City Charter Constitutionality Faces Candidate's Challenge

By FRED DELANO

Constitutionality of a Plymouth charter provision, which stipulates that only persons who have owned local property for at least two years may run for the City Commission, is about to be challenged for the second time in four years.

Mahlon D. Green, 44, a non-property owner who lives in an apartment at 555 Starkweather, is circulating nominating petitions in behalf of his candidacy for the commission and said this week he is prepared to begin court action to force inclusion of his name on the ballot.

Green is employed at the General Motors plant at Willow Run and also works parttime as a taxi driver for the Star Cab Co., which now serves Plymouth. He is a native of Walled Lake and once ran for a council seat in Wolverine Lake Village, only to lose by four votes.

Deadline for filing petitions in the commission race is Tuesday, June 15. Green has not indicated just when he will present his petitions to City Clerk Eugene Slider, but he does anticipate that Slider will reject them inasmuch as under the language of the charter there is no alternative. It then would become a court issue as to Green's right to be on the ballot.

THE WHOLE THING is reminiscent of the 1967 commission race when Rev. Peter Schweitzer took the city to court over the same issue.

At the time Schweitzer was not a property owner -- although he is now -- and after Slider refused his petitions, it became a case which went to the Michigan Supreme Court before there was a decision in the city's favor.

Meanwhile, Circuit Judge Victor J. Baum provided Schweitzer a temporary victory by ordering his name on the 1967 ballot, after which the candidate led the voting.

Baum's ruling called the charter requirement of property ownership as a prerequisite for public office "an undemocratic relic of a bygone age." He said he could not put the stamp of judicial approval upon the "plutocratic concept of government of the people by the propertied."

IN 1969, after Schweitzer had resigned from the commission for reasons that had nothing to do with the court case, the Supreme Court overturned Baum's decision on a split 4-2 vote.

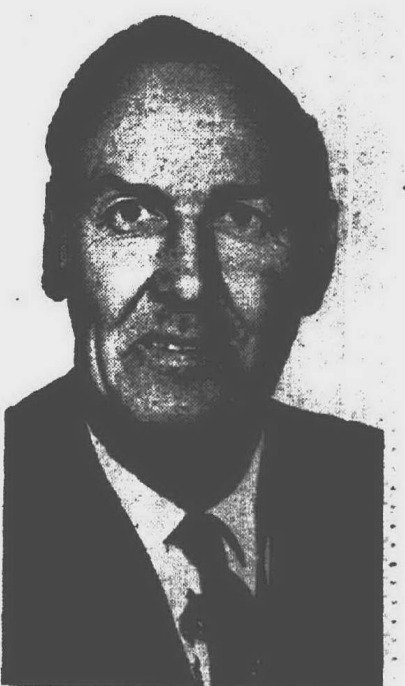

The voters, too, reaffirmed their stand in favor of the restriction when the opinion of the electorate was asked in the 1969 municipal election, but even this has not set to rest the judicial debate over the question of constitutionality.

A similar case arose in Inkster in 1970, and in that one Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman ruled that Inkster's property ownership charter clause violates equal protection provisions of the 14th Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.

Even more recently, legal decisions have caused discard of the long-standing provision that board of education candidates must be property owners.

Now it would appear that the specific issue of whether the City of Plymouth can insist on ownership of property for commission eligibility has reopened the entire discussion for a new court battle, possibly one that can settle the question once and for all.

Acclaim Heroism Of City Fireman

Lt. Paul Sanders, a 16-year veteran of the City of Plymouth fire department, has been credited by Chief George Schoenneman with saving the life of a local housewife in a pre-dawn house fire early Sunday.

Mrs. William A. Rossow, of 675 Pacific, "in another few seconds would have gone the way of the dogs had it not been for Paul," said Schoenneman Monday, referring to the fact that three puppies owned by Mr. and Mrs. Rossow were asphyxiated in the same room in which she was trapped.

Despite the heat and heavy smoke, Sanders crawled on his hands and knees to the bedroom where Mrs. Rossow lay on the floor and dragged her to safety, gaining direction from her cries for help.

"IT WAS a damn good job," said Schoenneman. "It may all be in the line of duty, but it shows the willingness of a fireman to risk his own life for others."

Mr. and Mrs. Rossow were asleep when fire broke out shortly before 4 a.m. Sunday, and upon awakening the husband raced to neighbors for aid.

They, too, sought to rescue Mrs. Rossow, but even though the fire was confined to the bedroom the entire house was filled with dense smoke which thwarted their efforts.

"In another few minutes the fire would have spread throughout the entire house," said Schoenneman. The chief added that the fire appears to have originated in a bedroom wastebasket, and "careless smoking" is listed as the probable cause.

Schoenneman called damage from the fire's heat and smoke "extensive" for the entire house.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rossow were given oxygen by firefighters at the scene and then were taken to Botsford Hospital in Farmington for further treatment.

2 Street Jobs Get Approval

Plans of Plymouth's city administration for a $350,000 street paving program to be undertaken this summer moved ahead Monday when the commission approved Holbrook and Ann Arbor Trail projects despite protests registered in two public hearings.

The opposition basically came from Holbrook property owners who are concerned with the problems of mounting traffic and who say that many of the retirees among Holbrook residents will have difficulty paying the special assessment charges.

In both cases, however, there also appeared to be disagreement even among commissioners as to whether the assessment formula is correct in requiring property owners to carry 75 per cent of the cost per center line foot. The city pays the balance plus costs of intersections and driveway aprons.

This is an issue which will be given further airing when the actual assessment rolls for the two streets are presented for review June 14.

MAYOR JAMES McKEON told the Holbrook objectors he favors reducing their assessment ratio to a point closer to 60 per cent "in view of the traffic I envision."

A parallel comment on the ratio as it pertains to Ann Arbor Trail came from Commissioner Harold Guenther who commented, "The percentage here begs for consideration."

Earlier, it had been declared from the audience that "the heart of Plymouth needs Ann Arbor Trail, not the people who live there."

As planned, concrete paving plus curbing will be constructed on Ann Arbor Trail from Hamilton to Mill and on Holbrook from Plymouth Road to Wilcox.

The summer schedule also calls for similar work on William from Evergreen to Arthur, Dear from Ann Arbor Trail to Wing, and Wing from Dear to Main. City Engineer Thomas Waffin anticipates that the work can be started the first week in August.

School Board Hopefuls Find Modular Interest

Plymouth school board candidates found out Monday, in their first local quiz show of the campaign, that one of the most talkative issues of their race centers on the plan to introduce modular scheduling to Plymouth High School next fall.

Six of the seven candidates appeared at a meeting of the Republican Women's Club, the seventh being represented by his wife who spoke in his behalf, and modular scheduling received more attention than any other topic. Even so, there were no clear cut lines either of endorsement or opposition to the plan for cutting the PHS school day into 20-minute time periods, or modules. However, opinions were expressed that the high school should avoid 100 per cent commitment to the plan.

Present were all four of the candidates for the two four-year terms which will be at stake June 14. These include John C. Graves Jr., Paul W. Huyck, Winton E. Kloosterman and Fredrick M. Penar.

THEY WERE joined by Mrs. Karl Williams and John M. Ohno, who are candidates for the two-year term, plus Mrs. Thomas J. Fidge Jr., whose husband is running against Mrs. Williams and Ohno.

Initial remarks by the candidates covered general areas of interest, but modular scheduling references by Mrs. Fidge and Graves touched off later questions which brought the comment from Kloosterman, who is an Eastern Michigan University professor:

"If modular scheduling is going to be the issue, maybe we should have a public meeting for all candidates and the public just on this one subject."

Tentative plans for a "Candidates Night" at City Hall have been discussed by the League of Women Voters, but no date has been set. When it is, chances are it will turn into a forum on the entire PHS scheduling question.

AN ART EXHIBIT of works by Plymouth High School teachers and students opened in the school's commons area today (Wednesday) and will continue through Friday, with a special showing Thursday evening. Mrs. Jessie Hudson and 10th grader Tom Hastings work on a life size papier maché figure for the show. Other teachers participating besides Mrs. Hudson are Margaret Synniewski and Kris Erickson Darby. ## School Bus Crash Injures Only One

A head-on collision Tuesday morning between a Plymouth school bus and a private vehicle as the bus was stopping to pick up students on N. Territorial Rd. resulted in minor injuries only to one person.

Injured was the driver of the passenger car, William Edgar, of 12350 Ridge, who was treated for facial cuts in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

The accident occurred between Rige and Beck Rds. at 7:10 a.m., according to officers of the Michigan State Police at the scene.

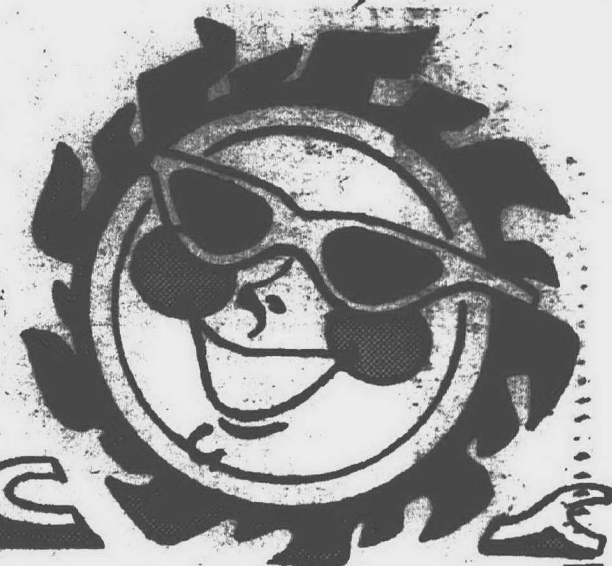

They reported that only one student, 13-year-old Leroy Henshaw, was on the west-bound bus at the time as the driver, Mrs. Eythol Olson, of 545 N. Harvey, was just beginning her run.

Officers said that as Edgar, who was headed east, began stopping in observance of the flashing bus lights, his car swerved into the left front end of the bus.

It was necessary to call a wrecker to remove the bus, as well as Edgar's car, and a substitute bus was sent by school authorities to transport students to school.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DELANO / Editor: Mail & Observer

TWO OF PLYMOUTH'S finest organizations are much in the spotlight this week as we approach the nation's 104th Memorial Day, and of course I refer to the Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion and the Mayflower Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The climax to the 1971 observance of the holiday will come Monday morning with the annual parade, followed by the memorial service in Kellogg Park to honor all those who have fallen in the service of their country.

Already, however, the pre-holiday period has been marked by special and significant activities of the two organizations and their auxiliaries. In addition, their personnel will join Thursday in the annual poppy sale for which Jim McKindies is the VFW chairman and Vern Miller the Legion chairman.

Last Saturday, the VFW installed its new officers in what has become a traditional and impressive ceremony without local parallel, while at the same time the Legion marked the opening of this historic week with its fourth annual recognition night banquet.

NEITHER OF THESE posts holds a monopoly on the elements of good citizenship, so maybe it was just by accident that the Legion originated a pattern of community awards a few years ago instead of it being a VFW creation.

At any rate, when it came time to pass out the 1971 plaquidts they went to men whose record of leadership and service have stamped them as befitting Legion acclaim.

Joseph West, who is president of both the Community Fund and Fall Festival, was honored as "businessman of the year," while a comparable industrialist's award went to Robert Hayman of Western Electric.

Roger Norris of the city and Larry Groth of the township shared "fireman of the year" laurels and for "policeman of the year" the entire city department was honored, rather than singling out one officer over another. In addition, Rev. Henry Walch, who is soon to retire, was paid special tribute for what he has meant to the religious and civic atmosphere of Plymouth.

WHEREAS MANY Americans will be spending much of the holiday weekend kicking sand into the potato salad and trying to outduel each other on the highways, Plymouth again will offer its citizens at least momentary opportunity to remember the deep significance of why we have this holiday.

That will be in Monday's solemn program in the park, shared jointly by the Legion and VFW, which in the traditional laying of a wreath, a volley of gunfire and a lone trumpeter's playing of "Taps" will signify thanks to those who have helped keep this nation free.

There will be another method of expression, too, and judging from recent years it will be widespread through the community. That will be through the home display of the flag, with every householder being urged by the veterans organizations to fly Old Glory with pride and honor.

I like the way Ernie Koi put it the other day: "What an exciting example the Plymouth community could set by having every home display an American flag on every holiday." There's no earlier a time to start than Memorial Day 1971.

Donal Dwyer Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

A recitation by Steve Williams will be followed by an address by the Memorial Day speaker, State Sen. Carl Pursell of Plymouth.

The VFW drill team will conduct the memorial wreath ceremony, with Commanders Shier and McGonagle joining in placing the wreath at the monument. A three volley salute by the VFW will precede the playing of taps by Harry Krumm.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday in Schrader Funeral Home for Donal J. Dwyer, of 933 Church, father of Robert E. Dwyer, manager of the Secretary of State's branch office in Plymouth.

Mr. Dwyer suffered a fatal heart attack Saturday morning and burial was in Riverside Cemetery. Officiating was Rev. Robert Shaden of St. Edith Catholic Church of Livonia.

Mr. Dwyer was an electrical contractor and is survived by his wife, Carol; two sons, Robert and Donal; six grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Commencement Books Gordon

Radio and television commentator Lou Gordon has accepted an invitation by the senior class of Plymouth High School to participate in the 1971 commencement exercises as principal guest speaker.

Graduation will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 17, in the new Plymouth High School gymnasium. This will be the first class to graduate from the new high school.

Immediately following commencement exercises, seniors will depart for the senior class party. The party will be held at the Ann Arbor YMCA, and transportation will be by bus.

Other graduation activities still to be held, will include the senior banquet, Wednesday, June 9 at Weber's in Ann Arbor; and baccalaureate, Sunday, June 13 in the PHS gymnasium.

GORDON, an Air Force veteran of World War II, was born in Detroit and attended Detroit Public Schools and the University of Michigan.

In 1946 he organized and became president of Capital Speakers and Writers Service, a free-lance and ghost writing agency established in Washington to supplement the incomes of senators and congressmen.

A radio and television commentator in Detroit for the last 14 years, Gordon has covered all recent political conventions and the national governor's conference. He has taken special assignments with newspapers around the country and has written feature articles for "This Week" magazine and other publications.

Gordon is married and the father of five children. He is host to an interview show each Saturday and Sunday night on WKBD-TV (Ch. 50).

The Stroller...

Drama At Best

By W. W. EDGAR

For sheer drama, the American stage these days isn't offering anything to compare with the struggle of the small businessman to survive.

The advent of the mammoth malls, large shopping centers and discount houses have forced countless small businesses to close their doors and just give up.

Many had strong family ties through the years and were considered fixtures in the community. But the switch in our economy has played no favorites, and some of the battles now being waged would tear at the heart strings of the most calloused.

You can get another example of the drama by walking down Ann Arbor Trail just north of Main Street in Plymouth and looking at Peterson's Drug Store that has been a landmark for years.

Instead of the brightly lighted and gayly trimmed windows you'll be greeted with large red signs reading, "Going Out of Business to Retire."

Our good friend is just another victim of the drama.

"JUST COULDN'T make it any more," he explained. "At a stage in life when a fellow should take it easy, I've decided to get out."

Carl said that, for the better part of two years, he has been trying to sell the business, but that circumstances prevented a sale.

"For more than 20 years I've made a nice living, but today a fellow would have to work too many hours. He couldn't afford to hire the proper help."

He pointed out that top-rated pharmacists command $18,000 to $20,000 annually and that you can't meet such a salary demand with the small store gross.

"Why, it would be more than 10 percent of the entire gross," he said.

The sad part of such a case, too, is the fact the old family drug store is just too small for the big chains to obtain.

"They told me," Carl explained, "that they would need much more room than I've got. They deal in volume sales with short profit. So, I had nothing else to do, but call it a day and sell the stock."

A FEW HOURS after talking with friend Carl, the Stroller met up with "Pod" McAllister, proprietor of what is advertised as McAllister's Grocery Store on Northville Road.

"If we had to stick to groceries," Pod revealed, "we wouldn't be here very long."

"What we deal in mostly today is bottled goods — beer, wine and soft drinks. And with these items go the ingredients for house parties — canned goods, cold meats, cheese and all the other packaged items."

"This gives us the status of a party store instead of a grocery. And with the way goods are packaged today, it also cuts down on the help."

"Without these things we most likely would have been out of here long ago."

It's the same story wherever you go these days — the small businessman waging a bitter fight with little or no chance for survival.

"You're going to see more of it, too," one of the city's top businessmen opined. "What with higher taxes, increased costs of labor and the high price of merchandise, a fellow easily can price himself out of business."

"And wait until the minimum wage takes its next leap. Then you'll really see some real drama in this fight of survival."

Sometimes the flies over-crowd the flypaper.

Camp List Available

Robert Waters, youth director of the Plymouth YMCA, has announced that the Plymouth Community "Y" has a list of nearby summer camps which are operated by YMCA's, and applications are now being taken. An estimated 125 Plymouth residents will participate in various YMCA camping programs which begin in June. More than 540 YMCA's across the country have resident camping programs and 800 have reported day camps. In addition, in the last few years more than 1,500 American and European boys and girls have been involved in the YMCA's International camper program.

Wyoming Trek Awaits Girls

PLYMOUTH Senior Girl Scouts of Plymouth Troop 501 are in the process of planning a three week camping trip to the Girl Scout Center in Ten Sleep, Wyoming.

The troop, consisting of 15 girls and their advisor, Mrs. Louis Hurlik, began planning for the trip last May, and plans are just now reaching a climax.

Fund raising projects have been in progress for over a year. A garage sale at the home of Mrs. Jack Hagopian and a Christmas bazaar at the Livonia Mall under the direction of Mrs. Richard Fritz and Mrs. Dennis Ryan were both extremely successful. In addition, proceeds from cookie and calendar sales went towards the purchase of four tents, three shepherd stoves, cooking boxes and utensils.

Many outside sources volunteered their time to help the girls prepare for the trip. Mrs. Daniel Fowler, of the Huron Valley Hikers Club, demonstrated back-packing of equipment and first-aid.

Marvin Van Heest and Bill Neu, of Boy Scout Troop P-6, gave instructions on what to do with sprained ankles, snake bites, tick and jigger bites, sunburn, and blisters. Boy Scouts Kelly Van Heest and Bill Knopf taught the troop lashing and simple auto mechanics, as well as compass and map reading.

ROBERT REA, a science teacher at Plymouth High, came to a troop meeting with slides and rock specimens from the western territory to acquaint the girls with the Ten Sleep area minerals.

As horseback riding will be one of the modes of transportation at the center, the girls took advantage of the generosity of Jack Martz, who allowed them to work around his horses in their free time and ride as often as they could. Martz owns his own farm and riding stables.

Girls making the trip include Donna White, Lee Mainville, Cheryl Gross, Karen Galbraith, Becky Tormolen, Lisa Nicol, Pam Miller, Michelle and Roxanne Ryan, Chris Leader, Kathy Snider, Peg Gladstone, Linda Hagopian, Jean Rosbolt, and Susan Paul.

The Wyoming trek, which is organized at the national headquarters in New York, will begin June 26. The troop will tour Custer State Park, South

Dakota, Yellowstone and the Grand Teton National Parks before entering the center on July 4.

Credit Unions Pick Leaders

Representatives of credit unions in Western Wayne County elected officers at the recent annual meeting of the Edward A. Filene Chapter of Credit Unions. The dinner-dance at Roma Hall, Livonia, was attended by more than 100 credit union officials and guests.

Lawrence Wilhelm, Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, was elected alternate director. Also elected was Jeanette Oliver, Livonia Public Employees Credit Union, to serve a continuing term on the executive committee.

In another election Wilhelm was named delegate to the membership meeting of the league. Others elected as delegates were Jack Gray, Burroughs Plymouth Credit Union, and Warren Williams, Western Wayne County Postal Employees Credit Union, who was named as alternate delegate.

The Filene Chapter's 51 credit unions have a combined membership of 110,000 persons and assets of more than $90 million.

Doreen Volpe Takes Part In Windsor Fete

PLYMOUTH Mrs. Sam (Doreen) Volpe, 1642 Old Salem, Plymouth, was one of the participants in the Windsor Light Opera Company's recent "lead singers night" festivities.

A Plymouth resident only for the past four years, Mrs. Volpe, a soprano, was in the Windsor company when it was formed more than 20 years ago and often had the lead role in its productions.

She currently is soloist at Greenfield Village's Martha Mary Chapel and is a member of the choir at St. John Episcopal Church here.

Plymouth Man Earns Degree In Osteopathy

PLYMOUTH John R. Wolfe, of Plymouth, was one of 111 seniors at the Kansas City College of Osteopathic Medicine to receive doctor of osteopathy degrees in recent graduation ceremonies.

The commencement speaker was assistant secretary for Health and Scientific Affairs, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Dr. Roger O. Egeberg.

David Grimes Gains In Rank

PLYMOUTH David Grimes, 24, son of Mrs. Doris L. Grimes, 948 Palmer, Plymouth, was recently promoted to Army Specialist four while serving with the 13th Support Brigade at Ft. Hood, Tex.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION — Assistant Cashier and Branch Manager Donald B. Gall (right) Tower Rd., Plymouth, and Bank of the Commonwealth President John E. Thompson, joined with Mrs. Helen Tyler Belote, daughter of one of the bank's first directors, at the 55th anniversary celebration recent on the bank's founding. Mrs. Belote, who said her father, founding officer Comfort Tyler, "had a good sense of history," was present at similar ceremonies at the opening in 1916. She still has passbook savings account No. 1.

Explorers Invite New Members

PLYMOUTH Explorer Post 910 is planning an open house for all high school students at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 1. It will be held at Epiphany Lutheran Church, 41390 Five Mile Road, Plymouth.

Post 910 is the local chapter of the nation-wide Explorer organization which is designed to help students plan their future careers in the business world. At the same time, the meetings are a type of social event, including such activities as the recent Explorer road rally and a gathering of Detroit area posts.

Many Explorer posts pick different careers to explore each month and ask a speaker to come and inform them on the operation of their business. Post 910 is different in this respect because it looks only into the various fields of engineering as career possibilities.

Post 910 is sponsored by the local chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, and members are asked to sit in on Explorer meetings.

Preston Clements organized Post 910 and continues to help by acting as one of the adult supervisors. However, adults do not run the meetings, as members elect their own executive board and work with the supervisors in planning the weekly meetings.

"The purpose of the open house is to act as an introduction to the Post," said Dave Ervin. "If you like what you see, you are welcome to attend the meetings. And if after attending a few of the meetings you discover that the last thing you want to be is an engineer, then the post has served its purpose."

Taylor Wins Village Post

A former honor student from Livonia Bentley High School recently won election as village trustee in Wauconda, Ill., upsetting three popular incumbents who had been in office for a total of 50 years.

Jerry Taylor, 35, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor, 14323 Shadywood, Plymouth, and former Livonia resident got involved in local politics in a fight for a traffic light.

A data control supervisor for a bank, Taylor and two others wrested control of village power from three incumbents after a heated campaign.

Wauconda is a small town north of Chicago.

Teachers Fight Loss Of 60-Day Notices

By MARTHA MAHAN

With contract talks either under way or set to begin, some teacher unions are "seriously considering" seeking a clause to counteract a recent Michigan Tenure Commission ruling which permits waiver of 60 day notices to teachers being laid off for economic reasons.

Most union locals plan to wait out an appeal taken by the Michigan Federation of Teachers which the Michigan Education Assn. is expected to join as an interested party. But others, like Farmington and Detroit, say they are giving serious thought to trying to nail down the guarantee in individual contracts.

Because of pinched finances, most school districts have notified large numbers of teachers that they may not be rehired next year. The action was taken as a safeguard against the 60-day notification requirement in the event higher costs, including teacher pay raises, and shortened budgets may force staff reductions.

"WE EXPECT to kill it (the tenure commission ruling) on appeal," said Robert Crumpton, executive director of the Livonia Education Assn. "Any board which follows the ruling might put itself in considerable jeopardy on the basis of later damage claims."

A law, adopted only last year, gives principals and middle administrators a 90-day notification guarantee. Livonia is the only district in Observerland and one of the few in the state whose middle administrators are organized into a recognized bargaining unit, the Livonia Educational Supervisors and Administrators Assn. (LEAS).

Because of the tenure commission ruling on teachers, LEAS may seek to put the 90-day guarantee into the contract it now is writing with the Livonia board, a spokesman said. Fifteen of the district's 30 assistant principals were handed the 90-day notices last month.

Representatives both of boards of education and teacher unions see staff reduction clauses as "real hot issues," as Crumpton put it. Other "warm" issues he sees are internal transfers within the system, both voluntary and involuntary and in both building and job assignment. Some method of adequate teacher evaluation also is mentioned among "warm" issues.

A NEGOTIATOR for the Farmington Education Assn. (FEA) said his group will also try to write contract language preventing elimination of programs, such as music, art, physical education.

A Wayne County Intermediate School District source, who asked not to be identified, said he looked for argument on both layoff and recall procedures. Recall problems would center on whether it should be guided by seniority or area of competency.

"If a science class needs a teacher, you just can't fill the post properly with someone whose training is in art or music, even if he does have seniority over the science teacher," he explained.

TEACHERS ARE in the "poorest" position they have been in years, one Observerland negotiator said, and boards are at their strongest.

He said the teachers' position has deteriorated because of the strained financial picture, a teacher surplus, and public reaction to teacher demands. School bargainers are "better organized" and have increased their skills through group meetings and group interchange.

Crampton disputes the claimed teacher surplus, saying its nature must be defined. The reason most unemployed teachers are jobless is because they are incompetent, he believes. "The issuance of more than 3,000 emergency permits by the state board last fall doesn't indicate a surplus of qualified teachers to me," he said.

The Michigan Education Assn.'s answer to the money shortage is simply to close down schools when funds run out instead of laying off teachers or cutting programs.

OFFICIALS acknowledged their position leaves unanswered state requirements that school districts offer at least 900 classroom hours and 180 days of instruction a year to qualify for state aid. It also could place in jeopardy North Central Assn. accreditation for high schools.

"If these programs were worth buying in the first place, it isn't logical to turn around later and say they're not worth buying now," Crumpton argued. "If they didn't think they were worth buying, they shouldn't have bought them in the first place."

"Besides," an MEA spokesman said, "as long as the schools are running, no one bothers to put pressure on the state. But once they close down and the kids are at home, that's when Mama gets on the phone to her legislator."

Census Briefing Set For Execs

Businessmen and community service personnel will have an opportunity to join June 11 with government analysts in a one-day briefing on "Using the 1970 Census" at University of Michigan.

Co-sponsors are the U of M Institute of Public Policy Studies and the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The session will feature demographers, planner, geographers, economists and others with expertise in use of census data for a variety of purposes.

"THE SOPHISTICATION now possible in processing of information developed as a result of the computerization of census data offers unlimited potential for all segments of society," E. Robert Turner, executive director of SEMCOG said.

developed a system of delivering to any element of the region desiring it, a fantastic array of data about SEM people. The conference will describe how this can be utilized."

The conference will be held in Towsley Center for Continuing Medical Education, East Hospital Drive, Ann Arbor.

AMONG THE speakers: John C. Beresford, president, National Data Use and Access Laboratories.

George L. Farnsworth, assistant director, census use study and Southern California Regional Information Study. Constantine Ben, geographer, urban planning division, Federal Highway Administration, U.S. Department of Transportation (DOT).

5 Area Reps Vote For Trailer Bill

Five of Observerland's state representatives voted for passage of a so-called "monster trailer" bill that would permit the towing of 14-foot wide trailers and modular housing units on state roads.

Reps. Richard Young (D-Dearborn Heights), John Bennett (D-Redford Township), Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia), James Tierney (D-Garden City), and Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park) voted for the bill.

Rep. Thomas Brown (D-Westland) opposed it and Raymond Baker (R-Farmington) did not vote.

THE SENATE had passed the bill earlier. It will be sent to Gov. Milliken after amendments added by the House are approved by the Senate.

4 Congressmen List Stocks

Two of Observerland's U.S. congressmen were listed as having stock holdings valued at more than $5,000 in a recent disclosure of U.S. representatives' holdings.

Each congressman is required by law to list his stock holdings if they are valued at more than $5,000. The files are kept by the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct.

Rep. Marvin Esch, (R-Ann Arbor) holds stock in Ansul Chemical Co. of Marienette, Wis., and in MP Pumps of which he is the director. Esch, whose 2nd district includes Plymouth city and township, is a member of the education and labor committee.

Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) holds stock in Eastman Kodak and in Fairchild Hiller. Representing the 18th District including Southfield, Broomfield is a member of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

Neither William Ford (D-Taylor) nor Jack McDonald (R-Farmington) has holdings reaching the $5,000 mark. Ford, representing the 15th district (which includes Garden City, Westland and Canton Township) is a member of the Education and Labor Committee and the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

McDonald represents the 19th district which includes Redford Township, Livonia and Farmington. He is a member of the public works committee and the Merchant Marine and fisheries committee.

Eight Teams Survive Anders Action

It'll be quarterfinal play in the Les Anders baseball tournament at Livonia's Ford Field Thursday and Friday night.

One quarterfinalist remained to be decided Tuesday when Livonia Churchhill and Northville resumed play in the fourth inning after rain forced them to suspend play Monday.

The winner will go against Thurston while Bentley faces Stevenson in Friday night's action after Redford Union opposes Garden City West and Garden City East goes against John Glenn Thursday evening.

Action begins each night at 6 p.m.

The winners of Thursday and Friday play advance to the semifinals scheduled next Monday at 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

The championship game in the tourney sponsored by the Livonia Recreation Department, the Livonia Optimist

Club and the Observer Newspapers, will be held next Tuesday starting at 7:30 p.m. at Ford Field.

Here is now last weekend's play went:

R. UNION 7, PLYMOUTH 0

Randy Ferguson became one of the few prep hurlers to win 10 games this season in blanking the Rocks on two hits - a first inning single by Howie Schryer and a single by Jim Grimmer in the fourth.

Ferguson fanned 11 and walked one in upping his record to 10-1.

Redford Union took a 2-0 lead in the first inning when R. J. LeRoux tripled, Mark Durand walked and Bill Herbert and Glen Richmond singled.

Herbert singled in Bill Booker in the third and in the fourth Ferguson was safe on an effort and came around on hits by Durand and Booker. It was Booker's third hit.

GLENN 3, FRANKLIN 1

Call it sweet revenge! Twice during the regular season, Franklin won over Glenn, but Daryl Demaray's pitching enabled the Rockets to avenge those previous setbacks in the first round of the Anders tourney.

Demaray allowed five hits, fanned three and walked three to best Tony Kaseta of Franklin who allowed seven hits, also fanned three and didn't walk a man.

Glenn gave Demaray a 2-0 lead in the first inning when J. M. McBride and Mike Borders singled and Mark Skymansky chased them in with a triple.

Some lusty hitting by West, plus six St. Agatha errors, turned the game into a runaway.

Sam Tjalsma hurled the distance for West, giving up nine hits.

Darin McHugh, Rick Roth, Jim Whaley and Jerry Volas each had four hits for the winners while Mark Miron, Jim Clako and Tom Nemes had two each for the losers. Four runs in the fourth inning helped to sew up the game.

BENTLEY 3, CLARENCEVILLE 1

A fine pitching duel in which Brian Dinsmore, coming on in the second inning, hurled five innings of shutout relief for Bentley. He gave up two hits over the distance.

Two walks and a single by Al Hernandez led to Bentley's first run in the opening inning and then a sacrifice fly brought in the second.

A double by Gentz and a single by Bob Sitkauskas produced Bentley's final run in the third inning.

Chip Myrelles singled and came around on two walks and a fielder's choice for the only Clarenceville run.

THURSTON 3, SORROWS 1

A no-hitter for Steve Krieger, of Thurston, who gave up a unique type of run in the first inning.

Leadoff man Bill Waleaky, of Sorrows, was awarded first on catcher's interference and then came all the way around on three passed balls.

Krieger walked five and fanned 12 to best Tom Centers, Sorrows' 6-foot, 4-inch hurler who yielded three hits and struck out eight.

Thurston scored once in the fourth inning on a triple by Ken Chopek and an error.

In the sixth, Chopek walked, Don Murdoch singled and both came rolling home when pinch-hitter Bob Ghannom singled.

STEVENSON 7, B. BORGESS 1

Bob Bialy's three-hitter, along with 10 strikeouts, was the dominating feature in Stevenson's easy victory.

Bob See, meantime, led the Livonians' attack with three hits, two of them doubles.

One double knocked in two runs in the fifth inning and Mark Macy knocked in another with a single as Stevenson scored four times to put the game on the safe side for the evening.

Plymouth's Late Rally Ousts Jays In Tourney

Plymouth High's baseball team hurdled its first obstacle en route to honors in the state tournament.

The Rocks rallied for a 4-2 win over Southfield in a pre-district game. The defeat sent the Blue Jays to the sidelines while Plymouth now advances to play at Bentley at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Southfield appeared to be coasting along behind the pitching of Al Davis, leading 2-0 when Plymouth came to bat in the bottom of the sixth.

THEN THE ROCKS came alive, taking advantage of Davis' wildness to score four times in the sixth inning and pull the game out.

Brad Truax, who was the winning pitcher in relief of Dale Robinson, walked to open the sixth. Then Ken Rocco blooped a single and Steve Straley walked to load the bases.

Rick Yorke was brought in to replace Davis and Truax promptly was forced at the plate. Jack Mathias lofted a sacrifice fly to score Rocco, but Yorke appeared over the hump.

Dan Hees came up and slammed a liner over the Southfield rightfielder's head for a homer and that accounted for the final three runs and victory.

Truax replaced Robinson in the fifth inning and the pair allowed Southfield only six hits.

The Blue Jays scored once in the fourth inning when Mark Smith tripled and came across on an infield roller.

John Wenzel parked a homer in the fifth to make it 2-0 for the Blue Jays, but it wasn't enough when Plymouth finally got going in the sixth inning.

RU's Roger Blanchard Crowned State Champion

The track toast of Observerland...that's little Detroit Country Day School.

Climaxing one of the greatest seasons an area team ever has known in track, Country Day ran away with the state class C championship Saturday at Mt. Pleasant.

Country Day ran up 46 points.

Previously, Country Day had dominated the regionals and several invitationals, including the Central Michigan Relays, one of the biggest events in the state.

SPRINTER JACK McClellan, the fastest dashman in the area, led the way for Country Day.

He won the 100 and 220 yard dashes and also ran on the victorious 880 yard relay team. Jim Miller, Dave Ratajack and Mike Page also ran on the relay which was timed in 1:32.7.

McClellan's times in the dashes were :10.2 for the 100 and :22.2 in the 220.

Meantime, down the road some 75 miles at East Lansing, Redford Union's Roger Blanchard, as expected, won the state Class A pole vault title, while Farmington turned in the best showing among the Observerland teams by totaling 17 points to finish in sixth place as Detroit Northern carried off the crown.

Ironically, Blanchard failed in his bid for a state record.

THE BEST HE could do was 14 feet, four inches, although just a few before he had tied the state mark of 14 feet, 6 1/4 inches and then gone 14' 8" to victory.

Only performances in the state meet can lead to state records, so Blanchard's name will not appear among those boasting Michigan standards.

Yet, when he is graduated in two weeks, he'll be able to recall how he tied the state mark and then beat it...but those vaults came at the wrong time.

Farmington came up with four individuals who placed at East Lansing.

Mike McGlothlin was second in the mile at 4:17.1. Kim Hildebrandt took third in the 880 in 1:55.7. Jim Massey sixth in the shot put with a heave of 55 feet, 6 1/4 inches, and Nat Durham eighth in the pole vault with an effort of 12 feet, 10 inches.

Livonia Franklin had two men who placed in the state meet - Mike Jinnett, fourth in the 440-yard run in the time of :48.7 and Mark Newman, eighth in the 180-yard low hurdles.

Groves Golfers Win Title; Finish 9 Strokes In Front

Another state championship flies over an Observerland high school.

This time it's in golf...and the pennant belongs to Birmingham Groves.

There was disappointment a year ago when Groves lost out by a stroke to Saginaw MacArthur in the state Class A championships.

ON MONDAY at Port Huron, Groves made no mistakes, totaling 307 strokes to walk away with the title as Ann Arbor Huron and Portage Northern tied for second at 316.

Plymouth scored 320 and Farmington 322 to round out the Observerland entries in Class A.

Franklin's 880-yard relay tied for sixth place.

Bob Reason of Birmingham Groves came in third in the mile behind McGlothlin.

Key Dudas of Our Lady of Sorrows took seventh place in the 440 yard Class C finals while Charles Scroek of St. Agatha came in fourth in the 880-yard run in 1:59.7.

The meet wasn't without tragedy for an Observerland prep.

SAM ORLANDO, of Brother Rice, one of the top half-milers in the state, was running well among the leaders in Class A at East Lansing when he suddenly collapsed on the track.

His right leg had given way on him and the doctor at the scene rushed Sam to the hospital with a broken bone.

"Nobody ran into me, or anything like that," said Orlando. "My leg just wasn't strong enough."

Orlando was to have led Rice in its defense of the Catholic League title this Wednesday at Utica.

Seven Class A records fell by the boards - two by the brilliant Marshall Dill of Detroit Northern who won the 100 in :9.6 and the 220 yard in :20.6.

Northern came up with 54 points to East Lansing's 32, Grand Rapids CC's 20 1/2, Flint Central's 18 1/2, Pontiac Central's 18 and Farmington's 17.

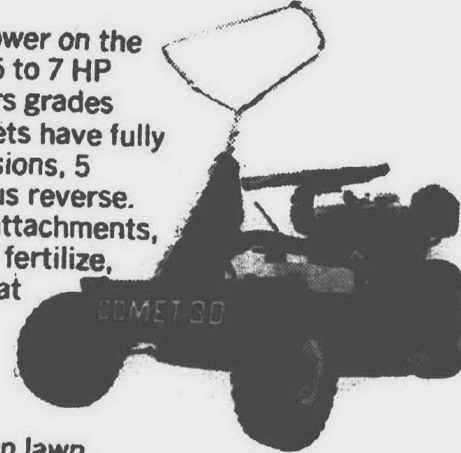

Holly won the Class B title while Unionville ran away with the Class D crown.

"GOOD GOING." That was the greeting given to Redford Union's Roger Blanchard (left) by John Morrison after Roger won the state class "A" pole vault with a height of 14'4". Morrison was a state king in the hurdles for RU three years ago and was the first to congratulate Blanchard. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

See Record Entry In Livonia 21 Tournaments At Whispering Willows

With more than 30 entries in the women's division and an anticipated entry of 100 in the men's play, Pro Gary Whitener, of Livonia's Whispering Willows golf course, believes the Livonia 21 tournament will be one of the best ever staged at the links.

"We will accept entries in both divisions until noon Thursday," he said. "The drawings will be made up in the afternoon and those desiring to know starting times and pairings should call the course after 5 p.m."

The Livonia 21 event, for residents of the City of Livonia only, is one of the highlights of the annual birthday celebration.

Each tournament will be 18 holes, handicap and medal play, with flights and awards for low gross and low net scores.

The women's tourney is scheduled for Friday and the men's on Saturday. Play will begin at 9 a.m. each day.

With the entry deadline at Thursday noon, the only way to get pairings is to call the pro shop. Whitener indicated that those calling first will have the preferred starting times.

It's designed to give experienced gymnasts an opportunity to learn new skills and to help maintain their physical conditioning. The class will meet from 7-9 p.m., Monday through Thursday, starting June 21. Cost is $20. Registration for these programs should be completed by June 10. This can be accomplished by telephone by calling Mrs. Lois Collins at Schoolcraft College. Registration can also be completed in-person at the College in the Office of Instruction.

3 Trackmen Set Records

Three Farmington Harrison High trackmen set school records in meets during the past two weeks.

Dave Harsen sped the mile in 4:43.5 to better his own school standard and Dan McConaghy was clocked in :15.5 in the high hurdles and

:20.1 in the lows for new marks.

Frank Arcangeli finished second in the 880-yard run in the recent Western Six Conference meet with a time of 1:59.1. That was a full five seconds faster than his previous best clocking.

Turf Tips, Quilps

By Doc Minard

With the annual $100,000 added Michigan mile and an eighth less than a month away on Saturday, June 19, officials at the Detroit Race Course are dreaming about one of the races of the year with the possibility that Canonero II, the brilliant winner of the Kentucky Derby and The Preakness, may be a starter.

It would put the Mile on the same basis nationwide as it was the year Damascus was in the field and lost, upholding the record of a longshot event.

A great deal depends on how Canonero II runs June 5 in the $150,000 Belmont Stakes, third and last of the triple crown events.

If Canonero loses the Belmont, then his owner will consider running the colt anywhere in the United States where he figures the colt has a good chance to win.

DRC officials are awaiting the deadline to learn if he is nominated and then they'll be watching the outcome of the Belmont with considerable interest.

Even if he wins, there is an excellent possibility Canonero will be shipped to the DRC. The Michigan Mile is the richest event on June 19 and who is going to pass up a chance to pick up the winner's share of $132,000.

STARTING FRIDAY and continuing through the remainder of the meeting, the Detroit Race Course will add one additional perfecta to the regular wagering program.

The new perfecta will be on the third race daily, Monday through Saturday.

The present multiple wagering will continue with the Big Perfecta on the fifth and sixth races and perfecta betting on the final race of the day.

The daily double will be held as usual on the first and second races.

DRC officials also announced a new policy in regard to youngsters under the age of 12.

Starting Thursday, June 17, and every Thursday for the remainder of the meeting, children under 12 in the company of an adult will be admitted free to the specially designated section in the north end of the grandstand only.

In the past every Thursday was known as "ladies day." Henceforth, every Thursday will be designated as "family day."

ALTHOUGH WORD from the top is that Windsor will continue its running meet regardless of business, one wonders whether it can go on in the face of bigger deficits every night.

Tom Tresh Takes Post With CMU

MT. PLEASANT Central Michigan University announced the appointment of Tom Tresh, former Detroit Tiger and New York Yankee baseball star, as assistant director of Development for Corporations and the Detroit Regional Campaign.

In his new post, Tresh will be responsible for organizing and evaluating corporate development proposals and coordinating activities for a soon-to-be announced University capital campaign in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Tresh, 32, retired from organized baseball in 1970 after 12 seasons in the New York Yankees and Detroit Tiger organizations.

Born in Detroit, he signed a bonus contract with the Yankees in 1958 and was named the American League's "Rookie of the Year" in 1962. A member of the American League All-Star Team in 1962 and 1963, he won the Golden Glove for fielding excellence in 1965.

A participant in three World Series, Tresh batted .277 in series play and was a member of the Yankee's World Championship teams in 1962 and 1963.

Tresh played one season of college baseball at CMU in 1967, leading the Chippewas to a share of the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference title. After beginning his professional career, he attended the University in the off-season to earn his bachelor's degree in education.

Monday's attendance of slightly more than 1,000 was the skimpiest to date and the handle of $70,000 indicates something better happen for the better quickly or track executives may reconsider.

Hazel Park had a handle of $507,000; Jackson was well over the $100,000 mark; and the DRC had a big Monday with wagering up to $803,041.

All of which means that Windsor is feeling the pangs of competition and feeling it very bad.

It brings back memories of a few years ago when harness racing was tried at Tropical Park in Florida. Things got so bad track promoters couldn't even give away passes and finally called a halt to a losing fight after taking a big financial bath.

The same could be true of Windsor. Regardless of how much backing an operation has, it is still difficult to see how it can continue, knowing conditions aren't going to get that much better.

observing sports

We live for today and tomorrow...yet the past with its memories plays such an important part for all of us.

I think about it every time I stroll through the corridors of Detroit's Cobo Hall...specifically, in that area assigned to Michigan's Sports Hall of Fame.

Along the walls hang the plaques of just about everybody, except for those still active in sports, who have meant anything in baseball or golf or tennis or basketball or track or hockey in these parts.

Names like Ty Cobb, Harry Heilmann, Earl (Dutch) Clark, Gordon Stanley (Mickey) Cochrane, Ray Fisher, Charley Forsythe, Hank Greenberg, Jean Hoxie, Joseph Barrow Louis, Gordie Howe, Ted Lindsay, Hal Newhouser, Doak Walker, Al Watrous, Fielding H. Yost and Ralph Hayward Young.

And many more, including Bob Calihan and Ron Kramer and the late Les Bingham who were enshrined at ceremonies last Monday night.

One by one, you stare at each plaque. You pause for a few seconds...sometimes, even longer.

You remember seeing most of the Hall of Famers perform. Some of them you have known very well. Some you have worked with, or worked for.

THERE'S RAY FISHER and the late John Kobs and Lloyd Brazil. Remember the days when you umpired for them -- Fisher at Michigan, Kobs at Michigan State and Brazil at the University of Detroit?

Remember the day Kobs came storming from the dugout to yell and his then shortstop, Earl Morrall, who'll be a Hall of Famer some day soon after he retires from the Baltimore Colts and football, stopped Kobs in his track: "John, he called that one right," said Morrall...and Kobs quickly shifted his direction of attack, from the umpire and headed over for a confab with his pitcher!

Or, what about that night game between Detroit and Wayne State...when the ump in question goofed up on a double play -- Brazil rushed to the middle of the diamond as the fans screamed: "Kill that ump." The ump knew he was in for a talking to, but all Brazil said was: "Too bad, George, you missed an easy call."

And Charley Forsythe, the man who made the Michigan High School Athletic Association what it is today. For more than four years he devoted his heart, his talents to schoolboy activities.

It wasn't an easy job, but wherever he rests quietly these days in that other world to which all must go eventually, Forsythe can smile: he helped to make prep sports in Michigan BIG time.

And Mrs. Jean Hoxie! What a job she did for tennis in Michigan, in the United States, in all parts of the world. She'd get you mad once in a while with her persistence, but she never stopped working with her kids. And her kids became champions and grew into first rate ladies and gentlemen.

Ty Cobb? You have faint memories of him when you were a kid. Mickey Cochrane? Remember that day when you went to the ball park with a Times photographer and you were sitting in the Tiger dugout and the next day a picture appeared: Cochrane, Babe Ruth and a kid with the initials of G.M.?

There's the name of Hal Newhouser! Remember when you wrote about him in high school and accompanied his American Legion baseball team into the regional tournament down in Ohio? That was before he came one of the greatest pitchers in Tiger and American League history.

Bobby Layne? What better clutch quarterback did anybody ever see in a Lions uniform? Or any other uniform?

Goose Goslin? He passed the way the other day, but that hit he lashed out to win the title for the Tigers. Who'll forget that?

Tommy Bridges? Oh, that day when all of Detroit stopped and glued itself to the radio as Bridges came within one man of pitching a perfect game.

And, so it goes...

Now, they've enshrined Kramer and Calihan plus the late Les Bingham.

Kramer rings a deep bell in our hearts. He was the kid back at East Detroit High whom you made All-Suburban and All-State and look what he did after that: All American and All-Pro!

And, Calihan. The first of the many great college basketball players to have come out of Michigan...A standout coach...a most deserving addition to the Hall of Fame.

Don't miss seeing the Hall of Fame one of these days soon. If you're involved in sports in any way, you're bound to spot a few names which might force a drop or two to float down from the vicinity of your eyes.

The powerful Falcons placed 17 in the final list with Franklin and RU second with 13 each followed by Thurston with 12.

RU's Roger Blanchard, who soared to a height of 14' 8 1/2" in the regionals at Belleville, didn't set a state record but he did win the championship with a height of 14' 4".

Roger was the only state champion from the Observerland schools in the class A meet in East Lansing.

Mike Jinnett, Franklin's fleet quarter-miler, finished fourth with a school record clocking of 48.7.

Farmington's Mike McClinton wound up second in the mile in the spectacular clocking of 4:17.1 and teammate Kim Hildebrandt was timed in 1:55.7 in the 800-yard run for a third place.

Ket Everett, of RU, had his best showing in the long jump at the regionals when he leaped 21' 9".

The final standings of total places in ratings: Farmington 17, Franklin and Redford Union 13, Thurston 12, Churchill 9, Brother Rice and North Farmington 8, Groves, Country Day and Garden City West 6, Bishop Borgess and Southfield Lathrup 5, Stevenson and Plymouth 4, Southfield 3 and Harrison one.

DON CANHAM

Tiger Fans To Vote For All-Stars In June

"If you don't vote in June, don't complain in July."

That's the official edict to baseball fans who will elect the players for the 42nd major league All-Star Game, which will be played at Tiger Stadium July 13.

Balloting for the American and National League stars will start May 28 and close June 30. When it is done, more than four million votes will have been cast, according to the Gillette Co., which again is underwriting the costs of the election.

IN 1970, when punch card, computer-counted ballots were used for the first time, the vote total was 2,034,724 - half cast in baseball parks across the country and half in 75,000 retail stores. There will be a stepped-up campaign in the baseball parks this year and the number of stores will be doubled.

Fans will find ballots and ballot boxes at Tiger Stadium at each of the 14 home games scheduled there during the voting period. To vote, it is only necessary to punch out a small square next to the player's name. The ballot can then be deposited in a handy official container or mailed to election headquarters.

Voters will find more names on the All-Star ballot this year, 64 on the American League side and 64 on the National League. Names of eight players (up from six) at each position (24 outfielders in a group) are on the ballot, with the pitchers to be selected later by the All-Star Game managers.

As in 1970, there will be write-in space for any names not printed on the ballot. This feature was widely used last year with 45 per cent of the voters writing in one or more names for a total of more than 2,500,000. Atlanta's Rico Carty was elected to the starting lineup on the strength of write-ins.

Names to go on the ballot this year were selected by an expanded panel appointed by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. Members of the panel were officials of the Baseball Writers Association, broadcasters, editors of sports publications, veteran players, general managers, and field managers.

Livonia Gal Golfers Switch To Thursday

Livonia "21" festivities - including a golf tournament - are bringing a switch in the playing schedule of the Livonia Women's Golf League.

To make way for the birthday tournaments scheduled to start Friday at Whispering Willows, the league will play Thursday. Starting times remain unchanged. At last Friday's session the name of the game was win and that's exactly what Alice Game did.

Even before Reed's final illness, Canham was prominently mentioned as a candidate for the job that has been held by only three other men - Maj. John L. Griffith (1922-1944) Kenneth (Tug) Wilson (1945-1961) and Reed.

THE ONE STUMBLING block in Canham's elevation to the commissionership is the fact that he has a lucrative business in Ann Arbor and there may be some doubt that he would want to move.

This subject came up in the Michigan press box during the final spring practice scrimmage and one of the top officials remarked,

"Don is so much of a salesman that he'll have the Big Ten move the commissioner's office to Ann Arbor - and don't be surprised that it won't happen."

There were others in the group who voiced the opinion that "Don will not be around for the next football season." Since he took over as the athletic director at Michigan, Canham, a former track star, has moved at a fast pace to restore Michigan's prestige. He revamped the football department by bringing in "Bo" Schembechler as head coach and the team went to the Rose Bowl in the first year.

Next, he had tartan turf installed not only in the stadium, but on the practice fields as well. He had the baseball field improved and re-named as Fisher Field in honor of the veteran coach.

Then came the demolition of the old concrete stands, final link with legendary Ferry Field "where Heston trod" and now he is in the midst of building a monument to football - a sort of gathering place for the gridders and their trophies.

ON THE BUSINESS side his promotion activities have caused football attendance to jump from an average 61,000 to 72,000. And he has established a new type contract for the renewal of the rivalry with Notre Dame that is now being used as a model by other schools.

He has been a leader in all Big Ten pow-wows and has helped the officials to remedy several touchy problems during the past two years.

All these accomplishments have been piling up in the minds of the men who will have to select a new commissioner within the next 30 days.

And that's why they'll be taking a long look at Don Canham.

Gary Morrison Hurls 2nd Straight Shutout

Sophomore Gary Morrison has emerged as a new hero at Farmington's Harrison High Schools.

Shutout wins in two straight games have made the left-handed Morrison the talk of the school.

His most important triumph came Saturday when he blanked Saline, 1-0, in a Class B pre-district tournament game.

MORRISON YIELDED three hits, fanned nine and walked five to best Dennis Bishop of Saline who allowed only three hits and matched Morrison in pitching shutout innings until the bottom of the seventh inning.

Then Derek Economou singled and stole second for Harrison. He continued on to third when the throw went into centerfield and scored the game's only run when Morrison—thats right, Morrison—delivered a clutch single to break up the game.

Morrison's first shutout had come over Harrison.

Harrison had a date with Churchill on Wednesday to end its Western Six League schedule and then hosts Dexter Saturday at 1 p.m. in its next game in the state district tournament.

The chances are good that Morrison will be back on the mound.

Stevenson Triumphs

With Nelson Cady pitching a six-hitter, Stevenson High's baseball team ended its Inter-Lakes League schedule on a winning note with a 7-1 decision over Southfield Lathrup.

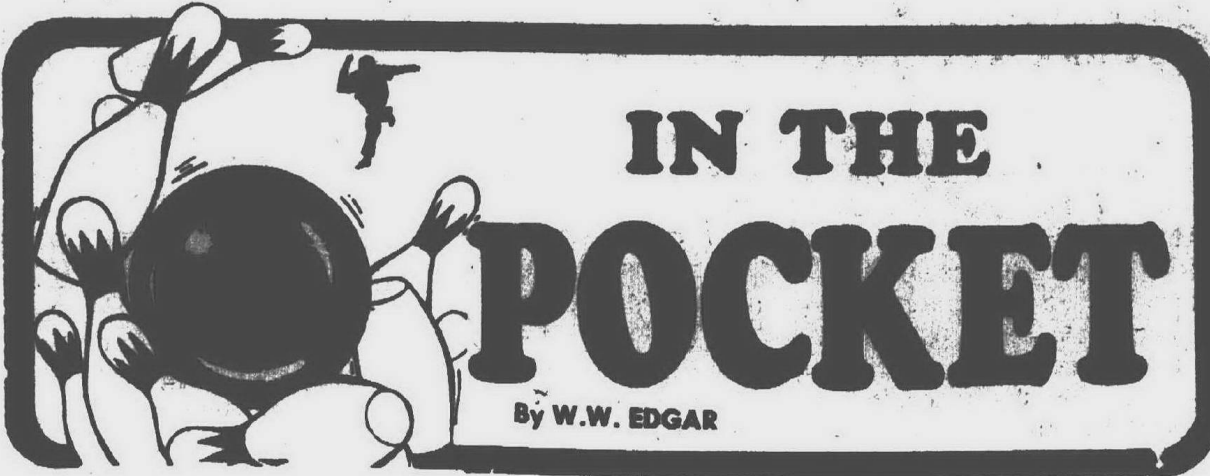

The win gave Stevenson a final 6-9 standing in the league.

The Livonians scored once in the second inning when Mark Keifer singled and came around on two sacrifices and an error.

Then came a six run explosion in which Keifer started things with a single. After Tom Cee was safe on an error, Frank Geluso and Mike Gee walked, Bob Bialy singled, Mark Macy singled and John Lewis climaxed the inning with a two run homer.

4 In Row Gives West 2nd Place

A roaring finish — four straight victories — enabled Garden City West to snare second place in the final Tri Rivers League baseball standings.

West edged Kennedy, 6-5, and Crestwood, 2-0, last week to end the league slate with an 8-6 record as Southgate ran away with the title by winning all 14 of its conference encounters.

Jim Whaley lashed out two doubles and a triple to lead West in its win over Kennedy.

Mary Mohacsi, the Livonia school teacher who decided to take a year off from competition in the ladies all-star leagues, proved that the layoff didn't harm her game by winning two titles in the women's city tournament.

She linked games of 213, 213 and 235 for 661 to take the actual singles crown and followed by winning the all events with an actual count of 1832.

While Mary wasn't competing with the all stars she bowled in various leagues in the area—just to keep her game sharp; it proved worthwhile for she is the only double winner in the tournament.

Another all-star couple—Marlene McKown and Leslie Richardson—teamed to win the actual doubles with 1144.

The Brooks Bowling Clinic won the actual team title with games of 893, 955 and 869 for 2717.

THEY REALLY blew the lid off things in the final night of the Garden Lanes Classic.

Tom Ranes paced the bombing by linking games of 194, 288 and 258 for 740. Right behind came Bob Cassar with 727 on games of 215, 246 and 266. Third place went to John Mc Killen with a 711 that came on counts of 257, 237 and 217.

Five others beat the 650 target. Mike Mathis had a 677 and was followed by Larry Brandt with 670, Bob Grenier 664 Terry Burns 659 and Bob Boss 656.

Then, to top off the big night, the Trio Grinding team put together games of 1083, 1182 and 1064 for a 3329—third highest series of the season.

A POOR START prevented Ev Hubble, one of the clerks at Westland Bowl, from taking the all-events lead in the women's state tournament at Ark Lanes over the weekend.

Opening with a 497 in the team event she followed with a 258 in 653 in her doubles and closed with 612 in the singles for 1762.

She missed gaining a deadlock with Bev Patterson and Marion Ladewig for the actual all-events lead by a mere nine pins.

HAL JOLLEY'S Handicraft Managing team finished on top in the Westland Classic and Hal had the double honor of being on a winner and rolling a 769 for the season high series.

Dick Lang topped the averages with 209 and Bob Maynard's Professional Sports team rolled the season high of 3313.

ANN SETLOCK, Detroit's bowling queen, is continuing a high scoring pace in the summer doubles classic at Garden Lanes.

She topped the field Tuesday with a 654 to gain a wide edge on her rivals. Runnerup honors went to Marilyn Dee with 579 and Polly Pole and Edna Pitulinski each had a 559 Mary Mohacsi a 558 and Betty Pingery a 562.

JUDY WILKINSON had an unusual experience as the Spring Ladies League opened at Farmington Lanes.

After establishing an average of 155 she was all set for the opening.

But tension entered the picture she tightened and posted a mere 99 game. Advised to calm down she did just that and came back with a 245.

Colleen Fynn topped the Prep girls in the school league with a 199 in 511 and Clip Mitchell showed the way to the boys with a 205 in 479.

THE GIRLS got away to a flying start in the ladies summer league at Wonderland.

Lathrup Netters Clinch Loop Dual Meet Crown

Southfield Lathrup netters wound up play in the dual meet portion of the Inter-Lakes Conference with an unbeaten record after toppling Livonia Stevenson for the second straight time.

The two contenders for league honors clashed Monday at Stevenson and Lathrup came out with a 4-3 victory, marking the first time any foe had won more than one match from the Chargers.

It was a tight duel all the way with the schools splitting the singles matches, 2-2. Lathrup swept the first two doubles matches and had the victory.

The results: singles—Larry Nemer (S-L) def. Jim Shea (S), 6-2, 6-1; Paul Altese (S) def. Bob Hollander (S-L), 10-8, 6-2; Jack Zaret (S-L) def. Tony Leonard (S), 6-0, 9-7; Ron Hoekstra (S) def. Keith West (S-L), 6-1, 7-5; doubles—Howard Wright—Steve

Schneider (S-L) def. Jerry Kennedy—Mike Mikula (S), 6-3, 6-4; Cliff Migdal—Mike Pomish (S-L) def. Doug Hansford—

Bruce Lupp (S), 3-6, 6-2, 6-2; Walt Ozapran—Larry Bickham (S) def. Howard Davis—Norm Klein (S-L), 1-6, 6-3, 5-4.

Garage Inexpensive Project

If yours is like nine out of 10 American families, the car — when it is at home — is parked in the driveway while the garage sits empty. Which is ridiculous because for around $1,000 or less this unused space can be converted to a dining room, recreation room or extra bedroom and bath. Usually an attached garage is in such a spot that it can be fully integrated into the traffic pattern of the house without building new hallways or entries. In many cases all that is necessary is to replace the big garage door with windows or a new section of exterior wall, then finish the ceiling, walls and floor.

Since there is no heavy construction involved, many homeowners feel that they can afford luxury touches such as a fireplace and paneling. But whether or not money is an important factor, the Better Floors Council suggest that low-cost vinyl asbestos tile be used as the flooring because it can be installed directly on a concrete slab, even below grade. The new adhesive-back tile is very easy to install and is available in a wide range of patterns and colors.

If it is important to have shelter for your car, a carport can be attached at minimum cost. With a roof of corrugated translucent panels, it can do double duty, serving as a patio in summer.

The chief sacrifice in eliminating a garage is loss of storage space for bicycles, garden tools and other outdoor equipment.

Suburban Gardener

'A Time To Sow' And Where And How

By BETTY FRANKEL
Civilization began when man discovered that he could plant seeds and roots and grow his own food.

Civilization has come a long way since then and many young people — and some older ones, too — dissatisfied with the pressures — values of modern society are seeking a simpler and more basic way of life. They are relying less on machine-made and mass-produced products and more on their own labors and creations. They are turning to the land to satisfy their needs and are raising at least some of their own food.

No matter what your religion or philosophy, there is great satisfaction in planting seeds, cultivating and nurturing and then harvesting the produce when it is at its peak of perfection. Gardening gives you a feeling of being a participant in the mystery and wonder of life, and implies great faith in the future.

For gardening to be satisfying and productive it is necessary for the gardener to have some basic knowledge — to know where and when and how to plant and cultivate.

SUNSHINE is the first requirement. All day, if possible. Vegetables won't grow in the shade.

Next consider moisture. Although the soil must be well-drained, it can't be parched and dry. Most plants need the equivalent of about an inch of rain per week. In dry spells the garden should be watered. Keep this in mind when choosing a location for the garden.

In small gardens water can be carried in buckets to the garden, but it is far easier to use a hose for a large garden. Avoid light sprinkling. Flow the water on the ground between the rows or in trenches along side the plants, or use a soil-soaker hose.

The quality of the soil is of great importance, but this is something the gardener can do something about. Poor soil can be improved. The soil should be porous so air can get to the roots, spongy so moisture will be retained, and should contain the minerals and elements needed for plant growth.

Add animal manure or plant compost to the soil to improve its texture and fertility. If you are an "organic" gardener you will use no chemicals but rely on organic materials. Really they are all that is needed but many people prefer to supplement the soil with chemical fertilizer.

Keep in mind that nitrogen stimulates leafy growth — good for spinach or other vegetables whose leaves and stems are eaten. Phosphorous aids root development and is what is needed for carrots, turnips, radishes, and beets. Potassium increases general sturdiness and helps the yield of vegetables in which the seeds, pods, or fruits are eaten. This includes tomatoes, broccoli, squash, beans.

HOW BIG do you make the garden? That depends on how much space is available, how large a family you are feeding, or how much work you want to put into the garden. The enthusiasm of Spring can wear a bit thin by mid-summer if too much is tackled. At any rate, choose the varieties that your family will enjoy eating, with something new and different each year for added interest.

Plan the garden so the plants are properly spaced. This information is given on the seed packets. Radishes, lettuce, beets, carrots and spinach can be in rows a foot apart. Most others need 1½ to two feet between rows. Tomatoes that are staked need a minimum of two feet. If not staked, tomatoes need three feet. Melons, cucumbers, squash and other spreading vines need three to five feet in each direction.

Leave enough room so that you can get between the rows to cultivate and harvest. Place tall plants where they won't shade short ones.

Cultivate often enough to keep the weeds from growing. They are robbers, stealing moisture and nutrients from the vegetables. Cultivate lightly after a rain. The crumbly layer will keep the soil beneath from drying out.

'Point With Pride' To Concrete Creations

As sand castles and mud pies are to children, and clay is to a sculptor, working in concrete is to men. The same feeling of shaping a substance and watching it harden stimulates and satisfies man's creative urge.

At the same time, you are making a permanent home improvement that you can point to with pride. And, of course, you are saving money while adding to the beauty, comfort and value of your home.

A new book entitled "Concrete Work Simplified" explains how to mix and use concrete for almost every type of repair and improvement. It tells how to lay footings, a garage, tool house or basement floor; build concrete block foundation walls, steps, a patio, etc. It also tells how to install an outside entry door through a concrete block basement wall. Everything the homeowner needs to know about concrete work and the tools required is explained in step-by-step directions accompanied by many illustrations. There is something relaxing about working with your hands. Winston Churchill learned this when he mastered the art of brick laying.

Regardless of his other great accomplishments, he used to point with pride to the brick wall he erected when famous visitors called on him. Every mind and body requires release from the tensions of everyday life. Working with your hands provides a creative escape from everyday worries.

LARGE, CLEAR, step-by-step illustrations take you from the most elementary concrete work to more artistic projects, like making designs in the concrete. Random shaped concrete makes an ideal indoor or outdoor floor.

The book also tells you how to add color to a concrete walk or patio. These same color powders can be used in casting decorative concrete blocks. Decorative blocks permit air and light to provide decoration and ventilation while serving a functional purpose as room dividers, partitions, fence or plant box.

Those who think that concrete patios are dull stretches of grey, will be interested in the section on "Pave A Patio," with its four large illustrations of squares and plaids. Reference is made here too to the use of color in concrete work, giving the final surface an appearance of terrazzo.

A section of this how-to book deals with pre-mixed concrete which only requires adding water. It is ideal for setting posts and making repairs.

A page devoted to tips to home buyers shows how to make sizable savings. The accompanying illustrations show how to make a foundation wall waterproof. The facing page illustrates the use and installation of a sump pump, an electric pump that "lifts" water to the height your foundation requires.

Tips on laying a concrete floor also covers insulation and waterproofing. It goes on to give advice on how to create a warmer basement. By making your home warmer and dryer you will insure your whole family's comfort and perhaps reduce heating bills in the process.

You may send $1 in check or money order for Home Improvement Book No. 617 to P.O. Box 215, Briarcliff Manor, N.Y. 10510; send $1 additional for catalog illustrating over 300 build-it-yourself projects.

Springtime Racketeers: Gypsy Pavers

"Tulips, daffodils and the 'gypsy paving' racketeers are three things we can count on every spring, and we have them again this year," warns Walter Tervo, executive secretary of the Michigan Asphalt Paving Association. The "gypsy paving" racketeers he referred to are roving bands of itinerant gypsies going house to house around the state offering to resurface driveways with a tar-based substance for a few dollars.

"The tar-based compound actually is a worthless paint mixture similar in appearance to the sealing compounds used by reputable firms," Tervo said. "But the similarity ends with its appearance. It is worthless, and we want to warn homeowners and businessmen to save their money. If they want something resurfaced, call only on reliable firms, and you can find their names in the phone book," Tervo said.

He reported that gypsy pavers usually charge whatever the market will bear, and threats of physical violence or property damage are not uncommon if the homeowner refuses to pay or threatens to call the police. "Anyone approached should check first with their local police, Better Business Bureau or our association's office before agreeing to the work," said Tervo.

OBSERVATION POINT

Ecology, Race Relations
Making Progress HereBy Philip H. Power
Publisher

There were a couple pieces of good news last week.

They decided to save the old maple tree in Farmington, and Roosevelt Lyons, who lives in Southfield, had a lot of visitors.

The tree was threatened by a city paving project, and when this word got out a tremendous ruckus was raised.

People telephoned this newspaper; lawyers talked about the matter; community-minded people started taking a close look; kids in school started writing letters to the paper; a demonstration on the tree's behalf was arranged by the people who live next door.

The upshot was that the City of Farmington decided to spend $11,000 to relocate the paving away from the tree and to enclose an open ditch nearby.

THE CASE of Mr. Lyons has not been settled as definitely as that of the tree in Farmington.

Lyons recently moved into a new $50,000 home in Southfield. Last week, someone threw a brick through the patio window; earlier, someone had painted the words, "Nigger - go home," on its side.

Lyons, you see, is black. He holds three jobs, and his wife teaches school. Evidently, he wants to live here in the suburbs for the same reasons as anyone else.

But when the brick came through his window, he got mad and started talking about the situation.

Since then, he's had a lot of visitors, white visitors, who wanted their friendship to show.

He's also had a lot of telephone calls. "I've had people call me saying, 'Don't give up. Don't move. We understand your problem,'" Lyons said. "Not one call whatsoever has been nasty," he added.

And people along his street have stopped by to leave their phone numbers and ask Lyons to call them if anything else happened or if he needed help.

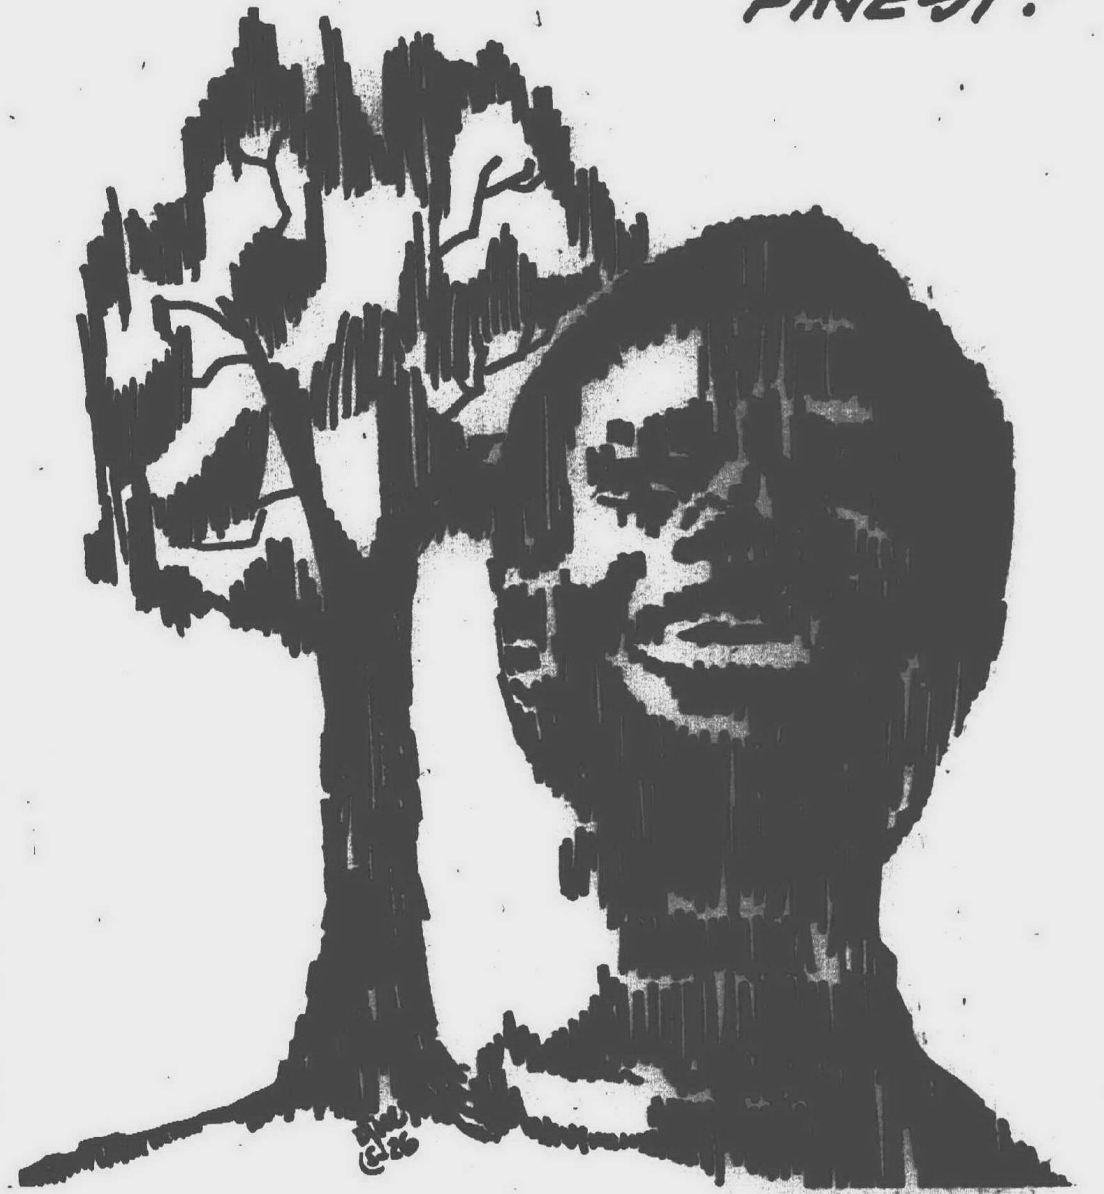

THE REMARKABLE thing about both the tree in Farmington and the black man in Southfield is that people got involved. No one fancy. Just plain people, who say that something wrong was happening and wanted to do something about it.

Ecology costs money; in Farmington's case, it costs whatever part of the paving project change it took to save the tree, which is probably around $5,000.

Developing a more open attitude toward race in the suburbs also costs; but probably the cost can't be measured in terms of money. The bill comes more in courage and human pain, caring and a sense of fear.

In both cases however, people were willing to pay the costs involved.

The old maxim says that you don't get something for nothing. What was accomplished in the suburbs last week was a good proof of just how right the old saying is.

SCORE TWO FOR SUBURBIA'S
FINEST!Charges
Column
Is WrongBy JAMES L. MELOSH
Livonia

I would like to comment upon the article "Tim Richard writes" in the May 19 issue of the Observer. Mr. Richard refers to me by name, and if the Observer wishes to be fair, I deserve equal space.

The entire editorial was based on the assumption that I am a member of a teachers' union that is plotting to sinisterly take over the Livonia Public Schools for the sole benefit of the Michigan Education Association.

The quality of Mr. Richard's reporting is evident when two facts are made known: I am not a member of the Michigan Education Association or any other union, and I have not been endorsed by this group.

I DO NOT represent any organized group. I am a candidate representing my own personal points of view. I want to make it clear to the voters of the Livonia School District that I wish to be judged on the basis of my views, education, and character and not on the basis of the actions of others in my profession.

Mr. Richard is obviously prejudiced against teachers; I hope that his views are isolated examples and not reflective of the voters of this school district.

The Michigan Education Association and its various local groups have apparently generated a great deal of ill feeling. These groups have also generated some ill feelings with me. I must be candid in admitting that I am in agreement with most teachers in desiring full school days, smaller class sizes, and higher teacher pay.

I am, on the other hand, strongly opposed to some union activities. This opposition led me to resign from the Michigan Education Association last year in philosophical protest. I must repeat, I am not representing any union as Mr. Richard so falsely implied.

Also of concern to me is a tendency which I see in the unionization of teachers that puts the emphasis on teachers rather than students. At the same time I believe students would benefit from better quality teachers and that better teachers should be attracted by higher pay.

I also believe that students would benefit from smaller classes. I have not seen the present Board of Education or the Livonia Education Association take enough action to improve the quality of the teaching in Livonia.

IF THERE is any one group I would like to represent on the Livonia Board of Education, it is the students. There is seldom anyone speaking directly for them. I think schools should do things with and for students, and not just to them.

DISSENT

View points expressed in DISSENT do not necessarily reflect those of Observer Newspapers Inc., but are presented in the belief that publication of all segments of thought on a public issue is a prerequisite to understanding and progress.

Recently some of Livonia's finest students conducted a mock Board of Education meeting in which they expressed their feelings about several issues including the evaluation of teachers. In the several weeks since, the board has not considered the complaints.

This mock session was interesting when viewed from another point of view. The president of the teachers organization and the superintendent both spoke for the status quo.

I maintain there are some bad teachers in Livonia, as well as in other districts, and no one in a position of leadership is actively doing anything about improving or removing them. I resent people like Mr. Richard assuming that I agree with these practices when in fact I do not.

By implication Mr. Richard implied that I was interested in union activities and not students. This is erroneous. I like students and that is why I am a teacher. When I became a teacher the pay was definitely not attractive.

The great majority of teachers, I feel, are genuinely interested in the welfare of each individual student, and this motivation has spurred many conscientious educators to take active roles in the boards of their respective areas. It is the initiative of these individuals that will bring to education the progress that it deserves.

Mr. Richard's closing comment is of interest: "There's much to be said for a board that's a little on the dumb and innocent side." I would like to know what can be said for boards that are dumb and innocent.

If Mr. Richard intended an evaluation of the present board this statement may be partially accurate but to advocate this is an absurdity. I think there should be people on the Board of Education who know what education is all about so they can validly evaluate what the administration is recommending as policy. We don't have that now.

I would like to close with several questions about Mr. Richard's journalistic completeness. Why did he single me out as a candidate for the Livonia Board of Education and raise these false charges? Why did he not investigate his facts? Why does Mr. Richard fail to see a conflict in Mr. Craft being a former teacher and now an administrator in the Northville Schools?

But, if the Observer wishes to take this position, they should apply all the criteria for evaluating all the candidates to all of the candidates and not attempt to smear one particular candidate by name.

Time For Males To Get Attractive

If the sexes are to achieve the equal status that so many of our younger generation profess to believe in, then our young women should take a critical look at their male counterparts.

If a woman takes the time to look attractive for her man (which is a way of showing respect for him), then doesn't she have the right to ask that he do likewise? Upon such mutual self-respect one can build a meaningful relationship.

Without it, there are the subtle controls of inequality - the controller and the controlled, the dominant "do as I please" male and the subservient "everything to please him" female.

THESE THOUGHTS began to take shape on the first hot Sunday in May.

Ignoring the looks of disbelief and the quiet comments such as "look guys, mother's here" I spread my blanket on the sandy beach of Cass Lake.

It's a public beach, I told myself, and if I want to bring two fifth grade girls out in the sun for the afternoon, I should be able to ... but it wasn't easy. I felt about as welcome as the Egyptian color guard at a Yom Kippur service.

The beach was blanket to blanket teenagers and young adults all out on the first hot day to "make contact."

My 11-year-old said, with the naivete that she will lose far too quickly, "I wonder why they all come here - nobody's swimming."

Indeed, out of the thousand or so gathered on the beach, only a handful ever got wet - let alone swam.

BUT THAT'S NOT really the point of my outburst, for there's nothing wrong or new about the motive. Beaches have always been great places for ogling the opposite sex.

With the feeling that when one is in a foreign country, one should observe the customs and culture of the natives, I decided to do some serious people watching.

First, I had better explain that I am neither an ardent woman's libber nor a man hater - some of my best friends are men, but something is happening that makes me want to burn my copy of "The Sensuous Woman."

In the broad expanse of prone bodies, one could pick out a hundred or more attractive bikini-clad (maybe unclad is more appropriate) young women - shiny hair, scrubbed faces, light, well applied makeup, clear skin.

In that same broad expanse, I spotted two clean, attractive beach boys. To a man, the rest were sloppy, grimy, unshaven. In most cases, their long hair was hanging listless, unshaped and in loose separated strands. One, who walked by with a big comb sticking out of his jeans' hip pocket, had a bush that could easily have hidden several bats and a nest of gerbils.

Where Does Your Trash Go?

Few jobs are harder in this technological era than they were a generation ago. A notable exception is hauling out the trash.

As a kid, I recollect that a family of four generated only one or two cans of garbage and another of trash during a typical week.

When the old homestead in Detroit was first built in 1939, there was the additional chore of hauling out ashes, but that stopped when the coal furnace was replaced by oil and later by gas.

Today one isn't shocked to see

20 or more containers of trash and bags of grass at curbside in our subdivision. One would think the amount would be less because every home has a garbage grinder. But instead the amount of trash gets greater ... and greater ... and greater.

IT'S A MAJOR problem to collect that trash. Recently the City of Farmington, a rather well-run municipality in my estimation, found itself so far behind in trash collection that it took a drastic step.

The city council lifted the no-burning ordinance for a few weeks so that paper and other such materials could be disposed of and the trash burden lightened. That was ironic. Usually one associates burning with the pollution of the environment, but in this case it was the opposite.

Mark Twain once made mockery of American burial customs, arguing that if continued they would lead to a nation piled high with reeking caskets. But before we hit that point, we may be wallowing in our own trash. The Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce outlined the scope of the problem:

"THE LATEST national survey report (1968) indicates that every man, woman and child produces close to 5.3 pounds of refuse per day! And this is only part of it.

"This average includes only collected wastes; it does not include what may be burned or disposed of by individuals or industrial wastes disposed of by business firms.

"Adjusted figures bring the total average figure up to 10 pounds per person per day."

If that's so, then a family of four in a week would generate 280 pounds of refuse. That's seven tons and more in a year.

All sorts of other statistics are available, but they only boggle the mind and one can't remember them anyhow. Let's just say that our increasing use of wrapping paper, bags, coated boxes, jars, throwaway bottles, aluminum packages, plastic bottles, etc., etc., ad nauseum - that we're junking up the environment.

WE'RE ALL generating junk as fast as we can, but no one wants to store it. Sites for sanitary landfills are getting harder and harder to find, and rural townships object to being the trash heaps for urban dwellers, and understandably.

The Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments is trying to round up money for a consultant's study that would make an inventory of existing landfills, locate new sites, project volumes for future years and propose a system of disposition. But SEMCOG is having a little difficulty getting the donations it needs.

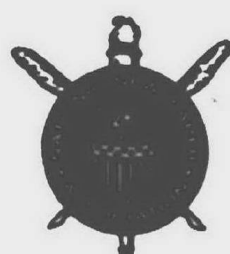

Everyone wants to toss out stuff, but darned few persons are worrying about what happens to it.

Keep 'Big Business' Out Of Livonia's Center

Editor:
The Woodcreek Farms subdivision in Livonia feels it appropriate to restate its opinion concerning the proposed zoning of Five Mile and Farmington Roads. We recently polled the residents and the following reflects the majority feeling:

We are against the rezoning. We have no objection to the construction of 2 1/2 story maximum buildings. This low-profile construction should not detract from the present character of the area.

We want to keep the residential character of the Five Mile and Farmington intersection. "Big business" is developing many other areas of our city. We see no gain or advantage in allowing them to change the style here. We would like to see "big business" developments kept contained in the already expanding commercial and industrial corridors.

Most of us came to Livonia to get away from the "downtowns" of our society. Some of us have changed addresses in Livonia to escape the encroachment of monuments to business. We settled here because it appeared to be free from the possibility of dense commercialization.

We had no fear of a civic center development. This is necessary to carry on the business of a city government.

This is a residential area. Look at the subdivisions that flourish here. Woodcreek Farms residents feel that if we change the character of our area, the flourishing will die an unnatural death.

Many of us can't help wondering why monuments should have to be a part of our existence. Profit motive? Personal gain? A sign that we have passed this way? Identity? It takes a shortsighted, selfish view to justify monumentalization for any of these reasons.

Ecology today is a large concern. We ask that the possibility of "density

Skaters Ask Right To Pay

EDITOR:
Because of the warmer weather approaching, the Devon-Aire Woods ice skating rink has closed up. Many skaters don't like this and have had petitions signed by as many as 180 people to keep it open.

If someone is worried about having to pay too much to keep it cold, the skaters have agreed to pay more to get in. I feel I am backed up by many people on this idea.

NDC Praises McDonald Vote

EDITOR:
In spite of heavy pressure from Republican leadership in the nation's capitol, U.S. Congressman Jack McDonald split from his party to vote against any extension of the Selective Service Act and against further funding of the U.S. supersonic transport (SST) project.

As part of his constituency in the 19th Congressional District, the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia wants to thank Congressman McDonald for the stands he's taken on these issues.

We are cognizant of the fact that these were difficult decisions to make. Only rarely will an elected public official have the courage to defy the leadership of his own party—putting principle over political expediency.

We commend this type of independent thinking.

Half Days Wasted Time

EDITOR:
I think that our recent Livonia School District millage should have been passed. But it was turned down. This might create another problem in Livonia.

They're going to lay off some of the teachers who have one year of school teaching. The problem is this: one of the teachers in our school (Whitman) has been holding intramural contests against other classes.

But he won't be with us next year so we won't have intramural contests next year. And we might go on half-days. This would create another problem too. The kids would get out of school about 12 o'clock then go waste their time in Rosedale Park or out on the streets with nothing to do.

I think kids should be in school a full day then they would have something to do instead of wasting their time in the park or on the streets.

Poor Losers Get Message

EDITOR:
I wish to take issue with a few poor losers who have written Observer Newspapers to blast all of us "irresponsible" souls who rejected the recent school millage proposal.

One writer in particular was extremely hypocritical—blaming the justifiable reaction on such unrelated matters as the ABM and the Vietnam war, which are best left to the military to decide—not the lady's sewing club—or there won't be a damn thing left for anybody to attend!

More precisely, many of us are fed up with waste everywhere, including that in our present educational system. When the school board decides to quit passing the buck and eliminates such frills as marble drinking fountains, air-conditioning, front-door bus service, aid to the dope-taking, destructive radical students (who is not among the majority of students but usually has "influential" parents) and other glaring wastes of the taxpayer's money, they might ask for a half mill and get by with it.

How many times do Livonia's taxpayers have to vote and reject the same issue before the present big time spenders get the message and take a lesson in simple economics?

I sincerely hope all those who so wisely defeated the first school tax proposal this year will not be brained-washed, sweet-talked, or brow-beaten into accepting the second proposal. If some people want to spoil their kids, let them do so with their own money, not with everyone else's!

'Ecological Murder'

EDITOR:
Other than constant worry over the extremely serious financial plight of the Livonia School District, nothing disturbs me quite so much as the planned destruction of Volk's Woods.

Council members in any city are not naturalists (such as Messrs. Niergarth and Sutherland of Schoolcraft College), and in their ignorance many of nature's treasures are forever lost—in the name of progress. There should be a law to reverse proven rezoning blunders without the threat of a court suit.

Do the people involved, either willingly or unwittingly, in this ecological murder, have consciences? Will it not bother them to see this unique, irreplaceable woods come tumbling down? It is wrong and no amount of rationalization can make it right.

Human greed is an intangible disease—and it touches every walk of life.

Coney Island Stock Offered

Robert R. Thompson, board chairman, and Steve M. Tomen, president, Original Coney Island, Inc., jointly announced the completion of the company's underwriting of approximately 394,000 shares of stock by Morrison, McKewen & Young, Inc., a Detroit underwriter.

Thompson said the offering "has been well received," adding that the stock was quoted at $2.375 bid and $2.75 asked on April 28.

The company had offered up to 500,000 shares at $2 a share and a successful underwriting depended upon the sale of at least 325,000 shares.

Now in the Detroit area—here's the help you need each week

by Donald A. Macdonald, Vice-President
Dow Jones & Company, Inc.

If you're like most people here in the Detroit area, chances are you spend most of your time and energy on matters that affect yourself day-in and day-out: struggling to get ahead in the world... enjoying your home, your family, and your friends... making your community a more rewarding place in which to live.

So when it comes to the news, doesn't it make good sense for you to know not only what is happening, but how these events and issues actually affect the way you live?

If so, then I want to tell you about an entirely different kind of newspaper: The National Observer, the national weekly newspaper for the business of living. The Observer is published by Dow Jones & Company, the same people who publish The Wall Street Journal for the business of making a living.

Each week, The Observer helps its more than 1,800,000 readers with a fresh, new kind of reporting. Its pages are packed with news that relates to them... news that's useful... all in addition to a complete round-up of the major news of the week.

Now you and your friends in the Detroit area are invited to see for yourselves how useful The Observer can be to you. For only $7 you can have the next 52 weekly issues delivered right to your mailbox.

The moment you have your first copy of The National Observer in your hands, you'll be intrigued by its comprehensive, clear coverage of the news that can affect you day-in and day-out. For example, in recent issues The Observer has provided readers with the facts they need on subjects such as...

—The crisis suburbia faces as a result of multi-family housing being subsidized by the Federal government.

—How aggrieved taxpayers can now take the Internal Revenue Service to court without having to hire an attorney.

—The dramatic effects which the growing four-day work week is having on Americans' living and leisure patterns.

—The benefits you may reap from recent Congressional legislation outlawing 14 deceptive consumer trade practices.

Whatever the news, if it's newsworthy and interesting, you can trust The National Observer to keep you informed about it: world events, national issues and politics, consumer affairs, sciences, the arts, education, business, and much more.

In fact, a recent TIME-Louis Harris Poll showed The Observer to be one of the most trusted newspapers in the U.S. And The Observer has won awards for its editorial excellence for the last six years.

Does this sound like the kind of newspaper you need for the business of living your life? Then I invite you to try The National Observer for a year at a cost of only $7... less than 14¢ an issue. What's more, you have my personal guarantee of satisfaction.

To take advantage of this offer, just fill in and mail the coupon to me, along with your check or money order. Or if you prefer, I'll be glad to have you billed later. But act today.

Plymouth Symphony To Charge Admission

For the first time since its early days when it passed around concert collection plates, the Plymouth Symphony will charge admission to its performances.

This was announced by Wayne Dunlap, the symphony's conductor, at the annual meeting of the Plymouth Symphony Society in Junior High West Wednesday evening.

Rising costs of running the symphony, plus the fact that it no longer receives support from the Plymouth Community Fund, make the step necessary, said Dunlap. Admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for children.

But he stressed that no one who wants to attend a concert will be denied the opportunity because of lack of money. Arrangements will be made, especially for students and senior citizens.

IN BALANCING A BUDGET every little bit helps, and four-year-old Julie Sparling was one of the helpers. Julie helped her mother, Mrs. Robert Sparling, make the canisters which were distributed throughout Plymouth stores for the Plymouth Symphony Society. She is shown with Plymouth jeweler, Fred Beitner. The society hopes to break even in spite of a record budget of almost $20,000.

Barn Theater Opens May 28

The new season of the Macomb Theater At-the-Barn of Macomb Community College will open with the musical comedy, "The Fantasticks," May 28, 29 and 30 and June 4, 5 and 6 at 8 p.m.

The play will be staged in the casual atmosphere of the 50-year-old Barn Theater on Hall Rd. (M-59) at Garfield between Utica and Mt. Clemens.

The box office will be open daily from 1 to 6 p.m. Reservations may be made.

IN SPITE OF rising costs, the symphony's future looks bright.

In reporting that the symphony spent more than $19,500 between May 1, 1970, and April 30, 1971, while taking in only slightly more than $17,000, Art Larson, the president, said, "We haven't finished a fiscal year. June 30 is the end of this year and we should about break even."

"We are very grateful for this. There are many symphonies in deep trouble," Dunlap also pointed out that in the past year the symphony, celebrating its 25th anniversary, has had the largest budget in its history, that expenditures have been greater than ever before and that it was a difficult year in which to raise money.

One reason for optimism is Dunlap's promise that "the symphony's dream will become a reality," that it will actually begin concerts in the new Plymouth High School auditorium in the fall.

"The audience is in for a marvelous surprise and the symphony will be heard like it has never been heard before," reported Dunlap. He predicted that audiences may double when people are no longer "faced with the rigors of the bleachers," as they have been in the old Central High School gymnasium.

Plans are well under way for the dedication concert, to be given Oct. 17.

Plans are well under way for the dedication concert, to be given Oct. 17. Schoolcraft College's composer-in-residence, Robert W. Jones, is hard at work on a new composition for the occasion.

Jones, who has been at Schoolcraft since July 1969, has just been awarded a new grant by the Ford Foundation to allow him to continue his work there.

Dunlap also announced that the symphony will work with the Plymouth Fine Arts Council on promotion and coordination. It will receive help from Schoolcraft College, as it did recently when it presented the Severo Ballet Company.

"There is reason to hope that this support will grow," said Dunlap, who is Schoolcraft's director of fine arts.

OTHER PLANS for the year include presentation of the Severo Ballet company in "The Nutcracker" in December and a concert with the Kenneth Jewell Chorale.

"With proper facilities we can now invite dance groups, operatic companies and special performing artists whose talents require the space of a true auditorium," promised Dunlap.

Plans for the future also revolve around continued support of the Plymouth Symphony League, the group of 200 women who annually raise $6,000 to support the symphony through a variety of projects. It is the biggest single contributor to the symphony.

According to the retiring president, Mrs. Ann Krankel, "We did very well this year."

Petition Deadline July 27 For SC Hopefuls

By KATHY MORAN
Judge Roland Olzak of Wayne County Circuit Court has given Schoolcraft College the green light for an at-large election of five trustees to be held on Sept. 13.

Unless the State Legislature takes action which would upset the at-large election, filing petitions will be due by 4 p.m. on July 27, the election will be Sept. 13, and the new trustees will take office Oct. 4.

TWO BILLS relating to the election are now pending in the State Legislature and would take precedence over the judge's decision if passed prior to the election.

One bill, proposed by State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), would call for essentially the same plan but would add one trustee to the board and could change the election date to November of 1972 if an amendment is retained. The bill passed the Senate with the amendment last week with only one opposing vote.

The other bill is sponsored by State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) and would give the college the option of having at-large or single-member district elections.

The college would decide which plan to follow by a vote of the college trustees and the community college apportionment commission.

So far, no action has been taken on Stempien's bill, which is pending on the floor of the House.

AFTER A NEARLY 45-minute debate on Friday between Stempien, acting as the intervening plaintiff, and Edward Draugelis, the college attorney, Judge Olzak decided in favor of the at-large election and made only one revision of the college's proposal.

The trustees had asked for a ninth trustee seat to break tie votes. Olzak kept the board at eight members to make it in keeping with the founding statutes.

When the college was founded, the statutes provided for a trustee representative from each school district and three at-large trustees. The school districts of Livonia, Clarenceville, Plymouth, Northville, and Garden City each currently have one representative on the eight-member board.

Stempien, who had earlier been granted the right to intervene in the case, led the opposition to the trustees' proposed plan after no representatives of the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia showed up to contest it.

The NDCL had filed the suit against the college to force reapportionment of the district. NDC Chairman Neil deStigter had said earlier that the NDC would contest the plan.

Roger Craig, NDC lawyer, did not appear in court and Draugelis said that Craig had called him and agreed to an at-large election on Friday morning.

STEMPIEN ASKED the judge to order the current trustees to make a "good faith" attempt at subdividing the college area before considering an at-large election. He contended that census figures were available to district the area.

However, the figures that Stempien brought to court were only for census tracts and not for smaller block areas that would be necessary for redistricting.

"The first duty of the defendant district is to make a genuine effort to carry out the clear intention of the statutory language for election of five members from single-member districts and three members at-large," Stempien said. "There has been no good faith attempt to comply to the single-member statute."

DRAUGELIS countered by calling the districting approach "an archaic method of electing trustees" for this area, saying it would become a system of gerrymandering just to satisfy the requirement.

He told the court that the trustees represent the entire district after their election, and they had concluded that an "at-large election was the only way that made sense."

"I think the board acted in a politically responsible manner," Draugelis said. "They have made a good faith and reasonable effort."

"There may be a better plan, there may be a worse one, but this is the one the board agreed upon," he said, stressing that Craig had agreed to it.

STEMPIEN WON in his objection to increasing the number of trustees to nine, contending that this was the Legislature's responsibility - not the court's.

Olzak stressed that he hoped the Legislature would take action on the matter, but in the meantime, an at-large election would satisfy the constitutional requirement of "one-man, one-vote."

He added that the court did not have the resources to make a decision on a districting plan.

"I want to make it crystal clear," Olzak said, "I am not indicating my preference for either plan. I am only acting as I can most effectively."

He referred to his action as a "stop-gap that will keep the people from being disenfranchised for any longer than possible."

CONDUCTING HIS LAST commencement ceremonies as president of Schoolcraft College, retiring Dr. Eric Bradner, speaks to 250 graduating students, their families and friends. The exercises were the first to be held in the college's new gymnasium. Bishop Thomas Gumbleton (third left) gave the commencement address. The college also awarded its first honorary associate in arts degrees to board trustees Paul Mutnick, L. Clarke Oldenburg, and Chairman Jane Moehle. The trustees are charter members of the college and have served in their offices since its founding 10 years ago.

153 New Grads To Help Courts

Certificates were awarded recently to 153 persons who completed the Volunteer Probation Officers Training program co-sponsored by Madonna College and Schoolcraft College.

Mayor Edward McNamara of Livonia presented the certificates to the participants, who were introduced by Sister M. Andreetta, director of the program at Madonna.

Sister M. Danatha, president of Madonna, and Frederick Stefanski representing Schoolcraft and a co-director of the program, officiated.

THE PROGRAM was funded under a federal grant. It prepared the participants to supplement professional probationary officers in rehabilitating youthful offenders in northwest Wayne and southwest Oakland counties.

It began in the fall with a seven-week instruction period and was followed by a six-month practicum. In the second phase, the trainees observed professional probation officers and counseled young probationers while under supervision.

The volunteers will now work with probationers assigned to them by the court.

Of the graduates, 100 were from Livonia, 14 from Westland, eight from Redford Township, four from Garden City, three from Farmington, two from Plymouth and one from Southfield. The balance were from neighboring communities.

SC Senate Supports Districting

The Student Senate of Schoolcraft College voted to support a district election plan for college trustees rather than an at-large plan at a meeting on Thursday.

The students resolved "to support in principle that the election of the board of trustees by one-man one-vote, be by districts rather than at-large and further to support the holding of elections as they are now in June rather than November elections."

After hearing talks by Jeaneane Hagstad, a member of the New Democratic Coalition of Livonia; Russell Bogarin, assistant dean of student affairs; and Patrick Newman, director of student activities, the Senate decided that district elections would be in the best interest of the Schoolcraft students.

A spokesman for the Senate said that they decided a board elected from districts would be more responsive to individuals and student groups and that the smaller communities would be overpowered by larger communities in at-large elections.

Oakland Invited Into Rouge Study

By W.W. EDGAR

Oakland County officials have been asked to join with Wayne County to fight the war on pollution in the entire Rouge River Basin - but there's a catch to the invitation.

The catch is a matter of $15,000 to help defray the costs of a six month study to determine the source of the pollution and the causes of trouble.

"I figure the study, which is vitally necessary," Henry Herrick, Wayne County drain commissioner, stated, "will cost about $35,000. There's no sense in conducting the study only to Eight Mile Road (Wayne County limits) so I have asked Oakl and to join with us and share the expense."

THE DRAIN COMMISSION won approval of Wayne County's portion of $20,000 and now is waiting to hear from Oakland, where the plan has been taken under advisement by the drain committee to determine the feasibility of the entire plan. "We haven't bothered with Washtenaw County," Herrick said, "because there is so little of it in the Rouge Valley."

Herrick also explained that he has contacted the state agricultural commission for the right to go ahead and is certain he'll get approval for the study of flood and pollution control.

"WE'RE WORKING on a three-phase program," the drain commissioner emphasized.

"The first will be the annual cleanup, with the help of the Jaycees and other volunteer organizations interested in the improvement of our environment. We have been given $10,000 to help pay the cost of this activity."

"The second phase will be the projected study - if Oakland County comes through. (He didn't mention what was planned if Oakland County objected)."

"The third phase will be the installation of a mammoth interceptor from the Detroit River up to Oakland County. This would have lateral lines to take care of the Middle Rouge Basin and the Lower Rouge area."

Herrick said this idea of building the huge interceptor has been discussed for some time and that it seems like the most logical solution.

He stated that he was working with the Army Corps of Engineers, officials of the Pollution Abatement Program and the Water Development group.

"THIS IS certain to be costly," he said. "I have mentioned the figure of $250 million. With rising prices, it may go much higher than that."

Asked if there were a definite route for the proposed interceptor, he said nothing definite could be done until the study is completed.

"When we find the source and the cause of the pollution, we then can determine the route. Chances are that it will go the 20 miles up the main stream along Telegraph."

What 'Power' Is At Stake In SEMCOG Money Debate?

By TIM RICHARD

There's an argument going on in the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, and a few persons say it's a "power struggle."

On one side is Mel Ravitz, the scholarly Detroit councilman who is SEMCOG's chairman, backed by Detroit's Mayor Roman Gribbs.

The other is led by three county officials: Former SEMCOG Chairman W.L. (Larry) Mainland, an Oakland County commissioner from Milford; the up-and-coming Robert FitzPatrick, Wayne County Board chairman, a Detroit resident whose industrial medical clinic is in Livonia; and William E. Richards, Oakland County Board chairman.

THE TWO SIDES disagree on how to solve SEMCOG's crisis — a crisis caused by a shortage of memberships (104 out of a possible 345 governments belong) which leads to a shortage of dues, layoffs and loss of good staff members.

Ravitz selected a task force to work on reorganization of the six-county voluntary agency and a revision of the dues structure.

The task force held a half-dozen meetings and recommended that (a) contributions from cities, villages, townships and school districts be kept at nearly the same $110,000 level but that (b) counties' dues be kicked up from $165,000 to $250,000.

BUT AT a SEMCOG executive committee meeting last week in Southfield, Mainland, FitzPatrick and Richards objected to the task force recommendations.

They asked — and after a two-hour debate were given — until June 1 to present an alternative plan which would put nearly the entire burden of dues on the six current member counties, the City of

analysis

Detroit and a new, seventh county member — Livingston. Ravitz blew up. He conceded: "It might be managed if there was corresponding representation and power granted to the heavy payers, the counties. It threatens the cities, the townships and the school districts with the specter of county domination of the organization."

THE KEY WORD is "power." Time and again Ravitz used the term "power." One of the sore points at the meeting was a Detroit News story of the day before which said that counties were seeking "control" of SEMCOG.

Thus, the question no one asked was: What power is there in SEMCOG? What is to be gained in a "power struggle?"

The News story of 23 column inches gave no clue. This reporter talked to Ravitz for about 10 minutes and got no clear answer. The one-time Wayne State University sociologist talked about how counties, through reapportionment and some day through home rule, will become more influential units of government; how cities are sometimes wary of growing county services; how SEMCOG will become an increasingly important agency in the future.

But Ravitz couldn't answer the simple question: What "power" does SEMCOG have that anyone should fight over?

OAKLAND Chairman Richards called the power-grab charges "totally and completely out of place. I haven't got time" to grab control of SEMCOG.

FitzPatrick added: "You (Ravitz) really have questioned our motives. We have never discussed taking over SEMCOG."

Mainland, author of the proposal, said: "There has been no revolt. The term 'takeover' has been foreign to us. Nobody wants anyone out. We want more in."

It's not a matter of power, Mainland went on, but of "altruism." SEMCOG's leaders act as public trustees.

E. Robert Turner, SEMCOG's executive director and chief hired hand, took no sides in the debate. Under this writer's questioning, he saw little "power" in SEMCOG's hands.

Turner's theory is that SEMCOG is a service agency, not a metropolitan government. He sees SEMCOG as a method of providing a regional structure that local units can use to solve regional problems and from which local units can get help in training management talent, getting computer services, drawing out planning data.

Power grab? There's nothing to grab. That's what Mainland, FitzPatrick, Richards and Turner seemed to be saying.

THE COUNTY leaders don't have hard figures yet, but they visualize the counties taking the burden of payment, with local units being charged a token sum. One of SEMCOG's chief problems during the recession has been that previously loyal members — such as Farmington School District and Redford Township — have dropped out as economy measures.

Ravitz's objection to this plan has to do with finance as well as "power" politics. If one county quits under that setup, it could destroy SEMCOG, he argued.

The county leaders don't see it that way. First, they reply, SEMCOG's membership includes only 30 per cent of the eligible units anyway; their plan can only help by covering everyone.

Second, the counties' contribution is already so great (69 per cent) that one county's withdrawal could still damage or destroy the organization. As Richards put it in an interview:

"Look at Wayne County's portion. You pull $101,000 out (the present dues) and you shaft SEMCOG. You pull $133,000 out (the counties proposed dues level) and you still shaft SEMCOG."

SEMCOG IS presently organized into four "blobs" — cities and villages, townships, educational districts, and counties. The county leaders' plan is still vague, but they talk in terms of making all the units in a single county into a blob.

Nursery Enjoys 10 Good Years

By MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

A strapping "youngster" not yet 10 years old is high in the affection of families throughout Plymouth.

It's the Plymouth Children's Nursery, Inc., which has helped scores of preschoolers learn and have fun and given their parents some valuable information and fellowship too.

This cooperative nursery, which held its first classes in March of 1962, now has grown to be one of the largest and most successful in the area.

Just finished with its classes for the current term, the co-op is planning five different class groups next fall. Of these, only the once-a-week class for three-year-olds has vacancies left.

AND THIS SUMMER the nursery will take a new step and one not often tried by cooperatives. It will offer a summer day-camp program for small children.

"We're planning one session the last week in June and the first week in July," said Mrs. Jan Lucchetti, one of the four teachers during the year and director for the summer class.

"Then if there's enough interest there may be a second summer session the following two weeks."

"Some of the mothers in the nursery expressed an interest in a summer program, and we really feel we should use our facilities to whatever extent is needed."

THE FACILITIES now are centered in a roomy old school building leased since 1963 from the Plymouth Community Schools.

For $1 a day and promises to keep up the old Hough School on Warren just west of Haggerty, the nursery has a building with several separate rooms and a large play-yard.

"It's an ideal setting," said Mrs. Lucchetti, who began with the first group of mothers who organized the nursery and has been a teacher for the last four years. Her son, David, was one of the first children and daughter Anne has belonged this year.

"There are lots of horses out here and not many people - and lots of room for the children to play," she added. The schoolhouse is filled with exciting play equipment for a pre-kindergartner.

There are stacking benches that were made and presented by the Plymouth Senior Citizens, craft and art supplies, racks of dress-up clothes for playing grown-up, and even an incubator that this spring hatched one baby chick (out of four dozen eggs) in full view of one of the morning classes.

INCORPORATION as a non-profit organization came in October of 1962, and in January of the following year a second session was added with Mrs. Lucchetti as teacher.

It was the next September that the nursery leased the Hough school, after first agreeing to clear the first-floor rooms (filled with desks because the school had been used for storage), as well as clean the yard and interior and renovate the plumbing and heating systems.

Fathers and mothers joined in painting bees at the school, and the Senior Citizens donated equipment.

A third class was added in the fall of 1964 and a fourth in May of 1966.

Last year for the first time the nursery tried a once-a-week class.

"It's a little hard for the teacher to fit everything into one class a week," said Mrs. Lucchetti, "but it has worked out well for the mothers, especially those with younger children at home, because they didn't have to assist in class as often."

OTHER TEACHERS in this going nursery are Mrs. Doris Balconi, Mrs. Barbara Wade and Mrs. Linda Gratsch.

Mrs. Lucchetti, participating in the nursery in some capacity throughout most of its history, said she's found a great deal of satisfaction, working with both children and mothers.

"There's no job in the world that's better as an ego builder," she said. "It's wonderful to get all the admiration a nursery school teacher gets."

Mothers interested in participating in next year's program for three-year-olds may call Mrs. Howard Oldford, 10650 JoAnn, Plymouth. In charge of the summer program is the nursery president, Mrs. Robert White, 14795 Dogwood Court, Plymouth.

DAVID LUCCHETTI, one of the nursery's first children, stops back for a visit and gives his teacher-mother a hand by pushing five-year-old Jaye Reno of Livonia on the swing.

THE OLD SCHOOLHOUSE provides an ideal spot for a cooperative nursery.

Eliza Pritchard Marks 95 Years -- Or Is It 97?

It was an unusual party when they sang "Happy Birthday" to Mrs. Eliza Pritchard last Thursday.

The setting was the Northville State Hospital, where Mrs. Pritchard is the oldest patient. Hospital records list her age as 95, but her great-grandson, Anthony Hughes of Detroit, said he thought she was 97.

Whatever the age, it was a gala occasion for the guest of honor - friend long ago to the little boys who grew up to be Joe Louis, Nat King Cole and Little Jackie Wilson.

CANDLES were arranged into the figures 95 on two cakes placed before the smiling Mrs. Pritchard. The nurses in geriatrics ward A22 worried about the age discrepancy.

"Doesn't make no difference," the birthday lady said. "Make it 200 - I'll be here."

Cake and ice cream were passed around to Mrs. Pritchard and her great-grandson, staff members and some patients who came into the party room.

Others waited to be helped with the treat later.

MRS. PRITCHARD, who hasn't been able to see for years, enjoyed the scent of the lilacs placed on the party table and the carnation corsage pinned on her by Mrs. Lucille Pettit of the A22 staff.

"Oh, my goodness!" she exclaimed as the carnations arrived.

She also allowed the occasion warranted a dance - and did one from the shoulders up. Her young relative provided the music in a clear, high voice.

MRS. PRITCHARD was born in Georgia and came to the Detroit area after her marriage. She said she was well acquainted with Joe Louis' mother, and used to watch the famous lad play neighborhood ball long before he stepped into a boxing ring.

Mrs. Scott Installed

Mrs. Samuel Scott of Farmington is the new president of the Farmington alumnae Association of Delta Gamma sorority.

She was installed recently during a luncheon meeting, along with Mrs. David Comfort of Farmington, secretary, and Mrs. James Rumpsa of Livonia, treasurer.

The alumnae group also announces that a Delta Gamma Foundation scholarship has been given in honor of Mrs. Russell Atchison of Northville for service given as the sorority's province alumnae chairman for the last five years. Delta Gamma Foundation scholarships aid students in fields of study related to sight conservation and aid to the blind.

Class Reunion

Garden City East High School graduates of 1965 will hold a reunion June 13, at 1 p.m., in the Edward Hines Parkway between Merriman and Inkster.

UF Elects Directors

A Farmington resident, Mrs. Ernest Meyers has been elected to a three-year term on the board of directors of Women for the United Foundation (WUF).

Mrs. Meyers, who is employed with the women's division of Detroit Bank & Trust Co., was among new officers and directors named at WUF's recent annual meeting.

A Birmingham resident, Mrs. W. Calvin Patterson, was elected a WUF vice president.

Our Betty Frankel A Top Garden Writer

By MARGARET MILLER

As a child in upstate New York, Betty Frankel loved to plant flowers and try to rescue dying trees. She also thought she might like to write children's stories someday.

Now, as a Farmington resident wife and mother, she's brought the two interests together as Observer Newspapers chronicler of matters pertaining to gardens and gardening.

Her special ability to make such earthy subjects clear and fascinating was recognized last week by the Michigan division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, which made her one of four top award winners in its first competition for Michigan garden editors and writers.

Betty received her trophy, topped with a gilded rose, during the organization's awards luncheon in Grand Blanc last Thursday. She had entered feature stories printed in this newspaper.

"It's the first award I've won," she said. "It should go well with my son's Little League trophies."

Mrs. Richard Frankel talked of her interest in both gardening and writing in the living room of her home deep in the woods of Farmington Township.

Trees grow close to the wall of windows, and spring wildflowers are found in abundance just a short way from the home.

"We built this house about five years ago, and before that we had a more conventional yard," Betty said.

"I know I love this natural setting and don't miss my manicured lawn, but I did miss for a while the sunlight you need to grow perennials and vegetables."

"Now my husband has purchased some office property so I can have a garden there. I know some garden writers find they like to just write, but I have to garden, too."

MRS. FRANKEL'S early interest and experience in gardening grew together in the small town where she lived as a girl.

"Both my parents had been raised in New York City and knew nothing about growing things," she said. "I did get some advice from a great aunt, but mostly any planting that was done was left to me."

This interest, and advice of a teacher, led her to the University of Michigan, where she majored in botany, specializing in plant physiology.

Married to Richard Frankel during World War II, she worked for a time in a physics lab for the Army Signal Corps and later at the university before her daughter, Martha, first of the Frankels' three children, was born.

HELPING her community know more about plants and gardening has been one of Betty's main interests as she raised her family in Farmington.

Her first writing for The Farmington Enterprise a dozen years ago, getting into all phases of gardens and horticulture. About that time she joined the Farmington Garden Club, and now she also writes a landscape column for a daily newspaper.

A representative from Farmington Township to an advisory "Keep Michigan Beautiful" committee, Betty now is an active member of the township beautification committee.

"One of the things we're working on now is getting some small parcels of land reserved for parks while they still are available in various sections of the township," she said.

"We have applied for a loan to set one up in Section 36, and hope to be able to get others. Some of the newer subdivisions have included recreation space, but in the older areas of the township there should be places where children can go to play and families can picnic."

BETTY is a longtime member of the American Association of University Women, first in Plymouth, where the Frankels lived for a time, and later in Farmington. Recently she has been active in the newly-organized Farmington Area Naturalists, a study group that meets in the Community Center.

She also has been a Girl Scout leader, and now that her daughters are older still spends two weeks each summer as day camp nature counselor, taking the girls on hikes and helping them build mini-zoos and "introducing them to my friends the beech trees."

Currently working on a master's degree in landscaping at U of M, she does landscaping of homes on a free-lance basis, designing each with an eye to "suitability to the owner and compatibility with the neighborhood."

Pair Honeymoons In Vegas, Hawaii

A honeymoon in Las Vegas and Hawaii followed the wedding of Judi Ann Hall and James Albert Listerman in the First United Methodist Church of Birmingham May 1. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Hall of Echo Valley East and Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Listerman of Ardwick Road, both of Farmington. The bride's father escorted her to the altar, where Dr. Ernest Thomas heard the couple's vows.

MRS. JAMES ALBERT LISTERMAN
(Judi Ann Hall)

WHITE ORGANZA fashioned the bridal gown. Venice lace trimmed the tucked bodice and full sleeves, a blue satin ribbon outlined the empire waistline and blue forget-me-nots were scattered on the skirt and bodice.

A camelot headpiece with light blue bows held the bride's veil, and her flowers were white gardenias and baby's breath and blue tipped roses.

Her attendants wore full-skirted gowns of flock-dotted voile with red satin sashes and chokers and white panama straw hats. They carried single long-stemmed white mums with red satin streamers.

Mrs. Michael Mahoney of Troy was matron on honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. David Clapper of Pontiac, Mrs. William Hall of Northville, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Louis Payne of Pontiac and Debbie Pedersen of Detroit, cousins of the bride; Jan Michelson of Chicago and Kathy McCort of Washington.

Karen Kelsy, the flower girl, wore navy blue dotted swiss with a red satin sash and carried a nosegay of red roses.

TERRY KAPRON of Farmington was best man. Seating the guests were Bob Listerman, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Hall of Northville, brother of the bride, David Clapper of Pontiac, Skip Moore of Livonia, Jeff Mills of East Lansing and Terry Livermore of East Lansing.

Mrs. Hall chose a gown of pale yellow chiffon with lace appliques and a jeweled bodice, and Mrs. Listerman wore an empire gown of apricot chiffon.

The dinner reception for 225 guests was held in the Bay Pointe Country Club in Walled Lake.

THE COUPLE will live in Westland. Both are graduates of North Farmington High School. The new Mrs. Listerman attended Eastern Michigan University and nursing school at Henry Ford Community College and was employed as a United Airlines stewardess for two years.

Her husband, a graduate of Michigan State University and a member of Theta Chi fraternity, is in business with his father in Detroit.

MRS. LeBLANC
(Colleen Cronin)

LeBlanc-Cronin Rites Held

WITH HER GOWN, the bride wore an elbow-length veil and carried a nosegay of white carnations, yellow roses and baby's breath. Her father gave her in marriage.

Judy Chinowski, the bride's only attendant, wore an apricot gown. The bride's mother was in a yellow crepe empire gown with sheer sleeves and Mrs. LeBlanc wore an aqua suit.

Joseph LeBlanc Jr. was best man. The ushers were Kevin Cronin and Jim LeBlanc.

The couple greeted 140 guests in a reception in the Knights of Columbus hall in Plymouth before leaving on a Smoky Mountains honeymoon. They will live in Plymouth.

The bridegroom attends Schoolcraft Community College and the bride, a 1970 graduate of Plymouth High School, formerly studied there.

MRS. EDWARD ALLAN KSENYCH
(Denise Ann Gale)

Denise Gale Wed To E.A. Ksenych

Denise Ann Gale became the bride of Edward Allan Ksenych in a candlelight ceremony in the First United Methodist Church of Farmington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Gale of Farmington, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ksenych of Oro, Canada, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Hugh White heard the couple's vows.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line gown with a lace panel embroidered with pearls and sequins in front. Her bouffant veil was secured by a crown, and her bouquet was a cascade of daisies, glads and mums with a center rose that she presented to the bridegroom as part of the ceremony.

Liz Neville was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Sandy Ksenych and Sylvia Stewart. Their dresses were peach with white lace trim.

Miss Stewart, also soloist for the ceremony, sang from the rear of the church after the bride's mother was seated.

JIM CHAPMAN was best man and Mike Gale and Gary Yawlak were ushers; the bride's nephew, Billy Krauss, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Gale designed her gown of lilac lace over shantung and Mrs. Ksenych was in lime peau de soi.

The bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Krauss, hosted the reception for 125 guests in the church fellowship hall.

After a week of travel in the East, the newlyweds were honored with a second reception in the Constellation Hotel in Toronto.

Both are students at York University in Toronto, where the bridegroom has a teaching fellowship for the coming year. The new Mrs. Ksenych graduated from Farmington High School in 1968 and also attended Western Michigan University.

Revenue Sharing No Help--Suburbs

By KATHY MORAN
In times of financial duress, any plan that would feed money into Michigan cities, townships, and villages would be expected to be met with enthusiasm.

But a number of alleged pitfalls in Gov. William Milliken's local revenue sharing plan drew criticism and skepticism from Oakland County municipal leaders recently.

The major objection of Observerland municipal leaders is that their cities, townships and villages wouldn't get any more money because of their lower-than-average "relative tax effort." At a conference on the proposal sponsored by State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), state budget analyst David Morris explained the plan which would shuffle funds that are returned to local governments from the state.

LOCAL UNITS now are given portions of the intangibles tax, the sales tax and the income tax based on the population figures for the area.

"All state revenue sharing with districts is based on population," Morris said.

"However, the needs or demands for services are not uniform across the state." "State aid is sufficient in some communities whereas in some communities it only meets a fraction of the need," he said.

The controversial section is this: In an effort to redistribute state aid to communities that need it the most, the governor has proposed a formula that would use the number of mills levied in each unit of government to determine the unit's "relative tax effort." Each unit's city, township or village millage would be compared with the state average.

In communities where the relative tax effort is above the state average, more state aid would be allocated. But communities which fall below the state average would ultimately receive less state aid.

The formula only includes cities, townships, and villages. The communities would still receive a portion of the sales tax.

UNDER THE PLAN, the only Observerland city to benefit would be Garden City. Because of its high tax effort, Garden City would increase its take of $17.95 per person to $18.90.

Other Observerland communities fall below the state average. But a "grandfather clause" is included in the proposal which would insure that the cities would get at least the same amount of state aid in 1971-72 as they did for the current year.

The grandfather clause was a point of contention for Pursell who said that with the grave economic woes facing the state, "we can't afford new programs." The clause would cost the state an estimated $7.6 million in 1971-72, 4.5 million in 1972-73, $1.4 million in 1973-74, and "nearly zero" in 1974-75.

JOHN DINAN, Farmington city manager, told the meeting of 16 Oakland officials that he favored the Michigan Municipal League's plan over the state plan because it would take a city's total tax load into consideration - including school millage.

"We feel the total tax vote should be considered," he said. Farmington would lose out because it has a low millage for the city but a high school millage.

Morris said that the school millage was excluded in the local revenue sharing plan because: "How do you know that it is the municipality that needs the relief?"

He said that the governor's education reform package deals with the problem of high school millage.

"That is why you have to consider both together," he said, referring to the revenue sharing and education reform packages.

Farmington Township Supervisor Earl Teeples also expressed dissatisfaction with the plan.

The Senator Is An Athlete

State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) is making a name for himself among the athletic members of the upper house in Lansing.

A month ago the freshman senator won the annual legislative bowling tournament at Holiday Lanes.

This week he moved outdoors and won the annual golf tournament with a 40 for the nine holes.

"Just got lucky on a couple of long putts," was his only reaction.

It was the first time a freshman won either tournament.

Arrest 138 In Park

WESTLAND Wayne County law enforcement officials are hopeful that the raid staged in the Valley View area of the Edward Hines Parkway Friday night is the breakthrough that will lead to the clearing up of what they call "a nasty situation."

"Now that we managed to arrest 138 youths, we are hopeful we have earned the respect of the others," Inspector John DeVos of the Road Patrol said as he revealed the details leading up to the raid.

"For the past several months, we have been having trouble," he said. "Our patrol cars have been bombarded with rocks and bottles. As a result we have suffered considerable damage and the condition was almost out of hand."

THE INSPECTOR pointed out that at times the groups reached 600 to 800, "and it was impossible to get an arrested man out of the group - even if we had been able to reach the center."

DeVos said the raid was the climax of a campaign in which the sheriff's office was aided by the police of Westland, Redford and Garden City.

"Because of the unruliness of the groups," he said, "we have had to work from the perimeter."

"Finally, about 9:30 p.m. Friday we struck by announcing that the park would be closed in 15 minutes. At the time, there were more than 500 in the group, and they began to leave."

"After giving them an extra five minutes, the numbers dwindled to the 138 who were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. All are now free on bond and have 10 days in which to answer the charges."

ACCORDING to DeVos, the Valley View Drive area is only one of several in Hines Parkway that has become a haven for drug users.

He also pointed out that the parkway is a convenient haven because it has many wooded areas and peaks from which the addicts can carry on their bombarding of the police cars.

"We have found marijuana," DeVos revealed, "and the others deal in narcotics in some way - either smoking pot or selling it, along with drinking to excess."

Once Friday's raid got under way, it required three police buses to take the youths to the Wayne County Sheriff's offices.

Among those arrested were 38 juveniles who were released to the custody of their parents. Eighty-eight immediately posted bond and by Saturday morning, all others were out on bond.

14 Girl Scouts Are 'First Class'

WESTLAND Fourteen Westland Girl Scouts were honored Saturday for reaching scouting's highest honor: the first class badge.

The 14 were among 17 local girl scouts who earlier this month took part in the annual "capping" ceremony which elevates girls from cadette rank to senior girl scouts.

Saturday's program at Marygrove College, Detroit, was held to honor all Detroit metropolitan area girl scouts who have earned their first class badges.

The 14 in Troop 2543 of Neighborhood 47 are Cheryl Bloch, Kathy Boysel, Jill Dorton, Anna Marie Henrich, Joanne Jones, Cathy Markes, Cathy Morris, Joyce Norman, Linda Noutko, Karen Peterson, Michelle Pultorak, Sherry Reading, Jennifer Riopelle and Nancy Staub.

Other Troop 2543 scouts reaching the senior girl scout level are Joanne Kobylarz, Denis Wright, and Sherry Ulbrich.

School Board Puts Limits On Bussing

By KATHY MORAN
The Plymouth School District will not transport children who live within 1½ miles of school—but no one knows yet whether Plymouth Township will put in sidewalks for children to walk safely between home and school.

The board of education has reaffirmed its policy of not transporting the students, largely because of the cost to the school district.

The state partially reimburses the school district for each child it transports—provided the children are not within the 1½ mile radius. Thus, the school district must pay the full cost of transporting children within this radius.

Board member Ned Stirtan said the decision not to provide transportation was based on "economic considerations to save money for education."

"My intention was not to use educational dollars to support people who would not make provisions to give children safe places to walk," Stirtan said.

"THIS IS ONE of the non-educational functions in the system that we decided reluctantly to do without," George Lawton said.

"We took the action early so parents could organize and go to other units of government," Robert Gilmore said. "Where units of government failed to meet their obligations in the past, we have had to bear the brunt."

"I don't want to have children walk to school in unsafe conditions but I think the other units of government could meet their obligations," he continued. "We're paying the penalty because they haven't."

Following the discussion, the board reaffirmed its policy, specifically stating that children in the third through 12th grades would not be transported.

After the board had taken the earlier action several months ago, a group of parents petitioned the Plymouth Township trustees to investigate putting sidewalks in on the "dangerous" routes where children had to walk.

One of the most active group of parents was from the East Middle School area. They complained about having their children walk along Ann Arbor Road and through industrial areas on Mill Street where there are no sidewalks.

The township appointed a study committee to take care of the problem. One of the biggest obstacles was lack of an ordinance to give the township the authority to put in the sidewalks.

HOWEVER, SINCE the controversy began, Gov. William Milliken signed a bill into law that would make it possible for townships to put in sidewalks and pay for them at large.

The bill, which was signed on April 5, states: "A township board may construct and maintain walkways or sidewalks along main or arterial roads where it deems necessary to protect the safety of the public. The costs of the sidewalks may be paid by the township at large.

"When determined necessary by the township board, the board shall submit to the electors, the question of raising the necessary funds by a levy not to exceed one mill at a general, primary or special election.
