Ford Leads 140 Tax Refund Petitioners In Plymouth Twp

By FRED DeLANO

Tax refunds totaling an estimated $500,000 have been asked of Plymouth Township in 140 cases in which property owners charge that 1971 assessments were excessive and illegal.

The Ford Motor Co. alone asked rebate of $342,662 which it paid Feb. 11 of this year to Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes on its Sheldon Road plant.

Ford's check was accompanied by a statement of protest declaring, "This payment is made involuntarily under duress of penalties provided by law for non-payment."

The Ford Leasing Development Co. has similarly protested the assessment and resultant tax bill of $17,776 against the Leo Calhoun dealership. And in both of these cases, Ford has started action against the township in Wayne County Circuit Court to supplement protests pending with the State Tax Commission.

SUPERVISOR Maurice M. Breen confirmed that 140 protests, Ford's included, still await determination by the state, revealing that three other landholders also have started suits in Circuit Court. Breen said these are Lake Pointe Apartments, Hillcrest Apartments and the Ampco-Pittsburgh Co.

The refund requests are for the total tax paid, which Breen said was necessary and accustomed procedure. Although he estimated the total involved at $500,000, Breen said it will be up to the courts and the tax commission what actual refunds should be allowed, if any.

Hardest hit in case of any sizable rebate would be the Plymouth School District, for whom about 72 per cent of the taxes are earmarked. Others affected would be Wayne County, the township itself and Schoolcraft College.

In Ford's case, claims presented to the Board of Education place the school share of the tax on the Sheldon plant at $248,245 and at $12,878 on the Leasing Development Co. property.

COMPLETE reassessment of township property was made last year, supposedly bringing all evaluations up to 50 per cent of true cash value as the law requires. This resulted in a storm of protest before the Board of Review, and those not satisfied with the adjustments that were allowed then have carried the fight to the state and judicial level.

The Sheldon plant was given a cash value by the township of $15,253,160, leading to an assessment of $7,626,580. Ford says this is 61.97 per cent — instead of 50 per cent — of the true cash value which it estimates to be not in excess of $12,307,300.

Ford claims that it has been denied equal protection of the law and that due process guarantees of the 14th amendment of the U.S. Constitution have been abridged.

Breen said the township has full intention of defending all of the assessments, either before the state tax commission or in court. Township Attorney Donald Morgan will handle the cases, and the first one assigned in Circuit Court is that of Ford to Judge Victor Baum.

WHEN PLYMOUTH ROTARY ANNS, the auxiliary of the Rotary Club, conduct their annual Easter lily sale March 24 and 25, many children of the community will be assisting. Among the first to sign up with Mrs. May Lundin (left), project chairman, were these three

Still Weigh HS Plans

By KATHY MORAN

Growing pains in Plymouth-Salem High School are becoming headaches.

The school district administration has wrestled several months with the problems of splitting the community into two schools on the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park.

Though plans have varied, one intention has remained the same — that the educational park will be operated as a single high school next year and that the seniors will graduate from that single high school — now called Plymouth-Salem.

Monday's board decision to assign some of next year's juniors and seniors to the facility now called Plymouth-Canton High School did not change that intention.

The move was necessary because of limited capacity at PSHS and was based on a recommendation made by a citizens committee.

ACTING SUPT. John Hoben said the administration has not decided on a plan for assigning next year's juniors and seniors to the PCHS facility.

It may be done randomly, students may be asked to volunteer, or schedules may be examined to assign students to PCHS if they would normally spend most of their time in that facility.

In any case, both the senior and junior class of 1973 will operate as one unit through graduation.

And even after PCHS begins operating as a separate high school, with separate athletic teams and student government, there will always be exchange of students between the two facilities.

NEXT YEAR'S freshmen and sophomores will be the beginning of two high schools since they will graduate from PCHS.

Those classes will be assigned to the buildings next year by geographic location.

Students living in the Central and East Middle School attendance areas who will be freshmen and sophomores next year will be assigned to the Canton facility and eventually will graduate from PCHS.

Those living in the West and Pioneer Middle School attendance areas will be assigned to the Plymouth-Salem facility and will graduate from PSHS.

Broken down into elementary attendance areas, it means that those living in Bird, Smith, Isbister, Gallimore or Miller areas will attend Plymouth-Salem and those in Farrand, Tanger, Starkweather, Allen and Fiegel areas will attend Plymouth-Canton.

IN ORDER to fit the expected 3,500 students into the educational park facilities next year, the board agreed to locate 282 seniors and 287 juniors in the Canton facility.

The action followed complaints by the future juniors that they would be split up and would have to pave the way for a new high school when their loyalties were to PSHS.

The only way juniors could be treated as a single class and graduate from PSHS in 1974 was to assign both juniors and seniors to the Canton building.

If they all had been left in PSHS, the student population would exceed 2,600 when capacity is 2,000. Thus a citizens committee suggested splitting the classes yet treating them as single units.

THE RESULT is that just over 2,000 students will be assigned to PSHS and 1,470 to the building which will become PCHS.

An alternative was considered by the board, which would have continued indefinitely with one high school and assign areas in the buildings as departments. That way all students would constantly be traveling between buildings and tensions between rival student groups would virtually be eliminated. This concept has not been abandoned. Board member John Graves said he will attempt to have a citizen's committee established to study the feasibility of such an approach.

AS THE educational park is currently set up, students taking classes in advance science, dental hygiene, medical assistance, computer programming, day care and nursery, and so on will attend classes in the Canton facility. Those with classes in auto shop, welding, business and so on will take them in PSHS.

The two schools will always operate in that manner to avoid the costs of duplicating expensive programs.

PSHS Principal Bill Brown said Thursday that he talked to a group of 10 "uptight" students concerned about being divided from their peers.

"I think it's just a matter of not understanding what's going on," Brown said, adding that they seemed satisfied with the explanation.

The selection process for putting next year's juniors and seniors into either facility will be finalized soon because of the necessity to schedule classes for the coming year.

2 Women Hurt, One Critically, In Freak Tow Cable Accidents

By EDWARD WENDOVER

Two Plymouth women were injured — one of them critically — in separate accidents that occurred 40 minutes apart Wednesday afternoon when their cars struck the same towing cable stretched across Farmer Street.

According to Plymouth police, the women, who were both alone in their cars, failed to see the flashing lights of a tow truck which was extracting a tractor-trailer truck from the mud with a 30-foot tow cable stretched across Farmer.

Police said the women also did not see the driver of the tow truck who was waving his arms to warn traffic.

POLICE REPORTS, gave the following account of the two accidents at the intersection of Farmer and Karmada:

A car driven by Carolyn J. Olson, 17, of 15533 Portis, Plymouth, was traveling east on Farmer at 1:25 p.m. and "apparently not seeing the wrecker driver or the (2) flashing red lights on his vehicle" struck the cable.

The Plymouth Fire Department ambulance also responded and extracted Miss Olson from her car, where she was still sitting, and transported her to St. Mary Hospital. She was treated and released for cuts and bruises apparently received when her head hit the steering wheel.

AFTER THE car was removed by another tow truck and police had completed their investigation at the scene of the accident, they returned to the station where they received the report of a second accident with the same circumstances which occurred at 2:07 p.m.

A car driven by Mary Ann Ayotte, 21, of 1796 Nantucket, Plymouth, was traveling west when it struck the same tow cable struck 40 minutes earlier by Miss Olson.

Again, official police reports say that Miss Ayotte apparently failed to see the flagman.

The police and the fire department ambulance, which had just returned after transporting Miss Olson to St. Mary, responded to the second call.

They found Miss Ayotte unconscious in her car which had been ripped almost in half by the cable. Fearing that the woman had a broken neck, police and firemen moved her onto a special back board to get her out of the car.

Rescue efforts were hampered by the damage to the car which had pinned the doors shut.

After Miss Ayotte was extracted from the wreck, she was taken to Wayne County General Hospital and recovered consciousness en route, firemen said.

ACCORDING to fire department reports, Miss Ayotte suffered severe lacerations on the chin and upper throat. Wayne County General Hospital told The Mail and Observer Thursday her condition remained critical.

Fire Chief George Schoenneman said the hospital's doctors had called the fire department Wednesday night to determine more about the nature of Miss Ayotte's injuries.

Plymouth Police Chief Timothy Ford said no tickets were issued to either of the women or to the tow truck operator in connection with the accident.

The tow truck, owned by Detroit Towing Co. of Oak Park and operated by Eugene J. Rysdorp, was not damaged by the accidents. It was attempting to free the semi-trailer truck which had been mired in the mud in the driveway directly opposite where Karmada dead-ends at Farmer.

Garbage Truck Mishap Leaves Arm Mangled

A 30-year-old Westland man who works for the company contracted to pick up Plymouth's garbage, had his arm badly mangled when he was caught in a garbage truck packer Wednesday morning.

According to Plymouth police, they were first called to the street in front of 165 Burroughs at 8:30 a.m. by residents who heard yelling in the street.

When police and the Plymouth Fire Department ambulance arrived, they found Everett Ehlenback of 32516 Newaygo Court, Westland, lying on the ground. He had been collecting garbage and loading it in the truck owned by Hadyn Co., the company which holds the Plymouth garbage collection contract, when his arm apparently became trapped in the packer.

Ehlenback was freed from the packer by fellow employee Bernie Greening.

Firemen cut away the jacket on Ehlenback's left forearm, which was badly crushed, and tied it with a splint before taking him to Wayne County General Hospital, where he was listed in satisfactory condition Thursday after treatment for "compound fractures."

Plan Gets Canton OK

CANTON TOWNSHIP Drug counseling will be available to Canton Township young people following action by the Board of Trustees at its March meeting.

The board approved a $2,000 expenditure to participate in the Plymouth-based Council of Community Concern (CCC). Spearheading the movement is Carl Berry, of the Plymouth Police Department's juvenile division.

The crisis center is expected to receive some federal funds, Berry explained, as well as financial help from the Jaycee organizations in Plymouth, Northville and Canton Township.

Berry told the trustees that since last month the plan was amended so that the identification was with governmental units, not school boards.

Future plans call for the hiring of a full-time director, Berry said. At the present time the counseling center is located at Fralick House -- or "Our House" -- at the corner of Harvey and Fralick in Plymouth.

BE IT FINALLY RESOLVED that this resolution will serve in lieu of all other notice of the final termination of any rights that James H. Rossman may have in the Plymouth School District as Superintendent of Schools or consultant, and that to secure the benefits of this resolution he is to disassociate himself from any and all school activity, except those as provided for in this resolution and as may be provided for by this Board in the future, if any, and that under no circumstances will James H. THROUGH BIFOCALS

By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

In the aftermath of Monday's Board of Education meeting which was highlighted by the decision to move toward two individual high schools, three board members have asked for the opportunity to state their positions fully. John E. Hanskat and Fred Penar have combined in one joint statement, while another comes from Dr. John M. Ohno. Bifocals has usurped them and is pleased to print them in full.

Hanskat, Penar Clarify Views

Editor:

We are surprised that the Observer chose to label our proposal for managing the high school as "radical redirection" when in truth it is quite the contrary. Simply stated our proposal was that we continue to operate Plymouth high school exactly as we do now with the luxury of adding the new facility to our present campus, thereby assuring the full utilization of all facilities by all students.

Our proposal calls for retention of the present administrative structure and program and suggests that all expenditures from this point forward be for enrichment rather than duplication; additional titles, equipment and program in the learning centers rather than repeats; a strong commitment to intramurals involving many students rather than duplicating an entire varsity staff to serve only a few; co-curricular activities expanded to include areas not now serviced rather than duplicated to serve the additional students. In short a demand for creativity and innovation rather than additional dollars.

Our program envisions a Plymouth high school seeking excellence in all fields of endeavor, not just mediocrity through a dilution of talent, ability and energy by dividing what we now have into two units.

Let's face it, Plymouth High School presently has 2,400 students and attracts a talented and diversified staff because of our size. In addition we can offer programs not possible in two schools of 1,200 students because the available funding simply won't permit duplication. Our high school population will increase next year only due to growth - approximately 200 students. The fact that we are adding the ninth grade to the high school should not be a part of our deliberations.

In future years, as growth in the community demands, we have the option of continuing this program of enrichment, perhaps by adding facilities or courses not even now envisioned, or, should we desire, we can begin separate schools, south in Canton, west in Salem, or north in Lake Pointe. But for now this conservative approach of expanding what we now have instead of duplicating seems most prudent.

The students are demanding better educational opportunities, the community is demanding lower educational costs. Certainly this proposal meets both needs and deserves thoughtful consideration beyond the emotional atmosphere of last Monday night's meeting.

We hope such consideration is forthcoming, if not by this Board, perhaps by the next.

Ohno Adds His Interpretation

EDITOR:

I am sorry to notice that the paper dated March 15 simply emphasizes two opposing concepts on our high school and did not report clearly my position. The paper reported that I changed my mind during discussion. In fact, I did not change my mind - I favor one school system because I wanted to emphasize (1) maximum utilization of our instructors' talents; (2) economization of our tax money by avoiding expensive duplication; and (3) mobility of our students in our educational park.

I do not like the words "two high schools split" which one group frequently used. I emphasize the unity as well as the independent nature of two high schools and some freedom of registrations based on special talent and recommendation by proper administrators. During the discussion, I explained the above feeling, citing our seven children. Each child is different, but I do not want to say one child is inferior to another. Our children are located in different places for educational reasons and the scholarships received from the universities. As our children grow, they become independent and yet we maintain our family unity instead of splitting.

In our school system, as our population grows, additional educational facilities are needed. These should be united. In order to economize our tax money and in order to utilize our manpower resources, and also to recognize some kind of freedom of registration depending on the necessity, it is desirable to have one school system and at the same time independent high schools under each principal so that the administration of each school can take full responsibility of discipline problems. I noticed Mr. Hanskat did not mention discipline problems. Therefore, I want to emphasize this point, also the necessity to admit the independent nature of two schools so that we can emphasize the responsibility of each principal and his assistants.

I propose "two united high schools under a single school system," namely, two schools born from a single school system, located next to each other with a philosophy of one educational park. The unity is not separable under the same school board.

I hope this statement will help to unite two opposing groups in our Community to achieve our common goals.

New Library Books

Author of "America, America" and "The Arrangement," Elia Kazan has a new novel to offer. "The Assassins" is about two murders, one at the beginning of the book; one at the end.

The dramatic center of this novel, however, is not the murders but a murderous way of life.

Posthumously published, "Shadows In Paradise" is Erich Remarque's last novel. A German refugee spending the last days of World War II in Manhattan and Hollywood is the hero. But he lives still in another world, inescapable and threatening. Nightmares of flame, blood and pitiful screams disturb him and he remains obsessed with a need to avenge hideous wrongs and to confront their makers.

"If families may flourish without racism, so inevitably, may societies." In this belief, David Anderson writes "Children of Special Value" to present the problems and rewards of interracial adoption. He discusses the experiences of four families who chose to adopt across racial lines. He examines the prevailing attitudes toward adoption in general in America, problems encountered in dealing with agencies and adoption procedures, and the philosophical implications of interracial families.

Hope Hanley concentrates on "Needlepoint Rugs," explaining how to make them, the correct canvas and wool to select, the most effective stitches to use, and the special techniques of finishing - joining pieces of canvas firmly together, blocking and lining. She is the author of "Needlepoint," "New Methods in Needlepoint," and "Needlepoint in America."

Aldredge Heads Michigan Week

FRIDAY
David P. Aldredge, 30-year-old first vice president of the Plymouth Jaycees, was appointed by Mayor James B. McKeon this week as local chairman of Michigan Week festivities, May 20 through May 27.

In accepting the chairmanship, Aldredge said his main goal is to seek fresh new ideas for community involvement in the annual salute to the Wolverine state.

This will be the 19th year for the Michigan Week undertaking, which has led to the creation of the Greater Michigan Foundation as sponsoring agency. The Michigan Municipal League, State Legislature and Michigan's elected officials also work closely with the enterprise.

Aldredge brings strong credentials to the chairmanship, having served as Youth Day chairman in last year's observance. He also was in charge of the highly successful and profitable haunted house promotion of the Jaycees last fall.

A native of Huntington, W. Va., Aldredge is a sales representative of the Prestolite Co., operating from its Southfield office. He and his wife have two daughters, live at 44576 Erik Pass and moved to Plymouth from Toledo in 1970.

ONE OF the first steps Aldredge will take will be to appoint a chairman for each day of the celebration. These include Community Pride Day, May 20; Spiritual Foundations Day, May 21; Government Day, May 22; Heritage Day, May 23; Livelihood Day, May 24; Education Day, May 25; Hospitality Day, May 26, and Youth Day, May 27.

Already scheduled is the annual exchange of mayors on Government Day, with Plymouth being paired with Birmingham.

It also has been announced that the U. S. Army Field Band and Soldiers' Chorus will be here May 20 to present a

School Injury Brings Protest

PLYMOUTH
A concerned mother appeared before the Plymouth school board this week and gave an emotional account of an incident where the child was seriously injured at school but she had not been notified.

Mrs. Joanne McGarry told the board that her daughter was pushed into a wall, hitting her head, at Isbister Elementary School.

A teacher reportedly checked the girl's head and did not feel a bump. The child was reportedly given the choice of going home or staying in school, but Mrs. McGarry said afterwards her daughter did not remember being given the choice.

Four hours after the incident, her daughter came home with her eyes dilated and a lump on the back of her head.

Mrs. McGarry said she took her daughter to the hospital, where she was told the girl had a concussion and there had been slight hemorrhaging but it had ceased.

"The thing that upsets me the most is that I was not notified of my daughter's injury," Mrs. McGarry told the board.

swearing the telephone rather than an adult secretary; and unsatisfactory follow-up of complaints.

Mrs. McGarry's complaints were countered by Mrs. Michaelyn Page, president of the Isbister steering committee of the Parent-Teacher Group.

She said that 44 per cent, or 43, of the signatures on the petition were from persons who did not have children in Isbister.

She also said that only seven per cent, or four, of the signatures were from room mothers who supervise during lunch and would actually know what goes on in the school at that time. There are 58 room mothers.

Only 10 per cent, or 12, parents who signed the petition have visited the school during parent-visiting days, she said.

No one who signed it is a steering committee member or a parent aide, she said.

MRS. PAGE SAID that attempts were made to contact the parents who had signed the petition and invite them to a PTG meeting and discuss their complaints, but that only five signers showed up.

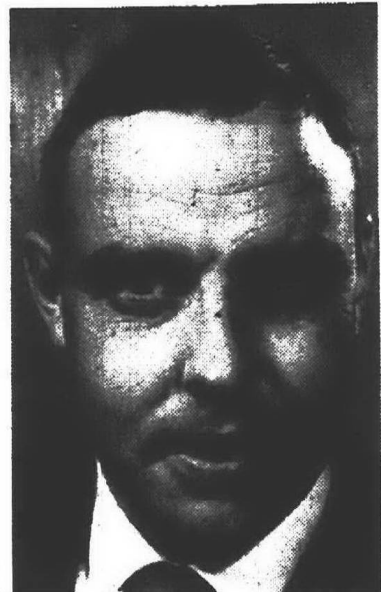

"By contrast, parents who have taken this time to find out how the school operates and know what their children are receiving, do have an understanding and acceptance of what the school staff is trying to accomplish," Mrs. Page said.

PLYMOUTH
Two special treats for Plymouth children are being set up by the city parks and recreation department in the form of a kite flying contest Wednesday, March 29 and an Easter egg hunt Saturday, April 1. Both will be held at the Hamilton Street playground.

Recreation director Stanley Stenek said the kite contest will open at 3:30 p.m. and will be for youngsters 14 and under. In case of rain, the contest will be held at the same hour the following day.

The egg hunt is planned for 9 a.m. April 1, but if rain forces a postponement it will be rescheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, April 2. Children from ages three to 10 are invited to participate.

In both cases youngsters are urged to register in advance at the parks and recreation office in the community building, 200 Union.

IN THE KITE contest, youngsters must fly their kites at least 30 feet for one minute to be eligible for a prize. Kites may be homemade or purchased, but there will be a prize for the best homemade product.

Stenek also listed first and second awards in these seven categories: highest flying kites, largest kite, smallest kite, fanciest kite, best workmanship, most comical and most beautiful.

With kite flying reaching its peak of popularity in the spring, Stenek reminded all youngsters of several safety rules that should be followed.

"Kites should be flown in an open field, and never near lights, telephone or high voltage towers," he pointed out. "Do not use wire or tinsel on kites, do not use metal ribs, do not run across public highways while flying kites, do not climb poles for kites or knock down entangled kites with stones, and do not fly kites during storms."

In the egg hunt, there will be prizes for finding the most candy eggs, best Easter bonnet from home, balloon blowing contest, best decorated hardboiled egg, best Easter costume, a penny scramble and for guessing the number of jelly beans in a jar.

Memorial Marks 30th Anniversary

Dr. James Girdwood, professor of Old Testament at the Great Lakes Bible College in Lansing, will speak at the 30th anniversary observances of the Memorial Church of Christ Sunday, March 19.

Services will be held at 10:45 a.m. and 1:30 p.m., with a dinner scheduled at 12:30 p.m.

THE MEMORIAL CHURCH, located at 35475 Five Mile in Livonia, had its beginning in a home in northwest Detroit on March 17, 1942. Temporary meeting places included two schools and an American Legion Home.

The first house of worship was completed in 1947 at Schoolcraft and Virgil streets in Detroit.

Continued growth led to the sale of this property and the erection of a church at Schoolcraft and Fenton streets in Redford Township in 1960. The Jeffries Freeway forced the church in the move to its present home in June 1970.

MAX COPELAND has been minister of the Memorial church since July 1, 1962. During the past 10 years, 336 new members have been received into the congregation, giving to missions has tripled, and two members have been ordained to the Christian ministry.

The congregation will vote Sunday on the calling of an associate minister, whose primary responsibility would be the supervision of youth program.

Ward Church Plans Passover Program

"The Messiah in the Passover" will be presented at 7 p.m. Sunday, March 19, in Ward United Presbyterian Church, Farmington and Six Mile Roads, Livonia.

"The Messiah" is a 45-minute presentation which demonstrates the traditional manner in which Jews celebrate this feast marking their escape from Egypt.

Christians have found it helpful in putting commemoration of the Lord's Supper in historical perspective.

THE PRESENTATION will be conducted by the Rev. Albert S. Brickner, general director of Israel's Remnant, Inc., a society with headquarters in Detroit and branches of ministry in Boston, Mass., and Daytona Beach, Fla.

Special emphasis is given to the way the elements of the supper portray the advent and ministry of the Messiah.

Israel's Remnant is an organization which seeks to share the message of Jesus with Jewish people and to inform Christians about the Jews, their beliefs, customs and relationship to Christianity.

BRICKNER was born into a Jewish family related to the orthodox synagogue in Mobile, Ala. He grew up in Detroit, where he attended Wayne State University, majoring in journalism.

While a freshman in college he became a Christian.

He graduated from Gordon College, Gordon Divinity School and Boston University Graduate School. He lives with his wife and three children in Farmington.

"Wine of Morning," the first film ever to win four major awards from the National Evangelical Film Foundation, will be shown at 6 p.m. Sunday, March 26, in Grand River Baptist Church, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia.

The feature-length color production deals with the life of Barrabas, the thief released by Pilate when Jesus was crucified.

and other Biblical incidents are woven into the film, which features a cast of 120 actors and more than 700 extras.

The film, besides, the foundation awards, was selected in 1958 to represent American Colleges and Universities at the International Film Festival in Cannes, France.

There is no ticket charge for the showing here, but an offering will be received to defray expenses.

Evangelical Movie Set For Plymouth Premiere

"For Pete's Sake," a new movie with a message, is coming to Plymouth in a Billy Graham style evangelistic setting next month.

The Penn Theater is one of a group of theaters throughout the country where the film is getting premiere performances during April. It will be shown here April 19 to 25.

Before that, there will be training sessions for those interested in acting as youth counselors during the showings. The first is Sunday, March 19.

JACK NORTON, director of Christian education at Plymouth Wesleyan Church, is chairman of a group of 12 men bringing in the film because of a concern for youth of the community.

Heading the Christian Life and Witness training course will be the Rev. Paul Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Plymouth.

He will conduct sessions in his church on North Territorial at 3 p.m. March 19 and 26 and April 9 and 16.

The course, Norton said, is the one that has been used successfully around the world by the Billy Graham Evangelistic Association and the Billy Graham Evangelist Film Mission.

While planned to use with the film here, it is not limited to those planning to serve as counselors but is open "to anyone who wants to know about the Christian life," he added.

Four parts of the course include the effective Christian life, the balanced Christian life, the Christian's witness and a follow-up session.

COMMITTEE MEMBERS working with Norton and Rev. Thompson to bring the film to Plymouth include:

Harold Head, former director of Victorious Christian youth in Detroit; Jim Houk, former Plymouth mayor; Ken Evans, youth evangelist at Calvary Baptist Church in Plymouth; Dick Kirchgatter, veterinarian; Donald H. Sutherland, a CPA and Don Pickren, a manufacturer's representative from Northville.

The committee's first meeting, Tom Hackney, Bob Maxwell, Jim McDowell, Art Reum and Bud Young also volunteered to support the project.

"For Pete's Sake" is a comedy-drama starring

'Passover' Is Sermon Topic

Temple Kol Ami will celebrate Shabbat Hagadol or "The Great Sabbath" at 8:30 p.m., Friday, March 24. The services will be held in Birmingham Unitarian Church, Lone Pine and Woodward.

The topic of Rabbi Ernest Conrad's sermon will be "How To Observe Passover."

Guest Passes

Guest passes for the Jewish Community Center, Meyers and Curtis, are now available for Jewish College students for $1 a day.

Robert Sampson and Pippa Scott.

It's the story of a man named Pete Harper, who on a damp, gray Sunday afternoon, was one of a large crowd in Denver's Bear Stadium listening to a sermon during a Billy Graham Crusade.

The movie follows Pete and his family during the months that follow as they meet the challenges of a Christian commitment. Faith becomes a working commodity for Pete, starting on the inside and growing up and out. The challenges include a motorcycle race over steep mountain trails, as Pete proves he's not afraid to try the world of the teenage cyclist.

Why was he there? "It was free." It was free, but Pete, his wife and their son all got more than they had bargained for. Moved by the message, they found themselves going forward.

Sampson starred in "The Restless Ones," also released by World-Wide. Miss Scott is well-known for her Broadway and television shows.

Cardinal Dearden, Bishops Schedule Talks With Teens

Teenagers from 13 to 21 will have the chance to tell Cardinal Dearden what they don't like about the Catholic Church in an unprecedented dialog at the Gabriel Richard Building, 3054 Michigan Avenue, from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Saturday, March 25.

In the first half of the confrontation, representatives from 24 vicariates will speak for their groups in voicing criticisms, complaints and suggestions. Later the prelates will respond to questions from anyone in the audience.

valid criticisms to present to the prelates.

ANY TEEN who wants to make a contribution to the dialog is invited to phone Hammang at the CYO office, Archdiocese of Detroit. He will tell them where they can join in the meetings to define the content of the teens' remarks.

New Site For Unity Worship

Unity of West Suburbia now is worshipping in the Clarendonville High School auditorium while waiting for a new sanctuary to be built.

The congregation recently sold its building on Curtis in Livonia to the Oakman Boulevard Baptist Church of Detroit.

Plans now are being made to build a 7,000-square-foot facility on the church's property on Five Mile between Inkster and Middle Belt.

Marlyn White, spiritual leader, said it was hoped that new facilities could be completed by fall. In the meantime, he added, the high school auditorium provides ample room for the worship and youth education activities.

At these meetings, the young people are formulating what they consider the most urgent questions and the most

Biblical Words Come Alive

The words of the Bible are coming alive in multi-media for the young at Orchard United Methodist Church in Farmington.

Life-sized murals depicting the events of Holy Week and puppet shows that tell the story of the parables are cases in point.

The murals — a whole hallway of them in the church on Farmington road north of 13 Mile — have been the project of fifth and sixth graders under the direction of Mrs. Jean McMillan.

Cut-out paper figures lining the wall show scenes beginning with the time Jesus entered Jerusalem right up to the crucifixion scene.

The children in the two grades are taking part in an art enrichment program that is offered at all levels in the Sunday School at various times in the year.

THE PUPPETS starring in parables were presented by young people in the seventh through tenth grades to the youngsters in the Sunday School on March 5, and a second showing is scheduled March 19.

The puppet shows grew out

THE LAST SUPPER is one of the murals that are the work of fifth and sixth graders at Orchard. (Evert photos) of a Sunday morning program that since fall has involved about 40 youth and 15 adults. The students looked at 15 Biblical parables and picked out a few, including the story of the prodigal son and the Good Samaritan, to dramatize with puppets.

They wrote scripts, putting the stories into a modern setting.

They also constructed a puppet theater complete with curtains, scenery and special lighting, created and dressed their puppet actors and set up a microphone system.

THE PROJECT, said Mrs. Nancy Passfield, one of the adults involved, had assorted advantages.

It gave the youth a variety of ways to use their talents, and involved the entire church family from adults down to the smallest nursery children who have enjoyed the show.

"It involved more youth, because there's more interest in this sort of program," she added, "and it showed the kids that adults care about their activities."

Quorum Delegate To Visit

Elder ElRay L. Christiansen will meet with the 46 full-time missionaries of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter-Day Saints in the Detroit area on March 22.

Elder Christiansen is an assistant to the Quorum of the Twelve of the church and is a representative of the church's ruling body. The individual meetings will take place at 425 N. Woodward, Bloomfield Hills.

During the week of March 21-25, Elder Christiansen will meet a total of 200 missionaries in the Indiana-Michigan Mission. The mission headquarters is Fort Wayne, Ind., where his tour will begin.

Twenty-four of the missionaries he will meet in Detroit are in the Dearborn Stake which has 3,900 members and covers an area which includes Livonia, Ann Arbor, Toledo, Taylor, Allen Park, Lincoln Park and the downriver area.

In this stake are six wards and five branches, making a total of 11 congregations.

Local Rock Group Performs March 19

A new Christian rock group made up of local performers will sing at 7 p.m. Sunday, March 19, in Livonia Baptist Church, 32940 Schoolcraft.

The group, named Hidden Power, will do several original rock numbers as well as gospel favorites.

Guitarists Jerry Thompson, Dave Dettler and Rick Bernard, all of Ward United Presbyterian Church, bass player Randy Bernard, also of Ward, and drummer Tom Rost of Highland Park Baptist Church in Southfield make up the group.

THEY HAVE FILLED numerous engagements in this area and plan to present more concerts to church and youth groups as well as performing for school dances.

Thompson, lead guitar, is 18 and a freshman at the University of Michigan in the pre-med curriculum. Dettler, country and back-up guitar, is 21 and works with the Voice of Christian Youth Pine Hills Camp in Brighton.

RHYTHM GUITARIST Rick Bernard, 19, is a freshman in engineering at Schoolcraft. Sixteen-year-old Randy Bernard is a Bentley High School student.

Rost, senior member of the group, has played his drums in several engagements with the Max Davey Singers in Ford Auditorium.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's Religion Update

Like faith healers, crystal ball-gazers and other types of seers need only to appear to have succeeded in one spectacular instance in order to maintain their public allure despite numerous failures.

Jeane Dixon, for example, is a widely publicized prophetess whose seemingly uncanny ability to predict the assassination of controversial public figures has made her a professed as well.

And while the very existence of the Secret Service attests to the constant danger of presidential assassination, Mrs. Dixon's alleged prediction of the death of John F. Kennedy was sensational enough to effectively obscure a hoard of devastating miscues.

FOR MRS. DIXON also predicted that in 1964 Richard Nixon would be the GOP presidential candidate running against Walter Reuther. Red China, she announced, would be admitted to the UN in 1959 — an interesting prediction indeed, in view of her disclosure that 1958 would be the date of the outbreak of World War III.

On Friday, Oct. 18, 1968, newspapers carrying Mrs. Dixon's syndicated column received a frantic telegram: "Delete prediction about Jackie." For Prophetess Dixon had written:

"I see no marriage in the near future for Jackie. The clouds of grief and despair still hang over her head." Two days later, the Queen Guinevere of the Kennedy Camelot made off with a Greek Merlyn named Aristotle.

UNDAUNTED, Madame Dixon has now entered the theological field with a book entitled: "The Call To Glory — Jeane Dixon Speaks of Jesus." This epic has been trenchantly reviewed by Chicago's Lutheran theologian, the Rev. Dr. Martin Marty, who effectively illustrates the lady's perspective and humility with the following quotes from her glorious call:

"Those who are acquainted with my life know that God's presence has been as familiar to me as it was to Moses and Abraham ... John (the Baptist) was psychic. Being psychic myself, I can easily understand the divine inspiration ... Through my everlasting faith in my own God-given talent, I felt I had much to offer the Kennedy family ... But somehow my friendly overtures to them have always met with a mystifying rejection."

Dr. Marty notes, however, the following Dixon vision which he categorizes as "On nudity:" — "I had a vision of the late President dancing on his coffin before the trumpets of the Lord, like King David before the Ark of the Covenant."

WHILE IT IS with no little trepidation that this writer deigns to dissent with so learned a theologian as Dr. Marty, accuracy requires the footnote that David was not quite nude. He "danced with all his might," the Second Book of Samuel reports (Chapter 6, Verse 14) "girded with a linen ephod." Yet Dr. Marty does have a point, in that this performance in a scanty loin cloth so enraged David's wife Michal that she charged him with indecent exposure. (Verse 20)

The late JFK was sufficiently handsome and charming that he no doubt featured in many a maiden's dreams. But when a 53-year-old female publicly divulges her vision of the president of the United States clad in a linen G-string and dancing on his coffin — well, her rejection by the Kennedy family is hardly "mystifying."

Dr. Marty also notes another vision (several paragraphs long) which Mrs. Dixon reports on page 48 of her book. He notes that this is identical to the vision reported on page 191, and asks: "How is it that someone who can look ahead to the year 2037 forgets what she wrote a scant 143 pages earlier?"

The Stroller... Tripe A Delicacy

By W. W. EDGAR

"Hey," the portly innkeeper called as The Stroller headed toward the dining room for the daily luncheon session. "Come over here and tell these fellows what tripe is — they claim they never heard of it. For a moment or two, there was the suspicion that there was a plot in the making, but the listeners stood aghast as this wayfarer from the Dutch Country explained that tripe actually is sow belly cut in long strips after butchering and was considered a delicacy "back home."

They were even more aghast when told that it is a tasty dish, either pickled or reduced to smaller bits and used as one of the main ingredients in Philadelphia pepper pot — a soup that once was as famous along the east coast as oyster stew.

The mere mention of tripe reminded The Stroller that pepper pot had a great deal to do with the history of America for it was this dish, concocted by General Washington's forces during that horrible winter at Valley Forge, that provided the sustenance for the march to victory over the British and the founding of the new country.

It is history now that Valley Forge was one of the epic chapters in the American Revolution. Had Washington been forced to admit defeat there, chances are we wouldn't be the country we are today.

There were no smiles on the faces of the listeners now and the innkeeper has promised — if at all possible — that ere long we'll be treated to the dish that helped shape the course of the country.

IT WAS strange that tripe should be mentioned at the time, because only a few hours before The Stroller received a phone call and the voice on the other end cheerfully remarked —

"I was driving through Pennsylvania over the weekend and spotted some scrapple. I'll leave a package of it at the counter for you at lunch time."

This call could have come from only one person — Vance Keeney, of the Harvan Co. and a staunch member of the Plymouth barbershoppers who sing every Tuesday night. Scrapple, like tripe, is one of the products produced at butchering time. It is the scraps of pork and other tidbits that are rendered and placed in a deep dish much as corn meal mush.

When cold, it is sliced and fried or broasted, and there is little that tickles the palate more than some good old Philadelphia scrapple.

AND to make the visit to the inn even more unusual, The Stroller was called to a table and introduced to Mrs. Eleanor Spohn, a young woman who admittedly suffers from a few pangs of homesickness.

"I enjoy your telling of things back home," she said, "because it is a link with the area around Reading from which I came."

Half kidding, The Stroller remarked, "I suppose you can bake shoo — fly pie."

She smiled and nodded her head, saying, "We have it quite often. It is one of our favorites."

To the uninitiated, shoo — fly pie is a sort of ginger cake, with a caramel bottom, baked in a deep pie crust and topped with crumbs of flour.

Scrapple... tripe... shoo — fly pie — all in a few hours.

Morton Taylor Paving Looms

By MARIE MCGEE

A street deletion may have opened up a new avenue of progress in Canton Township. It came inadvertently — in remarks from the township's engineering consultants, Wade, Trim and Associates.

Sounding much like a planning consultant, Wade Trim's Canton representative, Glenn Roberts, made some comments about the future role Morton Taylor Rd. will play in the township's development, thereby prompting some official action that might otherwise have gone by the boards.

ROBERTS' suggestion at this week's planning commission meeting stemmed from the request of Republic Development Corp. to delete a street in the Carriage Hills No. 4 subdivision between Morton Taylor and Lilly Rds., north of Hanford.

Republic officials made the deletion request after reviewing their plans and determining that two ingress and egress points were unnecessary.

A saving of $22,000 would be realized. Republic spokesman Walter Goodman told the planning commission. This saving could then be passed along to prospective buyers, he said.

The street that would be eliminated was known as Barchester Drive. Under the original planned unit development agreement, it was shown to run east-west through two subdivisions, Carriage Hills and Willow Creek, linking Morton Taylor and Lilly Rds.

FIRMLY AGAINST the street deletion was the township's planning consultant, Michael Manore, of the firm of Parkins, Rogers and Associates.

He recommended denial because "it is not in the best interest of future residents of Carriage Hills Sub. 4."

Manore said that by reducing the number of ingress and egress points to just one "forces all subdivision traffic going east from Morton Taylor and west to converge at one point."

The subdivision has approximately one-half mile of frontage along Morton Taylor, Manore continued. Such frontage requires two ingress and egress points to adequately serve a subdivision with that much frontage.

IT WAS this discussion of the frontage on Morton Taylor that prompted Roberts' suggestion that was eventually adopted.

Roberts said he could see advantages and disadvantages to the deletion, but the township's primary concern right now should be in getting Morton Taylor paved —

Student To Run For Esch Seat 5 Districts Intervene

WALTER SHAPIRO
Candidate

A University of Michigan graduate student became the first to announce candidacy for the Democratic nomination in the 2nd Congressional District race in August.

Walter E. Shapiro, a former "Nader's Raider," said he is seeking office "because I am irate that the youngest person in the House is a 31-year-old reactionary."

"More than one-quarter of the American people—those under 30—are totally unrepresented," he said.

Five Observerland school districts and the Tri-County Citizens Group have now been named as defendants in the Detroit school desegregation suit before U.S. Judge Stephen Roth.

The Garden City, Wayne-Westland, Livonia and Redford Union school districts joined with 35 other school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to ask Roth to be collectively allowed to enter the case.

Southfield School District petitioned for intervention by itself.

Roth ruled Wednesday that all of the districts seeking intervention could enter the case and that the Tri-County Citizens, a group of residents in the three-county area who sought intervention, be named as defendants.

Roth excluded the National Action Group which had also petitioned for intervention.

The Roth case has aroused suburban concern because he has asked the State Board of Education to submit plans for a metropolitan school district that would include some suburban schools as a remedy to segregation in the Detroit system. Roth has not ruled on any such plan and is presently considering several plans for bussing of only Detroit students between that city's schools to balance the student racial composition.

The suburban school district inclusion in the school plan was first suggested by the Citizens Committee for Better Education, a group of white Detroit homeowners. Detroit school board member Patrick A. McDonald had told The Observer he favored the intervention of suburban school districts into the case.

DR. WILLIAM WOMACK

HOMER WEIR, MD

New Leader At State Home

A change in command at Plymouth State Home and Training School will take place next week with Supt. Homer Weir, MD, leaving to head a new center in Southgate.

Dr. Weir, who has headed the Plymouth institution for six years, will be replaced by Dr. William M. Womack, who is currently assistant superintendent at Caro State Home and Training School.

Dr. Weir was appointed superintendent of the Southgate mental retardation center in October.

A PROFESSIONAL educator, Dr. Womack taught emotionally disturbed children in Detroit for 11 years. He coordinated day training programs for the mentally retarded in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties for three years and also was administrative supervisor for nine child health centers for two years.

In 1969-70 Dr. Womack managed general education services at Chrysler Corp. and the next year was assistant manager for training non-academic personnel at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Womack completed undergraduate work at Lane College in Jackson, Tenn. He received his master's degree in guidance and counseling from U-M in 1939 and his doctorate from U-M last year. "DR. WEIR'S broad experience in planning and administering inpatient and outpatient services for the mentally retarded gives him unusual qualifications for this assignment," said Dr. Gordon Yudaskin, director of the Michigan Dept. of Mental Health.

A graduate of University of Illinois Medical School in 1940, Dr. Weir was certified in pediatrics in 1945.

He was director of the retardation center, department of pediatrics at Baylor University, Texas and medical director of Mt. Rainer State Home and Training School before coming to Plymouth.

Trout Stocked In Proud Lake

The Proud Lake chain and the section of the Huron River down to Milford have received plantings of trout, bass and sunfish. Already some legal size brown trout are being taken in Lower Proud Lake by ice fishermen.

The chain had a carp problem until last fall when its fish population was killed off by the Dept. of Natural Resources. It is being restocked.

Marvin Hartwig, of the DNR Pontiac district office, said anglers are using grubs, kernel corn and sometimes minnows to take adult brown trout on the lower lake.

The Proud Lake chain is not considered a trout lake; rather, it is a "two-tiered" lake and may be fished all year.

McDonald Takes A New Wife

U.S. Rep. Jack McDonald (R-Farmington) married Marion Kampmann, 28, in North Hollywood, Calif., on Saturday, March 11.

McDonald, 39, said he met his bride in May, about a month after his separation from his first wife, Joyce. He won a divorce last summer.

Mrs. McDonald is a native of Hamburg, Germany, and has lived in Los Angeles for the past seven years. She was assistant program director for KTLA radio station in Universal Studios. It is also her second marriage. She has a five-year-old son, Nicky.

HERE'S THE LIST of what has been planted so far:

Upper Proud -- 5,000 fingerling rainbow trout, 1,000 yearling rainbows, 855 fingerling smallmouth bass.

Lower Proud -- 5,000 fingerling rainbows, 500 adult browns, 855 fingerling smallmouth bass and 15,000 fingerling hybrid sunfish.

Huron River -- 1,000 fingerling browns at Wixom Road and another 1,000 at Burns Road. These, however, are subject to regular trout rules and may not be taken until April 29, and it's doubtful they will be of legal size (10 inches) for a few seasons.

A reception was held for the couple in N. Hollywood Saturday and a Washington reception was planned for Wednesday.

They will live in McDonald's Great Falls, Va., home along with McDonald's two sons, Michael, 17, and David, 12.

McDonald was first elected to the House in 1966 and is the former Redford Township supervisor.

RAINNY WEATHER last week will begin to make ice conditions generally uncertain in lower Michigan. Already the DNR is advising fishermen against driving cars on any lakes.

As the season nears an end, fishing has been improving. Perch and bluegills are moving into the shallows. Ice is breaking up on Wayne County rivers and lakes.

CREATIVE INTELLIGENCE — Maureen Stern and John Lyons will be lecturing on "The Science of Creative Intelligence" at three area locations this week. (Observer photo)

They'll Lecture On Deep Rest

The failure of sleep to prevent stress and fatigue has led to development of a supplement known as the "science of creative intelligence."

The supplement is described as the experience of deep rest by Maureen Stern and John Lyons, advocates of the science which is also known as "transcendental meditation" (TM).

THE PRINCIPLES and practices of TM will be discussed in four free introductory lectures given by this relaxed duo this week.

The first will be Tuesday, March 21, at 8:30 p.m. in Room 112 of the Southfield Parks and Recreation Building, 10½ Mile and Evergreen.

Wednesday it will be at Schoolcraft College in Room F330 of the Forum Building at 8 p.m.

They will talk in Redford Township at 8 p.m. at 15534 Beech Daly between Five and Six Mile.

A Farmington meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. on Friday in the fellowship hall of the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, 26165 Farmington Rd. at 11 Mile.

BOTH LEARNED the science by attending a three-month course taught by Maharishi Mahesh Yogi.

The trained "guides" operate out of the International Meditation Society office at 248 S. Adams in Birmingham.

Lyons stresses that TM is a natural, effortless experience which involves taking 15-minute deep rest naps twice a day to release accumulated stress and fatigue built up during the course of daily activity which sleep does not prevent.

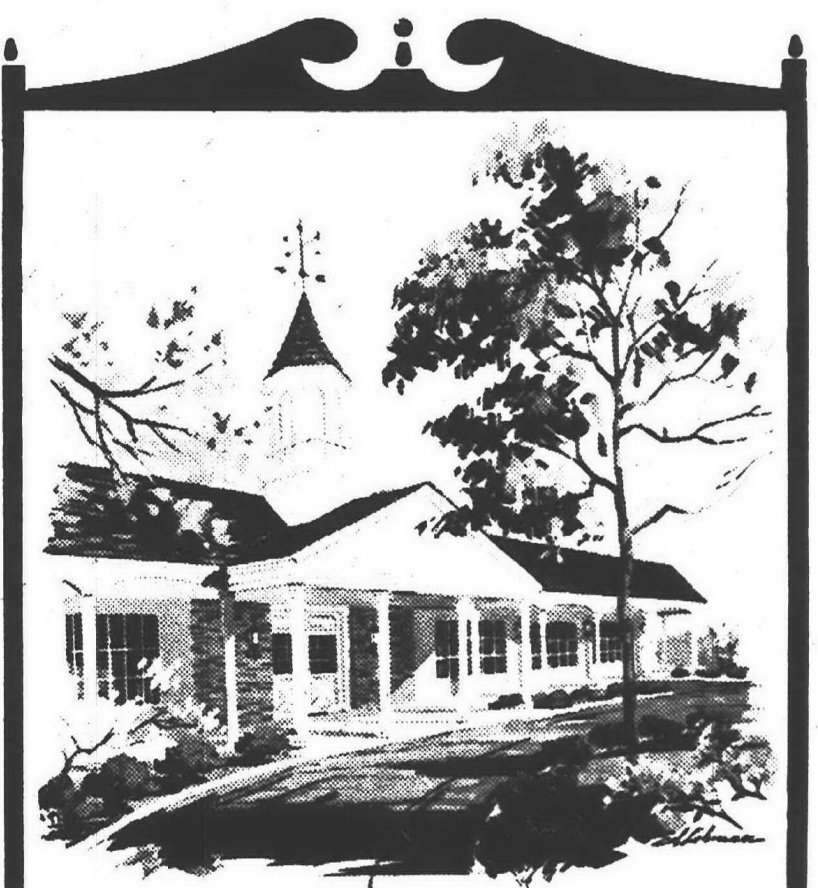

By experiencing deep rest and releasing stress, Lyons says, the individual is able to perform more efficiently and operate at his potential level.

"Medical studies have verified that each human has a foundation for more energy, intelligence and creativity that any individual can realize. It is possible to refine the nervous system just through the experience of TM, or deep rest, and enjoy clarity of mind to express yourself more efficiently in any activity."

"It is solely a technique to prepare an individual to perform better in his particular activity," says Miss Stern, "and is not a means in itself."

With an entry of 760 teams, which makes it one of the largest city association tournaments in the country the Detroit Women's Association opened its annual title competition Saturday afternoon at Eastland Bowl.

While the entry is down a few teams from other years, Mrs. Agnes Ekstrom, DWBA president, is confident that the Detroit tournament may go back to the top of the list among women's event in the nation.

"We've been at the top and have been recognized as the largest -- and it may happen again this year," she stated while admitting she had no explanation for the drop.

The girls are getting like the men," she said, "they're going where the bigger purses are."

While the women were getting underway in quest of the title, won last year by the Thunderbolt team with a 3023 count, the men's association was extending its deadline for entries to March 27. This positively will be the last day, according to Tom McKay, secretary of the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

THE SHARPSHOOTERS in the various classics throughout Observerland had to take a back seat for scoring honors during the past week.

The outstanding performances were registered in the Senior House League at Bel-Aire Lanes where Al Rogerson came through with a 769 series on games of 268, 236 and 265.

Right behind came Andy De Camillo with games of 246, 254 and 236 for a 736. This was the finishing touch to a big week for Andy as he also turned in a 695 in the Guys and Dolls League.

Two more 700 series marked the high scoring week as Bill Moore topped the Classic with 716 and Ron Weintraub followed with a 702.

Other high scores in the Classic included Steve Killian 269, Bill Moore 269 and Jet Perelli 265.

In the Business Men's League, Bob Oakes showed the way with a 652 and Erv Watson Jr. followed with a 637.

Among the women Carroll Parker and Jackie Dix shared honors at 603.

another warning that the older boys had better look to their laurels. Taking his regular turn in the youth league he fired a 199 game in a 529 series.

Jim Weinrauch also had a 199, but could get no higher than 482 for his series.

In the Junior High Girls circuit Shelly Rizzo was high with a 502 and Marsha Terry had a 207 in 462.

Among the adults Virginia Harris paced the Friday Noon Ladies Classic with a 603.

RALPH SHOOK, a 162 average bowler who has been firing at the pins for 24 years, earned membership in the "Tough Luck Club" at Merri-Bowl.

After rolling games of 171 and 173 in the Sunday Mixed League he posted 11 strikes in a row -- only to leave up the No. 4 on the final ball for a 299 and 643 series.

His only satisfaction came in the fact that he now holds the high single game and series record for the league.

Wayne Murray was the big gun at Country Lanes when he came through games of 201, 268 and 181 for 650 to set high game and series marks for the house.

ON THE OTHER hand John Glazas converted the 7-10 at Garden Lanes and then put together games of 189, 278 and 198 for 665 in the Ford Service League.

ONLY ONE BOWLER broke the 700 barrier in the Garden Lanes Classic.

After games of 243 and 244 Immer Santii slipped to 224, but it was enough to give him a 711 and a big margin over his nearest rival, Paul Sterling, who posted a 657.

Other high scores included Dick Preston 637, Gordon Cantrell 645, Hal Baskin 640 and Harvey Wilson 640.

At Westland Jerry Holt earned the pacesetter role with a 680 that included a losing game of 263. John Ayotte had a 255 finisher for 679 and Ray Williams landed third with a 256 middle game in a 676 series.

GERRY MACH'S Flowers team with a 2999 count won the title in the Tri-City Women's Tournament that closed last week at Westland.

YOU CAN ADD the name of 10-year-old Jeff Dishong to the stars of the future after his showing in the Westland Junior League.

With a 138 average he posted a 240 game in a 523 series.

LITTLE JIM HAMLIN, 11-year-old son of the Fred Hamlin, proprietor of Farmington Lanes, sounded

'M' Gridiron Star Enjoys New Role As Math Teacher

By W.W. EDGAR

No one would surmise that the soft spoken young fellow with the coal black hair, long sideburns and a gracious smile addressing the mathematics class at Plymouth High School was a hardened veteran of the Western Conference football wars.

But Guy Murdock, three time All Big-Ten center and co-captain of the 1971 Michigan team, was relishing his new role as an instructor in the classroom.

"It's a lot different than I thought it would be," he confided while explaining that his duties at Plymouth High were part of the field work necessary to earn his diploma in May.

"I figured teaching would be enjoyable, but never as much as it has been in the few weeks I've been here. Now I'm looking forward to a career of teaching and coaching with a great deal of anticipation."

While pondering his future, Guy, who is a math major with a minor in physical education, couldn't help recalling the past three years as a member of the Wolverines who won two Western Conference titles and made two trips to the Rose Bowl.

As he looked back over this exciting experience, the six-foot-two, 215-pound center who played a major role in the success of the Wolverines selected four games as those he will long remember.

"I'll never forget the day we beat Ohio State in 1969 to win the title," he confided. "That was one of the greatest days a fellow could have. Then, there was the victory over the Buckeyes last season."

"And, of course," he added, "who ever could forget the two frustrating experiences we had in the Rose Bowl."

"First, there was Coach Schembechler's heart attack on the morning of the 1970 game that shocked us and upset us mentally for the game. Then, last year, we just seemed unable to do anything right. It was so frustrating."

Mention of the game on last

New Year's Day provided an opportunity to question the strategy of sticking to a ground game instead of going to the air when all seemed lost.

"When you're in a tight spot," he answered, "your best move is to use the plays that were successful through the season. If you look at our record you'll see that we won eight games with our ground attack. And we won by commanding margins."

"So, it was only natural to assume these plays would be good enough in the Rose Bowl."

Then, with a trace of a smile, he said, "And one little break that would have gotten either Billy Taylor or Glen Doughty loose would have made all the difference. It was the same with our passing-one completion along the way - or one interception in those closing minutes, would have turned the tide, too."

Asked what he thought of the offensive system in which Coach Schembechler calls all the plays, Guy had a ready answer.

"If the coach has to take the blame for a defeat - when it comes -- he ought to have the right to call the plays. More than that, he's in a better position to call them as he has the benefit of advice from the spotters in the press box."

"Maybe the quarterbacks called the plays in the old - old days. But they didn't have the defenses to study that we have now. That's enough of a task, without selecting the plays, too."

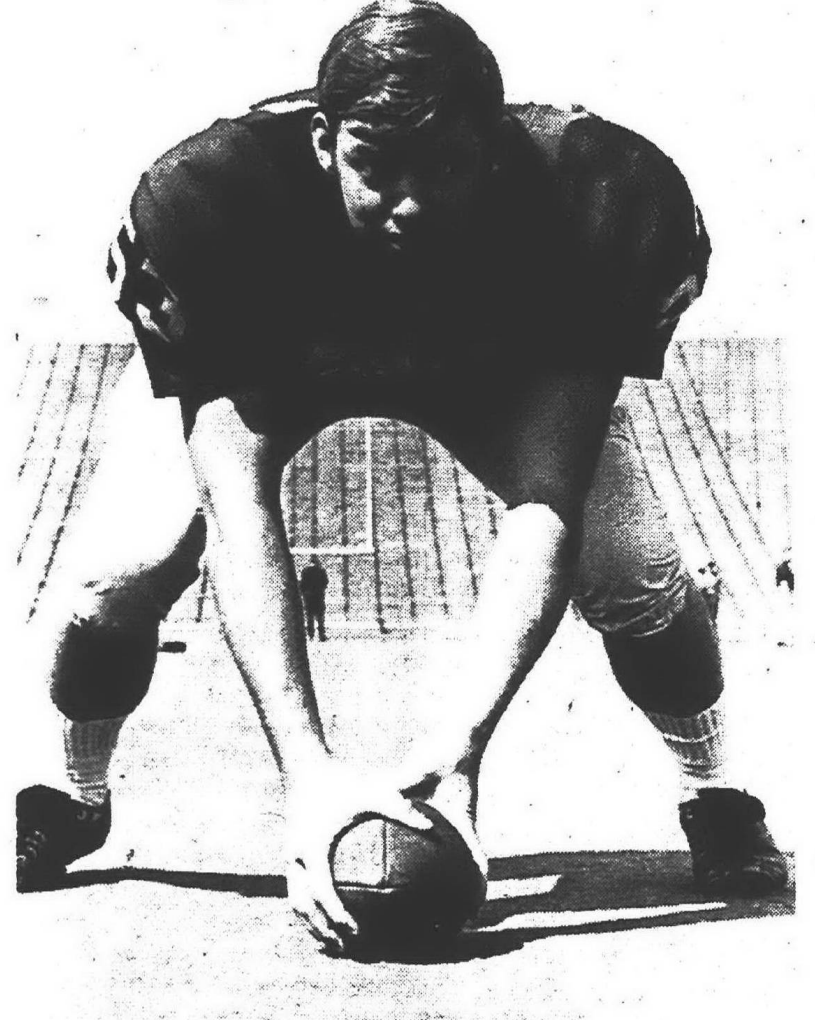

Discussing Coach Schembechler's methods Murdock answered the critics by stating that he never saw a coach who became so involved in a game after the starting whistle blows.

"He's in the game more than we are," he explained. "When we are pulled from a game for a bit of a rest or to get some advice, we just sit on the bench and wait our call to action again."

"But there's no rest for Bo. He's up and down, calling and yelling, and getting involved in every play. He's a rugged taskmaster -- but he gets you in condition and ready for a game. You can't ask any more than that."

As a parting shot the Wolverine veteran said, "I just can't wait to get on the job as a teacher -- and a coach -- at some high school."

No mention was made of pro football, but that sounded like bad news for the Houston team that got him in the National Football League draft.

GRIDIRON TO CLASSROOM -- Guy Murdock, All Big-Ten center and co-captain of the 1971 Michigan football team, is finding real enjoyment in a new field -- instructing math at Plymouth High School. It is part of his field work to qualify for a diploma in May. "Football was enjoyable," he claims, "but teaching is going to be interesting, too."

Trotters And Pacers Return To Wolverine

The trotters and pacers returned to Wolverine Raceway Thursday for the opening of the state's first major harness race meeting and one could say that the battle between the horses and the track wound up in a tie.

The management had helicopters flying over the mile racing strip for two days prior to the opener in an effort to dry out the water logged track.

The experiment succeeded to the point that horses could race but the times were hardly worth mentioning. The opening event went in 2:39.1 and it was a tired Scot Far, an eight-year-old who pulled away from the others in the stretch to win by lengths and lengths.

That was the pattern all of the evening and only once did the judges have to call for a photo of the finish. That came in the sixth when three pacers hit the wire at once and for a long time the crowd thought they had viewed one of the sport's rarities...a triple dead heat for first.

After a lengthy period the judges finally picked North Star as the winner with ancestor second and Track Hawk third. The time was 2:33.4, the fastest of the evening.

used the helicopters for two days and dried out the strip enough to start the season.

"We know the track won't be fast for a couple of weeks but we believe the times will improve nightly if we get a break in the weather. The kind of break we need is some warm weather and no rain. Who knows what to expect from the weatherman in Michigan in the spring."

Driver Merritt Dokey, of Kalamazoo, started the season with a big night, guiding three horses into the winner's circle.

He started with Scot Far in the opener, winning by as many as four lengths in 2:39.1. He had just as much luck with Wrights Cleoette in the third, coming from fourth on the final turn to take the lead and then pull away for an easy victory in 2:39.3.

But the easiest triumph came in the ninth when he found a mud-lover in Delta Knox and hit the finish line 70 yards ahead of General Bay in 2:35.1.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Are Detroit area tracks ready for winter racing? That question has been asked numerous times during the past two weeks and as of right now there isn't an answer.

Hazel Park's operations were rubbed out for three days, Tuesday and Wednesday blacked out and races called off after one event on Monday, because of track conditions.

The heavy going and the fact that there were numerous holes caused the jockeys to refuse to accept mounts and management had no recourse other than to rework the track and get it into condition that would be acceptable to the tiny riders.

The half-mile strip at Northville Downs appeared to have collapsed for the final three programs and Wednesday's racing was probably the worst of the entire year due to the numerous holes in the strip.

TIME AFTER TIME horses that never showed a break on their past performances would step into holes on the backstretch, going into a bad break and in most instances the drivers got the horses back on stride and drove to the barn area.

On four different occasions horses went down, spilling the drivers on the track. There weren't any injuries but there were four mud covered reinsmen who didn't have any good words to say about the racing conditions.

Wolverine Raceway found the rains and spring thaws turned the track into a heavy, muddy surface. There wasn't any danger of accidents since the horses appeared to mire down on the backstretch and on one or two occasions it looked as if the horses were leaning against the fence to get second wind before continuing on to the finish line.

Tracks in other parts of the land run into similar problems and appear to have some kind of answers. From this corner it seems that Michigan's operators should get their heads together, visit other areas where winter racing is conducted and learn what is done to make conditions suitable for racing.

A deep bed of limestone appears to be the answer in the Toronto, Canada area. Others have found the artificial Tartan surface assures good racing at all times.

We have no idea what is needed in Michigan. We do know that year round racing is with us and probably will be continued in the years to come. Thus it is up to the track managements to solve the problem.

There isn't much sense in going through the happenings of this winter year after year. There has to be a way; and the track managements should be duty bound to find a solution.

ALTHOUGH the weatherman did everything but smile on the final three nights, Northville Downs closed its second winter meeting Wednesday with business up 13.9 per cent over that of a year ago.

A closing night crowd of 3,189 wagered $290,554 to hike the nightly average to $267,650. That compared to $234,934 last winter and to the $247,471 for the Jackson-Northville campaign in January. The total handle for the 44 nights was $10,438,337.

If you think of sparrows as the only birds around these suburbs in winter, think again.

There's a sharp-eyed gentleman in Farmington Township who has been keeping track of the visitors to his feeding station and back yard woods during the winter.

He doesn't want to see his name in print, but he reports that "I have observed the following birds this winter: Blue jays, cardinals, tufted titmouse, downy woodpecker, yellow-shafted flicker, juncos, wrens, goldfinch, mourning doves, sparrows (including chipping, English, etc.) and plenty of crows."

READERS MAY have noticed that the heading of this column has a bird, and that the species changes each season.

In winter we use a blue jay; in late winter and spring, a red-winged blackbird; in summer, Kirtland's warbler (the only Michigan-only feathered resident we have) and in fall the pheasant.

Our friend in Farmington goes on with some feeding tips:

"I use the finer bird seeds mixed with sunflower seeds and also hang suet in the bird feeder."

"In small-treed or bushed areas, I nail an old tin pie plate to a stump or post which is approximately six feet off the ground. In the plate, I place old kitchen fats mixed with bird seed."

"If you like birds, this method will bring you rewarding results: (1) You will see plenty of different kinds of birds; (2) you will notice little holes in the surrounding trees that have been pecked clean of bugs."

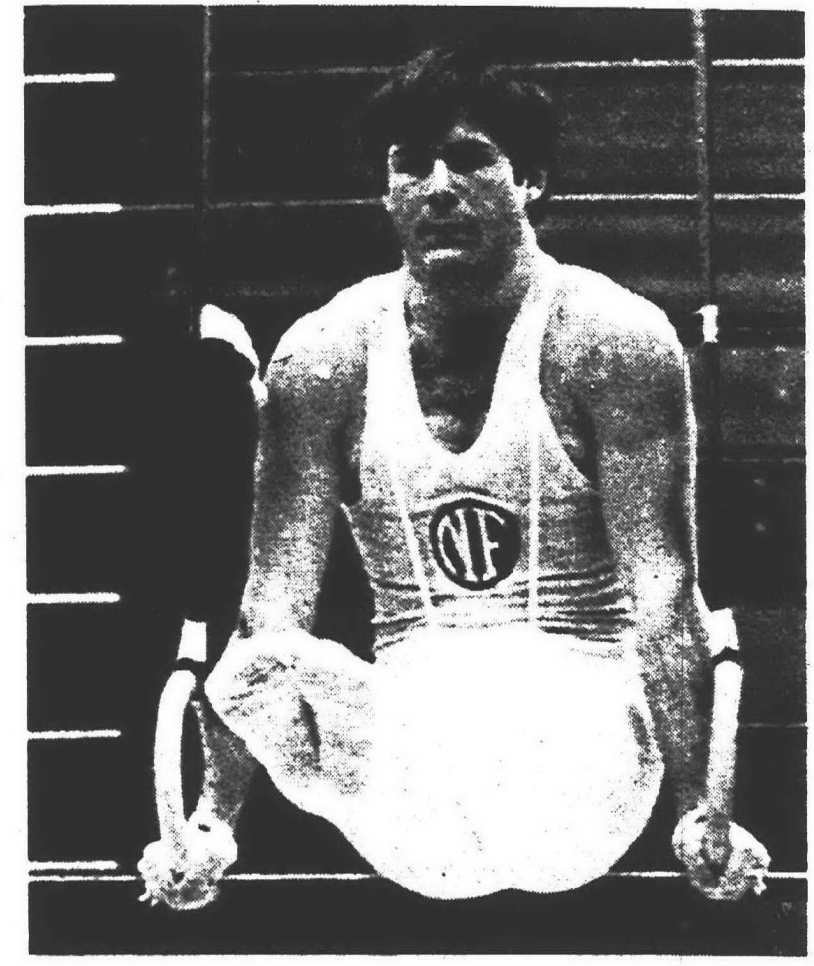

Our correspondent has had a few visitors we haven't had at our feeder this winter. We have had no crows, wrens or titmouse.

We have had common redpolls.

There was great excitement the other day when a small crested stranger appeared. While leafing through the bird book to identify him, we discovered there was a whole treeful -- there must have been 45 or 50 of them -- just like him. They turned out to be cedar waxwings.

'Pontiac Central Just Too Quick'

GC East Falters In State Title Bid, 69-65

By TOM DONOGHUE
Observer Sports Editor

The bubble has burst for Garden City East.

Billy Joe Young's Panthers ran into a quick Pontiac Central squad and fell out of the state tournament picture in the quarterfinals at Farmington, 69-65.

Thus ends a 17-5 season which included a 12-4 regular season mark, a district crown, and a regional title over Detroit Northwestern.

East was far from being outplayed... just outmaneuvered by four points. The Panthers never had the lead after the first minute and were tied just twice in the early moments of the clash.

In fact with only three minutes remaining, the Pontiac Chiefs were in command by 15 points, 69-54. East gave it all it had and reeled off 11 straight points but fell four points shy of advancing into the state semifinals at Ann Arbor.

PONTIAC SCORED its 19th win in fighting its way to the semifinals for the third consecutive year. The Chiefs met Lansing Sexton in the 5 p.m. battle at Crisler Arena on Saturday (March 18).

Pontiac's Floyd White took the opening tip and popped it home. East's Dave Jackson notched it at two-all and Jack Hayes hit from the corner to put the Panthers up, 4-2.

Larry Cole zipped in his first of nine for Central and Panther Jeff DeHarte put East up for the final time, 5-4.

The next four minutes saw Pontiac reel off 12 straight points to capture a 16-5 advantage. Jackson and Hayes hit in the closing seconds to cut it to 16-9 at the end of the quarter.

With two minutes left in the half, Jackson made four straight from the line to slice the margin to three points, 29-26 but Pontiac's Cole hit two quick buckets and the Chiefs led at the half, 37-30.

It was a story of the Chiefs converting Panther turnovers into easy baskets.

JACKSON opened the second half with a two-pointer but Pontiac kept the momentum and maintained an eight to 10 point advantage throughout the quarter.

The Chiefs were up at the end of three quarters, 58-48, and it appeared they could coast to an easy win.

Within a two minute span, the Chiefs hit four straight buckets by Jimmy Green, Larry Russell and White and were up 65-52.

Panther 6-4 forward John Grigal then picked up his fifth foul, forcing him to leave the game after giving it about 200 per cent with only 50 per cent there to give.

JACKSON blocked three shots and zipped in two more scores and it was narrowed to 69-63. Randy Mastako scored the final bucket at the buzzer and the scoreboard read 69-65.

Russell and Cole each hit from the floor and Pontiac went up by 15 points with 3:08 remaining. East moved into a full court press and the Panthers kept their fans on edge to the final second.

Hayes and Jackson each hit a bucket and a freethrow and with 1:01 showing on the clock, it was 69-59 in favor of Central.

"Central's quickness was the real difference," said Billy Joe Young. "They were so quick they prevented us from using our favorite patterns."

East was outrebounded, 41-23, with the Panthers having only one rebounder in 6-4 Jackson. The loss of Grigal under the boards was one of the reasons for the disappointing ending for East.

Each team hit well from the floor with East scoring 45 per cent on 26 of 57 and Central popping in 28 of 60 for 46 per cent.

Jackson led the scoring for East with 12 of 23 from the field and seven of eight at the line for a game high of 31 points. Russell paced Central with 23 points followed by Cole with 20.

The Chiefs out-turnedover East, 15 to 13, but the Panther miscues stood out with three resulting in breakaway scores.

"Twelve turnovers is something like batting .300," added Young. "We only batted a little below .300 but didn't get the key hits."

RU's Swim Coach Ralph Deetz Honored With Mann Award

Redford Union's swim coach Ralph Deetz received much more than the state's highest swimming award.

Deetz was honored with the Matt Mann Award for outstanding contribution by the Michigan High School Swimming Coaches Association and it touched a little closer to home than most people realized.

"I was the swim coach at Ypsilanti High School and Matt who was the swim coach at University of Michigan really did a lot for me," said Deetz. "He would take time out from all his work at U-M to help me with the high school kids."

DEETZ just completed his 14th year as coach at Redford Union, after 14 years at Ypsilanti. He finished runnerup in the state three times at Ypsilanti and has placed second in league meets in several years at RU.

The RU coach has spent 10 years on the National High School Swimming Executive Board, three years on the state swimming committee and is past chairman of the Matt Mann Award Committee.

"Receiving this award has to be my biggest thrill ever," said Deetz. "Matt Mann really meant a lot to me as he did to swimming throughout the country."

"He got me started back in 1945, and I'll never forget him."

Matt Mann was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1884, and began swimming at the age of eight. He was crowned the British Empire Swim Champion at the age of 16.

MANN took over coaching duties at U-M in 1926 through 1954... a 28 year span that saw the Wolverines compile a 201-

25 win loss record, in addition to 13 NCAA championships, and 16 Big Ten swim titles.

The U-M coach directed the U.S. Olympic team in 1952 and died 10 years later on August 6, 1962.

Thus came about the Matt Mann award which went to Deetz. He was given the honor at the Class A championship swim meet.

Redford Union placed 14th in the state meet with Dearborn capturing honors for the second consecutive year.

Madonna Readies 'Angel Street'

By BETTY MASSON

Michael Burden has to be both a discerning director ... and a lucky one.

Burden is the new (since last fall) speech and drama instructor at Madonna College in Livonia, and was responsible for choosing and directing the first full production of the Madonna College Theater. He chose a gaslight era melodrama, "Angel Street."

He couldn't have foreseen that two weeks before the play was to open, it would receive a recommendation from Vincent Price.

Yet this is exactly what happened when Price described it as a "very good play" in a talk at Schoolcraft College.

AND HIS DESCRIPTION should help attract a large audience to Madonna Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, March 23, 25 and 26. Curtain time is 8 p.m., and tickets will be available at the door of the new Activities Building before the performances or by calling the speech and drama office. They are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

It was in "Angel Street" by Patrick Hamilton that Price made his first appearance as a villain. He played Jack Manningham, a despicable character who tries to torture his wife into insanity, while pretending to be kind. Bill Drummonds of Detroit is taking the role of Jack in the Madonna version.

Since her mother died of insanity, Bella Manningham is more than half convinced that she really is going out of her mind. Marge Abrams of Westland is Bella.

While Jack is out of the house, a kindly police sergeant visits her and convinces her that her husband is a homicidal maniac suspected of committing a murder 15 years ago in the same house.

Ken Osiecki of Detroit plays the role of the Scot, Sgt. Rough.

Rough and Bella work together to try to unmask Jack, and ultimately Bella gets her revenge.

Others in the exciting melodrama are Juliann Desmond of Romeo as Elizabeth, the housekeeper; Mary Jo Quesnell of Sterling Heights, as Nancy, the upstairs maid; Robert Marcilina of Detroit and Robert Mrowka of Livonia, as police officers; and Patrice Hauck of Fremont, Ohio, as the muffled lady.

THIS IS BURDEN'S first year at Madonna, where he has been given responsibility for organizing a speech and drama department.

He received his MA in drama last year from the University of St. Louis, and appeared in many productions there. He also did some teaching.

One of his best - remembered performances was as Bernardo in "West Side Story," with the Marquee Players in St. Louis, a group associated with the American Muscular Dystrophy Association. "I played Bernardo and I've got the scars to prove it," he claims.

A native of Illinois, Burden is a singer and dancer as well as an actor and director. He appeared in the Jewish Community Center's production of "Fiddler on the Roof" this year, and also dances with and is technical director for the Young Dancers Guild.

He helped arrange the guild's visit to Madonna in January when the new building was opened. He also gave a one - man dramatic show there as part of opening activities.

MARGE ABRAMS of Westland plays the tortured wife, Bella, in Madonna College's production of "Angel Street." She's shown with her tormentor, her husband Jack, played by Bill Drummonds of Detroit.

BURDEN SAYS the new building is "marvellous" for student productions, but he has had to do a lot of planning and filling in of requisitions (for paint brushes) to get it ready for "Angel Street."

The curtains will not be in place, but Burden is turning this handicap into an asset. Not only will the Manningham's living room be shown throughout the play, but also Angel Street itself. "We're getting a very interesting, free flowing production because of that," says Burden.

Burden came to Livonia because of the theater and because he welcomed the opportunity to organize the department. A musical may very well be forthcoming next year.

Certainly we can look for more student productions out of Madonna.

Phyllis Diller To Star As A Concert Pianist

ROCHESTER Phyllis Diller's premiere as a concert pianist in the Detroit area is one of the surprise attractions planned for the Sunday concerts at the Meadow Brook Music Festival this summer.

The popular symphony - pops series will run for nine weeks this July and August, according to Festival Manager Sandor Kallai, with a different star headlining the program each Sunday.

In addition to Miss Diller, other highlights of the series will be "The World of Gilbert and Sullivan," Andre Kostelanetz conducting the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, and a Sunday evening performance of the Pennsylvania Ballet.

ARTHUR FIEDLER, the distinguished conductor of the Boston Pops, will open the Sunday season on July 2 as guest conductor.

On opening night, Fiedler will conduct the brilliant Detroit - born pianist Joann Freeman in the Grieg Piano Concerto, and a variety of light classics in the Boston Pops tradition.

The Pennsylvania Ballet, accompanied by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will be featured on Sunday, July 9. This will be the fourth performance that week of the outstanding young company that has in nine years received wide acclaim throughout the United States.

Returning to Meadow Brook Festival this year on July 16, is one of its favorite conductors, Mitch Miller. Miller is a musician who has lifted the obscure oboe to renowned status, and is an enthusiastic maestro whose concerts feature the popular classics. Traditionally, Miller will in finale turn to the audience and lead them in a sing - along.

MISS DILLER, comedy star, will play the Beethoven Piano Concerto No. 1 with the Detroit Symphony on July 23, and will, in all likelihood, perform from her comedy repertoire as well.

Concert and television personality Skitch Henderson will return to the Meadow Brook podium on July 30. A talented composer, conductor, and orchestrator, Henderson combines his skill as a pianist with a colorful individuality that marks an entertaining evening of music.

Direct from London, "The World of Gilbert and Sullivan" will be presented with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at Meadow Brook Festival on Aug. 6. Six repertory artists will perform a charming anthology of Gilbert and Sullivan tunes and patter, including light - hearted excerpts from such operas as "H.M.S. Pinafore," "The Mikado," "Pirates of Penzance," and "Yeoman of the Guard."

Scheduled to follow the classic series concert performances of "Aida" on Thursday and Saturday nights, the "World of Gilbert and Sullivan" rounds out a week of opera at Meadow Brook.

On Aug. 20, Arthur Fiedler returns to conduct the final Detroit Symphony concert of the summer season. His soloist will be the Australian - born 13 - year - old pianist, Rita Reichman. She will perform the Mozart Piano Concerto in C Major, K.421. The theme from the second movement of this concerto was used as the theme for the film, "Elvira Madigan."

Bologna-Taylor Romance Makes Delightful Movie

By BETTY MASSON

Can we ever leave our childhoods behind us?

That's the essential question of the movie "Made for Each Other," the delightful story of the courtship of "two self - destructives confronting the life force." One is Jewish, the other Catholic.

The stars are Renee Taylor and Joe Bologna, who happen to be of Jewish and Italian descent respectively, and any resemblance between them and the movie is purely planned.

RENEE AND JOE are the couple who originally wrote "Lovers and Other Strangers," although they quit the picture part way through and another writer took over. This time they were taking no chances on having someone else change their insights into what makes people, especially families, tick. The movie was filmed in New York by Wyde Films (a subsidiary of 20th Century-Fox) with Bob Bean (a New York state Protestant) as director.

This picture is Joe's first. Renee, more successful than the part she plays, has had a good deal of stage and television experience.

Both turn in great performances - Renee as the third-rate actress Pandora Gold, and Joe as Giggy (Gig) Panimba.

Flashbacks detail their childhoods as the two meet in a Christmas Eve emergency encounter group session.

PANDA IS FEELING unloved after years of being groomed for a stardom she'll never achieve by a Jewish mother and a philandering father. Her love life seems as grim as her career.

Gig is torn between the machismo concepts of his father and the morbid piety of his mother. A saint who tore out his eyeballs as a present for the woman he loved is held up as a fine example of devotion to the little Gig. No wonder he's substituting a series of affairs for emotional involvement.

Again, as with "Lovers," the family scenes are the best part of the picture, the consternation in the close-knit, misunderstanding Panimba family when son brings home a Jewish girl, the distress Mrs. Gold suffers when she finds out her daughter (a Pisces) is mixed up with a capricorn.

MADE FOR EACH OTHER

now showing at

Quo Vadis Penthouse II

Rating: PG

In spite of the difficulties it's an optimistic picture. Gig and Panda are really trying to understand each other and meet each other's needs, with an equal blending of love and humor.

Incidentally Joe and Renee are reportedly very happily married. Evidently they have been able to come to terms with what they were taught as children.

But I hope they don't forget... I'm looking forward to more of this kind of realism.

MARLON BRANDO portrays Don Vito Corleone in the much-discussed movie, "The Godfather." It opens Wednesday, March 22 in the Americana and Terrace Theaters.

New Band Is Seeking Members

An adult community concert band is now being formed at Berkley High School. The new band hopes to draw its basic membership from Oakland County, but interested participants from adjacent communities will also be welcome.

The new band is being sponsored by Oakland Community College's Southeast campus.

Interested persons may contact George Cartsonis, supervisor, Office of Student Activities, Southeast Campus Center, Oakland Community College, 13200 Oak Park Blvd., Oak Park.

Under present plans the band will meet Monday evenings at 7:30, for rehearsals in Berkley High, Catalpa and Coolidge.

Detroit Chorus Needs Singers

DETROIT The Detroit Metropolitan Chorus, official chorus of Detroit, needs experienced choral singers to help in its June concert. Interested persons are asked to meet with the chorus Monday, March 20, at 7:30 p.m., in the Music Building, Room 101, Wayne State University, Ferry at Cass.

Spring Artrain Visit Excites All Plymouth

Nothing ever has stirred as much excitement among artistically and culturally minded residents of the Plymouth area as the impending visit to that city of the Michigan Artrain.

The five-car "Vision of Art" which was created last year by the Michigan Council for the Arts will stand in Plymouth on the C & O siding at the Starkweather Ave. freight office for 18 days, beginning Wednesday, April 19 and continuing through Saturday, May 6.

OF 23 appearances booked throughout Michigan for 1972, this is the only showing which has been arranged in Observerland for what, in effect, is a gallery on wheels.

There will be no admission charge at any time to go through Artrain, and many visitors from surroundings communities are expected to take advantage of the opportunity.

The site for the train is in the northeast portion of Plymouth, in an area known as Old Village, and vast improvements in appearance already are under way through the efforts of a site beautification committee.

ARTRAIN carries a distinguished gallery of many original pieces of traditional and contemporary paintings, sculptures and other art objects. The three passenger cars plus a baggage car and caboose which house the exhibits were contributed and redesigned for this purpose by the Michigan Railroads Association. Railroads serving the local communities on the visitation schedule provide engines to haul the train.

It is designed to be a stimulating force wherever it visits bringing about activities and events that can become annual functions. In Plymouth it overshadows all else as spring of '72 approaches.

EFFORTS TO schedule Artrain for Plymouth first were begun nearly two years ago by the Community Fine Arts Council, when it became apparent that the train actually would become a reality as the result of mounting statewide interest. From the beginning, the coordinator of the project has been Mrs. Ray (Jo) Hulce, head of the CFAC which is active in Plymouth's cultural affairs throughout the year.

However, instead of aiming for just a one-shot promotion, leaders of the community banded together to form an organization that is known as "Kaleidoscope Plymouth" as a permanent entity, with Artrain merely its first undertaking.

IT IS the goal that "Kaleidoscope Plymouth" will remain the theme and springboard for reflection of Plymouth's creative spirit in subsequent years through promotion of other cultural events each spring.

"Just as a kaleidoscope produces an endless and exciting variety of ever-changing images, we hope that 'Kaleidoscope Plymouth' also will reflect the many facets of creative spirit in our community," said a spokesman.

"We propose to perpetuate this opportunity through an annual spring celebration by providing an opportunity for our citizens to demonstrate their abilities through all of the great art forms. Artrain will be the catalyst to kick off this awareness."

THE PLYMOUTH organizers have taken seriously the suggestion from Lansing that any local visit of Artrain be seized upon as a means of showcasing community creativity, and a host of organizations have planned special undertakings.

Mrs. Denver (Gae) McCord, chairman of the community activities committee, this week listed these as among the participants:

American Association of University Women, Three Cities Art Club, Western Suburban Stamp Club, all Plymouth schools, Plymouth Study Club, Plymouth Nursing Association, Gaffield Photographic Studio, Plymouth House Galleries, D.A.R., Plymouth Garden Club, Parent-Teacher Association, Jaycees, Retailers Association, Plymouth Grange, Youth, Inc., National Honor Society, St. John's Seminary, Plymouth Auto Dealers, Waterwaves, Boy and Girl Scouts, Plymouth Council of Churches, Schoolcraft College and the Plymouth Symphony.

Many business firms also are participating individually in providing materials and services, and representatives of both the city government and the C&O also have cooperated to the fullest.

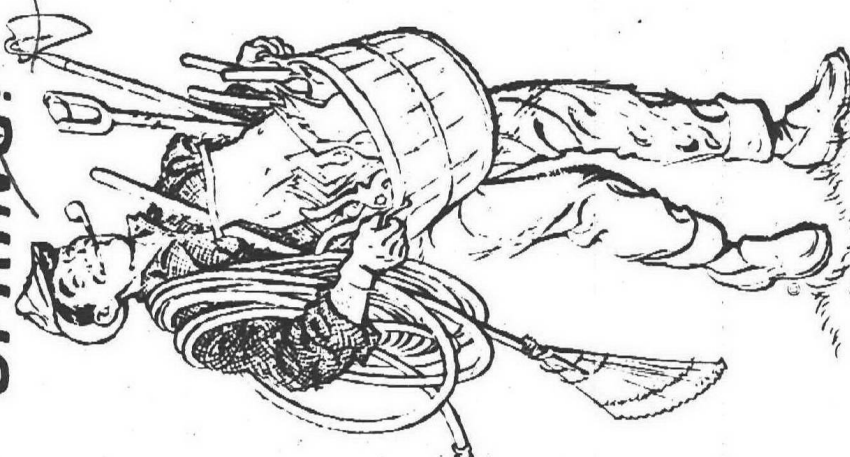

KEY PLYMOUTH LEADERS instrumental in the Artrain project were briefed recently by Mrs. William G. Milliken, wife of the governor, and Mrs. Clifford Wharton, wife of the MSU president. Mrs. Milliken is state chairman for Artrain. From the left are Mrs. Ray Hulce, Mrs. Douglas Weiser, Mrs. Robert Cooper, Charles Heidt, Mrs. Denver McCord, Mrs. Robert Dwyer, Mrs. Millington and Mrs. Wharton.

THOUSANDS OF SCHOOL CHILDREN from the Plymouth district in particular and Observerland in general are expected to follow the example of these youngsters and visit the Michigan Artrain during its 18-day stay in Plymouth, April 19 through May 6. All school groups and other organizations wishing to take advantage of the Artrain appearance are urged to work out specific timing with the sponsoring committee. Schedule arrangements can be made by calling the Plymouth Community Arts Council office at Central Junior High School, 453-8010.

RESIDENT ARTISTS are an important feature of Michigan Artrain, a five car touring adventure in the arts presented by the Michigan Council for the Arts. Here, one of the staff demonstrates his painting in the train's "studio," a converted baggage car provided to the council as a public service by the Michigan Railroads Association. One of Artrain's purposes is to stimulate creative activities in each community visited, and many such efforts already are under way in the Plymouth area both through the schools and adult art groups.

EVIDENCES OF PATRIOTISM are found in Plymouth every spring with the Memorial Day parade, ceremony in Kellogg Park and the decorating of war heroes' graves by members of veterans' organizations.

If Music You Seek, Plymouth Answers

To music lovers, "Springtime in Plymouth" means one concert after another by a variety of instrumental and vocal organizations ranging from youngsters in the middle grades to the renowned adult Plymouth Symphony.

Few areas in America seem to be as music conscious as the Plymouth community, or to evidence as much pride in a program that sees the formation of bands, orchestra and choral groups as early as the sixth grade.

Also, Plymouth is unique in fostering its adult symphony under the baton of Wayne Dunlap, a youth symphony directed by H. Michael Endres and a community band, noted for its summer concerts under the stars, which is directed by James Griffith. All are independently supported.

THE SENIOR symphony will make its next appearance April 16 in Plymouth High School auditorium and has scheduled its annual "pops" concert May 13 in the gymnasium of Central Junior High School. On this annual occasion, which always is a fun-filled evening, patrons are provided tables in the Central gymnasium where they may snack as the symphony entertains.

The youth symphony will be joined by the Michigan Youth Symphony from Ann Arbor in a special March 26 concert in the PHS auditorium, and also will present another program June 7.

March 20 the Plymouth High School vocal department will offer its annual spring concert, accompanied by the PHS orchestra, and on May 22 all of the high school musical organizations -- instrumental and vocal -- will stage a spring festival.

THE SYMPHONY, concert and stage bands of PHS, plus their rifle and drum corps, have booked a performance for April 21, but the biggest night for bandmen of all schools will be the annual "Parade of Bands" on May 2. At that time, all of Plymouth's bands from the sixth grade on up will entertain.

In addition, the spring schedule also calls for special instrumental and vocal programs at West, Pioneer and East Middle Schools plus district festival competition for all of Plymouth's young musicians.

THE GAY, LIGHT-HEARTED spirit of the annual "pops" concert by the Plymouth Symphony, scheduled this spring for May 13, is typified by this nautical attire worn by Director Wayne Dunlap. Tables for patrons will be provided in the Central Junior High School gymnasium.

It's Old, Yet It's New And It's Old Village'

Springtime 1972 is going to bring a memorable change to one of the historic portions of Plymouth, one whose shopping lures steadily attract growing numbers of those who seek the unusual.

The "lower town" which nationally syndicated columnist Russell Kirk frequently recalls with delight as he thinks back to the pre-depression days of his youth there, is taking on a new look. Now it's to be a rejuvenated Old Village.

When Kirk was a boy, his grandfather was president of the bank located on Liberty Street -- which carried the heartthrob of this sector of northeastern Plymouth. Now it's an antique shop.

BUT FROM that change, which was a long time in coming after the desperate financial days of the '30s, a rejuvenated business area has developed to augment Plymouth's central district that surrounds Kellogg Park downtown.

Its shops are quaint and frequently offer the unique. An old-time candy store, gift shops, specialists in children's wear, antique dealers and other specialty shops thrive side by side, some in buildings which formerly were private dwellings.

Located in northeastern Plymouth "on the other side of the tracks," the area has been referred to by generations of Plymouth natives as "lower town" -- not with disdain, however.

NONETHELESS, merchants some time ago informally rechristened the area Old Village and now both the City Commission and the municipal planning commission have agreed on this as a special zoning designation. Its principal streets are Mill, Starkweather, Holbrook, Spring and Liberty.

This, in turn, has led to agreement between merchants and government as to improvements in lighting, parking and general appearance starting with beautification of the park marking the entrance to Old Village and Plymouth generally when entering the community from Northville Rd.

Michigan Artrain, which will be located at the Starkweather crossing with the C&O, will expose new thousands to Old Village, a fact which has spurred fresh attention for a civic stepchild.

Michigan Week To Be Greatest

Since Michigan Week was originated in 1954, activities dramatizing the state's advantages always have been among Plymouth's spring highlights -- but the most unusual flourish has been saved for 1972.

Through the efforts of Sgt. Robert McAndrew, who heads the Army recruiting office in Plymouth, the famed U.S. Army Field Band plus the Soldiers' Chorus will appear on the opening day of Michigan Week, Saturday, May 20.

Together they will put on a 90-minute musical review called "Sing Out For America" as a free open air performance at 3 p.m. in Kellogg Park, located at the heart of downtown Plymouth. It will be the only Observerland appearance for the band and chorus on their present national tour.

Closing Michigan Week festivities the following Saturday, May 27, after special observance of each intervening day, will be a demonstration by a dozen parachutists dropping from Army helicopters in mid-afternoon over Plymouth Township's recreation park, Ann Arbor Trail at McClumpha.

Build A Bird House, Or Take A Picture?

which is the organizational and promotional entity behind Michigan Arttrai's coming visit to Plymouth, also has turned out to be the rallying force leading to creation of three special contests for residents of the area.

Each of the three boasts its own relationship to the realm of art, though from a different direction. Included are contests for the construction of bird houses, another for artists, and a third for photographers.

THE PLYMOUTH branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Club has originated the community's first bird house construction contest in 30 years and is offering savings bonds as top awards in each of its classifications.

These include houses for martins, bluebirds and wrens, plus the option of making a bird feeder or a house for some other specified bird.

"A bird house in every yard" is the club's goal says Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz, who is chairman of the undertaking. Prize homes will be used as part of the decorations at the Arttrai site April 19 through May 6.

THE JURIED contest for artists is being sponsored by the Three Cities Art Club whose president, C. Pripps Hines, says the categories of competition will include paintings, graphics, textiles and sculpture. All entries will be displayed in Plymouth store windows.

John Gaffield, owner of the Gaffield Photo Studio, has decided upon the name "PLYFOTOSHO" for the contest and exhibition he is sponsoring in the field of photography.

There will be four classifications: Plymouth area landscape, Plymouth history (including still life), Plymouth places, and Arttrai site pictures.

The photographs will be placed on view for the public in Dunning-Hough Library. In addition to giving awards for the best three entries in each classification, judges will present a "best of show" trophy. There also will be a special citation for the "most popular" photo.

JOHN GAFFIELD, who has announced sponsorship of a photography contest and exhibit as a spring highlight for the Plymouth area, meets with Mrs. Ray Hulce, local Arttrai coordinator. Gaffield's purpose on this occasion was to present a check from the Plymouth Rotary Foundation for support of Kaleidoscope-Plymouth which has been formed to generate an awareness of the creative talent in the community through an annual spring festival.

Kites, Eggs, Bridge All Mean Recreation

From a kite flying contest to adult duplicate bridge competition, from dog obedience classes to an Easter egg hunt -- these entertaining activities and a myriad of others all will be part of the Plymouth community's fun approach to spring of 1972.

Until the past year, organized recreation in Plymouth leaned heavily upon programs sponsored through the schools and by the junior athletic associations which operate out-of-school leagues for youngsters in baseball, basketball, football and hockey.

THE LATTER phase still thrives, with participation by more than 1,500 boys, but the city government took a major step a year ago with the creation of its own parks and recreation department, followed by the development in Plymouth Township of a new recreation park of 63 acres.

In addition, there now is under construction through a $1.5 million municipal bond issue a multipurpose community cultural and recreational center which, among its features, will include Plymouth's first enclosed ice rink.

Stanley Stenek, who came from Ossining, N.Y. a year ago to head the city's recreation effort, reports that approximately 18 programs are in the offing through his department this spring. They will attract persons of all age levels from tiny tots to senior citizens.

FOR EXAMPLE, they include an arts and crafts series for children, chess and karate classes, dog obedience training sessions, bowling, guitar lessons, duplicate bridge, softball, an Easter egg hunt, kite flying contest and photography class.

Special excursions for senior citizens clubs also are being planned.

As evidence of the continuing expansion of the department, another new park in a residential area of the city -- at Byron and Dewey -- is to be developed in the next few weeks.

City Manager Norman Gaffney boosts such expansion in the statement, "Recreation is not a panacea or a cure-all of today's social problems. However, like other governmental services, it is an agency utilizing its facilities to meet the needs of the community. Our program is geared to reach as many children and adults as possible."

MOST POPULAR innovation in the Plymouth area's parks system last summer was the "vest pocket" lot in the heart of the downtown business area. Its primary purpose is to serve as a place where mothers can leave children under eight for brief periods while shopping, and this is only one of a number of playground items on which the youngsters can enjoy themselves. Supervision is provided by the city recreation department and the lot will open again soon for the 1972 season. It has drawn praise from recreation leaders throughout the nation.

Records Are Meant To Be Broken . . . Wolverine Cracks 16

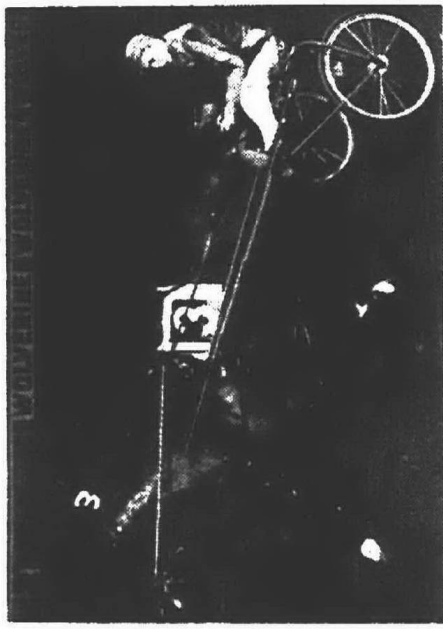

A total of 13 attendance and wagering records went by the boards during Wolverine Raceway's 1971 meeting along with three track standards.

Kentucky, a four-year-old; Albatross, a three-year-old; Grandpa Jim, a nine-year-old; and Noble Gesture, a three-year-old, accounted for new marks on the big mile track.

Noble Gesture, one of the early favorites to win the famed Hambletonian three-year-old trotting classic until hit by lameness, snapped the existing trotting mark when he surprised with a victory in the Matron in 2:00.2. That bettered the former record of 2:01.1 set by Estelle on Sept. 7, 1970.

It also cracked the mark of 2:00.4 set by the spectacular Speedy Scot in a time trial over the half-mile oval. Naturally, Speedy Scot's time will stand as the best for the twice around mile.

Albatross, everybody's choice as standardbred of the year, smashed the clocking for a three-year-old pacer over the mile track when he won the Matron pace in 1:58.2.

Albatross clocked in 1:58.2

Kentucky, perhaps the second best pacer of 1971 behind Albatross, had to fly in the stretch to capture a rich overnight in 1:57.4. The Ohio-owned horse was third turning into the stretch and sped home in a spectacular 28 seconds to win by two lengths.

Then he repeated in the Matron four-year-old pace when he came from far back in the field to pass the leading Keystone Pat in the stretch to win the $38,707 stake by two lengths in 1:58.2. Keystone Pat was second in 1:58.4 and Breadman George third in 1:59.3. Breadman George is owned by Bill Longo of Farmington.

GRANDPA JIM, an amazing nine-year-old, smashed Noble Gesture's clocking for a mile on the trot when he trotted away from a field of five challengers in an Open event to win by five lengths in 1:59.2. It was the first time a trotter had bettered 2:00 in Michigan.

Wolverine reached a 1971 high in attendance in the presentation of the annual "Good Ol' Days" program on Friday, Sept. 10 when 17,147 stormed the gates to take advantage of the "Good Ol' Days" prices for hot dogs, soft drinks, popcorn and the like and to view one of the better racing cards of the season.

Total attendance for the 76 nights was 563,965 and the total wagering was $48,438,890 . . . both all-time highs for the track.

Wagering records broken included: most ever for a single night in Michigan, $924,444 on Sept. 17; and on the same night, most on a single race (the eighth with Albatross in the field) $118,708;

WHEN ONLY THE FINEST IS GOOD ENOUGH

Wolverine's Growth Credited To Policies Set Up By Van Lennep

The tremendous growth of harness racing in Michigan can be attributed in a large measure to the promotions and the far-sighted operations of Wolverine Raceway under the direction of President Frederick Van Lennep during the past 22 years.

Van Lennep has always operated on the theory of thinking more about the breeding of a horse than the win ticket payoff and that is one of the biggest reasons for his success both in standardbred breeding and racing.

Born a Philadelphia Mainliner, son of a prominent surgeon, educated in Princeton, Van Lennep found horses seemingly before they found him. Saddle horses were a first love replaced by standardbreds as he became deeply involved through operating famed Castleton Farm in Lexington, Ky., the nation's foremost standardbred breeding operation.

At Castleton, Van Lennep has seen to it that a long succession of champion stallions from Worthy Boy to Bret Hanover have been at stud. Speedy Scot, Spectator, Dartmouth, Good Time and Race Time annually produce some of the finest youngsters in the land.

While breeding is paramount in Van Lennep's eye, racing has assumed a proportionate share of the glory as the maroon and gray colors of the Castleton Stable have been seen in the winner's circle receiving trophies for practically every major stake in the nation at one time or another.

The name Castleton has found its way into the stock exchange as Castleton Industries, a shelter group which embraces both the entertainment field and industry, Van Lennep heads the corporation.

ONE VAN LENNEP GOAL has long been a top stakes program at Wolverine paying large purses to the nation's best horses. With the acquisition of the entire set of Matron stakes, he achieved the necessary prestige of having the third oldest in the business.

Then two years ago Van Lennep made a decision to utilize the full potential of the championship mile track and the results have been amazing.

Wolverine has had more sub-two minute miles in the past two seasons than any operation east of the Mississippi River with perhaps the exception of the Big Red Mile oval in Lexington. There'll be more coming this season since the list of stall applications included most of the major stables in North America.

When making the decision to convert from the half-mile to the mile track, Van Lennep, Vice President and General Manager Richard S. Wilson and Racing Secretary Bill Connors predicted it would bring better and faster pace.

BY THIS TIME, Michigan was being acclaimed as a place where harness racing had finally caught on. It took a bit longer than in Chicago, Philadelphia, Los Angeles and New York but the interest that had been dormant for so many years had finally been brought out, principally by the efforts and promotions of Wolverine Raceway.

True enough, the impetus generated at Wolverine spread to the other operations in Metropolitan Detroit but none has done as much to promote the sport.

But the peak hadn't been reached yet and Wolverine became the first to pass $900,000 last fall when it brought in the fabled Albatross, perhaps the greatest standardbred of all time for a three-year-old Matron pace.

"The Bird" attracted 12,417 persons and they came out to watch him perform and to wager on the races. Thus, when the final dollar was counted Wolverine had another all-time high handle of $924,444.

Now the big question in the minds of all is whether the track will pass the million dollar hurdle. It could well be on June 16 when the great Albatross is slated to pace in the $40,000 Matron for four year olds.

Eat Well, Have Fun At Famed Club Parties

Club parties play a major role in the success of Wolverine Raceway in recent years and one of the big reasons for the popularity of the festive events is Director Sandy Walker.

Sandy devotes all of the time from the end of one season to the start of the next spreading the word about the parties. She attends meetings in all parts of eastern and southern Michigan, showing movies and the Wolverine operation and telling folks about the fun they can have.

The facilities at the Detroit Race Course, where Wolverine holds its meetings, are the best of all tracks in the metropolitan area.

The food is fine, the seats for the races are the best, the racing is superb and the prices are right. That's why so many groups make arrangements for a night at the races after listening to Sandy's description.

There are some changes in the setup for this year, changes that Vice President and General Manager Richard S. Wilson believes make the parties even more attractive.

TWO NEW PLANS are being offered including the Executive, in which patrons are served in the dining room and have a menu of steak and things that go with that kind of a meal. The second is the Admission plan in which groups of 20 to 125 can make arrangements to attend the races without using the dining facilities. The second plan is available Monday through Friday.

The Executive plan calls for a minimum of 50 and a maximum of 150 and also is available Monday through Friday.

Club parties are $8 for the Executive and $2.75 for the Admission plan.

The Executive plan came into being because of a demand from executive groups for a sitdown dinner in the clubhouse, served by waitresses and seats for the evening.

Sandy and her associates discovered that most executives don't care for the walking through buffet or smorgasbord lines. They want to come into the clubhouse, have dinner and a few drinks and then sit back and watch the races without additional interruptions.

That's exactly what they are guaranteed under the Executive plan and all for $8. The prices include a program, admission to the clubhouse and guaranteed reserved places at tables in the huge dining room.

THE NEW Admission plan is for those groups that want to attend the races without eating. The cost of $2.75 covers admission to the clubhouse, programs and reserved seats. A race will be named for the group...the only limitation is that the group must be on hand before 8 p.m.

Perhaps the most popular of the party plans for smaller groups is that in the Sulky Room which is limited to 50 to 125 persons. The cost is $6.50 per person and includes admission to the clubhouse, a hot and cold smorgasbord in the private Sulky Room on the mezzanine level.

The price includes a program for each individual in the party, two drinks in the Sulky Room, seats in a reserved section of the clubhouse, a race named after the group and one color picture of the presentation in the winner's circle.

For larger groups, ranging from a minimum of 50 to 1,000, Wolverine offers a plan with a cost of $6 in the new Top of the Turf Room, atop the new clubhouse.

THE TOP OF THE TURF room has been completely renovated with new flooring, lavatory facilities, a new ceiling, elevator and escalator services. It is one of the finest facilities in the area on the top floor of a racing plant.

The plan includes hot and cold smorgasbord and reserved seats on the same level where the track has a seating capacity of more than 1,500 seats.

If the weather is cold or rainy, the party can be shifted to the first floor of the clubhouse which also has seating arrangements.

The Top of the Turf plan includes admission to the clubhouse, a program for each person in the party, the smorgasbord dinner, two drinks only in the room, a race named after the group and a color picture of the winner's circle presentation.

IF YOU CHECK over the various plans, you'll find there is one for most any kind of a party you want.

Sandy, as we stated earlier, is on the job now accepting reservations, answering questions and making plans for the season.

If you are interested, call her at 421-7084 and she'll be glad to discuss a club party and also send you a brochure describing all of the plans and the accommodations at Wolverine Raceway.

Wolverine has the most interesting stakes program ever offered in Michigan and you can arrange a party on one of those nights if you make your plans now.

See you at the Track...

TAKING RESERVATIONS for a club party at Wolverine Raceway is Director Sandy Walker who handles two and three groups each evening during the 84-night meeting. Sandy makes every party a special deal, handling each group in a way that makes all feel at home from the moment they arrive at the track.

SMILING Frederick Van Lennep (left), president of Wolverine Raceway, is congratulated by Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara for the tremendous growth of the operation during the past 22 years. The track has had the greatest increase in business of any in the midwest and reached an all-time high in 1971 when it handled $924,444 on a single evening.

What A Way To End A Season; 10 Stakes In Final 7 Programs

A total of 10 rich, early closing stakes during a seven-night period that brings down the curtain on its 84-night meeting . . . That's what Wolverine Raceway will offer as the high spots of its 1972 activities.

And included will be an appearance of the great Albatross, winner of more than $500,000 in 1971 and generally rated as the most spectacular standardbred of all time.

At various times in the history of harness racing there have been such standouts as Billy Direct, Greyhound, Good Time, Adios, Adios Harry, Bye Bye Byrd, Speedy Scot, Bret Hanover, Romulus Hanover, Noble Victory, Adios Butler, Rum Customer, Laverne Hanover, Su Mac Lad, Cardigan Bay and the like . . . but Albatross has passed all.

Although in competition only two years, the great star has banked more than $700,000 and appears certain to become the next millionaire of the sport. He might well pass that figure in his Wolverine appearance on June 16 in the $40,000 Matron four-year-old pace.

But that's only part of the story of Wolverine's rich Grand Circuit program that undoubtedly will bring the nation's best two and three-year-old pacers and trotters to Metropolitan Detroit.

In addition to the normal program of Matron stakes, Wolverine has added three Matron filly events.

The series opens on Friday, June 9, with the celebration of "Good Ol' Days" and the presentation of the $25,000 Motor City Pace, the state's oldest and, up to this year, richest pacing event.

Then followed in rapid succession:

- June 10 $25,000 Matron three-year-old trot
- June 10 $7,500 Matron filly three-year-old trot
- June 12 $15,000 Matron two-year-old pace
- June 12 $15,000 Matron two-year-old trot
- June 13 $8,500 Matron filly two-year-old trot
- June 13 $8,500 Matron filly two-year-old pace
- June 14 $40,000 Matron four-year-old trot
- June 15 $25,000 Matron three-year-old pace
- June 16 $40,000 Matron four-year-old pace with Albatross.
