New Emphasis

SYMBOLIZING THE GROWTH of the nation, St. Peter Evangelical Lutheran Church's float (left) was judged the best in the adult division of Tuesday's parade. It was a railroad engine built on the theme of "East Meets West." The Harb's Restaurant entry (right) won top honors in the commercial division and consisted of a Rolls Royce, airplane, jazz combo and giant pizza. (Observer photos by Doug Johnson)

Festivities Stir Thousands

Plymouthites and apparently many guests from the rest of Western Wayne County turned out by the thousands Tuesday to view a sparkling hour-long Independence Day parade and an evening fireworks show in celebration of the nation's 196th birthday.

From start to finish, it had all the aspects of an old-fashioned Fourth, totally devoid of protesters, anti-war demonstrators or any problems other than those created by monstrous traffic.

The line of march of the mid-day parade saw spectators tightly wedged along both sides of Main and Hartsough, veteran parade participants saying it exceeded all previous crowds. The sponsoring Jaycees had predicted a turnout of 15,000 and it seemed safe to assume that

The fireworks display at the Plymouth Rd. junior baseball diamonds also outdrew any previous year's attraction, spectators arriving as much as two hours before the first bombs lit up the sky and then taking an hour to unravel the traffic snarl when the show was over.

Estimates as to how many saw the 20-minute fireworks show ran as high as 8,000.

BEAUTIFUL FLOATS, a variety of bands and a host of election-year political candidates vied for attention in the parade, which had as its grand marshal veteran Boy Scout official Charles Guideau.

James Hyslop, British consul general to Detroit, rode with Mayor James B. McKeon as honorary grand marshal, bringing with him a message of greeting from the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England.

Radiant in her reign over the entire celebration was Queen Susan Dybas, "Miss Plymouth" of 1972, who shared her float with Princesses Debbie Carmody and Michelle LaRiche.

For the third year in a row, St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church triumphed in the adult division of the float competition. The trophy was won with a spectacular red, white and blue railroad engine symbolic of the 19th century.

The engine was preceded by a lone individual driving the famed golden spike to bring life to the phrase "East Meets West" in keeping with the parade's theme, "The Growth of Our Nation."

Second place in this division went to the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club whose float featured education, religion, patriotism and morality as "steps to the growth of our nation."

FIRST PLACE in the division for youth floats was taken by the Plymouth YMCA and its father and son Indian Guides, with the city parks and recreation department placing second only one point behind in the scoring totals of the six judges.

The most lavish of all the float entries was that of Harb's Restaurant which won the first place trophy in the commercial category. This unit included an old Rolls Royce, an airplane, a jazz combo and an honest-to-goodness pizza 20 feet in diameter. Harb himself was on drums in the combo. Theme of this float was "Excellence and Originality."

Second place among commercial floats went to a display of farm products by Schmidt's Farm Market.

The visiting Amherstburg Community Band from Amherstburg, Ont., was judged the No. 1 musical unit in the parade, presenting a stirring sight in their braided uniforms accompanied by a color guard, banner unit and baton twirlers.

The Plymouth Five and Drum Corps, organized only a few months ago, was impressive in placing second among the bands, and the Clan MacRae pipe band from Dearborn Heights was third.

TWO GROUPS from

Redford Township swept honors in majorette unit competition, the Redford Township Prancers placing first and the St. Roberts Cardinalettes second.

Cathy Proctor, 7, of 43735 Shearer Dr. won a special prize as the youngster having the best decorated bicycle, and second place was shared by a twosome with a tandem bike. They were Emmy Bourrias of 1435 W. Ann Arbor Trail and Courtney Warrick of 1477 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

Judges for parade competitive units were Gene Overholt, Paul Green, Harold Guenther, John Thomas, Earl Gibson and Tim Yoe.

Jaycee chairman for the celebration was Dennis Richardson, who received praise from all sides for an outstanding show presented in perfect weather.

Waffen Resigns As City Engineer

By FRED DeLANO

City Engineer Thomas G. Waffen, the No. 2 man on Plymouth's municipal payroll since he was hired nearly five years ago, has resigned to accept a substantially better paying job in Oakland County.

Waffen will continue his duties here through Aug. 4 and on Aug. 7 will begin work as operations director of the Southeastern Oakland County Water and Incinerator Authority. This is an organization of 14 communities which formed a single agency to deal with water and refuse matters, and Waffen will be second in command.

The board of the authority approved hiring Waffen in a meeting late Monday afternoon, and he presented his resignation to the Plymouth City Commission that evening. Although salary terms were not disclosed, it is believed he will start at least $22,000 in comparison to the $18,500 he currently is paid here.

Mayor James B. McKeon, in praising Waffen's service here, said the Oakland rate of pay, "is better than we could ever offer here."

"His hiring five years ago was one of the wisest moves we've ever made," said McKeon. "He has made many improvements possible, including such projects as sewer, water, streets, parks and the cultural center."

The commission voted to accept Waffen's letter of resignation "with regret."

IN IT, THE 36-year-old engineer stated, "It is with both regret and a feeling of anticipation on my part that I submit my resignation to you."

"I would like to state that I will report to my new position on Aug. 7, but I offer my assistance to you after that date to work with the Municipal Building Authority until the cultural center is completed.

"I also offer my assistance to help you and the engineering personnel complete the street paving contract if it is not completed by Aug. 7. Of course, this assistance will have to be in the evenings or Saturdays."

Waffen then added, "The City of Plymouth, my fellow department heads, the people in this city, and especially the city manager, along with Dick Blodgett (former city manager), have made my years as the city engineer an enjoyable and a rewarding endeavor. I am appreciative and I thank everyone."

Before coming to Plymouth in November 1967, Waffen was employed in the engineering department of the City of Dearborn. He gained his engineering degree from the University of Detroit in 1959 and earned a master's degree in business from the same university in 1964.

Waffen and his wife, Joyce, will continue to reside in Plymouth, and he will commute daily to his new headquarters on Greenfield, north of 12 Mile Rd.

CITY MANAGER Norman M. Gaffney, expressing regret at the resignation, told Waffen:

"My relationship with you has been most pleasant, and progress in our city development, through, your dedication and cooperation, has been most rewarding."

"I believe our ambitious street program will show more results in the past year than the past decade. The transition to Detroit water lines, under your supervision, has been most efficient.

"Your extra effort in improving our sewer system and invaluable help and guidance on the cultural center development and construction has been greatly appreciated."

"You have heard me state that the success of a city manager depends on the efficiency and effectiveness of his department heads working as a team. You have proven to be a real team player."

The city now has two vacancies in its top echelon, that of engineer plus the post of recreation and parks director. Stanley Stenek resigned the latter last month, effective July 1, and Gaffney now is in a quest to find men to fill the two jobs.

Blodgett was city manager at the time Waffen was hired, but resigned himself in 1970 to accept the same title at Bloomington, Ill.

Commission Finds Ordinance Elusive

A proposed Plymouth city ordinance which would require permits for garage, attic and other casual sales lost on a 3-2 city commission roll call this week, but will be back on the agenda July 17.

Commissioners agree that some form of regulation is needed to control those who make a veritable business of putting odds and ends up for sale. On the other hand, they don't want to prevent anyone from clearing out a basement or attic — providing it doesn't become a continuing thing.

The commission has been wrestling with the issue since early in May without finding wording satisfactory to a majority.

The proposal in front of the commission lost when it gained affirmative votes only from Norbert Battermann and William Silvis. In opposition were James McKeon, Ernie Henry and Beverly McAninch, with Harold Guenther and Robert Sincock absent.

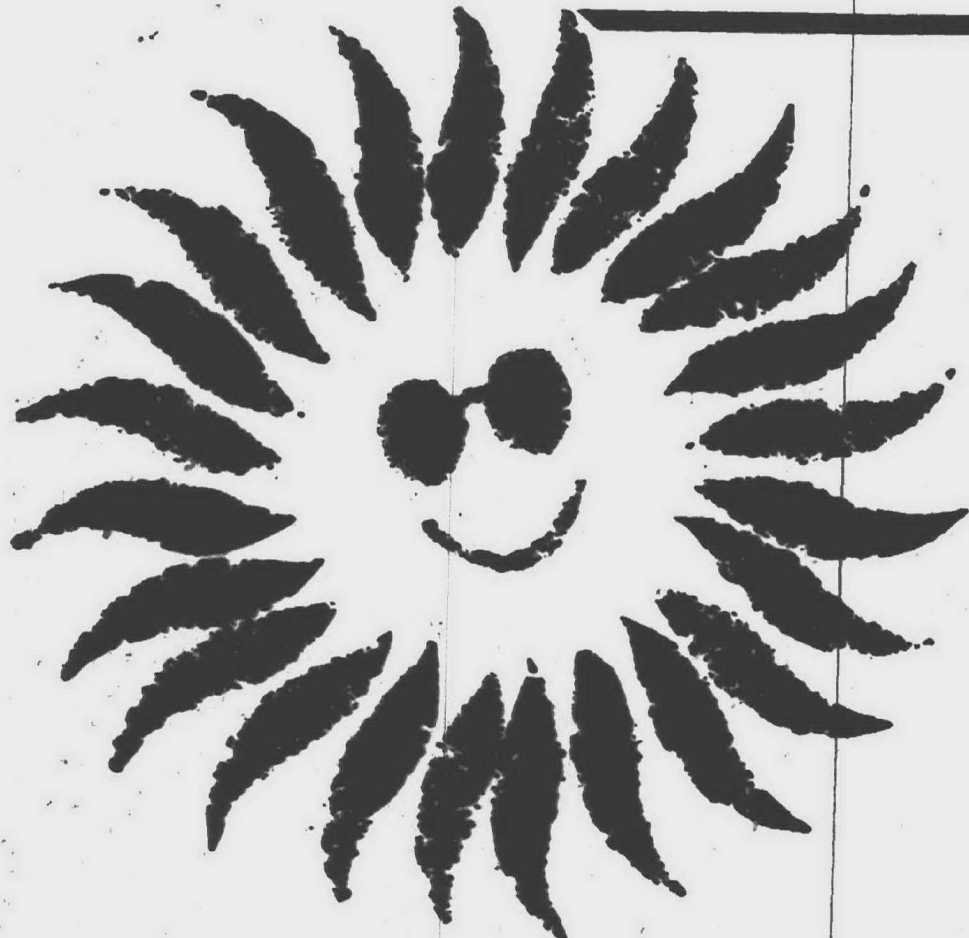

Upon Henry's motion, it was agreed to bring it up again at the July 17 meeting.

Basically the proposal calls for applying for a permit that would be good for no more than four days and which could not be renewed within 12 months. Ownership of all items offered for sale would have to be verified by affidavit and the police department would be required to investigate all complaints of violation.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

LEST CITY FOLKS of our Plymouth community get too carried away by the delights of summer, the administration troops led by Mayor James B. McKeon are working on a couple of surprises that will bring taxpayers back to reality this fall. Your water rates are going up, and so are your property assessments.

This brings a chortle in some township quarters, for that government went through the reassessment clamor in '71, and for the nonce no sweeping changes are impending. Further, Plymouth Township may be one of the rare areas that absorbs the water rate increase from the Detroit Water Board instead of passing it on to the consumers.

This is not the year to be selling township voters on the glories of consolidating with the city. Our city and township both buy their water now from Detroit, which is going to increase its rates to all 90 suburban customers on Nov. 1. In the township, Supervisor Maurice Breen says he will recommend holding the line on rates to householders and businesses, at least for the present, but there is no way the city can do the same.

CITY COMMISSIONERS have scheduled a committee of the whole discussion of the rate situation to follow the official meeting of July 10. As touchy as the subject may be, coming on the heels of a 50 per cent increase last December, another increase seems inevitable.

The mayor was at a meeting with other suburban officials June 1 when Gerald Remus, general manager of the Detroit Water Board, soft-soaped them with a tearful tale about soaring operating costs. Then, June 19, the six-man Detroit board voted unanimously to increase the wholesale price.

In the meantime, McKeon told the local commission June 5 that this boost alone would necessitate at least a five per cent increase in the total bills of city customers, but there's still another problem which may push the price hike even higher.

Back in March, the mayor gave his colleagues a memo in which he proposed a basic increase to make up for the drop in income due to reduced Burroughs consumption, and to build a surplus that will make it possible to cover all water bonds by Jan. 1, 1976.

That proposal has not been resolved as yet, and now, coupled with having to pay more to Detroit, the direction that the commission will go is clear. The only question is how far and how much.

REAPPRAISAL OF ALL land and buildings within the city limits was ordered by the commission a year ago, but it was not until this summer that the staff of the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation was able to get around to doing the field work.

This reassessment program is intended to establish all property values at 50 per cent of current market value for tax purposes, as required by state law. Plymouth's present average is a fraction more than 26 per cent, leading to a current equalization factor of 1.9.

Statistically, the entire assessed valuation of the city now stands at $43,530,600 whereas county and state tax bureaus say it should be $70,908,560. "The purpose of the reappraisal is to reduce inequitable taxation and to bring assessments to values that will reflect fairness to all citizens," says City Assessor Kenneth Way.

These new property values will not affect the current summer tax bills, or those of next December, in any way, and will be used for the first time in 1973.

This fall, after the reappraisal is completed, Way will notify each taxpayer of the new assessment. He also will conduct a special review session when individuals will be given the opportunity to ask questions, this meeting being in addition to the regular board of review session next March.

Those who have gone through this same routine in other governments can assure Way that he is in for some long days and nights, yet there is no question that it must be done — not just here, but throughout Michigan.

Band To Feature Burleson Tonight As Soloist In Park

Donald Burleson, hailed as one of the best baritone players to have come out of the Plymouth schools' music program, will be the soloist on tonight's Community Band program (Thursday) in Kellogg Park.

Burleson is now doing graduate work in mathematics at the University of Michigan, and was a member of the band there prior to his graduation in 1971.

He has played in the Community Band here since he was in the eighth grade, was a member of the high school band, and gained outstanding honors during three summers at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

HE IS the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Burleson of 757 Burroughs and after graduation from PHS in 1967 toured Europe and Canada for six weeks as a member of the Musical Youth International Band.

Concertgoers Thursday will hear his presentation of "Carnival of Venice" by Herbert L. Clark.

Highlights of the program by the full band, under the baton of James Griffith, will include selections from "Annie Get Your Gun" by Berlin and Leiden, "Blue Danube Waltz" by Strauss and Leiden and "Neapolitan Rhapsody" by Savino and Werle.

The 90-minute program will open at 8 p.m.

Changes Approved

Two middle school boundary changes were approved by the Plymouth Board of Education last week.

The changes are to balance the student populations in each school, according to Supt. John Hoben. With the changes, there will be 850 students in East, West and Pioneer Middle Schools.

Students living south of Ford Rd. and east of Sheldon, including those on both sides of the streets, will attend West Middle School instead of East as was originally announced.

Those living west of Beck Rd. and north of Ann Arbor Rd., excluding those on both sides of Ann Arbor Rd., will attend Pioneer instead of West.

City Increases Cemetery Rates

The cost of dying went up in Plymouth again this week when the city commission increased the fees for burial services in municipally owned Riverside Cemetery. Rates had been adjusted upward in February for the first time in a decade, but it was still felt that the new schedule left the cemetery short of the break even point. The base price for interment services has been increased from $160 to $175. This includes the opening and closing of a grave, use of a lowering device, grass and mound covering, matting runners, tent, and installation of a cement or metal vault. Non-residents of the city will be charged $200 for the same services and also will be required to pay $25 more for each lot than city dwellers. The commission voted 4-1 in favor of the new schedule, with two members absent. Casting favorable votes were James McKeon, Ernie Henry, Norbert Battermann and William Silvis, with only Beverly McAninch dissenting. Robert Sincok and Harold Guenther were absent.

The Stroller All Those Bridges, But None In City

By W.W. EDGAR

It's laughable, sometimes, what goes through a fellow's mind as he strolls along the highways and byways of Observerland in quest of choice nuggets of journalistic information.

For instance, the other morning The Stroller was moving along Schoolcraft Road and noted that three bridges were being constructed overhead to accommodate the cloverleaf planned for the interchange of I-275 and M-14 near Haggerty Road.

Why three bridges?

Isn't that carrying the "left turn only" concept just a bit too far?

It reminded The Stroller of Rev. Henry Walch's latest yarn which tells of two Irishmen who had three opinions.

To the left and right of the road, you can see at least a half dozen additional bridges and overpasses between Schoolcraft and Five Mile Road, not to mention several others across the railroad at the Chevrolet plant.

As he looked about, The Stroller recalled reading that the State Highway Commission had accepted bids for that portion of I-275 between Ford Road and the interchange that included 16 bridges.

Imagine that - 16 additional bridges in the space of a few miles!

AS HE WAS stalled at the rail crossing on Starkweather Road, entering Plymouth, waiting for the little blue caboose to come along, he couldn't help thinking that it is too bad that the alarmed citizenry couldn't pilfer a few of those bridges in the dead of night and release the strangle hold the rail crossings have on the City of Plymouth.

Just three of them would help - one at Starkweather, another on Main Street, and a third on Sheldon Road at the Ford Plant.

Moving along Main Street, another thought struck him. Watching folks trying to find places to park and letting out an oath when they didn't have change for the parking meter, he remembered the thoughts expressed by the late Ed Jeffries when he was mayor of Detroit.

"The streets belong to the people," he said, "so why should they have to pay to use them?"

But the odd part of the Plymouth story is the fact that acres of free parking are supplied for patrons of events at the new high school, and another large selection of what once was farmland has been converted into free parking for all concerned at Schoolcraft College.

"Yes," The Stroller thought, "it is rather odd that free parking is provided for most everyone but the shoppers who pay the tax bills, when the downtown businessmen are moaning about the sight of pigeons instead of customers along Main Street."

HIS INQUISITIVE mind led The Stroller into another odd bit.

Noticing that the latest trend in landscaping in the area is to create grass covered mounds instead of flat lawns with flower beds, he asked the reason.

"That's the latest thing in what they call acoustics," the landscape architect replied. "These mounds deaden the sound."

Sounded plausible - but why are the only lawns in the area so designed in front of a new funeral home on Five Mile Road and the new court building on Farmington Road in Livonia?

Seems they'd be the last places to demand outdoor acoustics.

Bogarin Named SC Registrar

Russell S. Bogarin, director of financial aids and placement the past four years, has been appointed registrar of Schoolcraft College.

President C. Nelson Grote announced the appointment at the board of trustees meeting on June 28.

He said he was pleased with the selection of Bogarin because "the job demands a special kind of person, and having that person already on staff enables us to accomplish a very smooth transition in this important function."

Bogarin succeeds Norman E. Dunn who retired this year from the post he has held since formation of the college.

THE REGISTRAR is responsible for conducting registration and for maintaining all official student records. He determines grade-point averages, evaluates credits for graduation and program completion, prepares official transcripts and conducts follow-up studies on those who transfer to senior colleges.

Bogarin entered the profession in 1956. He has been a counselor at Schoolcraft, Eastern Michigan University, the Lincoln Laboratory School in Ypsilanti, and was guidance director for the Van Buren Public Schools in Belleville.

He holds degrees from Northern Michigan University and the University of

RUSSELL S. BOGARIN

Michigan, and currently is working toward an education specialist degree at Eastern Michigan.

A past president of the EMU Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, Bogarin belongs to numerous professional organizations.

He recently worked on a committee which developed a standardized financial aid application for use by all Michigan community colleges this coming academic year.

Some Program Cuts 'Continuation' Budget At SC

By KATHY MORAN

Schoolcraft College trustees approved a $6.6 million budget last week, an eight per cent increase over the past year, after lopping more than $700,000 from early projections.

The budget is up nearly $500,000. It reflects $5.3 million or 82 per cent for salaries.

President C. Nelson Grote termed the budget a "continuation budget, but it is reduced in many ways." The fiscal year began July 1.

The college will receive $2.57 million in state appropriations plus a $100,000 state special grant. The grant was tacked on to the appropriation after Schoolcraft suffered a $211,000 loss from original state projections. When the state appropriations formula was changed, Schoolcraft's appropriation was cut.

GROTE COMMENDED State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) for working toward getting the $100,000 grant and helping it stay in the budget as the bill was under review.

The State Equalized Valuation (SEV) of the college district is up 7.76 per cent over last year, increasing from $1.34 billion to $1.44 billion.

The college board again voted to levy the full 1.77 mills for operations and debt retirement for the college. The levy will raise $1.79 million for college operations and an additional $758,000 for debt retirement.

Student enrollment will be up nearly 300 full-time equated students this year, but this figure is more conservative than 400 originally projected.

The college expects to generate 123,000 credit hours this year from students, raising $1.867 million in tuition. Tuition was increased this year by 10 percent, making it $11 per credit for in-district students, $22 for out-of-district and $33 for out-of-state students.

The tuition revenue will be up $158,800 because of the tuition hike.

ALSO INCLUDED in the college's income is $204,000 in federal grants, which include funds for the vocational education programs.

College expenditures are broken down into $3.88 million for instruction, $542,000 for student services, $406,000 for general administration, $381,000 for business operations, $927,000 for plant operations, $281,000 for contingency, and $199,000 in restricted accounts for transfers.

The large "contingency" includes funds for the salary and fringe benefits being bargained for currently in the faculty and physical plant employee contracts. It also includes a safeguard for unexpected expenses and to offset a potential cutback in state appropriations. Last year the college lost $47,000 after an appropriations reduction of two per cent.

DURING THE public hearing on the budget prior to its adoption, Dr. Grote listed a number of items and positions that would not be included in the budget because of a lack of funding.

The budget does not allow for hiring an institutional research coordinator, systems analyst, publications assistant, counselors for financial aids and placement and the counseling staff, para-professionals in student activities office and a female security officer.

The research coordinator and systems analyst are positions the college has attempted to fit in the budget for the past two years.

It also leaves out money for exploring new methods of instruction and for initiating any new programs where consultants services or other added costs are incurred.

SC Medical Lab Tech Course Set

A medical laboratory technology curriculum will be added to the course offerings at Schoolcraft College in 1973-74.

Establishment of the program was delayed a year until completion of an addition to the vocational-technical building and because of tight financing for the coming school year.

After the college received inquiries from local hospitals regarding training of medical laboratory technicians, the college established an advisory committee to determine the need for technicians and the type of training required.

Composed of hospital representatives and college personnel, the committee surveyed clinics and hospitals in the metropolitan area and found a current need of 117 technicians and an estimated need of 386 technicians within the next five years.

The curriculum will provide the student with general education and technician training. It will prepare the student to perform clinical laboratory functions under the supervision of clinical pathologists or physicians.

THE PROGRAM was approved by the State Board of Education and an application for approval was filed with the Vocational Education and Career Development Service of the Michigan Dept. of Education.

Approximately 15 students will be accepted into the first year of the program with 25 students expected by the third year.

The technology courses will include hematology-coagulation, urinalysis-serology-blood bank, clinical bacte-parasitology, applied bio-chemistry, and two clinical application cooperative courses.

Powerful Redford Keeps Rolling Along

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Redford crushed North Farmington's Koebel, 7-1; zipped past Birmingham's Varsity Shop, 6-2; and edged Westland Burger King, 3-2.

Steve Kreager was only four outs away from a no-hitter in the Koebel game when Marty Raymond laced a single for North Farmington with two out in the sixth. Kreager ended up with a two-hitter with 11 strikeouts and one walk.

Redford scored one in the third, one in the fourth, four in the fifth and one in the sixth while Kreager kept the Koebel bats in check.

The third stanza saw Redford get on the board with Kreager drawing a walk, sacrificed to second and scoring on a single by Gordie Eszes.

Dan Malone struck out for Redford in the fourth but reached base when the ball skidded by the catcher. Doug Burke and Denny Poppenger followed with singles and Redford was up by two.

Four runs came across in the fifth to push the difference to six. R. J. LeRoux, Jeff Washington, and Dan O'Brien walked to fill the sacks. Malone, Bill Herbert and Poppenger followed with hits to drive in four.

A walk to Kreager, a single by LeRoux and sacrifice by O'Brien accounted for the final Redford run with Koebel scoring once in the seventh.

O'BRIEN WENT the route for Redford in the Varsity Shop contest with a five-hitter, six strikeouts, and seven walks.

LeRoux laced a triple in the Redford first and scored on a hit by Washington to make it 1-0.

Singles by Washington, Burke and Herbert scored another in the third with the Varsity Shop rebounding with one in the fourth. Johnston tripped and Keys singled him in to cut it to 2-1.

A walk to Gordie Eszes, a stolen base and error pushed it to 3-1 in the bottom of the inning.

REDFORD FINISHED its scoring in the fifth with three runs on three hits. Burke and Herbert singled. Bob Ghanam hit into a fielder's choice with Burke out at third. Poppenger walked to fill the base paths and Malone singled to score two. Eszes collected a run batted in to make it 6-1 on a ground out.

The Birmingham crew tal-ied once in the seventh but fell four runs shy of the mark.

The stage was set for the Redford Burger King game with Westland having suffered only one loss and Redford none.

"We had them on the ropes and let them go," said Burger King Coach George Yakel after seeing a 2-1 eighth inning margin change into a 3-2 setback.

Laconia Graham and Tom Ford worked for Redford with Art Mach going the distance for Westland.

BURGER KING opened with one in the fourth on a three-bagger by Bob McSpadden and a single by Dennis Deim. Eszes had the McSpadden shot in his glove but dropped it when he hit the ground on the diving attempt.

Redford notched it at one all in the bottom of the sixth on a solo round tripper by Eszes.

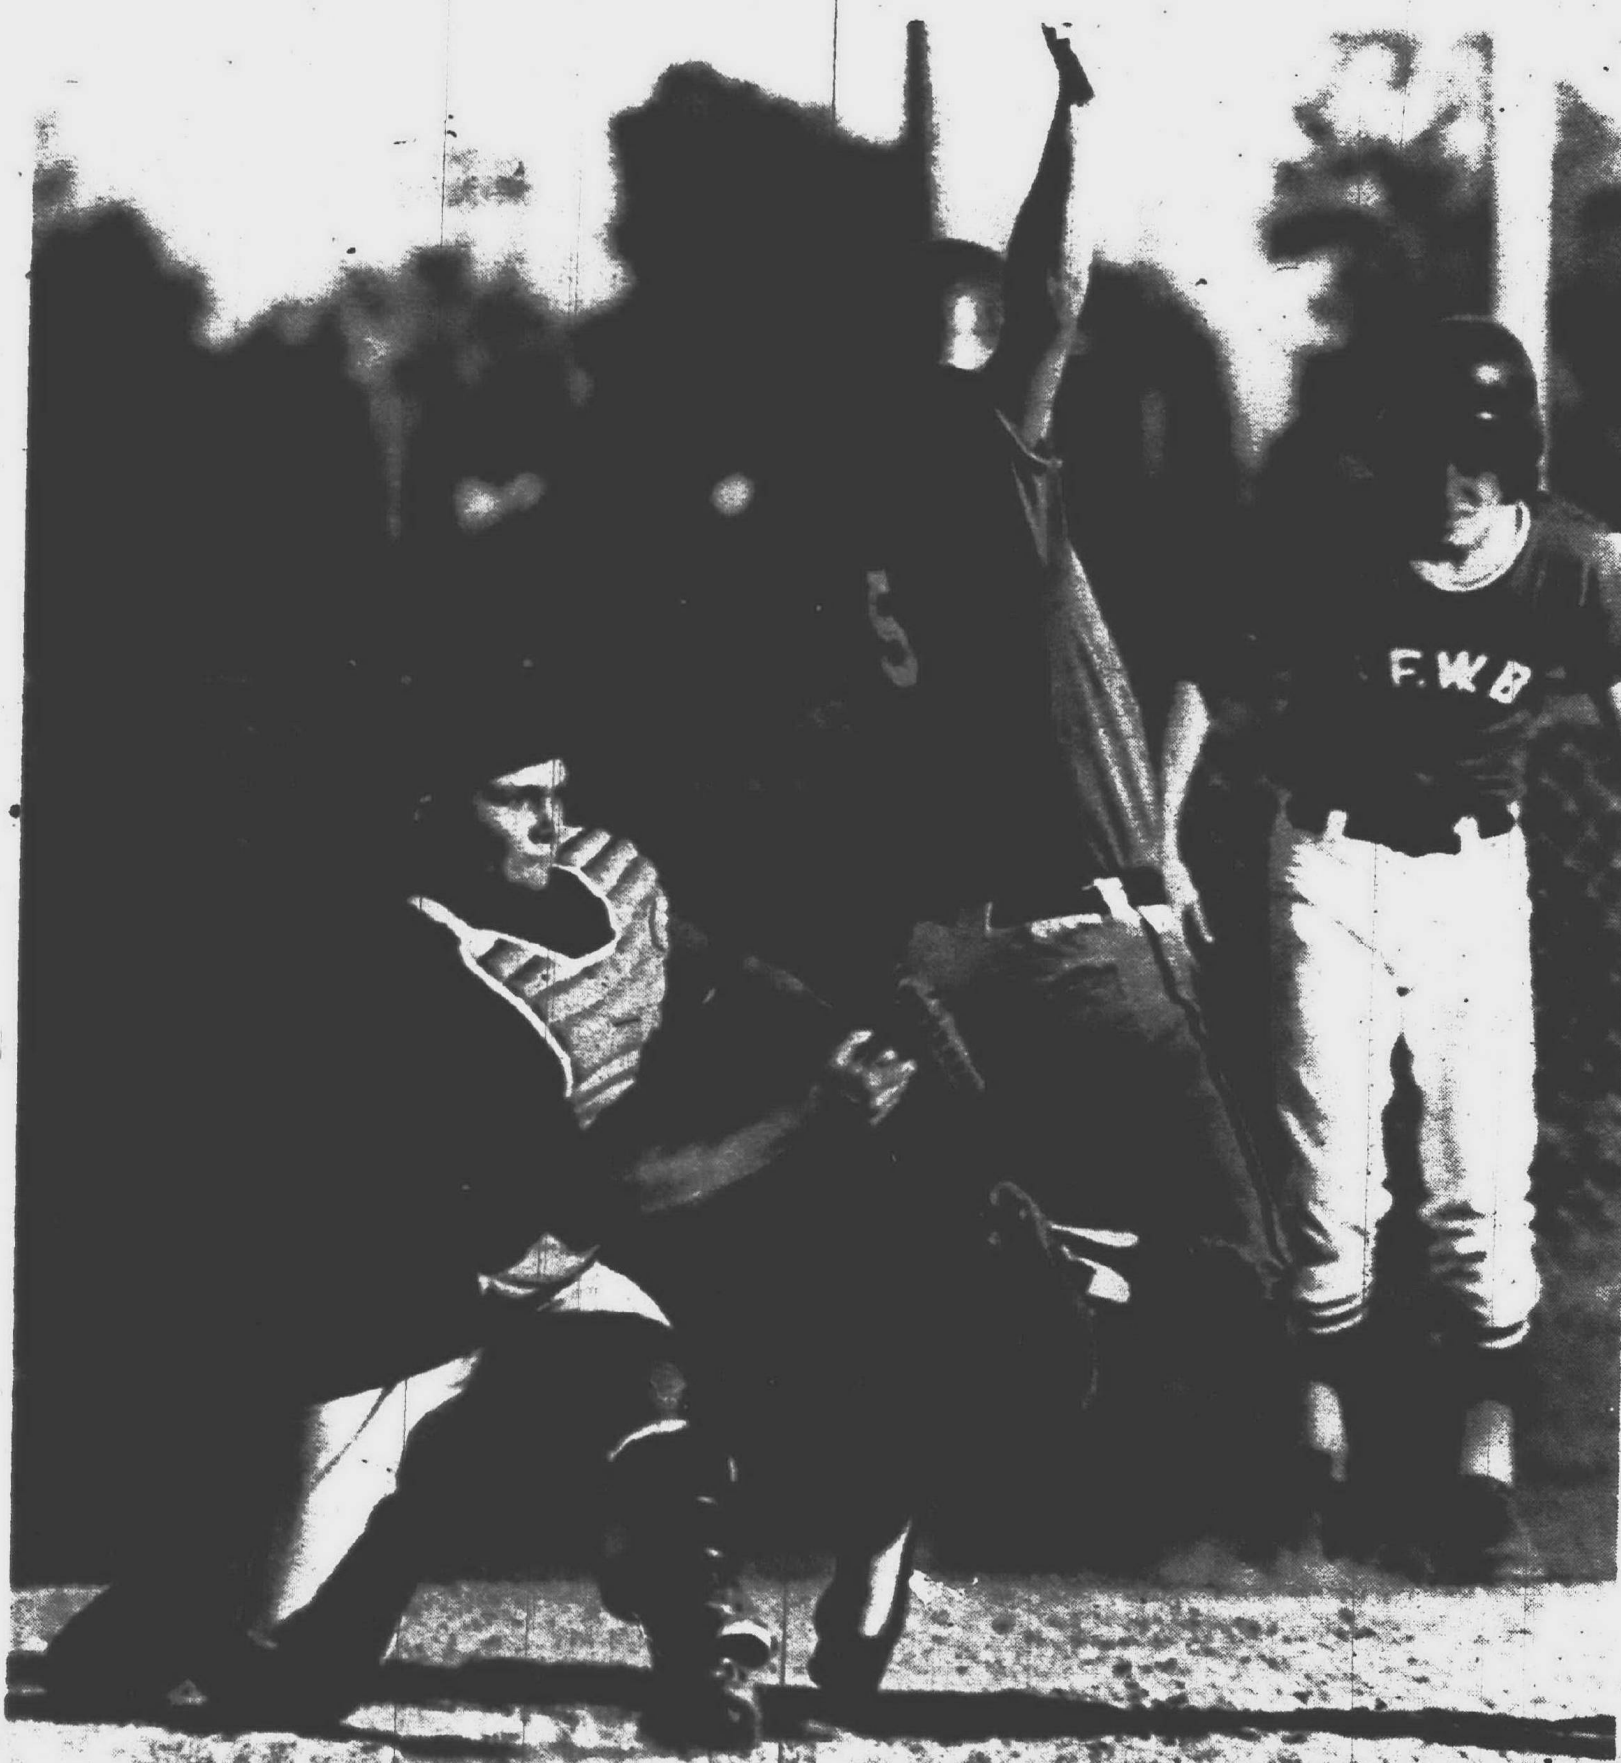

It was into extra innings and Westland tallied in the top of the eighth. Bob Fields, Mach and Karney Derderian drew base on balls off reliever Ford. Then with J. P. McBride at bat, Coach Yakel called for the suicide squeeze. McBride missed the bunt but the Redford catcher missed the ball and Fields scored. McSpadden also walked in the inning but Ford got himself out of further trouble with two strikeouts.

MACH COULDN'T get an out in the Redford half of the eighth. Eszes walked, and Washington was safe on a bunt. O'Brien drew a base on balls to fill the sacks and Don Murdock walked in a pinch hitting role to force in Eszes with the tying run. Bill Herbert then singled to score Washington and the game belonged to Redford.

Graham and Ford hurled four innings apiece for Redford with Graham allowing three hits and striking out nine and Ford giving up two hits and striking out eight.

Ford ran into trouble with eight walks in the four innings he worked but came up with the win in relief.

Mach pitched an eight-hitter with 10 strikeouts and four walks... three in the eighth inning, and the Wayne right-hander suffered his first loss.

MISSSED TAG -- Steve Hillman of Connie Mack's Lambert & Sons team just misses on this attempt to nail Harrison's Bruce Brewin at the plate. The on-deck batter Jeff Kallgren gets

Farmington Legionnaires Break Doubleheader Jinx

Farmington's American Legion baseball squad may have reached the turning point.

The 18th District Legionnaires broke their doubleheader jinx with a sweep over Auburn Heights to push their overall record to six wins and eight losses.

Farmington had lost two previous Sunday twin bills but Coach Wally Christenson has now set his eyes on a playoff berth.

Auburn Heights collected only five hits off Jeff Herman in the opening game with Farmington battling to a 7-4 triumph. It was the first win for the 15-year-old Farmington High right-hander against two defeats with five strikeouts and two walks to his credit.

Leonard Zelinski worked the distance for Auburn and gave up eight hits in taking the loss.

AUBURN HEIGHTS opened the first of two with two quick runs in the opening stanza on a single, double and error. Farmington rallied in the bottom of the inning to notch it at two all.

Rob Holton singled and Rich Stringer followed with a bunt sacrifice with Auburn Heights making a play at second and missing. Sam Pink delivered a run scoring single and Bill Platko laced a hit to right to score Stringer with the second run.

Farmington came up with three runs in the second to grab a 5-2 advantage.

Herman drew a walk and Hagen was safe on a fielder's choice with Herman safe at second. Holton grounded to second with Hagen out and Herman moving to third. Rich Stringer laced a two run single, stole second, moved to third on a passed ball and scored on a ground out for a three run margin.

FARMINGTON made it 6-2 in the third on a single by Platko, a Mitch Thomas sacrifice and a single by Hagen.

Auburn Heights gave it another shot in the fourth with two runs on an error, single and triple but Herman found his mark and that was all.

Rich Stringer concluded the scoring in the bottom of the sixth with his second home run to left center and a three run margin gave Farmington the initial win.

Jim Harte was the difference in the second game with a two-hitter and Farmington a 5-1 victor. Harte struck out six and walked four with Bob Holladay going the route and taking the defeat.

FARMINGTON BROKE into the hit column in the bottom of the fifth to capture a 3-1 lead with Auburn Heights opening with one in the first. Herman was safe on an error and Thomas blasted a ground rule double to right. Holton smashed a two run single, took second on the throw home, stole third and scored on a wild pitch.

Farmington tucked away the twin sweep in the bottom of the sixth on a solo round tripper by Harte, a three bagger by Hagen and a single by Dennis Dorsch and the Farmington double game jinx came to a halt.

Westland Nips Plymouth

Westland Burger King squeaked past Plymouth in Adray baseball competition, 2-1, but it wasn't without a sweat or two from Coach George Yakel.

Dave Conlin went into the top of the seventh with a two run lead in a one-hitter but the Westland hurler got himself into a jam by walking the first two batters. A ground-rule double scored one and Coach Yakel went to his ace Art Mach who put the Plymouth fire out.

Tom Cook worked for Plymouth and suffered the loss while Conlin received the win with a two-hitter, six strikeouts and seven walks to his credit.

Westland scored one in the opening inning when Karney Derderian singled and moved to third on an error with Bob McSpadden safe at first. Mach laced a single into center and Burger King was on the board.

PHIL McMILLAN started the Westland crew off in the fifth with a two-bagger and scored on a hit by Derderian to make it 2-0.

Then came the top of the seventh with Treski and Ron Egloff drawing base on balls off Conlin. Then with two outs, Larry Graves bounced one over the fence to score Treski.

Mach came to the mound and did his thing with a grounder to second ending the game.

Plymouth Loses First; Rebounds Over Hines, 4-2

Plymouth Elks dropped their first Connie Mack contest to Churchill's junior varsity (Redford Tool), 4-3, but remained in National League contention with a 4-2 triumph over Franklin High's Hines Park.

Plymouth wasn't without its chances as the Elks had the bases loaded in the top of the seventh with no outs but could only push across one run.

Andy Kapola and Kevin Nelson worked for the Churchill "minor league club" with starter Kapola scoring the win.

Robb Willette hurried for Plymouth and gave up seven hits, struck out six and walked two.

BOTH TEAMS opened with a run in the first inning.

Plymouth scored when Dave Hees singled, stole second, moved to third on a ground out and scored on a wild pitch. Redford tallied on a single by Mike Gotschalk, a stolen base and single by Jim Foster.

Redford took a 2-1 advantage in the second on one hit and two errors. Jim Kumle singled and Doug Lbyd bunted one back to Plymouth hurler Willette. He threw wild to second and the ball skipped into center field. Ernie Comini followed with a grounder to second with Kumle scampering in.

TWO DOUBLES and a walk pushed the margin to 3-1 in the fourth. Redford's Jim Foster doubled, Kumle walked and Keith Armstrong doubled to score Foster.

Plymouth got back one of its "gift runs" in the top of the sixth. With two outs, Jeff Well-er doubled and Jim Grimmer was safe on an error moving Waller to third. Ron Egloff then went down swinging, but the catcher booted the ball. A throw to first was late and Waller scored on the toss.

A solo home run by Foster gave Redford Tool a little breathing room in the last of the inning but Plymouth was up for a rally in the seventh.

MIKE LINDMAN WALK-ED, Don Bidwell singled and Waller singled to score Lindman cutting the lead to 4-3 with no outs. This is when relief pitcher Nelson did his job.

Nelson struck out the next two batsmen and got the third to ground out and Plymouth had suffered its first setback.

John Owens scored his third pitching win with a five-hitter over front running Hines Park, 4-2. The Elks righthander struck out five and walked only one.

JOE JINNETT hurried for Hines and allowed six hits, struck out eight and walked one.

PLYMOUTH JUMPED to a four run lead with two in the first, one in the third and one in the fourth with Franklin scoring both of its runs in the fifth.

The Elks scored two un-earned runs in the first. Dave Hees singled and stole second, Jim Grimmer was safe on an error and stole second to place runners on second and third.

With two outs, Larry Graves grounded one to shortstop. The toss to first evaded the first baseman and two runs scored.

DAVE HEES again got Plymouth going in the third. He singled but was forced at second with Steve Robb on first. Grimmer drew a walk and Egloff doubled to score Robb. Grimmer was cut down at the plate on his attempt to score and it was 3-0 Plymouth.

Singles by Waller, Lindman, a sacrifice by Owens and a single by Dave Hees concluded the Elks scoring in the fourth.

Hines Park came up with two in the fifth. With one out pinch hitter Dave Hollandsworth singled and Wayne Darr-rough was safe on an error.

Jeff Waterstone singled to score Hollandsworth and Dar-rough and the rest belonged to Owens on the Plymouth mound.

Thurston Tips Glenn, 1-0

The hard throwing righthander struck out 11, allowed seven hits, and walked two. Steve Kaufman worked for Glenn and took the loss.

The game's lone and deciding tally came in the top of the third with Thurston's Mark Falvo getting a single.

Tom Roy followed with a fielder's choice with Falvo erased at second.

Roy proceeded to steal second and all-area third baseman Don Murdock singled up the middle to score the run batted in.

GLENN ALMOST put it all together in the last of the seventh. Feifer doubled and Sampson was safe on an error putting runners on first and third with none out. Miller bore down and got Laughren and Jeff Hodgkins on strikeouts and Mike Borders grounded out, to end the game.

Bentley Graduate Selected Tartar Track Co-Captain

Livonia Bentley '69 graduate Geoff Lane has been selected co-captain for Wayne State University's 1973 track squad along with Wyandotte's Rick Sands.

They succeed Livonia's

John Gores and Detroit's Ron Warren.

Lane was voted WSU's '72 most valuable performer and is three-time letter winner. He also holds a pair of letter awards in cross country.

Lane holds the Tartar in-door school of 1:53.5 in the 880 yard run and boasts an outdoor best of just two seconds off the 1:50.8 school record that remains his '73 target.

The Wayne senior also runs the quarter-mile and mile and fills in on the relay teams. Lane was one of four WSU's qualifiers in the 1972 NCAA college division meet.

Lane and Sands were both members of the six-man contingent of runners who made an eight-day, 340 mile jaunt from Detroit to the Mackinac Bridge during the week preceding Easter of 1971.

The Court Jester
by BILL CAMERON

I'm writing this column at the suggestion of Mark Moulin, the sage of the Livonia Tennis Club. Mark is a throwback to the western heroes of yesteryear. In those days the winners (both good guys and bad guys) used to cut notches in their gun handles.

Today, Marks' weapon is his racket and he has teeth marks in the handle, not to record his victories, but from sheer frustration. These frustrations are common to all tennis players and I'd like to highlight a few of them.

For lack of a better term, let's entitle the following remarks, "court etiquette" or "court manners." There are certain things you do or don't do on a tennis court.

First, you don't run onto someone else's court while they are rallying. If your ball happens to roll onto another court, all you have to do is say "Thank you court one," or whatever court it happens to be.

A tennis player would rather interrupt his play to clear a ball than to have someone run onto the court when he is about to make an outstanding passing shot or overhead and have to call a let and play the point over.

Secondly, noise and distractions are not necessary on a tennis court. Last week there were two fellows carrying on a running conversation for almost an hour. You know they had to speak in loud voices to hear each other.

And a bikini is just not acceptable attire, especially when it is work by a shapely 19 year old. I have enough trouble concentrating on the ball.

The two things that really grind me are the foot-faulters and quick servers. The former are the individuals who end up three feet inside the baseline before they hit the ball. That is outright cheating.

The rule states that on the serve you may not step on the line or on the court until after you make contact with the ball. The receiver has a right to make that call. I did it this weekend because I get sick of these young (and some old) players taking advantage of my slow reflexes and lack of speed. The unfortunate part of it is that most of them don't realize they are doing it!

AS FOR the quick server, he usually misses his first serve and before you have had a chance to recover, he is already starting his second serve. If you aren't ready you don't have to play the ball, just ask him to play a "let."

If an opposing player, particularly in doubles, jumps around purposely distracting his opponent, ask him to cease and desist. If he continues, walk off the court and find someone else to play with. There is another method, but it could lead to violence.

From time to time a player will forget his racket, or some article of clothing, and leaves the court. I left my brand new souvenir of Paris, sleeveless tennis sweater, at Belle Creek courts a week ago and it was gone by the time I realized I had forgotten it.

If you find any articles of clothing or equipment, come back the next day and make some inquiries as to whom it might belong, and keep coming back.

Will someone please return my sweater?

It's Free Cap Day

The Tigers are going to "cap" their young fans again this year.

That will happen at free cap day at Tiger Stadium, Sunday, July 16 when the Tigers will be playing the Kansas City Royals in a single game starting at 1:30 p.m.

Every boy and girl, 14 or under, entering on a full-price ticket, will receive with the Tigers' compliments a baseball cap which is a replica of the Tigers' own headgear.

Free cap day is the last of three gift days on the Tigers' 1972 schedule.

Tickets for free cap day are on sale in advance by mail; at the Tiger Stadium Advance Ticket Office, Michigan and Trumbull; and at Tiger ticket agencies, including the Hudson's ticket services.

There is no limit on ticket purchases and full teams are invited to share in free cap day.

All-American Honors Go To N. Farmington Diver

North Farmington High's Brad Carr received one of the country's top swimming honors by being named to the All-American Swim Team selected by the National Interscholastic Swimming Coaches of America.

A total of 20 prep swimmers were honored on the squad with Carr's nomination submitted by North Farmington swim Coach Pat Duthie.

Brad, a '72 graduate of North Farmington, was offered a swimming scholarship to Ohio University but has decided to attend a junior college until he decides upon a major.

Carr started diving as a sophomore and in that year finished third in the Northwest Suburban Conference championship with a four win and nine loss dual meet record.

HIS JUNIOR YEAR saw a seventh place finish in the Detroit News Invitational, a second in the conference meet and a 12th place in the state meet.

The Raider captain boasted a perfect 18-0 dual meet this past year and received All Conference, All Oakland County and now All American honors.

Carr also placed third in the News meet and fifth in state competition.

THE DIVING RAIDER was voted the "outstanding specialist" for three consecutive years at North Farmington and holds varsity records with 306.20 points in six dives and 424.35 points for 11 dives.

Brad and Keith Kring combined for the diving relay championship at Redford Union and Carr finished his prep career with a 35-12 dual mark.

2 Wins Put Fancher's In Mack Driver Seat

Stevenson High's varsity baseball squad in the role of Fancher's Supplies continues to make waves in the Connie Mack American League.

The summer Spartans shut out North Farmington, 6-0, and crushed Plymouth's junior varsity (Holman Pontiac), 8-2.

Tom Centers was the key figure in the North Farmington game with a two-hitter for his showing with 11 strikeouts and one walk. Lou Doot suffered the defeat.

Fancher's opened with one in the first on a single by Terry Laird, a stolen base and single by Mark Tressler.

MARK KEIFER started Fancher's on the way in the second with a leadoff single. Mark Temby and Laird drew walks and Doot walked Bob Ganzak to force in Keifer. Tressler then grounded out with Temby scoring to make it 3-0.

The fifth stanza saw Tressler hit by a pitch. Tom Zaliagaris smacked a two-bagger and Keifer single to make it 5-0. A walk to Temby, a sacrifice by Laird and a single by Tressler concluded the assault.

Nelson Cady went the route in the Holman contest with a five hitter. Jerry Thompson suffered the loss for Holman.

Fancher's didn't waste any time getting on the board, exploding for four in the opening inning.

TEMBY WAS SAFE on an error and Laird drew a walk. Ganzak and Tressler followed with run scoring singles and Zaliagaris was safe on a fielder's choice. Keifer batted out a two-bagger and Fancher's was up, 4-0.

Holman came back with one in the second on singles by Williams. White and Mason to slice the margin to 4-1. A walk to Ganzak and two bagger by Tressler made it 5-1 in the third and Holman tallied once in the fifth for all of its scoring.

Erson walked, Jay Major was safe on an error and Thompson singled in Erson.

FANCHER scored one in the fourth and added two in the sixth for the 8-2 finish. Don Finn was safe on an error, Laird walked, Terry McElroy walked and Tressler singled to score the two in the sixth.

14-Year-Old Wins National Wrestling Title

Farmington High is anxiously awaiting the arrival of Mark Churella to its wrestling program next year.

The 14-year-old wrestler won the National AAU Title in his age group in the 148 pound class. He attended Power Junior High and also claimed the city and state championship en route to the national title.

Churella is a resident of 37866 Tralee Trail in Farmington Township and captured five matches for the state crown and two in the national bid at Oakland University in Rochester.

Livonia Griffin Adray baseball Coach Ron Heller couldn't be happier with his pitching staff.

His hurlers came up with 13 innings of no-hit ball in 14 innings the past week. Dave Rice hurled a four hitter against Garden City will all four coming in the fifth stanza to win 7-3, and Tony Kaseta struck out 16 and scored a no-hitter against North Farmington's Koebel, 4-0.

In fact the lone runner to reach base off Kaseta was Lew Doot with a walk in the first inning. . . the second batter Kaseta faced. After that it was 20 down in a row. Rice struck out four and walked nine in the Garden City game and Greg Puishes went the distance for the losers giving up 14 hits, striking out seven and walking two.

LIVONIA OPENED with two in the top of the first. Bill Turkington walked, stole second, and scored on a hit by Roy Henriksson.

The Churchill graduate then stole second and scampered in on a single by Howard Schryer.

Garden City came up with one of its own in the bottom of the inning when John Wisniewski was hit by a pitch and Gary Herbert was safe on an error.

GRIFFIN SPORT made it 4-1 in the second on three hits and a sacrifice. John Sichta doubled and Rice and Turkington followed with singles. Henriksson lofted a fly to right and Rice scored. The margin was increased to 6-1 in the fifth as the Livonia bats kept booming. Turkington tripled, and Henriksson, Pat Perino and Steve Chilenko followed with consecutive singles.

Garden City tallied twice in the bottom of the inning to slice the difference to three. Mike Orr and Mark Wegryn singled. Puishes was safe on an error and Dan McHugh and Herbert followed with singles.

PERINO climaxed the Livonia scoring in the top of the seventh with a 340 foot clout to left field for his third round tripper of the season.

It was Kaseta's day to shine against Koebel. The Franklin High graduate and University of Detroit sophomore to be now stands with a 2-1 record with one earned run given up in 22 innings. That's a 0.137 earned run average.

Kaseta was on the starting rotation for U-D his freshman year and chalked up a 4-3 mark.

The Livonia righthander struck out the North Farmington side on three different occasions and at one time had a string of seven in a row.

The five outs recorded by Koebel that weren't strikeouts were all infield putouts; two popups to the first baseman, two grounders to second and a ground out to short.

John Combes went the route against Kaseta and hurled an eight hitter, struck out two and walked seven.

LIVONIA SCORED one in the first when Jeff Waterstone walked, stole second and scampered around on Gar Frantz's single.

Griffin Sport made it 3-0 in the fourth. Schryer singled and Waterstone drew a walk. Frantz forced Waterstone at second. Steve Crowe followed with a three-bagger and the rest was easy sailing with an insurance run added in the top of the seventh.

Rice walked, Waterstone singled and Chilenko doubled and Kaseta took care of the rest.

Livonia Griffin scored its fourth Adray baseball win over Birmingham's Varsity Shop behind the four hit pitching of Jerry Jarvela, 6-1.

Jarvela handcuffed Birmingham with 11 strikeouts and five walks. Rick Wolfe and Freeman worked for Varsity Shop with starter Wolfe taking the third loss for Birmingham.

Griffin opened with two in the fourth to start the winning machine in motion. Howard Schryer singled, stole second and scampered in on Steve Chilenko's single. Chilenko moved up on a ground out and scored on a hit by Bill Turkington to make it 2-0.

Livonia added three in the fifth to capture a five run lead.

Griffin scored its finale in the sixth when Jeff Waterstone singled, was forced at second with Roy Henriksson on first. Perino doubled to left center and Henriksson scored the sixth run.

'Pride' Shaken

Redford took a giant step toward the Connie Mack American League championship.

Bob Atkin's Warholak Tires handed Churchill's National Pride its first loss, 5-2, with lefthander Tom Nippa chalking up his third win behind no defeats.

The Redford hurler allowed five infield hits, struck out seven and walked two.

National Pride Coach Roger Frayer went with his best in Ken Wood and the Churchill righthander gave up nine hits, struck out four and walked one in a losing cause.

Warholak opened with two in the first on a two-bagger by Mike Johnston, a single by Kurt Fritz and a double by Steve Friedman.

National Pride came back with two of its own in the inning. Bob Blaies singled and Dan Kelly walked. Roy Henriksson was safe on a fielder's choice with Kelly out. Steve Chilenko collected an infield hit with Blaies scoring and Hanraney was hit by a pitch to load the bases.

BRUCE VAN WAGONER singled with Henriksson scoring but Chilenko was cut down at the plate on a throw from Redford shortstop Mike Kalil.

Redford moved ahead to stay in the fourth on a single by Glenn Richmond, a stolen base, and a single by Gary Fulk.

The Warholak crew added two insurance tallies in the fifth. Johnston collected his third hit and Mark Yourchok singled. Kurt Fritz singled to fill the bases and Friedman hit a grounder which appeared a sure double play but the ball was thrown astray and two more runs scored.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Good racing attracts better crowds which in turn has the mutuel machines buzzing faster than ever and as a result everyone prospers.

That appears to be the situation at Northville Downs for the annual summer meeting which is in its second full week at this moment. But one wonders if it is all that true.

There isn't any question that competition from Windsor Raceway is having a definite effect on Northville's business this summer. It is the first time the suburban half-mile track has had to battle for the dollars of bettors from two meetings. In the past the Downs has had competition from Toledo but that didn't bother too much since it gave the cheaper pacers and trotters a place to go while waiting for the opening of the Michigan county fairs.

But Windsor is something else since all of the Canadian drivers, who had horses at the recent Wolverine meeting, shipped across the Detroit River to Ontario along with a few Americans who felt they could get more starts in Windsor than at Northville.

Checking the wagering figures for the two operations during the two weeks they been meeting head-on, one gets the idea that the total amount going through the machines is about the same as that handled at Wolverine... the big difference is that Northville is logging about 60 per cent and Windsor 40 per cent.

THE DOWNS has a big edge on the weekends and especially last Friday when 6,004 followers of the standardbreds poured $490,929 through the machines compared to a scant $270,000 for its Canadian rival.

Why the big difference is something Windsor's management is trying to find some answers. Perhaps because of the international fireworks display on the Detroit River, perhaps because Americans were starting the celebration of Independence Day and maybe Northville had a better all-star program.

But add the two together and you have a total of close to $800,000 in round figures... that's just a bit short of what Wolverine was handling on Fridays. Could it be that there's just about that amount of money around and bettors on the west side of metropolitan Detroit are better gamblers than those from the east side?

From this viewpoint, it appears as if the state of Michigan is the big loser. It was collecting a tax on $800,000 or more every Friday and Saturday... that has been reduced to around $500,000.

BE THAT as it may, Northville is enjoying one of its better seasons, one that probably will improve during the remaining weeks of the meeting which continues through the last week in July. Wagering soared to a season high Saturday with a crowd of 7,197 just missing the $500,000 mark with a total of $498,812. It would have passed the half-million mark easily if Northville had the same number of gimmicks as some of the other tracks.

However, Executive Manager John Carlo has limited the gimmicks to a nightly double and two trifectas. Quite a contrast to those plants which have quinellas, perfectas, quadractors, triactors and the many other multi-wagering items that have become so much of a track operation in recent years.

Spring's Pride, the fleet four year old (Bret Hanover) owned by Norm Mealey and his Hillbrook Farm of Birmingham, stole the show Saturday with a stunning 2:02.4 victory in the invitational pace.

It was the fastest clocking in the first 10 nights of the meeting and rather remarkable for the half-mile track considering the rain and inclement weather of the entire week. It also attested to the fact the Executive Manager Carlo has an all-weather track that can take a lot of beating and still come up fast.

GUIDED BY Jim Merriman Jr., who recorded a number of close to 2:00 miles when he was driving the ill-fated Philip Brian, Spring's Pride took the lead on the first turn and was never headed. True enough Tricky Dale, piloted by brother Tom Merriman, had the lead for a few moments but this was Spring's Pride night and the son of Bret Hanover performed just like his old man.

Morgan Horses In Competition This Weekend

Michigan's 20th all-Morgan star-rated horse show is scheduled in the Michigan

State Fair coliseum for three days and nights beginning Friday, July 7 and continuing through Sunday July 9 and five area youngsters will be in the competition.

More than 450 outstanding park and pleasure Morgans will participate and area entrants include: from Plymouth, Andy Eckler, 9225 Joy Road; Ann Fenkell, 9366 Ivanhoe Drive; and Kathy Holt, 325 N. Beck Road; from Farmington, Linda and Chip Brown, 35295 Muer Cove.

The 20th show has been expanded to three days to accommodate the 95 classes and exhibitions competing for $7,500 in prize money and trophies. The prize list has been increased by 50 per cent for the more than 500 participants from a dozen states and Canada.

New this year will be the $500 Michigan Classic Saddle championship on Sunday afternoon for English Pleasure, Western Pleasure and park entrants. All other championship classes will be for $250.

THE MORGAN HORSE was featured in the Walt Disney movie "Justin Morgan Had a Horse" earlier in the year. Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed the show dates as "Justin Morgan Horse Days in Michigan."

There will be morning, afternoon and night sessions Friday and Saturday and morning and afternoon sessions on Sunday.

Tickets are on sale through the J.L. Hudson agencies, the General Motors Girls Club and the Justin Morgan Horse Association members.

200 Mile An Hour Lap A Reality At M.I.S.

"The 200 mile-an-hour lap? Just wait until we get to Michigan International Speedway July 16!"

That was the consensus of several Indianapolis race car drivers last month, after qualifying speeds jumped as much as 16 miles an hour.

When Bobby Unser drove Ozzie Olson's Olsonite Eagle to win pole position for last year's 200-mile Indy car race at the Michigan two-mile trioval, he set an all-time USAC speedway car record of 193.444 mph.

No one was even thinking of a 200-mph lap then.

However, when young Gary Bettenhausen became the first driver to top 190 miles an hour during official practice at Indianapolis last month, the talk immediately turned to the next goal, 200 mph.

THE INDIANAPOLIS RACE CARS and the USAC late model stockers will return to the Michigan International Speedway in the Irish Hills for the third annual Twin-200s, the only race program of its kind in the world, a pair of 200-mile back-to-back races, Sunday, July 16 at 1 p.m.

Bettenhausen and A.J. Foyt were the first winners in 1970 and Mark Donohue and Roger McCluskey occupied Victory Lane last year.

After Bettenhausen's 190 mph lap at Indy, and Unser's fabulous 196-plus qualifying lap, it was agreed the 200 mph tour is not impossible at Indy, but it may take a little while longer to get there.

AT M.I.S., however, that's a different matter, because M.I.S. already is the fastest track on the USAC circuit, based on the complete 1971 results.

In the Michigan International 200-mile race for the Indy cars, Unser will again pilot the Detroit-owned Olsonite Eagle, masterminded by veteran Dan Gurney and crew chief Wayne Leary.

BETTENHAUSEN is now a teammate of last year's M.I.S. winner Mark Donohue, on the Detroit area-owned Roger Penske racing team, so there will be plenty of Motor City rivalry in the Irish Hills.

Donohue will be looking for his third straight victory at M.I.S. After he won the Indy car portion of the Twin 200s in July last year, he bounced back and won the Trans-Am race in the Javelin, wrapping up the national championship for American Motors in their home state.

Artistic Lighting Gives Nighttime Glamour To Gardens

Well-placed lighting can create an "outdoor living room," usable for all members of the family.

But effective outdoor illumination calls for more than the casual placement of a few floodlights under the eaves, advises the American Home Lighting Institute (AHLI). Outdoor lighting can expand your family's pleasures in two ways: It expands the size of your living area, both visually and spatially; and it multiplies the hours, and the seasons, when your family can derive use and enjoyment from the garden.

Lighting also can make a home safer. A flood of illumination, available at the flick of a switch, wards off prowlers and thieves.

Expert help in planning outdoor lighting for beauty, livability and safety is available at AHLI "Light for Living Centers," recognized by AHLI as sources of quality lighting services.

Artistic planning of lighting can gain dimension for even a small urban patio and dramatize a sizable suburban garden.

colorful plantings, or perhaps even a stream or pool. When subtly lit, any of these emerge from the darkness with a radiant beauty visible only at night.

A well-lighted terrace or patio becomes a "garden room" - delightful for entertaining or just quiet relaxing. Conceal 150 PAR floodlights in trees, or fasten to roof overhangs, focused on the terrace for maximum benefit.

Flower plantings are enhanced at night by low-to-the-ground fixtures, spiked among the plantings every 10 feet or so. Such lighting also provides safety for walking.

Trees, depending on their variety and placement, may be illuminated in varying ways for different effects.

DECIDUOUS, open-branched trees, such as the flowering crabapple and the willow, benefit from lighting mounted within the tree. A floodlight, directed upward, will diffuse a luminous shimmer throughout the leaves.

Lacy, delicately foliaged trees, such as the European larch, are more attractive when lit from ground level. To silhouette the branches, place a spotlight behind the trees, with a small spot up front.

Local AHLI "Light for Living Centers" display a wide choice of styles and types of outdoor lighting fixtures, as well as offer guidance in selecting and placing them for best effects.

Their consultants can help bring your nighttime surroundings to life with light.

Expert Gives Tips On Watering Lawn

EAST LANSING Lawns should be watered at the first sign of wilt, wetting the soil to a depth of six to eight inches, say Michigan State University turfgrass specialists.

But don't apply too much water too often, they advise. Overwatering can kill roots and weaken the turfgrass plant by eliminating their supply of oxygen.

To help insure a healthy lawn, the MSU specialists offer the following guidelines for watering:

When establishing a turf, water at midday every day. This applies to both seeded and sodded turf.

Water an established lawn infrequently and thoroughly at the first sign of wilt. Watering lightly at frequent intervals causes shallow root growth and weakened turf that is more susceptible to weed invasion.

Do not apply water faster than it can be taken in by the soil. Sloping areas require more frequent watering.

Swimming Pool Registry Program Announced

Automobiles are rated by horsepower. Furnaces by Btu's. Refrigerators by cubic feet. Homes by square feet. And swimming pools by ...

Well, the fact of the matter is that, until now, swimming pools haven't been rated. There has been no way for the prospective pool owner to compare similarly appearing pools, except by price.

The National Swimming Pool Institute has now initiated a program this year to correct this problem as well as to provide other benefits, particularly in the safety area, to pool prospects and owners.

"The NSPI swimming pool registry program," says

Brack Whitaker, a Tucson builder and the man credited with getting the program started, "is a natural outgrowth of NSPI's 'Minimum Standards for Residential Pools' and of the need to provide this information as well as safety information to the consumer."

"But until the registry program got under way, there was no way for the industry to enforce these standards."

WHITAKER, the immediate past president of NSPI, points out that the pool industry has always been a voluntary supporter of safety regulations - such as fencing around the pool - and that the registry program is another step in the right direction.

"Most communities now have ordinances requiring fencing," he states, "and the major remaining safety problem is the diving board."

Besides seeking a way to enforce the minimum standards, the NSPI swimming pool registry program is an effort to deal effectively with the potential hazards, too.

"Without going into a lot of technical jargon, the registry program, by making the minimum standards mandatory for builder participation, stresses the idea of a 'safe water envelope' which is simply an area into which both experienced and novice divers can safely dive from a board specified as being adaptable for use in pools with specified depth, width and length of 'safe water envelope' measurements."

The major diving board problem in the past, according to Whitaker, is that many pools are built without boards which are added later by the owner. But the owner too often installed a board with too much spring for the "safe water envelope" to catch the diver safely.

BASICALLY, the NSPI pool registry program operates like this:

1. The builder signs an agreement with the institute to construct all of his in-ground pools to meet or exceed the NSPI minimum standards.

2. When he builds a pool, he registers this pool with NSPI by the class of pool built. (There are five classes rated according to the dimensions of the "safe water envelope.")

3. A permanent plaque is placed in the deck around the pool noting the registry number and the type of pool constructed.

4. The owner receives a certificate and a free safety booklet from the registry agency, a leading national accounting firm.

5. The plaque and booklet explain what class of diving board the owner should have for his pool.

"The program, then," Whitaker summarized, "is meant to force compliance with minimum standards, to insure safe use of the pool and to help the consumer realize that he has a high quality product built by a company and an industry interested in his safe use and enjoyment of the facility."

FINNISH FLAVOR -- It's easy to create an architectural effect in today's boxlike rooms. A do-it-yourself wall of natural wood and conversation-making corduroys work together to achieve this informal and comfortable setting. The antique painted Finnish daybed is covered in a folkloric print of cotton corduroy with matching end pillows, while the large pillows and draperies are in a cable-effect corduroy.

Pest Of The Week

BLACK VINE WEEVIL (TAXUS WEEVIL)

This insect attacks Japanese yew and broadleaf evergreens (such as rhododendron, azalea, mountain laurel and others), winter creeper euonymus and hemlock.

The adult beetle emerges to feed at night on the lower leaves of the plant. The edges of the leaves will appear to have half circles cut out of them. The larvae feed on the roots, causing damage ranging from an unthrifty appearance to sudden death of a plant. Adults will be emerging soon.

Prepare to control this insect if you have had trouble in the past, particularly on Taxus.

CONTROL: Spray the lower portions of the plant and the surface of the soil around plants with 75 per cent Chlordane emulsion, 1 - 1/2 Tb. per 100 sq. ft., in enough water to adequately cover the area. Treatment should be made the last week in June or by the first week in July, at the time when the adults emerge.

'Enough Is Enough When Using Sprays

EAST LANSING Here's a problem that most gardeners are familiar with when using sprays around the home.

Recommended amounts of spray materials are usually given in pounds or quarts per acre or per 100 gallons of water. These amounts have been tested and evaluated to give the best degree of control with the least amount of waste of material.

The problem arises, says Michigan State University plant pathologist D.J. deZeeuw, when the materials are used in small volumes. The best way to convert pounds per 100 gallons to a smaller amount per gallon is to weigh out the material on a scale.

may not have a scale that will weigh small amounts accurately, de Zeeuw suggests this rule-of-thumb method:

use one tablespoon (or three teaspoons) of chemical per gallon of water for each pound of formulation recommended in 100 gallons of water.

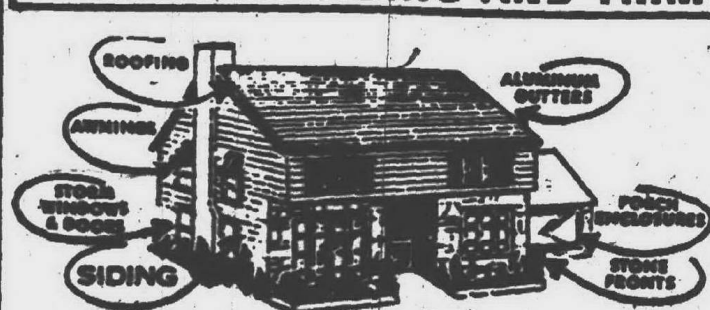

This method may not hold true for all materials, so you should always check the label for rates to use for small quantities.

Keep in mind that when a specified amount of a material is recommended, that rate is what you should use. Extra amounts are wasteful and may be injurious to plants.

Cotton Coats

In Northern China, where the winters are bitter, people wear cotton coats padded with cotton. And as the days grow colder, they simply don another coat or two, saying it is "two-coat weather" or "three-coat weather."

Patterns of Housing

The pattern of housing prices in the western metropolitan area shows that generally they rise from east to west and from south to north.

Prices on the accompanying map are the average house sale price in each area for the month of May 1972.

The list was compiled by United Northwestern Realty Assn. West - Wayne - Oakland Board of Realtors, which recorded sale of 3,235 properties in May for an all-time record. The May figure was a 21 per cent increase over the same month in 1971.

The total dollar sales, however, declined slightly to $33.25 million from the $34 million in May of the prior year.

To some extent, the price pattern reflects the newness of homes since the metropolitan area's growth has spread westward. Part of the reason, too, is planners and builders' decisions to build higher-priced houses in the northern area, where land tends to become more hilly.

West Side Transit Route Takes A Turn

A regional rapid transit line in the Schoolcraft Rd. corridor has been dropped by planners for the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

Instead, a SEMCOG staff report suggests the line go from downtown Detroit, out the Grand River corridor and then northward toward Northland Shopping Center.

The change was revealed last week in a staff report to the SEMCOG general assembly. The plan text carried no comment about the change indicated on an accompanying map.

PUBLIC transportation is under the wing of the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEM-TA). In an agreed-upon division of labor, SEMCOG does generalized regional planning, including the rough "corridors" for transportation lines, and SEMTA is responsible for exact routes, type of technology, building and operating.

Early stages would reach Redford Township and Livonia, and post-1990 construction would be to Plymouth.

The TALUS project has been absorbed by SEMCOG's planning division.

SEMCOG's acting director, James Trainor, could give no details on reasons for the change except to say that it was indicated by travel and population projections.

Trainor said the revised plan calls for no new freeways in Detroit, although city planners are eager to build one last link in the central city. He said any more freeways would cause too much neighborhood and business upheaval.

Instead, planners are recommending the upgrading of existing roads in the central city. Suburban freeway plans would continue as projected in the past.

Earlier studies by TALUS (Transportation and Land Use Study) had indicated need by 1990 for a transit line to be built westward from Detroit in the Schoolcraft Rd. corridor.

MSU Offers Weed Control Bulletin

EAST LANSING
Do you have chickweed or morning glory or crabgrass or quackgrass, or a combination of these and possibly others in your landscape? Or do you have "weeds?"

According to William Meggitt, Michigan State University crop and soil scientist, if you know your specific weed problem you're in a much better position to control it.

"Specific herbicides are usually more effective on certain weeds than they are on others," explains Meggitt. "In addition, many herbicides are noted for their control on a certain group of weeds such as 'broadleaves' or 'grasses'."

The three most common classifications of weeds include:

Broadleaves: weeds such as plantain, knotweed, chickweed, morning glory, and dandelion.

Annual grasses: including bluegrass, crabgrass, foxtail, and barnyard grasses.

Perennial weeds: plants such as bentgrass, nimblewill, nutsedge and quackgrass.

The Michigan State University Extension Bulletin, E-653, "Lawn Weed Control" offers information on developing a weed control program for your specific weed problem. Single copies are free from county Cooperative Extension Service offices or by writing to: MSU Bulletin Office, P.O. Box 231, East Lansing, Mich. 48823.

Rossman Decision Reverses Board Resolution

By KATHY MORAN

PLYMOUTH
A decision is still pending on whether James Rossman has tenure as Plymouth school superintendent, but one thing is certain — if he chooses to remain in Plymouth School District he can be a classroom teacher.

The State Tenure Commission last week heard arguments from Rossman's attorney, H. Rollin Allen, and the board of education's attorney, Edward Draugelis, last week on whether Rossman has tenure as superintendent.

The most significant event of the hearing was Draugelis' statement that Rossman can remain in Plymouth as a teacher when his contract as superintendent would have expired in June 1973.

Rossman was offered a position as consultant to the new superintendent for the period between now and June 1973. He has never accepted the position but has continued to collect his paychecks at his past annual salary of $28,000.

DRAUGELIS' statement was a contrast to the resolution passed by the school board on Jan. 10 where Rossman was put back on the payroll after his firing on Dec. 13, 1971.

The resolution which offers Rossman the consultant's position also orders him to "disassociate himself from any and all school activity except those as provided for in this resolution." It continues: "Under no circumstances will James H. Rossman be carried on the payroll of this school district in any capacity whatsoever beyond June 30, 1973."

Apparently between the time the resolution was passed and the hearing last week, the board realized that Rossman's four years as school superintendent afforded him tenure as a teacher, though trustee George Lawton said "there never was any doubt."

Allen was taken off guard at Friday's hearing with the ready concession that Rossman can teach in the school district, but also argued that since Rossman was never given a hearing when he was fired as superintendent, he should automatically be reinstated.

"Since he was never given a hearing, there is little the tenure commission can do but reinstate him as superintendent," Allen told the commission, saying that his client's rights had been violated.

DRAUGELIS countered this charge by saying that Rossman was given the opportunity for a hearing when the board stated in the Jan. 10 resolution that "Rossman may at his request, receive from this board any procedural remedies to which he feels himself entitled if he feels himself aggrieved by any of the conditions of this resolution, and any resolution or communication inconsistent with this paragraph is hereby revoked."

To Allen's charge that Rossman can't get a fair hearing from the board, Draugelis answered that the board will have three new members on it this month due to the recent election and the board member who abstained when Rossman was fired (Dr. John Ohno) is still on the board.

During the exchange, Allen also charged that his client was demoted when offered the consultant's position. But Draugelis said that legally, since Rossman is being paid the same salary with the same fringe benefits as before he was fired, he was not demoted.

Allen then said that the new position fails to provide his client with a secretary to aid him "which emasculates the position" and has not been paid travel expenses incurred since January, thus indicating Rossman is not enjoying the same benefits he did as superintendent.

THE LAWYERS also argued over the wording in Rossman's first contract beginning in 1967 and his second contract in 1970 as to whether the contracts stated or implied that Rossman would earn tenure as a superintendent.

After listening to the arguments, David Laro, chairman of the commission, said it would notify the attorneys of the decision at a later date.

Doctorates Awarded To 6 In Area

Six area residents received Ed. D. degrees at Wayne State University's commencement exercises recently at Cobo Hall.

They are: James L. Casebere, 16081 Alpine, Livonia; Mario Di Ponia, 11637 Spicer Drive, Plymouth; Robert L. Lake, 7358 Central, Westland; James L. Leary, 23557 Gull Road, Farmington; Joseph Nicita, 35255 Muer Cove Drive, Farmington; and A. Louise Seffens, 34610 W. Nine Mile Rd., Farmington.

They were six of 42 persons awarded educational doctorates by Wayne's College of Education and were among 4,788 students receiving degrees. This number makes the June 1972 class the largest spring commencement in Wayne's history.

10 Mile Will Be Resurfaced

Good Ol' Days

Old-fashioned corn husking bees used to be happy combinations of business and pleasure. According to one custom, finding a red ear of corn allowed a man to claim a kiss from the girl of his choice.

A two mile section of 10 Mile Rd. between Novi and Haggerty roads will be resurfaced this summer by Holloway Construction Co. Holloway submitted the low bid of $28,142 for the project, which will be financed by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Dems' League Endorses 4

WESTLAND IN THE 37th state house race, former State Rep. Vincent Pettipren was endorsed 9-3 by the executive board and unanimously by the league's membership over two challengers.

The district, which covers the south half of Westland, also has State Rep. Thomas Brown and Westland City Assessor opposing Pettipren, who represented the district for six years.

THE ENDORSEMENTS were the first in more than two years when the league changed its rules to virtually prohibit primary election endorsements.

After two years, the league agreed two months ago to revert back to the rules which allow easy procedures for primary election selections. In the 15th congressional district, Congressman William Ford was unanimously backed over Democratic challenger Frank Lubinski, Dearborn Heights city councilman.

In the 36th State House District, which covers the north half of Westland, Ben DeHart was the unanimous pick of the board and membership over three challengers in the primary.

The selection came as no surprise since DeHart served as Democratic League chairman for the past two years.

DeHart was picked over City Council President John Markes, County Commissioner James McCartney, both of Westland, and Robert Wright, of Livonia.

Plastered Pipe

The first commercially manufactured corncob pipe was made in 1869 by Henry Tibbe of Washington, Mo. To fill the pipe's uneven surfaces, Tibbe used plaster of Paris.

What's the difference between a rug and a carpet? Well, technically speaking, a carpet is made in continuous rolls of varying widths. Broadloom carpets are the ones that are made to cover a whole room without a seam. However, if you were to cut a smaller piece from a broadloom strip to lay in the center of your room, it would become a rug! A room-sized rug is big enough to cover almost all of your room, except for a small area around the outside edge. An area rug covers a smaller section of the room.

There is a difference between purchasing furniture by yourself and receiving assistance from knowledgeable people. See the difference by shopping at SCHRADER'S HOME FURNISHINGS, INC., 111 N. Pursell Fights Proposed Law School Funding Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) said he would ask Gov. William Milliken to veto a section of the higher education bill that provides for three new Michigan law schools.

The bill, now under consideration in the House, provides $341,000 to start law schools at Michigan State University, Western Michigan University and Grand Valley State College.

"The cost of providing buildings--and especially starting a new law library--for three schools is prohibitive," Pursell said.

A member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Pursell said "I cannot see the wisdom of going into such an expensive venture without adequate study into all aspects of the program."

'The War' Bears Little Similarity To 'My World'

By BETTY MASSON

For those of us who enjoyed the television series "My World and Welcome to It," the movie "The War Between Men and Women" is a disappointment.

The movie, like the TV series, is loosely based on the writings and drawings of James Thurber, famous writer-cartoonist. But the movie is as strange as some of Thurber's cartoons, without their charm.

YOU CAN'T take it as pure entertainment, because it's not that entertaining. The humor is at times too obvious, at other times too morbid. I seem to have heard the line "You can find everything at a literary tea except tea and literacy" before, and I can't see anything especially funny about a half-blind man, even an intransigent male chauvinist, groping for his glasses in a narrow-necked cocktail pitcher. Only the animated cartoon bits are fun. They're by Robert Dranko.

amusements

On the other hand, the film does make some telling comments about life among the so-called "sophisticates." As for instance, "How do you explain to the children that their mother's having an affair?" If they go to movies like this, you won't have to explain.

Jack Lemmon plays Peter Wilson, the cartoonist who is going blind and doesn't want anyone to know it. He meets Barbara Harris, the divorced mother of three, and for some inexplicable reason, they fall into bed, in love and into marriage.

HER EX-HUSBAND, Jason Roberts, comes home from the wars (he's a photographer) and creates some havoc before taking off again.

He gets killed in the war, Lemmon's blindness worsens and 12-year-old Linda's stuttering is cured by Lemmon's hit book "The Last Flower."

It's a cute segment. But cuteness and sophistication sure make strange bedfellows.

Mummy Is Back

DETROIT The unrivaled public star of the Detroit Institute of Arts has returned to stage center to mark the opening of the newly-renovated and expanded Egyptian galleries. The museum's most popular work of art, the mummy of the nameless lady from Thebes buried about the time of Christ, has been re-installed in the new mummy display after months of restoration by conservators.

"A paragon of ancient beauty," commented William H. Peck, curator of ancient art.

Five feet tall, wearing a dazzling gold-leaf mask with decorations and 100 yards of line wrappings, the 35-40 year-old lady was given her first beauty treatment since she was acquired by the institute in 1889.

The 2000-year-old mummy may now be seen in a specially-constructed and oversize display case with other mummy objects which describe the entire funerary spectrum of the Egyptians.

Museum hours, six days weekly, excepting Monday and holidays, are 9:30 a.m. - 5:30 p.m.

Sounds Of Meadow Brook...

By CORINNE ABATT
How sweet it is to once again be able to look forward each week to the sounds and setting of the Meadow Brook Music Festival!
The festival opened last week June 29, with the Detroit

Symphony under the baton of Sixten Ehrling and violinist Itzhak Perlman as guest soloist.
It continued Friday with Doc Severinsen and his New Generation Brass with Today's Children. Friday night will be jazz night all summer. Mel Torme with Woody Herman and his Young Thundering Herd are the July 7 offering.

THE OPENING weekend included the symphony and violinist Perlman Saturday with an all-Brahms program, and Sunday Maestro Arthur Fiedler directing the symphony and Detroit area pianist Joann Freeman shared the stage.

and ready for the hundreds who take their music on a blanket under the stars, but the fine sound produced by the Baldwin Pavilion acoustics is the delightful reward.

The thundershowers predicted for the Thursday opening failed to materialize, allowing several hundred guests invited by Oakland University President and Mrs. Donald O'Dowd for pre-concert cocktails and dinner to enjoy the terrace and picturesque lawn of stately Meadow Brook Hall.

The English Tudor mansion, home of the university's benefactors, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, was built in the late 1920s.

A dinner guest, university trustee Arthur Saltzman, said that since the hall has been opened to groups for meetings, dinner parties and as a conference area and for tours, it has become completely self-supporting.

Not only is it a thrill to see the crowds walking down the aisles, orchestra members at the stage doors warming up, lawns and gardens manicured

THE CHOICE of music for the opening concert set the stage for the season ahead. The Dvorak concerto for violin and orchestra, given highly sensitive treatment by Perlman, is a lyrical piece of music, full of haunting melodies, several of which have a Bohemian folk influence.

Respighi's "The Pines of Rome" speaks of trees—those magnificent ones that have been the setting for theater of Roman life.

It is a showy, moving and effective tone poem—giving the orchestra an opportunity to become almost narrators in their musicianship.

The Pennsylvania Ballet is now in residence on the Oakland University campus and will perform with the orchestra, Wednesday, July 5, Thursday, July 6, Saturday, July 8 and Sunday, July 9.

IT WAS PERFECT weather for sitting on the grassy slope at Meadow Brook and listening to performances throughout the weekend.

DOC SEVERINSEN thrilled his audience during his performance last weekend at Meadow Brook. (Observer photos by Harry Mauthe)

Power Is Art Group President

Philip H. Power, publisher of the Observer Newspapers Inc., was elected president of the State Arts Foundation. An Ann Arbor resident, Power has been a trustee of the foundation since 1970. Power succeeds retiring president Clyde C. Bennett Jr. of Birmingham.
Mrs. Harry L. Jones of Southfield was reelected to a term on the six-member board.
The foundation has awarded most of its grants to the Michigan Council for the Arts, a state agency. Major support went into construction and operation of the Michigan Arttrain, the touring art facility that recently was in Plymouth.

Meadow Brook Festival Hosts Ballet Company

ROCHESTER
The Pennsylvania Ballet, a young and exciting company that has attracted national acclaim, will hold the stage at the Meadow Brook Music Festival this week.
Accompanied by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the ballet will dance four performances on Wednesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.
The festival gala opening week concludes tonight (July 2) with an appearance by Arthur Fiedler conducting the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, featuring guest pianist Joann Freeman. Concert time is 6:30.
ON FRIDAY night, July 7, a double bill that presents Mel Torme along with Woody Herman and his Young Thundering Herd will continue the jazz series.
The ballet, founded by Barbara Weisberger with the Summer Music Festival Starts

The first concert of the 1972 Schoolcraft Summer Music Festival will be Tuesday, July 11, featuring faculty members from the Schoolcraft Summer Music School performing chamber works by Charles Ives, Beethoven and Robert W. Jones, Schoolcraft composer-in-residence.
The concert will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the theater of the Liberal Arts building. The campus is located on Haggerty between Six and Seven Mile in Livonia. Admission is $1.50 for adults and students. Tickets will be sold at the door.
INEZ H. REDMAN will open the concert with Ives' second violin sonata, composed during the first decade of the 20th century. The work, which makes extensive use of many borrowed tunes, is in three movements entitled "Autumn," "In the Barn," and "The Revival." Carolyn J. Anderson will be the pianist.
Jones will accompany his own Sonata No. 2 for Cello and Piano, which will be performed by Mario Di Fiore. Composed in 1971, the sonata is dedicated to Di Fiore, who first performed the work. Its three movements begin with the introduction called "Dies sind die heiligen zwolf tone," meaning "these are the holy 12 tones, a title parody of the old Lutheran chorale "These are the holy Ten Commandments."
The first movement is called "In which we all dance." The slow movement is a variation on an old Welsh folksong, "Dafydd y Garreg Wen" (David of the White Rock) and the final movement is "To Hell with Avant-Garde." The sonata was well received at its first performance last winter.
THE CONCLUDING work will be String Quartet No. 11 in F minor, Op. 95, subtitled "Serioso," by Beethoven and performed by the Schoolcraft Festival String Quartet.
James Waring, newest member of the summer music faculty, is first violinist; Mrs. Redman is second violinist; David Ireland is violist; and Di Fiore is cellist. Ireland will be featured soloist at the following week's concert.

MARIO DI FIORE will perform Sonata No. 2 for cello and piano, which was dedicated to him by its composer Robert W. Jones, composer-in-residence at Schoolcraft College, during the first concert of the 1972 Schoolcraft Summer Music Festival on July 11.

PUBLIC HEARINGS on the issue of necessity for three city street paving projects have been scheduled by the city commission for Monday, July 10.

They include Pacific, from Williams to Farmer; Hart-sough, from Harvey to McKinley, and Union, from Mill to S. Holbrook. The latter would be concrete paving, and the two others would have a "slagcrete" surface at a reduced cost both to the city and the property owners who would share the special assessments.

Club will have its first regular meeting of the 1972-73 year tonight (Thursday) at the Thunderbird Inn, the program being centered around the Michigan Eye Bank project.

President Louis Schuldt and other new officers were installed at the club's recent annual banquet, at which Bud Guest was thoroughly enjoyed as the evening's principal speaker.

THE END by DON KEETH

"This is the end. We have arrived...reached the goal." That sounds awfully pompous, doesn't it? Actually, what I'm trying to say is that now central air conditioning, which every "John Doe" can afford, has been invented. It's ready now.

This, naturally, is delightful news to every "John Doe." I hope you are one of them. Now you can own a top quality central air conditioning and heating system for what heating alone cost a few years ago!

Who accomplished this neat feat? Lennox, who else? It figures... Lennox has been the leader in this kind of doings for 65 years.

Perhaps it was misleading to say that this is the end -- actually it isn't. Research and development will always continue. Good things will get better. But one of the main goals has been reached -- central air conditioning everybody can afford!

Come and see me about it -- or, I can come and see you about it. Anyway, let's get together, just give me a jingle.

Reorganization Needed To Cut Hospital Costs

ANN ARBOR
Better organization rather than more money or technological improvements may be the key to solving the problems of our hospitals and other health-care institutions, a University of Michigan authority suggests.

Basil S. Georgopoulos, program director in the University's Institute for Social Research (ISR) and professor of psychology, says the knowledge necessary to make the nation's health-care institutions more effective already exists.

GEORGOPOULOS observes that our health-care system has come under heavy criticism for failing to meet the public's health needs effectively and without exorbitant cost.

The fault has not been a lack of technical know-how, for as Georgopoulos points out, advances in medical knowledge and technology have been phenomenal.

"Rather," he adds, "health institutions appear to be suffering from inefficient and outdated organizational systems which are struggling to cope with enormous social changes.

necessary to make hospitals and other health-care institutions more rational and effective already exists.

What is sorely needed, he says, is to make this knowledge accessible and understandable to policy makers and practitioners who may then proceed with suitable organizational applications and experimentation.

Brown Hits Economic Policies

"Better understanding and adequate knowledge of organization at all levels of the system may hold the key to effective approaches and successful solutions."

Georgopoulos says: "In most cases, for hospitals as well as for other complex organizations, acceptable and relatively lasting solutions require greater social-psychological sophistication rather than a more sophisticated technology.

"In all likelihood they require social innovations, organizational experimentation, and the testing of new forms and patterns of organization, or at least significantly modified structures from those now in operation. They cannot be achieved satisfactorily simply with more money or even more perfect technology."

HE EMPHASIZES that much of the knowledge

Olschanski Out Of Marine Boot

LIVONIA
Marine Pvt. Daniel M. Olschanski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Olschanski of 16188 Wayne Road, Livonia, graduated from basic training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot at Parris Island, S.C.

He is a 1972 graduate of Stevenson High School.

The national administration is economically bankrupt and inept according to congressional candidate Bill Brown who attacked President Nixon's economic policies while addressing a brunch in Livonia.

Brown, a senior accountant at the University of Michigan, is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the 2nd district seat now held by U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor). The district includes Livonia and Plymouth City and Township.

The administration's Phase I economic policies promised a half - million increase in domestic auto sales and 125,000 new jobs, Brown said.

"The great economic projections of Nixonomics has not produced the promised 125,000 new jobs," he said. "In Michigan, the increase was a paltry 4,800 while nationally the total employment has decreased by over 10,000 persons.

"The result of the special duties on imports and currency re - evaluation shenanigans of the Nixon - Esch program is a huge increase in auto profits and large jumps in high executive bonuses," Brown said adding that the benefit to the average worker was "miserable."

Brown is calling for implementation of the 1946 full employment resolution which guarantees a job for every citizen who wants one.

While Publisher Philip H. Power is on vacation, guest columnists are commenting on long-range issues and problems facing suburbia. Today's guest is the Farmington city councilman who in 1969 successfully led opposition to the proposed consolidation of Farmington city and township. In private life, he is an architect.

By JOHN A. ALLEN

Three years ago, a question "Can a Small City Survive?" was posed to the citizens of Farmington; a city of 2½ square miles, rich in history, largely developed and responsively governed. At that time the majority of citizens rejected the opportunity to consolidate with the largely undeveloped township of Farmington in an effort to form a new city of 36 square miles. Subsequently the township has voted to independently incorporate. Farmington once again reviews the question: "Can a small city survive?"

CITIES COME in all sizes, large and small. Each has its importance, each supplements its neighbor. Each has its own unique identity, its own personality. Whether or not one is satisfied in the environment of any community depends on what he is seeking or how much effort he is willing to make to change it. Since there are many successful small communities, it appears size is not the measure of success.

Presently, large cities like huge batholiths struggle to overcome the inertia which chain their efforts to continue the role for which they are intended.

Serious problems of inadequate service, insufficient public safety, social injustice, inadequate housing, overwhelming welfare demands, and educational deficiencies are only some of the areas of discontent which are motivating an unchecked exodus to the suburbs. No area has been spared, and a plethora of problems develops for new areas.

Inevitably everyone must recognize the futility of uncontrolled expansion. The decay and debris of evacuated neighborhoods pose an ecological spectre as frightening as a bomb. Obsolescence and neglect are the food for rodents and unscrupulous entrepreneurs.

The only effective poison for these is a sound program of rehabilitation, reconstruction and redevelopment. Any community with limited expansion must consider these of first importance.

OBSERVATION POINT

If Residents Want It Small City Can Survive

FOR THE PAST three years the City of Farmington has borne the brunt of the exodus, perhaps at times even happily since it provided a largely unexpected source of revenue in spite of the problems it often created. An accurate evaluation of future growth cannot be based on an expectation of continuance.

However, certain significant happenings are clearly distinguishable. These developments, properly encouraged, indicate a new life, a new role, and a prosperous future for this small community and others in similar circumstances.

In previous three years, we have seen that the cost of government has not increased out of proportion to the community development. Actual efficiency of operation has increased along with better service to the community.

Future costs of government can be expected to increase as in every other area of the economy, but the ratio of city tax per income dollar will remain stable as long as the limits of expansion are fixed and obsolescence is controlled.

Because of several built-in factors of this small community — such as historical significance, public service and sociological compatibility — obsolescence has been reduced to a minimum. Old areas have been rediscovered. Older homes are reconditioned and restored.

Owning a renovated house has become a fashionable thing. Old businesses, flourishing in the cycle of prosperity have remodeled and expanded. Long vacated and unused properties have been removed or rehabilitated. As the business community has prospered the extent of their services has encouraged the use of their facilities.

A VERY REAL sense of pride in the community has emerged. "To belong" assumes its rightful importance. Civic groups, such as our beautification committee, historical society, garden clubs, service clubs and churches, actively participate in giving this small community an image of safe harbor in a troubled metropolis.

However, change is inevitable. Even a small city such as Farmington must continue to grow. Although there are no geographical areas of expansion, there are unlimited areas of development needed.

A continual evaluation of zoning and planning is necessary to provide for proper environment. Property values must be maintained to assure a source of sufficient income. Community pride must continue to be encouraged. Public services must be maintained at highest possible standards. New areas of service should be reviewed and provided whenever possible.

All segments of the population must be given the opportunity to relocate within the community according to need and income. An itinerant population does not foster community spirit, pride or prosperity. Common sense and prudent management must prevail to prevent unnecessary taxation. Whereas a small prosperous community can afford almost any luxury, it cannot conceivably have them all at the same time.

IT IS NOT possible for any government to serve all interests in a consistently favorable manner. Many decisions must be made in view of a total community. The needs of all areas in a community must be considered. An active interest and willingness to participate by the citizens in any community are its best assurance of a successful and prosperous future, regardless of size.

Today a small city has the best opportunity for progress. I believe the answer to the question, "Can a small city survive?" is: "As long as its citizens want it to survive."

R. T. Thompson writes

A Hard Decision To Make; Felicians Made Wise One

It had to be a heart-rending decision, one that came after a great deal of hard thinking and hours of wondering whether it was the proper move, before the Felician Sisters decided to make Madonna College a co-educational institution.

Strange enough, the administration and the faculty found themselves with such a decision at the same time the college was celebrating its 25th anniversary. The announcement to become a college for men and women came just two weeks after the silver jubilee dinner.

After 25 years as a four-year liberal arts college for women, the Felicians finally found themselves in a position where they risked financial security and a dim future unless they decided on the change in policy.

IT WASN'T that the administration wanted to make the change; it had to act and act quickly or face the loss of numerous federal grants for scholarships, student loans and assistance in building programs.

This became apparent as much as a year ago when the college president and members of the staff were made aware of action on the part of the Congress to eliminate some grants if there were any indications of discrimination.

And in this instance, discrimination doesn't necessarily mean by color; it meant by sex. A unisex college or university could be found guilty of discriminating against the other sex by closing its doors to them.

In effect, this meant that all-male colleges were discriminating against females, and all-women institutions of high learning were guilty of discrimination because of the ban on males.

The matter first came to light in grants from the U.S. Public Health Service which governs grants and student loans for nursing programs and allied courses.

Enrollment in the nursing program is just about the largest at Madonna, and it didn't take long for the message to strike... either change to co-ed or lose many of the benefits.

AT THE SAME time, it became apparent that similar restrictions would probably be placed on all federal aid programs for colleges and universities, and thus it meant that unisex institutions would have to change their policies and conform or lose much needed federal aid.

It isn't that Madonna College hadn't admitted males. To the contrary, it has had men enrolled in many night courses and also in special classes during the day.

But the college advertised itself as an all-woman institution and based its methods

Sense And Nonsense

At Clarenceville High School the other day, they gave away lots of awards at the honors convocation, including one to a lad who had a perfect attendance record.

So what happened? You guessed it. The winner didn't attend the convocation to get his award.

DISSENT Charges Errors On Roth

View points expressed in DISSENT do not necessarily reflect those of Observer Newspapers Inc., but are presented in the belief that publication of all segments of thought on a public issue is a prerequisite to understanding and progress.

By REV. JAMES SCHAEFER

Editorializing about the Roth Ruling (Observer, June 21), Tim Richard made some very serious mistakes:

(1) He ignored the context in which the order was made
(2) He dealt with superficial matters ignoring the context of the ruling and the place of courts in our government

(3) In bad taste, he attacked the person of Judge Roth sidestepping the actual court issue

(4) He compared the Detroit ruling with a dissimilar Richmond decision.

The order for desegregation by U.S. District Court Judge Stephen Roth is the result of a series of rulings by the U.S. Supreme Court which began in 1954, some 18 years ago. If Judge Roth sounds a bit angry about non-compliance, he certainly is justified, for the Supreme Court ordered desegregation of all schools many years ago.

RICHARD SEEMS to think that government is by plebiscite instead of with a balance of powers and separate jurisdiction for each branch of government. The Roth ruling is from the judicial branch of the government interpreting the Constitution.

Our Founding Fathers never conceived of this nation as being run on the basis of popular vote on all matters. Even the Congress is divided into two houses to provide for balance and wisdom.

Jurisdiction in a court matter is not subject to referendum unless the people wish to amend the Constitution — a procedure intentionally made difficult and tedious so as to avoid unwise and emotional changes.

Richard pictured Judge Roth as some kind of an arrogant self-serving person. Not so. In context and actual fact, Judge Roth acted on orders from his "bosses", the U.S. Supreme Court.

Item: In 1955 the Supreme Court stated that District Courts should request, and select from, desegregation plans presented by litigants. This is precisely what Judge Roth has done.

Item: There is nothing in the Order that has not been adjudicated by the Supreme Court in previous cases. Judge Roth is not "plowing new ground" in his recent court order.

IN COMPARING the Detroit Ruling with the Richmond Ruling, Richard has ignored the serious differences between the two, and he has overlooked the full context of the Appeals Court reversal.

Roth included the State of Michigan along with the Detroit Board of Education as guilty (Richmond did not), and Roth did not order a consolidation or reorganization of school districts (Richmond did).

The same Appeals Court that voted 4 to 1 to overrule Richmond did the same in 1971 in the Swan-Charlotte case and was overturned by the Supreme Court which adopted the dissenting opinion. That unanimous opinion was written by Chief Justice Burger, a Nixon appointee to the court.

And there is more. Richard compared school millage rates of Detroit and suburbs without consideration of the total tax burden of taxpayers. It makes a difference. Richard talked of "trivial benefits" of integration for black pupils whereas every respectable study has shown marked improvement with desegregation.

It is irresponsible journalism to write "what do we do about Roth?" when the good Judge is doing his rightful job with courage in the face of such unsubstantiated attacks.

Sense And Nonsense

A South Redford school board candidate submitted a statement to The Observer including the following: "Educating," "policies," and use of the word "effect" instead of "affect."

In his statement, the candidate also mentions "having been involved in the 'Recorder,' the controversial Orchard Ridge Campus (of Oakland Community College where he is a student) newspaper."

Old Politicians Should Be Retired

EDITOR:

Why is it that government people, like judges, congressmen, etc., can stay in their positions until they are 70, 80 or 90, but the average worker has to retire at 65?

What chance will the younger men ever have if judges, etc. hold on till they are so old, the youngest to take their jobs fall into the 65 or 70 year category before they can fill the position.

Men and women who are in these positions should be forced to retire at 65. Give the younger men a chance.

Speaking of retiring, you wouldn't happen to know when Judge Roth, who was 64 on April 21 this year, plans to retire? Any chance of it being early?

Disembowling Journalism

EDITOR:

Tim Richard's article on Wallace supporters generated a great deal of heat. You had to be amused or abused, depending upon your viewpoint. In fact it was a shabby attempt to discredit, and it was poor journalism.

The problem is not whether we will become obese or attend bingo parties if we vote for Wallace. The problem is in what ways we have changed (for Wallace has not) that an appeal to bad feelings wins a vote where an appeal to proper thinking does not.

Journalists would do better to address themselves to the intensifying wish of the American people to find a leader who will have omnipotence in solving problems and relieving frustrations and a people who are willing to offer a "blank check" to cover the cost.

The danger that we may find that leader some day is not paramount with George Wallace. It awaits a future generation if we continue in this direction.

If Tim Richard's article were unique in editorials today, it might not be worth a comment. However, the literary "mirror" he held up to Wallace supporters has been used innumerable times in the past. If that same "mirror" were held up to Blacks or Jews or Catholics, we might more readily identify the nature of this writing.

No matter who the "goat" is, the writing is disgraceful and it shuts off minds.

If we are to judge our politics within a broader philosophical context, if we are yet to arrive at a choice of leadership by way of our reason; it is vitally necessary that the journalists of this land do not pursue the course of emotionalism and false argument. To abdicate their responsibility in that manner would be to disembowel themselves.

Schoolcraft Enrollment

Start College Early: July 11-12

Like registrars everywhere, Schoolcraft's Russ Bogarin recommends students register as early as possible. For the fall semester at Schoolcraft College, that means July 11 and 12.

Advance registration is being held that Tuesday and Wednesday, and although Bogarin has been on the job less than two weeks, he can give a lot of good reasons for taking advantage of the early dates.

"It's comforting for students to know they are enrolled in the classes they want, at the times they want them," he said. "Then, too, it's nice to have your fees all paid so you can just relax until classes start in August."

The advance registration July 11 begins at 8:30 for students planning to graduate at the end of the semester. From 9:30 to 3, sophomores with last names from A to Z will be registered.

On the second day, freshman with last names starting with A will report at 8:30, and registration will continue alphabetically until 3:30.

Evening students will register from 6-8:30 both nights. All registration is conducted in the auxiliary gym in Schoolcraft's Physical Education Building.

Persons new to the college will need to visit the Admissions Office prior to advance registration. Returning students will need to have consulted their counselors. Regular registration for the fall is scheduled for Aug. 21-22, with classes starting two days later.

SC Donations Are Accepted

A donation for the survey on senior citizens needs was among those accepted by the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees recently.

The board accepted a $300 gift from the Schoolcraft College Foundation to be used for the survey study project on educational needs of local senior citizens. The survey is being conducted through the community services office.

Other gifts totaling $1,015 were accepted by the board including $130 from the American Assn. of University Women, Plymouth branch, for the Jane K. Moehle scholarship and Mildred Levering loan fund; $150 from the SC Assn. of Office Personnel; $350 from the college's Women's Club; and $300 from the Western Suburban Women's Club all for the scholarship and loan fund.

In addition, the board accepted the donation of six

ONI Promotes 2, Adds 3 Positions

Taking steps considered necessary for the continued growth of the Observer Newspapers Inc., an announcement of two major promotions and the addition of three members to the organization to fill newly created positions was made Monday by Fred Levine, ONI director of operations.

Arthur Langer has been named job printing coordinator, and Robert Delany, who served as Langer's assistant, has been advanced to the post of classified advertising manager.

Mrs. Fran Gillis will continue her leadership as Delany's top aide in the capacity of classified advertising phonerom supervisor.

Philip Angel, of Livonia, has been added to the staff in the new position of creative services and copy department manager.

TWO ADDITIONS have been made in the production department where Larry Weigel, of Highland, Ill., becomes pressroom, mailroom and platemaking superintendent, and Paul Hart, from the Chicago Sun-Times, joins us as electronics maintenance technician.

"We believe we have strengthened the Observer Newspapers' operations with these moves," said Levine. "We are constantly looking for ways to improve our operations and finally gathered the type of personnel we needed to keep up with the fast pace of our industry."

"We are happy to make promotions from within our ranks to fill the two important positions and the three additions will enable the Observer Newspapers Inc. to do a better job in all phases of our operations than ever before."

LANGER, A graduate of Michigan State University and a native of New York City, joined the staff in 1966 as a classified advertising salesman. He became manager of that department in 1969 and recently was named chairman of the 1973 Michigan Press Association classified advertising clinic.

During his collegiate days, he served as advertising manager of the Michigan State News, the university student publication, for two years from 1962-1964.

He was honored with membership in Alpha Delta Sigma, a professional advertising fraternity, and was one of 35 selected for membership in the Blue Key, national honorary society in his senior year. He lives in Farmington and has a three-year-old daughter, Robin.

Langer's new assignment includes responsibility for the planning, scheduling and servicing of all job printing handled by ONI.

DELANY, A lifetime resident of Redford Township and Livonia, is a graduate of Bentley High School. He has been a Livonia resident for the past 15 years.

He joined the Observer group in 1967 as a classified advertising salesman, became assistant manager in 1969 and now is manager of the department.

Press Superintendent

He and his wife, Ruth, are the parents of two sons, Robby and Jeff.

Angel is a native of Wayne and a graduate of Lake Orion High School. He attended Henry Ford Community College, where he received an associate degree in architecture and designing.

He was employed by Jam Handy after graduation and then served two years in the U.S. Army. Since that time, he was associated with Wilding Co., R.J. Hunter Graphics and Spartan Stores of Grand Rapids. He came to ONI from Spartan Stores.

He and his wife, Carolyn, reside in Livonia and are the parents of two daughters, Cindy and Susan.

AS HEAD OF the newly formed creative services and copy department, Angel will have charge of the art department, all layout assignments, and of the advertising, dummyming and processing personnel.

Weigel, a native of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, graduated from high school there and immediately entered the newspaper field as a pressman for the Calgary Albertan and later the Calgary Herald.

He shifted activities to the Sacramento, Calif. Union and after five years moved to Highland, Ill. as press and plate room foreman for the midwest edition of the Wall Street Journal.

He accepted the position with ONI as a challenge and an upward step. He fills a need for a Metro Press superintendent which the Observer management has sought due to the huge increase in job printing operations.

Weigel and his wife Lorraine are the parents of four children, including two sons, Murray and Larry, and two daughters, Leanne and Lynda.

HART, A NATIVE of New Jersey where he was graduated from N. Burlington County regional high school, comes to ONI from the Chicago Sun-Times.

He attended the Electronic Training Center in Pennsylvania, N.J. and after graduation took a position with Digital Equipment for additional work with computers.

After 2½ years, Hart joined the Sun-Times where he was in charge of the installation of a new system for computerizing classified - retail advertising to the "cold type" method of production.

He will have similar responsibilities in his new position with ONI.

He and his wife, Judy, have moved from Wheeling, Ill. to their new residence in Plymouth.

A Birthplace Revisited

MRS. MARY MELOW, left, and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Gates return to the Gates homestead, now the home of The Observer Newspapers. They're standing in the woods right behind the newspaper office. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

Mrs. Mary Gates Melow of Plymouth celebrated her 91st birthday June 28 by returning to her birthplace.

She found it a bit changed. The log cabin where Mrs. Melow was born and the frame house where she and her brother, Harlan Gates of Livonia, grew up are gone, and in their place stand the modern offices of the Observer Newspapers.

But the woods where Mary and Harlan had played as children were still thick behind the building, and the brother and sister had a chance to go out behind the new building and feel once more the twigs snapping underfoot on the pathway.

HARLAN Gates and his wife, Martha, who live in Livonia just a short distance away from the old homestead, even walked back to the swamp area where he remembers a wintergreen patch.

"I didn't know what a busy place a newspaper office is," said Mrs. Melow, who climbed a couple of flights of stairs to see the Observer's huge presses rolling.

"It used to be a lot quieter here."

THE GATES HOMESTEAD at Schoolcraft and Levan was farmed by Godfrey Gates and his wife, Mary, for many years.

Both had come from Germany with their parents as young children, and their families had settled in the part of Wayne County that is now Livonia.

After their marriage in the 1870s, they took over 15 acres and first built a log cabin close to the road that now is Levan.

That structure was torn down and the frame house built shortly before Harlan's birth in 1892. The house stood back from the road, just in front of the woods.

"Probably about where the parking lot is," said Mr. Gates. The house was torn down sometime in the last couple of decades as the property changed hands several times.

"But now the old snow apple tree's gone too," he added. "It was still here the last time I came around."

Mrs. Margaret Halava, assistant to Publisher Philip H. Power, explained that was one of the trees the company had tried hard to save, but it was impossible because of its location.

LIFE IN THE GATES house by the woods was busy, if quiet, Mrs. Melow remembers.

The family had a few cattle, a horse and some pigs, as well as a garden with food for the family and animals.

Mary and Harlan walked two miles to the old Newburg schoolhouse, still standing behind the newer structure on the hill at Newburgh and Ann Arbor Roads. When she came home from school, there usually was butter to churn.

Mary was married in 1902 to Charles Melow, also a native of these parts.

A few months after the ceremony, they went to live in a home on Haggerty just off Schoolcraft in Plymouth township, and Mrs. Melow has been there ever since. Mr. Melow died a year ago.

His widow remains in the old home, still taking care of a lot of housework. Her daughter, Helen, now Mrs. Claude Eckles of Plymouth, comes from her home less than a mile away to help.

THE ECKLES came to the Observer office for the birthday tour with Mrs. Melow and the Harmons. So did longtime friends, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fillmore of Plymouth.

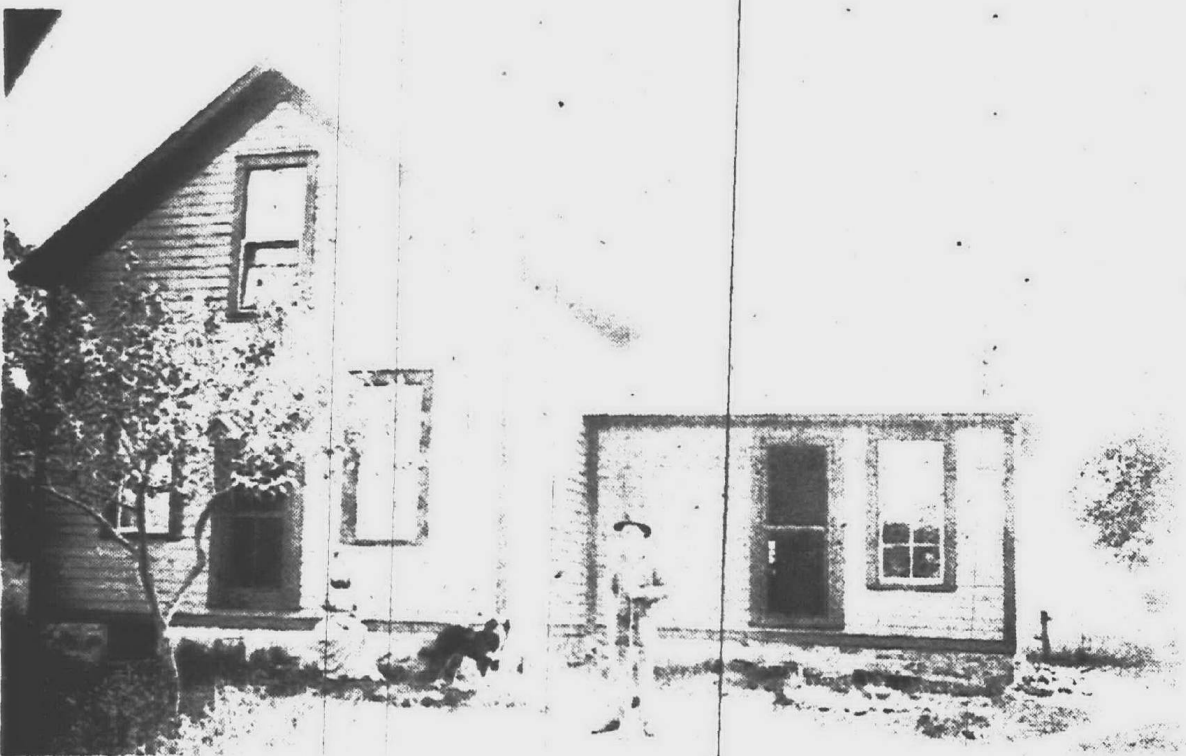

They all enjoyed a meal in the newspaper's cafeteria, saw the various departments in action. Mrs. Melow also sat down for a minute behind the wide desk of vacationing publisher Power.

The birthday lady was still going strong at the end of the tour. "It's certainly a lot different here," she said.

MRS. MELOW tried the telephone in the office of Publisher Philip H. Power and chatted with his assistant, Mrs. Margaret Halava. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

The Lady Likes Politics

By MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

After several years in the political arena, Mrs. Ann Perez, of Westland, leaves this weekend for Miami Beach and her first national convention.

And if she's typical of the women Democrats who are delegates and alternates, convention proceedings will have to pay more attention to some of the party's major elements—women and youth.

"The party is beginning to open up," said Mrs. Perez, wife of a trucking executive, mother of two daughters, political activist, George McGovern supporter and alternate from Michigan's 15th district.

"The Michigan Democratic party has bent over backwards as far as the Wallace people are concerned. They have their delegates and they should; they got the votes."

"Now if we can just get the proper representation for women..."

MRS. PEREZ, alternate for Arnie Keller, of Taylor, is planning to be on the convention floor when issues of particular interest to women come up, and she's been assured that alternates will have a voice in the caucuses.

"We vote pretty much the same on issues anyway," she said. "and I know I'll have no trouble getting my turn on the floor. Most of the men in McGovern's camp see the need for women's participation."

Ann Perez, an opponent of the Vietnam involvement from the beginning, found herself moving into politics through the peace movement.

"I've worked on issues," she said. "Besides the peace movement, I've worked for abortion reform, the grape and lettuce boycotts—and I really love lettuce—and now I'm circulating petitions for BEST, the group working for a graduated income tax."

WORKING for Eugene McCarthy in 1968, she served as a precinct delegate that year and has served on the executive boards of the 15th Congressional district and the Westland Democratic party.

"I've also worked for Mayor Gene McKinney," Mrs. Perez said, "but I'm going to have to take a swipe at him soon. He should have more women in his administration—I'm tired of tokenism."

She pointed that there are a couple of women in such posts as historical commission members, "but they should be on the planning commission and the zoning board."

"It's the women who spend more time in the community and know what people want. They're more honest—not so easy to persuade. We have talented and capable women in the city, and we should be using them."

A MEMBER of the National Organization of Women and the Democratic Women's Caucus, Mrs. Perez even has fought a lib battle on the home front.

Daughter Lisa wanted to run for sixth grade class president, Mrs. Perez said, and the teacher suggested that only boys should run. "I talked to her teacher," her mother said, "and she said she didn't want her to be hurt. I told her to let my daughter decide that."

The upshot was that Lisa ran—and lost.

As a woman's lib advocate, Ann Perez is more than a little miffed that the Michigan Democratic delegates are to be billeted in the Playboy club in Miami.

"I guess I'll stay there, but I don't like it," she said. "At least the Michigan party has apologized to the women delegates for the decision."

HOW DOES SHE THINK the convention will decide?

"I think McGovern is going to get it," she said, "because it's the first time the party has opened itself up. If he doesn't, it will alienate a lot of people, and I hope the party isn't bent on a suicide course."

The current delegate fight, she said, indicates "Humpty-dump is grasping at straws, but he had his chance in 1968. I supported him then, but I won't this time," she added.

Ann Perez also expressed admiration for Shirley Chisholm, who she considers "very articulate, intelligent, a human dynamo and humane too."

And when does she figure such a woman candidate might be seriously considered for top office?

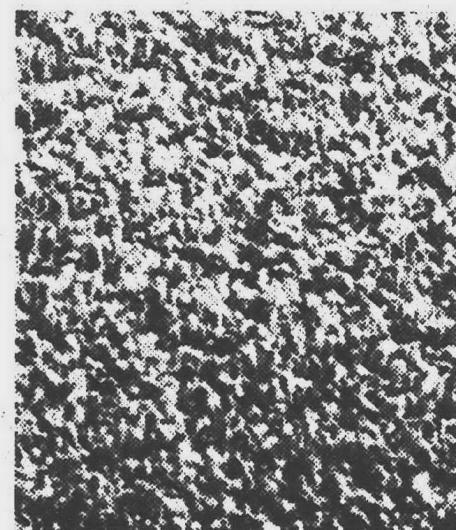

"Well, I'm grooming my daughters," she said, "but I hope it doesn't take that long."

Traveling Nurse Receives New Honor From School

A Farmington nurse who has circled the globe and visited scores of countries on behalf of her profession is the 1972 winner of one of the Providence Hospital School of Nursing's highest awards.

Mrs. Philip J. McHugh is the first nurse to win the school's Professional Service Award, given annually in recognition of meritorious contributions to nursing.

It was presented during the June 25 Providence Hospital School of Nursing commencement program in Southfield.

MARY ANITA McHUGH, a Providence graduate, is vice president for the United States and Canada of the International Council of Catholic Nurses, and her most recent trip in that capacity was to the international conference in Madrid this spring. At that time she also toured western Europe as a representative of her profession.

Earlier trips have taken her to England and Europe in 1966, to Montreal in 1968, and to Manila and around the world in 1970, when she was elected to the council vice-presidency. She'll go to Rome for the 1974 conference.

Mrs. McHugh, mother of four, has served as a U.S. Army staff nurse and done surgical and industrial nursing. She now works as an industrial nurse on a vacation-relief basis for J.L. Hudson, General Motors Corp. and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co.

She also has done volunteer work for the Gesu School Health program, the Family Life bureau of the Detroit Archdiocese and the American Red Cross.

SHE HAS SERVED as president of the Providence Hospital Nurses Alumnae, the Detroit and national Councils of Catholic Nurses, the Immaculate High School Mothers' Guild, the Catholic Central Mothers' Club, and St. Anne Society of Gesu Church.

In addition, she has been an active board member of the Michigan United Foundation, the University of Detroit Women's Guild, the Christ Child Society, the Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women, the Little Sisters of the Poor Auxiliary and the Junior Great Books Leaders' Association.

Mrs. McHugh and her husband, Philip, who owns a plumbing business, moved from Detroit to Farmington last spring, just in time to get settled before she took off for Spain.

They have four children. Mrs. Mary Williams is a psychiatric nurse in Chicago. Maureen is a Western Michigan University graduate and a teacher. Suzanne is to study occupational therapy at Eastern Michigan University and Tom will be a pre-med student at Michigan State this fall.

DURING EIGHT YEARS as

board member and president of the National Council of Catholic Nurses, Mrs. McHugh traveled over most of the country speaking at conferences and local meetings.

"A lot of this speaking is essentially recruiting," she said, "and I try to emphasize the dividends of nursing as well as the service you can give, and the fact that once trained in nursing you have a profession for life." Mrs. McHugh said her family "definitely pitches in" so she can go traveling for her profession, but one small item in her list of accomplishments proves she doesn't neglect home-making.

In 1966, she was a semi-finalist in the Mrs. Michigan competition, but had to withdraw for emergency surgery.

20 Local Nurses Are Graduates

Twenty Observerland women were among 112 graduates of the Providence Hospital School of Nursing commencement exercises June 25 in the Northland Theater, Southfield.

Patricia A. Westmark of Redford Township was specially honored for medical-surgical nursing.

Local women were included both among the 80 graduates of the regular two-year nursing program and the 32 participants in an accelerated course for licensed practical nurses who study for one year to become registered nurses.

Besides Miss Westmark, whose home is at 20126 Centralia, the two-year program graduates included Mrs. Margaret Bigelow, 2757 Ackley, Westland; Mrs. Jennifer Botsford, 30049 Mullane, Farmington; Mrs. Joyce Engel, 31437 Hennipin, Garden City; and Janice Gaskey, 9624 Rockland, Redford Township.

Others were Judith Hack, 18200 Adrian, Southfield; Linda Hobbs, 29626 Middle Belt, Farmington; Joan Knighton, 27486 Lathrup, Lathrup Village and Mrs. Diane Larkins, 38754 Northfield, Livonia.

Also in the class were Suzanne Lewis, 14138 Farley, Redford Township; Roberta Longtine, 33745 Stocker, Farmington; Mrs. Lorelei Masserang, 36754 Lansbury Lane, Farmington; and Paula Smith, 30785 Maple Lane, Southfield.

Completing the list were Phyllis Virgin, 29926 Miron, Farmington; Mrs. Janet Waymaster, 28040 Everett, Southfield and Jane Young, 17531 Revers, Southfield.

In the advanced standing nursing students accelerated program, the local graduates were Joan L. Beck, 31809 Shiawassee, Westland; Mrs. Nancy J. Duckwitz, 12820

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Stefanko of Southfield announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Aleta Mae, to Richard William Bame Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bame Sr., of Farmington. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Southfield High School, and her fiancé graduated in 1971 from Clarenceville High School. They plan an October wedding.

Mercy Center Chapel in Farmington was the scene of the marriage Friday evening, June 16, of Lynn Marie Sugrue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sugrue of Kiltarton Road, Farmington, and David C. Lozon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Lozon of Alpena.

The Rev. Thomas Finnigan, pastor of Presentation Church in Detroit and a long-time friend of the family, performed the double-ring ceremony. The Rev. Timothy Dombrowski was commentator and Patrick Sugrue was the altar boy.

MRS. DAVID LOZON (Lynn Sugrue)

THE BRIDE wore a Victorian style gown of white silk organza fashioned with wide-cuffed bishop sleeves and a chantilly lace bodice, panel and train, edged with Venice lace. A lace Camelot headpiece held her three-tier silk illusion fingertip veil. She carried a cascade of white carnations and baby's breath.

Karen Mifsud was maid of honor, and Toni Ausum, Debbie Cortes and Mrs. Claudia Clancy were the bridesmaids. All wore pink dotted swiss dresses and carried bouquets of pink carnations, white daisies and blue statice.

WILLIAM LOZON, the bridegroom's brother, was best man, and Mark Clancy, John Cauzillo and Dennis Sugrue were the ushers.

Sugrue sang and accompanied himself on the guitar in the bridal couple's favorite hymn "Peace My Friends" during the communion.

The bride's identical twin brothers, Frank II and Michael, were the ringbearers.

A dinner and reception followed the ceremony. The bride's mother wore a pink chiffon gown and the bridegroom's mother chose a blue lace gown.

The newlyweds will reside in Detroit following a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

in an old-fashioned arrangement.

Five attendants wore gowns they made of a Hawaiian screen print with pinks and purples predominating. Their bouquets were in harmonizing colors and they wore large straw garden hats trimmed with long satin streamers.

Connie Warner of Livonia was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Kristine Bargovan of Westland, the bride's sister, Suzanne Dieball of Detroit, her cousin, and Diane Greene of Livonia, the bridegroom's sister. A younger sister, Carol Greene, was junior bridesmaid.

brother, was junior usher.

Both mothers wore floor-length polyester gowns for the wedding and reception for 200 guests in St. Paul Fellowship Hall. Mrs. Traub was in light blue and Mrs. Greene in yellow.

THE COUPLE drove through Canada by way of Montreal and Quebec on the way to Fort Loring, where the bridegroom is training as a fireman with the Air Force. They plan to live in Livonia after his four-year enlistment is completed.

The new Mrs. Greene is a Bentley High School graduate and has an associate degree in art from Schoolcraft College. She also attended Eastern Michigan University and was employed in the advertising department of the Observer Newspapers.

Her husband, a Stevenson High School graduate, was employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. until he enlisted in the Air Force last January.

THE PRESIDENT SIGNED the bill with the busing moratorium, which delays any implementation of court-ordered busing plans until all legal appeals have either been exhausted or times for appeals expired.

A deadline of Jan. 1, 1974 has been set for the expiration of the moratorium proposed by Oakland County Congressman William Broomfield.

Ford's letter was dated June 12, two days before Federal Judge Stephen Roth ordered a cross-district busing plan for Detroit and 52 suburban school districts.

Area Juvenile Home Proposed

A new Juvenile Court and detention facility in Westland, plus replacement of the present Juvenile Court building and expansion of the existing youth home in Detroit, are recommended in the report of a year-long study.

The report was presented last week to an advisory committee established by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Three consulting firms worked with county personnel in conducting the study.

The report estimates the total cost of construction at $26 million. It recommends that construction begin by 1975 and be completed by 1980.

THE PRESENT youth home, located in Detroit on E. Forest at the Chrysler Freeway, would be expanded from its present capacity of 215 juveniles to 325.

A new detention facility for 110 children would be built in Westland.

A 75-acre site on land already owned by the county is recommended for the Westland facilities. The site is located south of Michigan Ave. between Henry Ruff and Merriman roads across Michigan from Wayne County General Hospital.

The study was conducted by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., management consultants, and the architectural firms of Howard Sims & Associates and Smith, Hinchman & Grylls Associates.

Work of the consultants was financed out of an $88,500 grant of federal omnibus crime control funds. In addition, the county contributed $10,504 in cash and $49,906 in staff services.

IN RECOMMENDING the Westland facilities, the report states:

"The out-county area by 1980 will be larger in juvenile and total population than the Detroit area."

The report defines the Detroit area as including the City of Detroit, plus Hamtramck, Highland Park, Harper Woods and the Grosse Pointes.

In recommending that the present Juvenile Court building, which opened in 1929, be razed and replaced by a new structure, the report states that the building "is incompatible with contemporary office building standards and concepts" and would be as costly to renovate as it would be to construct a new building.

The existing youth home, which adjoins the court building, would be retained and expanded. The youth home was opened in 1960. The adjoining Clinic for Child Study, also a modern building, would also be retained.

New construction at the Detroit site would also include a new seven-story detention element, a two-story swimming and gymnasium facility, new outdoor recreation facilities, and a parking deck. A large walled yard now exists for outdoor recreation.

"FACILITIES planned for the out-county area are similar to those planned for the Detroit area with the exception of smaller court, administration and support staff facilities," the report states. It recommends single-level construction because adequate land is available.

Both detention homes would have "open" accommodations which would approximate a home residential environment for non-dangerous youngsters, as well as "secured" beds in cell-like rooms for the potentially dangerous.

If fully implemented, the recommendations would increase the annual operating cost of Juvenile Court and the Youth Home from its present $10.5 million to $17.1 million in 1972 dollars, according to the report.

Among the operating recommendations is one that the current caseload of 100 per caseworker (probation officer) be reduced to 70 by addition of caseworkers.

CO-CHAIRMEN of the advisory committee are County Commissioner John Lesinski, of Dearborn, and Juvenile Court Judge James H. Lincoln.

Lesinski said additional millage would have to be approved by the voters in order to implement the recommendations.

The Board of Commissioners already has voted to place a half-mill (50 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation) capital improvements proposal on the November election ballot.

The commissioners voted to place the half-mill on the ballot after a three-judge Circuit Court panel virtually mandated that additional jail facilities be constructed. Consultants have recommended that a total of $40 million worth of jail facilities be built by 1980.

"I believe that if we ask the voters to approve one mill instead of a half mill, for a five-year period, we would raise about $65 million, enough to build both jail and juvenile facilities," Lesinski said.

Judge Lincoln said he "wholeheartedly" supported the consultants' recommendations for the new juvenile facilities, describing them as "long overdue."

The last county construction program was financed by a 1/4 mill (75 cents per $1,000 equalized valuation) approved by the voters for a 10-year period in 1955. That levy paid for the present youth home, the new Wayne County General Hospital Building, a shelter for neglected children, the jail annex and a $40 million water plant which was later sold to the City of Detroit as part of the metropolitan water supply system.

'No School Busing,' Congressman Vows

Local residents were told by their congressman, William Ford (D-Taylor), that cross-district busing will never take place in the metropolitan Detroit area.

In a two-page letter sent out to his constituents, Ford said that if President Nixon signed a bill containing a busing moratorium, "we will never see cross-district busing or court-ordered school district mergers in Michigan or any other metropolitan area such as that surrounding Detroit."

THE PRESIDENT signed the bill with the busing moratorium, which delays any implementation of court-ordered busing plans until all legal appeals have either been exhausted or times for appeals expired.

A deadline of Jan. 1, 1974 has been set for the expiration of the moratorium proposed by Oakland County Congressman William Broomfield.

Ford's letter was dated June 12, two days before Federal Judge Stephen Roth ordered a cross-district busing plan for Detroit and 52 suburban school districts.

Hearing Tests Set

Hearing tests will be available to pre-school children this summer at the Wayne County Health Center on Merriman Road, 1/4 mile north of Michigan Ave.

Hearing tests are highly recommended for pre-school children. About five per cent of all pre-school children tested are found to have a medically significant hearing loss. Problems in school and language development can often be avoided by early detection and corrective measures.

Children age 2 1/2 to 5 years may be brought to room 249 at the Health Center for a free hearing test between 8:30 and 11 a.m. and 1 and 4 p.m. This service is available now until Sept. 15. No appointment is necessary.

Here's A Democratic Party

By ELLY
Convention time, and here's a whole dinner to get you into the mood, one dish from each of the Democratic candidate's home state. Of course, if you really want to get into the political spirit and make it a bi-partisan affair, how about sipping some California wine.

ALABAMA OKRA SOUP
2 lbs. lean, raw chuck beef, diced
1/4 lb. butter or margarine
12 large tomatoes, peeled, diced
1 1/2 lbs. fresh or frozen okra, cut into thin slices, crosswise boiling water
2 c. cooked Lima beans
1 lb. boiled, cured ham, diced
Salt and pepper to taste
Toasted croutons or bread cut into small squares.

In deep kettle, brown meat in butter. Add tomatoes and okra. Cover with boiling water and simmer, covered, over medium heat for one hour. Then add four cups boiling water. Bring to boiling point. Lower heat and simmer, covered, stirring frequently. Skim soup as it boils. Cook until okra and tomatoes are soft. Add the cooked Lima beans and diced ham. Season with salt and pepper. Serve in plates with croutons floating on top. Makes eight to ten servings.

SOUTH DAKOTA CHEYENNE RIVER BEAN SALAD
3 c. leftover boiled beans
4 green onions
1/2 green pepper, diced
1/2 cucumber, diced
1/2 c. salad dressing
1 t. Worcestershire
Dash of cayenne
Shredded cabbage
2 slices crisp bacon, crumbled

Mix all ingredients except cabbage and bacon. Refrigerate one hour. Serve on shredded cabbage and garnish with bacon bits. Makes four servings.

MINNESOTA WILD RICE CASSEROLE
1 c. wild rice
1/4 c. butter
3 T. chopped onion
3 T. chopped green pepper
1/3 c. slivered blanched almonds
3 c. hot chicken broth

Wash rice and drain well. Melt butter in skillet; add onion, green pepper, rice and almonds. Sauté over low heat, stirring constantly, until rice begins to turn light yellow. Turn into a casserole; add hot chicken broth. Cover and bake in preheated oven (325 degrees) for 1 1/2 hours or until rice is tender and all liquid is absorbed. Makes four servings.

NEW YORK ROAST LONG ISLAND DUCKLING

Allow one large or two small ducklings for four servings. Wash and dry ducks. Rub well with cut onion, salt and pepper. Sprinkle with crumbled rosemary inside and out. Put one-half orange in each cavity. Place ducks, breast side up, on a rack in open roasting pan. Roast in preheated oven (325 degrees) allowing about 1 1/4 hours for small ducks and 2 to 2 1/4 hours for large duck. Drain drippings from pan every 30 minutes to get duckling crisp on all sides. Cut into halves or quarters for serving. Makes four servings.

MAINE BLUEBERRY BETTY
6 T. butter or margarine
2 c. 1/2-inch white bread cubes
2 c. blueberries
4 t. fresh lemon juice
1/4 c. firmly packed dark brown sugar
Whipped cream

Melt butter and mix with bread. Put one-third of bread in baking dish and top with one cup berries. Sprinkle with half the lemon juice and half the brown sugar. Repeat, ending with bread. Bake in preheated oven (350 degrees) for 20 minutes. Top with whipped cream. Makes four servings.

Salad Time

Summer time, when the livin' is easy, is the best time to swing the family diet to fresh fruits and vegetables—at least it is the cheapest time. Lots of salads and little saturated fat and cholesterol is the answer to a diet that will help keep the hearts of adults and children healthy, says the Michigan Heart Association, a Michigan United Fund agency.

TRY OUT A FORD AT VOLKSWAGEN

Try out any of the cars people trade in for new VWs. We get all kinds but we don't sell them again just like that. We check them out first. Give them the 16-point inspection. Fix whatever needed fixing. Then guarantee the repair or replacement of every major working part* 100% for 30 days or 1,000 miles. Whichever comes first. Incidentally, the guarantee comes with all our used cars. Even Volkswagens.

3 New State Reps. Due For Area After Remap

An Observer Roundup

Due to reapportionment and retirements, there are no incumbents in three of the eight House districts in Observerland.

The 33rd, 35th and 36th districts are open fields for those candidates who filed for the election.

State Rep. James Tierney (D-Garden City) has represented what is now the 33rd district, including Garden City, for eight years but was forced into retirement because of ill health at the end of this year.

HIS DISTRICT was trimmed under the new apportionment plan and now encompasses Garden City and Inkster. Filing for the Democratic race was Kay Beard of Inkster, William Keith of Garden City and Mary Markowicz of Garden City.

Republican Dorman Smith of Garden City is unopposed for the nomination.

The 36th district was redrawn under reapportionment forming a district without an incumbent. It is composed of northern Westland and south western Livonia.

Filing for that race are Democrats Benjamin DeHart of Westland, Councilman John Markes of Westland, James McCartney of Westland (a Wayne County commissioner) and Robert J. Wright of Livonia. The Republicans are Ralph Miller of Westland and Patrice Roy of Livonia.

IN THE 35TH District State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) decided to make a bid for the 2nd Congressional district seat.

Jerome Harris and Marie E. Miller, both of Livonia, filed for the Democratic race. Schoolcraft trustee R. Robert Geake of Northville and George Kettunen of Livonia will face each other in the Republican primary.

The 35th district includes northern and eastern Livonia as well as Northville.

INCUMBENTS HAVE filed in the remaining five districts. In the 34th district, including Redford Township, incumbent Rep. John Bennett will be opposed by Eldon Van Steenis for the Democratic nomination. Republican Cornelius J. Clifford of Redford is unchallenged in August.

Incumbent Thomas Brown (D-Westland) has three competitors for the Democratic nomination for the 37th District which includes Westland and Canton Township.

Michael Bushta of Plymouth, Manuel Lentine Jr. of Wayne and former Rep. Vincent Petitprin of Westland will challenge Brown. Republican Jack A. Underwood of Westland is unopposed in his primary.

REP. RAYMOND Smit (R-Ann Arbor) will run against Douglas Smith of Ann Arbor for the Republican nomination in the 52nd district. The district includes Plymouth City and Township and extends westward into Ann Arbor.

Robert Dwyer is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In Oakland County, Rep. Joseph Forbes (D-Oak Park) is seeking reelection to his 67th district which includes eastern Southfield and Lathrup Village. He is unopposed for the Democratic nomination as is Harry Kirsh of Oak Park for the Republican nomination.

Also seeking another House term is Rep. Raymond Baker (R-Farmington) who is unopposed in the primary. Baker's 64th district includes Farmington City and Township and western Southfield.

John Campbell and Robert Leach, both of Farmington, are seeking the Democratic nomination for the 64th.

CHILDREN UNLIMITED, a non-profit organization which aids blind children, recently was commended by Plymouth State Home and Training School for the funds it has given the home. The group has donated more than $12,000 to PSH as well as toys and clothing. Accepting a certificate for the group are (from left) Rose Schechter and Evelyn Columbus of Southfield. Dr. Nancy Bryant (center, right), program director, and Mrs. Mary McGhee, program supervisor, are putting the latest donation toward carpeting and educational toys for the blind retarded children. Funds OK'd For Maybury

A bill containing $378,000 in recreational funds for the new Maybury State Park in Northville received final legislative approval.

State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) said Gov. Milliken is expected to sign the recreation fund capital outlay bill. The money comes from a state recreation bond issue approved by voters in 1968.

SC Space Problem Solved

Schoolcraft College's crying need for more space has become a whimper in light of recent adjustments.

In recent months the college's eight trustees have delayed action on any plans that would take money from their building and site fund in order to preserve more money for emergency classroom space.

But enrollment estimates have been revised downward and class schedules have been revamped to accommodate new students.

PRESIDENT C. Nelson Grote said the college will be able to accommodate the approximately 100 new fulltime equated students without more facilities because of three adjustments. The total number of expected credit hours for this coming year was revised from 127,000 to 123,000 in light of a common trend decreasing college enrollments.

The trend is attributed to lack of pressure from the draft, lack of jobs, and declining emphasis on a college degree.

Dr. Grote said they have scheduled classes into unpopular times to accommodate the need and will also take some classes off campus. schedule and though it is awkward and inconvenient for everyone, we are able to absorb more students on campus," he said.

The unpopular class times are in the early morning and late afternoon, primarily because many students work. More evening classes will also be offered, he said.

PROVISIONS ARE being made to have some classes offered in Garden City, he said though details are not immediately available. The college will also rent outside space to accommodate the occupational therapy classes.

Those classes were housed in Northville State Hospital but the college was notified this spring that the hospital will need that space beginning in the fall.

Early in the spring, the trustees were on the verge of allocating $150,000 to build temporary classrooms and faculty offices. The trustees then argued that the cost was high for the limited classroom space they would gain.

The plans were for two three-classroom buildings and one faculty office building with 12 offices with two persons in each office.

At that time the trustees refused to allocate building and site money for outdoor recreational facilities and for a master landscape plan for the college. They argued that the money could be better spent for permanent classroom space.

At the board's regular June meeting, trustees heard a report on permanent facilities for the 1973-74 school year.

Gene Ralls of the architectural firm Ralls-Hamill-Becker said the firm would study the buildings on campus and determine which one could best accommodate an addition.

The sudden shift in emphasis from the fall of 1972 to the 1973-74 school year was explained by Dr. Grote after the meeting.
