Millage Issues, Board Race To Bring Big Voter Turnout

By FRED DeLANO

At least 40 per cent of the Plymouth Community School District's 13,000 registered voters are expected to cast ballots Monday in an election that will determine the fate of three local millage proposals and nine candidates for the board of education.

Evidence that the turnout may be one of the largest for a school election in years was provided Thursday night when a standing-room-only throng attended the "Candidates Night" in City Hall.

Ass't. Supt. Melvin Blunk, who has charge of the election procedures, said, "I'd guess a turnout of about 5,500 voters." Given favorable weather, participation could rival the record 5,744 votes cast in the millage election of 1970.

At any rate, it seems certain to exceed last year's dismal 14 per cent when only 1,759 votes were cast, and polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. at these seven precinct locations:

Central Junior High School, Gallimore School, Plymouth Township Hall, Starkweather School, Allen School, Middle School West and Farrand School.

THE ELECTORATE is being asked to authorize the renewal of a five-mill tax levy for school operations, as well as to approve two other proposals for one-mill each.

Proposition No. 1 is five mills for five years. No. 2 is one mill for five years and No. 3 is one mill for only one year. This levy is to be a contingency fund and will be assessed only if a specified emergency need arises.

The basic five-mill proposal would continue a levy that first was approved in the election of 1967. At that time voters gave it an edge of better than 2 to 1, casting 1,588 "yes" votes against 657 "no" votes.

Coupled with community disagreement over the millage proposals has been a vigorous campaign among the nine candidates who are battling for the two full-term seats that are up for grabs. Adding zest and a new dimension to this phase is the possibility that the No. 3 vote-getter also may win appointment to the board.

IN A SPECIAL meeting Wednesday night, after accepting the resignation of John E. Hanskat "with regret," the board unanimously adopted a resolution which gives rise to exactly that opportunity.

The two full-term vacancies of four years each are caused by the decisions of incumbents Esther Hulsing and Wilson Sick Jr. not to seek reelection. Those seats will go to those who finish first and second in the balloting and they will take office July 1.

ALL NINE candidates participated in the forum at City Hall where each was allowed five minutes to present personal views on the district's educational priorities before answering questions from the audience.

They spoke in the following order, with emphasis on these items:

Gary Mirto, who has the endorsement of the P.E.A. and a special citizens committee, declared that "the sole, underlying issue is the process by which we govern our schools." He added that it is necessary to have a board "committed to a sense of direction that creates confidence."

He said he would develop a citizens advisory committee as a source of advice. He added that this would need response from a significant number of families - "the people, not selfish self-interest groups."

Mrs. Betty Bacik Emanuel expressed primary concern about "the way schools are going." She said there is a need for greater flexibility and more attention to the "under-achievers."

She also declared that the tax structure should be reformed and that "better controls" are needed at Plymouth High School.

Mrs. Sara Evans, who has the backing of the Plymouth Civic Federation and a citizens committee, declared, "You must be supportive of the millage until the method of taxation is changed at Lansing."

"We have everything going for us - faculty, curriculum and facilities - and need only good common sense," she stated, "Modular scheduling is good time usage but must be tempered by hard work and common sense."

"Our board members must be willing to go out into the community and listen. We need community involvement to make it a system to be proud of."

Dr. Donald Davies, who has the endorsement

SMILES WERE PLENTIFUL Thursday afternoon as scores of Plymouthites joined with members of the American Association of University Women in honoring Mrs. Esther Hulsing (center) for her services to the community. Mrs. David Van Hine (left), Plymouth president of the

Finlan Concedes: 'I'm Lucky'

"I'm lucky to be alive."

So said Charles P. Finlan, who 10 days ago lay at death's door in Wayne County General Hospital after being shot four times by an assailant in the parking lot outside his office at 500 S. Main.

Talking with the Plymouth Mail and Observer Thursday, Finlan praised the "fantastic service" by Wayne County General Hospital and the Plymouth Fire Department.

"I still have my eyesight, can talk and can use my arms," Finlan said.

He estimated it would be six months before he will be able to return to work. At present, he is paralyzed from the waist down.

FINLAN DECLINED to discuss any aspects of the shooting but did say:

"For 16 years I've been going in and out of that parking lot, eight to 10 times a day. This attack was totally unexpected."

Finlan, who appeared to be in good spirits, had been on the critical list until Thursday. He had earlier been removed from the intensive care unit and moved to a private room.

The man accused of shooting Finlan is Donald Alan Crenshaw, 29, a Bloomfield Township engineer, who faces pretrial examination in District Court the coming week.

At 4 p.m. Friday he was released by Judge Dunbar Davis after 10 days of incarceration when his attorney, William R. VanderKloot, posted cash bond of $35,000.

The original bond of $250,000 had been reduced previously by Circuit Judge Nathan J. Kaufman to the $35,000 level on the basis that the quarter of a million figure was unattainable.

Board Needs Benson, Mirto, Evans

Our Plymouth school board should be applauded for the decision it made Wednesday night to let the voters have a voice regarding selection of an appointee to fill out the unexpired term of John Hanskat.

It is reasonable to assume that the ballot box totals will be an accurate assessment of the public's judgment of individual candidate qualifications.

The board's commitment to consider the third place finisher, providing there is a clear - cut public mandate, gives voters a voice they never have had in previous situations of this nature. This was as far as the board could legally go, and it bespeaks a confidence in the citizenry we do not often see.

IN ADDITION TO selecting new board personnel, voters will make a decision on three millage proposals. These propositions have been given detailed attention in our columns previously, and it is recognized that voters are badly split.

However, it is our attitude that money spent on education represents the best investment we can make - an investment that never stops paying. Plymouth has good schools, good teachers and good facilities and the residents of this community should not be satisfied with anything else.

This can be accomplished only if our financial investment in the future of our children is adequate, and we recommend a "Yes" vote on all three millage questions when you go to the polls Monday.

EDITORIAL

OF THE nine candidates for the board, each in his or her own way boasts credentials meriting support. To the credit of Plymouth and the environs that constitute its 54 - square - mile school district, there can be no such thing as a bad choice.

Nonetheless, just as each voter must do, we have gone through a process of elimination to try and determine those whose qualifications place them in the fore.

Realizing there must be an appointment to fill the Hanskat vacancy, with only two candidates winning outright election, we feel the trio which can be of greatest service on the board are Mrs. Marda Benson, Gary Mirto and Mrs. Sara Evans.

True, you can vote for only two, which is why we will make no attempt to rank them first, second and third. The population cannot be divided alphabetically and assigned to support one or the other, but we have sufficient trust in the laws of probability to believe these three will share the preponderance of voter enthusiasm.

MRS. BENSON stands out as exceptionally qualified in educational leadership. A woman of dedication to purpose, she has no fear of exploring new concepts for the betterment of the end product - namely the education provided our children. In a word, she has "guts" and could well be the Esther Hulsing of Plymouth's educational future.

Mirto, too, has the needed leadership qualities. Brilliant in his own academic right, he has demonstrated a scope of vision on school affairs rare in a person of his 29 years. In addition, although all candidates have preached the need for greater citizen involvement, no one has matched Mirto in spelling out the specifics on how this can be accomplished.

Mrs. Evans' clarity of discussion in probing such matters as curriculum, community relations and extended use of school facilities throughout the year makes her statement as a lifelong resident, "Sincerely, I would like to give something back to the community," an offer worth accepting.

If we must lose Mrs. Hulsing, Bill Sick, and Hanskat from our Board of Education, then Mrs. Benson, Mr. Mirto and Mrs. Evans would be ideal replacements.

of the Democratic executive committee, pointed to rapid population growth, rising costs and new concepts of education as problems. He said, "The best deterrent is for individual board members to do their home work and come to meetings ready to make decisions."

He is "concerned," he said, with such matters as the handling of the James Rossman case, busing, modular scheduling, tax reform, closed board sessions, board absenteeism and "factions that hamper the board's efficiency."

CARL BERRY, declaring he is keenly interested in the future of the community, called for millage support and said areas needing study include busing, modular scheduling, the problem of two high schools to give as many students as possible a chance to participate in activities, boundaries, vocational education, drug usage and dropouts.

"The No. 1 issue is school board accountability," stated Berry.

E.J. McClendon, supported by the Plymouth Civic Federation and the Democratic committee, said it is necessary to reestablish public confidence in the school board.

Long-range planning, citizen involvement by tapping the intelligence of the community and bringing it to bear, and systematic curriculum development were among the points he emphasized.

Mrs. Marda Benson, endorsed by the P.E.A., said the board's major accountability is to the public. She pledged improvements in modular scheduling, board public relations and "innovations in curriculum beneficial to the children."

She asked voters to choose a member "who can go into the community and find out what parents want for their children," saying she would do just that.

Joseph Gray, backed by the directors of the Lake Pointe Homeowners Association, said that "What I'm after is the best possible education and best use of the tax dollar."

He called modification of modular scheduling, site planning, improvement if parent-teacher-student relationships, discipline and board public relations among the most important priorities.

Mrs. Rosalie Bales said, "Your children, who are enrolled in the system are No. 1 in importance and priority."

She also gave top importance to modular scheduling and said board members should visit schools to talk to parents and improve communication. "The fact this many people are sitting here tells you Plymouth needs a change in the board," she said.

PHS Band Will Give 'One More' Christmas Real Thrill

Members of Plymouth High School's nationally acclaimed symphony band proved this week that while it may be possible to take the boy out of music, you can't take music out of the boy.

More or less in that philosophy, the seniors of the band—who will be graduating Wednesday night—asked Bandmaster James Griffith to arrange one more public concert.

It has been scheduled for 8 p.m. next Friday, June 16, in Kellogg Park and will be billed as "the senior finale." In case of a downpour, the program will be presented in the PHS auditorium. One way or another, they're going to play.

THE SENIORS in this band can recall such triumphs as these:

As sophomores they were given a standing ovation at the 23rd annual Midwest National Band and Orchestra Clinic at Chicago.

As juniors, their showcase concert was a performance at Western Michigan University's Contemporary Music Festival at Kalamazoo.

As seniors, the hour of triumph came at the annual Southern Conductors Conference at the University of Southern Mississippi, once again to a standing ovation in appreciation of their professional musicianship.

This band also has scored three successive first division superior performance ratings in state band competition.

Griffith and bandmen have worked together in planning the Friday night program and the 13 numbers selected will be highlighted by selections from two great Broadway successes.

(Jay Kendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kendall, 765 Parkview Drive, Plymouth, is on a lengthy hiking trip through Europe. He has been writing to his parents and we thought our readers would be interested in his comments. This letter tells of Christmas in a far off country.)

How was your Christmas? It's a fair bet you had a whiter one than I did right in the middle of the Alps. Every day has been mild and sunny, which has pleased me no one but me, since this is supposed to be the best skiing season.

That's what everyone comes here for and they're amazed that there hasn't been a meter of snow yet.

Christmas here is something else. The folks I'm visiting spent a lot of time trimming their tree, using only candies, wooden ornaments, paper garlands and candles.

I helped them hang a tremendous number of candies they brought from Vienna...very good chocolates of all kinds, more than they can possibly eat.

There are also Christmas cookies hanging down from the tree...literally as many sweets as you used to hang strands of tinsel and the tree is as tall as the ceiling.

HERE IN Alpbach, my host parks his car, a big Ford station wagon, in the village and drives an old army jeep over the icy roads, some of them narrow trails up mountains without guard rails that would be fatal to miss. We went up such a road to the home of a friend and got back without trouble.

But while driving into town there was a car parked by the road sticking part way into the driving lane. My host veered too far over, applied the brakes, the car skidded off the road and rolled into the ditch, landing upside down.

None of us was hurt and the jeep was not badly damaged but I kept thinking it could as easily have happened earlier in that mountain road.

I'm struck by how much more expensive things are here than in Italy or France. Vienna's stores seem all of the Fifth Avenue, New York type; and Innsbruck's were the same when I visited there.

I can't remember a town as beautiful as Innsbruck. It is surrounded by snow covered mountains and divided by a blue mountain stream, the houses and store fronts done in pastel colored stucco.

I was sorry I didn't have longer to stay but it is difficult clearing the bathroom at a reasonable hour and catching the bus to a nearby train station to await the Innsbruck train.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

THE LITTLE GIRL from Grass Range, Montana, who was known as Esther Louise Blake to the nine other members of her high school graduating class, has come a long way, much to Plymouth's betterment.

You know her, of course, as Mrs. Esther Hulsing, and Thursday afternoon many of her friends and associates were present to do her honor at the AAUW reception saluting her valuable years of service to this community.

What prompted this tribute was the fact that she is about to drop off the board of education, on which she has served continuously since 1954 and of which she currently is the president. While it is this public office which generated most of Mrs.

Hulsing's press notices, in no way has this been her lone realm of service.

If one considers just her past presidencies, her biography must include such groups as the AAUW, Plymouth Pan Hellenic Association, Huron Valley Council of the Girl Scouts, Women's Club of Plymouth, and the St. John's Episcopal League. In addition, Mrs. Hulsing has served on countless committees and advisory groups, all for the good of her fellow man. She deserves every word of praise that comes her way.

THIS GRACIOUS WOMAN calls the place of her birth "just a wide spot in the road," and if you look it up on the map you will find that it is in central Montana, a bit off the route between Billings and Great Falls.

Many of you have worked with Esther and her equally active husband, Kenneth, who was Plymouth school board president himself in 1949 and 1950, and maybe you just take them for granted. I find there is more of interest in their backgrounds than just a list of impressive civic accomplishments.

Picture, if you will, a young man who was born in Renville, Minn. (Pop., 1,250) studying engineering as a student at Montana State College and falling in love with a campus coed from Grass Range. That's where it started, but it doesn't tell how they got to Plymouth, does it?

Well, the answer to that probably lies with the professor who suggested to Ken that he take his final year of undergraduate work at the University of Michigan, because a Michigan engineering diploma would do him more good than one from Montana State.

The upshot was that the 1936 graduating class at Ann Arbor included the name of Kenneth Hulsing as recipient of a bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering. The same year the future Mrs. Hulsing graduated from Montana State.

There was post-graduate work at Ohio State for Esther and at the University of Chicago for Ken, and maybe that Michigan diploma did pay off for employment followed with the Detroit Diesel Engine Division of General Motors. He is now its director of engineering.

SINCE 1942 the Hulsings have been residents of Plymouth and it was here that they raised their three daughters.

Until the night of Monday, Sept. 8, 1969 I had not had any particular occasion to see how Mrs. Hulsing would react in a situation when the chips were down.

More than 1,000 of you jammed into the gymnasium of East School that night for a public discussion of the differences which existed at that time between Plymouth's striking teachers and the administration. There was meanness in the air, and it was a situation that needed a tight rein if it was to be kept under control.

Presiding over that meeting with all the poise in the world, maintaining order in the face of shouting constituents, was Esther Hulsing. I suppose Ken knew it all along, but Esther proved to many of us that night that she's a real pro. Grass Range's loss was Plymouth's gain.

Safety Guard Tribute Slated

PLYMOUTH

All adults who serve as school crossing guards in the Plymouth school system will be honored Monday morning at a 9:30 brunch being given in the Mayflower Hotel.

The sponsor is the district safety committee headed by Mrs. Shirley Mack, which works in cooperation with the school safety program directed by Lawton Smith.

It is the first time an event such as this has been held in Plymouth and all guards will be awarded certificates. In addition, National Safety Council pins will be presented to those with one year or more of service.

A special gift will be presented to Mrs. Hazel Mueller who has served the district as a crossing guard for 12½ years. Others being honored include the following:

F.D. Dornblaser, John Louis, William J. Seabury, Vina Jackovich, Shirley Sears, Mildred Young, Noel Nations, Hazel Robinson, Ruth Ann Eskra, Mavis Bowling.

Linsdale U.? What A Commencement!

By W.W. EDGAR

Within the next few weeks, the institutions of higher learning across the land will be in the midst of the commencement ceremonies. With all the dignity and decor possible, they'll be distributing diplomas to the graduates and all sorts of degrees — even those much publicized honorary parchments given to leaders in the business, professional and social worlds and others who, at one time or another, have made generous donations to the cause.

They'll be solemn occasions as the young graduates step from the platform to begin life anew in the hurly-burly world where it's every man for himself and no holds barred. They'll be a far cry from the first commencement of that now famous mythical institution of higher learning of fond memory known as Linsdale U.

GOOD OLD Linsdale was the brain child of Fred Matthei, one-time head of the American Metal Products Co., and Frank Butz, a manufacturers agent who hailed from the hallowed halls of Penn State University.

One day at lunch they came up with the idea that the working man should have an alma mater — just as the lads from families with more means.

Where would it be and what would it be called? "Why not make it your plant," Butz said with a twinkle in his eye, "and it's on Linsdale Avenue, so why not call it Linsdale?"

And so Linsdale was born. Never one to miss a chance for laughter, Matthei assumed the role of dean and set the tempo for this institution of higher learning by issuing a statement in which he proclaimed to the world that Linsdale would take it place as one of the most unusual of all institutions.

With that he announced that while commencement at other institutions of higher learning came after four years of work and study, Linsdale would be different.

With the solemnity of the most learned educator he said, "We, at Linsdale, are earthy folks. We believe that commencement is the beginning, and so we will open our halls of learning with commencement exercises." And he invited the first class.

There never will be a commencement like it. BLACK AND BLUE were chosen as the "school's" colors, with a black and blue eye as a symbol. Mortarboards and gowns with four inch stripes on the bias were provided, and in keeping with the occasion the mortarboards were lined in tin — the better to serve as drinking cups.

Dean Matthei proclaimed that no institution was worth its salt unless it had an official "drink," and he proclaimed cactus juice as the official thirst quencher in the halls of learning.

Then came the highlight of the first commencement. The school's cheers were lettered on giant cards and hung on the wall.

The largest read — We ain't got no lofty ellums, We ain't got no spires, But we do have some telephone poles And a helluva lot of wires.

On another was this enchanting verse: No Wabash River flows past our doors, No Lake Cayuga fondles our cars, No millionaire provides our checks, We're just Linsdale down by the tracks.

Once these were hung on the walls and the cactus plant and juice put in place, Dean Matthei delivered an oration that would have done justice to any of our top educators.

And he concluded with the presentations — not honorary degrees but items with more earthly uses.

TO EACH of us he gave a sponge rubber seal with slapping fins on a base of hard rubber and solemnly said, "You never get to see the seal of the other institutions — now you can have Linsdale on your desk."

As a special award, he then gave each of the class a necktie — made of black and blue fabric — with such decorations as an old water tower, the black and blue eye, and a cow tied to a railroad track.

Library Books

"The Hollow Sea," by Geoffrey Jenkins. Weaving fact and fiction into the fabric of an absorbing novel, Geoffrey Jenkins has written a highly imaginative story of adventure on the high seas. In 1909 a passenger liner is sunk; half a century later an airliner disappears over the very same spot, again without trace or explanation. Jenkins links the tragedies in this novel that deals with three generations of the same family.

"The German Lesson," by Siegfried Lenz. A psychological battle between a Nazi police chief, his alienated son, and a famous artist whose works are ordered confiscated, is the plot of this recent German best seller.

A letter from Counsel was received stating the present status of the lawsuit pending between Ford Motor Company and the Plymouth Community School District, et al. Acting Sup't. President Hulsing requested that a letter be directed to Plymouth Township Board of Trustees thanking them for their cooperation with the passage of Ordinance No. XXVIII regarding long-term, etc., around school buildings which will make it simpler for the Administration to maintain order.

A preliminary report on recommendations of the Goals and Objectives Committee was reviewed with the Board. It was the consensus of the Board that there is still work to be done to establish measurement techniques to determine progress achieving the goals and objectives. Teacher Wayne Weimer suggested that another committee be appointed to do this.

The motion was carried and the Administration was requested to transmit this view to Lansing.

A memorandum from Vocational Director Gaertner referring to the Wayne County Vocational Area Centers was discussed. It was his feeling that a neutral position with regard to the June 12 millage proposal for vocational education centers would be more acceptable in the future when working with the Career Education Planning District (CEPD), rather than the opposition to the proposal previously voted.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Hanskut that the Board acquiesce to the recommendation of the Vocational Director and take a position of neutrality on the Wayne County Intermediate School District vocational education millage request.

THE JOB placement service initiated for the summer by the Plymouth YMCA has the problem of having many applicants and not enough jobs to provide.

Known as EASE - Employer Assistance for Summer Employment - the program offers youths who will perform such services as these, either as a one - time shot or for a period of time:

Yard work, grass cutting, wall washing, garage and basement clean out, painting, summer replacement for receptionist, and stockroom work. Job orders may be telephoned into the "Y" office in the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union Bldg. between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily, or from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

BOTH REV. Paul S. Thompson and Rev. Lewis S. Brown Jr. resigned this week from the Plymouth Human Relations Commission.

Brown and his family are moving to Buffalo, where he has accepted a new Methodist pastorate. Thompson told the city commission that his work load at the First Baptist Church has tripled during his four years on the commission and that regrettably he does not have time for such an assignment.

JOSEPH GABRYS of 376 W. Spring St. was one of 50 General Motors employees in the Detroit area who were honored this week for outstanding volunteer service in their communities. Gabrys is employed in the Fisher Body Fleetwood plant and was presented an engraved plaque.

James E. Knott, GM vice president, said the program's purpose is "to recognize and honor employees who voluntarily devote time and energy toward making their communities better places in which to live and work."

THE PLYMOUTH branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Club will meet for a picnic Monday noon at the home of Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz. Mrs. Henry Vandiver is chairman.

Committeewomen assisting her include Mrs. Angelo DiPonio, Mrs. James Gilbert, Mrs. Russel Isbister, Mrs. Roy Leeman, Mrs. Clayton LeRoue, Mrs. Earl Russell and Mrs. George Scheman.

PARKING METERS will be installed soon on the south side of Wing St., between Forest and Harvey upon the recommendation of Police Chief Timothy Ford.

Occupants of the office building at the southwest corner of Wing and Forest have found that the street spaces are inadequate to serve their clientele properly because of too many all - day parkers. The chief said that the meters will restore a parking balance and the city commission agreed.

OKERSTROM ROOFING kept its lead in the Plymouth Businessmen's Hilltop Golf League this week with 32 points. The Mettetal Airport swingers are second with 30 points.

Students Can 'Charge-It' At Schoolcraft

Schoolcraft College students will be able to "charge it" under terms of an agreement reached between the college and National Bank of Detroit.

The more than 5,000 students and 250 faculty members will be able to use the Master Charge credit card to pay for books, tuition and supplies making the college in the metropolitan area to adopt such a program.

"We have designed special forms to evaluate student applicants," said Robert Barbour, vice president of the Plymouth regional banking center, said. "The forms, which adapt our credit standards to students, are a 'first' for NBD."

Schoolcraft business manager Fred Petersen, who will administer the program, said, "Many times we find short-term financial help can go a long way in helping our students make ends meet."

So You've Got A Boat!

Q. I just bought a brand new boat. Now what do I do?

A. There are a number of things you should do before putting your boat in the water, four of the most important being: (1) to make sure your boat is properly registered licensed in your state; your dealer can assist you here; (2) to be sure that you have an approved U.S. Coast Guard lifesaving device for each of your passengers and yourself; (3) to obtain the latest up-to-date charts; and (4) that if your boat didn't come with a compass, see that a good one is installed and adjusted as soon as possible.

Q. What would be next in importance?

A. At the first opportunity get a U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary courtesy motorboat exam; they're free and the expert who checks your boat can give additional advice and guidance. Another highly recommended item to obtain is a radio on which you can get marine weather forecasts as issued by the National Weather Service.

Q. But shouldn't I take some kind of class on boating?

A. Yes. All authorities agree that taking a boating class is the best way to insure having more fun, safely, on the water. Most spring classes conducted by the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary or U.S. Power Squadrons are over now. However, some states offer classes; check with your registering or licensing agency.

Q. What do I do if I can't get into a boating class?

A. Do two things: (1) write the U.S. Coast Guard, Ninth District, 1240 East 9th Street, Cleveland, Ohio 44199, requesting any information they have on boating and boat handling and asking specifically for the "Rules of the Road;" and (2) purchase a book on boating. There are a number of good ones, one of the best being Chapman's, "Piloting, Seamanship and Small Boat Handling." Some marinas and most book stores carry it.

Q. You mentioned "maps"—where do I get them?

A. Actually, we mentioned "charts" and there is a difference; essentially, a chart shows water depths and a map does not. The Lake Survey Center, a unit in NOAA's National Ocean Survey under the Department of Commerce, prints and distributes charts of the Great Lakes. Charts may be obtained from them directly or from one of over 200 sales agents.

Q. Where do I write and which "charts" do I ask for?

A. Write to the U.S. Department of Commerce-NOAA, Lake Survey Center-NOS, 630 Federal Bldg., Detroit 48226 and ask for a free Great Lakes chart catalog. It shows all the charts, their prices, how to order, a list of authorized sales agents and other valuable information.

Q. A friend of mine says that Great Lakes charts don't show actual water depths—is he right?

A. Yes he is, but a short explanation may help. Depths on charts are measured from a fixed reference plane called 'chart datum' or 'low water datum'. During the summer water levels are higher than in winter and are also usually above "chart datum" so that the water is deeper than the charts show. For example, a three-foot canal may actually have a five-foot depth, but on the other hand a 10-foot bridge clearance may only be eight feet.

Q. OK, so where do I go to find out what the difference is between actual and charted depths?

A. There are several ways. Write to Lake Survey Center and ask to be put on the list to receive the free "Monthly Bulletin of Lake Levels." In graph-form the MBL shows present levels, a six-month forecast of levels and other information on Great Lakes Water Levels.

Some newspapers and radio and TV stations carry this information weekly during the boating season. Lake Survey reports differences to the National Weather Service (also NOAA) from where they are sent out on NWS's weather wire and then picked up by the news media.

Check the weather block in Friday's papers. Also, some radio stations, which broadcast marine weather forecasts, will report lake levels all weekend long.

Q. Are these the same weather forecasts I need to check before setting out?

A. Yes, and keep tuned in for changes as you go along. Incidentally, you'll find their radio frequencies listed on the Lake Survey center's recreational charts.

Sarah Fisher Home Opening Nursery, Day Care Center

Changing concepts in the care of homeless children have brought a new pre-school center to the Farmington area.

The St. Vincent and Sarah Fisher Home for Children, located at Inkster and 12 Mile, has for years operated a nursery school as part of its program as a residence for children who need homes.

During this time the nursery has accepted a few non-residents each year. Now, with foster homes more and more being utilized, the number of resident pre-schoolers is declining and the nursery is announcing it can accommodate up to 60 youngsters on a day care basis.

Reorganizing to become a day-care center, known as the Seton School, the nursery will continue to be operated by the Catholic sisters.

"But," said Sister Anina, administrative director, "the beliefs of the parents are respected and all children are welcome."

She invited parents interested in enrolling their pre-schoolers to visit the school any time between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Sister Anina said she expects the school to be operating independent of the home, with its new name and on a non-profit basis, by September.

Meanwhile, registrations are being taken for immediate enrollment.

NURSERY SCHOOL runs from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day, with day care extended from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Several variations are offered for those who wish half-day or full-day enrollment. Children must register for at least two half-days a week, Sister Anina said.

Rates are $3.50 for a half day and $5.70 for a full day.

"While we would like to base fees on a sliding scale according to need," Sister Anina added, "this will not be possible until supplementary funds are available."

However, a parent group has set up a scholarship committee to provide funds to families unable to pay.

SISTER ANINA said a good educational program is maintained along with efforts to stimulate social and emotional development.

Arts and crafts are part of the program, and there is a water-play area with floating and pouring toys and a huge rainy day room filled with tricycles and gym equipment.

Hot lunches and rest periods also are part of the day's schedule.

Teacher Is Patio Finalist

Fred Robinson, Plymouth resident and science teacher at Lowell Junior High School, is one of the finalists in the eighth annual King of the Patio contest.

He and nine others will compete in a cookoff Thursday, June 15, in the downtown Detroit kitchens of the Detroit Edison Co., sponsor of the contest.

Winner of the cookoff will receive a complete patio ensemble including electric char-cook console, serving cart, patio dishes and stainless steel cutlery. Other electrical appliances will be awarded the rest of the finalists.

New Church Displays Its Present And Future

By MARGARET MILLER
Church Editor

A very young church in the Plymouth-Canton area will hold open house Sunday, June 11, to show the community both its tiny chapel for the present and its space to build for the future.

The Rev. James Jones, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, invited all who are interested to visit both the building the congregation has been refurbishing at 44205 Ford, just east of Sheldon, and the acreage planned as site for a new church on Cherry Hill between Sheldon and Canton Center.

Visitors will be welcomed between 3 and 5 p.m. by couples who will show both the church and the house on the Cherry Hill property to which Rev. Jones and his wife and two daughters will move this summer.

Teens of the church will serve refreshments on the lawn beside the church.

GRACE BAPTIST began late last year, holding its first services Sunday, Nov. 5, in Plymouth Central School.

The Galilean Baptist Missions, a Grand Rapids organization that exists primarily to establish churches and has financed the start of 60 of them in Michigan, helped the new congregation purchase both properties.

For several months, the congregation that now includes about 40 families has been holding morning and evening Sunday services and Wednesday prayer meetings in the Ford Road chapel and working at other hours to improve the building.

New windows, a change in the door arrangement, carpeting for the sanctuary, paneling for the walls, a lowered ceiling with fluorescent lighting and antiquing of pews and piano are just a few of the improvements in the old frame building most recently used by an Assembly of God congregation.

Before the end of the year, the congregation hopes to add a one-story building behind the church to provide room for church school classes. "Right now one of our families moves in a trailer for the nursery each Sunday," Rev. Jones said, "and we have two Sunday school classes that meet outside. If it rains, we're up a creek."

THE YOUNG clergyman, who left the position of youth director in First Baptist Church of Wayne to organize the new congregation, is enthusiastic about its prospects.

"I was brought up in a large church and have always been associated with large churches," he said, "but after a few months with this small congregation I don't think I'd go back to the other situation."

"In six months I've seen amazing growth on the part of people in the parish; it's like a family."

Rev. Jones said an unusual feature of Grace Baptist is that attendance tends to be greater for Sunday evening services than for those on Sunday morning, and that midweek prayer meetings sometimes draw the largest groups. He added that the congregation has been generous in financial support and that one young serviceman regularly sends $100 a month, more than 25 per cent of his paycheck.

CHURCH FAMILIES come mainly from Westland and Wayne at this time, Rev. Jones said, but he anticipates more from the Canton and Plymouth areas as the expected building boom there develops.

"If we do have a great expansion," Rev. Jones said, "I think I'd be inclined to start again with a small group. It's a different atmosphere from a big church -- you lose something in bigness."

THE EXTERIOR and new doorway of Grace Baptist. (Observer photos by Bob Woodring)

He had high praise for the Saline Baptist Church, which has helped with the loan of a mimeograph machine and a piano. A great deal of help in remodeling has come from Bellevue contractor Clarence Brown and his employee, Walt Ellis, a member of the Manchester Baptist Church. Rev. Jones said the church is founded on Peter's testimony about Jesus that "Thou art the Christ, the son of the living God," and added: Grace Baptist's Sunday schedule includes Sunday school at 9:45 a.m., morning worship at 11 a.m. and evening worship at 7 p.m. Wednesday services also are at 7 p.m.

U-M Student Will Give Organ Recital

Karen McAllister will present an organ recital at 7 p.m., Sunday, June 11, in Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church, 9601 Hubbard, Livonia. Miss McAllister is the granddaughter of one of the church's charter members, Clarence Hoffman.

Miss McAllister is now a senior majoring in organ performance at the University of Michigan school of music. She is a student of Robert Clark.

After graduation this summer, she plans to work on a master's degree in organ at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N.J. She attended Interlochen Arts Academy.

Mary Grace Adams, first woman moderator of the Detroit Presbytery for 1972, will speak at services at 9:30 a.m., Sunday, June 11, in the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, 26165 Farmington Road.

Mrs. Adams was a commissioner at the General Assembly in May.

The former Mary Grace James, she was born in Detroit and grew up in Iron Mountain. She graduated from the National College of Education in Evanston, Ill., and taught in elementary school in Kalamazoo.

She and her husband, Fred, a special assistant to the FHA commissioner in HUD, have two grown children.

The newly-elected officers are Mrs. Charles Rubin, president; Mrs. Sidney Golden, second vice president; Mrs. Sam Harnick, third vice president; Mrs. Irving Michaels, treasurer; Mrs. Henry Thumlin, financial secretary; Mrs. Manfred Lehman, recording secretary; Mrs. Samuel Portner, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Phil Freedman and Mrs. Leon Mondry, mailing secretaries.

VBS Will Give Prizes

The top leadership of the three-million-member United Presbyterian Church at the recent general assembly meeting here acted towards its hottest issue as if it were engaged in a cakewalk in late 18th century Versailles.

For the Presbyterian national headquarters' donation of $10,000 to the Angela Davis defense fund last year was strongly protested by 16 local presbyteries in 10 states.

They asked for stringent controls upon such funding or censure of those responsible. They got neither -- although the general assembly resolution politely thanked them for protesting.

INSTEAD, the assembly actually commended the very agency responsible for the controversial $10,000 donation (the Council on Church and Race) -- because, after a national furor within the denomination, it had adopted its own set of guidelines and criteria for future donations.

But these criteria, which were adopted by the assembly as well, set a new high in the policing of hen houses with foxes. The Council on Church and Race is the sole judge of whether there is "clear evidence of financial need" in such finding.

And even though the nation's local presbyteries will be asked to review any proposed donations ("except those involving grants for national organizations") the local presbyteries will be asked only for their "evaluation and recommendation," rather than any right to vote on what might be a funding in their own area.

JUST HOW ridiculous this is as any "restraint" upon the free-wheeling Council on Church and Race was made clear in the statement of the Rev. George H. Pike of Vancouver, Wash., who introduced the resolution:

"Yes, Miss Davis could apply for another donation," he explained to a press conference.

And as for any local presbyteries who might object: "Well, they can always appeal to the general assembly," explained Rev. Pike.

ON THE BASIS of what happened to 16 appeals on this subject at Denver, however, any such appeals would seem to resemble Little Nell trying to halt the Wabash Cannonball while tied to the railroad tracks.

For the general assembly is usually comprised of a majority of freshmen delegates ("commissioners") who are just about as effective as freshmen congressmen who try to buck the presidency, or the House or Senate majority leaders.

Moreover, there is always the subtle (or sometimes blatant) suggestion that anyone voting against the program is anti-God. When combined with a parliamentary juggernaut (if assembly committees have not already killed off any rebelliousness), this enables the grassroots to be effectively plowed -- at the same time they are financially cultivated.

When the general assembly rejected all 16 presbytery protests in less than five minutes, the delegates cheered -- with apparent relief -- as the headquarters applied a bandage to the hemorrhage which Rev. Pike had described as "probably the most important of all this assembly's issues."

There is some indication, however, that if continually stymied by national headquarters, individual Presbyterians are perfectly capable of voting with either their checkbooks or their legs. For while total Presbyterian Church income was up $13 million this past year, local Presbytery giving to the national headquarters was down $607,000 -- while total membership dropped 66,422.

Vacation Bible school for boys and girls between the ages of five and 12 will be held in Oakman Boulevard Baptist Church, 30025 Curtis Road, Livonia, from June 19-30. Sessions will be held Monday through Friday mornings from 9 to 11:45.

The program will include Bible stories, songs, memory verses, games and film strips. Refreshments will be served daily.

Prizes will be awarded each day for various accomplishments.

All boys and girls living in the area are invited to attend. There is no charge and there is no need for pre-registration. Pastor Paul F. White will direct the school.

Seniors Will Be Honored

Baccalaureate Sunday, will be observed at Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church, 9601 Hubbard, Livonia, at 11 a.m., June 11.

All graduating seniors, regardless of church affiliation, are invited to attend.

The seniors will meet in Room 108 to put on their caps and gowns and go to Fellowship Hall where they will be honored at a coffee hour before the service. They are asked to meet at 9:30 a.m.

Volunteer FISH Line Will Come To Plymouth

FISH telephone lines, designed to bring service on a one-to-one basis, soon will be opening in the Plymouth area.

In a meeting Monday in St. John Episcopal Church, volunteers decided to establish a new chapter of the nationwide organization that puts needed service at the end of a telephone call.

FISH, which takes its name from the sign early Christians used to identify themselves to each other, is an organization in which volunteers stand ready to help with such services as baby-sitting, emergency transportation or a hot meal.

Beginning in the New England area, it has spread across the country and in this area has active chapters covering Livonia, Farmington-Southfield and Redford Township.

FISH is non-denominational as well as non-profit and non-professional. It has been described as a people-to-people expression of Christian concern.

In Plymouth, the movement started with discussion among members of the First United Presbyterian Church and was taken to the city's Council of Churches.

About 10 churches have pledged support, and the initial meeting drew between 75 and 100 prospective volunteers.

THE GROUP named Peter and Sara Humphrey of Plymouth Township as the first chairman couple. Humphrey told the gathering there would have to be organization for a continuing effort.

"The Plymouth community has much to give," he said, "but there also are many in need."

THE MEETING featured a film on the work of FISH in New England and a report from Mrs. Jill Zick, a leader in the Pontiac group where volunteers handle as many as 1,000 calls in a month.

After working out organizational details, FISH in Plymouth soon will be ready to announce a telephone number that may be used by those in need of emergency assistance.

Area residents interested in volunteering may send inquiries to FISH, P.O. Box 384, Plymouth.

Healing Theme For CS Meeting

"Christian Healing: The Demand on Everyone" was the theme of a meeting in Boston attended by Christian Scientists from around the world, including a number from the Observer area.

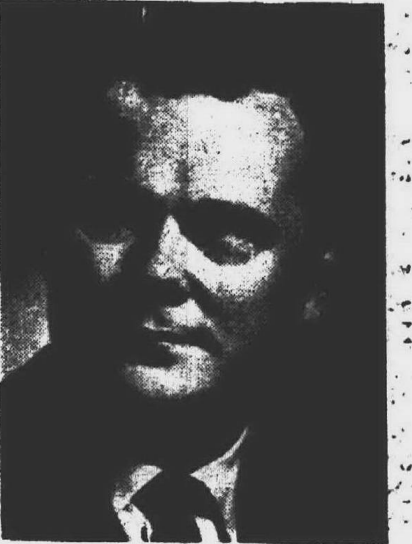

In a special message June 5 in Boston to the annual meeting of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, Arthur P. Wuth, the new chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, called on the members to dedicate themselves anew to the practice of Christian healing.

enlightenment and regeneration, Wuth told the gathering.

"We urge each branch church and each church member...to measure their progress in the light of their increased devotion to the healing ministry," he declared.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED at the meeting that the 28-story church administration building and the five-story church colonnade, with its film and broadcasting studios, would be completed late this year.

Wuth, the new chairman of the denomination's top administrative body, is a native of Denver. He has served the Christian Science movement in many capacities including committee on publication for Colorado, Christian Science lecturer, first reader of The Mother Church, and trustee of The Christian Science Publishing Society. Since 1964 he has been a member of The Christian Science Board of Directors. A Christian Science teacher, he now resides in Boston.

9 Tigers On All-Star Ballot

The Tigers' enthusiastic fans are sure to set a volume record in the voting - already underway - for the starting players in the 1972 All-Star Game to be played in Atlanta July 25.

For the third straight year, the fans are picking the starters in a punch-card, computer - counted balloting system. Ballots are available at Tiger Stadium and at most retail stores handling Gillette products during the voting period which ends July 9. Last year, only Kansas City and Pittsburgh topped Detroit in All-Star voting totals, as 421,000 ballots were distributed at Tiger Stadium and 195,000 were returned to national headquarters for counting. Other thousands, including most of those picked up at Gillette outlets, were mailed by individual fans. With the 1972 Tigers running pennant fever, with nine of their players on the ballot (more than any other team), and with the voting period extended a week longer this year, Detroit voting records are sure to fall.

THE TIGERS among the 128 nominees (64 in each major league) on the pre-printed ballot are Ed Brinkman, Norm Cash, Bill Freehan, Willie Horton, Al Kaline, Dick McAuliffe, Jim Northrup, Aurelio Rodriguez and Mickey Stanley.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Today (Saturday) just happens to be the biggest single day for the thoroughbreds and the standardbreds of the season.

The reason ... Hazel Park is presenting the $50,000 Michigan Derby, the track's No. 1 event of the year, and Wolverine Raceway is counteracting with an excellent card that includes a pair of Grand Circuit stakes.

Believe it or not but the harness racing card is so impressive that Racing Secretary Ron Giehls had to book the Breeders filly trot, with a value of $3,678, as a pre-race event with no betting.

There is a reason for that decision. Delmonica Hanover, a speedy three year old from the Del Miller barn, stands out in the field like a giant among a bunch of midgets.

Matter of fact, Miller thinks so much of the filly that he believes she could become a prime contender for the Hambletonian championship in late August ... and that would be a novelty for a filly to be an early favorite in the three year old trotting classic.

The story is a bit different in the $25,000 Matron three year old trot that attracted a field of six of which no less than four could be Hambletonian hopefuls.

Stan Dancer's Super Bowl appears to be the best in the field but can expect stiff competition from Del Miller's Flush, Joe O'Brien's Dartwell and Lou Huber's Klaus.

INCIDENTALLY, it will mark the first time of the Wolverine meeting that a trot has been made part of the program. Ailing Racing Secretary Bill Connors always saved the best pacing events for Saturdays and his top aide, Ron Giehls, who is filling in, continued that policy ... up to tonight.

Topping the 10 - race program, excluding the Matron, is the $10,000 invitational 'pace' with seven going postward. The field includes five past winners of invitational in Bramble Hall, Scram, Windy Way, Shiaway Lad and Tricky Dale.

But there's a newcomer in this race who could take it all. That happens to be Tarport Skipper, one of the top stars of the Del Miller stable, who just could be preparing for next Friday's Matron four year old pace.

That's the race that is expected to bring the great Albatross to town in search of the winner's share of the purse which probably will go as high as $60,000. If so, that will be the largest amount ever offered in metropolitan Detroit for a harness race.

The seventh starter is Russell Valles Key's Korkie Woollen who was the talk of the west coast during the winter but hasn't come back to that form at Wolverine.

Perhaps this could be the night.

Also listed on the program, which could well bring the first million dollar handle for trotters and pacers in Michigan, are an $8,000 invitational - preferred pace that has eight entrants including Spring's Pride who was clocked in 1:59.4 a week ago.

Those slated to bid for the $8,000 are: Local Time, Ray Forsythe's speedster who won last Saturday; Knox Patch, Trench Coat, Gaviland, Winning Worthy, Yankee Creed and the always dangerous Keystone Aaron. Also on tap for the evening are two $6,300 paces, one for $5,400, three with a price of $4,900 and one worth $3,200.

GREG WRIGHT, the Canadian driver - trainer who ranks third in the national rankings, accomplished quite a few things when he drove Hava Good, a four year old Good Time mare, to a 2:00 mile victory.

It was the first time a mare had been clocked in 2:00 at Wolverine since Belle Acton did it in 1958 over the half mile strip while winning the $10,000 Trans - America pace.

It was the sixth 2:00 mile of the meeting and the victory gave Greg his 39th at Wolverine and 119th of the year.

COULD THE CUTTER become the first Michigan-bred to win the fabled Michigan Derby at Hazel Park?

That's the question before thoroughbred racing experts as they look over the list of eight starters including Introductory, easy winner of the Derby Trail a week ago.

The Cutter, owned by Redbob Farm of Oxford, appears to be the chief threat to Introductory, who finished fourth in this year's Kentucky Derby and looked every part of a heavy favorite after his performance in the Trial.

A victory for The Cutter would give Michigan breeding a needed shot in the arm. It would have big monetary returns for Irving "Red" Duffy and Major Robert Borg, owners of Redbob Farm, since they would receive 10 per cent additional from the State of Michigan as a breeder's award.

The Cutter's record includes a victory at Oaklawn and then a third in the Arkansas Derby there.

In the Michigan Derby The Cutter will face Crimson Reaper, from the Crimson Farm owned by Livonia industrialist Peter Salmen. The Reaper was second in the Trial after leading most of the way.

Larry Snyder, Hazel Park's perennial jockey champion, will handle The Cutter and Bobby Breen will be flown in from New Jersey to drive Introductory.

The remainder of the field includes: G's Forward Thrust, Lightning Lark, Big Dot, Suspected and Sippin Whiskey.

The Derby will be the ninth race on the program with the horses going to the post around 6 p.m.

WSU Record

Wayne State University set a school single - game record, just missing the Matthei Building mark in the process, by making 27 or 31 free throw attempts (.871) vs. W. Ontario early in the 1971 - 72 basketball season.

Two-Time

Wayne State University two-time basketball MVP Bob Solomon was named to the 1972 District 4 Second All-Star Team by the National Association of Basketball Coaches (Midwest).

The pitching staff is composed of Belleville's Varn Gowen and Edsel Ford's Randy Owen. John Renko of Dearborn nailed down the first base slot with Allen Park's Mike Tomes rounding out the outfield.

TRENTON failed to place a player on the first team.

Hockey Now Varsity At Orchard Ridge

Oakland Community College's Orchard Ridge Campus, Farmington, has become the first of Michigan's 29 two - year colleges to add hockey to its varsity athletic program.

After five years of rapid growth as one of the most successful club sports at the college (57 - 38 - 4), ice hockey will be added to varsity basketball, cross country, baseball, and golf at the Farmington campus beginning with the 1972 season.

The Orchard Ridge Campus is the largest of the college's three permanent campuses with an enrollment of 6000 students. The campus opened in September of 1967 and within two months, the first athletic team to be organized at the campus was the hockey club, and it has been a prominent part of the sports program ever since. The Faculty Director of the hockey program since its inception has been Lawrence Gage, a member of the counseling staff at the campus.

In 1970, the Orchard Ridge hockey team was admitted to membership in the Midwest College Hockey Association, finishing third with three men named to the MCHA's All - Conference first team. In addition to OCC, other members are Hillsdale, Central Michigan, Toledo University, Dayton University, Miami (Ohio) University, and Oberlin College. This season, in their second year of league competition, the Raiders won the MCHA championship, posting a 9-0 league and an 18 - 6 season record.

According to Gage, there have been two significant factors in the success of the hockey program at the campus. "Our membership in the Midwest College Hockey Association has enabled us to proceed with quality scheduling and outstanding competition for the past two years."

THE REAL CATALYST for the program according to Gage, has been the addition of Raider coach John Gumbelton, who assumed coaching responsibilities two seasons ago. In his first two seasons, Gumbelton has a 28 - 16 record and a 15 - 4 mark in Midwest College Hockey Association competition.

In addition to a winning tradition, the OCC hockey team also has an impressive academic record each year. For the Fall term of the 1971 - 72 season, six team members were Dean's List scholars as a result of earning averages above 3.20 (A - 4.0). The team's overall average was a 2.60.

By gaining varsity status for the hockey program at OCC, Gage is hopeful that other community colleges will eventually include ice hockey as varsity sports. At present, Oakland Community College will be the only two - year college with an active varsity hockey program in Region 12 (Lower Michigan, Indiana, Ohio) of the National Junior College Athletic Association.

Adray Opens Sunday

No Breather For Baseballers

By TOM DONOGHUE
Observer Sports Editor

Another school year is nearing completion with only a handful of schools still in varsity sport competition in the state baseball tournament. The regionals are this weekend with the state championship on June 17.

But there'll be no breather for area baseballers...

An 18 team Connie Mack and 10 team Adray league move into high gear this week with the Adray teams starting play Sunday.

The Connie Mack league was scheduled to open on Tuesday but only some will begin play as the schedule had to be revamped due to the fact Bentley and Plymouth are still alive in state tourney action.

Dearborn Adray, Livonia Griffin Sport and Redford Adray are the favored power houses in the Adray league.

The breakdown of the Adray lineup with manager is:

Birmingham Varsity Shop - Al Bates; Redford Adray - Pat Sheridan; Garden City - Donald Ponte; Westland Burger King - Ernie Lyons; South Farmington Mario

Sinola - Harry DeBash; Plymouth Bidwell Industries - Dick Schryer; Livonia Griffin Sport - Ron Heller; North Farmington Koebel Diamond - Ray Carr; Northville Reef Mfg. - Richard Adams; Adray Dearborn - Frank Freeburn.

THREE GAMES are on tap Sunday with: Mario Sinola vs. Bidwell Industries at Plymouth; Redford Adray vs. Reef Mfg. at Northville; and Varsity Shop at Adray Dearborn. The opening pitch is slated for 1:30 p.m.

Ford Field in Livonia will be the site of two evening games with Garden City against Koebel Diamond Tool at 6 p.m. and Burger King pitted with Griffin Sport at 8:30 p.m.

The Adray league picks up action again on Wednesday and Friday with the week wrap up each Sunday.

The Connie Mack league has been divided into two divisions, the American and National.

The nine teams in each division are takeoffs from the high school teams so for the favorites, look to your conference champions.

The breakdown of the American league is:

Livonia Optimist (Bentley JV) - Dick DeVries; Reef Manufacturing (Northville) - Gary Emerson; Warholak Tires (RU) - Bob Atkins; Fancher's Janitor (Stevenson) - Frank Greger; Philippi Service (Franklin JV) - Lucky Birkett; North Farmington - Lew Doot; Red Holman Pontiac (Plymouth JV) - Mike Waller; National Pride (Churchill) - Roger Frayer; West Bloomfield - Carl Rowley.

The breakdown of the National league is:

Redford Tool (Churchill JV) - Jim Barr; Hines Mercury (Franklin) - Paul Hunt; Farmington's Little Caesars (Farm.) - Charles Smith; Harrison - Bruce Brewin; Thurston - Emil Majeski; John Glenn - Norm Hoenes; Lambert Sons (Stevenson JV) - Tony Lambert; Crowe Assoc. (Bentley) - Joe Berg; Plymouth Elks (Plymouth) - Wayne Sparkman.

Four games are scheduled for Tuesday (June 13).

In the National league, Farmington Little Caesars plays John Glenn at Haggerty Field, 6 p.m., and Harrison plays Thurston at Thurston High at 6 p.m.

In the American league, Reef Manufacturing plays Red Holman Pontiac at Plymouth at 6 p.m. and Warholak Uniroyal Tires contests with North Farmington at NF, at 6 p.m.

FOLLOWING ARE the diamonds which will be hosting Adray and Connie Mack baseball:

Henry Ford Field (lighted baseball diamond); Northville High (on Eight Mile Road in Northville); Garden City Park (Merriman and Cherry Hill); Plymouth High (Canton Center and Joy); Thurston High (Schoolcraft between Inkster and Beech); Northville Athletic Field (Cass Benton); Dearborn Community College (5101 Evergreen); Birmingham Groves High (13 Mile and Lahser); North Farmington High (13 Mile and Farmington Rd.); Franklin High (31000 Joy Rd.); Haggerty Field (Edward Hines Parkway at Haggerty Road); John Glenn High (Wayne Rd. and Marquette); Redford Union High (17711 Kinloch); and Harrison (12 Mile and Middlebelt).

Two Wolverine Greats, Oosterbaan And Weber End Long 'M' Careers

By W. W. EDGAR

Things never will be the same in Ann Arbor—especially on the University of Michigan campus.

Two of the venerable forerunners of Michigan athletics—Bennie Oosterbaan and Wally Weber—are moving into retirement and their like may never again be seen in the colors of the Maize and Blue.

For the past several years Bennie, Michigan's only three time All-America, has served as secretary of the athletic alumni, and Weber, his teammate in the mid 20's has been an ambassador of good will—always preaching the gospel of Wolverine supremacy to all and sundry who would listen.

Now, after years of service, they'll take their places in the special section in the press box, seated next to Ray Fisher, famed baseball coach; Cliff Keen, one of the all time wrestling coaches, and Fritz Crisler, the keen football strategist, who guided the Wolverines in the wake of the immortal Fielding H. Yost and Les Etter, one of the better public relations men in the Western Conference.

Oosterbaan rated by many as the greatest football player ever to wear the Maize and Blue, started his great career in 1925 on a team that the late Coach Yost called the best he ever had.

Ironically, he got his start in a game against Michigan State, and scored the first touchdown of his career when he took a pass from Benny Friedman, to help beat State then known as the Michigan Aggies.

Oosterbaan claims it was just happenstance that he teamed up with Friedman as one of the country's greatest pass combinations.

"Friedman was one of the few quarterbacks in the country," Oosterbaan explains, "who knew where the ball was going when he threw a pass. And I was just there to catch them."

ONE OF OOSTERBAAN'S greatest moments came in a grueling game with Minnesota up in Gopher country. While the teams were battling with little or no advantage Bennie picked up a fumble and raced more than 50 yards for the winning score.

He was accused of playing out of position on that particular play. But later Coach Yost admitted that he had so much confidence in Oosterbaan that he allowed him to play where he wanted.

Bennie also was on hand for two of the most unusual games in Michigan history—a 3 to 2 loss to Northwestern on a field where only the corners were dry, and the 9 to 3 victory over Ohio State in the driving snow of blizzard proportions in 1950.

OOSTERBAAN was the coach in the latter game and with the victory went the Big Ten championship and a trip to the Rose Bowl where the Wolverines added to their status.

Of the Rose Bowl, though, Bennie claims one of his most satisfying afternoons was as assistant to Coach Crisler when Michigan downed Stanford 49 to 0 in 1947.

Bennie coached the Wolverines for 10 years—from 1948 to 1958 and won three Big Ten titles. And Crisler, a keen student himself often has referred to Bennie as "the greatest football mind" I ever knew.

Weber was a pile driving fullback in his playing days under Yost and later served for years as the freshman coach.

But Wally's main forte was words—and how he could use them.

HE WAS MICHIGAN'S all time orator and no one ever could measure the amount of banquet food he devoured while preaching the gospel of the Wolverines.

Known throughout the football world as "The Wizard of Words," he vows he'll be around for all those who care to listen.

As he moved into retirement Oosterbaan didn't care too much to look back on his career. Rather, he preferred to look forward and prophesied that the next big change in football would be more downfield lateral passing on kick returns.

"It has proved successful in basketball," he said, "to pass laterally when nearing the basket, the same could be true in football. Perhaps 'Bo' Schembechler and Fritz Crisler, two great coaches, won't like this, but I venture to say, we'll see more lateral passing than ever within the next year or two."

And so, two of Michigan's stalwarts, fellows whose names belong with the legendary Hestons, Schultz, Harmon, and Yosts, are passing into the wings.

But they'll never be forgotten—not even in points far distant from Ann Arbor—and wherever football is played.

By W. W. EDGAR

Penny McClain, the youthful bowler who set a fast pace in the ladies all-star leagues during the winter season, is proving her showing then was no flash in the pan.

Continuing where she left off at the end of the regular schedule, she has shot to the top in the summer doubles league at Garden Lanes and shows no signs of slipping.

She opened the league this past week with a 666 series to lead all of her rivals and, paired with Jan Kazella, took over first place in the standings.

With her big series she beat out Ann Setlock who fired a 650 for second place and Mary Mohacsio who landed in the third position with 615.

Others among the high scorers included Theresa Linger with 597 and Pat Lisowski with 593.

WELL ON HIS way to what could have been a 700 series in the summer league Westland Bowl, Larry Franz wilted under pressure and had to settle for a 650.

He opened with games of 225 and 264 and needed only a 211 finisher to break the 700 barrier. But he wasn't equal to the task and rolled a mere 161.

Meanwhile, Ken Beattie improved each of his three games to fashion a 649 for second place. Ken started with a 201, followed with 216 and then closed with a 232.

In the women's division the spotlight went on Pat Halstead who came through with a 249 in 537.

Imagine that—249 in one game and then only 288 in the next two.

Gil Goss was the pacemaker with a 216 in 603.

The hottest item in the rumor department along the all-star classic front has several sponsors throwing the sponge and retiring from the game. High on the list of rumors is Alexander-Horning that has sponsored top ranked teams for more than a half dozen years.

MARY CROSWELL got her name on the Oddities Board at Merri-Bowl when she rolled identical scores of 137 for each of her three games. She carries a 145 average and couldn't come much closer to equaling it in her latest series.

HERE'S ONE to think about on these hot summer nights.

Over at Country Lanes in Farmington, interest is growing in the "No Tap" competition and enthusiasm is on the wane for the Scotch doubles.

Why?

"Well, we found that when husband and wife had to roll alternate shots they got into too many arguments," one of the women explained. "In No Tap where you get a strike if you knock over nine pins, you're on your own and there's no chance for argument."

Well, well.

BERTHA SIMONSEN had them talking at Bel-Aire Lanes with her latest series in the summer league.

She came through with a 590 series and didn't have a 200 game.

How come?

She started with 199, followed with 198 and closed with a 193.

Meanwhile, Millie Reynolds opened with a 208, then slipped to 169 and 146 for a 523.

Tom McCullough was the man of the hour in the Bermuda Shorts League. He linked games of 246, 183 and 213 for a 642 to beat out Don Studt who had games of 226, 210 and 180 for 606.

Among the Gals in the summer league Marge Richardson was high with a 504 and Mary Lou Radcliff converted the 6-7 split.

In the Thursday Mixed League, Hugh Humpert profited a 236 start to post a 614 series and Denny Feloni had a 606.

Top Mentor

Doug Blubaugh, Michigan State's assistant wrestling coach since 1963, was named "Coach of the Year" in 1971 by the U.S. Wrestling Federation. He coached the U.S. Pan American and World freestyle mat teams in 1971.

THE NEW OAKLAND County commissioners' districts will probably look like this after final approval. Southfield will make up most of the 20th and 21st districts with Lathrup Village included in the 20th. The 15th district takes in western Southfield, Bingham Farms, Wood Creek Farms, Franklin and northeastern Farmington Township. Farmington Township also reaches into the 24th, 25th and 27th districts. Quakertown is in the 24th district which moves westward to South Lyon. The 27th district includes the City of Farmington.

OCC Incumbents For Innovation

An Editorial

Voters in Farmington and Southfield will select two persons from a realm of 10 candidates for six-year terms on the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees Monday.

The Observer Newspapers endorses the two incumbents, George Mosher and Lila Johnson for reelection.

Mosher, 551 Mohegan, Birmingham, and Mrs. Johnson, 12726 LaSalle, Huntington Woods, served on the citizens committee which organized the college and have been trustees since the board was created in 1964.

We think the incumbents deserve to be returned to the board because of their support of OCC's innovative programs and their leadership in the past eight years.

Their support of President Joseph Hill's programs has helped the college become one which aids the average and below average students and treats each student as an individual.

Mrs. Rowens, Chaiken Are Endorsed For C'ville Board

In this modern time of women's lib and the like, isn't it about time Clarenceville picked a woman for trustee on the district school board? The school system has never had a woman on the board.

Naturally the answer will come in Monday's election but the Observer Newspapers believe a woman, one of the eight candidates which includes three feminine residents, deserves one of the two vacant spots.

After a careful study of the candidates and evaluating their performances at a recent League of Women Voters "meet the candidates" night, the Observer Newspapers endorses incumbent Ray Chaiken and Mrs. Marilyn Rowens.

A highly qualified rating is given to former board member Richard J. Wood.

Chaiken has been a board member for 12 years and certainly deserves another four year term. His experience makes him the top candidate in Monday's voting.

He is a graduate of Cornell University, a member of the Boosters Club and is manager of the plant and equipment engineering office of Ford Motor Co.

He has been a member of the negotiation committee of the Michigan Association of School Boards for three years.

Mrs. Rowens, a candidate in last year's board election, is a graduate of UCLA and a resident of Clarenceville for 15 years. She is past co-chairman of the Clarenceville Entertainment Series, PTA member, worked on the pre-school program in the school district and is a volunteer worker with the Livonia Community Commission on Drug Abuse.

Mrs. Rowens, in answering a questionnaire from the LWV, listed the following training and experience that qualifies her for the office:

Total involvement in the school community for nine years, plus her interest and concern for each individual student's growth and development. Commitment to creative methods in learning to read, learning to teach and in the involvement of education.

Wood, father of four, is an employee of Ford Motor Co. as a program coordinator. He is a graduate of Cleary College and is interested in the cub Scout program as a cubmaster.

As a member of the board from 1962-1970, he served on the negotiations committee for the custodians and secretaries and was a member of the selection committee of the district superintendent.

The Observer study of the candidates placed Chaiken and Mrs. Rowens ahead of all, with Wood as the most qualified of the others.

Leffel Seeks Seat As OCC Trustee

William Leffel, 18564 Saratoga, Lathrup Village, is one of 10 candidates running for two vacancies on the Oakland Community College Board of Trustees. The election is Monday, June 12, throughout Oakland County. Leffel's biography and answers to an Observer Newspapers questionnaire were lost in delivery and thus not included on the candidates page in the June 7 edition of this newspaper.

The 28-year-old Leffel is an executive aid at General Motors and former student at OCC. He maintained a "B" average while a student on the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington and was editor of the campus' newspaper, Recorder.

HE WAS student government representative to the American Assn. of Junior College's convention in Dallas, Texas; a consultant for the All-College Student Government and student government designee to the Student-Faculty Finance Committee.

Leffel plans to attend law school and eventually have a practice in Oakland County.

His experiences on college committees and as newspaper editor make him qualified for a seat on the board, he says.

"OCC excels in its exceptionally qualified staff, its open attitude toward and encouragement of innovation and creativity, and the exploration of new avenues to education," Leffel said.

Leffel said the college has "excellent potential" which is dependent on "development of effective communication between community, board of trustees, faculty, students and administration."

The college hasn't sought input from the students, Leffel said, adding that he will work toward improving communication.

"Too often only the most outspoken 'revolutionaries' are heard. These people have proven to be long and loud in talking, but not willing to work with the rest of the college. My candidacy for the board of trustees is evidence that I am willing to work with all segments of the college."

GEORGE E. GULLEN, JR., president of Wayne State University, will be guest speaker at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, June 11, for dedication of the new Farmington Public Library at 32737 W. 12 Mile, Farmington Township. Public invited to ribbon cutting and tours which will follow.

It's Hard To Sit This 'Nanny' Out

By BETTY MASSON

"Every Little Crook and Nanny" is the kind of a movie that makes being a reviewer a painful business.

If you're seeing a movie for fun, you can walk out after the first 20 minutes (several lucky people did) and chalk it up as a bad investment. But to be fair, the reviewer should stick around to the end in the hope that things will get better.

One would have said "Nanny" couldn't have gotten worse. It did.

IN ITS LACK of subtlety and any real humor, "Nanny" bears a strong resemblance to a movie called "The 12 Chairs." Dom DeLouise appears in both. One can only wonder if he had a hand in writing both.

"Every Little Crook and Nanny" is about what happens when a Mary Poppins type mixes with the Mafia. It's about cops on the take, accidental and oriental gals on the make ... and a cute little kid who needs more attention from his parents.

Lynn Redgrave plays Nanny, owner and operator of Miss Poole's School of Etiquette.

quette, Voice and Dance, until mobster Carmen Genucci puts her out of business because he needs her apartment for his betting operations. Genucci is played by Victor Mature, who looks just great, and acts like Victor Mature.

Miss Poole bears a striking resemblance to Miss Poppins, even to carrying an umbrella which she uses for emphasis by hitting people.

THAT IS, she resembles Miss Poppins until she falls into bed with one of Genucci's cheapest hoods.

Nanny gets herself a job as a babysitter for Genucci's son, Louis, and the Genuccis take off for a vacation and a little business in Italy. Nanny decides to revenge herself for being dispossessed by kidnapping Louis. This she does with the aid of a piano teacher and his wife.

After many complications, Nanny gets her $50,000 and the hood, Louis gets some advice, "Don't be like your father," and the reviewer gets to leave.

Retired Carpenter Is Now A Talented Weaver

Kenneth C. Lunn of Plymouth is one retiree who has never found time hanging heavy on his hands.

A carpenter most of his working life, he is now winning recognition as a talented weaver.

A high point in his career was Artrain's visit to Plymouth this spring. At the request of the Kaleidoscope Plymouth committee, he set up his loom in the C&O freight shed and was one of the featured attractions during every afternoon and evening of the train's 17-day stay.

ONE OF his beautifully-woven towels was presented to Mrs. William G. Milliken, and now, according to a letter the Lunn received from her, is an attractive addition to the governor's mansion.

Just last fall, Lunn entered one of his towels in a Michigan State Grange show in Hillsdale and took a blue ribbon.

Lunn began weaving in 1965, after taking three lessons. Then he bought his 32-inch, 10-harness loom (he has it rigged for four) and $200 and proceeded to learn more by trial and error.

He became interested in weaving because of his liking for Navajo Indian weaving shown in the Arizona Highways magazines. One of his first projects was to make two Navajo-style rugs to hang on the living room wall of their Marilyn Street home.

At first he made rag rugs, "but this wasn't a big enough challenge." Now he concentrates on making patterned towels, table scarves and place mats. This coming winter, he is planning to tackle a much larger project, a woven bedspread.

Although he got several orders as a result of his demonstrations at Artrain, he would rather make up his own patterns and color schemes and "be creative."

THEN IF visitors want to buy them this is fine. If not, they make good gifts for friends and his many nieces and nephews.

Lunn estimates that he can make about three towels in one day. "It takes a day and a half or two to set up the loom before you even start," points out Mrs. Lunn. Once the loom is set up, 20 towels are made at one time.

Natives of Columbus, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Lunn are both enthusiastic hobbyists. They moved to Plymouth in 1936 and he built their attractive home there himself. Leatherwork and furniture refinishing have been among his hobbies, and he still bakes bread every two weeks. In the summer, a large garden keeps him away from the loom.

Mrs. Lunn specializes in taking pictures, canning and freezing as well as cooking, keeping scrapbooks and knitting.

Future plans don't include entering Lunn's work in more craft shows. "There isn't time," this retiree explains as he begins work on his next project.

Plans do include a birthday party. Lunn will be 73 on June 14.

Chicken is among the fastest, easiest foods to cook. But there's another way to prepare it besides frying, stewing or making it go Hawaiian! Take a cut up fryer or your favorite parts of the chicken. Brush each piece on both sides with olive oil and sprinkle it with garlic salt or onion salt, if you prefer. Lay the pieces of chicken on the broiler rack six inches beneath a hot broiler. Remember to put a piece of aluminum foil beneath them. Broil the pieces twelve minutes; then turn them over for twelve minutes more on the other side. And that's all there is to it!

Whatever kind of food you prefer you'll find your favorite on the menu at DANISH INN, 32305 Grand River Ave., 476-5920. THIS IS a dining patio since it's located close to a kitchen door. Like the traditional Spanish patio, it's fenced in.

Where Should You Place A Patio?

By BETTY FRANKEL

Patios are "in" for outdoor living. In former years, great-grand-ma's idea of summer fun was to sit on the front porch -- she called it a veranda -- with a palm - leaf fan and a pitcher of lemonade and wave to the neighbors as they went by in their horse - drawn buggy. But bustles are out and bikinis are in, and the backyard patio is the favored spot for summer relaxation.

A patio can be the center of family activities during the warm months, and it helps make the yard a real outdoor living area. It is just the spot for a play area for toddlers, a lounge area for teens, and for adult entertaining.

"PATIO" IS A Spanish word and refers to the paved, enclosed courtyards that have been a feature of Spanish architecture for centuries, ever since the idea was brought to Spain by the Moors in the seventh century. In addition to the paved floors and high enclosing walls, the main features were a central pool or fountain and groups of potted plants.

The Spaniards, when they colonized America, developed their typical patios in Florida, California and Mexico. The enclosed patio is still found in these areas. In other parts of the country the traditional patio has been modified. There is generally a paved floor, but the enclosure is often indicated only by a single wall of the adjacent house. In some cases, patios have been developed away from the house without any enclosing walls at all.

The patio should be located where it will be most useful and convenient. Patios adjacent to kitchens or family rooms are most popular since patios are favorite spots for summer dining.

However, since shade is a "must" for summer use, this may determine where it is best to locate a patio. For spring or fall use, a sunny patio is desirable.

DEPEND ON the situation. the patio may be located to take advantage of a beautiful view, or it can be tucked away in a private area that is secluded from the neighbors or from the rest of the yard.

For a change of pace, or to provide a second patio area, consider building a patio under the wide-spreading branches of a tree in a far corner of the back yard. It can be charming and delightful for an early morning breakfast area, or for an afternoon cup of tea. Another advantage to paving under a tree is that it is often difficult to grow grass there, anyway, and paving is an attractive substitute.

To be most useful, a patio should be firm and level, pitched just enough so that it drains quickly after a rain. Make sure it pitches away from the house if it is adjacent to the house.

The patio should be designed so it adds to the beauty of the landscaping. It will serve as a transitional area between the straight architectural lines of the house or garage and the soft flowing forms of lawn and trees and shrubs growing in the yard. The size and shape will depend on the space available and on the effect desired.

MATERIALS for paving include brick, stone, concrete, wood and imaginative combinations of these materials.

Attractive patios have been made of random-shaped flagstones. These can be set in mortar with close joints, or they can be set on a bed of sand with grass or moss, or creeping thyme growing in the joints.

Irregular stones make an informal patio. Even less formal are wood patios made of wood rounds cut from large trees. These have great charm, but are not very durable.

Use your imagination when designing your backyard patio. Let it express your creativity -- and it can be a fun do - it - yourself project.

Rolling Garden

Watch your step, please! If there is a change of level in your yard -- if one part is higher than another -- build some steps. They can be an interesting and decorative garden feature.

Psychologists say that the human eye enjoys looking at stairs, and that stairs figure in our pleasant dreams.

Stairs must be functional as well as decorative. They must follow certain rules as to size so people can climb them easily and not trip or stumble. Too shallow can be as much of a hazard as too steep. However, in general, outdoor steps should not be quite as steep as indoor steps.

A good rule-of-thumb to follow is to have twice the riser plus the tread equal to 27 inches. For instance, if the step up (or riser) is six inches high, the flat part of the step, or the tread, should be 15 inches. If the steps are five inches high, the tread should be 17 inches.

IF YOU HAVE A long, steep slope, plan to break the flight of steps with a landing or two. Plan a landing if the change of level is over six feet.

The steps are easier to climb and the design more interesting if the groups of steps can be off - set at the landings or can change direction. It is a good idea to have a hand - rail for a steep or long flight of stairs.

Each step should pitch forward just slightly so water drains off.

Don't make the steps too narrow. Four feet in width is needed for two people to walk side by side on the steps. In general, shallow steps are better.

Can Use A Stairway . . .

low steps look better if they are wider. Steep steps can be narrower and still look in good proportion.

THE SHAPE AND direction and size of the steps depends on the ground form and on the rest of the garden around them.

The design of the steps and the material used for construction should be in keeping with the surroundings. If they are near the house, the style of the house should determine the design. Away from the house there is more freedom of design. Wherever they are, the steps will have a profound influence on the character or mood of the garden because they are a rather dominant garden feature.

Brick, stone and concrete are suitable for steps in a formal garden. Split cedar rails pegged into a slope, or large wood rounds are rustic and informal.

Railroad ties make sturdy durable steps that are easy to build. The tie makes a good riser. A second tie can be set behind to make a broad tread, or gravel can be used for the tread.

Steps made of wood are light and open in feeling. Stone steps suggest the rugged stability of a natural rock outcropping.

A FEW BOULDERS can be placed at the edge of steps, and plants at the sides soften the stiffness and help blend the stairs into the surroundings. The area next to the stairs makes a perfect spot to grow special plant treasures.

YOU CAN BUILD lawn chairs like this if you can follow directions -- it's easier than you think! This is "folding chair pattern 311," and you can get the plan for $1 by writing to: Easi-Build Pattern Co., (Inc.), P.O. Box 215; Briarcliff Manor, N.Y. 10510.

Whatever the materials used, and no matter what the design of the steps, they should be solidly constructed and not tippy or wobbly or loose. Poorly built steps are a real hazard.

Flowers and plants don't have to grow on the ground. For a bright accent, try growing plants in a hanging basket.

Baskets can be hung from the eaves of the house, on a porch post, or from the branches of a tree. They can be hung against the garage or house wall or on a fence. For a really unusual decorative garden screen, a sturdy frame can be constructed with baskets hung in the openings.

In shady spots choose asparagus fern, ivy or house plants such as spider plant, philodendron, or grape ivy.

In partially shaded areas try coleus, begonias, sedum, or fuschias.

In sunny spots use colorful annuals. Petunias are perfect. Any others that trail over the edge of the basket are also suitable. These include nasturtiums, lantana and ivy geraniums. Marigolds and sweet alyssum are also suitable.

Plastic or clay flower pots can be hung up using coat hangers or heavy twine. Wire or plastic or wicker baskets are lighter in weight. These should be lined with sheet moss or burlap so the soil does not sift out.

The pots or baskets should be filled with a light, porous, rich soil mixture. Use one third peat moss.

In A Basket

Try Hanging Your Flowers

one third perlite and one third garden soil for a good mixture.

The plants should be fed once a week with a dilute solution of a water soluble fertilizer.

The baskets will need to be watered every day -- or perhaps twice a day if they are in a sunny or breezy spot.

Keep faded flowers and straggly stems removed and your hanging baskets will be beautiful all summer.

WATER PLANTS give this pool a more natural look. Betty Frankel suggests the ground should never slope away from the pool.

By BETTY FRANKEL

A little bit of water is good for the spirit -- especially if it is in a garden pool, and a little pool can add lots of charm to the garden.

Water is an ancient symbol of life, and in warm climates a garden pool was an essential feature. Even in our gardens it has great psychological benefits.

The sun glinting on a bit of water or the sound of a little stream trickling into a pool is so refreshing on a warm summer day. The pool reflects the sky and brings a bit of the sky's changing moods into the garden adding another dimension to the scene.

A lovely plant growing at the edge of the pool is reflected in the water and the beauty is doubled.

EVEN A TINY POOL or little basin of water can add a decorative highlight to the garden. It can be the central feature with all the rest of the garden planned around it, or it can be used to terminate a view. It can be built against a wall or incorporated into a patio, or it

THE HOMEOWNER won't want a garden pool this large, but this industry's pool shows how the appearance of a plant can be reflected and enhanced. Note how the irregular shape gives the impression of a natural pond.

PLYMOUTH Community School News

PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

JUNE 1972

Special Education Classes

The Plymouth schools have had a long involvement in providing special education classes for the educable mentally handicapped of our District. In addition we also provide services in the areas of Psychology, Social Work, Speech Therapy and classes for the Emotionally Disturbed. These classes in our district are for the educable mentally handicapped, and provide a special program for those of school age. The staff members are trained to work with these kinds of children and to provide them with a highly individualized program.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AT ISBISTER

The Community Service program at Plymouth High School has provided most of our elementary schools with student helpers who, on a part-time basis as their schedules permit, assist the staff of each school.

The activities of these young men and women are determined by the staff of the building they serve and may range from supervision of children to assisting children in projects assigned by the classroom teacher.

These high school young people receive no pay for this work, but do it out of a wish to serve their community in a constructive manner. These students may only be involved at times when they are not in classes and they must provide their own transportation.

The Isbister children, shown here, have derived great benefit from the program because of the closeness of their building to the high school. However, many other high school students travel to our most distant schools. Credit is given for these students on their high school record.

SUPERINTENDENT HOBEN'S REPORT

There have been many emotionally charged issues such as cross district busing, portionment of the district, talk of tax reform, and a number of other similar issues which have had a tendency to cloud the real issue of this millage.

For a number of years the Plymouth Community Schools have operated in the black due in the main to responsible fiscal management under the direction of Assistant Superintendent for Finance, Melvin Blunk. This year has been no exception. The Board of Education levied less than the voted millage when assessments were raised and less millage was needed to meet the budget demands.

However, there have been a few surprises along the way, such as the State Board of Education contingency fund where $226,000 was taken from district revenues, retroactive pay granted by the Pay Board, etc., which have caused this administration to place a moratorium on spending which has been in effect since the 13th of March, 1972. Only emergency expenditures have subsequently been approved since that date.

Although we were all thoroughly frustrated by the construction delays and strikes while Plymouth-Salem High School was being constructed, the Board wisely invested the bonded monies and through this effort some $1,600,000

Interest was earned which in some measure has gone a long way toward producing Phase II (the vocational wing on the Plymouth-Canton High School) at no additional cost to the taxpayer. Plymouth schools enjoy a fine reputation throughout the State. Its programs and its teachers are of highest quality. Because of this reputation many of our citizens have moved to this district to take part in our schools. Because of this reputation land and home values are enhanced.

Your support in this millage election is needed. I can think of five or six emotional reasons which might cause one to ponder on a negative vote but there are 10,800 excellent reasons for an affirmative vote.

Starkweather Library

A STEP AHEAD

The final completion date was later than planned, but the result was well worth the waiting. Now, the Starkweather School has a beautiful new library for use by the children. This school, by design, has a reduced student population which has provided space for this new library. One of the classrooms not needed for students was converted during the late summer and early fall of 1971. The library books, formerly housed in a much smaller room, now are easily available for the children to find, read and enjoy.

ANY REGISTERED VOTER MAY VOTE ON THE JUNE 12TH SCHOOL MILLAGE ELECTION.

DEBT RETIREMENT MILLAGE REDUCTION AFFECTS OPERATING MILLAGE COSTS

With a projected increase of approximately 12 million dollars in the School District's State Equalized Valuation (SEV), it is projected that the debt retirement levy will be reduced from 6.25 mills to 6.00 mills for 1972. This reduction amounts to 25 cents per thousand dollars of SEV and when combined with Proposals I, II, and III, represents a net increase in school taxes for a typical homeowner as follows:

Proposal I	Increase over 1971 taxes
Value of Home	(reduced debt levy included)
$30,000	$ 7.50

Editorial On Education

The major emphasis in our schools has been and is to provide each child with the highest level of academic skills within his ability to learn. This is demonstrated by an elementary school philosophy which sets as a goal the acquisition of the basic skills of Reading, Writing and Arithmetic, through the transitional years of the middle school wherein a program is provided to strengthen and broaden the students academic background, to the high school program where a comprehensive, diversified educational opportunity is offered each student.

Within the schools of Plymouth we have strived to provide opportunities for the students which go beyond the basics of education. This action has been supported over and over by the electorate during the past, for this was the kind of program they desired for their children.

On the pages of this paper there is an attempt to highlight some of the programs and activities which are going on in our schools to go the step beyond. It by no means reflects all of the activities which are offered, but does give the flavor of the accomplishment of the year.

The high school program of modular scheduling has been given a great amount of publicity in the news media and it is for this reason that emphasis will be upon the other schools.

Pioneer Mini-Courses Are Successful

Since the beginning of school this year, Pioneer Middle School has offered students a great variety of courses not available till now. Though students are getting their usual amount of all subjects as before, a new time arrangement has allowed for new short term "mini - courses" where students can learn new skills in crafts, body coordination and mental skills.

Where did Pioneer get the time to make available to each student 30 minutes a day for a mini - course? Instead of having a 47 minute lunch period and a 47 minute study hall, the time was pooled into three periods of 30 minutes each allowing each student 30 minutes for lunch, 30 minutes for intramurals and a 30 minute "mini - course." The response has been great from teachers and students alike. Most of study halls even though a student may elect a library mini - course if he chooses. Some of the ferings such as open shop lab for boys and girls, dancing, macrame, hunting, archery, model building, camping, cheer leading, foreign languages, music and games, and beadcraft have been very popular. Speed reading, woodcrafts, Morse code, guitar, scrap art, grooming, baton, crocheting, knitting, Japanese origami, sports study, plastics, electricity and leather craft have also been well accepted by the students. Other courses offered have also contributed to the varied program where the student gets to make his choices of what he'd like to do for three, six or nine weeks. The administrators, teachers and students all feel pretty good about what is going on as a result of spending that certain amount of extra effort on everyone's part to keep a good thing.

One of the most interesting parts about the program was to see how each new offering evolves into something exciting and interesting for the teachers as well as their students. There are no tests, no grades and no pressure - just a student turning out some of the best crafts and skills we've seen.

Industrial Education At Central

The students of our district are offered a full range of industrial education classes beginning at the middle school level.

As the students progress through the grades the intensity of the program increases with the skills the children develop.

Shown here is a shop class at Central Junior High. The curriculum for industrial education has been a subject of study for the last two years of a sub-committee of the Curriculum Coordinating Council. This action has resulted in a revision of the courses offered to provide an even more comprehensive program for the children of the district.

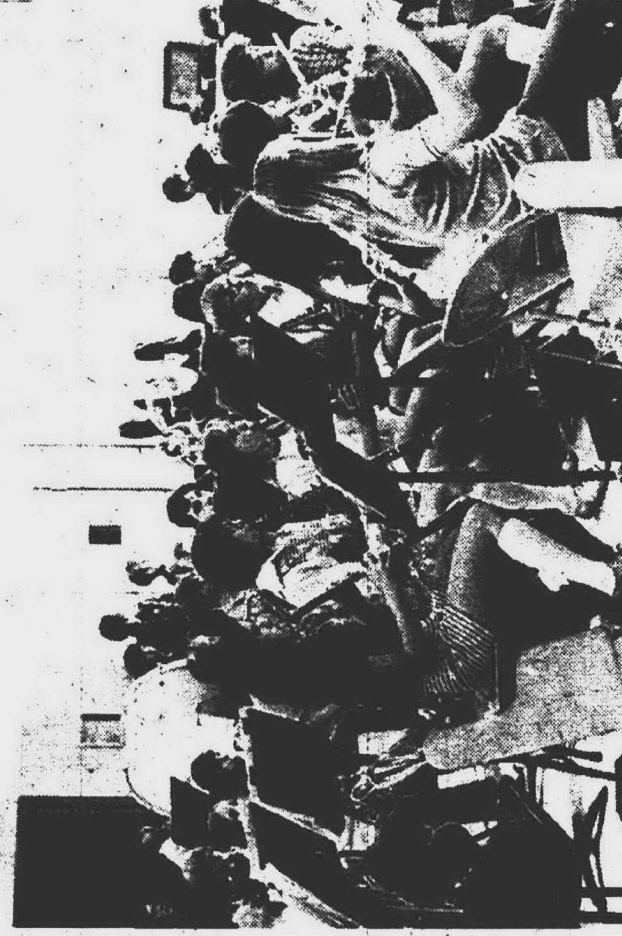

Instrumental Music

The instrumental music program of our school system begins at the middle school level and is a volunteer course selected by those children who want to learn how to play an instrument. The programs provided include both band and orchestral instruments and each school offers a full range of instruction.

Each of the three grades has its own performing group and concerts are held for the staff, students, parents and citizens of the community throughout the year.

Shown in this picture is one of the groups in the West Middle School which is under the direction of Mr. Jeff Drifmeyer who works with those children in the band instruments groups. Mr. Carlyle Hume has the responsibility to teach the children who have chosen to take orchestral instruments.

These two men presented to the public their performing groups at a concert which was held in the Plymouth-Salem High School last Thursday night. All of the children who have had instruction in the school were included in one of the groups who performed.

The School Farm

The Centennial Park has as one of its strong features a complete farm which has been in operation during the past two years. The cooperative action of the Plymouth Rotary Club has helped to develop this facility to its highest point during the Spring. Most of our elementary children will have visited the farm at least once this year to see the fine collection of animals which are owned by the district. These animals have been donated to the schools in part by the school children, and by citizens.

Working with high school students, we have permitted them to house their privately owned animals which gives them the opportunity to experience what is needed to raise an animal. Many of the animals are bred during the year which provides us with babies for the children to see and touch. This year we have had lambs, piglets, a jenny donkey, chicks, and soon a calf will be born to Nella, the cow.

The school farm is open to the school children of this district from September through June during the school hours. Tours are under the direction of the Farm Manager Farmer Watson who has also trained a number of the high school students to assist him. This year we have experimented with opening the farm for children from other districts. The trial has had a measure of success, but we want to explore other courses before we make the final commitment to the use of the farm to other groups.

One of the uses that we have in mind is the use of the land to provide each elementary school with a garden plot into which the children may plant their crops in the spring and harvest them in the Fall. The first school to try this plan is the Allen School where, under the direction of Mrs. DeRoos each of the grades has planted a special crop which they will harvest when they return in September.

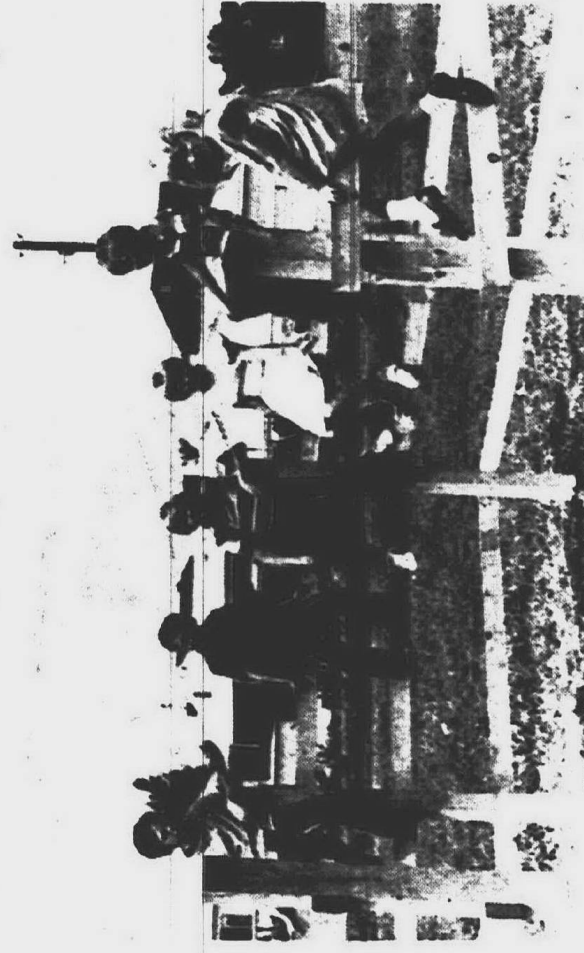

Our animal population has grown since we opened the farm. The calves, given to the farm by the Starkweather PTA, have now reached the six to seven hundred pound size.

Farrand School

Each Friday afternoon for the last hour and a half the children in the upper grades at Farrand have been involved in a wide variety of volunteer interest activities. The staff has screened themselves and identify their hobby and interest areas which could be adapted for this type of program.

Activities such as foremanship, bowling, cooking, knitting and tennis have been offered the children in the upper three grades on a semester basis twice this year. Parents as well as staff have acted as instructors for these activities. Other parents have driven children on short district field trips.

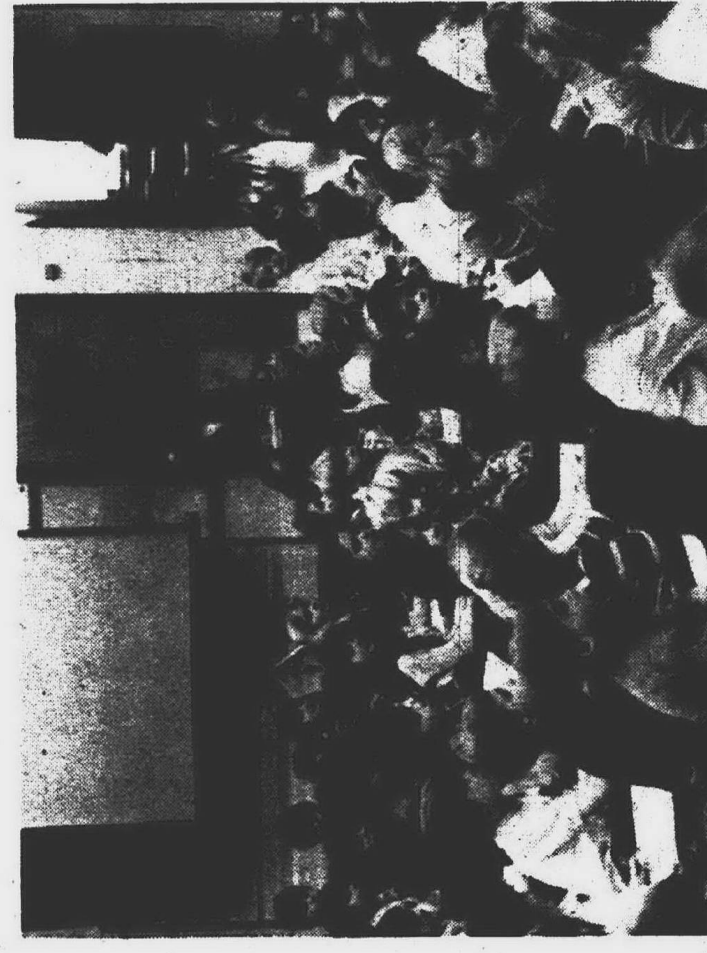

The cooking class, shown here, not only prepared gourmet food, but ate the product of their labors. A trip to a pizza parlor was a high point of this activity where they were instructed in the fine art of pizza making.

Allen School Playground

The last of three scheduled Earth-Day Programs took place early in May this year. The parents, staff and children were organized to build new equipment, repair the existing equipment, weed and plant new flowers and to give the school site a Spring cleaning.

All of the programmed projects have been completed, but the active groups in this school area will continue to support the needs of their school.

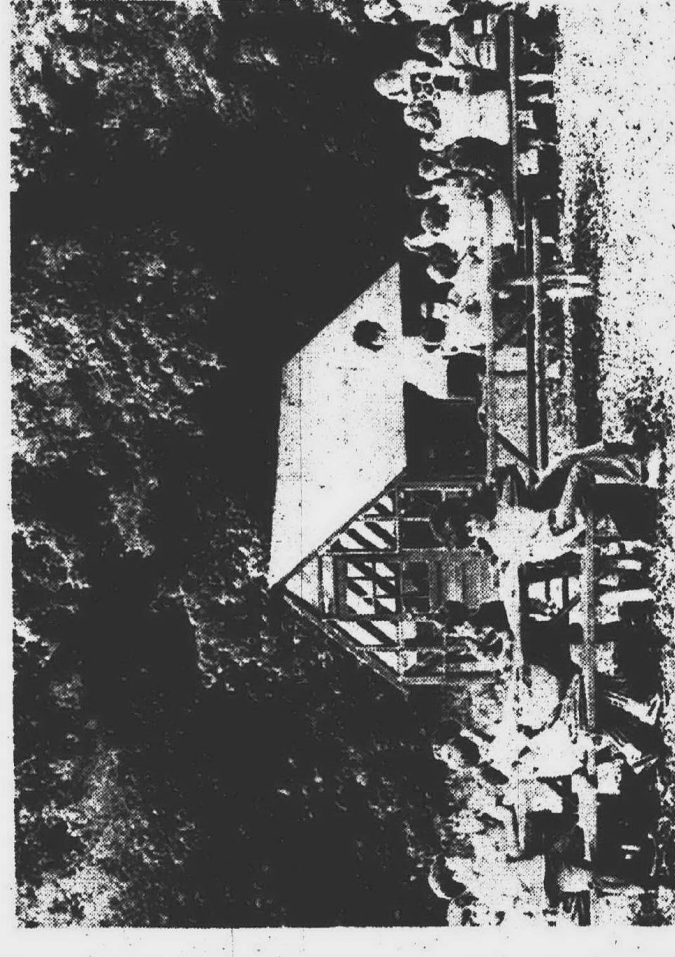

Gallimore Nature Center

The ten acre woodlot behind the Gallimore School has been developed further this year through the efforts of many interested parents, staff, service clubs and the school children.

This center is becoming of greater value to the community as the open land around it gives way to new housing developments. The woodlot is one of the finest yet developed by a school district for it has remained virtually unchanged as nature trails have been placed and a small amphitheater has been built. The goal has been maintaining that this will remain a natural environment of an oak-hickory forest. Low swampy land abounds within during the spring months, along with the wide variety of wild flowers.

The newest development is the addition of a greenhouse presented to the school by the Canton Jaycees. This will be developed by the school children as a place to germinate seeds into plants to beautify the school house.

A special area at the entrance to the nature trails provides picnic tables and outdoor stoves for the visiting groups and families.

Central Junior High Orchestra

This orchestral music group has been under the direction of Mr. H. Michael Endres who has been working with all of the students in grade nine through twelve and with the students at Pioneer Middle School.

One of the high points of the year was a mini-tour of the three middle schools which included a program of both classical and popular music. Mr. Endres feels that this type of concert by fine capable young people has done much to encourage middle school students to become involved in enrolling in the orchestral program.

The Central Junior High group, pictured here, have had a highly successful year which included several concerts for the students, parents and citizens of the community.
