In today's Observer!

A TRAFFIC LOOP around Plymouth's central business area, making it possible to treat portions of Main and Penniman as pedestrian malls, is vital to any downtown revitalization plan, it was emphasized this week by Arthur L. Shepard as he retired from the planning commission. The loop would follow the paths of Harvey, Church, Union, Deer and Wing and immediate plans are being made to cut across the eastern portion of Kellogg Park.

Shepard Resigns City Zoning Post

By FRED DELANO

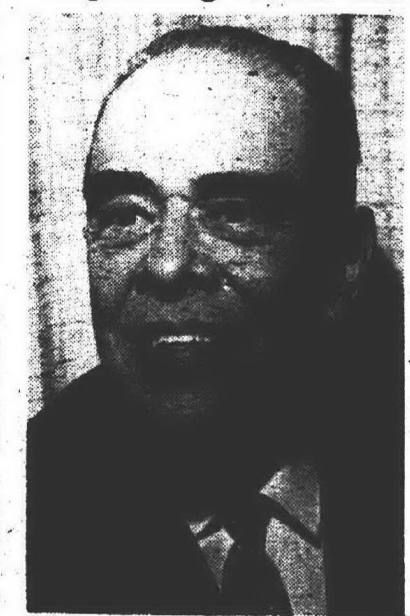

Chairman Arthur L. Shepard of the municipal planning commission resigned Thursday after a decade of service, and as a parting shot offered suggestions which he believes could make downtown Plymouth "the best regional shopping center outside of Northland itself."

Key points in Shepard's approach are completion of the long-discussed Harvey-Church-Union-Deer-Wing traffic loop around the central business district and conversion of those parts of Penniman and Main Street that are within the loop into pedestrian malls.

giving mall treatment to Penniman between Union and Harvey.

The loop plan actually did move a step closer to fruition this week when city commissioners met informally to discuss linking Union and Deer by construction of connecting paving that would nip off the eastern point of Kellogg Park.

Engineering studies and

cost estimates of that project are expected to be authorized officially when the commission meets Tuesday night.

SHEPARD'S LETTER of resignation contained a thinly veiled rebuttal to present plans of the Downtown Development Committee, created last May, in a paragraph stating:

"A word of caution to community leaders: Do not be misled by promotional schemes, but instead seek, adopt and carry out your own economically feasible plan of development. Seek effective citizen involvement in assigning priorities to capital improvements, rather than relying solely or even primarily on self-perpetuating bureaucratic programs."

He added, "I trust the City Commission will understand the importance of the loop street and pedestrian malls to any successful revitalization of the central business district."

Plymouth In Race For C&O Offices

By W.W. EDGAR

Construction of the $126 million domed stadium on the Detroit River front—25 miles from Kellogg Park—may help to provide a bonanza for the City of Plymouth and the entire community.

Scheduled to be built just west of Cobo Hall on land now owned by the C&O and the Penn Central Railroads, the stadium will force railway officials to seek new headquarters and most of the C&O's attention is being focused on the Plymouth area.

While none of the C&O officials would be quoted directly, a spokesman for the company revealed that several probable sites have been rejected and that the Plymouth now is in the forefront.

Moving of the headquarters to Plymouth would mean the acquisition of office space to accommodate approximately 80 employees and the expansion of the present railroad property on Starkweather, plus construction of a huge warehouse.

"Nothing definite has been done thus far regarding an agreement with the Stadium Authority," the railway spokesman admitted, "but this is just a matter of time now that the Tigers have signed the 40-year lease to make the facility possible."

SEVERAL MONTHS ago, it is known that the railway representatives toured Plymouth, with a view of seeing what buildings were available. Since then it has been learned from reliable sources that several sites have been reviewed and preliminary inquiries started regarding possible purchase.

Among the sites surveyed, it has been learned, were the Bell Telephone Co. office building on Harvey St., the Mayflower Meeting House and the vacant Chevrolet showroom recently abandoned by Lou La Riche.

Two other sites suggested were the old Nelson Hotel just east of the present depot, and the four-story brick building on Main Street now occupied by the Brilliant Products Co.

Out of these, the officials claimed the Nelson Hotel property was too expensive.

When speaking of the four-story brick building, it was suggested that possibly a new front of cement panels, separated by colored glass, could be used. The railway spokesman replied:

"It might be worth going into, but it has been our experience that it is often more economical to raze an old building and start fresh, rather than try to revive the ancient structure."

THE RAILWAY officials also have let it be known that if they do select Plymouth for new headquarters several major changes would be made. Among them would be a greatly enlarged warehouse and a more service freight office. They also intimated that the ground west of the station on Starkweather might be utilized for a huge farmer's market.

It is known, too, that while nothing official has been announced, the railway also has asked the city about the possibility of closing off both Starkweather and the road immediately behind the present station.

The closing of Starkweather would be a major change in the entire traffic pattern at the entrance to the city.

"It is hardly likely that the Starkweather request would be honored," said City Commissioner Harold Guenther, who also is the chairman of the committee to improve downtown Plymouth.

"There is a plan afoot to have an exit from the new freeway close by the Thunderbird Inn," he pointed out, "and this will greatly boost traffic on all entrances in that area."

"And if the street behind the station is abandoned, the property will have to be divided between the present property owners," he explained.

WITH THE REMOVAL of headquarters from downtown Detroit, the C&O would then have its largest operation in Plymouth.

More than 50 freight trains a day pass through the city and with headquarters moved here, there would be a great deal more activity.

Also being discussed again, because of the latest probability, is the problem of long delays at the crossings.

To this end, several designs have been suggested, the most interesting being the construction of an overpass curving from Starkweather to Main Street that would eliminate both the Starkweather and the Main Street crossings as they are known today.

The possibility of a farmers' market also has been discussed for some time.

"We would be vitally interested," the railway spokesman said, "but nothing can be done until we have a definite agreement with the stadium authority."

"When that is reached, we will have something more definite to say. But it is a little premature to announce anything officially at this time."

School District Cuts SEMCOG

The Plymouth School District has become the latest in Observerland to withdraw from the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

Without discussion, the Plymouth Board of Education voted 5-0 to discontinue membership in the regional coordinating organization.

The action in Plymouth came just one week after the Livonia Board of Education refused to renew its membership in SEMCOG.

VOTING AGAINST renewal in Plymouth were Chairman Esther Hulsing, John Hanksat, Wilson Sick, Dr. John Ohno, and Fred Penar. Board members John Graves and George Lawton, board treasurer, were absent for the vote.

Lawton said later he would have voted against renewal also.

"Generally speaking, it is a paper organization," Lawton said. "There is a lot of talk and no action. Most of the school districts in the area have discontinued any support for it."

"The dues are rather expensive," he added.

Plymouth's dues for 1971 were $640 and would have increased slightly this year. From Observerland, only Schoolcraft College remains a member of the education bloc, and the college is currently questioning whether it will remain a member.

BECAUSE IT IS a regional planning and coordinating agency for southeast Michigan, it is to SEMCOG's advantage to have a broad membership base within the five county area it serves.

Counties, cities, townships and villages as well as school districts are eligible for membership from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair and Washtenaw counties.

The education division of SEMCOG is engaged in planning and research. But the membership base is slowly dissolving because members have not seen many immediate results from the education division.

Livonia's withdrawal will hurt the division because it was one of the largest school districts in SEMCOG with dues of $3,200 per year.

Former Livonia School Supt. Benton Yates recently resigned as head of the education division. He had held the post since the beginning of the division.

Tenure Granted To 9 Teachers

Nine teachers were granted tenure by the Plymouth Board of Education recently.

Four of the teachers are in Plymouth High School, including Nancy Bauer, counselor; Thomas Lee, media specialist; Robert Steven Rea, math and science; and Ruth Turner, home, economics and food service.

Also given tenure were

Nancy Boeve, fourth grade teacher at Farrand; Alice Brown, lower elementary at Gallimore; Judith Carlson, fourth grade at Fiegel; John Hiemstra, vocal music at West; and Shirley McKeon, seventh grade at West.

The board also approved contracts for three teachers and a leave of absence for one teacher.

Griffin To Head Petition To Join JC Award Fete Bussing Case To Face Delay

Michigan's U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin, Republican of Traverse City, will be the principal speaker Monday night when the Jaycees and their auxiliary present their man and woman of the year awards at a banquet in the Mayflower Meeting House.

In 1969, Griffin, then 35 was selected by the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the 10 outstanding young men of the nation. At that time he already had been elected to Congress, and he moved up to the Senate in 1966.

Griffin's present term expires at the end of this year and the fact that he must seek reelection in November provides extra interest to his January appearance in Plymouth.

Banquet chairman Gene Best has announced that Monday's dinner will be served at 7 p.m., following a cocktail hour, and tickets still are available for the general public. They are $15 per couple, or $8 for individuals. They are available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

The Jaycees originated their man of the year selection in 1962, and their auxiliary, the Jayettes, began a similar program four years later.

The selections are based upon individual accomplishments for home, church and community and previous winners among the men have been George Lawton, 1962; James Garber, 1963; James Jabara, 1964; Harvey Ziel, 1965; Wendell Smith, 1966; Carl Pursell, 1967; Dr. Clifford McCumpha, 1968; Terry West, 1969; Dr. Gary Hall, 1970, and James Griffith, 1971.

Feminine honorees have been Ruth Koepke, 1966; Joan Voytas, 1967; Daisy Proctor, 1968; Judy Shuman, 1969; LaVerne Wiley, 1970, and Orlean Baker, 1971.

Consideration is limited to men between the ages of 21 and 35, and among women between the ages of 21 and 40.

A federal court hearing on a petition from the Tri-County Citizens organization to intervene in the Detroit school desegregation case faces indefinite delay, it was disclosed here this week.

Atty. Robert Lord of the tri-county group told an audience of about 150 Wednesday in Central School, "Judge Stephen Roth has denied our hearing date for Jan. 31. This is not an unusual circumstance as the judge has the right to determine when we will be heard. He further informed us that our hearing would be scheduled at a later date."

Mrs. Beverly Doran, Wayne County director of the organization, said, "We feel that this extension of time will allow us to gain more strength in obtaining a larger membership."

Tri-County Citizens is seeking 150,000 members among parents of school children in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties outside the city of Detroit. The petition to intervene on behalf of those parents in the case before Roth stems from the fear that the judge may order cross-district bussing of students as a means of desegregating the Detroit school system.

Mrs. Gary (Ellen) Ruland, 4402 S. Umlerland Circle, coordinator in the Plymouth area, said that membership locally now stands at about 1,500 and that the drive to push this higher is continuing.

On the heels of a federal court order at Richmond, Va., ordering that the public schools of Richmond and two suburban counties be merged to achieve desegregation, Lord said he is making plans to go soon to Richmond to study the files of that case.

"The Detroit case is the first and largest desegregation case in the north of this type," he said. "While we expect both the Detroit case and Richmond case to end up in the United States Supreme Court about the same time, it is unthinkable that a judgment could be made without our having our day in court."

Asked as to the distinctions between the two cases, Lord said, "The Richmond case is 10 years old and I wouldn't attempt an assessment without going to Richmond. Nonetheless, this will go down as the issue of the decade."

All thoughts of changing the names of Plymouth and Canton High Schools were set aside after the Plymouth Board of Education voted to continue using those names. The board had discussed changing the names of the schools but to have diplomas read Plymouth schools last year but has not will take effect in 1972.

Says Rossman Helped Youth

Editor: A few words in behalf of James Rossman, superintendent and resident of Plymouth. I speak for many residents when I say Jim Rossman has been most helpful to junior athletics and the youth of Plymouth.

His door was always open when representatives of junior basketball, the Junior Athletic Association and the Plymouth Athletic Boosters Club wanted counsel or help.

Indeed, Jim Rossman has helped in many ways in furthering athletic and recreational endeavors in the Plymouth Community School District.

Lofy's Razing Starts Monday;

Demolition of the charred ruins of Lofy's night club at Ann Arbor Rd. and Mill will be started Monday and is expected to be completed within the week.

The work will be done by Mednis Wrecking, Inc., which also recently razed the downtown structure the Plymouth Historical Society used as a museum. Ground will be broken at that site soon for a new museum.

Atty. Edward Draugelis, speaking for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Willoughby, owners of the land which was occupied by Lofy's until the restaurant was destroyed by fire in September, said demolition costs will be $4,949.

"Mrs. Willoughby has given up the idea of rebuilding on the site," said Draugelis, "and the property is for sale. It has a frontage of 198 feet on Ann Arbor Rd. and is 440 feet deep.

Letters To The Editor

Asks Hulsing To Step Down

Editor: Sixteen days ago, I paid a large property tax bill to support our school system. In the light of all the recent charges and counter-charges, I feel disgruntled and frustrated, both as a taxpayer and a parent in this school district.

In the interest of better future education in Plymouth, at the most economical and efficient way possible, I propose certain constructive changes in our school district.

First, I call for the resignation of our school board president, Esther Hulsing, and from the present board, they should elect someone who will represent new leadership.

Second, actively pursue the screening of superintendent candidates with proven credentials in the administrative areas of running a school district. In my opinion, presently, there is no one in the administration qualified of assuming the position at this crucial time.

Third, board members have sympathies to the PEA viewpoint on important policies, and this is "bull." A board member cannot harbor bias for the administration or the PEA viewpoint, as only the taxpayer and students are entitled to this.

Fourth, it is imperative that we negotiate a two year contract with the teachers immediately and establish labor peace, so that we may pursue actively the goals and objectives of the school system.

In the charges against James Rossman by the board, it's shocking to find admitted deficiencies, such as failure to develop curriculum and all the other deficiencies cited in the charges. Certainly, James Rossman is not solely to blame.

Under the above proposals, we will have a new superintendent of schools, with proven administrative abilities. We will have an assistant superintendent in Mike Hoben, and a consulting superintendent in James Rossman.

It would seem to me, that from these three positions, that we should be able to meet the challenge of the short-comings in our system by a proper order of priorities and assignments of responsibilities.

It would be senseless to pay James Rossman $28,000 a year, plus fringe benefits, and not expect a valuable contribution outside the area of school operations and administrations.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth, Michigan

BOARD OF EDUCATION MINUTES

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held on Monday evening, December 20, 1971, in the Board Room of the Administration Building, 1024 South Mill Street, Plymouth, Michigan.

The meeting was called to order by President Hulsing at 8:30 p.m.

Present: Members Hulsing, Hulsing, Lawton, Ohio and Sick.

Absent: Member Penar.

Administrators present: Assistant Sup'ts Blunk, Gibson and Hoben; Directors Gaertner, Kee and Page; and Administrative Assistant Sirbaugh.

Others present: John Ryder, Bill Heath and Ray Homer, P.E.A.; Marda Benson, C. E. Childs, John Close, Brian Gorman, Jean Knowles, Norman LeBlanc, Frank Millington, James Rossman, Daniel Sand, E. Sterner and Jim Symonds; and Kathy Moran, Plymouth Mail & Observer.

It was moved by Member Hulsing and seconded by Member Sick that this Board appoint John Hoben as Acting Superintendent of Schools, to act in this capacity until June 30, 1972.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, Hulsing, Lawton, Ohio and Sick.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

The Board offered congratulations to Mr. Hoben and asked for his comments. He asked that the Board seek applications from other candidates to fill the position on a permanent basis and stated that at this time he could not say for certain whether he would be a candidate. Mr. Hoben also stated that he would act in the new capacity with no increase in wages under the same contract until the end of the present fiscal year.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Hulsing to amend the minutes of the July 12, 1971, Organizational Meeting, to delete Mr. James Rossman's name, and that John Hoben, Acting Superintendent, be authorized to sign the following documents: Annual Salary Statements and Contract Riders (Teacher Contracts); Reports to Department of Education on: Membership, Special Education, Remedial Reading, Vocational Education, Co-op Program and Adult Education; Federal Aid Reports and Applications on: ESEA Title I and III, IDEA Title III and V, Vocational Education, Safety Target of Plymouth, GUIDE Applications and Reports; Housing and Urban Development and FM Station Applications and Reports.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, Hulsing, Lawton, Ohio and Sick.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

There was discussion on the utilization of Central School in the 1972-73 school year. Mr. Hoben reported that the Administration would favor the temporary use of East Middle School, "East Wing, for increased administrative office space, with a reduced middle school population at East and a full middle school at the Central School. He reported that decisions needed to be made on attendance areas, staff assignments and scheduling, etc., as soon as possible. He also remarked that the fifth grade population at Fiegel Elementary School might make it necessary to operate a 5-8 grade middle school at East Middle School.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Hulsing that the Board of Education adopt a concept of four Middle Schools, namely, Pioneer, West, East and Central, in the 1972-73 school year and further resolve that the middle schools be expanded to include the fifth grade students, said expansion to be implemented only when and if the population growth requires such action in individual schools.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, Hulsing, Lawton, Ohio and Sick.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

PEA Representative Ryder asked for clarification as to whether fifth grade students would have some exposure to such subjects as shop, physical education and band if transferred to a middle school, and he was assured by the Administration there would be some degree of exposure for these students. Member Ohio requested that a report be made to the Board by elementary and middle school principals as to their opinions on implementation of fifth grade classes in a middle school situation.

Mr. Hoben was asked to report back to the Board on plans to resolve the overcrowding in the Administration Building. Member Sick asked for a report from the Business Division as to the cost of expanding the present Administration Building (Alternative III) and a comparative cost on Alternative I as presented to the Board.

It was moved by Member Hulsing and seconded by Member Ohio that Karen Joslyn, 4th/5th grade teacher at Ibbister School, presently on a leave of absence, be reinstated.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, Hulsing, Lawton, Ohio and Sick.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Member Hulsing distributed copies of "Evaluation of a Superintendent" for consideration by the Board in its selection of a new superintendent.

A citizen inquired as to the status of negotiations with Mr. Rossman. President Hulsing replied that the cause for discharge was as stated in the Board resolution of December 13, 1971, that the previous Superintendent had "consistently failed to abide by all the policies as adopted by this Board."

She said the Board could not discuss the specific instances in the matter until they were presented to Mr. Rossman.

It was moved by Member Hulsing and seconded by Member Hulsing that the meeting be adjourned at 9:15 p.m.

Ayes: Members Hulsing, Hulsing, Lawton, Ohio and Sick.

C. Of C. To Hear Bashara

PLYMOUTH Wayne County Probate Judge George N. Bashara Jr. will be in Plymouth Tuesday, Jan. 18 to address a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in the Mayflower Hotel on "The Age of Majority."

"One of the most important practical matters business will face in the coming year, and, perhaps, one of the most complex," is the description given in the Chamber announcement relative to Michigan's recent step in reducing the age of adulthood to 18.

Reservations for the noon luncheon may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce office in the Mayflower Hotel.

Bashara, 36, was appointed to the probate bench by Gov. William Milliken in June 1969 and long has been active and interested in civic, charitable and religious affairs. A Detroit native, he was elected in 1970 to retain his post and last January was chosen by his colleagues as presiding judge of probate court.

JUDGE BASHARA JR.

The Stroller... Where Are We Going?

By W. W. EDGAR

Life can be so filled with puzzling twists and turns these days that a fellow can't be blamed for stopping along the way to ask:

What's the world coming to?

Where are we headed?

Do these things make any sense?

Just the other day, while waiting for the second cup of coffee at lunch, the innkeeper, pulled a chair up to the table, grabbed a knife and banged the heavy end on the table as if to call for a waitress. Then, addressing no one in particular, he moaned:

"This thing has me licked. I thought I knew something about the country's economy...the spiraling inflation and the automation that is changing many of our old time methods of production. But now I know I'm licked."

For a moment or two no one spoke. Hearing the innkeeper moan is nothing new. He's an expert moaner. Many of his offerings could be set to music.

This time it was different. Finally, he broke the silence.

"EARLY THIS morning," he began, "I put in a call for a service man to repair our two garbage grinders. Something seemed to be wrong with the gears."

"After an hour or two, a guy shows up with a wrench and a screwdriver in his hands. That's all. Just a wrench and a screwdriver."

"What's wrong with that?" the innkeeper was asked.

"Well," he answered, "the guy just left here a few minutes ago and he's left me in a daze."

"He worked just about an hour or an hour and a half, and he handed me a bill for $64—labor charges."

"How come," I asked him, and he answered, "Half hour on one, and a little more on the other. So I had to charge $30 labor on the first one, and $34 on the other."

"Imagine that," the innkeeper moaned with his deepest moan, "$64 for little more than an hour's work by a fellow with only a wrench and a screwdriver."

"Do the garbage grinders work now?" he was asked.

"Oh, sure, but just imagine $64 labor to a guy with a wrench and screwdriver."

THE INNKEEPER was at his best now, so one of the table companions ventured, "That isn't so bad. I know a fellow who went into one of our service stations to get two light bulbs changed on his car—a job that required less than 20 minutes—and was given a bill that included $4 labor charge. Guess he was charged for the time it took the mechanic to find the bulbs in the store room."

Before any one else could recall some recent incident of labor charges, the innkeeper spoke up:

"Let me finish," he cautioned. "Just yesterday I was suffering from a painful tooth. In fact I was about to walk the floor when I learned that one of our dental specialists was in his office. I called, made a date, and went right over."

"I was met by his receptionist, escorted into the dental chair by a nurse who prepared me for the visit of a man who had spent many years in college acquiring the necessary knowledge to open his own office."

"When he came in, he looked at the inside of my mouth, diagnosed the trouble and said, 'we'll take care of that in a hurry.'"

"Then, he selected the instrument from a large plate of costly tools, gave the tooth a yank and it was all over. The cause of the pain was gone."

WHAT'S THAT got to do with the plumber's service man?

"Well," the innkeeper related, "when I asked the charges in the dental specialist's office, the doctor said, with a smile—

"That will be $13."

"Couldn't believe it," our portly friend went on. "A college trained specialist, with his own office, a receptionist and a lady assistant, and a plate filled with costly instruments, charging me just $13."

Then he leaned back, shook his head, and moaned: "The guy with the wrench and the screw driver—no overhead, no receptionist, no long years in college—charging $64 for an hour's work."

"What is the world coming to?"

It's a good question.

Retroactive Pay Asked In Schools

PLYMOUTH The Plymouth Board of Education has refused to apply jointly with the Plymouth Education Association for permission to grant retroactive pay to teachers.

Ray Homer, of the teachers' union, asked the board to file jointly with the PEA to the economic stabilization office for permission to give retroactive pay for the period between Aug. 31 (when the contract took effect) to Nov. 15 (when the wage freeze was lifted).

Since the Pay Board is unlikely to grant retroactive pay to all the teachers in the country whose contracts took effect during the freeze, the union wants to apply individually to see if it would be granted in their case.

So far, information released by the Pay Board indicates that retroactivity won't be granted to teachers.

"In view of the fact that our current operating budget does not include retroactive pay, I think it would be entirely improper for us to go with you to ask for the pay," board member John Hanskat told Homer.

Hanskat argued that the funds were not budgeted and the millage rate was set based on the budget so the school district couldn't apply for permission to grant unbudgeted funds.

HOMER SAID teachers were led to believe during negotiations that the board of education would pay the retroactive pay if it were at all possible.

"We were told the retroactive pay would be paid if at all possible," he said. "The commitment was made at the time the contract was bargained."

Hanskat told Homer that the millage rate for the district was set on the basis of all the facts available at the time, and the facts indicated that retroactive pay would not be granted.

"I see no harm whatever in your organization submitting the form, but I think it is improper for us to do so," Hanskat said.

"I REALLY think it is in the best interests of both sides to agree and go to the Pay Board together," Homer replied. "I'm disappointed that the (school) board doesn't see fit to do it together. I think there are advantages to doing it together."

"You can rest assured that we are going to pursue it," Homer told the board.

Board member Wilson Sick told the PEA representatives that they came out better than the PEA expected in light of the pay freeze.

"Then you were concerned about whether it (the nine percent increase) would be rolled back to five or six percent," Sick said. "You've come out way ahead of what you thought then."

DICK BENSEK

Thomas Jefferson liked to eat. In fact, one of his first acts when he became President in 1800 was to select a chef. One of the President's favorite dishes at this time was beefsteak which had been soaked in olive oil for two hours before it was cooked. The steak was always served with French fries — quite new to the American cuisine of the time. Jefferson's beefsteak was always crowned with sweet butter into which minced fresh parsley and the juice of 1/2 lemon had been mixed. Jefferson himself picked the steak, and sometimes supervised its cooking. But even more unusual, the President often spent as much as $50 a day on food — a lot of money today, but a fabulous sum in his own time!

Morbid 'Harold' Is Also Funny

By BETTY MASSON

What mother could calmly carry on a telephone conversation (canceling her hair appointment) while her only son dangles at the end of a rope from the living room ceiling?

Vivian Pickles could and does in the story of "Harold and Maude," a Paramount release, based on a story by Colin Higgins.

She plays the suffocating mother of Harold, a potentially delightful boy who has never learned to live. His attention-getting devices are old hat to her. She'd be more disturbed by a broken fingernail.

HIS SUICIDE attempts (hanging leaves him with a sore throat) and the satirical jabs taken at motherhood, the military, psychiatry (it's blue) and computer dating make for about 90 minutes of good entertainment.

Harold, played by Bud Cort, is perfectly believable, the boy who like Emily in "Our Town" wants someone to look at him while he's alive. Thus the attempts at death to get attention. However, Harold in spite of suffocation at his mother's hands, has a sense of humor, albeit it a little morbid, and this is where the fun begins.

HAROLD AND MAUDE

now showing at

Towne I

Rating: GP

Harold also gets his kicks out of going to funerals. He meets another funeral-watcher, an unbelievable person named Maude. Played by Ruth Gordon, she is an 80-year-old who poses in the nude for an artist and steals a car whenever she needs one.

It's not Miss Gordon who is unbelievable ... it's the character. Miss Gordon handles it well, with an unsentimental understatement which redeems it and the situation from absurdity.

UNDER MAUDE'S tutelage, Harold "tries something new each day" and picks up a few sins.

He also falls in love with his teacher and plans to marry her. But it's only in real life that young boys occasionally marry old ladies. The wedding never takes place, because the bride had other plans. However, we can leave Harold with a clear conscience and go home feeling happy about the ending.

"Harold and Maude" is good fun.

Piano Soloist Sought By Southfield Group

The Southfield Junior Symphony is seeking a piano soloist for its spring concert to be held in May.

Auditions will be held from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 22, in the Southfield High School Auditorium. The selection performed should be of musical value and have a suitable orchestral accompaniment available.

Applications are available from Ted Kokubo, 828 W. Baker, Clawson.

The symphony, this year numbering 80 young people, is in its 13th year under the direction of Richard Brown of the Southfield public schools instrumental music department.

OU Offers Courses In Chorus, Dance

ROCHESTER

Vocal and dance enthusiasts are invited to take part in two courses offered by Oakland University's division of continuing education in the winter term.

Singers may join the University Community Chorus which will meet Tuesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30 beginning Jan. 18. The chorus meets in the Birmingham Unitarian Church, 651 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills, and is directed by John Doharas, assistant professor of music and director of OU's choral activities. No audition is required.

This mixed chorus will combine forces with the 150-voice campus chorus to sing large choral works with area symphonies.

Novice dancers and members of theatre groups who would like to move more gracefully may enroll in "A Happening in Movement," a modern dance course. Betty A. Appleton, assistant professor of dance, Oakland Community College, will teach the course Monday mornings from 9:15 to 11:15, at the OU campus.

Enrollment may be made by calling the division of continuing education.

Horsemen To Conduct Classes

The course will be given on five consecutive Tuesday evenings beginning Jan. 25, in the Ford Division Office Building Auditorium, Rotunda Drive and the Southfield Expressway, Dearborn. All sessions will begin at 7:30 p.m., and end at 10 p.m., except the first session when registration will be at 6:30 p.m.

Orchestra Under Way

Westland's new music men are busy tooting their horns for the newly-created Westland Civic Orchestra.

The orchestra under the direction of Charles Heard held its first meeting Thursday night in Wayne Memorial High School to start working toward its first concert date. Heard, vocal music director for the high school, said that a tentative date of Sunday afternoon, March 19, has been picked for the orchestra's first concert date.

The second concert will be during the second annual Westland spring festival, to be held in mid-May.

On hand for the first meeting of the orchestra were 39 musicians of varying ages

The 39 were picked from 67 musicians who auditioned for the civic orchestra, created last fall by Mayor Eugene McKinney to promote more community identification and pride by Westland residents.

Heard told the orchestra Thursday that the Rackham Symphony Choir, with 135 members, will be the guest performers at the March 19 concert.

During the spring festival, the orchestra will present a cabaret-style concert for the public.

The orchestra is administered under the city parks and recreation department.

On the orchestra's executive committee are Mayor McKinney, chairman, City Council President John Markes, Recreation Director Melvin Bailey, and Mrs. Robert Flowers.

There will be various subcommittees formed soon for tickets, publicity, and other functions involving the orchestra.

Of the 39 members, about half are students, Heard said. Westland residents in the group are:

David Beaver, Randolph Blouse, John Bocan, Terry Bradley, Diane Button, Stan Caron, David Devine, Joseph DiLuvio, Edward Dittbener, Sue Fitzpatrick, Victor Johnson, Terri Karbinksky, Lois Kinsey, Tina Krugler, Bob Markham, Roxanne Minch, Gregory Morlock, Carol Purcell, Mark Schmidt, Jeff Watts, Lance Webber, Steve Webber, and Marlene Yousuf.

St. John's Church Will Sponsor Music Festival

ROYAL OAK Continuing an effort to return the church to the social and cultural center of the community, St. John's Episcopal Church will begin its second annual music festival this month.

Five evening concerts, one each month, will be held in the modern, high-vaulted church at Woodward and 11 Mile. The church seats 900 people and offers a fine architectural setting for the concert series.

Tickets for the series of the first four concerts are $25 for patrons, $15 for adults and $9 for students. They may be obtained by calling the church.

LAST YEAR'S tickets were sold out and profits from the festival were used to provide music scholarships for 10 area high school students.

The festival gets under way Sunday, Jan. 23, at 7 p.m., with a piano concert and talk by Karl Haas, WJR's director of fine arts.

The festival will present a return visit by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Pierre Hetsu at 8 p.m., Monday, Feb. 14. The program will consist of works by Mozart, Ravel and Mendelssohn.

The next concert, on Tuesday, March 14, will feature two comic one-act operas in English by the Piccolo Opera Company, Detroit's only resident opera company.

On Wednesday, April 5, at 8 p.m. the entire University of Michigan Men's Glee Club will present an evening of songs ranging from works by traditional masters to popular selections from the '70s.

THESE FOUR concerts will be accompanied by art exhibits from area galleries. There will also be a special competition exhibit by high school students from all the communities surrounding the church.

The festival will present a fifth, optional concert on Friday, May 5, at 7:30 p.m., at a cost of $3 per ticket. This concert will feature rock music. Young people from the church have auditioned groups, and will announce their selections in February.

"The purpose of the festival is to bring people of all ages together and to tear down the generation gap," according to the Rev. John H. Albrecht, rector of the church. "It is a family event, a family happening. We need more of this in our community."

"Music is one of the oldest art forms," he said, "and has always been used by man to express his joys and sorrows in God's world."

BAA Sets Invitational Exhibition

"Color Directions," an invitational exhibition by Michigan artists will open in the gallery of the Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook, Sunday, Jan. 16. Gallery hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

An exploration of all concepts of color, the show includes the accepted "color field" painters whose techniques are abstract, but demonstrate as well the variety of ways in which painters approach the interpretation of color.

Structural color, optical color, the effect of light on color and the use of light to create color are demonstrated in the traditional oil and acrylic on canvas, pastels, wax resist and paint on plexiglass.

Ray Fleming, chairman of the art department at Kingswood School, Cranbrook, Aris Koutroulis of Wayne State University, David Tammany, winner of the Flint Institute of Arts purchase award, Anthony De Blasi, winner of the 1970 Founders award at the Detroit Institute of Arts, Jens Plum and Lillian Hoppin, winners of the 1970 award at the Grand Rapids Museum, are among the 20 artists included in the show which runs through Feb. 20.

French Class Begins Jan. 22

A class in beginning French designed for children between the ages of eight and 11 will be offered at Mercy College of Detroit during the spring semester.

The St. Cloud method, an oral approach to foreign language, will provide the frame-work for the class. Filmstrips and tapes produced in France add audio visual interest to the classroom experience.

The deadline for registration is Jan. 13. Classes will meet each Saturday at 11 a.m. from Jan. 22 through March 25 in the administration building, 8200 W. Outer Drive.

Tuition is $30 payable at the time of registration.

C'Ville Guidelines Go To Committee

By W. EDWARD WENDOVER

What the staff and adviser of Clarenceville High School's (CHS) paper, The Prophet, thought was inevitable didn't happen Thursday night.

A set of guidelines governing student publications and non-school sponsored publications was proposed to the Clarenceville Board of Education at its Thursday meeting by CHS Principal Ray Renbarger. The Board, after discussing the guidelines for more than two hours with its house packed because of the issue, tabled the matter until a study committee could recommend how to proceed.

Most of The Prophet's staff and its adviser, Floyd Kucharski, had prophesied before hand that the board would surely pass the guidelines.

THE ISSUE over the paper began after its second edition when the board of education criticized its devoting the outside page to an article on the Student Mobilization Committee, an anti-war group banned from the high school by the board.

The board's criticisms flared again at its meeting Dec. 9 where Dr. Renbarger said he had deleted a poem from the paper because it contained the words "god damn."

At that meeting, Renbarger announced that he planned to draw up a set of guidelines governing student publications in the school.

The guidelines proposed by Renbarger Thursday included administrative "right of prior review" of each issue of the paper before it went to press.

"The total impact of each edition (of The Prophet) should support and build school spirit rather than to destroy and demoralize," the principal's guidelines said.

SUPT. DAVID B. McDowell said the guidelines were being drawn up by Renbarger in accordance with recent court cases outlined in a legal memorandum to school districts from the National Assn. of Secondary School Principals.

Kucharski, who had told the board the proposed guidelines were "neither prudent, nor necessary," said after the meeting that he wished the board had passed some guidelines to formulate a structure for the paper and the journalism class which puts it out.

When the board, after dicker over specific points in the guidelines, decided to send it to a study committee, board President Martin T. Wechsler asked Kucharski to be on that committee. It would evaluate Renbarger's proposed guidelines or perhaps draft its own recommendations when it reported back to the board.

"They (any guidelines) clearly will not represent what I feel, and therefore I don't want to share in the complicity of drawing them up," Kucharski replied.

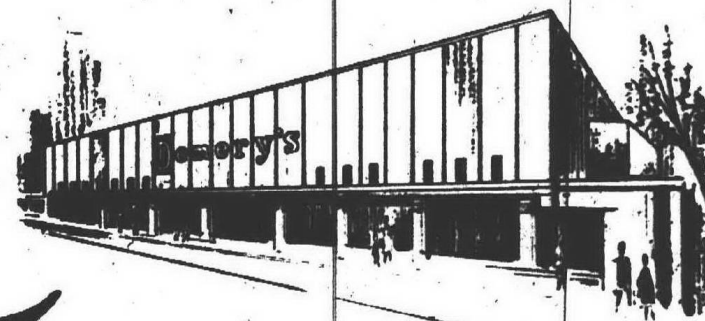

DR. WECHSLER REPLIED, "The good will of the board in this matter has been made evident. It's very, very sad that this time when we can involve everybody, the people involved have a chance to participate -- but they turn their backs and say, 'Go on your merry way and hang yourselves.' It is not the intent of any person on this board to shut down the newspaper," the board president said.

Kucharski agree to serve on the committee as a resource person.

Also appointed to the committee was Roger Parshall, editor of The Prophet, who vowed not to return to the paper's staff when the guidelines were proposed.

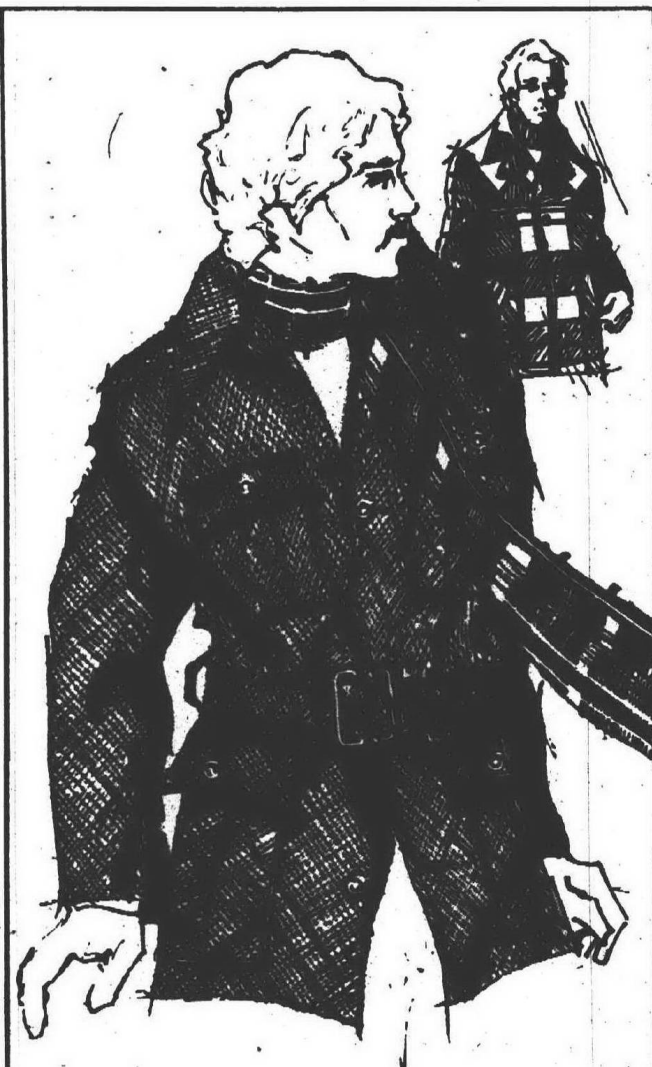

Parshall told the board of education that the paper's staff of 20 had taken a vote to see how many would return after the guidelines had been proposed. "Only two said they'd be back for sure," he said.

How Chairman Ryan Rates WC-3

By LEONARD POGER

When it comes to effort, Wayne County Community College deserves an "A" mark on its report card.

But the college, now in its second year, has a contrast of grades in other areas as it survived a legislative money crisis and three unsuccessful millage elections.

This is the feeling of Westland attorney John Ryan, who was elected last week as chairman of the college's seven member board of trustees for a one-year term.

Ryan took special pride in discussing the college's accomplishments with Observer Newspapers last week.

There is good reason for that pride.

RYAN, WHO will be 46 next month, was part of the conception of the college when he served on a citizens' advisory committee in the mid 1960s. It led to the public election for a community college.

The positive marks on the college's report card include in Ryan's judgment—an A-minus in class offerings content, and quality of instruction for liberal arts courses.

In addition, the college—usually referred to by educators at WC-3—deserves an "A for effort" for the "dedicated staff which hung on through difficult times. Some wondered if they were going to be paid."

Other "A" marks were given to the college by Ryan in the area of quality and effectiveness of the staff and in competence.

But the report card wasn't all positive.

The college only gets "a passing grade" in the area of in-service training for urban and environmental specialists and a less than passing mark in vocation training.

But Ryan said that this was due to the lack of college-owned facilities and no local property taxes for support.

That last point is a sore one with college backers and a factor which created some financial problems with the State Legislature last spring.

THE COLLEGE has tried three times—without success—to gain voters' approval for a small property tax millage.

The Legislature came to the college's rescue, but the per-student revenue from Lansing was still below all other community colleges in the state, Ryan pointed out.

The college gets $570 per student from all revenue each fiscal year.

All other community colleges get $570 just in state aid, $310 in tuition payments, plus local property taxes. It results in as much as $1,500 in support behind each student in Genesee County, for example.

Last spring, the college found itself $1.9 million in the hole. Despite a few weeks of bad publicity, the college had the deficit financed by the Legislature.

BUT RYAN LIKES best to talk about the college, its unique start in 1969, and what it has done in the past two years.

When it first opened its doors, there was no common experience to look back on and repeat.

There was no college campus since the college staff had to work in an estimated 30 high schools and community centers to house an estimated 14,000 students.

The college started with an "open door" policy which takes in as students anyone who is 19 years or older, regardless of whether he might have a high school diploma.

High school seniors may take one college class with the approval of their parents and high school principal.

But the story of the college can be told in its most recent catalogue of classes.

OF THE current enrollment of 12,000 students—equal to 2,400 full-time students—half are married; half are black; the average age is in the high 20s; and five per cent never finished high school.

"We're putting the school in the neighborhoods and close to peoples' homes," Ryan said.

Since the college has educational centers in all types of economic neighborhoods, WCCC "has roots in all areas—black and white, poor and affluent," Ryan said.

"The college has had its problems—but it worked."

Noise Control

The most common cause of hearing losses today is prolonged and or continuous exposure to excessive noise levels, according to hearing conservation experts. They point to this fact as the primary reason why every community should have meaningful noise control and hearing conservation programs.

Observerland is fast becoming the state bowling capital as far as high scoring is concerned.

Just a week ago the Garden Lanes team, captained by Bob Grenier rolled a 3485 series in the Wonderland Classic to establish a record for suburbia. It was surpassed only by Stroh's 3671 some time ago.

Then, last Tuesday night, Bill Walker, of the Standard Composite team in the same classic, posted a new high for metropolitan Detroit by putting together games of 258, 256 and 300 for 815.

This mark bettered Mike Totsky's 801 that featured Stroh's record series.

"Bill had all good 'hits' except one," said George Bashara, owner of Wonderland. "The one poor one came in the tenth frame, but it carried and he went on for his 300."

In contrast, Alfred Blum, bowling in the Businessmen's League at Bel-Aire Lanes in Farmington, literally had the door closed in his face when, after oiling up 11 strikes in a row, left up the 3-10 and had to settle for a 298.

Walker's perfect game was the eighteenth of the season in the Detroit area, compared to 14 at this time a year ago.

THERE WAS good reason for the Metropolitan Detroit Old Timers to shout, "Old Bowlers Never Die" at their annual tournament last Saturday at State Fair Recreation.

When the final pin fell Bill Schlicker, a former all-star who had just turned 51 years of age, was declared the new champion with a 668 series. But it was John Dietiker who received all the cheers.

John has just turned 93 and with the same enthusiasm as he has shown for years, he took his regular turn on the approaches and ran up a count of 403 on games of 150, 151 and 102.

He hasn't missed an old timers event in years, but this was the highest score he rolled in the past several years.

In winning the title Schlicker had a high game of 240, but his 668 series was 20 pins below the all time record set by the late Herb Case.

ONE OF the most unusual performances of this season or any other season occurred last week in the Father & Son League at Merri-Bowl.

ANDY NEELY, the father, who carries a 177 average, posted a 180 triplicate. And on the same pair of lanes at the same time his son, Glenn, who has a 94 average, rolled a 96 triplicate.

It is the first time so far as is known, that two triplicates were bowled at the same time on the same lanes.

ONE OF the oldest records at Farmington Lanes went by the boards last week when Mary Jane Hunt put together games of 214, 209 and 177 for 600.

It was the highest series rolled in the Tuesday Morning Ladies league since its inception 10 years ago.

Junior bowlers continue to gather most of the spotlight at the Hamlin establishment. Kim Harrington, a 12-year old lass, who had a 224 in 534 last year during the holidays, came back this year and posted a 221 in 496.

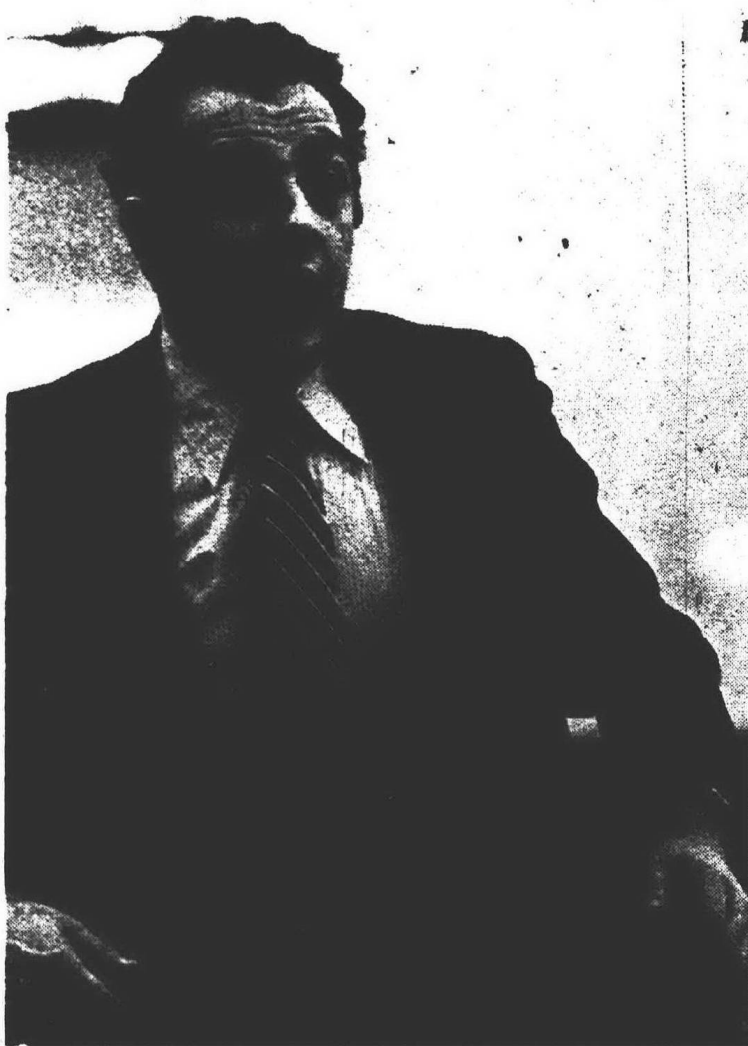

Then, to top it off, Jim Hamlin, son of the owner, teamed it with Bill Barnes, son of Bonnie Barnes, all-star league secretary, for a 1069-273-1342 to win the holiday doubles.

Little Jim had a 536 and Bill added a 533.

TRAVELING makes little difference to George Miller, who represents Plymouth Bowl in the Senior Citizens Traveling League.

Bowling at Country Lanes in Farmington Tuesday morning he paced the entire field with a 274 in a 635 series.

Other good scores at Country Lanes included Clem Dejac's 245 in 632 and Bill Weiser's 248 in St. Paul's League.

Flint Crushes Bentley, 54-44

Bentley went cold from the field in the final quarter and dropped a 54-44 basketball clash to Flint Central.

"We just couldn't buy a basket in the fourth quarter," said Coach John Farrar. "We had 19 good shots but only four dropped in."

Flint outscored Bentley in the last eight minutes, 19-9, and the Bulldogs dropped their third contest.

Flint went up 4-0 in the opening minutes but Bentley fought back to hold a 22-21 halftime lead on a two-pointer by Tim Bollin.

The third quarter saw Flint total 14 points to 13 by Bentley and the score was notched at 35-35 going into the final quarter.

MIDWAY through the quarter, Central jumped to a 46-40 lead and the Bulldogs could not match the scoring and fell 10 points behind at the final buzzer.

"We got a lot of second and third shots," added Farrar. "We outrebounded Flint, 35-28, but we just couldn't get the bucket when we needed it."

Bollin led Bentley scoring with 11 points, followed by Ron Bulwaski and Dan Weiss with nine each.

Bentley stands 6-3 overall and hosts Dearborn Tuesday night.

Lathrup Turns 'Cold' In Oak Park Battle

Southfield Lathrup fell to Oak Park, 55-53, for its fifth loss as the Chargers experienced a "cold" night from the floor.

Lathrup hit 22 of 66 for a 33 per cent average with the second quarter telling the story of the defeat.

The Chargers spurred to a 17-13 first quarter edge but lost their touch in the second quarter. Oak Park outscored Lathrup, 19-10, to take a 32-27 halftime lead as the Redskins capitalized on many Charger turnovers.

"We couldn't hit the broad side of a barn in the second quarter," said Lathrup Coach Jim Kourtakis. "We didn't do much better in the third quarter, shooting four for 21."

LATHRUP scored 10 to nine for Oak Park in the third but trailed going into the final quarter, 41-37.

With two minutes remaining, Lathrup tied the contest at 51-51 but Nate Kerner scored a two - pointer to push Oak Park back in the lead. Lathrup missed on its scoring opportunity and Ed Bradford sank two free - throws to put the Redskins up by four.

Kelly Trent sank a bucket for Lathrup with 12 seconds left on the clock but the Chargers couldn't get their hands on the ball in the closing seconds, and fell two points short at the buzzer, 55-53.

An oddity in the contest was that Oak Park was not called for a foul the entire second half, while Lathrup was assessed seven fouls.

TRENT led Lathrup scorers with 20 points with Bob Malaby adding 12 to the Charger cause.

Aggies Blitzed, 82-56

St. Agatha dropped its fourth basketball contest to St. Alphonsus, 82-56, but the Aggies remain in sole possession of third place in the Catholic League Second Division West.

Orchard Lake St. Mary is dominating league play with a 9-0 record with St. Alphonsus second at 8-1. St. Agatha is in third with a 5-4 mark while St.

Thomas, St. Hedwig and Lourdes all show a 4-5 record in a tie for fourth, with Mt. Carmel and St. Andrews bringing up the rear.

The Aggies travel to St. Andrews Tuesday. St. Agatha topped St. Andrews earlier, 67-58, but Coach Tom Sankovic sees things tightening up in the race for the third and fourth playoff berth. St. Alphonsus jumped to a 13-10 first quarter lead and held on in the second quarter to a 28-27 halftime score.

"We played good ball the first half," said Sankovic. "We stayed neck and neck with Alphonsus but the third quarter was a different story."

ST. ALPHONSUS hit on seven straight baskets to open the second half and outscored the Aggies, 25-9, to hold a 53-36 third quarter edge.

"Alphonsus started to press and we threw the ball away," added Sankovic. "We had trouble getting the ball past half court."

St. Agatha was outscored in the final quarter, 29-20, and the Aggies suffered their second loss to St. Alphonsus after an 84-36 trouncing on Nov. 30.

MARK MIRON and Tom Churches paced the Agatha attack with 18 points apiece. Tom Nemes also hit the double figure mark with 10.

St. Alphonsus' center, Mark Klein led all scorers with 34 points. Mike Leginski and Mark Bokuniewicz added 16 and 12 points to the Alphonsus cause.

Greg Arnoldy set a pool and varsity record for Harrison in the 100 freestyle with a first place time of 53.4.

Rick Squires, Mike Chan, Mark Tomiko, and Jerry Weiss combined for a first place time of 1:59.4 in the 200 medley relay. Dan Hogan, Mark Dudash, Keith Krupsky,

Tigers Have 'New Martin'

By W. W. EDGAR
What a difference a year can make!

Last spring when Billy Martin took over as the new manager of the Tigers, there was the sparkle of supreme confidence in his eye, and he pounded his fist on the table at the Baseball Writers' dinner and almost shouted: "We'll fight 'em all the way and we're going on to win the pennant."

HE WAS A MUCH different Billy Martin this week as he made his second appearance before the denizens of the press box and was much more subdued.

It was a matured Billy Martin (now wearing a mustache) who rose to his feet and, very calmly remarked: "I know the players better now, and they know me. What's more, the other clubs in the league know that we have a team that can go all the way. And that will make a big difference."

Getting down to cases Billy admitted that Tiger pitching still is a problem.

Looking at Mickey Lolich, who had just received the writers award as "Tiger of the year," Martin prophesied: "Mickey will have another good year, and I look for good years from Les Cain and Joe Coleman."

"It's the fourth starter that may give us trouble. If we can't trade for one, I'll have to concentrate on the young fellows we have and maybe develop one of them."

WHILE NOT mentioning any names he'll have hurlers such as Mike Kilkenny, Joe Niekro and Tom Timmerman who are about due to arrive at major league status.

"I'll have to work with them and see that they can do under various game conditions," Martin implied, "and then make my decisions."

Asked about the possibility of acquiring Denny McLain, Martin replied: "I would be glad to have him. I think I could work with him."

Do you think you need him to win the pennant? Billy was asked. "Well, we finished second last year without him, and the club that had him finished fourth," Billy said slyly. "That should tell you something."

IN HIS NEW view of the team, Martin told the writers that he may vary the use of his players during the season that opens in Detroit against the Yankees.

"I plan to give Bill Freehan more rest," he stated. "Bill is a great catcher, but there have been times when I know I overworked him."

"I also will double up with Dick McAuliffe and Tony Taylor at second base. This is not to mean that I will use the platoon system. It's going to be just a case of who is swinging the strongest bat."

As a closing remark, the Tiger boss said, "I know we can beat Baltimore and Baltimore knows it too. That should make a big difference this year."

"And we'll be in the fight all the way."

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES MULLVHILL

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Although the Hazel Park race track deal hasn't been consummated as yet, those close to the picture tell of several shifts in personnel.

From a staff member who should know of what he says, Director of Racing Bert Thompson and Racing Secretary John Klucina will not be back when the track opens its 132-day meeting in late February.

It was rumored during the closing days of the 1971 meeting which ended on Dec 18 that changes would be made and the names of Thompson and Klucina were among those mentioned.

Klucina reportedly is serving as racing director at Toledo Raceway and probably will return to the east during the summer where he held several positions as racing secretary.

The same source indicated that Art Hagen, who has served as publicity and public relations director for both Hazel Park runners and trotters, turned in his resignation shortly after the 1971 meeting.

Hagen was disturbed when the racing season was extended and more than once indicated he didn't want to handle racing into the middle of December. As far as our informant knew, Art has resigned from the duties for the runners, we haven't been able to learn if he also gave up the trotters. A formal announcement will probably be made in the near future.

ALTHOUGH neither track is setting the world on fire as far as attendance and handle is concerned, both Jackson-Northville and Windsor Raceway officials announced increases in purses during the past few days.

Despite the fact that Jackson-Northville appears to have solved the problems with the racing strip, attendance hasn't climbed as much as President and General Manager Leon Slavin had hoped.

Wagering and turnstile count on the weekends has been excellent with both crowd and mutuel handle at near record highs last Saturday. The story was just about the same on the first Friday night of the winter meeting.

But inclement weather, slippery roads, snow and sleet and the like have held down the crowds during the remainder of the week.

On the other hand, Windsor's action has been growing and nightly figures show the track across the river is widening the difference between the attendance and handle in Canada and at Jackson-Northville.

GERRY BANFIELD, of Farmington, who has been having his troubles at the Northville meeting, finally broke loose as most every close follower of the sport thought ... he had a back to back three bagger earlier in the week. His first of the year but we know that it won't be his last.

Gerry is considered one of the better reinsmen at the meeting but he just couldn't get under the wire first ... then three in a row. What a way to snap a slump.

IT WAS JUST a week ago that we criticized drivers and trainers at Jackson-Northville for threatening to call off the races at 8 p.m. on a Wednesday night.

It was a night when the racing strip was slick and icy, making conditions rather hazardous.

We said then and say now that the drivers' committee shouldn't have waited until 8 o'clock, after the crowd had gathered and was seated in the stands awaiting the first race, to start talk about a cancellation.

We watched horses jog on the racing strip from as early as 6 p.m. apparently without trouble. It is our contention that the drivers owe it to the public to register complaints early enough so that if the races are called off, arrangements can be made to let the public know ... not have people drive from distant points, pay admission and parking fees and then get the bad news.

In this instance, the races were delayed more than an hour and then started after the track had been salted. We believe the public, which actually pays the bills, is entitled to advance notice.

The reason for reviewing the situation is that we have received a letter from Charles Mullvihill, of Livonia, complaining of our comments.

His letter follows. It presents another side of the picture that we feel sure those who follow the pacers and trotters will be interested in.

Dear Doc Minard:
Being a harness horseman, I have enjoyed your section in the Observer until I read the latest one, the weekend ending Jan. 8-9.

Apparently you know very little about horse racing and practically nothing from the horseman's standpoint. If you had been over at Northville that night and slid around on the ice I would like to see how you would like to put your $5,000-$10,000 investment out on it.

It is the duty of the track maintenance to keep the race track in good racing condition, not to sit up in the coffee shop all day as he did. In Chicago, the maintenance crew is out on the track from six in the morning, keeping the track in the best condition possible and in the dead of winter.

Yes, we want winter racing but the track must do the job also. I hope this teaches the track a lesson and makes them fulfill their responsibility.

Winter racing is hard enough without endangering the horse and driver. But maybe Mr. Slavin doesn't care. The only work I ever see over at Northville that night was the great job they did in the parking lot, clearing off the snow for the fans. Let's face it. We all need each other in putting on a good meet whether winter or summer.

Your comment that the horses were out working on the track all day was also in error. Very few horsemen worked their horses that day, you see there is a difference in working a horse and jogging a horse.

Light jogging was all that was done that day. A trainer would have had to be crazy to work a horse over that race track.

I suggest you try to get all the facts next time before you base your opinions.

Sincerely yours,
CHARLES MULLVHILL

Undefeated Stevenson skated to its fifth hockey win in a 6-2 romp over Southfield. Spartan captain Frank Geluso, scored the hat trick with two of his scores giving Stevenson a 2-0 lead in the first period.

John Restum, Brian Van Norman, and Kurt Geiger also scored in the Stevenson assault. Stevenson has outscored its opponents in the five games, 26-8.

Southfield's goals came in the third period with Marty Kehoe and Pete Nemish spoiling a Spartan bid for a shutout.

Stevenson goalie Dave Swierpel kicked out 14 shots while Blue Jay netminder Craig Soubilliere was bombarded with 31 shots, coming up with 25 saves.

SOUTHFIELD has failed to break into the win column and sits with an 0-8 record, but Blue Jay Coach Art Carinci sees an improvement in his team's style of play and is hopeful in the remaining half of the season.

Churchill scored its third win against two losses and one tie, in a 4-2 victory over Austin. Churchill outshot Austin, 31-17, with Charger goalies Mike Merrill and Tom Hoyer turning in brilliant performances.

The Chargers opened the first period with two quick goals with Bob Rion and Brad Berger scoring.

AUSTIN bounced back later in the period on scores by Steve Lindsey and Jim Gotfredson and the game was notched at 2-2 going into the second period.

Churchill's Mark DeRoche took charge in the third period with two goals on assists by Dale McIntosh and Dick Saranen.

Franklin dropped its fourth game in a close 3-2 battle with Lahser. The Patriots outshot Lahser, 29-25, but couldn't get the puck past goalie John Rogowski.

FRANKLIN took the lead with only seven seconds elapsed with Doug Cumming scoring on a pass from Ken Karpczuk. Lahser tied the contest at 3:35 on a score by Dave Winkler.

Mark Allen scored for Franklin at 6:14 and the Patriots enjoyed a first period, 2-1 edge. Lahser scored twice in the second on goals by Winkler and Gary Thayer of hold a 3-2 edge with the final period ahead.

Franklin outshot Lahser in the third period, 8-7, but the Patriots couldn't turn the goal light on and fell to their fourth defeat.

Franklin stands 1-4 overall.

Lutheran East Halts Yellowjacket Streak

A 25-game winning streak ended at Country Day.

The Yellowjacket cagers won 25 consecutive regular season basketball games before meeting Lutheran East, and it took an overtime period, but Country Day fell, 64-63.

The Yellowjackets outscored Lutheran East in the fourth quarter, 16-8, and the score was notched at 60-60 at the end of regulation play, forcing a three-minute overtime.

There was no scoring until the 2:44 mark of the overtime period. With 16 seconds remaining, Todd Rich hit on a three point play and Country Day was up, 63-60.

Lutheran East came back with a quick basket, but with nine seconds remaining,

Country Day had a 63-62 lead and the ball.

SCOTT FREEBAIRN was fouled for Country Day but missed on two from the line. The second shot rebound came out long, and Lutheran East's Denny Lockhart grab the ball ... took three dribbles ... let go with a 41-foot shot, and the final buzzer sounded.

"It was unbelievable," said Yellowjacket Coach John Hannett. "The ball swished through the hoop and we lost by one point."

"I just couldn't believe it! After the game I went out on the court and measured the distance of that last shot and it was 41 feet!"

"I don't think anybody on the squad went to sleep that night," added Hannett.

"Everybody replayed the game 1,000 times over again."

COUNTRY DAY went up 16-13 in the first quarter but was outscored in the second quarter and trailed at the half, 30-27.

"Lutheran East outscored us, 8-0, in the last minute of the half," said Hannett.

Lutheran East spurred to a 52-44 third quarter lead as the Yellowjackets were forced into turnover after turnover.

"We have been averaging six turnovers per game, and here we total 27 against Lutheran East," said Hannett. "That tells the story of the game."

The Yellowjackets were down by as much as 11 early in the final stanza, but came back with a 16-point output to only eight by East in the quarter and the score was tied 60-60 at the end of regulation time.

LUTHERAN EAST outscored Country Day, 4-3, in the overtime period, and the Yellowjacket 25 game win streak was halted.

Freebairn led all scorers for Country with 22 points. Randy Field and Rich followed in the Yellowjacket lineup with 15 and 16 points respectively. Lockhart led Lutheran East with 15 points.

COUNTRY DAY hit on 24 of 57 from the floor and totaled 49 rebounds with Tommy Kirkpatrick collecting 10.

"Well, the pressure is off now," added Hannett. "And we can work on our 5-1 season now."

The Yellowjackets host Clawson Tuesday.

Trojans Bomb Brighton, 89-57

Clarenceville exploded for 30 points in the fourth quarter to topple Brighton, 89-57, for its fifth cage win.

The Trojans stand 5-1 overall and travel to Andover Friday for a Wayne-Oakland clash.

CLARENCEVILLE jumped to an early 8-0 lead with Jim Hover scoring the opening bucket. Brighton rebounded in the quarter but the Trojans held a 17-14 first quarter edge.

Hover popped in 19 for Clarenceville in the second quarter as the Trojans outscored Brighton, 25-16, to take a 42-30 halftime advantage. Clarenceville held a 17-15 edge in the third quarter and exploded for 30 points in the final quarter to walk away with an easy 89-57 win.

Ferndale Topples Birmingham Groves

Birmingham Groves suffered its fifth set-back in a 55-51 cage loss to Ferndale, as the Falcons came close many times in the third and fourth quarters but just couldn't score the key basket, and now stand 1-5 with the lone win a 57-56 edging over Oak Park. Ferndale jumped on Groves in the first quarter, 16-8, and held a commanding 30-23 halftime lead.

couldn't break into the game," said Groves Coach Al Vordermark.

Ferndale shot 36 per cent from the floor and Groves scored a 38 per cent average. Groves went 0-6 from the free-throw line in the second half and missed on a scoring opportunity late in the game with the score 53-51 in favor of Ferndale.

Lindsay Miller led in scoring for Groves with 14 points followed by Don Larsen with 13 and Scott Batchelor with 12.

GUARDED CLOSE -- Trojan Jim Hover (12) is closely watched by Brighton's Jim Wood. Hover scored 20 in Clarenceville's 89-57 win over Brighton. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

Falcons Score Overtime Win

Farmington scored its fourth basketball win in a 67-66 overtime win against rival North Farmington. Falcon Dan Lekovich scored four points in the final minutes of the overtime period to give Farmington a one-point victory.

Farmington stands 4-5 overall while the Raiders from North sit on a 2-7 record.

The two Farmington schools battled to a 12-12 first quarter score with Dave Ellsworth hitting for eight points in the Raider attack.

Farmington exploded for 23 points in the second quarter with Lekovich totaling 12. Lekovich led all scorers with 28 points, and the Falcons took a 35-28 halftime lead. Farmington led at the three quarters, 52-45, but North fought back with Louie Doot hitting on a short jumper in the final seconds to tie the game at the end of regulation play, 61-61.

Tim Parker put North in front, 63-61, on two free-throws to open the three-minute overtime. Dennis Hagen hit a field goal for Farmington and the score was tied, 63-63.

SHAWN McCrum put North back in the lead on a two-pointer, but Lekovich hit on two straight buckets, and the Falcons were up, 67-65, with one minute remaining. McCrum was fouled for North Farmington and hit on one of two from the line and the Raiders trailed 67-66.

With 34 seconds left on the clock, Farmington's Jeff Baker failed on a one-and-one situation, and North Farmington had the ball. The Raiders worked for a good shot but 6-3 junior forward Bill Marra deflected a Jim Fredericks shot wide of the mark and Farmington was on top, 67-66.

Hagan and Joe Montgomery joined Lekovich in the double figure scoring for Farmington with 10 points each.

North had five players in double figures with Fredericks leading with 16 total. Ellsworth and Parker collected 14. McCrum added 12 and Doot picked up 10.

"It was an exciting finish with us (Farmington) being ahead at the final buzzer," said Falcon Coach Ray Boyle.

Farmington travels to Pontiac Northern Friday while North hosts Thurston in a Northwest Suburban clash.

THE RIVERFRONT stadium will be enclosed under a dome 872 feet in diameter with an open plaza under the rim.

Best Stadium Features 18,000 Portable Seats

By W. W. EDGAR

The long-awaited domed stadium, now virtually assured for the Detroit riverfront, will be the envy of multi-millionaire John E. Fetzer, owner of the Detroit Tigers, for it.

Flanked by Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs and Tom Adams, chairman of the Wayne County Stadium Authority, when he announced the signing of a 40-year lease, the Tiger chief emphasized: "This will be the best stadium of its kind in the country, and you can be assured of that."

Amid the cheers of several hundred guests at the Tigers' annual press party, he added:

"I waited a long time before deciding on the long term lease. I wanted to make sure it was the best thing for Detroit and our loyal fans. I have that assurance now and faith in the future to make the stadium the envy of the world."

TO BE BUILT at an approximate cost of $126 million, the stadium will have a seating capacity of 52,000 for baseball and 62,000 for football.

"Among the features of the facility," Adams explained, "aside from the permanent dome, will be a section of 18,000 portable seats."

"We will be able to move these seats in close to the permanent stands," he pointed out, "to provide the same intimacy the fans now enjoy at Tiger Stadium."

"These special seats will be built on a platform that can be wheeled around, and the flexibility of the seating arrangement is the latest concept of sports stadia. We will have the first."

ACCORDING TO the present timetable, the State Legislature is expected to pass the measure this month that will funnel a percentage of race track revenue into the stadium fund. This, along with a county hotel-motel tax of five per cent on accommodations, will be the basis on which the revenue bonds will be offered for sale.

"We expect to go to the bond market late in February," Adams announced. "If we're successful in the sale, ground can be broken some time late in March."

The facility, which will be just west of Cobo Hall, will require three years to build and is expected to be ready for occupancy in 1975.

"And we'll be in it the first day it is ready," Tiger Owner Fetzer promised.

FETZER'S SURPRISE announcement of the lease signing immediately brought up the status of Tiger Stadium, for years recognized as one of the better ball parks in the country.

"Our present stadium is fast deteriorating," Fetzer said. "It had to go some time. It might just as well be now — or as soon as the riverfront stadium is built — and I am all enthused about the move."

No figures were announced regarding the rental, but it was learned that the rate was set on an average daily attendance of 27,000.

No mention was made of having the Detroit Lions as a tenant, either, but Adams admitted, "I wouldn't be a bit surprised to get a phone call."

THERE'S A LOT MORE TO BASEBALL THAN BASE HITS! Fetzer pointed out after making official announcement of his decision. "A big, new beautiful stadium, for the enjoyment of fans from all over the state, is something that Detroit has needed and this will be another jewel along the river to take its place with Cobo Hall, Cobo Arena and Ford Auditorium."

The Tiger owner and Adams revealed that they had made a survey of all the new stadiums in the country — Atlanta, Dallas, Houston and Washington D.C.

The best features of these facilities will be combined with the best of the later innovations in the riverfront facility.

"Whether the Lions join with us now is a bit beside the point," Adams said.

"We will have synthetic turf, portable seats and areas where major bowling tournaments and basketball can be accommodated."

While waiting any favorable action on the part of the Detroit Lions, who have a contract with the City of Pontiac, in a proposed stadium, Adams let it be known that he is planning football exhibition games and even entertaining the possibility of having a franchise in the Canadian Football League.

"Those things will have to wait," he smiled in company with the mayor and the Tiger boss, "until we get to the bond market and have the bond sold."

"Once that is accomplished, you'll see some real action."

ANNOUNCING THE stadium deal is Thomas Adams, chairman of the Wayne County Stadium Authority, flanked by Detroit Mayor

Toys Geared To Baby Won't Cause Frustration

Why do babies grow into adolescents who so puzzle their parents? Part of the answer may lie in the popular fallacies and half truths to which parents subscribe to which parents subscribe to when they care.

Most parents know that ignoring an infant's cries will lead him away from seeking attention by crying; but sometimes we fail to realize that if only the shrillest cries are attended to, the child is likely to increase the loudness of his cries.

We buy mobiles to entertain the new baby but fail to realize the startling fact that infants can't see the mobiles floating high over their heads.

Isn't it fun to give baby a rattle? Not for baby. It's a fact that the rattle can be extremely frustrating. At first the infant gets frustrated because he doesn't know how to let go of the handle, and later - when he drops the rattle - he's bothered because it is difficult if not impossible for him to locate it and pick it up again.

DR. BURTON L. WHITE, director of the Harvard Pre-School Project, who has spent more than 10 years researching normal infants' behavior in home environment, deserves the credit for recognizing both the unsuitability of rattles for infants and the fact that traditional mobiles positioned high over the crib are unsatisfactory, since an infant can perceive objects only six to eight inches away, and generally keeps his head facing sideways.

Dr. White also found that: Establishing meaningful direction for a baby's life style may begin as early as the third week of life.

Scientific-planned stimulation can help infants to realize their fullest potential.

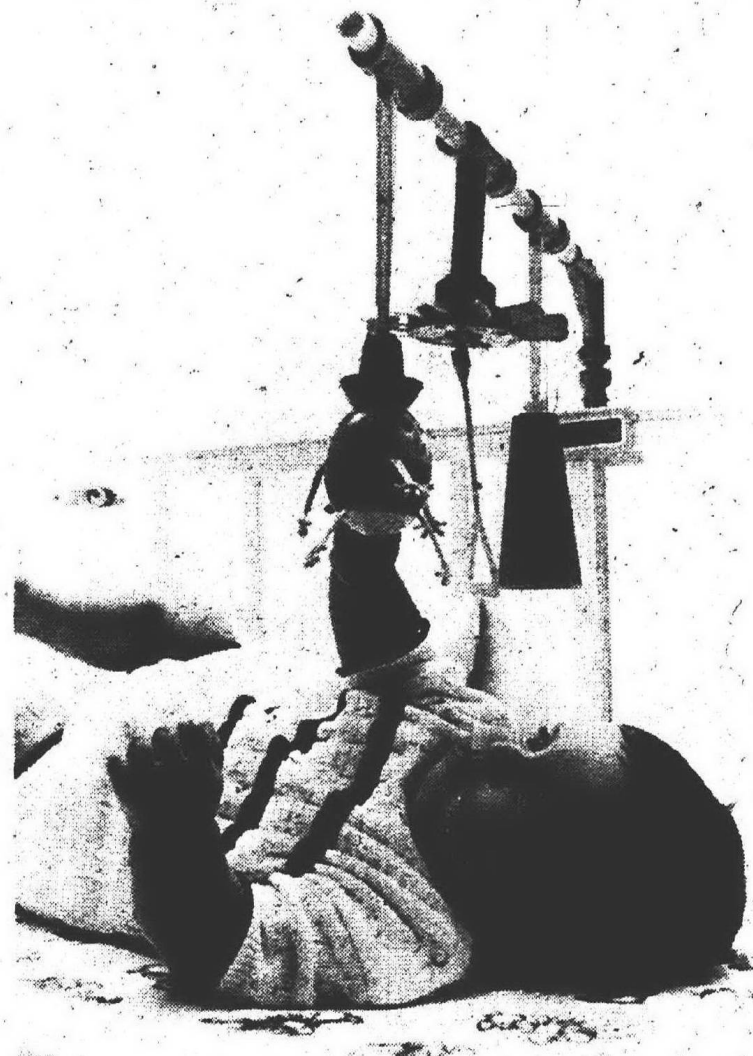

Psychologically enriched surroundings can give baby a significant headstart in fun and learning through play.

What was needed, Dr. White concluded, was a progressive series of toys, precisely adapted to baby's fast changing capabilities, designed to help him develop the habit of being alert, confident and inquisitive.

NOT CONTENT with wishing that such toys would exist, the distinguished Harvard researcher decided to do it himself. Working in cooperation with a leading toy innovator, he created and tested a series of toys for babies from three weeks to three months, and another series for babies from three months to eight months.

A key point in Dr. White's approach to achieving more enjoyment and education for infants through play is the precise positioning on a stand affixed to the crib, adjusted to the infant's limited area of vision, reach and preferred head position at different stages of development.

For infants from three to 10 weeks Dr. White developed bat and feel toys which provide a variety of tactile experience, encourage reaching and grasping.

Another innovation, faces and forms mobiles, have colorful designs on the underside for baby - not adults - to see.

BETWEEN NINE and 14 weeks Dr. White adds a whimsical elephant, soft to the touch; and a baby image mirror of unbreakable plastic, which is positioned at an angle that gives the infant the best view of himself.

For three to eight months Dr. White has developed a second series of play things to help baby achieve his full potential. This series provides a color play windmill which teaches cause and effect action when baby pulls the handle. Play chimes and a trapeze type teether and exerciser are added for baby's enjoyment. At eight months a stirrup-like strap is attached to the crib rail to help baby learn to sit up.

To increase enjoyment and proficiency in kicking, a bouncy rabbit is attached to the end of the crib by wide strips of canvas.

"When these toys are used most infants spend hours studying them and enjoying them; they respond with increased tactile and visual exploration," said Dr. White.

"When these toys are used, most infants spend hours studying them and enjoying them; they respond with increased tactile and visual exploration," said Dr. White.

"Although no long term predictions can be made from present data, our current testing program and related research indicate that significant growth landmarks such as visual discovery of hands and mastery of their use are achieved sooner."

Episcopalian Outreach Benefits Animals Too

Animals as well as people benefit from the Church of the Holy Spirit's community outreach program.

The Episcopal church located on Cowan Road in Westland makes a point of sponsoring a major outreach project each month.

So this month, a hundred members headed out to Proud Lake State Recreation Area and used 3,000 old Christmas trees to build a shelter for the small animals in the park.

Members of the church had read in The Observer about a similar project carried out by Emc on Junior High School students who worked with Hartle, Winton, Proud Lake naturalists and Hank Chruseia. "the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn.

"AT FIRST we considered the idea as a youth group project," said Everett Doehr of Livonia, who headed the work. "Then we realized it would be better to involve the whole church."

Many members contributed their discarded Christmas trees. They had to be absolutely clear of tinsel, Thornton told them.

That wasn't enough, so a committee telephoned owners of lots with trees left over from Christmas sales. They procured enough to fill three 40-foot flatbed trucks that were donated by C. VanBoxell of Transportation, Inc., Lincoln Park, for the haul to the recreation area.

Out at the park, the church people first put down some small tile pipes. Thornton explained to them that these would give runways for small animals so they could hide from larger predators.

Over the tile were piled the Christmas trees.

THE WHOLE SHELTER is about 50 feet in diameter and six feet high, Doehr estimated. The underneath parts will decompose by next year, he added, and new trees can be added then.

When the work was finished, women of the church served chili, hot dogs, coffee and hot chocolate, picnic style.

Several entire families went along on the ecology project.

and the church's pastor, the Rev. Jack Savage, was in there pitching Christmas trees.

Ken Duran was in charge of transportation for the project, and Mrs. Mary Wollens headed the food detail. A Milford farmer, Roger Nesholm, donated the use of his tractor and hay wagon.

And back at the church, located just east of the Westland shopping center, there's a chance another shelter may soon be built, Doehr said. About 1,500 trees were left over, so the young people of the church may see what they can do for the animal life of Westland.

A sculpture by a Livonia artist will be dedicated Sunday, Jan. 16, as part of centennial services in St. Paul Evangelical Lutheran Church, 17810 Farmington Road, Livonia.

The art work is a representation of lambs and a shepherd, and it is located in the lobby of the new St. Paul school.

Created by Don Hanes, a member of the St. Paul congregation, it was commissioned by Mrs. Vera Schuessler, choir director for the church, and her family, in memory of her husband and daughter.

Dedication is planned during a special Sunday School service at 9:45 a.m. on the Sunday that marks the 100th anniversary of the first St. Paul congregational meeting in Livonia. The Rev. W.F. Koelpin, pastor, will officiate.

Two church services, at 8:30 and 11 a.m., will feature sermons by the Rev. Karl Krauss, who was Michigan District president of the Evangelical Lutheran Church when members of St. Paul called their first resident pastor in 1940.

Also part of the centennial services will be two anthems by the senior choir directed by Mrs. Schuessler. The 40-voice group will sing the "Halleluia Chorus" from Beethoven's "Mount of Olives" and "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," by Liddle.

The St. Paul Ladies Aid will serve a full-course Sunday dinner in the gymnasium fellowship hall after the second service.

The final event of Centennial Sunday will be a concert at 7:30 p.m. by the male chorus from Wisconsin Lutheran Seminary, under direction of Professor Martin Albrecht, with refreshments served by the church young peoples' society.

Kol Ami Dinner Is Jan. 15

Mrs. Helene Steinberg of Farmington is chairman of a gourmet potluck supper being held Saturday, Jan. 15, by members of Temple Kol Ami.

Assisting her is Mrs. Jan Gitlin of Walled Lake. Theme of the dinner is Dvorak's "New World Symphony."

The gourmet dinner series was begun three years ago. Burton Holland of Oak Park, new to the area, hoped that he and his wife would soon make new friends. He suggested the idea of drawing names from a hat and assigning people to be guests at a dinner party.

Today the series consists of three subscription dinners. The hostess supplies the main dish and the guests bring appropriate side dishes, wines and desserts.

Because subscribers dine at a different house with different guests each time (the committee sees to this), each member of the congregation is sure to have dined with at least 30 temple members in the course of a winter. Out of this series has grown a Temple Kol Ami cook book which has become a successful fund raiser.

Will Speak

Two speakers from the Self Help Addiction Rehabilitation (SHAR) House will be at St. John Lutheran Church, 13542 Mercedes, Redford Township on Sunday evening, Jan. 16, to discuss drug abuse.

The seminar will begin at 7:30.

The two are young ex-drug addicts who are going through the rehabilitation program.

Greek Orthodox Church Starting In Livonia

A new Greek Orthodox church is being formed in the Observer area and will hold its first services Sunday, Jan. 16.

A mission chapel of Sts. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, 4801 Oakman, Detroit, will locate for the present in the Livonia Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 15956 Middlebelt.

The Rev. Peter Remondos will be in charge of the first chapel service, scheduled at 10 a.m., and various members of the Sts. Constantine and Helen staff will preach on succeeding Sundays.

Father Remondos said about 50 to 60 families from his parish are living in this area. "The chapel is being started to serve them better," he added.

A full religious and social program, including Sunday School for the children and a religious education program, is planned for the new church, Father Remondos said.

God Squad To Give Concert In Livonia

The God Squad, a group of young people from area Churches of Christ, will give a concert at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Jan. 16, in the Kenwood Church of Christ, 20200 Merriman, Livonia.

The group meets regularly for rehearsals in South Redford Church of Christ and is available for concerts on weekends. Anyone interested in having them perform should contact the church, 26505 W. Chicago, Redford Township.

The group was first formed two years ago to sing the gospel songs of today in an effort to identify with the problems of youth as well as give new food for thought to people of all ages.

The singers are sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nichols of South Redford. The music director is Karen Kitchen.

Membership includes Marvin Courtney, Rosann Harris, Patsy Clemence, Randy Kitchen, Robby Reighard, Melody Hollingsworth, Susan Clemence, Gary Kitchen, Frank May, Nora Courtney, Pam St. Louis, Mark St. Louis, Becky Woll, Penny Nichols, Mike Church, Scott Nichols, Cheryl Kitchen, Connie Dziubek, Mark Harris and Joe Culpe.

Randy Kitchen is the president and accordionist of the group. Gary Kitchen is the guitarist and Mark St. Louis is the vice president and pianist. Penny Nichols is secretary-treasurer.

Following in the footsteps of women in churches down the centuries, members of Girl Scout Junior Troop 573 in Farmington now can call themselves "Handmaidens of the Lord."

That's the name they gave to the troop badge they designed, completed and recently were awarded in a special mass in Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church.

To earn the badge, 26 girls took turns taking over the chores regularly performed by women in OLS Altar Society, which sponsors the Girl Scout troop.

THEY WORKED with their mothers Saturday mornings, cleaning, dusting and waxing the sacristy, cleaning the confessionals, laying out vestments for Sunday mass.

In performing these tasks, they also had to check the colors of the day for the vestments. Thus they learned about the color symbolism for the church seasons.

The Girl Scout program makes provision for a troop to design and fulfill requirements for its own badge. Troop 573 members wanted to build theirs around a project that would be of service to their church and add to their own knowledge.

They also aimed to set up the requirements so they could be carried out in churches of other denominations.

When they had finished, they also did the embroidery work on the badges. Their

Lutheran Church Of Risen Christ Sets Folk Service

The Cross of Christ singers, a high school group from Bloomfield Hills, will lead a folk service at 7 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 16, in the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ, 46250 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth.

The 30 young people come from the Cross of Christ Lutheran Church and were organized by the Rev. Walther Klenke, minister of education and youth there.

They have appeared in several area churches and last summer sang for the Lutheran Laymen's League Convention in Washington.

The Rev. Kenneth E. Zielke, pastor of the Plymouth church, said the public is invited to participate in the folk service.

"The singers have a special talent and a unique desire," he said.

"They exist for two reasons—first, they enjoy singing and fellowship with each other, and second and most important, they are committed to spread the message of Christ's love and salvation through songs and personal testimony."

Zionism Will Be Discussed

Rabbi Sherwin Wine will discuss "Zionism and Humanism" at 8:30 p.m. services, Friday, Jan. 21, in the Birmingham Temple, 26611 W. 12 Mile, Farmington.

Fr. Dombrowski will celebrate his mass of thanksgiving on Sunday, Jan. 23, at 3 p.m., in St. Hilary Church. A formal reception will be held in Roma Hall, Livonia, with Lawrence Olek as toastmaster. What's More Enjoyable Than Bending An Ear To A Smooth Auctioneer

"And now ladies and gentlemen, what am I offered for this antique rug beater? As you can see it doesn't look like much but one never knows when a rug beater will come in handy.

"Only a thin dime!! Come, come folks, we're going to have to do better than this. I won't be able to have a hearty breakfast at this rate and I'm one who likes to start the day with a hearty breakfast."

For a different kind of entertainment, a kind that isn't available anywhere else, one must drive to Lanny's Antique Auction in an old red barn on old Grand River a mile south of Novi.

Lanny, who actually is Observerland's counterpart of television's Don Rickles, attracts hordes of antique seekers every Saturday night.

But in addition to the prospective buyers, he draws others who get more entertainment from Lanny and his auctioneering than they would in a night club.

There's one sure way to shake the blues and the doldrums and that's to get out to Lanny's auction early on a Saturday evening and listen to his chatter.

He's more than auctioneer, he's a spellbinder and he weaves such a spell that many who came out to watch suddenly find themselves walking out of the red barn with articles under their arms they never intended to purchase.

Antiquing is intriguing and for hundreds in the area it is one way of shaking out of the shell and keeping so busy they don't have time to worry about anything.

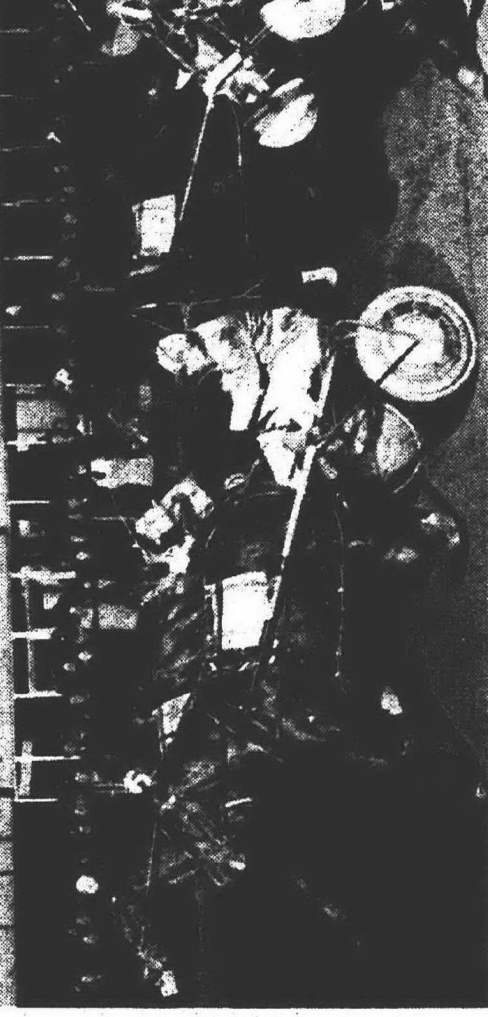

For those who like to browse around and who are looking for antiques, there are three major areas in Observerland. Each has more than enough shops to keep one on the go, hopping from shop to shop.

Unusual antique shops are to be found in Plymouth, Northville and Novi. Shops where one can purchase anything from 25 cents to several hundred dollars, depending on what one is seeking.

You can get an old rug beater for as little as 50 cents and you can find ancient frames, chairs, tables, commodes and the like that need some work.

And as many antique lovers are wont to say, "there is no better way to work off frustrations than to work on an antique piece of furniture or an old frame and gradually turn something that looks like nothing into a beautiful thing."

But for fun, relaxation and a night to remember... hop into your jalopy and drive out to the old red barn on old Grand River north of Farmington and south of Novi and listen to the Lanny. His words of wisdom and his auctioneering will send you home rejoicing.

"THERE THEY GO!" That's the cue to a night to remember at the races... the pacers and trotters who are competing on these cold wintry nights at Northville Downs. No need to watch the "tube" when you can drive to Northville and watch racing under the best possible conditions. You can dine and drink in the ultra modern glass enclosed, heated clubhouse which also has a wagering ring if you are so inclined. Then there's the glass enclosed grandstand alongside the clubhouse with plenty of seats and ample parking. Take a look at this finish... that's the story of practically every race. As to accommodations, note the crowd watching the race. The fans are inside, sitting in suit clothes and perfectly warm. The horses are outside but a bit of cold doesn't bother them at all. Where else can one have a full evening of entertainment, dine and wine, watch the excitement of the fans as the horses near the finish line and then go out and drive home without any worries... only at the harness races. You won't have time to worry about the "blahs" when watching the pacers and trotters.

Hit The Trail

With the most snowmobiles of any state Michigan will provide more places for them to run this winter than ever before.

"With almost all state parks now opened to snowmobiles, plus improvement of state and national forest trails, the 1971-72 season should be the best yet for Michigan snowmobilers," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club's touring manager.

Besides the trails and land which were accessible to snow machines last year, the Department of Natural Resources has opened 65 of its 76 state parks to snowmobile use, as compared to 30 open last year.

A four-inch depth of snow has been established as a snowmobiling minimum however, and all parks, especially those in southern Michigan, recommend checking ahead by phone for correct conditions and open areas.

The state parks located near Observerland are: Brighton, Island Lake (near Brighton), Proud Lake (near Milford), Highland (near Milford), Dodge Brothers No. 4 (near Pontiac), Pontiac, Holly, Ortonville, Metamora Hadley (near Metamora), Bald Mountain (near Lake Orion), Rochester-Utica, Lakeport (near Port Huron) and Pinckney.

One of the combination trails, open to the public, begins on M-28, west of Strong's and covers 45 to 50 miles.

The other, laid out in cooperation with the Brimley Bay Flyers Snowmobile Club of Brimley, begins in that town and encompasses some 40 miles.

Head For Slopes

In heavily skied Southeast Michigan, most operators have expanded slopes, lifts and day lodges to cope with larger crowds.

A brand new lodge and cocktail lounge are featured at Mt. Holly along with a new intermediate hill. Alpine Valley, near Milford, offers two new beginner's hills equipped with chairlifts.

The entire lodge at Pine Knob, near Clarkston, has been remodeled to a level even more plush than last year.

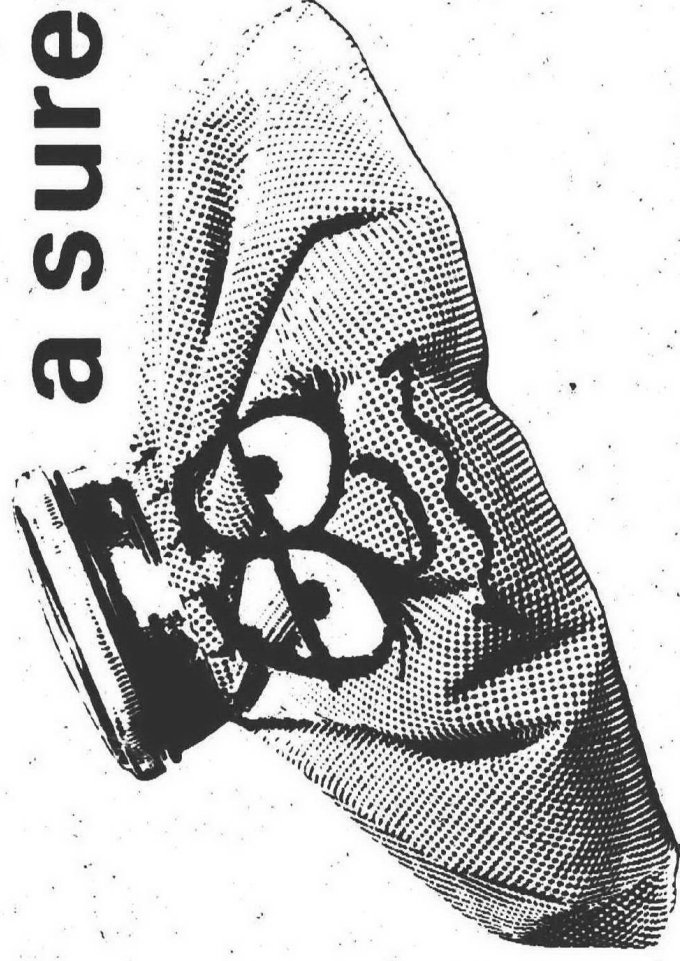

The Southeast Michigan area includes six of the 16 ski areas across Michigan which now offer night skiing. Each of these six also has snowmaking machines to augment natural snowfall.

One of the most rapidly spreading facilities of many ski centers is baby-sitting service. Presently Mt. Brighton offers trained personnel to care for youngsters as parents take to the slopes.

With economical meals at a Southeast Michigan ski-area cafeteria and sleeping at home, an Observerland couple can spend a weekend on the slopes for about $50. Those persons who want to stay at a lodge in northern Michigan can find a weekend costing up to $200 per couple.

Chop A Hole

America's number 1 fish doesn't rest during the cold of winter. He's ready, willing and able to satisfy the more rugged fisherman that partakes of ice fishing for perch. When those taste buds crave fish just high tail it to some secluded lake, chop yourself a hole and fill your pail with the best eating fish of all.

DON ELLIS, composer of the score for "The French Connection," will appear at Clarenceville this season.

Clarenceville Swings

Snow and sleet can add up to the winter "blahs." But a perfect way to beat the blahs is to visit Clarenceville's Schmidt Auditorium.

From a modest beginning with a summer film festival in 1968, the Clarenceville Entertainment Series has grown until today it offers the finest professional entertainment at modest prices. Students and adults who couldn't afford to drop $40 in a nightclub to hear (say) Buddy Rich were able to hear him for $2.50 in the auditorium at 20155 Middle Belt, Livonia.

Tickets rarely exceed $3 for the break-even ventures, and most children's prices are kept at 50 cents.

This Sunday (Jan. 16) the offering will be the Brookside Jazz Ensemble of Cranbrook, featuring vocalist Ursula Walker.

Later offerings will be such jazz greats as Maynard Ferguson, who has never before toured the midwest, and Don Ellis, who composed the musical score for the excellent film "The French Connection."

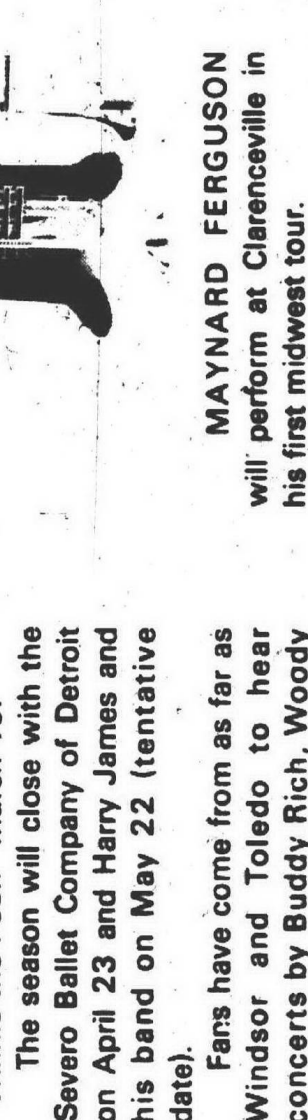

For the children, Wayne State University Theater will present "The Emperor's New Clothes," Feb. 6, and the University of Detroit Performing Arts Group will offer "Winnie the Pooh" March 19.

The season will close with the Severo Ballet Company of Detroit on April 23 and Harry James and his band on May 22 (tentative date).

Fans have come from as far as Windsor and Toledo to hear concerts by Buddy Rich, Woody Herman and Stan Kenton. Musicians, for their part, like the audiences, too. Kenton recently phoned Clarenceville's Mrs. Midge Ellis, jazz chairman, from California to tell her he and his band regarded their appearance here (Nov. 14-15) as one of their highlights of 1971.

And so Clarenceville, named for a 19th century pioneer farmer, has become a kind of mecca for professional entertainment -- the only suburban spot for miles which offers that caliber of music, drama and the dance.

Maynard Ferguson in his first midwest tour.

Need A Lift? Olympia Has The Program

There isn't any time to mope and groan about the dull winter months if you follow the weekly schedule of events at Olympia Stadium.

Olympia may be a bit on the quiet side in the summer but it certainly is a jumping place during the fall, winter and early spring.

You name it... hockey, wrestling, boxing, roller derby, colorful ice skating shows, the latest and loudest of the bands, the nation's most popular singing groups, outstanding performances by world renowned, well trained, unusual horse shows, battles between tennis champions from every part of the globe as well as every other event that is available during the busy winter season.

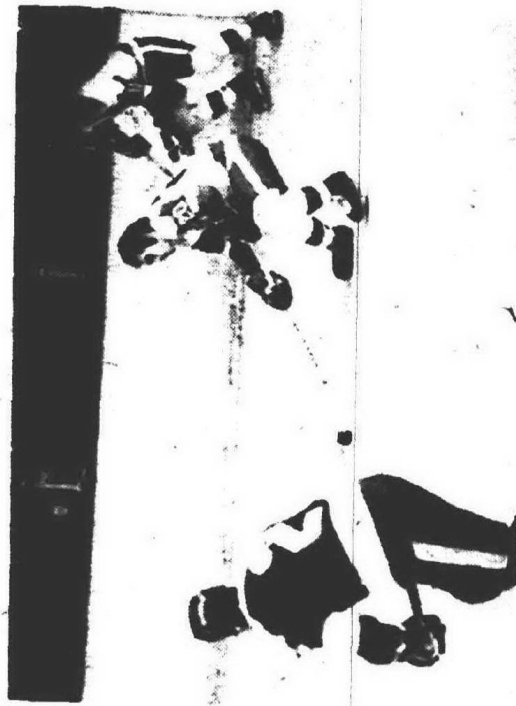

Naturally, Olympia features the activities of its two hockey teams... the Red Wings of the National Hockey League and the Junior Red Wings, who compete in the strongest international junior circuit.

The Wings are red hot this season after a slow start and the Junior Red Wings are going stronger than ever after advancing into the Ontario provincial semifinals last spring.

The roller derby is something else. Detroit now has a team playing at Olympia and if you want action and thrills, the kind that will have you buzzing all the way home, then spend an evening watching the male and female stars literally tear each other apart.

For excitement, action, thrills and a big lift from the "blahs" take a look at the weekly Olympia schedule... you'll soon find there isn't any time to get the winter blues.

MAGIC MAKER-- Mickey Mouse turns magician in his "Sorcerer's Apprentice" act and musician in "Mickey's Revue," two of the nine all-new and different production numbers in the 1972 edition of "Disney On Parade," the 2 1/2 hour live stage musical opening at Olympia Stadium on Tuesday, Feb. 15 for 10 performances.

NEVER A DULL MOMENT at the Detroit Red Wing hockey games at Olympia Stadium. If you want to get out of the doldrums and revive that youthful feeling during the winter, take in some of the Red Wing contests. Detroit is on the rebound after a sad season last year and currently has the longest winning streak in a long time.

NEWLY FORMED Detroit Bucks make Olympia their home. They can be seen on January 21, February 4, February 11, and February 25. All games begin at 7:30 p.m.

Head For The Show ...Then The Road

Think about how it would be to put your home on wheels and see some of this great country of ours.

Thousands of people have discovered the fun of campers and trailers. As one leading travel trailer manufacturer's brochure so nicely puts it:

"If solid state doesn't get you first...solid comfort will."

Gone are the days of dinky rooms and "ooops, sorry, I'll turn around first." The look in campers has become one of solidity. Solid walls, roof, and windows that give added months to camping.

There are camping trailers for much less than the cost of a late model automobile, which come equipped with stainless steel sinks, an abundance of storage space, refrigerators, ranges, drapes, and all the comforts of home.

Perhaps what is just about as much fun as taking off for parts unknown is shopping for this summer home on wheels. There are all makes and models -- just the thing to perk up flagging spirits and change your feelings about life.

Michigan has a tremendous number of campsites and camping facilities. State parks alone provide about 12,500 sites and there are thousands more available in state and national forests -- often more primitive, but then many people prefer to camp in solitude and get away from modern life for a while.

In addition, more than 300 privately owned campgrounds provide thousands more excellent campsites. Many of these campgrounds have swimming pools and recreational facilities.

Information about campsites is available from the Michigan Tourist Council, the Automobile Club of Michigan, and from privately published directories available in libraries.

And -- of course -- you can get such information at the Camper and Travel Trailer Show where some 800 campers and trailers will be on display at the fifth annual Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show, from Saturday, Feb. 19, through Sunday, Feb. 27, in the Detroit Artillery Armory on W. Eight Mile Road.
