A Big Bite

The hot dog which was prepared at a Plymouth church's recent cookout was more than any one person could handle over the fire, let alone devour. However, it was a unique way to conclude Family Week at the church.

Canton Township's planning commission, after approving two new developments recently, has taken under study a proposal for a regional shopping center at Joy and Sheldon which would compare in size with Westland. The chairman says a public hearing is "at least six weeks away.'

Crenshaw Jurors Asked To Weigh Accident Theory

By FRED DeLANO and MAURIE WALKER

The jury sitting in the trial of Donald A. Crenshaw will decide Monday whether it believes the May 31 shooting of Charles P. Finlan to have been an accident, an act of self-defense or an attempt at cold-blooded murder as the prosecution insists.

He is charged with assault with intent to commit murder and conviction carries a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. Circuit Judge Thomas J. Foley said after closing arguments of counsel were presented Friday that he will charge the jury Monday morning. Its deliberations will and stated that the cost would be approximately $30,000 and that five existing properties would be served. Mrs. Holmes stated that much total acreage would be involved and not just the five properties. Mr. Ash asked if funds were available for this type project. Mrs. Holmes stated that having combined water and sewer, there were funds available. Mr. Millington moved approval of the extension of a sanitary sewer system on Wilcox Read and authorized the engineer to prepare plans for submission. Supported by Mrs.

that the Class B license was for the hotel and that this was a 5 million dollar project, and gave a short review of the past history of the request. Mrs.

Holmes stated that if this was all under one roof, they should need only one license. Mr. Kobierzynski said that the hotel and the restaurant were run by two different entities. He said that they weren't taking anything away from the Township but that they were giving to the Township. Mrs. Holmes moved that the Township Board give a Class B Hotel License to the Leisure

Krochmalny Plugs For Bigger Fire Crew In Township

Joseph Krochmalny, Democratic candidate for supervisor of Plymouth Township, says he would support an expanded township fire department and tougher control of zoning along Ann Arbor Rd.

Krochmalny, a financial analyst for American Motors, made these and other remarks at a recent meeting of the Glenview Homeowners

"I firmly believe that we need a firehouse with adequate men on the west side of the township. Since we have available land, namely the park - which, incidently, was purchased after the people of the township defeated the proposal on the ballot - we should use it to serve the people and build a firehouse."

Krochmalny told the homeowners that he would work to add firemen to the department. He criticized the man could have an accident lack of suitable housing for some township fire equip-department that now exists," the candidate said.

Krochmalny said that having only one man at the Lake Pointe station was also part of the problem. "This and nobody would be there to help him," he pointed out.

On the zoning issue, Krochmalny said the township "WE ARE presently short planners were ignoring the master plan because "they see fit to change it almost upon request from developers and conglomerates.

"He asked for identification and I handed him my billfold (which evidence shows was found later on Crenshaw's person and which Finlan identified as the one in question when it was shown Tuesday).

"I remember thinking, 'This is not a customer,' and I thought maybe he was a process server. Because of our divorce proceedings, my wife has been harassing me for the past year with service of court orders, but I had seen the others so many times they would have used my first name."

IDENTIFYING THE 29-year-old Crenshaw sitting only a few feet away as the man who had confronted him, Finlan said, "I believe he took my driver's license out and looked at that. I still thought he was a process server.

"The next thing I knew," said Finlan, "out came the gun and he started shooting. He didn't say anything and I don't know how many shots were fired.

"My reaction was to try and get away. I turned and tried to run, but one of the bullets hit me in the back which has paralyzed me from the chest down. I don't know how many steps I took before I fell.

"As I recall, he got in his car and drove away. As I fell, my face hit the concrete and my nose was broken. I tried to look at his license number, and although the car was quite clean the license was too dirty to read. He went out into Main Street and made a lefthand turn."

CRENSHAW'S ATTORNEY, William R. VanderKloot, sought upon cross examination to penetrate into the marital problems of the Finlans and to pin down Chuck's financial status.

It was brought out that he has been a lifelong Plymouth resident, that he had received an inheritance from his grandfather, that for 18 years he had. been a Rotarian with a perfect attendance record, and that in general he was what VanderKloot called a "prominent person" in the Plymouth community.

You can say one thing for this hospital patient, and if you know him personally the point will really get home. He's just as feisty as ever, and I say that with no disrespect. In brief, Mr. VanderKloot found Charles Finlan is a scrapper.

It wasn't just in the way Chuck retaliated to the probing of his personal affairs, which ultimately Judge Thomas J. Foley ruled irrelevant. Rather, it was in the strength with which he replied to meticulous questioning over the exact words allegedly used by Crenshaw May 31 -- and whether he really-was addressed as "Mr. Finlan."

Archdiocese Offers Variety Of Courses

"Get In Touch" is the theme for the fall series of non-credit courses offered by the Institute for Continuing Education (ICE), the adult education division of the Archdiocese of Detroit. All begin the week of Sept. 25.

The 18 courses will be given in 17 centers throughout the archdiocese. Interested persons should write or call the Institute for Continuing Education, 305 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, 48226, for brochures listing times and places.

New courses include "The Thought of Teilhard de Chardin," "The Man Called Jesus," "The Gospel of St. Mark," "A Western View of Eastern Religion" and "Man and the Cultural Puzzle."

Each class consists of a lecture and an informal discussion period. The registration fee is $10, and registrations will be accepted the first and second nights of class. Certificates will be awarded when the courses are completed.

Sunday School Classes Begin

Regular Sunday school classes begin at 10:30 a.m., Sunday, Sept. 24, in the Livonia Chapel of Saints Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church, 15956 Middle Belt, Livonia.

Church services will begin at 10:30 a.m., replacing the summer schedule of 10 a.m. services.

Yards: The open spaces on the same lot with a main building, unoccupied and unobstructed from the ground upward except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance. and as defined herein:

(a) Front Yard: Is an open space extending the full width of the lot, the depth of which is the minimum horizontal distance between the front lot-line and the nearest line of the main building. (b) Rear Yard: Is an open space extending the full width of the lot the depth of which is the minimum horizontal distance between the rear lot-line and the nearest line of the main building. (c) Side-Yard: Is an open space between a main building and the side lot-line, extending from the front yard to the rear yard, the width of which is the horizontal distance from the nearest point of the side lot-line to the nearest point of the main building.

ZONING EXCEPTIONS AND VARIANCES (a) Exception: An exception is a use permitted only . after review of an application for a building permit by the Zoning Board of Appeals, or Planning Commission, other than the Administrative Official (Building Inspector), such review being necessary because the provisions of this Ordinance covering conditions, precedent or subsequent, are not precise enough to all applications without interpretation, and such review is required by the Ordinance. (b) Variance: Is a modification of the literal provisions of the Zoning Ordinance granted when strict enforcement of the Zoning Ordinance would cause undue hardship owing to circumstances unique to the individual property on which the variance is granted.

The crucial points of variance are: (1) Undue Hardshin

(2) Unique Circumstances: and

(3) Applying to Property

A variance is not justified unless all three (3) elements are present in the case

The "exception" differs from the "variance" in several respects. An exception does not require "undue hardship" in order to be allowable. The exceptions that are found in this Ordinance appear as "special approval" or review by the Planning Commission, or Zoning Board of Appeals. These land uses could not be conveniently allocated to one zone or another or the effects of such uses could not be definitely foreseen as of a given time. The general characteristics of these uses include one or more of the following: (a) they require large areas

(b) they are infrequent

(c) they sometimes create an unusual amount of traffic (d) they are sometimes obnoxious or hazardous

(e) they are required for public safety and convenience. SECTION 2. Section 1400 of ARTICLE XIV - SCHEDULE OF REGULATIONS, of Ordinance No. 341, known as the City of Plymouth Zoning Ordinance, is hereby amended by deleting "Maximum Floor Area Ratio (Per Lot)" from the chart Limiting Height, Bulk, Density, and Area By Land Use. and also deleting sub-section HB-HEIGHT of building B (m) under DISTANCE SPACING FOR MULTIPLE DWELLING. said Section now to read as follows: FOOTNOTES:

(a) The side yard abutting upon a street shall not be less than eight (8) feet when there is a common rear yard. In case of a rear yard abutting a side yard of an adjacent lot the side abutting a street shall not be less than the required front yard of that district.

(b) The height of any building or accessory buildings may exceed the maximum permitted height by one (1) foot for each additional one (1) foot by which the width of each yard exceeds the minimum yard requirement.

(c) The total number of rooms in a multiple-dwelling structure of two (2) stories or less shall not be more than the area of the parcel, in square feet divided by nine hundred (900). The total number of rooms in a multiple dwelling of over two (2) stonies shall not be more than the area of the parcel, in square feet, divided by five hundred (500). Not more than ten per cent (10%) of the units on any given parcel may be of an efficiency apartment type. For the purpose of computing rooms, the following shall

Efficiency Apartment Unit-one Plans presented (1) room One (1) Bedroom Unit-two (2) rooms

Two (2) Bedroom Unit-three (3) rooms

Three (3) Bedroom Unit-four (4) rooms Four (4) Bedroom Unit-five (5) showing 1, 2, or 3 bedroom units and including a den. library, or other extra room shall count such extra rooms as a bedroom for the purpose of computing density.

The aréa used for computing density shall be the total site-area exclusive of any dedicated public right-of-way of either interior or bordering streets.

(d) In RM Districts the minimum front and rear yards shall be equal to the height of the building, except that where a front lot-line abuts a street, one-half the width of the right-of-way of said street may be considered as front-yard setback but in no instance shall any front or rear yard setback be less than twenty-five (25) feet. In all RM-1 and RM-2 Multiple-Family Residence Districts, the minimum amount of usable open-space or recreation area per dwelling unit (exclusive of a required front yard, parking areas or driveways) shall be equal to 150 square feet of lot area per bedroom. A balcony or roof sun-deck of 50 square feet or greater may be counted toward meeting the minimum amount of open space per dwelling unit. In all RM-1 and RM-2 Multiple Residence Districts, the minimum distance between any two (2) buildings, shall be regulated according to the length and height of such buildings; however, in no instance shall this district be less than thirty (30) feet. The formula regulating the required minimum distance between two (2) buildings is as follows:

S = LA + LB + 2 (HA + HHB), where

S-Required minimum horizontal distance between any wall of building A and any wall of building B or the vertical prolongation of either.

LA-Total length of building A. The total length of building A is the length of that portion or portions of a wall or walls of building A from which, when viewed directly from above, lines drawn perpendicular to building A will intersect any wall of building B.

DISTANCE SPACING FOR MULTIPLE DWELLINGS. MIN. DISTANCE BETWEEN BUILDINGS LA + LB + 2 (HA-HB)

DISTANCE SPACING FOR MULTIPLE DWELLING

LB-The total length of building B. The total length of building B is the length of that portion or portions of a wall or walls of building B from which, when viewed directly from above, lines drawn perpendicular to Building B will intersect any wall of Building A. HA-Height of Building A.

The height of building A at any given level is the height above natural grade level of any portion of portions of a wall or walls along the length of building A. Natural grade-level shall be the mean level of the ground immediately adjoining the portion or portions of a wall or walls along the total length of the building. HB-Height of building B.

The height of building B at any given level is the height above natural grade level of any portion or portions of a wall or walls along the length of building B. Natural grade-level shall be the mean level of the ground immediately adjoining the portion or portions of the wall or walls along the total length of the building.

(e) Any side or rear yard for a principal use or a special use permitted in this district other than one-family, twofamily and multiple-family dwellings shall not be less than the height of the structure at the side or rear lot line. (f) For each story in excess of two (2) stories, a side-yard of 2 ½ feet (2 ½') for each additional story shall be provided, in addition to the minimum ten (10) foot requirement. The distance between buildings on the same lot shall be regulated by the building-distance formula specified in paragraph (d).of this section.

(g) In a block on one side of a street thirty (30) per cent or more occupied, the depth of the front yard shall not be less than, and need not be more than, the average depth of front yards of existing buildings.

(h) No side yards are required along the interior side lotlines, except as otherwise specified in the Building Code. On the exterior side yard which borders on a Residential District, there shall be provided a setback of not less than ten (10) feet on the side or residential street. If walls of structures facing interior lot lines contain windows or other openings, side yards of not less than ten (10) feet shall be provided. The setback shall be measured from the nearest side of the existing and/or proposed right-ofway lines, whichever is greater.

(i) A four-foot, six-inch (4'-6") obscuring wall or fence, or a ten (10) foot wide greenbelt, shall be provided on those sides of the property abutting land zoned for residential use. The greenbelt planting-plan shall be reviewed and approved by the Building Inspector in conformity with the requirements of SECTION 1509.

(j) One-half (1/2) the width of alleys at the rear of the lot may be considered in computing rear-yard setbacks.

(k) Parking shall be permitted in a required front yard. (I) A four-foot, six-inch (4'-6") obscuring wall or fence and a twenty (20) foot wide greenbelt shall be provided on those sides of the property abutting land zoned for residential use. The planting plan shall be reviewed and approved by the Building Inspector in conformity with SECTION 1509

(m) Off-Street loading space shall be provided in the rear yard in the ratio of at least one space per each establishment and shall be provided in addition to any required street parking area. Off-street loading space shall further meet the requirements of SECTION 1506. ARTICLE XV. "GENERAL PROVISIONS."

ALTERNATE FOOTNOTE "O" AS RECOMMENDED BY THE PLANNING COMMISSION:

The height of any point of structure in this use district when measured above mean street level shall not exceed 1.5 times the sum of the abutting street right-of-way width, plus the distance that the point sets back from the right-of-way. Street right-of-way is defined as the average street right-of-way width within the block. On corner properties, the wider of the two abutting street rights-ofway shall apply but shall not be applicable to abutting alleys. This provision shall not apply to that area classified as B-3--General Business District, which is not designated as a part of the Central Business District in the adopted Central Business District Plan. Structures erected in the Central Business District Area shall be of a commercial and/or professional office use, except that when said structure exceeds three (3) stories in height, Residential Multiple-Family units may be permitted above the third floor level.

Footnote "P". Building heights permitted under Footnote "O" shall be further limited as follows: Where property abuts residential or office districts, "Any side-or rear-yard abutting a residential or office district shall be required on a ratio of 1:1 to the height of the structure. In the event that an alley is between this district and the abutting residential or office district, one-half of the width of the alley rightof-way may be considered in determining compliance with this requirement."

 SECTION 3. Section 1504 of Article V - General Provisions, of Ordinance No. 341, known as the City of Plymouth Zoning Ordinance, is hereby amended to read as follows:

> SECTION 1504 OFF-STREET PARKING REQUIREMENTS

There shall be provided in all districts at the time of erection, enlargement, or change of use, of any main building or structure, automobile off-street parking space with adequate access to all spaces. The number of off-street parking spaces, in conjunction with all land or building uses shall be provided, prior to the issuance of a certificate of occupancy, as hereinafter prescribed: 1. Off-street parking for other than Residential use shall be either on the same lot or within three-hundred (300) feet of the building it is intended to serve, measured by public right-of-way from the nearest point of the building to the nearest point of the off-street parking lot. Ownership shall be shown of all lots of parcels intended for use as parking by the applicant. 2. Residential off-street parking spaces shall consist of parking strips, driveways, garage, or combination thereof, and shall be located on the premises they are intended to serve, and subject to the provisions of SECTION 1503 of this Ordinance. 3. Unless otherwise provided herein, off-street parking shall not be permitted in any required or nonrequired front yard, except for use of the driveway.

4. Any area once designated as required off-street parking shall never be changed to any other use unless and until equal facilities are provided elsewhere.

Off-street parking existing at the effective date of this Ordinance in connection with the operation of an existing building or use shall not be reduced to an amount less than hereinafter required for a similar new building

Two or more buildings or uses may collectively provide the required off-street parking in which case the required number of parking spaces shall not be less than the sum of the requirements for the several individual uses computed separately 7. In the instance of dual function of off-street parking spaces where operating hours of buildings do not overlap, the Zoning Board of Appeals may grant an exception.

AMONG CONSTRUCTION PROJECTS catching the eye in Plymouth these days are those of the Community Federal Credit Union and the Historical Society. The $165,000 addition to the Credit Union building at 500 S. Harvey is expected to be open by mid-October, providing an additional 4,000 feet of office space. The Historical Society's new museum, to be known as the Dunning Memorial Building, is at Main and Church, across from City Hall, and this, too, is being rushed toward an early completion. (Observer photos by Bob Woodring).

Rust-Raze can take the rust out of your water softener. And out of your life.

When rust builds up in your water softener, it can seriously affect your softener's ability to soften water.

Rust-Raze™, from Morton Salt, removes the rust and lets your softener get back to work. Where iron is present in the water supply, you can tell the difference immediately with clearer, better tasting water. Rust-Raze will also clean rust stains from white fabrics, glass, porcelain, concrete and metal surfaces. And, once in your water softener, it prevents rust stains from reoccurring. Find Rust-Raze at your local water softener dealer, hardware or farm store. And ask about Morton® Super Pellens®, recharging pellets with a built in rust remover, and Pellex®, a rust remover for water softeners that use rock or solar salt.

Shortly after the Civil War, the Quaker Meeting House was closed down in Farmington. Industrialization was underway and the subsequent invention of the automobile began to cast the mold which has created today's community.

The main route from Detroit to Lansing was Grand River, a plant road in the 1890s. At the end of the 19th century, the stage coach line was disbanded and, in 1900, the Detroit-Northwestern Railroad, in interurban service, was formed.

The existence of Grand River has had an overwhelming influence on the Farmington area because it influenced the migration route residents to the east would take to arrive in Farmington.

There is a tendency to migrate from Detroit to the suburbs along the main thoroughfares -- Woodward, Grand River, Schoolcraft, Ford Road,

Early Businesses Still Operating,

One of the early Farmington businesses was Himmelspach's Dining Room on Grand River in the City of Farmington, an area now occupied by a parking lot just east of Farmington Rd.

Joseph Himmelspach founded a business selling dairy products at 33314 Grand River and, in 1937, moved his business to the old Detroit Urban Railroad terminal at 33219 Grand River.

The dining room was a popular eating place in Farmington until it closed in 1966. It burned to the ground a week later in one of the city's largest fires in history.

ANOTHER long-time Farmington business is the Farmington Lumber Yard which has operated for more than 55 years at its location on Grand River east of Warner St.

The original building was once part of the old Warner Farm and later used as a Detroit Urban Railway terminal.

The firm was founded by Amos Otis and is owned now by Ray Hall.

The winery was closed in 1970, but it remains a part of Farmington's rich history.

A HIGHLIGHT in Farmington is the famed Botsford Inn, located behind the white picket fence on Grand River just west of 8 Mile.

The Botsford was started more than 100 years ago in the days when Grand River was a plank road. The inn was an overnight spot to stay for carriage riders making the trip from Lansing to Detroit and also a place to rest for travelers from Chicago.

The Botsford, now one of the oldest inns in Michigan and the midwest, is owned and operated today by John Anhut who has also made history by becoming the first president of the Farmington Chamber of Commerce to be elected to two consecutive terms.

This photograph was taken at Highland Lakes, a beautiful Condominium community in Northville. This majestic old tree shades the sandy beach of Silver Springs Lake. As you look across the sparkling water, you'll see Highland House, the fabulous community clubhouse, with saunas, billiards, exercise and card rooms. Two sun decks. A gigantic pool and tennis courts. All yours to enjoy as a homeowner. This is just one of the beauty spots at Highland Lakes. There are rolling hills. Four lakes. Wooded areas, where you'll listen to the murmuring leaves. Or a bird's song. And you can live in this beautiful setting for as little as $226 a month! Think of it! If you're a renter you are helping to buy someone else's building! So choose your own Village Home, two or three bedroom with exterior maintenance handled by professionals so you can enjoy the leisure activities that are built into life at Highland Lakes. We have a clever computer that will quickly show you how little it can cost to own your own home. And you can have the lakes. the trees and the hills to boot! Come see us and our computer. Buy a new life for $226 a month.

If you itemize tax deductions, interest and real estate taxes may be deducted from your income which saves you taxes. How much you save depends upon your tax rates. In addition, if real estate values continue to climb as they have in the recent past, then your home will probably be worth more in the future. We have calculated the effective net cost of purchasing the Canterbury for which typical financing terms are shown below. The total present monthly payment would be $269, including principal and interest as well as estimated real estate taxes and the estimated monthly association dues. In the case of a three member family with a family income of $13,500 and a top tax rate of 20% and allowing for an estimated average annual increase in value of 3%, the net monthly nt, after taking off tax savings and the increase in value, would be only $226.

Cash price of the Canterbury model is $27,990, 10% down payment of $2,790, 30-year mortgage loan of $25,100, $180 monthly payment includes the control of the Canterbury model in $25,100. only principal and interest of 7% % (8.06 ANNUAL PERCENTAGE RATE). RESIDENTIAL

In this dawning age of Aquarius, a young bride - to - be may consult an astrologically programmed computer on love and marriage.

Just as medieval queens and ladies of their courts sought advice and guidance in affairs of the heart, the ancient art of astrology is again in vogue and at the disposal of those who wish information that may guide their future.

Astrology can be applied to all areas of life -- carreer, business, the weather, health, love and marriage. However, no astrologer worth his reputation would tell a young woman who is about to wed that she should not marry the man in her life because she, is a Cancerian and he is a Virgo.

He WILL say that there are certain indications of a purely physical attraction in either birth chart. As astrologer Edith Randall said,

"I'd be willing to bet that half the people who get married never would if they had their charts compared."

But not even the best astrologer will tell you to marry or not to marry -- he WILL clarify your relationship and offer you a choice -- the decision is yours.

No one who has read this far can be unaware of their zodiacal sign or that of their bridegroom's. Select yours -- are you a passtionate Aries? an earthy Taurus? a superficial Gemini? a romantic Cancerian? an erotic Leo? a tender, loving Virgo? an idealistic Libra? an

One such volume is "Astro - Analysis" by Lilya Chambertin (Lancer Books, New York). Astro - Analysis is called the "new scientific way to learn your talents and tendencies, your personal assets and your 'danger zones'. TROUSSEAU, HOPE CHEST etc. - In an age where putting each other through school and the working wife is the norm, the idea that a bride had to come equipped with most of the linens and household necessities as well as a generous wardrobe before a lad would even be so foolish as to consider marrying her seems very distant -- (but not to the folks who make today's hope chests).

HONEYMOON - In northern European countries, a mead drink made from honey was to be drunk for a month by the newly wed couple, (according to tradition, Attila the Hun drank so much at his wedding feast that he died from over indulgence). Also during times of bride capture or elopement, the couple was forced to hide out until parental wrath cooled, constituting the traditional honeymoon flight.

All of these systems of marriage seem so barbaric, so remote from the highly developed system we operate in today. The relatively minor flexing of our norms to allow vows composed by the bride and groom and the clucking comments still made when the matrimonial form does not exactly match the form proscribed by family or religious custom is evidence of this rigid thinking. Yet for the greater part of recorded time marriage by capture and purchase in some form or other has almost totally dominated the slow trek of man from

"happy native" concept. I figured their society just hadn't thought up a system of morals and so they got to indulge in all sorts of forbidden practices without much censure. Not so, say the books written by folks who've studied ancient peoples, anyone who violated the practices of the tribe or did not accept the task of hunting food for his family was severely punished.

The next step shows some advance toward marriage as we know it today. Bride purchase was arranged for with the family of the bride. The practice of purchase is the first that has really hung on into modern society. Things have become switched around a bit, however, with the bride bringing more than her fertility to the marriage. Even in Roman and Classic Greece the father sent his daughter into matrimony with whatever possessions he could. The dowry and trousseau came out of this practice of gift exchange.

Here's where it got to be big business. Marriage brokers arose, dealing usually with nobility and leaving the peasants to make their own deals. Naturally the woman's wishes were of little concern and the idea of romantic love and mutual consent to marry was nice if it worked out that way, but was not of prime concern until much later.

Now, however, the bride could at least plan what to wear. The coarse nature of their cloth as well as few extras in society made the bridal gown a prized possession of very few. Frequently a social symbol of the married state was adopted after or at the ceremony such as the Romah stola (a sym-

Since it was extremely bad luck for a younger brother to marry first, the elder brother made a temporary union with a tree, allowing the younger and already enamored brother to wed the bride of his choice. the shape of the head, as in the previous century. Nets of jewels, silver and gold were favorite hair adornments. Today's bridal headpiece retains a modified romatic Renaissance look. The royal bride was lavishly coiffed, but the peasant maid was still likely to wear a wreath of flowers and carry "bride-ale" wheat as a symbol of fruitfulness. Even the custom of throwing rice instead of wheat dates to Elizabethan times when it was custom to break a wheat patty or "Bride-Ale" cake over the bride's head. For economy's sake, wheat became rice, but the "Bride-Ale" patty was the forerunner of today's extravagantly decorated bridal cake.

Fashion still continues to change with the creative whim of the Paris designers-but the romantic tradition and the luxury of the Renaissance continues to

as well as in politics and art. Then, as now, high couture was decided by the most prominent ladies in the land, be they queens, actresses or mistresses. France had just become the fashion center of the world-a position it has held for four hundred years. Fabrics were imported from all over the world: linen from Holland, lace from Belgium, wools from Spain, jeweled gold and silver cloth from Italy. The French court was dazzling. Gowns were tightly fitted with either deep decolletage or very high necklines accented with the Elizabethan Ruff -- an extraordinary style which reached such extremes that it became impossible to move one's This might have been the report of the Fashion Editor for the 16th Century Society news-when fashion found its most luxurious expression -- a time which marked a Renaissance in fashion Yesterday's lavish ball at the court of Charles of France was high-lighted by the presence of those three noble ladies who are competing for the title of "Best dressed woman of the Century"—Cathrine de Medici Elizabeth of England, and Mary of Scotland stole the fashion scene when each appeared in her own version of the "new look." De Medici "walked away" in triumph in her exciting new "high-heeled" shoe — a real first, and sure to be a success with the court ladies. Although Queen "Liz" still wore the ever popular low slipper of silk and lace, she took honors with her marvelous pleated "ruff" of magnificent lace that stood high above her head. It accented the deep printed basque bodice, high "leg o' mutton" sleeves and jeweled, embroidered headpiece. Mary of Scotland got admiring looks at her sensationally elegant pointed cap and veil — a dramatic departure from last century's towering headpieces.

The most exciting fashion ffills "underlying" all the grand ladies were the new steel corset and the farthingale—two devices designed to make waistlines tiny, bosoms voluptuous and the lower extremities the width of a doorway. This look is sure to be a hot item on

By far, the most dramatic fashion innovation was the farthingale, an unheard-of contrivance ushered into France from Spain in 1530 that changed fashion for the next 300 years, under different aliases and disguises the century, sleeves were narrow at the shoulder and upper arm and opened into great hanging drapes which fell well below the waistline. These were gradually modified and by the late 1500's, sleeves puffed at the shoulder and narrowed to the wrist. The "leg o'mutton" of earlier centuries had a (the hoop, panier, crinoline, pouf or bustle.) Complimenting this was the steel corset -- a tortuous instrument that continues to squeeze, goudge, poke, push, mold and squash us into whatever shape is demanded by current whims of fashion. Styles of the 16th Century are a treasure trove for today's bridal fashion designer because there was such infinite variety in the shapes of sleeves, necklines, bodices and hems. "Leg o'mutton" sleeves have vertical bands of french pastel and gold embroidered petit point edged in narrow Valencienne lace. The same tapestry accents the reverse basque waist and embellishes the 16th Century headpiece. Lace edges the deep ruffled flounce which flows into a true "royal court" train. The low neckline is sculptured and feminine.

Current wedding gown trends are toward the 16th Century deep-pointed fitted "Basquine" waistline, which is in direct contrast to the all time favored "empire" look, so named for Empress Josephine. Today's wedding gown is likely to feature pleated ruffles at neckline, sleeve, shoulder, cuff and hem, capturing the style made popular by Elizabeth I of England.

Even shoe styling owes a debt to 16th Century, when the high-heeled broad-toe shoe was first introduced. Initially, it had elevations at both front and back. This preceded the "wedgie" or "chopine" which appeared later in France -- and was exactly like today's popular high wedge-heeled clog!

Hats and headpieces became smaller and close fitting, no longer distorting.

"The Roman Catholic Wedding"

The Roman Catholic wedding ceremony has undergone some significant changes in the last few years.

What used to be a set ritual with prescribed wordings and blessings has given way to a ceremony in which the bride and groom can select certain passages and participate more fully in their own nuptial rites.

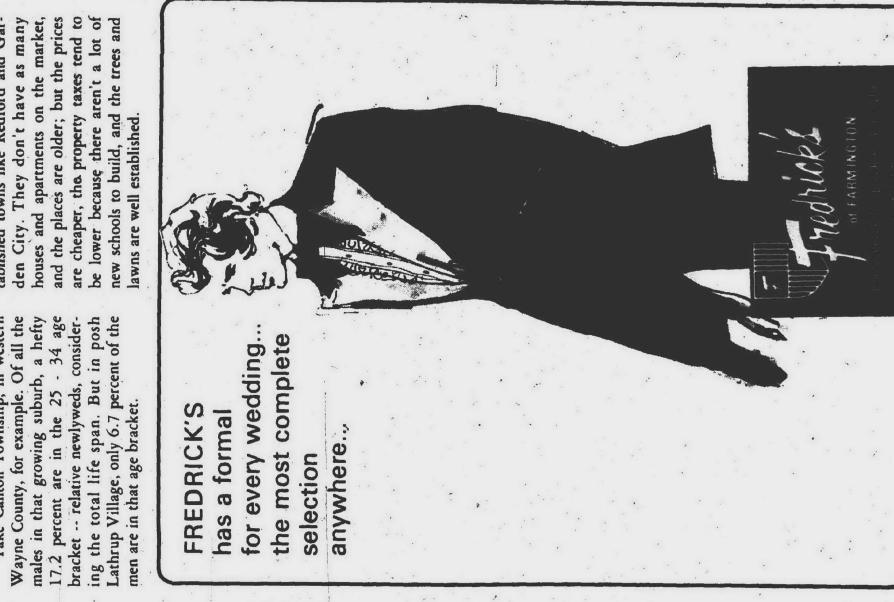

Less Latin is used, making it possible for all present to better understand the rites, while the priest, once having to conduct the wedding Mass with his back to the congregation as he offered his prayers to God, now faces the assembly, the altar having been placed in front of him.

Kneeling before the altar, the bride and groom participate in the rites of the Mass. The host or unleavened wafer and wine are taken to symbolize the body and blood of Christ.

The wedding procession itself, a standard part of most current marriages, is really feudal in origin. Featuring two families, each coming together for a legal contract, it emphasizes the bride as a helpless being who must be escorted down the aisle and finally given away by her father, Modern brides maids are reminiscent of the royal court with its ladies - in - waiting.

The bride of the 13th or 14th century was splendidly dressed - but not in white. An elegant Medieval bride might walk the aisle in a violet colored gown trimmed with ermine and topped by a coat of green silk. It was not untill proper Victorian times, that white- the color of purity - became, the standard bridal color.

In Oakland County, Farmington Township, with a lot of apartments along the freeways, is the most popular spot for young folks. Its proportion of men in the 25 - 34 age bracket is 11.4 per cent, compared to 10 per cent in Southfield, 9.5 per cent in the City of Farmington, 6.7 per cent in Lathrup Farmington, 6.7 per cent in Lathrup Village and only 5.8 per cent in Wood Creek Farms.

marriage vows. In fact, marriage vows are no longer deemed necessary for cohabitation of men and women. But among more mature young people, shallowness is anything but the rule. "Our kids are actually retrieving sexuality from shallowness," insists Sex Counselor Mary Calderone. "They are moving away from the kind of trivialization we associated with the Harvard. Yale games in the '20s when the object was to get drunk and lay a lot of girls." Lot Angele's Gynecologists J. Robert Bragonier agrees: "Kids aren't looking for

What about women's Liberation?

Is it responsible for the divorce rate and increase in premarital sexuality? During the '20s, the feminist drive for equal rights for women was partly responsible for an increase in premarital sex even greater than the present acceleration.

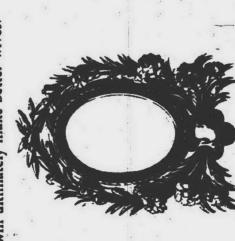

Today's militants, who believe that the new wave of permissiveness is a conspiracy to exploit them, want to put a damper on sex. But for the vast majority of women, the movement stands in part for a new freedom in sexual matters.

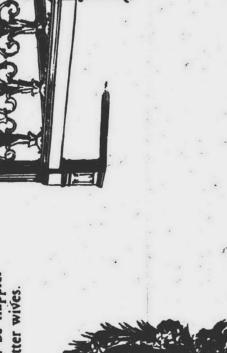

As women fight for equality in employment, education, and business, she finds that social recognition is hardent to achieve. Like minority and ethnic groups that have won freedom one hundred years ago, social discrimination

The Greek Orthodox marriage ceremony is marked by two rituals rich in pageantry: the offitial engagement in which rings are exchanged, and the uniting of the bride and groom in the state of Holy Matrimony in which, according to church belief, each person up his own identity to voluntarily give the more expensive ring in appreciation of him and as a symbol of her own submission," explains Reverend Peter Remundos of the Livonia Chapel of St. Constantine and Helen. "Now the bride receives the costlier ring." The rings are worn on the third finger of the right used to offer the groom become one being.

During the second part of the ceremony, the bride and groom are given crowns made of flowers to wear upon their heads. Thus they are each seen as a king and a queen about to begin the start of a new family and a new state of being before God. Today, garlands of artificial flowers are used for their durability; in the past the couple was wreathed in fresh lemon or apple blos-

The marriage is further consecrated by the reading of the Scriptures by the priest, and the shared drinking of the cup of wine symbolizing the cup of life, which both bride and groom will experience together.

A ceremonial dance led by the priest takes the bride and groom in three circles around the altar. Thus is enacted a ritual drama of the three stages of married life: youth, maturity stages of ma and old age.

". 'None but God's will be done,
Whate'er he may decree;
So we on earth be one,
And in eternity!"

At these words, spoken with enthusiasm, Raoul throws himself into the arms of Valentine, whose countenance is radiant with resolution and beauty, and turning towards Marcel (who is deeply moved at this scene) he says,—

"No minister of Heaven is at hand to sanctify this union; but do thou, old and faithful friend, by the rights of virtue and age, consecrate our marriage in the presence of the Almighty

In the foreground is the platform, with the dreadful caldron, under which the flames still glow, though the scalding liquid within is tossing and hissing in fiery waves. A short flight of steps has been placed beside it, to enable the executioners to carry up their victim. The Cardinal appears, attended, and takes his place on the right, and the various ministers of the law are already present.

And now the doomed maiden is seen to mount the scaffold; her head droops upon her bosom, and her long raven tresses fall dishevelled over her beautiful shoulders. Yet her tread is firm, her eye steady—love has converted the martyr into the heroine.

She looks around for her father, but sees him not. Can they have murdered him, without allowing her one last embrace? She rushes to the Cardinal's feet. the deed which is now being done under his orders.

Ha! that yell of inexpressible anguish rings through the prison—will ring through the brain of the Cardinal till his dying day. Is that a groan which follows, or is it but the echo of his own remorseful listens eagerly. He hopes that the sight of the rack, or, at most, its first pang, will produce the effect he sighs for. But no messenger returns—still no summons. He paces the dungeon, and shudders at messenger at last-his step is hasty-the Cardinal springs to "All, your Eminence; and if he is to survive for the scaffold—"
"Take him thither."
And the baffled father leaves the prison—he will yet try on re effort upon the scene of death.

Something to Think About .

When you buy for a price, you can never be sure. It's unwise to pay too much, but it's worse to pay too little. When you pay too much, you lose a little money — that is all. But, when you pay too little, you sometimes lose everything, because the thing you bought was incapable of doing the thing it was bought to do. The common law of business prohibits paying a little and getting a lot — it can't be done. If you deal with the "lowest bidder" it is wise to add something for the risk you run, and, if you do that, you will have enough to pay for something better. If the thing you buy gives good service, the price, regardless how much, is soon forgotten. However, the trouble on a cheaper item is seldom forgotten. At Porterfield Wilson you get what you pay for — one of the finest automobiles produced at prices that are competitive with anyone's. And, we feel our service is the best around.
