Rossman Initiates Damage Suit Against School Board

By KATHY MORAN

The next step will be to Wayne County Circuit Court for former school Supt. James R. Rossman, who says he will file a damage suit against the school district after losing his case before the State Tenure Commission.

The commission rejected Rossman's contention that he had tenure as a school superintendent last week after a delay of more than three months since the case was heard.

Rossman, who was fired Dec. 13, contended that he had tenure rights under his contract and couldn't be dismissed as superintendent without "due process" which would have entitled him to a hearing before the school board. He maintained that he had been fired without a chance to mend his relationship with the board and should be reinstated.

THE COMMISSION rejected his contention, stating that a contract doesn't give the employe "tenure in position."

Shortly after Rossman had been fired by the board, he was offered the position as consultant at the same salary and fringe benefits that he earned as superintendent.

Although Rossman never accepted the consultant's position, he has continued to collect his $28,000 salary.

After the commission issued its decision, Rossman said he was surprised that it didn't rule that he had tenure rights under his superintendent's contract.

He said that he thought his contract protected him from being fired without a hearing and that at the end of his contract he could have been reassigned to a different position but at his same salary level.

"I do object that the local board of education, without proving just cause, can arbitrarily fail to meet its contract obligations," he said.

"Now we're at the point where we have gone through due process to the tenure commission," he continued, "so I have instructed my attorney to prepare the necessary papers to file in circuit court for damages based on breach of contract."

The school board fired him with "vague charges," Rossman argued, thus damaging his professional reputation and making it difficult for him to obtain a similar position. Currently he is selling for Tom Notebaert Real Estate in Plymouth.

THE CONTROVERSY over his firing is "like a cloud over my long career and good reputation," Rossman said.

Board President George Lawton said, "I was pleased to see the decision rendered in favor of the board's position."

"My particular hope is that we can enter into a relationship with Mr. Rossman so that his salary becomes a productive salary for the school district rather than a complete loss."

He said the board was tired of the salary being paid "without bringing any direct return to the community."

Regarding Rossman's plans to file a suit for damages, Lawton said, "He has his rights and certainly should have every opportunity to take advantage of whatever rights he has."

Rossman said that since the commission's decision was issued before Dec. 13, he can file in circuit court within the one year statute of limitations for possible slander. There is a six year statute of limitations for damages suits.

BOTH ROSSMAN and the school board agree that he has tenure in the school district as a teacher, but Rossman has not indicated whether he will accept a teaching position after his contract expires in June.

"I do have tenure as a teacher by the board's own admission," Rossman stated.

During the tenure commission hearing in June, Rossman's attorney, H. Rollin Allen, maintained that Rossman was "demoted" to the position of consultant because he didn't have the exact same fringe benefits he enjoyed as superintendent.

However, the commission rejected this contention citing the Tenure Act which provides: "The word 'demote' shall mean reduce compensation or to transfer to a position carrying a lower salary."

"Therefore, it is the decision of this Commission that the Appellant, James H. Rossman, did not have tenure status as a superintendent of schools. The appeal is dismissed."

'Rock' Queen Is Second In Family

When Carol Neighbors was crowned "homecoming queen" last Friday night at Plymouth High school, she was following in the footsteps of her oldest sister, Patricia, who received the same honor two years ago.

"When my name was called Friday night," Carol said while still enjoying the emotion of the new role, "I just couldn't believe it. It was the biggest thrill of my life."

The senior, who hopes some day to be a teacher of languages, especially French, was more surprised than anyone when selected queen, with appropriate ceremonies between the halves of the Plymouth-Belleville football game.

JUST AS SURPRISED was her father, Thomas, and her mother, who reside at 15063 Thornbridge in Lakepointe.

"I never dreamed," he said, "that we would have another 'queen' in the family. But it sure is a fine feeling for a father and mother to have two of them."

Carol, at present a member of the Student Council, is specializing French and chemistry, along with art and international relations. She also is a member of the National Honor Society.

The 17-year-old queen plans to continue her education after graduating from high school. But at the moment, she is undecided whether she will attend Michigan State University or the University of Michigan.

Miss Neighbors was chosen from a group of candidates that included Holly Doty, Donna Glover, Kim Greenwood, and Roxanne Turner, all of whom served as members of her court after the coronation.

THE HOMECOMING ceremonies were the first held in the new athletic facilities at Canton Center and Joy Road and attracted one of the largest crowds of the year.

The fact that the Rocks won an uphill battle made the homecoming even more enjoyable.

The parade of floats and the entire ceremony were of the highest order. As usual, the Plymouth High School band performed in a grand manner.

More and more, the homecoming celebrations at Plymouth high are attracting former graduates and students, all of whom had a part in making the homecoming picture of 1972 one that will long be remembered.

The fact that the queen was the second in the family also will go into the records as one of the most unusual of all homecoming happenings.

Bennett 'Schizophrenic,' 2 Doctors Tell Court

By MAURIE WALKER

A psychologist and a psychiatrist testified Tuesday that David L. Bennett, 17, was mentally ill at the time he killed Mrs. Vivian Berry, wife of Wayne County Road Commission Chairman Michael Berry, in the garage of her Plymouth Township home.

Both called Bennett "schizophrenic," a mental disorder characterized by split personality, withdrawal from reality and delusions.

Dr. Gerald Briskin, clinical psychologist at Wyandotte General Hospital, testified in Wayne Circuit Court that he tested Bennett Sept. 5 while the Plymouth High graduate was in jail awaiting trial for the May 9 slaying.

Briskin, a defense witness, told Judge George Bowles' courtroom that Bennett is "self-centered, has a feeling that he needs to be 'big' but has great difficulty in relating to people. He has no compassion; he has no expression and maintains a guarded attitude."

THE DOCTOR said Bennett had thought and planned for years about killing people – women in particular – and that Bennett was unable to distinguish right from wrong.

Briskin also said Bennett told him he got a syringe from his shop class and a switchblade knife while on a trip to Mexico last year. (These items were not admitted as evidence because they had been taken from Bennett's school locker, without a warrant, but the judge allowed discussion of them.)

Briskin added that Bennett told him he went to three houses before going to the Berry house along N. Territorial Road. Briskin said Bennett admitted using a "car trouble" story at all three houses, and that is the way he got into the Berry home.

Bennett reportedly said in one version that he wanted to steal money for parts for his car, but at another time he told Briskin he wanted money for a gun with a silencer.

"He is a paranoid schizophrenia type," Briskin said and, when questioned by a defense attorney, added that the killing of Mrs. Berry was "The result of a mental disease."

This testimony indicated Bennett's attorney, Daniel Burress, was prepared to concede that Bennett was the slayer but that the youth was legally innocent by reason of insanity.

THIS BECAME further apparent when Burress called his second defense witness of the day, Arthur Hughett, St. Clair Shores physician and psychiatrist and director of psychiatry at Wyandotte General Hospital.

Dr. Hughett said he talked to Bennett in jail Aug. 31 and at the hospital Sept. 18 and 19. Hughett said that at the first interview he thought Bennett was schizophrenic.

The doctor said Bennett has a "pre-morbid personality, is never really close to anyone, doesn't share his thoughts with anyone and was obsessed with the dream of killing someone."

Hughett said he gave Bennett truth serum (sodium amytal) to reassure himself the young man was telling the truth. He said Bennett "never volunteered anything but answered the questions when I put them to him."

He also said Bennett told him his purpose in going to the Berry house was to get money for car equipment. Again, Bennett changed his statement to the doctor, saying he needed the money for a gun with a silencer.

Asked by the defense attorney about Bennett's mental illness, the doctor said "some schizophrenics can easily be cured; others can't. I see a poor chance of recovery for David Bennett."

The psychiatrist said Bennett told him Mrs. Berry gave him money but ran away, angering Bennett who then stabbed her.

Capacity Crowd Due At C-C Dinner

Neal ("Doc") Fenkell, who has spent most of the summer directing the telecasts of the Detroit Tigers bid for the American League pennant, is coming home Thursday night.

He will serve as Master of Ceremonies at the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner in the Meeting House when another capacity gathering is expected for this traditional event.

A resident of Plymouth, "Doc" has two hobbies--raising Morgan horses and directing the Tigers' performances on the tube. Between times he has become a much sought after toastmaster. And he should be at his best before the home folks.

In keeping with the policy of recent years the chamber has engaged an outstanding speaker for the evening and he is certain to have a worthwhile message, especially during this presidential election year.

At the close of the dinner Edgar Wiggins Waugh, professor emeritus of political science at Eastern Michigan University, will speak on the timely subject "The American Political Scene."

The author of two books Prof. Waugh was twice called upon by Congress to aid in drafting proposals which resulted in adoption of the 22nd and 25th amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

In 1968 he was cited by the student body at Eastern Michigan as the "Faculty Member of the Year."

Prior to the main speaker there will be a short business meeting which will be presided over by John Thomas, chamber president, and the 1973 board of directors will be introduced.

The dinner has been designated as "Ladies Night" and this will add to the merriment of the occasion.

Bell Halts Flat-Rate Billing

Michigan Bell says it will withdraw its flat rate service for suburban Detroit business customers Oct. 16 and will replace it with "measured service," currently used by many suburban customers.

Company studies of customers who now have measured service indicate that many customers who are light users may actually pay less than they do now for flat rate service, Bell noted. Heavy users may pay more under the plan.

The changes result from a 1970 rate case decision in which the Michigan Public Service Commission ordered Bell to withdraw flat rate business service from the Detroit suburban areas by October 1972.

These changes will bring suburban business service rate treatment in line with the Detroit zone, which hasn't had business flat rate service for more than 50 years.

LOCAL MICHIGAN Bell manager John Perd said the changes in rate structure are being made in order to provide a fairer and more equitable way of charging for service.

The change, he said, will affect about 21,000 business customers in 14 suburban exchanges. Those exchanges are Birmingham, Center Line, Farmington, Livonia, Mayfair, Romulus, Roseville, Royal Oak, Southfield, Trenton, Troy, Warren, Wayne and Wyandotte.

With measured service, he explained, charges for calls are proportionate to the actual number of calls each individual customer makes.

"The change is in keeping with the trend in present - day rate making of basing the cost of service on the amount of service a customer uses.

"As it is now, all businesses in a given rate group with flat rate service pay the same rate, though some may make twice as many calls as others."

UNDER THE measured rate, a business customer with one - party service would pay $5.75 per line plus 4½ cents for each dialed local call.

"If, for example, a business customer is now paying $14.50 a month per line for flat service with an unlimited number of local calls, he could average 190 calls per line a month with measured service with no increase in the local service charge."

For businesses which call extensively throughout the metropolitan area, Bell offers Metro Service as an option.

Metro Service costs $16.75 a month per line plus six cents for each dialed local call and for each dialed call to more than 80 other metropolitan area communities.

The switch to measured service will not affect the rates for calls outside the local area. Dialed "Near Zone" calls will remain three - cents a minute and dialed "Far Zone" calls six cents a minute.

Commercial Realtors Set Clinic

An all-day commercial property clinic has been scheduled this week by the Detroit Real Estate Board's Commercial Investment Division.

It will begin at 8 a.m. in the Raleigh House, Telegraph at 10 Mile in Southfield, according to the chairman, Will A. Schwehr.

Morning discussions will cover "New Trends in Marketing," -- industrial properties from 8:30 to 9:10 a.m.; commercial buildings from 9:10 to 10:30; and investment properties from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m.

A social reception will last from 11:30 to 12:30, sponsored by First Federal Savings of Detroit.

Tickets at $25 per person cover educational sessions, coffee breaks, exhibits and the luncheon. They may be purchased only in advance from the Detroit Real Estate Board, 1980 Penobscot Bldg., Detroit 48226.

Luncheon speaker will be William Zeckendorf Sr., New York real estate consultant, who conceived and assembled the East River site which houses the United Nations headquarters.

One Vote Keeps City In Planning Group

PLYMOUTH
By the slender margin of a single vote, the City of Plymouth decided to retain its membership in the Plymouth Area Planning Commission.

For some months, questions have been raised regarding the benefits derived from the membership in the group that includes Plymouth Township, the Community School District and Canton Township.

The first of the commissioners to raise an objection Monday night was Robert Sincock, who stated that the city had been a part of the group for at least eight years and that the benefits were few, if any.

MEANWHILE Commissioner Ernie Henry, after listening to a lengthy presentation by James Rossman, head of the Planning Commission, voiced the opinion that the city would share in any benefits that fell to the other communities.

"If they attract new industry or business firms," Henry said, "the city is certain to reap some benefit and I am all for it."

When the final vote was taken, Mayor James McKeon and Commissioner Norbert Battermann and Sincock cast the only negative votes, and the motion won 4 to 3.

Those who favored retention of the membership acted on the theory that any new industry or business that was attracted to the area through the efforts of the area commission would have a tendency to keep school taxes at a favorable level.

ON THE OTHER side of the coin, Commissioner Sincock voiced the opinion that the city would be much better off if it withdrew and used the $5,000 annual contribution in an independent effort to revitalize the central business district.

It was his feeling that the increased tax from this type of activity also would have a good effect on the school tax.

In making his presentation to the commission, Rossman stressed the vast growth that is taking place in the Canton and Plymouth Township areas and that with each new enterprise, the tax base is boosted to everyone's benefit.

He expressed the opinion that if the city withdraws, Canton also may leave, and all the work that has been done in trying to lure business and industry would be lost.

Now that the vote has been taken the argument over the membership will subside -- at least for another year.

Canton C-C Sets First Big Dinner

CANTON TOWNSHIP
The Canton Township Board of Commerce, organized as a business group only last spring, will sponsor its first annual dinner on Thursday evening.

The affair, which has developed considerable interest, will be held at Vigo's on Michigan Ave. at Ridge Road, and the dinner is to be served at 7:30 p.m.

Elton Knapp Leaves City Planning Body

PLYMOUTH
Due to changes in his business activity, Elton Knapp tendered his resignation from the planning commission to Mayor James McKeon Monday night.

The resignation was accepted "with regret," and the mayor will fill the vacancy at a later meeting.

Pancakes Glorified As Political Tool

By W. W. EDGAR

As election day nears, it is interesting to note the vast changes that have taken place in the candidates' efforts to lure the voters and have them turn the right levers when they get behind the curtain to make their choices.

And in the midst of it all, one never would think that the lowly pancake would play a major part in keeping a member in Congress for almost two decades.

Yet, that's exactly what is happening in the 17th District where Mrs. Martha Griffiths has been serving since 1954. And as long as pancakes hold out, she will be there.

In the old days– before women's suffrage changed things– it was the custom of candidates, especially in the small towns, to visit the saloons, walk up and down the bar shaking hands, and then buy a "drink for the house."

When the candidates felt that this alone wouldn't suffice, they always had an ace in the hole. They'd visit the volunteer fire companies, make a short speech, and then leave with the message, "Go down to the brewery and get a keg on me."

BACK IN The Stroller's home town, the brewery was only a few blocks from the volunteer fire station and it was an easy matter to take the old wheelbarrow and rush to the brewery. There was only one fear– that the candidates would double up and more than one appear on the same night.

With a bit of ingenuity and fast thinking, it was decided that this could be avoided by inviting the candidates on different nights. In this manner there was a keg of the amber fluid on tap most every night of the week-- and sometimes on Sunday.

This all changed with the coming of women's suffrage, for then the male vote was not so all important. There had to be a way to attract the women. That's where the interesting phase started to take place.

And this is where Mrs. Griffiths began the move that now has become a tradition. She started with the rental of a trailer and visited up and down the streets of her district, having tea with the housewives.

She moved on the theory that if she could win over the wife, she would also have the husband's vote, too. And it worked. Martha never has had any trouble in her district.

THEN, ABOUT a dozen years ago, when Congress no longer could get its work down to allow for a lengthy recess at election time, Martha came up with the idea of the pancake supper.

When it was first announced, many voters expressed surprise, saying, "Pancakes for supper?" Who ever heard of that?"

Down in the Dutch country, pancakes, or flapjacks as the home folks called them, were strictly a breakfast dish.

"Flapjacks and molasses" became a by-word down there in the foothills. No one ever thought in those days that they would play a part in an election campaign.

How wrong!

The other evening, The Stroller visited Mrs. Griffiths' pancake supper– and had his eyes opened more than they ever had been.

Not only did her own constituents attend, but voters from all districts and all walks of life came to call and wish her success.

PRIOR TO Martha's pancake fund-raiser, Mary Beck, long time member of the Detroit Common Council and one time candidate for mayor, used a novel method.

Noting that there were more than 100,000 women bowlers in the metropolitan area, she joined a bowling league, became active in the affairs of the women's bowling association, and became their "queen."

Mary didn't have to sponsor any dinners or breakfasts. The bowlers, always a loyal lot, kept her in common council for years.

Then came Councilman Ed Connors' "clam bake," which was another tradition until he departed.

All of these were extravaganzas, compared to Martha Griffiths' pancake supper.

She has brought the lowly flapjack into its own.

Trio To Play New Work

YPSILANTI "Life Styles," a composition dedicated to the Delphi Trio of Eastern Michigan University, will be the featured selection in the trio's first concert of the season.

This will be at 8 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 22, in Pease Auditorium. Members of the trio are Alfio Pignotti, violin; Edward Szabo, violoncello; and Joseph Gurt, piano. There is no admission charge for the concert.

Sterling Duo Takes Top Bridge Prize

PLYMOUTH The team of Anne and Harold Sterling finished first in last week's duplicate bridge session sponsored by the Plymouth Parks and Recreation Department each Friday evening at Dunning Hough library.

All duplicate bridge players are invited to join the play which begins at 7:45 p.m. Refreshments and coffee are served throughout play.

Other finishers in order were the teams of Beverly Pollock and Betty Griebel; Deidre and Pat Vesnaugh; and Karen and Bill Wilkinson.

Police Given 7 Pct. Raise

PLYMOUTH

Under terms of a new contract approved Monday after six months of negotiations, members of the City of Plymouth police department will receive a seven per cent raise, retroactive to July 1.

The contract, negotiated between the city commission and the Police Officers Association, is for one year and carries several additional fringe benefits.

Reporting the terms of the contract to the City Commission Monday, Commissioner William Silvis explained the starting salary of a patrolman now would be $9,465 and would climb to $12,840 after four years of service.

"AND IT HAS been the rule," he stated, "that the sergeants receive $650 more than patrolmen as they move up the ladder."

After hearing the report, the contract was approved by unanimous vote and the retroactive pay will be available to the officers within the month.

Aside from the increase in salary, additional fringe benefits included life insurance in the amount of 18 months salary instead of 12 as provided in the old contract.

"We also added Blue Cross prescriptions where the cost to the officers now will be only $2," Silvis pointed out. "And we have increased the clothing allowance from $275 annually to $300, with the stipulation that they are given the sum in semi - annual payments of $150.

THE LONE question that arose following the approval concerned the payment of the clothing allowance inasmuch as the contract is retroactive to July 1.

It finally was agreed to make the allowance available immediately, provided the federal wage board approves the increases -- and the commission had little doubt that the salary boost and the fringe benefits would be granted.

Army Medical Course Taken By Plymouthite

PLYMOUTH

Army Capt. Anthony W. Courtney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Courtney, 11640 Amherst Court, Plymouth, has completed the medical department officer basic course at Brocke Army Medical Center, Ft. Sam Houston, Tex.

Dr. Courtney received his MD degree in 1970 from the University of Michigan medical school.

Optimism Reigns After Fund Report

PLYMOUTH

Although the Plymouth Community Fund drive is off to its traditionally slow start there was an air of optimism at the first report Monday afternoon.

When the reports were completed the total amount raised to date was $14,568 or about eight per cent of the $182,000 goal.

"While we had hoped that the amount raised thus far would be much higher, "Bill Carlson, chairman of the drive, stated, "we have higher hopes now than ever that the goal will be reached."

THE AMOUNTS reported Monday included:

Industry $4,122
Business $4,002
*Special gifts $185
Education $1,304
Professional $1,505
Bell Ringers $3,649.89
(*An extra $1,000 pledged.)

The Bell ringers, the solicitors who go door-to-door in their drive, were most concerned. They had looked for a larger total, but reported that many of the homes covered failed to answer for one reason or another.

THEY ARE committed to try again and hope that the second canvass with be more fruitful.

The $182,000 goal is the highest ever in the annual drive, and Fred Beitner, president of the board, explained that the reason for the increase over the $168,769 raised a year ago was the increase in both population and services.

With the larger population, he pointed out, it is only natural that there will be more demand for services -- and we have to be ready to meet them.

James Wilson Ends Training

Army Pvt. James J. Wilson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Wilson, 361 Sunset, Plymouth, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. He is a 1970 graduate of Plymouth High School and attended Eastern Michigan University.

Saluting Our Young Businessmen

Because of his ability to meet people, and because of his successful service record in the management of his paper route, the Observer has named Tim Cooper, Carrier of the Year, in Plymouth.

He wants to attend college and his favorite subject is economics. He also loves sports of all kinds.

The next time your Observer carrier stops at your door, give him a few words of encouragement. Rain or shine he brings you the changing story of your hometown twice each week.

We salute Tim Cooper, and the more than 1100 Observer carriers who bring you the news you need to know.

Churchill's Defense Does It Again, 20-0

The Chargers rang up their fourth consecutive shutout and stand 5-0 for the '72 campaign, allowing only one touchdown while scoring 89 points.

Churchill tipped Northville, 20-0, and it's on to the Western Six showdown this Friday against Waterford Mott. Defending champion Farmington Harrison has already been knocked out of the running with the winner of the Mott - Churchill contest almost assured the title berth.

Both squads boast a perfect 5-0 mark and it will be homecoming at Mott.

"We can't make any mistakes," said Kaestner. "Without mistakes we are going to be tough to beat. We are going after them and I know we can beat Mott."

observerland sports

Churchill overcame 145 yards in penalties to crush Northville with even three major penalties being refused which would have made it a total of 190 yards marked off.

THE CHARGERS stormed ahead early in the first quarter after Jim Foster intercepted a Northville screen pass and ran it to the nine yard line. Two plays later, Bob Blaies spurted the distance around end, Ernie Comini converted and Churchill led, 7-0.

Midway through the second period, Churchill marched 80 yards against two 15 yard penalties with Blaies combining with Phil Damaska for two first downs and Damaska going over from the two. Comini made good the kick and the Chargers broke ahead, 14-0.

Churchill kicked off to start the second half after the crowning of Homecoming Queen Gail Garneau. Paul Black knocked down a Northville punt, and Foster dragged it to the Northville one.

Damaska plunged over from the one, Comini's kick was wide and that's how it finished, 20-0.

Northville's deepest penetration against the tough Charger defense came late in the final quarter when Northville got as far as the Churchill 18.

Churchill allowed only six points in five games and that a scoring toss in the opening round with Thurston.

FIRST DOWNS were fairly even with Churchill collecting 10 and Northville nine. Rushing saw Churchill grind out 137 yards and Northville 133.

The Chargers held the edge in the passing game with Blaies hitting on six of 13 for 96 and Northville making good seven of 14 for 69 yards.

Now comes Mott and the Western Six title, and Kaestner wouldn't like anything better than his fifth straight shutout.

Rocks Meet RU Friday

Rocks Tip Belleville For 5th Victory, 24-20

By FRED DELANO

Plymouth's twin-quarterback offense, which brought the Rocks their fifth straight victory Friday in a 24-20 come-from-behind performance against Belleville, will be put to its toughest test to date when Plymouth invades Redford Union this week.

This game shares top billing on Friday's Suburban Eight card with the Edsel Ford--Trenton battle, and from these two contests will come a clearer indication of the title prospects.

Right now Plymouth, Edsel Ford and Trenton share first place, all with 4-0 records in the league, with RU 2-2 after losing toughies two weeks in a row to Trenton and Ford.

Coach Tom Moshimer of Plymouth, forced to choose between two quarterbacks who can run or pass with skill from the wishbone option, has wound up using both Steve Robb and Jim Szilagyi as starters, alternating them between left half and quarter.

Their individual statistics against Belleville tell how well it's working out. This was a game which saw the Rocks grab an early 10-0 lead, fall behind 20-10 and then rally with two late touchdowns for their first homecoming victory in several years.

ALONG THE WAY Robb netted 124 yards on 18 keeper carries, completed two of six passes for 18 yards--including one for a touchdown--and scored once himself on a 36-yard pass from Szilagyi.

Szilagyi, not to be outdone, netted 110 yards on the ground on 22 carries, completed three of his four passes for 79 yards and a touchdown, and besides that scored one touchdown on a running play, kicked a 14-yard field goal and added three extra points.

Plymouth needed all the mileage it could get from these touchdown twins to offset a brilliant performance by Belleville's Mike Dansard who ran for 88 yards and scored all three Tiger touchdowns. One of these was a 72-yard return of a Robb punt midway in the third period.

One of the major concerns in the Rock camp this week is whether their all-state prospect, end and linebacker Ron Egloff, will be ready for combat against RU. A leg injury late in the first quarter sidelined him for the rest of the Belleville game.

Plymouth started that one as though it were going to be a rout, putting 10 points on the board in the first period. An 80-yard drive, interrupted only by a quick exchange of fumbles on succeeding plays, brought a one-yard touchdown plunge from Szilagyi and then the Rocks came right back to notch the Szilagyi field goal.

The Tigers moved 67 yards for their opening score, coming on a two-yard plunge by Dansard as he carried the ball on the eighth successive play. An attempted two-point run was no good.

BELLEVILLE continued showing its power with two third-quarter scores to push it to 20-10, Dansard getting the first from the one and following with his touchdown run on the punt.

Starting from the ensuing kickoff, Szilagyi ignited a scoring march with a 34-yard aerial to Robb, and it was capped with his 36-yard touchdown pitch to the same receiver. Szilagyi's conversion made it 20-17.

The Rocks started their last march from their own five with 10 minutes left in the ball game, going the distance in 13 plays. It was a drive that was featured by sprints of 32, 26 and 17 yards by Szilagyi, but the payoff came on a five-yard pass from Robb to Marty Korte.

Once denied the right to enter a bowling establishment, let alone participate, the women have taken a stronger hold on the ancient sport this year than ever before. And nowhere is it more noticeable than in Observerland.

Not an establishment in the entire area is without a woman's league and topping the list is a 32-team circuit that bowls under the name of the Coffee and Doughnuts League at Westland Bowl. Surprising as this may seem, it is even more surprising that the league bowls in the mornings–shortly after the youngsters are in school.

Visiting the various establishments you'll find classics, handicap leagues, trio combinations and all manner of line-ups. But they are all women.

ONE OF THE most unusual of the women's leagues was a 30-team circuit of gray-haired women who bowled at Merri-Bowl at 11 p.m. – of all times.

The proprietors readily agree now that if were not for the women–and the junior bowlers–they would have a most difficult time keeping their lavish establishments open.

That's quite a switch from the days when the women had to sneak into the establishments through a side door and then bowl behind curtains.

GREG HATTER, bowling in the Thursday Mixed league at Bel-Aire Lanes in Farmington, has staked out a claim to a season record.

Taking his regular turn on the lanes he fashioned a mere 576 series–but it came in a most unusual way.

He linked counts of 192-192-192 and the highest triplicate bowled in the area in several years. And has a good chance of remaining on the top for the remainder of the season.

THE CLOSEST RACE for top average honors in the area is the three-way battle the Garden Lanes Classic. Paul Ibken is showing the way with 233 and leads Larry Brandt by a single pin while Lou Haydu is third with a 221. Imagine that–only two pins separate the top three places.

BOB HAUK was high man in the Westland Classic with a 688. At that figure he beat out Rick Kendall by three pins, while Bill Walker had high single game for the night with a 649.

In the Women's Coffee and Doughnuts League Sharon Covault, a 155 bowler, was high with a 614 on games of 202, 188 and 614.

With games of 1,046, 957 and 1,127 the team posted a 3,130 count last Tuesday and now is averaging well over 1,000.

Stu Perlman gained individual honors with a 679 on games of 216, 207 and 256. Other high scores included Al Giralamo with 662 and Bob Cassar's 276 which was the high single of the night.

For the second time in two weeks Andy De Camillo bettered 270 in the Bel-Aire Senior House League. Last week he fashioned a 278 and came right back last Tuesday with a 279. To this opening game he added counts of 256 and 171 for 706. His closest rival was Jim Heady with a 649.

The Classic bowlers found the competition rather stiff and tied in the final games. Dick Brandenburg topped the list with a 676. He opened with 288 and followed 203 only to fall to 185. It was the same with Steve Kielian who started with a 279, followed with 212 and fell to 179 for a 670.

Nancy Wilson took the spotlight in the women's leagues with an all spare game of 184, while Mike Stivich, a 15-year-old lad, topped the juniors with 577 and John Benci, a 17-year-old, added a 538.

TAKING A TIP from his mother, Midge Pahskotm, the counter girl at Westland who fashioned a 681 count a week ago, Dave Pahskot paced the Industrial League at Livonia Lanes with games of 232, 166 and 257 for a 655.

TRESA SKOMSKI took the honors in the Ladies Classic at Livonia Lanes with a 496-105–601. This winning total included a high single finishing game of 187-35-222. In the other games Dorothy Collins had a 158-44–202 and Elly Wilkin had a 197-26–223.

IT WAS A big night for Shelley Greenburg in the Farmington Meadows Mixed League when he fashioned a 278. It was the high game of the season in the league.

In the Women's Classic, Mitzi Katt was high with a 210 in 569. Among the juniors Dave Green was high in the Teen Classic with 216 in 568 while Marilyn Millman topped the junior high girls with 177 in 479 and Chip Mitchell paced the boys with 186 in 508.

SCORING PICKED up in the Senior House League at Oak Park as Bob Bengels showed the way with 673 and Larry Slutsky had a 667 and Joe Low 632.

Livonian Nets Idyl Wyld Ace

It took 25 years, but Quetin Havlin of 28556 Sunnydale in Livonia accomplished the dream of every golfer.

Havlin aced the 12th hole at Idyl Wyld, a 123 yard eight iron shot and carded an 84 for 18 holes.

RU Fumbles Away Another

The RU Panthers lost their opening game to Stevenson on a fumbled pitch - out that was picked up and run for a touchdown. The Panthers fumbled on the three yard line on a pitch in an 8-7 loss to Trenton and again lost to Dearborn Edsel Ford on a fumbled pitch, 21-14.

So much for the pitch - out at RU, and the game with Edsel Ford.

"We had Edsel Ford and let them off the hook," said RU Coach Bob Atkins.

For the Panthers it was their second loss in Suburban Eight action and all but knocked the RU squad out of league contention and into a 1-2 conference mark and 2-3 overall record.

RU GOES UP against the third straight undefeated team it has faced this Friday in a home clash with 5-0 Plymouth. Trenton, Edsel Ford and Plymouth boast 3-0 Suburban Eight marks.

Edsel Ford and RU fought to a scoreless first quarter, and it appeared that RU was going to have the upper hand at te completion of the first half.

The Panthers took control on the Edsel Ford 30 after a bad punt. Lupe Bravo started grounding out yardage and Glen Richmond passed for nine and a first down. Tom Bogdonas broke loose for a 12 yard gain and RU had a first down on the Edsel Ford three with two minutes left in the half.

But then the pitch. Richmond's underhand toss was fumbled, and Edsel Ford recovered.

With 50 seconds remaining in the half, the Dearborn squad had a fourth and one situation at midfield. A pass was good for 25 yards. With 10 seconds left, the last play of the half, Edsel Ford struck paydirt.

Mike Booth tossed a short screem to Ralph Plummer, about four yards. Plummer broke three tackles and plunged into the end zone, the gun sounded, the kick was good, and Edsel Ford was up, 7-0.

"The whole game hinged on that fumbled pitch - out on the Edsel Ford three," added Atkins.

RU FOUGHT BACK early in the third stanza.

Scott Bjerke spurted 35 yards, Richmond converted and it was tied at seven all.

Edsel Ford bounced back on a 50 yard march with Tom Miller going over from the three. A two - pointer failed and Edsel Ford was up, 13-7.

Midway through the fourth quarter, Booth tossed his 15th touchdown pass to Joe Wyderko for 12 yards. Both ran for two, and RU was trailing, 21-7.

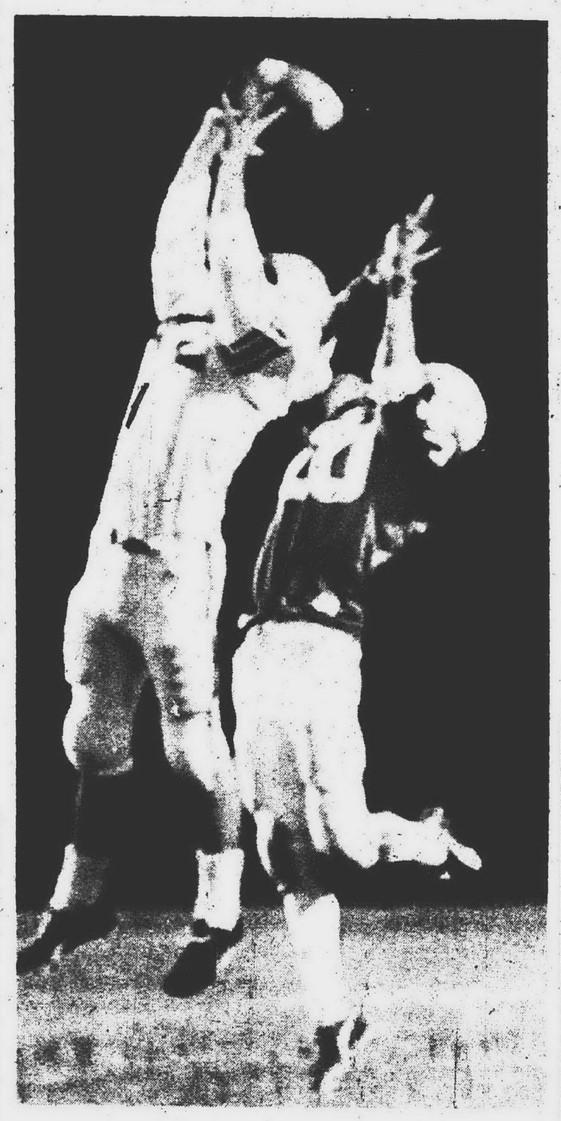

RU moved back down field on a 27 yard pass from Richmond to Bravo and 15 yard toss to Scott O'Grady. Richmond went over from the two and made good the conversion.

EDSEL FORD then grounded out the clock and that was the game with Atkins still thinking about the fumble on the three.

RU collected 12 first downs to 18 by Edsel Ford.

Edsel Ford rushed for 220 yards and passed for 115 on nine of 13. RU rushed for 116 and made good eight of 19 passes for 93 yards.

About all Coach Atkins could say after the Edsel Ford defeat was, "Bring on Plymouth!"

Fall Nature Walks Set At Kensington

Park naturalists will provide guided morning "Autumn nature walks" open to the general public at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford on four Sundays starting Oct. 8 at 7 a.m. Sunday.

Families and individuals should meet the park naturalist at the Nature Center. The purpose of the guided nature walks is to help the park visitor enjoy and understand the plant and animal life of the area during the beautiful fall season.

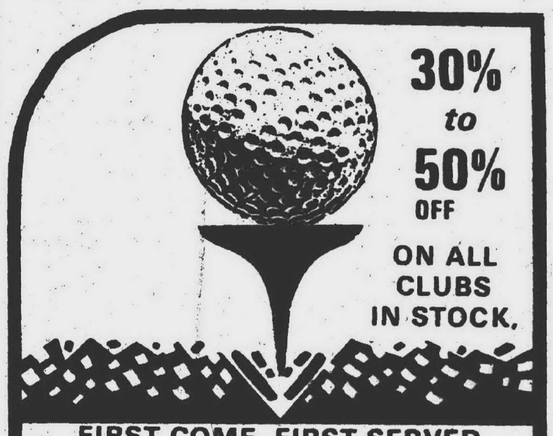

Boy and Girl Scout groups, other civic groups and school children may request guided nature hikes at Kensington Tuesday through Friday, with appointments made through the Detroit office of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Dress according to the weather and wear sturdy shoes that will keep your feet dry on wet grassy trails. The walks will take from 1½ to two hours and patrons who have binoculars should bring them along.

CLOSING IN -- Five North Farmington tacklers move in to halt Franklin halfback Tony Dattilio (31) after catching a pass from Joe Jinnett. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

Franklin Errors Push NF Raiders To 5th Triumph

It was a simple case of one team capitalizing on another's mistakes.

Northwest Suburban defending champion North Farmington toppled Livonia Franklin out of the six school football race, 22-14, and the Raiders stand tall at 5-0 overall and 3-0 in league action.

But somewhere over there in Garden City, there stands a new team in the league with a record identical to North's. Someone must fall Oct. 28 with East invading North.

North jumped on Franklin midway through the first quarter.

TONY DATTILIO got off a bad punt, and North took over on the Franklin 35. John Dwyer connected with Jim Fredericks for a first down, and Dwyer sliced in off tackle for a six yard score.

Dwyer's conversion was good, and the Raiders were on their way to make it nine wins in 12 meetings with Franklin.

But the football was to take many a wierd bounce before the afternoon was over.

North's Brad Pease fumbled a punt, and Franklin took control on the Raider 20. After a short loss, Joe Jinnett hit Dattilio on a screen pass. The Patriot halfback got by four Raider defenders to pay dirt, his conversion was good, and it was tied at 7-all.

With two minutes remaining in the half, Franklin was penalized for roughing Dwyer on a punt, and the Raiders took advantage of the call.

Dwyer and Fredericks combined for a first down, and Dwyer tossed a 26 yarder to Bill Doerr. The kick attempt was blocked, but North was ahead at the half, 13-7.

FREDERICKS FUMBLED to start off the second half and Franklin gained control on the North 12 yard line.

Jinnett broke the barrier and dashed seven yards around end. Dattilio converted, and Franklin had edged ahead, 14-13.

North fumbled again and Franklin took over on the Raider 16.

Jinnett moved the club down to the four where it was first and goal.

The snap from center was fumbled, however, and before Franklin knew what had happened, it had the ball back on the 25 on second down.

"This was the turning point of the game," said North Coach Ron Holland. "Franklin had us, but we turned them back."

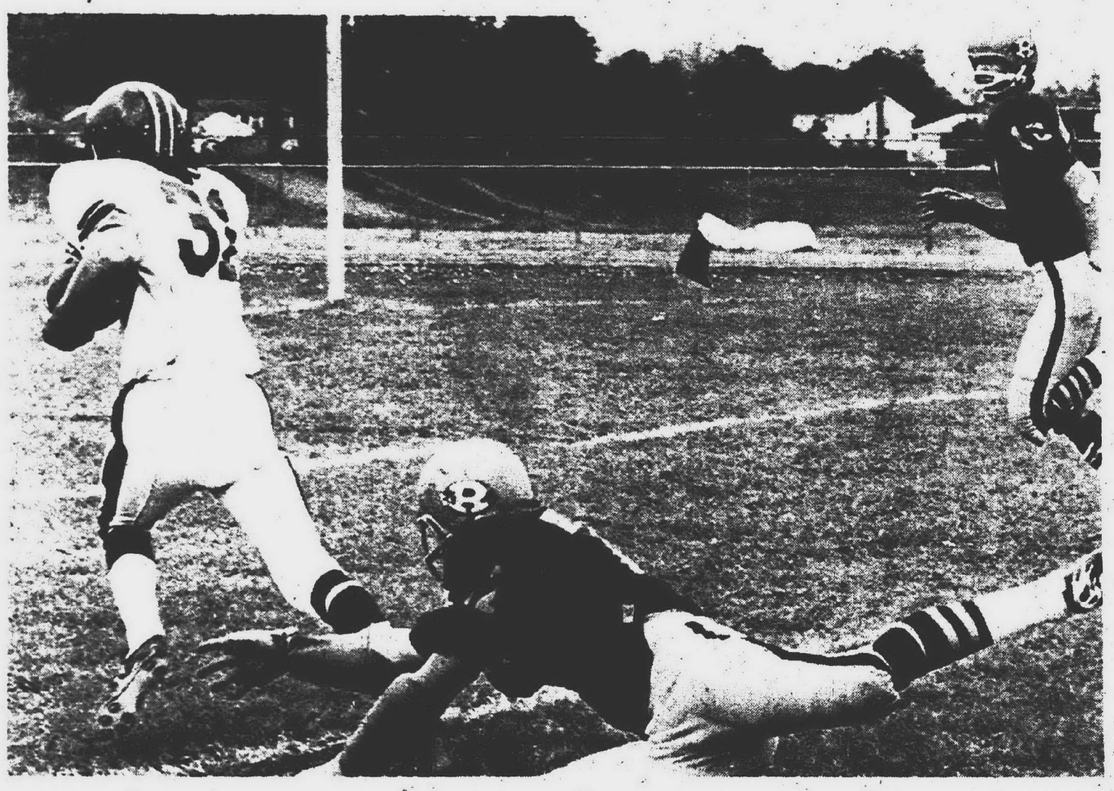

North stopped Franklin on the seven and that was the extent of the Patriot offensive punch.

DWYER PICKED off a stray Franklin pass midway through the fourth stanza, Pease swept left end for an 11 yard score, and North was back in the driver's seat, 19-14.

A desperation pass for Franklin fell short, North's Mike Daley intercepted, and North had control on the Franklin 10.

Dwyer booted a 21 yard field goal and the Raiders had all in control.

Trojans Blitzed, 35-8

By GORDON TUCKER
Special Writer

After three straight shutouts, it looked as if the Trojans had forgotten what touchdown means. But it happened Friday. The amnesia finally disappeared.

Clarenceville pushed across a quick eight points with a late fourth quarter surge to give a partisan Trojan homecoming crowd something to cheer about. The score came too late, however, as Clarkston had already rolled up a 35 point advantage to down Clarenceville, 35-8.

JUNIOR QUARTERBACK Brian Luka played one of his best games, completing eight of 12 passes for 66 yards for Clarenceville. Luka was intercepted twice. Assistant coach Mike Shearer described Luka's passing as "one of the strongest points of our game."

Injured tailback Terry Laird saw action on five plays, one accounting for the only Trojan score. With just a few minutes remaining in the last quarter, Laird fired a 32-yard pass to Dale Carrel, who bounded into the end zone for six points. Kim Schllock followed with the two point conversion.

Clarenceville was presented several scoring opportunities during the game, but miscues forced a turnover each time.

MIDWAY THROUGH the second quarter, junior Doug Pozniak picked up a Clarkston fumble and darted 60 yards to the Wolves' 10 yard line. On the next play, Luka's handoff to Dan Waterstone was dropped, and Clarkston recovered to avert a Trojan score.

"We don't take advantage of opportunities," Shearer explained. "Every time we get the ball, we lose it on fumbles or interceptions."

Clarkston capitalized on Trojan mistakes throughout the game. Twice during the second quarter with Clarenceville attempting to punt, the snap from center sailed over the kicker's head with Clarkston covering the ball.

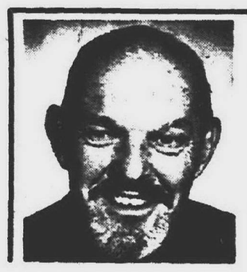

DEFENSIVELY, Bob Bame, Tony Phillips and Larry Madgewich played well. Bame led the defense with 11 solo tackles and one assist. Phillips accounted for six unaided stops and five assists.

Clarenceville's offense rolled up almost 200 total yards against the Wolves, but Shearer noted that "you don't win when your defense can't stop them from scoring."

Carrel and Shollock tallied 80 yards in pass receptions, and Waterstone smashed through the Clarkston line five times for 27 yards.

Clarenceville's upcoming schedule is a tough one. The Trojans will face undefeated Bloomfield Hills Andover on Friday and West Bloomfield on Oct. 27.

Prospects for a late season Trojan win are not good.

Ski Heil By BILL CAMERON

A nice thing happened to me at my daughter's junior high open house last week. As I was entering a room, a charming lady stopped me and told me how much she and her husband enjoyed reading my column. Can you imagine what that did to my ego? I spent the remainder of the evening suffering from delusions of grandeur, comparing myself with the great writers of this century, Hemingway, Steinbeck, Joe Falls, Erma Bombeck, Alex Karras! My readership is now up to 44 (30 Felician Sisters, five office staff, five family members and four assorted individuals.)

Anyway, it is that time of year again. According to the Old Farmer's Almanac, Michiganders can look forward to three major snow storms this winter! I would settle for one. I am sure if you all made a pledge to "Think Snow" and were serious about it, we would probably have a fantastic season.

But I have doubts about some of you. There are times I think you prefer the lodge, rather than tackling that sub-zero temperature, biting wind, icy runs and the crowds.

WHAT'S HAPPENING? The serious skiers are congregating at the Livonia Family Y for that fantastic pre-ski conditioning program.

My grapevine tells me that the instructor is the best in the business. His class meets twice a week--Mondays and Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m. for a total of 15 classes.

The workouts include first a testing program, calisthenics, apparatus and tumbling, jogging and swimming. If you plan on skiing outside of Michigan this program becomes more important.

Speaking of skiing outside of Michigan, I've finally received verification on our hotel accommodations and our ski trip to Zermatt, Switzerland is officially accepting reservations. We leave Feb. 9 and return Feb. 18. I've skied Zermatt on three different occasions and never cease to tire of it. If I could choose my retirement spot, thah would be it. Why don't you join me? My gorgeous secretary has all the information. Just call Bonnie at the Livonia Y.

THE INTERNATIONAL Ski and Winter Sport Show will be held at Cobo Hall beginning on Thursday, Nov. 2 and running through Sunday, Nov. 5. Ticket prices have gone up, but if you stop at one of the local ski shops, you can get 50-cent discount tickets that you can present at the box office.

We've had so many inquiries about cross-country skiing that we're planning on starting a ski club in the near future.

Our popular ladies ski day will be offered this year on both Tuesdays and Thursdays. It seemed like every Tuesday was a great day last winter while Thursdays were generally poor. This year you'll have a choice. We will begin the first week of December, weather permitting. We'll keep you posted in future columns.

GC East Still No. 1, Crushes Oak Park 35-6

It may take some doing to knock Garden City East out of the No. 1 slot in Observerland high school football.

The Panthers rolled over Oak Park, 35-6, to stand 3-0 in Northwest Suburban action and 5-0 overall. Defending league champion North Farmington also boasts a 3-0 conference mark and 5-0 overall record, but East is getting state recognition, and North will have to be the underdog in the Oct. 28 meeting between the two power houses.

East zipped to a 7-0 first half advantage over Oak Park and exploded for 28 points the second half and rip the Redskins, who are winless in conference play.

Quarterback Stevie Orr put on another display of passing and running ability, passing for three to ring his season output to eight and running for one.

HALFBACK Dennis Burton also continued his suburban assault with 186 yards in 15 carries, scoring one touchdown. The East senior has piled up 860 yards in 89 carries.

East opened as if it were running Oak Park off its own gridiron.

Orr and Paul Haydon combined for a 47 yard touchdown on the second play from scrimmage, Rich Jose converted and East led, 7-0.

But the adrenalin slowed down and the half ended with East still up by seven.

East went to the ground in the third quarter with Orr scoring on an 11 - yard spurt and Burton on a 39 yard burst, his ninth of the campaign.

Orr went to his aerial assault in the final stanza and combined with Jim Wisniewski for scoring plays of 10 and seven yards.

OAK PARK got on the board late in the fourth quarter on a seven yard run by Mike Katz.

Orr completed eight of 14 passes for 165 yards and East piled up 400 yards in total offense.

East hosts Thurston Friday at 8 p.m. at GC West High School in its homecoming clash. Then it's on to bigger and better things the following weekend at North Farmington, but North Coach Ron Holland hasn't lost a game at home in 25 outings.

Thurston Scores First Grid Win

It was the first taste of triumph for Eagle Coach Emil Majeski in his rookie season as Thurston mentor.

"Our offense started to work together," said Majeski. "Everything is starting to fall into place."

"I have felt we have been improving with every game," added Majeski. "We haven't allowed a touchdown now in nine quarters."

THURSTON'S supreme Northwest Suburban test comes this Friday night at Garden City West High School. The 1-4 Eagles take on Garden City East, and it's East's homecoming to boot.

East is No. 1 in Observerland with a 5-0 record.

"We'll have to stop Dennis Burton and Steve Orr," said Majeski. "If we play a mistake - free ballgame, we'll be in there. East can be beat."

Thurston scored in the second quarter against Glenn.

John Stein uncorked a 22 yard scoring toss to Dennis D'Annunzio, Gary D'Ascenzo converted and Thurston was ahead in its homecoming clash, 7-0.

Miss Theresa Nagrocki was crowned homecoming queen at halftime, and the Eagles were fired up to hold on and add to their lead.

GLENN RECOVERED a fumble early in the third quarter on the Thurston 40 and marched deep into Eagle territory.

Early in the fourth quarter, Gary Chappell dashed 39 yards, D'Ascenzo kicked the extra point and Thurston led, 14-0.

D'ASCENZO BOOTED a 27-yard field goal in the fourth stanza, and that's how the first Eagle win ended with Glenn suffering its fourth loss in five outings.

Thurston collected 11 first downs to six by Glenn.

Chappell paced Thurston's rushing game with 122 yards in 22 carries. The Eagles accounted for a total on 151 yards rushing, to 77 by Glenn.

Stein hit on seven of 14 passes for 107 yards, and Glenn's passing game picked up 23 yards on three of 11.

Golf Finals In Lansing

RU, Thurston In State Meet

Thurston, Crestwood and Redford Union have qualified for the state golf finals this weekend in Lansing.

They placed 1-2-3 respectively in the 19 school regional at Brae-Burn Golf Club with Thurston low at 324, Crestwood second best at 332 and Redford Union next at 334.

Three Farmington schools placed fourth, fifth and sixth. Farmington High captured fourth at 338, Farmington Harrison fifth at 341 and North Farmington a close sixth with 342.

Regional medalist was Thurston's Bob Proben with an 18 - hole 76. Frank Jawor of Crestwood also finished with a 76 forcing individual honors into a playoff.

PROBEN WON the extra hole and tourney with a par four.

Other Thurston scores included an 81 by Bob's brother, Ray Proben, a 77 by Dave Hunter and 90 by Rick Fernandes.

RU WAS THIRD with Mike Senkowski low at 80. Tom Holbel shot an 82, Bob Lewicki an 85, and Joe Evans an 87.

Spartans Nip Falcons

Stevenson remained undefeated in Inter-Lakes Conference football action with a come-from-behind victory over Farmington, 20-13.

Farmington struck first with 3½ minutes gone in the first quarter on a 29 yard touchdown romp by Jeff Krause to climax a 60 yard march. Bob Drake booted the extra point and the Falcons led, 7-0.

Stevenson came right back, 26 seconds later, on a 70-yard scoring toss from Dale Haberman to Mike Assemany. The conversion failed, and the Falcons held onto a one point margin.

The Spartans fumbled early in the second quarter, giving Farmington the ball on the Stevenson 45. Falcon quarterback Bob Holton connected with Brian Ratliff for a 45-yard scoring play, and Farmington was again on the board. Stevenson's Brian Partie blocked the conversion and it stood, 13-6.

THE HABERMAN-ASSEMANY combination again connected for Stevenson late in the third stanza.

Assemany hauled in a 47 yard pass, the conversion failed and Stevenson was again looking at a one point deficit.

With 2:09 remaining, Stevenson moved ahead

Paul Lulek spurted seven yards up the middle to cap a 33 yard drive, Mike Taylor ran over a two point play and Stevenson was again in the win column, 20-13.

Stevenson chalked up eight first downs to six by Farmington.

Holton hit on four of 11 passes for 101 yards while Haberman made good four of 11 for 149 yards with Assemany hauling in two for 117 yards.

Farmington rushed for 89 yards in 35 plays and Stevenson accounted for 130 yards in 36 plays.

Brian Partie, Fred O'Keefe and Jon Hulet paced Stevenson in the defensive department with 17, 14 and 11 tackles respectively.

Stevenson's Lulek was top ground gainer with 102 yards in 26 carries. Farmington's Krause picked up 62 yards in 13 carries.

Stevenson Wins RU Invitational

Livonia Stevenson captured the 25 school Redford Union Invitational Cross Country meet with a five man low point total of 84 points.

Dave Mathia of Stevenson scored individual honors at 16:06, beating out Farmington's Mike McGuire (16:10) and John Glenn's Jim Lockwood (16:16).

Stevenson's second man was Steve White (16:17.2) in fifth position. Bill Walker placed 23th at 16:59 and Rick Galindo 24th at 16:59.3. The Spartan's fifth runner was Chuck Minear (17:05) in the 31st slot.

West Bloomfield finished second to Stevenson with 107 points, Dearborn third with 120, and Bentley fourth at 197.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

How late can you plant tulip bulbs?

We've planted them as late as January and still got showy stems and blooms. However, don't wait that long because you might not have a "January thaw" and the ground could be frozen solid.

If you want a different type of tulip, why not plant some of the novel forms and colors that have come out recently. While the Darwin tulips are best known, don't overlook a newer group called the Darwin Hybrids, noted for their great vigor.

Some other good types include the lily-flowered tulip with pointed, reflexed petals; parrot tulips with fringed, and wavy petals; double petaled tulips, and there's the multiflowered types, with several heads on a stalk.

Plant your tulips six or eight inches deep for best results. Some people plant them deeper, but we see no advantage. There is a disadvantage to planting them shallow. In fact, bulb growers have an expression: "For bulb production, plant shallow, for blooms plant deep."

Planting them six to eight inches deep prolongs the useful life of the bulb, whereas shallow planting tends to cause the bulbs to reproduce, and split up into several small bulbs which do not bloom well or at all the next year.

You'll be interested to know that "tulipomania" reached its peak in Holland in the 1630s, when as much as $1,500 was paid for paid for a single bulb--a lot of money at that time!

RYEGRASS for lawns? Who would ever think we have a rye grass that makes a wonderful turf, almost as delightfully fine-textured as is bluegrass. We don't mean the old-fashioned coarse perennial ryegrass, but the newer varieties such as Manhattan and Pennfine.

Seed of the new perennial ryegrass is large, sprouts quickly and provides a lot of seedling oomph. You can even combine Kentucky bluegrass with it for greater permanence.

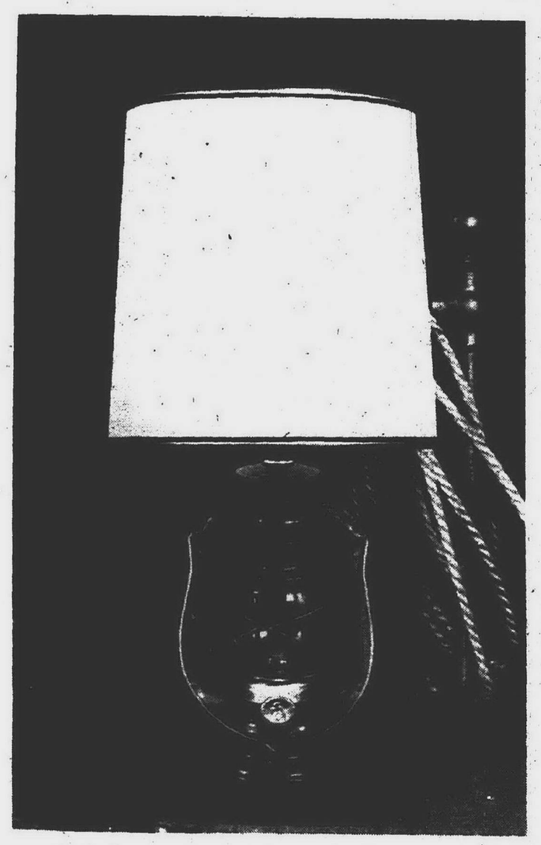

Want to know more about new lawn grasses? Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for a copy of our bulletin, "New Lawn Grasses Applauded," prepared by the American Lawn Institute. Still time to sow grass or you can wait until spring. Be sure to read our guide.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "Is it true you can use wood shavings in a soil mixture? What else does it need?"

Answer: The Men's Garden Club of America offers this homemade formula: Wood shavings, one pint; perlite, one pint, peat moss, two pints, calcinated clay (kitty litter) one pint and sheep manure, one pint. Try it and tell us how you like it.

Q. "Is it true that aspirin will help keep cut flowers longer?"

Answer: No. Nor will a copper penny, as many believe.

Recycle Garden Waste For Soil Enrichment

Don't burn this year's garden debris! Turn it into next season's valuable organic matter by composting, suggests Douglas M. Jones, Michigan State University horticulturist.

Weeds, plant stubble and fallen leaves may harbor insects or disease organisms if left standing, says Jones, so they should be raked away from the garden area or incorporated in the soil. This debris is a good source of organic material, he adds, and should be composted, not destroyed.

To contain the compost pile, build a fence of loose concrete blocks, logs, boards or wire. Lay a portion of the material to be composted in a layer two to six inches thick. Cover this with one-half to one inch of topsoil. The microorganisms in the topsoil will immediately begin to break down the organic matter.

The bacteria in the topsoil need nitrogen so add fertilizer to each layer of compost.

To speed decomposition, mix the pile with a pitchfork two or three times a year, Jones advises. Keep the pile moist.

If you recycle your garden wastes in this way, you will be rewarded with a continuous supply of organic material for soil enrichment, topdressing or mulch.

MSU Expert Gives Tips On Tulip Planting

Cool weather is the signal to plant tulips for next spring, says Michigan State University horticulturist William Carlson.

The weather must be cool, he explains, so the bulbs don't start to grow now.

"Bulbs may be planted in either shady or sunny areas," he says. "They should not be planted where heat from the house will make them start to grow too early."

Soil for a tulip bed should be well drained, Carlson says. If your soil is mostly clay, he advises adding peat, leafy mold or sand. To a sandy soil, add peat. Mix and work the soil thoroughly to a depth of eight to 12 inches before planting bulbs.

Annuals Moved Indoors

Let your wax begonias, geraniums, coleus, impatiens and other annual plants decorate the house this winter. Don't allow them to freeze outdoors or remain unseen in the attic or basement, suggest Michigan State University horticulturist Dr. J. Lee Taylor.

Dig plants up carefully and place in appropriate-sized pots. A six-inch pot is large enough for most annuals.

Fertilize with a common fertilizer and water thoroughly when needed.

Pinch tops back occasionally to keep plants well-shaped, the specialist advises.

Geraniums need a brightly lit area, such as a sourthern windowsill, or they become tall and leggy. Wax begonias grow well in sun or shade. Most herbs such as chives and rosemary also grow well indoors.

Fewer Acres Produce More

Fifty years ago Michigan had nearly 20 million acres under cultivation. Today, that figure has declined to 13 million acres. At the same time, production of food and fiber has greatly increased due to new technology, equipment and mechanization.

Tree-Lined Telegraph Honors Lover Of Trees

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Trees will soon be growing in the middle of Telegraph Road. This busy highway is in the process of being beautified. Islands have been constructed to separate traffic lanes and soon some of these will be planted with tall shade trees and also smaller flowering trees.

Part of this planting project is sponsored by the "Keep Southfield Beautiful" committee which has organized a "Trees for Telegraph" program. Also, part of the project is to be a memorial planting in honor of Campbell Allen Harlan, founder of the Harlan Electric Co., who was a great lover of trees.

Harlan died suddenly last June and it is appropriate that his employes and friends are establishing a memorial planting in the traffic island on Telegraph in front of the company Harlan founded.

Harlan was well known for his love of trees and nature. He planted thousands of trees on the property around his home, and over the years donated hundreds of these to schools and churches and cities. He inspired people to plant trees, and often "led the shovel brigade" that did the planting.

In 1963 he helped organize the "Keep Southfield Beautiful" program which includes tree planting as an integral part of its activities.

The trees to be planted in the Harlan Island include some of Harlan's favorites--European sycamore or London plane tree (Platanus acerifolia), European beech (Fagus sylvatica), Tulip tree (Liriodendron tulipifera), tupelo or black gum (Nyssa sylvatica), red maple (Acer rubrum var. October Glory), Redbud (Cercis canadensis) and crab apple (Malus var. Royalty).

HOWEVER, when plantings are being made in the center of a busy highway many things must be considered including which kinds of trees can tolerate the less than ideal growing conditions. Planting details are being worked out by Southfield's planning department and the Michigan State Department of Highways.

The state has made studies to determine which trees are most resistant to toxic fumes and to salt damage which is a real problem. Also, the state has established guidelines which regulate the placement and spacing of trees planted along highways.

In accordance with the guidelines, trees in the island must be placed so none are closer than 150 feet from the centerline of a cross road.

The distance they may be placed from a crossover area varies from 40 to 60 feet. The actual distance is determined by the speed of the traffic on a particular highway. On Telegraph Rd. the required set-back is 40 feet. The spacing of the trees in the island is also determined by the speed at which the cars go by.

Highways with fast traffic call for wider spacing. On Telegraph the large trees such as maples will be planted 100 feet apart with their trunks 20 feet in from the through traffic lane. No branches on the mature trees can hang over the curb. Small ornamental trees, which have low branching, are grouped beneath the taller trees. They have a set-back of 28 feet so their branches can stay within the designated planting area.

THE ISLANDS on Telegraph Rd. are about 60 feet wide, narrowing in some places to only 40 ft. This allows only a narrow planting zone of 20 feet or less. Moreover, safety is a paramount consideration. Vision can't be obstructed and space must be left in case a car goes off the road.

Maintenance must be considered, too. Although rock or pebble mulches have been tried in some area, grass still seems to be the most attractive and satisfactory ground cover. However, space must be left so mowing machines can get between the plants.

ANOTHER problem encountered on Telegraph Rd. but one that the average home gardener is not apt to have, is the concrete of old Telegraph that is located about two feet below the ground level of the traffic islands. This has to be removed when planting holes are dug for large trees or must be pierced with holes or broken up when small trees are being planted. Fortunately, below the concrete is a layer of gravel which facilitates good drainage.

The Harlan memorial planting have been planned so there will be a sequence of color so they will be attractive at all seasons.

In spring the plantings will be enhanced by the delicate but colorful blooms on redbuds and crabs. In summer there will be an attractive blend of foliage textures--the small leaves of crabs and tupelo contrasting with the large, lobed leaves of maple and sycamore. In fall the tupelo and maples will blaze scarlet and crimson and the redbud will be pale clear yellow. In winter the Austrian pines will provide a welcome bit of green and added interest will come from the berries on the crabs and also from the mottled green and cream colored bark of the sycamores.

In other traffic islands on Telegraph you will see Norway maples, green ash, and skyline locusts. Smaller trees will include cockspur hawthorns, Japanese flowering crabs and the shrubby amur maple.

Between 10 and 11 Mile roads where the road dips down into a small valley, created by the Rouge River the plantings will include trees that naturally grow in floodplane areas.

Special plantings are also planned for high-use areas such as the islands in front of Tel-Twelve Mall.

HUMIDIFIER -- Fully automatic, quiet-operating unit features a transistorized, solid state, single dial Comfort Control which coordinates fan and water wheel speeds to maintain uniform humidity level for an area of more than 3,000 square feet (average nine-room house). Simulated wood grain cabinet features concealed control panel and casters.

IRS 'Rent Watch' Protects Tenants

DETROIT

Internal Revenue Service investigators are checking rents in Michigan buildings in a national "rent watch" to prevent landlords from boosting rents to take advantage of tenants' increased Social Security payments.

"This month, 28 million Social Security recipients will receive a 20 per cent increase in their payments," Thomas A. Cardoza, IRS district director, said. "We are urging landlords not to raise rents unless they are certain such increases are legal."

"In many cases, landlords have already raised rents this year and must wait until 12 months have elapsed since that increase before raising rents again," Cardoza said.

Landlords must not raise rents beyond a maximum 2.5 per cent a year increase plus prorated passthroughs of increased taxes, municipal fees and services, and capital improvements. Tenants also should receive a detailed 30 day notice.

The Cost of Living Council has given the IRS new administrative sanction powers to protect tenants from illegal rent increases. Now the IRS can order landlords violating regulations to restore overpayments to tenants, roll back rents to legal limits and impose penalties of double the overcharged rent.

The Revenue Service will refer to the Justice Department for prosecution cases of flagrant and willful violation of rent rules, the district director said.

Cardoza urged tenants to report rent increases which they consider illegal. The IRS gives priority handling to rent complaints from Social Security recipients.

"TO INSURE their complaints receive handling priority, citizens should identify themselves as Social Security recipients when they contact us, especially by telephone or letter," Cardoza.

All residential rental units under controls are covered by "rent watch." This generally includes all units owned by landlords with an interest in more than four units. Excluded are landlords with less than four units and housing controlled by the federal, state and local governments.

Forester Explains Why Leaves Fall

EAST LANSING

Shorter days--not colder weather--cause leaves to change color and drop from the trees each fall, explains Dr. Melvin R. Koelling, MSU forester.

"The beautiful autumn leaf colors are caused by pigments, the chemical substances found in most living things," says Koelling.

Most of the pigments responsible for the bright fall colors are present in the leaf from its formation. During the spring and summer, however, the colors are masked by chlorophyll, the dominate green pigment. Cholorphyll is formed by exposure to light, or the process of photosynthesis.

In the shorter fall days photosynthesis ceases and production of new chlorophyll in the leaves diminishes while the breakdown of old chlorophyll continues. Soon all the chlorophyll is gone and the other pigments emerge as the characteristic fall colors, says Koelling.

WEATHER does have some effect on leaf color. Cool nights and warm days favor the production of colorful scarlets, lavenders, and purples. Freezing temperature, on the other hand, kills the leaf cells and prevents color formation.

Shortened days are also responsible for the chemical change in the leaf which causes it to detach from the tree. This chemical reaction takes place in the leaf stalk where it joins the twig. The substance binding the cells breaks down, and the leaf eventually falls to the ground, Koelling explains.

No one is certain why the seasonal behavior of plants is more often a response to light than to other environmental factors.

"Perhaps the reason is simply that most environmental factors, such as temperature, rainfall and food supply, vary from year to year," speculates Koelling.

"Changes in the hours of daylight, on the other hand, are the result of the regular movement of the earth around the sun, and don't vary from year to year."

Indoor Herb Garden Grows On Windowsill

Grow chives, tarragon, mints, sage, parsley and other herbs on a windowsill this winter and enhance your meals year-round, suggests Michigan State University horticulturist Dr. J. Lee Taylor.

Most herbs grow well indoors when cared for like common house plants, Taylor says. Plant seeds in pots of light, sandy, well-drained soil in ample fresh air, humidity and sunlight.

For fragrance, grow lavender, lemon verbena, rose geranium, pineapple sage and rosemary. Most other herbs are also aromatic, Taylor points out.

Harvest your indoor herb garden during leafy, blooming and seed stages, depending on use. Cut leafy herbs just before flowering, when richest in aromatic oils, the specialist advises.

Use your indoor crop throughout the winter. If you plan to transplant herbs outdoors in spring, start seeds indoors in February.

Perennials such as sage, lavender and thyme make good outdoor garden borders, Taylor says. Tops can be clipped for use in fall, and plants come up again in spring.

Low-Cal Recipes Winners

By ELLY

Among the hundreds of entrants in the 1972 Michigan State Fair Weight Watchers recipe contest was 15 - year - old Colleen Tague of Westland. Her recipe for pineapple cheesecake was awarded second place honors.

Grand prize went to an Ohio entry for an eggplant casserole.

PINEAPPLE CHEESECAKE

1 slice bread
Dry sweetener equal to 3 T. sugar
2 slices pineapple, canned in its own juice
2/3 c. cottage cheese
2 T. pineapple juice
¼ t. imitation butter flavoring
1 t. vanilla
Artificial sweetener equal to 2 T. sugar (liquid)
½ t. pineapple flavor (optional)
¼ c. skimmed evaporated milk
1 T. unflavored gelatin

In blender, place bread and blend to fine crumbs. Mix with dry sweetener and press into pie plate. Bake at 350 degrees for five minutes or until light brown; cool. Chop pineapple in blender; set it apart in medium - sized bowl. Place in blender: cottage cheese, pineapple juice, butter flavoring, vanilla, liquid sweetener, pineapple flavor (if desired), blend well. In saucepan over medium heat, pour evaporated milk and mix in the gelatin. When gelatin is dissolved, heat until warm, then add to cottage cheese mixture and whip for three to five minutes. Pour into bowl with pineapple and blend. Pour into pie plate. Refrigerate until solid. Makes one luncheon serving. Recipe equals half milk, one fruit and one bread.

EGGPLANT CASSEROLE

1 c. eggplant, raw peeled, cut into ⅝-inch slices
3 oz. cooked, ground veal
4 oz. onions, chopped
1 c. tomato juice
½ oz. Parmesan cheese
Salt and pepper to taste

Heat ground veal with onions in small casserole dish. Leave half the veal mixture in casserole; cover with layer of eggplant. Repeat layers. Pour tomato juice over entire dish to cover. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake uncovered 1½ hours in 350-degree oven. Makes one serving equal to ladies lunch and one cup tomato juice.

SOURDOUGH PANCAKES

Boil four potatoes in water to cover. Save two cups of the water. To the lukewarm water, add two cups flour, one tablespoon sugar and one teaspoon salt. Put in a crock and let stand in a warm spot, loosely covered, for three or four days, or until it is "working" and has a sour odor. At this stage it may be stored in the refrigerator or freezer, or it is ready to use. Always replace the starter used with equal amounts of flour and water.

To make the pancakes: Take two cups of starter from the crock. Add one cup of flour and one cup of water. Cover bowl and allow to stand in a warm place overnight. Next morning stir in one teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon baking soda, salt to taste, and one well - beaten egg. If too thick, add more water, if too thin add more flour ... Stir in two tablespoons of melted butter; let stand a few minutes. Your batter is ready. Serves about six.

Spice CABINET

HORSERADISH SAUCE

- 1 cup (½-pt.) heavy cream, whipped
- ½ cup prepared horseradish
- 1 tablespoon prepared mustard
- 2 teaspoons vinegar
- 1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters

Blend ingredients and chill. Spoon over sliced hot boiled beef. Makes 8 servings.

OBSERVATION POINT

Suburban Coming Of Age Shown In Job Patterns, United Fund Drive

For years, the image of the suburbs has been taking it on the chin.

They take their identity and function not from their own history and unique business or cultural resources, but from the fact that their physical location is on the periphery of larger central cities. They have the image of being little more than bedroom communities, spewing forth rushed commuters working elsewhere, children, and harassed housewives.

Their own identities are swallowed up by the metropolitan area news media, which continue to insist, for example, that making permanent the appointment of the superintendent of the Detroit public schools is worth two full minutes of an 11 - minute evening TV news show, while giving little more than a mention to a newly elected suburban mayor.

Thus the rise of the suburban inferiority complex, a notion which ought promptly to be discarded because it just doesn't fit the facts.

NEWLY RELEASED data from the 1970 census, for example, shows that the suburbs now have not only more population than the center cities but, more importantly, provide more jobs.

According to a New York Times analysis, half of all employment in the 15 largest metropolitan areas is now outside the center city limits. And of all the workers who live in the suburbs, only one in four still commutes from a suburban home to a city job. The others both live and work in the suburbs.

In the Detroit area in 1960, some 693,000 people worked in the center city and 530,000 worked in the suburbs. But over the 10-year period preceding the 1970 census, the pattern reversed itself: 856,000 now work in the suburbs and only 537,000 work in Detroit.

Equally striking is the sharp rise in number of people who both live and work in the Detroit-area suburbs. In 1960, 65 per cent of the metropolitan labor force lived and worked in the suburbs. In 1970, it was 76 per cent.

If these numbers don't clinch the argument that the old image of suburbs as bedroom towns ought to be discarded forthwith, the fact that the percentage of the work force living in the center city and commuting to the suburbs jumped from four to seven per cent over the past 10 years will do so.

THE SUBURBS HAVE come of age, in terms of their role in the economic system of the nation. But they have come of age in terms of their wide-ranging sensitivity to community responsibility, too.

An example is taking place right now, in the countless number of suburban folks spending countless hours working to raise money for the United Fund.

Door to door solicitation has been an important part of the drive each year, but equally impressive has been the role of suburban businessmen, living and working in the suburbs, in making the business and corporate contributions on which the Fund depends so heavily.

Literally thousands of suburban businessmen have been working for UF over the past several weeks, with a final completion date for the drive tomorrow and last reports due on October 23.

The men who have volunteered their time and effort are busy men, holding responsible positions in their companies, but they are willing to work in the suburbs for the good of everyone in the metropolitan area.

They are men like Walter O. Muller, plant manager of Chevrolet, Livonia, and Edward Wray, controller of the Fisher Body plant in Livonia, who are heading up the drive for Livonia, Garden City and Northville.

Bill Flattery from First Federal is taking responsibility for Farmington, and Phil Werner from Michigan Bell is doing the job for Southfield. Robert E. Sturwold, store manager at Hudson's Westland, is handling Westland, and Robert S. Frellick, material control manager at Ford in Livonia is working on Inkster, Wayne an Westland.

Merle F. Vallade, also of Ford Motor Co., is leading the Redford Township drive, and Plymouth, which has its own community fund drive, is being worked by Bill Carlson of Consumers Power.

These men deserve a big pat on the back from everyone in the area. They are living proof of the coming of age of our suburbs.

Editorial Point of View

Property Tax Distorts Cities

The property tax is much maligned -- and it should be.

There is very little argument for it, and none of any merit.

On the other hand, though we hate to kick a good subject when it's down, there is another view opposing the property tax for a major technique of financing public services.

That view is the manner in which property taxes distort land use and development -- particularly in our suburbs.

MOST RESIDENTS are aware of their city and school officials grubbing around for new industrial and business developments to improve the tax base and ease the burden of property taxes on the homeowner.

This is a noble goal, but it creates a flock of problems which are impossible to straighten out in a lifetime without making demolition companies the quickest millionaires in America.

The driving principle behind economic development policies in many city and township halls is to rezone as much land as possible for industrial and business uses and hope that developers come in and build something.

At planning commission public hearings on those developments, most of the arguments in favor of the rezoning requests are that the proposed development will add to the community's tax base and ease the property tax burden on present homeowners and other businessmen.

God only knows that some property tax relief is needed, but the problem is that the city and township officials are trying to jam brick and mortar into every available square inch of land left in the community.

This can be dangerous, and few officials are willing to stand up and say "no" once or twice a year to a developer.

ONE ONLY has to look at the visual pollution and distorted land use policies along major mile roads in Detroit and its suburbs to see the damage the property tax philosophy has done.

All of this points out that once the property tax is abolished or reduced substantially as a means of public services support, city officials can start planning their community intelligently without worrying about filling up every piece of grass in town.

Radical Proposal? Only To Politicos

There has been a lot of indignation in the suburbs about revenue-sharing.

Most common complaint is that each municipality feels it should have received more than the amount doled out by the federal government.

A key difference between the receiver and the giver has been whether the money should be allocated back to local communities on the basis of how much that area sends to Washington, D.C. in taxes or if it should be returned proportionately to those cities with the greatest need.

SOME Southfield councilmen, for instance, are quite upset that the federal government has lopped another $8,000 from that city's "share" while increasing Detroit's allocation by some $9 million.

Some Southfield officials believe that all cities have problems, even the affluent, and money should be redistributed to cities on a more nearly equal basis.

A fellow-councilman, however, suggests that Southfield isn't an island unto itself and has a "brother's keeper" obligation which justifies having its wealth redistributed to those who need it more.

WHAT IS surprising to this writer, however, is that the revenue-sharing concept is acceptable to the general public and government leaders, while the now defunct idea of returning $1,000 per person as suggested by George McGovern was considered "radical."

Is it "radical" because part of the money spent by the taxpayer is returned directly to him instead of the politicians? Or is it considered "radical" because the dollar amount is $1,000 while Southfield stands to get only about $30 per head under federal revenue sharing?

The value of an idea should be measured by its logic and practicality. When an idea is considered "radical" or "moderate" because of the amount of money involved, then that's a pretty good indication of how materialistic our society has become.

Frankly, if federal revenue sharing is a good concept, then I'd like Uncle Sam to share the money with me. I trust myself more than politicians, in spite of Mrs. Roman Gribbs. Besides, it's my money they're sharing.

Carlotta Albert Writes

Better Architecture For Better Living

Suburbanites, long classed as "blah" members of the establishment by sociological commentators, want more -- more than canned music, art reproductions, massed produced ceramic knick knacks and row houses.

For people in Observerland communities, there is one more major river to cross. It is the one which leads to the look of the total community -- the use of the space bounded by the city limit signs.

Architect Jacqueline Joseph, formerly of Plymouth and now Southfield, calls architecture "the mother art." She quotes Winston Churchill: "We shape the buildings and the buildings shape us."

This is more than a statement on architecture. It directly relates behavorial psychology and sociology. The environment has a lasting influence on the way a person acts and reacts.

If he is happy, if he sees beauty around him, if he has enough private space protecting his territorial imperative, if there are enough open areas of sky and growing things, then he may react in a positive way.

BUT IF HE IS crowded, pushed, numbered and forced into a molded repetitious pattern, then his individuality, the last bastion of humanity, is in jeopardy.

If our structures are four-walled examples of mediocrity, it is because the residents have let it happen. If our houses are row on row identical with only a snatch of outer trim variance, it is because the people have bought and accepted them. If the streets are lined with ersatz Tudor or pseudo Williamsburg, it is because we let it happen.

Miss Joseph says good design doesn't cost any more than bad. But what individual can look at a drawing of a proposed building and say "That will be good" or "that will be bad?

Not many.

Yet it is his tax money that supports the city. The individual's voice could still be raised before planning commissions and council meetings. He could demand a higher better form of architecture in his community.

LOCAL ARTS councils could initiate a yearly award for the best piece of architecture in the community, to be judged by an outside panel of experts.

Private citizens could start petitions to remove the art and sculpture of a building from the tax assessment. What builder will put a piece of sculpture in front of his building if the $1,000 or so extra is added to the tax assessment?

The name of the game is "cut costs" not "add costs." The tax structures of most communities encourage mediocrity and high density. The first thing a man who buys open land with a high assessment is try to get it zoned multiple or for business. How else can he get his money back?

A homeowner who makes improvements in his home will find his assessed valuation higher on the next tax roll. An incentive to keep improving? Hardly.

SUBDIVISIONS can be pleasant neighborhoods, unless the developer has raped the land of every tree and extended it ad infinitum.

Subdivision size could be limited, if the taxpayers demanded it, but it seldom, if ever, is.

It is the architects who must have final approval from the builders and developers and they in turn from money lenders, planning commissions and city councils.

The individual with a group of like believers behind him, could control the shape, the feel and the look of the community.

Move Veterans Day Back To Old Nov. 11

EDITOR:

Time is marching on. When will you celebrate Armistice - Veterans Day – Nov. 11 or the fourth Monday of October, which will be Oct. 23?

For over 50 years, veterans celebrated the Nov. 11 date with no hardship. Then suddenly Congress decided that Columbus Day should be a federal holiday and to be celebrated on Monday. And they changed our Veterans Day from November to October for a minimum of five regularly recurring three - day weekends each year for federal employes. They said the private employer will enjoy similar gains in efficiency. The Monday holiday will stimulate greater industrial and commercial production, sparing business and labor the penalty of mid-week shutdowns.

OK, fine. But how many factories, stores, offices, schools, etc. are closed on these extra Monday holidays? The post office, the banks, federal offices. OK – but what about the rest of the Americans? Don't they rate it as a paid holiday?

So, now back to the real issue. Why was Armistice Day moved just about three weeks from the original date. Other holidays were not. Who wants another Monday holiday in October? One is enough.

Let's put Armistice Day back where it belongs, Nov. 11. If you agree with this, why not write a little note to your state representative in Lansing and ask him to work for action on HB 6213, the bill in the house that would return Armistice Day in Michigan to Nov. 11 in place of the fourth Monday in October.

There is a bill in Washington, HB 180, that would return it on a national basis, but several states have already adopted a state bill to return it to the Nov. 11 date. How about Michigan doing the same.

Come on, readers, let's have some support in Lansing. Show our men who fought in the past, present and future times, we don't want their date tossed around like a limp rag. Get that backbone up and show some determination to get it back. Join the men and women of VFW Post 345 and its auxiliary and write and let your feelings be known. Do it today.

Is Esch Believable?

EDITOR:

The recent lawsuit by our State Rep. Stempien against Congressman Esch over political signs and the court order against Esch compel me to point out to Tim Richard the substantive issue that Mr. Esch's misleading representations make to the congressional campaign is to raise a question of Mr. Esch's believability.

How can I, as a Livonia resident, believe that Mr. Esch will do what he says he will do in the next Congress on any issue, or that he has done what he claims to have done in the past, if he can't even be honest in presenting his credentials to the residents of Livonia?

I will be watching anxiously the statements and positions of both Mr. Stempien and Mr. Esch in the coming weeks to see where they stand on the issues of importance to our community, but I cannot help feeling that Mr. Esch is just a little less believable after his attempt to present himself to us as being something that he really isn't.

Traffic Light Badly Needed

EDITOR:

I would like to suggest that there is a great need for a traffic light at the intersection of Farmington Rd. and Ann Arbor Trail.

I have noticed a great many accidents or near accidents at this intersection. I believe much of the problem has to do with the three - way stop signs and the unusual angle at which Farmington intersects Ann Arbor Trail.

With these factors, plus the fact that a school is located on that corner, with the nature center and the parkway being close by, there is much more possibility for children to get hurt.

Usually no action is taken until a fatality occurs. This time, let me urge the road commission to get out and put up a light at this dangerous intersection before something tragic happens.

Visiting Nurses Play Major Roles

PLYMOUTH

Visiting nurses in Plymouth:

- Are teaching a local patient recovering from a hip fracture to walk with a crutch and perform other motion exercises;
- Are training a newly diagnosed diabetic to administer his own insulin and control the disease;
- Are regularly changing bandages for a burn victim so that he may recover at home.

"They bridge the gap between full scale hospitalization and the patient's return to normal health," explains Mrs. Lucy Bates, supervisor for the metropolitan Detroit VNA which serves the Plymouth area.

TO STRETCH their resources as far as possible, the nurses teach family members and home health aides to handle such procedures as giving injections, bathing, or positioning in bed or wheelchair between visits.

Independence is their primary goal. "In every contact, the nurse tries to increase the patients' ability to make informed, self-directed decisions about their own health and health care," stresses Mrs. Bates.

Visiting nurses made 769 visits to 93 Plymouth families last year, but they are well ahead of this average in 1972, with 744 visits made just through August 25. Of these, 417 were paid by Medicare and Blue Cross, 39 by patients, and 288 were free to patients who otherwise could not have afforded such care. The latter are made possible by the Plymouth Community Fund.

Whether billed to the patient, or subsidized by Medicare or the Community Fund, medical costs are reduced significantly because of VNA services. VNA coordinators work with 34 Detroit area hospitals to plan for a patient's return home at the earliest date possible, without interruption to his recovery process.

OTHER VISITING nurse services are aimed at prevention as well as rehabilitation:

Nutritionists assist in meal planning for patients who are overweight, diabetic, or have heart disease.

Physical therapists conduct special exercises and gait training as prescribed by physicians to help handicapped or injured persons function normally.

Occupational therapists teach patients to improve coordination and strengthen weak muscles through crafts and normal daily activities.

Speech pathologists and social workers diagnose and treat persons with speech and language problems in a family-oriented therapy program.

In addition to registered and licensed practical nurses, the VNA members include home health aides who assist with personal care and homemaking services under nursing supervision when there is no one to care for the patient and home. Nursing students from five local universities also gain field experience through VNA.

Anyone who needs, or knows of someone who needs, the kinds of home care and guidance Visiting Nurses provide, may contact the Western Wayne County office in Dearborn.

Time Limit Placed On Trick Or Treat

PLYMOUTH

By official decree, "Trick or Treat" will be limited to 2½ hours on Hallowe'en.

Mayor James McKeon proclaimed that when the season of ghosts and goblins is upon us, the signs are most favorable between the hours of 5:30 and 8 p.m.

He claimed the richest rewards can be reaped when the signs are most favorable, and he has asked all parents to cooperate in a manner which provides the greatest safety for the small ghosts and goblins.

AF Reassigns Henry Henley

PLYMOUTH

Airman Henry M. Henley, son of Henry N. Henley of 11425 Cedar Lane, Plymouth, has been assigned to Sheppard AFB, Tex., after completing Air Force basic training.

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Tex., he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

He has been assigned to the Technical Training Center at Sheppard for specialized training as a medical services specialist.

He attended Plymouth High School.

Schools Will Switch To Computer System

By KATHY MORAN

PLYMOUTH

The first giant step toward computerizing the payroll, personnel records and financial records of the Plymouth School District was taken by the board of education Tuesday.

The board unanimously voted to allocate $30,000 of the building and site funds for the purchase of an IBM 3780 computer, a burster and verifier.

Most of the initial investment will be returned to the school district in June 1973, when the Wayne County Intermediate School District will buy the $25,000 computer back from the school district at the exact price paid.

School trustee Fred Penar said that the computer will tie into the Wayne County Intermediate School District's data processing equipment and will be sold back to WCISD so that the district will have some regulation over the computer.

Penar, who works with computers for Bendix Corp. in Ann Arbor, said the transition to the computer will be gradual with payroll and personal data first and financial data later.

SUPT. JOHN HOBEN and Penar have worked closely with officials from WCISD and IBM on the conversion to data processing.

The district has $12,00 budgeted for the operational cost in this year's budget and expects to use about $9,800. The expenses include programming, maintenance, forms, and a telephone link to the central computer.

Once the district is "computerized," Penar said the possibilities are endless for obtaining more information and data on the school district. He said they will be able to keep concise accurate attendance records and even cost out classes.

Though the computer will streamline many of the district's operations, Penar said that it will not eliminate personnel. Employes will have new functions and can be retrained to work with the computers.

Tribe To Dine

PLYMOUTH

The Masonic organization, Pilgrim White Tribe, will hold a smorgasbord and bazaar from 5 to 7 p.m. today (Saturday) in the Masonic Temple. The dinner charge will be $2.25 for adults and $1.75 for children.

Steinhilb Ends Basic Training

PLYMOUTH

Army Pvt. Michael Steinhilb, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Steinhilb, 4430 Napier, Plymouth, recently completed eight weeks of basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Pvt. Steinhilb trained with Co. C, 19th battalion, 5th brigade. He is a 1970 graduate of East High School, Garden City.

Rubbish Firm To Take Over Canton Landfill

CANTON TOWNSHIP

On the recommendation of its engineers, Canton Township's board of trustees has voted to enter into an agreement with the American Rubbish Co. that will take the township out of the sanitary fill business.

The contract means that American Rubbish Co. will operate and maintain the township's sanitary landfill site at Lilly near Michigan in return for use of the dumping ground for some of American's other customers.

A report from Wade, Trim and Associates, township engineers, said that the township's portion of the dump area has approximately 70 cubic yards, "ample to meet the township's needs for the next 10 - 15 years."

A monthly report from the operators will keep the township appraised of how much rubbish is being disposed of and how much space remains.

Canton Supervisor Philip Dingeldey viewed the contract as a big step forward in providing service to Canton residents, but he admitted his "dream" was a regular rubbish pickup service.

Arrangements for that just might come by the first of the year, he added.

...Welcome to Livonia Mall

We hope you'll join us in celebrating our 8th Anniversary. All the stores have planned exciting sales and values to show their appreciation of you, their customers and most valued assets, some of them advertised in this section.

To entertain you and the children while shopping, we'll have many attractions. There'll be the MAGIC CIRCUS SHOWS for the children where Ted. E. Bear, Hippy Hippo, Samantha Skunk, Terrible Turtle, Hairy Wolf and of course, the Ridiculous Rabbit will perform their magic tricks. There'll also be free balloons for the children at each show.

CHESTER (the mouse) with WILL HATCH (the human) will have a lively puppet show, too! You'll wonder which one is the puppet.

To complement our animal acts, we'll have IRENE BURNS with her TRAINED BIRDS. Her shows have been performed in nightclubs and on television across the country and is entertaining for young and old alike.

The small fry will also enjoy driving their very own car in our Mini Grand Prix . . . These electrically operated automobiles are safe for small children and can be driven by children up to 95 lbs. in weight. Do remember to stop by during our Anniversary. It's Thursday, Friday and Saturday, October 19, 20, 21.

Livonia, Southfield Led The List In Census

An Observer Roundup

The Observerland cities of Livonia and Southfield are the most affluent in the United States in their population categories.

Median income in Livonia in 1969 was $15,216, putting it in first place among cities with 100,000 or more population.

Southfield's median income was $18,141, making it first among all cities with 50,000 or more population.

These revelations came from the census service center of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments, regional data center for the U.S. Census Bureau. The compilations covered only incorporated cities and villages, not townships.

For the seven-county region, median family income was $12,053, according to SEMCOG Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick.

LOWEST AMONG the region's 15 communities with 50,000 or more population were Detroit, $10,045, and Pontiac, $9,861. The data was compiled from the 1970 census.

In 35 cities of 10,000 to 50,000, Beverly Hills ($22,909), Grosse Pointe Farms ($21,798) and Grosse Pointe Woods ($18,981) were reported to have the highest median family incomes while Highland Park ($8,716), Hamtramck ($9,395), and River Rouge ($9,433) were lowest.

Biggest household incomes were reported in two of the smallest communities. Bloomfield Hills (pop. 3,672) reported median family income at $46,715 and in Grosse Pointe Shores (pop. 3,034) it was $32,565.

Utilizing another standard of measure--cities with populations of 100,000 or more in the nation--Livonia ($15,216) was No. 1 in this category. Warren ($13,452) was fourth and Dearborn ($13,257) was fifth.

Following is a complete lising of median family income for all incorporated communities in southeast Michigan ranked by population class as published in the 1970 Census:

3 Businesses Are Fined

Three local businesses were fined a total of $450 for violations by the Michigan Liquor Control Commission.

The Quik Pik Food Store, 38675 Ann Arbor, Livonia, was fined $300 and its liquor license suspended for 15 days after being charged with selling alcoholic beverages to a minor. The suspension will begin Nov. 6.

A $50 fine was charged Ark Lanes West, 28435 Northwestern, Southfield, on the charge of allowing alcoholic beverages which were sold for consumption on the premises to be removed from the premises.

Accountants Will Meet

Detroit Chapter of the National Association of Accountants will meet Thursday, Oct. 19 at Larco's Inn, 7525 W. McNichols, Detroit.

Guest speaker Frederick P. Currier, president of Market Opinion Research, will discuss "Polling Techniques and the Election Outlook."

The meeting begins with a social hour at 5:45 p.m. and dinner at 6:30 p.m. Management accountants and friends are welcome.

Ex-QB

Mitch Ritter, three - year Wayne State University quarterback (1969 - 71), was a member of East Detroit Dino's which won the 1972 United States Softball Association Slow - pitch Championship with a seven - game sweep.

Ice Rinks Bustin' Out All Over!

An Observer Roundup

Dealers in ice skates and hockey equipment should be rubbing their hands with glee.

All Observerland seems to be in the process of putting its citizens on ice.

Livonia started the trend. Southfield came second. Plymouth was third, when it opened its new rink last month.

And this month Garden City and Redford Township are getting into the act. Both have had outdoor rinks, but this month new covered rinks go into operation. There are indications that Westland and Farmington won't be far behind.

MORE THAN 3,500 small and large boys are involved in hockey in Observerland's seven cities, and Plymouth and Livonia alone have 2,000 figure skating students. Southfield has more than 500, and the Garden City and Redford Township openings will undoubtedly add at least another 1,000.

Then there are the over-30 hockey leagues which are gaining in popularity. Last year, Southfield had four. This year it has eight, and next year it expects to have 12.

All of the currently-operating arenas also have lunch-time skating specials for adults. In Garden City interest seems to be running high in such a program, especially among the medical profession, according to Denny Rivard of the recreation department.

Plymouth is promoting Thursday evening "family nights," and Friday evenings have already become well-established as "teen nights," according to acting recreation director Dan Venezia.

Then, of course, there are the thousands of people who just came in to skate, at prices ranging from a low of 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults (in Plymouth) to a high of 50 cents for children and $1 for adults (in Redford Township). Livonia and Southfield charge 35 cents for adults. Non-resident prices are often higher. Hockey ice time usually costs $40 an hour.

AND "THEM AS has" are making plans to build more arenas. Livonia wants another larger one on Seven Mile Road, but is having trouble getting the voters to approve the $1.7 million needed. Southfield has the money and hopes to open another in 1973.

Livonia opened the first ice arena in Observerland in September, 1968. The Ford Field ice rink on Lyndon cost the city $585,000. Its second rink, Devon-Aire, was opened in February 1969, at a cost of $503,000 (it has no bleachers or dressing rooms). Funds for these came from a bond issue passed in 1966, when $4.4 million was voted to purchase land and build the rinks and two pools.

In 1968, Livonia had 650 persons, mostly girls and women, taking figure skating lessons from three instructors. Today the program is still growing. This year, there are 1,350 taking lessons, they have seven instructors and an eighth may be hired soon.

Kids line up overnight to register for the hockey program, and there is a waiting list. Livonia boys have to wait until they are seven to join the Mites. The normal starting age is five.

FIGURE SKATING instructors, who expected that the girls would lose interest as they began to notice the opposite sex, found things didn't work out this way. And the bigger the girl the more room is needed to practice.

"This is one way in which we can do more for girls," said a parks and recreation department employee.

Thus they feel a third rink is needed, and would like to have one which would accommodate more spectators for ice shows and hockey games.

Though the voters didn't approve a recent proposal for raising the money, the possibility of using Livonia's federal revenue sharing funds for this project is now being discussed.

SOUTHFIELD'S rink was opened officially in May, 1971, on its 179-acre Civic Center site. The facility, which includes the ice arena and a pool, came about as a result of a $3 million revenue bond. The revenue bond is to be repaid to the building authority by revenue from operations of the pool-rink and golf course.

Two additional pool-rink complexes will be funded by a $6 million general obligation bond, which was approved by the voters. It will be repaid by a tax levy in addition to the present tax structure, meaning an additional $7.50 per year per average home over a 20-year period. Work has already begun on a second complex.

Since Southfield and Livonia's rinks are tied up in a recreation package which includes the pools, it's difficult to say whether or not they can or will be self-supporting.

But according to Southfield sports arena manager, Rejean Tremblay, "The operation is successful. I don't think we lose money, but recreation is not to make money."

PLYMOUTH'S NEW rink opened two weeks ago and signed up its 650 figure skaters in the first few days. There is still room for a few more in daytime classes Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The first $70,000 for Plymouth's $1.5 million rink and cultural center came from the state of Michigan under the $100 million recreation bonding program approved in 1968. The city commission and municipal housing authority issued bonds for the balance of money, and the rink is built on land leased to the city by the Plymouth school board for $1 a year for 99 years.

Engineers in Garden City estimate that its $450,000 indoor arena will be open in two weeks. Because of the Supreme Court ruling on the Detroit riverfront stadium bond issue, Garden City officials were wondering how they would be able to pay for the rink.

Then came the news of the federal revenue sharing program and great jubilation. According to Mayor James W. Lowe, the city will receive $363,000 from the fund.

The new arena is located at the site of the old outdoor one, in the Garden City park on Merriman and Cherry Hill.

REDFORD TOWNSHIP will officially open its new rink at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 21.

The facility is being financed through bonds, and it is expected to pay for itself and retire the bonds over 29 years. The parks and recreation department will continue to maintain its outdoor rink on Beech Daly between Six and Seven Mile.

WESTLAND IS still working on plans to enclose one of its rinks, the one in Wildwood Jaycee Park. Westland officials have a state grant of $164,000 and the building authority will go to the city within the next month with proposals for raising additional funds. They're aiming at an early spring construction date.

According to Mayor Eugene McKinney, plans are being made for a facility that will serve as more than an ice rink, something that could be used to provide room for concerts and large group meetings as well as tennis courts.

Farmington, like Plymouth, has spent many years in debating about building a rink. It will be voted on again in November.

The latest proposal is to build a $1.2 million ice arena-sports complex on four acres on the Farmington High School property.

Modular Scheduling Approved

PLYMOUTH

Modular scheduling, a method of education which has met with varied response where it has been tried, apparently has won acceptance in Plymouth High School.

Surveys of parents, students and faculty found all three groups heartily in favor of the program, instituted in the fall of 1971.

The results, summarized by the Washtenaw County intermediate school district computer center, showed 60 per cent of the parents favoring modular scheduling while 27 per cent said they had an unfavorable opinion.

FIFTY - NINE percent of the parents responding to the survey said they believed students had displayed more self - responsibility since the program was started. Sixty - nine per cent reported their children as enthusiastic or more enthusiastic about school as compared with past years.

Student survey responses showed 76 per cent felt they were enjoying school more and only 15 per cent indicated otherwise. Eighty - one per cent said the flexible modular scheduling plan allows a better use of their time during the day.

In the area of academic achievement, 48 per cent of the students claimed they felt they were doing better or much better under modular scheduling and 15 per cent felt they were achieving less.

SIXTY - EIGHT per cent of the students said they hoped the schools would stay with modular scheduling, 22 per cent suggested that the system be modified and six per cent favored a return to traditional scheduling.

Eighty - one per cent of the faculty stated they liked modular scheduling and that Plymouth should stay with it. Forty per cent feel that student achievement is greater while 14 per cent disagreed. Sixty - one per cent of the staff expressed belief that students are learning additional skills, such as research and self - discipline.

For the parent survey, the school administration mailed questionnaires to every tenth parent on the student roster for a total of 225. One hundred parents responded.

"While the response to the mailed surveys was less than had been hoped for, those replies received were supportive," commented Kent A. Buikema, Plymouth - Canton principal who prepared the evaluation report. "One can normally assume that, in surveys of this nature, the people who receive questionnaires and have negative reactions will respond quickly in order to vent their emotions; those who have no strong feelings may not bother to respond.

"IF THIS IS a true assumption," Buikema went on, "then the 100 respondents should reflect, if anything, a more negative attitude. Our replies were heavily on the positive side, a definite plus for the program."

Another evaluation will be conducted this spring and, the school people said, adjustments will be again based on the findings.

The student survey was administered to all students during an extended homeroom period in May. From the total, 135 were selected at random from each grade level for a total of 405 respondents.

No attempt has yet been made to differentiate or compare responses based on grade levels. Nor has a comparison yet been made of grades achieved by students during the initial year of modular scheduling and in former years.

Teachers Skid For Safety

"A good skid can be an invaluable part of driver education," says Prof. Amos E. Neyhart, director emeritus of the Institute of Public Safety at the Pennsylvania State University.

"Lest anyone draw the wrong conclusion, I am referring, of course, to planned skids under carefully controlled conditions and accompanied by an experienced teacher," he hastily added.

Prof. Neyhart was reporting on the annual "Skid School" conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards on a glare ice course at Stevens Point, Wis.

"Each year this unique program provides a rare opportunity to some 60 high-school and college driver education teachers to develop the specialized skills needed to control skids on slippery pavements," he said.

"UNFORUNATELY, most drivers never have the opportunity of practicing skid control until faced with a real-life emergency situation on the highway," Prof. Neyhart noted.

Where does the real estate broker's profession come from? It is really the outgrowth of a very old idea, one that we can trace as far back as English common law. Today's broker is the decendant of a trust agency known back in the days of jolly old England as the bailiff or steward. The steward in the old days was the man appointed by the principal to take care of such business affairs as buying, selling, and money management in general. Today in America brokerage tries to keep up the tradition of the wise and trusted employee.

TO THE SUPERVISOR AND CLERK OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN.

Sirs:

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on October 12, 1972, decide and determine that certain streets described in the minutes of said Board should be County roads under the jurisdiction of the Board of County Road Commissioners. The minutes of said meeting fully describing said streets are hereby made a part of this notice, and are as follows:

Minutes of the regular meeting of the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, held at the Board's offices, 7th Floor, City-County Building, Detroit, Michigan at 9:00 A.M., Eastern Standard Time, Thursday, October 12, 1972

Present: Chairman Berry, Vice-Chairman Neudeck and Commissioner Burton.

"Commissioner Burton moved the adoption of the following resolution:

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan that it hereby accepts the dedication to the use of the public of the following described roads and they are hereby taken over as county roads and made a part of the county road system of the County of Wayne:

All of Beacon Hill and Concord Drives and Concord Court as dedicated to the use of the public in Beacon Estates Subdivision No. 2, part of the S.E. ¼ of Section 28, T. 1S., R. 8E., Plymouth Township, Wayne County, Michigan, as recorded in Liber 93 of Plats on Pages 70 and 71, Wayne County Records, constituting a total of 0.349 mile of County Road.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Neudeck and carried by the following vote

Ayes: Commissioners Berry, Neudeck and Burton.

Nays: None."

THIS NOTICE IS GIVEN UNDER AND BY VIRTUE OF ACT NO. 283 OF THE PUBLIC ACTS OF 1909, AS AMENDED. In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan, this 12th day of October, A.D. 1972.

At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the Commission Chambers of the City Hall on Thursday, November 2, 1972, at 7:30 P.M., a public hearing will be held to consider the following:

APPEAL CASE NO. 71-19 -- JAMES E. WILLIAMS, 38755 Angeline Circle, Livonia, Michigan, requesting permission to use the premises at 772 S. Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan, for both residential and business purposes for a period of one year, which is in conflict with Ordinance No. 341 - Zoning Ordinance of the City of Plymouth controlling use of property in specified districts.

This property is presently a nonconforming residential use (R-1) in a General Business (B-3) district and, therefore, may be used for either purpose. However, use of the property for both purposes would be in conflict with Article IV of Ordinance No. 341 (if the residential use is retained) which prevents the use of a residence for business purposes; or in conflict with Article X of Ordinance No. 341 (if the business use is applied) which prevents a place of business from being used as a residence.

All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the Hearing and at the close of said Hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Zoning Board of Appeals prior to rendering its decision.

Stempien Asks Costs Be Public

Democratic challenger Marvin Stempien has asked Republican Congressman Marvin Esch to reveal how much he spent in house - to - house mailings in Livonia, which is technically outside Esch's 2nd Congressional District until after the Nov. 7 election.

Stempien, a state representative from Livonia, spoke to 50 supporters at the home of the Eugene Starts in Livonia. Stempien said the Michigan Legislature had made its mailing expenses a matter of public record and called on Congress to do the same.

"Since the May 15 Federal Court order than changed the districts, the Republican candidate from Ann Arbor has mailed house - to-house seven times at taxpayer expense in the district of Congressman Jack McDonald, each time praising himself regarding Livonia issues," Stempien said.

"THOSE ARE the sort of messages we would expect from our congressman, Rep. McDonald, but certainly not seven times since May 15," he continued.

"In addition, Esch should disclose how much it cost the taxpayers for his trade - off house - to - house mailings to all of Lenawee County of a letter in glowing praise of his Republican collegaue Edward Hutchinson and a similar one to all of Livingston County for his Republican friend McDonald, who then returned the favor by mailing one at taxpayer expense to all of Livonia for Esch.

Stempien added that the members of the Michigan House long ago voluntarily established a policy of open disclosure of all staff, postage, office and travel expenses of each member.

"By our own rules, we have made those expenditures open to the public and the press. Congressmen, however, have carefully guarded the records of their expenditures in those areas, so the public cannot learn their extent.

"As the congressman from this district, I will fight for rules like those in Michigan that guarantee the right of the public to know how their tax dollars are spent," Stempien concluded.

YEA, TEAM — When the Livonia police football team takes to the field Saturday night to face a team from the Wayne County Sheriff department, they will be cheered on by Franklin High School's cheerleaders. The young ladies, who won a third place trophy at the U.S. Cheerleading Assn. Camp this past summer are: back row (from left) Nancy Wollens, Kim Scarpace, Donna Williams, and Karen Stock; front row, Kim Fier, Cindy Dransfield and Debbie Kline. Officer Dan Longhi, left, is a linebacker on the Livonia team. Officer Loren Carrel plays halfback. The game will be held Oct. 21 at Bentley High School field. Kickoff is 7 p.m., rain or shine. Esch Conservation Bill OK'd

WASHINGTON The U.S. House of Representatives has approved a bill originally sponsored by U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) which would expand the Youth Conservation Corps and make it a permanent program.

Esch sponsored legislation to establish the corps in 1970. He pointed out that of the 124,000 applicants in the first year of the program, only 2,600 students were hired. The new bill would expand authorization for 1973 to 25,000 and 50,000 in 1974.

Esch Asks 50,000 Jobs For Teachers

U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has drawn up legislation to provide teaching positions for the estimated 50,000 unemployed teachers in the country.

"My bill will create a special new addition to the Teachers Corps.," he said. "It will provide funds for the hiring of 50,000 teachers to be used in those schools which have a high concentration of disadvantaged students.

"These teachers paid with federal funds will not replace teachers already in the school system," he added, "but will supplement them in providing badly needed services to disadvantaged students."

Businessman Tax Courses At SC

Schoolcraft College has scheduled two classes to help small businessmen with their federal income tax. Both Saturday morning and weekday evening sections will be offered.

The Saturday class begins Oct. 21 and runs through Nov. 11. Entitled "income tax seminar," it will meet from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. It will provide a concentrated review and update of income tax information, and should be a profitable experience for those wishing to cover a great deal of ground in a short time.

The same basic tax information will be covered in the evening section "income tax--short course," which will be held Tuesday and Thursdays from Oct. 24 through Dec. 5. Meeting from 7 to 9 p.m. this class will enable a more in-depth study as well as time for individual problem solving.

Both classes will be taught by Gerald H. Brisse, BBA, a Livonia tax accountant. They are being sponsored by Schoolcraft's community services.

Tuition is $11 for residents and $22 for non-residents for the Saturday class, and $16.50 and $33 for the weekday evening section. Registration may be completed by calling Mrs. Lottie Malaniak at the College.

Candidates' Night

Congressional and state representative candidates from the Livonia-Plymouth-Westland area will attend a "Meet Your Candidates Night" Thursday, Oct. 19, at 7:45 p.m. in West Middle School, 44401 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

The public is invited to the meeting sponsored by the American Assn. of University Women and League of Women Voters.

Candidates from the 2nd and 15th Congressional districts will attend along with those from the 35th, 36th, 37th and 52nd state representative districts. The districts cover Livonia, Plymouth and Westland.

Allow Month To Get Your SS Number

People getting a social security number for the first time should apply at least a month before they'll need it, according to Sam F. Test, district manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office located at 17500 Lahser, Detroit.

"Applications from people who don't recall having had a social security number before generally are screened to make sure a second number isn't issued to the same person," Test said.

"Screening takes time, so apply for your social security number early and you'll have it when you need it--when you get a job covered by social security," he said.

A worker builds retirement, disability, and survivors protection for himself and his family by work and earnings credited to his nine-digit social security number.

"Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life," Test said. "Using more than one number can mean you're not getting full credit for your work and earnings."

"When you get a job covered by social security, you should make sure your employer copies your name and number correctly from your social security card to his records," he said.

More than nine out of 10 jobs are now covered or eligible to be covered by social security.

Farmington Artists Win

Farmington artists Dolores Gasior and Jerrine Habsburg have taken awards in the fall exhibit of the Palette and Brush Club.

Mrs. Gasior won the top award for her "Pink Rose," a still-life oil painting, and Mrs. Habsburg took a third for her "Summer Lawn," an oil landscape. Judging was by Prof. Albert Noyer of St. Mary's of Orchard Lake.

Both artists are members of the Farmington Artists Club.

The Palette and Brush Club exhibit will continue through Oct. 15 in the Galeria Fine Arts Gallery, Commerce and Orchard Lake Roads. The gallery is open from 2 to 5 p.m. every day except Wednesday.

A drip of hot water is more than a drop in the bucket

...it's money down the drain

Drip. Drip. Drip. A leaky faucet is an annoying noise. But it will annoy you even more when we tell you a water faucet leaking one drip per second will drip hundreds of gallons of hot water in a year's time. This means you're not only wasting water but probably wasting water heating dollars, too. Often, a new faucet washer and a few minutes of your time will cure the faucet drip. We've written a leaflet titled, "Keep Your Fuel Bills Down — Your Comfort Up." It's full of practical, do-it-yourself suggestions. Chairman Insists Jail Needed

Wayne County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick today warned against "misconceptions" regarding Proposition F, the jail construction proposal that will be on the Nov. 7 election ballot.

"Questions have been raised as to whether new jail facilities are needed in view of the fact that the population of the present jail has been reduced in recent months," FitzPatrick noted.

"Some people believe this shows that the jail population can be held down by the courts and that, therefore, a new jail is not needed. However, this is not the case.

"AS A RESULT of the orders issued by the three-judge Circuit Court panel, a new jail must be built. The court has ordered that the state jail and housing codes be met with regard to floor space and air space per prisoner. That is impossible at the present jail because the space simply is not available there."

FitzPatrick noted that the recently-completed Wayne County correctional needs study reported that the court would permit continued use of the present jail "provided a definite time table for ultimate elimination of the old jail could be established in conjunction with the construction of replacement facilities."

The report recommends phasing out the old jail by 1985.

"Therefore," FitzPatrick stated, "it is not a question of whether new jail facilities are needed. The only question is how the new jail facilities--which are required by law--will be financed.

"Financing through millage derived from Proposition F would be the most economical means by far. All alternative means of financing would require issuance of bonds. This would at least double, and perhaps triple, the ultimate cost of the facilities, due to the interest costs involved."

PROPOSITION F proposes a five-year property levy of 6/10th of 1 mill (60 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation) to finance new jail facilities. The levy would raise a total of $39 million.

The proposal was placed on the ballot along with Proposition G, which would finance construction of additional juvenile justice facilities.

Proposition G proposes a five-year property levy of 4/10ths of 1 mill (40 cents per $1,000 of equalized valuation) to finance an out-county Juvenile Court and Youth Home. The Juvenile Court complex on eastside Detroit would also be improved. The levy would raise $26 million.

County Sets Budget

A public hearing on Wayne County's tentative budget for next year will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 25 in the City-County Building auditorium.

The hearing will be conducted by the Ways and Means Committee of the County Board of Commissioners. The committee consists of all 26 commissioners.

"This is an opportunity for individual citizens and organizations to make comments and suggestions regarding any matter within the purview of county government," explained Commissioner Conrad L. Mallett (D-Detroit), ways and means chairman.

THE BOARD OF County Auditors, which submits the recommended annual budget to the Commissioners, recommended a total budget of $246.8 million for next year. That amount is $10.3 million more than this year's total outlays, but $25 million less than the total requested by county departments.

The public hearing will culminate nearly three weeks of budget hearings at which county department heads have been presenting what they consider to be their needs for the coming year. They have argued strongly for their original requests in appearances before the Commissioners.

The auditors' proposed budget touched off more argument than in any recent year because they recommended cutbacks while also reporting a $7.9 million surplus for this fiscal year. The surplus resulted from anticipated receipt of $15 million in federal revenue sharing funds.

Earlier in the year, the auditors had predicted a deficit of $12-$15 million this year.

IN THEIR recommended budget, the auditors eliminated 10 per cent of the jobs in most county departments. Nearly all those positions were already vacant due to cost controls imposed by the Board of Commissioners as the result of the predicted deficit.

Robert E. FitzPatrick, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, has predicted that the reported surplus will have to be used for anticipated costs not covered in the Auditors' recommendation.

The county budget year begins Dec. 1.

County Boycotting Non-UFW Lettuce

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has acted to support Cesear Chavez and his 10,000 United Farm Workers in their strike and boycott against non - union lettuce growers in Arizona and California.

Commissioners last week voted to purchase only Michigan - grown lettuce, or lettuce bearing the black Aztec eagle union symbol of UFW.

The action was taken in response to a resolution sponsored by Commissioners Paul Silver and Rose Mary C. Robinson, both of Detroit.

THROUGH ITS purchasing department, the county buys about $10,000 worth of lettuce each year. It is used primarily at the jail, County General Hospital, the Child Development Center and the Youth Home.

According to the resolution, the ban will remain in effect "for the duration of said boycott" of "until such time as the growers recognize and negotiate collective agreements with the United Farm Workers."

When the resolution came up for a vote, Mrs. Robinson emphasized the exclusion of Michigan - grown lettuce from the boycott.

TIME FOR A CHANGE
DOC KEETH

Just the same as political offices and babies, there is another thing that needs frequent changes.

That is the air filters in a forced air hearing system (or air conditioning system).

The above is just a little bit of information I'm passing along to you. It can save you discomfort, money and considerable gnashing of teeth . . . because clogged furnace filters are the one largest cause of service calls.

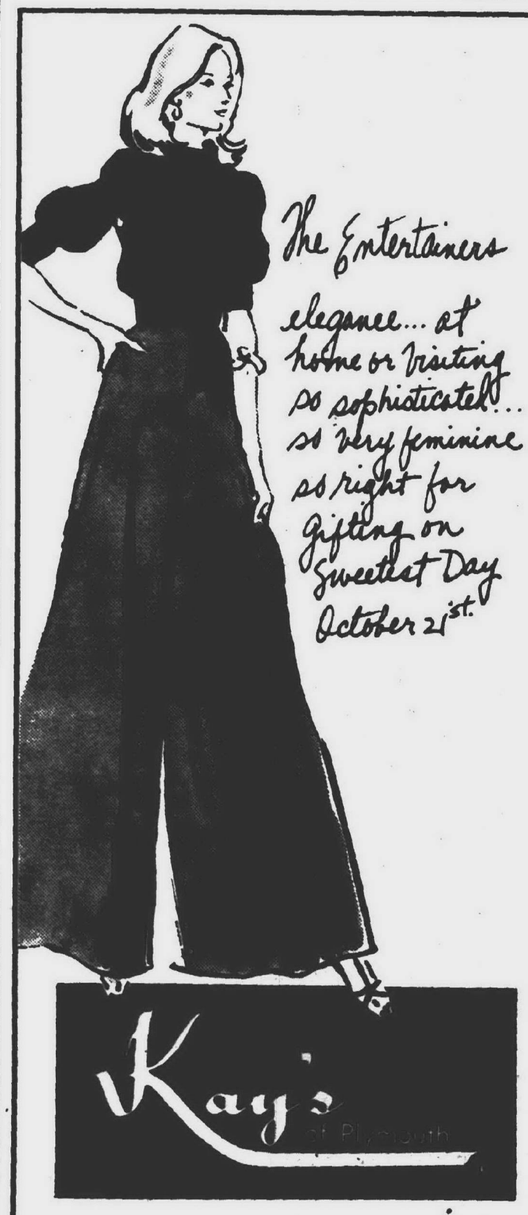

You see, when furnace filters become choked with dust, only a very small amount of air can get through. The furnace blower will run and run, but very little air will be pushed through the registers. And because so little air is going through the furnace, it overheats and the safety control shuts off the burner. Result: you get cold.

That's why I say again: change those filters . . . or at least clean the old ones. Filters can be taken out and some of the dust tapped out of them. This will keep them going a while longer, but new filters should be put in twice during the heating season. It's easy to do yourself, and they are inexpensive. Our shop has all sizes.

Never be ashamed of dirty filters. That merely means the system is doing its job of picking up, heating and recirculating the air. All air has dust in it. And it's better to have that dust in the filter than bouncing around the house. That's why Lennox puts oversize filters in its furnaces.

Another tip: don't operate a forced air furnace without filters . . . the dust then collects inside the furnace and ducts. If you have any questions, just call us at

SPECIAL TRIBUTE

LET IT BE KNOWN

That MARVIN R. STEMPIEN is leaving the House of Representatives after 3 terms in office.

In his 6 years in Lansing, Marvin Stempien has given selflessly of his very considerable talents and energy in finding solutions to the very complex problems facing the people of Michigan. A strong advocate of consumer protection laws, he was instrumental in the creation of the Michigan Consumer Council and worked very hard in securing the passage of the State's present laws protecting consumers.

In his first term in office Marvin Stempien served as a member of the Governor's Blue Ribbon Commission on Court Reform. In this capacity he contributed in no small way to the reformation of the State's court system. A proponent of district courts, he was successful in contributing to the realization of the district court system.

Mindful of man's abuse of his environment, Marvin Stempien's dynamism exhibited itself in the passage of very significant legislation concerning natural resources and ecology. He was a cosponsor of the "Environmental Control Act of 1970" and the "Truth in Pollution Act of 1970". Recognition of his concern for the environment came in 1971 when he was nominated to receive the "Conservationist of the Year" Award by the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

Evidence of his superb leadership qualities and devotion to hard work are amply attested to by his service as Majority Floor Leader and his membership in the very important House Committee on Appropriations where he is Chairman of the Subcommittees on General Government and on Computers. He is also a member of the Legislative Council and the House Fiscal Agency Board. In these positions he has demonstrated himself to be deeply concerned with legislative efficiency.

Born in Detroit on July 26, 1933, a graduate of the University of Detroit High School, the University of Michigan School of Business Administration and recipient of the degree of Juris Doctor from the Detroit College of Law in 1960, Marvin Stempien is married to the former Corinne Lotowski and is the father of 4 daughters Lynne, Christine, Sharon and Lisa.

In 1966 the Lansing Press Corps named Marvin Stempien as the "Outstanding Freshman Representative" of that year. His performance in every year since he was so honored has been nothing less than outstanding; now therefore

IN SPECIAL TRIBUTE, This document is signed and sealed to accord MARVIN R. STEMPIEN a unanimous accolade of tribute for his years of exemplary service to the people of Michigan.

Silver $1 For 75 Cents Boosts Sale

More than 5,000 new silver dollars will go on sale for 75 cents each at Wonderland Center, Plymouth at Middle Belt, beginning at 10 a.m. Thursday.

"Money sale" transactions will originate in the center of the mall from a teller's booth. No purchase is necessary nor are there eligibility requirements to buy a silver dollar at 75 cents. There will, however, be a limit of one coin per person.

The deflated dollar sale will continue uninterrupted throughout the day until all the dollars have been sold, or 6 p.m., whichever occurs first.

All transactions will be handled and supervised by Livonia National Bank personnel along with a reinforced security guard service.

Charles Bassin, president of Wonderland Merchants' Council, explained: "Today with so many people discouraged by growing inflation and shrinking dollars, we think the best way to share our Lucky 13 anniversary celebration is to give the public what they want -- real savings.

"So we're starting by giving away one quarter on each of the 5,000 silver dollars we're selling Thursday. And the four - day anniversary theme of 25 per cent, or more, off on a host of items is being carried out by merchants in our center."

GM Promotes 2 Area Men

Two area men have been promoted to general foreman at General Motors Fisher Body plant in Livonia.

Thomas D. Rudolph of 32027 Avondale, Westland, has been assigned as a foreman prior to his promotion and has been with GM since 1963.

Gerald J. Graham of 15039 Finch, Plymouth, was also a foreman prior to his promotion and has been with GM since 1957.

'Phone Magic' Show On Tour

"There'll be magic by a magician, and the magic of telephone service," said local Michigan Bell manager John Peard.

Wednesday-Friday: 11, 3, 7 and 8 p.m.

Saturday: 11, 1, 4 and 7 p.m.

Sunday: 1, 3 and 4 p.m.

Among the attractions will be phones six feet high. Visitors will be permitted to make local demonstration calls on these giant working phones.

KARRELL FOX
Phone Magician

Another attraction will allow customers to hear the sound of their voices on today's phones, as well as to hear how they would have sounded over the telephone in 1900 and in 1920.

An installation truck, called a mobile service center, will display not more than 300 different items an installer carries for his day-to-day job.

Indoor Golf Is Made Easy

If you become unhinged at the thought of what the long winter months can do to your now - perfectly grooved golf swing, take heart.

It doesn't have to happen.

Bookland Golf Course, Six Mile and Sheldon Rds., Northville, has added an indoor driving range to keep the swing fluid and the kinks from ever taking over.

The $30,000 addition is the first in the area, according to Ross ("Ben") Northrop III, owner - vice president of the par - 60 course. It will be open daily from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Group or private golf lessons are available from John Koch, PGA pro.

Brooklane has been a landmark to area residents long before in became a golf course in 1964. It is part of one of Wayne County's few remaining centennial farms and is still owned and operated by the seventh generation of the founding Northrop family.

Rail Depots Get A Second Chance To Thrive

Surprises are in store for those who like to see what has happened to old railroad depots around the state which no longer serve passenger traffic. Visiting them has become a growing pastime, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

These onetime railroad stations, most of them built in the 1880s and early 20th century, were exciting, busy community centers in their heyday. Many still are.

Take, for instance, the old depot at Indian River, built by the New York Central Railroad in 1877. It is now an antique and gift shop.

For four generations, people were greeted or bid goodbye at this old depot. They came to Indian River to go to their summer homes on Burt, Mullett and other nearby lakes.

IN THE SOUTHERN part of Michigan, you might drive to Kalamazoo for a meal at "The Whistle Stop," a restaurant in the old Pennsylvania Railroad depot. Here the atmosphere is early 1900, with valuable antiques such as a signed Tiffany lamp, as well as the old depot's waiting room benches now upholstered in tufted leather to make comfortable banquettes for diners.

Other depots also have become restaurants, a growing usage.

The Grand Trunk Western railroad in Lansing is the latest large station to be turned into a restaurant. It is schedule for opening in mid - November.

At Charlotte, the 1902 Michigan Central depot made a comeback 63 years later, also as an eating place.

A DEPOT now located near Romeo is owned by Bob Owen and operated as both a museum and sign shop. The depot formerly was located at Washington and owned by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, but a condition of the sale to Owen was that it be moved from the railroad right - of - way.

The old depot was what was called a combination station, handling both passengers and freight. The depot is about three miles south of Romeo, on M-53 at Van Dyke and 29 Mile roads.

Another station which has started a new career is the Ann Arbor Railroad depot in Howell, which has been converted into a museum by the Livingston County Historical Society and is open to the public. The old depot is a Michigan historic site.

Other small depots in the state, some nearly or already abandoned by their railroad owners, likely will be sold in the future and get a new lease on life. The trend from railroad transportation also may portend a new future for larger stations as well.

STAY ON M-27 as you travel north and you'll come to the old depot at Topinabee, used now as a community center by the Topinabee Township.

A few miles farther along, leave M-27 at Mullett Lake Drive and you will find that the Mullett Lake depot has been converted into a summer home.

At Marquette in the Upper Peninsula, the old two - story brick depot on Main Street now is the Marquette Community Center. The structure was built in 1901 by the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Railroad.

At Petoskey, on Little Traverse Bay, a little wooden depot built in 1901 and last used by the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, is now owned by the city and being restored as a museum.

The depot at Alden, near Mancelona, is still owned by the C & O, but has been leased to a group of its employees who use it as a summer cottage.

Stynes Named Dean At WSU

DR. STANLEY STYNES

Dr. Stanley K. Stynes, 35260 Scone, Livonia, has been named dean of Wayne State University's College of Engineering.

Dr. Stynes has been acting dean since July 1, 1970, and served before that as assistant dean for plans and programs and as a faculty member in the college's department of chemical engineering and materials science.

He replaces Dr. Ali B. Cambel, who was named executive vice president for academic administration in 1970 and later resigned to take a job in the Washington, D.C. area.

Stynes, 40, joined the WSU faculty in September 1956 as a chemical engineering instructor after earning his bachelor's degree from WSU in 1955. He received his master's degree in 1958 from Wayne State and a Ph.D. in 1963 from Purdue. He began full-time work at WSU in 1963 as an assistant professor.

SA Yule Gifts To Remember Servicemen

The Salvation Army is asking Observerland residents for the names and addresses of area servicemen still in the Vietnam area so that a Christmas gift can be sent to them.

SA Col. S. W. Franzen said, "There are a few men left in Vietnam and we must remember them."

Gift boxes contain instant shave cream, adjustable razor, toothpaste, spray deodorant and other asked for items. Gifts are donated by manufacturers and the parcel post mailing by The Salvation Army. Each package is valued at around $10, Col. Franzen added.

Needed information is: name, rank, serial number and zip code. This information should be sent to the Salvation Army, 601 Bagley, Detroit, 48226. Deadline is Nov. 3.

Charisma

LAMP CUT

SOFT, FREE — FLOWING, CASUAL NO CURLERS

The look of the 70's is soft, free flowing and casual without the use of rollers. And to achieve this, "Charisma" introduces the infared lamp cut.

The infared lamps remove the moisture in the hair while it is being shaped with razor sharp surgical shears to insure a very lean cut with the least amount of damage. This way we can point out your natural part, cowlick, and wave pat- of the hair the way it grows naturally.

This way the finished results are a soft free flowing hairstyle that can be cleansed daily, towel dried, shaped with the fingers and go -- no rollers, no spray. For evening wear and a more finished hairstyle, add a few hot rollers for a more finished touch.

Civil Tech Means Outdoors, Jobs

By KATHY MORAN

The chance to work outdoors and the guarantee of a well - paying job are chief advantages of the civil technology program offered at Schoolcraft College.

Unlike the overabundant liberal arts students who are clamoring for jobs, civil technologists can step right into positions in surveying, road design, materials testing, traffic control, and other engineering - related jobs as soon as they graduate.

"THE CIVIL technician is part of an engineering team," said Richard Holmes, industrial education director. "The technician is an engineer's helper. The engineer does the thinking and then delegates the work to technicians."

As more and more of an engineer's time is usurped by paper work, more and more technicians are needed.

The two - year program isn't an easy one -- but it opens up countless possibilities and gives the person interested in becoming a civil engineer a taste of what the job entails, Holmes said.

CURRENTLY the program is living in borrowed classroom space until an addition to the vocational - technical building is completed next fall. Then it will move into its own lab and concrete curing room.

For handicapped students and those who don't enjoy working outside, the career also expands into laboratory work where materials are tested -- the density of clays, sands and and gravel and the strength of concrete.

CUT IT OUT!

In this ad, you will find the only homes in Michigan that carry a full year of Palace Guard protection. The homes that a family can buy without worrying about costly, time-consuming repairs and replacement of important equipment. And Here's why:

When you buy a Real Estate One home through us, the Palace Guard people promise, in writing, to repair or replace for one full year, in case of operational failure in normal use or service, any parts within your home of the basic central heating system, plumbing system, plumbing fixtures, electrical system, water heater, even your leaky faucets and broken doorbells absolutely free! And that contract is offered at no cost to you. There is no cost to the home purchaser, and no extra charge to the seller over and above our normal sales commission.

So, get out your scissors, cut out this ad, and take it with you today when you go house-hunting. And if none of these happen to be just what you're looking for, we have lots of others, just call or stop in anytime. We'll make things simpler for YOU!

Used Home Buyer To Get Protection

"Believe it or not! ESP has come to Observerland," states Paul Y. Kadish, of Livonia, President of Midwest Homeowners Association, Inc.
Midwest Homeowners is a Michigan corporation formed early in 1972 to provide "Essential Services Protection" to buyers of used homes.
The ESP program is designed to give the homeowner relief from possible financial disaster in the event of a breakdown in the basic plumbing, heating, and electrical systems in the newly purchased used home.
ESP is being offered free in the Observerland area by Integrity Real Estate Co. of Garden City.
1. Electrical — all wiring systems in the house, switches, doorbell, outlets, circuit breakers and fuse boxes.
2. Plumbing system — lavatory fixtures, sinks, bathtubs, showers, laundry or stationary tubs, all components, fittings, parts and faucets attached. All waste, vent and water piping; including well pump, pressure tank, sump pump and all connections within the confines of the home or basement.
3. Hot water heaters — all types repaired or replaced with equivalent equipment.
4. Duct work, sheet metal, hot and cold air ducts, drafts, etc.
5. Repair and replacement coverage on central air-conditioner and water softener systems are optional.

TECHNICIANS
We Need Bright Minds To Help Make Bright Ideas Work!

Here at Eaton's Research Center, new concepts are developed and applied to an exciting variety of new products. Our diversification and growth now create challenging career opportunities for qualified technicians with background in these areas:

CIRCUIT DEVELOPMENT
Requires knowledge of analog and/or digital solid state circuit principles including component selection. Experience should include layout and buildup of prototype circuitry and familiarity with electronic test equipment.

MECHANICAL
Requires 2 years experience in areas related to assembly of prototype hardware, build-up of test rigs including instrumentation, conducting performance tests, and collecting and analyzing data. Experience with reciprocating, rotary and turbine engines helpful.

These positions carry salaries fully commensurate with actual responsibilities and experience plus a complete company paid benefits plan. Send your resume or letter of application including salary history and requirements.

VACATIONERS, HUNTERS SPORTSMEN . . . SEE THE VAGABOND AT O'GREEN'S WIDE WORLD OF CAMPING
"Southeastern Michigan's only Authorized Dealer"

Vagabond is in a class by itself . . . designed by people who know both the camper and the travel trailer world . . . have combined the finest, most desirable characteristics of both in the Vagabond Fifth Wheel.

Vagabond's furniture is rugged enough to withstand the rigors of vacation living . . . smart enough to be used in your living room at home. And talk about comfort! Vagabond gives you full-size beds in regular, twin or queen size.

Best of all, Vagabond is built to BE SAFE, is built TO LAST! Laminated construction assures many years of maintenance free use. Steel roll bars completely surround the unit, provide the utmost in safety.

Several 5th Wheel Models to Choose from . . . We arrange financing up to 7 years

Keep it in place with RK Men's Spray.
RK Men's Spray comes in two formulas: Regular-hold Hairdressing Spray and firm holding Professional Hairstyling Spray. RK Men's Spray contains absolutely no gums, resins, shellac or lacquers to stick-up your hair. It holds through molecular attraction, leaving the hair recombable while still maintaining your basic style.
Both these fine sprays maintain an acid-balanced pH on your hair and scalp to protect against irritation.

"AN INVITATION" TO THE HARD OF HEARING

SPEAK UP, PLEASE

Have you ever greeted someone: "It's a lovely day, the sky's so blue." And had them reply: "How kind you are, I'm feeling fine, thank you." Too many people miss so much because they're just afraid to let on they can't hear you or to wear a hearing aid.

Phone now for appointment for a complete hearing analysis; and no charge "wear-test trial" of our tiny "Avanti" aid.

Scouting Alumnae Plan Campout

"Where have all the Girl Scouts gone?

And then to marriage and families, and a few become Girl Scout leaders and wear the green again.

But not many get the chance coming this weekend for Senior Girl Scout Troop 258 of Farmington. Former members of that troop, and for some scouting days go back two decades, will gather on the farm of their longtime leader, Mrs. Bridget Reagan, now of Hillsdale.

THEIR HOSTESSES for the alumni campout will be the current seniors of Troop 258 and their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Sharpe. Victoria Sharpe was, naturally, a member of Mrs. Reagan's troop during her high school days.

Briget Reagan organized the troop in 1961. It was the first senior Girl Scout troop in the Farmington - Clarenceville area at that time, and for a lot of the years of its history it was the only one.

She stayed with the troop until two years ago when she and her husband, Fred, moved to their Hillsdale farm.

"Then a couple of us got thinking it would be fun to have a scout reunion, and from there it mushroomed," she said.

AT THIS POINT there are 26 families of former Troop 258ers planning to come for a weekend campout on the big farm.

Other families have sent word that they'll be there just for Saturday, when current members of the troop are planning a full day of activities for small fry as well as their parents.

One family is coming from Flint, Mrs. Sharpe said, and another from Ohio. "We have a couple of girls living in Illinois who wrote that they wouldn't be able to make it," she added.

A committee headed by Laura Langdon, 26364 LaMuera, Farmington, is getting in touch with former members. Miss Langdon, who graduated from Troop 258 last June, will give directions to the farm to those who call her.

SATURDAY'S ACTIVITIES will include a treasure hunt and games for everyone. After a potluck supper Saturday night there will be a camp fire with plenty of scout songs, and Sunday morning will begin with a Scouts' Own service on the farm.

Later, the alumnae and their families, as well as the present seniors, will attend Catholic and Methodist church services in Hillsdale, and at the latter the Reagans will receive a gift from their Farmington area scouting friends. Mrs. M.K. MacIlvaine of Farmington has headed arrangements for that part of the weekend.

BRIDGET REAGAN first led a junior Girl Scout troop in Detroit when her own girls, Judy and Jo, were members.

The senior troop was organized after the family moved to Farmington. Her first assistant was Pat Catherman, and later Mrs. Dorothy Leach, Mrs. Barbara Papke, and Mrs. Marge Schulkins worked with her.

Vicki and Ren Sharpe have headed the troop for the last two years, both before and since their marriage in June of this year.

Troop 258 now has more than 20 members and meets Tuesdays at 6:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Farmington.

SENIOR GIRLS SCOUTS of Farmington Troop 258 are planning an alumnae campout for former troop members and their families. It will be held on the Hillsdale farm on Mrs. Bridget Reagan, left, their longtime leader. Above, making arrangements, are (from left) Diane Kelly, troop president; Mrs. Victoria Sharpe, a member of Mrs. Reagan's troop and now leader; and Laura Langdon, recent graduate of the troop who is coordinating the weekend. ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Abigail Van Buren, the "Dear Abby" of newspaper and radio fame, will open the Farmington Town Hall series at 11 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 26, in the Northland Theater, Southfield.

Tickets for the series, which also includes Peter Lind Hayes, Nila Magidoff and Jeane Dixon, are $10 and available by calling the Farmington Community Center.

Celebrity luncheons in Vladimir's restaurant, Farmington, will follow the talks. Requests for reservations for the Van Buren luncheon must include the number printed on the season ticket.

m. m. memos

With busy daughters in three schools – four, if you count a university – I knew we were in for a year of close scheduling.

Just how close became clear in the last few days when I became aware that on three successive days I was being invited to three schools' annual open houses (open hice, maybe?)

The tidings came with an "I hope you can come but I know it's your night to work" from Miss Junior High, an "It's perfectly all right if you don't make it" from Miss High School and complete nonchalance from Miss Sixth Grade.

I figured probably I'd manage to attend all three affairs, along with the rest of the meetings and concerts that are coming for the rest of the year.

But I found myself looking ahead to next year, when we'd have everyone in just one school (unless, again you count institutions of higher learning.)

I mentioned this to our high school senior, commenting too that we'd be involved with just one Girl Scout troop instead of three or four.

"You had that for several years before any of us got to junior high," she pointed out, "and you just didn't appreciate it."

Art Linkletter Advises

Make Pot Use Misdemeanor

By MARGARET MILLER

Art Linkletter, who has had more reason than most to make a serious study of the drug scene, is convinced that marijuana is not a narcotic, but he can't go along with the push to legalize it.

"Misdemeanor" is the penalty he would hang on use and sale of marijuana.

"It should not be decriminalized or legalized, but it shouldn't be a felony," he told a Northville Town Hall audience here last week.

THE TOWN HALL'S opener, who has worked to understand the drug picture since his daughter's death three years ago, said during the celebrity luncheon that he considers marijuana the most misunderstood of drugs.

"The young feel pot is their alcohol," Linkletter said, "but there are some major differences.

"It has a reverse tolerance -- the more you take the less you need for a high. That's not true of alcohol, except in the case of an alcoholic.

"And a person may be completely stoned on marijuana, yet operate well physically. The trouble is, he's mentally disoriented. So he can get to his car and drive, but you don't know what he'll do with that car."

Linkletter said marijuana "is not a narcotic, not addictive and doesn't necessarily lead to use of other drugs."

"It's not as bad as we've thought, but it's not good," he added.

THE SPEAKER also said that he felt the president's commission that recently reported on a study of marijuana had taken into consideration all the past misinformation and had "swung too far the other way."

"Most thoughtful experts on drugs cannot accept that report in its entirety," he said, "and neither do I."

Besides reporting his observations of the drug scene, Linkletter related anecodotes, about his longtime friend, President Nixon; told about his radio and television interview shows, and drew a big round of applause when he said he was negotiating to begin another one.

He said his three - year "period of re-education"

MRS. LARRY ISRAEL

B'Nai Moshe Is Setting For Rites

Leda Margolin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Margolin of Sharon Lane, Southfield, became the bride of Larry Israel in a recent wedding in Congregation B'Nai Moshe, Oak Park.

Mrs. Mitchell Merzin of Royal Oak was matron of honor for her sister, and the bridesmaids were Michele Margolin, another sister, Barbara Israel of Deerfield, Ill., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Sheryl Baker of Fowlerville and Sylvia Gotlib of Royal Oak.

Cary Israel of Huntington Woods, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Seating the guests were two other brothers, Randy Israel of East Lansing and Dennis Israel of Deerfield, Ill., Mitchell Merzin of Royal Oak, brother-in-law of the bride, Jimmy Colman of Huntington Woods and Louis Rubinstien of Royal Oak.

A reception in Congregation B'Nai Moshe followed the ceremony, and the couple's honeymoon trip was to London, England.

They will live in Portland, Mich. The new Mrs. Israel teaches deaf and blind children at the Michigan School for the Blind and her husband works for Connecticut General in Grand Rapids.

Both are graduates of Michigan State University.

YWCA Celebrates International Week

A team of foreign affairs experts from the U.S. State Department will give a talk next week in the Oakland Branch, YWCA, 839 S. Crooks Road, Clawson.

The group will discuss "Contemporary China and International Trade" at 9:30 a.m., Wednesday, Oct. 25. The meeting is open to the public. Reservations are requested.

THE PROGRAM is part of a series of special events in observance of Michigan International Week Oct. 22 - 29 at the YWCA.

The theme "The World – Our Neighbor" emphasizes the growing understanding of mankind's interdependence and the need to work together to solve common problems.

Nicholas Patinos will be guest speaker Tuesday morning, Oct. 24, for the "Here and Now" discussion series. A luncheon of Greek foods will follow. Reservations are $2.

The branch's annual family smorgasbord will be held Tuesday, Oct. 24. There will be servings at 5:30 and 6:45 p.m.

A "PEACE TREE" will be planted on the YWCA grounds Saturday, Oct. 28, at 12:30 p.m. Members of the YWCA youth classes will take part in the dedication and boys and girls seven to 12 are invited.

The Oakland unit will serve again as a collection place for the UNICEF project, "Treat for Life," an extension of the yearly trick or treat program.

Gown Sees Its Ninth Baptism In 60 Years

A lace - trimmed baptismal gown, a family heirloom for 60 years now, had its ninth wearer Sunday, Oct. 15, when six - week - old Mathew John Van Horn of Livonia was baptized in Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

Bright - eyed Mathew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald C. Van Horn, 11030 Blackburn. He represented the fourth generation to wear the gown, sewn in 1912 by Mrs. Eda Helms in Lakewood, Ohio, for the christening of her nephew, Robert Henry Meyer.

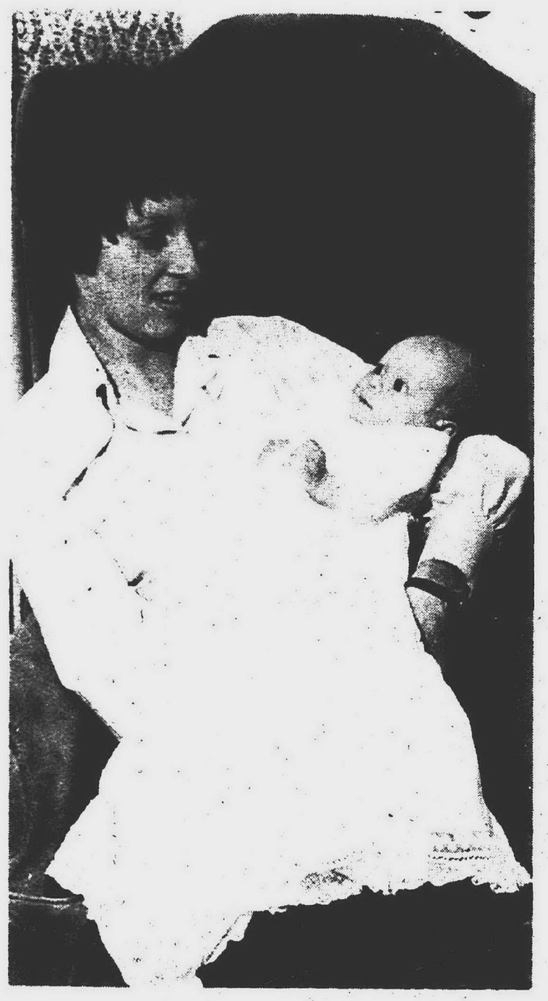

MATHEW'S MOTHER, Mrs. Cathy Lee Heimforth Van Horn, wore it when she was baptized in April, 1947. So did her mother, Mrs. Lenore Meyer Heimforth, at her baptism in August 1922. Mrs. Heimforth is Robert Meyer's niece.

Two of them served as sponsors for the baby on the occasion of the big gamily gathering. They are Linda Lintern Hasecke, Mrs. Van Horn's cousin, who wore the gown in June of 1948, and came from Pittsburgh for the occasion, and Keith Heimforth, Mathew's uncle, and a student at Central Michigan University. He was the gown's seventh wearer in 1953.

ON HAND to make the gathering a four - generation one were Mrs. Van Horn's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Heimforth of Traverse City.

MRS. CATHY VAN HORN admires her tiny son, Mathew, and his 60-year-old baptismal gown (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

NOT SO the heirloom gown, she had to admit.

"It's not exactly permanent press," the young mother explained. "Mother did it up for me, but after he'd worn it just a short time it really was a mess."

But everyone there was betting it would be back sparkling clean and fresh when the family's next baby is baptized.

Holiday Foods

"Entertaining for the Holidays" is the theme of a new series of shows in Kitchen Glamor's food auditorium, 26770 Grand River, Friday, Oct. 27, at 9:30 and 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Bea Tanner and Dot Wieler, home economists, will make mincemeat cookies, nutty cheese balls and fancy dips. No reservations are required. The show is being sponsored by Kitchen Glamor and the Oster Co.

Seniors Meet At K-C Hall

Interested seniors are invited to join club members at the hall every Wednesday afternoon from 1 to 4. There are no dues and coffee is served.

New Members

The Women of North Farmington, a charitable organization, is opening its membership rolls. Interested women may call Louise Dolsey, 28825 Ravenwood, Farmington.

Belly-Dance Reaches YW

Belly - dancing comes to the YWCA Friday, Oct. 20, when the Northwest Chapter, 25940 Grand River, begins an eight - week course.

The classes, scheduled from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., are offered in response to many requests for housewives looking for a fun way to slim down the midriff.

Fee for the course is $20, and those interested may telephone to reserve a class place. YWCA membership is required.

She Makes 3

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Minehart of Howell, formerly of Plymouth, announce the birth of their third child, a daughter, Christie Raquel, on Sept. 22. Christie has two brothers. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Minehart of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Engel of Northville.

Bride Wears Heirloom Watch

Parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams of Lyndon Avenue, Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. John G. Venning of Arden Avenue, Livonia.

THE BRIDE and her grandmother made her candlelight silk chiffon over satin gown trimmed with chantilly lace roses and pearls. A lace camelot cap held her three-tier veil and she carried a bouquet of white lavender and pink stephanotis, rosebuds and baby's breath.

The bridesmaids were three other sisters, Donna Lynn, Diane Kay and Judith Anne, and Nancy Jean Venning, sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid.

RON MELOCH of Detroit was best man. The ushers were Thom Brown of Livonia and the bridegroom's brothers, Donald and Robert.

Edy and David Ferguson of Chicago were flower girl and ring bearer. Edy wore a dress of white eyelet over pink taffeta and carried a basket of pink flowers.

They will live in Garden City. Both are completing studies at Eastern Michigan University. The new Mrs. Venning, a dietetics major, is employed by Ardmore Convalescent Home and her husband by the Livonia Public Schools.

MRS. JOHN WILLIAM VENNING (Linda Lee Adams)

MRS. STEPHEN L. BUSHROW (Susan Donna Wolf)

St. Bernadine Catholic Church in Westland was the setting for the Sept. 9 double-ring wedding of Susan Donna Wolf and Stephen L. Bushrow.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wolf of Warren Road, Westland, and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bushrow of Brown Street, Garden City.

Diane Orsucci of Westland was honor attendant for her sister. The bridesmaids were another sister, Francis Manning of Garden City, Megan Bushrow of Garden City, sister of the bridegroom, Jackie Burkowski of Westland and Mary Rakoczy of Romulus.

Paul Buda of Garden City was best man and the ushers were Scot Bushrow of Garden City, the bridegroom's brother, Frank Orsucci of Westland, Ed Wolf of Westland, brother of the bride, and Dan Anteau of Plymouth.

AFTER a Garrison House reception, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, Toronto and Kingston, Ont. They will live on the Kirtland Air Force base at Albuquerque, N. M. where the bridegroom is stationed.

He is a 1971 graduate of Garden City West High School. The new Mrs. Bushrow graduated from John Glenn High School in 1971 and attended Virginia Farrell Beauty School.

Stewarts Have Home In Wixom

Mr. and Mrs. Dannie Stewart are living in Wixom following their recent wedding in Grace Lutheran Church of Redford Township.

Mrs. Stewart is the former Karen Hilliard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli W. Hilliard of Briar Hill, Farmington.. Mr. and Mrs. Billie Stewart of Ontaga Avenue, Farmington, are her husband's parents.

The couple's marriage vows were heard by the Rev. Victor F. Halboth Sr., and a reception for 140 guests at Roma Hall in Livonia followed the ceremony.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a white organiza empire gown and floor - length veil, both trimmed in venetian lace. Her bouquet was yellow roses and white carnations.

Denise Hilliard was maid of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were two cousins, Jerilyn Schimke of Manistee and Candy McDonald of Farmington, and Julie Barns of Lansing.

PAUL La VOIE of Farmington was best man. The ushers were Steven Stewart of Farmington and Michael Stewart of Sterling Heights, brothers of the bridegroom, and Gary Tarnacki of Wyandotte.

Both are graduates of Farmington High School. The new Mrs. Stewart also graduated from Central Michigan University and teaches in the Waterford public schools. Her husband is employed by Barton - Malon Co.

Shetland Isles

Andrew Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Young of Lindsay Drive, Plymouth, was married recently in the Shetland Islands, Scotland, to Maureen Arthur.

Scene Of Vows

The wedding took place in the Church of Scotland in Weisdale, and was followed by a reception in the Lerwick hotel.

The bridegroom is a 1968 graduate of Plymouth High School and is serving in the U.S. Coast Guard, stationed at Loran Monitor Station in the Shetland Islands.

Pictures for wedding and engagement announcements must be mailed or brought to the office of The Observer Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, 48150. Forms to supply the necessary information also may be obtained there. Pictures should be black and white and clear, and wedding pictures must be of the bride alone.

Our picture-printing charge is $2.50 for engagement and one-column wedding pictures, and $5 for two-column wedding pictures. Checks should be made out to The Observer Newspapers.

Pictures can be mailed back only if an addressed and stamped envelope is supplied. They also may be picked up at the office at 36251 Schoolcraft after publication.

It is not possible to inform you exactly when the announcement will be printed.

about drugs showed him the scene changes constantly, and he listed up - to - date developments.

"The drug abuse problem is like a tide that's been coming in for 12 years and may not be coming quite as fast, but it's still with us," he said.

DARK NEW PARTS of the picture in 1972, he said, are the increased use of barbituates, "easily available in mother's cabinet;" discovery of cocaine, "which addicts mentally," and the fact that younger kids than ever are using drugs.

"Then there's mescaline," he added. "The kids now are afraid of LSD, so they decided to switch to mescaline. Trouble is, they get it from kid pushers, and it's not mescaline at all, but LSD, because that's cheap."

He also said a fairly recent drug use is the "fruit salad party."

"Everybody brings some pills and they put them in a big bowl and take potluck," he added. "Then if someone winds up in the hospital what he had taken."

TO FIGHT drug abuse, Linkletter recommended, parents should first realize that "every kid who grows up in the U.S. today is sometime going to have the chance to take drugs -- your dear, sweet child could get into it like mine did."

Then, he added, parents should learn about the drug picture, "look in the mirror" and make an honest appraisal of their own dependence on pills, alcohol or even cigarets or coffee, and try to keep close to their children by rapping and listening and letting him know he has behavior limits.

New developments on the good side, Linkletter said are the natural decline of acid rock music in favor of country rock, a great resurgence of Christian thinking among the young, a move on the part of schools to put drug education into the curriculum and a drive among young people to brand drug use as "stupid" and the behavior of a "jerk."

"It is a fact," he said, "that 75 per cent of all kids who try drugs do it only experimentally, and that only a very few become addicts. But that law of averages isn't very comforting when the one hurt is your kid."

LINKLETTER also had a few pithy comments on raising children, and conceded the job gets harder all the time.

"You can't talk to them any more because they know more than you do," he said, "and you can't punish them because they're bigger.

Shirley Chisholm Will Speak At Symposium

Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm of New York will highlight a two-day symposium on "The American Woman" Oct. 20 and 21 in Mount Clemens.

Rep. Chisholm will speak on "The Status of Women" at 8 p.m., Friday, in the Mount Clemens High School Auditorium, 155 Cass. A reception and dinner will precede her talk and a public reception will follow at the high school.

SCHEDULED TO lead symposium discussions Saturday are Lorraine Beebe, chairwoman of the Michigan Women's Commission; Jane Hart and Dr. Ethelene J. Crockett, prominent women activists; Mildred Jeffrey of the United Auto Workers; Elly M. Petersen, former chairman of the Michigan Republican Party; and Dr. Bette C. White, associate dean of students of Eastern Michigan University.

Saturday's program will begin at 9:30 a.m. in Grace Episcopal Church, 115 S. Gratiot, Mount Clemens.

Tickets for the two-day program are $10. Tickets for Friday evening only are $3.

RESERVATIONS MAY be made by calling the church or one of the sponsoring organizations.

These include, besides Grace Church, the League of Women Voters, the United Auto Workers, the Welfare Rights Organization and the National Organization for Women.

Saturdsy morning's program will feature a series of short presentations by the symposium leaders on legislation and law, education and employment, female sexuality and religion and culture. In the afternoon, there will be small group meetings with the leaders acting as resource persons. Adjournment will be at 4:30 p.m.

REP. SHIRLEY CHISHOLM

'Alternative Careers' Will Be Discussed

"Beyond the Classroom: Alternative Careers for Teachers" will be discussed Wednesday, Oct. 25, at the Center for Continuing Education of Women, 330 Thompson Street, Ann Arbor. The program will begin at 10 a.m.

There will be a panel presentation by persons who have found successful alternatives and a display of ideas about jobs in traditional and not - so - traditional fields. Areas to be explored include day care, recreation, administration, community development and educational games.

Fall Fashions To Be Shown

On Monday, Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m., Resurrection Orthodox Church will sponsor a fashion show and card party.

The event will be held in the fellowship hall of North Congregational Church, 26275 Northwestern Hwy., Southfield.

The Ladies' Altar Guild of Resurrection Church is presenting the party to benefit the church's building fund.

Those on the committee include Mrs. Mary Skorich, Mrs. Olga Todoroff, Mrs. Catherine Kurap, Mrs. Mitza Petroff, Mrs. Helen Hall, Mrs. Violet Cary and Mrs. Maria Soof.

Over 100 prizes will be awarded. Tickets are $2.50 and may be purchased at the door on the evening of the show.

New School Operating For Pregnant Girls

A school made necessary by a new state law is now operating in First United Methodist Church of Garden City, 6443 Merriman.

The school is for pregnant high school girls who do not wish to attend their regular high school classes, but at the same time don't want to drop out of school.

Up to this year high school girls who were pregnant could have a teacher come to their homes and tutor them.

BUT UNDER the new state law, it became illegal for the schools to provide this service on the grounds that pregnancy couldn't be considered a special education handicap.

The law does make provision for an alternative program, and this is what is now in successful operation in Garden City.

Since its opening in September, it has had a fluctuating enrollment of between 17 and 22. Two of its students have had their babies, but will return to the special school until the end of the semester, when they will re - enter their regular school programs.

THE PROGRAM, although housed in Garden City, is designed to serve Plymouth, Wayne, Redford Union, Livonia, and Romulus school districts as well as Garden City.

The state pays up to $8,100 for each teacher's salary, and the local school boards pay other expenses, such as rental of the church's facilities, on a proportionate basis.

The program was set up during the summer by Wayne County school officials, who felt that the Garden City church offered the needed space.

The planning committee was advised by a state consultant that it seemed better to have the girls attend classes outside a regular school building.

Some districts are offering transportation to and from the church. In others, the students must provide their own.

More teachers will be hired if they are needed, and it is planned to bring in special teachers for special subjects as the program tries to meet the needs and the wants of the individual.

Actually the program is open to any girl or woman in the community who is pregnant and who has not completed high school. Interested persons may contact their local school counselors.

'Happiness' Awards Go To 5 In Area

These are the Observer area residents who have won 1972 Happiness Awards in connection with metropolitan Detroit's annual observance of Sweetest Day, Saturday, Oct. 21.

The Sweetest Day committee, working with the Kiwanis clubs in the area, asked for nominations of people who went out of their way to make other people happy.

TWENTY - FIVE were honored yesterday in the Happiness Awards program luncheon in the Detroit Hilton hotel.

Observerland winners were Cheryl Pullum of Redford Township, Mrs. Kitty McKinney of Westland, the Rev. Elsie Johns of the Clarenceville United Methodist Church and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hirsch of Farmington.

Fifteen - year - old Cheryl couldn't stop to talk about winning when notified last week. She was on her way to a meeting of the "Lend a Hand" program, that helps children learn to read.

WESTLAND MAYOR Eugene McKinney nominated his mother, Kitty McKinney, 70, for her award.

Mrs. McKinney, a widow since 1951, is involved in Girl Scouting, the PTA, the United Foundation, the Red Cross and other charitable organizations, and still finds time to babysit 11 grandchildren.

Rev. Johns, now 68 and known to everyone in her congregation as Elsie, has served the Clarenceville church more than 30 years and built it from next to nothing to one of the biggest in the area. Besides three sermons a Sunday, she manages plenty of visits to the sick and bereaved. A member of her congregation, Alvira Daley of Farmington, nominated her.

HELEN AND LEE HIRSCH operate as a team. Mrs. Hirsch, totally blind, teaches other blind people to read braille and to cook. Her husband drives her everywhere she needs to go.

Girl Scout Convention Begins Sunday

More than 60 members of three area Girl Scout councils will be in Dallas, Texas, Oct. 22 - 25 for the 39th convention of the National Council, Girl Scouts of the USA.

In all, some 4,000 delegates, representing every local Girl Scout council throughout the country, are expected to attend.

They include 21 from the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, 16 from the Southern Oakland Girl Scouts and 20 delegates, two Senior Scouts and 10 visitors from the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit.

Among the Huron Valley delegates will be Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing of Plymouth. Mrs. Hulsing, who was council president from 1963 - 69, will attend as one of the six members of the regional committee of Region 4, which directs activities of 94 councils in seven states. Mrs. Louis Peppler of Westland will also be a delegate. Mrs. George Bauer and Mrs. Edmund Snyder of Plymouth will attend as visitors.

Mrs. Donald Riley of Farmington will be among the Southern Oakland group. An active volunteer in girl scouting, Mrs. Riley serves as a cadette troop leader and as a member of the program services committee.

Mrs. Gerald Bartlett and Mrs. Stewart Headley of Livonia and Mrs. Lawrence Hoeppner and Noreen Carroll of Redford Township are among the Detroit Council delegates. Miss Carroll is a Senior Scout representative.

One of the major decisions to be made at the convention will be whether to revise the Girl Scout promise and laws. Re - wording is being considered to provide greater clarity, to update the vocabulary and usage, to make them more meaningful to scouts at different age levels and to offer broader ethical guidelines.

Discussions will also be held about a proposal to lower the age limit for delegates to 14. Currently, delegates must be adults.

COLLEEN TAGUE, 15, of Westland, submitted a recipe for pineapple cheesecake that won second place in the 1972 Weight Watchers State Fair recipe contest.

Trinity Guild To Hold Sale

The Ladies Parish Service Guild of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, 39020 Five Mile, Livonia, will hold a rummage and bake sale from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Oct. 20 and 21.

Proceeds will be used to equip the kitchen of the church's new facility, now under construction.

Clothing, furniture and toys will be on sale, and there will be a shop for nearly-new items. A "$1-a-bag sale" will be held from 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday.

Towne Club Plans Trip

The Livonia Towne Club will take a bus trip to Jackson on Thursday, Oct. 19. The first stop will be the gift shop of Jackson State Prison.

After lunch, the group will tour the Ella Sharpe Museum and see a spinning demonstration.

The bus will leave the rear of the Farmer Jack supermarket at Wonderland Shopping Center, Middle Belt and Plymouth Roads, Livonia, at 8:45 a.m.

Isn't it curious he chose an election year to change his mind?

It's happening with Robert Griffin.

In December of 1967, when the late Senator Dirksen introduced an amendment to ban the use of federal funds for busing, Griffin fought the effort with his own amendment. In fact, Griffin's amendment allowed federal money for voluntary or court-ordered busing.

"I, for one," said Griffin, "do not want to vote for an amendment that would, here and now, make Federal policy against the busing of students." (Congressional Record, p. 34975, December 4, 1967)

In 1970, Senator Ervin offered a bill to block court-ordered busing on the basis of race. Griffin voted no. On April 26, 1971, the same bill to block busing came up again. Griffin voted no again.

Frank Kelley:

Frank Kelley, Michigan's Attorney General, has a clear stand on schools and busing. He's against segregation and racial discrimination—because it's unconstitutional and immoral.

And he's also against forced busing—because it won't work and because it's unfair to both black and white parents and children. Kelley isn't fighting busing with press releases and talk. He's been in federal court for the past two years, fighting—and winning—the battle for neighborhood education.

But one thing's for sure. You know that he'll stand by what he says.

And it's about time Michigan had that kind of man in the United States Senate.

Vote for Frank Kelley for United States Senate.

Youth Symphony Picks 100 Members

Plymouth this year has two members in the group. They are Margaret Lang and Libby Glover, string players.

Livonia is represented by seven young musicians: string players Melissa and Davin Pierson, and, in the brass section, Randy Evenden, Karen Nixon, Tony Bango, Paul Randall and Alger Labo.

The preliminary roster includes 51 new members and 43 returning players. Further auditions are scheduled for Oct. 21 and several more players will be added in the string section. Persons interested in auditioning should call the symphony office in Ford Auditorium.

Under the baton of Paul Freeman, the Youth Symphony will begin its concerts on Dec. 3 in Ford Auditorium.

THE GROUP will devote much of its time to rehearsals, meeting most Saturday afternoons for intensive work sessions with many members of the Detroit Symphony as well as some of its noted guest conductors.

Only a few major American orchestras sponsor a youth orchestra. A milestone in the two-year-old Detroit program was reached last month when Phillip Austin, a bassoonist, became the first Youth Orchestra "graduate" to be named a member of the Detroit Symphony.

Randy Hicks, a percussion player, became the first member to join a professional symphony when he was appointed to the New Jersey Sumphony last year.

Musicians To Tour

Auditions for student musicians who are interested in touring next summer are being held this month by the Youth for Understanding Chorale, string ensemble and wind ensemble, and by the Southern Michigan Youth Chorale.

In 1973 the YFU chorale and string ensemble will tour Central and South America, while the wind ensemble will tour southern Europe.

Auditions are being held in Ann Arbor, where weekly rehearsals will begin in November. Interested students should contact the YFU International Headquarters, 2015 Washtenaw Avenue, Ann Arbor, 48104.

Auditions for the Southern Michigan Chorale, which will tour Europe, are being held Oct. 21 and 28, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Appointment times must be arranged by calling the program director, Eugene Mogle, 1012 N. Pleasant, Royal Oak. Persons between the ages of 16 and 20, who are recommended by their high school or church choir directors, may audition.

Father, Son To Star In Redford Concert

Young Brian Moon will be ably assisted by his father, Benny Moon, when he is featured in a trumpet solo at the Redford Civic Symphony's first concert of the season Sunday.

The event will take place at 4 p.m. in the gymnasium of Redford Union High School, Kinloch and Curtis, Redford Township.

Brian, who is in the 11th grade at Stevenson High School, Livonia, will play Trumpet Concerto by Joseph Haydn. For this selection, his father will take over the baton from the symphony's regular conductor, John Gajec.

BRIAN MOON

TICKETS WILL be on sale at the door, or season tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Darwin Smith, 8846 Riverview, Detroit 48239. Mrs. Smith is membership chairman of the Redford Township Music Society, sponsor of the four - concert season of the symphony. Members are invited to bring friends. They will be admitted on their host's membership cards.

Gajec will conduct the symphony in a varied program, opening the first half with "March Militaire Francaise" from Saint - Saens' "Algerian Suite," and the second half with "Danse Macabre," a symphonic poem by the same composer. Minota Pollock will play the violin solo for this.

A country dance by Samuel Barber and the trumpet solo will be heard in the first half of the program. The second half will feature Bizet's first symphony in C major.

Tea tables for the afterglo will be hosted by the Graham Civic Association and the On - A - Teska - Wa - Hanka Camp Fire Girls.

SUNDAY'S SOLOIST is the first of four young artists who will be given an opportunity to perform with the symphony this season.

He has been a member of the Livonia Youth Symphony for five years.

In 1971, he studied at the Schoolcraft College Summer Music School. This past summer, he spent eight weeks playing in the Berkshire Music Festival Young Artist Orchestra at Tanglewood in Lenox, Mass.

When he returned home, he played his second year with the Michigan State Fair Honors Band. Last fall and spring, he performed with the Detroit Youth Orchestra and Dearborn Community Theater Orchestra in a musical.

The symphony's second concert will be on Dec. 17 with the Ford Chorus as guest artists. Linda Banford will play a flute solo.

The music society is also working on arrangements to sponsor a concert by the Australian child prodigy, pianist Rita Reichman. This will be at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, Nov. 4, in the Masonic Auditorium, Detroit. Tickets are now on sale at the auditorium box office, Grinnell's and Hudson's.

Vogel Offers Acting Classes

Russ Vogel of Livonia, founder of Production Players, will hold a series of workshops in acting for children between the ages of nine and 13.

Classes will be held on Wednesday and Saturday evenings for three weeks and will cost $12 per person. Enrollment will be limited.

Parents wishing to enroll their children should write to Production Players, P.O. Box 2595, Livonia, 48150. Registrations will close Friday, Oct. 20.

Singles Club Meets Tonight

Activities Unlimited, a club for singles between the ages of 18 and 25, will meet at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 18, in the annex of St. Mel's Catholic Church, 27319 Kennedy Drive, Dearborn Heights.

The members will discuss plans for a hayride in Canada on Saturday, Oct. 21. All persons who wish to join the club may attend the meeting or contact Maureen Regan, 8293 Bristol, Westland, 48185. Activities Unlimited will celebrate its first anniversary in November.

Church Hosts Art Show

Garden City artists and craftsmen will have a gallery close to home for at least one day, thanks to Barbara Gosney, a mother of four who is also a leisure - time painter.

She's getting some help from St. David's Episcopal Church and its rector, the Rev. Robert Burrows.

The result is that about 20 artists and craftsmen will have their work displayed and sold in the church from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Saturday, Oct. 21. St. David's is located at 27500 Marquette, one block west of Inkster Road.

Mrs. Gosney, who has been painting as a hobby for the past nine years, decided that Garden City needed a place in which amateur artists could display and sell their work.

AFTER SECURING the church's cooperation, she found that interest in the show soon spread among its members, persons with whom she had studied art at Fordson High School and with their relatives. The result is a show that has a wide variety of offerings.

Garden City residents involved are Florence Stinson, who will draw pastel portraits and cartoons at the show, as well as show oil paintings; Carol Dorsey, who paints on velvet and makes stone jewelry; Mrs. Gosney, with her oil and acrylic paintings; Joyce Beaver, Sandy Madinces, Thomie Goldener, Evelyn Cioccio, Sheryl Murrell and Gladys Hess, who specialize in ceramics; Kay Fernitz, with polyester neckties; Jonelle Peake, with grape clusters and wall plaques; and Donna Dickman, with driftwood and dried flower arrangements.

Sandy Gehr of Westland will also display flower arrangements.

Also in the show will be Dorothy Munroe of Livonia, with macrame, straw flowers, dipped flowers and Christmas boxes; Lynn Keller of Bloomfield Hills with paper tole; Joan Patrias of Dearborn, with oil and charcoal paintings; Rosemary Smith of Wayne and John Hyska of Florida, with oil paintings; and Dorothea Brune of Bloomfield Hills, with decoupage, moulage and cut glass.

Switch-hitter

Emil can be found behind the bar, or managing the restaurant. He plays both roles at the Scotch.

He's a careful man. Take his car, for instance; never a scratch on it, always in A-1 mechanical condition. Like you wish you would keep your car.

He's like that about you, in the Scotch. Careful about your food and drink. Careful about the service.

Weekly Bridge Games Now Available In Area

Metropolitan Detroit has become the third city in the nation where bridge players can find a game any weekday afternoon or evening.

Bridgeplayers, International, inaugurated in Chicago last July by Richard Cooper, has set up 12 Detroit area locations where bridge - playing will take place at 1 and 7:30 p.m.

They include the Hines Park Inn, 36655 Plymouth Road, Livonia, and Redford Presbyterian Church, 17228 Redford Avenue, Redford Township. The games will be held in Livonia each Wednesday, and in Redford Township, each Thursday.

Area bridgeplayers may also attend sessions in Dearborn each Tuesday, in Christ Episcopal Church, 120 N. Miliary; and in Dearborn Heights each Wednesday, in Good Shepherd Episcopal Church, 4138 Williams.

In Birmingham, Christ Lutheran Church, 20855 West 13 Mile, has games on Wednesdays, and the Birmingham YMCA, 400 East Lincoln, has play scheduled Thursdays.

There is a membership fee which entitles the bridgeplayer to participate in any of the games. There is also a fee for each session.

The game played is Chicago Bridge, a four - hand rotation that provides a maximum variety in partners. Also a point system, similar to a golf handicap, is used to balance the advantage more experienced players have over novices.

A host or hostess is on hand to welcome newcomers, to make rulings on questioned plays, and to provide instruction in the game to those who want it. There is no additional cost for this.

"Bridge is a transportable pleasure," says Cooper, "and in our increasingly mobile society, I think bridgeplayers will form a unique social phenomenon for men and women who travel on business and may want to play bridge during a free evening, and for families who move to other cities and want a quick way to get acquainted in the community."

MRS. RICK L. JAMES (Joyce Allen)

Joyce Christine Allan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll B. Chapin, became the bride of Rick L. James, of Farmington, Saturday, Sept. 9. A reception was held at Plum Hollow Golf Club following the wedding ceremony at Grace Lutheran Church. The couple will make their home in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Schoolcraft Offers Kids' Movies Free

Showings will be at 11 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m., in the college's Liberal Arts Building Theater, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

School-age children will see "Animals in Autumn," "Bear Country," "Mr. Magoo" and "I'm No Fool with a Bicycle," starring Jiminy Cricket.

Pre-schoolers will see "Little Red Hen," "Foolish Frog" and "Country Mouse and City Mouse." Their movies are shown in a separate room in the Liberal Arts Building, so they are free to sit on the floor or roam around as they please.

The movies last about an hour and refreshments are served.

Farmington AAUW Meets

The development of site activities at Westbrook School will be shown in a slide presentation at a meeting of the Farmington Branch of the American Association of University Women at 8 p.m., Wednesday, Oct. 18. The meeting will be in the Farmington Community Center, 24705 Farmington Road.

Co-chairmen of the hospitality committee are Mrs. Richard Miller and Mrs. Tad Bury. They will be assisted by Mrs. John Friess, Mrs. Gerald Heatter, Mrs. Paul Braunstein, Mrs. Robert Briggs, Mrs. Marjorie Brown and Mrs. Bernadene Blosser.

Women's Symphony To Perform

The 26th season of the Detroit Women's Symphony opens at 8:30 p.m., Friday, Oct. 20, in Rackham Auditorium, Woodward at Farnsworth, Detroit.

The 34-member orchestra is the last all-women's symphony in the U.S. Among the members are Carole Malitz and Mary Jo Smith of Farmington; Peggy Bunge, of Garden City; Barbara Runkle of Livonia; and Hanna Lahti and Nel Wardrop of Southfield.

Valter Poole, former associate conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra and conductor of the Wayne State Symphony Orchestra, will conduct the symphony

General Admission to the concert, sponsored by the University Center for Adult Education, is $2.50. Students and senior citizens will be charged $1.
