Super Sewer

A proposed "super sewer" that has been approved by the Environmental Protection Agency would pass through Canton and Plymouth townships and nick the edge of the city. But some people think the sewer isn't so "super."

Issue Opposed

The Northwest Canton Homeowners' Assn. has voted to oppose the school bond issue which will be on the June 11 ballot. The association said the school district should take a more active role in discouraging development that necessitates building too many schools.

Local Officials Skip County Meeting On Road Patrol Cut

By MAURIE WALKER

The big question of whether rural townships will have the protection of the Wayne County sheriff's road patrol after Aug. 31 still remains unanswered.

At a meeting in Detroit this week of the Public Safety and Judiciary Committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissions and some township officials -- with no representatives from Canton or Plymouth townships attending -- the problem remained unsolved.

Wayne County's townships were notified by Sheriff William Lucas last month that the road patrol will no longer be funded by the county after the August deadline and may be terminated.

Since then, several meetings have been held in an attempt to find a solution.

Following an open discussion in the City-County Building Tuesday, participants decided to hold another meeting in three weeks "to try and come up with some constructive approach."

Under the proposed county budget, townships would still receive the service of the sheriff's narcotic bureau and laboratory, regardless of the outcome of the road patrol service.

It was agreed by the committee and representatives of the townships that the sheriff's department and the townships conduct a limited study on the costs of providing full or part-time road patrol protection.

The townships will also study the possibilities and costs of providing their own police forces.

County Commissioner Albert Zak (D-Hamtramck) said he knew the townships had reached the maximum taxation levy allowed under state law and the only alternative for them would be to go to their residents for more money.

"The townships have found themselves in a real bind," Zak said.

Lucas told the gathering the sheriff's department stands ready to offer service to the townships. "In our case too, the only thing that holds us back is our limited budget."

Undersheriff Loren Pittman told the committee he had presented several alternatives to the townships.

"These included contracting with our department for police protection, similar to Romulus; starting their own police department, or getting with neighboring townships for coordinating patrols."

George Moore, Huron Township supervisor, asked the committee, "What's the logic for doing away with this service anyway?"

Board Chairman Robert FitzPatrick (D-Detroit) said doing away with the road patrol has been under consideration for several years.

"We have been providing road patrol service to some communities who don't contribute. It is the commission's feeling that if you want this service, you will have to pay for it as the urban areas do."

Pittman said that since 1968, the sheriff's department's expenses have increased $1.5 to $2.3 million with "most of this increased budget going for wages."

Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) said, "It is time the sheriff offer a contract to the townships for the time they need the service."

"The townships could contract for a portion of the time instead of on a full time basis."

Commissioner George Killen (D-Detroit) said the committee was aware of the problem.

"We are cutting off money for the sheriff road patrol and you (the townships) don't have any funds. We must find a compromise."

Zak hoped that at the next meeting, the sheriff's department would have at least a brief study of what it costs them to serve townships.

The townships, on the other hand, will be presenting their individual financial situations.

"We must try to resolve this problem to the satisfaction of all concerned," Zak said.

"The townships must get together, sit down and work it out in a positive way."

One supervisor, however, was not too optimistic about the outcome.

As he was waiting for the elevator to take him from the building's ninth floor, where the meeting was held, he was heard to say:

"I know what they are going to do. They are going to stick us with the cost."

Parks Director Lasts One Day

By EDWARD WENDOVER

The city of Plymouth hired a parks and recreation director at $17,500 a year Monday. He lasted 7 1/2 hours.

While that may be an oversimplification of what happened, the full tale -- now revealed for the first time -- is yet another chapter on the governmental feuding that has thus far stymied the Plymouth-Canton Recreation Authority.

One of the first priorities given to Fred Yockey by the City Commission when he assumed the city manager post six weeks ago, was to hire a parks and recreation director who could set the Cultural Center on its feet.

Yockey began interviewing for the post and finally narrowed down to two almost-equal candidates.

On Friday, Yockey offered the job to one (whose name is withheld for professional courtesy), saying, "Think about it over the weekend."

At 10:30 a.m. Monday he called Yockey to say he'd take the job.

"He said he was 'happy, pleased and enthusiastic' about the job," Yockey told The Plymouth Mail & Observer.

Yockey called a meeting of his department heads to announce the appointment.

Then at 6 p.m., the man called to say he'd reconsidered and would not take the job.

What had happened in the meantime? Yockey asked him.

It seems that someone had called to say that by taking the job he'd be scuttling the area recreation authority and nobody in the community would appreciate it.

It was the understanding of the other units participating in the recreation authority that the city would postpone appointing a P&R director until the authority was formed. The city says it needs the man now to get the cultural center rolling.

Yockey, understandably so, was burned. He wondered if someone from the schools had called the new appointee. (They had been told of the appointment).

As Monday's city commission meeting was starting, Larry Masteller, the school's assistant director of continuing education (and recreation) who is also one of the school board's two appointees to the recreation authority board, was standing outside the commission chambers talking to Howard Oldford, one of the prime movers behind the authority.

With Yockey's accusation that someone from the schools was responsible for sabotaging his appointment, I asked Masteller if he knew anything about the call.

"He was called," Masteller said. He added that he had not talked to him but "someone" had.

Tuesday morning, Yockey called School Supt. John M. Hoben to read him the riot act.

Yockey asked him what other school officials had learned of the appointment. Could one of them -- and if so, which one -- have made the call?

The finger pointed at Masteller. After Hoben had finished apologizing to Yockey, he called the would-be appointee to apologize to him.

That call produced a letter from the man saying, "Let it be known that my decision to withdraw as candidate for the position... was my own independent action."

"I was not pressured or unduly influenced by Mr. Hoben or any individuals acting on behalf of the Plymouth Community Schools."

Approved 'Super Sewer' Route Goes Through Canton, Plymouth

By STEVE BARNABY

PLYMOUTH
Astonishment and revulsion were the reactions of Plymouth area residents and officials to the announcement of approval by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) of a $250 million "super sewer" that would run through the area.

If constructed, it might result in residential development in previously undeveloped areas.

Although a definite route hasn't been designated, it has been determined that a portion will run through Plymouth and Canton townships.

Joe Bida, Plymouth Township public works director, expressed surprise at the plan which would run 98 miles through parts of Wayne, Oakland and Washtenaw counties, with a main outlet into Lake Erie.

The decision to develop the sewer was made by the State Water Resources Commission.

"No one has ever contacted us about the project," says Bida.

He said there were plans to meet with other officials in the surrounding area governments to discuss the sewer.

Bida gave a "no comment" on the project, which would be 75 per cent financed by the federal government.

Construction of the sewer network was planned to get underway in 1972, but was delayed to allow the EPA study. Completion date is now set for 1990.

Basically, the approved plan would shut down treatment plants in Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, and Ypsilanti Township and call for construction of a plant at the mouth of the Huron River where treated sewage would be pumped into Lake Erie.

Local environmentalists oppose the plan, saying it is inadequate and poorly planned.

Robert Horstmann, 14541 Oxford Drive, Plymouth is one area resident concerned about the project.

"It is a spooky thing that the EPA would approve this plan. I hate to stand by and watch the kiss of death being given to Lake Erie," said Horstmann.

He is working in conjunction with the Citizens Opposed to the Super Sewer, an Ann Arbor based organization headed by Joe O'Neal.

Main opposition, says Horstmann, is that the approved system would remove only about 90 per cent of the phosphorus and last only 13 years because of expansion in the area.

Although not personally opposed to growth in the Plymouth area, Horstmann says there are factions which oppose the new system, because it would encourage residential development.

In its report, the EPA admits this to be the probable results of such a system. O'Neal elaborated on the group's opposition.

"People move to where there is a sewer line. There has been no attempt for a master plan on how or where the population should grow. The treatment system should be put in areas already developed. The local community would have control, and the plants would be synchronized," says O'Neal.

O'Neal says his group favors sub-regional tertiary plants rather than one large secondary treatment facility.

A tertiary system removes solids and disease carrying germs, and restores the oxygen to the water. Secondary systems treat the water by adding chlorine and skimming it after settling. Under the secondary system, water is put back into the lake unfiltered.

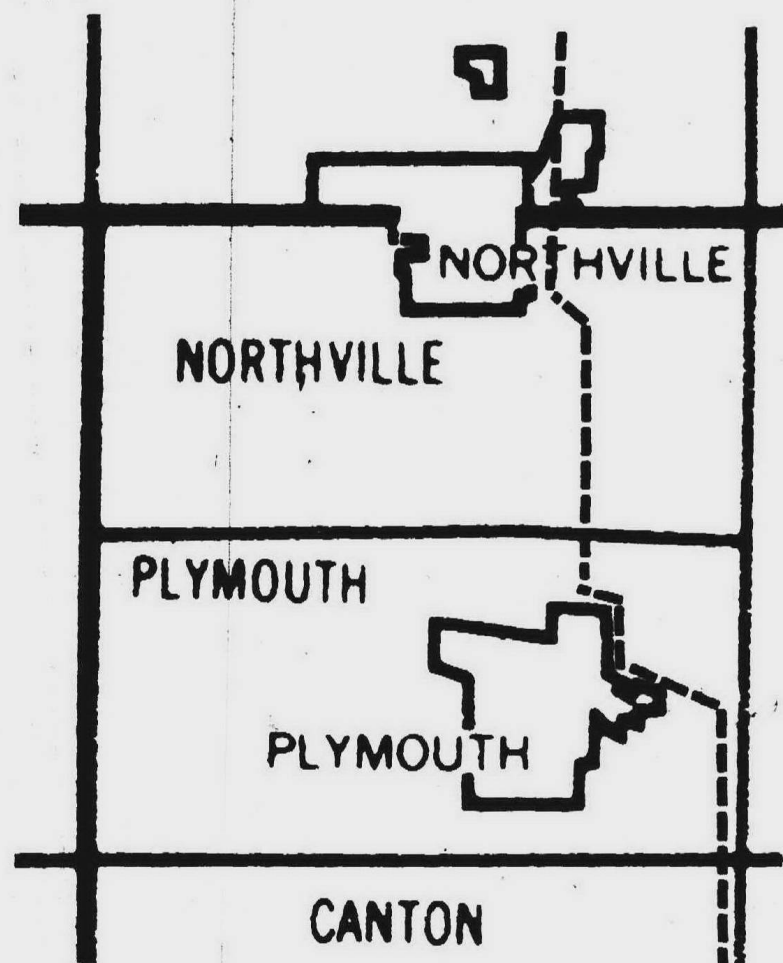

Polly Warner, super sewer opponent, says the sewage system would make a ces-pool of Lake Erie by pumping 121 millions gallons of waste into it each day.

"In a sense, what backers of the plan are saying is that Lake Erie is dead anyway, so what's the difference," said Mrs. Warner.

At present, the anti-sewer group is touring the affected areas attempting to drum up public opposition to the plan and has already garnered the support of Rep. Raymond Smit (R-Ann Arbor), whose district includes Plymouth and part of Plymouth Township.

"We are willing to pay more for a plan that will enhance our river and our area, but to pay more for a plan without environmental benefit is unconscionable," says Smit.

THE "SUPER SEWER" route approved by the Environmental Protection Agency is shown by the dotted line. Running along Hannan Road, it will cut through Canton Township and veer west to sidewise Plymouth and cut through Plymouth Township. Local environmentalists have attacked the plan, maintaining it will cause pollution and disrupt population growth in the area.

How's McLaren Done?

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH
As he nears the end of his first six months in office, J.D. McLaren, who is enjoying his first taste of politics as supervisor of Plymouth Township, admits there have been several surprises along the way.

"I never realized there were so many hats to wear," he commented while recalling the events since he took office last Nov. 20.

"On this job, you run into all kinds of things, and a fellow has to play many different roles in an attempt to keep the people satisfied."

As a member of one of the oldest families in the Plymouth community, he has, voters felt, a knowledge of the background and the problems that have come with an expanded population and of what should be done to keep pace with the demands of the expansion.

Yet with his background, gained through the years of conducting the coal and lumber business at the railroad tracks on Main Street, he always has said that he'd like to preserve much of the quiet area he knew as a lad.

"It's quite a job to keep the taxpayers satisfied - but so far we haven't had too much trouble. And that's where a fellow has to be all things to all people and keep changing hats."

His biggest surprise along the way?

"The most surprising thing to me," he answered, "was the gracious manner in which I have been accepted."

"Usually, when a new administration takes over, there are a few rough spots, and there are adjustments that have to be made. But there was little of that here."

J. D. McLAREN

This was most surprising because he had no political background and was taking over as head of a new administration.

"Everything has gone so smooth. Everyone pitched in to help and we've been working as a team."

He had praise for the office staff, the heads of the various departments, and the members of the board of trustees.

"They all have done their part in aiding me," he said, "and I think our board is as knowledgeable as you'll find. Up to now, we've had no trouble."

Conversely speaking, what was his biggest disappointment since taking office?

With that wry smile that long has been his trademark, he said:

"My biggest disappointment is that I can't escape the spotlight. I would much prefer to work on this job without the glare of publicity. After all, we have a team job to do - and it isn't all me."

"But somehow I just can't have it that way. My name keeps crawling into the various problems, and I would much prefer to have it the other way."

What, in his mind, was the greatest accomplishment since taking office?

"There have been no great accomplishments," he answered without a bit of hesitation.

Then he added: "Unless it would be in keeping the ship running smoothly. As I said, we work as a team, and we take matters as they come. I hope we can continue to do things that way."

Admittedly, there are some big jobs to be done and some problems to be faced, but this quiet little man hopes to meet them just as he did in the coal and lumber business - one at a time and without any fanfare or bluster.

Following in the paths of John ("Little Jack") McEwen, and Maurie Breen, both master politicians, Supervisor McLaren is a strange contrast.

Imagine a man on a political job who shuns publicity and prefers to work in the shadow of others, admitting that there have been no great accomplishments in his administration.

That's J.D. McLaren's track record for his first six months in office.

The Stroller:

Pollution Solution

His hands gnarled by many years of toil in the machine shops of the large auto plants, old Bill pounded his fist on the luncheon table and struck a verbal blow in the battle to reduce air pollution through controlling the emission of poisonous gases in the millions of autos jamming the country's highways.

We had just listened to one of the so called experts testifying before a Senate investigating committee that the auto industry had now solved about 60 per cent of the problem but needed at least two more years to get the job done.

Turning away from the television screen, old Bill, calling on his years of experience with the motors that are propelling cars hither and yon, said:

"That's a lot of hogwash. For a moment there was silence."

Then he added:

"If they really wanted to do something to control the emission they'd start by reducing the size of the motor. There's no need for the big, eight cylinder motors we have today ... we're not going any place that requires that much power and speed."

"Just think," he went on, "if we'd go back to the four cylinder motors Henry Ford had in the old Model T we would have the problem half solved - without expenditure of all those millions."

That sounded simple enough. But reducing the size of the motor is only part of the answer.

"If we went back to the small motor," Old Bill continued, "we wouldn't be burning as much gasoline as we are now and not nearly as much oil. And don't forget, at the rate we're going now our natural resources are being depleted."

No one argued old Bill's point.

The listeners remarked that one of the reasons for all the warfare on the eastern hemisphere is to gain control of the vast oil resources. They admitted that little is mentioned along this line, but the rich oil hands are part of the goal in the bloodshed.

It also was pointed out that the trouble we're having getting a new pipe line brought down from Alaska could be averted - if we cut down on the use of gasoline and oil.

After listening for a time, Old Bill spoke up again.

"We have no one but ourselves to blame. The reason we have big autos with large motors is only to satisfy our ego and to try to prove to the world our high standard of living."

"You don't see the Japanese, the Germans or the other European nations building big cars. They have stuck with the small ones - and now they're cutting into our sales abroad - and even at home."

"It's time we went back to the small motor."

Well, many folks chuckled when former governor George Romney took over the presidency of American Motors and said he would make the country "compact conscious." Now General Motors and the other members of the Big Three are turning to smaller and smaller cars - with no great howls.

Old Bill's remarks recalled the days of The Stroller's youth when the "Tin Lizzie" was at the peak of its fame.

This was Henry Ford's four cylinder job and we used to have fun putting it to a test.

Back home in the foothills of Pennsylvania we had a hill, affectionately referred to as "Bone Mill Hill." It was quite steep and about a half mile long.

Old Bill may have the right idea.

Any time a new "Tin Lizzie" came to town it was put to the test of climbing this old hill in high gear. If it made the summit it was rated a great car. If it chugged and chugged and forced changing gears it was looked upon as a "lemon."

But these old four cylinder cars did the job - and it is just likely that will do it again - and save the spending of millions for this emission control.

Old Bill may have the right idea.

NW Cantonites Oppose School Bond Issue

CANTON
The Northwest Canton Homeowners Assn. has voted to oppose a $14.2 million school construction bond issue to be voted on June 11 by Plymouth School District voters.

It wants the Plymouth Board of Education, instead of building new schools, to work with community planners in zoning the community to limit residential growth.

"We fully understand that the Plymouth school board has no direct control or legislative power over the various communities" included in the Plymouth Community School District, said Robert E. Greenstein, association president.

"However, since the vast majority of the citizen taxation is used for the school system," he said "we think that the school board has sufficient stature and authority in the community to establish guidelines which would then hopefully be followed by the community planners and the various township boards affected."

"I cannot believe that our township officials would fly in the face of sound recommendations from their school system as to growth within the community," Greenstein continued.

"We hope that this show of opposition to the next bond issue will prompt the school board to act at least in an advisory capacity to the townships and publish for all to read guidelines and objectives which will help in the proper and logical development of our community," the letter said.

Greenstein said the association "feels strongly that the board members have been extremely dilatory in their obligation to take a stand with definite guidelines recommended by the school district concerning growth rate."

"In too many cities and school districts which have in the past 10 years suffered staggering growth," Greenstein wrote, "huge bond issues were floated, huge tax increases were granted, tremendous schools were constructed and today many of those schools stand empty, unused, and as damning evidence of improper or incompetent planning, both on behalf of the school boards involved and the community planners controlling the population growth."

C of C Taking England Trip Reservations

PLYMOUTH

Plans for the two-week trip to Plymouth, England, being sponsored by the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, have been completed and the party will leave Metropolitan Airport on Monday, July 23, and return on Monday, Aug. 6.

The trip will be made on Pan American Airways and will include a conducted tour of London along with the visit to Plymouth.

This will be the second "Plymouth to Plymouth" tour and will help to forge a stronger link in the chain of friendship between the two cities.

The first trip, in 1970, was made at the invitation of the Plymouth, England, officials to help them celebrate the 350th anniversary of the sailing of The Mayflower.

It was planned at that time to exchange visits and the present tour is a fulfillment of that promise.

The Michigan group will be quartered at the Metropole Hotel while in London and at the Mayflower Post Hotel in Plymouth, England.

The price of the entire trip, exclusive of meals, is $687 per person and reservations are now being taken at the Chamber of Commerce office in the Mayflower Hotel.

One Call Changes P&R Man's Mind

"My decision was based on my personal judgment after evaluating the total situation both on a professional and family level," his letter concluded.

Meanwhile, Masteller called Yockey to apologize and explain.

Masteller said he called the man to "welcome him aboard."

"I did not call to pressure him," he said.

Masteller said he knew the man personally and had just called to congratulate him on being appointed to the job.

"I had no idea I was going to stir up this kind of a hornets' nest," he added.

That's the correct analysis of what he did. Despite his cries of innocence - once he finally admitted he was the one who called after everyone else had been ruled out - city officials still regard it as a sabotage of their efforts.

"It's very unfortunate," Yockey said Wednesday. "We lost a very capable individual who could have helped promote good recreation for everybody."

But even more damning - the incident brings to mind a similar occurrence that took place in November.

When then-City Manager Norm Gaffney had picked a P&R director, the would-be appointee went to the schools to view their program and to ask about the recreation authority.

Following the meeting with school officials, he decided to back out of the job.

That appeared purely the would-be appointee's decision, but to city officials, the recurrence is maddening.

Perhaps when Yockey decides to reoffer the P&R post - say, within the next couple weeks - he'll get his man all moved in before announcing the appointment.

Symphony Unit Hosted Music Excursion

PLYMOUTH
The "excursion in music" program held in the Plymouth Schools last week was sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony Society and not by the Plymouth Community Arts Council.

The program featured four percussionists from the Detroit Symphony Orchestra in performances at several Plymouth schools and was co-sponsored by the parent-teacher groups.

Jay Finch Supported

PLYMOUTH
In an unanimous vote, the Northwest Canton Homeowners Assn. has given its support to Dr. Jay Finch in his candidacy for a seat on the Plymouth school board.

"As a medical doctor and professor of medicine at the University of Michigan Medical School, his credentials are absolutely overpowering," said Robert Greenstein, president of the association.

"Few times in the history of our community has a man with such qualifications come forward to serve in such a thankless capacity as that of a school board member."

In ancient times money was made of gold, silver, copper, and also of iron and bronze. Even farther back shells, beads, elephant tusks, furs, skins, and livestock were all media of exchange. Gold coins circulating in the United States before 1933 were examples of this sort of money. However, as everyone knows, it is not what money is made of but what it will buy that determines its importance. Money these days has its value determined and set by a good many complex factors.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH - BOARD OF TRUSTEES - REGULAR MEETING - APRIL 10, 1973

Supervisor McLaren called the meeting to order at 8:00 P.M. All members were present.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES - Regular Meeting, March 27, 1973. Mrs. Holmes moved that the minutes of the regular meeting of March 27, 1973 be approved as submitted. Supported by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF BILLS - Mrs. Richardson stated that there had been additions to the original list of bills and that each member was given a copy. Mr. Overholt moved that the List of Bills in the corrected Grand Total amount of $42,941.18 be approved. Supported by Mr. Millington and carried unanimously.

COMMUNICATIONS - Joseph Bida, D.P.W. Superintendent. Re: Dog Control. Supervisor McLaren stated that since the car that was used by the Constables would be used as a pool car for any Township purpose, he had authorized that the light on the top be removed. He stated that he felt that this had caused some bad feelings and ill will. Mr. McLaren then stated that Constable Cousins had turned in his resignation and requested Clerk Richardson to read same, which stated that due to his increased work duties at Chrysler Motors, he found it necessary to resign his duties as Constable for Plymouth Township.

Supervisor McLaren stated, regarding the red light on that car, that this was to be used on emergency vehicles and that since this car would be used for many reasons it did not qualify as an emergency vehicle. He then asked the other members of the Board if they felt the light should be replaced and if the Board felt that it should be, he would order it done. Mr. Ash moved that the Board accept the resignation of Mr. Cousins as Constable, with regret. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously.

OLD BUSINESS - Donovan Associates Inc. Re: Discussion on Proposed extension of Sewer System to the Western part of Plymouth Township. Mrs. Richardson stated that she had received a call from Mr. Morgan, Township attorney, and that he had been requested to appear at the Northville Township meeting and due to recent developments, he was unable to be at that meeting. Mrs. Richardson moved that this item be deleted from the agenda. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously.

NEW BUSINESS - Merle Knight, Secretary. Plymouth Township Planning Commission - Re: Action taken at their March 21, 1973 meeting. (a) Rezoning of approximately 48.8 acres on north side of Ann Arbor Trail, east side of proposed McClumpha Road extension, from R-1-H to R-1-S for R.U.D. Mr. Draugelis representing Mr. Gould stated that this rezoning involved 48.8 acres at a present zoning of R-1-H and requested a zoning classification of R-1-S for a Residential Unit Development. Mr. Draugelis stated that there was a great deal of objection at the Public Hearing. Mr. Draugelis informed the Board that the letter from Mr. Gould dated April 4, 1973 was the result of the Township Planning Commission regarding the economic hardships to develop this parcel at R-1-H.

Mr. Gould then addressed the Board regarding the economic hardships due to cost of curb and gutter, paved streets, storm and sanitary sewers, and water. He said the cost for such development would be approximately $80.00 per front foot and that the lot price would then be approximately $20,000 and would require $100,000 houses. Mr. Gould remarked that it would be almost impossible to market this price range house being situated next to the Township Recreational Park. Mr. Gould also mentioned that there were no trees, no lakes, and no streams to enhance the value and look of the land. Therefore, Mr. Draugelis requested that the Board have an open mind in reviewing this rezoning request. He stated that the reason the Township Planning Commission had unanimously denied the rezoning request was public pressure and that the people were objecting for erroneous reasons. Mr. Draugelis referred to the letter from the Plymouth Community Improvement Association, which he said was based on false statements.

Mr. Draugelis read sections of the letter, and stated that people living on 90' lots objected, also people living in areas without curb or gutter and on dirt roads objected. Could Mr. Gould market $100,000 homes built on this parcel? Mr. Draugelis stated that this would be highly unlikely. The question here was density, pure and simple. Mr. Draugelis stated that the factor was not as great as would appear. The increase would be about 78 percent. The parcel would be a uniquely planned development. R-1-S zoning with clusters and 100' lots. This could not be done with R-1-H zoning. Mr. Draugelis stated that the Township wants quality and that this Builder does build quality developments. Mr. Draugelis stated that he hoped that he had raised questions in the minds of the Board members. Mrs. Richardson stated that she had three questions. 1) When was the property purchased? Mr. Gould stated that it was purchased on a R-1-H when he purchased same? Mr. Gould said that he did. 3) Did Mr. Gould know that the Township Recreational Property was adjacent to this parcel when he purchased it? Mr. Gould replied in the affirmative.

Mr. Gould stated that he received the letter from the Township Planning Commission the same day as the appearance before the Planning Commission and that he did not have time to compile the necessary information on the economic and/or market analysis and that development of a R.U.D. under the existing zoning district and appropriate densities would be prohibitive. Mr. Millington stated that this was not the first builder who had come before the Board stating that it was economically unfeasible to develop half acre lots and that perhaps a private study should be made.

Mr. Overholt stated that Mr. Millington's remarks had merit, that there was plenty of land still available in the Township. He stated that perhaps some additional information was needed to substantiate Mr. Gould's statements. Mrs. Holmes stated that the Board should be considering the rezoning and not the economic problems of Mr. Gould. She stated that all the factors were there when the parcel was purchased and planned.

Mr. Richardson moved that the request to rezone the 48.8 acres on the north side of Ann Arbor Trail, east side of proposed McClumpha Road extension from R-1-H to R-1-S for R.U.D. be denied for the reasons given by the Planning Commission at their March 21, 1973 meeting. 1) the proposed rezoning is not in conformity with the Comprehensive Development Plan in that the allowable densities would be increased beyond that proposed by the Proposed Land Use Plan. 2) the abutting land uses would not hinder the development of the property as a R-1-H Country Homes District. 3) the existing Article XX Residential Unit Development Plan, is applicable to a R-1-H zoning district. Supported by Mrs. Holmes.

In the discussion that followed, Mr. Millington stated that he would like to see more information given to the Board. The question was called and the following roll call vote was taken. Yes: Burke, Ash, Overholt, Holmes, Richardson, McLaren. No: Millington. The motion carried six to one. Mr. Millington stated that his "no" vote was due to there being no supportive information from a public source as to the economic feasibility of developing this parcel.

Ernest G. Koi Chairman Community Service (Passage-Gayle Post No. 201) American Legion. Re: Invitation for one member of the Board and Spouse to attend the Sixth Annual "Recognition Night" Banquet and Program on Saturday Evening, May 19, 1973. Mr. Ash agreed to attend the Banquet as the representative of the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees. There being no objection, it was so ordered that Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ash would attend the Sixth Annual "Recognition Night" Banquet and Program.

Robert B. McElroy, VFW Poppy Chairman. Re: Requesting permission to conduct the Annual Buddy Poppy Sales on Thursday, May 17, 1973 or Friday, May 18, 1973. Mr. Ash moved that the Board grant permission for the Annual Buddy Poppy Sale on Thursday, May 17, 1973 or Friday, May 18, 1973. Supported by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

Reaffirmation Council of Southeastern Michigan. Re: 1973 Membership Dues and appointment of two civic minded citizens as Delegates to the Council. Mr. Overholt moved that the above communication be tabled to the next regular meeting and request an opinion on accomplishments of the Council from our appointees. Supported by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

Heles Richardson, Clerk. Re: Transfer of funds to overextended accounts. Mr. Millington moved that approval be given for the transfer of funds to overextended accounts as contained in the letter dated April 6, 1973. Supported by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

James Briggs, Chief Building Inspector. Re: Requesting permission and fees to attend Building Official Spring Conference to be held at East Lansing on Thursday and Friday, April 12th and April 13th, 1973. Mrs. Richardson explained to the Board that Mr. Briggs was in Arizona due to the illness in his family and a possibility that he would not return in time to attend the conference, but would move that approval be given for Mr. Briggs to attend the Building Official Spring Conference and that the check should be held in abeyance until such decision was final. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

Joseph Bida, D.P.W. Superintendent. Re: (a) Requesting permission for Plymouth Amateur Radio Club to use Recreation property for their annual Field Day on June 23, 1973 from 9:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. AND June 24, 1973. Mr. Ash moved that approval be granted for the Plymouth Amateur Radio Club to use the Recreation Property on June 23 and 24, 1973 from 9:00 A.M. to 6:00 P.M. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

(b) Root Catter for Sewer Jet. Re: Requesting permission to purchase attachment and wrench for Sewer Jet. Mr. Burke moved that permission be granted for the purchase of the attachment and wrench for the Sewer Jet. Supported by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

(c) Requesting permission to take bids on a new four door sedan automobile with automatic transmission, power steering and heavy duty springs, also on new three (3) to five (5) yard dump truck with box and hydraulic hoist. Mr. Burke asked if Mr. Bida would present specifications to the Board? Mr. Bida stated that he would have the specs ready by the next meeting. Mr. Burke moved that approval be given to prepare specifications to be presented at the next meeting. Supported by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

J.E. Gignac, Fire Chief - Promotion to Step No. 4 for Firefighter Bailey. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board approve the promotion to Step No. 4 for Firefighter Bailey and that a letter of Commendation be forwarded to Mr. Bailey. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

Section 125.22 as to the statutory language in regard to Referendum. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board support the Amendment to Section 125.22 and request Senator Purwell to introduce legislation to change the Statutory language and urge the support of the Michigan Township Association. Supported by Mr. Ash and carried unanimously.

Mr. Overholt moved that the meeting be adjourned, supported by Mr. Ash. Supervisor McLaren adjourned the meeting at 9:32 P.M.

Approved, J.D. McLaren, Supervisor

Respectfully Submitted, Helen Richardson, Clerk

SISTER MARGARET BASSO (right) and Judy Koltz of the Newman Center staff check the spring lamb as it arrives for Schoolcraft College's agape feast.

Traditions Join In Schoolcraft Agape Feast

An agape feast—joining the traditions of the Jewish Seder and the Christian Last Supper—highlighted campus observance of the Passover and Easter season at Schoolcraft College.

The meal for 50 was served Thursday, April 19, in the Newman Center on campus. Now a small tradition in its own right for Schoolcraft and the Newman Center, it is described by Sister Margaret Basso, advisor, as "a feast celebrating God's showing his love for man."

Passover wines, matzo, bitter herbs and spring lamb prepared by the students in the college culinary arts program are featured in the meal.

As the feast proceeds, all at the table participate in liturgies beginning with the lighting of the festival lights, continuing through the Kiddush, the blessing of the feast, and the Hagadah, the story of the deliverance from Egypt, and reaching the bread and wine of the Christian communion ceremony.

At the end of the meal, all present sing a hymn, "God is love, and he who abides in love abides in God and God in him."

The Rev. Dennis Bagley, campus minister for Lawrence Institute of Technology, assisted the Newman Center staff in the event.

Young Missionaries Will Attend Seminars

Two seminars for young people who plan to spend their summer in missionary work and graduation ceremonies for 90 missionaries high-light activities this spring at Missionary Internship, Inc., 36200 Freedom Road, Farmington.

The seminars are scheduled for April 27-28 and May 4-5 in Galilean Baptist Church, 28875 W. Seven Mile, Livonia.

MI will celebrate its 21st anniversary and spring graduation at 7:30 p.m., May 24, in Highland Park Baptist Church, 28600 Lahser, Southfield.

The seminars are a pilot program for potential national expansion. Among the churches which send their young people to mission fields in the summer is Highland Park Baptist Church, Southfield. It has sent young missionaries - to - be to Europe, South America, Mexico, the Pacific Northwest and Appalachia.

The meetings will deal with such topics as "observation skills," cross-cultural communication (learning to communicate without the necessary language background), and how to recognize what can be accomplished.

The teachers will be Wilfred A. Bellamy, MI director who has had 13 years' experience in Nigeria as a missionary; Sam Rowen, who has served in the Caribbean for 12 years; Norman Hoyt, who is on furlough from the Johannesburg Bible Institute; Dwight Gradin, a former anthropologist who has been a missionary in Vietnam; and Helen Kornfield, who was a missionary in the Philippines for 12 years.

Persons interested in attending should call the MI.

Dr. Stuart Briscoe, pastor of Elmbrook Church, Brookfield, Wis., will be the guest speaker at the graduation ceremonies. He will also speak that morning at a meeting of local pastors and church leaders, and at an alumni luncheon.

Fred Renich and R.E. Thompson, both past directors of MI, will be honored during the ceremonies.

The graduates will join the more than 1,500 MI graduates now serving in every corner of the world. MI represents 27 different mission boards serving Central and South America, Africa, Asia, Europe, Canada and the U.S.

The candidates range in age from 23 to 40. Twenty are single and the rest are families who will work as teams. Several are the sons and daughters of missionaries.

Some are scheduled to work in servicemen's centers in the Far East. Others will do village work, teach in Bible schools, operate Christian radio stations or work in clinics and hospitals.

Hermeania Christian's assignment will send her to the ghetto area of Newark, N.J. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Snider, who interned in a black church in Detroit, will go to Kenya.

Three weeks out of every month, interns are involved with on-the-job training programs with churches, intercity missions and campus ministry.

MI anticipates that more than 200 persons will go through its program in 1973.

The organization is planning to expand its activities this year, and has scheduled, besides the seminars for young people, pre-field orientation programs for short-term and technical support missionaries. These will be held in June, July and September.

This is a repeat of the program in January, which was attended by 20 persons representing eight mission boards.

Each program lasts three weeks. Many attending take a leave of absence from their normal employment to work in mission fields for short periods.

Helge Heads PR Committee

Roy-H. Helge, 29347 Bannockburn, Farmington, has been named chairman of the church and public relations committee of the board of directors of the Detroit Baptist Manor.

Helge is now serving his second year of a three-year term as a member of the board.

The directors supervise the 101-apartment unit for senior citizens at 30251 W. 13 Mile, Farmington, and are in the process of developing living quarters for another 300 senior citizens and a health care unit.

Mormons Will Attend Classes

Mormons in the Detroit metropolitan area will have an opportunity to take college-level classes in the Livonia Chapel, Six Mile and Merriman, April 23 and 24. The classes will begin at 12 noon and run through 10 p.m.

They will be taught by Brigham Young University professors, C. Kay Allen, Duane M. Laws, Daniel H. Ludlow, D. Chris Poulos, Richard D. Davis, Duane E. Hiatt and Mrs. Daryl Hoole. They have just completed teaching assignments in Minnesota and will go on from Livonia to conduct courses at Columbus, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo.

Subjects to be taught will include "Life Before Birth," "This Life's Purpose," "Life After Death," "Other Scriptures As Witnesses for Christ," and "The Lord and the Potential of His People." Mrs. Hoole will concentrate on "The Art of Homemaking" and "How to Do Less for your Children So You Can Do More With Them."

Church members 14 years and older have an opportunity once a year to attend college classes conducted in Mormon chapel buildings.

Mormon leaders in Salt Lake City use Brigham Young University professors on a traveling basis as classroom instructors. The university, located in Provo, Utah, is the largest private college in the U.S. today. It is owned and operated exclusively by the Mormon Church.

The need for constant education is one of the basic concepts of Mormonism, and church programs are designed to teach members from the cradle to the grave. Even three-year-old children are given special speaking instruction to give them confidence when their turn comes to speak to the congregation. There is no paid clergy in the church, and all sermons must be given by church members.

St. Paul Club Plans Festival

The Men's Club of St. Paul United Church of Christ, 26550 Cherry Hill Road, Dearborn Heights, is planning a three-day spring festival. It will be held on the church grounds April 27-29, and will include rides, games, food and prizes.

Area Churches Greet Resurrection

With sunrise worship, Easter breakfasts and multiple services, Christian congregations in Observerland will proclaim Sunday that "Jesus Christ is risen today."

At least two outdoor services are planned in the early morning hours.

Youth of Newburg United Methodist Church and Riverside Park in Livonia will conduct a service at Newburg Point in Edward Hines Park. The point is at the end of Sumac Drive, and the service is scheduled at 6:30 a.m.

The Newburg youth then will return to the church and begin serving an Easter breakfast, to be available continuously as the church has worship service at 8, 9:15 and 11 a.m.

In many other churches, breakfast will follow early morning services.

ST. PAUL LUTHERAN CHURCH, Middle Belt and Eight Mile, Farmington, plans a sunrise communion service at 6:30 a.m. It will be held on the church grounds if weather permits, and the Rev. Walter Rutkowski will preach.

Coffee and rolls will be served after that service and also after the ones at 8:30 and 11 a.m. A Sunday School Easter film will be shown at 10 a.m.

LOLA VALLEY UNITED

DR. JOHN KROMMINGA, president of Calvin Theological Seminary at Grand Rapids, will be guest preacher for 9:30 and 11 a.m. services in Ward United Presbyterian Church, Livonia.

METHODIST CHURCH, Delaware and Puritan, Redford Township, also plans a sunrise service led by its Youth Fellowship and an Easter breakfast served by the young people.

Family worship is planned at 11 a.m., with the Rev. Harold Slater preaching on "Celebration of the Resurrection." The junior choir, led by Mrs. Karen Slater, and the senior choir, directed by Mrs. Ida Kitching Cordes, will sing.

Five Baptist churches that joined in Good Friday observances also will take part in an Easter sunrise service at 7 a.m. in Parkview Baptist Church on Stark Road in Livonia.

The churches joining Parkview are Bethany Baptist of Livonia, Newburg Baptist of Livonia, Wayne Baptist Temple of Garden City and Westland Baptist of Livonia. Breakfast will be provided later for those attending the service.

SWORD OF THE SPIRIT LUTHERAN CHURCH, 34563

W. Seven Mile, Livonia, will serve a congregational breakfast at 9 a.m. preceding its Easter morning communion service at 10 a.m.

Choir anthems directed by Frank Kuhlman and a brass accompaniment for hymns provided by Dale Mitchell of Northville will add to the festival celebration.

THE LUTHERAN CHURCH OF THE RISEN CHRIST, 46250 Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, has set a 6 a.m. sunrise service with the young people's Easter breakfast following. Sunday school will be at 9:15 a.m.

ORCHARD UNITED METHODIST CHURCH, 30450 Farmington Road, Farmington, will have music from all its church choirs and an Easter Litany in 9:30 and 11 a.m. services. The sermon topic will be "Lazarus, Come Out!"

COVENANT COMMUNITY CHURCH, 25800 Student, Redford Township, will have sermons by Dr. Wendell Johnston, president of Detroit Bible College, during its three Easter services, at 8:15 and 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH will hear music by the folk group "Under New Management" during its second worship service at 10:45 a.m. The church, located on Six Mile west of Farmington Road in Livonia, also will have an 8:15 service preceded by 7:30 a.m. continental breakfast.

GARDEN CITY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, on Middle Belt south of Ford, is continuing its tradition of sponsoring a 1 p.m. youth service with music provided by choir, guitars and organ. Services also are planned at 9:15 and 11 a.m.

TRINITY CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN, 27350 West Chicago, Redford Township, plans an 8 a.m. Easter breakfast, regular worship at 9:45 a.m. and a special communion service of the bread and cup at 11 a.m.

FAITH LUTHERAN CHURCH, continuing a tradition of several years' standing, will ask those in the congregation for its Easter morning services to join the choir in singing the "Hallelujah" from Handel's "Messiah."

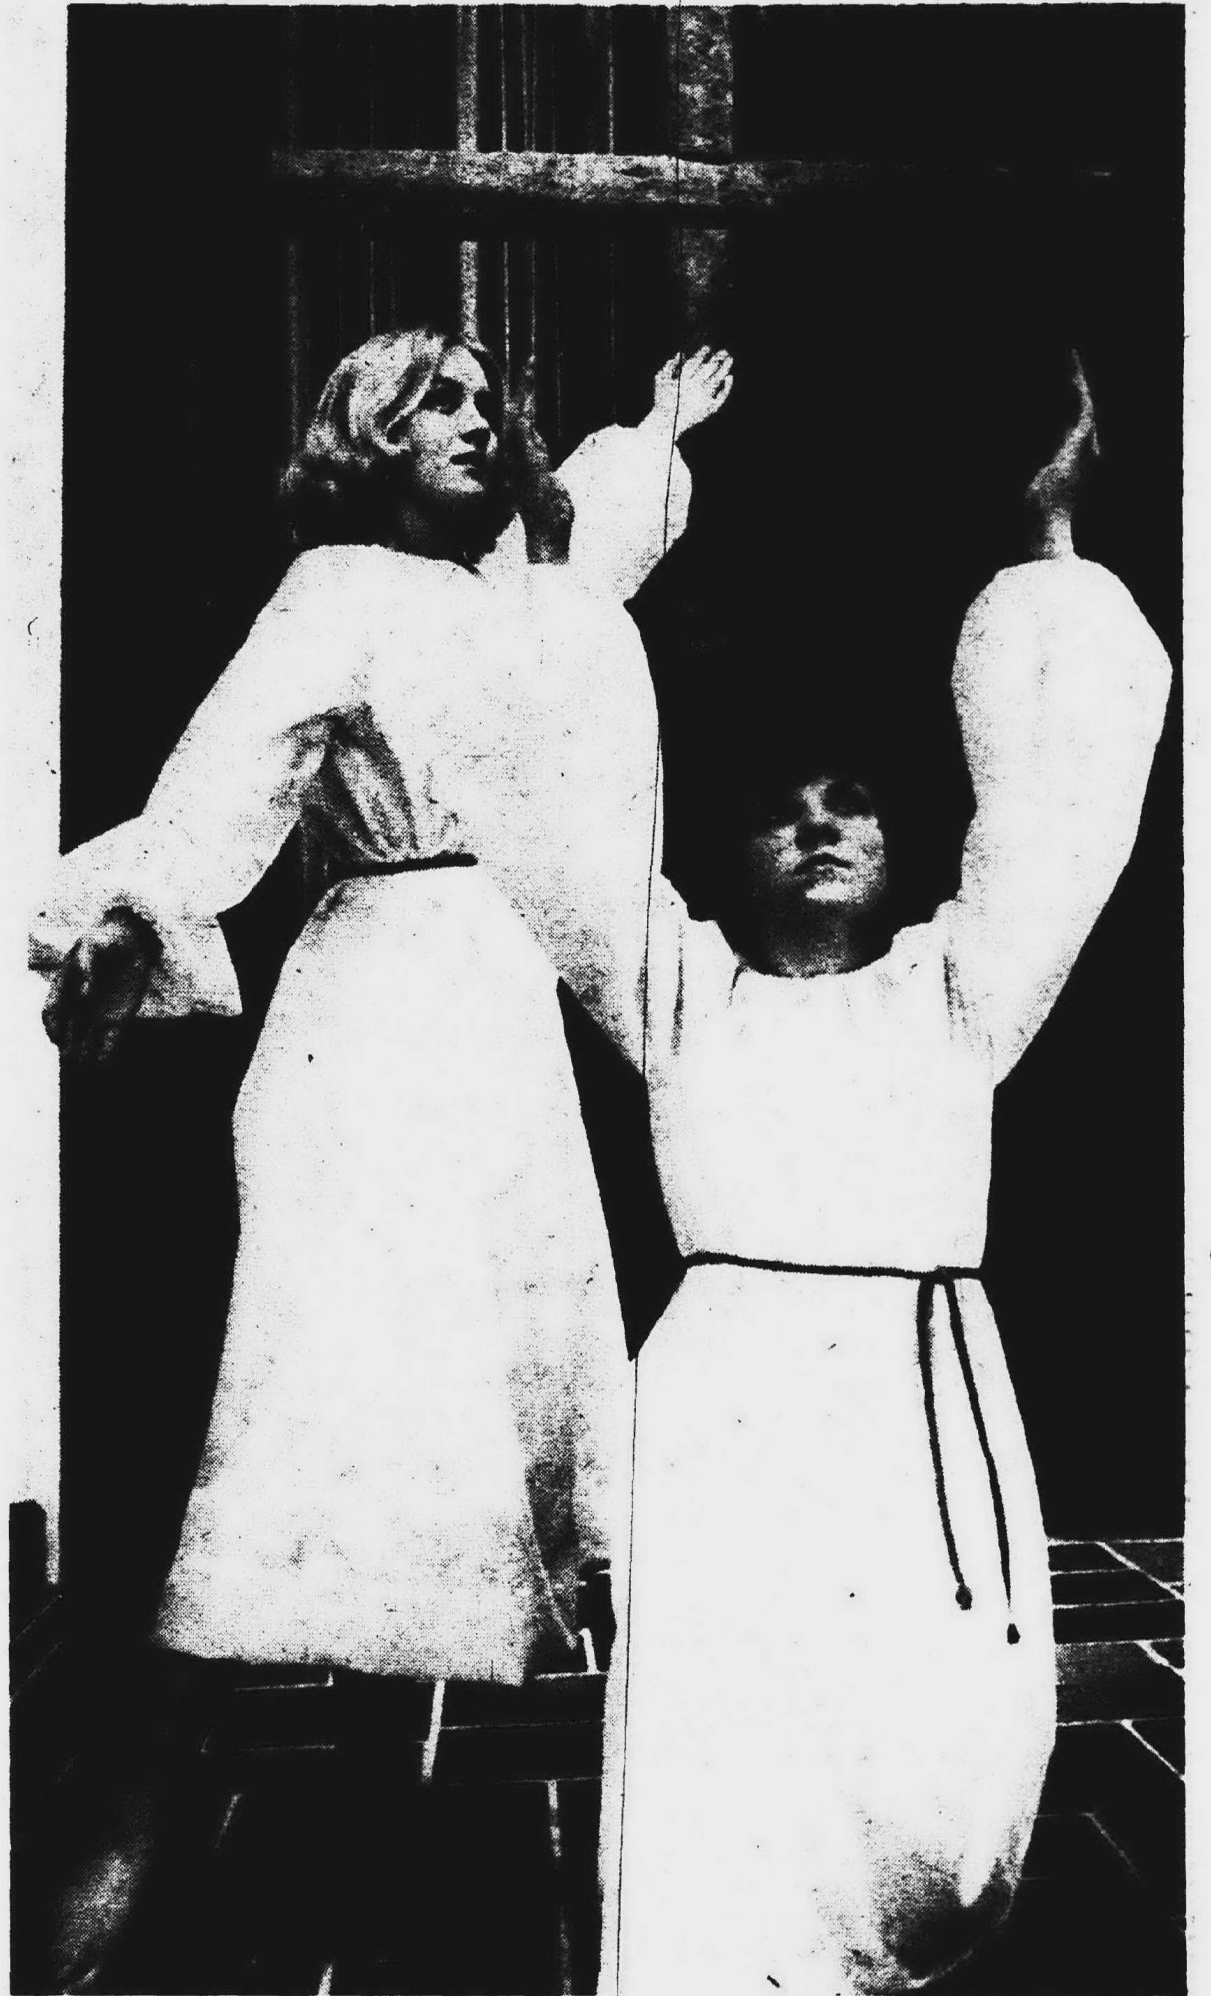

That church, located at 30000 Five Mile, Livonia, will serve Easter breakfast at 8 a.m. and plans services at 6:30, 9 and 11 a.m.

Several special evening programs are scheduled for Easter Sunday.

FAITH BAPTIST CHURCH, 30025 Curtis, Livonia, will hear a rendition of the Easter cantata, "Redemption's Song" at its 7 p.m. service. Charles Festian directs the Faith choir.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, 43065 Joy, Plymouth, will present the annual Easter concert of its 45-voice senior choir at 7 p.m.

The choir is under the direction of Tom Hovemale and the accompanists will be Dewey Gardner at the organ and Elaine Beitner at the piano.

Churchill Boots Away League Opener, 4-3

By TOM DONOGHUE

Sports Editor
Livonia Churchill opened Western Six baseball competition on a sour note. The "Year of the Charger" flavor hasn't rubbed off yet on Roger Frayer's baseballers as Northville topped Churchill, 4-3, to go along with Churchill's opening non-league defeat to Farmington, 4-2.

"We never should have let this one get away from us," said Frayer who saw three of the four runs scored against him by way of the unearned route. "We just gave it away."

Churchill drew first blood in the bottom of the first. Mike Gottshall and Bobby Blaies walked and all-area center fielder Rick Dreher singled to right to score Gottshall. Ron Hawraney was safe on a fielder's choice and Blaies scampered in to make it 2-0. Northville came right back with a solo tally in the second.

Bill MacDonald doubled off Churchill started Ken Wood and Joe Marconic singled with two out to make it 2-1.

Northville took the lead to stay in the third.

Bill O'Brien singled and Bart Taylor was safe on an error by Churchill shortstop Brian Kelly. Joe Oginski singled to score O'Brien.

Todd Coleman grounded into a fielder's choice and Kelly, in an attempt to catch Coleman at first, overthrew his target and Taylor scored to make it 3-2.

MacDonald followed with a single and Frayer brought in Panzoff from the bullpen. Northville shortstop Wally Reed rapped a single to right and Coleman scampered home with what proved to be the deciding run.

Churchill bounced back in the last of the third.

Blaies drew a base on balls and Dreher hit into a fielder's choice with everyone safe. After Hawraney went down on strikes, Kelly lofted a two-bagger over the left fielder's head to score Blaies. Dreher, after slipping at second, was forced to hold up at third.

Foster then went down swinging on three pitches. Al Leirstein walked to fill the sacks but Skender bounced one back to the pitcher to halt the threat.

It appeared that the Chargers might pull it out in the last of the seventh.

After drawing three consecutive base on balls, Blaies finally got the pitch he wanted and singled. Dreher then hit into a fielder's choice and Blaies was retired.

Dreher moved to second on a passed ball, and Hawraney slapped an infield single. Kelly walked on four straight pitches to fill the bases with only one out, the tying run on third and the winning tally on second.

Jim Foster went down on strikes and Leirstein fled out to left to end the game.

Wood and Panzoff worked for Churchill with starter Wood picking up his second defeat in as many starts. Bishop went the route for Northville, allowing the three runs on five hits, walking eight and striking out five.

Borgess Streak To Get Real Test

The Bishop Borgess trackmen, who have never lost a dual meet, chalked up No. 31 in a Catholic Double A victory over Divine Child, 97½ to 25½.

But Borgess Coach Steve Strauch isn't counting his winning times before they are clocked in.

His cindermen have their toughest week ahead of them.

Borgess travels to Brennan High School in Windsor, Ont. for a dual match-up Monday, April 23, and journeys to Livonia Stevenson for another powerhouse clash on Wednesday, April 25.

Neil Falls was the real spark in the Borgess attack against Divine Child as he tied the school record in the 100 yard dash with a .10.0 clocking.

Borgess won all three relays, took first in nine individual events and shut out Divine Child in the shot put, low hurdles and 880 yard run.

Strauch had to be pleased with the performance of his sophomore shot putter Steve Jaremski who had a winning toss of 48-3.

ALPHONSUS TIPS AGGIES

St. Agatha opened its '73 baseball season with a 3-1 loss at the hands of St. Alphonsus.

Alphonsus hurler Greg Trybus kept the Aggies in check with a no-hitter on tap going into the final inning.

but St. Agatha rapped out two hits to spoil the pitching gem.

St. Alphonsus scored once in the bottom of the third when Paul Crittenden singled, moved to second on an out and scored when Aggie right fielder Steve Williams dropped a fly ball.

Two tallies in the sixth iced the victory for St. Alphonsus when a walk, an error, a double steal, a sacrifice and a passed ball took their toll.

Trybus' potential no-hitter was spoiled in the seventh on a single by Marty Thompson. Then, after two quick outs, Bob Kliefield doubled to score Thompson.

Trybus finished with 13 strikeouts, one walk and a two-hitter.

Aggie pitcher Mark Gongol allowed only three hits, struck out two and walked one.

Southfield Man Scores Ace

At the age of 51, and after only four years of golf, David Cooper of 25665 Catalina in Southfieldaced the eighth hole at Kensington Golf Course.

Cooper used an eight iron to score the 140 yard hole-in-one and carded a 97 for the day.

By W.W. EDGAR

West La Palme conquered an old jinx while playing the star role at Garden Lanes during the week.

It long has been the belief among star bowlers that a slump follows the posting of a perfect game. But he knocked that belief sky high by turning in a 750 series in the Senior House League to lead all Observerland scorers.

Only a week before he joined the select circle with a perfect game. Instead of slumping, though, he came back this week with this amazing performance.

What may become an annual affair, the Franklin High School team won a high school invitational tournament at Country Lanes.

The Franklin team, aided by Dan Ottman's 570, rolled a 3051 series to beat out Farmington High, with Oak Park placing third, Churchill fourth and North Farmington trailing in fifth place.

They're still talking about Dee Howden's performance 10 days ago in the Road Commission League at Garden Lanes. In the excitement of his missing a perfect game when a balky No. 10 pin stood on the final ball, his series was overlooked. But he had games of 246, 299 and 216 for a 761, highest ever in the league.

Tony Loiacino who has been scoring well in the area's all-star leagues set the pace in the Westland circuit last week when he posted a 725 series. Starting with a 279 he added a 199 and then closed with a 247.

His closest rival, Don Wray, linked games of 218, 216 and 245 for a 679, while Jim Matuzak placed third with a 666 that included a 232 middle game.

Bob Garret still is top man in the averages with a 205 that is one point better than Hal Jolly.

No one broke the 700 barrier in the Garden Lanes Classic, but Bob Cassar and Harvey Wilson Jr. put up a great battle for scoring honors. When the last pin fell, Cassar was eight pins in front with a 649.

In the Women's Traveling League Nancy Bartlett was high with a 619.

Pat Melvin, who is a regular in the summer leagues in Observerland, posted the first 700 series of her career Monday night in the Bowl-ettes.

Given a "monkey" for luck just before play began, she made it pay off with games of 256, 246 and 214.

A poor start oftentimes pre-figures a great ending and that's what happened to Martha Wall at Plymouth Bowl. Opening with a 160, she jumped to 236 in the second and closed with 232 for 628. Meanwhile, Dianne Goodsite opened with a 248 and then declined to games of 178 and 140 for a 566.

Although she didn't win a single game, Bea Wesner walked off with top honors in the Livonia Ladies Classic when she posted a 520-90-620.

In the individual games, Delores Dowhan won the opener with 194-40-234. Marcie Bashor took the second with 203-17-220 and Gail Dugan paced the third with 179-50-229.

Gary George won a close battle with Don Hunt in the Teen Classic at Farmington lanes. Contributing a 201 in 555 he gained a three pin edge over Don who had a 205 and 201 in 552.

Barb Hamlin paced the girls with a 193 in 525 and Judy Beck went 113 pins over her average with a 449.

In the Junior High Girls division Kim Harrington again showed the way with a 200 in 535 and Rick Blodgett paced the boys group with a 214 in 483.

The Bel-Aire Classic furnished another wild scoring battle until Chuck Sunseri landed on top with a 707 and a nine pin edge over Jerry Hay. Close behind this pair came Jill Shornhurst with 687 and Jack Aldred with a 683.

In the Senior House League it was Tom Maiberger who went on a strike spree with games of 257, 215 and 249 for 721. His closest rival was Ed Dunkel with a 684.

Among the other leaders were Aron Litshay, who paced the Businessmen's circuit with 682, and Bertha Simonsen who topped the women's mixed league with 612. A mother-daughter combination held forth in the Bel-Aire Women's league when Jackie Dix posted a 551 and her daughter, Dawn, a 507.

The Merri-Bowl team, composed of Keith Gauk, Jerry Krass, Jeff Muglia, Ken Lindbert and Ken Block, rolled a 1445 series to beat out Cloverlanes for the city championship in the Teen Division of the Parks and Recreation League at Cloverlanes.

In the Prep Division, the Woodland team, composed of Colleen Kelley, Barbara Calley, Annie Zack, Mazin Karaduse and John Zykowski, earned the title with an 1129 - 16 pins better than Cloverlanes.

Little Dennis Jeffrey, 11 years old, who carries a 130 average in the Merri-Bowl junior league, hit a new high for the season with a 217-150-367.

The juniors also did well at Country Lanes where Barbara Silverton went 138 pins over her average with a 241 and Mike Dugan had a 203 in 524.

The Cloverlanes No. 1 team rolled its way to the championship in the Senior Citizens west side traveling league and will meet the east side champions at Cloverlanes on April 24. Top scorer in the championship match was Al Robert with a 275 single game and a 680 series.

In addition, the card lists a $5,300 preferred pace and a $5,300 preferred trot; three conditioned paces worth $4,000 each and two others with a value of $2,800 each.

Herve Filion, back atop the U.S. Trotting Association's bi-weekly North American dash-winning standings, is winning races this spring at the same world record clip he used in registering 605 victories in 1972. The amazing French-Canadian harness driver has 105 triumphs, just three less than at this same date a year ago.

William (Buddy) Gilmour, one of metropolitan New York's dash leaders, is second with 99 victories and Jim Curran, the early 1973 leader, is third with 96 conquests.

Filion, who missed two racing dates last weekend because he is competing in the World Driving Championships in Europe, jumped to the top spot with 26 wins in 110 starts during the past two weeks.

Joe Marsh Jr., who led all U.S. drivers with 307 victories in 1972, is second to Norway's Ulf Thoresen after one night of competition in the annual World Driving Championship inaugurated by Harness Tracks of America.

On Sunday afternoon Marsh scored two wins and one third for 31 points at Vienna, Austria. The Norwegian, who is the new European king, leads with 35 points while Canada's Herve Filion is fifth with 25 points.

The world tournament continues in Paris with later stops in W. Germany and Italy.

SOME OF the "Lovers and Other Strangers" in the Livonia-Redford Theater Guild production, opening April 27, are (from left) Judy Trembley, Ed Moorehead, Esther Melton, Perry Lewis, Susan Chapman, and Rosemary and David Tucker.

'Lovers' Visit LRTG

"Lovers and Other Strangers," a humorous look at sex and marriage, is set for an opening night sell-out audience this Friday, April 27.

Under the direction of J. Craig Collicott, it will be seen in the Livonia-Redford Theater Guild Playhouse April 27-28 and May 4-6 and 11-12. Curtain time is 8:30 every evening except May 6, when it is 7:30.

The playhouse is located on Beech-Daly, one block south of Five Mile, Redford Township.

Reservations for all except opening night are available from Pam Nelson, 30742 Ann Arbor Trail, Westland, or Mrs. Roger Packard, 14360 Stout, Detroit.

"Lovers" is really four plays loosely tied together by a common theme. This is best described in the words of one of the characters, "When you make your bed, you suffer in it." It was written by Renee Taylor and Joseph Bologna.

The first lovers and strangers to appear on stage are Brenda and Jerry, who met in Maxwell's Plum and have gone to Jerry's apartment to get better acquainted.

Playing the single-minded Jerry in the LRTG version will be Perry Lewis. Susan Chapman has the role of amusements

Brenda, the romantic girl.

David and Rosemary Tucker have been cast as Johnny and Wilma. They play the husband and wife who are caught up in the exigencies of earning a living and raising a family. Johnny's success in sales has a direct effect on his libido. He feels threatened by women's lib, too.

The third act is entitled "Mike and Susan," and is about a couple who are planning to get married. Jerry tries to get out of it, because, among other things, he notices that Susan "has very thin arms." Mark Gualdoni plays the fast-talking fiancé, and Judi Trembley plays the wise-beyond-her-years Susan.

The last act deals with the marriage philosophy of Frank and Bea, revealed as they counsel their son, Ricky, and his wife, Joan.

Father tells son, "We're all strangers. But after a while, you get used to it. You become deeper strangers. That's a sort of love."

Frank is played by Ed Moorehead, with Esther Melton (formerly Esther Goodman) as his wife. The young couple are played by Alice Masson and Chip Geriden.

Residents of the Cambridge Nursing Home on Beech-Daly had a preview look at the play Friday evening. The LRTG staged it in the home as a community service project.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

With the meeting still short of the halfway point, horsemen have received a new share of the action at Wolverine Raceway with the announcement from Vice President and General Manager Richard Wilson of a second purse hike in a three-week period.

The first increase came in early April when purses were boosted $100 to $200 with the preferred events going to $5,300 and the invitationals to $6,600.

With the nightly average parimutuel handle climbing from $510,000 to more than $560,000 during the early weeks in April, Wilson announced a second share of the wealth in a new purse structure ranging from $200 to $600 more per race over that offered when the meeting opened on March 15.

The boost sent the minimum to $1,500 for lower class trotters and pacers with the invitationals going up all the way to $7,000. The preferred races jumped to $5,800.

Thus the meeting is following the pattern of a year ago when the increase in business resulted in an $1,800 minimum for the closing weeks of the season, highest ever offered by a harness track in Michigan.

"We figured we would be able to raise purses during the meeting," said Wilson, "but we didn't think it would come so early. Especially after the blizzard on the first Saturday night that resulted in a handle of $108,000. We thought it would take much longer to overcome that disastrous night. But it seems it only served as a catalyst and business has been booming ever since, come rain, snow or cold."

With many of the major promotions coming up later in the meeting, Wilson is looking forward to another million dollar night and perhaps as many as three or four before the meeting ends in Mid-June.

And with the million dollar nights goes an opportunity to give the horsemen another share of the wealth.

Provided the weatherman cooperates, Wolverine is looking forward to the first sub-2:00 minute mile of the season Saturday (tonight) when it presents the finest program of the year.

It was just a week ago that Mighty Fire, an Ohio owned pacer, ran a neck victory in 2:00.4 in a preferred event. That clocking came just two races after the spectacular J.R. Skipper, the brilliant Canadian three-year-old, had been clocked in 2:01 in its season debut.

Both times were the fastest of the meeting and the best since the big mile track became so fast.

Mighty Fire moves up to the invitational class this time with a purse of $6,600 up for grabs against the fastest and best pacers on the grounds.

J.R. Skipper isn't in the field, moving east during the week for a rich stake, but the field of eight could force Mighty Fire to break the 2:00 barrier to win.

Local time, pride and joy of the late Ray Forsyth, has shipped in from Florida and will be making his 1973 Wolverine debut. The speedy horse with a record of 1:58.2 will have the services of Ted Taylor and that could make it a definite threat.

In from Chicagoland is Shiwaway Lad, guided by Chris Boring, and the fast moving Michigan Mack. From California comes Bramble Hall with a clocking of 1:58.3. Then there are Big Kahjna, star of the Gene Riegle stable; Skipper Gene Marx, who chased J.R. Skipper to his fast mile; and the Michigan favorite Bedford Jet, seeking his second win of the meeting.

In addition, the card lists a $5,300 preferred pace and a $5,300 preferred trot; three conditioned paces worth $4,000 each and two others with a value of $2,800 each.

Meat Boycott Didn't Work, Panelists Agree

By KATHY MORAN

An evaluation of the meat industry from farmer to consumer turned out to be a hurried look at the effects of the recent meat boycott during a discussion at West Bloomfield High School.

The Farmington-West Bloomfield League of Women voters sponsored a panel composed of cattle feeders, retailers and a consumer for a social science class at the high school.

But pressures of a limited time period turned the discussion away from an evaluation of the various phases involved in getting meat on a supper table.

All the panelists except Mrs. Lenore Mendelson, representing consumers, agreed that the meat boycott did nothing to drive meat prices down—and if it had any effect, it was to drive them up.

"That boycott was self-defeating," said Ed Deeb, of Associated Food Dealers. "If anything, it drove prices higher."

Ranchers held their cattle off the market and drove prices even higher by limiting the supply, he said.

"The whole food industry got a black eye from that," he said, adding it really isn't the industry's fault that prices keep rising.

"Why didn't you hit the right people in the first place?" Deeb asked Mrs. Mendelson, suggesting a consumer protest in Washington would have been more effective.

He said he recently fought unsuccessfully against granting meat cutters a 12½ per cent wage increase instead of the recommended five per cent.

Richard Allen of Allen Supermarket in northwest Detroit reported sales were off about five per cent during the boycott but up 20 to 30 per cent the next week.

"Residents of the black community are going to eat regardless of prices because eating is one of their enjoyments," he added.

If the boycott did affect the average person's eating habits for two or three weeks, then they have already returned to normal eating habits, Allen said.

Mrs. Mendelson, a Farmington resident who is president of Families United Against Inflation, told the students that she could tell they weren't interested in the packers' or retailers' problems.

"You're simply reflecting your parents," she said. "Naturally, the only thing you're interested in is how much of your income will go for food."

Her talk was cut off by the end of the class period, but afterwards she complained that food costs have risen at a higher rate than salaries.

"I feel I'm being used," she said, adding that her husband's income only rose by five per cent while food prices soared higher.

Do You Remember?

A raincoat that needs some growing into. The lure of a mud puddle mixed with the fear of getting caught. These are some of the seemingly unimportant parts of being young that turn into warm and unforgettable memories.

They're some of the things that eventually form such qualities as sentiment and human feelings... qualities which people carry through life and which we try to reflect in every service we direct.

NEVER ARGUE

WITH

SUCCESS

There is a sound philosophy based on the premise: "Never argue with success." If you have the urge to invest in real estate, listen to what some of the most successful investors have said about it. Andrew Carnegie: "Ninety percent of all millionaires become so through owning real estate. More money has been made in real estate than in all industrial investments combined." The wise young man or wage earner invests his money in real estate. Marshall Field: "Buying real estate is not only the best way, the quickest way, and the safest way, but the only way to become wealthy." John Doe: "I could have bought this property for—", or "I knew him when he didn't have a dime" (so what?). If you have questions about marketing or buying real estate, call Westdale.

"Work With Nature -- Garden Expert Advises

Gardening expert Betty Frankel is our writer for this week's Focus: "Garden Talk".

Mrs. Frankel has written what she calls an "ecological approach" to landscaping — totally different from anything she has ever done for Focus readers.

She suggests that Observerland gardeners might want to turn their thoughts toward the natural surroundings of their homes. "If you analyze the soil and climatic conditions which make up your immediate environment and do some research, you can find out what goes along with your 'habitat.' Then you can work to enhance nature, rather than upsetting the natural balance.

"I started thinking about this when I found friends of mine who lived in low lying areas of Farmington were planting and replanting four or five times in the same spots over a period of several years. After studying their problem which was mostly connected with inadequate drainage, we were able to select plants, shrubs and trees which can do well under these conditions."

Now these same people have given up growing plants that they like, but which do not do well under chronically damp conditions. "They concentrate on what will grow."

Mrs. Frankel, whose Farmington home is "in the wood without a blade of grass," is content with her natural environs. "Now with the wild flowers starting to carpet the woods, I can't think of a nicer place to be," she said.

Has she utilized the skills on her own yard which will soon give her a master's degree in landscape architecture? "I've done a little work close to the house," she cautiously admits. "But I've tried to do it subtly and keep it as in tune with the natural as possible."

Landscaping Requires Three Ingredients

BY BETTY FRANKEL

Good landscaping is the result of good designing, good horticulture and good maintenance. All three are needed to produce beautiful home grounds.

A good plan is essential. It is the starting point. The plan must be organized so the spaces around your home are functional and convenient to use. A well-designed plan provides adequate parking for guests, a driveway that is easy to get in and out of, a direct and convenient walkway from the street or driveway to the front door and a convenient way to get from the front yard to the back yard.

A GOOD FUNCTIONAL PLAN provides a private area for outdoor dining and relaxation, and a play area for active games if there are children in the family.

The plan should also provide shade where it is needed, such as on a back patio. It can also be designed to provide other kinds of climate control, such as blocking late afternoon glare in a kitchen window, or shading a roof to keep the house cooler.

In addition to solving particular problems, the landscaping can be designed to provide more than one kind of outdoor space. Your yard can provide several kinds of areas. These areas can be used in various ways, and can provide the framework for a variety of outdoor experiences.

There can be broad open areas and small intimate spaces. There can be areas that are very architectural with lots of paving and geometric shapes and forms. Other areas can be soft and free and billowing with plants.

Your landscaping should also be

CACTUS-FLOWERED ZINNIA'S are just one example of the myriad of flowers you can grow under bright sunny skies and well-drained soil.

Lucky You! Your Locale Is Perfect For Gardening

If you have a bright sunny spot and the soil is moderately well-drained — not too wet; not too dry — with moderately good texture and fertility and neither acid nor alkaline, there are few limits to what you can grow. You have an immense number of plants from which to choose.

Shrubs to use include lilacs, deutzia, forsythia and spirea. In addition to these, many of the shrubs that will grow in specialized situations such as wet soils or dry soils are not readily particular and will also grow in ordinary soils. In this category are barberry, honeysuckles, viburnums and numerous others.

From a landscape point of view decide first on the size and form of plant that will create the effect you desire, then select the plant that fits your needs.

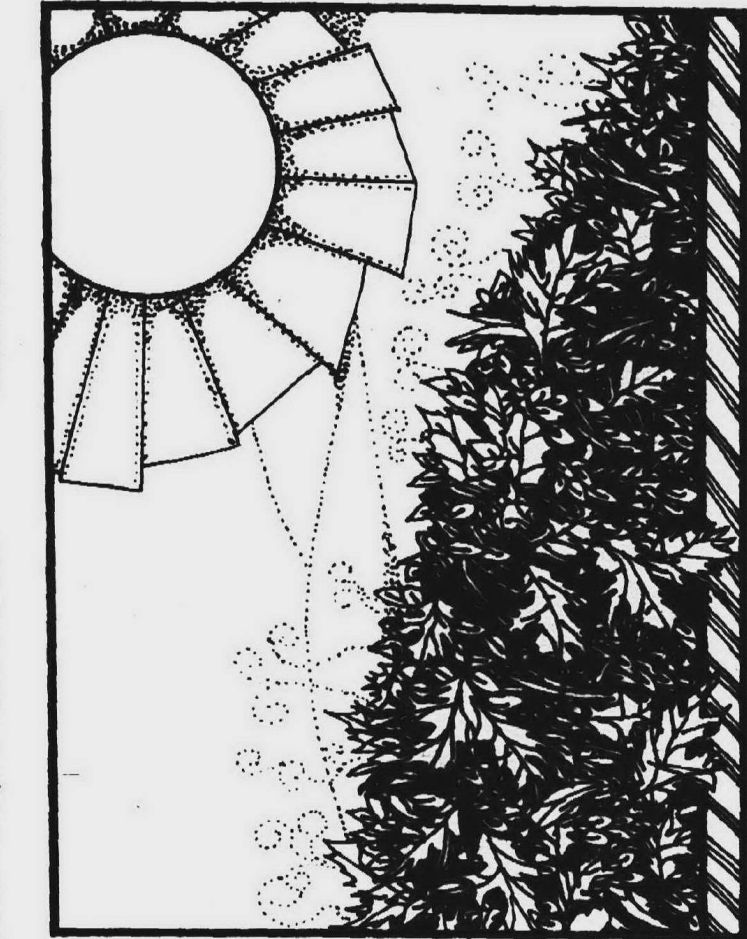

Large shade trees include maple, ash, oaks, linden, and many others. Smaller ornamental trees have decorative flowers or fruits. They provide considerable shade and in a small yard may be a better choice than a large tree. Flowering crabs, magnolias, mountain ash, hawthorns are among those that can bring beauty to the yard.

COMPOST -- Gardener's Best Friend

Compost is the gardener's best friend. It is an excellent source of organic material — and costs absolutely nothing.

Every gardener should have a compost pile. Locate it in a place that is convenient to get to, but not in plain view.

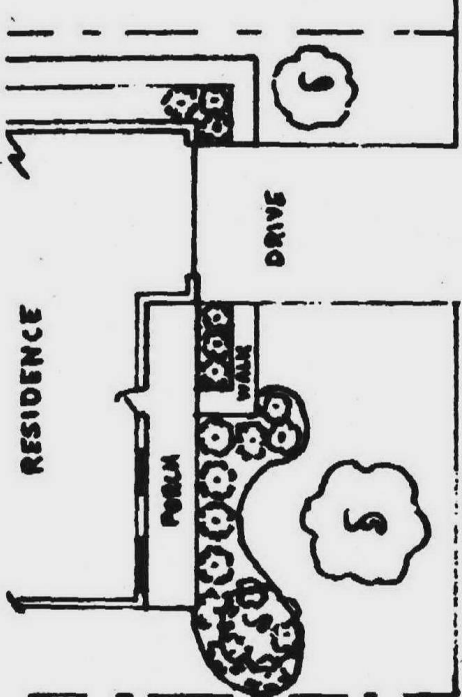

The compost pile is made by piling up layers of leaves, grass clippings, weeds and even vegetable peelings. Every eight to 12 inches spread a thin layer of garden soil or old compost. This provides the bacteria necessary to break down the green material into humus.

WAYNE JONES SAYS: Don't wait to do your landscaping because you don't know how! We will draw a plan for your home, and give you our expert advice on what to plant and how to plant it. We draw free plans to scale for our customers. Just bring in your house and lot dimensions and a picture, if possible. Your little survey usually has all this information on it. We can do the planning for you, for an additional labor charge.

PARTICLE SIZE DETERMINES SOIL CLASSIFICATIONS.

important component. They break down the organic material into simpler compounds that the plants can then reuse.

Soil is classified according to the size of the particles that compose it. If the particles are very tiny it is called clay. If the particles are large the soil is sandy, and if of intermediate size or a mixture it is known as loam. Loam, of course, is the ideal. Soils can further be known as sandy loam or clay loam.

Organic material is important in the soil not only for the nutrients it supplies but for the texture of the soil. A soil well supplied with organic material is light and porous and spongy. It is soft so roots can penetrate easily. There are lots of air spaces. It drains well, but it is spongy so enough water is held for the plants to use.

Light sandy soils are improved by adding peat moss, compost, manure, wood chips or other organic material. It makes them spongy. Heavy clay soils are equally improved by the addition of organic material. They become lighter and more porous and better drained. It is practically impossible to get too much organic material in the soil. The more the better.

Examine your soil.

Soil is more than the stuff that anchors plants in place. It is a considerable part of the actual environment of the plant.

The plant roots get oxygen from air that is between the soil particles, and moisture from the water coating the particles or trapped between particles. The nutrients that come from the soil are taken into the plant only if they are soluble and dissolved in the water taken in by the roots.

Soil is a complicated mixture. It is composed of little particles of rocks. This is the mineral part of the soil. It is inorganic. Soil also contains organic material --the remains of plants and animals. Living microscopic organisms are another nature the areas with certain typical conditions are known as "habitats." A marsh is one kind of natural habitat. A pine forest is another. Other natural habitats are dry meadows, stream-sides, beech-maple woods, and oak-hickory woods.

Because of the conditions of climate, soil, moisture, drainage, etc. each of these natural habitats has developed its own particular group of plants that are adapted to the conditions. They thrive under these conditions, and might not survive in the conditions of a different habitat.

Your yard consists of habitats, too. They are not natural habitats, since the process of clearing the land and building your house has altered the soil and drainage and perhaps other factors, too. However, certain types of soil prevail. You have land that is flat or sloping, well drained or poorly drained, rich and fertile or poor and infertile.

Some of the conditions around your yard can be altered. You can improve or replace poor soil. If your

Follow Nature's Lead In Wet Soil Areas

If you're doing your gardening in moist soil choose trees that in nature are found along the banks of streams or in the low flood-plain areas. They are adapted to wet soil conditions.

Red maple (Acer rubrum) is a fast growing maple. It is also known as swamp maple. In early spring it has tiny ruby-red flowers and red seed pods. Later green leaves with red stems cover the tree. In early fall they are the first to turn color, becoming a brilliant red. Silver maples are another maple that will grow in this situation.

Sweet gum (Liquidambar) is another handsome tree to grow in moist soil. It has leathery star-shaped leaves that turn red and orange in fall. The sour gum or tupelo is another for moist soil. It is also known as the pepperidge tree. Leaves, pointed at both ends, also turn color early -- blazing against the green of other trees.

The swamp white oak, becomes a handsome large tree with the sturdy branching characteristics of all oaks.

It has been said that there is a plant for every place.

Even in a difficult growing situation that has poor dry sandy soil there are plants that seem to thrive. In cities, the Tree of Heaven (Ailanthus) seems to sprout right out of the concrete. Once widely planted, it now sprouts up on its own and thrives in incredibly hostile situations.

Others that are almost as tough are box elder and Chinese (or Siberian) elm. No matter how poor the soil, they sprout and grow.

So if you have a dry gravelly bank or some other seemingly impossible dry area, give these "toughies" some consideration.

If conditions aren't quite that bad there are other trees that can be used. Any of the honey locusts (Gleditsia) are suitable, either the native kind which has both thorns and pods as well as attractive white flowers, or one of the improved hybrid forms that have no thorns or flowers.

The black locusts (Robinia) also grow in dry soil. These have similar fern-like leaves and clusters of sweet scented white flowers. Other related trees, the Japanese pagoda tree (Sophora japonica), and the Golden rain tree (Koelerutera paniculata) will also grow well in dry areas. The former has long clusters of white pea-like flowers and the latter has clusters of yellow blooms.

Osege orange, formerly used by farmers in the mid-west for hedges will grow into a thorny tree 60 feet high. The sexes are on separate trees and the interesting convoluted apple-like fruits are born only on the female trees.

Yet other trees to consider for a dry area are white poplar, chestnut oak, velvet ash, and the gray birch -- which is misnamed since it has white bark.

Jackpine, Pitchpine and Scrub pine are evergreen trees that can take dry sites.

Russian olive, Siberian pea (caragana), Chinese witch hazel and smoke bush are plants that can be considered either small trees or large shrubs. They can be grown with a single trunk or with many stems. Russian olive has silver leaves and is very popular because it is both attractive and easy to grow.

Among the shrubs to use is Japanese barberry. Either the red-leaved or the green-leaved types will do well, as will the erect and the dwarf forms.

Beauty bush would grace any garden. It grows to 10 feet tall and in June is completely covered with small pink flowers.

Many honeysuckles, especially the Morrow honeysuckle, will tolerate dry soil. Others to use for a shrub border in a dry area include ninebark, privet and flowering quince. The latter has bright spring flowers and glossy deep green leaves. Tamarix is another that will thrive. It is noted for its plumes of pink blooms.

Rosa rugosa, a handsome shrub rose, can also be used in a border planting. Other shrub roses, such as the Carolina rose, Virginia rose, prairie rose and Scotch rose will also take dry soil.

Some Plants Can Make It In Dryness Or In Sand...

For low shrubs to use as part of a foundation planting, or in front of taller shrubs, try dwarf gray willow, shrubby St. Johnswort or shrubby cinquefoil. The latter both have attractive yellow flowers in summer.

There are ground covers that you can use on dry sand banks. Bearberry, sedum, thyme, crown vetch and barren strawberry are some to consider.

Among the most attractive ground covers are the creeping junipers. Either the creeping juniper or the more upright ones actually prefer a sunny dry situation.

If you want to grow flowers in a dry area try California poppy, calliopsis, celosia, Four o'clocks, annual phlox, cornflower, ice plant, salvia, sunflowers and morning glories. These are all annuals that grow quickly from seed.

Perennials to use include butterfly weed, grass pinks, coreopsis, globe thistle, statice, Iceland poppy and yucca. The latter is a desert plant that can add drama to the garden with its tall stalks of creamy white bell-like flowers and its spiky evergreen leaves.

Sasali. Don't tell any body, but the weather's warming up and next week FOCUS: Suburbia will take you outdoors with some exciting out-door living ideas.

APRIL
Crocuses usher in the month, and daffodils and forsythia see it out.

It's a busy month. Begin by sowing seed indoors to get a head start with tender vegetables such as tomatoes and peppers and flowers such as petunias. Plant deciduous trees and shrubs, roses. Seed lawns. Sow seeds of hardy vegetables such as peas, radishes, beets, onions. Sow hardy annuals outdoors, including sweet alyssum, coreopsis, asters.

Garden Calendar

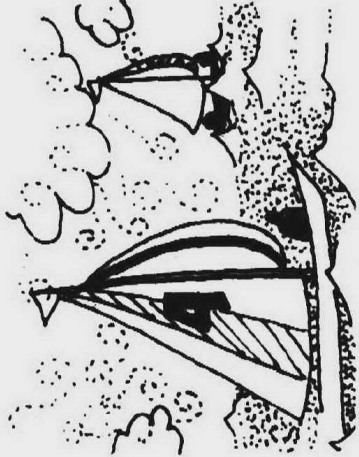

poppies, bachelor buttons, California poppies, etc.

MAY
Tulips and lilacs, dogwood and flowering crabs make May sheer delight.

Plant needle evergreens and broad leaf evergreens. Planting of trees, shrubs and roses can continue with "container grown" plants. Plant perennials. Frost is not likely after mid - May.

so it is safe then to plant seeds of tender vegetables such as beans, squash and corn and those of tender flowers such as petunias, marigolds and zinnias. By the end of the month it is safe to set out the tender little vegetables and annual plants.

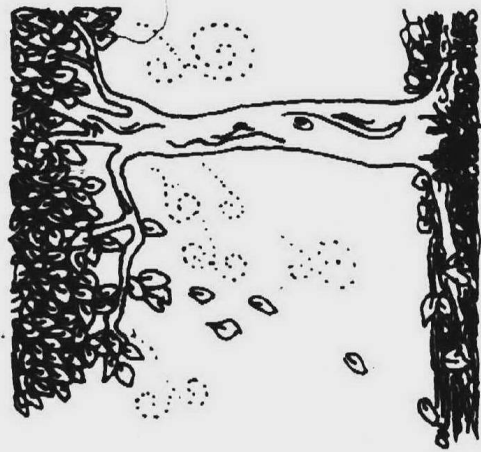

JUNE
This is the month of roses and also iris, delphinium, lilies and a bright array of other perennials.

Finish setting out bedding plants of geraniums, begonias and annuals. There is still time to sow seeds of fast growing annuals such as marigolds, phlox, sweet alyssum. In the vegetable garden replant rows when the early crops of lettuce, radishes and onions are harvested.

Plant tender summer flower bulbs including dahlias, glads, begonias. Keep grass mowed and put the clippings on a compost pile. Spray roses and feed them regularly. Move house plants to the patio or porch for a summer outing.

AUGUST
Keep cool.

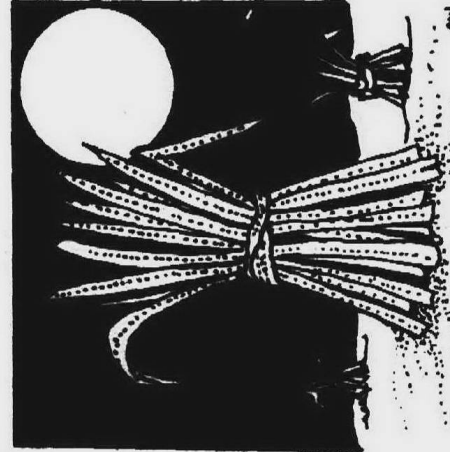

Do chores when beds are shaded. If perennials are lank and leggy cut them back and they will soon be bushy and full of blooms again. Grade and prepare ground for new lawns early in August and seed them after a few weeks settling time. Dry flowers for lasting winter bouquets.

SEPTEMBER
Summer ends with a final burst of glory from annuals.

It is planting time again for evergreens and perennials. Keep harvesting vegetables and fruits. Plant little bulbs for early Spring bloom.

Move or buy mums for a bright display. Bring house plants inside. Be prepared for frost by the end of the month.

OCTOBER
This is Nature's final fling with blazing foliage and bright mums.

It's clean - up month in yard and garden. Rake leaves and put them on the compost pile. Lift tender bulbs and tubers of glads, dahlias, etc. to store indoors. Pull spent plants from the garden and turn the soil in the vegetable garden and in empty flower beds.

Plant daffodils, tulips and lily bulbs. Plant trees and shrubs. "Hill" roses before the ground freezes. Finally, when all the other jobs are done, clean the tools and put them away along with patio furniture. Now is the time to check back, note your successes and failures and begin to make plans again for next year.
