Bennett Defense Gets Turn

By MAURIE WALKER

The trial of David L. Bennett will enter its third week Monday with the defense expected to call its first witnesses to the stand.

The prosecution closed its case in Thursday's abbreviated session, presenting its final two witnesses, Lindy Berry, brother of Michael Berry, and Dr. Walter Hofman, former Wayne County medical examiner.

Bennett, 17, is standing trial on a first-degree murder charge in the stabbing death of Mrs. Michael Berry who was found dead May 9 in the garage of their Plymouth Township home.

LINDY BERRY testified that it was he who identified Mrs. Berry's body on behalf of the family. Michael Berry is chairman of the Wayne County Road Commission.

Dr. Hofman, who is now working as a medical examiner in Philadelphia, was brought in from out of town by the prosecution and described the wounds found on the body.

He supported previous testimony given by James Hauncher, a state police laboratory specialist, who had stated:

"In my opinion, the wounds on the lower part of the body were made with no clothes in that area and I believe the victim was dead at the time the lower part of the body was stabbed."

Dr. Hofman also corroborated Hauncher's statement that the wounds on the upper part of Mrs. Berry's body bled, while wounds below the waist showed little signs of bleeding.

DURING THURSDAY'S session before Wayne County Circuit Judge George E.

Bowles, defense attorney Dan Burress made a motion for a separate trial in order to present sanity testimony. This was denied by Bowles.

In Wednesday's session, Detective Sgt. Frank Nichols, State Police fingerprint specialist, said that one fingerprint and a palm print, identified as those of Bennett, were found on the blue Rolls Royce car in the Berry garage.

Nichols said, "I am 100 per cent certain about the print comparisons."

The prints lifted by state police were matched up with Bennett's prints after he was arrested, according to Nichols.

Hauncher resumed the stand Wednesday, testifying that bloodstains were lifted from Bennett's gold sports shirt, pants, boots and T-shirt.

Assistant Prosecutor Robert H. Healy has called some 22 witnesses to the stand during six days of testimony.

IN EXPLAINING THURSDAY'S half-day session, Bowles noted that it was past noon by the time the prosecution rested his case.

He decided, in fairness to the defense, that it was best to adjourn until Monday morning, giving Burress a complete day to present his witnesses rather than bind them over the weekend. Trials are not held in the court on Fridays.

It was not revealed how many witnesses the defense will call. However, Bowles said he believed the case may go to the jury by Wednesday.

The case is being heard before a jury of eight men and six women. After all testimony has been heard, two of the 14 jurors, who are alternates, will be excused.

Although in court during the trial, Bennett remains in Wayne County Jail pending the outcome.

Trick Or Treat Caution Urged

A plea to parents to do their part to make Halloween, Oct. 31, a safe and happy event, has been made by Plymouth Police Chief Timothy Ford.

"Trick or treat hours in Plymouth are scheduled from 6 to 8 p.m.," Ford said. "Parents should have their children visit houses only in their own neighborhood and parents should accompany small children on foot."

He urged that porch lights be turned on during the 6 to 8 p.m. hours and that parked cars be kept off the streets to reduce visual obstruction.

"When it is necessary to cross streets, cross with the children at the corners, never in the middle of the block," the chief advised.

HE URGED parents not to use their cars to accompany or transport children during the trick or treat hours.

"We are asking this to reduce traffic on residential streets during these hours," he said.

"If you must drive, reduce your speed to no more than 15 miles-per-hour in residential areas and use extra caution."

Ford suggested that if lights are to be used in pumpkins as lanterns, to be certain these lights are battery powered. He said no open flame devices should be used.

"It's advisable to have children carry proper identification on their person so they can be taken home if they should get lost," he stated. "Do not allow children to use bicycles to trick or treat."

FORD ADDED that devil's night and Halloween are always good times to be en-

Allen Students Schedule Own Mock Election

Even folks concerned about involving youth in the political process would give a double-take if they visited Allen Elementary School.

Out there, they're registering 10 and 11-year-olds to vote.

It's part of the fifth grade political science class, which already has held a mock political convention to nominate candidates for office.

Tuesday, the intricacies of the electoral college system will be described for the children by Plymouth attorney John Thomas.

The week beginning Oct. 23 will be observed as Republican Week with national, state and local candidates from that party invited to speak. The week beginning Oct. 30 will be Democratic Party Week.

A student voter registration drive was conducted Oct. 17

Canton Twp. Ponders Dropping From PAPC

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON TOWNSHIP The next few weeks will be the determining point on whether Canton Township will remain a member of the Plymouth Area Planning Commission (PAPC) or whether to drop out and go it alone.

"Maybe it's time we left the nest and have a go at it alone," said Township Clerk John Flodin in the discussion over membership in the organization formed by Canton, Plymouth Township, the City of Plymouth and the Plymouth School District.

Purpose of the organization is to promote commercial and industrial development to increase the tax base in the Plymouth School District.

Reports that the City of Plymouth has lost interest in the organization because it lacks space for such development and Plymouth Township's seemingly apathetic attitude were brought out in a discussion initiated by Trustees Don Korte, Canton's representative to the commission.

Supervisor Philip Dingeldey pointed out that most of Canton's prime industrial land is south of Michigan and out of the Plymouth School District.

"Maybe Canton could gain a lot more by going it alone," he said.

THE TOWNSHIP has grown so that there must be concern "for the total township," commented Glen Roberts, of the firm of Wade, Trim and Associates, engineers for the township.

Dingeldey suggested that perhaps the township's recently organized Chamber of Commerce could take over the task of recruiting new business and industry.

Korte disagreed, adding he felt the chamber wasn't able to tackle the job without professional help like that given by John Wright, former PAPC coordinator, who recently resigned.

"Then again," said Dingeldey, "I'd hate for us to be the first ones to pull out after they've been carrying us all these years."

Dingeldey was referring to the $2,500 membership fee Canton paid while the other participants were assessed $5,000. The figures were based on state equalized land values.

Korte said the township has two weeks to make up its mind before the next PAPC meeting on Oct. 26.

"We'll do some thinking," said Dingeldey.

DRUM MAJOR MARK STEPHENS, the high school band, accompanying pom-pom girls and imaginative student-created floats all added to the flavor of Thursday's homecoming parade, setting the stage for Friday's grid battle and announcement of the 1972 queen. (Observer photos by Bob Woodring)

Letters To The Editor

Pom-Pon Unit Gets A Boost

EDITOR:

On Sept. 30, I had the thrill of attending the annual Band Day at the University of Michigan football game. As I am sure you know, the post-game show featured the four finest high school bands out of the 140 bands which were present for the half-time show. Our own Plymouth High School Band was the last to perform (saving the best for last, so to speak!) However, I was very disappointed in the performance which the band gave.

Their ability as musicians remains undisputed - they were undoubtedly the finest, musically speaking. The band performed beautifully, but had very little to work with in the way of a routine.

The other three bands in the post-game show performed clever and interesting shows with music very well suited to the occasion. The band which impressed me the most was the Traverse City band. Their performance was snappy, and interesting, using their flag carriers and pom-pon girls - all for the needed flair and pageantry of a marching band. Plymouth didn't use the pom-pon girls (except to hold their props - dancing ping pong balls!).

I understand that the band isn't even taking the girls to Pasadena. Why? This is the biggest event of the year of this type in the nation and Plymouth has been honored with an invitation. It seems to me that every effort should be made to add the extra polish and finesse which the occasion warrants. I'm sure the girls can raise their share of the money and are just as willing to work just as hard to do so.

I understand there are some conflicts between them and the band. Settle them, by all means - don't let them cut off their noses to spite their faces! The girls take nothing away from the band - it's the band that earned the right to go to the Rose Bowl - no one disputes that fact. But the girls certainly do add to the performance (you should have heard the comments of the audience about the bright smiles and enthusiasm displayed by the Traverse City pom-pon girls).

Plymouth has a fantastic band, but they are a marching band out on that field - not a concert band. The emphasis is not on music alone. Use the pom-pon girls and give the band a routine to perform that will make the audience stand up and applaud - show us they're the best.

Don't let us, as Plymouth supporters, boast about our band and then disappoint us with a lacking performance. Not at the high school football games, not at the local parades, certainly not at the University of Michigan Band Day and by no means at the Rose Bowl Parade! Let's dress them up a bit, give them good material to perform and let them show the rest of the state and, in January, the rest of the nation that they can put on a show unequalled by others in their class.

Band Praised By Cavender

EDITOR:

On behalf of the University of Michigan, the athletic department, the School of Music, the Michigan bands and myself I would like to thank Jim Griffith and the members of the Plymouth High School Band for a most outstanding performance in the Michigan Stadium Saturday, Sept. 30.

The Plymouth show was clever, imaginative and well conceived. Mr. Griffith and the members of the band executed it in a most competent and professional manner. I enjoyed the marching and the playing of the band very much and I want to compliment all of them on the superb execution.

I know what a tremendous amount of extra work it is to prepare for such a show and I want them to know that we deeply appreciate all the time, effort and expense that they went to in this regard.

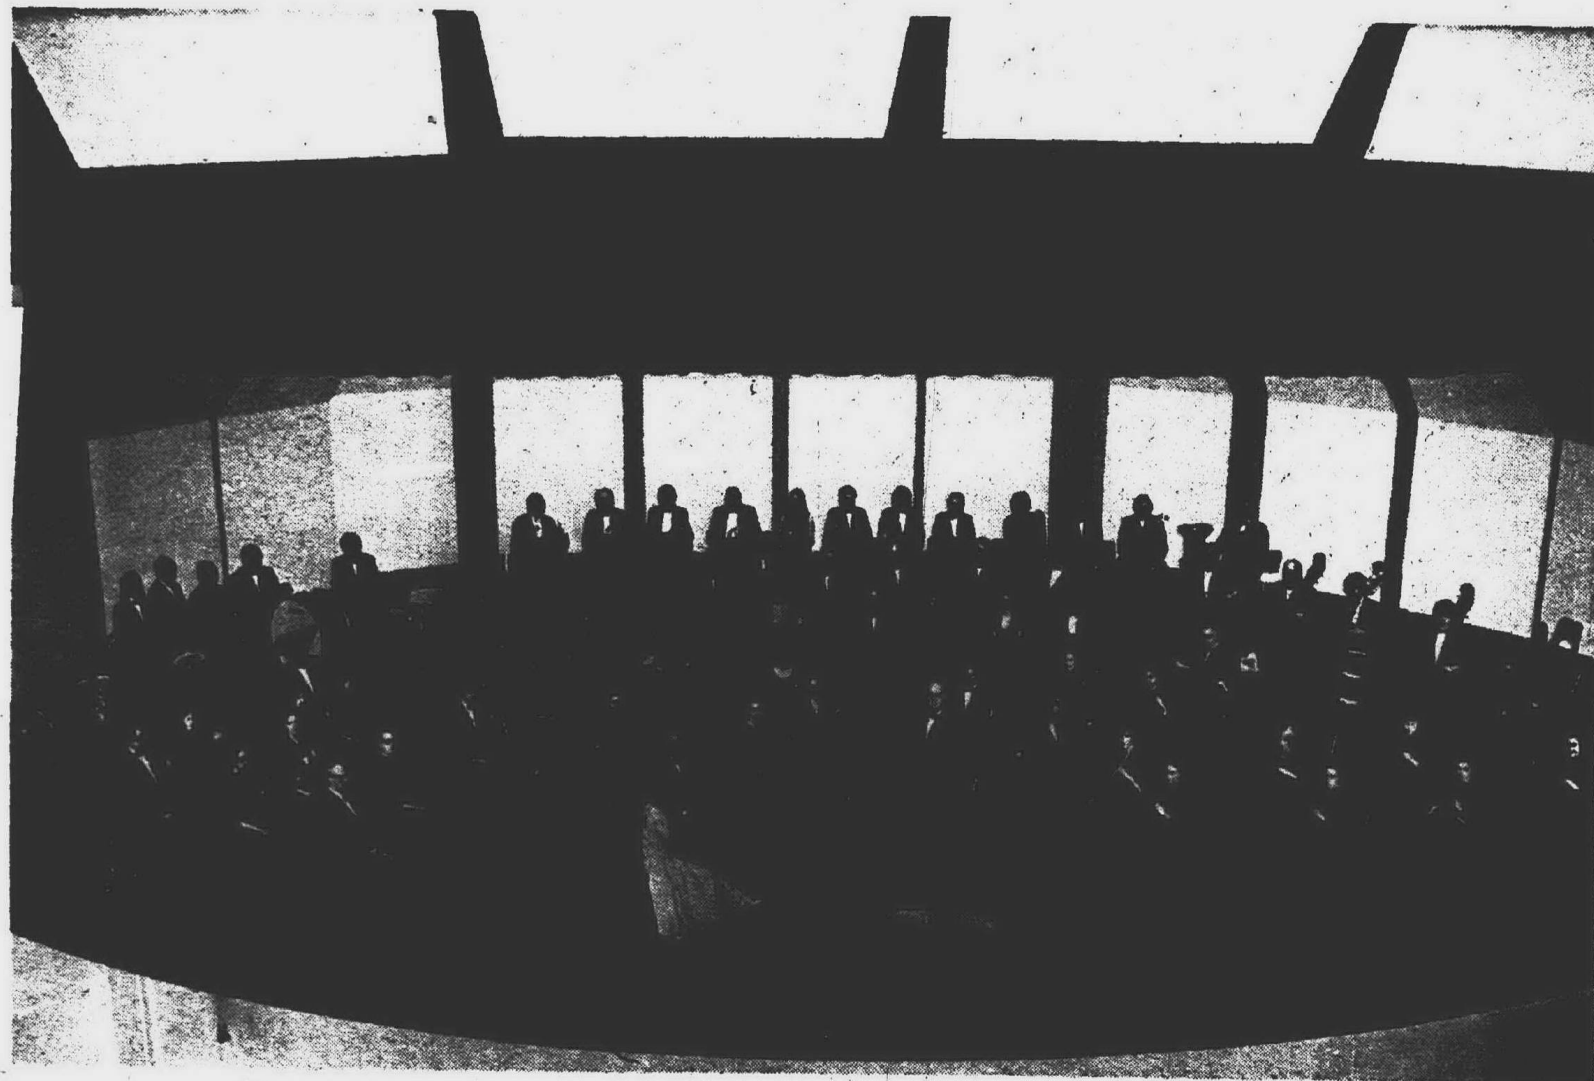

Please extend my deepest congratulations to each and every member of this superb band for their great performance and may I wish them well for the remainder of the marching season and in their trip to the west coast.

UNICEF Drive Dates Are Set

PLYMOUTH area young people will go door-to-door the evenings of Oct. 25 and 26 seeking donations to help needy youngsters of other lands.

The occasion is Plymouth's annual United Nations Children's Fund Drive, the time to "trick or treat for UNICEF."

The young people's efforts, sponsored annually by the Plymouth Community Council of Churches, will raise funds for vitamins, vaccines, antibiotics, food and school supplies for needy children in more than 120 developing countries.

Various church youth groups, scout groups and young people's organizations such as the YMCA are among those planning to participate.

The young people will be out in small, supervised groups and will be easily identifiable by distinctive orange nametags as well as their official black-and-orange collection cartons.

INDIVIDUAL children or organizations who would like to join in the collection should contact Mrs. John Culotta, 1711 Nantucket, Plymouth, who is local drive coordinator.

Because of the recent large scale development of Canton and Plymouth townships, a large number of individuals still are needed to cover these subdivision areas:

Woodlore, Cambridge Village, Arbor Village, Burger Estates, Green Meadows, Palmers Acres, Plymouth Hills, Parklane, Plymouth Estates, Marmion Hills, Rocker Estates, Riverside Drive, Tomlinson Estates, Twin Arbors, Salem Square, Bradbury, Plymouth Village, Canterbury Woods, Olde Plymouth, Plymouth Mills and Windsor Park.

Nat Sibbold Heads NBC Radio Group

PLYMOUTH Nat A. Sibbold, station manager of WWJ-AM and WWJ-FM, has been elected chairman of the National Broadcasting Co. radio network affiliates executive committee.

Sibbold, widely known in Plymouth and a former secretary of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, lives at 1149 Ross.

He and his wife, Jean, have three college age children: David who attends the University of Michigan law school; Kathy, a recent graduate of Ferris State College; and Linda, a freshman at Western Michigan University.

At the same meeting in Bermuda, Sibbold was reelected to another three-year term on the NBC full executive committee.

As chairman of the executive committee, Sibbold represents the 234 NBC radio network affiliates throughout the country and coordinates consultations with NBC on programming and commercial policies affecting affiliate stations.

Sibbold became a member of the executive committee in 1969 and was elected chairman in 1970. He was reelected in 1971.

He joined the WWJ stations in 1956 and was named station manager in January 1969. Prior to that, he was sales manager for eight years, following service as a WWJ-TV account executive.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT Plymouth, Michigan

BOARD OF EDUCATION MINUTES

A regular meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, was held on Monday evening, September 11, 1972, in the Auditorium of Plymouth-Canton High School, 8415 Canton Center Road, Plymouth, Michigan, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

The meeting was called to order by President Lawton.

Present: Members Benson, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Member Berry arrived at 8:10 p.m.

Absent: None.

Administrators present: Supt. Hoben, Deputy Supt. Hogan, Assistant Supt. Blunk and Gibson, Adm. Assistant-Personnel Kee, Supervisor Purchasing and Cafeteria Operations Sirbaugh, Assistant Director Continuing Education and Recreation Masteller, Directors Gaertner and Page and Principals Brown, Buikema, Dodson, Gorguize and Smith.

Others present: John Thomas, School Attorney, Dolly Carter, Bill Heath, Ray Homer and John Ryder, PEA, Kathy Moran, Plymouth Mail and Observer, James Doyle, Patrick Dugan, Stephanie Flora, Roberta Gladden, Chester Hill, Elaine Kirschgatter, Shirley Mack, Mark McKelvey, Paul Muller, Esther Newland, Howard Oldford, Charlotte Petro, Philip Radant, James Rossman, Bruce Scott, Phyllis Sullivan, James Symonds, Flossie Tonda and about 150 teachers and citizens.

Additions to the agenda were called.

It was moved by Member Ohno and seconded by Member Mirto to approve the minutes of the special meeting held August 29 and September 6, 1972, with the following correction on the minutes of August 29:

Page 7, paragraph 1. Change name of accounting firm to "Sutherland and Yoe."

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Suggestions from citizens were called. Mr. Bruce Scott spoke to the problem of students who must walk from one to one-and-one-half miles along main roads in the vicinity of Geer School; when they have reached the junior high school level, President Lawton replied that steps would be taken and hopefully this situation would be corrected.

Mr. Howard Oldford, representing the Plymouth Community Athletic Association, distributed brochures containing budgets and program for the coming year for this organization and spoke to the problem of a budget cut by the Board of Education in the allotment made to the Association. He felt this program is an educational asset in the area and that some monies have already been expended which cannot be recovered after they have been committed. He spoke to the growth and expansion of the football program, adding 100 more members. President Lawton stated that $6,400 remains in the budget, that the Board had asked for a 30% cut in the Continuing Education Division budget and the Board is doing all it can to distribute budget cuts equitably.

It was announced by Supt. Hoben that an oral report from the Judd Committee would be requested for the next meeting of the Board on September 26.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Benson to adopt a letter directed to legal counsel for Mr. James Rossman which would clarify his role in the matter of real estate transactions by the Notebaert Real Estate firm and in other matters which would state that the Board would expect no action to be taken by him which would represent a conflict - any action by him would always be in the best interest of the school district.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Member Mirto expressed the opinion that this motion had been adopted to regulate the relationship as a Board to insure the Board's right and to protect the interests of Mr. Rossman as well.

Mr. Masteller explained the method by which the Department of Continuing Education had proposed budget cuts as requested by the Board. It would eliminate a night recreation supervisor, reduce swimming expenses, eliminate elementary after-school programs, eliminate junior and senior high inter-mural games and summer baseball, reduce grant to PCJAA, and reduce office supplies and miscellaneous budget. Mr. Lawton expressed the general feeling that recreation programs should be reduced before classroom programs.

It was moved by Member Ohno and seconded by Member Berry that the matter of reduction in recreation budget be tabled and reviewed again by Mr. Woodweaver and Mrs. Masteller, and more budget meetings held to refine the reductions for general budget purposes.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Administrators reported as follows on status of building projects:

Mr. Blunk - Miller School: Installation underway on bus turnaround, black-top and hydrant; problems in cafeteria alleviated and fine educational program under way with 442 students as of September 11, 1972.

Mr. Gibson - Library Additions: Farrand School slower than anticipated, problem of closing off construction area solved by school employees. Gallimore School expects a six to eight week delay; metal decking being installed.

Dr. Hogan - Canton High School: Phase 1, 98% complete with September 15, 1972 completion date, problems still apparent in Resource Centers; Phase II should be complete by September 15, 1972, with equipment still to be placed in the building, operation anticipated by October 15 and child care center ready for second semester.

Dr. Hogan - Central School: Several final decisions to be made to best utilize $250,000 budgeted for changes and remodeling. Target date of January, 1973.

Mr. Sirbaugh - Board of Education Building (454 S. Harvey Street): Nearly complete, 95% by September 13, expect to be fully moved by September 18.

Dr. Hogan reported on the status of the Haven Hill Conference to be held with Board members and administration beginning at 4:30 p.m. on Friday, Sept. 29 and ending after lunch on Sunday, October 1. Items to be discussed include job descriptions and decisions on where the District is going. Input is expected from students, parents, PEA members and classified employee groups on Saturday evening, September 30.

Mr. Hoben gave a report on the opening day of school, that there were 10,850 students counted and generally school opened quite successfully. It was moved by Member Graves and seconded by Member Ohno to approve payment of the following bills:

Operating Fund:	Prepd. Vouchers No. 19176 to 19186, incl. 19223
	19370 to 19374 incl.	$240,327.12
	Unpd. Vouchers No. 19187 to 19222 incl.
	19224 to 19369 incl.	71,438.10
Bldg. & Site Fund No. 1:	Prepd. Voucher No. 768	3,125.00
	Unpd. Vouchers No. 769 to 773 incl.	48,612.74
Bldg. & Site Fund No. 2:	Unpd. Vouchers No. 175	372.76
Bldg. & Site Fund No. 3:	Prepd. Voucher No. 694	959.68
	Unpd. Vouchers No. 695 to 715	166,883.38

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

An Investment Report was reviewed by Mr. Blunk, which indicated balances in Building and Site Funds No. 1, 2, and 3, the Debt Retirement Funds and the Activity Fund, and showing a balance in the Operating Fund of $2,300,000.00. Mr. Blunk emphasized that only the balance in the Operating Fund is available for direct operation of schools.

Publish: Oct. 14, 1972

It was moved by Member Graves and seconded by Member Ohno to follow the recommendation of Administration and request parents to rent musical instruments.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Member Penar inquired as to the balance in the Site Acquisition Fund and Mr. Blunk was asked to report the amount to him as soon as it is available.

Mr. Blunk reported that four school tax refund checks had been received, one in the City of Plymouth and three in Canton Township, resulting from tax appeal cases. Preliminary reports have also been received on 26 more parcels, but no word has been received on refunds to either Ford Motor Company or Burroughs Corporation.

Mr. Blunk also presented facsimile signature forms for signature by the Board Secretary.

Earl Gibson, Assistant Supt. - Instruction, reviewed informational reports on Vision Screening, Hearing Screening, Topical Fluoride program and the School Farm and on the Administration's system-wide assignments. He also presented a membership report by school, as of that date, indicating 50 students over projection. He also reported that Gallimore School was somewhat overcrowded.

A report on the Instrumental Music Program was received, indicating that only 60-75 instruments were available for sixth grade students and that band students were many in excess of this number. It was recommended that parents be asked to rent instruments, requesting their support to rent them voluntarily.

It was moved by Member Ohno and seconded by Member Graves to accept the recommendation of Administration and request parents to rent musical instruments.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Graves and seconded by Member Mirto to approve contracts for the 1972-73 school year for the following persons, bringing the number under the bargaining unit to 478:

Robert Beckerle, 5th Grade, East

Karen Belko, Elementary, Gallimore

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Graves to approve the Secretarial Employees' contract, incorporating a 5% increase including increments and an adjustment in approved absence days.

Ayes: Members Benson, Berry, Graves, Lawton, Mirto, Ohno and Penar.

Nays: None.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Gibson reported that a Committee of five had interviewed four people qualified within the School District to fill the position of Elementary Counselor and that Philip Radant, a 5th grade teacher at Starkweather School, had been given the position, which is a transfer and not a promotion. He also reported that selection had been made and that a decision was available and a decision was very difficult to make.

A Tenure Hearing Date was announced for Wednesday, September 20, 1972, at 8:00 p.m. in the Board of Education offices.

Mr. Gibson reported that there are still four candidates to interview for an opening for Supervisor of Maintenance and Custodial Operations and an announcement would be forthcoming. Member Mirto asked for copies of

Fire Number Is Unchanged

Misinformation on the City of Plymouth's emergency fire number which was included in a recent mailing of advertising material by a Livonia automobile dealership will be corrected in a new mailing to local residents.

This statement came Thursday from Don Peterson, general manager of the Lloyd Heussner Oldsmobile agency.

Promotional material sent out by the dealership included a sticker for attaching to telephones, giving instant access to emergency numbers. The number given for the city fire department was erroneous. It was, is now, and will continue to be 453-1313, any other information to the contrary.

C. of C. Awaits New President

PLYMOUTH Reservations still are being taken at the office of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce for the organization's 51st annual banquet which will be held Thursday night in the Mayflower Meeting House.

One of the features of the program will be introduction of the 1973 directors and officers, including a successor to Atty. John Thomas as Chamber president.

Thomas has disclosed that the press of his own personal and business affairs prevents his accepting a second term.

He is the author of two books, "Heaven Speaks American," a satire of vigilantes of the '30s, and "Second Consul," which was devoted to the vice presidency.

He retired from his EMU post as professor of political science in 1968 after being awarded a citation by the Student Senate as "faculty member of the year."

Majestic Farm Horse Show To Go 2 Days

PLYMOUTH Local riding enthusiasts will have an opportunity to see dressage riding and stadium jumping in the same show Sunday, Oct. 15, at Majestic Farm, 1300 W. Joy Rd.

A day earlier, the farm will hold its fourth annual fall schooling show, restricted to Majestic students in equitation, dressage, stadium jumping and hunter jumping classes.

The open dressage-jumper show will attract riders from throughout southeastern Michigan, with dressage in the regulation dressage ring and jumping in the schooling ring from 9:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The non-recognized show will not affect a rider's novice status nor a horse's green year. Six ribbons will be awarded in all events. Time permitting, entries will be accepted until 9:30 a.m. on the day of the show without penalty.

joyed by young and old and said the objectives of the police department are to keep the activities within reasonable limits.

"There is a significant difference between pranks and those activities which result in destruction or theft of property," he emphasized.

"When property is destroyed or stolen, a crime has been committed and the police must take appropriate enforcement action," Ford warned.

"We are certain, however, that the ghosts and goblins will avoid extending their activities to the point where it will be necessary for a police officer to intervene," he stated.

A NEW PLAYYARD FENCE for the Plymouth drop-in center for mothers and pre-schoolers is ready in time for the center's open house from 10 to 11 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 18. The play center is located at the Salvation Army building on Fair Street. Plymouth Jaycees, among them Carl Glass, center, and Gordon Sutton, erected the fence last Saturday. Salvation Army Fills Needs Of Many Here

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles appearing in the Mail & Observer on the agencies which receive financial allocations from the Plymouth Community Fund. The PCF campaign now under way will continue through Nov. 16 and seeks to raise a record $182,000.)

The woman in the Plymouth Salvation Army office was feverish and desperate.

She told Corps. Capt. Warren Yoder that her husband had come home several days earlier and had taken all their belongings. She had no job, no income and no place to go.

"Although the Army in Plymouth has no facilities for other than overnight lodging, there is an emergency lodge in Detroit for women or women with children," Yoder relates. "We made arrangements and drove her there."

"She received three weeks care, including a hospital examination, medicine, clothing and counseling. At last report she was back in the area working and maintaining herself without difficulty."

Less than one third of the individuals or families the Salvation Army helps each year are long term clients or repeaters. Most need temporary help simply because of an unexpected illness or the time lag in collecting workmen's compensation or other insurances following an illness or accident, Yoder says.

SINCE IT was opened in Plymouth in 1929, the Salvation Army has been active in three main areas here: non-denominational religious activities; welfare services, including emergency food or fuel orders, clothing, overnight lodging, furnishings, transportation and counseling, and community service.

Few people are probably unfamiliar with the Army's religious programs or its work with low-income families. The traditional Christmas basket has been expanded in recent years to a food order and is accompanied by orders for toy and clothing purchases for the entire family.

Community services are likely the least known of the Salvation Army's projects, even though they benefit the general public at large.

Last year for example, the Army's mini-bus rushed to the Lofy fire with rolls and hot coffee for the local firemen. In May, the Township fire department presented Yoder with a civilian citation for his organization's support in such emergencies.

Many Plymouthites make use of the agency's large camp near Leonard, Mich. It schedules several sessions each summer, for youngsters, senior citizens, musicians, families and the handicapped. There is little or no cost to the individuals involved.

THE DISCARD pick-up service, an outlet for the disposal of unwanted clothing, furniture, appliances and other goods, not only benefits those who eventually receive the donations but provides jobs for the persons who work on the trucks and in redistribution stores.

Capuchins Lead Renewal Mission

Two Capuchin fathers will conduct a two-week Christian renewal mission beginning Sunday, Oct. 22, in St. Agatha Catholic Church, 19650 Beech Daly, Redford Township.

The mission, to be headed by Fathers Ambrose DeGroot and Caspar Stollenwerk from St. Bonaventure Monastery in Detroit, is aimed at helping those who participate to become better Christians and strengthen their Christian commitment.

"THIS PROGRAM will have something of merit for everyone in the area willing to take the time to attend," said the Rev. John T. Reid, pastor of St. Agatha.

"It is probably needed more by the people who think they are pretty good Christians already than by the people who recognize their shortcomings and know they have work to do to overcome them."

Father DeGroot said he and his fellow Capuchin hoped to help people understand that their Christianity is not a separate part of their lives to take off the shelf and dust off on Sundays or for funerals or weddings.

"A person has to be made aware of his commitment as a Christian and what it entails in every phase of his life," the priest added.

"His actions and reactions toward his family, his employers, his neighbors and his friends as well as toward strangers must be Christian actions and reactions — or his Christianity is false and hollow."

HE POINTED OUT that people who joined the renewal mission would not reach Christian perfection when the two weeks is over.

"But, hopefully, those who come will know who they are, where they are, where they want to go and how to get there with God's help," he added.

HANDMADE RUFFLED aprons such as the one worn by Mrs. Jan Abrams (left) will be sold at a "Country Store" in Newburg United Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia. The store will be open from 4 to 8:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 21. Pumpkins and the pot-bellied stove beside Mrs. Dorothy Dean will help decorate the store. Its inventory will include paper tole, decorated soaps, homemade baked goods, jams and jellies. A turkey dinner will be served at 5 and 6:30 p.m. Dinner tickets must be reserved by Monday, Oct. 16, by calling Mrs. Richard B. Braun, 40546 Pinetree, Plymouth. They are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12.

Renewal Mission Set By Church Of Savior

A 24-hour prayer vigil will be part of a Lay Witness Mission coming to the Church of the Savior, 38100 Five Mile, Livonia, from Friday to Sunday, Oct. 20 to 22.

The mission is a weekend of renewal, to be led by a group of 16 trained laymen from other churches and communities. They are coming to this area to tell what Christ means to them.

MARVIN E. Muilenberg of Grand Rapids heads the renewal team, and members participating come from Cleveland, Portage, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Rockwood, Holland, Westland and Warren.

Donald Musink, also of Grand Rapids, is helping Muilenberg coordinate the project. The local chairman is William Hooth, and Larry Martin in his assistant.

The Good Shepherd Reformed Church in Westland will provide a Saturday luncheon as part of the mission.

THE PRAYER VIGIL will be conducted by members of Church of the Savior beginning Thursday evening. Those participating will pray for success of the mission.

Emphasis during the mission will be placed on small group meetings. Special activities for youth will include a football game and a Saturday "coke-in."

THE REV. JOHN ASHLEY WOODHOUSE of St. Petersburg Fla., will conduct a New Life Conference in Judson Baptist Church, 28301 Middle Belt, Farmington, in 7:30 p.m. services Monday, Oct. 16 to Sunday, Oct. 22. He has for over 30 years conducted a ministry of music, sermon and song.

Ard Hoven To Conduct Services

Ard Hoven, who has been minister of "The Christians' Hour" broadcast since its inception in 1943, will speak at Kenwood Church of Christ, 20200 Merriman, Livonia.

Hoven will conduct revival services Oct. 16-22. Meetings will be held at 7:30 each evening Monday through Saturday, and on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Music will be provided by the Caroleers' Trio, the Singin' Saints youth choir, the King's Keys adult choir, Lee and Lois Baltzer and others. There will be a nursery school.

Medical Missionary To Speak

Dr. Jerold Paul Veldman, a medical missionary who has recently returned from India, will speak at both services in First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, on Sunday, Oct. 15. Services begin at 9:30 and 11:05 a.m.

Following these, Dr. and Mrs. Veldman will be honored at a luncheon in Fellowship Hall of the church. Dr. Veldman will show slides and answer questions. All persons wishing to attend the luncheon are asked to call the church office for reservations.

Dr. Veldman and his wife, Lois, went to India in 1966 to serve at the Miraj Medical Center, Miraj, Maharashtra.

Ward Church Will Hold Retreat Oct. 21

Members and friends of Livonia's Ward United Presbyterian Church will have a fall retreat, "A Day With God," Saturday, Oct. 21, at VCY Pine Hills Camp.

Speakers will be the Rev. James Smith and the Rev. and Mrs. Sam Rowen.

WORKING WITH junior and senior high school young people, Rev. Smith will lead discussions on "Sexual Revolution and the Christian," "The Great Parent Hassle" and "The Crowd Hasslers and You."

Rev. and Mrs. Rowen will lead adults in discussions on "How to Understand Yourself," "Setting Priorities," "The Christian and His Values," "Do I Really Have to Do That?" and "What About Tomorrow."

The program will begin at 9 a.m. with coffee and doughnuts. Lunch and dinner will be served.

REV. ROWEN is coordinator of program development at Missionary Internship, Farmington. He is responsible for developing educational procedures and materials for training missionaries.

A graduate of Philadelphia College of Bible, Wheaton College and Westminster Theology Seminary, he took graduate work in German and studied archaeology in Palestine. He is presently engaged in doctoral studies at Michigan State University.

Mrs. Rowen is a graduate of Philadelphia College of Bible and with her husband took post-graduate work in archaeology in Palestine. She is a Sunday school teacher and a Girl Scout troop leader and is the mother of three children.

Women Plan Yule Store

The Altar Society of St. Edith Catholic Church, 15089 Newburgh, Livonia, will sponsor a Christmas store in room 101 of St. Edith school from Wednesday, Oct. 18, to Sunday, Oct. 22.

The hours will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Wednesday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

The store will feature Christmas and all-occasion cards, with home printing available, wrapping, stationery, candles and gifts, many of them hand-crafted.

Grand River Baptist Hosts Drama Group

The Covenant Players will be at Grand River Baptist Church, 34500 Six Mile, Livonia, at 7 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 15. The players are members of the National Repertory Group, Encino, Calif.

The group offers "Christian dynamics," because its members "see Christianity as a dynamic force demanding the very best that is in us at all times." "Its work is described as motivational drama designed to relate Christianity to the modern world we live in."

The group is under the direction of Charles M. Tanner, a member of the Screen Producers Guild in Hollywood.

7 Campers Get Awards

Seven youngsters will receive camper of the week awards at a ceremony in South Redford Church of Christ, 26505 W. Chicago, on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

The ceremony, beginning at 7:30 p.m., will be part of the monthly meeting of the Southern Michigan Christian Fellowship. The campers attended the Wolverine Christian Service Camp at Jackson this summer.

The winners are Jeff Baltzer of Kenwood Church of Christ, Livonia, and Susan Whiting of South Redford Church of Christ, for junior week; Susie Woodcox of Kenwood and Connie Dziubek and Albert Patrish of South Redford, for junior high week; and Donna Pownall of Kenwood and Randy Kitchen of South Redford, for senior high week.

Each will receive a Wolverine camp jacket with "camper of the week" and his or her name imprinted on it.

Junior week winners were selected by the dean of girls and the dean of boys. Junior high and senior high winners were chosen by the camp staff.

Baptist Women Schedule Fair

Women of First Baptist Church of Detroit, Eight Mile and Southfield, Southfield, will sponsor their second annual fall festival Oct. 19 to 21.

An old fashioned country store will feature attic treasures, homemade baked goods and preserves, hand-crafted articles and terrariums and plants. Hours for the fair are 1 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 19, 12 noon to 9 p.m. Friday, Oct. 20, and 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 21.

Presbyterians Reorganize

OBSERVERLAND PRESBYTERIAN LEADERS took part in the denomination's reorganization into a three-state Synod of the Covenant in the Mercy Center in Farmington Thursday and Friday. Seated, from left, are the Rev. Hugh Stewart of St. Stephen Presbyterian Church, West Bloomfield; the Rev. Arthur Beumler, Rosedale Gardens, Livonia; the Rev. William Whitledge, St. Paul, Livonia; the Rev. George Ramsey, First Presbyterian of Farmington; Dr. Bartlett Hess, Ward United Presbyterian, Livonia. Standing are the Rev. Ralph C. Stribe, left, of Church of Our Savior, West Bloomfield, chairman of the organizing commission, and the Rev. Richard W. Bauer of Livonia, associate executive of the Synod of Michigan. (Evert photo)

Presbyterians in Observerland, along with others in Michigan, Ohio and Kentucky, now are part of the newly organized Synod of the Covenant.

The change from the state synod system was effected Thursday and Friday in a history-making meeting of 300 church leaders from the three states. The meet took place in Mercy Center, Farmington.

The new organization, part of a nationwide restructuring of the denomination, involves some 425,000 Presbyterians, about a seventh of those in the nation.

HEADING the 20-member commission that has worked for 18 months to prepare and develop the new synod was the Rev. Ralph Stribe, pastor of the Church of Our Savior, Maple and Middle Belt in West Bloomfield.

The Rev. Paul Sutton of the First United Church of Southfield also served on the commission.

Several clergymen in the Observer area have been named to delegate posts in the new organization.

THE SYNOD of the Covenant contains 1,091 congregations.

Of these, 111 are in the Presbytery of Detroit, which now includes an area stretching as far as Port Huron and Ann Arbor. Until the reorganization, only metropolitan Detroit was included in the Detroit Presbytery.

The Rev. John E. Quick, pastor of St. John Presbyterian Church at 1961 E. Lafayette, Detroit, was named moderator of the expanded synod.

Dr. Robert H. Yoltan, who headed the Michigan Synod for seven years, will be interim executive presbyter until he retires Jan. 1.

After that date, a chief administrative officer for Synod of the Covenant will be elected.

THE OFFICES of the Synod of Michigan have been located in Detroit, at 10600 Puritan. The Covenant Synod plans to locate its executive offices in Columbus, Ohio.

The Synod of Michigan was formed in 1834. Presbyterian work in Michigan was founded by the Rev. John Monteth, who later served as the first president of the University of Michigan.

Ex-Addicts To Speak

First-hand information on the drug abuse problem will be featured at a meeting at 6:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 22, in Main Street Baptist Church, 9451 Main Street, Plymouth. Title of the program is "Drugs and Your Children."

People who have "been there and back" and call themselves the "Skid Row Saints" will present a program under the direction of the Rev. Lynn H. Bowman of the Detroit City Rescue Mission. "The Saints," who have found the answer to their drug problem through knowledge of Christ, will answer questions.

The program will include display of a drug kit which shows the classifications, effects and dangers of various drugs. A 30-minute film on drug abuse will be shown.

The Detroit mission has worked with alcoholics, drug addicts and people "down on their luck" for 63 years. The mission is located at 3535 Third Avenue in a facility built 10 years ago. Representatives visit suburban churches on request to bring a program on the mission and its activities, on drug abuse or on evangelism.

Interested persons may contact the mission by writing Box 2087, Detroit, 48231.

Cross Is Theme Of Mission Meet

"The Cross Across Cultures" is the theme of a week-long mission conference beginning Oct. 15 in Trinity Baptist Church, 14800 Middle Belt, Livonia.

Missionaries who have served in Japan and Europe will be speakers for the services on successive Sundays, Oct. 15 and 22. In between will be evening meetings in which small groups will discuss the mission field and its work.

The Rev. George E. Ledden Jr., Livonia resident who served 10 years in Japan and now heads the Far Eastern Gospel Crusade in this country, will speak at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

THE CONFERENCE meetings at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday will be held in Trinity Baptist Church's Detroit sanctuary, located at 15360 Indiana.

On Tuesday and Thursday, the sessions will be held in the Livonia sanctuary at the same hour.

A taco feast for youth is scheduled at 6 p.m. Saturday in Livonia as part of the conference. Young people attending are asked to bring their own soft drinks and the meal charge will be 75 cents.

THE REV. ENOS ZIMMERMAN, area representative of the Greater European Missionary Conference, will be speaker for morning services Oct. 22.

A "Missionary Christmas" gathering at 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 22, will conclude the conference.

The Rev. Wilfred Bellamy, director of the Missionary Internship with headquarters in Farmington, will be speaker, and the congregation will make financial gifts to be sent to various Baptist missionaries.

'New Morality' Is Topic Of Lectures

"The New Morality" is the theme for a Monday evening lecture series by Rabbi Sherwin Wine of Birmingham Temple, 28611-12 Mile, Farmington.

The 8:30 p.m. talks began Oct. 9 and will continue Oct. 16, 23 and 30 and Nov. 6.

The first lecture covered historical look at moral standards. The four topics still to be explored are "The New Morality of Happiness," "The New Morality of Sex," "The New Morality of Work and Patriotism," and "The Future."

The cost for the series is $5 for Birmingham Temple members and $10 for non-members. The temple is located between Inkster and Middle Belt.

Charity Cards On Display

The First Presbyterian Church of Farmington is sponsoring a display of Christmas cards from 25 charitable organizations during October.

The cards are on display in the foyer and the church is open every Sunday and on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Order blanks also are available, and the organizations with cards on display all have promised delivery in plenty of time for Christmas if the orders are placed this month.

The church is located at Farmington Road and 11 Mile.

Paper Drive

The Youth Group of St. Paul's Lutheran Church is holding a newspaper drive Oct. 20-22. A truck will be on the church parking lot, 20805 Middle Belt, Farmington, from late Friday afternoon through Sunday evening.

Arrangements may be made for pickup service for large loads by calling the church.

Redford Baptist Plans Seminar

Dr. Glenn A. Chaffee, director of the Metropolitan Guidance Center, will conduct an eight-week seminar on Christian Marriage and the Family, beginning Oct. 17, in the Redford Baptist Church, Grand River at Seven Mile, Redford Township.

The sessions, at 7:30 p.m. each Tuesday, will continue through Dec. 5.

The seminar costs $25 per person or $40 for a couple, and registrations are being accepted by the church office, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A fee of $10 a person must be paid at the time of registration, with the balance due by Oct. 31.

Dr. Chaffee will look at marriage and the family in American society as seen from the religious perspective.

He will give attention to the origin and function of the family, love, building a lasting relationship, children and their needs, family communication problems and solutions, overcoming stress situations in marriage and in the family and the development of the happy family.

"The class is designed to serve those who would like to enrich their marriage as well as those with marital and family problems."

County Board Angry At Judges' Jail Blast

Members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners are "angered and dismayed" by three Circuit Court judges who have criticized the board's plan to finance construction of a new jail.

The commissioners anticipate financing the jail through a millage proposal that voters will consider on the general election ballot Nov. 7. In an 11-page opinion handed down by the three judges - Victor Baum, John O'Hair and Richard Maher - they disputed the board's decision to place the issue on the ballot.

The judges argued that the commissioners voted to build a $126 million downtown sports stadium without voter approval, but are asking voter consent for the jail bond issue. They imply that the commissioners favor a new stadium over problems of the jail.

AN ANGRY chairman of the Board of Commissioners, Robert E. FitzPatrick, called the suggestion false and undeserving, and accused the panel of judges of having no knowledge of county problems.

"When the Board of Commissioners agreed to support the stadium, the plans called for financing by revenue bonds, at no risk to the county," said FitzPatrick.

"Given our fiscal condition at the time, we would have never supported $126 million worth of construction if we thought that the county was liable," he said.

He also pointed out that the State Supreme Court has since declared the stadium bond arrangement unconstitutional.

"Their decision is affecting all similar bond arrangements," he said, "and we are simply trying to abide by the implications."

"We want to finance the jail the same way that the Supreme Court requires financing of the stadium - by voter involvement."

ANOTHER COMMISSIONER charged that the board is being made the "whipping boy" for laxity at the jail, and urged that a special committee be established to probe the jail administration be established.

Commissioner Albert J. Zak proposed that three commissioners be appointed to determine "how and why contraband is smuggled into the jail and to recommend remedies."

Contraband, Zak maintained, is the major cause of problems at the jail. His proposal was referred to the board's public safety and judiciary committee. "It is no fault of this board that crimes are being committed at the jail."

'Cause' Hosts Esch, Stempien

Common Cause of Michigan's 2nd Congressional District and the University of Michigan's Institute of Public Policy Studies are sponsoring a public meeting with congressional candidates Marvin L. Esch and Marvin Stempien in the Rackham Amphitheater, Ann Arbor, on Friday, Oct. 20th, at 8 p.m.

As part of a nation-wide program of Common Cause, the candidates will be asked to take stands on such vital congressional issues as the seniority system, open committee sessions, public campaign financing, lobbying disclosures, conflicts of interest, congressional reform, and other non-partisan issues raised by the audience. Each candidate will be given an opportunity to make concluding statements.

State Hospital Promotes Nair

K.C. Nair, M.D., staff psychiatrist at Northville State Hospital since 1967, except for a 1½ year furlough for additional training at the University of Toronto, has been named the hospital's director of psychiatric education and resident training.

Richard D. Budd, M.D., medical superintendent, made the appointment.

Dr. Nair will be responsible not only for the ongoing three-year psychiatric residency training for fifteen to twenty doctors, but he will participate in educational programs of other disciplines, such as psychology, social work, nursing and occupational therapy throughout the hospital.

Dr. Nair, a native of Mylapra, India, earned his medical degree in 1961 from the University of Kerala there, followed by internships both in India and Chicago.

A diplomate in psychiatry of the American Boards of Psychiatry and Neurology, Dr. Nair also is qualified, through a specialty examination in psychiatry, by the Canadian Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons.

Eugene Martinovky, M.D., who had served as the hospital's director of psychiatric education and resident training since June of 1971, resigned that position and left for Chicago, where he plans to enter private practice.

ACCOUNTANTS' REPORT

Board of Trustees
Schoolcraft College
Livonia, Michigan

We have examined the financial statements of the several funds of Schoolcraft Community College District (Schoolcraft College), formerly Northwest Wayne County Community College District, for the year ended June 30, 1972. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards, and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of financial condition, operating revenues and expenditures, and changes in fund balance present fairly the financial position of the several funds of Schoolcraft College at June 30, 1972, and the results of their operations and changes in fund balance for the year then ended, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS Year ended June 30, 1972

Note A - Accounting principles and fund classifications
The accompanying financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the balanced-fund principle of accounting and on an accrual basis. For statement purposes, the accounts of the College have been classified into five balanced-fund groups, which are described as follows:

- (1) General Fund, which shows those activities financed by student tuition and fees, annual appropriations from the State of Michigan, and property tax revenues.
- (2) Restricted Fund, which shows institutional activities financed by direct gifts and grants and other revenues which must be used for the purpose specified by the donors. Because of the size of the funds, included herein are Endowment Funds of $3,700.
- (3) Auxiliary Activities Fund, which shows the activities of largely self-supporting enterprises operated principally to provide services to the student body, faculty, and staff.
- (4) Student Loan Fund, which shows the transactions related to loans to students.
- (5) Plant Fund, which shows the transactions relating to the investment in institutional properties, including indebtedness incurred in the financing thereof.

Note B - Temporary investments

Temporary investments of the several funds at June 30, 1972 are stated at cost and include $2,040,750 in certificates of deposit, $475,056 in savings deposit receipts, and $50,142 of accrued interest thereon.

Note C - Bonds payable

The principal and interest on bonds are payable only from designated property tax levies. The College has levied a .525 mill tax (aggregating approximately $760,000) for the year ending June 30, 1973, which together with funds on hand will be adequate to meet payments due during that year, including mandatory prepayments for the 1962 debt retirement.

The bonds are generally callable, bear interest at rates varying from 3 1/4% to 6%, and mature at various dates through 1995.

Note D - Retirement plan

College contributions for the year to the Michigan Public School Employees Retirement Fund aggregated approximately $360,000.

Spotlight on Women

MRS. RUTH PORTER of Livonia is one of the Friends of St. Mary Hospital in Livonia working on a Day At The Races benefit for the hospital scheduled from 2:30 to 6 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 18, at the Detroit Race Course, Middle Belt south of Schoolcraft. She's at the track with Jack Van Berg, leading trainer. Tickets for the benefit, which will help supply new equipment for the hospital, are available by calling Mrs. Betty Matson, administrative secretary, at the hospital.

They're Engaged

JILL JOMINY

LUANN GENDREAU

SUSAN WEBB

Mr. and Mrs. Jack J. Jominy of Ross Drive, Redford Township, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jill Elizabeth, to James Thomas Noonan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Noonan of Delaware Avenue, Redford Township. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Thurston High School and her fiancé graduated in 1970 from Redford Union High School. A December wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gendreau of Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter, Luann Carol, to Gary Barron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Barron of Parma, Ohio. The bride-elect is a 1970 graduate of Eastern Michigan University and an art teacher in Cleveland schools. Her fiancé is an associate manager for Standard Oil and attends New York Tech Auto Mechanics Trade School. A November wedding is planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Webb Jr. of Owosso announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Carol, to Harvey G. Benstein, son of Mrs. Mildred Benstein of Antago Avenue, Livonia. The bride-elect is a senior in music at Michigan State University and a member of Delta Omicron. Her fiancé is a graduate of MSU, where he affiliated with Phi Mu Alpha fraternity, and is director of vocal and instrumental music at East Jackson High School. A Dec. 16 wedding is planned.

Secretaries Visit Court

Oakland County legal secretaries will have their annual "Day In Court" beginning at 8:30 a.m. Monday, Oct. 16, in the Oakland County courthouse, 1200 N. Telegraph, Pontiac.

The day will include observations of arraignments and sentencing, a courthouse tour, observation of trials in progress and cocktails and dinner in the Pontiac Elks club. Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem will be on hand at the dinner to answer questions about the day's activities.

Registration for members of the Oakland County Legal Secretaries Association is $8 and for non-members $10. Reservations are being accepted by JoAnne Haack, 18451 West 12 Mile, Lathrup Village.

Co-Op Nursery Has Opening

The Plymouth Children's Nursery, Inc., Warren and Haggerty, has an opening for a four-year-old girl in the Monday-Wednesday-Friday afternoon session. The child must be four by Dec. 1.

Interested parents should call the membership chairman, Mrs. Ron Nuechterlein, 173 Main, Plymouth.

The school, in operation for more than 10 years, is a co-operative nursery, organized, financed and directed by parent members. Classes are taught by an accredited teacher, with mothers acting as her assistants.

Waiting lists are maintained for all sessions, and three-year-olds are also enrolled.

The nursery is located in the old Hough School, which is leased from the Plymouth School District. It has recently been repainted a bright red, and is surrounded by country fields and gravel roads.

Princess Detained In Uganda; Kampen Town Hall Speaker

International politics moved into the Livonia Town Hall scene this week as Princess Elizabeth Bagaya, United Nations ambassador from Uganda, found it impossible to leave her country and canceled an Oct. 18 date with the Livonia group.

Her place in the Terrace Theater for the opener of the 1972-73 series at 10:30 a.m. will be filled by Irene Kampen, humorous writer.

Mrs. Norbert Dittmar, Livonia Town Hall president, said the princess had telephoned the Keedick Lecture Bureau in New York Wednesday, saying the government of Uganda would not give her permission to leave the country at this time.

"When Robert Keedick, head of the bureau tried to question her, she said she was afraid the telephone was being tapped," Mrs. Dittmar added.

Mrs. Kampen is author of several books, including "Due to Lack of Interest, Tomorrow Has Been Canceled," which describes her experiences returning to student life after marriage and family.

A more recent work, "Are You Carrying Any Gold or Close Relatives?" reports on a trip she made by rented car in Russia with Nila Magidoff, twice a Livonia Town Hall speaker.

She will appear for the celebrity luncheon in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth following the lecture in the Terrace, Plymouth between Merriman and Middle-Belt in Livonia.

AAUW To Discuss 'Beleaguered Earth'

Mrs. Marjorie Walker, vice-chairman of the Birmingham Parks and recreation board, will speak to the Livonia Branch of the American Association of University Women on Tuesday, Oct. 17.

The meeting will be held in the social hall of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Walker, who is advisor to the board of the Eastern Michigan Environmental Action Council, will speak on land use, a facet of "This Beleaguered Earth," one of the AAUW's current study project.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hickman, implementation chairman for this topic, is program chairman.

HOSTESSES FOR the evening will include Mrs. Betty Crick, Mrs. Jean Jenkins and Mrs. Eleanor Johnson. Persons interested in the AAUW may call Mrs. Irene Cameron, 15980 Gary Lane, Livonia.

The AAUW will also study a "A Dollar's Worth," "Crisis in Public Education" and "We, the People." The respective chairmen are Mrs. Darlene Ursel, Mrs. Gale Vette and Mrs. Ruth Skodack.

Officers for the year include Mrs. Mary Lodge, president; Sister Margaret Basso, first vice president (program development); Mrs. Cameron, second vice president (membership); Mrs. Viva Stieber, secretary; Mrs. Ellen Marsh, treasurer; Mrs. Dorothy Barnier, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Priscilla deStigter, legislative program chairman; Mrs. Virginia Farmer, fellowship program chairman; Mrs. Lois Etue, community chairman; Mrs. Karen Young, cultural interests chairman; Barbara Mansfield, education chairman; and Mrs. Joan Sudman, international relations chairman.

MRS. SARA HAAS is chairman of the constitution and policy committee and Mrs. Sandra Auge is inter-branch council representative.

Mrs. Linda Schaber is historian; Mrs. Kathleen Uhlig, newsletter editor; Mrs. Lynn van der Harst, publicity chairman.

The branch is also planning a candidates' night Oct. 23 in Bentley High School in cooperation with the Livonia Jaycees and the League of Women Voters, and a craft night Oct. 26 in the home of Mrs. Farmer, in preparation for the fellowship fund auction which will be part of the November general meeting.

Livonians Plan Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Doolittle will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at an open house to be given by their only son, Harry E. Doolittle Jr., at 33423 Nancy, Livonia, on Sunday, Oct. 15.

The Doolittles have one granddaughter, Connie. They formerly lived in Detroit, where Doolittle was employed by the Chevrolet Division of General Motors for 35 years. Now they live in Stanton, where they were married Oct. 12, 1922, in the summer and at Braden Castle, Fla., in the winter.

Alumnae Meet

Delta Gamma sorority alumnae in this area will meet at 1 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16, in the home of Mrs. James Rumpsa, 36453 Roycroft, Livonia. Mrs. George Purcell will tell about her recent trip to the Middle East.

Lola Valley Club To Meet

The Lola Valley Garden Club will meet at 7:45 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 17, in the home of Mrs. Cliff Buckley, 16436 Pollyanna Drive, Livonia.

Mrs. Joseph Kardis will speak on "Usage of Herbs."

Patio In Your Future? Start Planning Now

EAST LANSING Whether you want to build a new patio or modify an existing one, plan for it now, says Joe Cox, landscape architect at Michigan State University.

If a patio is in your plans, there are a number of decisions to make.

LOCATION: Where will your family find a patio most useful? Choice of location is influenced by accessibility, privacy, protection from the weather and the available shade.

For all-season use Cox recommends a patio with a southern exposure. An area with a northern or northeastern exposure offers the most dependable shade for summer use, while a patio on the west side of the house will be open to the afternoon and evening sun.

When a sunny location is the only possibility, lattice or wooden screen fences, awnings or shade trees can be used to provide shade and privacy.

MATERIALS: What you are willing to spend is a major factor, Cox says. Concrete is one of the least-expensive materials you can use, he notes, but for the inexperienced beginner it's advisable to hire professionals to pour and level it.

Weather-glazed brick is easier to put down but it's expensive and absorbs oil and food stains.

Gravel, limestone chips, crushed brick, tanbark and sawdust are easy to use and economical, but they are uncomfortable to walk on and they require constant upkeep because weeds grow through them. They also tend to find their way into lawns and flower beds, Cox observes.

Whatever materials you choose, the surface should be essentially level with the floor of the room opening onto it, he says. Half-steps up and down are a safety hazard. If the patio is six inches or more below floor level, it will require a landing, steps and a rail.

SIZE AND SHAPE: Make your patio as large or larger than your living room.

Most patios are rectangular. So are many houses. Varying the shape of the patio with curved borders or interesting angles can break up what otherwise could be a monotonous repetition of the same shape, Cox suggests.

Don't neglect planning the placement of plant materials, Cox says. Judicious use of plants can help blend your patio into its natural setting and create a rustic, peaceful mood even in the heart of town.

So plan now, he urges. Make some sketches, move things around on paper, and test your ideas on location. Size and shape may be better evaluated by putting out a few stakes and living with them for a while. Remember, he notes, it's a lot easier to go "back to the drawing board" before you've torn up your lawn.

Guards Protect Trees From Rodent Attack

Act now to prevent rabbits and mice from ruining your ornamental plants and fruit trees this winter, advises Douglas M. Jones, Michigan State University horticulturist.

Easily constructed tree guards will discourage rodents from stripping the bark from the trunk or stems of your trees, says Jones. Bark removal, known as girdling, can kill a tree.

To build a tree guard, circle the base of the tree with one-fourth inch mesh hardware cloth. Set the mesh three or four inches in the ground and make sure that it extends well above the snow line.

In most areas, an 18-inch guard will suffice, but if the snow drifts or reaches unusual depth, the guard should be extended to prevent rabbits from reaching over the top to feed, Jones cautions.

A homemade chemical repellent offers additional protection from rabbits. Dissolve seven pounds of inexpensive, pulverized rosin in a gallon of commercial denatured ethyl alcohol. The rosin will dissolve in about 24 hours if the container is kept in a warm area and shaken occasionally.

Do not apply heat and avoid contamination with water. Apply this repellent to the dry bark of the tree to about two feet above the snow line. This repellent will remain effective throughout the season.

Mice prefer to feed and rest under a cover of vegetation, Jones adds. Removing the cover around the plants will help discourage mice from feeding.

Bare Branches Permit Study Of Structure

To some people, falling leaves mean it's time to rake the lawn again.

To Joe Cox, landscape architecture specialist at Michigan State University, they mean a chance to observe and perhaps improve the structural characteristics of landscape plants.

Falling leaves call attention to branching systems, unique trunks and bark, persistent fruit and multiple stems, Cox notes.

Small trees and large shrubs already in your landscape design may be carefully trimmed so that overabundant branches no longer conceal the true structural beauty of the plant.

Be careful to retain the individuality of the plants' natural habits of growth, Cox advises, whether horizontal, upright or fan-shaped.

If you are considering adding new shrubs and trees to the landscape, Cox suggests you might seek the decorative effect of multiple-stem plants—maple, ash, and crabapple.

RICH WOOD TONES blend with the striking mosaic floor, a major new development from Armstrong called "New Era" -- the first inlaid sheet flooring to incorporate vinyl chips in a specific, repeating pattern. The design is offered in a choice of white, gold, green, blue, multi-color, and red.

FIX-IT TIP

Frozen water pipes should be thawed slowly. Fast thawing causes steam to form at one point, causing bursting. For this reason, and so as not to cause fire hazards, do not use a blowtorch. Heat lamps, hair dryers, heating cable, light bulbs can be pressed into service. Move the heat along the pipe. Work close to the faucet at the opposite end from the shutoff valve. Keep the faucet open, so the water can flow as the ice melts.

18 Lighthouses Still Manned

Michigan waters and 3,000 miles of freshwater shoreline, longest in the world, are watched over by 75 lighthouses, according to Automobile Club of Michigan. They warn sailors of danger with their lights, while attracting tourists with their beauty.

Fifty lighthouses are on shore or close enough offshore to be seen by the motorist. Thirty of these are in the Lower Peninsula.

SOME LIGHTHOUSES can be approached only by winding, dirt roads, and sometimes the surrounding area is restricted. Some have been decommissioned and are now owned by the state or private individuals. Some still in service can be visited. Others are not open to the public. A few are museums. But all can be viewed, at least from a distance, and photographed.

Eighteen of the 29 lighthouses still manned on the entire Great Lakes are in Michigan. The rest are automated, and probably the time is not far off when all stations will be automatically controlled.

Each lighthouse is unique, with its own signal pattern recognized instantly by mariners.

The first lighthouse in Michigan was Fort Gratiot, just north of Port Huron's Blue Water Bridge. The present tower, of brick, was built in 1861. The tower is 86 feet high and displays a flashing green light visible for 17 miles.

LOCATED ABOUT two miles off the tip of the Thumb, where Lake Huron and Saginaw Bay converge, is Port Austin Reef Lighthouse which warns of a dangerous reef. It may be seen on clear days. There also is an abandoned lighthouse at the northwest corner of Big Charity Island, about 12 miles off Caseville, also visible on good days.

Just north of Alpena is the Old Presque Isle Lighthouse, dating from 1838. Privately owned, it is now a museum and open to the public.

A few miles north is a more recent Presque Isle Lighthouse, still in use. Built in 1871, its circular, metal staircase to the top may be climbed by visitors who obtain permission from Coast Guard personnel in the attached house.

The Old Mackinac Point Lighthouse, built in 1892, lost out when the Mackinac Bridge was completed. The lighthouse was decommissioned in 1957 and turned over to the state. It is now a museum, part of the Fort Michilimackinac complex.

TWO MILES WEST is the McGulpin Point Lighthouse, predecessor to the Mackinac Point Lighthouse, privately owned.

On the western shoreline is the Mission Pointe Lighthouse, about 15 miles north of Traverse City. Now a public park, it is situated on the 45th parallel, equidistant between the equator and the north pole.

Among Michigan's tallest lighthouses are Big and Little Sable, south of the Lake Michigan town of Pentwater. Oddly, Little Sable is the taller and also claims the distinction of being the last kerosene-powered light on the Great Lakes, being electrified in 1954. Big Sable was commissioned in 1867, seven years before its nearby companion.

Point Betsie Light, north of Frankfort on M-22, was built in 1858, and shipwrecks visible in the waters nearby testify to its need. It is a favorite subject with artists and photographers.

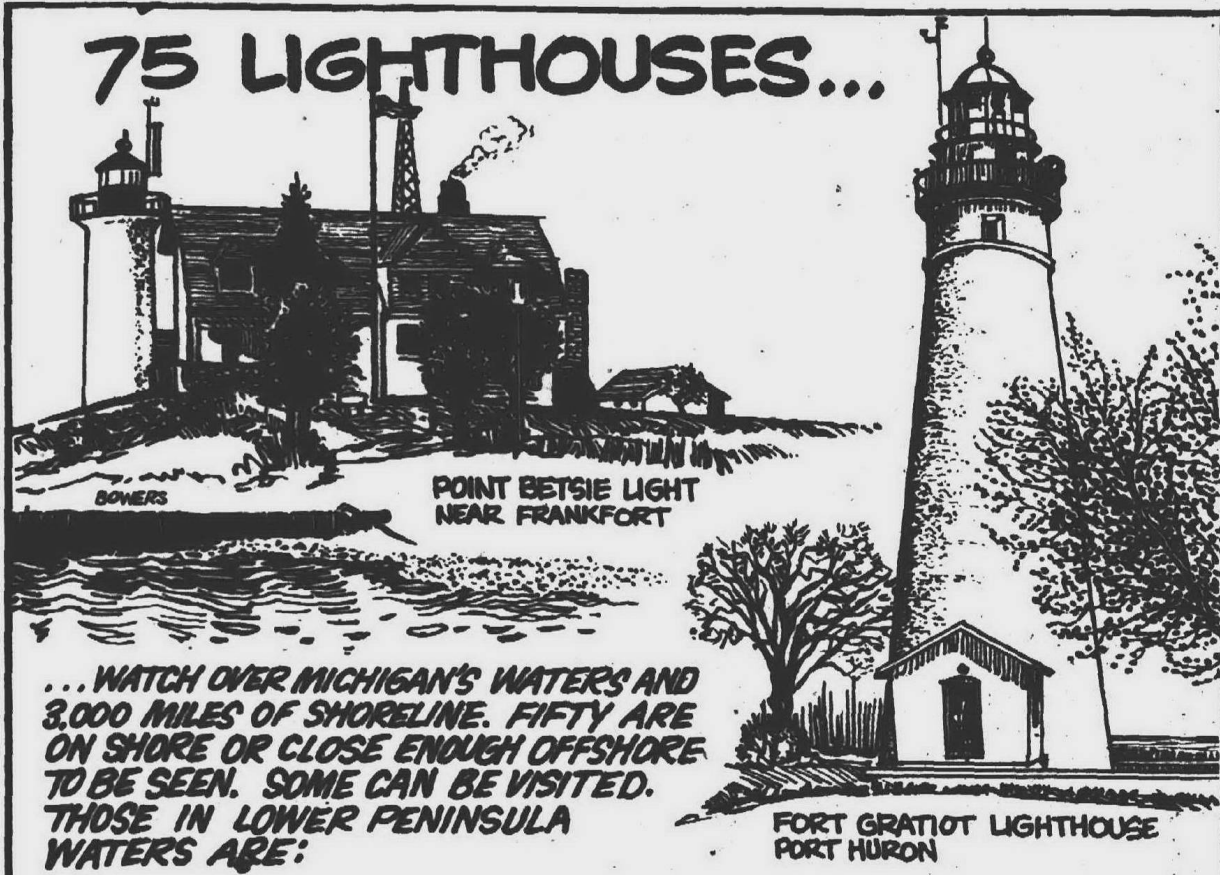

You'll need a boat to see three of Michigan's most spectacular lighthouses.

They are Stannard Rock, lying 23 miles southeast of Manitou Island in Lake Superior, farther from shore than any other American lighthouse; Spectacle Reef lighthouse, 10 1/2 miles from Bois Blanc Island in Lake Huron, the best specimen of monolithic stone masonry in the U.S.; and Rock of Ages Light, about three miles off the west end of Isle Royale in Lake Superior, the most powerful on the entire Great Lakes.

LIGHTHOUSES in the Upper Peninsula include Mackinac Island Light; Point Iroquois Light at Bay Mills; Marquette Light; Big Bay Point Light, a short distance northwest of Marquette; Menominee Pierhead Light; and Manistique Light.

The immediate Detroit area has two lighthouses, both on Belle Isle.

The Belle Isle Light, at the southeastern tip of the island, was the only Belle Isle Light for navigation between 1882 and 1930 when the Livingstone

Memorial Lighthouse was built on reclaimed land facing Lake St. Clair. The only marble lighthouse in the country, it also is the only one dedicated to an individual. It honors William Livingstone, for nearly a quarter of a century president of the Lakes Carriers Association. Formerly a Nike site and off-limits to visitors, the Livingstone Lighthouse may now be approached, but an iron fence still surrounds the structure.

Roses Winterized After First Frost

"Don't let Indian summer catch you napping," says Doug Jones, Michigan State University extension horticulturist. Winter is on its way, and you must protect your roses against low and fluctuating temperatures.

To prepare bush roses for winter, follow these steps:

After the first killing frost, pile soil at least six inches high around the base. (Dig soil from another part of the garden so you do not injure the roots of the rose plants.)

Draw the canes together and place a waterproof paper cylinder or a special rose cylinder over each bush. Cut the plant tops off even with the top of the cylinder.

Fill the cylinder with dry vermiculite, perlite, ground-up corn cobs, soil, or other similar material.

Cover the top of the cylinder with polyethylene film and anchor it securely.

After two heavy freezes,

water thoroughly unless there has been a heavy rain.

When the ground is frozen, cover rose beds with evergreen branches or straw. Do not uncover them in the spring until the danger of frost is past.

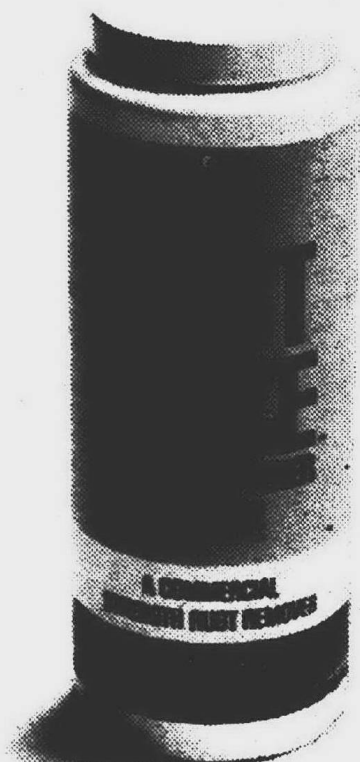

Climbing roses may be bent to the ground and covered with soil, Jones adds.

Tree roses can be protected also. Dig carefully under one side of the tree to loosen the roots, Jones advises. Then pull the plant over on the ground and cover it with soil and straw. After the danger of frost is past, stand the plant upright again.

A VICTORY WREATH THAT WASN'T--It was a solemn Tiger clubhouse after the final loss to Oakland. The wreath just sat there. Tiger pitcher Mickey Lolich sits in the corner and the bats appear ready for a long cold winter. (Observer photo by Tom Donoghue)

It's All Over For Tigers But What A Season!

By W. W. EDGAR

The fiery spark now was gone from Billy Martin's eyes as he slumped in his chair and suddenly realized that the end had come.

With a look of bewilderment, he realized that those famous ninth inning rallies -- the come-from-behind drives and the sparkling plays in the critical moments -- now meant nothing. They were just memories in an island of broken dreams.

It had been a long, hard campaign, one that lifted you to the heights and then dropped you to the depths, but somehow there had been a hope that the goal of going to the world series would be reached.

THEN, IN A very subdued voice, he said, "Those guys there deserved a better fate than this."

He was pointing to the dressing room where the conquered Tigers were slowly slipping off the uniforms of battle in almost morgue-like silence.

"They gave it all they had," Martin said very softly, "but it just wasn't enough."

This was a much different Martin than the fans -- and the writers -- had come to know. During the season he had fought against all sorts of odds and, even in defeat, he still was in a challenging mood.

But now -- there wasn't a word of criticism of the players and the umpires -- or any claim of an alibi.

NEVER ONCE did he mention that the team was playing without Eddie Brinkman, the regular shortstop, or that he had a catcher -- Duke Sims -- in left field. Not once did he mention Dick McAuliffe's error that put one of the runs on first base. Neither did he fault Sims for his long windup before throwing to the plate in the fourth inning, allowing the winning run to score.

He said nary a word about Bill Freehan's dropping of the ball twice as runs slid across the plate.

"I can't fault anyone," he almost whispered. "They all knew the importance of the game and gave it everything."

"We've been through a long, emotional campaign, and when you give it all you have, there's nothing left."

EVEN WHEN it was mentioned to him that it first appeared that Reggie Jackson was safe on the double steal in the second inning, Billy's only comment was:

"We were set up for it, but they executed it well."

A few moments later, when the play at first base was mentioned -- the play on which Hendrickson was called safe and Dick McAuliffe's long throw seemed to have the play beat, only to have the umpire rule that Cash's foot wasn't on the bag -- Billy just sat and stared like a man possessed.

HIS ONLY COMMENT that had a critical ring was when speaking of Umpire John Rice's calling a balk on Woody Fryman:

"In all my years in baseball, I never before saw a first base umpire call a balk."

Then he admitted that it was a good call -- that Fryman actually had committed a balk.

Odum and Blue -- when he said, "They pitched as well as I ever have seen them -- and we just couldn't hit, that's all."

Duke Sims, the catcher who played left field for the second time during the season, answered the critics for his hesitation in making the throw from left field that possibly could have staved off the winning.

"The ball had me handcuffed," he explained. "I expected the single to have a higher bounce and leave me in a position to throw. Instead, it only came up to my waist and handcuffed me, I had to wind up to throw."

"I knew what I had to do, because I often have been on the other end of the same play. But in taking the steps while winding up to throw I then overthrew the ball, and it bounced just a bit higher than I anticipated and threw Bill Freehan just a bit off balance for the play."

Even then, Martin just retained himself, when hearing Sims' version and repeated: "Those fellows deserved a better fate than this -- it's a helluva way to have them end the season."

HELPING ARRANGE a showcase of rocks and petrified woods for a rock and mineral show this weekend in Detroit is Mrs. Thomas Gibala of Livonia. Her husband has become an ardent collector since his retirement, and she goes along on all his collecting expeditions. It takes stamina.

FORMER MACHINIST Thomas Gibala of Livonia found his work experience came in handy when he took up rock collecting as a hobby. He has designed and built much of the machinery he uses in cutting and polishing his "finds." (Observer photos by Bob Woodring)

THIS IS ONE of the finds which makes rock collecting so fascinating. Gibala is holding a tribolite, a creature which lived about 550 million years ago and is believed to be the first to come out of water onto land. Tribolites are found in shale and limestone rocks, which have to be carefully cracked so the tribolites can be dug out with little scrapers and needles. The stone on which Gibala's hand is resting is full of fossilized creatures and is called a graveyard.

Collecting Takes Stamina

By BETTY MASSON

It takes a lot of stamina to be a rock collector, but more and more people are finding it is a fascinating leisure time activity.

Among them is Thomas Gibala who has a beautiful collection in the basement of his Livonia home.

He'll be showing a small part of his collection to the public this weekend at the Detroit International Gem and Mineral Show in the Detroit Light Guard Armory, 4400 E. Eight Mile.

THE SHOW opened yesterday and runs through today and tomorrow (Oct. 14 and 15). It will be open to 10 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

You might say that Gibala became a resident of Livonia because of rocks.

He worked as a machinist for the Ford Motor Co. until his retirement seven years ago and lived in Detroit. While he was working, he decided that he would like to find out where the metals with which he worked came from.

So he joined the Roamin Club, Livonia's popular and active fraternity of rock hounds. At that time, meetings were held in Bentley High School. Gibala liked the area and found a house nearby.

But he still keeps traveling in his quest for rocks. The Roamin Club is now meeting twice a month in Livonia's Senior Citizens' Center. Gibala also attends twice-monthly meetings of the Rock Exchange Club of Garden City, which meets in Burger Junior High School, and the Mineralogical and Lapidary Society which meets once a month in Dearborn.

He interested his brother, Stanley Gibala, who lives in Romulus, in rock collecting, and the brothers and their wives often spend a fascinating weekend in some gravel pit.

THIS IS where the stamina comes in. As Mrs. Gibala describes it, "You go into gravel pits so steep you have to back down on your hands and knees." All the while, Gibala points out, you're carrying picks, shovels, sledge hammers, chisels of all kinds and wearing your hard hats and sometimes safety goggles.

During the past summer alone they spent nine days scrambling around rock piles in Ishpeming (looking for jasperite, kona doleomite, quartz and goethite), a weekend in gravel pits in Cincinatti (looking for fossils), a weekend in Muskegon and Wasson, Ohio, swapping rocks with other collectors, a few days in Alpena and been on several trips to Sylvania, Ohio, to look for fossils.

The results are often breathtaking in their beauty — after Gibala has finished cracking the rocks or sawing them (five minutes to an inch), "lapping" them down and polishing them. Many of the machines he uses for these processes have been designed and built by himself.

When he's tired of working on rocks he works on wood, building his own display cases, as well as spinning wheels for his wife and three daughters.

IN HIS show case collection, which has won awards in several shows, one of the most interesting is agate from Brazil. Gibala was working on it the day the astronauts in Apollo 15 made their descent, and the agate surface depicts a scene looking very much like a spaceship landing in the water.

In the collection are pieces of agate from Arizona, Mexico, South America, along with many other polished pieces of rocks.

And if you think a rock is a rock or even that all agate looks alike, it will pay you to see it. The variety of the coloring and patterning can't be described. It has to be seen.

And who knows, you just might get hooked on rocks too.

Do you know that macaroni, spaghetti, and noodles are mixtures resembling flour pastes? Quality, of course, depends primarily on the wheat used rather than upon the country where the products are manufactured. The pastes made from durum wheat break sharply without splintering when snapped between the fingers. This kind of wheat makes spaghetti as well as other products keep their shape during cooking.

Hunters Become Hunted In 'Deliverance'

By WYLIE GERDES

Four men on a canoe trip become both hunters and the hunted in the movie version of

James Dickey's best-selling novel "Deliverance."

"Deliverance," on its surface, explores the interface between civilization and brutal wilderness. The movie's strength though, is its symbolism and mood.

THE FOUR men — an outdoorsman and three city dwellers — began a canoe trip through menacing wilderness. Midway in the trip, two of the group are waylaid by a pair of mountain men.

One of the canoe travelers is raped by a mountain man, but the outdoorsman in the group puts an arrow through the backwoodsman. The other mountain man escapes to stalk the travelers on the rest of their trip.

After one of the canoe travelers is shot by the mountain man, the others counter by hunting for him with a bow and arrow.

One of the city dwellers finally nails the rifleman, and the men spend the rest of the movie covering up their tracks.

THE MOVIE is filled with religious symbolism. The canoe trip, visual symbols of baptism and redemption add to its impact.

The visual mood of the movie complements this. The wilderness through which the men pass is spectacular, but only a few steps away from the river, brutality awaits.

The actor's performances are great. Burt Reynolds plays the rough-and-ready outdoorsman, who is a living example of the "survival of the fittest" doctrine. Jon Voight plays the city dweller who becomes a killer.

It's really a movie which

Organ Conference Features 6 Recitals

ANN ARBOR

Six organ recitals, open to the public without charge, will highlight the 12th annual organ conference at the University of Michigan Oct. 15-17.

Michael Radulescu, Robert Jones and Robert Glasgow will be guest lecturers and recitalists, along with students from the University of Michigan.

ALL WILL be in Hill Auditorium. The students will perform each afternoon at 4:30 p.m., and the other three concerts will be at 8:30 p.m.

The organist Sunday evening will be Jones, associate professor of organ at the University of Houston. Monday's program will feature Glasgow, associate professor of music at the U-M.

Tuesday evening, the recitalist will be Radulescu, professor of organ at the Vienna Academy.

The conference will also include a lecture by Prof. Elinore Barber, professor of music, director of the Riemenschneider Bach Institute, the Baldwin - Wallace Conservatory, Berea, Ohio. She will speak on "Dr. Albert Schweitzer at Günsbach" at 3 p.m., Monday.

SEARLE WRIGHT, organist and choirmaster at Christ Church, Cincinnati, Ohio, and adjunct professor at the College - Conservatory of the University of Cincinnati, will speak on "The Organist and Improvisation" at 1:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

The conference will begin at 10 a.m. each day. Registration for the conference is $20. Forms may be secured from the U-M Extension Service, Conferences and Institutes, 412 Maynard, Ann Arbor, 48104.

HERE!!

Thanks, poets, for being so cheery. Everyone knows that winter is coming and bringing with it potential problems for anyone who drives an automobile.

Not only is it the season hardest on automobiles but it is also the season when automobiles are most necessary. In summer, you may tell the Little Leaguer to walk home after baseball practice. But in winter, you'd probably pick him up at the gym after he's practiced basketball.

And it's very hard to forgive a car that stalls or breaks down in winter. In summer, it's a nuisance to change a tire or hike to the nearest telephone.
But in winter the same problem can give a motorist a feeling of kinship with those who explore the South Pole.

It is more than ice, snow and cold weather that make winter driving different than summer driving. The most obvious difference is that you drive in the dark more in winter. The hours of daylight lessen each day until the 21st of December. By then it can be very dark indeed by 5:30 or 6 p.m., especially on an overcast day.

Another difference is that traffic is heavier--and slower--in metropolitan areas in winter. There are several reasons. There is more business activity, more social and community activities and more shopping, especially around the holidays. You may not drive as many miles in winter as you do during the summer, but the slow, stop-and-go driving is harder on your car than warm-weather open-road cruising.

In addition, there are many minor annoyances. The ever-present salt spray flying at your windshield. The chunks of slush that accumulate under your fenders. The stalled car in the intersection that you must worm your way around.

All these add up to frustrations for the motorist. Nothing much can be done about winter's poor driving conditions. But the biggest frustration of all, a balky car, is one that can largely be averted by means of a little foresight.

The first thing to do in getting a car ready for winter is to get rid of the effects of summer. This means changing the oil, the oil filter and the air filter. Don't neglect the latter. Late summer is often a dusty time of year

"And after summer evermore succeeds
Barren winter, with his wrathful nipping cold."
--Shakespeare

"Every mile is two in winter"
--George Herbert

and a new air filter will let your car breathe easy again.
If your car has a history of hard starting in winter, perhaps you'll want to use a lighter oil--say 10W--for winter. A significant part of starting troubles are created by the fact that oil stiffens at low temperatures. This means that your engine is much harder for the starter to turn over.

Summer's heat is hard on tires.
Before winter comes, have them checked for wear, and especially for uneven wear. If wear is more apparent along one edge than the other, then the wheel is out of line. If there are intermittent worn spots around the circumference of the tread, the wheel is out of balance.

Even without such obvious clues,
it's a good idea to have your wheels checked for alignment and balance.
Nipping such problems in an early stage can save you the cost of a new tire.

Think back about your summer driving. Did you do any mountain driving? Did you haul unusual loads?
Did you pull a trailer? If so, you'd better have your brakes checked. And most certainly have them checked if your car's mileage is around the 20-to 25,000-mile mark.

If your brakes have the slightest tendency to pull to one side, you should have them corrected immediately. This problem is bad enough on dry pavement. On a slippery road, it can be fatal.

Another imperative in preparing your car for winter is to have the exhaust system checked. If your car isn't air-conditioned, you probably did most of your summer driving with the windows down. Sometime during the summer, exhaust gases could have begun leaking into the passenger space without your knowing it.

Then, when winter comes and you begin driving with most of your windows closed--tragedy. Although a car exhaust has a distinctive odor, the fatal ingredient, carbon monoxide, is both odorless and tasteless.

Even a trickle of carbon monoxide into the interior of a car can produce drowsiness. Indeed, that is the only symptom that carbon monoxide poisoning does produce. Safety experts suspect that carbon monoxide poisoning is to blame for many single-car run-off-the-road accidents that can't be otherwise explained.

An untuned car is starting trouble.*It's more than just a slogan.

Much more. Winter tests on motorists' cars showed that untuned cars had over twice the "won't starts" tuned cars had.

can't meet the demand, your car won't start. No matter how hard you try.

So please consider our "slogan" and see your mechanic for his engine tune-up now--before trouble strikes. You'll enjoy dependable starts. Plus better acceleration and gas mileage. And reduced emissions, too.

A major reason for this is worn spark plugs. They demand twice the voltage of plugs in good condition. And on a cold day, your battery supplies less voltage. When the supply

Unique winter starting tests certified by the United States Auto Club involved 110 motorists in Sparta, New Jersey. Half of their cars were given a tune-up while the remaining cars were left in "as is" condition. After three months of normal use, the untuned cars had over twice as many "won't starts" as the tuned cars. The untuned cars averaged 5% poorer gas mileage, too. These wasted gas dollars--plus the cost of just one "won't start" service call--could just about pay for a tune-up!

"PLAN AHEAD"

Most of the things necessary for winter car care require the attention of the experts at the service station or garage. But there are things that you can do yourself that will make winter driving more bearable. And perhaps more economical.

One thing that every motorist should carry, winter or summer, is a couple of railroad - type flares. These can be purchased inexpensively at most hardware stores.

The emergency flasher system on a car is, of course, useful in a roadside breakdown. But a flare can improve the safety factor greatly.

A flare is visible at great distances and it spells trouble to anyone who sees it. Approaching motorists will see it sooner and are more likely to slow down than when flashers only are used.

A flare also provides some illumination. This is important when you're trying to change a tire.

People who don't know how to light flares should read the instructions when they buy them so they're prepared for an emergency.

A small bag of sand or fine gravel in the trunk of your car can be valuable in slippery weather. If you find yourself stuck on glare ice or packed snow that your tires can't get a grip on, a handful of sand under each rear wheel will often set you free.

Salt is both friend and enemy of the motorist in winter. Certainly it removes snow and ice from the roads. And certainly it spatters your car from one end to the other.

Great improvements have been made in rust - proofing car bodies in recent years. But moist salt is corrosive and should be removed from your car as soon as possible.

If regular car washes get too expensive, then try the 25 - cent do-it - yourself kind. It may not leave your car looking as polished as the ones with the whirling brushes and the attendants who give it the finishing touches. But it will wash away the salt.

"PLAN AHEAD"

Pay particular attention to getting the salt off the grille, bumpers, wheels and from under the wheel wells. The latter is particularly important. Caked snow, laden with salt, may remain all winter unless you remove it.

In slushy driving, these blocks of snow that accumulate behind your wheels can grow until they weigh as much as 300 pounds. This doesn't improve your gas mileage. And they can grow so large that they may interfere with steering.

Visibility is always a problem in winter driving. Not only does nature conspire against the motorist with fog, snow and darkness, but motorists themselves create their own difficulties. They let their wiper blades get old and streaky. They let their windshield washers go dry or freeze. They fail to clean the inside of their windows.

The wiper blades are a matter for the service station. The inside of the windows require a little elbow grease, plus a commercial window cleaner or plain water spiked with vinegar. The window washers can be filled with non - freezing liquid by a service station. Or you can make your own windshield fluid quite cheaply. Here's how:

Buy a pint bottle of the cheapest rubbing alcohol you can find. It should cost 15 to 20 cents. Empty the bottle into another container. Fill the bottle with water and add it to the alcohol. To the mixture, add an ounce of liquid dishwashing detergent. Stir it all up and pour it in the tank that feeds your windshield squirts.

"THE BIGGEST PROBLEM IS JUST STARTING THE BLASTED THING!"

Nearly half of this winter's car problems will be caused by failures in the automobile's ignition system. The Automobile Club of Michigan says the actual figure is 44 per cent.

The heart of the ignition system is the battery. But a battery may be in reasonably good condition and still fail to start the car. When electricity leaves the battery, it must travel a complicated route before it is converted into a spark within the cylinders of the engine.

This route includes wiring, distributor points and spark plugs. If any of these are in poor condition, the chances of "battery failure" are increased.

On a car more than a couple of years old, insulation on the wiring often gets dried and brittle and has minute cracks. In very damp weather, when there is a thick fog, for example, these cracks can admit enough moisture to cause a short. The result is that the battery is putting out electricity that never reaches the spark plugs.

Once you get the car started, usually by a tow truck, the cure is to take the car to a service station and have the wiring sprayed with one of the commercial products that puts a light protective coating of plastic on the wires. It would be far better, of course, to have it done now and save the tow truck fee.

Some new cars have electronic will still function, although roughly and with a loss of power and gas economy. When more than one plug fails, the engine may not run at all, or at best, very feebly and roughly.

But a plug doesn't have to fail completely before it can cost you money. An improper spark in a fouled plug can waste gas and reduce power. Chances are you won't notice it, but it can be happening anyway.

The solution to worn spark plugs is, of course, to replace them. But sometimes, if the wear and tear is not too severe, the functioning of the plug can be improved by adjusting the gap. The best answer is to have them checked by a reliable mechanic.

All the above gadgets can be functioning perfectly and it won't mean a thing if the battery isn't putting forth adequate electricity.

A car battery operates in a dilemma: The more power it needs, the less it is likely to have. This is because a battery loses power as its temperature drops. On the other hand, an engine gets stiffer and requires more power as it gets colder.

Eventually, a point is reached where the engine's demands exceed the battery's output. The result is a car that won't start. The trick is to keep this no-start point at as low a temperature as possible.

The chart illustrates the unfortunate relationships between power, engine demand and temperature.

Note that at zero a battery has only about 60 per cent of the power that it has at 80 degrees. But at zero, the engine needs 2 1/2 times the power that it needed at 80 degrees.

That's why almost any battery will get you through the warm summer months. But come the first really cold spell, watch out!

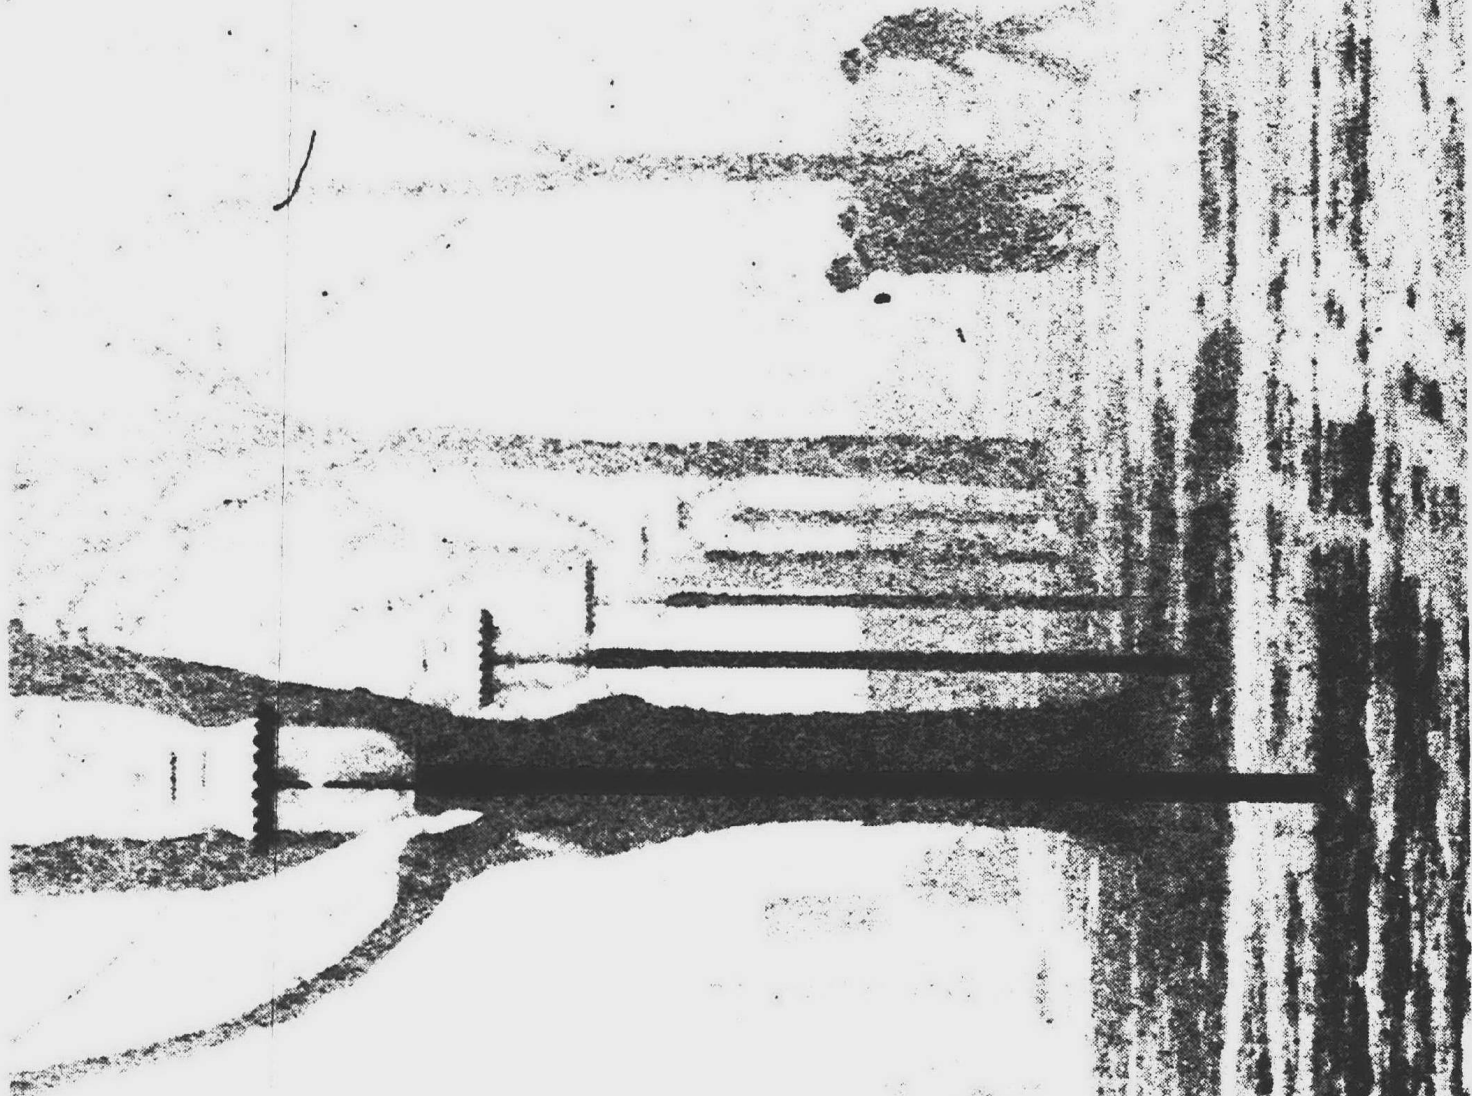

"We have more service calls on the first day the temperature drops to zero than any other day of the year," says Robert Smith, emergency road service manager for the Automobile Club of Michigan. "At below-zero temperatures, a weak battery usually fails."

Batteries have a fairly predictable life - span in normal driving and there are only a limited number of things you can do to prolong it. The first of these is to maintain the proper level of water. Ideally it should be distilled water.

Tap water contains contaminants that can reduce efficiency. But when the level is low, adding tap water is preferable to no water at all.

A second point to check are the two cables that lead from the battery. One is a ground; the other introduces electricity into the car's ignition system. These connections should be kept clean. In time, deposits of corrosion can build up around the cable

CARBON MONOXIDE KILLS!!

The effects of carbon monoxide are so subtle that passengers in the back seat of a car have been known to go to sleep and die while the persons in the front seat were unalfected.

Carbon monoxide can enter a car in many ways. It may accumulate in the engine compartment and seep through a chink in the firewall into the front seat area. It may escape from a leaky muffler and find a hole in the floor. Or it may accumulate in the trunk space and enter from behind the back seat.

In any case, it is a deadly enemy and can only be defeated by a flawless exhaust system.

One further observation about carbon monoxide. In a moving car, there's a chance that gases leaking from the exhaust system will blow away before entering the car. A parked car with the engine running stands a much better chance of accumulating a lethal quantity of the gas.

Therefore -- NEVER SIT IN A PARKED CAR WITH THE ENGINE
RUNNING! You may not get out alive.
And it can happen in a late model car
as well as a clunker.

This should especially be noted by frequenters of Lovers' Lane. Across the nation, scores of young persons perish each year because they left the engine running to warm the heater while they exchanged sweet nothings.

Another victim of summer driving may be your radiator. If you have done any high - altitude driving, or if your car overheats, you probably added water. This has the effect of diluting your anti - freeze. Your radiator may have been good for 20 below last winter, but dilution could raise its level of safety to, say, 5 below.

Of course, the simple way to combat this threat is merely to have your radiator checked at a service station. It is far more comfortable to do it now than to wait until the first cold snap of the winter, when the ramp of every service station in town is crowded with cars.

A further consideration for a properly operating cooling system is the thermostat. If your car ran at cool temperatures during the summer, it will run even cooler in winter. This means that you may not get the best from your heater. It also means that you won't get the gas mileage that you should. A cool engine is inefficient and wastes gas.

If you have doubts about your thermostat consult the dealership where you bought the car or a reliable service station.

These are the major hangers from summer driving. Once they are taken care of, you can tackle the new problems that will confront your car during the wintry months ahead.

If you expect to trade the car within a year, there is no point in buying a battery with a 36 - month warranty.

The biggest favor you can do your battery is to get your car a tune - up.
October is regarded by experts as the best time because it represents a neutral point between the seasons.

The importance of a tune - up was dramatically illustrated a few years ago in a study made by one of the large spark plug manufacturers. Fifty thousand cars in Canada and the U.S. were included in the study.

The results were startling. In Quebec, where winters are severe, the researchers found the lowest rate of starting difficulties.

In the southcentral part of the U.S., they found the highest rate among the nine U.S. and five Canadian regions in the study. In the southcentral area -- Texas, Louisiana and part of Oklahoma and Arkansas -- nearly one-fourth of the motorists in the study had experienced starting troubles.

Why the difference? Because the number of tune - ups was exactly opposite the number of starting failures. In other words, the Quebec residents, who had the least starting troubles had the greatest percentage of tune - ups. And the southcentral residents who had the most starting failures had the fewest tune - ups.

The lesson is clear. A tune - up in the autumn is the best preventive maintenance for avoiding starting failure in the winter ahead.

Another finding of the study was that the battery most often is blamed by the motorist, but in most cases it is other parts of the ignition system that are actually at fault. Another argument in favor of the tune - up: The battery can't do its job if the power is being dissipated through faulty wires, points and plugs.

terminals. These can cause loss of efficiency.

The alternator and voltage regulator should be checked to see that your battery is being neither overcharged or under - charged while the car is running. Either condition can be harmful.

A battery with its outer casing cracked is on its last legs and should be regarded as a villain ready to ambush you at the drop of a snowflake.

Exhausted batteries can be recharged. But unless the circumstances were unusual, like leaving your headlights on all night, a re - charged battery should be regarded with suspicion.

A re - charged battery may perform perfectly well for months. Or it may go floozy the next morning.
Much depends on its age and the kind of driving you do.

A moderate amount of steady driving is good for a battery in cold weather. It warms the battery a bit and re - charges it. But stop - and - go driving is detrimental because of the high percentage of idling time when the engine speed is not sufficient to give a steady charge.

If you keep your car long enough, you'll eventually have to replace the battery. When you do, be sure you get the right one. Batteries are rated by ampere - hours and this figure is usually marked right on the battery. In general, a replacement battery should be of the same capacity as the one that came as original equipment with the car.

There are exceptions. If you've had air - conditioning installed since you bought the car, you'll need a larger battery. If your car stands for long periods without being driven, it will need a larger battery capacity.

Batteries come with warranties.
Generally, the longer the warranty period, the better -- and more expensive -- the battery. Deciding the length of warranty period you need is a matter of common sense.

Stand back!! Little Toro Snow Pup plows like a beast!

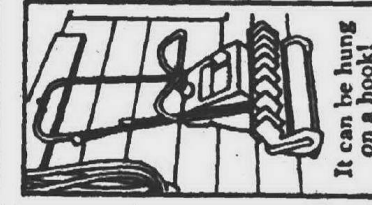

This amazing little machine's not much bulkier than a snow shovel, yet it can toss twenty times its own weight in snow every minute—and toss it up to 15 feet!

Toro's Snow Pup® snow thrower has funny-looking squeeze-like paddles that clean deep down and ride smoothly over bumps. Adjustable vanes throw snow left, right or straight ahead.

Just put this 22-pound Snow Pup against a drift and sort of lean on it. Away the snow flies—and fast!

Snow Pup's paddles (left) may not look like they're going to work—stand back!

It can be hung on a hook!

You can clean a 50-foot driveway of 4" snow in about 15 minutes. The Toro® Snow Pup snow thrower is so small it can be stored hanging from a hook. It's so light, your wife can operate it with ease. See the Snow Pup at your nearest Toro dealer today. Check the Yellow Pages for local listings.

THE SAFETY VALVE

For answers to your questions about every day traffic-related problems, write Michigan Traffic Safety Information Council, c/o Michigan State Safety Commission, Department of State Police, East Lansing, Michigan 48823.

QUESTION: What is the current status of the legality of studded tire use in Michigan? A. R. Lapeere.

ANSWER: The current law in Michigan permits use of studded tires between November 1 of one year to May 1 of the following year. There is a bill pending in our legislature which, if it passes, will ban the use of these tires in either all or part of Michigan. If it passes as it now stands, the cutoff date is May, 1973. So watch your newspaper for current developments before making long-range investments.

QUESTION: Is there a specified height for car bumpers (from the surface of the road)? G. N. Lachine.

ANSWER: No. But don't forget that part of the equipment section of our Michigan Vehicle Code which makes it "a misdemeanor for any person to drive or move or for the owner to cause or knowingly permit to be driven or moved on any highway any vehicle or combination of vehicles which is in such unsafe condition as to endanger any person..." So, if you contemplate removing that rear bumper, don't leave the gas tank exposed—or brackets protruding.

QUESTION: What is meant by reading a traffic scene when you're driving? J. A. Mason.

ANSWER: According to the Highway Traffic Safety Center of Michigan State University, it's like reading a book. Keep your eyes moving. Glance from left to right and take in your rear view mirrors as your eyes move. Concentrate on important details and look ahead—at least one block in the city, a half-mile in the country.

Good drivers have this kind of know-how.

QUESTION: If a ticket is issued to a motorist for speeding 15 miles over the limit and then it is found the speedometer on his car is reading 15 miles per hour less than actual speed, is the ticket still valid? S. B. Fremont.

ANSWER: Yes. It is up to the driver of a car to see that his equipment is in proper working condition. If the police car speedometer is off, and this is proved, then it would be up to authorities to dismiss the ticket. Police cars are equipped with certified speedometers.

If you find yourself in this predicament, it wouldn't hurt to enter that fact into your testimony that you present to the judge or hearing officer.

"WHAT THE EXPERTS SAY"

The people with the best knowledge of winter car care are the men who have to take care of them after something goes wrong.

Without exception, the men who work in garages and service stations agree that the cooling system and ignition system should be checked—NOW—to prevent trouble later.

"If people just used their common sense, our business would be cut in half," said one tow truck driver.

"Preventive maintenance often gets neglected," says Gary Fennelly, service manager at Leo Calhoun Ford, 41001 Plymouth Road.

"People put it off and put it off, and then have to be towed in. The work still has to be done, but now they have a towing bill on top of it."

Fennelly says the two most important areas for preventive winter maintenance are an engine tune-up and a check of the cooling system.

And he notes that there is more to checking the cooling system than testing for anti-freeze.

"The hoses and clamps should all be looked at carefully," he says. "Hoses that are cracked and clamps that have worked loose can give way any time."

Failure of a hose can be a minor disaster. Not only does it mean an instant breakdown, but it also probably means that much of your expensive anti-freeze will run out on the ground.

"After a car gets to be a couple or three years old, these failures get more common," Fennelly says.

He sets November 1 as the approximate deadline for getting your winter preventive maintenance done. Beyond that, you're gambling with sudden cold spells that can freeze the radiator or weaken the battery.

Fennelly says that snow tires are valuable to drivers who live in suburban or rural areas and may have to travel on back roads.

"They can get you out of places that regular tires won't."

In metropolitan areas where snow removal and salting is more intense, snow tires are probably not necessary.

Bill Skolnik operates two Marathon stations, one at Farmington Road and Seven-Mile, and the other at Middlebelt and Five-Mile. Last year, he made 1,500 road service trouble calls from one station alone.

His tips for avoiding trouble this winter include:

- Carry jumper cables. Then if your car won't start, another motorist can correct the trouble, but it will at least allow you to drive to a service station and avoid the towing charge.

- Carry a small bottle of kerosene. Pour it on the distributor or wires if you suspect that dampness is preventing your car from starting. This often has enough drying effect to allow the electricity to flow again.

- And I think thermostats should be changed once a year," Skolnik says. "Thermostats themselves don't rust, but just in the cooling system accumulates on them and can make them stick. If it sticks open, you're okay. But nine times out of ten, they stick closed. Then the coolant starts to boil. The pressure inside the system is too much for the hoses and they'll blow off, and you've got a mess."

Most cars with air conditioning boil off anti-freeze during the summer, Skolnik says.

"Not the big cars like Cadillacs, but smaller cars do, particularly if they've been pulling a trailer."

It's true that many cars now have a retrieval system that catches the boil-off and returns it to the cooling system. But even so, some of the anti-freeze evaporates in the process.

"It only takes about five minutes to check the anti-freeze in a car," Skolnik notes. "If you neglect it, it can cost you a thousand-dollar engine."

GETTING IT TOGETHER

Detroit—Now's the time to get your car ready for winter and here are some handy tips from Chrysler's service director Bob Kline.

"Let's start from the ground up. Make sure the tires have a good tread, and that they're inflated to the pressure recommended in the owner's manual," says Kline. "Check the sidewalls, inside and out, to make sure they're no cuts and bruises. If you've driven far enough since the last tire rotation, then shift them again."

"Fall brings rain and falling leaves to many areas, and snow to others. In either case, the pavement is treacherous and good braking is a must. Have the brakes checked, and make sure the wheels are properly aligned. If they aren't, you'll never stop straight, or safely."

"Easy starting starts with a good battery. Watch as they check the battery with a hydrometer, the specific gravity should measure about 1.260 to 1.275."

"An engine is quite like a human being; when it breathes well it works better. The modern, paper air-cleaners are inexpensive and easy to change. Do it.

"Summer oil is sort of like tired blood. Fall is the right time to change the oil, and put in a new oil filter. Again, read the instructions in your owner's manual and use the type of oil it recommends."

"While the hood is up, have the belts checked for wear and tension. If they're worn, they'll look it, they should be replaced. Chances are they may just need a fast adjustment to provide proper tension."

"An important element in performance is your fuel pump; have it checked for vacuum (pull to bring gas from the tank, and for pressure, push to move gas to the carburetor). Old-fashioned fuel filters needed to be disassembled and cleaned, but modern ones have charcoal filter and require no maintenance. Then have the engine tuned so that it will start easier and run better."

"There are two fast checks which are a very important part of this Fall physical: check the level on the transmission fluid, and the lubrication in the rear end."
