Recount Passes County Millage

A recount of the Redford Township primary election results has apparently added enough votes in favor of the Wayne county millage proposal (Proposal B) to pass it by a 114-vote margin.

In the unofficial tabulation Thursday night, which was called by the state and county elections bureaus to check suspected errors in the computer program, it was found that the original tabulation of the Proposal B results in Redford was short by 1,688 yes votes.

It was previously thought that the proposal had been defeated county-wide by 1.574 votes.

The official figures will not be known until the local and county canvassing boards have certified the results. The proposal renews a one-mill property tax for county operations.

Who Registers?

Township Clerk Helen Richardson has been getting dozens of questions lately on the scope of a new township ordinance requiring registration of motor-driven vehicles. They even include some odd ones such as "Must I register my lawnmower?" The clerk has compiled a list of those most frequently asked. Page 2A

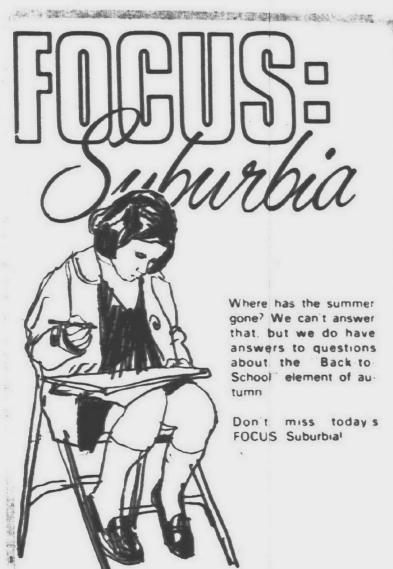

Fires Cut Down

A rigid inspection program for buildings in the city has paid off in a sharp reduction in the number of fires. Chief George Schoenneman reports on his department's activity for the first seven months of the year.

Curfew Debated

The fate of a proposed city ordinance which would establish a Kellogg Park curfew still has not been determined. It is under study by several citizen groups as well as the city commission. Bifocals tells some of the reactions it has drawn:

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the Commission Chambers of the City Hall on Thursday, September 7, 1972, at 7:30 P.M., a public hearing will be held to consider the following

APPEAL CASE NO. 71-17 -- GOODYEAR TIRE & RUBBER CO., 6500 Mt. Elliot, Detroit, Michigan (925-7200) requesting permission to erect an interior illuminated, non-flashing advertising sign, 5-ft. 6-inches high by 27-ft. long, upon two (2) steel columns — distance from grade to bottom of sign to be 25-ft., at 767 South Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan, which proposed sign exceeds Zoning Ordinance maximum height specifications.

ZONING ORDINANCE NO. 341, SECTION 1510 -SIGNS (pertaining to Use District and Requirements in erecting publicly displayed signs) states that: "Freestanding advertising signs or advertising plyons shall not be over twenty (20) feet in height ...

All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the Hearing and at the close of said Hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating. will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals prior to rendering its decision.

Have you heard the story of the Franklin expedition to the Arctic? Franklin sailed in 1845; his expedition subsequently became one of the mysteries of the century. He was seeking a Northwest passage to the Pacific, but his ships chose the wrong route, became caught in the main Arctic ice, and never got free. The large stock of canned food then opened by the crew turned out to be half-spoiled. Food poisoning and scurvy took their toll. Painfully dragging the ships' boats toward home, 105 men made a bid for escape. Sadly, their route was marked by abandoned supplies and skeletons. Why did they choose to sail into the Arctic as they did? Not one man lived to give the

No Generation Gap For Redford Church

By MARGARET MILLER Church Editor

There's no generation gap in the ministry of Grace. Lutheran Church of Redford

The generations all are represented -- and by clergymen to whom the Lutheran ministry is a family tradition going back through several forebears.

The Rev. Victor F. Halboth Sr., a man of the cloth like his father and grandfather before him, came to Redford in 1946 to lead the 59-member Grace congregation.

In 1959, with the church well on its way to its present 3,000member ranks, he was joined by his son, the Rev. V. Frederick Halboth Jr., after the latter graduated from Concordia Seminary in St. Louis.

AND THIS MONTH the staff was boosted to three with the arrival of the Rev. Rodney A. Hilpert as assistant minister. Fittingly enough, he represents the fourth generation in his family in the

the Sign that speaks

In towns and cities internationally, this sign is displayed by funeral homes which have been accepted for membership in the Order of the Golden

It tells people that the service provided therein is of consistently high quality . . . that the people serving therein are both capable and considerate ... and that the prices available therein are reasonable.

In short, it's a sign of reassurance to you, the public, of excellence and reliability you can easily afford.

Elizabeth Maurer Wed

Elizabeth Ann Maurer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Maurer of N. Holbrook Avenue, Plymouth, became the bride of Ronald Allen Volaric in a July 22 ceremony in Martha - Mary Chapel, Greenfield Village.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Volaric of Grosse Pointe Farms.

The Rev. William H. Perkins performed the ceremony for the two Michigan State University graduates, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

THE BRIDE'S GOWN was ivory silk organza with mandarin neckline, bishop sleeves, chapel train and trim of embroidered organza laced with satin ribbon. Her illusion veil fell from a juliet cap of alencon lace, and she carried a cascade of white roses and baby's breath.

Four attendants wore gowns Pointe Farms. with ivory voile skirts and pink bodices with venice lace trim. They carried pink baby's breath.

1-2 Condominiums For Sale

If you earn $920 a month you can own a maintenance free home in the Plymouth area that's better than a single home or condominium!

66 We were looking for a new home and we looked at everything. before we discovered Brentwood! Like a condominium, a small monthly fee gives Fred freedom from grass cutting, snow shoveling and exterior painting. But it's better than a condominium because we own our own homesite, have privacy and with our backyard we can put in a pool, swings, the works! It beats most single family homes, because we have almost no exterior maintenance to worry about 99

5 STORES TO SERVE YOU

Wouldn't you like to send your child to a school guaranteed to be without failure? Send your child to the Wood Creek Elementary the Wood Creek Elementary School in Farmington According to Millie Bennett, the school's principal, "success for every child whatever the means" is the philosophy at her school.

The theory behind this seemingly ludicrous promise is the open concept approach. An 11-year-old student at the school summed up the theory well when he said, "I like it here because I'm treated like a person, not like a kid."

The school, now preparing for its third year, has pale yellow, apple green and orange carpeting with bright yellow and fachsia doors that lead to comfortable, triple-size classrooms. Although the rooms are equipped with the latest in seating, the students seem to prefer to listen and study sprawled on the brightly carpeted floors.

The new building and the "open concept" theory of education work together to bring Mrs. Bennett's promise of success close to reality.

Mrs. Bennett likes to call her school the Mental Health School. She and her staff of 18 teachers are concerned about the student finding himself.

teaching." Mrs. Bennett said. The traditional classroom teaching technique that expects every student to understand long division between 9.30 and 10 Monday morning has no place at Wood Creek. The accent is on the positive. The assumption is that everyone is good at something. At Wood Creek, a student is helped to find his own strengths and weak-

When the child identifies his weaknesses, he is responsible for planning for further understanding through his own efforts. He may seek help from one of his two team teachers, or from the special tutoring teacher permanently assigned to the learning center, or he may seek the aid of one of his classmates who has mastered the mates w problem.

This independence and self-directiveness help the individual child toward a more complete understanding of himself and the body of knowledge he will be expected to have grasped before he can adjust to the 20th Century.

Students at Wood Creek can't get straight A's. They are evaluated through teacher-parent conferences and check lists of accomplishments. They don't fail a subject. They pass some subjects.

and need to direct more of their time to certain other subjects

Is the school a success? Do children learn more readily in regimented rows of desks and written permits to the lavatory? Who can give a documented answer for a new theory, but at Wood Creek the students like to come to school. The only attendance problem at Wood Creek is that the sick children won't stay cans they go from cupboard shelf to lunch box without wrapping Choose from several flavors of puddings, gelatins, baked beans, bean or potato salads. A variety of fruit juices, juice drinks, and milk shakes are available to sip right from the container.

•Wrap lettuce and raw nibbles separately, first in wet paper toweling, then in waxed paper, foil, or transparent wrap to keep them fresh and crisp. If juicy food is included, your lunch-box carrier will appreciate one of the wash-dry paper cloths that come in its own foil envelope.

With other schools plagued with vandalism during summer months. Wood Creek hasn't suffered even a broken window. Mrs. Bennett says the students at Wood Creek like their school, are proud to bring visitors, and want to keep it the shining example of progress in education that it seems to be.

Playground designers got the message. Kids would rather swing on a giant rope from a tree than from regimented swing sets. A culvert is ultimately more interesting than a slide to a young imaginative mind. Rope ladders are fun and inexpensive compared to the old jungle gym. A mound of sand can make a child the "king of the Playgrounds are taking on a different look. The old playground adjacent to the school barren of trees with a few drab swings. slides, and merry-go-round are out. castle.

Recreational space must be livable. Bushes and trees are beautiful, but they can be fun. A young mind can make a flowering lilac a safe hideaway from a band of vicious raiders. A grassy trench may be the best spot for "kick the can."

Playgrounds are being constructed in smaller areas more accessable to children and mothers. New York city planners are making their city more livable by making their city more livable by making drab unused rooftops a new dimension in outdoor. Iliving space. "Their usual solution is overly distant parks, or the paving over of huge multipurpose playground centers in the middle of a large housing project. The rooftop parks are safe play areas that keep children away from streets and traffic, while to invent their own games. Wood play forms are erected around rooftop structures thereby simulating a low-branching tree for climbing, a frontier cavalry fort, and settings for unlimited numbers of children's games. letting them use their imagination shoes that are total misfits for your child's feet, won't even hurt. Even while they're doing serious harm — misshaping the bones and ruining the bone structure — you won't know it. Because as one doctor so plainly put it, the crippling process is painless. You see, a child's 26 foot bones are so fragile, so moldable, especially through the first 12 years, that they will merely adapt their shape to a wrong shoe. And they'll grow all wrong until they're firmly mature at 18. By then the damage is long since done. Naturally, the right shoe won't hurt either, and only by knowing how a shoe is constructed can you be sure it's right for your child's feet. That's why we believe in Fleet-Air. They construct shoes to meet the needs of growing feet, for boys and girls, from tots to pre-teens. These educational advances were rejected by students. They rebelled against the dehumanization through machine.

On all levels elementary, secondary and college education has been impeded by poor teaching and financing. It has been unresponsive to the individual needs of learners, and has become anachronistic by making limited use of the latest technological advances. What has gone wrong?

According to Stanley C Gabor, assistant dean of the School of Continuing Education at New York University, we have cluing to a medieval pattern of education where the teacher Tells it and the curriculum is rigid. Why do we continue to follow, as Alvin Toffler points out in "Future Shock." the industrial concept of education where the student is the raw material, processed by the worker teacher in a centrally located factory-school?

Any educator would agree that 40 students taking American History on Friday mornings between 9:30 and 11:00 a.m. in room 503 would not receive the same learning experience.

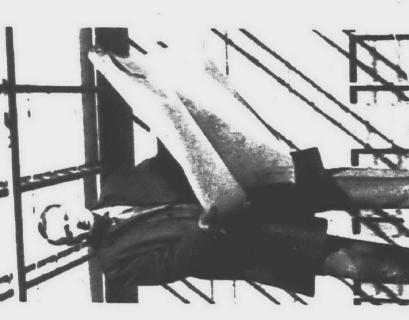

The video cassette, much like a taped television, is a more logical answer. Unlike television, the new medium gives the student individual control over the actual running of the program by providing for freeze-frame, slow motion, fast forward and reverse. It allows instant viewer response and instant viewer response and machine feedback for reinforce-

Consider the assortment of activities available with the playthings the child already has. If the child has several push and pull type toys, perhaps he would enjoy a matching game to show you how smart he is.

Keep toys simple. Many parents are surprised when children prefer a shiny flashlight and a ring of keys to an expensive and elaborate plaything.

Sally wants a doll in a mini-skirt that talks, walks, and comes with a male companion. Jack wants a gun made to be an exact replica of an M16 used by Gl's in Vietnam. Should you buy them? If not, what would be better? What makes a toy fun and educational, while another may be dangerous and damaging? Perhaps Sally would be more satisfied with a nurse kit or her own set of cooking utensils. Jack might find a tool chest with child size tools more fun.

When selecting toys for your youngsters, ask yourself -- Will it last out its period of interest, whether it be a balloon for a few hours or a bicycle that will last for years? Is the toy realistic and will it help the child understand his environment more fully? And is the toy basically junk that actually does nothing for the child other than add to the clutter of other unused play
