Gov. Romney said he will push for compulsory arbitration if the 165-day Detroit Newspaper strike is not settled within a week after his Tuesday meeting with publishers and the unions.

Romney said he will use subpoena powers to summon union and publisher representatives to his Lansing office Tuesday if they do not come voluntarily.

If this attempt at settlement fails, he said, the Senate bill requiring compulsory arbitration will be brought to the floor for passage.

You'll lose an hour of sleep Sunday morning when Michigan goes back on Daylight Saving Time.

Michigan voters haven't yet decided to go along with the national pattern of Daylight Saving Time but the clocks in the state will be advanced an hour on Sunday.

The State is subject to DST until the Nov. 5 election when a statewide referendum will settle the issue.

So at midnight Saturday, set your clocks an hour ahead.

LIVONIA — A local contracting firm, the Shaw Electric Co., has been ordered to integrate its 75 employees to include Negroes or face losing a $640,000 City of Detroit contract. Company President William E. Kurtz said his firm will comply with the integration order "wholeheartedly." The ruling came from Detroit's Commission on Community Relations under an ordinance governing equal opportunity employment in city contracts. Kurtz said his company has been promised the full cooperation of Electrical Workers Union Local 58 of Detroit. The latter indirectly faces further integration of its own membership ranks as Detroit continues to bear down on enforcement of its fair employment ordinance.

LIVONIA — The funnel of a tornado in last week's storm dipped down and struck a factory and office building under construction here by the Holcroft Co., manufacturers of industrial furnaces. The twister tore a 4,000 square foot roof from the structure. One construction worker in a gang of nine men atop the building was injured but released after treatment at a local hospital. It was apparently the only Livonia location where the tornado inflicted damage.

REDFORD — Ellis Ross, accused of shooting a Redford policeman while fleeing from a $10,000 bank robbery, is free on bond pending trials. Federal Judge Damon Keith lowered Ross' bond from $20,000 to $15,000 on the armed robbery count, after Dearborn Heights Judge George Wicklund set bond at $5,000 on the assault with intent to murder charge. Redford Police Chief Edwin Gleza issued a statement rapping the judges for leniency.

All Eyes Are On Plymouth As Open Housing Vote Nears

The eyes of Michigan will be focused on the City of Plymouth Monday when voters go to the polls to settle the question of an open housing ordinance. Originally passed by the City Commission by a 4 to 3 margin last December the ordinance, has been held in abeyance since the filing of petitions two months ago asking for the referendum.

The election is being looked upon as one of the most important in the city's history for several reasons.

First, it will determine the city's policy on equal opportunity for all persons regardless of race, color or national origin.

Second, it will be a means of determining whether the City Commission has the full feeling of the people when it determines important issues.

THUS FAR only two cities in Michigan have adopted open housing by referendum. They are Flint and Birmingham and if the measure passes Monday Plymouth will take rank as the third in the entire state to give its approval.

Whether the vote Monday will be heavy or light remains a moot question.

In some sections of the city the feeling is that the voters will turn out in large numbers due to the work of the Human Relations Committee and the campaign it has conducted to create interest.

In other areas there is a feeling that not more than one third of the 4,516 registered voters will mark their ballots.

City Clerk Gene Slider, in charge of the election, was non-committal on the vote.

"It is the history of special elections in Plymouth that only about one third of the electorate turns out," he explained, "but this time I really don't know."

"I haven't seen much literature on the question and I have no other way of telling."

"We will be ready," he continued, "for all the voters who wish to cast ballots."

THE VOTING will be done in the three regular locations. They are at Plymouth High School, Starkweather School and the community center in the rear of City Hall. The latter location will handle the voters from three precincts.

The Open Housing ordinance has been a top item in the city for the better part of the past year.

At the request of the Human Relations Committee the City Commission had an ordinance prepared and the Commission Chambers were jammed for the public hearing on the document last winter.

Mayor James Jabara, who conducted the hearing, gave everyone who wished a chance to speak before the hearing closed.

Then, later, when the Commission went into official session, each Commissioner was given an opportunity to voice his opinion before casting a vote.

From the start Commissioner Arch Vallier was opposed to the measure on the theory that "this is a choice that the people should make and not our group of seven men. It should be put in the ballot."

MAYOR JABARA also expressed the feeling that the people should have the final say on such an important decision. Former Commissioner George Hudson, who was then seated on the Commission, expressed the feeling that there was no need for such an ordinance.

The other Commissioners were just as positive on the opposite side. So, when the vote was taken, the ordinance was adopted 4 to 3, with Commissioners James Houk, Peter Schweitzer, James McKeon and Robert Smith voting for it, and Commissioner's Vallier, Hudson and Mayor Jabara casting negative votes.

Following the passage it was announced that the public had 90 days in which to file petitions if they wanted a referendum.

Meanwhile, several groups in the city got together and filed more than a sufficient number of signatures on petitions to suspend the ordinance and put the choice up to the people.

They will make the decision on Monday when the polls will be open until 8 o'clock in the evening.

GETTING SET FOR VOTERS: A great deal of paper work goes on behind the scenes to get ready for a special election. Here, City Clerk Gene Slider, who is in charge of Monday's voting is shown directing two members of his staff, Suzanne Kippola (seated) and Catherine Milligan in the final preparations.

Ordinance Endorsed By University Women

The American Association of University Women, that has a branch in Plymouth, has endorsed open housing across the state and, in view of the referendum in Plymouth on Monday, Mrs. John H. Haas, president of the Plymouth group, has released the following statement:

"All Michigan Branches of the American Association of University Women work under a broad program of principles which includes the support of social and economic measures to strengthen the Michigan community, to maintain family integrity, and to promote the development of each individual to the maximum potential."

Specifically this includes the support of civil rights measures to protect the constitutional rights guaranteed to individuals one of the objectives being: (b). Elimination of discriminatory practices associated with distinctions based upon sex, age, marital status, race, color, creed or national origin.

In support of the case for open housing let me quote from the Report of the National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders, March 1, 1968 (Kerner Commission).

"Our Nation is moving toward two societies, one black and one white—separate and unequal. Discrimination and segregation have long permeated much of American life; they now threaten the future of every American...To pursue our present course will involve the continuing polarization of the American community and, ultimately, the destruction of basic democratic values."

"Segregation and poverty have created in the racial ghetto a destructive environment totally unknown to most white Americans. What white Americans have never fully understood—but what the Negro can never forget—is that white society is deeply implicated in the ghetto."

White institutions created it, white institutions maintain it, and white society condones it."

The Kerner Commission points out that there are three choices open to the Nation: 1) maintain our present policies, the inadequate and failing effort for the disadvantaged; 2) dramatically improve the quality of ghetto life while abandoning integration as a

'Yes' Vote Is Urged On Housing

Plymouth's citizens will have the chance to keep the promises of freedom to others that their forebears came to America to enjoy a century ago.

Voters will make the decision Monday on the fair housing ordinance passed by the city commission, then referred to the electorate.

The Plymouth Mail & Observer urges passage of the ordinance.

It is unconscionable that the people of any American city must vote to sustain a public creed already exhorted upon the Christian-Judeo conscience and guaranteed by our basic temporal law.

NOW WE MUST go to the polls to be counted as for or against the equality of man under God and for or against a right upon which this country was founded.

This is abrasive criticism of Plymouth, a community rich in traditional American values. If the basic thought and belief of equality had survived social pressures, then the vote would be unnecessary.

Public officials showed their responsibility last Dec. 4 when the City Commission passed a fair housing ordinance. In the democratic tradition, citizens petitioned for a referendum.

There is precedent. Birmingham, no less under pressure than Plymouth, and Flint, which presents a completely different social problem, both have gone the same route, and now both have fair housing ordinances.

IT IS A QUESTION of whether Plymouth voters are willing to keep the promises made to them as citizens and enforced by every tradition and law of society.

The first was the promise, made by our founding fathers, of freedom for everyone in America. The second was made by President Lincoln on Jan. 1, 1863, that slavery should end and that all Americans would be treated equally under the law.

Plymouth, we believe, has more stature and understanding than to renege.

We feel that Plymouth will measure up by approving the fair housing ordinance.

City Firemen And Police Ask Boost To $9000

In keeping with the spiraling cost of living, the members of the City of Plymouth police and fire departments are asking for a 13 per cent increase in salary for the coming year.

The demands have been placed with the city officials and now are being studied along with other matters concerning the preparation of the 1968-69 budget.

The request, according to Lest Ye Forget! Turn Back Your Clocks

All clocks are to be moved ahead one hour Sunday as Michigan again goes on Daylight Saving Time for the summer.

In contrast to last year when the move was delayed two weeks because of legal entanglements, Michigan will join all other states, with exception of Hawaii and Alaska, at 12:59 a.m.

This will be to the delight of those who like to work in their gardens or enjoy an extra hour of baseball, tennis or golf. But it will be a headache, so they claim, to the farmers and those who till the soil or feed the cattle.

Carl Berry, president of the group, is for a blanket increase of $1096 across the board for all members.

The present salary calls for a maximum of $7,904 and the new request, if granted, would bring the annual stipend for regular duty to $9,000 per annum.

Several months ago the City of Detroit approved a contract for the police calling for a maximum to $10,300 to be reached in several stages.

Along with the cash request, the Plymouth police and firemen also are asking other fringe benefits.

Among these are time and one half for all time worked by the firemen after a 56-hour week. And the police are asking a minimum of two hours for court appearances at time and one half.

They are also asking for a boost in longevity pay. They want $35 per year for each year past five, and three weeks vacation after five years, with an extra week for 10 years of service.

Also in the demands they are asking for top salary after two years with equal steps toward the top every six months.

The present starting salary is $6695 per year and the request would boost this to $7791.

SCANNING SKIES FOR TORNADOES — The Plymouth police don't only keep their eyes peeled for law violators — they also keep on the alert for other trouble. During last Tuesday's rain and wind storm they kept a vigil for tornadoes. Officer Danny Carpenter, of the City Department, is shown here at Ann Arbor Trail and Beck Road as the storm approached.

Two Trustees May Lose Extended Terms

Plymouth Township Trustees Louis Norman and Dick Lauterbach, who have been under the impression that their terms of office have been extended two years by the 1967 State Legislature, now find that they may have to seek re-election in November if the State Senate passes a bill it now has under discussion.

The bill already has passed the House and needs only the Senate vote and the governor's signature to become law and cause the two trustees to run again.

Last year, Legislative Act 215 granted all township elected officials in Michigan an extra lease on life—supposedly eliminating all township elections in 1968.

Then, it was ruled by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that granting any officeholder the right to hold his position more than four years was unconstitutional.

Candidates for the partisan offices have until June 18 to file nominating petitions. Nominations will be chosen in the Aug. 6 primary and the electorate will make its final choice of office holders in the general November election.

Lauterbach was first elected trustee in 1963 and then was reelected to his second term in 1964. Norman, the only other trustee elected in 1964, has served on the township board for more than 15 years.

With the expected Senate passage of the bill, all terms of township officials will be for two years only and in 1970 all trustees, plus the supervisor, clerk and treasurer will be subject to a November ballot.

Neither of the Plymouth Township trustees whose offices will be affected by the current legislation have given any indication of whether they will seek reelection.

Joseph A. Parisi Jr., executive director of the Michigan Township Association, has advised members of his organization about the upcoming legislation and expressed the view that there is no question of its passage. He did express doubt that an amendment proposed in the Senate to revoke all extensions of township terms of office would survive.

The upper Michigan body has until May 10 to act on the measure, this being the deadline for consideration of bills originating in the opposite chamber.

The Stroller...

Strolling down life's highway you'll often find the road filled with all manner of surprises, disappointments and shocking sights that are almost unbelievable.

Like the other morning, for example. One of these big, modern food emporiums that are founded on their ability to lure you into spending more than you had planned through uncanny displaying of merchandise, opened in our neighborhood and, always being of a curious nature, The Stroller dropped in for a look.

What a shock! From the moment he passed through the automatic door, The Stroller realized that it was a far, far cry from the grocery stores he knew in his youth when he was sent on errands.

First, there was no big round bellied stove or a cracker barrel around which we would sit to solve all the problems of the day. And there was no sign of the salt mackerel bucket out of which we would select a choice specimen for our regular Sunday morning breakfast.

In a few moments The Stroller was almost speechless, for there in the big room, were the grocer, the butcher, the fruit stand and wine shop of the old days all wrapped into one.

Modern? It was wonderful — but shocking... and disappointing.

OLD ARTISTRY MISSING

Many were the times we used to visit the butcher shop just to watch these artists of old carve a side of beef. Standing alongside the round wooden block, they would manipulate the sharp knives and bone saws so expertly that they could come within an ounce of the weight you ordered.

After withstanding the first shock of seeing the meat all cut and wrapped in some sort of plastic bag — with no butcher in sight — The Stroller's eyes hit upon a bag of bones marked, "soup bones — 15 cents."

Before he could check himself The Stroller blurted, "My gad, the butcher used to give them to you in the old days, along with the kidneys and oftentimes he'd stick in a huge portion of liver."

Now, they sell them!

That was only a starter. Looking ahead, his eyes caught a big sign scrawled on the wall which read, "The Wonderful World of Cheese."

Now, in the days of The Stroller's youth, when he was a frequent visitor at the grocery store, there wasn't what you could call a "wonderful world of cheese" by any stretch of the imagination.

There were only two kinds of cheese in any store — There was the big round of what was officially called "store" cheese, but which was more commonly known as "rat" cheese, so called because it was used to bait rat traps.

Then, there was another round of lighter cheese. It was filled with odd shaped holes and was known as "schwitzer" cheese and later became popular as "swiss" cheese.

INTRODUCTION TO LIMBURGER

Memories came rolling back of the day when a salesman dropped in to attempt selling his wares to my mother. He presented her with a slice of cheese and said, "This is what we call limburger."

My mother took one look — or smell — and answered, "you kept this too long—it smells rotten." So you can imagine what happened when The Stroller entered the aisle way of "The Wonderful World of Cheese," and saw cheese of all shapes and sizes piled high on each shelf. There was cheddar (whatever that is) in all degrees of sharpness and other cheese with names that never were heard of in the "world of cheese" in the old days.

But the real tip-off came when a woman shopper a few feet away opened a small round box, turned to The Stroller and asked, "Do you know if this is the large or small curdle cottage cheese?"

"Lady," The Stroller answered, "I don't know about the curdles, but it isn't even cheese where I come from... we call it 'schmease'!" — and she was just as surprised as The Stroller was in this "wonderful world of cheese."

To The Stroller there still are only two kinds of cheese — "rat" and "schwitzer."

MIXING FISH AND AUTOS

Wearing a brand new sun tan gained in the gulf near Mexico, Jack Selle, the auto dealer, got on one of his favorite subjects — fishing.

He had just returned from another visit with the finny tribes in the gulf waters, and opined that "fishing was good — and eating them was better."

Then he got to talking about good fishing waters and voiced the opinion that fishing was good on the gulf side — but that the other side, toward the Pacific, was much better.

"Best I ever fished in," he confided, "but of course I haven't fished in South America. They tell me you can't beat that region for great fishing."

The Stroller will take his fish on a platter, but if you're interested, South America would be the place to go.

And if you should chance to make the trip, you'll probably find Jack Selle there ahead of you.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

If at first you don't succeed, quit. You might be wasting time.

One Of Our Country's Worst Tragedies Is Apathy Of Voters On Election Day

When the voters go to the polls on Monday to take part in the open housing referendum they will be enjoying one of the privileges on which America was founded.

This privilege is the right to choose your own officials — the men who will make the laws and govern the area — plus the type of community in which you live.

The privilege was best described by President Lincoln in his famed Gettysburg Address when he stated that it was "government of the people, by the people and for the people."

In few other countries on the globe is this right given to the people. And in most cases where the privilege is granted it is a far cry from the American elections. For instance, in the communist countries you go to the polls, but there is no choice. You vote for the communist ticket alone.

IN SOME OTHER AREAS, you vote for parties and they, in turn, name the men who will fill the positions.

But in America, it is different. Here you vote for the folks of your choice and you also decide on other important matters, such as amendments to city charters and the like. It is unique. In fact, the American system is so unique that in many countries it still is looked upon as a grand experiment.

This system, and its background, provide one of the most interesting chapters in all history.

No doubt you have been taught it during your school days and our present generations are being told about it. But, often as not, it is taken for granted and the real significance is lost.

The great American system had its beginnings away back in the 1700's when the Colonists tossed off the yoke of England with the shouting of "no taxation without representation" and planted the roots of the new country in the inalienable rights of all men to be free and equal.

It was a great step to take. But the courageous Colonists took it with such historic actions as "The Boston Tea Party" and other happening that led up to the Revolutionary War.

In the meetings the colonies, small as they were, conducted meetings of all citizens on what they called the "Commons," a green

AMERICA'S MOST POWERFUL INVENTION

IF WE USE IT!

the shouting of "no taxation without representation" and planted the roots of the new country in the inalienable rights of all men to be free and equal.

It was a great step to take. But the courageous Colonists took it with such historic actions as "The Boston Tea Party" and other happening that led up to the Revolutionary War.

In the meetings the colonies, small as they were, conducted meetings of all citizens on what they called the "Commons," a green patch in the center of town, much like Kellogg Park in Plymouth.

There, they discussed the happenings of the day and plans for the future and voted by a show of hands. It is a system we still use today in fraternal and club meetings.

AS THE COLONIES grew and the population increased it was cumbersome to meet on the Commons, so the Town Houses came into being. It was there that the paper ballot was first used... and is being used in many, many areas today.

This is strictly American. But through the evolution one thing never has changed. That is the privilege of voting for the persons and measures of your own liking — and not being bossed by others.

When you are in the voting booth you are alone with your conscience.

One of the great tragedies, however, is the fact that too often folks take the privilege for granted and in a great display of apathy stay away from the polling places.

OFTTIMES, THESE ARE the same folks who are quick to complain if when things don't turn out to their liking. Yet, had they exercised their privilege, conditions could have been different.

This apathy recalls the remark of "Bo" McMillin, the late coach of the Detroit Lions, on his first Detroit appearance after accepting the loss.

In his rich southern dialect "Bo," speaking at a public function, informed the fans, "My door always will be open for those who want to criticize — but you had better have ticket stubs in your hands when you come in."

The same can be said of Monday's election.

You have the privilege of choosing the kind of a city you want and who your neighbors may be.

But if you don't exercise it — don't holler. Like "Bo" McMillin said, "You better have ticket stubs (or your voting record) in your hands when you holler."

Congressman Esch Reports

Lawmakers Faced With Gigantic Task

Congress returned to work last week after a brief Easter recess. Waiting was a mountain of legislation which, even after three months of sessions, has yet to be acted upon. Like last year a high backlog of legislation is building up because of ineffective leadership and outdated procedures.

Of 25 major issues listed by Congressional Quarterly only two, the civil rights-anti-riot bill and a code of ethics, have received final consideration by both houses. The Truth-in-Lending bill has passed both houses and is now in a conference committee. Otherwise, most of the major tasks Congress has outlined for itself remain incomplete. Briefly here is the status of some of the other important items:

THE INCOME TAX surcharge which was effectively bottled up in the House Ways and Means Committee was tacked on to the excise tax extension bill by the Senate. It now awaits action by a conference committee and then a vote in each House. Its final passage remains doubtful.

The House has sent to the Senate a weakened foreign travel tax bill which places a five per cent tax on air travel to points outside the United States and reduces from $100 to $10 duty free imports. Although this bill greatly weakened from the President's recommendations which included a per diem tax on foreign travelers, I opposed it as an improper and practically meaningless step against our balance of payments problems.

The Senate Judiciary Committee recently reported their version of the House-passed crime bill. This is an encouraging step and indicates that some sort of anti-crime package will become law this year. While the final version will not cover all the areas where need exists, it will be a step in the right direction.

UNFORTUNATELY, ACTION in the areas of housing and employment, two great national needs, continues at a slow pace. Hearings have been underway, but final passage is far enough off that programs will not become effective before next fall at the earliest.

No action has been taken in the areas of child health, hospital aid or air safety.

Like last year, Congress is far behind in its consideration of basic appropriation measures. None of the 15 bills have received final consideration and it looks as though agencies and others dependent on federal funds will once again be forced to experience a period of fiscal chaos and uncertainty. Last year the government had been operating for six months before Congress acted on appropriations for the current fiscal year.

Ironically, a measure which would help Congress do its job more efficiently and effectively lies collecting dust in the House Rules Committee. The failure of the committee to report out the reorganization bill is deplorable and only serves to reinforce the views of myself and many members that Congress needs a complete restructuring.

Your views on these and the many other issues we face are always welcome and earnestly solicited.

Letter To The Editor

DEAR SIR:

Nowadays, when there is so much disloyal sentiment being expressed in this country, it is more important than ever for patriotic Americans to stand up and be counted, and I would like to suggest that a good time to "stand up" would be Loyalty Day, May 1.

Loyalty Day was started several years ago by V.F.W. members in New York City as a counter-demonstration to the May Day demonstrations of the Communist Party. Other V.F.W. Posts across the country adopted the practice and in 1958 President Eisenhower signed a bill making Loyalty Day a national observance.

The bill, now Public Law 529, reads in part: "It (the first day of May) is to be set aside as a special day for the reaffirmation of loyalty to the United States of America, for the recognition of our heritage of American freedom and calling upon officials of the government to display the flag of the United States on all government buildings on Loyalty Day and inviting the people of the United States to observe Loyalty Day in schools and other suitable places with appropriate ceremonies."

Although the Communist rallies, as such, no longer exist, some of the same anti-American ideas are being promoted by the Vietnicks and others. And it's time loyal Americans showed the world how we really feel by at least putting out the Flag on Loyalty Day. It certainly would be something to see the entire town of Plymouth blanketed with "Old Glory."

Four Injured

In Separate Auto Mishaps

Plymouth Township may be the site of two neighborhood shopping centers before long. In the last six months the township has gone from a community with no proposed shopping centers to the possibility of two there.

Some time ago approval was given for the first one at the Northwest corner of Sheldon and Ann Arbor Roads.

At a township planning commission meeting Wednesday night, the Arden Realty Co. requested a zoning change of five acres of a 10 acre parcel which is located on the southeast corner of Haggerty and Ann Arbor Roads.

Once the zoning change is granted the entire parcel will be zoned C-1 (neighborhood shopping).

Spokesman for the company said that they propose to build a super market, hardware store, a drug store and possibly other stores that would make a neighborhood center.

The commission granted the petitioner a public hearing on May 15, its next regular meeting.

Businessmen Have New Problem

What is colonial motif?

This question has gripped many of the townsfolk this week when it was learned that the City Planning Commission had recommended that the proposed covered sidewalk program on Ann Arbor Trail be denied because it lacked the colonial motif.

It was recalled that, some years ago, a plan was inaugurated in the city to establish colonial atmosphere by re-designing the storefronts in the central business district and give them a "colonial appearance."

Several business men complied.

Since then, however, the idea was cast aside in the improvement of business fronts.

Among the places improved were the Penn Theatre, Cadillac Draperies and Heide's Flowers, none of which could be called colonial architecture.

That's why the citizens are a bit puzzled.

If these improvements were approved, then why is the "colonial motif" inserted into the plan of the businessmen on Ann Arbor Trail.

That's why Commissioner Arch Vallier demanded that the members of the Planning Commission stand and be counted.

goal, or 3) pursue integration by combining ghetto "enrichment" with policies which will encourage Negro movement out of central city ghettos.

For the Commission members and for every concerned American, there can be no choice but the one that enables Negro movement out of the ghettos—the goal being a single society in which every citizen will be free to live and work, according to his capabilities and desires, not his color.

Breaking down the invisible ghetto walls, achieving one society, is a complex problem. But one of its most important aspects is the realization of open housing in all communities so that those of the minority groups who are willing and able to move will find housing open to them in integrated neighborhoods, among neighbors of good will.

Justice Collects $613 In Fines

Plymouth Township Justice of the Peace James E. McCarthy meted out 30 fines in court last week for a total of $613.

The largest fine, $75, was charged to Terry A. Schanfeld, 48200 Joy Rd., Plymouth, for 35 miles an hour over the posted speed limit and also to Keith M. Siegart, 14311 Shadywood, Plymouth, for drag racing.

who have achieved the economic ability to enjoy this status. A second desire is the education of his children in schools of better quality than is typical in the all Negro schools of segregated neighborhoods.

Residential segregation also effects job opportunities for Negroes who are disproportionately employed near where they live. Today, when government and private industry are increasingly moving their installations to the suburbs, Negroes are restricted from holding jobs in white neighborhoods either by prejudice or by the time and cost of traveling to jobs outside the central city. Achieving open housing in all communities, in law and in fact, is one starting point for solving our urban crisis, for breaking down the ghetto with its pressures toward the development of two alien societies in our Nation and for making good the promises of democracy to all citizens.

ORDINANCE NO. 337

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING THE PURCHASE, SALE AND CONSUMPTION OF ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES WITHIN THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH AND PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Any person under the age of twenty-one years, who shall offer to buy, buy, obtain or drink any alcoholic beverage in any beer garden, tavern, restaurant, store, or place where alcoholic beverages are sold or furnished for consumption either on or away from the premises, or in any public place, and any person who shall sell, give or offer any alcoholic beverage to any person under the age of twenty-one years in any beer garden, tavern, restaurant, store, or place where alcoholic beverages are sold or furnished for consumption either on or away from the premises, or in any public place, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the penalties provided in this ordinance.

Section 2. Any person under the age of twenty-one years, who falsely represents himself to be twenty-one years or over, and thereby procures or attempts to procure the sale or furnishing to himself of any alcoholic beverage, or any person who makes false representations as to the age of another and thereby procures or attempts to procure the sale or furnishing to any person under the age of twenty-one years, of any alcoholic beverage, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to the penalties provided herein.

Section 3. The person in charge of any beer garden, restaurant, tavern, store or place where alcoholic beverages are sold or furnished for consumption either on or away from the premises, shall have the right at any time to demand of any person offering to buy, buying, obtaining, or drinking any alcoholic beverage in such establishment who may appear to him to be under the age of twenty-one years, proof of age and identity and on failure of such person to produce same, shall refuse to serve, sell or furnish such person with any alcoholic beverage and may exclude such person from such place of business. If any such person shall refuse to leave such place of business, he shall be deemed a disorderly person, and subject to the penalties herein provided.

Section 4. No person under the age of 21 years shall purchase or knowingly possess or transport any alcoholic beverages, or knowingly possess, transport, or have under his control in any motor vehicle any alcoholic beverages unless said person is employed by a licensee, licensed under the provisions of Act No. 8 of State of Michigan Public Acts of 1933, Extra Session, as amended, and is possessing, transporting or having alcoholic beverages in a motor vehicle under his control during regular working hours and in the course of his employment.

Section 5. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be sentenced to pay a fine not exceeding three hundred dollars ($300.00) or by imprisonment for a period not to exceed 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the Court.

Section 6. Should any provision or section of this ordinance be held invalid such holding shall not be construed as affecting the validity of any of the remaining provisions.

Section 7. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 13th day of May, A.D., 1968.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 22nd day of April, A.D., 1968.

Craddock, Mr. T. Thrasher, Mr. R. J. Hopkins, Mr. R. Lybarger, Mr. D. Weglicki, Mr. D. Stoecker, Mrs. Sarah Haas, Mr. R. Marks, Mr. W. Penrice, Mr. W. Root, Mr. N. Kopska.

It was moved by Member Gilmore and seconded by Member Scott to approve the minutes of the special meetings held February 12, February 26 and March 6, 1968, and the regular meeting held February 12, 1968.

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

A summary report of the current tax collections received as of March 1, 1968, was presented.

A budget summary for the period July 1, 1967, to March 1, 1968, was presented and reviewed.

It was moved by Member Strom and seconded by Member Moehle to approve the payment of bills as follows:

General Fund: Vouchers 1221 through 1615, incl. $2,840,972.82
Building and Site Fund: Vouchers 1281 through 1310, incl. $43,248.81

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

A summary report of the Building and Site Fund collection on March 9, 1968, was presented.

It was moved by Member Strom and seconded by Member Moehle to call bonds for redemption April 1, 1968, in the amount of $5.00 per bond for the following described bonds issued August 1, 1953:

Bonds numbered 1978 through 2095, inclusive, maturing on April 1, 1969, and aggregating the principal sum of $120,000.00, the said bonds shall be delivered to the National Bank of Detroit, Detroit, Michigan, or at the option of the holder, the Detroit Bank and Trust Company, for payment on April 1, 1969, after which date all interest on said bonds shall cease.

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

President Hulsing called a special meeting of the Board of Education to be held March 13, 1968, at 8:00 o'clock p.m. for the purpose of opening bids for the sale of $8,500.00 school district bonds.

A letter from Mr. F. A. Sincovec, President of the Bird School PTA, was read. The letter indicated the "Safety Action" report from the Bird School PTA would be presented to the Board of Education April 8, 1968, instead of March 11, 1968, as previously scheduled.

Mr. William E. Penrice from the Parents Committee of Our Lady of Good Counsel School, presented a description of the proposed state legislation that would be presented to the Legislature for a period of 1968-69.

Mr. Sincovec from the Bird School attendance area requested the Bird School youth be dismissed 15 minutes earlier in the afternoon to avoid heavy traffic on Sheldon Road.

The Board of Education and Administration indicated they had been working with the Bird School PTA Safety Committee relating to a study of safety conditions at Bird School and that continued study would be done to attempt to alleviate problems relating to safety of children that walk to and from Bird School and problems relating to bus transportation for children being transported to Bird School. Petitions were presented to the Board of Education requesting that Bird School start at 8:30 a.m. and close at 3:30 p.m.

Three persons from the Lakeside area expressed concern about the proposed attendance areas which would transfer some families from Tanager to Farrand School. Their major desire was to stay in an attendance area at the same school building for a period of years. The Board of Education and Administration concurred with this desire but indicated a shifting of population and capacities of school buildings must be considered in establishing attendance areas.

It was moved by Member Scott and seconded by Member Moehle to approve the request of Frank W. Kierdorf, Sunday School Superintendent, to use the Farrand School Multi-Purpose Room from 11:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon each Sunday at a cost of $10 per Sunday plus the cost of custodial services and that Mr. Kierdorf file a written statement of the nomination he represents and the estimated time each school building use will be required before completion of their new facilities.

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Scott and seconded by Member Hulce to approve the International Relations and Comparative Government Classes Field Trip to the United Nations in New York City on April 24, 1968, in accordance with the letter filed by Carol Benley, Principal and James Doyle, Counselor.

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Hulce and seconded by Member Strom to approve the Senior After-Graduation Party at Ann Arbor Y.M.C.A. June 13, 1968, beginning at about 10:45 p.m. and continuing to about 3:00 a.m. June 14, 1968, in accordance with the request filed by Carol Benley, Principal and James Doyle, Counselor.

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Scott and seconded by Member Hulce to approve a maternity leave of absence for the school year 1968-69 for Mrs. Betty Leach, English Teacher, Junior High School-East.

Ayes: Members Gilmore, Hulce, Hulsing, Moehle, Scott, Strom and Tripp. Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Hulce and seconded by Member Gilmore to approve the request of Robert Corrington, Chief of Police, to use school facilities in case of emergency.

TELL IT TO Glenny
453-5500

The other day I was stunned by the overwhelming realization that we are suffering from --or existing in--a state of gapitis or gap-osis or whatever you may wish to call it.

We've all read about the credibility gap, and then there's the generation gap--that grand and gaping gulf between the folks on Medicare and those on "I don't care".

On a personal basis, there's the gap between button and button hole for those of us who should be counting calories, this could be called the "snap-gap."

And now this odd phenomenon has hit closer to home. This column is suffering from a "Tell It To Glenny-gap".

Most people like to read about what other people are doing, but the people who are doing these things are either too busy, too modest or don't think what's happening to them would interest anyone else.

You may have gathered that this column covers everything from soup to nuts, and believe me I'm interested in both. So if you have a good soup recipe or a pet squirrel that eats nuts or any news that falls in between, give me a call.

DAVID AND DANNY are 13-year-old twins and Michael is the youngest. These three sons belong to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hees of Pennington and have recently returned from a "grand" trip to Niagara Falls and points North.

The boys accompanied their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hi Hees of Livonia, as they took their yearly vacation. The five travelers had wonderful weather on the entire trip and the only moisture encountered at all was a little spray from those magnificent falls.

MRS. BETTY HOHEISEL of Evergreen will entertain her duplicate bridge club this week and before they get down to bidding and trumping, the players will have an opportunity to explore their hostesses lovely natural garden.

The recent April showers are bound to provide an abundance of May flowers for their stroll down the paths of horticulture.

The Top Side of Life

By FATHER ROBERT SCHADEN

When television was still in the stage of drawing crowds to storefront windows to watch the "radio" with the movie screen" there was a program entitled "Mr. I-Magination". I do not remember the details of the program, but somehow the title still sticks in my mind. Perhaps it is the word "imagination" that I find exciting.

Our world has been built on imagination, and this is just as true in the area of medicine or politics as it is in something like astronautics.

THERE WAS a man named Thomas who had a dream and an imagination so that today we have light at the flick of a switch. Then there was Henry whose imagination put our country on wheels.

I do not know his name, but there was another man whose imagination made penicillin a reality and a life-saver. There was also a man named Martin, who had a dream and an imagination that apparently ran too wild for some people.

Perhaps that is the price of imagination. Although not everyone who dares to use it is assassinated, very few escape the ridicule and derision that seem to be the by-product of this strange phenomenon called imagination.

AND YET THERE is no area of life, be it religion, politics, science or any other endeavor requiring human intelligence, that does not require along with it this thing called imagination. You have it and so do I--but why does so much of it go unexpressed and unused? Why is so much of it squelched when someone does try to use it? I would be more than naive were I to attribute it to any one cause.

But I would dare to say that among the many causes there is one that stands out--and that is FEAR.

Imagination is more feared by some than TNT. If I begin to use it what will people think of me? If I begin to use it, will I be a success or a failure? A chance that is hardly worth taking. ON THE OTHER hand, if I allow that next guy to use the imagination that he has, what will come of it? My very own security could be threatened. My world could fall apart. It happened to the candle makers, and it happened to the blacksmiths--why, it even happened to the plantation owners. They lost their world. But did they really lose it, or did they contribute to my world? How am I going to contribute to the next generation? Perhaps the question is not so much to dare or not to dare--as it is to live or subsist.

Neck Muscle Twitch Can Flex A Paralyzed Hand

ANN ARBOR -- Thirteen electrical engineering students at the University of Michigan have more than met a professor's challenge by producing a device which enables a paralyzed patient to open and close his hand.

At the beginning of this semester, Anthony J. Pennington, associate professor of electrical engineering, posed a problem in biomechanics to the students in his electrical engineering design projects course. The problem: to develop an orthotic hand splint for a patient with a paralyzed hand.

The students, all seniors, tackled the project "with great enthusiasm," according to Pennington. "They worked hard because they felt the project was worth while and had a real payoff at the end."

THE STUDENTS began by reading medical literature, including books on electric signals in muscles, and worked with the department of physical medicine in the U-M Medical Center to define the design objectives.

The class was then divided into three groups: the first worked on sensing electromyographic signals from an unparalyzed muscle and then amplifying and processing these signals. The second group was organized to develop power and control circuits, and the third was assigned to develop a high-performance electro-mechanical actuator.

The complete device was designed, built, tested, and fitted to a patient at University Hospital. In addition to working rapidly, the splint allows the patient to squeeze an object with varying degrees of force. An audible tone tells the patient just how hard he is squeezing.

THE DEVICE IS small, rugged, and economical.

It consists of a metal splint, covered with plastic, and a plastic cable running from the joint between the first finger and thumb to a cylindrical-shaped actuator hanging at the patient's side.

Inside the actuator cylinder are a torque motor and ball screw which converts rotary to linear motion. Thus, as the motor turns, the screw goes in and out, moving the cable back and forth and allowing the patient to open and close his hand.

The motor is driven by a transistorized power control circuit, which is in turn driven by a solid-state amplifying and processing circuit. The signal for this is obtained from three electrodes placed on the surface of the skin over the platysma muscle in the neck.

Thus the patient needs only to twitch this muscle in order to open and close his hand.

The platysma is a superficial muscle, seldom used, and therefore the electrodes do not interfere with normal function.

THE DEVICE WAS designed for a particular kind of paralysis associated with spinal damage. The paralysis involves an injury between the fourth and fifth or fifth and sixth cervical vertebrae; it frequently results from automobile and driving accidents.

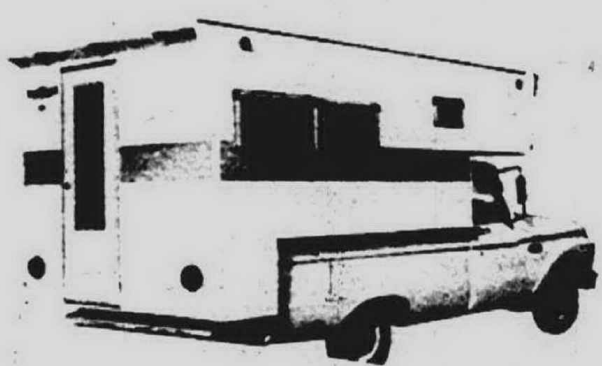

The university's department of physical medicine has expressed an interest in the splint, but research engineer James L. Cockrell cautions that it "is still very much in the experimental stage."

"It is only one step in the effort toward new muscular function for a paralyzed person," he commented. "It's not a promise of a new hand as good as the old. This is only one of many choices and we're researching it as such."

E.L. McMahon, associate professor of electrical engineering, also assisted in the design of the brace.

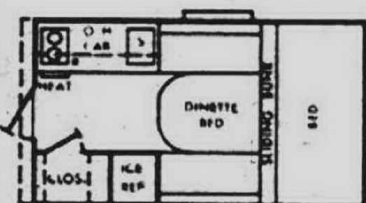

The students working on the project were William Fink of Midland, Dana Whitlow of St. Joseph, Peter Schreiner and Thomas Haeusler of Clarkston, John Betzner of Royal Oak, John Van Sweden of Grand Rapids, Arthur Henke of Ann Arbor, Eliot Friedman of Huntington Woods, Michael Spencer of Detroit, Mick Stewart of Belleville, Douglas Elerath of Mountain Lakes, N.J., William Abend of Kansas City and Geoffrey Kung of Hong Kong.

Senate-House Deadlocked Over Income Tax Hike

WASHINGTON — Senate-House conferences have failed to break the stalemate on the proposed income tax increase. The conference adjourned until Tuesday.

There is a general agreement that any tax action will have to be accompanied by a hold-down in spending. Thus far, the Appropriations Committee has been unable to agree on reductions.

The Senate-passed bill calls for a $6 billion spending reduction under next year's budget figures but is silent on rescinding authorization for future years.

WASHINGTON — Progress has been reported in efforts to settle the nationwide telephone strike but Joseph Beltrame, president of the Communication Workers of America Union, indicated there are many knotty problems to resolve.

He said that both the CWA and the Bell System negotiators favor working out a new three-year contract, replacing the 18-month wage reopener that triggered the strike involving more than 200,000 workers in 40 states.

The strike is the first national telephone walkout in 21 years.

It involves 23,000 telephone installers in some 40 states employed by the Bell subsidiary Western Electric Co. and Bell operators, linemen, repairmen, clerks and other employees in 15 states.

ATLANTA — Rev. Ralph Abernathy, successor to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said he is concerned that Dr. King's assassination might have been the work of a conspiracy to kill off civil rights leaders.

Since the assassination an armed guard has been posted at Southern Christian Leadership Conference headquarters here and all the locks have been changed.

NEW YORK CITY — The Ford Foundation has granted $100,000 to Gary, Ind. to help Richard Hatcher, the city's first Negro mayor, carry out a municipal reform program in the next two years.

The grant, together with federal aid and private contributions, will pay the salaries of three administrators. They will assist the Mayor in the fields of housing, public safety and personnel, and fiscal policy planning.

NEW YORK CITY — A self-employed exporter has been arrested by the FBI in a case described as the biggest telephone credit-card swindle on record.

A federal complaint alleged that Richard Fincke of Babylon, N.Y., ran up credit-card phone bills totaling $146,000 from 1962 until last June.

Fincke was accused of charging calls from widely scattered points with no intention of paying the long distance tolls. He is accused of using the telephone for both personal and business purposes and that he gave the credit card to some of his creditors in partial payment of debts.

YPSILANTI — The Ypsilanti Press, a daily newspaper with 16,500 circulation, did not publish its editions Wednesday when ITU members refused to work in protest of the firing of a printer.

WASHINGTON — Draft Director Lewis Hershey believes the Pentagon will have to add another 100,000 men to the quarter-million inductions planned for fiscal 1969 if the Vietnam War doesn't end.

The Defense Department budgeted a draft of 240,000 in the 12 months starting July 1 but according to projections based on experience in fiscal 1968, the total may actually go up to 340,000 if the war continues, Hershey reported to Congress.

NAPLES, Fla. — Henry J. "Bob" Topping, 54, millionaire investor and former husband of movie star Lana Turner, died of an apparent heart attack here. He was a brother of former New York Yankees owner Dan Topping.

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court has ruled for the first time that state and local governments have the right to protect minors from obscenity in movies, books and other questionable materials.

The ruling came even while the court was striking down a Dallas, Texas ordinance which sought to classify those movies it considered unsuitable for children under 16 and limit access of minors to movies.

HARTFORD, Conn. — A group of Trinity College students held the school administration building for several hours earlier in the week after releasing eight trustees who had been detained while trying to persuade them to set up a scholarship fund for Negroes.

About 250 students took control of the building and bottled up the trustees meeting in executive session.

The demonstration was called to press trustees approval of a program voted by the students under which each student would be assessed $50, the student senate would contribute $15,000 and the school would provide matching funds to establish a scholarship program for Negro students in Hartford and New Haven. There are only 16 Negro students enrolled at Trinity this semester.

WASHINGTON — Despite her defeat last year in the Republican primary battle over a congressional seat, Shirley Temple Black still plans to continue in politics.

The former child movie star told a news conference that she wants to try again this year. Only her conviction that party unity comes first, prevented her from challenging Rep. Paul McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., the man who beat her last year.

WASHINGTON — A new report by the Citizens' Board of Inquiry into hunger and malnutrition in the United States says that in the deep south, in New England, on Indian reservations, in Appalachia, at least 10 million Americans suffer hunger and the number of victims is growing.

retardation and parasitic diseases usually found in underdeveloped countries, the report says. And their infants often are fed water, instead of milk, while their aged suffer dizzy spells from hunger.

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Surgeon General has reported that the number of Americans injured in automobile accidents last year dropped by 400,000.

SAN FRANCISCO — The California State Department of Justice has estimated that a million outstanding criminal warrants may be faulty under an April 10 decision of the State Supreme Court.

The court decision requires that a warrant specifically details a probable cause instead of merely citing the general offense charged.

Suburbia Looks Hard For New Church Names

By TIM RICHARD

One of suburbia's unique problems—in addition to the material woes of paying for schools and streets and all—has been a problem of naming churches.

The problem is particularly acute in denominations that are fairly new here, because they feel the need for originality more acutely than the churches which were here when these suburbs were separate towns. Sometimes, you can guess the relative age of a church just by its name.

THE BAPTISTS and the Methodists have been around a long time, according to the state histories.

And so we find seven "First Baptist" churches in the local directory—in Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Wayne, Garden City and Plymouth.

And there are four "First Methodist" churches—Farmington, Garden City, Northville and Plymouth.

On top of that, we find three named "First Church of Christ Scientist"—Farmington, Garden City and Plymouth.

Other Baptist church names tend to be impersonal—Bethany, Bethel, Bible, Calvary, Community, Grace, Temple, North Farmington.

Other Methodist churches show a mixture of types of names—Calvary, Clarenceville, Nardin Park, St. Luke, St. Matthew.

INCIDENTALLY, if you're looking for a fast grammatical argument, just ask someone if the proper usage is "St. John's" church or "St. John" church. The majority will probably say "St. John's," using the possessive. But that makes as much sense as saying "Adlai Stevenson's High School" or "Thurston's High School."

A saint's name, when attached to a church, is part of the church's name and doesn't indicate that the saint owns the church. Thus, it should be "St. John Church" and not "St. John's Church."

There's one exception. For theological reasons, the mother of Jesus gets special treatment, and so it's "St. Mary's Church."

THE CATHOLIC Church, as probably the largest single denomination, and operating under a seven-county archdiocese system, is particularly strapped for good names.

One of the first Catholic parishes is named after Mary, another after Joseph, and then the apostles.

After that come variations on Mary—Our Lady of Sorrows, Our Lady of Good Counsel, Our Lady of Victory, Our Lady of Mercy, Our Lady of Mount Carmel.

By the way, you can tell, even without knowing any history, that Our Lady of Sorrows is an old, old parish. The modern trend is to give her a more cheerful image, both in name and in statuary.

In Detroit's ethnic centers, it's easy to pick nationality saints like Bridget and Stanislaus, but what do you do in the hybrid suburbs?

Well, you run into some pretty obscure saints. Aidan was a late sixth century bishop of Lindisfarne in northern England; Priscilla was the first wife of a fellow tent-maker of St. Paul; Dunstan was a 10th century government minister and bishop of Winchester, London and Canterbury; Robert Bellarmine was a counter-reformation theologian.

To find anything about Fabian, Kenneth and Edith, you have to dip into pretty specialized church history works.

THE LUTHERANS are doing some interesting things with their church names.

Locally, St. Paul is honored three times by two different synods, but more recent names have been picked from theological concepts rather than the more traditional lists.

Prince of Peace is a name for these times. Another good one, combining the concepts of scholarly philosophy and old-fashioned faith, is a Lutheran church around Rochester—Abiding Presence.

This writer's favorite name belongs to a new Lutheran church in Livonia. It combines masculine vigor and religious fervor, and the name is good enough to have been thought up by the best ad agency on Madison Avenue.

The name is "Sword of the Spirit."

The pastor informs us that it's the only one of 5,000 American Lutheran churches with that name, and that the phrase comes from epistle of St. Paul to the Ephesians.

It figures, Paul was the greatest phrase-maker and P.R. man Christianity or any religion ever had.

BUILDING BOOM STRETCHES ON AND ON— Home building permits issued in Livonia for the first three months of the fiscal year 1968 more than doubled over the same period of a year ago and are nearly half of the total figure for the entire year of 1967. A total of 392 new home permits have been issued from Dec. 1 through March this year with a total valuation of $10,016,992. In the similar period a year ago, 180 permits were recorded with a total valuation of $4,603,218. Total permits for new home construction in 1967 during the entire fiscal year were 954 with a total valuation of $23,417,072. It's a big year and another record one for home construction in Livonia but nowhere near that of 1958 when 2,049 homes were constructed.

Schoolman Gets Leave For Study

Bentley High School's English department chairman is taking a leave of absence to work with the Curriculum Study Research and Development Council in Pennsylvania.

A project financed by government grants, William Hartman will assist in the development of innovative practices in four counties—Lebanon, York, Lancaster and Dolphin, in the picturesque "Quaker country."

Hartman came to the Livonia system 16 years ago from the Romeo schools. He got his bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan University, took graduate studies at the University of Michigan, and also attended Wayne State University.

The Hartmans and their two children live at 18528 Braille, Detroit.

Bolens Husky tractors work the way you want them to!

Before each Bolens Husky was designed, two key questions had to be answered: "What should this unit be able to do?" "What will Bolens owners want it to do?" Answering these questions honestly and accurately has given Bolens Huskys an enviable reputation for leadership in compact tractor performance.

Only a Bolens Husky gives you all the help you want and need to power you through outdoor chores fast! From the rugged engine, to the live PTO that delivers positive, constant power to attachments... to the exclusive Fast-Switch Power-lock Hitch that makes attachment-changing a snap... to the fingertip-convenience control panel, you get extra-performance features you don't pay extra to get! So whether you choose a Bolens Husky with "standard" or with "hydrostatic" (automatic) transmission, you get champion operating efficiency, maintenance economy and unparalleled ease of handling, year round. Ask your dealer for a test ride. You'll discover the Bolens Husky is a compact tractor you'll be proud to own!

Difference designed...with performance

Bentley To Bloom

Bentley High School finally will get a greenhouse, at the cost of $42,000.

That will put it in the class with Franklin and Stevenson, which boast them.

The Bentley building also is going to get some renovating.

The Livonia Board of Education let a contract this week to Mid-Con Construction Co. to do the job. The low bid was accepted—$203,300.

The face won't be lifted, but the interior will have some necessary alterations.

Top Staff Is Set For Churchill

Chairmen for various departments of the new Churchill High School have been appointed by the administration and approved by the Livonia Board of Education.

Recommended by John Schulz the principal, the candidates were reviewed by Dr. Norman Whisler, Dr. Paul E. Johnson and Dr. Donald E. Friedrichs, who form the committee.

The chairmanships are in art, business education, English, mathematics, music, physical education and social studies.

THE APPOINTEES, announced by Superintendent Benton Yates as having been chosen for three year terms, but with annual renewal by the board, are:

Maurice Musick, with degrees from Marshall University in West Virginia, and Wayne State University, will head the art department.

Gene P. England, with a master's degree from Indiana University will be chairman of business education.

WILLIAM ALEXANDER will head the English department. He has a master's from Michigan State University.

Henry H. Lundy, with a master in mathematics education, will head the math department.

Jack H. Trudgeon, with a Wayne State master's degree, will chairmen the music department.

Carolyn J. Benninger, a University of Michigan master's to her credit, will be chairman of physical education.

James Catton will have charge of the social studies department. He will receive his master's degree in social studies in August from Syracuse University.

SCHULZ, APPOINTED last year to organize the Churchill faculty, will make other recommendations to the superintendent and assistants for faculty positions. The school's building will not be ready for occupancy until September next year, but a tenth grade class will report at Franklin next September for a full program—in afternoons—and will transfer to Churchill in 1969.

Schulz also is arranging for the equipment needed in the new $9 million facility, Livonia's fourth senior high school.

2 Detroiters Beat Livonian

Using "fists and a tire iron" in bodily assault on Steven H. Durfee, 9302 Louisanna, Livonia, cost a couple of Detroiters heavy fines -- or 30 days in jail.

Municipal Judge James R. McCann accepted pleas of guilty from Donald Adams, 20, and Woodie Seymour, also 20. He assessed fines of $250 each, plus costs of $25, with jail an alternative.

How Rachmaninoff Evolved The 2nd

"I learned to play the movements of Rachmaninoff's second in reverse order. A lot of young pianists concentrate on the first movement of a concerto, and neglect the others."

"Then he (Instructor Alexander Siloti) told me, 'That's the way Sergei wrote the piece.' He wrote the third, the second and then the first movement."

Pianist Benning Dexter stood in the hallway of Plymouth High School where he had just finished rehearsing with the Plymouth Symphony for today's (Sunday) 4 p.m. concert, the last free concert of the 1962-63 season.

DEXTER THUMBED a heavily annotated score of Rachmaninoff's second piano concerto and talked about the composer, how he had performed it himself, and the man who had been teacher to both of them—Alexander Siloti. "Don't make too much of that connection," Dexter warned. Siloti, it seems, was in his early 20's when he became the 18-year-old Rachmaninoff's last instructor. Siloti was in his 70s when Dexter studied with him.

"Siloti was Rachmaninoff's cousin. They'd go on tour and take turns—one conducting one night and playing solo the next."

THE RACHMANINOFF second has been the source of two popular songs and is one of the most often recorded pieces of serious music.

Which recording is best? "His own is best," said Dexter. "He made it in 1929 with Stokowski. I heard him myself in the late '30s."

The score was published after it was composed in the early 1900s, but Rachmaninoff never played it that way.

"He changed his mind about a lot of things," said Dexter, pointing to a tempo marked 66 that Rachmaninoff played at 80, a passage that he played an octave higher to be heard over the orchestra, chords that he played as arpeggios.

"My own interpretation is influenced by his playing and the record. I'm not trying to duplicate it, though. I'm not Rachmaninoff. They broke the mold after him."

BENNING DEXTER, a slender and distinguished looking 53, was born in California and studied at the Juilliard School in New York. He joined the University of Michigan faculty in 1949 and has been head of its piano department since 1961.

He finds some increase in the popularity of the Baroque, classical, Renaissance, medieval and modern among record-buyers and concert-goers, but he's convinced that the romantics of the 19th century are holding their own.

"Look at Van Cliburn. Have you ever heard him play anything but the romantics? Oh, he does one Prokofiev concerto."

Cliburn and the late William Kapell he ranks as "wonderful" Rachmaninoff interpreters, adding that Rachmaninoff himself greatly admired the way Vladimir Horowitz played his third concerto.

DEXTER SUMMED it up:

"A lot of people said, 'After Rachmaninoff died, you watch...' His hand made a tobagging gesture.

"But that didn't happen. He came on as strong as ever. His works didn't die."

"Siloti said about Rachmaninoff, 'His compositions may not be like Mozart or Beethoven, but his compositions come straight from the heart.'"

"If it has such great appeal to a great many people from many nations, there must be something there."

PIANIST BENNING DEXTER rehearses the Rachmaninoff second piano concerto with Plymouth Symphony conducted by Wayne Dunlap.

Eating Out Costs Fifth Of Food Dollar

If you spend about 20 per cent of your food dollars to eat out, you can consider your spending "average."

The cost of food eaten away from home has increased more rapidly than the cost of all other items in the Consumer Price Index. But the proportion of food dollars being spent on food away from home has remained at a fairly constant 20 per cent since 1950.

Prices for food bought in restaurants and other away-from-home places, such as institutions, department stores, and private clubs, averaged about five per cent higher this year than in 1966.

Families seem to have adjusted to these rising prices by dining out less often; or if they eat out more often, they spend less per meal. In other words, the total stays about the same.

THE U.S. DEPARTMENT of Agriculture Economics Research Service reports that Americans annually spend about $30 billion for purchased meals.

This figure includes not only meals but snacks, which are defined as away-from-home purchases of between-meal food and beverages or beverage supplements to meals carried from home.

The total expenditure represents an average of about $6 a week per family.

Trout Season Opens

Biggest fishing event this weekend was the opening of trout season on Saturday, and panfishing is continuing to increase, according to the State Conservation Department district office at Pontiac.

Phoenix Lake near Plymouth will be open for the first time with its new stock of rainbow trout, planted last fall.

Other trout waters that count as good prospects in southeastern Michigan are Cooley, Deer, Elizabeth and Crescent lakes, and Bald Mountain, Davisburg, Fenton Nos. 1 and 2 and Pettibone trout ponds.

Heavy panfishing pressure continues along the Huron River. Lake Belleville has produced good catches of panfish, including rock bass.

Perch have hit well on the Canadian side of the Detroit River, but there has been little action on the American side.

The only action on Lake St. Clair has been a few muskellunge.

Rough-fish are hitting well in a number of rivers.

Knudsen Buys

SEMON KNUDSEN, new Ford Motor Co. president, has exercised his first stock purchase option, the company reported. He bought 1,000 shares of Ford common.

Knudsen shocked the automotive world earlier in the year when he resigned as a vice president of General Motors and then shortly afterward was named Ford president.

Democrats To Meet Tuesday

A top state Democratic official will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the 19th Congressional District Democratic organization scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 30.

The meeting will be held in Room 210, Farmington East Junior High, Middlebelt between 10 and 11 Mile roads.

The speaker is Paul Donahue, chairman of party development for the Democratic State Central Committee. Donahue is expected to report on the current statewide political scene, according to 19th District Democratic Chairman Aldo Vagnozzi.

The group will also discuss congressional issues with a presentation scheduled of the voting record of Republican Congressman Jack McDonald.

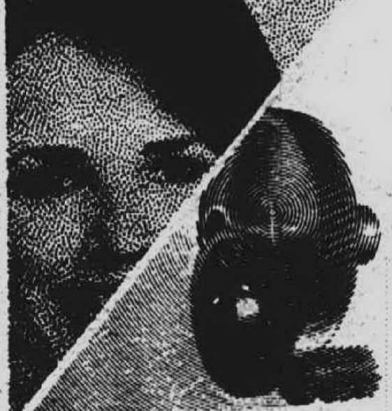

Reports will also be given on the current status of township elections and election of new county boards of supervisors based on the U.S. Supreme Court's recent "one man, one vote" decision.

Mediator Dies

PHILIP WEISS, an attorney and member of the State Labor Mediation Board who was working on the Detroit newspaper strike, died at his home in Grosse Pointe Farms.

Weiss was once a member of the Atomic Energy Commission to which he had been appointed by President Eisenhower.

Weiss had devoted most of his time during the past five months to sessions with the various groups involved in the strike.

Broadcast Workshop Scheduled At EMU

A broadcasting workshop for high school students will be held at Eastern Michigan University from Aug. 4 through Aug. 16 with Singer Buchanan, assistant professor of speech and dramatic arts, as director.

The workshop will provide basic training in the techniques, theories and practices of radio and television performance, direction, and programming. Classes will be scheduled in radio and television announcing, directing, producing and acting. All students will have practical experience in each of these areas.

Eastern Michigan facilities, which include radio-television studio classrooms equipped with video cameras, film chain balopticon, audio console, turntables and tape-recorders, will be used. The FM radio studio with a music and tape library will also serve as a study facility. Special field trips to local and area broadcasting and telecasting installations are planned.

The total cost is $105 which covers room, board, all instruction and recreational privileges.

The Department of Speech and Dramatic Arts will sponsor four workshops during the summer in theatre, broadcasting and two in debate.

Registration may be made in the Division of Field Service, EMU, Ypsilanti.

Township To Charge C&O Fire Damage

Plymouth Township is going to bill the C & O Railroad $614 for damages caused by its trains when they sparked brush fires along the tracks in the township.

Paul Albright, public services director, said that the township had never before charged the railroad for these kinds of damages but that it was not uncommon for municipalities to do this sort of thing.

He mentioned that Salem Township and Dearborn were having the same sort of trouble this year and had also decided to dunn the railroad.

Albright said that 11 fires had been started by the trains. Two or three weeks ago, he explained, the township firemen had just finished fighting a grass fire and had sent their trucks back to the station.

The firemen were taking care of some last minute items on one side of the railroad tracks when a train came through and sparked a fire on the other side.

McEwen Needs Help! What Is A Community?

Plymouth Township Supervisor John D. McEwen needs some help.

He'd like to find out the true definition of the word "community."

Street Light Plan Delayed In Township

A request for the installation of two street lights in Plymouth Township was tabled by the board Tuesday night in order to get more information regarding the total number of lights needed throughout the area.

One request asked that a light be installed on Beck Rd. in the vicinity of house addresses 12900, 12950, 12951, 12952, 12958 and 12960. The other request was for a light at the intersection of Beck Rd. and South Burning Tree Lane.

The policy of the township on street lights is that they will be installed only at entrances to subdivisions on main thoroughfares.

Trustee Gene Overholt asked if these two requests fell in this category. He added that there must be other areas— which came under the street light policy—that needed street lights also.

Supervisor John D. McEwen said that he knew of other places where street lights were needed and he would compile a list and present it to the board at the next meeting for their approval.

During the board of trustees' meeting Tuesday night he asked, "What exactly is the Plymouth community?"

McEwen said he had heard the word community used in many different ways—Plymouth Community School District and Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce—but he was puzzled how the township fits into these categories.

The supervisor directed his question to Carl Pursell, president of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

At the time, Pursell was explaining to the board the possibility of a Detroit radio and television station presenting a program in the near future about the community.

He asked the board if it would be interested in participating in the writing of the script and the development of the format for the two shows.

While talking, McEwen asked Pursell if he was talking as president of the chamber or as a township resident.

Pursell said he was representing the chamber of commerce as well as the City of Plymouth, that already had agreed to participate in the formulating of the program.

The board members stated that they wanted to know a little more about the project before committing themselves and asked Pursell to come back in two weeks with complete details.

However, John McEwen never got his question answered.

Business-Like Reservists Called Up

White-Collar Workers To Don Army Green For 24 Months Of Career

The callup of an Army Reserve company that trains in Livonia will hurt a lot of young business and sports careers, but it will have something less than a catastrophic effect on the suburbs.

To begin with, only 10 of the 153 men in the 424th Personnel Services Company reside in Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth, Redford or Westland.

And, about 15 members of the company won't have to go on active duty because their six-year terms of service will expire by Dec. 12. Thus, four of the 10 local men will not have to go on active duty for that reason, and a fifth is a question mark for medical reasons.

And the company commander, Capt. Edwin J. Duda, of Plymouth, says that many of his men are doing military jobs in personnel, finance and data processing that are similar to their jobs in business.

YET WHEN THE 424th goes on active duty May 13 for a scheduled 24 months, there is no doubt it's going to hurt. There will be separations from families, drastic pay cuts (despite a proposed 6.9 per cent military pay hike set for July 1), the trouble of pulling up stakes for an extended period.

The Army will try to make things as easy as possible, however. Medical care is paid for; commissary prices are lower; there are no state sales and gasoline taxes to pay; the finance office can arrange extensions of payments on home mortgages and appliances.

At first, said Capt. Duda, the company will report to the Livonia training center, a brick building at 34451 Schoolcraft that would look like a typical small suburban manufacturing plant except for the green trucks out back.

Afterwards, the company will be shipped to Fort Hood, Texas.

"It's hot, but I think the lower part of Texas is a lot like Florida to travel in. And you don't have to step off the base to find any of the facilities you want," said Capt. Duda.

Whether Fort Hood will be their permanent station, or just temporary, the company doesn't know. During their initial weeks, it will be a "restricted area" as far as the 424th is concerned, and the men won't be able to bring their families down in that period.

Vietnam? No one knows. Hopefully, not.

THE COMPANY'S FULL name is the 424th Adjutant General Personnel Services Company, and it's attached to the 300th Military Police-PW Command. Its mission is the maintenance of the personnel records of 5,000 to 8,000 troops.

The 15 or so men who don't have to go on active duty will be either transferred into other Reserve companies or placed in the Immediate Reserve Reinforcement; they'll have to put in two weeks of summer training at either Camp McCoy, Wis., or Granite City, Ill.

The 424th is a young company. It was organized last Jan. 31 from men in engineer and military police companies in Livonia and Detroit. Their Reserve training schedule was 72 four-hour drills a month — from 7 to 11 p.m. most Mondays and 8:30 to 5 on Saturday and Sunday once a month.

The 424th is the third of the half-dozen or so companies training at the Livonia center to be called to active duty in recent years.

In the 1961 Berlin crisis, the 602nd MP Company went to Fort Polk, La., and the 603rd MP Company to Fort Chaffee, Ark.

CAPT. EDWIN J. DUDA, PLYMOUTH

Both were scheduled for a one-year tour of duty; both were released in 10 months.

ALL SORTS OF MEN are in the 424th — some have 15 years of service, some have done two years of active duty in the Regular Army, some are recent enlistees.

That so many of the suburban dwellers should be getting out soon isn't surprising. The pattern is that a young man joins to fulfill his six-year military obligation and has a home in the suburbs by the time his term of service is ending.

"There's a high percentage of college men in this company," said Capt. Duda. "I'd say 50 per cent have one or more years of college, and 25 per cent are college graduates."

"We have three or four or more certified public accountants and one lawyer. Most of the men are white collar workers or in business. This military occupation coincides with their civilian work more than if we were a military police or engineer company. We're really a business administration company."

Capt. Duda estimates that 80 per cent-plus of the men are "obligated" — that is, haven't completed their required six years in the Reserve — and 20 per cent-minus are "non-obligated."

The news that the 424th would be activated came just three days before Easter and a couple of weeks after President Johnson made a de-escalation gesture to North Vietnam and announced he wouldn't run again. The Commander-in-Chief said many things in that 40-minute speech, and one thing that received little news space was that more Reserves would be called to active duty.

"You know, when you're in the Reserves, that your company could be called up any time. But when it happens, it comes as—well—a surprise," says Capt. Duda.

Typically, the last to get any official word was the company itself. The news came out of Washington that Thursday. The Observer Newspapers learned more by calling a congressman than the men at the Livonia Training Center knew.

THE MEN ARE JUST LIKE anyone else in suburbia.

Ed Duda, 32, earned his bachelor's and masters' degrees at Michigan State University; he's married and has a couple of youngsters, both of whom entered the hospital last week to have their tonsils and adenoids out.

He had worked for the Winkelman store chain before joining Ford Motor Co. 3½ years ago. He's an accountant at the Livonia plant, which isn't far from his home in the southeast part of Plymouth.

Duda has been in the Reserve 11 years, the first 10 in quartermaster-supply work. This is his second company command.

His executive officer is 1st Lt. Jack Beery, 34, of Farmington. He went to school at the University of Dayton and the National Cash Register school of engineering, and worked for NCR before coming to the Burroughs Corp. plant in Plymouth 1½ years ago.

Beery spent two years on active duty in the Army and has been in the service a total of 14 years. As an enlisted man, he rose to the rank of master sergeant, then got a presidential direct commission as a first lieutenant.

Capt. Duda says of Beery: "Burroughs is losing a good man, and the Army is benefiting quite a bit." Beery smiles as if to say, "Aw, shucks," and then adds: "My work has been in the design rather than the use of this data-processing equipment."

ONE YOUNG MAN trying hard to be philosophical about it is Spec 4 Frank L. Gable of Westland. Gable is a professional baseball player.

"I've been playing in Burlington, N. C., down in the Carolina league. I've played AA and AAA ball the last couple of years — second base."

Livonia LWV Pushes New Judges System

Vocalist Workshop Set

PETITION SIGNER — Mrs. Rosi Kaciolo (right), of Farmington, was one of the signers of a petition to change the state's method of selecting judges when the Livonia League of Women Voters set up a booth in the Livonia Mall last week. League members, from left, are Betty Smith, Jane Andrews and Shirley Bishop, all of Livonia.

Members of the Livonia League of Women Voters don't take their organization's commitments lightly.

The league in the state of Michigan has decided it favors a new method of selecting judges and keeping them in office. So the local group is right in there getting the plan before the public.

Until June 1, LWV women in Livonia will have available petitions that registered voters may sign to show their willingness to put the new plan on the ballot.

THEY HAVE taken the petitions into supermarkets and shopping centers, and had a booth for three days in the Livonia Mall.

"I collected 49 signatures in two hours in one supermarket," said Livonia president Mrs. James Callow.

"Most people who took the time to ask about the plan we are backing seemed willing to sign."

BRIEFLY STATED, THE judicial selection and tenure amendment backed by the LWV and other organizations provides for non-partisan selection of judges, and use of a combination method of original appointment to the bench and subsequent election.

It was worked out, taking some ideas from plans set up in other states, by Michigan members of the American Judicature Society, and has the backing of the Jaycees, Church Women United and the Council of Catholic Women.

AS SET UP, vacancies on the bench would be filled by gubernatorial appointment from a list of nominations by a special council of lay citizens and attorneys. The appointments would have to be made within a specified time, to avoid long delays in filling vacancies.

A judge appointed would then serve three years, after which the voters would have the chance to say whether or not he should be retained in office. After one favorable election, he would serve until death, retirement or removal from office, which could be done by a judicial qualifications commission which would be empowered to investigate complaints against judges.

"WE THINK the plan is a good one for several reasons," Mrs. Callow said. "The League has decided, and reaffirmed the decision several times, that members of the bench should be kept outside politics.

"And this plan provides a means of removing an incompetent judge from office. Up to now, there has been no effective means except defeating him at the polls, and this is rarely possible because a poor judge who gets a lot of publicity is likely to be re-elected."

Mrs. David Andrew and Mrs. John LaRue are heading the drive for signatures. Registered voters interested in signing the petitions may call either of them or Mrs. Callow.

Eastern Michigan University has scheduled a choral workshop for high school students from July 21 through Aug. 2. Blaine Ballard, associate professor and University Choir director, will be in charge of the workshop.

Young vocalists in grades nine through 12, recommended by their music teachers, will have an opportunity to learn and perform under the supervision of both guest faculty and regular members of the EMU music staff.

All students will be enrolled in at least one course in basic music, music literature or conducting. They may also participate in choir, madrigal, cantata singers, chamber singers, boy's glee club, girl's glee club, and in special musical productions.

The total fee of $105 covers rooms, board, all instruction, practice facilities and all recreational privileges. Private lessons are included in the fee.

Some scholarships will be awarded.

Further information may be obtained from Ballard or from the director of University Conferences at EMU.

Suburban Reservists Called Up

Gable is 25 now, and he will be 27 when he gets out if he's kept on active duty the full two years. But he figures he'll be able to play again "because of expansion of the leagues. They'll need ballplayers and experienced ballplayers. I'd like to stay in shape as much as possible now."

A native of San Francisco, Gable married a local girl and settled in Westland in September. His six year military obligation will be finished in February of 1970.

A MAN WHO WILL feel the impact in the housing area is Sgt. Paul Quenneville, 28, who moved from an apartment in Lincoln Park to a nice home in Livonia less than three years ago. He and his wife have an 18-month-old daughter.

"We're going to have to move or lease our house and store the furniture. I can't afford to keep this up on Army pay. We have a lot of decisions to make," he said.

The job won't be quite as tough a situation. "I work for a real wonderful company—Arthur Anderson and Co., a public accounting firm in Detroit." He has been there six years and will be able to pick up where he left off when he gets out of uniform.

Quenneville earned his bachelor's degree in business administration, with an accounting major, at Eastern Michigan University and has been with Anderson for six years.

He was a military policeman before being transferred into the finance section of the 424th in January. The finance section will be eliminated when the group is activated, however, and he will be in an administrative job.

Quenneville's enlistment term ends in less than a year — on April 8, 1969. Whether he'll be let out then or have his term extended he doesn't know.

LESS DRASTICALLY affected, in family terms, is Spec 4 Lawrence Dodd, a 23-year-old bachelor from Redford Township.

A 1962 graduate of Thurston High School, Dodd spent 1½ years at Lawrence Tech and works as a draftsman and detailer for A. F. Caughey Associates.

A reservist 2½ years, he was in the 887th Engineering Group as a wheeled vehicle mechanic before the 424th Personnel Services Company was formed. Now they've made him a computer repairman.

"We haven't had any training in it," said Dodd. "We were supposed to get some training in summer camp."

He isn't unduly upset about being activated: "The only thing I'll lose is the difference between my civilian and military pay."

CAREERS WILL BE interrupted. Federal law and the American sense of fair play require that the men get their old jobs back, along with their seniority, when they return from active duty.

But in the meantime, they've lost the differential between military and civilian pay and the chance for promotions. Maybe a new boss will come in who doesn't know them very well.

But there's another side to the coin, insists Lt. Beery:

"If a man hasn't been doing anything, he's not going to be missed. But if he's been doing a good job, the company will miss him."

"And it may be that a lot of men have been quietly doing valuable work that no one recognizes. When they're called up, then the company will realize what they've been doing and say, 'Hey, we missed you when you were gone.'"

Reserves Turn 60

The one million-member U.S. Army Reserve last week celebrated its 60th anniversary. While the militia (National Guard) dates back to the original 13 colonies, the federal government's own reserve corps wasn't organized until April 23, 1908. Since then, the Army Reserve has sent men to both world wars, the Korean conflict, the Berlin crisis of 1961, and now the Vietnam war.

Training at the Livonia center on Schoolcraft, in addition to the soon-to-be activated 424th Personnel Services Company, are the Headquarters 70th Division, the 300th Military Police (POW) Command, the 603rd MP Company (Guard) and the 532nd USAR School.

THE QUENNEVILLE FAMILY of Livonia is comprised of Sgt. Paul, wife Barbara, and 18-month-old Theresa.

Livonia Eases Ticket Threat On Corner Parking

By RALPH R. REED

Faced with complaints that he called "reasonable," Mayor Harvey W. Moelke has instructed the Police Department to wait until street intersection warning signs are installed before issuing tickets for parking too close to corners.

That, the mayor said, does not exclude the ticketing of tall trucks that would obstruct the view of "Stop" signs.

It does mean that the modern low parked cars do not block a driver's view of the "Stop" sign at the top of the post.

Also, the mayor believes that an automobile driver smart enough to get a license isn't likely to swing into a busy road without stopping for a "look and listen," at moving traffic.

It won't be long before such "no parking" signs are erected, the mayor said, in the more critical areas. A survey has been ordered.

They would probably read "No Parking Here to Corner"—and to comply with the city ordinance, would be erected 30 feet from the intersection.

IT IS WITHIN that 30-foot zone that parkers, unfamiliar with the ordinance, have been finding violation tickets under the windshields. Violators pay $4, or $1 within 48 hours.

"The complaints are justified," the mayor said "because the average person doesn't know about the 30-foot rule and there are no signs to warn the parker. They have no copies of the ordinances to read.

"Neither are there curbs along the side streets that can be painted yellow as a warning of No Parking areas.

"Certainly we can't afford to pave all the side streets so that curbs can be painted, and I don't know what it would cost to put up signs all over the city advising drivers of parking regulations."

Robert A. Shaw, director of the Department of Public Works, said he had no idea how many signs would be required to properly post all intersections — where "Stop" signs already are installed.

Shaw said his department could make and put up the signs when they are ordered by the Police Department.

Where the money will come from to pay the bill is undecided. The city is pinched for funds, under the six mill limitation that includes one mill for police use—beyond its council appropriation.

Moelke pointed out that other cities post the "No Parking Here to Corner" signs near busy intersections—whatever distance from the corner the local ordinance may specify.

The mayor said that in view of the higher salaries that the police may receive in the present negotiations with the city's bargaining team, he had asked Safety Director Donald Nicholson to look into the possibility of hiring civilians—probably meter maids—to take over the parking violation ticket problem.

That, he said, would require the setting up of a new classification by the Civil Service Commission, since all police except the civilian commissioner are chosen through that system.

He believes this would free uniformed patrolmen, in Livonia's "courtesy is our motto" cars, to pay more attention to speeders in the residence sections on highways, and to other police work.

Of the department's 117 persons, 18 are civilians.

CHIEF JAMES JORDAN said the city's department now should have more than 150 personnel, on the basis of one and one-half officers per 1,000 residents. He said that with the city's potential of 175,000 people, the force should grow accordingly.

The Livonia Police Officers Association has been negotiating a new contract—reportedly for two years—since last summer, and whatever 1968 increases in salary and benefits are agreed upon will be retroactive to last Dec. 1, when raises became effective for most other city personnel except firemen. The Livonia Fire Fighters Association rejected what has been reported as "excellent offers," with the contract to become effective for one year as of July 1, taking into account the seven-month period between December and July.

Police demands, besides better benefits, were for $10,000 a year maximum for patrolmen, up from the present $8,200. Firemen asked a 10 per cent increase. Other city workers got raises of about $300, plus some improved benefits.

Edward H. McNamara, now council president, recommended several months ago that the police be paid $10,000 for comfortable living and to attract college calibre men to the department, men from whom future sergeants, lieutenants, captains and chiefs can be chosen.

One official said the proposal had "set negotiations back three months."

Moelke Fete Set May 17

They're going to strike up the band a little late in celebration of Mayor Harvey W. Moelke's election to a fourth term in the executive office of Livonia.

He was renominated at a primary election on February 19, reelected by a landslide on April 1 over Council President Peter A. Ventura, who hoped for elevation to the city's top job.

The celebration is planned for May 17—a Friday night. The place is Roma Hall, Dress is informal.

THE DINNER is buffet—the price $6 per person, $12 a couple.

Beer, and the setups, are included. The bottle of hard liquor—if you want it—is your own.

There will be champagne at "so much" a glass—depending on the purchase price to the promoters.

Tables will be reserved for parties of 10. Others will sit at tables where everyone, being Friends of Moelke, are expected to be friendly.

Last time—the third term celebration—400 went to the party, delayed until June because of space accommodations. This time the arrangers plan for 50 per cent more.

To keep things in order, a one-day license will be obtained to cover the beer, wine and drinking privileges.

Mrs. Eleanor Jacobs, the mayor's executive secretary, said the $6 is a donation, rather than a price.

Mrs. Jacobs is handling the ticket sales. . . ah, or donation reservations. Calls to GA 2-6480 days, GA 7-0899 evenings, will speed delivery of tickets to the purchasers. Also, will arrange for tables for the groups of 10 or more.

THE KICK-OFF comes at 7:30 p.m., with self service dinner about 8 and dancing will begin at 9 and continue until the orchestra's contract time runs out at 1 a.m.

Who's playing? The decision hasn't been made.

The plans for the party are being made by such City Hall inhabitants as Robert A. Shaw, director of Public Works and a Moelke campaign advisor, and Steve Polgar, the head of Moelke's Legal Department and another adviser, as well as by Mrs. Jacobs.

The crowd will include most city officials, a lot of city employees, and a number of Moelke supporters and admirers.

TEEN BALLERINA — Miss Cathy Shepherd, 17, ballet pupil with the Rosedale School of Dance, will be one of many young dance devotees performing this Sunday, April 28, at the Livonia Artists' Club's Seventh Annual Festival of the Arts, 1-9 p.m. at the Carl Sandburg Library. Cathy, a ballet student since the age of 6, is a Bentley High School senior and the daughter of the George Shepherds, 30370 Oakview Dr.

Counselor Offers Some Tips On Selecting Your College

By the time the tulips bloom, most high school seniors planning on college in the fall have been accepted and have probably started packing.

But the scramble for college admission has become a year-round project, and students just finishing their junior year are already well into the planning and plotting stage.

We asked Robert Southgate, director of guidance and counseling at Plymouth High School, to talk about the college admission process, and particularly about some of the things students could do during the summer that would help in making college choices in the fall.

He advises that students begin by spending an evening or two with their noses in a good college guide book—the standard is Lovejoy's College Guide.

Then, on some of those warm summer afternoons, a little soul-searching would be a good time investment. Each student must decide for himself, Southgate emphasized, what type of college is going to be best for his personality and educational plans. "Soul-searching" isn't going to produce a list of colleges, but it may help the student decide whether he's heading for a large university or a small college, private or public, coed, women's or men's.

Visiting colleges is one of the most important steps in the student selection process, Southgate suggested. He advises students to see as many colleges as they can, preferably with a student guide.

Summer, he pointed out, is not the best time to visit a campus, but a summer visit is a lot better than no visit at all.

If a student remembers that any college has a different atmosphere during summer school than in the fall, and takes time to talk to several students, a summer visit can be a valuable plus.

Southgate has a few suggestions for students who reach the stage of choosing the colleges to which they will submit applications.

"First, students should realize that there is not necessarily any one college that is the college.

"It may be that students emphasize many of the wrong things when they choose a college. I have the feeling that, for many undergraduates, the important factor is choosing among the personalities of colleges, rather than choosing on the basis of student-teacher ratio, number of graduates in the student's field or the other factors that can be put into a guidebook.

"The problem with choosing a college by personality is that most students just can't learn enough about a school to evaluate this kind of a vague factor.

"A large university may turn out to be a very cold environment for a kid who isn't particularly outgoing, but he may not realize that the university is too big, or he may not realize that he isn't going to be able to function very well in it."

The point, Southgate says, is that choosing a college not only requires a lot of knowledge about colleges, but a lot of knowledge about the student. And it may be easier for students to be realistic about institutions than about themselves.

Safety Road Rally Set For May 5

A safety-promoting road rally for young drivers is being sponsored by the Achievers Association of Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan. Scheduled for Sunday, May 5, the event will start at Northland Center and end at Mt. Gramplan Ski Lodge, Oxford.

Bible College 'Preview' Set

Local high school students will be able to participate in a special "get acquainted with college" program during "Collegiate Preview" scheduled May 3-4 at Detroit Bible College.

This unique two-day event, sponsored by the DBC Dormitory Council, is open to all high school juniors and seniors. "Collegiate Preview" will feature brief class sessions Saturday, May 4, on such subjects as theology and psychology. According to Norm Davis, student dorm supervisor, overnight accommodations will be made available to the first 75 to 80 applicants. The remaining participants will begin a full day of activities at 10 a.m. on May 4. There is a nominal registration fee. For further information, call Norm Davis at UN 4-8400.

Also planned for Saturday is a tour of the DBC campus along with varied recreational activities such as swimming. Highlighting the evening will be a banquet at 6 p.m. followed by a closing rally which will feature musical selections performed by the DBC Chorale. A brief talk by Dr. William A. Bevier, interim president, will conclude the two-day event.

Each contestant will be handed a list of mystery clues to the route to be followed and will be clocked at checkpoints along the way. Prizes will be awarded to the top performers during a dance climaxing the day's activity.

Entry blanks for the road rally may be picked up at any Junior Achievement center or at the takeoff site. Starting gun will be fired at 12 noon in parking lot K at Northland.

Plymouth Girl Wins Bentley Scholarship

Judy Ray, daughter of Mrs. Stella Ray, 2100 Morrison, Plymouth, has been named winner of an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation Scholarship Award for Excellence to Schoolcraft College for the academic year 1968-69.

The scholarship amounts to $500 and is one of the major awards presented to 60 Michigan colleges and universities by the Foundation this year.

Commenting on the selection, Bentley said, "The choice of Miss Ray for a scholarship by Schoolcraft College results not only from the attainment of an excellent academic record, but also from her achievement in extracurricular activities, which exemplifies the ideals of the scholarship policy of the Foundation."

Debaters Honored

Several outstanding high school debaters in Observerland have received Certificates of Merit after participating in the Michigan High School Forensic Association debate series, sponsored by The Detroit Free Press and the University of Michigan.

Area students honored are: PLYMOUTH—Sue Leonard, Steve Lytle, James Warren and Michael Brinks.

REDFORD UNION—Shirlee Busetto, Jill Dyer, Jack Ebling, Darrel Ervin, Larry Good, Kevin Huntsman, Syd Rooks and Doug Savich.

OUR LADY OF SORROWS—Brian Pollins, Gary Maximuk, John Abowd and James Mitchell.

LADYWOOD—Marianne Nagorsen, Carmen Blanchard, Marie O'Brien, Margo Arcand, Mary Chris Morucci, Paula Padalino, Sue Durivage and Cathy McAllister.

STEVENSON—James Chisholm, Alan Helmkamp, Mary Ann Jardine, Stanley Bock, Cheryl Stewart, Joy Hoplamazian, Paul Slesaff, Jack Kay, Stewart Cohen and Mordecai Abramowitz.

AFS International Set Next Weekend

An American Field Service International Festival is planned on May 4 and 5 at Keatington's Antique Village.

The site on the old Scripps Estate on Joslyn Road is colorfully representative of early America, and international flavor will be added by the 72 AFS students from all parts of Michigan. They will wear native costumes and will participate in panel discussions, talent shows and exhibits.

The program begins at 10 a.m. Saturday and will close at 5 p.m. Midway and booths will open on Sunday, starting at noon.

In addition to the AFS students who will entertain and educate those attending the Festival, there will be activities available for all ages: midway games; booths with home baked goods, foreign foods and gifts; and beautiful handmade items; hay rides, pony rides, refreshments.

This year the American Field Service scholarship program has enabled 3,080 qualified teen-agers from 60 countries to spend the senior year of high school in United States communities.

Since 1947 the aim of AFS has been that these potential leaders of tomorrow will return to their homelands with a better understanding of the United States and eventually create better relationships between nations. AFS also handles an Americans Abroad Program which sends outstanding students from U.S. high schools to foreign countries to live with families.

Metropolitan Detroit AFS is sponsoring this fund-raising event, with the cooperation of Detroit area adult AFS chapters and high school AFS clubs. Proceeds will support the International Scholarship Program.

The Redford Township residents who have been active on the Metropolitan AFS Board are: Mrs. V.G. Mundy, Mrs. George Duprey, Mrs. Charles Haynes and Mrs. Edwin Ott.

Thurston High School is sponsoring Mario Duran, Guatemala, living with the Edwin Ott family, 11324 Marion, Detroit; and Yumisa Thungsubutr, Thailand, living with the Bruce Goffney family, 26078 Westfield, Detroit.

Redford Union High School is sponsoring Janet Sebright, England, who is living with the David Schechter family, 17373 Beech Daly, Detroit.

Redford High School is sponsoring Gilles Bottine, France, who is living with the Richard Barzler family, 15932 Ashton, Detroit and Maria Ibanez, Argentina, who is living with the Cyril Mitchell family, 17305 Northrop, Detroit.

The Livonia residents who have been active on the Metropolitan AFS Board are: Mrs. Forest Chaffee, Mrs. Omar Mette, Mrs. Gordon McKay, Mrs. T.A. Blacklock, Mrs. Sidney Wilson, Mrs. Raymond Chalken and Mrs. Walter Nevill.

Clarenceville High School is sponsoring Felix Cukerman, Uruguay, who is living with the Dr. Richard Bayles family, Livonia.

Garden City High School is sponsoring Michel Pflug, Switzerland, who is living with the Louis Hager family, Garden City.

Stevenson High School is sponsoring Giorgio Antonietti, Italy, who is living with the William Mastny family, Livonia, and Estela Ines Villase-nor, Argentina, who is living with the William Schmitt family, Livonia.

Bentley High School is sponsoring Shirin Akabarour, Iran, who is living with the Charles Maddox family, Livonia, and Per Sandberg, Sweden, who is living with the William Bolin family, Livonia.

The Farmington residents who have been active on the Metropolitan AFS Board are: Mrs. W.P. Bunnell, Mrs. S. Steele Cox, Mrs. Irene Young and Mrs. James Read.

Farmington High School is sponsoring Brigit Madsen, Denmark, who is living with the Wesley Robertson family, Farmington, and Marco Tres, Brazil, who is living with the John Clappison family, Farmington.

ROCKY BARRA, an Eastern Michigan University senior who lives at 35244 Parkdale, in Livonia, admires the first edition of his new magazine, "Strictly Elvis." Rocky, who is 22, claims that Elvis is not in any sense out-dated; that 1968 may be his biggest year yet. Apparently Rocky is not the only one who thinks so—he already has 500 subscriptions to the monthly publication.

JONATHAN D. ADAMS, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas T. Adams, of 1441 Woodland, Plymouth, was elected recording secretary of Delta Upsilon Fraternity at Denison University, Granville, O. A sophomore, he is a graduate of Plymouth High.

LINGA J. LYNAS, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Lynas, of 644 Harding, Plymouth, has just returned to Michigan State University after attending the 13th National Angel Flight Conclave in New York. The Angel Flight is a national women's organization which supports the Arnold Air Society, an honorary association for outstanding Air Force ROTC cadets. Miss Lynas is a 1965 graduate of Plymouth High.

ROMANCE SWEEPS OVER the head this spring, and as far as fashion goes, the closely cropped, straight hair of the last few seasons is a thing of the past. Two of the new looks are sketched above. One is a simple waved style that can be

Romney Enters Newspaper Negotiations

POLITICS HAS entered the 161-day Detroit newspaper strike with both Mayor Jerome Cavanagh and Gov. George Romney entering the picture. Cavanagh moved into the negotiations some time ago when he arranged for a negotiator from Wisconsin to sit down with the management and labor union teams. He recommended continuous negotiating sessions as the only way to resolve the situation and told the groups he would be available to join in the talks at any time.

Then Gov. Romney, criticizing both the methods and personnel of the mayor, issued an invitation to meet with the parties involved in the dispute Tuesday in his Lansing office.

Reports from the negotiators indicate the parties are just as far apart now as when the strike started. Although there hasn't been any confirmation, rumors have it that the newspaper publishers have offered the striking unions a $27 package over 30 months. This contrasts with the reported settlement with the Teamsters of $30 for 30 months.

From the striking unions comes word that the ITU is asking the publishers to match open some 15 homes in the small community of 200 but none was seriously injured.

In Kentucky, the tornado churned through the city of Falmouth, pushing over trees and homes. Officials said one person was killed and 100 injured in Falmouth, located 50 miles north of Lexington.

Ohio also was hit by high winds at several points. Six were killed and a score or more injured in the Wheelersburg area of Scioto County.

THE FEDERAL government has started a probe into whether there were civil rights violations in the cases of three Negro youths shot to death in a hotel annex during the Detroit riots last July.

A federal grand jury, which operates in secrecy, has started hearing testimony, marking the first federal action in the cases.

One Detroit policeman and a private guard face trials in Detroit Recorder's Court in the deaths.

The youths, Aubrey Pollard, 19; Fred Temple, 18; and Carl Cooper, 17, were found shot to death in the annex of the Algiers Hotel on the fringe of the riot area.

CONSUMERS Power Co. has applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission for authorization to increase its rates for gas to more than 770,000 customers in 37 counties of the lower peninsula.

The application didn't specify the amount of the proposed increase. Consumers said the boost was needed because of "the soaring cost of money, higher labor and material costs, higher taxes and an increase in the cost of gas scheduled to become effective July 4."

JOHN BUGAS, a vice president of Ford Motor Co. since 1946 and a member of its board since 1950, will retire at the end of April having reached his 60th birthday.

Bugas, a former member of the FBI, gained a wide reputation in the field of labor relations as vice president of Industrial Relations at Ford. For 14 years he directed the company's industrial relations activities, ranging from labor negotiations to employee services and company-wide personnel programs.

In May, 1957, Bugas was appointed vice president - Ford International Group. In that capacity he directed the company's import-export operations and relations with overseas branches.

STUDDER TIRES, used for the first time on Michigan highways last winter, apparently are not causing much damage to road surfaces.

A spokesman for the State Highway Department said "There has not been noticeable effect as far as we can tell at this time." Reports from district and area maintenance garages have been sketchy and no actual survey is being conducted.

The spokesman said it would probably be at least a couple of years before the complete extent of damage could be determined.

RAIDS IN FLINT and Detroit were reported by Prosecutor Robert Leonard, of Flint, to have broken what he indicated was an international prostitution ring.

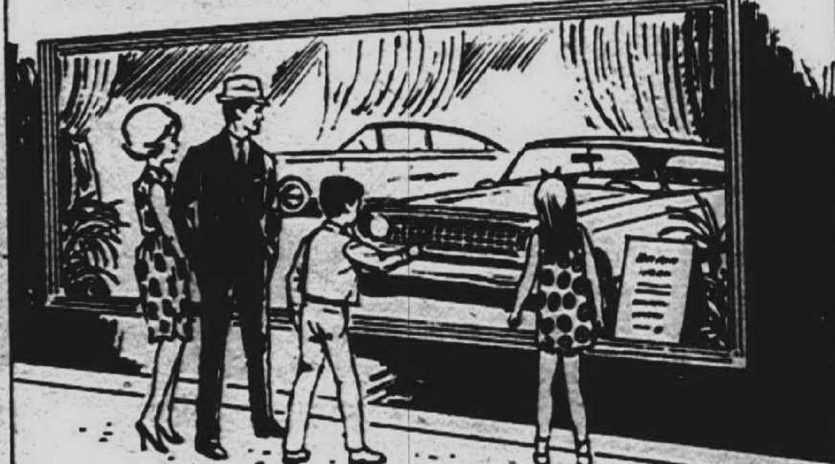

A total of 25 persons were named in warrants by Leonard. Twelve were taken into custody in Flint and four in Detroit while nine others are being sought.

Leonard said that two men nabbed by Detroit police on conspiracy warrants were the leaders of the ring. He identified them as Hayward Beasley and Hobart Betts. He said the ring operated in Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Missouri and Pennsylvania as well as in Montreal, Toronto and London in Canada.

Plymouth Vaulter Betters School Mark

Bauman Clears 12' 6"

It may have been cold and damp.

But it was still a warm day for Plymouth High's track team. The Rocks got off to a flying start by downing Bentley, 60-58, in what was both Plymouth's first Suburban Six League meet of the season and also the school's first outdoor action.

Two record-breaking performances highlighted Plymouth's triumph.

Bruce Bauman, in winning the pole vault, soared to 12 feet, 6 inches and cracked a Plymouth varsity record set way back in 1949 by Jay Wagenschutz.

Rich Goepf also accounted for a Plymouth mark with a 10:26.4 clocking in finishing second in the two mile. Ken Evans had set the former record of 10:28.4 last season.

Bentley came up with a pair of double winners in Joe Chemello and Bob Spuller.

Chemello won the long jump and the 440-yard run while Spuller hit the finish first in both the dashes. Chemello also ran on the victorious Bentley mile relay.

The results:
Two Mile: 1--McGhie; 2--Goepf (P); 3--Viskocich (P). Time--10:26.

Long Jump: 1--Chemello (B); 2--Eggleston (B); 3--Bozak (P). Distance--19 feet, 10 inches.

Shot Put: 1--Elias (P); 2--Penny (P); 3--Capudean (B). Distance--51 feet, 11 3/4 inches.

880-yard relay: 1--Plymouth. Time: 1:36.5.

Mile: 1--Norman (P); 2--McLendon (P); 3--Morren (B). Time: 4:46.7.

High Jump: 1--Crowder (B); 2--Derr (P); 3--Kubik (P). Height: 5 feet, 10 inches.

High Hurdles: 1--Derr (P); 2--Howell (P); 3--Martin (P). Time: 15.4 seconds.

880-yard: 1--Cavender (P); 2--Bagar (B); 3--Galea (B). Time: 2:04.2

440-yard: 1--Chemello (B); 2--Warner (B); 3--Latham (P). Time: 52.0 seconds.

100-yard: 1--Spuller (B); 2--Kubik (P); 3--Montgomery (P). Time: 10.7 seconds.

Low Hurdles: 1--Martin (P); 2--Howell (B); 3--Eggleston (B). Time: 21 seconds.

220-yard: 1--Spuller (B); 2--Montgomery (B); 3--Kubik (P). Time: 23.4 seconds.

Mile relay: 1--Bentley. Time: 3:37.7.

Pole Vault: 1--Bauman (P); 2--Plumley (B); 3--Schramm (B). Height: 12 feet, 6 inches. (school record).

Wolverine Racing Aide Crash Victim

Philip Leonard, who served as assistant racing secretary at Wolverine Raceway during the current meeting until 10 days ago when he shifted to Lexington, Ky., to become racing secretary at the Wolverine Kentucky harness racing meeting, was killed Tuesday evening in a head-on crash in the Lexington business section.

Word of the fatal accident was received by Wolverine officials Tuesday morning. Complete details weren't available but the information was that Leonard was driving on one of the city's major streets during Tuesday's heavy rainstorm when a car, coming in the opposite direction skidded across the center line and hit the oncoming Leonard vehicle head-on.

Leonard was reportedly dead on arrival at the hospital.

A brother, Ted, is one of the leading race secretaries in the East and another brother, Jack, handles a powerful stable of trotters and pacers in the Chicago area.

Phil is survived by his widow of six months; his parents, and a sister, Mrs. Emily Guelter of Plymouth, Mich., in addition to the two brothers.

In addition to serving on the staff at Wolverine, Phil also worked in the racing secretary offices at Hazel Park and Northville Downs and was director of racing at Jackson Raceway and Wolverine of Kentucky.

Special to the Observer
NEW YORK--The pressure of a long winning streak removed, the Detroit Tigers should find out in the next few days exactly how good they are and how good some of their top rivals are in the American League pennant chase.

Detroit still held a two-game lead when they opened a four-game series with the New York Yankees Friday after dropping a 2-0 verdict in Cleveland to see its nine-game winning streak go by the boards.

Thus ended the longest string of successive Detroit victories since 1949 and crushed the club's hopes of equalling the longest mark in the team's history--14 straight.

But manager Mayo Smith had more to worry about than the streak being snapped.

He was concerned by the collision that came in the seventh inning of Wednesday's game when Willie Horton and Ray Oyler bumped into each other while chasing a short fly.

HORTON WAS sent to the hospital, suffering from a mild concussion.

At the same time, the Tigers found themselves shorthanded in the pitching department for the Yankee series. Mickey Lolich went from Cleveland back home to spend the weekend in the National Guard.

"With four games against the Yankees, it could hurt us," explained Smith.

But the Tigers could look forward to Lolich's return to action Monday night when the Detroiters return to Tiger Stadium for a long home stand. They'll go first against Oakland (former Kansas City) Monday and Tuesday night after which the Minnesota Twins come in for a pair. Then it'll be Baltimore at Tiger Stadium for the weekend.

Livonia's Joe Sparma deserved a better fate in the Wednesday loss at Cleveland after the weather had idled both teams on Tuesday causing Tiger pilot Smith to scream.

He felt that the teams could have played on Tuesday and therefore avoided another doubleheader later in the season.

AS FOR Sparma, the Tigers got only one hit all evening off Jim Hargan. A leadoff single by Jim Northrup in the third inning ruined Hargan's bid for a no-hitter.

He walked only two men and faced a total of 28 in the game. Seven Tigers went down on strikes.

The Tigers also didn't give Sparma the best support in the world.

Cleveland scored in the second when Tony Horton walked, took second on an infield out and came around on a wild throw by Dick McAuliffe.

The collision between Willie Horton and Oyler set up the Tribe's other run in the seventh. Hargan ran to third when the ball dropped and walked in when Leon Wagner delivered a pinch hit.

He walked only two men and faced a total of 28 in the game. Seven Tigers went down on strikes.

Thurston Rally Nets Victory

A roaring finish enabled Thurston High's track team to roll from behind to nip North Farmington, 60-58, in a thrilling Northwest Suburban League meet.

Trailing by eight points with two events left, Thurston slammed the 220-yard dash and then the mile relay, the day's final event, to overtake the Raiders.

Mike Biel led a one-two-three finish for Thurston in the 220.

Then in the mile relay, Jerry Butlin grabbed the baton some 20 yards behind on the final leg. He turned on the steam to win the race by five yards and give the meet to Thurston.

Thurston's Ken Blake was the only double winner. He captured the high hurdles in 15.7 seconds and sped to a triumph in the lows in 21.3 seconds.

The results:
High Jump: 1-- Mann (NF), 2-- Gilmour (NF), 3-- Marshall (T). Height -- 5 feet, 10 inches.

Pole Vault: Tie for first between Puroila (T) and Ortwin (NF); 3-- Schnieder (T). Height: 10 feet.

Shot Put: 1-- Spicer (T), 2--

Hull's 2 Keep Hawks In Series

MONTREAL — The Chicago Black Hawks still are alive and because they are there'll be a fifth game here Sunday in their best-of-seven Stanley Cup playoff with the Montreal Canadiens.

The Hawks by winning, 2-1, last Thursday night also ended Montreal's streak of seven straight victories in the current playoffs—four against Boston and three against Chicago.

Montreal not only was shooting to knock out Chicago in four straight but a victory Thursday would have enabled the Canadiens to match the Cup record for consecutive victories first set by Detroit and then tied by the Canadiens.

Bobby Hull, held scoreless in the three previous games, fired in both Chicago's goals. His first came as he slipped in to connect from short range.

On the play Montreal goalie Gump Worsley suffered a strained neck and had to leave the game. He's expected to be able to play again Sunday.

Montreal knotted the score on a goal by Henri Richard in the second period. Moments later, Hull let loose the winning blast while Chicago was a man short.

In the Western playoffs, Minnesota took a 2-1 lead over St. Louis by sinking the Blues, 5-1.

12-Run Inning Saves Trojans

Clarenceville High's baseball team found a way to keep warm in Thursday's sub 40-degree weather.

All the Trojans did was send 17 men to bat in the third inning in which they scored 12 times to gain a 13-4 victory over West Bloomfield.

It was Clarenceville's first Wayne-Oakland League triumph after three reversals.

In the wild, third inning, Mike Conway led off for the Trojans by being hit by a pitch.

Jim McCammon was safe on a fielder's choice and Carl Watkins walked to load the bases. Bob Duman and Mike White followed with singles. Then Jim Croskey walked, Gary Respekt was safe on an error and Gary Riding walked.

Conway, up for the second time, singled. McCammon and Watkins each was safe on an error. Duman bagged his second hit of the inning—a three-run homer. Kerry Rifkin tripled and White was safe on a fielder's choice.

The outpouring was more than enough for Duman, who checked the West Bloomfield team with six hits.

Watkins lashed a single and double and walked twice. Duman had two hits as did Rifkin.

THE TRACK story was a different one for Clarenceville as Milford roared to an easy 85-33 conquest in a dual meet.

Twin Wins Not Enough For OLSH

Bill Hartsock turned in a pair of first-place performances but it wasn't enough for Our Lady of Sorrows which dropped a 68-49 verdict to Wayne St. Mary's in a Catholic League track meet.

Hartsock won the 440-yard run in 57.6 seconds and the high jump in which he didn't have to clear five feet.

Other winners for Sorrows were Jerry Horner in the 880-yard run at 2:15.2, Joe Valenti, high hurdles, 20.7 seconds and Mark Hartwig, pole vault, 10 feet.

Falcons Up String In Track

Farmington High's track team remains unbeaten this spring—or is it winter?

The Falcons made it four straight and two in a row in Interlakes League action by beating Waterford, 62-56, in a meet which paired the loop's two strongest squads.

Chris Brown, Russ LaFevre and Tom Atwell each won two events for the Falcons.

Brown went 20 feet, 8 1/2 inches to capture the long jump and then triumphed in the 440-yard run in 52.4 seconds.

Atwell blazed home winners in the two dashes—the 100 in 10.2 seconds and the 220 in 23.7. LaFevre set a Waterford record in capturing the high hurdles in 14.9 seconds and followed with a victory in the low sticks in 20.2 seconds.

Larry Williams chalked up a fine time of 9:51.7 to win the two mile, Chuck Gallup annexed the shot put with a toss of 48 feet, 7 1/2 inches, and the Falcons' 880-yard relay or Dennis Davis, Atwell, Gallup and Brown hit the wire in front in 1:35.6.

One of the meet's best races came in the mile in which Dave Galloway of Waterford beat out Gary Williams of Farmington. Galloway was timed in 4:25.6, very fine time for a prep miler at this stage of the season.

Gary Williams' time was 4:30.7.

Thurston Wallops Raiders

Thurston High's baseball team, favorites for the Northwest Suburban League crown, have jumped off to a flying start with a pair of conference victories.

Thurston made it two straight in Wednesday's sub-40-degree weather by turning back North Farmington as Tim Carr went the route to turn in a neat five hitter. He struck out nine.

Jay Hazelroth and Norm DeCourcy each tagged Carr for a pair of safeties, but they weren't enough to withstand the overall Thurston punch.

Paul Sersen and Greg Dunney each lashed out a pair of hits to pace the Thurston assault. Sersen's first hit in the first inning drove in a pair of runs.

In the fourth inning Thurston added three markers when Gary McVay walked, Joe Kowal singled, Tom Roy walked and Dunney cleared the sacks with a double.

Five runs in the fifth put the game out of reach. Sersen was safe on an error. Carr walked, McVay singled, Kowal reached base on an error, Chuck Pilar was hit by a pitch and Roy walked. Add a passed ball and Thurston had the victory locked up.

It Snows Victory For Stevenson

Maybe what Stevenson High's baseball team needs more of is snow.

The Livonians certainly didn't mind the wintry elements Wednesday when they rallied for a 3-2 victory over Walled Lake in an Interlakes Conference League game that required nine innings to settle.

Paul Tonnemacher, one of the area's top pitchers, went the route for Stevenson. He allowed only six hits while fanning nine.

Don Greger singled over the tying run in the last of the seventh. That made the count, 2-2.

Then in the ninth Dave Fisher singled and Tim DeWitt walked. Both advanced by stealing and then the count went to 3-2 on the next hitter when the Walled Lake pitcher delivered a toss that sailed past the catcher.

Fisher rushed in with the winning run and sent Stevenson off to a roaring start in the league.

A SPORTS COLUMN IN SHORT PANTS:

Minus the two big dailies, one hardly realizes that next Saturday's the day for the "Run for the Roses"—or in other words the Kentucky Derby.

Some years there's at least one standout in the field. But from what one can gather, there isn't one this year.

The race shapes up as wide open. The guesses are that as many as 16 or 17 may go to the post.

Recent tuneup races have produced several different winners. But just in case you might want to conduct a friendly pool around the office, here are a few hopefuls that at the moment top the list:

Dancer's Image, winner of last Saturday's big Wood Memorial in New York; Forward Pass, Captain Gig and Wise Exchange.

Proper Proof and Verbatim are a couple of other three-year-olds which could crack the big money.

IF YOU'RE A STAY-AWAKER and tuned in the Johnny Carson show the other evening, you heard both Carson and Jack Benny mention the jogging activities which have become big stuff around New York City.

The man behind the jogging is none other than ex-Michiganer Hayes Jones, the ex-Olympic hurdling champ from Eastern Michigan who until recently worked for American Airlines out of their Detroit office.

Jones, just 29, was named commissioner of recreation for New York City and one of the first things Hayes did was to set up jogging tracks in places like the famed Central Park.

Jones has the backing of the doctors in his venture. According to The New York Times, of all recent physical fitness methods to engage the country, jogging is considered to be the most healthful and most sensible.

"Jogging is great for the heart and the lungs," says Jones and attributes the quotes to doctors with whom he has discussed the subject.

If you plan to take up jogging around the neighborhood these fine mornings, here's one tip from Jones:

"When you are a beginner, jog in moderation. When you get tired, stop and walk."

How far should you jog? Hayes' courses measure about a mile and a half.

Oh, yes, the throngs participating include many women.

THE DECISION by the Olympic committee to reverse its stand on South Africa and not permit the country to compete at Mexico City in October hasn't proved as popular as many might expect.

True, it means that the 40 or so countries which had balked now will go to the Games and the Mexicans won't be placed in an embarrassing position.

Too many feel that the ban against South Africa seemingly boils down to a case of politics . . . and politics is something the Olympic officials have tried to keep out of the Games, just as most of us hope politics never crash into other sporting events closer to home.

WHAT A DIFFERENCE a couple years can make! Remember when the Tigers were ready to trade a super star to the Boston Red Sox for Dick Radatz, then the premier relief pitcher in baseball?

But, now the Tigers have Radatz without giving up anything.

Dick has gone into a tailspin. He went from the Red Sox to Cleveland to the Chicago Cubs to the minors.

The Tigers still think they can revive Radatz. They're shipping him to their Toledo farm and want Johnny Sain, the fine Detroit pitching coach, to work with the one-time Monster of the Mound.

Radatz can be assured that this corner is cheering for him. He always was one of our favorites . . . when he pitched for Berkley High, at Michigan State, on the Detroit sandlots, and even for Boston.

Good luck, Dick!

Franklin Vault Sets Mark

Bruce DeBardo defied the cold Thursday to set a Franklin High varsity record in the pole vault.

He soared 12 feet to shatter a mark he had shared with Bill Bauer. The latter had cleared 11 feet two years ago before DeBardo matched the feat.

Despite DeBardo's victory, Franklin wound up losing in the day's meet to Birmingham Groves, 76-42.

Franklin garnered only three other first places—Bob Kelsey in the two mile, Bob Dietz in the high jump and the mile relay.

Pole Vault: 2—DeBardo,
Two Mile: 1—Kelsey. Time—10:15.

Mile: 2—Abel.
High Hurdles: 3—Kind.
Low Hurdles: 3—Kind.
880-yard: 2—Collins, 3—O'Sullivan.

440-yard: 2—Lucas.
100-yard: 1—Troia.
220-yard: 2—Troia, 3—Rogalski.

Long Jump: 2—Kind, 3—Rogalski.
Shot Put: 2—Charniga.
High Jump: 1—Dietz. Height—5 feet, 8 inches.

Mile relay: 1—Franklin.
Pole Vault: 1—DeBardo.

Home Sweet For Cougars

The Detroit Cougars soccer team is happy to be home at Tiger Stadium where they opened a four-game stand against Toronto Friday night.

Away from the Motor City, the Cougars have had their troubles, losing twice. On Tuesday they dropped a 3-0 decision to Boston after earlier bowing 2-1 at Atlanta. The Cougars beat Vancouver in their home debut last weekend.

Detroit and Boston were engaged in a scoreless tie until midway in the second half when John Milner converted a rebound for Boston. Then Eric Dyreborg and Milner counted quickly to ice the game.

Farmington Has Another 803 Series

Farmington bowlers are taking a strangle hold on topscoring honors in the metropolitan area.

Just a month ago Jet Perilli rolled an 845 series to establish an all-time record and Tuesday night Ray Tune, 30278 Pipers Lane, rolled an 803 as a member of the Treasure House team in the Bel-Aire Senior House League.

Tune, who carries an average of 192, posted games of 277, 279 and 247, and his team registered a 3140 series.

One-Run Losses 'Killing' Bentley

One-run games may be the "death" of baseball coach Marty Kloxik of Bentley High.

Bentley has engaged in five of the single-run decisions so far and ended up on the losing end three times.

The toughest of the tight setbacks came Thursday when Bentley succumbed to Trenton, 6-5, in the opener of Suburban Six League action.

Bentley, however, went right down to the finish, making things pretty hot on a cold day.

In the one productive Bentley explosion, Tim Malone opened the assault with a single, Wayne Paulson was safe on a fielder's choice and Bill Rice walked to jam the sacks.

KEN GOWKOWSKI'S sacrifice fly sent in one run and then Jim Powers doubled in two. Walks to Mike Casina and Ken Grates reloaded the sacks and set the stage for Bob Cascadon to double over two more markers.

There were still runners on third and second when Malone, up for the second time in the inning, made the final out.

Bentley was by no means through. With two out in the seventh, Gowkowski and Powers walked, but they couldn't make any headway.

Grates went the distance for Bentley.

St. Agatha Wins Track Debut, 72-47

St. Agatha high won its first track meet, swamping St. Rita's 72-47.

Victor Bridges was the big gun for St. Agatha, winning the pole vault and both hurdles events.

St. Agatha swept the pole vault and the 880-yard run. Frank Pringle won the 880 with a 2:13 finish.

Local School Autonomy To Diminish

School district lines, now jealously guarded, will be blurred and highly-cherished "local autonomy" will be diminished in the 15 years ahead, a Wayne County school official predicts.

William A. Shunck, superintendent of the Wayne County Intermediate School District, looked at existing programs, trends, and made a series of predictions last week.

Shunck was a panelist in a discussion of school planning problems that was part of a day-long conference on regional planning of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (COG) in Detroit's Cobo Hall.

A NUMBER of his predictions related directly to suburbia. "Fifteen years from now, we will not have Inksters in our metropolitan area," he said, using Inkster School District as an example of a low tax base area surrounded by relative affluence.

"They (the Inksters) will have disappeared through annexation and consolidation."

School taxes, now collected on a local district basis, may then be collected on some kind of regional basis. No longer will we have today's situation where one district with a great deal of industry has a state-qualified valuation of $300,000 per pupil while another has only $5,000.

HIGH SCHOOL students will no longer travel to class by automobile, Shunck predicted. "They'll come by bus. The reason is that our streets are already overloaded with cars carrying only one person...It won't be necessary to have student parking lots acres in size" as land becomes more valuable.

Schools will have educational programs that cut across district lines. There will be "centers" -- vocational, for example -- serving population areas that will totally ignore district boundaries.

And there will be some measure of racial integration. It won't come about by the simple though unpopular method of deliberately busing children into other neighborhoods, however. It will come as a "by-product" of moving them for educational reasons that made good sense.

OTHER predictions made by Shunck:

School district and municipal boundaries, now usually unrelated, will be brought into closer alignment. The metropolitan area will have a single data processing center.

Every part of the metropolitan area will be served by a community college.

Shunck advised school administrators and board members to stop crying that "the county and cities don't understand our problems. We'd better understand theirs."

DARKNESS IN THE AFTERNOON — Motorists, with headlights ablaze like so many commuters turning homeward at the end of another day, brave a Livonia street in the middle of Tuesday's storm which turned early afternoon into the eerie darkness of a sun blotted out by ominous black clouds. Lashing rains and intermittent hail sent pedestrians scurrying to shelter and soon left streets deserted. Winds up to 38 miles an hour were clocked during the more than hour-long storm which brought tornado warnings, also.

Tax Petition Proves Puzzler

IN LANSING, legislative leaders are trying to decide what to do if a proposed repeal of state income tax gets on the ballot in November.

Although no official opinion has been asked of the Attorney General, State Revenue Department officials have indicated that if the proposal gets on the ballot and the tax is voted out, it could mean that all 1968 withholding taxes might have to be refunded.

Senator Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, Senate majority leader, has a resolution pending in the Senate which would raise the state sales tax in event the income tax is voted out.

This also would require a constitutional revision and a referendum in November.

IN LANSING, teachers at Lansing Community College picked up an unexpected $900 average pay boost from a Board of Trustees attempting to keep LCC pay scales competitive with surrounding school districts.

In March, the LCC faculty received salary improvements averaging about $1,200 per teacher. This week's hike pushed the 1968-69 pay increase to an average of $2,100 per teacher.

Detroit-Suburban 'Polarization' Hit

By TIM RICHARD

Detroit and its suburbs are heading for a social and racial polarization that can hurt everyone, a gathering of school and planning officials concluded.

One by one, speakers at a conference on school planning sponsored by the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments, spent more than an hour painting a picture of how the gulf was growing—and hinted at the harm that could follow.

The exchange took place at the 17th annual regional planning conference at Detroit's Cobo Hall last week. The first 16 annual conferences were sponsored by the Detroit Metropolitan Regional Planning Commission, but this year's was set up by that agency's new parent organization—the six-county Council of Governments.

DETROIT and suburban officials alike pointed to three basic reasons for the social-racial "stratification."

First, the suburbs are a source of new jobs for inner city people, said J.R. Rothermel, of the State Department of Education.

Second, suburban home-building, as a matter of city and township policy, is confined to expensive homes that only white-collar workers and executives can afford. A school official from Macomb County pointed this out.

Third, the federal highway building programs and urban renewal programs have torn down slums in the inner city but haven't replaced them with housing low income people can afford, the Macomb official went on.

Fourth, the federal highway programs "have had a major role in accelerating our segregation" by allowing whites to escape from city jobs to their suburban homes each evening—so said A.L. Zwerdling, a member of the Detroit Board of Education.

ZWERDLING PREDICTED that in 10 years, Detroit, which already has a majority of Negroes among its students, would also have "a black mayor, a black council majority, a black school board"—all surrounded by white suburbs.

"If you think this will lead to a healthy environment," Zwerdling said, "then you have a better imagination than I have."

In order for the present, relatively "comfortable" mode of city-suburb life to continue, Zwerdling said, integration must be accelerated.

IRVING J. RUBIN, director of COG's Transportation and Land Use Study, pointed to what he called the "entrepreneurial" approach of running school districts and municipalities in the suburbs.

Under this approach, he said, suburbs think not in terms of providing for the needs of a broad range of people, but of luring the most expensive type of development possible, with the aim of beefing up the property tax base.

Rubin got no direct replies when he asked the school officials for their reaction to a possible state law that would limit the percentage of land that a municipality could zone for high-price residences and require a certain percentage to be in smaller lots for lower-cost housing.

WHILE RACE and social relations got a good deal of attention from the panelists and audience of about 60, two officials noted a puzzling phenomenon: There wasn't a single Negro in the conference room.

An Observer Newspapers representative asked Council of Governments leaders for an explanation. Their reply was that COG represents governments, not people on a "one-man, one-vote" basis.

Andrew Halli made the 1968 All-American fencing team for the second time in as many years. The All-American sabre man won 36 of 42 bouts for Wayne State University this past season.

Livonian Rolls 300 At Northville Lanes

Joe Rozek, of Livonia, rolled the first 300 game in history at the Northville Lanes while bowling with the Gniek's Trophy House team in the Senior House League.

Rozek, 27, who carries a 180 average, opened his big night with 175, came back with 12 perfect strikes for the 300 and then ended with 212 for a 687 series.

'Center' Committee To Seek $50,000

Hopes for converting a five-acre portion of a Farmington Rd. estate into a community center for organizational activities hinge upon the success of a $50,000 fund raising campaign mapped for next October.

This became clear Wednesday night when 80 interested persons met in Middle Belt School and formally organized Farmington Community Center, Inc., adopting by-laws, articles of incorporation and electing a nine-member board of directors.

The property, which includes the 20-room residence of the late Mr. and Mrs. Luman Goodenough, at 24705 Farmington Rd., has been offered as a gift to the community by the Goodenough heirs, contingent upon three achievements:

1. Acceptance of the offer by a properly constituted authority by next July 1.
2. The raising of $25,000 in cash or pledges by Dec. 15.
3. The hiring of a full-time director by the same date.

FRED E. HARRISON, chairman of a committee studying building and ground aspects, estimated initially needed capital improvements would cost $17,300.

Richard Justice, finance committee chairman, pegged the operating costs for the first year of 1969 at approximately $29,900, bringing the total need to $47,200. This led to establishment of $50,000 as the actual campaign goal.

Justice said the solicitation of funds will be conducted during the first 10 days of October.

Meanwhile, preliminary financing is being sought through the sale of charter memberships and advance donations. The membership fee has been set at $1 per year per person although use of the proposed facilities will not be limited strictly to members.

Those elected to the board of directors included:

David H. Mills, 24300 Locust Dr., F.J. Orlans, 34388 Quaker Valley Rd.; Fred E. Harrison, 22588 Whittington; Richard L. Justice, 32535 Dunford; Norma H. Peters, 23691 Longacre; Kay Farmer, 31130

W. 10 Mile Rd.; Nelda B. Czubiak, 33135 W. 14 Mile Rd.; Wendell Brown, 29921 Ardmore, and Anne Moseman, 33203 Biddestone.

THE HOME and grounds, under terms of the by-laws, would be dedicated to use by youth and adult groups throughout Oakland County, plus Livonia. The entire project would be self-supporting.

The first officers elected will serve until September, when all offices and directorships will be filled by a new vote by those attending the annual meeting. Those elected at that time will serve two-year terms.

Further committee studies of program possibilities and details of the financial drive will be conducted through the spring and summer months.

World Roundup

LONDON -- An exhibition opened in London Monday with the kind of props any Hollywood director would envy in dealing with a futuristic film involving a mad scientist. The display, in fact, was calculated only to raise a thirst, and D.P. Crossman, chairman of the Brewers Society, kicked off the 1968 International Brewers Exhibition in the huge Earl's Court Pavilion.

LONDON -- Enoch Powell, member of the shadow cabinet for defense, was fired by opposition party leader Edward Heath, for giving a speech Saturday which Heath called racist in tone and liable to exacerbate racial tensions. Political writers considered Powell's speech a challenge to the more moderate Heath's leadership, forcing the party chief to take strong action or abdicate to the Tory right wing. The Times said Heath acted "to demonstrate beyond doubt that he dissociates himself and the Tory party from racism."

5 F'ton Areas Face Water Cut

Water service to five residential areas in greater Farmington will be shut off for an estimated nine hours Tuesday night, April 30.

The interruption will affect household habits of the residents in Independence Green Apartments, and the Independence Commons, Woodcroft, Valley Hill and Chatham Hills subdivisions.

Expressing "regret" for the inconvenience, Assistant Superintendent Martin Wiersma of the Oakland County Department of Public Works said service will be discontinued at 9 p.m. Tuesday, April 30. It is hoped it can be restored by 6 a.m. Wednesday.

A construction project of the State Highway Department has made it necessary for the county DPW to relocate a 20-inch water main serving the area, said Wiersma. This work will be done while the water is shut off.

Householders have been advised:

"You may wish to fill some containers with water for cooking and drinking. It may also be advisable to fill your bathtub with water for sanitary use.

"As you may encounter rusty water after service is restored, it is suggested that you refrain from washing clothes until the water has cleared completely."

Obituaries

MR. M. JEREMIAH (Pelagia Studniewski of St. Anthony Parish, Toledo, Ohio).

Sister Jeremiah died Good Friday. Services were held in the Pelican Motherhouse in Livonia, with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

A veteran of 62 years in religious life, Sister Jeremiah entered the convent in 1906 and made her first profession in 1907. Teaching engagements included St. Stanislaus and Pelican Academy, Detroit; St. Stanislaus, Bay City, and Holy Rosary, Saginaw. Sister served as both principal and superior at Assumption and St. Casimir, Detroit; Mount Carmel, Wyandotte, and St. Florian, Hamtramck.

She also served as councilor and supervisor of schools in the Detroit Province of the Pelican Sisters from 1936 to 1946. The position resulted in a book, "Educational Work of the Pelican Sisters of the Province of Detroit in the United States, 1874-1946," which she published in 1952.

Sister Jeremiah's last four years were spent in the St. Joseph Infirmary.

She is survived by one brother, James Studniewski of Toledo.

RHODA PEARL GRIFFITHS. Services for Mrs. Griffiths, 79, of 18910 Asbury Park, Detroit, were held in the Schrader Funeral Home with Rev. David Romberg officiating. She was buried in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

L-R Guild's 'Fantasticks' To Open Friday Evening

The rollicking romantic spoof "The Fantasticks" will hit the boards Friday, May 3, as the Livonia Redford Theatre Guild opens its final production of the season.

Curtain time in Livonia's Stevenson High School is 8:30 p.m. The production will run May 3, 4, 10 and 11.

A world-wide success, the play is still running in New York's Greenwich Village. It holds the record for the most performances of a production in the area.

The play, taken from an almost forgotten harlequinade by Edmond Rostand, tells the story of a boy and girl who fall in love, are disillusioned, mature and then find a new appreciation for each other.

Book and lyrics for the play were written by Tom Jones, while the musical score was composed by Harry L. Schmidt. Included in the production are: a wall "built to fall," a staged abduction, a mock feud, a romance of youth, fantasy and satire.

Cast In Play

Dennis Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. G.E. Moore of 32718 Grand River, Farmington, has been cast as Matt in the Albion College production of "The Fantasticks." He is a sophomore at Albion. The production will run May 4 and 5 at the college.

The entire evening is managed and the story is told by the Narrator-doubling as abductor. Paul E. Dufault has been cast in this role.

Mary MacIntosh and Brian Miller have been cast as the young sweethearts, Luisa and Matt. Their fathers are played by Hal Waller and Ernest Wendt.

Students Exhibit Art At Cranbrook

Students of Brookside School, Cranbrook School, Kingswood School, Cranbrook and the Young People's Art Center will present an exhibition of their art works from April 20 through May 5 in Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries, Bloomfield Hills.

This will be the third such exhibition for Brookside, Cranbrook and Kingswood pupils from junior kindergarten through 12th grade. The Young People's Art Center, sponsored by the Art Academy Galleries and with students from seven through 19, is participating for the first time.

Entries will be judged and merit awards presented by Bartlett Hayes, art educator and director of the Addison Gallery of American Art at Phillips Academy.

Hayes will in addition deliver a lecture at 10 a.m., April 20, in the lecture hall of the Galleries. Subject of his talk is "A Sense of Curriculum--Total Involvement of Art in the Curriculum."

The lecture is open to the public without charge with art educators in the area encouraged to attend.

Brookside's contribution to the annual exhibition will include work done in all grades and in all media--paintings, crayon and chalk drawings, wire sculpture, plaster of paris castings, paper sculpture, india ink sketches and batik work.

As in the past, the work of the Brookside students has not been done specifically for David Hirvela will appear on stage as the actor, while Harold Jurkiewicz has been cast as his assistant. Jim Gotch is the Mute who doubles as the scenery and prop changer.

Fenton Calhoun is the director, while Jack Pierson is the show's musical director.

Tickets may be reserved by calling KE 7-8109 or may be purchased at Dunns Pharmacy on Plymouth Rd. or at the Custom Picture Framing Co. on Five Mile Rd. in Livonia.

this show but has been garnered from regular class activities and is a representation of the strong art program at the school.

From the Kingswood girls will come paintings, drawings, prints, ceramics, weaving and a three-section mural done by the seventh and eighth graders and which will be presented to Pontiac State Hospital.

Cranbrook boys will enter wood bowls and sculptures, jewelry, paintings and drawings.

Works done by students of YPAC during the three-semester sessions will be offered, including two-dimensional paintings and drawings, three-dimensional sculptures, papier mache and bas-reliefs, and mono prints.

Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries are open Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 5 p.m., except for major holidays.

Concert May 5

Mozart and Tchaikowsky are just two of the composers whose work will be played during the Spring Concert of the Southfield Junior Symphony on May 5. Concert time is 3 p.m. in the auditorium of the Southfield High School.

Tickets will be available at the door. Proceeds will help provide scholarships.

'Fat Bob' Bringing Vocal Pipes To Pops

A couple of years ago, he was Robert Taylor, a journeyman industrial plumber from Ann Arbor.

Today he is building a state and even national reputation as "Fat Bob, the Singing Plumber."

On Saturday, May 11, at 8:30 p.m., he will headline the annual "pops" concert of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra. The concert, sponsored by the Symphony League, will be held in Plymouth High School, Church and Main streets.

FAT BOB is an engaging combination of opera singer, pops vocalist, exuberant comic and inspiring self-starter in the entertainment business.

Born 36 years ago in Leamington, Ont., he went to high school in East Lansing and spent four years in the Air Force running a Lackland Air Force base (Tex.) radio station.

He was turned down by the University of Michigan School of Music because his high school marks were too low, but he got into Eastern Michigan University's drama department.

Fat Bob appeared in EMU productions and local shows, including the 24Karat Club, but his big career break came when he won the 1966 Metropolitan Opera competition, finishing first in a field of 5,000.

He made something of a sensation when a Detroit disc jockey played a Verdi aria and asked rhetorically if it wasn't great. Fat Bob called him up from a construction site, said the recorded singer was flat, and sang the aria himself.

Besides appearing in area shows, Fat Bob has done several television appearances with Mike Douglas, Arthur Godfrey and Merv Griffin.

After beefing up his marks at EMU, he was accepted at the University of Michigan and got his first voice lesson in 1965.

TICKETS for the Plymouth Symphony pops concert will go on sale at Sunday's 4 p.m. concert in Plymouth High School.

Prices are $3 a ticket for table reservations, with a limit of one table to a customer, and $1.50 for bleacher seats, available for the first time.

Thereafter, tickets will be available at the Melody House in Plymouth and may be purchased in person only. No telephone reservations can be made.

The pops concert will be the climax of Symphony Week in Plymouth. During that week, supporters will be selling memberships in the Symphony Society.

Ensemble Improvises

A concert by the Wayne State Improvisation Chamber Ensemble will be given at 8:30 p.m., May 2, in the Community Arts Auditorium, Cass and Kirby. Admission is free.

Members of the ensemble are Virginia Catanese, clarinet; James Hartway, piano and percussion; Don Lewandowski, string bass; and Dr. Ruth Wylie, flute and piano.

Director of the ensemble, Dr. Wylie founded the group in May 1966 as an experiment in the teaching of composition for modern creative expression. She is a professor of composition and theory in the WSU department of music.

The group will play five compositions by Dr. Wylie: "Pascaglia," "Piece for Quartet," "Improvisation Study No. 1," "Textures for Four," and "Prelude No. 3 for Improvised Percussion."

In addition for three "free improvisations," two works by ensemble member Hartway will present "Mirror Image" and "Piece for Quartet."

OF DINING AND FINE WINE

BY STATON LORENZ
Special Writer

Wine has many great pleasures and, as with women, its beauty is in the eyes of the beholder. Well-made wine is a delight not only to drink but to observe and smell.

Appearance and bouquet are our first clues to the taste and inherent qualities of freshly poured wine.

MOST HOMES have a set of china and crystal complete with some type of wine glass. The designers of home stemware are artistic and very creative but seldom do they employ the basic "tulip" shape in their wine goblets. Straight-sided, flat-bottomed, flared and fluted designs are heralded from Denmark to Vienna, and medals are awarded—but the beautiful wine glass is not practical.

Through the centuries, wine regions have perfected and promoted the proper glass for their regional wines. France and Germany really set the pace in their major producing regions: Burgundy (red and white), Bordeaux (red and white), Alsace, Champagne, Rhine and Moselle-Saar-Ruwer.

These regions all have and use a glass peculiar to the area and make it available as readily as the wine, throughout the world.

RED WINE glasses have large, broad, rounded bowls with the mouth of the glass large enough for the nose and mouth to be enjoying the wine together.

"Bowl" design is most important, and the more bouquet a regional wine possesses, the larger and more curved the sides of the bowl must be. This shape serves to trap or envelop the bouquet.

White wines have lesser bouquet, and the sides of the glass are more straight with the bowl size differing according to region. White bordeaux and burgundy glasses have a 10-12 oz. bowl while Rhine and Moselle glasses are quite small, 5-7 oz. There are exceptions to these rules naturally, some larger and some smaller.

PERPLEXING? American genius has recently solved this congestion of wine glass requirements with the advent of the "all-purpose" wine glass. The "all-purpose" wine glass has an 8 oz. bowl in the

Wayne Players Go 'Barefoot' Successfully

Neil Simon's "Barefoot in the Park" calls for a cast of only six—two women and four men. It's not easy for six individuals to turn in an equal number of strong performances, but the Wayne Civic Players cast mostly succeeded.

The play closed Saturday (April 27) in John Glenn High School, Wayne.

"Barefoot" deals with a young couple's six-day-old marriage and their six-flight-walk-up (if you count the stoop) apartment on 48th St. in New York.

The play may have gained much of its popularity on Broadway because of audience identification with brownstone living conditions.

"Barefoot" is a well spent 2 1/2 hours, if you like laughter—not hysterical laughter, but the relaxing kind.

KATHY NELSON's familiarity with the role of Corrie Bratter, the new fun-loving, uninhibited bride who enjoys walking barefoot in the park may be because she has recently played Corrie to a Traverse City Players audience.

IN PROFILE Mildred Roy as Mrs. Bratter, Corrie's mother, looked enough like her stage daughter to be her real mother. Her reaction to the newlywed's cramped living quarters—"Oh no, you'll have no trouble at all getting a double bed in that room, no trouble at all, how?"

Carl Schuman's efforts as Victor Velasco, a somewhat aging gourmet and rooster, is perhaps "Barefoot's" weakest performance, although his ability to pop fish balls into his mouth and keep up a running conversation on their merits is deserving of applause.

PAUL BRATTER, the newlywed lawyer who wins his first case with a six cent settlement, is handled by Dan Myers, the last and best of "Barefoot's" cast.

In a role that could have been overplayed, Myers holds onto a certain something about the character of the new bridegroom reacting to his kooky wife, his strange neighbors and his less than satisfactory living quarters, and what comes across the footlights is very nearly professional.

Britain Studies Bill To Ban Race Discrimination

PRAGUE—Czechoslovakia's liberal government warned the Soviet Union against interference in its internal affairs last week. Sources said that Josef Lenart, leader of the Czechoslovak delegation to a world Communist meeting in Budapest during the week and secretary of the party central committee, had been authorized to tell his Soviet counterpart that "interference in Czechoslovak internal affairs" must stop. Behind the country's stand was the Soviet Union's backing of conservative elements in the Czech Communist party who are opposed to the liberal course of First Secretary Alexander Dubcek.

WORLD ROUNDUP

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau has called a Canadian general election

June 25, Trudeau asked Gov. Gen. Roland Michener to dissolve Parliament and issue writs for the election. It was the first time that a prime minister had met Parliament after a recess to announce dissolution.

DUBLIN—The Irish government has raised the price of beer, tobacco and gasoline and Finance Minister Charles Haughey warned taxes might have to be increased also. The new annual budget softened the shock of the raised prices by also raising social welfare payments and giving special tax allowance for newly married couples. Haughey said the government had also decided to follow Britain and Northern Ireland into adopting decimal currency.

LONDON—The House of Commons gave first approval last week to a bitterly contested government bill to outlaw racial discrimination in wide sections of British life, but the measure faces tough battle in committee. The Conservative opposition, which tried in vain to kill the bill, was split on the issue and its leadership embarrassed by a speech made by Enoch Powell likening the bill to a match touched to gunpowder.

AMMAN—Jordan's King Hussein's English wife, Princess Muna, has given birth to twin girls. Princess Muna, who was born in Ipswich, England, has already given Hussein two sons, Prince Abdulla, now 6 and Prince Feisal, 4.

MOSCOW—The Soviet Communist party said last week there is a clear possibility communism might be overthrown in China. In a strong attack on Mao Tse-tung's policies, the Soviet party's theoretical journal said, "The very existence of the Communist Party in China—is now at stake. Already clearly in sight is the danger of a change in the nature of the government in the country and, hence, a real danger to the Socialist gains of the Chinese revolution."

SAIGON—The U.S. Command announced the third crash of a U.S. Air Force F4H fighter-bomber on its way to or from a bombing mission against North Vietnam. The command said the plane was believed down somewhere in Thailand. There was no other information on the plane or its crew, the command said.

LONDON—More than 1,500 dockers walked off their jobs last week and marched on Parliament protesting colored immigration. Police warned them to disband and stood by in case of trouble. The dockers, from the city's tough East End, voiced support of Enoch Powell, who was fired from his shadow cabinet post after he made a speech against further immigration of non-whites and urged those non-whites already in Britain to go back home.

Treat Rooms In Home To New Coat Paint

Before the weather gets too nice to stay indoors, freshen up the inside of your home with a coat of paint.

Almost any room can be quickly and easily changed to a brighter, happier place with an investment of about $10.

Remember that a paint job is only as good as its foundation. First, fill all cracks in plaster walls with spackling material, using a putty knife, a kitchen knife or a versatile finger and thumb. When the patching is completely dry, sand the surface smooth and you're ready to apply the undercoating or primer.

IF YOU HAVE a high ceiling, rig a raised platform from two strong ladders and a wide plank. Allow the plank to extend at least a foot beyond the step of the ladder on which it rests. Make sure that the ladders are fully open and locked in position for safety.

To make your painting easier, remove all hardware and light fixtures from the room or cover them with masking tape. Then dust your walls thoroughly. Kitchen and bathroom walls require washing with household cleaners to remove dirt or grease.

Before you begin to paint, the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Assn. stressed that you should read the manufacturer's directions carefully. Every suggestion should be followed to the letter in order to obtain a beautiful paint job.

IF THE directions suggest that you stir the paint, use a wooden spatula and stir until absolutely no color pigment remains in the bottom of the can. For protection, cover all floors and furniture with drop cloths before painting. No matter how careful you are, a few splatters are inevitable. You can minimize splattering by dipping the bristle of your brush no more than one-third of the bristle length into the paint. Wipe up any splatters immediately with a damp cloth—don't wait until the paint has dried.

A film of protective cream on your hands will make clean-up a snap. Carry this idea a bit further and rub a cream hairdressing into your hair. You'll find that stray splatters will wash out easily.

When painting a ceiling, work across the width of the room to enable you to begin the second lap before the first has dried. And, remember, don't try to move your ladder with paint or tools aboard.

As soon as you are finished, clean up your brushes and tools so they will be in good shape for your next painting spree. Now, wait until the paint is dry before removing the drop cloths. Your house is ready for spring.

Green Thumb Tips

HAVE YOU SEEN the latest in lawn mowers, garden tractors and other gardening equipment? See—demonstrated—the newest in lawn mowers and gardening equipment and additional exhibits of equipment in the Trade Fair Section of the Free Lawn and Garden Fair on Saturday, May 4, at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

DOES YOUR SHADE tree need attention? Come and see how trees are pruned, fertilized, injuries repaired, sprayed for insects and disease. See what varieties to plant and where.

HOME GARDENERS -- need garden information or advice? Plan to attend the Free Lawn and Garden Fair. A staff of doctors of plant science and horticulture from Michigan State University will spend their Saturday off consulting with and advising home gardeners. Bring your problems to the experts Saturday, May 4 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Michigan State Fairgrounds.

USE OF THE GARDEN after dark on nice evenings is becoming popular. Want to light your garden effectively? Find out how and the best type to use. Stop at the Free Lawn and Garden Fair Saturday, May 4 and see the "Garden Lighting Show" at the Community Arts Building, to be presented every two hours all day starting at 10 a.m., by the Detroit Edison Company.

EACH YEAR several hundred thousand rose plants are purchased in Michigan from retail garden centers and nurseries. Are you one of those who will soon be planting a rose? Come see the leading varieties and how to plant, prune and care for them at the Free Lawn and Garden Fair.

FRUIT TREES need trimming? How about spraying? Or maybe you plan to plant a fruit tree? Do you plant more than one for pollination? What varieties are best to plant? See the answer to all these questions demonstrated at the Lawn and Garden Fair.

INTERESTED IN FLOWER arranging? Maybe you want to use your garden flowers in effective arrangements for the house. Stop by the Lawn and Garden Fair. Continual flower arranging demonstrations will be performed all day, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., by experts from the Bannock Floral School.

DOES YOUR SOIL need lime? Chances are it doesn't but why not be sure. Bring a cup to the Lawn and Garden Fair. One of the demonstrations will be a service which determines the PH of your soil electronically. Find out how alkaline or acid your soil is. See the type of fertilizer which best suits your purpose, for your soil. Fertilizer experts will also be on hand to advise on the best types for any situation.

INTERESTED IN GETTING out in the yard more? As a home gardener see the best methods and materials when it comes to home gardening. Plan to stop at the Lawn and Garden Fair. The Fair will have many how-to-do-it demonstrations on everything for the home lawn and garden materials and equipment.

PLAN TO PLANT a few tomatoes, radishes, lettuce or

Have Fun Changing Small Hall

Postage-stamp-size entrance halls pose a decorating problem you can master by creating an illusion of space, and by adding a touch of beauty, where there is little of either.

Gardening Reminders

Gardens can be spaded and hardy seeds can be planted... Plant radishes, lettuce, carrots, spinach, Swiss chard, beets, and peas... Plant hardy annual flowers of bachelor buttons, forget-me-not, poppies, larkspur, and sweet peas... Remove winter mulches from beds... Prune roses... Prune buddleia, rose-of-sharon, hydrangea.

FEED LAWNS... Get the mower blades sharpened... Begin mowing when the blades are two to three inches tall and cut to a height of one and a half to two inches. It's easier on the grass if less is taken off at each cutting and it is cut more often.

THIN-BARKED trees should be planted in spring... Plant birch, magnolias, dogwood and fruit trees in spring... Plant bare-rooted trees and shrubs before the leaves come out... Spray fruit trees on a regular schedule to insure good fruit... If crabgrass was a problem, use a pre-emergent control at this time. Follow directions on the package carefully.

Entrance way walls, painted or papered in light colors, and floor tile of light shades will do much to brighten and make a small entrance foyer look larger than it really is, interior decorators say.

To add beauty and interest, the Society of American Florists suggests you hang a narrow chest with a bright picture over it on the wall you want to serve as the center of attention. Display on the chest an arrangement of spring flowers, whose colors pick up those in the picture.

If there isn't enough room for the chest, use a narrow shelf with a mirror over it. Place the spring flowers on the shelf and in front of the mirror, to add depth to the room and to the flowers.

Where there are windows in the hall, or a skylight overhead, place a large green foliage plant on the floor to provide a decorative highlight.

As a final touch, be sure to have adequate light in the area. An entrance way should be like a friendly beacon light to visitors. If you use a bright picture on the wall, consider using a small picture lamp over it to highlight both it and the flowers below it.

The end result is still a small foyer—nothing is going to turn a tiny hall into a big ballroom—but you'll have a ball making your entrance way look larger than it is, and as attractive and friendly as you mean it to be.

End Need For Bags Of Garbage

Do arguments frequently flare up at your house about "whose turn it is to take out the garbage?" If so, the answer is an electric food waste disposer.

This compact appliance is attached to the waste line beneath your kitchen sink. To use it, you simply feed the waste down the drain, turn on the cold water and flick a wall switch. The waste is shredded, pulverized and washed away in the sewage system.

Since the disposer is so compact, it takes up little of that valuable storage space beneath the sink. It's also economical to operate. The quality disposer is virtually jam-free, too, and has a sound-absorbing jacket that reduces noise. In addition, it is self-cleaning.

You don't have to worry about your pipe clogging either. Research has shown that the scouring action actually helps to keep pipes clear.

Food waste disposers are among the most popular gifts for mom. More than 12,000,000 women now own them, but they're a boon to the whole family because the quantity of garbage is so sharply reduced that fewer trips to the garbage can are necessary.

Yard Safety Is Important

You may face danger in your own backyard unless you vow to be "safety-conscious" this spring, advises a Michigan State University Cooperative Extension specialist.

Mowing the grass, children playing in the yard and using chemicals for garden weeds all signal danger.

Richard Pfister, MSU agricultural engineer, suggests five steps to keep in mind as you get out your rotary lawn mower for the first time this year.

"CASE THE JOINT," he says. Take an extra minute to gather toys, rocks, wires and other objects that are easily caught in the blade and thrown.

"Check the hardware." Before you begin check if the blade is sharp and the fuel tank is filled.

Pfister says, "Two's a crowd." Little children should not be around while you mow.

He adds, "Dress unfit to kill." Summertime is great for going barefoot and wearing shorts but Pfister reminds you to be practical and protect yourself by wearing shoes and slacks.

"Mow with your head," he advises. The mower should always be stopped while unattended. He suggests mowing across slopes so that you have complete control over the moving mower.

PROTECT SMALL children from busy driveways by fencing in a play area located away from the driveway. He recommends that you help drivers by trimming shrubs to insure good visibility in driveways.

To complete your spring yard safety routine, Pfister reminds you to be cautious with weed and insect chemicals. Read labels carefully. Use the chemicals properly. Store the chemicals in a well-locked cabinet and dispose of the empty containers immediately.

Act Now To Assure Lawn

Once the ice is gone for good, and you can see what you're working with, it's time to take initial steps to get the lawn back into shape.

First remove old grass and debris accumulated since you put the lawn to bed last fall. Old, matted grass will shut off sunshine and water. Give the lawn its cleaning as early as possible, before the first sign of greening.

Perhaps the simplest way to clean is with a rotary mower that cuts, vacuums and bags debris. If you use an ordinary power mower, rake the lawn first with a broomtype rake. A sharp-toothed rake will uproot new grass.

Aerate the soil. This loosens ground compacted by winter and thus blocks water and food from penetrating to plant roots. Aerator are available in garden and other shops.

Fertilizing is next. Use one containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash—10-6-4—or another abundant with nitrogen (the first figure), such as 20-8-4. Feeding in spring and fall is excellent and an extra feeding of nitrogen is like a vitamin shot. Follow directions on the fertilizer bag.

Generally, watering after a feeding is good practice, but some fertilizer recipes advise against immediate watering.

Single-application chemicals are available to control weeds, insects and disease.

If thin or bare spots have developed in your lawn, clear the damaged areas, rake vigorously to loosen the soil, and make a holding bed for new seed. Rake after reseeding to cover the seed and roll the area to plant the seed firmly in soil.

Check soil closely. Since some soil absorbs water more readily than others, apply water only as fast as it can be retained.

Restrictions On DDT Applauded

Conservation Director Ralph A. MacMullan this week applauded as a "great step forward" the State Agriculture Department's decision to drop its sanction of allowing chemical manufacturers to advertise the use of DDT for mosquito control on labels of products they market in Michigan.

The labeling restriction took effect April 8, and insecticide manufacturers have been given 30 days to change the wording on their containers in line with this new order.

After May 8, they will be guilty of misbranding in this state if their labels still recommend DDT for mosquito control.

THE DEPARTMENT of Agriculture reported that it was tightening down on this particular use of DDT because "research (at Michigan State University) has proved that mosquitoes may be effectively controlled by other chemicals with less residual effects." Its new ruling does not affect other DDT uses.

Action to restrict the labeling of DDT products for mosquito control drew these words from Conservation Director MacMullan:

"The Department of Agriculture has acted in the public's best interest and its decision marks a great step forward in helping to break down that phase of the environmental pollution problem posed by the wholesale use of 'hard' pesticides."

"WE APPLAUD that department for its forthright action. It reflects some real far-sightedness."

'Cook-Out' Floral Tips

If you're having friends in for a "cook-out" this spring, try an unusual do-it-yourself flower arrangement that promises to surprise and delight your guests, and to help make your patio dinner a long-remembered affair.

Arrange a mass of brilliant spring flowers in a loaf of French bread. Simply hollow it out, line the inside with aluminum foil, and partially fill with blocks of a commercial foam flower holder presaturated with water. The Society of American Florists suggests.

Then insert flower stems into the foam holders and add water. As a finishing touch, use any big green foliage—such as large magnolia leaves—to form a decorative mat under the French bread, the Society adds.

The flowers will stay beautifully fresh for days, hence this unusual arrangement can serve "double-duty" outside and inside your home, the Society says.

New Lawn Variety Released

A new, superior lawn and turf variety has been released by Michigan State University's Agricultural Experiment Station. But as good as this variety is, scientists who developed it believe they can do a lot better.

The variety, Wintergreen, is a superior red fescue with twice the density of Pennlawn, is much darker green and is well adapted to shaded conditions. Best of all, it produces good turf with minimum fertilizer and water.

New Cucumber Produces More On Fewer Vines

For the past decade the word "gynocious," meaning female, has been in common use among commercial vegetable growers. This year the home gardener needs to become acquainted with it because the only 1968 All-America Selections prize-winning vegetable is a hybrid, gynocious cucumber named Spartan Valor.

To the home gardener, growing this new variety will mean plenty of cucumbers from fewer vines using less space because Spartan Valor has only female flowers, thus bears more fruits.

Ordinary cucumber varieties always produce more male blooms than female and, of course, the male flowers cannot form fruits.

Since Spartan Valor, with all Space For Storage Can Be Doubled

It is possible to double the space for storage in an average home. Consider building in storage behind doors, in dead corners, beside and below windows, over the lavatory, bathtub, and hallway, across solid end walls, beside a fireplace, and between rooms in the form of dividers. If lined with aromatic red cedar, this space provides moth-repellent storage for out-of-season clothes.

form fruits when planted alone, seeds of a male cucumber are mixed with those of Spartan Valor or sent along in a separate container in the seed packet. Thus the pollen needed to set the fruits is available. The way that Spartan Valor is treated to make it produce seeds is even more fascinating. Leaves of the all-female-flowered plant are sprayed with massive doses of gibberellic acid which somehow makes the plant produce sufficient male bloom to pollinate itself. This way of hybridizing, by producing male flowers on a plant with only female ones is a new and less expensive method of hybridizing plants which Dr. C.E. Peterson of Michigan State University feels will eventually be universally accepted. He is the breeder of Spartan Valor.

The new cucumber is a prolific yielder; is bred for resistance to the two serious cucumber diseases encountered in Northeastern and North Central United States, scab and mosaic. It is not recommended for other parts of the country as different diseases occur in other areas. Dr. Peterson believes that, in due course of time, similar cucumber varieties will be available to all gardeners, each variety bred for a certain section and resistant to the diseases prevalent there.

Delicate Flowers Need Care

The most delicate touch of a fingertip on a single leaflet of a sensitive plant is sufficient to cause that leaflet to fold up in response.

Run the tip of a finger down the stem from which leaflets grow and all of them collapse, face to face, one against another. Hit the stem, no matter how gently, and it will instantly bend downward.

The person who named the sensitive plant Mimosa pudica in botanical Latin must have had a sense of humor for Mimosa comes from the Greek word "mimos," an actor, while pudica means modest. A modest actor it is indeed—retreating at a touch.

This physiological response of the true leaves to touch makes the sensitive plant one of the most remarkable in the plant kingdom.

It has been a source of wonder to successive generations of children who like nothing better than to watch the plant react to the manipulations. Oddly, the first two leaves to appear (the seed leaves) do not respond to touch.

Of course these startling movements do the plant no harm. It recovers within minutes (faster if it is growing in full sun), but it may be several hours before it performs again. Sensitive plant, a native of the sub-tropics, may be grown from seeds for use as a house plant or in the garden. Its only needs are a sunny spot and constant moisture in the soil.

The fine, lacy leaves are pretty, the ball-shaped pink to lavender flowers dainty, the plant is easy to grow. So easy that it is available in pre-planted containers at your supermarket. Grow it yourself and be sure to send a container to the nearest school so the children may grow and watch this wonder.

Announcing the only lawn products with Weather Insurance!

Let it flood, let it blow, let it scorch—you're covered. When you feed, seed or weed with Scotts you don't risk a penny.

It's a fact. When you put Scotts products on your lawn—this weekend, next week, anytime—no matter what the weather does you can't lose your investment. Not a single penny of it.

You must be pleased

Even if we have a flood, freeze, or drought, right after you get through feeding, seeding, or weeding... you're covered. If you aren't pleased with results (and you are the only judge) you can have your money back or a duplicate supply of Scotts products.

What are these weather-insured products? See below, and this year don't worry about the weather!

No-Quibble Guarantee

If for any reason—including adverse weather—you are not pleased with the Scotts product you have used, simply send your sales slip to Scotts, Marysville, Ohio 43040—and a refund check will be in the mail to you promptly.

How to make a thin lawn thick

Just spread TURF BUILDER. It actually makes grass multiply itself. Turns thin scraggly turf into a thick, vibrantly green lawn—the kind you'd be proud to own.

Bridges Was 'Little Man With A Big Heart'

Death Of 'Little T' Revives Memories

By W. W. EDGAR

No pitcher in the long and colorful history of the Detroit Tigers furnished more dramatic moments than Tommy Bridges, the slender little righthander who passed away last week, another victim of cancer.

When news of his death came over the wires from Tennessee, it opened the floodgates of memories and the years went rolling back to the baseball crazy days of the early 30's in Detroit. Those were the depression years when the banks were closed and most of the workers were being paid in paper they called "scrip." Morale was at its lowest ebb in years in Detroit and the populace was eager for something that would help break the spell and show signs of a bright future that had been prophesied for the city.

IN THOSE DAYS Frank Navin, one of the shrewdest men ever connected with baseball, owned the Tigers, and started to make the moves that would turn the folks toward baseball for a morale builder.

"I think I got one of the fellows who will do it," he commented one day, "if I can only build his strength."

With that he introduced baseball writers to Bridges, who weighed only slightly more than 120 pounds, and who later became affectionately known as "Little Tee From Tennessee." "I'm going to try something different with this fellow," Na-vin explained. "I am going to put him on a diet of milkshakes and then watch his weight. If I can build him up, he should provide some great moments."

The new plan was duly recorded and Bridges battle with the scales became as much a part of the baseball picture as anything the team did on the field.

"LITTLE TEE from Tennessee" never developed physically to the heights Navin had expected. But he proved Navin to be a great prophet--was the central figure in two of the most unforgettable moments in Tiger history.

The first came on an afternoon in 1932 when he set down the first 26 batters in Navin Field and needed only one more putout to attain fame as the hurler of a perfect no-hitter. The fans sat tense. But it was not to be.

Out of the Washington dugout came Dave Harris, a pinch-hitter, and as he strode to the plate the fans let go with blasts of boos directed at Walter Johnson, the Washington manager. The boos became louder and were mixed with catcalls when Harris singled and kept Bridges from his no-hitter.

"That's all part of the game," Little Tee commented later in the dressing room, and he held no animosity toward the Washington manager.

FROM THAT DAY on, however, Little Tee was a real hero with the Tigers.

And when Navin, through the generosity of Walter O. Briggs, a part owner, bought Mickey Cochrane from Connie Mack for $125,000 to manage the club in 1934, the real drama set in.

With Little Tee as one of the aces of his staff Cochrane led the Tigers to the 1934 pennant, only to lose to the Cardinal "Gas House Gang."

But, again with Bridges teaming up with such colorful hurlers as Schoolboy Rowe, General Crowder, and Elden Auker, the Tigers repeated in 1935 and met the Chicago Cubs in the World Series.

AFTER THE SERIES reached five games and the Tigers leading three games to two, Cochrane walked into the club car of the train returning from Chicago that evening.

He was feeling chipper, but unknown to those present he was about to set the stage for a dramatic moment.

Turning to Schoolboy Rowe, he said, "Schoolie, how'd you like to win the series for us tomorrow?"

The big righthander, who had more color than courage, shrugged and answered, "I don't feel too hot right now."

With that "Little Tee" spoke up.

"Mike," he said turning to Cochrane, "I'll do it."

"Okay," Cochrane countered and Bridges was given the assignment.

IT IS HISTORY now that he turned in one of the most stirring performances of any Tiger hurler in history.

With the score tied at 3-3 starting the ninth, Stan Hack tripled to open the inning. A man on third, none out and the series in the balance. That was the picture.

It was drama at its best. Then, as Cochrane commented later, "Little Tee" started throwing his heart at the batters.

With the crowd cheering him on, Little Tee fanned Bill Jurgens, got Larry French to roll out and Augie Galan to fly out.

He saved the Tigers.

THE RECORD BOOKS will tell you that Goose Goslin scored Cochrane with the winning run in the Tiger half.

But it was the pitching of "Little Tee from Tennessee" that saved the Tigers and gave the fans the kind of a tonic they needed to shake off the after effects of the depression.

It was a moment that never will be forgotten by those who saw it.

It's Official: S. Africa Out Of 1968 Games

It's official!
South Africa won't compete in the Summer Olympics in Mexico City.

More than 40 countries have supported the decision made last Sunday by the Olympic Games' executive committee to keep South Africa from the competition because of racial policies.

The Olympic moguls earlier had voted to permit South Africa to vie as long as the country entered a single team comprised of Black and White athletes. But when more than 30 countries balked at going to Mexico City, the reverse action was taken.

SPEAKING OF THE Olympics, Rep. Jack McDonald (R-Mich.) urged the Olympic committee to bar Russia from the Games because of what McDonald called Russia's "brutal physical and spiritual persecution of the Jews."

"Internal politics is to bar South Africa, then it also should bar Russia," said McDonald, who represents the Greater Redford Township district in Washington.

THE CHICAGO CUBS have beefed up their bullpen by obtaining Jack Lamabe from the St. Louis Cardinals and ex-Tiger Phil Regan from Los Angeles.

Along with Regan, who had a 14-1 mark for the Dodgers in 1966 and stood 6-9 last season, the Cubs got Jim Hickman in exchange for outfielder Ted Savage and pitcher Jim Ellis. Hickman didn't stay with the Cubs. He was shipped immediately to Tacoma in the Pacific Coast League.

CENTER JOE STRAWDER of the Detroit Pistons undergoes back surgery Monday at the University of Michigan Hospital. Newly acquired Otto Moore, the Pistons' No. 1 draft choice, will follow Strawder to the hospital on May 6 for a hernia operation.

Meantime, forward Terry Dischinger has been undergoing tests at the U-M Hospital.

Stevenson Record Clipped In Shot

Although dominating the victory column in the individual events, Stevenson High's track team came out second best in a triangular meet Thursday.

Stevenson managed 63 1/2 points as Northville won with 81 1/2. The New Southfield Lathrop with only tenth graders mustered only two points.

Eight of the events were won by Stevenson entries with Dale Wendell and Dale Denver leading the way.

Wendell won the high and low hurdles in the respective times of 15.4 and 20.7 seconds.

Danver turned in a Stevenson record in the shot put with a toss of 50 feet, 4 3/4 inches. He erased the mark set a year ago by Jerry Dettler when the latter fired 50 feet, one inch.

Dettler is playing baseball this spring.

Other winners for Stevenson:

Long jump: Dave Mastny. Distance--20 feet, 10 1/4 inches.

880-yard: John Gores. Time --2:05.7.

440-yard: Ron Smith. Time --53.3 seconds.

100-yard: Dave Loewe. Time --10.7 seconds.

Mile relay: 1--Stevenson (Smith, Mastny, Dan Reynolds and Gores). Time: 3:37.

Michigan lost one of its outstanding sports promoters last week with the death of Thomas J. Halligan, of Flint, at the age of 85.

A resident of the state for more than a half century, he was best known in bowling circles of late years through his operation of the famed Flint Recreation and two other modern establishments. But in his earlier years he served as the president of both the state and national bowling proprietors organizations.

Prior to entering bowling "TJ" was strictly a baseball man and served and helped organize the old Central League that operated for more than a dozen years in the middle west.

A native of New York, he got his start in sports as a baseball pitcher and advanced to a trial with the major leagues.

"I stayed only long enough to get a cup of coffee," he often said, "but I got there. That's what counted."

Funeral services were held Saturday morning in Flint. He was preceded in death by his wife, and one son, "Tim" who had followed in "TJ's" footsteps, as president of the Bowling Proprietors of Michigan.

base of 50-25-12-8-5.

LEMUEL'S EARNINGS for the still young season already add up to $4,653, some $500 more than he took home from 15 starts last year. The chestnut stallion's lifetime earnings stand at $112,868--far above the career income of the average standardbred.

Lemuel recently paced a winning mile in a commendable 2:05 1/5 and among the horses he best was Al Sam, onetime New England Harness Horse of the Year. Winn, who last year picked up $91,522 in purse money, stands among the top ten drivers at the current Pompano meet with a .363 batting average under the U.S. Trotting Association's universal rating system.

In 13 starts since Jan. 8, Tom and Lem have won four, been second six times and also have a third, a fourth and a fifth. The first five horses to voice the purse in harness racing, generally on a percentage

THE RED WINGS have announced that they'll name their new coach sometime between May 12 and mid-June.

The selection won't surprise many. Bill Gadsby is to get the post vacated by Sid Abel, who'll take over strictly as the team's general manager henceforth.

THIS IS THE WEEK the Pistons, like other NBA teams, must submit their protected list for the May 6 expansion draft which will stock Phoenix and Milwaukee, the two new franchises.

Teams may protect seven players and then one more after a player is selected off their rosters. In short, the Pistons will lose one of its first nine men.

"He'll be a good one," says Coach Dennis Butcher.

As the expansion draft continues, the Pistons then will lose two more players, one of whom is expected to be Sonny Dove, a major disappointment as a rookie this past season.

EX-HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP Sonny Liston isn't through with the ring yet. He'll box Billy Joiner in Los Angeles, May 23.

Nelson's feat of winning 18 tournaments--11 in a row--in 1945 stands up as a golf mark which isn't likely ever to be eclipsed.

The stars of yesterday and today gave Nelson a car as a gift. They also have named a tournament after him which ends this Sunday in Dallas.

LIVONIA'S BUD STEVENS lost to Jack Lewis of South Carolina in the second round of the North and South Amateur golf tournament at Pinehurst, N.C.
