Style And Class

The Plymouth Symphony has style and the Severo Ballet is noteworthy for its class, but the setting Saturday night when the two got together had several drawbacks, according to our reviewer.

Back To School

The first big opportunity for a wide range of local civic leaders to visit the new Plymouth High School and examine its facilities will come May 19. It's all part of the plans being made for Michigan Week.

They Speak Up

Board of Education action in dismissing five probationary teachers, and the publicity which accompanied the decision, brought varied reactions from readers. The president of the Plymouth Education Association was among those who wrote to the editor.

Strange Mixture

There's a light touch to the way The Stroller tells how a conversation that started on the subject of calories turned suddenly to a pack of hyenas and the fear they brought to a Plymouth big game hunter.

Stirton, Tripp, Scott Board Seats Will Be On June Ballot

By FRED DELANO

One of the biggest single-year turnovers in years looms unexpectedly in June for the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education which suddenly faces three vacancies.

All three seats will be filled by election on Monday, June 14, but there will be two separate contests. Those who wish to be candidates in either race have until 4 p.m., Monday, May 17 to file their nominating petitions. This is the picture:

The terms of William E. (Ned) Stirton and Donald F. Tripp will expire June 30 and neither will seek re-election. Stirton made that disclosure a month ago and Tripp made his announcement Monday.

In addition, R. Bruce Scott, who went on the board as an appointee in 1965 and who was elected to a four-year term in 1969 has decided to resign with two years yet to go on that term. His replacement to serve the remaining two years must be chosen in a separate ballot contest.

Scott made his disclosure in a letter addressed to Mrs. Esther Hulsing, president of the board, which he delivered to her Monday. His resignation becomes effective June 30, coinciding with the final day for Stirton and Tripp.

This will leave only four members of the present board as carry-overs: Mrs. Hulsing, Robert C. Gilmore, George Lawton and John Hanskat.

NOMINATING PETITIONS are available at the board's administrative office, 1024 S. Mill, but so far none have been taken out. Supt. James Rossman said that a recent attorney general's ruling negating property ownership as a prerequisite for candidacy makes it possible for any legal resident of the district who is at least 21 years of age to enter either contest.

On one ballot, the two persons with the greatest total votes will take the seats of Stirton and Tripp for four years. On the other, just the one person who leads the balloting will be elected and he will fill out Scott's unexpired term, with the same seat at stake again in 1973.

Scott, 52, of 8950 Ann Arbor Rd., is the board's only member who lives in Superior Township in Washtenaw County. He is a research chemist with Parke Davis in Ann Arbor and currently is serving as secretary of the board. Earlier he was treasurer and has been a key figure on curriculum, finance and public relations committees.

He said primary reasons for his decision deal with a desire to spend more time with his family, adding that "maybe another fellow with new ideas would be good for the board."

A native Detroit, Scott holds degrees from Detroit Tech and the University of Detroit and has lived in the district 11 years.

TRIPP, 48, WAS chairman of the citizens committee which was instrumental in bringing about development of the new high school. Because of that impressive service he was appointed to the board in 1968 after the death of Carl Shultheiss, and then was elected to complete that term, expiring in 1971.

He, too, said personal reasons brought on his decision not to be a candidate again. Tripp is chief draftsman - administration for the Chevrolet Division at the General Motors Tech Center at Warren and drives the round trip daily.

Tripp is a graduate of GM Tech who moved here from Rochester seven years ago and lives at 7904 Thornwood Dr. in Canton Township.

Stirton also was appointed to the board in 1968, to replace Cal Strom, who moved from the area. Later, he was elected to complete the term, and this, too, now is that time.

A University of Michigan graduate, he is managing director of the Detroit Tooling Association and has found the press of duties there too great to continue devoting the time necessary to board membership. He has been a resident here 11 years, living at 44731 Charnwood, Plymouth Township.

Scott, Tripp and Stirton all stated that once having reached a decision they wanted to make it public to give prospective candidates ample time to consider entering the election contest.

A Burping Good Time Is At Hand

"All you can eat," will be a familiar cry this weekend in Plymouth, starting with pancakes Saturday and ending with kielbasa and sauerkraut Sunday.

The Kiwanis Club's annual spring pancake jubilee will be a 12-hour affair in the Masonic Temple, giving room for breakfast, lunch and dinner between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The Kiwanians will serve as many pancakes, with sausage and coffee or milk, as the stomach can hold for $1.25.

Sunday, just down the street in the Grange Hall at 273 Union, the membership of Plymouth's new St. Alexis Orthodox Church will offer kielbasa and sauerkraut — all of it homemade — from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Prices for that feast will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children under 10.

Schedule Bike Rodeo

All grade school children youngsters will be tested on safe riding techniques.

Every school pupil who participates will be eligible to win a prize donated by local merchants. The top award will be a new bicycle given by the Optimist Club. The school which has the largest number of students taking part will be awarded a trophy, also.

Boys and girls may take their bicycles to the parking lot at Central Junior High School for safety checks starting at 9:30 a.m. Along with the inspection of the vehicles, the Members of the Mayflower Post of the VFW will assist the Optimists in the inspection of vehicles and testing of the boys and girls.

Reassessment Asked By City

A general reassessment of all property in the city of Plymouth was ordered Monday by the City Commission after a gavel-banging debate which led to approval of the proposal by a 4-3 vote.

Mayor James McKeon and Commissioners Donald Bidwell, Harold Guenther and James Jabara voted for the measure. The trio on the losing side, with the full commission in attendance, included Arch Vallier, Robert Sisco and William Silvia.

Vallier led the opposition and in a heated exchange with Jabara the latter pleaded with the mayor to ask Vallier "to keep his comments to himself."

It probably will be at least two years before the city's request to the Wayne County Tax Bureau for reassessment leads to completion of the city-wide project, and a third year before adjusted property figures are reflected in tax statements.

However, the experience of Plymouth and Canton Townships this year, after finally being reassessed at a supposed 50 per cent of market value as required by law, indicates what will be in store for the city by the mid '70s.

CITY ASSESSMENTS currently average about 27 per cent of value, but that is only an average — not a correct across-the-board figure applicable to all property.

In fact, at Monday's meeting the commission had to

Paving Of Deer, Wing Rekindles Possibility Of Business Area Loop

The idea of a loop road around the Downtown Business District isn't dead and buried after all, even though Mayor James B. McKeon uses the vague term "in years hence" in reference to its actual completion.

That there still is the breath of life in the project was proved Monday night when the City Commission unanimously adopted resolutions conforming the necessity for paving the first two legs of the loop, with the work to be done this summer.

This will bring about the reconstruction of Deer and Wing, from Ann Arbor Trail to Main, which would be the southeast arc of the loop as shown on the accompanying map.

The commission acted after public hearings showed there is no objection among abutting property owners on Deer and Wing to the reconstruction, which will include 24-inch concrete paving and curbs. The assessment rolls will be presented at the meeting of May 18.

ARTHUR SHEPARD, chairman of the city planning commission, was at the meeting and called the loop "the most important project before the city."

He objected mildly to the fact that the 1971 paving project will bring Deer and Wing together at right angles, whereas the planners would like to see a smooth flowing arc. The latter is prevented, however, by the fact that the city does not own the property across which the arc would be constructed.

The loop concept has been gathering dust for several years after a burst of enthusiasm in 1967 which saw more than 50 business leaders attend a 6:30 a.m. Chamber of Commerce breakfast meeting to discuss the plan.

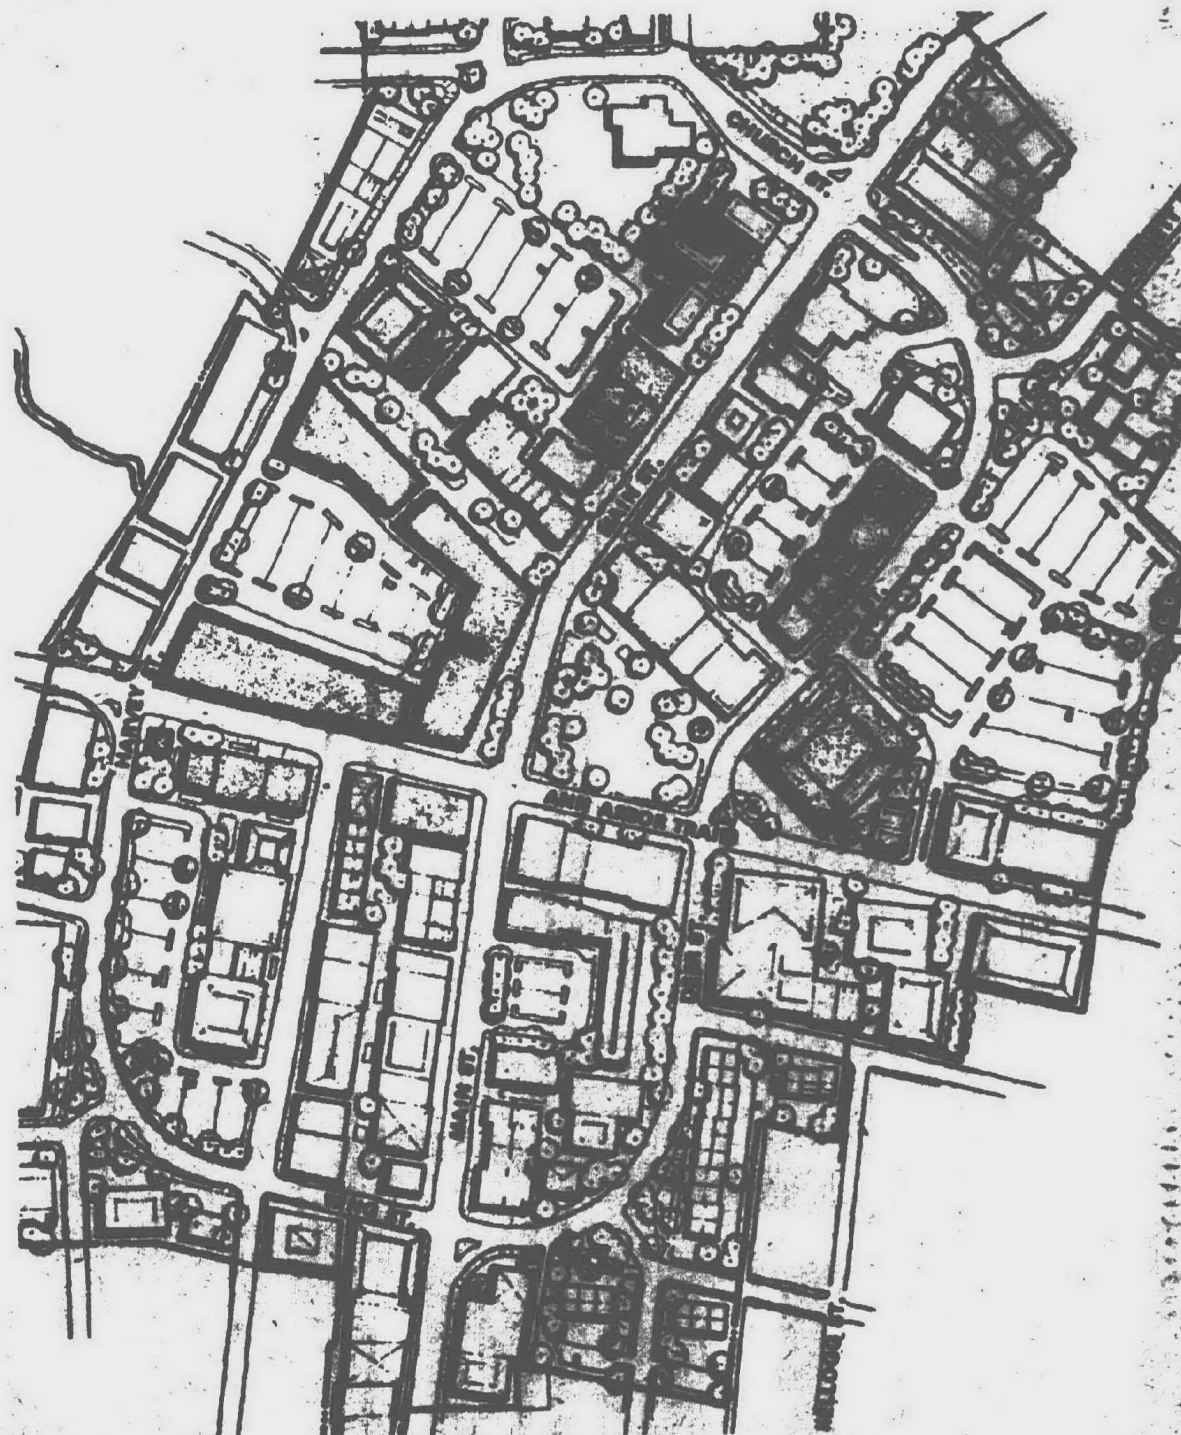

At that October session, a resolution was adopted calling for the appointment of a commission to secure financing of the loop and for a study of the best ways to implement the loop.

REPRESENTATIVES of the planning consultant firm of Villan and Leman showed slides telling the story of the proposed plans calling for covered sidewalks and modernistic store fronts.

Need for a major department store in the downtown district also was emphasized at that meeting, bringing from the V-L spokesman the comment: "We would suggest the organization of a Business Development Corporation, just as you have the Industrial Development Corporation in the Plymouth community."

"This group could go a long way towards influencing a department store to locate in Plymouth."

Although that particular step has not been taken, the city government has created a Special Business Area for business development promotion. The commission in charge is headed by Commissioner Harold Guenther, and plans a general program of business leaders for mid-May.

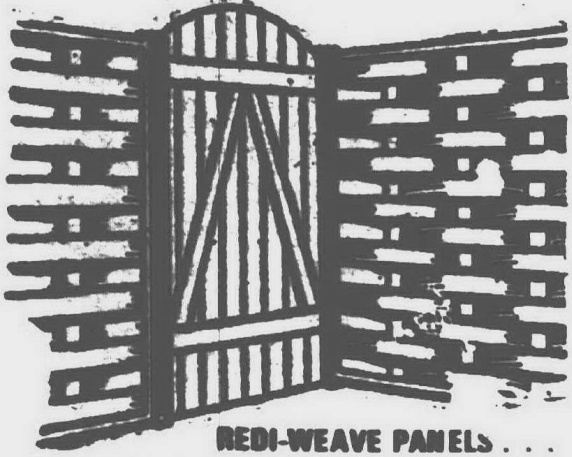

THIS IS HOW PLANNERS FOR THE FUTURE envision the proposed highway traffic loop around downtown Plymouth. Paving of Deer and Wing from Ann Arbor Trail to Main is scheduled this summer. The route would continue to Harvey, then north to Church, east to Union and southward to Ann Arbor Trail, nipping off the point of Kellogg Park to rejoin Deer for one continuous loop. Both Penhman, from Union to Harvey, and Fralick, the street behind the post office, would undergo pedestrian mall treatment.

Reassessment—

hand a report from the county showing the ratio of assessments to actual recorded values to be as low as 65 per cent and as high as 115 per cent.

These inequities were brought out in a list of 148 verified sales and assessments for 1970 as reported by the county tax bureau.

City Manager Norman Gaffney said of the county report, "This shows very definitely the fact that a reappraisal is needed." He pointed out that the last time there was a general reassessment in the city was 1959.

"I think it's wrong, now that the township has been reassessed, to rush right back in and put the major tax load on the city," declared Vallier.

McKEON EMPHASIZED that inequities can be eliminated only by reassessing all property in Plymouth, and he had the backing of City Attorney Charles Lowe who said, "The assessor can't deal in isolated cases; it has to be done over-all."

The mayor, in an unusually active role in the debate, declared that the commission owes it to the public "to pledge to Plymouth that we are going to control the cost of government and that we are not asking for reassessment just to gain more revenue."

Silvis fought unsuccessfully to have the whole subject tabled until the meeting of May 3 but the four-man bloc that favored immediate action brought defeat to his resolution asking for such a delay.

In 1970, the total local assessment was $25 million below the final figure as equalized by the county on the 50 per cent theory.

STATISTICS FROM official sources show what is happening to Plymouth Township, and they make two things apparent. One is that there is a need for steadily increasing governmental services accompanied by soaring costs. The other is that those who protest about the "other" people moving in and destroying the old-fashioned and rural way of life are fighting a losing cause, if it isn't already lost.

Maybe there was a touch of storybook romance to having your own well, plowing your own roads and keeping a big dog handy to ward off intruders, and certainly it was an approach that kept the taxes down. But this isn't outhouse country in this corner of Wayne County any more, and services like public works and police and fire protection are demanded of the government.

Let's look at just a few preliminary statistics.

There were 238 fires last year in the township and losses reached $146,000. Would a bucket brigade have been more effective than the professional fire department for which there was an appropriation of $173,000, and for which $278,000 has been earmarked this year?

If you need an ambulance, whom do you call? That same fire department, just as 84 of your friends and neighbors did in January, February and March this year — up 53 per cent over the same three months in 1970. Would it have been better to have had treatment at home and, if so, from whom?

IT COST "ONLY" $300,000 to operate the township government in 1968-69. But for the present fiscal year, appropriations exceed $800,000. The answer, of course, is in the two words "growth" and "services."

Oh, yes. It's worth passing mention that in the same span township revenue from property taxes jumped from $153,000 to $329,000. The take from the state, mostly from sales and income taxes, soared from $126,000 to $253,000 as the population more than doubled.

And of course, township government has not lacked in the type of leadership that was capable of spending all of the revenue taken in through these years. Still, the needs will continue to increase.

One realm, for instance, is the township's share of District Court expenses. Judge Dunbar Davis has reported that there was an increase of 270 per cent in civil cases and 17 per cent in criminal cases in the township in 1970 over 1969, adding:

Find Golf Flag In Front Lawn

PLYMOUTH There are many times when a golf ball goes out of bounds, but a flag leaving the green and out of bounds is rare.

It happened in Plymouth on Sunday, nevertheless. John A. O'Reilly reports when he returned to his home at 1398 Penniman Sunday night, he found a red and white golf flag sticking up in his front yard. There wasn't a golfer in sight.

Nearly 300 persons joined Saturday in the 25th anniversary dinner of Plymouth's Mayflower Post 6025 of the VFW, an occasion which saw 35 members awarded special pins for continuous service since the post was founded.

Toastmaster Harold Young introduced all past commanders who were present, as well as former presidents of the auxiliary. Included on the list were both Young and his wife, Loretta.

Pins in recognition of 20, 15, 10 and five years of membership also were awarded prior to the principal address by former state commander Pat Foley, a retired Detroit police officer.

The special guest list was headed by Mayor and Mrs. James McKeon who added their congratulations for the community service provided by the post through its quarter-century of existence.

Letters To The Editor

Lane's Release Brings Criticism

EDITOR:
I would like to send an open letter to the Plymouth school board:
I am writing in defense of a young man whose name was in the list of the five fired teachers. His name is Leroy Lane.

I feel his firing will be a real loss to Plymouth. Some other city will gain, and we will lose a teacher who is not only enthusiastic about his work, but who also has the ability to impart this enthusiasm to his music students.

His work doesn't stop when the bell rings. He works with small groups of students, even having practice sessions in his own home. He takes small ensembles to area churches to give the musicians exposure and he has a 15-piece brass and percussion ensemble composed of high school musicians that is "the best."

If these five teachers are going to be replaced, as the paper stated, I don't believe we can find a young man with more potential and drive than the one we already have.

CAROLYN WEAGE
Plymouth

Questions Action Of School Board

EDITOR:
A few questions come to mind as I read and reread the article on page one of the Plymouth Mail & Observer, Wednesday, April 14.

How come the board met on a Saturday morning during the holiday season? Were the teachers, who were fired, notified before the Mail & Observer went to print? Why was this put in the paper, since the meeting was "non-public?" How were these teachers evaluated, I mean what were some of the points considered? Who were the evaluators? How many times were they (the evaluators) present in the teacher's classroom?

Were the teachers forewarned that they would possibly be fired, with suggestions as to how they could improve their methods? Why are new teachers let go, when in another year, with help and suggestions from those in the know (principals, assistant principals, and fellow teachers) these people could become outstanding in their profession?

Yes, not all teachers in the Plymouth Community School system are "top notch," but is anyone helping them to become "top notch?" Mr. Norman Kee hires well qualified teachers. How come he let the school board fire some of them?

MRS. WILLIAM BAUMGARTNER
Plymouth

She Dislikes Use Of Names

EDITOR:
This letter is to register a complaint to you concerning your front page article in Wednesday's Plymouth Observer on the firing of five teachers from the Plymouth Community School system. I think it was very poor taste for you to print their names under those conditions.

I am not a teacher, but I do realize how humiliating it would be if I was one of those teachers or if my husband was. It will be very difficult for those teachers to keep control in their classrooms for the balance of this year. Also, because they do not happen to fit into this school system, it doesn't seem fair to possibly put their whole careers in jeopardy.

Possibly you are the one that has an axe to grind with the school system, but I think you could have been more considerate of these individuals.

MRS. FRED EISENLOF
Plymouth

PEA President States Position

EDITOR:
In response to the article headlining the Plymouth Mail for April 14 concerning five teachers and the school board action, I would like to make a few comments.

Without trying to defend or castigate the board for its action, I support the procedure of referring to personnel by number at public board meetings. I certainly understand the editor's concern for the public record, but I do not see that the public's interest is served by having the details of personnel evaluation discussed publicly.

In fact, it will be remembered that the board met in executive session for that part of the agenda when discussion of personnel for 1971-72 took place at the board meeting on Monday, April 5.

The Saturday morning meeting of April 10 was a continuation of the April 5 session. Having been present at both meetings, I feel that the latter meeting was NOT held in executive session because the only persons present were three officers of the PEA whose interests were part of the board's deliberations.

Every year at this time the school board must pass on the recommendations of the administration as to the probationary and/or tenure status of the certificated staff. By law, there is provision for a teacher to serve two years of probation in a school district with the possibility of a third if the state is petitioned for this additional year.

A teacher who has served a probationary period and was on tenure in another district must only serve one probationary period in any new district in which he has been hired.

As far as a third year of probation is concerned, there can be many legitimate reasons for the additional year to be requested. One reason for a third year probationer for 1970-71 whom the board voted to tenure position for next year was an extended illness in the second year. Not all cases are that cut-and-dried, but I certainly feel that a disservice has been done to the community and its youngsters in high-lighting what is normally a routine but very sensitive task; not to mention the pain and anxiety being experienced by the teachers involved!

The five teachers whose names appeared in boldface type on the front page of the Mail are very fine people whose good contributions to the education of youngsters in Plymouth should not be forgotten.

The past practice of using a third year of probation in Plymouth is well established. In view of the concerns that your article and the board action has aroused among teachers, administrators, and community, I would suggest the observance of past practice by the board for this year with all members of the educational community developing any change in procedure cooperatively for the future and the publication of the school board minutes in its usual perspective and position elsewhere in the Plymouth Mail.

Students On Committee For Activities Center

PLYMOUTH
Two Plymouth High School students will be on the citizens committee which will develop the plans for renovation and utilization of the Mail & Observer building, 271 S. Main, as a community-wide youth activities site.

Mayor James B. McKeon, declaring his belief that "it would be a sad mistake not to give the young people themselves a strong voice in setting these plans," named high school students Tom Stacey and Debbie Slider among the committee's first six appointees Monday.

The full committee will have seven members, and the mayor said his final appointment of a person to serve as the chairman will be made later in the week.

Others whom he named along with Miss Slider and Stacey were Dr. Gary Hall, Commissioner Harold Gunther, Bob Thams and Mrs. James (Harriet) Randall.

AUTHORIZATION for establishment of such a committee was given in a resolution adopted by the commission April 5 when it was determined to turn the vacated 5,700 - square - foot building into a youth center.

The same resolution provided that the city government allocate $15,000 for necessary physical repairs.

After the Mail & Observer staff moved to the new headquarters of Observer Newspapers in February, persons interested in possible community use of the two-story building on Main Street contacted Publisher Philip H. Power.

Power indicated a willingness to turn the building over to community service if the use would be oriented toward serving the youth of the entire Plymouth area. For that reason, the committee named by McKeon includes residents of both the city and township.

McKeon and Gunther are working out occupancy details with Power, having been given the go-ahead by the commission which reacted favorably to a powerful grassroots of public support for the plan.

Our Lady Of Good Counsel To Remain Open

Approval for Our Lady of Good Counsel School to remain open after the present academic year has been granted by Cardinal John Joseph Dowling, who announced last Saturday that 29 Catholic schools in the Detroit archdiocese must be closed because of financial pressures.

The Holy Family School, of Our Lady of Good Counsel parish, has been confirmed as a school to remain open. Cardinal Dowling said that the school's financial situation is such that it will be able to remain open.

Our Lady of Good Counsel currently operates 16 classes from kindergarten through the eighth grade, and 195.

To continue operation of the school, the parish has been asked to raise an additional $10,000. Parish Director John J. Dowling said the parish has been asked to raise an additional $10,000.

James Dowling will continue as principal of O.L.G.C. He is the last layman ever to be appointed to that post in the archdiocese and will be serving his third year at the time when classes open in September.

Poem: Experience In Words

By KATHY MORAN

Experience is the key to poetry by John Ciardi.

Not just because his works are backed by a long list of credentials, but because every poem he writes is "for the experience of it."

And he wants his readers to enjoy the experience he creates.

"If I am to succeed, I owe you an experience," Ciardi told a predominately young audience last week. "If I can put on paper something that satisfies me and satisfies you, then you have one of the best reasons for reading me."

HIS TALK and poetry readings brought Schoolcraft College's lecture series to fitting and forceful climax, even though his audience of about 250 did not match the numbers attracted by Ralph Nader and Dick Gregory.

Perhaps a tribute to the man, one of America's best known poets, was the attentive audience and the number of people who reluctantly walked away at the conclusion alone and lost in thought.

He shared his knowledge on poetry along with hints for aspiring poets. And any man who could translate Dante's "Divine Comedy" into modern language, yet still preserve the "tonality," has quite a list of valuable hints.

The poetry editor of Saturday Review emphasized the importance of language and tone in poetry and de-emphasized digging for meaning (which may or may not be there).

"A POEM exists to transcend its meaning and become a living experience," he said.

And to demonstrate how the richness of sound and flavor of language can "make" the poem, Ciardi built a poem for the audience on the word "widgeon."

On a trip through a dictionary to find the specific definition of the duck, Ciardi said he stumbled on the word "widgeon" and together the two words made for a "frivolous" poem on the widgeon with heavy "w" alliteration and a "fun" rhyme scheme.

In recreating the poem, he passes on a few words of advice: "Never give the reader a chance to feel smarter than you are."

By putting a few words together in a logical process, the poet comes up with a rhyme scheme and soon finds himself engaged in a "contract" where he has to follow a pattern to successfully conclude the poem.

"Once on serendipity, one comes on an obligation which must be met," he said. "I must make it sound effortless while repeating the pattern."

UPON MEETING the "contract," the poet has to have the instinct to know "where to let it rest (conclude)."

The morality of poetry is "not to make cheap choices" in words, he said.

"I think a poem is an act of language. It brings the recognition that language is smarter than anyone who uses it."

Speaking in a slight New England accent, Ciardi read some of his poetry and that of other esteemed poets.

3 Parks Set Early Morning Nature Walks

Early morning nature walks will be conducted by the naturalist staff of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority at three metropolitan parks on the first four Sundays in May.

Persons interested in joining the naturalists for these guided walks should meet at the Nature Centers in Stony Creek Metropolitan Park near Utica, Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford, or Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville on one of these four Sundays - May 2, 9, 16 or 23. Starting time is 7 a.m.

The general theme will be "Nature's Response to the Spring Season," but the attention will be focused on whatever natural events are evident as the walks proceed at the particular localities. These established nature trails feature spring wildflowers, migrating birds, mammal activity, insects and aquatic life.

These conducted tours are limited to families and individuals, not organized groups.

To obtain nature brochures or a Metropark Guide, write to Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, 600 Woodward, Detroit, Mich. 48226.

Campaign Spending Curb Sought

WASHINGTON, D.C. U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Eath (R-Ann Arbor) said this week that he will propose a "strong, effective and realistic new federal campaign spending law that has teeth in it."

The 2nd District congressman said that although Congress is faced with a great many important items of business, "few are more essential than the necessity of the campaign spending law."

Eath's district, for which he now is serving a third term, includes the Plymouth-Northville area plus all of Washtenaw, Lenawee, Monroe and Livingston Counties.

He had this to say about campaign spending legislation:

"EIGHT OUT OF 10 American want broad changes in our election procedures. I would guess that if members of Congress themselves were polled, the percentage favoring sweeping reform would be about the same."

"Congress passed a political broadcasting bill last year. The president said it was discriminatory and exercised his power of veto. The broadcasters agreed with him."

"Now, a new Congress has the opportunity to offer a new bill. We also have the advantage of knowing the position of the White House. It should be the goal of this Congress to meet the objections of 1970, and go even further with a strong, effective and realistic law that has teeth in it."

"I am drafting a campaign reform legislative package that will meet the present deficiencies familiar to all. These are: excessive costs; inadequate methods of reporting that are a sham and actually encourage cynicism and evasion in the election process; and the temptation of many candidates to lean too heavily on big contributions."

"THE LEGISLATION I propose will contain the following provisions:

"(1) Limit the amount a candidate can spend.
"(2) Set ceilings on how much a candidate can receive from any individual or group. (This will eliminate the sugar-daddy syndrome).

"(3) Full disclosure, with severe penalties for violations.
"(4) Central reporting, possibly in the Government Accounting Office.

"(5) Tax credits for those who donate up to $50. (Designed to encourage greater grass roots participation).

"(6) Repeal of the equal time provisions for candidates for the presidency, the Senate and House.
"(7) Provisions for selling broadcast time, newspaper space, and other advertising media at the lowest possible rates.
"(8) Equalize, as much as possible, the advantages the incumbent has over the challenger.
"These are not new ideas, yet if we make certain the bill we pass contains many of them, then our proposal will be significant and will answer the summons."

"Time, however, is short. Unless Congress acts this year, it will be 1972, and another election will be upon us, renewing partisan battle lines."

"The time to perform affirmatively and meaningfully is now."

Dog Bites 3 Children In Family

PLYMOUTH Three children, all members of the same family, were bitten by the same dog within two days of each other, Plymouth police report.

The children, Gary, 10, Renee, 8, and Kimberly, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thomas, 700 York, were bitten by a dog in the backyard of James Robertson, 659 Holbrook.

Gary was bitten on the leg last Friday. On Sunday Renee was bitten on the hand and Kimberly on the right forefinger.

Police say the dog was licensed and had its shots.

Canton Gives OK On Liquor

CANTON TOWNSHIP Fellows Creek Golf Course owners will operate this year with a Class C-Resort liquor license following action recently by the Canton Township Board.

Approval for the license came at a special meeting that was held several weeks after the original request was filed with the township board. Canton trustees originally tabled the petition in order to study the request, the first to be filed with the board since U.S. Census bureau figures show the township will be entitled to issue at least three new liquor licenses because of a population surge in the last decade.

Advance Discussion Set On Abortion Facilities

ANN ARBOR The Center for Population Planning of the University of Michigan School of Public Health is arranging a conference on April 23 and 24 concerning the planning and development of facilities to provide abortions for women requesting them, in the event that Michigan's abortion law is substantially liberalized.

The conference is co-sponsored by the Michigan Department of Public Health, Michigan State Medical Society, Michigan Department of Social Service, Detroit Medical Society, Michigan Nurses Association, Michigan Clergy Counseling Service for Problem Pregnancy, Michigan Council for the Study of Abortion and the Michigan Public Health Association.

It will be held at the Wayne County Medical Society Headquarters in Detroit.

A RECENT study by the U-M Center for Population Planning revealed that between 28,500 and 35,000 women asked Michigan physicians for an abortion in a year. Michigan women go to three abortion clinics in New York City alone at the rate of over 5,000 per year.

These figures indicate that a very large number of women will request abortion if the law is substantially liberalized, a number that will exceed present capacity of Michigan hospitals to perform abortions, according to planners of the forthcoming meeting in Detroit. If nothing is done to prepare for this situation, they fear that many abortions will be delayed until they are more dangerous and much more costly, and illegal abortionists and profiteers will continue to flourish.

PERSONS invited to the conference include representatives of hospitals with major responsibilities for obstetric services, training programs and out patient services which are likely to receive many requests for abortion services.

They also represent professional organizations of physicians, nurses, social workers and others concerned with providing services, counseling and referral, and members of labor unions, women's groups, welfare recipients of abortion services.

PARTICIPANTS will be asked to discuss solutions to problems of space, facilities and personnel in hospital inpatient services, hospital outpatient clinics and free-standing clinics.

They will also be asked to consider professional consumer education and protection, and cost and financing of abortion services.

Keynote speeches will be given by Dr. Ethelene Crockett, Detroit obstetrician, who will present the problems of women seeking abortions, and by Dr. J. Robert Willson, chairman at the U-M department of obstetrics and gynecology, who will outline some approaches to provision of abortion services that are high in quality, low in cost and humane in spirit.

HOWARD YOUNG, of 16269 Southampton, Livonia, has been named a vice president and director of operations of League Life Insurance Co., of Michigan. Formerly he was director of the information systems department of the United Auto Workers Union.

A FINE SELECTION of first editions by such noted authors as Edwin O'Connor, James G. Thompson, Eugene Burdick, William Douglas, James A. Pike, and Thomas B. Costain are being offered.

Quality publications such as the "American Heritage," "National Geographic," and "Horizons" also will be available. Rare books, signed and limited editions, and collector's items dating from the late 1700s will be displayed on special tables and sold to the person submitting the highest written bid.

Mrs. John Lodge, chairman, said this year's sale will offer an unusually large selection of religious, legal, and technical books, cookbooks, quality fiction, and "nearly new" hardcover books.

A number of Civil War histories and memoirs dated in the 1800s will be on sale, as well as two World War I vintage sets of Harvard Classics. One is a 50-volume set and the other a 26-volume edition of the noted Harvard Classic's "Five Foot Shelf of Fiction."

CHILDREN'S books, always among the most popular items at previous sales, will be in ample supply.

Proceeds from the sale will be donated by the Plymouth branch to the National AAUW Fellowship Fund to finance graduate and post-graduate study for both American and foreign women.

The group also sponsors two full-tuition scholarships for local women at Schoolcraft Community College and one scholarship at the University of Michigan's Center for Continuing Education for a mature woman in an undergraduate program of study.

Snow Sets Records In North

Southern Michigan had a comparatively mild snowfall last winter, but the upper peninsula and northern lower peninsula set records that exhausted snow removal budgets as early as January.

As of April 1, Wayne County had collected just 34 inches for the year, while Macomb, to the immediate northeast, had 49 inches. Neighboring Washtenaw County had 20 inches, and Jackson had 16 inches.

But Keweenaw County, at the northern tip of the upper peninsula, topped the state with 256 inches; Gogebic, 255; Marquette 217; and Antrim, in the northern lower peninsula, a record 200.

Some state officials are concerned that a sudden thaw might create an all-time record for water elevation in Lake Superior.

Area Bus Hearing Delayed

A public hearing in Lansing on the operation of a local bus service between Ypsilanti and Pontiac was adjourned recently and another date was not immediately set.

Four persons appeared for the hearing held by the Public Service Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce on an application by Short Way Lines, Inc. for permanent authority to set up the service.

The witnesses were heard, but a representative of the bus lines asked for another hearing in order to get testimony from witnesses who could not make the first hearing.

If the commission approves the application as it is, the route will begin in Ypsilanti going east on U.S. 12 and then north on Canton Center Road to Plymouth.

Once in Plymouth, the buses would proceed east on N. Territorial Road to Sheldon, then north to Northville where they will turn east on to Seven Mile Road.

Short Way Lines currently has a twice-a-day service to Northville State Hospital and the Livonia Mall.

Montessori Meeting Set

The Michigan Montessori Society will hold its annual workshop conference beginning at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, April 24, at Mercy College, 8200 W. Outer Drive, Detroit.

Dr. R. C. Orem, educational consultant who writes about Montessori school methods, will be the keynote speaker, and a film and question and answer period will follow his lectures.

Lunch and a tour of the Montessori school on the Mercy campus will precede the afternoon workshops.

Workshop leaders will include Peggy Kurzman of the Oakland University faculty and several teachers in Montessori schools.

Special workshops will deal with head start programs, children with learning disabilities, language, creativity, socialization, discipline and motor-sensory development for the preschool child.

Requests for reservations may be directed to the Montessori Society, 2490 Airport Road, Drayton Plains, 48020.

Garden City Chamber Film For Teenagers

GARDEN CITY The Garden City Chamber of Commerce has thrown its active support behind a new campaign to provide teenagers with movie entertainment which doesn't glorify sex and violence.

The chamber is taking part in the ticket sales for the upcoming run of "The Cross and the Switchblade," to open May 5 for a two-week run at the Terrace Theater, Plymouth Rd. west of Middle Belt, Livonia.

THE CHAMBER will cooperate with the film's producer to sell advance tickets at discount rates at the Detroit Deaneary.

Mrs. Evans and Mrs. Mazzoni told The Observer they saw the film, which stars Pat Boone, and urged local teenagers to see it.

THE FILM is based on the book of the same. The movie tells the irks story of a Pentecostal minister who spent time with Harlem gangs and got its leader to change his life style.

Under the theme of "responsible entertainment," the producer hopes to film two movies a year for young people. Future movies will include "The Late Liz," "Valley of the Kwai," "The Day the Clock Stopped," which tells of the Danish peoples' efforts to help Danish Jews during World War II;

"World of the Big Red Apple Seed," a musical based on the life of Johnny Appleseed, and "1984," based on the George Orwell novel.

Barbour told the local chamber officials that "The Cross and Switchblade" has been popular in other cities and shows that teenagers will patronize such films.

The movie carries a G-P rating, which indicates parental guidance should be used in allowing teens to view the film.

Junk Cars Target of Police Drive

GARDEN CITY

Warning that Garden City is "rapidly acquiring a ghetto-type appearance," Police Chief Robert Behrendt announced a campaign to rid the community of junk cars.

Behrendt warned local residents and motorists that stored cars not having 1971 license plates will be ticketed for violating a city ordinance.

In urging residents to improve the community, the chief said:

"THE CITY IS rapidly acquiring a ghetto-type appearance as a result of the many unlicensed vehicles and junk vehicles which appear on various streets and in the yards at many locations in our community.

"I urge everyone to either dispose of these vehicles or to obtain license plates for them immediately."

He also said that persons having trouble getting rid of the junk cars may call the police department and it will "be happy to dispose of it for them."

Behrendt said that the city ordinance prohibits storage or parking of vehicles, or chassis of vehicles without current license plates.

The chief said that the only exception to the stepped-up enforcement will be cars owned by servicemen out of the city. For those autos, appropriate decals for windshields may be bought for $1.

Rice, Farmington Sparkle In Relays

The archrivals went to Brother Rice and Farmington High in the Massfield Relays last weekend.

The two schools distinguished themselves with stellar performances against all comers of the elite from Indiana and Ohio schools.

The individual star was Sam Orlando, a half-mile and distance runner at Brother Rice.

HE STEPPED OFF a winning performance of 1:55.3, one of the best times for a prep in the midwest this season.

Orlando has been one of the stars of Brother Rice's

Catholic League champs for the past two years.

Pete Wagner, George Magowan, Chuck Hestling and Dan Walker did the honors for Brother Rice with Hestling's time of 4:31.3 the best of the quartet.

It was a satisfying performance for Coach Mike Piquen and his assistant, Bob Stark. Ten years ago, Stark ran on another Brother Rice four-mile relay, which placed fourth at Massfield.

Brother Rice came up with 16 points to finish sixth in the team standings.

Farmington placed in two relays.

THE DISTANCE medley relay of Kim Hildebrand, Dan Sleske, Mark Timmons and Mike McChetich came in third in 7:40.1.

In the mile relay, Farmington was fourth with a 3:25.4 time with the same quartet. The 3:25.4 clocking is the best turned in by a Michigan prep mile relay this year.

Randy Pender, of Farmington, ranked among the state's top hurdlers this season, turned in a :14.8 showing to finish sixth.

Roger Blanchard of Redford Union, one of the top pole vaulters in the state, came in fourth at Massfield with an effort of 14 feet.

Southfield and Southfield Lathrup both sent delegations to the relays, but neither was able to muster a point.

The area track teams this Saturday will engage in several relay carnivals, tops of which will be the annual Brother Rice Invitational.

A week from Saturday, virtually all area schools will compete in the Observer Relays at Redford Union.

THE KIDS had their big day at the Detroit Race Course Saturday in the annual "Good Ol' Days" celebration which drew more than 24,000 including some 3,000 youngsters. It was bargain day for hot dogs, popcorn and coke and the kids enjoyed every moment including climbing the fence to watch the horses finish.

RU, Plymouth Victors In Suburban Six Tests

Redford Union and Plymouth got off to flying starts, but Bentley was not so fortunate Monday as the lid went up on Suburban Six baseball action.

Plymouth unloaded some mighty bats in whipping Belleville, 19-9, while Redford Union continued to get great pitching from Randy Ferguson in beating Trenton, 9-1.

Meantime, Bentley was whitewashed by Allen Park, 4-0.

innings and then was rested for the remainder of the game in the Plymouth run-away. He allowed one run and one hit while on the hill.

Howie Schryer and Jack Mathias each lashed triples — Schryer with three on in the third and Mathias with two on in the fourth — to spark the winners.

Jim Grimmer had two hits and also two runs batted in.

Plymouth put the game out of reach by scoring nine times in the second inning on three hits, along with four walks, a hit batsman and two errors. Stan Britton knocked in two runs with one hit, Grimmer two more with a single and Hees one run with a hit.

Belleville pitching was most generous, giving up 17 walks.

FERGUSON became one of the winningest prep pitchers in the state in posting his fourth win without a loss at the expense of Trenton. He toiled six innings, allowed four hits and fanned six. Joe Randolph finished up.

Redford Union scored twice in the second on a single by Glen Richmond, a fielder's choice and Rob Campbell's double.

Three more came home in the third when Bill Booker and Bill Herbert singled and Richmond walked to load the bases. Then Tom Wysocki singled and all three scored on the hit.

Marvin Durance tripled in Ferguson who walked in the fourth. In the fifth Ferguson tripled after Richmond, Campbell and Mickey Robinson had singled.

Farmington Upsets Stevenson In Duel

It was a dream pitching duel that Farmington High's John Fleming and Stevenson's Mike Gee staged to open the Inter-Lakes Conference season.

Fleming and his Farmington mates emerged the winners, 1-0.

run decided the game when Ray Ponke singled, stole second and third and came home on Tony Wenson's single.

Thereafter, Fleming and Gee pitched shutout ball.

Fleming allowed four hits, struck out five and didn't walk a batter. Gee didn't permit a hit after the first inning as he fanned 12.

A brilliant, running catch by Randy Eckerman in the third helped save the day for Farmington. Two were on, when Eckerman ran a long way to haul in a blow by Mike Geluso to retire the side.

Bentley was held to five hits in bowing to the pitching of Allen Park's Dick Goetz.

John Gentz had two hits and Al Hernandez, Bob Sitkauskas and Bill Duncan one each for Bentley.

Brian Dinsmore, the Bentley starter, lasted until the fourth when Duncan took over and finished up.

GC East Sweeps Bill From Crosstown Rivals

Go West?

Not in Garden City, where East met West in high school baseball it was East the winner twice, 8-4 and 3-0.

West outlast East, 12-7, in the opener, but six errors and a flick of walks helped East pile up more than enough runs Ken Shaw was the only winner to collect two hits.

EAST SCORED THREE times in the fourth and then wrapped it up with four runs in the sixth when Greg Puishes and Dennis Kesek drilled hits along with a pair of walks and two errors.

Puishes went the distance to gain the victory on the mound.

Chris Waronek turned in the shutout in the nightcap as he scattered three hits and struck out eight. The loser was Mike Voles, whose brother Jerry also pitches for West.

East scored two runs in the fourth when Jim Wisniewski singled and strolled in ahead of Kesek, who blasted a homer.

The final run resulted from a double by Waronek and singles by Bob Kleinbrook and Wisniewski.

Before losing to East, West edged John Glenn, 6-5, as Jerry Voles gained the victory.

Keith Muncey had two hits for West, including a two-run single in the sixth which drove in the winning run.

Daryl Demaray went two-for-four in a losing cause for Glenn.

Glenn wound up the week with back-to-back victories — over Wayne, 5-2, and then Inkster, 4-2.

Demaray allowed three hits and fanned 11 in holding Wayne in check while Bob Combs turned in a three hitter and walked only one in besting Inkster.

Dave Barrows had two hits for Glenn against Inkster.

Churchill Shuts Out Fordson

It was a scare, but everything turned out happily for Churchill High's baseball team in downing Fordson, 2-0, in a non-league game.

After Bob Phillips hurled two-hit ball for six innings, sophomore Ken Wood took over for Churchill and got into a bad jam.

Fordson loaded the bases on a hit, error and a walk with one out, before Mike Keller came on to squelch the rally.

Churchill scored in the third when Mickey Cron singled, moved up an error and came in on Denny Kolakowski's hit.

Then in the fifth Kolakowski singled, Steve Chilesko was able on an error and Brian Sherman followed with a run-producing single.

Sheron's Arm Gives Mates Great Start

Thanks to Jerry Sheron's pitching, Bishop Burgess got off to a flying start by blanking Gabriel Richard, 4-0, in the Catholic League opener.

Sheron pitched a one hitter and struck out 15. The lone hit off the junior right-hander came in the sixth inning. It was a triple.

Jim Smith's two-run single in the fifth inning was the big blow for the winners.

IT TOOK 32,366 hot dogs to satisfy the crowd that gathered at the Detroit Race Course Saturday and this is part of the reason. The kids made the most of the "Good Ol' Days" program to load up on the dogs. The concessionaires dispensed 25,800 cups of beer, 18,249 cokes and 3,200 bags of popcorn. The track ended the winter portion of its meeting with a daily handle of $748,888 and an average attendance of 9,195. The mutual handle was $22,466,875 for the 30 days.

Thurston Beats Franklin, 2-1

If what the experts contended means much, it looks now like Thurston High will be the team to beat for the Northwest Suburban League baseball title.

The preseason ratings favored Thurston and Franklin and they were matched in Monday's opening league game.

Thurston won in a 2-1 thriller as Steve Kreager bested Tony Kaseta.

KREAGER ALLOWED two hits, struck out 12 and walked three. Kaseta scattered seven hits, struck out seven and walked one.

Thurston scored in the first inning when Dennis Poppen singled, stole second and came around on Don Murdock's single. Then in the sixth, Bob Granstein doubled after Murdock singled.

The Franklin run resulted from a single by Gar Frantz, walks to Paul Sopsich and Rob Hollandsworth and an error.

JOHN GLENN and North Farmington were winners in the other Northwest openers.

Glenn went an extra inning before scoring three times in the eighth to down Birmingham Groves, 6-3, and North Farmington slipped past Oak Park, 5-4.

Daryl Demaray went the route for Glenn. John Dickson, the losing pitcher, whiffed nine.

Glenn scored in the first on a single by Mike Borders, a walk and an error and then two more in the third when Demaray singled and David Barrows and Roger Sanders followed with triples.

Groves pushed over two in the second on an error and hits by Harold Kuhn and Drew Jackman and tied it in the fourth on singles by Jackman and Jack Lamb with a walk in between.

In the eighth, two errors and hits by Gary Pack and Mark Szmanaky produced three runs for Glenn.

John White hurried the win for North Farmington as he gave up seven hits and fanned five.

A homer by Mike Collar in the third got the Riders on the scoreboard. Then in the fourth they scored three times when Ron Garneau and Arnie Kahkonen singled and Dan Delling doubled for two runs. Two walks and an error admitted the third run of the inning.

Delling's double followed a single by Garneau in the fifth and produced what proved to be the winning run.

A two hit pitching job was too much for Livonia Churchill High's baseball team in its Western-Six League opener against defending champion Waterford Mott.

George Poe scattered the two safeties and fanned six as Mott gained a 5-2 verdict.

Gary Sobkowiak started for Churchill and lasted 3 1/

3 innings, giving up three runs and five hits.

Dennis Kolakowski homered for Churchill in the second and then in the sixth inning Gary Leirstein walked, was sacrificed to second and counted Churchill's second and final run on Pat Walsh's single.

Sorrows Wins Over
St. Rita In Opener

If pitching is the heart of a baseball team — and in high school it's said to mean 75 to 80 per cent — Our Lady of Sorrows could be in trouble in defending its Northwest Division title in the Catholic League.

A year ago, Sorrows won 17 while losing only three, thanks to some super hurling by Ross Patton, Dan McGrath and Mike Hart.

All three are gone from coach Bob Kelly's 1971 team which gets going against Lourdes Thursday in a doubleheader at Sorrows. It is a prelude to the regular-season opener on April 19 against St. Rita at Palmer Park.

"I think we're a lot like the Tigers," said Kelly. "We have the offense and we'll have good defense. But the pitching... well, that is something else again."

As matters stand, Kelly will have a great deal of hope in Jim Harte, who also plays first base; Tom Centers, up from the JV team, and Al Firek a freshman.

Centers and Firek both are "Big" men. Centers stands 6-3 and Firek 6-1.

IN OTHER positions, Sorrows will be well stocked with veterans.

Don Blouin, the team's captain and last year's leading hitter with a .320 mark, is back at third base while Harte will operate at first when not on the mound and Steve Theisen at second.

Dave Urbain gives Sorrows a veteran catcher while Newt Hurst and Bill Walesky both are veteran outfielders.

After the regular season opener Sorrows will meet Royal Oak-St. Mary, Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, Orchard Lake-St. Mary's, St. Florian and St. Rita in league action.

The regular season will run until May 21 with the Second Division playoffs beginning on May 26. The finals again will be played at Tiger Stadium on June 1.

Trojans Bow
To Milford
On One Hit

Ron Harris fired a one hit shutout in pitching Milford to a 2-0 victory over Clarenceville in the Wayne-Oakland League opener for both teams.

John Schiffman connected for the only Trojan hit in the fifth inning.

Losing pitcher Chip Meyer allowed four hits and fanned 13.

The Milford runs were scored in the first inning on a single, double and a wild throw.

Feather Ball

North Carolina gave the nation its first "golf course" in 1726 when a Tar Heel was seen whacking a feather ball through an open field in the rolling piedmont section of the state.

Big Gun
For Pats

It was a big day for Don Opland, of Franklin High, and thanks to his bat his school won over Plymouth, 7-6, in a non-league game.

Opland went four-for-four, socking a homer (with one on), a double and two singles.

His homer tied the game in the sixth and then Randy Taylor walked and came around to score the winning run on Gary Derderian's single.

Dennis Watson with help from Rick Frayer pitched for the winners and combined to fan 10 men.

Howie Schryer, Dan Hees and Jim Grimer each had two hits for Plymouth.

GC East Flashes Power In League

Watch out for Garden City East in the Mid-Wayne League's baseball chase. After crushing Inkster Robichaud, 19-1, in the opener, East moved into the role of favorite for the conference crown.

Greg Puzhes, the school's all-round star, turned in a two mitter and fanned nine in pitching the victory. Meantime, the bats of Ken Shaw and Bob Kleinbrook struck a merry note.

SHAW HOMERED with two on while Kleinbrook drove in four runs with a single and a double.

East took a 3-0 in the first inning when Jim Wisniewski singled in two runs.

Hits by Kleinbrook and Dennis Kask, led to three more runs in the second and another Kleinbrook blast featured a three run uprising in the third.

Five more runs — all unearned — sewed up the game in the sixth inning.

In all, East batters drew 13 walks in the game.

GARDEN CITY WEST wasn't as fortunate as East in its Tri-Rivers League opener, bowing to Melvindale, 5-4, when the Dales scored the winning run in the seventh inning on a double and a single.

Darin McHugh had three hits and Nick Roth two for West.

West scored once in the third when McHugh singled and after being sacrificed around to third came in on a fly by Roth.

West tallied three times in

Bo Experiments With Plymouth's Thornbladh

By W.W. EDGAR

ANN ARBOR Bob Thornbladh, the husky fullback who starred on the Plymouth High School team, is the center of an experiment on the University of Michigan football squad.

He is being shifted from the offensive backfield to the role of middle guard on defense — the post that brought Henry Hill All-America honors last fall.

"We know that Thornbladh is a good football player," Bo Schembechler, the Wolverine coach, explained at a news conference prior to the annual spring scrimmage, "and we also know that he is the kind of player who relishes a challenge. So we're giving it to him."

24 to 3, and several of the problems "Bo" spoke about came to light.

From all appearances the quarterback situation has narrowed to a choice between Kevin Casey, a sophomore from Grand Rapids, and Tom Slade, a sophomore from Saginaw.

"I've never had a problem like this before," Bo confided to the writers. "I've had to choose from among six quarterbacks."

"I'm a one quarterback man — always have been — but right now I'd say I'm a one quarterback and a half man."

2-County Study Asked For Rouge

A subcommittee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, created to concentrate on elimination of pollution from the Rouge River, has recommended a study to identify the sources of pollution as the first step.

The four-member subcommittee recommended that the County Board allocate up to $20,000 to cover 80 per cent of the cost of the study which would pinpoint the causes of pollution and flooding along more than 20 miles of the river.

Oakland County will be asked to provide up to $15,000 to finance the remaining 40 percent cost of the study.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE.

chaired by Commissioner Richard E. Manning, of Redford, was established by the board's Public Works Committee. Its other three members are: James DeSana of Wyandotte, John Lesinski of Dearborn, and Charmie Currie of Detroit.

Funds to finance the study in cooperation with Oakland County were requested by County Drain Commissioner Henry V. Herrick who has been given the task of coordinating efforts to clean up the Rouge by the Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners have also allocated $10,000 for Herrick to use in clearing debris from the Rouge River this summer. Additional money may be appropriated as the project progresses. Herrick plans to coordinate his efforts with those of citizen volunteers who turned out 1,400-strong a year ago for a weekend "Rescue the Rouge" clean-up drive.

Herrick said identification of sources of pollution will aid in enforcing the State clean water regulations and in determining the assessment of costs of drain improvements needed to eliminate pollution.

THOMAS A. NICHOLLS, 24328 Washington Court, Farmington, was recently appointed advertising and sales promotion manager of the Kent-Moore Corp. in Warren. Nicholls, who was formerly in the service tool division sales activity, majored in business administration at Jackson Community College and Western Michigan University.

Record Month For RE One

Evans' Net Up 76 Pct.

Evans Products Co.'s revenues of $127,871,000 for the first quarter of 1971 were up 10 per cent from revenues of $116,095,000 in the first quarter of 1970, Monford A. Orloff, chairman and chief executive officer, announced.

Net earnings increased 76 per cent to $1,984,000 from first quarter 1970 net earnings of $1,126,000 and primary earnings per common share increased to 31 cents from the 16 cents of the prior period.

All of the company's operating groups participating in the residential construction and building materials markets enjoyed increased sales and earnings over last year's first quarter. Firming lumber, plywood and particleboard prices contributed to these results.

Based upon the strong current housing demand and the availability of financing at attractive rates, the Evans chief executive estimates there will be more than 1,800,000 housing starts in 1971, up 22 per cent over 1970's 1,470,000 starts. The firm has a plant in Plymouth.

National Can Sets Dividend

CHICAGO The board of National Can Corp. declared a quarterly cash dividend of 11.25 cents per share on the common stock. In addition, the board declared the regular cash dividend of 37.5 cents per share on the series A convertible preferred stock and 15 cents on the series B.

CP Can Sell Stock Issue

The Public Service Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce has authorized Consumers Power Co. to raise $70 million through the sale of 700,000 shares of $100 par value preferred stock.

Consumers Power will use the proceeds from the sale of the stock to finance part of its 1971 construction program totaling $253 million.

Hamilton Intl. Shows '70 Loss

Hamilton International Corp. of Farmington, whose principal subsidiary is Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Co. of America, reported a loss of $741,999 for the year ended Dec. 31, down sharply from a net income of $260,486, or $0.03 per share, in 1969.

Chairman E. Keith Owens said a management decision to make provisions for losses on doubtful accounts and write down the equity investment in partially-owned marketing subsidiaries, representing a combined total of $1,895,943, largely accounted for the shift from a profit of $1,901,493 for the first nine months to the year-end loss.

Included in the loss is a special, non-recurring tax charge of $325,000.

According to Owens, another factor which contributed to the loss was a substantial increase in insurance expenses in the fourth quarter, due primarily to the cost of record life insurance sales in the period.

New life insurance sales for the year also set a record, with more than $185 million being issued, virtually all of it in ordinary life. This represented an increase of 73 per cent over $107 million of new insurance issued in 1969. Life insurance in force at the end of 1970 was in excess of $1.2 billion.

Total revenues for the year were at an all-time high of $32.1 million, up more than eight per cent over total revenues of $29.6 million in 1969.

At year end, the holding company's assets had reached a new high of $102 million, a gain of 10 per cent over 1969.

resents a combined total of $1,895,943, largely accounted for the shift from a profit of $1,901,493 for the first nine months to the year-end loss.

Included in the loss is a special, non-recurring tax charge of $325,000.

According to Owens, another factor which contributed to the loss was a substantial increase in insurance expenses in the fourth quarter, due primarily to the cost of record life insurance sales in the period.

New life insurance sales for the year also set a record, with more than $185 million being issued, virtually all of it in ordinary life. This represented an increase of 73 per cent over $107 million of new insurance issued in 1969. Life insurance in force at the end of 1970 was in excess of $1.2 billion.

Total revenues for the year were at an all-time high of $32.1 million, up more than eight per cent over total revenues of $29.6 million in 1969.

At year end, the holding company's assets had reached a new high of $102 million, a gain of 10 per cent over 1969.

CHARLES M. ALBER of 26190 Westmeath, Farmington, has been promoted by Detroit Edison Co. to director of the materials control department, where he will be responsible for materials and supplies in construction and maintenance, reclaimed and excess materials and by-products.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE AMARANT

Home grown nuts: If you are interested in your environment and want to plant trees for shade, food and better air, why not consider the nut trees?

Filberts (often called hazelnuts) are easy to grow. Plants sucker freely and can be grown as a tree or a bush. If you like them as a small tree, remove the suckers from the base.

Balck walnuts are easy to grow. Try the grafted Thomas black walnut as they start bearing about the third year. The heartnut (also called Japanese walnut) is a hardy tree, producing nuts with a flavor similar to butternuts. Trees bear annual crops starting about the sixth year. Two trees should be planted for better pollination. I forgot to add that if you plant filberts, use two different kinds for pollination, since one variety alone will not produce nuts.

The American butternut makes a good ornamental tree, producing tasty nuts for baking, confections and eating fresh. Plant two trees for better nut production. The Chinese chestnut makes a good shade tree with fine flavored nuts. Two trees are needed for cross pollination.

DANDELION GREENS: Dandelions are prized by the gourmet for good eating, while others may regard them as a "sulfur and molasses" spring tonic. It's an easy matter to find dandelions in spring and cover them with a basket. In a week or so, they'll be bleached white, crisp and tender, with no trace of bitterness.

The famous French cook, Brillat-Savarin says that a taste for bitter flavors is a sign of highest sophistication. Serve the small inside leaves in a salad alone with other native greens — shepherd's purse, cowslip, dock, chicory, plantain and purslane. And if you've never tried eating French fried dandelion blossoms, here's a recipe to try:

First, gather a batch of blossoms, look them over, and wash thoroughly. Roll in a towel to remove excess moisture. Dip each blossom in flour, then fry in deep fat, or oil. Sprinkle lightly with salt and you'll find they're delicious!

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Why is it glonias grow tall and spindly. We give them plenty of food and water."

Glonias often grow tall and spindly, a sign of lack of light. Move them to a brighter window and turn them every two or three days to prevent one side from stretching out faster than the other. After yours has finished blooming, you can start to dry it off by withholding water gradually. Put the pot in a cellar and forget about it until fall when it can be started up again. At that time, you can either repot it or scrape off an inch or so from the top and replace with fresh mixture.

Lawns Reduce Pollution

Those delightful bluegrass, fescue and bentgrass plants in your lawn are not only pretty, but reduce rather than add to water pollution.

A lot is said these days about eutrophication, — the rapid aging of waters accompanied by explosive growth of algae. Organic and mineral runoff from the land feeds this cycle and speeds the aging. Algal "blooms" are mostly attributed to soluble phosphorus in runoff water, stimulated secondarily by nitrogenous compounds.

Some homeowners are hesitant to fertilize the lawn, for fear of contributing to the eutrophication problem. Fear not!

Aside from rare instances of fertilizer spillage that washes into the drainage, a lawn has little chance of contributing to the eutrophication of nearby watersheds. In the first place phosphorus applied to the lawn, even if soluble, does not remain in solution long but is immediately fixed on soil particles. Many years are required for phosphorus to work itself down even a few inches into the ground on most soils.

There is almost no movement of phosphorus into water draining from a lawn. The grass itself protects the soil from washing and physically carrying phosphorus into the drainage system. Most of the phosphorus responsible for eutrophication comes not from fertilizer but from waste treatment plants. Waste water contains considerable detergent, and most detergents are half or more soluble phosphorus.

SOME NITRATE does enter drainage water, for soil organisms are continuously nitrifying nitrogen and lightning produces some oxidation of the gas! But so avidly do growing plants claim free nitrate that almost none is lost from soil even when a lawn is heavily fertilized.

At the Lawn Institute nitrogen fertilizer was applied to impoverished bluegrass in mid-winter, its influence measured the following spring. In spite of four inches of rain falling to frozen soil shortly after treatment, spring growth showed grass stimulation only where the fertilizer was applied; it had not washed even a few inches down the slope. And its influence was as intense where used in January as on other grass receiving the same fertilization in spring. Certainly most fertilizer nitrogen is immediately absorbed by lawngrass, or, in the case of slow-release fertilizers, remains immobilized in the soil for gradual feed-out.

Stairways May Yield Extra Storage Space

A wealth of new storage and shelf space may be right under your feet, where you walk over it every day.

Basement or second-floor stairways often are just that, and the dust trap under the treads goes to waste. Opening up or enclosing staircases gives new shelf space, and adding doors provides cabinets for a multitude of items.

One family added leaved doors and kept the television set under the stairs, on a roll-out table. Or the set could be built in, along with tape deck or record changer.

This idea might work well for a sewing area or home office, depending on space. For a family with privacy-seeking teen-agers, or when business calls are received at home, a phone booth under the stairs is the answer.

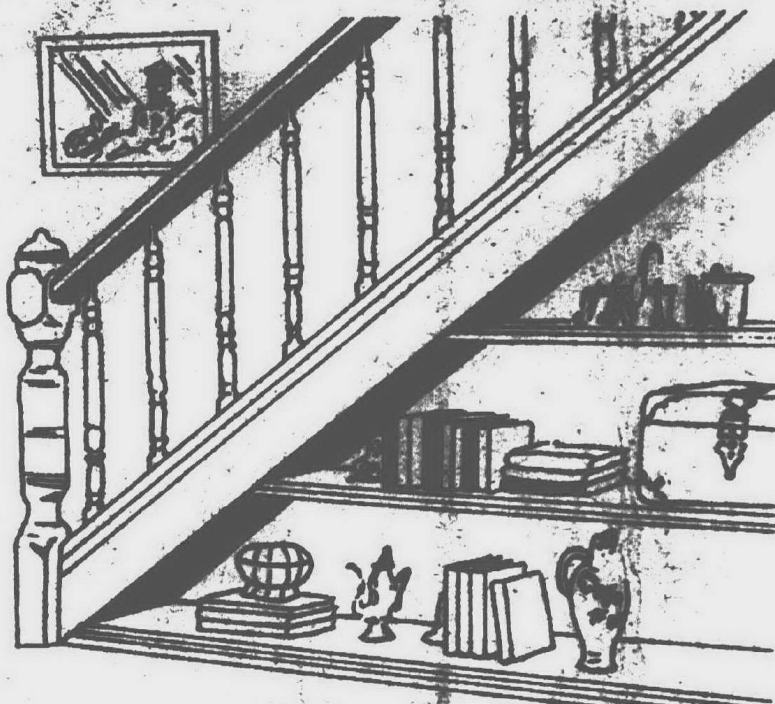

IF THE STAIRS are near the front entry, a closet is convenient for storing coats, galoshes and umbrellas. Near the back door, it's a handy place for sports equipment and along an outside wall a pass-through may be added for storing firewood.

An open stairway can be a skeleton in a basement, and this is a natural starting place for dressing up an often neglected area.

A decorative screen of 1x2-inch fir or pine slats may provide just the touch to separate the stairway from the room. It can extend from floor to ceiling and for a little distance in front of the bottom step.

If both sides of the stairs are open, one side may be screened and the other framed and paneled with 1x4-inch hemlock or cedar boards, installed vertically, to set off a separate area and serve as a backdrop for furnishings.

ANOTHER IDEA is to build a stepped-up cabinet and bookcase combination to replace the handrail of an exposed staircase.

STORAGE FOUND — Opening up wasted space under staircases with shelves, cabinets of western wood adds much-needed storage. Book shelves of 1x12-inch fir or pine boards are attractive display areas for family antiques, art objects. Television set, record changer may be built-in, consolidating home entertainment equipment.

Painted Daisies Bloom 'Til Fall

Painted daisies are members of the chrysanthemum class, distinguished from other chrysanthemums by the long, slender stems coming out of the basal group of very finely cut, attractive leaves.

Flowers of painted daisies are usually white, shades of pink, rose or red, sometimes lilac or yellow and may be single, semi-double or fully double.

Grow these plants from seeds and buy mixed colors as such a mixture will give you the widest selection.

Buying seeds of a double-flowered strain also will give a wide selection as at least a few of the resulting plants will have single flowers.

PAINTED daisies begin to bloom in June. If faded flowers are kept picked, the plants will continue to produce blossoms until early autumn.

Plant the seeds in a special place where you can care for the seedlings. Sow the seeds thinly and transplant any seedlings that are crowded as soon as they are two or three inches tall.

Leaves only will grow the first year. The next year you'll have flowers and they will continue to come each year, for painted daisies are perennials.

Where To Put Air Cleaner

Best place to locate an electronic air cleaner is anywhere where family "living" is concentrated.

However, if someone in the family suffers from an allergy, a location in the bedroom wing of the home is suggested by home comfort experts. If that person has a severe allergy, place the air cleaner in his or her bedroom.

If the bedroom windows are tightly closed, leave the door open for effective circulation.

You can leave the blossoms in the garden to add to the autumn picture, or you can cut them for indoor use. They last well in water.

Plants are also free from all insect pests.

THESE PAINTED daisies are a strain called Robinson's Giant Hybrids -- biggest, best.

Activity Centers Make Most Of Living Space

Want to make the most of every inch of living space? Then plan according to "activity centers" rather than merely furnish rooms in the traditional sense.

As a starting point, take a close look at the master bedroom to explore its possibilities as a combination bed-sitting room or office.

By rearranging furniture to make room for a desk or table and two comfortable chairs, chances are you can enjoy the quiet retreat you've long wanted.

"This kind of creative space planning can be fun and rewarding, once you've learned to break some of the conventional furniture arrangement rules," advises Mary Ann Wills, interior design consultant for the Galway division of Burwood Products Company, Traverse City, Mich.

"In the bedroom, for example, try bringing your bed away from the wall and centering it in the area you've selected as your sleeping quarters," she suggested. "Backstop the headboard and nightstands with a floor-to-ceiling divider that adds both decorative interest and a sense of privacy."

WHILE NEW home statistics show that master bedrooms have been getting larger in recent years, those planned for children seem to have been shrinking in size. Often they're barely adequate for sleeping and dressing, which means the child will need a spot elsewhere for study, hobbies, and play.

Consider setting off a section of the family room for this purpose, Miss Wills suggested. Allow enough space for some storage shelves, be sure to provide a good light, and screen the area with a divider to encourage concentration as well as to keep clutter out of sight.

"First developed to help organize space in open plan homes and apartments, room dividers are as decorative as they are functional," Miss Wills pointed out.

They are composed of

Lawnseed Production Sophisticated

Lawnseed production is becoming ever more sophisticated. New cultivars are now certified for genetic identity, assuring that the purchaser will receive seed solely of the variety or varieties represented.

Seed is carefully grown as an agricultural crop. It is harvested from fields that are kept essentially free from weeds and off-type vegetation.

After harvest the seed is cleaned by a series of screenings, blowings, and other separations, that remove seeds or debris of dissimilar size, shape or weight. Seed completely free of weeds and crop can be specified for special usage (as on fumigated soil), where the added cost that this super-careful handling entails is justified.

Normal standards, already high, are sufficient for most plantings, however, considering the wealth of dormant weed seed present in typical lawn soils. In all cases the laws covering labeling require that weed and crop content, if any, be listed; and most of the "weeds" recognized by law are a nuisance in the farmer's field rather than in a mowed lawn!

How Shy Nun Taught 17 Science Prizewinners

WHOEVER WOULD BELIEVE that science could be fun? But Anne Pawlak (right), Ladywood High School sophomore, enjoys science so much that she spent her whole summer working with fruit flies under the direction of Sr. Mary Bonavita—and it paid off when her science project took a grand award in the Science and Engineering Fair. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

By KATHY MORAN

A shy, modest nun was the guide behind the 17 Ladywood High School students who virtually monopolized the awards at the recent annual Science and Engineering Fair.

Sister Mary Bonavita, a Felician sister, was the advisor to all the prize winners but claims little of the credit.

"In most cases, the girls came up with their own ideas, but in some cases I helped them along," the chemistry teacher said.

"EVERY YEAR we have a science fair in the school, and the girls decide if they want to enter their projects in further competition.

"Usually when they see their project next to the others, they decide whether it is worth further competition. It's pretty much their decision," she said.

Sr. Bonavita has been teaching biology and chemistry for "30-plus" years, but this is the first year her students have hauled in so many awards.

"This was quite a wind-fall," she said.

The girls received 17 of the 32 awards or about 53%, in the ninth through 12th grade competition for students from western Wayne County. Divine Child High School took eight awards and the rest went to scattered schools.

Since Sr. Bonavita joined the Ladywood staff five years ago, the number of prize winners has increased, but this year they jumped from the 10 awards in 1969-70 to the 17 winners plus a blue ribbon winner this year. The all-girl school had entered 24 projects.

THE LADYWOOD girls took all the prizes in the biochemistry division including a grand prize winner, sophomore Anne M. Pawlak of Detroit.

The bubbling Miss Pawlak acted on a tip from her teacher and ended up with a grand prize project and a free trip to the International Science Fair in Kansas City, Mo. in May.

"She wanted to do a project on eyes. But because of the difficulty of getting animal or human specimens, I suggested she use insects," Sr. Bonavita said.

"I wanted to do something with eyes because I've had trouble with my eyes due to a birth injury," Miss Pawlak said.

She sorted through a ton of information that Sr. Bonavita gave her and came across an idea on the eye colors of fruit flies.

"I WORKED on it since last June and spent about three days a week from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Ladywood in the summer," she said. "That way I just had to organize it after school this year and had more time for extra activities."

"I spent my summer with fruit flies," she said. Her project, officially called "Separation and Ge-

"I love fruit flies, but if I see another one I think I'll get sick."

Miss Pawlak will graduate in two years — at the same time as her mother graduates from neighboring Madonna College.

THE OTHER prize winners and their projects in biochemistry are:

Janis Gruska, 16, of Dearborn, "An Analysis of Bacterial Cell Walls Through Paper Chromatography;" Anne Diederich, 17, of Dearborn Heights, "Effect of a Magnetic Field and UV Radiation on Enzyme Activity;" and Dianne C. Doria, 17, of 14415 Summerside Court, Livonia, "The Non-Hemoglobin Erythrocyte Proteins in Different Blood Types."

Jean M. Hoey, 16, of 16235 Country Club Drive, Livonia, took first place for her project "The Comparison of Pascal's Triangle and Its Three Dimensional Expansion" in the mathematics category.

Ladywood winners from the earth and space sciences are:

Catherine Bammel, 17, of Dearborn Heights, "Effect of Plant Hormones Under Varying Wave Lengths of Light on Phaseolus Vulgaris Disks;" Mary Repair, 18, of 38545 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia, "The Effect of Temperature on the Growth of the 'Pregnant' Plant;" and Rebecca Bessner, 16, of Dearborn Heights, "Effects of Vitamins on Agricultural Products."

Sheila Owsiany, 17, of 9023 San Jose, Redford Township, took second place for "Effect of Cyclamate on the Sensitivity of Bacteria to Antibiotics" in the medicine and health category.

MICROBIOLOGY winners are:

Lynnett Mazur, 17, of Dearborn Heights, "A Study of the Biodegradation of Detergents by 'Euglena Virdis';" and Kathleen Murray, 15, of 15901 Gary Lane, Livonia, "A Microbiological Study of the Effectiveness of Fluoride vs. Non-Fluoride Toothpaste."

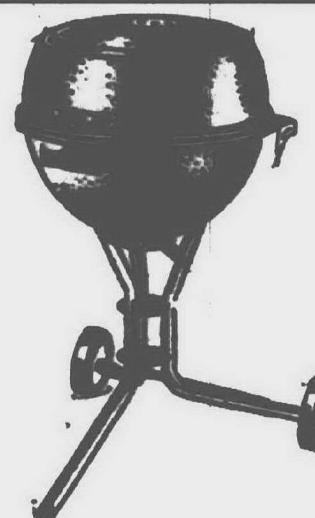

A special award was given to Cristina Doria, 16, of 14415 Summerside Court, Livonia for her engineering project on "Iron Oxide: Is it Really a Waste?"

Chemistry award winners are Suzanne Dziewa, 17, of Dearborn Heights, "A Magnetic Method for Determining the Composition of Mixed Crystals;" and Mary Skiba, 17, of 13550 Sarasota, Redford Township, "Effect of Diameter and Concentration of Rhythmic Banding in Silicic Acid."

Charlene Prokos, 17, of Detroit, took first place under behavioral and social sciences for her project, "Does Luck Influence ESP Scores?"

New Identity Course Set In Farmington Center

The Farmington Community Center will be the scene of a new investigation into identity series to begin with a free orientation program at 12:30 p.m. Friday, April 23.

The eight-session program, scheduled Wednesdays and Fridays in the center located on Farmington Road north of 10 Mile, is offered by the Continuum Center of Oakland University.

Its purpose is to help women decide how best to use their capabilities when they no longer need or wish to spend them all in the home, and one of its most enthusiastic boosters is Mrs. Robert Nelson of Farmington.

SYLVIA NELSON, now administrative assistant for the Continuum Center at Oakland, said she had gained a great deal of insight into herself since taking the investigation course.

"It was the best day of my life when I walked into a Continuum Center orientation," Mrs. Nelson said. "I didn't know it then, but my life was to change tremendously."

"I have grown a lot, and am realistically aware of areas in which I need to grow more."

The wife of attorney Robert Nelson and mother of Ingrid, a busy 14-year-old, she began her personal investigation into identity four years ago.

"I have always been a very active person, but I found I was discontent and searching for something more meaningful," she recalled.

HER COLLEGE EDUCATION was interrupted by marriage. Mrs. Nelson added, but with her husband's encouragement she earned her degree later.

But the job she tried after her daughter was in school was not "interesting or rewarding," she said. It was then that Continuum came into the picture.

"I had always felt that I was somewhat of a loner but to my surprise my testing during the Continuum Center program showed me to be high in social and personal skills," Mrs. Nelson added.

The first few sessions of the program include self evaluation through encounter groups. There are psychological and academic tests given during the program to show participants how to meet the problems in life and find more interesting means to fulfillment.

MRS. NELSON says, "I learned so much about myself I was really amazed. I found I was able to relate to other people in a different way."

Mrs. Nelson has worked for the center ever since going through the program. She does group leading which she finds very rewarding. She was the secretary to Dr. Gerald Self, former director of the center, then she became office coordinator before taking on her present responsibilities.

"One of the things I had to learn was to take more risks," she said. "I was absolutely terrified of public speaking, now this is part of my job. It still frightens me, but each time I do it I find it becomes a little easier."

The goal of the Continuum Center is for each woman to make her own personal decisions rather than being told what to do. Some women seek further education, others seek employment, many find more interesting volunteer work.

The program is funded by the Kellogg Foundation. They pay two-thirds of the participant's fee.

Man With A Gun Called Alaska's Greatest Threat

By MARGARET MILLER

The greatest danger to Alaska posed by the proposed oil pipeline comes not from the pipeline itself but from the men who will build it.

That's the opinion of Don Cooper, lumberman by trade and lecturer by avocation, and he voiced it last week before the Farmington Town Hall.

Workmen who "shoot everything they see" will do more harm to Alaska's beauty and wildlife than the controversial pipeline, he told the women.

"The pipeline will come," he stated. "Oil from the north slope of Alaska is a national necessity, especially now when the countries who sell oil to the world are becoming more and more arrogant."

"But the country will never be the same. The hope of the conservationist is to make those who come in to build adhere to rules while they are in the north country."

COOPER SAID that ever since Alaska attained statehood, there has been a push to industrialize the area more and make use of its natural resources.

"But, I think the greatest single natural resource in Alaska is its wilderness," he said.

"If we have to sacrifice that to industrialize, it will be like jumping over a dollar to save a nickel."

COOPER, well known in this area through frequent television appearances with George Perrot, mixed humor with beautiful photography for his talk in the Northland Theater.

DON COOPER, guest speaker for the final Farmington Town Hall program of the 1970-71 season, chats with Mrs. Edwin R. Ogelsby, program chairman for the coming year. Cooper appeared on crutches because of a recent leg injury. (Evert photo)

His travelogue dealt mainly with the wilderness portions of the Kenai peninsula where he has worked in lumbering camps and travel to remote spots.

"I've never owned a gun and never shot anything except with a camera," he said.

the Glen Oaks country club, he said anyone planning to visit Alaska should go one way by water, and anyone planning to homestead there should have a stable income.

"Statehood hasn't improved Alaska's growing season a bit," he added. "It's the only place I know where you get the first frost before the last seeding."

Insulation at work

Insulation protects the temperature inside a thermal jug... think what it could do for the temperature inside your home! Acting as a barrier to resist the flow of heat in any direction, it would keep the heat inside for more comfortable warmth in winter and keep the heat outside for more comfortable coolness in summer. Insulation would save you money, too. By cutting your fuel consumption, it would reduce your fuel costs (in many cases as much as one-third). And the insulation that reduces your heating costs also reduces your costs of air conditioning for summer comfort.

Insulation makes good sense for a picnic jug, why not for your home? No matter how you heat or cool your house, we think insulation is one of the best ways for you to improve your personal comfort and save money. Get the complete story.

At Schoolcraft

'Superstar' Loud, But 'Beautiful'

By KATHY MORAN

"Beautiful!" "Exciting!" "Great!" "Out of Sight!"

These were just a few of the comments flying around as the audience streamed out of the explosive "Jesus Christ Superstar" concert performed by the American Rock Opera Company Friday night at Schoolcraft College.

Based on the Superstar album, the concert was an emotion-charged probing into the question—"Who are you, Jesus Christ?"

Although the concert posed no answers, it reflected the desperate cry to know about Christ in terms of modern society.

As Judas said, "Every time I look at you I don't understand why you let the things you did get so out of hand."

THE AMERICAN ROCK Opera Company comes from St. Louis, Mo., and created its production in 14 days.

It will be appearing in Detroit, in Cobo Arena, Thursday, May 13, with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and at Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, May 11, in Bowen Field House.

The rock opera performance left such an impact on its Observerland audience that Monday morning one spectator said, "I'm still feeling high."

And the audience was not all young rock enthusiasts—a good proportion were adults including a number of nuns, priests and ministers. In fact, two-thirds of the 2,100 tickets sold went to non-students of Schoolcraft.

"I really enjoyed it," one of the nuns said. "Sometimes it was too loud—I blocked my ears several times. But it was beautiful!"

Any person knowing the words to the album was at a distinct advantage because sometimes the seven members of the orchestra overpowered the 12 singers.

But in general, the company did an excellent job of accommodating to the non-acoustic gymnasium, which is clearly designed for basketball crowds.

A number of people brought the words to the album with them and, when the hearing got tough, pulled out the words to follow the songs.

COLORFUL LIGHTS were used to project the singers against the gym wall—not only adding to the atmosphere but also singling out the main singers for those who couldn't see well. But the lighting really came on strong when strobe lights were used in the "Trial Before Pilate."

Outstanding singers were Sylvia Cooper (Mary Magdalene), Art Rushton (Peter and King Herod), Eron Tabor (Pontius Pilate) and Denny Belline (Judas). The whole group and orchestra brought the house a thunderous, whistling standing ovation after the charged finale.

LRTG Will Stage French Comedy

These plays will have only three nights to see the Livonia-Roseville Theatre Guild's presentation of Jean Anouilh's "Waltz of the Toreadors."

This French farce will be staged in Bentley High School auditorium, 18100 Hubbard, Livonia, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30 and May 1, at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $2 Thursday and Friday and $2.50 Saturday. For advance tickets, call Mrs. Thomas A. Tinskin, 11330 Hillcrest, Livonia.

Many of the guild's best-known performers will take part in the "Waltz."

Among them are Moya Taormina, "Stop the World," Shirley Hulet, "Come Back, Little Sheba," Howard Egan, "Oliver," Jerry Sima, "The King and I," and Norman Smith, "Cabaret."

The lead is played by a talented newcomer to the guild, Errol Fortin, and the director is Jim Wotring.

Plymouth Symphony Celebration Has Style

By TIM RICHARD

When the Plymouth Symphony celebrates something, it does so in style, and that's what we got Saturday night as the orchestra teamed up with the Detroit Ballet Company to perform "Coppelia."

For this, the orchestra's 25th anniversary year and Conductor Wayne Dunlap's 20th, the final program of the regular season was designed to be extra-special.

No one will confuse this community orchestra with the New York Philharmonic or the teenage pupils of Sandra Severo with the Ballet Russe. But as I said, there was style. A blending. Lots of class.

THE SEASON'S highlight was supposed to have been performed in the new Plymouth High School auditorium, but it hasn't been finished, so a switch was made to Livonia's Churchill high. That put a damper on things.

To begin with, there was no spotlight for Conductor Dunlap. The orchestra pit is about four feet deeper than anything I've ever seen, and it seemed to mute the strings, in particular. It also posed a clear hazard to the dancers. Fortunately all kept away from the edge of the stage.

The orchestra tone had its bad spots, but what's important in the performance of a ballet is the attack. Here it was crisp and apparently clear to the dancers. The musicians were too deep in the bowels of the auditorium to see the dancers, but Dunlap made them mean. In that regard I couldn't find a flaw.

THIS OBSERVER lacks the technical competence to judge the Severo Company, but this much can be said:

Miss Severo teaches her pupils to act as well as dance, and no one was better than Holly Doty, a Plymouth sophomore performing the leading and highly demanding role of Swanilda, the jealous village girl who sees boyfriend Franz being lured away by the Coppelia doll.

If, when there's a mob on stage, you look away from the featured soloist or ensemble to the rest of the cast, you'll find they maintain good facial expressions throughout. That's what I mean by style and class.

Personally, I have long maintained that Dr. Coppelius was more than a toymaker and dabbler in black magic. He was also a dirty old man, and I was delighted to see Dale Black bring out that element in his character. Tastefully, of course.

THE AUDIENCE was on the edge of its seats during the magnificent second act, when Swanilda takes the part of the doll and fools Dr. Coppelius into thinking he has brought her to life.

Carole Valleskey was another delight. She played the Coppelia doll and did the "Dawn" dance in the final act, and she will switch roles with Miss Doty for the May 2 performance at Clarenceville High School, which will again be accompanied by the Plymouth Symphony.

OBSERVATION POINT

Environment Issue Reaches Grass Roots

By Philip H. Power
Publisher

Back in the old days, it was said that come spring a young man's fancy turns to love. That may still be true, but this spring an increasing number of people are thinking about the environment, too.

Earth Week is being celebrated all across the country this week, with a series of locally-oriented efforts designed to do something about the quality of our world.

A lot of activity is taking place here in the suburbs. Some examples:

- Schoolcraft College is putting on a week-long program of talks ranging from population growth to pesticides. They're open to the public, and a call to the college will get you the details.

- National Can Co. has opened a metal can recycling station at its plant at 13000 Levan Road in Livonia. Although the Livonia Environmental Action Committee is putting on a special drive this week, the public is welcome to bring in clean cans, open at both ends, with the paper off, from Monday through Thursday in the future.

- Glass bottle recycling programs are springing up all over, with a special program going on at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington Township.

- Ninth graders in Plymouth have set up a can collection station across from the downtown post office during this week.

- High school and grade-school programs on the environment are taking place in numbers too big to mention.

FROM ALL THIS activity, it's perfectly clear that concern with the environment is a genuine issue and not a fad.

Michael McCloskey, executive director of the Sierra Club, notes that "we've reached a higher level of consciousness. The staging of events is passing from the scene."

I think he's right. Last year's Earth Day celebration, although encouraging, had a little of a circus about it. You couldn't be sure that after all the big show, they would fold the tents and steal out of town, never to be seen again.

A glance of the list of what's going on this week here in the suburbs suggests that the key thing about the environmental quality movement is that it is becoming (pardon the expression) a grass roots one.

Local people -- not big names or fancy figures -- but just folks are getting involved. The kids are participating through the schools, and even the business community -- long the pet evil of the anti-pollution people -- is waking up.

TWO YEARS AGO, just after the New Year ushered in the decade of the '70s, I wrote that I felt that the environmental issue would be the key one during the coming 10 years.

I've written many prophecies which turned out to be wrong, but I think I may be right on this one.

After all, the environment issue is a natural for us in the suburbs. We moved here to get a little open space, to see the trees and feel the land. And when they are destroyed, we all can note the change and gain a real sense of how much we have lost.

Perhaps the best indication of how deeply the issue has sunk in took place last Friday. The people building the new expressway along Schoolcraft Road were burning trees that had been cut down to make the right of way.

Our phones were jammed all day with angry people, calling to protest the burning.

That's public concern, and it proves that the conservation movement has come a long way.

Judge Turns Legislator

From a constitutional point of view, Wayne Circuit Judge Roland Olzark did the right thing in deciding that Schoolcraft College board seats should be reapportioned on a "one-man, one-vote" basis.

But we have serious reservations about the second half of his announced decision--the part in which he has agreed to issue a writ of mandamus against the college board ordering it to draw up a new apportionment plan for his approval.

What he has done is to put his court, along with the college board, in the position of writing legislation. We think he is over-stepping his bounds.

Drawing up apportionment plans is the business of the Michigan Legislature, not a court or a college board.

IT'S CLEAR that the present apportionment plan under state law--which allows one board seat per school district, regardless of size--is unconstitutional. The state law is defective.

But this doesn't mean that the court should step in and approve a new set of boundaries. Such a step would be all right if the Legislature had failed to draw up a new law, but there is no indication the Legislature is shirking its responsibility.

Quite the contrary: State Rep. Marvin Stempien of Livonia has drawn up a bill that would allow community college trustees to be elected from single member districts of equal population.

Moreover, Stempien's bill would give the power to draw up the districts to the County Apportionment Commission, composed of three county officers and two political party chairmen. That's the same group that draws up districts for the County Board of Commissioners, and in Wayne County the Apportionment Commission has done a pretty good job.

What Judge Olzark is doing is allowing the present Schoolcraft trustees--people who may have an ax to grind--to reapportion themselves. If they should decide to do some gerrymandering, he might be unable to recognize it.

The State Board of Education is considering another feasible alternative--requiring at-large elections. The Dept. of Education has drafted such a bill, and the state board has indicated it will choose between that draft and the Stempien bill.

WE'D RATHER see the Legislature be given the year of 1971 to listen to the state board's recommendation, mull it over and then pass a suitable bill.

It would mean that we wouldn't get reapportionment until 1972 instead of the Sept. 13 date indicated in Judge Olzark's courtroom last week.

But a nine-month delay wouldn't be that harmful. After all, no one is arguing that Schoolcraft students from Clarenceville and Northville are getting better educations than Livonians because the two small districts have proportionately greater representation on the board.

Maybe it's too late, but we hope Judge Olzark will reconsider. He could help the Schoolcraft district more by simply ordering reapportionment for the June 1972 election instead of rushing into a Sept. 13 election with a plan written by the college board itself. There's no need for judicial rush, and much to be gained by an orderly legislative procedure.

Taxes To Help Environment

During Earth Week, the young folks and the young at heart are paying a lot of attention to banning throwaway bottles, recycling, re-using meal cans, cleaning up the Rouge River. For this they deserve praise and applause, and we herewith extend it to them.

But it will take more than a cleanup job to save the Earth from being exhausted and overcrowded by man, the most destructive animal ever created or evolved.

It's going to take some radical changes in our social policies, and last week I nominated the tax laws as an instrument for discouraging over-breeding and over-consumption of petroleum. Let's continue the list.

AS DEVELOPERS build more subdivisions, they use a hop-skip-jump method, and they buy up good farmland to build houses on. That means more people and less cropland to feed them. We've got to quit that sometime.

In order to save cropland to feed us, an environmentalist would advocate a punitive capital gains tax on the sale of farmland for development. This would take the gain out of exploiting our natural resources.

ELECTRIC POWER is a major culprit. Conventional power plants eat up huge amounts of unreplaceable fossil fuels and belch smoke into the air. Nuclear power plants eat up our shoreline and discharge warm, deoxygenated water into the lakes.

A decade ago, American industry used 24,810 kilowatt hours of electricity per worker per year; today it uses 37,912 kwh--about 50 per cent more.

Typically, big users get "bulk" rates, but a pro-environmentalist policy would reverse this. We'd charge a higher rate (or a graduated tax) as electric consumption went up.

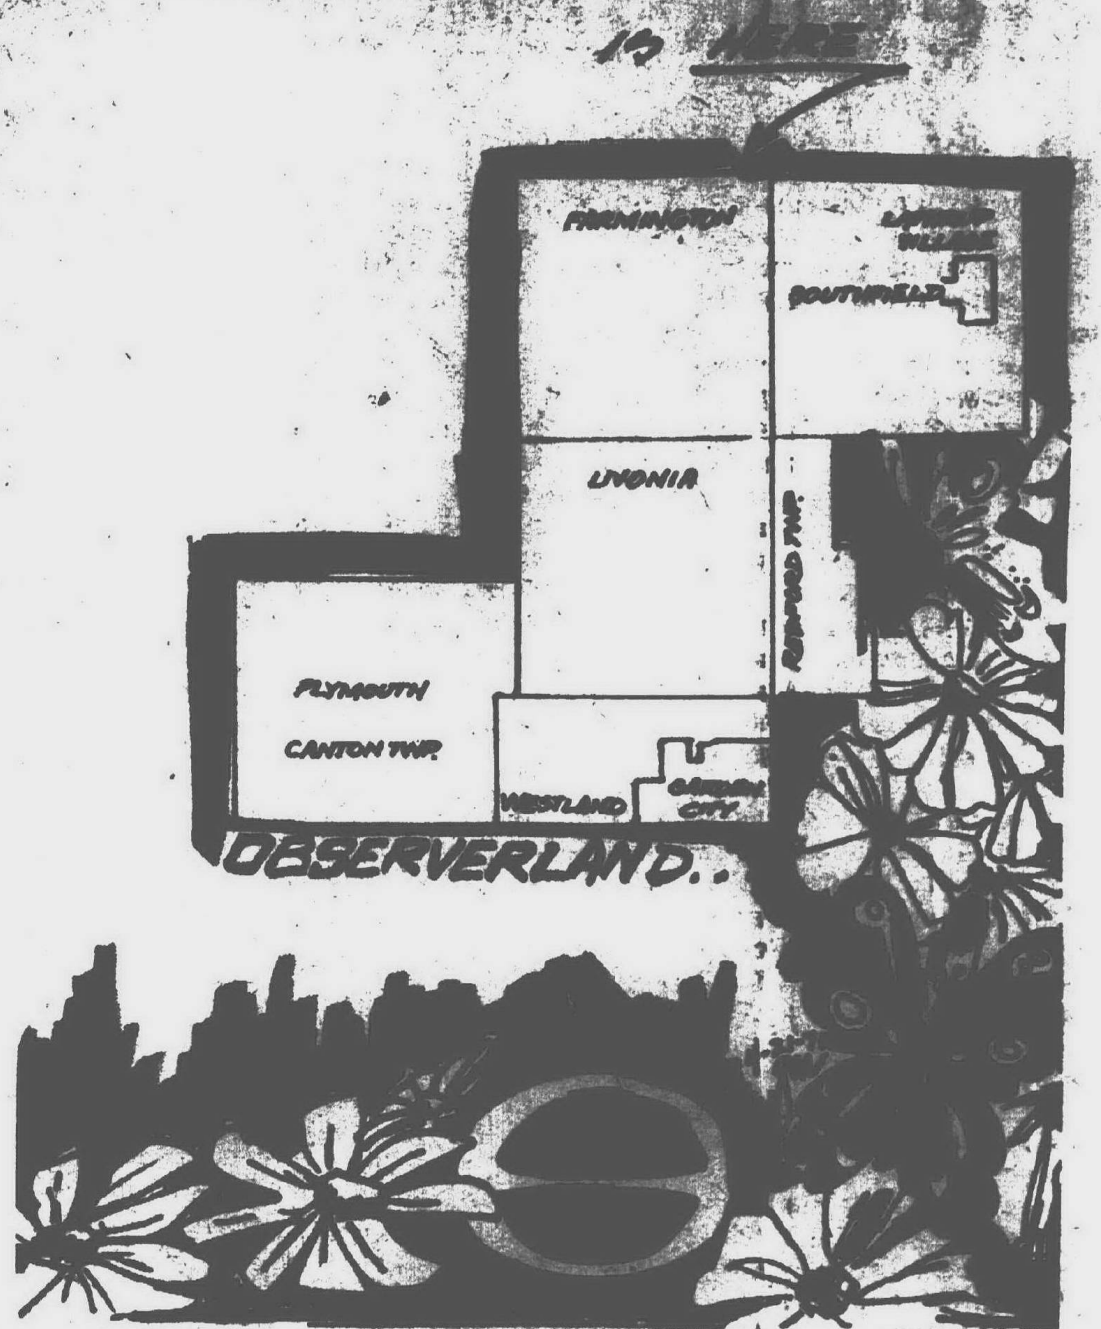

WESTLAND'S Mayor Gene McKinney recently proposed a new set of water rates designed to raise more revenue. One method is to raise the price, but McKinney also wants to do away with discounts to big water users.

I don't know whether McKinney was thinking primarily of revenue, of helping the little guy or of the environment, but his proposed water rates do have their environmental implications -- good ones.

We're using water at incredible rates, especially in industry. Maybe we'd all be a little more cautious in our water consumption with a set of rates that better reflect the strain we're putting on our environment.

The problems are massive. The lobbies for the mining, oil, electric, real estate and auto industries are formidable. But we've got only one Earth.

CONSTERNATION ABOUT CONSERVATION

3 Boards Need PR Lessons

With financial woes coming from all directions and with the need for a proper image in the eyes of, to say the least, skeptical public, it would appear that school and college boards would do everything possible to create better public relations.

However, from recent incidents in Plymouth, Livonia and at Schoolcraft College, it would appear that is farthest from the minds of the boards involved.

Schoolcraft College, currently involved in a court suit over reapportionment, is the most flagrant violator... due largely to a recent action in which the board of trustees named Chairman Mrs. Jane Moehle, of Plymouth, as the sole spokesman in any matters regarding the legal litigation.

The Schoolcraft board has been charged more than once with ducking into an executive session, better known as a secret meeting, to keep information from leaking out to the news media.

True enough there are matters, such as personnel problems, that should be handled behind closed doors. But this board goes into executive sessions for many items that should become available to the public, especially the voters in the college district who are paying the bills.

There isn't any question in the minds of those close to the community college situation but that Schoolcraft College will have to undergo a reapportionment in order to follow the one man-one vote policy ordered by the U.S. Supreme Court as long as a year ago in a decision handed down in a Missouri case.

Neither should there be any question that voters in the district should be made aware of developments as quickly as they happen.

SUCH ISN'T the case. Just a week ago, the trustees met on the evening before the suit was to go before the court to decide on a course of action.

Queried about the meeting, Mrs. Moehle told reporters it would be an executive (secret, closed door) session. So no reporters turned out.

Then with the knowledge that none was on hand, the board went into a public meeting with no one attending. An important resolution was passed, determining the steps the board's legal counsel would take the next day.

The resolution wasn't made available to the news media until after the hearing, even though it was the basis of the board's case.

Schoolcraft's board didn't chalk up any brownie points in this instance, as in similar instances during the past 11 years. It appears as if the college is maturing but the board isn't.

THEN THERE IS the incident in Plymouth where the school board publicly announced a meeting for a Monday night and then scheduled it for a Saturday morning at 8 a.m. without notifying the news media.

It's a small matter, but symbolic.

Sure, enough, the board fulfilled its legal requirements by placing a notice of the Saturday meeting on the entrance to the administration building.

But all that was needed was for someone to pick up a 'phone and make a few calls. So another meeting was held publicly in complete secrecy.

The Livonia school board appears to be defeating its own purposes by holding open study sessions on its acute, financial problems.

It does little good to have 300 people in the audience and then have the board discuss matters that appear on an agenda and on memos only in the hands of the trustees.

Such was the case at the recent meeting in Bentley High School where the board was discussing items 16 and 17 and such and none in the audience had the slightest idea of what was happening.

The matter was corrected by handing out the same materials to the audience but not in time to forestall numerous complaints.

The public is entitled to know and it is the responsibility of the boards to make sure they do... not to keep it in the dark. After all it is the public that goes to the polls to decide such things as money, board members and the like.

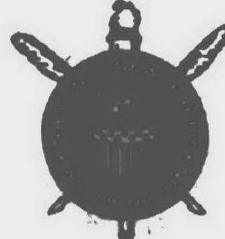

It's time these boards matured and learned the facts.

Neglected Cats--A Cruel Sacrifice Of Lives

2-Day Drug Session Set At Madonna

EDITOR:
Why do so many people have animals and abuse them? I am speaking of the countless animals which just run loose.

Especially slow with warmer weather coming, this problem gets worse. Cats can also be confined to a yard by a leash. (I have always done this, and my cats have never been loose to wander around the neighborhood.)

We have all seen cats and dogs lying dead on the road. This needless and cruel sacrifice of animal life is the fault of a negligent or stupid owner.

Last Monday I picked up a beautiful grey and white female cat that had just been hit by a car at Beech and Lyndon. I took her to my friend, Mrs. Sherrill of the Humane Rescue League. This nice cat had to be put to sleep.

This is such a shame and with proper care for a pet, so very unnecessary.

Also cats really should be spayed or castrated. This will make a better pet (no yowling or spraying). But most important of all, it will guarantee that no unwanted kittens are produced.

There are truly too many cats to find homes. These unwanted cats are strays or have to be put to sleep because the surplus is so great. It isn't right to allow so many kittens to be born.

People leave their uncastrated male cats out all night and then they wonder why they disappear. If a cat is wanted as a pet, he should be taken care of properly and this includes not being a toy for small children. Any pet deserves love and care, or they should not have a pet.

Livonia Shows Poor Values

EDITOR:
March 29 the citizens of Livonia laid their values on the line. The clear and unmistakable message from the voting booth: we are not willing to pay even to maintain the present level of education in our schools; we are willing to reduce the quality of our children's education by one-third.

This is an affluent community. What are you spending your money on, Mr. and Mrs. Livonia? What is more important to you than your children's education? You have your snowmobiles, power mowers, color TVs, cigarettes and booze. Will these things really make up for the learning your children lose?

You are supposed to be fed up with taxes and voting against your children's schools is your way of protesting. More than $500 million of your tax money goes to Vietnam every week. If you want to protest against taxes, why don't you write to your representatives in Washington and tell them you don't want to pay taxes for fruitless wars, planes that won't fly, ABMs that might not work, subsidies to wealthy farmers, airlines, oil companies and other favored groups.

Why do you punish your children by voting against the one kind of tax that benefits you, you children, your community and your country--directly and with tangible benefits--preparing the next generation for college, work and life.

Firemen Save Appliances

EDITOR:
My husband and I want to publicly express our extreme gratitude to the men of the Farmington Township Fire Department--specifically to Chief Button and the men of Station No. 4--for their services to us during the past winter season.

The particular occasion was the night during a severe rainstorm and sudden thaw when some two feet of water elected to enter our basement via a very undesirable source.

One of the men came quickly after our call and radioed the crew of seven who appeared at our house with a "beautiful" floating gas-engine pump. We very certainly feel those men and the pump saved the motors of our various appliances--particularly the furnace--and gave us a real jump on the cleanup by helping us get rid of the water just as soon as possible.

It was an extremely damp and cold night and a miserable task; we admired the fine, uncomplaining attitude of the men. Furthermore, while waiting for the water to go down, we enjoyed their fellowship over coffee in the garage while we watched the moon landing on the portable television on top of the car.

Ironically, to have technology such that we could put men on the moon and hear their very voices as it happens, while down here, we had to pump water out of our basement. Ah, well.

Make Drug Laws Stick

EDITOR:
I read with anger and disgust the report in the March 10 Observer of the Westland man being arrested with an estimated $100,000 in narcotics and pills. This individual has pleaded guilty to "using and being addicted to a narcotic drug," which carries a maximum sentence of one year in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Not too long ago, a certain individual got 10 years in Jackson prison for the alleged sale of two marijuana cigarettes. It is no wonder that the youth of this community have contempt for the narcotics laws. The only way to control drug abuse in this community is to choke off the drugs at their source.

Drug laws must be made uniform and made to stick if we are to conquer this problem.

Asks Support For Millage

EDITOR:
It is indeed a strange turn of events to find oneself swinging from a majority position to a minority position in a relatively short time span. However, the objective person must weigh each set of circumstances by themselves to reach a logical conclusion at a given time.

Such was the case at the GOP executive board meeting last month, at which a resolution was passed to oppose the 3.5 mill renewal and the voc-tech bonding issue.

Such was also the case at the general meeting where in a speech I cited the specific points of, first, the Nankin Mills millage dilution and the state failure to further subsidize the annexation which weakened our tax base; second, the likely influx of parochial students into the public schools as a result of the parochial defeat at the polls; third, the impact of the State Supreme Court ruling on bonds and materials; and fourth, the State Legislature's failure to support the governor's recommended 6.5 per cent increase for civil service employees and the impact of this act at the bargaining table of other public employee groups, as valid reasons to assume a serious deficit in the Livonia School District without the millage renewal.

This position is not the result of "brainwashing," nor is it a political flip-flop. It is merely an assessment of facts. I hereby urge the voters in the Livonia School District to support the millage renewal question when it comes to another vote which it must if we are to avoid disastrous dismemberment of our school system next fall.

The Record On Our Parks

EDITOR:
I read with interest and sardonic amusement Tim Richard's editorial "Time Running Out on Parks" in the Observer of April 7.

Tim Richard makes a good point. However, it had been made before in 1962, 1964, 1966 and 1968.

Selling the $4 million parks and recreation bond issue to Livonia was one of many significant achievements of the previous administration, and what a wonderful thing this program has been for Livonia. In fact, the phrase "open space" was first heard in our town during the Moelke administration and was the key to all the city planning done by his administration.

Power's Observer aligned itself, and many readers and voters, against Moelke in his bid for re-election in March 1970, and was certainly a major factor in his defeat.

How ironic that the Observer now embraces the principles of open space planning, which obviously haven't been followed during the past year!

JOHN R. MIQUELON

EDITOR'S NOTE: The parks-recreation bond issue received Observer Newspapers editorial support, as have such proposals as the state bond issue, better Wayne and Oakland county parks, a state park for the Maybury site and Huron-Clinton parks expansion. Our stand has been consistent for years.

School Board Loses A Vote

EDITOR:
Quit passing the buck, Mr. Craft (Livonia school board president). Forget about the State Legislature and listen to the words of Mr. Schlupe who wrote last week, "Instead of talking about new taxes or raising existing ones, all public officials should start tightening the belt."

On the front page of the Observer we read, "Livonia schools to Act Monday on Budget Cuts." Then we turn to page 7A, "Minutes of Livonia Board of Education Meeting." Lo and behold, they are really cutting costs when they approve air conditioning equipment for Franklin High School. But what the heck, it's only $43,300.

The board's logic in financial matters eludes me. We need capable administrators.

Mine was a "yes" vote for the millage renewal. However, after the negative reaction of the school administrators and board members to the will of the majority, I am glad that so many had the wisdom to vote no.

Never fear, they will be back again in June, confident that they have coerced us into voting yes. Well, I for one have changed my vote to no.

Livonians, let's give the administrators and board the message again.

Hypocrisy In The Yard

EDITOR:

I am a student of Thurston High School and very conscious about what happens to our natural resources.

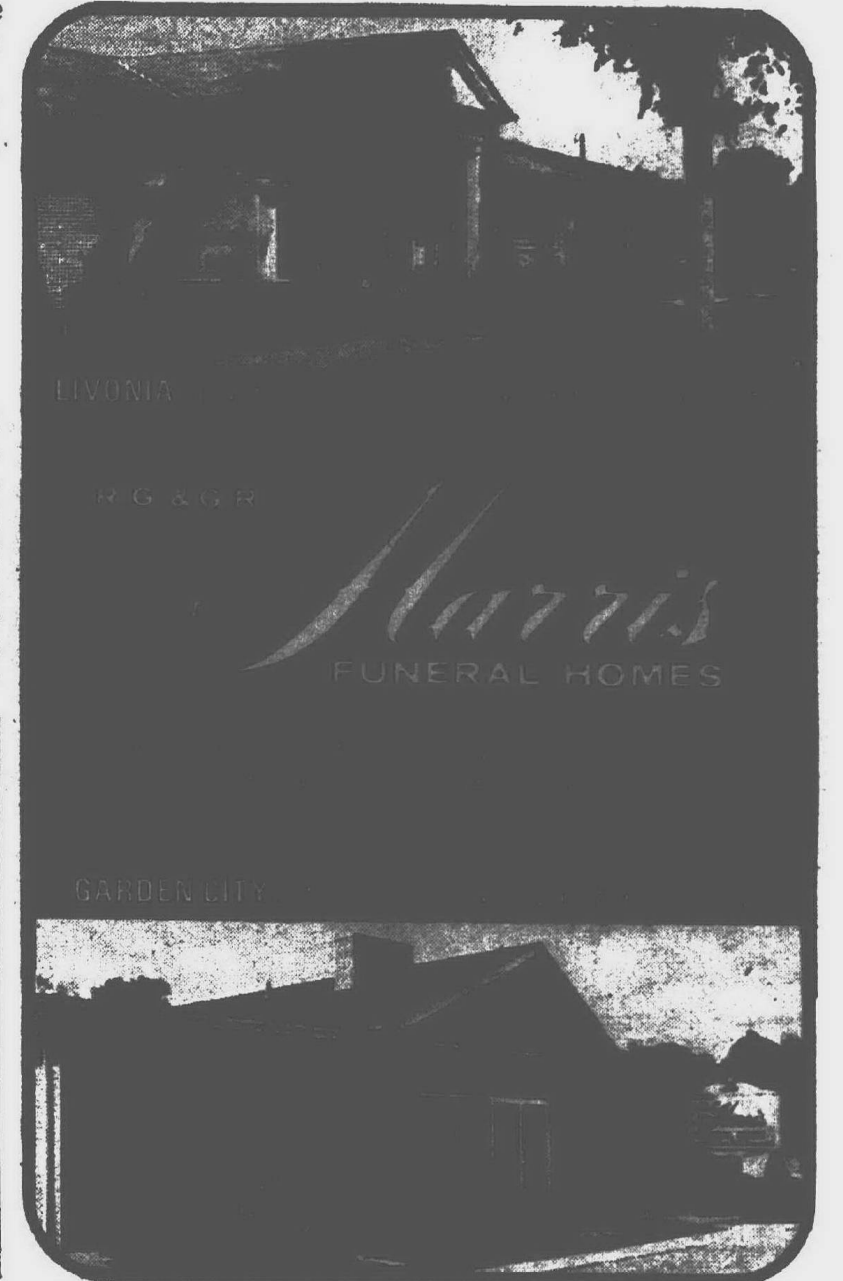

Having read much on beautification in your paper, I find the same old hypocrisy exists with our Redford Township establishment. Township officials leave all kinds of junk in their yards.

Bradner Backing At-Large Election

By KATHY MORAN
An at-large trustee election is beginning to gain favor in the growing debate over the Schoolcraft College apportionment question.

Dr. Eric Bradner, college president, advocates an at-large election because of the number of problems involved in trying to divide the college district into equal population wards.

So far Dr. Bradner is the only one who has openly advocated electing trustees at-large, though the chairman of the board of trustees, Mrs. Jane Moehle, said she personally "leans" toward such a plan. Board members have not taken an official stand.

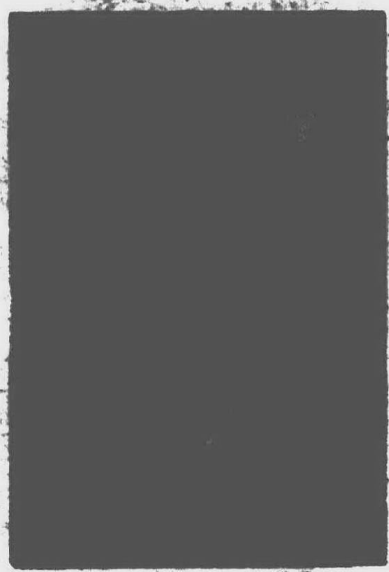

DISCUSSING AN apportionment plan recently proposed by Rep. Marvin Stempien, Dr. Bradner pointed out a number of complications.

Stempien's bill calls for forming a community college apportionment commission to carve the college district into seven districts of equal populations.

Dr. Bradner said the task would be harder than it sounds, however, because the college district includes odd-shaped fractions of some cities and townships. Census figures simply aren't available for these small areas. An expensive, special census may be needed to get an accurate population count.

Examples: Clarenceville School District takes a small slice of southeastern Farmington Township and northwestern Redford Township.

Northville School District includes an odd-shaped portion of Novi in Oakland County and Salem Township in Washtenaw County.

College trustees 'don't represent that ward' but work for the entire college district.

—Eric Bradner

Plymouth School District's situation is the most confusing. It includes a portion of Canton Township in Wayne County and of Superior and Salem Townships in Washtenaw County. Moreover, some of the Salem Township territory in Plymouth School District isn't in the Schoolcraft district; rather, it's in the Washtenaw Community College District. Census figures are reported in "tracts." For small cities and townships, the entire governmental unit may be one census tract. Thus, it will likely be impossible to get accurate population counts for those fractional parts of Farmington, Redford, Novi, Canton, Salem and Superior townships without a special census.

DR. BRADNER also pointed out that once trustees are elected from a district, "they don't represent that ward." Rather they work together for the entire college district.

In view of expanding populations in Plymouth and Northville districts, Bradner said the "equal" population districts would be unequal long before the next census.

Mrs. Moehle said that the elections would be confusing to the voters because they would have to vote in separate districts which may be different than for school elections.

Aside from the confusion, Mrs. Moehle said, at-large elections would be more non-partisan and less expensive.

Roger Craig, attorney for the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia, said he does not expect any conflict if an at-large plan is proposed because "it is clearly constitutional and satisfies the 'one-man, one-vote' requirement. NDC-L brought the law suits which required the Schoolcraft reapportionment.

THE STATE Board of Education will support an apportionment plan at its next meeting. The issue was brought up for discussion at its meeting last week, but at that time only a plan for an at-large election was given for its consideration.

Board member Annetta Miller requested that the at-large plan and Stempien's "ward" bill be submitted for review by a subordinate state board for public community colleges. This board is appointed by the State Board to act in an advisory capacity.

"At our next meeting, hopefully we will have both plans before us plus the recommendation of the community college board," Mrs. Miller said.

She said that the general feeling of the board on an at-large election was that "this is the method many community colleges use, and it is constitutional." Neighboring Oakland Community College elects trustees at-large.

MEANWHILE the Schoolcraft trustees will begin discussing apportionment plans as soon as all the trustees return from Easter vacations.

The board was ordered by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roland Olzak to prepare a plan for apportionment to submit to the court on June 1.

The judge also agreed to have the scheduled June 14 trustee election postponed until Sept. 13 in order that a new board be elected under the new apportionment plan. The new trustees will assume office on Oct. 4.

If the Schoolcraft board offers Judge Olzak an at-large plan and he accepts it, only five trustees would have to be elected in September. Three trustees are already elected at-large — John Larue, Dr. George Martin and ARROWS INDICATE fractional parts of townships and cities in the Schoolcraft College district for which precise population figures may be unavailable. Any ward system of representation on the college board would require exact populations — probably necessitating a special census.

Dr. Robert Geake. If a ward plan is adopted, all eight positions will be open.

Judge Olzak had concurred with the two attorneys in a suit filed by the NDC calling for an injunction on the June election until the college district was apportioned.

THE SCHOOLCRAFT

board gave in without an open struggle and asked that the election be delayed and that the board be given until June 1 to come up with a plan.

They had arrived at their decision at a special April 7 meeting which the press had been told would be held in "executive" (secret) session.

However, after no representatives of the press showed up, trustees held a "public" meeting with college attorney Edward Drangelis and resolved not to contest the suit.

As a result of the 1970 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that college districts must have equal representation, Schoolcraft's method of electing trustees has to be re-worked.

Trustees now are elected to represent each of the five K-12 school districts in the college district and three trustees are elected at-large. However, the population of Livonia School District far outnumbers that in Plymouth, Northville, Garden City and Clarenceville School Districts.

Local Collection Point

They Re-Cycle Cans

By W. W. EDGAR

If you have any old cans lying around cluttering up the premises, here's a chance to get rid of them.

The National Can Co. at 13000 Levan Road, Livonia, is extending an invitation to you and your neighbors to bring all the cans you can get — or gather — to its collection center during all daylight hours.

"As part of our campaign to join in the celebration of Earth Week and the improvement of our environment," said Jim Baiffa, manager of National Can, "we are issuing this general invitation."

"Throughout Earth Week — April 19-24 — we will have large collection bins in front of our building, and the general public is asked to fill them as often as possible."

ONCE THE cans are gathered, Baiffa pointed out, they'll be sent to East Chicago, Ind., where they'll be put through the re-cycling process, and the metal again will be available for some useful purpose.

"All the proceeds from the sale of the old cans will be returned to the local communities to help them finance their work in improving the environment."

Baiffa explained that there will be three bins in front of National Can Co., and he asks that the old cans be sorted before they are dropped into the bins.

"There are three kinds of cans," he stated, "and while we will take any of them, there will be a bin for an all-metal can, another for the all-steel can, and a third for what is termed a bi-metal can."

"We ask that the cans be cleaned, have the tops removed so that they can be flattened for easier packing. The only can we don't want is an orange can. This particular type has a tendency to explode when it gets hot."

After Earth Week, the bins will be available every Monday and Tuesday during the daylight hours.

WANTED! CANS AND MORE CANS—As part of its contribution to Earth Week, National Can Co., 13000 Levan, Livonia, has set up a collection center. Shown here are two of the big containers—just waiting for your contribution. (Observer photo)

New Cherry Recipes From Fete

By ELLY

Since 1968 when the National Cherry Festival first requested Michigan women to submit favorite cherry recipes for use in festival publications and by food editors, hundreds of delicious recipes for cherry dishes have been received by the festival office in Traverse City.

It is estimated that these recipes have reached 125,000 via festival publications alone and approximately 12 million through newspapers, radio and TV. Additionally many, many more individual recipes are mailed on request by the National Cherry Festival.

Once again Michigan women - and men - are being asked to assist in this promotion of cherries, a product important to the economy of the state. Cherry recipes should be sent to National Cherry Festival, P.O. Box 141, Traverse City, Michigan 49684.

Mrs. Dorothy Walkmeyer, executive director of the festival, says that each recipe will be acknowledged and donors whose recipes appear in the National Cherry Festival material will receive copies. Credits are also given when the recipes are distributed by mail or to media.

CHERRY FESTIVAL BREAD

- 1 c. drained, halved maraschino cherries.
- 1/2 c. coarsely chopped walnut meats

- 2 1/2 c. flour
- 3/4 c. sugar
- 2 t. baking powder
- 1/2 t. baking soda
- 3/4 t. salt

Mix all at once with rest of moist ingredients, adding nuts, orange peel and cherries last, folding in. Spoon into three No. 2 round cans buttered and floured. Bake in a 350-degree oven for one hour. Test with a straw. Let stand five minutes on rack. Invert cans and gently shake out; cool on rack. "Keeps well if kept from husbands and children." - Mrs. Ora Austin, Traverse City.

- 1/2 c. dairy sour cream
- 1 c. pecan halves

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven for 15 minutes or until set. Cool. Combine cherries, half cup of sugar and cornstarch. Mix well. Cook and stir until thick. # Area Schools Face Budget Crisis

A News Summary
All of Observer-Newsweek's school districts have announced their plans for dealing with a hard-hitting fiscal crisis which has necessitated budget and staff cutbacks.

Teaching and administrative cuts are the most drastic reactions to the problems of a shortage of state aid and failure of voters to provide relief in the form of increased property taxes.

One district has given notice to more than one-third of the teaching staff, while two have found it possible to hold the line on teacher firings in their attempt to solve local financial problems.

At least two districts, South Redford and Farmington, will be asking voters to approve millage increases in the next few months.

MORE THAN one-third of South Redford School District's teachers were anxiously awaiting the outcome of a millage election Tuesday (yesterday) in which voters were to decide on a six-mill renewal and a two-mill increase for operations.

Those without firm jobs for next year include most instructors with less than five years seniority. If the millage passes, most of the 126 probationary and tenured teachers will be re-hired.

South Redford is also plagued by the uncertain future of the state's "grandfather" clause money. A major portion of the district's expenses are underwritten by the aid.

Only 37 first-year probationary teachers in Redford Union schools stand to lose their positions next year if local financial problems are not relieved. They were notified last month their contracts would be withheld.

FARMINGTON PUBLIC schools have given notice to 70 teachers that they may not have jobs when schools open next September.

The "may" will depend on whether voters in June approve a district request for 4.5 new operating mills to be levied for four years.

School officials in Farmington have said that if the millage is denied and the 70 teachers do not return to work, a proportionate number of administrators will also be laid off.

Farmington's projected 1971-72 operating budget will be $17 million if the 4.5 mills is approved. Prior to giving notices to the 70 teachers, the district had already reduced its faculty size by attrition, eliminated some athletic activities, dropped some music and art consultants and reduced work periods for counselors and librarians.

Business Manager William Prisk estimates that state aid will bring in $5.5 million and local taxes $9.5 million this year leaving a deficit of $1.8 million. Besides reductions in state aid, Farmington schools must also absorb about 200 secondary students caused by the closing of Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic High School in Farmington.

LIVONIA SCHOOL District administrators say the system faces a $6.9 million deficit at the end of the 1971-72 fiscal year if the 3.5 mill levy for operations is not renewed.

Livonia has notified 280 first year teachers that they will not be offered contracts at the usual time, the largest area staff cut in numerical terms. Fifteen administrative positions will also be eliminated with the employees involved reverting to teaching positions.

In addition, Livonia district officials estimate 150 teachers will leave the system for normal reasons making the total cut about 430 teachers.

The board is considering other cuts in services and program, such as elimination of the hot lunch program for elementary schools and a curtailed bus schedule.

Officials say most of the 280 teachers not offered contracts will be rehired if the 3.5 mill levy is approved before school opens. Voters in Livonia recently refused to renew the long-standing assessment.

WESTLAND residents will feel the effects of cuts by the Wayne Community School District. Their largest cut will be in the Wayne Community School District, which last week sent notice to 140 teachers representing 16 percent of the faculty of 1,000. Earlier the school board had notified persons filling 165 administrative posts that they would not be rehired next fall in the present jobs.

In addition, the school board announced last week that 36 faculty members in specialized areas will be reassigned to classrooms next fall.

The actual number of persons cut from the Wayne staff will be fewer than 140, depending on the number of resignations, retirements, and leaves of absence submitted in the months before the fall school opening.

The cutbacks were made to avert a projected $1.5 million budget deficit for the 1971-72 school year.

In Garden City, the board of education is not planning any staff cutbacks. The board did not take any specific action on the matter, but refused to send layoff notices to teachers by the April 15 deadline, thereby assuring that all staff members will be back next fall.

PLYMOUTH, which has had a teaching staff of 439 during the current school year for its 34-square-mile school district, is attempting to hold the line without any 1971-72 reduction.

By specific resolution April 8, the Plymouth school board authorized hiring teachers up to the 439 level. The rehiring of 439 members of the present faculty has been approved, with the other 11 vacancies yet to be filled.

Plymouth expects to benefit from an increase in state equalized valuation which has come about through property reassessments which may reach $80 million.

CLARENCEVILLE School District will be forced to reduce its teaching and administrative staff by 10 to 20 persons as a direct result of declining state aid.

Supt. David McDowell said the state's portion in the budget has declined over the past five years from 50% to 34%. The anticipated revenue for the district in this school year is $1,207,000 while expenditures are estimated at $1,400,000, leaving a $193,000 deficit.

In order to protect the school district if it does not get enough state aid for 1971-72, the district notified about three dozen probationary teachers that their contracts will not be renewed. McDowell said the district may be able to hire some of the teachers back before the close of the school year if they get the revenue.

Tree-Eater Aids Rouge Cleanup

Wayne County's Board of Commissioners has approved purchase of a huge tree-eating machine which will be available to local communities to help deal with the mounting problem of disposing of dead trees.

The machine will reduce a large tree to saleable wood chips within minutes.

Cities and townships will be able to use the machine on a cost basis. Many localities face a serious problem in disposing of elm trees killed by Dutch elm disease.

The machine will take logs in any condition. The Road Commission hopes to have delivery in June. That would be in time to use the machine in the Rouge River clean up campaign planned for this summer.

THE BOARD of Commissioners already has appropriated $10,000 for use by the county drain commissioner in clearing debris from the Rouge River this summer. The drain commissioner plans to coordinate his efforts with the "Rescue the Rouge" citizens' group which turned out 1,400 volunteers last year.

Mounted on a flatbed truck, the machine will pick up and devour logs up to 20 inches in diameter at a rate of 100 feet a minute. Sale of the wood chips for use in wood and paper products is expected to partially offset the cost of operating the $7,000 giant.

Purchase of the machine was approved by the Board of Commissioners April 13. The machine will be operated by the parks and parkways division of the County Road Commission.

The Board of Commissioners also voted, 21-1, not to hold three regularly PURCHASE OF the tree-devouring machine was recommended by the board's Public Works Committee after consideration of a Road Commission request. The machine, called a Chiparvestor, is built by Morbark Industries, Inc. of Winn, Mich. Morbark submitted the only bid for the job.

"We believe this equipment will be a big help in alleviating the pressing problem of tree disposal in the county," said Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner, Jr. of Grosse Pointe Farms, R-District 3.

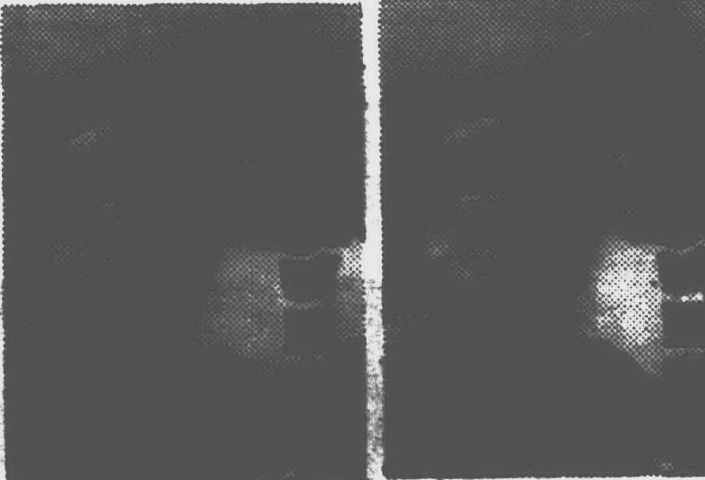

Steiner also pointed out that availability of the tree-devouring machine will alleviate air pollution by enabling local communities to avoid open burning of dead trees.

The Wayne County Division of Air Pollution Control has warned both county agencies and local communities that it will strictly enforce the ban on opening burning.

The next meeting of the full Board of Commissioners is scheduled for 2 p.m. Monday, May 3 in the City-County Building auditorium.

Dearden Will Close 3 Schools

Three area Catholic parochial schools will definitely close next year, according to the Detroit Archdiocese, and another 10 high schools and elementary schools have been hard hit by the financial crisis.

Schools that will not open next year are Farmington's Our Lady of Sorrows High School with almost 200 students, Wayne's St. Mary's High with 145 students, and Westland's St. Bernadine Elementary School enrolling 230 students.

Included on a list of 31 Catholic schools that will curtail programs next year by limiting enrollment or dropping one grade are: Our Lady of Good Counsel in Plymouth, Our Lady of Loretto in Redford Township, St. Bede in Southfield and St. Damian in Westland.

Archdiocesan officials have not decided the fate of another 28 Catholic schools, including St. Raphael in Garden City, Livonia's St. Edith and St. Maurice Schools, Redford's St. Agatha high school and elementary school, St. Hilary, and St. John Bosco.

In these spring days, it's all your life is worth to keep a family shod.

It's not the buying of shoes that causes this lament, though that's another story. It's keeping them on the feet.

The problem is a year-round one, but I've learned to give in gratefully when winter weather keeps the bare feet in the house.

I gird for the battle in the spring, when the sharp stones and tin cans and bits of glass that pervade our bit of suburbia start causing a run of the bandage market.

But a story that came across my desk last week may offer a new weapon.

It referred to an order of nuns known as dis-calcied. The word sent me to the dictionary, and I found it meant barefoot.

So now, when a pair of unshod feet heads out the door, I'm going to yell after it - "Come back here - you're dis-calcied!"

It won't get the shoes on for long, but it will slow the exit and just might improve the vocabularies.

Block By Block System Suggested To Recycle Trash

"We must save our country, bit by bit and block by block - we can't wait for the government to do it."

So believes Plymouth senior citizen Laverna Sly, a conservationist long before ecology became a national enthusiasm.

Miss Sly is starting a new effort with her own block, and she'd like to see other neighborhoods in Observerland do the same to reduce the mammoth collections of trash.

"We're running out of space for dumping," Miss Sly said. "We must use the opportunities we have for recycling."

SO IN THE BLOCK on Hartsough between S. Harvey and Evergreen in Plymouth, the residents are saving bottles, cans and paper for no-dump, no-burn collections.

Miss Sly has researched the means to get rid of these items.

The Salvation Army, she said, will pick up bundled paper once a month - usually Saturday mornings. The block on Hartsough has a call in for the collection trucks.

MISS SLY, with the assistance of younger neighbors, is going to help get glass bottles to the Livonia Environmental Action Committee's collection bins at 15160 Five Mile, behind the senior citizen's center on Farmington Road.

And she has learned that tin cans, if opened at both ends and flattened, can be dropped in bins in front of National Can Corp., 13000 Levan, Livonia, between Schoolcraft and Plymouth; Mondays and Thursdays between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Miss Sly said neighborhood cooperation in collecting discarded that can be recycled would go a long way to cutting down the quantities of trash being dumped today.

Area Soroptimists To Host Conference

Soroptimist Clubs of Livonia and Dearborn will be host clubs for the 64th conference of the Midwestern Region of the Soroptimist Federation of the Americas, Inc., to be held in the Detroit Hilton April 23, 24 and 25.

Mrs. Francis Moore of Livonia and Mrs. Marvin King of Dearborn will be co-hostesses.

All the members of the hostess clubs will be dressed in "early era" styles for an open house Friday evening. They will be entertained by the Totem Trotters, a square dance group.

At a Saturday morning meeting, Mayor Edward McNamara of Livonia and Mayor Orville J. Hubbard of Dearborn will present greetings.

Mrs. Eileen Boze, president of the Soroptimist Club of Livonia, Kathleen Cotter, her counterpart in Dearborn, and Patricia Neifer, president of the Venture Club of Bowling Green, Ohio, will welcome the guests. Elsie Wright of Livonia will give the invocation.

Mrs. Moore will preside at the Saturday evening banquet when youth citizenship and regional project awards will be given.

The Bowling Green Venture Club will hostess the breakfast Sunday morning and a memorial service will be held.

Westland Nurse Home From Viet

Army Nurse Diann S. Caccia, who left Westland four years ago to follow a service career, is back now to tell other prospective student nurses to follow her footsteps.

In that four years, she's been to Texas for training, to Vietnam by way of San Francisco, and on side trips to Mexico, Hong Kong and Hawaii.

Now a captain, she's taking over as Army nurse counselor for the state of Michigan, and will be glad to talk to any young women interested in career like hers.

She is stationed in the U.S. Army Recruiting Main Station, 16820 James Couzens, Detroit.

CAPT. CACCIA is 23 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Paul Caccia of Westland. She graduated from Franklin High School in 1966 and earned a bachelor of nursing degree from Madonna College in 1969.

She began active Army duty in August 1969, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. After orientation there, she moved by request to the school of operating room nursing at San Francisco's Letterman General Hospital.

Her next assignment, again by request, was in the Can Tho third Surgical Hospital in Vietnam.

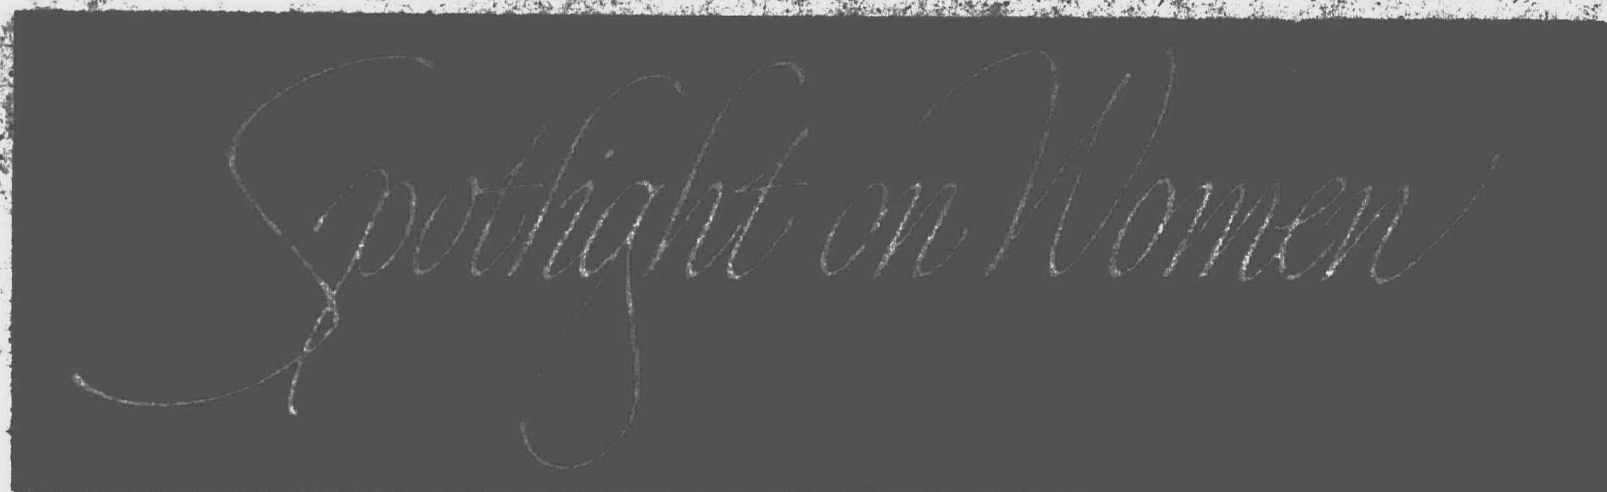

THE TRANSFER back to Michigan came in February of this year. In her new post, Capt. Caccia will be responsible for informing students and graduate registered nurses in Michigan of the education and financial assistance programs and professional opportunities available in Army nursing today.

"These last few years have been fantastic," Capt. Caccia said. "Both the professional and personal growth one experiences in the Army Nurse Corps are without comparison. I wanted this opportunity to inform other nurses and student nurses of the exciting and rewarding career the Army Nurse Corps offers."

Ladies Star In Town Hall

Three women well-known in the entertainment field will headline the Farmington Town Hall 1971-72 season.

Television personality Virginia Graham, singer and TV panelist Kitty Carlisle and actress Joan Fontaine make up the distaff majority on the roster announced last week by Mrs. Edwin R. Oglesby, program chairman for the coming year.

SEASON TICKETS are now on sale by members of the Soroptimist Club of Farmington or by mail from Soroptimist Club of Farmington, Box 504, Farmington, 48024. A check for $10 should be enclosed for each season ticket.

The town hall lectures will begin Tuesday, Oct. 5, and end Thursday, April 29, with all programs held in the Northland Theater, 15000 J. L. Hudson Drive in Southfield.

Celebrity luncheons will follow all lectures, but the place and cost have not yet been announced. Season ticket-holders will be notified by telephone.

MRS. OGLESBY said the lectures were being scheduled on varying days of the week to facilitate booking of outstanding speakers and to attract women who might not be able to come on only one day.

Virginia Graham will lead off the season Tuesday, Oct. 5. For seven years, she was the guiding light of the TV show "Girl Talk." She has written an autobiography, "There Goes What's Her Name." As a speaker her subjects range from fashion, "tongue-in-cheek" to LSD, "Fly now - pay later."

Kitty Carlisle, well known to television viewers as a panelist on "To Tell the Truth" will be at Town Hall Thursday, Nov. 4.

Miss Carlisle trained at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts in London before beginning her career on the stage, in films and in nightclubs. She was married to the late playwright-director, Moss Hart, and is now touring in a revival of his play "Light Up the Sky."

THE MARCH 15 program will feature Carleton Varney, brilliant young president of the internationally-known designing firm of Dorothy Draper and Co. He will include a decorating workshop in his lecture.

He has served as interior designer for many of the world's most famous hotels and is also consultant for Urban Renewal for South Norwalk, Conn.

The season will conclude Thursday, April 29, 1972, with a talk by Joan Fontaine, born in Tokyo, Japan, Joan de Beauvoir de Havilland.

She won an Oscar for her role in "Suspicion" and another nomination for "The Constant Nymph." She returned to Broadway in 1954 with Anthony Perkins in "Tea and Sympathy." She is also a golfer, pilot, fisherman, painter and chef.

TV Violence For Kids Is Enemy

By MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

If you react violently to the violence in your toddler's favorite television program, a group of young mothers in the Detroit metropolitan area would like to prescribe a course of action.

Get out your pen or typewriter, they say, and dash off a quick letter to the Federal Communications Commission, telling the FCC the kind of program you'd like your child to see.

"Write immediately," advises Mrs. Arthur Friedman of Southfield, a member of the group known as Women Who Won't Buy Violence. "The letters must be in by May 3."

IN URGING action by mothers in this area, the WWWWB is supporting Action for Children's Television, a similar group that is centered in Massachusetts and has a nationwide following.

Brenda Friedman, mother of two pre-schoolers, said her group had long been concentrating its efforts toward improving Saturday morning television for the small set in this area, but is vitally interested in FCC hearing 19142.

In that hearing the commission will consider the possibility of creating guidelines which would control the type of program offered children and the type of commercials shown on such programs.

Letters, she said, should mention Inquiry 19142 and should be addressed to Chairman Dean Burch of the Federal Communications Commission, 1919 M. Street, N.W., Washington, 20554.

THE GROUP of Women Who Won't Buy Violence, was organized, Mrs. Friedman said, by a number of friends deeply disturbed by the assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy.

"We were terribly upset by all the violence in this country," related Mrs. Friedman and Mrs. Jerry Wolberg of Royal Oak, current president of the group.

"But we decided if we were to accomplish anything we should channel our action to one small area," Brenda Friedman added.

So was born the campaign to act against the shoot-em-up cartoons that formed a large share of children's television fare.

THE FIRST GROUP of mothers met with Detroit Councilman Nicholas Hood and through him came to know several inner-city mothers with like ideas.

"We felt we should try to do something for all mothers and children," Mrs. Friedman explained. "Of course it was possible for us to control our own children's television and offer alternatives, but for many this is not possible."

Action on the part of the group took the form of careful monitoring of all children's programs, sending out scores of postcards to nursery school and later grade school teachers and parents, and talking to managers of television stations in the area.

The mothers also have written to manufacturers about advertising on children's programs.

THE TELEVISION and manufacturing people "gave us the impression they thought we were silly women who didn't know much about economic issues," Mrs. Friedman said.

"They said it was a matter they couldn't control," she added. "That's why we're so anxious to have a large response in letters to the FCC so some guidelines in both advertising and program content might be set."

The group, Mrs. Friedman added, has worked for Channel 56 because its members consider "Sesame Street" an ideal program "and we don't want to be negative all the time."

"But there should be that kind of program during a great deal more of the day, and good programming should be available for other age groups, too."

WOMEN Who Won't Buy Violence is not looking for new members, but its leaders will be glad to advise mothers in this area interested in joining the non-violent cause. Write the organization through P.O. Box 111 in Royal Oak.

But first, said Mrs. Wolberg, write the FCC letter.

"We have to act," she added. "Our children's minds are being wasted at best and polluted at worst by what they see."

Livonian Weds Former Exchange Students Wed

Rockland Community Church on Lookout Mountain, Golden, Colo., was the setting for the wedding of Sandra Kay Stoll of Edgewater, Colo., and William C. Gregory, also of Edgewater.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gregory of Livonia, and the bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Omer Stoll of Chanute, Kan.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony before an altar adorned with a bouquet of pussy willows and daisies was Wallace Burke, a friend of the bridegroom.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a gown of white starched sheer material trimmed with venise lace on the high Victorian neckline and long sleeves. The A-line skirt was bordered with tucks and venise lace and had a detachable chapel train. Her headpiece was a satin bow tied with love knots and adorned with white rosebuds and stephanotis. She carried a nosegay of white gardenias, daisies and rosebuds.

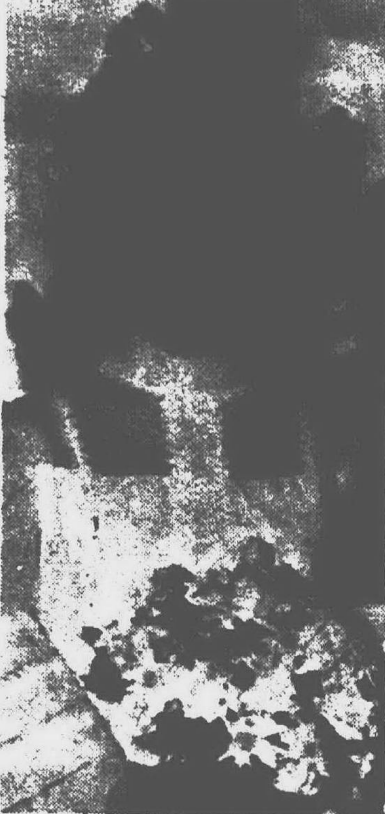

Mrs. Linda Fazio of Milwaukee, Wis., was her sister's matron of honor, and Mrs. Penny Hollon of Union Lake, Mich., the bridegroom's sister, was the bridesmaid.

They wore long dresses in pink and white, and lavender and white gingham check and carried wicker baskets of spring flowers.

David Milner of Denver was best man. Charles Schmidt of Greeley, Colo., was groomsmen, and Craig Stoll, the bride's brother, was the usher.

THE BRIDE'S MOTHER wore a blue street-length dress and the bridegroom's mother wore a peach colored dress. Both wore gardenia corsages.

MRS. WILLIAM GREGORY (Sandra Stoll)

The couple went to Taos, N.M., for their wedding trip, and are now at home at 2642 Kendall, Edgewater.

Mrs. Gregory teaches in the Jefferson County Schools, and the bridegroom is employed as a caseworker for the Jefferson County Welfare Department. He is also studying law at the University of Denver.

There was a United Nations flavor to the April 3 wedding of Patricia Kaye Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aylward Sheldon Norton of Farmington, and Masayoshi (Mike) Maegawa.

The bridegroom's father, Dr. Yoshio Maegawa, came from his home in Osaka, Japan, to be on hand for the ceremony in Christ Church Cranbrook.

Also here were Erich Rosenbaum and his daughter, Barbel, of Koblenz, Germany, the bride's German father and sister under a student exchange program.

Mr. Rosenbaum walked down the aisle with his daughter, who was maid of honor, and then stood with the wedding party as the bride's father gave her in marriage.

THE REV. ROLLIN B. NORRIS and the Rev. John Osgood officiated for the ceremony, and a reception followed in Raleigh House, Southfield.

The bride wore her mother's white satin wedding gown and with it a full-length lace trimmed mantilla.

Her bridesmaids were Mary Jo Hopkins of Farmington, Gertrude Johnson of Birmingham, Mary Overman of Detroit, Mrs. David West of Oxford, Miss., and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Norton of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Masaaki Takeda came from Cleveland to be best man for his cousin.

The ushers were M. Kunimatsu of Cleveland, Raymond Norton of Grosse Pointe Woods, brother of the bride, Gregory Peters of Grosse Pointe Woods, Richard Koch of St. Clair Shores and George Cregio of Birmingham.

Laurie and Allen Waitkins of Grosse Pointe Woods, American brother and sister to the bridegroom when he was an exchange student, were flower girl and junior usher.

A second flower girl was Mary Lou McMillan of Farmington, and Karl Gunderson of Farmington was ring-bearer.

THE COUPLE honeymooned in Chicago and plan to make their home in the Detroit area.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Doshisha University in Kyoto, Japan, also holds degrees in mechanical engineering from Michigan State University and Wayne State University. The new Mrs. Maegawa plans to return to her studies at Oakland University, where she is majoring in the German and Japanese languages.

MRS. MASAYOSHI MAEGAWA (Patricia Kaye Norton)

Ryans Living In Key West

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Robert Ryan have a home in Key West, Fla., following their recent marriage in Grace Lutheran Church, Redford Township.

Mrs. Ryan is the former Laurie Coumoundouros, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coumoundouros of Berwyn Avenue, Redford Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger T. Ryan of Davison Avenue, Redford Township, are the bridegroom's parents.

THE REV. VICTOR HALBOTH officiated for the ceremony, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

The bridal gown was candlelight satin with lace appliques on the empire bodice and bishop sleeves. Lace also trimmed the bride's chapel-length veil, and she carried white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Diane Robbins, maid of honor, wore a mint green moire faille and carried pink and white carnations and purple stock.

Dressed like her were bridesmaids Ellen Hoft, Patty Stockton and Carol Coumoundouros, cousin of the bride, as well as junior bridesmaids Rene Ryan and Janice Coumoundouros, sisters of the bride.

GARY RYAN was best man for his brother. Seating the guests were another brother, Roger T. Ryan, John W. Coumoundouros, brother of the bride, Daryl Crodeau and Dennis Beauchamp.

Both mothers wore chiffon, Mrs. Coumoundouros' gown in violet and Mrs. Ryan's in mint green.

The couple greeted 250 guests in a reception in the United Auto Workers Hall in Livonia, and had a honeymoon at Boyne Mountain before going to Florida, where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Both are graduates of Thurston High School.

Hair Stylist Offers Jewelry Design Contest New Blow-Dry Cut Offers $3,000 Prize

A Japanese hair stylist, Tomo, will demonstrate his blow-dry, layered cut in three areas throughout the week of April 22.

Tomo will spend two days each in Jackson's in Dearborn, Birmingham and Grand Rapids, where "customers" have been out with him for his work. In Dearborn, he will be in the Miss J Shop.

Appointments should be made by calling the beauty salon in each store.

Tomo's natural element is among the young and his hair styles are well suited to the garb and living styles of today.

When styling is complete, his long-haired young clients may be windblown and the styling may be instantly restored by simply shaking the head or running one's fingers through it.

His technique consists of shampoo, conditioners, but and arisal drying. He creates quick and lasting effects with blowers, heat curlers and heat combs.

Currently he also encourages the all-over curly look based on a carefully layered cut.

Rose Jewelers is sponsoring the area's first jewelry design contest open to all Detroit and suburban art and metal working high school students.

Students participating in this "first of a kind" contest will have an opportunity of winning $3,000 toward their initial year of college art study. Six other students will receive honorable mention prizes.

"There exists a vast untapped storehouse of creativity among our high school-art students," said David Rose in discussing the company's unusual contest. "We feel that youthful imagination can create new and wonderful things in the jewelry field."

STUDENTS ENTERING

the competition will have to create an original jewelry design and submit it to the final judging at Rose Jewelers. The design should be a sketch of the design with a preliminary description to any Rose Jewelers store before the final contest deadline.

Contest entry forms and rule sheets are available through art or metal working teachers or from any Rose Jewelers store.

Westland Hails Labor Ruling

By LEONARD FOGER

WESTLAND
Westland city officials have hailed a labor arbitrator's ruling which will save the city an estimated $1 million in extra taxes.

The recent ruling from Harry Casselman enables the city to hire private companies for work on paid holidays when city employees are given the day off.

A complaint was filed by the Westland Municipal Employees' Union Local 1002 last fall when the union claimed that the city violated its labor contract by hiring a private contractor to clean out some dishes on primary election day last Aug. 4, a paid holiday for city workers.

Casselmann, a member of the American Arbitration Association, ruled that the city did not violate its contract.

HAROLD WARELL, Westland's director of personnel and personnel services, said that the arbitrator's decision, in effect, gives the city the right to hire private contractors for other services sometimes performed by city workers.

If the city had lost the case, it would cost taxpayers an additional $600,000 (the amount now paid out in private contracts) to $1 million to hire additional employees to do the work.

Some of the private contractors now pick up rubbish, tree plantings and other chores for the city, Warell said.

The union contended that the labor contract covering "temporary employees" should cover workers for private contractors working for the city.

"The city cannot contract out work assigned to bargaining unit employees without limit; otherwise, it could completely erode the unit," the union contended at an arbitration hearing last month.

"The fact that no (union) people were laid off does not justify contracting out (union) work because (union) growth could be stifled by assigning future jobs to subcontractors."

ON THE other side of the issue, Warell told the arbitrator that a section of the union contract actually allows the city to continue the practice of subcontracting.

He also cited the city's past history, arguing that management has not used subcontractors in a move to erode the labor union, as indicated by the union's steady growth.

"The basic decision to make or buy, or to do needed work with one's own employees or to hire outside contractors is an essential right of management and is inherent in the right to manage."

"Nevertheless, it must be clearly understood that even where a history of subcontracting exists, it cannot be used to stunt (union) growth, undermine the union, or for other invidious purposes not related to the exercise of a fair business judgment."

CASSELMAN ALSO commented that in previous contracts, the union made "only limited protest" and also agreed to a pact which does not limit the city's right to subcontract work.

The arbitrator also noted that the problem could only have been resolved if city workers were called in on the paid holiday, thereby requiring the city to pay those employees double-time.

But, Casselman continued, the union extended its claim before the arbitrator to try and restrict the city from approving any subcontracting, and the city agreed to let the arbitrator hear the case on that basis.

LEADING UP to the decision, Casselman said that since the first labor contract in the city was approved in March, 1967, union membership has grown 67 per cent while Dept. of Public Service employees, who are most affected by subcontracting work, have grown by 67 per cent. This shows that there have been no layoffs in that department, Casselman said.

He also noted that the city spends $4 million on public works projects with about $1 million — or one-fourth — being spent on subcontractors.

The subcontracting approved for ditching work last Aug. 4 "in no way interfered with regular work for union people, but it doubtless prevented working overtime, although the work couldn't have been done even if overtime were regularly worked."

This was due to the city not having working equipment on hand at the time.

WARELL said that five cases have been taken to an arbitrator since the fall of 1969, when Mayor Eugene McKinney took office, and the city has won in all five cases.

Three of the disputes involved "call-in time," which the union claimed was not being offered to employees on an equal basis. Call-in time is when workers are called in to handle emergencies after the employee finishes his regularly scheduled work shift.

The union said that the workers with the lowest number of overtime credits should be called-in first on those cases. But the arbitrator ruled that call-in time is for purposes other than scheduled overtime and doesn't have to be equalized.

Another case involved a work rule covering lunch hours. The arbitrator ruled that while the rule is a good one, an improved one could be gained through negotiations, which was later done.

The Stroller...

The Hyena's No Laughing Matter

By W. W. EDGAR

For some strange reason, the conversation at the luncheon table turned to a discussion of fear the other day.

It all started when The Stroller's portly doctor friend took one look at the luscious apple pie and then at his stomach and sighed, "Not today."

"What's the matter?" another portly friend asked. "Are you afraid of calories?"

Then Jack Selle, gifted by nature with a slender frame that defies calories, chuckled a bit and said, "You fellows don't really know what it is to be scared."

"You should have been with me," Jack commented, and a few of his listeners thought he had just returned from the inner city and had experienced another incident.

"Just try to sleep in the jungles of Africa," he said, "with the roar of the wild animals drumming in your ears. Then you'll know what fear really is like."

IT WAS ONLY natural that Jack would mention Africa as he is waiting patiently for the arrival of the prize heads of the wild animals he shot over there a year ago.

And while he's waiting, Jack is dreaming of another trip to Africa — though he might switch, so he says, to South America where he suspects he might be able to get a jaguar (not bad thinking for a Buick dealer).

Which moment of fear did he best remember?

"My worst moment isn't difficult to recall," Jack answered, and then explained in detail some gruesome moments.

"We had been on the prowl most of the day and were a tired group when we bedded down for the night."

"We had enjoyed a good meal, and there was little thought that we wouldn't sleep well."

"But no sooner had we bedded down than the roar started."

"It was a roar you couldn't misjudge. It was the roar of hyenas — and how they can roar."

"You don't mean 'laughing hyenas,' do you Jack?"

"No, these were anything but laughing hyenas. These were the vicious breed — the meanest, and fiercest animals you can find in the jungles."

"WELL, ANYWAY, we heard them — and there was no doubt that they frightened us. My white hunter looked at me and I looked at him. And each moment the hyenas seemed to be coming closer. As a matter of fact they seemed to be only a foot or two outside of our tent."

Everyone was waiting for the climax — the big escape until Jack started to smile.

"Just when we expected they'd leap at us," Jack confessed, "there was a strange quiet and then the sound of animal feet moving off in another direction. It was the hyenas walking off — and no one ever will know how happy we were. But talk about being scared — that was it."

On another occasion, Jack recalled, he had spent the day in company with his mates in quest of leopards. This is a rather peculiar hunt because you sit in a blind and hang meat on the limbs of trees. When the leopard springs at the meat, he's yours.

"We hadn't had any luck this day," Jack recalled, "and that night we were just about falling off to sleep when we heard the darndest noise."

"NOT KNOWING what we were in for, we huddled and expected the worst."

"Finally, we got the scare when about 50 baboons came roaring in a group and went up the trees."

"What a relief that was!"

He also told of being almost stampeded by a wild buffalo herd.

"But measuring them all," he confessed, "the hyenas gave the worst scare — at least the one I'll never forget."

Evans Co. Presidency To Kaplan

PORTLAND, ORE. Sheldon Kaplan, formerly vice chairman, was elected president and chief operating officer of Evans Products Co. at a recent meeting of the board of directors held in Portland.

Monford A. Orloff, chairman, president and chief executive officer since 1962, will retain his posts as chairman and chief executive officer.

Kaplan was an executive vice president of United States Railway Equipment Co. when it was acquired by Evans in 1965. He became executive vice president of Evans and general manager of its Industrial Products Group in 1967. He was elected a director in 1967 and vice chairman in July 1970.

At the same meeting, Dr. Piotr Zenczak and William C. Finkenshaedt, both formerly vice presidents, were named executive vice presidents of the company. Finkenshaedt is general manager of the Industrial Products Group.

Evans Products, which has one of its plants in Plymouth, Mich., is a major manufacturer and distributor of building materials for use in conventional and mobile home construction as well as a manufacturer of damage-prevention devices for trucks and railcars, foundry products, and factory pre-cut homes.

The board of directors also has declared a cash dividend of 15 cents per share payable May 15 to common stockholders of record April 23.

In additional board action, the directors declared a 4 per cent common stock dividend payable May 28 to stockholders of record on April 30.

Plymouth Lions In 24th Year Of Cane Sales

When the 44 members of the Plymouth Lions Club climax White Cane Week with their street tag sale in the city and township Friday and Saturday, it will be the 24th successive year of the club's participation in the campaign of Lions International to aid the blind.

President Don Tate and George Illingworth, who is chairman of week-long activities, said the Plymouth membership also will cover Northville, where there is no Lions Club.

On behalf of the club, Illingworth and John Anderson, both of whom are blind, have visited Plymouth schools during the week to tell students of assistance they can provide to persons who are sightless.

Displays also are on view both at the Dunning-Hough Library and in the Mini-Mall at Ann Arbor Trail and Main. These include reading and communications aids and a display of Braille writing equipment.

A STATEMENT from Tate and Illingworth to other clubs and organizations cited these to helping the Lions' program:

"All of us would like to help those less fortunate than ourselves, but a lot of us don't know how. That's why we are offering you this opportunity."

"White Cane Week runs from April 18 through April 24. It is traditionally the time when Lions Clubs throughout the state ask for help."

"If you contributed to our Plymouth drive last year, here are some of the things which you helped accomplish:

"In the area of sight conservation and aid to the blind, you helped provide 29 eye examinations and glasses when required for needy children and adults."

"YOU HELPED contribute $500 toward a Leader Dog for some blind person. In addition to this, you helped provide white canes for those needing canes and helped support the Plymouth area sub-station of the Michigan Eye Collection Center."

"In other areas, you provided help for the local Boy and Girl Scout troops. And you helped send two delegates to Boys' State, a conference held at Michigan State University for young leaders interested in learning the functions of government."

"You also did your share for ecology by helping to provide 25 new litter receptacles throughout Plymouth, as well as several trees for Kellogg Park."

Does FCC
Ban Songs On Drugs?

Questions should be sent to the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, P.O. Box 48151, Livonia, Mich. 48151.

Q. What do you think about the government trying to ban songs from radio because they mention drugs. Doesn't this violate freedom of speech?

R.K., Westland

A. The Federal Communications Commission hasn't really done anything like this. It merely told broadcasters that they had a responsibility to know the content of the records they played. However, in effect it has scared off some stations.

No one can condone songs that glamorize the use of potentially dangerous or potentially lethal drugs. Interpreting the FCC's request to mean not playing a song with any reference to drugs would be practically impossible to do.

It would mean checking out about 7,000 new singles and 4,000 albums a year for drug names which change almost from day to day. It would also mean stopping such songs as "The Pusher" and "One Toke Over the Line," which are anti-drug.

All in all, probably not the most productive way to solve the problem of drug abuse.

Removing the songs that glorify drugs would not be violating any rights. After all, it is illegal to advertise "hard" liquor on radio and TV. Fair is fair.

Q. I was interested in your article about some of the effects of marijuana in tests that were made. I'm taking a course in psychology and wondered if there were any more tests I could learn about.

K.S., Livonia

A. Yes, there are results of other tests and we'll try to include some of them from time to time.

One that has some interest involved subjects trying to retain and coordinate information while trying to achieve a mental goal. The marijuana effect was achieved by giving measured doses of its active ingredient, THC.

The result was that recent memory was impaired with consequent lowering of achievement as compared to subjects who were not given the drug. At higher dose levels, there was noted disorganization of speech patterns.

This, and the other tests we've mentioned, are certainly not the last word on the subject; final judgment should be reserved.

But these tests do seem to be somewhat destructive of the opinion that marijuana just makes you feel good without having any other effect on the body or mind.

Shop Gets Away From Bird Houses

The old-fashioned shop courses concerned mostly with the fundamentals of handling tools may soon give way to a new program being developed by the Associated General Contractors, the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades and other industry experts.

World of Construction," the program is being developed for students at the junior high school level throughout the entire suburban community with the first at Dickinson Junior High in Livonia.

Endorsed a week ago by the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce, the course deals with actual construction operations and management practices. For the time being, it is funded by the U.S. Office of Education in the amount of $2 million dollars with another $2 million from the contractors and the unions.

"THE WORLD of construction," as now being offered, is an in-depth orientation to an entire job field and industry. The students who participate perform actual and simulated construction operations and management practices.

With a grant of $1,600 from the contractors, the program was launched this semester in Dickinson Junior High, 18000 Newburgh, and is proving a welcome addition to the curriculum.

"We felt it was about time that the junior high school students got away from building bird houses," said Roy Barnes, spokesman for Associated General Contractors, "and we eventually hope to have the students at the various centers build actual houses in miniature."

"This type of program is far more useful to the young men interested in manual work and goes far beyond the old method of teaching the fundamentals in handling of tools."

"And the program is intended to go way beyond the type of woodwork that is practiced in most schools."

duplicate bridge match point T/4 both vulnerable North deals

In match point team of four play, both teams hold identical cards but in opposite seats at the two separate tables; thus the team that does better with the same cards wins the deal.

The bidding was identical; South's 2 C bid is Stayman, North denies a 4-card major and South bids his scrawny heart suit; North confirms hearts and a strong NT opener and asks South to go on with ANY additional values... South does so. No we're not here to debate the bidding... just look at the play at the two tables; it will make you forget the bidding, anyhow.

TABLE ONE: dummy covered the H Q with the H K to see it killed by East's H A; East returned a diamond, won in declarer's hand; declarer cashed another diamond winner, crossed to dummy via the C K and cashed D K, stuffing a club; when the D J failed to drop, dummy cashed S A and led a small spade toward the S Q; West trumped on the S Q with the S K and declarer lost, in all, 2 spades and 4 trump for down 3!

TABLE TWO: dummy played a small trump and East, perforce, won the H A and returned a diamond; declarer cashed 2 diamond tricks, crossed to C K and cashed D K, ditching a club; he then ruffed dummy's last diamond; went over to C A and ruffed dummy's last club. The stripping of the minors now complete, dummy cashed trump king and out a trump to West who was able to grab two trump tricks but was then forced to lead away from K-J of spades to give declarer his 10th trick.

Sure, you results merchants are yelling that East should return a spade at trick 2; so what! Please notice that he didn't at BOTH tables yet look at the difference proper play makes. And, naturally, the H K on the queen is just terrible! Who would lead Q from A-Q with the suit bid in front of him?

LEA Asks 3.5 Mill Renewal On Schools' June 14 Ballot

The Livonia Education Association, which represents teachers in bargaining, Monday requested the Board of Education to place the 3.5 millage renewal issue of the June 14 ballot for reconsideration of voters.

President Keith Geiger presented a letter from the LEA which urges the second vote in the renewal with no other money issue on the ballot.

"WE UNDERSTAND the passage of the 3.5 mills renewal would still not allow this school district to operate at the same level under which it is presently operating," Geiger told the board in his presentation.

"However, with the present overall failures of millage proposals throughout the state, we feel it would take a concerted effort on the part of all citizens interested in education to pass even a renewal.

"Furthermore, we feel it incumbent upon you as a board to tell the public how the educational program will look with the 3.5 mills and without it."

The letter from the LEA follows:

"For the past several weeks, you have been forced to investigate different alternatives to cuts in the operational budget of this school district. In light of the present inflationary trend, an increase in student enrollment for next year and, at present, a decrease in funds of approximately $2.5 million from the present budget, your task seems, at best, grim.

"Nevertheless, the votes in this district, for whatever their individual reasons, have so instructed you.

"Most of our teachers buy cars from Ford, General Motors or Chrysler and, in so doing, help to pay the 13-14% pay increases recently negotiated. The recent refusal of the State Legislature to agree with the governor that state employees should receive a 6.5% pay increase seems at least supportive of employee views that they, too, are caught in the inflationary spiral.

"Employees of the City of Livonia have recently received a 10% pay increase. We feel that educating young people is just as important as paying water bills and picking up trash. We even feel that, if a fireman in Detroit is worth $15,400 after four years on the job, a teacher in Livonia with a Master's Degree and 12 years experience is worth $15,200.

"AS YOU ARE well aware, approximately 95% of the operational budget is utilized in salaries. Needless to say, you have no choice but to cut people. Many areas of budget cuts have been discussed at these meetings and elsewhere.

"We suggest several guidelines for budget review:

"1. To the extent possible, budget reductions should apply to areas which do not directly affect the classroom.

"2. Programs intended to be self-sustaining should be eliminated to the extent that they incur deficits.

"3. Reductions in elective opportunities will create enormous scheduling and staffing problems. But, if the board follows such a course, it must be prepared to re-schedule students and staff immediately, with summer scheduling time provided to all secondary schools.

"We believe the loss of a sixth hour elective to have long term negative effects on the co-curricular programs, but recognize, also, that the long awaited state financial reform seems distant, the governor's recent message notwithstanding. Few districts around still offer the opportunity for a student to take six subjects.

"Unfortunately, if we go to five classes, we will probably be forcing students to drop the class which they enjoy most, because, undoubtedly, it will have to be an elective. There is no doubt in my mind that once we move to five classes we will not return to six—it's just too expensive to reinstate.

"4. Reductions of staff must be applied as uniformly as possible, beginning with central office and reducing lower levels accordingly.

"5. The board should consider a consolidation of administrative services, as well as secretarial services.

"6. Whatever financial relief we can expect from the state, deficit spending to the extent of more than $1 million seems a necessity.

"7. A far-reaching alternative to all of the foregoing should be considered in light of the state's continued delinquency. That alternative would be the continuation of the existing program without alteration and continuing until the financial sources are completely depleted. We expect this to be adopted by the Michigan Education Association as one of several means to force reform of education finance.

"Finally, we urge the Board of Education to place the 3.5 mill renewal issue on the June 14 ballot, with no other money issue on the ballot. We understand that the passage of the 3.5 mills would still not allow this school district to operate at the same level under which it is presently operating.

"However, with the present overall failures of millage proposals throughout the state, we feel it would take a concerted effort on the part of all citizens interested in education to pass even the renewal.

"Furthermore, we feel it incumbent upon you as a board to tell the public how the educational program will look with the 3.5 mills and without it.

"We feel the necessity for you to project your feelings for next year as you see them now. In a straightforward manner, the facts must be presented prior to the election. Let it not be said next September by any parent in this school district, 'But no one told me this would be cut.'"

YOUR SAVINGS BONDS NEST EGG

By SYLVIA PORTER

THE TREASURY is now in the midst of its most aggressive, hard-hitting drive in 15 years to coax you into starting to buy or increasing your buying of its old, familiar U. S. Savings Bond.

With interest rates across the board way down from their historic mid-1970 peaks, but with the interest rate on Savings Bonds sticking at an all-time high, the Treasury has a fighting chance to reach its ambitious though attainable goals for 1971.

And with the 5½-percent return to maturity you can earn on the Bond now comparatively fair, you again can consider whether the Bond's other advantages warrant an investment of at least part of your nest egg in this absolutely safe savings security.

The success of this little nonmarketable Bond is truly astounding, and its staying power is even more so—for on May 1st of this year, the "E" Bond will be 30 years old. In this span, the Bond has taught a whole generation the discipline of regular savings. In this period, Americans have voluntarily purchased vast numbers of the Bonds worth $182 billion. In these years, the Treasury has built up a "staff" of 40,000 corporations and 30,000 financial institutions to market the Bonds as a public service.

Even more specifically, despite the fact that the return you could earn on the Bond fell abysmally out of line during the 1967-70 upsurge in interest rates, the small saver held on. The turnover rate since 1945 has averaged a mere 11.20 percent annually, less than half that of any other savings medium. A record $52 billion of the Bonds are now outstanding, representing 23 percent of the privately held portion of the public debt.

A fantastic 10,000,000 regularly buy the Bonds through Payroll Savings Plans. Therefore, the Treasury's goal of signing up 2,200,000 employees as new or bigger savers in '71 is not unreasonable.

How then, should you respond to the Treasury's campaign?

The central, even overwhelming, advantage of these Bonds is that you can buy them via periodic, small deductions from your paycheck. The saving is painless, automatic, done before you even touch your pay. This discipline is the secret of creating a nest egg. And even if 5½ percent over almost six years turns out low, 5½ percent on something is a lot better than twice 5½ on nothing. Here's how the Savings Bond rate compares to maximum rates on similar forms of savings—

- 6 percent on two-year deposits in savings banks and savings associations;
- 5 percent on passbook accounts in savings institutions;
- 4.5 percent on regular savings accounts in commercial banks;
- 5.5 percent on one to two-year deposits in commercial banks;
- 5.75 percent on two-year deposits in commercial banks;
- 5.5 percent on Series E Savings Bonds you hold to maturity in 5 years, 10 months.

Other advantages of Savings Bonds are: You can defer paying any Federal income tax on the Bonds until you redeem them—a real plus if you'll be retired and in a lower tax bracket when you cash in. The Bonds are exempt from state and local income and personal property taxes, too. They are free from probate proceedings. And the Treasury will replace any Bond lost, stolen, or destroyed as of your original issue date.

This is the first time in years I've been able to write about U. S. Savings Bonds in a favorable way. But 5½ percent is worth considering today, particularly if you earn it on a nest egg built up for you via automatic payroll deductions, and you realize you wouldn't even have the nest egg otherwise.

Wait 'Til Sept., Stymelski Says

Expressing his belief that the voters gave a mandate to the Livonia Board of Education in rejecting renewal of 3.5 mills in an earlier election, Trustee John Stymelski presented a prepared statement to the board Monday explaining his stand.

STYMELSKI, who has been against any thoughts of placing the 3.5 mill renewal on the ballot again in the June 14 election, reiterated his opposition.

His communication follows: "I am not in accord for placing the 3½ mill request on the June ballot. I believe this board, the administration, a number of PTA groups, the League of Women's Voters, other supporting groups and politicians went all-out to inform or tempt the voters for a 'yes vote' and still the vote was a 'clear no'. To me this is a mandate for a change.

"I believe that the answer is a more efficient and economical operation of the system. I have proposed an approximate $5 million adjustment for this board's consideration. If more cuts should be needed it can be managed at a later date.

"My proposal will allow us to enter the 1971-72 school year with a predetermined direction based on 'revenue received rather than revenue anticipated.' I am not willing to be placed into a position of panic reaction based on speculation as to how much the state aid cut will differ from last year's receipts.

"IF THE BOARD follows my course of projected action I feel sure that we will be closer to living within our means which I believe is the public's desire. Also we will find ourselves in a much better position to negotiate our future educational needs and balancing the school's budget according to the ability of the taxpayers to pay and the voters' desired expression.

"Let me add that if what I proposed is accepted it gives us time to adjust and leaves time, if needed, for a millage request during the Schoolcraft College election, on approximately Sept. 13, at little or no cost to the Livonia taxpayers.

Also we should keep in mind that a bill has been introduced by the governor to change the method of taxation. This bill is called the 'State Educational Reform Package,' which may force us to adjust our budget accordingly."

Trash Burning Regulations 'Aired'

By MAURICE WALKER

With spring weather and cleaning time at hand, confusion regarding the rules and regulations of trash burning has been brought to the attention of the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township fire departments.

Both departments are guided by the Michigan Air Pollution Control rules and regulations adopted under the provisions of the Air Pollution Control Act of 1965.

The Wayne County Health Department's Air Pollution Control Division has laid down 11 rules as guidelines to clarify the status of refuse burning in Michigan. These were issued to be used as a guide by agencies and individuals having the responsibility for issuing burning permits of any type.

These rules state:

1. THE BURNING of refuse is allowed in incinerators which can perform in such a manner as to comply with the air pollution control rules and regulations.
2. The backyard burning of household refuse is not a recommended practice and is to be discouraged. However, it is allowed unless it creates a nuisance, hazard to health or violates a local ordinance.

3. The open burning of refuse from a multiple dwelling is not allowed.

4. The open burning of refuse at commercial and industrial sites is not allowed.

5. The open burning of building demolition material is not allowed.

6. The open burning of automobile bodies is not allowed.

7. THE BURNING of trees, logs, brush and stumps at land clearing operations in rural areas is allowed unless it creates a nuisance or hazard to health. Tires, plastics and similar materials are not to be used in such fires.

8. The burning of trees, logs, brush and stumps is allowed at licensed disposal sites on an intermittent basis under a schedule approved by the local health department. Tires, plastics and similar materials are not to be used in such fires.

9. The burning of highly flammable, toxic or explosive materials is not allowed without special approval.

10. The plans and construction of all refuse incinerators, except for household use, must be reviewed and approved by the air pollution control section of the Michigan Department of Public Health. Permit application forms are available on request.

11. Special or unusual burning problems not covered in the above listing should be discussed with local health department representatives or representatives of the Michigan Department of Public Health.

TOWNSHIP Fire Chief James Gignac said that in his area a permit is required from the fire department for all open fires. "These permits are free," the chief said, "and are issued on a one-day basis."

He pointed out that issuance of a burning permit does contain certain restrictions.

"Receiving a burning permit carries with it no right to create a nuisance. The person receiving a permit is also liable for damages resulting from carelessness and is to properly control and confine the fire."

The permit also carries a notice which states "that no material shall be burned causing black smoke, nor are you to burn paint cans or shrubs. The fire is to be kept small enough for continuous control and is to be attended at all times. Fire is not to be left to smolder unattended overnight."

RULES ON THE permit also state that burning is to be stopped immediately if complaints are received or if the smoke is blowing directly to neighbors. It says further, "This permit will be canceled should the burning cause a nuisance to your neighbors, upon complaint to this department."

Gignac said permits are issued to resident property owners of the township by the township's fire department.

"All other parties who wish to burn in the open, should make application to the Wayne County Department of Health on forms available from our fire department or Wayne County Department of Health, Air Pollution Control Section, Division of Engineering and Sanitation, Eloise, Mich.," Gignac stated.

He pointed out that in the township, papers or leaves may be burned without a permit if done so in a closed container.

"This is no guarantee that someone won't complain, however. If there is a signed complaint, the person doing the burning faces court action which, if convicted, could lead to a $100 fine, or 90 days in the Wayne County Jail, or both."

"If the complaint is not signed, the person can put the fire out, and there is no legal action."

CITY FIRE CHIEF George Schoenneman said he issues permits only on the safety of the burning site.

"A person is still subject to a fine if cited by the Pollution Board," said Schoenneman.

"Even when a person receives a permit to burn from the Pollution Board, he is still required to get a permit from us that the burning site meets our safety requirements."

Schoenneman said that in Plymouth, trash burning has tapered off due to the Wayne County ordinance.

Neither Plymouth nor Plymouth Township has reported any recent serious trouble with trash burning.

Both fire chiefs feel that the more people who are aware of the regulations regarding burning, the less confusion they will be.

New Library Books

"Frame-up," by Harold Weisberg. Circumstances surrounding the assassination of Martin Luther King continue to make news for important questions concerning the case have never been satisfactorily answered. In "Frame-up," Harold Weisberg presents an enormous quantity of hitherto unavailable and suppressed evidence that leads the reader to the inescapable conclusion that the death of King was the work of a conspiracy and that James Earl Ray, although probably a member of that conspiracy, could not be, and was not, the man who pulled the trigger.

"Lady Ingram's Room," by Jill Tattersall. At first it seemed a lovely adventure to play the role of governess in a large and aristocratic mansion in the wild reaches of northern England. But that was before she met its enigmatic master, the widower Sir Luke.

The complaint states that a train held up traffic from 5 p.m. to 5:13 p.m. and again from 5:26 p.m. to 5:33 p.m. This is in violation of a city ordinance which states a crossing may not be blocked more than five minutes.

According to the complaint, the same caboose number was obtained in both instances.

Area Jaycee Seeks National Job

FARMINGTON
Pat Nowak, 28, of Farmington, announced his candidacy Tuesday night for president of the U.S. Jaycees.

Nowak, now a national Jaycee vice president, made the announcement in Detroit at a meeting of District 22 Jaycees.

If successful, Nowak will become the second Michigan Jaycee within three years to be elected national president of the service organization for young men ages 20-35. Wendell Smith, then of Plymouth, was selected national president two years ago.

BETWEEN now and the national convention in June, Nowak will be touring 10 states attempting to gain key votes.

The Jaycee bylaws allow a candidate to campaign in five states, but Nowak's current position of national JC vice president gives him an additional five states to tour. The five states he is assigned as vice president are Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Missouri and South Dakota. Nowak was named one of 10 vice-presidents at last year's convention in St. Louis, Mo. and is responsible for coordinating Jaycee programming in his district.

He is also member of the 19-member executive committee, the governing body of the U.S. Jaycees.

After joining the Farmington Area Jaycees in 1962, Nowak was elected local president in 1965-66. During his tenure, the Farmington chapter won the C.W. ("Bill") Otto award which is given each year to the outstanding chapter in the state.

He also served as JC director in charge of Americanism and governmental affairs, and his portfolio was named best in the nation.

IN 1966-67, Nowak served as state R&R chairman and was named one of the five outstanding R&R chairmen in the nation. Three years later, Nowak was elected president of the Michigan Jaycees.

THE NATIONAL convention will be held June 14-17 in Portland, Ore., and is conducted similar to the national nominating conventions for U.S. president.

"The campaign for JC president ranks in charisma with the national conventions for U.S. president," says Nowak.

A change in this year's convention results from an effort Nowak started four years ago. The JCs, as do the Republicans and Democrats, vote on the unit rule with each state casting its entire bloc of votes for a single candidate.

But in Portland, each delegate's vote will be counted individually with the candidate earning the most total votes winning.

Nowak hopes the change the JCs adopted will also be considered by the political parties. "The Jaycees must encourage responsiveness of its members to facilitate change. To respond, members should know their individual votes count. If change is believed possible, individuals will respond."

NOWAK SAID a number of major foundations in the nation are now giving millions on dollars to JCs to implement programs in pollution control and human improvement. "But you can't implement major changes unless the organization is responsive to change."

Another major change expected during the June convention is approval of lowering the age to join the Jaycees from 21 to 18.

Six candidates have announced so far for national JC president. If elected to the one-year term, Nowak would take a leave of absence from work and move his family to the Jaycee White House in Tulsa, Okla.

HE SEES his chief involvement, if elected national president, as urging local chapters to become relevancy-oriented to begin some of the program that foundations and government has shown confidence in the JCs to implement.

"This would stimulate involvement by youth in the JCs and would take comments made at cocktail hours about social concerns and get them out on the street."

Nowak, of 22046 Mayfield, Farmington, has lived in Farmington since 1962 when he was a sophomore in high school. An important part of his campaign will begin in Farmington soon with a fund-raising dinner in the Huron Valley Hunting and Fishing Club.

OUTSIDE THE Jaycees, Nowak heads up one of Connecticut Mutual's oldest and largest agencies as general agent in Detroit.

He was appointed general agent after having built a $10 million life insurance sales organization from scratch in five short years for another company.

Nowak has served on several Farmington committees, ranging from mental health to the City of Farmington assessment board of review.

An alumnus of Marquette University, Nowak and wife Dejo have three sons.

CP 5-Year Plan Invest $2 Billion

JACKSON
Board Chairman A.H. Aymond told stockholders of Consumers Power Co. the utility expects to make capital investments totaling $1.98 billion over the next five years to meet predictable demands for electricity and natural gas.

The company serves more than 1.5 million customers in 67 of the 68 counties of Michigan's lower peninsula, including the Livonia-Plymouth area.

The company's gross operating revenues last year were nearly $610 million, an increase of 11 per cent over 1969 when gross revenues were $550 million.

Net income in 1970 was $72,832,000, an increase of 8.8 per cent over 1969, when net income was $66,900,000.

Earnings per share of common stock outstanding were $2.95, compared to $2.79 a year earlier.

Aymond said, "Last year, the company spent nearly $242 million on new construction, and expenditures for 1971 are estimated at more than $253 million.

ALL $55,000 HOUSES ARE NOT CREATED EQUAL.

The land they sit on makes the biggest difference. The rule seems to be this: You either get a lot of land, or you don't.

Thompson-Brown was well aware of this when we developed Independence Commons. The homes in this Farmington community sell for $55,000 to $70,000. Obviously, they're far from average homes.

They're spacious. They're uncommonly beautiful (just take a look at the homes going up in other subdivisions). They're unusually well-appointed (pantries, fieldstone fireplaces, foyers with slate floors, paneled family rooms—things like that). And our standard features are considered premium in other homes. But we felt that homes for $55,000 to $70,000 entitled you to something special outside as well as inside. We felt that too many homes failed in this respect.

So in addition to making the lots large and the homes well-spaced, we've built Independence Commons around 48 wide-open acres of grassy meadows and trees, all for the exclusive use of residents.

Every home in the community enjoys the benefits of this natural and scenic setting. Which has much more to offer than just beautiful scenery. There are special play areas for the kids (with swings, slides, and plenty of sand). There are shuffleboard courts and tennis courts (which convert to a skating rink in winter). And a large picnic shelter with a big open fireplace. And two miles of winding paths for hikes and bikes.

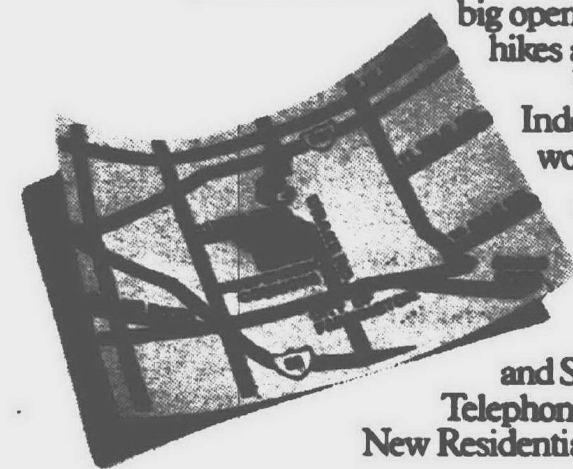

We think all that makes your investment in Independence Commons go a lot farther than it would elsewhere.

Certainly it makes Independence Commons worth visiting. Independence Commons is located at 11 Mile and Drake (north of Old Grand River) in Farmington Township.

It's open daily and Sunday from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m., and Saturday from noon to 5 p.m. (closed Thursday). Telephone 477-8135. Thompson-Brown, New Residential Sales Division.

Feather your nest.

When your Observer carrier collects this month, he's going to ask for an extra dime in order to meet the high cost of operating a business -- his business. He's also going to give you a receipt for your participation in the Observer Carrier Subscription plan.

We want to talk about that receipt. What do you do with it? Does it land on the coffee table and get scraped into the trash with the dregs of the ashtray?

Or does it go into one of those drawers that everyone has along with junior's kite string, carpet tacks, the family scissors and a dried up bottle of glue?

If this is a fairly accurate description of what happens to your receipt, we'd like you to first make sure you are given a receipt and then take a good look at it. Turn it over. Read it. And then use it. Or put it in a safe place until you've feathered your nest with three of them -- then use them on a free Observer Want Ad.
