Smell Of Roses

What to do for an encore to past triumphs is a worthy puzzler as the Plymouth High School band looks to future years, and Bifocals suggests going west for the next big showcase - in fact, as far west as Pasadena.

Ore From Michigan

A member of the Plymouth Symphony has been chosen as the only Michigan representative of a very special orchestra... it's being created for only one performance and rehearsal time is limited, but it should be a good concert.

Twp. Fire Heroics Win Special Citations For 4

By FRED DeLANO

The heroism of three Plymouth Township firemen and a Wayne County sheriff's officer for "doing everything humanly possible" to rescue an 11-year-old girl trapped in a burning house has brought them special commendation, even though their efforts were in vain.

Theresa Dohany, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dohany, lost her life in the Jan. 18 tragedy, but Township Fire Chief James Gignac has praised his men for "outstanding service above and beyond the call of duty and at great risk to their own lives" in attempting to save her.

Upon Gignac's recommendation, the township board has voted unanimously to cite the men for their heroism, and they will be presented official certificates of commendation.

Included are Sgt. Fred Knupp, firefighter James Bailey, volunteer fireman Robert Dart and Patrolman William Wensko of the sheriff's department. "The tragedy has hit our department hard, in that officers and firefighters did everything humanly possible to rescue young Theresa," said Gignac of the pre-dawn fire at 9004 Elmhurst.

Gignac gave this description of what happened:

"SGT. KNUPP was the first firefighter on the scene and attempted a rescue prior to the arrival of the engine, at extreme risk to himself.

"Knupp and Firefighter Bailey climbed into the house through a window, right into the fire, at no conscious thought of self-preservation, and a great risk to personal life attempted a rescue in the area where they were told she was located.

"Patrolman Wensko attempted to locate Theresa in another bedroom with the idea she may have tried to escape. Wensko broke out a window in the front of the house and attempted to enter. The heat and smoke drove him back.

"Despite the possibility that the fence around the house was electrified by downed Edison wires, Wensko jumped the fence and attempted to enter the bedroom through another window. He was driven back again due to the extreme heat and smoke, but he could see a portion of what he thought was the young victim.

"VOLUNTEER DART was at the front window, and without a breathing mask or a hose line to protect himself he climbed in the front window, at great personal risk. Dart located the victim and passed her lifeless body out to the waiting arms of the firefighters.

"Wensko also assisted the fire department in giving closed chest massage and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation."

The young girl, who was a fifth grade pupil at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic School, was rushed to St. Mary Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival. Of his recommendation that the four men be cited for their outstanding service, Gignac commented, "the facts speak for themselves."

PLYMOUTH SCOUTS didn't let eight-below weather bother them as they took part in "Chinook '72," the Sunset District's recent winter event in Lower Huron Metropark. Some 1,000 boys from 50 western Wayne County troops were judged on sled building, first aid, Indian lore, ice rescue and other survival skills. Among the 10 best patrols was the Panther, of Troop 400, sponsored by the Latter-Day Saints Church of Livonia. Scouts (from left) are Fred Deutsch, Mike Schreiner, Chip Browne and Chad Niedfeldt. Bannon Accolade Is 'Firm But Fair'

By W. W. EDGAR

Veteran employees and inmates at the Detroit House of Correction joined in paying high tribute to William (Bill) Bannan, long-time superintendent who died during the past week following a long illness.

"He was firm but fair," they said in a low whisper as word passed along the corridors of Dehoco that he had succumbed in the quiet little town of Spring Lake - a place he had chosen in which to retire within the next few years.

Stricken a few months ago, Bill was confined for a time in St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. On returning home, he decided on a recuperation period in Spring Lake where he suffered a relapse and was taken to the North Ottawa Hospital in nearby Grand Haven.

BORN IN PEWAMO, on Oct. 28, 1899, Bannan got his start in prison work quite by accident. And at his death, he was rated one of the outstanding penal authorities in the country.

Over the years he moved from the Michigan Reform School at Ionia where he started as a clerk, to the Southern Michigan Prison (Jackson) on July 10, 1952 where he was assistant warden. From there he came to the Detroit House of Correction as superintendent on Feb. 1, 1963.

Along the way, he earned a BS degree from Western Michigan University and an honorary doctor's degree in public administration from the same university.

Always a disciple of the school that believed inmates should be treated as humans, Bannan was responsible for many innovations in various penal institutions in the state.

When new correction laws were enacted in 1937, he moved the theory of rehabilitation instead of punishment to new heights.

BY THE TIME he reached Jackson prison, he developed the plan that eventually enabled him to take inmates from behind the prison walls to the outside for some of the teachings.

He stunned the penal authorities when he organized the Jackson Prison band and took it around the area to play concerts.

"They became better citizens because of it," Bannan would smile while relating the story.

Later on, he instituted a program of providing a high school education for the women inmates at Dehoco and more than a dozen women have graduated with high school diplomas in the past few years.

THIRTY-EIGHT years ago, he married Emma Schmidt, a long time friend, and she survives with three sons and a daughter.

Livonia JC Salute Paid Plymouthite

Monte Shettler, a Bentley High School welding teacher who lives in Plymouth, has been selected by the Livonia Jaycees for their annual "outstanding young educator" award. The presentation was made at a banquet Thursday night.

Al Zack, Bentley principal, called Shettler "one of the most outstanding instructors of industrial education with whom I ever have had the pleasure of working."

Shettler, 29, lives at 11536 Russell. He received a bachelor of science degree in 1966 from Michigan State University and his master's from Eastern Michigan in 1971.

Zack also noted that Shettler helped students set up a corporation to manufacture and distribute a product, with students conducting the business planning from market research to advertising. He also helps place his students in jobs and assists the Livonia Youth Auto Club.

"His teaching is creative and he attempts to draw upon the imagination and resourcefulness of the student and relate the necessary skills to projects which have personal meaning to them," Zack said.

Garden Club's Contest Will Benefit The Birds

The Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Club has announced it will sponsor a community-wide bird house contest for persons of all ages. Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz is chairman.

She said that "a bird house in every yard" is the goal of the organization and that this is Plymouth's first bird house contest in 30 years. It was decided upon by the club as a means to help emphasize the coming of Artrain April 19. Prize homes will be used as part of the decoration of the site of Artrain, said Mrs. Lorenz, and others will be on public display at one of the planned exhibits of Kaleidoscope Plymouth. The full list of prizes will be announced soon.

ALL CHILDREN are eligible, and it also is hoped there will be entries of father and son, father and daughter, senior citizens, grandfather and grandson, and mothers and teenagers, said Mrs. Lorenz. All entries must be turned in for judging by March 30. Entry blanks should be sent to Mrs. Lorenz, 45885 W. Ann Arbor Trail and contestants will be able to choose from four categories. These will be martin houses, bluebird houses, wren houses and bird feeders or other specific houses. Directions and plans are available at Dunning-Hough Library.

"Houses may be as elaborate or as simple as the builder wishes," said Mrs. Lorenz. "However, the floor dimension must conform to the specified ones for the house chosen."

"Many homes of our community have winter feeding stations for the birds who are able to winter here," she added. "The pleasures of watching these birds, their colors, and activity more than repay the efforts of the homemaker to provide this food."

Bd. Of Ed. Ponders Tax Vote

By KATHY MORAN

Whether the Plymouth School District will have a millage renewal election on April 10 will be decided by the Plymouth Board of Education at a special meeting on March 6.

Five mills of the 27.05 voted mills will expire in June. The board currently levies 26.30 mills for operating costs and 6.25 for debt retirement.

The board received permission for the millage election on that date with the intention being able to return to the voters with the request at the June 12 board election if the first attempt fails.

However, the shortage of time for preparing the millage campaign has made the board hesitant to continue with the April 10 date.

A special citizens finance committee appointed by Board Chairman Esther Hulsing will report on March 6 and the board will then decide when to hold the election.

Kal Jabara and George Lawton, board treasurer, will be co-chairmen of the committee.

The committee will study the school district's financial needs for the future.

It will determine the immediate needs for the 1972-73 school year based on a projected growth of 500 students and examine the percentage of dollars spent for selected areas of the curriculum.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES REGULAR MEETING FEBRUARY 8, 1972

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 P.M. by the Supervisor. All members were present.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES - Regular Meeting - January 25, 1972. Mr. Holmes moved that the minutes of the regular meeting of January 25, 1972, be approved as submitted. Seconded by Mr. Burke and carried. Mr. Ash abstained from voting inasmuch as he was not present at that meeting.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF BILLS. Mr. Ash moved that the Board authorize payment of the List of Bills in the Grand Total amount of $8,197.61. Seconded by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

OLD BUSINESS - Ford Leasing (Application No. 179). Resolving from R-1 to C-2, property on the South side of Ann Arbor Road, east of K-Mart. Following discussion, Mrs. Holmes moved that the Board table this subject matter to the February 22, 1972 meeting of the Board, at which time a plan from the Planning Consultant should be available, and a decision on the rezoning as requested in Appl. No. 179 would be made. Seconded by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

Frank Millington, Re: Chamber of Commerce. Following Mr. Millington's explanation of "The Plymouth Story" to be incorporated in the above-mentioned brochure. Mr. Ash moved that Plymouth Township join with the City of Plymouth in development of a colored center sheet for the Chamber of Commerce brochure, and approve the $625.00 expenditure. Seconded by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

Maurice Breen, Re: Recommended appointment to Planning Commission to replace Paul Dwyer, term ending July, 1974. The consensus of opinion on the "Personal Data Report on Mr. James D. Irvine" submitted by Mr. Breen was that Mr. Irvine was very well qualified for the appointment, but discussion centered on the board's policy of the Planning Commission members representing various geographical areas of the Township. In this discussion, Mr. Breen stated that he believed the basic concept should be to appoint people who are knowledgeable and able to take an objective view of the entire Township rather than considering wherein the Township the prospective member may live. Following this discussion, Mr. Overholt moved that the Board not concur in the recommended appointment made by the Supervisor. Seconded by Mrs. Holmes. The following roll call vote was taken: Ayes: Overholt, Burke, Holmes, Ash, Richardson, Millington, Nave. Breen. The motion carried.

NEW BUSINESS - Elizabeth Holmes, Re: Requesting Authority to Purchase a Building Construction Reserve Certificate in the amount of $50,000 from budgeted water & sewer Department funds. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board concur in the recommendation by the Treasurer and authorize the purchase of a Building Construction Reserve Certificate in the amount of $50,000. Seconded by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

Herald Hamill - Brender-Hamill & Associates, Re: Approval for additional expenditure of $2000 on the N. Territorial Road Sanitary Sewer. In his communication, Mr. Hamill explained what had happened when excavation was made under the pressure-reducing pit, that being that the clay underneath same was too soft to support the pit, ground water was seeping into the excavation and it was ordered filled; accordingly the engineer was recommending a 24 inch diameter steel casing be jacked under the pit, at an extra cost of $2000 on the North Territorial Road Sanitary Sewer project. Seconded by Mrs. Richardson. In response to a question by Mr. Millington, Mr. Brender advised that the ground conditions encountered were not anticipated, thus could not be included in the bid specifications. The question was called and the motion carried unanimously.

Helen Richardson, Re: Requesting Transfer of Funds. Mrs.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

WHAT CAN THE Plymouth High School band do next to match its two triumphs of the last three winters when concerts at Chicago and in Mississippi, before audiences of professional musicians, brought acclaim for the band as one of the finest in the United States?

This sort of thought must be going through the mind of bandmaster James Griffith, and if he will pardon the intrusion I'll offer a suggestion. I would like to see Jim set his sights on a New Year's Day appearance in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena!

The students earned virtually all of their own money that made last week's trip to the University of Southern Mississippi possible, and they would have to do the same if they could coax an invitation from the Tournament of Roses Association. The tax bite already is too stiff to take the funds from the public till, but these kids have proved they are equal to such a challenge.

Also, each succeeding generation of Plymouth musicians seems to be getting better, and you can darn well bet that a 200-piece Plymouth band could be the hit of that five-mile march down Orange Grove and Colorado Aves. What an experience it would be, too, for the students.

LAST WEEK'S performance at the Southern Conductors Conference before an audience of 1,100 not only was awarded by a heady ovation, but drew unstinting praise of which the following comment was typical. It comes in a letter from Roy W. Martin, chairman of the First Chair of America, a national musical honor organization:

"The concert was one of the finest I have heard in a long time, and I compliment each member of the band and you on a highly superior performance," wrote Martin in a letter to Griffith.

"The music, in addition to being played technically correct, was very delightfully interpreted and it was this that really gave me a thrill.

"Yours is certainly one of the nation's top high school music organizations, and I do want you and your members to know how I feel about their concert. They are tremendous and should be told so after a performance such as this."

What might astound Mr. Martin is the news that waiting in the wings, ready to move into the high school band next fall, are a host of ninth graders, now attending Central Junior High. They are so good that last Saturday, in the district solo and ensemble festival, they captured 54 first division blue medals, including 32 solo winners!

WORD HAS come back from the deep south that as your ambassadors these kids who went to Hattiesburg and New Orleans won praise for more than just their musicianship.

After enjoying a Mardi Gras parade Saturday in New Orleans, they went together for dinner at Court of Two Sisters restaurant in the heart of the French Quarter. Griffith proudly relates this comment from a patron who also was dining there and who had inquired where the youngsters were from, and whether it is a public high school:

"I never would have believed it. They're so well mannered and neatly dressed."

Not the least of the memories for these musicians will be of the hospitality they were accorded by Hattiesburg families who opened their homes to provide lodging and meals. So favorably impressed were the natives that after Friday night's concert Plymouth's hosts provided a ham, roast beef and chicken and dumpling buffet dinner for the entire PHS band. Many thank-you letters already are on their way.

That, you see, is the other side of the coin from the picture some parents paint of Plymouth High School as a dungeon of sin, peopled by monsters with no sense of taste or proper behavior. One suspects that in school most students reflect whatever training they've had at home.

On Dean's List

Frank Reynolds, freshman at Kalamazoo College and son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reynolds of 39580 Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth, has been named to the dean's list for the fall quarter.

RELAXING AFTER ARRIVAL at Hattiesburg, Miss., last week, Plymouth High School band members wait for transportation to take them to private homes where they were guests for their University of Southern Mississippi concert appearance.

Middle Initial Was In Error

LIVONIA The name of an 18-year-old Livonian arrested on a charge of breaking and entering a Plymouth Cleaners Feb. 3 and mentioned in an Observer article about the arrest, should be Thomas G. Marta of 17627 Delores Road, Livonia.

Police and Plymouth District Court records showed the name as Thomas S. Marta of the same address, but court and police officials have said they are still unsure of the man's middle initial.

Rev. Francis Dietz, Charles Gehringer Head Fund Drive

The Rev. Francis Dietz, vicar for the Farmington-Southfield vicariate and former pastor of St. Agatha Catholic Church in Redford Township, has been named priest-chairman for the 1972 Archdiocese Development Fund.

Appointed by John Cardinal Dearden, he will serve with lay-chairman Charles L. Gehringer, Detroit businessman and former Detroit Tiger baseball star. FR. DIETZ, pastor of St. Bede Catholic Church in Southfield, will join Gehringer in the campaign in which Catholics contribute money for on-going operations and charities.

The two will work with a steering committee to pick a goal for 1972.

Librarian

To Give Talk

Arnold Rzepecki, librarian of Sacred Heart Catholic seminary in Detroit, will speak at Madonna College at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 20, as part of the college's recognition of Catholic Book Week.

His topic will be "The Christian as an Artist." The lecture will be presented in the dining hall of the college at 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia, and there will be no charge.

Past goals have included building a seminary, aiding handicapped children and sponsoring projects designed to help solve problems of urban life.

NO MONEY GOAL is set for the collection, which is taken up early in May. Contributions have totaled about $2 million.

"Priests know what the ADF accomplishes," Father Dietz said, "and have a record of supporting it from their own pockets as well as in the pulpit. I am pleased to have an active part in helping carry on a program which has so much to show for past efforts."

Father Dietz is widely known for the years in which he conducted the Michigan Catholic's "Here's the Answer" column. He was ordained in 1940 after studies in Detroit's Sacred Heart Seminary and in Cincinnati's Mount St. Mary Seminary.

GEHRINGER, famed as baseball's "mechanical man" and later a leader in automotive business circles said he expected his ADF job to be easy.

"All our committee has to do," he said, "is organize to get out the word -- let Catholics know of past ADF accomplishments and this year's target. People appreciate a good thing when they see it."

Today Gehringer lives in semi-retirement in Beverly Hills.

THE COMMON GOOD, an eight-member contemporary singing group from Fort Wayne Bible College, Fort Wayne, Ind., will participate in services in Calvary Missionary Church, 29850 W. Six Mile, Livonia, at 11 a.m., Sunday, Feb. 20.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's Religion Update

Churches have been generally reluctant to engage in the expense and acrimony of lawsuits ever since St. Paul counseled the Corinthian Church to avoid property litigation between members before pagan magistrates. (1 Cor. 6: 1-9).

But an organization called "The Church of Scientology" appears to have taken just the opposite course, in what seems to be a means of acquiring extensive publicity and at the same time frightening anyone inclined to expose its operations.

Scientology, which focuses upon intimate interviews using an "E-Meter" ("A circuit which has been used in quack medical devices for decades," according to the American Medical Association periodical "Today's Health") has maintained its own "Legal Affairs Branch." And the organization has just filed a $1.5 million libel suit against writer Paulette Cooper and Tower Publications.

MISS COOPER is the author of a fascinating, 220-page paperback exposé entitled "The Scandal of Scientology." She holds degrees in psychology from Brandeis University and the City University of New York, and has written for 52 newspapers and other periodicals, as well as having written three previous books. She recently told this writer:

"Since I was well aware of this organization's amazing record of suing for libel, I spent two years in carefully researching and documenting this book. Four attorneys went over every word of it before it was published."

"They are suing me in England as well as in the U.S. When I arrived in Edinburgh last April, they met the plane and hired a photographer to bug me for days. One hundred of them surrounded the hotel, and so many phone calls were received asking for my room number that the CID (police) had to come in."

MISS COOPER's book quotes Peter Horden, a member of parliament:

"The public has been hampered in the knowledge of Scientology by the fact that, so far as I can establish, on every occasion that the organization has been named by a newspaper, that newspaper has been served with a writ of libel."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Observer Newspapers Inc. has never been sued over its two Scientology stories, editors can testify that any attempt at a balanced account has been greeted by nasty telephone calls from professed Scientologists.)

Miss Cooper estimates that at least 58 of such libel writs have been issued by the Scientologists -- in addition to one directed against another member of parliament, Geoffrey Johnson Smith.

Smith, in whose constituency is located the resplendent British headquarters of Scientology, charged that the organization had deliberately directed itself to "the weak, the unbalanced, the immature, the rootless and the mentally or emotionally unstable."

But the jury found that this statement was neither defamatory or malicious, but substantially true and fair comment -- and ordered Scientology to pay an estimated $200,000 in court costs.

MISS COOPER quotes Scientology founder L. Ron Hubbard (a former writer of science fiction) as having advised the organization:

"We do not want Scientology to be reported in the press anywhere but on the religion page. It is destructive of word of mouth to permit the public press to express their biased and badly reported sensationalism. Therefore we should be very alert to sue for slander at the slightest chance, so as to discourage the public press from mentioning Scientology."

This program of press discouragement seems hardly feasible, however, given The New York Times' recent report of the interest shown for Scientology by mass-murderer Charles Manson.

Two years ago this column first featured Scientology, reporting its recurrent difficulties with governmental investigations in Australia, Britain and the U.S. -- as well as the written claim of founder Hubbard to have created "a milestone for man, comparable to his discovery of fire, and superior to his inventions of the wheel and the arch."

SCIENTOLOGISTS, in demanding a retraction under threat of legal action, charged that Hubbard had never made such a statement. However, this writer had obtained a copy of the third edition of Hubbard's book "Dianetics: The Modern Science of Mental Health," which includes precisely this absurd statement.

As for Scientological attempts to frighten publishers of this column, Managing Editor Bill Totten of California's Huntington Park Daily Signal wrote this writer:

"In addition to these two letters, we have received 10 phone calls from the Scientologists -- all of them nasty. Keep up the good work."

Plymouth Friends' Party Carries On A Tradition

Patients at Northville State Hospital will benefit from a card party scheduled by some of their long-time friends on Tuesday, Feb. 29, in the Farrand School in Plymouth.

The patients' benefactors and card party sponsors are, appropriately enough, the Plymouth Friends, who have been making regular visits to the hospital since 1958.

With funds raised from the party, they will be able to provide more things to make life pleasant for the patients—things like the television set, refrigerator and draperies they have been instrumental in securing for NSH Ward D-4.

"THEY ARE very faithful visitors," said Ruth Vieregger, therapist for Ward D-4. The patients really look forward to having them come."

The Plymouth Friends group was organized in November of 1958 by Mrs. Vivian Champion, who had been a volunteer at Northville State Hospital and saw the need for a group that would visit regularly.

The first meeting was held in the Plymouth Library, and the first ward adopted by the Friends was C-22 at the hospital.

THROUGH THE YEARS, the Plymouth Friends have met each second Thursday of the month to plan a party. Then the following Thursday they go to the hospital to entertain the patients in their ward.

The parties have varied from month to month, but games, prizes and refreshments are always part of the program. Sometimes there is a craft project too.

Each year the Friends host an outdoor picnic in July, bigger parties with gifts and special refreshments are planned at Christmas and Easter.

August is the only month when the Plymouth Friends skip their visit. But on the regular party day in August the group sends a decorated cake to the ward.

WITH DONATIONS from fund-raisers like the Feb. 29 party, and by contacting Plymouth merchants, the group has been able to supply such extras as bedspreads, rugs, chairs, and draperies.

Active members of the Plymouth friends include Mrs. Betty Hendry, chairman; Mrs. Madalynne LaPorte, secretary; Mrs. Irene Duffey, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Barbara Saunders, telephone secretary; and Mrs. Jan Fleming and Mrs. Camille Watroba, heads of the ways and means committee.

Others are Mrs. Julie Jacoby, Mrs. Doris Perish, Mrs. Helen Heinmiller, Mrs. Carol DeSantis, Mrs. Nona McFall, Mrs. Marge Morrison, Mrs. Ruth Jacobs, Mrs. Helen Vincent and Mrs. Carol Murphy.

Mrs. Betty Jones and Mrs. Dorothy Becker are inactive members who help with refreshments on an occasional basis.

THE TIME for the Farrand school party is 7:30 p.m., and tickets must be secured in advance by calling Mrs. D.S. Fleming, 41688 Greenbrier Lane, Plymouth. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Refreshments and prizes will be part of the evening's fun. The school is located at 41400 Greenbrier Lane.

Bandstand Is Theme

The Farmington Musicales will recall the day of the big band with its "American Bandstand" theme for husbands' night Wednesday, Feb. 23.

Red, white and blue decorations and blow-ups of famous big band leaders of the 40s will set the mood for the smorgasbord dinner to be served at 6:30 p.m. in Nardin Park United Methodist Church, Farmington.

Entertainment will be furnished by the Oak Park High School Jazz Ensemble and the Twelve Tones of Farmington High.

The Oak Park group is made up of 15 students who specialize in jazz as well as contemporary and rock music. Dave Jackson is the leader. The Twelve Tones, directed by William Feucht, are selected girl singers.

Dinner chairman for the event is Jean Nankervis and Mary Dulmage is program chairman.

The Farmington Musicales is a member of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

GOP Women Plan Membership Tea

The Republican Women's Organization of Farmington will hold a membership tea at 1 p.m., Monday, Feb. 28, in the home of Mrs. Orville H. Foster, 33755 Braebury Ridge, Quaker Valley Farms, Farmington.

This will lead off its calendar of events for this election year.

The association will sponsor a bridge tournament the week of March 10 to 17. Players will meet in the homes of members, and donations will be made. Mrs. Ruth Henry will do the scoring.

On April 20, the members plan to attend a meeting of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners. In May, a fund-raising social event will be held and in July the women will staff the GOP booth at the Farmington Festival.

A club roster is being compiled by Mrs. Herbert Harms, membership chairman. Dues should be submitted soon for the roster. The organization points out that beginning this year all political contributions entitle taxpayers to a deduction of up to $50 per person under the president's new tax bill.

The association is also reminding members of the May 9 primary election. Final registration is April 7. Anyone 18 years old by May 9, a resident of the state six months and a resident of his present address for 30 days, may register.

Plymouth Club Members Will Honor Bosses

Members of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club will honor their bosses at a special Boss Nite program in the Thunderbird Inn, 14707 Northville Road, Plymouth, at 6:30 p.m., Monday, Feb. 21.

Errol Mann, Detroit Lions football player, will be the guest speaker. There will also be a musical program. Reservations should be called in to Daisy Proctor, 43735 Shearer, Plymouth, or Millie Blackford, 8855 Rocker, Plymouth, by Saturday, Feb. 19.

How Hilbert Class Makes Boys 'Constructive'

The scope of the course is the whole world of construction - from buildings and everything that goes into their walls to communities and the use of the lands around them.

Textbooks are studied, but learning is by doing, not by rote. And the final test is what the students build, not what they answer.

At Hilbert Junior High School, Redford Union District, 23 eighth grade boys are enrolled in the one year "World of Construction" pilot program, a course and way of learning so new that it is being used at only three other schools in Michigan.

The teacher, James Miller, took special training at Eastern Michigan University to qualify to use the course of study, a part of the Industrial Arts Curriculum Project (IACP) from Ohio State University.

A second IACP course, The World of Manufacturing, is not taught in Redford Union, but is being considered for the future.

MILLER DESCRIBED the World of Construction to the Redford Union Board of Education recently.

A cross-section of the subject headings indicates how wide is the scope of the course: surveying and mapping; soil testing; designing parks and buildings; contracting; estimating and bidding; earth moving; strikes and grievances; mixing concrete; rough construction; plumbing, electrical, heating and cooling systems; painting and decorating; landscaping; and community development.

A house module Miller showed to the board demonstrated to what extent the boys have been able to understand construction concepts and put them to work.

The module was one of five house walls built by students to apply many of the crafts they've learned and solve problems in building construction.

Among the tasks that went into building the wall modules were wood frame construction; truss and roof construction; sub-floor assembly and flooring; plumbing; heating and cooling duct work; exterior siding; window installation; and electrical wiring.

Standard building materials were used, except four foot studs were substituted for the usual eight foot size, for economy and practicality.

EVERYTHING WAS built according to code, said Miller.

"The wiring was even tested with a fuse box."

The boys are especially proud of a patio they built in the Hilbert courtyard, which is a permanent exhibit of lessons they learned about working with concrete.

What makes the patio a masterpiece is a six foot panther made of blue concrete set into a 10-foot grey football in the middle of the slab. The boys built the form for the 300 pound panther, poured it inside their shop, and when it was hardened, set it in the excavation outside.

The patio represented seven yards of cement mixed and poured by the boys into forms they built themselves. Ten yards will have been used when they put the finishing touches on the project this spring.

The students solved problems of drainage, used expansion joints, and adapted their formulae of sand, gravel, and cement to prevailing weather conditions.

"The boys got a good taste of hard physical labor the day they poured the patio," said Miller, "but they also derived a great amount of satisfaction in the end product."

THE CLASS is organized in crews, each with a foreman, timekeeper, recorder, equipment supervisor, and safety supervisor.

Each boy will build a small model of his dream house in a future project, applying the practical lessons he's already learned as he plans the construction and landscaping, and chooses his materials.

The lessons learned go beyond building crafts.

Contracting, estimating and bidding are part of the course. Boys get experience in these procedures playing a game called Big Builder, based on these transactions.

To learn about strikes and grievances, the class was divided into labor and management teams to trace the steps in an imaginary grievance situation, with Ernest C. Wiles, principal, acting as mediator.

ON A FIELD trip being arranged with the Detroit General Contractors of America, the students will observe heavy construction work and talk to workers in the field.

Surveying and mapping were studied last fall when groups of boys planned parks and made topographical maps in site boxes. Sand boxes were used to study earth moving. And when the boys excavated the patio, they practiced conservation and neighborhood improvement by using the dirt to fill chuck holes.

Since Miller is math teacher for the boys in the class, calculations related to construction can be stressed in math class when necessary. Robert Zaetta has taught them soil testing and topographical mapping in their science classes.

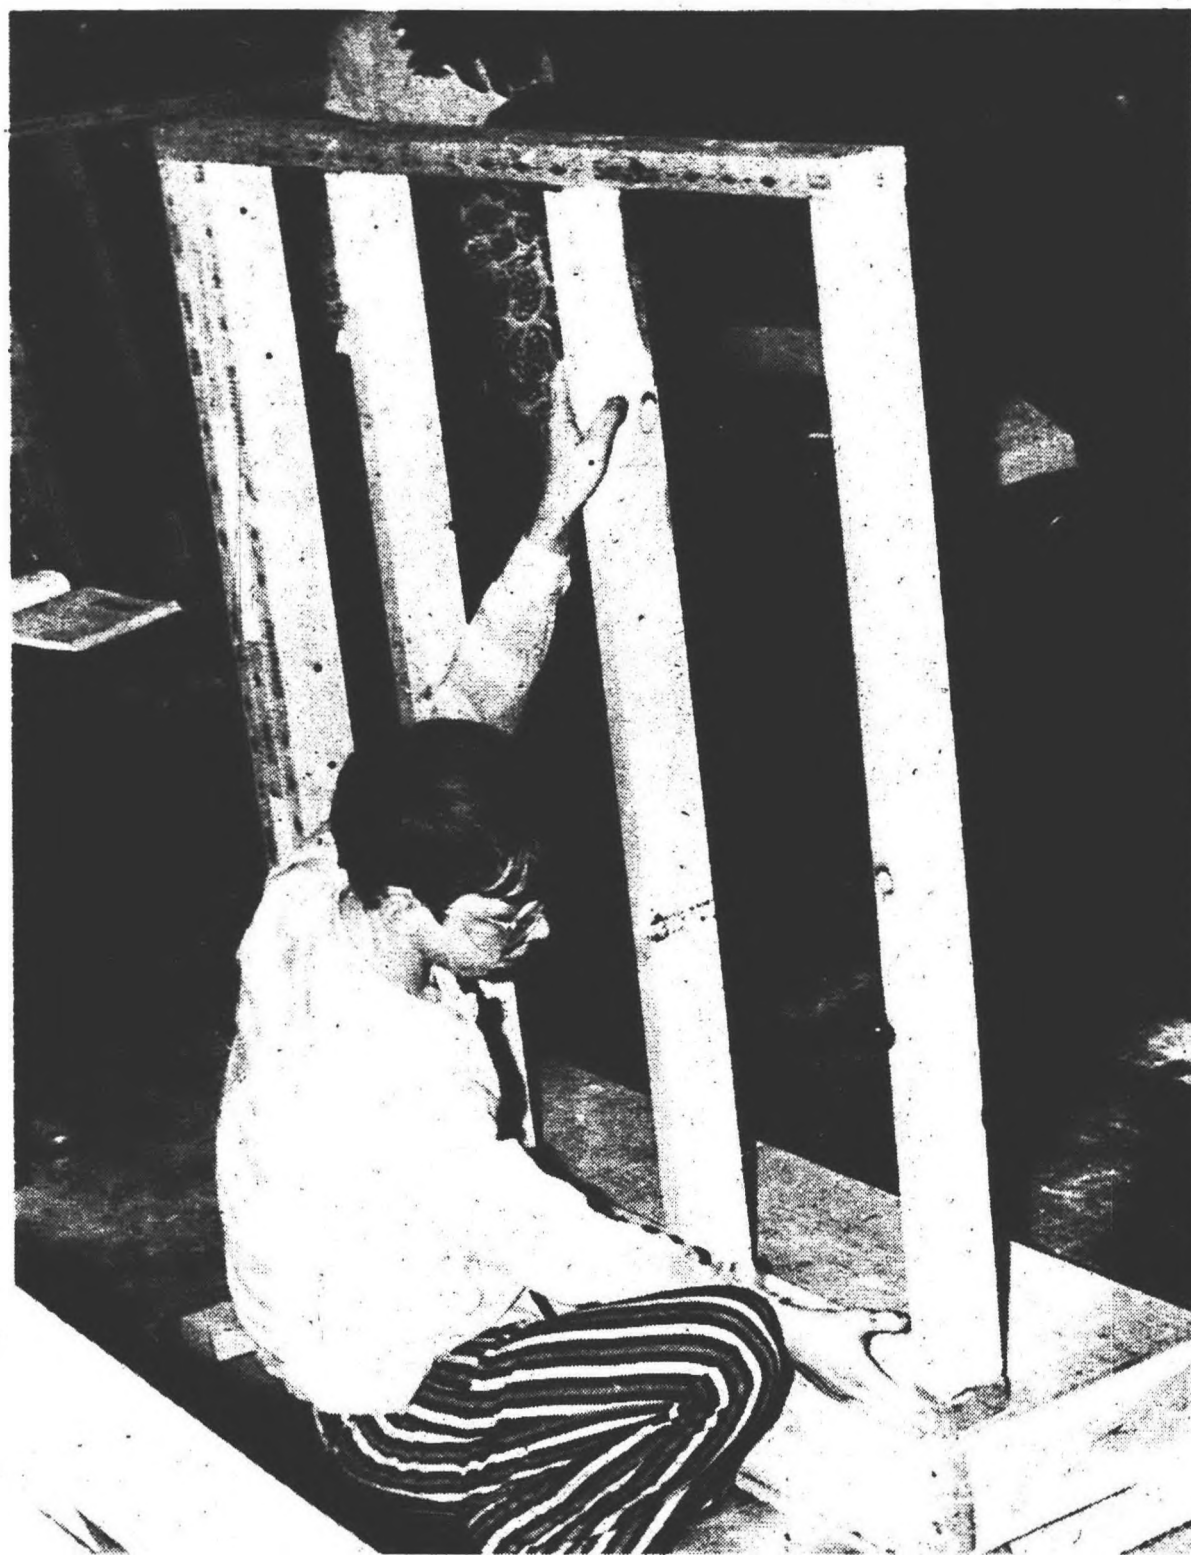

The main goals in the World of Construction project are to help students understand concepts, strategies and problems in the world of construction; to encourage an interest in an appreciation for construction; and to provide knowledge and skills that will be useful in life situations.

"WE DON'T aim to make them skillful in any particular field, but rather give them a broad understanding of the world of construction," explained Miller.

Comments of teachers and parents about the course have all been positive, and the boys involved have special enthusiasm for the program and school in general, said Miller. One student will put his knowledge into practice this summer as foreman of a garage his family is building.

HOUSE RAISING -- Mark Rohde begins the rough wood construction, one of the early tasks in the building of a wall module in the World of Construction program at Hilbert Junior High School.

MIXING CONCRETE in a mortar box (which was constructed by boys in the World of Construction class) are Greg Pielak (left) and Don Arnold.

A MORTAR BOX was built by eighth graders in Hilbert Junior High School's World of Construction class for mixing concrete to pave a

Police Sponsor Essay Contest

The second annual essay contest for high school students throughout the state of Michigan is being sponsored by the Police Officers Association of Michigan, according to Carl Parsell, of the Detroit Police Department and president of the POAM.

This year's theme is "The Youth Community and Their Attitude Toward Law Enforcement - What Do You Think?"

A total of $1,000 in cash prizes will be awarded to students for the best essays. The first place winner will receive $400. There will be 22 other cash prizes.

Rules of the contest have been mailed to all high schools in the state. Essays are limited to not more than 1,500 words and must be submitted for judging not later than April 7. Winners will be announced May 19.

Details on the contest may be obtained from: Secretary, Police Officers Association of Michigan, 2187 Orchard Lake Road, Pontiac, 48053.

Cedar Point Offers Collegians' Jobs

Job-hungry collegians who are beginning their quest for summer employment may be able to find employment at Cedar Point in Sandusky, Ohio.

The amusement center is touring numerous colleges and universities to recruit 2,500 summer workers but so far has not scheduled a stop in the Observerland area.

Local youths can get applications and brochures by writing Personnel Department, Cedar Point Inc., Sandusky, Ohio 44870.

Nearly 90 per cent of Cedar Point's summer work force is made up of students. The collegians are paid and provided with low-cost food and dormitory lodging and are eligible for the special employee recreation program and an incentive bonus plan.

The jobs are varied from lifeguards to ride hosts and hostesses, cashiers, waitresses, refreshment clerks, marina attendants and "sweeperettes."

A separate recruiting tour covering additional campuses and metropolitan areas will begin April 14 to discover talented performers, and musicians for Cedar Point's growing live shows department.

By W.W. EDGAR

When Ralph Orf, the California bowler, rolled an 890 series last week he did more than erase Allie Brandt's record of 886 that had stood for 20 years. He boosted two Detroit bowlers into top places with the two oldest marks on the ABC books.

The first of these is the 776 series fired by Lee Jouglaard 20 years ago that still is the ABC tournament singles record. The other is an 1134 triplicate registered by the Stroh team on Dec. 7, 1950.

ONE OF THE most unusual tournaments of the year is scheduled Sunday afternoon at Oak Park Lanes when more than 200 bowlers representing Father Kramer Knights of Columbus and the Ivan S. Bloch Lodge B'Nai B'rith square off in their fifth annual inter-faith competition.

When established five years ago
When established five years ago this was the first tournament of its kind.

In keeping with tradition of donating a special gift to a worthy cause each year two wheel chairs will be presented to Plymouth State Home.

BOB FITZGERALD will have just cause to remember his performance this week in the Bel - Aire Lanes Classic.

He put together a string of 13 consecutive strikes - and didn't bowl a first game. He closed his perfect game with five in a row then opened the second with eight more and had to be content with scores of 224, 259 and 193 for 676.

This wasn't good enough to land him a place in the top three for the night.

Larry Ledwidge took scoring honors with games of 192, 289 and 237 for 718. Right behind came Tom Maiber who opened with a 255, followed with a 246 and closed with 205 for 706. Bill Rose took third place with a 699 that included a middle game of 258.

The third 700 of the week came in the Bel - Aire Senior House league where Al Vandermullen posted a 704 to gain a wide edge over his closest rival, Joe Scharnhorst who posted a 666.

Among the juniors Mark Kobmann, a 15-year-old lad, was high with games of 245, 208 and 145 for 598.

SOUTHFIELD HIGH and Farmington Lanes teams broke even in a match game series over the past weekend.

With Mike Choll showing the way with 560 the Southfield boys came through with a 909 closing game to win 2625 to 2538. Kevin Hibbs was high for the losers with a 604.

It was a different story in the girls match game series. Farmington won by a mere six pins, 2052 to 2046. Jackie Bird was high for the winners with a 480 and Robin Peschendorf paced the losers with 450.

In the Farmington Teen Classic Kevin Hibbs showed the way again with a 612 series and Janet Jaster was high for the girls with 507.

Sharon Douglas was the pacemaker in the Junior High competition with 507. She beat out Barbara Hamlin by four pins.

RON SHARPLES had double reason to celebrate at Wonderland Lanes.

He put together games of 245, 214 and 246 for a 705 to help his Palace team roll 3,226 and take over first place in the Classic. His was the lone 700 series of the night.

THE REDFORD Bowling Sales team is setting a hot pace in the Westland Classic where three of its bowlers took scoring honors for the week.

Rick Kendall showed the way with a 685, followed by Jerry Holt with 684 and Hal Jolley with a 665 where he was caught in a deadlock with Dick Newman.

Bert Newby still is atop the averages with 210.

WOMEN continue to steal the spotlight at Merri - Bowl.

This week it was Jeanne Tremaine who took the starring role with a 644 series gained on games of 219, 222 and 203 in the Saints and Sinners League.

In the Toast and Coffee circuit Pat Baron, Sharon Ivasile, Elaine Mitchell and Shirley Karhi combined their efforts for a 2052 series on games of 635, 699 and 718.

Don Patrais had an unusual experience in the Wednesday Mixers at Westland. Well on the way to a high 700 series with games of 252 and 245 he "slumped" to 211 and settled for a 708.

The high series of the week in Observerland was the work of Larry Kilgore in the Garden City Moose League at Garden Lanes. He had games of 276, 256 and 225 for 757 - high for the year in the circuit.

Other high scores included Neal Smitley 696, Bus Acre 645 and Bill Montgomery 639.

Joe Aubrey took over the lead role in the Classic with a 254 in 689 to beat Stu Pearlman by three pins. Lou Haydu lamed third with 671.

Behind him came Henry Longway with 665 and Bob Grenier with a 661.

RU Wrestlers Win League To Remain No. 4 In State

Redford Union swept to the Suburban Eight wrestling crown with 103 points in the league meet with Trenton running second with 62½.

It was frosting on the cake for the Panthers who compiled a school record of 15 wins in dual meet competition... 15 wins and no defeats. In addition to the perfect record were first place trophies for the Walled Lake Invitational, Schoolcraft Invitational, and North Farmington Invitational.

It has been a great year for Coach Larry Fortner and his grapplers with the districts, regionals and state next in line.

AL LINDBERG has compiled a 33-1-0 record in the 98 lb. class, and Kerry Morgan has won 26 dual meets and lost only seven in the 105 lb. bracket.

Dave Johnson is 26-6 at 112 lbs., and Dennis Campbell scored at 33-1-1 at 119 lbs. Fred Lozon is undefeated at 126 lbs. with a 32-0-1 mark, and Dave Windmueller stands 24-7 in the 155 lb. class.

Panther Paul Matthews is 22-5 at the 185 lb. level and heavyweight Mike Srock has scored a season mark of 21-3-1. RU is ranked the No. 4 team in the state.

Lindberg started things off for RU in the meet with a 16-3 score over Bentley's Pete Beck. Edsel Ford's Dave McFarlan edged Belleville's Phil Ford for the third position in the 98 lb. class.

MARK ALCAME edged RU's Morgan, 4-2, for an Edsel Ford win at 105 lbs., with Plymouth's Dave Dunic scoring an overtime 2-0 victory over Bentley's Steve Beck, for the runnerup spot.

At 112 lbs., it was Panther Johnson with a 1-58 fall over Plymouth's Bruce Barth. Belleville's Frank Horton captured third with a 2-0 score over Allen Park's Mike Gray. Campbell fought to a 12-2 win at 119 lbs. over Belleville's Jose Garcia and the Bulldogs' Jeff Oliver won third over Allen Park's Ray Swidan in an 0-43 pin.

It was a 12-1 romp for RU's Lozon at 126 lbs. over Trenton's Dave Barnes. Gary Cole took third with a 1-0 decision over Dearborn's Frank Lee. Belleville's John Smith won the 132 lb. honors with a 3-2 score over Trenton's Bill Carroll, and Bentley's Bill Robison fought to a third over RU's Kevin McKinney.

Grant Sandie, of Edsel Ford, won an 11-2 match over Trenton's Steve Stiltner. Dearborn's Ray Tidman won third over Hubert Russell, of Belleville, with a 2-25 fall, at 138 lbs.

BENTLEY'S Doug Whistler took a 6-5 overtime win over Kevin Wise, of Allen Park, and RU's Donn Burrows toppled Trenton's Tom Cranford, 4-1 for a third in the 145 lb. bracket.

RU's Windmueller shut out Dearborn's Bob Mignin in the 155 lb. match, 6-0, with Kevin O'Grady, of Edsel Ford, winning third over Trenton's Doug Wrock, 4-2.

Gary Krajewski, of Belleville, outscored Trenton's Warren Liverance, 6-3, for the 167 lb. title, and RU's Matt Stony captured third with a 3-2 triumph over Dearborn's Dave Miller.

Dearborn's Rich Copp scored a 4-2 win over Joe

Dixon at 185 lbs., with Bentley's Bob Abar taking third over Plymouth's Scott Bacon, 9-0. RU's Paul Matthews did not compete in the meet because of a death in the family. But during four meets, he pinned all four semifinalists in the 185 lb. bracket.

Belleville's Keith Simons scored a heavyweight first with a 1-36 fall over Edsel Ford's Fred Stanton, and Panther Mike Srock fought to a third with a 3-44 fall over Trenton's Dave Stackhouse.

Not Opposed To 'Red Shirting'

Ara Parseghian Speaks Out

By W.W. EDGAR

Pro football holds no special lure for Ara Parseghian, coach of the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame - unless there is a vast change in conditions.

"I like the excitement of the college game," he told a group of 400 listeners at the monthly Southfield series in Raleigh House. "There is something about working with these young fellows - the excitement, the enthusiasms, meeting the challenges, that gets to you. Pro football has nothing to match it."

The Notre Dame mentor confessed that he has had several very flattering offers - even before he left Northwestern University to take up his duties under the Golden Dome eight years ago.

"I turned them all down," he said, "because pro football still doesn't have the exciting ingredients that go to make up the college game."

He didn't state what conditions had to change in the pro game, but he was emphatic in saying that the college game is headed for trouble unless uniform rules are adopted governing scholarships and "red shirting."

"It isn't fair," he stated, "when one school can establish 30 scholarships, most of them fulltime, when other schools are held to half that number. And it isn't fair when some scholarships are full and others are only partial."

"Over a period of four years under these conditions," he explained, "one school could have 120 boys and another only 60. It stands to reason that with the larger number there is a greater chance of coming up with more potential stars."

ARA EMPHASIZED that he is not opposed to "red shirting (holding a player out for a year and stretch his eligibility from four to five years). But let's all do it the same way."

He called attention to the lopsidedness of present conditions when comparing the Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Eight against the Notre Dame and the Big Ten.

"Look where the strength is and you'll find that these groups have plenty of material through scholarships and engage in "red shirting" to give more boys a chance."

He didn't mention it, but it was a "red shirt" quarterback who played the leading role in Stanford's victory over Michigan in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day.

As far as Notre Dame is concerned, the coach revealed a couple of "secrets" during a question and answer period.

"We didn't go to a bowl game this past season," he answered, "because the players voted it down. At Notre Dame we left the choice up to the lads who have been playing all season.

"Why would they turn it down?" he repeated.

"Well, sometimes you can set your goal too high and then become discouraged when you fail to reach it. I think that's what happened to our fellows. They wanted to be No. 1 and missed. And in their disappointment they voted against a bowl game."

ABOUT NEXT season?

"We open spring practice on April 6," he explained, "and will go to May 24. Most of our time will be spent in rebuilding our defense. Unless we run into some misfortune the offense will be fine. But the defense needs work."

The coach, now serving as national chairman of a Multiple Sclerosis drive for $10 million to be spent on research, said, "We are half way there in what has been the greatest challenge of my career."

Then, with a bit of the legendary Rockne wit, he closed with -

"Send your checks to me at Notre Dame. Never mind about the spelling of my name."

"Last season, after our second loss, I received a letter addressed simply - Mr. Error."

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Reflecting booming business at the mutual machines and the additional one per cent approved recently by the State Legislature, Northville Downs hiked purses this week for the second time in the three-week-old meeting.

The increase, which boosted the minimum from $900 to $1,000, was effective Thursday. It upped the purses from $100 to $500 with the biggest hike in the handicap trots and paces which feature the weekend programs.

The trotters went for $2,500 last Friday and for $3,000 last night. The pacers raced for $3,000 for the first two Saturdays and the purse went up to $3,500 tonight.

The increases were announced by Racing Secretary Harry Peterson who indicated another hike may be in order in another week.

HE POINTED to the nightly average mutual handle which is 25 per cent ahead of 1971 and climbing.

"If the weather conditions hold, then there isn't any reason why wagering won't continue to go up," he said, "If that is true, then the horsemen will receive the benefit. We hope to be able to add to the purses next week for the third time of the meeting."

A field of six will clash in Saturday's handicap pace including Vesta Boy Len, surprise winner a week ago, and Action, the speedy Ohio-owned from Pandora, O., who will be after his third triumph in the weekly feature.

Action couldn't cope with the last quarter speed of Vesta Boy Len over a fast track but the thaws of the past few days softened the racing strip and that's the kind of action the aged campaigner likes.

Others in the field are: Mandy Margary, Briar Lee Andy, Blue Water Duke and Johnny G.

ALTHOUGH the opener is still a month away, Paddock Judge Clayton Smith has checked into Wolverine Raceway and has started the task of screening stall applications. Smith figures more than 800 horses will be bedded down by the time of the opening program on March 16.

The track will be opened to horses on March 10 and stables are expected from the south and east with many moving over from the Northville Downs meeting.

From Vice President and General Manager Richard S. Wilson comes word that Wolverine will have closed circuit color television and a brand new board for the benefit of patrons... "the daily double will pay."

The daily double will pay will flash the probably payoffs as wagering is made on the various combinations. When the horses leave the post for the first race, fans will know exactly what they can expect for the double.

"This double has met with a great deal of popularity in Florida," said Wilson. "It isn't feasible to have a board showing the payoffs on the trifecta because of the multitude of combinations but the American Totalisator Co. has come up with 'the double will pay' as the newest of its conveniences for customers."

THERE'LL BE some changes in the judges' stand for the early part of the 84-night meeting. Frank Meharg, of Yale, will be the state steward and Mal Linehan, of Adrian, who was a state steward for a number of years will serve as an associate judge.

Ed Casey, of Miami, will take over as presiding judge until John Broderick completes his winter assignment at Pompano Park. When Broderick comes northward, Casey will become associate judge and Linehan will go back to his lucrative real estate business in his hometown.

It will be nice to see Mal back in the stand. He always was popular with drivers, trainers and owners when active years ago. But he retired when his real estate business grew to the point that he had to devote full attention to it.

MICHIGAN'S thoroughbred racing season will open on schedule on Saturday, Feb. 26 even though the proposed sale of the Hazel Park track to Southfield interests won't be completed until late March.

popping home his second score and Hiram added his second three minutes later to ice the Charger victory.

Patriots Caught Looking Ahead

Dearborn Tips Franklin

It might have been a simple case of overlooking a non-league game and looking ahead to an important Northwest Suburban showdown, but no matter what... the Franklin Patriots just couldn't put the ball in the hoop and dropped a 61-58 cage decision to Dearborn.

The loss dropped Franklin to a 10-4 record.

"We had many opportunities to win," said Franklin Coach Bob Visser. "But we just couldn't capitalize on our mistakes."

DEARBORN LED the entire contest with the Patriots getting as close as one point in the fourth quarter. Franklin trailed after one period, 18-11, with Dearborn romping to a 37-30 halftime score.

Dearborn pushed its lead to 51-41 after three quarters but Franklin was about ready to make its move. The Patriots narrowed it to one point midway in the fourth but failed to get over the hump and gave it one last shot in the closing minute.

With 20 seconds remaining, Franklin had a one - and - one opportunity at the free throw line but failed to capitalize. The Patriots got the ball back but again failed.

"We weren't real sharp," added Visser. "They were on and had nothing to lose."

Franklin scored two more baskets from the floor than Dearborn, hitting on 23 of 58 for 39 per cent while Dearborn hit on 21 of 61 for 34 per cent. The difference was at the line where Dearborn made good 17 of 27 while Franklin could only make 12 of 24.

THE PATRIOTS outrebounded Dearborn, 43-38, with Tom Luch hauling in 14, Tim Dietz 13 and Rick Graham 11.

"We controlled the boards but Dearborn was a little more aggressive in ball handling," added Visser.

John Renk paced Dearborn with 18 points, followed by Barry Copeland with 15.

Rick Graham led Franklin with 16 points followed by Luch and Dietz with 13 apiece.

Panthers Storm By Eagles, 95-55

Redford Union put it all together and romped to its 11th straight basketball victory, beating crosstown rival Thurston, 95-55. The Panthers stand 13-2 overall while the Eagles dropped to a 4-10 mark.

It wasn't much of a contest after the first quarter which saw RU jump in front, 26-10. The Panthers hit for 24 points in the second quarter to lead at the half, 50-17.

"I was a little worried going over to Thurston," said Panther Coach Carl Andrews.

"We came over here with a good football team and knocked off, and Glenn was out here a few weeks ago. I wasn't sure what to expect."

"Thurston was cold from the field and our defense did a good job on them," added Andrews. "The kids went out there and gave it a good all-around effort."

RU hit on 37 of 61 from the field for 60 per cent while Thurston dropped near the freezing point with 26 per cent on 19 of 73 from the floor.

The Panthers completely dominated the boards, 53-25, with Mark Kenney collecting 12 rebounds and Bob Schaner hauling in 10.

Thurston hosts North Farmington Friday in a Northwest Suburban battle and RU entertains Belleville.

'Orange' Is An Experience To Remember

By WYLIE GERDES
Watch out for Stanley Kubrick.

Kubrick's "A Clockwork Orange" lulls you to sleep with an operetta of violence and finally leaves you with an experience to remember and think about.

A highly-acclaimed film, it opened last week in area theaters. It is released by Warner Brothers and is rated X.

Kubrick explores the essentially unanswerable question of what is morality in this film, his first since the classic "2001: A Space Odyssey." Like "2001," "A Clockwork Orange" displays Kubrick's unsurpassed mastery of film technique.

THE SUBTLE TOUCHES add up in "A Clockwork Orange" until the fabric of the film dissolves into a background for intellectual content.

Alec, the protagonist, is a young English hoodlum who knows only one answer to all his problems. That answer is violence, and Alec uses it to settle quarrels with his friends, and for pleasure.

After a spat with their leader, the group sets Alec up for an arrest. Alec kills a woman, then his friends brain him with a bottle and leave him for the police.

Young Alec, who narrates his own story, then becomes a pawn of politicians.

One party picks him to try out a new method of treatment of criminals which will provide the ultimate in law and order.

Alec is the first prisoner treated by the method, which involves conditioning so that he becomes physically ill in the presence of violence or sex.

The opposition party, however, objects and almost succeeds in driving Alec to suicide with the conditioning installed by the government.

After Alec's story hits the papers, the government covers its tracks by conditioning Alec back to his former state.

THE GOOD GUYS win again, right? If young Alec were a political prisoner or a novelist in Russia, you could say yes. But Alec is a killer, a pathological animal. Is it moral to turn him loose on unsuspecting society?

Kubrick set this passion play in the near future, but he need not have. Similar experiments already have been done, involving giving electric shocks to transvestites to cause them to become conditioned against wearing clothes of the opposite sex. Very, very soon, someone is going to have to answer the dilemma raised by people like Alec.

The technical aspects of the film are just superb. Kubrick creates a visually completed world, filled with art objects, furniture and a culture all logical extensions of present western society. The sheer imaginativeness of his future world alone makes the film worthwhile.

But again, the fantastic precision of his film is only the background for the real matter.

WHICH BRINGS me to my own objections to the film, which are admittedly academic. My reservations stem from another generalized, unanswerable question; such as, what is the nature of art?

It is clear in this film that the vision is not Kubrick's but Anthony Burgess's. Burgess wrote the novel on which the film is based about 10 years ago. It's an easy conclusion to draw, both from Burgess' statements and from his other work. "2001" was just as clearly the vision of Arthur C. Clarke, the co-author, rather than Kubrick.

That leaves Kubrick essentially in the position of a translator rather than a creator. He does it without equal, but the mind-stretching qualities of "A Clockwork Orange" belongs to Burgess.

A MEMBER OF THE PLYMOUTH SYMPHONY, Mrs. Jean Braun of Plymouth, is rehearsing for a concert next month in Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Braun has been asked to join the National ASTA Orchestra for a string concert. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

Her Viola Playing Is Taking Her To Atlanta

A diminutive Plymouth teacher and mother of two "sports-minded" boys will be Michigan's only representative in the National ASTA Orchestra next month.

Mrs. Richard C. (Jean) Braun has been invited to join the string orchestra which will give one performance, on March 9, at the joint national conference of the American String Teachers Association (ASTA) and the Musical Educators National Association. It will be held from March 8 through 12 in Atlanta, Ga.

MRS. BRAUN will be joining about 50 other musicians from all parts of the country in a morning concert. She plays the viola. Participants have been asked to get the music for the concert and rehearse ahead of time, since there will only one day for rehearsals as a group.

At least one of the five pieces should present no problems for Mrs. Braun, since she has already played it with the Plymouth Symphony. It's "Fantasia on a Theme by Thomas Tallis," by Vaughan-

Williams. Mrs. Braun has been first chair violist with the Plymouth Symphony for the past four years, and a member of the symphony for 12 years.

Director of the ASTA orchestra, which will include many college music teachers, is Richard Burgin, former concert master of the Boston Symphony and now associate conductor of that group.

THE CONCERT will also feature a world premiere of a work entitled "Choreography," by Norman Dello Joio. The composer himself will conduct this.

OTHER WORKS are Vivaldi's Concerto Grosso in D minor and selected movements from Stravinsky's ballet "Apollon Musagete" and Tchaikovsky's "Serenade."

Mrs. Braun has taught privately ever since her graduation from Oberlin College, in Ohio, and since last October has taught strings at Ladywood High School in Livonia. Her husband is an elementary school principal in Livonia.

Will the honor lead her to give up teaching to go into performing? Mrs. Braun replied, "I'm enjoying what I'm doing now."

Schoolcraft Plans New Craft Classes

Courses in macrame and weaving and in crewel embroidery are being introduced this week at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. Both are being offered by the community services department of the college for members of the community.

The class in macrame and weaving will begin Monday evening, Feb. 21. Taught between 7:30 and 9:30, the course will run 10 weeks and will cost $10. Registrations are being taken Monday in Room 100 of the Bradner Library.

Enrollment will be limited to 10 students, and anyone interested in registering early should contact the community services department.

The class in crewel embroidery will be offered Wednesday afternoons, from 1 to 3 p.m., beginning Feb. 23. This will run for six weeks at a cost of $15. A kit and hoop, worth approximately $7, will also be needed. Mrs. Jean Beberly Schurch will be the teacher.

Mrs. Mary Ann Beltz will teach the class. She has taken advanced study in weaving at North Texas State University. The crewel embroidery course will be offered Wednesday afternoons, from 1 to 3 p.m., beginning Feb. 23. This will run for six weeks at a cost of $15. A kit and hoop, worth approximately $7, will also be needed. Mrs. Jean Beberly Schurch will be the teacher.

It's Spring -- Now! --
At Tel-Twelve Mall's
Garden Show

Baby, it's cold outside! The snow may spring and the wind may blow -- but it's spring at Tel-Twelve Mall!

Trees are budding, flowers are blooming, and the grass needs mowing in the gardens that have sprung up all through the mall. Sixteen gardens bloom Feb. 18 to March 5, with Forsythia and azaleas, tulips and rhododendrons, pansies and hyacinths to delight the eye and to please the nose.

Stroll through the gardens between banks of greenery and beds of bright flowers. Relax on a little bench beside a waterfall. Enjoy the refreshing sound of a waterfall splashing among the rocks in a naturalistic garden.

There's a Japanese-style garden that features a mini-swimming pool with hot, bubbling water and a shoji screen cabana. Azaleas and a dwarf pine tree with a contorted shape contribute to the oriental flavor. Mosses are used for ground cover.

A special touch is provided by a 3 1/2 foot tall Kamakura Buddha. This beautiful statue, cast by well-known Michigan sculptor Marshall Frederick, represents peace and serenity.

Another garden has a meandering stone walkway, a tree-form pool and waterfall, retaining walls of redwood ties and ledge rock. It's planted with spruce and pine trees and shade trees as well as smaller flowering trees and shrubs.

Don't overlook the typical American backyard with lawn and patio and barbecue. Experts are on hand to tell you how you can build it yourself -- if you want to!

Check the putting green featured in one garden. Not a bad idea for a backyard! Golf anyone?

If you are looking for ideas you can use in your own yard you'll find plenty here -- wooden decks, stone patios, brick walks, retaining walls, lattices, screens, fences, garden pools, swimming pools, waterfalls, fountains, benches. Plants are in flat beds, raised beds, curved beds, angled beds, planter boxes and a variety of pots.

Tel-Twelve Mall's a great place to collect ideas or to just enjoy an early springtime from Feb. 18 through March 5 -- but please don't eat the daisies!

YOUR GUIDE on this Tel-Twelve tour is Betty Frankel, the Observer Newspapers' "Suburban Gardener" columnist. Judged in 1971 as one of the best three or four gardening writers in the state, Betty has a degree in landscaping from the University of Michigan. She and her family live in Farmington Township.

Giving Your Plants A Head Start

Get a head start on spring. Start some seeds indoors in a sunny window so the little plants will be ready to set out in the garden when mild spring weather comes.

Your green thumb will get a pre-season workout, and it is more economical than buying the little plants. Also, if you fancy something special you may not find the plants you want.

WHEN do you start the seeds? Zinnias, marigolds and other fast-growing kinds should be started six weeks before you want to put them in the garden. Start the seeds the end of March and the plants will be ready to set out mid-May.

Slower growing kinds, which include petunias, snapdragons, verbena and lobelia, should be started eight to 10 weeks before transplanting.

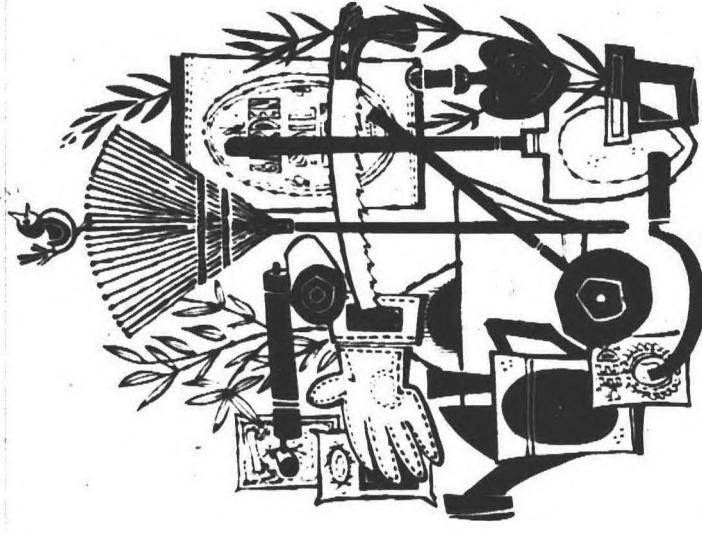

WHERE do you grow the seeds? A sunny window is all you need. Or they can be grown under fluorescent lights. You can make your own set - up by fastening the light tubes to the underside of a shelf. Any kind of light tube will do, but best results are obtained with special "grow lights."

WHAT do you use for a container? A flower pot, milk carton, cottage cheese carton can be used. Make holes in the bottom for drainage. Peat pots are good and simplify transplanting because the plants are set out right in the pot. Eggshells can also be used, too, and they can be planted right along with the plants, too.

WHAT do you grow the plants in? Garden soil is OK, or compost, but it should be sterilized. Heat the pot of soil in a 200 degree oven for 15 minutes, or put the pots of soil in a large kettle with water in the bottom and boil for a half-hour. Sphagnum moss or sand or vermiculite can be used, or a mixture of these. Vermiculite is used by the professional growers. It is sterile, light weight and readily available.

HOW do you go about it? Fill the container to within a half-inch of the top, leaving room for watering. Water thoroughly. Sprinkle the seeds on top or put a few seeds on the soil in a small container.

Your Landscaping Should Suit You

If a flat or large pot is used, seeds can be put in rows. If seeds are large, cover them with a bit of the growing medium. If seeds are tiny leave them uncovered. Water with a gentle spray. Cover with a piece of plastic to keep soil moist. Never let seeds dry out. Then cover with newspaper or a saucer of something to keep the light out, and put the container in a warm place. Seeds germinate best in the dark and at a temperature of 60 to 70.

Check the seeds after a couple of days and remove the cover after they begin to sprout and put them in the light.

The first leaves to appear are "seed leaves" and are part of the seed. Next come the true leaves. After the first or second set of true leaves develop, thin the plants or transplant them so they will not be overcrowded. Turn the containers to keep the plants straight. As they grow they lean toward the light.

Give them a little dilute liquid fertilizer after a couple of weeks and repeat every couple of weeks.

HARDEN the plants before they are put in the garden. Put the pots outside during the warm part of the day. Start with an hour the first day and increase the time each day.

WARNING: Don't go overboard and start too many seeds. Even one little packet can soon fill every available window sill. It's fun, but it's work to care for too many babies.

TIP: If you want to grow your own, but want to simplify the job, look for the preplanted kits. They come in many varieties.

"Landscaping" is what every new homeowner needs -- whether he knows it or not. And this goes for those who buy brand new houses set in a sea of mud, or those who buy older houses lurking in a dim tangle of trees and shrubs.

Landscaping is what you do to organize your outdoor spaces.

Trees and shrubs, hedges and beds of flowers can be arranged so your yard is a pleasant and functional outdoor living space. Plants can provide enclosure and privacy, shade and shelter, as well as the varied textures and bright colors that delight the eye. Paving can set off special areas and even the ground can be shaped and contoured so it is part of the landscaping.

Really, there is no right or wrong way to landscape. If rain water drains away from the house, if there's shade where you need it and sun where you want it, and the plants you select grow OK -- you've got good landscaping.

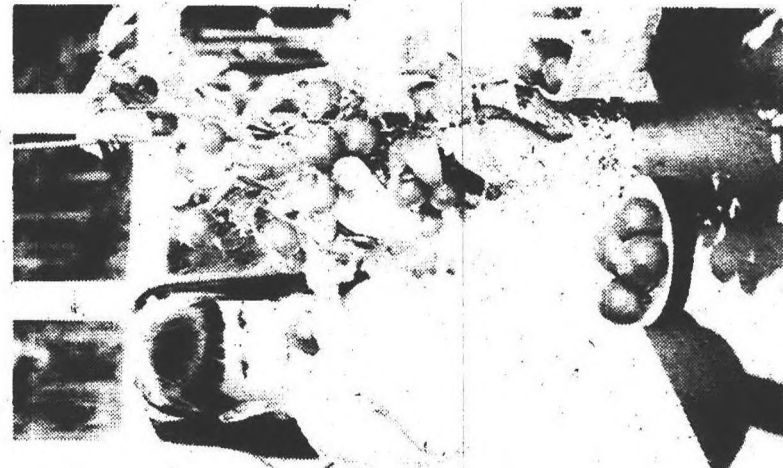

Give the kids a place to play, the adults a place to relax, guests a place to park their cars -- and you've got good landscaping.

Keep it simple so it isn't too much work to take care of, accent the front door so everyone knows where to enter, plant a colorful shrub or tree to enjoy from the kitchen window -- and you've got good landscaping.

The style can be modern or traditional, colonial or just plain you. It's all a matter of taste.

Then make a plan on paper. Get out in the yard and measure so you know what you have to start with. Then experiment a bit and fit your ideas into the space you have -- and there's your plan.

Grow Midgets Or Giants Nowadays

TOMATOES IN APRIL?

Yes, say the Burpee people, who bred this new Pixie hybrid tomato. It grows in a pot and is the earliest tomato to ripen, indoors or out. If you start seeds indoors by a sunny window now, you'll have ripe fruit by April.

If you have just a wee little garden (or if you have a small appetite), midget fruits and vegetables are just the thing to grow.

How about "Tom Thumb" lettuce with full grown heads no larger than a tennis ball, or midget carrots the size of a finger? There is a midget cucumber with four inch cukes on vines two feet long, and corn stalks 2 1/2 feet high with four inch ears. You could grow corn in a pot on the patio -- complete with a midget scare-crow.

Midget watermelons are great for our climate, because they ripen in a shorter time. They weigh three to five pounds and are just a nice handful. The mini-muskmelons are the size of a baseball and are abundantly produced on three foot long vines.

Don't overlook dwarf fruit trees. You can grow full-size apples and pears on trees not much taller than a man. Makes it nice and easy to pick those delicious apples.

Most popular of the minis are midget tomatoes. "Small Fry" and "Tiny Tim" have lots of little tomatoes on foot-tall plants. Great for a pot plant, either on the patio or in a sunny window indoors.

If you take the big view of life and prefer giants there are some plants just for you. Try "Burpee Delicious" or "Big Boy" tomatoes. Each fruit will weigh over a pound.

Burpee's "Right Royal" Squash is a real giant. It can weigh over 300 pounds. Sad to say, it really isn't edible. However, "Big Max" pumpkins which average over 100 pounds are good for pies and are really great for jack-o-lanterns.

Maybe it's just for the birds, but "Mammoth" sunflowers grow 10 feet tall with heads more than a foot across. Incidentally, the seeds are delicious and are as nourishing for people as for birds.

IT WEIGHS 301 1/2 lbs., it's Burpee's Right Royal squash, and it was viewed with delight at the Canadian Winter Fair in Toronto by a member of royalty -- Britain's Prince Philip.

How A Plant Can Tell If You Love Him (Her)

Do plants have feelings? Some green thumb experts say they do and that a plant shrivels up and dies if it is not loved.

There are others who contend that plants are perhaps sensitive to vibrations or some sort of emanations and have attempted to show how a plant recoils and backs away from a person it feels is hostile. A plant, they say, will droop its leaves and wilt if a person it doesn't like is in its vicinity. Have you been assaulted lately by an aggressive begonia?

Dr. Nathan Milstein, a New York City orthodontist who has made a second career selling lighting equipment and instructing people how to grow plants indoors under lights, maintains that plants respond to music and that music makes them grow better. He has produced and marketed a record called "Music to Grow Plants By" - a best seller in its field, no doubt.

In a personal interview, Dr. Milstein admitted that plants have no real musical preference, but seem to like all kinds of music, except perhaps hard or acid rock. So try a little Bach or Beatles on your geraniums.

Crazy as it seems, house plants really do seem to grow better if you give them a little special attention and tender loving care. So sing to them a little or just whisper sweetly to them. Perhaps it's just the extra carbon dioxide you exhale on them at close range. Scientists say that extra amounts of carbon dioxide stimulate plant growth. Or it may be LOVE.

Blue Potatoes; Purple Beans, Pink Bananas

Are you tired of growing the same old petunias and tomatoes? Is gardening a bore? Well, it's time to try something different -- and life will never be the same again for you or your friends.

For a start, try blue potatoes, purple green beans, black or yellow radishes, pink squash, golden beets, or white tomatoes. Yes, there really are such things.

Blue potatoes, with deep blue skin and tinted flesh, are amazing looking but are reported to taste good baked or boiled. Please pass the blue potato salad!

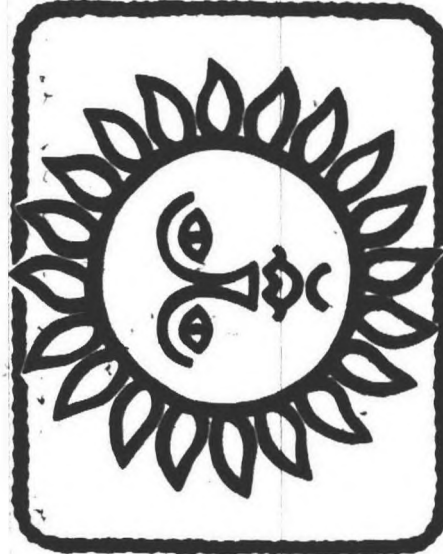

The "Royalty Purple" green beans are stringless snap beans with bright purple pods that turn dark green when they are cooked.

The pink squash is "Jumbo Pink Banana," with elongated squashes that weigh more than 10 pounds. They are a winter squash with smooth pink skin and orange-yellow flesh.

These psychedelic vegetables, and black, white or yellow radishes are listed in the current catalog of the Gurney Seed Co. (Yankton, S.D.). The golden beets are a specialty of Burpee Seed Co. (Philadelphia).

How about growing a birdhouse or a lampbase. There are gourds that are just the right shape and size. Also, the luffa gourd has fibrous insides that make a perfect substitute for a sponge or a washcloth.

Or grow your own spaghetti. There's a squash, known as vegetable spaghetti, with stringy pulp that makes a good stand-in for pasta when it is boiled. Sorry, it doesn't come with meat balls.

JANUARY AND FEBRUARY -- Arm chair gardening this month. Read the seed catalogs and garden books, and dream a little. Make plans for vegetable garden, flower beds, and landscaping so they'll really be super.

MARCH -- Eager beavers can get a start. Check trees and shrubs. Remove broken branches and those covered with insect cases. Prune, but not those trees and shrubs that bloom early. Spray fruit trees. Get the lawn mower sharpened. Start seeds indoors.

APRIL -- Clean up yard. Buy some liniment, but don't dig until the ground is dry and crumbly when you squeeze a handful. Seed lawns. Plant trees, shrubs, roses. Plant seeds of radishes, lettuce, peas, beets, spinach, chard, onions. Remember to "sow dry and set wet."

MAY -- This is really IT. Sow and mow. Start a compost pile. Plant evergreens, perennials. Late in the month sow seeds of tender vegetables and flowers and at month end set out little plants. Begin rose-care program.

JUNE -- Enjoy the roses and spring perennials. Keep a watch for bugs and diseases. Enjoy the first crop of vegetables and replant the rows after harvesting the first crop. Keep lawn mowed and beds edged.

JULY -- Relax in the hammock, and keep work to a minimum. Do chores when the beds are shaded. Plant seeds of perennials. Replant iris and oriental poppies if they are crowded. Plant some vegetables for a late crop. Dry flowers for a lasting winter bouquet.

AUGUST -- Keep cool and continue relaxing, but don't let the weeds get the best of the garden. Keep it cultivated and tidy. Water if there is prolonged dry weather. Harvest those luscious tomatoes and beans and squash. Start a new lawn (if you need one).

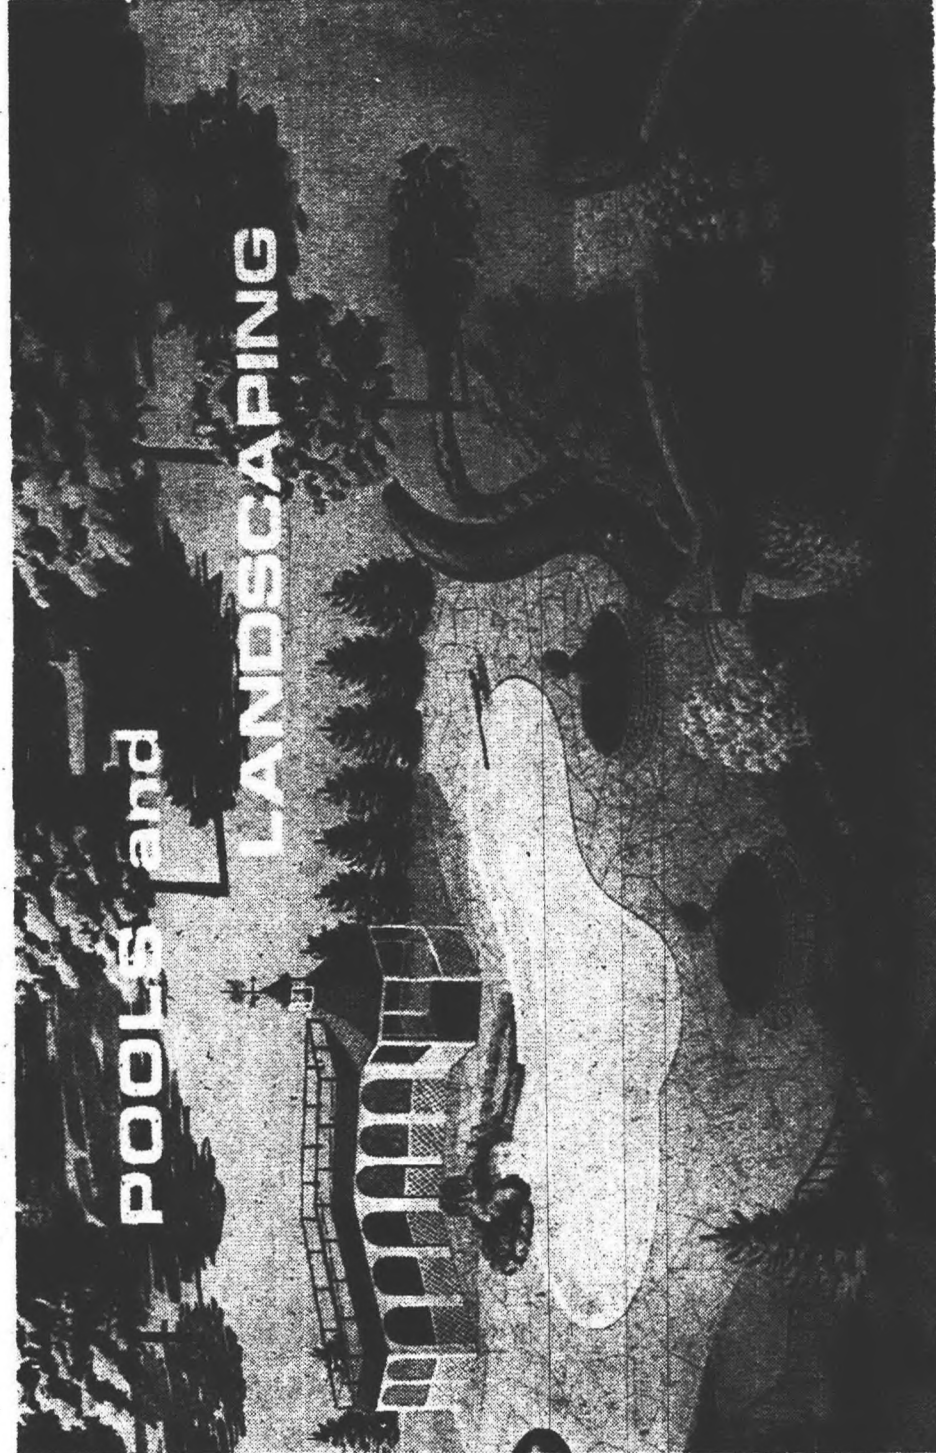

SEPTEMBER -- Fall planting time begins. Plant evergreens, perennials, small bulbs.

OCTOBER -- Plant tulips, daffodils, trees, shrubs. Clean up garden beds. Turn over soil in vegetable garden and leave in rough clumps. Buy some mum plants for instant color.

NOVEMBER -- Put the garden to bed for the winter. Clean tools and put them away. Put a winter mulch on flower beds after the ground has frozen. Give evergreens a good soaking before putting the hose away.

DECEMBER -- How about some indoor gardening? House plants can be fun and challenging, too. Prune evergreens to get a supply of Christmas greens.
