Christmas Special For Indians

About a month ago, an Indian family of 10 was burned out of its home in the Muskegon area, nothing was saved. Arriving home, the father suffered a heart attack and is not yet able to work.

An Observerland group came to the rescue with gifts of clothing, and it is planning three more pre-Christmas trips to aid Indians in Michigan.

IT IS THE Indian affairs committee of the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn. Chairman Hank Chrusciel and his wife do much of the collecting and repair work in their home at 1643 Brentwood, Livonia, but increasing numbers of local persons and groups are joining the project.

Canned food and good clothing would be welcomed to help complete the load for the Harbor Springs Indian Mission school and also to help the needy in the Muskegon area, said Chrusciel.

"At present, we are loading a 30-foot semi donated by ITI Truck Driving School destined for the Sault Ste. Marie area. We are going together with Ed Oprinski of Detroit, who has been helping the Indians for some 10 years."

This will be a Christmas special because we are sending more than 1,100 new toys for the children, plus candy which has been donated by the Sanders company through Bruno Genrich of Westland.

CHURCH GROUPS, businesses, clubs and individuals have all been making gifts for the three trips to Harbor Springs, Muskegon and the Soo, said Chrusciel.

Salem United Church of Christ Farmington, donated 34 cans of food, 60 cans of soft drinks, 97 bars of soap, five large boxes of soap powder, used clothing and $60 for gasoline for the Dec. 27 trip to Harbor Springs.

Mrs. Daniel Wisner's Senior Girl Scout Troop 21 donated 34 cans of food, nine new pairs of mittens and gloves, coloring books and crayons. Model Products of Utica donated three dozen model cars.

Food and clothing are coming from the Ford Motor Girls Club, Indian Guides and Maidens of the Livonia Family Y, Sacred Heart Byzantine Church and Cub Pack 832 of Jefferson School, Livonia.

Several vacuum cleaners and radios have been repaired by members of Church of the Holy Spirit, Westland. Alex Roths of Taylor and Don Pollard of Livonia donated money for a soft drink treat for all the children at the Indian mission school.

Scout Tad Taggard of Plymouth collected food, clothing and bicycles as his service project for his eagle rank. He is the second scout to perform that kind of service project.

Cantonese Dinner Is Next

A great variety of exotic Cantonese favorites will be the main attraction on Friday, Nov. 10, as the Gourmet Club of Schoolcraft College presents its second dinner of the fall semester.

Such delicacies as sweet and sour wonton, almond chicken, egg rolls, rumaki, teriyaki, chow mein, sweet and sour shrimp, and pork fried rice will highlight the hot foods. Authentic salads, fortune cookies, almond cookies, and other Cantonese desserts will highlight the cold tables.

Ice sculptures, special decorations, chop sticks, miniature fans and live entertainment will round out the evening.

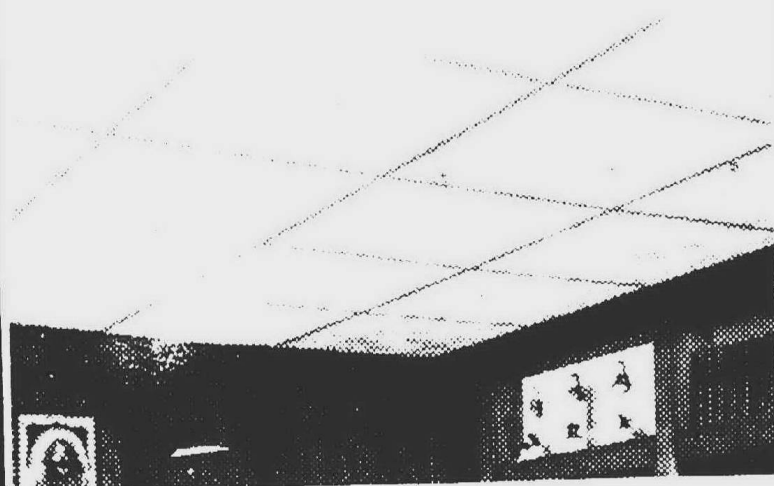

Admittance will be by reservation only. Tickets at $4 each are available now. To make reservations, contact Robert Brethaupt, director of culinary arts at Schoolcraft College.

Gift Accepted

The Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees accepted a donation of 542 pounds of welding wire from Warren Products Inc. in Northville. The value was estimated at $177.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DeLANO / Editor Mail & Observer

THIS IS the warm and pleasant story of how a group of high school students out in California are helping make it possible for the Plymouth High School marching band to participate next New Year's Day in the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena.

In brief, how would you like to receive from out of the blue -- as Bandmaster James Griffith did, a letter from someone you never heard of with a contribution of $150 for the trip fund?

Not only is that what happened, but as might be expected there's a boy-girl yarn behind it.

The contribution is from the members of the Palmdale, Calif., High School band, and it convinces one that if something like this can happen, then local support certainly should not come up short -- and there's still a long way to go.

Maybe the right way to go at this is first to quote directly from the "Dear Sir" letter Griffith received from Bandmaster Earl F. Sherburn of Palmdale.

"IT IS WITH extreme pleasure that I write this letter telling you of our recent decision to send you financial support for your trip to the 1973 Rose Bowl parade," wrote Sherburn.

"Last Friday, (Oct. 20) the students of the band voted unanimously to send you a check for $150 to help in a small way towards reaching your goal for your trip to California.

"The students here are very much aware of the importance of such a trip and of the arduous task of raising funds for such an enormous endeavor.

"Last April, we were very fortunate to attend the National Cherry Blossom Festival parade at Washington, D.C. as California's first participant in the history of the parade. We raised $35,000 to make the trip.

"However, we were most fortunate in that the city council in Palmdale gave us a check for $10,000 or approximately 1/3 of the cost of the trip. Nevertheless, I know what you are going through when it comes to raising money.

"It makes me very proud also in that I am a graduate of the University of Michigan, which is not far from Plymouth.

"Finally, if we can be of any further assistance in helping while you are here on the coast, please feel free to call us. Several members of the Falcon band here would like to meet members of your group. We have discussed coming down to meet you by bringing a car caravan down to the Los Angeles area. We are approximately 60 miles from downtown Los Angeles."

GRIFFITH, WHO was a bit dumbfounded by the unexpected donation, called it "most unusual and refreshing," and then told how the contact between Plymouth and Palmdale originated.

"My equipment manager, Dan Kabel, spent five weeks last summer at the University of Kansas as a participant in its summer music program for high school students from around the United States," smiled Griffith.

"While there, he became acquainted with a young lady from Palmdale. After camp ended, the two corresponded and in one of his letters Dan told the girl about his forthcoming trip to California for the Rose Parade and sent her one of our band booster buttons.

"She told her band director, he related the story to his band, and thus the letter to us."

NOT ONLY does the mood of such a story as that warm the heart, but it also emphasizes what a job the boys and girls of our 145-piece Plymouth band are doing on their own -- or didn't you catch that bit about a $10,000 check from the Palmdale City Council?

As you know, not a dime of tax money is being appropriated to make the trip of the famed PHS band possible.

The kids are doing everything from painting houses to selling self-created knick-knacks to raise money themselves, and also are getting volunteer community support from clubs, organizations and individuals for a fund to make up the difference if the students fall short.

One would say that Dan Kabel has done his part as an ambassador -- perhaps even above and beyond the call of duty. Even without any more evidence of romance within the band, you and I have a local booster role to play. Let's not let 'em down.

Death Stuns City

The entire Plymouth community was stunned over the weekend to learn of the death of Mary Henry, wife of City Commissioner Ernest Henry.

Mrs. Henry's body was found in Wilcox Lake Saturday morning and it was the first finding anyone but the family had that she had been missing from her home at 1120 Maple since Oct. 14.

The news, especially shocking because the Henrys, who never have shirked a task designed for the welfare of the area or for the aid of the less fortunate, were held in high esteem in all quarters.

Ernest, as he is more familiarly known, served for years as assistant to the postmaster and retired from that post only a year ago to devote more time to civic and service club affairs. He is the secretary of the Kiwanis Club and a great booster for the Dunning Memorial Building that will house the Plymouth Historical Museum.

On learning of her death City Police Chief Timothy Ford revealed that there was a possibility that officers just missed her on the fateful night.

"WE HAD a call concerning a woman walking along Stark weather clad in pajamas," he said, "but we just missed her."

He explained that in cases of this kind, the body doesn't resurface for about 10 days because of the cold water. That is the reason for the gap between the time she was first reported missing and the finding of her body.

She is survived by her husband, Ernest, one son, David Henry, and a daughter, Judith Ellen Henry, both of Plymouth. She also is survived by a brother, Fred Greenlee of Chester, W. Va., and a sister, Mrs. Eula Marr of Tamlodge, Ohio.

Funeral services were confined to the immediate family.

300 Dems Turn Out For Dinner

Plymouth area Democrats were out in force at a spaghetti dinner fund raiser at the Masonic Temple last Sunday.

The McGovern Biography and "Broken Promises" movies giving a democratic perspective to the presidential candidate and the issues, were shown as the audience of more than 300 were served their spaghetti by Bob Dwyer, candidate for state representative, 52nd district and his aides.

Other candidates present were Lois Lane and Douglas Ritter, candidates for Plymouth Township clerk and constable and Marie Miller, state house candidate from the 55th district.

Is Crossing Worth Price?

By W.W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH
Over the years there has been much moaning about the long delays at the railroad tracks on Main Street.

Folks coming into the city have raved about the "hold-up" and many have vowed not to return. The businessmen have hollered loud and long that the long delays discouraged people from coming to the city and that business in the downtown area was slowly disappearing.

With each moaning they ask,

"Why can't something be done about it?"

"Why can't we have an overpass, or an underpass?"

But like the weather...many people talk about it, few do anything about it.

Much worse, they haven't paid any attention or given any thought about what a project such as an overpass or an underpass would cost.

"I GOT TIRED OF listening to some of these complaints," Mayor James McKeon stated the other day. "So, before he left the city for his new job, I had Tom Waffan, our city engineer, draw up a plan for such a project on Main Street—and you'd be surprised at what it entails."

The mayor pointed out that the project would have to start at Amelia Street and go south to Union— and possibly cut off the latter street.

This would mean, according to the drawn plan, that the two buildings that housed the Chevrolet agency for years would have to go. So would the front of McLaren's coal and lumber business, the white building on the south side of the tracks, down almost to Elliott's Saddlery.

On the other side of the street, starting at Amelia, it would mean that the doctor's offices and the small office building would have to go.

Next, it would mean that at least the front of the four story brick building that has been a landmark for years would have to be removed, along with the little art shop at the tracks, Bode's Restaurant, a piece of the Kroger parking lot and the probability that Union Street would have to be closed.

"THINK OF THAT," the mayor said. "And that's just the beginning. Think what it would cost to condemn the property— and then build the overpass."

He didn't furnish any figures. But several years ago, Buford Nash, then superintendent of the C&O Railroad, ventured a guess of "about $1 million."

At the time, he also stated that the C&O would do more than its part in helping to pay for it (approximately 20 per cent).

This would leave a balance of $800,000 for the city to pay, plus the cost of acquiring the Main Street property.

Then, in a very serious tone, the mayor asked— "Is it worth it?" No one answered.

The Stroller...

Country Is Like Apple Pie. You Just Can't Spoil It

It was quite a surprise the other morning when the phone rang and the voice on the other end of the line said, "This is an old friend of yours and I'd like to ask a favor."

For a moment or two The Stroller didn't speak. He just sat there pondering on what sort of a favor could be asked at this time of the morning. It couldn't be an "old friend" seeking passes to some show or some big athletic event... for there were no such things on the docket for which tickets were scarce.

"If you've got a few minutes," the "old friend" started, "I'd like to get your slant on the coming election. Who do you like - McGovern or Nixon?"

This was a surprise - a real surprise. In all his years of strolling along the journalistic trails, it was the first time he ever was asked - seriously - about his choice of a presidential candidate or a president seeking re-election.

OVER THE YEARS he had been asked - in fact compelled to select the probable winners of the major college football games each week as part of the newspaper's sport features. On occasion, too, he had been given the assignment of picking the winners in advance at the various horse parks. He had grown accustomed to this through the years - but to be asked about a presidential race - that was something else.

Feeling his way and hoping to avoid an argument, the Stroller answered his "old friend" by taking a middle of the road and saying - "It won't make much difference which of the two is elected - I'll still have to work for a living."

That wasn't good enough. The "old friend" wanted something more substantial than that. No doubt he was in one of those political arguments in which no one wins... and was hopeful that The Stroller would agree with his thinking on the outcome.

"Look!" The Stroller finally said, "my mother never was accused of raising any foolish children and you're not going to get me involved. The only thing I can tell you is that the country will move along no matter which of them wins."

FOR THE NEXT half hour - it wasn't a long distance call - The Stroller went back into history to try to convince his "old friend" that the purveyors of doom and gloom were all wrong.

He recalled the year he cast his first presidential vote - way back there a half century ago. That was right after World War I and the country was about to embark on a program of peace after the terrifying war.

But for some strange reason both major parties had difficulty selecting candidates. The Democrats finally came up with a fellow named James Cox, whose only qualifications was that he had been governor of Ohio.

The GOP was even worse off. They couldn't settle on anyone for several days. When they did it was a compromise choice. They named Warren G. Harding, a senator from Ohio - and he won the free rent at the White House.

It wasn't too long until his "cronies" betrayed him and the country was infested with the "Teapot Dome" scandal.

After that came "Silent Cal" Coolidge, the "pauper" president who came to Washington, after being given oath of office by his father in Northampton, Mass. and he was sporting freshly repaired half-soled shoes - and the homemaker hem of his wife's skirt was unraveling.

Yet, the country survived both.

THEN CAME HOOVER, the Iowa Engineer who promised to put a chicken in every pot as a way out of the depression. He was the forerunner of Col. Saunders in the chicken market, but he couldn't make it and the golden voiced Franklin Delano Roosevelt took over.

Before he was finished we had all sorts of new social schemes - unemployment compensation (pay when you didn't work) and such things as crop control when the farmers got paid for NOT raising grain. (Some of these schemes are still being carried out today). But somehow we survived.

Finally The Stroller turned to his old Dutch philosophy and said, "You see, the country is like apple pie. You can do a lot of things to it - but you can't spoil it."

There was a clack of the receiver. The "old friend" hung up.

Koch Era Closes In Sausage Mart

scene, but Clayton explained, "the sausage and smoked ham and bacon business is changing."

"They're making bacon in six hours now," he sighed, "and the Koch system requires 21 days. It is the same with ham. The customer today wants what he can get the quickest and cheapest. That never was our system. So, the time has come to leave."

In telling of the end of the era, Clayton revealed that sausage has been the pride of the family since 1781 and the recipe was handed down from one generation to the other.

He recalled that his grandfather had been in the advertising and cosmetic business for a time. Then, as he turned to the family tradition, he'd cut meat during the day and grind it with a small grinder at night. After that would come the mixing and the stuffing.

"OUR FAMILY lived in Jackson for a time and came to Detroit in 1927. Ten years later we came out here to Plymouth. And while Dad cut and ground the meat during the day, the boys, Fred and myself, worked at Burroughs and helped with the stuffing at night."

"It was quite a job, too, as we made about 300 pounds of sausage three times a week, aside from smoking the hams and making the bacon."

Now it's ended. An era has passed. Clayton is going to spend his time doing a bit of cabinet work and Fred is going to retire.

Lada 27th District Choice

The newly created 27th District for the Wayne County Board of Commissioners runs along the western side of the county from Six Mile Rd. in Northville Township down through the Plymouth area, Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter Townships and also includes the cities of Belleville, Wayne and a piece of Westland. Its three-man election contest has stirred little interest here except among political professionals both because of its newness and lack of social and economic cohesion.

Most energetic campaign is that being waged by Republican Brian G. Arrowsmith of Wayne, 27, who as son of Wayne's city manager has been instilled with a desire for holding a politically elected office. A teacher by profession, he loftily preaches, "Return honesty to government and attempt to do away with politics."

He is opposed by Belleville's George A. Koster, 51, of the American Independent Party, and Democrat Paul Lada, 50, of Wayne, who for sheer government experience is the standout of the three.

Assistant treasurer of the Wayne Community Federal Credit Union, Lada is a city councilman and mayor pro tem of Wayne. He also is a former trustee and treasurer of the Fitzgerald School District and is a member of the citizens advisory committee for Wayne County Community College. Lada is the only candidate who has emphasized the need for establishing a branch of the county clerk's office in western Wayne County. We recommend his election.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR: What happened to the Constitution of the United States in the City of Plymouth?

The 14th amendment states that there shall be equal justice under the law.

I, personally, tried to become deputy registrar in the City and was refused. I also was refused a place on the board to draw up a new charter for the City of Plymouth which it sorely needs.

When I was refused the right to become a deputy registrar, I was told they were going to make a woman from the League of Women Voters a deputy. What about equal rights for men?

What about a Democrat being appointed?

There are no equal rights under the law in Plymouth.

We also need an overhaul of the DPW. I have been told that they do not have enough tools to work with.

There is a lot wrong with Plymouth that is hidden from the general public and I am going to bring it out in the open.

Community Fund Leaders Plea For Help

Thieves Get New Jackets

PLYMOUTH With only two weeks remaining before the annual "victory" dinner, the fund has reached only 23 per cent of its goal.

FROM ALL appearances," Bill Carlson, chairman of the fund drive, stated at Monday's report meeting, "we are in desperate straits."

"It's true, we haven't heard from big industry because their payroll deductions have not yet been completed. But we are falling far behind in other areas."

He pointed out that the two chief areas of disappointment were the businessmen and the professional group. These two areas are far behind. As a result a second drive has been authorized with a final plea.

In fact, the chairman advised all chairmen to make a second try in the hope of reaching the goal.

"If we tell the people just how much the various services will suffer if the goal isn't reached," he said, "I am certain many of them will make a second contribution."

In other years there have been some misgivings as the zero hour approached. Always, however, industry has come through. But with only two weeks to go — the outlook is anything but bright — unless you help.

Area Planning Body Adopts New Policy

PLYMOUTH With a brand new name and a new set of officers, the Plymouth Area Planning Commission is embarking on a new and enlarged program.

Hereafter, the group, comprised of representatives from the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Canton Township and the Community School District, will be doing business under the nom de plume of "The Plymouth Area Economic Expansion Commission."

The name was decided upon at the annual meeting when Frank Millington was named president and temporary manager with the departure of John Wright who held the post for more than a year.

MILLINGTON will serve as the president and will have James Rossman as vice president; Clark Finley as treasurer and William Silvis as secretary.

"The first thing we are going to do," Millington stated, "is try to locate larger quarters. At the moment, we are sharing space in the Mayflower Hotel with the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, and neither group has sufficient space."

The major project at the start of the new administration is a continuation of the struggle to get freight rates decreased in the area. The higher delivery rates, invoked just outside of the Detroit area, are said to be a handicap to business.

"We've been working on this for quite some time," Millington stated, "and we are going to keep right at it."

Millington also explained that the new program calls for more communication with the planning groups of the various integrers.

"WE HAVE A meeting set with the City of Plymouth Planning Commission for Wednesday, Nov. 8, and we plan to move on from there."

The group plans to work with a two-fold purpose: First, to cooperate with the various planning commissions and, secondly, work toward acquiring new business and new industry for the communities.

For a time, it was rumored that the commission was about to disband. But each community has pledged continued support and has delayed a request for additional financial support on budget time in the next few months.

Hines Drive Is Closed 'Til December

LIVONIA A section of Edward Hines Dr. between Newburgh and Haggerty closed Monday until mid-December, the Michigan Department of Highways announced.

Construction on I 275, a north-south freeway which crosses Hines between Haggerty and Newburgh, was given as the reason for closing the road.

Hines will be closed for 30 working days, into mid-December, so that crews may place bridge beams for I 275.

Poor Deer Harvest For UP, Fair In South

THE SAFE WAY to cross a fence is illustrated by these two bird hunters. The first man opens his gun, hands it to the second man, crosses, then takes both guns from his companion. Alone, a hunter should never cross a fence with gun in hand, says the Red Cross; instead, he should lay it down with the muzzle away from the area where he will climb.

Law Changes SC Admission Policy

"Do it now," is the word of advice from Schoolcraft President C. Nelson Grote for residents of the college district who are planning to enroll at the college, particularly in courses that are presently filled and for which there may be a waiting period. Dr. Grote's advice has been prompted by a special provision in the current state appropriations act for community colleges. The provision stipulates that at Schoolcraft and the 28 other public community colleges in Michigan, in-district and out-of-district students shall be treated equally in assignment to classes or courses of study. Failure to comply with this stipulation could result in the state withholding all state aid payments from the college.

FOR THE PAST year, Schoolcraft College, says Dr. Grote, has been giving in-district students preference in admissions as a matter of administrative procedure. This meant that district residents were given preference in admission to programs where waiting lists existed or where enrollment was restricted, and that out-of-district students were taken only where space permitted. This practice is now prohibited by law. Dr. Grote pointed out that the provision was not in the original bill passed by the Michigan Senate and the House. It was the result of action taken by the conference committee on the appropriations bill, which was then adopted by both Houses and signed into law by Gov. Milliken. At Schoolcraft, student's eligibility for classes and programs will be determined by the date their application is complete and they have been enrolled in the college.

AMONG THE popular courses at the college, and those in which students will need to enroll as early as possible, are culinary arts and the hotel management transfer program; automotive service management; associate degree nursing; practical nursing; electrical technology; medical laboratory technology; medical record technology and occupational therapy assistant.

Advance registration for the winter semester has been scheduled for the week of Nov. 13. Admission, however, must be completed prior to registration. For complete information, telephone the college admissions office.

Michigan's upcoming Nov. 15-30 firearm deer season is likely to see its total harvest fall short of last year's mark of about 62,000 whitetails, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

That pre-season picture largely reflects this fall's approximately 50 per cent cutback in the state's antlerless kill quota.

Compared with 1971, that reduction will drop this season's take of antlerless deer by some 4,000 animals, down to the level of 9,800 — or less.

More than that, however, the conservative antlerless quota for 1972 is expected to "depress" Michigan's buck kill which edged over 48,000 last season. As rule of thumb, the state's harvest of bucks rises and falls with corresponding changes in antlerless kill quotas.

More than anything else, weather conditions and hunter activity during the season will tell the degree to which this trend holds true in 1972.

IN THE CENTRAL and southern areas of the region, deer hunters this season stand a good chance to find whitetails on oak ridges, thanks to a "fairly favorable" crop of acorns.

Farther north, in the upper part of the northern Lower Peninsula, deer numbers have been held down to some degree by the same conditions working against the animals in the Upper Peninsula. In that part of the northern Lower Peninsula, recent harsh winters have taken a relatively heavy toll of each spring's fawn crop to hurt deer-hunting prospects.

In the southern Lower Peninsula: The 1972 deer-hunting outlook shapes up much as it did last fall when hunters took more than 10,000 bucks and about 3,800 antlerless animals.

Archers in that part of the state report seeing "lots of deer" this fall and the region's antlerless quota for '72 is close to what it was a year ago.

Also on the plus side of things in southern Michigan, deer appear to be attracted to wild land areas by a bumper crop of acorns and wild apples which supplement their farm-food diet.

DNR wildlife men believe the big difference in southern Michigan's deer harvest this fall hinges a good deal upon whether conditions bless-or blast—sportsmen late in the 16-day season. As the season's days dwindle down to a precious few, these southern areas are expected to draw their greatest hunting interest from downstate sportsmen.

On the other side of the season, the hunter harvest in this part of the state could be significantly affected by the mid-week opener which might bring heavy gun pressure in the southern areas.

IN THE NORTHERN Lower Peninsula, DNR wildlife men look for the total deer harvest to be down from last season, but they see a chance for the region's buck kill to measure up well with 1971.

Last season, firearm deer hunters took nearly 27,000 bucks in that part of the state, plus about 6,200 antlerless animals.

For this season, that region's antlerless take has been set at about 5,000 animals, marking the third consecutive year it has been cut in half.

As elsewhere, that reduced quota could cut into this region's buck kill. On the other hand, DNR wildlife biologists believe, this season's buck harvest may hold up pretty well in the northern Lower Peninsula on the strength of accelerated deer habitat improvements—notably in the region's "mid-section" and southern tier of counties.

Those cuttings are expected to attract deer in aspen and jackpine stands where the axe and blade have been at work; again, particularly in the central belt of the northern Lower Peninsula. DNR wildlife men also point to an abundant wild apple crop in the region's southern tier of counties which, apparently, is another big reason why deer are showing up better in that area.

UPPER PENINSULA firearm hunters are seen to have their field work cut out for them. Last season, they took an estimated 11,060 bucks and 3,730 antlerless deer.

Haunting their over-all possibilities for 1972 will be four straight hard winters—particularly the last two—which have dealt death to thousands of potential whitetailed targets. This serious turn of events has forced a virtual ban on antlerless deer hunting above the Straits, which also will put a crimp in this fall's buck take.

Supervisor's Race Hits Peak

This election is the question of which way the Breen-influenced segment of the GOP will go. The primary was marked by Republican in-fighting, pitting the "old guard" of Township Hall, with which McLaren is linked, against a less conservative cult of the party.

There have been some indications that this rift may carry over to the general election, leading to cross-over votes for the Democratic state which includes Krochmalny, Lois Lane for clerk, Earl Dey and Joseph Rey for trustees and Douglas Ritter and Thomas Sullivan as constable candidates.

McLaren is teamed with an all-incumbent lineup: Clerk Helen Richardson, Trustees Russell Ash and Gerald Burke, and Constables Donald King and James Cousino. Republican Elizabeth Holmes is unopposed for re-election as treasurer.

This is the only purely local contest in Tuesday's election. City and township voters will participate in balloting for county, legislative, congressional, judicial and national offices, of course, as well as several state boards and on a series of special questions. However, the City of Plymouth conducts its city commission elections in the odd-year and in the one local judicial phase District Judge Dunbar Davis is unopposed for re-election.

Turning back to the township, McLaren lists these as his main objectives:

"1. A sincere effort to insure adequate police protection for the township, either through its own force or in conjunction with other agencies."

"2. Rigid control and enforcement of the building code."

"3. An open door policy to all township residents on a full time basis."

"4. Improvement and expansion of fire protection as growth dictates."

"5. To investigate the need and possibilities of future housing for senior citizens."

"6. A constant effort to maintain the lowest possible tax level."

He also has declared himself against any "drastic change" in township planning as it pertains to zoning.

KROCHMALNY, fighting an uphill battle against an opponent whose family name has been familiar here since before the turn of the century, also has emphasized the need for more fire and police protection. In addition he has made such points as these in speaking appearances before more than a score of organizations:

"We should have a master plan of services ready for our growth and not change with every request."

"I would urge that developers be required to set aside specified acreage for park development."

"I would push for more traffic signals and sidewalks so that children wouldn't have to walk on the shoulders of our hazardous roads en route to and from school."

"We should have more constant contact and cooperation between the township government and the city, county, state and federal governments, and all of us in Township Hall should be available to the people for discussion at all times."

IN THE MAIN, the two rivals for supervisor speak the minds of their party colleagues in outlining a platform.

They all emphasize service to the citizens, personal availability to discuss issues, and an awareness that impending growth will present new problems. Individually they have these backgrounds.

Mrs. Richardson, 51, has been in township government seven years, has been an officer manager of a firm, a private secretary and an assistant accountant.

Mrs. Lane, 51, is employed by Whitman and Barnes, was an organizer of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council, has served as president of the Elks Lodge's Vivians and has been active as a United Fund solicitor.

Ash, 47, is product development supervisor at the Chrysler proving grounds. He has lived here 45 years, served on the planning commission for eight years and has been a trustee since 1968.

Burke, 30, was appointed to the board as Breen's successor two years ago. He is a plant engineering supervisor for Ford. He served on the joint committee of planning commissioners and trustees to draw the comprehensive redevelopment plan.

Dey, 42, is a cost accountant for Evans Products Co. and is past president of the Evans Employees Federal Credit Union. He has lived in the township three years.

Rey, 45, is vice president of the C. W. Morris Co. of Livonia and formerly was comptroller of the City of Dearborn Heights where he centralized the accounting functions of a municipality of 70,000 residents.

Bond Issue Election

It's official — Plymouth School District residents will be asked to approve a $21 million bond issue Dec. 11 for construction of school buildings. School officials say the buildings are needed to accommodate a spiraling student growth.

The school bond department of the Michigan Dept. of Education gave qualification of the bond issue Monday, and the board of education officially approved the date and amount.

Asst. Supt. of Business Melvin Blunk said the plans were revised to place more emphasis on elementary schools before the state approved the bond issue.

INSTEAD OF planning to spend $17.2 million in the first series of construction with a heavy emphasis on a third high school, the department recommended that the district put two elementary schools into its first series and build the high school in phases.

The revised series allocates $6 million for the first phase of the third high school, $3.5 million for the third phase of Plymouth-Canton High School, and $1.7 million each for the 11th and 12th elementary schools for a total of $12.9 million.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Balogh rose to request a report on the rumor regarding students taking substance abuse at the high school. Mr. Lawton asked Mr. Hoben to comment.

Mr. Hoben explained that the matter had been turned over to the police. Member Berry indicated that the principals were doing an adequate job with an investigation by police being carried on and parents notified.

A meeting between parents, school officials and police was scheduled.

Supt. Hoben announced the Wayne County Association of School Boards would be meeting on October 26 in Romulus. He also circulated a copy of an inquiry from the Wayne County Intermediate School District (Supt. William Simmons) regarding the Centennial Education Park and his responses to Mr. Simmons and to the Detroit News.

A copy of the preliminary itinerary for the high school band's trip to the Rose Bowl game and parade was circulated indicating a cost per student of $204.15, including all transportation, lodging, meals, etc. and also including three (3) side trips. He indicated that the trip was very well planned and that about $4,000 had been netted on the band deal sale.

A report on the progress of the Student Council Committee in the Plymouth Canton High School was made by Brian Smith, Vice-Mayor. He reviewed the purposes of the Committee and indicated that all principals had been asked to keep these days open for church related activities as far as possible with limited scheduling of after school activities on Wednesdays.

Is Multiple Agency A Regional Answer?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This article is an excerpt from the sixth of 12 "Regionalist Papers" sponsored by Metropolitan Fund, a non-profit research and education agency in southeastern Michigan. The writer is from the department of political science and institute of governmental affairs at the University of California, Berkeley.

By DR. VICTOR JONES

The San Francisco Bay Area covers 7,000 square miles and has a population of almost 5 million. It consists of the consolidated City and County of San Francisco and eight other counties - all touching San Francisco Bay.

In addition, there are 91 other cities, a score of major regional special purpose agencies, and some 500 school districts and smaller special district.

The State of California and the United States government are active participants in formulating, and at times directly administering, public policies of regional and local impact. The state and national governments, each with a multitude of programs and agencies, are as fragmented as local government.

There are two strands of regional governance operating and still developing in the Bay Area. During the past 15 years, the creation of new regional special purpose agencies has accelerated. At the same time efforts to coordinate or replace them with a multi-purpose regional agency have received widespread support.

THE GOVERNANCE of the Bay Area is an exercise of intergovernmental relations. Most of these relationships are still loose and fluid.

It is relatively easy to get a metropolitan system for planning, decision making and administration if one is satisfied to have important decisions made by functional specialists with little or no relation to each other and without a means of establishing priorities among their proposals.

This can be done through the creation of special purpose authorities which is the characteristic approach in the Bay Area. Or it can be achieved through state and national action to set national and state policies and create national and state regulatory agencies to administer such programs directly or through dependent regional special purpose agencies.

The major thrust in environmental protection - air and water quality, waste disposal, land use controls, open space, etc. - seems to be shaping up in this direction.

HOWEVER, many city and county officials and civic leaders believe that regional government of some kind is inevitable; that, in fact, it is already in the Bay Area in the form of special purpose districts, authorities and agencies with more to come.

They believe that it would be better if there were a multipurpose but limited regional agency empowered to prepare regional plans and to require other local agencies to conform to regional policies.

The widespread support of a limited multipurpose regional agency that has developed since 1960 is astonishing. Until 1971, however, agreement ended here and disagreement over the composition and selection of a governing board was bitter and intense.

Three major bills, two authorized by Assemblyman Knox and one drafted by the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG), were caught in these disagreements and stalled in the 1969 and 1970 sessions of the Legislature. A compromise was embodied in the Knox bill of 1971, wherein representation was both directly elected and ex-officio. However, this bill was narrowly defeated in the Senate under pressure from the conservative wing of the Republican Party.

IN THE 1972 session, Knox has introduced a bill sponsored by ABAG to convert the association into a regional planning district. This would be done through amendments to the Regional Planning District Act (1963) making membership of cities and counties mandatory, requiring the agency to develop a regional plan along the lines of the earlier Know bills, and requiring the plans and policies of all local agencies to conform to the mandatory elements of the regional plan.

Under the 1963 act, the governing board would have, in addition to city and county representative, nine "citizen members" appointed by the respective county boards of supervisors.

Hearings in the Bay Area are scheduled on the bill this fall. In the meantime, three new regional special purpose agencies have been created since 1969.

Since one of the points of contention in the Bay Area is over whether cities and counties should be represented on the governing body of the regional agency and since cities and counties as well as other units of local government and state and federal agencies will be involved in whatever scheme is finally decided upon, it is desirable to take stock of the corporate governmental actors.

Until 1960 the cities and counties may have taken a negative attitude toward regional government. In fact, the principal motive of cities and counties in the organization of ABAG may have been to block any effort to create a multipurpose regional agency.

Almost immediately after its formation in 1961, the city and county members began to develop a regional orientation and perception of Bay Area problems.

By 1965, it was clear that voluntary advisory council of governments could neither meet the regional problems of the Bay Area nor forestall the creation of special purpose agencies to handle regional problems.

In 1967 ABAG voted to request legislation to create a Regional Home Rule Agency in which cities and counties would be required to participate and which would have authority to implement regional plans.

HOWEVER, THE ABAG Regional Home Rule proposal overlooked two other articulate movements in the Bay Area.

First, the politically powerful and functionally satisfactory existing special purpose agencies were not ready to accept ABAG hegemony.

Secondly, the conservationists and environmentalists, heady from their success in developing a plan to conserve and develop the bay and from the permanent establishment of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission in 1969, were not willing to entrust comprehensive regional planning to an agency controlled by city and county officials.

Although seemingly intransigent positions were maintained on all sides during the 1960s, it was a decade in which attitudes were changed and communications were established among the antagonists.

AN ISSUE which has not been squarely faced until now is the relationship of a multipurpose regional agency with existing special purpose agencies.

The Metropolitan Transportation Commission and possibly the Bay Area Sewage Services Commission would merge with a regional agency when established by the Legislature. But these are the newest of special purpose agencies.

The older agencies need to be involved in the process of regional planning, decision making and administration at the same time that they, along with cities and counties, are required to conform to regional policies.

Without waiting for the enactment of legislation, ABAG could in a number of ways initiate the process of formalizing their entry into an inclusive council of all governments.

Finally, there are faint but hopeful signs that the executive branch of the state government is considering ways of guiding areawide comprehensive planning organizations to develop into regional "umbrella" organizations. The history of ABAG is testimony to the desirability of this kind of state and federal strategy.

The "rookie team" in the Northwest Suburban football conference knocked the stalwart defending champions out of the ranks of the unbeaten, and out of the role of league champion.

Garden City East, the No. 1 team in Observerland, and No. 7 in the state, broke North Farmington's magic wand in the Northwest Suburban League with a 7-0 victory.

Three pass interceptions, two lost fumbles and two dropped passes kept North from winning its third consecutive league crown and thus halted a 12 game winning streak and a string that had seen the Raiders win 25 of their last 26 games.

And to top it off, East topped North on North territory which was a sight to behold in itself. The Raiders had not lost a home game since a 20-18 defeat in '69 against Thurston.

FOR GARY HUMPHREY'S East Panthers it was the biggest football win ever.

First year in the Northwest and a perfect 5-0 record and title, outscoring their foes, 137-44.

"I was glad to get out with a 7-0 victory," said Humphrey. The game's only score came in the opening moments of the first quarter.

North received the kickoff and on the second play from scrimmage, halfback Brad Pease fumbled and East's Ron Wasczenski was there to pounce on it on the Raider 31.

DENNIS BURTON spurted to the 27 and Don McIntyre moved to the 25 to create a third and four situation. East quarterback Stevie Orr hit Jim Wisniewski on a short pass but was three yards short of a first down.

On a fourth and three play, Burton sped four yards off the right side of the Raider line for a first down. Orr picked up five yards and another five for another first down on the 10.

Burton was dropped for a loss of one and McIntyre plunged ahead to the eight for third and three. Orr pitched to Burton who went to the outside for eight yards and his 11th touchdown of the season.

RICH JOSE converted and with 6:40 remaining in the first quarter, East led 7-0 and little did anyone expect that turnover touchdown drive to hold good for victory.

North started moving on the next set of downs as Pease broke for 16 yards up the middle, one man away from going all the way. Pease followed with runs of three, five, three, six and three yards and it was third and one on the East 36.

The Raider Machine was starting to purr.

Raider quarterback John Dwuer picked up three for a first down and Jim Lough added another nine to the East 24. Pease had the next call and had picked up another first down on the 20 but fumbled again and East's George Karr was in position for the recovery.

The one thing North knew it shouldn't do against East, it was doing.

THE RAIDER DEFENSE was not to be had the rest of the game, but by the same token neither was the East defense.

North's Dwuer went to the air in the second quarter. Dwuer hit Dave Babcock for a first down on the East 40. Dwuer hit Jim Fredericks on the East 25 but the ball fell out of his hands and Dwuer was sacked on the next two pass attempts by East's Rich McCain.

The next Raider drive was halted on the first play from scrimmage.

FREDERICKS had his man beat but a Dwuer pass fell off target and Karr of East picked it off, the Panther's ball on North's 34.

That was the story of the first half:

North losing two fumbles and one pass interception and East capitalizing on one scoring opportunity, and being thwarted thereafter.

East took the second half kickoff, ran six plays and punted.

The Raider machine started purring again.

East's Andrew Arena climbed the back of North receiver Fredericks and it was first down on East's 42. Dwuer was thrown for an 11 yard loss by Russell Dundan and after Lough picked up seven yards, Dwuer connected for a first down to Bill Gilmour on the Panther 31.

The East front line broke in again and Larry Bentley caught Dwuer for a 10 yard loss. Dwuer hit Gilmour for 13 yards and it was third and seven on the East 28.

The call was a halfback pass play and Pease found Fredericks open. The ball slipped out of his hands on the 15 and it was fourth down and seven.

Dwuer ate the ball again as East's Bruce Taylor dropped the Raider quarterback for another 10 yard loss and the Panthers took over.

ORR STARTED moving his ball club but was hit by two Raiders on a roll out pattern and North's Steve Trawick recovered on the East 45. Dwuer lost a yard and then lost the ball.

On the second play from scrimmage, Mike Small stepped in front of North's Gilmour for an interception, No. 4 turnover.

The Panthers started prowling with Orr going to the air, hitting Paul Haydon and Wisniewski for first downs. Burton spurted to the 16 and Orr drove it down to the five but a clipping penalty pushed it back to the 20 and Mike Daley intercepted an Orr pass and returned it to the 26.

Three plays later, No. 5 turnover for North.

East's Keith Anleitner intercepted a short pass and the Panthers found themselves with another scoring shot on the Raider 39.

BURTON WAS STOPPED on a fourth down and three play, so the Raiders took over, ran three plays and punted.

North gave it one final stab. With 1:49 remaining, and from their own 25, Dwuer failed to click with his aerial assault, East took over and ground out the clock.

"East had too much going for them," said North Coach Ron Holland.

"We had seven players going both ways in our 27 man roster," added Holland. "East on the other hand had only one going both ways."

East has a 47 man roster, with Jim Wisniewski the only Panther to go both ways.

"We did everything we wanted to do on defense," added Holland. "We stopped Burton but couldn't hang onto the ball ourselves."

BURTON WAS HELD to only 56 yards in 19 carries, the first time this season he has fallen below the 100 yard mark. The Panther running back had been averaging 158 yards per game.

His 56 against North pushed him over the 1,000 mark - 1,013 yards in seven games, including 11 touchdowns.

Orr was in his usual fine form, hitting on eight of 12 passes for 90 yards, making him 56 for 101 and the North contest was the first he hadn't thrown a TD pass.

East picked up a total of 107 yards rushing while North ground out 102 yards.

DWYER HIT on four of 10 passes for 44 yards, and was dropped four times for a loss of 40 yards, with three passes intercepted.

East hosts Mid-Wayne champion Taylor Center on Friday, Nov. 3, at GC West High. Taylor boasts a 6-1 record.

NORTH TRAVELS to Harrison for a city matchup Saturday.

CRUSHING TACKLE — Garden City East quarterback Steve Orr (10) is hit by two North Farmington linemen with the ball squirting loose and North's Brian Chisholm (71) ready to pounce on it. Chisholm recovered for North but East won the game and the league title. (Observer photo by Tom Donoghue)

SCORES LONE TOUCHDOWN — Garden City East's Dennis Burton (20) was held to only 56 yards against North Farmington but scored the game's only touchdown. East won 7-0 and captured the Northwest Suburban crown. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

46 Seconds Left... Spartans Gain Title

Stevenson football Coach Jack Reardon knew what he was talking about before the season opened.

"Our first game with Redford Union could mean our entire season," said Reardon before the season opener. "We are lacking pride and enthusiasm. We need a big win."

The Spartans got their big win over Redford Union, 18-7, and have dropped only two non-leaguers since in chalking up a 5-2 overall mark which includes an undefeated Inter-Lakes Conference record of 4-0.

The momentum and spirit were in force in the league finale with Pontiac Northern, a win meaning the title, a loss a share of it.

WITH 46 SECONDS remaining in the game and trailing, 8-6, Stevenson quarterback Dale Haberman split the uprights some 27 yards away and the Spartans had done it, won their biggest football game ever, 9-8.

Pontiac Northern broke a scoreless tie late in the first half on a five yard plunge by Charlie Hodge. A Dave Chism to Mitch Green pass was good for two points and Stevenson found itself down at the half, 8-0.

"Our kids showed great character at halftime," added Reardon. "They knew they had worked too hard to lose it all now."

THE SPARTANS struck back in the third quarter on a drive started from their 44 yard line. In 11 plays, Stevenson covered the 56 yards with Mike Orlicki going over from one yard out.

In that drive Paul Lulek carried five times for 17 yards, Haberman passed to Mike Assemany for 12 yards and Russ Lewis passed to Assemany for 16 yards.

An attempt for the two-point conversion failed and Stevenson still trailed, 8-6.

The Spartans regained control with 9:27 remaining in the game and they knew what they had to do, move the football, and that's just what they did.

Starting from their own 11, Stevenson drove the distance in 17 plays, eating up eight minutes and 41 seconds, and with 46 seconds left and faced with a fourth down on the Northern 10, Haberman kicked the field goal that won it.

In that drive, Lulek carried seven times for 34 yards, Haberman passed 17 yards to Don Finn and 11 yards to Chuck Babcock. Chuck Bien carried three times for eight yards, Russ Lewis once for three yards, Mike Taylor twice for five yards and Haberman twice for one yard.

STEVENSON then kicked off to Northern and in five plays moved to the Spartan 33 yard line. A fourth down field goal attempt for 50 yards fell short and the Inter-Lakes title belonged to Stevenson.

Stevenson collected 11 first downs to Pontiac's eight and completely dominated the passing game. Haberman hit on five of 11 for 81 yards while Northern made good one of four for three yards.

Northern outtrushed Stevenson, 126 to 100.

LULEK PACED Stevenson with 75 yards in 20 carries.

The Spartan defensive unit was led by Fred O'Keefe with eight solo tackles and seven assists and Brian Partie had seven solos and six assists. Stevenson travels to Thurston Saturday afternoon and wraps up the '72 season at Churchill Nov. 10.

No 'Ra! Ra! Ra!' At Bentley Game

A football team with no cheerleader support? How could anyone expect a team to win without the "ra, ra, ra, kick him in the knees?" Well it happened and in Observerland.

Livonia Bentley, which hasn't been enjoying a successful football season (can't remember the last time it did) was pitted against the No. 3 squad in the state, Dearborn Edsel Ford at Edsel Ford.

The Livonia school system hasn't been providing transportation for the cheerleaders and this game was to be no different.

BENTLEY'S CHEERLEADER squad voted not to attempt to find another way to the game in somewhat of a protest. I can't really think of another school district which doesn't provide transportation.

"I don't know what the system's hang-up is," said Bentley cheerleader sponsor Janet Lozon. "The transportation problem has fallen on the shoulders of the parents and kids, and the kids had just enough of it. I had to go along with their thinking."

Bulldog Coach Glen Goode couldn't figure out why the cheerleaders didn't show up for the game. Bentley did get clobbered, 54-0, as expected but the shutout should go to the Livonia school system.

No. 1 Grid Clash

HATS OFF to Gary Humphrey and his football crew from Garden City East and Ron Holland and his North Farmington team. The top two clubs in Observerland found themselves in a battle for state recognition, the No. 1 berth in the area, and the Northwest Suburban title.

It was the largest crowd ever for a football game at North Farmington and East squeaked by North, 7-0.

Coach Humphrey again affirmed that this is his last season as head whistle blower for East, no matter how they finish. The Panthers are No. 7 in the state now and Joe Falls is going to have to do some fast talking to keep North Farmington in the ratings now.

7th Shutout A No-No

Prep conference football action is almost at a close with neighborhood rival matches breaking into the limelight.

CHURCHILL has to be the hottest team in the area with six straight shutouts, boasting a 7-0 record, and outscoring its foes 122 to 6.

But Ken Kaestner's Chargers are out of the Western Six now and will get a real taste of Northwest Suburban flavor with Franklin this Saturday.

The taste isn't going to be sweet for Churchill. In fact, by the time Franklin is through, it could have turned sour.

Franklin finished third in the Northwest, losing only to North Farmington and Garden City East. The Patriots lost the North contest on a last minute fumble and lost to East via officiating.

The Patriots may be saluting Churchill's streak now, but come Saturday afternoon, Charger defensive coach Roger Frayer will be quiet, listening to Franklin's three touchdown salute.

Rocks Sliding Downhill, Lose 28-13

By FRED DELANO

Their 11 most disastrous minutes of the football season left Plymouth's Rocks, who once aspired to the Suburban Eight title, needing a miraculous upset parlay to tie for second -- and facing a more realistic prospect of finishing as low as fourth.

Three sustained touchdown marches by Trenton in that span on the clock from midway in the second quarter until early in the third period turned Plymouth's last home appearance from a 7-7 deadlock into a Trojan blast.

The final count was 28-13 for Trenton, but it wasn't as close as the score indicates. Plymouth's recovery of a blocked punt in the Trenton end zone in the final minute of play only made it look reasonable.

Now the Rocks must take on rampaging, undefeated Edsel Ford at 3:30 p.m. Friday on the latter's gridiron. Plymouth Coach Tom Moshimer calls Ford "a super team," noting that Ford has scored 40 or more points in five of its seven victories.

Edsel Ford can win the title outright by beating Plymouth. The Rocks, on the other hand, need both a victory on their own and an equally unexpected upset of Trenton by winless Dearborn for a piece of second place.

Edsel Ford and Trenton triumphs, coupled with a Redford Union win over Allen Park, would push Plymouth down to fourth in the final standings. In the league, Edsel Ford is now 6-0, Trenton is 5-1 and both Plymouth and Redford Union are 4-2.

Paul Fleszar, who was to gain 193 yards before the night was over, signalled the pattern of Trenton's smashing attack against Plymouth when he barreled 74 yards to score on the first series of downs. It was followed by the first of Harry Stefanick's four successful extra points from placement.

The Rocks launched their only sustained drive late in the opening period, and in eight plays they moved 79 yards for the equalizer. This came on a fourth down, 24-yard aerial from Steve Robb to Ron Egloff only 46 seconds into the second quarter, Jim Szilagyi kicking the extra point.

It was a 42-yard gainer by Szilagyi, and an earlier 11-yard completion from Robb to Egloff, which put Plymouth in scoring position.

THEN CAME the deluge as the Trojans scored twice more before halftime.

Fleszar went over from the one for his second tally at the end of a 50-yard drive and Bill Copado capped a 61-yard march with another short touchdown plunge.

Not content with their 21-7 halftime bulge, the Trojans stormed 57 yards in six plays the first time they had the ball in the third quarter. Tom Crawford got this one from the five.

Gary Baker blocked a fourth down Trenton punt at the Trojan 30 in the waning moments of action, and when it caromed to the end zone, Egloff's recovery turned it into Plymouth's second touchdown. Robb's run for an attempted two-pointer was stopped short.

Led by Fleszar and Crawford, Trenton outgained Plymouth on the ground 397 yards to 147, the Rocks getting small solace from a 56 to four margin in the air.

TOP DEFENSIVE COACH -- Churchill Coach Roger Frayer has had one thing on his mind since football season opened, defense, defense and more defense. His Chargers have given up only six points in seven games and are nursing a six game shutout streak. Defensive pressure? Watch for it in this Saturday's Churchill-Franklin game at Franklin. (Observer photos by Harry Mauthe)

Harrison Turns Sour In Western 6 Finale

It was a dismal finish in a disappointing season for Farmington Harrison in Western Six football competition.

The '71 champions fell to Waterford Mott, 16-0, to place third with a 2-2 mark and slipped below the .500 line overall with a 3-4 record.

The Hawks have two games remaining to climb back over the wall of success, North Farmington this Saturday (Nov. 4) and Plymouth the final Saturday (Nov. 11).

The Mott defeat was labeled the "best defensive game of the season" by Harrison Coach John Herrington.

THE FINAL SCORE of 16-0 reveals the victor of the top defensive billing.

Mott broke a scoreless duel in the closing minutes of the first half on a much disputed call.

With 1:38 remaining in the opening half, Harrison's Bill Herpich intercepted a Mott pass on the two yard line.

Herpich caught the ball over his shoulder and was tossed back into the end zone by intended receiver Bob Swindell.

A two-point safety was awarded to Mott.

"The umpire ruled that Herpich could have gotten away from the tackler and out of the end zone," said Herrington. "The call really took something out of us."

HARRISON then had to punt from its own 20 and Mott's Tim Simons returned it to the Hawk 30. On the second play, Bruce Lovett broke loose for 29 yards on a flanker-back reverse. Simon converted and Mott was up at the half, 9-0.

"We couldn't get much generated after that first half," added Herrington. "We started to take chances and that was the game."

Early in the third quarter Harrison moved to the Mott 40 on a faked punt by Tom Erkert for 12 yards and a first down but the drive was halted.

The Hawks pushed to the Mott 25 late in the stanza and picked up what appeared to be a first down on a fourth and four situation. A penalty nullified the play and another drive sputtered to the wayside.

With 2:38 gone in the final quarter, Mott came back with a faked punt of its own. Simon dashed 36 yards to the Harrison two and on a third down and goal play, Lovett scored on the option. Simon added the one and Mott had clinched second place in the Western Six.

Harrison collected nine first downs to Mott's six but was outrushed, 203 to 132. Mott's passing game netted minus 17 yards on one of eight while Harrison hit on six of 16 for a minus six.

The Harrison-North Farmington game Saturday will be the second meeting of these city rivals.

NORTH CLOBBERED the Hawks last season, 22-0. "It's going to be tough to bring the kids back now," added Herrington.

Churchill Wins No. 7, 21-0, For 6th Straight Shutout

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Churchill's '72 football season has been a seven lettered word said three times over.

DEFENSE!
DEFENSE!
DEFENSE!

Call it unbelievable, call it lucky, label it weak opposition, call it whatever you want.

But the fact remains that Churchill High School, which stands at 7-0, shut out every team in the Western Six Conference and is now on a six game shutout streak.

The Charger defense has given up only one touchdown, six points, in seven games.

Harrison, Northville, Waterford Mott and Walled Lake Western.

Next on tap this weekend will be none other than neighborhood city rival Franklin High School.

CHURCHILL JOURNIES to the Patriot gridiron for a Saturday afternoon clash (Nov. 4). Kickoff is slated for 2 p.m. and hitting to commence at one second after kickoff.

"Franklin is a tough club," said Churchill Coach Ken Kaestner. "They beat North Farmington on the field but lost on the scoreboard."

"It's going to boil down to a battle between two fine defenses and two fine quarterbacks," added Kaestner. "We could shut them out, they could shut us out, anything can and usually does happen in these neighborhood rival games."

Franklin has beaten Churchill in each of the meetings between the two, 7-0 and 7-6.

CHURCHILL SEALED up the Western Six championship with a 21-0 victory over Walled Lake Western and now has the distinction of shutting out every opponent in the league. But shutout No. 6 wasn't without its anxious moments.

Walled Lake started moving the ball late in the first quarter on a drive started from its 31. Walled Lake's Pete Dewey picked up three first downs barreling into the tough "Charger Flyesome" and it was first down on the Churchill 24.

Churchill's Kevin Arnold and Dan Lamarand stopped an end run and on a third and 14 play, Tim McMahon and John Bechtel dropped Western quarterback Frank Marotta for a 13 yard loss and Walled Lake was forced to punt.

CHURCHILL RAN seven plays and punted, Western picked up a first down on its 33 but Kevin Nissen fumbled and Churchill's Marty Bay pounced on it. Charger's ball on Western's 37, three and a half minutes left in the half.

Bobby Blaies hit Dave Brubaker for 14 yards and a first down but was thrown for a 12 yard loss on the next play. On a third and 22 play, Phil Damaska put on a show of broken field running and advanced it to the 19 but it was six yards short of a first down.

Ernie Comini was called in for what appeared to be a 37 yard field goal attempt. Blaies took the snap and instead of placing the ball, jumped up and moved to the right, tossing a 19 yard pass to Damaska who was alone in the end zone for the score.

A pass interference penalty was called as two Western defenders attempted to break up the pass, waving their hands in the air with their backs to the passer, but the call was declined and Churchill was on the board.

Comini did kick on the next play, a one point conversion, and Churchill led at the half, 7-0.

WESTERN didn't even retire to the locker rooms at the half. The Walled Lake club remained on the field and ran through their plays.

Churchill, meanwhile, took too long in the locker room and received a 15 yard penalty for delay of the game.

So Churchill kicked off from its 25. Western couldn't move the ball and was forced to punt. Jim Foster of Churchill blocked the punt, the Chargers had the ball on Western's 21, failed to move it in and a 21 yard field goal by Comini went wide.

With 9:59 remaining, the Chargers took control at midfield after a nine yard punt by Western.

BLAIES HIT Ron Miller for seven yards, Arnold ran for two, Blaies hit Phil Skender for six, Damaska picked up a first down on a seven yard counter. Blaies hit Miller again for six yards, Damaska ran for eight and Blaies hit Brubaker for eight down to Western's five.

Damaska scored on the next play. Comini's kick sailed through the uprights and Churchill led, 14-0.

Western threatened to halt the shutout streak with about four minutes left on a six play drive to Churchill's 29 but on a fourth down and six situation, Arnold dropped Western's quarterback for an 11 yard loss. Churchill took over and marched 60 yards to score on a four yard run by Skender.

Churchill didn't dominate the offensive game but managed to score enough to keep a goose egg in the loss column.

THE CHARGERS collected seven first downs to Western's five and rushed for only 57 yards to Western's 78.

Western's passing game netted only seven yards on one of five while Churchill's aerial assault netted 196 yards on 16 of 22 passes.

Blaies hit on 14 of 18 for 126 yards and one touchdown and Mark Roncoli made good on two of four.

Blaies has now totaled 832 yards in the air, including eight touchdowns in the seven games.

Now comes a taste of North-west Suburban football.

GC West Putting It All-Together Just Too Late

The best Garden City West can do in the Tri-River football conference is a tie for second place.

Riverside and Southgate are in the battle for first with identical 5-1 marks. West is next at 4-2. It's the final weekend of league action and Riverside meets Southgate. The winner wins the title.

West, meanwhile, travels to Cherry Hill, a victory meaning a tie with the Riverside-Southgate loser.

But West Coach Bob Draheim knows he has the best team right now in the Tri-River.

The Tigers have just put it all together too late, but what a finish.

WEST UPENDED previously unbeaten Riverside, 6-0, to match the victory a week before against previously unbeaten Southgate, 32-12.

It may be a bittersweet feeling but at least Coach Draheim will have the satisfaction of beating the two teams ahead of him. The Taylor Kennedy and Melvindale defeats are now thorns in his side.

Now there is the league wrap-up with Cherry Hill and then, the cross-city clash with the tops in the area — Garden City East.

"Our problem is now trying to keep concentration on the Cherry Hill game and not look ahead to East," added Draheim. "This happens every year."

West scored the only and game winning touchdown against Riverside in the second quarter on a 48 yard drive with Steve Jacunski going over from the two for his 11th score.

A two point play failed but the six point margin was enough.

WEST HAD BLOWN a scoring opportunity early in the first quarter on a fumble on the Riverside nine and had another drive halted on the Riverside 16 on a passing interference call.

Riverside's one scoring chance went by the wayside in the first half when Scott Fowler intercepted a pass for West on the West one yard line.

West totaled 13 first downs to eight by Riverside and ground out 138 yards in 43 carries in rushing, with Riverside picking up 108 yards in 30 carries.

Jacunski picked up 102 yards in 26 carries to pace West and raise his season output to 790 yards in 161 carries.

West passed for 133 yards on eight of 13 and Riverside hit on only two of 15 for 38 yards.

THURSTON SCORED a touchdown in the opener on the Churchill gridiron. With 5:55 remaining in the final quarter of the first game, the Eagles started a march from their 44. Charger Phil Skender had a pass intercepted but dropped it and John Stein hit John Roy for 18 yards and a touchdown.

That is the only score against Churchill, with the Chargers chalking up shutout victories over John Glenn, Waterford, Farmington

Aggies Slosh To Homecoming Win

It might have been the pretty smile of Homecoming Queen Diane Hamlon or the drive to even one's football record at 3-3, but no matter the incentive, St. Agatha sloshed to a 20-0 triumph over St. Florian in a constant downpour.

ST. FLORIAN mustered only 26 on the ground and 32 in the air on two of nine passes.

ST. AGATHA scored early in the first quarter when Tom Nemes went over from the 22 to climax a 45 yard drive. Pat Brown converted and the Aggies were up to stay, 7-0.

The Aggies stand 2-3 in Second Division West competition where Mt. Carmel, Ann Arbor St. Thomas and St. Alphonsus all boast 4-1 records.

Mt. Carmel and St. Alphonsus both clobbered St. Agatha and the Aggies wrap up the '72 campaign with St. Thomas Saturday afternoon.

ST. FLORIAN went down to its sixth straight defeat against the Aggies and couldn't advance any farther than its own 48 yard line.

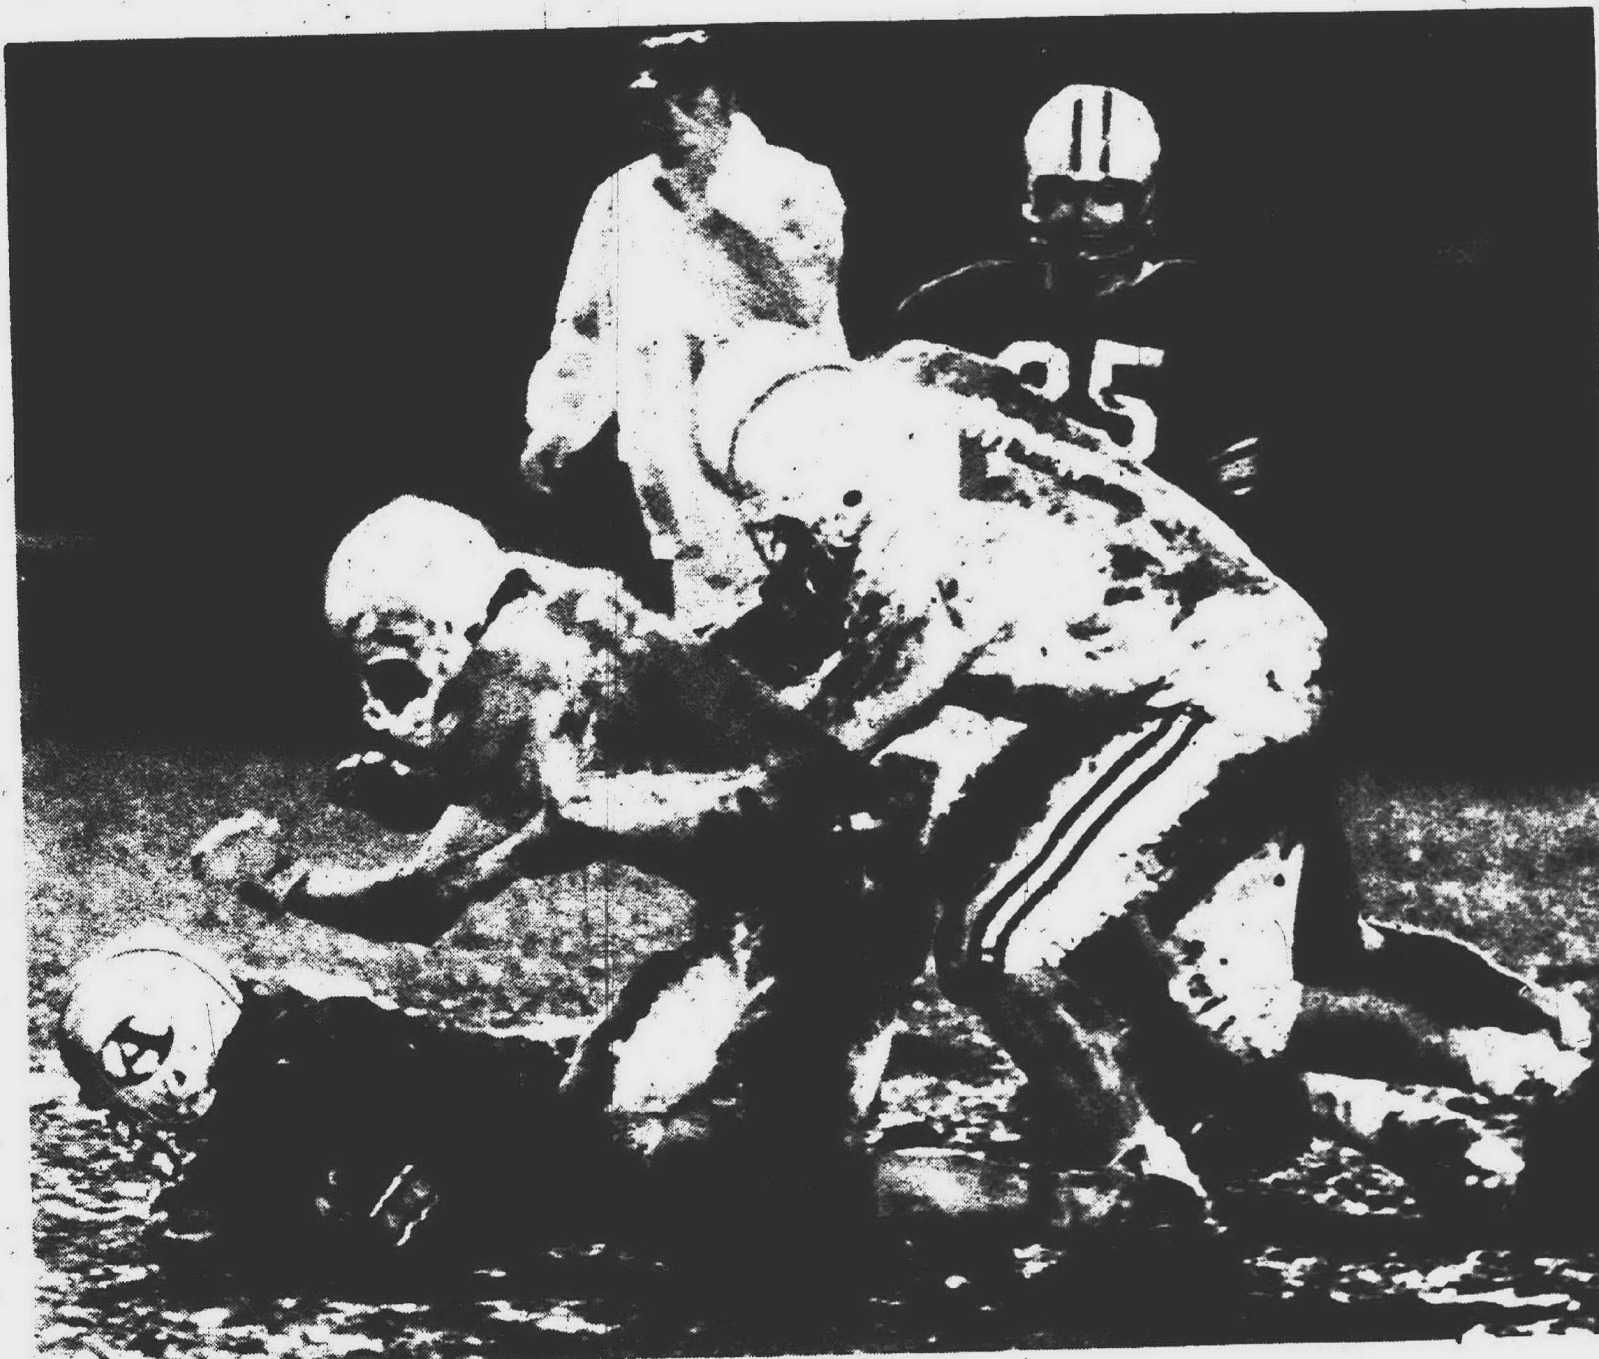

The Aggies collected 13 first downs to three by Florian and ground out 286 yards rushing and 15 in the air on two of eight passes.

A two play 70-yard march gave the Aggies a 13-0 margin in the third quarter when Nemes dashed for eight yards and junior halfback Bob Kleinfeld broke loose for 62 yards and a touchdown.

Kleinfeld was back in the Aggie ranks after missing five games with an injury and rebounded with 157 yards in 14 carries.

With 3:34 left in the third period, Pat Brown scored on a three yard plunge following a 38 yard drive started after a fumble recovery.

Brown converted and it was a homecoming win for St. Agatha.

Plymouth Girls Win '6' Tennis Championship

The Plymouth High girls continued their reign in the world of tennis.

Plymouth swept singles and doubles honors.

The Rock netters, who were 6-0 in dual competition, captured the Western Six league championship with a 12 point total. Farmington Harrison and Walled Lake Western tied for second with five points each. Northville placed fourth at four and Churchill brought up the cellar with two points.

Waterford Mott did not compete in the meet.

PAT HAYDEN won the singles and the dual of Kim Fosterling and Sue McNamara captured doubles.

Miss Hayden drew a bye the first round, defeated Harrison's Alice Green, 6-4, 6-4. Tony Ferravolo of Churchill, 6-2 and 6-4 and topped Northville's Jamie Boshoyer in the finals, 6-2 and 8-6.

Fosterling and McNamara crushed Walled Lake Western in the doubles championship, 6-2, 6-1.

Redskins Whip Eagles, 26-6

Thurston scored on its first play from scrimmage, then went flat and ended up getting clobbered by Oak Park in the Northwest Suburban finale, 26-6.

The injury plagued Eagles ended up in a last place tie with Oak Park at 1-4 and stand 1-7 overall. Thurston has seven starters out via the injury route.

Gary Chappell spurred loose for 58 yards off tackle, breaking three tackles, and Thurston was on the board on its very first offensive play. Gary D'Ascenzo's conversion attempt failed but the Eagles were in command.

OAK PARK had scored only 14 points in four previous league matches.

But the tables turned, Thurston fumbled six times and had three passes intercepted.

"We let up, the momentum shifted and it was all over," said Thurston Coach Emil Majeski. "We turned flat and turnovers took control."

Oak Park running back Ray Littleman scored two touchdowns and Randy Craighead tossed a 10 yarder to Lonnie Ford to give the Redskins a two touchdown lead.

THURSTON had two punts blocked and one was recovered in the end zone by Oak Park's Roger Barr to make it a three touchdown difference.

Chappell totaled 105 yards on the ground and Dave Harding caught five passes for 89 yards, broken nose and all. The Eagles go up against high flying Stevenson this week (Nov. 4).

"We had been improving with every game," added Majeski. "That is, until the Oak Park game. Stevenson is going to be tough."

Basketball Meeting Called

An organizational meeting for the Men's Basketball League will be held on Wednesday, Nov. 8, at 8 p.m. in the Southfield Parks and Recreation Building on 26000 Evergreen Road.

The league is for Southfield residents and men working in the Southfield area only.

Games will be played on Mondays, Tuesday, or Wednesdays at Lederle Junior High School starting at 7 p.m.

Orchard Ridge Opens '72 Hockey Season

It looks like another winning hockey season for Orchard Ridge Campus, Oakland Community College.

Raider Coach John Gumbleton has four experienced forwards returning in Dave Balagna, Jim Blanchard, Barry Drangin, and Dennis Minando and is hoping to improve upon last year's mark of 18-6. This included a 9-0 record in the Midwest College Hockey Association.

The Orchard Ridge squad has compiled a mark of 57-38-4 since the '67 opening season.

Balagna was the team's second leading scorer last year and an All-Conference selection at left wing. He also was named to the Midwest College Northern Division All-Star team in '72.

BLANCHARD was the team's leading goal scorer and was fifth in overall point production. The Raiders' top goal getter was Tom Zarb, who broke four Orchard Ridge scoring records.

Goalie Craig Wojay was an important contributor to the Raiders' drive to the MCHA Championship, setting a record for low-goals-against-average, 23 games, 2.47 GPG AVG.

The Raiders open the '72-'73 campaign at Kent State University in Ohio on Nov. 3 and play University of Illinois on Nov. 10 in the home opener at the Royal Oak Arena.

Bentley Loses 5th

Livonia Bentley suffered its third shutout in Suburban Eight football competition at the hands of powerful Dearborn Edsel Ford, 54-0.

The Bulldogs, who even lost the support of their cheerleaders, collected only 73 yards to 415 by Edsel Ford. The Bentley cheerleaders were forced to remain at home as the team traveled to Dearborn, the reason being the lack of transportation in the Livonia school system.

It wasn't much of a game against the No. 4 team in the state.

FORD CRACKED out 244 yards rushing and 171 passing. Fullback Tom Miller broke loose for 57 yards on the first play from scrimmage and the tone was set with Edsel Ford piling up a 48-0 halftime lead, making seven touchdowns in 24 minutes, an average of a score about every three minutes.

Ford quarterback Mike Booth put on quite a show before being replaced at the half. He passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third and hit on seven of 11 passes for 146 yards. This pushed his '72 output to 57 of 91 passes for 1,032 yards and 17 touchdowns.

It was win No. 7 for Edsel Ford this season and stretches its streak to 11. Bentley fell to a 2-5 overall mark and 1-6 in league play.

Ski Heil

By BILL CAMERON

The ski season is here! Gov. Milliken proclaimed this week, Oct. 29 - Nov. 5, as Michigan Ski Week. Festivities began Sunday at Alpine Valley, where the Metropolitan Detroit Ski Council sponsored a Ski-Fest. Clinics were offered in cross-country skiing, skiing for beginners, and racing for the competitive skier.

Gene Kotlarek, former U.S. Olympic Ski Team Nordic coach took time off from his busy schedule to put on a very informative clinic on all aspects of "ski touring." (That name is preferred to cross-country.)

Hugo Bohm, popular ski instructor from Boyne Mountain gave his usual informative, humorous lecture on "the beginning skier." It escapes me why he doesn't go into show business! But don't let his humor fool you. He is recognized as one of the outstanding technicians in the sport of skiing.

Michigan Ski Week will culminate with the annual International Ski and Winter Sport Show held this year at Cobo Hall, Thursday thru Sunday. If you have any questions regarding equipment, clothing, ski areas, travel, instruction or safety, here is the place to get all the answers. Manufacturers representatives, travel agents, airline representatives, resort owners—all of the experts are here under one roof.

Are you interested in used equipment? You'll find some excellent buys in the Swap Shop, sponsored by the M.D.S.C. If you have equipment to sell, bring it along and they will tag it and offer it for sale. It is a great way to outfit beginning skiers.

Stop at the YMCA Fitness Island and take the step test to find out what kind of shape you're in. I'll be in the Rathskeller to comfort you afterward!

I would definitely recommend the "Ski Binding Clinic." Gordon Lipe, recognized as the most knowledgeable authority on ski bindings, will be there to answer your questions. A stop there could save you a fractured leg!

Franklin's Offense Preps Up For Churchill

Franklin High nailed down the third slot in the Northwest Suburban football conference with a 26-15 victory over Westland John Glenn with quarterback Joe Jinnett throwing for two touchdowns and running for one.

But the big game for Franklin is yet to come.

Franklin is the No. 5 team in Observerland with an overall record of 5-2, the two losses being to No. 1 Garden City East and No. 3 North Farmington.

Now city rivalry enters the scene.

FRANKLIN HOSTS the No. 2 team in the area, Churchill, on Saturday afternoon (Nov. 4), kickoff slated for 2 p.m.

The Patriots of Franklin have won the first two games between the two schools, 7-0 and 7-6, and this season's clash should feature one of the hardest hitting battles of the '72 campaign.

"We are going to have to outthit them (Churchill)," said Franklin Coach George Lovich. "We are also going to have to try to score big against them."

CHURCHILL has given up only six points in seven games with a six game shutout streak on line.

"Our offensive coach, Armand Vigna, has his work cut out for him," added Lovich.

The Franklin game was Glenn's sixth loss in a disappointing season. The Rockets' lone win came against Oak Park, 21-8.

Franklin received the opening kickoff, Dean Morrison sprinted to the 43 and Dave Hochstadt spurted loose for 20 yards. Jinnett fumbled and a Patriot drive was halted.

Glenn took control on its 39, ran three plays and punted. Jinnett passed to Guy Burke down to Glenn's 11 but the Rockets held and a Tony Dattilio 25 yard field goal attempt sailed wide, another drive halted.

Glenn ran six plays and punted.

Franklin took over on its 32 and 12 plays later Hochstadt went in from the one. The conversion missed and with 1:40 left in the opening quarter, the Patriots led, 6-0.

GLENN WAS FORCED to give the ball up again and Franklin marched 69 yards in 10 plays. Dan Quinn ran for 12 yards, Hochstadt broke loose for 15 and Jinnett dashed in from 17 yards out. Dattilio's kick was good and Franklin was up, 13-0.

The Rockets fumbled on the following kickoff and Franklin recovered for first down on the Glenn 29. Jinnett hit Burke on a 23 yarder and connected with Burke again for six yards and six points. A two point play missed.

Another Glenn mishap led to Franklin's fourth and final score.

BATTILIO INTERCEPTED a Wesley pass on the Rocket 34, and it took only four plays to make it a 26-0 game.

Hochstadt romped for seven yards, one yard, three yards, and Jinnett tossed a 23 yarder to Burke. Dattilio split the uprights and there was still 3:34 left in the first half.

Glenn finally got on the board on a 10 yard scoring pass from Jeff Brittain to Glen Christoff. Bill Kelly converted and the halftime score was 26-7.

THE ROCKETS SLICED into the margin with 59 seconds to play in the game on a 77 yard drive in nine plays with Brittain going in from the Franklin won the battle of first downs, 18 to 15, and outrushed Glenn, 150 to 131 yards. Hochstadt carried 16 times for 71 yards in the Patriot attack.

Jinnett hit on 10 of 19 passes for 167 yards with Burke hauling in five for 104 of those and two touchdowns.

Now it's sit tight and wait for one of the top defensive teams in the state, but Churchill is out of Western Six territory and now into Northwest Suburban action.

Borgess Has Shot At Title

The Catholic Double A football championship is going down to the wire, and what a confusing finish it could be.

Bishop Borgess, Divine Child and Servite all share first place with identical 3-1 marks with this weekend the wrap-up before the Catholic League finals.

One thing is for sure and that is that the winner of the Double A plays Catholic Central in the championship.

Borgess clobbered St. Mary of Redford, 20-8, to remain in the thick of the race.

Borgess plays at Royal Oak

Shrine, Divine Child is pitted against Bishop Gallagher and Servite meets St. Mary Redford in the wild wrap-up.

If all three contenders win, the crown will be determined on a point system based on the spread by which a team has won. If there is a three way tie, Borgess in order to win the title, will have to have beaten Shrine by at least 21 points and Divine Child cannot win by more than 11.

If Borgess loses, they are out of it and if Servite loses and Borgess wins, Borgess is still out of it if Divine Child wins because Divine Child crushed Borgess in a season matchup, 38-14.

BORGESS has to win and by at least 21 points, and hope. The Shrine contest was something special for 5-10, 170 pound Shawn McCarthy.

It was his first start at quarterback as the Borgess regular signal caller, Greg Drypen, was sidelined with an injury.

McCarthy responded with 106 yards rushing in 15 attempts, one touchdown and completed six of nine passes for 60 yards and another touchdown in addition to two pass interceptions.

The show wasn't all McCarthy's.

Borgess place kicker and punter Tom Birney booted field goals of 37 and 27 yards to make him five of six in the three-point department.

BIRNEY SET UP the first of his field goals in the first quarter on a faked punt, passing to Paul Doerner for 47 yards. Birney made good his 37 yarder and Borgess led after one quarter, 3-0.

Early in the second quarter, McCarthy climaxed a 40 yard march with a 19 yard run around end following a pass interception by Dan Kelly. Birney converted and Borgess was up, 10-0.

With 50 seconds left in the first half, McCarthy lofted a 17 yard pass to Dennis Bouie in the end zone. Birney made good the extra point and the Spartans led, 17-0 at the half.

St. Mary Redford got on the board with three minutes remaining on a quarterback sneak by John Schmelin. The two point pass play from Schmelin to Rick Debeliso was good.

Now comes the final weekend, point spread and all.

Jackson-At-Northville Opening 47 Night Meet

It wasn't too long ago that major harness racing stables shunned late fall-winter, race meets. Cold weather racing, they felt, was for those who couldn't make it any other time of the year.

That is far from the truth today, as Jackson's Action at Northville Downs, Nov. 6 through Dec. 30 is about to prove.

Jackson Trotting Association President and General Manager Leon A. Slavin has long believed that, "Establish harness racing in Michigan on a year-round basis," he preached, "and good horses will be available. Stables will adjust schedules so that some of their top stock will be coming into top form at any time of the year."

Last year the late fall Jackson-at-Northville meet presented some of the most sensational racing of the year. Few will forget the tremendous battles as Thimble, Prince Knox, Tricky Dares and others drew national attention to the meet.

THE 1972 LATE FALL winter Jackson-at-Northville meet is going to take year-round harness racing one step further. Both quantity, more than 1500 applications for stalls were received, and quality, Tricky Dale, $27,500 in 1972 earnings; Tiger Jet, $24,000; Erla's Major, $24,000; Mystic Boy, $22,000; Dave Butler $19,000 and Gabriel's Horn, $18,000; to name just a few, prove that fall and winter racing in Michigan has finally come of age.

Major racing stables from a wide area have answered

Slavin's call for horses for the 47-night meet.

Applications were received from 282 stables, more than two horses for each of the 700 stalls available at the Northville plant.

Many of the top Detroit area stables are among those accepted for the meet. The Robert Kalish stable, trained and driven by Tom Merriman one of the great private stables in the state has been assigned 10 stalls; Don McMurray, Plymouth, received eight stalls; John MacDonell, Detroit, 12; James Merriman, Wayne, checks in with 10; Gordon Norris with assigned 16; Charles Norris Jr., Livonia, was assigned six; Carl Allen, Brighton, 14; and Bruce Massey, Dearborn, 12.

Joining these top Michigan stables are such excellent out-of-state contingents as George Williams, Lebanon, Ohio, 14 stalls; C.M. Saunders, Perrysburg, Ohio, 10 stalls; June Weller, Republic, Ohio seven stalls; Russ Baldwin, Plain City, Ohio, 11; and Larry Christner, Ft. Wayne, Ind., five stalls.

In addition to the 700 assigned stalls, ship-in privileges were granted to 105 additional stables, bringing the number of horses ready for Jackson's Action at Northville to well over 1,000 head of prime racing stock.

3 Local Congressmen Get Liberal Ratings

An Observer Roundup

By conservative ACA standards, the most liberal local representatives in Congress are U.S. Reps. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) and Martha Griffiths (D-Detroit). The ACA (Americans for Constitutional Action) is a non-partisan group that keeps track of the voting records of U.S. representatives and senators and gives them a rating at the end of each session based on their record. The scale ranges from zero as the most liberal to 100 as the most conservative.

U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) was rated as voting with the liberals more often than conservatives. He rated 39 for the second session of the 92nd Congress, making his overall score 44.

Ford earned a liberal 12 for the second session making his overall score five. Mrs. Griffiths was close to Ford with a 13 rating for the second session and an eight overall.

U.S. REPS. Jack McDonald (R-Waterford) and William Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) rated nearly the same with McDonald getting 55 and Broomfield getting 54 for the second session and both earning 65 cumulative scores.

Broomfield recently beat McDonald in the Republican primary in the 19th district.

Both were congressmen in the Observerland area until reapportionment last spring. Esch's score compared closely to Democrats' scores and to Liberal Republican Donald Reigle of Flint who earned a 5 rating for the second session to make his overall score 34. Most Republicans were over the 50 rating, with the exception of Esch and U.S. Rep. Philip Ruppe of Houghton.

Michigan's U.S. Sen. Philip Hart (D-Mich.) rated 5 for the second session, making his overall 2. Sen. Robert Griffiths (R-Mich.) record is considerably more conservative with a rating of 74 for the second session and 59 overall.

THESE SCORES compare to ratings of the well-known U.S. senators such as Edward Kennedy (D-Mass.), who earned 5 for the second session and 3 overall, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, who rated 87 for the second session and 97 overall.

Presidential candidate Sen. George McGovern (D-S. Dak.) rated zero for the second session and 8 overall.

Among the bills considered by ACA in drawing up the ratings were revenue sharing legislation, education appropriations, occupational safety, anti-ballistic missile system, B-1 bomber, federal debt ceilings, Indochina funds, unemployment compensation, Indochina withdrawal and several votes on busing.

The ACA generally favors votes for "sound money and against inflation," and "for local self-government and against central government intervention."

For example, the ACA gave congressmen plus points if they opposed revenue sharing. Voting for revenue sharing were Ford Griffiths, McDonald and Broomfield. Esch didn't vote.

THE ACA OPPOSED efforts to cut spending for ABM and B-1 bomber. Those congressmen who voted against limiting or eliminating funds for these weapons were given plus points since the defenses "strengthen national sovereignty."

On the ABM, all local congressmen didn't vote. Ford voted to delete funding for the B-1 bomber while the remaining local representatives didn't vote on this controversial bill.

ACA opposed the higher education bill amendments to authorize $19 billion for program through 1975. $2 billion for school desegregation through 1974, establishing direct federal aid to needy students and post-pone implementation of court desegregation orders requiring busing of students.

McDonald voted against the amendments while Broomfield, Esch, and Ford voted for it. Mrs. Griffiths didn't vote.

Observer Names Ad Director

Keith E. Ellibee, a 25-year veteran of Michigan journalism, has been appointed advertising director of Observer Newspapers, Inc.

Announcement was made by Publisher Philip H. Power, who hailed Ellibee's appointment as "one of the most significant steps we have made in developing our organization's full ability to serve the advertising needs of Michigan's richest and fastest growing suburban market."

Prior to assuming his new position at Observer Newspapers, Ellibee had been assistant to the publisher of the Macomb Daily, a suburban daily newspaper based in Mt. Clemens.

KEITH ELLIBEE
Glad to Be Back

"I'M DELIGHTED to be here," Ellibee remarked. "Observer Newspapers has in only a few years showed the kind of organizational and marketing development that makes the group the envy of the industry."

"With its new plant, high speed offset press and computerized typesetting capability, and its market—which ranks as one of the highest in the country in median income—the future looks very bright."

"But most of all," Ellibee added, "I'm glad to be back here in Michigan, working in my kind of community—the suburbs."

Born in Indiana but raised in Ludington, Ellibee served two hitchhikes in the U.S. Navy, in combat duty in World War II and the Korean War. He joined the Conine publishing Co. in advertising sales in 1946, and in 1952 went to the Pontiac Press.

He joined the sales staff of the Lansing State Journal in 1957, and became general manager of the Big Rapids Daily Pioneer in 1959. He accepted his position at the Macomb Daily in 1962 and remained there until earlier this year, when he moved to California for a stint in the travel business.

Ellibee is a member of the Detroit Adcraft Club and numerous newspaper organizations, as well as many service clubs. He and his wife, Katherine, have two married daughters, Judith and Cheryl, who presently live in Southfield and Clarkston.

A Deciduous Tree: Plant For All Seasons

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Trees are certainly among nature's most noble creations. They are the biggest of plants—and also the longest lived. They have a dignity and majesty matched by no other plants.

The deciduous trees are ideally adapted to our climate and really suit our needs to perfection. They are clothed in leaves that provide needed shade in summer, but are bare so sun can shine beneath them during the cold winter months. What better air conditioner could one ask for? Temperatures can actually be 20 degrees cooler beneath a tree in mid-summer and this temperature differential sets up pleasant cooling breezes.

A well placed backyard tree can make the difference between a yard you really enjoy in summer and one that is shunned because it is as uncomfortable as a desert.

Trees can also be placed to keep the house cooler and more comfortable inside, too. If the afternoon sun shines in your kitchen window or creates a glare in the living room, a tree can be used to help solve this problem.

A tall tree with branches that hang over the roof will shade the roof and help cool the house. Also, it will act as a roof or canopy to keep the sun from shining in the windows. It will block out the rays most effectively in mid-day and early afternoon. Later in the day when the sun is lower the rays can get beneath the branches of a tall tree. To block these, a tall shrub or a small, shrubby tree will be effective. Finally, to block the rays of the setting sun, some shrubs on the lot line might be the most effective solution.

THERE ARE many kinds of trees that grow well in this area. Michigan has at least 85 kinds of native trees and dozens of others that thrive here, too. All too few of these are chosen by the average homeowner who tends to plant only what he sees in his neighbor's yard—which these days is probably a Moraine locust or other seedless, thornless honey-locust.

These locusts are good trees that grow well and quickly in many kinds of soils. They have attractive, fern-like leaves and a light filtered shade that permits grass to grow well beneath them. However, in the past few years the locusts have been developing some insect and disease problems.

When many locust trees (or any other kind of tree for that) are planted in close proximity in a given area the problems can spread very quickly.

We all remember the Dutch elm problem, especially on streets lined with these trees. If there had been fewer, the disease might not have spread as rapidly—or at any rate, the losses would not have damaged the appearance of the street as much.

Thus there are good reasons for not creating a "monoculture" which is the term used to designate an extensive area devoted to a single kind of plant.

Esthetically there are pros and cons. There is something to be said for the beautiful unified appearance of a street lined up with a single kind of tree. Also, extensive use of one kind of tree can tie a whole neighborhood together and give it an individuality and character that sets it apart from other neighborhoods.

ON THE OTHER hand, repeated use of only one kind of tree does get monotonous. If several kinds are interspersed there is added interest because of the variation in size, and form and texture.

Among the native Michigan trees there are a half dozen kinds of maples—sugar, silver, black, and red, which are large trees, and mountain and striped maple which are small trees.

There are even more kinds of oaks—red, black, white, swamp, bur, pin and others. These are all magnificent trees with great strong trunks and branches. There are many kinds of ashes, numerous aspens and willows, and the list goes on and on. Take a look at what is growing in the woods and parks around you, as well as what is thriving in the next backyard. This will give you a clue as to which kinds will grow well for you.

Thumping Plumbing Explained

Noisy plumbing is more than just a nuisance. It costs you money, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out. That's because noise is caused by some defect or unusually hard wear on parts of the system. There are generally three types of noise—water hammer, whistling and chattering. Water hammer is the thump you hear when faucets are turned off abruptly. It's corrected with an air chamber, short length of pipe or, in special cases, a shock absorber installed at the appropriate place.

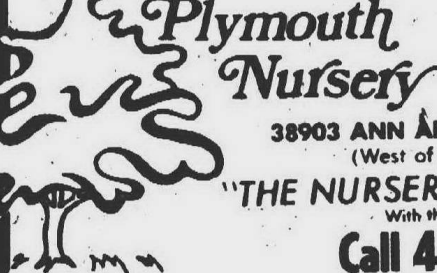

Chattering is usually caused by loose pipe, worn faucet washers or other loose parts. Whistling is due to the speed of water flowing through too-small pipe. It's most common at bends and tees in the pipe and can usually be corrected with a pressure-reducing valve.

A booklet that gives you detailed information on plumbing noise problems as well as dozens of other tips on how to take care of your plumbing is available for .25 cents plus an eight-cent stamp from the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau, 35 E. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60601.

NEW FOR HOUSEPLANTS — A thick round pad of water-conducting foam contains a year's supply of time-release nutrients. The automatic plant caretaker is placed in any container, water is added and plant is set directly on pad. It is sold separately or with the waterwell (right) which holds enough water to last an average plant for five weeks.

Time To Get Rid Of Pesky Beetles

Flour beetles and saw-toothed grain beetles are pests of stored foods like dry cereals, crackers and meal. If you find such insects in a package of food, dispose of the food promptly, advises Don Cress, extension entomologist at Michigan State University. Don't stop there, he cautions, but look for the source of the infestation. It may be a box of long-neglected crackers, paprika or even dog food or wild bird seed.

To get rid of the pests, Cress advises 'doing a little fall cleaning.'

Remove spilled cereal or other grain products from out-of-the-way places behind cupboards and bins. If possible use vacuum cleaner. Clean kitchen cupboards and bins thoroughly, preferably with soap and water.

If your geraniums gave you good service this summer, no reason why you can't keep them over for another year. In the old-fashioned basements we used to have, the dirt floor made a good storing place for your plants. Few homes have cellars with dirt floors, but you really don't need them for keeping geraniums over. Many gardeners like to pull up their bedding geraniums and hang them in the cellar. This won't work if your cellar is dry, although you can overcome this by keeping the geraniums in a plastic bag, with holes in it for air drainage.

Slip a moist rag or lump of cotton inside the bag. It takes only a small amount of moisture to keep geraniums alive all winter.

Probably the best way to keep your geraniums during the winter months is to dig up the plants and set them side by side in a tub of peatmoss or soil. Keep moistened in a cellar window. They'll stay alive until spring when you can dig up the plants, cut them back and repot in four-inch clay pots.

Or you can take tip cuttings and root them in a pot or box full of moist sand, perlite, or a mixture of sand and peat moss. After the cuttings have rooted, they can be potted in mixture of one third each sand, peat and garden loam.

HOMEMADE SEED TAPES: Looking for a project to keep the kids busy on rainy days? Teach them how to make seed tapes, like the kind sold in garden stores. Several readers tell us they make their own seed tapes, using masking tape, toilet tissue and a glue pen.

Here's how one reader makes her seed tape: "I cut strips of tissue paper into 1/2" wide pieces. Then I take a glue pen (a tube of liquid glue the size of a large marking pen) and dot the tissue about 1 inch apart. Then I take a tooth pick and wet the end with a touch of glue and pick up a seed. It is stuck in the dot of glue. This way you can plant seeds any an hour, day or night, and any kind of weather."

"To mark the kind of seeds and how the plants grow, I simply write this information on the strip of tissue. At planting time in spring I just make a line in the soil at the necessary depth, laying the strip in place and cover it with soil to the right depth. It is sprinkled as usual. You usually have many seeds left over and you can trade these with friends so every one will get a greater variety at less expense. The paper disintegrates and eventually enriches the soil."

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: A reader writes: "We have a giant fuchsia which was outdoors all summer. How can we care for it this winter?"

Answer: Your best bet is to start new plants by rooting tips in plain tap water, or moist sand, or a pot of perlite.

Charter Sought For Bank

The Michigan Commerce Department's financial institutions bureau reported a group of Detroit-area men have filed an application to establish a new state-chartered bank in Southfield.

The principal incorporators in the proposed new bank, which would be known as Fidelity Bank of Southfield, are members of the Rose family who own controlling interest in the Fidelity Bank of Michigan in Birmingham.

They include Leslie Rose, president of the Fidelity Bank; Edward Rose, retired chairman of the board of Advance Mortgage Corp. of Detroit; Sheldon Rose, an executive of several building firms, and Irving Rose, president of Advance Mortgage. The other incorporators include Erwin S. Simon, a Detroit attorney and Michael V. Vallee of new Baltimore, an officer of the Fidelity Bank.

The proposed new bank would have a capitalization of $500,000, according to its application.

It is the fourth new bank application filed with the financial institutions Bureau in the last three months. Other applications now under consideration are for new banks in Lansing, Charlotte and Grand Ledge.

GM Exec Level Changes Move 4

the business beat

Charles J. Karrer has been appointed works manager of Diesel Operations at Detroit Diesel Allison Division of General Motors, according to Edward B. Colby, manager of the division's Detroit facility.

A series of executive appointments were announced at the same time.

Robert O. Henriksen has been promoted to manufacturing manager for Diesel Operations, reporting to Karrer.

CHARLES SEARS, Jr. has been appointed general superintendent in charge of assembly, test and final processing.

William E. Willson has been named general superintendent in charge of machining operations at Detroit.

Karrer, a graduate of General Motors Institute and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, joined the division in 1949 as a process engineer. Prior to his new appointment, he was manufacturing manager.

Henriksen, a graduate of Baldwin Wallace College and the University of Michigan, began his General Motors career in 1948. He joined Detroit Diesel in 1968 as assistant works manager and was serving as assistant manufacturing manager before his new assignment.

Sears, who joined the division in 1951, was superintendent of manufacturing before his new appointment.

Willson, a graduate of General Motors Institute, joined GM's Pontiac Motor Division as an apprentice tool and die maker and came to Detroit Diesel as a GM student in 1954.

THELL WOODS Heads Subsidiary

Real Estate One Forms Subsidiary

Real Estate One, the state's largest real estate firm, has formed a new subsidiary called Real Estate One Investing to aid buyers in the selection of investment real estate.

Heading it as president will be Thell M. Woods, 33, of Alma, where the new firm will be headquartered. A native of Milford, Woods began his business career running an ice cream stand while a college freshman and recently was involved in the sale of Mackinac College.

The parent firm was formed 2½ years ago by the merger of four firms — Gordon Williamson Co.; Mathers, Stevens and Martin; Elsea Realty and Investment Co., and Deremo and Son. Combined they have 31 offices in Michigan.

Why five Democratic mayors are going to vote for a Republican Senator.

Five Democratic mayors have endorsed Senator Bob Griffin for reelection. It would have been much easier for them, politically speaking, to endorse the Democratic candidate. But their consciences wouldn't allow it. They know Senator Griffin is the better man.

They know Senator Griffin led the fight in Congress against school busing and he authored a constitutional amendment to prevent it — an amendment Kelley says he would vote against.

They know that Senator Griffin was instrumental in getting the auto excise tax repealed. (One reason he's referred to as "Michigan's Muscle.")

They know that he co-authored the Landrum-Griffin Act, the "bill of rights" for rank and file union members.

They know Senator Griffin has introduced legislation to guarantee that working men and women get the pensions they've earned.

So these five Democratic mayors are taking the hard way out. And putting the people above party.

They're going to vote for Senator Robert Griffin next Tuesday. And they urge you to do the same.

BOB GREGORY (center) is director of "Forty Carats," the Farmington Players' 52nd production. He and the assistant director, Greg Messer (left) go over a scene with John Powers, playing the young man who falls in love with an older woman. The play opens Nov. 10 and runs for three weekends. Tickets are available from Mrs. Dolores Shevlin, 24175 Locust Drive, Farmington.

Farmington Picks Cast For Its Fall Production

Farmington, Livonia, Southfield and even Sodona, Ariz., are represented in the cast chosen for the Farmington Players' fall production "Forty Carats."

The two-act comedy, adapted by Jay Allen from a play by Barillet and Gredy, will be staged in the Players' Barn on 12 Mile Road for three weekends beginning Friday, Nov. 10. Tickets are now being sold by Mrs. Dolores Shevlin, 24175 Locust Drive, Farmington.

JOAN STONE of Livonia has been cast as Ann Stanley, the attractive and divorced woman of about 40, who becomes emotionally involved with a handsome young man of 22, while on vacation. John Powers of Southfield will play the part of the younger man, Peter Latham.

Their involvement deepens when they meet again in New York, but complications come in when Mrs. Stanley's supposed suitor falls in love with her 17-year-old daughter.

THE FUN begins as these two love affairs move toward matrimony.

The play presents an interesting and humorous study of society's reaction to a young man-older woman relationship versus the approval given to middle-aged man-young girl entanglement. Kathleen Monticello of Redford Township will play Mrs. Adams; Ellen Dietrich of Farmington, Mrs. Margolin; John Marszalek of Farmington, Billy Boylan; Sal Sisto of West Bloomfield, Eddy Edwards; Hope Nahstoll of Farmington, Maud Hayes; Jari Brenner of Birmingham, Trina Stanley; Dorothy Hill of Farmington, Mrs. Latham; Dave McCabe of Farmington, Mr. Latham; and Mike Lang of Sodona, Pat.

The play is being directed by Bob Gregory. His assistants are Greg Messer and Kati Beddows. Pierre Turgeon is the producer.

JOAN STONE of Livonia and John Powers of Southfield have leading roles in the Farmington Players' production of "Forty Carats." It opens Nov. 10 in the players' barn on 12 Mile, between Farmington and Orchard Lake Roads, for a three-weekend run. Mrs. Dolores Shevlin, 24175 Locust Drive, Farmington, is the ticket chairman. (Evert photo)

A LONG-TIME interest in drama was reactivated in Scotland for Kathleen Monticello (left) of Redford Township. She's talking over her first role with the Farmington Players with Joan Stone of Livonia, who plays the lead in "Forty Carats." Mrs. Monticello was a member of the Dumbarton People's Theater. Mrs. Stone has appeared in many Farmington Players' productions and has also been in an off-Broadway show. (Evert photo)

Federal Domestic Spending Argued

The three 15th Congressional District candidates disagree sharply over the federal government's role in domestic programs. U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) has consistently voted for federal aid programs in the education and social services fields, and indeed has announced a goal of raising the federal share of K-12 schooling costs from a minor item to 35 per cent.

Ernest C. Fackler, a Republican from Dearborn Heights, favors Nixon-Milliken style revenue sharing, with state and local units allowed to set their own priorities. He could be considered a middle-of-the-roader.

Aldi C. Fuhrmann, the American Independent Party candidate from Westland, flatly says the federal government has no business in the field of urban problems and that such matters should be left entirely to local units.

The 15th District, covers western Wayne County, including Garden City, Westland, and Canton Township. It has tended to vote 70 per cent Democratic, giving Ford four terms in the House so far, but it has also been a hot-bed of anti-busing feeling.

Asked to list their priorities, the candidates gave the League of Women Voters these replies:

FORD: "Complete withdrawal of all forces in Vietnam. General aid to elementary and secondary education. National health plan. Welfare reform. Continued water pollution control legislation, judicial reform, further reduction in military expenditures."

Ford, 44, attended Henry Ford Trade School and earned his BS and law degrees at the University of Denver. He was a state senator before being elected to Congress, where he has served on the education and labor committees.

FACKLER: "Self-determination and continued freedom of South Vietnam. Reducing federal taxes generally. Stopping intra and inter-district busing for the sole purpose of achieving a phony racial balance. Increased revenue sharing by communities and reduction of specified and heavily regulated federal-local grants in aid. Greater local and state work incentives (for) welfare recipients."

Fackler, 29, earned a BA degree at Concordia College in Indiana and MA at Wayne State University. He was recently appointed director of the Bureau of Workmen's Compensation in the state Labor Dept., has been a Jaycees' "outstanding young man," is making his second bid for Congress, and is district GOP chairman.

FUHRMANN: "U.S. withdrawal from the United Nations because we are in the process of surrendering our sovereignty, including our constitutional rights, to an atheistic, dictatorial, tyrannical, One World government. Stop aid and trade to Communist controlled countries as they are supplying our enemies in southeast Asia...Communism would die tomorrow if the U.S. would stop financing and supplying them."

Fuhrmann, of Westland, attended St. Michael High School, works in production control for GM Fisher Body and has served in the AIP structure since 1968. He did not list his age.

Asked "by what means do you propose the federal government give short and or long term assistance to urban areas?" they replied:

FUHRMANN: "The federal government has no business in this field. They are of local concern and should be settled at the local level. The money should be left in the citizen's pockets so he could manage his own affairs. Under the present system, the citizen is blackmailed with his own money, and the whole system smells of graft and corruption."

FACKLER: "There should be a greater dependence on municipal self-determination on how federal monies extracted from the communities should return to them. Therefore, an increased measure of revenue sharing, rather than specific grants in aid, should be a major objective."

FORD: "Continue present categorical programs, with some to be phased out upon enactment of revenue sharing legislation, which passed the House this year. Office of Economic Opportunity, low and moderate income housing, safe streets and similar legislation should be funded, and money now appropriated should be spent for purposes Congress has designated."

Our Indians Had Many Feasts

By ELLY

Every school child learns that the native American Indians attended the first Thanksgiving with the Pilgrims.

Actually, feasts and ceremonies were an important part of the eastern woodlands tribes' cultures long before Thanksgiving dinner was shared with the English colonists. There were many seasonal thanksgivings: maple, planting, strawberry, green corn, harvest and new year's festivals.

The first Plymouth harvest was meager but the Pilgrims set aside a day for giving thanks and invited Chief Massasoit of the neighboring Wampanoags. He arrived with 90 braves who then went out into the fields and forest to bring in foods for the feast. Together they dined on roasted venison and duck, stuffed goose and turkey, wild plums and dried berries with a wild grape brew to wash it all down.

Today many of the most widely used foods and cooking techniques are of American Indian origin: barbecue, steamed lobster, spoon bread, cranberry sauce and mincemeat pie. Try these for an updated American Thanksgiving feast and "after a more special manner rejoice together."

ROAST DUCK STUFFED WITH APPLES AND GRAPES

1 duck, dressed (5½ lbs.)
Stuffing:
Duck giblets
½ lb. mushrooms, wiped and coarsely chopped
4 greening apples, cored and sliced (do not peel)
1½ c. washed, halved, and seeded Tokay or other sweet grapes
2 c. unblanched hazelnuts
1 tsp. salt for basting:
2 c. cider

Cover the duck giblets with water in a small saucepan, and simmer gently for one-half hour. Drain, reserving one-half cup of the giblet-cooking water. Chop the giblets and one-half cup giblet-cooking water with the stuffing ingredients. Prick the skin of the duck well all over with a sharp fork. Wrap any remaining stuffing in aluminum foil. Place the duck, breast side up, on a rack in a large roasting pan. Place the foil-wrapped stuffing in the pan beside the bird. Place in a hot oven, 400 degrees, and roast for one hour, pricking the skin of the duck with a fork and basting every 20 minutes with cider. Reduce oven temperature to moderate, 350 degrees, and continue to roast for two hours more, pricking the duck and basting every 20 minutes with cider and drippings. Makes four-six servings.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

1 lb. dried navy beans
Water for cooking
½ lb. salt pork, cut into 4 pieces
½ c. molasses
1 t. salt
1 t. dry mustard
4 T. maple sugar
½ t. baking soda
1 onion
¼ c. brandy (optional)

Place the beans in a large saucepan; add enough water to come about two inches above the surface of the beans.

Add the salt pork, and simmer the beans very slowly for about two hours or until just tender. Add more water as needed from time to time. Drain the beans, reserving one-half cup of the cooking water. In a measuring cup, combine molasses, salt, dry mustard, and maple sugar. Add enough of the bean cooking water to measure one cup. Mix in soda. Stir mixture into the beans along with the sliced onions and if you like, the brandy. Transfer beans to a two quart bean pot and bake for one and one-half to two hours in a moderately slow oven, 325 degrees. There should be just enough liquid in the beans to bubble up. Serve at once. Makes six servings.

These Congressional Candidates Impressive

Stempien--An Edge

For residents of the 2nd Congressional District, happiness on Nov. 7 is knowing that both candidates are able, sound men, with good records to support them.

Incumbent Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has served three terms, putting his previous experience in the State Legislature and PhD degree in speech at the service of his district as a member of the Education and Labor Committee. Challenger Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) has used his three terms in Lansing and his lawyer's training to win himself the coveted majority floor leader post and a slot on the Appropriations Committee.

Both men have come in for criticism during the campaign in the newly apportioned district. Esch represented himself as "Livonia's congressman" until a court told him to stop it. Stempien has been embarrassed by massive mailings into parts of the congressional district not covered by his State House district, but he has responded that such mailings were at his own expense. Esch has hammered away at Livonia with mailings sent via the free congressional frank, defending himself from attack by saying that he is trying to inform his constituents.

Both men are political pragmatists, with Esch being more liberal than most Republicans (he voted with President Nixon's wishes 51 per cent of the time in 1971, as opposed to the Republican average of 72 per cent), and Stempien staking out a position somewhat to the right of the liberally-oriented Democrats in his district. Both men oppose cross-district school busing, favor environmental programs, criticize the war in Vietnam, and advocate a re-ordering of domestic priorities.

With such good candidates having such similar views, it's hard to pick between them.

Esch points to a good record of service to his constituents and work on the conference committee which passed the important amendments to the higher education act. Stempien shows off a record of solid accomplishments for his district ($200,000 increase in state payments from the race track to Livonia in two years, affirmation of the equal rights for women amendment to the U.S. Constitution, financial aid to Livonia schools upon taking over the ailing Nankin Mills district).

On balance, we believe Stempien has demonstrated a solid track record of concrete accomplishments for his constituents. We feel he deserves a chance to show his stuff in Washington.

Ford--Easily

Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) will be re-elected to a fifth two-year term, next Tuesday. It's an election he deserves, although a series of political decisions on the opposite side of the political fence have made it relatively easier for him this fall.

Ford, who received kind reviews for his performance in Congress in the recently-released profiles compiled by consumer-advocate Ralph Nader, has compiled an impressive record in the areas of education and full employment programs that are important to his suburban constituents.

His Republican opponent, Ernest Fackler, has been hampered in doing any extensive personal campaigning for himself because of two appointments in the past two months. He was named director of the state workmen's compensation bureau by Gov. Milliken and then picked to be 15th District GOP chairman. These two jobs keep him busy and minimize his personal campaigning.

Ford has been the center of intensive anti-busing criticism from his past supporters, but the congressman has pointed out numerous times that he has always been opposed to cross-district busing.

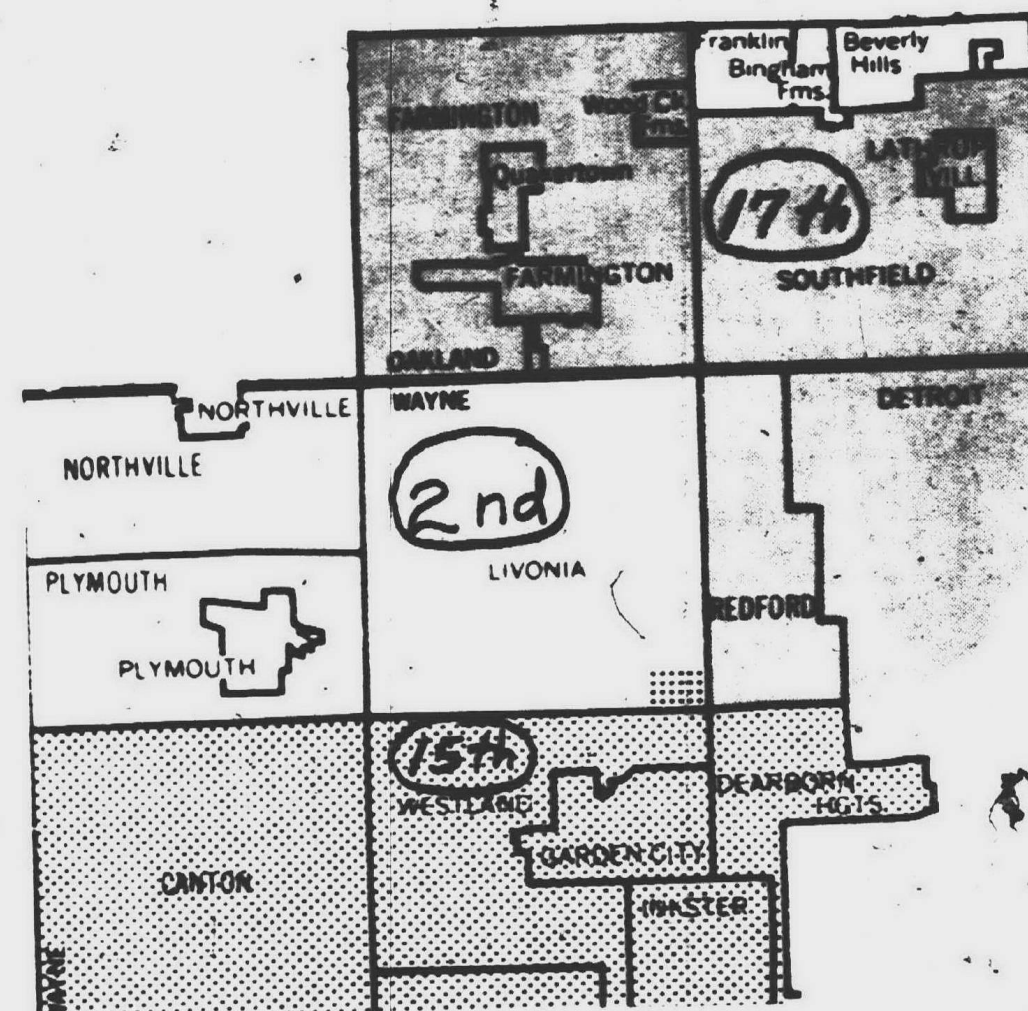

Ford's only serious threat came in the August party primary, but he won 62 per cent of the Democratic vote than, thereby assuring his presence in Congress for another two years. We think this can only benefit his district.

Griffiths--Warmly

For residents of Southfield, Farmington and Redford Township, one of the big pluses of this political year was the reapportionment which extended Rep. Martha Griffiths' (D-Detroit) district to include these areas.

In her 18 years in Congress, Mrs. Griffiths has constructed one of the outstanding legislative records in the country. With her previous credentials as a lawyer, judge and state legislator, Mrs. Griffiths combines a powerful mind, skilled political instincts, and an enviable ability to operate effectively within the maze of congressional procedures.

She ranks seventh in seniority on the most powerful House committee -- Ways and Means -- and she has been selected to be on a special committee to review the entire range of government spending and operations next year. Although a Democrat with a liberal voting record (she was a leader this year in passing the equal rights for women amendment to the Constitution), Mrs. Griffiths has an admirable streak of independence and a hostility for unnecessary or inefficient federal spending that should attract conservative votes.

She argues -- persuasively, in our view -- that the key areas of congressional concern in the coming decade are the twin issues of tax overhaul and income maintenance spending. The latter category includes welfare, Social Security, and federally financed pension programs, and although its total spending is larger even than the Pentagon's budget it has never been fully scrutinized.

Her position on the Ways and Means Committee puts her in the forefront of this much needed effort.

By contrast, Republican challenger Ralph Judd of Detroit has demonstrated little of the leadership or political skills that would make him effective in representing the district.

We wholeheartedly urge Mrs. Griffiths' re-election.

The State Legislature: Some Good, Some . . .

Keith: Impressive

William Keith, Democratic nominee in the newly-created 33rd State House District, narrowly edged by his two opponents in the primary and faces no active competition in the general election.

Keith, who will succeed State Rep. James Tierney, will bring to the State Legislature a strong background in school financing and education, something that the community will need, especially if voters approve a new financing system for state schools next Tuesday.

Keith has an impressive record of eight years of accomplishment on the Garden City School Board and a long list of community achievements in the city. This should indicate that he will be a hard-working member of the State Legislature.

His background on the Garden City school board will prove to be valuable to his constituents after taking office in January.

Bennett: Veteran

John Bennett, the incumbent Democrat, while being occasionally evasive on touchy issues (such as property tax reform), has generally been an effective legislator. For example, ecology groups rank him very high for his record on legislation pertaining to preservation of the ecology.

Cornelius J. Clifford, his Republican opponent, has served well on the South Redford school board, but Redford would be best served by the experience which Bennett can provide.

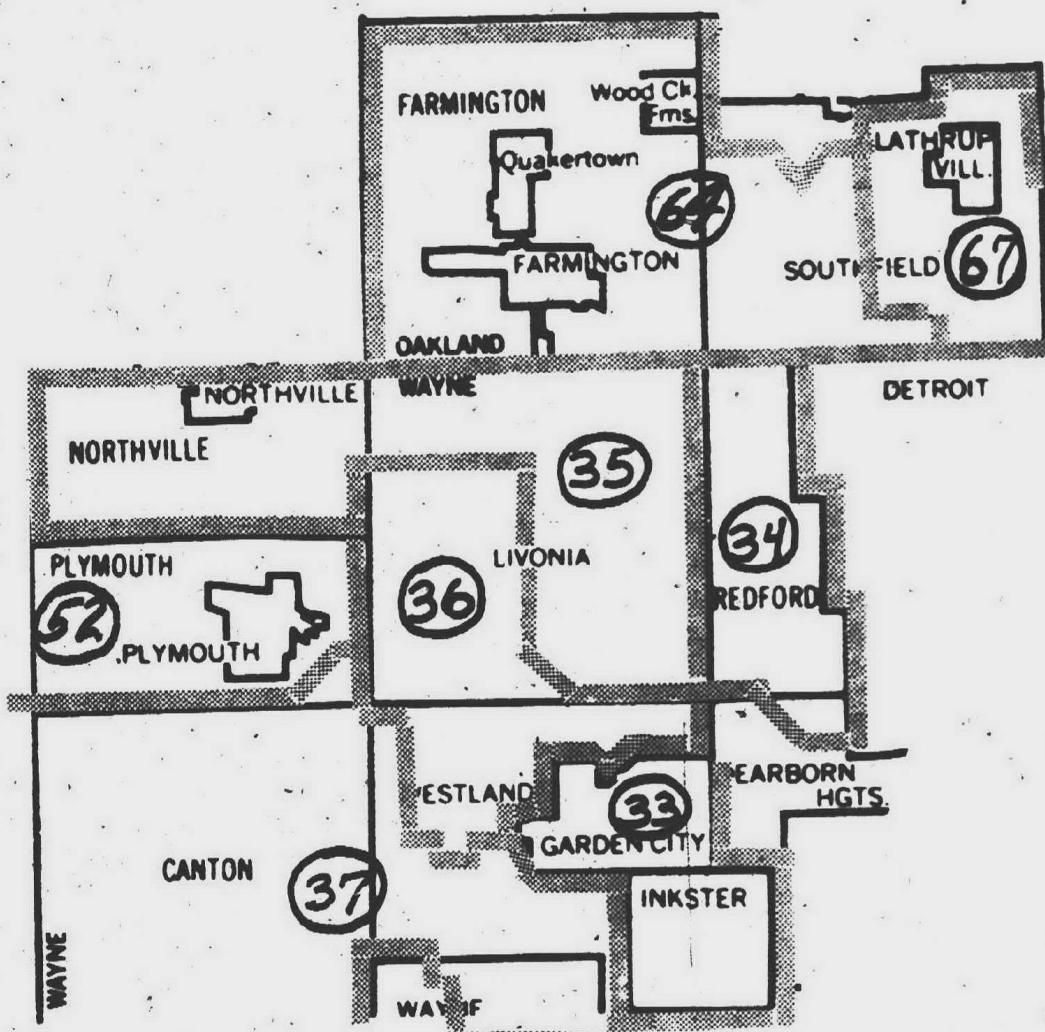

Miller: Local

The 35th State House District race pits Mrs. Marie Miller (D-Livonia) against Dr. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville).

Mrs. Miller's credentials are awesome, including her present position as an assistant Wayne County prosecutor and previous professional posts as a nurse and a teacher. Geake, too, has high qualifications, including a PhD in psychology, work at the Plymouth State Home, private practice, and a seat on the Schoolcraft College board.

Geake has run a well-organized, well-financed campaign. He supports better state programs for the mentally ill and welfare reform. Although rather rigid in his thinking in the past, he has moderated his positions this year.

Mrs. Miller, a newcomer to politics, had a slow start to her campaign and has been plagued by organizational difficulties since then. She is far-sighted on issues of health, welfare, and law enforcement, although she opposes the present proposal to modify financing for the schools on the grounds that it lets business and industry off too easy.

STATE HOUSE DISTRICTS

Both candidates would be good state legislators. However, Livonia residents might bear in mind that Mrs. Miller is the only resident of their city who has much of a chance to win election to the legislature. On that ground, we endorse Mrs. Miller's candidacy.

Markes: A Pro

John Markes, Westland city councilman for six years and currently its president, should be elected to the State House of Representatives in the newly-created 36th district next Tuesday.

Markes, who has some nine years of legislative background on the old Nankin Township board and the new city council, is the Democratic nominee who has put together a platform of positions on issues important to Westland and Livonia residents.

The 39-year-old councilman has been stressing tax reform for public schools, an issue that may be the Legislature's top priority next year if state proposals C and D are approved by voters next Tuesday.

Markes, an engineer with Detroit Edison Co., uses his professional training to approach political problems and has contributed greatly to the Westland City Council during the past six years.

His Republican opponent, Ralph Miller, has been one of the most active GOP candidates in western Wayne County. Miller, also of Westland, echoes many of the points raised by Markes, but he has damaged his campaign by raising unrelated matters and lacks the political experience of Markes.

Brown: Insight

State Rep. Thomas Brown (D-37th District) should be returned to a second two-year term in the State House of Representatives.

He has represented his constituents well in his first term in Lansing and has the strong support of many local school board members and school superintendents in his district.

Brown has been a good friend of the school districts in western Wayne County through his support of more state funds for local schools.

The former Westland mayor has displayed insight and understanding on many of the important issues facing local government units. We urge his return to Lansing.

He has no active Republican opponent in the newly-created 37th district.

Dwyer: A Principle

Conservationists, ecologists and environmentalists have a great champion in Republican State Rep. Raymond J. Smit of Ann Arbor. As a professional sanitary engineer, this is "his bag," and for three terms in the State House of Representatives to which he was elected from the old 53rd District he served those interests exceedingly well.

Reapportionment has placed Smit in the newly carved 52nd District, of which most of the Plymouth area is a part, and for the first time Plymouth voters have had cause to take a closer look at Smit's approach to matters outside his passionate personal ken. His stance withers a bit under the glare of such attention.

Robert E. Dwyer of Plymouth, who is the Democratic candidate, has forced Smit to commit himself on the questions of property and income tax revision for the support of education in Michigan, and here the Ann Arborite has come up short.

Smit's mountain of printed mailings stresses his accomplishments in the area of anti-pollution legislation, but skirts a head-on declaration on how to solve Michigan's No. 1 dilemma -- educational financing. Not so his opponent.

Smit supports Proposition C for property tax relief, but a Plymouth audience in West School recently heard him denounce Proposition D, which would permit a graduated income tax. Not only does Dwyer encourage passage of both but he also has hammered it home that the two should be considered in tandem -- either support both or oppose both. We agree.

All other legislative topics of the moment pale in comparison to this one, and of the two 52nd District candidates it is only Dwyer who is on the right track.

Baker: Ho-Hum

Raymond L. Baker probably ought to be retired in 1972 as representative in the 64th District, which includes Farmington and Southfield.

Unfortunately, neither of his two opponents show any promise that they could perform any better in Lansing if given the chance.

Baker doesn't spend enough time communicating with governments in his district and, although he has attached his name as co-sponsor to some 70 bills, he has sponsored few in relation to his 12 years in office.

But Baker does have a good record in conservation legislation. Until a better candidate comes along, which hasn't happened this year, he has our endorsement for re-election.

Forbes: A Mandate

With his rotund appearance and big cigar, Joe Forbes is almost a caricature of the ward politician. Appearances are deceiving, for Forbes has shown himself to be one of Michigan's most far-sighted and progressive lawmakers in his first term in the State House of Representatives.

People are concerned about school busing in his 67th House District, covering eastern Southfield, Lathrup and Oak Park; but Forbes has refused to push the legislative panic button when suburbanites of lesser stature were inflaming the crowds.

In an area of provinciality, Forbes has shown an unusually good grasp of metropolitan issues. Only one of many examples was his guidance of the new state building code through the Legislature -- an enlightened law aimed at doing away with petty balkanization of building codes.

Most office holders clutter the mails with newsletters extolling their pet projects, but Forbes is the only legislator we know about who regularly reports, voluntarily, his votes on major bills -- the toughies as well as the popular ones.

It would be a shame not to return Forbes to Lansing with a thumping mandate, and he merits our enthusiastic endorsement.

Tax Reform, Abortion Issues Stir Readers

EDITOR:

If Michigan voters approve the fiscal reform propositions appearing on the Nov. 7 ballot, at long last it will be possible to finance Michigan public schools on a more equitable and adequate basis.

That tax reform is essential is easily demonstrated by the plight of both the schools and the taxpayers everywhere in the state. Mounting costs for local school districts have collided head on with taxpayer resistance to property tax increases. Taxpayer reluctance to vote more money for schools can be attributed at least in part to the inability of many voters to pay ever-increasing taxes from current income. Particularly hard hit are the senior citizens, those who are unemployed or laid off, and others with limited income.

The League of Women Voters believes it is crucial to the schools in the state to base school financing on the ability to pay. Proposal C on the ballot would permit reduction in property taxes and a state-wide system of school financing. Proposal D would remove the constitutional ban on a graduated income tax. Their passage is essential to the well-being of both the taxpayers and the public schools.

The League of Women Voters of Northville-Plymouth urges a "yes" vote on Proposals C and D on Nov. 7.

Take A Stand For Life

EDITOR:
As a wife, mother and nurse,

I beg you to give more than a token presentation to the pro-life side of the abortion issue before the voters Nov. 7.

Voters must be given the full impact of all that is involved with this proposal so they can vote in good conscience. And please tell it like it is. Tell them that this fetus will look much like a full term baby, and that many of them will feel and cry out at the pain of their own killing.

Extend Right Of Abortion

EDITOR:

Many people seem to agree that abortions should be available to women during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy. They become hesitant, however, to approve abortions beyond that time limit. The right of abortion must be extended to at least the 20th week of pregnancy for women in exceptional circumstances.

Many pregnancies are not confirmed until they are past the 12th week point. These pregnancies occur in women who are in menopause; women who have stopped taking oral contraceptives and have irregular, if any, periods for an extended length of time; women who have naturally irregular periods; and the very poor and young who because of the lack of knowledge or money do not seek medical attention immediately.

During the 12-15 week period, the only method for terminating an unwanted pregnancy is a hysterectomy.

This requires an incision in the abdomen similar to a Caesarean section. It requires surgery and is subject to complications, and, therefore, inadvisable by many doctors.

The ability to terminate a pregnancy at the 20th week enables a woman who is fearful of bearing a defective child time for medical assistance.

Detecting fetal abnormalities cannot be done before the 16-18th week through removal of amniotic fluid through the uterine cavity. The fetal cells must then be analyzed - which may take as long as six weeks. Forcing a woman to bear a child which she knows to be defective by not allowing her an abortion would indeed seem inhuman.

As the New York facts bear out, women in the above circumstances are by far in the minority. For example, 85.8 per cent of the abortions performed in March were sought during the first 12 weeks of pregnancy. However, these women with special problems must have the same right to abortions as those who are not trapped in such circumstances.

The Unborn Can't Speak

EDITOR:

The question of the abortion proposal is a question of human rights.

The Michigan Supreme Court has ruled that the unborn child has the right to sue. This means that it is considered a human being having all human rights including life.

An unborn child has a discernible heart beat at six weeks and has all organs developed at 12 weeks, and the reformers would have thousands of them killed at 20 weeks (five months). Whether a child is killed four months before birth or four months after birth, it is murder, and the mother does not have the right to this decision concerning another human being.

- Letters must be signed, with the writer's address. Names will be withheld only at the writer's request and for good cause.
- The editor reserves the right to reject unsuitable letters.

Another point not realized is that public tax funds will be needed for this service to welfare cases. In New York $15 million was used during the first year of legalized abortion.

If you think there are many unwanted children, just look at the waiting lists at adoption agencies.

This letter is necessary because the unborn cannot speak for themselves.

Crime's Pals Votes Rejected

EDITOR:

I should like to comment on "Independent Voter's" observations regarding President Nixon's policies on "preventative government," or more precisely, in his context, Nixon policies in combating crime in this country.

He cites preventive detention as some sort of crime against innocent citizens. This is in total disregard to the fact that a significant number of crimes are committed by criminals free and awaiting trial on previous offenses.

He further cites preventive eavesdropping as another crime against innocent citizens. Again in total disregard of the fact that eavesdropping or wiretapping is one of the most effective weapons that we have against organized crime.

Also, it appears that he would like to reverse the direction of our Supreme Court at a time when it is headed toward some degree of order in our efforts towards combating crime in this country.

"Independent Voter" seems to be on the side of the criminal element in this country, in which case we do not expect his vote for re-election of the president.

Finds B-C-D-G Inconsistencies

EDITOR:

Your recommendations to vote yes on Proposals C and D are your own opinion and you are trying to swing a majority of people to your thinking.

Who will benefit from this? You give a brief reason on each proposal and at the end you say that, Proposal D represents the fairest and most just manner to finance public education in Michigan. That's fine, but what does it do for parents who have children attending parochial schools?

You state that abortion is a personal decision and a person votes according to his or her own conscience. Isn't it ridiculous that suicidal people, those dying of incurable diseases and people too old to care for themselves are being saved in every conceivable manner, yet an unborn child should be put away?

Drug addicts are sent to rehabilitation centers, criminals cannot be given capital punishment, yet an unborn child without any say, because it cannot do anything for itself, should be put away. It takes a conscience to say that this child should be aborted. Who are you trying to deceive that you leave it up to an individual to say, here, kill me, I'm lifeless.

Any Christian knows that life comes from God and only God can take it away. Is this country so low on morals that we have to say it is up to you to let a child live or die, but all those who have a say in later years are kept alive?

You are neutral on Proposal B, yet in G you state that the total juvenile population will be great in 1980 and we need facilities for juveniles. Where is the reasoning to rehabilitate juveniles and yet be neutral on abortion? Where is the logic? Even though people suffer or know they are dying, the majority fight for life to the end.

Ability To Pay Policy Exists

EDITOR:

I feel Proposal D is both misleading and absurd because it insinuates we don't already have a flat tax rate and it opens the door for other taxes.

Proposal D substitutes one unfair tax collection for another. The "ability to pay" concept is very detrimental. We already have that in the form of property owners. Those who can afford to buy and live in the suburbs are, in fact, exhibiting their ability to pay.

Under Proposal C, the lower income people should reflect this in the increased benefits they'll get in regard to their ability to pay. The flat tax rate will accomplish an effective "ability to pay" system. It will also gain money from non-property owners and give a break to retirees.

I feel society as a whole benefits from education. The tax exemptions parents get are returned to the community. The single children's shoe store owner who says, you had the kids so you pay for their education, makes a mint at Easter time.

An essence of busing is your money or your schools. For any tax schedule to be fair, the monies must be added out equally. The Bible teaches us to tithe and the same approach should be taken in school financing.

I would like to see, say, two per cent of our income applied to school operation and the stipulation that the first $10 million the state takes from the lottery would also go to education. This should be in the Constitution so we can vote on changes. This area is the drawback of Proposal C.

Schoolcraft Budget Still $400,000 In Red

Schoolcraft College administrators have tightened the budget as much as possible but still can't make up the nearly $400,000 the college may lose because of an enrollment drop.

"There's no way we know of to reduce our budget further without severely curtailing programs and services," college President C. Nelson Grote said.

Curtailment of programs and services could cause a "vicious circle" because it will turn students away, he added.

SCHOOLCRAFT will lose $379,000, or 5.72 per cent of the $6.2 million budget if enrollments continue to decline at the same rate as they did this fall. Enrollment dropped by three per cent, and students averaged lighter class loads this fall for an eight per cent drop in credit hours.

THE COLLEGE hopes to offset the remainder of the deficit by implementing a student recruiting program to bring enrollment up.

Dr. Grote hopes to generate 5,000 more credit hours or $146,000 for the winter because of the recruiting.

S'craft Board Abstains On 'E'

A request to endorse the veteran's aid proposal in the Nov. 7 election was left unheeded by the Schoolcraft College Board of Trustees last week.

Don Ringsred, of the Center for Returning Veterans (CERV) on the campus, asked the board to support state Proposal E, saying that the extra financial help to veterans would help more of them enroll in college classes.

"If the board endorsed the proposal, I think it would help the school," veteran Ringsred said. "I can almost guarantee the college would enroll 60 to 70, even up to 100, more students in the winter term if it passes."

THE BOARD accepted information that he distributed but didn't discuss the proposal.

The ballot issue would permit the state to borrow $266 million for bonuses and tuition payments to veterans who have served since 1961.

It would extend the same benefits that World War II and Korean war veterans were given and would be financed through revenue from the cigarette tax. In 1949 Michigan voters approved a three cent pack cigarette tax to finance the bonus for World War II veterans. In 1952 voters added two cents to pay for the Korean War bonus.

Since both bonds are retired, the five cent tax is going into the state's general fund and veterans want it diverted out to finance bonuses for Vietnam era veterans.

If the proposal passes, Vietnam era veterans will be allowed $500 per year for four years to be used toward tuition, books and fees.

Veterans not attending school can get a cash bonus. Vietnam veterans would get $500. Non-combat veterans would get a bonus of $15 for each month of service to a maximum of $360.

Retirement Studies Set For Seniors

Schoolcraft College has announced a retirement studies program for senior citizens of the college district starting Nov. 6.

The program is being conducted at two locations. It will be held on Mondays from 10:30 until 12 noon at the Northville City Hall beginning Nov. 6, and on Wednesdays from 1:30 to 3 p.m. at McNamara Tower No. 2 in Livonia beginning Nov. 8.

There is no charge for the program, but registration is limited to 30 persons at each location, and enrollment is on a first come basis. To enroll, persons should telephone Mrs. Lois Collins at the Schoolcraft Community Services Office.

THE FIRST session of the retirement studies program will be an introduction to the program. After that, weekly sessions will be devoted to: social security and medicare, financial planning for the retirement years, good health for the later years, the legal affairs of the older person, and opportunities for retirement living.

The program is sponsored by Schoolcraft College and the Institute of Gerontology at the University of Michigan and Wayne State University.

It is the first effort by the college in meeting the special needs of senior citizens. The needs were identified through a study sponsored by the Schoolcraft College Foundation and directed by Ronald Griffith, Schoolcraft's director of community services. The program leaders are Mrs. Betty Andrews and Dr. Woodrow Hunter of the Institute of Gerontology.

RESOURCE persons for the program include Joseph Mayo of the Social Security Administration, Dr. Edwin Smith of the University of Michigan, Lucy Bates of the Visiting Nurses Assn. and John Dufour, director of the Livonia Dept. of Parks and Recreation.

Persons wishing a brochure which provides specific program information for each week may request a copy from the Schoolcraft community services office.

Home Use

Renewability of the wood resource is a strong argument for using it in home building.

PRESIDENT EMERITUS Eric J. Bradner returned to Schoolcraft College Oct. 24 to help celebrate the college's 11th anniversary. He was honored with installation of a plaque in the Bradner Library named for him. (Observer photo)

It's A Family Wedding

Dear Observer Newspaper,

My mom is getting married this Oct. 27. She has five kids -- their names are Kathy, Sue, Angie, Tommy, Lucy. We are all in the bridal party. My mom's name is Joann Melton. She is getting married to Frank Noon. My Aunt Lucy, Uncle Jim and my two cousins, Jimmy and Mikey Reynolds are in it too. My mom is making all the girls' dresses herself and making the bouquet. My Uncle Jim is giving my mother away. They're getting married at St. Bernardine church. I Wanted it in the paper because I want to Show how happy we are.

Sincerely Yours
Kathy Melton

A family wedding took place in St. Bernardine of Siena Catholic church of Westland Friday evening -- and now a family is complete.

For when Frank Noon of Ferndale took Mrs. Joanne Melton of Westland as his bride, he also acquired a family of four daughters and a son. They were all right there at the altar as members of the wedding party.

Young Tommy Melton, six years old and resplendent in a velvet tuxedo, carried the rings on a lace pillow that had been used for his grandparents' 25th anniversary celebration a few years back. His four sisters were there in blue velvet dresses their mother made for the occasion.

THE OLDEST is 11-year-old Kathy, who wrote a letter so that the story about the wedding could be in the newspaper "to show how happy we are."

The other sisters who stood beside her for the nuptials were Sue, 10; Angie, eight, and Lucy, five.

Also at the altar were the bride's sister, Mrs. Lucille Reynolds of Livonia, as matron of honor, her husband, Jim Reynolds, who joined the bride's mother, Mrs. Angeline Saccio of Warren, in giving the bride in marriage, and the Reynolds' two sons, James and Michael, who were junior ushers.

"THE IMPORTANT thing for me was to have my family a part of the ceremony," said the bride a few hours before the ceremony.

And for her new husband, a bachelor until last Friday evening, having everyone there was just as important.

"He said he's always wanted to have a family, and now he has one," the new Mrs. Noon said.

The couple decided last July to be married, but plans for the church wedding with everyone involved were worked out much more recently.

"I gave myself just two weeks to make all the dresses," said the mother of the junior bridesmaids.

A BEAUTICIAN, she also did coiffures for herself and daughters as well as her mother and sister for the big day.

She didn't sew her own bridal gown, but, as things turned out, she did have to put together a veil.

The family pup chewed up the one she had planned to wear, so there was a rush trip to the store Friday for some more lace and veiling.

A reception in Colony Hall in Southfield followed the wedding. "We invited about 200 -- it sort of got bigger than I expected."

involvement went further than the bridal party.

The bride's aunt did the cooking for the reception and two of her cousins made the wedding cake.

The newlyweds are honeymooning this week on Drummond Island in northern lake Huron while relatives take charge of the children.

"He likes to hunt and I love to fish," said Mrs. Noon.

Then they'll set up full family living in the Westland home.

WEDDING PREPARATIONS were going on at a fast pace Friday before Mrs. Joanne Melton (center), became the bride of Frank Noon. She gives her son Tommy a quick combing job while daughter Kathy (left), helps Angie, wearing her velvet bridesmaid dress. The other girls in the family are Sue (second from right) and Lucy. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring)

New Dimension Seen In Women's Liberation

By BETTY MASSON

"I am frightened by the belief in some quarters that men are the enemy. We are all victims together . . . of a patriarchal attitude."

Author - researcher Barbara Seaman thus characterized women's liberation in a visit to Schoolcraft College last week.

The lecture and idea exchange involved the author of "Free and Female" and an audience of about 250 females and dozen males for about four hours.

And by the time it was over, a move was beginning to establish a local chapter of the National Organization of Women (NOW). Interested persons may contact Sylvia Vukmich, a counselor at Schoolcraft.

HOW DOES THIS WOMAN who has made a study of women view women's lib?

"We want our daughters to be able to think and our sons to be able to cry," she told her audience.

And what will this type of thinking do to her son? she was asked.

"I think in the long run, my son will be glad to have a wife that is not a dependent millstone around his neck . . . as women become true economic partners, it is very freeing for men."

"Most families still pressure daughters toward marriage. Even professors do

"We want our daughters to be able to think and our sons to be able to cry."

this. I am not in any way against marriage. . . I believe it will grow better as it grows more egalitarian, but we must persuade young women not to rush into marriage," she said.

MRS. SEAMAN, who is child care and education editor of Family Circle magazine, is also the author of "The Doctor's Case Against the Pill." "Free and Female" is published by Coward, McCann and Geoghegan, Inc., and is subtitled "The Sex Life of the Contemporary Woman."

Her audience may have expected an extremist. Before she spoke, there was an almost palpable tension in the air.

Instead, those on hand found a thoughtful, intense woman who could laugh ruefully as she revealed that her own husband now (too late) wishes he had spent more time with their three children when they were small.

But she makes a case for a revolution in society so that men and women may share child care and economic responsibilities.

HER LECTURE centered on five "myths" about male and female which she said persist in spite of scientific evidence.

One is that women are the sole possessors of a "maternal instinct." Evidence shows that frequency and intensity of contact with a newborn is the important factor, and "even fathers can rise to the occasion."

Of the "Adam's rib myth," Mrs. Seaman said, "Embryologists have established that all mammalian embryos are innately female, and maleness is a deviation triggered by hormones . . . male development is now considered a deviation on the basic female pattern, and the penis is actually an extended clitoris."

That "marriage is a triumph for women, a defeat for men" is another myth, she emphasized. "Recent studies show the happiest people in our society are single women, and bachelors are the most unhappy," said Mrs. Seaman. She added that married men rank high in the happiness scale.

"The responsibilities of marriage seem to have a maturing and strengthening effect on men," said Mrs. Seaman, "but there are very few happy housewives in their 40s."

MYTH NO. 3, according to Mrs. Seaman, is that "sex is really for men, and a good woman shouldn't be interested." Yet research by Masters and Johnson and by anthropologists has shown that "the female has a much greater sexual potential than a male," she said.

Pointing out that Freud recognized a strong link between eroticism and creativity, Mrs. Seaman said, "I think there is quite a bit of good suggestive evidence that the fact that so few women have been distinguished in the arts and sciences has to do with sexual repression."

Yet medical textbooks, still in use, say "frequency of sexual intercourse is dependent on the male sex drive," and claim that "the traits that compose the core of the female personality are feminine narcissism, passivity and masochism," she said. Too many doctors prescribe tranquilizers, ignoring completely the possibility that sexual frustration may be a factor in women's complaints, she added.

MRS. SEAMAN said she is among the women who have been told that only "neurotics are interested in natural childbirth." She said she was urged to have labor induced because her gynecologist wanted to go on a cruise.

(An audience member who is active in teaching the Lamaze method of childbirth in Observerland was quick to agree with Mrs. Seaman's remarks about gynecologists and the attitudes in the textbooks).

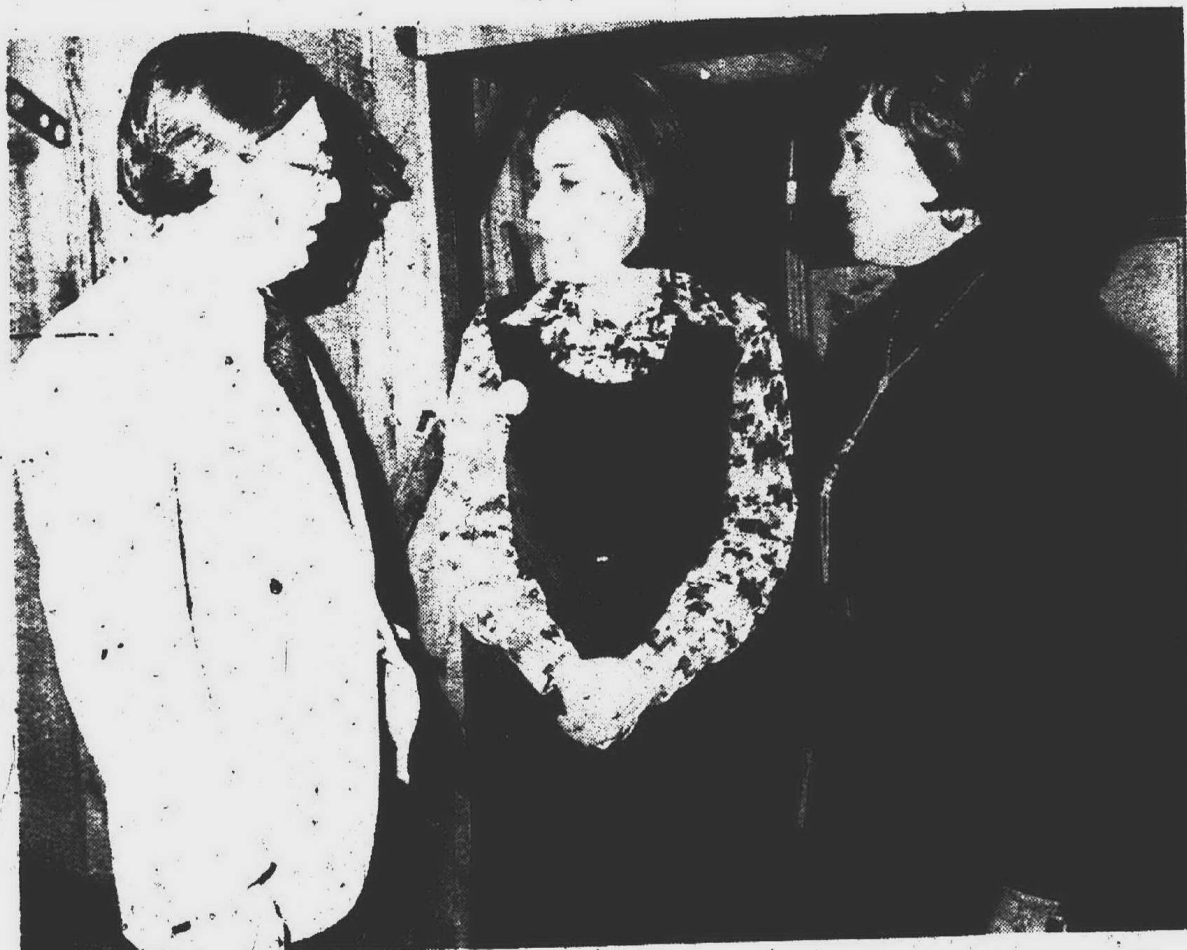

Myth No. 4, Mrs. Seaman said, keeps society patriarchal by holding that "children of working mothers have more problems than children of mothers who are full-time housekeepers."

Recent psychological studies have shown very little difference unless the mother feels guilty about working, she stated. Her guilt may make her overcompensate and this can have undesirable results.

Teenage girls have an advantage if their mothers work. They are better students, more popular, have higher self-esteem and are four times more likely to say that they would like to be like their mothers, according to the studies she quoted.

THE LAST MYTH is "that American women are fleeing their children."

Couple Living In Inkster

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sobolewski are making their home in Inkster following their recent wedding in Faith Baptist Church, Dearborn Heights.

Mrs. Sobolewski is the former Nancy Jane Hodge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion L. Hodge of Herbert Avenue, Westland. Mr. and Mrs. John Sobolewski of Dearborn Heights are the bridegroom's parents.

The Rev. Donald Gregory officiated for the double-ring ceremony, and the bride's father gave her in marriage.

She wore a gown of white rosepoint lace over organza and chiffon and a bouffant veil held by a lace and crystal headpiece. Her flowers were white carnations and green spider mums and ivy.

PEGGY AKERS was honor attendant and the bridesmaids were Pat Czarnota, Julie Hodge and Pat Sobolewski. Assisting the bridegroom were Joseph Czarnota as best man and James Woods and Robert Hodge as ushers. Kevin Krzeszowski was ring bearer.

The reception was held in the Dearborn Heights VFW

Hall and the couple went to the Upper Peninsula for a one-week honeymoon.

THE NEW Mrs. Sobolewski graduated in 1970 from John Glenn High School and in 1971 from Cleveland State Commercial College in Cleveland, Tenn. She is employed as a claims service secretary.

Her husband, a 1966 graduate of Henry Ford Community College and a Vietnam veteran, works as a Pepsi-Cola route salesman.

Pointing out that "there is no other society where mothers and small children spend as much time in each other's exclusive society as in the United States today," Mrs. Seaman said, "Not only is this hard on mothers, but it's even harder on the children."

"There is too much pressure on a child to be his mother's only reason for living... Part-time jobs may be answer for the sake of the mental health of the children."

Can we change our patterns of living which are based on these myths?

Mrs. Seaman believes that it can be done, that we are in fact in a period of very rapid change. "In 25 years, Chinese women have achieved greater equality than we have," she said.

"Men's laughter reflects a state of self-consciousness as we face change... Males of this generation are going to have to go through a transitional period, but in the long run, it is better for them too. They can develop their own potential and be freed from 'emotional suppression,' which research has shown can cause physical (heart attacks) as well as emotional problems."

"If we are to make persons of ourselves, we need honest information, not patriarchal myths," she said. And she left with her friends at Schoolcraft a list of 35 recent books and articles which have helped her arrive at the conclusion that there is evidence with which to explode them.

Tricia Smith Wed To Robert Keller

Tricia Lynn Smith and Robert E. Keller III exchanged nuptial vows in a ceremony Saturday, Oct. 28, in Our Lady of Victory Catholic Church of Northville.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Smith of Northville, formerly of Livonia. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Billie Bechtel of Toledo and Robert E. Keller Jr. of Kansas.

The bridegroom placed on the bride's finger the ring that had been worn by her grandmother. During the ceremony officiated by the Rev. John Wyskiel, the bride gave long-stemmed red roses to her mother and to the bridegroom's mother.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown of chantilly lace trimmed with seed pearls and featuring long sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt. Matching lace edged her cathedral-length mantilla, and she carried a cascade of white sweetheart roses with Stephanotis and baby's breath and a lavender orchid in the center.

Ann Rayman of Lima, Ohio, the maid of honor, wore a Victorian gown of violet saki linen with a venetian lace bib front and a white picture hat with violet ribbons.

Bridesmaids Bonnie Woodward and Sue List of Northville wore similar gowns with violet picture hats. All carried purple carnations and white fuji mums in cascade arrangements.

LENORE KELLER of Toledo, the bridegroom's sister, and Shelly Patrick of Toledo, the bride's cousin, were junior bridesmaids. They wore violet dresses with violet bows in their hair and carried small baskets of carnations and mums.

Robert Truscinski of Toledo was best man and the ushers were Gary Knapp of Toledo, Craig Bechtel of Toledo, brother of the bridegroom, and Thomas Smith of Northville, the bride's brother.

A DINNER reception for 160 in Holiday Inn of Farmington followed the ceremony, and the newlyweds went to Canada for their honeymoon.

They will live in Toledo. The new Mrs. Keller is a senior in the Mercy School of Nursing there and an officer candidate hospital nurse in the U.S. Navy Nurse Corps. Her husband will graduate in December from the University of Toledo and plans to continue his education in mortuary science.

When was the last time somebody helped you buy carpeting instead of trying to sell you some?

Somewhere along the line, the meaning of "Can I help you" got changed to "Can I sell you something." Somehow, in the rush to mass merchandising, the word "customers" became "floor traffic."

And the word "volume" became law.

It's happened in every business. Ours included. But one thing hasn't changed.

You can only treat people like cattle once. Because it's a pretty sure bet they won't be back. That is why we haven't changed. We still rely mainly on repeat customers. As a matter of fact, that's where more than 2/3 of our business comes from.

You don't flash a smile and whip out an order pad on people like that. You talk to them. Get to know what they're like. What their home is like. Go out with a carload of samples, if need be. You take the time to know their needs. Whether it takes 10 minutes or 4 hours.

You don't carry junk. You don't carry seconds. You inspect every single inch of carpet before you deliver it. So you can stand behind it.

And above all, you don't give sales pitches. You give advice. Good sound, professional advice. No hard sell.

A lot of other "experts" say we miss a lot of sales like that. Maybe. But if somebody wants to look around a little more, we're all for letting him. The way we figure, after he's done a little comparing, he'll be back.

I-94's 'Missing Link' Completed

Michigan motorists will be able to drive nonstop from Port Huron to Chicago for the first time ever when the final section of I-94 in Indiana is opened to traffic Nov. 2, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Completion of this 18-mile Indiana stretch culminates more than 25 years of cooperation between Michigan AAA and the Chicago Motor Club to establish a toll-free, nonstop route between Detroit and Chicago," Auto Club General Manager Fred Rehm points out.

"This new link, located between US 20 on the east and US 20 on the west, now enables Michiganders to save at least 25 minutes driving time, 10 miles and $1.40 in toll road fees ($1.05 for the Indiana Toll Road and 35 cents for the Chicago Skyway)," Rehm states.

"COMPLETION of the I-94 freeway in Indiana also eliminates one of the worst traffic problems in Michigan history, especially on summer holiday weekends when cars sometimes backed up 18 miles from Indiana to Michigan," says Rehm.

Because motorists were forced to use seven miles of substandard, two-lane road instead of divided highway to reach the Indiana Toll Road, Auto Club dubbed this area "The Cornfield Carblock." The area also has been referred to as "Indiana's Missing Link" since it disrupted I-94 travel between Michigan and Illinois.

"Thousands of motorists were trapped there each weekend and even forced to stop for a traffic signal where US-20 intersected. This unfortunate situation is now ended," says Rehm.

Automobile Club of Michigan began promoting a Detroit-Chicago freeway link shortly after World War II and kept pushing for completion

Abortion Stand Is Personal, Says Esch

While speaking at the candidates night at St. Edith Catholic Church last week, U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) countered charges on his position on abortion.

"I do not believe the federal government should be involved in the abortion decision nor do I believe abortion should be used as a means of birth control," Esch said.

"The question of abortion is an individual matter involving personal philosophy and religious conviction. It is a matter which calls for a personal decision, not a political decree. As such, I feel it is my responsibility not to influence the people of Michigan one way or the other, but rather to vote, as will you, my own convictions on Nov. 7."

Esch's prime opponent in the election is State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia).

EMU Goal: Cut Vets' Dropouts

YPSILANTI

A program to aid veterans having academic problems is offered by the admissions and financial aids office at Eastern Michigan University.

Goal of the service, called the veteran tutoring program, is to reduce the number of veterans dropping out of EMU for academic reasons. The program is in its first year.

"We believe that with the proper counseling and tutoring we can cut the dropout rate to 10 per cent," says Ralph H. Cowan, admission and financial aids counselor. "Right now the rate is over 30 per cent for those attending college for the first time."

The veteran's academic background is checked by the admissions office when he enrolls. Those who may have grade problems are made aware of the program. The decision to enter the program, however, is left to the individual.

The veteran who enters participates in an eight-week course to improve writing, reading and study skills. He also joins in small discussion groups supervised by an academically successful veteran. He may end his participation at any time.

There is no charge to the student for the program. The Veterans Administration contributes $50 for each member to cover tutoring costs.

Voters Guide Aids Blind

Voter information for the blind and physically handicapped is available on national, state and local candidates and issues through the Wayne County Federated Library System.

Livonia and Plymouth residents may borrow a cassette tape which contains biographical information and responses to questions recorded from the Voter's guide, produced by the Northville-Plymouth League of Women Voters and Livonia LWV.

STACKED TO THE ROOF -- Special racks, five and seven stories high, are being stocked with carloads of furniture in the new 3.5 million-cubic-foot Joshua Doore Furniture Warehouse and Showrooms under construction at 35955 Schoolcraft, Livonia. The door in the background is the main customer entrance to the warehouse and more than 300 showrooms of furniture.

Joshua Doore Nearly Ready

Construction is nearing completion on the third Joshua Doore furniture warehouse and showrooms, located at 35955 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

The 3½-million-cubic foot facility will feature more than 300 separate furniture showrooms and an in-depth matching inventory in its adjoining warehouse -- all under one roof.

Scheduled for completion in November, the facility will also house the firm's executive offices.

More than 60,000 items will be stocked and displayed at the outlet, making it the biggest furniture display and warehouse inventory operation in Michigan retail history.

The facility represents an investment of $4 million by the parent firm, the Robinson Furniture Co., whose home offices are based in Warren.

"Joshua Doore represents more than two years of planning," said Spencer Reuben, president of Robinson's.

General contractor for the Livonia facility is Taubman Co. of Southfield. The first Joshua Doore Furniture Warehouse and Showrooms opened in June, 1972 in Taylor, and a second complex opened recently in Warren.

Milliken Is Really For Esch

Gov. William Milliken was campaigning in Livonia last weekend for U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) who is seeking reelection to the 2nd Congressional District seats.

Milliken's appearance was designed to emphasize that he supports Esch over Democratic challenger State Rep. Marvin Stempien of Livonia. An Esch spokesman said Stempien has subtly alleged that Milliken supports Stempien.

"In my view, Marv Esch has been one of this state's outstanding congressmen in Washington," Milliken said. "He is experienced. He is innovative. I personally value the close association we have had in working toward a federal-state partnership."

"It is my hope that the citizens of Livonia will recognize Congressman Esch's abilities and support him in the Nov. 7 election. Make no mistake about it, my endorsement in this congressional race is wholeheartedly, unequivocally for Esch."

Stempien Hits Esch's Attendance

State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) charged recently that U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) has an attendance record that is a "disgrace."

Stempien and Esch are competing for the 2nd District congressional seat.

Speaking at a candidates night sponsored by the Ann Arbor Center for Ecology, Stempien said that Esch misses at least 22 per cent of the Record votes in the last three years, while the average Republican missed 13 per cent.

The votes that Esch missed included the Lockheed Loan guarantee which passed by just three votes; the Amchitka Island nuclear blast; the flooding of the Great Marine Wilderness by utility corporation dams; budget cuts for the Peace Corps; appropriations for foreign military aid; the supersonic transport and other major pieces of legislation, Stempien said.

Busing Panel Member: Segregation Is Issue

FARMINGTON Racial segregation is the major problem of the day, Dr. Freeman Flynn, a member of Federal Judge Roth's desegregation panel, told a recent meeting of the Farmington branch of the Metropolitan Coalition for Peaceful Integration.

"The only issue before the courts is desegregation, not quality education or busing," he asserted.

DR. FLYNN was joined as guest speaker by James Coates, Farmington businessman and former member of the Little Rock, Ark., board of education when school desegregation was implemented there.

Special guests were parents from Detroit School Region 5, which is paired with Farmington in school desegregation plans.

No major problems arose in desegregation of the Little Rock district, said Coates, who also served as an Arkansas state legislator.

"If the courts should order busing, there will be a need to gather forces and make clear that we will abide by the law," Coates said.

The coalition describes itself as neither for nor against busing, but hopes to work with schools and parents to insure that the law will be upheld peacefully if cross-district busing is ordered by the courts.

DR. FLYNN, an educator for 20 years, said his experience as an administrator in a predominately black community convinced him that "our society does not care for our children but only for some children." His concern is not only for "what happens to black children but also for what happens to white children who are denied relationships with many kinds of children," Dr. Flynn declared.

The largest burden of busing would fall on black children "who would be bused for a period of ten to 12 years compared to two or three years for white children," Dr. Flynn said.

A Case Study

Small Town Competes

Small cities should turn the tables and start attracting trade from their neighboring big cities, according to a representative of Michigan State University's Institute for Community Development.

"How to compete with nearby big-city stores is a problem for many small town retailers," said Robert Anderson, assistant director of the institute, "but they don't have to fold up and quit."

He was commenting on recommendations made by the institute to Hastings, a city of 7,000, centrally located among Grand Rapids, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo and within driving distance of Lansing.

After an intensive analysis of a consumer survey conducted by the Hastings Area Chamber of Commerce, the institute recommended that Hastings merchants stop competing with each other and join forces to give the town a unique identity. The analysis was made by William P. Goodrich, the institute's economist.

Coordinating of "lines" between stores in the same field, such as auto supplies or hardware, would cut out duplication of items. Hastings could thus offer a wider variety of merchandise without any one store having to increase its inventory greatly, the institute advised.

With nearly exclusive lines in each store, Hastings merchants might be able to offer the big cities price competition, it added.

To develop a special identity for Hastings, the institute recommended citywide promotions, such as festivals, summer sidewalk sales or art shows.

"In another sense Hastings is in an enviable position precisely because of its proximity to four larger cities, the analysis indicates.

Stempien Hits Esch Record On Labor

Speaking at a meeting in Saline of building tradesmen, State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) said his opponent in the 2nd congressional District race has proven that he is not a friend of the working man.

Stempien is challenging incumbent U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch (R-Ann Arbor) for the seat.

Esch's voting record "clearly shows that he supports the industrial giants at the expense of those who work for a living," Stempien said. "In the Michigan legislature, I have consistently fought for those who work for a living. My opponent has not."

Stempien, who is House majority leader, charged Esch's record shows that he is against collective bargaining for public employees, against increases in workmen's compensation benefits, against union security for postal employees, against extending the minimum wage law to students, and against efforts to stop illegal job discrimination.

RIDDLE by DOC KEETH

Riddle for today. What is yellow, has four legs, weighs one thousand pounds and flies? Give up? (You might as well because the answer is way out in deep left field.)

Answer: Two five-hundred pound canaries.

But enough of this warped humor. I have a genuine riddle which keeps popping up with alarming regularity. It is this:

What do you take for granted every day for six, seven or eight months of the year as it steadily works for your comfort, then often ignore when it desperately needs some attention?

The answer, of course, is your home's heating system. Most people have their autos serviced regularly, they feed and seed their lawns, even take their wives out occasionally. But their furnaces! Unh. Unh. Too often the furnace just shuts off in the spring and squats there, lonesome and neglected, in the basement until the fall.

It, too, needs some tender loving care. Burners, blower, flue, casing and flue and filters need attention.

It's simply a matter of an ounce of prevention. Our service people are well-trained and experienced in furnace therapy. It will pay you to call us to get your furnace in shape for the next heating season. As your Lennox Comfort Craftsman, we can be relied upon to do the right job — no repairs or changes will be made without your full knowledge and consent. Call us.

Mrs. Dumas' Campaign Irks Fellow Trustees

Mary Dumas' campaign for Wayne County Commissioner hit a snag last week and has some of her fellow trustees on the Schoolcraft College board seeing red.

The trustees were upset over the wording in Mrs. Dumas' campaign literature which says she "administers multi-million dollar operating and capital construction budgets and approves all personnel contracts."

They said that the wording misleads voters into thinking that Mrs. Dumas is the sole person responsible for administering the college's $6 million budget and signing personnel contracts. The total board and administration have these responsibilities.

BUT MRS. DUMAS maintains it is largely a matter of semantics.

One trustee, Arch Vallier, is so upset over the campaign literature that he has asked that the board consider removing Mrs. Dumas as board secretary and alternate to the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments.

Mrs. Dumas was elected to a two-year term at Schoolcraft in September of 1971. She is running for county commissioner in the 19th district (which includes Livonia).

Antiques Seminar Runs 3 More Weeks

A four week antique seminar is being conducted at the Westland Shopping Center.

Beginning today, Nov. 1 at 10 a.m., Mrs. Ruth Holly will offer helpful hints on how to identify, buy, sell, collect and refinish antiques.

Classes will be held in the auditorium of the center every Wednesday for three more weeks.

A nominal fee of $5 is charged to handle the costs of instructional materials.

Guest speakers will be brought in to expound on the finer points of antique collecting. These speakers are all active and knowledgeable of today's antique market.

against Eldon Raymond, son of Schoolcraft trustee Rosina Raymond.

The dispute became public last week when Victor Dumas, Mary's husband, apologized to the board and administration at the board meeting. He had prepared the ad which was under fire.

He said the literature was prepared without "malice" and without the impression that it was undermining the work done by the total board and administration.

"We were trying not to overemphasize the work she has done in this area," he said. "We certainly do not agree with what was done," Vallier replied. "But we all make mistakes. I think we ought to accept their apology."

"AM I TO assume that it will be taken out of the literature and newspaper ads?" asked Mrs. Raymond. "May I say personally that it will be reworded according to the state statutes," Mrs. Dumas said.

The trustees left with the impression that the literature would be changed, Vallier said, and they were upset when they found that it wasn't. Instead of changing the literature which was already printed, Mrs. Dumas included a statement which quotes from the state statutes governing community college boards of trustees.

"As secretary of the board, I am required by law to sign all contracts, personnel or construction contracts, and tax anticipation notes along with the chairman of the board of trustees and treasurer," her statement says.

MRS. DUMAS continues by citing the major action taken by the board which she has signed.

"It was my interpretation that many of these duties are administrative duties, and I still so believe. However, some of my colleagues on the board disagree, and I defer to their wishes by stating that these are really governing powers, a term which to me had seemed more presumptuous than the word administrative," she concludes. Disturbed by Mrs. Dumas' failure to retract the original statement, Vallier wrote a letter to board chairman Dr. Robert Geake.

"To my amazement it was brought to my attention on Saturday morning that Mrs. Dumas had not corrected the statements and was still passing out the literature, and there was no indication they were going to in spite of the promise made to the board of trustees."

"To make matters worse she was including in her material a sheet containing more irrelevant material trying to justify her position and refute the feelings of the members of the board of trustees."

We're Turning A Monkey Wrench In The Works...

A lot of folks know by now, that Real Estate One means just about every kind of service available when you call for you to buy or sell a home.

And, one of those services is the buyer protection plan. When you buy a Real Estate One home, the Palace Guard people promise, in writing, to repair or replace for one full year in the event of operational failure in normal use of service, any parts of your basic heating system, plumbing system, plumbing fixtures, electrical system, water heater, even your leaky faucets and broken doorbell. Absolutely free! There is no cost to you.

So when you buy one of these homes, (or others that we can show you) we throw in a monkey wrench, and a hammer, a screw driver, a drill and all of other tools. But, best of all, we also "throw in" a whole staff of professional workmen to use those tools.

It's all part of making things work.
