Pair Charged In OCC Bombing

Two former Schoolcraft College students face charges of conspiring to bomb and placing explosives at Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington.

Mark P. Stevens, 21, of 33287 Myrna Court, Livonia, and Eileen M. Orr, 21, of Highland Park, were arraigned Tuesday afternoon in Southfield District Court after their arrest Monday in northwest Detroit.

Both stood mute. Pre-trial examination was scheduled for May 10 at 2 p.m. Judge Clarence A. Reid Jr. set bond at $20,000 each. They will be held in jail until bond is posted.

STATE POLICE Monday night seized a cache of explosives in a bedroom closet in the home of Miss Orr's parents, the William Orrs of 6505 Fairfield, Garden City. Police say the parents were unaware of the explosives — 20 sticks of dynamite, a link of lead pipe and a coil of fuses.

The Oakland County prosecutor's office obtained a warrant after authorities received an anonymous citizen tip.

Stevens and Miss Orr were charged with placing two pipe bombs in the biology lab at Orchard Ridge on March 19. No one was injured, but several thousand dollars damage was done to the empty lab. Two other suspects are still being sought.

Stevens gained local prominence in 1969 when he was expelled from Schoolcraft College, convicted by a Livonia District Court Jury, fined $200 and sentenced to 30 days in jail for shouting an obscenity at Schoolcraft trustees. The conviction was later reversed by a circuit judge.

MISS ORR'S only previous arrest was in June 1970 for disorderly conduct. She allegedly refused to leave the sidewalk at the Oakland County jail in Pontiac where several persons had gathered after the arrest of young people in a state park on Cass Lake.

She attended Schoolcraft from August 1968 to April 1969 and earned a practical nursing certificate after completing two years at Ferris State College.

State police and Detroit detectives say Stevens and Miss Orr are suspects in several other bombings — March 23 in two restrooms in the Wayne State University Center building; March 16 in a woman's restroom of the J.L. Hudson store in Oakland Mall; March 5 in mail boxes in front of a northwest Detroit post office at 25508 Grand River; and a Dec. 1 attempt at Metropolitan Airport.

Budget Tricks

Plymouth's City Commission has done the impossible by making time stand still. The May 3 meeting still will be in progress when the commission reconvenes Monday to make vital decisions as to budget and tax rate.

A HOMETOWN IDEA

THE SEARCH FOR MISSING Kathryn Lynn Radtke, Novi girl who last was seen Jan. 31, is being concentrated on this dump at Six Mile and Napier Rds., which is near the home of Charles Fullwood, who has been charged with the murder of a Plymouth man and Taylor woman. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring).

Fullwood's Murder Arrest Intensifies Radtke Search

The arrest of a Northville man in two murder cases is leading police to believe there's a chance the body of missing Kathryn Lynn Radtke of Novi may have been buried in a large dump at Six Mile and Napier roads. But they fear the chances of finding the body are remote.

The possible break in the Radtke disappearance came with the arrest of Charles M. Fullwood, 36, of 49469 Six Mile, Northville Township, in cases involving Livonia and Plymouth.

Police say, however, that the chances of finding Miss Radtke's body in the Salem Township dump are slim. The cost of excavating may run up to $1 million, the dump is 35 or 40 feet deep, the area is more than 40 acres, and tons of rubbish are dumped there daily.

Miss Radtke disappeared Jan. 31, the night her date, John Keyes Jr. of Northville, was slain in a Northville Township lovers' lane. No one has reported seeing her since.

Fullwood was to be arraigned late Friday in Livonia in the shooting death of Joyce Ann Tuggle, of Taylor, whose partly burned body was found Thursday night off Hines Dr. near Levan in Livonia.

He is being held in Wayne County Jail without bond after being arraigned last Saturday charged with the shooting death in Detroit March 26 of Frederick R. Bodnar, 22, of Plymouth.

The similarity of the two murders, plus information received from acquaintances of Fullwood, led police to believe he may be involved in the Keyes slaying and disappearance of Miss Radtke.

IN BOTH MURDERS with which Fullwood is charged, the victims were shot behind the ear with a .38 caliber revolver and attempts made to burn the bodies.

Although Keyes was killed with a .22 caliber gun which has not been found, police learned Fullwood was interested in guns and had owned a .22 at one time.

Fullwood was charged with the murders of Bodnar and Miss Tuggle after the state police crime lab in Plymouth, directed by Sgt. Ken Christensen, matched the bullets from a gun found in Fullwood's car with those found in the bodies of Bodnar and Mrs. Tuggle.

Livonia Det. Lt. William Collins credits the crime lab with breaking the Livonia murder case.

Fullwood was arrested last Friday by Wayne County sheriff's deputies and Detroit police when they were searching the area near his home at Six Mile and Ridge in Northville Township. Police say they had received a tip that a woman was being held prisoner in the area.

POLICE SAY THEY had a tip that Fullwood was involved in the Bodnar murder. When they spotted him in the area where they were searching, they arrested him.

The .38 caliber revolver was found in his car by state police. Livonia and Detroit police had requested a comparison of the bullets found in the victims with that of the gun in Fullwood's car.

Lt. Collins said his department had received several anonymous telephone calls regarding the death of Mrs. Tuggle the night the body was found. Each stated the caller knew who killed her. Police are investigating the possibility the calls were made by Fullwood himself.

In the Keyes-Radtke case, police from several suburban areas have been following tips in a futile search for the youth's killer and the whereabouts of Miss Radtke.

The couple were last seen together around 8 p.m. on Jan 31 when they left the Keyes' home. The youth's body was discovered by his brother Christopher at the wheel of John's car, which was parked off Napier near Six Mile Rd. in Northville Township.

By FRED DELANO / Editor: Mail & Observer

IF YOU WERE with us on Tuesday, May 6, 1969, you may remember that we had one of those rare elections when one issue was submitted jointly just to the city and township. It was a proposal for a one-mill, 10-year special tax levy for recreation and it got licked, 1,690 to 748.

The gloom was heavy that night at the home of campaign chairman Bob Hayman, where we held the wake. The measure would have made possible the purchase of 63 acres next to Hilltop Golf Course for recreational use, and it would have brought creation of a city-township recreation authority.

The proposition lost in every single precinct, and community recreation seemed a dead duck. It turned out, however, that those who thought in this pessimistic vein were beautifully wrong.

Time has proved that what the voters turned down was an extra tax bite — not the Greater Plymouth recreation potential, per se. Although each government has had to go its own way, we now are seeing cohesive planning between the City Commission, Township Trustees and Board of Education, the end result of which will be facilities and a program even beyond what was dreamed in '69.

ATTENTION WAS CALLED to this inter-governmental cooperation during a discussion by the directors of the new Tonquish Creek Yacht Club as they pondered asking for federal funds to dredge a navigable boat route across Main Street in place of the never-to-be-had railroad underpass.

As the commodore of the TCYC pointed out, recreation has become Plymouth's "thing" all of a sudden, and he has visions of linking the creek and Rouge River to the St. Lawrence Seaway, thus giving us water passage to the whole big, wide world.

The flood control pond that is planned west of Sheldon seems like a natural as home port for TCYC vessels, but getting through the creek's tube that runs under the downtown section does pose a bit of a problem.

Of course, a federal grant for necessary engineering and dredging certainly would demand that the TCYC membership be integrated, and this offers the club the same opportunity for leadership as that which faces such big sisters as the Detroit Yacht and Boat Clubs on Belle Isle.

A sociological Plymouth overturn would be a small price to pay for a free waterway to the ocean, say those of the fleet who fly the TCYC pennant.

AS FOR THE 63 ACRES, the township board went ahead and decided to buy the land on its own for $240,000. It dawdled for a while on what to do with it specifically, and then met informally last night to work out facility priorities. A full report is due at the formal May 11 meeting.

Little League size baseball diamonds definitely will be built. Roadways will be put in. There probably will be tennis courts and areas for picnics, shuffleboard and horseshoes. There may even be a giant community swimming pool, and a lot of other developments are possible.

The important thing is that the job is going to be done, and it's going to start immediately. Before the end of summer, you will be able to see physical progress.

PLYMOUTH'S recreation scene took on a major league look this week when Stanley Stenek (left) reported for work in City Hall as the city's first full time director. Ultimately his headquarters will be in the new building that will house the ice rink behind Central Junior High School.

AT CITY HALL, the die also has been cast. It will mean a tax boost, but the commission has agreed that the $1.5 million cultural and recreational center must be built. It will include facilities and attractions for all ages, headed by the year-around ice rink which has provoked so much discussion for years on end.

In addition, the city's new recreation director, Stanley Stenek, reported for work Monday to start tying all the loose ends together. All by itself, this is one of the most significant milestones in this realm of governmental service.

What's more, talk even is being generated among township officials that maybe it would be a good idea to put Stenek on a shared time basis so that he could legitimately represent the total community recreation program. This would be a marvelous step and a demonstration of the governmental unity we have been seeking.

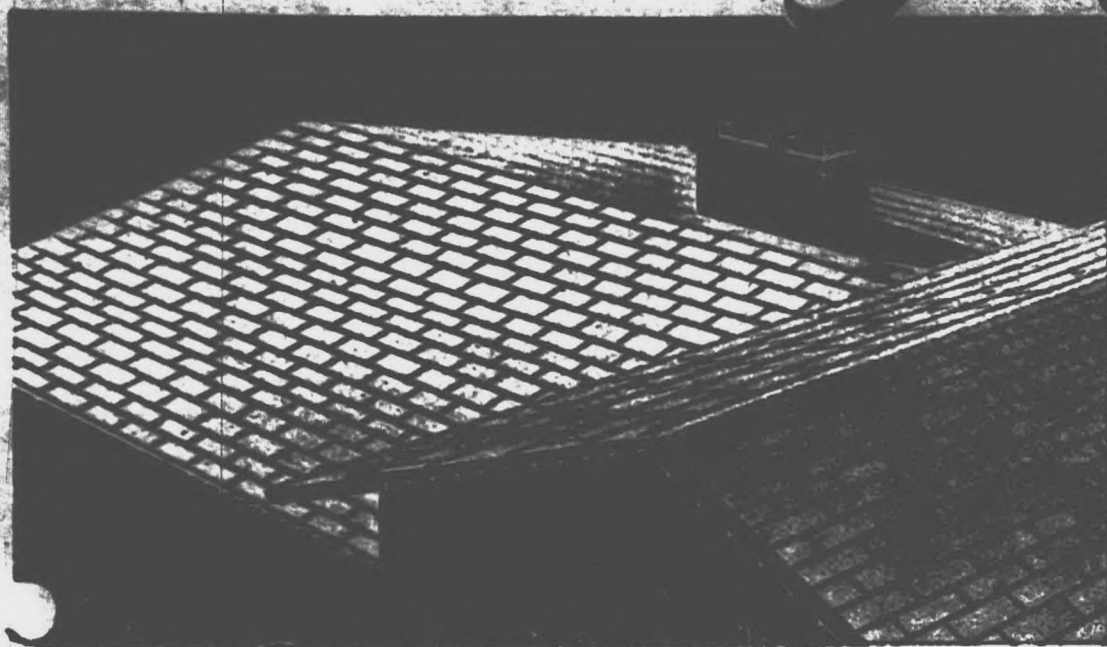

OUR SCHOOL BOARD, which provides many of the day-to-day recreational facilities, has demonstrated its spirit of cooperation by agreeing to let the city have the four-plus acres behind the old high school (now Central).

This is where the ice arena and accompanying facilities will be constructed, and the lease will be one of those 99-year, $1 types, with the city government bearing all cost of maintenance, etc.

Underlying all of this progress is the healthiest development of all — that no matter whether you ice skate in the city or play ball in the township it will be considered that you belong to the total Plymouth community.

All will be treated alike, leaving only the cadavers from the township who paid 10 per cent more to be buried in the city's cemetery to complain. Taken together, all of this marks 1971 as the year we may have turned the corner of unity.

City To Continue Budget Hearing

PLYMOUTH
To meet the terms of the city charter, Plymouth's City Commission will consider next Monday still to be May 3 on the calendar.

This view has been taken by commissioners to permit them to continue this week's "recessed" meeting just as though there had not been a gap of seven days.

When they reassemble at 7:30 p.m. Monday, the main item on the remaining agenda will be adoption of the 1971-72 municipal budget and tax rate.

The charter specifies that these items shall be adopted by resolution no later than the first meeting in May, but there is no rule against recessing the first formal session from one night to another. In fact, last year this was done three times.

MAYOR JAMES B. McKeon told those who were present in City Hall Monday for the public hearing on the budget that they will be given an opportunity to express their views at the recessed meeting.

The commission and City Manager Norman M. Gaffney have had a series of study sessions on the budget and McKeon commented this week:

"The budget has not been firmed up at this time, but we anticipate that it will not be necessary to increase the operating millage."

That rate presently stands at $12.36 per $1,000 in state equalized assessed valuation.

Then the mayor added: "However, we do anticipate adding millage to pay for the cultural center and ice rink."

THIS MAY RUN as high as $3 per $1,000 — or two mills — although in an appearance recently before the Board of Education, McKeon indicated this might be shaved a fraction of a mill. The building will be constructed on school board property behind the Central Junior High School, and the cost of an estimated $1.5 million is to be met through a bonding program.

The proposed general operating budget submitted to the commission by Gaffney calls for expenditure of $1,533,576.

It is drawn up in relation of a tax base slightly in excess of $69 million, which represents an increase of $5 million in equalized valuation over the current fiscal year.

In his budget message to the commission, Gaffney pointed out that the general operating budget "does not incorporate one nickel" for the recreation center and ice rink. He expressed the view that "the majority of citizens will welcome and wish to pay for their fair share in making this dream come true."

THIS CURBSIDE pile of discarded household materials was typical throughout Plymouth this week as the city's Department of Public Works conducted its once-a-year junk collection. The schedule of pick-ups will continue through Friday to coincide with the regular weekly neighborhood collection system. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

PHS Near Completion

The new Plymouth High School is finally entering the last stages of completion. In a report to the Plymouth Board of Education last week, the new supervisor of new building, Ralph Goble, said the school's pool and gym area would be completed this week. The locker areas, laundry room and music room are also near completion.

The auditorium is scheduled for a May 20 completion. The outer area of the school is being cleaned up and prepared for landscaping.

Group Plans Stratford Trip

The West Middle School Drama Club will travel to Stratford, Ont. to observe Shakespearean theater on May 26. The Plymouth Board of Education gave official permission for the trip last week.

Township Fire Force Asks For Volunteers

PLYMOUTH
The Plymouth Township Fire Department is looking for additional volunteer firemen, Chief James Gignac has announced.

"We want six or eight more men to serve on a volunteer basis, which means they would not be on full-time duty," the chief said.

He listed requirements for applicants which included being a township resident between the ages of 21 and 35. Applicants also must have a good driving record and are required to take a physical examination, the chief said. "We need men available for duty at all times but particularly between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on week days. Men accepted as volunteers will be reimbursed for their time."

The chief said men accepted as volunteers would receive a rigorous six-month training period with additional training twice monthly thereafter.

"Any men who would like to serve the township as volunteer firemen can apply to me in the Township Hall anytime between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Mondays through Friday," Gignac said.

Anti-Poverty Accord Reached

Hopes for early resumption of anti-poverty programs in Wayne County outside Detroit have risen with endorsement of a compromise organization to operate the program by a committee of the County Board of Commissioners.

A threatened battle between two groups competing for the endorsement never materialized at a public hearing held by the Commissioners Committee on Economic Opportunity last week because the groups reached an agreement prior to the hearing.

The committee voted unanimously to recommend that the full board designate a non-profit corporation formed by the seven mayors and one township supervisor from the eight federally-designated "target areas" as the Community Action Agency. The mayors' group is called Communities United for Action, Inc. (CUFA).

A GROUP OF residents from the target areas, called the Wayne County Poor People's Corporation (WCPPC), had also asked to be designated to run the program.

However, Henrietta Lesinski, spokesman for the group of residents, told the commissioners the group was satisfied with the agreement reached with the mayors' group and now supported CUFA.

The mayors' group agreed to permit WCPPC to select eight citizens to sit on their board of directors until 16 target area residents are elected to the board. They also agreed to involve WCPPC in the establishing of the election procedures and in monitoring the election.

In addition to the 16 elected residents, the board of directors will include four county commissioners, the seven mayors and one township supervisor, plus additional members to be determined by the original members.

CUFA LEADERS also agreed to give "preferential review" to job applications by former employees of the former Wayne County Office of Economic Opportunity, which lost its federal funding last Nov. 30 because, federal regional officials charged, the program was "generally ineffective" as then operated by a citizens committee.

The eight "target area" localities are Ecorse, Hamtramck, Highland Park, Inkster, River Rouge, Romulus, Taylor and Sumpter Township.

Based on past funding, the new program may involve as much as $1 million - 80 percent of it federal money and 20 percent local funds or services.

Mrs. Lesinski told the hearing that her group formed because it feared the local officials would bring political patronage into the program. She said the agreement reached with the mayors eliminated that fear.

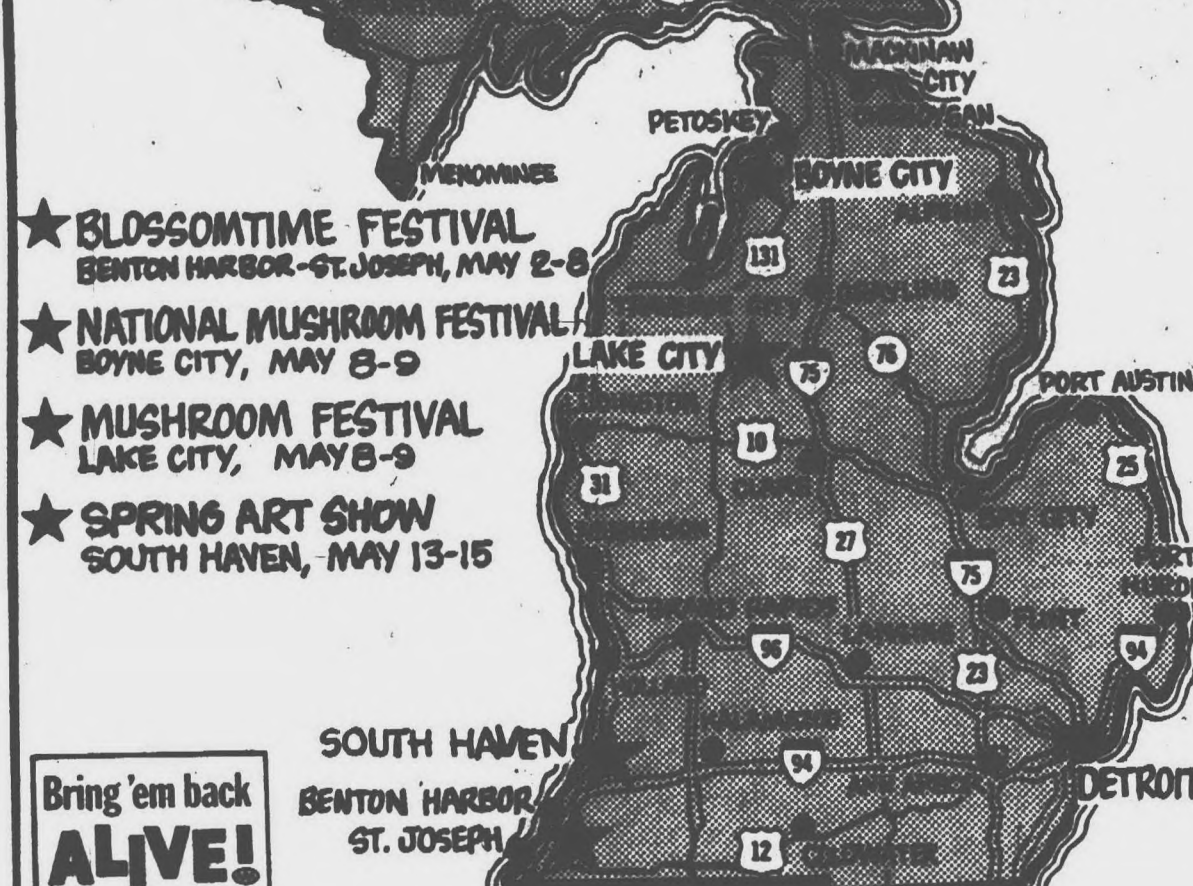

SPEAKING FOR CUFA, Mayor Robert Blackwell of Highland Park said part of the problem with the former program was the fact that the local elected officials were not involved officially and, therefore, did not take enough of an interest. He said the new structure would commit the mayors directly and provide better coordination with "city hall."

County Commissioner George F. Killeen, of Detroit, withdrew a resolution he had submitted earlier, proposing merger of the two groups, because the desired effect had been achieved.

Officials from the Chicago regional office of the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity attended the hearing and seemed satisfied with the agreed-upon structure. Approval by the Chicago office is necessary after the County Board acts.

Mayor Edward Bivens of Inkster described the structure as "a practical vehicle for meeting the needs of the poor."

Bring 'em back ALIVE!

DRIVING TWO-LANE ROADS AT FREEWAY SPEEDS IS A COMMON ERROR. ADJUST YOUR SPEED DOWNWARD AFTER YOU LEAVE A FREEWAY, TO MEET CHANGING CONDITIONS. MORE THAN 70 PERCENT OF MICHIGAN'S FATAL ACCIDENTS OCCUR ON UNMARKED TWO-LANE ROADS, USUALLY AT SPEEDS TOO FAST FOR CONDITIONS. SLOW DOWN AND "BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE!"

Dunk Dangrous In Cold Lakes

The weather may be warming, but early season boaters and fishermen should remember the waters of rivers, lakes and streams are still cold and dangerous.

W. George Wibby, director of safety programs for the Southeastern Michigan Chapter of American Red Cross, says "Many drowning deaths in April and May may be attributed to prolonged immersion in cold water and the inability of the victim to get out of the water quickly."

Fishermen should wear heavy thermal underwear and other suitable clothing if there is a chance of a cold water accident.

IN MOST instances of swamping or capsizing, a person should hang on to the boat. But in cold water, staying with the boat can be fatal if rescue is delayed, Wibby said.

Bloodmobile In N'ville

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the First Presbyterian Church, 200 E. Main, Northville, on Friday, May 7, from 12 noon to 8 p.m.

Bloodmobile Due Thursday

A Red Cross bloodmobile will be at the Elks Club, 31117 Plymouth Road, one block east of Merriman, Livonia, on Thursday, May 6, from 2 to 8 p.m. Be a blood donor.

The most important thing a victim should do is get out of the water by swimming to the nearest point of safety, whether it is a boat or shore. "Swim with or at right angles to the current for the nearest landing."

"Fatal cooling occurs more readily in water than in air, because wetting rapidly decreases the insulating capacity of clothing. Loss of body heat in cold water occurs at two to four times the rate in air at the same temperature."

A victim taken from cold water should be warmed in water approximately 100 degrees or wrapped in warm blankets, Wibby explained. He should not be placed close to a hot stove, radiator or a heat lamp, because of the danger of burning tissue.

Extra clothing may be added to warm a person but keep him in a cool room. Warm fluids (soups, bouillon, hot chocolate, No alcoholic beverages) may be given as tolerated, and medical help should be secured as soon as possible.

Science Group Meets At SC

The Schoolcraft College chemistry department hosted the April meeting of the College Science Improvement Program (COSIP).

The group is composed of southeastern Michigan college chemistry instructors who meet monthly to exchange ideas and to explore improvement in the teaching of chemistry.

Youths Are Finalists At Interlochen

The "best of the best" among high school instrumentalists participated in the Michigan Youth Arts Festival at Interlochen in April, and three of the 10 finalists had been students in last year's Schoolcraft College summer music school.

The three are Livonians Clark Suttle, of 29884 W. Chicago; Eleanor Roth, of 14846 Ingram; and Lee Morgan, of Dearborn Heights.

Suttle and Miss Roth are also members of the Plymouth Symphony. A third member of the symphony, George Marsh of Ann Arbor, joined them as the three string players named among the 10 finalists.

Wayne Dunlap, director of fine arts and the summer music school, as well as conductor of the symphony, said the group competing at Interlochen were all first-rated winners from the state solo and ensemble festival.

Aerial Trip On Geology Explained

John P. Bedford and William A. Ryan, Schoolcraft College geology instructors, presented a paper at the annual meeting of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters.

Their paper, entitled "Aerial Field Trip for Physical Geology," describes the program they offer Schoolcraft students for studying the geology of the college area and the Detroit metropolitan area from small aircraft.

PTAs Writing For School Aid

By KATHY MORAN
Three local legislators on the House and Senate Education Committees, were presented stacks of mail asking for more state funds for public schools at a Wayne Community Council of PTAs luncheon Monday.

Mrs. Rae Gibson, chairman of the letter-writing campaign, presented the mail to Sen. William Faust (D-Westland), Rep. Thomas Brown (D-Westland) and Rep. James Tierney (D-Garden City).

The legislators listened to a speech by Dr. John Dempsey from Gov. Milliken's Office. Dempsey was also presented a stack of mail.

DR. DEMPSEY explained the governor's education proposals and urged the 140 educators present to petition the legislators to raise the state income tax quickly to finance education.

Gov. Milliken has proposed shifting the financing of education from property owners to all citizens by cutting out schools' dependence on the property tax and making up the difference with a state income tax hike. The property tax from businesses would be made up from a value added tax on the "cost of doing business," Dempsey said.

Sen. Faust said that before he will vote to have the state income tax increase he wants "to know where that money is going."

All three legislators agreed they would support increased taxes if they were satisfied with the method of earmarking the increased monies for education.

"The proposals (by Gov. Milliken) have much merit but would solve many problems in education only if we were assured the additional tax would go for solving educational problems," Brown told the group.

TIERNEY, who began opening his mail during the question and answer period, said he has backed a shift in the property tax for years and pledged his vote for the governor's proposal.

"I will give him my vote. I will pledge it," Tierney said. "It is far too critical to wait until January," he said indicating he would support an increase effective in July.

Tierney said his main concern was for an adequate and equitable education for all children.

"I think it will provide equity in education for every child," he said.

"There is nothing more disgusting and heart-rending than the property tax as it is now. It is a real tragedy."

The tragedy of the property tax is the effect on persons with fixed incomes and senior citizens, he said.

SC Board Backing Students

A discussion of the Schoolcraft College student "free hours" resulted in the board of trustees adopting a motion "instructing the administration to encourage student extra-curricular activities by making every effort to establish the hours of 1 to 2 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays as free hours."

In an elaborately-prepared report, the Student Senate urged the board to maintain the free hours "in order that more students be able to participate in extracurricular activities."

The students said that although the administration had told them it would try to schedule classes around the free hours, five times as many classes were scheduled during those hours in the winter semester as during the fall semester.

The board agreed that student activities are an important part of the college, but board member B. William Secord of Northville questioned whether more students were being hindered by having their classes scheduled late in the day because of the free hours.

"We recognize that student activities are a very important part of the day—but so are the classes," Dr. Eric Bradner, college president said.

"We've tried to honor as much as possible those two hours and schedule as few classes as possible at those times," Dr. Robert Keene, vice president for instruction, said. "It is still our intention to make this time available as much as possible."

Twelve campus organizations had submitted memos to the board stating that they had a difficult time getting their memberships together because of the classes scheduled during the free hours.

SC Middle Management Gets Pact

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees ratified a master contract at its recent meeting which may be the first of its kind in the nation.

The contract was for the Schoolcraft College Association of Administrative and Professional Personnel (SCAAP), a group of 21 mid-management administrators.

It was the first negotiated contract for educational administrators in the state. SCAAP formed in August of 1970 and began negotiating the contract in October.

"I believe all the members feel it is a good contract," college librarian Patrick Butler said.

He said the group is "composed of administrators and professional personnel below the rank of dean."

In the contract, each position was evaluated and the overall average increase was 10 percent for the coming year. It also established a flat 7.5 percent increase for the second year of the contract. Exact salary details were not released immediately.

The board also adopted salary increases for non-SCAAP administrators.

Farmington Wins Relays' Team Crown

By ARTEE

It took the better part of six and a half hours under chilly, windy conditions but Farmington High's powerful Falcons had the most balance and therein was the difference between winning and not winning the first Observerland Relays Saturday at Hilbert Junior High in Redford Township.

The chilled crowd of more than 500 watched the Falcons win the mile relay in convincing fashion and then left for warmer spots in front of television screens.

There were a few who stayed for the finals of the pole vault relay some two hours later where Farmington clinched the team championship with a victory that gave it a total of 26 points, four more than second place North Farmington.

THE TITLE WENT to the Falcons but it was crosstown rival North that won the most events, capturing four of the 11 trophies.

The Raiders only had seven or eight men in competition but they won the shot put, the shuttle hurdle, long jump and 800-yard relays with a second in the 440-relay for 24 points.

With only the pole vault remaining, North was leading by a single point with 24 followed by Farmington 23 and Redford Union 22.

RU was a heavy favorite in the event off recent performances by Roger Blanchard and John Reed but neither was at his best and the chances for a victory and perhaps the team crown faded when Reed passed several heights and then missed entirely when he finally entered the competition.

Blanchard and Bob Durham, of Farmington, fought it out for the best performance. It went to Durham when both cleared 13 feet but failed at 13'3".

Blanchard had the most misses and the first place went to Durham.

AS IT WAS when the points for the pole vault were added in, Farmington led with 23, followed by North Farmington 24, Redford Union 23, Bishop Borgess 20, Livonia Churchill 19, Livonia Bentley, Garden City West and Livonia Stevenson 11 each, Plymouth and Southfield 6 each, Garden City East 4, Southfield Lathrup 2.

Churchill surprised by winning two events, Redford Union and Bishop Borgess each took one.

Farmington lost four points in the 880-yard relay when it finished second but was disqualified for passing the baton outside of the zone.

The Falcons ran into more trouble in the shuttle hurdle relay when the second man tripped and fell just before finishing his lap but managed to stagger across and keep the team going.

As it was Farmington finished second in an event that it figured to give North Farmington a close fight all the way.

North's quartet of Mike Gow, Craig Dhuex, Rick Fuelling and Drew Mahalic flashed under the wire in a brilliant clocking of :57.8.

FARMINGTON was much the best in the mile and two-mile relays, winning the former in 3:27 and the latter in 8:09.

The individual times in the two mile were: Kim Jaske 2:04.9, Mike McGlothlin 1:57, Doug Carville 2:11.5 and Kim Hildebrand 1:55.8.

In the mile event, the clockings for the Falcon quartet were: Carville :53.5, Hildebrand :51.1, McGlothlin :51.3 and Mark Timmons :51.2.

Truax Hurls No-Hitter; Rocks' 1st Since 1956

It was a long time in between — 15 years — no-hit pitching gems by a pitcher at Plymouth High.

Back in 1956, one Biff Tate hurled a hitless masterpiece for the Rocks. Not until Monday when Brad Truax achieved the feat had another Plymouth moundsman turned the trick.

TRUAX, a senior righthander, gained the charmed circle for baseball pitchers by stopping Allen Park, 5-0, as the Rocks posted their third win against two defeats in Suburban Six League action.

Truax fanned only two men, walked four and saw another man reach base on an error.

He got off to a rough start by walking the first two men he faced. But Truax then took charge and was in no further trouble the rest of the way.

Plymouth jumped into a 4-0 lead in the third inning when Steve Straley was hit by a pitch, Stan Britton walked and Howie Schryer was safe on an error for one run.

Jack Mathias followed with a two run double and then after going to third on an infield out, stole home for the fourth run of the inning.

Dan Hees was safe on an error, took second on a sacrifice and scored on Straley's single.

REDFORD UNION remained unbeaten in Suburban Six play by downing Bentley, 4-3, in an eight inning duel.

Tom Wysocki singled in Bill Herbert with the winning run. Bentley had rallied to score two runs in the bottom of the seventh off ace RU pitcher, Randy Ferguson, who posted his eighth win without a setback.

Bentley pulled even on a hit by John Wallsheid, coupled with two errors which put Tom Worniak and Dick Boehm aboard.

The first Bentley run resulted from an error after Boehm and Bob Sitkauskas walked and John Gentz singled.

RU scored in the first inning when Herbert doubled home R. J. LeRoux, again in the second on a double by Mark Derderian and an infield out, and in the seventh on an error, sacrifice and single by LeRoux.

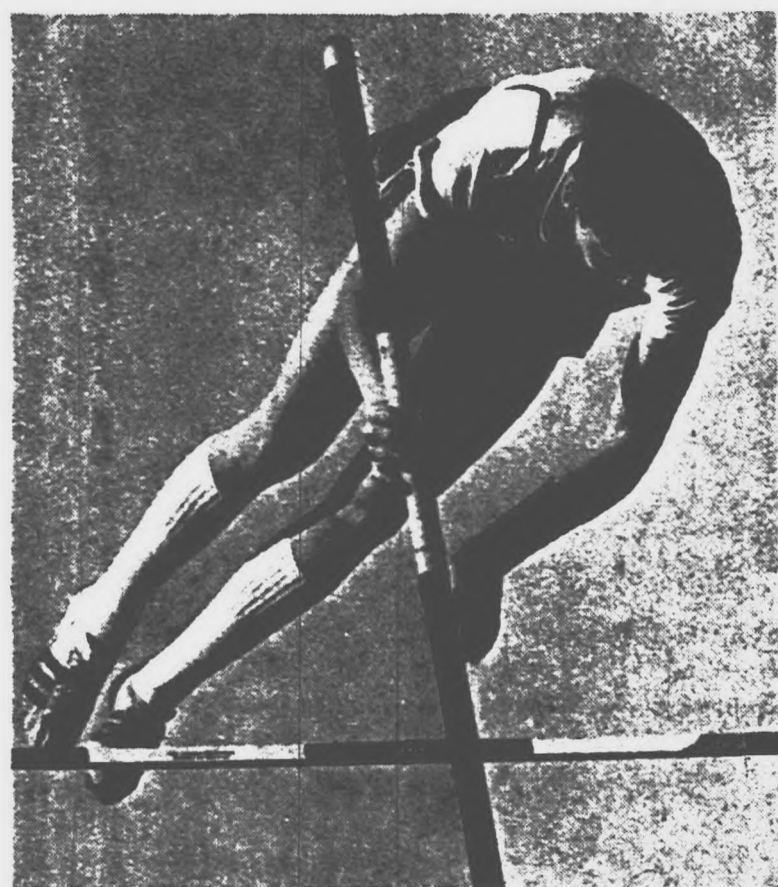

Tom Cook, pitching in relief of Brian Dinsmore, suffered the loss.

Glenn Wins Twin Bill From Wayne

The big bats of Roger Sanders and Daryl Demary carried John Glenn High's baseball team to a 9-4 and 8-7 sweep over Wayne Memorial.

Sanders went six for eight in the two games, socking three homers, two of which came in the first game.

Demaray socked out five hits in seven at bats with one of his blasts being a homer. Glen Osborn and Mickey Cahill were the winning pitchers.

Coach Beats Brother In Churchill Victory

So, you're the coach and you naturally want to see your team win — especially against a city rival.

It does just that, but when it's all over you have a sick feeling within.

That's what happened for coach Roger Frayer after his Churchill High baseball team won a 4-3 battle from Livonia Franklin.

What made Frayer unhappy about winning?

Well, his brother Rick pitched for Franklin, and was the losing pitcher.

"This was the first time my team had played against Rick," said coach

Roger. "The fact that we scored two unearned runs off him, well, you can understand. But, that's the way sports go."

Mike Keller gave up seven hits. So did Rick Frayer.

Franklin scored all its runs in the third inning when Randy Taylor and Frayer singled, John Grills doubled and Tom Battistone singled.

Churchill scored twice in the first inning when Steve Chilenko tripled two men in. He knocked in Mickey Crom with a single in the fifth and then Mark Deroche scored the winning run in the sixth on a single and three walks.

FRANKLIN CAME BACK the next day and split with Redford Union.

Bill Booker won for RU in the opener when his second hit drove in R. J. LeRoux in the seventh inning for a 4-3 victory. Booker gave up four hits.

In the second game, Franklin won, 5-4, scoring all five runs in the second inning. Ron Nissum, the winning pitcher, helped his own cause with a two run triple during the big uprising.

Tom Young's Hurling Wins For Harrison

How's this for pitching out of a jam?

It happened in Monday's Western Six League game between Farmington Harrison and Livonia Churchill.

It was the sixth inning when George Panzoff led off for Churchill with a triple against Gary Morrison of Harrison. At this point, with Harrison clinging to a 3-2 lead, Tom Young was ordered to the mound by Coach Dick Tyler.

Young responded by fanning the next two batters and retiring the third man on a popup to end the inning. Then he worked through the seventh inning with no trouble to preserve the 3-2 to win for Harrison.

Morrison gave up three hits during his stint on the mound for the winners, who now are 2-4 overall this season.

Harrison scored a single run in the third inning when Dan Hickey singled, in the fourth when Brian Collins walked and two errors followed, and in the fifth when Dave Duncan singled, stole second and scored on Young's single.

Mickey Crom walked twice and scored both Churchill runs, the first one after an error and a fielder's choice, the second one after a stolen base and a single by Steve Chilenko.

Pinch Star

Gates Brown, Tiger outfielder, led American League pinch hitters in runs batted in with 13 in 1970.

Sorrows Sees Streak Ended

The winning ways of Our Lady of Sorrows in the Catholic League's Northwest Division ended when Orchard Lake St. Mary scored an 8-4 victory.

The loss left Sorrows with a 3-4 standing in the league.

Tom Centers suffered the loss while Walt Sakowski was the winner as Pete Krzyzewski led the way for the winners with two hits. He scored three runs.

Orchard Lake counted five times in the third inning. With the aid of an error Sorrows scored three times in the fourth when Jeff Main singled along with Bill Holton and Bill Walsky.

Hits by Main, Holten, Walsky and Centers produced two more run Sorrows runs while Newt Hurst and Dave Urbain singled after a walk to Walsky for another Sorrows run.

Blazok Big Gun For Agatha

Denny Blazok ranks with the area's great all-around athletes.

Pick the sport ... and he's a star.

Now the St. Agatha High veteran is sparkling in baseball. He was pretty much the entire show when St. Agatha swamped Our Lady of Sorrows, 11-2.

Blazok not only pitched the route and kept Sorrows well in check, he also clubbed two homers, one with three mates aboard during a five run second inning which locked up the game for St. Agatha.

Pat Brown also had two hits for the winners.

Blazok came through again on Sunday with a two-run hit as St. Agatha downed Bishop Borgess, 4-2. Brown was the winning pitcher.

Area Teams Shine In Relays

For most Observerland track teams, the scene of battle last weekend took them to Redford Union for the first annual Observer Relays.

But because of prior scheduling commitments, a few of the schools went elsewhere - and distinguished themselves.

Detroit Country Day School and Thurston made the long ride to Mt. Pleasant for the Central Michigan Relays.

COUNTRY DAY won the Class C title, while Thurston finished among the leaders in Class A where Detroit Kettering emerged as the No. 1 team.

Mike Powierski and Craig Boyak led Thurston's delegation by placing second and third, respectively, in the shot put and the pole vault.

Powierski fired the iron ball 52 feet, 9 inches and Boyak went 12 feet, 9 inches in the pole vault.

Tom Shaboon, Thurston's fine sprinter-jumper who has been injured, returned to action and placed fifth in the 100-yard dash.

Thurston also placed in two relays - second in the mid-distance with Roland Nugent, Steve Boyak, Pat Weolke and Ram Meredith and fourth in the mile relay with Steve Boyak, Weolke, Meredith and Dave Sheffield.

Birmingham Groves also invaded Central Michigan and came up with a second-place performance by Bob Reason in the two mile and a fifth by its mile relay team.

Country Day won the Class C crown at Central with 66 points by winning five events and scoring in nine of the 15 events. It was the second time in four years the school won the crown. Jack McCellan won the 100-yard dash and ran legs on the 440 and 880-yard relay teams.

The Country Day foursome of Tom Brock, Bill Baderick, Craig Glass and Charles Donnelly won the distance medley. McCellan, Dave Ratajeck, Jim Miller and Mike Page comprised the 440 and 880-yard teams.

Page is the same young man who won all-state honors during the past football and basketball seasons.

BROTHER RICE appeared in the Mott Relays at Flint and came up with a winner in the two-mile relay.

Sam Orlando with an anchor leg of 1:54.4 for the half mile shot Rice into the victors column. Others who ran for Rice were Don Walker, Charles Hottaling and George Maronie. Their winning time was 7:50.5.

This Saturday area thinclads will appear in meets at Shafer, Waterford Mott, Howell and in Pontiac.

The Court Jester

by BILL CAMERON

Tennis anyone? I know you are out there in Observerland. You come in all sizes and shapes, and all ages. Some of you are "hackers," while some are "poetry in motion."

You are competitive, for the most part. The majority of you have had very little instruction. But, you all enjoy being out in the fresh air and getting some exercise.

I'M GOING to attempt to pass along some advice and information on the who, what and where of tennis in the area during the next few months. Of course, I have no idea how many tennis players we have in the area. Most of the high schools field a tennis team.

There are certainly a wide variety of tennis courts scattered around (some in deplorable condition), an indoor facility nearby, and even a few with lights for night play.

We do have one adult tennis club that I'm familiar with. That, of course, being the Livonia Tennis club which will be meeting at Stevenson H.S., Six Mile Road west of Farmington, at 8 p.m. tomorrow night. I'll cover that group more thoroughly in a future article.

I've heard so many people say that they are going to take the game up because it looks so easy. Basically it is a simple game, once you master the intricacies of scoring. The object is to hit a little white ball over a net into a specified area.

In order to hit that little white ball, you must have in your possession an instrument called a racket which can be purchased for $5 to $50. It helps if you have someone on the other side of the net attempting to hit the ball back to you.

CAN YOU MOVE? If you can't, forfeit it. Tennis is a movement game. The ball is moving, the racket is moving, and you are moving. Footwork, to me, is the most important facet of the whole game. If you can't get to a ball you can't hit it.

The old expression, "position is everything in life," must have been uttered by a tennis player. You have to move to be in position to return a ball.

Good Debut

The first overtime basketball game played in the four-year old Wayne State University Matthaei Building saw the Tartars down Wisconsin-Parkside, 81-79, in two extra sessions in 1971.

Blue Jays Add To Golf Mark

These are happy days for Southfield High's golf team. The Blue Jays are the only undefeated team in the Southeastern Michigan Association with a 4-0 record in a 6-1-1 mark overall.

"We're over the toughest part of our league schedule, I think," said Coach Tom Ridling after the Blue Jays defeated Ferndale, 207-225, at Pinn Hollow.

Ray Mead led the way for Southfield with a 39 while his brother, Bob, and Bob Anderson each shot a 41. Dale Jaslove came in with a 44 and Marty Frey rounded out the Southfield scoring with a 44.

Southfield faces its big test of the season Wednesday, going against Birmingham Groves which had its 47 straight dual meet winning streak snapped last week, only to bounce back and down North Farmington, 152-165.

Southfield Lathrup's tennis squad upped its overall record to 6-0 and its Inter-Lakes Conference mark to 2-0 after whipping Walled Lake Central and Pontiac Northern by 7-0 counts.

Against Northern, playing without Larry Nemer, Steve Schneider, and Cliff Migdal, the Chargers only lost four games.

The Chargers will compete in 16 matches during the month of May, including nine against conference opponents.

A meet against crosstown rival Southfield High has been added to the original schedule, and will be played on May 11 at the Southfield courts.

Groves' Golf Streak Ends

All great things must end sooner or later and the winning streak of Birmingham Groves' golf team was no exception to the rule.

After winning 47 straight, dating from midway in the 1968 season, Groves finally lost.

The defeat came when Bloomfield Lahser posted 194 strokes to 197 for Groves and 210 for Bloomfield Andover in a triangular meet at White Lakes Oaks.

Ron Schmieding shot a 36 and Joe Daiek a 37 for the winners while Sandy Estroff posted a 36 to lead Groves.

Other Groves scores were Bill Wilson 37, George Larson 40, Tom Rex 42 and Bill Ritzman 42.

Lathrup Registers 2d Track Triumph

By STEVE STEIN

Southfield Lathrup trackmen won their second dual meet of the season, edging Royal Oak Dendero by the score of 60 1/2-57 1/2.

The mile relay team of Scott Boyd, Mike Skaglin, Mark Luria, and Mark Raddant won to clinch the meet. They won in 3:32.1.

The Chargers did well in the field events. Sophomore Matt Hepler won the shot put with a toss of 42'2", with Larry Weinberg placing third with 39'11 1/2".

Boyd was the winner in the high jump with 5'6". Skaglin won the pole vault at 12'3", a school record. Stan Hurn finished third at 10'0".

Herman Glass was second in the long jump at 19'1". The 880 yard relay team of Glass, Skaglin, Weinberg, and Raddant won in 1:35.3.

Weinberg was the winner of the 100 in :10.6, with Glass placing third. Weinberg also won the 220 in :23.8, with Glass again taking third.

Raddant recorded a first in the 440 in :51.7, with Skaglin third.

Tank Marks

Wayne State University junior swimmer Mike Neil lowered the school's oldest swim record, the 100-yard freestyle mark set in 1967, to :51.2 and :51.1 on consecutive weekends this season.

Luria won the low hurdles in :21.1, and also took second in the high hurdles.

Boyd finished second in the 880 yard run and Tim Bell took third in the mile run.

Lathrup meets powerful Farmington today (Wednesday) on the Falcon track.

17 Schools Enter Anders Memorial Baseball Meet

With a field of 17, seven less than a year ago due to failure of Farmington and Southfield schools to enter, the seventh annual Les Anders Memorial baseball tournament will open play on Ford Field in Livonia on Wednesday, May 19 with a doubleheader starting at 6 p.m.

It may be the final year for the event which has grown from eight teams in the first year to the high of 24 in 1970.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association is sponsoring its first state tournament in baseball this year and there are some indications that the traditional invitational meets may be barred come 1972.

It was the original goal of Les Anders, then athletic director at Livonia Stevenson High, to sponsor a baseball tournament that he believed eventually would become so popular that coaches and schools would press their demands for a state championship tournament.

Rumors for a state affair were heard as many as four years ago and the MHSAA finally agreed to sponsor the meet during its winter meetings.

IN THE PAST six years, the Anders Memorial had grown to the point that the sponsors — Livonia Optimist Club, Observer Newspapers and the Livonia Recreation Department decided to limit participation to only those schools in Observerland.

Teams entered this year are: Livonia Franklin, Bentley, Stevenson and Churchill; Garden City East and West; John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Redford Union, Bishop Borgess, Thurston, Crestwood, Clarenceville, Plymouth, Northville, Farmington, Lady of Sorrows and Redford St. Agatha.

It will be a sad farewell for Sorrows which will be making its final appearance in interscholastic competition. The high school will close its doors at the end of the school year.

Northville, surprise winner a year ago with Pitcher Fred Holdsworth bearing the brunt of the hurling burdens, will open defense of its championship on Monday, May 24 at 6 p.m.

ALL GAMES will be played on Ford Field with the opening games on May 19 and the championship scheduled for Tuesday, June 1 — provided the weatherman co-operates.

Pre-tourney favorites, on the basis of play thus far, are Redford Union, Franklin, John Glenn, Thurston, Bishop Borgess and Garden City West.

Highspots of the opening round are the games between Plymouth and Redford Union on May 19, Franklin and John Glenn on May 21 and Thurston and Sorrows on May 21.

But as has been the case in each of the past six tournaments, upsets are the order of the day and there may be a darkhorse that will hit its best form in the meet.

Examples of the past are Wayne Memorial two years ago and Northville in 1970.

The pairings:
1 - Wayne vs. Churchill, Wed., May 19 at 8:30 p.m.
2 - Plymouth vs. Redford Union, Wed., May 19, 6 p.m.
3 - St. Agatha vs. GC West, Thursday, May 20 at 8:30 p.m.
4 - Crestwood vs. GC East, Thursday, May 20 at 8 p.m.
5 - Franklin vs. John Glenn, Friday, May 21 at 6 p.m.
6 - Thurston vs. Sorrows, Friday, May 21 at 8:30 p.m.
7 - Winner 1 vs. Northville, Monday, May 24 at 6 p.m.
8 - Clarenceville vs. Bentley, Saturday, May 22 at 6 p.m.
9 - Stevenson vs. Bishop Borgess, Saturday, May 22 at 8:30 p.m.

10 - Winner 2 vs. Winner 3, Thursday, May 27 at 6 p.m.
11 - Winner 4 vs. Winner 5, Thursday, May 27 at 8:30 p.m.
12 - Winner 6 vs. Winner 7, Friday, May 28 at 6 p.m.
13 - Winner 8 vs. Winner 9, Friday, May 28 at 8:30 p.m.

14 - Winner 10 vs. Winner 11, Monday, May 31 at 6 p.m.
15 - Winner 12 vs. Winner 13, Monday, May 31 at 8:30 p.m.
CHAMPIONSHIP
16 - Winner 14 vs. Winner 15, Tuesday, June 1 at 7:30 p.m.

By George Maslin observing sports

Man's heart all evil? Come again. It just isn't so. What about all the adults who work with youngsters in Little League baseball programs around the area?

Guys like Ken Clover who defy the wind and the cold and the damp air to get their kids out and work them for two or three hours, teaching the youngsters everything they know about the grand ol' game of baseball, also teaching the youngsters how to play as a part of a team — which is what life is all about anyway.

Or What about the people like Bill Kofender and Sussie Shechter who did so much in arranging the big testimonial dinner for Cincy Sachs at Raleigh House in Southfield?

MORE THAN 1,000 turned out to toast Cincy Sachs, who to anybody who knows anything about sports is recognized as Mr. Basketball in these parts.

Cincy has devoted more than half a century to all phases of basketball. He's coached kids, collegians, and pros. He's refereed in every aspect of the game... but more important, it's what he's done for the boys... to help them in the battle of life. That's where Cincy has scored the most.

In recent years, he has whipped more than one serious illness away from another. And, it was heartwarming to see Cincy standing there in the Raleigh House as all who have come to love him and respect him over the years gathered to say: "Thank you" to a great guy.

Somehow it would seem that the name of Cincy Sachs must make its way into Michigan's Hall of Fame if ever the outstate element who vote for this honor would realize just what Cincy Sachs has meant to basketball, to sports, to the community, to the state in the last six decades.

WHEN IT COMES to warm hearts, what about the various gents who each year give of their time to stage the annual cancer golf program at the Bay Pointe Golf Course.

This year's comes up on Friday, June 11, when most of the sports celebrities turn out to play with hundreds of others.

A year ago, more than $15,000 was raised for cancer research. It's hoped that this year's jackpot will top that figure.

The fee to play may sound like a lot — $100. But, when one stops to think what the money will be used for and, then, too, that it's tax deductible, well, it's really not a very sizeable donation.

THERE ARE OTHER warm hearts... down the road 150 miles or so in Fort Wayne, Ind! There this Saturday they'll toast, among others, Farmington Township's Ed Coil, the general manager of the Pistons.

It'll be like homecoming for Coil, who lived and worked in Fort Wayne for many years before he took charge of the Pistons six years ago.

Coil still laughs when he recalls that when he originally came up to Detroit to handle the Pistons, it was supposed to be for a few months.

"I guess I'm like the guy who went to dinner—and just stayed," Coil says.

Blanks Two Rivals

Livonia Stevenson netters got off to a spectacular start in the Inter-Lakes Conference competition, blanking Waterford and Farmington by 7-0 scores.

The Spartans encountered little trouble in either match. The summaries:

AGAINST FARMINGTON—singles: Shen(S) def. Mason, 6-0, 6-0; Leonard def. Schwan, 6-1, 6-0; Hoekstra def. Deppmann, 6-2, 6-1; Alton def. Boston, 6-0, 6-1; doubles:

Kennedy-Mikula def. Dames-Bray, 6-1, 6-1; Hansford-Lupp def. Rankin-LeBlanc, 6-4, 6-7; Capran-Bickham def. Allen-Schubridge, 6-2, 6-0.

AGAINST WATERFORD—singles: Shea def. Hinton, 6-1, 7-5; Leonard def. Marcoux, 6-0, 6-0; Hoekstra def. Koeler, 6-0, 6-0; Alton def. Haggard, 6-2, 6-2; doubles: Kennedy-Mikula def. Daly-McDonald, 6-2, 6-1; Hansford-Lupp def. Schlutow-Archambeau, 6-0, 6-1; Capran-Bickham def. Denie-Bolan, 6-1, 6-0.

Franklin Girls Win Opening Meet

Franklin girls overwhelmed Thurston, 73-25, in their first track and field meet of the season.

Franklin showed depth and maturity by sweeping all running events except the 440-yard relay and a second place in the 800-yard run.

Thurston's promise seems to be in a strong sophomore contingent which includes 4'10" Mary Rowan, who took second in the 800, and twins, Diane and Pat Swiderok, who placed one-two in the standing long jump.

Coach Jane Young, of Thurston has only 19 girls out for track and only four returning letter winners.

But before she says "wait 'til next year", she is saying "wait 'til next meet". That will be Wednesday, May 5.

Oooops!

Groves Banks On Balance

Talk about your balance. Birmingham Groves High track team has it this season. All of which explains why Groves remains unbeaten in Northwest Suburban League action after downing Thurston, 74-35.

Groves dominated in the running events to take the honors.

Groves winners included Neal Barnett, a speedy junior who stepped to victory in the 220-yard dash. He was timed in :23.3.

Thurston was minus its starter sprinter and jumper Tom Shaheen.

The victory, along with Franklin's 80-38 romp over Oak Park, kept the two schools tied with unbeaten records in the league.

Glenn, Franklin Lead NWS Loop

The jam atop the Northwest Suburban League in baseball has been loosened a little.

Thurston fell from the top when blanked by North Farmington, 6-0, as John Glenn and Franklin each rolled to a fourth league win in five starts.

Glenn downed Oak Park, 5-1 and Franklin blanked Birmingham Groves, 2-0.

DARYL DEMARAY was the star for Glenn as he allowed three hits and fanned 10 to share honors with Roger Sanders who clubbed two hits in three trips to the plate.

Glenn wrapped up the game with two runs in the fifth inning after Jim Laughlin, Mark Szymanski and Demaray each knocked in a run earlier.

In the sixth after two walks and a hit batsman, Sanders singled to knock in the two runs.

Rob Hollandsworth held Groves to two hits and struck out five in besting Rick Dickson, of Groves, who permitted only four hits.

Tom Nattistone accounted for one Franklin run when he homered. The other came around on an error which gave Don Opland life and then a single by Paul Sopsich.

JIM WHITE fanned eight and walked three as North Farmington upped its season record to 3-2 in the league and stayed a game behind the two front runners.

The big blow for the Raiders was a three run homer by John Combes in the second inning after Doug Moher walked and John Haine singled.

North Farmington added two more runs in the sixth when Arnie Kahkonen and Haine singled around an error and a walk.

Falcons Finally Loosen Bats

For six straight games, Farmington High's baseball team won or lost by a single run without too much of offensive thrust.

But the Falcons' bat finally came alive against Livonia Stevenson to gain a 10-4 victory in their drive for Inter-Lakes Conference honors.

JOHN FLEMING, who had won four times by a single run experienced the rare thrill of getting some runs to spare as Mike Flynn, Paul Kupferschmidt and Tony Wenson led the Farmington festivities with two hits each.

The Falcons scored twice in the third inning on hits by Wenson, Bruce Economeau and Kupferschmidt, along with an error and a wild pitch.

Four more runs came in the third on four walks along with singles by Kupferschmidt and Ray Ponke. Flynn's triple and Wenson's single added another run in the fourth and in the seventh, Jerry Malbury and Fleming tripled in a two-run uprising.

Losing pitcher Mike Gee socked a two run homer with Tom See aboard for Stevenson's first two runs. Then Gee's single and two errors added a third run before singles by Bob Biarly, Mark Macy and Russ Isaacs wrapped up the scoring.

FARMINGTON BOUNCED right back on the one-run victory trail by downing Walled Lake Central, 4-3, in extra innings.

It was the Falcons' sixth in seven league games.

John Fleming gained the victory for Farmington, allowing two hits and fanning 11. The battle went eight innings.

Farmington cashed the winning run in the eighth when John Holappa walked, Tom Rawley doubled and Ray Ponke scored Holappa with an infield grounder.

Farmington scored twice in the fourth on doubles by Paul Kupferschmidt and Fleming and a single by Rawley. In the sixth Holappa got on an error and scored without the benefit of a hit.

Stevenson Borgess, S. Heart Keeps Title Set For Title Game Hopes Alive

Livonia Stevenson High's hopes to repeat as Inter-Lakes Conference champs still are alive.

A 7-0 victory over Waterford kept Stevenson in the battle with a 3-4 league mark.

Mike Gee tossed a two hitter at Waterford. He fanned 14.

Gee also knocked in two of the four Stevenson runs in the third inning when a walk and three errors preceded his visit to the plate had permitted two men to score before he connected.

In the sixth inning, Stevenson scored three more times on singles by Bob Biarly, Ron Isaacs, Mark Macy and Mark Keifer.

It'll be showdown time Thursday when Bishop Borgess meets Dearborn Sacred Heart in Catholic League baseball.

The two teams are battling for the First Division-West crown and, at the moment, Sacred Heart leads with a 5-0 record while Borgess is right behind with 4-1.

Southfield Cager To Enroll At CMU

It's on to Central Michigan University in the fall for basketball star Brad Allen of Southfield High.

Allen, who led Southfield to the district title in 1969-70 and the league crown this past season, has been accepted by the Mt. Pleasant school, he informed the Observer newspaper.

Allen's play earned him All-Observer honors this past season.

Borgess stayed in the thick of things by downing Aquinas, 5-1, as Jerry Sharon allowed two hits and fanned 13.

Jim Bish lashed a three run double with Chris Jones, Jeff Crawley and Sharon aboard after they had singled for the big blow of the game.

He was a standout scorer as well as a rebounder for the Blue Jays who during the recent season set a school record for consecutive victories in winning the conference crown.

But once into the state districts, it was a different team and the Blue Jays were knocked out in their second game.

Taylor Beats West Golfers

Mike Dobos shot a 45, but it wasn't enough as Garden City West's golf team lost to Taylor Kennedy, 180-194.

Fine Fencer

Michigan State sophomore fencer Bill Mathers from Detroit U. of D. High School captured first-place honors in epee to pace his team to the 1971 Big Ten fencing championship.

Big Rally Nets Win For Rice

Brother Rice's baseball team went outside Catholic League action to down Assumption of Windsor, 7-1.

Greg Bloss hurled for the winners while Dan Damiani and Mark Batchko led the attack. Damiani had two hits in two trips to the plate and Batchko drove in two runs.

Rice scored six times in the sixth when Gary Martin singled, Dan Holten walked and Damiani singled for one run.

Batchko then doubled in two more and hits by Don Hayes and Kevin Milliken and an error and sacrifice added to the Rice production.

3 Thurston Homers Beat Cranbrook

Three home runs, each with two men on base, and some effective pitching by Bob Ghanam enabled Thurston to whip Cranbrook, 18-2, in a non-league game.

While Ghanam scattered six hits, Ken Chopek, Bob Pontani and Bob Graustein each parked a homer with two aboard in the runaway contest.

GC West Trackmen Record No. 7

Just how good is Garden City West High's track team? With a 7-0 record to date — plus a 4-0 standing in the Tri Rivers League — West under coach Bill Pinnell is enjoying one of its best seasons in a long time.

"But, wait," says Pinnell. "Wait until our next two dual meets over. We'll know better."

West will have its work cut out during the next week in league action.

ON THURSDAY, the team squares off with Cherry Hill, once beaten in the conference, and then next Tuesday against Taylor Kennedy, which presently is unbeaten.

"These two meets should tell a lot," says Pinnell. "Kennedy, you know, upset Cherry Hill by just two points when they met last week."

West had two easy meets last week. First the team ran over Southgate, 103-15. "The Southgate coach dropped six men for disciplinary reasons just before the meet," explained Pinnell. "That's why things turned out the way they did."

Then West won over Riverside, 89-29, as Dale Halliwell led the way with victories in the 100-yard dash and the low hurdles.

Puishes Blanks Foe On 2 Hits

Greg Puishes came within one inning of pitching a no-hitter for Garden City East against Annapolis.

But he did achieve a shutout victory by a 6-0 score, although touched for two singles in the seventh inning.

He struck out 10 and simplified his own cause by socking out two hits and scoring two runs.

A THREE-RUN second inning put the game on the easy side for East. Dennis Keslik singled and Puishes walked. Both scored on Tom Dobozy's hit. Dobozy in turn scored on an error.

East dropped a 6-1 decision to Taylor Center when Taylor erupted for six runs in the first inning.

But East coach John Kulazenska played the game under protest, claiming that the chief umpire hired by Taylor was a former student and athlete at the school and now on the faculty there.

"We refused to go for that," said Kulazenska. "So we wound up with one umpire on the game ... and that's against our league rules for a conference game."

It was a big game for East, since both teams took 2-0 league records into the battle.

EAST FELL VICTIM to John Poloni, of Lutheran West, one of the area's best pitchers, and bowed 5-2.

It was Poloni's seventh win without a loss and his team now is 9-0.

East was held to three singles — one apiece by Wisniewski, Ken Shaw and Chris Waronek.

GC West Wins 2 Of 3 In Conference Baseball

Round One of play has ended for Garden City West in the Tri Rivers League championship parade.

West, by winning two out of three during the past week, reached the halfway mark with a 4-3 record.

Sam Tjalsma accounted for both victories this past week.

HE BEAT Cherry Hill, 7-5, in a game restricted to five innings by rain and then came back to down Crestwood, 4-3.

In between, West lost to Taylor Kennedy, 5-4.

Jerry Volas and Darrin McHugh each had two hits as Tjalsma gave up four hits in the victory over Cherry Hill.

In the game against Crestwood, Tjalsma was touched for six hits while he struck out six.

West scored twice in the third inning on hits by Jim Sims and Jerry Volas, allowed with an error and a walk.

In the fourth, Rick Roth and Jim Whaley singled and Sims doubled to knock them in with what proved the tying and winning runs.

West took a 4-0 lead against Kennedy in the first inning on four walks and a double by Keith Muncey, but wasn't able to hang on. Kennedy finally cashed the winning run in the fifth inning.

Strength In Field Wins For Stevenson

Strength in field events enabled Stevenson High's track team to beat Waterford, 85-33, in an Inter-Lakes League meet.

Out of 12 places in the field action, the Livonians won all but one. They also did well in the running races.

The Stevenson results:

Country Day Lists Meet In Lacrosse

The first high school field lacrosse tournament ever in Michigan will be staged Saturday (May 8), at Detroit Country Day School.

Participating will be Country Day, Mt. Clemens L'Anse Creuse, and Lake Ridge Academy of Cleveland, O.

Lacrosse is a relative newcomer to the spring sports scene here, as the two Michigan schools listed above are the only two fielding teams in the state.

Eugene Reilly, who instituted the sport at Country Day this year, feels lacrosse has a lot of potential in this area, however, noting that it helps fill the gap created by spring sports with low participation quotas such as baseball and golf.

Reilly comes from the eastern area of the nation, where lacrosse is highly successful.

Play will begin at 11 a.m., and will probably run until 4 p.m.

Country Day is located at 13 Mile and Lahser roads in Birmingham.

How Gardener Can Save Nature's Balance

By BETTY FRANKEL

The quality of the environment is the concern of all of us, but the gardener has a special responsibility and a special role. He is in a sensitive position to positively benefit and improve the ecological system — or he can add to the destruction.

The gardener must realize, as most school children do by now, that we live in a "closed" system. The earth is like a super space ship and nothing can be added and nothing can be removed. Our air, water, and mineral resources are finite. They can be used and combined in various ways, and then must be reused.

SOME OF OUR uses are extravagant and wantonly destructive, and some of the chemical combinations we've invented are proving to be lethal, adding poisons to the air we breathe, the water we drink, and the food we eat.

Perhaps the technologists and scientists can solve the problems that modern technology has created — but land use is equally important. Natural areas and farms must be preserved in rural areas, and greenbelts and parks must be established within our cities to counter-balance all the acres of blacktop and cement and buildings that are covering the land.

Paved areas are detrimental to both the air supply and the water supply. In addition to often usurping the most fertile farm lands. When rain falls on paving and is channeled into a sewer that flows into a river, it is lost as far as the ground is concerned. The more paving, the less water that can get into the ground to replenish the supply of ground water. Then the level of the water table drops — wells go dry and plants die because their roots can't reach the water.

OBVIOUSLY PAVING and plants are almost mutually exclusive. Where there is paving, there are few, if any, plants. Plants are absolutely essential. They just can't be eliminated from our world because they are the primary source of oxygen that is in the air.

Not only do grass and trees and flowers renew the supply of oxygen that is in the air, they strain out other pollutants and purify the air. Plants are our basic source of energy, too. Each green leaf, each blade of grass is a wonderful factory that converts energy from the sun into a form that we can ultimately use.

In the presence of sunlight, plants manufacture carbohydrates for their sustenance and are eaten by animals, which are in their turn consumed for food in a never-ending chain. Eventually plants and animals die and decay, releasing the basic building blocks for use all over again by other plants that grow and are eaten.

THE GARDENER can plan his landscaping and the grading around his house so that the water that flows from his roof and off his patio and driveway can be returned to the ground rather than rushed into a sewer.

Small ponds and swampy areas are necessary parts of the ecology because water can collect in them. They should not be filled in and eliminated. If anything, more such areas should be created.

The gardener should become thoroughly familiar with his soil and his growing conditions so he can choose plants that will thrive. A healthy plant is sturdy and better able to resist diseases and pests, and therefore less apt to need chemical remedies.

As plants grow, they remove necessary elements from the soil. In nature the leaves accumulate where they fall and return to the soil the elements removed from it. But this isn't the way it works in our gardens where we clean up leaves and spent plants. To compensate for this, gardeners should have a compost pile. There, in a small confined area, plant remains can accumulate and decay. For good measure add all your vegetable peelings and melon skins. They'll make good compost, too. In about a year the compost becomes rich humus, exactly what is needed to enrich the soil.

WITH HUMUS from compost used to enrich the soil, there should be little need to resort to chemical fertilizers which are costly and tend to leach out and get into the streams and lakes where growth of algae is encouraged.

If the gardener needs to use fertilizer, he should consider organic fertilizers. Mil-organite is excellent for lawns. Manure or dried processed manure is good for vegetable gardens, and fertilizer processed from fish is excellent for flowers, shrubs, and house plants.

The gardener should keep a lookout for insects and diseases. Although it seems sensible to use preventive measures, actually it is better to wait and use pesticides only if trouble develops that can't be controlled otherwise. Many bugs can be picked or rubbed off. Only a bad infestation needs poison.

Remember that birds eat vast quantities of insects, so encourage them to come to the garden by putting up feeders, houses and bird baths, and growing plants they relish.

If the insects get out of control use only the insecticides recommended by the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. These are pyrethrum, malathion, sevin, methoxychlor, rotenone, nicotine sulfate, dormant oil, and lime sulfur. (Do not use DDT, aldrin, endrin, chlordane, dieldrin, lindane, heptachlor, or toxaphene. They are dangerous.)

Do NOT use a fungicide containing mercury. The others are generally not too dangerous.

Finally, 2-4D is a relatively safe weed killer, but avoid using it if the weeds can be cut or pulled by hand.

It's Time To Check Your Power Mower

To remove these deposits drain the fuel tank, lines and carburetor and then flush with a commercially available solvent or cleaner designed to dissolve these deposits. In severe cases, it may be necessary to remove the carburetor and soak it for several hours in the cleaner.

IT IS ALSO wise to give the cooling system a quick check, especially if the equipment was used in extremely dirty conditions.

Bolen suggests that you inspect the air passages and cooling fins around the engine cylinder head and block. All passages should be free of debris. If necessary, remove some metal shields surrounding the engine to thoroughly inspect the air passages.

Oil level should also be checked on all four-cycle engines. Old oil should be drained and replaced with clean, high quality lubricant as recommended by the manufacturer.

On two-cycle engines, it may be necessary to inspect and clean the exhaust parts which occasionally become clogged by carbon deposits. This is a common reason for power loss with these engines.

On all engines it is good practice to inspect, clean and regap, or replace the spark plug. Be sure the plug is tightened properly. Bolen cautions.

Maintenance details, along with other suggestions for improving air-cooled engine performance, can be found in the operator's or owner's manual. "Check this information now to be sure you are ready to go later this spring," Bolen says.

Expertise Is Valuable

When someone contemplates a home repair of improvement he generally thinks only in terms of the materials required.

The lumber yard, or building material dealer, however, offers an oftentimes much more important commodity than his complete line of materials. The expertise available at the lumber yard retail counter is both comprehensive and exclusive.

In the daily course of his business a counter clerk consults with everyone from carpenters and general contractors to manufacturer's field men and industry trouble shooters. Over the years he has acquired a vast store of knowledge that applies to virtually every kind of do-it-yourself project and has this knowledge available right at the point of sale.

The range of this assistance runs right through the job. He can advise on the latest in materials, is aware of both traditional and new methods of attachment and finishing and can offer many money saving tricks and layout shortcuts. In addition he can estimate quantities needed and tailor the quantities purchased to the size of job underway. Since he has worked with hundreds of other people on the same sort of projects he is more aware of the pitfalls than almost anyone else.

A homeowner who thinks only in terms of a dealer's broad stock and forgets the "free" technical assistance at a lumber yard is not taking full advantage of what is available.

Root Sale And Auction

The Southeastern Michigan Dahlia Society will hold a root auction Saturday, May 8 in the Canadian Legion Hall, 1651 Livernois, Ferndale. The doors will open at 5:30 p.m. for a presale with an auction beginning at 7 p.m.

The named varieties will be labeled with their type and color.

Garden Reminders

Plant deciduous trees and shrubs. Spring is the best time to plant fruit trees, magnolias, birch and other thin-barked trees. When working in perennial beds remember that plantycodon and some other plants are "late risers" and do not dig into them. To control scab, spray apple trees with lime sulfur just before the blossoms open. Sow seeds of peas, beans, broccoli, carrots, lettuce, radishes, Swiss chard, onions, leeks, parsley, parsnips, spinach, and turnips. Sow seeds of larkspur, bachelor buttons, cosmos, gypsophila, snapdragons, sweet alyssum, sweet peas, poppies, calendula.

WITH THE PLASTIC-COATED milk cartons almost hidden from view by the tremendous growth of his tomatoes, cabbages and cucumbers, this was the view at harvest time of A. E. Belanger's vegetable garden near Highland. In spite of the stakes, the tomato plants were so full that their weight carried the ties right to the ground.

He Plants Milk Cartons Beside His Tomatoes

A Highland man has discovered an unusual new idea to increase the yield of the tomato plants and double the size of the cabbages that he grows in his Oakland County garden.

A.E. Belanger plants a plastic coated milk carton next to each tomato or cabbage plant at the time he starts his garden and uses them as water reservoirs to feed the roots of the plants directly.

Once Belanger collects all his cartons and washes them, he drills holes in the sides approximately a quarter-inch from the bottom and buries them about six inches from the plants. He leaves about half of the carton above ground, adds the prescribed amount of any proper fertilizer and fills the cartons with water.

AS THE WATER seeps into the ground, it carries the fertilizer solution with it directly to the roots of the plants, giving them a steady feeding as they require it. When the carton is empty, whatever fertilizer is left collects at the bottom below the hole line, and when water is added to the carton again, it goes back into solution.

Belanger uses fertilizer just twice during the growing season, but points out that using the cartons makes it easy to keep the plants watered.

"There's no guessing," he said, "because the only time you have to water the plants is when the cartons are empty. Best of all, by the time the end of the growing season rolls around, the cartons are pretty well worn out, and you can either pull them out of the ground and throw them away or just plow them under where they quickly decompose."

Belanger's garden is mostly sand, but he is quick to point out that friends of his who use this method of irrigation have had equal success in other kinds of soil. As to the type of carton?

Belanger says, "Almost every dairy in the country puts their milk in cartons, with the gable tops, and either the half-gallon or gallon sizes are ideal."

In looking at the growth of his plants, it's hard to deny that a carton garden is the only way to grow!

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Home grown parsley! If I had to grow just one herb, it would be parsley.

This useful herb grows well in any good garden soil, even in partial shade. Sow seeds in rows 15 inches apart in spring, and thin out the plants to six or eight inches apart. Seeds germinate slowly and you might want to cover the row with a board to keep soil moist enough until germination starts. Some home gardeners mix a little radish seed with the parsley to mark the rows.

A row of parsley will last all summer and for winter use the plants can be potted up and grown indoors. Our parsley overwintered this year, due to snow covering and this suggests that if a straw mulch could be applied in fall, some parsley should come through the winter in fine shape. Incidentally, does any one have a recipe for making parsley tea? Please send it along as we've had a request for it.

RHUBARB AGAIN: If you haven't a patch of rhubarb growing, better start one now. Spring is the best time to plant, and two good varieties to start with are McDonald and Valentine.

Perhaps your neighbor has a patch of rhubarb that needs dividing. Ask him for a clump or two. Plant four to five inches deep, with eyes up, in well-drained soil.

Rhubarb likes big doses of rotted manure or compost, three to six bushels per 100 sq. ft. Or use about five pounds of 10-10-10 fertilizer to a 100 sq. ft. patch. Don't harvest stalks till the third year, but after their a full crop may be harvested in two months each spring. Pull the stalks out with a yank. Don't cut.

One problem with rhubarb is the curculio, a bug that stings stalks and leaves, sometimes causing an unsightly mess.

Control: Dust in May with rotenone before the pest comes along.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Please tell us what kind of petunias we should grow. Last year we had poor luck with them."

There are many different types, but the singles are by far more popular. Multifloras are smaller-flowered, but they bloom so profusely they are preferred for mass planting.

Birdlovers:

Please Take Note

If you enjoy having birds around the house, plant trees and shrubs to make your feathered friends regular visitors (or even residents) of your yard.

"Some of the trees that birds like are flowering dogwood, holly, mountain ash, flowering crab apple, and the hawthorns," says Dr. Gary Schneider, associate professor of forestry at Michigan State University.

"They also prefer evergreens such as junipers, firs, spruces and red cedar."

If you want to provide fruit for the birds, Schneider suggests planting shrubs such as amur honeysuckle, snowberry, and the viburnums. Vines that attract birds include bitter-sweet, honeysuckle, and Virginia creeper.

"Seed-eating birds enjoy sunflowers, coreopsis, lilies-of-the-valley, and several different kinds of roses," says the MSU forester. "You may even attract a hummingbird by planting columbine, delphinium, phlox, false dragonhead or a red-hot poker plant."

'Quickie' Abortions — The After Effects

By KATHY MORAN
(First of 2 articles)

Are New York abortions a safe solution to unwanted pregnancies?

The question weighs heavily on the minds of numerous desperate women who want to terminate their pregnancies.

Unfortunately, the desperate state of these women, many of them unmarried, makes them an easy prey for the crop of entrepreneurs who have sprung up to take advantage of the traffic to New York.

Acting as the travel agent, these entrepreneurs tell the women the abortion is a safe, simple operation and arrange the travel plans for "a small fee."

BUT AT LEAST three area women found the operation was not so safe and simple, and the quickie 24-hour trip was too fast.

One married woman was listed in critical condition for three days after having a legal abortion in which her uterus was punctured. During the ensuing operation to save her uterus and her life, she had to be given seven pints of blood.

Six weeks after a single 24-year-old woman had a 15-minute abortion, she was bleeding so profusely that she had to be admitted to an area hospital. She had suffered from cramps and bleeding for the six weeks following her abortion before becoming critically ill.

A 21-year-old single woman was admitted to a local hospital with a "severe fulminating infection." Her "alleged abortion" was incomplete, and after being treated with antibiotics, she had to be given a "D and C" in which all the products of conception were removed.

AN ESTIMATED 4,500 Michigan women are going to New York each month for abortions. Although there are no figures on the number of women who have complications afterwards, it is thought to be a small percentage.

But three prominent physicians have expressed concern that the number of post-abortion complications has increased.

At least one attributed the increase directly to the liberalization of New York laws and the others agreed New York abortions were a major factor. The increase could also be due to increasing illegal abortions in the Detroit area.

New York is an outlet for desperate women, but the 'assembly line' is bad medical procedure.

Only administrators from Botsford (Osteopathic) Hospital and Garden City Osteopathic Hospital both refused to comment on the number of post-abortion complicated cases, saying that they had not noticed an increase.

Walter Wheeler, administrator of Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, said the hospital was not experiencing an increase in abortion-related cases.

However, an obstetrician practicing at Annapolis said there has been a definite increase at the hospital.

"We have seen more problems in terms of complications than we have seen before," said Dr. Harry Tarpinian, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

"If I had one or two cases in a year, that was a lot, but now I have had two in three months," he said.

"WHEN A patient is admitted, aborted and discharged within the same 24-hour period, you are going to have a high instance of complications," said Dr. Richard Jaynes, a well-known obstetrician.

Dr. John Malone, chief of obstetrics and gynecology at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Detroit, said, "Here at the hospital most of us feel that there has been an increase in infected, incomplete abortions than perhaps in the last year or so."

He added that they do not know "whether they were performed here at the corner of Shaefer and Six Mile or in New York."

Dr. Alfred Sherman, head of obstetrics and gynecology at Sinai Hospital in Detroit, said, "We have always seen complicated post-abortion cases here, but we've seen better results now than we had before the New York law."

Dr. Sherman said that the liberalized law in New York has provided an outlet for desperate women other than the "back alley physician."

The complicated cases are a result of the "nature of the beast," he said.

HE CRITICIZED the "assembly-line basis" in which a woman flies to New York, is transported to a clinic, sees a doctor she has never seen before, has the abortion, and returns home shortly afterwards or early the next day.

"It is just not good medical procedure," he said. "I think it leaves much to be desired. You have to anticipate a certain number of complications—but it is certainly better than having them done illegally in Detroit."

An often-overlooked aspect was brought up by Dr. Sherman, who said it is also not fair to the doctor to have to treat a woman when he does not know her or her medical history.

Because of the woman's desperation, she does not tell the doctor anything about her medical history that could postpone or cancel the abortion, thus leaving the way open for complications, Dr. Sherman said.

"With normal good medical procedure, the complications of abortions should be virtually zero," he said.

"Complications arise from back-alley operations or when they are performed on an assembly line basis. The women do not have the benefit of the best techniques and the best medical judgment."

DR. SHERMAN said that since a therapeutic abortion law was passed in California, the number of infected abortions and maternal deaths has decreased, which "emphasized the value of extensive implementation of the Therapeutic Abortion Act in this state."

Dr. Tarpinian said that some of the complications arise from incomplete abortions in which all the products of conception are not removed by the doctor. Unless the fetus and afterbirth are completely removed, infections or hemorrhaging may result, he said.

He said that there are indications that some doctors in New York abortion clinics are taking the "simplest, easiest" and most dangerous route in performing abortions.

The easiest way is to introduce a sharp instrument into the uterus and puncture the bag of waters. The pregnancy is interrupted, but the abortion is not complete, and the woman miscarries later, he said.

"These are the same things we were concerned with in criminal abortions," Dr. Tarpinian said. "These abortions are a threat to life from hemorrhaging and the possibility of rather severe infection."

IN PROPER conditions, a "complete" abortion involves scraping the fetus and afterbirth from the uterus or sucking it through a powerful vacuum into a tube. In both these processes the fetus and afterbirth are completely removed.

Dr. Tarpinian estimated that together with preparing the women for surgery and putting her under an anesthetic, the process would take 45 minutes — not always the amount of time allotted in some of the New York clinics.

"The woman should be observed at least for 24 hours after the operation with close observation for the first few hours afterwards," Dr. Tarpinian said.

"In an abortion the doctor must be very careful," he said. "It involves removing the fetus and afterbirth without puncturing or damaging the uterus."

One woman is currently suing a clinic in New York on the grounds that she was misled into thinking she had an abortion but actually miscarried afterwards and that her life had been endangered because of a resultant infection.

Perhaps the first step to better control over the entire abortion situation in New York is the recently proposed New York bill to take abortion referrals out of the hands of profiteering agencies and restricting referrals to non-profit health-related agencies.

Tax Break Asked For Political Gifts

A bill that would provide tax incentives for political contributors of small amounts was introduced in the State Senate last week by Sen. David A. Plawecki (D-Deerborn Heights). His district includes Redford.

"This legislation would help the candidates of the people's choice as opposed to those candidates popular with large contributors and special interest groups," he said.

PLAWECKI NOTED to a 1970 study that revealed that 90 per cent of the political contributions for major political offices came from one per cent of the population.

Mrs. Cox Earns Ecology Course

Mrs. Dorothy Cox, sixth grade teacher at Clarenceville's Westbrook Elementary School, is one of 10 persons selected from the State of Michigan to attend an environmental education workshop May 10-14 at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

The workshop has been funded by the U.S. Office of Education. Attending will be representatives from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin.

Mrs. Cox was the subject of a Feb. 10 Observer Newspapers feature story on how she and a class turned the school grounds into a year-around outdoor recreation center.

Participants will be teachers, teacher educators, administrators, students, biological and social scientists, resource managers, environmental volunteers, community leaders, representatives of industry -- the range of people involved in "the new conservation."

The program is designed to provide an exchange of information and ideas about present environmental education practices that seem to be working and about emerging environmental education plans that hold real promise.

Mrs. Cox' name was submitted as a potential delegate by Prof. William Stapp at the University of Michigan. Stapp is acting as Mrs. Cox' advisor as she works on a master's degree in environmental education.

Science Lab Safety Is Topic

Safety in the school science laboratory was the subject of a May 4 program at Oakland Schools for junior and senior science teachers and administrators.

"The trend toward more student experimentation results in more students handling materials," said Dr. LaMoine Motz, director of science education at Oakland Schools. "There are state laws that govern safety practices and the responsibility for the schools. Both science teachers and administrators should be aware of the laws."

How teachers can make safety education more than having students learn a group of rules will be explained by Jack Kammeraad, science education consultant, State Department of Education.

Air Pollution Victims: The Young, Old, Sick

A colorful and alarming slide presentation on air pollution began the second Earth Week lecture at Schoolcraft College last week. Dr. James Swan from the University of Michigan School of Natural Resources concentrated on the effects of air pollution rather than the causes in his talk and alarmed the small audience with the pictures on his subject.

"We know air pollution causes damage to people, animals and plants," he said. "It is hard to see any such thing happening to us. But indeed the people in this area do suffer and I will contend they aren't being informed about it."

He showed pictures of a school playground where "80 to 120 tons" of heavy pollution are dropped on it from a nearby plant each year. Another slide was of a window sill with 10 different types of air pollution of which scientists only know about one-third of them.

Coincidentally, Dr. Swan's appearance was on the same day as the air pollution crisis in Birmingham, Ala. One of the slides showed Detroit with a heavy cloud of pollution penetrating the city — though it was not as chronic as in Birmingham.

"There are indeed costs due to air pollution that people of this area are suffering," Dr. Swan said. "In general, in air pollution it is the young, the old, and the sick that suffer the most."

Plants are good indicators of the pollutants in the air, he said because they act like filters for air. The pollutants retard their growth and kill the ends of the leaves or some of the needles.

Among the problems cited in the Detroit area is the air pollution control agency of the Wayne County Health Department which "acts on behalf of itself" rather than the people, he said.

To fight air pollution, Dr. Swan said the state needs stronger agencies, with more money and citizens advisory committees. And in order to be effective, the state must establish "how clean the air must be."

"It is my feeling that people have not been asked how clean they want their air to be," he said. "If there were one good state regulatory agency and it established how clean the air should be a lot of things could be done."

Finally, Dr. Swan put his support behind a mass transit system that would greatly reduce the amount of air pollution from automobiles in the cities.

Liberal Abortions Forecast For State

Legal, liberalized abortions are coming in Michigan probably through the legislature or the courts. When the law changes, every Michigan physician can perform abortions, but many will not want to, and most are not qualified.

So said Dr. J. Robert Willson, M.D., of the University of Michigan at a conference in Detroit and he emphasized that abortions should be performed in special facilities rather than in the doctor's office.

Dr. Willson, head of the U-M department of obstetrics and gynecology, was a keynote speaker at the Conference on Planning Abortion Facilities in Michigan.

ARRANGED BY THE U-M Center for Population Planning, the two-day meeting was held to plan for the anticipated large scale demands for abortions. Nine major health care and professional organizations in Michigan are sponsors.

It is estimated that when the law is liberalized, about 31,000 Michigan women annually — one in five pregnancies — may ask for abortions, Dr. Willson said.

"The potential problem, therefore, is one that cannot be ignored; it is going to happen and we cannot wish it away," the U-M physician said.

Liberalized abortion procedures should be accomplished with a maximum of safety and minimum of expense of disruption of other health services, he told the conference.

ABORTIONS, while relatively simple in the early stages, up to 10 to 12 weeks of pregnancy, are potentially dangerous and should not be performed in doctor's offices of by unqualified physicians Dr. Willson said.

Early abortions, he recommended, should be performed in hospital out-patient departments or in regional clinics with fast access to a hospital operating room if complications develop.

Pregnancies after 12 weeks should be terminated only in hospitals, he added.

While hospital out-patient and in-patient departments are the logical place for many abortion procedures, Dr. Willson is concerned that an extensive abortion program could interfere with medical education. Medical students, student nurses, interns and residents should become familiar with the procedures relating to abortions but not at the expense of the rest of their education.

Adoptive Parents To Talk

A panel of adoptive parents will discuss their experiences at the second meeting of the Western Wayne County branch of the Council on Adoptable Children (COAC) Friday.

The meeting is open to all persons interested in helping place children into adoptive homes. It will begin at 8 p.m. in St. Peter Lutheran Day School, 1309 Penniman, Plymouth.

The newly-formed COAC branch organized in Wayne County to serve families from the area. Previously the nearest COAC branch was located in Ann Arbor but it can only service families in Washtenaw County.

The group is most concerned with finding homes for minority and biracial children, handicapped and older children considered "hard to place."

The new COAC branch contends that a number of homes are available for these children though the agencies are not always able to place them for various reasons. They plan to publish brochures on adopting older children and handicapped children.

Meetings will be held regularly the first Friday of every month.

New Book Lists Camps

For the first time in five years the Michigan section of the American Camping Association has published a complete directory of all accredited camps in Michigan.

"The increased interest by the general public in the out-of-doors and ecological problems has created a renewed need for this kind of a publication," said Edward C. Weiss Jr., president of the section.

The 48-page book lists all of the association-accredited private, church, and organization resident camps for children, adults and families available in summer and the year-around. Also included are those children's day camps which are accredited. It does not list campgrounds for transient use.

Besides the nearly 200 listings themselves, the 1971 directory contains a tuition fee list, map of all resident camp locations and tips on choosing the most suitable camps.

It is available at $1.25 postage paid from the Michigan Section, ACA, 1000 Hane Highway, Onsted, Mich. 49765.

While all camps must be licensed by the State of Michigan to operate, such licensing deals chiefly with health and safety standards. Accreditation by the association, however, covers regular voluntary inspections such things as program and a 100-page "Standards of details, educational standards and leadership."

Economic Growth Key To Pollution Problem

The United States must match or exceed the highest economic growth rate in its history during the next decade if we are to ease such problems as unemployment and pollution, according to Thomas G. Gies, University of Michigan professor of finance.

Speaking at the National Conference of Electric and Gas Utility Accountants, Prof. Gies questioned the assumption that economic growth and control of pollution are conflicting aims.

"It appears to most of us that a successfully developing and expanding economy is more likely to afford the costs of maintaining its environment than a stagnating economy," he said. "To be an affluent society does not mean we must be a profligate society."

Adequate growth also will be critical in solving the unemployment problem, he continued, because "the high birth rates of the post-war period mean that beginning now, in the third decade of the post-war period, we will begin to reap the harvest of that 1945-55 birth rate in the form of larger increments to the labor force."

DURING THE past 7-10 years, Gies said, the average increment to the labor force has been only about 750,000 persons (net) per year. Beginning in the late 1960s and continuing into the 1970s, however, "we will have increments to the labor force of roughly twice that magnitude ...increases in the labor force are expected to jump abruptly to 1.5 million."

In order to maintain full employment in the American economy for the upcoming decade, he declared, we must match the highest growth rate that we have ever had in this past. "And my guess is that we will find we will actually need to exceed the highest growth rate that we have ever experienced in the past."

Prof. Gies, a member of the U-M Graduate School of Business Administration, observed that while we have as a nation experienced steady growth, "a review of the U.S. growth record is also revealing of the fact that high growth is not assured."

Citing a 4.5 per cent rate of growth as a probable requirement during the coming decade, he pointed out that "apart from the 1920s we have not had growth exceeding 4.5 per cent per year for any significant time span. The only period of as much as seven to eight years of high growth (4.5 per cent) is the period of the twenties. Even in the past two decades of prosperity in the United States, our growth has averaged only 3.5 per cent annually."

PERHAPS, HE said, "we should have something that we could call a 'Growth Policy' in the United States, akin to the employment policies embodied in the Employment Act of 1946 and our price level policy.

"If you are going to get growth, one of the requirements is that you do the economic apparatus with increased amounts of capital. If we want higher rates of growth, it means we must allocate more of our gross national product to current capital projects, which in turn means it's not available for consumer goods."

"The structural steel used to construct a new factory building is not available for houses, and the copper that goes into telephone line construction cannot be used for pots and pans."

"There is a necessary trade-off. We must sacrifice current consumption if we wish to have a larger input of resources to the capital goods industries."

The contract calls for the development, fabrication and testing of masts for the U.S. Army Electrical Command.

Bendix Net Up 2nd Quarter

Bendix Corp., with offices in Southfield, announced that its earnings for the second fiscal quarter climbed 36 per cent to $0.4 million, or 57 cents per share.

The report represents a gain of approximately $2.3 million and 15 cents per share over the same period last year.

A.P. Fontaine, Bendix chairman and chief executive officer, said the improved earnings were on sales, royalties, and other operating income.

Automotive business and aerospace business both have shown healthy gains, Fontaine reported, as has Bendix's subsidiary, American Forest Products Corp. The building materials subsidiary has risen from "unsatisfactory" conditions last year.

The slowest area of the company's business this year has been its automation products division, Fontaine said.

O.C. ROGERS was appointed vice-president and general manager of Corby Mortgage Corp., Westland. Formerly with Dow Chemical Co. and Mine Safety Appliance Company of Pittsburgh, he has a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan. Rogers resides at 1627 Gloucester, Plymouth.

Students Become Trouble Shooters

Five area high schools will be participating in the annual Plymouth trouble shooting contest, a Plymouth automobile dealer sponsored contest which challenges young mechanics to demonstrate their know-how.

Livonia's Bentley and Franklin high schools, Redford Union high and Thurston high in Redford Township, and Westland's John Glenn high will be sending contestants to this year's contest in Detroit April 30.

The contestants, all auto mechanics students, are given a written exam, and are challenged to find and fix, as quickly as possible, several hidden malfunctions built into new cars by professional mechanics.

More than $125,000 in scholarships, prizes, trophies, tools, and practice engines are offered as inducement to the contestants, as well as potential jobs as apprentice mechanics for Plymouth dealerships.

TURN ABOUT IS FAIR PLAY? Pete Turgeon and Maryellen Haugen rehearse a scene from the Farmington Players production of "Cactus Flower." The comedy will run for three weekends commencing May 7 in the Players Barn, 12 Mile Rd., between Orchard Lake and Farmington Rds. Tickets are still available for the May 7 and 9 performances only. Mrs. Noral McNeely, 28271 Wildwood Trail, Farmington, has tickets.

Plymouth Symphony Plays Top 'Pops' May 8

Remembering should be a lot of fun Saturday evening, May 8, when the Plymouth Symphony celebrates its 25th birthday at its ever-popular Pops Concert.

The concert will begin at 8:30 in Central High School, Main St., Plymouth. A few tickets are still available at Melody House, Penniman St., Plymouth, at $2.50 for cabaret tables and $1.25 for the bleachers.

On hand to help remember will be the symphony's first conductor, Paul Wagner, now a Basking Ridge, N. J., junior high school principal, and another conductor, Emil Raab. Raab took over the symphony for one year while the present conductor, Wayne Dunlap, was in Europe. Raab is currently teaching at Bowling Green State College, Bowling Green, Ohio.

They will share the podium with Dunlap in a concert which will feature the "pick of the pops," the most popular songs in 25 years of concerts. This anniversary year marks Dunlap's 20th year as the symphony's conductor.

There will also be two guest soloists, Nat Sibbold of Plymouth and Norman Fischer of Oberlin (Ohio) College.

Sibbold, a baritone, will sing a group of songs entitled "Reminiscences of Things Past," including the "Toreador Song" from Bizet's "Carmen," and ending with "Those Were the Days." Sibbold's days with the orchestra started 20 years ago, when he first guested with it. He has been a popular soloist ever since.

Fischer, a senior at Oberlin, started his career as a cellist when he attended Bird Elementary School in Plymouth. He was encouraged by Dunlap. Saturday he will play "Rococo Variations" "Variations on a Rococo Theme" by Tchaikovsky.

He is the son of Gerald Fischer, a former president of the symphony society, who is expected to attend the concert along with Mrs. Fischer, and other symphony fans who have moved away from Plymouth. They include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jenkins, like the Fischers now living in Connecticut, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Adams, from Illinois.

A NUMBER OF surprises are planned for the program, including a special birthday one.

Another surprise will be the presentation of the "Lenore Overture 2.7," arranged by orchestra member Max Stroup. It is billed as "Beethoven to end all Beethovens."

The program will open with "The Anniversary Waltz," as arranged by Deal Fischer,

Oriental Shop Opens

Porcelain ginger jars, bark paintings and Ming tree branches are among the exotic wares featured in Moy's House of Oriental Specialties, which opened its door May 1, in the Westland Center, 3500 W. Warren Rd. Head of the House of Moy is Charlotte Moy, a former San Franciscan. It was in San Francisco's bustling Chinatown in a gift shop owned by her brother, that she sold her first porcelain vase. She also became an expert seamstress there.

Following her marriage to a Detroit architect, she was involved with the Great Cities Project teaching sewing to the underprivileged.

Finally she gave up teaching and opened the first House of Moy on Detroit's west side. That was nine years ago.

The new Moy's is the first new addition to the center since its completion in 1965.

THE ANDROMEDA STRAIN-A space capsule returns with a deadly germ and scientists work to find a cure. Documentary-type science fiction. (G, none).

A NEW LEAF-Walter Matthau and Elaine May star in a comedy (what else?), about what happens when Matthau loses his money and marries May for hers. (G, none).

RYAN'S DAUGHTER-Photographic effects help a basically weak plot. Irish Rosy Ryan is looking for "something more." (GP, A-3).

LITTLE MURDERS-Alan Arkin directs and Elliott Gould stars in this serio-comic comment on human and family relationships. (R, A-4).

WOMEN IN LOVE-Explores the love affairs of emancipated school-teacher sisters. Based on D.H. Lawrence's novel, and starring Glenda Jackson. (R, B).

I NEVER SANG FOR MY FATHER-Melvyn Douglas plays the father whose son never quite measured up to his expectations. A sensitive look at the older generation gap. (GP, A-3).

THE LITTLE BIG MAN-Is the story of the Old West as told by a survivor of Custer's Last Stand. Dustin Hoffman plays the 121-year-old narrator. (GP, A-3).

LOVE STORY-Ali MacGraw and Ryan O'Neal star in a sad story of young love, based on Erich Segal's best-seller. A real tear-jerker. (GP, A-3).

THE CROSS AND THE SWITCHBLADE-Designed to be a "responsible" movie for teenagers, this doesn't quite come off, maybe because Pat Boone's performance is so uninspired. (GP, A-2)

Today's Graduates-- Cool, Quiet, Jobless

By Philip H. Power
Publisher

I spent part of Saturday in Ann Arbor at the commencement at the University of Michigan, where many young people from this area were getting richly deserved honors.

It was a quiet ceremony, with no outbreaks of violence or raucous demonstration. A few black students a couple of rows in front of us sat down during the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner," but they did it in better taste than the four white students farther down front, who raised their clenched fists in derisive salute.

Michigan's President Robben Fleming, who deserves a lot of the credit for generating the kind of thoughtful rational style of college administration which led to this calm May Day commencement, put it on the line in his remarks: "One of the greatest problems of the last four years is that there has developed on this campus a minority of people who believe that it is perfectly proper to shout down the other man's point of view; indeed, there are a few who believe that the other man is not entitled to a point of view at all. This is terrible and will be stopped."

Tough words for a May Day, while anti-war demonstrators were being carried off by police in Washington. But no one said a word.

I TOOK A careful look at the graduating seniors.

They were overwhelmingly white, very largely middle class.

A glance at the program showed where they came from: Bentley High School and John Glenn. Southfield and North Farmington. Plymouth and Thurston.

These graduating seniors were our sons and daughters. They were one of the first graduating classes from the suburban baby boom of the 1950s.

All the girls wore their hair long and straight and blond and hanging down over their robe-covered backs. The boys had long hair, too, but in a diversity of styles that looked like a barber's nightmare.

They may have looked funny to some, but they were quiet, attentive and interested. Nor were they overawed: President Fleming uttered the time honored lines, "I now admit you to the rights, privileges and obligations for your respective degrees," as the graduates listened intently. But then he added, "It says here," looking down at his script.

The graduating students laughed; it was their style.

ONE UNIVERSITY official to whom I talked later said, "These kids are probably the brightest, best educated graduating class we have ever produced. They were involved in tearing things up here a few years ago, but they seem to have calmed down in the past year. They can think for themselves, and they'd be an asset to anybody who needed help."

Then the official stopped, sighed, and said, "But, of course, there aren't any jobs."

It was true.

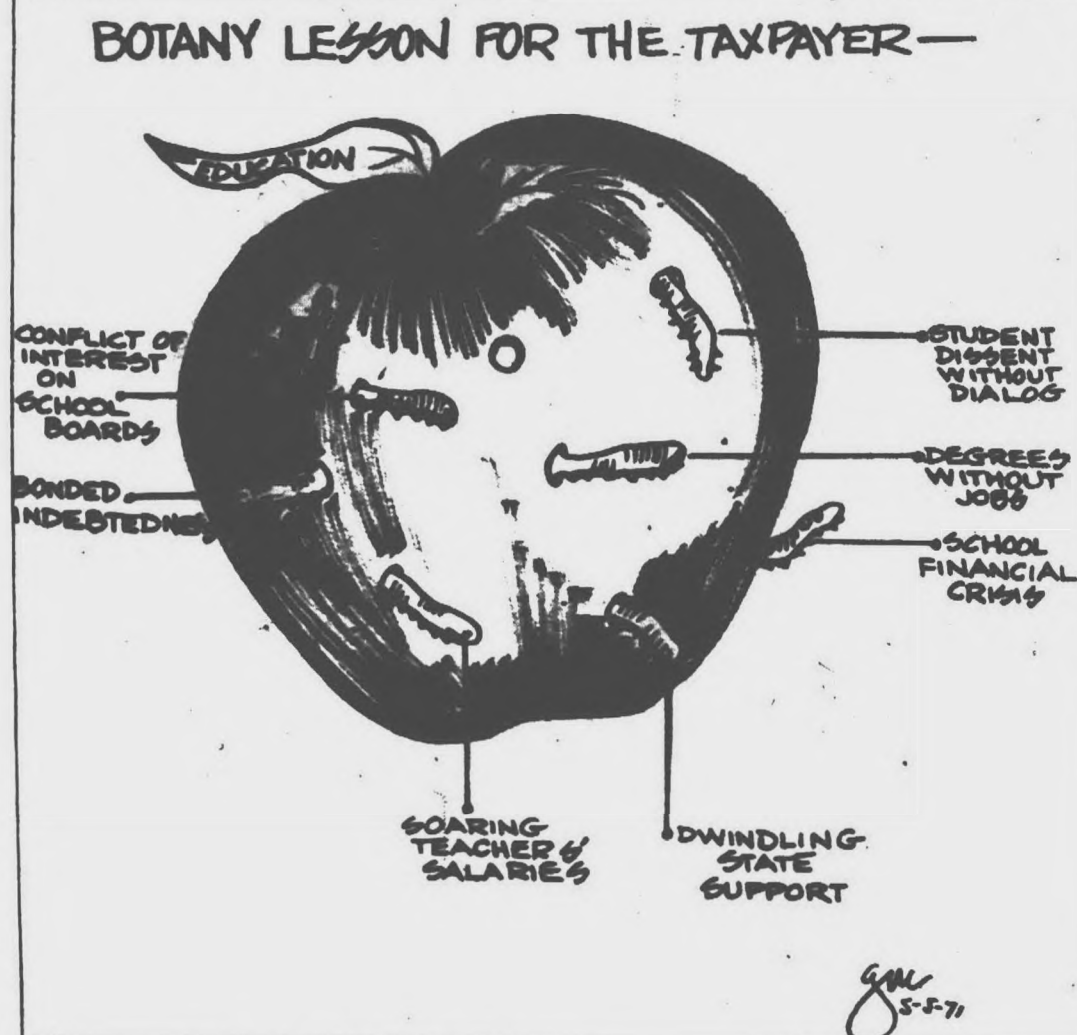

I asked some of the kids what they were going to do after the ceremony. "A gas jockey," said one history major. "I'm still looking," said a mathematician with nearly a straight-A average. "I just don't know what I'm going to do," a nice, freckle-faced girl with a degree in education said. "No one's hiring anywhere."

So I walked out of the Chrisler Arena over in Ann Arbor, looked up at the maples just getting ready to put leaves out, and wondered at the resiliency of youth which can live through four years of college and war in Indochina, receive a good education with no prospect of a job, and come through a graduation ceremony with calm, humor and an important kind of respect.

Those people who say the younger generation is going to pot should have come over to Ann Arbor over the weekend. I think they would have learned something.

Big Change In School News

One of the biggest changes in the new type of public school news can be seen by newspaper editors and reporters who have covered school boards and other school activities over the past 10 years.

The mental notes and memories of a newspaperman reveal the sharp contrast of the "old" news and the "new" school news found in local papers.

THE CHANGE shows that school institutions -- public and private -- are in a money crisis and the change could have been predicted many years ago.

In the early 1960s most local papers had most of their school news devoted to spelling bee winners, installation of PTA officers, routine coverage of board meetings (which in turn concerned itself only with routine actions of hiring teachers, buying classroom equipment, approving bids on ice cream for the cafeterias, and other mundane chores.)

Once a year, there would be a flurry about the annual board election. Every two or three years, there would be an appeal from officials to the public to approve a proper tax increase for operations.

ABOUT EVERY three or four years, fast-growing districts in the suburbs would also go to the voters to gain permission to issue bonds needed to finance construction of new buildings and additions to existing schools.

But between the millage and bond issue elections, reporters and editors had to depend on the spelling bee winners, purchase of new English books, and an occasional in-depth story on a local school's science program or essay contest winners.

In the mid-1960s, the school news business picked up a bit with the passage of a state law allowing teachers to unionize and negotiate collective bargaining contracts with their boards.

In their public pronouncements, teachers were complaining that local salaries had to be competitive with neighboring schools who were paying as "high" as $5,500 for first year teachers. (New teachers now get more than $8,000.)

In turn, the boards and superintendents replied that they don't have the money for the salary demands. "After all, we are spending more than $350 per student," the board said. (The current average in the suburbs is close to $900.)

MORE AND more, newspapers were devoting more space to the conflicts and pressures resulting from a money problem--where to spend public school dollars and where to get more money in the future to meet set costs.

Getting less space were the spelling bee winners, science fair displays, and the cute little stories about youngsters making a cake for their kindergarten teacher's 22nd birthday party.

On occasion, newspapers published an appeal from the local school board and superintendent about the need for more financial support from the State Legislature.

But little else was heard about the money crisis looming on the horizon.

Nowadays reporters and editors handling school problems (there seems to be more problems to report than good news) are getting used to handling complicated issues in education.

For example, newsman now know the difference between Sec. 3 and Sec. 17 of the state school aid formula which gives more money to low-valuation districts than others with a substantial tax base.

We can also distinguish between allocated millage, voter-approved millage, and bonded indebtedness.

IN REVIEWING past budget stories, newsmen also saw that the percentage of state support was dwindling as school cost--particularly in the salaries' area -- was soaring.

A recent Westland Observer front page was devoted to three stories -- all on school issues and all candidates for black borders signifying an obituary.

One story told how voters rejected a millage renewal while the others told how two boards in the community laid off 328 teachers and administrators to avoid a serious budget deficit for the following year.

BUT THE same front page carried a picture of a local high school senior winning a first prize for his display in a regional science fair. The boy worked two years on the project and wants to get into the area of organ transplants when he graduates from medical school.

Those kind of school events we like to report.

Goodness knows we've had enough of the other kind in recent months.

Why No Action For 14 Months?

It didn't need to happen.

That appears to be the truth of the controversy raging in Lansing and in the five communities that comprise Schoolcraft College over reapportionment of the board of trustees to conform with the "one-man, one-vote" ruling handed down by the United States Supreme Court in February 1970.

Although the college board is functioning under the provisions of the state law, it actually is unconstitutional under the high court decision.

The ruling came in the Hadley vs. Metropolitan Junior College of Kansas City suit where the board was selected in a manner similar to that at Schoolcraft. A question of proper representation went all the way to Washington, where the court decided it was against the U.S. Constitution.

At Schoolcraft, each of the five districts--Livonia, Plymouth Garden City, Northville and Clarenceville--elects one trustee, and three are elected at large for a total of eight. This is in accordance with the state laws governing community college boards.

THAT'S ALL fine, but the Schoolcraft Board was notified 14 months ago, just two weeks after the high court ruling, that it was unconstitutional in an opinion from its able legal counsel, Edward Draugelis.

At that time he advised the board to seek opinions from the attorney general and to determine what it should do to have the Legislature correct the situation immediately.

Copies of the opinion were sent to all members of the board. But just like the ostrich sticking his head in the sand so he wouldn't see what was going on, the board did absolutely nothing.

True enough, Trustee James Boswell, elected as the Livonia representative but conspicuous by his constant absence, stalked out of the March meeting after telling the board that it was unconstitutional and had no right to exist. He indicated he would have nothing to do with an illegal board, left and never came back for more than a year.

Matter of fact, he didn't put in an appearance until after representatives of the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia took the matter to court and successfully thwarted a June election when the circuit court judge barred such a vote and requested the board to make a suitable solution to the problem by June 1.

THE BOARD PASSED a resolution recently favoring an at-large election of five members with the three present at-large trustees holding their seats.

That is all well, but the question arises: Why didn't the board do something to resolve the matter a year ago when the Legislature could have passed enabling action that would have taken care of the "one-man, one-vote" order?

Why didn't it make public the opinion handed down by its counsel? Why did it prefer to allow the situation to exist for an additional 13 months when a court suit brought the matter to public notice? Why did it take a resignation by the counsel before the public was made aware of the opinion which the board allowed to appear had been made after the court action was filed?

We have a distinct feeling that the trustees did a disservice to their constituents; that it deliberately suppressed news of vital importance.

We feel it did a disservice to its legal counsel when it turned the opinion over to another law firm for a second opinion. This person had been advising the board in all matters for several years.

WHY DIDN'T the board seek an opinion from the attorney general in the spring of 1970? Why didn't it confer with the elected legislators from the area?

Was it because the trustees wanted to select the new president to succeed retiring President Dr. Eric Bradner? Was it because members wanted to participate in the inauguration of the new president?

These questions have remained unanswered.

Now we have the board agreeing that an at-large election in September would be the proper solution. It has ordered its legal counsel to advise the circuit court judge before the June 1 deadline of that decision.

MEANWHILE, LOCAL legislators are in a heated struggle over two bills presented in recent weeks. One brought out by Rep. Marvin Stempien, of Livonia, would redistrict the college district. The other presented by Sens. Carl Pursell, of Plymouth, and William Faust of Westland calls for an at-large election.

Each legislator feels his bill is the best, and neither is willing to back down. So, it will be interesting to see what happens in Lansing.

Meantime, the college board, which is serving under the provisions of the current state law, is going along its merry way.

What we really want to point out is that every single member of the board was aware of the opinion and not a SINGLE ONE raised his or her voice for action during the 14 months. . . and this includes the absent Mr. Boswell who made his point in March 1970 and then never took the time to press the issue until the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia decided to act. Then he quickly joined the bandwagon.

We say again every single member of the Schoolcraft College Board did a disservice to voters in the college district. All should come up for election if an at-large poll is ordered, and voters should remember that it took 13 months for application of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling to become public knowledge in the five communities.

Lottery Not Answer To Tax Crisis

EDITOR:
In reply to Mr. Fred Nuttall's letter ("How About a Lottery?," Dissent, April 14), I feel that he has voiced a real concern in the rising tax rates, and he has my sympathy. However, I feel that revenue from gambling is a poor substitute for the real solution to government income and spending.

No sane person would depend upon his income from the sole source of gambling, unless he could fix the odds, or rake profits from the percentage of the total amount gambled. This would not be honest, nor would it be morally right to take advantage of human weakness. Is it right to permit the government to do what is considered wrong for the individual to do?

Money gambled cannot help a community, without taking form another source which would suffer. The other source would be families or another community.

Gambling is permissive theft; an agreement to take from another something of value, upon the outcome of an unknown chance. Almost no one will enter into such an agreement with the idea of giving. That would be foolish and bad economics.

It is possible to buy Irish sweepstakes tickets and other state lottery tickets in Michigan because people are dishonest and greedy. It is against the law. New York and New Hampshire have been disappointed in the amount of money earned from their lotteries. People did not gamble as much as expected.

As a homeowner, I would find it very foolish to think that any rise in taxes would be offset by my buying a few lottery tickets. It is time that everyone realized that bills of any kind must be paid in cash, out of the pocket, not the pocket of some other person.

Students Tell What To Cut

EDITOR:
Because the Livonia School District millage fell through, we at Whitman Junior High School will lose nine new teachers. Because our science teacher will be one of the teachers fired, the loss will therefore affect us. We propose that, instead of firing teachers which we clearly need, the board should fire unimportant members of the staff.

For instance, we certainly don't need three counselors, just to have one for each grade. All we need is a boy's counselor and a girl's counselor.

We could do with one less janitor. And if this means more work for the remaining janitors, we would gladly help out after school. Also, the language and art teachers are rather unnecessary. Which is more important? Art or math? Science or Spanish? Seniority or the importance of the job?

It's certainly not fair to take a job away from a younger person who is just starting out in life, whereas an older, more experienced person could get a job much easier.
Also, a younger person tends to be better at the job. Let's keep our good teachers who are new this year.

What's In Initials?

EDITOR:
There has recently been a news article about a group called P.T.A. (People Taking Action Against Abortion). The article stated that "the group is not a membership organization, but an alliance of persons."

We would agree, they are not a membership organization such as is the PTA. PTA is the initials of the Parent-Teacher Association. The National PTA was founded in 1897. Its work is carried on by approximately 40,000 local PTA units who have over nine million members in the United States.

Again, the PTA is the initials for Parent-Teacher Association, whereas P.T.A. is the initials for People Taking Action Against Abortion. Come to think of it, shouldn't this alliance of persons have the initials P.T.A.A.A.?

Humans Have Right To Life

EDITOR:
Again arises another issue for which I have strong feelings. The issue is the right to murder, popularly called "abortion." There are those who say that public officials cannot and should not impose moral restrictions on the public, only legal restrictions. Killing to them is illegal only if the human being is outside the mother's womb.

If a human dresses to survive the elements, I have not the right to take his life. A human still has to wear special equipment to exist in outer space and I have not the right to kill him.

A human has the legal right to life even though he may have to live in an iron lung. Should a human be considered less than living because he does it inside another human?

If I take away the clothing and the elements cause the death of a human, am I not a killer? If I take away the astronaut's suit in outer space, do I not murder him?

If I take a human from the iron lung knowing he cannot survive, am I not a murderer? If these actions are considered illegal, how can I justify taking a human prematurely from within his mother, who represents his clothing against the elements, who represents his space suit until he is prepared to exist in a new environment, and who represents his source of air until he is able to supply his own?

Am I less than a murderer for taking away this human's source of protection just because he lives within a capsule of flesh rather than one of steel? Does a public official or anyone have the right to legalize killing a human because that human lives in a particular type of space capsule?

Kinsolving Vs. The Witnesses

EDITOR:
I am writing in regard to an article that appeared under the heading "Religion Update," written by a Rev. Lester Kinsolving, in the April 11 issue of your newspaper. In a world already overburdened by hate, if Mr. Kinsolving's aim was to add to it—he was successful. If, on the other hand, he was acting in the role he assumes—a Christian minister—I must say I feel he was and is a dismal failure.

For instance, the basic principle of Christ's teaching is love for your fellow man. Certainly this is not accomplished by sarcasm and ridicule as used by Mr. Kinsolving.

Perhaps if Mr. Kinsolving closely examined the words of Jesus as contained in the Holy Bible, he would come to the conclusion that He, too, was a "calamity howler." Certainly it can't be wrong to warn if there is danger, or to build up and give hope.

I feel that Mr. Kinsolving has maligned those who truly fulfill Christ's teachings, Jehovah's Christian Witnesses.

As has been said before, "Christianity hasn't failed, it's just never been tried." Perhaps Mr. Kinsolving will try again.

'Young Person' Praises Youth

EDITOR:
As almost everyone probably knows, the week of April 18-24 was Earth Week. It was so wonderful to see so many young people take part in the activities which were sponsored by different schools and organizations.

Students cleaned up different roads and around their schools. Some schools collected bottles, newspapers, and tin cans for recycling and have started clubs to help stop pollution. Remember, you're the solution to all the pollution.

I think the young people today are really aware of our problems and are trying hard to solve them. I think that if young people keep up what they are doing right now, they will have our problems well on the way to being solved.

F'ton Board Is The Best

EDITOR:
We wish to commend the staff and program at Gill Elementary School, Farmington, for giving our children what we believe to be as fine an education as they could receive anywhere. We are especially pleased with the teachers and their excellent principal Frank Kasun. Naturally, then, we are pleased with the school board which has provided them.

Therefore, you can understand our angry reaction to the threatened recall of board members we have learned to respect — Mr. Peters, Mr. Lichtman, Mr. Vagnozzi (and I am sure, if we knew more of him, Mr. Emmett as well). We also support the reelection of Mr. Washburn.

This incident has given us more reason to admire this board because of its demonstrated ability to perform in a manner it believes best for students, parents, and educational system of Farmington in the face of intimidation. For this we are most grateful.

The real issue before us as citizens and voters of this school district is the upcoming millage proposal which shall determine whether or not we are able to maintain the good system we have.

Do Away With Hidden Costs

EDITOR:
In comment to the article in the April 20 Observer on Dr. Katz' (Livonia school board member) petition drive for the renewal of the $5 millage: Buried at the end of the article was trustee Don Murch's remark, "However, if Dr. Katz is able to come up with 8,000 to 10,000 signatures, then I'll be convinced that we can go after the renewal in a second vote and perhaps add something else."

This "something else" is what the taxpayers are scared of. There is always something else, such as the amphitheater, the northern Michigan resort property, etc.

My reason for voting against the vocational school was the question of additional bussing involved. This expense was mentioned but very well hidden.

If the school board would do away with "something else," they might be able to convince middle-aged people like myself, who have educated their children in the parochial school system and still paid public school taxes, to support and vote for the millage necessary for basic education today.

In view of the parochial school closing for lack of funds, I can see the necessity for additional financing in the present and future. My support of this additional funding will be withheld as long as there is "something else."

Cuts Fiscal, Not Racial

EDITOR:
I would like to comment on the letter written by Ruth Mochman of Farmington, in which she states that "...the school board has given notice to about 70 of our teachers that they will not be rehired next year. Then, under the minority understanding program, the board plans to hire black teachers. In other words, the 70 teachers will be replaced by blacks."

I feel this untrue statement should be corrected. The basis for the notification of the teachers was due to the financial status of the Farmington School District, the notification coming about at a specific time to meet the requirements of time required by the state tenure law and the teachers contract.

If the financial condition of the district improves, these same teachers will be given the opportunity of returning to their positions, if they so desire, regardless of whether they are white, red, yellow, black or brown.

The situation has nothing to do with the Minority Understanding Program.

Stempien Asks To Join Schoolcraft Trustee Case

The Schoolcraft College reapportionment issue will be argued in a legislative hearing Thursday and in Wayne Circuit Court Friday.

These were the latest developments:

• The Senate Education Committee has scheduled a public hearing in Lansing Thursday at 9:30 a.m. in a bill to elect community college trustees at-large.

• State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) will go to court Friday to intervene as a plaintiff in the Schoolcraft case and to try to have the board removed from office — a request that would block the board from supporting at-large trustee elections.

Stempien, author of a bill to elect trustees from single-member districts, is scheduled to appear before Circuit Judge Roland Olzak at 2 p.m.

Stempien said he is asking to intervene because his interests as a resident and taxpayer are not being represented by the current board.

CHARGING that the board is illegally constituted, Stempien asked that the court remove the board and appoint a receiver until "a legally selected new board of trustees is qualified for office."

Stempien's motion would have the effect of preventing the Schoolcraft trustees from presenting the at-large election plan they approved last week.

Stempien, on the other hand, wants to split the college district into seven sub-districts of equal population, a plan vigorously opposed by college leaders.

The board had been ordered by Judge Olzak to submit a plan to the court by June 1 which would provide a trustee election method in keeping with the "one-man, one-vote" concept. Currently three trustees are elected at-large and five are elected from the five K-12 school districts composing the college districts.

The method is considered unconstitutional now because the school districts are of unequal populations.

THE SCHOOLCRAFT board approved an at-large election plan because of the difficulty of drawing up equal population districts before June 1 when census information on the school districts is not immediately available.

A bill was introduced in the State Senate by Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and co-sponsored by Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) that would provide for an at-large election.

Pursell's bill will be discussed Thursday by the Senate Education Committee, whose chairman is Sen. Gilbert Bursley (R-Ann Arbor). Co-sponsor Faust is a member of that committee.

Stempien filed his court motion only a day after a House committee held a hearing on his sub-district bill but failed to report it to the House floor. But Rep. Daisy Elliott (D-Detroit) said she expected her House Colleges and Universities Committee to report it out this week.

"Just how the board of trustees is elected is of vital concern not only to myself but to all residents and taxpayers in the Schoolcraft District because they levy and spend tax dollars," Stempien said.

"In my case, I feel that my interests are not being represented by the existing parties in the case pending in Circuit Court. For this reason, I am asking the court to add me as a plaintiff in the case."

THE ORIGINAL plaintiffs are Chairman Neil de Stigter and the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia who filed the suit to force reapportionment of the district.

"We're grateful for anything Mr. Stempien might do to get a democratically elected and representative board," de Stigter said. "It is delightful that so many who have known about this for so long have suddenly taken an interest."

He added that "The merits of his position have to be investigated."

Stempien's bill is also supported by Aldo Vagnozzi, chairman of the 19th Congressional District Democratic Committee and a member of the Board of Education in Farmington.

Vagnozzi said that Oakland Community College district would gain from district trustee elections because campaign expenses would be cut, allowing candidates from minority groups or those with lower campaign funds to run.

OCC's college district is much more complex than Schoolcraft's because its three campuses take in rural areas as well as the City of Farmington and higher income areas such as Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills.

SEN. PURSELL'S bill also has support from the State Board of Education and a subordinate board on community colleges.

Pursell stressed his bill is a bi-partisan effort and he expects a companion bill to be introduced in the House.

Referring to Stempien's court motion, Pursell said, "It is difficult to fully understand an attorney's approach to argue on the one hand that it is purely a legislative matter and then to turn around again on the other hand and go into court to resolve the matter."

"Two previous court decisions (Judge Olzak's action and the U.S. Supreme Court action) indicate to me very clearly the present board can serve legally and the Legislature can enact appropriate laws to reconstruct a new policy to conform to the 'one-man, one-vote' principle."

Schoolcraft Names Its Library For Dr. Bradner

Tributes to Dr. Eric J. Bradner, retiring president of Schoolcraft College, are growing and include a recent board decision to name the college's library after him.

The current and future library buildings will be named the "Eric J. Bradner Library" and an "Eric J. Bradner Scholarship Fund" was established in his honor.

The college's trustees allocated an initial $1,000 for the scholarship fund which will be perpetuated on an annual basis.

presented a number of tributes.

Resolutions from the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives, Sens. Philip Hart and Robert Griffin, Gov. William Milliken, and representatives of the teaching profession will be given.

DR. BRADNER has been with Schoolcraft College since its inception 10 years ago.

He will officially leave the presidency on June 30, though he announced to the board of trustees that he will take his earned vacation beginning May 24.

Incoming president C. Nelson Grote will be on campus working with Dr. Bradner between May 11 and 23 and will assume office May 24.

2 SC Arab Programs Set

Two events on campus have been announced by the Schoolcraft College Organization of Arab Students.

On May 6 the group will present the film "Battle of Algiers" in the Liberal Arts Theater. Admission to the 1 and 8 p.m. showings is 50 cents.

On May 11, Abdeen Jabara, one of the attorneys for Sirhan B. Sirhan, will speak in the Liberal Arts Theater at 1 p.m. The announced topic of his lecture is, "Palestine, Zionism and Imperialism."

Draugelis' Resignation Accepted

The resignation of Schoolcraft College attorney Edward Draugelis was accepted "with regret" by the Board of Trustees last week.

Draugelis resigned for "personal reasons" and said he will continue to advise the board on the apportionment issue.

The board voted to retain the law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone of Detroit beginning June 1 until a permanent general counsel is appointed by the new board which is expected to be elected on Sept. 13.

Some Tickets Still Left For Paulsen

Tickets are still on sale for comedian Pat Paulsen's appearance at 8:45 p.m. Saturday in the Schoolcraft College gymnasium.

The tickets are $4 and are available through the Student Activities Office, the Village Green in Wonderland Shopping Center, and Grinnell's at the Livonia Mall Shopping Center.

Paulsen ran a satirical campaign for the presidency in 1968 and it is rumored he is planning a serious campaign in the next election.

Order Has New Leader

By MARGARET MILLER

A new day is beginning for the nuns who live in the peaceful halls of the Felician sisters' Motherhouse in Livonia.

And, fittingly, at the helm of the work there is a capable lady already well-known to residents of Observerland and well-proved in her administrative abilities.

Up to last week she was known as Sister Mary Columbine, executive director of St. Mary Hospital from its inception present status in serving the community.

Now she's Mother Mary Columbine, provincial superior of the Felicians Detroit province.

AND HER administration is bound to be different from any previous one in the more than 100 years of the order's history because, for the first time, the provincial superior and her administrative staff were elected by democratic vote by some 700 sisters in the province.

Mother Columbine was installed in a cloistered ceremony Friday in the Motherhouse on Schoolcraft by Mother Mary Virginette, who directs from Rome the activities of some 4,500 Felician nuns in several nations.

Mother Mary Virginette, who this year marked her own golden jubilee as a Felician, came from Rome to conduct the fourth installation in her two years in office as superior general.

With her was Mother Mary Aniela of Cracow, Poland, who, as a member of the Episcopal Committee of the vicar of Poland, works closely with Cardinal Wyszyński. Two General councilors from Rome, Sister Mary Mercèdia and Sister Mary Siena, also were here for the ceremony.

MOTHER COLUMBINE and Mother Mary Virginette talked about the innovative election in which the new provincial superior needed an absolute majority and received it on the first ballot.

"It was in some ways a painful experience for the order," Mother Columbine said. "It involved decision making, and decisions can be painful."

Added Mother Virginette: "Some nuns have said, 'Never again.' But though there will be some modification, the democratic process will stay." Up to now provincial generals have been appointed by the Superior General.

THE ELECTION of Mother Columbine was known to the Felicians several weeks ago, but the news was not made public until members of her staff were elected by a similar democratic vote.

They were installed with her—Sister Mary Andreeta, Sister Mary Serra, Sister Mary Carmeline, Sister Mary Emelita and Sister Mary Avila.

Felician sisters earlier had chosen the plan by which the democratic vote would be taken.

MOTHER COLUMBINE who succeeds Mother Mary Angelica in her new post, is elected to serve for six years and then could be re-elected to the high office.

A retiring mother provincial chooses the assignment she wishes for one year after her retirement and then can be assigned anywhere in the order

MOTHER MARY VIRGINETTE, superior general of the Felician Sisters who came from Rome for an installation in Livonia last Friday, is surrounded here by the new administrative staff of the Detroit Province. Directly behind her is Mother Mary Columbine, former executive director of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia and newly installed in the top post in the Detroit province. The others (from left) are Sister Mary Carmeline, Sister Mary Emelita, Sister Mary Avila, Sister Mary Serra and Sister Mary Andreeta. (Observer photos by Bob Woodring)

The new mother provincial is a native of the Detroit area and came to Livonia 15 years ago to direct the development of the hospital that was coming into being.

Under her guidance, the hospital has grown to a major institution serving all sections of the community, and it has worked closely with both Madonna College, a Felician-run institution, and Schoolcraft Community College in helping train young people in nursing and X-ray technology.

Those close to Mother

Columbine were sure she would miss the busy hospital routine and be sorely missed in its operation.

"But the election has taken place and the new call is here," one said. "She will want to serve in the way that has been opened for her."

New Home In Sight

YW Granted $500,000

A new family center building for the YWCA of Western Wayne County is on its way to reality.

Approval of a $500,000 grant from the United Foundation, announced last week at the annual luncheon for Western YWCA presidents, means that plans can go forward on a new center.

The new building, to be located on property already purchased at 26279 to 26287 Michigan Avenue, in Inkster, will replace quarters the YWCA has occupied since 1949 at 1034 Monroe Boulevard.

Dearborn. That building originally was a telephone exchange.

The Western Wayne County YWCA serves several communities, including Livonia, Garden City and Westland.

MRS. CORINNE Vincent, executive program director for the YWCA, said an architect will be picked for the new building this week and it is hoped that the center will be ready for use by next spring.

A building plan drawn up earlier was described by Mrs. Vincent as "monumental and impractical," so new plans will be made for a modest building, at least 10,000 square feet in size, and designed for multiple program use.

Mrs. Vincent said the YW has purchased the land and the $500,000 grant is expected to cover most of the building costs.

Donations and fund-raising drives in recent years have provided money that will be used for furnishings, she added.

Word on approval of the grant came from Jacques Cousin, executive vice president of the United Foundation. It is subject to final approval of plans and operation pattern by the United Community Service and the United foundation.

The announcement on the grant from Mrs. Vincent and the Western Wayne YWCA executive board stated that a new facility will make possible carrying out the organization's decentralized program "without the eternal difficulty of renting a facility large enough to house members."

"The YWCA of Western Wayne County can be justly proud of the unique social work agency into which it has developed in spite of physical facilities, rather than because of them," the statement added.

"Under the guidance and forward thinking of Barbara Locke, executive director for 23 years and now retired, the dream of blending racial and class difference into a showcase of good human relations have become a reality."

"It stands as an excellent example to suburbanites of what their United Foundation dollars can do at home, not just in the inner city."

m. m. memos

"Do you have a license to operate a playground?" once asked a friend who sometimes drives past our home on spring and summer evenings.

It was a reasonable question. Because when the weather begins to get warm, it's not at all unusual to find a dozen or more young neighbors dashing about on the wide front lawn.

They seem to get rounded up by families, so the ages are well assorted, and it's always a big moment among the younger ones when the more sophisticated junior high element decides to join in for an evening.

The games include "hide and seek" and "Rec Rover," proving that childhood play doesn't change much from generation to generation, and they've also added some I don't remember like "Bloody Murder."

The grass never seems to suffer. I won't say the same of young tempers, but those who leave or come inside in a huff always turn up again for another game.

It was last summer, when our oldest and several high school friends were chatting in our back yard, that one of the young men observed that the yard looked big, "but there isn't room for a baseball game."

"That's right." No. 1 daughter told him, "but we sure had some great Red Rover out in front." I hope they all remember them as fondly.

—Margaret Miller

NO BUILDING YET, but members of the Western Wayne County YWCA can't wait to enjoy a cup of tea on the site for their new quarters. Pleased because funds for the new building have been approved are Mrs. Joseph Patterson, left, Westland resident and secretary of the executive board, and Mrs. Glen Foss and Mrs. Richard Martini of Dearborn.

School Of Nursing Gets $95,000

A grant totaling $94,339 has been awarded to Mercy College of Detroit for the improvement of on campus teaching facilities for nursing.

The funds are provided under the Bureau of Health Manpower Education to enable nursing programs to expand and improve their curriculum and teaching facilities.

The grant will extend over a three-year period and is funded for $56,000 in the first year.

This will provide the base for renovation and alteration of classrooms and laboratories and the beginning use of self-instructional approaches to teaching. A project director will work with faculty and students to aid in the effective use of materials.

Current enrollment in Mercy's nursing program consists of 200 sophomores, juniors and seniors. This represents a 60 per cent increase within the last eight years. The new grant will allow for some additional students as well as improvement of present teaching facilities.

Wine Can Add Sparkle To Life, Says Speaker

By MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

When you listen to Walter Rosenberg, you're convinced that some of the best things of life come out of a wine bottle.

"I've had a lovely life," the owner of The Wine Store in Detroit's New Center area told women who attended the final 1970-71 Northville Town Hall lecture, "and I attribute a great deal of it to wine."

Rosenberg maintained that wine — "my kind of wine, the natural fermented juice of choice grapes with no additive" — is the spice of life because:

It is "a delightful way to health."

Wine is "the greatest natural tranquilizer without any side effects."

With wine, you can "set a scene, woo your man."

Served at a social gathering, wine produces a pleasant atmosphere because "some will sip and some will quaff, but everyone will be relaxed."

Wine enhances foods, both when served with a meal and used for cooking.

Wine even is low-calorie — 45 to 50 calories in a three-ounce serving of dry wine, compared to 250 in a martini.

"I'M ANTI-LIQUOR," Rosenberg told the women. "I don't believe in it and I don't use it."

"It's a depressant. And incidentally, you don't become a wino from drinking wine. A wino is an alcoholic who can't afford liquor."

When entertaining, Rosenberg said, he likes to serve three wines — one as an aperitif, or before-dinner drink; one with the dinner, and another with the dessert.

He brushed aside the argument that some liquor-preferring guests might object to being offered only wine.

"It's up to the host to decide," he insisted. "People who come to my house accept what I serve. And they find they like it."

MOST PEOPLE, including most restaurant managers don't serve the proper wines at the right times, Rosenberg said, "but there are no hard and fast rules, just general principles."

"You use wine to complement the meal," he explained. "So the aperitif should be dry to whet the appetite, and a dry wine, such as rose or Rhine, should be served with the meal. Save the sweet wines for the dessert course, perhaps a sauterne with fruit or ice cream or a marsala with a heavier dessert."

An extremely important consideration in serving wine is the type of glass used, Rosenberg said.

He made plain his disdain for tiny cordial glasses and "unsanitary" hollow-stemmed glasses.

"A wine glass should hold at least 8½ ounces," he said, "and it should be tulip shaped — wider at the base than at the opening."

Then, said Rosenberg, you pour it only a third full and "you can appreciate the bouquet that is half the pleasure of drinking wine."

THE SPEAKER said anyone who knows how to cook can cook with wine, and recommended especially using a bit of leftover wine to marinate meat by them together in foil.

He also shared his two favorite punch recipes.

One, a champagne punch, requires a fifth of champagne, a bottle of dry white wine, a quart of soda, half a cup of triple-sec and a half-cup of brandy. Chill everything thoroughly, Rosenberg said, and it will serve 12 to 15 guests twice around.

He also suggested Sangria, or Spanish fruit wine punch. It's made by marinating a sliced orange and a sliced lime in a half-cup of simple syrup (made with two parts water to one part sugar, heated) and adding a fifth of dry red wine.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Schueneman of Benton Harbor.

The Rev. Edward Brown and the Rev. Larry Spitzley officiated for the double-ring afternoon ceremony, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

RE-EMBROIDERED French alencon lace fashioned the bodice of the bride's gown. The puffed sleeves and full skirt were of sheer polyester. A matching lace cap held the bride's fingertip veil, and she carried white carnations, roses, statice, baby's breath and pink stephanotis.

Arlayne Olson, as her sister's only attendant, wore an orchid gown with satin bodice and chiffon skirt and carried a spring bouquet with lavender carnations, yellow daffodils, blue cornflowers, pink roses and white stephanotis.

The bridegroom's brother, William Schueneman, was best man, and the ushers were two other brothers, James and Joseph Schueneman and Louis Diaz of Guatemala.

Mrs. Olson chose a silk and wool dress in a celery shade, and Mrs. Schueneman wore an orange sheath dress topped by an orange and grey knit coat.

THE COUPLE greeted 140 guests in a reception in the bride's home before leaving on a honeymoon trip to Jekyll Island, Ga.

Women of Wayne State University Alumni Association is again offering incentive scholarships for part-time study to women between the ages of 25 and 55 enrolled at WSU on a part-time basis during the 1971-72 school year.

Applications may be obtained from Women of Wayne's national headquarters at Alumni House, 441 W. Ferry, on the Wayne State campus, for return by May 15.

Incentive Scholarships were first offered by Women of Wayne in 1967 to meet the needs of women who could not attend the University on a full-time basis due to home or job responsibilities. It was one of the first scholarship programs in the country for part-time students, and is still the only scholarship fund for part-time students at Wayne.

IN THE FIRST four years of the program, the alumnae group has provided scholarship information to over 500 women, reviewed over 200 requests for help, and awarded 42 scholarship grants. Since 1968, it has also sponsored an annual advising session for women interested in entering or re-entering Wayne State University.

Observer area women awarded scholarships during the 1970-71 year include Mrs. Marian Kukahn of Livonia and Mrs. Judith Liebhardt of Farmington.

In the fall of 1969, the organization established a child care center at 920 Putnam on the WSU campus. The center, which is now accepting enrollment for the spring quarter, provides supervised activities for pre-school children while their parents attend class.

Women of Wayne also maintains a loan fund which provides emergency assistance for women attending Wayne as full-time students.

For these programs and others the alumnae group was honored last fall with the national service award of the American Alumni Council.

The award is given annually to one of the council's 1700 member organizations for "outstanding service to an institution and to the cause of education."

Resident Still In Top UF Post

Mrs. Russell D. Smith of Farmington, a United Foundation volunteer for more than 20 years, has been renamed to the top Torch Drive post for women.

She will serve as tri-county chairman of residential campaigns in the 23rd annual UF drive this fall.

Mrs. Smith was reappointed to the leadership position she held last year by the 1971 Torch Drive General Chairman Gilbert F. Richards.

MRS. SMITH again will be responsible for enrolling, training and organizing 4,000 chairmen and 50,000 doorbell ringers to call at every Wayne-Oakland-Macomb home during the UF campaign.

She met with 25 of her key volunteers for luncheon last week.

Providing every homemaker with a report on where Torch Drive dollars go and where help may be obtained when needed will be the primary emphasis of residential chairmen and their volunteers this year, Mrs. Smith said.

"We must pay a personal visit to every household to deliver this information," she continued.

"And if we succeed in this mission, we are certain to provide giving opportunities for all who are not approached where they work," Mrs. Smith added.

These, she said, include retirees, homemakers who wish to make a personal contribution and the self-employed.

IN ADDITION to working for the UF, Mrs. Smith is active in a wide range of religious and civic groups.

As tri-county residential chairman last year, she reported collections totaling $875,128 or 101.9 percent of quota at the Torch Drive Victory Dinner.

She served as west unit residential chairman in the 1969 UF campaign after many years as doorbell ringer, area and division chairman.

Mrs. Smith is a UF vice president, a director of Women for the United Foundation (WUF), consultant to the organization services commission of the Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women and a former deanery president.

She is a board member of the Metropolitan YWCA, the Michigan League for Human Services and Agnelus Hall, all Torch Drive agencies.

In addition, Mrs. Smith is program chairman for the Women's Division, Detroit Round Table of Catholics, Protestants and Jews, and a former vice president of the National Council of Catholic Women.

She also is active in Sigma Alpha, philanthropic sorority working on behalf of retarded children.

Parents' Series Begins June 1

The Lamaze Childbirth Preparation Association will begin another series of six classes for expectant parents beginning June 1 in Plymouth.

Those interested are asked to call Mrs. Alan Woodworth, 171 Blunk Street, Plymouth.

The classes prepare both parents for the birth of their child, through a film of birth, class lectures, and Lamaze exercises.

'Sex Dilemma' To Be Topic Of PWP Meet

The Rev. William Lovick will discuss "Dilemma About Sex" at a meeting of the Wayne-Westland Chapter 340, Parents Without Partners, Inc., in Karras House, formerly Gourmet House, 2345 Venoy, Wayne.

The meeting will be held May 10, at 8:30 p.m.

Rev. Lovick is associate minister of Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church.

The Ann Arbor and Wayne-Westland chapters will host the regional council meeting Saturday, May 8, in Garrison House, Cherryhill and Venoy Roads, Westland. Meetings will begin at 12 noon. There will be a dance at 9. Guests are welcome.

New Son

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Wrobbel, formerly of Garden City and now living in Simi, Calif., announce the birth of a son, Jonathon Jeffrey. The baby's grandparents are Mrs. Ruby Rivers and Mrs. and Mrs. Harvey Wrobbel, all of Westland.

A Quick Medical Record

Computer Aids Pre-Birth Care

By W.W. EDGAR

A new approach to prenatal care for those expectant mothers who otherwise never seek a doctor's attention prior to the birth is being undertaken by the Wayne County Health Dept.

The mother can visit a specially constructed trailer in her own neighborhood and feed all of her medical background into a telephone hooked up with a computer in the Fisher Building in Detroit. Once fed into the computer, the entire record is translated into type and placed on the files in Wayne County General Hospital.

"THIS INFORMATION also will be available to the doctors in other hospitals,"

Robert E. Krinock, head of the office of program development for Wayne County, announced.

"Like other programs," he said, "we need funding. I am now working with the new program being set up in Washington and am hopeful of obtaining the $60,000 needed to set up the machinery and operate it for the first year."

Krinock explained that the new plan is being worked out with the National Foundation-March of Dimes that has been concentrating its attention on birth defects for the past six years.

"The March of Dimes has the names of the expectant mothers. What we plan to do is equip a trailer with the screen and telephone and send it around to the various neighborhoods."

The expectant mother, who otherwise wouldn't get the doctor's attention during her pregnancy, will be invited in to answer the medical questions.

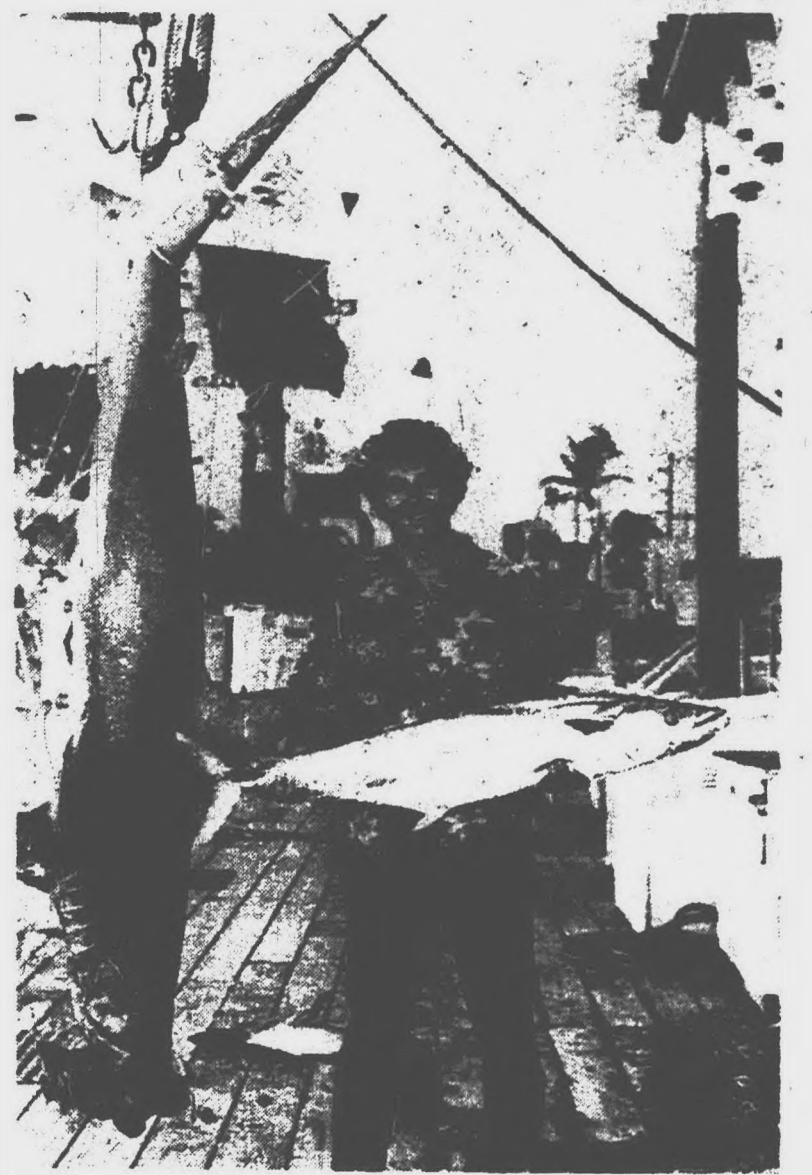

These questions will be flashed on the screen. Her answers will be given over the telephone, direct to the recording computer in the Fisher Building.

ON THE BASIS of these records, the expectant mothers then will be advised on their need for immediate medical attention or some other plan for regular visits to the hospital.

"This is something new," Krinock emphasized, "but the plan has a great deal of merit. It will relieve or prevent a lot of trouble during the prenatal period."

He said that he already has one trailer available, and has his eye out for another.

"All we need now is the $60,000," he said, "and I am confident we can get it."

JOHN URBANI of 15015 Knolson, Livonia, caught a 195-pound shark and a 26-pound kingfish and received a citation in the metropolitan Miami fishing tournament. He was fishing out of Miami Beach with Capt. Doc Feldman as guide.

Savings Rise In Michigan

Net deposits made into Michigan's 31 state-chartered savings and loan associations hit an all-time high during 1970, the financial institutions bureau of the Michigan Department of Commerce (MDC) reported.

The trend continued during January of 1971.

Local Revenue Sharing To Be Forum Subject

To clarify the proposed local revenue sharing plan, Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) is sponsoring a forum for municipal leaders in western Oakland County.

The forum will be held from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. Friday, May 21, at Haven Hill Lodge in Highland Recreation Area south of M-59. Officials must notify Pursell if they will attend by May 11.

Representatives from Gov. Milliken's office and from the Michigan Legislative Fiscal Agency will explain the plan. Roundtable discussions will follow, and Pursell will be available to answer questions and discuss local problems.

A spaghetti supper was featured when Cub Scouts of Pack 234 of Clarenceville's Edgewood Elementary School held their annual blue and gold banquet.

Cubs held a Pinewood Derby for which entrants designed and made their own cars. First place winner for showmanship was Jeff Devitt with second place going to Bob McGregor. First prize winner for the fastest car was Daryl Wilder; Tim Reed, second; and Ron Palmer, third.

Class Learns Shorthand On The Job

The advanced shorthand class of Mrs. Carolyn Collins at Clarenceville High School recently participated in an "on-the-job" one-day project.

Students and sponsors included Sue Donnelly and Kay Howe, employed for a day at Metropolitan Airport; Debbie Wilson and Judy Roberts, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.; Joan Ankiel and Nancy Armstrong, Consumers Power Co. Jean Griffin, who was employed by Dr. Samuel J. Priak Detroit; Terrie Brendle Grand Trunk Western Railway; and Debbie Lambert, employed by Dr. J. D. ZeBranek of Garden City.

How This Suburban City Plans To Battle Pollution

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article, reprinted from The Westland Observer, may provide a guideline for other *Observer*land suburbs on how city government can help to save the only earth we have.

WESTLAND
Declaring that governments should stop complaining about the decay of the environment and start doing something about the problem, Mayor Eugene McKinney of Westland proposed a comprehensive environmental quality program for the community.

The program, McKinney said, would involve a lot of citizens' cooperation and involvement. It includes a number of activities which the city government would direct.

"It is no longer good enough for us to all sit back and decry the decay of our environment," the mayor said. "I am convinced the problem is so grave that governments of all levels must get involved in solutions."

THE PROGRAM. announced at the mayor's weekly press conference Friday, is the result of a detailed study made by Jeff Muzzy, assistant city planner and environmental quality coordinator. Muzzy was directed by McKinney last winter to develop an environmental quality program for the city government to follow.

Highlights of the program include:

- Adoption of a city ordinance banning the sale of throw-away bottles.
- Adoption of a new ordinance, patterned after a new Detroit ordinance, which prohibits the sale of detergents containing more than 8.7 per cent of phosphorus.
- Establishment of a glass recycling program on a pilot basis to determine the cost feasibility.
- Establishment of an "environmental arboretum" at the Westland civic center as an education program for children "and a permanent reminder of the city's concern for environmental quality."
- Start an annual seedling program involving all Westland youngsters in a specific grade level each year.
- This first program, proposed in the mayor's budget for the 1971-72 fiscal year which starts July 1, calls for every fourth-grader in the city to get a seedling to plant.
- Broadening the responsibilities of the city beautification commission to include environmental programs to assist Muzzy.
- Prepare an information rack with pamphlets on pollution and environmental control. The rack would be in the city hall lobby.

THE ARBORETUM was started two weeks ago with local Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts planting trees in the civic center. A master plan calls for about 53 varieties of 11 species has been developed by Muzzy.

The two ordinances controlling the sale of non-returnable bottles and phosphates will be sent to the city council in the next few weeks, McKinney said.

The glass recycling program, the mayor said, it is the first proposed by a city in the metropolitan Detroit area.

"Certain neighborhoods will be selected, information pamphlets distributed to residents explaining how glass should be separated (from the other rubbish collection). A city truck will collect the glass at regular intervals," the mayor said.

"Data, including cost-savings by not putting the glass through the incinerations (which the city supports through local property taxes), will be gathered and reviewed throughout the project."

THE MAYOR also said that "while these programs are inexpensive and perhaps undramatic, they represent an important first step in demonstrating the city's concern for our environment."

He said that Westland will be one of the few suburban communities undertaking programs of this scope.

"Their success will depend in the enthusiasm generated among citizens," he pointed out.

He also stressed that the local government has the "obligation to lead and assist, but all programs must have a broad support from citizens if they are to succeed."

MUZZY, questioned on the recycling aspect of the anti-pollution program, hoped that the city "can recycle everything" in the future.

"We can't do everything at once, but we must start somewhere," he added.

Muzzy also commented that 50-60 per cent of used glass is now recycled for new uses.

McKinney, in detailing the arboretum, said that the civic center location would be used for local schools' field trips.

Trees planted would be marked with the name of the tree and the name of the student donating it.

McKinney also invited local organizations to donate trees to the civic center arboretum.

Michigan Adds 5 Historic Sites

Michigan recently gained five new listings on the National Register of Historic Places.

The state's latest additions to that select list, as designated by the National Park Service, include the Wycamp Creek Site north of Cross Village in Emmet County, the Christ Church in Detroit, Old Fort Brady at Sault Ste. Marie, the Mariners' Church at Detroit, and the Heritage Hill Historic District at Grand Rapids.

With their selection, Michigan now holds claim to 44 such enrollments on the National Register of Historic Places. All of these sites drew special status under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 because of their distinct values from an architectural, historical, or archeological standpoint.

THE WYCOMP Creek Site near Lake Michigan was singled out for its extensive pottery and stone artifacts, circa 600 A.D. to 1700 A.D., which have been uncovered there. Archaeologists have been able to piece together many aspects of early weapon-tool manufacture from the large array of stone-working material and artifacts which they have found at this site.

The Christ Church in Detroit, a Victorian gothic structure built in the shape of a Latin cross and dating back to 1848, is the oldest Protestant Church in the city which is still located at its original site.

Old Fort Brady at the Soo, with its barracks, stables, officers' quarters, and other structures, was built in 1822 as one in a series of advance posts to serve the American government's national defense plan after the War of 1812.

The Mariners' Church in Detroit, a two-story gothic revival building, was constructed in 1848-49 to serve as a free house of worship for seamen. Still used as a church today, the structure features ship parts, a captain's stand, and other nautical decor originally designed, no doubt, to make its early seagoing worshippers feel "at home."

The Heritage Hill Historic District, a 37-block area overlooking the site of the first trading posts and missions at the rapids of the Grand River, is described as representing a cross-section of Grand Rapids at the turn of the century.

It doesn't take much to make Wrigley happy. We're happy because we've added over 200,000 new customers since drastically reducing our prices last September. 'Old Enough To Fight, Old Enough To Vote?'

BULLETIN

The State House of Representatives Tuesday gave 73-30 approval to the "age of majority" package bill, including an 18-year-old drinking age, and sent it to the Senate.

Observerland representatives split 4-3 in favor. Voting "yes" were John Bennett (D-Redford), Marvin Stempel (D-Livonia), Thomas Brown (D-Westland) and Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park).

Opposed were Richard Young (D-Dearborn Heights), James Tierney (D-Garden City) and Raymond Baker (R-Farmington).

By TIM RICHARD

Historically, pressure for the 18-year-old vote usually starts in wartime, and it's fed by the "bloody shirt" argument: "If they're old enough to die for their country, they're old enough to vote."

Does that argument really make sense? Are people today really maturing younger? And what is "maturity"?

Some scientific answers are provided by Gov. Milliken's Special Commission on the Age of Majority (1971) and by the British Committee on the Age of Majority (1967). Both recommended that 18 be the legal age for everything — not just voting but for business contracts, free marriage, drinking and making wills.

The British adopted their committee's recommendation, and the governor of Michigan has proposed his commission's ideas to the Legislature.

HERE'S WHAT the governor's commission had to say,

'Even those who prolong their education operate with a freedom unheard of 30 years ago.'

as written by a member, Dr. John Hagen of the University of Michigan psychology department:

"It is well known that mental age continues to grow throughout childhood, but reaches its maximum in early adolescence, ages 14 to 15. Beyond that age, mental age is relatively stable."

Swiss psychologist Jean Piaget... describes stages of intellectual growth which act as boundaries on the child's capacities. The highest stage, called 'logical operation,' is achieved by about age 13 in normal children, and beyond that time there are no qualitative differences between the adolescent and the adult's thinking processes.

"The major breakthrough at this stage of logical operations concerns the onset of the ability to distinguish the real from the possible. The adolescent can now consider a problem in terms of the possible relations which might be true and then go about testing which are indeed true."

Other testing shows the youngster of the same age of 'logical operations' can also make moral judgments. The commission report goes on:

"THE DEVELOPMENT of the ability to make certain political decisions has been studied by Prof. Joseph Adelson of the U. of M. Children from ages 11 through 18 have been studied via depth interviews to determine their political understanding."

"It was found that before the age of 13, the children were unable to reason from premise, to use hypothetical-deductive modes of analysis, or to consider the social consequences of political actions."

"By age 13, a marked shift has occurred. He has achieved these capacities at least some of the time but is still not able to display them consistently."

"By age 15, a real grasp of formal thought is displayed. The abstract can be dealt with easily, and any difficulties in judgment are due to lack of knowledge and experience rather than lack of reasoning ability."

"ONE COULD argue that just because youth have developed their capacities before the age of 18, it is quite another question whether their actual behavior demonstrates maturity."

Our Lawmakers Pass Up Cruise

While a large portion of the State Legislature ducked out for a brief trip to the Bahama Islands, Observerland senators and representatives remained at work.

An estimated one-quarter of the legislators (or 37 lawmakers) skipped two days of work to be the guest of the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce on a cruise to the Caribbean islands.

Though the chamber would not release the names of the legislators on the trip, Observerland's Sens. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), William Faust (D-Westland), and David Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights) were seen on the floor of the Senate for the Thursday session. Sen. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park) was reportedly in a committee meeting on Friday.

REPS. Marvin Stempel (D-Livonia) and Thomas Brown (D-Westland) were present for a committee meeting on the Schoolcraft College apportionment issue on Thursday.

Rep. Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park) was in town for his daughter's graduation from the University of Michigan. Reps. James Tierney (D-Garden City), John Bennett (D-Redford Township) and Raymond Baker (R-Farmington) were reportedly

"There seems to be more variability in level of emotional growth than in intellectual capacities. Emotional stability is present in some individuals at early adolescence, and others do not seem to reach it even at ages 25-30."

"Moreover, it must be recognized that life situations compel large numbers of youth to assume adult roles well before the age of 21. Thus, adult behavior is a necessity and can be quickly learned, at least in terms of the minimum requirements for carrying out responsibility. The fact that so many individuals under age 21 do so is evidence they have the basic intellectual and emotional requisites."

IN ARGUING for 18 as the age of legal majority, the Michigan commission relies heavily on the research of the British committee, which says, under the heading of "Are They Responsible?"

"The British Medical Assn. draws attention to the progressively earlier physical maturity apparent during the past 100 years and observes that the trend towards earlier physical maturing has been shown equally in boys and girls."

The BMA says "there is good evidence, however, that children who are physically advanced for their age score higher in mental tests than their contemporaries..."

"It is our view that there are no psychological reasons for placing the age of majority at 21 nor any psychological objection to lowering the age."

AND THE British committee later adds:

"Whether we like it or not, the young are marrying earlier; whether we like it or not, they are earning more; even if we should prefer to clap them in a cloister for a further three years, the fact remains that the vast majority are out in the world, running their own lives, fighting their own battles, choosing their own friends, and that even those who prolong their education operate with a freedom unheard of 30 years ago."

The British committee noted it had received only one piece of evidence advocating raising the age higher than 21. The entire text:

"Sir, re. Age of Majority. 21 is wrong. 50 is right. Verb.sap. Yours faithfully."

It was written from a London club, and the signature was indecipherable.

Phone Class Ends For Pregnant Girls

A telephone teaching system that has enabled some 80 students over the past four years to complete high school is a casualty of recent state legislation that prohibits classifying pregnant girls as special education students.

Legislation passed a year ago prohibits high schools from excluding girls because they are pregnant and permits local districts to set up separate programs for these students.

SINCE SEPTEMBER 1967, Oakland Schools has offered high school courses to students who will be absent from their schools longer than two months for physical reasons. A total of 267 students have been declared eligible for enrollment by physicians, who certify that the student is well enough for instruction, but should not attend school.

Of these 55 have had disabilities other than pregnancy. Among the non-pregnant are victims of automobile, skiing and swimming accidents, as well as young people with muscular dystrophy, heart malfunction and other chronic disorders.

Students from 26 of the 28 Oakland County districts have been enrolled in the program.
