City Stays Firm On Police Contract Despite Picketing

By FRED DELANO

Picketing of City Hall by Plymouth policemen in an admitted effort to swing public sentiment in favor of the officers' wage demands was met Monday night with a calm, unruffled rebuff by the City Commission.

"The city remains willing to continue to meet with the Police Officers Association at any reasonable time in order to reach a satisfactory settlement," was the statement issued by commissioners at the end of a special meeting which was held as pickets marched outside.

The commission refused to back down or in any way alter the economic package already offered to the police, whose contract expired June 30.

Meanwhile, Sgt. William Fletcher, president of the Police Officers Association, declared:

"We hope that once Plymouth citizens fully understand the inequity of the city's position that they will seek to convince the commission members to resolve this matter within the city and through the bargaining process."

As picketing of City Hall was renewed Tuesday morning, Fletcher urged citizens "desiring to pursue this matter" to contact him personally regarding their views.

POLICE CHIEF Timothy Ford has not been a party to the negotiations which have been in progress since April and had little comment on the action of his men in setting up picket lines. He did emphasize, however, that no strike is in progress and that the picketing has been done only by men in their off-duty hours.

Police officers engaged in similar tactics in September 1968 for the same purpose of hopefully pressuring the commission into acceding to their demands.

The commission has been represented in bargaining by two of its members, William Silvis and Beverly McAninch, plus a professional labor consultant, Thomas Callan.

The terms offered the police in the form of a new contract were reviewed by the commission Monday and were reaffirmed as being the top offer which the administration will make. It was stated that essentially this averages out at an increase of about $1,200 per man.

The starting annual salary for patrolmen in Plymouth is now $8,846, with a maximum of $12,000 attainable within four years. The commission issued this statement:

"APPARENTLY the time has arrived to inform the public on the progress to date in negotiating a new contract with the Plymouth Police Officers Association.

"So that the public may have the facts, the administration would like to point out that the policemen placed demands on the city that would have cost over $4,000 per man in actual wages and fringe benefits. This would represent an increase of 33 per cent in costs to the city for the police department.

"Negotiations have continued since April 27, with progress being made towards settlement until July 13 when the union refused to accept the city's offer.

"An additional meeting was held with a state mediator present on Aug. 15, but he could make no progress with either party and the PPOA informed the city that they would proceed with their request for compulsory arbitration.

"On Wednesday, Aug. 23 the PPOA made one more offer which was unacceptable to the city, along with the threat that if it was not accepted they would begin picketing City Hall until an agreement was reached.

"THE CITY'S last offer included an increase of seven per cent in salary (an increase of $840 per year), an increase in vacation time which would amount to an additional $58 per man, an increase of 36 hours of holiday pay which amounts to $182 per man, and an increase in clothing allowance from $275 to $300 per year.

"In addition, the city has agreed to a revision of the sick leave provisions of the contract which would permit a policeman to receive as much as $5,500 on retirement in addition to his regular pension.

"Also agreed to by the city was an increase in life insurance from $12,000 to $18,000 for an officer with over four years of service, an increase from $30 to $35 per year for longevity (continuous service with the city beyond five years), and the inclusion of a prescription plan which would pay for all prescriptions required by the policeman or his family after he has paid the first $2.

"Numerous other changes were made in the contract at their request that do not affect the economic picture."

FLETCHER countered with this prepared statement on behalf of the officers association:

"It is with great reluctance that the Plymouth Police Officers Association has found it necessary to invoke Michigan compulsory arbitration procedures to resolve contract differences with the city. We much prefer to settle our few remaining differences across the bargaining table and without the intervention of a third party.

"However, long hours of negotiation since last April plus the fruitless efforts of a state mediator have convinced our bargainers that the commission is more interested in spending tax dollars to pay the substantial costs of an arbitrator, including the fee of Thomas Callan, the city representative to the arbitration panel, and the fee of the arbitrator appointed by the state than they are in assuring that Plymouth policemen are fairly and competitively compensated.

"Since the association's final demand in mediation and the city's final offer for the 1972-73 salary are identical, the only unresolved economic issue is an insignificant and inexpensive change in the vacation policy, the cost of which is much less than will be the city's share of arbitration costs.

"We have made every reasonable effort, including numerous bargaining concessions, to avoid the costs and delays of arbitration. The city has not. The only real issue is the city's sudden 11th hour demand for a two year rather than a one year contract.

"DURING negotiations we made major concessions in our demands on the understanding that the contract would be in effect for only one year. These concessions would not have been made otherwise.

"The city gave us no reason to believe that they would

Teachers' Union Asks For State Arbitrator

A proposal by the Plymouth Education Assn. that its contract conflict with the board of education be submitted to binding arbitration received a cool reception this week from the school board president, George Lawton.

However, the formal presentation from the PEA on behalf of the local system's 474 teachers was scheduled to go before the full board for consideration Tuesday night. If Lawton's attitude was representative of a board majority, then the PEA request was doomed for rejection.

"Our hope is that serious negotiations continue at the bargaining table," said Lawton. "However, if it is the PEA's wish to do their bargaining in the public press, perhaps the two positions should be submitted to the citizens of the community as a referendum."

Neither Bill Heath, president of the PEA, nor members of the organization's bargaining team have made any public statement as yet on whether they will urge teachers to go to their jobs next week even if a new master contract has not been signed by that time.

A full membership meeting of the PEA is scheduled for 8 a.m. next Tuesday, Sept. 5, in the high school auditorium and it may be that whether classes open on time Sept. 7 for 10,800 students will be resolved in that session. The PEA negotiators are

Ray Homer, John Ryder, Dolly Carter and Heath.

IN A STATEMENT issued to the press a week ago, Heath called the current impasse more serious than the differences which existed in 1969 and which led to a month-long teachers' strike at the beginning of the fall semester.

"We were sorry to see that statement by Heath," said Lawton on behalf of the board. "The board's feeling has been that the most effective bargaining is done at the bargaining table, not in the press.

"As a board, we see very little parallel between the current negotiations and the negotiations in the summer prior to the teachers' strike. At that time, we were in a rising economy, with teacher salaries around us substantially higher than in Plymouth.

"This year, the teachers are being offered a salary range starting at $8,500 and going to $16,900 for a 40-week year. This is entirely consistent with the settlements that have been completed in Wayne County to this date."

REPRESENTATIVES of both sides have indicated that the major economic barrier to a new agreement is the board's insistence that the average salary increase of 5.5 per cent include the longevity "increments" to which teachers are accustomed. The PEA wants increments to be granted on top of the 5.5 per cent raises, which the administration says would make the average increase in the range of 10 to 11 per cent.

The 1972-73 school budget which went to the board Tuesday night for final adoption was based on paying teachers only the extra 5.5 per cent -- and as a lump sum it amounted to almost $200,000 more than the same number of teachers received in 1971-72.

IN WHAT he called "a position statement," Heath this week issued these comments on behalf of the full PEA bargaining team:

"The PEA will continue to bargain in good faith in an attempt to reach a settlement before the scheduled start of the school year.

"Further, the Plymouth Education Assn. believes that although negotiations have been harmonious and cooperative up to this juncture, there appears to be reluctance on the part of the board of education, through its designated representatives, to reach realistic agreement not only on the economic package for teachers, but also on the other conditions which are essential in a program of quality education for the youngsters of this community.

"It is important that the board of education clearly understands the position of the teachers. While professional compensation is an area of primary interest, there is no less concern for a program

SC Jazz Class Set At C'ville

Clarenceville, along with Plymouth and Garden City school districts, is cooperating with Schoolcraft College in publishing a directory of classes and recreational opportunities in fall adult education programs. Directories have been mailed to district homes.

A new offering in Clarenceville this fall is a jazz class to be taught by Pete Reckenbeil. Reckenbeil, a local jazz buff, plays saxophone and drums and has played with area bands and was with the Eighth Army Band in Korea.

EMU Extends Registration Dates, Hours

To facilitate late enrollments for the fall semester, Eastern Michigan University will register undergraduate and graduate students until Sept. 8.

In addition, extended daily office hours to better serve the graduate student will be offered this fall.

The final date for processing admissions and registrations is being extended, according to President Harold E. Sponberg, to accommodate any prospective students -- either new or returning -- who may have missed earlier enrollment deadlines.

The deadline for admitting and registering students will be 5 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 8.

IN A MOVE to aid late-enrolling students in the next two weeks, nine student-oriented campus offices will remain open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. The normal office hours of 8 a.m. to noon and 1-5 p.m. will be resumed Sept. 11.

Those offices are academic advising, academic records, admissions and financial aids, cashier, counseling center, Graduate School, housing, registration and student accounting.

Five of these offices--academic advising, academic records, admissions and financial aids, Graduate School and housing--will be open from 8 a.m. to noon on the next two Saturdays, Aug. 26 and Sept. 2.

Omer Robbins, Jr., dean of the EMU Graduate School, said that his office will remain open until 6 p.m. weekdays throughout the fall semester. The office opens at 8 a.m. and is closed from noon to 1 p.m.

The additional hour of business was added, Dean Robbins said, because many Graduate School students live off-campus, some even out of the immediate area. Many have regular employment which sometimes makes it difficult to visit the office during normal business hours.

The fall semester at Eastern begins officially with the opening of classes next Monday (Aug. 28).

Howe To Lead March Of Dimes Bike-A-Thon

The fad in bicycling has ignited enthusiasm for the March of Dimes newest event in their efforts to continue the fight against birth defects.

Gordie Howe, campaign chairman for the Metropolitan Chapter of the March of Dimes covering Wayne and Macomb counties, announced that Saturday, Sept. 30, will mark the first annual March of Dimes bike-a-thon.

"The bike-a-thon is a 'natural' for the March of Dimes," said Howe, who will lead the 54-mile trip with his wife, Colleen, and their four children.

"The great popularity of bikes is due to two important factors -- physical fitness and ecology -- and the March of Dimes knows that pollution and the health of the mother both are very relevant in bearing healthy children."

The bike-a-thon will start at Metropolitan Beach between 8 and 9 a.m. on Sept. 30. It is modeled after the successful walk-a-thon which was held last May, with nearly 15,000 walkers raising $215,000 to aid the March of Dimes in the fight against birth defects.

insist on a two year contract. The first indication that they would, came less than two weeks ago at which time negotiators stated flatly that the only contract the city would accept would be for two years. At that point we had no alternative but to commit association resources to the preparation and presentation of our arbitration case.

"We regret that this commitment will require the curtailment or elimination of our traditional contributions to such worthy organizations as the Salvation Army Christmas Fund, Plymouth Little League baseball, Plymouth police officers sponsored Little League hockey team, Plymouth Community Youth Activities Center, Plymouth High School athletic program, Plymouth Community Band and the Plymouth State Home.

"We hope that once Plymouth citizens fully understand the inequity of the city's position that they will seek to convince the commission members to resolve this matter within the city and through the bargaining process."

THE SWEET ADELINES are booked to entertain the evening of Friday, Sept. 8 at the Plymouth Fall Festival. Specializing in barber-shop vocal harmony, the members are from Plymouth, Northville, Farmington, Livonia, Garden City, Walled Lake and Detroit. They are under the direction of Mrs. Carol Sanders (fourth from the left in the front row.) A quartet from within the membership, known as the "Tune Tenders" also will present specialized numbers.

Fall Festival To Bring 4 Days For Feasting

Hungry? Well, you have until Sept. 7 to work up an appetite. Water and toothpicks would not be an interperate diet to follow in preparation for the Plymouth Fall Festival — a four-day feast of sauerkraut, sausages, pancakes, fried fish, barbecued ribs, chicken, roast corn and assorted side dishes.

Not all at one sitting, of course.

The Business and Professional Women's Club begins dishing out its traditional German Dinner of knockwurst and sauerkraut, hot dog, potato chips, German potato salad, German chocolate cake, ice cream and beverages from noon to 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 7.

Helen Moyer, Millie Blackford and Fern Burleson are co-chairmen.

On Friday, Sept. 8, the Lions Club will serve sizzling fried fish and potatoes, cole slaw, rolls and beverages from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Senior Citizens' dinners will be specially priced at $1.25 between 1:30 and 4:30 p.m.

"Each year additional manpower and equipment has been added to keep waiting time to a minimum," Chairman Dick Schwaller says. The Lions, conducting their fourth annual project, sold 2,200 dinners last year.

EARLY RISERS can begin eating the Kiwanis Club's pancakes and sausages at 7 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 9, in the Masonic Temple building. The Kiwanians keep each table supplied with hotcakes and hot coffee throughout the marathon 12-hour event, chaired this year by Robert C. Hayman.

If you time it right, you may follow these hefty hors d'oeuvres with the Jaycees' rib dinner between 6 and 10:30 p.m. Short ribs smoked over open charcoal are served with roast corn on the cob, coleslaw, rolls and ice cream. The project is headed by Mark Lane.

But save room for the Rotary Club's annual chicken barbecue with more sweet corn from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 10. This is the event that launched the Fall Festival 17 years ago. The tiny turnout of 125 grew to 14,000 last September, and Rotary chairman Eric Caplin expects to break all records this year.

All but the pancakes and sausages will be served from the concession stands in the vacant lot between the Penn Theater and Masonic Temple on Penniman. Tables will be set up across the street in Kellogg Park, where picnickers can enjoy live entertainment from the nearby portable bandstand.

IF YOU'RE not hungry enough for a meal, or less likely, if you're still hungry afterwards, a parade of snack stands will be lining the east side of Main Street.

The organizations and their fare include: Soroptimist Club, apple cider and doughnuts; Youth, Inc., corned beef sandwiches and draft root beer; WSDP Radio Station, tacos and beverages; Plymouth Explorers, hot dogs and soft drinks; Plymouth Theatre Guild, cotton candy, popcorn and soft drinks.

Plymouth High School Marching Band, potato chips, caramel corn and peanuts; Beta Sigma Phi sorority, fudge; YMCA Indian Guides, popcorn and ice cream; Plymouth High senior class of 1973, bagels; Mayflower 6695 VFW, sno cones and cotton candy; Plymouth High Cheerleaders, peanuts and Tootsie Pops; and Plymouth High junior class, hot pretzels, candy apples and other snacks.

This may be your best chance all year to overindulge for a good cause... in fact, many good causes. The larger groups usually divide their proceeds among a wide range of community projects including youth activities, sight conservation programs, the Plymouth Historical Society, and others.

Among the smaller groups, the Plymouth High Marching Band hopes to raise sufficient funds with its enterprise to help pay for a trip to Pasadena, Calif. to participate in the Rose Bowl parade.

Beta Sigma Phi gives a party for the youngsters at Plymouth State Home with part of their proceeds. The profits of the Soroptimist Club will go toward drug prevention, senior citizens programs, and support for Youth, Inc.

It's Last Year For Just One High School

More than a century of tradition will go out the window when what used to be known simply as Plymouth High School opens its doors next Thursday. Old - timers may find it hard to remember that this isn't the name any more.

It was bad enough in 1970 when old PHS at Church and Main was replaced by the new Taj Mahal on Joy Road just west of Canton Center. Ever since then the natives have been defining schools in such terms as the "new" high school and the "old" high school, which now actually is vacated Central Junior High.

But 1972 brings still another change.

Officially - and there it is in big glistening letters across the front of the building - PHS is now Plymouth Salem High School. Come next Thursday, it will be home to about 2,100 students.

ACROSS THE campus - which is exactly what Plymouth now has - stands Plymouth Canton High School, where about 1,300 will have their home rooms in 1972-73.

For this one year, and one year only, the two will operate as one school. It will be a united Plymouth campus and when you read Plymouth among the football scores these next three months it won't make any difference where a kid has his home room. But this is the last year for that.

Starting in September 1973, these will function as two separate high schools, and it will be interesting to see how the public terms them.

If it turns out to be like Livonia, where the high schools are best known simply as Bentley, Stevenson, Franklin and Churchill, then this district's comparable institutions are most apt to be identified to the metropolitan area as Salem and Canton, the word "Plymouth" being an afterthought.

IN ANY EVENT, both the Salem (Joy Rd.) and Canton (Canton Rd.) edifices are ready to accept students next Thursday - and in an exercise of poetic license, this newspaper will continue to refer for one year to their united efforts in such things as sports and band just as PHS.

A directive from the administration reveals that although students will be assigned a home room and most of their classes in one building for the coming nine months, many students actually will have classes in both buildings.

They will move back and forth to use the facilities of Canton and Salem for classes in many specialized areas such as auto body, graphic arts, radio, television, nurse's training and others. For instance, all physical education and music instruction will be headquartered in Salem - the "old" new PHS.

An administration spokesman said, "This has been designed to bring about a savings to the district in equipping these specialized facilities."

CANTON'S STUDENT body this year will consist mainly of freshmen and sophomores. Students who attended Allen, Tanger, Farrand, Fiegel and Starkweather elementary schools and will be ninth or 10th graders this year will be enrolled in Canton.

In addition, about one-fourth of the juniors and seniors enrolled at the two-building high school complex will have their homerooms and many of their classes at Canton. The rest will be at Salem.

calls Canton an "educationally exciting building," which features a two-story learning resource center as its heart. The structure also provides a lecture theater and many flexible facilities.

Perhaps most impressive is its industrial and technical wing which will house 12 new laboratory classrooms designed to expand and broaden career development programs.

The Plymouth district's total enrollment Thursday is expected to reach an all-time high of approximately 10,800 under a teaching staff of 474 persons. Experts in the area of population growth predict that by 1978 Plymouth's enrollment will be at least 20,000 students - but they are running out of townships after which to name the necessary new high schools, Nos. 3 and 4.

DeHoCo Escape Leads To Trial Of Former Guard

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH A former guard at the Detroit House of Correction, who is alleged to have aided in the escape July 10 of a prisoner, will face trial Sept. 25 in Plymouth District Court.

Terry Wimberley, of Detroit, remains free on $1,000 personal bond after appearing for a pre-trial examination before District Judge Dunbar Davis on Monday. He had been arraigned last month in Plymouth Township District Court.

Wimberley's attorney, N.C. Deday LaRene, said that due to the circumstances surrounding a case of this type, he had asked Davis for a jury trial.

Davis explained that the state law reads that should a guard be found guilty of aiding in a prisoner escape, the guard is automatically to be sentenced to the same prison term being served by the prisoner.

IN THIS CASE, a prisoner, since returned to DeHoCo, was serving a one-year sentence.

A second prisoner also escaped on the July date but has been returned to prison. LaRene said he had been considering asking for a change in venue because DeHoCo was so near Plymouth. He later decided to ask Davis for a jury trial in Plymouth.

Wimberley, who had been assigned on a temporary basis as a guard at DeHoCo, has been discharged pending outcome of the trial.

Teachers Ask Board's OK On Arbitration

which provides an improved educational environment or at least maintains the quality of the present program.

"The best intentioned negotiations may reach an impasse. The range of possibilities for action during a conflict is wide. It may range from general public appeals to collective action.

"THIS TYPE of action inflicts damage to both sides, and the conflict ends when the private limits of both sides overlap as a result of new evaluation. Perhaps a better solution is to accept third-party intervention in the form of arbitration.

"The PEA believes that the facts will speak for themselves and the teachers are willing to accept the decisions of an experienced, impartial and disinterested arbitrator of recognized competence in the field of public education as binding.

"We think that arbitration is much more desirable than the use of power; it is in the best interest of education, and it is in the best interest of the Plymouth community."

THE PROPOSAL submitted to the board asked that 10 specific issues be submitted to the Michigan State Labor Mediation Board for binding arbitration, with such a step being taken jointly by the PEA and board of education. These were the 10:

1. Contract limitations on class sizes.
2. Salary schedules for teachers.
3. Related fringe benefits for teachers.
4. School day.
5. Calendar.
6. Time for association activities.
7. Consultation procedure.
8. Use of educational aids.
9. Board support of teacher in performance of duties.
10. Special student program.

The proposal also called upon both sides to agree "to give all full and reasonable cooperation" to the mediation board "in facilitating its investigation and decision in these matters," as well as to share the costs of mediation equally.

The final proposition was that the PEA and school board mutually agree "to be firmly bound" by the decision of the mediator "in order to complete a master contract for the 1972-73 school year."

Tw. Firemen Want Visitors

An open house will be held Sunday by the Plymouth Township Fire Department at its headquarters station, Ann Arbor Rd. and Lilley Rd.

From noon to 5 p.m. visitors will be able to inspect the fire trucks, ask questions and tour the station.

Fire Chief James Gignac said that in the event of rain, the open house will be held Monday during the same hours.

Robbery Nets Thief $1,220

The house of Thomas L. Mooney at 237 Maple was broken into Saturday night and approximately $1,220 taken from an upstairs bedroom, according to police.

Three bedrooms in the house had been ransacked. The thief also took a .22 caliber pistol and box of bullets from the basement, police report.

THE CITY of Plymouth isn't alone in offering its water customers attachments that will permit outdoor reading of meters, thus eliminating the hindrance of having a department representative track through the house.

Plymouth Township's trustees have approved a similar sales push starting Sept. 1 and continuing for six months. The device is of a different nature than the city's and is designed to be converted to permit reading eventually by phone.

The price will be $36 and DPW Director Joe Bida says it is only for homeowners who never have paid for an outside meter before. Bida said that after six months the price "will be closer to $50."

Payment may be made in two installments if desired.

YOUNGSTERS WHO already are looking forward to the Fall Festival's annual pet show the morning of Saturday, Sept. 9 now can anticipate even more fun that day as a result of an announcement by the Plymouth Church of the Nazarene.

The church will be sponsoring a community bicycle parade starting at 1 p.m. from the church, then going through downtown and returning to the church at 41600 E. Ann Arbor Trail.

Prior to the parade awards will be presented for the most patriotic bike plus those that are judged best decorated, ugliest, tallest, tiniest, longest and noisiest. The craziest dressed rider also will be given an award.

THE TOWNSHIP'S new ordinance requiring registration of mini-bikes and similarly powered vehicles if they are to be used anywhere besides the owner's own property becomes effective Friday, Sept. 1.

Clerk Helen Richardson admitted Monday that the measure has drawn something less than an avalanche of registrants, only one permit having been taken out up to that time. The fee is $1 and those without permits who are guilty of infractions will be subject to violation citations beginning Friday.

ALL TOWNSHIP unpaved streets and roads will be given their final dust treatment for the summer Thursday and Friday with the application of 45,000 gallons of calcium chloride.

The township's DPW crew will spread the chloride, followed by grading on the part of the Wayne County Road Commission.

DICK SCHWALLER, chairman of the annual fish fry which the Lions Club will be presenting Friday, Sept. 8 as a feature of the Fall Festival, has appointed Don Hay as chairman of the kitchen crew.

Other leaders include Fred Eisenlord, serving line; Ed Kerstens, refreshments; Joe Parrott, tables, chairs and cleanup; Chet Solowiej, ticket sales; Bob Erdelyi, equipment and facilities; Don Tate, Saturday cleanup.

Wives of committee members will assist on the same assignments, while others work on such chores as the serving line and the "cole law detail."

NEW HOURS -- Elizabeth Barnwell, head librarian at Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library, posts the schedule of new hours which will begin Sept. 5. For the first time, the library will be open on Sundays, the hours being from 1 to 5 p.m. (Observer photo)

Library Will Be Open On Sunday Afternoons

Those often dull winter Sundays, or in fact, any dull Sunday, can have a new meaning for "book worms" if they take advantage of the new fall schedule at Dunning-Hough Library which will be open Sundays beginning Sept. 10.

Elizabeth Barnwell, head librarian, said the library will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays primarily for circulation and leisure browsing. "Staffing, of necessity, will have to be kept to a minimum.

Therefore, professional personnel will not be available for full reference assistance," she stated.

"Patrons are asked to plan such library business for other days in the week when professional personnel will be available for assistance."

The library's fall schedule, beginning Sept. 5, will have Monday through Thursday hours of from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. On Fridays the library will be open from noon to 5 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

"THE LIBRARY will maintain its usual 60-hour business week in spite of the fact we will be open four hours on Sundays," Miss Barnwell explained.

"This will be done by cutting three morning hours and one Saturday morning hour from our old schedule."

She added that the new hours are being initiated as a step to improve service to library patrons in the Plymouth area.

"Sunday hours have proven to be popular in those communities that have offered such a schedule," she said.

Miss Barnwell said the library has seen a decided increase in the number of persons utilizing its services.

'Bert' Lofy Dies At 66

Norbert E. Lofy, who for years was one of the Plymouth community's best known restaurateurs, was buried Tuesday following his sudden death at his home last Saturday, resulting from heart failure.

The 66-year-old Lofy, a native of Wisconsin, had lived in the area since the mid-'40s when he served for several years in charge of catering at the Mayflower Hotel.

This set the stage for entering business on his own which he did in 1951 with the opening of Lofy's Arbor Lil at Ann Arbor and Lilley Rds. It was operated as a combined bowling establishment and restaurant for a while, then exclusively as a restaurant which became one of the area's most popular.

After selling in 1969, Lofy operated another restaurant in Detroit until his death. The Plymouth structure, still carrying the Lofy name but operated by Sam Hadous, was turned into a "big name" night club and then was destroyed by fire last September.

Mr. and Mrs. Lofy lived at 11809 Amherst Ct. In addition to Mrs. Lofy, survivors include a sister, Mrs. Agnes Reingans, of South Milwaukee, Wis.; and two brothers, Sylvester, of South Milwaukee, and Gerald, of Wauwatosa, Wis.

Funeral services were conducted at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church under direction of Rev. Francis Byrne, and burial was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery, Detroit.

As earlier Americans headed north in the search for gold, Consumers Power has explored for another vital treasure—natural gas. The search proved successful in northern Michigan, in Kalkaska County.

New gas reserves were found by Northern Michigan Exploration Company, a subsidiary of Consumers Power, and now a 12-inch pipeline has been built from these new natural gas discoveries to the company's Marion Storage Field area.

To meet the growing demands of more than 880,000 natural gas customers in Michigan, Consumers Power is using many tools of modern technology. Some are the tools found in laboratories. Others probe the earth's depths in the spirit of our early pioneers.

THROUGH BIFOCALS

By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

ONE OF THE least understood and yet most purposeful organizations in our midst is the quasi-governmental entity known as the Plymouth Area Planning Commission. There is no direct daily contact with the general public such as city, township and school governments provide, yet its function is related to every pocketbook in Greater Plymouth.

The PACP actually is a sales force with one purpose, that of expanding the commercial and industrial tax base of the Plymouth Community School District, a sprawling hybrid which covers 54 square miles and which includes all or part of six governmental areas.

Those, of course, are all of both the city and township of Plymouth, plus segments of Canton and Northville Townships in Wayne County, and of Salem and Superior Townships in Washtenaw County. I'd like to have some of what the guy was drinking who put that together.

The two Plymouths, Canton and the school board pay dues to keep the PACP alive financially, providing a paid director and such necessities as office overhead, printing of some literature and minimal expenses to be used in luring more commerce and industry to the district.

The PACP shares office space with the Chamber of Commerce and to all intent and purpose really is that body's division of economic expansion - except that isn't the way the setup is structured. This might be just the time to put it on that basis, however.

USE OF THE words "planning commission" in the title of the PACP when it was originated may have been a mistake, because it is misleading. This is not an agency that conducts hearings and makes decisions on zoning and land uses. It is only advisory, a contact agency that gives advice and assistance.

Nonetheless, the real point is that in face of the population increase of recent years - and knowledge that we're on the verge of an even greater boom - somebody had doggone well be trying to help the tax base. What the agency is called won't matter.

We will have a record 10,800 students in our schools this year, but listen to this from George Lawton, president of the school board:

"Looking to the immediate future, we see a rapid growth factor which shows an increase of 11,000 students in the next five to six years. It appears that the district should be building an elementary school per year to handle this anticipated growth."

More schools will mean more teachers, more money for heat and electricity, more of everything. And unless the tax base grows proportionately in these 54 square miles, the tax rate we pay individually will go out of sight.

JIM ROSSMAN is currently the president of the PACP board, which includes three appointees of each of the four sponsoring governments. He reveals that the group will meet Thursday "to develop alternative plans for future services to the community."

Last week the PACP lost John Wright as its full-time director because of ill health, and the directors feel the future course of the PACP must be charted before the search for a new director can be undertaken. This may indicate that restructuring to become in some sense a more viable wing of the chamber itself, under mutual command, will be studied. The time certainly is ripe for such consideration.

"Plymouth has an excellent industrial, commercial and residential balance," commented Rossman. "This will be difficult to maintain with the rapid residential growth."

"During the last eight years the assessed valuation of the school district area has increased from $115 million to $315 million. Part of the increase has been due to inflation, but a substantial amount has resulted from growth."

"The PACP recognizes the need for new development and also redevelopment of areas within the city. The approaches to the area are also of concern if we are to attract high quality commercial and industrial projects."

"Blemishes need to be removed, natural area beauty preserved, new parks developed, landscaping considered a part of every plan, and general relationships in the total community planning process kept at a very high cooperative level."

Southfield Lathrup Gunning For No.1

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

The No. 2 prep football team in the state last year is out to do better this season.

Southfield Lathrup is working on a string of 17 consecutive games without a loss, with the last defeat the opening game of the 1970 campaign against Southfield High, 18-16.

"We have the potential to be the top team in the state," said Lathrup head coach Daryl Harper. "If we can get by our first two opponents, Birmingham Seaholm and Ferndale, it should be another undefeated season."

It should be a strange season for the Lathrup squad. The question of its No. 2 ranking last season, instead of No. 1 stemmed from the caliber of play of its opponents. Lathrup breezed to another Inter-Lakes Conference championship.

Harper knew the talent would be there this season for an even stronger bid for the state title with Inter-Lakes action due to improve and improve his team's rating.

But much to the surprise and dismay of Harper,

Lathrup has packed its bags and left the Inter-Lakes conference

THE NEW LEAGUE, well it took a combination of the six man coaching staff to think of the name of the new league, the Metro Suburban Student Activities Association.

The name is not overly impressive as well as the teams in it, except Lathrup. Lathrup joins Birmingham Groves, which escaped the Northwest Suburban League, Bloomfield Lahser, Royal Oak Donero, Rochester Adams and Ulica Eisenhower.

Bloomfield Lahser was the only other school that finished above 500 last season besides Lathrup in football.

"I am not in favor of the new league," said Harper. "Just when we get strong, we move to a weak conference. It doesn't make sense but my job is to coach football, not decide what conference we play in."

"Everyone will be after us this year," added Harper. "Now hardly anyone will get a shot at us."

A TOTAL of 130 candidates ventured out for Observerland's No. 1 football team with 55 still on the varsity "maybe roster."

The new league hasn't been the only "bugaboo" in Harper's '72 football lineup

"Our backup quarterback Andy Tracy decided not to come out this year," said Harper. "The big blow has to be in the loss of our kicker Berj Yepremian. We haven't heard from him since school let out and the word is that he has moved to Miami."

Yepremian is the brother of Miami Dolphin kicker Garo Yepremian and Harper knew he had a good thing in his kicker.

"He was booting them 15 yards between the uprights last year," said Harper. "He'll be a pro some day but it looks like Lathrup will not have the chance for his junior and senior high days."

"It looks like we'll be passing or running for extra points this year," added Harper.

LATHRUP HAS 18 returning lettermen, all seniors, with seven returning from the ranks of regular performers.

Bruce Ruhl, All-State his junior year, has to be the key to the Lathrup attack. The 6-2, 185 pounder has been selected as one of the top 100 prep athletes in the country.

Ruhl does his thing at the halfback slot on offense and safety position on defense.

This '72 season marks the fourth year for Ruhl in the varsity lineup with 31 touchdowns to his credit which includes over 2,000 yards rushing and 3,000 receiving.

"Bruce has to be the finest athlete I have ever coached, on and off the field," said Harper. "Schools like Yale, Stanford, Ohio State, Michigan and Michigan State have all shown interest in him."

BARRY BRODSKY is returning at the quarterback berth. The 5-9, 140 pounder threw for 10 touchdowns and 800 yards last season with a 55 passing per cent.

Jeff Goldberg rounds out the returning backfield at the other halfback slot. The 5-10, 170 pound All-Leaguer scored three touchdowns in the season wrapup with Seaholm.

Another All-Leaguer Matt Heppler will be returning to the guard position with Brian Courty filling out the regular offensive squad at right end.

Returning starters on defense are Paul Knapp and Len Sokoloff. Knapp stands 6-0 and weighs 195 pounds with Sokoloff also at 6-0 but checking in at 205 pounds.

"Our offense should be as good if not better than last year," said Harper.

One of the weak spots in the Charger lineup will be at the tackle position with Craig Miller, Glenn Renton, Paul Knapp, Len Sokoloff and Buzz Hackett all fighting for assignments.

DEFENSE IS WIDE open at Lathrup with only two regulars returning in safeties Ruhl and Goldberg.

"This has to be one of the big question marks," said Harper. "We only gave up six touchdowns in nine games last year and have allowed only 90 points the last two seasons. As much as I don't want to, we'll probably have about seven guys going both ways."

Harper might as well be lost in the jungle for his search of linebackers to fill the shoes of Dave Schultz and the Weinberg twins who graduated.

"There are about 20 candidates for the linebacker spots," Harper said.

ASSISTING HARPER in the coaching department are: Dave Butler, (line coach); Don Shonta, (line coach); and Bill Dougall, (backfield coach).

Harper is turning to his ace Ruhl for another assignment this season. The All-State halfback will be handling the punting chores and according to Harper, when he is right, he has the best foot in the area.

"Mr. Freeze Pop" has made the scene at Lathrup High to make the unbearable summer drills a little cooler.

"We go through about a case a day," said Harper. "That's about 196 popsicles during morning and afternoon workouts. The kids really enjoy them, but about that new league we are in..."

LATHRUP'S "MR. EVERYTHING" — Senior Bruce Ruhl is being looked upon as the main reason for Southfield Lathrup's assault on the state's No. 1 ranking. The offensive halfback and defensive safety will also handle the kicking chores this season. (Observer Photo)

NFWB All-Stars Suffer 2 Defeats In World Series

The goal was the Pony League baseball world championship.

The aim was on target but the shot was blocked by a team from Newport News, Va.

The North Farmington West Bloomfield Pony squad lost its second game in the Washington, Pa. eight team world series to be eliminated. NFWB opened the two-game knockout tournament with an 8-4 loss to Newport News, but rebounded over Lakewood, Calif., 1-0.

NEWPORT CAME BACK to haunt the Michigan team in the third round with a 10-inning 4-2 victory and NFWB packed its bags and headed north with an overall tourney mark of 15-4.

Mark Salisbury started for NFWB in the second Newport contest. The hard throwing righthander worked the first seven innings, giving up one run on hits, walking four and striking out 11.

John Slack hurled the eighth, ninth and part of the 10th innings, allowing two runs on one hit, walking two and striking out two and suffered the loss. Mike Cullen finished the 10th giving up two hits.

The Michigan squad struck first in the bottom of the fifth when Salisbury singled, stole second and scampered in on Cullen's two-bagger.

NFWB held on to the lead to the top of the seventh, when with one out...two away from victory, Harold Burke walked off Salisbury. Tom Dixon bunted back to Salisbury who threw wild to first with Burke scampering around to make a 7-1 game.

With Slack pitching in the top of the 10th, Bee Burroughs was safe on an error and Bill Wren singled to move the runner to third. Coach Bill Doerr brought in Cullen from the bullpen with Tim Crockett lining to second baseman Steve Morrison for out No. 1.

Cal Gilliam grounded into a fielder's choice with Morrison throwing Burroughs out at the plate and it appeared that NFWB was out of the jam.

Bob Colligan grounded between short and third and it went through for a hit with Wren scoring to break the tie. Burke doubled to right to score two more and it was 4-1.

It had too long a road to just sit down and die in the last of the 10th and NFWB jumped right on Newport News.

MIKE DOERR was safe on an error but Salisbury grounded into a fielder's choice for one out. Cullen singled to put runners on first and third and Morrison singled to score Salisbury to put the tying run on first with only one out.

But spirit and talent ran out for the NFWB squad with two strikeouts ending the '72 season.

Cullen and Morrison paced the Michigan All-Stars in tourney action in hitting. Cullen connected for 21 hits in 64 at bats for .375 with Morrison hitting at a .370 clip with 20 hits in 54 at bats.

Paul Chatlin was the NFWB pitching story with an 8-0 tourney record. Cullen scored a 4-1 record, with Salisbury, 2-2. Bill Lowman at 1-0 and Slack with an 0-1 mark.

U-M Coaches Plan Opener

The football think tank in Jenison Gymnasium is producing more moves these days than Fischer and Spassky.

Some of the latest advanced by Grand Master Duffy Daugherty and his seconds include these:

Veteran Ernie Hamilton from middle guard to defensive left end to fill in for academic casualty Bill Chada.

Senior running back Jim Bond to fullback, where he'll be man to beat for sophomore whizzes Clarence Bullock and Arnold Morgado.

Junior Mark Niesen to retain his first string cornerback position but work part time at quarterback behind George Mihau and Dan Werner.

Mike Holt, newly repatriated from the track team, to pair with Jesse Williams at first string running backs.

Bishop Borgess Jumps Into Double A Division

Bishop Borgess will not have a shot at defending its Catholic League A West Divisional football championship.

Borgess, coached by Fred Mushinski, has made a jump to the Double A Division which includes such teams as Divine Child, St. Ladislaus, Bishop Gallagher, Shrine, Redford St. Mary and Servite.

"It's a big jump for us at Borgess," said Coach Mushinski. "But on the other hand, it's a great challenge."

Borgess was 4-1 in league action last year, 7-2 overall, and lost to Brother Rice, 20-0, in the Catholic League finals.

The defense is not to be reckoned with since Mushinski boasts seven regulars. Chuck DeCosta, George O'Malley, Bill Matauch, Shawn McCarthy and Dan McManamen pace the seniors and Marty Kennedy and Dan Kelly the juniors.

Junior Tom Birney stands 6-3 and weighs in at 185 pounds and will be handling the kicking chores. Last season as a sophomore, Birney booted eight of nine extra points and converted up to 45 yard field goals.

Junior Greg Drypen will be barking out the signals in the quarterback slot with Neil Falls the backbone of the Borgess attack.

"Falls will be our swingback, has great speed and can move to the outside," added Mushinski.

BORGESS OPENS with Divine Child on Oct. 7 and Mushinski will have a double reason to topple the gridiron foes — he used to coach football there.

A total of 60 candidates

ventured out for the squad in summer practice with the number now down to 35.

Mushinski is helped in the coaching department by: Dennis Brisky, (offensive and line coach); Pat Mulcahy, (secondary coach); John Kolb, (line coach); Gene Grewe, (junior varsity); Jim Kolb, (assistant JV coach); and Bob Williams, (assistant coach).

"Speed is going to be our key factor in winning some ball games," said Mushinski. "Neil Falls will make or break us."

THE SPARTAN ATTACK features 20 returning lettermen and 10 starters. The offensive attack is

THE BIG QUESTION mark in Mushinski's mind has to be his offensive line where anything is up for grabs.

Turf Tips, Quips

Michigan's No. 1 thoroughbred event, the $100,000 added Michigan mile and an eighth is only three weeks away (Sept. 16) and judging from the list of 64 nominations, it will be one of the best in the 21 year history.

Director of Racing Norris Gwin reported 22 three-year-olds and 23 four-year-olds are included on the list and the names have some of the top horses in the land.

Missing is that of Riva Rouge, the Kentucky Derby champion, who has encountered some problems lately and may not return to the races until November.

It is no surprise to see that the power seems to be among the older horses with such standouts as Oxford Stable's West Coast Scout and John M. Shiff's Droll Role as the top nominees.

WEST COAST SCOUT has banked the winner's share of the $100,000 guaranteed Hobson and the $113,500 Haskell handicaps.

Droll Role has been on a win streak since May with such goodies as the $118,000 Massachusetts Handicap; $118,250 Hawthorne Gold Cup; $83,475 Grey Lag and the $59,100 Tidal in his grasp.

In the sophomore division, five catch attention over others. Freetex and King's Bishop are probably the best. Detroit-owned Governor Max, British Fleet and Ladiga May rate next.

Freetex, owned by Midletown Stable, has not been too dependable but deserves credit for grabbing off the $100,000 Ohio Handicap and the Monmouth Invitational. Craig Cullinan's King's Bishop picked off the Round Table and Pontiac features in Chicago.

Governor Max will be running in the $35,000 added Detroit Saturday and his performance there will determine whether he'll start in the Mile. A sensation as a two-year-old, Governor Max has had injury problems this year and has had only three starts.

Jack Van Berg's British Fleet is another threat in the Detroit. The colt has won more than $125,000 this year, all in Omaha.

There doesn't appear to be a chance for a repeat winner in the rich Mile but two previous starters have been nominated. They are Tom Devereaux's Royal Harmony and Clement Hirsch's Fignero. They were runnersup in 1970 and 1971 but haven't been in the best of form recently.

Royal Harmony, who went lame after a recent DRC stake, is reported gradually rounding into top condition but it is hard to believe an eight-year-old can recover that quickly.

Many of the Mile eligibles are expected to arrive on the grounds within another week and participate in some of the trial events.

THE LEADING HARNESS driver in Michigan today is a one-time NCAA boxing champion, the master of a 3,000-acre pre-Civil War plantation in Mississippi and a man who knows how to use a stopwatch.

Tom Wilburn, 53, was the leading driver in the meetings at the Wolverine Raceway and Northville Downs earlier this year. He is the top winner in the current Hazel Park season, and he has an excellent chance of sweeping the driving championships at all three tracks.

Yet Wilburn didn't get into harness racing as a professional until he was 28 years old, after service as a fighter pilot in World War II. He had earned his B.S. degree from the University of Mississippi, where he earned his varsity letter on the boxing team. Before the war he had done some county-fair racing in Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi but, he says, "I was just kind of playing with the horses."

When he came back to Artesia, Miss., he decided he had to go into racing as a business and make it pay off, or get out and devote all his time to farming.

"I went to Louisville to see if I could make any money at a parimutuel track," he recalls. "For the first few weeks, I thought I was going to starve to death. Then I began to click a little bit. In two months, I netted $1,500. To me, as a farmer, I never dreamed of netting $1,500 in two months, not on the farm. I decided to make a career of racing and let my crew operate the farm."

He has done all right. In the past 20 years, he has accumulated more than 1,500 victories and his horses have won over $2,300,000. He has posted 17 two-minute miles. He had great success with Midnite Hardy, driving him to five two-minute miles. He recalls winning 13 straight with Billy Corbit around 1953.

He has been an outstanding campaigner on the Michigan circuit in recent years but he had never won a driving championship here until 1972.

NEW LEAGUE, NEW??? - Bishop Borgess has moved into the Catholic League Double A football division with U-D High, Catholic Central and Divine Child. Borgess Head Coach Fred Mushinski has a long two weeks before the opener with Divine Child. (Observer photo)

Waterfowl Hunters Must Register For Reservations

LANSING waterfowl hunters are advised that they must submit applications through the Department of Natural Resources during the next few weeks to seek shooting reservations this fall at the Shiawassee River, Maple River, and Allegan state game areas.

The pre-registration requirement, designed to promote quality hunting, covers the entire Oct. 21-Nov. 14 waterfowl season at the Swan Creek Highbanks Unit of Allegan State Game Area. It applies only to the opening Oct. 1-3 period for shooting geese at the Shiawassee River Area, and to the first three days (Oct. 6-8) for hunting waterfowl in the eastern flooded unit of Maple River State Game Area.

RESERVATION requests for the Shiawassee River and Maple River areas are now being accepted by the DNR, with Sept. 18 the deadline for mailing them. Those for the Swan Creek Highbanks Unit are to be mailed between Sept. 1 and Sept. 30.

That unit and the Shiawassee River area each carry a daily reservation quota of 60 parties. Each of those parties is to be made up of two or three sportsmen who wish to hunt together.

Reservations for the Maple River flooding are offered to individuals and parties of two or three on a half-day basis. Fifty of them are available for morning hunting, with another 50 going to different sportsmen for afternoon action.

APPLICATIONS for the three areas must be made on regular government postcards as follows:

1 — The individual or one member of a party must print his name and complete address on the mailing side of the postcard and make sure it has the proper 6-cent postage. 2 — On the other side of the postcard, the applicant must designate which of the three areas that his request covers, and sign his name in ink. In case of party applications, each member of the group must ink his signature. Also to be written on this side of the card is the individual's or party's first and second choices of hunting dates.

Individuals or parties applying for the 200-acre flooded unit at Maple River must specify with those dates whether they prefer to hunt in the morning or afternoon.

Envelopes carrying proper postage and each application must be addressed on the top line either to Maple River Waterfowl Hunt, Shiawassee Goose Hunt, or Highbanks Waterfowl Hunt. The rest of the mailing address for all three areas is the same—P.O. Drawer M, Lansing, 48926.

No hunter may submit his name on more than one application—either individually or as a member of a party—for a reservation to hunt in each area.

Farmington High Has New Basketball Coach

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Prep basketball is still a few months away but Farmington High has taken an early step towards a successful 1972-73 campaign.

Farmington Athletic Director Jack Cotton announced the resignation of five-year Coach Ray Boyle and the addition of Bruce Brown from Port Huron Northern High School.

Brown will be taking over the No. 1 basketball assignment at Farmington with three years of head coaching behind him.

The '61 Adrian High School graduate played two years at Port Huron Junior College where he made All-Conference his sophomore season with a 14 point average.

The six foot, seven inch center then went on to Albion College where he captained the basketball squad his senior year and graduated with honors in '65.

Brown ventured into the teaching field with his first year at Flint Hamady where he also coached eighth grade basketball.

THE NEW COACH moved on to Saugatuck High and directed his cagers to a 12-8 season with a District championship under his belt his rookie year.

The years 1967-69 saw Brown return to Albion as an assistant coach and head soccer coach and '70 saw Brown jump to St. Clair County Community College as an assistant.

Brown settled into a position he enjoyed the past two seasons as head Coach at Port Huron Northern High School. He compiled an overall mark of 30-10 in the Eastern Michigan League and finished ninth in the state in the '70-'71 season.

MILLAGE FAILED to pass at the close of last school year at Port Huron and Coach Brown went looking for another opening.

"I was contacted by Jack Cotton in June," said Brown. "I was very surprised for two reasons: one being that I knew the millage failed there and secondly, I knew they had a coach."

The Farmington Board of Education met in early August and Brown was approved.

COACHING FARMINGTON basketball players will not be all new to Brown.

"When I was the assistant coach at Albion, I coached Farmington graduates Neil Warner and Mike Wilson," said Brown.

Brown has just recently made the "family move" from Port Huron to Livonia with his wife Sherry, three-year-old daughter Robin and 10-month-old son Jason.

The millage has since been approved in Port Huron but Brown has no second thoughts about his move.

"I am looking forward and not behind," said Brown. "I am hoping to work with the Booster Club and school to put together an excellent basketball team."

BROWN WILL be teaching American History along with his coaching duties where he aims to stress defense.

"I believe in making the opposing team work for a shot," said Brown.

"I don't believe there will be an excess of pressure this season," added Brown. "The pressure if anything will be self-inflicted."

Brown has never seen Farmington High play and doesn't know a thing about the Inter-Lakes Conference, but he does know basketball and is hoping to put a fresh touch in the Falcon scene.

The Court Jester

by BILL CAMERON

If you can combine business with pleasure you're very fortunate. I had the recent experience of combining pleasure with pleasure when I spent three days in Toronto, one of the most exciting cities in North America.

This fastest growing Canadian Metropolis has to rank as one of the great cities in the world according to Cameron ratings. I have fond memories of Paris, London, Munich, Madrid, etc., but Toronto has it all, an outstanding Science Center, unique shops and galleries, great theater, fantastic restaurants and friendly people.

WHAT REALLY turned me on was discovering that the Canadian Open tennis championships were being played at the Toronto Cricket, Skating and Curling Club. When I read the draw, my blood pressure increased - Goolagong, Court, Nastase, Orantes, Gimeno, Kodes, Barthelemy - world ranked players.

What made it so interesting was the fact that they were playing on clay. This is the surface that most Europeans prefer. It takes away the power game from the serve and volley artist and gives the advantage to the all-court player.

I had the opportunity of watching a match between Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia, seeded fourth, against a relatively unknown famed for his superb backhand and I can't remember seeing two players hitting crosscourt topspin backhand drives that kept falling within a foot inside the baseline. Excursions to the net were rare.

Kodes found to his dismay that Vilas, on this particular day, kept rifling shots down the line or crosscourt each time he ventured to the net, and ended up losing 6-4, 6-4. Unfortunately the girls weren't scheduled for play that day so I missed watching Miss Goolagong.

GETTING BACK to the other pleasure, Toronto is an experience. You could spend a month visiting all the great eating establishments. Two that we enjoyed were Gatsbys, a small intimate restaurant, and Ed's Warehouse, undoubtedly the most popular restaurant in Toronto. Owner Ed Mirvish has to be one of the most congenial and interesting men I've ever met.

Here is a man who owns Toronto's largest discount store, "Honest Ed's", the Royal Alexandra Theater, featuring outstanding Broadway and London productions, and Mirvish Village, a combination Carnaby Street and Paris Flea Market where over 200 artists, sculptors and gallery owners work and display their wares.

But it is the "Warehouse" that has an atmosphere all its own. We kidded him about building a restaurant around an art gallery. He has reputedly the world's largest collection of tiffany type lamps and antiques, that I was told, are valued at $3,000,000.

Of course all he serves is roast beef and steak in his six dining rooms, but it happens to be the best beef and reasonably priced. Mr. Mirvish has kept his sense of humor. He is opening another restaurant next door, called "Poor Ed's", it's for losers!

Try Ontario Place, a new 96 acre entertainment and exhibition complex located on three man-made islands in Lake Ontario. They have the greatest children's play area I have ever seen. If you want to tire the kids out, that's the place to go. They also have an 800 seat theatre called the Cinesphere that features a mind blowing film entitled "North of Superior" that had me airtight.

Above all, don't miss the Science Center, a fantastic piece of architecture. Most science centers or museums are strictly for looking. But here you not only look, you touch, operate, experiment, manipulate and make things happen. It's a tremendous learning experience.

When you can have all of that, and top it off by watching 2,000 Scotch pipers and drummers parade to the shriek of bagpipes, which is an emotional experience in itself, then that's what I call mixing pleasure with pleasure.

3rd Coach

Dick Swanson, only the third man to coach Wayne State University's cross country teams since WSU began the sport in 1929, lettered in the sport at WSU under both of his predecessors, the late Dave Holmes and Frank McBride.

Passing The Key Harrison Eyes Repeat

Passing is the name of the game this season for Farmington Harrison High School as it prepares to defend its Western Six Conference football title.

Harrison went undefeated last season with a 4-0 mark on the legs of Dave Manos and Dennis Thibodeau who received All-League acclaim.

But both are gone and Harrison head Coach John Herrington is out to prove that Harrison wasn't all Dave Manos as some other coaches think.

Harrison sports 16 returning lettermen including 10 starters.

"We are building around quarterback Chris Pagnucco and his passing game," said Herrington.

PAGNUCCO STARTED last season in his junior year and ended up with a 60 per cent passing mark.

The high flying Hawks ran into stiff competition outside the Western Six with a 1-4 record to offset the 4-0 league mark. The two year senior squad has now compiled a 9-8-1 record.

Herrington is building his defense around the talent of 6-0, 180 pound linebacker Tom Erkert. This season marks the third consecutive defensive captain slot for the senior, who made All-Conference last year.

Other All-League returnees in the Hawk lineup are defensive safety Bill Herpich and guard Mark Bentivoglio, both seniors.

THE OFFENSIVE LINE is small but aggressive by Harrison. The average weight hovers around 164 pounds.

Harrison's '72 weakness boils down to the running game with the loss of Manos and Thibodeau.

"I don't see us developing much of anything in a running game... passing will be the key to our season's success," added Herrington.

The tackle slot is another sore spot with the graduation of Barry Smeltzer and Larry Shaheen who are now playing football at Alma and Wayne State University respectively.

"The tackle berth is up for grabs and that combined with our running backs could tell the story," said Herrington. Pagnucco is of course the No. 1 figure in the passing attack with Herrington looking to Herpich, Craig Perkins and Don Siekas to haul in the passes.

"I think we have a shot to repeat as league champs," said Herrington. "Waterford Mott and Churchill have to be the favorites but I can picture a three-way scramble."

THE TACKLE and running back berths are not the only positions Herrington is having trouble filling. Manos also did the kicking last season and it looks like a three man fight this year to see who fills Manos' kicking shoes.

Tim Hammer, Brian Albertson and Joe McCarthy are booting for the job.

HERRINGTON still sees a winning season at Harrison despite the trouble spots.

Harrison takes part in its first scrimmage on Sept. 7 against Southfield Lathrup, U-D High School, and Grosse Pointe North at Lathrup.

The Hawks open their regular season with rival Farmington on Sept. 16 and encounter Birmingham Groves before opening Western Six action with Walled Lake Western on Sept. 29.

Other seniors who are expected to carry the Harrison squad are Brian Collins, John Klus, Nick Nicolay, Dave Norton, Kevin Pryor, and Mike Thorne.

Three up and coming juniors are Paul Bey, Don Siekas and Dave Wallington, with Wallington the biggest man on the squad, checking in at 6-1 and 202 pounds.

One sophomore stands out in Herrington's attack and that is one year letterman Sam Pink at the tailback slot.

HERRINGTON closed with saying, "Our air game has to click."

Where else do Hawks play?

Registration Under Way For '72 PP&K

Registration at Ford dealerships is under way for the 1972 Punt, Pass and Kick (PP&K) competition, with about 30,000 Michigan youths expected to enroll by Sept. 29, the closing date.

All youngsters eight through 13 are eligible. There is no entry fee and no special equipment is needed. Youngsters compete against others their own age. There is no body contact and participants do not lose amateur status. They must be accompanied by a parent or guardian when they register.

PP&K is sponsored in Michigan by Ford dealers and the Detroit Lions.

Six levels of PP&K competition each produce six winners. Winners' trophies are awarded at each level and the names of national champions are recorded in the Football Hall of Fame at Canton, O.

Competition will begin Sept. 30 with dealer-level contests.

Mrs. Petitpren Misses In Dem Convention Bid

GRAND RAPIDS Area Democrats last weekend joined the fall Democratic convention here, a gathering marked by unprecedented numbers of interest group caucuses and an unusually large number of candidates seeking nomination to state education posts.

The only statewide candidate from this area was Mrs. Joan Petitpren of 15th District, picked John Canfield of Dearborn Heights as chairman and Helen Wainio of Taylor as vice chairman and acting secretary.

Democrats also ducked a floor fight on the busing issue, continuing to the resolution committee a document which both had joined the young recognized widely differing views on the matter within the party and declined further comment until court appeals have been settled.

THE GATHERING also marked the last official meeting of the old district organizations which were set in 1964 and which were reapportioned this year. After the November election, the new districts will caucus and then attend the February 1973 convention in their new format.

Nineteenth District officers for this convention were Aldo Vagnozzi of Farmington, chairman, Barbara Johnson of Livonia, vice chairman, Sid Diamond of Livonia, secretary, and former 19th District Congressman Billie S. Farnum of Drayton Plains, presidential elector. The district currently includes Livonia, Farmington and Redford Township.

The 18th District, which includes Southfield, selected John Lane of Birmingham, chairman, Jeanne Kersh of Royal Oak, vice chairman, man, Ethel Schwartz of Southfield, secretary, and Russel Golden of Royal Oak, presidential elector.

Westland and Garden City delegates, participating in the rather than all at once. The motion was defeated by voice vote from the floor.

MRS. PETITPREN was one of a field of four candidates for the Wayne State board. Although she appeared to have a strong chance for nomination early in the convention, she garnered only 804 votes (1,221 needed for nomination) in the Sunday balloting and released her delegates.

Eventual nominees were Michael Einhauser, a WSU student, and Mrs. Kathleen Strauss, a Detroit resident with a background in education services. Former Dearborn State Sen. Roger Craig was also an unsuccessful candidate.

SC Faculty Get 4.5 Pct. Hike Plus 3.1 Pct. In Increments

By KATHY MORAN

A two-year contract for the Schoolcraft College faculty was ratified by both sides last week and praised as one which is "good not only for the faculty but good for the college."

The board of trustees unanimously approved the contract. It took effect Aug. 21 and provides for a 4.5 per cent general salary increase. It also provides for an approximately 3.1 per cent increase in increments for faculty who have not reached the top of the pay scale.

President C. Nelson Grote said the contract will cost the college $210,000 in its first year. The second year provides for a 2.4 per cent cost of living increase plus major changes in the insurance benefits for each faculty member.

"I AM VERY satisfied with the contract," said Richard Arlan, president of the faculty's bargaining unit, the Faculty Forum. "I feel the contract is not only good for the faculty but good for the college. The negotiations were very businesslike and high caliber. It wasn't easy, but we got the job done."

Prior to voting to ratify the contract, the board discussed the terms in public after trustee Arch Vallier said he could see no reason why final discussion couldn't be held in open session.

The discussion was originally marked for "executive" (secret) session on the board agenda. All trustees agreed to public discussion.

"I personally think we have a pretty good contract for both sides," said Vallier, who participated in the sessions along with trustee Rosina Raymond.

Negotiations began last spring and wound up Aug. 20 -- the day the old contract expired -- after a marathon session.

Arlan said later that the new contract "cleans up a lot of language that was vague" and includes such provisions as procedures for staff reduction and teacher evaluation.

It also includes an agency shop provision (making it mandatory for faculty members to belong to the union) and an optional third year probationary period for faculty.

"I think the basic principles of a good relationship are here. I'll be very disappointed if, in the next two years, the relationship between the faculty and administration doesn't improve. Each side has given a little and the basic principles have been established."

"I'm satisfied and I think they are," Mrs. Raymond echoed.

Arlan said later that salaries were never a big issue in the negotiations. The administrative bargaining team (headed by personnel director Gerald Munro) told the faculty how much money was available for raises, and the faculty felt they were given an honest figure, Arlan said.

THE NEW contract spells out procedures for terminating a faculty member for "good and adequate cause," which could be for immorality, incompetence, conviction of a felony, etc. The administration has always been able to terminate a faculty member for good reason, but this is the first time the contract spells it out.

Teachers will be evaluated every three years with one third of the faculty done each year. The area directors and faculty representatives will be involved in evaluations.

The title of faculty "chairman" was changed to faculty "representative" under the new contract. The position has been controversial since faculty members felt their elected chairman or representative in each department could handle the responsibilities that were handed to the area directors during a reorganization a few years ago.

The area directors are a middle layer of administrators while the faculty representatives are elected by the faculty and still continue to teach.

The faculty as a whole were given a total of 14 days annually to conduct Forum business rather than the 12 days last year.

THE INSURANCE program could cost the college upwards of $11,500 in the second year, according to Munro and trustee Paul Kadish. However, the insurance benefits are still an open item and will have to be put up for bids.

Faculty members and their families will be able to take courses at the college at reduced rates, according to a tuition grant fund established in the contract.

Under the terms of the fund (which takes effect in the second year of the contract), faculty members will pay tuition when they register but will be reimbursed for all of their tuition and half of a family member's from the fund.

Schoolcraft College President C. Nelson Grote will receive a nearly seven per cent salary increase under the terms of his contract approved unanimously by the board of trustees.

Dr. Grote's salary increased from $30,000 to $32,250 in 1972-73 under the new three-year contract. His contract is renewed every year even though it is for a three year period and salary adjustments are made annually. It is effective retroactive to July 1.

Last month, the board had increased his insurance benefits. Dr. Grote came to Schoolcraft last year after former President Eric Bradner retired.

Magazines Cost More

Postal Hikes Defended

Challenging claims of magazine publishers that their postage rates have been greatly increased, Livonia Postmaster Arthur Jenkins charges such statements are exaggerated and misleading.

An average popular magazine now costs only 32 cents in postage fees per copy to mail," he said. "And these are the new increased rates." Jenkins pointed out that rates in effect for popular magazines in early 1971 amounted to only 25 cents.

This was hiked in May 1971 to three cents each on a temporary basis. The new average postage charge of 32 cents went into effect on July 6, 1972.

"THE CHARGES for mailing magazines are extremely reasonable," Jenkins stated. "Compare them, for instance, to postage for a first class letter weighing one ounce or less which comes to eight cents or the postage for an eight-ounce advertising circular which goes for 13 cents."

Under the July revised rate schedules, postage charges for magazines will increase a fraction of a penny each year for the next five. By July 1976, the scheduled charge will only be 38 cents per average magazine. This is still well under the cost of mailing a first class letter.

Jenkins explains that reports of increases of 127 per cent and up have created an impression that the hikes amount to much more than was involved in the July 6 revisions.

"Currently, the average mailer pays nearly the same postage as he has for the past year, and the increases to volume mailers generally will be only a fraction of a cent per piece," he added.

JENKINS STRESSED that first class and airmail rates remain at eight cents and 11 cents an ounce. First class and airmail cards still go for six cents and nine cents each. "Priority" mail (air parcel post) rates remain the same as before.

Also unchanged are rates for regular parcel post and "special" and "library rate" fourth class.

The reports which tell of increases of more than 127 per cent refer to the total boosts phased in over five years for the "regular" rate second class mail such as popular magazines.

"The Postal Service is concerned, of course, even about the second class rate increases," Jenkins recounted. "We want to keep the rates as low as possible. However, newspapers and magazines have been heavily subsidized in the past, and the Postal Service is required to gradually eliminate this subsidy under the postal reorganization law. Even so, the publications are being given until the fifth year to adjust."

"The taxpayers will continue to subsidize the publications until then."

JENKINS EMPHASIZED that for non-mailers, the new rates are even less and designed only to cover actual "attributable" costs, or out-of-pocket costs to the service for this mail; most other classes will cover their attributable costs as well as make a contribution to general postage overhead costs.

Following is a rundown of the most significant changes in rates which became effective July 7, raising the temporary rates previously fixed on March 16, 1971 for second class and on March 12, 1972 for third class. (The second class represents the rates effective until July 1973.)

• Second class -- "In-county" rates for newspapers and other publications. The weighing more than two ounces, a higher rate of 4 cents per piece charge went from 6 1/10 of a cent to 1 1/10 of a cent for each additional ounce above two, replacing a variable rate of 2 or 3 cents for each additional ounce. The flat rate of 8 cents for the first two ounces is unchanged.

Regular publications -- Editorial poundage rate went from 4 cents to 4.2 cents. The poundage rate for non-editorial matter (based on distance) went down slightly, from a range of 4.1 to 9.7 cents to a rate of 4.4 to 9.5 cents. However, the per piece charge increased from 4 1/10 of a cent to 2.10 of one cent.

• Bulk rate third class -- Regular circulars went from 28 to 26 cents per pound. The minimum per piece rate, which has been a flat 5 cents, is changed to 4.8 cents for the first 250,000 pieces mailed annually. The 5 cent rate continues for quantities above 250,000.

• For regular third class books and catalogs, the pound rate increased from 21 to 22 cents. The flat 5 cent minimum per piece changed to permit the same 4.8 cent rate for the first 250,000 pieces mailed annually that applies to circulars.

• Third class (principally advertising) -- Single pieces

How To Tuck Your Roses In For Winter

Roses are much harder plants than their delicate blooms suggest. Except in the coldest areas of the country, bush roses can survive the winter without the arduous steps taken by many gardeners to protect them.

In her book, "Anyone Can Grow Roses," Dr. Cynthia Westcott, the noted rose authority, writes about winter protection. Referring to the results of an experiment in which she mounded one-half the roses in the Montclair,

New Jersey Garden Center and left the other half unprotected, Dr. Westcott says, "I decided then and there never to hill another rose and I never have (except of course after planting). I have had no cause to regret this decision."

The best survival course for your roses, says the world's largest grower of the flower, starts in the summer. Strong, healthy plants, properly nourished and disease-free, have a much better chance of survival than their neglected neighbors. Healthy foliage during the growing season is necessary if the plant is going to "manufacture" mature wood by the time dormancy comes in the fall.

Over-pruning or diseased foliage endangers the plant by permitting it to approach winter with immature, cold-susceptible wood.

Wherever the temperature drops to 10 degrees above zero or less, roses need a cold weather blanket simply because they get too cold; the primary plant damage is due to low temperatures. In regions that don't usually fall below 18 to 20 degrees above zero, there is a possibility of damage, not from sustained low temperatures, but from severely fluctuating temperatures and drying winds.

ROSES CAN accept winter better if they are able to become gradually conditioned to increasingly cold weather. This adjustment to lowering temperatures is termed "hardening off." A rose not hardened off is referred to as "soft."

A cold snap followed by warm weather can reawaken the bush as it tries to go dormant, lessening its winter hardiness. Feeding roses too late in the season can artificially induce this situation, prolonging the growth period past the time when the plants should be going dormant.

"Do not fertilize any later than six to eight weeks before the first frost is expected," advises Bill Fike, horticulturist, "the last feeding generally should be made no later than Sept. 1."

Another pre-winter preparation is pruning. When cutting your roses back in the fall, leave some latitude for freezing - don't prune lower than two feet above the ground; at this height, several inches of cane can freeze and there still be a live portion. Do your final pruning in the spring just before the plants break dormancy.

IN THE REGIONS that definitely require protection, mounding is a common method. If your roses need protection, bring in soil from another area rather than scraping it up from the bed. Mound it in and around the bush to a height of 12 inches or more. Do not use a material that will mat or that is too dense to permit air circulation to the roots.

Bill Fike strongly advises against the use of leaves. "Leaves," says Fike, "will mat when wet, shutting off the oxygen supply to the roots and creating an ideal environment for the growth of fungus." Straw is placed by some gardeners over their dirt mounds after the mounds have frozen to prevent the freeze-thaw cycle that can damage roots.

"That's the plus side of using straw," comments Fike, adding, "but when it becomes wet it also provides an environment for the growth of fungus."

Whatever the mounding material used, don't leave it around the plants too long after spring arrives. If new shoots begin to grow under the mound, they are easily damaged when the mound is removed.

Styrofoam rose cones are commercially available for plant protection. About 3/4-inch thick, they keep the temperature inside from fluctuating drastically. A large bush will have to be trimmed severely to accommodate them. As with mounds, cones should be removed soon after new growth appears. If there is still a chance of frost, they can be carefully replaced at night.

THE MAIN protection required by climbers is to be secured against wind whip by tying them to the trellis or house. Tree roses, which are budded to a long stem, require protection in cold areas.

The safest method in severely cold areas is to dig under the roots on one side, lay the rose on the ground and cover it with soil.

One method that can be used in less cold climates is to cover the top of the rose with burlap, within which is placed an insulation material such as shavings.

Healthy roses, except for the very coldest regions and except for tree plants, need little or no help to survive the winter.

Dr. Westcott's advice is well worth considering: "... experiment with your roses and see if they really require all that labor and expense in your area."

Suburban Gardener Easy-To-Grow Hostas Thrive In Shady Spots

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Funkia is probably what grandmother called that handsome large-leaved perennial plant growing along the shady side of her house, but gardeners now - a - days know it as hosta or plantain lily or August lily. They are hardy, decorative, easy to grow plants that are real gems for the shady parts of the garden.

They are perennials that sprout up early in spring forming low rounded mounds of beautiful foliage. This would be reason enough for growing these plants, but there is an added bonus. At this season the mounds of foliage are topped by spikes of lavender - blue or white flowers.

The botanical names are even more confused than the common names. In some cases the same variety has several different names assigned to it. Also the names have been changed or switched at various times.

They are generally known these days as Hostas. The name commemorates an Austrian physician, Nicolaus T. Host.

Hostas are natives of China and Japan. There are about 10 species in all. They are members of the lily family and are close relatives of the true garden lilies. Like all members of this plant family their flower parts are in multiples of three. They have six petals joined to form a tubular bell-shaped bloom.

GRAMMA'S favorite, the kind most commonly seen in old yards, is Hosta subcordata. It has large, rather heart-shaped leaves with prominent ribs. The flowers are large, and white and very fragrant. Unlike other hostas which have pendant blooms, this kind has erect or ascending flowers on stalks 20 to 30 inches high.

"Royal Standard" is a hybrid of Hosta grandiflora. The leaves are broad but not heart shaped. The fragrant white flowers are smaller, but they are produced abundantly on two-foot tall stems.

Most of the hostas have lavender flowers. Of these the most widely planted is Hosta caerulea. It has broad deep green leaves. Hosta lancifolia has narrow leaves. There are varieties of both of these with variegated leaves - some green with a white margin, others green edged with a creamy white blotch in the center of each leaf.

Perhaps most unusual and striking of all are the hostas with large bluish leaves. Hosta sieboldiana has large metallic blue leaves and short spikes of pale lavender flowers. Hosta Fortunei is similar, but with narrower leaves and taller flower stalks. The leaves are a similar blue-green color.

HOSTAS CAN be grown in the perennial bed and most will tolerate some sun, but they are best used in shady or partially shaded areas where it is difficult to grow other flowers. They thrive best in moist soil that is rich in humus. They are seldom troubled by diseases or insects.

Hostas are easily propagated by division of the clumps. In spring or fall large clumps can be dug up, sliced or pried apart, and the pieces replanted with the tops just below ground level.

Hostas can be included in the mixed perennial bed, but they are most effective when used in masses. They can be used to form a beautiful ground cover in the shade beneath an old tree, or they can fill a narrow, shady space between the house and a walk or driveway.

They can form a low ribbon of foliage bordering the driveway or edging a bed of shrubs or flowers.

The variegated forms or those with blue-green leaves make handsome accent plants. They are effective in the rock garden, or planted in front of evergreens.

The flowers can be cut for use in bouquets. Also, the leaves are useful in flower arrangements. Try tucking in some large hosta leaves when a mass of green is needed at the base of an arrangement or use hosta leaves when the foliage on other flowers is damaged or unattractive.

Also, for an unusual house plant, dig up and pot a clump of variegated hosta in late fall or early spring. The new leaves will soon sprout up and make a decorative display.

Home grown tomatoes: In some areas this has been a poor tomato year. If yours have a poor fruit set, it can be due to temperatures being either too low or too high.

Night temperatures between 70 and 75 degrees and day temperatures between 80 and 90 degrees are ideal for fruit setting. Such temperatures will produce larger fruit as well. Night temperatures either below 60 degrees or above 80 degrees and day temperatures above 90 degrees are unfavorable to fruit set.

Large vine growth is more often the result of poor fruit setting than the cause of no fruit. Rain or irrigation has little to do with fruit set. Actually, the failure of the tomato flower to set is determined 10 to 14 days prior to the time the flower actually falls off. Poor light due to cloudy weather results in poor fruit set and production.

All vines and no fruit can be due to shade, poor pollination, rich soil and the variety itself. It's possible to get a variety such as Rutgers into an "all vine, no fruit" stage much more easily than some of the earlier varieties. Early applications of fertilizer often result in all vines and no tomatoes.

FREEZE your squash: If your family is tiring of squash why not slice it and freeze this healthful vegetable? This

Conservation Club Open

The public may attend at open house Sept. 23 at the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn., 6700 Napier, Plymouth.

The open house will be held in conjunction with National Hunting and Fishing Day, and Chairman Vic Cuppetelli said a program of activities and exhibits is planned.

Hand tools, such as pliers and shears, should have a drop of light household oil on moving parts. Don't forget that a light film of oil will prevent rust.

When equipment becomes rusted or frozen, you need penetrating oil. Apply this in liberal amounts at all points where surfaces meet. Allow to soak for a time before trying to free the surfaces.

THE CROCUS has a long and healthy history, its dried stigmas being used for Greek medicines. But its most effective use has always been in its natural state, where its early blooms are a balm for winter weary eyes. The flower's curative powers are evident in this Christmas Crocus, preplanted in a hand-painted Delft Ware bowl.

been asked about what has become the "hottest" item in drug abuse in recent years. To simplify matters we're breaking down the information about this drug into our own question and answer session.

Q. What is it?
A. A prescription drug with the technical name "Methaqualone". The most common trade name is Quaalude, from this comes the slang or street term "quads". It's also available under the trade names Spor, Parest, somnifac, Tuazol and Op-timil. In Europe it's called Mandrax.

Q. What does Quaalude do?
A. In the most common doses (300 to 400 mg.) it's an hypnotic (sleep-producing) drug. At lower doses (about half that), the drug is claimed to have tranquilizing properties.

Q. Are Quads something new?
A. Not really: the drug has been around for more than 15 years, but widespread abuse has developed only in the past year or so.

Q. How widespread is its use?
A. Almost epidemic in the drug-abusing population. It's especially prevalent in the suburbs, where it is available already to kids at the junior high level.

Q. Why, all of a sudden, has this drug become such a problem?

A. Mostly because it's not covered by state or federal drug abuse laws, as are most of the other prescription sleeping preparations. Although Quads have an effect on the human body rather comparable to these other drugs, the penalty for illegal possession of Quads is no greater than for illegal possession of, let's say, penicillin.

Q. Can this drug be more tightly controlled?

A. Yes. Both the federal government and the State of Michigan have the right to class this drug as a "controlled" substance with all the penalties that apply to this classification.

Q. What are they doing?

A. Thinking about it.

Q. Should Quads be more tightly controlled?

A. Read on.

Q. Can this drug be habit forming?

A. Almost without question, it may cause psychological dependence. The physician's prescribing information states "...use caution with addiction-prone individuals or those who may increase dosage..." Some authorities state that it may cause addictions.

Q. What are the dangers of this drug?

A. The possibility of producing dependence or addiction is certainly a real and present danger. The primary danger is that his drug is capable—as are other depressants — of causing death by overdose.

A search of the medical literature discloses the following effects of the drug (especially in high doses): headaches, loss of sensation, hangover, rapid heart beat, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, gastric hemorrhage and convulsions. Not an innocuous drug, even in the hands of a physician.

Finally, treatment of overdoses of Quads is very difficult because the standard drugs used to treat overdoses of depressants may increase the possibility of Quad-induced convulsions.

The last chapter has not yet been written. It will be based on many more—and much needed—statistics than are available now. It's rather sad that so many young people are so eager to become those statistics.

Somebody else has said the last word about this drug: "Just another lousy downer".

LNB Nets $5.11 A Share For Half

Livonia National Bank's income for the first six months of 1972 was above the first six months of 1971, according to Elvin D. Dougherty, president.

LNB had net income after taxes amounting to $450,370 or $5.11 per share for the six month period ended June 30, compared with $356,025 or $4.05 per share for the first six months of 1971.

Income before securities gains and losses amounted to $437,356 or $4.97 per share for the first six months of 1971.

The mid-year earnings announcement by Dougherty is a departure from past practice. He pointed out that the bank's interim earnings are included in an updated registration statement filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission by Michigan National Corp.

When the registration statement becomes effective and upon compliance with the securities laws of the various states, Michigan National Corp. intends, solely by its prospectus to tender its shares in exchange for shares of Livonia National Bank and four other Michigan banks.

There was a string attached when Clarenceville School District got a $37,000 state grant for its "sequential reading skills" program. The string was that

The string was that

Clarenceville would work with the Oakland intermediate school office on brochures, slides and talks to tell other Michigan districts of its experience with a new K-6 reading system.

"Two years ago," recalls Dr. James Leary, assistant superintendent for instruction, "the board and administration made a commitment to improve reading skills in our district."

"We've borrowed ideas from all over. For example, some ideas came from the concept of performance contracting."

THE BASIC plan for Clarenceville's "sequential reading" plan, Leary explained, came from the University of Wisconsin's Center for Cognitive Skills. What it does is to break reading down into six basic skills, and then break each skill into five distinct levels, ranked A through E.

Incredibly complex as the plan is to put into practice, it's fairly easy for a layman to grasp in outline.

"Nothing happens by accident. A student is diagnosed, is taught those needs and is tested for mastery of those needs."

motives of characters; and at E, reaches conclusions from facts.

THOSE ARE a fraction of the possible examples and only three of the basic skill areas. Other basics are comprehension, self - directed reading and creative skills.

Before all of this could be implemented on students, Dr. Leary said, it had to be taught to the teachers. This organizational job fell to Patricia Vickery, Clarendonville's elementary consultant.

Two years ago the reading program was implemented in kindergarten and first grade; last year, in grades two and three; this summer in grades 4-6. Each time it meant workshops of two to four weeks for the teachers.

Other districts have applied "sequential reading" by introducing one or two skills at a time, but Leary says Clarenceville seems to be the first in Michigan to introduce all six basic skills at once, district-wide. Clarenceville has four elementary schools with about 75 teachers and 1,800 pupils.

This is where the $37,000 state grant comes in -- for participants' salaries, new materials for teachers and students, computer costs for outside evaluation and the dissemination costs of spreading the word across the state.

ENTERING ONE of Clarenceville's elementary schools, a parent this year wouldn't notice a great deal of difference immediately in the reading program. No special textbooks are used; teachers adapt existing materials to teaching whatever skill they're currently working on.

Each day there will be a kind of "sacred hour" for working on reading skills. Leary explains:

IN PRACTICE, said Leary, students will take pre-tests to identify their precise levels in each kind of skill. "We could have kindergartners who score at the B and C level in some skills," he said.

Under "sequential reading," then, a student wouldn't have to repeat in class a skill he has already mastered. He could pick up at exactly what he needs to learn next.

"Nothing happens by accident. A student is diagnosed, is taught those needs and is tested for mastery of those needs," said Leary.

Teachers get together and split up the work of small group teaching. Students get attention in groups of four or five.

ONE BENEFIT Leary particularly likes is that older students get a chance to help younger ones. "We have a regular bus route to bring high school students into the elementary schools to help. They receive a half - credit as a 'student aide' to the elementary school.

“We tried it on a pilot basis last year with 25, and this year we’ll have 60. It was highly successful last year. They didn’t do menial tasks. In the feedback we got, they felt they had accomplished a great deal and had learned a lot about the needs of younger students.”

Parents, too, volunteer to help. Some 40 parents are already putting in one to three hours a day.

Stempien Hits 'Grandfather' Aid Veto

State Rep. Marvin R. Stempien (D-Livonia), has characterized Gov. Milliken's action in vetoing several items in the state school aid bill as being "shortsighted and in contradiction of his declared policy of promoting educational reform."

Among provisions in the bill vetoed were a $150,000 allocation for experimental programs for academically talented or gifted children and $15,000 for professional development of teachers in conjunction with programs advocated by local districts and educational organizations.

Musical Comedians Will Appear With Symphony

Return visits by two musical comedians, Victor Borge and Peter Schickele, are among the attractions recently announced for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's coming season at Ford Auditorium.

New this season will be a special Christmas Festival "Pops" concert in December complementing the traditional performances of the "Messiah" and "The Nutcracker."

The "Pops" concert on Dec. 15 will feature conductor Sixten Ehrling and the Rackham Symphony Choir in a program of seasonal music including Robert Russell Bennett's "Many Moods of Christmas."

Borge will appear in the dual role of pianist and conductor at a gala fund raising concert on Jan. 20.

Schickele, the unscrupulous musicologist who entertained Detroiters with compositions of the fictitious P.D. Q. Bach, will appear March 25 at the pension-maintenance fund concert conducted by Pierre Hetu.

The Young People's concert series opens Oct. 14 with performance for the youngsters of Schumann's piano concerto by internationally acclaimed pianist Eugene Istomin.

The Detroit Severo Ballet Company and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra will present their annual performance of "The Nutcracker" on Dec. 9.

On Feb. 17, the orchestra will offer "Multi-Media Mix" featuring Merrill Ellis's "Mutations" and "An American in Paris" specially choreographed by a new dance group from the University of Michigan called "The Just Moving Company."

The series concludes on April 14 with appearances by the Heiken Puppet Theater in Grieg's "Peer Gynt."

Conductor-in-residence Paul Freeman and associate conductor Hetu will conduct two of the concerts.

Freeman will conduct the Orchestra in a program of "Music by George Gershwin" to open the Kresge Concerts, Oct. 8. The five Sunday matinee performances are at family prices.

This series continues on Dec. 17 with the annual performance of Handel's

"Messiah," featuring the Kenneth Jewell Chorale and the orchestra under Hetu's direction.

"Music by Franz Liszt" will be featured Jan. 21 with James Tocco playing Second Piano Concerto and Ehrling conducting.

April 1 will feature an April Fool's Day concert, with the audience deciding by ballot what Ehrling and the orchestra will perform.

The final concert of the season is "An Afternoon of Ballet," with the Detroit Severo Ballet Company featured in Adolphe Adam's "Giselle" and a jazz ballet set to Copland's "Music for the Theater."

Seasons tickets are available at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra office in Ford Auditorium. The box office will open Sept. 18 for single ticket sales to all events.

Lawn Show

The Dearborn Arts and Crafts Club will hold a lawn show from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10. The show will be held on the lawn of the Dearborn Inn.

DR. EDWARD J. SZABO, new conductor of the Oak Park Symphony, will conduct the opening concert of the season on Oct. 24. The young conductor is currently associate professor of music at Eastern Michigan University and chairman of orchestra and string studies.

The first concert will feature overture to "Titus" by Mozart, piano concerto in B-flat minor by Tchaikovsky and Symphony No. 9 ("From the New World" by Dvorak.

'Other' Travels Into Suspense

By KATHY MORAN

The viewer steps into a world of suspense bordering on terror in "The Other."

Based on the even-more-intriguing novel, it has been adopted for the screen by its author, former actor Thomas Tryon.

The film takes place in the eery setting of a Connecticut farm during the summer of 1935 where identical twins Niles and Holland Perry (Chris and Martin Udavarnoky) represent good and evil in a strange series of events.

Producer-director Robert Mulligan has transformed the twins into excellent actors—a skill he also demonstrated in "To Kill a Mockingbird" and "Up the Down Staircase."

Chris is the schizoid personality of Niles who is able to conjure up his brother (the other) through "The Game" taught to him by his Russian-born grandmother Ada (Uta Hagen).

Niles seems to the viewer as the innocent loving youngster, son and grandson while his brother is thoroughly evil. Not until the end does the viewer learn the secret.

The movie is loaded with good acting—especially Miss Hagen and the twins' mother (Diana Muldaur) who becomes a paralytic after the fall caused by her son after she began to unravel his grisly secret. Her terror at being locked inside a body that can't communicate what she has discovered grips at the viewer.

As it travels through the medium of time, the movie exemplifies an imagination-gone-wild, making it a film you won't want to miss.

Casting Call

The Macomb Theater At-the-Barn will hold auditions for the play "John Brown's Body" from 7 to 10 p.m., Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 5 and 6, in the Barn Theater, Hall Road (M-59) at Garfield (west of the Utica exit off I-94).

Performances are scheduled for three weekends beginning Sept. 29. "John Brown's Body" is an adaptation of Stephen Vincent Benet's poetic novel about the American Civil War, covering the period of conflict from John Brown's raid on Harper's ferry to the end of the war.

Ford Victory Costs $20,000 In Primary

More money was spent on the Democratic primary in the 15th Congressional District than in many districts for a November election.

U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) poured more than $20,000 in his successful bid for a fifth nomination in the Aug. 8 primary.

Loser Frank E. Lubinski, a Dearborn Heights city councilman, spent more than $10,000 in a challenge that gave Ford the biggest scare since 1964.

Ernest Fackler, unopposed in the Republican primary, didn't spend a cent, according to reports filed with the Wayne County Elections Commission.

Campaign spending amounted to about $1 per vote in the Democratic contest, in which Ford beat Lubinski 20,617 to 12,696.

THE "CONGRESSMAN William D. Ford Testimonial Dinner Committee" spent $9,429 and collected $9,795. Revenues came through ticket sales, and so individual donors weren't listed.

The "Congressman Ford Birthday Picnic Committee" listed expenses of $2,499 and income of $2,419, all from sales in the advertising book with no donors listed.

A "Committee to Elect Congressman William D. Ford" spent $8,353 and collected $9,023. Donors of $100 or more were:

William A. Groening, $200; Taylor Governmental Employees Credit Union, $240; UAW Local 38, $125; Fire Fighters Committee on Political Education, $125; Iron Workers Local 25, $100; Democratic Club of Taylor,

Fred Burke, Washington, $100; William C. Geer, Washington, $100; Don White, Washington, $100; Jack Waller, Washington, $100; National Assn. of Post Masters, $100; Austin Atkinson, Washington, $200; Robert L. White, Washington, $100; Lanston E. Eldred, National City, Calif., $100.

James W. Green, Washington, $100; Claude Olmstead, Arlington, Va., $100; Engineers Political Education Committee, Washington, $250; Committee on Political Education of AFL-CIO, $2,000; Frederick Belen, Washington, $100; Evelyn Dubrow, New York, $250; Political Education Fund of Building and Construction Trades, $500; R. E. Hood of Georgia, $100; Benjamin H. Saunders, Washington, $100.

$8,000 Campaign Fails To Win For Ex-Rep. Petitpren

Vincent Petitpren spent nearly $8,000 in his unsuccessful try to win back the seat in the State House of Representatives he held until two years ago.

Incumbent State Rep. Thomas Brown (D-Westland), who won the nomination, failed to list his expenses and contributions in the Aug. 8 Democratic primary in the 37th State House District.

Filing deadline was Aug. 21, and the Wayne County Elections Division was scheduled to send Brown a notice by the end of last week.

Manuel Lentine, third candidate in the Democratic primary, listed expenses of $1,639. Jack Underwood, unopposed in the Republican primary, filed a report showing no expenses at all.

THE "PEOPLE for Petitpren" Committee listed expenses of $3,588 and unpaid bills of $4,400, mostly for printing. Petitpren listed no personal expenses.

Biggest contributor to his campaign was the Michigan Education Assn., state teachers union, which gave the Petitpren committee $2,000. A group called "People for Petitpren Local 900, Wayne" gave $573, and a cocktail party raised $591.

Lentine, Westland city assessor, had contributions totaling $770, including four of $100 each from the Steinhauer Agency, Irving Lloyd, Phil Capaldi and Gerald Hyatt.

"TEA, ANYONE?" is the question Westland's Mrs. Jerome Garbus is asking as she gets set for the "tennis and crumpets" benefit to be held Sept. 9-10 for Children's Hospital, Detroit. There will be a mixed double tourney on the weekend with the finals, tennis exhibition, and dinner-dance at the Dearborn Country Club on Sept. 16. Proceeds will be earmarked for additional equipment and research for the Children's Hospital burn section. Interested tennis fans may call Mrs. Donald Frandsen of Livonia for information.

Local Democrats spent this past weekend in Grand Rapids for their fall state convention, and area Republicans will be doing their thing this coming weekend in Detroit.

I admire people who put themselves through the aggravation of political conventions.

You drive to the convention site, often a long way from home. You then hassle with the hotel clerk about your reservation which mysteriously got lost.

You then sit in district caucuses listening to candidates you don't know much about and who cannot be heard over the hubbub. You read through an enormous pile of printed matter pushing one candidate or another, followed by smaller but more confusing papers describing convention rules.

Chairs are hard. Air is foul with cigar smoke. Talk goes on and on and on. And on.

Evening comes and the rumor mill starts. You stay up too late, perhaps have one or two belts too many. Trying to sleep is tough because there are all those drunks in the halls, raising Cain just outside your door.

It's not an easy life, and the commitment to the democratic process that local delegates of both parties show in attending their conventions is something worthy of praise.

AN IMPORTANT addition to the already busy schedule of local Democrats in Grand Rapids was the sharply increased number of special interest caucuses.

For years there has been the labor caucus, recently split into the UAW and the AFL-CIO caucuses. And five or six years ago the black caucus became important.

But last weekend there seemed to be no end of these special interest groups meeting.

On Saturday you could have gone to the woman's caucus at 6 p.m., the youth caucus at 7 p.m., and the New Democratic Coalition caucus later on.

The Wallace caucus met on Friday, as did the educator caucus. The chicano caucus met more or less continuously during the convention, as they had a candidate in the running.

Several older delegates were walking around with big badges reading "Senior Power," and I expect there will be a senior citizens caucus next year.

I spent some time with the other press guys covering the convention working out just how many caucuses one delegate could attend. If a delegate were under 30, a woman, of Mexican origin, a very liberal Democrat, a teacher, and a member of the American Federation of Teachers, she would have demands made on her to attend the youth, woman's, chicano, NDC, educator and labor caucuses.

By the time she got through with that, I suppose she might have the energy to attend her own district caucus.

THE REPUBLICANS do not have much of this proliferation problem. But it could be significant for the Democrats.

Farmington's Aldo Vagnozzi, who has attended a whole bunch of Democratic state conventions and who chaired the 19th district delegation this past weekend, has some doubts.

"I don't know whether all the special interest caucuses are good or bad," he said. "But I do think that increasing the number of special interest groups will lead to more bargaining at the convention. This in turn may lead to increased reliance on the old 'midnight caucus,' at which reports come in from districts and interest groups, and where adjustments are made in the ticket to preserve representation for all elements of the party," Vagnozzi remarked.

"The other problem is that some people who attend special interest caucuses are not delegates to the convention, and this may result in overstating just how strong a particular caucus is in representing the group of Democrats present at the convention.

"However, I do feel that this past convention was one of the most open and fair ones we've ever had," Vagnozzi concluded.

What is clear is that the Democratic party -- always a coalition of varying groups -- is continuing this tradition, but now in a more direct and strenuous (for the delegates) way than ever before.

MAKE IT A HOLIDAY TO REMEMBER...NOT ONE TO TRY AND FORGET

Big Holiday Ahead...Let's Stay Alive

Drive safe and sane: start early for your holiday destination and leave early Monday for the return trip; don't partake of alcohol if you are driving; and get everyone home alive.

These warnings have been issued by the Michigan State Police and the Automobile Club of Michigan as they prepare for the Labor Day weekend, traditionally the worst of the entire year for traffic deaths.

Labor Day in recent years has recorded the most road deaths of any of the five major holiday periods. Traffic fatalities in the period from 1967-1971 have averaged 35 for that weekend with a high of 51 in 1968 and a low of 24 a year ago.

MAXIMUM COVERAGE will be assigned during those periods when traffic is expected to be the heaviest...from 3 p.m. to at least 9 p.m. each day. Special attention will be given to those road sections having a bad accident history.

Club officials expect 3.3 million vehicles will travel 740 million miles during the holiday weekend. To aid motorists and to help reduce the number of accidents, AAA will operate its "Bring 'Em Back Alive" holiday news service.

A staff of 25 will be gathering and disseminating information on traffic and tourism to just about every radio station in the state. The service will put out 70 bulletins between 4 and 11 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

For the State Police, pass days have been canceled for post troopers, post sergeants, court officers, school liaison officers and recruiters. District commanders have permission to use district and post detectives as needed as well as district safety and traffic officers.

Check lanes will be suspended and personnel used on patrols. Department aircraft, weather permitting, will supplement the car patrol activities in daylight hours.

BUT THE ANSWER lies with the motorists. It means little what preparations the State Police and AAA take to stress safety and to issue bulletins telling where the traffic jams are if the drivers don't heed the warnings.

There isn't any question that all highways leading north, west, east and south will be jammed Friday as folks take advantage of the long holiday weekend for the final visit of the year to summer cottages and to the resort areas.

And the story will be the same beginning late Monday afternoon and extending well past midnight.

Heed the advice of the State

Police and the AAA... use common sense in driving at all times. If you have been drinking, then don't drive. If you intend to drive, then don't drink.

Be careful, follow all rules of safety and always watch the car ahead and oncoming traffic.

It was the direct result of motorists following warnings that brought a dip in traffic deaths over the Labor Day holiday from 51 in 1968 to 24 in 1971. Why not be one of those that will drop the total below 24 this year and continue the safety drive?

'Age Of Majority' Work Left Unfinished

It looks as if Gov. Milliken should re-convene his Special Commission on the Age of Majority to help Michigan clear up its juvenile laws.

The reason is the new State Supreme Court decision prohibiting the trial of youths under 18 as adults in cases of serious crimes.

The old law sent the young accused first to Probate Court, which has jurisdiction over the affairs of minors and legal incompetents, but allowed probate judges to waive jurisdiction when they felt the accused should stand trial as an adult.

Usually, the probate judge did so in cases which were particularly savage and got a lot of publicity. The probate judge was handed a lot of discretionary authority, and now the Michigan Supreme Court has said "nix." Tried as juveniles, a lot of young killers and rapists may be back on the streets in a couple of years as a result.

THE AREA OF criminal law was one where the Age of Majority Commission failed to make any recommendations, as it did in the areas of contracts, drinking, medical treatment and the like. The job needs to be finished.

The commission's report, submitted early in 1971, noted that "Age 16 and under are juveniles, and are not generally subject to the general criminal law."

"Age 17 and 18 are hybrids and may be proceeded against in either juvenile court or general criminal court.

"Age 19 and upward are no longer subject to juvenile law, and are exclusively subject to the general criminal law and penalties of the state.

"Age 15 and 16 are exceptions in serious felony cases. The juvenile court judge may exercise his discretion and waive or not waive jurisdiction to general criminal court."

The last paragraph was true until the high court's decision earlier this month. If 15-17-year-olds are to be tried as adults for their crimes, the State Legislature is going to have to spell out the rules precisely, not leave it to the discretion of a local judge.

THE AGE OF Majority Commission later noted: "In the area of the responsibility for one's criminal acts, we have always treated persons age 18 and older as full adults. And even our 17-year-olds are meeting this responsibility regularly...As a matter of practice, it is estimated that 99 per cent of all offenders age 17 and older are taken to district and circuit court, not to juvenile court, regardless of the seriousness of the offense."

The governor's commission put itself in a bit of a logical box by recommending that 18 be the age of majority for practically everything. Query: If a person isn't responsible for major debts, jury duty, voting and military service at age 17, should he be responsible for crimes at that age?

The question demands an answer, one way or another. Gov. Milliken's Special Commission on the Age of Majority, though heavily loaded with lawyers, nevertheless has enough members with psychology and anthropology in their academic credentials to make it the best vehicle for answering that question.

Since so much harm and mayhem can be created by persons who are legally "children," then shouldn't we, on practical behavioral grounds, re-think our definition of "child?"

Suburbs Need Legislators' Attention

The past political history of western Wayne County suburbs shows clearly that once elected to the state house of representatives, the incumbents will remain in office for the rest of the decade when the boundaries are changed to reflect the federal census and population changes.

WHEN THE new state house of representatives convenes in early January, we hope the new suburban members will pay more attention to the special problems facing the suburbs -- which are legion in number.

In the past decade, much of the legislators' collective attention was spent on helping Detroit take care of its problems -- also legion in number.

As the core city for the southeast Michigan region, Detroit certainly shouldn't be overlooked or short changed when it comes to legislative problems.

BUT THE latest population figures show that more people -- and usually more problems -- exist in the suburbs than in Detroit.

To address themselves to the suburban problems of the '70s, the new legislature should draft an agenda of action soon after taking office.

This would probably avoid the new and veteran legislators from reacting to crises as they come up instead of trying to come up with solutions to problems without the problem itself long past the stage of easy solution.

IN WESTERN Wayne County and southeast Oakland County, certainly tax reform for public schools should be at the top or near the top of any agenda.

Suburbs surrounding Detroit have considerably higher school tax rates than the core city -- something which is usually overlooked in any discussion on property tax elections and busing issues.

ANOTHER issue should be some form of revenue sharing to allow the suburbs to avoid the financial problems Detroit is now facing.

With more people in all age groups settling in the suburbs, there is more of a variety of services to offer in the city government's recreation, transportation, and housing plans.

Suburbs have some special problems of their own and the new legislature should recognize these and develop some positive and lasting solutions.

At least, it would be more worthwhile than cranking out the anti-busing resolutions for their constituents at election time.

Integration Helps Children Learn

EDITOR:

After witnessing a period of your readers' views I must as a responsible citizen, add a positive approach to the much discussed possibility of transporting pupils.

There has been a consistency of politicians playing with rights. This seems to be the game in many of our areas in 1972. It has been a disgrace, a dishonor, ignominy, if you will, of our top leaders who hopped the major campaign issue of busing. One can readily see others are following down the line, especially those up for election this year.

Here in the Detroit area unemployment is up over 10 per cent and yet nothing is planned to alleviate the problems. It's a pity very few candidates express the real issues.

If we review what has taken place, it can be summed up as a failure of leadership in school desegregation which in turn has caused political problems. If the Justice Department had enforced the "Law of the Land," there would be none of our present problems.

The issue is whether our children will learn to live and learn together or hate separately. I believe the most important asset America has are our children - all our children. The suburbanite and city dwellers must work together to solve America's problems.

In my experience, integration improves the education of students. Money alone for education will not. The argument is supported by the most important study ever held in this field, the study and report of the U.S. Office of Education on educational quality in 1966. It was argued that the social and economic level of the family was the factor best predicting the achievement level of the student.

We need strong leaders to put a stop to furthering this feeling of inferiority of the races. We look to the Supreme Court that said that separate schools for black and white - even in cases where spending and facilities were equal are "inherently unequal."

Efficiency

Goal Needed

EDITOR:

Just a note to commend Publisher Philip Power on the fine editorial (Aug. 16) regarding the performance standards of our governmental units.

Several years ago, Harvard Business School came up with the ROAM theory. Its basis was "Return on Assets Managed." If it were applied to the massive assets we have turned over to the educators and administrators, governmental employees and elected officials at all levels, there would be an increase in productivity, or at least a comparative standard by which to judge.

Hopefully, individuals of Mr. Power's stature will continue to press for comparative analysis in the use of public assets. Many of those in the public employ are deserving of the confidence and support of the electorate, and hopefully this will be the vehicle to develop such confidence and support.

Others should be replaced, and this would help determine which ones. Results, not rhetoric, should be the criteria.

JOSEPH DAGHER is the author of "Knowing 'Why' Makes Writing Easier."

He Mastered English Well

A Schoolcraft College instructor who didn't speak the language until he was nine years old, has added a new dimension in his mastery of English with the publication of his first textbook on the subject.

Joseph Dagher, English instructor since 1967, is the author of "Knowing 'Why' Makes Writing Easier," just released by Kendall-Hunt Publishing Company of Dubuque, Iowa.

Its 450 pages have been designed as a practical book aimed at teaching practical writing.

The text has been written for college freshmen and includes a manual or workbook exercises as well as text book material.

DAGHER ADMITS that his early years tended to make him an unlikely candidate for being the first textbook author on the Schoolcraft faculty. He was born to Lebanese parents in a Cleveland suburb, and the family spoke Arabic exclusively until Dagher was nine.

Once he became familiar with English, however, it has been his major interest both as a student and as a teacher.

Dagher believes that English cannot be taught by using master writers as models to be imitated by students. Rather, typical freshmen compositions are used as models of writing in his text, and it contains efforts of many of his students at Schoolcraft College, by name.

A graduate of Kent State University with a bachelor's and master's degree in English, Dagher has completed the required class hours toward a doctorate at Ohio State University. He has also done graduate work at the University of Michigan in middle eastern studies and has taught middle eastern history at Wittenberg University.

BEFORE COMING to Schoolcraft, Dagher taught at Toledo DeWitt High School, Toledo University and Bowling Green University. He served four years in Europe as a captain in the U.S. Army.

Among the acknowledgements for his text, Dagher extends thanks to Larry Ordowski, Schoolcraft's director of liberal arts, and to David Perkins, a fellow English teacher at the college who offered suggestions and assisted in reading the manuscript.

The book is dedicated to Dagher's wife, Jeanne, who formerly taught in the Novi schools, and to his daughters, Jeanne and Lauri, both English majors in college. The Daghers live in Northville.

SC Enrollment Down 10 Per Cent

They haven't reached for the panic button yet, but officials at Schoolcraft College are painfully aware that enrollment is down 10 per cent this fall and they have to do something to pull it up.

Community colleges are hit especially hard when enrollments drop because they not only lose tuition money, but also lose state appropriations. State aid to community colleges is based on projected student enrollment and credit hours.

If the college doesn't meet its projections, it doesn't get its full appropriation despite the fact that the money is already budgeted. State universities, on the other hand, keep their total appropriation despite enrollment fluctuations.

COMPARING FALL enrollments with those of last year, Edward McNally, dean of students, told the college board of trustees last week that fall registration is down 553 students and 5,500 credit hours. The college will make up some of that difference (approximately 300 enrollments) by the time late registration is completed Sept. 5.

Last year 6,017 students registered prior to classes starting in the fall and took a total of 55,649 credit hours. This year 5,564 have registered prior to late registration for a total of 50,117 credit hours.

McNally said students averaged 9.25 credit hours last fall compared to 9.01 this fall. The difference is at least in part a diminishing fear of the draft and pressure to take a full load of classes. Students are also less anxious to let go of jobs because of the tight job situation.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote, college president, said the college had advertised for the first time in local papers this fall encouraging students to register for fall classes, but conceded more of an effort to recruit students will have to be made.

SC Increases Insurance

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees voted unanimously to make major hikes in the college's insurance policies for all employees.

Major medical was increased from $10,000 to $50,000; long-term disability increased from $663 to $1,250 per month; basic life insurance from $7,000 to $8,000 and an additional $4,000 for non-bargaining unit administrators.

RICHARD ARLAN, president of the Faculty Forum (faculty bargaining unit), expressed concern over the declining student enrollment and said a "sales-promotion" type of approach has not been explored to its fullest.

"The senate (governing board of the Forum) feels that we are in a plateau, student-wise, and the college is not experiencing the fantastic rapid growth that was pictured some years ago," he said.

The tone among faculty members is that a "sales" approach should be taken, he said.

"We've done everything we've known to do," Dr. Grote explained to the board.

The college also had two mailings of 60,000 each notifying residents of the college district on class registration, he said.

Most community colleges in Michigan are experiencing enrollment declines, Dr. Grote said.

Clarence F. Rost ... Casey is the kind of man families look to for help with their funeral arrangements.

A graduate of Iowa State University and Wayne State University, he is capable, and well thought of, as can be seen by the many families who request his personal assistance.

With 25 years experience, he easily recognizes the particular needs of each family. He believes that "Your true desires are the real objective of our service."

With this interest in people, Casey Rost has built the understanding for which he is known.

McCann Gets On Judge Ballot

John McCann will get a chance to run for circuit judge in Wayne County after all.

McCann, a county commissioner, last week got a favorable State Supreme Court opinion declaring there is indeed a Circuit Court vacancy and that the state elections director, Bernard Apol, erred in not allowing McCann to file for it.

The ruling also affects McCann's rival, Traffic Court Judge John Kerwan of Detroit.

McCANN, A Livonia Democrat and a lawyer by profession, was elected to the county board two years ago and didn't file for re-election to that post.

When Judge Edward Bell resigned from the circuit bench to free himself to run for mayor of Detroit, McCann and Kerwan decided to seek the vacancy. The question of whether there really was a vacancy arose, McCann said, because Bell quit June 16 and the filing deadline was only four days later.

When Apol refused his filing fee, McCann went to the Supreme Court and won the right to get on the Nov. 7 ballot.

In the meantime, Gov. Milliken appointed Dorothy Comstock Riley to fill Bell's seat, but she didn't file for a ballot spot.

Winner of the McCann - Kerwan contest would take office Jan. 1 and finish the two remaining years in the term.

Law Grant

A federal grant of $30,940 was awarded to Schoolcraft College for law enforcement education student grants. The college's board of trustees voted to put the grant into the restricted budgets.

What adult taxpayers think about young people in the parks is pretty well known.

Adult taxpayers have voted down parks millages for the metropolitan park district and in the City of Livonia. Letter writers to Observer Newspapers have related in no uncertain terms how they regard the behavior of persons in the 15-25 age group.

What officers think about young people in the parks is also well known.

It is writ large on the police blotter. It is contained in efforts of Plymouth police and the Wayne County Road Commission (governing body of county parks) to impose

earlier curfews in their respective jurisdictions.

WHAT ABOUT the other side of the coin? How do young people see public officials on parks issues? What are youth's gripes?

Observer Newspapers last summer got two types of feedback on those questions from the young people themselves. One was a "Rap on Parks" - a series of conversations between a group of young parks users, parks officials, and other pillars of municipal society.

The other came from a young woman employee - a trained interviewer, though not a member of the news staff
- and a coed friend, also with some interviewing experience, who surveyed 30

young people of varying degrees of respectability in different Observerland parks.

The young people thought any policing of parks or of such events as jazz concerts should be done by uniformed officers. They considered use of plainclothesmen as not only sneaky on the part of police departments, but also as poor police work because plainclothesmen were quickly identified.

Wayne County sheriff's deputies came under severe criticism for beginning to clear out parks 30 to 45 minutes before the 11:30 p.m.
closing time.

At the time, Garden City was using auxiliary police to handle its series of concerts aimed at youth. The feedback from the young people was the eyes of young people when they almost defeated a one-mill renewal of a Wayne County operating levy.

Young people considered self-policing as the first and best line of defense at such organized functions as rock concerts. Adults tended to agree that any officers on the scene should be trained youth officers, younger men on the force who sport sideburns, slightly longer hair and other evidences of being in the mode.

At a time when authorities are considering earlier curfews, young people overwhelmingly felt that curfews should be later. Some preferred 2 a.m.; the majority settled for 1 a.m.; hardly anyone wanted it earlier.

The consensus was that it was fairly easy for young people to stay out late, considering the permissiveness of parents and the temper of the times. If parks are closed early, they will simply go somewhere else, and the "problem" has been relocated rather than solved.

On the other hand, the young people did support the idea of some kind of curfew, reasoning that if parks were kept open all night, a few of the crowd would stay out all night.

WHERE THERE are organized programs such as dancing or concerts, drug pushers would be asked to leave. Names of persons pushing bad drugs would be posted on a park bulletin board, if the young people could have their way.

(The last idea is probably impractical. It would amount to libel - accusing someone in writing of committing a felony without a trial.)

Again, it's possible to see the conflict of young and adult life styles. Respectable, home-owning, taxpaying adults have to be to work at 8 or 9 or 10 in the morning and consider it prudent public policy to close parks early. On the other hand, the underlying assumption of the young people was that parks users didn't have to be at work or class on a summer's morning.

The establishment adults taking part in the "Rap on Parks" took no stand on whether young people's accusations against the police were accurate. The point is that young people believed them to be accurate. In their minds, it was the absolute truth that policemen went through parks at night shining bright lights on people, whether they had reason to suspect wrong - doing or not.

Undoubtedly, there is right and wrong - virtue and boorishness - wisdom and selfishness - on both sides.

Next week: Must parks really be "programmed?"

Spotlight on Women

Knowledge Of History Pays Off

By KATHY MORAN

Know how to brush up on your history, meet people from all over the world, earn money for college and have fun all in one summer?

Seven Observerland college students do.

They're spending this summer talking to visitors at Greenfield Village about this country's history and some of its most important historical figures.

And two local students are celebrities at the village.

KEN WOJNAR of Redford Township and James Moffet of Farmington are two of a very small minority of three men acting as guides this summer.

The female guides number 72 (that's 24 to 1) and include Cynthia Brown of Plymouth, Sharon Melcher of Plymouth, Denise Chanter of Garden City, Debra Wilson of Westland, and Mary Senko of Farmington.

Before World War II, all the guides at the village were men. When the war came, women had to take over and they've held the positions ever since.

But the village has decided to liberate the men - or at least try - and is in the second year of an experiment at using male guides once again.

"I guess you could say we are a select little group," Moffet said. "We don't go into all of the buildings. They don't feel we fit into the residential section so we are in the more masculine areas like Menlo Park, and the bicycle shop."

An English major at Oakland University, Moffet said he's interested in history so he enjoys working at the village.

The advantages of being in the minority are "rather obvious," Moffet says and Wojnar agrees.

"I feel a little pampered," Wojnar said with a smile. "To tell you the truth I felt a little funny when I applied for the job and was the only guy in the room."

BOTH MEN said they enjoy working in Menlo Park where Thomas Edison's laboratory is.

"The village is dedicated to him, so hopefully, the park is the focal point of your visit here," Wojnar, a junior at University of Detroit, said. "There is so much there (in the laboratory) that you can vary your talk for each group."

All the guides had to take an eight-week course in the spring to learn about each of the more than 100 buildings at the village. The guides are rotated to a different building each day.

"They said the course was comparable to a three or four credit college course," Miss Brown, who was a "five-day wonder" said.

She earned that title along with some of the other guides who started later in the season and mastered the thick manual of historical information in just a week.

"You learn how to work with people and you meet people from all over the country," she said, adding that actress Sandy Duncan recently went through the village as did Mrs. William Milliken.

She varies her talk to suit the visitors, Miss Brown said. If young children are there, she tries to point out items that might be of interest to them.

OF COURSE, all the guides occasionally get questions from visitors that they can't answer. For those situations, a detailed manual is located in each building with supplementary information that the guides can consult.

"I've never been into history," Miss Melcher, a math major at University of Michigan - Dearborn, said. "But I've learned a lot of history there."

"You really learn how to deal with people," she said.

Though irritating people pop up now and then, most people are friendly, she said.

"Sometimes when visitors can tell I'm getting hoarse, they offer me throat lozenges," she added.

She's met people from Sweden, Finland, Germany, Japan and Czechoslovakia. All the guides agree that meeting people from around the world makes their work exciting.

"But rainy days are the nicest," Miss Melcher said. "The people who come on rainy days are the ones who really want to come."

'FIVE-DAY WONDER' Cynthia Brown of Plymouth passes out information on Greenfield Village as some visitors begin their walk through historic buildings. Miss Brown won that title by learning the volume of literature detailing information on each of the village buildings in five days rather than the course that met once weekly for eight weeks.

Women Who Work Is Theme

Women Who Work will be the theme of a conference Tuesday, Sept. 19, at the McGregor Conference Center, Wayne State University, Detroit.

The conference is being presented by the cooperative extension service family living education program of Michigan State University.

It will focus on four issues, "The Cost of Working," (economic, social and psychological); "Child Care,"

(what are the choices?); "Management," (family and meals); "Family Attitude," (conflict resolutions).

Registration fee is $1.50. The conference will run from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Luncheon tickets which include the registration fee are available for $4 through the Wayne County Extension Office, Box 550 Wayne, 48184, and must be reserved in advance.

home economist specializing in consumer programs; Mrs. Jeanette Drew, director of the child care aide training program, WSU; Mrs. Kathy Bufton, MSU extension home economist and conference coordinator; and Leonard Swanson, district manager for Tappan.

GREETING visitors to Daniel Webster's home is Sharon Melcher of Plymouth. Each of the village guides works in a different building each day. (Observer photos by Kathy Moran)

KENNETH WOJNAR of Redford Township is one of three male guides at Greenfield Village and enjoys working in Thomas Edison's laboratory because of the countless discoveries and items of interest he can point out.

OCC To Open Child Play Center

A play center for children of students attending the Orchard Ridge campus in Farmington of Oakland Community College has been organized for the fall session.

"It is hoped that citizens who were previously unable to take classes because of babysitting problems will now be able to enroll," Dean of Students Don Nichols said.

Nichols is currently seeking a full-time supervisor for the center as well as materials and equipment for its operation. He can be contacted at the college.

Funds for the center were initiated by a $1,000 contribution from the student government's activity funds. Another $500 has been donated from faculty and staff.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, GRANDMA!--Margaret Gibney had a special 66th birthday last week when Livonia Girl Scout Troop 659 held a party for her in the nursing home where she resides. The troop, sponsored by Webster PTA, "adopted" Mrs. Gibney nearly a year ago, according to troop leader Mrs. Linda White. Mrs. White said the girls look forward to visiting their "grandmother" every other week and planning special activities for her. Mrs. Gibney doesn't have any living relatives in the metropolitan area. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

Recycling Unit Won't Be Open

A new ice skating rink is causing the Redford Township recycling center some complications, and forcing it to shut down for the weekend. The recycling center is operated by volunteers on land near the sanitation department, at 12200 Beech Daly. The land is being graded and black-topped for the new rink and will not be available for use for the recycling collections during this time. However regular hours will be resumed the weekend of Sept. 8-10.

First Child

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zorn of Plymouth announce the birth of their first child, Richard Lloyd Jr., Aug. 18, in St. Mary Hospital, Livonia. The baby's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Jones of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Homer L. Zorn of East Detroit.

Wrong Site Expensive

The trend towards buying a vacation homesite continues to grow among both urban and suburban families.

Selecting this site may be costly if you don't carefully analyze your own desires and those of all members of your family. Knowing that most of the family would enjoy a wooded site near water will eliminate locations lacking these features.

Your family's general level of income will largely determine how much you can spend on a site. In some situations, you may have to delay the building of a home or cottage because of the initial cost of the building site.

A TOUGH SPOT to clear will be this tree across the Middle Rouge River in Livonia. It collects floating debris and creates a stagnant pool. But thousands of volunteers will tackle the

"Rescue the Rouge" project Sept. 16 in western Wayne County, and others will join a similar project the same day in Farmington. (Observer photo)

Opportunity Bill Hailed By O'Neil

James F. O'Neil, member of the State Board of Education, has commended the board for passing resolution calling on Congress to expedite approval of the equal educational opportunities bill of 1972.

O'Neil said the bill places emphasis where it should be — on "equal educational opportunity."

The Livonia Republican said, "As a Member of the State Board of Education, I believe the equal educational opportunities act is long overdue. This act fills a void and gives the legislative guidance, long needed by the courts, relative to insuring equal educational opportunities. It also protects the constitutional rights and freedoms of parents and their children."

- The bill:
1. Re-emphasizes the need to provide equal educational opportunity.
 2. Protects the neighborhood school concept.
 3. Prohibits busing of elementary school children.
 4. Only permits the busing of secondary school children as a last resort to eliminate de jure segregation, but not for racial balancing.
 5. Authorizes funds to improve the education of disadvantaged children.

MNB To Pay Dividend

Manufacturers National Bank of Detroit declared its regular quarterly cash dividend of 62.5 cents per share payable Sept. 29 to shareholders of record Sept. 8.

Edison Opens Area Warehouse

Detroit Edison's new Plymouth Warehouse in Livonia, at 11730 Globe, just north of Plymouth Rd., which opened with a skeleton crew on last July 17, is now in full operation.

It extends the company's repair and service facilities by providing a satellite location where both men and material are nearer to work locations in the Plymouth/Livonia area in western Wayne County.

The warehouse is the area's center of operations for the utility company's transmission and distribution department and stores and transportation department. Approximately 50 of Detroit Edison's employees are headquartered in the new building and the 14,000 square feet of floor space provides large storage facilities for electrical material and equipment.

The proven road to sales success!

Fact: over 94% of everybody uses the Yellow Pages. 70% of those make calls to firms while 30% go directly to the advertiser without calling. Smart businessmen know the Yellow Pages reaches customers, produces sales!

That's why they've found it pays to feature addresses and slogans prominently in their ads... to use display ads to stress reliability and to let buyers know the range and variety of brand name products sold and serviced. They also include days and hours open, if delivery service is available, what credit cards they'll accept. And they're represented under all headings pertaining to their business.

Now's the time to expand—or begin—advertising in the Yellow Pages. Just contact your representative—in the Yellow Pages under "Advertising—Directory & Guide". Call soon. Beat the deadline. Join the following businessmen who travel the Yellow Pages road to sales success

LANDSCAPE CONTRACTORS—

Stone Age Landscape Supplies, Van Dyke, Utica—Mr. John J. Merle
"It took us only one year to prove the value of the Yellow Pages. Being new in business, and a new advertiser, we kept close check on what the ads were doing for us. Based on our survey, we determined about 50% of our calls came from the Yellow Pages."

MOTORCYCLES—Detroit Honda

Stores, Chalmers, Detroit—Mr. Gil Engles
"Yellow Pages advertising motivates a person who is ready to buy to call us, or come in and see us, and buy from us rather than another dealer. Because of our locations on Detroit's east side, and in northwest Detroit, Warren and Romulus, we advertise in the Detroit Yellow Pages, all six of the metropolitan directories and the Ann Arbor-Ypsilanti Yellow Pages. Our phones ring constantly and I must credit this primarily to our Yellow Pages program."

CONTRACTORS—GENERAL—

Nick Manzella & Daughter Improvement Co., S. Mill, Pontiac—Mr. Nick Manzella
"I've always made a point of finding out where my customers come from and how they found me. Since I changed locations early in 1970, between 70 and 80% of my business has come from the Yellow Pages."

LUMBER—RETAIL—

Tela-Warren Hardware & Lumber Co., N. Telegraph Rd., Dearborn—Mr. Leonard Zucker
"Two-thirds of my advertising budget goes into the Yellow Pages. And my business increased 27% during 1971! Most of that increase can be directly attributed to increasing the sizes and placements of ads in the Yellow Pages."

HALLS & AMPHITHEATRES—

Camoron Hall, S. Telegraph Rd., Taylor—Mr. William J. Campbell
"I placed an ad in the West and Downriver directories and, within a few months after they were out, my date book was filled for the remainder of the year. Business hasn't let up since. I started asking every customer how he or she happened to find us and knew I had made a wise move when 90% of the people said they found us in the Yellow Pages."

DOORS—Doors Galore Inc.,

Schoenherr, Warren—Mrs. Bernice Osborne
"Since we've placed display ads in the East Area, North Woodward Area and Detroit Yellow Pages, about one-third of all our new business can be traced directly to the Yellow Pages."

TOWING—AUTOMOTIVE—

Shelton Towing Service, Marion, Redford—Mr. J. C. Shelton
"The first year I advertised in the Yellow Pages my business doubled as a result of my ad! No other advertising has ever performed for me like the Yellow Pages."

Successful business people travel the Yellow Pages Road.
