IT WAS A GALA NIGHT when Plymouth High School alumni observed their annual homecoming Friday, spoiled only by Redford Union's audacity in defeating the Rock football club. Not even this could detract from the climactic announcement of the homecoming queen, however, and

Two British poets, Peter Redgrave, and D. M. Thomas, will read their postry at Schoolcraft College at two different times on Thursday, Peter Redgrave, was scheened at Taunton School, Somervet in England and at Queen's College, Cambridge, where he was open scholar and state scholar in natural sciences. He has been visiting poet to Buffalo University, New York, and was Gregory Fellow in Poetry at Leeds University, Yorkshire, England for three years. He is at present resident poet at the Falmouth School of Art, Cornwall, England.

D.M. Thomas was born in 1935 in Cornwall, England. He has published two collections of poetry, has edited an anthology of poems about Cornwall, and has been widely anthologized on both sides of the Atlantic.

The visiting poets will appear at 3 p.m. and again at 8 p.m. in room D-100 of the Schoolcraft Physical Education Building. There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

24 Prizes In Costume Parade

Wonderland Center's annual children's Halloween costume parade and party will begin at 11 a.m. on Saturday, Oct. 30.

Two dozen prizes - in-cluding record players, tape recorders, cassettes, radios and games - will be awarded. The contest will be staged at the west end of the mall. The shopping center is located at Plymouth and Middle Belt

All children in costume will receive a free goody bag.

Judges, chosen from among adults in the audience, will select four top winners in the categories of prettiest, funniest, ugliest and most original.

Parade time for children under age six is 11 a.m., and for children ages seven through 12 it's at 1:30 p.m. No advance registration is necessary.

Gundella Will Demonstrate Love Spells

Gundella, the entertaining Garden City witch, will appear Friday, Oct. 29 at Wonderland Center, Plymouth at Middle Belt in Livonia.

Following the custom of the green witches of Scotland, Gundella will dye herself green. She will also demonstrate how to make a voodoo doll and show how to cast spells designed to attract the opposite sex.

Her demonstration, to begin at 7:30 p.m. on the stage at the west end of the mall, is open to the general public but recommended for a mature, adult audience.

AWEEK'S October vacation is a matter of contrasts. It is nature's awesome paintbrush at work from Cadillac to Harbor Springs, but equally it is the sense of accomplishment in the long overdue cleaning of a basement and garage. It also is being interrupted by a 7 a.m. private meeting of the Plymouth Board of Education.

There won't be anything, ever, in the official records of our school board to tell of that gathering. Nonetheless, it did occur last Wednesday in the Mayflower Hotel, and the only absentee was John Ohno, who was abroad.

Why they met is most quickly explained by saying that at the end of the session Supt. James H. Rossman still had his title, with the $28,000 salary that goes with it, all because one lone board member refused to go along with the majority who were willing to buy up Rossman's contract right now.

You who pay the taxes needed to operate our schools, and who elect the board, are entitled to know what's been going on, and why it now is that Rossman can safely expect to finish out his contract which expires June 30, 1973.

You can bet your bottom dollar, however, that it won't be extended one day beyond that, nor will there be any salary increase for him in the interim despite the fact that all the junior clerks around him will get their annual pay boost.

ROSSMAN CAME HERE in 1967 to take the place of the ever-so-popular Russell Isbister, who had retired. Although extremely competent in many ways, he quickly irritated the public, his fellow administrators, teachers, and particularly the Board of Education with his style of community, employe and public relations Everyone wanted the impossible; they wanted another Isbister. And because Rossman is not built in Russ's image, he has been on the verge of dismissal since last January when the board held its first private poll on the question of firing him.

When the vote turned out to be 7 to 0, it scared them so that they didn't know what to do next, because if there's anything a Plymouth school board doesn't want to do, it's to stir up a scandal.

There was hemming and hawing on the Rossman issue among board members all winter and spring.

Even though the 55 - year - old superintendent didn't have a single vote, there were those who didn't want to take on the big financial package which his immediate dismissal would mean. In their effort to work out some sort of a compromise they postponed a decision time after time until June 22, meanwhile beginning the policy of those unofficial dawn sessions at the Mayflower, where the walls not only have ears but tongues.

THE NIGHT OF JUNE 22 it all came out into have tenure." the open -- or at least it did if you knew what you were looking for - when, without a word of debate, Rossman was relieved at a formal board session of direct responsibility for educational programs, al post on the faculty to which he feels he is entitled personnel, and community relations.

This was done by adoption of a statement of policy spelling out areas of responsibility for Rossman and three assistant superintendents, Mike Hoben, Mel Blunk and Earl Gibson. Funny thing, though; the policy statement never was explained to the audience, privy to the board's secretive ways.

Hoben emerged that night as the heir-apparent anyway. for the title of superintendent, and just last Wednesday the board agreed fully on this after Blunk's proponents threw in the towel. Mel is in charge of finances, but is close to retirement. As for Gibson, his smile is needed in public relations.

Since June 22, Rossman has been responsible only for site development, Plymouth Area Planning Commission reports, school farm development, supply and equipment logistics, federal and state aid liaison, and to keep a general finger on the pulse of Lansing's educational thinking. The board agrees he is doing a splendid job in these areas.

WHAT HAS happened is this:

The board has divested Rossman of all major control of Plymouth schools (but not his title), has created a triumvirate to answer directly to the board instead of to the superintendent, agrees that he is not the man they want to head the system, and has let him know it wishes he would look for another job.

The hitch is that the board won't act without unanimity, and it has one member, George Lawton, who thinks the stink of a Rossman dismissal at this time would ruin chances for that necessary five-mill tax renewal next spring.

The others refuse to take on Lawton in a public fight and have agreed to the compromise of just letting Jim's contract run its course, then hiring a new superintendent - who at this hour would be Hoben.

THAT MUCH IS HISTORY. The thing that piques a reporter's curiosity, however, is how the superintendent adjusts to this ploy, about which he has known for many months and to which he reacts by muttering the motto, "Patience is the password."

In brief, Rossman has refused to become ruffled in public, commenting that "I will render service as long as I have a contract. As long as I get paid, I will fulfill my side of the contract."

But it isn't quite that simple. Rossman himself let that cat out of the bag last Wednesday night when he told me, "If I had been dismissed today, I would have gone to court."

You see, fellow voters, the superintendent isn't about to be kicked out without a fight. He uses statements such as "I will protect my rights...There are many months to go ... I'm not in a position to accept any second-rate job."

Then comes Jim's $100,000 punch line: "I do

That's where the school board may have bought itself a real tangle - trying to fire a superintendent, but finding he is willing to accept a mere instructionby law.

The whole thing has led Plymouth's educational administration into the strangest armed truce of all time. The "patience" which Rossman considers his password will be put to quite a test in the coming months, and the school board's even more. The sad and its true import was understood only by those fact is that even though you little people now know what the big people are doing, it won't matter

"It is the feeling of the board that Ordinance 367 has placed restrictions on an isolated area in the total Plymouth community which will affect the normal and logical competitive operation of the businesses involved."

After listening for an hour to the pleas of retailers for repeal, and the contentions of the students that the ordinance is a step toward environmental improvement. the commission tabled to Nov. 15 Commissioner Robert Sincock's motion to rescind the measure.

MEANWHILE, the discussion did bring forth willingness of all interested parties to attempt the establishment of a glass recycling center in Plymouth.

Unless you have been one of the beneficiaries, you've probably never heard of the Plymouth Dental Fund.

There's no office, phone number of salaried staff; no advertisements or letterhead stationary.

Which means, every cent allocated by the Plymouth Community Fund is applied directly to the teeth of more than 100 children.

"For 17 years, the Fund has had an agreement with the nurses in each of Plymouth's elementary and secondary schools whereby they screen and identify ren who need dental work and whose families cannot afford to finance it. The Fund enables these children to go to the dentist of their choice who then bills us when the work is completed," explains Chairman Carvel M. Bentley.

The participating dentists (there were 13 last year) have arranged a fee schedule for Dental Fund participants which is lower than that charged to other patients. In spite of inflation, these fees have been raised only twice Faculty Wives since the service was established in 1964.

"THE DENTISTS feel pretty good about the program," Bentley says. "In the past, if a family could not pay for the dental work, they would sooner do it for free than let the children's teeth suffer. Because of the fund, they receive some reim-

THUS, BENTLEY feels some satisfaction that the fund wound up the year 1970 with a balance of $600 compared to approximately $2,700

"The increased expenditures came from an increase in patients, from 79 in to 147 in 1970. We disbursed approximately $5,000 more in 1970 than the previous year before," he

The fund membership includes Bentley, former principal of Plymouth High School and now coordinator of the cooperative training program for the Plymouth school system; school nurse Virginia Gibson and Donald Sutherland, C.P.A., who is the current president of the Plymouth Dental Association.

They are requesting an allocation of $5,500 from the Community Fund this year, an increase of just $500 over last year's budget.

"We're one organization that has no interest in carrying over a big balance from the previous year," Bentley says. "We just want to break even."

big noise for Harrison, scoring Pagnucco tallied the fifth Harrison TD on a sneak from the two yard line. Farmington picked up its other three points on conversions after touchdowns.

Thibodeau hit pay dirt from three yards out, twice from the four and once from the 10.

Phil Polarchik took a 12 yard pass from Bill McDonald for one of the Mustang tallies and Dale Griffiths registered two more...one on a 52 vard sprint and the other on a plunge from the one.

The victory left Harrison tied with Waterford Mott for ne top spot in the league standings, each has won two Western Six contests. Mott squeezed past Livonia Churchill, 6-3, in a thriller to stay in the battle for the 1971 championship.

First place will be at stake Friday when Harrison travels to Waterford for the allimportant game under the lights at 8 p.m.

Oct. 23 Dinner Will Honor SC Founders

Almost 10 years to the exact vice-president of instruction, in a 10th anniversary celebration.

Between 400 and 500 of the through its early growth stages will attend a dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 23 in Waterman Campus Center.

The college was voted into existence on Oct. 24, 1961 by residents of the Livonia, Plymouth, Clarenceville and Garden City School Districts. The first attempt at establishing the college failed in June of 1961 when residents of the Redford Union and South Redford School Districts voted it down while the other four districts supported it.

The Northville School District voted to join the college district in June of 1963.

COLLEGE RECORDS were consulted before a list was drawn up of 550 persons who worked on the college. Preinvitations were sent all of the persons in an effort to locate those who had moved. When 100 of the pre-invitations were returned, the college set out to locate those people.

The college's new president, Dr. C. Nelson Grote, will act as master of ceremonies during the dinner.

Among the speakers will be Harold Fischer of Plymouth, Plymouth, secretarywho chaired the original study treasurer; the late Ward committee to launch the McCain of Livonia; Albert college. Fischer also was the Hartom of Clarenceville, first chairman of the Board of Raymond Kenyon of Garden Trustees and served on the City; Dr. Keene of Redford Dr. Robert Keene, current South Redford.

Bradner will return to the persons who laid the ground- - campus to discuss events after work for the college and saw it the successful election. The naming of the college will be related by Dean Emeritus Lois Waterman.

> PRESENTATIONS will be made to the board members who were recently replaced in an at-large election.

Leaving the board after 10 years service are Mrs. Jane Moehle, former chairman: Paul Mutnick, and L. Clarke Oldenburg. William Secord and Dr. James Boswell also were replaced in the Sept. 13 election.

Dr. R. Robert Geake, newlyelected board chairman, and John LaRue and Erwin Brown are joined on the board by Mrs. Rosina Raymond, Mrs. Mary Dumas, Paul Kadish, Leroy Bennett and Archibald

The anniversary celebration will also include a display on the history of the college and a slide presentation. The buildings will be open after the dinner for guests to visit. Entertainment will be provided by the 16-member Schoolcraft Madrigal Singers. In addition to Fischer, the original study committee included Esther Hulsing of Union; and Thomas Kirby o

Neutral Doesn't Date

When decorating their homes, many women feel that a neutral color is easier to live with than the latest "in" hue. Besides, neutral doesn't date. This is especially true with long-life purchases 'such as resilient tile floors, which last a good 20 years.

The Beltie Flacer Chancil reports that being and offwhite are by far the bestselling colors in vinyl anhestos tile. With these colors the floor acts as a background for other furnishings. Right now decorators are especially fond of splashy area rugs over neutral resilient floors.

A "restful" color on the floors and walls allows more freedom with other furmishings - major pieces and accessories. With a beige flooring upholstery colors can be wild, yearing moms will not seem "loud," the effect is warm and inviting. Side chairs, pillows, curtains, painings can be any color in

One other big advantage to using resilient when you want light colored floors: it is so easy to care for. You aren't constantly worrying about spills or people tracking in dirt and debris. And the tile will not vellow if you use the proper floor finish and apply as directed, in very thin coats.

Evergreen Shedding Is Normal

EAST LANSING Take a close look at your pine or arborvitae trees this fall and notice brown needles dropping.

Surprised? Don't be alarmed. It's normal for pines, spruces and similar growth each fall, according to Michigan State University horticulturist, Dr. Harold Davidson.

Natural needle drop occurs to the center of the tree. Younger-needles at the ends of the branches will remain green during this period of specialing.

Scotch pines will lose their three-year-old needles, while the red pine drops its four-year needles. During shedding, the trees look like they are dying. As soon as a hard wind or rain hits them, the old needles fall and the tree will look normal again.

Although I do not have school age children anymore, I do have grandchildren and naturally I am very much concerned with this situation of bussing into the inner city to achieve balanced racial integration.

As tax paying citizens, we should protest en masse through petitions to our legislators so this could be more realistically resolved. The judge or judges who passed this ruling must have had senile and scatter-brained thinking in believing that it could justifiably work without any repercussion or else they felt they wouldn't be around long enough to witness the throes of a revolution this could touch off.

Integrate

Livonia EDITOR:

OK: if you really believe in the local school and want to limit busing to the city boundaries, there is another and better way.

I do not believe that any court would include a suburb in a busing plan that was honestly open to all and integrated. There is time. Livonia could take the lead and obey the law and conscience rather than conspiring against it.

The City Council could pass an ordinance with teeth aimed at the Livonia National Bank and other financial institutions demanding equal lending for homes in Livonia. The same ordinance could demand that real estate people start helping blacks to move into Livonia.

The Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations could go to work finding black organizations that would jointly work on honest integration. Not tokenism but the real thing. Then we could concentrate on improving our schools and our community as an all - American city that we could be truly proud of.

Instead of all the hate and fear, we could integrate right now. Help Livonia to become 10 or 20 per cent black: Then everyone would win.

Bus Money Waste, Sin

EDITOR:

Let "first things come first." Are you "wishful thinkers?" I'm referring to you, the would-be "great humanitarians" who think forced bussing of school children into districts other than they're own, is a step in the right direction towards integration ... even if it sounds insane.

Let's be realistic. "Low quality" education was one of the concerns for Judge Roth's action on school segregation in Michigan, This kind of problem can only be remedied by extra money for these poor districts.

Wouldn't it be a sin to waste $40 million or so on busses? That kind of money could go a long way to improve these ghettos and also put food on their tables. By the way, how about the white poor people in the ghettos? Funny thing, no one ever mentions these people, and they DO exist.

Therefore, I am sure, you "Great White Humanitarians" would get an "overwhelming blessing from the anti-bussing parents to send your child to a ghetto school and perhaps fill-in the percentage of white children who would have to leave the Livonia school system if the forced bussing is approved.

The "neighborhood school concept" must be preserved for the sake of "unity" in the families.

That's us all over.

Every one of those dots represents a National Bank of Detroit office. And every one of those NBD offices lets you deal with Michigan's biggest Bank on a personal basis.

You do your banking with people who know you and your community. Without ever having to leave your community.

You see, having all those offices hasn't in any way diluted NBD's services. Each office is a full-fledged bank—capable of meeting all your banking needs. And should any special situation arise, the senior management of our main office is only a phone call away.

So even though we're Michigan's biggest bank, we're not all that impersonal. We're as friendly as any bank down the street. Because we probably are the bank down the street.

That's the advantage of having more dots than any other bank in town.

And that's why the bank to see is NBD. National Bank of Detroit.

Former Senator Huber voiced opposition to crossdistrict bussing in addition to appealing for support to his petition drive to roll back the state income tax rate to the previous rate before the state legislature raised it by half

In the rear of the crowded civic league hall, his group, Regain Our Control of Taxes (ROTOC) had petitions available for signing and distribution.

He said that taxes should be controlled by the people.

Huber warned against a push for a single state school district with one school tax and state control.

State Sen. Faust, whose district includes Garden City and Westland, said that he is "for quality education and willing to pay for it" in addition to equal educational opportunities.

FAUST WILL support the Senate bill introduced to amend the constitution to ban forced cross-district bussing.

REP. TIERNEY, whose district includes Garden City and most of the north half of Westland, urged parents "to fight for a tax change for better schools."

Rep. Brown, whose district covers the south half of Westland, said that he "will stand and fight with you in every legal means to prevent" cross-district bussing.

Rep. Young, whose district includes the Westland portion bordered by Inkster, Joy, Warren, and Farmington Rd., concurred and added that Detroit schools now get most of the special state school funds created for special purposes.

YOUNG NOTED that Detroit gets about $50 more per student in state aid income although it has a higher property valuation behind each student than the schools an accident rate of only 20 per cent of what you'd expect for a town its size.

Cumbernauld's size today is about 35,000, a little less than Garden City's or Farmington Township's. Its traffic planners anticipated that as it grew by 3,500 or more a year, its casualty rate would increase from 30 per cent of the national average to perhaps 40 per cent.

Instead the accident rate

In recent years, only one person per year has been killed in traffic on Cumbernauld's roads although the national rate was 2.4. One would expect 149 killed and injured, but Cumbernauld's casualty figure was only 29.

Epard Should Appea Bussing Ruling To Higher Court

By Philip H. Power

State Board of Education member James F. O'Neil (R-Livonia) last week urged Attorney Gen. Frank J. Kelley to appeal Federal Judge Stephen Roth's finding that the state is a guilty party in the Detroit school integration case.

I think O'Neil is right.

Kelley, in response to O'Neil's request, said that he could not appeal the ruling unless the entire State Board of Education asked him to.

I think Kelley is correct in his response; but I also think the State Board has a clear obligation to back up O'Neil and ask Kelley to appeal.

AS A REPUBLICAN outnumbered 6-2 on the State Board by Democrats, O'Neil may have acted ineptly by not consulting his colleagues before asking seem to agree with him. Kelley to appeal, but his reasons for asking for higher court review Utica), who represents Warren of Judge Roth's decision have merits.

He argues that certain articles in the U.S. and Michigan Constitutions prohibit actions taken specifically because of the religion, race, color or national born), whose district borders this origin of citizens.

Detroit school system are in fact receiving "equal educational opportunity," citing the facts that per pupil spending on Detroit children is 4% over the state average and that the Detroit school system has gone to great lengths to hire black teachers and specialists who understand inner city children's problems.

O'Neil also argues that Judge Roth's ruling should be appealed quite simply because it represents a massive change in the way local education systems would work, a change too important to be implemented without review by higher courts.

A NUMBER of Michigan Congressmen, while not reacting directly to O'Neil's suggestion, Rep. James G. O'Hara (Damong other suburbs, said: "Court-ordered student bussing programs go beyond the requirements of the Constitution and are wrong."

Rep. John Dingell (D-Deararea, remarked: "The recent He claims that students in the District Court decisions in the Pontiac and Detroit school cases appear to require establishment of a racial quota and to disregard the fact that racial makeup in a given school or school district may result from circumstances other than the requirements of law. I believe that these decisions exceed constitutional requirements,"

Other Congressmen, including Rep. Jack McDonald (R-Farmington), believe that Judge Roth's decision goes beyond the Constitution, but they have chosen to push for a Constitutional Amendment prohibiting bussing of school children strictly on racial grounds.

THE REAL point behind O'Neil's proposal is that a ruling as important as Judge Roth's ought to be appealed to the higher courts before specific remedies are proposed and put into effect.

One of the problems with the Pontiac bussing situation, which that the school district was ordered to bus before the case was resolved before the Court of Appeals or U.S. Supreme Court. The result was that people in Pontiac lost their faith in the judicial system and many of them were prepared to act illegally in the face of a legal ruling to try

It's very important that the public faith in the integrity of our courts be preserved, particularly in a case such as this, and to prevent bussing.

was before Roth's decision, was that's why O'Neil's request makes sense.

> The State Board of Education would be well advised if it asked Atty. Gen. Kelley to appeal the ruling to the U.S. Court of Appeals to test exactly what the law requires.

Only in that way can parents be assured that all appropriate legal tests have been made on the bussing issue, and only by such tests can the people be prepared to accept a legal resolution of what is surely the most crucial social issue of our time.

WEIGHTY

By FRANK J. KELLEY Mich. Atty. General

tion of all segments of thought on a

The issues raised by the bussing controversy impose tremendous obligations on public officials. Some are playing on the honest fears and lack of understanding of the facts and the law by tens of thousands of parents. This has created a real social crisis in Michigan which, I believe, the facts and prospects do not justify.

As the father of three children, I understand and have sympathy for parents who have honest concerns for the welfare of their children. I hope that these comments will help put this matter in perspective:

 There is no present order for cross-bussing - that is, bussing from one school district to another. The federal court reviewing the matter will not issue any kind of a final order for several months.

 No court in the United States has yet ordered bussing across school district lines. If such an order is entered, it will be for the first time and will undoubtedly be appealed to the United States Supreme Court. This process will delay final implementation for a considerable period of time.

· In the Detroit case, the school districts around the city have not been allowed to participate or to be heard in this case. This jurisdictional question will have to be settled before the case can ultimately be concluded.

. The attitude in regard to bussing of the United States Supreme Court as it is now constituted is not known. However, legal commentators predict that the court is now and with the forthcoming appointments by the president likely to remain, for better or for worse, "a strict constructionist" court.

 The United States Supreme Court will make the final decision in this matter. Knowledgeable observers doubt that any constitutional amendment will even be considered by Congress until after the United States Supreme Court has acted.

On the basis of all of these factors, especially those relating to the probable final determinations by the U.S. Supreme Court as it is presently or in the immediate future likely to be constituted, I believe it is possible to make this prediction as to the outcome when all proceedings are concluded: There will be no cross-bussing in Michigan.

The basic fact remains. however, that our primary concern is quality education of our children. Certainly men and women of good will can find answers to this problem which are compatible to the needs of our society.

We hope that at least one part of the answer can be found in the suit which Gov. Milliken and I have filed challenging the constitutionality of the present method of financing public schools through the local property tax and the state aid formula. What we are seeking in that suit is that there be substantially equal financial support for every student in this state, no matter where he may reside.

Time For School Boards To Outshine Politicians

One of the problems with school politicians is that they commonly refuse to admit they're politicans, which is maybe why the schools are in bad shape.

Nowhere has the general naivete of school politicians been better displayed than on the bussing issue - that is, the prospect that a federal judge will order Detroit and suburban

The politicians who know they're politicians - namely, the ones holding legislative and municipal offices - are taking the initiative away from the school people, and they may mess up the

SOME EXAMPLES:

•The State Board of Education was found by Judge Stephen Roth to have its hand in the segregation pot in Detroit. Has the state board decided yet to appeal the decision No: only one minority member, James O'Neil (R-Livonia), has suggested an appeal.

•Meanwhile, congressional politicians are shouting for an anti-bussing amendment to the U.S. Constitution -- an amendment that I fear is for a transitory purpose and may even fail to do the job.

South Redford and Redford Union school districts are on the border of Detroit, hence prime candidates for bussing IF it ever comes about.

Have they sought yet to intervege in the Detroit suit? No. And he sall if being siblen from them by the publicity-hungry Redford opinion, as summed up by one Township supervisor, Bill J. Robbins, who has ordered the township to prepare pleadings to intervene. Robbins, himself a lawyer, should know better than to stick the township government's nose into a school case, but he seems to be getting away with it at this writing.

• The Farmington Township Board passed a bombastic antibussing resolution. What was so frightening wasn't its support of the activity in Congress, but the level of reasoning.

The Farmington Township clan denounced the Roth decision as "social legislation," which, if you pay any attention to Dixiecrat rhetoric, is the most lowdown and ignorant phrase they could apply to the Warren Court's 1954 decision to end segregation. Any good lawyer will tell you that virtually all important legislation is social legislation. It's too bad that a good lawyer on the Farmington Township Board couldn't have prevented such blatant wording from being builted through.

· All sorts of municipal politicos - even Southfield's figurehead mayor, Norman Feder - are denouncing bussing as frightened voters apply the heat.

SOME OPPONENTS of bussing frankly hate, or are frightened by, Stegroes. The majority of opponents, however, view bussing as a costly, inefficient way to achieve count protec-tion of the laws and an end to Se legislation in the legislatio

Please be advised that for the past two years I have resided in this area I have faithfully read newspaper. You are to be commended for some of the timely editorials that you present. It might further be stated that your manner of presentation certainly indicates a policy of fair and accurate commentary.

It is respectively suggested that since the shibboleths of the current philosophy is that the average citizen does not become involved in government, my response to this canard is that the average citizen is kept ignorant and uninformed of what is happening in Washington and/or Lansing.

If you would agree on that point then perhaps you might agree with me on the following matter. It is my understanding that there are less than 20 newspapers in the United States that report regularly as to the voting records of senators, representatives in Congress or pay for this, as she earns $1.70 representatives in the Legislature.

Price Manages New Korvettes

A Southfield man, who managed the Korvettes store in Redford Township, recently took over as manager of the chain's new store in Madison Heights.

Michael Price, who has managed the Redford store since 1968, began as manager of the new store after the store opened with a day-long celebration on Thursday.

Price has been with Korvettes for 10 years. He lives with his wife, Evelyn, in Southfield Downs Trailer Park.

"It's always an exciting challenge to open a store, and a particular pleasure to create employment possibilities for hundreds of people, as well as shopping convenience for thousands." Price said.

The 87,000 square foot store is the fifth to be opened in the Detroit area and the 49th in the country. Local branches are, in Roseville, Redford,

Southgate and Southfield. The stores offer apparel for men, women and children as well as appliances, home
