LIVONIA—Flash floods Tuesday threatened the evacuation of 204 patients from the five-floor St. Mary Hospital. Rising waters threatened to flood out transformers in the hospital basement which are the central source of electrical supply for the institution. City employees and volunteers made make-shift dikes of bedclothing and linen and averted disaster.

LIVONIA—With one seat on the new two-bench District Court available, three lawyers already have filed for the Aug. 6 primary—in which two will be nominated for the November election runoff. Others are expected to run before the Tuesday deadline. Those announced are Steve Polgar, city attorney; James E. Mies, a former Charter Commission member, and Lonnie H. Brashear, a member of the Board of Education. The act abolishes the Municipal Court but retains Judge James McCann.

FARMINGTON—The Farmington Township Road Association is withholding support of the one mill tax proposal for road improvement the Oakland County Road Commission will have on the Aug. 6 primary ballot. The citizens road group objects to the proposal because none of the $3.5 million it will raise will be used for improvement of local road systems; all will go for primary road improvement.

FARMINGTON—A casualty of Tuesday's storm was Oakland County Road Commission Chairman Frazer Staman, who ran his car into an overflowing ditch while on his way to a Farmington Township Road Association meeting. With the help of township police, Staman made it to the meeting and, after it was over, back to a gas station to call his wife to pick him up. He made it back to Pontiac at 2 a.m., on more familiar terms with Farmington roads.

REDFORD—Twelve of 32 township families driven from their homes by flood waters this week had to be evacuated by boat. American Red Cross Emergency relief was provided for those in need. Basement flooding was reported by 114 homeowners. The swamped homes and one Five Mile Rd. office building shipped nearly three feet of water.

REDFORD—Democrats James Young and Gordon Boski have referred to fellow Democrat James Young for primary candidacy for a single constable seat. Having circulated each other's petitions among the same signers, they could not legally appear on the ballot opposing each other. If Legislation creates other constable openings, they will be eligible to run.

Tuesday's Rainstorm Rated Worst Deluge In 25 Years

The storm that drenched the Plymouth area last Tuesday afternoon causing no end of flooded basements, clogged sewers and impassable roads, has been rated as the worst recorded here in more than a quarter of a century.

Starting shortly after noon the rain continued steadily for the greater part of the next 24 hours and shattered all sorts of records.

"In the eight-hour period from 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, our rain gauge showed 3.92 inches," Ken Vogras, head of the City of Plymouth DPW reported, "and this is by far the heaviest in the 15 years that I have been around and heavier than any of the older members of the crew can recall."

The downfall neared disastrous proportions late in the evening when the flood waters hit the central parking lot and, for a time, it was feared that the stores along Ann Arbor Trail and Main Street would be the victims.

FORTUNATELY, the water reached only to the doorstep before starting to recede at about 11 o'clock after drenching the area for eight hours. Aside from the central parking lot the worst area in the city was along Tonquish Creek where the water spills over from the Township. The corner at Harvey and Byron was under three feet of water and had to be blocked off, as the DPW worked around the clock to help relieve conditions.

The worst areas in Plymouth Township were at Thornridge and Greenbrier Streets in Lake Pointe Village and Ann Arbor Road, immediately east of Lilley Road at the viaduct.

At this rail crossing several cars were stalled with water up to the windshields. Lake Pointe residents reported as much as two feet of water in their basements. They were pressing for explanations inasmuch as few cases of flooded basements had been reported in other storms.

Robert Rorabacher, head of the Township DPW, explained that this was the sanitary sewer and not the storm sewer that over-flowed.

He explained that the interceptor sewer, into which the area drains, couldn't handle the volume of water. As a result the sewers along the Lake Pointe Village line backed up.

MRS. ELIZABETH HOLMES, Township Treasurer who also is head of the Water Department, claimed it was simply a matter of too much rain that caused the flooding.

"Such things are bound to happen," she said, "when we get a record rain."

Township Supervisor John E. McEwen attributed the flooding to the "unnatural disaster" that was unusual for the township. Bad as it was, Supervisor McEwen pointed out that Plymouth Township fared much better than surrounding areas.

Aside from Lake Pointe Village, McEwen reported that the only other flooded subdivision was Woodbrook, where the residents were crossing submerged street in boats.

It later was discovered that old logs and other debris were clogging the drains.

THE RAINS which continued intermittently through Wednesday and Thursday, left the entire area drenched and endangered the scheduled fireworks display on July Fourth as the area being considered for the display is the Godwin Sod Farm on Canton Center Road—and that is a sea of mud now that the sod has been stripped.

Within the past several years the Plymouth area has been subjected to what are termed "ten year rains", but for over-all rainfall Tuesday's downpour provided a new entry in the record books.

Jury Convicts Clark

MASON -- A jury of six men and six women found Dr. Ronald E. Clark guilty of manslaughter in the death of a patient to whom he had administered sodium pentothal in his Farmington office. The verdict was returned at 3 p.m. Friday in the ancient county court house here.

Circuit Judge William J. Beer immediately canceled the $15,000 bond on which Dr. Clark has been free since last Christmas and remanded him to the Ingham County Jail for sentencing July 15.

3.92 Inch Rainfall Sets Area Record

The heavy rain last Tuesday broke all manner of records in the Plymouth Community.

Close to four inches of rain fell in the eight-hour period between 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon and 10:30 o'clock in the evening.

"According to our new rain gauge," Ken Vogras, Director of the City of Plymouth DPW, said, "the official fall was 3.92 inches. That is by far the heaviest rain we have had here in at least 25 years."

"And with the heavy rains, the streets and basements flooded and we established a new record for complaints."

"Rock" To Be Unveiled As Highlight Of Parade

A simple little ceremony at City Hall that is certain to forge a stronger link between the City of Plymouth, Michigan and Plymouth, England, will highlight the annual July Fourth parade. It will be the unveiling of the "Plymouth Rock" presented to the city a year ago during the visit of the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, as a Centennial gift.

The Rock is being set in the curved wall between City Hall and the Dunning-Hough Library, with a walkway up to the granite enclosure that will house it.

When it finally is settled in its new home, the entire project will be turned over to the City as a gift from all the former mayors of the city.

THIS LIST includes: Arthur E. Blunk, George Chute, Stanley Corbett, Russell Dams, Harold Guenther, William Hartmann, Frank Henderson, Cass Hough, James Houk, Robert Lidgard, Perry Richwine, Carl Shear, Robert Sincok, Jack Taylor, Floyd Tibbatts, and Richard Wernette. Mayor James Jabara also has joined the group in making the gift possible.

For the unusual ceremony, which is bound to take on tradition through the years, E. I. R. MacGregor, British Consul General, has agreed to participate.

When the parade reaches the City Hall, it will pause, while the British Consul General alights from his car and walks to the "Rock." There, he will greet Mayor Jabara, and exchange pleasantries.

Included in the remarks, Mayor Jabara will thank the distinguished visitor for participating and helping to forge the stronger link. He, in turn, will bring a message from Alderman Lowe, present Lord Mayor of Plymouth, dealing with the health and condition of the four Locust trees which were sent there in the exchange of gifts that brought the "rock" to Plymouth.

McEwen Studies Plan For District Court

Eventually, why not now?

With that theme in mind John E. McEwen, Plymouth Township Supervisor, is studying a plan to provide facilities for the new district court, despite the fact that the Township doesn't qualify on a population basis until the 1970 census.

"We have a population of about 15,000 right now—and we're still growing," McEwen explained. "This means that we would be entitled to the court in another year or two, so why not set it up now?"

Supervisor McEwen is basing his hope on what is considered a "slight loophole" in the new law regarding third class districts which reads— "Each judge of the district shall sit at such places within the district as the presiding judge designates."

McEwen pointed out that Plymouth Township is larger in area and has more population than any other governmental unit in the district.

"I would think," he said, "that if facilities were provided for the court, it would be a good idea."

State Mediator Joins School Talks

Walter H. Quillico, of the state Labor Department, has been assigned as mediator in negotiations between the Plymouth Community School District and the Plymouth Education Association.

William Harding, supt. of secondary education and head of the district bargaining team, said, "We will meet with Quillico on July 19."

Harding commented, "We feel a third party will help us resolve some differences. Sometimes both sides hold positions that a third party can give new light to."

The superintendent said both negotiating teams have asked for the state to enter into the talks.

"We are talking now and not getting much settled," admitted Harding.

The school district spokesman said he wished to refrain from detailing any specific differences so that the mediator would have a chance to assess the situation beforehand.

He did say, however, that nothing has been agreed upon and the main points of contention rest on money and class size coupled with other working conditions.

"After the July 19 meeting," Harding said, "both sides would issue a statement of their respective positions and what is actually taking place."

Plymouth Fireworks Set For Northville

The Plymouth Jaycees finally have located a site on which to hold their fireworks display on July Fourth—in Northville Township.

After being denied more than a dozen sites in both Plymouth and Plymouth Township for one reason or another the committee finally got permission to hold the display on the golf driving range near Five Mile and Haggerty Road in Northville Township.

This site is a short distance east of Tanger School and Lake Pointe subdivision.

"We will be able to have some parking on the various roads," Bill Graham, committee chairman, explained. "But it will be handy for the residents in Lake Pointe. They won't have to leave home. And the others can park on the Tanger school lot."

The display is scheduled for 10 o'clock Thursday night as the climax of the long day of celebrating.

Trustees Told To Fill Post In Township

One of the seven candidates for two trustee posts in Plymouth Township will be appointed in July to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dick Lauterbach.

Helen Richardson, Township clerk, said that according to a new law a position that is left vacant before the term expires must be filled by appointment at least 45 days after the position is open.

She explained that the board learned of the mandatory appointment on Thursday afternoon.

The clerk added the board was hoping it could leave the trusteeship vacant inasmuch as there will be only one board meeting—on July 9—before the primary election Aug. 6.

C&O Shifts Passenger Time Table

Following the recent decision of the Public Utilities Commission requiring the C & O/ B & O to continue to operate the "Sportsman" the company now has adjusted the schedule so that appropriate connections can be made with the through train maintaining service to West Virginia, Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Starting on July 1, the train will depart from Plymouth at 1:58 p.m.

In a letter to the Inter-State Commerce Commission, Carl R. Johnson, Chairman of the Ohio Public Utilities Commission, commented, "It appears to us that this action on the part of the company is a step in the right direction toward preserving vital passenger service in this area."

Area Dems Set Sunday Picnic

vided that the new judge—whoever he happens to be—will see fit to sit in the Township once each week."

In the 1960 census Plymouth Township is credited with a population of 8,364 and the City of Plymouth is listed at 8,766. Since 1960 the Township has been hit with a population explosion—and the end is not in sight.

According to the new statute the judge must sit in each city having a population of 3,250 or more and within each township having a population of 12,000 or more and at such other places as the judges of the district determine.

THE LAW further states that when the word "population" is used it means population according to the most recent federal decennial census.

Despite the study meeting Monday night in which the five units of government in the district attended there still is need of clarification of the new court law.

McEwen's plan is one of the matters still unanswered.

Among the other questions was the salary of the new judge. Under the terms of the law the State will pay the first $18,000, with a ceiling of $27,500 permitted.

In many areas the salary has been boosted to the ceiling. No definite decision has been made in the Plymouth District, although a tentative agreement has been reached whereby the City of Northville will contribute $2,000 and the City of Plymouth $3,000, with the remainder being divided by the three townships—Plymouth, Northville and Canton.

THE OFFICIALS of these districts have agreed that the figures are close to the per capita rate prescribed by law. Another study meeting has been called for July 10 at which time the entire district plan is expected to be finalized.

Thus far, only one candidate, Plymouth Municipal Judge Dunbar Davis, has filed petitions for the primaries. Several others—among them former City Attorney Tom Healy—are expected before the deadline.

The Stroller...

Sooner or later these days the discussion at the luncheon table will get around to baseball and the torrid pace the Tigers are setting in pursuit of the American League pennant.

In the midst of one of these discussions the other day a suggestion was made that it would be a lot of fun to charter a bus and take a trip to the Stadium to see them play.

All agreed, but one voice in the group, while agreeing, asked, "Wouldn't it be more fun if each of the communities in the area had its own ball team and the small town athletic rivalries that existed in the old days were re-kindled?"

"Just imagine," the voice said, "what a meeting the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township teams would be like. It would be a Roman holiday each time they met."

SMITTEN WITH NOSTALGIA

With the mere mention of home town baseball rivalries, the approach of July Fourth and its holiday double-headers, The Stroller was smitten with pangs of nostalgia for there was a time in his youth when he was the victim of a queer twist in a home town rivalry.

Continuing a family tradition, he had become the manager of the home town team. In this role he obtained the players, arranged the schedules, and promoted and publicized all of the games.

With home town talent the team had compiled a fairly good record—but somehow couldn't shake off the team in the neighboring town that was comprised, for the most part, of the employees of the large cement plant who had the backing of the company.

One year, as July Fourth and the double-header with the cement town team approached, The Stroller got an idea that would assure victory.

"Let's hire a battery—pitcher and catcher—from one of the colleges for the big game," he suggested to a group of the home town businessmen, "and we'll take the cement boys by surprise."

The plan was approved and sufficient money donated to employ two batteries of college players—one for each game of the double-header.

In those days, the college athletic rules were not as strict as they are today and it was not unusual for star athletes, especially ball players, to play under assumed names over the week-ends and earn extra meal money.

SECRECY ENVELOPS SCHEME

So, The Stroller didn't have any trouble acquiring the services of the college men for his little scheme. It simply became a question of which combinations he would select.

When the selections were made, a veil of secrecy was placed over every move. Meanwhile, interest reached a higher peak each day as the holiday approached.

By pre-arrangement the two collegiate batteries came to town the night before the big games and were passed off as relatives who had come to spend the holiday.

Even the next day, they were sent with several families to the cement town supposedly in the role of spectators. Under the pre-conceived plan they were not to appear with the team until just before game time. They were to don their uniforms in a private home and get to the baseball park just in time for the game.

The stage was set for what we hoped would be a real July Fourth celebration.

Scarcely a soul was left in town when the trek got underway for the ball park. Then it happened.

As The Stroller walked into the battlegrounds, the cement town team was practicing and the pitchers were "warming up." And who should be doing the catching, but Charlie Berry, one of the all-time greats at Lafayette College who, in the school year just closed, had been voted the outstanding college catcher of the year. He later caught in the major leagues and became an outstanding umpire in the American League.

THEN LIGHTNING STRUCK

Struck at the sight of him, The Stroller asked, "What are you doing here?" and Charlie, laughingly, answered, "Catching for the home team."

The Stroller swallowed hard. And to make matters worse, the cement town team had hired a pitcher, too. He was a fellow named Clint Brown and he set our team down with just two hits.

What had started out to be a great Fourth of July now became a bleak day all around. The Stroller had been beaten at his own game. But that's not all.

By the time the next spring rolled around The Stroller was in Detroit in the role of a sports writer.

Assigned to write a feature on the Tigers' opener with Cleveland, he got to the park early and looked around. When the batteries were announced, the voice on the loudspeaker proclaimed—

"For Cleveland—Clint Brown will pitch." Sure enough, it was the same fellow who had hurled for the cement town the previous summer. And he set the Tigers down with two hits, too. What memories come back with the Fourth of July!

Real Meaning Of July Fourth Observance Is Victory Celebration--Not Protesting

As we approach the annual July Fourth observance of Independence Day a question has been raised regarding the real meaning of the celebration.

The question arose at a meeting of the City Commission a week ago when a group known as the Plymouth Citizens for Peace and Equality was denied a request to stage a peaceful demonstration on the holiday.

Spokesmen for the group stated that the demonstration would be centered around a protest of the government's policies on the war in Viet Nam and the demonstration would be done with signs and placards.

During the discussion one of the Commissioners raised the question, "What is the meaning of July Fourth? Isn't it a day for the dissenters—a day when they can display their feelings—or is it just a day for the display of fireworks?"

WHAT IS THE REAL meaning of the Fourth of July?

The pages of American history are filled with the real meaning of the day.

It is a day that was set aside to celebrate the independence of the 13 colonies.

Here, in a new country, they had shaken off the yoke of England. They had survived a bloody war of revolution with the cry, "No taxation without representation." They had founded a new country and with outstanding courage decided to go it alone, despite the many hardships.

They had conceived the Declaration of Independence which guaranteed such things as the right to dissent, the right of free assembly and the pursuit of happiness.

Nothing like this ever had happened anywhere on the globe and the hard smitten colonists who had not only survived the war with the British but the long, hard winters, decided it was time to celebrate.

So the day—July Fourth—was set aside as a day of celebration.

OUT OF THIS grew the annual ceremonies that were marked by parades and assemblies and the shooting of fireworks at night.

It was the day that had as its symbol, "The Spirit of '76," typified by the famed trio of the drummer, fifer and the wounded soldier, marching together.

This trio, pictured in song and story, typified courage—the courage that was shown by the Colonists in forsaking the Mother country to start anew in a far-away place in face of danger and starvation.

In the years that followed it also became a day of outstanding sports events—baseball in every city, town and hamlet, auto racing and major prize fights. They were additions to the main theme of the parades and civic gatherings where the story of Independence was told time and time again.

This was the real July Fourth—a day of happiness, a day on which to feel proud of accomplishments, a day in which American history went on parade. It never seemed to lose its luster.

LATELY, HOWEVER, an attempt has been made to give the day a new meaning. The right to dissent, as guaranteed in the Declaration of Independence, is now taken to mean, in some quarters, that the day was set aside for the dissenters—a day when they can marshal their forces in demonstrations that take on the nature of protest parades with placards and forceful messages against one thing or another.

Nothing like this is contained in the Declaration of Independence. The famed document, written, by Thomas Jefferson, doesn't set aside any one day for the right to dissent or gather in free assemblage.

The right to dissent is a right given every citizen on any day of the year—and not just a certain holiday.

July Fourth was set aside as a day for the celebration of victory—victory for an ideal in a new land.

It would be well to keep it this way.

Lewis Schomberger, a former Plymouth Township volunteer fire fighter and currently a volunteer fireman in South Lyon, last Saturday received the State Fireman of the Year Award in Alpena.

through his efforts has lifted the organization to its present professional standing.

Schomberger, last fall, was awarded the President's Award from the National Safety Council.

The 35-year-old fireman was given the award for saving the life of Charles Fox, near South Lyon.

Fox had been stricken with a severe heart attack and was not breathing when Schomberger arrived on the scene. Through the firefighter's quick and untiring efforts he was able to keep the man alive.

William Underwood, chief of the Plymouth State Home and Training School Safety Department and president of the Tri-County Mutual Aid Association, said that the organization nominated Schomberger for the award for three reasons.

Schomberger is the immediate past president of the organization and, Underwood said,

The final reason for nomination was saving the life of the heart-attack victim, Underwood explained.

Ghost towns are interesting sites for tourists to see, but the closing of any town brings an air of sadness for those who have lived there if only a short time.

Last week a rather short-lived town which is a part of our American history broke camp. And the possible sadness lies in the question as to whether Resurrection City will leave as great a mark on our concern and our follow-up as it did in the mud which was left behind.

WE CAN LEARN to live with many things, but even a sliver in our finger will begin to fester if it is ignored long enough. This is just as true when there is a sliver in our society.

You did not cause poverty, nor did I, but neither have we done enough to alleviate it. Marches do not buy bread nor do demonstrations create jobs, and watching them on television is not going to do any more than produce exclamations of "Isn't that terrible!"

I could not go to Washington, but my being there would not have done much for the have-nots in this land of milk and honey. Nor does this mean that I am doing what I can do to help the situation.

It is easy to criticize government agencies and local endeavors that allocate monies for projects and programs in the areas of recreation and beautification.

The existence of poverty, however, does not mean that these programs are not good, nor is it to say that they should not be carried out.

BUT WHAT OF ME, as an individual? Perhaps my concern has been relegated to dish-ing out a few extra coins to a poor box or a fund drive after my own needs and wants have been satisfied.

Granted this can help the poor in some small way, but am I really doing it to help the poor or to keep my conscience from being hurt? I can uncomfortably ask the question of myself, and I guess it is one that we all must answer ourselves.

THE POVERTY pockets of Tennessee and the slums of Detroit are realities, but so are the poor in our own area.

No one has beaten on my door for a sandwich or a handout lately, but does this exonerate my lack of follow-up on the concern that I like to think I have?—Another question to be faced.

It might take some of my time, but maybe I could look around and find something that I can do.

And even if I cannot deduct all the time and effort from my income tax, I might do something to help someone. God has been good to me, and He has come to me with his goodness in many ways without waiting for me to come to Him.

The Jaycees, sponsors of the celebration, had asked for $1050, the cost of the fireworks, $100, insurance, and $75 for the cost of setting off the display. This brought the total to $1225, and the goal is expected to be reached prior to the Fourth.

Candidates Gang Up In Township

The upcoming August primary race for two Plymouth Township trustee seats has generated township voters to registering early.

Clerk Helen Richardson said her office is about 125 registrations behind in paper work simply because so many persons are coming in everyday she can't keep up.

Since June 5, more than 200 persons have registered. This boosted the totals for this year to 4,943.

Mrs. Richardson expects the figure to climb above the 5,000 mark by July 5, the last day township residents are allowed to register and still participate in the primary Aug. 6.

On June 5, the registration laws were altered so that persons now are allowed to register beyond previously established deadlines.

However, even though they are allowed to register, they may not vote in August if their registration was taken after July 5.

Mrs. Richardson said this new ruling has thrown a lot of new paper work her way.

By July 9, 1964—the registration deadline for that year's election—3,522 persons had registered to vote. By comparison, this year's total, so far, is 1,000 more persons who are ready to pull the lever.

Mrs. Richardson added that her office will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on July 5 to handle any last minute registrants.

Tye Is Given Jail Term For Assault

Bobby Joe Tye, 25, of 144 E. Pearl, Plymouth, was sentenced to five days in the Detroit House of Correction in a Monday morning trial before City of Plymouth Municipal Judge Dunbar Davis.

Tye was convicted of assault and battery on June 16 on the corner of Main St. and Ann Arbor Trail.

He had attacked a man, James Rudolph Davis, 23, of 193 Hamilton Ave., Plymouth, about 1 a.m.

Use Of Radar Causes Jump In Tickets

The issuance of traffic tickets jumped from 162 to 483 in the past month—but there was a good reason.

Acting Police Chief Loren Johnson stated that in answer to numerous complaints, he had ordered the use of radar on Penniman and South Main Streets.

"We didn't have a ticket drive on," he commented, "but the use of radar was strictly to answer complaints."

According to the police reports, speeding tickets jumped from 37 to 116 and overtime parking from 122 to 210.

All Is Quiet During Storm

Police and fire departments in the Plymouth area reported that all was strangely quiet during the height of the storm Tuesday night.

Both the city and township fire departments said there were no fires and not even as much as a rescue run.

Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the city police department said they had no accidents and one sheriff's officer commented "everybody was very law abiding" during the storm.

Remap Helps Suburbs—Sladek

Suburbs will gain representation after the Wayne County Board of Supervisors is re-apportioned, says county Republican Chairman Henry Sladek.

Sladek, himself a candidate for the GOP nomination for supervisor in the 26th District, blisters Democrats for "their reactionary opposition" to the 26-district plan.

Voters will nominate candidates for the reapportioned county board in the Aug. 6 primary. Candidates must run in single-member districts and have until July 2 (Tuesday) to file nominating petitions.

IN HIS PARTY post, Sladek helped draw up the reapportionment plan and considers it a good one.

Suburbs, which now have one-fifth of the representation, will find their share increased to two-fifths. Livonia, for example, which has three supervisors under the present 130-member board for 2.8 per cent, will see its share of the power increased to 3.8 per cent under the new 26 district plan, Sladek argues.

Inner city Negro areas, too, will be able to get fairer representation on the new county board, Sladek said.

He was critical of Livonia city officials for intervening in an unsuccessful law suit to nullify the 26-district plan. In that suit, Democratic Mayor John L. Canfield of Dearborn Heights tried to get a 35-member board instead.

Circuit Judge James N. Canham ruled against Canfield's suit, charging the plaintiffs were guilty of "laches," a legal term meaning they "slept on their rights too long" before going to court.

Sladek added that Livonia had never been represented at any of the county apportionment commission's public meetings when it was discussing the 26-district plan.

SLADEK SAID that Democrats preferred a 35-member board because they would be able to win 32 or 33 of the districts. A 26-district plan, he said, would result in a more bipartisan county board.

Because the suburbs had 40 per cent of Wayne County's population in the 1960 census, said Sladek, they will be able to elect 40 per cent of the county board members.

The district in which Sladek is running includes Livonia, Plymouth, Northville and Canton Township.

Reapportionment was brought about by a 1966 state law which applied the "one-man, one-vote" principle to county boards. The Michigan Supreme Court was never able to come to a clear decision on its constitutionality, but the U.S. Supreme Court earlier this year did uphold the principle, and the law is being applied in Michigan for the first time this year.

Floods Cover C'Ville Bridge

Kids in the Botsford Park Subdivision in northeast Livonia, who are used to using a foot bridge across the Rouge River, found the bridge gone Wednesday morning, and a rolling full-blown river in place of the creek.

The bridge was installed three years ago to link students to the Botsford Elementary School, part of the Clarenceville School District.

The bridge and the causeway leading to it were under several feet of water after torrential rains of last week.

"Mainly, we want to call it to the attention of all concerned," Clarenceville Superintendent David McDowell said.

THE CITY BUILT the bridge and causeway after the district gave the land to Livonia. A city park is immediately adjacent to the school.

The bridge allowed 350 kids from the other side of the river to get to school without being bused.

Wednesday's rain was the second this year that shut it down. McDowell said he was concerned for the safety of students; had school been in session, students might have foolishly tested the bridge or walkway.

"We are not in any way registering a complaint with the city," McDowell emphasized. He pointed out the city had agreed to improve the grade and walkway, leading to and from the bridge, with pavement. The work was planned for this summer but the flood brings on questions of the bridge's adequacy.

When normal, the creek is no more than 18 feet wide, and quite shallow. But spring thaws and heavy rains send the river over its bank.

THIS YEAR in the spring the same thing happened and the district had custodians at the bridge placing students on buses and taking them down to Seven Mile Rd. and over.

"Nobody has ever been quite satisfied with the condition of the bridge," McDowell said. Parents in the area protested this winter because the grade leading to the bridge was too steep, making it very slippery and dangerous. A meeting was held, and the city began action, which culminated in contracts being let this April for paving and grade reduction.

After the waters drop, the causeway leading to the bridge will probably have to be rebuilt, or the question of a larger bridge explored.

Berries Now In Season

Strawberries in small plantings provide families with delicious fruits in daily supplies. They are the first fruits in season in home gardens.

According to a Pennsylvania State University's correspondent, strawberries take less time for planting until edible crops are ready. Total crop failure is rare.

Strawberries grow well in most parts of the U.S. Improved varieties adapt to a wide range of soil types and produce fruit with less care.

Summer Theaters Listed

Michigan's "come as you are" theatres are offering everything this season from special productions for children to the most sophisticated Broadway musicals, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

The 1968 edition of the "Michigan Guide to Summer Theatres," just off the press, lists 19 summer theatre groups active in the state this season. The theatres are located across the state from Detroit to Calumet and include a wide offering of entertainment throughout the summer.

The guide, compiled and published by the Michigan Tourist Council, details such information as theatre locations, curtain times, types of auditorium, player systems, ticket prices and reservation information.

Michigan's summer theatre groups will be appearing on stages in tents, barns, arenas, and some in regular auditoriums. Talent ranges from celebrated stars to community and resident players cast in roles of classic, standard and recent hit productions.

Copies of the Theatre Guide are available without charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, 48926.

Court Districts Hiking Pay

The state will guarantee the new district judges at least $18,000 a year when they take office next Jan. 1.

But most districts in Oberlin and suburbs are planning to supplement the salaries. Under state law, they may add another $9,500 for a total of $27,500. Candidates for district judge-ships have until next Tuesday, July 2, at 4 p.m. to file for a place on the Aug. 6 primary ballot.

FARMINGTON city and township, for example, have agreed to chip in the full $9,500. The township board voted last Monday, and the city commission gave its approval the week prior.

Farmington city and township constitute District 47 with one judge.

LIVONIA COUNCILMEN have tacitly agreed to supplement the state $18,000 salary, but so far they haven't set a figure. Livonia, which is all of District 16, will have two judges.

Plymouth city and township, Northville city and township and Canton Township officials will meet July 10 to discuss the salary of the single judge who will serve their District 35.

Westland hasn't discussed the salary for its two judges in District 35. The city council had opposed going into the district court setup, preferring to retain its municipal court, but Mayor Thomas Brown vetoed the council action.

REDFORD TOWNSHIP board members recently passed a budget that made no provision for supplementing two judges' salaries in District 17.

But Redford voters will see a one-mill tax increase proposal on the Aug. 6 ballot. Presumably if it passes, the township board might consider a supplement.

Garden City councilmen voted $7,500 supplement to pay its single judge $25,500.

Hospital Chief Yudashkin Gets Promotion, Transfer

Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin, medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital for the last two years, has been promoted to assistant director of the State Department of Mental Health.

He will begin his new duties in Lansing as soon as a successor can be appointed at NSH. In his new assistant directorship, Dr. Yudashkin will be responsible for services to the mentally ill.

He will replace Dr. V.A. Stehman, who was recently named deputy director of the department. The appointment was announced by Mental Health Department Director William H. Anderson.

AT NORTHVILLE, Yudashkin has been responsible for reorganizing the large hospital on a smaller unit basis and for developing hospital-community contacts.

The hospital has developed a new young adults ward, and the number of patients working in surrounding communities has grown.

The state director credited Yudashkin with both clinical and administrative experience in both in-patient and out-patient agencies.

Yudashkin's major duties will be the direction and coordination of operations in Michigan's nine hospitals for the mentally ill. More than 14,000 citizens of the state are residents of these hospitals. Yudashkin will be administratively responsible to Dr. Anderson.

HE WAS AN ASSISTANT director of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene from 1954 to 1960, and was founder of the Brooklyn After-care Clinic, one of the nation's first.

Yudashkin also founded the Psychiatric Consultation Clinic in Nassau County, New York, where he was medical director at the time he accepted his appointment as medical superintendent at Northville State Hospital.

Dr. Yudashkin received his medical degree from the University of Toronto in 1946 and completed his residency in psychiatry at Central Islip State Hospital, New York, in 1950. He was trained in Psychoanalysis at the American Institute of Psychoanalysis in New York.

Madonna Public Seminar To Probe Race Crisis

America's racial unrest and violence will be explored during a nine-part seminar on "Race, Attitudes, Policy, Action," sponsored by Madonna College in Livonia from July 8 to 25.

Seminar sessions will be held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays of three consecutive weeks, according to Mary Agnes Davis, seminar director.

Director Davis said "the seminar on 'Race, Attitudes, Policy, Action' aims to give knowledge and theoretical insight into the current racial issues which affect the daily life of all in some way."

"TOGETHER, through an open and sincere interaction of participants and seminar leaders, we will try to look beyond the current events in our society in order to better understand the racial tumult in the United States today.

"It will not be difficult to understand that the Negro revolution is nothing more than the Negro's way of demanding equal opportunities NOW. The young Negro, especially, who has been exposed all of his life to the teachings of the great American scriptures of democracy, freedom and equality, is no longer willing to wait for his inherent rights."

"We therefore welcome participants from every part of Livonia, Plymouth, Detroit and the neighboring communities. Together we hope to develop a closer understanding of what we can do to help make our democracy a reality for everybody."

PROGRAM SCHEDULE for the seminar will be as follows: Session I, July 8—"Patterns of Prejudice and Discrimination in Employment, Education and Housing," Director Davis, and Wilma Ray, assistant director of community services of the Civil Rights Commission.

Session II, July 10—"The New Militancy," Rev. Dr. James C. Chambers, pastor of St. John United Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Albert Cleage, pastor of the Shrine of the Black Madonna.

Session III, July 11—"The Racial Ghetto," Mrs. Lena Bevens, board member of the Michigan Welfare League and member of the Mayor's Policy Board and the New Detroit Committee, and Francis Kornegay, executive director of the Detroit Urban League.

Session IV, July 15—"New Teachers for the New Challenges of the Ghetto Schools," Joseph F. Miller, region I assistant superintendent of the Detroit Public Schools.

Session V, July 17—"Inter-racial Relations, Practices and Programs in Metropolitan Detroit," Rabbi M. Robert Syme, Temple Israel, and Tony Lo-crichio, seminarian, St. John's Provincial Seminary.

Session VI, July 18—"The Role of Local Government as an Activist in the Inner City and the City at Large," Richard Marks, Mayor's Commission on Human Relations.

Session VII, July 22—"Human Relations and the Police Department," Inspector Carl Heffernan, Citizen's Complaint Bureau of the Detroit Police Department, and Capt. Robert Turner, Investigative Section administrator, Livonia Police Department.

Session VIII, July 24—"The Black Power and the White Establishment," Ernest Brown, manager urban affairs, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

Session IX, July 25—"What I Can Do to More Effectively Unite My Community, My City, Now in 1968," Rudolph R. Kleinert, Livonia City Council; Philip Power, publisher of the Observer newspapers; Ed Davis, president of Ed Davis, Inc.; Dorothy Mann, director, Operation Understanding; Grace Marcus, League of Women Voters membership chairman; Andrew Brown, Grosse Pointe Open Housing Committee, and Miss Rose Jordan, session recorder.

THOSE PERSONS wanting to enroll for the seminar are asked to contact Director Davis at Madonna College. Enrollment in the seminar will be limited to 200 persons.

She was the recipient in 1966 of the "Heart of Gold Award" sponsored by Women for United Foundation, is listed in "Who's Who of American Women" and is a member of the National Conference of Social Work, Academy of Certified Social Workers, United Community Services Women's Committee, Michigan's Day Care Committee and the International Platform Association.

70 Die In Soccer Stampede

BUENOS AIRES -- Club fight-songs at a scoreless Buenos Aires soccer game drew out screams of more than 100 persons as flaming newspapers, hurled by hooligans into the stadium, forced the mob down a jammed and closed stairway.

The tragedy was not known to most of the fans until they passed by the gate and saw the half-naked, bleeding survivors. Police reported 70 were killed and more than 65 injured.

SAIGON -- In efforts to ward off Viet Cong attacks on Saigon, 19 Americans were killed in five helicopter crashes.

Army spokesmen said the spewing wreckage from a collision of two Army choppers caused a third one to crash. Spokesmen added the other two helicopters were shot down by enemy gunners.

CANADA -- Jean Baptiste Trudeau became Canada's prime minister this week as 10 million Canadian voters put into the high office the first millionaire in history.

Trudeau's opponent, conservative Robert Stanfield, led a quiet, conservative campaign compared to the lively and flamboyant Trudeau. A favorite, going into the election, Trudeau won by a large enough margin to have control of the House of Commons.

TORONTO -- Three major strikes in Canada left garbage piling up in the streets, beer supplies threatened in Canada and the St. Lawrence Seaway clogged.

Nearly 2,700 brewery workers, 3,700 city workers and 1,200 seaway laborers were striking for better wages and working conditions.

LONDON -- Instead of walking out on strike, British railroad workers are refusing to work overtime and working exactly by the union rules.

Last week, a signalman working at the big Waterloo station, took his tea-time break at rush hour. The result was a four-hour untangling session and a delay for thousands of commuters.

ATHENS -- Greece's military regime continued to run the government with military strictness last week when 30 members of the judiciary were fired for the stated reason "no longer has the moral prestige of the office."

VIENNA -- The International Confederation of Authors and Composers Societies will convene to consider what Britain's Sir A.P. Herbert calls "the disastrous trends which are now menacing authors' rights throughout the world."

The protective copyright act in the U.S. has not been changed since 1909.

PANMUNJOM, Korea -- A Japanese-made boat with American outboard motors on it was displayed as an American spy boat this week at the Joint Military Armistice Commission.

Except for a few bullet marks, the 12-foot boat seemed intact. It had been reported sinking off the Korean coast.

VANCOUVER -- A fire at the Clarence Hotel took the lives of three persons. The survivors were rescued from windowsills by firemen using aerial ladders.

Fire Chief Ralph Jackson reported the fire was possibly started by an explosion.

PALERMO, Sicily -- Cleared on narcotics charges, 17 Sicilians and Italian-Americans were freed amidst shouts of joy.

Two Detroiters, John Priztoli and Raffaele Quarano were at large during the trial. They are believed to be in the United States.

STUDENT TUTORS — Sandy DeVic, Bentley, and Janice Emans, Redford High, are two of 13 Village United Presbyterian Church teenagers tutoring in Detroit's inner city. Here they start their group on a balloon art project.

SPECIAL HELP from a very special person, Chris Morse of RU, is sought by this bright-eyed girl, who has voluntarily attended the after-school sessions at Williams School.

BANKING STUDIES — Julie Eddy of RU hit upon the idea of showing the youngsters how to make entries in a bank book, something they're not likely to have learned since few parents in the Williams School area have much money.

"WE'VE NEVER done that before" is almost sure to stimulate Carolyn Brown, tutor from Bentley High, into an idea for the following week's session. One week it was cake icing, with the students icing their own cake and taking it home to their mothers. Here it's oil coloring.

STORY AND PICTURES:
Dennis L. Pajot, Redford Editor

SPORTS FUN — Steve Hanson of RU is gleefully pounced on during a game of basketball. Roughhousing is a marvelous ice breaker.

WATCHING FOR SUBURBAN FRIENDS, this youngster avidly awaits the Wednesday afternoon class, knowing her white tutors will have prepared a fun project.

Teen Power

Redford, Livonia Youngsters Teach Inner City Kids---Everyone Learns

If a certain group of black youngsters in Detroit's inner city is touched by violence this summer, 13 white teenagers from this area are likely to cry.

Black and white have met on very special, happy and productive terms the past year-and-a-half. The local teenagers travel one day a week from their suburban neighborhoods to the ghetto on a tutoring project.

Originally, the older white youths gave intensive academic help to younger children, who were having trouble in school and who only incidentally happened to be black.

That was in December of 1966. The following summer, Detroit exploded. The school to which 14 suburbanites had been going was in a hard-hit area at Mt. Elliott and Garfield.

Two gutted homes still stand across the street from Williams School, which is a fort-like structure squeezed into a half block area with a narrow lawn across the front and concrete courts in back.

During the summer crisis, many of the same youthful tutors joined in riot relief through their church — Village United Presbyterian in Redford Township.

THEIR CHURCH Christian activities director, Donald M. (Hoppy) Hanson, started the tutoring project the previous December. A stint as emergency substitute teacher at Williams School has shown him the need. The teens took it from there.

Devoting an afternoon a week this past year have been Diane Bryant, Carolyn Brown, and Sandy DeVic, all of Bentley High School; Mary Gray, Chris Morse, Julie Eddy, Steve Hanson and Ginny Simmons, all of Redford Union; and Janet Emans, Fred Bonjour, Bonnie Bonjour and Don Wilde of Redford High.

One of the first year's cadre, Pat Wood, a Thurston graduate, continued throughout this year — traveling on his own from studies at Wayne State University to meet the group at Williams School.

He is just one of the teenagers, also, who have given serious thought to a vocation of service to disadvantaged youth.

THESE TEENS BECAME learners as well as teachers.

"They're just like us," said one of the teenage girls, summed up very candidly what all the tutors expressed in halting words and avid deeds.

Most of the youths had a difficult time relating their experiences in terms of black and white.

After eight months for most of them and a year and a-half for some, they seemed to have forgotten color in their earnestness to be useful to "people" in need.

The need has been strikingly apparent to them.

The teenagers found the most valuable thing they could offer was individual attention, a proof that somebody cared.

FEW OF THE WILLIAMS School youngsters, who attended the hour-after-school sessions voluntarily, lacked natural ability. Most suffered, instead, from problems that have become cliches since the national focus on poverty and depressed environments.

One girl would never talk. She had been withdrawn in regular school classes and with the teens. But she came regularly. The teens found she had vigorously bleeding teeth. They brought it to the attention of school officials, and corrective steps were begun.

A 10-year-old boy of whom the tutors had grown quite fond dropped out in May. They learned that he had moved to another district to live with relatives. His mother had been stomped to death in front of him by his stepfather in a quarrel over money.

Mrs. Sue Eddy, a Redford parent who helps Hanson chauffeur the tutors each Wednesday, noticed the school's prize athlete catch baseballs, shake off his glove and throw the ball with the same hand.

The tutors presented him a left hander's glove the next week. They converted a reluctant pupil into an avid ally.

One girl responded only one day when the teenage girls decided to have a music session. She played the piano, haltingly but passably. At first she wouldn't admit she had a piano at home. Later she revealed she had taught herself how to play. It was her only emotional outlet.

Others of the youngsters have yet to be "reached."

"THE MOST VALUABLE thing I've learned," said one of the teenagers, "is that these kids want to learn and want to better themselves."

Bettering themselves includes attending church in a building built for that purpose. It means seeing more than a narrow strip of grass. It means, to many, a first ride in a private automobile.

When the tutors brought their charges to Village United Presbyterian Church the first time, for a Christmas party, the edifice fascinated them.

The second time, for a spring party, the broad stretches of grass on Glenhurst Golf Course across the street amazed them.

Riding in the Eddy and Hanson autos was a new thrill. Usually boisterous, they entered the cars in quiet anticipation and then rode in awe through greater Detroit and into the suburbs.

Soon the Williams School children will get a first in their lives. They'll be taken to Kensington Metropolitan Park for a walk in the nature trails and playground and picnicking.

WHAT ABOUT THE SO-CALLED "welfare attitude"?

"Well, when we brought them to the church for the Christmas party, some had money and offered to pay for their meal," the teenagers said.

Conversational difficulties, which Hanson found prevalent, stem from a lack of knowledge that most people think is old hat. For instance, he said, the children didn't know rabbits and horses in pictures; they had never had a story read to them; they had seldom talked with adults.

As an outgrowth of the Village United Presbyterian church project, other agencies may attempt similar people-to-people efforts.

"A lot of kids have been questioning our youngsters," said Hanson.

A similar effort has been made by a Redford group known as "New Christian Minstrels," who lend a hand in the youth program of an inner city church.

Livonia, Plymouth Groups To Bus To Meadow Brook

The July 12 concert in the Meadow Brook Music Festival,

featuring Andre Kostelanetz as guest conductor, will attract two busloads of music lovers from the Observer area.

Groups from both Livonia and Plymouth will make the trip to the Oakland University campus for the concert under the stars that night.

Mrs. Barbara Core, head of the Meadow Brook committee in Livonia, said reservations should be made by July 5 and would be $5.25 a couple, including bus ride and festival.

THE BUS WILL leave from Bentley High School at 7 p.m. and those interested in attending may call Mrs. Core, GA 1-1645, or Mrs. Joan Flohr, GA 7-4850.
The Plymouth tour has full reservations.

The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m.
Meadow Brook's fifth season, which opened Thursday, June 27, is its most ambitious program to date.

It includes 34 concerts in an eight-week season, featuring the full Detroit Symphony Orchestra and a large array of instrumental, vocal and ballet talent.

SOLOIST IN THE opening week is violinist Camilla Wicks, and others to come include Eugene List, Vladimir Ashkenazy, and Philippe Entramont, pianists; soprano Anna Moffo, violinist Edith Peinemann and cellist Anna Rose.

Each concert evening the Festival grounds will be opened two hours before concert time for picnics and buffet supper service.

Know Needles When Weaving

In embroidery, just as in knitting, it's important to know your needles. When you work with a tightly woven fabric, the embroidery or crewel needle is a good choice. This needle has a fine, sharp point.

For loosely woven fabrics, choose a tapestry needle which has a somewhat blunt point and a larger eye than the crewel needle. A rug needle is larger still and you'll want to use it when you embroider with extra thick yarns.

A fourth needle, called cheville, is smaller than all the others and many needleworkers prefer its easy-to-handle size.

Cut Stray Hairs

No matter how attractive a hair style is, its beauty can be lessened by stray hairs at the nape of the neck. This is a special problem when setting shorter cuts and can be avoided by checking the back of your head in a three-way mirror. I.
you discover stray hairs, use a comb to shape them into a miniature wave or smooth them into place and tape them using Dermicel tape. In addition it won't hurt coming off.

Flood Waters Cause Havoc In All Sections

What Now? Tony Verduce, of Plymouth, Sits in Flooded Basement

What To Do About Flood Health Hazards

Several health hazards can arise from serious flooding, the Wayne County Environmental Health Division cautioned yesterday.

In a similar statement, Detroit Edison warned about possible electrocution in fully charged waters in home basements.

ACCORDING TO Edison, switches and fuses in a basement could be shorted out if the water came up that high. A short would leave the water with a powerful and lethal charge.

No one should try to shut off electricity to their home, or pull fuses out, spokesmen for Edison said.

Plug outlets are not as dangerous if they are not energized unless an appliance is plugged in and running.

Homeowners may call local Detroit Edison offices, or Customer service, WO 2-6800 for immediate information; service men will also come and shut the power off, if necessary.

HEALTH PROBLEMS can result from flood waters loaded with sewage. The following precautionary steps were urged by the county health department for use both during and after flooding:

(1) While your basement is still flooded, avoid flushing toilets or using other water connected appliances or fixtures whose discharge would increase the hazard or make your basement more difficult to clean.

(2) Do not handle any connected electrical cords or appliances while standing in water or on the wet floor until all power has been shut off. Call the electrical utility service department for assistance before attempting to disconnect cords or open the fuse box in a flooded basement.

(3) After cleaning the basement the individual should make sure that all clothing and parts of the body which come in contact with the sewage are washed. Prevent the tracking of sewage into the living quarters of the house. Do not allow children to enter the basement until after the floors and walls have been washed, disinfected and dried.

(4) Discard any contaminated food and vegetables into tightly covered, vermin-proof receptacles. Food containers such as sacks, cardboard boxes or open containers of any kind should be considered contaminated. Canned goods in sealed cans may be safely kept provided the containers are thoroughly washed and brushed in hot water and detergent and then rinsed in a chlorine disinfecting solution of 1/2 cup of household laundry bleach to each gallon of water.

(5) Clothing, carpets, upholstered furniture, toys, bedding, and similar items should be discarded unless they are cleaned and disinfected. Some salvage agencies or companies are equipped to process contaminated material without hazard to employees or eventual customers.

Discarded clothing should not be left accessible to unauthorized scavengers pending pickup. Stores with flood damaged merchandise are required to obtain clearance from the health department before offering any such goods for sale.

(6) After the sewage has receded, flush the floors and walls with water from a hose then wash with detergent and hot water. Keep the hose stream away from electrical equipment or wiring unless it is completely disconnected.

Disinfect the floors and walls as high as they were wet using a chlorine solution. Household laundry bleach diluted about one-half cup to one cup per gallon of water is a satisfactory and inexpensive disinfectant. Ventilate the basement thoroughly to assist drying. The disinfection solution will aid in deodorizing the basement. Elevate all material stored in the basement above the high water level to prevent damage in case of a recurrence of flooding.

(7) Check all affected pilot lights or burners on gas fired or oil fired appliances. If electricity is connected to an appliance which has had the motor controls submerged, do not attempt to start until you have consulted your appliance service company or dealer.

If gas is used, turn off the gas supply to the main burner. After about five minutes light the pilot burner in accordance with equipment instructions. If pilot will not light, turn off supply to pilot and call your appliance service company or dealer.

Worst Rain In Generation

Health Hazard Feared In Rouge Flood

By DOUG JOHNSON

What some have termed the worst rain in a generation swept through Western Wayne and Oakland counties Tuesday and Wednesday.

At least four drownings were attributed to rain-swollen waters, and government and public utility officials issued health and safety warnings.

The rain turned normally docile creeks into raging torrents, closed major and side roads for hours, flooded basements that never before had seen a drop of water.

Weary residents worked Tuesday night and all day Wednesday in many areas of Observerland cleaning basements, pumping water and rescuing waterlogged cars.

Hardest hit with flood waters was Redford Township, where rescue workers evacuated 30 families hit by overflow from the Smith Drain and nearby Middle Rouge River.

Homeowners here awoke in the middle of the night to find water in their homes.

The worst damage was in the Puritan Ave. area east of Beech Daly Rd. on Fenton, Pilgrim and Knight streets near the golf course.

THE FLOODS CAME AS a surprise to most as the torrent built up over the day. By dusk Tuesday, Hines Drive was a wide, free-wheeling river from Northville to Ford Rd., where the parkway ends.

A few motorists abandoned cars along the twisting roadway that commuters use daily.

Workers for the Wayne County Road

Commission, operating out of facilities at the Nankin Mills Nature Center on Ann Arbor Trail, said it was the worst they'd seen the parkway flooded.

Floodwaters swept onto ball fields and tennis courts, into rest rooms and picnic facilities. Nowhere along the drive could the roadway be seen; much of the park was under four, five or six feet of water.

Where cars normally move under Merriam, Middle Belt and Inkster roads became a full-fledged river. Good sized boats would have found the water deep enough to navigate.

County engineers explained that the parkway was developed to handle potential floodwaters. No homes are located in the immediate flood plain of the parkway. Bridges over the parkway were crowded with onlookers who watched picnic tables and road signs float by.

Sections of the parkway between Newburgh and Haggerty roads were kept open.

Flooding became worse further downstream as more water emptied into the river.

Under normal conditions, the Middle Rouge branch is from ten to 20 feet wide, and no more than three to four feet deep. A good rain sends it over its banks with little difficulty, Road Commission workers say.

A spokesman for the Road Commission said Hines Drive would remain closed at least until Friday morning. As of Thursday noon, the water level had not subsided substantially, they reported. No estimate of damages was available.

DAMAGE IS EXPECTED to be limited to picnic tables and garbage cans washed away. A more expensive proposition, however, will be to make the park usable again.

Health officials said that the danger of water-borne disease did exist. According to John Stock, director of the Division of Environmental Health, Wayne County, the risk in swimming in the swirling waters included the chance of contracting tetanus, typhus, or other such diseases.

"The mixture carries both storm water and water from sanitary sewers. The water can bear organisms and would transmit diseases," Stock explained.

The flood also graphically points out the capacity of municipal sewer lines for polluting streams, Stock said.

Sewers gathering both sanitary waste and storm water in one pipe have been outlawed in the county since 1955. However, flood conditions and lines put in before the 1955 ruling make the flood waters contain more than just rain water.

OFFICIAL ESTIMATES VARY on the rainfall. Farmington area gauges recorded 5.03 inches, well above an average total for June.

In Redford, one fireman said the level in his backyard above-ground swimming pool rose seven inches.

In Plymouth, the DPW's rain gauge registered 3.92 inches, the "worst in 25 years."

Whatever the total, the rain in the last seven days will set records.

THE RAINFALL brought tragedy, too.

A pair of brothers, Joe, 13, and Mark O'Connor, 12, of Dearborn Heights, drowned in floodwaters along Telegraph Rd. north of Warren Avenue.

Livonia firemen, who assisted Wednesday in work on the double drowning in a flood-swollen park in Dearborn Heights, said three youths using a park bench as a raft were swept off into swift waters at Telegraph Road and Edward Hines Drive shortly before 4:30 p.m.

One swam to a tree where he clung to a branch until rescued by a passer-by. His two companions, Mark O'Connor, 12, and a brother, Joseph O'Connor, 13, of 27055 W. Warren, Dearborn Heights, both drowned.

Two others, a boy from Niles, and a youth from Troy, were reported drowned. The Troy youth was swept into an open sewer.

No Observerland deaths were reported.

Patients at St. Mary Hospital, Levan and Five Mile Rd. in Livonia, were threatened at the peak of the flood when waters began to fill the basement.

Workers dammed off the waters, making use of hospital linen. The waters could have forced shutdown of the institution's power supply. Authorities said patients would have to be sent home, or transferred to Wayne County General.

Motorists found normal routes to work flooded; viaducts were the first to fill up.

I-96 through Farmington Township was closed, as well as the Nine Mile-Inkster Rd. area and the 14 Mile Rd.-Halstead area.

Some streets in the City of Farmington turned into rivers as the waters lapped over curbs up to doorsteps.

Telegraph Road at Michigan Avenue and at Eight Mile Rd. was closed.

DETROIT EDISON REPORTED only one major shutdown in the area; 35 customers near Lyman and Pleasant Valley in Farmington Township were without service for a short period.

Other communities outside of the area did not fare so well. More than 1,600 customers in Bloomfield Township lost electrical service for three hours.

Consumers Power Co., as well as Edison, reported hundreds of calls requesting electrical and gas turnoffs.

In Plymouth damage was lightest.

Water filled the central parking lot downtown and appeared at one point ready to fill stores along Ann Arbor Trail; the danger did not continue, however.

In Plymouth Township, residents of some areas crossed streets in row boats to visit neighbors.

Outstate, floods threatened East Lansing as the Red Cedar River flooded. The Grand River was reported at flood level early Thursday morning.

Flooding along the Huron River and the Saline River near Ann Arbor kept workers busy around the clock. An earthen section of a dam on the Saline gave way, flooding an area around Saline's water treatment plant.

Man-made lakes gave way and covered Huron River Drive and a section of Dixboro Road and nearby tracks washed out near Geddes Rd. just west of Plymouth.

FOOT BRIDGE in Botsford area of Clarenceville is completely covered by water as this young bicyclist discovers. The bridge is used by school children in area to get to nearby building.

NORMALLY THESE BOATS are used for fishing but this time owners were busy fishing neighbors out of their flooded homes. This was a familiar scene in several Redford Township areas, especially in the Lola Park section.

OUT OF FLOODED HOME to the safety of dry land is the story here where two brothers tote a color television set to safety before the water did it damage. Note the water around the dwelling.

THESE RESIDENTS in the Midland section of Redford Township parked their cars along side their homes—this is what happened when the floodwaters moved in.

WHAT TO DO? That was the problem of this motorist who thought he could drive through a flooded area and suddenly found himself pinned in the car with the water coming in through the door. He had to walk to dry land—wiser but much wetter.

Flood Insurance Hard To Find, Buy

Rain waters have brought a flood of calls to local insurance agents this week.

And they have nothing but more bad news. Most homeowners policies do not insure for flood losses.

Two agents for State Farm Insurance, Tom Hirzel of Plymouth and Ted Alberts, agency manager in Livonia, said they knew of no general policies that protect an owner from flooding, sewer backup or water damage.

Alberts said only Lloyds of London, through a few other companies offers the insurance.

"THERE ARE OVER a thousand companies, but there may be only one or two small ones who insure against flood damage. But I don't know of any," Alberts said. Hirzel explains:

"There is no way to buy it. Everybody faces the chance of a fire, so everyone has fire insurance. But in floods, those who are high and dry wouldn't buy. Consequently, all policy holders would be flood victims and their premiums would be so high that the loss would not equal the value."

Hirzel said he had a few calls on the claims, but not as many as in the past. "I guess people are getting educated," he noted.

State Farm and other major companies dropped flood insurance after investigation showed the costs were prohibitive. State authorities took flooding out of the standard homeowners policy form several years ago.

DAMAGE TO CARS from flooding, however, is covered by most comprehensive policies, agents report.

Many chronic flood areas like the Mississippi have requested action, and flood insurance proposals are now before Congress as a joint project for the government and the insurance industry.

An insurance publication, "Rough Notes," called flood insurance now "practically unsalable." They cited two reasons—catastrophic losses in one concentrated area, and a lack of accurate statistical data to underwrite the coverage.

Our Artist Attends Manslaughter Trial

MRS. CLARK "fastened her hooded eyes on the jury." She was the only eye-witness who testified.

Rainy Farmland Outside; A Big Trial Indoors

EDITOR'S NOTE: Court rules prohibit the use of cameras in a courtroom, and Dr. Ronald E. Clark has been a particularly difficult subject to photograph outside. So the Observer Newspapers sent reporter-artists Glenn Merillat to the scene, and she produced the accompanying drawing and this word sketch of the country town.

By GLENNA MERILLAT

The huge old maples and oaks that surround the Ingham County courthouse were dripping in the aftermath of one of the state's heaviest rains in recent history as we arrived in the small town of Mason, which is set down in the farmlands just southeast of Lansing.

columns are echoes of another era. Some energetic soul with an apparent delight in gay colors has spent many hours painting the huge clusters of plaster grapes that adorn each column in startling shades of purple and green.

This particular day's session was to have started at 1 p.m., but when the courthouse clock chimed the half hour and the judge still had not arrived, reporters, attorneys and witnesses milled restlessly about outside the courtroom, smoking and exchanging small talk.

A WOMAN FROM Mason working for the local newspaper and freelancing for Lansing State Journal described her futile attempts to photograph Dr.

JUDGE WILLIAM BEER was a half-hour late; everyone waited.

DR. CLARK (right), the defendant, conferred with his attorney, Philip Rowston, as Mrs. Clark testified in his defense.

C'ville Band Is Festival-Bound

Tourists at the Traverse City Cherry Festival July 10-13 will see and hear the Clarencville High School Marching Band again.

The 80-piece band will be defending the grand championship it won last year.

To raise the $2,500 necessary to pay the expenses of the organization for the trip, and stay, merchants were solicited for funds, and a newspaper collection drive was held.

Schoolcraft Seeks More Musicians

Schoolcraft College is making an intensive search for qualified young pianists to take part in an expanded summer music school and festival.

Piano instructor Donald Morelock has written to dozens of piano teachers asking them to bring the Schoolcraft program to the attention of their high school and early college students.

Four weeks of classes in July will be offered, concentrating on chamber music, orchestra, music theory for performers, and a special course in style and musicianship.

Interested students should call Donald Morelock at the college, 561-6400, by Monday. Registration is July 1.

Mrs. Clark Keeps Composure On Stand

By FRED DeLANO

MASON—Dr. Ronald E. Clark's defense lawyer put only four witnesses on the stand compared to 13 for the prosecution in his trial for manslaughter.

Defense attorney Philip Rowston's case was highlighted Wednesday by the appearance for the first time of the only eye-witness of the Nov. 3 incident—Mrs. Violet Clark, wife of the Farmington Township physician.

Clark is accused of killing his part-time nurse and patient, Mrs. Grace Neil, of Livonia, last Nov. 3. The Oakland County prosecutor's office wound up its case Tuesday in the two-week trial.

Maintaining complete composure even under heavy cross-examination, Mrs. Clark testified that after the doctor had finished treating Mrs. Neil, she looked in on the patient shortly before 7 p.m.

"THE FIRST THING I noticed was that the solution bottle was completely empty; usually it would have been half full," said Mrs. Clark, a school teacher in Dearborn the last 24 years.

"I took the needle out of her arm, noticed blue spots on her face and called, 'Ron!'"

"The doctor came immediately, shook Grace to try to get her to wake up, then gave her an injection into the heart," (Earlier testimony from Mrs. Neil's sister-in-law quoted Dr. Clark as having given Mrs. Neil two shots of adrenalin.)

Mrs. Clark said her familiarity with removing the needle and injection bottle and tubing stemmed from having performed the same chore in relation to Mrs. Neil "many times" before.

Mrs. Neil had received nine sodium pentothal treatments from Dr. Clark in October and one each of the first three days of November according to Mrs. Clark's records.

AFTER DISCOVERY of the body, both she and her husband attempted to revive Mrs. Neil through mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, Mrs. Clark testified. Meanwhile, the physician also notified Mrs. Neil's husband and an undertaker, and within an hour the entire drama had started to unfold.

The Clarks were married Nov. 24, 1962, and Mrs. Clark testified that Mrs. Neil had been one of the wedding guests.

Assistant Prosecutor John Bain, in cross-examining Mrs. Clark, concentrated on an official statement she had made to police investigators Nov. 6.

Bain attempted to establish discrepancies between that statement and the testimony she gave Wednesday.

Key issue involved what she saw when she entered the patient's room.

BAIN QUOTED Mrs. Clark as having said on Nov. 6 that when she looked into the room, the solution bottle was half full, and that she told police, "She looked all right to me. She was perfectly normal."

When asked by Bain if she remembered being asked such a question and giving that answer Nov. 6, Mrs. Clark answered, "No."

Her testimony revealed that on the evening of Mrs. Neil's death (a Friday), the Clarks had planned to go to a friend's cottage near Port Austin with two other couples for the weekend. Both of those couples came to the Grand River clinic while Dr. Clark was administering the treatment to Mrs. Neil and had left only minutes before her death was discovered.

The Clarks also were all packed and ready to go, she said.

OTHER KEY defense witnesses were Dr. Paul Wilcox, a Traverse City psychiatrist, and Barbara Clapp, 34344 W.

14 Mile Rd., Farmington. Dr. Wilcox said he had administered sodium pentothal "several thousand" times and never has needed an assistant in the process. He said some of his patients had received as many as 200 pentothal treatments over a five-year period.

Miss Clapp, an employee of a department store, said she had talked with Mrs. Neil in the company's Farmington store a week before the latter's death.

Miss Clapp testified that Mrs. Neil spoke of the fact that her son would be coming home from Vietnam shortly and that, although she wanted to see him, "she was going to do everything in her power so he wouldn't see her."

THE SON, Tharon E. Neil, Jr., was the final witness of the trial, being called by the prosecution in rebuttal.

The youth, who flew back from Vietnam for his mother's funeral on emergency Army leave, read aloud to the jury a lengthy letter written by the mother only a few days before Mrs. Neil's alleged conversation with Miss Clapp.

The letter contained no hint that Mrs. Neil had any anticipation of not being alive when the son returned.

A JUROR pays close attention.

Stately Delphinium Give Garden Splendor

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Tall spires of delphinium bring stately beauty to the garden. The fine new Pacific and English hybrids which often reach above five feet tall have a drama and majesty that is enhanced by the richness of their colors.

These range from clear white through delicate pastel blues to lavenders, violets, indigos and true sky blues.

They are incredibly lovely but need a cool, moist soil.

and create an unforgettable scene when combined with pink-toned roses, or with blazing orange lilies or pure white Madonna lilies.

The original wild prototypes of the lovely garden hybrid delphiniums were found growing in high altitudes with a cool climate. If this is kept in mind it is easier to meet the conditions under which delphinium grow best.

They need lots of sunshine, but need a cool, moist soil.

The soil should be neutral or slightly alkaline. An application of lime will insure the proper alkalinity, and a mulch will conserve moisture.

DELPHINIUM seem to grow equally well in clay soils or in sandy ones. Even though soil texture is not important, the fertility is. They are heavy feeders and in order to produce top size flower spikes a rich soil is needed. When transplanting delphinium the soil should be liberally enriched with well-rotted manure or with compost, or with a complete commercial fertilizer such as a 12-16-12 formula.

An application of this same formula should be made in Spring to establish plants, and after blooming an application of a low nitrogen fertilizer (4-16-20) should be applied.

Delphinium plants ready to bloom can be purchased from nurseries. They can also be grown from cuttings or divisions of old plants, and they can also be grown from seed. The seed should be fresh, or if not to be planted as soon as it is ripe it should be stored in a closed container in the refrigerator. If sown during the summer in the garden, small plants will develop which should have some winter protection. They will be ready to bloom the following June.

If the seeds are started indoors in January, blooming size plants will be ready to transplant into the garden by late spring. These will bloom somewhat later than established plants.

Although this is the season when delphinium are at their glory, a second period of bloom occurs in late summer. To encourage a repeat performance it is necessary to remove the flower stalk so seeds do not form. Cut off the flower stalk, but not the leaves.

TO CONTROL diseases and pests a regular program is needed. Dusting or spraying with Bordeaux mixture will prevent mildew. Malathion will control mites, and dusting with sulphur and rotenone will forestall many delphinium troubles.

In addition to the giant hybrid delphinium, the gardener can bring color and charm to the garden with the old-fashioned light blue belladonna delphinium, the deep blue belladonna delphinium, or the tiny chinese delphinium. Larkspur are an annual form of delphinium.

Add Vines To Create Memories

Romance, nostalgia, "back home" memories, happiness—these are the thoughts associated with vines.

Novelists have their lovers strolling beneath the clusters of purple Wisteria, or bathed in the fragrance of the Jasmine. Old grads of love to return to the "ivy-covered walls," and what child has not conjured up dreams of adventure along with Jack on his bean stalk?

As a group, vines offer us some of the most interesting and dramatic displays we could want in a landscape. The saucer-sized and brilliantly colored flowers of the Clematis are equal in beauty to anything from our annual or perennial border.

An interesting flower shape is found on the Aristolochia. The yellowish-green tubular bloom resembles a meerschaum pipe, hence the common name Dutchman's Pipe.

WHO COULD MISTAKE the nearness of a Honeysuckle when it is in full bloom and perfuming the entire surroundings? Some vines give us flowers when it is most needed in our garden, particularly late Summer. The orange and scarlet flowers of the Trumpet vine appear then, as do the white heads of the Hydrangea vine.

Passionflower, a vine, graces southern gardens. Individual parts of this spectacular bloom, according to legend, are said to represent the instruments of the Crucifixion.

"OLD-FASHIONED" VINES also have a definite use in today's modern landscape setting. When creating a landscape plan, you may cover a blank wall with a vine as the background for a flower border or soften the harsh corners of a straight-line architecture with the greenness of a climbing plant.

He will also consider vines as perfect covers for certain elements that are out of place in the garden picture. A steel or wire boundary fence is an example, as are hard-to-remove tree trunks and boulders.

In addition to beauty, nature has provided vines with some most ingenious mechanisms so they can climb on their supports. Some vines-called "clingers"—will send out little strand-like tendrils with sticky pads or tiny roots at the end. As soon as they touch a wall, brick or tree trunk, they will grasp on as if glued.

Builders Praised

Efforts of the National Association of Home Builders in behalf of improved housing for all American families has drawn a commendation from the President of the United States. In a statement prepared for the spring meeting of NAHB's Board of Directors President Johnson lauded NAHB's "positive, affirmative steps to bring the full force of a great industry to bear upon the immediate housing needs of the Nation," and recognized NAHB as a "rallying point" for the effort to provide decent housing for all Americans.

Clarke read the President's statement during the NAHB's annual Congressional Banquet, closing highlight of the 49,000-member association's spring board meeting.

Sensitive Plant Is Shock Proof

Sensitive Plant is a wonder of the botanical world. If you touch a single leaflet, it will immediately fold up.

Successive leaflets along the stem will also fold and the entire branch will bend down toward the base of the plant. Left alone the plant will recover and become fully sensitive again.

Repeated stimulation does not harm the plant. The plant will recover from shock in a minute or so, but will not become fully sensitive again for a few hours.

It is also suitable for indoor winter use as a house plant. A perennial in its native climate, Sensitive Plant is grown as an annual here.

YOU CAN enjoy this unusual plant. Start a Punch 'n Gro planter kit already planted with Sensitive Plant. The kits contain seeds evenly spaced at the right depth for best germination and growth.

The Sensitive Plant seeds have been specially treated to speed germination. Already fertilized and with a special soil mixture, the kits are found at most supermarkets and variety stores. Instructions for starting the kit and transplanting out of doors are included.

Pesticide Bill In Effect

Stronger pesticide controls sponsored by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, were signed into law recently by Governor George Romney. Two separate bills give the agency increased control over commercial pesticide applicators and power to restrict use of pesticides and other chemicals known as "economic poisons."

Governor Romney asked for immediate effect for an amendment (H. B. 3876) concerning registration of economic poisons.

This gives the state agriculture department full authority to deny registration of a pesticide in Michigan. Previously the law required that chemical firms be allowed to register under protest, under certain circumstances, even if denied registration by the agriculture department.

Director B. Dale Ball of the Michigan Department of Agriculture said that registration of such chemicals may be denied under the amended law.

Bluegrass, Fescue Best Seeds For Michigan Lawns

For a beautiful lawn, you should be familiar with turf grasses and what best suits your particular soil, site and environment.

Permanent turfgrasses such as Kentucky Bluegrass and red fescue should compose a major portion of most seed mixtures planted in Michigan.

Cheap, quick growing seed mixtures are generally a poor buy since they may contain large quantities of temporary and weedy perennial grasses which are unsuited for a high quality, permanent turf.

ONLY QUALITY seeds which meet certain minimum purity and germination percentages should be used. The Michigan Seed Law requires proper labeling for germination, purity, and composition of grass seed mixtures.

However, the buyer is responsible for selecting the properly adapted variety or mixture. Below are some of the permanent lawn grasses meant for lawns in Michigan.

KENTUCKY BLUEGRASS (Poa pratensis), the most widely used turfgrass in Michigan, is best adapted to well-drained, heavy fertile soils. It is a perennial, cool season turfgrass having good sod forming characteristics due to its rhizomatous growth habit.

Generally the Kentucky bluegrasses are not adapted to intense shade. There are a number of varieties of Kentucky bluegrass, some having distinctly different management requirements.

It is important to carefully select the variety best suited to the particular management level desired. Kentucky bluegrasses should be mowed at 1-1/2 to 2 inches. Cutting shorter than 1-1/2 inches will seriously weaken the turf.

Kentucky blue grasses are widely used on lawns, athletic fields, institutional grounds, fairways, tees, roadsides, cemeteries and airfields.

COUGAR — is a moderately low growing variety of Kentucky blue grass with a similar leaf texture to Merion. Numerous leaves are oriented horizontally. It tends to have a blue-green color.

It is highly susceptible to leafspot and is moderately susceptible to stripe smut and powdery mildew. Use of this variety in Michigan is suggested only for the northern half of the lower peninsula where leafspot is not a problem.

The outstanding attribute of Cougar is the excellent drought tolerance and drought recovery on sandy soils.

DELTA — This variety of Kentucky blue grass is similar to Kenblu. It is as susceptible to leafspot as Kenblu Kentucky Bluegrass but recovers from injury much more rapidly.

It is fairly resistant to stem rust and powdery mildew. The variety is outstanding in establishment vigor. Delta can recover from drought fairly quickly. The growth habit of Delta is quite erect.

FYLKING — It has a dense, low growing habit of growth of relatively fine leaf texture. Its establishment rate is satisfactory. Fylking is reported to have good resistance to leafspot and stripe smut and a moderate resistance to stem rust. It is moderately susceptible to powdery mildew. Fylking has had only limited testing under Michigan conditions.

KENBLU — It has superior early spring and late fall growth and color but becomes dormant in midsummer. This turfgrass is highly susceptible to leafspot diseases which cause severe thinning and browning in early summer.

Although resistant to leaf rust, it is quite susceptible to powdery mildew which can cause severe injury in shaded areas.

Kenblu Kentucky bluegrass withstands traffic moderately well and should be a basic component of a majority of lawn mixtures in Michigan which are to be maintained at a medium to low fertility level.

MERION — This Kentucky bluegrass variety produces a turf of high quality and density when properly managed. It forms a medium textured sod having a wide, dark green leaf.

Its chief attribute is resistance to leafspot disease, which results in superior summer growth when compared with Kenblu, Delta, Park, Newport, etc. It is highly susceptible to powdery mildew which can cause severe thinning under intense shade.

Stem rusts are also a problem with Merion but can be overcome by a balanced fertilizer program. Merion is highly susceptible to stripe smut, which is most prevalent under heavy thatch conditions.

ALTHOUGH stripe smut has been found in Michigan, it has not as yet become a severe a problem as in states to the south.

Merion also shows considerable susceptibility to a new disease which has been called Fusarium blight. With the advent of cool fall weather, Merion shows a reduced growth rate and turns a characteristic purplish-green color.

Merion has superior ability to tolerate and recover from droughts and therefore would be better adapted, than most bluegrass varieties, to light sandy soils. Merion is comparatively slow to establish. It demands a high management level compared to most other bluegrass varieties and requires twice the rate of nitrogen fertilization (6-8 of actual nitrogen per 1,000 feet per year) Merion tends to thatch more than other bluegrasses due to its vigorous, dense growth habit.

NEWPORT — A Kentucky bluegrass variety similar to Merion in growth habit which blends well with Merion. Its main virtue is excellent soil vigor which is desirable for football fields. It is not as vigorous in rhizome production and sod formation.

Newport seems to prefer a medium high nitrogen fertility level. It has a medium rate of establishment. Newport tends to become very stemmy at seedhead setting in June.

WINDSOR — is a dark green, moderately low growing Kentucky bluegrass. It has moderate susceptibility to leafspot, powdery mildew and rust.

BLUEGRASS blends — The blending of several bluegrass varieties which possess varying disease resistant characteristics is preferred. The blend is suited to a broader range of adaptation and disease tolerance than a single variety.

RED FESCUE — Red Fescue (Festuca rubra) is a perennial, cool season turfgrass of fine texture particularly adapted to light, sandy soils, shaded conditions and lower management levels.

Freehan, Horton And McLain To Start For AL In All-Star Game

Denny McLain pitching and Bill Freehan catching!

This figures to be the starting battery for the American League against the best of the National League a week from Tuesday in baseball's annual all-star game in Houston's Astrodome.

Freehan was picked to start behind the bat for the second straight year by a vote of the American League players.

He was selected along with fellow Tiger, Willie Horton, who'll appear in the Star's outfield for the first time.

McLain was one of seven pitchers selected by Manager Dick Williams Friday as the star for the All-Star game. The indications are that Denny will be given the starting assignment as the winningest hurler in the American League.

McLain's selection is automatic. He's the circuit's top winner with a 13-2 record and thus appears a cinch to be honored with the starting role for the second time in three years.

STARTING WITH Freehan and Horton will be Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota at first base, Rod Carew of Minnesota at second, Jim Fregosi of California at short, Brooks Robinson of Baltimore at third and Frank Howard of Washington and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston in the outfield.

Robinson is the "oldtimer" of the group. This will be his ninth All-Star game.

Freehan led in the voting, collecting 248 votes. Horton received 193.

Among other Tigers, Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert ranked third at second and third base, respectively, while Jim Northrup got five votes and the injured Al Kaline and Mickey Stanley each three votes in the outfield.

The pitchers and extra players were to be named this weekend by Williams.

IN THE NATIONAL League, outfielder Hank Aaron of Atlanta was the only repeat starter. Pete Rose of Cincinnati and Curt Flood of St. Louis will form the outfield for the senior circuit, which won last year's game, 2-1, and holds a 20-17 edge in the series.

Willie McCovey of San Francisco will start at first, Tommy Helms of Cincinnati at second, Don Kessinger of Chicago at short and Ron Santo of Chicago at third.

The catcher will be Jerry Grote of New York.

Red Schoendienst of St. Louis will guide the NL Stars and will select his pitchers and extra players this week.

FAN LETTERS, congratulating him for his selection to the American All-Star squad, have the attention of Catcher Bill Freehan in the Tiger locker room prior to Friday's night game.

GETTING READY for early evening workout is veteran Outfielder Al Kaline who failed to make the all-stars for the first time in several years. Al has been sidelined with an arm injury.

Hellier Named Franklin Coach

Ron Hellier finally is coming back home to Livonia to coach.

Hellier, a former star athlete at Bentley High School who later starred at Olivet College, has been named baseball and cross country coach at Franklin High.

He'll take over for Jim Ford in baseball as Ford moves to other coaching assignments and for Dave Junke in cross country. Junke has resigned from teaching to enter the industrial world. He coached the track team in the spring.

Hellier, who this summer is working in Livonia's Recreation Department and assigning umpires for Little League baseball games, finished at Bentley in 1958.

Heights in first place with a 6-2 mark. Redford stood 5-1-1 and Livonia 4-2-1.

A victory counts two points and a tie one.

Livonia is scheduled against Dearborn Heights Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Wallaceville Field (Edward Hines Driveway, East of Inkster) while Redford meets Plymouth at the same time at Thurston.

In Monday's play, Plymouth faces Livonia at 6:30 and Redford meets Dearborn Heights at 9 p.m. at Ford Field while Garden City goes against Westland at Garden City at 6:30.

Netters Star

DURING HIS prep career he played baseball and ran on the cross country team. He then played baseball at Olivet and a year ago served as an assistant baseball coach at Eastern Michigan University.

Hellier taught and coached ninth-grade teams at Covington Junior High in Birmingham during the past school year.

He presently is the manager of Livonia's Class A team, which is locked in a three-way tie with Dearborn Heights and Redford for the second-round title.

Rain washed out three "A" games last week to leave

Kathy Bock of Redford Township, lost to Marcia Coskey, of Hamtramck, 6-2, 6-1, in the final of the 14 and under championship in the Detroit Public Parks junior tennis tournament.

Barbara Trappell, of Redford, reached the semifinals in the 18-under category before bowing to Sue Selke, of Detroit 6-2, 6-2. Miss Selke then went on to win the title.

In the boys 14-under class, Pat Trappell, of Redford Township, beat Cornell Ballard, 4-6, 6-0, 6-4, and was to meet Tony Lamerato of Detroit for the title Saturday.

Ex-Indy Victor NewTrack Aide

Peter DePalo, former winner at Indianapolis, has been named director of industrial relations for the new Michigan International Speedway race track.

The oval is located in the Irish Hills and will open for racing on Oct. 6 when Indianapolis cars will race there.

Good Fortune For Auto Pilot

LANGHORNE, PA.—Good fortune finally broke for Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., Sunday when he won the Langhorne 150-mile for big cars. He beat out Indianapolis winner Bobby Unser by 12 seconds as the two drove the only cars that finished the race.

Rains Foul Up Area Baseball, Softball Games

Outside the rain was coming down in buckets.

Inside, in the offices of the Livonia Recreation department, things were kind of damp, too. Athletic Director Bob Green was shedding some tears because of what was happening to his baseball and softball coaches.

"Here we have more teams than ever playing and this rain is just killing us," Green declared.

"By the looks of things we'll have to use every available day to make up games. Some teams probably will play five and six games in a row. Pity their pitchers."

The elements complicate Green's life because there are only so many diamonds and so many umpires available.

6 Qualify In State Amateur

CHARLEVOIX — Six Observerland area golfers were among the qualifiers for match play in the 1968 Michigan Amateur which is scheduled to wind up Sunday.

The 36-hole qualifying test had to be reduced to only 18 holes because of the rain that turned the Belvedere Country Club into an ocean.

Four players shot 73s with John O'Donovan winning in a playoff to take medalist honors. He's from Grand Rapids.

He tied with Pete Green of Franklin, O.W. Ellstrom Jr. of Dearborn Heights and Bob McMasters of Royal Oak.

In a group deadlocked at 74 were Rocky Pozza of Livonia and Jim St. Germain of Northville.

Ralph Ellstrom of Garden City shot a 76 while Del McAllister of Plymouth had a 77. At 78, the final qualifying score, were Melvin (Bud) Stevens of Livonia a three-time state champ; and Mike Basford of Farmington.

Pozza, 19, a member of the University of Michigan team this past spring, had eight one-putt greens to highlight his round.

Those failing to qualify included Bill Lockerman of Livonia, Bill Curtis of Farmington and Ed Flowers of Farmington, all at 79; Gary Robinson at Plymouth at 81 and Doug Lam of Farmington at 88.

'Mr. Soccer' Ousted From Cougar Job

Gordon Preston of Redford Township, long Mr. Soccer in the Detroit area, no longer is connected with the Detroit Cougars.

Preston this past week was asked to resign as the Cougars' public relations director following a run-in with his superiors.

Preston had worked tirelessly for the last decade to promote soccer in the Detroit area. Much of his efforts were devoted to building up soccer as a schoolboy sport.

He visited numerous schools in Observerland and helped to stage soccer clinics.

Whether Preston's ouster could help the Cougars was something else again. The team has lost five straight and dropped into last place in the Lakes Division with a 4-9 record.

A scheduled game last Tuesday with Atlanta was rained out. The Cougars were to play in Cleveland Saturday night and at Toronto next Friday before returning home to face Kansas City on July 10.

Redford Girl Joins Netters In Tourney

Barbara Trappnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Trappnell, 8887 Sarosota, Redford Township, is a member of the Southeastern Michigan tennis team competing in the Junior Wightman Cup round robin series. The tourney is sponsored by the Western Tennis Association with headquarters in Chicago.

Barbara, a student at Thurston High, was selected by Coach Jean Hoxie along with five other girls from the Detroit area.

Matches will be played in River Forest, Ill., Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, Metropolitan Chicago, Illinois, Northern Ohio, Indiana and West Virginia.

"We'll do the best we can," said Green, "but I can visualize only some headaches."

Baseball and softball are enjoying banner years—teamwise—in the Livonia area this season.

THERE ARE now 140 Little League teams operating, not counting the 15 teams in the Class F loop, for "better players" in the 13 and under age category.

In Class E for boys 15 and under, there are 11 teams, while 14 teams from the Observerland district make up Class D for boys 16-19, five play in the Free Press League and six in the unlimited Class A loop. Over on the softball front, there are 65 teams operating.

Four are in men's leagues, the other three are open to women. In the major circuit for the girls, eight teams from Livonia, Southfield, Garden City and Allen Park make up the field. One of them represents the Detroit House of Correction which plays "home" games only on Friday.

THE GIRLS teams are locked in a tight race. Latest standings showed the Livonia Royals on top with a 6-1 mark while the Livonia Daly Drive in, Allen Park Presbyterian and Southfield Mic Macs were tied for second with 5-2 marks.

Farmington Center was next at 4-3, followed by Garden City Michigan Bell at 2-5, House of Correction at 1-6 and Livonia 7 Up which was 0-7.

The Major women play Fridays with three games at Ford Field in Livonia and the other at the House of Correction. In the other girls' circuits, one is limited to lassies 14-16 years of age, the other to girls 13 and under.

Money Draws Best To H.P.

Why has the Hazel Park Race Track attracted so many outstanding stables and jockeys this season?

The answer is simple enough: Money. Lots of money.

In the first half of the current meeting, which will continue through July 27, Hazel Park has paid out $1,532,487 in purses. This is the richest payoff for a seven-week period at any track in Michigan racing history.

IN THE SAME period, the daily mutual handle was up 2.4 over the first seven weeks of the 1967 meeting, which was the most successful season in Hazel Park history.

If this trend continues, Hazel Park will become the first Michigan oval ever to average over $1,000,000 a day in mutual handle.

At least one other record is a distinct possibility: Don Holmes leads the jockey standings with 57 winners at the half-way mark. The present record is 57 wins in one meeting, a mark which was established by Robert (Cotton) Gallimore last year.

Holmes actually scored his 57 victories in the first 37 days of the meeting.

Dave Whitely, who set an all-time Michigan mark with 119 wins at the Detroit Race Course last year, has come on strong

Cards' Ace Bids For 6th Shutout Win

It was only a few weeks ago that Don Drysdale of the Los Angeles Dodgers pitched six straight shutout victories and hurled 58 2/3 runless innings to set two major league records.

Now Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals is threatening Drysdale's marks. Gibson has hurled five straight shutouts and 47 consecutive scoreless innings.

He'll be out to extend both feats Monday night and guess against whom? Nobody else but Drysdale and the Dodgers.

Shutout No. 5 for Gibson came Wednesday night when he blanked Pittsburgh, 3-0.

On the same day Drysdale downed San Francisco, 2-1, losing his shutout and bid for a no-hitter in the eighth inning. It was Drysdale's 200th career victory in the majors.

Schnauzer Club Sets Fun

The Miniature Schnauzer Club of Michigan will sponsor a Fun Match for all Miniature Schnauzers on Sunday (June 30) at Northland Center's Activities Building in Detroit.

An entry fee of $1 per dog will be accepted from 11 a.m. until judging begins at 1 p.m. Mrs. Alice Binder, of Alinder Miniature Schnauzer Kennel fame, will serve as judge.

Beats Rival, 7-1

Redford's Earl Morrall downed township rival Big Boy, 7-1, in a non-league Connie Mack game. Kirk Taylor and Bill Fahey led the winners' attack while Ezze homered for the only Big Boy run.

New Mentor

Dave Wenzell has been appointed new basketball and cross country coach at Oakland Community College's Auburn campus. He replaces Don Nichols, who'll become a full-time administrator at OCC.

Walled Lake New Tiger, Lions Home?

How would you like to travel to Walled Lake or maybe Pontiac to watch the Tigers and Lions play?

It's just possible.

Walled Lake has put in its "pitch" for a new stadium complex to a committee recently formed to decide on whether new facilities should be provided in the Detroit area for the Tigers, the Lions and other teams, like the Cougars.

Pontiac plans to appear in September to argue for such a stadium.

Meantime, another private group wants a new stadium erected, along the Detroit River, just east of the present Cobo Arena.

There are also indications that the cities east of Troy and Dearborn may be heard from within the next few months.

A NEW STADIUM would run between $60,000,000 and $100,000,000 according to those who appeared before the committee this past week.

Those advocating the stadium along the river contend that it would be built with private funds.

The supporters of a stadium in Walled Lake have suggested a site on West Maple Road and the projected I-275 expressway which will link Bay City with Toledo.

The Walled Lake site offers a tract of 330 acres. Another site in Walled Lake is an area bounded by the intersections of I-96, I-696 and I-275.

According to Walled Lake spokesmen, their city has emerged as the center of population density for four million people and by 1990 will be the population center for 8,000,000.

observing sports

Baseball managers, like anybody else, need to be consoled at times.

Especially after they get involved with an umpire over a decision.

Because they know that the chronicler of this effort calls 'em from time to time, team pilots frequently look for a little "support" when they report their scores for write-ups in the Observer.

Maybe it'll disillusion many, but the umpires nine times out of ten render the CORRECT decision.

Take the hectic finish that involved a recent Class A battle in the Greater Livonia League.

The score was tied at 1-1. It was the last inning.

The home team had runners on third and first and one out. The batter hoisted a fly to left.

The ball easily was caught. The runner at third took off for home and the man from first started toward second and checked in there as the winning run crossed the plate.

But, wait. Somebody on the defensive team realized that the runner, who was on first, had left the base too soon. So the ball was relayed over to first and an appeal was registered.

It was a double play. Yet the game was over with the final score, 2-1.

The defensive team couldn't believe it. How could the winning run score on a double play?

An argument ensued. The ump won and the rules backed 'em up.

Here's why: The final out didn't result from either a direct force-out or the failure of the batter to reach first base.

Since the runner had crossed the plate before the out was declared on the runner at first the run was legal. Had the out been adjudged before the runner reached home, the run would NOT have counted.

THEN THERE WAS the situation that popped up in a Farmington American Legion play.

A Clarkston batter drilled one deep to center. The Farmington outfielder snared the ball on the run, seemingly brought the ball down to a throwing position . . . then let it skid from his hands.

The ump claimed the fielder didn't have the ball long enough. Farmington supporters contested he did.

What is a legal catch frequently precipitates some squawks. The rule book says the fielder must have firm possession.

Different umpires have different ideas what "firm possession" is.

It's a judgment call . . . and you can't protest judgment verdicts.

TWO TEAMS were playing in the Free Press League up at Northville.

The batting team trailed by a run in the last inning and had two men aboard with two out.

The manager called for a pinch-hitter.

The newly assigned batter took his time getting off the bench. Then in characteristic Rocky Colavito fashion he started swinging a couple bats.

The ump told him to get into the batter's box. The batter went through some more exercise.

Now a little angry, the ump ordered the pitcher to deliver the ball plateward.

"Strike One . . . Strike Two . . ." the ump shouted.

And the batter hadn't even been in the box. A rumpus broke loose. But the ump held his ground and the batter finally stepped in to face the pitcher with a two-strike count. He quickly was retired.

"How can it be?" the losing manager beefed. "My man was put in a jam. He's entitled to some time to loosen up."

Granted . . . but there is a rule that deals with stalling. Again, different umpires look at stalling tactics in different ways.

The rule works both ways. If a pitcher doesn't get on the mound, the ump can call balls.

Oh, yes, if things get bad enough, the ump even can forfeit the game.

HERE'S ONE that happened in an enclosed park:

Under the baseball code, a batted ball clearing a fence fair more than 250 feet from the plate is a LEGAL home run.

However, there are times when it isn't.

The batter in his joy circling the sacks forgot to touch second. The defensive side called for a new ball, made a proper appeal and the ump called the batter out.

The homer was nullified.

"Can't be," the irate manager screamed. "The book says it's legal. The ball went over the fence 335 feet from the plate."

"Ah, yes," we noted. "Sometimes one has to resort to a second rule to make a proper verdict."

Elsewhere in the book, it specifically describes that for a run to be legal, the runner must touch each base in the proper order.

That's what the bases are there for . . . to be TOUCHED.

One of the big faults on appeals after a ball has been knocked out of the park comes from putting a new one back into play.

The ball must go first to the pitcher, he steps on and then off the mound before throwing to the base in question.

Otherwise, the ump must stand like a dummy . . . since he must ignore saying or doing anything about appeal situations until the play is handled correctly.

IF YOU'RE CONFRONTED by any other beefs, let us know.

Finally, there was the situation which cropped up the other evening in a game in which we were calling the balls and strikes at Ford Field in Livonia.

"Strike Three," we hollered, and the batter turned in protest and tossed his bat into the screen.

This calls for automatic suspension from the premises.

"What'd we do now?" one of his mates inquired. "We only have eight players left."

The ump would have little choice but to forfeit the game. A baseball team must field nine players at all times.

Fortunately, the manager was listed as a player and replaced the banned performer.

Had we allowed the game to continue with eight players on one side, the opposition had grounds for a legal protest.

Lions Swap Clark For Defensive End

The Detroit Lions hope they have filled the gap created by the retirement of defensive end Darris McCord by obtaining Joe Robb from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for ex-Michigan State Ernie Clark.

Robb played with the Chicago Bears and Philadelphia before going to the Cards in 1961. He has been a starter with the team since '62. Clark played five seasons with the Lions, but was used only in a reserve role last season.

HAMTRAMCK'S Peaches Bartkovic failed to survive her first match in the Wimbledon tennis championships in England. She was matched against defending champion Mrs. Billie Jean King of Los Beach, Calif. Mrs. King had her hands full downing the Hamtramck teenager, 7-5, 6-4.

SANDRA POST, who just turned 20, became the first foreign player ever to win the Ladies Professional Golf Association when she beat Kathy Whitworth in a playoff.

Miss Post, who hails from Canada, shot a 68 to Miss Whitworth's 75 after they had tied with 294 for the regular 72 holes. The victory was worth $3,000 to Miss Post, playing on the tour for the first time.

ALL AMERICAN Lew Alcindor says he'll finish his college career at UCLA before turning professional. He has one more year to go on the NCAA champs. Rumor has had it that Alcindor would sign with the Harlem Globetrotters for a million dollars.

BUD STEVENS of Redford Township and his brother Don captured the Michigan Amateur Best-Ball golf championship as a prelude to the State Amateur tournament in Charlevoix.

They shot a best ball of 136 over 36 holes to tie Jim Rae and Lynn Janson of Lansing and then won a playoff for the crown.

Both Stevens were major contenders for the state amateur title. Bud has won it three previous times, Don once.

CALE YARBOROUGH will be the favorite in Thursday's Firecracker 400 auto race at Daytona Beach, Fla. He'll be seeking victory in the race for the third straight year.

A turbine-powered car, driven by Joe Leonard, has been entered in the July 7 Rocky Mountain 150-mile race in Castle Rock, Colo. This was the same car that fizzled out in the Indianapolis 500-Mile race with nine laps to go.

THE U.S. AUTO CLUB, meantime, has turned down a move to ban turbine cars from racing.

CHARLIE GREENE and Jim Hines both were timed in 9.9 seconds to set a world record in the 100-meter AAU track championships. They set their times in semifinal heats before Greene came back to win the finals in 10 seconds flat.

Abe Fortas Will Replace Warren As Chief Justice

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson has nominated Abe Fortas, associate Supreme Court justice, to succeed Earl Warren as chief justice.

The President has also picked Homer Thornberry, U.S. circuit judge for the fifth judicial circuit, to replace Fortas as associate justice.

Fortas, 58, along-time friend and advisor to the President, had a prominent law practice in Washington prior to being named to the Supreme Court in 1965.

WASHINGTON -- Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler has proposed a 30 per cent tax on daily spending over $15 during travel outside the Western Hemisphere.

This figure represents a trim in the administration's original proposal, which called for a tax of 15 to 30 per cent on amounts above $7 a day.

WASHINGTON -- The level of fighting in South Vietnam has increased and will remain high and perhaps go higher, Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford said in addressing the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

WASHINGTON -- The Senate has completed congressional action on a bill to take three national holidays from their traditional places on the calendar and make them fall on Monday every year.

Under legislation now awaiting President Johnson's signature, Washington's Birthday would fall on the third Monday in February rather than Feb. 22; Memorial Day on the last Monday in May instead of May 30; and Veterans Day on the fourth Monday in October instead of Nov. 11.

The measure would also create a new national holiday, Columbus Day, and assign it the second Monday in October instead of Oct. 12, the day it is celebrated by unofficial tradition.

COLUMBUS, OHIO -- Hundreds of screaming prisoners, armed with pipes and broken bottles, have rioted at Ohio State Penitentiary, setting 10 major fires and attacking guards.

3 Of Perkins' Poems Printed

Three poems by David W. Perkins, English instructor at Schoolcraft College, have been published by Cornell University.

The poems are "The Phoenix," "An Old Plum Tree, Newly Pruned," and "In The Rare Book Room." Perkins has been a member of the Schoolcraft College faculty since 1964, received his B. A. degree from Montana State University, and his M. A. degree from the University of Michigan.

National Roundup

Ohio National Guardsmen have been ordered into the prison to assist guards in maintaining order.

Meanwhile, prison officials were searching for important keys that were reported missing and presumed in the hands of the inmates.

An intensive investigation has been ordered into the riot and accompanying fires which caused an estimated $1-million damage and left 50 persons injured.

NEW YORK -- The Association of American Universities made up of 42 public and private institutions, has asked the federal government for general, across-the board, increases in financial aid for all types of institutions, ranging from junior colleges to graduate schools.

In issuing their statement, the educators pointed to the increasing gap between university incomes and expenditures.

LANCASTER, PA. -- Twenty passengers were injured as the last eight cars of the Broadway Limited derailed here. The Penn Central's New York-to-Chicago train was hurtling at 80 miles an hour through southeastern Pennsylvania when the mishap occurred.

Seven of the injured were admitted to hospitals. The others were treated and released. A railroad spokesman said shortly after the derailment, "nobody has any idea what caused it."

WASHINGTON -- The government has reported it will build the largest post office building in the world in New York City at a cost of $100 million. The structure, to be completed early in 1974, will cover a two-block area in Manhattan.

WASHINGTON -- The Rev. Ralph Abernathy has begun a 20-day jail sentence and Resurrection City has been reduced to stacks of plywood, but the Poor People's Campaign continues to run at a reduced rate. The Rev. Andrew Young, Abernathy's chief assistant, told a news conference about plans for clergymen to march on the Capitol grounds, despite a law forbidding demonstration there.

NEW YORK -- Roy Innis, a militant black nationalist who was instrumental in converting the Congress of Racial Equality from a multiracial group to Negro membership only, has temporarily replaced Floyd McKissick as CORE's national chairman.

McKissick is taking a leave of absence to undergo medical treatment for a back ailment.

2 Unions Barrier In News Strike

State And Local

News Round Up

DETROIT -- No immediate cure to the Detroit newspaper conflict is in sight despite a breakthrough agreement between publishers and unions on a "333 for 34 1/2 months" economic package.

The Detroit Newspaper Guild and Local 40 of the Mailers, two unions which failed to agree on non-economic issues, still serve as the barrier to a final solution to the 225-day-old strike.

Negotiations on the non-economic issues between these two unions and the publishers are expected to bring about agreements but not before some more "tough poker" is played.

LANING -- Gov. George Romney has signed into law a bill to raise state support of programs aimed at fighting alcoholism.

The alcoholism bill requires five per cent of the total liquor retailers license fees collected by the state to be credited to the program for prevention, rehabilitation, care and treatment of alcoholics.

A second bill signed by Romney permits counties to join with existing mental health service programs in adjacent counties.

ANN ARBOR -- A contract for $17,624 has been awarded by the Ann Arbor City Council to Harold Thomas Nursery of Livonia for planting 104 shade trees and 71 flowering ornamental trees along Plymouth Rd. from Nixon Rd. to the US-23 freeway.

Planting will begin in fall when widening of that part of Plymouth Rd. is complete.

PONTIAC -- Pontiac voters have approved an open housing ordinance by a 4,552-3,103 margin.

About 25 per cent of the city's registered voters turned out for the balloting which approved a measure patterned after open housing laws in Ann Arbor, Flint, Birmingham, and Saginaw.

GRAND RAPIDS -- Baking firms and company officials named by the government in a statewide price fixing and bid rigging conspiracy have been sentenced by U.S. District Judge Noel P. Fox, to pay a total of $206,500 in fines.

Company officials were given suspended sentences and placed on probation.

The government has claimed the antitrust violations occurred from January 1964 to October 1966 when Michigan sales of the firm exceeded $200 million.

LANING -- Sen. Charles O. Zollar, R-Benton Harbor, has been named to succeed Sen. Frank D. Beadle, R-St. Clair, as chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee. Beadle is retiring this year after 18 years of Senate service.

Zollar has been a member of the Senate since 1965 and has served as vice chairman of the appropriations committee for the past 18 months.

Northern Michigan University and has been reinstated to the NMU faculty as an assistant professor of history for the 1968-69 school year.

LANING -- With the new fiscal year rapidly approaching, the Michigan Legislature has yet to resolve spending in three important areas--mental health, public health, and higher education.

Technically, state agencies will have no money to spend on July 1 unless 1968-69 budgets for them have been passed and signed into law.

JACKSON -- The Jackson City Commission has given preliminary approval to a one per cent city income tax.

The commission has also approved a resolution of intent to lower property taxes from a total of 15 mills to 10, pending final acceptance of the income tax proposal.

ANN ARBOR -- Ronald L. Ritter, former Plymouth resident, has been promoted to a detective rank with the Ann Arbor City Police.

Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey said the promotion of Ritter, 33, to corporal, with permanent assignment to the Detective Bureau, is effective immediately.

ANN ARBOR -- Dr. Gardner C. Quarten, will take over July 1 as director of the University of Michigan Mental Health Research Institute, according to Dean William N. Hubbard of the U-M Medical School.

Quarten has been a psychiatrist on the staff of Massachusetts General Hospital since 1946, and has been program director of the Neurosciences Research Program at Massachusetts Institute of Technology since 1966.

PLAINWELL -- Five of the six working members of the police department in Plainwell have resigned. The resignations apparently resulted from a feud with Chief Harold Frye.

Keeping up with the Joneses this summer could cost you your life.

You know the Joneses.

The family next door. Who always buy the things you plan on getting—just before you do.

This year it's guns.

A shotgun and a .45.

Plus a .22, a .38 Colt and a Four-Ten, just in case.

You know why.

The local authorities just won't be able to handle things this summer. That's what Jones says, anyway.

So you're going to get a few guns.

What are you going to do with them after you buy them?

If your son can find the toys 2 weeks before Christmas, he can find anything you hide. He might even show his little sister.

Look. No one knows what'll happen in the city this summer. Hopefully nothing.

But we all know what might happen in a suburban home filled with lethal weapons.

All it takes is a sleepy wife.

A nervous neighbor.

A curious child.

And a loaded gun.

GARDEN PARTY COMING — Lt. Gov. William Milliken will be guest of honor at a garden party set by the 19th District Republican organization from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, June 30, at the home of Art Hogarth, 17530 Fairfield, Livonia. Pictured are Mrs. Bea Bellaire, wife of Redford Township supervisor Al Bellaire and chairman of the gala, and Dave Leathly, vice-chairman of the 19th District GOP and newly-elected chairman of the Republican Party in Livonia.

Boundary Commission Bill Signed

By TIM RICHARD

Gov. Romney has signed a bill creating a state Boundary Commission to handle new city incorporation and consolidation questions.

It will not, however, have any jurisdiction over annexation questions. Long a backer of the boundary commission, Romney called it a much-needed tool to help solve the "continuing problems of governmental fragmentation."

The law takes effect 90 days after the Legislature adjourns.

Ferency Praises Frink

Gary Frink, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 19th District, was praised by former State Chairman Zoltan Ferency at a dinner last week in Frink's honor.

"There is hope as long as people like Gary Frink are willing to run for office," Ferency said of the 35-year-old Pontiac attorney.

Ferency said he was disturbed by the "turning away of so many from public affairs since the tragic assassinations of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr."

Frink, he said, has made it apparent to me that he has a deep and abiding interest in current events, government and politics. "He feels the United States has a number of problems facing it and the solutions will come from those holding high public office—the people will look to them for leadership."

"This is not going to be an easy year but Gary Frink is willing to take up the problems openly, candidly in public."

"He understands the size of the problem."

Project 'Return' Helps Inmates

A prisoner training program is underway in the Detroit House of Correction under the sponsorship of the Detroit Archdiocesan Opportunity Program.

PROJECT RETURN is a model rehabilitation program based upon personal counseling and job placement services.

The program's success is demonstrated by the low rates of criminal repeaters. Only 2.6 percent of a group of 75 men served by PROJECT RETURN were repeaters, as opposed to 19.7 percent of a group of 66 men who did not participate.

The program is financed by a grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Law Enforcement Assistance. Due to delays in beginning operations, the project had a large amount of unexpended funds at the May 31 expiration date.

The Rev. Stephen H. Knight II asked Congressman Marvin L. Esch (R-2nd District) to request an extension. The granting of the extension will keep PROJECT RETURN alive until mid-August.

It could affect Farmington city and township, Plymouth city and township and Redford Township.

IT WOULD REQUIRE all ballot proposals to incorporate new cities, or to form a larger city out of two or more smaller cities or townships, to be scrutinized by a five-member Boundary Commission.

The boundary commission would have power not only to examine the proposal for legality but also for its good sense—something that has been lacking in state law in the past.

The boundary commission wouldn't be able to put incorporations or consolidations into effect. It would only be able to judge what kind of proposal goes on the ballot.

In the past, county boards of supervisors were the judges of what went on the ballot. Legally, they were to examine sufficiency of petition signatures and the accuracy of legal descriptions, not the merits of the issue.

TO OBSERVERLAND suburbs, the effects could be these: Any future proposal to incorporate a "City of Farmington Hills" out of all or part of Farmington Township would get boundary commission scrutiny.

The same holds true for any proposal to unify Farmington city and township.

The perennial proposal to incorporate Plymouth Township as the "City of Plymouth Heights" is unaffected. But if voters again reject the proposed city charter, any future incorporation proposals would have to be examined by the Boundary Commission.

In the past, Plymouth Township leaders have used the incorporation mechanism as a device to preserve the township status and prevent the City of Plymouth from expanding through annexation.

Any proposal to incorporate Redford Township as a city would go before the boundary commission. There seems little likelihood, however, that the Boundary Commission would reject such a proposal.

ADVOCATES OF the boundary commission have seen it as a method of halting "defensive" incorporations of townships or piecemeal incorporations.

In incorporation cases, after a public hearing, the boundary commission could either (1) place the incorporation proposal before the voters, (2) revise the boundaries and then place it before the voters, or (3) deny the request entirely.

In consolidation cases, the boundary commission's powers would be more limited. It would have to place the proposal on the ballot unless (1) the same municipalities have been considered in a consolidation within the last two years or (2) an annexation petition is pending in any of the municipalities proposed for consolidation.

Because of political difficulties, backers of the boundary commission bill didn't include any powers over attempts at annexation by cities.

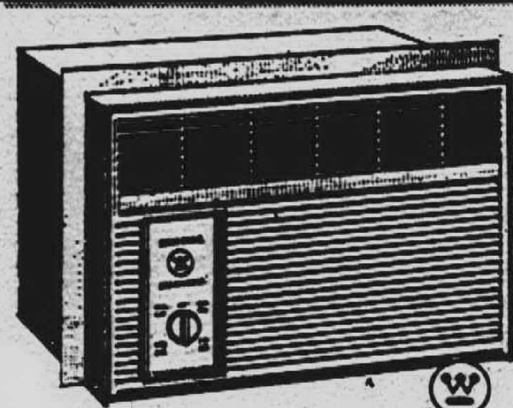

But at least one backer, State Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, has said he would like to see annexation come under the boundary commission's jurisdiction in future amendments.

FAMILIAR SIGHT — Wet furniture and cartons were removed from basements throughout Farmington this week as the record-breaking rain storm caused basement flooding.

STEAKS ANYONE? — The barbecue pits in the city park were just one of the things knocked out of commission by the rain.

Parks Set Holiday Weekend Schedules

All eight parks of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority are in readiness for the Fourth of July weekend, covering Thursday, July 4 through Sunday, July 7.

These parks, located from Lake St. Clair to Lake Erie, offer a wide variety of recreation within the counties of Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Washtenaw and Wayne. Here is a summary of events and facilities:

KENSINGTON METROPOLITAN PARK near Milford. This 4,300-acre site, one of the most popular parks in southeastern Michigan, has two bathing beaches along Kent Lake, each with dressing rooms, showers, first aid stations, food service and coin-operated lockers. The "Island Queen", a replica of an old Mississippi Riverboat, makes 45-minute tours around Kent Lake daily from noon through 6 p.m. Charges are 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults.

Other facilities include 13 large picnic areas, nature trails, nature centers, scenic drives, boat-launching ramps, boat rental service, pier fishing and golf course. Swimming hours are 9 a.m. to dusk and only at beach sites.

Blood Drive Set July 1

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be at St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard Rd., Livonia, Monday, July 1.

Hours for donors will be 3-5 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. Appointments should be made in advance by calling 422-2787.

Red Cross officials remind donors that blood may be placed in a self-account or may be designated to replace blood already used by a relative or friend.

"The need is a continuing one and takes no holiday," officials say. "With July 4 just around the corner, an increased need for blood can be anticipated."

The park entrance is along the I-96 (Grand River) Freeway between Milford and Brighton.

HUDSON MILLS METROPOLITAN PARK northwest of Dexter. This 600-acre site has picnic areas, playground equipment, and a nature trail. Shore fishing is popular along the Huron River. Entrance is on North Territorial Road northwest of the Village of Dexter.

DEXTER-HURON METROPOLITAN PARK northwest of Ann Arbor. This 115-acre park has picnic and playground facilities along the Huron River.

DELHI METROPOLITAN PARK northwest of Ann Arbor. This 45-acre tract is best known for its attractive Delhi Rapids and picnic areas along the Huron River.

LOWER HURON METROPOLITAN PARK near Belleville. This 1,000-acre site has several large picnic areas, shelters and play areas. The swimming pool is open 9 a.m. to dusk daily. Other facilities include modern bathhouse, dressing rooms, showers, basket clothes checking and food service.

There are nature trails, a nature center, 18-hole "Par 3" golf course and Tot Lot designed for youngsters ages 2 to 6. The entrance is on Hannan Road; use the Haggerty Road Interchange along the I-94 Freeway between Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Belleville.

MARSHBANK METROPOLITAN PARK southwest of Pontiac. This 115-acre tract is primarily a picnic-playground spot. No swimming is permitted. Entrance is along Hiller Road at the junction of Commerce Road.

STONY CREEK METROPOLITAN PARK near Utica. This large 3,500-acre recreation site offers a wide variety of recreation. Swimming is available to dusk at Baypoint Beach along Stony Creek Lake. The beachhouse has heated showers, restrooms, dressing rooms, coin-operated lockers and food services.

There are six large picnic areas with water and sanitary facilities, nature trails and a nature center. The most direct route to the park is to travel the Van Dyke (M-53) Freeway six miles north of Utica and travel about two miles west along 26 Mile Road to the Park Entrance.

METROPOLITAN BEACH along Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens. The major attraction is a gigantic fireworks display over the waterfront on Thursday, July 4th starting at 9 p.m. Music for "Dancing Under the Stars" will be provided by Don Pablo and His Orchestra on Thursday, July 4 at 9:45 p.m.

Swimming is available along the one and one-fourth mile sandy beach until dusk and the swimming pool, with diving boards, is open daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Other facilities include food service, marina, boat launching ramps, 18-hole "Par 3" golf course, archery range, games area, outdoor roller skating rink, 20 shuffleboard courts, open-air dance pavilion, the scenic boardwalk, tot lot and children's play area.

All special events are free, except for the usual 50-cent parking charge. Many facilities are lighted until 11 p.m. Entrance to the 550-acre park is at the junction of Metropolitan Parkway and Jefferson Avenue four miles southeast of Mt. Clemens.
