SS Benefit Hike Worth $373 Million

Social Security benefit payments to residents of Michigan will be increased by a total of $373 million in calendar year 1973 as a result of the 20 per cent benefit increase passed by Congress and signed into law by President Nixon on July 1, said Sam F. Test. district manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office.

In 1973, the first full calendar year during which the higher benefits will be payable, the 1,129,000 social security beneficiaries in Michigan will receive a total of over $2 billion in benefits, compared to the estimated $1.8 billion they would have been paid if the 20 per cent increase had not been enacted.

The first checks to include the 20 per cent increase will reach beneficiaries in the Detroit area on Oct. 3, the regular date for the delivery of checks covering benefits for September - the month for which the increase if effective. Test said that beneficiaries need not take any action because the increase will come to them automatically.

FINDING MAYOR McKEON'S name in the ultimately the natives who sit on their acre estates official minutes of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission's July meeting, which related how his plea on behalf of a real estate client for rezoning of a particular piece of township property had been denied unanimously, demonstrates what is happening politically hereabouts.

One word is going to be at the heart of more fights than you can count in the next few years in Greater Plymouth, and that word is "zoning." In the next breath you can mention the word "developers," and when you do that, you have touched the core of the township's recent GOP primary upset.

Recall, if you will, the statement by J.D. McLaren after he had taken the Republican nomination for township supervisor away from incumbent Maurice Breen. He immediately identified "the influx of developers" as being his top concern, and you can read volumes into that fact as it pertains to future township policy -- particularly from Sheldon Road westward.

The third man in that race, Bill Augustine, also was emphatic in his stand to maintain pastoral bliss in the west, and together McLaren and Augustine outpolled Breen, 990 to 628.

Granted that Maurie might have overcome McLaren's personal 50-vote victory margin if he had been able to get his Lake Pointe constituency out to vote. However, there's still another factor that makes one pause. What effect did it have in stirring up the land owners in the west when they saw such developers as Ralph Draper and Bud Gould, their own neighbors, openly endorsing and campaigning for Breen? Quite some, you can bet.

IT'S INTERESTING to take a drive of just a few minutes out Territorial, Ann Arbor Trail and Ann Arbor Road, plus the cross-cuts that connect them, and look at the building that is going on.

The home construction that is under way -including an expansion of exclusive Beacon Hill where McLaren and Gould are neighbors - is amazing. This is what is meant locally by developers -- massive housing tracts, albeit expensive, that are the product of "big money," not the little guy who stumbled into a single lot in the country and decided that was the place to plant his family.

Option after option also is held on similar chunks of land farther out, and the natives not only are restless, they are downright provoked. Reading of the area's population explosion and of Detroiters' flight to the suburbs is one think; finding that it involves the land next door to their own homesteads is something Norman Cosmetic firm, was

Unless there is an inconceivable ballot box surprise in November's township election, an era of ultra-conservatism is in store here on the issue of land development. Court battles may well ensue, and may have to give way. But mind you, it won't be new building at 454 S. Harvey, elementary schools on a School; Sept. 26 in Miller Farrand; May 14 in PCHS; without a fight.

TOWNSHIP ZONING quarrels are as predominant in the east as the west, much of it concerning land along main highways where strip commercial and/or multiple dwelling proposals have created a continuing planning commission headache.

Invariably the families from neighboring residential neighborhoods get up in arms. Just as invariably they argue that having bought their homes because the area was zoned for single family dwellings, by golly they're not going to stand for it to be changed

That's akin to the situation the mayor got into. Now engaged in real estate, he went before the township planners and said he had a buyer for 1.59 acres on the north side of Schoolcraft between Robinwood and Huntington. However, the sale would be contingent upon rezoning from a single family to multiple residential designation.

The proposed use would consist of one building with 16 one-bedroom units.

McKEON ARGUED that this would be a good buffer between the freeway and the residential area, which brought a hue and cry from neighboring Lake Pointe residents who feel perimeter property is being overly spot-zoned already.

Included among the homeowners who spoke was Breen, appearing as a private citizen. The minutes indicate he and the mayor got into a pretty good tiff, with McKeon declaring he "would not react to an emotional charge" when he was challenged on a claim that "places up for sale now are a direct result of the freeway."

Anyway, the rezoning application was denied unanimously "because it would be incompatible with the Comprehensive Development Plan, constitute spot zoning, tend to encourage strip zoning and would be out of character with the adjacent residential

Proposed Tax Levy Is 33 Mills

PLYMOUTH Plymouth School District property owners can expect to pay a 1972-73 school tax rate of $33 per $1,000 in assessed valuation, an increase of 45 cents over last year's rate.

Although the board of education will not act finally on the matter until its next meeting, it was agreed Monday night to recommend a levy of 27.05 mills for operations ($27.05) and 5.95 mills for debt retirement

The operating levy is the maximum allowable and includes the five mill renewal approved by voters in June.

Last year the district levied 26.3 mills of the 27.05 available and this time is going to the full limit after two proposals for added millage were defeated at the polls. The debt levy has been reduced from 6.25 mills to 5.95 -- a saving of 30 cents per $1,000 - to offset partially the 75-cent increase in the operating tax rate.

OSH SAKES!

TURES The proven road to sales success!

Fact: over 94% of everybody uses the Yellow Pages. 70% of those make calls to firms while 30% go directly to the advertiser without calling. Smart businessmen know the Yellow Pages reaches customers, produces sales!

That's why they've found it pays to feature addresses and slogans prominently in their ads . . . to use display ads to stress reliability and to let buyers know the range and variety of brand name products sold and serviced. They also include days and hours open, if delivery service is available, what credit cards they'll accept. And they're represented under all headings pertaining to their business.

kept close check on what the ads were doing for us. Based on our survey, we determined about 50% of our calls came from the Yellow Pages.

MOTORCYCLES—Detroit Honda Stores, Chalmers, Detroit-Mr. Gil Engles

Yellow Pages advertising motivates a person who is ready to buy to call us or come in and see us, and buy from us rather than another dealer. Because of our locations on Detroit's east side, and in northwest Detroit, Warren and Romulus, we advertise in the Detroit Yellow Pages, all six of the metropolitan directories and the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti Yellow Pages. Our phones ring constantly and I must credit this primarily to our Yellow Pages program.

CONTRACTORS-GENERAL-Nick Manzella & Daughter Improvement Co., S. Mill, Pontiac-Mr. Nick Manzella

"I've always made a point of finding out where my customers come from and how they found me. Since I changed locations early in 1970, between 70 and 80% of my business has come from the Yellow Pages."

LUMBER-RETAIL-Tela-Warren Hardware & Lumber Co., N. Telegraph Rd., Dearborn-Mr. Leonard Zucker

"Two-thirds of my advertising budget goes into the Yellow Pages. And my business increased 27% during 1971! Most of that increase can be directly attributed to increasing the sizes and placements of ads in the Yellow Pages."

HALLS & AMPHITHEATRES-Camoron Hall, S. Telegraph Rd., Taylor-Mr. William J. Campbell

"I placed an ad in the West and Downriver directories and, within a few. months after they were out, my date book was filled for the remainder of the year. Business hasn't let up since. I started asking every customer how he or she happened to find us and knew I had made a wise move when 90% of the people said they found us in the Yellow Pages.

DOORS-Doors Galore Inc., Schoenherr, Warren-Mrs. Bernice

"Since we've placed display ads in the East Area, North Woodward Area and Detroit Yellow Pages, about one-third of all our new business can be traced directly to the Yellow Pages."

TOWING-AUTOMOTIVE-Shelton Towing Service, Marion, Redford-Mr. J. C. Shelton

"The first year I advertised in the Yellow Pages my business doubled as a result of my ad! No other advertising has ever performed for me like the Yellow Pages.

"ground covered with grass According to Webster, and not tilled" and last of all after week do you feel like a "lawn" comes from the old "ground kept closely mown, slave tied to the turf? As you Middle English word "laund" especially in front of or about trim and edge and battle the which meant heath or moor or a house or as a part of a crab grass does that lovely an open, clear space. The old garden, park, or the like." The idea of an ornamental specifically barren lowlands buildings is of relatively Or, if you are the proud bordering on the sea. The recent origin. The earliest gardens that we have knowledge of were walled patio enclosures with a paved bed for plants. No lawn or grass to be cut. These earliest gardens were in the countries bordering the Mediterranean

There is little evidence that there were lawns in classical Greece or Rome either. There were groves of trees around temples, and there were courtyard gardens that the houses enclosed. But, again, no grass.

LATER, when the art of landscaping reached France and England and other northern countries, lawns became a part of the garden scene. Until well past Elizabethan times gardens were stiff geometric enclosures, but beyond the enclosing walls spread the rolling meadows of the English country-side. These were grazed by sheep and cattle who did an admirable job of keeping the grass cropped - the first lawn mowers.

Eventually the walls came down and the lawn came closer until it lapped the base of the house. By the beginning of the 18th century England had entered on a great era of lawn making. A style was set that spread around the world. Even in the Orient it became the vogue to make English style gardens with sweeping

The colonists brought the fashion to America - and the trend continues, even though our climate is not any where near as favorable to growing lawns as is the cool damp English climate.

Lawns have really come into their own in this country since the rise of suburbia. Each suburbanite tends his lawn on a mini-estate that is a direct descendant of the vast grounds surrounding the great English country houses of the 18th century. So, as you push REG that mower around, it may be a comfort to know that your patch of greensward, large or small, is a period piece that is part of a great garden heritage.

Many of us strive for perfection, seeking to make the lawn a flawless work of art. Others are content with a turf that is relatively smooth and presentable but that falls far short of perfection. Undoubtedly the latter kind of lawn is easier to maintain and is adequate for most situations and uses. It certainly is easier on the eco-system as well as on the gardener.

THE PERFECT lawn requires close and frequent mowing, heavy weeding, lots of deep watering, prompt removal of invading weeds, and constant surveillance for fungus diseases. When such a lawn was being built the ground had to be carefully graded and all slopes shaped and contoured into beautiful long gentle curves. The soil had to be deeply prepared and enriched so it was spongy but well drained and loaded with nutrients.

Even if all you are aiming for is the "good enough" lawn, it still should be built with care. It makes lawn keeping easier in the long run if the ground is well graded and well prepared and relatively free of weeds before the grass seed is sown or the sod laid.

When building a new lawn first remove the top soil and stock pile it for later use. Then grade so water drains away from the house, making sure there are no low spots in which water will collect, or high spots that will get scalped by

Till the soil so it is broken up to a depth of a foot. It saves the back to rent a roto-tiller for this job. Spread a layer of organic material a few inches thick on the soil and mix it in. You can use compost or peat moss. Manure is excellent, but it is generally full of weed seeds that cause problems later. Finally spread on a layer of top soil a few inches

The Centurions Are Too Ideal

By KATHY MORAN

"The New Centurions," opening today at the Mai Kai and Americana, gives an idealized view of the dedicated and thankless work of the big city policemen.

In this case, the city is Los Angeles (the film is based on the bestseller by L.A. Police Sgt. J. Wambaugh), but it could just as well be Detroit or any big city.

George C. Scott, as veteran officer Kilvinsky, and Stacy Keach, as his junior partner Roy, give exceptional performances. Before retiring, Kilvinsky shares his enthusiasm and philosophy on law enforcement with his partner.

ROY FINDS he 'likes it out there on the streets" despite the danger and gives up college and plans to become a lawyer to serve the cause of law and order. He even gives up his wife - she divorces him because he actually "likes being a cop."

Where the laws don't suit him, Scott applies "Kilvinsky's laws" which are not always legal, but work, he

He's the exceptional cop who else would spend the night rounding up prostitutes in his police wagon, buy them some scotch and milk to keep them happy as he drives around town, and then let them out (without booking them) after they are too drunk to "work" for the night?

Preliminary auditions for Symphony Youth Orchestra Auditorium facilities. will be held Friday, Aug. 18, and on Aug. 21 and 28 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in Ford Auditorium in Detroit.

Any talented young musician living in the Detroit metropolitan area is eligible for membership in the Youth Orchestra providing that he or she doesn't drop out of school band or orchestra activities in order to maintain membership in it.

Applicants will perform a solo composition of their own choosing and sightread some representative orchestral excerpts.

In addition to regular rehearsals held on Saturday afternoons from late September through April, sectional rehearsals are held under the guidance of members of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. The coaching and assistance of these young musicians has been an important contribution to the general development of the Youth Orchestra.

The orchestra has a limited number of scholarships available for deserving students giving them the opportunity to study privately with some of the community's leading musicians.

Under the direction of Paul Freeman, the conductor - in residence, of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, the youth orchestra rehearses and performs a substantial amount of the standard symphonic repertoire.

The St. Ninian once plied the waters north of Scotland. visiting the Hebrides and the Orkney Islands. Now she sails out of North Sydney, Nova Scotia, under the Scottish flag. She's registered in Aberdeen.

She carries 160 passengers on three and four-day cruises from North Sydney, down through the beautiful Bras D'or Lakes of Cape Breton Island then east to the French islands of Miquelon and St. Pierre. The four-day cruise includes a stop at Port Aux Basques, Newfoundland.

EVEN WHILE in port, the ship is the passengers' floating hotel. Although the French restaurants are interesting in St. Pierre, no one wants to miss one of Mr. Dawes' meals aboard the St. Ninian.

Breakfasts include fresh fruits, juices, bacon, eggs, ham, sausages, stacks of wheat cakes, current scones and muffins.

The other meals are a blend of Canadian, English and American fare. Curried beef is served with a chutney sauce and rice. There are several varieties of fish. roast beef. chicken, pork chops and lamb chops with mint sauce.

Mr. Dawes complains about the cramped galley facilities aboard the St. Ninian but his efforts inspire a lot of deck or island walking to be ready for the next sitting.

OBSERVATION POINT

Local Governments Should Set, Publish Productivity Figures

Last week's election conclusively proved one thing: The taxpayers' revolt is still in full

Folks around here decisively whomped any proposal even smelling as though it meant tax increase. That includes increased support for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority program, more dough for Livonia's recreation program, and a whole batch of county proposals which seemed kind of blurry but which suggested another tax increase.

The only proposal which passed was the one to cut to six the number of people required for a jury trial in certain offenses. The voters evidently figured that would save money for the six eliminated jurors and have very little negative effect on the rights of the unjustly accused.

It was a sort of "more justice for the taxpayer's buck" vote, and it suggested a lot to me.

LOOKED AT IN business terms, the net effect of getting just as many court verdicts with half as many jurors is to increase the productivity of each of the remaining jurors by a factor of two. Halve the number of jurors, render the same number of verdicts over time, and you've doubled your productivity!

Although I'm sure most voters didn't entirely look at the proposal in just that that way, the whole point about increasing the productivity with which government spends the taxpayer's dollar is one well worth a careful look.

How many units of government really scrutinize the efficiency with which they spend the taxpayer's hard-earned dough?

How many governments try to set standards of productivity to test whether they are spending their money effectively? How many units of government spend any time at all doing what most businesses do constantly: Testing to see that an expense is worthwhile and that it is made efficiently!

Very, very few, in anything more than a very general way.

I think that's absurd.

I think governments ought to be even more concerned about the productivity of their operations than your average business -- for, after all, it's your and my money that's being spent.

I think the public realizes that most government units don't care much about productivity, and I suspect that until government starts sharpening up the way it spends our money, it's not going to get very much more of it for an awful long time.

ONLY LAST WEEK, New York's Mayor John V. Lindsay (who has taken a bad rap from the press, but who is one darned innovative mayor) released a big program that made productivity of local government a central concern in its operations.

Evidently they did a big study, trying to figure out what kind of output each department of the city generated per employe-hour worked. Then they sat down and tried to work out what output would be if city employes were working at maximum efficiency. Then they set some guidelines for productivity improvement, and they pledged to release productivity figures periodically to test whether improvement was being Presumably, if productivity increases are not forthcoming. heads will roll.

For example, they found that crews fixing potholes in the streets were fixing them at a rate of 15 per day. The roductivity guidlines call potholes to be fixed at a rate o. 30 per day.

Overall, the study concluded that New York's city government was working at approximately 50% efficiency. The implication, of course, is that if the city government were working at, say, 80% efficiency, the taxpayers would be paying a whole lot less taxes and getting the same level of service.

WHY NOT try the same kind of program in this area?

There are a lot of suburban communities out here which have much the same kind of local government needs. They have streets to build and fix, crime to control, kids to educate in schools, paperwork to handle, traffic to control.

Why not have each local government publish its own productivity figures for various units of its operations? And why not publish them periodically? And why not compare them from community to community, to see if one community was being better run than another.

For example, suppose Southfield street repair crews fix potholes at a rate of 25 per day, while Livonia's only fix potholes at a rate of 15 per day.

Wouldn't Livonia's Mayor Ed McNamara get on the blower darn fast to tell his pothole fixers to straighten up -- or else? And wouldn't Southfield's Mayor Norman Feder be trumpeting to his constitutents that his pothole crew was the most efficient in the suburbs?

It's a simple proposal: Have suburban governments set productivity standards, publish them, and set targets for improvement.

In fact, if the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments wanted to do something useful with all the money they're getting from local governments, they'd offer to act as a clearinghouse to set standards and definitions so productivity figures could be compared meaningfully from one community to the other.

This proposal strikes to what I believe is a central fact of our times: Government is not delivering the goods as efficiently as it should, and the taxpayers are going to be sore very justly until it does.

Few Random Reflections On Last Week's Primary

Random reflections on the late state primary election:

If you want to irritate people very quietly, stand around at the polls and shove literature into their hands about your favorite candidate.

You not only become a bother, but you insult the voters' intelligence as well. Anybody intelligent enough to go to the polls made up his mind long before he walked to the schoolhouse door.

PROFESSIONAL democrats (small "d" intentional) are bemoaning that only one voter in five -- or one voter in four. depending on which edition of the Detroit News you get - went to the polls.

Why the horror? If a guy doesn't want to vote, it's usually because he isn't well enough informed on the candidates and issues. Frankly, I have more respect for a man who admits his ignorance and stays home than for the dummy who casts a stupid

ONE RIDICULOUS side of the primary was the length of the ballot. We nominated candidates for U.S. senator, U.S. representative, state representative, county commissioner, sheriff, county. clerk, county treasurer, county drain commissioner, prosecutor, charter commissioner (in Wayne County) and circuit judge.

Pity the poor Detroiter, who also had to vote on school board, common pleas judges, traffic judges and recorder's judges.

On top of that we had a Huron-Clinton parks millage, a Wayne County millage, a local (Livonia) parks millage, a useless anti-busing proposition (Redford) and a state constitutional amendment.

In fall there will be little relief. We won't have to worry about the county charter commission, but we will have abortion reform, daylight saving time, president, justices of the Supreme Court, members of the State Board of Education, University of Michigan regents. Michigan State University trustees, Wayne State University trustees, probably a miliage for a new Wayne County jail.

Then, whenever you suggest the ballot is too long and we vote on too many useless offices, some clod from the Townships Assn. hollers that you're "taking away the people's right to vote on ..." Crazy.

BIGGEST comeback of the year accolades to George Kuhn, former state senator who won the GOP nomination for Oakland County drain commissioner. Impressively, he defeated "Mr. Oakland County," Delos Hamlin of Farmington, for a crack at the job he wants to see abolished.

Busing Issue Didn't Cause Major Changes

The school bus may have been in overdrive by candidates trying to ride that popular yellow vehicle to various public offices in the Aug. 8 primary elections.

A survey of the elections show that while the strongest anti busing candidates did fairly well in state legislative and congressional races, the busing issue wasn't enough to make any major changes in the campaigns.

IT WAS obvious from election returns that some candidates who finished second did better than they would have if the busing issue weren't present.

All this proves that the voters are getting a bit more sophisticated every year.

In various races, the candidates made a hard effort to discuss a lot of pressing state and congressional issues with the public.

But as one candidate put it, he was hard put to avoid the busing issue with the public although he came to meetings prepared with position statements on various other state

ALTHOUGH some candidates described as "soft on busing" emerged victorious, their margins of victory were close enough to show that busing was enough of an emotional issue to make it close.

For example, four-term Congressman William D. Ford. Democratic in the 15th district, had his first competition in a primary election since 1966.

He was challenged by Dearborn Heights City Councilman Frank Lubinski, who said every week during the campaign that Ford was actually in favor of cross - district busing -- a claim that Ford denied weekly.

FORD FINALLY emerged with 60 per cent of the vote. But a closer look at the city-by-city results show that the congressman lost two cities and narrowly and as society demands, staying carried most of the others.

Making the political difference in the voting columns were the 4-1 margin compiled in Inkster and 3-1 margin gained in Westland.

IN THE 36th state house race, winner John Markes distributed anti-busing window signs in Westland and Livonia homes-a tactic also used by the candidate who came in a close second, Ben DeHart.

In the closing days of the campaign, DeHart tried to establish an image with voters that he was the hardest of the anti-busing candidates and claimed that Markes and another candidate were "soft on busing."

Whether DeHart, in fact, made his anti-busing image that firm with the voters is hard to prove one way or the other. But he came within a few votes per precinct of winning the primary in his first try for public office.

We hope that the election results show that voters are concerned about the talents and character of candidates--which will be more lasting than the busing issue-when it is resolved one way or the other.

DISSENT

View points expressed in DISSENT do not necessarily reflect those of Observer Newspapers Inc., but are presented in the belief that publication of all segments of thought on a public issue is a prerequisite to understanding and progress.

By JOHN STYMELSKI Livonia

I must have you understand that I speak as a private citizen, not as a Livonia School Board Trustee.

I am publicly expressing dissatisfaction of those who desire suppression of public gatherings or rallies, etc., because they may have an effect on the courts' judgment regarding busing across school district lines. In effect, they are saying, "Do not react, keep it cool." This is really a "head in the sand attitude."

I am pleased that we have outlets outside of government and educational systems that are helping to keep the people informed on such matters as busing, etc. There are many concerned citizens we should thank for giving so much of their time in our behalf without monetary returns. These people are to be commended.

To name a few-thanks should to to individuals such as Mrs. Doran and Mrs. Stefanko of Tri-County Organizations and Mr. Venuto and Mrs. Roth who were co-chairmen of a group that held a successful and peaceful antibusing rally in the city of Livonia.

I DO NOT BELIEVE that the educational system or certain legal experts should be the masterminds of what goes or does not go in this great country of ours. I can appreciate school boards, educators, and leaders of our government asking for control and due process.

I completely agree that the leadership of any organization or group should face responsibility and lead in the spirit of honesty, decency, and respect for their fellowmen and certainly advise action that recognizes law and

To suppress peaceful rallies or groups is really asking for suppression of "Freedon-Of-Speech." I am not for this. I believe peaceful reaction or expression is necessary for the sake of balance. Both sides must have a right to reach the public so that the whole story can be presented, not one-sided views or actions that possibly could lead to the wrong direction.

Those who fear, "Have nothing to fear but fear itself." It is best to let the story be told as it unfolds, rather than wait until it is past history. If peaceful actions through leadership, outside of education and government turns the courts direction from what is legal, then we are really in trou-

THIS IS A GREAT country. I believe in it. I believe in the rights for all people as long as they live within the rules of our forefathers within our national and local laws. The day is past when the majority of our people should not have a solid voice that reaches all avenues that control or governs the lives of all Ameri-

After the courts have decided the busing issue, what then? The answer lies in a united organization that speaks for all the people, "The majority and the minority."

The time has come for all organizations who are working for the improvement of all Americans and better understanding to come under one roof, keeping their name but becoming a chapter of a major national organization much like the NAACP but, an organization whose charter and by-laws cover all American people.

I believe that an organization for the Advancement of American People," "All Americans." Abbreviated, "NAAAP." An organization of this magnitude would certainly be the answer to a great number of our "gray areas" that now exist because of misunderstanding or poor communications.

Babies Get In The Swim

Babies from six months up and their toddler brothers and sisters can learn to be at home in the water in a new series of swimming classes to be offered Aug. 21 to 24 in the Livonia Family Y, 14255

The classes are free and open only to persons who have never participated in the Y's pre-school classes. Registration will be Thursday and Friday, Aug. 17 and 18, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There will be four instruction periods, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon Monday through Thursday, and the levels of instruction include Diaper Swim, for babies six to 18 months, Mom and Tots, for children 18 months to three years and Kinder Swim, for three to five-year-olds.

Mothers participate in both the diaper swim and the mom and tot classes.

Emphasis in the classes will be on swimming skills and water safety, including mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and basic first aid as well as life-saving skills.

The classes are aimed at acquainting the community with the pre-school swimming program offered in the Family Y pool.

Fall classes will begin Sept. 11. Registration for the eight-session programs will be from 9 to 11 a.m., 1 to 3 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 28, for building members, Tuesday, Aug. 29 for basic members and Wednesday, Aug. 30 for non-members.

Children enrolled in the Kinder Swim free classes next week and the regular program must wear swimming suits, and girls need bathing caps.

Babies in both Diaper Swim and Mom and Tot programs must wear cloth diapers and tight-fitting plastic pants.

All children should have their names on their suits so that instructors can relate to each child by name.

Lynn Pringle Is Bride

Lynn Diane Pringle and Robert Shaw Fellows II were united in marriage in an evening ceremony Saturday. Aug. 5, in Rosedale Gardens Presbyterian Church in Livonia.

The bride is the daughter of Don D. Pringle and Janis E. Pringle of Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Fellows of East Lansing are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Arthur K. Beumler heard the couple's vows.

THE BRIDE wore a floorlength gown of silk organza with colony lace accenting the stand-up collar, tucked bodice and full sleeves and also edging the train. Organza rosebuds trimmed the juliet headpiece that held her veil.

Ann Pringle, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Michael Whaling of South Bend, Mrs. Thomas Haring of Alpena and Patricia Giovanni of Livonia.

Their dresses were lavender and white with lace trim. Their hats were lavender and their bouquets lavender and white.

HRP Sets Caucuses In 2 Counties

The Human Rights Party will hold county caucuses to nominate candidates for Wayne and Oakland county offices.

The Wayne County caucus will be Monday, Aug. 21, at 8 p.m. in the First Unitarian-Universalist Church, 4605 Cass. Detroit.

Oakland County's caucus will be Tuesday, Aug. 22, at 8 p.m. in the commissioners' auditorium in Pontiac.

HRP meetings are open to all interested persons -meaning those who feel "real social change is impossible working within the two establishment parties," in the worlds of Zolton Ferency, a party leader.

A state convention is set for the weekend of Aug. 26-27. HRP put itself on the political map in April by electing two radical candidates to the Ann Arbor city

Technology brings more natural gas to Michigan

A typical natural gas reforming plant

For the past year Michigan has been affected by the national shortage of natural gas, and by the limited supplies available by pipeline from other states. At the same time, the demand for natural gas - one of the cleanest sources of energy - has continued to rise.

Now, thanks to a technological breakthrough developed by the British Gas Council in 1964, a new source of natural gas will become available to our 860,000 customers — from Canada

To provide this additional gas for Michigan, Consumers Power Company is building a $40million natural gas reforming plant at Marysville, in St. Clair County; the first of its kind in this hemisphere. This new reforming process takes light liquid hydrocarbons and reconstitutes, or reforms, them into natural gas. In 1972 these natural gas liquids will begin arriving from Alberta, Canada, via a 1600-mile pipeline. By 1973 we expect to be able to provide 100 million cubic feet of natural gas daily for our customers; and output is expected to double in 1974.

Natural gas is vital for Michigan and its people, and Consumers Power is seeking every available means to meet this ever-growing need.

AUTOMATED TRANSPORTATION — One of the two vehicles in the Bendix "personal rapid transit" (PRT) system at Transpo '72 at Dulles International Airport switches past the second vehicle during a demonstration run. The two airconditioned, electrically-powered vehicles will carry 31 passengers apiece at speeds up to 20 miles-per-hour along the 1,200-foot guideway.
