PROGRESS BEING made on the I-275 and I-96 interchange is best seen from the air. This is the area between Eckles and Haggerty Rds. in Plymouth Township. The bridge in the foreground will carry I-275 over the C&O Railroad tracks. Paralleling the tracks is Schoolcraft Rd., which also is being bridged. The two new freeways will join in the cloverleaf which can be seen taking shape north of Schoolcraft. (Aerial photo courtesy of Donovan Associates.)

Auditors Urge New City Charter; Call Present Document 'Outdated'

By FRED DELANO

The annual audit of City of Plymouth financial records has brought from the certified public accountants who conducted the examination a recommendation that the City Commission take steps toward authorizing preparation of a new city charter.

The C.P.A. firm, headed by Donald H. Sutherland and Timothy C. Yoe, criticized portions of the present charter, which was written in 1951, as being "completely outdated."

This is the second time this year the charter has come under attack. The first instance brought a ruling from U.S. Judge Damon J. Keith that the entire section setting up residency and property ownership requirements in order to become a candidate for local office is unconstitutional.

Already there had been informal discussion among some members of the commission that perhaps the time is ripe for a total charter review, and the recommendation from the accountants is expected to trigger an early decision on the matter.

They pointed out that although there has been some revision in the document since it was written 20 years ago, "it becomes apparent that more than mere revision is necessary to provide the city with a modern and workable charter."

THEIR REPORT continued, "Since much of the charter deals with financial controls, job descriptions and procedures, the auditors have an interest in its usefulness. Times have changed. Some of the material in the present charter is completely outdated."

"For many years, the city has followed a cumbersome system of control and authorization procedures related to cash disbursements as described in the charter."

"Not only must an expenditure be authorized by a department head, but it must be approved by virtually all of the city administrators, and then reviewed by the commission audit committee. These authorization procedures are not only tedious but are time-consuming and result in reduced efficiency, especially in the area of minor expenditures."

"A new charter could provide for streamlined procedures without reducing the effectiveness of internal control. Perhaps the number of persons who must authorize a transaction could be reduced."

"In the area of cash disbursements, it may not be necessary to subject small dollar amount expenditures to audit committee review if the expenditure is within the budget limitations already set by the commission."

"We therefore recommend that the City Commission consider the feasibility of authorizing the preparation of a new city charter. The proposed new charter could be adapted to the present needs of the city of Plymouth."

"The charter document should be organized in such a way as to incorporate many of the modern procedures and controls developed over the past 20 years."

IF THE commission decides to call for selection of a charter commission, it would provide the opportunity for a general review of the nature of municipal government.

This could involve the number of commissioners and such a question as whether the mayor should be elected by popular vote, or by his commission colleagues, plus determining whether to continue with the city manager form of administration.

While the charter issue was the most dominant matter raised in the Sutherland-Yoe report, a number of other procedural changes were suggested. Foremost among them was a recommendation—which they now have made for three successive years—that the duties of treasurer, assessor and purchasing agent be segregated instead of all three being handled by just one employee.

In general, however, the report praised the administration, particularly for progress which has been made toward implementation of the new uniform accounting system prescribed by the state treasurer.

Student Safety Plan Approved

By KATHY MORAN

While declaring that it was not setting a precedent, the Plymouth Board of Education voted this week to allocate up to $500 for the construction of a pedestrian overpass over Haggerty Road for the safety of students.

Frank Phillips, representing the Allen School safety committee, said the total cost of the overpass will be $2,000 maximum.

Wayne County will pay half of the construction cost, and Allen parents expect to raise the balance. The board also agreed to assume the cost of maintenance and electricity.

IN MAKING the board motion, trustee George Lawton said that the Allen parents have a peculiar problem in relation to other local safety hazards (the construction of I-275 will go directly in front of the school).

Lawton also praised the parents for the time and patience they have demonstrated as well as all the work they did on planning the overpass.

The vote on the initial motion was three affirmative, one negative, one abstention and one member absent.

Gerald Fischer To Be Speaker For PHS Fete

Formal dedication of the new Plymouth High School will be held the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 5 with Gerald Fischer, a former resident who was president of the Board of Education in the late '60s, appearing as guest speaker.

The school, at Joy and Canton Center Rds. in Centennial Educational Park, will be open from 12 noon to 6 p.m. on dedication day for self-directed tours, but the official program will get under way at 3 p.m. in the auditorium.

Supt. James Rossman will serve as moderator, and the program will open with a concert by the high school band under the baton of James Griffith.

The invocation will be offered by Rev. Henry Welch, and the colors will be presented by representatives of the Plymouth posts of the V.F.W. and the American Legion.

Brief remarks will be made by Mrs. Esther Hulsing, school board president; Bill Brown, principal of the high school; Paul Green, mayor of the student body, and Richard Hausman, co-chairman of the Community School Council, prior to Fischer's address. The benediction will be by Rev. David Davies.

FISCHER'S RETURN to headline the dedication program is of particular timeliness because much of the planning for the school was accomplished during his tenure on the school board. The Fischer family now lives in Connecticut.

Platform guests will include Mrs. Russell Isbister, Mrs. Carl Schultheiss, William Harding, Donald Tripp, Sen. Carl Pursell, Rep. James Tierney and Mrs. Fischer.

The planning committee for this occasion includes Ass't. Supt. Earl Gibson, Hausman and his co-chairman from the council, Lorraine Kornegger, and the membership of the council's steering committee, who will act as hosts and hostesses at the tea which will follow the formal program.

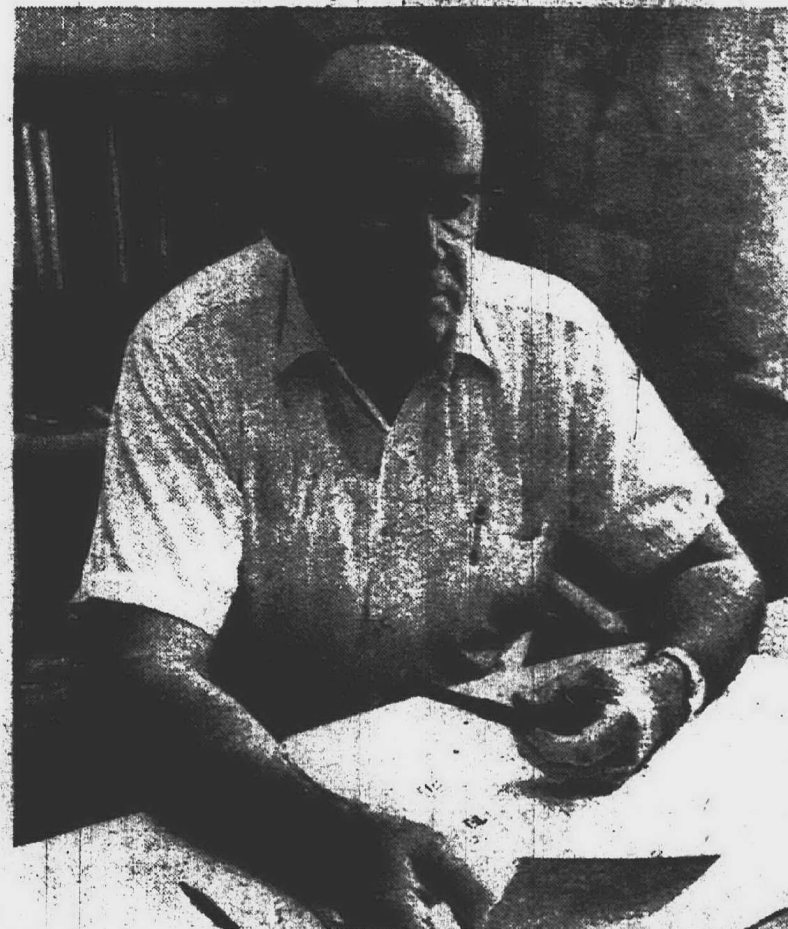

STUDENTS WILL be stationed throughout the building to direct guests who wish to tour the facility.

Gibson said that parking techniques will be the same as those used for football games, with student attendants.

He and other members of the administration are hopeful that a capacity crowd will be on hand in the auditorium, and that many residents will avail themselves of the opportunity to inspect the building.

BO SCHEMBECHLER, head football coach of the University of Michigan's championship Wolverines, will be the featured speaker Tuesday at Plymouth High School's fall sports banquet, sponsored by the Boosters Club. The banquet will be held at 6:15 p.m. in the Elks Lodge, 41700 Ann Arbor Rd. Tickets are $3.50.

CHARLES (CHUCK) THOMPSON will retire from his post of city building inspector Jan. 3 after more than 20 years of employment by the city of Plymouth. Thompson joined the municipal government as a patrolman, then served a year as city assessor and has been building inspector since 1956. After leaving Plymouth's employ, Thompson will go to work immediately as full-time building inspector for Canton Township at a salary of $13,000. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

The Stroller... Loser Was A Delicacy

By W. W. EDGAR

What had been a beautiful looking brown bird sitting in the center of the festive board for the annual Thanksgiving meal was now a horrible appearing carcass with raggedy bones sticking up like the masts of a sunken ship.

There was a collective sigh as the dinner plates that only moments before had been filled with roast turkey and all the trimmings were pushed aside.

The bird had been prepared to satisfy the most demanding, and those gathered round who had shared the palate appeasers vowed it was "the best meal I ever ate."

Then, someone harked back to other years and other days and asked -

"What was the most unusual meal you ever served?"

The Stroller listened attentively while wondering if anyone could match the most unusual - and unexpected - meal he ever had eaten during the holiday season.

WE DIDN'T LEARN until later that a fight to the death among the buffalo is nothing unusual.

Those who make a study of such things informed us that, each year, the "king" of the herd is challenged by some young upstart buffalo and has to defend his honor.

Usually the battle lasts for hours, and no one dares try to part the animals during the ferocious battling.

In the end, one of them has had its life snuffed out and the old "king" either keeps his rank or the young upstart takes over as the new monarch of the herd.

That's what happened on the Trexler farm - though nothing was said about the buffalo tradition at the time.

The animal simply was dressed, much like a deer on a hunting trip - and stowed away in the refrigerator for an opportune time.

WHAT COULD BE a better time than Thanksgiving Day and where could be found a better place than the Good

Will home be located to furnish a treat for the needy?

It was a most unusual sight to see these more unfortunate souls partake of the charity meal.

It was heart warming and a sight long to be remembered.

And as they sat at the table enjoying what had to be one of the best meals they may have had in days, Mr. Trexler, the host, with the trace of a smile, remarked:

"I wonder if they know they're eating the loser?"

As far as the so-called delicacy was concerned, The Stroller is thankful that our Pilgrim Fathers didn't choose buffalo instead of turkey on that distant day when they gathered to celebrate the first Thanksgiving.

Plan Safety Measures To Aid Allen Students against it, and Dr. John Ohno abstained. Both said their actions were based on a conflict with a motion passed by the board on Nov. 8.

At the time, the board voted to stop devoting part of their meetings to hearing groups concerned about safety hazards and to direct Supt. James Rossman to investigate the financing of safety solutions with a view of putting the issue to the voters in the spring.

The Allen parents group had been told by the board to report back at the Nov. 23 meeting before the policy statement was passed.

Under Robert's Rules of Order, an abstention can be counted with the majority vote if it is needed to pass a motion.

Four votes are needed for passage.

But the board voted to reconsider Lawton's motion and it passed when Dr. Ohno changed his vote. John Hanskat was late for the meeting and missed the vote.

LAWTON SMITH, school safety director, told the board that he is working with the county to have two school signs with flashing yellow lights installed on the north and south boundaries of the school.

The signs would set the speed limit at 25 m.p.h. when the lights are flashing. They would be controlled from the school office.

Phillips also asked the board to consider providing temporary transportation for students living within the 1 1/2 mile boundary during highway construction in the school area.

The board asked Rossman to check the legal ramifications of the school district's charging parents for the temporary transportation.

Church Closes Glass Center

Officials of Epiphany Lutheran Church, 4130 Five Mile Rd., announced this week that they have closed their glass collection station "in the interest of promoting a community-wide effort."

The announcement stressed the need of a recycling center "at a place more conveniently located for the citizens of the entire Plymouth community."

"Citizens are urged to bring their glass containers (washed and less their metal neck bands) to the glass collection center being run by Youth, Inc., at 271 S. Main," it was stated.

This station accepts glass for disposal from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. each Saturday.

Miss Cockriel and Rosen have returned to their respective schools after such participation, enthusiastic in their praise of the program and the enlightened concept of retardation it offers.

Army Puts Recruiting Post Here

Staff Sgt. Robert McAndrew has announced that he will open an Army recruiting office in Plymouth on Dec. 1 to cover the Plymouth and Northville areas.

The office is to be located at 519 Penniman near Main St. Hours of operation will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. These times will vary with the needs of the public.

ALSO ANNOUNCED was a major pay raise for members of the United States Army that became effective Nov. 14.

Under the terms of the military pay bill, newly-enlisted soldiers will receive $268.50 per month. This compares with $134.40 under the previous law.

The pay raise will not only include substantial increases in basic pay, but will also raise quarters and ration allowances.

The new pay scales are a giant step toward making military pay for lower ranking enlisted men and junior officers comparable with that offered by business and industry.

According to U.S. government statistics, the average hourly wage in the manufacturing industry in 1970 was $3.36. Army pay for a sergeant, E-5, by comparison, will now amount to $3.11 per hour if the sergeant is authorized and receiving quarters and rations allowances. If the same sergeant were married, his hourly pay rate would rise to $3.40.

ARMY OFFICIALS say the average service time required to reach the rank of sergeant, E-5, is in the neighborhood of 22 months active service.

McAndrew also stated, "Opportunities and challenges in the Army for the young man who applies himself have never been better—in short, 'Today's Army Wants to Join You'—and we're proving it."

Twp. Settles Feud On Building Issue

PLYMOUTH Township Attorney Donald C. Morgan ruled this week that no township official other than the building inspector has the authority to issue or sign a building permit or remodeling permit.

Morgan's research into the issue was requested by the Board of Trustees a month ago after Supervisor Maurice Breen and Building Inspector Ralph Alloway had differed on whether alterations should be permitted at the former Mango Restaurant at 4760 Ann Arbor Rd.

The restaurant, which possesses a Class C liquor license, now is owned by C.G.T., Inc., and will be renamed the Ann Arbor Road House.

ALLOWAY ISSUED a stop order on construction work after a physical face-lifting had been started by the new owners, but Breen countermanded this and, as chief administrative officer of the township, personally signed an alteration permit. This caused the board to hand the problem to Morgan for interpretation.

While the attorney was conducting his study, Alloway again ordered the work stopped, then rescinded the order, and now the establishment is expected to be open by the middle of December.

The key issue between Breen and Alloway was whether "structural changes" were taking place contrary to the zoning ordinance governing buildings which are defined as being of non-conforming use. Permission for the work to be continued is interpreted as a concession by Alloway that none of the improvements which are under way amount to an ordinance violation.

MORGAN SAID his legal opinion was based upon a review of township ordinances, state statutes, the Michigan Constitution, case law precedent, minutes of township board meetings and discussions with certain township officers.

"From the foregoing it appears that the township building inspector has the sole power and authority to issue building permits pursuant to the applicable township ordinances," said Morgan in a written opinion.

"The answer to the question posed to me was not easily and immediately apparent," said Morgan. "The confusing state of certain aspects of the township ordinances may invite administrative difficulties and misinterpretation by township administrators which could be reduced or eliminated."

Although it was circumstances concerning the bar and restaurant on Ann Arbor Rd. near Beck Rd. that gave rise to the issue, that side of the case appears strictly academic now that Alloway, too, has authorized work to proceed.

Morgan, in fact, reported that he did not delve into the facts concerning the restaurant matter, confining his research to applicable law. He added that his ruling does not constitute a legal opinion on the C.G.T. application for a permit.

Canton High Vocational Wing Contracts Let For $1 Million

PLYMOUTH The Plymouth Board of Education awarded contracts totaling $1.07 million for the construction of Canton Phase II at its meeting Tuesday.

Phase II is the vocational addition to the second high school being built on the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park.

F.W. Fordon Co. was awarded the general construction contract based on its base bid of $680,000.

THOUGH THE base bid of Smith and Andrews Construction Co. was $683,333, the board awarded the contract to Fordon based on a 35-day earlier completion time and on "demonstrated efficiency of supervision."

Fordon is currently constructing the first phase of Canton. Twenty-two companies had bid for the job.

The mechanical contract was awarded to Edward McDonald Plumbing and Heating Co., which is also currently working on Phase I.

The company's bid of $264,172 was the lowest of 12.

Farley Electric Co. was the lowest of eight bidders for the electrical contract with a base bid of $198,000. Farley Co. is currently doing the electrical work on the Miller Elementary School.

After Bob Wakely, of the architectural firm of Wakely-Kushner Associates, presented his recommendations on the contracts, he informed the board that the firm is currently working without a contract.

A CONTRACT based on preliminary plans for the Canton High School had been drawn up in April 1970, but was never signed by the school board or the architects.

The board directed the assistant superintendent of business, Melvin Blunk, to draw up a contract providing for the architect's fee of six per cent of the entire Canton job.

It also directed the firm to proceed with preliminary plans for Canton Phase III.

4-Day, 40-Hour Week Federal Legislation Is Supported By Esch

WASHINGTON, D.C. U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has announced his support of legislation which would permit laborers to work a four-day, 40-hour week.

The 2nd District congressman has joined with others in the House in introducing a bill that would amend the Walsh-Healy Act of 1936 and the Contract Work Hours Standards Act of 1962.

Esch said that although the four-day, 40-hour work week concept "is in its infancy stage" it already has been adopted "by 500 companies and conversions by other firms are running around 60 a month."

Esch district includes the city and township of Plymouth and Northville Township.

"AS THE present law is written, federal government contract work requires time-and-a-half pay after eight hours of work per day. The measure I have proposed seeks to allow workers to put in a 10-hour day, four-day, 40-hour week. There would be no overtime provisions for hours worked in excess of eight in a single day, thereby avoiding increased costs of a longer workday," said Esch.

"Certainly there are precedents for such a legislative proposal. Over the years labor has sought and won significant changes that have led to reductions in work schedules that have in the past ran as high as 16 hours a day. Today there is a trend towards the shorter four-day week and it has been heralded by the Nobel Prize winning economist, Paul Samuelson, as "a momentous social invention."

"At first glance, it would appear that the only advantages from such a restructuring of the work week would lie in the fact that laborers would have more time for their leisure and other family activities. However, there are significant benefits to management as well.

"For instance, major problems that we face today such as heavy absenteeism, high turnover, and heavy overtime expenses are paramount issues for which solutions must be found if we are to increase productivity. Despite deficiencies in the "4-40 Plan" (three, 10-hour shifts do not fit well into 24 hours), I believe the proposal is worthy of a searching examination and a serious exploration of the pros and cons.

"DURING PERIODS of high unemployment such as what we are facing today, I believe we can all quickly grasp the compelling arguments for the four-day week. Many firms dealing with the federal government are fighting to show a profit and are head-pressed because of the overtime provisions I outlined earlier. As they feel this pinch, it inevitably means that they in the end turn to layoffs. However, the bill I have proposed would go a long way toward permitting industry to operate at a profit.

9 Initiated In Sorority Ceremony

PLYMOUTH The 2nd District of Alpha Delta Kappa, international honorary sorority for women teachers, recently held its initiation of new members at the Hillside Inn.

The nine taken into membership of Plymouth's Beta Xi chapter included Marlene Bihlmeyer, Sandra Hebron, Mary Ellen Knopf, Barbara Lockwood, Betty Morrison, Ann Palmer, Dolores Smith, Virginia Troyer and Mary Uhl.

The district also includes chapters at Ann Arbor, Dearborn, Belleville, Livonia, Southgate, Taylor, Allen Park, Ypsilanti, Monroe, Westland and Trenton, in addition to Plymouth.

Present for the initiation were Lorraine Sheppard, state president; president-elect Ruth Calhoun; Ann Greenman, chairman of the President's Council of Michigan, and members of the state initiating team. The district chairman is Eleanor Phail of Taylor.

Board Names Mary Zeese As Canvasser

Mrs. Mary C. Zeese was appointed to the Board of School Election Canvassers by the Plymouth Board of Education Tuesday.

Mrs. Zeese was recommended by the Republican Party to fill the vacancy created when Mrs. Betty Radcliffe moved from the school district.

Club Will Hold Christmas Tea

The Plymouth Newcomers Club will hold its annual Christmas tea from 1 to 3 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 2 in the Dunning-Hough Library.

The tea will be open to all present and former members, as well as prospective new members, and reservations are not necessary.

However, those who wish baby-sitting service must call Mrs. Donald MacIsaac before 12 noon, Wednesday, Dec. 1 to make arrangements.

Entertainment at the tea will be provided by the Madrigal singers from Plymouth High School.

U.S. Helps State Buy Maybury

A $1.5 million federal grant for a state park site in Northville Township was announced by U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor).

The grant will come from a discretionary fund administered by Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton.

It will cover half the $3 million purchase price of the former Maybury Tuberculosis Sanatorium owned by the City of Detroit.

The State of Michigan has reserved the other half of the price.

ESCH SAID HE had been called into the case during the last 10 days to cut red tape.

The 865-acre Maybury site is located between Seven and Eight Mile roads west of the City of Northville. Detroit acquired the rolling hills in the early 1920s and ceased using the buildings for TB patients several years ago.

Wayne County is the only one of Michigan's 83 without a state park. When one is established, it would lack a lake and be unusual in that respect.

There is a possibility, however, that its hills could be ski runs and that some of its marshy areas could be converted into lakes or ponds.

The buildings are so badly deteriorated that they are considered practically useless.

Negotiations between that state and Detroit have been going on for about 18 months. Champions of the project have been State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia), whose districts, along with Esch's, cover Northville Township.

WCCC Offers 'Better Chance'

A husky, 30-year-old veteran with one leg gone sits talking softly about cars, cold weather and something very vital - his education.

He has been in and out of a number of colleges over the past few years, but never comfortable at only one. That was Wayne County Community College (WCCC).

"I think I have a better chance here," he says. "I like the absence of pressure."

ANOTHER THING the veteran likes is the emphasis on opportunity. WCCC's "open door" admits anyone over 19 and any high school graduate under 19. And students who fail a course can repeat it until they pass without having the failure recorded.

It's especially important that students of WCCC don't fail.

The typical WCCC student is already 27 years old when he arrives at the school, has probably experienced some failures elsewhere and can't afford another one.

WCCC offers him another chance to try at low cost and right in his own community.

The school has an academic program which prepares students to enter a four-year college; vocational and technical courses which give career training, and special interest courses which allow students to explore various subjects and increase their general knowledge.

IN THE FUTURE, WCCC will offer even more career programs as it begins to establish "core centers" where special equipment for industrial training can be stored.

And unlike other colleges which require students to come to central campuses, WCCC has centers wherever its students are. All of Wayne County is the WCCC campus. The school owns no buildings, but uses other facilities during times when they are unoccupied. WCCC offers classes in cities, suburbs and farm areas; in church basements, schools, YMCAs.

The college's new president, Dr. Reginald Wilson, sees this as one of the strengths of the college.

"It is possible for students to literally attend school around the corner," Dr. Wilson says.

And they are doing it in growing numbers. Some 14,000 students are currently enrolled and an increased enrollment is expected this winter. Early registration for the winter quarter begins Dec. 13.

Many of the students will be veterans, but there will also be policemen, housewives, workers, professionals. They will be white and black, Chicano and Appalachian, Grosse Pointe and Detroit. As Dr. Wilson sees it: "This school represents the last hope for thousands of our youth for developing their potential... the college is unique in that it is truly bringing educational opportunity to the students."

Tickets Taken In Hines Park

A Plymouth high school girl is seeking 30 tickets to her school's senior class play which were stolen from her purse.

The tickets are for Plymouth High School's "Fiddler On The Roof" which will be presented Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

Janet Griggs, 365 Joy St., Plymouth, had the tickets, plus credit cards and other belongings, taken from her purse in Edward Hines Park.

The tickets, worth $2 each, are numbers 240-249 (yellow), 360-369 (orange) and 340-358 (green).

Mrs. Florence Griggs said her daughter is liable for the tickets unless they are returned.

Adopt Slogan

"Green Survival... It Depends on You" is the slogan of a national campaign being waged by the American Association of Nurserymen and its allied groups to focus attention on the extremely important role that plant life plays in maintaining a healthful and livable environment. The major thrust of the campaign is to provide information and guidance to individuals on the ways to contribute to cleaning up and maintaining our environment.

College Reps Will Meet OR Students

Representatives of three colleges will be on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College in Farmington to talk to those students interested in transferring.

Duncan Sargent of Michigan State University will be on campus from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 30.

Dave Robinson will represent the Dearborn campus of the University of Michigan on Dec. 6 from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m., a Mary Phillips of Siena Heights College in Adrian will be on campus from 1 to 2 p.m. on Dec. 7.

The cards are in packages of 10 for $1.50 and may be purchased at Hawthorn Center, the Northwestern Guidance Clinic, and at several area businesses -- Grimes' Cleaners, Hinkle's Fabrics, Joseph Beauty Studio, Cake Craft, and all branches of the Livonia National Bank.

Christians, Politics Topic For Lecture

Politics is not a dirty word but the name for an essential process in modern urban society, contends this month's speaker for the First Thursday Series at St. Gerald Catholic Church in Farmington.

Starting with that premise, Dr. John Forsyth will address himself to the question "How does today's Christian think and live politically?"

Dr. Forsyth is director of missions for the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches. His talk will take place at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, in the church located at 21300 Farmington Road, just north of Eight Mile.

In considering political activities for Christians, Dr.

Forsyth will talk some about his activities as co-chairman of the Metropolitan Detroit chapter of the Coalition on National Priorities, board member of the Urban Alliance and steering committee member for the Clergy and Laymen Concerned about Vietnam.

The program will include a question and answer period and small group discussions as well as a short film, "Time Capsule 2."

Dr. Forsyth's lecture is the second in the St. Gerald First Thursday series. The price is $2 for the Dec. 2 lecture or $5 for the remaining five programs. The student prices are 50 cents and $2.50.

Spiritual Life Meetings Planned In 2 Churches

Dr. J. Edwin Orr, internationally known teacher, preacher, author and scholar, will deliver a series of lectures and spiritual life meetings in this area beginning Sunday, Nov. 28.

He plans appearances in the Grand River Baptist Church, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia, the Redford Baptist Church, Seven Mile and Grand River, and the Schoolcraft College campus.

He also will speak in Detroit Bible College and at Wayne State University, and will make a visit to the Baptist Student Foundation in Lansing.

DR. ORR has earned degrees from Belfast College of Technology, the University of London and Northwestern University and Seminary.

His lectures include such topics as "Science and the Bible," "Evolution and Genesis," "The Playboy Morality and Christian Morals" and "The Logic of Faith."

DR. H. EDWIN ORR

A world traveler, he has visited 140 of the world's 150 countries. His writings include more than a score of books, some of which have been translated into more than a dozen languages. He has conducted spiritual life crusades in South America, Australia and North America.

DR. ORR's crusade in Grand River Baptist will include talks at 10:45 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 28, and at 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday.

He will speak in Redford Baptist at 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and for Sunday services at 9 and 11:15 a.m. on Dec. 5.

His visit to Schoolcraft will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 30, and at Wayne State at 2:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2. He will lecture Tuesday through Friday for 10:35 a.m. chapel services in Detroit Bible College.

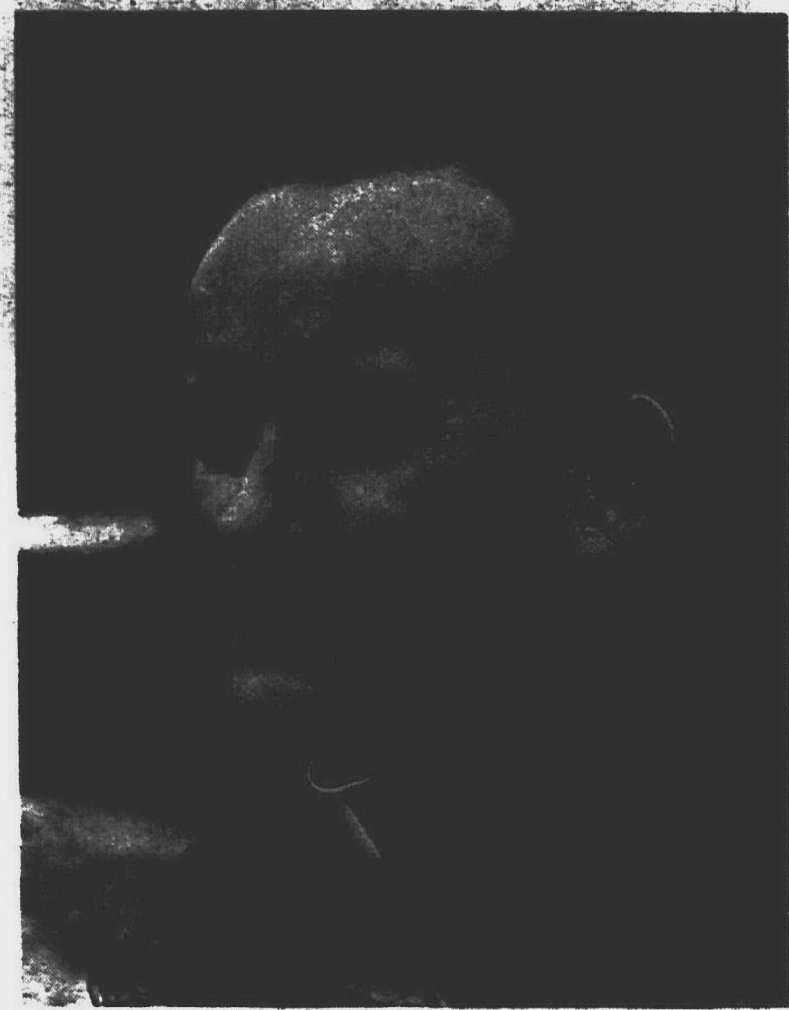

Manor Guild Plans Service

St. Mary's Guild of Marycrest Manor Nursing Home in Livonia will hold the traditional Polish Wigilia, or sharing of the Christmas wafer, on Thursday, Dec. 2, at 6:30 p.m.

The service will be held in SS. Peter's and Paul's Auditorium, Grandville and Sawyer, Detroit.

Nonprofit

The American Bible Society is a nonprofit organization founded in 1816 to translate, publish and distribute the Scriptures, without doctrinal note or comment, to people everywhere in a language they can read or understand and at a price they can afford.

REV. ANDREW GREELEY

St. Agatha Series Looks To Future Of Catholic Schools

"The Future of Catholic Schools" is the next topic for the St. Agatha Catholic Church Cultural Forum Series.

The Rev. Andrew Greeley, author, priest and sociologist, will look into the matter when he speaks at 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 2, in the church's St. Catherine Hall, Beech Daly and Pembroke, Redford Township.

The program is public. There is an admission charge of $1.

Fr. Greeley is director of the Center for the Study of Ethnic Groups at the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago. He also is on the University of Illinois faculty.

He has written essays for many sociological journals on the subjects of ethnic groups, higher education and religion, and also has contributed articles to such publications as the New York Times and the New Republic.

He writes a regular column that appears in 40 syndicated papers and is author of several books including "And Young Men Shall See Visions," "The Friendship Game," "The Education of Catholic Americans," "The Church and the Suburbs" and "A Future to Hope In."

Lola Valley To Hang Greens

Lola Valley United Methodist Church, Puritan at Delaware, Redford Township, will be the scene of a "Hanging of the Greens" program at 6 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 28.

New hymnals will be dedicated and the Christian Minstrels, a teen group from Thurston High School, will sing. Refreshments will be served and everyone in the community may participate.

Hauser Plans Advent Recital

Ron Hauser's second annual Advent vesper recital will be given Sunday, Nov. 28, in Highland Park Baptist Church, 28600 Lahser, Southfield.

Hauser will play a variety program of classical, sacred music, concluding with the "Hallelujah Chorus," the church pipe organ. He is Highland Park's organ and choral director at E Detroit High School.

Rev. Nelson Will Speak

The Rev. Arthur A. Nelson of Winnetka, Ill., will be the featured speaker during the annual Advent mission in Evangelical Covenant Church, 24331 W. Eight Mile, Detroit.

The services begin at 1 and 7 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 28. Other services will be Tuesday and Wednesday 7:45 p.m.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's Religion Update

By contrast to recurrent reports of the diminishing influence of religion, the California Assembly (House of Representatives) spent the better part of one recent session engaged in a brisk debate on the Holy Bible.

This governmental Bible class in Sacramento was occasioned by San Francisco Democrat Willie Brown's bill to repeal all laws relating to any sexual conduct between consenting adults in private.

Similar legislation has been enacted by Britain's Parliament as well as by the state legislatures of both Illinois and Connecticut — whence there have been no reports that the sky has yet fallen.

NEVERTHELESS, when the Brown bill came up for debate, the Rev. E. Richard Barnes, a San Diego Republican with Bible in hand, quoted Leviticus 18:22: "Thou shalt not lie with a man as with a woman. It is an abomination."

But the Rev. and Hon. Mr. Barnes neglected to introduce legislation that such abominators be put to death — which is required by Leviticus (20:13).

"The capital of this state is Sacramento — not Sodom!" thundered Los Angeles Republican Frank Lantierman — whose fellow L.A. Republican, Newton Russell (also brandishing his Bible), emphasized: "Sodom and Gomorrah were destroyed because of their wickedness!"

BUT ASSEMBLYMAN Russell somehow failed to mention during his legislative homily that the only survivor of this cataclysmic punishment was a man named Lot. And the Bible reports no such punishment visited upon Lot, despite its disclosure that Lot founded the tribes of both Moab and Ammon — by means of his having incestuous relations with his two daughters, in a cave, while drunk. (Genesis 19:37,38).

Moreover, the citation of Sodom as an outright condemnation of homosexuality can be complicated. Pacific School of Religion's Professor John von Rohr notes:

"In the case of the Sodomites, there was emphasis upon the fact that the sought — for relations would join in sexual union the diverse orders of angels and men."

Genesis 19:1 reports that it was two angels that the men of Sodom lusted after. And this becomes even more complicated, considering the Biblical tradition that angels are sexless ("They neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are as the angels..." — St. Matthew, 22:29).

AS FOR "UNNATURAL" sex acts, the California Assembly's Democratic leader Walter Kerabian, a former prosecuting attorney, told the legislators how difficult this is to define and prosecute. One seeming Biblical denunciation, for instance, is Romans 1:26:

"Their women exchanged natural relations for unnatural."

This, explained 16th century Jesuit scholar Thomas Sanchez in his "De Sacramento Matrimonii," meant any woman who engaged in coitus with her husband beneath — instead of taking the bottom position indicative of woman's natural subordination to man.

San Jose Democrat John Vasconcellos contended: "These are questions for the individual and the church — maybe it's time the government got out of people's personal sex lives," a remarkable statement by Vasconcellos, considering his strong opposition to liberalizing abortion laws.

But Southern Californian Robert Burke blasted the bill as "Elevating ourselves above God," so 40 of his colleagues combined to kill the Brown bill.

At the conclusion of this afternoon of exergesis, Assembly Speaker Robert Moretti (Los Angeles) cited this Biblical exercise as fresh proof that the California Legislature is the best in this country.

This is the same legislature which banned compulsory sex education — and has just amended the ban to allow compulsory instruction about venereal disease. Just how California teachers can possibly teach children about VD without mentioning sex remains as one of this "best" legislature's more intriguing mysteries.

CMDR. D.M. HANSON (right) talks over military service with John Powell of Sparta and Janice Peterson, Livonia resident and Stevenson High graduate.

Christians And Military Service Topic At WMU

A Christian's view of military service was the topic of a rap session involving a Redford Township Presbyterian and Western Michigan University students Tuesday.

Commander D. M. ("Hoppy") Hanson, a veteran of 22 years in the U.S. Navy and an active member of Village Presbyterian Church, addressed a group of about 60 members of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship on the WMU campus.

Later quite a few of them joined him in a "rap" session to explore various aspects of military service and how they can be reconciled with Christian principles.

Cmdr. Hanson, a jet carrier pilot, has during his naval career worked with missionaries all over the world to establish the Navy's people-to-people program, "Project Handclasp."

He is naval science instructor in the Navy's Junior ROTC unit at Bentley High School.

Recently he was elected as a commissioner to the next National General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church.

Politics Topic For Panel

The second in a series of panel discussions on making Christianity practical in every-day lives will be held at 7 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 28, in Ward United Presbyterian Church, Farmington Road and Six Mile, Livonia.

The topic will be "A Christian in Politics."

Participants will include Daniel B. Hess, attorney for the Michigan Federation of Young Republicans; Paul B. Henry, Calvin College professor of political science; and Dr. Stephen Monsma, professor of political science at Calvin and former Democratic candidate for State Senate.

All interested are invited to attend.

Sitarist Will Give Concert At Schoolcraft

Indian sitarist Debu Chaudhuri will present a program of Indian music at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Dec. 1, in the Waterman Campus Center of Schoolcraft College, 166100 Haggerty, Livonia. He is a teacher of music at Delhi University.

He will be joined in concert by his wife, Manjushree, playing a tamboura, and Sitaram Sharma, who plays the Indian drums.

Tickets will be on sale at the door at $1 for Schoolcraft faculty and students and $2 for the general public. The concert is sponsored by the college's cultural and public affairs committee.

Mercy High Students Plan 1935 Comedy

The delightful Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman comedy "You Can't Take It With You" will be presented at Our Lady of Mercy High School, 11 Mile and Middle Belt, Farmington, at 8:15 p.m., Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4.

Tickets will be on sale at the door at $1.50.

The play revolves around the delightfully eccentric Sycamore family, who live in New York City. Action takes place about 1935.

Observerland students in the play include Ann Sullivan, Yvonne Baginski, Patricia Wernette, Ann Ermatinger, Daniel King, James McElroy and James Ebner, all of Farmington; Tom Wichert and Greg Taylor of Livonia; Alice Masson of Plymouth; and Maureen Bailey and Michelle Locke of Southfield.

Young Adults Meet Dec. 5

A coffee house for young adults will be open from 7:30 to 11 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 5, in St. Mel's Catholic church hall, Warren and Inkster Roads, Dearborn Heights.

Singles between the ages of 18 to 25 are invited to attend. Folk entertainment will be featured. There will be an admission charge of $1.50.

4-Man Art Show Is Youthful, Contemporary

Drawing on area talent, the Plymouth House Galleries on Main Street, Plymouth, are now featuring a four-man show, with the accent on the youthful and contemporary.

The artists are Michael Patrick Neal of Plymouth, Gary Dean Boyll, a Livonia teacher, Robert Stern of Northville, and James V. Griffin, who comes from Kitchener, Ont.

NEAL IS THE youngest of the group and specializes in graphic prints and textured paintings. His print titled "After Warhol" will be donated to Plymouth's Youth Inc. after the show, both to brighten up the offices of that group and because he wants to "communicate with young people."

The print was made by repeating a face on a small carved linoleum block 16 times, with one face in red standing out from the crowd. Characteristic of his paintings is the unusual "Five Red Fish," on canvas with heavy layers of color and burlap.

Neal has his studio in Plymouth because he finds it a good place to work.

STERN ALSO displays paintings and lithographs in the show. His large canvasses are characterized by the use of bright and bold colors, reds, yellow and blues.

Boyll is a sculptor who works with bronze casting, fiberglass and carving. His works have clean lines and are not jarring.

He has had works in five juried shows and was winner of an honorable mention in a show at the Scarab Club of Detroit.

This is the first time Griffin has displayed his graphics in the U.S., but he has sold his work in New York City and London. His works are somewhat reminiscent of the Canadian Group of Seven.

BAA Enrollments To Nov. 29

BIRMINGHAM Registration for the Bloomfield Art Association's winter term of studio art classes gets under way Monday, Nov. 29, and runs through Dec. 18. Registration will reopen Jan. 3 to Jan. 15. The winter term will begin Jan. 17.

Forty adult classes and 15 classes designed for specific age groups comprise the curriculum which includes every phase of painting and drawing including portrait, figure sculpture and metal sculpture, loom weaving and macramé, jewelry, glass craftsmanship, ceramics and photography.

Special classes designed for elementary, junior high and senior high schools are open to students from six years of age through grade 12. The BAA provides professional art instruction according to age and level of experience. Class size is limited to ensure individual attention and students are allowed to use their own ideas and progress at their own speed.

The association is located at 1516 S. Cranbrook.

WSU Students To Present Fielding Play

Wayne State University's department of speech will present a reader's theater production of Henry Fielding's burlesque drama, "The Tragedy of Tragedies; or, The Life and Death of Tom Thumb the Great," Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3 and 4.

The free performances will be at 4:30 and 8:30 p.m., Friday, and 8:30 p.m., Saturday, in Room 226 of the Speech and Language Building, West Warren and the Lodge service drive.

The cast includes Ilene Grossman of Southfield and Sandra Drought of Livonia.

Fair Lane Guild Plans Yule Concert

DEARBORN The Fair Lane Music Guild's first holiday concert, scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 7, will feature instrumental and vocal music in a seasonal vein.

Guest artists will include the Baroque Adlib Quartet, the John Dovers Village Singers and the Dearborn Fordson High School Brass Ensemble. Concert time is 8:30 p.m., in the University of Michigan-Dearborn's Fair Lane Center. Tickets are available by calling the center.

'Nutcracker' Ballet Set For Plymouth

Plans are well under way for the Severo Ballet Company's performance of Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker" ballet in Observerland at 8 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 11.

The popular holiday ballet will be staged in Plymouth High School, Joy and Canton Center Roads, with accompaniment by the Plymouth Symphony under the direction of Wayne Dunlap.

Tickets are now on sale at Melody House, Penniman Avenue, Plymouth, and from Mrs. Ann Krankel, 499 Leicester Road, Plymouth. They are $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Livonia Teacher To Tour With YFU

A Livonia high school teacher, Don Pratt, and his wife have been chosen as travel coordinators and counselors for a trip to southern Europe next summer.

Pratt, who teaches at Churchill High School, will accompany 57 members of the Youth for Understanding the Choral from the Michigan-Ohio area.

Several area teenagers have also been accepted as choral members. They are Carol Ditzhazy and Nancy Green of Farmington; Renee Papelian and Robert Ferris of Southfield; and Susan Dexter of Livonia.

The students are rehearsing every Saturday, and will perform several Michigan concerts before their departure in June.

For the second year, the choral and string ensemble will tour together, performing both jointly and separately. Choral members will live with host families in the countries they visit. Local YFU committees in overseas countries make arrangements for performances and accommodations.

Robert Pratt, chairman of the music department of Ann Arbor Pioneer High School, will conduct the choral on its 15th tour abroad.

Christmas Antiques To Be Sold Dec. 1-5

Shoppers at the Detroit Christmas antique show, in the Light Guard Armory, Dec. 1 through 5, will find the world is their marketplace in the show's 150 exhibits.

Leading antiques dealers from 86 cities in 21 states will fill two floors of the armory on East Eight Mile Rd. with antiques and collectibles gathered from the four corners of the world.

Several exhibitors have just returned from overseas buying trips.

COLLECTORS WHO long for glamor-shrouded props from famous movies or souvenir antiques from America's great mansions, such as the late Anna Thompson Dodge's Rose Terrace, will have a chance to purchase some of these coveted treasures.

In keeping with the show's theme of "Give an antique for Christmas," all exhibits will contain antiques and collector's items suitable for Christmas giving. Every taste and every budget will be covered in their wide variety.

A CLOCKMAN, Emil Pattyn, will service repairable old clocks and music boxes brought in by show visitors. For a reasonable charge he will inspect the faulty mechanisms and give an estimate. Minor repairs will be done on - the - spot, during the show.

Free parking is available on the grounds. Hours are from 1 to 11 p.m. the first four days, and from 1 to 9 p.m. on the final day, Sunday, Dec. 5.

Oakland Company Will Go On Tour

The Charleston, the talkies, Lindbergh's solo flight to Paris, the Wall Street crash and Almee Semple McPherson will all be featured in the next offering of Oakland University's Studio Company.

A performance is scheduled for Dec. 7 in Southfield's Lathrup High School.

To be presented on tour in December and in the company's Studio Theatre in January, the original production is entitled "...And All That Jazz." It offers a nostalgic look at the Roaring Twenties.

Written by Paul Lee, a charter member of the academy's teaching staff, it is a British TV writer's concept of the social, moral and economic conditions during the exciting prohibition era in America. Songs and dances, typical of the decade, are interspersed with "eye-witness" accounts of various events.

Besides being a television writer, Lee was a theatre director in England and a senior tutor and director at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London. He was also a lecturer on scripting at

17-Piece Band To Host Dance

DETROIT The Executives, a 17-piece band, will host four dances in the next few months in the Mercy College Ballroom, 555 W. Outer Drive.

The first will be Saturday, Nov. 27, with dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets will be available at the door. Other dances will be Jan. 29, March 11 and May 8.

DICK SENSEK

Italians prefer meat without juice. The juice, il sugo del umido, may be served with the meat, but in a separate bowl. Otherwise, it is kept in the kitchen to be used in various meat sauces. To make a good umido sauce, the Romans use a roast beef cut highly seasoned: salt, pepper, marjoram, and crushed garlic. Sage, basil, chopped onion, parsley, and bacon are then placed with the meat, which is browned, and covered with wine. When the wine is absorbed, then comes tomato paste, about 2 tablespoons. Add a little water, simmer for two and one half hours, replenishing water as needed. There it is, Umido. A meat with a distinctive flavor, plus il sugo, a sauce of succulent juices to save for other days.

Distinctive meals are an everyday occurrence at DANISH INN, 32305 Grand River Ave., 478-5320. We feature a number of Danish dishes, including Frikadeller, Rigtig Lindstrom, Danish Lettuce Tails, Danish Potato Pancakes and Dark Hakkis. On Tuesday thru Saturday evenings from 8:30 p.m. to closing we feature the memorable jazz, lounge and classical music of Pat Flowers.

Women Symphony Members Sound An Optimistic Note

By CORINNE ABATT

Only in recent years have the portals of major symphony orchestras been open to women. Many have yet to open very far.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra has 13 women members plus the pianist and harpsichordist. This minority represents a giant step forward in the battle women have waged to be judged on qualifications rather than sex.

Developing the qualifications is a long, arduous task — sex notwithstanding.

Three women who succeeded find the rewards worth the effort. Underneath the charm that surrounds each, there's a gut strand of character that is as strong as the strings on their musical instruments.

EMILY MUTTER AUSTIN, member of the symphony's first violin section, comes on soft of voice and gentle of manner. It would be easy to guess — wrongly — that she has been spending her time in the serenity of a quiet home.

The surroundings are lovely, but Mrs. Austin is obviously a woman of almost limitless energy whose dedication leads her to participate in many musical endeavors.

She is a member of the Wayne State University violin faculty, concertmaster of both the Plymouth and the Jewish Center Community Orchestras, and is active in the Schoolcraft College Summer Festival both as a member of the Court Orchestra and as an instructor for the string sections of the student orchestra. In addition she has private students and is associated with the Detroit Women's Symphony Orchestra.

Music, it's a total force in life, started when Mrs. Austin was very young. Her father, a man with a great passion for music, started his daughter with the violin at age four. His dream was for her, her sister and two brothers to become concert musicians.

Her father took his young daughter all over for concert and solo work and she remembers him as standing over her to see that she practiced, often from six to eight hours a day.

She says of those career building years and her father's influence, "I have nothing but devotion and praise for him."

WHEN MRS. AUSTIN joined the symphony, the only other women members were two harpists. The feelings against her were very strong, and she recalls the remark often made in her hearing, "You don't belong there."

Now, she can say that there has been a definite change and more women are coming into symphonic organizations all the time. The opportunities for women are there, in fact for all young musicians whom she describes as eager and talented. But not all ready to practice six to eight hours a day.

The drive from her home in Huntington Woods to Plymouth is a long one, but well worth it.

She says of the Plymouth Symphony, "It's a wonderful orchestra. The feeling is so fine, so friendly and every time I have something to play, I have the feeling that everyone is for me."

WHEN BEATRIZ BUDINSZKY joined the first Miss Budinsky does. She is married to Gordon Staples, Detroit Symphony concertmaster. They have a son, Gregory, 13 months old.

The rigorous demands on a musician are another drawback for a woman — unless she happens to have a husband who is sympathetic to those demands.

violin section of the Detroit Symphony in 1964, she was one of about four women members.

Her reason for the growing number of women in the string section: "Very few young boys want to be caught with a violin."

She feels that the demand for women musicians in major symphonies is probably limited. Mandatory retirement age is 65 and not many positions open up each year.

She describes the household and career schedule as "very tight, very unhealthy, sort of unusual — for instance, our usual dinner hour is somewhere between 10 p.m. and midnight."

She likes to devote her time after rehearsals to Gregory and says that neither she nor her husband likes to practice on a full stomach, so dinner comes last rather than first.

BEFORE GREGORY was born, she used to look forward to going on tour with the orchestra. She left the baby for the first time when he was three months old and was so worried about him that she called home every day to find out if he was alright. Fortunately, he was.

LYNN PETERS, the only woman member of the double bass section of the Detroit Symphony, joined the orchestra last year at age 24.

She has a fresh, clean look that starts with her clear complexion, bright blue eyes and loosely styled blonde hair, and continues through her open, straightforward, friendly approach to life.

She was born and raised in Evansville, Ind. and never had a lesson from a qualified bass teacher until she entered the University of Indiana for a degree in music education.

However, her career as a bass player had started long before that. When she was 10 she was chosen by the grade school music teacher to play the instrument "because I was the biggest kid in my class and scored high on a rhythm test."

Her coaching until she entered the university was from a cellist and a violinist because there were no bass teachers in her hometown.

BEING THE ONLY bass player had special rewards. As a young student, she played with many community and school orchestras and had a large number of students by the time she was 15.

At the university, she studied under Murray Grodner whom she calls "one of the best bass teachers."

NO QUESTION but that her instrument brings some very special satisfactions.

"The bass in the structure of music is at the bottom. It is the foundation of all chords; it is the support of the whole thing on which the rest of the strings are dependent." She adds with a ready smile, "Besides, it's fun to be rumbling around there."

Contrary to common belief, the instrument does not require vast amounts of strength; everything is leverage. Women bass players often make the mistake of compensating for their sex by overplaying.

To the many offers from courtly gentlemen who offer to help her carry her instrument, Miss Peters always replies with a polite, "No thanks, I can do it myself."

And she does — with determination and ease.

FOR SERVICE WE ARE PROUD OF

Plans Set For Observer - Livonia Ski Skule

Are you interested in skiing? Are you a beginner, one with limited skill or one who likes to ski and is satisfied with his ability?

The Observer Newspapers is joining with the Livonia Ski Skule in two skiing sessions at Mt. Brighton, continuing a program that started a year ago with a great deal of success.

Gene Hill, Mt. Brighton general manager, has agreed to allot time for the school again this year with two sessions...the first for nine weeks starting Jan. 6 and continuing through March 3 and the second commencing Jan. 27 for six weeks through March 3.

Each session will consist of programs on Thursdays and Fridays, starting at 6 p.m. and lasting until the course closes at midnight.

The skule is under the supervision of the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation with Joe Czapala and Norb Kopeikin serving as directors.

Registrations are being accepted at the DPR offices, 32625 Seven Mile Road in Livonia. The skule is not limited to residents of Livonia and registrations will be accepted from persons residing in any of the seven communities covered by the Observer Newspapers.

Registration fee is $1 which includes a special ticket for use at Mt. Brighton and colorful Livonia Ski Skule emblem. Registration will be accepted on a first come, first served basis for the two sessions.

Registration may be mailed accompanied by the registration blank published on this page of the Observer.

CZAPALA and Kopeikin have slated a preview session of the ski skules for Thursday, Dec. 9 at 8 in the Livonia Seniors Citizens Building, Farmington near Five Mile Road. It will be an informational session, with a display of ski equipment, a chance to get acquainted and an opportunity to get answers to questions.

The cost of skiing for skule registrants will be $3.50 with own equipment, which includes lesson, all tow ropes, use of slopes until closing and optional use of chair lifts at an additional cost of 50 cents.

The cost is $6 without equipment which includes rental of boots, skis and poles, lesson, all tow ropes and use of slopes 'til closing with the additional fee of 50 cents for use of chair lifts.

The schedule of the two sessions:

FIRST SESSION—Thursdays - Jan. 6, 13, 20 and 27; Feb. 3, 10, 17 and 24; and March 2. Fridays - Jan. 7, 14, 21 and 28; Feb. 4, 11, 18 and 25 and March 3.

SECOND SESSION—Thursdays - Jan. 27, Feb. 3, 10, 17 and 24; and March 2. Fridays - Jan. 28, Feb. 4, 11, 18 and 25; and March 3.

Mt. Brighton will open for the season Friday, Dec. 3.

Taylor Scored Big TD; He Had Plenty Of Help

By W.W. EDGAR

Down through the years no football star who raced to gridiron glory ever did it alone.

He always had the help of a teammate clearing the way over the white stripes and into the end zone.

The famed Harold (Red) Grange had Earl Britton removing all would-be tacklers from his path on his way into the gridiron firmament at Illinois in 1924 - 25.

Tom Harmon, one of the best of Michigan's modern football heroes, had Forrest Evashevski in front of him when Fritz Crisler was developing great Wolverine teams in the late '30s.

NOW YOU CAN add the combination of Billy Taylor and Fritz Seyferth, who teamed last Saturday to bring Michigan one of its brightest moments in years - victory over Ohio State and an undefeated season.

Few seniors ever closed out their college football careers in the manner of Taylor and Seyferth.

They'll be shouting the praises of Billy for years for the manner in which he established a rushing record at Michigan. And they'll be talking about his 21-yard dash for the winning touchdown against the Buckeyes.

But the unsung hero will be Fritz Seyferth, the husky fullback who returned to action for the big game after being out with injuries.

Until they teamed for the winning touchdown Taylor was well on his way to being the "goat" of the big battle before the record gathering of 104,016 frantic football followers.

TWICE IN the early going

Billy fumbled - each time deep in enemy territory when it appeared the Wolverines were headed for touchdowns and the start of what some expected to be a rout when they turned their ground power loose.

As the minutes wore on and Ohio scored its lone touchdown to take the lead those two fumbles were being looked upon as the crux of the game.

Then, as the curtain was falling on the spectacle, and the seniors were heading into their final few moments of their collegiate careers on the synthetic turf of Michigan Stadium, it happened.

The Wolverines had possession of the ball on the Ohio 21 yard line - and time fast running out.

LARRY CIPA, Michigan's second string sophomore quarterback, called Taylor's favorite play - a dash around his own right end and Billy was away.

Yard after yard he raced until the husky hulk of an enemy tackler hove into sight - for just a moment.

Could he get Billy before he reached the end zone?

Could Billy outrace him to gain fame - and glory?

Seyferth, another senior, settled the question beyond all doubt when he raced across the stripes and blocked out the would-be tackler.

This gave Taylor a clear path to the touchdown... enabled him to become the hero instead of the "Goat"... and gave Michigan followers a moment they won't soon forget.

THE HISTORIC 21-YARD RUN: Never before have two seniors teamed it any better than Billy Taylor and Fritz Seyferth last Saturday before a record breaking crowd in Michigan Stadium. Here Billy is shown getting under way with Seyferth cutting in to clear the way for him. (Observer photo by Tom Donoghue)

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

A ladies night with ladies sharing the spotlight.

That's what promotion minded Leon Slavin, president and general manager of Jackson Raceway, has in mind for members of the distaff side Tuesday night.

With the assistance of Racing Secretary Tom Smith and Publicity Director Dave Garland, Slavin has completed arrangements for an all-feminine event with the gals driving many of the better pacers at the meeting.

Slavin didn't have as much trouble lining up the female drivers as he and Smith did in getting owners to agree to releasing their pacers for the race. In the first place, most preferred to use their regular drivers with hopes of getting a share of the purse and secondly, they didn't exactly cotton to the idea of having girls handle their horses.

Then it was a matter of getting permission from owners with horses in the same class.

The Jackson-Northville meeting has four women drivers on the grounds. They include: Mrs. June Dillman Weller and her daughter, Jayne Weller; Beatrice Farber and Jean Dilworth.

All but Mrs. Dilworth agreed to participate in the unusual race. She has never handled a pacer in a race and indicated she would compete only in a trot.

The mother-daughter team from the Weller family and Mrs. Farber have driven both pacers and trotters but preferred the former. So that eliminated Mrs. Dilworth.

Then phone calls to New York, Ohio, Illinois and Windsor brought the additional five needed for an eight horse race.

FROM WINDSOR comes Janet Irvine, who actually hails from Ohio, but is in Canada serving as trainer and manager for the Don Irvine Sr. and Jr. stable.

From the east will come Bobbie Huntress, long rated one of the best women drivers in the land. Checking in from Illinois are Elaine Neary and Carol Gosman.

And the eighth driver actually came from the Northville colony in the person of Patricia Kelly from Burlington, Mich., who qualified and made her first start at a parimutuel meeting at the spring campaign in Jackson.

Bobbie Huntress and June Weller currently hold world records for woman drivers. Bobbie drove the trotter Seymour J to a mark of 1:50.1 on a mile track and 2:03.4 on a half-mile strip.

Mrs. Weller, who gained national recognition while piloting Red Dominion, holds the women's record for a pacer. She guided Red Dominion to a mile in 1:50.4. She is nearing 300 career victories, almost half of the total of the other seven feminine drivers.

Although an all-girls race has been a tradition at Jackson Raceway for the past several years, this is a first for the Detroit area and is expected to attract the largest ladies night crowd of the meeting.

FROM THE MICHIGAN Harness Horsemen's Association official publication comes a suggestion that another move is underway to seek approval for a new race track in the vicinity of Flint.

In fact an editorial suggests that the MHHA and some of its influential members could be interested in just such a proposal.

The suggestion is that another track is needed to take care of those pacers and trotters that have difficulty getting starts at the Hazel Park, Wolverine and Northville Downs meetings.

All of which is interesting talk but one wonders if the promoters of a new track have made a careful study of the current operations in metropolitan Detroit.

With the tightest operation ever, it appears that Hazel Park runners and the Detroit Racing Association will wind up in the red this year for the first time in memory.

Hazel Park and Wolverine had excellent years as did Northville Downs in the summer portion of its program. The 'Downs' was deep in the red for the winter meeting...and there isn't a more astute track operator anywhere than Northville's executive manager John Carle.

Perhaps there is a need for an operation to take care of the cheaper pacers and trotters but we suggest the promoters look into what happened at Gater Downs last year and the horrible experience of the Pompano Park operators when they attempted to start a harness racing meeting at Tropical Park near Miami, Fla.

They should make thorough studies of the operations at Miles Park, Wheeling Downs, Louisville Downs and similar sized plants in the east and in Ontario before going too far...they may get their eyes opened.

The mere fact that a new track is opened doesn't mean financial success immediately. Even though there may be an abundance of horses, one wonders whether a track in the area suggested could draw enough customers to make it worthwhile.

Jackson Raceway has been in operation for almost 25 years and it was only in the past 10 years that President and General Manager Leon Slavin has been able to smile. Slavin dropped a bundle in his first few years of operation and he didn't have the big investment needed to build a plant...he always leased the Jackson Fairgrounds. He had an excellent grandstand to start with, something that is not true of most fairgrounds in the state...in case the MHHA is thinking of that possibility. It will be interesting to see what happens.

IN THE POCKET
By W.W. EDGAR

There's always been a feeling in tenpin circles that home lanes are an advantage to a tournament or match game bowler.

To strengthen this belief John Wodarski, who does most of his league bowling at Westland Bowl, took top honors in the Michigan Majors Association tournament there last week-end. He paced the field of 91 entries by averaging 207 in the 12-game finals.

The tournament was dedicated to the memory of Al Dent, one of the founders of the Michigan Majors who died during the past year, and the large entry was a tribute to him.

THE THUNDERBIRD Im team is out in front of the Detroit All-Star Bowlerettes with a 926 average, highest of any women's team in the metropolitan area.

The team, captained by Helen Bak sr., has Ann Setlock, last season's Bowling Queen who is an instructor at Garden Lanes, as one of its stars.

MAC GOLDMAN, manager of Merri-Bowl found a new way to fill the 40 lanes last week.

He sponsored a women's fashion show that attracted 750 women and every lane was filled with the latest styles. He is now planning to make it an annual event.

Aside from the fashion show the best bowling performance was turned in by 12-year-old Pat Pomaville. He carries a 98 average, and bowled a 228 game in the Prep No. 1 league.

DICK PRESTON, one of the veterans of classic competition in Observerland, gave the young bowlers something to think about this week when he rolled his second 700 series in as many weeks.

Bowling in the Garden Lanes Classic he posted a 742 and took over the average leadership with 221. At this figure he picked up three pins on Fred McLean with whom he was tied last week. McLean had a 683.

Other high scores included Jim Messico 684, Tom Raines 658 and Jerry Fisher 653.

It also was a big week for the low average bowlers in the Livonia Twins League at the Garden.

Ed Janis, who carries a 166 average, put together games of 241, 230 and 247 for a 718. Gerald Graham had a 290 in 647 and that's not all bad for a fellow with a 174 average. To round out the unusual, Dick Andersen, with a 178 average, fashioned a 240 game in a 654 series.

Topping off the big games, Dwayne Brown, of the Ford League, had a 278.

SPEAKING OF veterans, Bob Golke, an oldtimer in the Detroit All-Star Classic, topped the field at Westland Bowl with games of 235, 279 and 207 for a 721.

Right behind him came Bert Newby with 234 - 236 - 210 - 680 and Jay Dishong with 252 - 235 - 203 - 678.

POSSIBLY THE happiest bowler in the area is Larry Boncher at Country Lanes. And for a good reason.

Bowling in the Auto Dealers and Suppliers League he found the range and had games of 267, 214 and 222 for a 703.

"It is the biggest bowling thrill I've ever had," he said when he finally calmed down. "That's my first 700 series in sanctioned competition."

Little Allen Gonowich, a 12-year-old lad, set high single and series marks in the bantam league at Country Lanes with a 181 in 448.

DON HUNT and Mike Flynn deadlocked for top honors in the Teen Classic at Farmington Lanes when each posted a 574. Kevin Hibbs came through with a 223 in 566 and Cheryl Eavey had a 186 in 505.

A GREAT START gave Jack Eldred the momentum he needed to register a 709 series and top the field in the Bel-Aire Classic. He opened with a 265 and followed with 245 and 199.

Andy De Camillo landed runnerup honors with a 675 and Tommy Schoen had a 648. In the Old Homestead League Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sinard paced the field with a count 159 pins over average. Mr. and Mrs. Ron Lind were 102 over and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Atkins were 98 over for third place.

GERRY WILSON celebrated Thanksgiving Day by taking top honors in the Livonia Ladies Classic with 522 - 93 - 615. In that count was a high game of 204 - 31 - 235.

Second place went to Ellie Wilkins with 192-30 - 222 and Lois McAllister finished third with 189 - 19 - 208.

GEORGE TOTH was the toast of the Trinity United Methodist League at Southfield Bowl when he registered a 117 triplicate.

Among the other leaders of the week were Robert Timkins who had a 243 in 688 in the B'nai Brith league, Helen Sullivan who showed the way in the Southfield Bowlerettes by bowling 144 pins over her average and Marilyn Aulen was 104 over with a 245.

MIKE MATHIS continued his heavy bombardment of the pins in the Wonderland Classic.

With a middle game of 257 he posted a 712 series but finished behind George Nastas with 736 and Bill Lane with 717. The big series, however, enabled Mike to keep top place in the averages.

The fourth series above the magic 700 was the work of Fred Ringrose who had a 704.

Churchill Looking 'Green?'

Hopeful Chargers To Open With Thurston Friday

CHARGER COACH -- Pat Montagano is looking forward to a winning season at Churchill this basketball season. His squad boasted a 9-8 record last year and opens with Thurston Friday. (Observer photo)

MSU Skater

Michigan State senior hockey defenseman Dave Roberts of Detroit is the third member of his family to skate for the Spartans. Brother Jack lettered in 1958-59-60 and brother Doug won letters in 1963-64-65.

Churchill opens with Thurston Friday night at home, and Charger basketball Coach Pat Montagano is looking forward to a winning season with his predominantly junior squad.

"The first five games will determine our season," said Montagano. "It all depends on how the 'green' people perform."

Churchill was 9-8 overall last year and finished second in the Western Six at 4-2 behind Waterford Mott at 6-0. "I look for better things this year," said Montagano. "We have greater depth, better speed and are bigger up front."

"FARMINGTON Harrison and Waterford Mott will be tough contenders in the Western Six," added Montagano. "Our Jan. 4 clash with rival Franklin will be our roughest of the season."

Churchill features four returning lettermen who averaged a total of 28 points a game last year. The two seniors are Brian Sherman, 6-6 forward, and Bruce VanWagoner, 6-9 guard. Juniors are Roy Henriksson, 5-9 guard, and Don Phillips, 6-3 forward.

Senior forward Mike Keller, 6-4, and juniors Mark Reed, center at 6-5, and forward Jim Foster, 6-1, round out the Charger attack.

This is the fourth year for Montagano at Churchill who took the reins when the school opened in 1967.

The Chargers have compiled a 15-24 record in only two years of varsity ball.

In the 1967-68 season, Montagano directed his all-sophomore squad to a 15-3 record on junior varsity level. The following year the team finished 16-1 in junior varsity competition, with the varsity juniors playing 6-14 ball.

MONTAGANO has coached at Plymouth and Ann Arbor, compiling 12 years of basketball coaching.

He was an Illinois high school All-Stater at guard from Elkhart High where he averaged 15 points a game.

Montagano is a 1956 U-M graduate where he played freshman ball under Lou Watson.

Churchill opens league play Dec. 10 at Northville.

The Chargers are in the Dec. 21-23 Christmas tour-name at Plymouth with Stevenson, Plymouth and Thurston.

"I am looking for better things this year," concluded Montagano. "It should be the best Churchill has put together."

Falcons Rest Season Hopes On 4 Juniors

"If we can get the ball in the hoop this year, we can be a tough contender in the Inter-Lakes Conference," said Farmington basketball Coach Ray Boyle.

Farmington hopes to rebound from its 5-14 record last year which included a 2-3 record in league play.

"We had trouble scoring last year," said Boyle. "But we have three returning starters who averaged a total of 30 points a game for us, and this alone has to add to our offensive attack."

Dan Lekovich, 6-2 senior forward; Jeff Baker, 5-11 junior guard; and Dennis Hagen, 6-4 junior center, are the three returning Falcons that Boyle is weighting the season on.

JOE MONTGOMERY, 6-0 junior guard; Tom Kempf, 5-10 senior guard; and juniors Gordy Yank, 6-3, and Bill Marra, 6-4 round out the Falcon attack.

"We could have four starting juniors," added Boyle.

"We will be big and slow," stated Boyle. "We will not be attempting to outrun our opponents."

This will be the fifth year for Boyle at Farmington. He has won the district two of four years, and his teams have averaged 500 ball.

Before coming to Farmington, Boyle directed the St. Leo's squad in Detroit where he compiled five district championships and one league championship in five years.

"PONTIAC Northern, Walled Lake Central and Stevenson should all be tough this year in the Inter-Lakes," said Boyle. "If we can get lucky, we might be able to do something this season."

Farmington opens with Bentley on its home court with the league opener being at Waterford a week later on Dec. 10.

The Falcons are involved in an eight-team Christmas tournament featuring Redford Union, Bentley, North Farmington, Detroit Redford, Henry Ford, Walled Lake Central and Walled Lake Western.

The holiday tournament will be hosted at RU and Bentley on Dec. 20, 21 and 22.

"We have strong potential, and the question is if our kids can come around," concluded Boyle. "We have a lot of juniors, and juniors make a lot of mistakes."

To the ordinary angler, this may seem like the year's doldrums. It's too cold to sit in a boat or wade a stream, and there's too little ice to venture out on the lakes for ice-fishing.

But there are a few hardy souls out now for spearing.

From Nov. 1 to Dec. 31 there's a spearing season in this region for suckers, carp, whitefish and ciscoes, all of which are legally known as "rough" fish.

Some of the more popular spearing lakes in Oakland County are Cass, Union, Cedar Island, Oxbow, Orchard and Elizabeth.

THE WATERFOWL season ended on a good note when rough weather kept birds moving during the latter days.

TWO-YEAR-OLD Tony Fantuzzi tells his sister, Tina, 5, what he would like for Christmas while seated on the lap of Santa who is closely listening to what is said.

EYES IN THE SKIES as this group of Moms and kiddies gazed into the heavens to see if Santa's helicopter was in sight. He arrived a few moments later to the loud screams of the happy youngsters.

Next to Christmas morning, the most important day of the year for area youngsters was Friday when their favorite person...Santa Claus...arrived in shopping centers throughout Observerland to set up quarters from now until Christmas eve.

Old Kris Kringle arrived via helicopter, miniature train, in a sleigh, and antique automobile...you mention it, and he used that type of transportation.

But it didn't make any difference to the bright-eyed youngsters how he arrived, just so they could greet him and give him a list of what they expected on Christmas Day.

Observer Newspapers sent five photographers to the Livonia Mall, Northland, Westland, Tel-Twelve and Farmington Plaza centers to record the reactions of the kids as they finally saw their bewhiskered, smiling hero. The snappers included: Bob Woodring, Tom Donoghue, Leonard Poger, Terry Burke and Ralph Evert.

Santa's arrival officially opened the Yule shopping season, but it also opened the eyes of kiddies who just gazed in wonderment at what they saw.

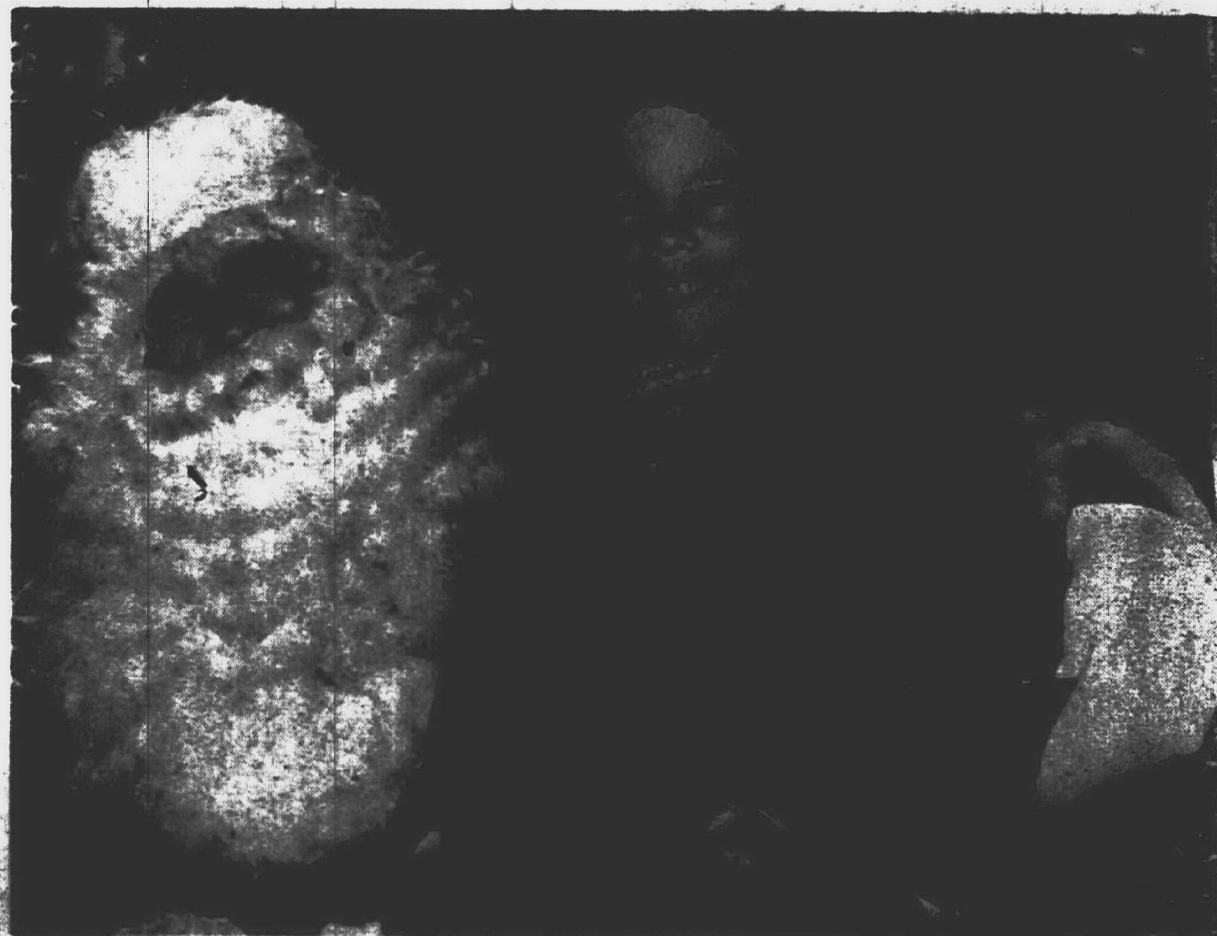

Excited Kids Pack Shopping Centers To Welcome Santa

LOOKING IN ON SANTA are these Livonia youngsters (from left) Donnie Nardicchio, 4; Michael Love and Sandra DiFederico, 5. They were just waiting their chance to sit down with their friend.

TINY MICHELLE MUSSATTO wasn't quite sure whether she enjoyed sitting on Santa's lap or not. From the looks of Santa's eyes, he wasn't quite certain of what was going to happen either. They wound up the best of friends.

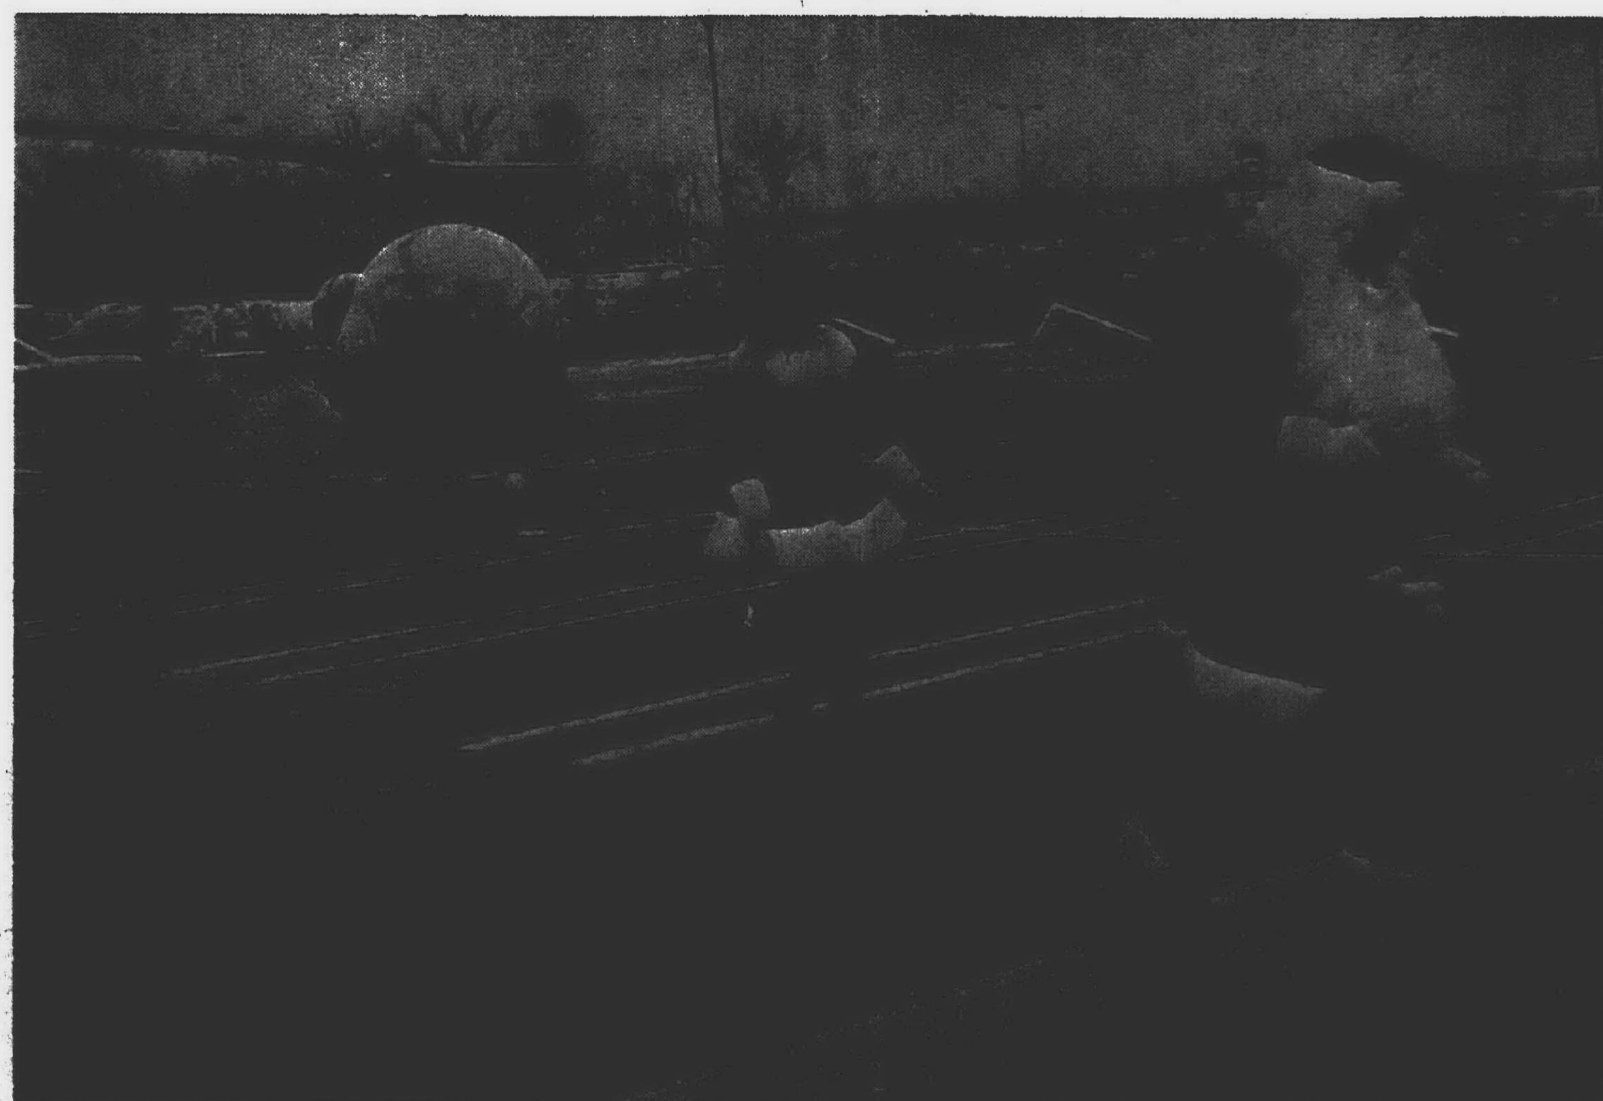

HAPPIEST OF ALL was this youngster from St. Francis Home who had just received a candy cane from Santa and was in the process of making his wishes known for Christmas Day.

OLD KRIS used many types of transportation for his visits. (Left) He waves from an antique automobile and (right) rides in the caboose of a miniature train.

THEN HE WENT modern and stepped out of a helicopter followed by one of his female elves as he hustled to greet the hundreds of youngsters who had been waiting anxiously for his appearance.
