REDFORD - The Redford Township Police Officers' Association threatened to revive a dormant unfair labor practices suit against the township Monday when the Township Board declined to allow all "nonsupervisory" personnel to hold membership by contract. The RTPOA also requested to begin negotiations for a new 1968-69 contract.

REDFORD - Jeanne Leonard, five-year member of the South Redford school board, announced she is not running for re-election, because she plans to move to LaGrange, Illinois. She has been board secretary for four years.

FARMINGTON - More than 250 Farmington residents heard some startling statistics when they attended the first of the Farmington Area's YMCA's Four Mondays in May (parents' seminars) to hear five experts discuss the problems of teenagers today in Farmington. Eyebrows shot up when facts and figures were presented on crime, pregnancy and V.D., truancy, runaways and alcohol as they pertain to Farmington. The seminars are being held in Building M at the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College.

FARMINGTON — The City Council Monday night gave unanimous approval to a resolution "urging all citizens to support fair housing practice," but stopped short of considering an ordinance revision which would have put enforcement teeth into the declaration. The measure adopted only went as far as to ask citizens "to abide by the civil rights laws" of Michigan.

GARDEN CITY - A new restaurant is planned on the site of the Square Deal Club building on Middlebelt near Ford roads. The plans were revealed after a fire damaged the building interior last week and prompted city officials to take the attorney acting as trustee for the building to court for violating the city's public nuisance ordinance.

GARDEN CITY — Local school officials attended a conference in Washington, D.C., to hear Vice President Hubert Humphrey urge them "to think big." The conference was an annual event co-sponsored by Congressman William Ford.

WESTLAND - The City Council will hold its public hearing on the proposed fiscal budget at 2 p.m. Saturday. The budget calls for substantial increases of manpower in the police and fire departments.

Commission Goofs On Taxi Ordinance?

By R. T. THOMPSON Managing Editor

Has the Plymouth City Commission made another of the "goofs" for which it is gaining quite a reputation — one which threatens to rob the city of a satisfactory taxi service?

That's the question being asked by taxi patrons within the city limits after discovering Plymouth is practically without service at the moment.

It all came about when the City Commission passed a taxicab ordinance which met with the approval of one local concern (the Mayflower Cab Co.) and to the dissatisfaction of all others.

License Suspended

Because the Mayflower Cab Company no longer can provide the service demanded by the city ordinance the license has been suspended by the City Commission.

In stating that the company no longer could provide the service, Mrs. Virginia M. Florence, wife of the owner, explained that her husband, John, had suffered a coronary attack. Aside from that she stated that "the hours are too long and the insurance fates are away out of line and other requirements are too stiff for us to hire drivers."

Whether the ordinance was passed with the thought in mind of protecting the local company is just a matter for conjecture. The fact is that it was passed, due principally to the verbose efforts of Commissioner Arch Vallier and then Commissioner George Law-

Among other things, the ordinance requires a physical examination and report from a doctor, a 5"x7" photograph, a $10 chauffeur's license and numerous other items not required by ordinances in adjoining

It also established a rate that is below that of adjoining communities, principally because the owner of the Mayflower Cab Co. said he was "making out alright with a lower rate schedule."

The outcome of the matter was that other companies backed away from permits in the City of Plymouth and left the field wide open to Mayflower.

Then came the situation that operators of the other cab companies had tried to warn the commission might take place-Owner John Florence of the Mayflower Cab Co. became ill and the service began to fall apart.

Complaints have poured into the City Manager's office and City Manager Richard Blodgett finally took the matter back to the

All of which brings up the matter in hand. Vern Foster, head of a group of cab companies that operate in Livonia, Garden City, Farmington, Northville and Redford Township, dropped in to see Blodgett a few days ago to offer the services of his companies during the crisis.

"We are not coming in and asking for permits," Foster told Blodgett. "We are offering to help and do what we can but the city will have to accept us on the terms we have in the other communities. If agreeable, then we can make cabs available for calls

City Approves Street Paving lan Despite Public Protests

By W. W. EDGAR

Completely ignoring the protests of a majority of the property owners the Plymouth City Commission approved a street improvement program Monday night that will cost $136,781.94 and probably bring about an increase of two mills in the tax rate that has been rumored for some time.

The improvement program includes the paying of Evergreen from Ann Arbor Trail to Penniman Avenue: Amelia from Farmer to West Liberty and Linden from South Main

After a public hearing on each segment and discussions that lasted more than two hours, the commission voted 6-1, to adopt the program with Commissioner Arch Vallier casting the lone negative vote.

Most of the debate during the hearing revolved around Evergreen where a good portion of the abutting property owners voiced objections both on the floor and by petition.

THE OBJECTIONS, strangely, were not based on the assessments, but on the change in the width of the thoroughfare and the fact that the improvement would cause Evergreen to lose its "rustic" image. Under the approved proposal the paving and other improvements costs were listed as Evergreen-$47,401.32, with the city bearing $33,321.84 of sessment being $12,972.48 at $10.78 per front foot. Linden Street -- $54,929.82, with the city's share being $35,- ment of $16,466.59 at $19.58

per front foot. In establishing these costs City Manager Blodgett pointed that the assessment on Vallier, "why did you vote to put it on the agenda?" "I voted to put the matter on the agenda," Vallier countered, "just to get the reaction of the public. We've got it now and I am still opposed to the project." AT ANOTHER stage Vallier criticized the city manager for placing Evergreen on the program this year, knowing that it was turned down a year

Finally, when all of the shouting was ended Commissioner McKeon, who lives on Evergreen, expressed the opinion that because he felt the city should move ahead and shake off some of its inhibitions he would be forced to ignore the wishes of the residents and approve the program.

This came after the protests on both Linden and Amelia which were centered on the theme that the paving was not needed and would turn the present thoroughfares into "race tracks "

WHEN THE last question was asked and the hearings closed, Commissioner Robert Smith moved, with the support of Commissioner James Houk, that the street program be adopted. At this point Mayor Jabara pointed out that at least five votes would be needed to pass the motion in that 51 per cent of the residents had opposed the plan.

Then came the vote of approval with Commissioner Vallier sticking to his guns and casting the lone negative vote.

The figures will be placed in the new budget and work on the improvements should begin as soon as the mechanics of the funding and contracts

Budget Hearing Sets Mark For Frustration

The Plymouth City Commission set something of a record Monday night when it concluded a public hearing on the city's first $2 million budget in less than 15 minutes -- and left the public frustrated. For some reason or another

Wiedman property have pledged close to $100,000 over a 12 year period to establish a permanent parking site.

The next step in the plan will be the sale of the bonds after which the buildings on both sites will be razed and the eyesore finally removed from the downtown area. The space available at the Penniman Avenue lot will accomodate at least 22 cars, while the Wiedman site will be improved for the use of approximately 100 cars.

With these sites being developed a municipal parking authority also is taking shape. With this type of set-up parking in the downtown area will be placed on an efficient basis and it also will mean a change in policy for the central lot

Under the plans now being considered the central lot again will be metered with the possibility of having a paid attendant at all times. No definite meter plan has been decided upon, and there has been some discussion that the first hour should be free and that a charge should be made after that

The other two lots will be metered from the start

tion. They deserved it.

They had worked hard. "They" were members of the cast, crew, orchestra, band, and faculty who made the Plymouth High School production of the "Music Man" a success.

It is not the policy of this paper to review high school plays.

We take a crack at theater guild productions and tell our readers what we think about some of the better films, but it is generally felt that high schools put so much work into their productions that no matter what the result, they are given "A" for effort and 'nuf said. Their purpose is education - not commercial entertainment.

Maybe, while no one is looking I can slip in a one-word review. SMASHING!

As I stood in the hot, small, packed cafeteria-auditorium that has changed little in the 13 years since my graduation and the 38 (sorry, Mom) since my mother's, I realized that kids today are taller, smarter, and last Friday night it seemed that some of them possess a lot more talent than we had

And while I'm starting sentences with "maybe", maybe when the time rolls around for voting on more school taxes, we could adopt a slogan to insure better facilities for tomorrow's youth

How about, "REMEMBER THE MUSIC MAN!"?

AND WHILE we're on the subject, they tell me that the PHS band is presenting its annual band show, "Variety Is" May 17-18 in the high school gym-

There will be a variety of acts including a magician and dancers. Band members have tickets or they may be purchased at the door, Admission for adults is $1.25 and students

Township Sets Date For Charter Election

Voting for the new charter, which proposes to incorporate Plymouth Township into a home rule city named Plymouth Heights, is scheduled for March 25, 1969, Charter Commission Chairman Paul J. Albright, announced Monday.

"We decided upon March 25. 1969 for the charter vote so that the issue, which is possibly the most important issue the township will face, would not be lost among other elections." Albright explained.

He said that the commission

$4.50 per hundred on a loan is 4½% interest, right?

Only the Johnsons knew the truth.

Would you believe that only 1 out of 105 families knows how much interest they pay for auto financing? Here's a shocker:

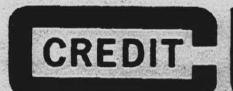

One hundred and five families were asked that question in a university survey. Only one family (let's call them the Johnsons) knew the true annual interest they were paying.

Of thirty families who thought they knew, estimates ranged from 5 to 12 per cent interest, when actually they were paying 12 to 40 per cent. There's a reason for this confusion. Many car loans are advertised at $4.50 per hundred. People think this means 41/2 per cent true annual interest. IT DOESN'T. You're actually paying nearly 9 per cent—when you can get it. (Not everyone qualifies: It applies only to new cars, depends on the down payment, etc.)

Before you buy a car, check with your credit union first. They'll not only give you the true cost on car financing, but rock-bottom rates on a loan as well. It pays to be a credit union family.

Contact the CU where you work—or the one in your parish or neighborhood—or write Michigan Credit Union League, F. O. Box 5210, Detroit, Michigan 48235.

Plymouth's Fair Housing: What Good Will It Do?

Monday night, April 29, 1968, the City of Plymouth's voters took a historic step and put into effect an open housing ordinance. It was historic because the city was the third in the state to pass such an ordinance in a referendum vote.

It'was also a historic occasion because it brought to light the need for this type of legislation in democracy — that had al-ready guaranteed the right of free movement in its founding constitution.

However, this is all very plain to anyone who wishes to think about the ordinance's historical value and perspective. What is not so plain is what good it will

SOON AFTER IT was definite that the ordinance was on the books, people began to ask: Was it really necessary? The question was raised, "What good does it"

Possibly this was the wrong question to be asked, and also possibly this question reveals how little knowledge there is of the racial crisis facing the country - not just Plymouth and Detroit.

Plymouth's passage of its open housing ordinance was not as much of a victory for the black people so much as it was a victory for white persons and the city itself.

Negro leaders have repeatedly said that their people don't really want to move to Plymouth or Livonia or even Farmington. For one thing, almost all of the Negroes in the inner city could not begin to afford to make the move; besides, they don't want to leave their own

So why pass an open housing ordinance? I don't believe that those Plymouth residents who voted "yes" Monday, took this action with the idea that masses of black inner-city residents would come rushing to Plymouth.

I believe they voted yes to show the world that they are aware of racial problems and justice and this was one way of displaying their empathy for the Negro in the public manner.

THE NEGRO-AMERICAN has been defranchised and spat upon for the last 300 years - long before the Mayflower landed at Plymouth Rock.

The black American is fighting an attitude as well as physical discrimination and segregation, and part of the answer to the above question lies in doing away with this sick attitude.

The other part lies in eliminating physical segregationwhich passage of an open housing ordinance accomplishes in the eyes of the law.

Therefore, the solution to the racial crisis confronting every American is not simply opening your arms and welcoming Negroes into your neighborhood. The solution is made of both opening your arms and also opening your minds by not spitting upon a man because he is black.

The Plymouth Open Housing Ordinance accomplishes the first part to the solution, and it may lead the way to an awakening to the second and most difficult part.

OBSERVATION POINT

- By Philip H. Power -

This weekend's edition of the Livonia Observer carried a headline: "8 Dope Rings Smashed; Teen Traffic Up."

The story was a wrap-up of various moves taken by law enforcement authorities in Livonia to deal with traffic in drugs among teen agers and others. For example, it revealed that a local 16-year-old is now in the hospital, committed following a bad trip on LSD.

It's no secret that drug traffic and abuses are not confined to Livonia alone. Last year, the particularly grisly murders of two sub-teen girls were committed in Westland; the prime suspect was said by authorities to have been sniffing glue before attacking the girls. School authorities are worried about use of marijuana in Farmington and Redford.

Dope and its use is not only an inner city problem. It hits the suburbs; to cover up consideration of the matter would be to bury one's head in the ground.

HOWEVER, IT IS important to use a little bit of perspective in looking at the problem. First, all teen agers are not dope fiends.

Most know that drugs like LSD or speed are in fact dangerous. There is good evidence, for example, that use of LSD can result in genetic damage to the user. The kids know this.

But the kids also know that what little research has been done on the results of using marijuana has been inconclusive. The drug supposedly produces a mildly hallucinatory sensation, per-haps some heightened sensations, euphoria, and a loss of balance and perspective similar to that produced by over-use of alcohol.

There is also some evidence that users who may be psycologically unbalanced may have logically unbalanced may have very severe reactions, and that it is difficult to predict whether one individual will have a good or a bad trip on the drug. Some authorities also say that use of marijuana will lead to "psychological addiction," perhaps tending toward wider use of drugs such as LSD, cocaine or heroin.

So one thing that is needed is research, much more research, into the real effects of marijuana on the user. Most research findings on the matter of alcohol, for example, conclude that it is relatively harmless if used in moderation. Partly for this reason, and partly because of the longtime human custom of drinking alcoholic beverages, use of alcohol in moderation is accepted in our society.

Such is not the case with marijuana. This is partly because we really don't know what the drug does to people. We need to know

HOWEVER, THE LAWS dealing with the use or sale of marijuana are extremely strict.

Mere possession carries a prison sentence of up to 10 years. A mandatory minimum sentence of 20 years is required in the case of people who are convicted of selling or even giving the stuff away.

These penalties have been criticized by a number of prominent legal and medical authorities as being too rigid. For example, a kid just trying pot for the first time, innocent of everything except a desire to experiment in forbidden drugs, could be sent up for 10 years into a prison environ-ment which could do more to warp his personality than anything one puff of marijuana could .

For this reason, most courts have been trying to enforce the law with some understanding, pending development of more research findings. In this respect, the authorities in Livonia are being extremely sensible.

Sgt. Lee B. Grieve, head of the Livonia Police Intelligence Bureau in charge of narcotic investigations, advises parents who suspect their children are using drugs to contact the police.

"We're not here to put every kid that uses junk in jail," Grieve says. "We'll work with the parents and we'll work with the teen or adult. But it is the parents who must take the initial step."

Police officers must respect the law, but such an approach respects also the human problems involved in the use of dope.

IT IS THESE human problems ; that lie at the heart of the matter.

We can condemn people for using LSD or marijuana. We can talk about the terrible damage such drugs can do. We can pass laws banning the use of such drugs, and we can clamp down on the pushers and sellers. But we will have missed the point if we don't stop for just a moment to think about just what is missing in our society that leads people to use such drugs-despite the risk. Out here in Observerland, incomes are high. Houses, by and large, are pleasant. Lawns are green. Kids are healthy, well dressed, with a great future ahead of them.

But they'll take marijuana, experiment with LSD.

Curiosity is an important part of it. So is the rebellious act of doing something forbidden, like taking a beer when you're 16 was 20 years ago.

But there's something more, something lacking in a society which leaves a gaping hole in the lives of some people such that they try drugs. If you're concerned about dope, OK. But just think about the wider issues. You might learn some-

They congregate Sundays in a fountain-centered park that interrupts Connecticut Ave. about six blocks north of the White House and three or four blocks south of the Washington Hilton Hotel, which was the headquarters for the Livonia delegation attending the U.S. Chamber of Commerce

This Sunday evening, there were two musical groups going at it-one of a couple of guitars and the other of a half-dozen percussionists playing drums of apparently African and Indian design.

A dancing, sunburned girl had probably been there for hours; other hippies dropped in and out. Some were in a large group watching the drummers; others sat in pairs or alone, reading.

"THOSE COPS shouldn't be bunched up like that. They should be spread around the place in case of trouble."

"These cabs could come from any one of the cities in which we operate. We would not have the required Plymouth permits, neither will we require our drivers to have professional photographers take pictures for 5x7" mug shots when Five and Dime store pictures are alright in other places. We will have to have the meters read as they are in the cab and this means a higher rate than in Plym-

"We do not feel that it would be worth our while to change the meters every time we had a call to Plymouth. Furthermore, we are not going to ask our drivers to get special examinations just to make a Plymouth trip. Many of our drivers are part-time workers, serving only on their days off, and a $10 fee would be unacceptable to them. It could take a long time to make $10.

"However, we realize that the City of Plymouth is in a bind and we are offering to help. If the offer is accepted, then we will make our cabs available on the basis ex-plained here. If the Commission refuses to amend certain provisions of the ordinance and insists it be followed to the letter, then we can only suggest that those in charge contact the Wayne Cab Co.

"We wish to make it clear that we are not seeking permits or trying to put an existing company out of business, but there is a sad situation in Plymouth and we are offering assistance—that's all.'

But there are some interesting sides to the banquets or dinners.

LIKE -

Listening to a few chosen words spoken by Hubert O. (Fritz) Crisler, who is retiring at the end of next month after a great career as football coach and then athletic director at the University of Michigan.

Crisler is approaching birthday No. 70, but you'd never guess he's 60 by the way he acts, by the way he talks.

He was addressing a father-son dinner and he looked the dads square in the faces and declared: "So you worried about our future leaders. That's ridiculous.

"Sure, things aren't going the way we'd like 'em in this country. But, there is no reason to knock our young men.

"If they weren't playing on the athletic fields of our land, if they weren't helping to jam stadiums across the country, if they weren't turning in greater and more spectacular sports records all the time-then, we really would have a reason to be disturbed."

With that Mr. Crisler sat down. He received a standing ovation.

The top-of-the-line C3350 Electronic Calculator, which can automatically extract a square root in less than onethird of a second, features two independent core storage memories. Each memory provides 16 digit, eight decimal storage capacity with minus total.

In addition, a constant factor memory retains a multiplier or divisor completely separate from the storage memories. The constant factor used during the calculation does not require any key depression after the initial step and it can be reviewed or changed at any time during the oper-

Operational mode lights indicate that the calculator is in multiply or divide mode and also continually tell the operator what step has been completed and what should be done next. Independent memory lights also indicate whether memories contain stored amounts.

INDEPENDENT DECIMAL selection for computing and memory provides increased accuracy by allowing the operator to use a large number of decimals in computations while selecting only the number of decimals considered significant for memory storage.

Selective round-off of products and quotients occurs in the appropriate column according to the setting of the Memory Decimal Selector. In chain calculation, round-off occurs only on operator command. A versatile recall key allows the operator to re-display any factor in the calculation with decimal points properly placed whenever desired.

Evergreens Add Richness, Elegance

Evergreens, as their name implies, are plants that are green all year. In addition to the needle evergreens such as pines and spruce, there are various types of broad-leaf evergreens.

Although these plants have broad, flat leaves, they remain on the plant for many seasons, so that the plant is not bare in winter. These leaves are generally of a stiff leathery nature and often are quite glossy. They add a richness and elegance to the garden scene, especially in winter. Rhododendron, holly, mahonia, and mountain laurel are among the broad-leaf evergreens most frequently grown in this area. Less frequently seen, but equally desirable are Japanese andromeda, drooping leucothoe, Korean boxwood, and evergreen barberry.

These are all hardy, but need a little extra care in selecting ine spot where they are to be planted and in preparing the soil.

RHODODENDRONS are the largest and most speciacular of the broad-leaf evergreens that grow in this area. They have large leathery leaves and in spring bear large clusters of pink, rose, purple, or white flowers.

Carolina rhododendrons are quite hardy and grow about five feet tall, Rosebay is very hardy but grows too tall to be used in a foundation planting, Rhododendrons need a situation where they are protected from wind and strong sun. A north or northeast exposure is satisfactory. They need moist, Mountain laurel (Kalmia latibut not soggy soil.

folia) is a native evergreen Good drainage is important, that is similar in leaf and form They need an acid soil, and to azaleas. It has small glossy if the soil is not naturally green leaves and clusters of acid, use pest moss and spepink flowers. The flowers are cial chemicals and a special very attractive, and the deep pink buds are like little fluted lanterns. KOREAN AZALEA is really

These plants prefer acid. sandy soil. They will grow in dense shade, but will tolerate sun if the roots are mulched.

Holly (Ilex) are choice evergreens. Some such as the Michigan holly have the jagged leaves

It blooms very early in spring Green Thumb

ATTRACTING HUMMING-BIRDS: If you want plenty of hummingbirds, grow flowers which are more or less bell shaped, such as canterbury bells, delphinium, trumpet vines, columbine, honeysuckle, flowering tobacco, scarlet sage, to name a few. It's also a good idea to use "artificial" foods such as sugar solution, or honey, doctored with a few drops of food coloring to at-acid-type fertilizer.

type of rhododendron, but is unique in that it will grow in neutral soils or even those slightly alkaline. It will tolerate dryer soils than other/rhodo-

Honey can be fatal to hummingbirds unless diluted, So use a weak solution such as two parts honey to one part of boiled water. If you use sugar use one part to four or five parts of water, not any stronger, as it may cause liver trouble. Paint the feeder red or cover with nail polish.

How about purple martins and bluebirds? Can you attract them around your premises? Martins are sociable birds, feeding almost entirely on flying insects. Bluebird fanciers say that a bluebird in the hand this year will be equal to two bluebirds next year.

FREE: Want to know more about hummingbirds, bluebirds, wrens and martins? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my illustrated bulletin, Facts About Hummingbird, It's full of good tips on your favorite birds, and it shows how to make simple houses for your feathered friends. This is a guide based on hints sent me by bird lovers and you need if for your green thumb library.

SWEET CHERRIES: Manyask why it is that their sweet cherry trees blossom well but produce few fruits. The answer is lack of pollination. Sweet cherries are self-unfruit so must be interplanted.

Where Napoleon and Emperor Francis are planted together, you still need another variety, such as Windsor or Black Tartarian, as the first two will not pollinate each other. Schmidt's Bigarreau is a fine midseason black sweet cherry, and needs a rooster tree or no fruit. Sour cherries will pollinate themselves and do not need the benefit of a nearby and red berries of Christmas convexs have small pointed three feet across and combines holly and can grow into small leaves and black berries. This well with needle evergreens in trees. Others, such as Her plant grows four feet tall and a foundation planting.

Silver Star Awarded

A "little ding" was suffered by a Westland Marine in South Vietnam who was honored with the Silver Star and the Vietnamese Cross for Gallantry.

Receiving the dual honor was Cpl. Ernest Hayden, who will be 21 years old next month. The Marine is the son of Mrs. Nancy Hayden, of 34442 Fountain Blvd., Westland.

Mrs. Hayden said that her son wrote her that he received "a little ding" in action. "But they don't give Silver Stars just for getting a little ding," she said.

Cpl. Hayden suffered the wound while serving as a courier for the 1st Marine Air Wing and has been assigned near Hue, where some of the most fierce battles in the past several months have been staged.

Hayden, who enlisted in the Marines three years ago, has been in Vietnam since September. He plans to be home in early September, Mrs. Hayden

Blaze Damages Nursery

Fire swept the office of a Westland nursery early Sunday morning, destroying most of the records of new landscaping orders.

Damaged by the blaze was the Lambrecht Nursery Farms, 1024 Merriman Rd. at Avondale.

The owner, Harry Lambrecht, asked The Observer to issue his public appeal to persons who have business pending with him to phone him. "Most of my orders were destroyed and I don't know who's got what coming," he said. An estimated $100,000 in orders were burned, and he will rewrite them when they are phoned in to him at PA, 2-7900. The fire caused several thousands of dollars in damage to the office. It was caused by either a short in a telephone box under his desk or the wiring in a night light a few feet away, Lambrecht said.

The damage was discovered Sunday morning when the nursery was opened for business.

Guild Elects Officers

New officers have been elected by the Garden City Osteopathic Hospital Guild.

Leading the group for the 1968-69 year will be Mrs. Domonic Pallalola of Garden City. president: Mrs. Roy West of Livonia, vice president; Mrs. Gary Cooper of Garden City, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Mc-Bridge of Dearborn Heights, treasurer; and Mrs. Jerry Skalsky, of Inkster, historian,

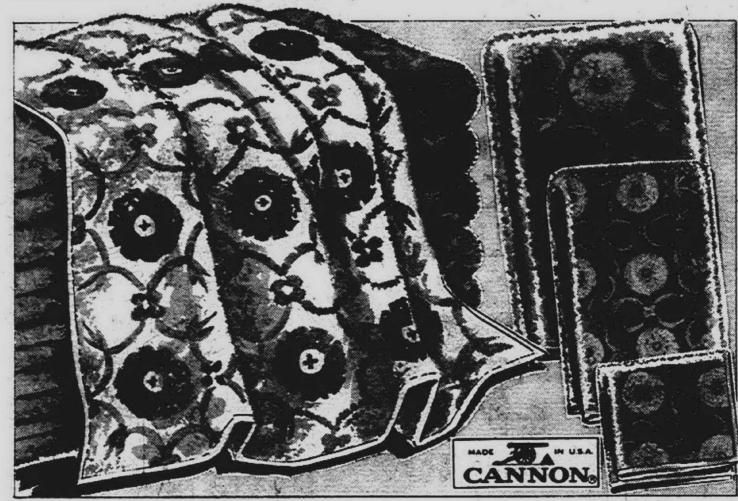

The officers will assume their duties at the guild's May 15 installation dinner.

Volunteer members in the guild are also planning their annual strawberry festival in June . Persons interested in taking part in the event may call Mrs. Marge Goodall at 278-2489

Bill Of Rights Posted

A short course in civics and how criminal proceedings are handled has been recently posted outside the doors of the Westland Municipal Court by Judge Thomas G. Smith. Entitled "Your Bill of Rights nicipal Court of Westland," the two-page outline of the rights of defendants was drafted by Judge Smith, elected last November along with Michael W. Bradley, both unopposed in the November election.

Westland Soldier Honored

A Westland soldier has been awarded an Air Medal for serving on 25 helicopter missions in South Vietnam.

Receiving the award is Army Sgt. Stephen Miller, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller, of 32032 Sandra Lane. Miller, who graduated from Franklin High School in Livonia, is a crew chief for four helicopters.

Mrs. Miller also reported that her son was at an Air Force base near Saigon when the Vietcong's Jet offensive was started.

Miller and six others volunteered to guard the perimeter of the huge base, which is the site of the headquarters of General William Westmoreland, commander of American forces in Vietnam.

He and the others stayed three and a half days at their posts during the massive of-

Garden City Recreation Dept. Notes

Plans for the May 17 tap and ballet recital at West High School, Garden City, are being finalized. Over 200 youngsters who have participated in the recreation program during the school year will be taking part. The program is under the direction of Miss Mary DeKeyser of Eastern Michigan University. Tickets will be sold only at the door at 50¢ per person. The event starts at 8 p.m.

Minor division and women's softball entries are still being accepted. So far, indications that the men's division will have six squads, including last year's league and playoff champs, Moose Lodge and Bryant Walker-Duma Drugs, respectively. Any prospective players or managers are requested to call the recreation office, GA 2-7060, for information.

The Little League Field Day to inaugurate the season will be held on May 18 at the East High School field. The league is under the jurisdiction of the city youth association.

The department is not accepting any more applications for summer jobs.

The department is preparing its booklet on summer activities. Its aim is to have the program finalized, printed, and distributed to the schools during the first week in June. Last year, over 15,000 copies were distributed.

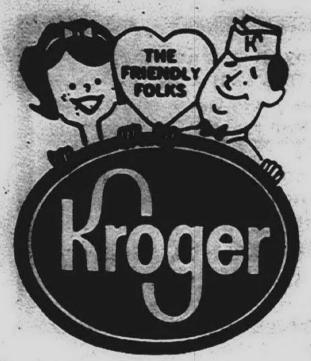

Opens Campaign

The Cpl. Edward J. Bova Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6986 (formerly the Westland V.F.W. Post) will open its building fund drive with a picnic at 1 p.m. Sunday, May 19 on the grounds behind the Nankin Mills Inn, 33700 Ann Arbor Trail.

There will be games and prizes for the children with food and refreshments served. As a special attraction, helicopter rides will be offered at a nominal cost within the picnic A drawing will be held to camper trailer and two savings bonds from tickets sold by the post to enlarge their building fund. For ticket information call Edward Kawecki at 722-6467 after 5 p.m. or Ann Tetanich at 728-5578.

East Ace Places 5th In Relays

Bob Danesworth emerged as the week's individual star for Garden City East in track.

In a dual meet against Inkster, which saw East win with little trouble, 72-46, Danesworth captured the long jump and the 220-yard dash and ran on the victorious half-mile relay.

On Saturday he was the only East performer to place in the Albion Relays, taking a fifth in the long jump.

April's Traffic Toll Dips

Michigan's provisional count of 142 traffic deaths for April was 20, or 12 per cent less than the all-time high of 162 set for that month a year ago, the State Police reported.

The April loss also was six less than the average of 148 for that month in the five years, 1963-67.

The April deaths included eight motorcycle riders, 39 persons killed in 33 ran-off-the-roadway accidents, and 59 persons killed in 41 two-car accidents.

The accumulated total of 579 fatalities for the first four months was 41 or almost eight per cent more than 538 for the same period in 1967.

Delayed death reports will increase somewhat the April and accumulated counts.

Mission Hospital Needs Doctor -- For Six Months

off Rhodesia is in search of a doctor with six months to spare.

The Mt. Silinda Hospital greatly needs a medical man-or woman -- who could fill a vacancy there from July of this year to January, 1969, and Dr. Kirk Stetson, presently of Livonia, hopes there may be such a person in Observerland.

Dr. Stetson himself has served in the hospital in Africa for close to ten years, and had planned to be back there by July.

But a family complication -namely a 10-year-old son with a reading difficulty that requires more attention at Hawthorn Center -- is delaying the return of the family of five. . . .

DR. STETSON has worked at the hospital with Dr. Almarose Worden until his furlough, which began a year ago.

He then arranged with the mission board of the United Church of Christ, which operates the facility, to fill the vacancy with another physician who will leave soon, and with a second replacement who can stay until July, 1969.

He said the mission board would pay the expenses of a physician who would accept the short term assignment, and a comfortably - furnished three-bedroom brick home is available for him to use. Indoor plumbing, too.

"A doctor finishing residency or one being released from military service might consider the experience," Dr. Stetson

"Or if there is a physician with a practice in this area who would be interested, I am available to work with some of his patients."

THE APPLICANT would have to have general medical knowledge, but would not have to be a surgeon, since Dr. Wor-

Meet Set On Family Relations

Family-related provisions in the proposed State Penal Code revisions will be discussed in the annual meeting of the Michigan Council on Family Relations, to be held on the Michigan State University campus Thursday, May 16.

Speakers will include Judge Horace C. Gilmore of Wayne County Circuit Court, who will open the session at 9:30 a.m. with a report on the proposals, and Dr. Leroy Augenstein, MSU biophysics department chairman, who will discuss "Moral and Ethical Implications in the Social Designing of Families" at the convention luncheon.

Several resource leaders will head discussion groups.

They include Dr. James Thomas, on abortion; Dr. Daniel Reardon, on child abuse; Dr. Richard Bates, on alcoholism, Dr. James E. Harryman, on drugs and drug control, Judge George Bowles, on divorce and changing law, and Dr. Lawrence H. Lang II, on sexual behavior and legal con-

Our dog doesn't know daylight saving time has started, and that's just about the only advantage I can see to the time change.

Like most mothers of young children, I don't like to delay bedtimes — and you just can't put kids to bed when it's broad daylight. Next fall I'll like still less to see them start to school in the grey dawn.

But right now, I do enjoy not getting up before 6 a.m. every morning to let the

I should explain that I answer those yips quite willingly, because our dog is a rather special mutt. He made the household scene before any of our girls, and recently attained the ripe old age of 141/2 years.

In dog years, I'm told, that makes him almost 100. And he still enjoys life greatly, runs nearly as fast as in young doghood and jumps nearly as high.

So if he wants to get up at 6 a.m. to chase the neighbors' cats out of our backyard, I'm not one to deprive him of his

I'll be glad to get up and let him out. But because of the time change, the barking starts a little before 7 a.m., and my other alarm already has sounded.

When daylight saving began, I'm glad he forgot to set his clock ahead.

Concern is a word often in

Concern Is Byword For Lois Lange

the mind and heart of the thoughtful woman these days. She's bound to feel concerned for the multitude of problems confronting the world. If she's a busy young mother, the concern may be a prick on the conscience and a hope to be able to do more later. If she's an active churchwoman or clubwoman, she may be involved in some of the many projects afoot and still wonder whether her contribution is of real value.

So she might be interested in some of the ideas of Mrs. Warren Lange, of Livonia, who has concerned herself a good bit with the meaning of concern.

LOIS LANGE believes the path for a meaningful life lies, for her at least, in study, then discussion, then action.

They all are important portions. But she wants to emphasize that she's very much still in the seeking stage.

"I'm certainly no authority--I'm looking for the best way for me as a wife, mother and woman," Mrs. Lange said.

STUDY IS A MAJOR PART of her life just now. In the second year of a second marriage, with children in school and no regular employment, Lois Lange has time for extensive reading, though never enough time.

"My husband and I literally sit on the things we want to read," she said. "I keep putting them on our chairs so we'll remember them."

"For instance," she said, "if I believe that there are cases of police brutality among Negroes, I have to know how to study the question further. I must look further into the policies of the particular police department in question, and I may learn that its pay is too low to attract the kind of officer who will use his police power properly. "Then study has brought me to realizing that I must work for better police pay for better policemen."

THE VALUE OF DISCUSSION Lois Lange has learned from long association with the Quaker Church.

"When I first joined the Friends group in Ann Arbor," she said, "I was rather appalled at the endless discussions. They act by consensus--which means full agreement--rather than majority rule.

"But I learned that in discussion that had to convince EVERYONE there came a unity of purpose that led to real action when the time came."

So, in recent months, Lois and Warren Lange have invited some of their Livonia neighbors to their home to talk over some of the issues of interest. consumer cooperatives, the condition of the inner-city, the Reading matter includes gun schools of the suburbs.

"But I did make some progress toward understanding," she added, "and that made the rebuff worthwhile."

A more recent experiment in understanding, carried out last summer with another Livonia woman, Mrs. Mickey Laviolette, consisted of a "junior high live-in."

"We pitched tents in our back yard," Mrs. Lange said, "and invited some inner-city junior highs to spend the weekend with us. We had boys one weekend and girls another, and our own youngsters of the same sex shared the experience.

"I was interested to note that, although there was one incident of flaring tempers, it really was a matter of personality clash rather than race conflict."

LOIS LANGE also hopes to be a delegate this summer to a Quaker conference at Cape May, N.J. The aim is renewal and re-evaluation, and the ages will range from senior high to 40 "in the hope that some of us middle-aged adolescents may still be able to communicate with the kids," Mrs. Lange explained.

Another major project involves plans for a new home which the Langes expect to build in a new Friends cooperative veture near Chelsea,

It will mean long commuting for Warren Lange, a project engineer for Cadillac Motors, but he believes in the venture and hopes to turn his longtime interest in ham radio operation to purposes like linking the work of far-flung members of the American Friends Service Committee.

"The idea of the home I'm designing," Lois Lange said, "is that it will serve as a meeting place for our neighbors--sort of a salon for the exchange of ideas and plans

Seek Top Patio Chef In Contest

Men in Observerland who love to preside over the family barbeque are invited to submit their favorite recipes in the annual "King of the Patio" contest,

The competition is sponsored by the Detroit Edison Co. through its 74 customer business offices throughout Southeastern Michigan,

The contest, now in its fourth year, has attracted hundreds of male contenders each year.

Marion E. Ryan, head of Edison's electric living division, said the contest runs through May 31 and is open to men, 18 years of age and over, who reside in Edison's Southeastern Michigan service area.

Miss Ryan said entries must include name, address and telephone number. Preferably, entries should be mailed to Electric Living Division, The Detroit Edison Company, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226, but may be submitted by the deadline to any customer business Edison

PROFESSIONAL CHEFS, cooks, Edison employes and members of their immediate families are not eligible.

On June 5, judges will select ten finalists whose recipes appear the most interesting and promising. The ten will then compete in a cook-off for "King of the Patio" honors and other awards on Wednesday, June 12. All finalists must be available to compete in the cook-off,

The grand prize for the "King" is an Electric Char-Grill Porta-Kart, which can be used outdoors or indoors and includes all necessary wiring and attachments, A Patio Table, complete with table service and Electric Rotisserie-Broiler, will be awarded as second prize; and the third prize will be an Open-Hearth Broiler-Rotisserie complete with a shish kebab attachment.

GROCERIES AND cooking equipment for each finalist will be provided. There will be an ut of electric proffers. ovens, rotisseries, and grills for the finalists to use.

Judges for the cook-off will be George Pierrot of WWJ-TV, Mark Beltaire of the Detroit Free Press, Len Barnes, Motor News outdoor editor, and Mort Neff of WXYZ-TV.

In the event the judges need any assistance, three other experts will be present as honorary judges. They are Kay Savage of the Detroit Free Press, Cy Riley of the Detroit News, and Edythe Fern Melrose, Lady of Charm.

TRUTH: 1968 STYLE!

New York (NAPS) - If truth is beauty and beauty truth, this is the moment of truth in fashion. After the savage shocks of the past few years, the serenity of the new season as seen in McCall's Spring-Summer issue of Fashionews Magazine, now on your local newsstand, offers a sense of security.

The new fashions are beautiful, not because they are "happening", but because they're a natural. It's emphasis on the waist, the bosom, the leg, the face-the natural

It's the woman, not the little boy or the little girl, or the little nothing. And despite efforts to push it back to The Thirties or thrust it into The Seventies, the clothes picture for spring summer is timelocked on the year 1968.

Highway Toll Climbs To 28 Over Weekend

A GRIM RECORD death toll was set this weekend on Michigan highways as 28 persons died in traffic accidents, Eighteen of the victims perished in six multiple fatality accidents--the worst claiming the lives of five persons Saturday at Paw Paw. In an accident Sunday, a 14-year-old boy and his 17-year-old sister were killed in Marne when the separate cars in which they were riding collided almost head-on. Four teenagers were killed Friday night when their car ran off a road at Three Rivers. The worst period this year previously had been New Year's weekend when 27

LANSING -- A bill that would prohibit county boards of supervisors from meeting in secrecy was among 11 measures which the Michigan Senate moved to third reading Friday before adjourning for the weekend. Passage of the bill was urged on grounds that there was an increasing tendency for boards to conduct their meetings behind closed doors and thus remove themselves from public scrutiny. The House passed a Senate-approved bill providing that vacancies in county offices would be filled by midterm elections. Currently, vacancies in such offices as county clerk, auditor or prosecutor are filled by appointment and the appointee serves the remainder of the four-year term.

State And Local

News Round Up

LANSING -- Petitions to put the American Independent Party, which supports former Alabama Gov. George Wallace for president, on the November ballot in Michigan were filed in Lansing Friday. The group needs at least 13,371 valid signatures to qualify as a party and an affidavit filed with the petitions claimed there were signatures of 32,101 registered LANSING -- Michigan Democrats have announced that Vice President Hubert Humphrey will visit Lansing and Detroit May 14. Humphrey will address a joint session of the Michigan Legislature in the morning and a Democratic Party Century Club fund-raising reception in the evening. Both of the other announced Democratic presidential candidates, New York Sen. Robert Kennedy and Minnesota Sen. Eugene Me-Carthy already have visited the state.

WASHINGTON - G. Mennen Williams, nominated by President Johnson to be ambassador to the Philippines, was examined Friday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said there is no opposition to Williams' appointment and that he expects the committee to approve the appointment and send it to the full Senate in the next few days. Williams told the committee he has asked the State Department for a month to wind up his affairs in the United States.

LANSING - A public hearing on a bill to outlaw the customer prize contests which have flourished in the state recently brought conflicting testimony from gasoline station owners and independent food retailers. Various independent gasoline dealers charged that they were being coerced by oil companies to participate in the promotions. Several retail food dealers defended the promotions as essential to free competition. The bill being considered would outlaw the contests by bringing them under the definition of lottery.

LANSING -- The Open Housing Bill passed by the Senate should come up for initial discussion on the floor of the House this week. The bill will come to the House floor in the same form as it passed in the Senate. Attempts to amend the bill in the House Civil Rights Committee were defeated. Committee Chairman Rep. Melvin DeStigter R-Munsonville, said the committee would try to keep the bill intact and get a vote on it. House Speaker Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, however, predicted that there might be some changes in the bill before it was passed by the House.

DETROIT -- Efforts of Gov. George Romney and the Michigan Legislature to take a hand in resolution of the Detroit newspaper shutdown have become stalled in a complicated legal tangle. A special panel of seven federal judges refused to lift a court order won by Detroit News Publisher Peter B. Clark in his fight to keep from being forced to testify before the governor and the legislature. In Lansing, Romney told a news conference he didn't "think anyone can say with certainty at this time that there will be an early DETROIT -- Detroit's Common Council has chopped out large sections of Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's proposed budget for fiscal 1968-69. The council pared or shuffled about $15.9 million of the spending proposals. Cavanagh's record $460 million budget proposal was based on planned increases in the city's property tax and income tax. The council rejected the proposed 2.8 mill property tax increase.

CURTAIN

On Monday, May 13, the International entertainer. Maurice Chevalier, begins a one week engagement at the Fisher Theater as a part of his Good Will Tour around the World.

Maurice Chevalier is making a return "farewell" visit to the Fisher. He appeared in 1963 and captivated audiences, His versatile 90 minute "turn" replete with old and new songs is always a solid hit, Old Wally warned everyone in 1963 that should this master entertainer ever return again, you'd better rob the piggy bank,

To see Mr. Chevalier in person is a grand treat. His 58 years as an entertainer provide him with a range of joyful items you'll relish for years to come. Chevalier is truly a legend of our times,

THEATER, radio, television, movies, concert halls--you name it, Maurice has done it and performed perfectly. Who will ever forget his curled lip and the first time he tilted his straw hat in the classic song,

Impressionists for years imitated him. Yet there is only one Maurice Chevalier. To see him is to enjoy him, Age seems to be no deterrent for America's Number One Frenchman, Let's hope, like Methuselah, he lives to be 969 years old.

If only Charles De Gaulle had a tenth of Chevalier's charm many of the world's problems might be alleviated. Maybe we can convince Chevalier during his visit to consider taking on such a Herculean task of personality transformation.

THE MAGICAL music of "The Fantasticks" will contime for one more week at Livonia's Franklin High School, The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford is closing out their 1967-68 season with this long-running Broadway musical. "Fantasticks" is heading towards its eighth season in New York. You can see the production right here in Livonia yet

"Becket" performed last fall.

WRITING in the Detroit Free Press, critic Louis Cook said of Burke's performance: "The interpretation of the players ... was in many ways more effective than the performance of the same play by Sir Laurence Olivier and Arthur Kennedy at the Riviera here several years ago...Kelly Burke is a more real king than Olivier was... Burke also plunged boldly into King Henry's latent homosexuality, which is strongly indicated by Anouilh, Olivier was a little queasy about this."

A senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, majoring in radio-TV, Burke is a member of the U. of D. Broadcasting Guild, Alpha Epsilon Rho, local broadcasting fraternity, the Players, U. of D. theatre group.

to Claspy it is generally admitted that conditions, especially in the southern part of those states, are not much different from those across the Ohio River in Kentucky.

"With these states ruled out, the only rival to Michigan in the just treatment of the Negroes is Kansas," he declares,

MANY NEGROES still live in the small towns of western Kansas, where they have attended the regular schools and colleges, and where, like Michigan, they currently are represented by three Negro state senators, according to Claspy. The land was relatively poor there, however, and the state has not developed industrially as Michigan has.

Claspy's history centers on more than a dozen communities in southwestern Michigan.

Some highlights: Calvin as early as 1882 reported having 1.000 black residents out of 2 population of 1,693.

"The only community in the world which can be compared with Calvin is located in three townships of Mecosta County, of which Big Rapids is the county seat," Claspy writes.

"The colored farms are not adjacent to each other as in Calvin but, instead, spread out near the village of Remus and Mecosta in the eastern part of the county."

CASSOPOLIS, which serves as the shopping center and post office for the Calvin community, also has the schools where its young people get their education. Census figures listed Cassopolis with 395 Negroes in a population of 2,027. The school system, according to best integrated in the United

A keystone of this new outlook on the part of the older generation is its increasing financial security and independence.

Social Security has made a vast contribution through providing almost all older persons with a basic foundation of financial security upon which they can build an intelligent retirement program. Medicare has done much to remove many of the financial problems older persons face in maintaining their health.

Of prime importance has been a change in attitude on the part of insurance companies over the past few years in their dealings with older persons. Much of the credit for this goes to an organization called the Colonial Penn Insurance Company which pioneered insurance of all kinds for the aged and proved that it was possible for them to maintain adequate protection even in their later years.

The resulting independence has done a great deal to enhance the positive attitudes of persons who have reached retirement age or are anticipating

51 Students Win Regent Awards

Fifty-one Observerland students are among 1,009 Michigan high school seniors awarded Regents-Alumni scholarships by the University of Michigan.

The winners were selected by the Committee on University scholarships from about 2,-900 applicants representing some 500 state high schools.

Stipends vary according to the financial need of the winners, and range from honorary $50 entrance awards to $770 a year grants. Awards continue for the normal length of the student's degree program—if his academic record justifies renewal.

Observer area students who won scholarships this year are: Garden City -- Garden City High School, Virginia M. Kossick and Christine Reynolds; West High, Frederick J. Masters and Susan C. McCandless;

Livonia -- Bentley: Robert L. Arthurs, Jennie Mo, Wayne E. Paulson, Paul C. Roy, Dan M. Schreiber, Richard L. Thomas, Allan A. Vasaris and Carol S. Watson: Franklin: Donna A. Deman, David L. Goodwin, Robert A. Grant, Derek J. Kroes, Judith A. Lenart, Patricia R. Madigan, Thomas W. McClelland, Gary C. Oliver, Stephanie A. Olson, Christine M. Roberts and Michael A. Wittoff; Stevenson: Cheryl E. Bartz, Douglas K. Fairobent, Douglas H. Gregg, Dana E. Hillman, Dennis- A. Hunt, William T. Jetchick, John R. Kordosh, Jean A. Lawton, Paul M. Pender and Marguerite F. Northville -- Michael K. Conley and Diane M. Holdsworth;

Plymouth -- Alan J. Ferrari;
Wayne -- Rickey H. Hodder,
Helen J. Horst, Debra J. Mac-

Gregor and Patrick W. Zurlinden; Westland -- Glenn High: Dale

M. Barbu, Margaret A. Bliven, Linda A. Cook, Phyllis A. Mc-Clure, Darryl J. McLaughlin, Barbara J. Monson, Marilyn J. Wedenoja and Suzanne K. Williams. Each accredited high school is entitled to at least one of the scholarships if a qualified senior applies. The additional awards are granted at large on a basis of statewide comparison of applicants from the participating schools.

There are no restrictions on the number of applications, financial need and competitive test scores.

In evaluating the applications, emphasis is on character, citizenship, academic record, financial need and competitive test scores.

Hudson Joins PR Firm As VP

Sam Hudson has been named executive vice president and general manager of Frank Hedge, Inc., a Detroit public relations firm.

Hudson has been director of advertising and public relations at Evans Products Company's Transportation Equipment Group I as an account of Frank Hedge, Inc.

He replaces Richard J. Cattani, who has been appointed an editorial writer for The Christian Science Monitor in Boston.

BEFORE COMING to Michigan in 1952, Hudson held executive positions in public relations, advertising, and sales promotion in NewYork City with Saks Fifth Avenue, Allied Chemical and Dye Comapny, and the Western Electric Com-

During World War II he served in Europe with the 26th Infantry Division as an intelligence officer, retiring from the Army with rank of Captain in 1946. He and his wife, Jessie, who is head of the Art Department at Plymouth High School, reside in Plymouth Township. Their son, Bruce, is a graduate student at California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, California.

HUDSON, who holds a bachelor of commercial science degree from New York University and a master of arts degree from Easter Michigan University, is now working toward a PhD degree in literature at Wayne State University.

Hudson has been a member of the board of trustees of Schoolcraft Community College since 1964. He has been a president of the Plymouth Community Fund, chairman of the Plymouth Town Hall Committee, vice president of the Plymouth Symphony Society, and is a member of the board of directors of the local Junior Achievement organization.

Rich Days Ahead

WASHINGTON -- The future has never looked brighter for a small-but growing-number of professional technicians who specialize in running political

The business of campaign management, which began on a small scale in California a generation ago, has now become a national industry.

As the 1968 political season proceeds across the nation, candidates for every level of public office are beating a path to the doors of professional management firms. The candidates are looking for highpriced advice and counsel on how to come out on top when the ballots are counted in No-

THE RANGE OF campaign services available is extensive. For an appropriate fee, a prospective winner can purchase everything from limited advice on campaign organization to detailed blueprints covering every aspect of his effort.

One new management firm, which hasn't yet run a single campaign, says it can provide everything from the candidate's first announcement to his postelection victory party.

Although all professionals are dedicated to winning elections for their clients, their tactics--and their ethical standards -- vary considerably.

One campaign veteran admitted that "it's a real funny business, and it badly needs professionalism." So far, no professional organization has been set up to police the industry or to set standards of professional ethics.

THE APPLICATION OF public relations and advertising techniques to politics got started in the 1930s in California. The San Francisco firm of Whitaker and Baxter was a pioneer in the field, and it still is active

California was a fertile field for the new breed of professionals, because of the lack of strong party organizations and the immigration of thousands of transplanted Midwesterners who were uprooted during the depression.

The new Californians had no fixed political allegiances and were prime targets for the advertising appeals of Whitaker and Baxter. The first major political figure to benefit from Whitaker and Baxter's techniques was Earl Warren, who served as California governor from 1943 to 1953, when he was appointed Chief Justice by President Eisenhower.

In recent years, the professional managers have concentrated on adapting data processing techniques to politics. Supplied with thousands of bits of information about who the voters are, where they live and what they are thinking about, computers calculate voter profiles, precinct analyses and upto-the-minute projections based on the mood of the electorate.

Armed with this information, the professional consultants shape the campaign strategy for their political clients.

DEPENDING ON a candidate's needs--and his ability to raise up to $25,000 in fees for a major statewide race-the professionals provide all or part of the following services: advertising campaigns, public relations and press services, research on issues, fundraising solicitations, public opinion polls, technical help on radio and television production, campaign budgeting assistance, data processing anallysis and traditional precinct o.rganization work.

Another important service is old-fashioned moral support, or, as one expert puts it, "a shoulder for the candidate to cry on when things don't look so good."

No one organization offers all these aids, but the tendency is growing to prepare a "package" of services for prospective clients. One veteran organizer said he hated to see the benefits of "a damn good job of precinct organization" get "loused up by somebody else's advertising campaign" on behalf of the same candidate.

FROM THE VIEWPOINT of professional manager, the ideal candidate is an attractive young politician with a "fresh faces who has accumulated no political "record" with possible liabilities. And in fact, most of the clients today are making their first race for public office.

U-M Makes Sesqui Films Available

Major events and distinguished campus visitors in The University of Michigan's Sesquicentennial year are highlighted in the annual U-M newsreel, which has just been released.

The half-hour color motion picture covers the calendar year 1967, when the University was marking its 150th birthday.

The newsreel opens with the "Sesqui Rock" number from the 1967 Musket show, and concludes with excerpts from Robben W. Fleming's first news conference as U-M president.

AMONG SESQUICENTENNL AL guests in the film are Playwright Arthur Miller, United Nations Secretary General U Thant, football star Tom Harmon, Congressman Gerald Ford, Conductor-Composer Leonard Bernstein, Chrysler Board Chairman Lynn Townsend, Saturday Review Editor Norman Cousins, Psychologist Jean Piaget, Sociologist Gunnar Myrdal, and Physicist Harold Urey.

This year's newsreel was produced under the direction of Alfred H. Slote, assistant director of the U-M Television Center.

Knowing the right answer to this question can be a big help in our lives.

It can tell us where the good in our experience comes from, and show us the source of those spiritual qualities that will make us better, freer, and happier men and women.

In this free public lecture, Herbert E. Rieke, C.S.B., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, explores the nature of God as the primal cause and creator of the universe, and tells how we may discover the good that God is continually providing for men. Everyone is welcome.

Faculty Recruiting Drawn-Out Procedure

Recruiting of faculty members is a continuous process which goes on throughout the year, according to Richard E. Sullivan, chairman of the Department of History at Michigan State University.

He does not work alone, but seeks the advice of all his faculty and six on a "positions committee," which works closely with him.

THE LIST of likely recruits is drawn up in the fall. It includes people "who have achieved some kind of standing in the field of history. At the same time we write to graduate schools asking them if they have any new students in these fields."

A dossier is compiled on each prospect.

The positions committee then goes over the dossiers very carefully, Sullivan says, and reject some because their records don't appear very promis-

In the face of Britian's planned military withdrawal by the end of 1971, the seven Trucial States, plus Bahrain and Qatar, have agreed to coordinate their defense, foreign policy, and economic affairs.

The nine territories vary greatly in the kind and amount of contributions they offer such a union, the sizable oil wealth of three of them, and the prosperity from gold traffic in another, are bound to play an important part.

School Physics InTrouble

WASHINGTON -- "You can't be literate and educated in this time and place unless you understand some physics," says Dr. F. James Rutherford, executive director of a project to reform high school physics teaching.

If he is right, America is turning out a lot of illiterate graduates, Half of American high school graduates do not go to college; if they are to understand anything of physics, they must do so in high school.

But high school physics today is in serious trouble. There is a desperate lack of well-prepared teachers.

Two-thirds of all high school physics courses are taught by teachers with fewer than 18 semester-hours of physics in their background-a far worse score than any other high school science. (For biology the figure is 21 per cent; chemistry, 34 per cent; math, 23 per cent,)

THINGS MAY GET worse before they get better. In 1966 only 505 college seniors were expected to graduate certified to teach high school physics; 336 of these were expected actually to do it.

The estimated demand for beginning physics teachers in the same year was 572.

The figures include only people who spend more than half their time teaching physics. Including all those who have to teach some physics can raise the estimate as high as 1,700 new teachers for whom some knowledge of physics was necessary.

In spite of the need the intending high school teacher is too often the forgotten man in college physics departments. University physics departments are traditionally led by people with strong interest in research.

THE BACHELOR'S degree programs have been conceived as entries to graduate school-and the ultimate production of a new generation of researchers.

A survey by a panel of the Commission on College Physics discloses that high-prestige departments rarely have programs to prepare high school teachers. Typically these departments graduate two or three teachers every five years.

Thus the heaviest burden of teacher preparation falls upon the teachers colleges -- the reverse of the situation in other sciences where a majority of teachers come from university or liberal arts college depart-

The commission, which was established in 1964 by the National Academy of Sciences to survey possible reforms in college physics, wants to change the situation.

It would have university physics departments take the same role in physics teacher preparation as their counterparts do in other science.

SOME MAY argue that the preparation of teachers is best left to teachers' colleges; university departments have many, many other justifications for their existence. But, the commission points out, the teachers' colleges cannot produce in sufficient numbers.

A new university curriculum designed for physics teachers should be instituted, the commission feels, and it is now trying to find a university that will set up a pilot program. It would have to be an institution large enough to maintain a sequence of courses entirely separate from the researchoriented bachelors degree.

The commission does not believe that joint classes between future teachers and future research physicists would be beneficial; the nature of their needs is too different.

What the prospective teachers would get is a course including large doses of history and philosophy of physics and its place in modern society--topics seldom if ever found in the traditional physics major cur-

The lawn experts at Oregon Fine Leaf Fescue Commission emphasize that you should never put fertilizer on the surface of a new seeding. The fertilizer should be raked smooth before topsoil and seed are placed over

'Must Enforce Housing Law,' Says Weaver

ANN ARBOR -- The federal It is the dream of today, the dream of busy streets, the open housing law enacted this dream of an unfenced society. month "has made many actions It is the dream of the city possible, but has made nothing which offers excitement for all inevitable," Robert Weaver told and participation for all. That some 5,200 graduates and their will be the realization of the families at the University of Michigan Saturday. promise of America in an urban environment.

President Johnson's Secretary of Housing and Urban Development called the act an important first step. But he

"IT MUST BE vigorously enforced. It demands-now more than ever-that community leaders and concerned citizens prepare a climate in which the spirit of open housing can be carried out without resort to penalties and punishment.

"But perhaps most of all, this legislation signals the need--now more than ever before--for the nation to turn its attention toward making certain that there is enough good, decent housing for all who need it at prices they can afford to pay."

Weaver received an honorary degree from the university, along with William H. Stewart, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service; Eduardo Mallea, Argentine writer; Frederick Burkhardt, president of the American Council of Learned Societies, and John T. Edsall, Harvard biochemist.

IN ADDRESSING the Class of 1968 in U-M's new 14,000seat Events Building, Weaver ticked off "a new and impressive list of intolerables:"

-- Severe joblessness, inadequate schools, barely habitable housing for millions of people.

-- "Neighborhoods in which there is so little hope for 2 good life that many feel no compulsion to protect lives and property, even their own.

-- "Communities in which there is too little transportation, too little clean air, too little in recreational facilities, and too much lawlessness."

TODAY'S GRADUATES are being called upon to correct these conditions, Weaver said, and "others that are even more deeply rooted." He pointed to the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King:

"Only a few weeks ago, the man who symbolized the effort to accomplish change without violence was shot down. His death, no less than his life, symbolized the deeper changes

"We know the slayer, whether or not he was alone in his actions, was not alone in his feelings

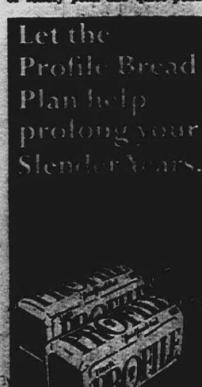

"We know that those who committed acts of pillage and plunder, while they may have been relatively few in their own communities, were not alone in their frustration and rage. And their violence-deplorably--did not evoke a widespred effort even to protect their own communities. For many who reside therein do not identify with this society.

"These are deeper tragedies, and deeper conditions that must be changed."

WEAVER TOLD the graduates that they, "like it or not, will be the generation of city builders and rebuilders.

"Yours will be the major responsibility for bringing into the mainstream of an urban America those who for hundreds of years have been subjected to discrimination and deprivation."

The secretary called for "2 fresh look at the American dream. It is not some pastoral dream of long ago, some dream of lonely peak and quiet pond.

Tips On What To Do With Insurance Dividends

If you own several life insurance policies one or more of them probably pay you dividends each year.

This actually represents an overpayment of premium which is refunded to you after the insurance company calculates the cost of running its business in relation to the premiums it takes in. As a result, the dividend is not taxable to you as most dividends are since it represents a return of your own money.

THE BIG QUESTION is what to do with such dividends.

The first choice is to use the dividend to reduce the amount of your premium. If you have adequate insurance best route. take the dividend in cash and put it to any use you want. leave on deposit.

THIRD CHOICE would be to let the dividends accumulate A variation on this is to and have the insurance company pay interest on the money you

Color should be selected with a view to a room's use and the taste of the users. It should be compatible with textures and patterns of surfacing materials used in the room, blend with furnishings and enhance the total style of the home. Success-

> ANOTHER OPTION is to buy additional paid-up life insurance with the dividends. This insurance can usually be bought at pure cost with no overhead or loading charge. Therefore it can be bought cheaper than insurance purchased the regular way.

GENERALLY SPEAKING, the amount of paid-up insurance you can buy is about double the amount of the reinvested dividend. In other words, if you get a dividend of $120. it can probably buy $240 of paid-up life insurance. Of course, the paid-up unit also has additional cash value in case you use it in the future.

One advantage of using your dividends this way is you can increase your insurance coverage even though you might be uninsurable for medical reasons and unable to buy insurance the regular way.

SOME COMPANIES offer 2 fifth dividend option. What this does is permit you to use all or part of your dividend to buy one-year term insurance equal to the cash value of your

Directory Lists State Products

ANN ARBOR -- Michigan's importance in international business is made clear in the new Michigan International Business Directory, 1967-68, published by The University of Michigan's Graduate School of Business Administration.

The 290-page directory lists more than 225 products manufactured or distributed by Michigan firms, and offers detailed information about some 2,000 companies--all in five languages.

Whether a prospective importer speaks English, French, German, Japanese, or Spanish makes no difference. The directory provides in each language an alphabetized index of products.

It also includes goods classification categories in each of the languages, and concludes with a detail listing of each Michigan firm, plus a listing of special service agencies from banks to port authorities.

THE DIRECTORY also offers some facts about Michigan which help explain the state's increasing importance in world trade. With territory roughly equal in size to Czechoslovakia or Greece, and with its eight million population about equal to Sweden, Michigan is not only the automobile capital of the world but maintains a diversified economy.

The state is particularly important in the production of metalworking machinery, conveyers, industrial patterns and molds, metal stampings, wirework, cereal preparations, building fixtures, industrial belting, and athletic goods.

Mining and agricultural activities remain substantial. From the earth Michigan draws magnesium, peat, salt, gypsum, bromine, sand, gravel, iron ore, copper, and portland cement. Their value in 1962 was estimated at $600 million.

Agricultural products the same year were valued at $750 million, After dairy products, major crops are wheat, dry edible beans, sugar beets, fruits, and corn. Michigan produces about one third of the nation's dry beans and cher-

MICHIGAN and its four neighboring states--Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and Wisconsin --have a population of over 38 million, all within easy access of Michigan's 24 deepwater har-

Linked by good roads and air service to adjacent areas, Michigan is strategically located to serve markets in Canada, which borders the state, and to many points in Europe. Many European points are actually closer by water to Michigan than they are to New York and Baltimore.

Michigan's growing role in international trade is exemplified in one surprising statistic. In 1965 the Detroit customs district ranked second in receipts for all U.S. ports engaging in foreign trade (New York was first).

With the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, Michigan's water transportation became a vital link between the industry of the central United States and the rest of the world. Tonnage passing through Michigan's Sault Canal or the Detroit River is more than that which passes through the Suezand Panama Canals combined.

The Michigan International Business Directory is based on an extensive survey of Michigan business conducted by the staff of the Institute for International Commerce. Part of the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration, the institute was established in 1966 under authorization of the Michigan State Legislature.

Psychology Role In Asthma

Striking evidence that perhaps half of all asthmatics are reacting to psychological factors rather than pollen or dust when they have attacks has been presented by a Brooklyn medical team.

The study showed that in a large percentage of cases the patient's state of mind is more important than even the effect of one of the most commonly used asthma drugs.

It showed also that an ordinary salt spray could either cause or relieve asthma attacks in these patients, depending on what the patient was told to

A MEDICAL STUDENT conducted the study on 40 long-term

The patients, all volunteers, were told they were being given inhalations of dust, pollen or animal dander which would bring on an attack.

IT STARTED WITH A WOMAN

While fishing is usually thought of as a man's sport, the first fishing expert was really a woman.

A printing of a bit of outdoor writing penned on parchment around fourteen twenty-five has been credited to a sweet little English nun named Dame Juliana Berners.

Juliana was born of a royal family in England and did some fishing and hunting as a girl with some of her sporting cousins and friends. Later on, she entered a nunnery at St. Albans and wrote the first known works on fishing.

Juliana wasn't any slouch concerning the art of angling, say the fishing experts at Mercury outboards. For instance, here's how she recommends making a fishing rod.

First you cut a smooth sixfoot staff of willow or aspen. Heat it in an oven, get it good and straight, and let it dry for four weeks. The next trick is to get a piece of plumber's wire, heat it red hot, and burn a hole clear through the staff. Then store it in a smokehouse

Now you take a stroll in the woods and cut a slender slip of hazel the same length. Soak it thoroughly, straighten it out, and let it dry in the smokehouse too. The next step is to trim the hazel whip so it can be inserted into the butt section. Now, fashion a metal pin to hold the two together, and you have a two section fishing

Juliana advocates such a two section rod because it forms a good walking staff for a Sunday afternoon stroll, and can easily be transformed into a fishing rod if you happen by a good fishing hole.

For a line, Juliana advocates the long horsehairs woven together and colored with a mixture of ale, crushed walnut leaves and alum. Such a line, she says, blends with the water and fools the fish more readily.

In her tips for anglers she recommends not casting a shadow on the water, fishing below waterfalls or in deep pools, fishing when the wind is west and using a wire leader either out of the south or the when fishing for pike.

She makes one more recommendation which is just as true today as it was five hundred and forty-three years ago. Choose your bait with care, she says, "for you cannot bring a hook into a fish's mouth unless there is food on it that pleases him."

Fishing wasn't and isn't the exclusive male sport that some people think it is.

not duplicate.

Stokes and Hatcher are the only Negro chief executives of major metropolitan areas in the United States and what they were able to do following the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King has far reaching significance.

FOR ONE THING, their success is a somewhat hopeful sign that Negroes in the impoverished ghettos of northern cities continue to have a substantial amount of faith in the possibility of progress within the existing political structure.

Further, their achievement strongly suggests that many white leaders now simply do not know the vocabulary and the symbolic gestures necessary for bona fide communication with increasingly skeptical ghettos.

Area Residents Promoted By Diesel Plant

Increased engineering and research activity at Detroit Diesel Engine Division of General Motors Corporation has necessitated an expanded organization for the division's engineering department. Accordingly, Kenneth L. Hulsing of Plymouth, director of engineering, has announced four major promotions.

Albert H. Bell III has been promoted to the position of chief gas turbine engineer. Bell joined Detroit Diesel in 1964 after 17 years with Chrysler Corporation. His original assignment at Detroit Diesel was staff engineer - gas turbine. He earned his Bachelors and Masters degrees at the University of Michigan and served with the U.S. Navy in World War II and attained the rank of Lieutenant J.G. He is a member of The Society of Automotive Engineers and has given several technical papers to SAE and American Society of Mechanical Engineers groups.

V.C. Reddy has been promoted to the position of chief test and development engineer. Reddy joined General Motors in 1935 after eaning his Bachelors and Masters degrees in mechanical engineering at Iowa State University.

He came to Detroit Diesel in 1938 where he has held various supervisory positions including chief project engineer and director of development.

Reddy served with the U.S. Navy in World War II. He and his wife Barrdy reside at 19938 Shadyside in Livonia, They have two sons, John and Patrick.

Vernon Schafer, Jr., has been promoted to the position of chief product design engineer. Schafer obtained his Bachelor's degree in electrical engineering at the University of Michigan and his Masters degree in mechanical engineering from Case School of Applied Science in 1939.

Later that year he joined Detroit Diesel as an experimental engineer. Since that time he has worked in various other capacities in the engineering department, his most recent position being that of staff engineer - product design.

Schafer and wife Nancy reside at 32218 Hearthstone in Farmington. They have two children, Tim and Susan.

Thomas E. Taylor has been promoted to the position of chief administration engineer. Taylor earned his degree at Detroit Institute of Technology in 1935. He joined Detroit Diesel in 1942 in the specifications department.

Since then he has held various supervisory positions, the most recent being staff engineer - administration. He has played a large part in the development of Detroit Diesel's use of numerical controlled machine tools and has spearheaded the division's computer utilization.

Taylor and his wife Evelyn reside at 27672 Echo Valley in Farmington. They have two sons, Robert and John,

The physician said it continually amazes him that the majority of the 94 million people in the U.S. wearing glasses are not concerned over whether they own protective eyewear.

"Hopefully through the Guild Optician's year-round Protective Eyewear Program, the public, as well as all ophthalmologists, optometrists, opticians and eye glass manufacturers can be made aware of the importance of protecting one's eyes through wearing protective eyewear."

Dr. Kenney pointed out that at his own institution, every lens dispensed is a protective lens - even if the person only uses his glasses to read the Sunday newspaper. "Little do these people realize that in case of a fall, car accident, or an accidental blow, protective glasses may play the role of protective shields."

The doctor said that protective eyewear is a "must" for all children wearing glasses.

IN CLEVELAND, militant civil rights activist Baxter Hill emerged from a meeting with Stokes the day after Dr. King's death and announced that Negroes there had no reason to riot.

"People here have hope. Through this man (Stokes), we can make it," he said.

The second reason Stokes and Hatcher succeeded where many white mayors failed is that they spoke the language of the people with whom they needed to communicate. When a lullaby for "the brothers" was required, they knew the words and the tune.

The possibility that Dr. King's death would ignite urban ghettos was instantly recognized by virtually every U.S. leader, but Stokes and Hatcher were able to make uniquely direct appeals for peace.

THE NEWS overtook Stokes during a speech in suburban Berea, Ohio. He set out immediately for the studios of Cleveland's three major tele- . vision stations. At each he streets until about 3 a.m. every video -taped the same plea; night for a week.

Honor Dr. King's death in the peaceful manner of his life. Use his death to increase the thrust of progress towards social justice. "To do anything else would be to make a mockery of all he did in his life," Stokes said.

Later, he and his driver toured ghetto streets until 3 a.m. wherever he found knots of people on the sidewalks, Stokes would get out and deliver his appeal personally.

He made similar trips throughout the tense weekend, declining President Johnson's invitation to the special White House conference because "the imperatives were that I be

* * * IN GARY, Hatcher followed an almost identical course. A "rumor line" for handling citizens' alarmed telephone calls was quickly set up and the special number publicized.

The human relations commission office in the heart of the ghetto was kept open longer hours and its staff was augmented by city hall volunteers. The municipal building remained open until 3 or 4 a.m. during the period of tension.

A large number of public and private citizens, including members of Gary's newly crowned state championship basketball team, were sent into the streets to pacify crowds. Hatcher, himself, walked the

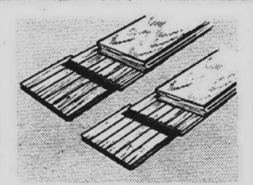

COUNCILMAN RAISES ROOF OVER BUILDING COSTS - Councilman Jerry Raymond (above, with his wife, Rosina, in front of their home at 15906 Oak Dr., Livonia) has raised the question of why a proposed senior citizen activities building, with a budget of $150,000 and just two and a half times larger than his own home, should cost $196,428. The building contains 7,500 square feet compared to the Raymond's home of 2,600 square feet for which they paid $12,500 and another $9,000 in alterations. Fellow councilmen agreed with Raymond and will continue discussion on it at their Monday night study session. The Council was especially perturbed that they had never seen the plans of the senior citizen project and that a letter containing the $196,428 bid reached them only minutes before they were asked to vote final approval on it. The letter had reposed in Mayor Harvey Moelke's office for over a month.

Medical, Hospital Costs Soar To Record Hig

WASHINGTON -- Medical providing no incentive for hos- the HEW Department to supcosts are sparing.

Hospital prices across the nation went up 22 per cent in 1967, Doctors' fees rose 6.1 per cent.

By contrast, the Consumer Price Index shows a general Services Research and Decost-of-living increase in 1967 of only 3.3 per cent.

Rising prices mean bigger bills for the government as well as for individuals. In fact, the government now pays for one-third of all the days of patient care in general hospitals under the medicare and medicaid programs.

Government expenditures under these two programs--one for the elderly, the other for the needy-were expected to top $6 billion this year.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS and administration officials are becoming increasingly con-

A Senate subcommittee under Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., plans an investigation of rising medical costs and what can be done about them beginning the end of April.

President Johnson, in his State of the Union message, promised he would take steps to "stem the rising costs of medical care."

The American Hospital Association anticipates a 15 per cent increase in hospital charges in 1968 and for the next several years.

A MAJOR FACTOR pushing up these costs is higher wages. Hospital workers, who traditionally have been low paid and low skilled, were brought under the minimum wage law for the first time in 1967.

Major nurses' strikes across the country resulted in big pay raises for nurses and in turn tended to pull up wages of other hospital employes.

New, specialized equipment and higher standards of care are also raising hospital prices. And private health insurance, which usually covers only hospital expenses, encourages many patients to use hospitals although the care they need could be provided much less expensively in nursing homes, outpatient clinics and doctors' offices.

boosting hospital costs is that there are no real economic incentives for hospitals to reduce costs. They are not in a competitive business, and a person who is sick has no choice but to pay what they

The year that Medicare went into effect, 1966, doctors' fees went up 7.8 per cent. Many physicians who had formerly charged elderly patients less than their usual fee started charging the full rate since the government was paying for it. The 1966 rise was more than twice as great as in 1965. In addition, doctors were responding to the generally higher cost of living.

Drug prices have been going up too, although not as fast as many medical costs. The cost of drugs went up 2.4 per cent in 1966. Government officials consider that many of the brandname drugs are overpriced, and costs could be reduced.

THE MAIN THRUST of the President's proposals would be to change the way the government reimburses hospitals and doctors for Medicare and Medicaid patients.

The President asked the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) to begin experimenting with new ways of reimbursing doctors, hospitals and other medical care institutions in a way that would provide incentives for reducing Administration officials have suggested that hospitals should be allowed to share any savings in cost with the government. Under existing law, which limits reimbursement to actual costs, all savings must be pas-public's dissatisfaction with the accessibility, convenience, and cost of physician services is a paradox of success, says a University of Michigan medical educator.

Demand For Physician Services May Force U.S. To Act

"It is so because the quality and value of physician services have improved to the point that the public demand for them exceeds the supply, Dean William N. Hubbard Jr. of the U-M Medical School asserted.

DR. HUBBARD, past-president of the Association of American Medical Colleges, described trends in medical education at the 30th annual assembly of the American Academy of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation here.

ANN ARBOR -- Parts of the omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets bill now before the U.S. Senate are a "perversion of the legislative process' and "subversive of law," University of Michigan Prof. Yale Kamisar has asserted.

In a Law Day address before the Washtenaw County Bar Association here, Kamisar attacked Title II of the bill recently approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee, Floor debate is scheduled shortly.

KAMISAR SAID the section

-- Effect a legislative "repeal" of recent Supreme Court decisions such as the Escobedo and Miranda confession rulings. --Strip the Supreme Court of the power to review any state court's decision admitting a confession into evidence. -- Remove federal habeas corpus jurisdiction from all state criminal convictions. The way to overturn the court's thinking on the Constitution is by constitutional amendment, not a statute, Kamisar said. "To solemnly pass Title II into law, in order to try to intimidate the court or to register unhappiness or wishful thinking, seems to be nothing less than a perversion of the legislative process." The bill would resuscitate the "elusive, unruly, uncertain" test of "voluntariness" for admissibility of confessions, the professor said. What is worse is that it "purports sion was 'voluntarily made.' "

Kamisar reminded the country's lawyers of cases where only the Supreme Court had blocked convictions based on confessions extracted by whippings, 36-hour relay questioning, and stripping of prisoners.

Alabama court ruled a confession "voluntarily made" when the defendant 'lay wounded in a prison hospital, still in a kind of slumber from his last morphine injection, feverish and in intense pain. He had earlier been ordered at gunpoint to speak his guilt or be killed." Kamisar concluded:

"Today, leaders of the Congress and the bench and bar will undoubtedly point with pride to our 'accusatorial, adversary system,' of which the right to counsel and the privilege against self-incrimination are dominant features.

"In the next few days, how many of the very men who praised our Bill of Rights today shall vote for, or remain silent, when the proposal is made to deprive the Supreme Court of the power to declare these rights infringed?

'Many speakers across the land are condemning 'civil disobedience' and 'mobbism,' which subvert the basis upon which our law rests. We as lawyers know best of all, however, that Title II is subver-

Mental Illness Costly To Business

New York (NAPS) -- It's ficiency and apathy. easy to see how a broken leg keeps a man off the job, but often less revealing symptoms of mental illness can add up to a much greater loss for the company. Current figures peg obsenteeism due to mental illness at a staggering $12 billion ' year!

And, this does not take into account the losses incurred by the company when a mentally ill worker is present -- for there are no established figures on disruption, slow-down, inef-

walk on LEFT FACE traffic

"KEEP RIGHT both day and night and you'll cut down your chances of being wrong," is the advice given by the Automobile Club of Michigan to all pedestrians in the state. "If you must walk on a highway, always walk on the left facing traffic since this allows you to cautiously observe the flow of oncoming traffic." To bring this message to Michigan youngsters, 17,000 copies of this award winning poster are being distributed to schools throughout Mich-

Kent Lake Livery Open

The boat rental building at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford is now open for the 1968 season.

More than 110 aluminum boats are available for rent, with a $5 deposit, at 75 cents per hour, and $1 minimum charge. Maximum charges are $2.50 weekdays and $4.50 on Sundays and holidays.

Persons may supply their own motors, limited to 7 1/2 horsepower, for use on rented boats. Safety cushions are available for rent.

The park does not rent outboard motors, nor does it supply fishing tackle, bait or gasoline.

BOATING facilities at the 4,300 -acre park include two launching ramps and an overnight campsite on Canoe Island for canoeists. Persons must furnish their own canoes or rent them from liveries in Milgord, Island Lake State Recre-

Sation Area or Ann Arbor. There is no charge for boat daunching, which is open daily at two ramps from sunrise to 10 p.m. at 1,200-acre Kent Lake in the park, which is one of the most popular fishing sites in southeastern Michigan.

No water skiing is permitted on Kent Lake, and there is a 10 mile per hour speed limit. The new state regulations concerning motorboat operators under 16-years of age must be on Kent Lake, and there is a omplied with.

BOATERS are required to bbtain a boat launching permit, issued without charge and good for the 1968 season, prior to launching their craft. These are available at the park office.

Trailers, cars and boats are not permitted to remain in Kensington Park overnight, except for boats in slip rental spaces. The Michigan State Conservation Department fishing rules and regulations for inland lakes and streams apply to Kent Lake.

Schoolcraft Gets $42,772 Federal Grant

Schoolcraft College has received a grant of $42,772 from the U.S. Office of Education to fund the college's workstudy program from July 1 through December 31, it has been announced by President Dr. Eric J. Bradner.

The program, authorized by the Higher Education Act of 1965, provides financial assistance to qualified students through campus employment to a maximum of 15 hours per week. The Work-Study Program is one of several federally supported student aid programs in which Schoolcraft participates inito provide assistance to students who otherwise would have difficulty in financing a college education.

FREQUENTLY, a disgruntled worker will "take off." It may be because he has justifiable gripes and no access to the people who can correct them, or a pressing personal problem that aggravates small irritations on the job. The skillful executive can deal with this.

As Dr. Harry Walker Hepner has suggested in his book "Psychology Applied to Life and Work," if the executive ". . . . discovers a bothersome problem, notes the kind of evasive adjustment being made, and then instills confidence in the employee by showing him possible direct-attack methods the employee's behavior is likely to improve."

Often, however, the executive must acknowledge that the "trouble-spot" is a worker who is seriously ill. One alternative is to fire the man, and begin the time-consuming and expensive process of rehiring and retraining another, hopefully more stable, worker.

BUT, TO CUT LOSSES in this way is not always the most effective or economical way to handle the problem. Many times, sympathetic talks, referral to outside help, or just understanding "what's at work" can save an employee. While this alternative also "costs" industry--it is an investment that can pay off, rather than constitute a loss.

Sometimes, the management executive who understands the situation but must intervene in the company's interest is caught between the devil and the deep blue sea. Positioned as he is, his decisions will have a significant impact on the morale and emotional climate of the company as well as a direct effect on an individual.

fessional as well as personal. He has a tough job on his hands requiring that he make difficult psychological calculations that can push him out on a lonely

To help with this special problem, a non-profit center for professional education, research and treatment of mental illness, has developed a seminar designed to improve the psychoanalytic frame of mind applicable to the daily activities of executives.

THE SEMINAR, held at Anclote Manor Foundation in Tarpon Springs, Fla., stresses the personal side of business, and the executive is expected to focus on such problems as employee morale, motivation, job conflicts and identity with the

Then, just to turn the tables, the seminar includes a session on the emotional problems of the executive.

The four-day seminar being held November 4 to 8, is called, Men, Management and Motivation and attendance is limited to corporate officers or officials of government and educational institutions with authority comparable to that of corporate

Pacesetters Plan Dance May 10

The Pacesetters, a new bachelor club, will hold a charity dance at 9:30 p.m. Friday, May 10, in the Sheraton Motor Inn. East 8 Mile and Groesbeck. Proceeds will go to the charity favored by the most ticket purchasers, with the winner announced during the dance.

Traffic Lights Apply To Pedestrians

This may come as a surprise to some people, but pedestrians are governed by the same laws as motorists at fully signalized intersections, the State Highway Commission

Pedestrian lights, installed for the benefit of pedestrians, have the same authority as raffic lights for motorists

The "walk" light means that can lawfully cross the street. The "don't walk" light means that if you haven't started to cross, you cannot do so

If the light changes from "walk" to "don't walk" when you are part way across, you can continue, secure in the knowledge that enough time remains to reach the opposite curb before opposing traffic receives the right of way.

1224, Tarpon Springs, Fla.

By the use of psychoanalytical tools, an executive can increase his effectiveness in the management of himself and others, learn to understand motivation and sharpen his communication skills.

Thus "applied psychology" meets an industrial challenge and the result is mobilization of people toward the accomplishment of organizational goals -- no minor cost-cutting operation!

Dr. Robert R. Johnson has been elected vice president - engineering of Burroughs Corporation by the company's board of directors. CARE DACKAGES FOR MOM (MOTHER'S DAY IS MAY 12)

WONDERLAND CENTER STORE PLYMOUTH ROAD at MIDDLEBELT

Mary Williams held her last job 24 years that's her problem

Mary has a heart full of memories and an empty home. She's only 44. She's healthy, intelligent and willing.

Mary wants a new job. But ironically, 24 years of success has spoiled Mary, at least in the labor market. She's finding out the hard way that she's decades behind in terms of modern business skills.

The YWCA's "Project Self-Start" helps women like Mary catch up. We conduct classes in such areas as business machines, apartment management, civil service exams, retailing, etc. We help Mary brush up on arithmetic, English, interviewing, even personal grooming. How's it working? Almost too well. In less than a year, "Self-Start" has helped more than 1,200 women find their way to a productive new life. And this has helped emplayers, too. But to keep handling the demand, our facilities must be expanded. We sorely need your contribution.

Today, Mary Williams is an unemployed mother. Soon, with the help you give us, she'll take her ability and ambition back into the business world. WHAT'S THE YWCA COMING TO? TO YOU!

Trotter Talk From Wolverine

game and Ted Taylor likes the feeling whether its at Wolverine or faraway Washington Park in Chicago.

Taylor had the brilliant fouryear-old trotter Sonny Fortune staked in a $25,000 trot at Chicago the other night and couldn't help it one bit if the Windy City fans wouldn't believe things which had been going on at Wolverine.

Sonny Fortune, despite two sharp victories in Detroit, west postward at 24-1 and came home a winner in a brilliant 2:01 3/5. The Lloyd Spencer trotter from Northville beat such fine competition as Dazzling Speed, Flamboyant and Halifax Hanover. Halifax was just purchased last week by an Eastern syndicate for $125,000.

Sonny Fortune is back at Wolverine and looking for competition. "We plan on keeping the horse here but may ship him out for important stakes." Taylor said.

OUT OF THE FEEDBAG: Jean Dilworth, who will start her driving career on the county fair circuit this summer, is hopeful her husband, Duane, will get her a trotter to drive and train. . . "Maybe you can trade one of our pacers for a trotter," she pleaded in the paddock the other night.

Dilworth, the Adrian reinsman, has 13 head at Wolverine and four more down at Adrian which Jean handles for him. . . The Dilworths are proud of their 18-year-old son, Gary, who is making quite a name for himself in music as a trumpet player and vocalist. . . Gary toured Europe last summer with Michigan Youth International and will enter Heidelberg College this fall.

Road Work Underway

Work has started on four highway construction and improvement projects totaling nearly $1.9 million in Branch, Eaton, Newaygo and Wayne counties, the State Highway Commission reports.

The projects, cost and scheduled completion dates are: - 1.4 miles of paving on the

I-96 Spur between I-94 and Trumble Ave., Detroit, $204,-258, November.

- 2.5 miles of grading, drainage structures and surfacing on Jonesville Rd. south of Butler in Branch County, $70,886, November.

- One-third of a mile of widening and paving on M-78 between the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing and M-50 in Charlotte, $77,091, October.

- Seven miles of construction, including one bridge, on M-20 between M-82 in Hesperia and Croswell Ave., and nearly a mile of grading and paving on M-37 north of White Cloud, Newaygo County, $1.4 million, October, 1969.

TIM ZIMMERMAN, 11 of 34491 W. Six Mile Road, Livonia, is pictured here with the 24 pound Dolphin he entered in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament. He fished with Capt. Nemire on the Seacomber out of the Castaway Docks in North Miami Beach.

TRIPLE DEAD HEAT? It appears as if Wolverine Raceway h one of harness racing's rarest finishes in this picture. But Track Photogram pher John Gaffield, of Plymouth, was a few feet short of the finish line when he snapped the shot. Actually the judges looked long and carefully before giving the decision to Skipper Review (5).

Oakland Hills To Add 18 Holes To Its Layout

Oakland Hills Country Club, one of the prestigious golf courses in the United States, is doubling in size and mirroring its championship appearance.

Before the 1969 golf season is completed, members and guests at Oakland Hills will have their choice of playing either the north or south course at the Birmingham location, each a 7,000 yard-plus championship layout styled by master architect Robert Trent Jones.

By an overwhelming decision of its membership, work will begin shortly by the Jones' crew to change the entire layout of North Hills to become a north course of Oakland Hills.

The new north course and the present Oakland Hills' layout which will become the south course will be bridged across Maple Road.

WORK WILL BEGIN shortly on the back holes of the north course with nine holes expected to be ready by spring of 1969 and the other nine by mid-summer next year.

The face of the north course will be entirely new but much in the same style of present Oakland Hills, which was also designed by Trent Jones.

"This won't be just another 18 holes for surplus play,"

Vandals Take I-96 Signs

Tampering with highway signs is dangerous because loss of human life may result, the Michigan State Highway Commission warns.

There have been several instances recently where "wrong way" signs on the off ramps of I-96 have been removed. The signs are intended to guide and protect motorists, and persons who change, remove or damage them are endangering lives and property, the commission points out. If you see anyone tampering with a highway sign, report the incident to police right away. You may act in time to

NASA Eye Peers For Tornadoes

WASHINGTON -- A friendly eye high above the Equator is watching for the violent and freakish storms that caused so much damage in 1967 and the early spring of 1968.

Potential tornadoes are photographed every 15 minutes during daylight hours by a camera aboard National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Applications Technology Satellite III. Scientists will prepare movies from the photographs to see if the storms can be identified in advance by the motion of characteristic cloud patterns.

Weathermen still cannot predict exactly when or where a deadly cone of wind will burst from the clouds and scythe across the countryside, the National Geographic Society says. In 1967, 906 tornadoes raked the United States, killing 116 and causing millions of dollars in damage.

But the chance that a specific location will be struck by a tornado in any one year is quite small. For example, the probability of a twister striking a community even in areas prone to the storms is about once in 250 years.

THERE HAVE been disastrous exceptions, Oklahoma City has weathered 26 tornadoes since 1892, Baldwyn, Miss., was surprised twice within 25 minutes in March 1942. Twisters hit Codell, Kan., on May 20 in 1916, 1917 and 1918.

Tornadoes may occur in any month, but they strike most frequently in April, May and June. Certain conditions appear indispensable: moist, warm air at low levels and cool, dry air at higher levels; a southerly wind at the surface and a strong overriding wind from a different direction.

Suddenly, from the midst of a thundercloud, a dark funnel lashes out with a twisting elephant's trunk of whirling air that speeds across the ground, sucking up almost anything in its path. The average tornado meanders only about four miles, but spreads incredible destruction in its wake.

Winds estimated at more than 200 miles an hour roar around a core of low air pressure, turning splinters into deadly missiles, uprooting trees, and hurling people and animals hundreds of yards. A Minnesota twister tossed an 83-ton railroad car and its 117 passengers 80 feet through the air and left them in a ditch.

SOLID BUILDINGS, unable to cope with the sudden drop in pressure, may literally explode as the storm passes over them.

Allen D. Pearson, who heads the Weather Bureau's National Severe Storms Forecast Center at Kansas City, Mo., advocates vigorous community preparedness programs to offset the

that killed Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and dropped a pall of smoke and despair over a dozen cities, tore through a set of conditions in the United States that have historically produced revolutions in other nations. An anlysis by a Harvard University sociologist reveals that classic revolt-stirring conditions are very much present in America of the 1960s.

What form the revolution takes--whether violent or quiet -- differs from country to country, but the conditions giving rise to revolt are the same.

They were present in both French and Russian revolutions; they are present here.

"THE NEGRO REVOLT is a classic case," says Dr. Thomas F. Pettigrew, Harvard professor and consultant to the Civil Rights Commission. "We are in the stage of mass letdown and discontent," says Dr. Pettigrew; "Something's got to give. There is going to be a revolution, but it could always be a quiet one." England seemed to be headed for an upheaval after the French Revolution, says Dr. Pettigrew, but it was not violent because the English oligarchy gave ground.

"I don't really expect a French reolution here...but the killing of King cannot be anything but a stunning reversal," and a further step in the revolutionary process.

Historically, revolutions have occurred in countries experiencing true progress. That very progress sets up four revolt-stirring conditions in nations with large disadvantaged populations; it forces widened economic gaps between the dominant and subordinate classes.

A PERIOD OF LONG, slow economic and social progress-the first stage toward revolution--is followed by sudden sharp reversal and crisis -- the second stage.

"We are now in that ominous second stage," says Dr. Pettigrew. The tragic summer of 1967 marked the reversal; Dr. King's assassination accelerates its downward course.

"Dr. King was the only symbol of integration, black or white, who commanded the loyalty and attention of Negroes of many different political backgrounds...he was the only one with a span of charisma."

The terrible irony of King's assassination is that the United States was beginning to look as though it were turning a corner, Dr. Pettigrew points

Among the questions to be considered are the principal problems related to collective bargaining in the public sector and whether public employe rights be accomplished by means other than formalized collective bargaining.

THE AGENDA for the Friday (May 17) morning session includes addresses on the limitations on collective bargaining, contract negotiations, and compulsory and voluntary arbitration. The afternoon will be devoted to a speech and panel on the special problems of teachers as public employes.

On Saturday, a three-hour panel will consider legislation, what it is and what it ought to be. All sessions will be held in Auditorium A of Angell Hall.

Manufacturers and municipalities account for most of the $200 to $300 million spent annually for oils, aromatic chemicals and products that mask or remove offensive odors.

Allied Chemical offers Ozene, a product which specializes in controlling septic tank odors. One reason for Ozene's popularity is that it not only masks odor, but eliminates the odor's source by inhibiting growth of odor-forming bacte-Ozene removes slimes and greases that support bacterial growth. For more information about Ozene contact your local chemical distributor or Allied Chemical sales office.

The Reader Gives Views On Controversial Topics

EDITOR:

Having just finished reading the editorial, Teachers' Union Wants to Reduce the Rights of Voters, which appeared in the April 10, Observer, I cannot help but react - both as a taxpayer and as a leader of one of the so-called unions referred to in Dennis Pajot's article.

Pajot objects rather vehemently to the South Redford teachers "asking that the school board legally bind itself to create a curriculum council on which teachers and the board would cooperatively have 'final right to determine curriculum program'."

He goes on to indicate that the basis for his objection stems from the fact that curriculum determination should be sacred to the public and therefore rightfully lie solely within the province of the elected Board of Education.

Notwithstanding the fact that curriculum is the backbone of any school district's program, I seriously question whether the electorate, when evaluating candidates for seats on the Board of Education, consider their qualifications in terms of ability to make knowledgeable decisions regarding curricu-

Infrequently do we find Board of Education candidates running on a platform which advocates an expanded physical education program, an ungraded primary plan, the platooning of elementary schools, six foreign language course offerings in the senior high schools, or algebra in lieu of applied mathe-

In fact, few Board of Education members have the extensive background necessary to make decisions relative to the merits of a particular course offering or a particular instructional approach.

Frequently, board members will visit the schools in their districts to observe programs in action and this helps in terms of evaluation, but to ask laymen to determine curriculum without the advice of competent professionals would be inviting

In most school districts there are professionals employed by boards of education solely for the purpose of curriculum development, implementation, and evaluation. Assistant Superintendents for Instruction, Directors of Secondary and Elementary Education, and Curriculum Coordinators are commonplace. They, along with others, are frequently called upon to advise and assist in the formation and determination of program.

South Redford are asking for a voice in the determination of the offerings of the school district should not be viewed with alarm.

After all, teachers are the ones who are closest to the children, and it just may be that boards of education have bypassed a valuable resource in their lack of willingness to involve their teaching staff meaningfully in program development in the past. I stress the word meaningfully, because it is directly related to the teachers' demand that the board bind itself legally to the creation of a curriculum council.

You see, for far too many years now teachers have been involved in "curriculum development." The only problem has been that there was rarely any curriculum developed that in any way reflected the thinking of the teachers.

They simply studied and researched and met in committes for hours and days and weeks on end to find that their "recommendations" went unheeded. Today's professional not only wants to be involved, but he also wants his involvement to mean something--he wants to see the fruits of his

Finally, I believe the SREA and the South Redford Board of Education ought to be applauded if they reach agreement on the contract provision in question. Through such agreement, they would be taking a first step down the road toward cooperative determination of matters of mutual con-

Do Negroes Want To Live Here?

It's too bad that the guilt ridden suburbanites who keep writing letters to the editor about civil rights are only lip service soldiers.

What makes you think that Negroes want to live in your community? I've lived in a mixed neighborhood most of my life: Negroes, just like whites, want the same things out of life, including privacy. Many of you sounding off sound like crusaders for the Humane Society or prevention of cruelty to ani-

Perhaps when you begin thinking of Negroes as people and not "pets" that we must find a good home for and take care of, then you may be able to cope with your guilt feelings. Perhaps you should move to a mixed neighborhood,

Student Says Modular System Is Working

A new method of instruction at two of Livonia's three senior high schools, Stevenson and Franklin, has become a matter of unparalleled importance to those who know little about it, and have thus made an effort to criticize the program. Being in a situation favorable to student discussion on discontent with the new scheduling process The fact that teachers in at Stevenson, I find little fault with the system at this point in its development.

It seems that the greatest discontent comes from individuals who could not possibly know the good points and the bad of this system unless a great deal of their time had been spent investigating not only the faculty's views on the subject but also the most important of views, the student's. To ask one student's opinion of a new system and form an unfavorable conclusion is not only unfounded reasoning but absurd. To ask for 10 or 20 opinions is still not enough to make an evaluation of the modular scheduling at Stevenson,

These are modern times we live in, and modern ideas arise which must be explored in order to better old ideas. Modular scheduling is one of these new ideas, and given a chance it may well prove itself.

A year or two is not enough time to thoroughly test such a program, or even make a decision as to its effectiveness. One of the greatest questions puzzling youth today is; why do people take a stand against something new before they've seen it in action and looked at

The counseling system under the new scheduling is in fact helping more students than was possible in traditional, In order to talk with a counselor on the old system a person received a counselor pass and was pulled out of class. He was the star of the $40 a couple Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner of chicken and politics in Detroit's Cobo Hall Saturday night.

Kennedy had been booked before his brother, Robert F. Kennedy, made his bid for the Democratic nomination for president. Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced earlier in the day.

WITH SENATOR Eugene Mc-Carthy as the early foot in the race, Michigan Democrats exulted in their good fortune at having three and declined to take sides. One diner suggested a campaign button:

"Stay loose, baby." Kennedy came on more like his late brother, Former President John F. Kennedy, than like Robert -- more at ease and polished and less frenetic.

He told Democrats that American must put its own house in order at home before re-establishing itself as a world

Since the early 1960s, he said, Americans have walked "an unfamiliar path," suffering the troubles other nations had experienced-the loss of a president, racial disturbances, bombs in churches, economic crises and others.

Until that time and the critical years since, he said, the United States relied on its heritage of peace at home and leadership in the world's coun-

"Dr. Martin Luther King died unsatisfied, his work unfinished, his challenge not satisfied. What we have seen is a loss of national unity, a nation's loss of its sense of purpose,"

IN ANOTHER area, Kennedy said that "we say we are for equality, but we are slow to move towards it." He added that "force will not change ideas, only better ideas will do that."

He traced the troubles of the country domestically and said the United States and its people are just now realizing they must act.

"The time has come for us to redefine and recommit our national purpose," he said. "The United States must put itself back together again and" establish an agenda for the future."

Kennedy urged a soulsearching that will answer the national question: "Where do our values really lie?"

In education much is needed in a system in which the average annual (nationally) teacher's salary is $6,000, where 70 per cent of the students fail to finish high school.

HE SAID the nation is spending billions for war and comparatively little for education. "How can we justify neglect of our own?" he said.

The aged of the nation are being shunted into institutions without adequate income to keep them in dignity and comfort, mental health requirements are surpassing even the most ambitious programs and medical costs have jumped four to five times the ability of people to

In housing, he said, twothirds of the substandard housing is occupied by whites. The nation spends $4 billion for "a look into space" and

At least once a month, you should clean out the mineral accumulated in your steam iron. Fill the iron with water to which you have added a water conditioner. Set control to cotton. When it begins to steam, shake gently to circulate. Keep the solution in the hot iron for 10-20 minutes. Drain and fill with tap water. Rinse several times.

High Temperature Toughens Cheese

High cooking heat toughens cheese, particularly hard varieties such as natural Cheddar or Swiss. With a little care such as using low heat and avoiding over-cooking, the cheese generally will soften and melt to a satisfactory degree.

Several hundred thousand citizens and their enchanted offspring will thrill to the sights, sounds and smells along the midways when Michigan's 1968 fair season begins just before Independence Day.

Starting with the fair at Lake Odessa which opens July 3, there will be 70 outstate fairs and exhibitions, says Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, whose Fair Section has prepared a list of these coming events.

The starting date of 19 fairs is July, but August is the big month in Michigan. Forty-three fairs open their gates during August. The season will be terminated with the fair at Mar-

"Aspirin is a good drug," said Dr. Farr, a well-known allergist in an interview. 'It is a drug we need. But this situation obviously requires some investigation."

TO HELP GUIDE the average aspirin-user, Drs. Pinckard and Hawkins said:

Theater in World War II changed the lifetime ambitions of the man who now has charge of the Clarenceville School District. David McDowell, a former coach, insurance man, high school principal and now school administrator, probably would have turned to the operation of an auto agency in his home town of Sault Ste. Marie and devoted his attention to the insurance business but for the incidents that actually turned a fun-loving immature GI into a mature man almost overnight.

The stocky McDowell, a onetime star athlete at Sault Ste. Marie High and later at Northern Michigan University, saw two of his service buddles take their lives rather than face the hardships and challenges the battlefront and saw a third go berserk and become a mental patient -- so bad that he is still undergoing treatment today.

"WHEN I SAW these things happening under my eyes and to close friends," recalls Mc-Dowell, "I decided that it was time to re-evaluate things. I had plenty of time to think things out during my years of service in the Pacific Theater and I made a decision to become a teacher and coach dedicated to the idea of teaching young people to play and have fun. I have never regretted that decision."

At the moment, McDowell is the administrator of the mushrooming Clarenceville district which has grown from a total of 2,819 pupils in 1960 to 3,950 at the present time and more expected in the years ahead.

He joined the Clarenceville system in 1960 as principal at the high school and has seen it grow from 600 students then to more than 900 now.

He served five years under the administration of Supt. Louis Schmidt, who retired two years ago, and saw the system grow to its present four elementary buildings, one junior high and one senior high.

HE ALSO is much involved in the peculiar situation of the Clarenceville district which is in Oakland and Wayne Counties, and also in the City of Livonia and the Townships of Redford and Farmington, All of which makes the situation one of the most confusing in the entire McDowell has charge of a system that includes 200 certified personnel and 100 noncertified with more than 40 teachers on the professional staff.

Following graduation in 1941, he decided to work for a time before enlisting in the Marine Corps where he served in the Pacific Theater, participating in the battle of Saipan and winding up his term of duty with the rank of corporal.

Then with his mind made up that he would become a teacher and coach, he enrolled in Northern Michigan University under the GI Bill.

Shortly after arriving back home in 1946, he became acquainted with Lena Stabile and that courtship finally became a marriage within a year and then he decided to attend col-

Holding to his wartime decision to become a coach and teacher, Dave took a coaching position at Pickford, a small school in the Upper Peninsula.

The Catholic Bishops of the United States have approved a program to put the full weight of the American church behind the cause of the Negro and all poor people. The bishops issued a statement on racism at their spring meeting in St. Louis, Mo., and then adopted a "broad program" of social action in cities across the country.

It was their strongest call for Catholic participation in programs on national, diocesan and parish levels.

The statement calls special attention to the areas of education, job opportunity, housing and welfare assistance.

THE REPORT adopted by the Bishops was prepared at the request of Archbishop John F. Dearden of Detroit, who is president of the U.S. Catholic Conference and Chairman of the Board of the Michigan Catholic Conference.

"In our haste to act we must resist the temptation to plunge our resources into short-term programs of doubtful long-term value. Our actions must be based on long-range goals, and our resources must be allotted on the basis of priorities determined in the light of these mined in the light of these goals," said the report approved by the Bishops.

Several principles and goals which will guide the action by the Catholic Church in the U.S. are set forth at the beginning of the 19-page document.

"The black community is often poorly organized and fragmented, with the result that it is unable to present a strong. united voice on matters affecting it, and unable to wield effective political power. Economically, ghetto residents are earners and spenders, not entrepreneurs.

"It is white society which supplies and creates black men's needs, and it is white society which reaps the economic benefits of providing these services." The Church must now support the black community in its efforts to achieve organizational, political and economic power so necessary to break down existing patterns of dependency and frustration."

Tires that'll burn for hours, warming you; sun visors and hub caps that pinch-hit for shovels; a radiator that becomes a thirst-quenching canteen; seats, slipcovers and floor mats that will blanket you against cold or shut out the worst winds.

STATISTICS point to 38,000 highway fatalities in 1966, but it is usually overlooked that the family car can save lives too.

In emergencies, your car is a fortress. Beneath its hood and within its steel body can be found the raw materials for family survival.

Everything you really need to stay alive is available, except food, but not one motorist in a hundred sees his car as a survival kit. His first inclination is to toss the keys away and set out for help. Too often he's beyond help when found, a couple of miles down the road, dead from exhaustion, heat or cold.

Let's look at that car of yours, not as a showroomnew family status symbol, but as a basic instrument of family survival.

THE AVERAGE car's radiator holds anywhere from 16 to 21 quarts of water. If it hasn't been contaminated by antifreeze or other additives, that's water enough, figuring a quart per person a day, to last a family of four for four days and perhaps a week with strict rationing.

Your radiator's built-in spigot is its drain cock, located on the underside of the radiator.

Hub caps pinch-hit for cups. So does the carburetor cap (the glass bowl beneath many carburetors). To rid it of gasoline and residue, scour it clean with dry sand, nature's own detergent. If the radiator water is rusty or dirty, it's easily

To char-broil hamburgers, Mr. Muggles needs: sack of charcoal, lighter fluid, and about an hour.

How come? Gas makes the big difference.

With his gas grill, Mr. English is all set to go-no mess, no guess. The gas flame heats long-lasting ceramic briquets quickly, for even heat and true outdoor flavor.

especially if you're a woman. It can be done, however, by following a few simple rules. The Allstate Motor Club offers the following advice to the lady driver who finds herself with a flat tire and no help in sight.

FIRST, EQUIP YOUR car with a few "extras." These should include clean rags, several packets of moistened paper towels (like the kind you get when you eat chicken in a restaurant), a rubber mat, a pair of work gloves, a "4-way" lug wrench, a hefty screwdriver, a small board, two short 2x4s, a trouble light and/or flares and, of course, a jack, whichunlike the other items-came with the car.

Find out from your husband or from your neighborhood service station how to use the jack and how to position it to lift each wheel of your car.

NOW ASSUME you're driving along and you hear a thump, thump, thump and feel the abnormal pulling on the steering wheel that means a flat tire. When this happens, the Motor Club recommends the following steps:

1. Don't panic. Do not apply brakes immediately--hold the wheel steady and when you have gained control of your vehicle gradually apply brake and reduce speed. Signal your intention to leave the roadway and pull well off the road and stop-preferably on a flat stretch. If you are on a hill, turn your wheels inward. If you cannot get off the road, turn on your emergency flashes and be extra cautious.

2. Have all passengers get out and stay well away from the car and the road. Leave the car in first gear or "park," set the parking brake, put on the work gloves and place the 2x4s snugly against the front and rear tire diagonally opposite the flat. At night set up your trouble light, or flares so that oncoming traffic can see you.

3.Set up the jack according to instructions in the owner's manual or as you have been told, and if the ground is soft steady the jack by placing a board underneath it. Now pump the jack until it is firmly in place but has not yet begun to lift the car. You'll be much more comfortable and your job will be easier if you kneel. so spread the rubber mat next to the jack. When pumping the jack never lean over it or allow the jack handle to remain in the jack unattended.

4. Use a hefty screwdriver to pry off the hub cap. The cap will make a handy receptacle for the lug nuts, so place it close to the tire. The "4way" lug wrench will give you more leverage than the standard wrench that came with the car. Find the socket that fits the lugs of your car. Use it in a counter-clockwise direction. Do not at this time remove the nuts; just loosen them.

5. Take out the spare tire and prop it against the fender next to the flat. Slowly jack up the car until the hub is slightly higher than the center of the spare wheel propped next to the flat. Finish unscrewing the lug nuts and place them in the hub cap. Slide the flat tire off and lay it down. Lift the spare tire on, replace the lug nuts and tighten them with your fingers, making certain the wheel is on straight. Using the lug wrench, tighten them all--one nut and then the opposite, and so on, tightening them all down evenly until the wheel turns from pressure.

6. Now let down the jack and give the lug nuts one good last turn. Place the hub cap on the floor of the car to remind you to have the lug nuts checked at the first gas station and to also have your flat tire repaired or replaced.

Now you're ready to put the spare in the trunk, pick up your tools, call your passengers back, clean up with a moistened paper towel.

HUNGER HAPPENING—A teen combo and a minstrel group provided the music for the up-to-date youth service at Hosanna Tabor Lutheran Church in Redford Township Sunday. The Rev. E.M. Hadwiger, associate pastor at the Redford Hosanna Tabor Church, organized the first youth service in his church of this kind. The kids called it a "Hunger Happening", the worship of God by his young people.

Deanery Meets

The Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women of Wayne Western deanery will meet at 8 p.m. on Thursday, May 16, in St. John the Baptist Church, Dearborn Heights. U.Of Detroit Names Protestant Chaplain

Dr. Gene B. Montague of the Cathedral Church of St. Paul, Detroit, has been named the first Protestant chaplain of the University of Detroit.

The Rev. Malcolm Carron, S.J., president, said his school was "pleased to join the growing list of Catholic universities that have established chaplaincies to serve the religious needs of Protestant students.

"We feel especially fortunate in having a man of Dr. Montague's experience and ability in this post," he added.

Dr. Montague, a resident of 846 University, Grosse Pointe, has been a professor of the English faculty since last Aug-

Jewish Scout To Be Honored

The Ner Tamiol, a Boy Scout religious award for the outstanding area Jewish scout, will be presented to Paul Stephen Bock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bock during Friday services May 10 at Livonia Jewish Congregation.

Paul's brother, Alan David, will be honored in a Bar Mitzvah service Saturday.

Dr. Montague said: "I am grateful--as a Protestant, as a clergyman, as an individual -for the creation of the Protestant chaplaincy at the university. Fr. Carron's action was gracious, in both the contemporary and the New Testament senses of the word. Like most gracious acts, there is more to it than meets the eye.

"Fr. Carron's act is a recognition of the essential unity of all Christians. In my discussions with Fr. Norman Mc-Kendrick of the Office of Religious Activities, our purpose has been to plan programs of increased cooperation based on an awareness of our common ground.

"Obviously, some sacramental acts we cannot share fully; regular Protestant services will, therefore, be held on campus. Equally obviously, we disagree on substantive points of doctrine. But the existence of the Protestant chaplaincy should provide a means for defining our differences and revealing our similarities more clearly than in the past.

"The University of Detroit has a distinguished history as a Catholic university. It now begins another as a catholic Catholic women of the South Oakland Deanery will see a film on shopping in the innercity area titled "The Poor Pay More" at a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 16, in Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Farmington.

Human relations councils. church groups and civic affairs associations are invited to see the film, and deanery leaders said teachers of public and parochial schools are invited to bring government and home economics classes to the show-

The film is produced by National Education Television and furnished by the Michigan Credit Union.

Mrs. William B. Smith Jr., of Farmington, community apostolate coordinator of the deanery, will lead a discussion following the film. Taking part will be women who have been mer Hope survey recently.

Preceding the showing will be a business meeting led by Mrs. Edmund Zeglen, of Farmington, president of the South Oakland Deanery of the Detroit Archdiocesan Council.

This film is of special interest to all consumers, reports Mrs. Smith, because it exposes the tricks and shady-but-legal traps that some businesses and salesmen resort to in the pursual of sales. The content of the film makes it evident that the reliable and honest business establishments have everything to gain by factual advertising and close in-

Lunch at school has become part of the American tradition -- part of our way of life. The benefits are enormous. The program helps to build strong bodies and alert minds in our children. It also helps teach good food habits to those who will be tomorrow's adult Amer-

School lunch is the largest non-profit food service operation in the world. It is a prime example of how local, state, and Federal efforts can be coordinated. Three-fourths of our school-age children are enrolled in more than 70,000 schools serving nutritious, well-balanced lunches each school day. A total of 18 million youngsters participate in the pro-

BUT BIGNESS is not the sole measure of accomplishment to be applied to school lunch. The interest in school lunch in the United States dates back more than a hundred years. Early in this century concerned physicians and public health workers, as well as educators, had realized that poor nutrition in children was a danger to their

Many local efforts were made to meet the challenge. Milk at morning recess was one of the first. Later, milk distribution just before the opening of school was undertaken in many areas. This was done because it was noted that many children came to school without breakfast. The reasons varied. Sometimes, it was just the plain shiftlessness of parents.

AS DISTANCES lengthened between home and school, and more parents worked all day, the need for more than just milk at school became apparent. Many of the lunches that experience students have in eating nutritious meals with nutrition education in the classroom. Both the U.S. Department of Agriculture and state departments of education are involved. Federal funds reimburse the local communities for part of the cost of the food, most of which is purchased locally. Some foods are purchased by USDA; some surplus foods also are distributed from this

BOTH PUBLIC and private (non-profit) schools are eligible provided they operate the lunch program on a nonprofit basis. Established standards provide that the lunch must meet the lunchtime nutritional needs of the children. The four food groups, including milk, are emphasized.

The meals must be served without cost, or at reduced cost, to children who are unable to pay the full price of the lunch. No distrimination or segregation within the school against any child is permitted because of his inability to pay, or because of race, color, or national origin.
Almost a billion dollar's worth of lunches are served in schools each year under this program. But there are still almost 10 million children attending schools without any food service at all, and millions of children who do not participate in schools where lunch is served. More nutrition education is needed to counter this fact. Parents can help, too. Schools in needy areas can get Federal assistance if there is a lack of food service equipment.

High School Chief Sees Great Improvement in Youth

Carvel M. Bentley has been principal of Plymouth High School for 17 years and is a product of, what may be called, the old school of education. However there is nothing old school about the silver haired. clear voiced 61-year-old educator.

To the people who claim that nothing is like it used to be, Bentley probably would scoff and agree with them but, he wouldn't go so far as to say unequivocally that things of old were better than things of now.

For example, Bentley said, "Kids today, play basketball, tennis and football better than we did when I was in school in 1922,23,24 and 25,"

"It's the same with orchestras and bands," he said.

THE HEAD OF PLYMOUTH Community School District's largest school soon will celebrate his 40th year in education. Although he didn't say so he leaves one with the impression that if he had it to do over he would do the same

He was born in Ypsilanti on Nov. 7, 1907, In 1925, he gradusted from Ypsi High School and the following fall enrolled in Michigan State Normal College--now known as Eastern Michigan University.

In 1929, he completed his teacher's training in general science and biology and grad-his roommate used to go to the different church suppers in the area and get a good meal for around 27 cents. This kept him going, he said.

The educator was not only a general science and biology

nis coach and assistant basketball and track coach.

About football and track, Coach Bentley doesn't remember a lot but he is a fund of information on the game of

"FOR YEARS we had more tennis trophies around the school than anything else", he

The game of tennis as played in high school in the twenties was not a highly organized sport. In high school, Bentley was one-half of Ypsi High's two man team and he and his teammate would play doubles as well as singles and think nothing of it.

The first year he coached tennis at Plymouth, the principal had a big squad. It was seven men-three for singles matches and four for a pair of two-man doubles teams.

In 1938, his team tied for the Class B championship while winning the Class B singles championship.

Bentley said his squad used to play teams from Fordson and Grosse Pointe who were Class A schools.

To his dismay, however, he had to give up coaching in 1943 when he was drafted into the Air Force by Uncle Sam.

BEFORE HE WAS DRAFT-ED, he received his Masters Degree in Education in 1934, He jokingly reminisced that in those depression years you didn't make more money with each educational advancement like you do now but rather you made less money.

Bentley rates the students and children of today as far superior to those when he was a child in high school and elementary school.

He said, "Kids in most cases are doing better than their parents. When I have a parent, whom I taught, come to me about their children and complain about their kid's work, I ask them if they want to get their past records and have a look at how they did.

"In most cases, the parent wants no part of that.

"We are sending kids to college better prepared than they were 10 years ago."

BENTLEY CONTINUED. "The kids of today have a wider diversification of ability. This comes about because of new and improved teaching methods and the new educational hardware--tapes, films, projectors, etc."

However, even though education has advanced along with the progress of science "reading is the real key to learning," he said.

He said that the school has the duty to teach the child to read and write and so forth but in the final analysis it is up to the parent to help their child to learn.

Bentley believes that knowing how to read--anything--is the key to success in school and after school but, he said, "The schools can't adequately teach the child how to read,"

Weaknesses

EDITOR: We moved to Livonia two years ago, living in a few other States before that Through your newspaper, I came to know more about this community,

How can we have faith and feel secure if our newspapers choose to print certain things and omit others, subtly influencing the public?

For example, the fine fine editorial by Don Hoenshell in the May I issue of the Observer "Leaders Must Catch up to Reality, or Follow".

Did you know that I didn't know about Mayor Moelke's policies before reading that, and also after talking to some of my "brainwashed" neighbors? Why weren't they made known before the elections? How can newcomers know how they are going to vote unless all the facts are presented? That is the prime responsibility of a newspaper, otherwise they're use-things stand now, answering Mr. Hoensbell's editorial, I don't think Livonia or Redford Township are ready to follow Plymouth's example in Civil Rights.

There are too many, entrenched for too long, with the philosophies fed to them through our newspapers, parroting the ideas of some of the leaders of this community.

Thank you for printing Mr. Hoenshell's article. It's a step in the right direction, Perhaps in time, with more responsible reporting, it will help change the status quo. MRS, LEONARD RASMUSSEN

How Many Hours For A Councilman?

EDITOR:

I am a newcomer to Livonia. having purchased my home ten months ago. After reading about the council raising their expense allowance from $150 to $200 per month, I seem to find myself in the dark, the new figure of $2,400 per year, simple arithmetic breaks this down to $46.15 per week.

Would someone please explain to me how many meetings a councilman attends or how many transportation costs, correspondence costs, telephone costs, etc. he can accumulate in one week to justify the $46.15 allowance. The best feature of this allowance is that no expense voucher or report is turned in by the councilman. He just collects his $200 per month, no questions asked! This is a very nice bonus to add to a yearly salary.

A city the size of Livonia should be prepared to pay its council members an adequate salary in order to get the best possible if this is what the people desire. Since I don't know the average time per week or month a councilman will spend on city business, Icannot tell how adequate the present $1,200 yearly salary is.

On the other hand, I don't feel that it is proper for the city council to in effect increase its salary, and the mayor's also, under the title of an increase in expense allowance with no justification as to what the expense actually is.

I feel it would be for someone to explain the duties and responsibilities of a councilman, so that we know what our money is doing for us.

Club Stand On Housing

I would like to comment regarding the recent article written by the Rev. David Strang in which he saw fit to criticize the local service clubs for not supporting the Open Housing Ordinance. His remarks sounded more like those of a sorehead loser than those of one on the winning side.

What Has Happened?

In one of your papers some time ago, you had published an item where an investigation was being made by (Councilman Peter Ventura) in the discrepancies in the Bond Issue for the Parks that the Property Owners and Tax Payers of Livonia had voted on. What about this investigation??. Or was it all a putup job with lots of hot air, or deception on the part of the Councilman??

He was also going to investigate the letter from Mayor Hubbard of Dearborn; what about all this bunk and try to be the nice guy, when we the tax payers know better. The people of today cannot be fooled any longer on such trickery.

What about the recall of the Board of Education Officials? Was this also a hot-air proposition?

What about the recall of the Mayor of Detroit, what a bunch of foolish politicians, there is nothing too dirty for them to do, just so they will get the votes at election time; rather than make a good name for them -selves, something that they can be proud of, and that the community says there is an honest politician, he knows his business, and is for the betterment of the Community. Rather than to use some deviation to gain an unjust truth in the matter, to garner votes.

What about the $10,000 Policemen, the $10,000 Firemen, and the overworked employees of the City, and the School Teachers; Why not pay them all at the rate of $25,000 per year with ten months of vacation, all expenses paid, plus a kitty fund say of 100,000 dollars used in any way they

Why, the Property Owners and taxpayers would be delighted to pay for all this through higher Property Taxes say at least an increase of 80% in their taxes. Then the community could tell the world just what they are doing for their servants: And if need be, each could have their home built at the Property Owners expenses, and be kept up to date in every way possible.

Now comes up the push by the (City Council to start Civil Rights) for whom is this to be for??. Just for the Councilmen themselves??. Or just to put into print more hot air, and foolishness to trickery, so that Edward Milligan has something to play with at the taxpayers expenses, together with his Blue Ribbon Committee to play with him.

Lets all investigate each other????? (RUSH) Just how stupid can people get this day and time, any thing to make publicity, picture in the papers all over the World, with lots of hot air and just so much hog

Men Thanked

Thanks to the police and fire departments.

On Jan. 15 I had a serious heart attack. My wife called the fire department rescue squad.

The police officers and firemen arrived within minutes. The police saw that I was in need of an ambulance and made all necessary phone calls. Due to the efficiency of the police and firemen, I am now home and recuperating. Again I thank them.

RULES

Handicap: 70 per cent of the difference between high average and 400 for each team. No fractions carried. Handicap not to exceed 120 pins per game per team. Eighteen games constitute league average. 1967 Summer League average accepted. Prizes will be awarded on scores with handicaps included. Three games across same pair of lanes.

Entrants other than those governed by the Detroit Bowling Association and the Detroit Women's Bowling Association may be required to provide affidavit of all league averages signed by league secretary or city association secretary. Any bowler who falsifies his average forfeits all rights to prize money. Prizes will be paid when averages of prize winners have been verified. Any bowler who has won $300 or more total in any tournaments over the past 2 years must report to the tournament secretary, and is subject to average re-rating. This must be done before bowling.

All lanes will be assigned by the tournament committee. Employees of Merri-Bowl Lanes not eligible to enter this tournament.

All decisions rendered by the Tournament Committee will be final, whether regarding tournament rules or anything not covered herein.

FORD ROAD WEST OF MERRIMAN IN BARDEN CITY

Anyone looking forward to celebrating The 2nd Annual Detroit Riot this summer...

is too siek to go.

The illness has nothing at all to do with skin color. It can affect whites just as potently as it can blacks. With the same ultimate results.

Rumor has it some people already have the bug. Their numbers are few. And they can be controlled.

We can stop them cold with some individual responsibility on the part of every sane citizen, black and white, in metropolitan Detroit.

You see, even the sickest minds in our community can't go anywhere unless a whole lot of healthy people help them out.

The wonder drug here is reason. Use it. The bug can be fatal.
