An explosion is about to hit the Plymouth School District attached.

The explosion will be in student population growth, and the $21 million bill is the anticipated cost for providing schools.

Plymouth schools are on the verge of the same population explosion that hit Livonia schools about 10 years ago. Canton Township is expanding as fast as building permits can be issued.

An unabridged dictionary contains about 550,000 vocabulary words: However, no man has a vocabulary that large. Forty-fifty thousand word vocabularies are considered extraordinary. The important thing, however, is not the number of words you know but whether or not you use them carefully. The old saying, "the pen is mightier than the sword," is only true for those who know how to choose words accurately for every purpose. How well do the words you use create the pictures you intend?

It is our intention at FISHER-WINGARD-FORTNEY AGENCY, 905 W. Ann Arbor Trail, 453-4990 to always provide personal service that is conscientious and reliable. Primarily a casualty insurance agency, our principal company is Auto Owner Ins. Co. In addition to a wide range of casualty insurance, we also handle complete life insurance portfolios, retirement plans, and health and accident insurance. Hours: 8:30-5, Mon.-Fri.

There are dozens of safety rules we could caution you to use during the fun of Halloween. We could tell you about the danger of flammable costumes, dark streets and "treats" that have been tampered with. But, you know about these as well as we do. We only take this opportunity to ask that you remember some of those headlines from past Halloweens and make sure that your child isn't one this year .

Rita Returns Nov. 4

By CORINNE ABATT

A collision in Thurston High School hall in 1968 triggered a chain of events that has had far-reaching effects.

Mrs. Wallace Sloan of Redford, was hurrying to give a bouquet of roses to 10 yearold-pianist, Rita Reichman who was making her American debut with the Redford Civic Symphony. The other half of the collision was Mara Reichman, Rita's mother.

When the women introduced themselves, Florence Sloan says, "It was as if we had known each other all our lives."

THE "GOOD" WAVES between the Sloan and Reichman families have continued and grown in the coming years to the point where vacations are often spent together.

First, when the Reichmans lived in the old Van Cliburn cottage at Interlochen, the site of the National Music Camp, and later when Rita entered Curtis Institute and the family moved to Philadelphia.

It was Florence Sloan's idea to have Rita give a concert to benefit the Redford Township Music Society, Saturday, Nov. 4 in the Masonic Auditorium, Detroit. Hudson's and Grin-on home ground.

Marilyn Churchill, who works with Mrs. Sloan, explains the decision to use Masonic Auditorium.

"After Rita's big success at Meadow Brook this summer(she drew the largest crowd of the season and received rave reviews) and her performance at the state dinner which President and Mrs. Nixon gave last year for President Emilio Medici, of Brazil, we didn't feel we could say, 'come play in our school

THE CHANCE collision has meant more than a warm friendship between the Sloans and the Reichmans. It started a love affair between the Reichmans and the people of Redford.

Mrs. Sloan says, "Rita is coming now because the people were so warm and friendly to her in 1968 and again last summer when we had the afterglow after the Meadow Brook concert in our backyard."

Rita's brother, David, 22, an accomplished violinist, will play the Mendelssohn E minor concerto with the Redford Symphony next April family sports are there?

Skiing? Skating? A snowball fight?
Snowmobiles are about No. 1 now, and there doesn't appear to be any way they are going to be challenged.

The trouble with most things you could do in the winter in the past is that they were either too strenuous or kind of anti-social.

Sure, you read stories about 70-year-old men on ski jumps, but you read about them because they are so unusual they make news.

And try to get a 12-year-old kid interested in sitting out on a frozen lake, dangling a grub through a hole in the ice.

ONE OF THE biggest and oldest clubs in Observerland is the Livonia Sno-Flakes. Being two years old with 48 families gives it this distinction, which gives you some indication of the newness of the whole sport.

"Almost all of our members have at least two children" said Mrs. Mary Gilbertson. 38452 Kingsbury, Livonia, secretary of the Sno-Flakes.
"They are typical snowmobile families, with a couple of kids and usually two snow machines."

They started last year with about a dozen families interested in getting together to ride their snowmobiles.

person become small when you go as a group," said her husband, Stanley Gilbertson.
The Sno-Flakes concentrate on family outings.

A typical weekend would be a trip to Grayling for runs through the state lands in the area.

"You need a plan to go out as a group like that," Gilbertson continued. "It takes some organization."

SNOWMOBILE YEARS

"We made mistakes at first, then as we organized more of these affairs, we learned what jobs had to be assigned, what we needed to bring along."

The result of the organization is called a "safari," and popular places for the Livonia club to go are Grayling. Tawas City, or sometimes areas closer to home like Wixom, Rochester or Whitmore Lake:

THE EMPHASIS for this group is on family activities.

"If you need some help, if something breaks down, or if you have trouble getting up an icy hill, there's always someone to give a hand." Gilbertson said.

But the friends brought together by snowmobiles remain friendly during the warmer weather.

"We had barbecues, picnics -- actually we have been getting together all summer," Mrs. Gilbertson said.

They meet in the Senior Citizens drop-in center in the Livonia Parks and Recreation building.

On top of their activities, they are sponsoring classes this fall to qualify minors to operate snowmobiles.

THEY ARE as large as they want to be now, and they have cut off memberships at 48, according to Mrs.
