How We've Grown

Officially, this is the 50th anniversary year for Plymouth's public library, but as Martha Mahan found out when she set out to do the story there was library interest here much earlier. And the first "librarian" recalls that her salary was $2.50 per month.

Variety Keynotes State Salute

The many facets of the Plymouth community's cultural resources will be strongly emphasized during the 20th annual observance of Michigan Week which opens this weekend.

General Chairman Peter Schweitzer and the sub-chairmen who have had charge of the day-to-day activity schedule have drawn freely upon the deep wells of local creativity for what is probably the most varied Michigan Week program ever developed here.

The kickoff comes this afternoon (Saturday) in Kellogg Park, with heavy emphasis upon musical groups from the schools. Sunday the highlight will be the 3:30 p.m. dedication of the new Dunning Memorial Building as a historical museum.

Government Day (Monday) will bring an exchange of mayors between Adrian and Plymouth, and in the group coming here with Adrian Mayor John E. Giles will be one of the most unusual municipal officials in the nation.

This is Sister Ann Joachim, who at 71 is a member of the Adrian city commission. She is an attorney, lecturer and professor at Siena Heights College.

A high school drop-out at 16, she became an attorney at 21 and has since earned six college degrees, including a doctorate in philosophy from the International Catholic University in Switzerland. She was the first nun in habit to tour Russia after the 1917 revolution.

Tuesday is Heritage Day on the Michigan Week calendar and will be highlighted by recognition of Plymouth's historic landmarks by the American Association of University Women.

In a special ceremony, plaques will be presented for historic designation of two community homes, that of Harold Guenther at Holbrook and Wilcox and the so-called old Birch House which was saved from destruction by Marion Sober, moved to 48760 N. Territorial and restored.

Wednesday's Livelihood

Day emphasis will include a Chamber of Commerce luncheon to honor the community's businessman and industrialist of the year. Those salutes will be to industrialist Frank Henderson and Atty. John Thomas, each of whom will be presented a scroll of appreciation.

The luncheon is open to all and will be held in the Mayflower Meeting House. Guest speaker will be Jim Forney, WWJ-TV sportscaster. Reservations may be made through the Chamber office in the Mayflower Hotel.

Wednesday evening, starting at 8, there will be a program in Dunning-Hough Library that will include films and stories of Plymouth's past. Participating will be Mildred Burr, Herald Hamill, Harold Jolliffe, Henderson and others.

An open invitation to residents to visit schools has been extended for Thursday (Education Day) by Supt. John M. Hoben and principals of the individual schools. Exhibits of Michigan products and Michigan historic lore will be on display.

Friday's Hospitality Day program will feature a lecture at 1:30 p.m. in the Dunning-Hough Library by Marion Sober, her topic being

"What Ever Became of the Birch House?"

Youth Day (Saturday) will include a softball game at Central School between the police and firemen and a recreation team.

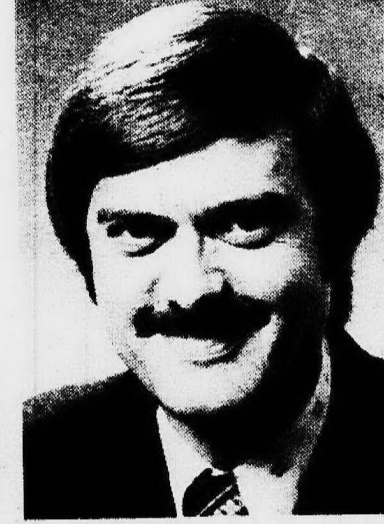

Throughout the week there will be an "Architecture in Michigan" exhibit in the library, a display of the Isbister Memorial Art Collection at Tonquish Creek Manor, and art exhibit in the Masonic Temple, and displays of arts and crafts in many store windows.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council has worked closely with the Michigan Week committee on many of these phases.

Serving with Schweitzer in setting up the observance have been Mrs. Julie Thoman, Capt. Warren Yoder, George Schoenneman, Mrs. Jo Hulce, Bill Graham, Beverly Marshall, Dr. Dale Kitchen and John Stout.

Appeal In Finlan Shooting Balked

By MAURIE WALKER

Donald Alan Crenshaw, now in Jackson Prison for the shooting last May 31 of Charles P. Finlan, has been denied a petition for a court-appointed attorney and furnishing of the trial transcript at public expense for an appeal of his sentence.

He was convicted last September by a Wayne County Circuit Court jury of "assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder." He had been tried on a charge of "assault with intent to commit murder."

On Nov. 8, Circuit Judge Thomas J. Foley sentenced Crenshaw to serve from six years and eight months to 10 years. It was the maximum permissible under the verdict.

Finlan, who then lived at 12600 Beacon Hill Dr., Plymouth Township, was gunned down in a parking lot next to his insurance office at 500 S. Main as he was getting into his car at 6 p.m. He remains paralyzed from the waist down as the result of the attack.

Crenshaw, 30, of Bloomfield Township, was captured within 10 minutes of the shooting when he ran into a roadblock set up by Michigan State Police on Territorial Rd. He was represented in his trial by Atty. William Vander Kloot of Birmingham.

The petition by Crenshaw was heard before Judge Foley in the City-County Building last week.

Foley said Crenshaw was brought in from Jackson Prison by writ of habeas corpus for the purpose of presenting any matters he wished the court to consider.

"This matter was presented to the court by direction of the Michigan Court of Appeals for the purpose of an evidentiary hearing on the question of whether Donald Alan Crenshaw is an indigent and therefore entitled to appointed counsel and transcript of all records at public expense," the judge said.

In his two-page opinion, Foley said:

"The facts produced at the hearing appear as follows: 'Mr. Crenshaw, defendant, has on deposit to his account at the State Prison $26.49; after his arrest the defendant posted a $35,000 cash bond; after sentence the bond was returned to the defendant through his attorney.

"The defendant alleges further that he paid $25,000 in attorney fees; that $10,000 of the returned bond was returned to his wife as part of her inheritance; that $15,000 was returned to his mother who furnished that sum.

"Originally the $25,000 attorney fee was paid by his mother with the exception of $1,000 coming from a joint account of him and his wife; that Mrs. Crenshaw, his wife, is working and has an income of $385 per month; that she purchased a home along with her mother in March 1973; that the home is valued at $34,000 subject to a mortgage of $25,000.

"That her payments are $242 per month including taxes; that the defendant has a Dodge automobile subject to a mortgage of $850; that the defendant at the time of his dismissal as an engineer for Rockwell Standard Co. was earning approximately $16,000 per year.

"That he sold his gun collection for $1,000 while he was out on bond.

"That the Michigan State Police holds the sum of $3,000 belonging to the defendant; that the sum is being held because the defendant has directed said sum be turned over to different parties at different times and thus the police seek direction of the court; that defendant's wife's inheritance was about $15,000 of which a balance of approximately $4,000 remains on deposit.

"That the defendant feels the $3,000 should go to his wife and not be used for appeal costs; that the $3,000 has always been available to the defendant.

"The court, in response to a request from the Michigan State Police for direction of the return of $3,000 obtained from a safety deposit box of defendant Crenshaw, directs the return of that sum directly to the defendant Donald Alan Crenshaw.

"Further the court finds that Donald Alan Crenshaw is not an indigent person qualifying for the appointment of counsel and furnishing of trial transcript at public expense.

"The petition of Donald Alan Crenshaw for appointment of an attorney and the furnishing of trial transcript at public expense for the purpose of effectuating an appeal is hereby denied."

Young Authors Gather And Compare Writings

"The Day I Turned Into a Peanut," "Sidney the Sardine," "The Mystery of the Million-Dollar Baseball" and "The Pink Dog Who Wouldn't Bark" were among the literary works submitted by aspiring writers of Plymouth's elementary schools in the second annual young author's conference held recently at Miller School.

Nearly 150 youthful poets and novelists from 10 schools represented their classmates at the conference. Each student in the district produced his own book, and those who attended the conference were picked by their fellow students as representing the best efforts of each class.

Each student book is entirely original, illustrated (usually by the author, although collaboration was allowed), and bound. The subject matter covers the field from humor and mysteries to poetry, according to Miller Principal Mrs. Shirley Spaniel.

Conference participants attended two sessions of their choice from several activity programs during the morning ranging from newspaper production to cooking and creative dramatics. The afternoon was taken up with sharing each other's literary efforts.

Each participant received an award for his work, and the books become part of the school library collection.

Student participants included: from Tanger elementary: first graders Chris Desautel and Margery Chen, second graders Chris Flavin and Sarah Watts, fourth graders Eric Flavin and Jeanne Denomme, and fifth graders Sandra Gillon and Danny Rivard.

From Gallimore: Sheila Vacher, Mark Bennett and Al Ealovega from the first grade class; Scott Storbeck, Mary Matern and Maria Zagorski from the second grade; Terry Harder, Janette Devenny, Dennis McEvoy and Rod Emery from the third grade; Mary Beth Van Dusen, Lynda Casler and Janet Glass from the

Sheridan Wins Kansas Award

PLYMOUTH Michael H. Sheridan, of 42240 Chatterton Ct., was one of 34 high school seniors from across the country to win a James Davis Jr. merit scholarship from the University of Kansas. These awards are among the highest academic honors given by the university.

Sheridan is a student at Catholic Central High School.

Problems Fail To Stop Little League Openers

PLYMOUTH The more than 900 youngsters involved in Plymouth's junior baseball program -- all of them boys -- got their 1973 season under way Saturday despite bad weather and playing site problems.

Fifteen games were played at Centennial Park, but several others had to be postponed because of rain. Supposedly, all of the association's games this year were to be played on new diamonds in Plymouth Township's Recreational Park, but they are not yet ready and playfields at the high school complex had to be pressed into service.

More than 200 volunteer adults and teenagers worked during the week to provide these temporary facilities, bringing from Association President George Hunter the comment:

"On behalf of myself and directors of the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League, we wish to thank all the volunteers in getting our ball fields ready at Centennial Park and opening day of the Little League season."

"Without the support of the players, managers, coaches and parents, our program would not be the success it has been in the past and hopefully the future."

Until this year the association played all its games on diamonds east of the city next to Riverside Cemetery.

However, that land has been taken over for cemetery expansion, forcing the move to the township park on Ann Arbor Trail.

These were opening day results:

National League "A": Braves 4, Mets 2; Astros 9, Dodgers 6; Cubs 4, Pirates 3; Red Legs 10, Cardinals 2; Giants 14, Expos 0.

American League "A": Yankees 12, Brewers 6; Tigers 24, Orioles 4; White Sox 13, Red Sox 4; Twins 1, Royals 1; Indians 13, Angels 7.

American League "B": Tigers 25, Royals 1; Indians 14, Brewers 6; Angels 10, Athletics 10; Twins 6, Yankees 5; Rangers 7, White Sox 6.

THE PASTE POT was a simultaneous target of attention for these two students at the young authors conference. They are Elizabeth Vaughn (left) and Andrea Wakeman.

BARGAIN TIME is about to end at city hall for installation of those outdoor water meter reading devices which have been available for $15 since April.

It has been decreed that the price will go back to the original $25 on June 1. So far, with only a few days to go to take advantage of the cut-rate price, more than 1,400 city residents have placed orders for the outside connection.

HONORS CONVOCATION ceremonies Wednesday evening in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School will be open to the general public, contrary to an earlier announcement which specified only students and their parents.

The program will open at 7:30 and every senior who has won any kind of a scholarship or comparable award will be introduced individually. In an academic sense, it will be one of the year's highlights.

A "MAY FESTIVAL" of vocal music will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Plymouth Salem High School auditorium under the direction of Betty Weideman and Fred Nelson. Admission is free.

All the vocal ensembles--choruses, glee clubs and choirs--will join in singing "From Sea to Shining Sea" as a thrilling patriotic finale after a variety of earlier numbers from some of the most talented musical youth of Observerland.

THROUGH BIFOCALS
By FRED DeLANO

SCATTERGOOD BAINES, who is known to Credit Union depositors as George Lawton, put his moccasined feet up on an office desk while we were talking super school board secrets, and therein was born an idea.

For all the knowledge of civics and governmental theory that our upcoming Plymouth High School graduates may have absorbed in the classroom, it strikes me that a crash course in the wiles of local government should be available to these neophytes.

Righteously, then, we must make a random selection of Our Leaders to see in what way they might qualify as a faculty for the eager, but uninitiated flock so ready to map a new world.

As self-appointed personnel chairman, I submit the following names to the populace as nominees to what must obviously be a nonsectarian, nonpartisan, yet typically Plymouth faculty and Board of Regents. These are the nominees:

MONEY BEING the root of all politics, we suggest that Jim Jabara be our Professor of Political Finance. Serving with him on the executive committee as experts of protocol and parliamentary procedure to back out of trouble, would be two of Plymouth's best political professionals, Bob Dwyer and Tony Licata.

Earlier I mentioned Lawton. Lest George feel overlooked, I suggest he be Keeper of the Twine. In other words, you need someone to pull strings and who better than a man who has served on the city commission, Canton planning commission and district school board, and who knows just how much tin you and I have buried in the back yard?

The Chair of Philanthropy at this instant-college would be occupied by Margaret Dunning, and this, children, is something to mark these well. The Science of Philanthropics is a field worth studying if for only one reason: Every philanthropist I've ever heard of has money.

Adding another genteel touch to our faculty, let us give Esther Hulsing the title of Professor of Poise and Grace. Others of our elected community could learn much from this lady on how to run public meetings, rough when she had to be, yet totally void of snobbishness. She has only one rival:

Mary Childs. Now here, voters, as your chairman of the city planning commission, is a real doer. Gusto and brains, this charming matron has City Hall potential that hasn't even been tapped. She is our Doctor of Tell It As It Is.

DOCTOR OF CHARTER DEFIANCE is a chair which must be assigned to Jim McKeon, and we would ask only that he share his classroom with our Professor of Clout, Elizabeth Holmes.

Known to the flirts as "Pinky," this veteran of 20 years as Plymouth treasurer is probably the only person in local government who could have served the following edict upon her colleagues this year and made it stick: Namely that no department head would be given a higher salary in the budget than her own. And they weren't!

Naturally, the kids in this crash course would have to learn something about the political punch of women's clubs and garden clubs, and who would be a more handsome and erudite faculty candidate than Myrilla Schrader, she of the mailed fist and gorgeous tan.

RALPH LORENZ, rather than being remembered as a statue in the park, would serve well as Director of Dormitories and as a guest lecturer on the general subject of taxes. He would provide his own taxation subheads according to the order in which we wept, sobbed, cried or shed tears.

Then would come our Board of Regents, our elders, so to speak. These would be men qualified to speak of old age retirement, reminiscence of the days when Plymouth was a village, and tell of the glories of Hooverism.

Automatically qualified would be living ex-mayors of the city and township supervisors: Jim Jabara, Jim Houk, Bill Hartmann, Harold Guenther, Bob Sincovec, Perry Richwine, Dick Wernette, Maurice Breen and Jack McEwen, whom we miss greatly -- believe me.

Put all those wonderful people in one room, for one day, with a goal of giving a single set of students some practical knowledge of local politics, and they'll consider nothing impossible.

YMCA Offers Youth Camp

PLYMOUTH The Canton Recreation Dept. and Plymouth Community YMCA will sponsor a day camp program this summer for youngsters seven to 12 years of age at two Plymouth elementary schools.

Junior high age young people are also invited to participate as junior counselors. Four sessions of two weeks each will be offered from June 25 through Aug. 17, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily. Camp sites are Gallimore elementary, 8375 Sheldon Rd., and Walker elementary, 39932 Michigan.

Cost of each two-week session is $5 per family.

Outdoor activities and field trips are the focus of the program, and a weekly swim at Central School is also planned. All campers will be able to participate in the Detroit area junior olympics, with finals in Detroit July 26.

Registration forms are available at Gallimore or Walker schools, the YMCA office at 670 Church, or the Canton Recreation Dept. office on Geddes Rd.

2 Liquor Applications Pose Canton Problem

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON Like misers watching over a hoard of gold.

That's how Canton trustees have been characterized as they ponder two new applications for the last two Class C (liquor-by-the-glass) licenses the township has to grant.

What makes it doubly difficult is that when those two are gone, there won't be any more to give out until another U.S. census is taken in 1980.

Trustees are mindful that between now and then, much of Canton's expansion is expected to occur. The predicted population boom should be accompanied with a proportionate commercial development and many of those are apt to need liquor licenses, they believe.

That's why they have made it perfectly clear that whoever gets the last two licenses must have a definite cultural contribution to the community -- while providing a sizable tax base at the same time.

The last license given out was to Fellows Creek Golf Course, one of the township's biggest taxpayers.

The two new applications are for a bowling complex and a motel development.

The bowling proposal from

Drexel Co. outlines a 32-lane development with restaurant, bar, coffee shop, sporting goods store and billiard room.

The site would be at 6640 Canton Center Rd., very near the high school complex.

The motel complex would be located on a five-acre site on the northwest corner of Ford and Lotz roads, near the proposed I-275 expressway that will cross Canton.

Project details list anywhere from 100 to 150 rooms in the motel, with a swimming pool, meeting rooms and cocktail lounge. A major oil company may be involved.

Estimated cost of the motel development would be $2 million. Cost of the bowling alley would also be around $2 million. The bowling alley proposal indicated support from the nationally known Brunswick Corp.

Both requests were tabled to give trustees more time to study them.

In other official action, the board followed planning commission recommendation and granted site plan approval for the Meijer Supermarket chain's commercial development at Ford and Canton Center Rds.

The development, covering some 197,000 square feet, is expected to be open by fall and will be Canton's first major commercial development.

Street railways are not a new invention. The first record of the use of iron rails for transportation was in 1738 when a small amount of track was laid in Whitehaven, England. The first passenger track system in the United States was the Fourth Avenue (Harlem) Street Railroad which was chartered in New York in the year 1831. Philadelphia and Boston established street railway lines in 1857.

Center Launches New Job Program

PLYMOUTH

The Plymouth business community will instantly expand by five or six members next month thanks to a job-referral program planned by the Plymouth Center for Young People, called "Summer Workforce."

The purpose of the program is to create new jobs for Plymouth-area young people through organization and promotion, according to center director Dale Yagiela. The plan calls for the establishment of several "companies" offering specific services to members of the community.

Tentatively planned are groups trained for house painting, furniture refinishing, and possibly moving. Two others, a car wash "company" and the Young Artists' Gallery, are already in operation.

The gallery is a small shop in the front of the center building at 271 S. Main, which will sell pottery, jewelry, paintings and other art work produced in the center's studio. The idea grew out of a successful art show held last December, according to Yagiela. Tentative plans are to open the shop from 2 to 5 p.m. every Monday through Thursday.

Each group will operate as an autonomous enterprise, doing its own planning, scheduling and equipment procuring, and working out a method for sharing profits. A small amount of each group's proceeds will be turned back into the center to perpetuate and further develop the program.

Approximately 20 persons have already signed up for the program. Yagiela said, and when the first round of recruiting is completed around May 30, each group will begin a series of workshops aimed at training the members in their special field. One or two members of each group, hopefully well-versed in the company's service, will serve as coordinators.

The center will function as a clearinghouse for information, providing publicity through posters and newspaper advertising, referring young people to the various groups, and relaying customers.

Yagiela said the idea grew out of discussions at the center about the lack of jobs available for young people in the Plymouth area. Some area residents already call the center looking for help for an occasional odd job, according to Yagiela, and it is hoped that the program can expand that tendency.

The first recruiting sessions are planned for each group Monday, May 21, with the yard care group meeting at 7 p.m., painters at 7:30, furniture refinishers at 8, and movers at 8:30. Yagiela urged any interested persons to attend the meetings, but information may also be had by calling the center.

The program will officially get under way June 18, but Yagiela said he welcomes job offers before that date.

'Christian Community Church' Is New Name

Christian Community Church is the new name chosen by the congregation that up to now has been known as Revival Tabernacle.

The new name for the church, affiliated with the Assemblies of God denomination, was announced by the Rev. Irving M. Mitchell, senior minister.

The congregation currently holds services in the Holmes Junior High School, 16200 Newburgh, Livonia.

It plans to break ground sometime in July for a building on Six Mile west of Haggerty in Northville Township. The 15-acre tract was purchased in 1969.

Rev. Mitchell said the new name for the congregation was selected on the basis of 17 criteria established by a study committee appointed from the membership.

"It was picked," he said, "because the congregation is made up of those who have come from varied cultures and religious backgrounds and have found unity in Christ, and because they are committed to serve the spiritual needs of their community."

Revival Tabernacle was founded in 1944 by the Rev. Ensley T. Quanabush. Its first home, in northwest Detroit, was sold in 1972 to the Greater Love Tabernacle Church of God in Christ.

Lee Butler, well-known church architect, is designing the new building, which will be constructed at a cost of about $750,000.

Jewish Forum Has Special Dedication

Guttman is public relations director of the National Committee for Labor Israel, editor of the Histadrut Foto News and a member of the editorial board of the Jewish Frontier magazine.

Greenberg was a Labor Zionist writer, philosopher, spokesman and interpreter of Judaism. He wrote many articles for the Jewish Frontier and other magazines, and founded the department of education and culture of the Jewish Agency.

There will be community singing, and refreshments. Tickets will be on sale at the door at $1 each.

The banquet will get under way at 6:30 in the church, 27350 W. Chicago, Redford Township.

A mother-daughter fashion show will be featured. The program will be built around the theme, "Sound of Music." Reservations must be made at the church office.

Aldersgate Choirs Plan Jazz Cantatas

Two jazz cantatas will be sung by Aldersgate United Methodist Church youth choir on Sunday, May 20, at 7 p.m. The church is at 10000 Beech, Redford Township.

The Epworth Choir will present "100 Per Cent Chance of Rain," the story of Noah by Walter Horsley. Gretchen Tornga and Holly Hipple will accompany the choir on the flute and double bass respectively.

"Holy Moses" will be sung by the combined Asbury and Wesley choirs. Accompanists will be Claudia Webb, guitarist; Tom Lucko, drummer; and Ruth Turner, pianist.

The program is under the direction of Ruth Hadley Turner, Aldersgate's minister of music.

Refreshments will be served in Fellowship Hall after the program.

Tickets may be obtained at the door. They are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Proceeds will be used to help buy handbells.

Council Affiliates Stress Cooperation

The 1,000 churches affiliated with the Metropolitan Detroit Council of Churches will celebrate Council of Churches Sunday on May 20.

Ministers have been asked to recognize the day in their services and to emphasize the importance of inter-church cooperation.

Also, a brochure stressing the reasons for cooperation among churches and the work of the council has been prepared for distribution in the churches.

The Metropolitan Council was organized in 1919 because of the conviction among the denominations that there was a "great need for an organization uniting all of the evangelical communion." Today it unites 22 denominations in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

The council's programs are directed by a board of directors representing the member denominations. It operates through work units on mission, communication, institutional ministries, church social services, ecumenical worship, planning and business affairs.

The council's program enables the participating churches and denominations to conduct services that can best be performed together and to exert a united Christian influence on community problems.

Through the years, the Council of Churches Sunday has been an annual observance.

Pastor Gets New LCA Post

THE REV. CARL KALTREIDER, leaving Antioch Lutheran Church and Farmington June 12, recently served as master of ceremonies for a Farmington Area Advisory Council fund-raising dinner. (Evert photo)

The Rev. Carl Kaltreider, innovative pastor of Antioch Lutheran Church and Farmington community leader, will leave June 12 to pioneer a new kind of ministry for the Lutheran Church in America.

Pastor Kaltreider, leaving Farmington after 11 years at Antioch, will undertake a community ministry in the brand-new planned city of Rotunda West, Fla., 36 miles south of Sarasota.

"It's an exciting move but at this moment not really a happy one," the clergyman said after announcing his plans to his congregation.

"Farmington has been a wonderful place to live," Pastor Kaltreider departs as he completes a two-year term as president of the Farmington Clergy Fellowship.

He has also served on the board of the Farmington Area Advisory Council (Rapline) and on the Farmington YMCA board.

He headed the substance abuse committee that was part of the Family Life Education study later incorporated into the Farmington school district curriculum, and for several years worked with Dr. Edwin Blumberg in a sex education program for junior high schools.

Pastor Kaltreider's new ministry will be in an area that now has 2,000 residents and is expected to have upwards of 80,000 when its carefully prepared development is completed.

Sometimes described as the "city of tomorrow," it is being developed by Cavanaugh Land Developers under plans worked out under the auspices of General Electric Corp.

"The city is being built in the round, with business and cultural centers in the middle and housing planned so that no one will live more than a mile and a quarter from a school and police and fire station," Rev. Kaltreider said.

"The idea is that, through study and planning, the things that cause crime and blight are virtually eliminated."

Ministry in such a community won't necessarily involve organizing a congregation right away, Pastor Kaltreider said.

"I'll be doing counseling, youth work, probably some community leadership," he said. "Maybe in a year or so there will be a Lutheran congregation forming."

"It's an exciting thing to see the church going into an area like this one that has been strictly company oriented."

"It's the church that will be helping set social standards — maybe moral standards."

His ministry is a first for the Lutheran Church in America, he said, though there are other notable community ministries. Billy Graham's is probably the most famous.

At a visit to Rotunda West before making the decision to accept the new call, Pastor Kaltreider said he was authorized by the LCA to select property for a parsonage. However, it won't be ready for some time so he and his family will be in a rented home at first.

Pastor Kaltreider's resignation was accepted "with deep regret" by the Antioch Church council, which took immediate action to establish a pulpit committee to begin choosing a successor.

Before coming to Antioch, Pastor Kaltreider served five years in Dearborn and seven years in Saginaw.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's Religion Update

Seven of the nation's more liberal theological schools have joined in a campaign to raise $42 million "to formulate plans and programs for meeting a crisis in values."

Harvard, Yale, Vanderbilt, Notre Dame, Chicago, Union Seminary in Manhattan and the Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley, Calif., are asking for the $42 million "to make theological education a more influential force in the moral structure of the nation."

But the conservative and influential magazine Christianity Today asks: "What were these schools doing when the crisis in values was developing?"

"They had the chance to provide proper spiritual leadership for the country with their numerous influential graduates, and they blew it."

One example cited by The Magazine is far fetched — the fact that "Death of God" advocate Thomas Altizer is a graduate of Chicago Divinity School. As a former chancellor of the University of Chicago once put it, "All alumni are dangerous."

But it does make something of a point in noting that "Colin Williams, dean of Yale University Divinity School, has said he considers Buddhism to be as valid as Christianity."

And Christianity today could have cited Harvard divinity school's president Kristar Stendahl as well. He has publicly affirmed his lack of belief in anything beyond the grave.

It might also have cited the impressive number of scandals and disruptions which have gone on at Berkeley's Graduate Theological Union — a sort of continuing crisis in values.

Here in this, the nation's first theological cooperative (six Protestant and three Catholic seminaries), the board of trustees is headed by an exceptionally aggressive female chairman, Mrs. A. Crawford Greene Jr.

Mrs. Greene has tried to cover up a scorching sex scandal in the GTU's top administration by announcing a $500,000 chair had been named in honor of the involved man, who was taking a well-deserved rest. He was much more forthright and later publicly admitted that he had begun psychiatric care.

Mrs. Greene then attempted to railroad the election of her own choice as president of GTU, provoking massive protests from both students and faculty.

And when trustees of the first of the nine seminaries, American Baptist Seminary of the West, discussed Berkeley's radical political and theological image in their decision to move out of Berkeley, Mrs. Greene angrily denounced both of San Francisco's daily newspapers for what she termed "gross inaccuracies" in their reporting this fact.

The current criticism of many liberal seminaries is by no means confined to conservative magazines.

There is the trenchant criticism which appeared in the liberal journal Christian Century, written by former Yale divinity school Prof. Browne Barr, who is now pastor of the First Congregational Church of Berkeley. Writes Dr. Barr:

"Many schools originally established for the training of ministers for local congregations are strongly influenced at all levels by leaders who quite honestly believe that it is a waste of time to try to raise up leaders for the church on the corner."

"It is miraculous if the vocational resolve of men already committed to the ministry survives a year in many of our seminaries."

"Many seminaries have become 'outstanding centers for the purely intellectual disciplines and for the specialized training of counselors, educators and professional scholars.' These should be left to the universities whose embrace they so eagerly seek... I am sure most churches would not be troubled by the absence of academic credentials, if the minister possessed demonstrable professional competence."

Dr. Barr contends that a "drastic, radical reform of education for the parish ministry is long overdue."

Among other things he contends that ministry professors who know next to nothing about the parish church and even refuse to join the seminary community for worship are like Christian Science practitioners placed in key positions in a medical school.

He also pleads for instruction in Bible which is not designed to produce professors of Biblical archaeology, but parish clergy — with instruction by professors who spend their sabbaticals in a local church rather than deep in esoteric study in Switzerland.

Radio Preacher Is Guest At Ward

THE PLYMOUTH PUBLIC LIBRARY looked like this in the mid-1920s when it was housed in a rent-free room at village hall.

Dress styles reflect the period. Unfortunately, even some of the city's oldtimers were unable to help identify the folks in the picture.

Library's 50th Anniversary Recalls Meager Beginnings

By MARTHA MAHAN

PLYMOUTH The Plymouth Public Library celebrates its 50th anniversary this month, but its history goes back even farther.

The library's real beginning was a book-crammed room in a Canton Center farm home where pre-1923 ladies and gentlemen jotted in horse drawn buggies to find the latest best sellers.

This month's golden anniversary actually marks establishment of the first library housed in Plymouth.

The earlier library was in the home of Mrs. Albert Griffin, now Mrs. Bert A. Clark of S. Main in Plymouth.

Mrs. Clark was paid $2.50 a month to preside over the 200-book station which the Wayne County Library asked her to set up in her home.

She had worked for the county library system after attending Michigan State Normal College, now Eastern Michigan University.

"They wanted to reach the farm people," she recalled, "but it was mostly Plymouth people who came."

She remembers Mrs. Ida Dunn making the trip, for example, and Maude Pettingill.

The county changed and replenished the farm station from time to time with new books it toted around in a Model-T runabout. There were only five libraries in the county in those days, Mrs. Clark said, counting the one in her home.

Even then, Mrs. Clark said, Plymouthites were great readers and anxious to get the best sellers.

It took the ladies to get a Plymouth Library, as such.

The Women's Club, under the presidencies of Ella Robinson in 1922-23 and Lila Humphries in 1923-24, got the project going.

The first library board included Ada Murray, Bernice Weidman, Preston B. Whitbeck, Sidney D. Strong and William Petz.

And it was first located in a small office building on the east side of Main Street rented by Ray Parrott and his wife.

Shortly thereafter, the by then 319-book collection was moved to a small rented building on the west side of Main Street where Fralick Avenue since has been cut through.

It was cold and draughty, heated only by a small stove, and had no running water. But it did have electric lights. Rent came to $12.50 per month.

Three public spirited women -- Mayme Warner, Jennie Chaffee and Anna Baker -- contributed simple furnishings which were augmented by the gift of a discarded desk by the village.

A school girl, Alice Ballen, was hired at 25 cents an hour to take charge.

To raise funds, Miss Edna Allen, the high school's assistant principal, organized teams of girls for a Tag Day. A men's convention was in town and the girls raised the then large sum of $150.

In the fall of 1924, the library board accepted the offer of free quarters in the village hall. By then, book circulation had reached an impressive 14,858 volumes annually.

Fruit punch and cookies were served at an open house and Mrs. Clark became the first custodian.

In May of 1926, the library moved again, into remodeled and larger quarters with a private entrance on the south side of village hall.

New shelves, tables and chairs were provided and Mrs. Weidman decided new marquisette curtains were needed. She and Mrs. Murray located a dressmaker to sew them and, as a final touch of elegance, had them hemstitched.

Then came an exciting day. Plymouth was asked to entertain the Wayne County library staff and board members.

The Episcopal ladies served lunch and Mrs. Murray, the Plymouth library board president, was asked to present a book review. She chose Zora Gale's "Preface to a Life."

Mrs. Clark left library service about that time and Mrs. Louise Bryan of Northville took over for a short period until Mrs. Charlotte Squires Lahey began her service.

Plymouth's first city manager was a collector of curios. He contributed a particularly large wasp's nest to grace the library shelves, along with other relics, much to the distress of the supervisor and custodian.

By now the city needed more room for records and office space so the library board met to decide on a new location.

Supt. of Schools George A. Smith was firm in his belief that the site should be the Ralph J. Tuck furniture store across from city hall. He said that would put the library in the path of the school and small children would not have to cross the street to reach the library.

So the library moved again. The city bought new linoleum and helped move the books and furnishings. The rooms were remodeled from time to time but eventually were outgrown.

About this time, a new library board was appointed. It consisted of Mayor Robert Lidgard, Township Supervisor Charles Rathburn, Berg Moore representing the Chamber of Commerce, Bernice Weidman representing the Woman's Club and George Wilcox.

After Moore's death, Cass Hough was appointed to the board.

The library's move to its present location was made in February 1945. A lease was signed but rumors kept cropping up that the library would be forced to move.

Everyone was delighted, therefore, when the announcement came in February 1947, that Mrs. Bessie Dunning and her daughter, Margaret, had arranged to purchase the property and present it to the city for a permanent library.

It was called the Dunning Library in their honor. "A good library is as essential to a community as a good school," the Plymouth Mail editorialized.

To keep up with increased use, the city of Plymouth appropriated some $45,000 in 1953 for the first addition of an overall plan for a completely new building.

By 1956, space was tight again and the original building needed costly repair.

Byron Becker of Plymouth, a partner in the Detroit architectural firm of Wheeler and Becker, submitted a preliminary drawing for a $100,000 front of colonial design, but chances of its construction were remote.

A letter from the Edward C. Hough and Mary Hough Kimble Foundation offered to finance the project.

In gratitude, the library was renamed in honor of its original patrons and became the Dunning-Hough Library.

The library still holds a warm place in the Hough family's heart. A surprise $10,000 gift at the end of last year "almost gave a heart attack" to the present chief librarian, Elizabeth Barnwell.

It was used to set up an audio visual department of movies, film strips, recordings, cassettes and topographical maps.

"I had my fingers crossed on spending the money for those maps," she chuckled. "I was afraid they might not be used and I'd be saying later: Well, Barnwell, you goofed."

She hasn't had to say it. The maps have been used so much by patrons that she's "Amazed."

Last year circulation reached 150,000 and "every month since it's been way up from the same month last year," said Miss Barnwell.

With all the building going on in both Plymouth and Canton Townships, she looks for increasing library use.

"We don't get a lot of kids with school assignments here," she remarked. "They are people who like to read. In the summer, circulation is even busier sometimes than in other months. We had all time highs on three days last July and August."

Miss Barnwell is proud of the library's history and the services it now offers and its "upset" because illness prevented her from celebrating the half-century anniversary as she would have liked.

"I'll make up for it sometime," she pledged.

"People ought to know that we are a pioneer library in the system and the great service we are equipped to perform."

The Stroller:

Our Changing Times

There's an old axiom that you never know how fast time flies until you sign a 90-day note.

Well, times change, too, and you don't realize it until you are asked a question like the one directed at The Stroller the other afternoon.

Walking along Main Street a man whom he never had seen before stopped and calmly asked:

"Could you direct me to a shoe shine parlor?"

That's a rather simple question coming from a stranger. But it turned out to be most difficult to answer.

Where was the nearest shoe shine parlor?

The Stroller thought for a moment or two, and for the life of him couldn't answer. Without much fanfare or bluster, the old shoe shine stands, once so popular, now are gone.

Their absence in Plymouth got The Stroller to do a bit of research. He couldn't recall such a stand on any of the streets in Livonia.

Then, while on his weekly stroll, he kept his eyes open for a tell-tale sign of the old stands in Farmington. Strange, there was nary a one there, either.

It was the same in Garden City. When he took the trouble to ask one of the natives the question he was told:

"Shoe shine parlors! They've been gone for a long time."

Finally, he hit upon a sign that almost shocked him. It was in the Livonia Mall where the passersby were informed a fellow inside would shine shoes.

It was the same in the Twelve Mile in Southfield. There, hidden in one of the corners was a sign:

"Shoes shined. Step inside."

So much like the corner grocery store, the old shoe shine stands have been forced to give way to what the present generation calls "progress."

Yet there was a time when shoe shine stands were common sights on the main thoroughfares. Oftimes, it was the first business experience for the young lads with the shoe polish and the brush.

And there were very few barbershops that did not have a fellow to shine your shoes while your tonsorial needs were being met. It was second nature to have your shoes shined while the barber worked on your hair or gave you a shampoo or shave.

No more. They've been forced out.

"I couldn't afford to have the shoe shine chair in the shop any more," Bill, my Livonia barber, said. "When I had it, the young people (and they are the ones who have spending money these days) would line up in the chairs, awaiting a shine. Meanwhile fellows who needed barbering would look in, see a line-up, and move on."

That chair cost me a lot of money. So I took it home as a reminder of a by-gone day."

With the passing of the old stands from the streets and the barber shops, they also are being forced out of their last stand--the men's rooms in the various public places.

Asked the reason, the response was quick.

"Not enough money in it--even at today's prices."

The young fellows of today have turned to the more lucrative job of washing cars. They can wash a car in little more time than it takes to shine your shoes and get three and four times the money.

Barbers can't hire them anymore because of the minimum wage scale is much too high to make it a paying proposition.

So, what has happened?

If you want your shoes shined today, you'll have to find a shoe repair shop and have the repairman "clean" your shoes--for a fancier price than a shine.

Either that, or travel to the larger shopping centers--where the shoe shine boys are making their last stand.

So, another picturesque character is passing from the American scene.

Summer Classes Planned

New Approach To Writing Proves Big Hit At Pioneer

By JAN WILLIAMS

PLYMOUTH

Not all kids step to the music of a quarterback's signals or a cheerleader's cheers. And the ones who don't may feel left out in schools today, many of which are heavily sports oriented.

A step closer to a different drummer has been taken at Pioneer Middle School in Plymouth, through a creative writing program in the English department.

"We offered this program at the insistence of the students," said Sally Hindert, program chairman and English instructor. "The non-sportsman needed some place to stand out, some area to excel in. And we just weren't offering it."

The program, open to all Pioneer students, was planned in January to begin the first of April and continue through Easter. It is, in effect, a contest with awards to be given for the best works.

The first two weeks of the program were devoted to creativity sessions.

Each English section (there are approximately 30 at Pioneer) met with a different instructor each day. Each instructor offered some sort of learning experience that could be connected with creative writing.

Categories included vocabulary, plot, setting, symbol, taste, smell, sight, sound, and texture.

Students kept folders of their learning experiences and at the end of their two-week session went back to their own English instructor to begin the actual writing.

At this point, each instructor handled the program his own way. Basic categories for all included: short stories, science fiction, humor, mystery, tall tales, biography, documentary, fiction, non-fiction, play, essay, article and poetry.

There was a 1,000 word maximum for all entries. They had to be written with correct spelling and punctuation.

Students in each English section voted on 10 selections from their section to be judged for awards.

A judging panel will consist of one student (chosen by students) from each section. The panel will be supervised by Miss Hindert and Mrs. Jill Potter, another English instructor.

There will be first, second and third place awards given by grade for each category. These awards will be announced over the public address system and placed on an honor certificate to be displayed in the school.

Two grand prize winners will be selected for each grade, one in the short story category and one in the poetry category. These prizes will be awarded at the school's annual awards assembly in June.

"There are always many sports awards given at the assembly," Miss Hindert said. "At least this is a start toward a better balance."

According to Miss Hindert, the majority of students in the program really enjoyed it.

"Some of them submitted as many as five or six selections each."

But a couple of problems did crop up. "In the creativity sessions, it got to be difficult for some teachers teaching the same lesson 30 times."

Another area which particularly bothered Miss Hindert was the break between the creativity sessions and the actual writing.

"Some students have short memories. If they undergo an experience in optical illusions during the two-week session, it may be difficult for them to bring that sensation back when they begin to write."

But Miss Hindert is confident the problems can be worked out and hopes the program will be continued next year.

She also plans to make the winning selections available for other students to read in the school library.

All involved in the creative writing program readily admit it doesn't yet equal opportunities offered in the sports field.

Carl Hartwick recently resigned from the Plymouth Township planning commission, and the township board of trustees has enacted a resolution honoring his more than two decades of community service.

Hartwick's community planning career began with the formation of the original zoning board in the township, to which he was appointed for a two-year term in 1951.

He continued that involvement in the development of the rapidly-growing area for the next 2 1/2 years, both on the local commission and by representing the township on the regional zoning board.

The testimonial resolution cites Hartwick's "experience and varied capabilities," and expresses the board's "warm appreciation and gratitude" for his years of public service.

Ill health prompted the veteran planner's resignation. A successor has not yet been appointed.

Retirees Plan Meet

The Plymouth-Northville chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will hold its monthly meeting May 23 in the Plymouth Presbyterian Church.

The group also plans a bus trip to the Amway Products plant at Ada, Mich. for June 11.

FIRST PLACE WINNERS in the annual pine wood derby for boys of Cub Scout Pack 743 at Allen School were these four youngsters. From the left are Philip Sinco, 10, Webelos; Mike Klinski, 8, Den 1; Chuck Cruz, 9, Den 9, and Tad Hall, 8, Den 6. Fifty-four boys competed, each designing and carving his racer from a five-inch piece of pine.

Reunions Need Old Classmates

PLYMOUTH Whether graduation was five years ago or 30, the problem is the same when it comes time for class reunions. That's the matter of locating all the classmates.

Plymouth High School's 1968 graduates will have their fifth reunion June 23 and Chairman Sue Beyer already says, "We are having trouble getting addresses of many people and need to find out where we can locate them."

Those with information on '68 graduates may contact Miss Beyer by calling the home of her father, Robert Beyer, 725 N. Mill.

The 30th reunion of the class of 1943 is planned for the same date and will be held at the Thunderbird - Hilton. Class members are urged to contact Robert Erdelyi, 9110 Rocker, or Mrs. Howard Dunlap (Pat Conery), 751 Auburn.

Mrs. Dunlap says that information on the following class members in particular is needed:

Harold Anderson, Shirley Bassett Zeese, Evelyn Carney, Gloria Cramer, Charlotte Flaherty Bender, Marion Goodman Rentsl, Sally Haas Latham, Betty Hepler Walker, Donald Hirschlieb, Shirley Jacobson Reinhold.

Anna Overdorf Barney, Kathleen Reddeman, Beulah Beatrice Robinson, Willie Lee Runkick, Junior Russell, Jane Scott Farnham, Dr. Victor Slater, Dorrit Strauss Pealy, Betty Wagenschutz Ramsey, Dolores Wilson Norfolk and Doris Wohlgemuth.

Even the Northville High School class of 1963 is trying to locate missing members who may live in the Plymouth district.

These Northville graduates will have their 10th reunion July 21 in Roma Hall and contact should be made with Mrs. Larry Morse (Peggy Moore) at 7760 Lake Shore Dr., Whitmore Lake.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES - REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY, MAY 8, 1973

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 P.M. by Supervisor McLaren. All members were present.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES: Regular Meeting, April 24, 1973. Holmes moved that the minutes of the April 24, 1973 meeting be approved as submitted. Supported by Russell Ash and carried unanimously.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF BILLS: Russell Ash, supported by Gene Overholt, moved that the list of bills in the amount of $13,281.56 be approved as submitted. Unanimously approved.

OPENING OF BIDS: Four Door Sedan and F 400 Truck or equivalent for DPW Department. Mr. Overholt, supported by Mr. Burke, moved that the bids be closed at 8:05 P.M. Unanimously approved. The bids were opened by Mrs. Richardson and read by Mr. Bida. There were no bids for the 1973 truck, causing much speculation by the Board members as to the reason for the lack of bids. Mr. Bida said apparently the timing was poor, that the change of model is near, and possibly the Township should wait until the new models appear before making a purchase on the vehicles. Mrs. Holmes, supported by Mr. Ash, moved that the Board reject the bids and notify the bidders that we are deferring the purchase until some time in the future. Unanimously approved.

NEW BUSINESS: Carl F. Hartwick, Resignation, from the Plymouth Township Planning Commission. Mr. Ash moved to accept Mr. Hartwick's resignation and offer a strong resolution to acknowledge his over 20 years of faithful service on the Planning Commission. Supported by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

Joseph Bida, D.P.W. SUPERINTENDENT, Requesting permission to obtain cost of having Sanitary Sewer Sectional Maps kept up to date. Mr. Ash supported by Mrs. Richardson, moved to grant permission to obtain the cost of having Sanitary Sewer Sectional Maps brought and kept up to date. Unanimously approved.

Mrs. Richard K. Tobin, Woodbrook Homeowners Association, Re Requesting Township to assume liability in regard to footbridge on Sheldon Road. Mrs. Richardson read a letter from Mrs. Richard Tobin, a member of Woodbrook Homeowners Association, who was requesting that the Township Board investigate the legality of the Township assuming liability in case someone might be injured crossing a footbridge on the west side of Sheldon Road, between Clare Boulevard and Brookside. If the bridge is made usable by adding side railings and screening to existing angle truss. It was moved by Gerald Burke, supported by Russell Ash, that the matter be forwarded to our Attorney and request a report from him as to what responsibility the Township could assume, as well as contact be made with the Wayne County Road Commission. Unanimously approved.

Plymouth Community Improvement Association, Gregory W. Dean, President, Re Action taken by the Board on their meeting of April 24, 1973, relative to the Byron Creek Sanitary Sewer Proposal. Mr. Dean said he represented 120 families in the western part of the Township, and was requesting that the Board seriously reconsider the decision made on April 24. He alleged that no one had asked for service except Plymouth Hills Subdivision and that land speculators and developers were the only ones to benefit. He said the residents of the Township elect the Board members and expect them to act in their best interests and must not allow pressure tactics to influence their judgment. Therefore, he was requesting that the Board take whatever action needed to rescind the motion of April 24. Mr. Ash asked if Mr. Dean had read in total, the minutes of April 24, which indicate the reason for the action taken. Mr. Dean replied that he had not. Mr. McLaren asked if the Board members wished to take any action, and as there was none forthcoming, he continued to the next item on the Agenda.

Herald F. Hamill, Brender-Hamill & Associates, Re Hagerty Road 16" Diameter Water Main, W. Wilson Construction Co. Contract, recommendation for partial payment. Mr. Richardson moved that the Board approve the Engineer's recommendation and approve partial payment No. 2 to H. Wilson Construction Company in the amount of $1,443.25. Supported by Mr. Millington and carried unanimously.

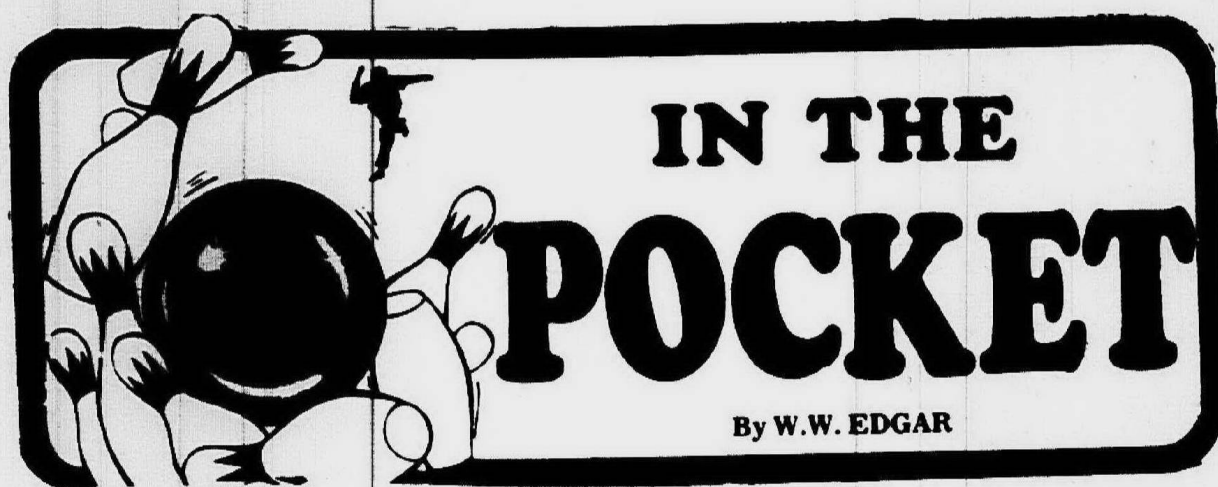

RESOLUTIONS: Helen Richardson, Clerk: Re: Testimonial Resolution Honoring Carl Hartwick. Mrs. Richardson read the Resolution honoring Mr. Hartwick. Mrs. Holmes moved to accept the resolution as submitted. Supported by Mr. Overholt and carried unanimously.

County of Wayne by its Board of County Commissioners and the Township of Plymouth, Re: $1,500,000 Sewer Bond Issue. Gerald Burke moved to adopt the Resolution, supported by Russell Ash. The following roll call vote was taken: Yes Burke, Millington, Ash, Overholt, No Holmes, Richardson, McLaren. The motion carried.

Gene Overholt moved to adjourn the meeting, supported by Gerald Burke. Supervisor McLaren adjourned the meeting at 8:40 P.M.

Approved, J. D. McLAREN, Supervisor

By W.W. EDGAR

When Stroh rallied to win the ABC Classic title last week in Syracuse, it marked the end of a long drought in American Bowling Congress competition.

Back in 1934 when Joe Norris organized the original Stroh team, it won the ABC team event — the first Detroit team ever to place the field.

At the time it was felt that Norris and his mates were due for a long reign. But it just wasn't to be... until last week when Harry Campbell paced the club to a surprising victory by the margin of only a few pins.

From 1934 to 1973 is a matter of 39 years. Over that time the Stroh team has travelled up and down the country winning top honors where ever it went. But the ABC always proved to be a stumbling block.

Through the years the team changed. Captains came and went. Norris, Buzz, Fazio, Johnny Ruggerio and now Bob Crawford. But now the coveted trophy is back in Detroit and Fred Vitali, an Observerland bowler, helped bring it to the most crowded trophy room in all of bowling.

ONE OF THE MOST disillusioned bowlers in the area is Ron Merta, a member of the Western Wayne Co. mixed league at Livonia Lanes.

Saturday night he took his regular turn on the lanes and it seemed like an ordinary night when he posted an opening game of 175. Not too much happened in the second when he registered a 189.

Then things happened. Suddenly, he found the range and piled up strike after strike until he had 12 in a row and a perfect game.

But the big blow was yet to come. He was advised that the league wasn't sanctioned and that the only reward he would receive, officially, was the score sheet.

Incidentally, it was the first perfect game bowled at Livonia Lanes this year.

FRED HAMLIN, proprietor of Farmington Lanes is all smiles these days... and for a very good reason.

His 16-year-old daughter, Barbara, played one of the star roles in the State YBA team championship last weekend at Skore Lanes.

She won the junior girls singles for Area No. 2, then came back and helped the team take the title with a 3186.

Marsha Terry paced the team with a 578 series on games of 156, 219 and 223. Jim Morawa didn't wait long to join the summer league's 700 club. Bowling in the Trio League he put together games of 214, 266 and 232 for a 712.

THE LAST CHAMPION of the regular season was crowned at Merri-Bowl Lanes last week when Rita Carvath, with a 696, took the title in the Honor Roll tournament.

While she was walking off with the women's crown George Tabaka still was the man to beat, even though he fired only a 596.

THE SUMMER "fun" league season got underway at Country Lanes with 24 teams and it lived up to its name.

With the emphasis on fun instead of scores, Joe Kin was high with a 622. He linked games of 174, 223 and 225 to pace the field.

DICK BEATTIE is fast learning the odd quirks of the sports fans since rolling a "gutter" ball in the ABC tournament at Syracuse, N.Y.

"I'm getting more publicity out of that one poor ball than any of the high scores I ever rolled or the titles I have won," he chuckled.

There is only one more week to wait to see if the Coon Bros. team on which he bowled, lands in the Top Ten. This is the only Observerland team among the leaders as the event draws to a close.

Milford Ousts Bentley, 3-1

From State Baseball Tourney

The Bulldog bite took on a little more than it could chew in its opening round of state tournament baseball competition.

Bentley High was quickly eliminated in the state's one-game knock-out tourney by Milford High in a pitcher's battle, 3-1.

Milford's Bruce Grace allowed two hits, walked two and struck out five. Bentley's Brent Boegler allowed just three hits, walked four and struck out five.

The Bulldogs wound up leaving nine men on base, Milford six.

Bentley opened the scoring in the last of the fourth. Mark Newell was safe on an error by Milford shortstop Steve Westermeier. Bob Deacon sacrificed him to second.

State Baseball Tournament

and was safe at first on an error.

On a Bill Klopp bunt, Newell was out at third but Deacon moved around to third when the throw to first went astray. Deacon then scampered in when Bob Cross grounded out and Ernie Storm went down swinging to halt the Bulldog's lone threat.

Boegler had a one-hitter going into the sixth but lost touch along with some control.

Rich Canton started things off for Milford being hit by a stray Boegler pitch and moved to second on a sacrifice by Greg Johnson.

Jim Grace walked on four straight pitches. Jim Molvihill was safe on an error with Canton thrown out at third.

Milford rightfielder Frank Aldrich delivered the crushing blow with a three-bagger to right center scoring Grace and Molvihill.

The Bulldogs failed to bounce back in their half of the sixth and Milford added another in the seventh.

Westermeier drew a walk and was sacrificed to second by Bob Acree. Canton singled and Johnson squeezed in Westermeier for run No. 3.

Bentley had visions of a rally in the last of the seventh.

In a pinchhitting role, Tom Schulz was safe on an error, but Bob Cross struck out and Storm grounded out. Dave Waldock kept things alive with a walk but Boegler grounded out to end the game.

RU Drops 2 League Clashes

The roar of the Redford Union Panther "baseball machine" dwindled to a small meow with two defeats in the Suburban Eight baseball race.

The defending champions now have a tough time defending their title.

RU fell to Belleville, 4-2, and to Allen Park, 3-2, and almost fell out of title contention.

Edsel Ford is leading with an 8-1 mark. Next in a three-way tie are Allen Park, Plymouth and RU, all sporting 5-4 league marks. The Panthers boast an overall 16-7.

With five games remaining on the Eight schedule, the three second place clubs have three games to pick up on Edsel Ford.

RU handed Belleville a league victory. Belleville scored all four runs in the fifth without the benefit of a hit.

RU scored first in the top of the opening stanza when Gary Fulkis singled, moved to second on a wild pick-off attempt, and scored when the throw from right was wild.

The Panthers made it 2-0 in the third. With two out, Fulkis singled, stole second and scampered in on a hit by Mark Yourchuck.

But the tide changed when RU took the field in the fifth.

Dave Dapsi was hit by a Tom Nippa pitch. After a Belleville strikeout, Nippa walked Gery Cole and then wild pitched the runners to second and third.

Nippa walked Robin Hook to fill the sacks and another wild pitch scored Dapsi. Vance was safe on an error with Cole scoring to tie things up and Hook dashed in on a passed ball.

Joe Stilwagon drew another base on balls and RU Coach Bob Atkins had seen enough and in came Mark Hiller. He threw wild to second on an attempted pick-off to score Vance.

RU threatened in the seventh when Fulkis was safe on an error and Yourchuck singled. With two out, and runners on second and third, Panther catcher Glenn Richmond popped out and the rally was halted.

The Allen Park battle sank RU's hopes of a Suburban Eight comeback. The Panthers came up with two runs in the sixth to nip RU, 3-2.

Tom Miller went the distance for RU, gave up four hits, walked two and struck out six. It was Miller's second setback in seven decisions.

Chalking up the win for Allen Park was Bob Lewandowski who also allowed five hits, walked one and struck out two.

RU tallied once in the fourth when Richmond singled, was sacrificed to second by Steve Friedman and crossed home on a hit by Lupe Bravo.

Allen Park notched it at one all in the same stanza when after two outs, Jim Perry doubled and Jeff Hrdlicka singled him home.

The Panthers again took the lead in the sixth on a walk to Richmond, a stolen base and hit up the middle by Bravo.

Again, Allen Park came back and this time to take the lead. Neil Leonhard walked, stole second and was sacrificed to third. He scored on a hit by Dan Burke who stole second.

Perry singled and Hrdlicka walked to load the bases. With one out, Tim Vencher sacrificed in Burke with what proved to be the deciding run.

Rocks Slice Trenton

Plymouth High came up with three runs in the top of the sixth inning to push itself over the .500 mark in the Suburban Eight baseball race.

The Rocks edged Trenton, 9-8, to stand 5-4 in the league and 6-12 overall.

Sophomore Tom Willette and Steve Robb worked the Plymouth mound with the latter picking up the victory in relief.

Willette started, worked 3 1/3 innings, allowed seven runs on seven hits, walked two and struck out three. Robb toiled the final 3-2 1/3 innings, giving up one run on two hits, walking none and striking out one.

For Robb it was his fifth win against three losses in 11 decisions for the overall.

Dave Shanauer and Doug Merhron hurled for Trenton. Merhron took the loss in relief with the Rocks pounding out 16 hits off the two Trojan pitchers.

Plymouth struck first with a run in the opening stanza when Jim Szilagyi tripled and dashed in on a single by Don Bidwell.

A single by John Chiatelas, sacrifice by Keith MacDonald and single by Tom Willette pushed it to 2-0 in the second.

The Rocks exploded in the third to take a commanding 6-0 lead.

Robb led off with a base on balls and Jeff Waller was safe when Trenton threw away his sacrifice bunt. With one out, Waller was picked off first by the Trenton catcher.

But Jeff Stringham singled in Robb. Chiatelas walked, MacDonald singled in Stringham. Tom Willette singled in Chiatelas and Szilagyi singled in MacDonald.

Trenton came back in the last of the inning to make it a ball game.

With two out, Tom Crawford walked, Ken Livernois tripled and Randy Young homered to slice the lead to 6-3.

The roof all but fell in on Plymouth in the fourth.

Mike Maloski singled and Jon Lutz walked. With one out, Fred Bruley singled in Maloski. Crawford walked to fill the sacks and Rock Coach Wayne Sparkman brought in Robb.

Livernois greeted Robb with a two-run single and Merhron singled to push Trenton to an 8-6 advantage.

Robb then settled down and retired Trenton 1-2-3 in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

In the top of the sixth the Rocks went to work. Bidwell collected his third hit to lead off the inning. With one out Waller singled with both runners moving up on a wild pickoff attempt.

Sparkman replaced his runners with Gary Baker running for Bidwell and Mark Stephens for Waller.

Mike Lindman squeezed in Baker and Stringham doubled to score Stephens with the tying run. Chiatelas was hit by a Merhron pitch to load the bases and MacDonald singled to score Stringham with the winning tally.

Farmington Hands Central 1st Loss

One run in the top of the first inning was all Farmington High needed to upend Walled Lake Central in an Inter-Lakes Conference baseball battle.

The 1-0 defeat for Central was its first in the league. Farmington stands 5-3 in the loop, 7-5 overall.

Falcon junior Don Hunt picked up his second win working the first four innings, allowing four hits, walking one and striking out one.

Dennis Hagen pitched the final three innings, gave up just one hit, walked none and struck out two.

Andy Hohlak went the route for Walled Lake and took the loss, giving up six hits, walking one and striking out three.

The run came in the first with one out. Jeff Herman tripled to left center and Rick Pauline hit a sacrifice to center and in trotted Herman.

Farmington threatened to break things open in the sixth with the bases loaded and no outs. A double-play and strike out canned that rally.

Central had two runners on in the first and the bases loaded in the fourth but failed to score.

Central has all but wrapped up the Inter-Lakes with a 5-1 record. Farmington needs a final league win and Central has to drop its last two to make a tie.

Churchill Baseballers Go On Scoring Spree

The Churchill High bats are booming and nobody knows better than Coach Roger Frayer, that the explosion has come a little too late.

Waterford Mott at 7-1 has already wrapped up the Western Six baseball title. Churchill is second best at 4-3, with one game remaining with Farmington Harrison.

Churchill mauled Walled Lake Western 14-1, and swept both ends of a Highland Park twin-bill, 17-3 and 8-3.

"We are just a little too late in putting it all together," said Coach Frayer whose Chargers stand 12-5 overall.

The five losses have been by a total of six runs with a 2-0 setback by Redford Union the worst defeat, the other four all by one run each.

Churchill put together a barrage of 10 hits, 11 walks and five errors to crush Western.

Kevin Nelson started for Churchill and went the first six innings. He allowed four hits, walked none and struck out four. Larry Lipa hurled one stanza in relief and struck out two.

John Gabriel went the route for Western with the Chargers scoring five times in the second, three in the fourth and six times in the fifth.

Bobby Blaies opened the second with a walk and moved to second on an error. Rod Hawraney doubled him home and Phil Skender was hit by a pitch and Nelson walked to load the bases.

Brian Kelly singled to score one and Jim Foster singled to push the Chargers to a 5-0 lead.

Mike Gottshall started the fourth with a single and moved around to third on a stolen base and passed ball.

Nelson singled Gottshall in. Foster singled and Rick Dreher walked to load the sacks. Blaies and Hawraney followed with base on balls to force in two more runs and Churchill was sitting on an 8-0 lead.

The Charger explosion continued in the fifth.

Gottshall and Nelson walked and Al Leirstein singled to fill the bases. Kelly walked to force in one run. Dreher was safe on an error followed by back-to-back doubles by Blaies and Skender.

Western scored its lone run in the sixth.

Churchill went after Highland Park in a wild scoring fashion.

The first of two games was cut short after five innings with Churchill enjoying a 17-3 margin. The Chargers banged out 12 hits and made full use of 16 walks.

Andy Coppola hurled for Churchill, allowed just four hits, walked two and struck out three. It was his third victory in four decisions.

John Dove suffered the loss for Highland Park.

Churchill tallied six in the first after Highland Park had scored twice to open the contest. The Chargers continued with one in the second, seven in the fourth and three in the fifth.

Brian Kelly was two for three, scored three times and stole two bases. Jim Foster was one for two, scored three runs and had three runs batted in. Coppola helped his own cause with three hits in four at bats and had four runs batted in.

Highland Park jumped to an early lead again in the second contest with three runs in the first. Churchill came back with one in the first, one in the third and six in the fourth to complete the sweep.

Junior Lipa started for the Chargers, working the first four innings and allowed five hits, walked one and struck out four. It was his first win of '73.

Sophomore lefthander Dan Bobowski worked in relief. The 5-4 hurler allowed no hits and struck out one to push his stretch to six innings without giving up a run in relief.

Chargers Roar Past Mott

Trackmen Win League Title

It was a record setting Western Six track meet with Livonia Churchill accounting for four of the eight records set and successfully defending its title.

Churchill totaled 96 points in upending Waterford Mott with 75. Walled Lake Western and Northville tied for third with 29 with Farmington Harrison in the basement at eight.

The Charger trackmen were sporting a 6-1 dual record, that one loss at the hands of Mott in league competition. Mott finished with an undefeated dual record but was no match for Churchill's depth in the league meet.

Churchill collected 36 points on six firsts, placed three men in six different events and won two of the three relays.

The 21 point spread was the widest ever for the now three-year old league.

Mott captured the first in '71 by 11 points over Churchill, and Churchill came back to win it by 11 last year over Mott.

The big surprise for Churchill Coach Fred Price had to be the performance of senior Phil Damaska.

Damaska had never ran the 880 yard run before the league meet. He took on the new event in a record setting fashion with a clocking of 1:59.5 over Mott's Bob Grace at 1:59.6.

Churchill's 880 relay team of Rich Kahn, Phil Lafave, Bob Mendoza and Ron Miller established a meet record with a time of 1:31.8. The 440 relay foursome of Jim Cieszkowski, Lafave, Larry Baughman and Ray Harkins set a new mark of :45.0.

Mark Priebe covered the mile run in 4:31.7 for Churchill, another meet record. Bob Mendoza ran the 220 dash in :23.0, the fourth Charger record.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

From California have come three or four of the top stables at the recent Los Alamitos track near Los Angeles and the result is the finest harness racing program of the Wolverine Raceway season.

Racing Secretary Bill Connors has put together some excellent cards during the meeting which reaches the 56th night Saturday but never before in Michigan history has he matched pacers for 10 races with total purses at an all-time high of $68,700.

Connors thought he had reached the peak a year ago when he had a program worth $67,000 but tonight's (Saturday) card is the richest without a stake. It ranges from a $12,500 invitational to $4,000 conditioned events.

Can you imagine a harness racing card having a minimum of $4,000? We can't but there it is two races valued at $4,000 and the other eight going much higher.

It's all part of the tremendous business boom at the big mile track, one that has brought five purse increases to the horsemen in less than seven weeks.

With only 26 nights remaining of the 82-night season, indications point to one or two more purse hikes if business continues to boom. There isn't any reason to think it won't because Wolverine is just coming into the best part of its campaign.

Grand Circuit week which will bring all of the nation's top two, three and four-year-old pacers and trotters to the area for the only time of the entire year.

Take a glance at tonight's (Saturday) program that headlines the rich invitational with a field of six. All, with the exception of newcomer Banner Ranger from Chicago, have been winners at the track.

Naturally most interest will be on Skipper Gene Marx, the six year old Ohio-owned which has won two invitational in the past two weeks, and Bedford Jet, Michigan's fastest and best of 1973.

The Skipper has nosed out The Jet in each of the triumphs with great speed in stretch duels and the story could be much the same this time.

With the exception that this week's field includes Big Kahuna, star of the powerful Gene Reagle stable which is just now starting to reach the form that enabled it to win at Wolverine in 1:59 last spring.

Big Kahuna won its last start in 2:02.4, making up a length and a half in the stretch. That victory moved it from the preferred to the invitational class, showing that Connors feels it is ready for that type of competition.

Banner Ranger, from the public stable handled by Joe Marsh, Jr. in Chicago, could be the one to watch. The six-year-old has won $27,770 already this year with four wins in 16 starts, one in 2:01.3 at Sportsman's Park.

The secondary feature, an $8,000 event, could turn into one of the tightest races of the year. It has a field of seven but everyone is capable of a mile around 2:00 and it will just be a question of which is in the best shape on this particular evening.

Starting are: Tricky Dale, Easy Irv, Prince Knox, Dashing Dancer, Shells Gold, Adios Rick and Ark.

Just to give an idea of how outstanding the program is, one need only point to the $7,500 preferred that lists the brilliant Saucy Wave in the eight starters.

Saucy Wave, a four-year-old from the Bert James stable of Southfield, won $104,307 a year ago and shows $13,800 in the bank this year but still wasn't fast enough to get into the invitational class.

And the speedy mare may have plenty of trouble this time since she's against such fast ones as Garcon Roux, fresh from California; Johnny G, making his first start since Northville Downs' winter session; Knox Patch, Spook Time, Key Creed, True Temper and Track Master.

It's going to be that kind of a night. Evenly matched fields in every one of the 10 races and a program that will have an overflow crowd standing up for every finish.

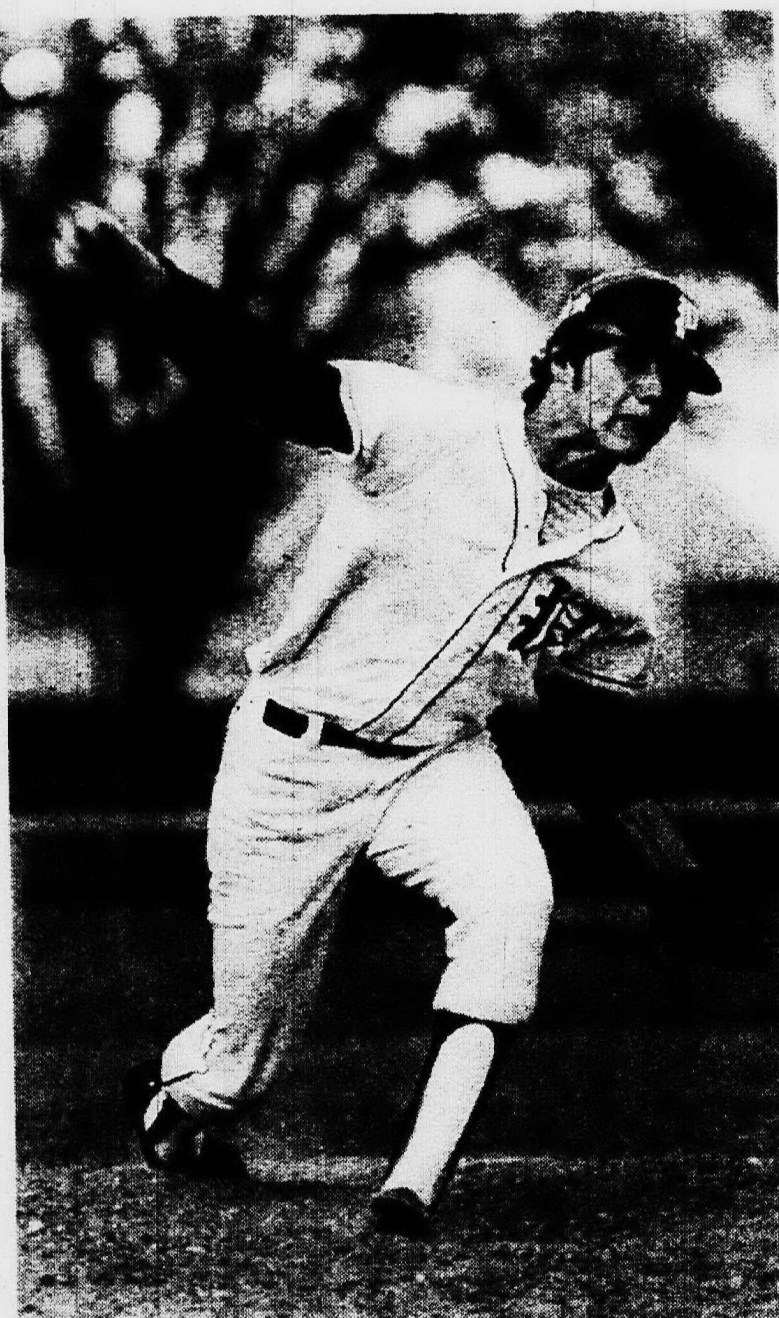

It could be the best night of harness racing ever presented in Michigan and certainly the finest of this season which has been marked by better than average programs.

Stevenson High girls softball team opened its season with a 9-7 victory over Farmington. The lead changed hands four times before Stevenson tallied four times in the fourth to jump ahead to stay.

Strong defensive plays by Michelle Macy at third, Lori Hyman at short and Ann O'Connell at second held back a strong Farmington hitting attack.

Audrey Selinsky, Ann O'Connell and Sue Binson collected three hits apiece to pace the Stevenson attack.

Farmington scored twice in the last of the seventh with the bases loaded. A relay throw from left cut down a Falcon runner at the plate to end the contest.

Clipper Ship Days Come Alive

The days of the Clipper ships and the westward trek across America came alive at a recent meeting of Three Flags Chapter. Daughters of the American Revolution.

American Heritage was the theme of the program and the format was a "show and tell" session, with members displaying and telling about their favorite historical possessions. The meeting was in the home of Mrs. Robert Krsten of Redford Township.

Mrs. Thomas George of Farmington displayed her prized possessions, eight dishes of Cantonware, dating from the early 1800s, they were brought from China as gifts for Mrs. George's great-grandmother in Vermont, and traveled with her to the Western Reserve in Ohio, where she went as a bride in 1807. Her name was Louisa Maria Morris, and she was the daughter of Mrs. George's Revolutionary ancestor, Louis Morris.

Although the plates are of the same general pattern, no two are exactly alike. Each was painted by a different person.

Other interesting items included an unusual Victorian pickle jar, shown by Mrs. Charles E. Shaw of Farmington. This has a hanging top and hanging tongs. The silver is quadruple plated, and it has a glass insert for the pickles. This belonged to Mrs. Shaw's grandmother, who lived in Mt. Pleasant.

Another Farmington member, Mrs. John Knight, displayed a cut glass vinegar cruet in an unusual design. This dates from about 1880 and was owned by the grandmother of Mrs. Knight's aunt.

SAM ZAWIDEH, owner of Livonia's newest restaurant, the Cordoba, is seated at a salad bar separating the restaurant's two smaller dining rooms. The Cordoba, which opens Sunday, has a blend of Spanish and Moorish decor. (Observer photo)

Restaurant Has Spanish Decor, American Food

A visit to Spain last year has given the name and theme to Livonia's newest restaurant.

It's the Cordoba (housed in what was formerly Master's), across from the Livonia Mall on Seven Mile west of Middle Belt.

In redecorating and enlarging the inside of the Spanish style building, Sam Zawideh said he tried "to combine the gaiety of the Spanish with the sophistication of the Moors."

He estimates that it has cost around $150,000 to get the effects he wants, and to ready facilities for handling a lot of people.

It was Zawideh who made the trip to southern Spain, and was particularly impressed by Cordoba. Besides being noted for its blend of Moorish and Spanish, Cordoba is famous for its wines.

Wines will be on tap, from kegs set in the wall, when the new restaurant opens its doors for the first time to the public at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 20.

But the accent, according to Zawideh, will be on family dining. Prices will range from $2.95 for a dinner of home-chopped sirloin steak to $8.95 for a 22-ounce T-bone steak (U.S. Choice). A lobster dinner will be only $7.95.

And though the decor is Old World, the food will be American. Steaks and seafood dinners will be featured.

Each of the three dining areas features its own help-yourself salad bar, and you can go back as often as you wish.

One of the appetizers will be based on a Jordanese recipe. Called "falafil," according to Zawideh, "Nobody can eat just one."

If you'd prefer a cocktail with your dinner, fast service is guaranteed. Zawideh has installed a $20,000 electronic bar, and drinks are ready with the push of a button or two.

The highlight of the entryway is a huge brass rice cooker, imported from India.

Organists Plan Choral Clinic

DETROIT The Detroit chapter, American Guild of Organists, will hold its final dinner meeting of the season in Bushnell Congregational Church, 15000 Southfield Road, at 8:15 p.m., Monday, May 21.

Dr. William Lemons will conduct a choral clinic. He is chairman of the department of music and director of music at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga. New officers will be installed at 8.

Chorus Sings In Oak Park

OAK PARK The Oak Park Civic Chorus will present its fifth annual spring concert at 8 p.m., Sunday, May 20, in the Oak Park High School Auditorium. Tickets will be sold at the door.

Beyond this is a lounge with brass-topped small tables.

The dining-rooms, two of which seat 50 each and one 100-150, are lined with dark-stained cedar shakes and have red and black carpeting and black upholstery. Plenty of brass and copper are used throughout.

Upstairs is a banquet room, seating 200.

The new restaurant will be open seven days a week, 365 days a year, promises Zawideh, who gets a lot of help from his five children. He also owns the Encore restaurants in four metropolitan area malls, including the Livonia Mall.

The Cordoba's hours will be 11 a.m. to 11 p.m., Monday-Thursday; 11 a.m. to 12 p.m., Saturday; and 3 to 10 p.m., Sunday.

ONE OF THE first things to greet your eyes as you enter the Cordoba is this huge brass pot. Imported from India, it's a rice cooker.

Symphony Society Sets Annual Meet

The Plymouth Symphony Society will hold its annual meeting at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 23, in Plymouth Junior High West, Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon Road.

Reports on the past season will be presented and new board members will be nominated. Awards will be given to the society's 1973 scholarship winners.

Society members and their families are asked to take a dish to pass for a pot luck dinner and their own table service. Meats and beverages will be provided.

Artists Hear Exhibit Critic

BIRMINGHAM Under auspices of the Michigan Water Color Society, Dennis Adrian will give a talk in the Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook, at 8 p.m., Sunday, May 20.

Adrian is art critic of the Chicago Daily News and professor of art at Illinois Institute of Technology.

Adrian will be in Birmingham to jury the society's 27th annual exhibition, which will open June 9. The 27-year-old society was formed as a coalition of professional artists and now has more than 300 members.

Kennedy Film To Premiere

DETROIT The Detroit television premiere of the film "John F. Kennedy: Years of Lightning, Day of Drums" will be presented at 8:30 p.m., Tuesday, May 29, on WKBD-TV, Channel 50. May 29 marks the 58th anniversary of Pres. Kennedy's birth.

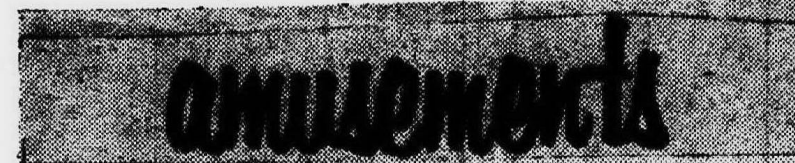

Originally produced by the U.S. Information Agency for exhibition in foreign countries, the 90-minute film is the story of Pres. Kennedy's two years and 10 months in office. It was made available for American theater and television audiences by a special act of congress.

14 Young Pianists To Play

Fourteen piano students ranging in age from 11 to 17 will take part in an honors recital under the auspices of Schoolcraft College's fine arts department.

It will be at 3:30 p.m. Sunday, May 20, in the Liberal Arts Theater on the SC campus, Haggerty Road, between Six and Seven Mile, Livonia.

As part of the department's continuing program to establish communication with private piano teachers and to provide an opportunity for talented young people to perform in public, piano teachers were requested to submit the names of three students for consideration.

Auditions were heard by Donald Morelock, head of Schoolcraft's piano department, and by Mrs. Mildred Livingston, a Livonia piano teacher. Evaluation sheets were mailed to the teachers.

Students were selected to play in the recital on the basis of their ratings and on the basis of building an interesting and varied program. Therefore, some students with high ratings were not chosen.

Plymouth Offers Art, Architecture Exhibits

Exhibitions of Michigan architecture and art go on display in Plymouth this weekend.

Both are being presented under sponsorship of the Plymouth Fine Arts Council in cooperation with the Michigan Council for the Arts. They will be open to the public without charge.

The art exhibit consists of more than 30 lithographs and drawings by John de Martelly, the versatile 66-year-old artist-in-residence at Michigan State University. These will be seen as part of a Kaleidoscope-Arts exhibit in the Masonic Temple, Plymouth. It will be open Sunday, May 20, through Thursday, May 24, and following that, it will be at Plymouth-Canton High School.

The architectural exhibit opens today (May 19) in the Dunning-Hough Library on Main Street and will be there until May 26. Then it will be moved to Plymouth-Salem High School, until June 15.

De Martelly, who was trained as a painter, is probably best known for his work in stone lithography. His forte for the past 26 years at MSU has been teaching students to draw their impressions in stone and then print the results.

In 1943 de Martelly was painting in New Hampshire and selling his work in New York City. Before that, he spent seven years as head of the graphic arts department at Kansas City Art Institute.

He has studied in England and Italy as well as in the U.S. The architectural exhibit consists of 30 large black and white photographs. It traces the progress of Michigan architecture since its statehood in 1837. The collection was assembled from a Wayne State University collection.

Emphasis is given to the work of three great Michigan architects, Albert Kahn (1869-1942); Eliel Saarinen (1873-1950); and his son, Eero Saarinen (1910-1961). Also featured are the Michigan works of Frank Lloyd Wright (1869-1959), considered one of America's greatest architects.

Mercy Offers Dance, Drama Workshops

DETROIT A summer theater workshop and a dance class will be offered to high school juniors and seniors as well as college students at Mercy College of Detroit, 8200 W. Outer Drive.

Classes will begin Monday, June 25, and run through July 28.

Three college credits will be offered for each program. Tuition for each is $100.

The workshops will conclude with the production of a play, including dance, for public performance.

Theater classes will meet daily from 11 a.m. to 12 noon and from 1 to 3 p.m. Dance classes will be from 9:30 to 11 a.m. daily.

Students Sell 'Pots, Prints'

BLOOMFIELD HILLS Cranbrook Academy of Art's student sale, "Pots and Prints," is being held from dawn to dusk May 19-21. It will be held at 500 Lone Pine Road.

Ceramic prices will start at $1 and print prices, at $10.

A CHILD'S TREE HOUSE is a perfect summer do-it-yourself project.

TURN THAT DREAM INTO YOUR REALITY

Do-it-yourself -- and turn that idea into reality.

The Observerlander armed with bucket and brush atop a 20 foot ladder isn't dreaming about a sun yellow house with white shutters and cascading petunias in his window boxes ... he's doing something about it.

New patios, porches and decks are ideal projects for summer home improvement ... so is building a backyard barbecue, constructing a window box and erecting an outdoor tree house ... providing of course you have a tree to hold it.

Many summer home improvement projects will center around the garden. Perhaps you will dig that new flower bed your wife's been talking about, or paint the back fence so those climbing roses will have a great backdrop for their performance.

But as we know, Michigan summers have their share of cool rainy weather ... so how about the indoor project you didn't have time to begin or complete during the long winter.

The children are off at camp or visiting grandma -- surprise them with a redecorated room -- designed and created by Mom and Dad. Adding small thoughtful touches to your bathroom may change it from a strictly utilitarian room to one which has an atmosphere all its own.

Those easy summertime meals may leave you enough leisure to think about making your kitchen more efficient with the addition of space savers.

Home improvement has more than the obvious function of improving a home. It is a statement about you and your family. It says that you are a unit, working with and for one another to add more beauty and purpose to your environment.

It says that you care ... and isn't that what it's all about.

RING AROUND WHAT WE HAVE DONE expresses a family's sense of accomplishment and togetherness following a group do-it-yourself activity.

COZY BATHROOM has towel and magazine rack easily constructed from two by fours, while heavy yard adds textural interest to window areas.

COMPACT MINI-BATH uses bicycle basket, closet tension poles, plastic bins and spice racks -- non-bathroom items -- to enliven it.

Pep Up Bathrooms With Lively Look

A shopping list that may take you from the housewares department to toys, then possibly to the hardware or the electrical supply house will supply the necessary items for facelifting a dull bathroom.

"It's so easy (and inexpensive) today to give your bathroom a lively new look. And to do it you don't have to replace all of the old plumbing fixtures and start from scratch." And a new booklet from Lady Scott makes a good supporting case for such a premise. It offers just what the title says: "130 Economical Easy-to-do Bathroom Decorative Ideas from Lady Scott."

OF ALL THE VOLUMES that have been written on bathroom design, either starting from scratch, or remodeling, there has been little written for the homeowner or apartment dweller who is not prepared to engage in a project that requires design expertise and, or a generous application of money.

Some of the accessories that can make a bathroom decor come alive are found in hardware, floral accessory, kitchen or hobby shops. As the book says: "There are so many common household objects that you can put to decorative use in your bathroom. Big wooden kitchen ladies make marvelous soapholders when hung from a hook in the shower."

EMPTY SQUIRT-TYPE OIL CANS

convert into bath oil containers. A flower arranger keeps toothbrushes and tweezers handy. So does a test tube holder. Bright colored canisters store extra rolls of bathroom tissue or toothpaste, shampoo and hair curlers.

Ben Hecksher, Lady Scott spokesman, said the booklet, with 11 four-color illustrations of bathrooms, also contains specific ideas for storage, lighting, floors and walls, windows and general accessories.

One of the objectives of the Lady Scott booklet was to provide sound hints that would function as present-ed in the format. No cute-sy ideas that would look good in illustrations, but be difficult to carry off were allowed, said Hecksher.

Using toy wooden building sets, such as Tinker Toys is a cute idea that functions as a handy rack. The idea of putting components together to create a rack for the top of the water tank proved useful for holding an extra box of facial tissue and extra bathroom tissue, and as a rack for drying wet face cloths.

The 32-page, four-color booklet with original ideas developed for the matching facial and bathroom tissue products from the Packaged Products Division of Scott Paper Company, is being offered free to consumers for proof of purchase from each of the Lady Scott products along with 15 cents for handling and postage.

Expand Your Living-- Create A New Patio

Nothing increases the pleasure of outdoor living as much as a patio.

Regardless of the site or location of your home, a patio will provide an extension of your living area and a variety of activities that will more than compensate for the initial investment.

Proper location is the key to enjoyment. Consider the relationship of the patio site to the living areas of the house, the rest of the outdoor area, the street, and the afternoon sunlight.

IF YOU CAN BUILD IT adjacent to the living room or dining room, it will provide an extension of lounging, dining, and entertaining areas, without creating the potential embarrassment of having guests pass through the kitchen or other working areas.

Although it should ideally be separated from other sections of the yard, where children may be playing while you're entertaining friends over cocktails, it should be an integral part of the landscaping, not a chunk out of an otherwise-useful setting.

If you must locate your patio close to the street, make thorough plans to ensure maximum privacy and quiet. A row of small trees, a high shrub, or an attractive fence enhanced by ground plants or climbers may be the answer.

You will want to test the site for sunlight and heat at various times of the day before beginning construction. An area that is shaded from the winter sun but that traps the summer sun is preferable. Shade trees should be placed according to the time of day you will be using the patio the most.

IN PLANTING FOR SHADE, don't forget the need for a breeze on hot summer nights. Or is your problem one of too much breeze? If so, the same type of shields used for the sun can be used to protect you from the wind.

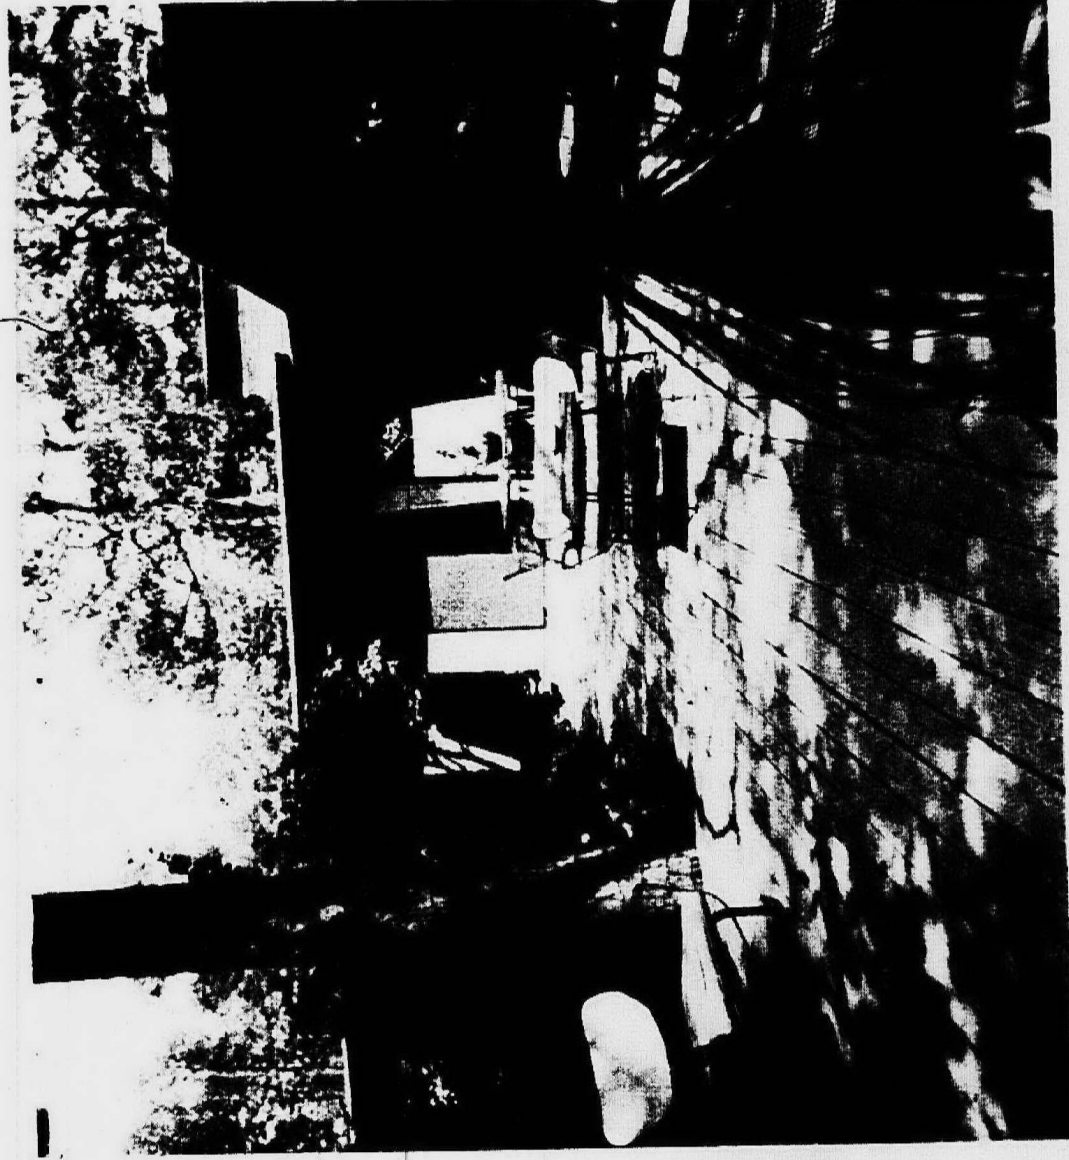

The ground cover should be both attractive and easy to care for. You might want to use brick, exposed aggregate, flagstone, ceramic tile, colored asphalt, or a wood deck. Used brick, which is inexpensive and easily available, is always attractive. You can lay it yourself, using sand and cement between the bricks.

If an entrance to the house opens onto the patio, make the patio surface the same level as the doorway, to facilitate carrying food or drinks in and out.

BE IMAGINATIVE in creating the patio design. Curving edges will add interest to your landscaping. What about leaving a hole in the surface for a tree or a shrub, if your patio is large? Or you may want to plan portable planters that can be rolled out of the way for dances and cocktail parties.

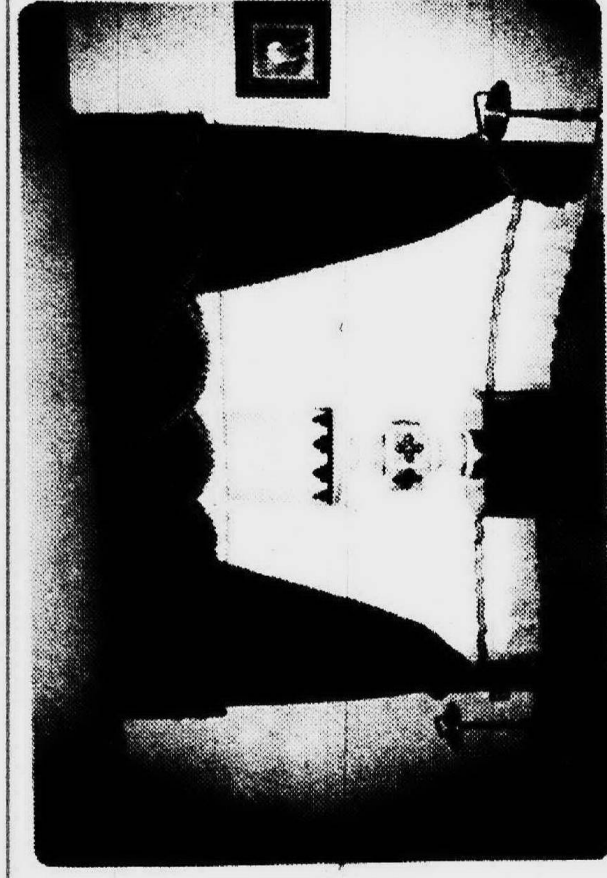

In planning trees for shade, be sure to avoid ones that drop flowers, fruit, or seeds onto the patio. Be sure to include room for some low shrubs and flowers in the vicinity. Potted geraniums, petunias, begonias, or heliotrope can be placed in corners or along edges of the patio to add color and to help blend the patio with the rest of the yard.

Whatever design you decide upon, think it through very carefully before beginning construction. Your patio will be a source of constant pleasure to your family for the life time of your home.

BUILD A PATIO that incorporates existing trees, add potted plants and flowers and you have another room for entertaining and relaxation.

ALL IN A WEEK-END, you can build an exciting outdoor living area.
Place three-foot modules of two by four-inch wood in alternating directions over bed of sand and gravel to form parquet-pattern deck. Wood in direct contact with ground should be preservative-treated.

BEDECK YOUR HOME WITH WOODEN DECK

Biggest room of the house for many families can be an outdoor room, simply by adding a wood deck to side or back yard, plus a privacy screen or sun shade if needed.

Happy new experiences await the family with an added deck, such as outdoor dining and entertaining, sunning or just relaxing with a good book.

A deck of western wood with built-in benches or patio furniture opens the way to discovering the joys of outdoor living in pleasant months, and it dries quickly for a play area between stormy spells.

A DECK FITS almost anywhere, enhancing any site, flat or sloping. It can be placed over a garage or driveway, off a second story or just one step off the ground.
Decks, of course, come in many styles, sizes and shapes. One popular pattern, especially suited for a flat lot, is a parquet deck with three-foot square sections placed over a bed of gravel and sand.
A 12-foot square version of this deck can be installed by the home handyman over a weekend. The 16

modules are nailed together in a jig, using 176 three-foot lengths of 2 x 4-inch Douglas fir or western cedar.

The site is excavated to hold three inches of sand over three inches of gravel. The modules are placed in alternate directions in a checkerboard pattern.

WOOD MEMBERS that come in direct contact with the ground should be treated with a preservative for longer life. Galvanized or non-ferrous nails are recommended.

It's also wise to check local building codes when a deck is to be attached to the house, and determining exactly where property lines run could prevent future problems.
For a plans booklet on parquet, hexagonal and raised decks, plus an eight-page color booklet of deck ideas, send 25 cents in coin to Western Wood Products Assn., Dept.

THE PERFECT COMPANION to your deck or patio is an outdoor fireplace. For Fireplace Pattern No. 73, send $1 cash, check or money

THE LADY IS... A CARPENTER

SO SIMPLE... Just like measuring for a pattern, explains Joyce Hartwell, the Lady Carpenter, as she instructs one of her pupils in the fine art of measuring for wall paneling.

As more and more of today's modern women, formerly adept at wielding a crochet hook, knitting needles and sewing machines, discover that the same skills and techniques can be readily adapted to using small hand power tools, their enthusiasm for home renovation projects grows, according to Joyce Hartwell, known professionally as the Lady Carpenter.

Mrs. Hartwell recently initiated a series of carpentry classes in New York City. "If registration for the course is a sample of the ladies' interest, they are even more enthusiastic to learn carpentry than they were to jump in the family car and head for the department store or shopping center on 'daisy sale' days."

THE LADY CARPENTER commented that those enrolling in the course do not seem to be content with plans for "puttering-projects." Most of them have a definite interest in carpentry.

The interest is partly because of their own creative urge and also the problem of hiring a professional carpenter for the home projects they want done.

The ladies are interested in learning to build, to panel, to decorate a wall, to handle a partition. They want to learn how to create dividers, customize closets and how to assemble furniture. They want to know how to seal, stain, varnish and paint their finished products, too.

They are tackling these projects with the same gusto and verve that they once used on the mound of baby diapers, the family lunch boxes, the draperies and bedspreads that they whipped up on the trusty family sewing machine.

Mrs. Hartwell, whose appearance is a constant surprise to people with a preconceived idea of what a carpenter should look like, is a statuesque, striking brunette usually attired in a flowing feminine maxi-skirt with turtle necked sweater.

HER LONG, JET BLACK HAIR hangs midway down her back and is normally held back with a colorful headband.

She herself has had a most interesting and diversified career in carpentry. As early as grammar school she took shop courses usually confined to the boys in school.

Because of a family illness, Joyce was forced to go to work earlier than usual and found herself in a series of boring, unexciting jobs that rarely utilized her natural creative talent and ability for carpentry.

At one point, as a photographer's assistant, she discovered that she could build better props for photography than she could buy.

She then decided to open her own shop where she both designed and sold furniture. Before long, however, the customers began to look more at her custom carpentry and cabinet work than at the furniture for sale. And so, ten years ago, The Lady Carpenter was born.

In discussing the role of women in the field of carpentry, Joyce feels very strongly that many women only need the right opportunity and the chance to become acquainted with the tools.

She insists that many show real genius once they learn to master power tools, which in her opinion are as easy to operate as the sewing machine and the electric knife in the kitchen.

Although the Lady Carpenter's scrapbook is filled with photographs of rooms she has created and built, although she handles the tools of her trade with ease and great efficiency, Joyce ruefully admits that some customers are reluctant to hire women for major projects.

IN THE CLASSROOM. The Lady Carpenter moves easily from student to student calling out advice and suggestions. Seeing her manipulating the power tools almost effortlessly, the students gain confidence. Once that happens, the ladies are ready.

In the event women feel that the world of carpentry might damage their winsome feminine appeal in the eyes of their menfolk, they can take note the tall, striking brunette with flashing eyes and classic profile is indeed a Mrs., a carpenter-and, a lady!

Shortcuts... To Home Beauty

cost much less than their natural wood counterparts.

CARPET VERSATILE

Keep worn out carpets for other purposes: to save garage floors under the car, for a pet mat, to protect the floor on rainy or snowy days, as a floor covering for a tree house or play house.

STOPLEAKS

Aluminum tape is effective for stopping leaks in metal downspouts.

KITCHEN HELPER

A pegboard in the kitchen can be utilized for spoons, spatulas, etc. that should be within quick and easy reach.

TAPE IT!
When painting windows and doors, use masking tape to keep paint off glass and walls. Any accidents should be wiped off quickly to make clean-up easier.

CARPET CURIO

Adhesive backed carpet tiles can do more than sit on a floor. Use them on window sills, on the back of a curio cabinet, as protective spots on doors that come into contact with furniture.

FOAM PLANKS

Planks for the ceiling which resemble limed and weathered wood are now on the market as well as "hand-hewn" beams molded of lightweight plastic foam. These "planks" are easy to handle, and

Ancient day gypsies carried their houses on their backs as they moved from town to town.

Modern day people lead an equally nomadic existence but with one exception. We must put away all our household equipment rather than keeping it on our backs. "Where to put what" is always a problem but can be solved with little space and money.

Take the accompanying idea picture as your example. It has all the modern day conveniences and practicality necessary for a workable food preparation-serving-eating area. It still provides adequate and attractive storage space.

THE IMPROVED UNIT shows how you can create a low cost area for storing everything from cumbersome entertainment-gourmet items, like fondue pots, to everyday essentials like dinner plates.

Often when incorporating eating areas into kitchens, valuable storage space is lost. But you can get more by improvising a room divider from second-hand filing cabinets.

To duplicate this look, remove all shelves from cabinets but leave the grooves or lips to serve as support for shelves once you determine the proper height to accommodate all your hard-to-store items. The cabinets have been spray painted enamel red to carry through the country casual look of dark latticed windows and patchwork covered table.

Finishing touches that give a decorator look include inexpensive porcelain knobs available in hardware or variety stores; lining shelves with red and white check, self-adhesive vinyl for quick damp-mop clean up; and simulated, plastic wood grain beams on ceiling.

ADDITIONAL COUNTRY CHARM is achieved with the use of a mock-chandelier made from recycled tin milkcan containers, here used as an eye appealing place to store and dry fresh herbs. The storage-serving area is eye appealing but even more important it works!

By placing heavy electrical appliances, trivets and serving pieces on bottom shelves, casserole or heavy pots on middle shelves, the storage dining area a little apart from the hustle of the kitchen.

tains a workable turntable that gives finger tip convenience to salt and pepper shakers, cream and sugar set or even table top centerpieces. This low cabinet also provides space to serve food from.

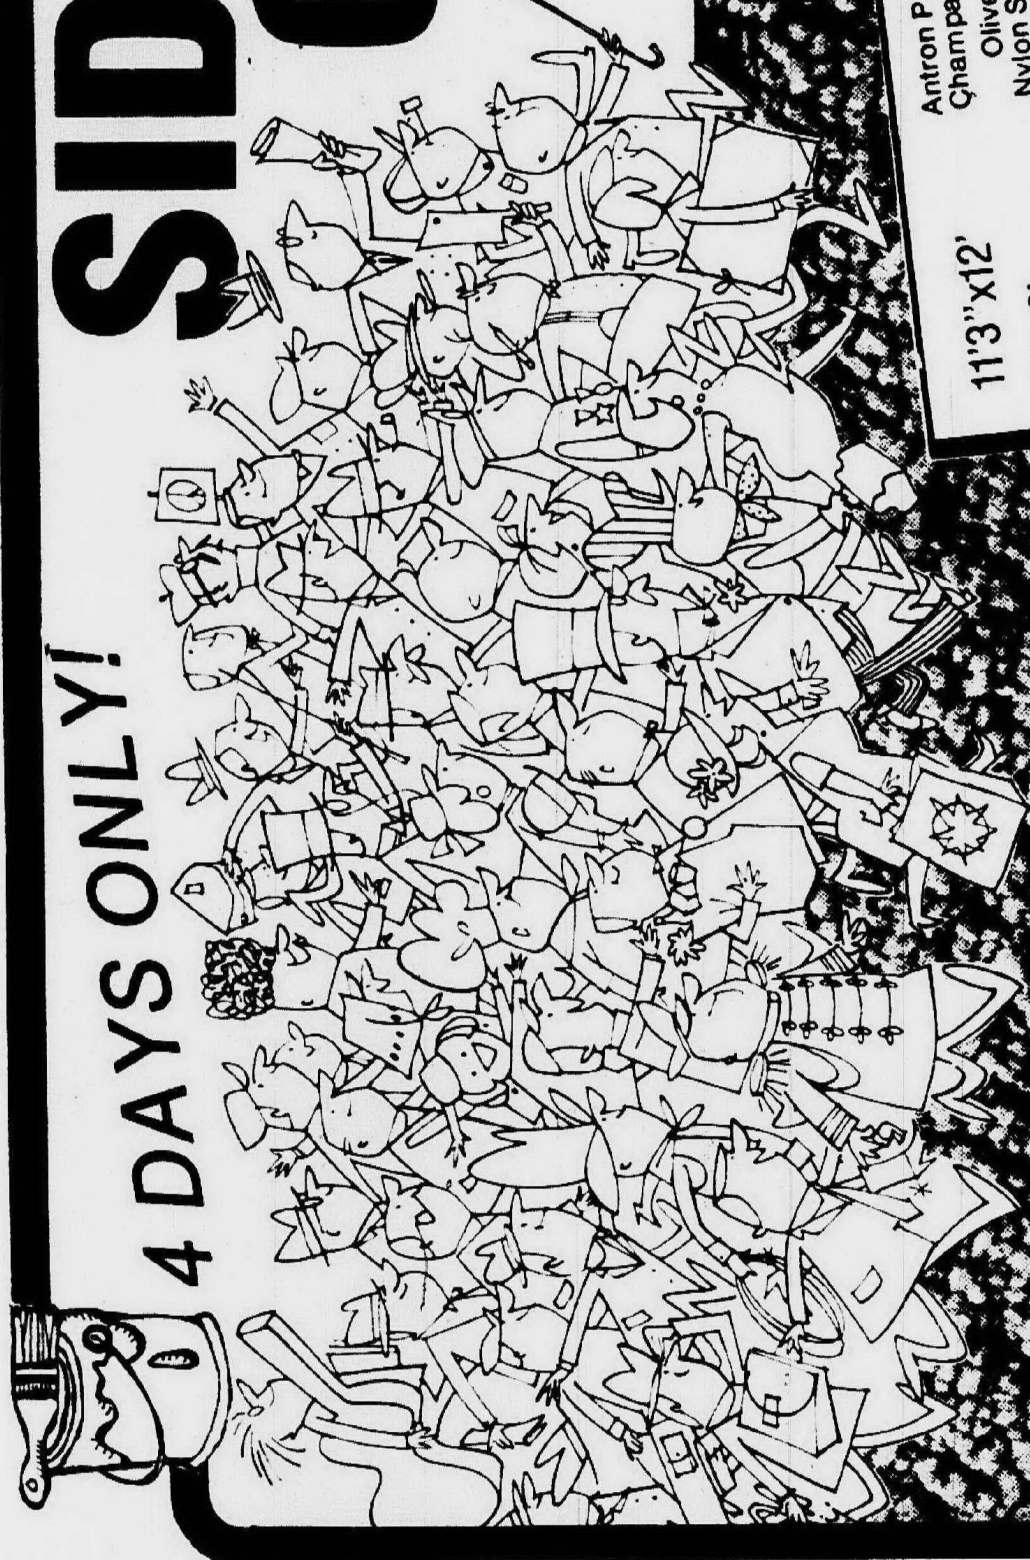

Equally useful is the tall cabinet that stands alongside the serving island. On the bottom shelf a lid rack cradles everything from large pot lids to platters or occasional serving pieces. Slide out drawers in the middle portion provide double the storage space to hold linens, hand and dish towels or even cans and boxes.

THE DIVIDER keeps everything within fingertip reach yet provides an attractive way to keep the dining area a little apart from the hustle of the kitchen.

Filigree Hardboard Adds Life, Interest

Texture, design and function. Wrap these three decorating elements into a three-in-one package and you have a versatile tool for adding interest in many areas of the home.

Filigree hardboard is the versatile tool which holds an open setting to charming, warm and inviting spots in the home that need "something" to give them life and interest.

As a room divider, a folding screen made with Filigree hardboard shields as it allows passage of air and light. For these reasons, such a screen is popular in a recreation room, living room or bedroom. It affords privacy without unduly darkening the room.

A temporary room divider, for example, would be perfect for the student's bedroom. Several four by eight foot Filigree panels, framed with pre-grooved one by two inch lumber, form a divider that separates study from sleeping area, for example. When the student leaves home, the divider may be removed or relocated.

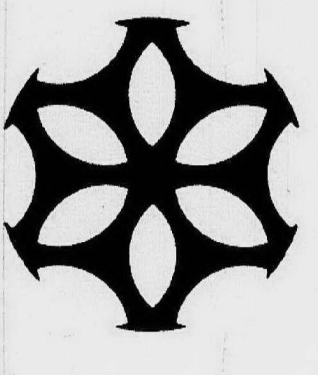

ROOM DIVIDERS like these are easy to construct. Lumber yards selling the perforated hardboard normally have Masonite's pre-grooved moldings and accessories for assembling them. The thin, smooth panels simply slip into the grooves. Frames are glued and nailed.

In the case of the folding screen, hinges fasten the panels together.

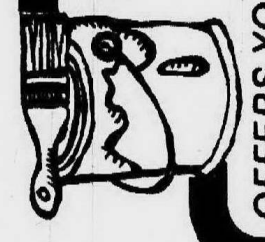

The completed ensemble may be primed and painted to suit the location, using roller, brush or spray.

To cover and illuminate basement ceilings, which many consider an eyesore, install lighting between some of the joists and cover the entire ceiling area with 16" x 8" panels of Filigree hardboard.

There are various other ways in which Filigree hardboard just 1/4-inch thick and smooth on both sides--can be used for texture, design and function in the home.

door appearance. They'll provide a nice frame for your flower boxes, as well!

So far so good. Once they are mounted, you might feel a creative urge to further beautify your window boxes by embellishing them with Pennsylvania Dutch type designs, or by simply trimming them with decals that carry out a particular theme.

Now look to the interiors of your window boxes, which is really what it's all about.

THE WORD TO REMEMBER is "plentiful." To be effective, your boxes should have a bursting, full to the brim look with the effect of bright, flourishing bouquets at each of your windows. If you're going to have sparsely filled boxes with straggly plants peeping over the edges, forget it. You'll be doing more harm than good.

Brightly colored geraniums interspersed with trailing vinca vines are the sentimental favorites for window box gardeners. They grow well in sunny spots and are a happy choice for those who wish to stay in an old-fashioned, traditional framework.

Other flowers will work just as well, depending on the effect you wish to create. Consider pansies, nasturtiums, fuchsia, marigolds, zinnias, lantanas and daisies. Begonias and impatiens will add charm to a shady spot.

Don't be afraid of using fairly tall flowers; they will not obscure your view in any major way, and besides, what could possibly be wrong with seeing the world outside your house amidst the latticed gaiety of brightly colored blossoms?

CREATE AN OVERALL theme by using the same types of flowers that you have planted at ground level for window boxes at first and second story heights. Find a color scheme, whether it's a dramatic one of red and white petunias or a subtle one, using shades of pinks, lavenders and purples, and carry it throughout your window box decor.

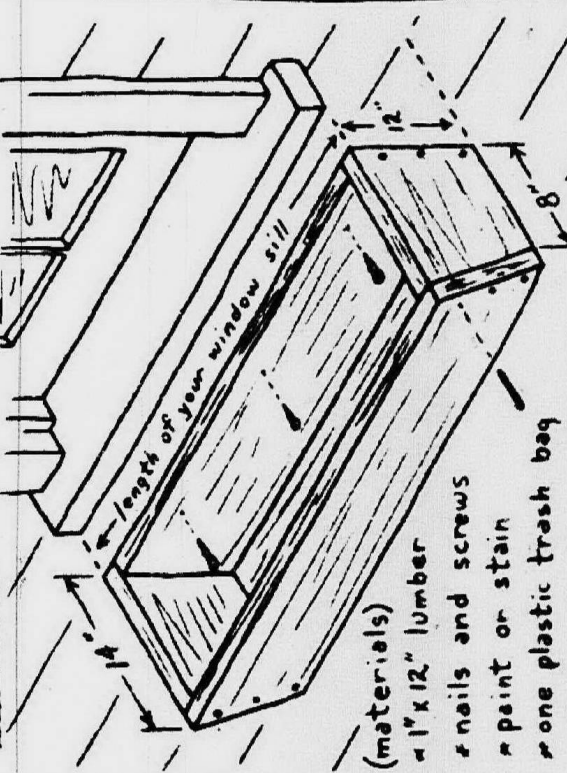

Balcony tops and railing edges are also good spots for gardens in a box. For extra window treatment, consider mounting a variety of flowerpots to your shutters in a Continental style.

Once finished you'll be able to step back and enjoy for many months the charm of your window gardens. Clothes don't make the man, they say, but it might be said that flower boxes can make the house!

PROTECT YOUR HOME

Summer Brings Out The Best In Burglars

By CAROL KATZ

Once you have taken bucket and brush, hammer and nails and the time and trouble to fix up your home, you may find you are more than ready to relax.

While the rest of us are away on vacations, picnics and often no further off than the backyard patio, burglars are planning their fun, in-doors with an eye towards other people's goodies—color TVs, stereos, cameras and anything else that can be pawned or sold.

"There is no doubt that burglary increases in the warmer months of the year," says Captain Daniel Byrnes of the Farmington Police Department. "People simply aren't home as often. While they might have spent their winter in front of the TV, they now plan more activities that take them away from home, such as vacations and simply browsing through the shops."

Spring and summer offer other advantages to burglars, as well. Footprints can be tracked with snow on the ground, but warmer weather provides no such give-aways for thieves who might have to make an emergency escape on foot.

Burglary, which is probably the most serious crime common to the suburbs, isn't exclusive to high priced, affluent subdivisions.

It is, in fact, medium priced homes in the $30,000 to $35,000 category that are most often targets for larceny, according to Captain Byrnes.

Burglars look for well established brick ranches and small colonials in settled neighborhoods," Byrnes pointed out. "They look for homes which are well maintained and well landscaped."

One burglar who combed subdivisions from Dearborn north to Farmington before getting caught explained his strategy to the police. Residents of order, moderate priced homes were more apt to be able to afford the goodies he was looking for.

New subdivisions in which the residents were often mortgaged to the hilt proved to have poor pickings, he pointed out.

Owners of expensive new homes were more apt to spend their money on furnishings and socializing than the kind of gadgets and small appliances that made his work worthwhile, although costly homes in older areas were considered to be good targets.

Captain Byrnes points to apartments with young marrieds as being other favorite targets because all residents are usually working during the day. If, because of an inadequate lock on the front door, a burglar is able to enter one of these buildings, he will have several living units to explore.

Theft is uncommon in apartments for the elderly because the residents are usually at home, Captain Byrnes added.

Theft often occurs because people unknowingly or carelessly invite burglars into their homes by not taking the right precautions. Worried about "crime in the streets" is fruitless; there are a number of steps that you can take that will discourage theft and help you to enjoy your fun in the sun season with increased security.

• PLANNING TO BE AWAY—Cancel all milk, newspaper and other deliveries by phone or in person ahead of time. Do not leave notes.

• DON'T ADVERTISE YOUR ABSENCE—An article in the local paper which says that "Mr. and Mrs. Smith are embarking on an extended tour of exotic Zanzibar..." complete with pictures of the going away party is an engraved invitation for a burglar to invade your home. As a matter of fact, some criminals specialize in going away announcements. An article on your return will serve just as well.

• ARRANGE FOR LAWN CARE—and have someone remove advertising circulars and other debris regularly.

• NOTIFY THE POST OFFICE to forward your mail or have a trustworthy person pick it up daily.

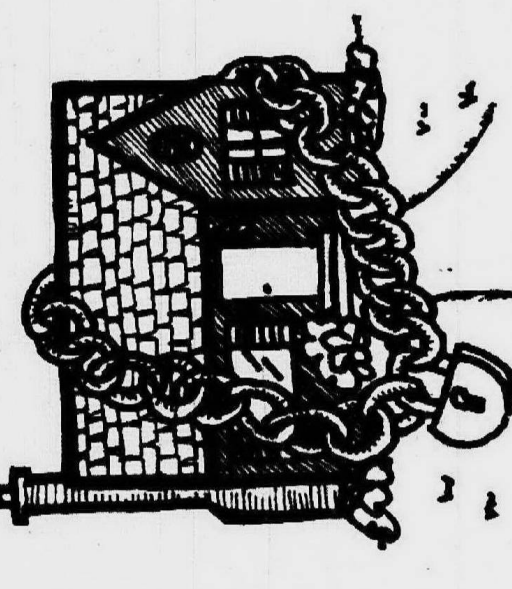

• CONTACT YOUR POLICE DEPARTMENT and inform them of your proposed absence so they can be extra alert for suspicious persons. Special attention will be given to your premises while you are away.

• NOTIFY A TRUSTED NEIGHBOR of your absence and leave him a key. Direct him to vary the positions of drapes, shades and blinds. Timers may be purchased that will turn your lights on and off during your absence, but make sure these, too, are varied.

"Thieves are smart," points out Captain Byrnes. "If a burglar observes lights going on at precisely the same time every night, he'll know for sure that you're not home."

• TURN DOWN YOUR TELEPHONE to its lowest level. A ringing phone is another good indication that no one is home.

• CHECK LOCKS on doors, windows and garage. Padlocked gates will also discourage many would-be thieves.

Even if you're not planning a lengthy vacation, remember that your home can be burglarized while you're no further away than your nearest shopping center. The following tips are recommended by police experts for every homeowner and apartment dweller.

DEADBOLT LOCKS AND DOOR CHAINS offer the best protection. After you move into a house, it is a good idea to have the tumblers of the locks reset. After all, you don't know how many people are in possession of keys that will open the old locks!

LOCK WINDOWS or install window locks on windows left open for ventilation. This will limit openings to spaces small enough to forestall entry.

SLIDING GLASS DOORS are often the weakest point of suburban homes. Insert a stick or broom handle in the lower track to prevent easy opening.

TOOLS AND LADDERS should never be left lying around. Don't provide a thief with the perfect means to enter your home.

CLOSE YOUR GARAGE DOOR! An open garage with no cars inside tells the world that nobody is home. Houses with attached garages are especially good targets for thieves, points out Captain Byrnes. "If the garage door is open, the burglar can simply walk into the garage and fool around with the lock on the door to the house for as long as 10 minutes without being seen," he warns.

Stolen goods can be returned to their owners, but not without citizen cooperation. Many police departments are now encouraging people to engrave their driver's license number or social security number on valuable merchandise with the aid of electrical engravers which the police themselves will provide.

Farmington's new "Project Theftguard" is one such program being offered in the Observer area. Boy Scouts will be canvassing the community to acquaint people with the advantages of engraving their valuables as well as recording the serial numbers of other items so they can be traced.

Window stickers reading "This house is protected by Project Theftguard" will also be given out.

"This type of program was originated in a small town in California and burglaries were completely eliminated as a result," points out Captain Byrnes. "Highland Park has tried it with considerable success, as well. It's amazing how many would-be thieves are discouraged from entering a home with a theftguard sticker. They just don't want to run the risk of being caught with merchandise that can be traced."

As it is now, too many people are completely unable to identify their stolen goods. "Many individuals don't even know the make of their television set," comments Byrnes. "They can tell us that it was a colorial style and that it had a 21" picture, but nothing else. With such a lack of information the item can rarely be returned to its proper owner."

Bicycle licensing is important for the same reason. Often, a bike may be taken for a joy ride by a youngster who later dumps it somewhere so that his parents won't see it. "It might be laying only a half mile from the owner's home but it can't be returned without the proper identification," explains Byrnes.

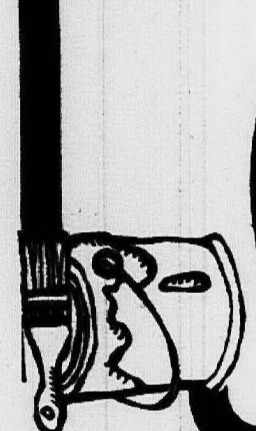

Amazed by the number of witnesses to a crime who never speak up or call the police, Byrnes recalls cases in which burglars have loaded merchandise onto waiting U-Haul trucks in broad daylight while neighbors merely watched.

One woman observed thieves loading a truck with practically all the suits from a clothing store at six o'clock in the morning without notifying the police. When questioned later she explained that she thought the suits were merely taken out to be dry-cleaned.

"People just don't seem to think that others can be so brazen," Captain Byrnes said. "But they can."

The fact that neighbors seldom report crimes of theft is attributed by Byrnes to the desire for not "getting involved" and for not "wanting to make trouble." The fact is that by not reporting a possible theft, people are practically insuring someone else of getting robbed in the future," he reports.

Your home with its possessions does not have to be a sitting duck for burglars. By taking the necessary precautions you will be helping to fight crime as well as insuring for yourself a happier sun time season.
