REDFORD — After nearly two months of public talks, the Planning Commission recommended the adoption of an R-4 zoning amendment which would allow high rise construction in the Township.

FARMINGTON — The city's tax rate was cut for the third time in eight years last week despite adoption by the council of a record $680,999 operating budget for the 1968-69 fiscal year. A boost in the municipality's assessed valuation permitted council to drop the tax rate from $11 to $10 per $1,000.

FARMINGTON — An 11 per cent wage increase for city public safety employees was agreed to by the city administration. The new wage scale for patrolmen boosts the maximum salary from $8,000 to $9,100.

LIVONIA — With bids for a new Center well above budget, the city plans to buy St. Paul Lutheran church, school and rectory on Farmington Rd. near Five Mile and convert it into an activities building for senior citizens. It will cost $300,000 and be financed by a bond issue. Mayor Harvey W. Moeke told an approving council.

REDFORD — Township police are working with the FBI on the Farmer Jack's $21,000 robbery. The FBI was brought into the case when the safe blasting robbers took over $400 in federal food stamps as part of the loot.

LIVONIA — City Council President McNamara has asked the Legal Department to prepare a proposal for the August ballot authorizing one extra tax mill to be earmarked for police and fire salaries and use. Mayor Moeke said he would not approve earmarking of funds because of the general need for operating money. Councilman Rudolf R. Kleinert prefers an income tax to relieve property taxpayers, but the mayor said he would demand such an issue be placed before the voters.

Township Goes Across The Board

Firemen Get $800 Raise

A tentative agreement between Plymouth Township and Local Union 1496, International Association of Fire Fighters, AFL-CIO was agreed to by the Board of Trustees Tuesday. Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes cast the lone dissenting vote explaining that she considered the new wage package excessive and out of line with other township employees' salaries.

The agreement grants township firemen an $800 across the board raise. It raises the top salary from $7,000 to $8,000.

Township firemen will now start at $7,000 where before they started at $6,200 while the ceiling last year was $7,000.

In comparison, the City of Plymouth police and firemen are currently negotiating with the city for a top wage of $9,000 which if agreed upon would be an increase of $1,066 across the board.

AFTER LENGTHY negotiations, Livonia Police obtained $1,393 in raises spread over a two-year span. The contract was made retroactive to last Dec. 1.

Livonia patrolmen will now start at $8,236.80 and will reach a maximum of $9,609.60 in a four year progression schedule. James Miller, personnel director for the Livonia Civil Service Commission, said corporals will be increased to $9,152 from $8,632 as of last December, and will draw $10,088 at the beginning of the second year of the contract next December, an increase of $1,456 in two years but a second year jump of $936.

Policemen will start at $8,236.80 in December, make $8,569.60 in the second year, $8,902.40 in the third, $9,235.20 in the fourth, and reach the maximum $9,609.60 after that.

NOW, UNDER minimum step 3, patrolmen get $7,696, are raised to $8,049.60 immediately, and $8,902.40 in December. Step 4 jumps from $7,945.60 to $8,382.40, and up to $9,235.20 in December.

A corporal raise boosts his biweekly check from $332 to $352, and in December it will increase to $388, or $4.85 an hour compared to a patrolman's $4.62 an hour.

Detroit firemen are asking for a $10,300 increase spread over a two-year period.

Under the new Plymouth Township-Firemen agreement a new fire fighter would start at $7,000. At the end of six months he would receive an increase of $400.

At the end of his first year, he would receive another increase of $300 and, then, after two years, he would receive an additional increase of $300 which would bring him to the maximum of $8,000.

Officers are graded differently.

A sergeant will begin at $3,000 and after six months

Michigan Week Surprise Due Five Persons

Five of Plymouth's leading citizens will be honored at the annual Awards Luncheon which features Livelihood Day of Michigan Week on Wednesday. The luncheon, scheduled at the Mayflower Meeting House, annually attracts one of the largest luncheon gatherings of the year and is being sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

The names of those to be honored is one of the best kept secrets of the year, but at the proper time, the industrial, retail, employers, educators and professional groups will announce their selections and suitable plaques will be awarded.

GOING NORTH — Township Trustee Dick Lauterbach and his wife, Carol, are preparing to leave the Plymouth Community and will take up residence in Boyne City where both have accepted teaching positions.

Lauterbach Resigns From Township Board

Plymouth Township Trustee Dick Lauterbach, a member of the board for the past five years, has resigned, effective June 15, to take a teaching post in Boyne City.

The trustee, who has been a teacher in the Plymouth area for several years, said he wanted to thank his fellow board members for their cooperation and help given him.

He said that he and his wife, Carol, both had accepted teaching posts in the northern Michigan city and would be leaving

Visiting Mayor Due To Spend Busy Day

A big time is being planned for Howard Fenton, the Mayor of Manistee, when he comes to Plymouth on Monday as one of the highlights of the observance of Michigan Week.

Starting at 9 o'clock in the morning he and his party will be kept on the jump until late that evening when he departs from home across the state.

The official functions start at 9 o'clock in City Hall when Mayor Pro Tem James McKeon and City Manager Richard Blodgett are hosts at a "coffee hour" and then take the visiting dignitary on a tour of city hall.

That over, the entire entourage will journey to the RCA Building on Plymouth Road for a luncheon to be sponsored by RCA and which will be attended by the civic, business and industrial leaders of both the city and the township.

A tour through the city is planned in the afternoon along with visits to several of the major industries.

Here and there the visitors will be given a chance to relax, but the opportunities will be few until it is time to depart. Meanwhile Mayor James Jabara will be entertained and feted by the folks in Manistee.

receive a pay boost of $350 which would bring him to a maximum salary of $8,350.

A lieutenant will begin at $8,350 and after six months would be boosted by $350 to his maximum of $8,700.

A captain starts at $8,700 and in six months would receive an additional $300 to bring him to a maximum of $9,000.

Besides the salary increase, the firemen will receive an additional $120 for holiday pay. The contract was made retroactive to April 1, 1968 and will expire on March 24, 1969.

The expiration date of March 24, 1969 was agreed upon so that negotiations could open prior to the township establishing its budget for 1969. This way any wage increase to firemen could be included in the new budget as part of all increases.

Mrs. Holmes' lone dissenting vote was not cast against the contract in general, she explained, but was done because a few members of the fire department would be granted more than an $800 pay increase.

Trustee Dick Lauterbach, a member of the township board bargaining committee, explained that the only thing granted in the agreement is an $800 across the board pay hike.

He said that any firemen receiving more than $800 would be doing so as a matter of course and not because of the new contract.

The township firemen have not ratified the contract but are expected to approve it next week.

High School Ground Breaking Attracts Community Leaders

More than 400 persons from throughout the Plymouth School District gathered in the cold, damp weather Friday morning to officially break ground for the building of Plymouth High School #2.

Representatives from Plymouth Township, the City of Plymouth and other communities, along with school board members crowded around School Board President Esther Hulsing as she lifted the first shovel of earth on the corner of Joy Rd. and McClumpha Rd. Ceremonies opened with the Color Guard of Mayflower Post VFW Drill Team parading the colors while the Plymouth High School band played the National Anthem.

Rev. Dr. Herbert C. Brubaker, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth, prayed that this new high school would "unite the way for those to come."

Mrs. Hulsing said the project took tremendous planning and the ground breaking was the result of three hard years of hard work by Plymouth citizens.

"I have been proud to be a member of the school board and part of the Plymouth Community School District," she said.

As School Supt. James Rossman introduced the dignitaries in the audience and from the stage he singled out Mrs. Carl Schultheiss whose late husband was vice president of the school board.

While serving on the board, before his death last year, he was instrumental in helping the Educational Park become a reality.

Rossman said, "The late Carl Schultheiss certainly gave his life to get this project underway."

This was the occasion of two beginnings--the start of Plymouth Centennial Educational Park and the new high school.

It was fitting that a 100-year-old muzzle loading rifle was shot as the signal to begin breaking ground.

Fate Of P-A Theater May Be Up To Court

The old P-A theater on Penniman Avenue may be dragged through the courts before its fate finally is determined.

Given to the city as a gift some months ago high hopes were held that it would be rehabilitated and developed into a real cultural center in the downtown area.

All this changed, however, during the fire that destroyed the adjoining Penniman Building last January and left a gaping hole on Penniman Avenue.

From time to time insurance adjusters and engineers have surveyed the theater building, noted its scarred walls, and the smoke stained interior and came away with conflicting feelings.

More than that, the insurance became a problem when it was learned that the theater wall was what is known as a "common wall". That is, it was built on the property line and each party claimed half. This brought up the question of how the insurance would be paid.

The latest twist came to light this week when City Manager Richard Blodgett let it be known that the adjusters and engineers now have real conflicting opinions . . . and each side is stubbornly sticking to its opinion.

"All sides agree that the building no longer meets the code", Blodgett stated, "but Jim Beert, the insurance adjuster and Richard McCleary, the engineer, claim the structure still is sound."

"On the other hand", the City Manager continued, "Les Davies, who represents the city in the matter, claims it is unsound."

What is the next step? Blodgett was asked. "I guess it will have to be fought in court", he answered. And there the building stands a martyr.

ANOTHER BIG WEEK — As representatives of the United Northwestern Realty Association-Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors look on, Mayor James Jabara is shown signing a proclamation officially designating May 19-25 as Realtor Week in Plymouth. Seated with Donations of money and food were received from many Plymouth firms.

The cash donations plus the funds received from ticket sales for the supper will be used to purchase scouting equipment for the upcoming season.

The Stroller...

The fellow at the next table was talking loud enough to be heard around the room and he was complaining, as most loud voiced people do.

"So this is Michigan Week," he said, "and we are supposed to go around shouting about our State. In fact, I got a letter asking me to serve as a 'Minute Man' and speak to people for a minute and tell them all about the state."

"What can you tell them," he went on. "You can say that Michigan is shaped like a mitten and is surrounded by the Great Lakes and that, because of Detroit, it is the leader in the automobile industry. But after that, what?"

"It wouldn't take a minute to tell anybody these things."

Well, The Stroller couldn't help hearing these complaints and he got to wondering if there were many more like this fellow who was stuck for things — nice things — to say about Michigan, not only this week, but every week of the year.

If you happen to be one of them, The Stroller would like to point out a few that might help.

HELL TO PARADISE IN A DAY

For instance, did you know that you could go from Hell to Paradise, or vice versa, in Michigan in a single day? What's more, you could spend some time in Christmas. Yes sir, and there's not another state in the Union where this is possible.

Hell is a nice little — very little — community a little northwest of Ann Arbor and is a bit quaint. According to a tale told by Mel Rhinehart, of the Chamber of Commerce, it got its name years ago when the men who were delivering such spirits as whiskey remarked, "This is a helluva place."

Of late, its chief claim to fame was being the home of "Whispering Will" Collins, the golden voiced tenor of the early radio days, who passed away only last Wednesday.

And another significant thing is the fact that it is evident that you never should make any such statements as "I'll wait 'til Hell freezes over before I'd do anything like that," when you want to avoid some task.

Hell does freeze over. Just take a trip out there during the winter. Many folks do — just for pictures.

Then, there's Paradise in the Upper Peninsula that, supposedly, got its name when a group of travelers, according to legend, stopped at the tiny hamlet one time and remarked in joy, "This is like Paradise." That's been the name of the community ever since.

CENTER FOR HOLIDAY MAIL

Not far away is Christmas — named just a few years ago as a means of trying to attract tourists.

A short time ago, The Stroller had occasion to stop there at one of the gas stations during a "color" trip of the state, and got to talking with the grocer who also had the gas pump.

"We're getting our new post office," he said with pride, "and we'll have an official stamp now, so folks will be able to get the real post mark instead of my rubber stamp."

"And," he said with bursting enthusiasm, "we expect about 500 people here for the dedication. It will be the biggest crowd we ever have had."

He was right, too, for countless thousands of persons send their Christmas greeting cards to that post office now to be mailed for a real Christmas touch.

But there are many other things about Michigan that are unusual.

For instance, Sault Ste. Marie, in the Upper Peninsula, which is preparing to celebrate its tricentennial, is one of the oldest cities in the United States and was settled before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

The "Soo" also is the site of the famed locks, one of the greatest man-made facilities in the world. Through these locks pass more traffic than on any other body of water in the world.

ATTRACTS A BILLION DOLLARS

If that doesn't give you enough to talk about as a "Minute Man," here are a few other unusual things about Michigan:

- The state does a tourist business of more than a billion dollars a year.

- If Michigan were an independent nation it would rank about eleventh richest in the world, if measured in terms of the gross national product. According to the Michigan Tourist Bureau, only 10 nations including the United States, would rank ahead of it. The other nine are: West Germany, The United Kingdom, France, Japan, Canada, India, Italy, China, and Russia.

- Michigan became the twenty-sixth state when it entered the Union on January 26, 1837. At the time its estimated population was 200,000. Now, a bit more than 130 years later, the estimated population is 8,500,000.

- Michigan has more shore line on the Great Lakes than the entire Atlantic Coast from the northernmost point in Maine to the tip of Key West in Florida.

- Michigan's 14,000 manufacturing establishments employ more than 1,000,000 persons.

- Stand anywhere in Michigan and you are within 85 miles of one of the Great Lakes and within six miles of a lake or stream.

These are a few items. Wonder if our loud voiced friend could use any more?

The Plymouth MAIL & OBSERVER

Michigan Week Should Re-Kindle Pride That Made Country Great

has been dimmed.

For example, there was a time when the United States was pictured throughout the world as kindly old Uncle Sam. Just the mere cartoon of the tall man in the striped pants with the white beard and goatee was the picture of a friendly nation.

"Good old Uncle Sam," they said, and America was looked up to with respect.

NOW TIMES HAVE changed. Not only do the other nations look down on us for one thing or another, but in many cases we have lost pride at home, too.

There was a time when we spoke with pride, and rightly so, of our home, our community, our nation and even our work.

Not too many years ago, when one was asked where he was employed, he answered with the name of the firm and then continued by telling the fine points of the plant.

Today, the employer is spoken of in derision in many cases, and the men who make the products never say a word in praise of them. To the employee it is just part of a day's work.

There was a time, too, when even the lowest machine hand in the shops, at the conclusion of a job would point and say, "I did that." He was proud of his work and took a lot of pride in it.

IT IS SOME SEMBLANCE of this pride that we will have to bring back.

We've got to take pride in our work and our community and shout praises instead of condemning and criticizing every move that is made.

The time has come when we, as a people, must show our appreciation for the good things we have — instead of emphasizing the few minor things that may be wrong.

If we can do these things then we have learned the lesson that Michigan Week is supposed to teach.

Now that we are in the midst of celebrating "Michigan Week," it might be well to pause for a moment in this hurly-burly battle for existence to tell the reasons for this unusual period, why it is unique, and what lessons can be learned from it.

It all came about some years ago when a group of public spirited citizens got together, talked over the problems of the day and expressed the belief that, in many ways, we, as a people, had lost our pride.

At the time the state was in the doldrums. There were such things as payless paydays and Michigan was the "ugly duckling" in the Union. Everyone pointed to us as a horrid example.

It was to change that image — or least try — that the idea of "Michigan Week" came about.

At the time these leaders, faced with many problems, took a sane look at affairs and agreed "we can't be that bad."

So, they decided that the best way to change the Michigan image was to tell the world about the good things that happen here in the Great Lakes country.

FOLKS SEEMED to have forgotten that Michigan had played a great part in the history of the Union — that Detroit, through the efforts of such men as Henry Ford, put the world on wheels and established the foundation for our present economy.

They had forgotten that, in another dark period, Ford turned world attention to Detroit by offering the famous "Five Dollar A Day" wage in the auto plant.

They had forgotten that Detroit had become a great city, even though it was off the so-called beaten path, because it had men with vision.

And so it came about that it was agreed to tell the world again about Detroit — and Michigan.

That's the reason for Michigan Week.

But it goes away beyond the boundary lines of the state. The spirit that is engendered during this one week could be carried over the entire year. More than that, it is time that we realize that one of the great troubles with the world today is the fact that we have lost pride. As a result our image

Old Timer Recalls First Plymouth Newspaper

By GEORGE MACK ADAMS

Plymouth has had a newspaper, so the record shows, continuously since 1887, but it is my guess that it had one long before that, but for various reasons succumbed for either financial or competitive reasons.

Let me say that I have no proof whatever that this was so, except for the fact that Plymouth was a thriving little town with farmers flocking in with their cream for the Jolliffe cheese factory, to the two mills, the Phoenix and the Wilcox mill closer to town.

And then there were two locally famous all-around stores to draw trade — Lapham's in the extreme north end and not far from the Wilcox mill, and J.R. Rauch & Son general store in the extreme south end. There also was Gale's drug store — a big store with a big stock for that era of the town.

The reason that an earlier paper folded, could be attributed partly to the fact that train service was excellent to and from Detroit. There were several trains both ways due to trains running to two different terminals. One line went to Flint, Bay City and Saginaw. The other went from Detroit to Lansing and Grand Rapids.

WHEN I CAME to Plymouth in 1895 or 96, the lines were called the D. L. & N., Detroit, Lansing and Northern. They later were called the F. & P.M., the Flint & Pere Marquette. In late years they were changed again, into a B. & O. Line.

With two railroads, each having two or three trains a day, and with each converging at Plymouth, it was an easy matter to go to Detroit to trade. This, of course, was to the detriment of Plymouth merchants, as was the almost complete coverage of the Wayne

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in a series of articles recreating Plymouth's past glory as seen by George M. Adams, who started his newspaper career in Myles F. Gray's North End Independent and later on with Baker and Grays' Plymouth Mail. Mr. Adams wound up his career owning and operating THE WYANDOTTE DAILY RECORD, which he sold long, long ago to the Benarr MacFadden Syndicate of New York City. County Courier, with its 100 or more correspondents sending in personal items each week.

There wasn't a spot in Wayne County with five or more houses banked together that didn't have a local correspondent. This hurt all small town papers, like those in Wayne, Plymouth, Northville, Redford, Farmington, etc., etc.

A lot of the advertising in these small town papers was on an exchange basis — The publisher ran an ad and had to take it out in trade; thus the advertiser got his advertisement for about half-price. It was a practice in those days to add a few cents to every such purchase because the merchant received no cash. So the poor publisher, with a small circulation (always a few hundred more claimed than he actually had) was flimflammed in two ways.

The editor of such papers always claimed several hundred more papers than were actually printed so the grocer, clothier or other type merchant took circulation with a pinch of salt.

It was somewhat like the small town publisher who lay dying. His wife and friends, along with the doctor, sat beside waiting for the guy to cease and desist, when the doctor looked at the poor man and said out loud: "Poor man; circulation almost gone." The publisher with his last full breath rose up and with indignation shouted: "You're a liar, we still got the biggest circulation in the county."

In addition to the two lines of railroad mentioned, there was in those days what was known as "the Toledo plug" line that started a train each way, once a day, from Plymouth and Toledo. This train, toward the end, was quite a joke, for outside of the Toledo papers and freight the train carried, there was not much patronage. But it carried on for years in spite of this. Maybe the mail it carried was what kept it going. Who knows?

And then there was that damned courier which, according to the local publisher, popped up at every attempt to sell advertising. The Courier's success was due to the fact that the editor of that paper was one of the first to realize that a person's name is the sweetest sound in the world to him — or her. And to see it in print was like Manna from Lebanon.

"NURTURE YOUR MIND WITH GOOD THOUGHTS"

Serving As We Would Wish to be Served

Knowing how and caring: that, in brief, is what truly helpful funeral service requires. At Schrader Funeral Home, you are assured such service, thanks to the competent attention of people who have a genuine concern for your every need and wish.

IT WAS these small individual items that the local papers like the Plymouth Mail lacked, and when I went to work there — three days outside and two and a half days inside, I garnered a whole lot of these little personals and they appeared in two or three columns starting with the two-liners and graduating up to the longest 8 or 10 liners.

They were what the people wanted then — and it's what they like today. People like to know what other folks are doing, where they've gone, how long they're going to stay, who they visit and where, and what they brought back, if anything. In other words, community gossip without fangs.

Those were the days when everyone was reading Charles M. Sheldon's famous religious book, "In His Steps," about a man who lived his life as Christ would have lived it. It was an example what could be done if there were two partners in a business, one to man the scales and the other to take in the money.

In those early days the village depot was the source of dozens of local items. It was there the reporter got most of his news as to who was going where and who they would visit, etc. Before every train was due you would see people begin to gather to see who got off and who got on. Philosophers exiled temporarily from the village stores, canvassed around the pot-bellied stove in the railroad waiting room, and settled and swapped advice as how the country should be run.

MOST OF the revenue from advertising came from what is known as "foreign" advertising, meaning everything that came from out-of-town. All a publisher had to do was "claim" the largest circulation in his hallowed Chamberlains, Dr. Miles Medical, Cascarats, Hoods and Ayer's Sarsaparilla, Dr. Kilmear's Swamp Root, Paine's Celery Compound, Dingham's Soap, Battle Axe plug tobacco, and a host of other "remedies" made at the village pump, were the gravy that made the meal what it was — passable.

I harbor a few very valid "pet peeves" and have always said, "Show me a man without a pet peeve and I'll show you an apathetic nincompoop."

One of my pet peeves, which ranks somewhere between cigarette commercials and chocolate covered jellies, has to do with newspaper articles. You know the kind. They tell how Emily Gooch is undertaking a difficult project and if everything goes well she'll succeed gloriously, but if "thus and so" should happen—forget it.

This week I find myself in a position to let everyone know the outcome of a story that appeared on the front page of this paper, Sunday, March 10.

There the story ends and you never learn if "thus and so" foiled Emily's plans or if she surmounted all obstacles and succeeded in her endeavor.

Do you remember the mother who prevailed on the kindness of one of our local drug-gists, Bob Beyer, for whole bunches of magazines for her son, stationed in Vietnam?

He wrote her saying that he was teaching the natives to read, write and speak English.

Well, Mrs. Marguerite Sherman sent those magazines and got a reply the other day from her son, S/4 Frank Sherman, and a picture of his pupils.

Through the efforts of Stephen J. James, Pfc. Leroy Borbhart, S/4 Donald D. Campbell and S/4 Jesse S. Towers and Mrs. Sherman's son, Frank, three of the Vietnamese are able to speak English!

Frank's letter also included four strange little names; Cam On, Canh, Chieens and Ninh, all block printed in English.

It was the best thank you note Mrs. Sherman has ever received and we'd like to thank her for sharing it with us.

While writing this column the subject of pet peeves was dispatched quite nicely by co-worker and also Women's Editor, Margaret Miller.

Her pet peeve happens to be people who take peeves and make "pets" of them.

Oh well, you can't win 'em all!

TOP SIDE OF LIFE

By FATHER ROBERT SCHADEN

Last week Dave Diles, the sportscaster from WXYZ, talked here in Plymouth. As I listened to his talk I wished that I had a tape recorder with me, and another regret was that the whole town could not have been there to hear what he had to say.

It was not a talk on sports, which Diles referred to as the "playpen of life", but on LIFE itself. Granted we all need a playpen once in the while to recuperate ourselves from the absurdities of life and society, but living life with everything it has to offer and everything we have to offer it, is the main game that we must play -- we have been chosen for the team. * * *

ALTHOUGH I CANNOT reiterate everything that Diles had to say, in his clever broadcaster style, the gist of his message is still ringing in my ears. I only hope that my tendency to apply his pointed indictments to others will not blind me to the fact that he was also talking to me.

I would rather doubt that Diles accepted the speaking engagement as a means of winning a popularity contest--not when one considers what he had to say.

His message could probably be summed up under one "dirty" word--INVOLVEMENT. Not the kind of involvement that people think they have jumped into when they join committees or make donations, but the kind that means that here and now "I have to give of ME."

Involvement where I must open myself up to tears, worry, heartache and even that gnawing wonderment of what someone is going to think of me and who is going to boycott my business. * * *

BELIEVE IT OR not, no writer likes to be tagged as a prophet of doom or toller of trouble, but which life do we write about--the one we are living or the playpen in which we all would like to hide?

Personally, I think that we live in a pretty great world at a pretty wonderful time, but in facing reality we are also living in a world that is working against itself.

We had the possible effects of the talks in Paris, while we ride into poor people on horseback in Detroit. (No, I do not know all the facts, nor am I passing judgement on the individual incident. The problem is that it is NOT an isolated incident.)

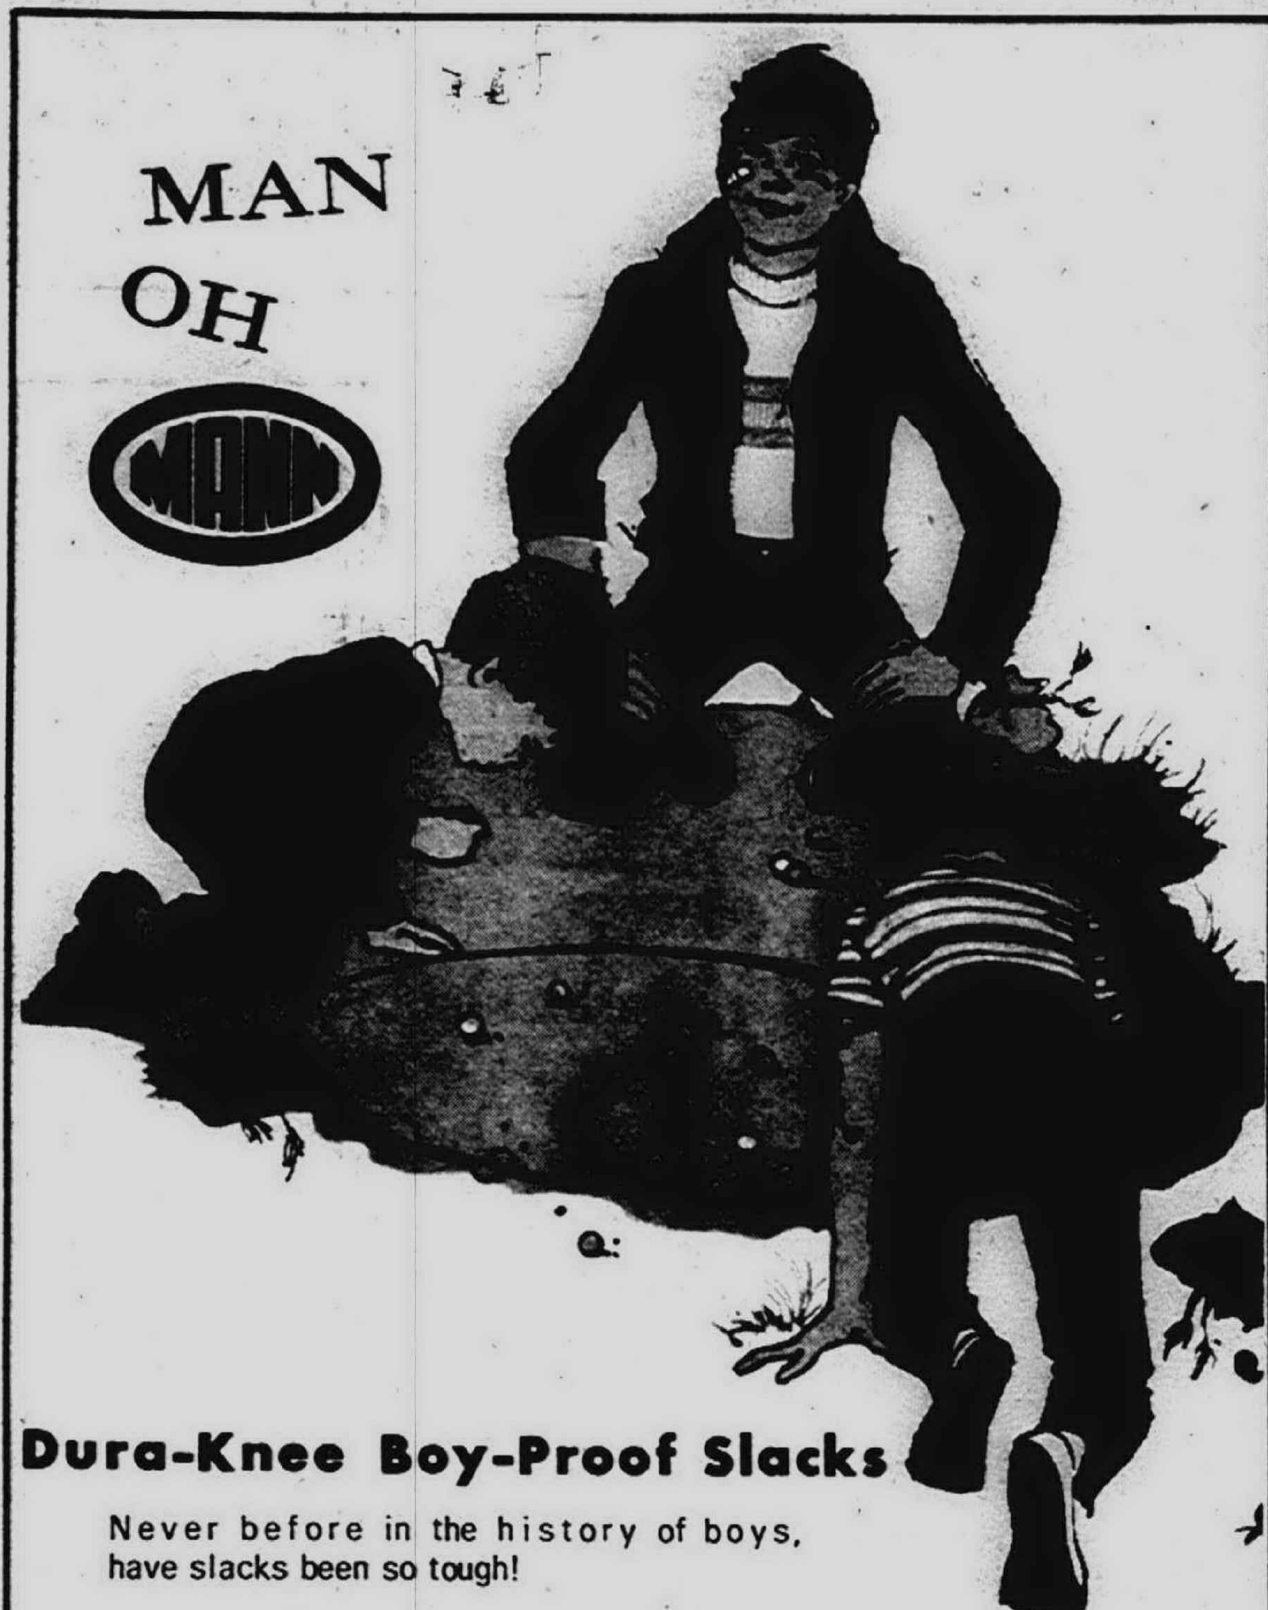

We spend thousands of dollars on CARE packages to spread good will and then forget the term "good will" in our coffee breaks and telephone conversations.

We send boys to die in the name of freedom, then judge who should be free and who should not. * * *

PERHAPS CONSISTENCY in these areas is hard to come by, since we all do have a conscience and hope that five dollars or a noble deed will make up for certain wrongs.

Someone told me the other day that the problem is quite simple. And his solution is that we possess two things--patriotism and religion.

The only rub to this neat little package is that patriotism is more than goose pimples at the sound of the Star Spangled Banner, and religion can hardly be billed as holy thoughts from the pages of a prayer book.

THE POPPY as the "memorial flower" was inspired by the opening words of Col. John McCrea's immortal poem "In Flanders Fields" which paid tribute to the men who lost their lives among the fields of poppies in one of World War I's historic battles.

Veterans organizations in the United States first sold Poppies in 1921 in response to an appeal from Madame Guerin of France for funds to aid needy and disabled war veterans.

In 1922, the Veterans of Foreign Wars conceived the idea of selling poppies made by disabled veterans in US hospitals to support a national veterans welfare program.

The symbolism of the poppy was promptly accepted by the American people and the sale was an immediate success.

IN 1968 MORE than 8,000 Poppies of the VFW will participate in the sale. Nearly 100,000 volunteers will sell more than 12 million Buddy Poppies, most of them during the two-week period preceding Memorial Day.

The sale of the Poppy to raise funds for needy and disabled veterans is not restricted to the United States. Poppies are also sold by veterans organizations in many countries of Europe and throughout the British Commonwealth.

Jaycees Will Sponsor Safe Driving Rodeo

The Plymouth Jaycees will conduct a "Safe-Driving Auto Rodeo" May 22 and 26 at Plymouth High School as part of an annual competitive segment of the year-round traffic safety program.

The Safe-Driving Auto Rodeo is nationally sponsored by Lincoln-Mercury Division of Ford Motor Co. and will be sponsored in the Plymouth area by West Bros. Lincoln-Mercury.

The competition will be held in two parts. The first phase will be a written examination to be given Wednesday, May 22. Out of this, 20 boys and 20 girls with top marks will be selected to participate in the driving skill test to be given Sunday, May 26.

Winners of the competition will then go to Dearborn Heights to take part in the next phase of the competition.

Winners in the Dearborn regionals and other regionals, nationwide, will proceed to Ann Arbor where the national finals will be held in early August.

Contestants in the national contest will be competing for $14,000 in scholarships.

The Plymouth contest is open

John Herb Takes Over New Activity

John Herb, secretary-treasurer of the American Community Mutual Insurance Company, has been elected to the post of functional director—Administrative Services Division.

The announcement was made at the annual international conference in Detroit over the weekend.

He is a graduate of Wayne State University and is active in many civic organizations, such as the Plymouth Rotary Club, president of the Plymouth Rotary Foundation Board, past president and current member of the Plymouth Fall Festival Board and past president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

His activities in the Administrative Management Society consist of being a member of the Detroit Chapter since 1951, past president of the Detroit Chapter, Area 6 Secretary-Treasurer in 1965-67, and assistant area director of Area 6, in 1967.

As functional director of the Administrative Services Division, he will be responsible for the coordination of activities of various committees and will serve as a member of the International Board of Directors.

Three Youths Land In Court For Wild Ride

Three Plymouth youths were arrested and charged with minors in possession of alcoholic beverages last Friday night by the Plymouth City Police after running a red light while going south on Main St. The driver, Kenneth L. Pinion, 19, of 5708 Haggerty, was also issued two tickets—one for running the red light and the other for driving without an operator's license in his possession.

Plymouth Municipal Judge Dunbar Davis set trial for Pinion for May 20. Pinion stood mute at his arraignment and was released on a $50 bond.

Roger Leszczynski, 18, of 6345 Haggerty, pled guilty and Judge Davis fined him $50.

The other passenger, Frederick E. Stiehr, 18, of 33708 Tawas Trail, also pled guilty, but his sentencing was postponed until May 20.

Police said that after they saw the car run the red light they stopped it and found 18 full bottles of beer in the auto.

City Refuses To Take Part In Dog Fight

The City Commission refused to get involved in a dog fight Monday night.

The opportunity came when seven residents of New England Village petitioned to have signs reading "No Dogs" and "No Baseball" posted on the cul-de-sac.

The petition was made with the hope of keeping the grass in good condition.

"We would have the responsibility after the signs were posted," Commissioner Robert Smith remarked, and the plea was rejected.

Former Postmaster Dr. Timpona Passes

Funeral services for Dr. George Timpona, 11027 Ingram, Livonia, who served as postmaster in Plymouth from 1949 until his retirement in October 1964, were held Saturday, May 11, in St. Michael Catholic Church.

Dr. Timpona, a chiropractor, died May 7, in Detroit Osteopathic Hospital.

During his years as postmaster, he was one of the Democratic leaders in the Livonia-Plymouth area and was a controversial figure at the time of the incorporation of Livonia in 1950.

He fought a losing battle in trying to have the new Livonia post office made a branch of the Plymouth office—a move that would have given him the unusual distinction of being the postmaster in two cities simultaneously.

He was born on July 21, 1896 in Pennsylvania and is survived by his wife, Dr. Marie Timpona, and a brother, Anthony, in Pittsburgh.

$925 In Fines

Township Justice James E. McCarthy heard 37 cases in the last two weeks and levied $925 in fines.

The heaviest fine was one of $125 levied against Warren C. Howard, of Northville.

Plymouth High Class Of 1967 Moves Ahead

A follow-up study of the Plymouth High School class of 1967 showed that 63.2 per cent of the graduating seniors were attending college.

Eight former high school students, or 1.95 per cent, were attending vocational schools while 30.4 per cent were either serving apprenticeships, in the service, or had full time jobs. Ten of the girls became brides and only one of the students was unemployed.

All told, the statistics showed that an overwhelming majority of the 402 students was either in higher education or were working full time.

Campus Revolts Mark Lower Voting Age Debate

WASHINGTON -- The proposal to lower the voting age to 18 years, a perennial loser in Congress in recent decades, has taken on new life in the wake of campus revolts.

Four senators, including Majority Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Jacob K. Javits of New York, warned in subcommittee testimony last week that young people were determined to participate in public decision-making, and that their frustrations were increased because they could not vote.

Early hearings before the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments showed there were signs that recent displays of student political participation were working an unexpected political chemistry by rejuvenating the idea of the 18-year old vote. Similar amendments have been introduced in every session of Congress since 1942 but have never reached the floor of either House.

BALTIMORE -- Maryland voters last week rejected a new constitution that would have replaced the century old much-amended existing one, reformed the three branches of state government and lowered the voting age to 19.

The final tally was 325,000 against to 263,000 in favor of the new document. Twenty-one of the state's 23 counties rejected the proposal.

CHICAGO -- Most states and larger cities still lack effective programs to control air pollution, according to Dean Mathews, an official of the National Center for Air Pollution Control.

"The public is turning a deaf ear to the old pleas that we must suffer the effects of air pollution because we are too unsophisticated technically to conduct our business without reducing air pollution," said Mathews.

WASHINGTON -- The Navy has court-martialed and sentenced to reprimand the commander of the destroyer USS Bache, which ran aground and was wrecked off the Greek Island of Rhodes in February.

Commander Edward A. Broadwell, 39, of Birmingham, Mich., was sentenced at the Naples court martial for "negligently hazarding" his ship. Maximum sentence could have been two years confinement, total forfeiture of pay for that period and dismissal from the Navy.

The president of Florida State University has resigned in the wake of student protests in a censorship controversy as militant youths from Arkansas to Chicago continue to disrupt academic life.

In Tallahassee, FSU President John Champion resigned after his faculty narrowly defeated a motion asking him to step down. Some 20 to 200 students had stayed on the lawn in front of the administration building to protest Champion's preventing publications of a story in the campus literary magazine.

Fourteen Negro students at the University of Miami were arrested after refusing to leave the school president's office where they were demanding increased "blackness" on campus.

Of the 14 arrested, 12 were men and two women. They demanded courses in Negro history and culture and an increase in Negro enrollment. A university spokesman said there are 165 Negro students out of an enrollment of 16,000.

Roosevelt University in Chicago suspended 21 more students, bringing the total to 45 disciplined for staging a sit-in in the president's office. All 21 were arrested during demonstrations to protest the administration's refusal to hire a controversial professor on a full-time basis.

National News Round Up

At the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, about 25 demonstrators picketed the entrance of a printing plant to protest the failure of the student newspaper to print a letter from a Negro student. They said the letter in question was in rebuttal to an earlier letter the paper printed attacking Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

At the University of Maryland, 174 faculty members signed petitions asking for equal treatment for Negroes and urging President Wilson Elkins to issue a blanket order barring racial discrimination by any group on campus.

A faculty-student committee urged the Dartmouth College community to avoid incidents during the annual ROTC Armed Forces Day parade and award ceremony.

In New York City, Columbia University trustees rejected a bid by leaders of the student strike to meet together referring their complaints to the administration.

Student demonstrators in Durham, N.C., maintained a "silent vigil" in a resumed attempt to get Duke University to agree to collective bargaining for its non-academic employees.

GROTON, Conn. -- Rear Admiral H.E. Kimmel, one of the two officers who bore the brunt of the abuse after Japan's sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, died of an apparent heart attack at age 86 last week.

Kimmel, who commanded the Pacific fleet, and the late LTC Walter C. Short, army commander in Hawaii, were relieved of their commands within 10 days of the Dec. 7, 1941 attack. Kimmel retired three months later.

A presidential commission investigating the attack accused Kimmel of dereliction of duty. But Kimmel blamed President Franklin D. Roosevelt, claiming he had an agreement with Churchill and the military to get America into the war. Kimmel charged that information was available in Washington about the impending attack but was withheld from him. He demanded a court-martial, which he never got, to tell his side of the story.

Five years later, while testifying before a joint congressional investigating committee, Kimmel showed he had never received the information Washington had that an attack might be imminent.

JONESVILLE, Mich. -- Services for "Whispering" Will Collins, a popular radio singer and composer of the 1920s and 1930s, were held last week in Hillsdale County. Collins died of a falling heart in University Hospital, Ann Arbor.

In the 1930s, he starred in a radio program called "In Shadowland." He also composed several popular songs, one of them, "The Night Shall Be Filled with Music," a hit in the 1930s.

NEW YORK -- Demonstrating parents and their supporters staged a sit-in recently at a predominantly Negro junior high school in Brooklyn to prevent five white teachers from returning to their classrooms.

About 200 policemen stood by but made no move to open the way past the protesters for the five teachers to enter the school. About 110 other teachers stayed out to show support for their colleagues.

The dispute is the latest clash in a continuing battle over decentralization of the 1.1 million pupil school system, largest in the nation. If the city breaks up its system into about 15 autonomous districts, it would qualify for an added $100 million in state school aid.

HOUSTON -- John M. Stuckwisch's ailing body overcame his new heart last week, making him the 10th man to die following heart transplant surgery.

The 62-year-old hospital administrator had lived seven days with the heart of a Houston beating victim. Newell France, administrator of St. Luke Hospital, attributed death to progressive liver failure with deepening jaundice and extension of a pre-existing arterial disease.

It left four of the world's 14 heart transplant patients still living -- one each in Houston, Paris, London and Cape Town, South Africa.

ALBANY -- The New York legislature has killed a bill drafted by Governor Rockefeller to license all rifles and shotguns in the state.

The governor drafted the bill after commissioning a private poll that he said showed 73 per cent of New York residents favored the idea.

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. -- Jack A. Griffith, indicted with Jack ("Murphy the Surt") Murphy in the murders of two California secretaries, has been arrested near Tallahassee. Griffith was flown to Fort Lauderdale and jailed last week after police arrested him following an anonymous tip of his whereabouts.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. -- Just a month after Memphis' 65-day garbage strike ended, another large Southern city is tangled in a dispute with garbage men who have refused to work for more than a week.

Emergency crews were put in action, but many residents stacked garbage into cars and took it to area fire stations where trucks were stationed. The strike began on May 6, and City Manager Lynn Andrews fired all 170 strikers.

House Passes Its Own Version Of Open Housing

Michigan's historic open housing law lay in legislative limbo today with speculation rising that the Senate would accept House changes and put it on Gov. Romney's desk.

Its provisions are tougher than the new federal act and apply antidiscrimination clauses to owners of single homes.

The House vote on the Senate-passed bill was 76 to 13 with 40 Republicans and 36 Democrats voting for it and 13 Republicans and 18 Democrats voting against it.

SUBURBAN legislators split on the issue, some contending that the federal law pre-empted the field and the state act was not necessary.

Reps. John Bennett (D-Redford) and Vincent J. Pettipren (D-Westland) voted for the bill, and Reps. James Tierney (D-Garden City), Ray Baker (R-Farmington) voted against it. Rep. Louis C. Schmidt (R-Livonia) did not vote.

Schmidt was called to Saginaw by the sudden illness of his mother, but said most of his objections had been eliminated by House amendments. "I felt that the complainant (in a discrimination case) should have some responsibility and a homeowner should not be harassed or subjected to entrapment," Schmidt said.

"I think these objections have been met."

TIERNEY, FORMER mayor of Garden City, was the only legislator from this area to impose his right to explain his negative vote. He said:

"I do not believe it right or equitable or in keeping with the spirit of individual freedom to deny any person the prerogative of using their own best judgment in entering into a longtime contract pertaining to what frequently amounts to savings, sacrifice and toll of a lifetime by a man and his wife --their home."

The House version went back to the Senate for agreement in amendments. If the Senate does not agree on the floor, the bill will go to a House-Senate conference committee.

HOWEVER, pressure started developing in the wake of the House vote for the Senate to accept the changes without a conference.

The major House changes will allow a defendant in a Civil Rights Commission case to take the issue directly into circuit court, thus bypassing the commission, which some legislators felt has too much power.

The House reacted to a Michigan Supreme Court decision a month ago which required the Legislature to enact an implementing law to ban discrimination in housing.

Schmidt and others said they felt this left no alternative, that a failure for the Legislature to act would toss enforcement of the constitutional provision and the court decision into the Civil Rights Commission.

Pike Season On; Fishing Good

Good catches of most types of fish are being reported by the state Conservation Department district office in Pontiac.

Major news this week was the May 15 opening of northern pike and muskellunge seasons on inland lakes and non-trout streams.

Good-sized bluegills were taken from the Stony Creek Impoundment, Wildwood, Crystal, Crotched and Oxbow lakes.

Perch, rock bass and white bass catches were "fair" on Lake St. Clair off Huron Pointe, the mouth of the Clinton River, the Clinton Spillway and Salt River.

Paint Creek produced a number of German brown trout in the 17 to 19 inch class. Catch of the week was a nine-pound, 25-inch rainbow trout by H.E. Bumgardner of Drayton Plains fishing in Lower Trout Lake. The same lake produced an eight-pound German brown trout a week ago.

Although fishing pressure has been light, fairly good rainbows have been reported at Cooley and Union lakes and "slow but sure" splake in Maceday Lake.

Wildlife Activity At Peak

Wildflowers, trees, mushrooms, songbirds—all are visible and at peak activity in southeastern Michigan's woods and grasslands, according to the State Conservation Department.

In the last week, wildflowers and blooming trees have reached their maximum development and beauty.

State parks and recreation areas report a good deal of songbird activity—notably the height of the migration of goldfinches ("wild canaries").

The Holly and Bald Mountain State Recreation Areas in Oakland County report good mushroom hunting.

TWO OUTDOORS events are on tap for the weekend:

The Lower Michigan Paddling Council will hold a canoe race Sunday on the Clinton River beginning at the fishing access site in the Rochester-Utica Recreation area. Some 150 participants are expected.

Port Austin, at the tip of the thumb, is celebrating a centennial, and the Port Crescent State Park on M-25 west of town is holding open house for the occasion.

The district conservation office, at 2455 N. Williams Lake Rd., Pontiac, has a supply of $7 Golden Eagle Passport permits to enter all federal recreation areas where fees are charged. The passports are valid from April 1 to next March 31.

Sultan Debates Dirksen's Con Con

A constitutional law expert who lives in Farmington Township has issued a detailed criticism of the so-called "Dirksen Amendment" that would call a federal constitutional convention to nullify U.S. Supreme Court "one-man, one-vote" rulings.

He is Allen Sultan, assistant professor of law in the University of Detroit Law School and formerly an instructor at Indiana University's law school.

Sultan reacted to an invitation issued by State Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield, asking Sen. Dirksen himself to testify here in favor of the proposed amendment.

THE STATUS of the amendment in Michigan, according to its sponsor, Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, is this: Schweigert sponsored a Dirksen amendment resolution a year ago which would "memorialize" Congress to call a federal constitutional convention. The resolution is stuck in the Senate Business Committee, where it needs three of the five votes to get to the floor.

If Michigan's Legislature approves it, then the resolution would be close to having the support of the 34 states that it needs.

If 34 states approve such a "memorial," then Congress would be obliged to call a constitutional convention. In its original form, the Dirksen Amendment would have allowed such a convention to discuss a wide variety of subjects, but Schweigert says his resolution would limit the topic to reapportionment.

The idea behind the Dirksen Amendment is to allow states—at their option—to apportion one house of the legislature on a basis other than population. (Schweigert says the resolution wouldn't touch county boards of supervisors, which would still have to be on a "one-man, one-vote" basis.)

A LONG SERIES of hurdles is necessary before such a revision of the Michigan Senate's apportionment can become a fact, as Schweigert explains it.

First, enough states would have to ask for the constitutional convention. There is disagreement about whether all the states which have so far approved Dirksen Amendment resolutions have done so properly.

Second, the constitutional convention would have to approve the Dirksen Amendment.

Third, the legislatures of three-fourths of the states would have to approve the amendments proposed by the constitutional convention in order to make them part of the U.S. Constitution.

Fourth, the Michigan Legislature would have to place on the ballot two questions to this effect: "1. Do you want the Senate apportioned on a straight population basis?—Yes or No." "2. Do you want the Senate apportioned on a basis other than population?—Yes or No."

The dedication address will be presented by Dr. Leroy G. Augenstein, chairman of the biophysics department of Michigan State University and a member of the State Board of Education.

Fifth, the voters would have to approve the second resolution and reject the first. (Note: Sen. Schweigert was unable to say what would happen if voters contradicted themselves by approving both questions.)

Sixth, the state Reapportionment Commission would have to revise the Senate districts. Schweigert presumes it would use the 80-20 formula of the 1963 Michigan Constitution, which the U.S. Supreme Court declared in violation of the U.S. Constitution. Under that formula, the Apportionment Commission gives 80 per cent weight to a county's population and 20 per cent to its land area in setting up Senate districts.

Well, Allen Sultan opposes this. Here is what he wrote:

RECENTLY The Observer Newspapers reported a recent invitation of our State Sen. George Kuhn to U.S. Sen. Everett Dirksen, to appear in Michigan in an effort to have our state vote for the Dirksen Amendment, thereby satisfying the necessary two-thirds required by the Constitution.

Since there is no more important issue presently before the American people (in spite of riots, Vietnam and urban blight), the residents of Observerland should be informed on what many mistakenly feel is only a technical problem.

The "Dirksen Amendment," one of many proposed by the Illinois senator, would overturn the recent "one-man, one-vote" rulings of the Supreme Court. I must oppose it on grounds of both practicality and principle.

THE AMENDMENT is not only impractical, it is highly dangerous.

This has been the conclusion of many discussions of the proposed amendment at national meetings of law professors, as well as the conclusion of other interested and informed individuals.

Last June 16, the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research in Washington, D.C. prepared a "Special Analysis" of the proposal (Number 5) for the 90th Congress, First Session. It documented and discussed no less than 10 serious legal questions or "issues" that would be created by the "passage" of the Dirksen proposal. There are not merely problems of "interpretation," but rather concern the validity or legality of the proposal as an amendment to the Constitution.

Since a few immoderate spokesmen for the proposal do not know (or fail to respect) the dangers resulting from their support, one can envision the possibility of their call to emotion resulting in a deep division of the population, should one or more of the 10 issues be held by the courts to render the amendment invalid.

The result may well be two groups of candidates each claiming they were duly elected to office. Since one group would not respect the previous determination by the courts, the country may well experience a Latin American type of democracy—where sheer power or force determines who shall or shall not hold office.

SEN. DIRKSEN FAILED by both force of persuasion and by political pressure to achieve the American people; this can best be done by guaranteeing to all the people—not rocks, not trees—the greatest possible control of their state and federal governments. The American system is predicated squarely upon this fundamental principle.

Thus, like Senators Schweigert and Kuhn, and the other members of the Michigan Legislature who favor this new Dirksen effort, I am fully in favor of a reinvigorated or revitalized federalism; I too desire a reversal of the transfer of power to the central government whenever and wherever local and state governments can properly discharge responsibilities presently performed by Washington.

But with all due respect, I must suggest to those who support this movement that it will defeat these very objectives they, and I, seek.

IT WOULD BE presumption of the highest order for any individual—learned or unlearned—to attempt with certainty to forecast the long-range ramifications of voting one way or the other on the Dirksen proposal.

Evaluating these factors, I cannot escape the conclusion that a vote for the Dirksen proposal is a vote for a society we all, with nostalgia, wish we could have; for each of us have, to some degree, gone to school at the feet of Thomas Jefferson. However, in our political society, we must make basic political decisions in accord with our appraisals of public need and in the light of the society we expect will most probably exist.

When I make these projections, the result, time and again, dictates a vote against the Dirksen proposal, whatever its form, because it would mitigate the ability of democratic representation to fully serve the needs of people at the lowest effective level of government possible.

This would, among other consequences, further endanger the perpetuation of a meaningful federalism, as services demanded by the people, but politically incapable of being satisfied by the states, will eventually have to come from Washington; thus, ironically, the opposite of the result intended by the sponsors of this amendment will be realized.

LET THE MICHIGAN Legislature, therefore, "keep its cool" and allow a sister state the dubious distinction of being the 34th state to vote and thereby satisfy the number required to call the convention.

Because many of those 33 states that have already voted for the convention are now reapportioned, the necessary 37 ratifications will most likely never materialize. This is particularly true because, if it should materialize, it would be impossible to keep such a convention from exposure to public opinion.

It has been a long and arduous road to the equality of Americans in the voting booth. Michigan and its Legislature should acclaim that achievement! Rather, through Sen. Schweigert's sponsorship, and Sen. Kuhn's invitation, it may well be caught up in the euphoria and false emotionalism of an empty movement which represents the last dying pains of an old order, an order which should have long since been laid to rest.

City To Buy Church As Center

Livonia is about to buy St. Paul's Lutheran Church site on Farmington near Five Mile Road, as a center for senior citizens.

Studied by Mayor Harvey W. Moelke, the City Planning Commission, the building authority, heads of senior citizens organizations, and officials of St. Paul's, the idea was given approval all along the line.

Moelke presented the proposal personally to the City Council's seven members Wednesday night, a body which had favored buying the property for other purposes only to have their resolutions for appraisal vetoed.

COUNCIL liked the new idea, especially since bids for the proposed Center ran far above the budgeted amount. The bids, about $250,000 instead of the expected cost of $150,000, were rejected and the Council gave the "go ahead" signal to the purchase plan.

A Senior Citizens Housing Committee was set up to take the matter out of the hands of the Parks and Recreation Department, which was to defray the costs. Councilmen were critical of the "lack of communication" with the department in the progress of the program.

The purchase now will be made through a special self-redeeming bond issue.

The mayor appeared in person to explain the problem and a way to solve it, and to announce that he had changed his mind about adding the church site to city property, since it can be put to useful purpose. He received not only a friendly reception, but approval of the idea.

The church has been anxious to relocate on larger acreage, and had offered its property to the city months ago. It reportedly has bought seven acres, also on Farmington Road.

St. Paul's present two acres is surrounded by city property earmarked for Civic Center development.

The idea for converting the property—church, school and rectory—into meeting places for senior citizens was welcomed after the cost of building a new center at Ford Field skyrocketed above the budget figures.

MOELKE told the councilmen that the property can be had, with accommodations twice those of the proposed building, at the price of $300,000, including the land.

He recommended that the purchase be made through the Building Authority and a bond issue, with rental paid by the city to retire the bonds. Thus, the taxpayers would not be required to approve the purchase. Moelke said six months might be needed to handle the bond issue.

A councilman remarked that "I think it right and proper that Mayor Moelke and his staff be congratulated for doing such a commendable job."

It was a rare tribute paid to the mayor by Council. They are often at odds.

The mayor explained his about face on the property purchase.

He said that previously it would have served no general purpose in the Civic Center plan, and that the city was without funds to buy it as the Council proposed.

But the need for a gathering place for the 1,000 men and women who belong to the senior citizens organizations and the possible 4,000 to 5,000 other elderly who could use the facilities made it advisable to buy the site—which is at the center of the city.

The mayor said that school classrooms could be converted into meeting rooms, that there are two offices, and that an auditorium could accommodate 300 to 500 for meetings and dinners. There's a multi-purpose room, and a kitchen, and the buildings are laid out so that they could be converted to meet needs.

THERE IS parking space on the site.

The house occupied by the pastor could likely be used by a manager or custodian, the mayor said.

The church and school would be permitted to use the facilities, under the purchase plan, while new buildings were going up on the newly selected site.

Moelke also said that by using a bond issue to finance the program, the Parks and Recreation Department would have more funds for other purposes, since inflation in land and building prices is eating away at the $4,400,000 bond issue provided for parks and playgrounds.

Moelke said the fact that a strike of tradesmen will mean higher labor costs, and likely would increase building prices for the center much more.

Romney Picks Lansing Attorney As U-M Regent

LANSING -- Gov. George Romney has announced the appointment of Robert P. Briggs, of Elk Rapids, as state commissioner of financial institutions and of Lawrence B. Lindner, of Stockbridge, as a regent of the University of Michigan.

Briggs has been a U. of M. regent since 1964. He will resign from that post May 31. Lindner will succeed him. Romney said Lindner, a Lansing attorney and former Republican state chairman, will have to run for election this fall to fill the eight year term. Briggs retired May 1 as executive vice president of Consumers Power Company after serving 16 years with the utility firm as head of financial and corporate affairs.

LANSING -- The Detroit newspaper strike is more than 143 days old and last week Gov. Romney said there's "no end in sight" and urged the public to bring pressure upon the publishers and unions to settle their differences. "It is unconscionable that in this modern age, the public's right to know can be thwarted for over half a year by the decisions of any of 16 individuals representing the two managements and the 14 unions," he said.

STATE AND LOCAL ROUNDUP

Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said interest rates charged for secret loans to persons who could not get funds elsewhere were from 50 to 200 per cent.

The charge says the payments were enforced by extorting and threats of violence.

ANN ARBOR -- Plans for a one year study of the University of Michigan's trimester academic calendar, with a view toward revisions, were made last week in a special meeting between U. of M. President Robben Fleming and the faculty Senate Advisory Committee on University Affairs.

U. of M.'s trimester system is based on recommendations made in 1961 by a faculty committee. Under this system terms run from late August until shortly before Christmas, January to early May and late May into August--with an option for students to enroll in courses for all of the summer term or for one of two shorter terms.

MARSHALL -- The Calhoun County Board of Supervisors has approved a new wage schedule for sheriff's deputies who climaxed a four-month dispute with a 17-hour walkout two weeks ago. The new contract boosts salaries for beginning deputies from the current $5,262 to $5,782 on July 1 and to $6,074 on Jan. 1, 1969. The top minimum for deputies was raised to $7,758. Salaries for sergeants, captains and the undersheriff were increased along the same lines. The contract will expire Dec. 31, 1969.

LANSING -- The Michigan Senate, looking for a way to skirt a court ruling, has moved into a position for a final vote on a bill that would make helmets required motorcycle equipment.

The House passed measure would have the effect of evading a recent Court of Appeals decision that ruled unconstitutional a law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets. The principle of the proposed bill is the same as used in the law that required cars to be equipped with seat belts but not that they be worn.

Evans Opens Property For Industrial Park

Evans Products Co., located on Eckles Road in Plymouth Township, started industrial and real estate circles in the midwest and Detroit area Thursday with the announcement that it will make 95 acres of its property available for an industrial park.

At the same time, officials announced the company will continue to manufacture railroad devices and specialized freight cars.

This follows a recent announcement that the company will discontinue the manufacture of box cars at the Plymouth plant and transfer that operation to one of its subsidiaries near Chicago.

WILLIAM E. FINKENSTADT, division vice president and general manager of the company's Industrial Division headquartered in Plymouth, said Evans has made its plans known to the Plymouth Area Planning Commission and real estate firms. "We recognize that the strategic location of our property makes its development a matter of importance to the Plymouth Community," he said. "And since we do not require all of it for our own purposes, we have decided to offer it for development."

"The introduction of new industrial firms into the area will benefit the community and increase its tax base. The company will retain approximately 20 acres of the 115-acre tract for use by our Industrial Division and offer the remaining 95 acres for other use."

THE ANNOUNCEMENT comes on the heels of an earlier communication from company officials in Chicago that the new office building, which has been in use for less than two years, will be placed up for lease.

Finkenstaedt said another factor influencing the company's decision was its intention of confining its transportation equipment manufacturing activities to Evans' long established damage-prevention device business and to freight cars of specialized design.

This statement verified the recently announced story that it was discontinuing the mass production of box cars at Plymouth and would revert to its original role as a producer of specially engineered equipment tied in with the specific needs of railroads and shippers.

"OUR INDUSTRIAL Division, whose Michigan plants are located at Plymouth, Grand Rapids and Gagetown will continue to manufacture DF and DF-B damage-prevention devices, freight car side-filler, gondola bulkheads, the new 'Air Pak' bulkhead, hydraulic underframes, material handling racks and containers, XAP car devices, truck and piggyback DF equipment, DF loader components, truck and bus heaters, ventilating system and air conditioners, laminated die model and pattern stock, automobile interior trim and metal faced trailer doors," he said.

"We will also produce specialized freight cars such as the Evans DF-C car for transporting coils of steel or aluminum."

The Evans Industrial Division is part of the company's Transportation Equipment Group, headquartered in Chicago.

The group's other plants, in Chicago and Blue Island, Ill.; Washington, Ind.; and Annapolis, Md., also produce railroad equipment, reconstruct and repair freight cars, lease freight cars and manufacture sectional insulated panels for low-temperature structures.

Evans' corporate headquarters are in Portland, Ore. Two other semi-autonomous product groups within the company—the Building Products Group and the Retail and Home Group—are important factors in the nation's building material and pre-cut homes industries.

DURING THE PAST four years, Evans expanded the facilities at the Plymouth plant by an estimated $6.5 million, making extensive additions to the railway car operation.

The company had announced its intention of making Plymouth the center of its railway car construction program and indicated the major portion of the new buildings would be used for specialized freight cars and box cars.

Evans enjoyed a peak of prosperity for a period of almost three years with orders pouring in from railroads throughout the nation—but then the bottom dropped out of the business, and reliable sources report the company has had no orders for box cars for a long period of time.

This was duly reported and reflected in the annual report to stockholders at the end of the 1966 fiscal year. It was reported the company had huge losses in the railway equipment and car manufacture division.

THE REPORT also indicated that steps were being taken to correct the situation and shortly thereafter there was a major change in executive personnel at the Plymouth plant.

Educators Get Four-Day West Point Sales Talk

By FRED DeLANO

Five high school guidance counselors from Observerland were among 32 Michigan educators who last week were exposed to the full spectrum of cadet life at the United States Military Academy as West Point officers continued to combat what they call an "information void" among the young men of America.

During the current academic year, the academy has preached its educational and career opportunities to nearly 1,000 such high school faculty representatives from 41 states.

The Michigan delegation was the last to visit West Point in the current program, which was prompted, according to an Academy spokesman, when a survey "revealed numerous misconceptions about the Military Academy among secondary school guidance counselors and students."

TOUR OUTLINE — Capt. R. J. Nicholson, Military Academy admissions officer, explains to five Observerland high school guidance counselors, points of interest to be toured during

"Results will be evidenced through this group alone for the next 20 years."

Soave, who is an active member of the Army Reserve, declared, "This was a revelation. I was surprised at the classroom informality, but deeply impressed to see that integrity is made an inseparable part of a cadet's life."

"Every college encourages integrity, of course, but nowhere have I seen it stressed with such devotion as West Point shows to its motto of 'Duty . . . Honor . . . Country.'"

Mrs. Prescott spoke in the same vein when she said, "Integrity apparently becomes a part of each man, and it was good to see that honor is of prime importance. Having been there, all of us can give better information to our students on qualifications for academy admission."

MARKS COMMENTED, "I think we've all gained an appreciation of West Point's mission. I had some wrong ideas before this trip, and probably we all did. They have been corrected."

"One of the most impressive aspects is the concern for each cadet shown by the instructors and general staff."

Libbing, who moves to Plymouth High School next fall from East Junior High School, pointed out:

"It is obvious that it takes a fantastic combination of factors in a boy to make him properly suited for West Point, but it's great for those with the motivation."

"I talked with many of them, and in every one there was a great sense of pride. I would say that for the boy who possesses the right combination of abilities, and who can get through his first year, the academy is ideal."

These five and their colleagues were given far more than a tourist's view of the historic military post which was established in 1802 on the site of a key Revolutionary War fortress overlooking the Hudson River, 52 miles north of New York City.

They attended classes with the cadets; they ate hot dogs, beans and chili in the mess hall; they were given thorough briefings by officers who conduct all phases of military, academic and physical education instruction, and they were taken behind the scenes in department after department to see how the pulse of the academy is maintained.

That pulse is The Corps.

WITHIN MINUTES AFTER departing from a U.S. Air Force plane—whose pilot gave them a parting shot of, "Don't forget that it was the Air Force who brought you to see the Army"—the Michigan educators heard the Academy's basic mission outlined by Col. William J. Whitener, representing the No. 1 man at West Point, Maj. Gen. Donald V. Bennett.

He made it sound simple:

"The mission of the United States Military Academy is to instruct and train the corps of cadets so that each graduate will have the qualities and attributes essential to his progressive and continued development throughout a career as an officer of the regular army."

Two days later, after being "sold" on the general academic functions of the Academy, these same Michigan educators were brought back to reality by Col. William J. Love, in a briefing for the department of tactics.

He, too, made it sound simple:

"We teach these men to kill."

It recalled an earlier statement by Col. Whitener: "There are approximately 28,000 high schools in America and from them we want 1,250 highly motivated young men a year. We want them to make a career of the Army."

One June 5, the academy will graduate 705 first classmen (seniors) who remain from the 997 plebes who were introduced to "beast barracks" four years ago.

Through the years, it has been found that about 30 per cent of those who are accepted for West Point simply can't cut it.

Currently there are 29 cadets at West Point, from a total enrollment of nearly 4,000, from Michigan. None is from Observerland.

UNDER PRESENT REGULATIONS, a boy who is accepted for appointment as a cadet is making a nine-year commitment. These include four full years at West Point, followed by a five-year assignment with the regular Army. When graduated, he has the rank of second lieutenant.

Classroom brilliance, with a leaning toward mathematics, science and engineering, carries a 60 per cent value in rating each applicant for admission. Leadership qualities are valued at 30 per cent, and physical aptitude 10 per cent. Heartfelt motivation toward a military career is left to prove itself, John Woodruff of the Admissions Department stated.

This was a part of the route Michigan's educators were taken on their behind-the-scenes tour.

It also was flowered with a full dress regimental parade, a reception in the Officer's Club, and general "red carpet" treatment that brought them into welcome contact with cadets and officers alike.

To all appearances, the "information void" had been gapped as academy administrators desired. Michigan now has 32 more educators who know the type of high school boy they want at West Point, what he has to do to gain an appointment, and what life will be like when he gets there.

Their advice will start with the words, "It won't be easy."

Cheer up the morning with a bowl of hot cereal! Serve it with a little light corn syrup poured right from the bottle along with the cream or milk or with butter or margarine melting into the warm cereal. A popular trick of many cereal fans is to pour on dark corn syrup to give a nice and nutty flavor. Try hot cereal as a nutritious after-school snack or afternoon pick-up.

Graduate To Success

Graduation day marks the beginning of a different way of life, either in the world of work or in a new school situation. If you've been a breakfast-skipper in the past, now's the time to mend your ways. This basic breakfast of nutritious Kellogg's Special K, milk, fresh fruit and a piping hot Brunch Muffin will supply lots of "get-up-and-go." Why not breakfast your way to successful days?

BRUNCH MUFFINS

- | | |
|--------------------------|--|
| 1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran | 1 cup sifted regular all-purpose flour |
| 3/4 cup milk | 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder |
| 1 egg | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1/4 cup soft shortening | 1/4 cup sugar |

- | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|
| 1 3-ounce package cream cheese | 2 tablespoons orange marmalade |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|

Combine All-Bran and milk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add egg and shortening; beat well. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Add to first mixture, stirring only until combined. Fill greased small muffin pans 3/4 full. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 20 minutes, or until nicely browned.

While muffins are baking, whip cream cheese until fluffy. Fold in marmalade. Cut a small round wedge-shaped section out of top of each muffin. Fill cavity with cream cheese mixture. Replace "top-knot" lightly and serve immediately.

Yield: 15 Brunch Muffins, 2 inches in diameter

Spring's Edible Greens

By JOYCE TOTTEN

The crackling-crisp, garden-fresh greens, dry chilled and tossed with a zesty well-seasoned dressing, and you have a green salad worth singing about!

Today, of course, a wide variety of salad greens is in supply the year-round, but there's no time like spring and early summer, when interesting greens are abundant, to go all out on salads. If you haven't explored these great greens, now's the time to begin.

TEN OF the most popular are Boston lettuce, romaine, curly endive, leaf lettuce, escarole, watercress, spinach, bibb lettuce, iceberg lettuce and cabbage. If you get acquainted with them, you'll learn their differences in texture and flavor, and discover the wonderful contribution they can make to your salads. And greens, although fairly bursting with vitamins, are low, low, in calories!

TO MIX really good green salads, remember these few basic points:

Be sure greens are dry and chilled. Wash them well when you bring them from market. Then drain thoroughly, wrap in paper toweling, and refrigerate about eight hours.

Tear greens into bite-size pieces—please don't cut them with a knife or you'll bruise them.

Always place dressing on last so salad remains crisp.

"Easy does it" with tossing—those tender greens deserve the light touch.

Here are some special dressings:

FAVORITE FRENCH DRESSING

1 c. vinegar
1 c. sugar
1 c. oil
1 t. salt

1 t. or more onion, grated or onion juice
1/4 to 1/3 c. vinegar
2/3 to 1 c. salad oil
1 t. to 1 T. celery seed

CREAM CHEESE DRESSING

Number of Servings - 6

Foster Parents

Plymouth Couple Gives Tiny Girl Their Love And Money

By GLENNA MERILLAT

Mrs. Scott wanted a little boy, but when Mi Hae Chi turned out to be a tiny, wistful 7 1/2 year old girl, Mrs. Scott's happy tears were just as genuine as they would have been for a boy.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scott live in an apartment on Wilcox Road with their two parakeets, "Big Boy" and "Little Bit." They have a 22-year-old son who is attending Henry Ford College and who has his own apartment.

And now they have Mi Hae Chi.

ONE AFTERNOON last January, the Scotts were watching television when an advertisement for Foster Parent's Plan, Inc. flashed across the screen telling of the world's destitute children and how they could be aided through "Plan".

Mr. and Mrs. Scott agreed to send a letter of inquiry to "Plan" and when, several days later another advertisement appeared in the Observer Newspapers, they sent their letter off immediately to the New York agency asking for a child from Viet Nam.

Weeks went by with no answer. Then a letter dated Feb. 20 arrived explaining that... "communication with our Saigon office was all but cut off until a few days ago"... and that work had come to a standstill in Viet Nam. Reports from "Plan's" staff members were trickling back, many of them with hair-raising tales.

UNTIL CONDITIONS improved in that war-torn country, would the Scotts consider "adopting" a child from another country? They would.

The Scotts are now foster parents to Mi Hae Chi, a little Korean orphan.

"Her parents were killed when she was four years old," said Mrs. Scott, "and we learned that her aunt was starving to death when Mi Hae Chi finally came to live with her."

"She was put into the street when her aunt became too ill to care for her, a man found her and took her to the orphanage where she lives now."

THE FOSTER PARENTS plan is a government approved relief organization which is non-sectarian, non-profit and non-political. The Plan currently operates in Greece, Korea, Viet Nam, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Brazil, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru.

Foster parents may be individuals, like the Scotts, or groups such as clubs, schools, churches or businesses. A tax-free contribution of $15 per month ($180 per year) for at least one year will give a child new clothing, blankets, household equipment, medical care and education.

Then there is the joy of correspondence with the child.

"We are only allowed to write one letter a month," said Mrs. Scott. "This is because it must first go through 'Plan' and be translated and then sent to Mi Hae Chi."

"They also translate her letters to us," said Mrs. Scott who is eagerly looking forward to the first letter from her little girl.

Each foster parent's contribution also provides for yearly progress reports, social services, postage, distribution of monthly cash grants and packages.

MRS. SCOTT'S enthusiasm about the Foster Parent's Plan is contagious. She has succeeded in convincing at least 20 of her co-workers at the Ford Rawsonville Plant, where she works, to "adopt" children.

But there are those who have challenged Mrs. Scott with such questions as, "What about the poor people of this country?"

South Lyon To Honor Frank Bartlett

The City of South Lyon has proclaimed Sunday, May 26, Frank Bartlett Day and plans are being made to honor the school superintendent of 22 years at an open house in the South Lyon High School gymnasium.

In lieu of a personal gift, the community will sponsor an Eastern Michigan University scholarship for graduating seniors.

The open house, with tea and a short program will begin at 2 p.m. Contributions for the Frank Bartlett scholarship fund are presently being accepted at the South Lyon Savings Bank.

MRS. SCOTT may never see her "adopted" Korean orphan.

"To deny a tiny, helpless child, who understands nothing but hunger, loneliness and many times terror on that basis is senseless," said Mrs. Scott.

When the Scott's son, Herbert, offered to pay half of the yearly contribution for Mi Hae Chi, Mrs. Scott told him, "No Sir, you'll have to write for your own little boy or girl."

THE SCOTTs plan to request another child and have hopes that the Viet Nam situation will improve so that their next "little one" will be Vietnamese.

"Plan" was founded three years ago, in 1937 and in 31 years has aided 84,000 children in 17 countries.

"As far as I know, we're the only Plymouth family participating in the program," said Mrs. Scott, who felt that Mi Hae Chi's story would inspire more local individuals and organizations to become "foster parents."

The international headquarters of Foster Parent Plan, Inc. are located in New York on 352 Park Avenue, South.

A line from the "Plan's" brochure pretty well sums up the Scott's feelings about their new parenthood:

"These are the children who must live in the same world with your children... your friendship today will determine the kind of world citizens they will become."

MI HAE CHI

Church To Be Built In Lake Pointe Village

Plans have been announced for the construction of a new church at 42000 Schoolcraft, adjacent to Lake Pointe Village.

The undenominational church, sponsored by Christian Expansion, Inc. will have a seating capacity of 250 in the sanctuary and facilities for a Sunday School program for all ages.

The church will be Early American in design and compatible with the architectural pattern of the neighborhood.

CHRISTIAN EXPANSION, Inc. is a non-profit, undenominational organization whose purpose is the establishment of Sunday schools and churches in the Michigan area.

As soon as the church is well established in an area, Christian Expansion steps aside. The church then becomes an autonomous Christian body under the control of local membership.

Lutheran Children Give Patriotic Play

The children of St. Peters Lutheran School will present a program, "Profiles in Patriotism" Tuesday, May 21, at 7:30 p.m. in the church fellowship hall, 1343 Penniman.

Each class will present patriotic skits and there will be an audience participation "song-fest."

The program is open to the public and there is no admission, however, a free-will offering will be asked.

The new church, to be known as Lake Pointe Community Chapel, will be conducting Sunday school classes at Farrand School until the new church building is completed.

SUNDAY SCHOOL classes for all ages are now being held in the school at 11 a.m. each Sunday, according to Frank Klerdorf, who is the new church's Sunday school superintendent and a local Plymouth businessman.

Klerdorf has planned a program of interesting Bible stories, songs and a contest to interest the children in the area.

All church activities are open to area residents.

The Starrs Have A Girl

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Starr, of 1470 Linden, announce the birth of Gail Hamilton, an eight pound, 3 1/2 ounce baby girl. Gail was born May 14. Mrs. Theresa Starr of Plymouth is Gail's paternal grandmother and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Robinson of Clawson are her maternal grandparents.

Farrand PTA Plans Dinner

U-D To Probe 3 Rivers For New Pollution Guides

The three branches of the River Rouge, along with the Huron and Saline rivers, will be subjects of a stream pollution research project by the University of Detroit.

U. of D. announced last week it has received a $100,000 grant for a three-year study from the U.S. Interior Department's Federal Water Pollution Control Administration.

"Simply put, the purpose of the experiments is to determine a more accurate way of measuring and specifying the degree of pollution of a stream," said Dr. R.J. Smith, U. of D. associate professor of biology who will direct the project.

He will be assisted by several other scientists and U. of D. graduate students.

SMITH SAID Observerland residents—in Farmington, Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Westland—may see team members wading in the Rouge waters.

"Heaven knows what they'll think we're up to—but it has nothing to do with coho salmon," he said.

Dr. Smith gave this explanation of why new methods of measuring pollution are needed:

"IT IS OBVIOUS that one organism may not pollute a stream, while 100 or one million—depending on the organism—may. Or, the organism may indicate, because of its presence, or environmental selectivity, the type or degree of pollution, both chemical and organic."

"At present it is not the easiest thing in the world to measure just how polluted a stream is, and further to specify how much pollution is dangerous, undesirable, or simply bad."

"Another difficulty: The term 'pollution' has not been properly defined. Many scientists have different views of just what 'pollution' is."

"It is generally held, however, that 'pollution' is the introduction of foreign matter into a body of water."

"THIS ISN'T really a satisfactory definition for many scientific and legal purposes. 'We need a better measuring stick, and that's what we hope to find.'"

Last year Prof. Smith and his then-U. of D. colleague, Prof. Robert M. Twedt, did some exploratory work along these lines. "Up until now," Dr. Smith said, "we have determined the pollution of streams by measuring 'indicator bacteria' which can be counted."

"This sort of material comes from man. It indicates fecal pollution, which in turn indicates the possibility that there are disease-carrying bacteria, or dangerous contaminants as well."

"In the past, we have tried to establish more exact relationships between these indicators and the disease-carrying bacteria."

"THE PROBLEM is that the actual disease carrying bacteria are hard to measure. Until recently, there has been no satisfactory means of determining the exact number per given amount of water sample."

"We have used other animals, such as snails, worms, etc. to indicate pollutional levels. Snails, for example, cannot be found in water of specific pollution."

"The successful exploration for new measuring devices will mean that government will be able to set firm standards required for swimming beaches, drinking water, the survival of animals, etc."

Drs. Smith and Twedt selected this particular area for the research project because it provides a good cross section. The streams pass through cities, villages, towns, rural areas, metropolitan areas and farm lands.

THEY EXPECT TO employ new devices recently developed including the Membrane Filter Technique, which is effective for scientific purposes but is difficult to use for routine monitoring of water.

With this technique, the water is filtered, and the bacterial organisms remain on the filter. They are then incubated and colonies counted. Thus the relative number of bacterial organisms can be determined in larger amounts of water.

The mechanics of the project offer some interesting statistics. The scientists expect to use 10,000 membrane filters (price tag: $3,510); 30,000 plastic dishes; 45,800 culture tubes....in addition to other laboratory equipment.

British Mining Town Buried In Polluted Suds

CASTLEFORD, England--This Yorkshire mining town has the washtub blues--it's sinking under a sea of suds. The suds pile feet high in the streets, drifting over sidewalks, choking doorways and burying autos.

The super suds result from pollution. Millions of gallons of dirty water, with a high chemical and detergent content, pour over a notch in a dam, which like a giant washing machine churns out mountains of suds.

Winds whip these among shoppers on the streets, and gangs of sweepers are called out. Because of high chemical content, the suds stain autos and paint on buildings and ruin women's stockings.

PARIS -- Negotiation between the U.S. and N. Vietnam resumed yesterday morning following a two-day break in discussions.

Before the previous session ended, Ambassador W. Averell Harriman reacted to reports that the U.S. was willing to accept a role for Communists in the political life of S. Vietnam.

"We have never been for a coalition government, and we will never be for a coalition government," stressed Harriman.

PANAMA -- Panamanians went to the polls last weekend but are still waiting to find out who their next president will be. The electoral tribunal has withheld official returns because so many ballots were challenged.

Following an outburst of street fighting the day after the election, the headquarters of the 4,000-man National Guard issued a statement saying it would support whoever is elected.

The National Guard, the nation's only armed force, blocked a recent attempt by the opposition-dominated National Assembly to oust President Marco A. Robles, and the Supreme Court subsequently overruled the assembly's verdict that Robles had violated the constitution by promoting the government candidate for the presidency.

PARIS -- France has been struck with unrest as rebellious students carried on sit-ins at 18 universities. Premier George Pompidou attributes the unrest to a widespread international plot.

"I do not think I am straying in thinking they are aiming at not only creating subversion in Western countries but at causing trouble in Paris even at the moment when our capital has become the meeting place for peace in the Far East," said Pompidou. Pompidou, admitting there was cause for unrest, said he would form a committee of professors, students and parents to "propose, if not solutions, at least experiments."

WORLD ROUNDUP

PRAGUE -- Czechoslovakia's new premier, Oldrich Cernik, has pledged continued close cooperation with other Communist nations and economic links with the West as well.

Cernik said individual businesses will soon be free to trade abroad with only loose government guidelines and supervision. The new leaders have been trying to remove barriers between East and West and at the same time assure Moscow that their country will remain Communist despite the liberalization process.

WASHINGTON -- Pakistan has told the U.S. that another 10-year renewal of the super-secret U.S. intelligence base in its northern province would be incompatible with Pakistan's interests.

In the past, the base's electronic devices have been the key eavesdroppers on Soviet military communication and presumably has been used for listening in on Communist China also.

BIRMINGHAM, England -- The Birmingham City Council has called on the government for legislation to restrict the flow of immigrants into the city. A city alderman explained the city had already taken special measures to accommodate huge numbers of immigrants, and it was now up to the national government to solve the problem.

BUCHAREST, Romania--French President Charles de Gaulle has challenged Communist Romania to march "side by side" with France toward a United Europe of truly independent nations.

De Gaulle, who will end a six-day visit Tuesday, is the first Western chief of state to visit Romania, which has been as big a thorn in Moscow's side as France has been to the West. The general approved of Romania's path of independence and urged Moscow to allow other Eastern European nations to follow suit.

SAIGON -- Mrs. Keith Hyland, American wife of the "duck feather king" of S. Vietnam, has been informed her husband is a prisoner of the Viet Cong.

Hyland, 54, who made a fortune with a duck feather down factory in Saigon, disappeared last Feb. 8 during the Viet Cong lunar offensive. He was seen being marched off by a group of women armed with rifles.

LONDON -- Striking mechanics virtually shut down Britain's nine major papers last week leaving millions of Britons without newspapers.

The combined loss of newspaper circulation caused by the strike was estimated at 10 million. The only newspaper on the streets in London was the Morning Star, formerly the Communist Daily Worker.

BUENOS AIRES -- A band of would-be bank robbers sentenced themselves to two months hard labor and got nothing for their sweat.

The gang rented a delicatessen store next to a bank, put a "closed for repairs" sign on the door, and went to work tunneling toward the bank vaults. After two months' work, the ferrets had to flee when the police came calling. A bank employee smelled the odor of the crooks' acetylene torches, became suspicious, and asked the police to investigate.

PRAGUE -- The Czech press reacted with outrage last week to a Soviet attack against Thomas Masaryk, president of the first Czechoslovak republic and the spiritual father of the country.

At the same time, the Slovak youth newspaper, Sema, published new disclosures about the dominant role played by Soviet officials in the wholesale purges in Prague that began after the Communist 1948 take-over.

However, it was the attacks on Masaryk that stirred the deepest anger. The clerical People's party paper commented: "This must be declared as a gross falsification of our history and an affront against one of the greatest personalities our nation ever had."

LONDON -- Prime Minister Wilson won impressive backing from his parliamentary Labor group last week for his prices and income policy as more than 600,000 engineers throughout Britain staged a one-day token strike against that policy.

Wilson seemed to have regained his old fighting spirit as he gained a 205-42 vote in support of his policy.

The strike brought out more than 250,000 in the West Midlands, 150,000 in Manchester, 110,000 in Birmingham, 80,000 in Coventry, 70,000 in Scotland, and 50,000 in Wales.

Porter Wins U-M Senior Award

ANN ARBOR--Dave Porter, twice winner of the NCAA wrestling championship and a defensive tackle on the football squad, was named the winner of the Michigan Senior Athlete Trophy by Wolverine undergraduate lettermen. The trophy was presented by the Ann Arbor Quarterback Club at its annual outing.

Previous winners include All-American quarterback Bob Timberlake; All-American basketball player Cazzie Russell, and the Wolverines' latest All-American, Jack Clancy of split-end fame.

Porter, who came to the University from Lansing, where he wrestled for Lansing Sexton to remain undefeated through 70 matches, also won the Big Ten mat crown twice. He recently signed with the Cleveland Browns professional football club.

Tryouts will be held Sunday at Thurston High at 1 p.m. for boys wishing to play on North Redford's Connie Mack baseball team or Redford Township's Free Press League team. Players wishing information should call Bob Atkins at 626-4965.

observing sports

Basketball wasn't much of a sport at the University of Michigan seven or eight years ago.

The Wolverines seldom were a threat in the Big Ten race. Most times when they played in old Yost Fieldhouse, seats were plentiful.

Only a small percentage of the student body—obviously with nothing better to do or, perhaps, slightly short of cash to go elsewhere—would show up to watch Michigan engage in basketball action.

Then there arrived on campus a smiling, young man from Detroit. His name: William Buntin, Jr. The following year, from the other direction, came one Cazzie Russell from Chicago.

In short order Buntin and Russell combined under Coach Dave Strack to make Michigan a mighty name in college basketball.

The Wolverines surged to Big Ten titles . . . to district NCAA honors . . . to the finals of the NCAA championships.

The two biggest reasons were Buntin and Russell. Each was a three-time All Big Ten star. Russell made All American as a junior and senior. Buntin, too, gained All American recognition.

BUNTIN AND RUSSELL re-wrote Michigan records in scoring and rebounding.

They, of course, didn't do it alone. They had with them Oliver Darden, John Cantrell, George Pomy and Larry Tregoning, among others.

And, Strack, too! When they finished their collegiate careers, Buntin and Russell were No. 1 picks for the professional ranks.

The Detroit Pistons took Buntin and wanted Russell. But they lost a flip of a coin and had to settle for Dave Bing instead of Russell.

Buntin never could make it with the Pistons. He checked in overweight and stayed that way. The Russell story saw him start slowly with the New York Knicks. But last season he became a Knick star as Buntin completely passed out of the pro cage scene.

Buntin didn't quit playing basketball. And the other evening, he was stricken with a fatal heart attack while engaging in a practice cage session at Cathedral Central High in Detroit.

His best pal, Cazzie, came to pay his last respects. So did the other members of those great Michigan teams—Darden, Pomy, Tregoning and their coach.

CAZZIE NEVER BEFORE was more shaken. "Bill was still trying to show right up to the end that basketball was his game," Cazzie was saying.

"He always had PRIDE . . . great pride." The hearse pulled away from the church on Detroit's east side.

Cazzie and his former coach stepped into a waiting car to help escort their pal on his last journey.

Fittingly, Coach Strack has announced that Buntin's old friends at the university have set up a special memorial scholarship fund for Buntin's three youngsters, who range from 10 years to 16 months.

Somewhere, too, in the new field house that now accommodates Michigan's basketball team there'll probably be a special something set aside one of these days to salute not only Buntin, but Russell as well. Russell and Buntin did more than any others to "wake up" basketball at the University of Michigan.

They made the entire state more basketball conscious. High schools benefited. So did the colleges. And we might add the Pistons prospered because of the Russell-Buntin dynasty at the U-M.

There was one thing about Buntin. He never quit smiling.

WHILE THE LIVING WORLD closed on Buntin, new horizons opened for another former University of Michigan star when George Lee was named coach of the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

Lee, like Buntin, first made his name in the Detroit area. Lee was all-state at Highland Park High, while Buntin went to Northern.

Lee also had a shot with the Pistons, but wasn't able to cut the mustard with the team.

When he was traded to San Francisco, he smiled. "It was the greatest thing that ever happened to me," he told us in New York last week. "I figured that getting away from home would do me a lot of good."

It obviously has.

A three-team battle.

That's the way matters shape up Wednesday in the Suburban Six League's annual track championships at Belleville.

Based on dual meet action, Plymouth shapes up as the favorite. The Rocks won all five of their loop encounters and posted an overall 7-0 mark.

Redford Union wound up 4-1 in the league and 9-1 overall. Then came Bentley with a 3-2 conference record and seven wins in 10 starts overall.

"It's going to be one of the best meets we've ever had," said Coach Keith Baughman of Plymouth.

"I hate to try and predict who'll win. The three top teams really are very balanced."

Baughman noted that Plymouth beat Redford Union in a battle of unbeaten, but the RU team was suffering from some injuries. Against Bentley, the Rocks barely managed a two-point triumph.

THERE'LL BE some thrilling individual competition when the field events start at 4 p.m. and the running events take over at 6:30.

The hurdles will match John Morrison (RU), Dave Derr (Plymouth) and Fred Howell (Bentley). Tom Spuller (Bentley), Steve Montgomery and Mike Kubik (Plymouth) and Dennis Fifield (RU) will combat in the sprints.

Plymouth's Bruce Cavender will put on an unbeaten record on the line in the 880 as will RU's Bob Junk in the two mile.

A dandy race figures in the 440-yard with Joe Chemello (Bentley), George Corombos (RU) and Jerry Latham (Plymouth) locking strides.

Plymouth's Tom Elias heads the shot putters while Bruce Bauman (Plymouth) and John Plumley (Bentley) top the pole vaulters.

Redford Union and Bentley

figure to have an edge in the relays although RU's ace sprinter, Fifield, has been on the injured list and out of action for two weeks.

ALL THREE teams swamped their rivals in final league dual meets Tuesday.

Plymouth ran up one of its most one-sided scores in crushing Belleville, 94-24, as Dick Goepf set a varsity record of 10:24 in winning the two mile.

Montgomery won both dashes to lead the Rocks. Bentley rolled over Allen Park, 72-46, with Howell taking both hurdles and Spuller the two dashes.

Morrison continued his brilliant running in the hurdles as Redford Union swamped Trenton, 83-31, despite the fact the Townshipers were using a patched-up lineup caused by injuries.

Tigers Stay In AL Flag Race By Winning One-Run Contests

Who says there's no truth to that old axiom: "As long as there's life, there's hope."

The Detroit Tigers fit the bill this season, which explains their roaring start and why they have been in first place in the American League most of the spring.

Statistics showed that going into their weekend series with Washington (there'll be a doubleheader Sunday to wrap it up), the Tigers have won seven games by one run.

Most important, all seven of the one-run conquest came in their last turn at bat.

Six different players have figured in producing the hair-raising finishes: Gates Brown, Bill Freehan, Willie Horton (twice), Jim Northrup and Tom Matchick.

THERE ALSO has to be at least one other strong reason why the Tigers have been winning—Horton.

Back in the physical pink after missing a great deal of last season with a heel ailment, Horton is swinging a potent bat.

He slugged two homers Wednesday to account for three runs to help Earl Wilson blank the Baltimore Orioles, 4-0.

The other run in the game came on a homer by Ray Oyler, who isn't supposed to produce such blows.

Wilson allowed four hits in squaring his record at 4-4. But the big story was Horton.

He now has eight homers for the season and it marked the second time this season he has socked two circuits in a single game.

The loss was the seventh in a row for the Birds, but they cracked the streak and also Denny McLain's winning way the next night when they outslug the Tigers, 10-8.

THE GAME was a departure from the usual this season. It was one of the rare affairs in which two teams broke loose in mighty fashion.

McLain, who had won five in a row this year without a loss and went into the game with a 1.83 earned run average, couldn't get untracked.

Boog Powell slugged a three-run homer in the first inning and the Birds never trailed. McLain and most the 20,000 fans thought that Powell had struck out on the pitch preceding his blast far into the upper deck in right.

It appeared that Powell had swung at what would have been the third strike. The ump said no and Powell followed with his sock.

Elrod Hendricks, a rookie catcher, chased McLain in the MICHIGAN STATE's baseball team is headed for a record for victories in one season. When the Spartans beat Notre Dame, 6-2, it marked their 22nd of the season—six shy of the team's all-time mark.

FOUR MICHIGANDERS were named on the 1968 All American basketball team. They were Howard Conner and Jack Patkyn of Detroit, Jean Skelids of Grand Rapids and Ted Hennaford of Warren.

second with another homer, but the Birds also found the long range against his successors as Dave Johnson tagged one with none out and Curt Motton connected with two aboard in the eight to put the game out of reach after the Tigers closed within one run of a tie.

Mickey Stanley clouted a two-run homer and Norm Cash hit his first of the season, Dick McAuliffe had a couple triples, but that didn't help the Tigers who had beaten the Orioles 12-2 out of 27 games dating back to Aug. 19, 1966.

After winding up with Washington Sunday, the Tigers head for a long trip that will take them to Minnesota, Oakland and Anaheim before returning home on May 31 against the New York Yankees.

Farmington High's tennis team virtually wrapped up the Interlake League title by beating Waterford, 5-2. It was the Falcons sixth straight loop win without a loss and gave them an overall 9-2 record.

Bob Brown and Dave McDonnell triumphed for Farmington in the singles by respective scores of 6-1, 6-0, and 6-2, 6-3.

In doubles Jim Atkinson-Howard Broadway won, 6-3, 6-2; Don Currier-Ray Lundston scored, 6-0, 6-3, and Arnie Carlson-Dave Helst rallied to win, 8-10, 8-6, 7-5.

Bentley High will be the defending champion but faces strong opposition from teams like Garden City West, Thurston, John Glenn, Stevenson and Garden City East.

Two games are slated for next Friday night, followed by two on Saturday and two on Sunday.

The winners will advance to the quarterfinals on May 30. Semifinals are listed for May 31 and the championship game for June 1.

It also is expected that newly acquired Bill Munson, the Regular practice for the team will begin in mid-July.

Plymouth 'Y' Offers Scholarship

The Plymouth Community Youth Men's Christian Association has established a $100 scholarship for a Schoolcraft College student, it has been announced by Schoolcraft President Eric J. Bradner and J.M. Hoben, president of the YMCA Board.

To be called the Carl Schulteis Scholarship, the grant is named for the late YM board member who died last winter. The scholarship recipient will be a Plymouth student to be selected by college authorities on the basis of financial need and academic standing.

Hoben said the YM board will vote annually on continuing the scholarship endowment.

four straight and a 4-3 loop record by nipping Oak Park, 4-3, while Franklin blasted Thurston, 10-2, for its sixth win in its last seven starts and a 4-3 standing in the loop.

Glenn, meantime, lost a toughie to Birmingham Groves, 2-1, to suffer its third loss against five wins and see its league lead shrink to a half game.

The bat of John Thomas paved the way for North Farmington to win. He collected three hits in four appearances at the plate with his final blast, a double, driving in Jay Hazelroth, who had singled, with the winning run in the seventh inning.

The Raiders had scored twice in the third--Thomas knocking in one--and then one in the sixth to get even when Norm DeCourcy doubled across Gary Ransom.

Mike McCoy picked up his second victory of the week, working in relief of Steve Eversman.

FRANKLIN JUMPED off to a three-run lead in the first inning and Jim Davies was able to coast in on a five-hitter as he walked only two men.

Singles by Dave Tovey and Archie Leeb, a grounder, a fly by Bill Hellstein which dropped in safely and a single by Denny Hopkins got Franklin off and rolling.

Hellstein slugged a homer in the third. In the fourth singles by Brad Lyons and Davies helped Franklin add two more tallies.

Franklin counted three more in the fifth on a single by Hellstein, two walks, a sacrifice and another single by Davies. Dennis Fisher singled in the sixth and stole his way around to score.

THURSTON COUNTED once in the second on hits by Shery and Pilar and again in the sixth when Dunny doubled, following an error.

Glenn was limited to four hits in losing to Groves. The winners scored twice off Bill Shellenbarger in the second inning.

Then, in the third an error,

Reed's Waylay Steals Show In Motor City Pace

Reed's Waylay may not be the wonder pacer of the year but she'll do as far as Michigan harness racing fans are concerned.

The eight-year-old mare, who was a better than average trotter a year ago, was converted to the pace in January and since had won 12 of 15 starts, been second twice and out of the money only once. She convinced a crowd of 5,456 of her greatness Thursday at Wolverine Raceway when she won the 17th renewal of the historic Motor City Pace with a spectacular 2:02.2 victory in the second dash of the two-heat stake.

THE MARE, owned by Ed O'Hare of Southfield, Gerald Johnson of Dearborn Heights and Richard Abraham of Adrian, was second to Nob Hill, a three-year-old Hi Hill colt, in the opening heat in 2:04.4. Thus with the fastest time of the two dashes, she was declared champion and her owners received the coveted trophy.

In addition, her victory gave Michigan owned horses a sweep of the two major Wolverine stakes. Little Dominion, a six-year-old leased by William Magee of Jackson, was a surprise winner of the Merchants and Manufacturers trot just one week earlier.

It marked the first time in Wolverine history that Michigan horses swept the two ancient stakes.

Reed's Waylay, purchased by the three owners in January for $10,000 from Mrs. Sandra Fisher of Adrian has more than paid for herself already. Thursday's performance added $8,043 to her bankroll and boosted her season earnings to $30,593.

THE FIRST HEAT was a duel between the mare and Nob Hill from the start. Nob Hill was ahead at the quarter when Reed's Waylay, guided by Harold Fisher, moved ahead and was still there when the field turned into the stretch. Driver George Sholtz, piloting Nob Hill, had the three-year-old flying going into the final turn and finally edged ahead midway down the stretch. It was a brilliant head and head duel to the final 15 yards where the pressure took its toll and Reed's Waylay broke gait while Nob Hill went on for the victory in 2:04.4.

Fisher didn't waste any time in showing he was out for a victory in the nightcap. He had the mare winging from the gate and she was in front by a half-length at the quarter in a quick 29.4. Lord Butler was on the outside and held the lead momentarily turning in the stretch for the first time. But again Fisher had the mare leading at the halfway point in 1:01.

REED'S WAYLAY opened up a length going down the backstretch when Nob Hill started to hold bid. Sholtz had the colt within a neck of the lead into the stretch where Nob Hill went wide and that was all Reed's Waylay needed for the win. Fisher kept her going all the way and she hit the wire a neck ahead in the fastest time of the meeting.

Michigan-owned O.C. Megaw was roaring in the final quarter and wound up a fast closing third.

Reed's Waylay was the second choice at even money in the finale with Nob Hill an odds-on favorite.

She paid $4.80, $2.40 and $2.40 across the board.

HEADLESS DRIVER? It appears that way but actually Harold Fisher is covered by the flying tail of Reed's Waylay as the eight-year-old 'cinderella' pacer nips Nob Hill (4) at the wire to win the championship of the $21,450 Motor City Pace at Wolverine Raceway. Converted from the trot in January, the mare has won 12 of 15 starts and been second twice while banking more than $30,000.

Falcons Run Past Raiders, Favored For Loop Crown

A perfect dual-meet campaign behind them, Farmington High's Falcons now shoot for honors in the Interleague meet Wednesday at Waterford.

The Falcons made it 7-0 by trimming rival North Farmington, 68-46, in the annual headon clash between the two schools.

Bentley Edges Plymouth In 9th

Thanks to a 3-2 victory over Plymouth, Bentley High's baseball team still is in the thick of contention for the Suburban Six League crown.

The win, which wasn't fashioed until the ninth inning, was the third for Bentley against two losses and left the Livonians in a virtual deadlock with Belleville and Redford Union.

Something will have to give Monday when Redford Union and Bentley collide head-on. Ken Grates went the full distance to best Plymouth's Jeff Gillespie, who also worked the route.

Walks led to Gillespie's undoing.

He issued a free ticket to John Schroeter with the bases loaded to force in the tying run after Wayne Palson and Jim Powers had singled and Dave Rice was hit by a pitch.

IN THE NINTH INNING, a walk to Bob Cascaden started the winning Bentley rally. Tim Malone beat out a single and Palson was safe on an error to jam the bases. Powers then drew a walk and the game was over.

Bentley had counted in the fifth inning on a double by Schroeter and an error.

Plymouth scored first in the fourth inning when Rick Fillmore singled, stole second and third and came in on a fly. In the sixth, Fillmore again singled, went around to third on an error and came home on a single by Nick Darmo-Gray.

Wet grounds kept Redford Union idle Thursday.

Beaten Cougars To Host Dallas

The Detroit Cougars return to action at Tiger Stadium Tuesday night after dropping a 4-1 verdict at Kansas City Wednesday.

The setback left the Cougars with a 3-4 record. All of their wins have come at home where they also have a date with Toronto Friday night.

Brown won the long jump and the 440-yard while LaFevre took the two hurdles and Attwell both the dashes.

The meet's lone sweep came in the Two-mile while North placed one-two-three.

Change Davis Cup Rules--Star

VETERAN TENNIS STAR Gardner Mulloy wants the format for Davis Cup play revised. He says the defending champion, currently Australia, shouldn't sit around and wait for the other countries to knock each other out. "The defending champ should go through the eliminations, just like all other teams," Mulloy advocated.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Your trouble is aster yellows, a virus disease spread by leaf hoppers, a small yellowish-green insect which sucks the sap from the under side of the leaves. It causes new leaves to turn yellow and the plant is stunted, grows spindly with a rosetted appearance. If flowers appear, they are greenish and open unevenly.

All varieties of asters are susceptible. Commercial growers use cloth houses to keep the leaf hoppers off the plants, but this isn't practical for you!

CONTROL: Keep your plants sprayed with Sevin, methoxychlor or malathion. Pull up and burn any diseased plant. And try to grow your asters in a different spot at least once every three years. Be sure to pull up any sick-looking aster as soon as you see it, because once infected, they cannot be cured, and will serve as a reservoir for infection of healthy plants.

Incidentally, not enough gardeners grow calendula, also called Pot Marigold or Scotch marigold, one of the easiest and most successful of all annuals.

They do not make best growth in hot weather. In fall when other annuals are hit by frost, calendulas are still producing.

FREE: Want to know more about bulbous plants? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of my bulletin, How to Raise Tuberous Begonias, Caladiums and Cannas. My guide is packed full of good tips on growing these handsome plants.

WEEDS IN FLOWER BEDS: Many ask me if there is a good weedkiller which can be used in an iris bed full of quack grass. I wish there was such a thing.

Your best bet in the iris bed is to dig up the plants, shake the weeds out and burn them. Then divide your iris and reset them far enough apart so you can weed them by hand. Your hoe is your best weedkiller.

In the vegetable garden you can use a light hoe or a hand cultivator, or one that's motorized. Rotary tillers make a good weapon for controlling weeds, but do not cultivate too deeply as it can hurt the roots. Another good weedkiller is a plastic mulch. Black plastic has been popular because it does not allow weeds to sprout beneath and it traps the moisture inside.

Organic mulches, such as sawdust, straw, ground corn-cobs, cocoa bean shells, or cotton seed hulls, provide all the benefits of weed control. There are some chemicals (herbicides) useful for the home fruit and vegetable garden, and two you might try are dacthal and simazine. Follow the directions.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Every summer our clump birch tree gets brown leaves which shed. We can't spray because the tree is too tall. What can be done?"

Answer: Try using one of the newer systemic pesticides. All you do is scatter some of the granules under the tree and water it in.

Advanced Planning Eases Moving Woes

There's no getting around it, moving can be a chore. There are so many things to do, things that are time-consuming and bothersome.

However, there's a lot you can do to make moving easier. The secret lies in advance planning.

Start programming four to six weeks before your moving date. Your first consideration is what firm is going to do the moving for you. If you're knowledgeable of moving companies, check your telephone book's yellow pages under "Moving." Chances are that those having display ads and stressing long-distance, national or international service will prove more reputable.

In any case, get more than one estimate and be sure it's a visual estimate. No one can intelligently estimate the cost of a move by telephone. Compare not only cost, but the service mover offers.

Check their reputations locally and be sure that the one you select has a representative in the community to which you're moving. Finally, don't be overly influenced by the "low bid," because remember this is only an estimate, not a firm bid.

RESPONSIBILITY FOR insurance is yours, not the movers. So check to be sure your goods are fully protected. The mover's liability won't begin to replace an expensive object that might be totally damaged.

Getting an early start on a move is extremely important. At least a month ahead of time, select the mover and set the date. This is particularly important if you're moving at month-end.

You'll want water, electricity and telephone turned off at the old address and the service resumed at the new. The earlier you let the utilities know, the more likely you are to get prompt service on the desired date. Don't overlook services like milk deliveries and newspapers either.

Give the post office your new address and remember, magazines take four to six weeks to change their subscription addresses.

YOU'LL HAVE TO make other arrangements for transporting frozen foods, pets, plants and flammable liquids. Movers won't handle them.

Consult with your mover to determine just what you're going to pack and what he will do. While some items can be left in furniture drawers, in general the best idea is to store everything in containers. Check with your mover for advice.

While there are some items you are sure to want to pack yourself in easy stages, your best bet is to leave fragile, breakable items to the movers.

Major movers provide complete packing services, and you will want to consider using them. The cost is moderate and well worth it in terms of the responsibilities that are lifted from your shoulders.

Set Budget For Outdoor Home Costs

D. Newton Glick, professor and associate director of the school of urban planning and landscape architecture at Michigan State University, suggests new homebuilders allow between 10 and 30 per cent of the cost of a house for its complete outdoor development.

Glick says, "Budget the money for outdoor use in the beginning and save it for that purpose." This can be included in a homebuilder's loan and be paid in installments along with house payments.

He includes everything in his budget outside the house walls: drive, walks, fences, walls, terraces, patios, swimming pools, lawn, plants and professional services.

"A bare house standing on a lot looks as though the owners ran out of money before the job was finished," Glick said.

Ailing electrical appliances and fixtures should be given to professional repairmen. The Institute for Safer Living warns that amateur electrical repairing not only is likely to prove more costly in the long run, but also is a principal cause of home fires and injuries.

Beware Of Paving Racket

"Forewarned about the gypsy paving racket is forearmed," said Walter Tervo, executive secretary of the Michigan Asphalt Paving Association, in issuing an early warning about the seasonal racket that costs Michigan residents many thousands of dollars each year.

Traditionally, gypsy groups numbering two to three dozen members will tour major Michigan cities, starting about this time of year, offering to "surface your driveway with a tar-based substance for a few dollars."

"POLICE in recent years have reported that pay for the useless treatment usually amounts to whatever the market will bear, and that threats of physical violence have been used against those who complained about charges or threatened to call in authorities," Tervo said.

A worthless paint compound, similar in appearance to the sealing compound used by reputable firms but lacking proper chemical ingredients, is used by the band, Tervo stated. "Reputable asphalt paving firms would do a better job, just as quick and at far less cost than extorted by the gypsies working this racket," Tervo declared.

"Any homeowner approached for this type of work should first check with their local police, their own Better Business Bureau or the state office of the Michigan Asphalt Paving Association in Lansing, before agreeing to anything," Tervo said.

H.B.S.S. Photo Exhibit Features Local Area

You don't have to shoot the Taj Mahal to be a good photographer!

With this idea, Farmington resident Joe Clark, H.B.S.S., an internationally known photographer and illustrator, has compiled an exhibit which opens Monday, May 20, in the Exhibition Gallery of First Federal Savings of Detroit, Woodward at Michigan. The show closes Friday, June 14.

Entitled "It's the Simple Things That Count," the exhibit features 200 black and white and 40 color enlargements.

IN SPITE of the "Bill Billy Snap Shooter" initials after his name which have become his trademark, Clark ignores his beloved Tennessee and limits this set of pictures to subjects within a 25 mile radius of Detroit.

His camera ranges through Farmington, Detroit, Oakland County, Macomb County and along highways and byways.

"If you have used a camera," Clark says, "and dreamed of the 'great' picture you could take if only you were able to travel far and wide, you should find something for yourself in this collection.

"There isn't an Eiffel Tower, a Swiss Alp, or a Papal Guard in the whole show.

"Photography," he points out, "is the only media in which you can easily place yesterday and today side by side."

IN A SERIES of "Family Album" photos, Clark illustrates this point and also demonstrates the kinds of subjects to shoot in your own back yard.

A picture-story-strip of his son, Junebug, with his bike, ranges from the little tricycles of a three-year-old to the current motor cycle of the 18-year-old.

He has a series of distinguished portraits of Detroit people, including titans of industry, writers, broadcasters, plumbers, and mail carriers.

Clark shows "the Detroit prairies" by shooting through empty fields at Northland, by aiming his camera out his own back window, by walking down the road to a stream and capturing the play of the water.

Other features in the exhibition: Trees...seeing them, and seeing through them; weeds; women; a boy grows up; and little glimpses of Detroit, ranging from store fronts to parks.

His color pictures range from closeups of fish hooks to pastoral scenes. There is a remarkable display of color, used with restraint for the effect rather than the shocks.

CLARK'S PHILOSOPHY of picture taking is to look for "the plus factor."

"It's the plus factor that really stops the eye," he says. "If you want to make a great picture, take a good picture and do something very special, very 'plus,' to it. That plus may be the moment in history when you press the button; it may be an added factor in the content of the picture itself, or it may be the position from which you take it."

But his plus factors in this exhibit don't look plus-ish. It looks as if you and I could take a camera and do the same thing.

That's the whole idea.

YOU CAN SEE it from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. weekdays; 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Fridays; and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Saturdays.

It will open at the University of Detroit Main Library on the McNichols Rd. campus following its downtown engagement. There is no admission charge at either site.

BRUCE-JOHN BOLEN, Gibson's "answer man" brings his "Gibson Preview" to the Welsby House of Music in Farmington Thursday, May 23, at 7:30 p.m. Considered one of England's finest guitarists, he will demonstrate the firm's complete line of guitars and amplifiers and answer any questions about guitar playing or guitars in general. He will also demonstrate his personal mastery of the many styles of guitar playing.

Carillon Concerts To Begin

Eight carillon recitals will be presented May through October from Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills.

All recitals are open to the public without charge. Persons wishing to attend may sit in their cars or on the church lawn.

Frederick Marriott, director of music at Detroit's Central Methodist Church and organist for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will present the first at 4 p.m. on May 19.

Channel 56 Asks Pledges

Channel 56, the non-commercial public television station with offices in Southfield, is broadcasting a series of appeals in an effort to raise $10,000 in operating funds.

J.N. Christianson, the station's development director, said this was the first time in Channel 56's history that live appeals were being broadcast. The first "pledge night" May 6 raised $1,400 from 107 pledges. The third and fourth pledge nights will be Thursday, May 23, and Tuesday, May 28.

On each "pledge night", two to three-minute appeals for telephone pledges are presented in the breaks between regular programs from 7 through 11 p.m. Volunteers in the studio receive calls and tabulate pledges. The entire production staff, from producer to cameramen, is contributing its services.

Louis J. Slyker, director of operations and programming for Channel 56, said the funds will be used in part to expand and improve the production of local programs dealing with matters of concern to the people of southeastern Michigan.

'Integration Is Unrealistic' -- Cleage

THE REV. ALBERT CLEAGE

By CLAIRE DIETZ

"White people do not want integration. The reality is separatism."

"What can we do in terms of that reality that makes sense? We must control our own communities. That takes black political strength."

The Rev. Albert Cleage, who characterizes himself as a black militant who believes in black nationalism and black separatism, came to Observerland Tuesday to explain Black Power.

He spoke to an audience of approximately 200 at Schoolcraft College. The program, third in a series on the Negro in America Today, was sponsored by Livonia's Young Adult Club.

Cleage spoke to the nearly all-white audience in tones of calm reason, coupled with a wry humor.

Some of his comments:

ON BLACK POWER--"Black people have to escape from powerlessness. We have to get enough power to control our own communities."

"Black Power as a term has a long history. It was coined by Stokely Carmichael on the Meredith 'Mississippi March. Before that, a leader would ask 'What do we want?' and the people would answer 'Freedom.' But freedom is kind of a vague term. Black Power was a more effective slogan. 'After 1954 the Negro was dedicated to integration. Now, in 1968, he is dedicated to Black Power.'"

ON SEPARATISM--"I believe in black nationalism, which is black separatism. Our life in this country is a separate existence. I am not advocating separatism; I simply recognize it. That separatism must be used to benefit the Negro and not to exploit him."

ON INTEGRATION--"In America for black people to work on integration is a waste of time; it is unrealistic. White people simply do not want integration. Between 1954 and 1968 white people have unmasked themselves."

"Black people don't want to live with white people any more than white people want to live with black people."

"We have had to free ourselves from the distant goal of integration. It is impossible to build black strength while you are working toward integration."

ON MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.--"Martin Luther King could manufacture confrontation situations between whites and blacks better than anybody. And everywhere he set up a confrontation, there were white people around to do something stupid."

"The Poor Peoples' March is the same idea. It has no meaning unless it creates confrontation."

ON VIOLENCE--"Black Power has no relation to violence except that it involves the rejection of non-violence. 'Let's face it: Non-violence is psychologically destructive. All the Negro has done now is to accept the American commitment to violence as a way of life."

"Remember that there has been no attack of black people on white people or white communities. We have only attacked white institutions."

"Now, burning and looting are not the nicest ways to get rid of white businesses, I admit. But frustration leads people to violence."

ON SUBURBIA--"We have no designs on your community. I have never heard any plot on suburban communities being made in this country. We only want to control our own communities."

"We don't stand for it if we are in and tried to control our community."

"It is unthinkable for a people to let somebody else run their community for them."

Announces Safety Contest

Ford Motor Co. again this summer will sponsor a "Safe Driving Incentive Program for Young Americans."

Henry Ford II, chairman of the board, announced that more than 1,200 awards -- new cars, stereo phonographs and radios -- will be given to safe drivers under 25 years of age. The competition is designed to help reduce the number of driving accidents during summer months when young people do a large share of their driving.

"Younger drivers can make a substantial contribution to traffic safety," Ford said.

"Through previous years' programs we have learned that many young people share our concern for traffic safety. The achievements of those who received awards have made us more appreciative than ever of the ability of younger drivers."

Awards for 1968 will include 15 Mercury Montego hardtops, 15 Mustang hardtops, 100 Philco-Ford portable stereo phonographs, 250 Philco-Ford mini radio/phonographs, and 1,000 Philco-Ford transistor radios.

The program is open to licensed drivers or learner's permit holders residing in the United States who will not have reached their 25th birthday by August 31; who drive without a chargeable accident or moving traffic violation from June 1 through August 31; who make a perfect score on a quiz which tests traffic decision-making ability, and who submit a winning 10-word safe-driving slogan.

Explains Reasons For Student Alienation

Student discontent is not new. Trends born of a mass world culture account for its prominence today.

This is the view of Prof. Donald R. Brown, senior social psychologist in the University of Michigan's Center for Research on Learning and Teaching.

Today's rapid social, cultural, and technological changes have largely done away with the "Hollywood rah-rah culture of the campuses," he says.

The modern student has less fun (and feels guilty about having fun). He works harder and he relates his intellectual life more closely with his social life than did the student of the past.

Even today's use of drugs represents considerably more intellectual activity--an inward search for identity--than the former pointless hedonism of college students.

Frustrations grow out of this changing image of college life from the social to the intellectual, Brown maintains. A student's high expectations of curriculum, faculty, peers, and the intellectual life are usually disappointed.

Better secondary education, where students have probably had at least a few good courses and good teachers, is a source of high expectations for college life, Brown says.

Small classes, much student-teacher contact, and the introduction to new concepts created an exciting intellectual atmosphere in high school.

A little jaded by all this, the student comes to college to find larger classes, often less experienced instructors--such as graduate teaching assistants--and some repetition of high school course material.

The more sophisticated modern student also becomes more concerned over issues of individual rights within the university and in society. This is normal, Brown explains, since greater sophistication generally leads to a concern over man's relation to his society and his political order.

The contradictions of society--affluence and freedom existing along-side poverty and the enslavement of ignorance, discrimination, and hopelessness--become clearly visible to these young adults, he adds. Awareness of these contradictions constitutes a growing up, "a loss of innocence" which is intensified by rapid mass communications that expose hypocrisy in a seemingly authoritative fashion.

Along with these trends has come a search for a new sociopolitical stance, Brown says. Old notions like patriotism and sacredness of the flag no longer stir a person as they once did. Yet old mores, such as the draft, get in the way of this search and create tension.

The new mass ethic of the "younger intelligentsia" stresses an existential view of self-determination, responsibility, meaningful and personal communication, and the essence of one's self-identity.

This replaces the former emphasis on pragmatic action and privacy in personal matters.

The loneliness of the modern student's search for self-definition and clarity in life is increased by the anonymity that accompanies society's "moral blandness," Brown notes. This blandness frustrates student's attempts to absolute moral distinctions.

In addition, society's increasingly more mechanized means of dealing with large numbers is liable to create a "crisis of depersonalization" for some students. The IBM card becomes the symbol of all the frustrations.

Brown lists several other trends which help to explain the student alienation which is most visible to the public:

--College enrollment has grown tremendously since 1946. More students have meant greater visibility.

--College attendance is increasingly considered a necessity, so enrollments have increased faster than the general population.

--Increased emphasis on merit, and the sellers' market created by the increased numbers, puts students under a great competitive stress.

--News-hungry media cannot help but promote unrest by massive immediate publicity which has no trouble finding its own performers.

The wider range of society from which students now come also presents a new challenge to colleges as socialization agencies, according to Brown. Big universities now tend to give up on the idea of socialization and concentrate solely on education.

Previously, student populations were more homogeneous and were socialized to a homogeneous set of social norms and values by the individual university, he notes.

Madonna Girls Stage Paint-In

Four teams of Madonna College students have their weekend recreation planned.

The girls began Friday to paint four brand new automobiles provided by Denton Buick for a "paint-in" at Livonia Mall. The cars will be decorated with psychedelic designs, op art, and perhaps cartoons.

The paint-in is part of a national contest which offers $2,500 in cash to the winning group and another $2,500 in scholarship money for the group's college.

Winners will be determined by public vote after the paint jobs are complete.

Then photos of the winning car will be taken and the washable paint provided for the project will be sponged off.

Chairmen of the painting teams are Cheryl Hartline, Connie Foley, Diane Mikiewicz and Sue Bryant.

Volunteer Service Offers Dropouts A New Chance

A California grandmother has dropped out of her bridge-and-bingo group after 15 years, to spend Thursday nights with her neighborhood druggist.

The two are members of a small army of volunteers who man phones day and night to get dropouts back to school. Their accomplishments are part of a unique community action program called Dropouts Anonymous that is proving to be a new hope for thousands of citizens.

The volunteers know two things: that the future is bleak for any town divided between poverty and affluence, and that failure to complete a formal high school education condemns two out of three dropouts to a life of poverty. Doing something about the problem is a lot harder than talking about it, but Fresno, Calif., stimulated by a service-minded broadcaster and a concerned city government, has succeeded in converting talk into action.

The effort began in 1966 with KFRE and KFRE-TV, twin outlets of an enterprising group called Triangle Stations. Seeking ways to translate "stay in school" and "go back to school" into language that would make sense to listless youngsters and regretful adults, community relations director Guy Farnsworth got the idea of bringing dropouts together with people who had solved the same problem.

The assurance of privacy and the absence of moral lectures encouraged young people to dial the Dropouts Anonymous number willingly. A caller might then be referred to a particular social agency or to a sympathetic volunteer from his same ethnic, geographic or economic background.

The result is a program that deals in practicalities and finds help for the 'A' student whose parents need his weekly pay check, the handicapped boy enrolled in courses he can't handle, the 14-year-old who is pregnant.

With a massive campaign of spot announcements, radio and TV specials, personal contact work and newspaper ads, KFRE recruited the Fresno Community Council, an umbrella organization duplicated in most U.S. communities, and many individual fraternal and civic groups, schools, hospitals and philanthropies. Together they formed a round-the-clock telephone referral crew and a staff of interviewers. It quickly attracted the attention of the President's Youth Opportunity Campaign, and Vice President Hubert Humphrey lent his endorsement.

Other communities in Central California asked for KFRE's help and launched their own projects, as the campaign reached an amazing diversity of people. Some, like the underdog boy who joined the Merchant Marine and then found he couldn't return to high school, were referred to adult schools to complete their education at night. Some, like the young widow who couldn't return to school because there was no one to care for her baby, were introduced to agencies that provide nursery services. Others needed only a friendly ear; with someone to talk to who would understand, they were able to make a right decision on their own.

Still others needed jobs to support themselves while attending school--and this led the stations into a second project, CHORE, Citizens Helping Others Receive Education. Here, part-time jobs are found for legitimate cases.

The details behind this wonder-working are spelled out in a do-it-yourself kit that the originators have just made available to every broadcaster in the country. From suggested editorials and data processing forms to completed case histories and official proclamations, it's all there to help you start in your own community. A request on the letterhead of your organization will produce a free copy from Guy Farnsworth, KFRE, Fresno, or Paul Martin, Triangle, 4100 City Line Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa.

Solutions are imperative for this national problem. Thanks to the handwork of its citizens, Fresno has come up with an effective answer, returning thousands for their diplomas in the past 20 months and keeping more thousands from quitting school.

In the words of Vice President Humphrey, it is "an exciting new program that cuts the tragic waste of human potential. . . with the demand steadily increasing for educated and trained workers, while the unskilled are being replaced by machines."

Gust Heads Tri-County Nixon Drive

Rockwell T. Gust Jr., an officer of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of Farmington, has been named to direct the Richard Nixon for President drive in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

The appointment was made by State Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, chairman of the Michigan Nixon Committee.

Gust was also chairman of the 1960 Nixon drive in Wayne County.

A Bloomfield Hills resident, Gust gained a reputation as a stick conservative when he served in the state Constitutional Convention. He was unsuccessful in his 1962 bid for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

He is secretary of the Economic Club of Detroit and was commander of the Frederic M. Alger Post of the American Legion in 1956.

Currently, Gust is vice president and general counsel, as well as secretary, of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. He is an associate and partner of the Detroit law firm of Butzel, Eaman, Long, Gust and Kennedy.

Gust graduated from Williams College and from the University of Michigan Law School.

The workshop sessions will be held at the nature center of Kensington Metropolitan Park, and students and naturalists will make use of the nature trails at the site. The program will be conducted by William F. Hopkins, chief naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, and he will be assisted by Miss Patricia Eising, supervising naturalist at the park.

The course is given for two or three hours of semester credit, depending upon whether it is for graduate or undergraduate study, with enrollment limited to 24 persons.

Install an Automatic Backwater Valve Prevents Water in Floor Drains From Backing Up!
This is how "DRAIN GUARD" works:
In normal position, drain water is always free to flow through "Drain Guard" into the sewer.
BUT
the instant any sewer water starts to back up, the rubber float rises and acts as a check valve to prevent any water from flooding basement.

Kennedy's Crowds: Big, Exuberant

They grabbed Bobby and held on.

The people of Detroit and Hamtramck reached out to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and wouldn't let him go—and what had been billed as a whirlwind campaign tour slowed in a sea of enthusiasm.

The Democratic presidential candidate's trip to Detroit ended 75 minutes late Wednesday because the motorcade ran into wall after wall of well-wishers, who spilled into the streets to see—and perhaps to touch—Kennedy.

"IT'S INCREDIBLE" said a veteran Negro police officer as he stood in the mob on 12th St.

"The only other guy who ever got anything like this kind of crowd was his brother (the late John F. Kennedy)."

The tanned, tousled senator, shirt-sleeved and rumpled in the sudden flash of temperatures in the 80s, came to Detroit after a triumphant Nebraska primary in which he netted 53 per cent of the Democratic vote.

Before his tour on 12th Street and Joseph Campau in Hamtramck, Kennedy spoke to a crowd estimated by police at 20,000 in Kennedy Square, the downtown Detroit park square named for his brother.

DEPARTING from his text, the senator unleashed his strongest attack yet on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the man he considers his main opponent in the race for the nomination.

Observers of both the Humphrey and Kennedy visits said Kennedy's was by far the most enthusiastic.

"Humphrey seems to draw smaller, older crowds who just kind of sit and watch," one member of the national press said.

"Kennedy brings everyone together, and everyone seems to want to get into the act."

In his attack on Humphrey, Kennedy accused him of indirectly trying to turn the United States into a nation of what-worry lotus eaters.

"If you want to be filled with pabulum and tranquilizers, then you should vote for some other candidate," the senator said.

"THERE ARE SOME who say everything is peaceful. They say we should practice the politics of happiness, the politics of joy. Well, I don't think you can go to the American people and tell them everything is satisfactory in the United States."

The comments were in reference to Humphrey's call for "a politics of happiness."

In another departure from his text, Kennedy showed he had last summer's racial disturbances on his mind. He said:

"We don't have to accept what a high administration official (President Johnson) said—that there will be summer after summer of violence in the country. We are going to have equal rights and equal justice for all our citizens. We have to take action, and if I am elected President of the United States, we are going to take action."

In his prepared remarks, the senator outlined a seven-point program for employment, saying:

"IN RECENT months we have heard a great deal of talk about a guaranteed income. I would rather work for guaranteed jobs and guaranteed training for every American who wants them."

The speech was impressive, but Kennedy's ability to draw and hold people from both a riot-torn Negro area and from a Polish-American workingman's town like Hamtramck was even more impressive.

WHEN THE MOTORCADE stopped on 12th St. in front of jammed St. Paul's AME Church, the senator pushed his way through a mass of smiling faces for his short talk inside.

If the 12th St. reception was wild, Hamtramck's welcome was wilder.

Kennedy spent a total of six hours and 15 minutes in the Detroit area, much of it in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, where he held a series of meetings with Democratic leaders, trying to line up the support of Michigan's 96 delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Humphrey Stands For Happiness

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey bounced his happiness presidential campaign through Michigan this week to take off some of the edge of two visits in 33 days by Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Humphrey wowed them in a speech to the Michigan Legislature in Lansing and triumphantly toured the teeming precincts of Detroit.

Through it all—1 1/2 hours on Tuesday—Humphrey carried the mantle of the Johnson administration, preaching vigorous debate and national unity on issues here and abroad.

"THIS IS NO year—and there is never a year—for trying to divide this country along any artificial lines of age, or race or of false fears," he told the Legislature.

He said both major parties should vigorously debate the issues of 1968, develop alternative solutions, and let the voters decide in November which course the nation should follow.

"Anybody reads America wrong if he rejects the ideal of unity and encourages division and dissension on the false notion that in dissimilarity there is strength," he said.

Humphrey was greeted by Republican Gov. Romney and other GOP leaders as well as Democrats. Rep. William A. Ryan (D-Detroit) introduced Humphrey for the major address in the House chamber.

HE EXPRESSED cautious hopes that the Paris talks would start the nation on the road to peace in Vietnam. He added:

"So long as there is war, or the threat of war, there is special need for the hardest and most responsible searching for the elusive answer to mankind's most insistent dream—peace."

He said the Poor People's March to Washington demonstrates a national condition "that demands hard answers to hard questions."

Humphrey said the decision must be made this year what to do about national and local welfare programs which fail to meet the needs of people and which deplete our human and economic resources.

SHORTLY BEFORE noon, he made an appearance on the Capitol steps in Lansing before flying to Detroit for a series of meetings there.

At the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church at 11359 Dexter, Humphrey addressed 500 delegates to a church conference.

"The day of the black man being only the employee of the white man day after day is on the way out," he said.

Humphrey called for an end to a system in which minority groups are "undereducated, underemployed and overcharged and overlooked."

He outlined his "practical brotherhood of businessmen" plan in which white businessmen would invite Negroes to join them as partners with the government staking the Negro to a share of the business.

IN ANOTHER context, Humphrey said the shipping back of tax money to the states "with no strings attached" requires study.

He said that while he will study the plan, already backed by Gov. Romney and other governors, that "tax sharing is not a panacea. It should not be oversimplified."

Humphrey spent part of his time in Detroit talking with party leaders, including the members of the Century Club—$100 party contributors—in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.
