Cage Loop Will Have Girl Teams

PLYMOUTH Plymouth's Community Junior Basketball Association has decided to go co educational when registration for its ninth season opens Saturday morning at West Middle School.

After attracting upwards of 600 boys into the fold each of the last several winters, the league now has opened its doors to formation of girls teams to be made up of 6th and 7th graders.

Roys from the third through 10th grades will be eligible for four separate classifications according to the grades in which they are enrolled in their schools. The girls, too, will be evenly distributed on their teams by grade, and it is anticipated that at least 10 such squads will be formed.

Ron Mack, president of the association, said that registration of both boys and girls will be conducted from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. the next three Saturdays (Oct. 7, 14 and 21) at West, which is located at Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon. The fee will be $7.50 per player and each youngster is to be accompanied by a parent.

The registration fee covers operating costs and a post season banquet.

All boys and girls who register are guaranteed of being placed on a team and will play a minimum of one quarter of each game. All games will be played on Saturdays between 8 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. at school court sites to be announced later, with the complete program running from Nov. 1 through March 24.

"The philosophy of the PLYMOUTH to 11 years of age and no fee association," said Mack, "is Plymouth Grange No. 389 for children five years and that sportsmanship and will hold its annual bazaar, younger. After Oct. 4, the knowledge of the game are at donation will be increased by least as important as win-

Opera On Plymouth Symphony Schedule

One of Wayne Dunlap's long-cherished dreams will come true this year and the Plymouth Symphony will feature an opera in its concert

The opera is Verdi's "La Traviata" and it will be performed by the Turnau Opera Company of New York on March 11.

The Plymouth Symphony has had two operas featured in previous seasons, -- the children's story of "Hansel and Gretel" and the other "Amahl and the Night Visitors" - but this will be the first time for opera in the symphony's new home, the auditorium of Plymouth High School, Joy and Canton Center

RU Tips Bentley; Panthers Waiting For Trenton

By ARTEE

Coach Bobby Atkins, of Redford Union, knew when he started football practices in August that he had the ingredients for an excellent team but he didn't know how long it would take to get the proper mixture for a smooth working machine.

Thus it wasn't that much of a surprise when an up and coming Livonia Stevenson toppled the Panthers in the season opener on the Stevenson gridiron.

Atkins decided there wasn't any game like the first to experiment with various combinations. He had lost most of the starters from the powerful 1971 team but did have a few back that he thought could be shifted around.

His biggest gamble was in the backfield where Glenn Richmond, quarterback from last year and one of the biggest and fastest backs returning, was moved to fullback while Atkins tested a couple of others as signal callers.

And mark down the name of senior Lupe Bravo as a returning ball carier who was rated no better than fourth or fifth during the fall workouts and was still there at the time of the opener.

After the Stevenson loss, Atkins quickly moved Richmond back to quarterback and elevated Bravo to the starting offensive backfield. Those two moves are the keys in making the Panthers a definite contender for the Suburban Eight Conference crown.

Officials Not Doing Job

The power of the little flag leaves a lot to be over Dearborn last weekend desired.

High school officials are assigned to govern prep sports and build character of inspiring young men, with football no exception.

In covering the Garden City East - Franklin game I found this not the case.

Garden City East won the game and I am not taking anything away from Gary Humphrey's Panthers . . . they played one heck of a game and as the score indicates, won by a 19 point margin going away.

But the officiating was bad and not just against Franklin.

penalties and East a 57 vard total. "The officials weren't protecting my kids," said Franklin Coach George Lovich. "A kid threw a punch at one of my players, the official pulled the flag out of his pocket but tucked it back in, and explained to me that he had only anticipated a punch."

FRANKLIN ACCUMULATED 126 yards in

At the same time there were punches taken at the GC East quarterback Stevie Orr with no calls made.

A TEAM CAPTAIN has the right to talk to the official and ask for an explanation of a call. Such was not the case in the East-Franklin game.

A few jerseys were being pulled over the heads in pile-ups and the Franklin captain was attempting to discuss this with the officials.

"The officials would not even talk to my. captains," said Lovich. "They told him to get away and quit complaining.'

"Here you work with the kids, getting them ready for the game, and they give it all they got. The officials took it right out of them and people wonder why kids go the way they go."

I spent some time around both team benches and witnessed how the East coaching staff was chuckling on some of the calls, while on the other hand, the Franklin staff was furning with Lovich warned several

I guess that's football though.

AT THE FINAL HORN, the two coaches met on the field in the hand shaking ceremony.

"The first thing East Coach Humphrey said to me was that he was sorry about the officiating and that he hadn't a thing to do about picking them," said

Roughing the passer calls were aplenty as was passing interference.

PENALTIES PLAYED a key role in the outcome but the officiating played an even bigger role in the thinking of about 60 prep footballers.

I met with North Farmington Coach Ron Glenn Finally Scores... Holland and Thurston Coach Emil Majeski after the game. They just laughed about the officials and their Throttles Oak Park, 21-8 calls.

UNITED TABLE PAD CO

Juvenile Trial Bill Gets OK From Senators

Legislation to tighten up the rules under which juveniles can be tried as adults passed the State Senate last week with affirmative votes from the four Observerland senators.

The bill passed 30 to 1 with one abstention. Voting for it were Sens. David Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights). William Fust (D-Westland), Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park).

The bill was referred back to the House for concurrance on amendments. When the bill originally passed the House. all local representatives voted for it.

The measure is designed to strengthen wording of the juvenile waiver law which was declared unconstitutionally vague by the Michigan Supreme Court. The bill requires courts to serve notice of waiver hearings and to advise all parties that a juvenile has a right to an attorney.

Under the Senate amendments, probate courts would have to conduct a hearing to determine if the interests of the youth and the public would be served by granting the waiver.

Tips On Smugging Down The Garden For Winter

By BETTY FRANKEL Special Writer

The few red and gold leaves that have drifted down onto the lawn and driveway are more decoration than litter. However, they are a portent of things to come. Fall has arrived and soon the leaves will come showering down.

Don't forget that leaves make wonderful humus. They should be raked up and put on a compost pile. There they will decompose. They will make a great soil conditioner and fertilizer to work into your garden beds next year or to use as a mulch.

Frost can come any time now, so bring into the house plants that have been summering on the patio or under a bush in the backyard. Clean the pots before bringing them inside and inspect the plants for diseases and insects.

Make cuttings geraniums, coleus, impatiens and begonias. These will root readily in water or in damp sand. They will provide the start of an indoor sunny window winter garden. Also, you will have plants to set out again next year.

You can lift the parent plants, but they generally seem large and ungainly when stuffed into pots. Also, they have wide ranging roots that are demaged when the plant is. dug out, so the plants suffer severe shock and setback.

older plant will sprout out and get fresh and bushy.

JUST FOR FUN, to prolong the season a tiny bit more, lift and pot a few small annuals such as dwarf marigolds, lobelia or even sweet alyssum. They will bloom for a few weeks in a sunny window.

If you want to hold back the season a little, plan to protect from the early frosts a few tomato plants and some strategically located annuals. Gather a supply of cardboard cartons, large paper bags or old bed sheets and when the frost warnings come cover the plants by early evening and remove the covers in the morning.

Often early frosts are followed by several weeks of beautiful frost-free weather.

There is still time to transplant perennials or to plant a whole new perennial flower bed. Remember to prepare the soil thoroughly and deeply and enrich it well if you are making a new bed. It is almost impossible to really work the soil in a bed filled with plants, so this is a job you won't be doing very often.

This is the last chance to get the lawn patched up. Reseed bare spots or set in sod. Give the lawn a fall feeding. This will thicken the turf. Next year it will get greener sooner and will be healthy, with fewer

ROSES CAN be moved in late fall after they have become dormant, but again, many gardeners feel they get better results with spring

Leaf-losing rees and shrubs are safely moved when the leaves have colored. Even though the leaves have not been shed, once the color turns the connection with the tree is blocked by a layer of cork that forms at the base of the stem. Small trees and most shrubs can be moved bare rooted, but larger specimens should be balled and burlapped.

Planting of deciduous trees can continue into winter, as long as the soil can be worked. However, earlier planting does give the roots a chance to grow this year so before the plant gets leaves next spring it has had two growth periods in which to get established.

An advantage of winter planting is that when the ground is frozen solid the truck can drive over the lawn without damaging it. Thus a large tree can be delivered to back yard plating spot without much trouble. Be sure, though, to have the hole prepared in advance.

It's available in many different sizes and colors, cost of maintenance is practically nil, and it is guaranteed not to become obsolete. In fact, it will last many times longer than any other air conditioner on the present market. This conditioner has a net cooling capacity on the average equivalent to ten room-size air conditioners in operation 20 hours a day.

It will in no way add to the electrical energy crisis now faced by some parts of the nation.

The "conditioner" we're talking about is a shade tree, or a fruit tree. Properly planted, this tree can also reduce summer room temperatures as much as 20 degrees. Trees not only eliminate the "attic furnace" but will help cut your fuel bill by as much as 30 per cent by acting as a windbreak. So now that your gardening chores are winding down, why not give some thought to planting either shade trees or fruit trees in your backyard? Trees act as blotters for soaking up noises (up to 75 per cent and dust.)

LET'S GET FRESH! by DOC KEETH

This is not advocating uncouth actions toward the fair sex. Our crusade for today is for fresh indoor air. This should strike a responsive chord in all you stale air sufferers . . jillion of you. Many homes today inflict stale air on their occupants simply because the heating system does not provide constant air circulation. Air settles in stuffy layers and pockets. Warm air rises and escapes out the roof at a too-rapid rate, causing high fuel bills. The bright spot in the picture is that a good many of these homes can be "cured" easily without additional equipment. If they have a good forced air heating system, all that is needed is an adjustment for CONTINUOUS AIR CIRCULATION. I don't mean a big. constant blast of air through your house. I mean gentle, almost imperceptible, circulation of air, It can make a whale of a difference in your comfort! A breath of spring in the dead of winter! This provision applies only when the services are for another college or governmental agency and isn't in effect for services to non profit agencies.

DR. GROTE had asked the board for authorization because of the time factor. Since the board only meets monthly, it is frequently impossible to get permission in time. Often it is to the advantage of the college to have its professional employes lending services to other groups, he said.

Dr. Grote suggested that he be allowed to give permission in cases where there isn't enough time to ask the board, and that he report to the board monthly on such cases. If it gets out of hand, the board can clamp down on it.

After lengthy discussion, trustees Leroy Bennett, Erv Brown, Paul Kadish, John Larue and Dr. R. Robert Geake approved the policy. However, trustees Rosina Raymond, Mary Dumas and Arch Vallier vigorously opposed the resolution.

The resolution also authorized board chairman,

Symphony Cookbook Is Classic

By ELLY

Music is the fourth great material want of our nature, -first food, then raiment, then shelter, then music.

-- Bovee

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra begins its 28th season this month, a good time to share some recipes from a local classic cookbook, the 1956 edition of Symphony for Pots and Pans. I repeat the crab casserole recipe because it's been such a favorite for family and entertaining and is easily prepared ahead of time for after symphony suppers. COCKTAIL PECANS

4 c. large shelled pecans 14 to 1 3 c. Worcestershire sauce

10 dashes Tabasco sauce 13 c. butter . Salt to taste

Melt butter in pan. Add Tabasco and Worcestershire sauce and mix well. Add pecans and stir well so that they are all well covered. Put on cookie sheet and heat in slow oven at 275 degrees until nuts are crisp. (15-20 minutes). Watch so as not to let brown too much. Pour out on paper towel to cool. Store in LB covered container.

CHEESE PUFFS

1 small pkg. cream cheese 11/2 doz. small bread rounds 1 t. grated onion 1 egg yolk

Beat yolk of egg with fork and blend in cream cheese. Season with salt and pepper. Add onion. Spread one-half inch thick on bread rounds two inches in diameter. Let them puff up under the broiler for three or four minutes. Serve hot. Makes 18.

STUFFED CHILLED LETTUCE

3 counces cream cheese

2 T. bleu cheese 2 T. grated raw carrot

2 T. minced green pepper 2 T. diced fresh tomato

1 t. minced onion 1/2 t. salt 1/2 t. pepper

(drained)

Combine all ingredients in order given. Stuff large head of lettuce. Wrap in clean damp cloth. Chill several hours in refrigerator. Slice to serve. This filling is very good used in celery for a relish tray or for an appetizer. If preferred, the filling may be spread on individual slices of lettuce for salads. This can be done at serving time. Serves six to eight.

CRAB CASSEROLE

1/4 lb. margarine 2 cut-up hard cooked eggs

1 green pepper, cut fine 1 T. parsley flakes

1 large can evaporated milk 2 slices bread broken into crumbs

1 small onion, diced fine

2 T. flour 1 can crab meat

Melt margarine in top of double boiler. Drop in soft bread crumbs. Add eggs, green pepper, onion and parsley flakes. Blend in flour. Add canned milk gradually and cook until thickened and vegetables are soft. Add seafood and turn into buttered baking dish and cover with more soft bread crumbs that have been tossed in melted butter. Sprinkle with paprika and brown in oven 25-30 minutes and 350 degrees.

SILLABUB

1 pt. milk 1/6 t. salt 1 t. vanilla or sherry 1/4 c. sugar 3 eggs, separated

8 marshallows Put milk, sugar and salt into top of double boiler. When warm, very slowly stir in well beaten egg yolks. Cook slowly in double boiler (about 20-25 minutes) until it coats a silver spoon. It will not be very thick. Put in marshmallows and vanilla and stir until marshmallows are dissolved. Put aside to cool and beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold egg whites into custard and put in refrigerator. Thirty minutes before serving put into sherbet dishes and place in freezing compartment until set but not frozen. Serves six. This is an old family recipe. Sillabub was a very popular Christmas treat in the South, and is good any time. It may be flavored as eggnog.

ERVATION POINT

Overall Development Plan For New Expressways Could Help This Area

Township, Westland, Livonia, and Plymouth and Farmington Townships - have complete local autonomy over zoning matters, yet the expressway passes through and affects each community.

The danger at this point is that each individual community will work out its own views on proper zoning and development along the expressway with no thought given to the overall development pattern that the expressway will cause. Redford, for example, might decide that light industry is the best use for land along the expressway, while Farmington Township may conclude that multi-story businesses are preferable.

Given this danger, it might be well for planners and local officials from each of the communities affected by the new expressways to get together, exchange views, and try to work out some overall ideas about just what is the best overall zoning and development scheme for the expressway system.

No community would be forced to give in if it had strong ideas at variance with the others, but some preliminary work now might prevent some pretty big problems later on.

Archie Bunker Bigotry Does Make A Big Point

Sure we can laugh at Archie only professional blacks are entihealthy to laugh at yourself.

The more insidious bigot is the guy who claims, "It's not that I have anything against 'coloreds.' Anyone who can afford it can move into my neighborhood, regardless of race, color or creed."

That spurious remark. mouthed with the increasing frequency of suburban neighborhood turnovers, is a smoke screen for the hate and distrust bubbling just beneath the surface.

THE DEROGATORY WORD "coloreds" is a dead giveaway as is the patronizing, rationalization and protests offered to hide intolerance. Somehow, it's a bit easier to tolerate intolerance than to swallow hypocrisy. And it's a lot healthier to get prejudices out in the open where they can be dealt with as realties.

Another ludicrous statement often made is, "I don't mind if black people move here -- as long as they are professional men." which negates the "as long as they can afford it" bit.

When was the last time you checked if every white homeowner in your neighborhood was a doctor, lawyer, accountant, scientist or engineer? Do you spurn the businessman who "can afford it!" If you apply the theory that Bunker. There's a little bit of tled to invade your suburban Archie in the best of us and it's bubble, your prejudices are showing strong.

> Using the well-worn argument, "We're against scare tactics by unscrupulous real estate agents," to cover up a basic fear of change, is not only hypocrisy, it's passing the buck. Not every real estate man is a vulture, seeking his prey in human prejudice and picking the bones of suspicion and hysteria to make a fast buck.

> "UNSCRUPULOUS" ANOTHER label for an entire class of business people like "all coloreds are dope pushers and thieves." Both are generalizations steeped in ignorance and covering up basic bias. Anything is easier than admitting you are guilty of making preconceived, unfair judgements.

> "We don't want to keep running," is another paradox. It implies, "If the neighborhood continues to change, we will be forced to hit the panic button." That further proves the hypocrisy of insisting you are not concerned with the complexion or ethnic background of your neighbors.

> Smoke screens are dangerous. They do not check the flames of prejudice and hate from spreading. Behind these screens, fear festers and threatens to burst. Rumors spark and fan the flames and everyone is suspected of arson, except ourselves.

> When you bring an emotion or reaction out into the open, it can examined rationally, researched and analyzed in the daylight of reason. If a disease like cancer remained something to whisper about behind closed doors, a research would be impossible and so would a cure.

It will take many years and a trial and error probing to discover a cure for all types of cancer. Nobody has as yet found a cure for cancerous diseases called "prejudice against minorities," "pseudo-liberalism," and "protesting too much.'

The first step is admitting these diseases do exist and bringing them out of the dark closet of mens minds where they multiply and infect.

Archie Bunker-type bigotry is honest. It makes us laugh at our stupidity and narrow mindedness. That's a step towards doing something about it.

Nader And His Raiders Ready With Revealing Congress Report

The nation's capital is bracing itself for the kind of thing Detroit has been zapped by for some years now -- a study by Ralph Nader, due to be published in several stages in the coming weeks.

I for one will be an eager watcher of the "Ralph Nader Congress Project/Citizens Look At Congress," not only because it's his biggest project to date. but because I had a small role in it, I think. Two volunteer Nader Raiders interviewed me, as news editor of the largest paper in the old 19th Congressional District.

I'm not certain, however that my stuff will be used because the congress man they were studying, Jack McDonald, was defeated in the last Republican primary after redistricting, and his profile may thus be omitted. The Nader group tried to interview every lawmaker for three hours; asked for answers to an extremely long questionnaire; talked to district officer assistants; consulted community leaders from labor, banking, commerce and the like; and even tried to talk to the congressman's last opponent.

THE CAPITAL, as I said, is nervous because government and politics are its chief businesses. It should be. Nader is not a Socratic philospher, the seeker of truth; he is not even a reporter, striving to muzzle his own opinions and be objective.

Rather, Nader is a lawyer. He argues cases for clients, and he's out to win. He is an advocate, not an explorer. The fact that his client in this case is, to his mind, the consumer doesn't make him any less an advocate. There's excellent reason and precedent for believing Ralph Nader had his mind made up before he ever started this case.

Many congressmen declined to cooperate. Some who did declared the interviewers were "naive" and in one case downright rude, according to the Washington Post, but most found the interviewers well informed.

Many interviewers were from the American Civil Liberties Union, a rather liberal outfit politically, and the League of Women Voters. The LWV declares itself to be non-partisan. a declaration met with loud guffaws by my Republican friends, in the same way my Democratic friends guffaw at the idea that the Jaycees are nonpartisan (the Jaycees weren't recruited for this project). Personally, I find the Jaycees and the LWV overlapping considerably on issues and leave it to the reader to make up his own mind.

MY LWV-MEMBER interviewers were concerned with a list of bills Nader considered important and whether Observer Newspapers had reported McDonald's vote on them. Some we had, many we hadn't because we don't have a wire service from Washington; we watch the Lansing State Journal daily (the Detroit papers are nearly useless) for reports on congressional votes, then call Washington to see how McDonald, Marvin Esch, Bill Ford, Bill Broomfield and Martha Griffiths voted and frequently to get quotes.

The ladies seemed impressed, especially by our 1968 and 1970 campaign coverage of the candidates' philosophies and by the way we reported every campaign donation of $100 or more. Our business office declined to reveal how much McDonald and his opponent, Fred Harris, spent here in advertising, the same as we would protect any businessman or householder placing an ad, but the ladies should have no trouble calculating the expenses by examining back copies of the papers and multiplying ad size times the going rate. .

For a paper with no Washington bureau and no wire service. I think we did pretty well. Indeed, I'm sure we gave readers more on McDonald's record than the News, Free Press and all the roadcasters put together.

One thing we don't print is lawmakers' "columns" and many of their trivial handouts. McDonald thought we should have run some of his merchant marine and immigration pronungiamentos, but I can't see it.

MRS. GRIFFITHS, whose 17th District now covers three Observerland communities, thinks Nader is playing dirty pool by releasing the study just prior to the election. "Why aren't they doing the opponents if they want to be fair?" she told the Post. Good point.

Mrs. Griffiths was also sore at the way someone from the Treasury Dept. who was interviewed erroneously reported her tax views on women workers deducting child care costs. Hopefully, that error won't get into print.

Nader is worried about the way lawmakers "control the flow of information to their constituency. But not much information about the member gets to the people." Another good point.

Myself, I'm vexed that so many votes are by mass voice rather than roll call and that we have often have to call each local congressman's Washington office long-distance to get their votes. The House clerk can't release individual members' votes.

That's silly. Congress should have an electronic vote recording system like the House has in Lansing - push the "ves" or "no" button and it's all over in a minute, and it's all in the record. The Observer could get you more facts and at a cheaper cost to us with an electronic vote-recording

For all the dough they spend on newsletters and press releases, congressmen and state legislators rarely tell you how they voted on the really tough bills. So on that point, I'm rooting for Ralph.

Several local residents will be taking part in the festival, which will run from 12 noon to 10 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 5, through Saturday, Oct. 7, and from noon to 9 p.m. Sunday,

The International Institute, located at 111 E. Kirby and John R, become a street corner and building full of old world shops during the festival each year.

THIS YEAR Mrs. Rigmor Cuolahan of Livonia will be officiating at Norwegian gift booth, Susan Frontczak of Farmington will be demonstrating the crafting of Czech wire animals and Mrs. Mildred Webb of Southfield will demonstrate Swedish straw dolls and animals.

In addition, the Finlandia Male Chorus, under the direction of Eero Keranen of Livonia, will present a program of national music at 9:15 Saturday.

THERE WILL BE 15 gift booths and nine ethnic cafes as well as the craft demonstrations, stage tertainment, steeet dancing and outdoor beer gardens.

The market is the major fund-raising project of the International Institute, a Torch Drive agency designed to help persons from other countries adapt to the American scene and to help Americans understand foreign cultures.

Mrs. Cuolahan is in charge of the Norwegian booth for the first time this year, although she has been active in planning Scandinavian portions of the Detroit Ethnic festivals.

When she sells crafted and imported items at the Institute, she'll wear a Norwegian native dress - "the work dress, not the festival dress," she explained.

A native of Norway, she has lived in this country 18 years, most of that time in Livonia.

She learned to make the tiny wire animals when she and family visited Czechoslovakia, her mother's birth place, in 1965. A cousin who was a camp counselor showed her how.

She used bright - colored telephone wire and usually has ready close to 200 small dogs, cats and birds to sell to visitors at her booth.

"This year I had trouble getting the wire and so I started late and have been putting in a lot of time recently to get them ready," she said.

Susan winds the wire on knitting needles to fashion the whimsical creatures.

KERANEN, director of the Finlandia chorus for six years, has taken the 30member group to the Old World Market for each of these years. His group also is Finlandia Male Chorus, a regular participant in performing at the Old Detroit's ethnic festival and makes many other concert

A 1922 etiquette book from my aunt's bookshelf has given us some interesting reading.

I learned, to mention a few bits of information from the redoubtable Emily Post, that gentlemen wear white kid gloves to the opera, to a ball and when serving as an usher at an evening wedding.

Also, that the sure mark of a well-appointed house is that "its bell is answered promptly by a trim maid with a low voice and a quiet, courteous man-

I found out that young ladies of the 1922 era had pretty easy compared to their predecessors. "In other days," wrote Mrs. Post, "no lady of dignity ever crossed her knees, held her hands on her hips, twisted herself sideways or even leaned back in her chair. Today all these things are done, and the only etiquette left is on the subject of how not to exaggerate them."

Mrs. Post deplored the "ordeal by ballroom" of that day, in which a young girl "must catch a trousered companion so as not to be left in placarded disgrace, and, having caught him, must hang on to him and not let go until another takes his place."

But in more informal meetings between the sexes she suggested that "a young man may go to see a girl as often as he feels inclined and she cares to receive him," but added:

"If she continually asks to be excused or shows him scant attention when he is talking to her, his visits should cease."

My favorite bit of wisdom, though, came when the famed expert found the areas of etiquette and child care overlapping a bit.

"Parents must never disagree before the children," she wrote. "It simply can't be. Nor can there be an appeal to one parent against the other by the " 'Father told me to jump down the well.' 'Then you must do it, dear,' is the mother's only possibly comment. When the child has 'jumped down the well,' she may pull him out promptly, and she may in private tell her husband what she thinks about his issuing such an order."

What with our lack of white kid gloves and maids and abundance of crossed knees, our home seems a bit short on proper etiquette. But I hope the family finds things a bit more relaxed. Less damp, anyway.

prices would fall by 25 per cent, or more. Our three biggest suppliers of ready made cereals are Kellogg, General Mills and General Foods. If these companies had some competition, the lower prices could save the consumer $150 million a year. ON CRIME: "Our jails are splitting at the seams, and we know from studies that confinement does little or nothing to help either society or the offender." (Mrs. Wolfgang advocates putting tax money into half-way houses, such as Share House, a project she helped organize in the Detroit area for re-education and training.)

ON VIETNAM: "We've spent $500 million there in the last three months, and they tell us there are insufficient funds to solve crime in the streets. Our strategy has been to keep on punishing them until they give up. If you can buy that 'peace with honor' business and vote for the logic of the torture chamber, you are either remarkably ignorant or remarkably callous.'

HE ALWAYS wrote a story about the colors, once remarking that when he topped a rise, it looked in the valley below "as if a rainbow had been shattered into billions of pieces and scattered across the countryside."

I'm sure that's an apt description, because what I saw over last weekend was beautiful, in some spots along the roadside almost unbelievably so.

The Stroller...

Tribute To Ed Hines

By W. W. EDGAR

Few persons in the many thousands who travel along Hines Parkway realize that the 30-mile scenic drive is a monument to one of the greatest innovators in

Ask any of them "Who is Edward Hines?" and you are apt to be answered with a shrug of the shoulders. Or they might ask - "Ed who?"

Few realize that he was the man who laid the groundwork for the miles and miles of concrete ribbons that are tied together as our national highway system. For years he has been the forgotten. man, remembered only by his old associates in the various highway departments and Road Commissions. BUT NO MORE -- thanks to the Michigan State Highway Department which honored him a week ago with a posthumous award and placed him in the Michigan Highway Hall of Fame.

There, the name of Edward Hines will live forever. And justly so. For Edward Hines is the "father" of concrete paving. LIVONIA and were it not for him - and his innovative mind -- Henry Ford may not have been able to "put the world on wheels" and such automotive giants as the Ford Motor Co. and the General Motors Corp. may not have been.

> As a Wayne County road commissioner, back in 1909, he conceived the idea of concrete paving. Few persons realize it now, but the first stretch of the concrete ribbon was laid on Woodward Avenue in Detroit between Six and Seven Mile

It was this short strip that served as the model for the highways that not only span America, but almost every country.

Spurred on by the success of that original mile, he went right ahead with his innovations and now is credited with many other portions of the highway system that not only improved roads, but possibly saved the lives of thousands.

HERE ARE THE major items credited to him and made part of his record in the Michigan Highway Hall of Fame:

 Supervised the first mile of concrete paving in 1909. · Originated the center line, a concept that now is an integral part of any high-• Led the movement to landscape the roadsides. · Began the first highway improvement program to widen and re-surface concrete roads.

· Laid out the nation's first bicycle path, from Belle Isle to Mt. Clemens. Of all these, the introduction of the center line is rated the highest, being acclaimed as the most important single traffic safety device in history of auto transportation.

ONE OF THE unusual stories told about Hines during his induction into the Michigan Highway Hall of Fame last week, was the manner in which the center line was conceived.

As the story goes, he was driving along the Huron River Drive in western Wayne County when he noticed that someone had spilled white paint along the center of the road.

That was all his innovative mind needed

He returned to Detroit and immediately had a white line painted down the middle of a narrow bridge on Seven Mile Road. Then another idea struck him. Why not paint lines on dangerous curves to keep motorists on the right side of the road - and avoid accidents?

With this as a start, it wasn't long until Hines' idea was copied in all sections of the country and the highways became striped throughout the nation.

He served as a Wayne County road commissioner from 1908 until his death in 1938, and it was during this time that Michigan became the birthplace of concrete roads. And it was he who enabled Michigan to establish the concept of painting the lane markers that was a pattern for the entire world.

Naming the 30-mile scenic driveway for him was a nice honor - but his name now will live forever in the Michigan Highway Hall of Fame in Lansing.

That is little enough honor for a man who has done so much for mankind.

Your place in the country...

Compare! You'll see why BEDFORD VILLAS is the best condominium value anywhere in the Plymouth area!

BEDFORD VILLAS...the vacation you come home to everyday

Here, in the fresh air country of the Plymouth-Canton area, you'll find the perfect environment for a happier, more complete life. In attached Ranch and Colonial homes that look like luxurious mansions outside, yet on the inside are completely separate homes with no one above or below, complete privacy. and built-in features galore. Because of the unique design of Bedford Villas, you get more home for thousands of dollars less than similar free-standing homes! One small monthly fee covers all your exterior maintenance, so forget such chores! They're done by professionals . . . while you head for the private Bedford Villas Club for a refreshing lap around the pool, a sauna session, a quick game of billiards, or just stay home for a feet-up evening of TV. Most importantly, you can own a home in this exciting community for the same as, or little more than what you would pay in rent. However, instead of your landlord, you will watch your equity grow, take big annual tax deductions, and enjoy property value appreciation as real estate values rise. And here's proof people like everything they see at Bedford Villas. Since opening Phase I, we are already 75', sold out! Now... this weekend without fail, you owe it to yourself to check out the Grand Opening Savings at your place in the country... Bedford Villas.

NEVER BEFORE...so much home for so little: • ATTACHED GARAGE WITH DIRECT ACCESS TO YOUR HOME • EXTERIOR MAINTENANCE BY PROFES and we price it like it is. Chuck is priced like chuck ...

Most supermarkets give special names to their meats, no matter where they're cut from. These names are usually based on how the meat is sliced, boned and trimmed. We do the same. But we go the others one better. We tell you what part of the carcass the meat comes from. And we say it right on the label.

A Chatham label tells you the special or fancy name—London Broil, Family Steak, Club Steak, etc. It also tells you the name of the basic cut—sirloin, rib, chuck, round, etc. With this honesty in labeling, you always know exactly what you are buying, no matter what it is called or how it is packaged.

You always get your money's worth, too. That's because Chatham does not charge fancy prices for fancy names. No matter what the cut, we label it like it is . . .

lt's important to note that, no matter what the cut may be, each carcass of Chatham meat is selected by experts and cut by skilled specialists. So you can be sure you're getting high quality meat, cut and trimmed to cook and taste the best. As proof, we will give you double your money back if you are not satisfied with your meat pur-

Helping shoppers get the most for their money is a tradition at Chatham. And our new meat labels together with "Actuals" pricing on packaged goods and the lowest overall prices in town . . . will help you save money.
