> But the township might be able to do as well on its own, he theorized.

The police protection discussion was touched off by a vote of the people to aug- question from Trustee Robert Griffin.

> Griffin then went to ignite another discussion - this one about the possibility of a post office designation for Canton. A post office, he explained, would save the township a great deal of money in federal sharing funds that now are lost because some residents fail to note on income tax forms that they live in Canton. Instead, they mistakenly credit the community where the mail is processed.

> Dingeldey said he has made overtures to postal authorities in Wayne about 1^{1}_{2} months ago and expects an answer soon.

> Canton Township's Citizen Advisory Committee studying land use patterns has scheduled a second informational meeting for 7 p.m. Monday in Plymouth - Canton High School auditorium.

The panel discussion is open to the public and will focus on housing issues. Participating are:

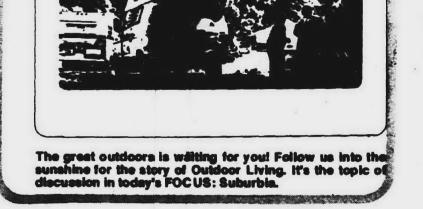

JOSEPH GUGGENHEIM, a member of the Michigan Commission on Law and Housing. His topic will be "Low Income Housing and the Role of the Suburban Community in Providing Such Housing.'

MICHAEL FEILER, a Detroit attorney who specializes in zoning cases. He will discuss recent decisions regarding mobile homes, apartments and preferential land uses and the current attitude of the courts regarding housing and housing types.

RICHARD LEWISTON, a developer with Crescendo Homes, Inc., who will discuss the housing market in Canton Township and the developers' reaction to the Planned Unit Development (PUD) concept and cluster zoning. Crescendo Homes has several large developments in Canton and was one of the first to make use of the PUD concept.

"Quite frankly," said Canton Planning Consultant Michael Manore, "we're hoping for a larger turnout of resi dents than we had last time." About 50 persons -- including half of the 25-member advisory committee showed up for the first session that dealt with land use patters in general terms. "This one should get down to the nitty-gritty by getting into the question of density, Manore added.

A 1972 graduate of the University of Michigan doctoral program, he has served many Detroit area churches as choral director, organist and pianist. He also has been assistant to the chaplain of Wayne County General Hospital for four summers.

As director of the Bentley concert choir and chairman of the school's music department, he has made the choral group one of the top ones in Michigan.

The group has won superior ratings in state competition each year and does a regular spring concert tour in various areas of the country.

The Bentley choir also has performed for Good Friday telecasts, state and national conferences and local civic and educational organizations.

Dr. Smith has been actively involved in the Michigan State Vocal Association.

He has served as state board member, chairman of various committees, and director of research activities. He has written articles for professional journals, lectured at conferences and clinics throughout Michigan and has been featured as clinician and guest conductor for school festivals, sacred concerts and music contests.

The show, "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About Growing Up, (But Were Afraid to Ask)," will be presented by the Suburban Chorale the first weekend in May.

It's rated G, of course.

The chorale, a woman's singing group sponsored by the Livonia Dept. of Parks and Recreation, will present its night of family entertainment at 8 p.m. May 4 and 5, in the auditorium of Plymouth High School, Joy and Canton Center Roads.

Tickets may be purchased from members of the chorale or at the door for $2. There are special low rates for groups, students and senior citizens. For these, call Mrs. Edward Robertson, 14200 Hillcrest, Livonia.

The show will begin with a formal concert, directed by Bruce Graden, and then will move tunefully from childhood, through the teenage years, marriage and growing old gracefully.

- THE POSEIDON ADVENTURE Roddy McDowall and Shelley Winters help make up the passenger list on an ocean liner, which goes down in a tidal wave in the midst of New Year's Eve celebration. (PG, A-3)
- THE NELSON AFFAIR -- Peter Finch and Glenda Jackson play Nelson and his mistress Lady Emma Hamilton. Great for history buffs and those interested in domestic "difficulties." (PG, 1-3)
- CLASS OF '44 A sequel to "Summer of '42," this is not much more than a nostalgia trip with the same cast. Young Hermie (Gary Grimes) sets off for college and wonders if he should have enlisted instead. (PG, none)
- SCORPIO -- Burt Lancaster plays a CIA agent, who decides to get out of the business. But complications abound, and things wind up in a deadly race through Vienna. (PG, A-3)
- CHARLOTTE'S WEB -- Those with school children will be familiar with this story. It's charmingly done, via animation, with Debbie Reynolds as Charlotte's voice and Paul Lynde dubbing for the rascally rat. (PG, A-1)
- WALKING TALL Joe Don Baker portrays a wrestler who returns to his Tennessee home town to find it in the grip of all sorts of sin. As sheriff, he sets out to set things right, leaving behind a trail of corpses. (R, C)
- SOYLENT GREEN This is a thriller set in the year 2022, with the world rapidly approaching a totally poisonous atmosphere. Charlton Heston, Chuck Connors, Joseph Cotton star. (PG, none)
- LOST HORIZON This is a lavish remake, with music, of the 1937 film, based on the James Hilton novel. Stars Peter Finch, Sally Kellerman, John Gielgud, etc. (PG, A-1)
- SLITHER -- James Caan, Peter Boyle, Sally Kellerman and Louise Lasser set out to find some cached cash in rural California. This one is played for laughs and succeeds. (PG, A-3)
- BROTHER SUN, SISTER MOON -- St. Francis of Assissi is brought up to date (social rebellion of young people) in this Franco Zeffrelli film. Singing and photography dominate the acting by Graham

To Make Outdoor Cooking So Easy Varied Assortment Of Patio Grills

By CAROL KATZ

It's entirely possible to enjoy your outdoor living without ever once having to resort to the use of your trusty old kitchen stove. Consider the following outdoor cooking appliances for a season of delicious eating and a minimum of clean-up and fuss.

Many electric grills come in table sized models and can be moved into the basement, garage or even car-ried to a cottage site. Full-sized models are large ELECTRIC GRILLS will plug into any standard outlet and contain bri-quets that last for years. They re-quire no starting fluids and only a very short waiting period. Many models are self-cleaning. And be-cause charcoal is not used, the problem of cleaning up ashes is completely eliminated.

enough for the preparation of com-plete meals, from vegetables right through the main course. Many of them have temperature adjustments that can be operated like a standard oven.

GAS GRILLS must be specially installed, a procedure that will cost about $35. Many people, however, feel that gas is cheaper in the long run than electricity.

Bottled gas can also be attached to these models, eliminating the installation fee and allowing them to be easily moved.

Gas grills, like their electric counterparts, come with long last-ing coals and can be used for both broiling and roasting.

One double gas grill model con-sists of two units joined together by a cross-bar, containing enough room to cook for a large family reunion or a class picnic.

The delicious taste of barbe-cued foods, once reserved only for the warm weather, is now possible throughout the year. Because there is little waiting for both gas and electric grills to heat to the proper temperature, many people are enjoying barbecued steaks, hamburgers and hot dogs in the midst of January blizzards.

CHARCOAL GRILLS, in spite of competition from those new fangled gas and electric upstarts, are still going strong.

The simple, uncovered models, while increasingly hard to find, are still available and recommended mostly for portable purposes. Some models come with an adjustable snap on hood with spit and tines for rotisserie cooking. Kettle grills, many of which come in different colors of porcelain to complement patio decor, eliminate the need for rotisseries because of the fact that a closed hood evenly reflects the heat all around.

Wagon models which resemble sturdy outdoor tea carts are set up with shelves and pull out trays on which to rest food or utensils. With wheeled bottoms for portable use, many wagons are of an extra large capacity, well able to accommodate a hungry pack of boy scouts or a Little League baseball team.

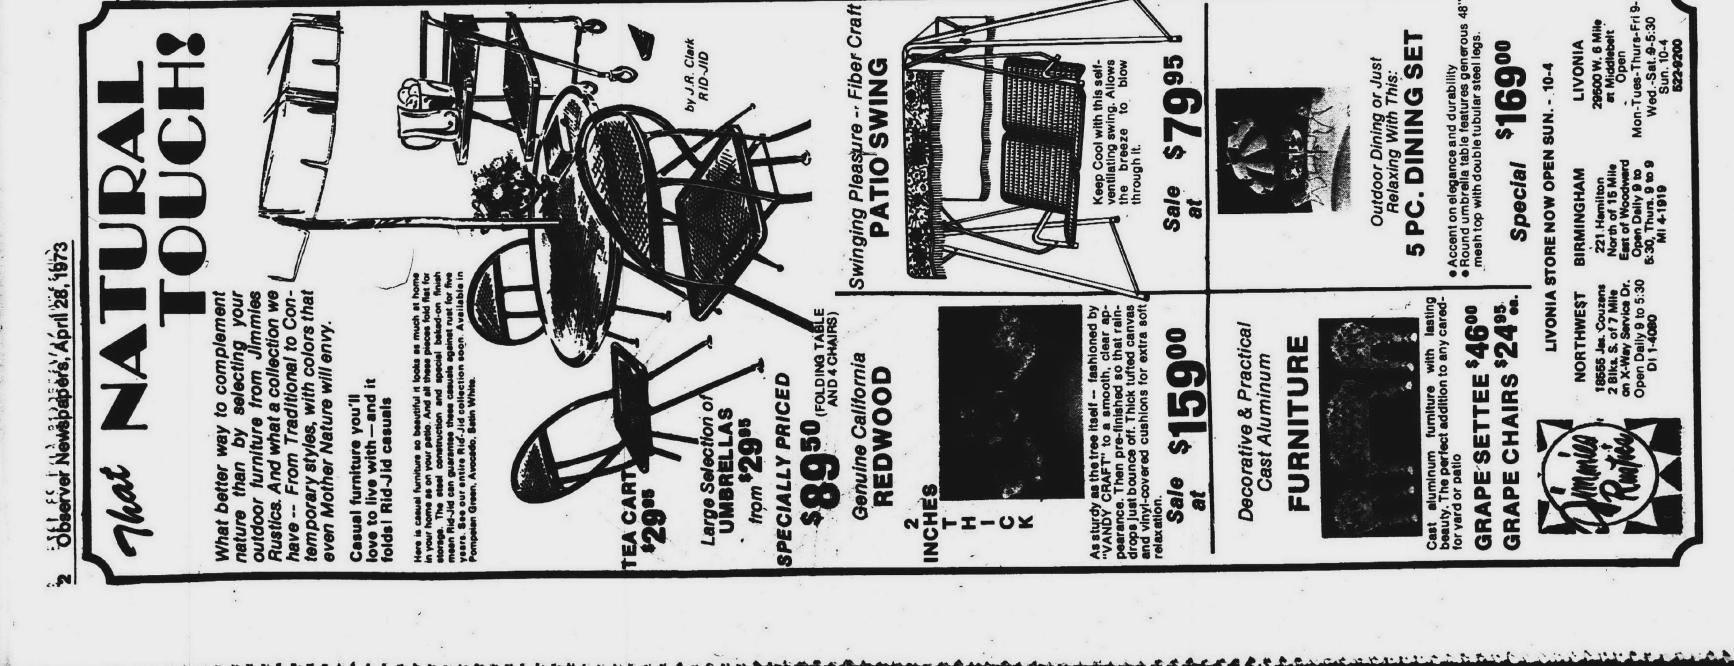

HIBACHIS, like many other Japanese innovations, are notable for their compactness, and are still the smallest, most easily portable grill on the market today. They are also the least expensive.

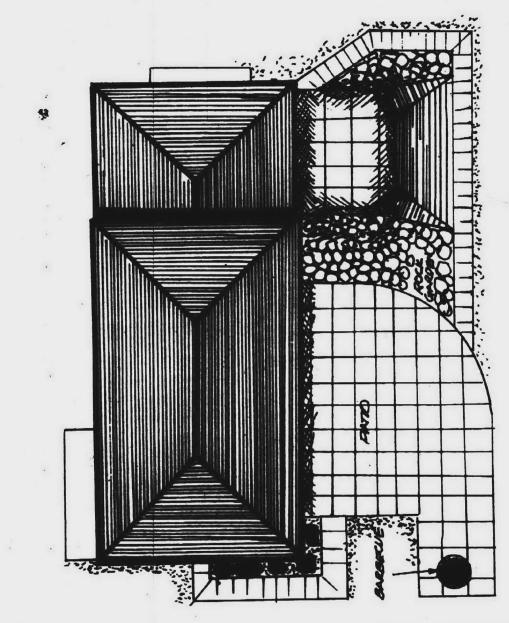

Many people place their hibachis right on their picnic tables; apart-ment dwellers who are cramped for space find that the hibachi can pro-vide them with barbecue treats on tiny balconies or terraces.

TO PLAN A PATIO allow an area for your barbecue, remember electrical outlets, take advantage of the beauty of existing trees and the natural terrain of your property.

PLANNING YOUR PATIO CAN BE PLEASURABLE

It used to be called a patio. These days, when more and more of the family activity and entertainment takes place there, it has become an extension of the home itself, and is the "party place." According to the American Asso-ciation of Nurserymen, the planning of an outdoor living area can be every bit as much fun as enjoying it later on. With outdoor living gaining prominent stature over recent years, the right kind of advance planning and preparation can be very worth-decorative planning usually begins." He's Robert Siebenthaler, an Ohio landscape expert who has had much experience in planning and installing outdoor living areas. "The fact is," Siebenthaler says, "the same people who are very good at decorating the interior of their homes seem to doubt their As one nursery industry leader uts it, "So many homes now-a-lays are built wth a bare slab which erves as a patio. You can grill on it, ou can sit on it, but it doesn't create ny atmosphere which tends to ex-and the home. And that's where S NO Bud As puts

"Even people who like big open "Even people who like big open spaces around their home seem to require a bit of privacy when it comes to decorating their patios or terraces," he says. "The way this is achieved depends on the setting. If you're sitting next to a two-story house that's looking right down on your outside party room, perhaps a shade tree is the best idea for the basic plan. In another case a hedge or shrub planting would provide the screening you need."

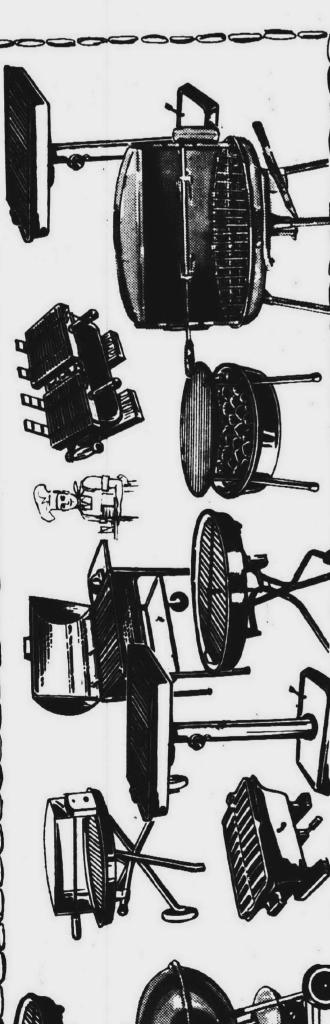

then shade is much more important than if the area is situated where the sun is not a factor. These are the things the amateur decorator can handle," he says. "The need for par-ticular kinds of privacy, shade, view --all are accomplished by planting the right materials in the right places. And it doesn't have to be difficult or expensive." Along with the privacy, most people appreciate an open vista permitting a view of the more attrac-tive areas of the yard or neighbor-hood surroundings, and this should be a part of the plan must account or the location of the patio or ter-race party place," the AAN spokes-man points out. "If the space is on the west side or exposed to the sun-drenched to make a little oven there,

COLOR SPOTS are a major consideration in decorating the outdoor party place. Potted plants or flower poxées of annuals or perennials often fill this need. Some may prefer the planting of flowering trees or bushes. "Maintenance should be considered in this connection," the Ohio landscape planner and installer says. "Frankly, if a homeowner's design is within his ability to maintain easily it's going to be better, in the long run, than a more elaborate design which may eventually look unkempt." The

The members of the American Association of Nurserymen are talk-ing a great deal, these days, about the effect of plantings on the health of our environment, and this is a major point in the decorating of the outdoor party place. "Trees and bushes and plants are hature's gifts to improve the part of the world in which each of us lives," they say. "Plant parts act to capture the impurities in the air, contributing to a breathable, livable atmosphere. They screen out noise pollution They feed the earth."

Livonia Family Enjoys Nightly Bicycle Rides

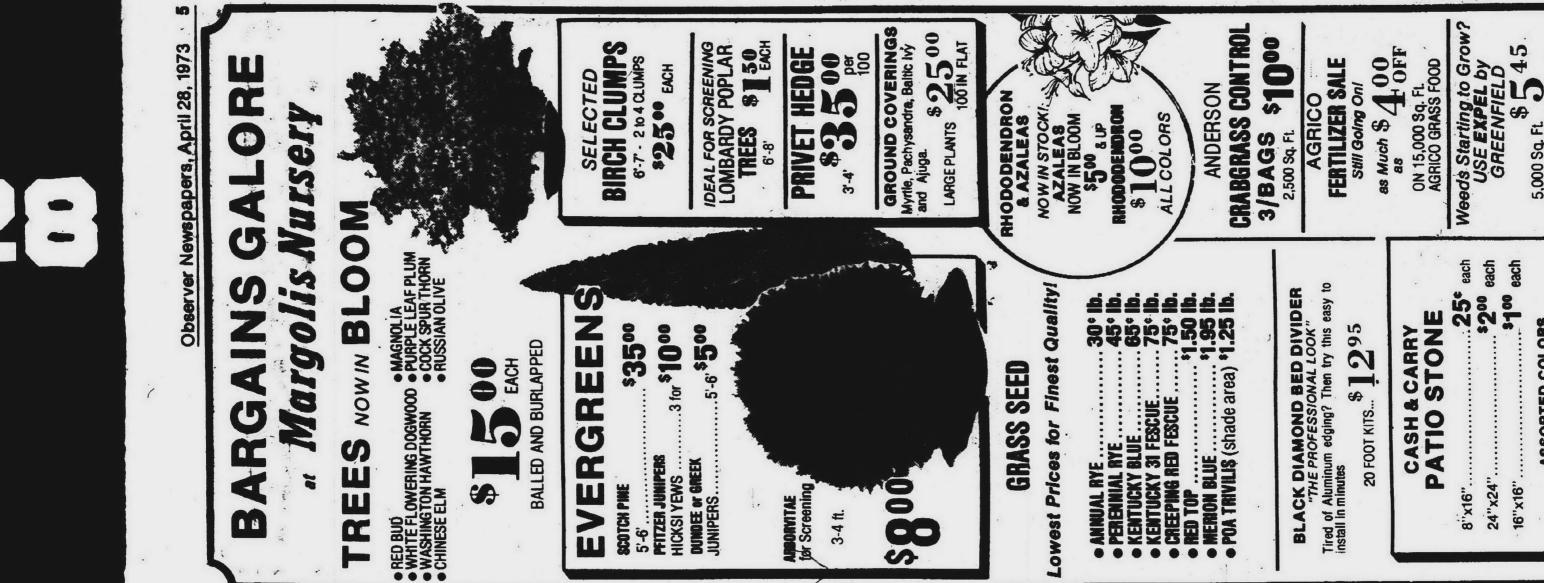

A ROW OF REAMS on bicycles is a common sight in their Livonia neighborhood. Lowell Reams is threatening to replace his three-speed model with a 10-speed when the family moves to Plymouth. "You need extra speeds for that country living." (Evert photo)

new assignment as resident engi-neer for the Ford plant in Toledo...a long commute. "With gas prices go-ing up, he was thinking he might be better off riding his bike..or at least his motorcycle," Mrs. Reams smiled and said

Daughters Lori and Leann are en-thusiastic about their family rides. "I like to ride with my family. We go farther places," according to Lori. She is restricted to riding around the block when she is not accom-panied by her parents. "My dad is the leader, usually," Leann added. "Sometimes I am the leader if I specially ask."

WHEN WE FIRST GOT our bikes

we were thought of as a weird thing." Mrs. Reams recalled. "Now, I must say that quite a number of our neighbors have gotten bikes, espe-cially the ladies." On one of their nightly outings, the Reams found their dog Jingles. A neighbor called out, "Do you want a free dog?" as they rode past. The kids nagged us all the way home, so we finally went back and got him. It is not an unusual sight to see Jingles riding in one of his young mis-tresses' bicycle baskets. You might hear him even if you don't see him, Lori noted. He yelps a lot ... I guess he really doesn't like bicycle riding.

"When my mother comes to visit and counts the number of wheels which inhabit our garage, she can not believe it," Mrs. Reams said.

Mrs. Reams will often ride to a friend's house for a visit or up to a local market for a quart of milk or loaf of bread "just for the exercise and the fun of it." As for her hus-band, "It really helps him to unwind at the end of a working day. It is a WHERE DO THE REAMS RIDE? We try to go to a different subdivi-sion each evening, Mrs. Reams said. The company is directed by George Zoritch, inter-nationally known ballet danc-er and choreographer, and Judy Lee Wiser, the director. Featured on the program will be "Ocho Miniaturas" (Eight Miniatures) by the South American Composer Roque Cordero. This work, choreographed by Miss Lee, was specially commissioned for this performance. It is a contemporary ballet, based on the story of two lovers who are separated by a Mardi gras carnival. Zoritch has choreographed the opening number, "Celes-tial Waltz." Based on the music 'Music of the Spheres" by Josef Strauss, this is a classical ballet.

This will be followed by a modern ballet depicting the birth and development of the state of Israel. This is called "The Awakening" and is set to "Aubade" by Pou-lenc. This choreography is by Zoritch and Miss Lee. It will be video-taped for a program being produced by the Jew-ish Community Council of Metropolitan Detroit.

The program will close with "Sultan's Delight," set to contemporary pieces blended on tape.

Tickets are available at all OCC campuses, the South-field department of parks and recreation, the Southfield Ballet Company office, 16990 W. 12 Mile, and West Bloomfield High School.

There will be a benefit per-formance at 1:30 p.m. Satur-day, May 5, for dis-advantaged children. This is made possible through con-tributions of local businesses, organizations and founda-tions. Free round-trip trans-portation is available for any Oakland County group of dis-advantaged children. Inter-ested persons should call the ballet company.

The company is not affil-iated with any one balict school and has dancers from many parts of Observerland. Dancers wishing to join it may call the company at any time for an audition.

The Farmington Community Arts Council will meet at 8 p.m., Tuesday, May 15, in the Alexander Hamilton Insurance Co. conference room, 12 Mile and Farmington Roads. The meeting will be open to all interested in pro-moting the arts. The program will include election of officers from the newly-nominated board of direc-tors and committee appointments. Mrs. Roger Bela-nger is the present president. Proposed projects for the council will be outlined. Refreshments will be served.

DETROIT A performance by an Is-rael actor-singer, films and an art exhibit are among the cultural activities being planned by the Jewish Com-munity Center, 18100 Meyers, between May 5 and 13, dur-ing its trade fair. Gadi Elon, who was born in Haifa, will be featured in the Aaron DeRoy Theater at 8:30 p.m., Saturday, May 5. He specializes in Israeli songs, and draws much of his repertoire from the tradi-tion of the Hasidim. A lead-ing member of the Haifa Theater, he has also starred in a wide variety of produc-tions ranging from Shakes-peare's "Richard the Third" to "Cactus Flower." The film "Ervinka" will be shown May 6, at 8 p.m., and May 13, at 7 p.m. The story revolves around Ervinka. Who wastes all his time on his girl friends and all his money on lottery tickets. May 7 will be double fea-ture night with "Panorama: Golda Meir" being shown at 7, and "A Wall in Jerusa-lem," at 8. The Golda Meir film will be shown again May 10, at 1 p.m. "A Wall in Jerusalem" is a documentary film depicting the history of Israel in the last 70 years.

p.m., May 8, and 7 p.m., May 13.

Tickets for all these are on sale at the center. An all-Israeli art exhibit and sale will be open throughout the celebration and trade fair. The works will be brought in by the Pucker/Safrai Galleries of Israel and Boston.

to furnish a room without

You may find yourself doing it this summer, for everywhere the new life style is to live outdoors as much as possible--beside the pool, on sun-deck or patio. Wherever you plan your summer recreation spot, think of it as an all-purpose room open to sky and to the great outdoors. Ever try to any walls?

Then think of it the way you would any living area, choosing furnish-ings according to the activities. Will they mainly center around a pool, with fun and games for everybody in the family from the school crowd on up? Or do you visualize a spot for fishing quietly, serving social snacks and long tall drinks, or watching the sun sink over the horizon...?

"furnish" your vacation outdoor liv-ing area, it is a good thing to get with it on what you really want. Read a few magazines for ideas and sug-gestions, and take a little time to shop around the home furnishings stores before you make up your 2 BEFORE YOU RUSH OUT

There are so many kinds of out-door furniture to choose from, it is easy to get bogged down between the rugged massiveness of redwood and the traditional scrolls of wrought iron or aluminum. But, whatever you do don't end up buy-ing cheap, light make-do pieces be-cause you see them at the roadside stand and you're pretty desperate by then with all that gang coming over next weekend.

There's really no need to get trapped like that when manufacturers have developed affordable turniture especially for the many faces of today's outdoor living. Molded from sturdy plastic, this new casual furniture has real durability and all the permanence one could want. What's more it has the kind of modern good looks that will send your friends into gales of admiration before they even find out how compour friends into gales of admiration to the furniture really is, but you'll find it hard not to brag about how carefuse to fade.
