Happy Birthday!

There will be a very special birthday party Saturday for a lifelong resident of the Plymouth community, and even President Nixon has sent his greetings. The honored lady at this occasion will be Mrs. Martha Foster, and there will be 100 candles on her cake.

Good Job Training

Vocational training in Plymouth schools has been given a big boost with the opening of the new high school, and even more classes will be added after the second high school is finished. Kathy Moran writes of the program, supplemented with pictures by Maurie Walker on

Think Spring

It may be snowing, but the Plymouth Symphony will have its notes directed towards spring this Sunday. An interesting program has been planned.

Learned At Home

The women's liberation movement isn't as new an idea as some may feel. For instance. The Stroller recalls that it has been some years since he was first converted to the women's cause. What's more, he didn't have to leave his own home to learn what it was all about

Questions should be sent to the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, P.O. BOX DRUGS, Livonia, Mich. 48151.

Q. I smoke grass and like it; it makes me feel good, and since my senses aren't affected, it 'doesn't interfere with driving a car. I have taken a bit of "mesc" but don't dig it because my senses weren't all there. My parents are set against grass, but do they realize that drinking and driving don't mix -- you have no control and brain cell damage can occur. These things don't happen with grass.

Age 17, Farmington A. First, you probably can write off the "mesc' (mescaline)" bit. It's a rarity around here. If all the mescaline claimed to be sold in this area actually were being shipped in, the skies would be blackened with cargo planes coming from the great south-

What is being sold here for mescaline is, in order of likelihood, 1)"speed" 2) nothing 3) LSD or 4) animal tranquillizers and other assorted dangerous drugs.

Your certainty that marijuana does not impair your driving is a natural assumption. After all, one of the most common effects of this drug is an increase in selfconfidence (and a decrease in self-criticism). It's pretty well established by now that marijuana may produce a "floating sensation" and a distortion of time and space relationships Frankly, what has not been established is the precise effect of these on a driver Only simulated tests have been done, and they are not definitive. Remember that entering a busy expressway from a ramp requires more coordination than landing a giant airliner. With this in mind, it becomes apparent that programming a meaningful simulated test, with all the many variables, is not easy. Why there have been no tests done under acutal driving conditions may possibly be due to the increasingly high cost of automobiles and insurance. We'd have to agree that there is a lot of hypocrisy in that alcohol, a known killer on the highways, is socially acceptable while marijuana is not. The response should not be to relax attitudes about marijuana (at least until more facts are in), but to consider tightening restrictions on drunken driving. England has done this already. And in Finland "respectable" business and professional men are sentenced to hard labor along with common "drunks" for driving violations connected with drinking.

Finally, it should be mentioned that one of the greatest dangers on our highways today is that person taking prescription or patent medicines which can affect driving performance. When almost every cold remedy on the market has to bear the legend "Do not drive or operate machinery while taking this preparation", even the mild psychedelics, such as marijuana, should be treated with the same respect.

Q. I keep seeing the term "O.D." or "O.D.'ed" lately in articles about drugs. What does it mean? R.J.M., Westland

A. The term "O.D." is an abbreviation for "overdose." It is used almost always with reference to heroin, and usually implies a fatal overdose. This generally conjures up an image of someone trying to get so high that he kills himself with an excess of the drug.

In actuality, the problem is that the one thing an addict is sure of is that the beroin he buys has been cut (diluted) many times before he buys it. He has to compensate for this by using a larger amount to even hold off withdrawal. To do this he has literally to shoot in the dark. If he guesses wrong mercy of his push

t, the from their state aid-printings for the reheining fiscal year. The state aid cuts are part of the million recently pared out of Michigan's budget, $12.6 buillion of which came from a shah in school aid payments. The House and Senate Appropriations Committees came up with the plans to belance the state budget in February and Gov. William

Milliken agreed with them. Under a formula established by the committee, state aid to school districts is to be cut by three quarters of one per cent of the total school budget. Onefifth of the money allocated from the "grandfather clause," which assures a school district it will not receive less state aid than in: the previous year, will also be

Originally the governor had suggested that school aid be cut by a flat two per cent, but legislators argued that some districts would be hit harder than others under this plan. The hardest hit districts would. be those who receive a larger percentage of their budget. from state aid rather than local revenue.

OBSERVERLAND districts will lose from approximately $25,000 in Clarenceville to as much as $250,000 in Livonia.

While Clarenceville's loss is estimated at $25,000 to $30,000, it is part of about $100,000 the district has had to account for in its budget since the beginning of the fiscal year.

Supt. David McDowell said the $8.4 million budget has suffered setbacks from the cuts in school aid and the trailer taxes as well as the. Supreme Court ruling requiring free textbooks.

LIVONIA'S Supt. R. H. Upton said the $250,000 cut will reduce the state share of the district budget from 38 percent to 36 percent. State aid accounted for about $12 million of the district's $35 million budget.

Upton said the cuts increased the likelihood of a deficit at the end of the operating year. No significant cuts can be made, he said, because 90 per cent of the budget goes, for contracted remaining is for necessary

The Livonia district is particularly hard hit by the cuts, he said, because residents of the district pay higher property taxes than

NEXT hardest hit are the two school districts in Redford Township which will lose a total of $230,000 for the remaining year.

The South Redford School District was the hardest hit of the two, losing an estimated $170,000 in state aid funds and "grandfather clause" aid.

Redford Union School District fared slightly better, taking a $58,875 cut in state aid. It does not receive funds nder the so-called grandfather clause.

The amount represents about a three per cent reduction in revenue over the school district's remaining four months of operation in the fiscal year. South Redford School District faces a similar cut over the next four months, amounting to about a six per cent slice in expected state PLYMOUTH'S school board is faced with cutting $151,000 from its budget and expects to: March 8 meeting from the finance committee on how to accomplish this. Final action is anticipated at that meeting.

Melvin Blunk, assistant uperintendent for business, already has made suggestions for deterring approximately $70,000 in capital expenditures and equipment purchases until the next fiscal year.

that eats leaves. Repeated tions will kill trees, thereby polluting and even destroying entire forests. During 1670, gypsy moths defoliated nearly 800,000 acres of woodlands in eight Northeastern States.

This more than tripled the acreage defoliated in 1969 and was six times more damage than in 1968.

The gypsy moth is a foreign pest that became established in the United States after several specimens escaped from a Massachusetts naturalist. At present, the entire states of Connecticut. Massachusetts, and Rhode Island are infested, along with parts of New Hampshire. Vermont, New Jersey. Maine, New York, and Pennsylvania.

The trapping of numerous male moths in Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia this on such a large scale that it is actually an "envi-renmental pollutor." A single two-inch caternillar eats one square foot of leaf surface every 24 hours. Large infestations (which contain millions of caterpillars) can eas-ily strip the foliage from an entire forest in a few weeks.

Repeated defoliations will destroy a forest. Dead trees increase fire hazards, permit soil erosion and the runoff of precious water. Shelter and. food for wildlife are destroyed and land and recreation values drastically re-

Townhouse

"The Willows," a cooperative community of 1-3 bedroom townhouses in the moderate price range, will have a grand opening next weekend in Canton Township.

The Willows is located at 409 Canterbury Circle, off Haggerty Rd. between Ford and Cherry Hill roads. Models are open every day but Thursday.

Developer is Bert L. Smokler, one of the country's largest builders of townhouses.

Designed for young families, limited-income families and apartment dwellers, the Willows has monthly rents as low as $117 for those who qualify under the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development's 236 program.

The development is in the Plymouth School District. All units have private front and rear entrances at ground level, a full basement and an upstairs. An association handles grounds-keeping, utility repair and exterior maintenance.

New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Damage and explosive papulation halldups have quickly followed the natural spread of the gypsy moth into these States. Thus far, most of the defoliation has ine and published to drag mental and shade trees on private land. If the moths continue to spread and become established in the commercial forests of the Appalachian and Ozark Mountain ranges, the economic and aesthetic loss could be tremendous.

FEMALE GYPSY moths cannot fly; long-distance spread generally results from the pest's hitchhiking with man or his goods.

At present, Federal-State cooperative quarantines restrict the movement from infested areas of timber products, woody plants, stone and quarry products, and other articles that might spread female moths, their eggs or caterpillars.

The main source of spread today is the movement of mobile homes, camping trailers, and recreational vehicles. Female moths attach their egg masses-each containing from 100 to 1,000 potential pests--to trailers, cars, camping equipment, trees, rocks, logs, and other stationary objects.

It is extremely important, therefore, that every camper examine his gear and remove and destroy any gypsy moth egg masses he might find before moving to a new location or returning home.

TWO PRETTY, pert little zinnias, Peter Pan Pink and Peter Pan Plum, are both gold medal winners for 1971. Plant them together in your garden for an outstanding show.

Peter Pan Twins Brighten A Garden

Two little zinnias have Pink has coral pink blossoms broken a record!

For the almost 40 years that All-America Selections has operated test gardens in many states and several countries, that judges have observed and scored thousands of entries in the trials, none has received so high a score as Peter Pan Pink and Peter Pan Plum. Both are gold medal winners.

They're dwarf, they're decorative and they're delightful.

Except for flower color they are twins-dwarf, bushy, very early to start blooming, free-flowering all summer and "self-cleaning" because the new leaves cover the older flowers. Both are first generation hybrids, grow from 10 to 12 inches tall, have blooms from three to four inches in diameter and start to blossom when only 6 inches high.

Even their colors contrast which become two-toned as they age; salmon-rose in the center while the outer petals retain their coral pink hue.

PETER PAN PLUM, striking when planted with Peter Pan Pink, has flowers described variously as lavender-rose or rosy purple in other words, a believable plum color.

Petals of flowers of both varieties are slightly curled and the flower forms very from plant to plant: some are cactus type with pointed fetals, some resemble dahlias in their fullness and others have flattish blooms.

Here are two zinnias will perform well in pote or planters, may be massed in beds or borders or even used as hedges. To see them is to wish you had them in your garden.

Balsam Apples Are Fun To Grow

The curious, nubby fruits of balsam apple or momordica are rarely seen but are lots of fun to grow. With them you can play guessing games with all your garden visitors.

The vines are tropical and related to the cucumber family. They climb and attach themselves by means of tendrils and balsam apple vines will reach six feet upwards during the growing season. even in the north.

Because they are natives of the tropics, they must be treated as tender annuals and the seeds either started indoors or planted in the garden after all danger of late frost is past.

Balsam apple leaves are from two to four inches wide, handsomely lobed. The flowers which, while not as important as the odd fruits, are .known as balsam apples, still useful for garden color are yellow, darker in the centers.

The "apples" are eggshaped and nubby or warty, yellow to orange in coloring. therefore very attractive.

Bay Window Becomes Little Garden Room

Lee Peel, well-known Farmington High School English teacher, has a "way" with plants as well as with students and enjoys nurturing and encouraging the growth

To provide a suitable haven for his collection of plants Peel has converted a bay window adjacent to his kitchen into a charming little garden room. The remodeling, inspired by the acquisition of a floor-to-ceiling window that a neighbor was discarding, included extending the bay a few inches and bringing it down to ground level.

Matching windows were installed on the sides of the bay and the opague roof was replaced with a panel of translucent corrugated white fiberglass. An extra ceiling panel of transparent plastic provides additional insulation against cold without blocking necessary light.

The brick floor, which contributes to the garden atmosphere, is practical and was easy to install. Peel made two shallow travs from sheet aluminum fitted to cover the floor area. The bricks are laid in these without mortar. In addition to holding the bricks in place, the trays protect the wooden flooring beneath from dripping water. A louvered door, which separates the little greenhouse from the kitchen, helps keep the humidity relatively high and the temperature relatively low in the garden

TIERS OF GLASS and wooden shelves were installed next to the windows and these are lined with plants-geraniums, begonias, ivy, red-leaved coleus, kalenchoe, aluminum plant, Jerusalem cherry, white poinsettias, and many others with exotic, colorful foliage. Tubs and large pots are grouped on the floor and tall leafy plants such as angel wings begonia and philodendron stretch to the ceiling.

Peel says that the plants, which spend the summer out of doors, are brought inside in September and placed in the garden room. He rearranges them on the shelves about every two months. The geraniums, now lined up on view, were kept on the flour when they were first brought indoors because they were having a period of rest."

The rearranging is done primarily to adjust to changing conditions of light and temperature. The bay is on the west side of the house, so the garden room is bright all afternoon.

Over-watering has been Peel's greatest problem and he has lost some plants because he watered them too much or too often.

The only other problem has been an occasional attack of mealy-bugs, an infestation that causes cottony looking wads to accumulate in the axils of the leaves and stems. These have been easily controlled by rubbing them off with a cotton swab moistened with rubbing alcohol.

Mayor Jule R. Famularo of Troy will be Plymouth's bonored guest on "government day" during the 1971 observance of Michigan Week, while Mayor James B. McKeon of Plymouth enjoys the hospitality of the Oakland County city of 39,000.

Troy and Plymouth were paired for the 18th annual exchange of mayors in a drawing conducted last week during Michigan Municipal League meetings at Lansing.

Famularo, 57, is the owner of a Troy insurance agency and is completing his first term as mayor. He is up for reelection next month and is unopposed in his bid for a second term.

phone call from Miss Virginia Allan, a feminist of the first water who is head of a drug firm in Wyandotte and who, at the time, was president of the Michigan Business & Professional Women's

"We are badly in need of a legislative chairman," she said, "and we were wondering, since you are conversant with tegislation as a member of the Livonia council, whether you would help Mrs. Edgar if we appointed her."

WHEN ASSURED that the help would be forth-coming she confided, "We haven't asked her yet-and maybe you could help us with her decision."

Virginia is a very convincing talker, and so that evening she made her official plea to the lady of our house and won when she said-"Eddie has promised us that he would help you."

"Why did you ever promise anything like that?" she asked and was told, "No Edgar ever missed an opportunity to learn something-and this is your opportunity." So she accepted the legislative chairmanship.

At that time, the B&PW was waging a campaign for "equal pay for equal work" and was girding for a good, hard fight.

But true to his promise, The Stroller soon found himself advising the campaign. He suggested that the little woman write letters to the late Walter Reuther, head of the UAW: George W. Out of a clear sky one afternoon he received a Dean, leader of the American Federation of Labor the state; and John Reid, state labor commissioner, asking their opinions.

> The little woman was dubious. But she wrote the letters. Not only did she receive favorable replies, but the labor commissioner sent along a sample bill to be offered to the State Legislature.

WHEN SHE MADE her report to the State B&PW, she was told that none of her predecessors, who were women lawyers, had achieved such success.

In due time The Stroller was asked to help in getting the bill before the legislative body, and there were many anxious moments and solemn discussions over our evening meals waiting for a verdiet.

Finally, it passed. Came the morning that Gov. John Swainson was to sign the bill and the little woman was off to the executive offices to witness the signing - just as proud as could be.

The Stroller was proud, too. He had fallen victim of a subtle scheme. But he has been a convert to women's lib ever since.

TODAYS DECISIONS MAY BE

How Should Suburbs Make Use Of Land?

The key issue here in the suburbs is how the land is going to be used.

Will it go for single family homes or apartment complexes? Will it be developed into a shopping center or will it remain natural, as a park? Is it needed for a new school or should it be made into a modern subdivision?

Choices in this area - no matter how much politicians would like to pretend - are not simple matters of the good guys in white hats from city hall gunning down the baddie developers.

Rather land use decisions bring to a focus all the complex strains and hopes that make life in the suburbs so challenging and full of excitement.

Is a community poor and lacking in tax base? A high tax generating shopping center might make sense. Is a community thickly settled, with few open spaces?

A park for the benefit of countless generations to come might be the best use of a parcel of land. Does a city wish to

THERE ARE NO simple answers, which is why decisions on land use are so fasci-

A good case in point is now going on in Farmington Township, where the proposal to rezone 300 acres for a regional shopping center as large as Northland is now turning out sizable audiences at planning commission meetings.

Predictably, the subject has aroused emotions commensurate with the millions of dollars the HTK Corp. is thinking of putting into the project.

THE 300 acres currently is zoned for single-family dwellings, and the Township's master plan does not contain any provision for a regional shopping center.

These facts appear to suggest that the township ought to turn down the rezoning.

But it's not that simple.

The master plan is not a zoning ordinance which determines land use; rather, it is an attempt to make suggestions about land use, in light of attempts to make an overall plan for the development of the community.

When the master plan was put together (a process which started four years ago, with the plan passed last year) no one foresaw that a company would be willing to put millions of dollars into a regional shopping center development in the

But that has now happened. Further, it now appears that just to the west of the site there will be a main interchange at 13 Mile Road and the I-275 expressway. Do people who might want to buy homes in the area really want a busy intersection right in their back yard?

Location of the interchange may have made the present zoning no longer appropriate.

more commercial development is just what the Township does not need.

But others point out that by concentrating heavy development into the center site, pressure to allow strip zoning along 13 Mile Road would be reduced.

And so the argument runs an argument that can be duplicated at zoning board after zoning board and planning commission after planning commission here in the suburbs.

THE REAL POINT in the matter is not that Farmington Township will or will not rezone the 300 acres.

Rather it is that plans made only a few years ago, based on the best information available at that time, are now out of date. And as a result, the whole difficult process of a community deciding what it really wants to do with its land is again under way.

Good luck, gentlemen of the Farmington Township Planning Commission. You'll need it.

Hard Look Is A Must

Beverly Hills voters should take a long, hard look at the two road proposals on the March 8 ballot. Seldom have so many loud voices been heard in the quiet village on an election issue.

Corrine Abatt writes

In the case of the 14 Mile and 13 Mile road improvements, most of the loud voices are against the road improvements-even, in fact, against putting them on the ballot in the first place.

Councilmen who voted to put the two proposals on the ballot have said they did so in order to give the voters a chance to express themselves on these two major issues. They replied that they had had calls from residents who wanted the roads put through. Anyone who has even tried to pull out on to 13 Mile at peak traffic hours would not doubt that there would be some in favor of the widening.

Traffic controls would not speed the flow, rather slow it down. The village's share of the 13 Mile road widening from Greenfield to the west village limits will not exceed $1,-115,000.

EVEN STRONGER IS the outpouring of words against the 14 Mile proposal. The cost to the village for the paving, improvement and cutting through of 14 Mile from Greenfield to the west village limit is $660,200.

The fact that has not been publicized is that there is a time limit on the agreement between Birmingham and Oakland County to put 14 Mile through from Southfield to Cranbrook (Evergreen) free of

The offer expires in March of 1972 and in all probability will not be renewed. The Birmingham-County agreement is for two lanes, not four as is listed on the ballet proposal.

The fact that Birmingham wants 14 Mile through turns off some government officials and voters. Their chauvinistic attitude may have some justification. They want to protect the community from being bounded by slabs of concrete.

But with the predicted growth for the county in both people and cars, it seems possible that someday these roads will have to be improved and in that someday in the future, they will also have to be paid for-but at a higher price.

ANTI-POLLUTION PLANNERS — GM's Detroit Diesel Allison Division has announced it will spend over $2 million on water pollution control in the next two years at its Redford Township plant. Since 1968 it has invested $1.3 million in anti-pollution equipment in the first phase of a long-range program. Studying latest plans are (left) C. J. Karrer and (right) R. B. Hadley, works manager and plant engineering manager and (second from left) Dr. Albert Shannon, chief of water and sewage treatment for the Detroit Metropolitan Water Dept., and Charles Gil, senior assistant chemical engineer.

Kathy's Parents, Police Still Hope To Find Her

Police officials seem to know more than they're willing to admit about the disappearance of Kathy Lynn Radtke, 17-year-old Novi girl missing since her boyfriend was slain Jan. 31 in North-

Wayne County sheriff's detectives have asked for extensive circulation of the girl's picture. The girl's parents have done the same.

But police decline to give details as to why they think Miss Radtke may still be alive. "If she were dead," said one, "it would seem to me that her body would have cut girl. They gave this deshown up by now."

The girl was last seen at a Northville gas station with John Keyes, 19, of Northville, the night before Keyes' body was found with her jacket in his car along a lovers' lane west of the city. Police and her family insist Miss Radtke was a cleanscription of her:

SHE IS five feet seven inches tall, weighs 110 pounds, has brown hair and brown eyes.

There is a scar over her right eyebrow and a crease in the left earlobe.

When last seen she was wearing a lavender longsleeve shirt, a Mickey Mouse white T-shirt, purple bell bottom slacks, brown moccasins, and was carrying a brown shoulder strap purse.

It's possible she may be wearing her boyfriend's black nylon windbreaker with snaps on the collar and pock-

The jacket belonged to John Keyes, 19, who was found dead in his car on Feb. 1 on the east side of Napier Rd. between Five and Six Mile Rds. in Northville Township.

Her mother said Kathy female. liked rock music, was interested in painting and sewing, and enjoyed shopping in Ann Arbor.

A $4,500 reward is being offered for information leading to her whereabouts.

Area Reps Oppose Fox Bounty

All seven of Observerland's state representatives voted to repeal Michigan's ancient coyote bounty law last week. After 34 representatives voted for the repeal, the bill was referred to the Only 20 representatives, mostly from the Upper Peninsula and northern Michigan, voted against the repeal saying that the coyote is a menace to wildlife.

Those voting for the repeal did so to save the state money and were following the advice of the Michigan Department of Natural Re-

Good Movie Comes High

EDITOR:

I have read with great interest about the $9,000 donation the owner of Skipper's Table made to the owner of the Mai Kai Theater. The stated purpose was to provide five months of family type movies at this theater. Indeed, such a big sum is a personal tribute to Mr. DeLuca for his interest for the people of this

But what I can't understand is why it takes money to type movies? Or is he so concerned for showing decent movies that he's not even charging admission and therefore deserves com-ensation for his sacrifice. The expressed hope that other businessmen would take steps towards improving movies is worthy of thoug but not necessarily in like manner. Perhaps through licensing or some other legal way, we could control a theater to again show movies suitable for a family to see.

Nothing is more disgusting (except perhaps the picture being shown) than to have to refer to its rating before

The practice of providing any amount of space without having carefully determined the sheds and regalrements for fulfillment results in terrific waste of money and enthusiasm and talent.

Such practices caused all the journeymen trades teachers, including this writer; to leave the well known Wilbur Wright Vocational High School and Technical Institute. Same have come into the Livonia school system. Academic administration of vocational facilities and the loss of industry training cooperation programs also contributed.

To justify the most expensive of school buildings and equipment for bona fide vocational and technical programs, there must be jobs waiting all graduates on the following Monday. This the teacher - coordinator can provide when backed by ministrative cooperation. Nothing less will suffice.

man Glen Kurtsell's proposal to the Garden City City Council. As a property owner in Garden City, to say that I am appalled and aghast at his proposal is an extremely mild statement.

(EDITOR'S NOTE-Councilman Kurtsell proposed that the city form an economic development commission to promote development of property in the city's industrial park.)

There are a number of factors Mr. Kurtsell has failed to take into consideration, and I would suggest to him and any one else approving of his proposal to consider all facets of this situation well before giving full approval.

> CHUMLEY ALSO described how the six counselors see each senior individually in the fall to advise them on job opportunities, job training and colleges.

Sophomores and juniors also meet with their counselors to discuss their school programs and future plans.

The counselors also sponsor three evenings a year for parents from each class of students to visit with their child's counselor and ask questions about the school programs.

William Heath, one of two counselors at Central School. agreed they could use help with cierical work in order to free the two counselors for more individual counseling. "We do feel it would be awfully nice to see all the students at least once," he said. "The best way to affect this change would be to increase the counseling staff or the clerical staff. It would save quite a bit of time."

SIXTH GRADERS are introduced to the counselors at the beginning of the school vear when they are taken on a tour of the school and are told about the curriculum and extra-curricular activities. June Kastre, counselor at East Middle School said.

However, she said the average students often do not see much of their counselor again until eighth grade when they have to prepare their ninth grade class schedule.

In addition to investigating the possibility of more clerical help, she suggested the board consider the possibility of having elementary school counselors. These counselors would be in a position to deal with student problems at an earlier stage before they become more serious.

Musicians^a From PHS Move Up

PLYMOUTH Eight soloists and three musical groups from among members of the Plymouth High School orchestra have qualified to participate in the state solo and ensemble festival March 27 at Flint.

To gain this honor they had to be rated "superior" in a comparable district event held recently at Schoolcraft College. Students who received that designation include these soloists:

Beverly Taylor, violin; Elaine Bennett, cello; Paul Albert, violin; Gabriele Klassen, violin; Libby Glover, bass; Mark Norfleet, bass; Margaret Lang, viola, and Kathy Stein, violin.

String ensembles that qualified were Carole Surratt and Bill Mochle, duet; Janis Shier, Jim Lee, Margaret Lang and Bill Moehle, quartet, and the septet of Kathy Stein, David Doty, Donna Folks, Lisa Toth, George Theos, Kevin Crudder and Brian Pennybacker.

Second division ratings were gained by the duets of Paul Albert and Gabriele Klassen, and Bev Allen and Diane McKinley, plus these ward McNamara who complained that the Parks and Recreation Department had requested use of the gymnasium for one night weekly and it was refused.

McNamara said the request was for the men's volleyball program which involves 30 teams.

Dr. Bradner said the request was turned down because the gym was already in use for the college's basketball teams.

Residents of the college district do participate in evening courses which make use of the gym and other facilities.

"It is my feeling that if they (the facilities) could be made available on even the most limited basis to the citizens who support the college, this would work to your advantage as well as to ours," McNamara said in his letter.
