Court Moving To Hospital To Hear Finlan Testimony

Volume 86, Number 2

By FRED DeLANO
and MAURIE WALKER

Unusual courtroom drama will unfold Thursday when the jury sitting in the trial of Donald A. Crenshaw is taken to University Hospital at Ann Arbor to hear testimony from the victim himself, Charles P. Finlan, relative to the shooting attack upon him May 31.

The 29-year-old Crenshaw, a Bloomfield Township engineer, is charged with assault with intent to commit murder in the trial which opened Monday in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge Thomas J. Foley.

Assistant Prosecutor Steve Boak's statement to jurors, "We will show that Crenshaw shot Finlan down in cold blood," brought from Atty. William R. Vanderkloot, who represents Crenshaw, this response:

"There is no question that Mr. Finlan was shot, nor that Mr. Crenshaw held the gun. The real question is why it happened. Crenshaw is an educated college man and the question is why would an educated man plan to kill someone in a crowded street and with a gun not suited for the job."

Vanderkloot emphasized that an intense police probe has proved that there had been no prior connection between Crenshaw and the 42-year-old Plymouth insurance executive and raised possible defense theories that the shooting either was in self defense, a tragic accident or a crime which would justify a lesser charge.

"THE ASSAULT with intent to murder charge is wrong," he insisted to jurors who were given a systematic verbal recreation of the late afternoon shooting which saw Finlan gunned down in the parking lot adjacent to his office at 500 S. Main.

If Crenshaw is convicted of the intent to commit murder charge as it stands, his sentence from Foley could be anything up to life imprisonment. The judge has ruled out any possibility of his accepting a guilty plea on a lesser charge.

Finlan first was confined to the intensive care unit of Wayne County General Hospital and then several weeks ago was transferred to University Hospital. He is paralyzed from the waist down and also has the use of only his left arm. He has gone through surgery several times.

TESTIMONY from the witness stand Tuesday brought into the open for the first time the long-rumored belief that as he lay in the parking lot, wounded but conscious after being hit by at least four shots, Finlan indicated who he suspected as being responsible for the attack.

Jurors were told that he put the blame on his wife, Jean. This testimony came from John Gibson, an employee of the Joe Merritt Insurance Agency, 507 S. Main, located across the street from Finlan's agency.

Gibson was in his office, heard shots which he at first thought were firecrackers going off, and then raced across the street where he said he found Finlan "conscious and talking."

A legal argument, with the jury excused from the room, preceded Foley's decision to allow Gibson to be asked - with the jury present - what Finlan said.

Asked the question directly by Boak, Gibson replied that Finlan "said something to the effect that 'my wife had him do it' or that 'my wife hired him to do it.'"

In answer to objections from Vanderkloot, the judge told the attorney that Finlan would be available himself for cross-examination later in the trial.

IT THUS was revealed that although Finlan is not in satisfactory condition

Tasty Campaign

They're off and running in the 52nd State House District campaign which features a Democrat from Plymouth and a Republican from Ann Arbor. The battle of ballots currently is being fought as a champagne vs. cider rivalry, the next round coming up Sunday.

It's Fund Time

The Plymouth Community Fund's traditional torchlighting ceremony will mark the opening of the 1972 campaign next week, with the goal being the highest in history at $182,000. Bifocals explains where the money goes and who will be working in this year's drive.

Until now, the 2nd Congressional District campaign was quiet. This week, Democratic challenger Marvin Stempien tossed a court suit and unfair campaign practices charge against Republican Marvin Esch -- but Stempien has problems of his own.

To The Rescue

Believe it or not, the Middle Rouge River is getting cleaner. Western Wayne County Jaycees and their friends got a diminished haul in their "Rescue the Rouge" project, and one newspaper was there to record the fun and work.

IT'S THE SELLING SEASON!

It was a fun-filled vacation this summer...camping at the lake and in the mountains! But now it's all over and it's time to put the camper away for the winter. Next year, you're planning an even more extensive trip. If you're also planning to buy a larger camper, perhaps now is the time to sell this one instead of going to the trouble and expense of storing it! It's easy to do this time of the year by placing an inexpensive Classified Ad in the Observer. Just call 522-0900 and let us help you word your ad.

Clark, Tom Lock, Carl Zornon and Carl Zornon Jr. Trailing in this order were the following teams: Hirtze Insurance, Gaffield Studio, Hilltop No. 2, Johnson Insurance, Mettetal Airport, Okerstrom Roofing, Earl's Equipment, Air Force Reserve, Howmet, Hydroflow, Blunk's, Mini-Kool and Nat Industries. New Indoor Ice Rink Will Open This Week; Skating Rates Set

Indoor ice skating comes to Plymouth this week and already would be available had it not been for Sunday night's severe storm which knocked out the electrical ice making apparatus of the new cultural center at Farmer and Theodore.

Acting Recreation Director Dan Venezia said every possible effort is being made to have ice in readiness by Thursday, or Friday at the latest. Enthusiasts who want to make sure before they visit the rink may call City Hall for exact time of the opening.

Accompanying this long-sought "dream come true" was an announcement that Plymouth has been awarded a franchise in the "B" division of the Michigan Junior Hockey League, this being one step below the division of such teams as the Junior Red Wings.

Fees for open skating sessions will be 25 cents for children 17 and under, and 50 cents for adults starting at the age of 18. There will be separate sessions when the rink will be closed to permit practice by teams in the Junior Hockey Association and the new MJHL club.

The building stands on land leased at $1 per year from the school board and it was agreed long ago that its use is for residents of the entire Plymouth community, not just the city.

VENZIA announced this schedule of public skating times which will take effect as soon as the doors are open: Monday through Friday there will be lessons and open skating from 9 to 11 a.m. followed by an adult noon session from 11:15 to 12:45 p.m. Two afternoon sessions each day from 1 to 3:15 and from 3:30 to 5:30 also will be devoted to lessons and open skating.

Hockey teams will use the rink Monday and Tuesday evenings but it will be open to the public for sessions running from 8 to 10 p.m. Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. The recreation department hopes to turn Thursday evenings into a family skating feature and Fridays into a teen night.

Saturdays there will be open skating from 3:15 to 5:15 p.m. and from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

Open skating periods on Sundays will be from 1:15 to 3:15, 3:30 to 5:30 and then for adults only between 8 and 9:45 p.m.

Locker rooms, concession stands and the pro shop and skate rental facilities are among the features not yet completed.

PLYMOUTH WILL complete with Fraser, Royal Oak and Westland in the National Division of the MJHL, while the American Division will include Ecorse, Port Huron, St. Clair Shores and Waterford. The schedule of each team will include 34 games (17 home and 17 away), plus playoffs.

All of Plymouth's home games will be played in the new center on Saturday nights, starting at 7:45 p.m. Ticket prices have not yet been set.

The loop is limited to players in the 16 to 20 age bracket and tryouts for the Plymouth club will be held beginning at 7:45 Saturday of this week. Bill O'Brien will be the Plymouth coach, with Joe Gates as general manager and owner. Eighteen players will be carried on each roster and competition will start Oct. 14.

A contest is under way to pick an official nickname for the Plymouth club, with the person submitting the winning entry to be awarded two season passes. Entries are to be submitted at the Plymouth Sports Shop, 863 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

The possibility of Plymouth High School adding hockey as a varsity sport starting in 1973-74 is being evaluated by the school administration and board of education. If this becomes a reality, the Rocks, too, would use the cultural center as their home ice.

All four Livonia high schools -- Bentley, Franklin, Stevenson and Churchill -- already have teams and development of an inter-city schedule appears no problem.

PEA Talks In Critical Stage Now

Some progress was reported this week in negotiations on a new contract for Plymouth teachers, and it was conceded by both sides that bargaining is now in a critical stage.

A Sunday afternoon session between representatives of the Plymouth Education Association and the administration was followed Tuesday by another discussion attempting to resolve disputed issues as it became evident both sides are pressing for a solution before the weekend.

This is the third week of school and the next regular board meeting is set for Tuesday, Sept. 26. A recent PEA bulletin to teachers advised them, "If we are still unsettled by Sept. 26, we will be asking for a 100 per cent turnout at the board meeting."

Observers consider that the prospect of such a confrontation could tear down whatever harmony currently exists.

PEA bargainers Ray Homer, Bill Heath, John Ryder and Dolly Carter issued a statement Monday night which was both a progress report and an answer to Board President George Lawton's recent charge that negotiations were held back during the summer because of Homer's prolonged personal absence from the bargaining table.

"EVEN THOUGH there is growing bitterness and resentment about working without a contract, teachers are performing professionally in the classroom," they stated.

"The request of the teachers for arbitration is sincere and justified. Negotiations have been in progress for over five months. PEA and board negotiators have bargained during this period on an almost weekly basis. Members of both teams met during the summer with the full power to negotiate, and they did."

"Vacations for members of both teams were worked out in an amicable manner fully acceptable to members of both teams. The statement quoted in the paper that 'the chief negotiator for this union did not appear at the bargaining table from June 13 to Aug. 15 is not correct, as members of the board and the board's bargaining team know full well."

"The last two negotiating meetings have revealed some signs of movement. Our meetings this week will be critical. Perhaps we can work it out without third party intervention."

"However, if the bargaining teams fail, we propose (not demand) that both parties accept the decision of an experienced, impartial arbitrator of recognized competence in the field of public education as binding."

Mayor's Wedding Price To Be $20

Mayor James B. McKeon of Plymouth personally isn't too happy with Michigan's new law which authorizes the mayor of a city to solemnize marriages in the city in which he serves.

However, Act 211 of Michigan's Public Acts of 1972 says that any time a mayor serves in such a capacity "he shall charge and collect a fee to be determined by the council of that city."

The law also specifies that these fees "shall be paid to the city treasurer and deposited in the general fund of the city at the end of the month," meaning that all the mayor gets is a kiss from the bride.

If, as and when, Mayor McKeon has the occasion to solemnize a future marriage, the going rate will be $20 per ceremony. This was decided

Monday night by the City Commission on a vote of 5 to 1, Norbert Battermann -- not the mayor -- being the dissenter.

Champagne For One, Cider For Another As Rivalry Heats Up

PLYMOUTH
Champagne vs. cider and donuts became the theme of the 52nd State House of Representatives District election campaign this week as the two rivals began heating up their feud with political rallies.

The prime candidates for this office in the newly drawn 52nd are Democrat Robert E. Dwyer of Plymouth, a member of his party's State Central Committee, and Rep. Raymond J. Smit, an Ann Arbor Republican who has served since 1966 as legislator from the old 52nd District.

The kick-off party routine for members of the faithful started Sunday when Dwyer put on a champagne reception at the Thunderbird Inn.

Smit has picked 3 to 5 p.m. this coming Sunday, Sept. 24, for his introduction to Plymouth voters with an open house to be held in the Mayflower Meeting House. Invitations bear the committee names of Sen. Carl Pursell, James Jabara, James Thomas and Frank Millington.

RAYMOND J. SMIT

ROBERT E. DWYER

Where last Sabbath's party treated its guests to champagne and hors d'oeuvres, Smit's upcoming opportunity for political socializing will limit its menu to cider and donuts.

MEANWHILE, Dwyer has called the official attention of Secretary of State Richard Austin to an apparent ballot error in connection with the American Independent Party's designation of a candidate in the 52nd. His registered letter to Austin stated:

"It has come to my attention that your office has certified to the clerks of Monroe, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties the name of one Conrad J. Szydlowski, 43912 Orleans Ct., Canton Township, as the candidate of the American Independent Party for the office of representative in the Legislature from the 52nd District."

Dwyer then pointed out that Szydlowski lives in the 37th District rather than the 52nd and asked that his name be removed from the Nov. 7 ballot.

"It is possible that Mr. Szydlowski, who is in the Plymouth Community School District and has a Plymouth mailing address and a Plymouth phone, thinks he lives in the 52nd District," conceded Dwyer, "but Canton Township is not a part of that district."

Then he added, "It is also possible that a clerical error was made either by the AIP or your office," but Dwyer made no reference to the fact that it was Austin who severed his own managership of the local state department office last winter.

So far there has been no indication from Lansing on how the case will be handled, or whether the ultimate decision will be tossed with champagne or cider.

Plymouth's Progress Hailed

By LEONARD POGER

GARDEN CITY
Garden City, like most small cities, must develop individual convictions and dedication before moving on to develop a continuing community progress.

Local business leaders were given a first-hand "how-to" lesson on improving the community from Plymouth city commissioner and businessman Harold Guenther.

GUENTHER, guest speaker at last week's Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon in Garden City, ticked off the many accomplishments in Plymouth during the past 15 years and outlined how Garden City and other small cities can improve their own communities without taking on the cold and impersonal touch of major shopping centers.

"You have a fine city, many fine citizens who are your economic constituents, favorable to their city but in no way obligated or subservient to your business ambitions, in no sense guilty if they relate to outside influences you will not bother to provide," Guenther told the audience of about 25 Garden City business leaders.

BUT HE added, "We are all curious. Just as your people can be lured to Plymouth and other cities, those people can be enticed to shop, eat, and be entertained in Garden City." Like a teacher telling anxious students how to improve their lots in life, Guenther told the Garden City chamber:

"I suggest you study and learn your city, become proud of its various claims to uniqueness, its advantages over the cold shopping center without and within."

"VISIT other cities for universal ideas that can be adopted and personalized by your city, develop dialog, and liaison with your city government for common goals, be active in electing and appointing knowledgeable and sincerely dedicated people to your city council and planning commission.

"Do not, as an individual or unit, spend your time and energy on your negative and uncooperative members."

"Be patient with them for they are shackled by their own ignorance and selfishness but they will be there wanting a piece of the action after you have the show on the road."

GUENTHER cautioned his suburban neighbors to "remember your small city in this vast expanse of sameness is only of the sand. You need to become in some fashion, unique to you, an oasis of interest, of service, of fulfillment."

There is much evidence of what is being done in other cities, for your consideration, Guenther added.

"You need only visit and ask. There will always be someone proud of his city and willing to explain and be helpful."

The Plymouth businessman and former mayor pointed out that Plymouth had its problems too in the 1950s.

With just two square miles of land, businessmen wanted to attract new industry to ease the property tax burden.

WITH VIRTUALLY no vacant land left for development, the city commission acquired 35 acres which had been earmarked as a possible cemetery addition and converted them into an industrial park.

The Plymouth Rotary Club had a barbecue program every year in which several hundred chicken dinners were sold.

The barbecue soon became part of a greatly-expanded Plymouth Fall Festival including dozens of organizations.

The success of the festival and the community's unity to get something done was measured in the Sept. 7-10 festival which had more than 13,500 chicken dinners sold by the Rotary Club and several thousand people turned away because of the exhausted supply.

ONE OF the advantages Plymouth had and took advantage of was Kellogg Park in the city's downtown business section.

"A city is only a method in which people live together," Guenther said, "and in a city there is always some change and movement."

In closing, the Plymouth commissioner said "that projects always begin with a thought and progress when there is someone to push and dig and prod the city government."

Crenshaw Jury To Hear Finlan Testimony In Hospital 'Court'

medically to be brought to the City-County Building in Detroit where the trial is in progress, court itself will be shifted to Ann Arbor.

The judge disclosed that he has asked for the use of a classroom in University Hospital where he and his court assistants will function as though they were in their regular courtroom.

Boak said that Finlan will be one of the last prosecution witnesses to appear and that after jurors report at 9 a.m. in downtown Detroit Thursday they will be bussed to Ann Arbor. He added that testimony will be taken there, too, from the doctor in charge of the Finlan case.

Under those condition conditions, it appears likely that the case may go to the jury for decision either late Thursday or sometime Friday.

AS THE trial went into its Wednesday session, there still was nothing in the record to pinpoint Crenshaw's motive, nor had there been any testimony proving he had been hired for the job.

He still is free on $35,000 bond and has yet to display any emotion as the parade of witnesses continues. Dressed in a dark grey suit with shirt and tie, he sat through Tuesday's only recess in trial proceedings, with his arm around his wife as they conversed softly.

VanderKloot has given no information as to what witnesses may be called in Crenshaw's defense, or whether the defendant himself will take the stand.

Boak's main thrust in questioning his first eight prosecution witnesses was to establish that it indeed was Crenshaw who was involved in the shooting and his subsequent arrest by State Police less than 10 minutes later in the vicinity of N. Territorial and Ridge Rds.

THOSE WITNESSES, in addition to Gibson, included Dr. Richard Chase, who heard the shots while in his office at 545 S. Main; Lt. Henry Berghoff of the Plymouth police; James E. Powers, a barber at 550 S. Main who also heard shots and looked out to see Finlan lying face down in the parking lot; Stanley French of Northville, who was visiting his son in an apartment above the barber shop, and State Police Officers Robert Nicholson, Lee Johnson and Eugene Weiler.

It was asserted several times that whoever shot Finlan drove out of the parking lot in a black vinyl topped Dodge, turned north on Main and then west on Ann Arbor Trail. Both Dr. Chase and Powers immediately called police.

Nicholson testified that he and his trooper partner were in the vicinity of Ridge and Territorial when they heard a radio call at 6:19 p.m. regarding the shooting. The call told officers to be on the lookout for a "black over black car possibly involved in a Plymouth shooting."

Nicholson testified that "not over a minute later" a car matching this description passed the Ridge-Territorial intersection, going west on Territorial "at quite a high rate of speed."

He said he and his partner gave chase, pursuing the car at speeds up to 80 miles an hour before they were able to cause the driver to stop. He identified Crenshaw as being that driver, detailing how he was taken into custody and later the same night turned over to Plymouth police.

In the meantime, police found on him Finlan's wallet as well as Crenshaw's own, a holster, a motel key and an address notebook, all of which were introduced as possible people's exhibits by Boak.

He also presented as exhibits the 9 mm. semi-automatic pistol which state police said they found under the front seat of Crenshaw's car, as well as the shell casings found in the Main Street parking lot.

In court Tuesday, when these items were presented, witnesses confirmed they definitely were the actual articles they were claimed to be, and in no instance did VanderKloot object that they were not. The trial was to resume at 9 a.m. today.

Newcomers Club Keeps Pace With Population Boom

By MARTHA MAHAN

PLYMOUTH With Plymouth's building boom, it's a cinch that one of the fastest growing organizations -- and most helpful -- has to be the Newcomers Club.

Where else to get tips on finding a doctor, dentist, church and all the other needs of families moving into a new community, besides forming friendships among strangers? Only 32 persons met when the first Newcomers Club meeting was called 15 years ago.

NOW, BESIDES monthly luncheons for a membership of more than 200, the club has blossomed into a number of special interest groups -- bridge, bowling, crafts and gourmet cooking among them -- which meet informally in members' homes.

A theater group travels to Detroit for stage offerings. Husbands join wives for special events such as an Ann Arbor football game in October; the annual Harold's Club party and a family picnic. The men also formed a golf league this past year.

Current effort is being bent on an Oct. 5 fashion show, where husbands and children will join Miss Plymouth as models.

A NURSERY service at First United Presbyterian Church allows busy mothers to attend the regular luncheons, held the first Thursday of the month.

The program includes a special guest speaker and a five-minute talk from a representative of some community organization. Nancy Kauffman from the newly formed FISH organization is among upcoming speakers.

Membership in Newcomers is limited to three years, and many women join ex-Newcomer activities when their memberships expire. Any woman who has lived in the Plymouth community for no longer than two years may join by contacting either Mrs. Lance Miller or Mrs. Lou LaRiche.

New officers for this year are president, Ann Canafax; vice president, Gail LaRiche; treasurer, Gail Ley; recording secretary, Barbara Jodarski; corresponding secretary, Sandy Barnaby; advisor, Barbara Lynch.

Committee chairmen are: Eileen Miller, membership; Betty Kitti, nursery; Rose Charles, reservations; Jan Abram and Brenda Sorochak, program; Geri Allison, Plymouth activities and publicity; and Charlotte Proulx, couples social.

Club Sets 6 Dance Dates

The Plymouth Dance Club

opens its season Oct. 14 with the first of six dances scheduled through the spring.

More than 30 couples have signed for the season, according to Presidents Kathie and Dick Gornick, and it may be necessary soon to close memberships in order to maintain latitude for guest attendance.

All dances are on Saturday nights, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m., at the VFW Hall, 1426 South Mill Street. Dates are Oct. 14, Nov. 18, Jan. 13, Feb. 24 and April 7 with a May 19 dinner dance.

Membership fee is $50 per couple for the year, to be paid prior to the first dance.

6 Plymouthites Gain Degrees

Six Plymouth students were among graduating seniors receiving diplomas at Western Michigan University's summer commencement.

They are: Pamela Sue Evans, daughter of Leonard D. Evans, 1493 Ross; Gary Lynn Fuelling, 620 Byron; James L. Haarbauer, 15428 Northville Forest Drive; Sharon Ann Owens, daughter of Richard Owens, 40548 Firwood; Patricia Ann Tovey, daughter of John W. Marsh, 1400 Ross; and James W. VanAlstine, son of James L. VanAlstine, 46565 Ford Road.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

W.E. (BILL) CARLSON has taken on one of the most unenviable yet important civic assignments which the Plymouth area offers each year, and hopefully he will have the help of everyone who lives or works here in turning it into a success.

You see, Bill is general chairman of the Plymouth Community Fund campaign which will get under way just a week from tomorrow morning (Thursday, Sept. 28) with the annual torchlighting ceremony in Kellogg Park.

This ceremony admittedly is a symbol more than anything else, and the speeches are the same from one year to the next with one variation — the amount of the financial goal keeps going up, and 1972 is no exception.

Last year Plymouthites gave an actual total of $168,769, but the needs have grown again and the 1972 goal has been set at $182,000. It was only five years ago — 1967 — when the goal went into six figures for the first time, but to Plymouth's everlasting credit never since the PCF was originated in the mid-'40s have our people let the cause down. One hopes this still can be said when the 1972 drive ends Nov. 16.

"THE NEEDS in our community are growing just as the population is growing and we need the help of all concerned citizens to assist in putting our campaign over the top," said Fred Beitner, president of the PCF board of directors, as he announced the torchlighting for 10 a.m. next Thursday.

It is entirely fitting, whether you have lived here all your life or just moved in last week, to ask where the money goes and to answer that here is the list of allocations set up for 1973 by the PCF directors:

American Red Cross, $6,650; Boy Scouts, $13,300; Girl Scouts, $15,500; Plymouth Dental Fund, $5,500; Michigan Cancer Foundation, $6,500; Senior Citizens, $2,000; Visiting Nurse Association, $6,300; Salvation Army, $17,600; Family Service, $43,000; YMCA, $15,500; Plymouth Junior Athletic Association, $10,000.

That adds up to about $141,000 and the difference between that and the $182,000 includes $3,000 for operations, $4,000 for campaign expense, $20,000 to Detroit's United Foundation and shrinkage — meaning the welters who make a pledge and don't live up to it.

RAISING THIS amount of money is no one-man deal, as you must realize and as Carlson will be the first to admit. He has put together a team of volunteers who will shoulder the burden of personal contacts, and for their efforts they won't get anything but thanks — if anyone besides the PCF inner family even remembers to give them that.

Maybe that's partially why this is being written now — to let them know that they are appreciated, as well as to stir your awareness that it's fund time again.

Leonard Evans will head up the industrial committee and John Miller the business group. Charlene Zeese, Jan Gerish and Janet Brass will share leadership of the residential drive by more than 200 housewives and John Harper is chairman of special gifts. Kent Buikema and Ron South have charge of the educational participation, Dr. Robert Petersen heads the professional committee and Police Chief Tim Ford is the governmental coordinator.

"As a member of the team to raise funds for the Plymouth Community Fund, each of us has accepted the challenge to meet the established goal," says Carlson. "Fund raising is always a challenge, but our combined efforts to meet and exceed the planned goal will make the drive a success."

Yes, a success it again will be — but only if you who are not a part of the organized team give it the same all-out support that these volunteers themselves are doing. This is not the year to let the other guy do it, or to be a welsher.

Library Plans Story Series For Children

Registrations are being required this fall for the half-hour preschool story time at Dunning - Hough library.

Only 3½ to five-year-olds who are not currently enrolled in a nursery school are eligible for the weekly series which will run from Oct. 3 through Nov. 14.

Because of the overwhelming response to previous programs, the library now is requiring that children must be registered for one of the two group meetings from 10 to 10:30 a.m. and from 11 to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays. Registration opens Sept. 25 and groups will be limited to 30 members each.

Story time is intended as a group experience in a room away from mothers, but mothers are asked to remain in the library in case a child needs them.

The Stroller ... Likes And Dislikes

By W. W. EDGAR

In his long travels along life's highway, The Stroller has developed many likes and dislikes. With some you might agree. Others may seem outlandish and almost unbelievable. But through the years his attitude on many things hasn't changed.

For instance, since childhood he has had a great dislike for spinach. And broccoli is in the same category.

Yet, while many folks wince at the very sight of a raw oyster, The Stroller could eat them by the dozen. The same with clams.

Then, there's Chinese food. In his youth, The Stroller never was exposed to Chinese cooking. Our little town back home, never attracted anything more Chinese than a laundry -- and only one of them in the entire county.

It wasn't until he came to Detroit that he was introduced to Chinese food -- and it was a night he never will forget.

AS A matter of fact it was his first night in the Motor City. When the final edition of the Detroit Free Press was "put to bed" his new colleagues in the sports department invited him to join them in a bit of food. He readily accepted -- for it had been a rather tense night -- his first on a metropolitan newspaper.

"Let's go over to King Wah - Lo's," one of them said. "It is a fine Chinese restaurant."

"I never have been in a Chinese restaurant," The Stroller confided, "and I wouldn't know what to order."

"Order chow mein," another suggested. "You'll find it much like your favorite Pennsylvania Dutch sauerkraut."

So, over to King Wah - Lo's we went. And while the others ordered fried rice or egg rolls The Stroller confidently said, "Chow mein."

When the dish was served -- in the wee hours of the morning -- The Stroller took one look and knew that it was a far cry from sauerkraut. When he tasted it -- and attempted to swallow it, he almost gagged.

For a moment he didn't know what to do -- being among strangers and his working companions whom he had met only a few hours before.

Finally, a giant Black appeared with a napkin over his arm, and as the waiter stopped at our table, the sports department boss -- fellow named Harry Bullion -- asked, "Whatinell part of China did you come from?"

That was the stroke that save The Stroller for, in the next few moments, we were asked to leave -- in peace. We departed quietly and ever since that night

The Stroller has enjoyed a horrible dislike for Chinese food.

THE NEAREST he has come to matching that hatred happened during a sojourn in England several years ago as a member of the Plymouth delegation that visited Plymouth, England, to help celebrate the 350th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower.

It happened on the first night of banqueting when the Plymouth hosts, eager to make us feel at home, let it be known that we were going to be served some of the country's finest mutton.

Over the years The Stroller could take lamb or leave it alone. In most cases it was lamb chops and they were so tiny that one could swallow most of the meat without tasting it.

But this night when the "prime mutton" was served The Stroller came face to face with one of the most embarrassing moments of his life. Seated next to the Lord Mayor he looked at the mutton and it had all the appearance of a nice bit of roast beef -- the kind that would be served at any high class American restaurant.

Game to try anything once. The Stroller cut a neat portion and eagerly lifted it to his mouth. Then came the moment of embarrassment. He almost gagged. The taste of the mutton was far from what he had expected and he was on the verge of nausea.

The Lord Mayor helped him out. "Sorry, old chap," The Lord Mayor said, "if the mutton is too rare. We have had it catered -- and there just isn't any other."

He also has developed a great dislike for the "fair weather" friends who inquire about his health only when tickets are difficult to obtain for a big football game or admission to Tiger Stadium when the Tigers are engaging in an important series.

The Stroller has learned to detect these chaps in a hurry. Their approach always is the same. The phone rings. When you pick up the receiver and answer, the voice on the other end, very enthusiastically, begins, "How are you? Haven't seen you in a long time. How've you been?"

Usually, if you say "fine," he'll counter with "How's chances for a ticket to see Michigan against Michigan State?"

Years ago The Stroller learned to answer any inquiry about his health with "I'm just fine -- but I haven't got a ticket."

How Environmental Group Rates 5 Area Congressmen

An Observer Roundup

U.S. Rep. William Ford (D-Taylor) voted the "right" way 87 per cent of the time on environmental legislation, according to a voting study by the League of Conservation Voters.

His counterparts from Observerland had less favorable records, in the League's opinion. It rated U.S.

Reps. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) at 60 per cent; Martha Griffiths (D-Detroit) 57 per cent; William Broomfield (D-Bloomfield) 47 per cent and Jack McDonald (R-Waterford) on the bottom with 25 per cent.

The percentages are based on the number of environmentally "correct" votes each Congressman had of the 15 major bills since 1970.

Ford ranked the highest because he voted the "right" way 13 out of 15 times while Esch had nine "right" votes, Mrs. Griffiths eight, Broomfield seven and McDonald four.

BILLS THAT were considered began with the Family Planning and Population Research Act of 1970, which authorized $180 million for family planning services and contraceptive research. The Nixon administration supported the bill as did Broomfield, Esch, Ford and Mrs. Griffiths. McDonald was absent.

All the representatives voted to delete $134 million for the supersonic transport planes (SST) from the transportation appropriations bill for fiscal 1971. The League considered this a favorable vote, but the Nixon administration supported the SST.

The local representatives all voted against an amendment to the second supplemental appropriations bill in 1971 which provided money to continue building the SST and was adopted.

Two amendments to restore funding for the District of Columbia's metropolitan area rapid transit system were supported by Esch and Ford but opposed by Broomfield and McDonald. Mrs. Griffiths voted against the first amendment, which was rejected, and was absent for the second vote where it was adopted.

Broomfield, Esch and Ford supported an amendment to the agriculture appropriations bill in 1971 which would prohibit the use of funds to start new stream channelization projects. These votes were considered correct because "channelization turns natural streams into relatively sterile ditches, destroying fish and wildlife habitats and increasing flooding downstream," according to the League.

Both McDonald and Mrs. Griffiths voted against the amendment.

BROOMFIELD, Ford and Mrs. Griffiths voted for an amendment to delete $315 million from the Atomic Energy Commission Authorization bill to enable the AEC to bury radioactive atomic wastes in a salt mine near Lyons, Kan. Esch and McDonald voted against it, thus supporting the plan.

The League states that "the AEC later admitted that the project was not proven safe, and could possibly contaminate ground water."

Ford was the only local representative to oppose funding the nuclear blast at Amchitka Island, Alaska. Voting against an amendment to prohibit funding were Broomfield, Mrs. Griffiths and McDonald, while Esch was absent.

Broomfield and McDonald voted in July to delete $100,000 from a public works bill, which would be used to restudy the Dickey - Lincoln dam in Maine. The dam would impound the free - flowing upper St. John River and flood "enormous" portions of the Great Main Woods wilderness.

Ford and Mrs. Griffiths voted to keep the amendment while Esch was absent.

BOTH ESCH and Ford voted to set aside 100 million acres in Alaska for possible parks and wildlife refuges and to create a federal - state planning commission to draw up a land use plan for the entire state.

The amendment would have had minor impact on natives who could select almost half their lands before action was taken. But it was defeated, with Mrs. Griffiths and McDonald voting against it and Broomfield absent.

Ford and Mrs. Griffiths voted to strengthen the environmental pesticide control act of 1971 by supporting an amendment to put the burden of proving the safety of a pesticide on the manufacturer, requiring the manufacturers to disclose all his data on the environmental effects of his pesticides, making it easier for the Environmental Pesticide Assn. to cancel registration of pesticides and allowing EPA to consider whether a hazardous pesticide is really essential when determining appropriate uses.

The amendment was defeated with opposition votes from Broomfield, Esch and McDonald.

Another amendment to the pesticide act would have ensured that any citizen, not only the manufacturers, had standing in court to bring suit to challenge EPA's regulation of pesticides. Broomfield, Esch, Ford and Mrs. Griffiths supported this amendment but McDonald voted against it.

WHEN THE pesticide bill was passed, it required the EPA to pay the pesticide manufacturers for any losses they might suffer if EPA canceled registration of a pesticide on the market.

Because some congressmen felt this would discourage the EPA from acting and encourage a "use now - test later" philosophy among the manufacturers, another amendment was introduced (and rejected) to bar any repayment to manufacturers if they knew or could have foreseen the dangers of their product.

Ford and Mrs. Griffiths voted for the amendment, but Broomfield, Esch and McDonald voted against it.

Sportsmen's Club Sets Open House Saturday

The Livonia Sportsmen's Club will hold an open house in conjunction with National Hunting and Fishing Day on Saturday, Sept. 23, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. in Ford Field Ice Rink, Farmington Rd. and Lyndon, Livonia.

Antique firearms will be displayed, and activities will include competitive handgun and rifle shooting, fishing, casting, fly tying and reloading. The theme will be the contributions of hunters, sports shooters and fishermen to the field of conservation. The club's 160 members include not only Livonia residents but also sportsmen from Farmington, Redford Township, Westland and Plymouth.

The Junior Sportsmen's Club age limits are 12 to 17. The senior club begins with 18-year-olds and up.

During the open house, young hunters will be encouraged to sign up for a safety clinic at the city parks and recreation office, 32625 W. Seven Mile.

The inter-club pistol league will begin its activities on Monday, Sept. 25. Openings are available for new as well as experienced shooters.

Livonia Mayor Edward H. McNamara proclaimed Sept. 23 as Livonia Hunting and Fishing Day urging all citizens to visit sportsmen's clubs "to learn more about conservation and outdoor skills."

Conservation Club To Host Public 2 Days

A two day-National Hunting and Fishing Day open house will be sponsored by the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn. on Sept. 23 and 24 from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. at 6700 Napier Rd., Plymouth.

Several events are planned for the open house including the Michigan State Champion Muzzle Loading Shoot both days, according to Chairman Vic Capetilli.

Hunting, fishing and camping and conservation displays are planned as well as registration for the young hunter safety course and the snowmobile safety course.

Demonstrations in casting and archery will be on both days, and a precision rifle shooting demonstration is Sept. 24 as is a pistol team demonstration.

Instructions on shot gun shooting in trap and skeet will be given, and a loading table will be set up to let the people actually load and make their own shot gun shells and shoot the shells under supervision.

A western-style beef cookout and dance are planned for Saturday beginning at 7 p.m.

State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) will make appearances on Sept. 23 and mayors from 12 cities in the club area will stop in.

Committee for the day includes Bob Bauer and Bill Magee, skeet and trap; Hank Chrusciel, fishing; Bob Laich and Bob Stead, entertainment; Chuck Elmer, rifle; Jack O'Connor, pistol; Jack Racklyeft, young hunter safety; and the women's auxiliary, refreshments.

State Home Research Ended

Plymouth State Home and Training School has eliminated its 15-member research department, intending to use the $250,000 that formerly went into research for better care and treatment of its mentally retarded residents.

Dr. William Womack, new superintendent at PSH, said all the money will stay at the Northville Township institution and will be used to hire at least 30 attendants.

When the announcement was made, some employees were concerned that the research, which could have long-range effect on retardation, would be eliminated because of short-sighted planning.

BUT DR. JOSEPH Denniston, deputy director of the Dept. of Mental Health, said research will continue at universities under a cooperative effort with the institutions. Under the plan, the universities will continue research, hopefully utilizing federal funds, and the institutions will be a forum for observation and study.

"The Department of Mental Health wholeheartedly endorses research in mental retardation," Dr. Denniston said. "It does, however have grave reservations about whether state tax funds should be used in research."

"Certainly research is essential in assisting in eliminating mental retardation as the serious national problem that it is."

But Dr. Denniston said that federal funds are available for research in this area, rather than utilizing funds that are appropriated to the Dept. of Mental Health from the State Legislature.

Until the institutions can provide the kinds of programs and services that are necessary for proper care and treatment for the health of the children, the money will be channeled into these areas rather than research, he added.

PSH EMPLOYEES were given a month's notice on elimination of the department. Some of the employees were caught unexpectedly, particularly one person who had just moved his family from out of state to accept a position at PSH.

He and other employees had been hired by Dr. Homer Weir, who recently was transferred to Southgate to head a new institution and was replaced by Dr. Womack.

Dr. Denniston said many of the former employees will be absorbed in research departments at the University of Michigan and Lafayette Clinic.

Creativity Finds Many Expressions

By MARGARET MILLER
Women's Editor

What is this thing called creativity? How do you recognize it in yourself, and how can it be developed?

Must it have a purpose? Should it pay a profit? And does it have a price?

Questions like these came into focus in a panel discussion that was part of an art show put on by the Creative Council of Oakland University's Continuum Center in Southfield last week.

FIVE PANEL participants represented a wide variety of women today - their common denominator the spark of talent that has surfaced to change their lives.

There were two young mothers - a fashion designer well on her way to a successful business and a dancer who teaches but won't perform for money.

There was a young grandmother whose talent for writing has been a gradually-developing pleasure over the years. There was a peace movement leader who found her particular outlet because of her son's childhood fears, and an actress and continuum leader who's learned to appropriate herself to make life good for her and for her family.

Their definitions of creativity and ideas on how it works differed widely. But on one point they were pretty much agreed - that the best part of the creative process is the doing rather than the end product.

Putting the panel together was Mrs. Barbara Hoffman, instructor in the creative problem workshop of the Continuum Center, who said she had long hoped to set up a discussion of this sort.

"We tend to think of artists as a race apart," she said. "But there are many ways for beauty to be expressed, and for most it's just part of life."

ANDEE WHITE of Spring Arbor, 26-year-old designer of a line of children's clothes, told the gathering of 50 or so women only half jokingly that she hoped to make a million by the time she's 30 and to "buy a Jaguar - a red one with leather upholstery."

For her, she said, creativity involves more than just the designing. There's a business sense, and the ability to get along with people and "find out what buyers want and tell them creatively why your line is best."

But she admitted that it was a wrench for her to turn part of the execution of her designs over to others because "you give up some of yourself."

Carol Halsted of Birmingham, a dance instructor at OU and a member of the Festival Dancers, said her first dance training was "as a puppet - carrying out other people's ideas."

"Creativity began when I started to teach, when I helped children not just dance but represent their own ideas and feelings in their dance," she said. "Constant exploring and experimenting - that's the creative approach."

BETTIE CANNON of Birmingham, a free lance writer, looked for her definition to the Greek word Poien, which means "make" and is a root word for poetry. "Creativity means 'make' to me," she said. "I make poems, I make short stories, I make humorous articles, I make the beginnings of many books."

"I also make soup and clothes and terrariums, and I've made babies. I know that all of us use about a tenth of our creative power, but the part I use gives me a fuller, richer inner life, concrete tasks to perform and rare pleasure - I can lose myself."

Lillian Genser of Oak Park decided, when her little boy became confused over civil defense drills, that war was a "totally irrational" thing, and eventually she became director for the center for teaching about peace and war at Wayne State University.

"Creativity means self-expression and productivity and communication," she said. "But for me, creativity has to be geared to some social good."

Actress Joyce Ramsay of Southfield, program coordinator for the Continuum Center, suggested you might think of creativity as a mother with a child holding onto each hand. "The mother is imagination, one child is drive and ambition, and the other is personal resources," she added. "I'm most creative when I find them all working together."

TWO QUESTIONS drew the most attention as the panelist and audience began a bit of "rapping" - the matter of whether commercial use of talent stifles creativity and the effect of a mother's creativity upon her family.

Both drew sharply divergent ideas.

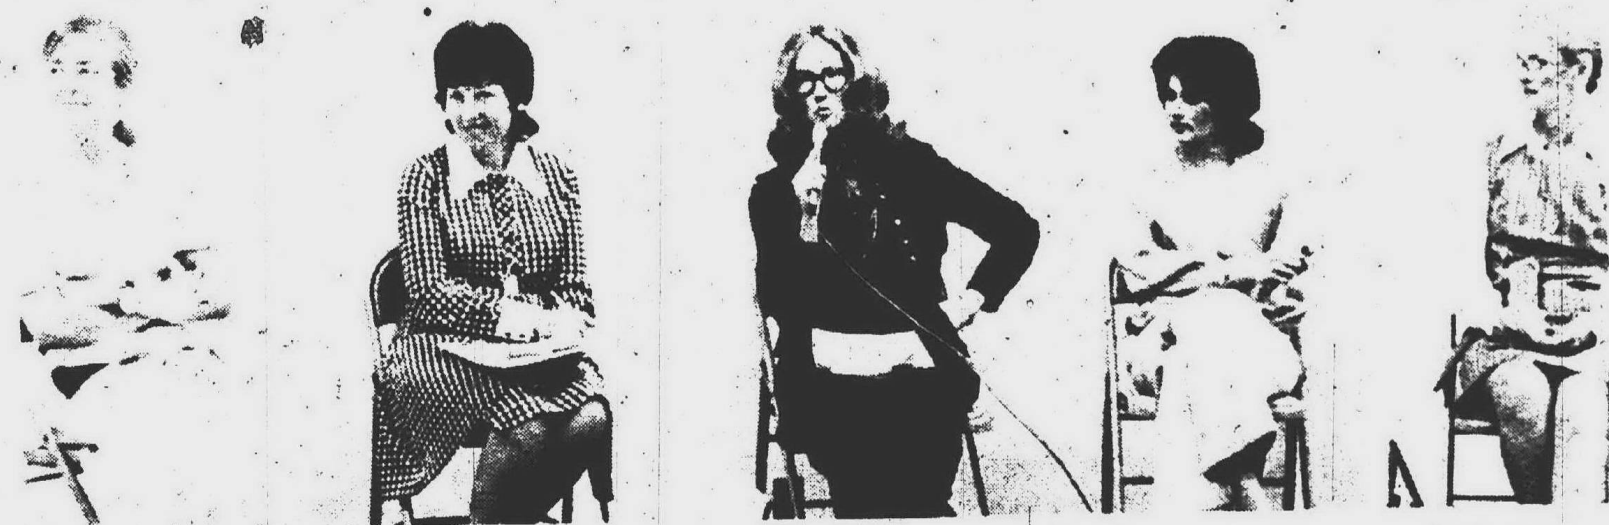

Andee White pointed out that there's not much use of trying to sell the results of your creativity if you don't bend a bit to the market, and a member of the audience agreed that "there's no need to defend the fact that your creativity brings in money."

"But Mrs. Halsted insisted that she won't perform for money 'because if you're paid, you have to please the public, and I want to please me.'"

Mrs. Ramsay, Mrs. Genser and Mrs. Cannon all found they related their activities to the effect time away from the family would have on husband and children.

"My work keeps me out of my children's hair," said Bettie Cannon, who has several grandchildren.

Joyce Ramsay said she had to come to terms, over the years, with the fact that she needs time away from being wife and mother to be "me" and she had found that it was good for her husband and daughters too. But it took a while to realize this, she admitted.

Lillian Genser mentioned that her husband had been most supportive and that her sons were gradually becoming more understanding when meals were late.

But Andee White and Carole Halsted, a generation younger, had no such adjustments to make. They agreed they never really considered functioning only as wife and mother, and their husbands agreed.

BARBARA HOFFMAN summed up the meeting by mentioning that the meeting reminded her of an old adage.

"You can count the seeds in an apple, but you can't count the apples in a seed." We can see the creativity brought here today, but we don't know how many creative ideas are being taken away."

A couple of members of the audience bore her out by suggesting that they try to use the creative approach to home situations. And, said one woman who had made a bit of a trip for the session:

"For me, it's creativity every time I conquer a new expressway."

School Taking Enrollments

The Christ Child School, for children between the ages of six and 14 with learning disabilities, has a few openings for new students.

Interested parents should call the school, located at 3111 Lahser Road, Birmingham. The school is open to all children, regardless of race, creed or religion.

Two new teachers have joined the staff. They are Jerome Martin, formerly of Wexford, Pa., and Mary Wilsher of Birmingham. Martin spent two years with the Peace Corps teaching English in Malawi, East Africa, and two years with the U.S. Army as an information specialist in Vietnam. He also taught English in a Vietnamese grade school.

He received his MA degree in special education from Duquesne University and taught this past summer teaching in a hospital in Hillsdale.

Miss Wilsher received her BS degree from Western University in June. She majored in special education in teaching emotionally disturbed and mentally handicapped children and minored in an integrated creative arts program.

m. m. memos

The headline in the women's section of one of our competitors caught my eye, so I decided to read about the remarkable mother who was feeding her family on a sum unbelievably low.

But when I finished reading I decided her way wasn't for me.

It seems she buys a four-pound beef brisket for her family of seven and figures to get three or four meals from it.

Now that beef brisket we cooked last weekend was half gone at one sitting and our family isn't as many as hers and anyway only two-thirds of us sat.

Well, she explains, meat goes further because she uses an electric knife and slices it thin. The old psychology, you know. My offspring, I fear, know how much meat they're getting no matter how you slice it.

You don't need to serve as much meat if there's good home-made bread and potatoes, she says. With everybody on a diet?

And then she uses tidbit leftovers for a meal that's all hors d'oeuvres. My family would gobble those and then ask what's for dinner.

So much for dreams of being an economical cook, and back to the old piled-up grocery cart.

After 50 Years

Farmington Grads Meet

It all started when Dallas Harger, who graduated from Farmington High School back in 1920, decided to put together a history of his class. All 10 members.

Now retired and living in Rockwood, Mich., he had some contacts among his former classmates, and called the Farmington school administration offices for some more leads.

At the end of the telephone line in the office of administrator Byron Oliver was his longtime friend, Mrs. Winifred Leet Otis, who graduated in the class of 1925. Her class had 25 members.

They decided a reunion was in order, and that it should include the classes of 1920 through 1925 since, as Mrs. Otis put it, "we all knew each other so well."

STARTING with one representative from each class, the grads started their letter writing pointing to a date for the gathering.

Mrs. Otis said she sent two sets of letters to nearly all the members of her class. Early in the summer a Sept. 12 date was set, and the graduates and their husbands and wives - 85 in all - gathered that evening in Farmington's new Holiday Inn.

A lot of those present still were living in Farmington and the surrounding communities.

Besides Harger and Mrs. Otis, there were Mrs. Treena Quinn, retired Farmington city clerk, Ora Goers Joy, Marguerite Moore, and Edna Preager Vivier. Also on hand were four members of the Wixom family, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, who graduated in 1923, Kenneth (Pat) Wixom, of the class of 1924, Mrs. Adelaide Jamieson, 1927, and Ralph Wixom, 1931.

OTHERS CAME from all over the country for the reunion.

Arriving just in time to sit down to dinner were Clyde Harmon, and his wife, who live in North Dakota, Virginia Nichols Laing and Marie Walling Parker both made the trip from the Miami area.

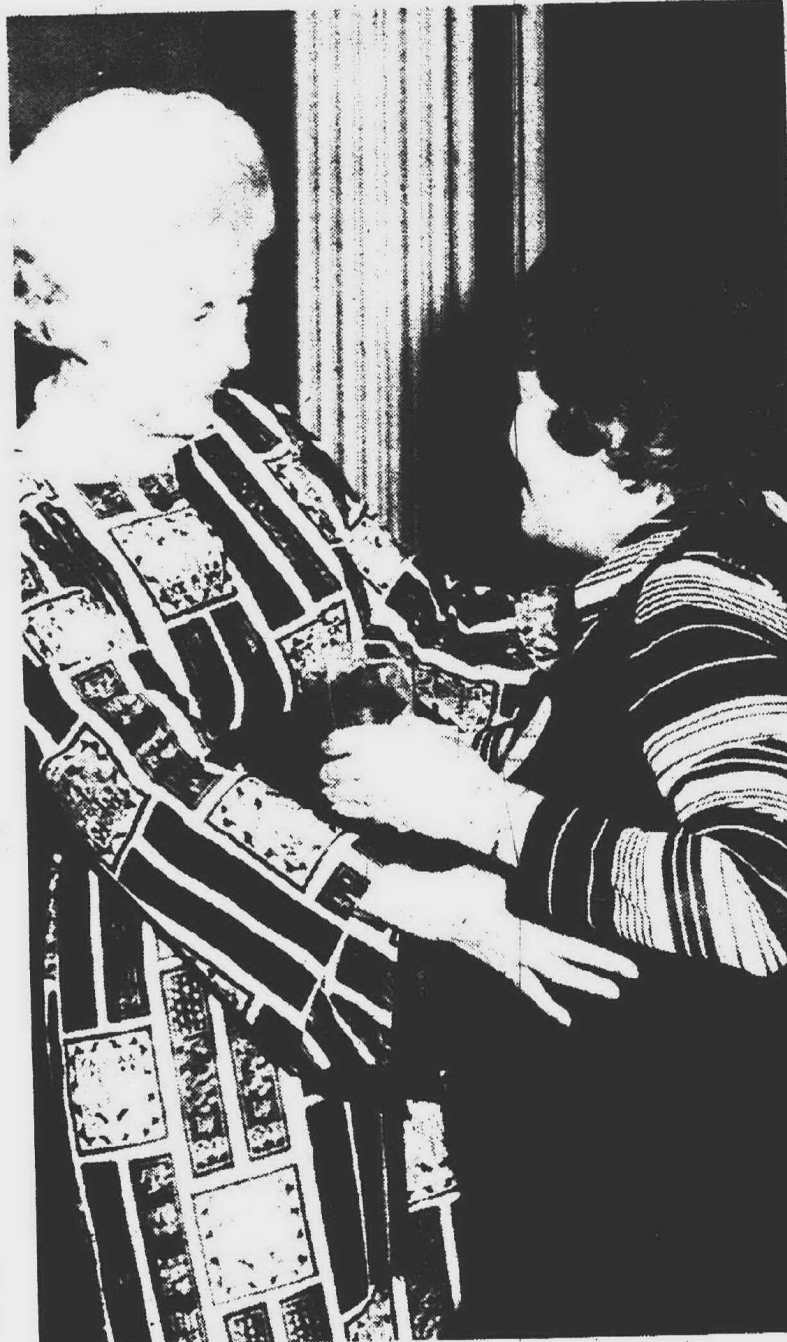

Coming from Arizona were Margaret Creager Smith and Verna Leet Newstead.

Gordon Turner, class of 1923, came from Cheboygan, where he worked many years as a newspaperman. Lucy Banks Pratt was there from the Garden Lake, a town near Sault Ste. Marie where she and her husband operate a resort.

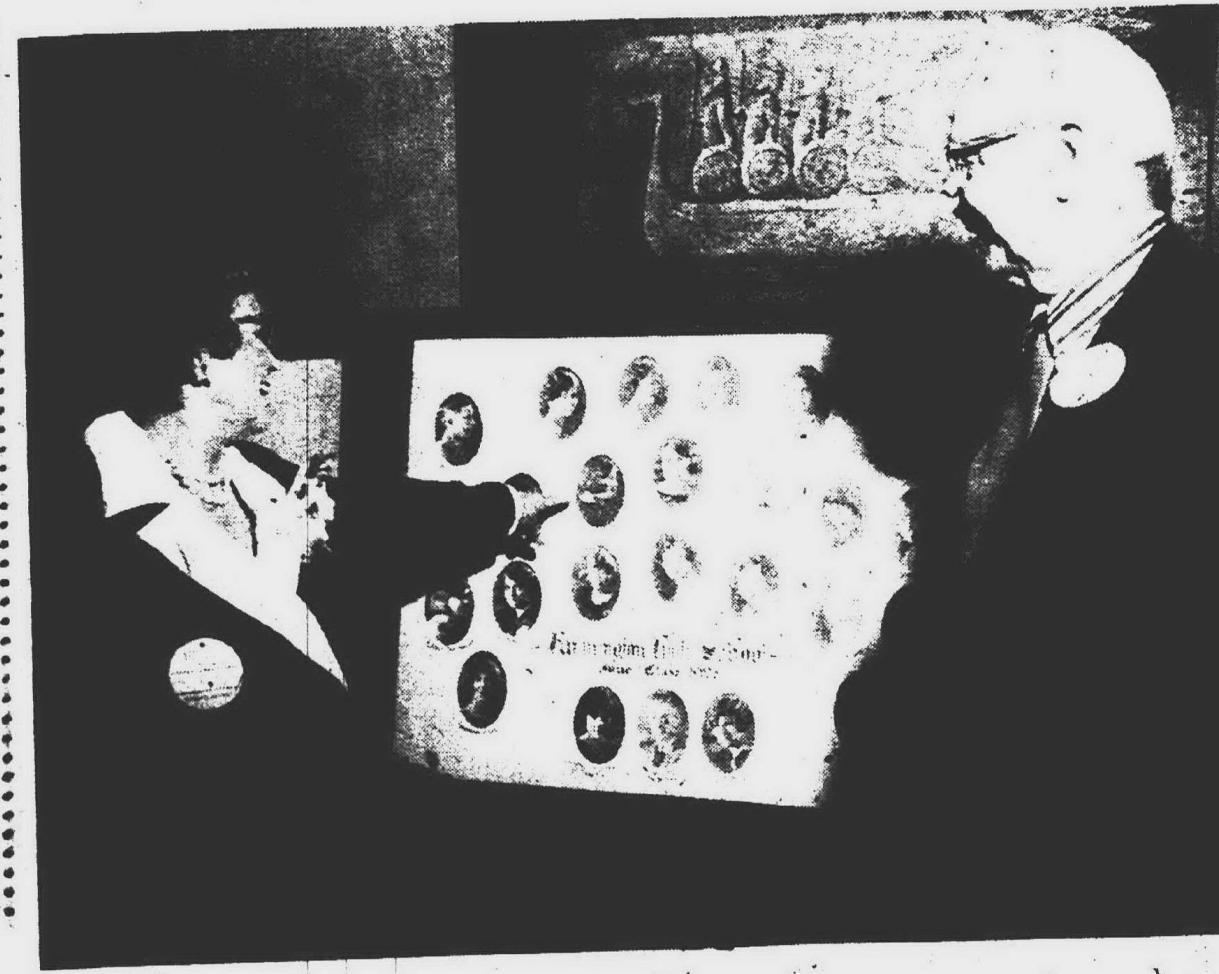

PLENTY OF STORIES were exchanged and recalled, but Mrs. Otis' favorite moment came when she started to introduce one lady to a gentleman standing nearby.

There was a mutual recognition, and the lady graduate exclaimed in delight:

"We used to walk to school together and he carried my books."

"IT'S BEEN A long time," said Margaret Kreager Smith (above, left) and Lucy Banks Pratt as they greeted each other in the reunion of Farmington High School classes of the early 1920s. They both graduated in 1924. At the left, Winifred Leet Otis shows Dallas Harger her picture among the class of 1925 graduates. Mrs. Otis and Harger headed arrangements for the reunion. Used Book Sale Set Sept. 21-23 By AAUW

If you're a Bobsey Twin or Tom Swift enthusiast, or if you always wondered about the Russian puppet theater, or if you can't imagine how Aesop could be adapted to the nursery level...

Or if you just like to look through a few thousand old books, you'll find plenty of attractions in the collection being sold by the Farmington branch of the American Association of University Women at the Livonia Mall on Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 21 to 23.

Mrs. Perle Briggs, who has been working for several weeks pricing the many volumes contributed for sale, has noted "Baby's Own Aesop", and "Adventures of the Russian Puppet Theater" among the more interesting ones.

There also is a two-volume set of books entitled "History and Geography of the Holy Land," and a 19th century London-published "Life of Sir Walter Raleigh" and plenty of Horalio Alger stories as well as Bobsey Twin and Tom Swift adventures, she said.

One of the oldest books to put up for sale is a Bible with notes published in 1824.

The sale, 20th annual one for the Farmington AAUW, will be conducted each of the three days from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Proceeds go to the organization's national Fellowship Fund.

Plymouth AAUW Begins New Year

With plans to place greater emphasis this year on local action projects, the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women is opening its new season Thursday, Sept. 21.

A getting-to-know-you meeting is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. in West Middle School, Sheldon and Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Mrs. Richard Kirchgatter, incoming president, said several new and continuing study groups have been formed with an eye to pushing local projects as well as state and national study.

One of these will study ecology, giving attention to recycling activities and community bicycle paths.

There also will be a new consumer education study group to be known as "Getting Your Dollar's Worth," and a group called "We, the People" that will work with inmates and staff at the Detroit House of Correction.

Study groups for international relations, public education and literature are planned.

Other traditional AAUW projects for the upcoming year will include a used book sale, "punch 'n play" party, and children's theatre production.

AAUW membership is open to any women in the Plymouth, Canton, Livonia or Northville area who holds a degree from an accredited college or university. Interested women are most welcome to attend Thursday's meeting and may contact Mrs.

David Cunningham, 11363 Russell, Plymouth, for further information and transportation arrangements.

Childbirth Classes To Begin Thursday

The Plymouth Childbirth Education Assn. will sponsor three new series of classes in the next month.

The first will begin at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 21, in St. Edith Catholic Church, 15089 Newburgh, Livonia.

Classes will begin in Plymouth Oct. 9 and 24. The first series will be in the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, 500 S. Harvey, and the second will be in First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, 701 Church Street. These will also begin at 7:30 p.m.

For registration information contact the Plymouth Childbirth Education Assn., PO Box 311, Plymouth, 48170. The association also welcomes new members.

The classes focus on the Lamaze method of childbirth, and their purpose is to provide both parents with an aware, intelligent approach to childbirth so that the pregnancy and birth will become a memorable, shared experience. Participating trained fathers play a significant role in the delivery.

Instructions are given in neuromuscular control and effective breathing techniques. All sessions are instructed by registered nurses and an assistant who has had a Lamaze birth.

It is advised that expectant parents take their training sessions in the mother's last two months of pregnancy.

Nursing Refresher Set

St. Mary Hospital will begin a new refresher course for inactive registered nurses beginning Oct. 16 and continuing through Dec. 2.

Myra Wolfgang To Talk On Issues And Choices

SOUTHFIELD

Highlighting the opening meeting of the women's division of the American Jewish Congress, Mrs. Myra Wolfgang, international vice-president of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, will discuss "What are the Issues and Our Choices Today?"

All interested women are welcome on Wednesday, Sept. 27, at 12:30 p.m. at the Zionist Cultural Center, 18451 West 10 Mile Road, Southfield.

Mrs. Wolfgang is a well known spokesman for the rights of labor and mankind. She serves as a member of the Governor's commission on the Status of Women, Michigan Committee on Employment Problems of Working Women, among other commitments.

ACCORDING TO Mrs.

MYRA WOLFGANG

Phillip Rader, president of the Detroit women's division of the American Jewish Congress, the members are concerned with a wide variety of community interests, both local and around the world. They are interested in the survival of a democratic Israel, and maintaining the Louise Waterman Wise Youth Hostel, in Jerusalem.

This hostel not only houses visiting youth groups from foreign countries, but also serves throughout the year as an educational center for Arab, Christian and Jewish youth.

ANOTHER project is the continuous effort to help Soviet Jewish citizens wishing to emigrate to Israel.

At home, there is concern for the plight of the American poor, including the black, white, the Chicano and other minorities. Co-operating with other local groups, a study is currently being made of the needs of the Jewish elderly poor.

Women interested in volunteer work may contact the Southfield office.

$5 Million Thunderbird-Hilton Well On Way Plush Inn Rising In Plymouth

It has been a longtime in the making but Observerland's most impressive new motel-dining facility, the $5,381,000 Thunderbird Hilton Inn is rapidly nearing completion at the site 14707 Northville Road. Originally planned as a 150 unit motel-hotel, the Inn will have 201 guest rooms with banquet facilities for more than 1,050 when it is ready for occupancy in April 1973.

The first phase of the new, ultra modern inn will open on Oct. 2 when management will accept reservations for the huge dining room. Completion of the Inn, which actually is in Plymouth Township even though located on Northville Road, will represent the result of years of hard work and planning by Arthur Kobierzynski, who took over the bankrupt Thunderbird Inn in 1964 and developed it into one of the most popular eating places in Western Wayne County.

In 1969, Mr. K, as he is known to all of his associates and patrons, realized the time had arrived for the construction of a facility to meet the demands of a rapidly growing community. A community where new companies and new businesses were arriving daily and completion dates established for nearby expressways.

After a thorough study of the area about the need of additional hotel facilities in the area, it was decided that the Hilton name would best carry on the fine reputation of the Thunderbird Inn.

PRESENTLY there are 97 domestic Hiltons, of which 55 are franchised operations, with 42 additional Hilton Inns presently under construction.

In the Detroit area alone, four major hotels have been enjoying the success of Hilton's fine name.

With these facts at hand and the need for a hotel in the area established by the research and study, Mr. K decided to become part of the Hilton family and the Thunderbird Investment Co. was formed. The principal stockholders are Kobierzynski, Robert Goodin and Windsor Warren, architects of Springfield, Mo.; and Warren DeWitt, president of DeWitt - Newton Construction Co., of Springfield, Mo.

The feasibility study showed a need of 150 unit motel with banquet space for 600. But the directors looked at the figures showing the projected growth of the area and changed plans to 201 rooms and banquet facilities for 1,050.

Ground was broken last November and the target date for opening all hotel complex has been set for next April when the multi-million structure will be awaiting its first guests.

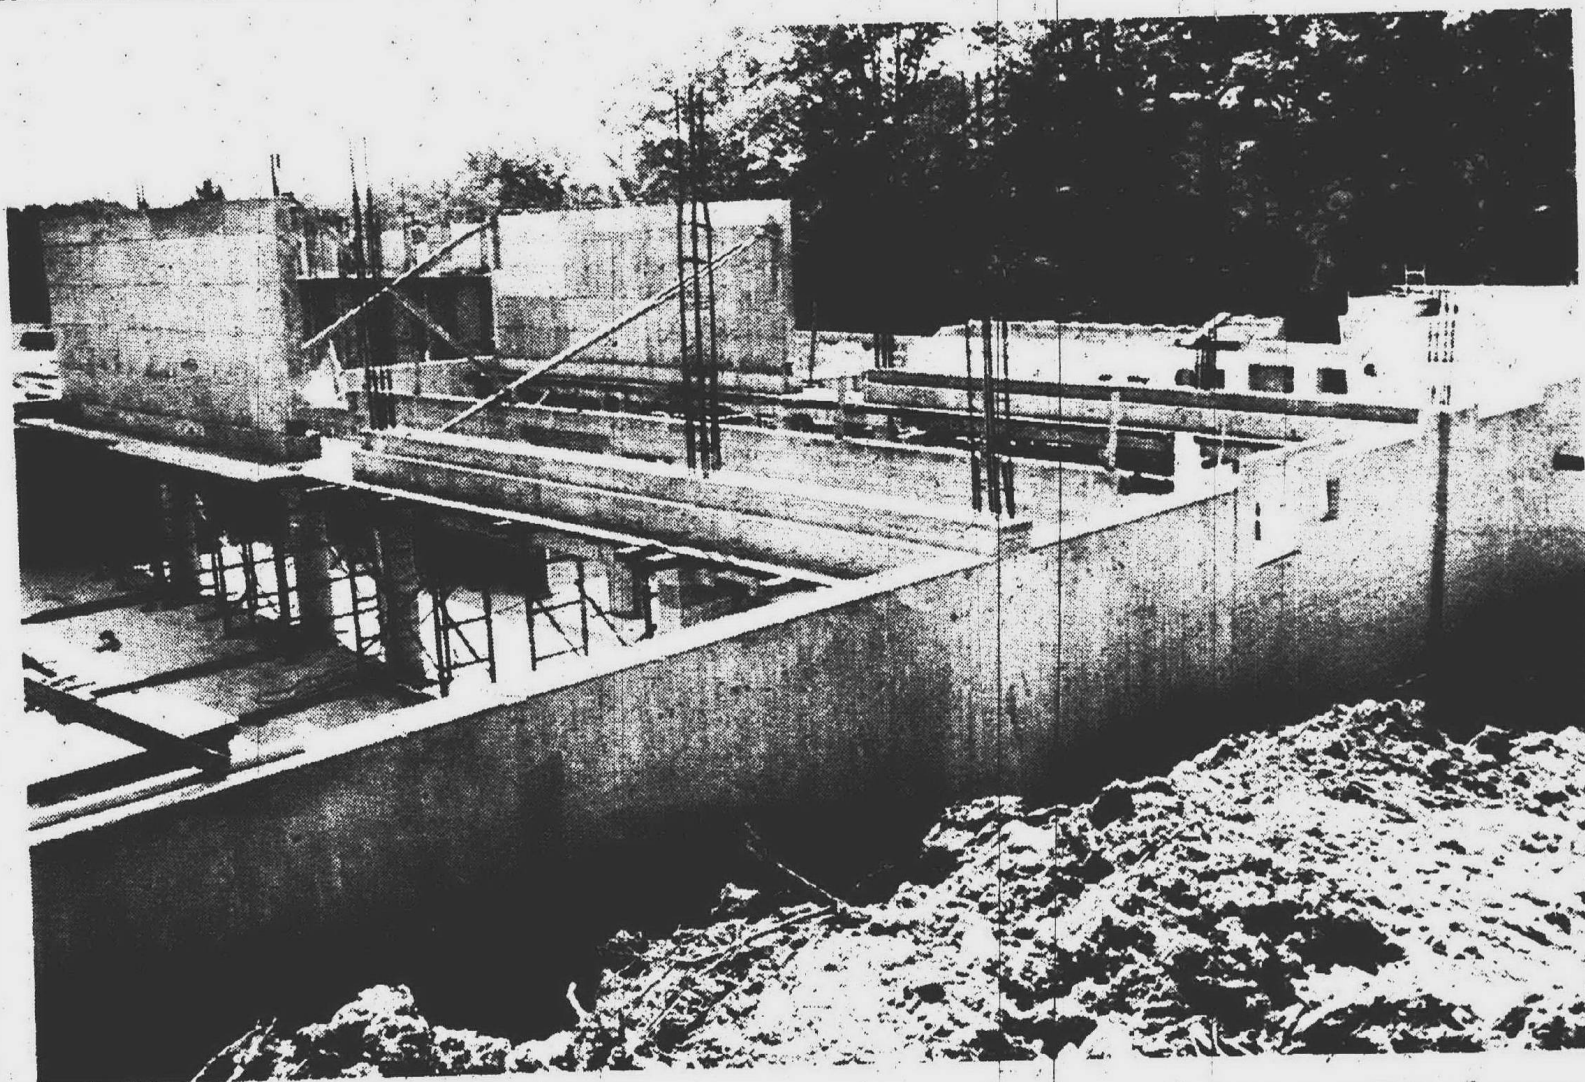

The Inn will include an indoor swimming pool, whirlpool, saunas and gift shops. The present Thunderbird Inn and lounge will be completely refurbished with entertainment planned for both the Inn and the motel.

Come spring the new facility is expected to have more than 200 employees.

Already on the scene and directing activities is General Manager Cecil Keen. Mr. K will continue to oversee the food and beverage operations.

Carolyn Carr heads up the sales department with Chris Sophr and Beverly Mayotte as sales representatives.

There will be parking for more than 800 cars, some on the current side and additional space across Northville Road where three homes have been purchased and will be evacuated for parking lots.

FOUNDATIONS ARE IN and construction on the motel complex of the $5 million Thunderbird-Hilton Inn is moving along rapidly with an

County To Fund Juvenile Homes

Plans to combat juvenile delinquency through neighborhood youth centers and central coordination of more than 200 youth programs in Wayne County have received preliminary approval by the County Board of Commissioners.

Six to eight multi-agency youth centers are planned under the Juvenile Facilities Network (JFN) which will be financed by $3.1 million in local, state and federal funds.

Plans for the network were unveiled before the county commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee last week. The concept and the general locations of the first two youth centers were approved, with final action planned at a formal board meeting, Sept. 21.

Target date for the opening of two centers - one in the Gratiot - Harper area on Detroit's east side and one in Inkster - is Dec. 15.

A YOUTH CENTER opened early this year by the State Office of Youth Services in the former Ed Davis car dealership on Dexter at Elmhurst is expected to become part of the network.

The plan was developed, and the financing assembled, under sponsorship of the Board of Commissioners.

Central coordination will be provided by an advisory executive board drawn from major youth-serving agencies and a general assembly representative of all agencies and the citizenry. The executive board will be appointed by, and report to, the Board of Commissioners.

Each neighborhood youth center will have a citizens committee to advise the executive board concerning what services are needed at each center.

A typical center might house a gymnasium and a game room and have supervised recreation programs plus employment and vocational counseling and training by state and school agencies, Juvenile Court caseworkers, family counseling and legal aid.

COUNTY BOARD Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick described the program as "the most important development in the history of efforts to reduce delinquency in Wayne County."

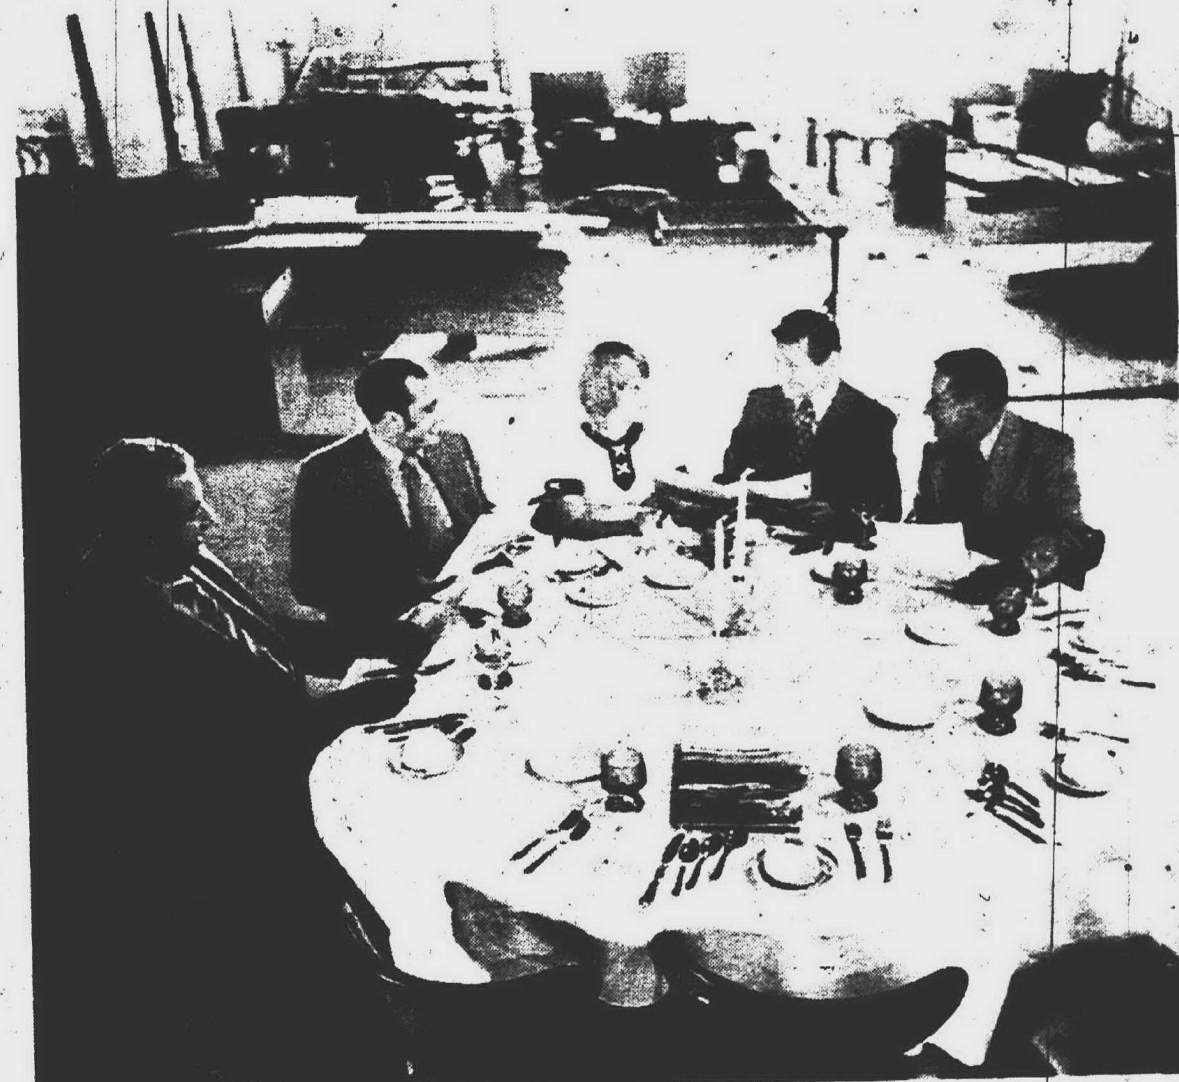

"There are more than 200 youth-serving agencies in Wayne County," FitzPatrick added. "Although they are doing good work individually, the needs of youth are not being met because of a lack of coordination."

A site selection committee appointed by the Board of Commissioners recommended that the first Detroit center be located in the service area of the Northeastern YMCA, 10100 Harper. A specific area for the Inkster center was not recommended.

The committee also designated four other areas as "critical zones" for consideration as center locations. These are:

- The Warren - McGraw - Wyoming - Grand River triangle in west side Detroit.
- The River Rouge area "in closest proximity to Melvindale and Ecorse."
- The State Fair - Dequindre - Six Mile area of Detroit north of Highland Park.
- The Meyers Road - Curtis area in northwest Detroit.

ALL READY for dinner (above) with the table set and guests seated but the banquet hall won't be available for parties until Oct. 2. It doesn't appear that workers will have the 1,050 capacity hall ready but the place has a different appearance already. (Below) Director Arthur Kobierzynski looks over the partially completed entrance to the new Inn. It will be available for use of groups with parties in the new banquet hall well in advance of the Oct. 2 opening date of that facility.

Mail Abuse Becomes Issue

Campaign practices and the use of public funds for mailing have reached the boiling point in the 2nd Congressional district race between incumbent U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) and State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia).

Stempien, who won the Democratic nomination over five candidates, has asked the Fair Campaign Practices Committee in Washington, D.C. to investigate and denounce claims by Esch that he is Livonia's incumbent congressman.

He is also seeking a court order to stop this "misrepresentation" by Esch. A hearing is scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 26, in Wayne County Circuit Court before Judge James Ryan.

STEMPIEN HAS also come under fire from the Detroit News, television commentator Lou Gordon, Esch's supporters and even Democratic primary opponents for his heavy legislative mailings throughout the 2nd Congressional District.

Stempien termed the News' report that he used more public funds ("A whopping $16,155" through August) than any other legislator "absolutely not correct." Stempien said he has asked the clerk of the House for an audit of his mailing costs.

Stempien admitted mailing legislative literature throughout the entire 2nd Congressional District, which extends south to Monroe

MARVIN STEMPIEN

REP. MARVIN ESCH

County, but entirely at his own expense.

WHEN CONGRESSIONAL boundaries were changed in spring, Livonia was tacked onto the 2nd district and removed from the 19th district, which was represented by U.S. Rep. Jack McDonald (R-Waterford).

In mailings to Livonia residents was an introduction by McDonald of Esch as the area's new congressman, Stempien said. It was also learned that Esch introduced sections of his old district to McDonald before McDonald lost his bid for reelection in the August primary.

Precisely when the new district boundaries take effect is the question. Stempien maintains they don't take effect until the new congressional session begins in January of 1973.

Esch maintains that they took effect as soon as U.S. District Judge Damon Keith ordered a reapportionment plan be adopted by the legislature after it failed to agree on a plan. Judge Keith issued his order May 12.

In addition to Livonia, the new 2nd district includes Plymouth City and Township, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Monroe City and county.

The law cited by Stempien in his court suit states:

"Any candidate for public office who advertises or uses in any campaign material, including radio, television, newspapers, circulars, cards or stationary, the words incumbent, re-elect, re-election or otherwise indicates, represents or gives the impression that he is the incumbent, when in fact the candidate is not the incumbent is guilty of a misdemeanor."

IN A TELEGRAM to the campaign practices committee, Stempien said Esch's actions violate Michigan election law.

"What Mr. Esch is doing is just not honest," Stempien said. "If he were to fairly represent himself to the electors of Livonia, he would have honestly had to say that Jack McDonald is their representative in Congress."

Stempien referred to billboards erected in Livonia by Esch supporters which say "keep Esch Livonia's congressman."

Stempien also charged that Esch has mass mailed to every residence in Livonia six times at public expense since Keith issued his order on the congressional lines.

"He has even set up an office in Livonia, which is outside his district at taxpayer expense," Stempien charged.

ESCH SAID each congressman is entitled to two district offices, and he has one in Ann Arbor and another in Monroe. The Livonia office was set up at his own expense, he said.

"The new district took effect as soon as Judge Keith gave his order," Esch said.

Since that time, Esch said he has treated Livonia residents as his own constituents, including adding their problems to his office's case work. Esch has regularly slated meetings in his district where constituents can come and discuss any problems or concerns with him.

He said he has already drafted 200 to 250 cases from Livonia citizens in two days when he had meetings at shopping centers.

REGARDING HIS mailing practices, Stempien said that reports in The Detroit News that he spent $8,461 on mailings in August alone, just prior to the primary election, were incorrect.

The News article alleged

2nd District Voters Split 53-47 On Amnesty

Some form of amnesty for men who refused to serve in the Vietnam conflict was advocated by 53 per cent of the residents of the 2nd Congressional District in a survey taken by U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor).

Those surveyed included residents of both the old and new 2nd district. The old district included Plymouth City and Township and areas of Livingston, Washtenaw, Monroe and Lenawee counties.

The new district keeps Plymouth City and Township and adds Livonia but deletes Livingston and Lenawee counties.

WHEN RESIDENTS were asked about amnesty 15 per cent said they favored unconditional amnesty, 38 per cent said amnesty only with alternative civilian service and 47 per cent said no amnesty under any conditions.

Sixty-one per cent said action on amnesty should be granted now while 39 per cent said it should be postponed until after the end of the war.

Regarding the effectiveness of the Phase II wage controls, four per cent said they thought it was very effective, 67 per cent said it was somewhat effective and 29 per cent said it was completely ineffective.

On social security, 23 per cent said they favored an increase of at least 10 per cent across the board and nine per cent said they didn't; 21 per cent said they favored removal of the income limitation and 11 per cent disagreed; and 31 per cent said they favored a minimum of $200 a month for an individual who has worked 30 years under the social security system, while five per cent said they didn't.

SEVENTY-SEVEN per cent of those who responded said they believed farmers should be allowed to combine into cooperatives for bargaining purposes with large food processors in order to get fair prices on their produce while 23 per cent disagreed.

Regarding taxes, 68 per cent said they favored new federal and state taxes to replace the local property tax as a source of revenue for school systems, while 32 per cent said they didn't.

The busing question drew 76 per cent agreement favoring

President Nixon's proposed moratorium on busing for the "purposes of racial integration." Twenty-four percent said they didn't favor the president's proposal.

Asked if they "favor the end of the draft, even though it will add $4 billion to our defense personnel costs," 59 per cent responded "yes" and 41 per cent disagreed.

Fifty-eight per cent indicated a willingness to withdraw from Vietnam "even if it means the fall of the present South Vietnamese government," while 42 per cent disagreed.

ESCH'S constituency overwhelmingly supported President Nixon's initiatives to improve relations with Russia and the People's Republic of China.

The seminar will also explore the related phenomena of telekinesis, fortune-telling, ghosts and the role of drugs.

Introduction to English art will deal with English painting and architecture from the early 16th century to the early 19th century. To supplement the lecture and slides, Charles E. Brownell, assistant professor of art at OU, will make extensive use of the hall and its collection. This course begins Sept. 28.

IN "GHOSTS" in Literature," John P. Cutts, chairman of the university's English department, will lead an exploration into man's fascination with the supernatural as shown in world-famous literature. This begins Sept. 25.

The dos and don'ts of buying precious and semi-precious stones and the fundamentals of gemology will be presented by Boris Gaynes, beginning Sept. 25.

The popular beginning wine appreciation course gets under way Sept. 26. Each session is devoted to practical wine knowledge followed by comparative tasting of six different wines and imported cheeses.

The graduate wine appreciation course begins Oct. 24.

THE PURPLE GANG, eight women who have been singing together for the past four years, will be featured in Livonia's Music Under the Stars program Wednesday, Sept. 27. Two concerts, with professional and musical groups, are scheduled, with the first set for Thursday, Sept. 21. Both will be held in the Civic Center Park behind City Hall and admission is free. Russian Poet Will Speak Iosif Brodsky, recently-appointed poet-in-residence at the University of Michigan following his banishment from his native Russia, will appear at Schoolcraft College on Oct. 3.

Considered by many as Russia's foremost poet, Brodsky was "invited" to leave permanently for Israel this past summer. Instead he chose to come to the U-M to accept a post filled only once before - by Robert Frost from 1921 to 1923.

He gave an inaugural reading of his poems in this country Tuesday, Sept. 19 at the U-M.

AT SCHOOLCRAFT he will read some of his poetry in Russian and then the English translations will be read. He will also answer questions, assisted by a translator whenever necessary.

Brodsky will appear at 8 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater. There is no charge and the public is welcome. His appearance is sponsored by the cultural and public affairs committee. Arrangements are being made by David Perkins, an English instructor.

Brodsky, born in Leningrad in 1940, began writing poetry in the 1950s. He fell to disfavor with the Soviet authorities in 1964 and very little of his work has ever been published openly in the Soviet Union.

His first book of poems, in Russian, was published in the U.S. in 1965. In 1967, his "Verses on the Death of T.S. Eliot" were published in Leningrad and a volume of his works was published in English translation in London. His second volume of Russian poems was published in New York in 1970.

BRODSKY, 32 was met at Metropolitan Airport in early July by his friends, Carl R. and Ellendea Proffer, who were instrumental in his coming to Michigan. Proffer is a professor of Slavic languages and literature at the U-M, and the couple were visiting Brodsky the day his country invited him to leave.

The Proffers helped make travel arrangements for Brodsky, and were able to help arrange his U-M appointment through the Slavic EXILED RUSSIAN poet Iosif Brodsky will be at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 3.

Department executive committee and the authorization of Pres. Robin Fleming.

In 1964, he was sentenced to five years of exile at hard labor, but the sentence was commuted to 18 months on a collective farm because of protests from Russian and western intellectuals. Until he left Russia, Brodsky lived with his parents in a two-room apartment.

Wayne-Westland Civic Players Plan Musical

amusements

The Wayne-Westland Civic Players will stage their first musical in several years this fall.

In what promises to be a busy season, the players are also discussing plans for the establishments of a youth theater.

"THE FANTASTIKS," a whimsical musical about young love, is the players' choice for the musical. It is set for production in late November, under the direction of Lois Tobin, drama teacher at John Glenn High School.

Auditions will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday and Friday, Sept. 28 and 29, in St. Johns Episcopal Church, 555 S. Wayne Road, Westland.

Featuring pantomime, singing, dancing and comedy, "The Fantastiks" had a long run on Broadway.

THE YOUTH theater would involve young people under the age of 18 in productions of their own. Members of the WWCP would act as coordinators and advisors to the young people.

The players will open this season with a children's play, "Hansel and Gretel." It will be staged Oct. 27 and 28 in Wayne Memorial High School and will be co-sponsored by the Wayne-Westland PTA.

Council. Jacquie Guernsey is the director, and, Carl Schuman is the assistant director.

Madelyn Fitzgerald, 34539 Blackfoot, Westland, is chairman of the play for the PTA.

It will have four performances, at 7:30 p.m., Friday, and at 10:30 a.m. and 1 and 3:30 p.m., Saturday.

An evening of cabaret theater with several one-acts will be given in late February.

Woody Allen's "Play It Again, Sam," a zany satire, will conclude the season. John Glenn drama instructor Jerry Thomas will be the director.

SEASON TICKETS for all productions may be purchased for $7.50. All interested should call Anne Button, 35042 Hees, Livonia.

Anyone who wishes to become a member of the group, whether for backstage or onstage participation, may call Isabel Barrett, 47616 N. Shore Drive, Belleville. The players meet at 1340 Harvey, Westland.

Officers for this year are Fred Button of Livonia, president; Al LaCroix of Wayne, vice-president; Mildred Roy of Westland, secretary; and Don McKee of Livonia, treasurer.

THE MIDDLE ROUGE got a good cleaning, thanks to Saturday's efforts by Jaycees and friends. Al Bugocki of Westland runs a chain saw, as James Sweeney, a committeeman from Scout Troop 904 in Westland, piles up wood. Troop 904 made the cleanup a major environmental project. One Mill For Jail To Go On Ballot

Wayne County voters will consider two propositions to finance new jail and juvenile facilities through special five-year property levies totaling one mill in the Nov. 7 election, under preliminary action taken by the County Commissioners.

The commissioners, meeting as the Ways and Means Committee last week, decided to put the proposals on the ballot.

One mill equals $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. It amounts to $15 per year on property worth $30,000 on the market.

Court needs have recommended facilities estimated to cost a total of nearly $69 million.

The cost of the recommended jail facilities is estimated at $39.6 million and the cost of the Juvenile Court and Youth Home facilities is estimated at $29.3 million.

Thus the jail millage proposal was expected to approximate 6/10ths of a mill (60 cents per $1,000) and the juvenile facilities proposal would amount to about 4/10ths of a mill (40 cents per $1,000). The County Board of Auditors was to submit precise figures for the formal Board meeting.

The decision to separate the two proposals was made following lengthy discussion during which some commissioners maintained that a sharp reduction in the jail population has shown that a new jail is not needed.

Others argued, however, that it would be impossible to rebuild the present jail, built in 1929, in order to comply with a Circuit Court panel's orders that all state housing and jail codes be met with regard to cell space and air space per prisoner.

The jail population has been reduced from nearly 1,600 inmates to about 500 within the last two years.

COMMISSIONERS who questioned the need for new jail facilities attributed the decrease to the recent "crash program" which added 10 visiting judges to the Recorder's Court bench. They argued the Aug. 8 voter approval of a permanent seven-judge expansion of the bench should keep the jail population down by continuing to bring prisoners to trial sooner than in the past.

IF BOTH proposals are approved, a total of nearly $65 million would be raised over the five years. Lengthy studies of jail and Juvenile both if a majority of voters were opposed to one.

An earlier proposal that the facilities be financed by one-half mill levied over 20 years was dropped because it would have required borrowing through the issuance of bonds. It was argued that the larger five-year levy would make a bond issue unnecessary and would save about $50 million in interest charges.

A YEAR-LONG study conducted by consultants under an advisory committee of public officials has recommended that a second Juvenile Court and detention home for 110 juveniles be built in Westland, with construction to start in 1975 and be completed by 1980.

The present Youth Home in Detroit would be expanded from its present capacity of 215 to 325. The adjoining Juvenile Court building, built in 1929 and considered obsolete, would be replaced.

Another study by consultants recommended that a new jail facility for 750 inmates in downtown Detroit be completed by 1975, that an out-county jail facility for 400 inmates be built by 1980 and that $3,350,000 worth of additional renovations be undertaken at the present jail.

Michigan Plums Star In Recipes

By ELLY

"Choose juicy, plump Michigan purple plums for quick snacks, home canning and freezing," says Mrs. Larry Trim of the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Singing the praises of Michigan plums, Mrs. Trim said they contain large amounts of vitamins A and C, plus minerals and are low in fat content. They're good for low-sodium diets because they're low in sodium and low in calories. There are only 94 calories in one cup of fresh plums.

Fully ripe plums can be enjoyed all year by tucking them away in your freezer. Frozen plums retain their firmness with no discoloration after thawing. Wash fruit, halve and pit. Freeze by the sugar pack or syrup pack methods. Sugar pack has the best flavor; syrup pack gives more tender skins.

Mrs. Trim dropped off a number of plum recipes. The Michigan season is now at its peak and will continue until early October so there is plenty of time to enjoy them.

PURPLE PLUM PIE
Pastry for 9 inch 2 crust pie
4 c. halved and pitted purple plums
3 T. flour
1 c. sugar
½ t. ground cinnamon
½ t. ground nutmeg
¼ t. salt
2 T. lemon juice
2 T. melted butter or margarine.

Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Line nine-inch pie plate with half of pastry. Cut plum halves once, crosswise, arrange in pie plate. Combine flour, sugar, cinnamon, nutmeg and salt; sprinkle over plums. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Cover with rest of pastry. Seal and flute edge. Brush crust with melted butter. Bake 35 to 40 minutes. Serve slightly warm with vanilla ice cream, or eliminate top crust and cover pie with meringue. Return to oven for about 10 minutes to brown meringue.

PLUM CRUMB PUDDING

Wash and cut three pounds plums into quarters. Measure. There should be about six cups of fruit. Combine ¾ cup sugar and four tablespoons flour; mix with plums. Turn into 10 x 6 x 2 inch baking dish. Mix ½ cup sugar and 1 ¼ cups flour together. Add ½ cup butter or margarine and cut into crumb consistency. Sprinkle over plums. Bake in preheated 375 degree oven for one hour or until plums are tender and crumbs are brown. Serves six.

PLUM CAKE

Sift eight ounces flour with two teaspoons baking powder, rub in two ounces butter lightly. Mix in two ounces sugar. Add enough milk (about two tablespoons) to make a stiff paste. Roll out to ¼ inch thick, lay on a greased jelly roll pan. Peel and slice one pound plums (about 6-8 medium sized). Arrange them on top of the pastry. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 25 minutes.

PLUM SAUCE

Combine 2 cups crushed unpeeled fresh plums with one cup sugar, and ¼ cup orange juice in saucepan. Mix well. Bring to rapid boil, and then simmer uncovered about 15 minutes, or until sauce has thickened. Cool and stir in ½ teaspoon pure vanilla extract. Makes approximately six servings, 1 ½ cups sauce.

PLUM SALAD

Pit 12 plums, opening enough to remove the pits and not break skins clear through. Fill centers with ¼ cup chopped nuts mixed with ¼ pound blue cheese or shredded cheddar cheese. Press together lightly, leaving stuffing visible. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise or French dressing. Makes four servings.

STEWED PLUMS

Cover plums with just enough water to keep from burning. Cook gently until soft, about 10 minutes. Sweeten to taste and serve in sauce dishes with juice poured over them. Flavor with vanilla extract, if desired.

BRANDIED PLUMS

To a batch of stewed fresh plums, add brandy to taste. Serve over vanilla ice cream.

OBSERVATION POINT

Prompt Action Needed On Mass Transit Proposal

The state legislature went back to work yesterday with one of the top items on the agenda the mass transit bill.

As proposed by Governor Milliken, the measure would add two cents per gallon to the gasoline tax, with one half cent of the added revenue going to support mass transit in various parts of the state and the other cent and a half going to road construction.

The bill passed the house earlier this year, but has been held up in the Senate Transportation Committee all summer.

It takes three votes to bring a bill out of this committee for consideration by the full state senate, and at present there is only one solid vote available, belonging to Sen. David Plawecki who represents Redford Township.

FOR US IN THE suburbs the need for a mass transit system is overwhelming.

Detroit is the largest metropolitan area in the country with no real mass transit system! The results are clear:

- The expressways are over-stretched already, as anyone who has been even near the interchange at rush hour knows;

- Bus transit linking the suburbs with Detroit is sparse, erratic and infrequent, posing serious problems for suburban businesses wishing to employ people who live in Detroit;

- Many businessmen with plants and shops in the suburbs complain they can't get help, yet there are literally hundreds of thousands of unemployed people who want work but don't have a car and cannot get to where the jobs are offered because there is no mass transit;

- Downtown Detroit now looks like the jacket of a science fiction book, with thousands of acres of land taken over by expressways — land that formerly paid taxes to the now nearly broke city.

- The Detroit Department of Street Railways is, as seems usual, running a very big deficit and proposes to cut it by again raising fares and cutting services.

THE ARGUMENTS favoring a mass transit system seem so obvious and so overwhelming that it's a real shock to find that the state senate has dilly-dallied so long with the legislation.

Part of the reason explains Sen. Plawecki, who is on the Senate Transportation Committee, is that no one wants to look like he's supporting a tax increase — particularly this year.

Added to that is the fierce — "more time and money spent on this bill than I've ever seen," says Plawecki — opposition of the trucking lobby, the Teamsters Union, and the road building lobby.

Why these groups are so hoggish — they're getting three quarters of the money already — at the public expense is not clear to me, but their opposition is powerful.

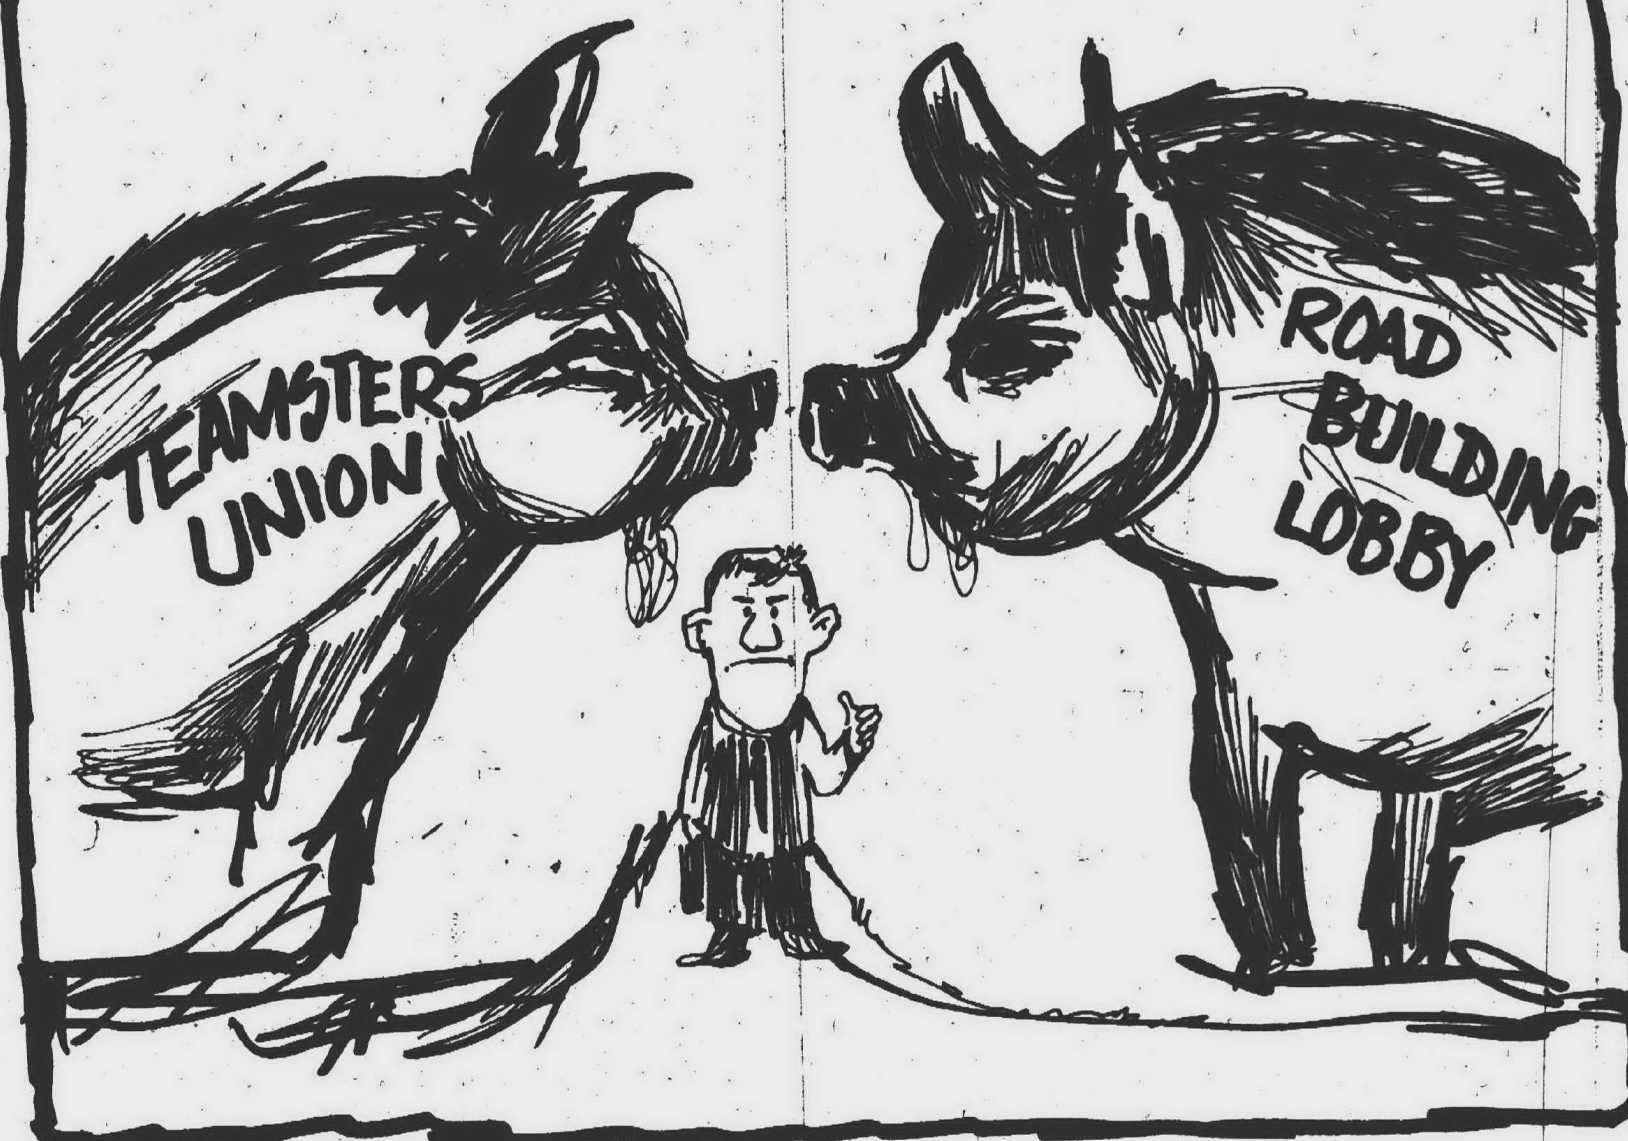

The last problem is that many members of the state senate are from rural areas outstate and see no benefit for their constituents in a mass transit system which will help mostly the southeastern part of the state. The chairman of the senate committee, who is from Jackson and so should know better, has held hearings on the mass transit proposal nearly everywhere but in this area, evidently seeking to stack the deck of testimony against the bill.

He did at last schedule a hearing last week in Warren, but Plawecki reports this is the last one, and that the fight is now to bring the bill out of committee.

RIGHT NOW, the situation is such that if the legislature does not take action within the next three weeks, there simply will not be enough time to get a bill passed before the end of the year, reports Plawecki, who deserves a real pat on the back for his effective and consistent support of the package.

The committee should move the mass transit package out to the full state senate immediately, so that prompt action can be taken to prevent the suburbs from getting into the mess that Detroit is in now.

WE'RE THE GUY IN THE MIDDLE...

Farmington Twp. Has Reached Point To Seek Urban Status

This is another in a series of guest columns on the deep issues affecting suburbia. Today's writer is the chairman of the proposed City of Farmington Hills and unopposed Republican nominee for Farmington Township supervisor.

By ROBERT MCCONNELL

A recent Observer editorial stated flatly that townships are for cows and upon reflection it can be seen that the statement contains a lot of truth.

The township form of government was created by the state for rural areas as a transitional form until the community would be ready for urban status. Farmington Township, with its population of over 50,000 people is long past the transition point and the time has arrived to make it a community for people.

TOWNSHIP GOVERNMENT was never intended to serve a community of thousands of people. It is a "housekeeping" type of administration designed for rural areas. Township boards are restricted and controlled in their actions by state law and the real decisions emanate from the legislature in Lansing.

Road control, for example rests in the hands of the county and not with the local township board, and it is the county which allocates and distributes the road

Sense And Nonsense

The American Association of University Women (AAUW) goofed last week in "releasing" its questionnaires of state legislative candidates for the Aug. 8 primary election.

The group, which showed that its college-trained members apparently failed to consult a calendar, dropped off its survey of candidates in the new 36th and 37th state house districts late Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 8, the day of the election. If the survey was delivered to The Observer any later, there would have been a photo — finish with actual election results.

monies received from the tax returns on gasoline and vehicle weight taxes.

In Farmington Township, roads have been a major problem in past years yet the township received from the county approximately 20% of the gas and weight taxes it would have received if it had been incorporated as a city.

Numerous studies have shown that townships reach a point in population growth where the continuation of township government results in residents continuing to pay out more in taxes than the local government receives back.

Under cityhood, the community receives a greater and more equitable share of state returned revenue and this fact takes on much greater significance now that federal tax monies will also be available to local governments.

THE THREAT OF annexation is always lurking over township administrations. Under state law, townships are raw material for annexation by any surrounding municipality. In the early growth stages of a community, township boards invite industry and commercial enterprise to locate in their township with an eye towards providing a tax base for its residents.

Such is the case in Farmington Township where the Planning Commission and the Township board had the foresight to develop one of the best industrial parks in the State of Michigan.

The township residents approved a special millage to provide water and sanitary facilities for the park and if it were to be annexed, the township would lose not only its valuable tax base but also a sanitary arm and water system whose financial costs were borne by township residents to make the Park a reality.

Farmington township has been through five annexation attempts in recent years and until firm boundaries have been established by the creation of a new city the growth and orderly development of the community will be in jeopardy.

Too often residents of townships view with alarm the possibility that cityhood inevitably means higher taxes.

However, there are two things which affect taxes. The first is that taxes come about directly as a result of the services demanded by the public. A community can be as rural or as urbanized as its residents want it to be. The second factor which affects taxes is inflation.

Under the 1963 Michigan Constitution property taxes are estimated upon 50% of the market value and as long as inflation forces property values higher it makes no difference if the community is a township, village or city, taxes will be higher anyway.

Incorporation makes good sense to protect a community's tax base and provide its citizens with the opportunity for them to decide what level of services they need or desire.

FINALLY, THERE ARE two psychological aspects worth considering. Township communities are treated as poor cousins to city governments. The citizens of a community the size of Farmington township deserve and are entitled to take a first class place in the larger Detroit metropolitan environment.

The second aspect, while less important but equally as satisfying, is that the community would rightfully be recorded on the map of Michigan as a community to be recognized and worthy of note.

Last May, the citizens of Farmington township elected a nine man charter commission to prepare a charter for the future city of Farmington Hills.

The preparation is nearing completion and a charter to fit the needs of the community is being forged in the fires of democratic discussion. It has taken almost five months of work and the charter will soon be ready for the community to determine if it shall become the constitutional document of home rule for Farmington Township.

Tim Richard writes

'Rescue The Rouge' Project Annually Gains More Maturity

"They're having another 'Rescue the Rouge' project. Aren't they ever gonna get that thing cleaned up?"

That was a frequent question prior to last weekend's annual project by District 30 Jaycees in western Wayne County and a similar project in Farmington.

Some of the answers are surprising.

TO BEGIN WITH, yes, the Rouge is getting cleaner. A lot of the longtime logjams and major problems have, since the birth of the ecology movement in 1970, been cleaned up.

Several clubs in the Middle Rouge section were finished with their work by 1 p.m. Saturday, whereas in previous years they had worked all day. There were fewer gigantic piles of junk and half-rotted lumber, and no safes or refrigerators as in past years.

There's a moral: It IS possible to make the environment cleaner and to take action that will have a long-term effect.

At the same time, two of the three groups see no point in continuing the project, at least on an annual basis.

In Farmington, city officials believe they can handle the river without volunteers in 1973. In northwest Detroit, "Rescue the Rouge, Inc.," an amalgam of civic groups, says local government should take over next year.

In western Wayne County, the district Jaycees haven't considered dropping the project, although they could always change their collective minds.

THE ENTHUSIASM of the ecology movement isn't as wild as during the first project. Last Saturday there weren't the banners and sloganeering that I had first seen in 1970.

Yet the numbers of persons — especially high school and junior high kids — continued around the 3,000 mark. It wasn't the 5,000 the Jaycees were hoping for; but considering the almost non-existent publicity campaign (except for Garden City), it was amazing that so many did turn out.

The ecology movement is no fad. Some of the frenzy of earlier years is gone, but in its place has grown a mature knowledge that man is no longer absolutely free to rule despotically over the world. He is part of it, and he must learn to live within it.

To become a convert of the ecology movement is to realize that a whole way of life is involved. Respecting the ecosystem is more than cleaning up a river once a year; it's becoming conscious of all the strains that a high-powered, energy-wasting society is placing on a finite earth.

It means being conscious of major things such as the need for public transit and new housing patterns, and it also means being conscious of very little things. As one 12-year-old put it:

"I'll never toss out another pop can — ever again!"

Anti-Busing Groups Keep Public Informed

EDITOR:

Consider this a reply to an article "Anti-Busing Groups Hurt By Court Case" by Emory Daniels in the weekend Observer of Sept. 2-3.

The attorney, William Saxton, representing 40 school districts in District 9, questions the purposes of anti-busing groups accepting the people's "hard-earned money." Might I suggest that these sums of money are used for many purposes, mainly for disseminating information not readily available to the public.

It can also be used to alert the voting public to their legislators' voting habits in the area of public educational philosophy and financing. Certainly, it must have its purpose of bringing diverse groups together with an identifiable common goal, for "in unity and in numbers there is strength."

We, the public, need these groups if for no other purpose than to hear their side of the coin. We do not need counsel retained by our own hard-earned tax dollars, to berate anti-busing groups for their possible evasion of school integration orders, even before such a fact is fully and finally upon us!

We, residents and parents, are coming to grips with this problem. We do see the need for the continuance of local control of education, especially to keep it out of the hands of absentee managers Emotionalism is good for the adrenal glands in this case, because it can stimulate the brain into getting out of the slumber into which our judicial processes have lulled us. It can also dispel and help to throw off the aura woven over our legal and judicial systems. These are mere men and man-made institutions, subject to human frailties and weaknesses, in the image of the rest of us.

Finally, if it were not for the anti-busing groups, with all their clamor, no one would be aware that the populace existed. If OUR counsel sincerely feels that all these groups have "plowed up all this ground before," then he is accepting fees under false pretenses, or he would have searched out some unplowed ground before now upon which to prepare his defense. If we had need for a devil's advocate, I am sure the school district boards would have hired one.

Immigrant For Nixon

EDITOR:

On TV was Democrats' convention in Grand Rapids. Democrats speaker was angry to Republicans in case of raise of prices in food stores up to 10 per cent. That is right, but they should not blame Republicans but city of Redford, for they have no price inspector, then it would not be so.

If President R. Nixon stays for four years more as president of U.S.A., prices will go down for he will put hundreds of price inspectors. In Democrats' party, that is not in program, at all!

I'm Republican Latvian, and propose to all people to vote for Republican Mr. R. Nixon only. We immigrants are wondering and don't understand that in voting year of U.S.A., president candidates of both parties, Democrat and Republican, blame so bad each other?

Democrat, in view of immigrants, have backbone too weak - Republicans are much stronger. Democrats' President Roosevelt won 2nd World War and all gone to Russia's Stalin for occupation. J.E. RADZINS

Horseshoe Act Has Element Of Danger

A trick horseshoe pitching show will be at the Livonia Mall, Seven Mile and Middle Belt, Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 28 to 30. Performances will be at 3 and 7 p.m.

The husband and wife team of Danny and Sue Kuchincinski perform with an element of danger as Mrs. Kuchincinski does gymnastics while her husband tosses the horseshoes.

Both are former national horseshoe champions, and Mrs. Kuchincinski was Indiana state gymnastic champion. She took the ladies horseshoe world championship in 1962 at the age of 15 and repeated her success again in 1964 and 1965.

Her husband won the men's crown in 1967 at the age of 18 and again in 1969.

In their act, Mrs. Kuchincinski does gymnastics in front of or in back of the stake as her husband pitches rings.

Jets At Sea

On a worldwide basis, gas turbines now provide a total of 5.5 million horsepower for marine propulsion units. These units, which replace steam generators and diesel engines to power propellers, contain an estimated 750,000 pounds of nickel in various heat- and corrosion-resistant alloys.

Big 10 Mark

In three years as Michigan's head football coach, Bo Schembechler's teams have won 20 of 22 Big Ten Conference games.

SMILES WERE THE ORDER of the day at ceremonies this month marking the eighth office and the first one located outside of Livonia by the Livonia National Bank. Temporary trailer office will be replaced in the coming year by a one-story brick structure at the Five Mile and Haggerty site, Northville Township. From left are: Elvin D. Dougherty, bank president; William Ditzhazy, Ditzhazy Associates, builder; Robert Osborn, co-owner of bank site; Henry Hogan, manager of nearby golf driving range; Robert L. Walter, new office manager.

8th LNB Branch Over Border

Opening of its eighth office this month by the Livonia National Bank marked a "first" in the firm's expansion.

Official location of the temporary office at Five Mile and Haggerty roads is in Northville Township, making it the only branch outside the City of Livonia according to Carleton A. German, Jr., bank vice president.

Within the next year, the temporary trailer office will be transformed into a brick structure on one floor of 3,000 square feet and housing seven teller stations.

MANAGER of the new office is Robert L. Walter, who was promoted from assistant manager of the Five Mile and Farmington parent office.

Elvin D. Dougherty, bank president, reported the bank's net income after taxes for the first six months of 1972 to be $450,370 or $5.11 per share.

Livonia National Bank began operations at its office opposite city hall in 1953, expanding to seven locations within Livonia by 1971. It assumed its current name in 1964.

Last month, Livonia National Bank and its parent bank, Michigan Bank of Detroit were two of five banks acquired by Michigan National Corp. The latter firm was authorized by the Federal Reserve Board to become a bank holding company.

Stockholders in the Livonia National Bank were advised of the exchange of their stock for that in the new bank holding company based in Lansing. The reserve board's action makes the Michigan National Corp. the largest bank holding company in the state and the second largest Michigan banking organization.

3rd Middle Rouge Cleanup Is Shorter, Shows Results

A lawn chair...barbed wire...the front end of a car...barricade signs...a bowling ball...the bloated corpse of a dog...picnic tables...a grill...a coin collector's belt...a gigantic kitchen pot...a couple of bicycles.

And of course many, many logjams.

That was the harvest Saturday as some 3,000 persons turned out to "Rescue the Rouge" in a project coordinated by the Jaycees of District 30 (western Wayne County).

"ACTUALLY, WE didn't pile up as much as last year," said Gary Bartram, the Westland member who was chairman of the third annual cleanup of the Middle Rouge. "The cleanups are really starting to take effect and improve that river."

He was right on that point. The Livonia contingent, for example, closed down shop after about 1 p.m., and other groups found there weren't as many big things to get as in past years.

Nevertheless, Bartram

predicted the project would probably be carried out again in 1973. In contrast, a group called "Rescue the Rouge, Inc.," operating along a branch of the river in northwest Detroit, announced that it would abandon the project to governmental agencies after this year.

(In Farmington, a similar project Saturday drew 250 to 300 volunteers, but this will be the last year volunteers will be needed. DPW Director David Jones said the city alone can handle it next year.)

Participants here came up with some cases of poison ivy, a few wasp stings, many small cuts but no broken bones or serious injuries. The worst was a Livonia boy's cut knee that required six stitches.

BY BARTRAM'S figures, Wayne and Westland fielded 900 workers, Livonia 700 to 800, Plymouth 300 and Northville 250. For its relative size, however, Garden City, whose local leader was Walt Grzysh, had the best turnout with 700 to 800.

The overall turnout was about as good or perhaps a little better than in 1971, Bartram said.

Workers were of all ages, but junior high school students predominated. In addition, 45 prisoners from the Detroit House of Correction worked in the Plymouth end of the river. Participating governmental agencies included the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Wayne County Road Commission and the cities of Garden City, Westland and Livonia. For the most part, they provided dump trucks, front-end loaders and chain saws. Garden City and Westland provided several councilmen, too.

The county board voted a total of $17,500 for both the northwest Detroit and Jaycees' Middle Rouge projects. Funds went for trucks, cranes and their operators.

The Michiganders Radio Club of Garden City provided communications aid. General Motors and Ford each gave $100 and American Motors $25. Ryder Truck Rental donated use of an 18-foot van. Wonder Bread and Hygrade provided special prices on buns and hot dogs, respectively. Spartan Stores provided napkins and paper plates, and Roger Cromwell, a teacher in the Wayne - Westland School District, donated use of a camp trailer as the headquarters.

THE D WAS cooked by - who else? - the Jaycees Auxiliary.

"You know, District 30 is the No. 1 district in Michigan for running this project," said Bartram. "No other district in the state does anything like it. We have two district projects in the course of the year - this and the Plymouth State Home carnival. No other district has even one."

"They call us the 'brotherhood-district.'"

CAMP FIRE GIRLS Group 555 of Garden City (background) reaped this harvest of environmental shame from the Middle Rouge.

GARY BARTRAM of Westland was chairman of the District 30 Jaycees' "Rescue the Rouge" project.

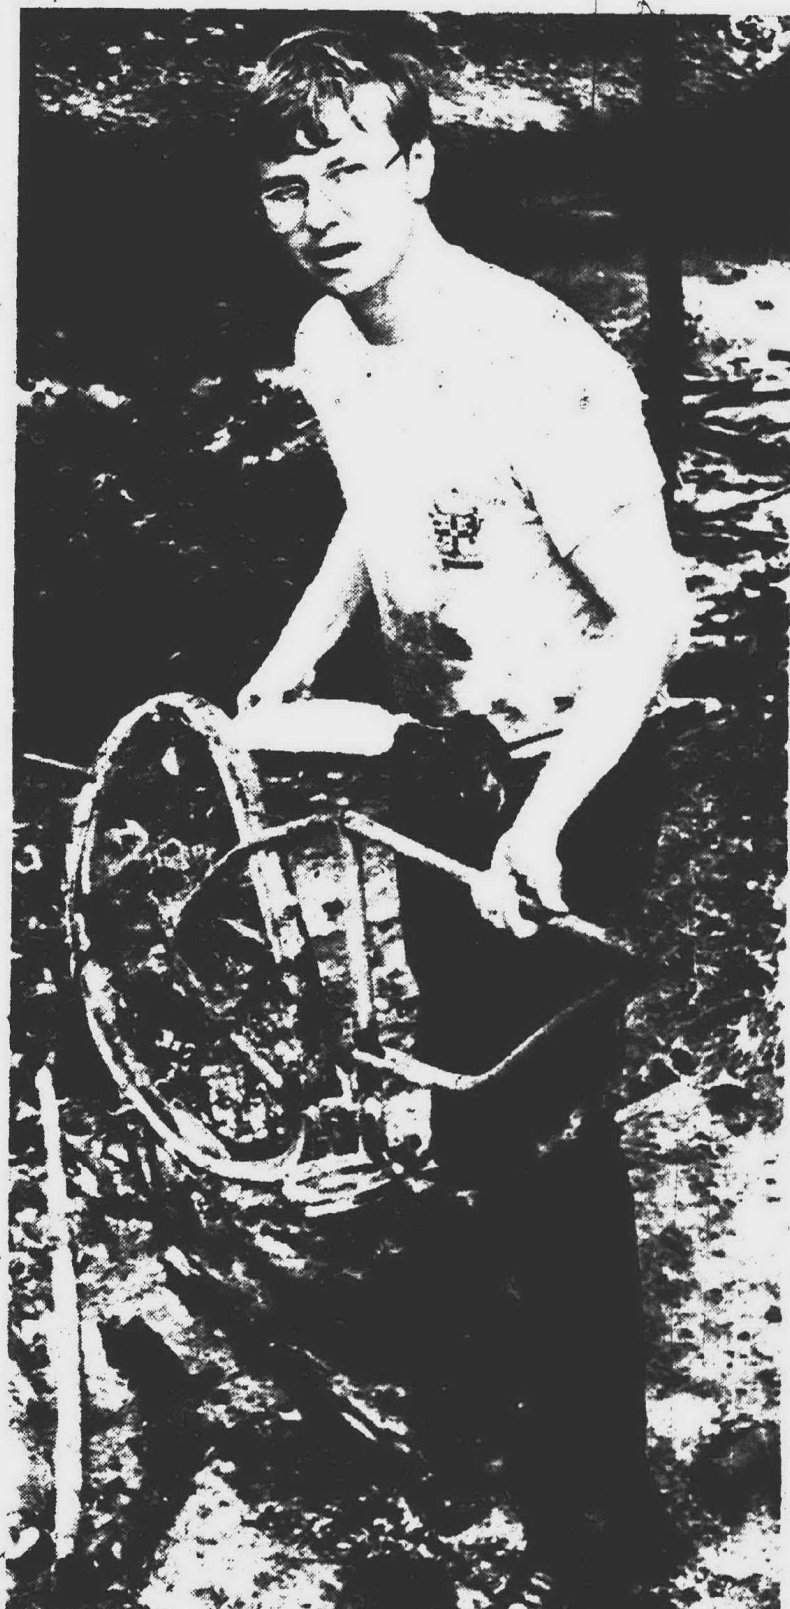

AN UNDERWATER log was a real obstacle on the Plymouth segment of the Middle Rouge. Diners in the Thunderbird Inn may have looked out the window and seen Jaycee Dave Aldrich (left) and Mike Conant, a county employee with a chain saw, in the river below.

VOGEL JUNIOR High students from Garden City teamed up to haul this slimy log out of the muddy Middle Rouge River in Saturday's cleanup.

GEORGE VEACH was an Evans Scholar at the University of Michigan, but as a Westland Jaycee he wasn't afraid to get very, very muddy in Saturday's "Rescue the Rouge" project.

Churchill Squeaks By Thurston, 7-6

observerland

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Chalk one up in the win column for Churchill High. Churchill didn't overpower Thurston, the Chargers just beat them, 7-6.

The Western Six Chargers broke a scoreless tie in the third quarter. Thurston came back with a touchdown of its own but missed on a two-point attempt and that was the game.

Thurston Coach Emil Majeski in his first game as head mentor left himself open for second guessing with the two-point attempt instead of the kicking one but as far as he was concerned that was the only play.

"We have been passing better for two points than kicking for one," said Majeski. "The play would have worked if the blocking had held up."

Thurston quarterback John Stein was rushed on the extra point attempt and never had an opportunity to see Dave Harding all alone in the end zone.

The two squads exchanged the ball 10 times in the first half with fumbles and interceptions telling the story of a 0-0 score.

WITH 17:17 LEFT in the third quarter, Churchill took control on its own 32 yard line. Working out of a wishbone, senior fullback Kevin Arnold dashed to the 45 for a first down.

Churchill moved into Thurston territory and was faced with a crucial fourth and one situation on the Eagles 45. Charger QB Bob Blaies picked up the needed yardage and it was a first down on the 43.

Blaies fumbled the snap from center and a pass fell incomplete to make it fourth and five. Blaies found his mark in Jim Foster on a screen pass with Foster fighting his way to the Thurston 29.

THURSTON STOPPED the Charger attack in the first three plays forcing another fourth down situation and five on the Eagle 23.

Blaies faded back and hit Foster on a drag pass pattern and Churchill was on the board. Left-footed kicker Ernie Comini split the uprights and the Chargers were up, 7-0.

Thurston's Tom Dowdy picked off a Blaies pass later in the quarter but Churchill's Al Leirstein hauled in his second interception to halt an Eagle threat.

With 5:55 remaining, Thurston took over on its own 44 and this time inexpensive was not to be seen.

STEIN CONNECTED with Harding on a 36 yarder to Churchill's 20 yard line.

Churchill's Phil Skender had a stray Stein pass in his hands but let it slip away and Thurston was faced with a fourth and eight on the 18. Stein hit John Roy on a pass and with 4:49 remaining, the score stood 7-6 with Thurston having the option of a one-point or two-point play.

Majeski decided on going for the win and Stein dropped back to pass. Before he could even set himself, Churchill's Tim McMahon and Kevin Arnold were on him with the ball squirting loose.

CHURCHILL took the kickoff, failed to pick up a first down and Thurston had the ball on its 44 after a 28 yard punt. An Eagle pass landed in the hands of one of its linemen and before Majeski knew what had happened, it was third and 36 on their own 16.

Thurston punted the ball out and Churchill started working on the clock.

On a third down play on its own 45, Churchill's Tom Moore plunged ahead for a first down but the ball shot loose and Thurston's Harding was there to pick it up.

All there was between Harding and the goal line was clear sailing but Phil Damaska who had blocked for Moore on the play came up with a game saving tackle from behind to stop Harding on the 16.

HARDING was shaken up on the play and Thurston was forced to use its last timeout. "With 58 seconds showing on the clock, it was a break for us," said Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner.

Two passes fell incomplete and Stein finally hit Gary Chappell on the 10 but time had run out and Churchill nullified a game closing penalty against Thurston to win.

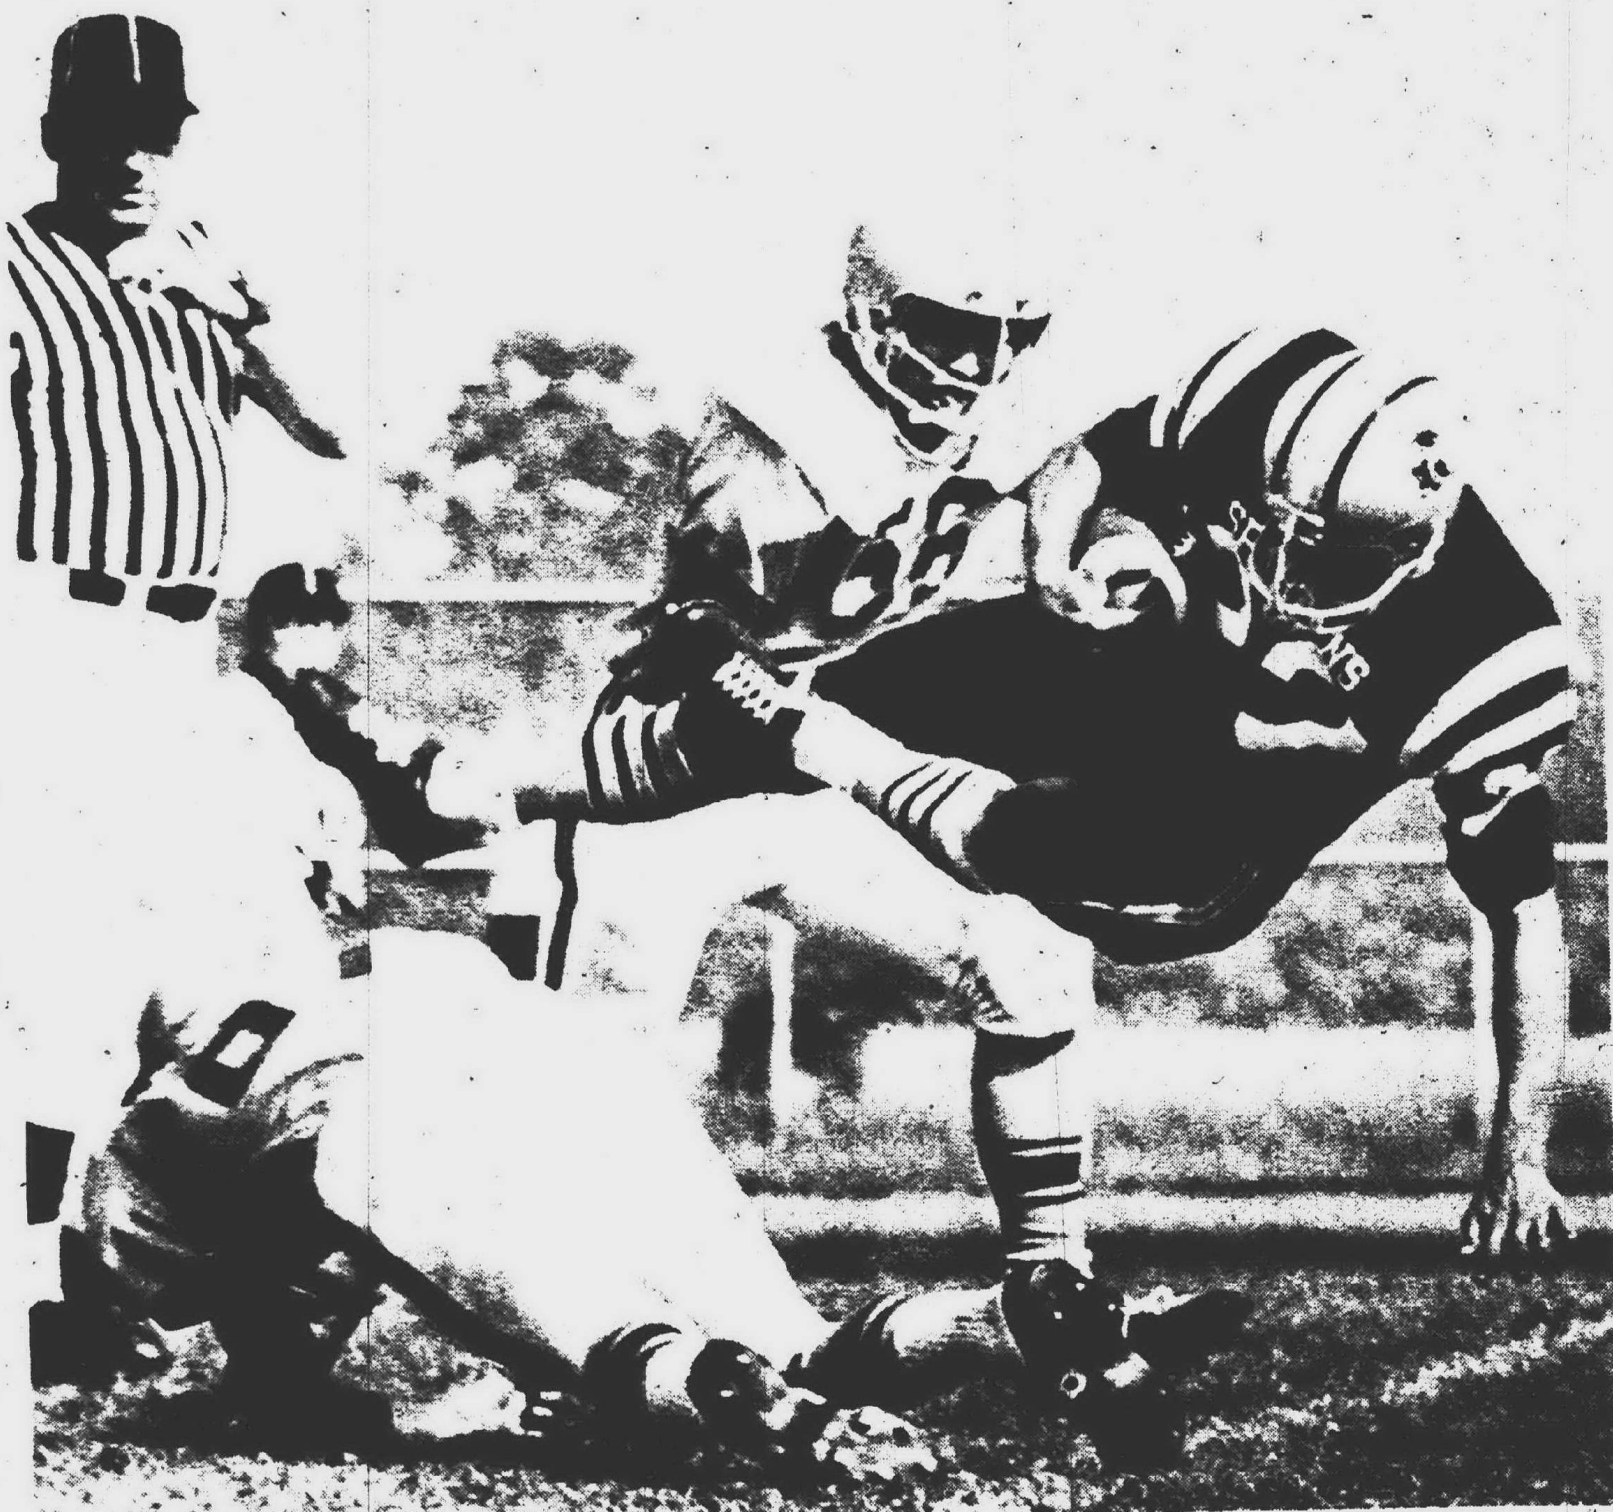

Churchill collected 10 first downs to only three by Thurston with the Chargers grinding out 167 yards on the ground to 30 by Thurston.

BLAIES HIT on six of 11 passes for 79 yards with Stein connecting on six of 16 for 50 yards. Churchill even led in the fumble department with five while Thurston had none.

Defense, as usual was the key to Churchill's attack.

"The offense put us in the hole," said defense Coach Roger Frayer. "But we (defense) bailed them out."

"We just made too many mistakes," said Majeski. "But we did prove that we will be competitive."

A SPARTAN TUMBLE -- Stevenson's Paul Lulek takes a spin after being hit by Redford Union's Bob Eland (87) and Bob Fitrakis (56).

NF Raiders Win In Overtime, 14-12

The new football tie-breaking ruling didn't have to sit on the shelf long.

North Farmington and Pontiac Northern played to a 6-6 tie with North winning it all in a double overtime, 14-12.

"I have had three ties in 13 years of coaching at North," said Coach Ron Holland. "What a way to open a season... a double overtime win."

A pass from John Dwyer to Jim Fredericks broke the six-all deadlock with Brad Pease hauling in a two-point pass play. Pontiac came back in the overtime with a touchdown but failed on a two-point play.

It was a scoreless duel for the first three quarters with Pontiac failing to capitalize on a first quarter blocked punt. Pontiac took control on North's 17 but couldn't move against a tough Raider defense with Mike Daley intercepting a pass to halt that threat.

MIDWAY through the second quarter North opened up a drive from its 40. A pass deflection brought out the field goal team with Dwyer missing a 22 yarder wide to the left.

The first half ended 0-0 with North having eight first downs and Northern none.

"We have to be the greatest 30 to 30 zone football team around," said Holland. "We just couldn't break open for a big gain."

With seven minutes remaining, North got the break it had been waiting for. A bad punt gave the Raiders the ball on Northern's 30.

DWYER HIT Bill Doerr on a key third down play for 13 yards and Dwyer scampered around end to the three. Bob D'Agostino climaxed it with a three yard dive and North was on the board.

A bad snap from center made the conversion fruitless but North had a 6-0 lead. The margin held up for about one minute.

Northern's quarterback Bob Chism connected for a 65 yard scoring toss to Willy Flowers and it was a tie game.

RAIDER JIM GRAESSLE blocked the extra point attempt and it was into overtime where each team gets four downs from the 10 to score.

Northern won the toss and elected to have North Farmington go on the offense first.

Dwyer pitched to Doerr who moved to the four. Pease advanced to the two but Dwyer was stopped at the line of scrimmage making it fourth and two.

Holland called on Dwyer for a field goal but it was off to the right and Pontiac had four plays to score a touchdown or field goal from the 10 for a victory.

Peppe Marsh was stopped at the 10 and Chism moved to the nine. A pass play went for naught and the stage was set for a field goal to win the game... a 24 yarder.

Linebacker Graessle again got his hand on the ball and the kick was off to the left and it was into the second overtime with each team again getting four shots to get on the board.

TWO RAIDER PASSES went astray but Dwyer found his mark on the third, hitting Fredericks for a 10 yard TD. A swing pass to Pease made good the two-point conversion and North was in the driver's seat, 14-6.

A Tragic Beginning

A professional hockey career ended one day after it began.

Herbert Price, '67 graduate of Farmington High, was killed in an auto accident on his 23rd birthday, the day after he had made the St. Louis Blues hockey squad.

The accident occurred on I-70, near Effingham, Ill. en route from St. Louis to Detroit for Farmington High School's Class of '67 five-year reunion.

Price was married this Aug. 26 to Christine Fischer of Bridgeton, Mo., who is listed in critical condition in Decatur, Ill.

THE FARMINGTON GRAD started playing hockey in Detroit leagues and attended Michigan State University on a hockey scholarship where he starred on defense and left wing and made honorable mention All-American the '69-70 season.

Price went on to the International League in Jacksonville, Fla. in '71 and just made the St. Louis Blues hockey club before the accident. He was buried in St. Louis, Mo.

The game of golf is an intriguing adventure into the jungles of sportsmanship and personalities.

Tournament action is one event that usually brings out both sides of the fence and the Observerland golf tournament at Whispering Willows was no exception.

I had the opportunity to take part in the two-day tourney run by Whispering Willows Pro Gary Whitener, watched a lot of area golfers, hit a few off the tees, drove all sorts of shots into the woods - water and putted my way over and around the greens.

There were 99 entries in the four flight men's competition but my, how some men turn to boys when they are obsessed with scoring better than their opponents.

There were countless arguments with Whitener standing by his book of rules. Gary would have done better sitting behind a bench with gavel in hand.

How many strokes that were taken and not recorded will never be known as well as the number of balls that were tossed out of the woods or dug out of the eight inch rough.

Acquisitions were aplenty around the club house with disqualifications being kept to a minimum with fear of the tourney getting a little shackled.

It was sort of amusing to watch grown men accusing each other of moving their ball and not playing it where it landed.

One incident did bring heart warming tone to the tourney.

A 12-YEAR BOY, Doug Mueller, made the error of not checking his card before signing, and it was submitted with an error in the addition. The error would not have made any difference in his standing. He still would have finished second in third high gross with a trophy for his showing.

A few bystanders said that he should be disqualified because of the error which is the rule.

But the edging of the majority of golfers around the club house, Whitener showed that old golfers do have hearts and Mueller received his award after being in complete tears because of the error.

Hats off to Whispering Willows greenskeeper Jim Trenner who did one heck of a job in preparing the course. The greens were like a carpet, the fairways just a touch off the surface of the greens and those roughs, well... eight inches high in most spots and right off the fairway.

It was tougher than Oakland Hills' roughs for the PGA but don't worry, the grass is being shortened now.

Assistant Pro Tom Sheldon deserves a lot of credit. If you happened by the clubhouse and noticed someone yawning all weekend, it wasn't because he was partying, he had spent the entire week on the phones and was wrapped up in keeping the action going smooth.

The Observerland golf tourney - a good show, but to that one golfer in the funny little blue cap, naughty naughty for throwing that ball out of the woods when you thought no one was looking.

Clarenceville Falls, 28-18

By GORDON TUCKER

Several key fumbles and interceptions signaled defeat for Clarenceville as it was overpowered by Oak Park, 28-18.

"Turnovers were the big item in the game," explained Coach Ralph Weddle. "Our offensive line couldn't do its job on the running plays, but they did hold them pretty good in the second half."

Junior quarterback Brian Luka saw four of his passes stolen and two returned touchdowns. After a bad pass from the center on Oak Park's one yard line, the Trojan's lost the ball once again. Overall, Clarenceville showed definite anemic condition in ball control.

Three touchdown passes from Luka to tailback Terry Laird accounted for the Clarenceville scoring. Luka opened the Trojan aerial attack early in the game with a 45 yard scoring pass to Laird.

After his quick success in the air, Luka was frustrated by a strong Oak Park defensive line. The Trojans were held to only 14 yards rushing and Luka ended the game with passing statistics of eight of 23.

The entire Clarenceville strategy against Oak Park was built around the talents of Laird. He was responsible for 216 of the Trojan's 238 total yards, with 202 yards in the air. Although shaken up several times during the game, Laird missed only a relatively few minutes of competition and averaged 31 yards on each of his catches.

Coach Weddle described Oak Park as "one of the fastest teams I've ever played. Their team speed was just fantastic. We lost the game on turnovers."

Clarenceville will face Northville on Friday, and with a healthy Terry Laird they should have no trouble with the Mustangs.

Plymouth Captures Grid Opener, 17-0; Big Rival Next

By FRED DeLANO

Renewal of the long standing rivalry between Livonia Bentley and Plymouth, both first game winners, will share the Suburban Eight limelight Friday night as the league moves into a full round-robin of weekend action.

The title minded Rocks will be seeking their third straight victory over Bentley and will have a home field advantage as they turn loose the corps of stars headed by Ron Egloff, Steve Crowther, Steve Robb, Mark Allen and Jeff Horton who paced last week's 17-0 triumph over Bloomfield Hills Andover.

Bentley also has a shutout to its credit, 12-0 over Madison Heights Lamphere, and the two long touchdown drives that accounted for that victory have Plymouth Coach Tom Moshimer priming his Rocks for an improved defensive showing over their Andover performance.

Although Bloomfield Hills penetrated as far as Plymouth's 26 yard line only once - and that early in the game, Andover proved Plymouth particularly vulnerable to counter stuff between the tackles. Brad Berlin, Tom Haynes and Jim Neal netted 114 yards mostly on such slashes.

PLYMOUTH'S OWN highly touted offense failed to put any points on the board until the third quarter, finally getting uncorked when the Rocks turned Crowther loose for 46 yards on a quick lineup on the first play from scrimmage after the second half kickoff.

This put the Rocks on Andover's 21 and it took seven line thrusts from there to put it over, Crowther going the last four yards around left end behind a smashing Egloff block.

Jim Szilagyi, Plymouth's injured first string quarterback from last season, kicked the extra point to make it 7-0 only 2:59 into the half. Szilagyi did not play at all at quarterback, yielding to Robb who completed three of seven passes (all to Egloff) and ran six times for 15 yards.

Before the third period was over the Rocks started another drive, going 56 yards to bring a 15-yard field goal from Szilagyi at 1:39 of the final quarter. Two Robb passes of 30 and nine yards to all-state prospect Egloff sparked this march to make it 10-0.

THE ROCKS came right back as Bill White recovered Berlin's fumble on the kickoff at the Andover 16, Allen going 10 yards for a touchdown three plays later with Szilagyi again converting.

The alert Rocks also recovered two other Andover fumbles. Robb and Jim Baron doing the damage. Offensively they netted 174 yards on the ground and 65 through the air. Crowther leading the ground attack with 78 yards in 10 carries.

Defensively, Plymouth improved as the game progressed and the troops led by Scott Bacon and Tom Grace threw Andover ball carriers for losses seven times in the second half.

The Suburban Eight title race will start to take shape Friday with a card that includes Redford Union at Belleville, Trenton at Allen Park and Edsel Ford at Dearborn besides Bentley at Plymouth. All loop teams except RU and Allen Park won their openers.

The Friday night Bentley-Plymouth football game at Plymouth will be televised on Channel 56 at 10 p.m. the same night. The game is slated for 8 p.m. with Channel 56 carrying it two hours later.

Swim Meet

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Farmington High edged Harrison in breakaway plays, with a 70 yard punt return and 52 yard pass play telling the story of the opening 14-6 victory.

Harrison's only score came on a 42 yard pass. It was the battle between two neighborhood teams with neither team dominating the action.

"Both squads were really tight," said Farmington Coach Hal Beardsley. "Little errors appeared greatly multiplied."

Farmington picked up 137 yards on the ground with QB Bob Holton hitting two of three passes for 58 yards.

HARRISON chalked up 70 yards rushing and quarterback Chris Pagnucco had a rough day in the passing department with the Falcon line and backfield constantly hemming him in.

The Falcons struck paydirt the second time they had the ball.

With seven minutes elapsed Harrison was forced into a punting situation on the Farmington 46. The kick was deep in Farmington territory with no runback but an illegal motion penalty nullified the play and Tim Turney had to punt again.

The ball sailed off the side of Turney's foot 21 yards to the Falcon 30.

SEAN HARTE gobbled up the kick and took off for the sidelines. Blocking was there and Harte scampered 70 yards to put Farmington on the board.

Steve Koinis' extra point attempt was wide.

Harrison came right back

on a drive started from its own 20.

Pagnucco hit Ernie Nicolay with short passes and at the end of the first quarter, Harrison was on the Farmington 15.

Chuck Yarber spurred to the 10 and Turney drove to the five on two short bursts, for a Hawk first down.

Next came the play that turned the tables. PAGNUCCO pitched to Bill Herpich, but the ball was thrown behind the halfback and bobbled loose with Farmington's Ken Nelson jumping on it on the Hawk 15.

Harrison halted Farmington and got its hands on the ball when Bill Marra booted a punt into the wind straight up in the air for 13 yards and the Hawks had the ball on the 37.

The first play from scrimmage saw Pagnucco pitch again to Herpich and the ball squirted loose with Farmington's Dean Walsh jumping on it to halt another Hawk drive.

The first half ended with Farmington up, 6-0.

The Falcons had rushed for 63 yards and attempted only one pass that went astray. Farmington collected two first downs but was penalized 55 yards.

Harrison meanwhile put together more of a driving attack with fumbles killing any chances for a score. The Hawks piled up 62 yards on the ground and 23 in the air for a total of four first downs.

FARMINGTON got caught midway through the third quarter with an unsportsmanlike penalty pushing the Falcons back to their 15.

A George Blouin punt carried to the Falcon 42 where Harrison took control.

Pagnucco dropped back and lofted a pass to Craig Perkins who dashed 42 yards for the score.

On the extra point attempt, Dave Norton fumbled the snap and Perkins didn't get an opportunity to get a kick off and with 1:09 left in the third stanza, it was 6-6.

Harrison's Dave Wallington recovered a Falcon fumble but a Pagnucco pass was picked off to halt a scoring opportunity.

With only 53 seconds gone in the final quarter, Holton completed a 52 yard touchdown pass to Al Firek and the Falcons were back in command. Holton hit Brian Ratliff for the two-pointer and that's the way it finished, 14-6.

The Ratliff brothers dominated the Farmington running game with junior Brian rushing for 84 yards in 11 carries and senior Ken chalking up 34 yards.

Harrison came right back

on a drive started from its own 20.

Pagnucco hit Ernie Nicolay with short passes and at the end of the first quarter, Harrison was on the Farmington 15.

Chuck Yarber spurred to the 10 and Turney drove to the five on two short bursts, for a Hawk first down.

Next came the play that turned the tables. PAGNUCCO pitched to Bill Herpich, but the ball was thrown behind the halfback and bobbled loose with Farmington's Ken Nelson jumping on it on the Hawk 15.

Harrison halted Farmington and got its hands on the ball when Bill Marra booted a punt into the wind straight up in the air for 13 yards and the Hawks had the ball on the 37.

The first play from scrimmage saw Pagnucco pitch again to Herpich and the ball squirted loose with Farmington's Dean Walsh jumping on it to halt another Hawk drive.

The first half ended with Farmington up, 6-0.

The Falcons had rushed for 63 yards and attempted only one pass that went astray. Farmington collected two first downs but was penalized 55 yards.

Harrison meanwhile put together more of a driving attack with fumbles killing any chances for a score. The Hawks piled up 62 yards on the ground and 23 in the air for a total of four first downs.

FARMINGTON got caught midway through the third quarter with an unsportsmanlike penalty pushing the Falcons back to their 15.

A George Blouin punt carried to the Falcon 42 where Harrison took control.

Pagnucco dropped back and lofted a pass to Craig Perkins who dashed 42 yards for the score.

On the extra point attempt, Dave Norton fumbled the snap and Perkins didn't get an opportunity to get a kick off and with 1:09 left in the third stanza, it was 6-6.

Harrison's Dave Wallington recovered a Falcon fumble but a Pagnucco pass was picked off to halt a scoring opportunity.

With only 53 seconds gone in the final quarter, Holton completed a 52 yard touchdown pass to Al Firek and the Falcons were back in command. Holton hit Brian Ratliff for the two-pointer and that's the way it finished, 14-6.

The Ratliff brothers dominated the Farmington running game with junior Brian rushing for 84 yards in 11 carries and senior Ken chalking up 34 yards.

But Fullback Quits East Wins, 27-0

Garden City East opened its football campaign with a 27-0 victory over Riverside but East Coach Gary Humphrey wasn't smiling in the Panther locker room after the game.

His senior fullback Ray Hassen decided to hang up his football spikes.

"It was really a shock," said Humphrey. "Here I have worked with the kid the past seven weeks and he goes out and plays a good first game, picking up our touch yardage, we win and he quits after the game."

Hassen picked up 47 yards in eight carries.

"After the game he told me that he just didn't enjoy playing football anymore," added Humphrey. "He said it wasn't fun."

EAST GOES AFTER its second win this week against Flint Central and Humphrey is faced with the task of finding another starting fullback.

"We have all sorts of adjustments to make between now and Saturday," said Humphrey.

Senior Lou Santos and junior Don McIntyre are the top candidates for the now vacant slot.

EAST STRUCK against Riverside with about five minutes left in the first half.

Panther quarterback Steve Orr climaxed a 50 yard drive with a one-yard plunge. Rick Jose split the uprights and East led, 7-0. Dennis Burton highlighted the march with a 40 yard burst.

Burton totaled 209 yards overall.

East held Riverside to only one first down in the first half, and three overall.

(The Panthers struck for three touchdowns in the third quarter to break the game open with Paul Hayden hauling in two Orr touchdown passes and Burton scoring on a power play.)

East took the second half kickoff, marched 60 yards in six plays with Burton going over from the seven. Jose converted and the Panthers led, 14-0.

The next time East got its hands on the ball, it was in for another score. The Panthers drove 56 yards with Orr hitting Hayden on a four-yarder.

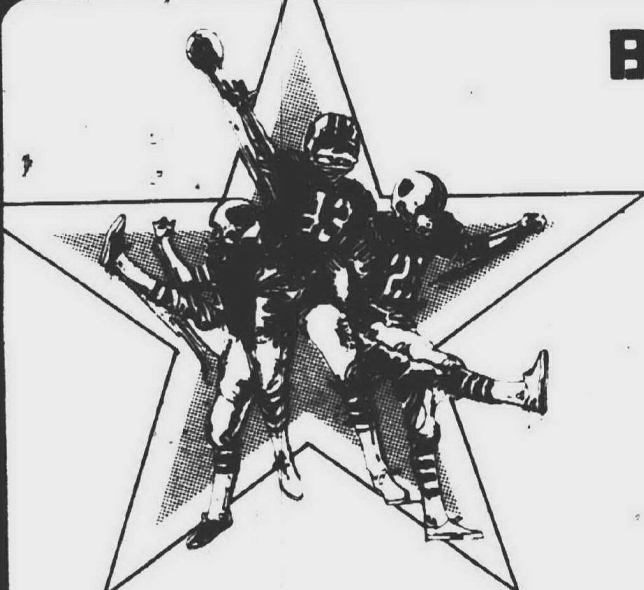

Jose missed on the extra point and East was in command, 20-0.

KEITH ANLEITER recovered a Riverside fumble for East on the Riverside 35 and in three plays, the Panthers were again on the board with Orr and Hayden connecting for a 25 yard scoring play.

Jose converted to make it 27-0.

There was no scoring in the fourth quarter with Riverside getting its deepest penetration in the closing minutes.

Riverside moved inside the Panther 10 against the second defensive unit. Humphrey put his first team back in and George Karr picked off a stray pass and the shutout was intact.

You Don't Fumble And Stay In U-M's Backfield

By FRED DeLANO

You don't fumble and stay in Michigan's starting backfield under Bo Schembechler. At least not in a close ball game such as the Wolverines had Saturday when they turned back Northwestern, 7-0.

On the other hand, consistently outstanding play as a linebacker, including a pass interception and 18-yard runback to set up the game's only touchdown, can make one of Bo's men king of the hill at his position until someone comes along rougher, tougher and nastier.

Observerland had two men in Michigan's starting offensive and defensive lineups as the defending Big 10 champions began their 1972 campaign, Plymouth's

Bob Thornbladh at fullback and Thurston's Craig Mutch at middle linebacker.

Thornbladh only hopes he will start again next week at UCLA; Mutch can be sure he will.

THE 224-POUND THORNBLOTH had beaten last year's No. 1 fullback, Ed Shuttlesworth, out of the starting assignment on the basis of performances in practice, but fumbleitis cost Bob the job on the seventh play of the game.

Carrying the ball on four of those seven plays, and booming first for six yards and then for four and eight more, Thornbladh had a first down in his pocket on his fourth try—until he fumbled and Northwestern recovered. He never got back in the ball game, Shuttlesworth taking over and leading Michigan's production for the day with 75 yards on 17 carries.

"Maybe I was just trying to prove a point," Schembechler commented later in reaffirming his demand for ball handling perfection.

MUTCH, WHO SAT OUT most of last season because of an injury, was one of the mainstays of a Wolverine defense which kept the Wildcats confined to their own territory on all except one series of downs the entire afternoon.

On that one thrust across midfield Northwestern had a first down on the Wolverine 30 and wound up with fourth down and 20 to go three plays later, giving up possession on a punt.

The game's turning point came in the second period when, on second and 12 at his own 38, Quarterback Todd Somers of the Wildcats had a pass picked off by Mutch on the Northwestern 49.

The 203-pound Thurston product lugged it to the 31 and five plays later Michigan had the only touchdown it needed. The score came on a 21-yard pass from Dennis Franklin to Bo Rather.

"I couldn't believe it," Mutch said. "He threw the ball right at me."

All four of Observerland's other players on the Michigan varsity were in uniform, but none played. These include Jon Cederberg of Plymouth, Art Fediuk of Livonia who went to Divine Child, Mike Day from Livonia Bentley and Dave Brandon, a Plymouth boy who attended South Lyon.

The Wolverines now have three non-conference games against UCLA, Tulane and Navy to hone their offense—which obviously needs it—before renewing Big 10 competition Oct. 14 against Michigan State.

The Court Jester

by BILL CAMERON

The time has come, loyal readers, that the Court Jester must bring to an end this column. Several "friends" have suggested I should have entitled it "The Adventures of a Tennis Bum," of "Tennis Ain't My Racket."

One even suggested that I should have let my gorgeous secretary continue writing my column after she filled in for me while I was out of the country "on business."

IN RETROSPECT, it has been an interesting season, at least for me. I managed to visit Wimbledon, the French National Open in Paris, the Canadian Open in Toronto, and the U.S. Open at Forest Hills.

We saw the local tennis courts filled to near capacity. More people taking tennis lessons offered by the Y, Park and Recreation Department and Board of Education. The possibility of four indoor tennis clubs within a 10 mile radius by next fall. A successful women's tennis league which became a great social experience.

It is to this last group that I'd like to direct my remarks. First let me publicly thank Barb Moulin and Linda Thomas for their efforts in setting up the schedule and getting the gals playing. I love you for that. I promise you next year we'll add a Class C.

We hope all the gals will enter our season ending tournament this Saturday and Sunday. Remember, it's supposed to be fun. Be philosophic! Someone has to lose; there can only be one winner! It's the joy of participating.

If all goes according to plan we should play the finals at Stevenson H.S. at about 3 p.m. Sunday. I'm still looking for about nine ballboys or girls for Sunday. They should report to me on Saturday at 1 p.m. for a short instructional session.

Oh yes, in the event of rain on Saturday, we'll play on Sunday. If it rains both days we'll try again next weekend. I was asked by Tennis & Crumpets, Inc., to thank all of the Observerland residents who participated in the annual mixed doubles tournament at Dearborn last weekend. The proceeds benefited Children's Hospital, a most worthy cause. Hey Mary, how about running our own at the Canton Township courts next year.

Stevenson Rips 'RU Machine,' 18-7

Stevenson football Coach Jack Reardon knew that the success of the '72 season would depend on the outcome of the opener with Redford Union. Pride and enthusiasm has been lacking at Stevenson and an RU victory appeared to be a necessity to rebuild what has not been.

The Spartans knew what they had to do and they went out and did it, toppling RU in a non-league opener, 18-7.

The scoring was far from being a hit and miss effort. After stopping RU on its first drive, a bad punt gave the ball to the Spartans on their own 36.

THE FIRST PLAY from scrimmage was a power off tackle play with 6-1, 175 pound tailback Mike Orlicki given the ball. Orlicki burst through the Panther line and scampered the entire 36 yards to the board.

Mike Assemany missed on the conversion but the Spartans were on top to stay. Midway through the second quarter, Orlicki snatched up an RU fumble on the 40 and dashed the distance again and Stevenson was in command, 12-0. The snap from center was fumbled on the extra point.

RU was again baffled in putting together any semblance of an offensive attack and Stevenson took over on its 27 to begin a 73 yard march, highlighted by a 25 yard pass play from Dale Haberman to Assemany and climaxed by a one-yard plunge by QB Haberman.

Again the conversion failed but the Spartans couldn't have been much higher, leading at the half, 18-0.

RU finally broke into the scoring column midway through the third stanza after a Spartan punt failed to work its way out of the wind.

The Panthers had control on the 25 where Tom Bogdonas went over from the six. The extra point was good and the score sliced to 18-7, and that's how it ended with Stevenson the victor.

STEVENSON led in the first down department, 7-5, and collected 115 yards rushing to 54 by RU. The RU passing attack accounted for four of 12 for 31 yards with Haberman, hitting on two of 11 for 40 yards.

RU fumbled five times and recovered only two of those with Stevenson recovering both of its two fumbles.

"Defense was our key factor," said Reardon. "Our pursuit was great and I have never seen such tremendous hitting."

Lyle Percival and Brian Partie led the squad with 15 and 13 tackles respectively. Orlicki and Mike McKay stood out at defensive ends with Paul Lulek totaling 69 yards on the ground in 12 attempts.

Stevenson goes up against Bay City this Saturday on the Spartan gridiron. Bay City beat Saginaw Arthur Hill in its opener and Reardon is looking for a tough contest.

"If we can stay ready, it will be a good ball game," said Reardon.

RU jumps into Suburban Eight action Friday night at Belleville.

Spartans Win Schoolcraft

Stevenson High has found a good thing in the three mile run.

Paul Holmberg's harriers captured the 23 school Schoolcraft College high school cross country invitational for the second straight year with 91 points.

John Glenn was a distant second with 125 with Bishop Borgess third at 158 and Livonia Bentley fourth with 165.

Farmington's junior Mike McGuire captured individual honors with a first place finish in course record time at Cass Benton with a 16:09.

Wayne's Walt Nowak finished second at 16:13 with Stevenson's Dave Mathia in third at 16:33.

JOHN GLENN placed three on the first 10 all-invitational team in Jim Lockwood, fifth at 16:39; Dave Kirst, seventh at 16:52 and Bob Faust, eighth at 16:53.

But the race belonged to the 5-9, 115 pound junior from Farmington High.

McGuire was second with one mile remaining and caught Wayne's Nowak with half a mile left and won the meet with a 20 yard spread. Stevenson proved again to be the area's top contender with Mathia placing third; Steve White finishing 10th; Rick Galindo finishing 14th; Chuck Mineor clocking in 22nd; and Kevin Maly finishing 42nd.

A total of 151 runners competed in the varsity event with underclassmen the dominate fact. Seniors numbered 51, juniors 67, sophomores 31 and freshmen two.

Agatha Bombs Holy Cross

St. Agatha exploded in its opening gridiron clash over Marine City Holy Cross, 55-12, with senior Tom Nemes scoring four touchdowns and chalking up 234 yards.

It was a bright opener for Aggie Coach Mike Bennane who has visions of taking it all this season in the Catholic Second Division West.

The Aggies will go up against probably their toughest opponent Sunday, (Sept. 24), in Orchard Lake St. Mary at Hilbert Junior High with kickoff slated for 2:30 p.m.

It was an offensive afternoon for the St. Agatha team, scoring 19 in the first quarter, 12 in the second, 21 in the third and three in the fourth.

THE AGGIE DEFENSE also held its own, holding Holy Cross to 32 yards. Holy Cross scored only one first down and did not complete a pass in 20 attempts.

Holy Cross scored both touchdowns on fumble recoveries.

Meanwhile, St. Agatha chalked up 532 yards, 499 on the ground and 33 in the air on two of six passes, making for 16 first downs.

Steve Waslawski drew first blood for the Aggies with a one yard touchdown run climaxing a 68 yard drive. Pat Brown converted and St. Agatha was on the move.

NEMES SCORED his first of four to highlight a 64 yard drive and plunged in from the five after Ron Strazolkowski had recovered a fumble on the Holy Cross 20.

The first quarter ended with St. Agatha up, 20-0. Strazolkowski blocked a punt and the Aggies took over on the Holy Cross 34 with Waslawski scoring his second TD from five yards out.

Holy Cross recovered an Aggie fumble in the end zone and it stood 25-6.

STRAZOLKOWSKI proved to be "Johnny on the spot" again when a Holy Cross punt carried only five yards out of the end zone. Strazolkowski picked it up and spurted in to make it 31-6 at half.

Nemes romped in from the 10 to finish a 55 yard drive and Holy Cross pounced on another Aggie fumble for a 30 yard touchdown and it stood at 38-12.

Pat Brown recovered a fumble and St. Agatha marched 30 yards with Nemes scoring his fourth TD on a five yard burst. Rich Kayfez returned a punt 99 yards. Brown converted on all three in the third quarter and St. Agatha was in front, 52-12.

A 38 yard field goal by Brown finished the scoring.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

The traditional Michigan Mile (and an eighth) did everything the management of the Detroit Race Course expected with one exception, it did not bring the $2 million handle.

The weather was perfect. The rich stake went off in two divisions with the first worth $78,000 and the second $79,000. The crowd of 20,007 was the largest of the season and the parking facilities were filled to capacity well in advance of the first race at 2:30 p.m.

But the wagering didn't reach expectations although the management wasn't complaining about the $1,793,294 that went through the machines. That was a high for the year in Michigan and proved the rich stake does jam the place.

It remained for two visiting jockeys, Eddie Maple and Angel Cordero Jr., who checked in from New York City just for the stake, to take the honors.

Maple guided King's Bishop, a three-year-old, to victory, in the first division and Cordero scored with Favorecician in the second.

King's Bishop, owned by Texan Craig Cullinan, trailed Figonero going into the stretch and then came from fourth lengths back to win by three-quarters in 1:49.1. Favorecician, with Cordero up, was third.

In the second division, Cordero took Favorecician to the front on the first turn and kept his horse in the lead for the remainder of the mile and an eighth, hitting the wire in 1:48.4, 2 1/2 lengths in front of Viewpoise, the only filly in the stake.

Incidentally Viewpoise automatically became an early favorite in next Saturday's $50,000 added Mile. The filly was moving up on the leader and actually made the Mile a prep for the Mile.

Director of Racing Norris Gwin has promised just as good a race in the Mile as in the Mile. New York fillies expected to be on hand include Numbered Account, Chou Croute, Alma North and Lajries Dancer.

And there are enough good ones on the ground to make the stake the best of the season for fillies.

WITH DARKNESS coming earlier and earlier these days, the DRC management has taken steps to lighten the parking lot for patrons.

Seven new light standards have been erected in the various lots, making the parking facilities as light as day in practically every corner.

"With all of the mugging and incidents at the shopping centers after dark, we decided to brighten our lots," said Vice President and General Manager Paul Ryder, "so we installed the seven high poles and feel we have the best lighted parking facilities at any track in the land."

"We hope our patrons are pleased with the improvement. We started the year by refinishing the roads leading to the grandstand and clubhouse and recovered all of the lots with blacktop, eliminating the rough spots that couldn't be taken care of during the Wolverine meeting because of the late spring thaws."

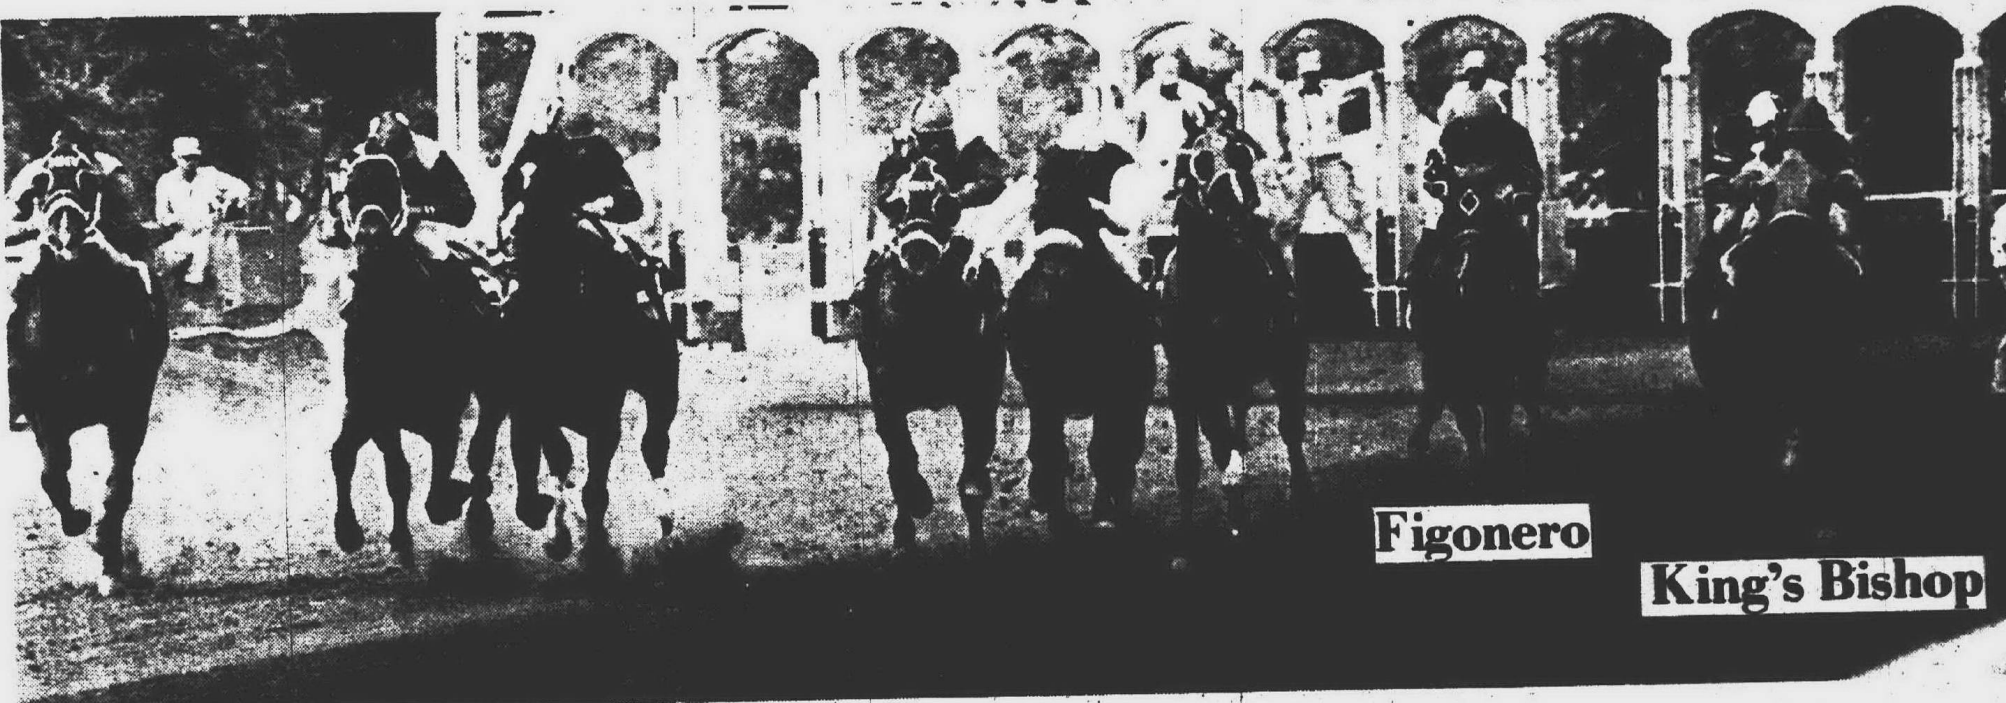

"We will continue to improve our facilities during the winter and plan to have the best racing plant in the area when racing opens in late winter next year."

WORD FROM Jackson Raceway is that Leon Slavin's outstate half-mile plant is enjoying one of its best seasons. Latest word from Slavin is that wagering and attendance are up over last year. That is even more remarkable when one considers this is the first summer meet in 15 years and going in direct competition with Hazel Park.

With Grand Circuit out of the way, Hazel Park faces the task of arranging better than average programs for the weekend during the remainder of its meeting.

Racing Secretary Bill Connors has lost several top stables to California in the past two weeks, including Doug Ackerman, Bob Williams and Tom Wilburn.

But there will be plenty of good stock available for Michigan racing after the presentation of the Brown Jug this week in Delaware, O. Some of the stables there will move on to Lexington but many will ship back this way for the concluding weeks of the Hazel Park campaign.

THEY'RE OFF in the First Division of the $157,000 Michigan Mile at the Detroit Race Course. The inside horse, King's Bishop caught Figonero in the stretch for the win. (Observer photo by Tom Donoghue)

'Had Trouble Getting The Ball'

Franklin Zips GC West, 14-6

The opening moments of the Franklin-Garden City West football game started off true to pre-season predictions.

An inexperienced Franklin squad fumbled on its first drive, Garden City West took over and marched 65 yards in 13 plays to score with a West victory looking easier than expected.

But the tide changed. Franklin put it together and stood on top at the final whistle with a 14-6 win.

West's ace running back Steve Jacunski climaxed the one and only scoring drive in the Tiger assault with a two-yard plunge. An extra point attempt was halted.

pass and returned it 17 yards to West's 33. A five yard offside penalty moved it to the 28.

JAY CHEVE broke loose for 10 yards off tackle and Batistone scored on the next play with an 18-yard romp around end. Dattilio split the uprights to make it a 14-6 score.

The rest was "bump heads football" with West not penetrating Franklin's 30.

The overall statistics had West the victor but a glance at the scoreboard revealed Franklin the winner.

West totaled 16 first downs to seven for Franklin and hit on four of 11 passes for 57 yards with the Patriots hitting the same, four of 11, but for 54 yards.

EACH SQUAD intercepted one pass and West ground out 176 yards and Franklin 119.

Battistone was the offensive story for Franklin. The 5-8, 160 pound junior rolled for 90 yards in seven carries.

West featured Jacunski with 122 yards in 30 carries.

FRANKLIN was limited to 38 offensive plays while West had 63.

"We really didn't play as bad a game as the statistics show," said Lovich. "We are young and are hoping to mature."

FRANKLIN CRUSH -- GC West's Terry Dobbs (14) latches onto a pitchout just seconds before Franklin's Jim Einnis (63). Randy Epley

Bentley Wins 12-0

Livonia Bentley has found a good thing in Madison Heights Lamphere.

The past two football seasons the Bulldogs have opened against Lamphere and scored consecutive wins.

It was 12-0 this time with Bentley taking the opening kickoff and marching downfield to score.

Norm Stalzer hauled in the kickoff and fought to his own 42 yard line. John Roy started chalking up yardage and Randy Lasota spurred loose for 15 yards to place the ball on the five.

TWO PLAYS LATER Lasota went over from the four.

The Bulldogs had marched 58 yards on 12 plays in five and a half minutes. Paul Roshirt's extra point conversion was blocked and Bentley led, 6-0. Lamphere got to the Bentley 20 late in the third quarter but a fumble was recovered by Bentley's Kevin Morrison to halt the only real offensive drive.

BENTLEY started its final drive early in the fourth quarter.

Lamphere received a 15 yard face mask penalty to get the Bulldogs out of hot water on their seven yard line. In 14 plays, Jerry Lacy romped 18 yards to score, the kick was wide but Bentley led, 12-0.

Bentley picked up a total of 282 yards rushing and nine in the air on two of six passes.

Senior Roy accounted for 77 yards in seven carries with Lasota totaling 84 yards in 16 carries.

Bentley's Suburban Eight test comes Friday against rival Plymouth at Plymouth. Coach Glen Goode isn't saying much about the game ... underdogs usually wait till the game is over.

MSU Leader

Michigan State senior basketball center Bill Kilgore of River Rouge, Mich. is the all-time Spartan career leader in field goal percentage. He's hit from the floor at a .522 clip in his first two varsity seasons.

Tony Dattilio converted and with only 28 seconds elapsed in the second half, it was a whole new game with Franklin on top, 7-6. The Patriots kicked off and three plays later, Franklin's Guy Burke intercepted a Tiger

Game License Fees Unchanged

Michigan's 1972 big and small game licenses will be in the hands of 3,000 local dealers throughout the state this week, reports the Dept. of Natural Resources.

In winding up its last shipments of the licenses, the DNR points out that this year's hunting fees stand unchanged from last season:

RESIDENT: Small game, $5; deer (firearm), $7.50; deer (archery), $7.50; bear, $5.10; sportsman's, $18.50; senior deer (firearm), $1; and senior deer (archery), $1.

NON-RESIDENT: small game, $25; deer (firearm), $40; deer (archery), $20; and bear, $25.10.

The state's "all-purpose" sportsman's license for residents again carries the privileges of firearm and archery deer licenses, bear license, small game license and trapping license (except for beaver and otter). It also covers all types of angling action for 1973.

Michigan's senior $1 deer licenses, one for the firearm season and the other for bow and arrow hunting, cover residents who have reached the age of 65.

Printing problems have forced a delay in the DNR's distribution of 1972 big and small game hunting rules to license dealers. However, this week the DNR will mail each of those dealers an instruction sheet for their counters which will provide deer license buyers with guidelines for filling out applications for antlerless deer permits.

HUNTERS HAVE until Oct. 1 to get their permit requests in the mail to the DNR.

The only antlerless area that applicants will find on the upper peninsula's map for this season is the southern part of Menominee County (Area 12) below US-2. Its antlerless quota stands conservatively at 640 animals, with 800 party permits available to groups of four hunters.

Some 23,000 permits are offered for the northern lower peninsula, where the antlerless quota has been cut in half from last season, down to less than 5,000 animals.

Some 19,000 permits are being offered for the southern lower peninsula in hopes of taking about 4,200 antlerless deer in that part of the state.

Overall, about 43,000 antlerless deer hunting permits are open to application through Oct. 1, as against some 89,000 last fall. Those permits are distributed among 37 of Michigan's 98 permanent deer management areas.

The remaining 61 areas will be limited to bucks-only hunting during the 1972 firearm deer season.

Why not make your child's bedroom his private haven? Metal shelving makes a great room divider if you have two children in one large room. If you need light and air, make sure the shelving does not reach the ceiling. Beds that double as couches make the rooms comfortable and do not take up much room. Shelves are great for holding private treasures. The plan is especially good if one child is much older than the other. Dolls and make-up just do not seem to go well in close quarters!

THE GASMAN COMETH (from the bayou)

The quest for more natural gas for Michigan's homes and industries. Consumers Power and its wholly owned subsidiary, Northern Michigan Exploration Company, are working to get more of it.

Exploration in southern Louisiana has produced encouraging results. In joint ventures with other producers Northern Michigan Exploration Company has succeeded in finding new gas reserves. Pipelines will be built eventually to deliver this natural gas to Michigan.

This and other new discoveries of natural gas promise increased supplies of the premium fuel for more than 880,000 customers in Michigan.

Basement Project Tests Imagination

Don't approach a basement project as a second class area. As a matter of fact, a basement project can bring out the imagination in a home handyman.

Small basement windows can be concealed behind a large expanse of drapery, or large shutters can be used to create the illusion of big windows. Lighting can be included behind the shutters to complete the effect.

Basement posts can pose a problem. Some handymen use them as accents rather than trying to hide them, painting them like peppermint sticks, for instance.

One of the best materials for finishing a basement room is 16"x8" Marlite planks. This easy-to-handle prefinished paneling can be put up by one person with regular carpentry tools.

Tongue and - grooved edges simplify fitting. Concealed metal clips and wallboard adhesive secure a strong bond.

Plank is available at local building material dealers in a wide range of colors, grained patterns and textures. This textured hardboard, for instance, can be obtained in a rugged weatherboard pattern, a distinctive carved leaf design, and an oak grained reproduction.

Highly resistant to hard wear, prefinished paneling can be damp-wiped clean.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Stubborn wisterias: A good many readers have wisteria vines around this home, and some of these plants have never blossomed. What makes the handsome wisteria so stubborn?

No one knows for sure why the plants act like they do. Sometimes the soil has too much nitrogen, causing the vine to make all growth and no blooms. Pruning the roots by digging a trench around the base of the plant often helps force the vine into bloom. When this fails, we recommend being drastic and trim the plant severely.

Here's what one reader wrote us: "After 22 years, my wisteria vine finally bloomed. I trimmed it way down and low and behold, it had about 20 big fat clusters on it. I trimmed it in spring. Everybody around the neighborhood came to see it. My advice to any one with a stubborn wisteria is to cut it back severely."

GREEN THUMB BONUS: Is pruning a mystery to you? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my bulletin, "Principles of Pruning." It has good photographs and plenty of tips on pruning shrubs, vines and evergreens.

This booklet will make good fall and winter reading, so send for your copy today.

WASPS AND BEES: Fall is a busy time for wasps, bees and hornets. Wasp stings can result in severe illness or possibly death if the victim has a history of hay fever, asthma, or other allergies. If you happen to have a wasp or hornet's nest around, wait until the cool of night and spray one of the aerosols built with a jet to reach 10 to 12 feet.

They contain chlordane, Sevin or malathion and can be directed into the opening of the nest. Nests in the ground can be treated with a five per cent chlordane spray or Sevin, directed into the opening of the nest. Put a shovel full of moist soil over the nest hole after treatment to prevent wasps escaping.

A leading dermatologist states that a cheap, effective antidote for insect bites can be found right in your kitchen. Here's his prescription for treating insect stings: A quarter teaspoon of meat tenderizer dissolved in a teaspoon or two of water and rubbed into the skin around the bite. Meat tenderizer is rich in papain, a protein-dissolving enzyme, which breaks down the venom.

The doctor says that a dose of meat tenderizer will stop the pain of most insect stings in seconds if applied immediately.

Bee keepers tell us that the juice from a lawn weed-plantain (either the broadleaved or narrow type) rubbed into the skin will relieve the pain.

WHY ROSES change: Many are still wondering why their roses have "changed" colors, usually to a deep maroon. Actually, the roses themselves did not change.

What happened is this: Your tops or budded portion died back due to winter injury or some other cause. The rootstock, being an aggressive maroon-colored type, took over and it flowered. This happens often. Some roses change to white, and what happens here is that the undertone (Rosa multiflora) comes up from below. It naturally produces small white flowers.

BEGONIAS lose leaves? The Rex and other begonias are showy flowers but indoors they often lose leaves. Give it a 50 degree night temperature. The Rex begonia cannot take drafts of cold air, or hot dry winds. Temperature changes will cause the Rex and other begonias to lose their foliage.

They need shade in summer, early fall and late winter. While they are shade plants, they still need some sunlight for bud formation, especially in early morning. Most begonias like a loose, humusy, rich soil, so give them a 50-50 mixture of garden loam and leaf mold.

Garden Lecture Series Begins At Hudson's

The Michigan Horticultural Society announces its 1972 fall garden lecture series, "How Does Your Garden Grow?"

These public service lectures will be held during the lunch hour, 12-1 p.m., each Monday for six weeks, beginning Sept. 25 through Nov. 6, at the J.L. Hudson Company downtown store in the third floor sewing room. Distinguished horticultural speakers will speak on both indoor and outdoor gardening subjects.

There will be no charge for the lectures. Lunches may be brought to eat during the lecture as no food will be available in this room.

The first lecture will be "Herbs for the Home Garden," by Mrs. Mary Gerathy, well known garden writer, lecturer and horticulturist, a continuation of the spring program on the cultivation, uses and curing of garden herbs. Mrs. Gerathy is a director of both the Michigan Horticultural Society and the Detroit Garden Center.

The program also offers: Monday, Oct. 2 - "Spring Flowering Plants," by Gerald Draheim, Wayne County Extension horticultural agent; Monday, Oct. 9 - "Growing Chrysanthemums in the Garden," by Munns Caldwell, Area Extension horticultural agent in Macomb County; Monday, Oct. 16 - "Planting Trees, Shrubs and Evergreens," by Gurdon Dennis, district extension horticultural agent from Michigan State University; Monday, Oct. 30 - "Making Christmas Decorations I," by Edmund Boell Jr., assisted by Henry Ward, floriculturists for the City of Detroit Belle Isle greenhouses; Monday, Nov. 6 - "Making Christmas Decorations II," by Edmund Boell Jr. and James Justice.

Moving Rates Are Increased

The Michigan Public Service Commission reported today that it has approved an increase in rates for moving household goods in Michigan an average of 6.8 per cent.

The new rates were approved for the General Tariff Bureau, Inc., which filed an application on behalf of nearly 200 moving lines that do intrastate business in Michigan.

Ecology Influences Decorating Trends

Home furnishings are beginning to reflect our new interest in nature and ecology. Previews of new fabrics show lots of linen, raw silk, nubby cottons and wools in "earth" colors.

The Better Floors Council thinks the perfect complement to furnishings made of these materials is a floor of vinyl asbestos tile. Tile is made in replica of natural products—pebble, marble, stone, travertine, slate, brick and wood—and is available in many neutral shades and lovely, soft pastels that are ideal for this latest decorating fashion.

Of course, if you want a floor covering to contrast with the other furnishings, resilient tile also comes in bright hues from clear around the color wheel. Other home decorating trends spotted recently include a marked Oriental influence in both design and color, lots of florals and smaller geometrics. Texture is becoming increasingly important, and here again vinyl asbestos tile is ready with embossed patterns ranging from Moorish tile to brick to lace.

As for new color trends, you might watch the blues.

Gardeners Suffered From 'Tulipmania'

Despite their eventual beauty, tulips, crocuses, daffodils and hyacinths begin life in as homely a fashion as could be imagined. Withered, dull - let's face it, ugly - spring-flowering bulbs offer no external clue to the beauty within. But like the ugly duckling, all they need is a little time in which to bloom.

Some gardeners may be surprised to learn that each bulb contains within it a tiny miniature of the flower it will someday become. It may also be surprising to learn that the tulip is not native to Holland, a country that has become synonymous with bulbs, propagating them to perfection.

Tulips are native to Persia and Africa says The Netherlands Flower Bulb Institute. The flowers were given the name tulipa, supposedly after the Turkish word tulband, a turban whose shape they resemble.

Tulips did not reach Holland until the 1560s and for awhile the practical Dutch took temporary leave of their good senses over this flower.

During this period, which began in the early 1620s and lasted until 1637, large sums were offered for single varieties. One fancier gladly parted with two loads of wheat, four loads of rye, four fat oxen, eight fat pigs, 12 fat sheep, two hogheads of wine, four barrels of beer, two barrels of butter, a thousand pounds of cheese, a suit of clothes, a silver jug, and a bed with mattress, pillows and hangings.

Presumably he kept a plot of ground in which to plant his single, prized tulip. Another tulip-eyed Dutchman was luckier - his offer of 3,000 florins for two bulbs was refused. With considerable justification, this flower phenomenon was termed tulipmania.

By 1637 tulipmania had subsided. By the mid-eighteenth century, quantities of bulbs, including crocus, were being exported from the little country whose sandy soil and climate are so well suited to their growth.

The British were also great bulb fanciers and offered the Dutch bulb industry strong competition during the nineteenth century.

Lincolnshire, England, says the Florists' Review, became known as Little Holland and it was from here, according to British boasts, that at least nine-tenths of "Dutch" crocus bulbs were shipped.

The town of Saffron Walden derives its name from the saffron crocus introduced to England by the Romans and bears three crocus flowers in its coat of arms.

CROCUS IS one of the earliest blooming of the spring-flowering bulbs, and has no reservations about poking up through the snow for a place in the sun.

One of the most delightful stories about crocus concerns the philosopher, George Santayana. While teaching at Harvard, so the story goes, Santayana glanced out the window and saw the crocus in bloom.

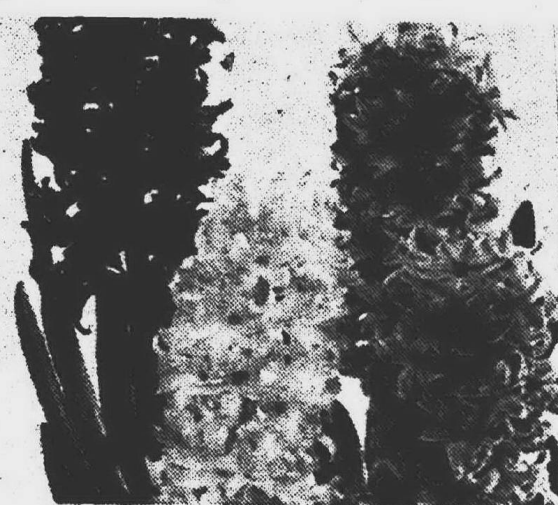

"Gentlemen," he told his students, "class is over. I'm going outside to watch the crocus come up through the snow." He did and never returned, sailing to Spain and retirement.

Although tulipmania is history, spring-flowering bulbs continue to delight gardeners throughout the world with their miraculous transformation.

Perhaps the ultimate tribute to the appeal these flowers engender is a verse written by a Persian sheik more than 700 years ago:

*If of thy mortal goods
thou art bereft,
And from thy slender store
two leaves alone to thee are left,
Sell one, and with the dole
Buy hyacinths to feed thy soul.*

UGLY DUCKLING -- Hyacinths are one of the many varieties of spring-flowering bulbs that undergo an amazing transformation from ugliness to beauty. Called the "essence of spring," it is available in pink, yellow, blue, purple, red and white.

Humidifier Needs Annual Checkup

Summer and fall are good times to get your furnace humidifier all set to do its job in the cold, dry winter that's just ahead.

If you have a self-flushing or self-cleaning type of humidifier cleaning is no problem. All you have to do is drain the unit.

But many humidifiers must be periodically serviced. If lime deposits are allowed to remain, they can reduce the humidifier's performance and may even damage it beyond repair.

HERE'S WHAT the engineers recommend to prepare your humidifier for the winter.

- Turn off the water and power supply to the unit.
- If possible, remove the humidifier from the furnace. Usually only a few screws have to be removed.

- IF YOU HAVE an evaporative plate-type humidifier, remove the plates and discard them. Install a set of new plates, available at most hardware stores.

- Using steel wool or a wire brush, scrape off the lime deposits from the inside of the unit.

- Pay attention to the water inlet and float valve seat. You may have to use a vinegar or muriatic acid solution to remove stubborn lime.

- IF THE HUMIDIFIER has a solid atomizing wheel or a moving belt, be sure these are lime-free. But be careful with atomizing wheels, however. These are precisely balanced and can easily be thrown out of line.

- After cleaning, reassemble the humidifier, put it back on the furnace, and turn on the power and water.

If all this sounds like too much of a job, you can ask your heating man to do it for you when he does the fall cleaning job on your furnace.

Space Problems?

Divide And Conquer

Versatility is the keynote to the growing popularity of room dividers in the home, a leading interior designer reports.

"The combination of decorative beauty and simple installation, makes dividers almost limitless in their uses to solve space problems in homes and apartments," according to Mary Ann Willis, design consultant.

Dividers are a low-cost and practical answer for the home-maker who wants to meet her family's particular needs, without the expense of building permanent walls.

TO FURTHER increase versatility, divider systems are now being made in a variety of styles and finishes to complement virtually any decorating scheme, from traditional to contemporary. Among the most popular divider systems are those consisting of openwork panels and tension poles which fit between floor and ceiling. Since pressure holds the poles in place, they can be moved and re-arranged easily without using tools or leaving marks.

Starting with a basic unit that includes a pair of poles and two or three panels, depending upon the design selected, sections may be added to provide any length of divider desired. One powerful advantage dividers have over regular walls is their ability to separate space without creating a cramped feeling.

"FOR EXAMPLE, many homes and apartments are built with front doors opening directly into the living room," she says.

"This is done to preserve the visual expansiveness of the living room. If a wall were built to create a reception area, both the living room and the reception area would look too small and crowded."

But with a room divider composed of see-through decorative panels, it's possible to create a reception area that is separated physically from the living room without diminishing its large open feeling.

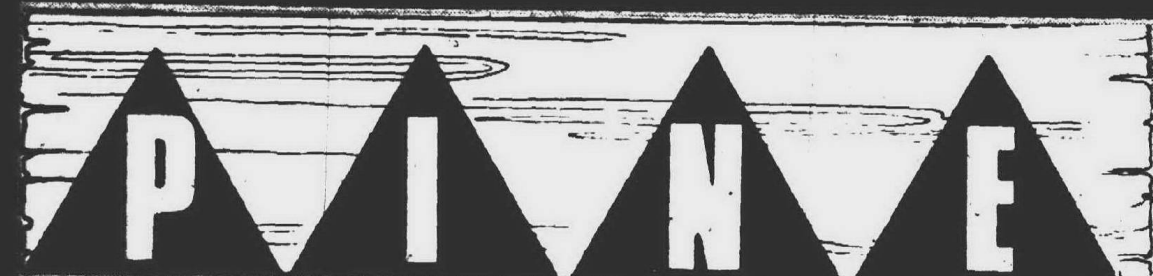

The combination living-dining area is another popular place for dividers.

"Whether the living-dining room is one long room or an L-shaped arrangement, dividers are increasingly being used to separate the two areas," she says.

"A PRACTICAL reason is that the divider helps screen the table, which most homemakers appreciate, especially after dinner when the table is usually not the most attractive sight."

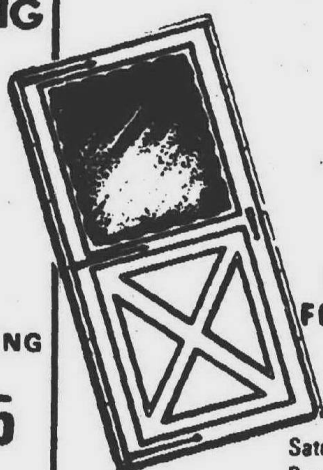

Undercut the edges of any opening in plastered walls that you intend to fill with patching plaster, then wet thoroughly. Fill halfway and allow to dry. Score the surface of the first layer before it is completely dry so that you will not have to roughen it. Wet down again and fill to the surface. When dry, smooth with medium sandpaper.

ANNOUNCING THE
All year summer

Almost everyone hates to see summer drift into falling leaves and snow-covered driveways. And the easy living summer atmosphere buried in maintenance and worries about making sure your home will be ready for winter.

Well, we can't stop the snow or even the falling leaves. But we're doing what we can about the other problems of winter in Michigan. We can make sure that your family will be warm this winter. And that your new home will protect them through the snow and sleet and icy months ahead.

We do it by offering you the "No Risk Home," protected by Palace Guard. Here's what it means: For one full year we will repair or replace, in the event of operational failure in normal use or service, any parts of your central heating system, electrical system, plumbing fixtures, plumbing system, water heater, or even your hot and cold air ducts! And it'll be done absolutely free of charge!

Wouldn't it be nice to just relax and take it easy this winter? Call us, we'll make things simpler for you.
