J. D. McLaren, newly installed Plymouth Township supervisor, has forecast a closer working relationship between township Republicans and Democrats in the future and said he expects to appoint his defeated Democratic opponent, Joseph Krochmalny, to a position.

McLaren, who took office Monday after beating Krochmalny by 450 votes Nov. 7, said the strong showing made by the township's Democratic candidates in the recent election showed, for the first time in recent memory, that the township can no longer be termed a "Republican stronghold."

The new supervisor, who had the lowest vote total of the Republican township candidates, said he saw the election as an "era of good feeling" between the two parties.

"If what I did is any indication of what's to come," McLaren said, "if nothing more, the area is going to be divided evenly between Democrats and Republicans."

McLaren praised Krochmalny's efforts in the campaign and said, "One of these days in some (one) of the areas of township government, there's going to be a place for Joe Krochmalny."

and become more involved," McLaren said.

WHILE McLAREN did not specify which post he might give to Krochmalny, he indicated that it could be an important commission seat. "It's frankly my feeling, and I don't know Joe (Krochmalny) that well, that anybody who worked as hard as he did ... if anybody is that interested in running for office (he'd make a good appointee)," McLaren said.

"The quicker we get to the point where we (Democrats and Republicans) can work with the opposition — provided it's in the right direction — (the quicker) we're going to get closer to our township's goals," McLaren added.

When discussing what he hoped will be a closer relationship between the two parties, McLaren, a Republican, always mentioned "Democrats" before "Republicans."

He said there were no basic philosophical differences between the two parties.

The Plymouth Mail & Observer was first alerted to McLaren's hope of inter-party cooperation by a letter from him.

"I have never been one to send or write a letter to the editor but the recent election, especially for the job of supervisor, has shown me an obvious considerable narrowing of the Republican-Democratic balance in this area.

"AND TO ME, that means a closer working arrangement between both parties," McLaren's letter to the paper said.

The new supervisor also sent a letter to Krochmalny following the election and Krochmalny's congratulatory phone call to McLaren.

"Please accept my sincere thanks for your congratulatory message of last week," McLaren wrote Krochmalny. "It was nice of you to call."

"In return I would like to compliment you on the effectiveness of your campaign. Truly you worked with great dedication, diligence and a degree of professionalism that hasn't been seen in this area in some time."

"I am grateful that we managed to keep the issues on a proper basis without having to resort to things of a personal nature. It is my feeling and hope that in the near future we will, together, find it possible to work for the continuing improvement of Plymouth Township."

"Let us not allow the past election to cloud the problems of the future," McLaren's letter to Krochmalny concluded.

Area Planners Meet To Increase Cooperation, 'Wake Sleeping Giant'

With an eye on greater cooperation, representatives of several area commissions and organizations are meeting to discuss future planning for the Plymouth area.

After an informal meeting hosted earlier this month by the Plymouth Planning Commission, Mary Childs, chairman of the commission, said she hopes the cooperation will grow and that another meeting will be called soon.

Mrs. Childs described the atmosphere of the first meeting as "an air of friendliness, cooperation and hope for the future."

THE PURPOSE of the meeting was to get representatives from interested civic groups to express openly their thoughts and ideas towards the betterment and expansion of the greater Plymouth area.

Attending the first planning meeting were:

All members of the city Planning Commission; Mayor James McKeon; City Manager Norman Gaffney; members of the city commission; James Rossman, Frank Millington and Robert Wade representing the Plymouth Area Economic Expansion Commission; Frank Arlen, representing the Plymouth Industrial Development Corp.; Edward Draugelis and Ralph Lorenz, representing the Plymouth Downtown Development Corp., and John E. Thomas, representing the Chamber of Commerce.

ALTHOUGH THE meeting had no official status, several proposals were discussed, including:

- "Working toward a more unified community, so that there is a common goal, rather than many groups working on individual ideas."

- "Deciding specifically what is to be accomplished. Putting ideas together to form a basic pattern. Deciding just how far to go to accomplish the goal.

- "Hiring an expert to formulate a basic plan."

- "Think in terms of a development which will produce a good tax base while preserving the unique Plymouth heritage."

- "Developing a land bank to help with the major problem of the high cost of land in downtown Plymouth. Using the Industrial Development Corp. and the Downtown Development Corp. in purchasing land. It was felt this is so extremely important that even tax dollars, if necessary, should be used in acquisition of available land.

- "Plymouth is center of some 90,000 in population and ways must be found to attract business to the Plymouth area. We must be competitive to areas around us. Perhaps think in terms of a unique attraction."

- "Work on the 'Loop' should begin to move so that we are able to show a prospective investor realistic progress."

- "PARKING IS a major problem in downtown Plymouth. We must provide more free parking. With so many large shopping centers around us, with huge parking lots, this is extremely important. The use of air rights in this capacity was considered vital. Perhaps this should be turned over to a parking authority."

- "The use of air rights in other areas of development was considered a valuable source of land."

- "Developing more park area. Check for availability of state and federal funds for use in this area."

- "Need for a community-wide Chamber of Commerce which will take an active part in 'selling' our community and whose enthusiasm will be contagious to others and thus encourage people to come here."

- "Use of the new planned unit development ordinance. Perhaps our zoning ordinances should be reviewed to determine if they are too restrictive."

- "Use of revenue sharing funds in constructive development programs."

"PLYMOUTH is a great community," Mrs. Childs said. "We must be cognizant of the progress made to date and be grateful to those responsible."

"The Plymouth Community is a 'sleeping giant' — if we pull together, we can wake it up. Now is the hour," she said.

School Bd. Calls Modular Schedule Special Meeting

Modular scheduling will be the topic at a special meeting called by the Plymouth Board of Education at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 12 at Canton High School Commons.

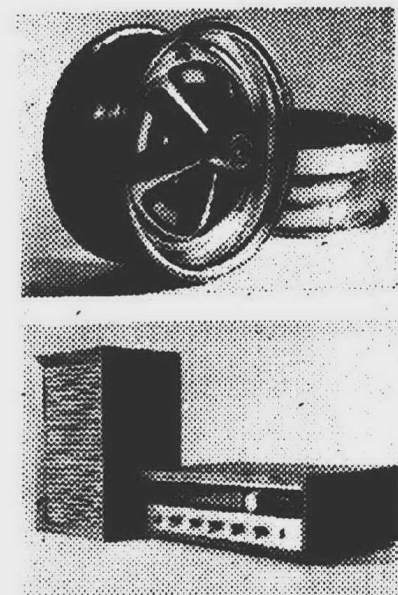

Superintendent John Hoben said the format of the meeting has not yet been established.

School Board Member Dr. John M. Ohno said he hoped his recommendation to form an educational atmosphere improvement committee would be discussed at the meeting because it involved modular scheduling.

THE PLYMOUTH SYMPHONY League's annual dinner dance is scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 2 at Meadowbrook Country Club. Preparing to sell tickets for the event are (from left): Jo Wilson, Mary Smith, Dick Gay and Mary Gay, chairman of the ball. Tickets for the event may be reserved by calling Mrs. John Wilson of 44758 Charnwood, Plymouth.

Today is your first chance to talk to Santa Claus. The first man of Christmas will be arriving today (Saturday) at noon by helicopter on Main Street across from Kellogg Park and will then receive visitors at his headquarters in the city band shell trailer on the parking lot next to the Penn Theater.

Red footsteps on the downtown sidewalks guide youngsters to Santa's headquarters which will be open Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Sundays from noon to 5 p.m., and weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m., with an additional two hours — from 6 to 8 p.m. — on Fridays.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DELANO

IT WOULD be hard to find two individuals with more contrasting areas of interest than Athletic Director Don Canham of the University of Michigan and Plymouth's Bob Delaney, the clarion voice of that wonderful assemblage of boatless landlubbers known as the Tonquish Creek Yacht Club.

One thing that does link them, however, is their sense of imagination and its practical application. Because of this tangible bond, Canham and Delaney, in their separate ways, are at the root of two great waves of enthusiasm sweeping the Plymouth area. Let's take the Canham angle first because it establishes a greater than ever Plymouth interest in the outcome of Saturday's all-important football battle between Michigan and Ohio State at Columbus. I assume you realize that the winner of that one will be the Big Ten's representative against the University of Southern California in the Rose Bowl. Well, Brother Canham has made it extremely difficult for the Buckeye diehards in Plymouth — folks like the Bacheldors, Hills, Lewises, Hulsings et al — to root against Michigan for one simple reason: If the Wolverines beat the Buckeyes and go west, Canham has promised to make tickets for the Rose Bowl game available to all the Plymouth High School bandmen and chaperones who will be in Pasadena for the Tournament of Roses Parade earlier New Year's Day.

"NO TROUBLE to it at all," Canham told me in the Michigan press box Saturday after the Purdue squeaker, "but we haven't beaten Ohio State yet."

You must realize that with the way the world-famed parade is set up, with its thousands of participants, attendance at the Rose Bowl game in the afternoon doesn't come automatically.

They are two separate events, and until Canham's display of cooperation, our Rocks figured to be on the outside looking in when game time arrives.

Ordinarily, at this point in November, I've put the needle into my Buckeye friends pretty good. However, this occasion calls for an exhibition of my true grace, recognizing that the Michigans suddenly have picked up a mob of avid boaters for Saturday's joust. O's body really wouldn't i these kids' hearts, AND WHERE does the Tonquish Creek Yacht Club fit into this? Well, while the TCYC is primarily a fun group, its leadership also is interested in young people and their activities and to date the club has donated several hundred dollars for these purposes.

The next big soiree of the TCYC will be the second annual Commodore's Ball the night of Friday, Dec. 1 in the new Thunderbird — Hilton Inn and as many as 1,000 members and active non-members are expected to attend.

"Any profits made from this dance or from the sale of club lighters, pennants, etc., also will go to youth activities," says Delaney, "and we certainly hope it will permit us to make a contribution to the band's Pasadena fund."

If you are new to the area and are curious as to how Tonquish Creek can accommodate a yacht club, then you should realize that this was born in a moment of whimsy when several of the lads were speculating on what an asset it would be to link Plymouth to the St. Lawrence Seaway. Think what ocean-going traffic would do for our economy.

Dress for the Dec. 1 bash will be "semi-sewer formal," which gives you some idea of the frivolity of which the mateys are capable.

Youth Symphony Sets Season Debut Concert

PLYMOUTH An evening of music and dance will be offered in the Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium Wednesday, Dec. 6, beginning at 8 p.m. The Plymouth Youth Symphony will open its 1972-73 season, featuring dance groups from the Plymouth area. A special attraction will be the first performance of the recently established Suzuki violinists, composed of youngsters from five to seven years of age under the instruction of Mrs. Louise Andres and Mrs. Nancy Drimmeyer. Musical director H. Michael Endres describes the program as "one of the most interesting concerts the Youth Symphony has ever put together."

THE ORCHESTRA will accompany a concert ballet ensemble from the Plymouth School of Dance in a performance of "Cygnets" from Tchaikovsky's "Swan Lake" ballet and "Waltz of the Flowers" from the same composer's "Nutcracker" ballet. Mary Morgan of Livonia will be harp soloist for "Waltz of the Flowers." The ballet ensemble will be under the direction of Mrs. Endre Stamnitz.

The Plymouth High Rockettes, led by Mrs. Evelyn Shier, will dance the "Can Can" from Offenbach's overture to "Orpheus in the Underworld."

Lisa Toth will perform a solo stylized dance to the "Russian Sailors' Dance" from the "Red Poppy" by Reinhold Gliere. Gina Descenzo, an 11th grader at Plymouth-Salem, will dance a solo to the music of "Scarborough Fair."

ORCHESTRA selections will include "Lancaster

Overture" by Paul Whear, the second movement from "Romantic Symphony," opus 30 by Howard Hanson and "Marche Militaire Française" by Saint-Saens.

The concert will conclude with "Deck the Halls With Boughs of Holly," "A Merrie Fugue" by Hershy Kay and "Christmas Music for Orchestra" by John Cacavas. Assisting Endres in selection of the dance soloists was Mary Godfrey, a dancing instructor in Ann Arbor and speech teacher and debate coach at Plymouth-Salem High.

Allen Students Favor Nixon

PLYMOUTH Allen Elementary School's fourth and fifth graders cast 78 per cent of their vote for President Richard Nixon in a mock election Nov. 7, climaxing what Principal Thomas Workman called: "One of the most successful teaching experiences I have observed."

His reference was to a month long in-depth study of the political process which included a mock convention, writing of a party platform and the appearance of candidates or their agents from the national ticket down through township offices.

In the mock election, fourth and fifth graders voted 149-43 for Nixon over Sen. George McGovern. The overall school vote was 371 for Nixon to McGovern's 81, an 82 per cent victory for the president.

(The adult vote was 85.75 per cent for Nixon in Plymouth Township and 73.6 per cent in the City of Plymouth.) Fourth and fifth graders preferred Sen. Robert Griffin to Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley by roughly 70 per cent in the U.S. Senatorial race, voting 116-49 in Griffin's favor. The school vote was Griffin 170, Kelley 63.

In the congressional race, U.S. Rep. Marvin Esch won with 94 votes to 79 for State Rep. Marvin Stempfen among fourth and fifth graders and the total school vote was for Esch, 135 to 103.

The students favored daylight saving time and the local ballot question on rezoning a parcel of property in Plymouth Township. But they defeated the abortion proposal, Proposal C to limit property taxes, Proposal D for a graduated income tax, the proposed veterans' bonus and proposals to build a new county jail and juvenile detention home.

The Stroller... Free(?)Enterprise

One morning some years ago when The Stroller was a lad going to high school, his geometry teacher looked him right in the eye and said, sternly—

"Until you master the intricacies of the equilateral triangle, you are not going to get very far."

And, on another occasion in history class when we were studying about the Civil War, the teacher looked at me and warned—

"You've got to learn these dates — and you'll be in trouble if you don't remember the date of the Battle of Bull Run."

Well, it's been a good many years since The Stroller was warned about these shortcomings.

But, strangely, since his school days he hasn't encountered an equilateral triangle — at least to his knowledge. And through a rather lengthy and colorful stroll along the journalistic trail, no one ever has asked him the date of the Battle of Bull Run.

He has encountered some things, however, that have puzzled him — and left him wondering just what the answers could be.

ONE OF these things is the free enterprise system. The Stroller has been told, countless times, that America was founded and became great on the free enterprise system.

He believed it — yet The Stroller never has known exactly what it is — or means.

We start our lives from a single cell—which in its development seems to mirror evolutionary man. From the solitary cell living in salt water inside the mother we develop into a multi-celled creature which first resembles a fish or a reptile; our development may be traced through many different mammals until we reach human form. Man has developed over billions of years to what he is today. We shall see little change in our own lifetime, but how will man further develop in eons to come?

Religion Update

The Wall Street Journal's recent report of an estimated 40,000 clergy who are preaching $1 million worth of sermons purchased from a dozen firms is about as morally edifying as the purchase of term papers from similar firms by lazy and dishonest college students.

Among proprietors of this homiletical prostitution, the Journal identifies Father Lawrence Brett of Baltimore, as well as former sportscaster Red Barber, an Episcopal layman who explains piously: "God is the greatest manager of us all."

Also among these procurers for pulpit plagiarism is one James Colaianni, who is quoted as explaining: "Keeping the sermons non-controversial broadens their appeal." (There was, nearly a decade ago, a James Colaianni who was a crusading editor of Ramparts Magazine. But that was before this periodical abandoned its Catholic identification in favor of that far-left literary wonderland which is as sweetly undisturbed by scruple as is Colaianni the sermon-peddler.)

which discovers its pastor engaged in this sort of preaching - by - purchase has every reasonable right to ask: (1) Was his seminary training comprised of theology - or was it limited to instruction in reading? (2) Why can't the parish save on its budget by eliminating the minister's salary in favor of mailing mimeographed copies of his sermon - service to the parishioners at home - while replacing his pastoral counseling with special subscriptions to either Dear Abby or Ann Landers?

Imitation may be the sincerest form of flattery, but rarely can the pulpit plagiarist approximate even the most modest efforts of a genuine preacher. And while the use of an occasional illustration from another sermon or sermons is perfectly legitimate, the lifting or purchase of an entire sermon by whatever financial arrangement is conduct unbecoming the ministry.

Yet the Journal quotes the Rev. Charles Hund of St. Bartholemew's Catholic Church in Chicago as making the following admission:

"Frankly, I don't have the time or the training to produce a quality sermon each week. I don't think I'm shortchanging my congregation if I find something suitable from an outside source."

FATHER HUND might be even more "practical" were he to emulate a long deceased (1895) West Point chaplain named Postlewaite who doubled as a member of the faculty.

Chaplain Postlewaite prepared 12 sermons, which, after he had preached them once, he repeated in an undeviating 12-week cycle as long as he was chaplain.

He did leave a lasting effect, however - from one of these sermons which every cadet heard 17 times before graduating. Its text was: "Felix trembled." (Acts of the Apostles 24:25). And for generations at the U.S. Military Academy, a similarly recurrent jellied dessert served in the mess hall was known to all cadets as "Felix trembled."

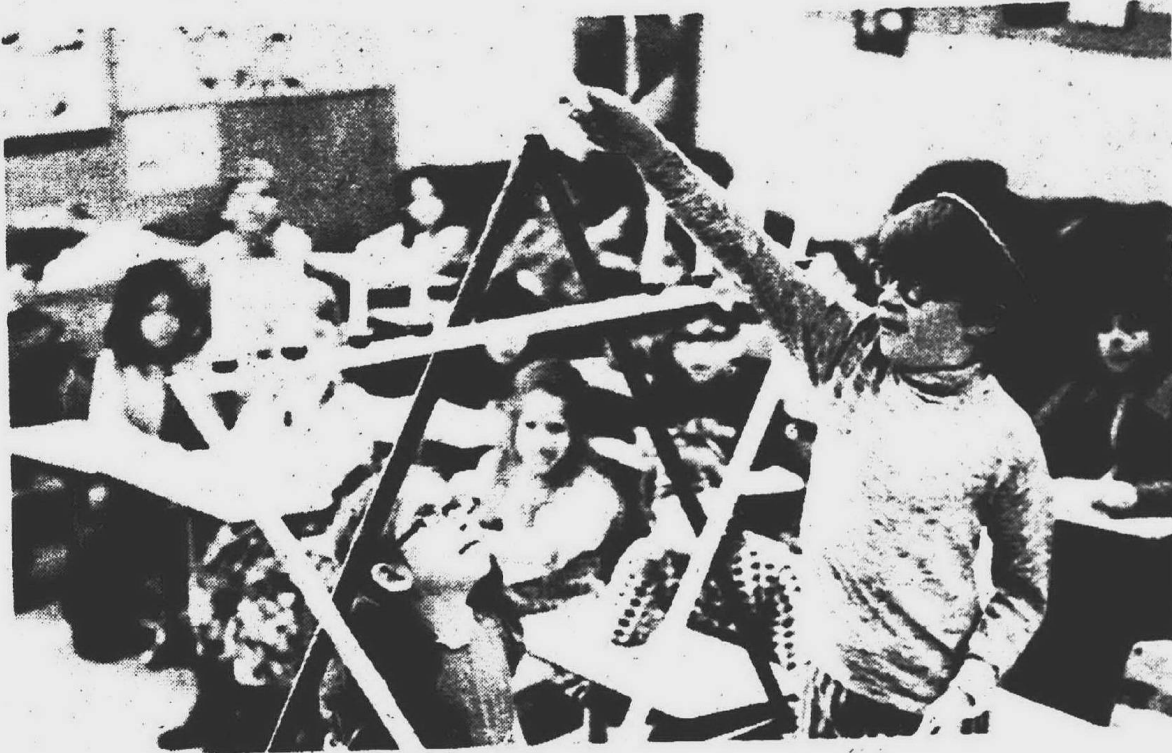

Some clergy practice lifting sermons without either permission or acknowledgement. This can be risky - as in the case of a young minister in Maine who boldly lifted one of the classic sermons of Harry Emerson Fosdick in its entirety.

The last person to greet this preacher at the door of his church that Sunday was an elderly man who expressed interest in the sermon and pleasantly inquired as to how long it had taken the preacher to prepare.

"Oh, it took me about three hours," replied the youthful parson, loftily.

"Young man, that sermon took me 21 hours to prepare!" shouted the summer visitor, in what became immediately apparent as a full pulpit voice, frequently broadcast over radio.

"Well, Dr. Fosdick," replied the parson with all the aplomb of a charming rogue, "You keep writing 'em and I'll keep preaching 'em!"

Temple Dedicates Hanukkah Menorah

Celebration of Hanukkah in the Birmingham Temple, 28611 W. 12 Mile, Farmington, will include dedication of a new Hanukkah menorah, family worship with youth participation and special holiday music.

The service is scheduled at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Dec. 1. Rabbi Sherwin Wine will speak on "The Black September, the problem of the Palestinian terrorists."

"The story of Hanukkah is the story of Jewish Guerrillas," the rabbi said. "Ironically, today the guerrillas have changed sides. They have become the enemies of the Jews - the fanatic exponents of Arab Terrorism."

"Unable to win their victory on Israeli soil, they have turned to the great cities of other countries to carry out their battle against the Jews and Zionist imperialism."

He said he would discuss the guerrillas, their organization and future, and whether there is need for fear.

The Hanukkah menorah was executed by Martin Goldman of Oak Park, a member of the congregation, in honor of the 50th birthday of David Manheimer of Southfield, cantorial soloist for Birmingham Temple.

The menorah is unconventional in concept. While preserving the ancient candlestick's tradition of nine lights, the artist has redesigned the shape to give the menorah strength, elegance and simplicity.

An integral part of the design is a large bronze teardrop used to symbolize the grief felt by all Jews at the destruction of the great Temple at Jerusalem.

The work was commissioned by the family of David Manheimer as a tribute to his dedication and involvement with the Temple and the addition he makes to its services.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's

Religion Update

"Sex has openly come into the church," reported the Anglican Church of Canada's weekly, Canadian Churchman, of Toronto. "You'll sing about it at services in the near future."

For a new hymnal has been jointly published by Canada's Anglicans (Episcopal) and the United Church of Canada — with little reported dissent from anybody.

The "Sex Hymn," Number 204, by 47-year-old Derwyn Jones, has the following lyric: "Now thank we God for bodies strong, vitality and zest:

For strength to meet the day's demands, the urge to give our best.

For all our body's appetites which can fulfillment find;

And for the sacrament of sex that recreates our kind."

In some areas of the comparatively conservative U.S., this lyric could be a cataclysmic shocker. Or it may be regarded by some uncomfortable churchgoers as the same kind of undue familiarity as the ancient "Kiss of Peace." This revived rite varies considerably, running from hand-clapping to hugging and even lip-kissing, depending on how far out is the local church. And while this could be regarded as induced or contrived fellowship, it does have the virtue of warming up many of "God's Frozen People."

THE NEW HYMN is also a welcome reminder that sex is a sacrament of sorts, created by God, who should hardly be imagined as regarding the marriage bed any less sacred than the altar. Such candor in worship can also help destroy the still widely held misconception that there is something intrinsically evil about the sex act — as contended by St. Augustine, who said that it consists of "bestial move-alternative to the current national inundation of sordid sexuality, such as is seen on New York's 42nd Street.

AT THE OTHER END of the spectrum, there are some pulpits where the subject of sex is never mentioned — as if sex is somehow unholy, or of no concern to either God or man.

The consequences of this are seen in one clinical case where a devout young married couple were unable to engage in coitus without first removing Jesus' picture from their bedroom wall.

Canadian Christians, in the candor of their new hymn, have rendered a service in helping people to avoid such bizarre tragedies.

Canton's Planners Recommend Industrial Area Land Use Study

PLYMOUTH MUSICIANS -- Two Plymouth High School string quartets and a woodwind quintet were among the musical groups which performed in the lobby of Detroit's Fisher Building recently during the International Music Festival held in the New Center area. The groups, performing together here, were conducted by Michael Endres.

CANTON TOWNSHIP

Canton planning commissioners will recommend to the township board that a land use study be made of 160 acres in the northeasterly sector of the township that is currently zoned industrial but is surrounded by residential development.

The request was prompted by a rezoning petition filed with the commission by J. A. Bloch, owner of an 18-acre site within the industrial zone. Bloch would like to have his property rezoned to permit multiples.

Bloch contends that the township has made a commitment to the neighboring subdivisions, including Holiday Park, to keep Koppernich Rd., on which his parcel is located, as residential. He said the township would be "mixing residential and industrial traffic... with either trucks going through residential areas or residential traffic forced to go through industrial areas to gain access to main roads."

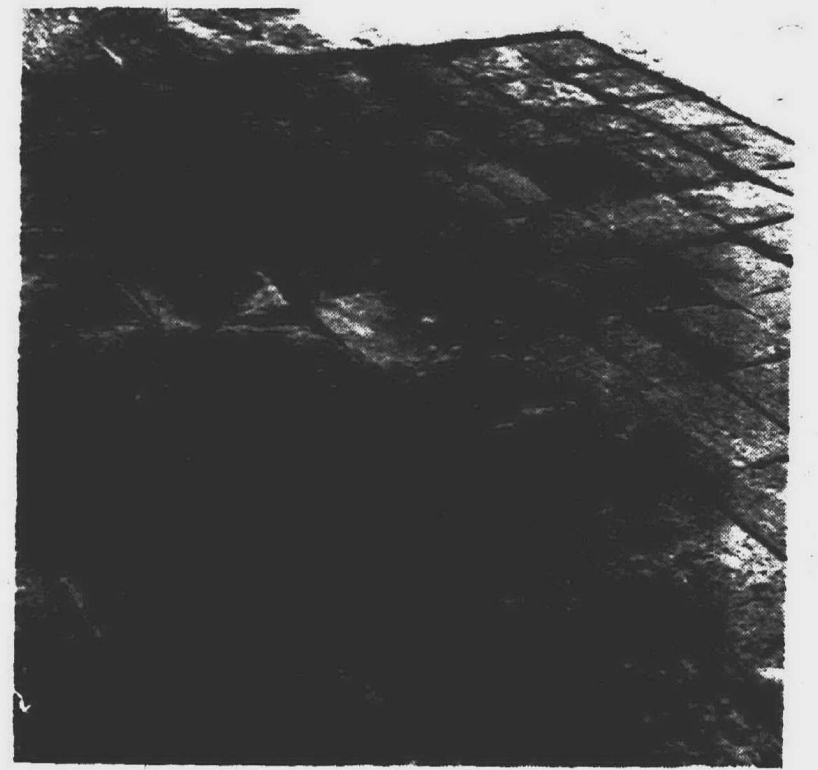

Commission Chairman George Lawton, however, said he feared that the rezoning would touch off a chain of rezoning requests in the area that would eat away at the "only sizable piece of industrial property in the northern half of the township."

"I'd hate to see that happen. There's precious little industrial land left in that area," he commented.

THE LAND USE study was suggested by Planning Consultant Michael Manore in his recommendation to deny the rezoning.

"Hopefully the township will authorize the study that will take in account the effect a raised freeway (I-275), a railroad and future industrial development will have on the entire 160 acres," he said.

Manore also said that the sanitary sewers in the area presently are not designed to handle the 4,000 persons that would be living in the development as it is now proposed.

REMEMBER WHEN brick streets would last for years and years? Well, they don't make bricks like they once did as evident by this patch in the recently installed road which is a link between Union and Deer streets in Plymouth. (Observer photo by Maurie Walker)

Canton Allows Separate Sale Of Duplex Units

By MARIE McGEE

CANTON TOWNSHIP Christmas came early for residents of Canton's Brentwood Homes, a small subdivision of duplex homes.

They now have the unique honor — in Canton, at least — of being able to own outright their half of the duplex, a right the developer has been fighting to gain from the township since last May.

The reluctant donor was the township board, which several months ago rejected the request of the developer, Kaufman and Broad, to sell each half of the 23 duplex units individually. Tuesday they reversed that decision.

Crux of the problem was the necessity of splitting the approximately 80-foot lots which some members contended amounted to "permitting single family housing on sub-standard lots." The board ruled that the duplexes had to be sold to a single owner, who would then rent one or both units.

Board members also feared that the individual ownership would result in squabbling between owners, particularly about exterior house colors and alterations.

THE DEVELOPMENT is located south of Warren and west of Lilley Rds. and was part of a planned unit development. The property was zoned for duplex housing before Kaufman and Broad purchased the site, it was disclosed.

There are two models for sale. One is a three bedroom ranch and the other a four-bedroom bi-level with family room. Prices range from $26-30,000.

Individual ownership has been a selling point in K-B's merchandising program.

Leading the appeal for the developer on the recent decision ordering one-party ownership was attorney Michael Lewiston who contended that it was "discriminatory to force individuals to purchase an entire duplex."

"They want to own their grass," he said, pointing to several persons in the audience who verified Lewiston's claim that they wanted to buy single units but could not afford the entire duplex.

Cantonites Hire Breen

CANTON TOWNSHIP

The Windsor Park Civic Association will hold a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 28 at Gallimore School to decide what action to take concerning the proposed shopping center complex for northwestern Canton Township.

Circulars advertising the meeting are being delivered to the more than 400 homeowners in the Windsor Park Subdivision, located in Canton Township, east of Sheldon and north of Warren.

An informal association survey of Windsor Park homeowners shows that more than 85 per cent are against the proposed development by D & M Investment Company of Grand Blanc, which includes a regional shopping center, office buildings, apartments and a "buffer zone" of houses.

The civic association has retained former Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, a Plymouth attorney, to handle the association's affairs. The meeting also is designed to acquaint Windsor Park homeowners with the association's activities.

The association's nine-man board of directors this week elected the following officers: president, Ernie Koch of 43958 Arlington; vice president, Dave Anderson of 7557 Hillsboro; secretary, Jerry Cheske, of 43971 Arlington; and treasurer, Dick Harden of 7783 Hillsboro.

"As Canton Township homeowners, we are vitally concerned with the future development of this rapidly expanding community," Koch said. "That is why the Windsor Park Civic Association plans to take an active part in Canton Township's growth and to speak out on issues concerning us."

"It's the board's fault and there's nothing we can do now," Supervisor Phil Dingeldey commented, indicating that the board should reverse its original decision. Explaining his feelings about the issue, Township Clerk John Flodin admitted he "didn't like the idea, but it's the only thing we can do (allow the lots to be split)."

"When I first voted for the zoning I assumed that one person would buy an entire duplex and rent half of it," Flodin said. "Now it is clear that most people can't afford to buy the whole duplex. People have a right to live where they can afford."

A VOTE ON the issue brought ayes from all trustees except Ray Deeds, who asked for more time to study the restrictive covenant. Trustee Grant Campbell was absent.

When it appeared, for a brief time, that the matter would be tabled again, residents pleaded with the board to "settle this thing so we can have Christmas in this house — or some other one."

And to make sure "it never happens again," the resolution calls for updating the zoning ordinance and possibly eliminating duplex housing.

Ned Stirton Warns:

Regain Pride Of Accomplishment

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH Unless the American worker regains the pride of accomplishment he once knew and is treated again like a human being instead of a number, our country may lose its place as the leading industrial nation on the globe. This grave warning was given to the members of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce at their monthly luncheon by Ned Stirton, managing director and public relations consultant for the Detroit Tooling Assn.

A recent visitor to Japan he admitted his astonishment at the manner in which the Japanese are progressing. "And it is just a matter of pride with them," he stated. "They are proud of their ability to build and market automobiles. They are proud of their mass transit systems and proud of the work done by the women in the manufacture of television sets, and the beautiful silks they weave."

Thieves Rob 4 Businesses In One Night

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH Four Plymouth business places were broken into Tuesday night, all within the same area.

Bathey manufacturing Co., 100 South Mill was hit for the second time in two days.

Entry was gained each time by breaking the glass out of the rear door of the building. Thieves pried open 17 vending machines Sunday night, some were in the lunchroom, some in the hall and others on the second floor. Vending machines were also the target Tuesday night.

Standard Oil Co. at 483 Amelia lost approximately $13 from a vending machine. Entry was gained by breaking window, police said.

Two firms on N. Main street, Emory Air Freight, at 352, and McLaren Co., at 305, were broken into, thieves again breaking windows to gain entry.

Police say it was not determined what was missing from those two firms.

IN CONTRAST, Stirton pointed out, the American worker has become "dehumanized" and in most cases is just a number.

"No longer do they take much pride in their work," he said, "because under our mass production system, each man has only a small part in the building of a machine. It isn't 'his' job anymore — it's everybody's job."

To prove his point that America may be fast losing hold, Stirton called attention to the fact that most TV sets are now manufactured in Japan. "All the finer parts are made and assembled there. The Japanese have small fingers and can handle the delicate parts."

"They also have developed a fine car, the Toyota, that is fast catching on in many of the foreign countries. It is a compact car, and the Japanese have now taken over at least five countries in auto sales."

"They have developed what might be called a superior product while our American companies are constantly calling back thousands of cars to correct some factory mistake."

STIRTON ALSO called attention to the mass transit system that has been installed in Tokyo.

"It is a fabulous system, with the trains running right on time and at speeds of upwards of 180 miles an hour," he said.

"Because of this the Japanese don't require automobiles to travel back and forth to work. They can make it quicker on the transit system. That relieves many cars for export."

Stirton, a former member of the Plymouth Board of

Twp. Rescue Runs Up 25%

PLYMOUTH Rescue runs by the Plymouth Township fire department have increased by 70 in the first 10 months of this year compared with the same period in 1971.

Fire Chief James Gignac said that as of Nov. 1, his department had responded to 335 rescue runs while in last year's 10-month period the figure was 265.

Education, also called attention to the cheap labor and the ability of the Japanese to manufacture a superior job with less expense.

In closing his warning, Stirton pointed to the fact that the automobiles that are manufactured in this country — that many are exported. So, with the Japanese building up foreign trade and dominating some of the other avenues, such as television and radios, the time may come when American manufacturing won't dominate the world's market places.

Canton Denies Rezoning For Multiples

CANTON TOWNSHIP

Canton Township's planning commission has denied the rezoning request of John Palmer involving land on the north side of Cherry Hill between Haggerty and Lotz Rds.

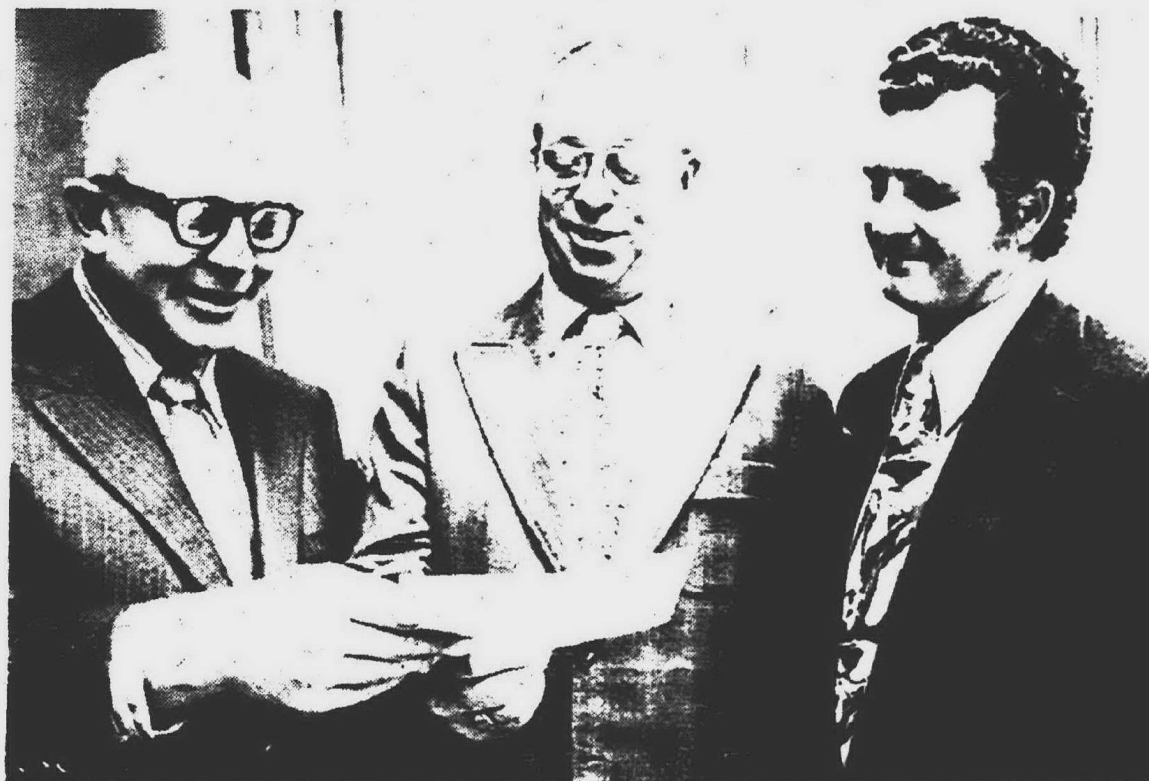

Palmer had requested a change from the present residential zoning to R-M (multiples) for the purpose of building 211 apartments.

The commission denied the request on the basis of its planning consultant's recommendation which said that the proposed development's traffic pattern posed certain hazards.

In other action taken at its Nov. 21 meeting, the commission agreed to take another look at the proposed development involving 25 acres at the southwest corner of Haggerty and Palmer.

The commission directed its planner, Michael Manore, to go over site plans with the developer, Robert Rubin, before setting a date for a public hearing on the rezoning that would have to take place before any further planning could take place.

The commission several months ago denied the rezoning request because details of the project which had the approval of the planning consultant were unclear. Rubin appealed the commission decision before the township board at its October meeting and was told to bring the matter up again before the planners.

A THERMOMETER TROPHY was presented by the Michigan Kidney Foundation recently to District No. 29, United Steel Workers of America, in appreciation of the union's $15,000 gift to purchase five lifesaving kidney machines. Admiring the trophy are (from left) Charles Younglove, district director, and Ann Mastey and Harold McMillan, both of Plymouth.

Oatmeal Can Supply Daily Protein Needs

Oats - A grain which in England is generally given to horses, but in Scotland supports the people.

- Samuel Johnson
Definition in his Dictionary

By ELLY

Poor Dr. Johnson, if he lived through two-thirds of the 18th Century without ever enjoying the taste and nutrition of oatmeal.

An average serving of oatmeal (one-third cup raw) can provide seven to eight percent of daily protein needs and some B vitamins, too. If your budget too often seems reminiscent of Scottish peasants of the 1700s, you might keep in mind that oatmeal can supply your entire daily protein requirements for only 28 cents. And, of course, you don't have to stick to a rolled oats porridge regimen to take advantage of this inexpensive source of good nutrition.

Mrs. Thomas Morse of Plymouth makes the most delicious chewy oatmeal cookies I've ever tasted. Dr. Morse's mother gave Joyce the recipe and daughters Kelle and Kim agree with the rave notice. Six-month-old Tommy has this treat in store. The old-fashioned carrot-oatmeal cookie recipe comes from Nova Scotia and Aunt Vera's crisp date-filled oatmeal cookies have been long-time family favorites.

JOYCE'S OATMEAL COOKIES

1 c. sugar
1 c. shortening
pinch salt
1 egg
1 c. raisins
1 t. soda
1 t. cinnamon
1 t. nutmeg
1/4 t. cloves
2 c. oatmeal
2 c. flour
1/2 c. chopped nuts

Cream sugar, shortening, salt and egg. Cover raisins with water and bring to a boil. Save the liquid. Mix dry ingredients. Add soda to raisin liquid. Combine all ingredients. Drop by spoonful onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 360 degrees about 10 minutes or until lightly brown.

AUNT VERA'S DATE-FILLED OATMEAL COOKIES

1/2 lb. lard or 1/2 lard and 1/2 butter
1 c. brown sugar
1/4 t. soda
2 T. boiling water
1 dessert spoon vanilla
2 c. sifted flour
2 c. oatmeal (heaping)
1/2 t. salt

Cream sugar and lard. Mix soda, water and vanilla. Mix dry ingredients. Mix all together. Roll into small balls, place on greased cookie sheet and press down with fork which has been dipped in cold water. Bake at 350 degrees about 10 minutes.

DATE FILLING

To a 12-ounce package of pitted dates add one cup of water and one-half cup sugar. Bring to a boil then lower heat and cook until dates are soft and the entire mixture has the

Macaroni Can Perk Up Your Holiday Leftovers

By ELLY

Ever hear the legend of how macaroni was invented and how it got its name?

It was during Marco Polo's sojourn in China, the story goes, that one of the members of his company became enamored of a beautiful Chinese girl. One day, as she was kneading her bread dough, her lover enticed her away from her chore. On their return they found the dough covered with fallen leaves.

The inventive Italian came up with a solution. He proceeded to strain the dough by forcing it through the holes in a wicker basket. The dough would come out the openings and the leaves would stay in the basket.

Instead the long strands of dough dried and hardened in the sun. The maiden gave him the strange looking pieces of dough (he was heading back to Italy) and later on he cooked them.

Everyone thought they tasted just great, even Marco Polo. All the way home he had to keep on making more dough strands to satisfy his companions.

And that is how Naples became the macaroni center of the world.

How was it named? An Italian ruler, on first tasting the pasta, exclaimed, "Ma caroni," which means, "How very dear!"

All of which is a rather round-about way to lead up to what to do with leftover Thanksgiving turkey. If you tire of turkey sandwiches, this baked turkey-macaroni salad sounds good.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

The thoroughbreds will bow out next Saturday when the Detroit Race Course rings down the curtain on what has to be the most trying season in history.

Track management knew weeks before the opener in early August that this would be the most challenging campaign it had ever faced. All roads around the plant with the exception of Inkster were torn up with highway improvements. Schoolcraft was an absolute mess with the result that the entrances had to be changed and moved farther west, something that bothered fans from the opening to the closing day.

Middle Belt was blocked from the track south most of the year and those driving were sent out Industrial Drive to Merriman Road if going south and west. Another traffic snarl that had things in a state of confusion.

Facing all of these problems, track management ran into another when attendance and wagering fell far short of expectations. That resulted in the track paying considerably more for purses than the agreement with the horsemen called for.

Purses set up prior to the start of the meeting were predicated on an anticipated mutual handle. Wagering never came close to the predictions and before management realized it, the horsemen had been overpaid by something like $300,000.

Despite a reduction in purses, a big cutback in mutual employees and slashes everywhere possible the track never recovered and thus will probably end the year deep in the red.

ALL OF WHICH led to Vice President and General Manager Paul Ryder changing his request for 1973 dates from 120 to 90 days. Originally scheduled for 120 days this year, Ryder turned 12 days over to Hazel Park shortly after the first of the year and then trimmed one day off each of the final five weeks.

Added to that, jockeys refused to complete a program two weeks ago and the card was halted after six races and canceled the following day while management negotiated with jockeys, trainers and owners to complete the season without further interruptions.

That truce, if there was such a thing, almost ended last Tuesday when the opening race was delayed more than 20 minutes when jockeys indicated they would not ride due to the bad condition of the racing strip. 'Tis said that management informed the riders it would not countenance a second cancellation and would call off the remainder of the meeting if the jocks refused to go on with the program.

The matter was finally resolved but it does bring up a point or two. We have attended early winter races in Toronto with the racing strip almost knee deep in mud and never one sign of complaints from the jockeys. We don't think the tracks at DRC, Hazel Park or Toledo were any worse but the riders did force cancellations of programs and finally a decision by the Ohio operation to drop thoroughbred racing.

Perhaps jockeys in Canada are a hardier group or perhaps, as we personally believe, they are better riders.

JUST A YEAR ago at this time, harness racing fans were talking about Thimble, a three-year-old pacer from Ohio which was dominating the early winter stakes series at the Jackson - at - Northville meeting.

As it turned out, Thimble swept the five race series, winning something like $15,000. It was the first sweep in the history of the early closing events.

There was some talk at the start of the current meeting that Michigan Mack, owned by Ralph Mapes, would take charge of the 1972 program and follow the path of Thimble.

But something happened a week ago when Michigan Mack appeared to hang on the final turn and then came on strong in the stretch to just miss catching the leading True Temper, handled by Jim McGarty, and Tricky Dale, piloted by Tom Merriman.

The trio tops a full complement in Saturday's (tonight) third leg of the series and once again Michigan Mack is expected to go postward as the early favorite.

The stakes heads one of the better cards of the meeting, one that is expected to attract the largest crowd to date.

Southfield's Danosi Elected Captain Of WSU Fencing

Sophomore Steve Danosi of Southfield has been elected captain of Wayne State University's 1972-73 fencing team.

The slender, right-handed sabre specialist, an All-American last year in his first varsity season, is only the third sophomore to hold the honor since WSU began the sport in 1938-39.

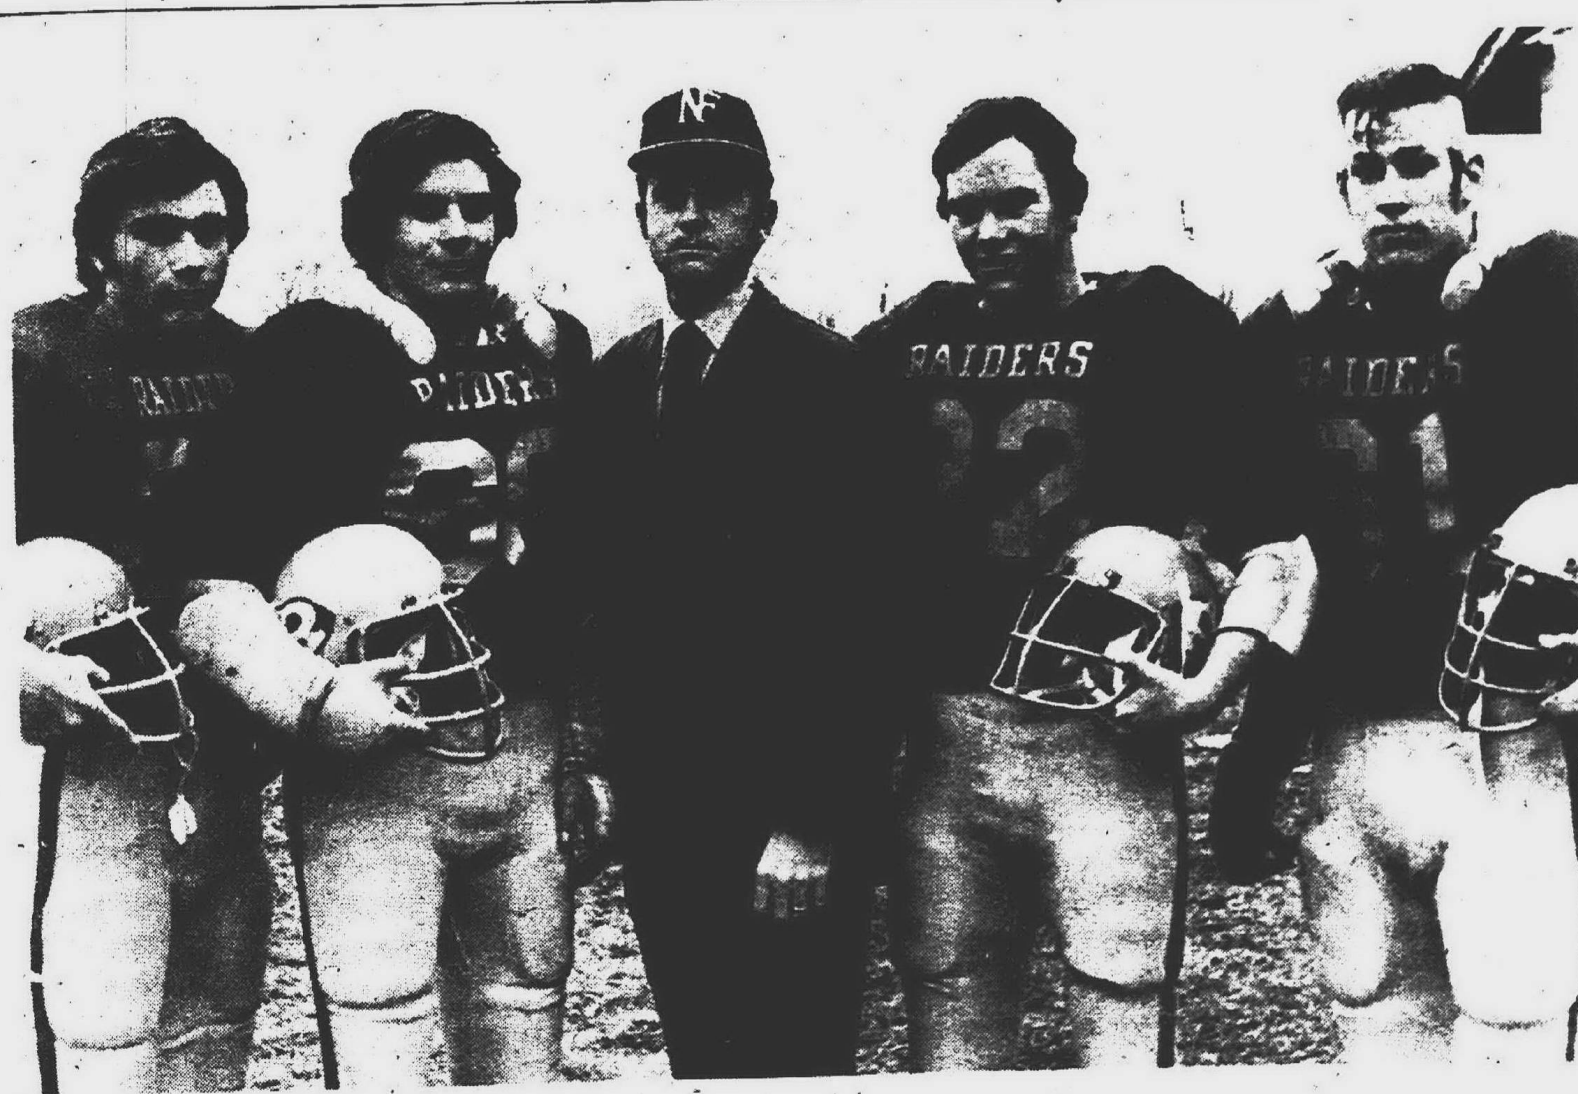

When Danosi, a Southfield High product, placed fourth in the NCAA sabre competition last spring, he became WSU's - and the NCAA's - third freshman to make All-American in fencing.

A 5-11, 150-pounder, Steve is a 3.8 student in pre-med who has been a fencer since he can remember (a left-hander at age two). He was converted to sabre little more than two years ago and presented his father Istvan Danosi with a 1971 Father's Day present just a few days past his own high school graduation with the national 19-under sabre title.

He had earlier won the Michigan and midwest titles in the weapon. In 1970, at the age of 16, he won the Michigan

Senior foil championship, the meet's youngest winner ever. Last year, he won the Illinois Invitational and Great Lakes Championships individual sabre titles, had a 47-1 dual meet record in sabre and fenced one match in foil in a strategy move during WSU's 17-1 season.

Steve represented the USA at the world 19-under championships in Madrid last April where his father, AFCA coach of the year in 1972, directed the sabre team. He repeated as Michigan and midwest 19-under sabre titlist and was runnerup in the national meet. Born in Hungary (Nov. 11, 1953), Steve hopes to represent the USA at the world junior meet again next spring and will be a candidate for the 1973 USA World Student Games team which his father has been named head coach of already.

RAIDER BROTHER ACT -- North Farmington football Coach Ron Holland (center) boasted two sets of brothers in his varsity lineup. On the left are the D'Agostino brothers, Bob (30) and Joe (68). Joe a 5-10, 175 pound junior and Bob

a 5-10, 165 pound senior. On the right are the Lough brothers, Bill (62) and Jim (61). Bill is a 5-11, 170 pound sophomore and Jim a 6-0, 175 pound senior. (Observer photo)

What Are The Tigers Doing This Winter?

If you think you're seeing more of the Tigers than usual around Detroit this winter, you're right.

Sixteen of the 40 players on the winter roster, plus Manager Billy Martin, are calling Detroit and its suburbs their home base, although a few won't be around for awhile - until the Florida and Latin American winter baseball campaigns end.

In alphabetical order, these are the Tigers in Detroit and suburbs:

Ike Bessitt, Gates Brown, Norm Cash, Frank Fisher (Wayne), Bill Freehan, Mark Giegler (Milford), Fred Holdsworth (Northville), Willie Horton, Paul Jata (Rockwood), Al Kaline (Bloomfield Hills), Marvin Lane, Mickey Lolich (Washington), Dick McAuliffe (Bloomfield Hills), Jim Northrup (Birmingham), Mickey Stanley (West Bloomfield) and Tom Timmerman (Westland).

Frank Fisher, Paul Jata and John Knox are among the winter baseball brigade, playing at Dunedin of the Florida Instructional League.

At Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, are Marvin Lane, John Hiller, Jim Foor, Lerrin LaGrow, Joe Nickro and Bob Strampe.

Chris Zachery is pitching at Ponce, Puerto Rico, while Aurelio Rodriguez is in uniform at Los Mochis, Sinaloa, in his native Mexico.

NORM CASH, a transplant Texan, is putting down some deep roots in Detroit as head of Triple Crown Services, a firm specializing in counseling athletes and arranging commercial engagements for them.

Mickey Lolich heads up a somewhat similar enterprise for a snowmobile company based at Owosso. He is setting up clinics to be sponsored by the firm's dealers and featuring Lolich, Dick McAuliffe and Gates Brown.

Two of the Tigers are emerging from drydock. Ed Brinkman, "Tiger of the Year," is recuperating at his Cincinnati home from back surgery and Ike Bessitt is about to shed a cast he has been wearing on his wobbly right ankle.

Two others are back in the classrooms, John Gamble at the University of Nevada and Bill Slayback at California State at Northridge. Slayback also is pursuing his musical career with supper club engagements and awaiting the February release of his first recording.

Joe Coleman is spending most of his time on the golf course at Ft. Myers, Fla., where he is earning his spurs as an assistant pro. Ike Brown has a position, for the second straight year, with the recreation department at Lakeland, Fla., the Tigers' winter base.

FARMING CLAIMS the attention of Woodie Fryman, who has tobacco acreage in Kentucky, and Gene Lamont, who is more interested in the corn crops in Illinois.

Bill Freehan and Al Kaline again are attending to duties with Detroit-based automotive manufacturers, largely in the sales promotion and public relations fields.

For the fifth straight winter, Frank Howard is helping push a real estate development in Green Bay, Wis. Jim Northrup again is interesting investors in a cattle breeding-feeding project with headquarters here.

TONY TAYLOR has rejoined the beer firm he regularly represents in Philadelphia. Fred Scherman plans to resume a post he held last year with an auto sales firm in the Dayton, Ohio area and Duke Sims is engaged in sales work in Los Angeles.

Willie Horton's lounge in northwest Detroit occupies his time while rookies Mark Giegler and Smokey Robinson have jobs with an Oakland County research company and a Virginia construction firm, respectively.

Currently taking it easy after the Tigers' spirited finish in the American League race are Mickey Stanley, who devotes much time to hunting and other outdoor sports, Tom Timmerman, Fred Holdsworth, Tim Hosley, Chuck Seelbach, Reggie Sanders and Joe Staton.

Tigers Announce '73 Schedule

The Tigers' home season in 1973 will open with a bang and close the same way, against two of their fiercest rivals in the American League.

The lid will be lifted Tuesday, April 10, with the Tigers facing the potent Baltimore Orioles in an opening day clash which will have all of the traditional trappings.

THE HOME SEASON will end Monday, Sept. 24, with a history-making night game against the belting Boston Red Sox who helped supply an exciting finish in 1972. This game will mark the first time the Tiger Stadium curtain has dropped under the lights.

Road games, still to be announced, will precede and follow these two dates, according to Jim Campbell, executive vice-president and general manager, who said the Tigers will play their 81 home games on 79 dates with a record - setting total of 50 night dates. There were 49 the past two seasons, previous high for after-dark play at Tiger Stadium.

The first night game will be April 27 against Kansas City and after that date the only daylight action will be on Saturdays or Sundays.

The only doubleheaders on the home docket are a Sunday twinner with the Orioles July 1 and a Wednesday twi-nighter with the Milwaukee Brewers June 27.

THE TIGERS will have more than their share of holidays in 1973, playing the World Champion Oakland A's on Memorial Day, May 28; the Cleveland Indians in a 6 p.m. Fourth of July contest; and the New York Yankees in a night game to mark Labor Day, Sept. 3.

An unusual feature of the Tiger Stadium schedule is an emphasis on four-game visits. There will be seven of them by seven different teams.

There also is a heavy accent on weekend action with 15 Fridays, 14 at night, 13 Saturdays and 13 Sundays on the home schedule.

TWO CHANGES in starting times have been forced by the decision to put Michigan on daylight saving time. All Monday night games will start at 8:15 p.m. and all Saturday afternoon games at 2:15 p.m. Other night games will start at 8 p.m., other afternoon games, including the one day doubleheader, at 1:30 p.m., and the single twi-nighter at 5:30 p.m.

Bentley Girls Dual Swimming Streak Now 16

The Lasher meet saw the Bentley girls capture all individual events, both relays and diving with Sue Mooradian, Linda Gravala, Karen Sibert and Pam Barnett double winners.

The season finale with Lathrup was a triple record breaking meet.

Becky Brown set school records in the 100 yard breaststroke and 200 yard individual medley and Sue Mooradian made short work of the 50 butterfly mark.

LANSING 1617 E. KALAMAZOO

By W.W. EDGAR

The women bowlers of America are well on their way to establishing a record that may never be equalled.

They have stormed the Women's International Bowling Congress office with so many entries for the 1973 tournament at Las Vegas that the final total may reach 11,000 teams before the first ball is rolled on Feb. 5 at Showboat Lanes.

After being extended three times, the entry list was closed so they thought with 7,600 teams. But so great has been the demand that the WIBC officials have re-opened the ranks and there is no telling what the final record will be.

Originally scheduled to close in May, the tournament will run through June and July and dates have been set aside until Aug. 9.

The highest previous entry was 7,000 teams — but that mark will go into the records as just another year.

When Detroit was host to the tournament some years ago, the event drew 5,300 teams and it was thought that figure would stand. But it hasn't. And there is no telling just how high the entry will be.

It will be an all-time record for the team event.

LANES NO. 7 AND 8 at Bel-Aire still hold a charm for the area bowlers.

It was on this pair that the metropolitan area record of 867 was registered by Gaston Marios in 1970. And it was on this pair that Andy De Camillo fired a "300" two weeks ago.

And now comes Jerry Hay, a 202 average man in the Bel-Aire Classic to add his name to the list of those who have thrilled to the rolling of a perfect game.

Taking his regular turn on the lanes this week, Jerry posted games of 300, 256 and 233 for 789 — third highest score posted in the area this season.

Another "300" went into the books when George Martin, of 9216 Berwyn, in Redford, turned the trick at Pine Tree Lanes.

He opened with a 300, added 182 and closed with 167 for a 649.

GENE STUS, of Taylor, who bowls in many of the Observerland events, won the monthly tournament of the Michigan Major Association last week at the Nottke Bowl in Battle Creek. He averaged 205 and won 10 of his 12 matches in the weekend battle.

Dick Beattie, of Dearborn Heights, is the leading money winner of the circuit.

FIVE MORE bowlers broke the 700 barrier during the past week.

Paced by Jerry Jerry Hay, with his 300, at Bel-Aire, the others included Bob Grenier's 726 at Bel-Aire, Roger Helle's 719 and Jim Deck's 701 at Westland, along with Dick Preston's 706 in the Garden Lanes Classic.

WITH HIS 706 at Garden Lanes, Dick Preston is making a real fight of it for top average honors and setting a fast pace for the veterans of the area classics.

He held a 22 pin edge over Imer Santee in last week's bowling with Mike Mathis in third place with a 668. Norm Bochnek landed fourth with a 664.

In the women's senior house league Millie Tilius showed the way with a 561, while Judy Cicotte landed in the runner-up spot with 551 and Marjorie Burgess was third with 543.

ROGER HELLE kept the fires going for the veterans with his 719 at Westland that included a closing game of a mere 196. Jim Deck was the only one close with his 701 as Ray Williams rolled a 662 for third place and John McKeever trailed with a 658. Sharing honors with the Westland men was Jan Hardee who put together games of 211, 210 and 191 for a 612 — her first double century series.

Bob Cavin paced the Sunday Mixers with a 268 that is high for the year.

JACKIE ARCHER rolled her way to top honors in the Friday Noon Classic at Farmington Lanes with a 215 in 584.

Mike Brock paced the prep boys with 218 in 526 and Chris Curtis had a 227 for high game in the Teen Classic.

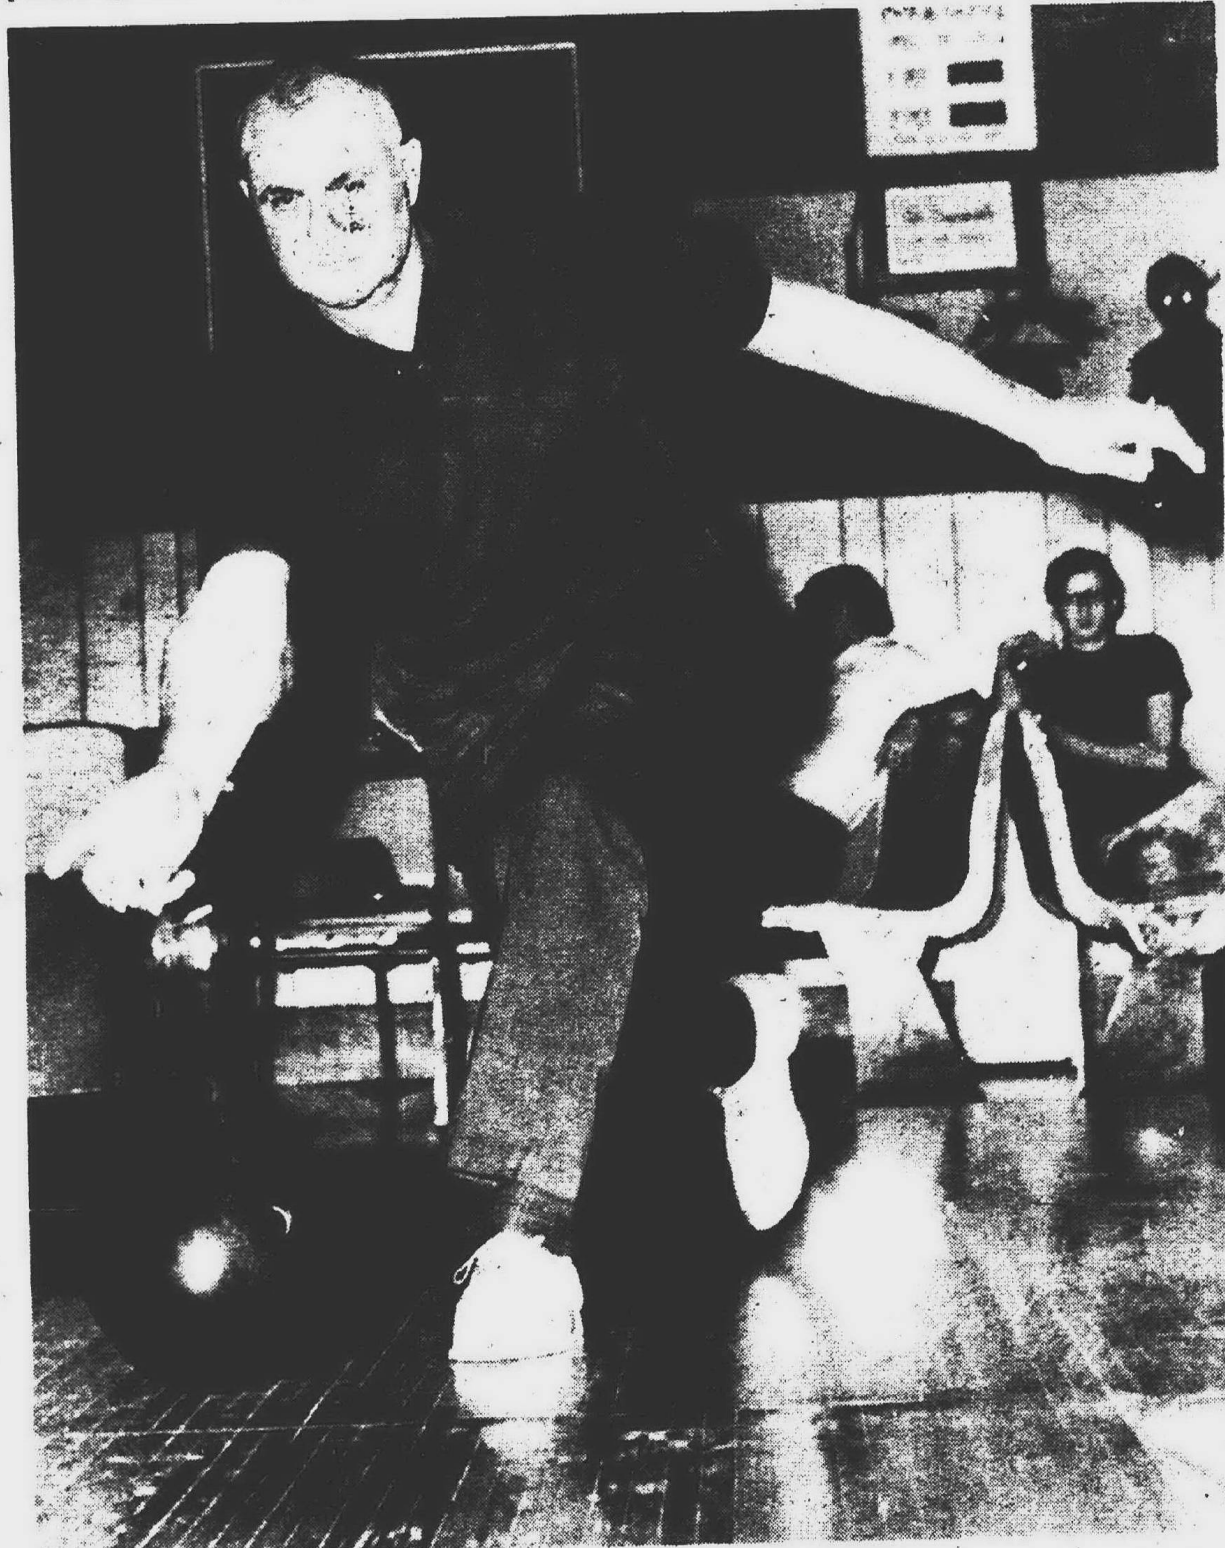

THE FORD Ladies League produced some high scores at Plymouth Bowl. Mary Grant posted a 213 in 581 and Alice Corby had a 208 in 512.

LOIS MERRIMAN had another big day in the Livonia Lanes Classic when she took top honors with a 562-96 — 658 that included a single game of 214-32-246.

Other single game winners were Gerry Wilson 206-33-239 and Rita Charron 186-45-231.

The women are setting fast pace for converting splits at Mayflower Lanes. The latest to attain a place on the Honor Roll is Rose Evans who topped the 3-7-10, while Clarice Ricard took scoring honors with a 228 in 520.

Joan Mac Murtie opened with a 225 to post a 549 and top the women's house league at Bel-Aire with Rita Oldfield landing in second place with a 549.

ANDY DI CAMILLO has staked out a claim to being the "hottest" bowler in Observerland, if not the entire metropolitan area, by bowling four 700 series in the space of a week and topping it off with a perfect game at Bel-Aire Lanes. It was the second 300 of his career.

Sporting New Coach

Aggie Cagers Open Tuesday

St. Agatha will be sporting a new playmaker, whistle blower come the '72-73 basketball season.

The face isn't new in the Aggie gym, as last year's junior varsity coach, Frank Turk, has made the jump to the varsity level after Tom Sankovic resigned at the close of last season.

The Aggie cagers finished 8-7 in the Catholic Second Division last year and 9-10 overall. St. Agatha averaged 56 points per game and gave up an average of 64 points a game.

The 29 year - old Turk directed the junior squad to an 8-6 mark.

TURK DOESN'T teach at St. Agatha but is principal at Our Lady of Loretto Elementary School, just five minutes down the road.

The new Aggie Coach graduated from University of Detroit in '65 and got his masters in education in '70. He coached junior varsity ball at St. Francis DeSalle in '67, winning the title with a 10-2 mark, and traveled to St. Gregory in '68.

St. Gregory High School wasn't all new to Turk as he graduated there in '61, a two year letterman in basketball and baseball.

This season will be the first taste of varsity competition for Turk who is married and has a seven month - old daughter, Lisa Ann. Frank's wife, Pat, is not an avid basketball fan but "tolerates it" according to the new coach.

Turk has two returning starters in 5-11, 215 pound Pat Brown and 5-10, 156 pound Tom Nemes. Brown will be at one of the forward slots and Nemes the other.

THE GUARD BERTHS have been nailed down by junior Mike Rex, 5-9 and 145 pounds, and sophomore Mike Campbell at 5-9 and 135 pounds.

Campbell averaged 19 points per game as a freshman and could very well be the key to Turk's scoring game.

The fifth and remaining slot is currently a tossup between 6-2, 165 pound senior Jim Olinzock and junior Ron Strzakowski at 5-10 and 155 pounds.

Turk opens the season with a non - leaguer against Royal Oak St. Mary on Tuesday, Nov. 28 in the Aggie gym and swings into Second Division West competition with Orchard Lake St. Mary on Friday, Dec. 1, home also.

THE STRONG TEAMS in the Second Division should be St. Alphonsus with four returning starters, St. Florian with three and Orchard Lake with two.

"We will be the smallest team in the league," said Turk. "But we will be quick and with a break or two, will be in the running."

"We are going to have to fast - break and play good man - to - man defense," added Turk.

The Aggies matched St. Hedwig in a pre - season scrimmage and won three of four quarters, with Campbell scoring 24 points, Rex holding good floor position and Nemes hitting his streaks from the floor.

"When we move the ball, we will be tough," concluded Turk.

READY TO TACKLE the '72-'73 basketball season in his varsity debut is new St. Agatha Coach Frank Turk (center) with his two returning

OPEN MONDAY THRU SATURDAY 9:30-5:30 SUNDAY 11:30 A.M. to 5:30 P.M.

WELDING IS absorbing work for this young student. She was a member of the first class in welded sculpture, given at Schoolcraft College this fall.

SHARON DAVY consults with instructor Ken Rose about the next step to take in her welded sculpture of a butterfly.

SC Art Class: From Metal... ...To Sculpture

Seventeen persons, mostly women, wearing jeans and overalls, goggles and heavy work gloves, have been welding works of art at Schoolcraft College this fall.

When the art welding course was offered, people had to be turned away because there just wasn't enough room for all who wanted to join the class.

The first part of the course consisted of the basic techniques of metal welding and was taught by Stuart Galbraith.

The last four weeks of the class were taken over by Ken Rose, part-time art teacher at Schoolcraft and art department chairman at Stevenson High School in Livonia. Rose taught the sculpture section in which students built a piece of sculpture using industrial welding techniques.

Students built sculptures using steel rods and sheet metal. The subjects ranged from small animals to a four-foot abstract wall sculpture.

Some of the students have purchased their own welding outfits to work on at home, and one woman has a small building she is turning into a studio.

Galbraith and Rose are planning to offer the course again at Schoolcraft soon, but hope to have 12 weeks of classes instead of eight.

Interested persons should contact the college, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Observer Photos by Harry Mauthe

MARY NAGY is working on an abstract wall sculpture in the Schoolcraft College "fun" class which taught not only art, but also welding. Another class is being planned.

PICKING THE right tools for the job was just one thing students had to learn. Here Jane Kaake selects from an array that would daunt a novice.

Casting Call

Auditions for the musical "Kiss Me Kate" will be held by the Franklin Village Players on Sunday and Monday, Dec. 3 and 4, and 10-11, in Franklin Community Church on Franklin Rd. between 13 and 14 Mile.

Tryouts will be for a cast of 40 persons including seven principal roles and two specialty dancers. The musical, which is based on Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," will be presented March 23, 24, 30 and 31.

BOSE 901 speakers have a direct-reflecting system. The enclosures house nine small, four inch cones. Eight of the drivers are angled to the rear, which the ninth faces the front. An equalizer is used with the system to compensate for sound losses of the reflecting process. Below diagrams show how different sound patterns can be accomplished by changing the positioning of the speakers.

A FOUR CHANNEL tuner amplifier, the AS-8100S, comes from Akai. This can operate in both four channel and two channel systems. The amplifier provides for both discrete and matrix four channel playing. The amplifier also has a "stick shift" control for balancing sound among four speakers.

4-Channel The Newest Sound

The newest in sound hits listeners from four directions -- and buyers of music equipment find they have had times as much confusion as they had before.

The new sound is four channel, which produces music from four different speakers. Every four channel system has four speakers instead of the two you have with your present stereo system. For a four channel sound, you will need at least two more speakers.

Four channel equipment is being touted as a big advance in recording technology. Four channel buffs will tell you it's going to make two channel equipment as obsolete as mono equipment was when present stereo equipment became available.

Four channel boosters say the system makes recorded music sound more natural and realistic. It places listeners in a spatial relationship similar to concert halls and recording studios. Music comes from four directions to the listener's ears.

There are two ways of getting four channel sound. The cheapest and most adaptable to your present system is called derived four channel. Your present stereo records, tapes or FM stereo radio sounds come out from four speakers instead of two.

Derived systems work by taking two channel material and extracting two more channels of sound from it. It requires some different equipment, but any present material can be used.

The equipment needed for a derived four channel sound is an adapter sold by many companies. The adapters attach to your amplifier, you add two speakers, and presto -- you're in the four channel business.

The next four-channel system probably earns its "four channel" designation. Discrete four channel sound is limited at present to tape equipment, but you get four completely different channels of sound. Discrete systems have four amplifiers, one for each channel, and require special four channel sources. At present, only cartridge and reel tapes are available recorded in four separate channels.

If you want discrete four channel sound, which most listeners feels is superior to derived, be prepared to invest some money. Also, be prepared to accept the limited amount of material available for playing. However, more four channel music surely is coming, and a discrete system will allow you to play it.

How Many Watts For Your Money?

Home entertainment equipment, whether it be a low-cost portable phonograph or a $2,000 high fidelity component system, usually carries a wattage rating of output. Theoretically, the higher the number of watts, the greater the ability of the amplifier section to handle difficult musical passages without distorting.

While it's possible to enjoy the music produced by one or two-watt transistor radio or tape recorder, component and console manufacturers frequently advertise systems producing 500 watts or more of power.

In fact, the race among manufacturers to claim higher wattage ratings has caused the Federal Trade Commission to step in. A rule regarding amplifier ratings is expected shortly.

The problem is that, unlike a light bulb, an amplifier doesn't feed the same amount of power constantly to your loudspeakers. On quiet musical passages, for example, the power output may be no more than that from the transistor radio, but on loud ones -- particularly those that come up suddenly -- the power output may rise to 20, 50 or more watts per stereo channel.

When shopping for amplifiers, receivers, stereo compacts or consoles -- in fact, for any stereo equipment -- make sure you're comparing the same kind of watts. A scrupulous manufacturer will tell you which rating system he uses, usually with one of these sets of initials:

RMS — The system proposed by the Federal Trade Commission and favored by most high fidelity component manufacturers, this is the most rigid rating system. It measures continuous power output with a test tone.

IHF — Developed originally by high fidelity manufacturers, this system measures average music output rather than continuous, on the theory that most of us listen to music rather than test tones. It results can run as much as 100% over RMS.

EIA — Favored primarily by manufacturers of stereo consoles and phonographs, this system measures peak power output, which can be as much as 100% above the IHF figure.

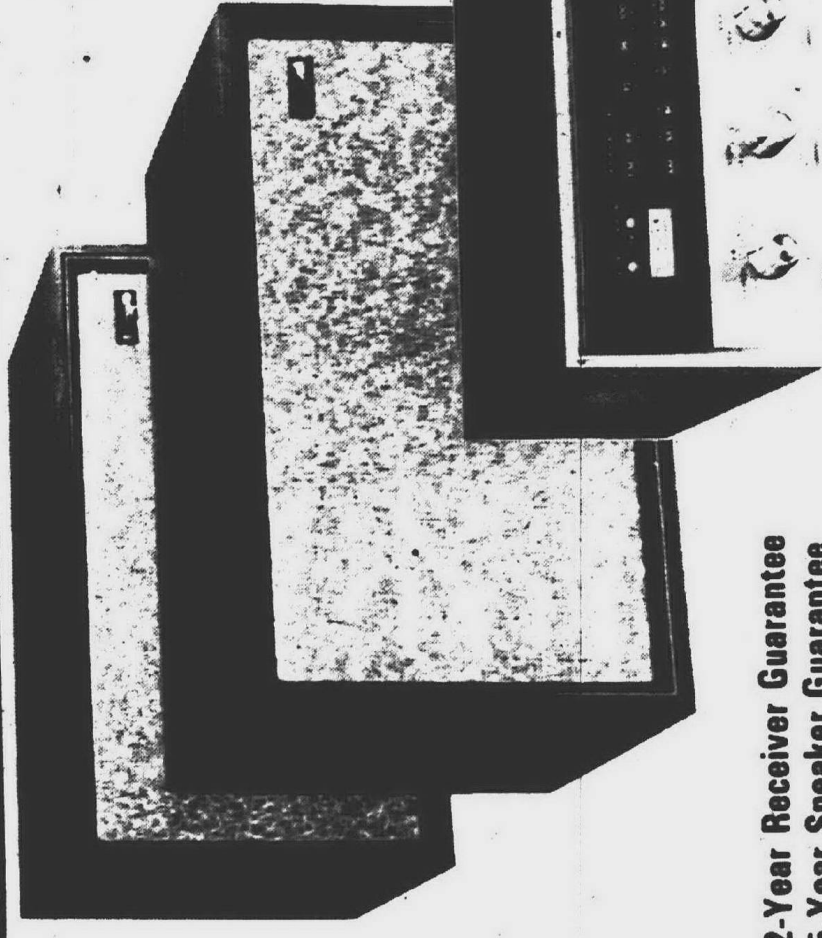

IPP — Instantaneous Peak Power is the most liberal of all the rating systems in general use, and can turn 10 watts of RMS power into 80 or more watts IPP.

All About Audio Terms

Here are a few terms relating to audio that you've always wanted to know but have been afraid to ask:

AMPLIFIER: That portion of any home music system which boosts or amplifies the tiny electrical signal generated by a pickup, tape head or tuner into enough power to drive one or more loudspeakers. Amplifiers may be purchased as separate components, or come as parts of stereo receivers, stereo compacts and consoles. An amplifier consists of two sections: the power amplifier, which uses tubes or transistors to amplify the signal; and the preamplifier, which in addition to adding an initial power boost also contains such control functions as volume, tone, balance, etc.

AUTOMATIC TURNTABLE: In the old days these used to be called record changers. An automatic turntable does everything the old-fashioned record changer did, but features better parts and more sophisticated engineering to improve performance and cut record wear. The better automatic turntables use heavy-duty motors which operate independently of fluctuations in house current, and the tone arms are delicately balanced to permit you to play records at extremely light weights.

CARTRIDGE: There are two types: the little unit which holds the playback stylus and fits in the tone arm of your record changer; and the plastic-shelled tape which provides converts the wiggles made by the stylus following the record groove into electrical energy, which the amplifier boosts. Many lower-priced stereo compacts and consoles use crystal or ceramic cartridges. The better compacts, consoles and stereo component systems use magnetic cartridges or pickups.

The eight-track cartridge is a plastic shell containing a loop of tape sufficient to hold the music from a long-playing record. The tape cartridge, although designed originally as a music playback system for cars, has gained popularity in the living room in recent years.

CASSETTE: Like the tape cartridge, the cassette consists of a strip of tape inside a plastic shell. But, because of the difference in dimensions, cassettes won't work on cartridge equipment and vice versa.

CONTROL SECTION: The center portion of a stereo compact, containing the automatic turntable and amplifier or receiver. Usually, the turntable is mounted directly atop the receiver. A control section has outputs for the stereo headphones and inputs for such auxiliary equipment as cassette, cassette or open reel tape decks.

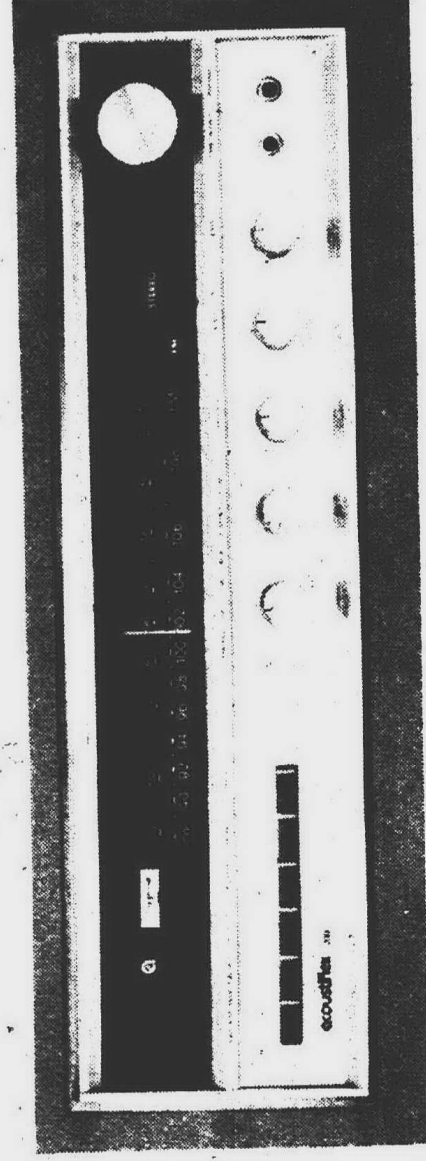

LOUDSPEAKER SYSTEM: A loudspeaker system consists of one or more individual speakers mounted in an acoustically-matched box with any necessary electronics and wiring. Although it's common among the audiophiles to refer to the system as "a loudspeaker," that term properly applies only to the paper cone, metal basket and electromagnet which make up the speaker itself. Some loudspeaker systems contain a single speaker to cover the entire frequency range; others use separate speakers for bass (commonly called a woofer), midrange and treble (commonly known as a tweeter). Speaker systems may be separate components or built into a stereo console.

POWER AMPLIFIER: That portion of an amplifier, receiver, or console which amplifies the program signal to a level sufficient to operate a loudspeaker system.

STEREO: As defined by the Federal Trade Commission, stereo means the independent recording and reproduction of two separate channels of sound. The channels are picked up by separate microphones, inscribed on separate tape tracks transcribed respectively on the left and right groove walls of a record, and reproduced in your home through a stereo cartridge, two-channel stereo amplifier and two separate loudspeakers.

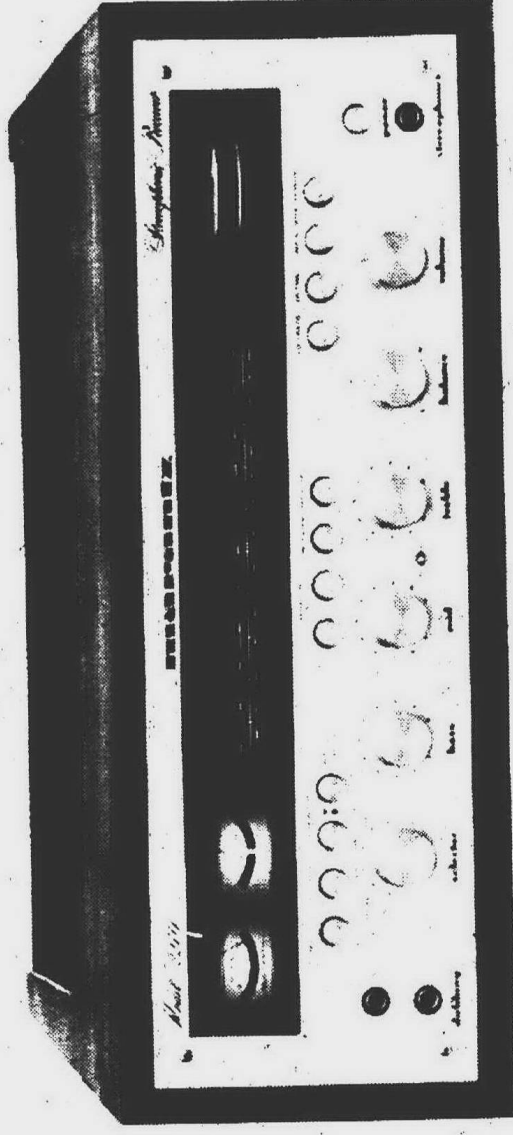

TUNER: That portion of a home entertainment system which plucks broadcast signals out of the air and converts them into electrical energy for the amplifier to work on.

ACOUSTIFLEX has a line of three receivers featuring the 300 watt Acoustiflex 300. Each of the three receivers is built in the United States. The Acoustiflex 300 has a total of eight output transistors. Other features include second tuning meter which shows relative strength of FM broadcast signals, high-filter switch for high frequency sounds, and a high-blend switch which increase quality of broadcasts from weak or distant FM stations.

McINTOSH'S Mac 1900 stereo receiver carries an $800 price tag, but also the title of the "Rolls Royce" of receivers. Besides newly designed FM and AM circuits, the receiver features flexibility as an amplifier. The Mac 1900 can play or record, and monitor two tape recorders at the same time. In addition, the receiver can operate as many as three pairs of speakers individually or at the same time. The unit comes with a two year service contract on parts and labor.

MARANTZ Model 2270 Stereo Receiver is "four channel ready". A four channel output jack is on the back panel of the unit. A special four channel decoding unit can be plugged into the jack, and four channel broadcasts are possible.
