The future of Mettetal Airport again has become a matter of public discussion, prompted by its inclusion among those recommended for improvements by the Aeronautics Commission. The hitch is in the fact that use of state or federal funds would require public ownership. A look into the background is taken through Bifocals.

IT MAKES SENSE!

Our friend looks a bit unhappy, doesn't he? It's because his wife just asked him for this month's Observer collection receipt. And he's just finished explaining that he forgot to ask for one. And she's just told him that the reverse of that receipt is equal to its face value toward an Observer Want Ad and that she only needs two more to place a free 15-word ad for the porch furniture they never use any more. And he's just said:

"It makes sense!"

And it does, doesn't it?

Canton Ponders New Business Area Zoning

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON TOWNSHIP Planning Commission has come up with a special C-3 zoning proposal for parts of Ford Rd. and Michigan Ave.

The proposal will have a public hearing on July 20.

The C-3 designation will cover "highway oriented business" districts, explained Michael Manore, Canton's planning consultant.

It was primarily designed, he said, to take care of sections along both of the township's two main thoroughfares that have lots that are narrow and deep.

UNDER THE proposed zoning amendment, usage will be limited to retail stores, light industry and offices.

The retail category, Manore said, would include hotels, motels, new car salesrooms, lumber yards, recreation centers, theaters, restaurants, farmers markets and nursery sales.

The light industrial designation would encompass warehousing that would not require outdoor storage, laboratory testing and public utility facilities.

Office usage would be limited to medical-dental offices, private schools operated for a profit, and uses resulting from executive and administrative professional services, including accounting, banking, clerical and stenographic.

THE ZONING amendment specifies that the development must be at least three acres with 150 foot frontage and a depth of 900 feet. It also provides for a 120-foot setback and requires a service drive running parallel to the main thoroughfare. Sideyards have been set at 15 feet with 50-foot back yards. Height of the structure cannot exceed 40 feet.

Parking provisions are also stipulated.

The ordinance, if adopted, is aimed at property on the north side of Ford, west of Haggerty Rd., and the mile strip along Michigan Ave. between Denton and Beck.

Developers who qualify for the C-3 zoning will need site plan approval by the planning commission, Manore continued. This will help the township keep control of the areas, both from the point of proper development and making sure that traffic hazards do not arise, he pointed out.

The developers will also have to submit driveway designs as well as landscape and buffer plans in those areas that "abut" residential developments.

MANORE STRESSED the importance of the service drives, commenting that "five-lane highways don't necessarily move traffic efficiently."

Too many driveways opening onto the main artery cause slowdowns and traffic congestion, he maintained.

Accepted unanimously by the Planning Commission after many months of discussion and research, the proposed zoning change will now go to the township's attorney, William Sempliner, before the July public hearing takes place.

Emergency Here In Water Supply Eased By Detroit

Five days of anxiety for key members of Plymouth's city administration ended late Thursday afternoon when a major water supply crisis ended after at least seven million gallons of Detroit water had been pumped into the local system to avert possible calamity.

A breakdown in the city's well operation at Six Mile and Beck Roads created the emergency, forcing cessation of this operation last Sunday, May 30.

From then until repairs were completed Thursday, the city of Plymouth's residents and business firms existed upon a blend of water obtained on an emergency basis from Detroit through a tap-in connection at Plymouth and Haggerty Roads and the minimal supply provided through two other municipal pumping stations.

Throughout the crisis Mayor James McKeon, City Manager Norman Gaffney, DPW Director Kenneth Vogras and City Engineer Thomas Waffan strove to speed repairs, at the same time keeping their fingers crossed against any sudden development which would place an excessive demand upon the system. Luck was on the side of the city.

ALTHOUGH THE pressure level was dangerously low throughout the ordeal, the demand for water was below par because of the extended Memorial Day slowdown of business activity which carried through Monday.

Consideration of a public announcement banning the sprinkling of lawns, and otherwise restricting home water usage, was dropped because of Tuesday night's heavy rainfall, which was an undisputed Godsend.

Finally, and maybe most important of all, there were no fires to put undue strain on the limited water supply.

MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS were quick in their praise for the cooperation extended by the Detroit Water Board and by Plymouth Township, which adjusted its own pressures at the Detroit connection to compensate for the water flowing to the city.

Waffan estimated the amount of water supplied by Detroit at a minimum of 1.5 million gallons a day throughout the emergency.

The impending problem first was discovered Friday, May 28 at the Six Mile well field, but the erosion which had caused deterioration in the well columns was as deep as 85 feet. Plans were implemented immediately for tapping in on the Detroit flow, this taking place Sunday.

Plymouth's permanent tie-in to the Detroit water system is hoped for by Aug. 1, said Waffan. It hinges upon dates of completion of water meter pits at two Sheldon Road locations. Once the hook-up is made, no repetition of the past week's crisis is believed possible.

As Waffan put it, "We were just plain lucky."

Campers And Trailers Face Parking Changes

A public hearing on proposed restrictions to govern the residential parking of over-sized vehicles such as large motorized campers and trailers is expected to highlight Monday night's meeting of the Plymouth City Commission.

As an amendment to the rezoning ordinance suggested by the planning commission, the measure deals essentially with any type of vehicle which is too large to be accommodated in a standard parking space on a public street or in a parking lot.

The proposal sets these maximum physical dimensions as acceptable: width of six feet-six inches; length of 20 feet, and height of seven feet. Owners would have to provide parking strips, driveways, garages, or combinations thereof, on the actual premises to be able to park such vehicles at their homes.

IN A COMMUNICATION to the City Commission last March, the planning body stated:

"Our research revealed that definitive limitations would permit the use of all station wagons, all but the largest van, all standard pickups (even with in-bed but not over-cab campers) and many of the camper trailers and similar vehicles.

"The limitations would prohibit most dump trucks, large panel trucks, and large motorized campers and trailers, which, by their nature, could not be considered accessory to the day-to-day family usage."

The planners have suggested that if the city fathers adopt such an amendment to the zoning ordinance it be made effective one year after the date of adoption, adding:

"The one-year delay in enforcement date was established in order to provide an ample time for citizens to arrange for storage of vehicles which could no longer be parked on the residential lots."

Concert Will Highlight 'Band Week'

Mayor James B. McKeon has proclaimed "Community Band Week" for Plymouth beginning Sunday, June 6 in recognition of the pleasure and enjoyment provided by this musical organization since it first was formed in 1959.

As a highlight of the week, the 60-member band will present a special concert at 8 p.m. Friday, June 11 in Kellogg Park as a forerunner to the usual weekly concert series which will open July 1.

Throughout the week the band also will be engaging in a fund raising drive to further its activities. The band operates on an annual budget of approximately $3,000 and contributions, which are tax deductible because of the band's non-profit status, may be sent to Treasurer Jack D. Wells, 14818 Farmbrook.

The organization was founded as an eight-piece German band and its present 60 members, performing under the direction of bandmaster James Griffith, range from school students to adults who have reached retirement age.

THROUGH THE years the band has performed 137 free concerts in the Plymouth area, most of them in the downtown park, and has entertained frequently at nearby hospitals and orphanages.

In addition, 42 musical scholarships have been presented to local youngsters in the last seven years. The last concert of each summer series is known as "scholarship night" when contributions are made by the audience via the "pass the hat" method. Last year's donations were $400, permitting eight $50 scholarships to be granted. In addition, three others were contributed by the Vivians, the women's auxiliary of the Elks. These also were for $50 each.

Students selected are required to be regular members of the band and they must perform a solo of their choice for a panel of judges. They may use the money in any way they wish to further their musical career, such as for private lessons or attendance at any of Michigan's numerous summer music camps.

THE 11 RECIPIENTS of the 1971 Community Band scholarships are:

Mark Olson, French horn, grade 10; Mark Stephens, French horn, grade nine; Dan Kabel, French horn, grade 10;

Anne Eisen, French horn, grade 11; Mark Kieme, tenor saxophone, grade 10.

Also, Brad Weage, piano and tuba, grade 10; Jean Moorehead, cornet, grade 10; Julie Stephens, oboe, grade 11; Kathy Rice, flute, grade 10; Donna Phelps, flute, grade 10, and Doug McCubbrey, flute, grade 10.

At Friday night's concert, trumpeter Dick Sorenson, a regular member of the band for seven years, will appear as soloist.

Mark Kieme and Mark Stephens in back. Two other winners, Mark Olson and Anne Eisen, were not present when pictures were taken. (Photos by Ben Crech).

Root Novel Published

A long-time Plymouth resident, Charles Root, is author of a first novel, "Storm Wrack," just published.

The book depicts changing morals in America from the 1929 stock market crash, the depression and World War II to and through the 1970s.

The spirit of an executed murderer is placed in the being of a high school graduate by Satan. All through the years this spirit tries to make his "human" commit all sorts of sins. Much of the action takes place in the Detroit-Plymouth area.

Root and his wife, Doris, graduated from Plymouth High in 1930 and now live in Florida during the winter months since he retired from the Northville plant of the Ford Motor Co.

State Police Post Shift To Sheldon Dead Issue

(EDITOR'S NOTE: One of the most respected newspaper publishers in Michigan is William C. Sliger of the Northville Record, who has been one of the major advocates of moving the State Police crime laboratory from its cramped quarters in Plymouth to two vacant buildings of the Wayne County Child Development Center at Five Mile and Sheldon, where it would operate with a full-fledged State Police post.)

If not dead, the plan seems close to it, and this fact caused Sliger to write the following column for the Record's edition of May 27. In the main, your Plymouth editor agrees with Mr. Sliger's observations whose column is reprinted in the Mail & Observer with the Northville publisher's permission.)

By BILL SLIGER

CHALK UP another lost cause to experience and forget about the possibility of locating a state police post in vacant, unused county buildings.

It would seem that the proposal passed every test of logic, but failed in the political arena.

And tonight (Thursday) the Wayne county sheriff's department will attempt to sell its services to Northville township for a reported $300,000 or so annually. This despite the fact the county already receives approximately six mills per taxpayer (including city and township) to provide services which are supposed to include road patrol in unincorporated areas such as Northville township.

If the county would agree to lease two of its unused buildings on training school property to the state police, expert law enforcement protection as well as complete crime lab facilities would be available to the total surrounding area at no additional cost to the taxpayer.

AS ANOTHER long, hot summer approaches and area officials, citizens and businessmen brace themselves for the increased frequency of vandalism, park gang fights, drag races and hold-ups, why should there be any hesitancy to adopt such a proposition?

Does the Wayne county sheriff really believe that one patrol car in the Northville-Plymouth area and one car along 18 miles of parkway provides adequate protection for the unincorporated areas for which he is responsible? Would anyone dispute the fact that the proximity of a 35-car state police post would serve to dispel thugs and trouble-makers?

Would not the presence of such a professional force and crime lab also assist and reinforce the sheriff's patrol and the existing police forces in area municipalities?

AFTER ATTENDING two committee meetings where this proposal was discussed with officials involved and other personal observations, I have concluded that there are several reasons why the state police must look elsewhere for headquarters.

Some of these reasons are very obvious and real; others may be imagined... the product of a cynical reporter.

First, the county sheriff wants no part of the state police infringing upon his territory. Of the 18 county departments polled by commissioners to determine other county needs for the vacant buildings, only one suggested a need; only three declared any objection to the state police locating there.

The sheriff reported that his agency patrolled the area, suggesting the state police were not needed. And he added that if a crime laboratory were to be established, it should be the county's.

The latter observation fails to recognize that the state police already have an excellent laboratory in Plymouth and that the vacant county building would provide badly needed space for its expanding operations.

IRONICALLY, the only possible need for the vacant buildings was cited by the medical superintendent of the Child Development Center, who had earlier reported no objections to the state police post being located on the grounds.

One can only guess at the motivations that now delay any decision on the state police request while federal funds are sought for establishing vocational training laboratories in the vacant buildings. A county spokesman has admitted that if the federal funds are granted, there are no monies to rehabilitate the buildings for vocational training use. Several commissioners fear the presence of state police on the Child Development Center grounds would have an adverse effect on the children. The medical superintendent of the Center does not agree. And one wonders if these commissioners actually believe that these youngsters can forever be protected from the sight of law enforcement officers, fostering their feeling of distrust?

THE LACK of vigor on the part of this community's representative on the county board, Commissioner John McCann, has also been disappointing.

Obviously, many of the commissioners have little reason to be concerned with this tiny segment of the county. And their unfamiliarity with the Child Development Center grounds and the relatively isolated location of the buildings involved in relation to the remainder of the Center is also obvious.

But McCann should be concerned. And he should respond positively instead of shrugging passively when rebuttal is required.

In my opinion, the location of a state police post in Northville township represents a rare opportunity to provide a genuine plus service for the residents of the area.

And, finally, the suspicion persists that there are quiet observers in positions of influence who view the local establishment of a state police post as a threat to the continued growth of the township force.

Their concern is well founded. Such a post would reduce the need for a local force. It would also reduce costs and strengthen security.

THROUGH INFOCALS
By FRED DELANO / Editor: Mail & Observer

MY FAVORITE AUTHOR observed through these same spectacles on Wednesday, June 25, 1969 that despite much breast-beating about whether Mettetal Airport would expand in size, close completely or be moved to a site closer to Ann Arbor, "The best immediate bet is that nothing at all will happen."

There isn't one word in a 10-page release issued by Gov. William Milliken's office Tuesday which causes me to change my view.

In fact, I think that without intending to do so, the governor and the Aeronautics Commission did more harm than good in strictly a local sense by talking of Mettetal as one of 137 Michigan existing airports (plus 73 proposed new ones) on which public funds of $229 million should be spent.

The first man to suggest that the Plymouth landing field should be a municipal facility is Bob Mettetal himself. He has been saying all along that he will sell at the right price, and that the only way there can be proper expansion is through public money.

That latter also is what the governor says, but for the well over $1 million which it would take to gain title to the 78-acre Mettetal facility, I think the governor should have opened some other can of worms — such as money for education, or welfare, or just saving a buck here and there instead of spending more.

THOSE 10 PAGES from the executive office are lovely reading, with county by county descriptions of what the Utopia in airport facilities should be. From a statewide viewpoint, maybe it is a report which will provide impetus to needed developments in some areas. All we can do here is yawn and say that we've been through all this so many times before that our real goal is to keep what we have, not reach out for more.

Mettetal Airport is one of Greater Plymouth's greatest economic assets and could be of even more importance if expanded. Unfortunately, there's a hard core of opposition which bristles at the very thought.

Let's recall, for instance, the night of Thursday, June 19, 1969 when many interested citizens of the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township gathered to exchange thinking concerning present and future air service needs of the area.

Still in mind's eye is the sight of that leader of retarded governmental thinking, Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes, rising to her feet and declaring, "You're talking of expanding a nuisance, that's what you're doing!"

It was a statement matched only by the view stated the same night by her progressive cohort Frank Millington that the airport is "not vital to the non-residential tax base of this community." They make one wonder if Warren Harding is still president.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP of Mettetal Airport could be attained through a vote of the people of the governments involved, creating an Airport Authority. Such a body, by law, would have the right to levy up to one mill in property taxation for its functions, and would have the right of condemnation to usurp whatever property it needed.

This is not likely to find any inspired governmental leadership. Canton's leaders want housing, not air traffic. Plymouth Township trustees wrote into their official minutes of Jan. 13, 1970 that theirs was a negative attitude toward pursuing the idea of a municipal airport, and only the City of Plymouth has showed any gumption in the sense of airport progress.

On the night of July 21, 1969, the City Commission agreed to join other local units of government "in applying for state and federal funds to determine the feasibility of operating Mettetal Airport." Of course, the commission was so naive it really believed there might be someone to put in that "other" category, but there hasn't been — not to this day.

It's that sort of history which makes all this new propaganda from the governor, and from the commission which carried on an expensive study, look pretty foolish in Plymouth. Maybe not elsewhere, but at least in Plymouth.

The airport has been there for more than 30 years, long before most of its neighbors moved into the range of complaint, but still there are many who fail to see its importance. Their day of joy will come when it's a high-class, low-cost housing tract.

Letter To The Editor

Firefighters, Police Praised

EDITOR: The purpose of this letter is to give great credit to the members of the Plymouth Fire Department and the Plymouth Police Department for the fine job they performed May 23 at our neighbor's house.

Within minutes after hanging up the telephone, they arrived. Which person had the presence of mind to pick up Mrs. Rossow's purse containing glasses and important papers should be highly commended.

With such fine men as these, Plymouth citizens can be very proud.

MR. AND MRS. NORMAN KAPP, Karen and Elizabeth.

Missionary Family Will Go To France

A young woman who grew up in Farmington soon will be heading with her husband and two daughters for missionary service in France—a land she thinks needs it badly.

"Although France is thought of as a Catholic country, only 16 per cent of the people are devout Catholics," said Mrs. Norman Kapp, the former Susan Weller.

"There are many black magic and occult groups," she added. "It's easier to find a tea leaf reader than a doctor."

MRS. KAPP, a graduate of Farmington High School and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Weller of Farmington, added that evangelical Christianity has always been a very small part of the French picture.

"And even the Roman Catholic church considers France a mission field," she said. "I just couldn't call it a Christian country."

Norman and Susan Kapp, who met while students at Wheaton College, will go to France under the auspices of TEAM—The Evangelical Alliance Mission.

They'll take with them their two young daughters, three-year-old Elizabeth and Karen, five months.

THEY WERE consecrated as missionaries recently in ceremonies in Ward United Presbyterian Church in Livonia, one of the churches giving them support by prayer and financial contribution.

They are living for a few weeks with the Wellers while Kapp, whose parents are missionaries in the Nigerian Republic of West Africa, works at a department store.

Next month they will leave for Birmingham, Ala., to visit the first of a number of churches that will be asked to help support the mission.

"Then we'll work our way north, visiting churches along the way," Mrs. Kapp said.

The departure for France will come at the end of August.

MRS. KAPP said the family will live the first year at Albertville in the French Alps while she and her husband attend language school.

"We both had a couple of years of high school French," she said, "but we're starting from scratch."

At the end of next summer they'll move to Paris and "start getting into our work."

Kapp will study at the Sorbonne and teach some lay classes for TEAM, and his wife will be working mostly with children in the poorer sections of Paris.

World Food 'Shortage' Is Distribution Problem

The world has no "real" food shortage—only "political, economic, cultural and distributive restrictions, as well as a basic lack of understanding and education concerning balanced diet planning."

That's the report of 36 University of Detroit students involved in the university's World Game Institute program.

They are working on a review of the world's total resources for the use and benefit of all its peoples, a concept developed and initiated by Dr. R. Buckminster Fuller and coordinated at U-D by Frank Lucatelli, David Pauls and William Ternes.

THE REPORT on the world's food resources is part of a 52-page booklet the U-D students have put together as the first report of the World Game Institute.

In studying the actions and reactions of water, protein consumption, population and vitamin deficiencies, the students concluded:

"There is no lack of nutritional essentials on a world scale, but our food problem still persists because individuals and nations act as though each is the only one deserving whatever is desired and necessary for well-being."

THE STUDENTS' report, also analyzing transportation, housing and communication, uses a "total systems" approach to each category. It is the first time that most of the data has been organized in one place, although most of it has been available in various forms for many years.

Using an icosahedron (20-sided) map, the students plotted their findings in search of the systems that make the world operate.

An initial computer analysis system for transportation was developed which would increase world transportation efficiency by listing from a vast data bank the shortest routes, lowest cost, and quickest method depending upon individual requirements.

STUDENTS exploring housing surveyed the nature and extent of the world housing problem and conceptualized the problem so that it could be studied further.

They stated in the report: "Perhaps the most important result of our work was the discovery that data on world housing is pitifully small, and that what little there is often cannot be trusted."

"It is impossible to make much headway in attacking a problem until its magnitude and elements are known. As the sole organizations presently equipped to obtain this information, the national governments have clearly demonstrated the bankruptcy of the present system by their discreet failure to provide it."

WHILE STUDYING communication the students inventoried the myriad of communication media including language. They found the language component of the world communication problem to be far more complex and difficult than people generally realize.

In an attempt to find a unifying "language" or language system the group also researched the areas of psycholinguistics (the psychology of language and symbols), sociolinguistics (the relationship between language and culture), and parapsychology (ESP). Each of these areas was found to be inadequately developed to be presently useful.

Operations is presently being compiled. It will be considerably longer than the first report. The second semester students had four groups: energy, education, world health and genetics, and oceans.

The University of Detroit's World Game Institute will be offering its basic World Game Philosophy Seminar this summer from June 24-August 6 for three to seven semester credit.

The course will meet from 2 to 4 p.m. daily with other times by arrangement. More information can be obtained by writing the World Game Institute, University of Detroit, Detroit, Michigan 48221.

"The World Game Detroit Report 1" is available for $1.

Invocation Day To Be June 8

World Invocation Day will be observed by men and women around the world Tuesday, June 8.

The day was first observed in 1952 and is an effort to link in thought and meditation, people around the world. A prayer called the "great invocation" is used.

Nuns Consider Well-Paid Jobs To Help Others

Some nuns who can command high salaries usually in advanced education, are considering taking jobs not related to religion so they can finance spare time work among the poor and full time work by other sisters, according to a report of the Archdiocesan Apostolic Career Center.

The center, located at 305 Michigan Ave., Detroit, has been set up to handle employment for nuns displaced by Catholic school closings.

Employment offers to date total 658 and employment takers under 200, according to Thomas C. Kent, archdiocesan personnel director, who set up the center in cooperation with 10 nuns.

Approximately 440 teaching positions are open to sisters, chiefly in Michigan schools, but also in schools as far away as Colorado and Florida. The nuns are also sought by industry as translators and secretaries, by parishes for work in the pastoral ministry, by organizations needing experienced guidance counselors and by groups offering social services.

ALTHOUGH MOST job offers come from religion-oriented groups, a major auto company hired a sister as a Spanish-English translator and typist. Soon a request came for another nun to try out as a private secretary.

Parishes seek sisters as musical directors, pastoral visitors, religious educators, social workers, youth counselors and as members of teams of two to five sisters to take over the direction of many routine parish operations.

Hospitals seek sisters to bring cheer to the seriously ill and the lonely.

Boysville of Michigan has hired a sister as a nurse and also a biology teacher. Various church organizations seek sisters to work with the underprivileged.

NO ONE KNOWS how many sisters will be seeking new positions through closing of 44 elementary schools, 12 high schools and partial closing of 31 others. Each parish contracts separately with the sisters.

Also sisters are often members of religious orders which staff schools in several states and may be needed elsewhere when released from service in the archdiocese.

In planning its program, the center was guided by experimental programs conducted in the summer of 1970. At St. Agnes parish in the inner-city, a team of five sisters worked out a pastoral program that included home visits to the aged, sick and lonely, guidance for neighborhood projects and coaching mothers in setting up a religion training program for neighborhood children.

At St. Joseph parish, Riverview, children from downriver communities were given remedial help in reading and mathematics by 16 sisters. Substantial progress was reported.

In the Saginaw-Crosswell area, one sister recruited a group to help Spanish-speaking persons, who were there as migrant workers, with clothing, food, medical help and other services.

Three sisters worked in a home for girls with problems, teaching home-making, arts and crafts and helping individuals catch up deficiencies in academic work.

In five inner-city parishes the sisters assisted in food preparation in feeding programs for the poor.

In St. Mary of Redford parish, Detroit, six sisters spent the summer visiting each home in the parish for family conferences. In homes and centers for the aged, sisters planned entertainment and assisted with medical appointments and shopping.

To Give Talk

A man who was captured, tortured and imprisoned in Brazil for smuggling drugs will speak at Bethany Baptist Church, 3451 Five Mile Rd., Livonia, Sunday, June 6. Barry Holsman will describe his life and tell how drugs ultimately lead to either despair and misery, to jail or death at two services. He will speak during a youth meeting at 5:45 p.m. and at the evening church service at 7.

PTA 'Adopts' Indian Boy

"Timothy" Vijayam Neerudu is a 13-year-old boy from India who has been "adopted" by the PTA of Clarenceville's Botsford Elementary School. The PTA learned of the boy's need through Christian Children's Fund, Inc., an organization which assists homeless children around the world.

Children in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Botsford correspond regularly with "Timothy." PTA representatives said the child was "adopted" so that he might have a better chance for "security and happiness."

With funds from sponsors, the Christian Children's Fund provides children with shelter, food, clothing and an opportunity for education. The children attend classes each day with subjects provided on both elementary and seconddary levels. All youngsters are given the chance to learn a vocation or profession that will adequately prepare them for life.

Each day begins with a worship service and nourishing breakfast. Curry and rice, cabbages and greens are staples to supplement three well-balanced meals each day.

Responsibility for chores is shared by all. Sweeping and dusting, bedmaking and gardening are accomplished, while at the same time the children are taught the important lessons of teamwork and cooperation.

Active play and participation in sports are also a part of the daily schedule. Ball games such as netball and football are enjoyed. Most of the children also are involved in varied hobbies and outings.

Finders' Show Accents Unusual

Something old will be used to retire something borrowed in an unusual project at Hillel Day School of Metropolitan Detroit, 32200 Middle Belt, Farmington, June 20 through 22.

The Hillel School has organized the Finders' Show, which will bring together 60 Midwestern dealers to present their most interesting "finds." Antiques will be chosen for the show, not because they are expensive or exotic, but rather because they are fun.

"We didn't want the Finders' Show to be just another antique show," said Mrs. Eliot Charlip, show chairman.

"WE'VE ADDED fun things like an old-time candy store, a dried flower emporium, an old-time photographer and strolling barbershop quartets. The Finders' Show is a place to search and enjoy."

Finders attending the show will be asked to jury the "best finds" by casting ballots each day.

THE SERIOUS purpose of the fun will be to help fund Hillel Day School, a private school that is expanding while many others in the area are cutting back.

Proceeds will help retire construction debts for the school's new million dollar building complex in Farmington and to help defray operating expenses.

Admission to the show will be $2, and it will be open from 12 noon to 11 p.m. all three days.

Built In 1840

The president's house on the University of Michigan campus was built in 1840 as one of the first university buildings. It has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places by the National Park Service.

Appreciation Day Set For Teachers

Teachers throughout the area will be honored in special services planned at 11 a.m. Sunday, June 6, in the Parkview Baptist Church, 9355 Stark, Livonia.

The occasion will be called Teacher Appreciation Day. The Rev. Robert Downing, pastor of the church, said teachers had been invited from Livonia, Wayne, Westland, Dearborn, Garden City, Nankin Mills and Detroit.

Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara has accepted an invitation to attend the service, Rev. Downing said.

Also present will be several school board members and principals.

The service is intended to pay tribute to teachers of children in church congregations all over the area.

The public is invited.

Pastors Attend Graham School

The Rev. Keith Somers, pastor of the Plymouth Wesleyan Church, 42290 W. Five Mile, and the Rev. Jack Norton, associate pastor, will attend the Billy Graham School of Evangelism in Chicago June 7 to 11.

Both received scholarships to the week-long study course held in connection with the Billy Graham Greater Chicago Crusade.

Several members of the Graham staff and pastors who have been especially successful in the field of evangelism will conduct meetings and seminars during the week for some 1,200 clergymen planning to attend the school.

All will also attend the Crusade meetings each evening.

Rev. Allen is a trustee of the Baptist Bible College, Springfield, Mo., where the conference was held.

A highlight of the conference was an address on "Biblical Creation Versus Darwinian Evolution," by Kelly Seagraves, associate director of the Creation Science Research Center, San Diego, Calif.

During the four-day conference, Rev. Allen participated in the national business meeting and attended seminars in the pastorate, church music, youth work and Sunday school administration.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's Religion Update

In his review of the best selling movie "Love Story," Harvard's renowned theologian Harvey Cox describes the nuptials of the ill-fated lovers as follows:

"The only thing we hear about religion from this Coca-Cola commercial couple is that they don't believe in 'the God bit.' So they get married by spouting corny poetry at each other. Their sentimental ceremony should be the most persuasive argument ever filmed against do-it-yourself wedding ceremonies (but alas, I'm sure it won't be)."

Dr. Cox has frequently written for the supposedly sophisticated Christian Century magazine, a Protestant weekly which recently published just such a do-it-yourself ceremony - for "An Amicable Divorce."

And if Dr. Cox regards "Love Story" as corn on the cob, he ought to contemplate this new high in ceremonial bathos, written by Mary McDermott Shideler, wife of a professor at Iowa State University.

MRS. SHIDELER writes that the ceremony which she composed was actually used by: "a particular couple whom I have named Matthew and Anne Surrey." (Her affording anonymity to the couple who engaged in this bizarre rite is an act of mercy in itself.)

"OFFICIANT: Matthew, what sign do you give to Anne as a token of your forgiveness and release of her?"

"MATTHEW: Her wedding ring, reconsecrated to her freedom." ("He placed it on the third finger of her right hand.") "ANNE: then did the same thing for 'Matthew'."

The ceremony had begun with a phonographic background of "Sheep May Safely Graze," (in the cornfield?) the "Officiant" advising everybody: "Let us stand in a circle." ("We did so, with Matt on his left and Anne on his right.")

"OFFICIANT: Dearly beloved, we are gathered here to solemnize the end of one time in Matthew's and Anne's lives, and the beginning of another. . . We are social beings, but also individuals. . ."

Just how "Dearly beloved" can appropriately include the two "amicable divorcees," is subsequently explained:

"Matthew Surrey, do you now relinquish your status as husband of Anne, freeing her of all claims upon and responsibilities to you except those you willingly give to all other children of God?"

Since Anne was asked this question and also replied in the affirmative, Matthew should have rejoiced with exceeding great joy at Anne's "amicable" releasing him from the ugly bonds of matrimony.

Almighty God is then asked to bless: "thy children who now, in their commitment to Thee have severed their commitment to each other."

God is further besought: "When they meet, sustain them in their liberty."

Whether this divine assistance is intended to help them resist (a) the familiar allurements of their once joined flesh, or (b) the dim recollection of their once having vowed "for better or worse, 'til death us do part," is not explained.

Following a solemn Trinitarian benediction upon this supposedly sacred severance, Mrs. Shideler reports the following reaction:

"Spontaneously, each person put his arms around those closest to him, and for several minutes there were tears and laughter, hugging and kissing, in a glorious affirmation."

Did Matthew get close enough to Anne for some of that gloriously affirmative hugging and kissing? No disclosure regarding this intriguing question - although that "Officiant," remember, was carefully stationed between the two of them.

That Christian Century magazine would publish this pseudo-liturgical drivel without so much as a word of criticism is typical of an age in which God is being regularly imposed upon to bless such things as the opening of supermarkets, beauty contests, fox hounds and football kickoffs.

And considering New York State Sen. James Donovan's current activity (he is campaigning against abortion by carrying an apparently embalmed fetus in his hand), there should no doubt soon appear a "Burial Office For A Spontaneously Aborted Embryo."

Volunteers Are Needed For Tutorial Program

For young people who are looking for ways of bettering the world and enriching the lives of others, the sixth annual summer tutorial program of the junior division of the Jewish Welfare Federation offers an opportunity.

Originally conceived as an informal tutoring session for 15 students and held in Palmer Park, the sessions have developed into a full-fledged program involving more than 40 tutors and 100 children meeting in the classrooms of Temple Israel, 17400 Manderson Rd., Detroit.

VOLUNTEERS MAY give one, two or three mornings a week. They may call the junior division at the Jewish Welfare Federation, 163 Madison, Detroit, 48226, to register. Sheila Glass is chairman of the program.

Tutors include high school and college students, teachers, housewives and professional men and women, and come from various backgrounds.

Classes meet from 9:45 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from July 6 through 29. Students meet at various schools and are transported to Temple Israel by United Hebrew School buses. One day each week is set aside for field trips to places of interest in Detroit and the surrounding areas.

THE PROGRAM is designed to give individual attention to students in grades three through six whose reading level is one or two grades below their classmates.

The students are selected by their classroom teachers from among those who can most benefit. The project has proven extremely successful in raising the reading levels of those who have participated in it during the past summers.

The children seem to benefit from the individual attention, and every effort is made to have enough volunteers so that every child may feel that he has an individual friend.

CYO Camps Will Include Deaf Kids

The Catholic Youth Organization, in existence for 25 years, will add a new dimension of service this summer when it accepts 60 deaf children in the normal camping program.

In this project, which will run from June 25 to July 7, the CYO will cooperate with the Archdiocesan Ministry to the Handicapped and other organizations that support the deaf.

CYO camps still have openings for all of their five 13-day periods this summer.

THEY HAVE HIGH hopes that the philosophy behind the integration of the deaf children will revolutionize the whole concept of treatment of the deaf.

"In the past, we have botched up the education of the deaf to an alarming degree," says the Rev. Dayton Gnaul, director of the Archdiocesan Ministry to the Handicapped. "We have isolated the deaf children in schools, in camps, in clubs, in social and recreation programs of their own. This is a tremendous mistake. These deaf kids aren't odd. They have great capacities which will be fully developed only if those who can hear will try to speak their language."

"In the CYO camping experiment, which I hope will be a pilot program for the whole country, the deaf kids will be treated like any other children, which is no more and no less than they deserve. They will be accorded respect for their value as human beings. They will find dignity and worth according to their

Freedom Is Topic Of Meeting

The Michigan Council of the American Jewish Congress will hold a public meeting to discuss "Freedom of the Press and Its Impact in Society Today."

The meeting will take place Thursday, June 10, at 8:15 p.m., in Temple Emanuel-El, 14450 W. 10 Mile Rd., Oak Park.

Speakers will be Charles Nathanson, managing editor of Northwest Newspapers, Neal Shine, managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, and Prof. Harold Norris, professor of law, Detroit College of Law. They will be joined in discussions by William T. Downs, professor of law, University of Detroit Law School, who was past executive director of the Inter-Faith Center for Racial Justice; and Albert J. Dunmore, director of urban affairs of the Chrysler Corp. Dunmore was formerly editor of the Michigan Chronicle and is presently chairman of the Inter-Faith Action Council.

Mrs. Matilda Rubin will be the chairman.

Bas Mitzvah To Be June 11

Temple Kol Ami will celebrate the bas mitzvah of Hope Sharon Weintraub, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Weintraub of Farmington, Friday, June 11.

Hope will conduct the worship service and give a sermonette based on a quotation from Joel, "Old people dreaming dreams, young people seeing visions."

The Stroller... Old Cars Mourned

By W. W. EDGAR

In the mail this week came a very interesting volume that furnished ample proof of the speed with which our world — especially the world on wheels — is changing.

It is a volume entitled "Automobiles of America" and deals with the auto industry from its inception to the present day.

origin of the various models was most interesting and informative, it was the "obituary" section that caused The Stroller to sit up and take notice.

Would you believe that 24 makes and models "passed away" during the past 20 years?

but here is the official list that contains the names of some autos that were household words during their stay and others that were factory "specials."

In alphabetical order with the date of their demise, here they are:

Aerocar — 1950
Airphibian — 1952
All-State — 1953
Cord — 1966
Crafter Bug — 1959
Crosley — 1952
Cunningham — 1951
Davis — 1950
De Soto — 1960
Edsel — 1959
Flying Auto — 1950
Hudson — 1957
Kaiser-Frazer — 1955
Kaiser-Darrin — 1954
Kurtis-Kraft — 1955
Nash — 1957
Nash-Healey — 1954
Packard — 1958
Reading Steamer — 1960
Studebaker — 1966
Tri-Car — 1955
Wildfire — 1963
Willis-Overland — 1951

Possibly, the two most famous names on the list are the Edsel and Packard — and for far different reasons.

WHO COULD forget the Edsel with its "horse collar" radiator?

Built and designed by the Ford Motor Co. as a tribute to Edsel, Henry Ford's only son, it never caught the fancy of the public and is best remembered as the worst "flop" in Ford's history.

Now and then you'll still see an Edsel on the highway. Folks who know claim it was a good car — but now its place is the various museums.

Packard was something different.

Built on East Grand Boulevard in Detroit, it was America's top prestige car, rivaled only by the Rolls-Royce in England.

It, too, passed away in 1958 and was succeeded by today's Cadillac and the Lincoln Continentals. Not only was the Packard car tops in its day, but the Packard "750" was the best motor manufactured in America and powered Gar Wood's famous speedboats.

The Nash was one of the first compacts and was the forerunner of the American Motors Co., with its line of compacts that started the American trend to compacts.

THE KAISER, too, left a mark. A compact, it was built at Willow Run, now the site of the airport. And it was an off shoot of the Kaiser that Sears, Roebuck Co. merchandised as the All-State between 1951 and 1953.

One of the most surprising departures from the scene was the passing of the De Soto, a product of the Plymouth division of Chrysler Motors.

De Soto was a sport model that attracted the youth of its time. But it went the way of many others in our changing world.

Many of the others you may not recall, but it's a cinch that Sam Dibble, the most dedicated of the automobile buffs, who now operates out of Plymouth, mourns all of them.

Badger Club Now Includes Local Woman

PLYMOUTH Mrs. Barton J. Rogers, 397 Blunk, Plymouth, is among the 757 members of the class of 1921 of the University of Wisconsin who were recently inducted into Wisconsin's Half Century Club at one of the main events of the Wisconsin Alumni Association's annual reunion weekend program.

The members of the class who received their degrees from the university 50 years ago became members of the Half Century Club at a luncheon in the Wisconsin Union.

This year marks the 30th in the history of the university and its alumni association that the certificates have been presented to Wisconsin graduates of a half century or more, beginning with the class of 1891, and brings total membership in the club to over 6,000 over the past 30 years.

Voters Opinions Asked By Esch

PLYMOUTH U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-An Arbor) recently mailed out more than 100,000 questionnaires requesting his constituents of the 2nd Congressional District to inform him of their opinions on issues now being considered by Congress.

According to George Stevens, administrative assistant to Esch, about half of the representatives in Congress now send out this type of questionnaire.

The questionnaires are prepared at the expense of the individual representative, and questions are chosen according to their importance to his district.

The purpose of the questionnaire is to allow the representative to better understand the feelings of his district in order to represent the constituents to the fullest of his capabilities when it comes time to vote, said Stevens.

QUESTIONS included by Esch were:

"1. In an effort to set priorities in the budget, how much do you think the Congress and the president should allocate for the following programs?

"(A) Education, (b) Aid to depressed areas and inner cities, (c) Poverty and hunger programs, (d) Welfare, (e) Unemployment and manpower training programs, (f) Defense, (g) Space exploration and technical applications, (h) Mass transit and highways, (i) Pollution control, (j) Agriculture.

"2. Do you support my (Esch) proposal to abolish the Army Corps of Engineers and put all public works projects under the control of the Environmental Protection Administration?

"3. Do you favor the president's proposals for returning control of $5 billion in federal funds to state and local governments through revenue sharing?

"4. In an effort to check high campaign expenditures for federal offices, would you favor:

"(A) Strict reporting of all campaign receipts and expenditures, (b) A tax credit for campaign donations up to $50, (c) A strict limit on the amount any individual or group can contribute, (d) Prohibition of private donations and financing entirely through tax revenues, (e) Reduced cost TV and radio time and newspaper and media advertising for all candidates, (f) A ceiling on the total a candidate can spend.

"5. Do you believe phosphates should be banned from detergents?

"6. Do you support increasing military pay and improving manpower policies in order to attract an all volunteer army?

"7. Do you support legislation to outlaw disposable beverage bottles and cans?

"8. Do you favor a reduction in America's troop commitment in Europe to NATO?

"9. Do you support the president's recent moves to control wage and price increases in the construction industry?"

ESCH SUPPORTS a proposal to abolish the Army Corps of Engineers as a result of its "track record on environment, particularly Lake Erie," said Stevens. This proposal would take all civilian functions of the corps and put them under the Environmental Protection Administration.

He also is in favor of abolishing the draft, having sponsored the first bill to attempt to do so. According to Stevens, Esch also is in favor of President Nixon's revenue sharing plan and a volunteer army.

RU Beats Stevenson To Win Anders Tournament

By R.T. THOMPSON

Although playing in a county fair atmosphere with lights of carnival rides from the Livonia Jaycee Livonia 21 Festival surrounding the playing field and even cutting down the area of the normal diamond, Redford Union's Panthers turned their fourth appearance in the finals to an 8-5 victory over Livonia Stevenson to win the seventh Les Anders Memorial baseball tournament.

There was a holiday spirit on Ford Field, one that made it impossible to get a home run since ground rules for the cut down field changed every hit that got beyond the outfielders into a double.

Despite the handicaps, the tournament was tabbed the best in history and a crowd of more than 1,500 was on hand to alternately cheer and groan for their favorites.

RU benefited by some misplays by a nervous Stevenson team which gave up five runs in the first two innings before settling down and giving the Panthers a real scare in fourth and fifth innings to pull up within a run of tying the count.

THAT'S WHEN RU took advantage of Coach Bobby Atkins' patented squeeze play tactics to tally two times to ice the victory.

"I guess you'd have to say that we finally shook off our role of a bridesmaid," said a happy Atkins as he and Captain Bill Booker received the championship trophy.

"This was our fourth appearance in the finals and I had some qualms whether we were going to make it this time or not. It gives me a great deal of personal satisfaction to finally win a tournament which we consider to be one of the toughest in the state.

"We're still in the thick of the fight for the title of the first state championship tourney but we have always wanted to win the Anders...and now we have."

It took some brilliant hurling by southpaw Randy Ferguson to hold off a scrappy Stevenson team which surprised by getting into the championships.

But coming from behind and beating the odds has become a tradition for the Spartans who gained the quarterfinals of the state basketball tournament and pressed powerful Pontiac Central for three periods before fading.

Ferguson, who recorded his 15th victory, whiffed nine, issued one free ticket and yielded nine hits...seven in the fourth and fifth frames when the Spartans collected all of their runs.

RU STARTED out as if it was going to turn the game into a rout. A walk to Jay LeRoux, followed by an infield out and successive hits by Bill Booker, Bill Herbert and John Varvany netted two runs in the opening inning.

The big blowoff came in the second when the Panthers batted around and boosted the lead to 5-0.

It was a nightmare for the Spartans who saw starting pitcher Nelson Cady hit three successive batters and give up a two run single to LeRoux before southpaw Bob Bialy was called in from left field to take over the chores.

Bialy allowed another run before settling down and allowing only four hits during the remainder of the game.

He had three strikeouts, gave up two walks and hit one batsman.

Ferguson was coasting along without too much trouble until the fourth when he was nicked for three hits along with an error and Stevenson had two runs.

IT STARTED when Mike Gee singled with one out. Mark Macy forced Gee at second. Bialy singled to right and went all the way to third when the outfielder booted the ball, Macy crossing the plate. John Lewis sent Bialy across with a sharp liner to center and Stevenson was only behind, 5-2.

Glenn Richmond scored from third for RU in the fifth on a perfect squeeze bunt by Mickey Robinson and it was 6-2.

The Spartans stormed back in the bottom of the fifth to move within a run of tying the score on a three run outburst.

Ferguson fanned Don Finn and Mark Kiefer to start the inning. But Tom See singled and stole second. Frank Geluso sent him across with a sharp liner to center. He moved to second on Gee's single. Macy scored Geluso on a hopper in front of the plate and was safe when the throw missed at first. Bialy aided his own cause with a bouncer through the box, scoring Gee and making the score 6-5.

Ferguson whiffed Lewis to end the uprising.

THAT WAS the end for the Spartans as Ferguson struck out three of the seven batsman to face him in the sixth and seventh.

Meanwhile, Richmond doubled with two out and two on in the sixth to send Bill Herbert over the plate.

The eighth run came in the seventh when Mickey Robinson was safe on an error, went to second on a passed ball and to third on an infield out.

Ferguson sent him to third on a sacrifice bunt and then LeRoux finished the job with a squeeze bunt that found Robinson darting across as Bialy made the throw to first.

Richmond was the big gunner for the victors with two doubles. LeRoux contributed a double and a single and Booker two singles.

Bialy had a perfect day for Stevenson, cracking out three singles in as many trips to the plate.

Holmes Named Coach Of Year

By GEORGE MASKIN
Sports Editor

It's that time of the year to pass out the spring sports bouquets.

When it comes to track and the coach-of-the-year in Observerland, step forward Bob Holmes of Livonia's Franklin High School.

The 32-year-old Holmes turned a school, pretty much unsung as far as track had been concerned, into one of the area's powers.

Franklin went 8-0 in dual meets, won the Northwest Suburban League and the Belleville Relays titles and placed third in the regionals.

Along the way, Franklin performers smashed six school records.

"THINGS JUST fell in place," said Holmes who has from injuries. We were healthy all along."

Holmes sees the Franklin team doing well again next year.

"We were basically a young team this past season, so all looks well for us next spring."

The biggest loss will be that of Mike Jinnet, one of the finest quartermilers in the state.

Holmes, himself, formerly ran track and cross-country and played basketball first at Mumford High and then at Wayne State in Detroit.

BIG MOMENT FOR RU. There were smiles everywhere as Randy Ferguson (black jacket), Coach Bobby Atkins and Captain Bill Booker receive the Les Anders Memorial trophy from Livonia Recreation Commission chairman Norm

Stalzer. The Panthers had just defeated Stevenson, 8-5, to win the championship on their fourth trip to the finals. (Photo by Tom Donoghue)

'Happiest Moment' For Atkins

By GEORGE MASKIN
Sports Editor

Three times doesn't spell "OUT" for Bob Atkins, the baseball coach at Redford Union High School.

Instead, it spells "the beginning..."

Atkins and his RU teams had failed three times to win in the Les Anders Invitational baseball tournament after reaching the final game.

"We were like the perennial bridesmaid," Atkins was saying.

And, then, last Wednesday, it was Redford Union which downed Livonia Stevenson in the title game.

"The showing of this team has really surprised me," Atkins declared.

WINNING THE Anders came on the heels of Redford Union's sharing the Suburban Six League title with Allen Park and in between RU's qualifying for Saturday's semifinals in the district Class A tournament at Detroit's Butzel Field.

ATKINS SINGLED out three players for providing the leadership, the enthusiasm and the hustle which made the difference.

First there was Bill Herbert, a centerfielder-pitcher.

"Bill had the best year with the bat that any kid ever has had for me in high school," said Atkins. And it should be noted that Atkins has had some stars over the years.

Herbert went into Saturday's district play batting .420. He had 39 hits to his credit and had hit safely in 22 out of 27 games.

RU never had a .400 hitter for the entire regular season. In addition he won seven times and lost only once on the mound.

Next comes Bill Booker, the team's No. 4 hitter. He's a first baseman who had pounded the ball at a .320 clip.

He hit safely in 20 of the 27 games and in all 10 of RU's league games...the latter another RU first.

"Here were two boys who showed the other kids on the team that 'nothing is achieved without enthusiasm and hustle,'" said Atkins.

THE THIRD STANDOUT, of course, is pitcher Randy Ferguson, who, in beating Stevenson in the title game, chalked up his 12th decision of the season against only two losses.

Lenny Dicks Named C'ville Top Athlete

Lenny Dicks, who played three sports to earn 11 letters, was voted Clarenceville High School's most outstanding all-around athlete.

Dicks received that trophy and tied for another trophy as the outstanding football player in the Clarenceville Athletic Boosters Club annual recognition banquet.

It took three ballots among the coaching staff to pick Dicks, said Athletic Director Chuck Thompson, but there was some consolation for that youngster Dicks beat-Rick Stearns.

Stearns two days later was selected outstanding senior athlete at the school's honors convocation.

TO WIN his trophies, Dicks played four years of football as a linebacker, guard and tackle; wrestled for four years, winning conference and league championships in the 165-pound class; and was catcher on the baseball team for three years.

He missed some of his senior year in wrestling and the entire senior baseball season with a separated shoulder that required an operation.

Stearns, to earn the outstanding senior athlete award, played football; was runnerup in the state in the floor exercise for the gymnastics team; and qualified in the high jump event in the state track meet.

FOURTEEN athletes received "most valuable" trophies in their sports at the banquet. They were:

John Johnston, cross-country; Ron Weller and Dicks in football; Janice Mills and Cheryl Rossow in synchronized swimming; Debbie Wilson in girls gymnastics.

Chip Meyrelles and Phil Halstead, basketball; Karl Sjogren in swimming; Chuck Wehner, wrestling; Rob Struk, gymnastics; Gary Selock, tennis; Larry Stein, track; and Terry Laird, baseball.

Nine Records Fall In NWSL Girls Track Meet

By ARTEE

With record-making performances in nine of the 12 events, girls from the six high schools in the Northwest Suburban League definitely proved that female competition is rapidly coming to the front at the high school level.

True enough, it was only the second league meet and thus one could expect numerous new standards but veteran track coaches from area schools were amazed at the performances and the improvement of the girls in one year.

Team honors went to Oak Park by the margin of a single point over John Glenn, 51-50, followed by Livonia Franklin 40, Birmingham Groves 30, North Farmington 18 and Thurston 3.

On the basis of the league meet and dual meet competition, the overall track crowns went to John Glenn with 14 points followed by Oak Park 13 and Franklin 11.

Points were awarded on the basis of 10 for first team in the dual meets, eight for second, seven for third, six for fourth, five for fifth, and four for sixth.

In the league finals, points are given on the basis of six for the first place team, four for second, three for third, two for fourth and one for fifth.

JOHN GLENN won all its meets and finished second in the finals. Franklin was second in dual meets and third in the finals and Oak Park won the finals but was third in the dual competition.

Kathy Searls, of Groves, was the lone double winner, setting records in the 50 and 100-yard dashes, taking a fourth in the running long jump and anchoring the winning 800-yard relay team.

Miss Searls snapped the string in the 50 in :06.5, bettering the previous standard of :07.9 set by Walters of Oak Park. She was well in front of the field in the 100, finishing in :11.9 or one full second better than the :12.9 mark set by Moran of John Glenn.

Alice Newman, of North Farmington, cracked the existing standard for the 220 when clocked in :28.4. The previous record of :29.1 was set by Maureen Donahue of Franklin.

Miss Donahue skipped the 220 this time to win the 440-yard dash in :04.2, one of two individual crowns for Franklin.

Gail Kopchia accounted for the other with a victory in the hurdles. Gail was third in the standing long jump and anchored the record-setting 440-yard relay team to a time of :54.7, bettering the :54.9 set last year by John Glenn.

JOAN McCULLUM, of North Farmington, shattered her own standard in the shot put with a toss of 33'7". She set the former mark of 33'5" a year ago.

Mari Carr, of John Glenn, only had one big jump in the running long jump and it was good enough to win and also set a record. Her leap of 17'1 1/2" shattered the former mark of 14'8 1/2" by Kathy Ragan of Franklin.

Carol Monk, of John Glenn, cracked the standard for the standing long jump with a leap of 8'2 1/2". The old record was 7'9" by Tatt of Oak Park.

Linda Garrett gave John Glenn a total of three firsts and three records when she ran the 800 in 2:44.9. That was a tenth of a second faster than the 2:45 by Watkins of Franklin. Linda was some 50 yards ahead of her nearest rival.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Does the city of Detroit need a race track? Would a track bring enough additional dollars to make it worthwhile to the city? Would it ease the financial situation and build up additional taxes?

These are some of the questions that went unanswered when the Fairgrounds Racing Association, a recently organized group, announced plans to bring a new business to the City of Detroit... horse racing.

The proposed plans call for taking over the State Fairgrounds and renovating the present facilities. This would include covering the mile track with a synthetic surface, reconstruction of the present grandstand into an all-glass enclosed structure and numerous other improvements.

But things that were very carefully not discussed were: how much benefit would the city of Detroit get from such an operation, how can this group get a lease on a property that by act of Legislature has been declared out-of-bounds for pari-mutuel racing and how can any group construct a new clubhouse and place a synthetic cover on a mile strip for a total cost of $5 million or less.

At the moment, the only return to the City of Detroit would be the $600,000 allowed a municipality housing a track from the state's share of the handle. This has been set by the Legislature and it would take legislative amendments to change it. That's something the City of Livonia is vitally interested in... a hike in the allowance to a city housing a racing plant.

It was back in 1949 that the Legislature passed a law banning wagering on horse races at the State Fairgrounds and also any type of horse racing. That law hasn't been repealed.

One of the reasons it was passed was to give racing plants in Metropolitan Detroit's suburban areas assurances that there wouldn't be competition from a Fairgrounds operation at later date.

Both Hazel Park and the Detroit Race Course were just getting started at the time and officials at each wanted assurances before they spent millions building new plants.

NOW AS TO the cost of a new, enclosed clubhouse... the DRC added such a structure to its grandstand some three or four years ago at a cost of almost $5 million. There isn't any reason to believe that the Fairgrounds Racing Association could build a similar building for less than $7.5 million with the inflated costs today.

As a matter of fact, judging from costs for synthetic covering on tracks in other sections and on area collegiate gridirons, it would take something like $1.5 million for that surface alone.

It will be recalled that the Detroit Race Course was sold to a syndicate two years ago for a reported $12.5 million. It has been stated more than once that Hazel Park is available to any buyer that comes up with $14.5 million.

Perhaps the Fairgrounds Racing Association should look into the possibility of buying Hazel Park. One thing is certain, they wouldn't have to start the ball rolling for legislative changes that could cost a bundle in lobbyist fees.

GOING TO the DRC Saturday? Take a look at some of these if you're interested in wagering a bob or two.

The following are recommended: Owasso, Tudor Bold, Royal Gin, Lisas Desire, Cool Climatic, Fleet Affair, Respectme, Quick Jay, Long Road, and Marc's Spy Pilot.

THE GRAND CIRCUIT roared into Hazel Park Friday night with the Tompkins Memorial three-year-old trot but the big events of the annual visit of the Roaring Grand are slated this week. The nation's top juvenile pacers go at it Monday for a purse estimated at $24,000. These are the candidates for the 1972 Little Brown Jug Classic.

But the big event of the week comes Wednesday when the classiest three-year-old pacers in competition this year do battle for the winner's share of the $20,000 added Joe Neville Memorial stake.

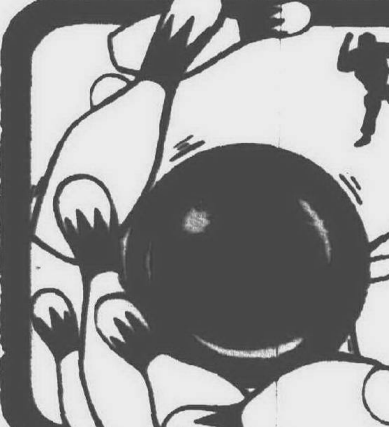

The late Neville is remembered as the father of the Little Brown Jug, building it from an average stake into the nation's No. 1 event for the three-year-olds.

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

Summer bowling got away to a flying start in Observerland this week and from appearances it may be the best summer ever for topping the tempins.

With few exceptions all establishments in the area report increased activities—and more fun.

Summer bowling is far different from the keen competition of the winter. Instead of the traditional five man team league competition the summer lineup is studded with mixed teams and many husband and wife combinations.

These have come to be known as "fun" leagues and the women are making the most of bowling with their husbands instead of watching them.

Another feature of the summer season are women's doubles classics and even three-women teams.

"It is a bit early to predict how high our membership will go this summer," Tom McKay, secretary of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association, remarked, "but we are running ahead of last year."

The Women's Bowling Association also reports an increase over last year at a comparable time.

So, from all indications, it could be a record summer.

THERE SEEMS to be no stopping Ann Setlock at Garden Lanes.

Continuing the scoring spree that earned her the title of Detroit's Bowling Queen during the winter season she is running away with honors in the Women's doubles classic at Garden Lanes.

She paced the opening night a week ago with a 674 series and then came back to take over the pacesetter role again.

This time she linked games of 225, 179 and 236 for a 640.

BY THE SCANT margin of six pins Margie Brothers of Westland Bowl had a dream shattered during the week.

She envisioned a high place in the Hamtramck Citizens Tournament at Playdium and the rich prize it would bring.

When the bell rang to start rolling she posted games of 200 and 234 in an actual 906 series. It also gave her a handicap count of 830—where she missed third place—and $1,000—by six pins.

The prizes drop from $1,000 for third to $100 for fourth. So you can imagine her disappointment.

WES HOFFMAN two time member of the All-State YBA champion when his family lived in Plymouth, won the state junior boys crown in the annual state title tournament at Pleasant Lanes in Mt. Pleasant.

Now a resident of Menominee, Wes carries a 180 average and posted an 1176 for his six games in the title chase. He had a 631 in the morning and fell to 545 after lunch. But it was good enough to win.

THREE DETROIT Juniors will represent Michigan in the All-America Youth Championships in Washington in August.

This event is limited to graduating seniors.

Brent Begnoche, of Yorba Linda Lanes, won the major boys position and Geno Muzzin, of Blenar Lanes in Lincoln Park, will compete in the boys handicap division. Gail Grivicki, of Regal Lanes in Warren, will carry Michigan's hopes in the girls handicap competition.

Gwen Fedrige is the proud possessor of a new honor. She paced the girls in the 290 Club Tournament at Merri-Bowl with a 552-100-491.

MORT FRIEDMAN and Stu Pearlman teamed up to show the way in the men's summer classic at Bel-Aire Lanes with a four game count of 975.

Friedman also won individual game honors with a 269 to beat out Al Messecar who had a 254.

Chris Stevenson showed the way in the Tuesday Ladies circuit with a 577 gained on games of 222, 182 and 173.

In the same circuit Tam Dimochowski posted a 197 her best count of the year.

But the happiest girl was Carol Barker who converted the 7-8-10.

Rollie Krause had a 633 in the "Bermuda Shorts" League on games of 229, 204 and 200.

His closest rivals were Tom Johnson with a 562 and Tom Karr with 561.

Churchill, Harrison Stars Picked

Three players from Churchill High and one from Farmington Harrison were named on the Western Six League's 1971 All-Conference baseball team.

The selections were topped by Steve Chilenko of Churchill, an outfielder who hit .397. He was named the league's most valuable player.

Roy Hendriksson was named at second base and Mark DeRoche at third for Churchill. They hit .303 and .357, respectively.

Pitcher Gary Morrison of Harrison was named to the first team.

Churchill placed three men on the second team—Bruce Sherman, Bob Phillips and Bruce Van Wagoner.

Harrison's Tom Young and Dave Manos also were saluted with second team slots.
