Election Results

Plymouth Municipal Judge Dunbar Davis and Carl Pursell, president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, appeared to have scored outstanding victories in Tuesday's election.

With all areas reporting but Northville Township, Judge Davis topped the slate for the judgeship nomination of the new district court with 1,494 votes. From all indications, he will face former Plymouth City Attorney Thomas J. Healy in the November election. Healy held a wide margin over Philip Ogilvie going into Northville Township and was expected to hold it.

The supervisors' race was close throughout and Pursell rode a wide margin in the Plymouth area going into Livonia, and appeared to have won the Republican nomination from Ed Milligan, Livonia City Councilman, 2,363 to 1,899, with Northville Township, one of Pursell's strongholds, still to be heard from.

Pursell will probably face Gerald K. O'Brien, a name candidate who appeared to edge out Donald Friedrichs, Livonia educator, 1,758 to 1,632, for the Democratic lead.

Left in the wake of the leaders was Arch Vallier, Plymouth Democrat, who served on the County Board of Supervisors for a dozen years.

He polled 1,231 votes, with most of his strength in Plymouth, where he posted 329 in the city and 259 in the township.

State Representative James Tierney won nomination for re-election in the 35th district. He was given a 2,038 count in his home area in Garden City and had little trouble running away from Donald A. Sellers, also of Garden City, with only 455.

Wes Vivian, former congressman from the Second District, was given a margin over Jerome Dupont, his chief rival for the Democratic nomination, in sketchy reports. If successful, he will face Marvin L. Esch, who beat him two years ago.

A casualty was Lou Norman, veteran member of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees.

Russell Ash, a recent appointment to the Board, topped the field with 475 votes. Maurice Breen placed second with 380.

John Murawski won the top spot on the Democratic side with 399 and was trailed by Irving Rozian with 346.

With 150 precincts out of 1,770 in Wayne County tabulated, the apparent contenders are:

CIRCUIT JUDGE—Richard Maher, 5,087; Thomas J. Brennan, 3,072.

PROSECUTING ATTORNEY—William L. Calahan, 5,838 (D); William Ferguson, 565 (R).

COUNTY TREASURER—Louis E. Funk, 6,810 (D); Eugene Szymanski, apparent GOP winner.

SHERIFF—Roman S. Gribbs, 3,693 (D); Louis F. Simons, 1,808 (D); Allan Casinelli, 366 (R).

REGISTER OF DEEDS—Bernard J. Youngblood, 6,431 (D); Thomas A. Hart, 671 (R).

DRAIN COMMISSIONER—Henry V. Herrick, 2,853 (D); A. L. Merith, 530 (R).

All amendments to the state constitution were being approved as of early Wednesday morning.

Six Communities Asked To Join In Garbage Pact

The six communities in the Plymouth area are planning to band together in an attempt to solve the garbage disposal problem. Aside from the City of Plymouth the others are Plymouth Township, Canton Township, Northville Township, the City of Northville and Salem Township.

This combination is the outcome of a study that had its inception two years ago at the Hillsdale Conference and continued last year at the Leadership Conference at Schoolcraft College.

The study now is completed and Plymouth City Commissioner James McKeon, chairman of the group, announced Monday that a report and recommendation will be made during the week to each governmental unit.

Two meetings no more were heard of it from the Detroit end and it was dropped.

"WE'VE BEEN working for two years," McKeon, who accepted the chairmanship only a year ago, explained, "and have been holding regular meetings. We are now ready to make a report and recommendation.

"We plan to make a personal presentation in each of the six communities and ask them to act."

If the recommendation calls for establishment of an authority it will go to work immediately after such a group has been organized.

The target date for the new plan is 1970. "And we want to be ready for it," McKeon concluded.

WILLIAM HARDING

Harding Quits Post With School System

William Harding has resigned as assistant superintendent of secondary education for the Plymouth Community School District to become superintendent of the Mt. Clemens School District in northeast Macomb County.

Harding announced his decision Monday and said he will be leaving Plymouth Aug. 9 for one or two weeks vacation depending on when he starts at Mt. Clemens—either Aug. 19 or 26.

He said he hadn't planned on leaving his present position after turning down other offers from nearby school districts in the beginning of the year until he was contacted by Mt. Clemens a short time ago.

"The offer was just too good to pass up," he said.

THE ASSISTANT superintendent will give up his position as head negotiator for the district with the Plymouth Education Association and turn over his records to Superintendent James Rossman.

He explained he will officially sit in on the Aug. 9 bargaining session and then depart.

Rossman said, "Bill's leaving is a great loss to Plymouth, but it is a great compliment to Bill. It is a tribute to his growth from teacher to principal and now to superintendent."

Rossman said there was no "dissatisfaction with Bill whatsoever" and added, "I'm extremely pleased with Bill as a person and as a leader."

Harding commented, "I wouldn't leave Plymouth unless I would be going to as nice an area."

WHILE HE didn't divulge the main points of the recommendation, it is understood that the various groups will be asked to establish an incinerator authority with power to acquire land and handle the entire project.

The subject of an incinerator also was left open to further discussion by Chairman McKeon who stated that the present landfill operation would have to continue for at least another year.

The garbage disposal problem has taken several twists in the past two years and for a time, about six months ago, it appeared that the Cities of Plymouth and Livonia would get together on a joint plan.

At one stage, both communities were on the verge of signing a joint contract. Then, for some undisclosed reason, the matter was set aside.

"It is my opinion," Chairman McKeon stated, "that in all fairness, Livonia officials should be contacted again. It is possible that this would become a seven community project."

McKEON ALSO stated that special consideration would have to be given to industry in any final plan.

"More and more," he said, "we are hearing from industry regarding the high costs of shipping their waste materials to disposal areas. Therefore, special attention should be paid to industry to help them solve a problem."

At the present time the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township are using an area in Salem Township for the land fill disposal. Recent studies have shown that the project on this site will be completed by 1970.

Two years ago a solution to the problem was thought to be at hand when the City of Detroit did some work in the suburbs, especially in Plymouth, with the idea of building a huge incinerator in the area of the Detroit House of Correction. This is Detroit-owned property and was looked upon with favor. But after one or

Police Chief Hunt Continues In Plymouth

The City of Plymouth still is on the hunt for a police chief.

"We have been making some headway," City Manager Richard Blodgett reported Monday, "and we may have a screened list ready within a week or so."

He has been interviewing candidates since the departure of former chief, Robert Corrington, more than a month ago.

"We have interviewed seven men thus far," Blodgett explained, "and still have three more to go."

MRS. STEWART ASHLEE

Eve's Wish Comes True

When a person retires from the hustle and bustle of the business world, he plans all sorts of things to fill the leisure time ahead. Travel, gardening, and pursuing neglected hobbies can be a partial answer, but Mrs. Stewart Ashlee had a different one.

"When I retire I'm going to have a dog," she frequently said. So it was that last Thursday on the eve of her retirement from The Plymouth Mail and Observer Newspapers, her promise became fact, in the form of a seven-week-old pedigree cocker spaniel puppy, named Honey.

Honey was the gift of The Observer staff co-workers to Mrs. Ashlee. "I'm so thrilled. Whoever heard of a dog for a going-away gift? It's just great!" she said.

Mrs. Ashlee has handled many jobs efficiently in the three years she has been with The Observer. She has assisted the circulation department, coordinated job printing orders and served as front office receptionist.

It is safe to assume that The Observer Newspapers, Inc. will also play a major role in Honey's new life.

Two City Residents Killed When Autos Crash In Township

Two persons were killed and two others injured critically in a two-car collision in Canton Township Sunday night.

Two Plymouth residents, Joseph F. Perry, 61, of 800 Starkweather, and Dorothy Pinnow, of 14273 Northville Rd., lost their lives when they were thrown from their car.

They were pronounced dead at the scene of the accident. Listed in critical condition in the intensive care ward of Wayne County General Hospital are the occupants of the other auto, Sterling T. Sewell Jr., 20, of 2044 N. Walton, and Roger Jenkins, 18, of 35215 Pardow. Both men are from Westland.

The accident occurred at 5:50 p.m. at the intersection of Ford and Sheldon Roads, according to police.

Witnesses told the Wayne

County Sheriff's Department that Sewell's car was going south on Sheldon at a high rate of speed, ran a stop sign and struck broadside the other car which was moving west on Ford.

Michigan State Police, from the Ypsilanti Post, said these deaths brought Sunday's fatality list to 10 persons.

State police said that 24 persons had been killed over the weekend and 30 so far this month.

So far this year, they added, 1,252 persons have been killed which compared to 1,100 traffic fatalities for the same period last year.

Non-Support Charge Takes Man To Trial

John Magnusson, 52, of 9837 Burwick, Plymouth pleaded innocent to the charge of non-support at his arraignment Thursday.

City of Plymouth Municipal Judge Dunbar Davis released Magnusson on a $50 cash bond and set trial for Aug. 12.

Esther Lois Dunnigan, 48, of 1788 Patrick, Ypsilanti, stood mute to the charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Judge Davis released the woman on a $100 cash bond and set trial for Sept. 5.

STREET SCENE—Sights like this were common on the sidewalks of Plymouth last weekend as the folks turned out for the annual outdoor sales. The merchants in the central business district claimed the event was the best ever—from the point of sales.

Steel Firms To Lose All Defense Orders

WASHINGTON -- President Johnson announced that the steel problem is not settled and that there will probably be more action.

He has already ordered the Pentagon to cancel contracts with companies that have raised steel prices. After Bethlehem announced a price hike, National Steel, Jones and Laughlin and Armco and Crucible followed suit with price hikes.

AUSTIN, Tex.--After telling reporters that "there will be additional action" in federal efforts to negate steel price hikes, Johnson left Washington for his Texas ranch.

He will "consider possible action" for the steel problem and wait out the Republican National Convention, maybe the Democratic National Convention, which indicated that he was despondent.

WASHINGTON --The Senate and House have recessed until Sept. 4, leaving work on the foreign-aid package unfinished.

Presumably campaigning or attending the national conventions, the law-makers will return two days after Labor Day to figure out the possible cuts in foreign aid and possibly to face a filibuster on Johnson's appointment of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice for the U.S. Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON--Both Vice-President Hubert Humphrey and Senator Eugene McCarthy have called the starvation in Biafra deplorable and have called for U.S. involvement. Humphrey said the U.S.

tion too, according to informed speculators.

NEW YORK--The 13th bombing in Manhattan since April 22 broke out windows in the Bank of Tokyo on Park Avenue last week.

There were no injuries, although the force of the explosion shattered windows in the Trans World Airlines office across the street.

PHILADELPHIA -- In their 91st annual convention, the American Bar Association's Board of Governors resolved that present turmoil in American cities points out the urgency "for more adequate legal services for the poor."

More specifically, the resolution endorses the Kerner Commission's recommendations for legal action against slum housing conditions and exploitation of the ghettos, and the organization of neighborhood-action task forces.

ASTORIA, Ore. -- Dave Thomas, 25, "struck something big" in his Pacific fishing boat, and was forced overboard into his life raft. A woman ham radio operator relayed his only distress call and he was picked up 40 hours later.

The Coast Guard had said the survival time for a soaking-wet man on a life raft in the Pacific was four hours.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala.--Richard Flowers, former Alabama state attorney general, and three other men, received extortion indictments from a grand jury, after a two-year investigative study.

The men had been charged with conspiring to "wrongfully exact payments from persons, companies and corporations" doing business in Alabama during Flower's term in office.

MIAMI BEACH--Because of a ruling made last year, Romney's plan for a giant screen above Convention Hall to list his achievements and to pass out pamphlets was foiled. According to GOP rules, each candidate or favorite son is limited to 30 minutes of nominations and seconding speeches and demonstrations.

LAS VEGAS, Nev.--A 39 year-old Las Vegas mechanic killed himself last week when he flew a stolen plane into Nevada's tallest building near the Las Vegas strip.

According to the Clark County Sheriff, Everett Shaw had left notes in his apartment and to his should support any U.N. efforts to aid the starving Biafrans and McCarthy criticized American's complacency over the situation.

MANILA--A five-story apartment house collapsed in Manila when the worst earthquake in the Philippines' memory hit at 4:21 a.m. Friday. Although estimates of the number of tenants in the large building in Manila's Chinese quarter ranged from 400 to 1,000, rescue workers were not able to give accurate casualties tolls.

A police spokesman said at least 200 persons were killed and one Filipino told newsmen he had seen 12 bodies taken from the wreckage.

WASHINGTON--According to the U.S. Census Bureau, the 1967 birth rate in the U.S. was the lowest in its history. The statistics revealed there were less than 18 births per 1,000 people last year in the U.S.

DENVER--Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, 75-year-old director of the Selective Service, announced that he has no plans for retiring.

The controversial director added: "I was appointed by Roosevelt, and I'm still here because nobody's tired me yet."

CLEVELAND--Voicing their reaction to the handling of the disturbance in Cleveland, the Fraternal Order of Police voted last week to call for the resignation of Safety Director Joseph F. McManamon.

The FOP also expressed dissatisfaction with Mayor Carl B. Stokes and Police Chief Michael J. Blackwell. The attack on Stokes was a result of his decision to pull all white police officers and National Guardsmen from the riot area.

WASHINGTON -- Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., has sent a letter to the FBI requesting it get rid of its target shooting exhibition from the public tour of the agency because "youngsters should not be exposed to this exhibition of shooting to kill."

19th District Rump Group Move Fails

MIAMI BEACH — A conservative rump group's efforts to unseat two Republican National Convention delegates from Michigan's 19th district ended in a weak gasp Monday.

The convention's credentials committee seated moderate delegates Mrs. Delores Kory, of Redford Township, and John Cartwright of West Bloomfield Township, without even a legal challenge from the conservatives.

Cartwright and Mrs. Kory had never been afraid of losing to the conservatives, but they have spent many days in apprehension not knowing what the opposition would do.

THE CONSERVATIVE group unseated after a 1967 Oakland County — 19th District convention, had for one-and-a-half years been calling itself the "official" 19th District committee. At the April 27 state convention, it announced it had elected ousted chairman Christian Powell, of West Bloomfield and Arnold Jones, of Pontiac as its delegates to the national convention.

The Powell-Jones group filed an appeal with the GOP National Committee and recruited the aid of Illinois delegate Mrs. Phyllis Schlafly, author of right-wing tract "A Choice, Not an Echo," and also a member of the credentials committee.

AT MONDAY afternoon's credentials' meeting, Mrs. Schlafly told The Observer newspapers that "I received a letter from someone in Michigan — I can't recall who — with a copy of an appeal," filed with the national committee.

Mrs. Schlafly said she asked her attorney-husband to investigate it. But a check showed that the conservative group's appeal had not been filed within the required 25 days before the national convention's opening date; therefore, the credentials committee was unable to look into it.

"I don't know if they had a case," Mrs. Schlafly said of the Powell-Jones group.

"It's too bad."

AT A CLOSED door session of the credentials committee, The Observer Newspapers learned, the GOP national committee's general counsel reported that the Powell-Jones group had indeed filed an appeal but added that it wasn't done within the time limit and couldn't be considered.

This was a strange turn of events, inasmuch as the Powell-Jones group had declared three-and-one-half months ago that it would carry its fight to Miami Beach.

The fight between the Cartwright moderates and Powell-Jones conservatives dates back to February 1967, at a district convention held in Walled Lake High School.

One vote showed that Powell's slate of state convention delegates had been elected by a 53-52 count.

Cartwright's forces asked for a recount, but Powell hastily adjourned the convention.

At the state convention, the credentials committee threw out the Powell slate and seated Cartwright's group, reasoning that Powell had conducted the convention improperly.

POWELL failed to appear at Miami Beach, although some Michigan delegates reported seeing Arnold Jones. But Jones did not appear at the credentials' meeting here.

One Observerland resident had been on the Powell-Jones slate. Mrs. Stewart Rice, of Farmington, a political ally of right-winger Richard Durant, had been elected as alternate on the Powell-Jones slate.

Thus after many hours of legal work, collecting of affidavits, lawsuits and counter-suits, the entire fight ended—without a fight.

Gene Scholes Resigns For UM Research Post

Gene Scholes, administrative assistant in charge of Community Relations and Federal Projects for the Clarenceville School District, has resigned and will leave his position Friday to accept new duties at the University of Michigan where he will continue work on his doctorate.

Scholes, who attended Clarenceville schools from kindergarten through high school and then returned to teach after receiving his bachelor's and master's degrees from Eastern Michigan University, served in his present capacity under Supt. David McDowell for the past school year.

Gene Scholes

He and McDowell, along with Board President Dr. Samuel Prisk, devoted hours of their spare time in working towards passage of the millage issue a week ago—the issue was approved by a comfortable margin.

In his letter of resignation, Scholes indicated to the school board that he has an opportunity to become a research assistant in the University Laboratory School at the University of Michigan and also a department assistant in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction.

At the same time he will have an opportunity to work on his doctorate which may require as many as three years work. His chief responsibility in his new assignments will be to work with the research committee in writing a joint research project involving the laboratory school and the curriculum department.

Scholes was a standout athlete during his four years at Clarenceville High where he won varsity letters in football, basketball and baseball. He was a starter on the basketball team for four years and won All-League honors in his senior year when he also received a third team berth on the All-State.

HE WAS an end in football for three years and started at second base for the baseball team for three years.

Following graduation in 1960, he enrolled at Eastern Michigan University where he was a regular on the freshman basketball team—then decided to pass all sports to devote more time to the books.

Scholes received his bachelor degree from EMU in 1964 when he applied for and received a contract with the Clarenceville schools as a teacher and coach. He served as assistant football and junior varsity basketball coach before moving into the varsity basketball position at the start of the 1966-67 season.

His one year as basketball boss resulted in an 11-8 record, one of the best compiled by a Clarenceville High quintet in recent years.

Then Scholes was asked to assume the new position of administrative assistant in charge of Community Relations and Federal Projects, working directly under Supt. McDowell.

"It is with a great deal of regret that I leave the community that has meant so much to me," said Scholes in announcing his resignation. "Clarenceville has been my home ever since I first attended school. I enjoyed some of the finest moments of my life in the junior and senior high schools."

"THEN I WAS given a teaching and coaching contract after graduation from Eastern. It was one of the high spots of my life and I thought that Clarenceville would be my home for the remainder of my working and teaching days."

"However, the offer from the University of Michigan comes at a time when I have been considering a leave to work on my doctorate. I regret leaving the place where I have so many friends but I feel I must continue my education and get a doctor's degree. The opportunity is here and I had to accept."

Scholes, his wife, Audrey and children, Mary Michelle and Gene Jr., will move to Ann Arbor in another two weeks so Gene can report for his new duties on Sept. 1.

ORVILLE V. DEW has been appointed manager of the Autolite-Ford Parts Division National Parts Depot in Livonia. Dew formerly was manager of the division's Kansas City depot since August, 1966. He replaces H. J. Bengel, recently named Eastern regional depot operations manager for the division. He and his family will make their home in Farmington Township.

S/4 ALAN ROBERTS

The State Highway Commission, following extensive negotiation with the communities, started the proceedings June 12 in an attempt to settle a four-and-one-half-year controversy that has delayed construction on part of the 26-mile freeway.

Name Moser Production Chief

Appointment of Ernest C. Moser as Chevrolet manager of production and material control was announced by Thomas E. Darnton, general director of purchases, production control and traffic.

Moser has been Chevrolet's general purchasing agent in charge of staff activities since May, 1967. In the new post he replaces James R. McCarthy, who transferred to General Motors Assembly Division.

Livonia Infantryman Wins Bronze Star For Heroism Under Fire

Killed in action during a battle near Ban Me Thuot, Darlac Province in Vietnam, S/4 Alan R. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts, 14620 Blue Skies, Livonia, is the recipient of posthumous awards of the Army Commendation Medal and the Bronze Star for heroism.

The presentations were made to his parents by representatives of the Armed Services upon orders of the Secretary of the Army and by authority of President Johnson. The parents also received Purple Heart and Good Conduct medals.

S/4 Roberts was mortally wounded in combat on March 20 and funeral services were conducted two weeks later under the direction of the G.R. and R.G. Harris funeral home in Livonia.

The 20-year-old, who was graduated from Bentley High in 1966, volunteered for service in March 1967 and had been stationed in Vietnam for seven months.

He is survived by his parents; a brother, Fred; and three sisters, Mrs. Judith Ann Kassel of Redford Township and Joyce and Renee at home. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery in Livonia.

The posthumous award of the Bronze Star Medal with "V" Device was ordered by President Johnson upon receipt of the heroic actions of S/4 Roberts during the battle in which he was mortally wounded.

The commendation which brought the Presidential award of the Bronze Star reads as follows:

"For heroism in connection with military operations against an armed hostile force in the Republic of Vietnam."

"SPECIALIST Four Alan Roberts distinguished himself while serving as an Infantryman with Company A, 1st Battalion, 12th Infantry, 4th Infantry Division. On March 20, 1968, Company A was conducting a search and destroy operation near Ban Me Thuot, Darlac Province.

"As the unit cautiously moved through the dense underbrush, it was suddenly subjected to an intense barrage of rocket, automatic weapons and small arms fire from a large enemy force in well-concealed positions.

Specialist Four Roberts was near the front of the unit which was receiving most of the hostile fire. He reacted immediately by initiating well-directed bursts of suppressive fire at the enemy replacements. The effectiveness of his maneuvers enabled the remainder of the unit to maneuver into effective positions safely.

"He continued to expose himself to the hostile fire, providing cover fire until mortally wounded by hostile mortar fragments. His courageous efforts clearly prevented more serious casualties and contributed immensely to successfully warding off the hostile assault.

Roberts was a member of the varsity football squad while attending Bentley High but suffered a serious leg injury in his first year and had to drop out of competition.

The funeral services were attended by more than 300 with a procession of almost 100 cars going to the cemetery, showing the high esteem of the community to a dead war hero.

Set August 13 Meet On I-696 Freeway

Gov. George Romney has set Aug. 13 for the first meeting of an arbitration board which will have the final say on the route of Interstate 696 in Oakland County.

In letters to the six affected communities, Romney said the three-member panel will be convened at 10 a.m. at the Oakland County Court House in Pontiac, and that the arbitrators will have 60 days to reach a decision.

The communities have until Aug. 9 to pick the arbitrators from a list of 45 submitted by the governor on July 11. Romney will make the selection if there is no agreement by the deadline.

The arbitrators, members of the American Arbitration Association, will consider information presented by the Department of State Highways, the affected communities and other parties of interest.

The proceedings are provided for in a 1967 state law establishing arbitration of disputes over Interstate highway routes that cannot be settled by negotiation.

City Asks Wider Ann Arbor Road

Hopeful of easing the ever increasing traffic on Ann Arbor Road, the Plymouth City Commission has appealed to the State Highway Department to increase a section of the thoroughfare between Sheldon and Lilley to five lanes.

According to the survey made by City Manager Richard Blodgett the traffic has increased to a point where it ranges from 9,200 to 14,100 vehicles in a 24-hour period on the west bound lane and from 5,700 to 11,500 on the east bound lane.

"This traffic is now being carried on one east bound and one west bound lane," Blodgett pointed out, "and this volume creates a congestion even without the large number of left turn possibilities."

for High School East in 1957, and later in 1961, he became principal of Junior High West. He held both posts until being named assistant superintendent in 1964.

In 1956, he was named principal of the first junior high school, grades seven and eight, in the district.

As principal he opened Junior High School East in 1957, and later in 1961, he became principal of Junior High West. He held both posts until being named assistant superintendent in 1964.

Soon after receiving his bachelor of science degree from the University of Michigan in 1950, he began teaching in Dexter High School.

traffic accidents between Lilley and Sheldon Roads are a serious problem. Thus far in 1968 nine persons have been injured in accidents on this stretch and this is almost double the number of four years ago.

In reporting to the Commission Blodgett also pointed out the stretch between Sheldon and Lilley Road has a huge combination of commercial and industrial zoned sites and these all have left turn activity.

"From approximately 700 feet west of Sheldon Road to a point approximately 800 feet of Lilley Road there are 78 driveways, only eight of which are residential properties.

"And aside from all this" he went on, "there are three major intersections and Ann Arbor Road is intersected by 10 local streets, seven of which intersect the south side. On the north side is the large new Mich. Bell Company plant, with its heavy work force that adds to the congestion."

Blodgett pointed out that the existing two lanes are not adequate and that something will have to be done.

Ann Arbor Road is the main road to Ann Arbor (M-14) and still will be a main artery after the two expressways--I-275 and the new M-14 are built.

After listening to the report of the survey the Commission agreed to make the request of the State Highway Commission that two lanes be established in each direction with a fifth lane for left turn activity.

Deaths Show Dip In June

The continuing upward trend in traffic deaths slowed slightly in July, with a toll of 181 lives as compared with 200 in the same month a year ago, a decrease of 19, or 10 per cent.

For the first six months of the year the toll stood at 1,032 which was 168 or 19 per cent more than 864 in the same period of 1967.

The six-month toll was only 12 less than the 1,044 who were killed in the first half of 1966 when Michigan set a new all-time annual high of 2,298 in traffic deaths.

Delayed death reports will increase somewhat the July count.

Mrs. Strang Buys Beauty School

Mrs. Hana Strang, experienced teacher of cosmetology, and owner of a Livonia beauty salon, has bought Beauty Careers of Wonderland, east of Middlebelt Road, on Plymouth Road in Livonia.

Mrs. Strang, formerly a teacher in Virginia Farrell schools, will head the instruction in cosmetology and manicuring classes with Mrs. Orice Lewis as her assistant. The school has a capacity for approximately 80 students.

After an earlier investigation of beauty schools and after many letters were sent to Gov. Romney expressing concern over the deplorable conditions in the schools, the Governor appointed a committee to make a state wide study.

MRS. STRANG wrote one of those letters. She recalls:

"Many major publications released some shocking statistics about that same time, three or four years ago. They revealed that in many cases, only one per cent of beauty school graduates were able to enter the profession and keep jobs."

"We are setting up a new curriculum. We're getting new desks and books. We have had lots of experience and we are not going to settle for one per cent."

"We want our graduates to be able to go into any salon and hold their own, working next to any professional."

AS A RESULT of the investigating committee, bills are on the fall agenda in Lansing to boost the entrance requirements to a high school education and to extend the required course hours from 1,200 to 1,500.

Tuition, including books and beauty kits, is $475. A full time student completes the course in nine months and part-time students in approximately two years. Full-time students are required to attend 35 hours a week of instruction.

Beauty Careers will maintain five or six operator's chairs. "By law, students must have 300 hours of instruction before they work on a customer, and we cannot take appointments. The charge will be half the regular price," Mrs. Strang added.

State Eyes Federal Aid Application

The State Board of Education Wednesday approved an effort to apply federal funds toward encouraging new guidance and testing programs for students in low income areas.

Under the National Defense and Education Act launched 10 years ago, money has been available to reimburse schools and community colleges for guidance and testing programs to identify and encourage able students. Michigan last year received about $1.1 million under the act but it is expected the total this year will be slightly less.

Under the plan adopted Wednesday, the largest share of the funds would be aimed at encouraging creation of pilot programs in high schools in low income areas.

In another action, the State Board recommended that five intermediate school districts in Michigan be designated as service areas for providing high school level vocational education programs.

The five, which have already had millage questions approved by voters, will be able then to place that millage on the tax roles by September. The five districts are Branch, Calhoun, Ingham, Kent and Lenawee.

Record Crowds Jam Michigan State Parks

Record crowds of campers are using state recreation facilities, according to the Michigan Department of Conservation.

The season's attendance total is up five per cent from last year, reaching nearly 7.7 million.

Last year state parks in Michigan drew 15.5 million day users and 340,000 camping groups.

A turnout of almost 1.4 million people during the week covering the Fourth of July accounted for the increase in state park attendance which until then was below last year's level. During that same period, state parks hosted some 25,400 camping families, representing more than 15 per cent of their camper total for the year.

AS IN THE past, state parks and recreation areas in southern Michigan are attracting the biggest throngs of outdoor users. Through mid-July, their attendance had reached 5.4 million people, including nearly 58,000 camping groups.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, 1.8 million recreationists have flocked into state parks. That region's camping figure for state parks closely approaches 63,000 groups, tops in Michigan.

Upper Peninsula state parks, meanwhile, have not been as busy as in 1967. Their attendance stood at 534,200 as of July 14, a drop of 39,200 from a year ago. The camper following at state parks above the Straits numbers 24,100 families, also down from last year.

Statewide, about 13,650 camper groups have been turned away from state parks for the lack of space. That figure is 17 per cent below last year. Nearly 52,000 vehicles carrying day users have been unable to get into state parks this season because these public areas were filled to the limit. That turnout total is up a whopping 118 per cent from 1967.

TORBERT GUENTHER

Young Sculptor Designs A 'Whatchamacallit'

On the south side of Plymouth High School is a piece of sculpture that has caused a lot of passers-by to wonder.

No one seems to know what it is.

Its creator, Torbert Guenther, 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Guenther, of 1142 N. Holbrook, Plymouth, said it can mean anything.

Guenther, a 1966 graduate of the high school, now attending Kendal School of Design in Grand Rapids, explained, "It is an abstract representing whatever anyone wants to call it—something that can be identified with the school in general."

Different observers have called it tumblers, gymnasts and a football formation. Guenther said it can be any of these.

He began the 20-foot, aluminum sculpture in the summer of 1966 and it took him five weeks to complete it.

It is almost two years old now and he said he noticed a lot of things he would do differently if he were to make it this year.

Guenther received a high school honor key for art and in appreciation, he said, he decided to donate his work to the school. This has been a tradition in the school for a number of years.

Detroit Man Injured In Unusual Accident

John Ray Savitsky, a Detroit man, is listed in satisfactory condition in Wayne County General Hospital after being injured in spectacular traffic accident on Main St. near the corner of Union St. Saturday night, in Plymouth.

Savitsky, 22, of 9386 Carlin, was thrown from his 1965 Corvette when it glanced off a 1968

He said that Mrs. Johnnie Crosby, a professional painter who works with the YMCA, was the greatest help when he was starting and she alone led him to the decision of becoming an artist.

Guenther added that his goal is to become a professional sculpture and art teacher.

Volkswagen driven by John Russell Whitmore, 16, of 402 128th S.E. Ave., Bellevue, Wash.

Two passengers in the Whitmore auto, Robert E. Russell, 32, of 735 Delwood, Ann Arbor, and Carol J. Whitmore, 15, of 402 128th S.E. Ave., Bellevue, Washington, were injured along with the driver. They were all treated and later released from Wayne County General.

PLYMOUTH CITY police reported that Savitsky was first seen heading north on Main St. at a high rate of speed. The car passed the patrol car and the police made a U-turn and took up a chase.

They said that, at the time, Savitsky's car was sliding to the right, out of control. The car straightened out and continued north on Main St.—half in the street and half on the curb.

Police said the auto continued on the curb then spun sideways and slid for 142 feet north, crossing the center line and striking a southbound car driven by Whitmore.

SAVITSKY'S auto went back across the center line, police said, for 39 feet from the point of impact.

Savitsky was thrown from the car and slid on the pavement for 17 feet and his body slammed into the curb.

When questioned, Savitsky said he could remember nothing of what had happened.

Whitmore told police that he was going south and saw the Corvette coming fast. He said he slowed down and the other car began sliding toward his car. He jammed on the brakes and his car was struck on the left front.

Chevy Closes Impressive Year

Chevrolet Motor Division is closing out an impressive 1968 model year of production, including the second best year for truck output in the division's history.

E.M. Estes, general manager of Chevrolet and a General Motors vice president, said 2,139,400 Chevrolet automobiles and 613,800 Chevrolet trucks were assembled in United States plants during the 1968 model year which virtually has been completed. Total assemblies will reach about 2,753,200 units.

The only 1968 model Chevrolet assembly line still operating is the Corvette line at St. Louis, which is due to shut down for model changeover in about a week.

The 1968 model year production was 13 per cent greater than the 1,900,049 cars and 536,303 trucks, or 2,436,353 vehicles, produced in the 1967 model year.

CHEVROLET'S all-time production records include 2,382,511 cars and 2,961,988 vehicles produced in the United States plants in the 1965 model year.

and 624,800 trucks assembled in the 1966 model year.

"Our 1968 model year output would have been considerably higher were it not for the frequent production stoppages because of labor difficulties early this year," Estes said.

Production peaks were established during the 1968 model year for three of Chevrolet's six series of automobiles, Estes pointed out.

Chevrolet production totaled 422,880 units, surpassing the former record of 412,245 assembled in 1966; Camaro output reached 235,150 vehicles, exceeding the previous mark of 220,906 units built in 1967, and 28,565 Corvettes for the 1968 model year will exceed the former record of 27,720 produced in 1966.

OTHER CHEVROLET production in the 1968 model year included 1,236,400 regular size Chevrolets, 201,000 Chevy II's, and 15,400 Corvairs.

Chevrolet will begin production of 1969 model trucks on August 12 and is scheduled to start assembly of 1969 model automobiles on August 26.

Busy President, Not A Politician

He's a supervisor and a president, but he's never entered a political race.

Robert M. Padgett, 277 North Wildwood in Westland, a computer programmer supervisor at the Ford Dearborn Data Processing Center, is the newly elected president of 12,000 Michigan Jaycees.

As president, Padgett stresses Jaycee involvement "in a whole gamut of human problems, especially those of minority groups, whether ghetto dwellers in Detroit or poor whites in Appalachia."

In one program scheduled for September at the University of Michigan, 35 Jaycees will be trained to lead human resources seminars for Jaycees throughout Michigan.

UNDER PADGETT'S leadership, state Jaycees also will be involved in such programs as Project Misdemeanor to help juvenile delinquents, Project Showboat to raise funds for a hospital boat in Vietnam, a survey of the drinking habits of the average American, and a program to encourage kidney donations and purchase kidney machines.

Although he also is responsible for such internal operations as membership and the creation of new chapters, Padgett terms these "necessary evils" which facilitate programs involving Jaycees in the community, state and nation.

During the past three years, Padgett has traveled extensively on Jaycee business. As president he will cover even more miles this year. He estimates he'll drive "from 35,000 to 45,000 miles in Michigan attending a constant round of speaking engagements, parades, banquets and conventions."

Although most of this time is spent in the state, Padgett also will travel to such locations as Tulsa, Denver, Akron and "hopefully Argentina for the International Jaycee Convention in November."

Before election to his current Jaycee post and during his five years in the organization, he held many offices at the local level and was a state vice president and one of Michigan's national directors.

As a result of his contributions to the Jaycees, Padgett has compiled an impressive list of awards including outstanding national director from Michigan and one of 10 outstanding national directors in the United States.

His other awards include one of five outstanding young men of Michigan, outstanding citizen award of Western Wayne County, the distinguished service award from Westland, and the community service citation and the community service plaque from Ford Motor Company.

FIVE PROMOTIONS in nine years highlight Padgett's career with Ford. Since 1959, he's progressed from assembly line worker to his current position as a supervisor of 21 computer programmers and "half a secretary" in the Financial and Production Applications Department.

In addition to his supervisory duties, he is responsible for maintenance and operation of nearly 20 computer systems including stockholder records, vehicle drafting, central accounting and pension records. He enjoys his job immensely, "even with its pressure moments and its problems."

According to Padgett, technological advances in the computer field require a constant state of training.

"No matter what the position—operator, programmer, or supervisor—your education is never finished," he says.

"There's always bigger, better, faster equipment. I began working on first-generation equipment which is now out-of-date and no longer used in the Central Processing Department. In the last seven years, Ford's Dearborn computer facilities have grown tremendously. Now we have one of the largest computer centers in the world."

ALTHOUGH JAYCEE activities occupy much of his out-of-the-office time, Padgett is a member of the Wayne Ford Civic League, the Westland Goodfellows and the P-T-A. Because of her husband's busy schedule, his wife Kay currently limits her community participation to the Westland Jaycee Auxiliary.

Westland residents for almost six years, the Padgetts are "deeply rooted" in the city "mainly because of the people."

His free time isn't devoted to hobbies—"I just don't have the time"—but to activities centered around his wife and their four children.

The family enjoys bowling, swimming in the backyard pool, family picnics and parties, and watching Craig, 8, and Bobby, 11, play on a Westland Little League baseball team. The Padgett daughters are Lori, 4, and Teresa, 6. The three oldest children attend Wildwood Elementary School. Although Jaycee leaders have a tradition of becoming involved in politics, Padgett does not have any immediate political ambitions, but does plan to "remain involved."

He explains: "Through Jaycee activities such as meeting and talking with urban ghetto dwellers, I've become personally and emotionally involved with the problems facing Detroit and the whole nation. Like the Jaycees, politics is one means of solving some of these human relations problems."

Billing Goes Into Files

A request for Redford Township to pay a share of a $5,500 bill for legal services was "filed as received" Monday by the township board.

It's not likely to ever come out of the files at township board discretion for serious consideration.

The request came from Dearborn Heights Mayor John Canfield who cited that an Out-county Board of Supervisors' fight against the home rule reapportionment cost that much in legal fees, although unsuccessful.

Township Supervisor Aldrick Bellaire told The Observer he never participated in the Out-county Board project.

GETTING ALL SET for a fun-filled family outing are the Robert M. Padgetts—Bob, Bobby, Lori, Teresa, Kay and Craig. Padgett is the newly-elected president of the Michigan Jaycees and a computer programmer supervisor at Ford Motor Company.

Congressman Esch Reports Congress Shows Concern Over Nation's Roads

Congressional concern over our nation's highways was exhibited recently in the passage of the Federal Aid Highway Act of 1968. This new measure not only recommit Congress to helping the states meet over mounting traffic problems, but also faces up to the realities of several related concerns including highway safety, beautification and relocation.

The main thrust of the bill was to continue the development of our fine system of interstate highways begun under the Eisenhower Administration. Realistically, Congress extended the program beyond the old 1972 deadline for an indefinite period and made provisions for increasing construction costs and for expansion of the 41,000 mile system. Fortunately many years ago Congress had the foresight to plan for the '60s.

This bill represents a realization that we must go further to develop an interstate system adequate for the '70s.

CONGRESS also realized that the $1 billion it has authorized yearly for the 50-50 federal-state system of primary and secondary roads is not adequate and increased the amount, but only slightly—certainly not enough to meet the task of upgrading these roads. One only has to look at the condition of the primary and secondary roads in the Second Congressional District to gain an understanding of the size of this job. I have consistently spoken out for federal aid in this area and will continue my efforts on behalf of more adequate financing.

Highway safety efforts also received a boost in the new bill. There's no doubt that the severely limited amount of money available in this area has been a major restraining force on an all out attack against the slaughter on our highways. Increased authorizations in the highway measure hopefully will be followed by increased appropriations dedicated to making safer roads, cars and drivers.

The only major program covered by this legislation to receive a setback was highway beautification. Agreement to limit billboard control, junkyard control, and landscaping programs represented not so much Congressional disinterest in this beautification effort, but more a realization that such spending should be deferred. More of this type of priority spending will enable Congress to face more realistically essential problems in a time of costly war and fiscal uncertainty.

fortunately, progress in highway construction, particularly in the urban areas, frequently has meant hardship for those least able to afford it. Relocation allowances and other regulations should go along with easing these hardships, while at the same time making local approval for highway routes more readily available.

The Federal Aid Highway Act of 1968 contains some encouraging new directions toward solving a portion of our nation's transportation problems. The entire task, however, remains immense and requires the constant attention of all governmental officials.

Five Persons Injured In Accidents

Five persons were injured in three traffic accidents in a three-day period during the past week.

Charles Mida, 25, of 44075 Tyler, Belleville, was slightly injured in an accident Monday when a horse ran into the side of his car on Canton Center Rd., a half mile south of Saltz Rd., in Canton Township, police reported.

Police said the horse was slightly harmed. When it struck the car, the horse broke the windshield and suffered head cuts.

Police said Mida was shaken up and just a little surprised.

On Tuesday, Sandra K. Wasowicz, 19, of 22413 Malta, Detroit, was hurt when the auto she was driving struck a traffic signal pole on the corner of Sheldon and Five Mile Rd.

Police stated the girl thought she must have fallen asleep at the wheel and the car then ran off the road.

Three persons were injured on Wednesday.

William Arnold Fisher, 33, of 11450 Haggerty Rd., Plymouth, was hurt when his car was struck broadside by a car driven by Gloria May Briden-thall, 37, of 29488 Elmwood, Garden City.

A passenger in the Briden-thall car, Mary Roby, 41, of 635 Cardwell, Garden City, also was hurt.

Police said that Fisher drove his car into the path of the other auto at the intersection of Ann Arbor Trail and Haggerty.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS, related to highway development and long neglected by Congress, also were attached in the bill. Un-

Glenn

We recently printed a letter signed "Working Mother" which struck a responsive chord in this writer's heart.

For those of you who missed it she said, in short, that the children of working mothers assume a lot more responsibility and are a lot less likely to get into mischief than the offspring of the mother who is home constantly.

As in any issue these days there are two sides to take a long look at, but I think "Working Mother" has a point when she says teens today must be given chores that lead to a sense of responsibility.

Several months ago I was given a yellowed newspaper clipping that says extremely well what "Working Mother" and I agree on.

GROW UP AND GO HOME. Some mighty practical advice to teenagers was voiced recently by Judge Phillip G. Gilliam of Denver. And what he said must help a lot of us adults do a better job of living, too.

Always we hear the plaintive cry of the teenager: "What can we do? Where can we go?" The answer is GO HOME!

Hang the storm windows, paint the woodwork, rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the walk, wash the car, learn to cook, scrub some floors, repair the sink, build a boat, get a job.

Help the minister, bishop, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And when you are through—and not too tired—read a book.

Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your city or village does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and your talents so no one will be at war, in poverty or lonely again.

In plain simple words—GROW UP: quit being a cry-baby. Get out of your dream world and develop a backbone, not a wishbone, and start acting like a man or a lady.

You're supposed to be mature enough to accept some of the responsibilities your parents have carried for years. They have nursed, protected, helped, appealed, begged, excused, tolerated, and denied themselves needed comforts so that you could have every benefit.

In heaven's name -- GROW UP AND GO HOME.

MRS. HERBERT Allen of Brookline tells me that her backyard and swimming pool were filled with orioles recently. Not the black and orange winged variety, but members of son Keith's little league baseball team.

The occasion was the club's annual picnic. The team came in second—and I'd say that a finish like that is definitely NOT for the birds.

BEING A compulsive buyer in the face of fantastic bargains, I was, to borrow an expression of a Southern friend of mine, "like a pig in the sunshine" during last week's sidewalk sales.

Wasn't it fun?

THERE'S A special happiness these days in the Bruce Richard's Ivanhoe Drive household. It probably has something to do with the fact that son David is home from Vietnam, after two years with the U.S. Seabees. He was stationed at Camp Haskins-NCR-58 B Co.

Welcome home David!

JANICE SPENCE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Spence, 42201 Clemons Dr., Plymouth, has been accepted for enrollment at Evangel College, in Springfield, Missouri, this fall. Janice graduated from Plymouth High School.

Congratulations!

It Isn't Gas-- It's Deodorant

You can't smell gas, it has no odor. But try and tell that to residents living near the Consumers Power storage tanks near Sheldon Road, in Plymouth Township.

At regular intervals a chemical that DOES have an odor is mixed with the gas to enable employees of the company to detect any trouble from leaking gas. People have learned to associate this odor with gas.

Recently this chemical's odor has become so strong that alarmed residents are phoning the township offices regarding it, only to be assured that it's not gas they're smelling but the chemical "safety valve."

Soviets Part Friends, Dubcek Wins Showdown

BRATISLAVA -- The reform-minded Czechoslovakian government reconciled with the Soviet Union and Saturday announced that "everything is all right."

The Czech and Soviet party leaders, along with leaders of Poland, Hungary and Bulgaria, signed a 10-page declaration amounting to a solid vote of confidence for Alexander Dubcek and his liberal reform government.

Dubcek led the Czech President into a showdown with Soviet leaders, headed by party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. The last Russian troops withdrew from Czech soil Saturday night, ending the threat of military intervention.

KINSHASA, the Congo -- Almost five years of Congolese leadership ended abruptly Saturday with the overthrow of president Alphonse Massamba-Débat.

A young lieutenant, Augustin Poignet, a tribal brother and minister of the fallen president, is now chief of state. Left wing military elements, led by Captain Marien Ngouabi, took control of the people's national army.

PARIS -- A Yugoslav housemaid was killed when she apparently fell from the wheel well of a jetliner bound for Lisbon.

She was reported trying to get to the United States to join her fiancé. The pilot of the plane said he tried several times to get the wheels into place, probably crushing her.

Her body was found in a garden eight miles from the airport.

LONDON -- A British Cardinal has tried to ease the argument over the recent Papal order on birth control by asking Catholics to try and follow the ban--but not despair if they fail to temptation.

John Cardinal Heenan, archbishop of Westminster and head of the hierarchy in England and Wales, defended the Pope's ruling, but at the same time said it would cause hardship to many.

MILAN, Italy -- Twelve died but 83 escaped with their lives when an Alitalia Airlines DC8 jetliner went down in a driving rain and thick fog.

The plane was bound for Montreal from Rome, and crashed six miles from the runway on a pine-covered hill.

It burst into flames, but many survivors were able to escape through cracks in the fuselage.

MANILA -- The toll in the Manila earthquake is expected to rise after fresh tremors shook the island.

Rescue workers were still sifting the rubble to find some 250 people believed lost in the wreckage of a five-story apartment house.

The new tremors registered six on a scale of nine.

SAIGON -- American intelligence operations in Vietnam have been perfected, according to a Defense Department spokesman.

This was shown when President Johnson said 30,000 North Vietnamese soldiers had infiltrated the south in July, the spokesman said.

MEXICO CITY -- The earthquake that struck this area has left four dead, and over $2.4 million of property damaged.

It was the worst quake in eleven years. Hardest hit in the LANSING -- The State Highway Commission has taken a major step in community relations with the appointment of Ralph W. Bonner to a newly-created position of urban programs officer.

Bonner, 36, executive director of Greater Lansing Urban League, Inc., for three years, will fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Flynn Wells, the Highway Department's relocation officer, but will take on additional responsibilities.

Bonner, whose background includes extensive experience in social work and community organization, will supervise the Highway Department's program of assistance to families and businesses relocated by highway construction. He also will head the Department's participation in urban community research programs as well as its equal employment opportunity program.

capital city was a nine-story office building that was left leaning after the tremors. Officials report that the building and several others will have to be torn down because of the potential danger.

Villages in the surrounding countryside were also reported hit hard. One, Pinotepa Nacional, near the center of the quake, had 80 per cent of its buildings destroyed.

SAIGON -- North Vietnamese troops overran American positions in southern North Vietnam, killing or wounding almost all the Americans Saturday.

Fourteen Marines died and 20 others were wounded in the battles south of Da Nang.

MIAMI -- In a story filed Monday, Tass, the Soviet News agency, said the Republican Party platform offered no new alternatives to the war in Vietnam. Tass said the platform was "full of vague generalities," but offered no new answers.

OTTAWA -- More than two million undelivered pieces of mail have backlogged due to the two-week postal strike in Canada.

The backlog was increased by the arrival of several ships bringing mail to Canada.

And the news from the bargaining table was not bright as negotiations collapsed and talk of intervention by parliament was circulated.

MEXICO CITY -- Student-police confrontations continued in Mexico City this week as more than 2,000 police and government troops were called out to face 500 angry demonstrators.

A week and a half ago bloody fighting erupted when government troops were on the University of Mexico Campus clearing rioters. Then Thursday an estimated 85,000 marched in protest of the use of troops.

JERUSALEM -- More than 50 patrons of a Jerusalem night club escaped injury when a bomb exploded in front of a washroom that tore away a roof section.

The cafe had become a meeting place for both Arabs and Jews since the union of the city. Ten Arabs were arrested and held for questioning in the bombing.

JAKARTA -- Indonesia's worst flood in 30 years has claimed 21 lives and left 90,000 homeless, according to the Antara news agency.

The flood ravaged all of Java and part of Sumatra after days of torrential rains sent rivers over their banks.

TAIZZA, Yemen -- The regime of President Qahtan Al Shabbi today appeared in grave danger after the revolt in South Yemen.

They Ignore The Problem...But It Won't Vanish

The time has come for Plymouth Township Supervisor John McEwen and his cohorts on the Township Board to stop looking the other way and hope that things will just vanish and be forgotten.

The point at hand is that involving residents in the Arbor Village subdivision and the officials of the Spartan Warehouse, located on Haggerty Road near Joy Road but adjacent to a group of more than 50 homes in the middle to high price range.

The homeowners have complained almost from the very moment the warehouse opened for operations, about the noise of the trucks in the wee hours of the morning.

The blare of air horns, radios and the clatter of steel ramps being dropped across the ends of the docks and into the trucks has disturbed the slumber of the residents for the past several months.

Appeals to the Township Supervisor brought promises but little action. An appeal to the Township Attorney brought only a rather curt reply that "if you consider the noise a nuisance, then take the matter to court."

That hardly seems like the kind of a reply the residents should get from the Township representatives, even though it might be true.

It is our opinion that this matter was belittled from the very start and that the Township officials, particularly the supervisor, should have taken a more firm stand and assured the by then bitter homeowners of an effort to quiet the noise.

Instead of the residents almost getting involved in fistfights with the drivers and the dock workers over the noise, it seems that a better solution would have been for the Township officials to have arranged a meeting with all parties and tried to resolve the matter.

Spartan officials didn't make any effort to install a green belt along the side of the property skirting the homes until late May. Then it consisted of a series of small evergreens that may quiet the noise several years from now, but offer little if any buffer at the immediate moment.

Rather than arouse the residents to the point of tempers flaring to the boiling point and even higher, the simpler thing would have been to reach an agreement. It could have been done but the Township officials didn't choose that route—they seemed to adopt the attitude of closing their eyes and hoping the trouble would leave.

There are many other problems coming up in the not too distant future that the Supervisor and Trustees will have to answer and they'll have to change their current attitude or face more trouble.

The matter of police protection, which Supervisor McEwen persistently ducks; the question of garbage and refuse disposal which is becoming more acute with little action even though the present Township dump on Eckles Road is rapidly nearing saturation point; and finally the matter of unification which the Supervisor has consistently avoided.

Perhaps his feeling was best expressed recently when unification was brought before the Trustees and the Supervisor asked, "Just what are the boundaries of the Plymouth Community?" This from the administrative chief of Plymouth Township.

That is probably one of the reasons why the Arbor Village complaints were allowed to become so bitter. The Supervisor isn't aware of the boundaries of the community, and apparently of the problems of his constituents.

No Decorum In Judge Race

It probably will be a long time before voters in Northville Township.

Angel Can Lose Magic

Time is one of the greatest healers of anything good or bad. But time hasn't erased memories of Plymouth's Fourth of July celebration which went off in excellent style despite the poor judgment of the sponsoring Plymouth Township.

It will be remembered as the year in which the candidate who couldn't appear for the primary judgment as all other entrants did, was set as Queen.

It will be remembered as the year in which the "votes" just didn't get around to copying for a permit for a site for the fireworks display in the Plymouth Community and finally had to settle for a spot in Northville Township adjacent to Livonia.

It resulted in one of the greatest traffic jams along Five Mile Road in recent history. It did not have adequate parking facilities or space for spectators. It resulted in complaints from residents of the area over parking on their grounds and even in their gardens.

Perhaps in another year the Jaycees will get around to doing their homework well in advance and not depend on a guardian angel to take care of their shortcomings. There may not be a guardian angel available in future years as there was this time.

ship, Plymouth and Canton Townships, the City of Northville and the City of Plymouth will forget the 1968 primary for selection of candidates for the new district judgeship.

The big reason it will be remembered is that voters still don't know whether they were voting for individuals or signs.

In a race that should have been conducted along lines that go along with a judgeship with a great deal of decorum and poise, the primary developed into one of the wildest affairs ever witnessed in the area.

And the big point for at least three of the candidates was the issue of signs—too big, too little, torn down, put up, placed in forbidden places and the like.

From this angle, it appears as if the candidates could have done a better job of telling the voters more about themselves and the reasons why they should be elected instead of devoting so much time and expense to signs.

Signs have a place in any campaign but when they become bigger than the real issues at hand—then it's about time the voters and the governmental heads put a stop to it all.

There'll be another election coming up in the fall when a judge will be elected—perhaps the campaign will be carried along proper lines then.

It most certainly was not in the primary.

From the Publisher's Desk OBSERVATION POINT

By Philip H. Power

So the primary election is over. Now we can look forward to a long spell of campaigning before the general election on Nov. 5.

If nothing else, the primary eliminated part of the enormous ward of candidates who emerged to run for the vast number of offices up for grabs in Observer-land. Some of those rejected by the voters were well known; others were entirely new faces.

To the former, we offer condolences; we expect you'll be back soon in another race. To the latter group, more important because representing new people, we urge a sense of perspective; your loss isn't the end of the world, and we hope you'll keep your interest in politics and run again in the near future.

THE PRIMARY PROVED one interesting thing about politics in suburbia.

The central problem for a politician out here is communication: How to get his name across to the thousands of people, many newly moved in to the area, scattered across large lots in a confusing tangle of subdivisions.

People like this are hard to get at. It isn't the same thing as walking down the main street in a typical small American town and shaking all the hands you come across. Used to be that if a politician did that, he'd be pretty sure of hitting just about everybody in town.

No longer.

Livonia doesn't have a main street, unless it's either of the two big shopping centers. Plymouth and Farmington have town centers but the townships around the cities are so big that a politician concentrating on his old haunts will have blown a lot of votes. Westland and Garden City seem to start and stop in a crazy-quilt pattern, and I'd like to meet the politician who has the guts to do a hand shaking tour on Plymouth Road in Redford Township.

All this means that the politicians have had to turn to various techniques to get their name across, if not their message.

SIGNS FOR A START. Red. Blue. Chartreuse. Green. Day glo. Orange. Pink. An odd kind of cerise. Even basic black. Rarely white.

Cardboard, silkscreened. Wood, painted. Paper, printed more or less well. Metal.

Posted on trees, telephone poles, wooden frames. On top of cars, on the back of trunks, on lawns and in the doors of houses. Everywhere.

For a while, it looked as though some Santa Claus with a sense of humor had decided Observerland was just one big Christmas tree in need of decorations.

THE SIGNS CAUSED certain problems, of course.

Consent of property owners has to be secured before a sign can be stuck on their property. Suburban politicians carry lists of property owners like old-time ward heelers fondled lists of old widows with many deceased relatives.

"I've got Six Mile and Middlebelt," says one boastful politician. "Yeah, but I've got Schoolcraft at Haggerty," ripostes the other.

Then there's the problem of the size of signs. Plymouth, at least, is familiar with this one.

The City Commission went from a policy of no signs, to one allowing signs of 24 square feet, to one authorizing 32 square feet. This produced a lot of confusion, particularly in the race for district judge, and had the interesting effect of concentrating all attention away from any issue germane to the abilities of the candidates to do the judge's job.

THEN THERE'S the direct mail route. It's expensive, but it's supposed to be effective.

Usually it takes the form of a postcard, more or less neatly addressed, with a message to vote for Joe Zilch written on the other side. In theory, these are supposed to be sent by people to their friends, in hopes that friendship and the thrill of hearing from good Edna next door on a subject other than the deprecations your kids have caused her lawn will induce you to vote for Joe.

I got a card to "Dear Phil" from someone I had never met. The message referred to the fact that all this gal's friends were voting for Sam Glop, and she hoped I'd do so too. The card didn't say anything about Sam's qualifications or points of view. He lost my vote.

Direct mail is also used to push endorsements from various groups.

The Redford Township Democratic Club did a lot of endorsing as an officially constituted body in the 19th District, until the 19th District Executive Committee withdrew recognition. That action, I presume, turned the Club's endorsements from official to unofficial (and feuding).

No one knows whether this change had any effect on the votes at all.

THE ONE BIG thing lacking in this campaign was a reluctance by almost all candidates to talk about the issues.

Name identification seemed to be the key thing, and perhaps that's a reasonable strategy in a large and confusing primary election.

But there's at least one voter in Observerland who would like to see the candidates in the final election talk, at least for a moment, about their qualifications and their view of the issues.

It might not get votes, but it could just help the candidates feel they were doing something constructive.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR ALL GOOD MEN...
TO GRAB A SHOVEL!

Miami--It's Neat...But Will It Stay That Way?

By TIM RICHARD

MIAMI BEACH—An impression that overwhelms one at this Republican National Convention—or at nearly every Republican function—is one of neatness and of administrative efficiency.

There is an almost tangible Republican passion for neatness, for having things come off on schedule, or orderliness.

The chartered flight leaves on schedule. Governor Romney and Senator Bob Griffin are there at the airport to greet everyone warmly but in a minimal amount of time so that they can get to the hotel.

The Nixon forces are there with a couple of bands to welcome Michigan, and so is the smaller Rockefeller contingent, and the young people passing out the buttons are clean cut and good looking.

There will be fights, but the surface impression is of restrained voices and gentlemanly legal arguments.

The shuttlebus tickets are there, the credentials are there, the Michigan GOP State Central Committee's darkroom is set up, there are telephones placed in neat rows in the pressroom.

It's too early at this point in the week to tell if the convention's sessions will run smoothly, but the odds are that they will.

This observer recalls a county committee in Michigan which used to tape record its Lincoln Day banquets in order to plan the schedule for the next year. Every introduction, every announcement, every song and speech was timed to the half minute. The dinner was timed to end at 9:23 and actually ended at 9:21.

There's a boistrousness among the Democrats, a passion, a wearing of the heart on the shirt-sleeve that is missing among Republicans.

Democrats aren't happy unless all the prearrangements are scrapped and the affair, be it a committee meeting or a national conclave, is in chaos.

Perhaps this points to a psychological rather than ideological difference between the parties. Philosophical purists often like to say that a John Lindsay as a Republican congressman voted closer to the Democrats and a Democrat like Senator Frank Lausche votes closer to the Republicans.

But, the lining up of the parties is not ideological. Republicans are Republicans because of personal behavioral patterns. Novelist Norman Mailer took a look around the GOP Convention and pronounced the Republicans a gang of bankers and undertakers—in effect, self-controlled, bourgeois, unimaginative.

His description was deprecating, and it was apparent he didn't care for people of that sort. That's a negative way of looking at Republicans. If you are a Republican, you consider that a good way to live; or rather, if you consider that a good way to live, you are a Republican.

The corollary, embarrassing to Republicans to contemplate, is that their efficiency and neatness puts them out of contact with a society that is increasingly puritan and increasingly easygoing.

Can a party that can run such a massive convention so efficiently really "capture the imagination" if you'll pardon the Democratic cliché, of the young, the disadvantaged, the ethnic minorities?

It's a beautiful convention.

THIS IS THE WEEK THAT...

by DON HOENSHELL

Secretary of State James M. Hare is getting belted around in the precincts for playing the game like it was invented.

He fired a couple of gents for marching off in another political direction while the general and the rest of the troops were doing pushups in the barracks.

Jim McClure, a deputy, and James Palmer, a legislative liaison man, were discharged, and we've heard only one side of the story—from McClure and Palmer.

They were created in government by Hare and they were dismantled by Hare.

It was a kind of replay of the mass firings of Secretary of State branch managers after the 1966 election—including Livonia's Ron Mardiros—for failing to work hard enough in the Democratic campaign.

UNDER THE SYSTEM, Hare could fire 'em for the part in their hair or if they wore spats. Patronage knows no rules except those drawn by the guy at the top, whether they be formally-drafted regulations or an overnight whim.

So don't knock Hare until the facts are in. McClure called a press conference—a bad mistake—to protest that McCarthy backers were given the back of the hand at the Ingham County Democratic Convention. Whoever heard of a deputy calling a press conference?

Palmer sided with McClure. All this time Hart was a Hubert Humphrey man faced with a palace rebellion. Remember, Hare has to go before the party councils, too. A guy who can't run his own office is pfft.

Gov. Romney had a few cryptic criticisms of Hare at a press conference of his own.

Remember how Romney swept out the governor's office in 1963—including civil service people—and brought in people who didn't even know how to prepare certificates for notaries public?

No uproar then, nor has there been in a dozen other public and private firings just as poignant and maybe more so than the McClure-Palmer business.

There have been suggestions that Hare settled upon the manner of the firings to take the public rap himself rather than embarrass the folks suddenly left without income.

HARE IS A SMART politician. He has consistently led his party's ticket and his office has done a good job, all the while keeping pressure on the legislature to improve things for the people.

The Secretary of State's office is the last bit of mass political patronage left in Michigan, if you discount the maneuverings on examinations and the Rule of Three in the civil service system.

Hare's office raises a lot of money for the party, as it did for Republicans under the last GOPs to hold the office, Fred Alger and Owen J. Cleary. It is a political prize worth its weight in green.

There have been reports that branch managers kick in part of their fees for party purposes. This, of course, is true. It's been that way for generations, a slush fund for both parties.

And, logically, patronage posts are filled with people who agree with the boss. It's the closest thing to a fiefdom in the 20th century.

If we don't like it, let's change the system.

But let's not rap Hare for playing the game.

Thanks For Help

EDITOR:
I want to thank each and everyone for the wonderful response and good will shown to the Plymouth State Home during the Farmington Founders Festival sidewalk sales.

The small words of thank you aren't near enough to express our appreciation for the added donations from many relatives, friends and the people of many communities.

Also, many many thanks to the officials who made it possible for us to participate in this great event--thus making it possible to help raise funds for the crippled and retarded children.

We hope to obtain many pieces of equipment and also hope and pray to have enough left so we can make sure that our chapel can open up for this Christmas.

I will also be at the First Farmington Savings and Loan just before Christmas. If I don't see you then, I certainly hope to see you again next Founders Festival.

Many thanks again for your generosity--friends and buying public.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Sillis annually sells goods made by the children at the Plymouth State Home in order to raise funds for additional equipment and programs for the children.)

Praises Women

EDITOR:

I would like to thank the three women who stopped in front of my house recently, on the corner of Arandel and Bonnet Hill, to pick up a bag full of beer cans and broken beer bottles which someone had apparently thrown there.

We filled half a garbage can with what we picked up. Their kindness helped to restore my faith in human nature after my initial disgust at seeing our street littered like any slum area.

But a question comes to mind. Why would anyone do such a thing? Two possible answers come to mind:

1. It was a prank. A rather dangerous and thoughtless one considering the little children who live around here.

2. It was a group of teenagers who were not supposed to be drinking and therefore couldn't afford to have their parents discover all those empty beer containers in their own garbage cans.

I know it is easy to criticize when my oldest child is only eight. But I have seen teenagers throw bottles out of the windows of their cars while I was walking my little children down the street.

When I called to them they just sped off. Disrespect for public and private property amazes me.

But leaving streets littered with broken bottles frightens me because of the real danger it represents: the two-year-old who picked up a bottle to bring home and throw away, tripped, fell on it, cut his jugular vein, and bled to death in the street. It is not a harmless prank.

Again, many thanks to the kind women who stopped to help.

Urges Gun Control

EDITOR:

Thanks so much for your recent editorial and article on gun control legislation.

In accordance with your suggestion, I have written to Senators Hart and Griffin and Rep. McDonald urging support of gun registrations and licensing and a ban on mail order sales of guns.

Someone has suggested that "gun control" is a misnomer and scares people into thinking they are going to be unduly restricted -- that it would be better to emphasize and urge "gun licensing and gun registration" legislation.

I was dismayed to find that the National Wildlife Federation president testified against President Johnson's proposed legislation concerning firearms.

It seems rather inconsistent to me that the Sierra Club had its tax-exempt status taken away because it advocated conservation of our redwood forests, and hence was deemed guilty of lobbying, yet the National Rifle Association and apparently the National Wildlife Association may lobby against gun licensing legislation with impunity and have millions of dollars of tax-free income per year to do it with!

Digusted!!

EDITOR:

We are writing in regards to a musical workshop production we attended at the Stevenson High School Lecture Theatre on July 26 entitled,

"Anything Goes."

How true those words were! We had invited two of our grandchildren, ages 12 and 15, to accompany us, since we thought that they would enjoy it. The 15-year-old will be attending that school in September.

We left the building in disgust after the first act, but we saw and heard enough to make us ashamed and embarrassed that we had ever stayed that long.

If those are the kind of plays and musicals that are being put on in high schools, with all the suggestive lines and curse words, we shouldn't wonder why so many of our young people of today are rebelling against all that is fine and decent in life.

We trust that whoever was responsible for producing this show will take note that it was in very bad taste, and was not considered entertainment in our estimation.

Congratulations

EDITOR:

"Before I built a wall I'd ask to know what I was walling in and walling out and to whom I was like to give offense. Something there is that doesn't like a wall, that wants it down."-- Robert Frost.

Congratulations fellow Livonians for refusing to allow our new open housing ordinance to go on the ballot by referendum in November.

The fact that the necessary 5,000 signatures were not procured on referendum petitions sets a climate of dedication to the laws of our land and is a positive response to a very real struggle facing us all.

We have said yes to open housing. That means we are willing to tear down some of the walls of discrimination built in the past; walls which restrict opportunities for diversified human relationships.

Now Same Teams Clash In Championship Series

Livonia Sinks Redford, 1-0., Gains 'A' Playoffs

The duels between Redford and Livonia's Class A teams go merrily on. They had a sudden-death, one-game battle Sunday night to decide the third round title in the Greater Livonia Class A League. Livonia won it, 1-0. Now starts a series to determine the 1968 champ and the team which advances into the state regional at Butzel Field in Detroit against the Dearborn and Detroit winners.

It'll be a strange sort of a series that opens at Ford Field in Livonia Wednesday evening at 8:30 p.m. SINCE REDFORD won the first two rounds in league play, the championship grind will work as follows: 1 -- Livonia must win two straight to take the crown.

2 -- If Redford wins just one game, it's all over. Livonia undoubtedly will go again with Jay Schwalm, its ace hurler who silenced the big Redford bats on one hit in Sunday's game. Redford likely will use Rich Krumm or Tom Tanner and keep Larry Salci, who suffered a hard-luck loss on Sunday. Salci yielded only two hits. But he was the victim of an unearned run in the fifth inning and the ball game was decided because of the miscue.

Redford's Earl Morrall Nine Seeks Connie Mack State Title

The gates will swing open at Marshall Friday to welcome Earl Morrall of Redford Township into the State Connie Mack baseball tournament.

Four years ago Morrall went to Marshall and came home with the title.

Manager Bob Atkins figures he has a team which could go all the way again as substantiated by the combined records of the Redford Union High School nine in the spring and now the Earl Morrall aggregation.

The preps won 16 and lost four and annexed the Suburban Six League championship.

As sandlotters, they've posted a 15-2 mark to haul in the Greater Livonia American League Mack flag and then this past weekend the district title at Ypsilanti.

"During the regular season in the Mack League, we used our high school team intact, except for adding Leland Bjerke, who was with us a year ago," explained Atkins.

IN THE DISTRICT Atkins added three players from rival Mack teams and he'll be able to use the same trio in the state.

Morrall won three in a row at Ypsilanti. Then after losing Sunday, the Townshippers bounced back to best Dearborn Heights, 1-0, in a stirring eight-inning duel for the crown Friday.

Dale Bjerke picked up his fifth shutout in seven victories against the Heights. He had a no-hitter going until the seventh when Steve Gerych singled. In the eighth Jerry Gnewkowsky got the only other hit off Bjerke, who fanned five and walked two.

The Townshippers picked up five hits in the game, but it wasn't until the eighth that they could produce the decisive run.

Kirk Taylor singled and became the inning's second out when Bob Cascaden forced him at second.

Then Cascaden was off and running and Bill Fahey chased him with a mighty poke which sailed far beyond the outfielders.

The blow ordinarily would have gone for a homer but Fahey didn't have to go any farther than second. As soon as Cascaden hit the plate, the game was over--and Morrall reigned as the champ.

EARL MORRALL started his quest for the district crown with a pair of shutouts. First came a 3-0 win against Wyandotte, then a 2-0 conquest against Ann Arbor.

Dale Bjerke held Wyandotte to a single hit--a blow by the Wyandotte leadoff batter in the first inning. Bjerke fanned seven and walked four.

Bob Cascaden doubled over Kirk Taylor with the first Morrall run, then singles by Fox and Taylor and a triple by D. Bjerke added the final two.

Bob Chidester, borrowed from Garden City West for the tourney, scattered five hits and fanned 11 in blanking Ann Arbor. He walked two.

Both the Morrall runs came in the fourth inning. After Fox was hit by a pitch, Taylor was safe on an error and Fred Dunham singled.

THE MORRALL string of shutouts ended, but not its victory streak in a 5-1 conquest

Putter Cold, Sand Wedge Is Red Hot

Ward Swanson, former greenskeeper at Idyl Wyld golf course on Five Mile Road in Livonia and now greens superintendent at Plum Hollow Country Club, had little putting touch in a round at his former course Sunday but he did register a hole-in-one.

Ward, playing with former Idyl Wyld pro John Ward, had four putts on No. 1, and came back with three on No. 2. Then he grabbed his sand wedge on the 123-yard No. 3 hole and saw the ball hit once and drop into the cup.

His putter was still off for the remainder of the round but he did finish with a 41-37-78--about eight strokes more than he normally takes for 18 holes at Idyl Wyld.

against Dearborn Heights.

Taylor started for the winners and was replaced by Dale Bjerke in the fifth. With three on and none out, Bjerke fanned the next batter and got the next one to hit into a double play. In the final inning, he struck out two more.

Ann Arbor's Storm Zigger team ended the Morrall winning streak in a nine-inning duel, 4-3, cashing the deciding run on a walk and two singles.

The Morrall team had only itself to blame. Thrice the Townshippers had two men on base and couldn't score.

Bill Howe doubled and scored on Leland Bjerke's single for the first Morrall run. A single by Fahey, stolen base and single by Fox added another run. Jim Powers singled and came around without the benefit of a hit for the final run.

PUTTING HAS THE ATTENTION of Joyce Kazmierski (left), former Stevenson High teacher in Livonia, and Mrs. Rodney Thompson, of Redford Township, in the finals of the Women's District golf tournament at Western Golf Club. Joyce won the championship, whipping her rival, 6 and 4, in the finals.

Observer Editor Is Champ

Bob Ameen, a recent Illinois import into the Westland area, was crowned Michigan state three-cushion billiard champion Sunday in Lansing after sweeping through the final three games of competition without a loss.

His victory in the Michigan State Open automatically enters him in the United States Three-Cushion Open which begins Oct. 6 at the Civic Center at Lansing.

Ameen, who is a member of the editorial staff of The Livonia Observer, edged Bob Letherby, Muskegon, 50-45 in the final game after trouncing his other two opponents.

Harold Brown, Rochester, fell 50-21, while Gil Elias, veteran cue artist from Oak Park, met a similar fate, 50-19.

The field of 12 contestants from throughout Michigan was narrowed to four at the conclusion of preliminary play Saturday.

Mike Donnelly, Monroe City, one of the pre-tournament favorites, was knocked out of a chance to play in the finals when he was humbled 35-10 by Kerwin Crane of Lansing. Donnelly did succeed in winning high run honors with a run of eight.

Ameen's only loss came in the preliminaries when he was defeated by the slim margin of 35-33 by Brown.

Letherby finished second with only one defeat. Elias was awarded third and Brown ended up fourth.

Ameen's win at the Q-Master Billiards was his second major victory of the year. In March, he won the Illinois State Elks' Three-Cushion title for the second time, his first triumph coming in 1963.

STATE CHAMPION—Bob Ameen of Westland (left) is shown being congratulated by Philip H. Power, publisher of the Observer Newspapers, for the trophy he received after his victory in the Michigan State Three-Cushion Billiard Tournament at Lansing Sunday. Ameen won all three of his final games to earn the state crown. He is a member of the editorial staff of the Livonia Observer.

Lions New Faces Shine In Loss To Buffalo

BUFFALO--In defeat, there were some glittering moments for the Detroit Lions Monday night as they absorbed a 13-9 loss at the hands of the Buffalo Bills in the opening exhibition game for both teams.

For one thing, the Lions had to be heartened by the showing of rookie quarterback Greg Barton from Tulsa University. He provided the Lions with their only excitement by twice clicking on 51-yard pass completions and leading the Detroiters to their only touchdown.

Then there was Earl McCullouch, the rookie from Southern California who didn't join the team until Saturday after starring in the College All Star game against Green Bay.

McCullouch showed that he has the speed to make it in the pro league. He turned in some dazzling punt returns--one of which led to the Lions field goal.

EXCEPT FOR one lapse, when they yielded a touchdown late in the second quarter, the Lions throttled the Bills and their veteran quarterback Jack Kemp, who played about half the game.

The Lions started quarterback Karl Sweetan, on whom they had asked waivers 10 days ago and then pulled them back. Sweetan was in one four series of downs and the only cheering note for the Lions was an 18-yard run by Mel Farr.

The Bills themselves did little in the same period until the Lions were penalized back to their own six by two penalties and Lem Barney was forced to kick from deep in the end zone.

He got the ball only to Detroit's 43.

In four plays, the Bills scored as Kemp tossed a 17-yard pass to Ferguson and then one to Ben Gregory for a first down on the Lions seven.

Overall the Lions made seven out of 28 in the air to Buffalo's 12 out of 22.

The Lions punted six times for 34.7 yards while Paul McGuire booted 10 times for 48.3 yards and constantly kept the Lions in trouble.

observing sports

A phone call in pursuit of information on a sandlot baseball game brought a response on the other end:

"Sorry, he can't talk to you now. He's resting. You see he was practicing football this morning and he'll work out again this afternoon."

If we would have phoned a flock of other homes in the area, no doubt the answer would have been the same.

Yep, it's only the first week in August, but most of the high school football players hereabouts already are at work.

Their daily get-togethers can't qualify as "true practices." Under the state prep rules, no team may appear in football gear, or even use a football until Aug. 26.

But before Charles Forsythe retired as state prep director, he clarified what prep teams can and can't do before the official starting date.

THERE'S NOTHING wrong with holding conditioning drills. Which answers why if you pass Redford Union or one of the Garden City schools, or North Farmington or Franklin or Plymouth these mornings, you'll notice a flock of strong, young men going through a series of exercises.

"It's very important that the boys go through these paces," explained Bob Atkins, who takes over as head football coach at Redford Union this fall.

"We pointed out to our boys, before school finished in the spring, how vital it was for them to take part in these conditioning sessions.

"The boys not only have to strengthen their muscles and get their legs ready, but they must get used to being able to scrimmage in hot weather . . . and you know how hot it can be in the first weeks of high school football drills."

IN THE CONDITIONING sessions, the coaches aren't supposed to mention the word football too loud.

Some mentors do, some don't.

There are those who even manage to find a football or two for their charges and "arrange" for their captains to run some offensive plays.

Here and there you'll find boys practicing their kicking . . . and it's no secret that some teams even engage in a little tackling work.

All of which brings up an old issue with this department: why not permit the preps an extra week of fall practice?

If the coaches can assemble their hopefuls on an informal basis commencing with the last week in July, there should be no objections -- it would seem -- to permit the teams to commence official drills four weeks ahead of their first games.

Now it's three weeks -- actually something like 18 days.

EVERY COACH -- be he in charge of football or tennis or gymnastics or swimming -- will tell you that the toughest job in readying a team comes in football.

For one thing, a coach has more boys to deal with. Usually 60 to 75 report.

He has three distinct units to assemble -- (1) offense, (2) defense, (3) kicking.

Fashioning an offensive attack in football requires more time than anything else in sports. A good defense takes almost as much time.

Besides, by adding a week to the practice routine, the football coach wouldn't have to rush in his preparations.

"It's amazing that we accomplish what we do in so short a period of time," one coach declared.

MOST FOOTBALL coaches doubt that their administrations would complain were the practice period extended.

"I'm not hiding anything by holding conditioning workouts," said Atkins. "My athletic director knows it, my principal knows it, my superintendent knows it."

Atkins, like other area coaches, can't force boys to participate in the conditioning drills.

But the boys themselves realize the importance and as a result most of them arranged to take their vacations with their parents during July so that they'd be around by the first of Aug.

"These kids are very sensible," one mentor said. "They can see for themselves that it's to their advantage to get into shape by the time we begin official drills."

"A kid who shows up 'fat' and out of condition for regular practice finds himself in trouble. If he wants to play, he's got to be ready."

ON THE SUBJECT of football, a new publication dealing with the professional, college and prep scene in Michigan has hit the streets.

It's called Michigan Football and one feature deals with picking the prep winners.

According to the magazine, John Glenn is the team to beat in the Northwest Suburban League with Franklin and North Farmington right behind.

In the Suburban Six, the nod goes to Allen Park with Bentley "a possible surprise." Walled Lake is favored in the Inter Lakes with Stevenson and Farmington trailing.

In the Mid-Wayne League, Garden City East looms as "a darkhorse," while Garden City West is rated behind Schafer, Southgate and Riverside in the Tri-River. Clarenceville isn't a threat, says the magazine, in the Wayne-Oakland loop.

The magazine forecasts a "terrific" season for St. Agatha and a winning year for Our Lady of Sorrows in the Catholic League.

Wonder how right these picks will be?

INTO THIRD slides Redford's Bill Howe as he tries to beat the relay on a forceout. He didn't make it since Third Sacker Johnny Schroeder, of Livonia, already has made the tag and is throwing to first in an attempt for a double play. The action took place in the Free Press League playoffs at Ford Field in Livonia.

Redford Moves Nearer FP Title

For the last two years, Redford Township has won the Greater Livonia League and the state Free Press baseball titles.

It appeared Monday night that the Townshippers were on their way to a third loop crown after blanking Livonia Cardinal Decoring, 4-0, in the first

GREG MACY, a former Livonia Bentley High School star, played a big role in the Albion College Britons winning the 1968 MIAA baseball championship this past spring. Macy, a freshman, hit .295 and fielded brilliantly as the Britons' starting first baseman.

Stevenson Sets Uniform Call

The Stevenson high football team will receive uniforms on Aug. 21 and 22. Seniors and juniors are to report from 9 a.m. to noon the first day while sophomores check in the following morning.

Stevenson students, interested in playing football, are urged to participate in the conditioning practices now underway.

Bow And Arrow Deer Kill Up

Hunting in sporting Indian style last year produced a kill of 2,550 deer, Michigan's third highest, for the state's record-sized band of 55,900 licensed archers.

The 1967 kill estimate, drawn from the Conservation Department's regular postcard survey of bowhunters, is up 620 animals from the year before. It is topped only by the 1958 and 1964 archery harvest.

DAN CAMP flipped a two-hitter in besting Paul Tonnemacher, the excellent Cardinal hurler from Stevenson High. Tonnemacher matched Camp in scoreless work until the sixth inning.

Then a walk to Reg Barringer, a stolen base, an error and a perfect squeeze bunt by Kevin Fox made it 1-0 for Redford.

For good measure, Redford tallied three times in the seventh. Rod Ferguson walked and scored on Leland Bjerke's double. Bill Fahey singled and Billy Holmes singled to put the clinchers across.

Camp, who fanned 10 and walked one, lost a no-hitter in the fourth when Jerry Dettler singled. John Schroeter got the other hit for Cardinal in the sixth.

Brown Jolted In Start

The return of Paul Brown to the professional football wars was hardly an impressive one.

Brown, who once led the Cleveland Browns to a flock of championships, now is general manager and coach of the new Cincinnati Bengals of the American League.

His team played its first game Saturday night and was whipped by Kansas City, 38-14. There was little for the Cincinnati fans to cheer about after Brennan Sullivan ran 75 yards for a touchdown.

Brown, meantime, announced that ex-Michigan State back Jesse Phillips, on parole from Jackson prison for a forgery charge, had joined the Bengals and impressed. The Bengals had drafted Phillips while he was behind bars.

THE CHICAGO Bears got off to a fine start under new coach, Jim Dooley, by beating the Dallas Cowboys, defending Eastern Division champs, 30-24.

Rookie Cecil Turner ran 88 yards for a touchdown with the opening kickoff and then 74 yards with a pass.

GARY McDERMOTT, a Bills' rookie, slashed for a couple yards, before Gregory took the ball on a handoff and boomed over for the touchdown.

Under the new rule for inter-league exhibitions, the Bills had to run or pass for the extra point. McDermott ran it--and walked over for the touchdown.

Barton took over shortly afterward and fired long to Tom Malinchak from the end zone on a play that went for 51 yards to the Bills' 43. But the Lions could make only three yards in three plays and Gary Ypreman tried a field goal and missed.

Late in the first half, the Bills intercepted a pass on the Detroit 21 and Mike Mercer booted a 28-yard field goal to give the Buffalo team a 10-0 halftime edge.

McCullouch's long dash from his own 45 to the Buffalo 23 with a punt led to a Detroit field from the 25 by Ypreman early in the second half.

MOMENTS LATER ex-Michigan Stater George Salines intercepted a pass on his 48 and ran it to the Detroit 28. When Mercer added another field goal it was 13-3.

Back came the Lions with Barton firing to Gale Cogdill for 51 yards to the Bills' 19. Farr zipped to the three and then over.

The Lions tried to run for the point but Nowatzke was stopped cold.

That left the score at 13-9.

In the closing moments, the Bills had a chance to score again after covering a fumble, but Detroit regained the ball, following another fumble, on the Lions one.

BARTON KEPT firing away, but wasn't able to connect and finally the ball was intercepted again by the Bills and the game ended with Buffalo hanging on to the pigskin.

The Lions outguined Buffalo, 227-145--85 rushing to the Bills' 70. In passing it was Detroit 142, Buffalo 75.

DRC Finds New Innovations Boost Business

The Detroit Race Course, in the middle of the second week of a 14-week meeting, has instituted two new programs which DRC officials have found pleasing.

Perfecta betting, on the last race daily at the Livonia track, has helped the DRC to up its handle four of the first six days over last year's comparative opening week days.

A Ladies Day Handicapping Contest, which won't start until Aug. 22, has already had wide response from DRC fans alerted by an early promotion.

The $15,000 Added Bully Boy

The $15,000 Added Bully Boy Handicap stakes race Saturday saw Alhambra Son, ridden by Ronnie Campbell, win a photo finish victory from Steel Pike before 13,995.

The 9-1 shot paid $20.40 to win. Muzledick, winner of the opening day Curtains Up Handicap at $12,500 Added, finished third and Irongate was fourth. Ramblin Road, co-favorite with Steel Pike, was out of the money.

DAVID WHITED, the DRC's record-setting jockey who established a track and Michigan riding record last year with 119 victories, pulled into the lead after one week with eight victories when he rode both ends of the daily double Saturday.

Mercury Wins In Dixie 500

ATLANTA, Ga.--Leroy Yarbrough roared from behind on the final lap to win the Dixie 500 auto race in a 1968 Mercury.

He beat out Bobby Issac, driving a '68 Dodge, and Donnie Allison in a '68 Ford.

Yarbrough's winning time was 126.016 miles per hour.

In the first race, Whited was aboard Prince Dode which paid $10.80. In the second, it was Midnight Melody ($7.20).

Larry Snyder, who rode both ends of the Double on opening day, also won two Saturday to finish the first week's jockey battle back of Whited with seven triumphs--good for a second-place tie with Ronnie Baldwin.

THIS SATURDAY'S feature race will be a six-furlong sprint for three-year-old fillies, The Good Neighbor Handicap, with a purse distribution of $12,500 Added.

This is also the last week of the popular Perfecta girls, four former beauty queens who have been on the grounds to help promote the DRC's latest multiple wagering offering.

The Perfecta girls, "Patti," "Peppi," "Pearl," and "Paula" Perfecta appear in the winners' circle and circulate about the clubhouse and grandstand passing out leaflets explaining how to bet the Perfecta and answer questions fans may have.

The Perfecta betting pool on the last race, while cutting into the straight wagering pool, has upped the total handle on the last race alone about 25 per cent daily.

Ladies who will participate in the Handicapping contest starting two weeks from tomorrow must pick the winners of day for 10 weeks. Cars, cash and the last four races every Thursday and mink stoles are the awards.

row must pick the winners of day for 10 weeks. Cars, cash and the last four races every Thursday and mink stoles are the awards.

ALHAMBRA SON, (No. 2), owned by F. J. Carlin and trained by Gordon Potter, charges down the rail to nose out F. W. Hooper, Jr.'s Steel Pike (No. 6) under high-riding Tommy Barrow, and captures the $15,000 Added Bully Boy Handicap at the Detroit Race Course Saturday. The photo finish victory of Alhambra Son returned mutuels of $20.40, $7 and $4.60.

Sports Briefs

Wayne State University's 1968 cross-country team will face four opponents--Cleveland State, Ferris State, Marquette and Michigan Lutheran--for the first time ever in the sport in dual competition.

Bob Samaras, Wayne State University's newly-appointed baseball coach, led Hamtramck St. Ladislaus High School to a 50-1 diamond record in three years at the school, losing only in extra innings in the city championship game.

THIS SATURDAY'S feature race will be a six-furlong sprint for three-year-old fillies, The Good Neighbor Handicap, with a purse distribution of $12,500 Added.

This is also the last week of the popular Perfecta girls, four former beauty queens who have been on the grounds to help promote the DRC's latest multiple wagering offering.

The Perfecta girls, "Patti," "Peppi," "Pearl," and "Paula" Perfecta appear in the winners' circle and circulate about the clubhouse and grandstand passing out leaflets explaining how to bet the Perfecta and answer questions fans may have.

The Perfecta betting pool on the last race, while cutting into the straight wagering pool, has upped the total handle on the last race alone about 25 per cent daily.

Ladies who will participate in the Handicapping contest starting two weeks from tomorrow must pick the winners of day for 10 weeks. Cars, cash and the last four races every Thursday and mink stoles are the awards.

Livonia Golfer Beaten In Final

Livonia's Rocky Pozza cut loose with a brilliant effort in the Michigan Public Links golf tournament last week at Fenton.

He came within "a whisker" of winning the title. But the final nine holes proved his undoing as he lost to Gary Balliet, 18, of Pontiac, 3-2.

Pozza, a University of Michigan student and member of the Wolverines' golf varsity, had built up a three-hole advantage in his title match against Balliet.

Then, coming to the ninth hole, Balliet dropped in a birdie and "was off to the races."

The Pontiac player won five of the next six holes--and that was the match and the title.

EN ROUTE to the crown, Balliet also knocked off Livonia's Joe Wilson, 4-3, and Bill Curtis of Farmington, 3-2. Curtis long has ranked as a leading amateur player in the state.

Pozza moved up by scoring victories over Jay Law of Harper Woods, 1 up and Pontiac's Mike Secoy, 1 up.

Against Law, Pozza was three down at the turn, but shot a sizzling 32 coming in to pull out the match.

Praise MHSA Head

LANSING -- In what was his last official day on the job, Charles E. Forsythe was praised by the State Board of Education for "nearly four decades of skillful and dedicated service."

Forsythe, director of the Michigan High School Athletic Association since 1931 and assistant director two years before that, retired from the job on August 1.

THE STATE BOARD praised Forsythe as being "instrumental in formulating and conducting virtually every phase of the organization's (MHSA) highly successful programs."

"Charles Forsythe's capabilities in athletic administration are known and admired in many parts of this nation and the world through his authorship, teaching and directing of MHSA," the Board resolution said.

The Board moved to "officially congratulate and offer its sincerest appreciation to Charles Forsythe, for this service so admirably rendered."

See Few Changes In Small Game Hunting Rules

Seasons, bag limits, and general regulations for hunting small game in Michigan this year were established by the Conservation Commission at its July 11-12 meeting at Higgins Lake.

Generally, the pattern follows last year's with these exceptions: The ruffed grouse season will open Sept. 15 (same as woodcock) in the Upper and Northern Lower Peninsulas and will close Nov. 14.

Opening day for the pheasant season in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula will be Oct. 21, instead of the 20th, to avoid a Sunday opener.

Ingham was added to the quail hunting counties of Branch, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lenawee, Livingston, Monroe, St. Joseph, Washtenaw, and Wayne.

Wild turkey permits were increased by 200 over last year's total of 1,300, with hunting again open in the Mio and Baldwin areas.

Sharptailed grouse will be hunted on the same basis as last year, with the season limited to Oct. 1-14 in Ontonagon County.

Opening day for squirrels and raccoons will be October 21.

Federal regulations, to be set later, will establish seasons and bag limits for rails, gallinules and snipe. The woodcock season opens Sept. 15 in the Upper and Northern Lower Peninsulas and Oct. 21 in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula. Woodcock hunters are reminded that their shotguns must be limited to not more than three shells in the barrel and magazine combined.

Detailed regulations for all small game hunting will be included in a folder, "Rules for Hunting Small Game in Michigan." Hunters will receive copies with their hunting licenses.

Miller Barber placed second at 276. He was followed by Bob Stanton at 277 and Julius Boros at 278.

U.S. Open champ Lee Trevino wound up at 283.

Faculties Must Solve Campus Unrest Problems, Professor Says

ANN ARBOR—Faculties of colleges and universities must take the lead in meeting problems of student unrest if campuses are not to be the scene of further disruption and violence, University of Michigan summer graduates were told Sunday (Aug. 4).

Prof. John P. Dawson of the Harvard University Law School spoke of "Our Beleaguered Universities" before some 2,300 summer graduates of the University in ceremonies in Hill Auditorium. Dawson is the Charles Stebbings Fairchild Professor of Law at Harvard, and was formerly a member of the U-M law faculty.

Universities are "tempting targets" to those who wish to use them to force society to reform because they are reluctant to call the police, the commencement speaker said. "Universities are organized as a proving ground for all kinds of ideas whose expression brings no reprisal. But if universities are a proving ground, they are not equipped as a battleground."

"When reasoned discussion has been exhaustively tried and has failed and the disruption caused is serious, the time does come when the aid of the police must be asked for," Dawson continued. "We must prepare our minds for this. The solution that is truly intolerable is to grant a series of demands, each reinforced by occupation of essential facilities and disrupting essential university operations, so that it is proved for all to see that only violence pays."

DISSENT and similar disruptions used on university campuses are forms of civil disobedience, the law professor added.

"In the moral justification of civil disobedience, there are at least two elements," he explained. "One of them is a

U-M Library In Dearborn Is Growing

DEARBORN — The University of Michigan Dearborn Campus has one of the fastest growing libraries in the country.

Last year the library increased its book collection by nearly 12,500 volumes, 36 per cent more than the previous year's additions. The library's holdings now total more than 70,000 volumes.

The library expects to expand at the present rate of 20 per cent again next year.

In order to handle this growth, the library has acquired more shelving facilities and more card-catalog sections. A new building for the library is now in the planning stage.

Two new staff members have also been appointed. They are Mrs. Georgia Lindstrom from Oberlin College and Mrs. Carolyn Castagna from New Mexico State University.

willingness to accept the consequences of violating law. We cannot admit that members of a university community can make forays on our society, not with ideas but with physical violence, and then escape to the campus and claim immunity in the name of academic freedom.

"The second element justifying civil disobedience is an overriding need. This means to me both a moral purpose of the highest order and a complete absence of any other recourse."

It is in the provision of "other recourse" that universities should play their part "on issues within their province," Dawson declared. But, he added, "Many issues are outside their province. Universities cannot stop the Viet Nam War nor rebuild the ghettos, though some of their members can provide material for new thought on those subjects."

There could be no greater disaster, Dawson asserted, than "for universities to become the instruments for direct political and social action, committed to specific programs that they themselves promote."

If captured for such purposes, then the universities would lose the independence and the freedom of inquiry on which their mission depends, Dawson pointed out that in 1933 German universities were occupied by storm troopers "wearing brown shirts, not blue jeans." German universities then became instruments of social and political action and served their Nazi masters well.

BUT IN resisting capture by a small group of dissidents and in refusing to bow to the threat of force, universities must not fail to meet legitimate needs for change. There is much justice in some student demands for reform, Dawson said.

"I think that most of our great faculties have forgotten what it is like to be a student," he declared, "and that in the broad spectrum of our success in higher education our great failure is in a task that is really ours—the care and nurture of students."

"Student discontent is real, much of it is justified, and most of it does not produce the impulse to destroy," Dawson concluded. "What is needed, I believe, is a large-scale application of intelligent thought and a major change of attitudes. The initiative for both must come from the faculty, though administrative leadership can make an enormous difference. The old can learn from the young."

Harry Willnus Ends Course At Bradley

Harry C. Willnus, 42249 Brentwood Avenue in Plymouth, a teacher at Romulus High School, has successfully completed an extensive summer institute for history teachers at Bradley University.

He was one of 36 teachers from throughout the nation selected to participate in the six-week institute. The U.S. Office of Education, under the provisions of the National Education Defense Act, granted Bradley $55,000 to implement its third consecutive Summer Institute for Advanced Study in Economics-History.

The institute was directed by Dr. Kalman Goldberg, Head of the Department of Economics at Bradley.

Police Study Two Unusual Robberies

Two unusual robberies occurred in the City of Plymouth over the weekend.

Thieves broke into a truck trailer parked behind Farmer Jack's Super Market early Saturday morning and stole a quantity of cereal, milk and potato chips.

The manager of the market said they pried open the left rear door of the trailer and stole two boxes of Kellogg's Sugar Frosted Flakes, 12 boxes of Grape-Nuts Flakes, one bag of potato chips, two boxes of Sugar Pops and one carton of chocolate milk.

City police said some of the cereal was recovered near the store that afternoon.

In the other unusual theft Mike Wilken, of 1435 Penniman, reported to police that someone had stolen 19 pigeons from a pigeon coop behind his house Saturday night. The coop was not locked, he said.

Wilken said that one bird has flown back on its own but still missing are five blacks, 12 whites and one silver.

Two Plymouth Students Gain Honor Roll

Two Plymouth students have been named to the dean's honor roll at the Lawrence Institute of Technology for academic excellence during the past term. Both have maintained better than a 3.5 scholastic average out of a possible 4.0.

They are:
Walter G. Roberts, 1641 Gloucester. He is a sophomore in electrical engineering and graduated from Plymouth High School.

Helmut H. Veir, 40583 Micol. Veir is a sophomore in the school of Mechanical Technology and graduated from the Trade-Vocational and Masters School in Germany.

Contract Is Awarded To Raze City 'Eyesores'

The Plymouth City Commission awarded the contract for the demolition of the Davis property on Penniman Avenue and the Wiedman site on South Main Street Monday night—even though the bonds to provide the money have not been sold.

On the recommendation of City Manager Richard Blodgett the gamble was taken—but only after a battle of about an hour on procedure.

Commissioners Arch Vallier and Peter Schweitzer stuck fast to the theory that one shouldn't spend money before he has it. Schweitzer went so far as to move for the tabling of the entire project until the bonds are sold. In this he was supported by Commissioner Vallier. In the roll call, they were beaten 3 to 2, with Commissioners James Houk and Robert Smith absent.

Blodgett pleaded that time was of the essence and that with the improvement in the bond market the bids could be accepted and the contract awarded without too much of a gamble.

He pointed out that every day counted and that the two proposed parking lots could be constructed this fall—if no further time was lost.

Most of the argument developed around an alternate bid that included the P&A Theater. And when Commissioner James McKeon sought the advice of City Attorney Charles Lowe and was told that the contract could be awarded with the theater portion to be clarified by letter, he asked for action.

Commissioner Silvis supported the move and the motion passed 3 to 2, with Vallier and Schweitzer casting the negative votes. With the approval of the motion the Mednis Wrecking Co., the low bidder, was awarded the contract for $22,743.

There were seven other bidders.

According to the schedule the bonds in the amount of $170,000 will be sold on Monday, August 19 and the contract approved by the City Commission later that evening.

On two previous occasions the bonds failed to attract a single bidder. It was explained that the bond buyers were laying off until the state law increased from five to six per cent.

With the new law in effect Blodgett and the Commission feel that there will be a firm purchase.

If that happens the old "eyesore" on Penniman Avenue that has plagued the city for years will be crushed into the limbo of forgotten things.

Physical Exam Urged Now For Students

Students who need a physical examination prior to the September term should be examined as soon as possible and forms are available any time, William Harding, assistant superintendent of secondary education, announced.

Harding said this was a joint plea from the Plymouth Community School District and is supported by medical doctors of the area.

Physicals are needed by students planning to play football and for regular attendance and they can be picked up at Middle School East and the high school.

The superintendent added, "Do it now. Don't wait until school starts."

Gas Line Leak Causes Fire

A ruptured gas line leading to the pilot light caused a slight fire Sunday night at the home of Ed Congor, 302 Roe Street.

The blaze was quickly extinguished by the city fire department and little damage was done.

Vets Get New Tax Exemptions

Comprehensive changes in Michigan's veterans homestead tax exemption program became a reality July 19, when Governor George Romney signed a bill into law.

Prior to the new law, eligible veterans, widows and servicemen were entitled to an exemption of $2,000 on all taxable property not in excess of $10,000 state equalized.

With the enactment of the new law, veterans' exemption will now be based upon an escalated scale in ratio to percentage of disability granted by the Veterans Administration. In addition, the new law provides a minimum exemption of $2,500 on all taxable property not in excess of $10,000 state equalized.

THE PROVISIONS of the new law now include certain Vietnam veterans and widows of Vietnam servicemen.

These provisions of the law will not take effect until the beginning of the tax year December 31, 1968.

The law provided an increase in basic exemption to $2,500 for all persons who were granted an exemption between the period December 31, 1967 and December 31, 1968.

State Land Up For Sale

More than 750 small pieces of tax-reverted state lands in the Upper Peninsula carrying a combined price tag of $72,430 will be offered for sale by the Conservation Department in mid-August at Sault Ste. Marie, Houghton, Bessemer, and Iron Mountain.

The parcels, most of them platted lots, involve state holdings which have been carefully inventoried and found not suitable for conservation projects and activities.

The first to go on the auction block next month are $11,635 worth of lands in Mackinac, Schoolcraft, and Chippewa counties which will come up for bidding August 13 at the court house in Sault Ste. Marie.

TOM WHITE (left), 10, of 38122 Ross, Livonia and Mark Regits, 10, of 35642 Orangelawn, Livonia, display catches they hope will win ribbons.

NOT A BIG ONE but it was plenty big for 11-year-old Linda Wiskowski, 39291 Plymouth Road, Livonia.

FISHING WAS GREAT and the kids loved it as they participated in the annual Derby sponsored by the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation on Newburgh Lake. This shows some of the contestants casting off the edge of the pier.

EYES ONLY FOR FISH. Duran Griso, 7, of 15603 Edington, Livonia, couldn't be bothered with anything but fishing. He had his line and reel ready for anything that took the bait.

MOST ANY KIND of pole was used by the anxious youngsters as they tried to land one of the big ones that would bring a ribbon in the competition. Many went home empty handed but others had something to show their parents.

Ninety-degree weather and short skirts can create a painful problem for women drivers.

Today's fashions just weren't designed for the gal who has to get into a car that has been parked all day in the sun.

My skirts of very moderate length do practically nothing to protect me from the baking car upholstery. How the wearers of true mini-skirts manage to sit down on that sizzling seat is something I'll never know.

The hot seat hits me where I'm most vulnerable, but the steering wheel in that torture-chamber car also presents a major problem.

I usually just grasp the wheel with my fingertips and hope things will cool down soon.

A friend who is the well-organized type has a better solution. She always has with her a pair of white gloves—just in case—so when the steering wheel gets too hot to handle she puts on her gloves and drives off in comfort.

But the saddest tale I've heard about cars and hot weather came from the teen who said his father insisted that the family keep the car windows rolled up while driving around town. Wanted folks to think his car was air-conditioned.

Women's Clubs Launch Beautification Program

The General Federation of Women's Clubs has adopted a new national awards program to encourage businesses to improve their appearance through use of landscaping and other beautification techniques.

Mrs. Walter Varney Magee, president of the GFWC, said that the "Business for Beauty" program, as it is officially named, will be sponsored by Cities Service Oil Company (CITGO).

"The GFWC and CITGO both feel," Mrs. Magee said, "that there must be a new concern for the environment of our communities in the years of growth which lie ahead."

"Beauty must be the goal in every area of our cities and not just in parks or selected suburban areas. Our organization's nearly one-million dues-paying members in the U.S., belonging to 15,000 clubs, will be explaining to businessmen that just a little improvement by their firms can materially improve the appearance of our nation."

TO HELP STIMULATE action there will be local, state and national awards, climaxed by a banquet in the nation's capital at which cash grants of $6,000 will be given.

GFWC clubs which participate in the program will be supplying interested firms with a Business for Beauty landscaping manual to help guide their efforts. This manual, now being developed by CITGO, was prompted by earlier success of a company guide to landscaping for its service stations.

The company manual was designed strictly for internal use, according to Stanley D. Breitweiser, executive vice president of Cities Service Oil Company, a subsidiary of Cities Service Company, New York. Word of the book spread across the country, however, and thousands of copies were requested by planning boards, city commissions, businesses and other groups.

"THIS CONVINCED us," Breitweiser said, "that a major contribution to the national beautification effort could be made with a general version of the manual, not confined to service station situations. With the GFWC using this manual in a major program, the potential for progress is great."

"Member clubs of the GFWC are noted for their ability to motivate action in thousands of communities. Through their individual involvement, they'll be doing this in the Business for Beauty campaign."

AT THE LOCAL LEVEL, GFWC clubs will contact proprietors of many types of businesses—running the gamut from restaurants and retail shops to motels and manufacturing plants. They will be encouraged to beautify their firms through simple landscaping procedures and other steps.

Participating firms will receive certificates of commendation, and one business will be singled out by each club for special recognition and entry in state competition.

State winners will receive additional recognition and go into regional judging. A prestige group of judges will then select six national winners.

Teen Gourmets Promote Cheese-Tasting Parties

Wine tasting is an indulgence of gourmets the world over. Teen-age gourmets in the U.S. are promoting cheese tasting parties. As a matter of fact, they taste and then recommend all kinds of dairy products.

These apprentice gourmets are 4-H members engaged in the national 4-H Dairy Foods program which emphasizes the high nutritional value of dairy products. The program is supported by the Carnation Company.

ARRANGING cheese tasting parties is only one of the ways 4-H is acquainting girls and boys with the many varieties of cheese and its use in dairy dishes.

Another aim of the 4-H Dairy Foods program is to help youngsters form good eating habits, and influence other members of the family to do likewise. About a half million 4-H'ers are participating in this program, according to the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises 4-H.

"These versatile youths are bound to improve their own diets and acquire a taste for dairy products as well as milk and ice cream," one 4-H leader observed.

SINCE MORE than 90 per cent of the nation's fluid milk supply is fortified with Vitamin D, the importance of including dairy foods with each meal becomes apparent. Milk also contains other vital nutrients, such as Vitamin B2, protein, calcium and phosphorus.

TENDER, LOVING CARE RECRUITING—Mrs. Georgia Mossman, coordinating a program to bring foster grandparents to the Plymouth State Home and Training School, gets a promise of help from Cliff Buckley, president of the Friendship Unit of the Livonia Senior Citizens.

At State Home New Program Needs Foster Grandparents

There are children of every age, race, color, physical and mental condition waiting to be adopted. In this second in a series of articles by Nancy Robinson, Ann Arbor writer, we learn the truth about foster homes.

"Everyone should try to have a grandma or grandpa, because they are the only grownups who have got time."

These are the words of a mildly retarded young girl whose life is much fuller now because of a new program that is just as beneficial for her "grandparent" as it is for her and for the institution where she stays.

They may soon be echoed by some of the young residents of the Plymouth State Home and Training School, where a similar program is just getting underway.

FEDERALLY FUNDED and locally administered, it involves low-income men and women over 60 years of age who will spend 20 hours a week just being grandma or grandpa to two mentally retarded youngsters at the school.

Mrs. Georgia Mossman, who is coordinating the program and currently looking for senior citizens to participate, said the elderly will be employed just to be with the children on a one-to-one basis, to give them a feeling of being loved and enjoyed.

"AND THE ENJOYMENT works both ways," Mrs. Mossman said. "I've talked to older people who have participated in a program like this in the Sarah Fisher Home in Farmington. They say they feel better than they have for years, just because they are really needed and wanted."

Deserved Honor Given Farmington's Sally Witt

By ELIZABETH WISSMAN

The news that a national honor has come to Farmington's Mrs. Robert (Sally) Witt is no surprise to anybody.

In learning that Sally has received a citation in the 1968 Lane Bryant Volunteer Awards national competition, the only problem was to decide for which of her community efforts she was named a winner.

KNOWN FOR four years as the Farmington "Goodfellow Doll Lady," this woman's work in behalf of the less fortunate has long set her above the crowd.

But a project she started last year is what has earned her this national attention.

Sally started her project, "Operation Textbook," as an effort for the local Jaycee Auxiliary.

It entailed the collection of school textbooks for distribution to poverty-area schools, hospitals, prisons and institutions.

IT ALL BEGAN with two science textbooks Sally's sons no longer used.

And it snowballed until Sally ended up sorting 10,000 books and cataloging 5,000 of them. At one point, this hard-working lady had 185 cartons of books from Livonia alone.

The Michigan Jaycees made it a state-wide program and Sally is hoping with this national attention, the project will go country-wide.

She says, "Possibly this effort will begin to receive some publicity now, and these children who need them will begin to receive some books."

MRS. WITT seems to deal in large numbers. In the four years she handled Goodfellow doll distribution, 600 dolls passed through her front door.

Who will handle the dolls this year remains to be seen because the Witts are moving to an 80-acre farm in Howell. The couple feels that their four sons need room to roam.

But before she leaves town this month, Sally says, "I've got to get those dolls ordered. You can't have Christmas without dolls for little girls."

Friendly Visitors Needed

Are you the kind of person who likes to drop in on friends or neighbors and chat for a while? If so, you may be just the one we're looking for!

Somewhere in Livonia, Garden City or nearby Northwest Wayne County communities there is a lonely individual who would give anything to find a friend who would keep in touch and help fill some of the empty hours.

This may be a homebound invalid, a widow or widower living alone or an elderly person feeling lost in a changing neighborhood.

Each needs someone to take a personal interest, to come calling every week or so, to really care about what they are doing and how they are getting along.

This is what the "Friendly Visitors" do. Men and women, at home, employed or retired, make up this corps of volunteer visitors and are at present paying calls on more than 300 lonely adults throughout metropolitan Detroit.

But there are still a number of people, some of them in your own community, who are kept waiting until more visitors can be recruited and trained.

If this type of warm, personalized volunteer service appeals to you, please call the Central Volunteer Bureau right away. Dial 833-0622, and ask for the Volunteer Bureau and let them tell you more about this rewarding service.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a white lace and net bouffant gown with hoop skirt and long lace sleeves. A white flower held her fingertip veil, and her flowers were white roses and stephanotis with an orchid in the center.

Cathleen Theisen, of Garden City, wore a full-length apricot gown and carried carnations tipped in an apricot shade. Similar gowns and flowers, in a paler peach shade, were chosen by the bridesmaids.

Flower girls Stephanie and Mary Ann Ridder wore short full dresses of organdy over peach with wide peach sashes and carried baskets of rose petals.

THEODORE RIDDER, of New Boston, was best man. The usher was Don Chamberlin, of Lincoln Park, and groomsmen included Clifford Theisen, of Garden City; Stephen Ridder, of New Boston and Danny Peterhans, of Garden City.

Women On The Go Enrich Kids Experience, Says Long-Time Teacher

Forty-three years in the classrooms of diverse elementary schools have to bring close acquaintance with a wide cross-section of people.

To a thoughtful woman like Livonia's Charlotte Petrosky, they have brought a number of interesting observations and firm convictions.

For instance: That children of Negro neighborhoods in the Detroit inner-city truly want to learn, and their families want them to.

That this matter of elementary school education is getting so complicated that there is little chance for children and teachers to "just talk"—and that's too bad.

And that many parents today, especially in the suburbs, short-change their children by letting them watch hours of television and missing such great educational experiences as trips downtown, tours of museums, visits to farms.

CHARLOTTE PETROSKY retired in June after a long and varied stay in the Detroit school system.

A native of Detroit, she started teaching after two years at Wayne Normal School, and saw many changes in the city's way of educating its young.

Her experience was mainly in three schools, beginning with the Russell School in the inner-city area. Even when Miss Petrosky began there, in 1931, its neighborhood was almost all Negro.

"I can say honestly that my nine years there were the most interesting, most pleasant, most profitable of my teaching time," she said.

"The children wanted to learn, and their parents stood behind them. These families managed to stay clean in homes so old and run down they would have discouraged me. And if these people are getting militant now, it seems to me they have a perfect right."

MISS PETROSKY recalls vividly her first day in the Russell School. The fourth art teacher the school had hired in a matter of months, she found things pretty wild in the art room when she entered.

"The kids were really having a ball," she said, "running around, climbing all over the desks."

"The whole scene suddenly seemed terribly funny to me, and I started to laugh. That surprised them and they quieted a bit. I've forgotten what I said then, but it must have been the right thing, because they sat down."

From then on, Miss Petrosky said, she had the children's attention and found them a well-behaved group.

THE TWO SCHOOLS where she taught later, in more affluent neighborhoods, presented a somewhat different picture, Miss Petrosky felt.

"There was often the problem of people who have too much and take too much for granted," she said.

As the years progressed, she said, it seemed that more and more facts were crammed into the textbooks and needed covering during the school year.

"It's too technical now," Miss Petrosky added. "We shouldn't try to push so much down the children's throats. They are tense, and the teachers are tense too, with so much to be covered."

MISS PETROSKY, moving from art teacher to homeroom teacher to auditorium teacher, said she found her room was the place where there could be time for talk and discussion, and she took advantage of it.

"I'd get them to express themselves on all sorts of topics," she said. "It was interesting—we had debates and I couldn't get anyone to speak against the war, but they all were against smoking and Communism. At election times, we had discussions of the candidates, and a lot of the children knew all about them. I think that's a good sign."

MISS PETROSKY thinks the

"Head Start" program for preschoolers is one of the best things that has happened to the country, but she's not sure it should be confined to economically deprived neighborhoods.

"I've seen lots of children in well-to-do areas who need it just as much," she said. "So many parents just don't seem to care," she added.

"They can't be bothered to take children on outings and trips that would enrich their experience."

"They seem to want the schools to do it all, and the schools don't have time."

In the years she has lived in Livonia, Charlotte Petrosky has made a beauty spot of her Rosedale Gardens yard, and she's looking forward to spending as much time as she wants with her plants.

She also loves antique foraging, and thinks it will be delightful to have more time for such hunts, and for art and music and maybe a bit of furniture refinishing.

"I have to keep pinching myself," she said, "to make myself believe that this summer I don't have to finish all my projects by Labor Day. It's nice to remember."

National BPW Meet Draws 7 Local Members

Seven members of local Business and Professional Women's Clubs attended the recent 34th National Convention held in Minneapolis, Minn.

There were 4,000 delegates and members attending the convention, where new officers were elected, a legislative platform adopted and Federation business sessions were held.

In floor action the delegates voted to request the Senate Judiciary Committee to report favorable a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment guaranteeing equal rights for men and women.

Mrs. Hope Roberts, of Reno, Nev., was installed as 1968-69 national president during the closing annual banquet.

Mrs. Bachelder, who earned her B.A. Degree in Sociology at Ohio State University and her M.A. Degree in Christian Education at McCormick Seminary in Chicago, formerly served as a director of Christian education at the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth and later as a volunteer lay leader there.

"I am indeed looking forward to the challenges of my new position," commented Mrs. Bachelder. "With the program at Northville State Hospital undergoing change, there undoubtedly will be many modifications in the services and contributions of our volunteers."

Mrs. Bachelder's husband, Robert, is a Senior Project Engineer at General Motors Technical Center in Warren. The couple has three children.

Their Silver Anniversary Is 'Golden'

When Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Shaw were taken out to dinner recently by their two sons, Gary and Bill, to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary they were pleased.

When they returned to their home on Fairfield in Livonia, to find 30 friends and relatives waiting in a beautifully decorated house with an anniversary cake, they were surprised.

However, no words can describe the couple's emotions when their sons presented them with an itinerary for a Jamaican holiday. They were speechless.

The Shaws plan to fly to Jamaica in the early weeks of 1969. "We're going to wait until it's cold and snowy here," said Mrs. Shaw, "and then we'll really enjoy ourselves--thanks to two wonderful boys."

CWC Chances Meeting Place

The Northwest and Suburban Detroit Christian Women's Club will hold its Aug. 13 meeting at 12:30 p.m. in Devon Gables instead of at a lakeside home as announced earlier.

Problems with roads caused the change.

The program includes a fall fashion show, music by contralto Alona Moon, voice instructor at Detroit Bible College, and a talk by Mary Lou Brown, founder of the Glorious Freedom Mission in Detroit. Mrs. E.T. Nelson, 16774 Lola Drive, Redford Township, is accepting reservations.

Three Detroit suburbs have populations of more than 100,000. They are: Warren at 174,000; Dearborn, 115,000; and Livonia, 101,000. Warren's population has doubled since 1960 and Livonia has had a 51 per cent gain.

The couple plans to make their home in Jacksonville, upon returning from a Miami Beach honeymoon.

Foster Grandparents

Continued from Page 1 with incomes less than $1,600 per single person or $2,000 per couple will be employed under the recently approved federal grant.

"They won't do any of the things the staff does for the children," Mrs. Mossman said. "They may feed or bathe them if they wish, but most of their time will be spent reading and playing and taking walks and just talking."

"It will also be all right if they want to take the children on short trips in the area."

THE FOSTER GRANDPARENTS each will spend two hours with two different children.

Their pay will be $1.60 an hour, plus $1 a day for transportation and 75 cents a day for meals. The pay has been worked out so it is exactly the amount a person on Social Security is permitted to earn without sacrificing benefits, Mrs. Mossman said.

Elderly persons interested in the program may apply to Mrs. Mossman at the Plymouth State Home.

After an initial interview, applicants will take medical examinations.

"They don't have to be in perfect health," Mrs. Mossman said. "They just should be able to work four hours a day, five days a week. Those who don't feel up to coping with toddlers can be assigned babies or older children."

SHE ADDED that attempts are being made to work out transportation, and car pools probably can be arranged.

A brochure on the program issued by the home states that "older people benefit by improving their standard of living through meaningful employment and have an outlet for their generous supply of love and understanding."

Mazey-Wyckoff Vows Taken In Southfield

Gail Elaine Mazey married William Joseph Wyckoff in the Raleigh House, Southfield, Saturday evening, Aug. 3.

Judge Donald Adams, of Drayton Plains, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Michael Mazey, of Royal Oak, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Donald Mikros, of Livonia.

THE BRIDE WORE a pearl-white pique gown, accented by organza embroidered daisies at the neckline, sleeves and scattered over the A-line skirt.

Her three-tiered Elizabethan illusion veil was secured by a wide band of matching organza daisies. She carried a cascade of white roses, daisies and camellia greens.

Elaine Maesso served as maid of honor and Jill Marshall and Judy McLean were her bridesmaids.

They wore floor-length gowns of lime cotton ottoman, fashioned with empire waists and short, Venice lace-trimmed sleeves, and carried cascades of yellow daisies, Woburn Abbey roses and camellia greens.

DALE DICKEY served as best man and Demerick Fradl served as head groomsman. Ushers were Lloyd Wyckoff, brother of the bridegroom, James Cox, Richard Fairchild and Dean Her.

Mrs. Mazey wore a street-length coral wool sheath with jeweled neckline and sleeves. Mrs. Mikros wore a princess-styled turquoise ensemble of lace organza.

A dinner and dance followed the service. The couple will make their home in Westland upon their return from a Bermuda wedding trip.

'Brigadoon' Opens Aug. 14 In Institute

An older generation read "Germelshausen" in high school German classes and remember the poignant story of the painter who stumbled upon a village that only came to life once a century.

Though they deny it, Alan Jay Lerner and Frederick Loewe concocted "Brigadoon" from the same basic legend, moving the scene to the Scottish Highlands to allow for delightful bagpipe swirls and intricate sword dances.

In the current version, opening at the Detroit Summer Theatre for a five-day run on Wednesday, Aug. 14, a pair of strayed American tourists stumble upon the village, "Brigadoon," just as it rises from the swamps for Fair Day and a village wedding.

The bridegroom-to-be tries to leave, an act that will cause the village to disappear forever (as if 100 years isn't long enough). Naturally the villagers don't think much of this idea and a great chase through the forest develops amid the howling hounds and bagpipes.

Meanwhile, the wandering Americans join in the local festivities. One of them concocts a quick romance with a local girl and decides he wants to stay in Brigadoon. The other American is energetically pursued by an aggressive local lassie--and he wants to escape the enchanted village.

Through it all Lerner and Loewe weave some charming songs: "Come to Me, Bend to Me," "It's Almost Like Bein' in Love," "The Heather on the Hill," "I'll Come Home to Bonnie Jean" and several others.

The 1,200-seat Detroit Summer Theatre is located on the John R. side of the Detroit Institute of Arts. Performances of "Brigadoon" are Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m., Sunday at 7:30 p.m., with matinees Friday and Saturday at 2 p.m.

Tickets are at Grinnell's, J.L. Hudson Ticket Services, Sears and The Michigan Bank, as well as the Detroit Institute of Arts Ticket Office.

Feature-length films and cartoons for children of elementary-school age are being shown every Saturday by the Wayne State University Cinema Guild at 2 and 4 p.m. in the Lower DeRoy Auditorium on Wayne's campus. Admission is free.

The summer film series will continue through Aug. 31, according to Al Wilson, a junior English major and coordinator of the series.

This Saturday, Aug. 10, the Cinema Guild will feature the children's classic of the late 1950's, "The Curse of Frankenstein."

Later showings will include "The Horror of Dracula" (Aug. 17), "Davey Crockett and the River Pirates" (Aug. 24) and "The Three Worlds of Gulliver" (Aug. 31).

Model 'A's' To Visit Village

More than one per cent of all of the remaining Model "A" Fords in the nation will be parked in Greenfield Village on Sunday, Aug. 11, during the Model "A" Restorers Club national rally. Liberal estimates place the number of extant Model "A"s at about 300,000 out of the 5,000,000 that were built. More than 300 of those are expected to take part in the three-day rally. Motorists driving in South-eastern Michigan will begin seeing the "A"s in abundance beginning Thursday, since the rally officially starts Aug. 9.

FRESH FROM a tour of Northern Michigan, the Jewish Community Center Dancers will perform Tuesday (Aug. 13) at the Dearborn Recreation Department's fifth annual Fine Arts Festival which runs Aug. 7-18 at the festival tent next to the Youth Center.

Plan 12 Day Fine Art Show

The fifth annual Dearborn Recreation Department Fine Arts Festival opens today Aug. 7, for a 12-day program of music, drama, poetry, art and dance in the new festival tent located next to the Dearborn Youth Center at Michigan and Greenfield.

Last year's festival drew over 6,000 people. This year's variety of events has been extended even further to include both local groups and guest artists. In the field of drama and musical comedy, performances of "Carnival" and "H.M.S. Pinafore" will be offered for family enjoyment and the dramatic presentation of "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" for adults. Donald Hall, English professor at U-M, will demonstrate the power of the spoken word in a one-man show tomorrow evening. The festivities will kick-off with a band concert tonight.

DANCE will be featured with presentations by the Dearborn Dance Ensemble and guest artists, the Jewish Community Center Festival Dancers. The Festival Dancers recently returned from a tour of Northern Michigan sponsored by the Michigan State Council for the Arts.

The newest feature of this year's festival is the Invitational Art Show scheduled to be shown in the Youth Center Dome room the last four days of the festival, Aug. 15-17.

William Whitney, Olivet College art professor, will display a series of his works as well as critique the other works shown and lecture on art trends. Many festival activities carry no admission charge. Where an admission charge is made it will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

THE FOLLOWING activities will begin at 7:30 p.m. for night performances and 2:30 p.m. for afternoon shows:

- Aug. 7 - Beginning Band Concert
- Aug. 8 - Donald Hall, speaker
- Aug. 9-11 - "Carnival," musical directed by Phillip Mark
- Aug. 12 - Lyrics & Lovers - Open Workshop production
- Aug. 13 - Festival Dancers from Jewish Community Center in Detroit
- Aug. 14 - Stanley Quartet from U-M
- Aug. 15 - "H.M.S. Pinafore," production by the Elementary Production Class
- Aug. 16 - "Song of a Summer Night," featuring chorale, dance and string orchestra numbers
- Aug. 17-18 - "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?," directed by Harry Albertson.

'CURTAIN GOING UP'

Music lovers in Observer-land who frequent the summer concerts at Meadow Brook or Schoolcraft College should include a trip to Stratford, Ontario for at least one of their top-flight musical events.

Rossini's opera, "Cinderella," is such an event. At the present time, "Cinderella" is alternating nightly with Chekhov's "Seagull." The English adaptation of the opera by Arthur Jacobs is being used for the Stratford presentation.

Over the years, my introduction to opera has been cautious and most circumspect. The language barrier usually was my main excuse. The University of Michigan and Stratford changed all that. Suddenly, I could understand what all the shouting was about.

VERDI, Mozart, Rossini, and Puccini gradually lost their esoteric identity. Before you could hum a bar or two of Bizet's "Carmen," Old Wally dug the opera scene. A whole new world of music blossomed forth and a better understanding of true musical artistry had arrived. The artificiality of the recitative when the singers do the dialogue portions of the opera still seem stilted and give my un-trained ears slight blockage. In time, I suppose one gets used to this unrealistic part of the art form.

Regardless of what you might feel about opera, you can't deny the artistry and talent of the Stratford company. They are flawless, perfection itself. And the orchestra under the skillful direction of Larry Smith makes the Rossini score shine, shimmer, and scintillate.

"Cinderella" is not done too often since the lead role requires a mezzo-soprano who can hit those high notes in the many difficult areas in this opera. Patricia Kern of the Sadler Wells Opera Company is a mezzo-soprano who can sing the Rossini music so brilliantly. Her North American debut added new honors to an already great career.

When Miss Kern sails into an aria and lets those vocal cords trill so sweetly, you would have to be a wooden post not to have a tingle run up and down your spine. Man, listening to such golden tones done so delightfully is a fascinating experience.

Concerts Resume

After a week of ballet performances the Meadow Brook Festival resumes its concert series featuring the Detroit Symphony Orchestra under Sixten Ehrling's direction with programs scheduled in Oakland University's Baldwin Pavilion Thursday, Friday, Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

French pianist Philippe Entremont returns for the Thursday-Friday concerts to play Brahms' Concerto No. 1 in D minor on a program which includes Mendelssohn's Overture "Ruy Blas" and Reger's Variations and Fugue on a Mozart Theme.

Anna Moffo will return Saturday at 8:30 p.m. and next Sunday at 7:30 p.m. to sing the Mad Scene from Donizetti's "Lucia di Lammermoor," and arias from Verdi's "I Vespri Siciliani" and "Rigoletto."

The program will include Smetana's Overture to "The Bartered Bride," the overture to Verdi's "I Vespri Siciliani," and Weinberger's Polka and Fugue from "Schwanda."

Of major importance will be the premiere performance of Lester Trimble's Duo Concertante for Orchestra and Two Violins, subtitled "To a Great American," which was commissioned this year by the Meadow Brook Festival. Misha Mischakoff and Gordon Staples will play the two violin solos.

Trimble, who has just completed a year as artist in residence for the New York Philharmonic, is one of America's most sought after composers. He will be at Meadow Brook for the premiere of his work.

Buskin Company Opens

A special dramatic presentation -- "The Pleasure Of Our Company" will open Aug. 9 in Mercy College's McAuley Auditorium to benefit the Interfaith Action Council of Detroit.

Producing group is the Buskin Company.

Included in the anthology is: "Spoon River Anthology" by Edgar Lee Masters; "The Gnaediges Fraulein" by Tennessee Williams; "Hello Out There" by William Saroyan; "The Diary of Adam and Eve" by Mark Twain with music added; and "The Sorcerer's Apprentices" by Elder Olson.

Additional performances are scheduled for Aug. 10 and 11. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

THE BUSKIN Company produced "An Evening With The Company" in 1967 for the benefit of the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital charity ALSAC sponsored by Danny Thomas.

In 1968 the Buskin production proceeds went into a fund for the widows of Detroit firemen.

Tickets to the show may be purchased at Hudson's and at the box office. For further information and ticket reservations call 644-8158 or 881-6267.

RECIPE

RUM COLLINS

The first collins was concocted with rum, during the American Revolution. Still unbeatable. 1 oz. lemon juice and 1 tsp. sugar (or use a prepared collins mix). Add 2 oz. white or silver Puerto Rican rum, shake with ice, strain into a tall glass full of ice cubes, and top with club soda.

PUERTO RICAN RUM is light and dry and outsells all others 3 to 1

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

SKELETONIZING LEAVES: If you want to try something different, why not skeletonize leaves of trees such as magnolia, beech, etc?

Gather them, soak and boil in a soda solution for 30 minutes, using a teaspoon of baking soda to a quart of water. Let the leaves cool in the solution and then spread them out on a piece of newspaper. Scrape off the fleshy part of the leaf on both sides.

Then mix two tablespoons of bleaching solution and allow the leaves to stay in the bleach for one hour. This makes them white. Place between sheets of absorbent paper to dry. To tint: spray with aerosol spray paints and if you wish, dip in cake coloring, school inks or tinting materials.

Incidentally, did you know you can preserve the colors of most of your favorite garden flowers by treating them with ordinary all-purpose flour?

Gladious blooms, roses, lilies, callas and others can be preserved by covering the blossoms with the flour two to four weeks, depending upon the size of the blossoms. After that period the blossoms are carefully removed and the flour is dusted off them.

FREE: Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of our bulletin, How To Make Dried Arrangements. Our guide is packed full of good tips on gathering, preparing and treating flowers, weeds and fruits so you can use them in winter bouquets.

TOMATO TROUBLES: Many gardeners tell us that their tomatoes are starting to turn brown at the base of each fruit. This is a common occurrence this time of year. Trouble is known as blossom end rot, a heart-breaking trouble which pops up in dry weather.

A mulch and lots of water will prevent this. End-rot is worse in tomatoes since the leaves cannot shade the roots. That's why mulched tomatoes have less end-rot than staked ones.

Leaf curl has been common this year, worse on pruned and staked tomatoes. It's worse on hot days and following heavy rains. It's not serious, unless plants are infected with mosaic.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Please tell me why we cannot grow good beets or carrots."

Answer: All tops and no bottoms may be due to close planting, or lack of thinning. Thin out excess plants so nutrients and moisture can go to the bottom.

Clay Pots Improve Plant Appearance

As you admire spring blooms, you'll note that most prize-winning plants in both professional and expert amateur grower classes are in red clay pots. Both growers and house plant collectors find that plants grow better, look better and stay healthier with less care in porous clay pots, which leach out harmful excess moisture and salts.

TALUS (Detroit Regional Transportation and Land Use Study) has announced publication of a 300-page inventory of air, rail, trucking, waterway and pipeline facilities in the seven counties of Southeastern Michigan.

The inventory is an essential part of the program to develop a plan for the orderly development of the region through 1990, Irving J. Rubin, TALUS director, said.

TALUS, a special project of the Planning Division of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG) is a four-year, $4.8 million project financed by two Federal agencies, the Michigan Department of State Highways, the City of Detroit, and the Road Commissions and Boards of Supervisors of Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw, and Wayne Counties.

WAYNE COUNTY Road Commission staff members headed by Robert A. Larson, planning and negotiating engineer, completed the inventory under terms of a special contract with TALUS. The study is one of the first comprehensive region-wide inventories of such facilities in the nation.

The study shows, Rubin said, how technological developments in transportation have affected and helped maintain economic growth in Southeastern Michigan.

"Each transportation mode has a basic level of goods traffic," Rubin said, "whose volume and relationship to other modes is independent of the level of the economy. However, all modes are dependent on the level of new automobile production as a determinant of their total volume."

One of TALUS' conclusions is that even with a six-fold increase in passenger capacity, resulting from planned expansion of facilities and larger planes, Detroit Metropolitan Airport will become inadequate to serve all Regional commercial airport needs sometime in the 1980's.

"AT THE CURRENT rate of growth in airline passenger traffic, which has been averaging 15 per cent per year at Metro, an 800 per cent increase will occur in about 15 years", TALUS concludes.

"Thus, it is not too early to begin steps towards selection of a location for a second airline airport to serve the Detroit Metropolitan region. Because the existing Willow Run Airport uses essentially the same air space as Detroit Metropolitan, Willow Run is not suitable for consideration as a second airport."

Air cargo growth increased 230 per cent between 1955 and 1966 compared with a 124 per cent increase in air passenger growth, the survey shows.

Three factors were credited with the air cargo increase: Greater capacity of jet-powered planes, Increases in jet service and in night flights, A trend toward extensive air shipments of auto parts and accessories as an alternative to large regional warehouses.

Nearly 50 per cent of the air cargo to and from the region is comprised of auto parts and accessories, TALUS reports.

A RELATIVELY recent advance in rail transport technology has been a major factor in increasing the level of new car production in the TALUS region.

The report states: "Development of the three-level auto-rack car which permits shipments of up to 15 new automobiles in a single flat car came at a time when automobile manufacturers were contemplating the establishment of additional regional assembly plants to reduce the high cost of shipping new automobiles over long distances.

"Introduction of auto-rack car service permitted such drastic reduction in the per vehicle cost of delivering new cars to distant points that the trend towards regional assembly plants was abandoned in favor of increased concentration of automobile manufacturing in Southeastern Michigan."

Another element demonstrating the influence of innovation in transport capability is the "hi-cube" railroad boxcar.

Twice as long and half again as high as the standard boxcar, "hi-cube" units provide triple standard boxcar capacity and are being utilized for shipment to out-of-state final assembly plants of sheet metal stampings such as doors and fenders. "Uni-train" freight cars which convert into trailers for trucks are also an influence.

AMONG THE OTHER highlights of the report: Intrastate (within Michigan) trucking accounts for 45 per cent of all trucks weighed at stations in SEM. When truck movements to Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Indiana are added, 90 per cent of all truck movements are accounted for, emphasizing the role of heavy trucking as carrier of goods over distances of less than 250 miles.

Coal comprises 25 per cent of the total inbound waterway tonnage (about 94 million tons annually). Diversion of much of this tonnage to rail may occur in the next decade. However, this will not reduce pressures on the region's seven for-hire general cargo port facilities which do not handle coal and bulk commodities, and trends in water-borne movements will bear watching to determine if, and when, an additional general cargo terminal might be required.

The U.S. Air Force Base at Selfridge Field would make a good location for a second major commercial airport in the 1980's; necessary steps should be taken now to obtain the facility in the event it is abandoned by the USAF.

Pipelines shipping natural gas petroleum into the region are not a major problem in land use because these are underground. Nine firms are operating pipelines in the region. Among the data items: natural gas sales in SEM increased 190 per cent between 1955 and 1964.

Copies of the report entitled "Inventory of Airports, Harbors, Railroads, Pipelines and Truck Terminals" are available at $7.50 each from TALUS at 1248 Washington Boulevard, Detroit, 48226.

Thinking Of Home Sale? Now Is Time

If you're thinking of selling your house, you couldn't pick a better time than now, according to William Y. Mathers, president of the United Northwestern Realty Association.

Western Wayne-Oakland County Board of Realtors.

"Historically, August is the top-sales month in most areas of the country, because buyers are anxious to get settled before the start of the school year," he said.

MATHERS NOTED that the survey of existing-home sales conducted by the Department of Research of the National Association of Real Estate Boards found that sales volume was highest in August in both 1966 and 1967.

In addition, he said, the median sales price peaked near August in both years, then began to ease.

Mathers, moreover, recounted several recent actions which indicate a lessening in the shortage of mortgage money for single-family home purchases.

First, withdrawals from savings and loan associations—which traditionally invest most of their funds in home mortgages—were fewer than expected at the end of June, when interest is posted to accounts.

Second, recent average prices in the Federal National Mortgage Association's (FNMA) weekly auction for commitments to purchase FHA and VA mortgages have gone up.

HE EXPLAINED that these prices indicate mortgage originators are willing to take fewer discount points in return for FNMA cash purchase of government-backed home loans as the average price rises.

The number of points shown by FNMA's auction is a general guide to home sellers about prevailing money-market conditions, he said, and the "higher prices demonstrate the continuing tone of optimism in the mortgage market. The market is steadily improving."

The Realtor Board president reported also that a recent action by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board has added $600 million in mortgage funds to the current supply.

"Previously the savings and loan associations have been required to hold seven per cent of their deposits in cash. This was recently cut back to six and one half per cent, thus freeing the additional $600 million."

MATHERS ADDED that he thought there is a chance this liquidity requirement could be cut even further to six per cent in an effort to "permit the continuation of reasonable mortgage-financing activities" in the months ahead.

"In such an improving climate for sales, home owners who have any intention of selling in the near future may wish to consider taking the step now," Mathers said.

"In any event, they might wish to discuss their real estate situation with a Realtor, who is a professional in real estate and subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of the local, state and national real estate boards."

Mixed Furniture Looks Fine

Does furniture have to be all one period or style? The answer used to be "yes", but it isn't any more. Families are so much on the move to different parts of the country they find they need furnishings that blend with a variety of homes.

To meet their needs, notes The Better Floors Council, manufacturers of resilient floor coverings are now offering vinyl asbestos tile designed to blend with a mixed collection of decorating themes.

Some of the favorites among new embossed floor tile patterns are pebble, mosaic and travertine because they provide such a good background for furniture of different periods. Made principally in off-white and beige tones, these floor coverings are planned for use with contemporary or traditional furnishings, or a mixture of both.

In a predominantly traditional room, the many colors of an Oriental rug take on an added glow when seen against a light tile floor. A woman with a variety of traditional pieces can always feel confident that her furniture will look appropriate in this setting.

A WOMAN WITH furniture in the modern mood finds that with a neutral floor as background her bright, contemporary colors take on added brilliance. The three-dimensional texture of the floor tile complements the variegated weaves of modern fabrics, adding a new element of interest to the room.

Teen Room May Need New Look

If your teen-ager feels that her room still has that "little girl" look, use a little ingenuity and a lot of colorful fabric to give it a new grownup decor.

Cover one wall with a pretty cotton fabric. Bold plaids of stylized flower prints found in dress goods fabrics are ideal. Then turn the wall into storage space for hobbies, books and records. Install shelves all across the wall and cover them with the same fabric used for wall covering. Give them a final finish by spraying with a clear shellac.

One of the shelves can serve as a desk if installed at the right height. For desk chair, use an inexpensive wooden director's chair with seat cover and back made of colorful cotton duck.

Easy Hose-Brush

Those really hard-to-clean places around the home—garage floor and patio—can be washed efficiently with a plastic brush attachment which fits any garden hose. Apply soap or detergent to the dirty surface and scrub away, using a handy fingertip control to adjust the flow of water through the spray-scrubber.

Romney For Veep?

Senators Hope Romney Uses Michigan Votes Right Way

By TIM RICHARD

MIAMI BEACH -- "Every morning we have breakfast at 6:30 and have a little caucus," chuckled State Senator George Kuhn, "and we make a tally of the delegation."

observing the GOP

The delegation is Michigan's, with 48 votes at the Republican National Convention for favorite son, George Romney, and the "we" to which Kuhn refers are the Nixon supporters of Michigan.

Breakfast is in a posh white house overlooking Biscayne Bay. It's elegantly appointed, excellent for relaxing and, more important to the resident, impressive for entertaining Michigan delegates.

The tally, as of the weekend, showed 13 delegates for Nixon, 13 for "R" (which Kuhn explains stands for the Romney-Rockefeller ideology) and 22 "I" for "Independent."

Presiding is Michigan's Senate Majority Leader, Emil Lockwood. Part of the group are Observerland's two Republican Senators -- Kuhn, who represents Farmington, Livonia, and Plymouth and Mrs. Beebe, whose district includes Redford. Nineteen of the state's 20 GOP Senators are Nixon backers.

AS LOCKWOOD and Kuhn do it out, Nixon can win on the first ballot without a single vote from Michigan. But they hold out the possibility that Nixon might tap George Romney as his running mate -- provided the governor moves, openly or behind the scenes, before the voting starts.

"He can get on the train, or he can be left at the station watching," Kuhn repeats over and over.

Kuhn's list shows Mrs. Isabel Haynes, Farmington resident who heads the state GOP Women's Federation, as in the "R"; she's an alternate delegate.

Both 19th District delegates, Mrs. Delores Kory of Redford and John Cartwright of West Bloomfield, have an "I" in front of their names, but Mrs. Kory is known to have Rockefeller sympathies while Cartwright is believed leaning toward Nixon.

John Boyle, a 15th District alternate from Westland, ranks as an "I" leaning toward "R".

LOCKWOOD and Kuhn figure that whichever way Romney jumps, he'll take a hefty majority of the Michigan votes with him.

The Nixon forces were in good position last weekend. On Sunday, the Michigan Delegation had nothing formal to do, and the natural gathering spot was the Nixon Camp's House with its sparkling pool, ample supply of beverages, and delicious shrimp.

Among the visitors was the prominent Rockefeller backer -- Mrs. Helen Milliken, wife of Lt. Gov. William Milliken, who just happens to be head of the Rockefeller forces in Michigan.

"Bill's in Michigan; he had a lot to do," Helen Milliken said as she left the party, where she had received a cordial welcome and not one bit of joshing.

Back in the Carillon Motel the Michigan delegations' headquarters, there was a hospitality room with an "I love Rocky" sign on the door but nothing was going on there.

Michigan Delegates Stick With Romney

MIAMI BEACH--Gov. Romney lost four of his 48 Michigan favorite-son votes to California's Ronald Reagan today as the Republican National Convention waited to ballot on a presidential nominee.

Romney made the announcement following a steaming caucus with the 48-member Michigan delegation late yesterday. He identified the four break-aways as "Dick Durant" types, two of them from Durant's 14th district in Grosse Pointe and two from the 12th district in Warren.

The rest of the delegation, including the group from Observerland, stayed with Romney as a favorite son playing high stakes politics in the pressure cooker of the presidential nomination.

They will go as Romney goes--for Richard M. Nixon, New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, or whoever the Michigan governor chooses to support on the second or later ballots.

Romney will be nominated for the presidency by Michigan's junior Senator Robert P. Griffin. Seconding speeches will be made by Utah State Chairman Dick Richards and by Michigan State Chairman, Mrs. Elly Peterson, also a former national committee vice chairman.

Romney said the four break-away Reagan supporters lend "some degree of uncertainty" to the Michigan delegation and thus increase interest in it and also enhance his chances of winning a platform plank deploring the concentration of economic power in big industry and big labor.

Romney said he would take the fight for the plank to the convention floor.

Michigan delegates met yesterday with Nixon but there was no indication of further slippage from Romney. Nixon refused to take a position on Griffin's fight to block the confirmation of Abe Fortas as chief justice of the United States Supreme Court.

He told Nixon he would not comment on any move that, if successful, might be beneficial to him should he become president.

At a closed-door breakfast caucus, Monday, the Michigan

May Seek GOP Reins

MIAMI BEACH -- William McLaughlin of Northville expressed a strong interest Monday in running for Michigan Republican state chairman next year after Mrs. Elly Peterson moves up to national committeewoman.

McLaughlin, 36, is presently state vice-chairman and works for pay full time as executive director of the party.

The Michigan delegation to the national convention Monday morning unanimously elected Mrs. Peterson and Harold M. McClure, Jr. of Alma to the National Committee.

They will succeed Mrs. Ella Koeze and John B. Martin, both of Grand Rapids.

Martin said he and Mrs. Koeze will remain on their jobs through the 1968 campaign "for the sake of continuity" and retire after the first of 1969.

Mrs. Peterson then would hold the state chairmanship and national committee post simultaneously until the February 1969 state convention, at which time she will step down as chairman.

McDonald Tries To Roundup Rocky Votes

MIAMI BEACH -- Congressman Jack McDonald has broken a long silence and started campaigning for Nelson Rockefeller for president.

As of late Monday, McDonald, freshman lawmaker from the 19th District, was also trying to bring the Second District's Marvin Esch of Ann Arbor and the Third District's Garry Brown into the New Yorker's camp.

Esch, interviewed Monday afternoon at a Michigan reception, admitted his personal philosophy was closest to Rockefeller's, but declined to make his own endorsement at that time.

McDONALD cited two reasons for backing Rockefeller.

"My own proposals on urban and poverty problems have been close to his -- and I think he can win," McDonald said.

"I'm working on lining up a number of Congressmen," he added.

McDonald pointed to his votes on the combined tax hike and spending cut, and on a Federal fair housing legislation, as bringing him close to the Rockefeller philosophy.

Also a likely factor in McDonald's mind, although he didn't directly mention it, was the fact that a private poll taken from the Michigan GOP showed Rockefeller running nine per cent ahead of Richard Nixon in the state's "marginal Republican" congressional districts.

Those marginal districts, taken over by the GOP by less than five per cent in 1966, include McDonald's 19th, Esch's second, Brown's third, Donald Riegle's seventh, and Phillip Ruppe's 11th.

AT THE SESSION, McDonald buttonholed John Cartwright, of West Bloomfield Township, a 19th District delegate, and got Cartwright to admit:

"I'm a conservative--but I want a winner."

In political code, a person who wants "a winner" can be safely assumed to be leading towards Rockefeller, while one who says he wants "the best qualified Republican" is most likely to be a Nixon man underneath.

Vice-president Hubert Humphrey explains his views at a private news conference in Detroit Saturday morning.

Black Crow Is Skeptical

By HENRY J. TEUTSCH

Women wearing shorts and halters with little children slung on their hips, old people sitting in lawn chairs, unattached kids with muddy shoes and greasy faces, young black militants with black tams and jackets, pretty young black girls, neatly dressed sporting the natural, Afro-American look and other people of the Detroit ghetto--that appears well-kept on the outside -- gathered on Seldon St., between the high rise, 14-story Jeffries Projects apartments and waited for Vice President of the United States Hubert Horatio Humphrey.

As secret service and Detroit policemen filtered through the audience, they were given side glances and ignored. Nobody likes "the man."

It was a skeptical crowd and it was evident they had come to cash in on free music, but-tons, literature and toys.

Humphrey was more than two hours late. A black hippie standing near the back of the throng remarked, "Why did he bother comin'. We was gettin' along fine with the gigs."

THE DEMOCRATIC contender was greeted with a few boos; most of the applause came from his staff on the platform.

He didn't say much. Humphrey asked the crowd if they liked the Supremes. The unattached kids said yes. He asked if they liked James Brown. The kids responded.

"I'm happy to be in the neighborhood that produced two of the Supremes," he said. The hippie said, "He'll Don't be even know they come from the east side."

"I'm proud to let you folks know the Supremes have endorsed my candidacy." The kids clapped.

"When I was in Watts, I sang a duet with James Brown. Mr. Brown told me I couldn't sing very well. Mr. Brown kidded me and said I wouldn't have any soul unless I could do the Boo-Ga-Lo."

"Can you do the Boo-Ga-Lo?" he asked.

The kids said yes. "I've come to get a little of that soul," he said. A black militant commented, "You're in the right place, man."

HUMPHREY concluded, "I urge all you children to get your parents out to vote this November. All you adults don't forget to vote in the elections either. I hope you will vote for me. I want to work with the black people to make this country great."

The militants boomed, the unattached kids applauded and everyone else began to mill around. Humphrey had spoken for almost four minutes.

Some people felt cheated. An old man, with white hair and a limp in his walk, said, "I stood here for a long, hot time waiting for Mistuh Humphrey and all he does is ask me if I like the Supremes. That too much."

Dems Honor Gribbs

The Wayne II Democrats honored incumbent Wayne County Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs at a dinner in the Thunderbird Inn Saturday.

Toastmaster Philip H. Power, publisher of Observer Newspapers, Inc., emceed 60 party workers, officials and candidates at the dinner.

Congressional candidates Weston E. Vivian, former congressman (1964-1966), and Jerome Dupont and John McDermott were on hand, as well as Dr. Donald Friedrichs, candidate for the county board of supervisors.

Incumbent state representative James Tierney and challenger Donald Sellers were also present.

Gribbs spoke briefly to the gathering on the importance of the sheriff's position.

"I found when I took the job that I didn't really know about the enormity of the position. I didn't realize that I had a $5 million budget, or 500 employees under my command, or 1,200 'guests' in the jail, and all the problems attendant with that," Gribbs said.

Gribbs said he pledged to improve the Wayne County Sheriff's department.

"First we must reverse the disrespect for law officers. That must start with professional policemen. Here we've barely scratched the surface. I am demanding new standards, but it is not a simple job."

Gribbs also pointed to his efforts to clean up the county jail, and the establishment of an intelligence unit as examples of his own efforts.

"We also need to cut red tape. It takes my signature on 14 pieces of paper to move a prisoner. We are going to change that," Gribbs said.

Birth Control Encyclical Produces Varied Reactions

Many persons deplored Pope Paul VI's condemnation of artificial contraception as a method of birth control. Many accepted it. But few persons, clergy or laymen, applauded it voluntarily.

Here is a random symposium on the Pope's encyclical, "Of Human Life," issued last week.

HIGHLIGHTS of the papal encyclical itself:

Artificial contraception—"Direct interruption of the generative process already begun... to be absolutely excluded as a licit means of regulating birth."

Abortion—"Directly willed and procured abortion, even if for therapeutic reasons... to be absolutely excluded as licit means of regulating birth."

OBSERVER Church Page

Sterilization—"Excluded... is direct sterilization, whether perpetual or temporary, whether of the man or the woman."

Rhythm Method—"It is... licit to take into account the natural rhythms inherent in the generative functions for the use of marriage in the infertile periods only..."

Population—"The way in which public authorities can and must contribute to the solution of the demographic problem; namely, the way of a provident policy for the family, of wise education of peoples in respect of the moral law and the liberty of citizens."

Role of priests—"To expound the church's teaching on marriage without ambiguity."

THE NEW YORK TIMES:

Pope Paul VI has been among the most passionate pleaders for peace and for human dignity in the modern world. It is tragically ironic, therefore, that this Pope may be remembered for an encyclical that can only serve to strengthen the twin evils of war and poverty against which he has so courageously spoken out.

But when the Church presumes to speak for one-sixth of mankind on an issue that could affect the very survival of the human race, others cannot remain indifferent. The papal edict is bound to retard recently promising efforts to check a population explosion that threatens in the next few decades to plunge the world into hopeless poverty and chaos...

Seven years ago, the population (of Latin America) was 218 million. Today, it is more than 260 million. It is expected to soar to 600 million by the end of the century unless drastic steps are taken to curb the birth rate...

The encyclical places the Church in opposition to large segments of an anguished world, including many conscientious Catholics.

RICHARD CARDINAL CUSHING, archbishop of Boston: Rome has spoken.

REV. ROBERT JOHANN, prominent Jesuit philosopher: One hopeful sign is that educated Catholics are not going to pay any attention to this statement. If they did, we would be back in the Dark Ages.

TERRENCE COOKE, archbishop of New York: Those who would publicly preach against the teaching would at least be guilty of disobedience and a violation of the faith.

THE NEW YORK DAILY NEWS:

Pope Paul VI issued his long and eagerly awaited encyclical on birth control—a document carrying no encouragement to the liberal faction in the Roman Catholic clergy and laity.

However, the Pope's mind is not frozen on the subject. The Vatican's chief moral theologian, Msgr. Ferdinando Lambruschini, commented (that) the rule is not

MRS. ELIJA RUBIO, 29, of Caracas, Venezuela, mother of seven (two pregnancies terminated by abortion) whose husband earns $30 a month:

I know we are going against the law of God. The Pope is right. But what are we to do?

JANE E. BRODY, staff writer, New York Times:

Various studies have indicated that, in Roman Catholic countries, as in non-Catholic countries, the birth rate and the practice (or absence) of birth control are more closely related to the state of economic development than to religion.

In an as yet unpublished study, a major family-planning organization found that even the most devout Catholics in Western countries have and want smaller families than nominal Catholics and Protestants in less developed countries.

The birth rate in most Latin American countries has been stable at around 45 per 1,000 population in recent years. But the introduction of modern medicine and technology has brought about a tremendous drop in the death rate, particularly among infants and children.

As a result, the rate of growth of the population—especially that part of the population dependent on others for food, clothing and education, has risen sharply.

This population growth has made serious inroads on, and at times has overridden, the increase in the gross national product and thus has stifled the countries' economic development.

COMMONWEAL, national liberal weekly magazine edited by Catholics:

For millions of lay people, the birth control question has been confronted, prayed over and settled—and not in the direction of the Pope's encyclical.

TRIUMPH, conservative Catholic magazine:

... A courageous reaffirmation of Christian truth... invites the world to return to moral sanity.

ARCHBISHOP JOHN F. DEARDON:

"We are aware of the difficulties that this teaching (the Pope's) lays upon our conscientious married people. But we must face the reality that struggling to live out the will of God will often expose all of us to suffering."

PLANNED PARENTHOOD FEDERATION OF AMERICA, INC.:

"Planned Parenthood's public posture on the Pope's negative statement is intentionally sorrowful rather than angry... At the same time, it behooves us all, nationally and locally, to help liberal Catholic priests and laymen recognize that they are an overwhelming majority in their own Church—in their belief in medical contraception as an essential means to responsible parenthood. It may also be useful to remind public officials that the great majority of Catholic communicants does indeed practice birth control, and strongly supports the extension of assistance for family planning programs."

Missouri Lutherans Make 'Fellowship' Move

A cautious resolution expressing "sincere desire for fellowship" with the American Lutheran Church was adopted last week by the 83rd convention of the Missouri Lutheran Synod, meeting in Ann Arbor.

The question of pulpit and altar fellowship was proposed last summer by the New York Convention of the entire Missouri Synod.

It was debated eight hours on the floor of the four-day state session, as well as being taken up in open hearings and sectional meetings.

TWO SPEAKERS on the question were Dr. Theodore Nickel, second vice president of the Synod, and Dr. Robert D. Preuss, of the Concordia Seminary faculty.

The resolution requested establishment of a special commission to deal with doctrinal and practical difficulties which exist in implementation of such a fellowship, and exercise of discipline in the Synods.

The resolution finally adopted acknowledged that difficulties exist within the Synods and between the Synods "involving inspiration, the authority and integrity of Scripture, the authorship of various Biblical books, unionism, and ideology." The special commission requested would address itself to these difficulties.

The delegates asked that a Synodical Convention take appropriate action regarding fellowship only after the commission has completed its assignment.

IN OTHER ACTIONS the convention: Realigned regional structures, dividing the south and east region, containing metropolitan Detroit, into two regions to be known as Metropolitan East and Metropolitan West. Went on record favoring expansion of Concordia Junior College in Ann Arbor to a four-year teacher training program.

Electing the Rev. Edward Westcott, pastor of the Redford Lutheran Church, Detroit, as fourth vice president and named the Rev. John S. Angle, executive director of the board of institutional chaplaincies of Michigan as executive secretary of a new board of social ministries.

Voted support for the University of Michigan Inter-Faith Center and resolved to endorse and encourage investment in "Operation Bootstrap," an inner-city project.

Standard For Living Is Topic

Which concerns us most, our standard of living or our standard FOR living?

Norman B. Holmes, C.S.B., of Chicago, will discuss this question in a Christian Science lecture titled, "What Is Your Standard For Living?" Friday, Aug. 9 at 8 p.m. in the Fifth Church of Christ, Scientists, on Second Blvd. at Merton, one block north of McNichols, Detroit.

Admission is free, and everyone is welcome.

Holmes, a Christian Science practitioner and teacher, graduated from Northwestern University and then served as a chaplain in the United States Navy during World War II and the Korean War.

New Church Breaks Ground

Ground was broken Sunday, Aug. 4, at the new site of the Warrenwoods Wesleyan Church, 6615 Venoy Rd., Westland.

Pastors G.L. MacDonald, minister of administration, and D.V. Bartley, minister of Christian education, supervised the ceremony.

Total cost of the completed church facility will be approximately $450,000.

In his charge to the congregation, Pastor MacDonald stated:

"This church shall present an open door to all people, and shall stand as a challenge to all men as a place to serve, as well as offer a helping hand to those in need."

"The main objective of the church shall be to present Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord. He is the answer to the world's problems because He is the answer to man's sin problem."

Pastor Bartley then led the congregation in the responsive reading during which ground was broken.

William Holmes, building committee chairman, and Frank Major, building committee secretary, turned the first spadeful of earth.

The church, which currently meets regularly in the school, has titled the lecture series "My God and I."

Dan Woodroof will lecture Monday, Aug. 19, on the topic "What Was God Doing Yesterday?"

He is director of public relations and student life at Michigan Christian College, Rochester.

Dean Thoroman, director of the Oak Hills Home for Girls, will speak Tuesday, Aug. 20, on "Does God Have an Answer to Today's Problems?"

Ronald White, minister of the Livonia Church of Christ, will speak Wednesday, Aug. 21, on the topic "Does God Have a Plan for Me?"

He is the topic of the lecture to be delivered Thursday, Aug. 22, by Lester Allen, minister of the Adrian Church of Christ and former supervisor of the Schults-Lewis Children's Home in Valparaiso, Ind.

The closing speaker will be Robert McAnally, minister of the Sunset Church of Christ in Taylor and regular participant on the "Word of Life" on CKLW radio.

The public is invited to attend the lectures.

Quakers And Mennonites Join In Worship

Quakers in the greater Detroit area will worship with the Detroit Mennonite Church at 11 a.m. Sunday, Aug. 11, in the Friends Church, 9640 Sorrento, between Plymouth and West Chicago, Detroit.

James Norton, director of the inner-city Mennonite Service Center, will discuss "Non-Violence, Racism and Militarism."

The two groups have a common historical background in Pennsylvania and hold common beliefs in the matters of opposition to war, slavery, and oppression.

Early Quakers in Farmington, Wayne County and Ypsilanti were especially active in the "underground railway" that assisted ex-slaves before the civil war.

A potluck picnic will follow the meeting, and all persons interested in Quaker and Mennonite activities are invited.

Geneva B. West, Services for Mrs. West, 69, of Hennepin Ave., Garden City, were held Wednesday, Aug. 7, in Garden City with Rev. William Wager officiating. Burial was in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Mrs. West, who died Aug. 5 at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, is survived by five sisters, Mrs. Marie Guntow, Mrs. Inez Cooper of Miami, Florida, Mrs. Mildred Moore, Mrs. Margaret Fagnon, and Mrs. Frances Grant.

3 Films Featured In 'Something Else'

In the fourth of its series of experimental worship services, a film festival will be presented by the "Something Else" Series sponsored by the people of Orchard Methodist, North Farmington Baptist, and Antioch Lutheran Churches in Farmington.

The Film Festival, entitled "Tell It As It Is", will be held Tuesday evening, Aug. 13 at 8:30 p.m. at North Farmington Baptist Church, 32500 West 13 Mile Rd., Farmington.

FEATURED IN THE Festival will be three contemporary films selected because of their treatment of subjects of vital concern to today's living.

"The Hangman" is an allegorical poem by Maurice Ogdan. It tells the story of the coward who refuses to become involved against injustice, and eventually becomes the last victim.

"Very Nice! Very Nice!" is a rapidly moving satirical collage of scenes, people, and faces as man goes about living in our contemporary society being somewhat confused—but always unaffected—by the mayhem of life.

The final film is entitled "The Unanswered Question"—people in all walks of life either unable or unwilling to respond in more than vague terms and confusion to the unanswered question, "What is brotherhood?"

The congregation attending the Festival will have opportunity to respond to the message of the films in a dialog following each film.

"SOMETHING ELSE" is an attempt on the part of the people of the three churches sponsoring the series to present to the community a variety of moods and settings for Christian worship. The public is cordially invited to attend. The series is held every Tuesday evening during the summer.

Dailies Ready To Publish; Mailers OK Contract

With ratification of the proposed contract by members of the Mailers Union, the green light has been given to the Detroit News and Free Press to resume publication during the latter part of the week.

The Mailers gave the proposal a resounding 124-27 majority in a special ratification meeting Monday afternoon.

STATE AND LOCAL ROUNDUP

The plans call for the Detroit News to publish Friday, officially ending the nine-month-old strike of the Detroit metropolitan dailies, and the Free Press plans to have papers on the street Saturday morning.

The Mailers were the last of the striking unions to reach an agreement and ratify the proposals of the publishers.

DETROIT—J. E. Stedman, spokesman for the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, an-

Plant Protection Outlined

It is during the late spring, summer and early autumn that all plant-injurious insects are most active.

These pests range in size and shape from the extremely small spider mites, which are not true insects, to winged beetles and caterpillars one inch or more in length.

To give your plants the best protection, the National Arborist Association advises frequent inspections and prompt application of control measures when leaf-eating or sap-sucking pests are found.

Treating an infected large tree requires powered equipment, and a competent arborist should be engaged for such work.

A hand sprayer or duster is adequate for treating small shrubs, and you may want to do this yourself, the association says.

Then you have the problem of choosing an effective insecticide; these materials are formulated according to the hardness and feeding habits of the insects and tend to be rather specific as to those they will control.

At any garden supply store you will find a great variety of packaged insecticides under different trade names.

Read the label on the container; it will list the pests which the material is designed to control, and on what plant species it may be applied safely.

On the label you will find, too, the manufacturer's instructions and the precautions you should use in handling and applying the material; follow these carefully for they are your best assurance of achieving satisfactory results, the association notes.

nounced that milk has gone up one cent per quart. This means the new home-delivered price is 29 cents a quart.

He explained that the price hike was due to rising labor and packaging costs.

LANSING—The Michigan Department of Public Health has scheduled a public hearing Sept. 11 on proposed administrative procedures for nursing homes and homes for the aged. To be held in the Union Ball room at Michigan State University, the department requests that all persons desiring to comment on the rules at the hearing to give their names and their organization to Dr. Gerald Rice, State Health Director.

The proposed rules will be the guidelines for eligibility for licensings and for certification to the Department of Social Services for payment.

IONIA—Warrants have been signed against five more Lansing youths for arson by the prosecuting attorney. They are sought in connection with the burning of a vacant house.

A series of fires in empty barns and dwellings are under investigation now by State Police fire marshals. Of those already arrested, most have been teenage married couples.

DETROIT—Investigation is still continuing in the fatal stabbing of a Detroit man in front of a West Side bar last week.

The victim ran into the bar yelling, "Watch those two guys out in front, they just stabbed me." He called the police and then collapsed. He died enroute to the hospital, where doctors announced he had been stabbed near the heart.

ANN ARBOR—A group of 14 priests issued a statement last week which questioned the finality of Pope Paul's encyclical on birth control.

"We Catholic priests of Ann Arbor are deeply concerned about the conscience of Catholic people in the light of the recent papal encyclical on birth control. . . The conclusion, however, that all artificial means of contraception are under every circumstance morally wrong, we think is neither a final nor infallible judgment on the question."

ANN ARBOR—Claiming a loss of $600,000, the Penn Central Railroad has filed a damage suit against the city of Ann Arbor for the city's failure to lower the water-level behind the Dixboro Dam. They claim this led to the washout of their tracks in the July flood.

The railroad company alleges that the failure of hydraulic bear traps to operate in the dam resulted in the flooding, blocking their service between Detroit and Chicago.

EAST LANSING—John Peckham and John Blunt, two 17-year-old East Lansing youths, stood mute on charges of defiling the American flag. The two demanded a jury trial.

Police began looking for the youths after they received a call of a car driving through Lansing trailing an American flag. Campus police finally made the arrest on Michigan State's campus where the pair were found sitting on the flag playing gin rummy.

CADILLAC—Mrs. Christie Titus, 23, told police that she has been covered with flammable liquid and set afire by several men which turned her into a human torch, officials said.

The woman finally admitted doing it herself after lengthy interrogation by police, Police Chief Delbert Conrad said she had done it for "personal reasons."

DETROIT—Marcellus Ivory, 52, has been named to the United Auto Workers international executive board. Ivory thus becomes the second Negro to serve on the UAW international board, along with Jack Edwards.

PONTIAC—The Crime Index revealed a 99.3 per cent increase in auto-theft for the first half of this year. The overall crime rate is stable and the high increase in auto theft was explained as a "tendency for more teenagers to steal autos," by the City Police Chief William K. Hanger.

more common that cars stolen in the city are used for joyrides and then abandoned.

GRAND RAPIDS—In a freak accident on the Grand River two men drowned. Clarence Neasman, 42, and his friend, Albert Mayweather, 51, were victims of the bizarre accident. Eyewitness Herman Carson told police that his father-in-law, Neasman, was fishing on the bank when his parked car rolled over and knocked him into the river. Mayweather was trapped in the back seat of the car.

Spot Is 17 Points—That's How Packers Rip Stars

The spot was 17 points and that was the Green Bay Packers' margin of victory over the College All Stars in the annual "kickoff" to the football season.

With Bart Starr throwing three touchdown passes to Carroll Dale, the Packers never were in trouble.

Three fledgling pros, on their way to the Detroit Lions, distinguished themselves as Greg Landry did well at quarterback, Earl McCullouch at pass receiving and Jerry DePoyster at field-goal kicking.

McCullouch scored two touchdowns and DePoyster accounted for the rest of the Stars' points with a 22-yard field goal and a pair of conversions.

MICHIGAN'S PREMIER golf event -- the State Open -- starts Friday at the Spring Meadows Country Club near Linden. A field of 183 will contest in the 72-hole test. Mike Souchak, of Oakland Hills, will defend his title, facing one of the strongest contingents ever to enter the Open.

THE DETROIT COUGARS soccer team, which went 13 straight games without a victory, made it two straight without a loss by playing Chicago to a scoreless tie before 4,900 fans in Tiger Stadium.

The Cougars now are on the road until Aug. 16 when they return to Tiger Stadium to meet Cleveland.

WALLY GABLER, former University of Michigan quarterback, passed for three touchdowns in leading the Toronto Argonauts to a 32-4 victory over Edmonton in a Canadian Football League game.

IT WAS QUITE a week for Ron Hansen. He started it with the Washington Senators by pulling off an unassisted triple play--the first in the big leagues in 41 years--against Cleveland.

Boat Wins Honors In An Upset

SEATTLE -- The Detroit-owned Miss U. S. with Bill Muncey driving captured the Seafarers hydroplane boat race Sunday in an upset.

The Miss U.S. placed one-two-three in her respective heats to pile up 925 points and beat My Gypsy with Tom Foltz at the wheel with 825 points.

Harrah's Club and Eagle Electric each posted 800 points while the favored Bardahl lagged with 600.

Both Bardahl and Eagle Electric went dead on the first heat and failed to pick up a point as Harrah's Club captured heat 1-A and Miss U.S. took 1-B.

Then in the second heat, Eagle Electric and Harrah's Club shared the victories while Miss U.S. settled for a second.

EAGLE ELECTRIC repeated as victor in the final heat, but Miss U.S. just had to finish to gather in the victory trophy. The winning boat averaged 100.521 miles per hour.

One injury marked the race. Jack Regas was thrown from the Notre Dame and suffered a shoulder separation.

All of the boats will be in Detroit on Sept. 8 when the once-postponed Gold Cup race is scheduled to be staged on the Detroit river.

Kathy Victor In Playoff

DANBURY, Conn. -- Orchids went to Kathy Whitworth in the $15,000 Women's Open golf meet here.

After she tied with Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge at 211 for the regular 54 holes, Miss Whitworth fired a winning birdie on the first extra hole to end the sudden-death match.

Miss Whitworth had led after 18 and 36 holes.

Stevens Earns Spot In Golf

Five-time former champion Melvin (Bud) Stevens of Livonia fired rounds of 75-78-153 to qualify for match play in the Golf Association of Michigan's annual title meet at Red Run. Stan Thompson of Midland led the qualifying with 141.

Then he poked a grand slam homer to help beat Detroit. But by the week's end, Hansen was back with the Chicago White Sox and in his re-debut with the Chisox slammed two hits against--yep, Washington. Hansen was traded to Chicago for infielder Tim Cullen in a repeat of a similar trade made during the winter when Hansen went to the Nats and Cullen to the Chisox.

RICK CLARK, the former Redford Union star now with the California Angels, continues to have his problems. He suffered his 11th loss in 12 decisions when beaten by Boston, 6-1. Notwithstanding his setbacks, Clark has an earned-run average of 3.53.

MORE HONORS have come to Miss Joyce Kazmierski, who taught at Stevenson High last year, but since has resigned. Miss Kazmierski, who recently won the state women's golf title, captured the district crown by beating Mrs. Rodney Thompson, 6-4, after Miss Kazmierski qualified with a record-breaking 71. MAURICE STOKES, former Cincinnati Royals basketball star who was stricken with a brain injury after a playoff game in Detroit in 1958, again will be present Tuesday at the annual game staged in his honor at Kutsher's Country Club in Monticello, N.Y. Current greats of the NBA -- including Dave Bing, Dave DeBusschere and Jimmy Walker of the Pistons -- are slated to play in the game which annually raises funds to help Stokes, who'll be flown east from Cincinnati in a chartered plane. THERE'S NO CHANCE, if you're going to New York, to try to buy a ticket to see the football Giants play. For the seventh straight year every ticket for each of the Giants' home games in Yankee Stadium has been sold in advance. WHETHER RICK BARRY plays with the San Francisco Warriors of the NBA or Oakland of the ABA won't be decided by a California court until late this month. The Warriors have argued that Barry should have played out the final year of his contract's option clause with them; the Oakland team says differently. The judge says he needs more time to study the matter. ON THE RACING SCENE -- Forward Pass came back to the wars after two months of inactivity and won the American Derby at Chicago with little trouble.

It was Forward Pass' seventh win of the year -- including the Kentucky Derby and Preakness -- and upped his chances for being heralded as the three-year-old champ. Politely ran away with the rich Delaware Handicap...Dr. Fager won by eight lengths in the Whitney Stakes at Saratoga...Balustrade, at 33-1, surprised to win at Monmouth in the Invitational with favored Iron Ruler fourth.

will be held in Toledo, Sept. 4-8. EX-DETROIT PISTON Ron Reed upped his pitching record to 10-6 with Atlanta by beating Cincinnati, 1-0. He has an earned run average of 2.75. FORMER MICHIGAN STATER Gary Ballman rejoined the Philadelphia Eagles after a 10-day walkout over a pay dispute. Missing practice cost Ballman $250 daily or a total of $2,500. He's a veteran flanker with the Eagles.

Boost Freehan, McLain for Honors

Hand-in-hand with a team winning a pennant usually goes the league's most-valuable-player award.

As the Tigers roll along, maintaining a fairly safe margin and showing no signs of folding up, two names stand out on their roster when it comes to the MVP.

First there's Denny McLain. Secondly, there's catcher Bill Freehan.

A third man, Al Kaline, might be considered, except for the fact he sat out several weeks with an injury early in the season.

Based on what the experts appear to be thinking, McLain has to rate ahead of Freehan in the current voting.

When he bested Minnesota, 2-1, Sunday, the victory boosted McLain's record to 22-3. It also marked the 19th time this year he has gone the route... and he's still to lose in 13 starts on the route.

IF McLain is saluted as the MVP, he'd be the first American League pitcher to receive the award since 1952, when Bobby Shantz, then with the Philadelphia Athletics, was selected.

In those years, there was no Cy Young award for the best pitcher in the league. The Young designation came into being in 1956 and its existence may explain why no pitcher has been chosen for the MVP in 15 years.

The feeling maybe—why give one player two of the highest honors possible in the league? Barring a complete collapse by McLain, he's a cinch for the Young award this year.

He's heading for the first 30-victory year by a pitcher since Dizzy Dean did it for the Cardinals in 1934. The last American League 30-winner was Lefty Grove in 1931.

McLAIN HAS dropped his earned-run average to 1.93 and he has to be a sight for "red" eyes every time (each fourth day) Manager Mayo Smith sends him to the mound for the Tigers.

McLain has been the only "steady" Tiger starter since the All-Star break. Earl Wilson has been "in and out" while Mickey Lolich and Joe Sparta have been smacked around with regularity.

Thus, every time the Tigers have needed a stopper, McLain has delivered, boosting his stock as the team and the league's most valuable.

The past weekend produced what has become typical pitching for the Tigers.

They went to Minnesota and Sparta started. He was out in a hurry and it took some great relief pitching by newcomer Don McMahon to enable the Tigers to squeeze out a 6-5 victory.

John Hiller and Daryl Patterson also came along in the ninth inning to retire a man each to aid in the cause.

ON SATURDAY, Wilson started and was knocked out by the fourth inning. The Tigers would have required a miracle to win that day since Dean Chance fired a four-hit shut-out against them.

Sunday was McLain's day... and, as usual, he was brilliant. He was shooting for his third straight shutout and seventh of the season. He lost it in the eighth on a walk, error and a single.

Twice he was in a serious jam. Each time he worked smoothly out.

Even with the tying run on in the ninth and the power-hitting Tony Oliva at the plate, manager Smith left McLain in there. McLain responded by getting Oliva to bounce to short for the final out.

A TRIPLE by Mickey Stanley and a single by Freehan in the first inning led to Detroit's first run. The other scored in the eighth when Dick McAuliffe tripled and Kaline delivered a sacrifice fly.

The next two weeks now shape up as the period in which the Tigers could put themselves on easy street or make their lives very uncomfortable.

They opened a four-game series with Cleveland at Tiger Stadium Tuesday night. The Tribe plays in Detroit Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Then it's Boston, Friday night, Saturday afternoon and for two games Sunday afternoon at the Tiger ball park. The Sox have finally come alive and look like the team that won the pennant last year.

But they're still some 10 games off the pace—too far back, perhaps. Yet, they could cause Detroit trouble.

Next week the Tigers go to Cleveland and Boston.

Spartans Find Close Scores Aren't Enough

SPECIAL TO OBSERVER

FLINT — Close doesn't count in sports—or, anything else. The Livonia Spartans found it out again in the semifinals of the district Connie Mack baseball tournament.

Leading, 5-4, entering the final inning, the Spartans saw their chances for a district crown and a spot in this weekend's state meet go out the window when Saginaw rallied to pull out the game, 6-5.

It was the second loss for the Spartans in the double-elimination tourney.

The Spartans had rallied from a 4-2 deficit to take the lead in the sixth inning on hits by Jerry Dettler, Dave Rice, Dave Fisher and Tim DeWitt. Fisher's blow knocked in one run, DeWitt's two.

EARLIER, ERRORS giving life to Ken Gawkowski and Rice had produced one run, and a double by DeWitt and triple by Greg Wilkinson the other Spartans' marker.

But when the seventh and final inning rolled around, a single, sacrifice, error and then a single by Tim Rinness broke up the duel in favor of Saginaw.

Rice started for the Spartans, while Gawkowski came on in the sixth and was the victim of the deciding Saginaw rally.

Rice, DeWitt and Phil Camp each unloaded two hits for the losers.

The Livonians, who broke even on Friday by beating Midland and losing to Flint in a pair of shutouts, were involved in their third straight white-washing job Saturday in beating Ecorse, 4-0.

In the uprising, DeWitt and Rick Horstman singled and Bob See walked to load the bases. Dettler then unloaded the sacks with a triple.

In the fifth, it was Dettler again with a RBI double after Gawkowski had singled.

Beware Of JA Impersonators

Residents of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties are warned of young people falsely posing as Junior Achievers to sell inferior products door-to-door.

J. A. Executive Vice President Edward P. Nagel explained that the J. A. program year ended in May and will not resume until October.

"These 'salesmen' represent a highly organized outfit fraudulently using the good name of Junior Achievement to exploit the public," Nagel added.

"The youngsters are usually herded around a neighborhood in a panel delivery truck or a station wagon to sell mediocre products by high pressure tactics," warned Nagel.

Junior Achievement officials urge the public to ask for J.A. identification cards if youngsters saying they're from J.A. stop at the door. All genuine J.A.-made products also carry an identifying sticker with the familiar kite emblem.

The thousands of teenagers legitimately involved in J.A. are proud of their accomplishments in this program. By reporting an attempted fraud to your local police department or to Junior Achievement headquarters (VE 8-4660), you'll be helping a program that is training Southeastern Michigan youth who may be the business leaders of tomorrow.

Seeks Elimination Of Petty Research Projects

WASHINGTON -- To the consternation of some congressmen, the U.S. government--in the midst of its agony over the balance of payments--is paying Foreign Scientists to investigate:

Death rates among Italian railroad employees.

The social integration of Iranian industrial workers.

Changing patterns of family life in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan.

The teeth, dental arches, jaws, face, and skull of Australian aborigines.

The distribution of power in communities where Bedouin Nomads and settled Oasis dwellers meet.

THESE ARE just a few of the foreign research projects which the House Government Operations Committee suggests should be curtailed to help stem the outflow of dollars.

Its subcommittee on research and technical programs has been concerned about the problem at least since 1966 when it asked the Budget Bureau to set specific guidelines limiting dollar-financed research in foreign countries.

Though dollar obligations for foreign research have now dropped to $20 million or so per year from $26.6 million in 1966, the subcommittee is still concerned that too many grants like the $17,400 outlay to study death rates among Italian railroad employees are being made.

It points out that most of these funds are going into developed countries (Western Europe, Canada, Japan, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa) which "could well afford to support their own research."

Some members of the subcommittee feel strongly that U.S. government agencies are using specific research projects as a cover for general support to institutions and individuals of renown.

Though the subcommittee does not identify individual foreign scientists receiving such support, they are known to include such widely known figures as the anthropologist Louis Leakey.

SCIENCE MAGAZINE, a publication of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science, accused the subcommittee of pandering to "That portion of the population which finds many of the topics of scientific research somewhat absurd" when it issued its report following this year's hearings.

Indeed, the subcommittee did cite the $48,687 grant for dental research among the Australian Aborigines as an example of non-urgent science.

But the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Henry Ruess (D-Wis.), has a wide reputation in Congress as a solid supporter of Scientific Research. Hardly any member of the subcommittee could be classified as "anti-science."

Ruess' special interest in the dollar drain for foreign investigation stems from his other Congressional assignments as chairman of the House Subcommittee on Internal Finance and as a member of the Joint Economic Committee.

When the subcommittee on research and technical programs held its 1966 hearings, it asked the Budget Bureau to limit foreign research projects to those urgently needed by the United States.

It said further they should be limited to projects which cannot be conducted in the United States or cannot be funded through other sources.

Now the committee charges the Budget Bureau has not followed through on these recommendations, and it says the deterioration in the balance of payments situation has made it even more urgent to eliminate non-urgent foreign research projects.

REPORTING on its round of hearings this year, the subcommittee re-emphasized the recommendations it made in 1966.

Furthermore, it added that the agencies supporting these foreign research efforts--the Health, Education, and Welfare Department, the Atomic Energy Commission, the National Science Foundation, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration--produce special reports within three months.

In the special reports, the subcommittee wants to know whether projects now being supported fall into the urgent category, and, if not, what remedial action is being taken.

The subcommittee said it believes that "neither general exhortations for dollar for dollar economies nor massive arbitrary cuts in permissible foreign research is an appropriate policy."

"Even in a period of payments emergency, urgent research, which cannot be performed in the United States, and which will not be financed by the foreign country in question, may merit dollar financing. But in each and every instance, questions regarding the project's urgency, U.S. performance, and foreign financing must be asked, and overriding considerations found specifically to exist before dollars are released for projects."

Booklet Helps Negro Jobless

A Negro instructor comments about working with black hard-core unemployed:

"Few Negroes understand that the white man can be stupid just like anybody else. We think the white man can't be stupid because he is The Man. He has kept us down for 300 years, so when he talks stupid we assume he is being devious, leading us on with big promises."

This view of the problems plant personnel interviewers can have in communicating with the hard-core unemployed comes from the Research Institute of America, Inc. The booklet, titled "What Can You Do About the Hard-Core Unemployed?" packages such insights with practical advice to help small and medium-sized businesses that are answering the National Alliance of Businessmen's call to provide jobs for the hard-core unemployed.

Thant Views World Law As Priceless Peace Tool

UN Secretary-General U Thant has often regretted that some of the United Nations' most notable advances often go practically unreported. The reason is that they do not make "hot" news.

Yet, some of the progress of which the general public is often unaware is a peace setter and deeply affects the texture of human relations.

The best example is in the field of international law. To this subject U Thant addressed himself in a speech before the International Bar Association in Dublin.

U THANT'S basic thesis was this: "The developments in the United Nations and other international organizations abundantly show that any contemporary definition of international law which overlooks the individual not only fails to reflect the facts of international life today but also contributes to impeding the development of international law itself."

"No country and no people has a monopoly on rightness, liberty, and human dignity, and our experience shows that the aspirations of peoples all over the world, whether in the civil or cultural field, are basically the same although the approaches to their realization may be different," he said.

U Thant likened the role of international law in keeping the peace today to the candles which light the darkness.

He mentioned recent disputes resolved by arbitration or agreement: the Ram of Kutch dispute between India and Pakistan; a territorial dispute between Argentina and Chile; the dispute between Indonesia and the Netherlands regarding West Irian.

"The more these examples are followed," the Secretary-General argued, "the sooner the darkness will be dispelled."

ONE OF THE main roles of

Borders Will Unify Plantings

Borders are important in the garden because they unify the plantings, an effect hard to achieve by other means. An elaborate planting is not necessary, nor is one of rare or unusual flowers.

A border should, however, be entirely of one kind of flower that does not vary greatly in either height or spread. The flowers may be of one color or of the varied colors available within a single kind or variety.

Shown above are two of the best border plants—sweet alyssum and dwarf zinnias. Several years ago, a truly tiny zinnia, only 6 inches in height, was introduced and named Thumbelina. Perfect for a border, this has 1 1/2-inch-wide flowers of red, yellow, pink, rose and white.

Colors now have been selected from this strain so that a border of one color is possible.

For generations sweet alyssum was known only with a white flower. There still are white-flowered varieties available such as Carpet of Snow, Little Gem, Tetra Snowdrift or even the old-time Sweet, the original wild, honey-scented alyssum that added the adjective to the flower name.

But there also are varieties with colored blooms: Royal Carpet, purple; Violet Queen and Pink Heather, names of which describe their blossom colors; and Rosie O'Day which has rose-pink blossoms.

So, within just the ranges of dwarf zinnias and sweet alyssum, many color combinations are possible between the border plantings and the flowers in the border.

Both sweet alyssum and dwarf zinnias are best grown from seed sown in a sunny place wherever the flowers are to bloom.

Study Smoking's Harmful Effects

While cigarette manufacturers add filters in an attempt to cut down on the hazards of smoking, University of Kentucky scientists working under contract from the U.S. Department of Agriculture are attempting to reduce harmful tobacco components at the source, the tobacco plant.

Working under federal contracts totaling $127,562, the Kentucky researchers are conducting genetic studies to develop tobacco-plant breeding lines in which constituents which may be hazardous to smokers will be reduced or eliminated.

international law is to provide new regimes for new areas of man's endeavor.

U Thant mentioned the Antarctic treaty which converted a potential source of strife and conflict into an area of peace and cooperation. The same principles were utilized in the treaty on principles governing the activities of states in the exploration and use of outer space, including the moon and other celestial bodies.

Within the framework of the regime established by the other space treaty, the General Assembly last December commended to governments the agreement on the rescue of astronauts, the return of astronauts, and the return of objects launched into outer space.

Always in the same spirit the General Assembly took up last year the issue of reserving exclusively for peaceful purposes the seabed and ocean floor, and the sub-soil thereof. THE ROLE of international law, U Thant reminded his audience, also is to regulate existing relations between states.

The Secretary-General recalled the "very significant step" taken by the General Assembly when it commended to states the treaty on the non-proliferation of nuclear weapons. "This treaty," he said, "taken together with the Moscow test-ban treaty of 1963, is the first really significant breakthrough in the field of global disarmament since the end of World War II."

Another important step was the treaty for the prohibition of nuclear weapons in Latin America signed last year in Mexico.

"These, then," U Thant stated, "are some of the bright places, where the law has constituted the cornerstone of peace. However, there are still great areas of darkness and of strife in this world where force and power politics rule to the detriment of law and peace. "In the ultimate analysis, law cannot prevail over force and power politics until mankind comes to regard the impartial adjudication of international law in disputes among states as the rule, not the exception," he added.

Independent Romania's Slave To Old Soviet Policy

BUCHAREST — Romania is the paradox of Eastern Europe, fearlessly independent of the Soviet Union in its foreign policy, slavishly imitative of the old Soviet model in its internal policy.

For the last five years, at the direct risk of Russian reprisal, Romania has pursued a nationalistic policy seemingly calculated to give the most possible affront to its giant northern neighbor.

IT HAS REFUSED to play its assigned role as peasant to the East under the Soviet-inspired decree of the Communist Bloc Council for Mutual Economic Assistance that it concentrate on agriculture, not industry.

It has refused to serve as dutiful foot soldier in the Warsaw Pact, criticizing the continued presence of Russian troops in Eastern Europe and rejecting Moscow's new demand that the bloc countries give up a part of their sovereignty to a joint political commissariat.

It has refused to accept outside intervention, even in the form of "friendly advice" from other Communists, and it walked out of the International Communist meeting in Budapest last March when Syrian party representatives criticized its Middle East policy.

Alone among the Communist countries, it has refused to break relations with Israel and it now conducts a flourishing trade with the Jewish state while paying muted lip service to the Arab line.

It has refused to accept continued exploitation by the Russians (who extracted $2.5 billion in reparations even though Romania ended World War II as an ally) and has shifted half its trade to the West, where it seeks the advanced technology to make an even greater economic break with the East.

It has refused to endure Soviet cultural domination, has abolished Russian as a compulsory language in the schools, has erased Russian street names, and has turned the nation back to its ancient Western roots. Next fall, it will introduce a new school system, eliminating the last traces of Soviet influence and dropping Marxism-Leninism as a required course in the universities.

IN SHORT, Romania has adopted, in the words of one of the most experienced Western observers here, a foreign policy "as independent as Yugoslavia's."

Yet in its internal policy, Romania remains probably the most old-fashioned of the European Communist states. Only last year, men with beards were being forcibly shaved on the streets of Bucharest and the police were ripping miniskirts off young girls.

Early this year the Communist Party reaffirmed its ban on any unauthorized association with foreigners and party cadre underscored the seriousness of the offense in small meetings with the people throughout the country.

Unlike some other Eastern European countries where there was a measure of personal freedom before the war, there is little pressure from below in Romania, which has experienced 2,000 years of repression and foreign domination. The people seem to accept dictation from the top as an inevitable fact of life and to adapt to it either through apathy or devious personal aggrandizement.

Despite its Socialist pretensions, Romania is probably the most aristocratic nation in Europe with the discrepancy between the privileged and the unprivileged as great or greater than in Spain.

The economy is run with a tight hand by a few central planners who command prices, commodities, prestige and power in an almost Stalin-like fashion.

THE LEADERS of the 1,900,000-member Communist Party live spacious in the former houses of the rich and the middle class, enjoying personal servants and all the modern appliances, most of Western make. They ride in chauffeur-driven Mercedes, eat ostentatiously at the best restaurants, and vacation in their own villas in the mountains or by the Black Sea.

Meanwhile, the rest of the 19,000,000 Romanians live not much better than they did before the war. The country is being rapidly industrialized but the investment capital is being taken, as a knowing observer here put it, "out of the hides of the peasants," who still comprise at least half of the population.

The situation has become so scandalous that party leader Nicolae Ceausescu felt compelled to address himself to the problem at the party's central committee meeting last month. He denounced "flagrant and unjustified disproportions in the living standards of some sections of our population" and said it was creating the "image in our social life of privileged persons whose income does not represent the real equivalent of their contribution to the creation of the national wealth." "Undoubtedly," he added, "such a situation is of a nature to create discontent in the ranks of public opinion, affecting the principle of social equity which the party is duty bound to unswervingly promote within the Socialist system." Ceausescu called for an end to the practice of Communists holding two or more jobs within the party and the government and drawing down multiple salaries. But there is serious questions as to whether he can do much about it, since there is a broad, unspoken awareness among the comrades that their privileges are, in effect, guaranteed by the Russians. For in a certain sense, the Romanian paradox is really a subtle device by which the regime secures the tolerance of the people by playing on historic nationalist and anti-Russian sentiment, and, at the same time, secures the tolerance of the Soviets by reinforcing internally the dominant and privileged role of the Communist Party.

Racial Terrorist's Story Rivals Jekyll-Hyde Feats

MERIDIAN, Miss. — Pretty young Kathy Ainsworth, a soft-spoken teacher with an excellent record, turned out to be a terrorist in a story that rivals that of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.

Since her death in a gun battle with police in a bombing attempt, the FBI has linked her to Ku Klux Klan records and files of violence and bomb-making.

Many of her friends in Miami and Jackson, Miss., find it impossible to believe she is the same person who was revered as a cheerful churchgoer who loved children and was worshipped by them.

The documents were found by Mrs. Ainsworth's husband, Ralph, and turned over to the FBI. Neither Ainsworth nor any of his relatives shared his wife's fanatical beliefs.

Mrs. Ainsworth, 26, and Thomas Albert Tarrants III, 21, were shot by Meridian police in a wild exchange of gunfire when officers caught them as they allegedly were trying to dynamite the home of a Jewish businessman here. Tarrants, who emptied a submachine gun in the battle, critically injuring a policeman and a bystander, was seriously wounded.

THEY WERE a strange pair — Kathy, adored by her students and their parents, who had no idea of her role as a terrorist, and Tarrants, a tough-talking hoodlum who exhibited hatred for Jews and Negroes and a fondness for firearms even at age 13.

No one who knew Tarrants was surprised at his Ku Klux Klan activities, but all who knew Kathy, except for her associates in the Klan, were shocked to learn of her double role. Friends in Jackson, where she attended college and taught a fifth-grade class, found it incredible that she could be involved in hate action.

"It was a Jekyll and Hyde case," says her father-in-law, Richard Ainsworth, a car dealer and retired army colonel. "Kathy was the sweetest person you would ever meet anywhere, but she just got brainwashed by her mother and other people. Her mother is anti-Negro and anti-Semitic — just the worst you ever saw."

The mother, Mrs. Margaret Capomacchia of Miami, a native of Hungary, is an outspoken anti-Semite who has told acquaintances her daughter died fighting for what she believed in. "She was just as satisfied at the manner in which Kathy died as if she had died in the middle of church," Ainsworth said.

Kathy had friends who range from Adon Taft, the highly respected religion editor of the Miami Herald, to Sam H. Bowers, a violent Klan leader who has been convicted on a federal civil rights conspiracy charge in connection with the 1964 lynching of three civil rights workers in Neshoba County, Miss.

AINSWORTH'S father said that the day before the violence, his son quarreled with her about attending racist meetings. Ralph, a military police sergeant in the National Guard, was in summer encampment at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg when he heard a radio broadcast reporting that his wife had been killed.

Tarrants had been identified as a prime suspect in at least a dozen bombings, burnings and shootings that have occurred in the Meridian and Jackson areas in the last year. But until the violence here police knew little about Kathy's activities, only that she was a member of the Klan and of a Klan front, the Americans for the Preservation of the White Race (APWR).

Kathy and Tarrants carried out their Klan roles in the name of "Christianity" just like all Klan members do. While there is little to indicate Tarrants ever has been religious, Kathy was a devout churchgoer. She taught Sunday school and sang in the choir at Coral Baptist Church in Miami before she left for Jackson to attend Mississippi College, a conservative Baptist institution.

When Kathy moved to Jackson in 1960, Tarrants, nicknamed "Tat" by his classmates, was just beginning to blossom as an extremist. A former classmate recalls that at age 13 Tarrants was engrossed in William Shirer's "Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" and that he put a stinkbomb in a Jewish girl's school locker.

Tarrants grew up in a middle-class neighborhood in Mobile near where former classmates remember him as "just a normal kid" until his teens. His father, who sold used cars but now is a real estate salesman, has accused the FBI of harassing his son.

A former high school classmate of young Tarrants says, "He talked tough, used violent words and had an impulsive temper, but people just laughed at him."

A former junior high classmate recalls that Tarrants was obsessed with guns. "Not just squirrel guns like I'm interested in and every youngster is interested in, but Tommy guns — just how far they would shoot and how many they would kill. He would talk about Communists invading the United States and he would become very disturbed."

IN 1963, when Murphy High School was desegregated, Tarrants led a violent demonstration of 300 of the school's 2,900 students. The students ran wild, racing around police lines, tearing down fences and yelling, "Two-four-six-eight, hell no, we won't integrate." Tarrants was one of 54 students arrested and charged with disorderly conduct.

Tarrants came under the influence of extremists in Mobile and Mississippi. On June 11, 1964, at the age of 17, he was arrested in the company of Robert M. Smith, then 39, Mobile leader of the National States Rights party, and charged with possessing an illegal weapon — a sawed-off shotgun. Tarrants pleaded guilty to the weapons charge in federal court.

On Dec. 21, 1967, Tarrants and Klan Wizard Sam Bowers, 43, were arrested in Collins, Miss., in a car which had been stolen in Memphis. A submachine gun was found on the seat.

The FBI traced the weapon, and found it had been stolen in 1958 from a National Guard Armory in Mobile. (The FBI has information that gun raids on a number of guard armories in the south have been the work of Klan groups.)

Kathy and Tarrants had been close associates long before the Meridian violence. When Tarrants' picture appeared in a Jackson newspaper, Kathy's husband remembered that he had met the youth several months earlier while visiting with his wife in the Mobile home of Sidney Crockett Barnes, a house painter known to police as an extreme anti-Semite.

Barnes, 63, and his wife had strong ties with both Kathy and Tarrants. The couple moved to Mobile in 1964 from Miami, where they were close friends of Kathy's mother. Barnes told Ainsworth that Tarrants "is like a son to me." When the Ainsworths married, Barnes gave Kathy away.

AFTER VISITING Barnes last summer, shortly before her marriage, Kathy told a friend she had come to believe as he did, that an internal Jewish Communist conspiracy threatened the country.

Mrs. Capomacchia and Tarrants' father have been bitter about what happened at Meridian. "No one can tell me the truth about how my daughter died but her and she's dead," she told a reporter. She refused to say anything else, but Adon Taft of Miami said she told him: "Kathy stuck her neck out and if more people stuck their necks out this country wouldn't be in the mess it's in."

Tarrants' father went to the Meridian Police Dept. and began loudly accusing the FBI of harassing his son and driving him to violence.

What happened to Kathy Ainsworth? Her mother obviously had tremendous influence over her. But Kathy did not exhibit any real signs of racism or fears of a Communist-Jewish conspiracy until she moved to Mississippi.

But Mississippi has no monopoly on fanaticism, hate and violence. And leaders here, even those who strongly support segregation, are quick to point out that Tarrants was from Mobile and Kathy was from Miami. This is one thing, they say, that can't be blamed on Mississippi.

The fact is that the minds of Kathy and Tarrants were shaped not only in Mississippi but in the United States. Both were influenced by the hate propaganda which floods the country from California and many other states, and both were dedicated to wiping out the "common enemy."

The Kathy who belonged to the Klan undoubtedly died, as her mother said, fighting for her belief.

IT'S A FACT

Using aerosols can save you money! When you consider both the dollars and sense of it, you'll find it's perfectly true.

AEROSOLS SAVE TIME

An aerosol will do a job as well as or better than a non-aerosol, and much, much faster. Compare spray-on, wipe-off window cleaners with the old system of bucket, sponge and polishing cloth. What about spray wax? paint? oven cleaner?

Aerosols will save you time, and time is money. How much would you have to pay a maid or housekeeper? How many free hours will you gain for yourself by using aerosols?

The Aerosol Division, Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association, says that studies show using aerosols in house-keeping can save you as much as ten hours a month. Translate that into dollars — and count the savings!

AEROSOLS ELIMINATE ACCESSORY ITEMS

Are you painting some furniture? Buy a can of paint and you also need — brushes or rollers, brush cleaner, a container to clean brushes and possibly a roller pan. Buy an aerosol paint and you also need — nothing.

Window washing the old fashioned way requires a bucket of water, some type of cleaner, a "wet" cloth and a polishing cloth. Try an aerosol — your only "accessory" will be a roll of paper towels.

What about whipped cream?

Cream, sugar, mixing bowl, mixer — and all those dishes to wash! The aerosol kind tastes just as good and, for dieters, you can get the low-calorie kind.

Sit down sometime, and add up the cost of all these accessory items. It can mount up!

AEROSOLS ELIMINATE SPOILAGE

How many half-empty cans and bottles did you have to throw out last year because of products that dried out or spoiled? How many products were spilled and wasted?

This kind of waste does not happen with an aerosol. Aerosol cans are hermetically sealed, so the contents cannot spill, evaporate, sour or dry up. They will be just as good six months or a year from now.

Count the dollars wasted in spillage and spoilage — another aerosol saving!

Yes, aerosols do save money. Here are some CSMA tips for use:

- (1) Read the label; (2) Store away from heat; (3) Dispose with the non-burnable trash; and (4) Enjoy your spray-savings.

Allstate Passenger Tire Guarantee Tread Life Guarantee

Guaranteed Against: All failures of the tire resulting from normal road hazards or defects in material or workmanship. For How Long: For the life of the original tread. What Sears Will Do: Repair nail punctures at no charge. In the case of failures, in exchange for the tire, replace it charging only the proportion of current regular selling price plus Federal Excise Tax that represents tread-life.

Tread Wear-Out Guarantee

Guaranteed Against: Tread wear-out. For How Long: The number of months specified. What Sears Will Do: In exchange for the tire, replace it charging the current regular selling price plus Federal Excise Tax less the following allowance:

Months Guaranteed	Allowance

Extra Closet Adds Space

HANDY STORAGE — Bedroom accessory closet uses skinny space behind a door, in a corner or between windows. Shoe shelves and trays for gloves, handkerchiefs, scarves, jewelry are in lower half. Above go hats and handbags. Mirrors on inside of double doors provide front-back view. Closet has Douglas fir shelving and sides and fir panel doors.

Applicants Wanted For Presidential Running Mate

WASHINGTON—The advertisement might read: Wanted, self-effacing man, preferably around 50, popular with young people, liberals, Negroes, city dwellers and doves; for well-paying job with chance of advancement.

Applicants should apply to Hubert H. Humphrey and Richard M. Nixon, who at this point must be regarded as the probable presidential nominees; and who sooner or later must select running mates.

THE THEORY is that the vice-presidential nominee will balance the ticket, and give it strength in geographic, ethnic and ideological areas where the top dog is weak, and now and then it works out that way.

The best recent example is the tangible support Lyndon B. Johnson gave to John F. Kennedy in the unusually close election of 1960, particularly in the South ("What's Richard M. Nixon ever done for Culpepper, Va.?).

This year's election may well be just as close, and both Democratic and Republican second men will be expected to pull a lot more than their own weight in the coming campaign.

The Democrats have the ideal man for Humphrey — and for his tenacious opponent, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, as well. It is Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.), who fills the bill admirably and who has the charismatic additive as well of being a Kennedy.

MANY POLITICIANS think

Find Cancer Link

Important new clues in the fight against human cancer have recently been discovered by researchers studying cancer in dogs at the Epizootiology Section, National Cancer Institute.

Established seven years ago at Michigan State University, the epizootiology section has been collecting data on animal diseases from 14 university veterinary clinics and diagnostic laboratories in the United States, Canada, England and Czechoslovakia.

ON JULY 1, the section was transferred from MSU to the National Cancer Institute's headquarters in Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Richard A. Tjalma, former section chief who is now with the Mayo Clinic, said one of the most meaningful findings of his research staff was that bone cancer occurs 257 times more frequently in large dogs (over 80 pounds) than it does in small dogs (under 20 pounds).

This information, he said, confirms what epidemiologists have long suspected — that there is a possible connection between bone cancer and rapid growth, perhaps due to an error in cell division.

"For example," Dr. Tjalma said, "we know that large children have bone cancer more frequently than smaller children and that the disease occurs more often in Americans than in the smaller Japanese."

We also know that incidence of bone cancer has increased in Japan along with the national increase in average height."

"HOWEVER, the evidence was not clear—the differences were too small—until the data about the dogs was brought to light.

Dr. Tjalma said that collecting this kind of information was almost impossible in the past because there was no standard system for reporting the information, and different veterinary schools used various names to describe the same disease.

The epizootiology section at MSU attempted to meet these obstacles, Dr. Tjalma said, by establishing a standard nomenclature, devising a standard hospital records system, and designing a computerized medical data storage and retrieval system.

These procedures have now been adopted by the 13 other clinics and laboratories working in this research field, with European stations reporting directly to the World Health Organization in Geneva, Switzerland.

Bishop's Cap Prefers Shade

The leaves of bishop's cap (Mitella diphylla) are heart-shaped, lobed and toothed. The small white flowers make their appearance in April and May.

To be happy, bishop's cap prefers a shady spot in rich, well-drained soil.

young Kennedy has only to nod his head to get the job from either man; also that the resultant ticket would be extremely hard to beat; also, that the senator will not choose to run.

If he does stay out of it, the Democrats are seen to be extremely short of possibilities. Sargent Shriver, a Kennedy in-law, maybe has the best known name, for his administration of the Peace Corps and the war on poverty.

Would Humphrey, despite a partial constitutional block, choose McCarthy as his second man? And would McCarthy say yes, when he isn't even sure he could vote for him? Would Macy's take a second to Gimbel's?

(One answer to that is yes, the quick example being Lyndon Johnson's agreement in 1960 to run on the Kennedy ticket, after his best friends said it was impossible.)

And who else? It is a sad fact for Democrats that they have no one of sufficient distinction to demand attention in the running-mate department;

no one whose name leaps quickly to mind and brings forth the instant "of course; it is a ticket made in heaven."

NIXON HAS a somewhat easier chore. He has at least three young men on the green side of 50 who are dovish, liberalish, handsome and generally strong among voters, where the former vice president is not.

One is Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, who until his recent surprise endorsement of Nixon was one of his stronger critics. But he has no national claim.

Another is Sen. Charles H. Percy of Illinois, who may be even better-looking than Hatfield and, furthermore, comes from a big state and has quickly made his name known nationally. Both he and Hatfield are willing.

Then there is Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, who is the best-looking of the three, and not only has a magnetic quality but comes from a great big state that Nixon might well need help to carry.

But, in addition to showing no particular liking for Nixon's brand of Republicanism, Lindsay is from Nixon's state, as McCarthy is from Humphrey's.

THE CONSTITUTION does not say residents from the same state may not be elected President and vice president — only that Electoral College members from that state cannot vote for both.

It is thought possible that the Constitutional requirement could be met by having one or the other of them, after the election, move out of the state and declare himself, for example, a resident of Washington. It has never been court-tested.

But suppose, in the case of a Nixon-Lindsay ticket, that the New York electors kicked over the traces and chose to vote for Mayor Lindsay instead of Nixon. In a close election the Empire State's 43 Electoral College votes might well beat him.

So it is possible that we could have a President and a vice president of different parties. And there is another way this could happen.

If George C. Wallace's third-party candidacy wins in enough states, none of the nominees could get the required Electoral College majority, thus throwing the presidential election into the House.

And at the same time, the Senate would be choosing a vice president, who might easily be a Democrat while a Republican — Southern Democrat coalition in the House was electing a Republican President.

H.L. Hunt Discloses Anecdotes, Political Views

H.L. Hunt, billionaire Texas oilman, chuckled softly in his suite at the Ambassador East Hotel as he recalled a magazine article about him.

"I forget whether my picture was on the cover or inside," he said, "but, anyway, the lines under the picture said I was the 'richest single man in the United States.'"

He held up his manicured, age-spotted hands.

"I guess a lot of women took the words to mean I was unmarried, because for several days after that I got 2,000 letters a day, most of them proposing marriage."

ANOTHER TIME, recalled the happily married billionaire, a magazine expressed doubt he was the nation's richest man. "I got a letter from an auto mechanic in Nebraska, who also was named Hunt, telling me to get on the ball. He said something like, 'We Hunts shouldn't be outdone by anyone.'"

The letter pleased Hunt so much that he got the mechanic's permission to use the letter on one of the eight books he has written.

Most of Hunt's books, which he pays to have published, stress the need for responsible American leadership and a stronger fight against world communism.

A cherubic, green-eyed, almost bald man with an addiction to bow ties, colored shirts and dark blue suits, Hunt is as unpretentious as a country newspaper editor.

In fact, he writes a column that is distributed free and published by some 30 dailies and about 60 weekly newspapers, mostly in the South.

"Some newspapers won't publish my columns because they're afraid they might get a reputation for being too con-

Mad Cells Give Clues On Cancer

WASHINGTON -- Medical science may well find a cure for cancer before it ever fully understands the disease.

While laboratories around the world perform endless sophisticated experiments designed to reveal why some body cells go mad and create malignancies, medical men in hospitals try what treatments they can devise for actual victims.

Of their three main weapons -- surgery, radiation and drugs -- the drugs seem to be making the most progress.

Researchers from the National Cancer Institute at Bethesda, Md., and the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center of New York City report good results from Ara-C, or cytosine arabinoside.

A Sloan-Kettering research team, headed by Dr. T.S. Gee, used Ara-C in combination with 6-thioguanine. Both drugs were effective against acute leukemia, cancer of the blood-forming organs.

Dr. Edward S. Henderson and his co-workers report a new method of administering Ara-C has caused the temporary disappearance of all evidence of the disease in 19 of 40 patients with acute myelocytic leukemia -- a type of leukemia against which little progress has previously been made.

Earlier methods had involved lower doses or rapid injection of Ara-C, but significantly greater intravenous doses were given for four hours a day for four consecutive days, then repeated at one-week intervals.

Each infusion was preceded by a priming dose one-sixth as large as the main dose, Dr. Henderson says.

Hardens Quickly

A "fast fix" cement which hardens in 30 minutes or less and provides a strength equivalent to concrete that has dried for 28 days, has been developed for the U.S. Air Force by a Texas firm, Western Co. of Richardson, Texas.

The new cement is being used in Vietnam to fill mortar and rocket-damaged runways. It is also being tested on Dallas streets and on a concrete bridge.

Collect Bouquets

Now is the time to collect specimens for next winter's dried arrangements.

Strawflower, globe amaranth, celosia, statice and salvia may be dried by simply hanging them upside down in a warm darkened area that has a free circulation of air.

Pick strawflowers just as the outer row of petals are unfolding. They will open as they dry.

servative," he said. "But I'm not a conservative, I'm a constructivist."

HUNT DEFINES his constructivist political philosophy as wanting to move forward with care and thoughtfulness.

In addition to his voluminous writing, Hunt appears frequently on radio and television to express his views. He also sponsors a Youth Freedom Speakers movement in which 9,000 young people have been enlisted to speak briefly on democracy before church, fraternal and other groups. He was in Chicago to confer with investment bankers and to visit friends.

Because of his immense wealth and intense interest, Hunt, 79, is a formidable figure in American politics.

backers of the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the general's unsuccessful bid for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

Hunt backed fellow-Texan Lyndon B. Johnson for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, when Mr. Johnson took the No. 2 spot.

"I supported Lyndon because of his ability to get things done," said Hunt, leaning forward in his upholstered, wing-backed chair, "but I feel he's been the least successful of any President."

"He hasn't won the war and his Great Society program has robbed the American people of the pride of accomplishment. Why, you can't even hire anyone today."

HUNT SAID he had started a year ago trying to get Gov.

James A. Rhodes of Ohio interested in seeking the Republican presidential nomination.

"I told Rhodes he ought to begin speaking out on the issues," said Hunt, "but he said he didn't like to make speeches. So I told him to take some elocution lessons, but I couldn't stir him up."

Hunt said he would support former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the current presidential race, if Nixon is nominated.

"He'll make a lot better President than he would have a few years back," he said. You mean, asked a reporter, he's become more conservative?

"More constructivist," Hunt corrected.

Hunt said he was less than lukewarm about Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, because he considered him a poor administrator.

How about Sen. Charles H. Percy (R-Ill.) as a vice presidential possibility?

"He's a little bit like Rockefeller as far as I'm concerned. If he's not a liberal, he's at least a moderate, and I don't like either one. Moderates want to be all things to all people. They lack the courage of their convictions."

European Troops Stir Congressional Debate

The size of the American military commitment in Europe is expected to be a subject of sharp debate when Congress takes up the annual defense appropriations bill.

At the center of the controversy will be an amendment promised by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., which would cut off funds for all but 50,000 of the approximately 337,000 American military personnel now committed to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

On April 19, Symington withdrew a similar amendment which he had proposed to the military procurement authorization bill with the understanding that he would re-introduce it when appropriations came up in July.

SENTIMENT for reducing American Forces in Europe, evident since the opening of the 90th Congress, has intensified with the Vietnam build-up and with increasing concern over the U.S. balance of payments. Proponents of the cutback cite signs of a growing East-West detente and the failure of other NATO countries to match the U.S. contribution as indications that the U.S. military presence in Europe greatly exceeds current needs.

A measure of support for reductions came May 17 from the administration when Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he had informed other NATO defense ministers they could "not expect the United States to maintain the level of troops that we now have in Europe."

Clifford's statement contrasted significantly with the April 26, 1967 statement of then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara before an ad hoc Senate subcommittee set up to consider the question of NATO troop reduction.

At that time McNamara said "it would be particularly unfortunate" for the United States to make a "substantial reduction" in its NATO forces. "I think," McNamara added, "it would be misunderstood by the people of Western Europe and, as a matter of fact, the peoples of Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union as well."

STILL BEING considered by the same Senate subcommittee are two resolutions expressing the sense of the Senate that the European NATO countries be urged to make greater contributions to the alliance and that U.S. forces in Europe be redeployed.

The two resolutions, introduced by Sens. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) and Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.), would, if accepted, amend a 1951 Senate resolution affirming the present NATO commitment. Both the 1951 resolution and the two pending ones are purely advisory rather than holding the force of law.

The Javits resolution has 12 co-sponsors, the Mansfield proposal 44. Fifty-three senators have co-sponsored one or the other.

Spokesmen for the ad hoc subcommittee told CQ that action on the resolutions was not expected before the end of the 90th Congress.

Since both resolutions will lapse if not acted on, proponents of reducing American forces in Europe are rallying behind the Symington amendment.

SOME OPPOSITION to the amendment may come from senators who, though they favor withdrawal, do not accept the magnitude of the withdrawal proposed by Symington.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., an opponent of the amendment who accepts the idea of a small withdrawal, is chief proponent of the argument that the growing detente is a result of the troops' presence, and therefore a reason for keeping them there rather than withdrawing them.

According to the most recent unclassified figures available through the Defense Department, there were 337,000 U.S. troops in Europe as of Dec. 31, 1967: 212,000 Army; 39,000 Navy and Marine; 68,000 Air Force.

Army personnel are highly concentrated in West Germany. Air Force personnel are stationed primarily in Germany and England. Naval personnel are with the 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean while the majority of the Marines are either attached to the 6th Fleet or stationed at the Naval base at Rota, Spain.

THE VAST majority of U.S. troops stationed in Europe are in support of the U.S. commitment to NATO. As of Dec. 31, 1967, 245,000 of these were stationed in West Germany in support of NATO's Central European Command.

A small number of U.S. military personnel are stationed in Europe on non-NATO assignment. These are units such as attaché forces at the U.S. Embassies (Marines) and elements of the U.S. strategic communications command.

In addition to troops, there were in Europe as of Sept. 30, 1967 according to a Defense Department spokesman, 251,885 dependents of U.S. military personnel. A year before, there had been 246,915.

Though Sen. Mansfield denied any economic motives in introducing his resolution to bring home the troops from Europe, a number of Senators including Sen. Symington have pointed out the economic benefits of reducing the U.S. military payments deficit in Western Europe which from 1965 to 1967 averaged $500 million.

If the combined sponsorship of the Mansfield and Javits resolutions were to assemble in support of the Symington amendment, the measure would carry the Senate.

The amendment, however, calls for more severe troop reductions than either of the resolutions.

In addition, some observers fear that recently increased tensions over the West Berlin access question may have eroded support that might have existed earlier.

IN THE EVENT the amendment were accepted by the Senate, the House, which by tradition is more sympathetic to the military, would almost certainly challenge it in conference.

A possible challenge to the amendment could come in the Senate on constitutional grounds.

While the Constitution gives Congress the power to "raise and support armies," it has generally been considered the prerogative of the Chief Executive to make deployment decisions.

The Symington amendment which would limit troops in Europe to 50,000 men might be construed as legislating deployment - a function that might be considered beyond the power of Congress.

WAVE OF EXCELLENCE

Michigan's "Mr. Deer" Retiring

Ilo H. Bartlett, Michigan's "Mr. Deer" for more than 4 decades, is retiring from the Conservation Department July 20. Shown here with one of the animals he loved and dedicated his career to, "Bart" has personally truded over thousands of miles in northern Michigan's whitetail country and braved the stormy blasts of winter to literally live with deer during their hard times. As a result, he has learned the ways of deer in Michigan and the vicissitudes of their wintry existence as no other man has learned and cared about them. And from this personal communion with whitetails, Bart has worked tirelessly as a disciple of antlerless deer hunting as a merciful measure for managing these animals. Honored as Michigan's "Wildlife Conservationist of the Year" in 1965 and as the Great Lakes Area's "Mr. Deer" the year before, this man leaves an indelible mark on the modern-day program of sound, scientific management of the whitetailed deer. —Michigan Dept. of Conservation

Try Private Campgrounds If State Parks Crowded

Michigan has at least 100 privately owned campgrounds which remain undiscovered by most campers. These grounds have room even when most of the 13,000 sites of 67 state parks are full, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. It is estimated that at least 32,000 persons were turned away from state parks over the recent Fourth of July weekend, while many private parks nearby were unfilled. There are approximately 8,100 campsites at 119 private parks in the state, according to a listing compiled by Auto Club. Many of these parks had vacancies over the Fourth of July while almost every Lower Peninsula state park was jammed. PRIVATE PARKS vary in size from under a dozen sites to 600 sites. Twenty-eight parks listed on the accompanying Auto Club map have 100 or more sites.

Daily fees at private parks range from $1 to $5. Facilities range from minimal to deluxe, with clubhouse and heated pool. Auto Club points out that camping families who know where private parks are located can take the uncertainty out of a weekend trip even during the peak of the summer season. The listing provides general locations, daily fees, phone numbers, number of sites, and facilities available. It is the most complete listing of private parks in the state.

The listing does not "rate" or approve any of the areas, Auto Club states. It is intended only as a guide. Campers may find more up-to-date facilities or a better beach at one area than at another with an identical listing, Auto Club points out.

PRIVATE CAMPGROUNDS offer many services and facilities to the public not available at state parks. For example, Holiday Park, near Traverse City, has a $4 daily fee. It has 41 sites with coin operated automatic laundry machines and other modern facilities. It does not have a pool. Timber Shores, also near Traverse City, is known as one of the most deluxe campgrounds in the state at $5 daily with pool.

Reservations can be made at private campgrounds, guaranteeing a site upon arrival, but state parks operate on a first-come, first-served basis.

Other services sometimes available at private but not at state parks are supervised children's play area, sewer and water hookups at sites, horse, bicycle, boat, and motor rental. With few exceptions, there is no daily entrance fee or seasonal fee charged at private parks. Auto Club points out that it is best to check private parks in advance before arrival even if a reservation is not necessary. A few private parks do not allow tents or dogs and are not open on a year-around basis.

Sidewalk Cafes Are Popular

WASHINGTON--It appears that in Washington, the capital of les Etats-Unis, and in New York, le fun city, sidewalk cafes are in the mode.

In 1961, les commissaires of the District of Columbia made a regulation that permitted Washingtonians to take of refreshments on their trottoirs.

DIPLOMATS, GOVERNMENT GIRLS, tourists and natives now enjoy 32 sidewalk cafes, serving everything from traditional aperitifs to steak-and-kidney pie. Even on one of the capital's hot, humid days, habitués prefer the terraces to air-conditioned interiors.

In New York, city officials relaxed strict license regulations to encourage outdoor restaurants. At last count, 82 cafes were flourishing in the metropolitan clamor of Manhattan and as far afield as Queens.

SIDEWALK CAFES, novelties in the United States, are well-established amenities in many European cities.

In Paris, they face two ominous threats. One comes from Paris officials who have ordered outdoor cafes inside when they interfere with pedestrian traffic. The other is a growing trend to snack bars offering cheeseburgers and hot dogs.

Normans Are Wed By Candlelight

Vases of pom-pom mums and white gladiolas surrounded Elaine Ann Braunreuther and Victor Robert Norman as they spoke their marriage vows in a double-ring candlelight ceremony July 26 in Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church, Farmington.

The Rev. Thomas Bissonette heard the vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Braunreuther, of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Norman, of Pontiac.

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of organza with long bridal sleeves enriched with alencon lace and seed pearls. Her train was cathedral length and she carried a cascade of white daisies and carnations.

The matron of honor for the occasion was Mrs. Bev. Retzlaff and the bridesmaids included Mary Norman, Lindsay Bopp, Claire Hinman, Donna Braunreuther and Donna Chambers.

The attendants wore mint green floor-length gowns of silk organza with free flowing shoulder panels trimmed with daisies of lace at the bodice and carried bouquets of daisies.

Shelly Rutenber served as flower girl and Brad Braunreuther as ring bearer.

JOHN RETZLAFF was best man and the bridegroom chose Rick Braunreuther, Hank Hardin, Steve Retzlaff, Ken Rutenber and Larry Newberry as his ushers.

The bride's mother wore an ensemble of yellow silk shantung with beading at the neck and the mother of the bridegroom wore a silver costume.

The couple are going to New York and Boston for their wedding trip. They will make their home in Auburn Heights, Mich.

Pair Speaks Vows In Mt. Pleasant

Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Mt. Pleasant was the scene of the July 13 wedding of Carol Ann Silvernail and James Stephen Prucha.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Silvernail, of Mt. Pleasant. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Margaret Prucha, of Nottingham Avenue, Farmington, and Stephen Prucha, of Detroit.

The Rev. Monsignor Joseph C. Dunphy performed the double-ring noon ceremony.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride approached the altar in a floor-length gown of ivory silk organza over matching taffeta. Rose point lace fashioned the empire bodice and elbow-length sleeves, and formed a deep band around the skirt.

Jewel-trimmed petals held the bride's triple-tiered bouquet well, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Norma Nicola, of Wayne, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Janet Silvernail, Sandra Ward and Mrs. Donald Dennis, sister of the bridegroom.

THEIR CAGE GOWNS were tangerine chiffon over taffeta, and they wore matching pill-box headpieces and carried small wicker baskets of orange-tinted carnations and fern.

Penny Prucha, sister of the bridegroom, and Debra Nartser were flower girls. Their gowns and flowers were like the bridesmaids' and they wore orange bows in their hair.

Tim Rourke, of Farmington, was best man. The groomsmen were Mike Gardner, Donald Dennis and Steve Rossiter, and Frank Prucha and Don Prucha, brothers of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

A buffet luncheon at The Embers followed the ceremony.

THE COUPLE went to the Grand Bahama Islands for their honeymoon, and now are living in Farmington.

The bride is a graduate of Sacred Heart Academy and Saginaw General School of Nursing, and is employed as a registered nurse in Providence Hospital, Southfield. Her husband is a graduate of Michigan State University, where he was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta fraternity. He is employed by International Business Machines and will attend the University of Detroit law school in the fall.

The bridegroom's mother was hostess for the rehearsal dinner at The Embers the evening before the wedding.

The wedding was a traditional Catholic ceremony.

Mrs. Blaine Takes Torch Drive Post

Mrs. Thomas Blaine, 11715 Nathaline, has been named a division chairman in the United Foundation Recruitment Corps for the 1968 Torch Drive.

Her responsibility will be to seek advance commitments from Redford residents to accept campaign assignments during the 20th annual United Foundation Drive.

She will contact women's organizations and church groups in an effort to interest others in volunteer work.

The Torch Drive will be held Oct. 15 through Nov. 7 to raise operating funds for nearly 200 health and community services in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

Mrs. Blaine was an area chairman for the house-to-house canvass in Redford Township during last year's Torch Drive.

Adventist Encampment Hears Friend Of Dr. Dooley

Richard C. Hall, 43, doesn't look like a doctor and he isn't, but that didn't stop a desperate Lao mother in Namtha, northern Laos from asking for his help.

When the late Dr. Tom Dooley left his clinic-hospital in that village for a new hospital he had opened farther north, this mother was desperate. When she saw Hall, the only American in the village, she demanded he treat her critically ill child. Though Hall protested that he was not a doctor, the mother replied: "You are an American. Dr. Dooley was an American. So you can heal my child."

That was only the first of many cases "doctor" Hall handled in Namtha. When he encountered symptoms he had no answer for, he had a pilot friend fly the list of complaints to Dr. Dooley asking him to send back medicines for healing.

The remote-control arrangement is one of many Hall has used successfully in the back-country jungles of Laos, Thailand, Sarawak, and Brunei where he has served as a Seventh-day Adventist missionary.

Last week he attended the centennial celebration of Adventist Camp Meetings and spoke to some 20,000 members on the Grand Ledge Camp grounds this Saturday.

Hall is back in the United States on furlough after 13 years of jungle-hopping missionary work in southeast Asia. He was on the U.S. West Coast briefly last year seeking financial help to replace his Cessna 180 airplane which met with disaster when it dropped from a sling while being ferried from a back-country airstrip to Kuching, Sarawak, by an RAF British helicopter.

The missionary had been assured by natives at a little airstrip—one of a series he was having built to handle his mission plane—that the ground was dry and firm. But when he rolled down the strip on landing, his plane sank into nearly two feet of soft earth and flipped onto its back.

The Royal Air Force graciously agreed to bring the plane out to Kuching for minor repairs; but while about 400 feet off the ground, the sling broke and the plane dropped, completely destroying it.

"Without the plane," says Hall, who is president of the Adventists' Sarawak-Brunei Mission, "I was lost in my missionary work. We used it continually to ferry critically ill persons out of the rain forests to the five hospitals in Sarawak and Brunei. The

State's Rat Removal Progressing

EAST LANSING -- Progress has been reported in Michigan State University's efforts to accelerate removal of pesticide residues from animals systems.

Dairy scientists D.G. Braund L. D. Brown and J.T. Huber contaminated a group of rats with the pesticide, dieldrin, and fed half of them the drug heptabarbital. At the end of just 14 days, residues stored in body fat of treated rats were reduced by 75 per cent.

HEPTABARBITAL also proved effective in treating animals already contaminated with dieldrin. Rats were fed the drug during a six-week decontamination period. A 96 per cent reduction in stored dieldrin was found.

plane had saved scores of lives."

As a result of his fund-raising last year, Hall was able to order a new Cessna, and today it is doing the work of the airplane which was destroyed.

While still in northern Laos, before being driven out by the Communists in 1960, Hall worked closely with Dr. Tom Dooley. Although of different faiths, the two men became close friends. Each week Mrs. Hall would send three loaves of fresh, home-baked bread to Dooley and his American aides at their tiny hospital at Moung Sing; Dooley would send back medicines for "doctor" Hall to give his patients.

VATICAN CITY -- Pope Paul VI has confirmed the traditional teaching of the Catholic Church of family regulation and has reaffirmed the rejection of every form of artificial birth control.

In an encyclical entitled "Humanae Vitae," from the two Latin opening words, meaning "Of Human Life," Pope Paul insisted on the norm of natural law that "each of every marriage act must remain open to the transmission of life."

Though not specifically mentioned, the use of the "pill" to avoid pregnancy is excluded by the papal document, according to Msgr. Fernand Lambruschini of Rome's Lateran University, who presented the encyclical at a press conference at the Vatican press hall.

POPE PAUL acknowledged that "it can be foreseen that this teaching will perhaps not be easily received by all: Too numerous are those voices--amplified by modern means of propaganda--which are contrary to the voice of the church."

However, he answered: "To tell the truth the church is not surprised to be made, like her Divine Founder, a 'sign of contradiction'; yet because of this she does not cease to proclaim with humble firmness the entire moral law, both natural and evangelical."

Msgr. Lambruschini said: "From a human point of view the pontifical decision, which makes no concession to popularity, is an act of great courage and an example of perfect serenity." Msgr. Lambruschini added that "human aspects for that matter, however important, cannot relegate the supernatural to second place."

The encyclical was addressed to patriarchs, archbishops and bishops, other local ordinaries "in peace and communion with the Apostolic See, as well as to priests, the faithful and to all men of good will."

THE LETTER begins with the statement:

"The most serious duty of transmitting human life, for which married persons are the free and responsible collaborators of God the Creator, has always been a source of great joys to them even if sometimes accompanied by not a few difficulties and by distress."

The letter took brief note of various problems which have been advanced by those who support artificial birth control methods. Among them, the Pope noted the world population, which, he said, is "growing more rapidly than the available resources, with growing distress to many families and developing countries."

He also referred to arguments regarding the need to better educate children today and the change that has come about in woman's place in modern society and lastly that man who has made so many advances in dominating and organizing natural forces now "tends to extend this dominion to his own total being: to the body, to physical life, to social life and even to the laws which regulate the transmission of life."

THE QUESTION asked today, the encyclical stated, is "whether, in view of the increased sense of responsibility of modern man, the moment has not come for him to entrust to his reason and his will, rather than to the biological rhythms of his organism, the task of regulating birth."

Before giving his answer, the Pope paused to point out that he was speaking out on the subject by virtue of the power entrusted by Christ to Peter and the Apostles and their successors.

When Christ entrusted the church to these, Pope Paul said, "He constituted them as guardians and authentic interpreters of all the moral law, not only, that is, of the law of the Gospel but also of the natural law, which is also an expression of the will of God, the faithful fulfillment of which is equally necessary for salvation."

In drawing up his answer, the Pope acknowledged the work of the special commission established by Pope John XXIII in 1963 and later expanded by Pope Paul, as well as the views sent "by a good number of our brother bishops."

He noted, however, that the conclusions of the commission did not "dispense us from a personal examination of this serious question," since the commission was not in full agreement on various points.

The Pope stressed that there are two inseparable aspects in the conjugal act, union and procreation. While not "every conjugal act is followed by a new life... nonetheless the church, calling men back to the observance of the norms of the natural law, as interpreted by her constant doctrine, teaches that each and every marriage act must remain open to the transmission of life."

Vinyl Finds Outdoor Use

The search for the "no-maintenance" home has led to the increased use of vinyl as a building material.

Vinyl has already found wide acceptance for many applications inside a home, including flooring and wall covering.

Now it has moved outdoors in a big way, because of the low-maintenance qualities of a particularly tough kind of vinyl known as rigid vinyl.

A dramatic new step toward relieving homeowners of weekend maintenance chores is the development of Andersen Perma-Shield windows and gliding doors, which have a rigid vinyl sheathing over a wood core.

They offer the same beauty and comfort advantages as wood cases, but don't require painting and will not rust, pit or decay.

Fence Defense

Do you need to accumulate on a chain link rail of a fence is a menace, holding moisture and fostering moss growth. Much of the trouble can be avoided by laying a one-inch stream bed of river rock directly under the fence line. A one-foot width is best.

Ross Analyzes Tax Surcharge

WASHINGTON -- Even the man who has been commissioner of the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) for the past three years is uncertain about how the tax surcharge--spending cut package might affect the economy.

Youth Get Expression In London

To a young designer, the London atmosphere offers far more individuality of expression than does America, the "land of the free."

Detroit-born Hylan Booker first invaded Mod-land to study at the Royal College of Art, whose intensive preparation he feels helped him win this year's "London Look" award.

PROFESSIONALISM at the school meant almost continuous preparation for many fashion shows, he says.

"I'd be working on as many as 20 garments at a time. When I went there, I couldn't sew. When I graduated, I was a fairly good tailor."

Booker's award was particularly satisfying to him because his competitors were mostly way-out English designers, whose collections included fabrics like vinyl, fiber glass, and feathers, and garments with parka hoods hanging down the back. Booker designs for 19 and 20-year-olds.

WHEN HE'S planning a collection, he thinks in fabrics. "I have a gabardine story to tell, with a casual coat to unify it. I had a tweed story, and one of the Fifth Avenue stores bought it up.

"Compared to other designers, I guess I'm conservative. I like good design, good proportion. I think of the garment as long-lasting, not a one-timer.

Voice Box Transplant Is Much Simpler

Dr. Dan W. Habel, a Spokane, Wash., otolaryngologist and Ann Arbor native who graduated from the U-M Medical School and served his internship and residency at University Hospital, told a recent medical conference that transplanting the larynx (voice box) will be simpler in many ways than transplanting organs now being replaced.

This is good news considering the number of cases of cancer of the larynx appearing in the medical records these days.

Dr. Habel said the fact that the larynx is not a vital organ means surgeons can wait for the recipient in transplant operations.

The larynx is also visible during the surgery and after, allowing surgeons to watch its progress easily, he said. Dr. Habel left Ann Arbor in 1965 to serve two years as a captain in the U.S. Air Force Medical Corps. He has been practicing in Spokane since last August.

Meanwhile, considerable restraint should be exercised by government, management and labor within the next six months, said Arthur M. Ross, who has stepped down from the BLS post to become a University of Michigan vice president.

The 51-year-old Ross succeeds Marvin Niehuss, who retired as the University's liaison man with the State Board of Education.

Ross said the 10 per cent income tax surcharge passed by Congress is necessary to hold down inflation. But he said the companion order for a $6 billion spending cut amounts to an "overkill" that will harm aid to education and other domestic programs.

HE PREDICTED that the increase in consumers goods prices in the first half of 1969 will be "slightly lower" than the present rate of 4 per cent, that the rate of unemployment will rise to about 4 1/2 per cent compared to the present 3.5 per cent and that total working hours and overtime will be reduced.

The uncertain factor that has upset all economic planning, and will continue to do so, is the cost of the Vietnam war, Ross said.

Referring to uncertainties of the tax-spending cut package, Ross said: "I don't think this country has figured out how to handle cost-push inflation during a period of high employment."

Thus, he said, "new ideas of responsibility have to be accepted by management and labor" to avoid upsetting the delicate balance of the U.S. economy.

The federal government through new computerized methods of spotting trends, can be of assistance in maintaining that balance--but can't do it alone, Ross said.

THE IMPACT of organized labor in the present cost-push inflationary spiral will not be felt as much in 1969 because big industry labor contract wage patterns for the most part already have been established, Ross said.

Noting that an advisory wage increase guideline of 3.2 per cent has been disregarded in recent labor agreements, Ross said it would be more realistic to set flexible annual guidelines based on economic trends in any given year.

But this would require more give and take between government and industry, Ross said.

Vines Give Romantic Landscape

Romance, nostalgia, "back home" memories, happiness--these are the thoughts associated with vines.

Novelists have their lovers strolling beneath the clusters of purple Wisteria, or bathed in the fragrance of the Jasmine. Old grads love to return to the "ivy-covered walls," and what child has not conjured up dreams of adventure along with Jack on his bean stalk?

These same vines of happiness, love and adventure can be the vines of livability and memory in our modern gardens.

AS A GROUP, vines offer us some of the most interesting and dramatic displays we could want in a landscape. The saucer-sized and brilliantly colored flowers of the Clematis are equal in beauty to anything from our annual or perennial border.

We would have to look far to find a more interesting flower shape than that found on the Aristolochia. The yellowish-green tubular bloom resembles a meerschaum pipe, hence the common name Dutchman's Pipe.

Who could mistake the nearness of a Honeysuckle when it is in full bloom and perfuming the entire surroundings?

Some vines give us flowers when they are most needed in our garden, particularly late summer. The orange and scarlet flowers of the Trumpet vine appear then, as do the white heads of the Hydrangea vine.

MANY CLAIM that the most beautiful of all flowers is the Passionflower, a vine which graces southern gardens. The individual parts of this spectacular bloom, according to legend, are said to represent the instruments of the Crucifixion.

These are just a few of the many vines which the landscape design experts at the American Association of Nurserymen say can be planted around U.S. homes.

"Old-fashioned" vines also have a definite use in today's modern landscape setting. When creating a landscape plan, you may cover a blank wall with a vine as the background for a flower border. You may also soften the harsh corners of a straight-line architecture with the greenness of a climbing plant.

Homeowners will also consider vines as perfect covers for certain elements that are out of place in the garden picture. A steel or wire boundary fence is an example, as are hard-to-remove tree trunks and boulders. With the proper selection of a vine--you can make areas, once eyesores, new centers of beauty.

IN ADDITION to beauty, nature has provided vines with some most ingenious mechanisms so they can climb up their supports. Some vines--called "clingers"--will send out little strandlike tendrils with sticky pads or tiny roots at the end. As soon as they touch a wall, brick or tree trunk, they will grasp on as if glued. Vines with this climbing mechanism are ideal for masonry walls.

Still other vines send out similar tendrils which, instead of sticking, will twirl around the first item it can grasp, whether it be a twig, part of a trellis or the strands of a wire mesh or fence. Then there are other vines that twist and sew themselves in and around a trellis or other support.

French Premier Described As British Aristocrat

PARIS -- A pundit once remarked that all Maurice Couve de Murville lacked to be the perfect Englishman was an umbrella, but he had already swallowed it--a French figure of speech to describe someone who is stiff.

Certainly the public image of France's new prime minister presents almost a caricature of a reserved, unbending British aristocrat.

His clothes reflect the somber, fastidious elegance of Saville Row. His golf game is mediocre but rigorously pursued. He is an inveterate bridge player. He shuns the limelight and excels in understatement. He is phlegmatic and unflappable, with an ironic wit that can be charmingly self-deprecating or

Octopuses Used For Mind Study

Dr. Pasquale Graziadei, a Florida State University biologist, expects to use several hundred octopuses during the next two years in an experiment directed toward finding out how knowledge acquired through the senses is stored in the brain.

Octopuses, said Graziadei, who has worked for about 15 years with the ugly denizens of the deep, are so well equipped with sensory receptors they are like radar stations as they crouch and wait for food to come swimming by.

Their eyes and touch sensors are about on a par with man's while their chemical sensors, similar to man's smelling apparatus, are even better, the Florida scientist said.

The experiments are directed toward the discovery of just how it is that animals, including man, store in the brain the information they have learned.

The scientist, among other things, will try to make a chemical transfer of memory from one octopus to another.

While having a comparatively simple brain structure, the octopus is the cleverest of the invertebrates, occupying the position man does among the vertebrates.

But for all his resemblance to the product of a British public school, Maurice Couve de Murville never muddles through. In every task he has undertaken, the 61-year-old career civil servant has demonstrated a cool, almost mathematical precision in getting even the most difficult and unpleasant jobs done.

THE IMPRESSIVE record of service and accomplishment stretches over a quarter of a century: a gifted technocrat in Charles de Gaulle's World War II provisional government, diplomat and administrator in the brief postwar Gaullist era, one of France's most able ambassadors during the general's 12 years in the political wilderness, foreign minister for 10 years after the Gaullist restoration.

As foreign minister, a post he held longer than any Frenchman since Vergennes under Louis XVI, Couve de Murville built up a legendary reputation as the executor of de Gaulle's grand foreign policy designs.

There is a widely reported, though perhaps apocryphal story about de Gaulle and Nikita Khrushchev comparing notes on their respective foreign ministers. The Soviet prime minister boasted that Andrei Gromyko was so faithful that if he was ordered to sit on a block of ice, he would remain there until the ice melted away. De Gaulle is said to have replied that if Couve de Murville sat on a block of ice, the ice wouldn't melt.

ANOTHER STORY, this one undoubtedly true, describes Couve de Murville's reaction to de Gaulle's dramatic return to power in 1958, and his own appointment as foreign minister. When an aide came panting up to the 12th hole of the Cologne golf course to report that the general had made his comeback and had summoned the then ambassador to West Germany to his side, Couve de Murville politely thanked the messenger and then coolly proceeded to sink a difficult putt.

To most Frenchmen, Couve de Murville does indeed appear to be an iceberg, incapable of ordinary human emotions. But close associates insist this is only a mask, part of his professional diplomatic kit. Now that he is in a different job, a job that requires a popular touch as well as administrative and negotiating capacities, they are confident he will prove more than equal to the task.

Couve de Murville's experience as a practicing politician, as a figure for domestic consumption instead of an export model, is extremely limited. In fact, only the residents of the two most posh sections of Paris have had the chance to shake his hand during an election campaign. But his supporters argue that the outgoing prime minister, Georges Pompidou, was more of a political unknown when de Gaulle installed him in 1962.

ACTIVE POLITICAL life began for Couve de Murville in the spring of 1967, when he unexpectedly ran for a seat in the National Assembly from the 7th Arrondissement of the capital, long his home and the site of the Foreign Ministry.

After a hard-fought campaign, in which he drank raw aperitifs with workmen in cafes, met solemnly with a clan of charwomen in a bistro, meticulously visited convents to allay suspicions of his Protestant background, Couve de Murville lost by the thin margin of 235 votes. Despite the election setback, perhaps the greatest disappointment in his career, Couve de Murville was named foreign minister. But political insiders were convinced that if Couve de Murville had won, de Gaulle would have made him prime minister.

In the new legislative elections in June, Couve de Murville switched to a neighboring Paris constituency and scored an unquestioned victory.

French ministers are not required to hold National Assembly seats to enter the cabinet. Indeed, when Pompidou was named prime minister, he had never been a candidate for public office. Recently, however, de Gaulle has encouraged his ministers to prove that they have "the confidence of the people."

Even before the new elections de Gaulle seemed to be positioning Couve de Murville as a potential prime minister. After the May revolt by students and workers, the veteran foreign minister was moved to the finance ministry, putting him in the cabinet hot seat for domestic problems.

As the third prime minister in de Gaulle's 10-year-old 5th Republic, Couve de Murville inherits the greatest National Assembly majority ever achieved in modern France, as well as a morass of thorny economic and social problems that demand immediate attention.

WHAT APPROACH the new prime minister will bring to these problems remains to be seen.

As foreign minister, Couve de Murville was an ardent disciple of de Gaulle's policy of national independence and the loosening of America's political, economic and military grip on Europe.

He also was one of the general's most influential economic advisers, arguing for fiscal restraint, strong French foreign exchange reserves and the restoration of gold, in place of the dollar, as the cornerstone of the world monetary system.

In his one-month stint as finance minister, Couve de Murville seemed to confirm an attachment to financial orthodoxy. But surprisingly little is known about the new prime minister's views on social reform, the major task of his new government. Nor is Couve de Murville clearly associated with either the left or right wings of the Gaullist movement that he will now have to manage.

Some political analysts interpret Couve de Murville's appointment as an unmistakable signal that de Gaulle intends to assume direction of the reform program and will handle the necessary political wheeling and dealing himself. They see Couve de Murville as no more than a lightning rod if things turn sour. And they expect the new prime minister to remain the colorless, aloof, behind-the-scenes tactician he appeared to be as foreign minister. But they may be in for a surprise.

IN AN INFORMAL television appearance last winter, the supposedly diffident Couve de Murville made an extremely favorable impression on the man in the street.

In his short stay at the Finance Ministry, he seemed to reflect a new style to match his new job, taking great pains to explain his policies to the public in a direct, no-nonsense but down-to-earth manner.

The son of a judge in Reims, in northeastern France, Couve de Murville made a habit of winding up at the top of his class in a brilliant academic career. After taking a law degree, he passed a grueling civil service examination to win the coveted title of "inspector of finance" at age 23.

As a civil servant in the powerful Finance Ministry and later in the Foreign Ministry, he served under the Vichy regime of Marshal Petain until 1943, when he joined the Free French in Algiers.

Couve de Murville has three married daughters. His pet dachshund was a familiar figure in the Foreign Ministry.

Gems Grown In Marsh Gas

The first conclusive demonstration that diamonds can be grown from marsh gas (methane) has been made by a chemical engineering group at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

The diamond-growing process at present is quite slow and is only used to increase the size of industrial diamond abrasive powder.

LAKE MIRAMICHI

P.O. BOX 700

A Wholly Owned Subsidiary of American Realty Service Corporation, Memphis, Tennessee

Why has Lake Miramichi been so successful? Why have over 700 families purchased property at the "Actionland" of Michigan's fabulous north country and now enjoy the advantages of membership?

Because Lake Miramichi offers benefits, not promises. The fish are here. Big northern pike, tackle-busting bass and feisty bluegill.

There's a family campground where members can enjoy the outdoor life until their cottage is built. Here, also, is a complex of permanent boat docks and a marina for launching boats of any size. Shady picnic groves are spaced some 1200 feet apart all around the lake, and there's a beautiful 900 foot sandy beach with snack shop conveniently located nearby.

But the most important benefit at Lake Miramichi is the privacy you will enjoy in the company of good neighbors.

We invite you to see Lake Miramichi and sample the benefits of membership this weekend. You'll want to buy property, too. Make your plans today, won't you?

DIRECTIONS: Take Interstate 75 to Clare. Follow U.S. 10 from Clare 23 miles to Evart. Signs will lead you to Lake Miramichi.

Honor Dealer For National Sales Record

During recent ceremonies in Brown City, Travco Corporation paid special tribute to its leading dealer--Town and Country Dodge of Farmington. Town and Country was credited with the sale of more Dodge Motor Homes and Commercial Travelers than any other dealer in the country. A Dodge dealer since 1961, Town and Country was awarded a Travco distributorship in 1965. In addition to selling Dodge Motor Homes, Town and Country also has a number of units in fulltime lease and rental service.

THE LAND AROUND US... by THOMPSON

THE USE OF CHEMICALS TO FIGHT PESTS DATES BACK TO AT LEAST THE ANCIENT GREEKS, WHO USED BRIMSTONE (SULPHUR) AS AN INSECTICIDE. A COMMON SALT WAS PROBABLY USED AS ONE OF THE FIRST CHEMICAL WEED KILLERS.

SETTLERS IN THE GREAT PLAINS IN 1869 PREVENTED THEIR OWN STARVATION BY USE OF PARIS GREEN, AN ARSENICAL PRODUCT, TO SAVE THEIR POTATO CROPS FROM THE COLORADO POTATO BEETLE.

IN RECENT YEARS, CHEMICAL PESTICIDES HAVE BECOME A COMMON TOOL OF PROGRESSIVE FARMERS. IN 1966, MORE THAN $1 BILLION WORTH OF PESTICIDES WAS USED IN THE U.S. TO PRODUCE AND PROTECT AGRICULTURAL AND FOREST PRODUCTS.

The Right Light

Whether you "burn the midnight oil" for schoolwork, business reports, or during socks, make sure to have the proper illumination, advises the Better Vision Institute. Never work in "fringe" light; avoid glare by having the light hit squarely on your materials, and always sit with your back to the lamp, never facing it.
