For The Summer

At the conclusion of the parade in which all of the veterans will take part, the scene switches to Kellogg Park. Here, State Sen. Carl Pursell will deliver the official Memorial Day address to what is hoped to be the largest gathering in years.

The parade, which has come to be looked upon as one of the best in western Wayne County, will be under the sponsorship of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It is to form on the parking lot in the rear of Central Middle School at 10 a.m. and then move a half hour later to the stands in Kellogg Park.

Headed by the VFW Color Guiard and Drill Team, it will be featured by the participation of the Senior High Marching Band that appeared in the Tournament of Roses, under the direction of James Griffith, and the West Middle School Marching Band under the direction of Jeffery Drifmeyer.

With them in the procession will be Boy Scout Pack 1539 from Fiegel School with Bob Ewald as the leader. Mrs. Don Sarkozy, troop services director for Allen School Cluster will present her group. Mrs. Don Hartley will have Troop 304 from Fiegel School. Mrs. Robert Young will have the brownie troop from Allen School and Troop 216 of Allen School will be under the leadership of Miss Chris Leader.

Past Commander Fred L. Johnson of the American Legion will serve as master of ceremonies at the Kellogg Park program, where the invocation will be given by Capt. Warren Yoder of the Salvation Army and suitable tributes will be paid by Mayor James McKeon and J.D. McLaren, Plymouth Township supervisor.

Others on the program will include Legion Commander Ross Snow, Legion Auxiliary President Mae Hoelscher, VFW Commander Don Totten and VFW Auxiliary President Dorothy Erickson.

Richard Kelley, 333 Arthur Street, will present "Flanders Fields" and the gun salute over the Rock will be given by the VFW drill team.

Then, in the quiet of the park "Taps" will be sounded by Harry Krumm of the VFW.

Among the honored guests, too, will be the Gold Star Mothers of Plymouth who will include Alicia Estep, 512 North Mill; Carrie Gladston, 175 North Mill; Lorraine Henderson, 357 North Evergreen; Elsie Toby, 1024 Wing and Alma Bridge, 845 Hartsough.

Following the ceremonies the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps Assn. President Don Tripp and his wife, Barbara, will present a fife and drum concert.

There will be 30 members in the group, the youngest 10 and the oldest 19. They'll be under the direction of Mark Petty and his wife, Carol.

It promises to be a fitting climax to the Memorial Day ceremonies.

For Office Use

By RICH MCCULLEN

The old C&O freight house that has stood on Starkweather for almost a century may be spared as one of the city's landmarks. It was doomed to destruction, but a plan is now under way whereby Robert W. Stine, a Southfield architect, will purchase the historical structure and move it across the street for use as an office building.

The architect, who claims a special interest in historical preservation, told the City Commission that he has been looking for a "well used" building for a unique office facility and that the old freight house filled the bill.

Several weeks ago the giant scales were taken from the building and presented to the 4-H Club for its fair in Belleville.

Family Life Meeting Planned By GR Baptist

Grand River Baptist Church's first Family Life Conference will be held Friday through Sunday, June 1-3.

Dr. Forrest Stevenson, well known in the Detroit area as a Christian psychologist, will be guest speaker and leader of the conference.

In six sessions during the three days, Dr. Stevenson will cover many aspects of family living with reference Christian ethics and to ideals.

All in the area are invited by the Rev. Errol Bosley, pastor of Grand River Baptist, to participate. The church is located at 34500 Six Mile, just west of Farmington Road.

Rev. Bosley described the upcoming conference as "a time when people get together and take a deep look at what the family is, where the family is going in today's society and how we can develop stronger family ties."

"Take a moment," he added, "to consider the problems arising in your home and bring those problems and questions you may have, or your solutions for living a at 7 p.m. on "The Apron and more Christian life.

Ordinarily, this title could vices, be entirely appropriate for name-calling what should be the eternally fraternal relationship which. ideally, should exist among Christian clergymen.

But there are literally hundreds of clergy in this furiously embattled denomination who regard Jake Preus' big brotherhood as something bruiser. Dr. Robert Preus is akin to the experience of Joseph (Genesis 37:12) - whose big brothers dropped him into a pit and then shipped him out of the country.

For they are the denomination's moderates - trans- a lation: they cannot honestly believe that such obvious Hebrew myths as the Jonah fish story, or a world created in 144 hours, are literal history.

Because of this, President Preus has purged a number of the headquarters personnel (after solemnly promising, at the time of his election that "No heads will roll"). He has also launched a boffo Holy Inquisition at one of the nation's top theological seminaries, Concordia in St. Louis -- causing its very accreditation to be threatened.

President Preus comes up for reelection this July 7 at the denomination's biennial convention in New Orleans. The embattled moderates tried to draft famed Lutheran Hour radio preacher Osvald Hoffman.

Speaking of bruises and brothers, President Preus has a brother who is indeed a a faculty member at the same Concordia Seminary where Brother Jake has been conducting his Grand Inquisition.

Brother Bob also writes for pamphlet called "Affirm" (which might more appropriately be called "Affright.")

In a recent issue, Brother Bob zeroed in on one of the Missouri Synod's most distinguished (even though moderate) theologians, Dr. Martin E. Marty of Chicago. According to Brother Bob, City, at 2 p.m.

'Dinghy' Sharp Named observin Michigan Woman Of Year

Karen Walker Is Recent Bride

Karen Patricia Walker and David Thomas Riley were united in marriage in a recent ceremony in Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Farmington.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Walker of Cheshire, England, formerly of Farmington. Mr. and Mrs. James T. Riley of Fremont, Ohio, are the bridegroom's parents.

Officiating for the nuptial mass was the Rev. Robert Rokusek, and the bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

She wore a victorian gown of nylon organza with satin and lace trim and a large white lace hat banded in satin ribbon. White roses, miniature pink rosebuds and miniature carnations were in her edwardian bouquet.

Her twin sister, Kathryn Walker of Detroit, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were two other sisters, Mrs. Barbara Fisher of Royal Oak and Margaret Walker of Cheshire, and Janice O'Brien of Westphalia. Carol Lynn Walker, the bride's youngest sister, was junior bridesmaid.

All wore pink dotted voile A-line dresses. The best man's place in

Gilmartin Aces 16th

Livonia Industrial Coordinator Dan Gilmartin had # successful day Thursday. Gilmartin hosted an annual city luncheon honoring industries and businesses new to Livonia. Later that afternoon, Gilmartin dropped in a hole in one at the city golf course.

Gilmartin's ace came at the Whispering Willows par 3, 125-yard, 16th hole. The shot helped him to a 45 for the round.

The city official had plenty of witnesses for the shot. He was playing in a foursome of City Attorney Harry Tatigian, Bill Coley of Plymouth and Robert Walker of Livonia. In addition, a group of golfers near the green witnessed the shot.

Gilmartin, who has been playing golf only three years, made the shot with an eight iron. He said the ball hit about 10 feet in front of the cup and took two bounces into the hole.

Toro reveals the 7 secrets of a well-engineered mower

1. It must be designed for safety. Toro pioneered the use of rear toe guards and side stone deflectors. Toro tests incessantly for safety.

2. It must be durable. Toro* mowers are engineered for simplicity. The fewer moving parts, the less there is to go wrong.

3. It must start reliably. Toro's "Key-Lectric"[®] models start with a key. Pull-start models start with minimum effort.

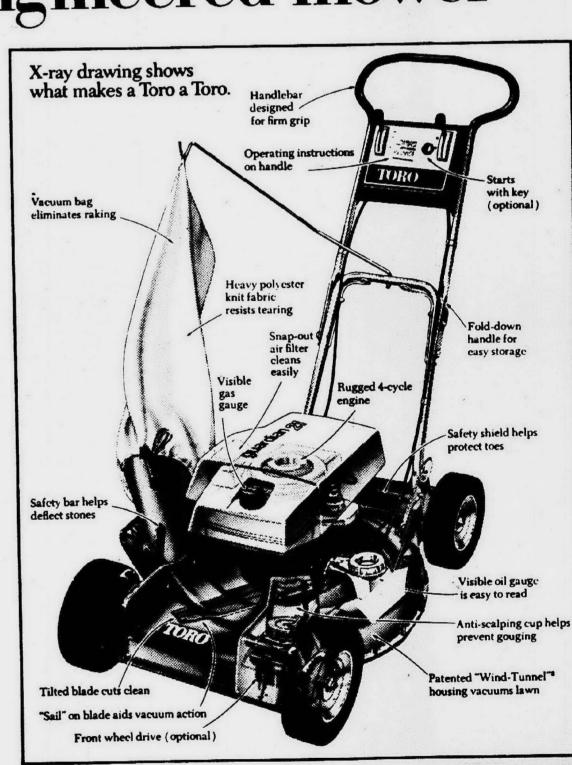

4. It must handle easily. Toro mowers are lightweight. Self-propelled models have front-wheel drive, which makes turning effortless.

5. Its blade must cut clean. Toro's blade has a "sail" that whips grass upright for a clean cut. At its center is an anti-scalping cup to help prevent gouging.

6. It mustn't clog on clippings. Toro's "Wind-Tunnel" housing creates a powerful vacuum suction to whisk away clippings. With the bag, you don't have to rake.

7. It must be easy to maintain. A Toro mower is engineered for easy home maintenance. Oil drains easily, blade sharpens with a file.

Toro parts and workmanship are guaranteed for a year, transportation costs excluded.

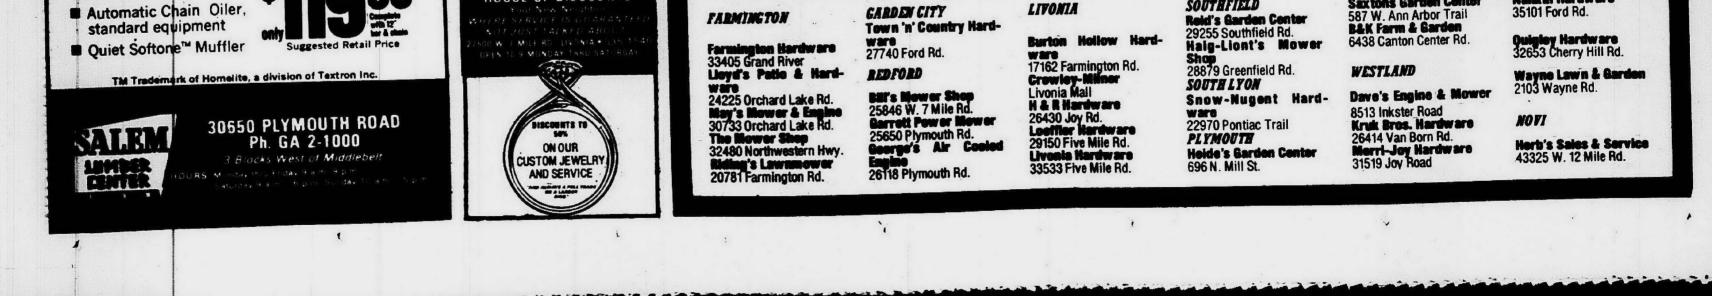

Haven't you done without a Toro long enough?

ÓBBBENEYNewspagary, Way 28, 1673 . 31 pliance Doesn't Work? Check the Plug... AD

Do you know what one of the ma-or problems is with electric appliances today? Faulty workmanship? A loose part? Guess again. Often it is simply the fact that you forgot to put in the plug. That's right. This simple maneu-ver is so largely ignored that it ac-counts for innumerable, unneces-sary service calls that cost both money and embarrassment. Nation-al statistics show that one-third to one-half of all service calls today are not necessary. So, before you leap for the phone to call your appliance repairman, check to see if the appliance is plugged in. If it is, there still are some other things you can do before making that service call, advises the Electric Energy Association.

• Plugs and Cords: Is the plug firmly inserted into the wall outlet? If the prongs fit loosely in the outlet, they may not be making good electrical contact. Bend the prongs slightly outward with a pair of pliers to make them fit tightly in the outlet. If the prongs are coated with dirt or corrosion, clean them with fine sandpaper. But never use wet steel wool: this dampens the prong, which could then cause a short circuit when plugged in.

If the wires of the cord are at-tached to the plug by screws, make sure they are tight. Check the cord for wear and tear and replace it if necessary. On some appliances --certain ranges and dryers for in-stance -- cord replacement should be done by a serviceman. To dis-connect an appliance always grasp the plug, not the cord, when remov-ing it from the wall outlet.

• Fuses and Circuit Breakers: Has the fuse or circuit breaker in the appliance circuit blown? If so, re-place the fuse or reset the circuit breaker if required. If the circuit blows again, call your serviceman. Also, check the electricity in the rest of the house. Check to see if the Freezer Failure In Case Of...

Knowing what to do in a power failure can save food in your freezer. Use the following pre-cautions to prepare for and handle such an emergency, advises Michigan State Uni-versity Consumer Marketing Specialist Ada Shinabarger. Have on hand several extra fuses and a fist of local repu-table repairmen and dry Ice supplier. When the freezer stops, check immediately for the

When the freezer stope, check immediately for the cause of the problem. You may simply have to replace a fuse, the specialist explains. If the problem is power fail-ure, avoid opening the freezer. Food in a full loaded freezer.

Food in a full loaded freezer will usually remain frozen for two days; in a less-than-half filled freezer, for one day. If possible add dry ice to the freezer, handling with gloves to avoid burning your hands.

main fuse has blown. If so, call an electrician. • Wall Outlets: These sometimes go dead through a malfunction of the receptacle inside the outlet box or a loose connection. Check to see if there is power in the outlet by plugging in a lamp or a small appliance you know is working. If it does not work when plugged in, the outlet is dead and should be repaired by an electrician.

• Switches: Be sure that, if there is a switch on the appliance or in the appliance circuit, it is set at the "on" position. Some types of switches and controls on appliances are very sensitive and their appearing to be "on" may be deceiving. Always doublecheck the switch.

 Overload Protectors: All mo-tor-drivenappliances have an "over-load protector" on the motor. If there is an overload, or if the motor becomes overheated, this protector will turn off the power to the appliance.

After the overload has been re-moved, or the motor has cooled down, the switch on the protector can be reset and the appliance op-erated. Some overload protectors reset automatically.

• Temporary Power Failures: These can occur from time to time, usually for a short duration. If there is no electric power in the house, see if your neighbors have power. If they don't, report the matter to your electric utility company. If they do have power but you don't, the main fuse has probably blown. Replace the fuse and, if you still don't have power, call your utility.

Home Appliances Aid Women's Liberation

Women's liberation began and has been nurtured and fortified by man's ability to invent and perfect the home appliance. As a steady progression of work and time saving devices comes off the drawing board, out of produc-tion and into the stores, modern housewives eagerly take them into their hearts and homes. In these days of morning tennis matches, afternoon bridge games and evening PTA meetings, it is dif-ficult to conceive that once upon a time the tasks involved in cooking and cleaning wholly occupied the woman of the house.

Ideally, the time saved by the use of various appliances can be filled by spending more time at leisure with your family, developing an in-terest or hobby, taking a job which utilizes your particular abilities or enjoying the more creative aspects of having a home: sewing curtains for the kitchen, preparing gourmet meals, growing greenery--indoors or out. Home appliances may prove to be the angels or the goats in opening up a new way of life and thought to women, as historians look back on our modern era. Perhaps you'll have more respect for that garbage disposal or refrig-erator, next time you are in contact. Without it, your destiny could be a whole lot different!

WHICH APPLIANCE TURNS YOU ON?

If you could have just one of your home appliances which would you choose? This question was asked of ten Observerland women in a recent at-random telephone survey in an at-tempt to find out the most in-dispensable home appliance. The result was no clear-cut victory for a particular home appliance, al-though four out of ten women pre-ferred their refrigerators over the rest. MRS. ALVIN MORGAN, of Farm-ington, picked the refrigerator "be-cause you have to have food on hand. You can cook anywhere--as long as you have a match," she added, "but you can't always be run-ning to the market... particularly if the weather is bad." "The refrigerator, that's the basic appliance," MRS. JAMES LAND-SMAN, of Southfield, agreed. "We just can't live without one anymore." MRS. LARRY KROMLEY, of Li-vonia, said, "You can cook without a stove, but you have to store food somewhere." And MRS. CHARLES PARMER, of Plymouth, believes that "the refrigerator-freezer is almost a necessity."

Not to MRS. DUANE NEWTON, of

Not to MHS. DUANE NEW TON, of Plymouth, who flatly maintains that she could not get along without her garbage disposal. "It saves me the most time and trouble," she said. "I can remember years ago grow-ing up in the South the smell of that paper-wrapped garbage," she re-called. "We had below-the-ground garbage cans and it was picked up about three times a week, but you could still smell it." MRS. EDYTHE MANSEAU, of Farmington, believes that the wash-ing machine is the most important appliance--at least where she lives. Mrs. Manseau, who resides with her daughter and son-in-law and their nine children helps with the "wash-ing for 12. "Actually, we could use two washing machines," she said. "I hate dishwashing," MRS. DE-WEY STEVENS, of Southfield, stated firmly. So for Mrs. Stevens her automatic dishwasher is the most important appliance. MRS. KENNETH JACOBS, of Plymouth, "completely hates to do dishes" and picked the dishwasher also. "In the summer it's just so nice to stick those dishes in and go out-side and enjoy the evening." To MRS. AUTHUR TROST, of Li-vonia, the range is the basic appli-ance because "we like to eat. I don't like cooking over an open fire," she said. "Cleaning the oven, that's the job I hated most in the whole world." ac-cording to MRS. DONALD LEIDAL. She is convinced that her self-clean-ing oven is the perfect appliance. "I can use the rotisseree without worrying about the clean-up job I will have tomorrow," she said with satisfaction. "It just makes house-hold drudgery a lot less."

Freezer Blueprint

ORGANIZE YOUR FREEZER if it is an upright by dividing it as follows: (1) automatic ice maker; (2) breads, desserts, ice cream; (3) and (4) temporary storage, fast-freezing; (5) stackable pkgs. of meat, frozen vegetables, fruits; (6) irregularly shaped pkgs. of meats, poultry, fish. On vegetables, fruits; (10) juice concentrates; (11) frozen punches, butter or tables, fruits; (10) juice concentrates; (11) frozen punches, butter or margarine, cheese; (12) frozen dinners and other fully-prepared foods; (13) home prepared soups, sauces, stocks.

A CHEST FREEZER has two tiers of removable roller baskets and below these moveable dividers. Experts suggest you fill the sections like this: (1) desserts, ice cream, baked products; (2) frequently used frozen vegetables; (3) access area; (4) frozen fruits and juice concentrates. In second tier: (5) flat, stackable pkgs. of meats, poultry, etc. (6) fully prepared main dishes, frozen dinners; (8) free area for fast-freezing. Below baskets keep (9) bulky packages of meat, etc.; (10) cakes and other desserts or fast freezing; (11) other bulky pkgs. (stocks, soups)

The benefits of a home freezer are numerous: It's a reliable "pantry" for your own produce, a cache for gour-met do-aheads, and a budget-sparer that lets you take advantage of seasonal best buys.

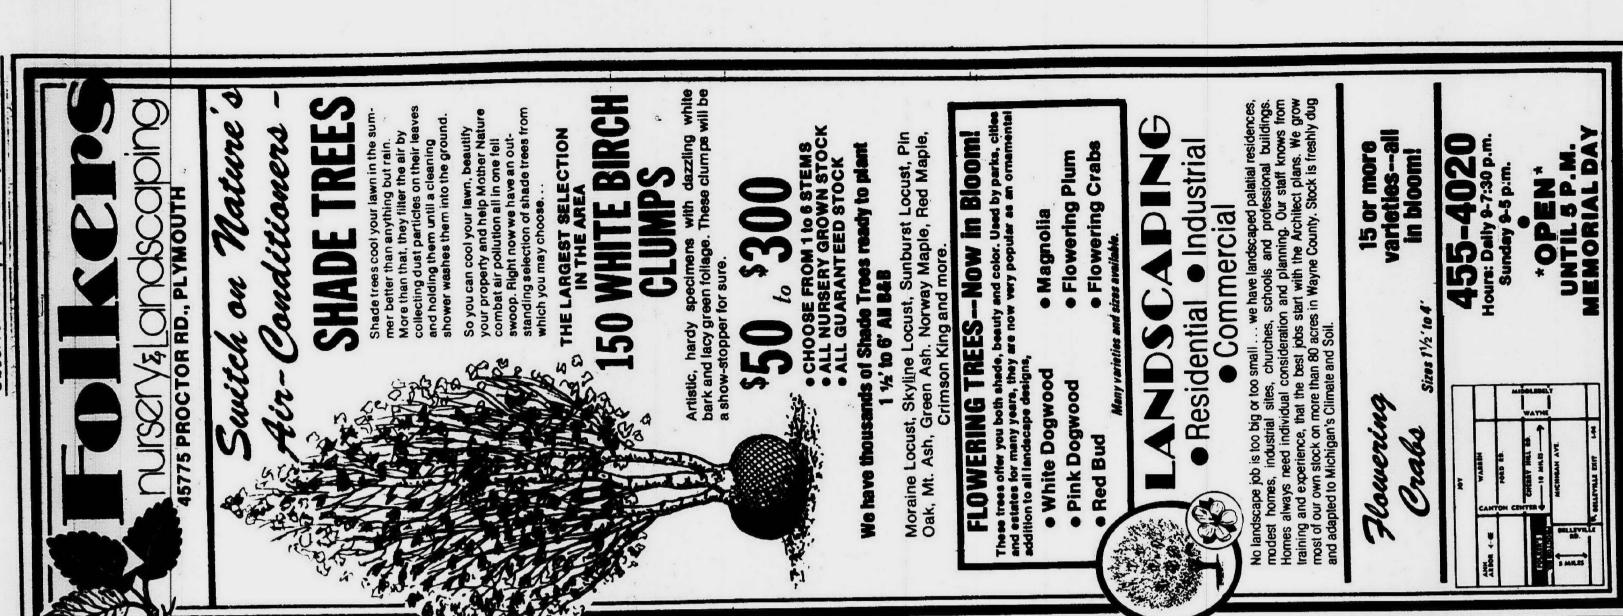

But a freezer's advantages are multiplied if you follow an orderly storage system that tells you where things are and when they should be used.

LABELING AND DATING all foods (even commercially packaged food) is an important first step, ac-cording to home economists. Mas-king or freezer tape, a marking pen or crayon and an inventory sheet are the tools you will need. The inventory sheet can be kept in chronological order, it can be orga-nized into sections the same as the freezer. Cross off items as they are used and add new ones as they are stored. Be sure to follow the rule of first-in, first-out.

You will find it easier to locate what you need if you always store like items together. Odd-shaped pieces of meat might go in one area, stackable meats in another. Fully prepared home recipes might go in a third area.

The most frequently used items should be in the handlest spots. For many families, this means frozen vegetables, juice concentrates and ice cream.

DVICE OFFERED N DISHWASHER USE, OPERATION

Women who have hands that hus-bands or boy friends admire often give the credit to the fact that they have an automatic dishwasher. Although today's electric appli-ances are relatively trouble-free and should give years of dependable service, occasionally something can go wrong. If this happens you don't have to panic because thanks to some tips from the Electric Energy Association you can spot the trouble

If your automatic dishwasher does not operate it may be one of these problems: Association you can s and learn how to fix it.

PROBLEM: Dishes not getting

CAUSE: Water is not hot enough. REMEDY: For proper dish-washing, water should be at 150 de-grees at the faucet. Follow the man-ufacturer's directions and have the water heater thermostat adjusted. On portable dishwashers, allow the water to run hot from the faucet before starting the dishwasher. Perhaps the door latch is not closed completely. In this case, recl-ose the door and latch it securely. Also check to see if the cycle control is on the proper setting in accor-dance with the manufacturer's di-rections.

IF THE PROBLEM IS that the unit does not fill with water and the light is on, indicating there is power to the dishwasher, perhaps the faucet is not open (on portable models) or the shutoff valves on the water lines are closed. To correct, check the faucets or the shutoff valves to be sure they are open.

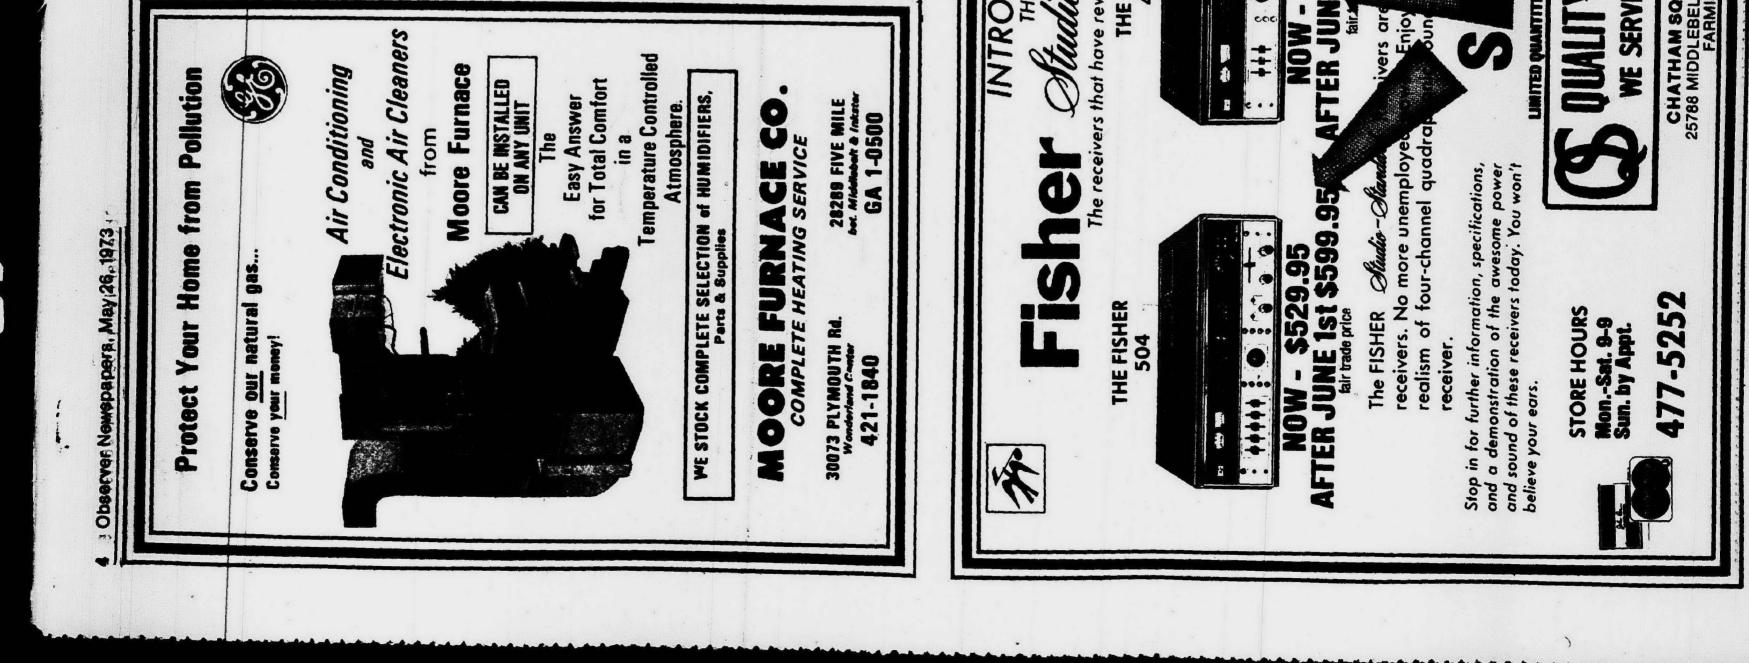

IF DETERGENT REMAINS in the cup dispenser after the washing cycle has been completed maybe the old detergent is caked in the cup, or the detergent was allowed to stand in the cup too long before you turned on the dishwasher. To fix, follow the manufacturer's directions on the amount and correct type of detergent to use.

To prevent the detergent from caking in the cup, always make sure the cup is dry before filling it with detergent. Also check to see if the water is hot enough or if dishes or pots and pans could be blocking the flow of water to the dispenser.

IF YOUR DISHWASHER leaks when in operation, you may be using the wrong kind of detergent. You should follow the manufacturer's directions on the type and amount of detergent, and be sure to use detergent specifically made for dishwashers.

Appliance Refinishing It Can Be Done...

By JUDITH BERNE

You just saw a house that you really like, but the kitchen appliances are harvest gold and you have an almost-new turquoise refrigerator. do... What to rrigerator. Although your realtor, husband and sister-in-law may tell you that it will really look all right, you know in your heart it won't. Rather than stare at a turquoise refrigerator which consistantly rem-inds you that it should be harvest gold, and rather than give up that really great house, you have a better option: you can have your refrig-erator tinted the same color as the really great house, you have a better option: you can have your refrig-erator tinted the same color as the rest of your appliances, if you are willing to pay the price. At "Appliance Refinishers" at 16035 Plymouth Road in Detroit, just southeast of the Observerland area, Lois Laesch will refinish your refrig-erator, dishwasher and or vent-hood to a new color to match or coordinate with almost any color scheme. Stove tops are made of mave on an appliance," Miss Laesch Miss Laesch, who has been paint-ing appliances for about four years, answered an ad in the paper to do "masking and sanding." Before 1 knew it, I was doing the whole thing. Miss Laesch said. "LOTS OF PEOPLE are surprised when they find out that the refinisher is a woman," she continued. "But after all, who really cares about re-frigerators. Men just want them to keep their beer cold. But a woman cares about how they look." All orders come in by phone and are taken by Janet McCormick. "It it's the matter of a scratch. we can be can be and repair it." All complete refinishing jobs are done at the shop and brought in by a cartage firm. Average prices run $35 for a dishwasher, $26 for a vent-hood and $67.50 for an average-size double door refrigerator. All prices exclude cartage. "I couldn't even paint my kitchen," Miss Laesch admitted, when she originally began the job. Now the company does appliance repair for many smaller appliance dealers and some large ones -- namely Hud-son's, Sears and General Electric. Miss Laesch first washes the ap-pliance down, then masks off the chrome, plastic and gaskets. Next using a power sander she com-pletely removes the finish, hand sanding around the edges and door handies.

THE COMPACTOR is easy to use. Just pull out the drawer, drop in the trash, close the drawer and push a button. The button will activate a powerful ram, driving it downward with a force of some 2,000 pounds. The trash will be compressed to less than one-quarter its original volume in less than a minute. You can toss in cartons, glass bottles, cans, bones, scraps, paper, plastics --all the disposable material that clutters a kitchen. An automatic aerosol spray keeps the compacted trash chemically treated to keep your house smelling fresh and clean.

A current trend in new kitchens, as well as in kitchen remodeling, is the "sanitation center."

Built around the kitchen sink, it consists of a built-in dishwasher, fcod waster disposer and trash compactor. This trio of modern ap-pliances deals with all the after din-ner clean-up chores in handy fash-ion, freeing the homemaker to be with her family or guests when en-tertaining.

Garbage Disposer Do-It-Yourselfers Designed For

homeowners who have been putting off the purchase of a food waste disposer because of the trouble of getting someone to install it, then you'll be pleased to know there is now a model available designed with the home handyman in mind. With a smattering of know-how about plumbing and electrical wir-ing, and a minimum of tools, the weekend do-it-yourselfer will find this new soundshielded model from Hotpoint a relatively simple home improvement project. Easy to follow instructions for installation are print-ed right on the box in which the unit is packed.

Is packed. CALLED THE BARRACUDA, af-ter the voracious salt water fish noted for its slashing attack, the Hotpoint disposer, like its name-sake, makes short work of food scraps and left-overs. Plumbed into the kitchen sink, it gets rid of food waste before it can become garbage and spread its un-pleasant odors throughout the kitchen. Corn cobs, melon rinds, bones, soggy cereal, vegetable peelings and other large pieces of food waste are quickly and ef-ficiently pulverized and flushed down the drain by a disposer. A disposer not only helps keep the kitchen and sink clean, but is itself self-cleaning. The swirling ac-tion of the water scours it every time

DISPOSERS CAN BE USED in most homes where the plumbing is connected to city sewer systems, as well as in homes on septic tanks.

Although today's electric appli-ances are relatively trouble-free and should give you years of depend-able service, occasionally some-thing can go wrong. If this happens you don't have to throw up your hands in despair be-cause thanks to some tips from the Electric Energy Association you can spot the trouble and learn how to fix

For instance, if your room air con-ditioner does not operate properly, it may be due to one of the following problems. IF THE FUSE OR BREAKER on the air conditioner circuit blows frequently it may be that the electric circuit is overloaded. Remove the other electric equipment from the air conditioning circuit or, better yet, have a special circuit installed for that unit. Maybe your unit is operating but the room is not cool enough. One cause may be a dirty filter in the unit. If so, clean or replace the filter. If you are getting insufficient circuit capacity have a separate circuit in-stalled for your air conditioner. Or, if bushes or other obstructions are in-terfering with the air flow through the outdoor position of the unit.

SIMPLE TO install and quiet as a mouse is this food waste disposer, one of the handlest kitchen helpers a homemaker can own. According to the manufacturer, in-stallation of a food waste disposer in a home with a septic tank is like adding one more person to the fam-ily. And a disposer actually helps a septic system maintain proper bal-ance by adding more biological ma-terial for bacteria to feed on, min-imizing the harmful effect of detergents.

All the firm's food waste disposers All the firm's food waste disposers such as the Barracuda^a are com-pletely corrosion resistant, with all parts coming into contact with water produced from stainless steel, glass-filled polyester or brass.

clear the obstructions at least a foor's length from the unit. If you are getting too much heat build-up before the unit is started, allow for an extra cooling time. Turn the cooler on earlier, keep the shades drawn, and close windows and doors to reduce the heat load wherever possible. If HEAT OR WATER VAPOR from the kitchen or bathroom is coming into the room, release the heat load wherever possible. If the kitchen or bathroom is coming into the room, release the heat load to or vapor through the windows in the kitchen or bathroom door cosed as much as possible. New Dispenser L NINOILIGNO?

A new kitchen convenience, a hot water dispenser that gives home-makers hot water up to 190° F. in-stantly at the kitchen sink is now available

VhV

The dispenser is ideal for making instant coffee, instant soups, cereals, vegetables, for thawing frozen foods, warming baby bottles, preparing gelatins, gravies, puddings, sion, Emerson Electric Co., Racine, Wis., the unit weighs only nine Made by the In-Sink-Erator Divi-

Wis., the unit weighs only nine pounds. A SMALL TANK assembly is af-fixed to the wall under the sink. Cop-per tubing leads up to the actual dispenser tap, which is mounted on the sink, much like a sink spray. A twist of the knob on the chrome tap is all that's needed to produce hot water instantly. According to In-Sink-Erator offi-cials, the dispenser is like having a hot tea kettle ready to pour at all times. Its kitchen uses are not limit-ed just to food. It can be used to heat tight bottle lids and to defrost the refrigerator, among other things. FOR SAFETV, water in the tank is not kept under pressure. Turning the tap merely allows water into the tank assembly, which forces the hot water out instantly.
