a bright, feminine pattern. Voila—a penholder! Top off the gift with a feather-topped ballpoint pen. Or, cover a wastebasket, box for rollers, hair spray can, and notebook for a roomful of accessories. The possibilities end only where your imagination does!

SUMMER 1968 WILL BE the season of the ruffle and the waistline. One of the most popular looks pairs a white Victorian blouse with a bright skirt, widely belted.

Farmington Girl Is Swim Champ

At 17, Cathy Stidwill is one of the top women swimmers in Michigan. She holds a long string of both indoor and outdoor state records and will be one of eight women in the state competing next week in the Women's National AAU Swimming Championships in Pittsburgh.

She manages to sandwich classes and homework at Farmington High between exhausting workouts both morning and evening in a Detroit pool.

"Right now," she admits, "there's not time for much else. But I love swimming, and it's taught me a lot."

Of course, there are a few disadvantages, like the hair problem. "It's simply never dry, except when I wake up in the morning. Usually I pull it back and tie it with a ribbon or bow."

On a more serious note, swimming at a championship level doesn't leave much time or energy for social life. Kathy says it's a little hard to explain to a date that she has to be home by nine to rest for a meet the next day, so most of the boys she dates are also swimmers.

Next year she'll be a freshman at the University of Michigan, but that won't rule out swimming. She has already arranged to work with the men's team under Coach Gus Stager. She plans to major in physical education and would like to become—you guessed it—a swimming coach.

Sports of any kind fascinate her. She'd love to ski but, as she says, "I'd probably break a leg so I just don't dare."

At the moment, it's the Nationals next week that occupy most of her thoughts. This will be her third year at the indoor three-day meet, and both she and her coach think she may have a good chance to place among the finalists in one of the freestyle events. She'll be swimming the 100 yard freestyle, the 1650 freestyle and the 500 freestyle in a relay team. Kathy also qualified for the 200 yard individual medley, but had to choose a maximum of three events to swim at the meet.

The Nationals begin Thursday, and chances are that by the time Kathy returns to Farmington next weekend, she'll have at least one new trophy to add to her collection.

majoring in education.

THOMAS A. PARMENTER, of Livonia, will be touring with the Central Michigan University Concert Choir next week. The 50-voice choir will perform in Newaygo, Cedar Springs, White Cloud, Big Rapids, Manistee and Traverse City. Thomas is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon O. Parmenter of Six Mile Road.

....OF DINING AND FINE WINE

the only thing staying the typical American desire to satiate one's mind with knowledge and one's palate with the undeniable pleasures offered by wine.

First, that we may become better acquainted, allow me to introduce myself as Staton Lorenz of Plymouth. I've been a wine enthusiast since my senior year in hotel administration at Cornell University, where a bottle of New York State wine put sparkle into many a dull Ivy League football afternoon. Much of my real experience with wine comes firsthand from tasting wines from the corners of the globe, and having served and sold wines to many of you readers while with my father at the Hotel Mayflower in Plymouth.

I SPENT THREE YEARS, after graduation and the Army and until the fall of 1966, as the catering manager of the hotel and operator of the Wine Shop, where I saw the many difficulties facing buyers and potential buyers of wine. I heard the same basic questions a thousand times and saw confused diners reluctant to order from a wine list. I spoke with everyone I could and found my own interest and knowledge snowballing.

As I read and tasted and read some more, from books available to the public, I became better equipped to answer questions and enjoy wine. Frequent visits to a progressive wine importer's headquarters in Detroit for more precise information and comparative tastings proved to me that one doesn't have to drink wine once a day or even once a week to gain a complete and ever expanding insight into the depths of wine enjoyment.

Carol, my wife of one year, and I look forward to carefully selected wines for the times we're with friends and seldom drink wine with a daily meal. She prefers coffee and I milk, yet there is little question that we greatly anticipate occasions for wine and we enjoy many different varieties.

PERHAPS YOU would like to hear what my objectives are in this column as you readers will play a significant part in their fulfillment. New vocabulary words will pop up frequently as we become increasingly involved with evaluating a given wine or wine type and meaning will be given to these words.

Reader questions will be answered by selection of the most frequently submitted query and I will devote the entire column to an answer when necessary. Many basic questions are expected at the start and a slow accumulation of background will ultimately lead to solution of some of the modern mysteries of wine.

You will become, in fact, a world traveler within a wine glass...understanding how geography, climate, soil, sun and vine are usurped by wine makers of all nations in the annual struggle with nature to provide wine for our table.

Sound like fun, I truly hope so as we have BEGUN.

Last week a reader asked me which country produces the best wine and if I think American wines are ever going to be as good as the imported ones. Let's start the ball rolling with this answer to a very good question and one that has, no doubt, crossed many minds.

Wine is the natural result of fermentation of grapes (other fruits can be made into wine) and can occur without the aid of man. The more man has to do with nature's actions and the more experienced he becomes with his craft the better the wine will be.

THE GROWING OF grapes is like the growing of roses, carrots or any other fruit of God and the earth. Man is dependent upon the soil, the climate, the sun and the rain, and given equal amounts, in all the above categories, no two men could produce wines of equal quality.

Ever notice how your neighbor (the one who likes to garden while you are golfing) gets his roses to grow a foot taller, bloom more profusely, and with such perfect flowers? You both, probably, get just as much sun in your garden, as much rain on your lawn and the soil can't be too different as you live in the same development. What then could be the difference? Attention.

Careful attention to the little things like: pruning, fertilizer, cultivation, just the right amount of sun exposure (regulated by shade or sloping land, etc.), irrigation and minor details known only to a second or third generation florist.

EN GARDE! — Peter Ustinov, in the title role of Walt Disney's new comedy, "Blackbeard's Ghost," duels an imaginary opponent in a story about the spirit of a pirate who is an invisible ally to a track coach. It's showing at area theaters.

Tigers Split Opening Series With A.L. Champs

The thinking of the Detroit Tigers toward Gates Brown may have changed.

At the same time the Tigers' thinking to discard some older pitchers like Fred Gladding and Hank Aguirre in favor of youngsters like Jon Warden has paid some speedy dividends.

The Tigers split their season's opening series with the defending American League champs by bouncing back with a 4-3 victory on Thursday after doing little right on Wednesday when they bowed, 7-3, before 41,429 fans.

The heroes in the Detroit triumph turned out to be Brown, whom the club tried to trade away throughout spring training, and Warden, a rookie lefty who a year ago was hurling for Rocky Mountain, N.C., in the Class A League.

Manager Mayo Smith can be thankful that no deal could be worked out for Brown.

It was his homer in the ninth inning that broke a 3-3 deadlock and decided the issue.

THAT BLOW also gave the win to Warden in his first appearance in the big leagues, after he had worked two scoreless innings in relief—one in which he received a big scare. Brown's game-winning smash carried into the upper deck in right field and gave Smith a chance to smile over his bench and over his bullpen—two items any team needs if it's to become a serious contender for a pennant.

Brown was swinging as a pinch-hitter, a role he's destined to handle most of the season since he rates behind Willie Horton, Al Kaline, Jim Northrup and Mickey Stanley on the Tigers' list of outfielders.

Smith's move to bring Brown north last week surprised many, just as did the surprise verdict to go along with Warden.

THERE WERE indications that the even minus a deal the Tigers would prefer Wayne Comer, a rookie, to Brown because Comer swings from the right side of the plate.

Smith figured that Brown's experience would pay off and besides Comer would benefit more by playing every day for Toledo in the American Association.

By-standers also thought that Warden would do better by working regular turns for Toledo. But Smith saw enough in the 21-year-old's work in Florida to feel that Warden was ready now for the big time.

The long ball featured the Tiger victory. Dick McAuliffe had started the Tiger festivities with a shot into the seats in right field.

Then Al Kaline singled home Don Wert who had doubled, and Bill Freehan slapped a drive into the left field seats to make it 3-0 for the Tigers.

THE LEAD held up until the sixth as Farmington's Denny McLain coasted along without too much trouble.

But the gopher pitch rebounded in McLain's face in the sixth. After Reggie Smith singled, rookie Joe LaHoud drilled a liner into the right field stands.

Rico Petrocelli, a big star for the Bosox on Wednesday, followed with a 420-foot shot beyond the flag pole in center to equal the score.

The Tigers muffed a great chance in the seventh when they loaded the bases on walks with one out. But nothing happened.

In the eighth, great catches by Northrup and Horton, the latter to end the inning with three on, pulled Warden out of difficulties.

That paved the way for Brown's winning blow in the ninth.

Petrocelli, Carl Yastrzemski and newcomer Dick Ellsworth proved too much for the Tigers in the season's opener.

Ellsworth, a lefty making his American League debut, went the route and scattered nine hits. He never was in a real jam.

PETROCELLI drove in three runs while Yastrzemski, last year's American League most valuable player and triple-crown winner, poked out two homers, one an inside-the-park job.

Earl Wilson, the Tiger starter, was tagged for two runs in the second, another in the third and two in the sixth before he finally was chased.

Wilson had beaten the Red Sox five times without losing to the AL champs last season as he posted 22 triumphs.

Wilson tried to help his own cause with a third-inning homer but his mates could do little against Ellsworth, who was obtained from the Philadelphia Phillies during an off-season deal.

The Bosox led, 6-1, in the eighth when McAuliffe doubled and Kaline beat out a hit. Horton followed with a double that scored McAuliffe, but when Horton overran second, he was tagged out. Wert then scored on an infield out for Detroit's third run.

The Tigers were off Friday. They were to face Chicago Saturday and Sunday afternoons at Tiger Stadium before going to Boston Monday and Tuesday. Cleveland plays at Tiger Stadium Wednesday and Thursday in day attractions.

Wolverine Plans Two Matinee Racing Programs

Harness racing fans in Michigan, the Detroit and Observerland area will have an opportunity to see the pacers and trotters perform in daylight and again under the lights next Wednesday and Saturday when Wolverine Raceway presents two unprecedented matinee-evening doubleheaders. Each will be a separate program.

There have been doubleheaders in the district during the past two years—at Windsor Raceway during the winter—but never before at a parimutuel meeting in Michigan.

Permission for the 20-race programs—10 in the afternoon and 10 at night—was given by State Racing Commissioner Leo Shirley Wednesday.

After losing four programs, blacked out during the curfew of last week and early this week, Wolverine Vice President and General Manager Orlo Owen requested permission for the matinees.

It was quickly granted by Commissioner Shirley after consultation with the Governor's office in Lansing.

SO, THOSE WHO like to see the standardbreds will have an opportunity to watch them go in the afternoon on Wednesday and Saturday beginning at 1:15 p.m. and then can return for the afterdark program at the normal post time of 8:30 p.m.

Track officials indicated the request for the additional matinee programs was made to assist horsemen who saw their horses idled for four nights.

"We felt we owed it to the owners, drivers and trainers to get as many races as possible for their pacers and trotters at this time," said a track spokesman. "Most of them need racing during an early meeting like this and the money from the purses is much appreciated by owners who have been training horses without any financial return throughout the winter."

IT ISN'T THE first time Michigan has had parimutuel wagering on afternoon harness racing. There were programs at the State Fairgrounds, Jackson, Iowa, and Kalamazoo years ago at which wagering was permitted.

It is the first time matinee and evening programs have been permitted at a state track since the advent of night harness racing in 1944.

Owen indicated the gates will be opened at noon for the Wednesday matinee and at 11:30 a.m. for the Saturday afternoon program.

Following the matinees, the grounds will be cleared and the racing strip reconditioned for the night program.

THE BEST LAUGH of the entire afternoon came before the Tigers started play in their opening game.

When Gov. Romney's opening pitch hit the dirt in front of the plate and bounded into Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's waiting glove, some wag remarked:

"Well, Jerry helped the Governor out again."

Ken Gowkowski came in for Bentley in the fourth inning and set down six straight men before yielding to Tim Malone, who also had retired six in a row, including four on strikes.

Bob Cascadin singled in Mike Cascini with Bentley's first run while hits by Jim Powers and Bill Rice and an error accounted for Bentley's second counter.

IN THE SECOND INNING, a hit by Dave Paden and an error added two more runs for Franklin. Then in the third against the pitching of Dave Kelly, Franklin exploded for six counters as Hellstein, LeBlanc and Mike Lehto took turns knocking across markers.

Ken Gowkowski came in

Sports News

By George Maskin

Turning out of our subdivision the other day, we quickly came upon two baseball diamonds where youngsters for North Farmington's Little League baseball teams were working out.

There was quite a throng present — both players and adults, the latter present to manage and coach.

Trying to drive through the traffic precluded much of an opportunity to inspect closely what was going on — on the two diamonds.

Hopefully, the fathers who gathered to run and help with each team would retain the same enthusiasm they were showing on this, the first day of drills, into the hot days of late June and July when, perhaps their teams had become losers on the field.

Hopefully, too, the youngsters so eager to play in April will not lose the desire come June and July after they haven't had too much opportunity to participate in games and have spent most of their time on the bench.

Most important, however, one has to wish that the boys will learn something while they're out there as members of the Little League team.

WE'LL GRANT that few of the dads associated with the Little League program are teachers or professional coaches. Most never played on a baseball team, or any other team.

Yet, regardless of one's background, he can impart some knowledge and thus make the time spent by all concerned something valuable and something to be remembered.

If we've had a complaint about Little League baseball it is that the boys involved learn very little from the time a season begins until it finishes.

The boys who can't swing a bat in the spring, haven't improved to any degree in July.

Pitchers who struggle to get the ball over in April, seem to show little improvement in the later stages of the season.

Infielders who don't know how to handle themselves with a man on base in the spring, are just as lost when a rival gets aboard in July.

TRUE, WE CAN'T expect that the adults will solve all the problems. There isn't the time, among other things.

But there has to be something the fathers can pass along to the boys which will stand the kids in good stead.

If nothing else, the dads can instruct their charges to win and lose gracefully . . . to respect the umpire or umpires . . . to have respect for the fellows sitting in the opposing dugout.

In the latter category, the best way the dads can help is by setting an example themselves.

They don't have to go screaming toward an ump who has called what might appear a wrong play at second or a pitch a ball instead of a strike.

The pops should know better — and so should the moms — that when a game has ended and their team has lost, that the blame for the defeat shouldn't be slapped on the umpire.

In actuality, it may have been a decision made by a manager or a coach which had more to do with the defeat than any made by the umpire.

IF THE ADULTS can't respect umpires, how can they expect the youngsters to?

And to us, there's a more serious side to such a situation — beyond the confines of the athletic field.

Lack of respect for an official can produce a similar lack of respect for a police officer or a school teacher or the adult who lives next door.

Or, maybe for you yourself, the boy's dad or mom.

There's so much that can be learned by a youngster playing baseball.

It's up to those of us who have been around to do our parts.

I know that when we have umpired Little League games, we've tried to say things which might assist a boy.

Will you, as dads, and mothers, do the same? In the long run, you'll feel better about it . . . and so will your boys!

'76ers Aren't Finished Yet

Dead? Not the world champion Philadelphia 76ers.

There were those who figured the 76ers had had it when they lost the opener of their Eastern Division finals in the National Basketball Association.

But the 76ers rolled back to trim Boston, 115-106, at Boston Wednesday and then on Thursday scored a 122-114 win in Philadelphia to take a 2-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

Game four will be played Sunday in Boston and will be on national TV with Channel 7 the Detroit outlet at 2 p.m. Meantime in the Western finals, Los Angeles made it two straight over San Francisco, 115-112.

THE 76ERS' bench spelled the difference against Boston Wednesday as Matt Goukas, Bill Melchioni and Johnny Green came through in the second period when the 76ers boomed ahead by seven points and remained in command the rest of the way.

Wally Jones with 24 points topped the winners.

The Thursday game saw Hal Greer tally 21 of his 31 points in the fourth period to ward off a Boston comeback which had cut the 76ers' lead to 104-103 with five minutes left to play.

Wilt Chamberlain and Chet Walker each had 23 points for the winners while Jones had 20 and ex-Michigan State star Green 17.

John Havlicek was high for Boston in both games, getting 28 Wednesday and 27 Thursday.

LOS ANGELES had to overcome a 10-point deficit in the final few minutes to subdue San Francisco.

The Lakers' one-two punch of Elgin Baylor and Jerry West was too much for the Warriors. Each made 36 points.

Raiders Beaten In 2 Sports

It was a tough Thursday for North Farmington High in baseball and track.

Both Raider teams lost. In baseball Walled Lake trounced North Farmington, 11-1, by scoring eight times in the fourth inning. Wally Williams slammed two doubles and a single and John Burgess a homer, single and triple for the winners.

The North Farmington track team amassed only 38 points to winning Cranbrook's 70 and Walled Lake's 43 in a triangular meet.

John Mann accounted for the sole Raider first place as he won the high jump with an effort of six feet, two inches.

The spring off-campus course program of the Michigan State University Continuing Education Service lists 163 courses in 38 communities throughout the state.

Habs Bounce Bruins Out Of Puck Play

For nine years the Boston Bruins tried in vain to make the National Hockey League playoffs.

They finally qualified for the '68 Stanley Cup competition, but they didn't last long. The Montreal Canadiens, the regular-season champs in 1967-68, spoiled the Bruins' bubble by ousting Boston in four straight.

After winning the first two at home, the Canadiens clipped the Bruins, 5-2, in Boston Tuesday and then followed with a 3-2 win Thursday to move into the Eastern Division final against the eventual winner between New York and Chicago.

MONTREAL RALLIED for both triumphs at Boston. In each case Ed Westfall put the Bruins on top early. But in the Tuesday game, veteran John Beliveau tied it and three second-period goals by Claude Provost, Ralph Backstrom and John Ferguson iced matters.

On Thursday after Westfall scored, Claude LaRose hit twice for Montreal and then faced to Backstrom for what proved the winning goal with 3:25 left to go.

Boston regained life when Charles Hodge tallied with 85 seconds left, but that was it for the Bruins.

The Rangers, after beating Chicago, 2-1, on Tuesday, dropped a 7-4 verdict at Chicago Thursday. Thus the Rangers enter Saturday's television game with a 2-1 edge.

DONNIE MARSHALL'S goal with seven minutes left won for the Rangers, but on Thursday Chicago bounced back with five tallies in the third period. Stan Mikita and Pip Martin each had scores for the Hawks. Rod Gilbert of New York tallied twice within six seconds in the second period, just one second off the record set by Livonia's Norm Ullman when he played with Detroit against Chicago three years ago.

In the Western Division, St. Louis seized a 3-1 lead against Philadelphia by winning, 5-2, while Minnesota topped Los Angeles, 3-2, to even the set at two games apiece.

Have You Checked With an Employment Agency?

Employment agencies are in business to help you find the right job to match your talents and skills. They have trained counselors available to help you. Employment agencies are aware of the daily pulse of Detroit's job market and it's this awareness that makes it possible for you to obtain the best possible position. Check classifications 4-1A and 4-4, because many firms rely solely on employment agencies to help them find job applicants.
