Dollar Dilemma

The dilemma of school financing in a period when state aid funds are reduced at the same time as assessments go up is given a thorough review by Kathy Moran. One Plymouth authority told her the only solution is is "to increase productivity."

Tax Boost Is Asked To Pay $1.5 Million Cost Of Center

By FRED DeLANO

A proposal that Plymouth's property tax rate be increased by $2 per $1,000 in state equalized suggested cultural center and indoor ice rink was City Manager Norman M. Gaffney.

This approach to meeting payments on the proposed $1.5 million structure was included when Gaffney submitted his contemplated budget for 1971-72. The commission will begin deliberations on the budget in a series of meetings to be held with bonding attorneys, the city attorney and the throughout April and has called for a public hearing on the document on Monday, May 3.

Apart from the cultural center financing plan. the budget submitted by Gaffney holds the line on the tax structure despite an increase in proposed expenditures for general services.

"The proposed general budget, at $1,533,576. is based on a tax base of $69,262,700, an increase of approximately $5 million in equalized valuation," he declared in saying that these expendi-

Some of the 14 teachers under consideration are in their third year of probationary teaching before being recommended for tenure. Normally a teacher is recommended for tenure after two years of teaching in the school system.

The board will take action on the contracts for the 14 teachers at a special meeting Monday, April 12.

In addition to renewing contracts for 419 instructors, the board also authorized hiring teachers up to the present level and of 439 plus adding a medical technology teacher.

However, the board did not authorize hiring the additional teachers that will be needed to accommodate the anticipated 600 new students.

Like most districts in the state, Plymouth is faced with dim prospects for increased revenue in 1971-72. The increase in assessed valuation of property in the school district only means that the property owners will be paying a larger proportion of the school budget next year and the state will pay less. Traditionally as local revenue increases, state aid decreases.

WHEN DISCUSSING the renewal of contracts, Lawton expressed concern with renewing all 419 contracts when the board is uncertain of what its revenue will be.

Originally it was suggested that the only contracts renewed would be the 348 tenure teachers.

'My concern hinges entirely on the budget problems as we know them today. With budgetary information we have at this time, do we want to go beyond the 348 absolutely no calories in marijuana. But oddly enough it may be fattening - at least for some people. In a recent test, alcohol, an amphetamine and marijuana substance were put into a flavored, non-caloric drink. Those subjects given the drink containing amphetamine had a marked loss of appetite and food intake. Those who received the alcoholcontaining drink experienceda lesser degree of appetite and food intake. Finally, for, those who had taken the marijuana beverage had, in more than half of the cases, total food intake and appetite were; noticeably increased. This leads to a few comments that should be made. for the reader's benefit: 1) Loss of weight or being-underweight is a medical problem and should be so treated. Use of marijuana as an excuse to gain weight is not justified because it is too unpredictable and because itmay mask an underlying. reason for lack of appetite; which needs medical treatment. 2) Alcohol does contain calories - in abundance. A: possible reason for the slight. loss of appetite may be explained by the fact that alcohol provides the most rapidly absorbed source of calories. Notwithstanding so-called diets such as "the drinking man's diet," alcohol over a period of time is as destructive of the effects of dieting as are banana splits. 3) The fact that the am-:

phetamine decreased appetite and food intake should not indicate that one who is overweight should use this. drug. There is more and: more disenchantment arising. about the use of amphetamines even under medical supervision.

Physicians are screening. patients in general much more closely before using these drugs for weight control, and some physicians refuse to prescribe them at all. The most common reason for this is that the effects of amphetamines on appetite is really effective only for a few weeks in general. After this the patient may need the drug just to keep even.

Another reason is that: amphetamines can become habituating, especially for? those who take them in quantities larger than prescribed.

One doesn't give much thought to such things until he starts listing the changes that have come about and which we took for granted.

Even in ordering chops today, you have a choice of center cut, plain chops, thick or thin. And when it comes to such a thing as spare ribs, they're classified as long sides, short sides, and farm cuts.

It seems that we are living in what could be called a custom made world. And, like anything else that is custom made, the prices have a way of going skyward.

MEAT IS NOT the only prime example.

Consultant Fee OK'd

The Plymouth School Board authorized spending $50 for a consultant to advise the committee which is establishing goals and objectives for the entire school district. David Opple, assistant principal at Central School, represented the committee composed of educators, citizens and students at the Monday board meeting.

Opple told the board that the committee needs a broader base to collect sufficient information in finalizing the goals and determining how they will be met.

Opple suggested a survey followed up by public hearings might be one solution. The consultant fee was allocated by the board to have a professional tell the committee in which direction to

ONE OF PLYMOUTH'S largest building permits in several years has been issued for construction of new warehouse facilities at the Western Electric plant on Sheldon. The two white air tents seen at the back of the building in this aerial view will be replaced by a permanent 110,000square-foot structure. It is hoped that work on the $820,000 project can be started by May 1, with completion scheduled early in 1972.

Schools In Dilemma As State Aid Drops While Taxes Go Up

PLYMOUTH The stinging business of reassessment may yield more tax revenue for Plymouth schools, but it also loads the cost of education more exactly how much to depend heavily onto the backs of the property owners.

The snag is that when local tax revenue increases, the state backs down in its aid to schools, and property owners must assume more of the financial burden.

'SUPER MARKET' WE DON'T MEAN THE CORNER GROCERY STORE!

We mean the super, rich, growing market area that you can corner with consistent advertising in the Observer Newspapers. We mean more than 109,000 families who need what you have to sell. Your shelves and showrooms are stocked with merchandise that we can help you move. Think about it.

What is the fastest way to saturate 165 square miles of prime market area without licking a lot of expensive postage stamps? Or being 'licked' by the cost of printing? Newspaper advertising is the obvious answer. OBSERVER NEWSPAPER advertising. Your ad will roll off our press and into the homes of more than 501,000 people who live in Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Westland, Redford, Farmington, and Southfield.

State Sen. William Faust Services and Retirement. (D-Westland) is asking a special advisory committee to study nursing home facilities.

Faust's Senate resolution

LANSING Committee on Health, Social

The special advisory committee would consist of a representative from the State Dept. of Public Health, would set up the advisory a member from the nursing group under the Senate home administration, a member to represent the nursing home owners and a senior citizen who is or has been associated with nursing home care. The committee representatives would be chosen by the Senate Committee on Health, Social Services and Retirement.

> Faust remarked. "The time has certainly come for the Legislature to take dramatic steps to insure the quality of life for the many senior citizens in Michigan who, for one reason or another, live in nursing homes.

> "These people are often relegated to 'second class citizenship' simply because society has chosen to forget, or ignore them." I believe that a special advisory committee, composed on individuals who are acquainted with existing problems in nursing homes, would make valuable recommendations which would prove to be of great assistance in resolving the controversy which has engulfed the nursing home industry in Michigan." The special advisory committee would have the power of subpoena for witnesses, and would be empowered to examine any books and records it deemed necessary to conduct its study. The members of the committe would serve without

OLC's Class Collection Has Growing Pains

The waste glass collection itself last week. And the center on the Orchard Ridge Farmington High School campus of Oakland Community College is experiencing growing pains and related problems.

The two - month - old center is sponsored jointly by the OCC Biology Club and "Earth Alive," an ecology group. Currently, the groups collect waste glass from 10 a.m. until 12 noon on Saturdays and on Sundays from 2 until 4 p.m. near the entrance to the college off Orchard Lake Road near I-96 in Farmington.

The ecology project has been so successful that they have outgrown the three 200 gallon collection barrels. The group needs volunteers to man the collection site and also to transport the glass to the Michigan State Fairgrounds collection site.

"WE ARE both delighted and dismayed at the response," said Nancy Sheehan, of Earth Alive.

"Many local groups are now bringing large loads," she about a quarter-ton all by Ridge.

Ecology Club had almost that much the week before.

"The dismaying aspect is the glass is coming in faster than we can dig up volunteer help. We need people who can give an hour or two on the weekends to act as an attendant at the collection site." she said.

"Even more critical we need more people who can lend vans, trucks, or trailers to transport the glass to the Michigan State Fairgrounds."

RIGHT NOW a top of glass is waiting to be transported to the fairgrounds, and they expect the collections to even increase in the spring.

"Unless we can come up with more earth-loving volunteers to donate time and trucking, the collections may have to be discontinued," Mrs. Sheehan added.

The normal procedure for She said that they have been the "barrel-watchers" is to averaging a half-ton of throw- sort the glass and remove any away glass every weekend rings from the bottles and then despite the miserable weather transport the collections to the fairgrounds or the Earth Alive storage place.

Every sports fan has his favorite or favorites on the different teams.

You can't always explain why you fancy one performer over another. Sometimes you can ... as I found out yesterday when I walked into the Tiger clubhouse and peered around for the first time this spring.

In their familiar spots were Al Kaline and Jim Northrup, Mickey Stanley and Norm Cash, Mickey Lolich and Tom Timmerman.

BUT THE GUY I wanted to say hello to most was Bill Freehan. I guess it's because of all the Tigers I've known Freehan much longer than anybody else on the club.

I remember Bill before he was a sports star ... in high school ... on the Detroit sandlots ... at the University of Michigan ... and then with the Tigers in the American League.

When I first spotted him, he couldn't have been much older than eight or nine. He'd come with his parents to visit grandma and grandpa who lived across the street from me on Cheyenne in Detroit's Northwest sector.

His late grandpa knew then that Bill would make it BIG in sports.

"He's got all the tools," granddad would say. "Look how he throws the ball. Look how he handles himself for a young kid."

Naturally, one couldn't dispute grandpa. One never does. But not too many of these gents who boast about grandkids becoming major league sports stars ever calls his shot.

But Granddad Freehan knew what he was talking about.

Not too many years later, Bill Freehan was living in Florida. His parents had moved there because of a new job assignment for pop.

Word began filtering up north about Bill Freehan, the three-sport prep star in football, basketball and baseball. There were reports on how the various scouts were converging on him everytime he played ... and the college coaches, too.

CAME SUMMER, Bill Freehan came back to Michigan to play on the Detroit sandlots. He was a catcher, then as now, and all the scouts turned goo-goo eyed everytime they saw him.

When he finished high school, Bill decided to cast his fortunes first with the University of Michigan. He starred for one varsity year in football and baseball and then left to sign a big bonus contract with the Tigers.

But, I'm running ahead of the Freehan story a little. I remember umpiring sandlot games involving Bill in Detroit and I remember how he was picked to represent Detroit on the Hearst U.S. baseball stars who annually would play a game in New York.

My job in those days with the ol' Detroit Times was to accompany the selections from Detroit to New York and write about them. When I took Bill, he was an easy subject. Just about every day there were stories on how the major league scouts raved about his work and how they were ready to offer him a tremendous contract.

Bill didn't sign right after that New York game, but it wasn't too much later that he decided that he preferred to play for dollars instead of just fun.

THE REST of the Freehan story is one most baseball fans know. He wasted little time in the minor-league system of the Tigers.

They no sooner brought him up than he became their No. 1 catcher. And he has been ever since. He's been an All-Star catcher over the years, which shows what the baseball world thinks about him.

Last season was a tough one for Bill and his team. While the Tigers slumped, Freehan's longailing back started giving him more trouble.

It pained so much his wife often had to help him from the house to the car so that he could get to the ball park. By September, the Tigers were out of contention. And the back pain was growing worse. It was decided that Freehan should undergo surgery. The doctors told him that was the only way he could continue in baseball. It was by no means simple surgery. When it was over, Freehan was placed in a heavy cast for several weeks. He then went into a long winter of conditioning. But he didn't know what would happen the first time he crouched behind the plate again in the Tiger camp in Lakeland, Fla. He admits now that he was concerned. Concerned and worried.

But it was on a Friday afternoon in February, he put on the shin guards, the chest protector and the mask.

He bent down and nothing happened. There was no pain. Freehan felt like a new man.

THE BACK HASN'T bothered him anymore. And yesterday, when the new season began, Bill Freehan was at his accustomed spot behind the bat for the Tigers.

It's been a long road and more than a decade in time-since those days when the blonde kid who had loads of hair then would play catch across the street on Cheyenne.

But, like his grandpa said: "Bill will be a big leaguer some day."

And, somewhere in that world to which all of us eventually must go there has to be one smiling gentleman, who looks down and watches over the Tigers and Freehan everywhere they go and everywhere they play.

221 West Liberty, Box V South Lyon, Michigan 48178 Fabe Mirto Agency Manager

During 1970, this Woodmen Accident and Life District Manager led the Company's 600 representatives in producing the highest volume of individual life insurance protection.

As well as bringing honor to Don, such an outstanding effort brings a wider scope of financial security to many individuals, families and businesses.

We think this accomplishment deserves a special tribute, so won't you join us in congratulating him?

MONUMENT TO BROKEN PROMISE -The outer rail for a widened Northville Road has been standing forlorn for the past five years.

Now, no one can find the plans, and Wayne County claims it hasn't the money to finish the job. (Observer photo)

A Plan That Got Lost

Whatever Happened To N'ville Road Widening?

By W. W. EDGAR

Whatever has become of stopped. the elaborate plan to widen Northville Road and develop drive along the shore of Phoenix Lake and the adjoining rural communities?

More than a half-dozen years ago, work was started on the project that had the support of all those who enjoy traveling the rolling hill-

For months workmen were busy building the new side walls to all the bridges in order that they'd be ready when the widening was completed and the old walls knocked down.

Why? No one seems to know.

"THAT WAS before my time," said Gunnar Stromberg, Northville Township supervisor. "I remember - the plan was fine and everyone was pleased." Meanwhile, the outside walls on the bridges stand out like tombstones erected in memory of a pleasant

"All I know now," commented Stromberg, "is that the only money we can get for roads in the township must be in emergencies."

The supervisor added that the Township Board had instructed him last December to appeal to the county for help in re-conditioning streets and roads in the area.

"I CONTACTED the commission by letter," he said, "and was told that a survey At the office of the Wayne had been made of the roads

"So, I guess the same will be true of the plans to widen Northville Road."

In the meantime, traffic is increasing because of the growth of the population and the development of Northville Downs as a harness race center.

But to use an old axiom. "The wheels of the gods grind slowly."

The same evidently is true of the Road Commis

Swans Dominate Northwest

By ELLY

If you haven't receved your copy of "North- But there are 26 Roe. west Area" you should get one (or two) before the end of the month. It's one of those timely books you can pick up anytime, open anywhere and glean some interesting information.

There are 864 pages in "Northwest" and the type is quite fine but a spot check brought these facts to light:

Swan is the most popular bird name. There are 31 swans, 18 Finches, 16 Hawks, 15 Jays, eight Crows, seven Sparrows, five Doves, five Ravens, four Thrashers, four Wrens, three Buntings, two Pigeons, two Larks and two Robins. There is one Thrush, one Starling and one Swal-

 WITH FIVE columns devoted to the Browns. the Whites with 2½ columns are not even a close second. Next come the Greens with 11/2 columns, the Grays with 1-1/10 and the Blacks with just half a column.

There are 18 Pike, 13 Bass, eight Trout, "Come here Mr. Watson, I need you."

seven Sturgeon, two Broadhead and one Pickerel.

We found three Goods, four Betters fall commercial) and 19 Bests.

There are 37 Lambs, just one Baast and 24 Shepherds.

The Lemons outnumber the Oranges nine to one. There are seven Apples, three Peaches, one Bossenberry but not one Pear. And there are five Begins but just one Ende.

IT SEEMS no book, no matter how factual. can escape IT these days. There are 39 Birds and four Bees, all in very good taste.

A stranger to this planet could come up with an accurate social commentary on the people who live in "Northwest Area," jut by reading the last 508 pages. These pages stand out from the rest of the book because they are printed on yel-

Society's Evils Come Visiting In The Suburbs

By Philip H. Pow

Living out here in the suburbs is the dream of many American families.

White picket fences. Trees and grass. Kids tossing a football (or, with opening day yesterday, a baseball) on the lawn. Space. Quiet. Nice neigh-

A nice place to raise kids. And no trouble.

CONSIDER, THOUGH a digest of suburban news items from the past week or so.

• Over the weekend, police discovered a "bloody torso" stuffed into a garbage can at a home in Southfield. As of this writing, no one quite knows what's behind it all. But local authorities have been troubled for some time about the activities of organized crime groups in the suburbs, and Southfield is mentioned as one location.

 Last week, a high school principal was tarred and feathered on a road south of Plymouth. He reported that a group of hooded men grabbed him on the way home, and that there had been racial trouble at his high school in Willow Run. The Ku Klux Klan has been relatively inactive in the suburbs in recent years, but police are not discounting the idea that the Klan may be behind this recent outrage.

• Urban renewal seems a strange idea in the suburbs. yet this Monday the Garden City council voted on a program for their, city. Believe it or not, certain suburban areas are affected with just the same kind of urban blight that they talk about so much in downtown Detroit.

• Livonia School District voters last week rejected a renewal of 3.5 mills for operating expenses in the district. Other local school authorities are faced with drastic cuts in their state aid money, and virtually every school district in this area is laying off teachers to save money. Some local school authorities are now saying that the suburban schools have never faced such a financial crisis.

 A meeting in Farmington was held Sunday to discuss plans for a recall drive against members of the Board of Education who supported a sex education program in the schools. Also attacking the program is a group called Movement to Restore Decency (Motorede), which is closely linked to the John Birch Society.

Livonia police, in answering an explosion call Sunday morning, discovered in a quiet home on a quiet street a complete laboratory for making drugs and pills.

ORGANIZED CRIME. Ku Klux Klan activity. Urban blight. Financial crisis. John Birch stirrings. Drug factory.

Are these the kind of things we wanted when we moved to the suburbs?

Of course not.

But they're there, a part of the suburban scene.

A small part, to be sure, but a part that doesn't fit in with the old image of white picket fences and quiet streets and a nice place to raise kids.

. Does their presence mean that our suburbs are on their way to destruction?

Not necessarily.

What they mean is that the evils of our civilization will follow us wherever we move, to whatever subdivision we buy a house in.

You don't fight dangerous things like drug abuse or organized crime by pretending they don't exist. You fight them by standing up tough and doing your part.

Only in that way will we make our suburbs the kinds of communities we all had in mind when we moved here.

View points expressed in D do not necessarily reflect these of Observer Newspapers Inc., but are presented in the belief that publication of all segments of thought on a public issue is a prerequisite to understanding and progress.

By ERIC SHAMMAR. Pastor Farmington

Recently I attended a public hearing for the proposed Program to Foster Minority Understanding in the Farmington Public Schools. The meeting would have been a comedy were it not for the frightening statements made by those opposed to the study.

Violent hatred, both openly expressed and also subtle at times was directed at the "colored" people. My first reaction when I hear the word "colored" is to ask, What color?

The typical WASP seldom thinks of himself as colored and at times it would appear indeed that he is very colorless, judging from the statements made by those opposed to the splendid report of the committee working towards fostering understanding of other races and cultures other than those of white suburban Farmington and surrounding communities.

The statements of those opposed to this report followed a traditional pattern which has been heard by those who have been seeking to foster understanding and good will. The report is "communistic," "fascistic," "un-American" to use the words of some who responded to the presentation of the proposed program.

ONE OBSERVATION suggested that fostering minority understanding really belongs in the home and the church. It is the latter that really grabs me.

Every Sunday morning this pastor, and I would venture to say most pastors present a "minority report" that is accepted by only a minority of our congregation. Again, the label of communist, pink, and un-American is directed to many clergy by those persons who refuse to believe that we are living in the twentieth cen-

Our founding fathers had a purpose for the philosophy of free public education. It was to be the melting pot of a new democracy. The public school was intended not to be a kind of mutual admiration society, but that place where persons of every race, color, creed and national origin could come together and be a part of the learning process.

. For those opposed to this: principle, and of whom there are many, the private school is available. We have seen how private schools have grown basically because persons are opposed to this principle enunciated by the founding fathers and consequently our democracy continues to be weakened.

I SINCERELY QUESTION the wisdom of having community involvement in the operation of our public schools. I am certain the school board wants to do the right thing. However, I trust them sufficiently to believe that these persons, elected in a free election by the people of their community will do the right thing.

It would seem by the past examples of public hearings that about all that takes place is the pooling of ignorance and an open forum for those persons opposed to the basic principles of constitutional democ-

Even if matters such as fostering minority understanding were to be placed on the ballot, and the result was the turning down of this proposed program, it would not necessarily follow that what the public has decided upon is morally racy.

Time Running Out On Parks

Up north of Milford, in the Highland area, there's a hill that's nearly a thousand feet above sea level, and its stony crest faces to the southeast.

If you can get there without being mowed down by a snowmobile, you can see all the way to Detroit on a bright winter day, and the sight is appall-

Hanging over the Motor City and the Observerland suburbs is a brown haze. If you happen to see it on the abovementioned bright day when the sky is normally blue, the contrast is all the more vivid.

There are all sorts of sources for air pollution, but the brown kind, as I read the literature, is caused by the automobile.

A BIT MORE than a year ago, an interesting story appeared about our weather. It seems that in the more heavily settled area of Wayne County, the heat given off by our buildings and streets and parking lots, coupled with the hot fumes from our autos, forms a rising column of warm air.

The prevailing winds from the west often can't get around this column, and so rain clouds dump their precipitation on Oakland County. Thus, Oakland County is getting stuck with the job of rebuilding some of its drains because its rainfall lately has been one-third more than it used to be over the course of recorded weather history.

Editorial &

The outlook is bleak, at least for the immediate future. Among the 50 million statistics produced by TALUS (Transportation and Land Use Study) was this one:

"We found that between 1940 and 1965, the population of this region (six counties) increased by 70 per cent, but the amount of land devoted to urban uses increased by some 200 per cent."

We aren't, TALUS Director Irving Rubin warned, in danger of running out of land, but there still are critical problems to be faced. One is whether we will be able to preserve recreation, open space and agricultural land. Another is whether we'll continue to develop our land by the existing "sprawl" method.

(Want to get a shock? Get some of TALUS's maps of the urbanization of southeastern Michigan in recent decades and compare them to medical book slides of cancer cells.)

AT THE MOMENT, one can't be optimistic. No one is coming up with any ideas of a greenbelt around the urban area of the southeastern Michigan region.

Quite the opposite: Areas like Commerce Township are fighting the idea that they should contain good-sized parks; they want development - industry (preferably clean), homes (executives only), little parks (subdivision residents only). Some folks don't want even little parks; teenagers congregate there.

If we're going to stop messing up our weather, browning our air, cementing the landscape and endangering our collective sanity, we're going to have to do some regional or even statewide — land use planning, and make it stick.

This community-eat-community method will have to be

A society that worships the gods of economic growth and development in perpetuum won't do it. Maybe the younger generation, when it comes into positions of power, will.

Leonard Poger writes

Parochiaid Foes Were Right

During last fall's campaign over a proposed state constitution amendment to prohibit public funds for support of parochial schools, many people on both sides of the controversy were issuing similar doomsday statements about what would happen if the proposal were approved.

The issue, commonly called "Proposal C", was generally supported by backers of public schools-such as PTAs, Michigan Education Association and Michigan Federation of Teachers, among others.

ON THE opposing side and urging a "no" vote were the Catholic Church, whose large school system was having serious financial problems, and a variety of public officials who had actually opposed parochiaid in past years.

Their reasoning during the campaign was that Proposal C was worded so that existing auxiliary services and sharedtime programs between public and parochial schools would be endangered.

Some public leaders - such as Dr. John Porter, state school superintendent - even went one silly step further and said that the proposed amendment could cut off municipal services, such as fire and police protection, from parochial schools.

He and many candidates for public office were virtually unanimous in the feeling that Proposal C should be defeated.

ONE OF these was former State Sen. Sander Levin, who was trying to move Gov. Milliken out of the governor's off-

Levin in past years opposed the use of public funds for parochial schools. But reading the political winds, he too opposed Proposal C. In doing so, he agreed with the conclusion of his political opponent, hoping to neutralize the controversial issue before the voters.

Before Levin announced his position on the amendment, the candidate sought outside legal advice. Considering that Levin has a Harvard law degree, the State Supreme Court ruling. supporting the voters' adoption of Proposal C last week, has shed some doubt on the merits of a law degree and the outside advice from prominent attor-

The Council Against Parochiaid, which was led in Wayne County by Garden City's Dr. Kenneth Carman, pointed out during the campaign that adoption of Proposal C would not endanger federal funds from coming into Michigan schools.

The council said it would not affect existing shared-time or auxiliary services programs.

But church officials and their supporters said other-

Selfishness Is To Blame

EDITOR:

Last Monday the Livonia School District electorate had its say. The school millage and bond proposal went down to defeat. Who is to blame this time?

Is it the State Legislature, who for two years has been ignoring calls for help from local school districts to relieve the local property taxpayer? A Legislature more concerned with raising its own salaries and passing laws to make motorcyclists wear helmets. In general, a Legislature not interested in education, and a governor who is more interested in raising the gasoline tax to support mass transit.

Or is our local school board to blame? A school board which has turned a deaf ear to the wishes of the electorate for many years but have always been receptive to experimental programs, innovative buildings, and so forth presented to them by school officials. A board which did an excellent job of alienating the taxpayer by placing students on half-day sessions last year. A board which tells taxpayers only what they want them to hear. A board which has apperently forgotten that the electorate always plays the last card with his vote.

Or is it the Livonia tax- ing every citizen to express payer? The leg, crown and saddle should be roasted at 327 degrees to a thermometer temperature of 140 degrees. Spring lamb is best in a 425degree oven, roasted to 150 to 160 degrees.

The earliest cookbooks include recipes for cooking lamb. In the first century the Roman, Apicus, recorded how to braise lamb with milk, honey, salt and pepper. He told of lamb stew made with spices, oil, hazelwort and ginger.

The most elegant of all is the crown roast of lamb. When buying the meat allow two chops for each person.

Before serving the center may be filled with mashed potatoes mixed with chives or parsley; boiled wild rice mixed with almonds; or peas mixed with tiny onions, buttered and tossed with fresh mint.

And remember, always serve lamb on hot plates. CROWN ROAST OF

Fill the center of the roast with a ball of foil to retain the shape during cooking. Wrap top of each bone with foil so they will not char. Season roast with salt, pepper and rosemary or basil. Place on rack in a shallow baking pan. Mix salad oil, lemon juice and paprika. Brush outside of roast with this mixture. Roast at 325 degrees to 140 degrees on your meat thermometer, pound.

Did you ever try to duplicate a salad you've eaten at a restaurant and have it turn out lacking-something?

Vargo's on Six Mile Road serves a great tossed salad. There are little chunks of lettuce and purple cabbage, thin purple onion rings and a sweet and sour dressing all topped with bacon chips and roquefort cheese.

When we tried it at home it just wasn't as good. It must have been their special dressing.

But that is what makes dining out an occasion - having something you can't or don't prepare at home.

When it's soft shelled crabs, red snapper, steak, lobster, frog legs or filet of sole served with warm bread in Vargo's atmosphere of music, old paneling and Tiffany lamps, it is an occasion.

There's no better morale booster. You, the gourmet, can go back serenely to your kitchen unfazed by the children's penchant for peanut butter and jelly sandwiches. You may feel a little like Cinderella after the ball, but the whole world does seem brighter.

Mrs. Beebe Turns Attention To Plight of Troubled Child

The lady who did more than anyone to push abortion law reform to the forefront in Michigan now is turning her attention to the plight of troubled children.

It's another great need in our society, believes former State Sen. Lorraine Beebe, who addressed the Livonia League of Women Voters in Plymouth last week.

Defeated last November in a bid for re-election in the 12th District, Mrs. Beebe now is working as a member of the Michigan State Parole and Review Board Youth Services Office in Lansing.

IN THIS CAPACITY, she talks to dozens of teens who for a variety of reasons are in correctional institutions.

She's New Bride

Center Honors Resident

The Westland Convalencent Center "lost" one of its charter members this week.

To mark the event, nurses, staff members, and fellow residents held a going-away reception for her last week.

The party was in honor of Mrs. Viola Cocking, who became Mrs. Elmer Adams in a wedding ceremony held Tuesday, April 6, in Holy Redeemer Church in Detroit.

Mrs. Cocking, 64, moved into the convalescent center near the Westland Shopping Center shortly after it opened its doors in the fall of 1969. That was just a few months. after the death of her husband of 45 years.

Recently a frequent caller at the home has been Adams, 70, who had known Mrs. Cocking for many years. He was widowed two years ago.

The newlyweds will live in Adams' home in Detroit. The new bride is mother of two, grandmother to 10 and greatgrandmother to two.

More than you - or others - may realize. Wouldn't you like to discover the worth, the usefulness and happiness that are rightly yours?

Many people are learning that knowledge of their God-given selfhood makes this possible. And more. It opens up new capacities.

Jessica Pickett, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will explain the healing power of seeing your true self in her talk, "You're Someone Worth Knowing."

You and your friends are all welcome. No collection will be taken.

"Human Teaching for Human Learning,' George Brown. Each year millions of American children find that our present system of education is "irrelevant." By schooling himself in a variety of techniques and disciplines of confluent education and by drawing from developments in such fields as modern dance, contemporary theater, and corporate creativity training, Dr. Brown has provided the raw materials for creative change in education-that is, for working with both feeling and intellect-appropriate to the age in which we live.

"What To Do With Your Bad Car," by Ralph Nader. Ralf Hotchkiss, and Lowell Dodge. This action manual is destined to become as basic a piece of equipment for the American motorist as his seat belts. Why more people finance their homes at NBD than at any other bank.

This year, as in the past, more Detroit area people will come to see NBD about a home mortgage than will go to any other bank. We think their reasons will tell you a lot about our ways of putting families into the homes they want.

It isn't just the fact that we have more than 100 offices, although it's certainly convenient to do business right in your own neighborhood. And it isn't because we have more money to lend, although the fact that we're Michigan's largest bank let us keep right on making mortgages while certain other lenders were backing away from the business. The real reason is that the NBD mortgage lending officer you talk with will put himself in your position. He has as much regard as you have for saving money through a single, low "flat fee" for closing as opposed to a percentage of the amount of the mortgage. He knows you won't want to incur a stiff penalty if you should someday need to prepay. He can help you weigh the pros and cons of low monthly payments versus the rate at which you build your equity.

At your nearby NBD office, you'll find a mortgage expert who'll be happy to sit down with you and talk over your needs. And you can pick up a copy of our new booklet. "Buying and Financing Your Home" -20 pages of facts and figures that every home buyer can use to advantage. Pay us a visit; we're here to help. The bank to see is NBD. National Bank of Detroit.

One picture is worth a thousand words and two artists are better than one.

Especially if they're the two artists in the picture that's worth a thousand words. Especially if they're Observer Newspaper artists.

Bill and Sylvia are.

They know their work inside and out in the sunshine. Like layouts.

Suppose you have a zillion little things for sale and want to put them in an Observer ad without having it look crumby or jumbly. Bill and Syl can take your zillion little things and make them look alluring and appealing.

That's because they have talent.

Or suppose you have just one big juicy thing you want to sell. Bill and Sylvia are great with big juicies. You'll be sold out in no time.

So remember Sylvia and don't you dare forget Bill when you advertise. They know a picture is worth a thousand words — they posed for one.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This story, written originally for The Garden City Observer, will probably fascinate readers in other towns interested in how modern education has changed.

By W.W. EDGAR

There's a quiet revolution going on in our schools today that has nothing to do with the dress code or long hair.

It is centered on an attempt to discard many old traditions and institute a plan to fit the curriculum to the student and not the student to the curriculum.

Garden City where Dr. Don Shader, superintendent of schools, has brought about 44 changes in the curriculum in the past 3.5 years.

In explaining his moves, Dr. Shader emphasized that 'we have a responsibility to find a way to teach the stuprogram has been developed in the kindergarten classes. Second, there is now a nongraded program during the

Under this system, a student can be in phase four (the highest grade) in one subject and phase/one in another. The student is given every chance and all the help required to advance.

Curriculum In Explosion

An example of how the Garden City public schools' curriculum has changed in the past 17 years is shown in the comparison of various class offerings in the senior high schools.

In the English department in 1954, students had a choice of six courses. Today, they have to pick from 34 offerings, most of which were not listed before.

They include mass media, mythology, Shakespear, creative writing, poetry and developmen-

Science curriculum offerings have also shown marked increase in the number of specific subjects available for students.

Earth science classes will be new next fall, reflecting the growing interest in ecology.

A third foreign language, French, has been added to the language curriculum which previously offered only Latin and Spanish.

The expanding vocational business department has grown to include diesel mechanics, home building, auto body repairs, electronics, salesmanship, drafting, and graphic arts.

Those are just some of the examples of the many changes in the Garden City schools.

Every day...Want Ads are working worldwide to make life better for millions.

Not only in your own hometown, but in faraway countries, Want Ads are working each and every day to make life better for people.

While our languages and customs may be very different, needs and wants of people the world over are nearly always the same. And Want Ads have helped fill these needs and satisfy these wants for hundreds of years.

Because Want Ads do such a good job of helping people, one week is set aside each year to salute this low-cost, people-to-people form of advertising. This year April 4 through 11 has been designated as International Want Ad Week.

We are proud to join with newspapers, throughout the free world in observing this special week. If you haven't used a Want Ad lately, why not renew acquaintances with an old friend during International Want Ad Week.
