Growth Of Nursing Homes May Cause Zoning Change

Pick 3 And One

You can pick three candidates for six-year terms and one for a two-year vacancy in the Schoolcraft College election next Monday. Here's a rundown on all the candidates -- who they are, where they stand.

The increasing demand for additional facilities in the city's nursing homes may force a change in the present zoning laws and have a solid impact on the downtown area.

At the moment, Carl Lampton, owner and operator of the West Trail Nursing Home on Ann Arbor Trail, would like to enlarge his facilities, but is involved in debate with the zoning law restrictions.

The present code requires that any nursing home within the city must provide 800 square feet of open space for each bed in the home. Aside from that, the building must be 40 feet from the lot line.

These restrictions would work a hardship on Lampton because that much ground is not available in the downtown area. Even if it were, the cost would be prohibitive for a nursing home.

For example, should he desire to add 40 beds, it would mean that Lampton would have to provide 32,000 square feet of open space for use as a parking lot, or leisure time facilities for the patients.

John Hendry had much the same problem with his plan for apartments at the Hendry Nursing Home on Haggerty Road along Hines Park Drive-way.

One argument put forth for a relaxation of the restrictions is that the older people want to be within walking distance of downtown.

It would be different if these nursing homes were in the fringe areas or in the country, the owners say. In that case, they claim it would be a rather easy matter to obtain and provide the additional open space.

But in the heart of the downtown area!

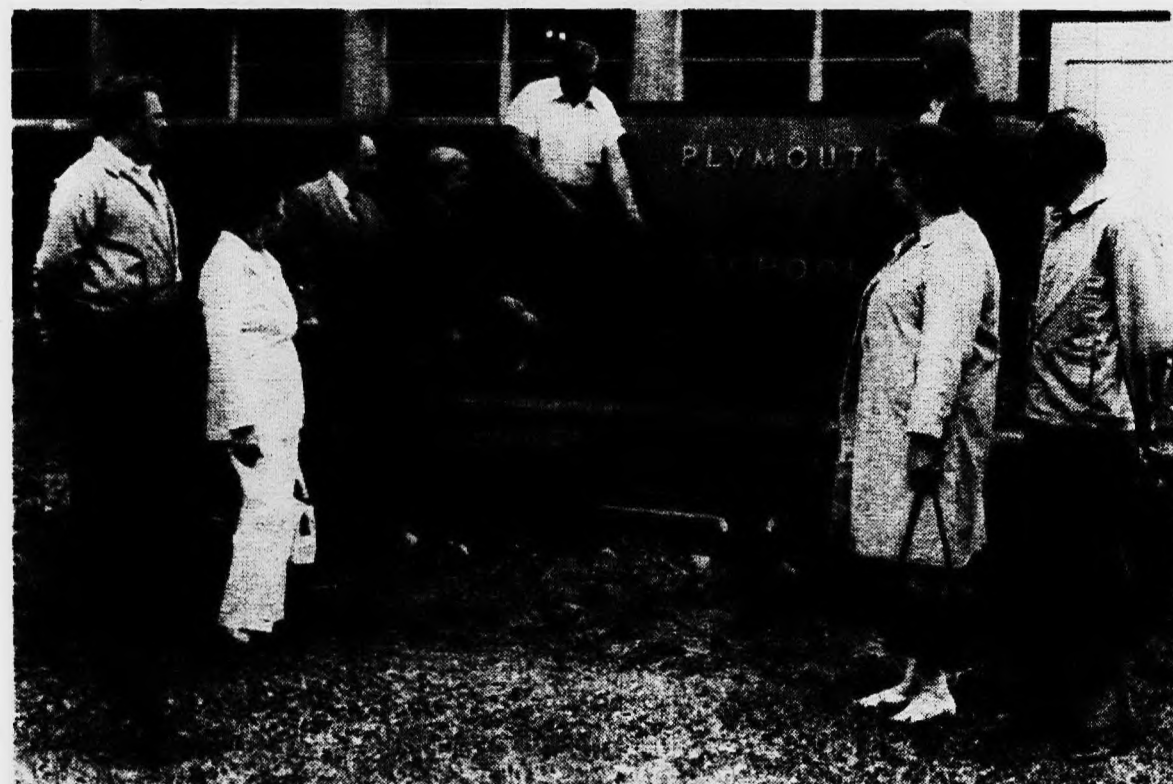

That's a different story.

Businessmen also are taking an interest in the present debate. They would welcome the older people in the downtown business district-- and even provide special days for them.

It is argued that in the present economic condition of the area, when the city is striving to build up a tax base, and with open space at a premium, the city should relax the zoning requirements.

It is known that several members of the city commission have planned for some time to make a thorough study of the present zoning code, with the idea of up-dating it to meet modern conditions and demands.

The present demand for the extra facilities may hasten that study and have it completed by fall.

THREE GENERATIONS of Central school students and graduates look on as Jack Peters prepares an identification sign for reopening of the school in September. From left they are: Bud Young, a 1951 graduate; Mrs. Lesly Young, a 1956 graduate; Gustav Gorguze, Central principal; Steve Young, who will be enrolling as a sixth grader at Central next fall; Cindy Young, a 10th grader who attended Central in 1970-71 and Mrs. Verne Keith and Viv Keith, 1927 graduates. ## Ol' Central High To Open Again

The halls of old Central High School on Main Street soon will resound to the shuffling feet and the chatter of students again.

The famed brick building in which many Plymouth residents soaked up their education in by-gone years is scheduled to open again for classes with the start of the 1973-74 school year.

The opening will be music to the ears of those who have bemoaned its closing since the high school program was moved to the Educational Park more than a year ago.

When the traditional bell summons the students in September, it is estimated that 350 elementary and 650 middle school students will be enrolled.

This switch is brought about as a means of alleviating the crunch of soaring enrollment in the school district.

For years, old Central served all the pupils in the community -- as an elementary, junior high and then as a senior high school.

In the years that followed, the district has grown to the point where it now boasts two high schools, three middle schools and 10 elementary schools. It is estimated that at the rate of the current growth the enrollment will double by 1979.

The opening of Old Central will bring back the familiar scenes of students parading up and down Main Street during the noon hour.

There were times in the past when the merchants complained about them dilly-dallying in front of their business places. But they were sadly missed in the past two years. They will be a welcome sight again.

The reopening of Old Central also lays at rest any thought that the school may be abandoned or put to some other use.

These rumors arose when the high school moved out of the city and into Canton Township, leaving Plymouth as one of the few cities in the country without a high school.

This will be changed now. With the reopening of the old building it will be like old times not only in downtown Plymouth, but all through the area.

Plymouth, they claimed, did not look the same without the students promenading in and around the school.

Now it will be changed and seem like a page out of the past to the old-time residents.

Packaging Plant And Dunn Steel Boost Tax Base

Things are looking up, tax-wise, in the City of Plymouth.

With the new Packaging Corporation of America plant, now under construction, and the plans of the Dunn Steel Co. to build a $140,000 addition to its present facility, the city is certain to collect close to $50,000 in taxes.

The old Packaging plant that was destroyed by fire was assessed at $1 million. The new facility will be assessed at a rate about 20 per cent more than that figure, according to City Manager Fred Yockey.

"That, in itself, will be a boost," he said, "and it will be at the new rate. Aside from that all of the machinery will be new and that, too, will be taxed at the new higher rate."

"This should give the city a big boost. We lost $1 million from the tax rolls with the fire. That cost us about $15,000 in taxes. This will be more than balanced with the new plant."

"And don't forget," he added, "the schools will profit from the new plant, too."

No details on the Dunn Steel addition were available, other than the building permit was applied for last Friday. It is understood that ground will be broken during the next week.

Aside from these two developments there is a strong possibility that the nursing homes in the area will construct additions to meet demands when and if, the zoning ordinance is amended.

The present activity in the city is the first this year -- but it means a lot more than additional taxes for both the city and the schools. It will mean more employment at a time when jobs are needed.

Efforts still are being made to obtain a senior citizens home on Ann Arbor Trail. This is to be located between Hamilton Street and the railroad.

Those who are making the effort claim the program hasn't been dropped. Efforts still are being made to bring it about and provide another welcome facility in the downtown area.

Along with these is the new unusual restaurant being planned at the C&O siding just off Starkweather. The passenger cars that will be used are now in place and action to complete the facility may start at any time.

These activities are proof that things are looking up in Plymouth.

We Back Millages, E. J. McClendon

It long has been the attitude of the Mail & Observer that money spent on education represents the best investment we can make -- one that never stops paying dividends. Plymouth has good schools, good teachers and good facilities and the residents of this community should not be satisfied with anything else.

This can be accomplished only if our financial investment in the future of our children is adequate. We recommend a "Yes" vote on all of the special questions when you go to the polls Monday.

Included are the $14.15 million bond issue for new construction, renewal of a levy of 1.5 mills for five years, a new operations levy of 1.55 mills which also would run five years, and a unique one-year levy of .4 of a mill exclusively for safety purposes.

You have a choice from among three candidates in each of the board contests, one of which is to fill a full four-year term and the other for only one year. Of the six men and women running, each in his or her own way boasts credentials meriting support. To the credit of Plymouth and the environs that constitute its 54-square-mile school district, there can be no such thing as a bad choice.

For the two terms (and in general for the board as a whole) we believe there should be a balance of interests on the board, and this includes representation for -- but not domination by -- professional educators. We mention this because Zelda Flora has raised the issue of "teacher power" in her race against two University of Michigan staff members for the four-year seat.

Undoubtedly Mrs. Flora would serve with distinction if elected, but it so happens that in the world of professional education E. J. McClendon's credentials are truly exceptional.

We cannot imagine classroom interests being better represented on the Plymouth board than by John Graves, an incumbent with two years yet to go, and by McClendon, whose election we heartily endorse.

As for Dr. Jay Finch, another highly qualified candidate, we fear he simply picked the wrong year to run, considering the competition.

Making a choice among candidates for the one-year term concerns philosophies as much as it does individuals.

If you want a member with a sophisticated, modern approach to education, then Mrs. Maria Borowski is an obvious choice. But if the demand is for an independent businessman's outlook, then Joseph Gray will get your vote. Somewhere in between is 19-year-old David Trent, who should be applauded and encouraged but who simply is not yet ready to face the decisions which confront this district.

PHS Grads Open Big Week

Today (Wednesday) marks the final day of classes for seniors at Plymouth's two high schools as they prepare for a busy week leading up to graduation.

Festivities begin Wednesday night with the senior banquet at 6:30 p.m. at the Mayflower meeting house. Tickets have already been sold for the event which includes presentation of mock awards to members of the class.

Baccalaureate follows on Sunday, June 10, at 2 p.m. in the auditorium at Salem High School. There will be no main speaker for the service, which was arranged by a committee of seniors and the Plymouth Ministerial Association. A number of local clergymen will take part in the ceremony.

Eastern Michigan University President Harold E. Sponberg will head the program as speaker at the graduation exercises beginning at 8 p.m. Wednesday, June 13. The program is scheduled for Centennial Park but will be held in the Salem gymnasium in the event of inclement weather.

Sponberg, who will be accompanied by his wife, is a frequent commencement speaker at high schools all over the state. The topic of his address has not been announced.

The senior class party will be held immediately following the commencement program at 10 p.m. in the Salem gymnasium and pool.

Swimming, games, movies, dining and dancing will entertain the graduates until 3 a.m. Music will be provided by Radio King and his Court of Rhythm, an Ann Arbor group. The theme of the party is "The Big Getaway on the Casino Cruise."

Tickets are $5 if purchased in advance and will be $5.50 at the party.

A committee of parents of seniors organized the party, headed by co-chairman Mrs. Ruth Koepke and Mrs. Bert O'Day. Party goers should dress casually and bring tennis shoes, swim suits and towels.

Graduation On Air

The graduation ceremonies at Plymouth High School will be broadcast live direct from the Centennial Park Stadium, starting at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, June 13. Paul Sincok and Steve Wegienek, of WSDP-FM will be the hosts at 89.3 on the dial.

Probation Seminar At Madonna

The Michigan Criminal Justice Educators Association will hold a seminar and workshop on volunteers in probation work Wednesday, June 20. The seminar will be hosted by Madonna College in Livonia from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Purpose is to provide students of criminal justice, law enforcement officers, judges, probation officers and other personnel in the Michigan criminal justice system with the opportunity to become acquainted with the concepts and practices of using volunteers (para-professionals) in probation work.

Instructional staff will include Judge Keith Leenhouts, director of Volunteers in Probation, Inc. Dr. Ernest Shelly, director of volunteer services for the Ingham County court system at Lansing; Kenneth Kirkwood and William Stiles, probation directors of the 16th and 17th District Courts, respectively; and Norman Gomolak, assistant professor at Wayne State University.

There will be a nominal charge for the seminar and luncheon.

Those interested in attending should contact Ronald Troyer, Conference Co-Director at Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft Rd., Livonia 48150.

P.O. BOX Drugs

'Natural' Drugs Still Harmful

Questions should be sent to the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, P.O. Box Drugs, Livonia, 48151.

Q. A lot of my friends are saying that you are safe if you use natural drugs and stay away from chemicals. They say that they've seen a lot of kids really wreck themselves with chemicals like LSD and heroin and that things like marijuana and mescaline aren't harmful. What do you say?

A. Actually, all drugs are chemicals, but we understand what you are getting at.

The magic word today, and not just in the field of drug abuse, is "natural." As a result, there is a tremendous consumer demand for wines that often, in fact, have never seen a grape, and lemon shampoos and rinses whose only connection with that fruit is the picture and the label in most instances. We could go on.

There is also a mistaken belief that vitamin C is no good unless it comes from rose hips, naturally, of course.

Some naturally occurring drugs, morphine for example, can be addicting. Strychnine, one of the deadly poisons, is derived naturally from plants. So you see the distinction breaks down very readily.

The important thing to remember is that most of the so-called natural drugs on the street (marijuana excluded) are in fact chemicals produced artificially by man such as LSD and PCP. People close to the street drug scene estimate that only about one per cent of the drugs sold as "natural" are actually so.

It doesn't make a lot of difference what you rinse your hair with. Just make sure you don't wash your brain out - naturally or otherwise.

WITH ALICE TOWARD NONE

Selfishness. If there is one thing that a "no" vote means on any of the millage or bonding issues in Monday's school election, it's selfishness.

If the voters in the city precincts vote "no" on the building bond issue because "It's only going to help the new Canton Township residents" - that's selfish (and wrong besides).

If the anti-modular scheduling parents vote "no" on the operating millage renewal and the requested millage increase because "Defeating them would mean the end of modular scheduling" - that's selfish (and probably wrong besides).

If a parent votes "no" on the safety millage because his child doesn't have to cross a busy road to get to school - that's selfishness.

And if you vote against the operating millages because "Teachers just want more money" - that's selfishness.

The $14.1 million bond issue will help all students in the district. The Canton growth boom is responsible for the increased overcrowding in Plymouth's schools - that's true.

But, if your youngster has 33 kids in his class now in one of the elementary schools in the city, it might mean that passage of the issue with the schools it will build, would reduce school boundary lines and there'd only be 25 kids in your youngster's class.

The new Canton residents - through taxes or rent - will be sharing in the new schools' costs too.

It is said that a large number of Lake Pointe voters feel the bond issue won't help them any.

What if the voters in the rest of the district had said that when the school board found it necessary to build more classrooms to accommodate the Lake Pointe boom?

And can the "anti-mod" (which is perhaps a strikingly appropriate shortening of anti-modular) forces think that by defeating the millage questions they're unselfish?

When the most their forces have amounted to is 200 parents and when the students opt overwhelmingly for modular scheduling, their stand obviously doesn't reflect the majority opinion in the district.

Therefore, how can they imagine the school board would dump modular if the millages fail? There are a lot of other items termed "fat" on the school budget that are more apt to be cut first.

Take the extra-curricular stuff like - do we dare mention it? - the BAND.

Yes, band parents, there is a Santa Claus.

It's other name is "operating millage," and it makes your band tick.

If we can shake enough money out of this community's trees to send our 76 trombones to Pasadena, Calif. - you'd better knock on a few doors to get some "yes" millage votes out Monday.

After all, if the operating millages go down - they just might drag down something like nice new band uniforms with them.

Then there's the safety millage.

Perhaps the safety issue is less important than some would have everyone believe. But the millage connected with the issue isn't really large enough to bust your pocketbook.

Even if your kid lives next door to the school, a couple of bucks isn't much for the guy whose kid has to dodge trucks on M-14 to get to school.

Late last year the Plymouth Education Assn. came to agreement with the school district on a contract for the 1973-74 school year.

That agreement included a raise, yes, but not one as large as many districts have granted their teachers lately.

The teachers' union and the school district both recognized how costly and uncertain perpetual negotiating can be - and they reached a fair agreement.

The operating millage increase is not to pay for that but to cover the hiring of more teachers and non-teaching staff, and to cover increased maintenance costs.

There are lots of pet reasons for "no" votes on the millage and bonding issues - and maybe newspapers aren't supposed to talk about "no" votes for school millages - but newspapers can talk about selfishness.

That's what a "no" vote means on Monday on any of the four local issues.

Be sure you're thinking of somebody in addition to yourself when you go to the polls Monday.

Who Made Dean's List At Schoolcraft

Recognition for outstanding scholarship has been extended to 207 Schoolcraft College students named to the dean's list for the winter semester, which ended in April.

Those honored were announced by Dr. Robert Keene, vice president for instruction, who has notified and congratulated each through personal letter.

To be named to the dean's list a student must carry at least 12 hours during the semester, and must earn a 3.5

(B plus) grade point average or better. Dr. Keene said that 54 of those on the winter list had earned perfect 4.0 grade point averages. These are noted in the listing which follows.

Shipwrecks Are Park Prospect

As with most tragedies, it began routinely enough. The steel-hulled steamer C.S. Price was bucking the waters of Lake Huron, on her way to Superior, Wisconsin, from Ashtabula, Ohio, with a cargo of soft coal.

The storm that overturned the Price on that November 1913 day is remembered as the worst ever to strike the Great Lakes region. It is said that at times during the three-day gale, the wind howled in one direction while the waves smashed just as stubbornly in the opposite. Some 250 lives were lost in that storm, including the entire crew of the Price.

An estimated 6,000 to 10,000 vessels lie in Great Lakes waters, with at least one-third of the former number in Michigan waters, which generally comprise vast portions of the Great Lakes and some waters of Lake St. Clair.

Throughout the years, as more and more sunken vessels were discovered in Michigan waters, discussion became increasingly centered upon formal designation of these shipwrecks—or at least some of them—as Michigan historical resources.

SEN. JOHN Tower (R-Texas) will be the featured speaker at the Republican Committee of Oakland County fund raising dinner on June 11 at the Raleigh House, Southfield. Tickets are $100 each or $125 a couple. Tickets are available from Republican headquarters, 245 S. Woodward, Birmingham. All funds raised through the dinner will be used to support the activities of the Republican Party in Oakland County.

And as commercial salvagers made their mark in Michigan waters, it was decided that an attempt should be made to save historically-important ships and other artifacts from treasure hunters while simultaneously trying to develop recreation areas for divers.

In pursuit of this ideal, the Department of Natural Resources last fall initiated a two-phase, two-year survey.

The first phase, which is nearing completion, is an attempt to locate areas where wrecked ships are concentrated. Such areas are logical locations for designation as Michigan underwater parks.

However, he considers his intensive apprenticeship in the family-operated business more important. "Our professional responsibility," Tom Harris says, "is knowing what must be done and doing it with finesse."

We try to carry out our duties with real concern for the family's needs."

Six Harris locations serve Metropolitan Detroit.

What Use For Winery Where Elves Abound?

By DAN McCOSH

If a cookie company can push the idea in a national ad campaign that elves are doing the baking, what could the owners of the old LaSalle Winery claim?

The whole mood of the building hulking empty on Grand River in Farmington speaks of gnomes and elves—down there in the cellar, mixing in vats, adding a touch of this, a pinch of that.

The Romanesque building is laced inside with grottos, passageways and caverns.

The deviousness of the interior was enough to move the Farmington fire-police dept. recently to conduct a training exercise in the place, hopefully to keep their men from unwinding hose down some blind passageway or dropping down an uncapped pit in the event one of the recurring fires gets out of control.

The winemakers are gone and aren't likely to return. They were priced out of the market by an obscure "barrel tax" imposed, no doubt, by a legislature trying to figure out how it could get a little dough without offending a group as large as, say, cigarette smokers.

What remains is the building, a huge, hulking thing with plywood dangling from the windows like bandage patches.

Not that it doesn't have charm.

It started life as a railway terminal when corporations sought an image of stability that implied they had been around at least a couple of hundred years.

It was proper then to make your business look like a Roman emperor was the major stockholder. Today, with the brick weathered and vines covering the walls, the old building looks grown into the soil.

A couple of years ago, Larry Mayer, the florist who created a bit of Victorian gingerbread out of an old gas station in downtown Farmington, had an idea for a "mini-mall" in the old building.

The site along the river and the old building were both attractive. The idea was to convert the rabbit warrens inside the old building into a complex of shops, restaurants, possibly even a theater.

Mayer figured then it would take nearly $3 million for the whole project, but was stopped by the asking price of Chamberlain Co., owners of the property.

Now he admits to a waning enthusiasm for the idea, if for no other reason than mulling it over for two years makes the problems seem larger than his will power.

Which is too bad.

It is the kind of idea that demands creativity, money, and a bit of a gamble. If it worked, it could be a showplace, with modern commerce revitalizing that whole end of town.

The funny thing is turning the site over to the usual commercial developers might not work either.

The foot-thick walls, industrial construction and structural steel in the place bring memories of the weeks they pounded away at the old grain elevators downtown trying to clear them away for the new Detroit riverfront project.

So the 2½ acre "shopping center" boys probably won't be too fast grabbing up the property.

One can't help feel that if somebody like Mayer doesn't wade into a solution, the old building is going to be caught in one of those real estate economic limbos for years.

While Farmington lives with it, looks at it and wonders about the future, the old place only looks good from one perspective.

What! Carpet In City Hall?

By RICH McCULLEN
The comfort factor should rise while maintenance costs are expected to drop following the council's decision Monday night to carpet a portion of city hall.

Council members accepted the bid of the A.R. Kramer Co. of Livonia to carpet the first floor of Plymouth City Hall at a cost of $2,401.20.

The cost of the carpeting is included in the current year's budget. Although no exact estimates were available, City Manager Fred Yockey said maintenance costs are expected to go down as a result.

An additional $1,950 of the current year's budget went to purchase 10 office chairs for city hall. Low bidder was J.L. Hudson Co.

The commission also approved the purchase of two new automobiles for the city fleet, one for use by the recreation department, the other for general use by the city clerk and treasurer's offices.

Both cars were budgeted for the fiscal year which begins next July 1, but Yockey said that purchasing 1973 rather than 1974 models would bring both an initial savings and a long range gasoline saving to the city.

Making up for a portion of the night's outlay was a total of $2,361.34 earned from the sale of some outdated city property — two used dump trucks and a three-wheel motorcycle for which Commissioner Ernie Henry said "any bid is a fair price."

In other action, commissioners accepted a recommendation of City Engineer Alan Gove that paving of Hamilton Street be dropped from the current year's paving program.

Hamilton was originally scheduled for paving in 1974, but abutting property owners had requested that the schedule be advanced.

Gove said the time required to investigate a possible relocation of the street across the Adistra Corporation property at Union Street and to work through the administrative procedure of a paving project would make work impossible before mid-October, when seasonal restrictions would limit the project.

The commission also denied a request by the owner of the property which houses the Secretary of State office at 819 Penniman for free parking at two spaces in front of the office. The two spaces are currently reserved for use by that office for a price of $300 per year.

Worsnop Earns Science Gift

Douglas Worsnop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Worsnop of 47023 Stonecrest in Plymouth, has been awarded a National Science Foundation undergraduate research stipend to do chemistry research at Hope College this summer.

Worsnop, a junior at Hope, was chosen on the basis of his academic record.

The Stroller Pity The Poor Graduate

In a few more weeks an army of college graduates, armed with their spanking new diplomas, will leave the halls of ivy and go out to face the world for the first time. They may find it a much different world than they expected.

The world today is a demanding world — when it comes to business. It is far different from the trend that has been taken in many instances.

For instance, the young graduate will be asked to face all kinds of "pitches." It won't be a case where he will be asked to face only right handed — or left handed pitchers. He must face them all if he is to survive.

Neither will he be able to call on a "designated hitter" when he gets into a tough spot. He won't be able to call on any one. So, it will be a case of sink or swim for each of them.

In the vast army of new graduates will be a select group that will deserve sympathy. They are the young men who attended their dad's alma mater and took the same courses he did — even though they didn't like them and barely survived to qualify for the bit of parchment on the day of graduation.

These young fellows are going to find the going rather tough — and it may not be long until they switch to some other activity to earn a living. When they do, they won't be the first.

One of the great tragedies of the business world is the fellow who — following the dictates of a demanding father — just can't seem to find the combination for success. Then there's another group which feels it has come along at the wrong time.

The Stroller recalls one afternoon — during a visit with the late Charles Kettering, chief of the General Motors Research staff, when a young graduate of an engineering school bemoaned the fact "that there is nothing left for us — We have most everything. We have conquered space, sent pictures, even in color, around the world in a few minutes."

"Boss" Kettering looked at him for a second or two, then asked:

Youth Plan Rock Concert

PLYMOUTH
The first in a series of six rock concerts planned for the summer by Plymouth Youth Inc. and the Plymouth Township Recreation Department will be held Friday, June 15, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Plymouth Township Park at Ann Arbor Trail and McClumpha.

Entertainment will be provided by the Whiz Kids and Camarada. Tickets are $1 if purchased in advance at the Youth Center, 271 S. Main, or $1.50 at the concert.

"Son what makes grass green?"

The young graduate groped for a moment.

"You get the answer to that one," "Boss" said, very seriously, "and you'll never have to worry about making a living. While you're at it, find what makes all vegetation green. Why isn't it blue or purple?"

The young engineer had no answer. He had just heard from a renowned scholar who boasted that on commencement day, "I rolled up my diploma, tucked it away, and went in search of a job where I could make a living."

There are a lot of young graduates who feel the world already has been conquered and they can't vision anything outstanding for the future. Even after all their years in school they still have no vision.

There are a great many things we need.

For instance, even though we have sent men to the moon and now have a cabin in the sky we still haven't found a cure for a common cold.

We have found a path to the moon, have researched its cracks and crevices, but we still haven't found an economical method of providing white lane stripes on our major highways and on the edges. Week after week people are going to their deaths because of the lack of proper lane markers. There's a fortune lying there for someone.

Barnett Wins Drama Award

A former Plymouth youth, Allen Barnett, has won two scholarships to study dramatics at Loyola (Ill.) University.

Barnett, 17, will graduate June 1 from Lake Port, Ill. High School and plans to enter Loyola in the fall.

Many of these young graduates will learn, too, that success oftentimes is an accident.

Some years ago, for instance, a friend of the Stroller struck it rich by concocting a bit of fiber to protect the bottom of a bowling pin. At the time the bowling pins were fragile and the bottoms shattered easily.

One day he picked up a piece of fiber, fitted it to the pin — and the shattering stopped. Today every pin you find in a bowling palace has a fiber bottom — and the game has been saved.

And it was saved by a man who became rich without a diploma.

Mrs. Olson Quits After 22 Years

PLYMOUTH There'll be a familiar face missing when the school buses start rolling along North Territorial Road come next September.

After 22 years, Mrs. Eythol Olson has decided that she has driven enough miles to earn her retirement and is giving up her driver's seat.

To mark the event and give her a great send-off, her companion drivers feted her at a party Tuesday night and it was with a choked voice that she accepted their best wishes.

"She was one of the most faithful employees we ever had," said Bob Houghton, director of transportation for the schools. "She had to be real sick before she'd miss her turn at taking the youngsters to school."

How many miles did she drive during her 22 years?

"Well," Houghton said, "she averaged about 80 miles a day for each of the 180 days of the school year. That's 14,400 miles a year. Multiply that by 22 and you'll find that she has driven her bus approximately 316,800 miles -- and that's a lot of driving."

How many children did she transport to school? "I wouldn't know," Houghton said. "She averaged between 40 and 60 children a trip. But there were days when she made more than one trip."

She doesn't know, either.

But Mrs. Olson says now that she has "transported enough" -- and is willing to live with her memories of the youngsters -- many of whom have grown to adulthood and now have their own families of school bus riders.

Belly Dancing Among Classes

Registrations are due by Wednesday, May 30, for a dance and exercise program to be offered by the Plymouth Department of Parks and Recreation beginning June 4.

All classes will be taught at the Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Children six to 10 will be taught ballet and tap dancing; those seven through 12 will be schooled in Hawaiian dances and acrobatics; and those seven and up may learn modern jazz.

Classes for adults and teens (15 years and older) include belly dancing, tap and social dancing.

Cost for the six-week course is $6 per person. To register, call the Plymouth Cultural Center, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Teachers Install Officers

WESTLAND
Al Turppa, Stevenson Junior High School counselor, is the new president of the Wayne-Westland Education Assn.

He and other association officers for the 1973-74 school year were installed at the group's annual dinner last week at Leright's banquet hall.

Others installed in leadership positions were John Malone, vice president; Marlene Dean, secretary; Dave Jensen, treasurer; Dee Martin, elementary schools' coordinator; Peg Malone, secondary schools, coordinator; and representative assembly delegates Hilda Densmore, James Nelms, and Bill Reece.

Turppa moves up to the presidency after serving the past year as vice president. He succeeds Ed Phillips.

The association also presented special school bells to 20 retiring teachers with a combined career of 709 years.

The 20 are Pat Bower, Charlotte Caporali, Lucy Clapp, Elizabeth Fisk, Genevieve Goudy, Kathryn Groves, Margaret Holloway, Miriam Mitchell, Olive New, Frank Perryman, Elizabeth Quinlan, Wilma Rives, George Skytta, Mildred Smith, John Snyder, Ruby Tucker, Thelma Wall, Louise Wells and Willia Whitby.

Warehouse Demolition Approved

GARDEN CITY
The Douglas warehouse, one of the oldest buildings in the public school system, will soon pass from the scene.

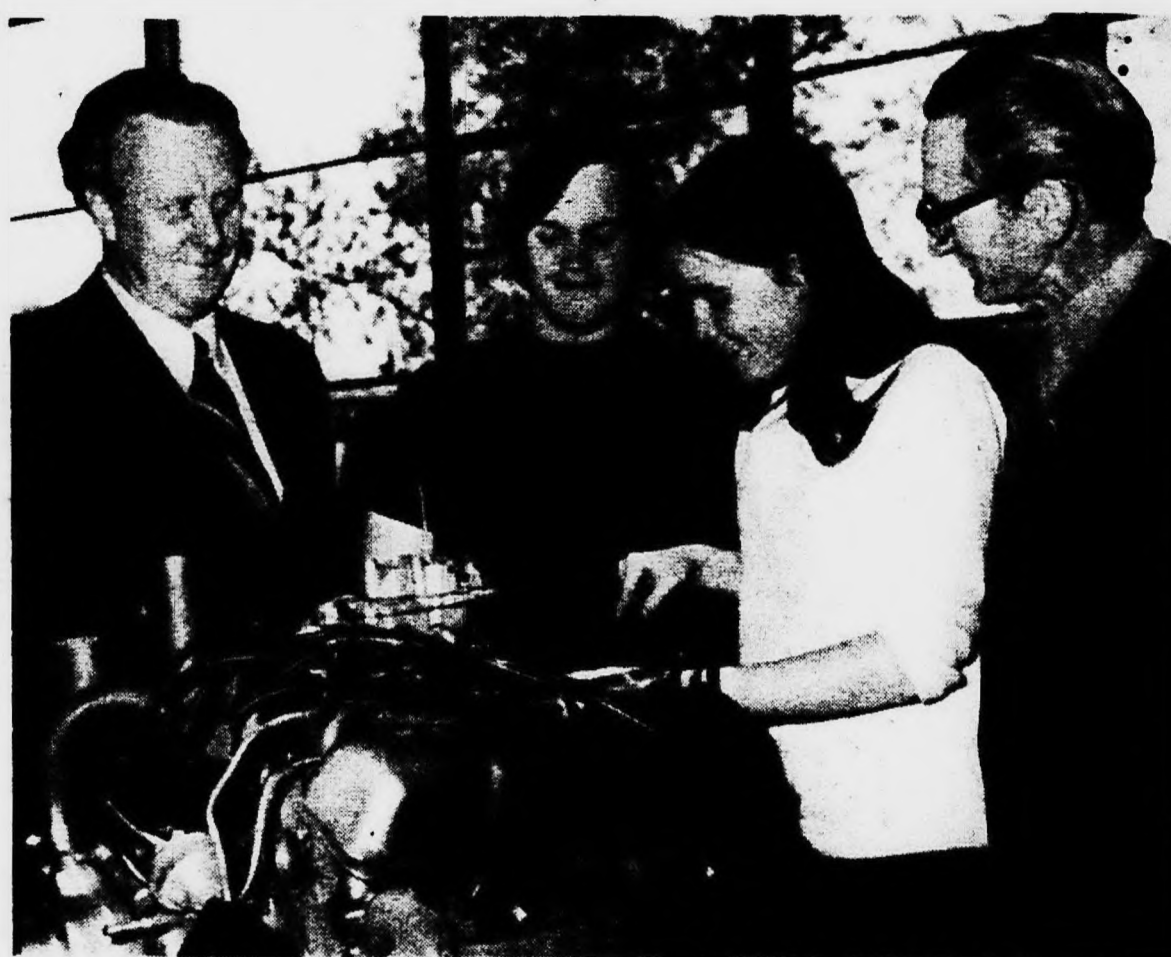

In its place will come a modern storage facility with expanded parking* at 6400 Hartel in time for the opening of the 1973-74 school year.

The demolition of one building and the plan to erect another were approved Monday night by the Board of Education.

Ruled unsafe and a hazard in the neighborhood, the warehouse was doomed and the board insisted that the demolition be done no later than June 30.

In granting the contract to the Stanson Wrecking Co. at a cost of $5,200, less $400 for salvage materials, the board asked that demolition be done no sooner than June 16.

This request was made in the interest of student safety.

AUTO SHOP students at East High School in Garden City will have a new engine, donated recently by American Motors Corp., to use in class. The engine will be used by teachers to instruct pupils in service and repair techniques. Present for the donation were (from left) H.A. Mowen, company parts and service representative; students Raymond Bilkie and Nancy Brunson and Leslie Dorsey, auto mechanics teacher.

Fireworks Set For July 4th

GARDEN CITY
The traditional Fourth of July fireworks display will be held in the city park at dusk at the East High School baseball field.

The time and place was announced by the Garden City Jaycees, which sponsor the annual event with the cooperation of the city's recreation department.

Wolfe Starts 49th Year 3 Generations Look Forward

Take it from one who has been watching western Wayne County grow for more than three score years and 10, the end is nowhere in sight.

Livonia Realtor Harry S. Wolfe paused a few days ago as he began his 49th year in business and in reflecting upon a lifetime spent entirely in this area commented:

"We haven't reached the saturation point yet. In fact, the future should be even greater than the past."

Perhaps it was this type of optimism which led the 76-year-old Wolfe into the buying and selling of land in the first place. Whatever it was, he didn't have far to go — his first venture being to subdivide the family farm in the vicinity of Seven Mile and Farmington Roads.

It's a site where he himself has lived for 72 years and where he and his bride of 56 years ago have raised two sons to whom the elder Wolfe now gives major credit for the successful growth of the Harry S. Wolfe Co.

Harry E. Wolfe is vice president and Don Wolfe is treasurer. In addition, the former's son and two daughters also are in the firm to give it third generation identity.

Recalling that the area was basically farmland when he got started, the elder Wolfe spoke of one sector after another where he has left his stamp by turning it into homesites as the migration in this direction flowered.

In pre-cityhood days, Wolfe served 14 years as clerk of Livonia Township (1936-1950), and when the incorporation movement started he was chairman of the charter commission. This led to the role of president in Livonia's first city council.

"Then I ran for mayor and lost, and I've stayed out of it ever since," he chuckled. "However, I can't help but feel that we did the right thing by incorporating the entire township as one city. It's one reason for Livonia's present greatness, and it's far better than having split up into several governments as some areas have done."

Although the 48th anniversary of the firm was let pass without major fanfare, Wolfe shows obvious pride and points to a sales staff of 25 as being "just great — every one of them."

The company now has offices at 3239 Five Mile, 33235 Seven Mile and 3768 E. Grand River, Howell.

And at 76 is this veteran of nearly half a century in real estate development about to retire?

HARRY S. WOLFE
A Pioneer

Not on your life — but he concedes: "There are three afternoons a week when I tell the boys not to schedule any closings; it would interfere with my golf."

Drug Abuse Not Rampant

The use of illegal drugs by high school youths is considerably less common than often believed, a study by the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research reveals.

A report titled "Drugs and American Youth" by study director Lloyd Johnston indicates that less than one quarter of a national sample of 2,200 young males, 22½ per cent, had made any use of any of five illicit drugs before leaving high school in 1969.

Nearly half of those who reported some drug use had used nothing more serious than marijuana. Of the slightly more than 12 per cent who had used drugs including hallucinogens, amphetamines, barbiturates and heroin, one third did so on an experimental basis only, Johnston reports.

Two traditionally acceptable drugs, alcohol and tobacco, although they cannot be purchased legally by minors, clearly remain the favorite of the younger generation, the study indicates. Marijuana was by far the most popular illegal drug, the study reports, with roughly one in five of the young people having smoked either it or its derivative, hashish.

"At the extreme, if we consider weekly intake as constituting regular use of the illegal drugs," Johnston writes, "we can say that none of these drugs had been used regularly by more than two per cent of the sample, with the single exception of marijuana. About six per cent reported smoking marijuana regularly at some time during high school, but less than two per cent had ever used it on a daily basis."

The study, reported in "Drugs and American Youth" published by the ISR, is part of a larger nationwide study which started in 1966. It is sponsored primarily by the U.S. Office of Education.

Credit Cards Hook The Poor

Poor people who use credit cards subsidize the use of credit cards by the rich, Dr. Lewis Mandell, study director at the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research (ISR), told a U.S. Senate consumer credit subcommittee.

Mandell, author of a recent volume titled "Credit Card Use in the United States" published by ISR, explained that poorer families use their credit cards as a "respectable means of incurring instant debt and often pay sizable amounts of interest."

Their wealthy counterparts, he added, "see credit cards mainly as a convenience and usually pay their credit card debt before any finance charges have accrued."

Mandell said that since credit card operations can only break even if many cardholders pay interest charges (even at the usual 18 per cent interest rate, few store or bank credit card operations do break even), it is clear "that credit card users who pay finance charges subsidize the credit card use of those who don't."

The U-M researcher, who testified before the Senate subcommittee during its hearings on Fair Credit Billing Legislation, has conducted several nationwide studies of consumer finances and credit.

He cited two major dangers in the movement toward widespread use of the credit card — revolving credit system of debt.

"First, the credit card system makes the purchase of an item and the undertaking of additional debt simultaneous. The consumer who must pay for his purchase over time is deprived of the time period between purchase decision and negotiation of debt to consider whether such additional debt is warranted or wise."

"A second drawback of credit card debt is its high cost, 18 per cent per annum in most cases. In many cases, regular users of credit card debt could save up to a third of their interest payments by borrowing at a lower — cost lender such as a bank or credit union.

Mandell told the subcommittee that, short of elaborate governmental regulations and restrictions, the only way to eliminate the poor's subsidization of credit card use by the wealthy is "through an awareness on the part of those who pay the finance charges... that they are paying more than they should or must."

"This awareness can only arise if the government begins to take the Truth-in-Lending Law seriously and follows through in its responsibility to make people aware of the meaning and cost of interest rates."

The discovery by credit card users that their systems can be profitable only if users borrow on their cards, Mandell continued, has caused the issuers to solicit the business of middle and lower — income customers who are more likely to pay finance charges.

Special Au Sable Rules Set

Michigan sportsmen are alerted by the Department of Natural Resources to a new, experimental permit requirement which will be in effect during evening hours between June 2 and July 6 on the South Branch of the Au Sable River, spanning the Mason Tract from Chase Bridge down to Smith Bridge.

The permit rule will cover this eight-mile stretch of special flies-only fishing waters between 7 p.m. and 1 a.m. during the month-long period.

Purpose of the permit requirement is to measure fishing pressure, angle success, and fishing patterns on this popular area of the South Branch during the peak period of its caddis and brown drake hatches.

Results of the DNR's permit study will indicate whether tighter rules may be needed in future seasons to control angler catches and fishing effort within this traditionally heavily-fished area when these hatches "are on."

Free trout fishing permits will be issued daily by the DNR at its temporary checking station at Chase Bridge starting at 6 p.m. The permits will be available in unlimited numbers on a first-come, first served basis.

In obtaining one of these permits, each fisherman will be issued an arm band which he must wear while fishing in the Mason Tract area.

All permit holders, successful and otherwise, will be required to check out at the DNR's Chase Bridge station before 2 a.m. to enable fisheries biologists to size up angler success in relation to fishing pressure.

Ford Rouge Facility Is Lure For Tourists

DEARBORN
Man's affection for his automobile frequently has been characterized as a "love affair."
On this premise, it becomes easy to understand why more than 230,000 tourists each year seek out Ford Motor Co.'s 1,200-acre Rouge manufacturing facilities in Dearborn, Mich., "to see how cars are made."

International tourists last year represented more than 100 foreign countries.
The Rouge is among the nation's most popular industrial tourist attractions. No where else in the United States can a visitor see a larger concentration of closely knit factories owned by a single company.
Located on the banks of the Rouge River, it was the first and remains the only plant on the North American continent where raw iron ore is unloaded from giant ore carriers, smelted into iron, converted into steel and transformed into engines, frames, bodies, parts and, finally, into finished automobiles driven from an assembly line under their own power.

To explore the Rouge fully would require several days. Probably many of the thousands of men and women who work there never have traveled the full length and breadth of the area.

Although only one of Ford Motor Company's many manufacturing locations in the United States, the Rouge continues to attract tourists because of its sheer size.
A fleet of five ore boats carries six million tons of coal, iron ore, limestone and other raw materials to the Rouge each year to provide materials for manufacture of the thousands of parts needed to build quality cars.

Three blast furnaces produce 6,000 tons of iron each day; steel-making facilities produce about three million ingot-tons a year.
The Rouge generates its own electricity — enough each day to light the homes in a city of a million persons.
Within the Rouge are a railroad system which includes 110 miles of track and 20 diesel locomotives, an automotive assembly plant, an engine plant, a frame plant, a radiator plant, a tool and die plant, a stamping plant and a glass plant.

Towering stacks and seven story high blast furnaces are awe-inspiring sights to any traveler.
The most attractive lure for Rouge visitors is the Dearborn Assembly Plant, where new automobiles are driven from the end of a 1,200-foot assembly line at the rate of one each minute.

Tours for the Rouge leave every half-hour from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday from the visitor reception lobby in the east concourse of the company's world headquarters building, Michigan at Southfield, Dearborn. There are no tours on holidays.

Stevenson Wins State District

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

The Spartans of Stevenson have slipped on their glass slipper loaded with baseball spikes.

Stevenson went into the Southfield district with a 7-8 record while Farmington, Churchill, 2-0, and came from behind to upend Milford in the district finale, 7-4.

Stevenson, noted for its Cinderella performances come tournament time, upset Churchill, 2-0, and came from behind to upend Milford in the district finale, 7-4.

The Spartans now have a district trophy and will meet with Garden City East, Ann Arbor Pioneer and Detroit Henry Ford in the regionals Saturday (June 9) at Southfield. The winner joins three other regional champs the following weekend at Grand Haven High School.

It will be Stevenson against Henry Ford in the 10 a.m. clash and Garden City East pitted against Pioneer at noon with the two winners clashing at 3 p.m.

Winning the district championship turned out to be the climax of an eventful day for Stevenson and first year Coach Gerry Goode.

"This has been a funny season for us," said Goode. "We finished only 4-5 in the Inter-Lakes, had no games over the Easter break and at one time had 10 straight days of rainouts."

"Winning the districts is just a simple case of jelling at the right time," he added.

Stevenson's lineup for the two district games couldn't have been more tattered and torn than the hockey net Stevenson roared into in the '72-73 ice hockey season.

Goode had released a starting outfielder the week of the districts for disciplinary reasons and was missing another due to a death in the family.

Southfield District

Goode's starting catcher Mark Tressler, All-League performer, was up the entire night before the game as his wife had a seven pound baby girl.

Outfielder Tom Econom realized before the game at Southfield that he forgotten his spikes and borrowed those belonging to Jim Treharne.

Treharne then was put into action when Stevenson second baseman Steve Brown had to leave after a collision at home plate. He had to borrow spikes belonging to Bob McLive, who had been knocked out of the pitcher's box in the first inning.

Stevenson's upset victory over a 15-6 Churchill club was a disappointing ending for Coach Roger Frayer.

"Without a doubt we would beat Stevenson nine out of 10 times," said Frayer whose squad finished at 15-7. "I knew their pitcher Centers would have to have a great day, he did and we didn't even hit a good foul ball."

Tom Centers and Don Finn were the story for the winning Spartans in the semi-final victory over Churchill.

Centers hurled a two-hitter and Finn blasted a two run homer in the top of the fifth.

Churchill's greatest scoring opportunity came in the first inning. Phil Skender drew a base on balls. With two out, Jim Foster walked and on a one and two pitch, Centers hit Rod Hawraney to fill the sacks.

Centers bore down on Bob Blaies and got the Charger third baseman to hit the first pitch to short right for an out.

Churchill's only two hits came in the fourth and seventh innings, both singles by Blaies and Al Leirstein.

Meanwhile, Dave Panzoff was handling the Churchill pitching chores with the score deadlocked heading into the top of the fifth.

Centers led off with a base on balls, and after Panzoff struck out Bob Hope, Don Finn rifled a high fastball over the 350 mark in left center and Stevenson was on the board, 2-0.

That was the game as Centers got tougher with every inning and Panzoff took the three-hit loss.

It was Panzoff's fourth defeat in eight decisions. The junior righthander finished with an 0.57 earned run average, working 49 1/3 innings, giving up 32 hits, and striking out 64.

The Lathrup Chargers bested a field of 17 teams to win the ninth annual Les Anders Baseball Tournament sponsored by the Livonia Parks and Recreation, Livonia Optimists and the Observer Newspapers.

Lathrup, which won only one game the entire season outside the Les Anders, pushed across an unearned run in the last of the third inning and held on to upend a favored Westland John Glenn team, 1-0.

Ron Silberstein had to be the tourney's most surprising figure.

The 6-1, 160-pound sophomore hurled all four games in the tourney for the now 5-14 Lathrup squad.

Lathrup bested Livonia Franklin, North Farmington and powerful Redford Union to move into the finals against Glenn who had defeated Plymouth, Stevenson and Thurston.

Silberstein stood 0-2 before the tourney. Lathrup threatened to break things open in the last of the first inning off Glenn lefthander Dave Wesley.

Rob Wienczek was hit by a pitch and Barry Bordsky singled. Wesley then bore down and got Bruce Ruhl and Mike Kemper on strikes but walked Jim Lechner to fill the bases.

Dave Kay grounded out, shortstop to first, and Wesley and Glenn had survived the early threat.

Craig Linton got as far as third base in the second for Glenn but was left stranded.

The Anders finale solo tally came in the bottom of the third.

Bordsky opened with a fly-out to center but Ruhl singled up the middle and stole second. Mike Kemper was then safe on an error by Glenn second baseman John McKeever with Ruhl moving to third.

Wesley bore down and got Lechner to pop out to his shortstop Jeff Hodgkins for out No. 2.

Dave Kay followed with a slow roller to third that was to decide the tourney. Glenn third baseman Steve Kaufman attempted to pick it up bare-handed, booted it and Ruhl scampered in uncontested.

Kemper rounded second base too far on the play and was cut down, Kaufman to Hodgkins at second.

Glenn put two runners on in the fourth with only one out but Silberstein got tough and retired Craig Linton and Jeff Brittain on strikes to nullify that rally.

The Rockets again looked like they would get back in the game in the sixth.

All-Observer catcher J.P. McBride led off with a single, and after a popout to the catcher, Jeff Hodgkins singled with McBride moving to third, one out.

Kaufman then laced a shot to left field that was stabbed by Ruhl, with McBride tagging.

Ruhl's toss to the plate was right on the money and McBride was a sitting duck with Bundy Ross making the tag.

Lathrup drew three bases on balls off Wesley in the sixth in an attempt to break things open but Wesley got leadoff batsman Wienczek to strike out on a three-two pitch to kill the threat.

Glenn went down one-two-three in the seventh and Lathrup had made a losing season appear pretty at the end.

Lathrup Coach Don Rylander congratulated his crew for a job nicely done and commented that this tourney win almost made amends for a very poor season.

Glenn collected one more hit than Lathrup and walked off the diamond with an overall showing of 14-14 for '73.

"We just haven't been able to hit the ball," said Glenn Coach Norm Hoenes. "We have been beating ourselves all season."

Lathrup accepted the tourney trophy, picked up its glass slipper and was last seen hopping into an "orange pumpkin" for the ride back to Southfield, the Les Anders Champions of 1973.

Stevenson Catcher Has 'A Long Day'

Saturday, June 2, is a day Mark Tressler will never forget.

The hot, muggy Saturday proved fruitful for the Stevenson High senior in more ways than one.

Tressler led Stevenson to the district baseball championship at Southfield, tipping rival Churchill, 2-0, and upending Milford in the finale, 7-4. The Spartans are now one of 16 Class A teams still in the running for the state title.

The All-Inter Lakes catcher also became a father. Mark had taken his wife, Sherry, to Grace Hospital in Detroit the night before the district clash and had called Coach Gerry Goode to inform him that he wasn't sure what was going to happen about Saturday's games.

At 3:27 a.m., Saturday, Mark became the proud father of a seven pound baby girl.

Mark left the hospital around 5 a.m., caught an hour's sleep and was at Stevenson High with the team at 8 a.m.

The new father joined his teammates in suiting up for the morning clash with Churchill with hopes of playing the afternoon billing against the winner of the Farmington-Milford contest.

Mark went out and caught the 10 a.m. game against Churchill, called his wife Sherry in between games and told her that they won. He caught the 3 p.m. clash against Milford, accepted the district trophy and medal, returned to the school and showered and was back at Grace Hospital by 7 p.m. to be with his wife and daughter.

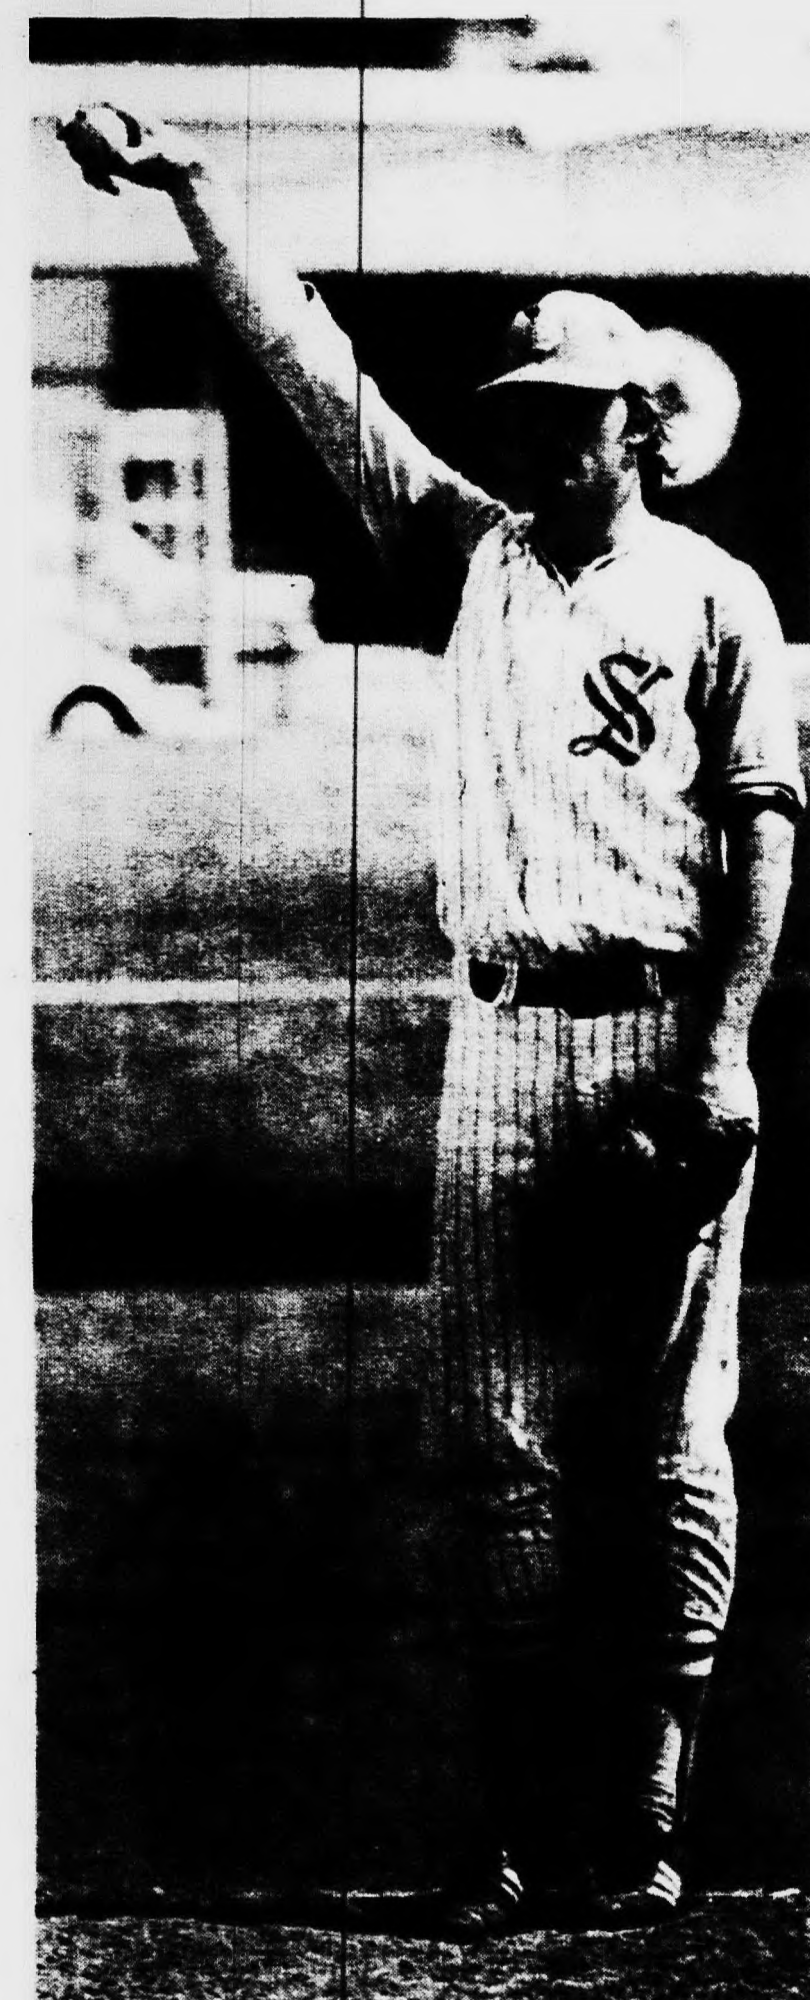

"It was really one heck of a day," said the beaming new father who is hitting at a .267 clip in his second year of varsity ball.

Mark is graduating next week from Stevenson and just recently quit his job at Primo's Pizza.

"The Kansas City Royals have asked me to their June 9 tryouts," said Mark. "I hope to give baseball a real shot."

The 17-year-old Tressler realizes the responsibility that fell upon his shoulders and is ready to take it on.

"At one time I thought of quitting school," added Mark. "But Coach Jerry Goode talked me out of it. I am sure glad he did."

AA Pioneer Ousts John Glenn, 4-0

Westland John Glenn found itself involved in two shutouts in the baseball districts at Belleville High.

Glenn nipped Adrian in a district semifinal, 1-0, but wound up on the wrong end of another shutout in the finale against Ann Arbor Pioneer, 4-0.

Glenn is out of the state tourney and sports an overall record of 14-13, finishing 8-5 in the Northwest Suburban Conference behind champion Franklin and Thurston.

Dave Wesley got the call for Glenn mound chores against Adrian and the senior left-hander responded with a two-hitter to improve his season mark to 7-4.

Wesley was touched for just two singles. Dan Pena banged out one in the second and Eric Coudron one in the fourth.

Adrian's Mike Smith gave up just one more hit than Wesley in hurling a three-hitter, walking one and striking out nine. Glenn managed to put together two of those hits in the top of the third for the game's solo tally.

With two gone in the third, Observerland's All-Area catcher J.P. McBride laced a hit. Glenn second baseman John McKeever followed with a double to score McBride. This was all the margin Wesley needed to work with.

Steve Kaufman collected Glenn's only other hit.

Adrian's biggest scoring threat came in the sixth when Wesley encountered a period of wildness and walked two batsmen.

Ann Arbor Pioneer handled Wayne in the other Belleville semifinal, 9-4. It was Glenn against Pioneer to battle it out for the right to advance to the Southfield regional on June 9.

Belleville District

Pioneer's Mike Smock, hurled a four hitter with his teammates picking up solo runs in the first and fourth and two in the sixth to win the championship.

Glenn Coach Norm Hoenes used Jeff Hodgkins and Pat Shifferd. The junior right-hander Hodgkins worked the first five innings, allowed three hits, walked four and struck out five in taking the defeat.

It was Hodgkin's sixth defeat in 11 decisions.

Pioneer tallied once in the first when Hodgkins walked Bill Kirkland and Mark Caswell and Tom Huss singled. The fourth saw Huss walk, sacrificed to second and dash in on a hit by Bill Palmer, and Ann Arbor was up, 2-0.

Glenn fell behind by four in the sixth when Caswell was safe on an error. Huss singled and Fritts was safe when Rocket shortstop Steve Hodgkins booted a double play ball to score Caswell.

Palmer walked to fill the bases and with no outs, Hoenes brought in Shifferd, who promptly walked Tom Dirch to force in Huss for the fourth run.

'73 All-Observer Batgirls Named

The fairer sex has left its mark on the Observerland prep baseball scene.

Two Livonia high schools sported a crew of the female sex as "batgirls" in collaboration with the varsity baseball teams.

Franklin and Stevenson High each had a better idea for the 1973 season and it appears that it did provide dividends.

Franklin won the Northwest Suburban League and Stevenson the Southfield district tourney and is one of 16 teams remaining in the state Class A playoffs.

Claudia Carney, of Franklin, and Gigi Ettinger, of Stevenson, have been selected Observerland's 1973 batgirls to complement the All-Observer baseball selections.

Both are juniors and captains of their crews.

Miss Carney, at 5-4 and 112 pounds, got off to a shaky start in the eyes of Franklin Coach Ron Hellier when her younger brother Tom was cut from the varsity.

Claudia was one of nine batgirls and was often labeled the "stat girl."

"I usually kept the team's averages in almost every department," said Miss Carney. "The guys were always coming up to me and wanting to know their current statistics."

The bus rides to the away games didn't seem to pose many problems.

"When the team lost, batgirls would stay up in the front of the bus - away from the team," said Claudia. "If we won, things were all right and we could sit with the players."

Gigi Ettinger of Stevenson checks in at 5-4 and 105 pounds. She admitted that she never has been much of an athlete so she figured she could help as a batgirl.

The 16-year-old Miss Ettinger said that she took more ribbing from the girls around Stevenson.

"The girls were all sort of jealous but the guys would just tease me about being a batgirl," said Gigi.

The job of a batgirl did have its bumps and bruises.

"I always seemed to get hit by a bat or ball around the dugout area at first. That is, until the guys finally realized that I was around to help them," said Miss Ettinger. "I got knocked and battered around a couple of times by guys swinging their bats."

Miss Ettinger liked the idea of helping out the team and of meeting more of the boys.

"I used to get the biggest kick out of running to the bases when a pitcher got a hit and he wanted his jacket. It was sort of neat running out in front of everyone and putting his jacket on," said Stevenson batgirl.

All-Area Baseball Lineup Announced

All-Area Hurlers

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Ever think about coaching high school baseball?

If the thought has ever crossed your mind, the Observer Newspapers has put together a team no baseball lover could walk away from.

This prep team is hitting at a .361 clip, averages six feet and 170 pounds, and sports a pitching staff that performs at a .756 winning percentage. The hurlers have an earned run average of 1.92 and record an average of one and a half strikeouts per inning.

No, it is not the All-American high school dream team.

It is the 1973 All-Observer baseball squad selected from 18 area high schools.

Seniors dominate the 12-man squad with one junior slipping into the second base slot. That is Thurston High's John Roy, No. 1 batter in Observerland with a .420 mark.

Batgirls made their appearance this season in Observerland and two have been selected to add a "sign of the times" note to the all-area picks.

Franklin's Claudia Carney and Gigi Ettinger of Stevenson have been chosen to deliver the bats to the blue chippers of Observerland.

Livonia Churchill came up with the strongest showing in the first team selections, capturing third base, outfield and pitching slots, with Franklin, Thurston and Garden City East each boasting two first teamers.

The first team infield consists of Franklin's Gar Frantz, Thurston's John Roy, East's Steve Orr and Churchill's Bobby Blaies.

Churchill's Jim Foster, East's Mike Whaley and Franklin's Jeff Waterstone make up the outfield, with John Glenn's J.P. McBride the No. 1 catcher in the area.

The four-man pitching staff is composed of Tom Nippa of Redford Union, Thurston's Mark Falvo, Ken Wood of Churchill, and Tom Centers of Stevenson.

Franklin High first baseman Gar Frantz made it a repeat performance in the Observer selections.

Frantz hit .442 his junior and was an All-State selection. This season the 6-1, 180-pounder connected for 27 hits in 66 at bats for a .409 mark, scored 18 runs and accounted for 23 runs batted in.

The Franklin first sacker batted out two doubles, one three-bagger and seven round trippers, struck out only three times and drew 10 bases on balls.

Frantz was co-captain of the Patriot club his junior and senior stints that included a league title this year. He also was voted the team's most valuable performer.

At second base is the lone junior to make the first team in Thurston High's John Roy.

The 5-10, 165-pounder paced all hitters in Observerland with a .420 mark on 37 hits in 88 at bats.

Thurston was top on the charts last season with the hitting of Bill Fraser at .500, and again swept top-billing in '73.

Roy scored 21 runs for the 18-11 Thurston club and collected 15 runs in, three doubles and two triples.

Garden City East's Steve Orr nailed down the shortstop slot for the second consecutive season.

The All-Observer shortstop, who was also All-Observer quarterback in the fall, batted out 17 hits in 57 at bats, scored 18 runs, batted in 12 and hit at a .298 clip.

Orr is considered by almost every coach in the area as one of the finest all-around athletes and was an unanimous choice for the infield berth.

Churchill's Bobby Blaies claimed the hot corner.

The Charger third baseman, who was the No. 2 quarterback in the area in the fall, collected 21 hits in 64 at bats for a .328 average.

Blaies scored 20 runs, batted out five doubles, walked five times, had 12 runs batted in, struck out only four times and was eighth for eight in the stolen base department.

Blaies was All-Western Six and made only three errors at third in a 15-7 season for Churchill. The 5-9, 156-pounder is headed for Adrian College where he will play baseball and football.

Jim Foster of Churchill heads up the outfield with a .386 batting mark.

The 6-2, 195-pound senior had 22 hits in 56 at bats, scored 18 runs, batted in 24 (tops in Observerland), hit five doubles, three triples and three home runs.

He was walked 17 times and was 12 for 13 in the stolen base category.

Foster was All-Western Six and Churchill's most valuable performer, an all-league football player, starter on the basketball squad and is eyeing University of Detroit, Adrian and Alma.

Garden City East's Mike Whaley weighs in at 200 pounds, tops for the first team, stands 5-11 and carries a big bat.

The Panther outfielder had 20 hits in 58 at bats, scored 11 times and drove in 15 in hitting at a .343 pace.

The other outfield slot was captured by Franklin High's Jeff Waterstone.

The 5-9, 150-pound senior (lightest on the squad) hit .351, with 26 hits in 74 at bats, and scored 18 runs in the leadoff position for a champion Franklin team.

Waterstone delivered four doubles, one triple, walked 14 times and stole 15 bases.

Jeff is a two-year All-Northwest Suburban performer as well as co-captain the past two seasons on the Franklin team.

The backstop, the mainstay of any team, is John Glenn's J.P. McBride.

The 6-1, 160-pounder was noted for being capable of beating his opponents in many ways.

McBride collected 34 hits in 94 at bats in Glenn's 14-13 season, scored 17 runs, hit eight two-baggers, one homer, walked six times, stole 13 bases and did not record a strikeout in a total of 101 trips to the plate.

This was the third straight 30-hit or better season for McBride at Glenn.

The four-man senior pitching staff is headed by Tom Nippa of Redford Union.

The All-Suburban Eight hurler came up with a 9-2 season, recorded 74 strikeouts in 63 innings and a 1.62 earned run average.

The tall lefthander was one of the mainstays in RU's 22-9 season.

Next on the pitching charts is Thurston's Mark Falvo.

The All-Northwest Suburban righthander at six feet and 160 pounds pitched 66 1/3 innings, struck out 79, walked 28, allowed 47 hits and came up with an 8-3 record with a 3.30 earned run average.

Falvo also batted out a .299 batting mark with 22 hits in 74 at bats, taking double duty at third base.

Stevenson High is Tom Centers and Tom Centers is Stevenson High.

The 6-5, 193-pound senior has led the Spartan crew to the district championship with a 6-2 record, has recorded 65 strikeouts and sports a 1.68 earned run average.

Tom is planning to attend Eastern Michigan and has three years of varsity baseball, three years of varsity basketball, and two years of varsity soccer behind him.

Centers was All-Inter Lakes and chosen the team's most valuable performer.

The Stevenson righthander was No. 25 on the area batting charts with 13 hits in 41 at bats, scored eight times and batted in 12 runners to complement his .317 average.

The final hurler on the first team is Churchill High's Ken Wood, a '72 member of the second team.

Wood at 6-0 and 170 pounds finished at 5-2 for '73, pitched 45 1/3 innings, allowed 30 hits, 13 runs, struck out 52, walked only seven, hit one, and wound up with a 1.09 earned run average.

In '72, Wood also sported a 5-2 mark with a 0.87 earned run average and in three years of varsity ball has compiled a 14-4 record which includes five shutouts and two two-hitters. On two occasions he struck out 14 in one seven-inning stint.

The second team All-Observer hit at a .359 clip, just two percentage points below the first crew at .361.

Franklin's Hellier No. 1 Coach

Observer Newspapers have selected Franklin High's Ron Hellier the area's No. 1 baseball coach for 1973.

Hellier's crew was the only Observerland team to win its league title and it was a real uphill struggle.

Franklin won its league opener over North Farmington but Hellier lost his only experienced pitcher in junior Jamie Knapp, who suffered a severe elbow muscle-pull and was to sit out the rest of the season.

The Patriots then dropped five straight games and Hellier went looking into his infield and outfield for pitchers.

He converted third baseman Wayne Darragh, shortstop Tim Livesay and outfielder Dave Watkins into hurlers and got the biggest surprise in Rich Gaber, who wound up leading Franklin to the Northwest title.

A sweep of a twin bill with Plymouth changed the Patriots' luck and midway through the season, Franklin found itself faced with a 5-4 league record.

"I must admit that I thought we were out of the race then," said the 33-year-old Hellier.

But his Patriots proceeded to rip off five straight wins and take the Northwest with a 10-4 record.

It was Hellier's first title in five years. Franklin had won four championships in five seasons before Hellier took over the main controls at Franklin in '69.

Hellier's disappointments

RON HELLIER
Coach-Of-Year

came in both tournaments.

His Patriots blew their opening round of the Les Andersons to Southfield Lathrup and Hellier was the first to admit that his crew was caught looking.

The other tourney loss was in a pre-district clash with Farmington. Hellier could have taken a forfeit win over Farmington when the umpires failed to show at one set time, but decided to play it off with talent.

"It ended up being just a toss of the coin," joked Hellier. "There was no real contest of ability in the mud and rain. Farmington's first run came when my shortstop picked up a handful of mud instead of the ball."

"We had to use two different ball diamonds and the kids were up to their ankles in water," added the Franklin coach.

A protest was lodged in the state game by Hellier. Although it was upheld, the state decided to let the 2-1 victory for Farmington remain in the books.

Ron graduated from Bentley High School in Livonia in '58 and went on to Olivet College where he pitched four years of varsity ball for a 19-8 record.

Hellier graduated from Olivet in '65, majoring in psychology and physical education. He worked in industry a year, and then was a grad assistant under head varsity baseball coach at Eastern Michigan University, Ron Oestrike.

Ron then taught one year at Birmingham's Covington Junior High School and moved to Franklin in '69.

The Franklin coach and his wife Laurie, whom he married in his junior year at Olivet, have a four-year-old girl, Lisa, and a one-year-old future baseballer, Robbie.

Second Team

All-Suburban 8 Stars Announced

Dearborn Edsel Ford and Allen Park captured top billing in the Suburban Eight All-League baseball selections.

Front-running Edsel Ford nailed down shortstop, outfield, and pitching berths and Allen Park won slots at third base, outfield and pitcher.

At first base was Brent Boegler of Bentley and at second, Mark Paulausky of Dearborn. Allen Park's Dan Burke won honors at third with Jim Cameron on the No. 1 shortstop from Edsel Ford.

Gary Fulks of Redford Union, Steve Whalberg of Edsel Ford and Greg Fraser of Belleville are the outfielders with Mike Dansard of Belleville the top catcher.

Allen Park's Jeff Hrdlicka and Randy Owens of Edsel Ford were selected for the first team pitching staff with RU's Tom Nippa and Rich Torongau of Dearborn making up the second team.

Jim Perry, of Allen Park at first, Ron Campbell of Redford Union, at second, Robin Hook of Belleville at third and Dusty Krause, of Dearborn at shortstop make up the second team infield.

Plymouth High placed two in the second team outfield in Steve Robb and Rob Willlette with RU's Lupe Bravo rounding out the threesome.

RU's Glenn Richmond was picked the league's No. 2 catcher.

Plymouth's honorable mentions were Jeff Waller (3B), Jim Szilagyi (SS) and Don Bidwell (2B).

Bentley's honorable mentions are: Dan Vezina (P), Dave Waldo (OF) and Doug Macklom (OF) with Mark Yourchok (1B), Steve Friedman (3B) and Mike Kalil (SS) filling out RU's honorable mention card.

The Court Jester

by BILL CAMERON

What kind of a racket should I buy? Are the metal rackets better than wood? Is one brand better than another?

These are some of the questions I'm asked by my beginners. With my tongue in my cheek, I tell them that Stan Smith won $50,000 in one tournament playing with a wooden racket, while his opponent, Arthur Ashe, only won $20,000 for second place with a metal racket. Therefore, the wooden racket is superior.

Of course, I'm only kidding. A racket is a personal piece of equipment. The latest racket is now a fiberglass model. The tennis world has copied skiing. Wood skis were popular until metal came along. After metal, came fiberglass. I've tried them all, and to be honest, my skiing hasn't improved that appreciably.

If you're willing to spend $40 to $50, you will get a good racket whether it is wood or metal. Rackets come in grip sizes. Make sure the grip is comfortable in your hand. Too large a grip will create problems with blisters and control of the racket. The weight of the racket can be important also. Weights are light, medium and heavy. I'd recommend light for women and medium and heavy for men.

Youth rackets are available and recommended for children under 12. They are one inch shorter than the standard racket and lighter in weight and smaller in grip size.

Clarenceville Bows To Riverside, 4-0

Clarenceville High booted away its district semifinal baseball contest with Dearborn Heights Riverside in Class B at Northville, 4-0.

The Trojans were guilty of seven errors. Clarenceville had made only 10 errors all season in 15 games.

"We picked one heck of a time to play give-away baseball," said first year Coach Del Cory, whose Trojans finished at 7-9.

Riverside went on to beat host team Northville in the district finale, 5-1, on a two-out grand slam homer in the 10th by Jim Hornfield.

Cory went with his senior righthander Terry Laird against Riverside and Laird delivered a four-hitter. He walked two and struck out 10, taking his third setback against five victories.

Tom Cyrul went the route for Riverside and came up with a two-hitter. Rick Beyer and Laird collected singles for Clarenceville in the second and fourth innings.

Riverside scored once in the first when Cyrul was safe on an error by second baseman Bill VanDyke, stole second and moved to third on a wild pitch. With one out, Cyrul crossed home on a ground out by Tom Claremont.

The Trojans went three down in the third when Hornfield doubled, Cyrul was safe on an error by Paul Simons and Ray Purdy singled. Cyrul scored on an error by Tony Phillips.

Riverside added its final tally in the seventh. After one out, Ken Butkovich was safe at first when catcher Greg Saarela dropped a pop-up, Purdy singled, and Claremont was safe on an error.

Adray Action Starts Sunday

The summer Adray baseball program kicks into high gear this Sunday, June 10, with all 10 teams playing twin bills.

All the clubs will be hearing play ball at 1 p.m., with Garden City playing Westland at Haggerty Field; Southfield Lathrup against Livonia at Northville Athletic Field; North Farmington pitted against Birmingham at North Farmington High; Redford meeting Farmington at Thurston High; and Dearborn against Plymouth at Plymouth High School.

All 10 clubs will be brushing off their spikes come evening and match talent with their second opponent.

Ford Field action in Livonia has Garden City against N. Farmington at 6 p.m. and Westland against Livonia at 8:30.

Southfield Civic Center competition has Farmington pitted against Plymouth at 6 p.m. and Redford against Southfield at 8:30.

Birmingham will be in competition with Dearborn at 6 p.m. at Haggerty Field.

RU Handles Edsel Ford

Redford Union continued its baseball mastery over Dearborn Edsel Ford.

RU upended the Suburban Eight front - runners, 2-0, for the second time and is the only club in the Eight to knock Edsel Ford into the loss column.

Edsel Ford stands on top of the league with a 10-2 mark with RU next at 8-4.

Gary Fulks went the distance for RU, working seven innings and giving up only three hits, walking two and striking out four. It was Fulks' third win against two defeats.

Edsel Ford went with Randy Owens who allowed four hits, walked one and struck out four.

RU scored both of its runs in the fourth. Mike Kalil led off with a single, stole second and moved to third when Fulks was safe at first on a fielder's choice.

Mark Yourchok followed with a single to score Kalil and Glenn Richmond executed a squeeze to score Fulks and the Panthers had a 2-0 lead.

Edsel Ford's biggest threat came in the sixth when they loaded the bases with two outs. Fulks bore down and got Greg Domolak to loft a fly to Lupe Bravo in right field and the Panthers had held on for the triumph.

The best rackets come with frame only. You will usually find the better tournament players, who are fussy about the stringing and tension of the strings, purchasing these rackets. Factory strung rackets usually are strung at 50 pounds of tension and will loosen with play. Needless to say, a tighter strung racket will propel the ball at a greater speed.

You shouldn't play with broken strings. That's why you see tournament players with several rackets under their arms as they walk on the court. If you can't find a store that restrings rackets, visit an indoor club. Their pro will advise you.

Oh, yes! One doesn't need a press for the racket until after the season ends. A racket cover will suffice (A press marks a beginner!) It keeps the dirt and the rain off the racket.

24 Game Schedule

ANN ARBOR

Michigan Athletic Director Don Canham has released the 1973-74 Wolverine basketball schedule, a 24-game slate that features 12 home games, including the Michigan Invitational tournament.

Michigan will open at home against Southern Illinois. It will meet Xavier and Dayton in non-conference action before Fordham, Yale and Bowling Green join the Wolverines for the Michigan Invitational on Dec. 21-22. Non-conference opponents on the road include Toledo, Detroit and Western Mich.

The real highlight of the away portion of the schedule will come on Dec. 28-29 when Michigan participates in the UCLA Classic in Los Angeles. It presents the possibility the Wolverines could encounter Bill Walton and the national champion Bruins.

The Wolverines start off the home conference schedule with another great opponent as defending Big Ten champion and third place NCAA finisher Indiana comes to Crisler Arena on Jan. 5.

The complete schedule follows:

Dec. 1 Southern Illinois; Dec. 4 at Toledo; Dec. 8 at Detroit; Dec. 10 Xavier of Ohio; Dec. 12 at Western Michigan; Dec. 16 Dayton; Dec. 21-22 Michigan Invitational (Yale, Bowling Green, Fordham); Dec. 28-29 at UCLA Classic (UCLA, Wyoming, San Francisco); Jan. 5 Indiana; Jan. 12 at Minnesota; Jan. 19 Michigan State; Jan. 21 at Purdue; Jan. 26 at Iowa; Jan. 28 Wisconsin; Feb. 2 at Illinois; Feb. 9 Ohio State; Feb. 11 Northwestern; Feb. 16 at Indiana; Feb. 23 Purdue; Feb. 25 at Wisconsin; Mar. 2 Minnesota; Mar. 9 at Michigan State.

GC East 'Walks' By RU For District Crown

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Garden City East reared past two Redford Township baseball powerhouses to win the state district tourney at Dearborn and earn the right to join Livonia Stevenson Ann Arbor Pioneer and Henry Ford in the Southfield regional.

East, which finished behind Livonia Franklin and Thurston in the Northwest Suburban League, knocked off Thurston in the semifinal, 7-4, and Redford Union nipped Detroit Cady, 3-2. In the finale, a bases loaded walk in the last of the 10th gave Garden City a 1-0 triumph over RU. This is the first district title for East, which lost in the Southfield district finale last season to Bentley. East now sports an overall record of 11-7.

East Coach John Kulazienka started Marty Hackman on the mound against Thurston and finished with Mike Schmidtke.

Thurston outlasted East 10 to six but East put its hits together and was aided by four Eagle errors.

Eagle head mentor Emil Majeski used Mark Falvo, Ken McLean and Ray Ivey, with his starter Falvo taking the loss. Falvo worked the first 5 2/3 innings and gave up six runs, only three of them earned.

Schmidtke picked up the win for East in a relief role of Hackman, with Hackman in turn taking the win against RU in relief of Schmidtke.

East jumped on Falvo in the second for three runs. Keith Anleitner and Jim Wisniewski drew walks and Paul Reed was safe on an error by Tom Dowdy to load the sacks.

Hackman smacked a single to score two. After Steve Cauldron walked, Ray Ivey at first lost a pop in the sun and Reed dashed in for the third tally.

But Thurston was far from out of it. Singles by Gary D'Ascenzo and Falvo and a double by Gary Chappell made it 3-1 in the third. An error, followed by D'Ascenzo's single in the fourth, sliced it to 3-2.

Thurston jumped on Hackman in the fifth to take the lead.

John Roy opened the inning with a single and was moved up on a sacrifice by Ivey. He came home on a hit by Chappell.

A passed ball moved Chappell to second, and McLean delivered a hit to score Chappell with the go ahead run. Kulazienka had seen enough and in came Schmidtke who got Kurt Beadle to ground out and retired Dowdy on strikes.

East bounced back in its half of the inning. George Karr was hit by a pitch, stole second and scored on a hit by Steve Orr. Rich McCain sacrificed Orr to second and Keith Anleitner singled him home.

Dearborn District

The Panthers added to their lead in the sixth. With two outs, Karr singled off Falvo but the Thurston hurler tore something in his elbow. Coach Majeski called in McLean who pitched to Orr and promptly gave up a walk.

Majeski replaced McLean with Ray Ivey and McCain greeted him with a two run single. Mike Whaley followed with a walk and Anleitner singled to make it 7-4.

Thurston threatened in the seventh with Roy and Ivey banging out back-to-back singles, but a strikeout and two forceouts ruined the rally and halted Thurston's state tourney hopes.

Powerful Redford Union, which just two days prior had been upset by Southfield Lathrup in the Les Anders semifinals, took on Detroit Cady in the other Dearborn district contest.

Tom Nippa and Tom Miller shared the mound, with reliever Miller hurling the last 4 2/3 innings. He allowed just one hit in picking up the win.

Cody stuck with Dennis Mitchell who gave up six hits, walked three and struck out two.

RU tallied once in the first on a single by Mike Kalil, an error and a single by Mark Yourchok. Cody threatened to break the contest open in the last of the first. Nippa walked Venias Jordan, Ken Lis beat out a punt and Gary Steinman walked to fill the sacks with no outs.

Nippa found the range and struck out the next two Cody batters, Bob Paul and Keith Jeffery. The left-hander struck out the next batter, Mitchell, but in the process uncorked two wild pitches, allowing two to score and RU found itself down, 2-1.

RU came back in the third to tie things up. With two outs, Glenn Richmond blasted a three-bagger over the center fielder's head and scampered in on a double by Steve Friedman.

The Detroit crew came back at Nippa in the third with Jordan and Lis opening with hits. Nippa got Steinman on strikes, but walked Paul to load the bases.

RU Coach Bob Atkins brought in Miller, and he got Jeffrey to ground into a fielder's choice. Kalil to Richmond at the plate, to nail Jordan for out No. 2.

Mitchell then grounded to Friedman at third and Miller had done the job.

RU came up with the deciding run in the fifth when, after one out, Gary Fuls walked, stole second and scored on a hit by Yourchok.

Miller held Cody and it was RU against GC East in the finale.

Atkins stuck with Miller in the game and after the first five innings, and giving up only three hits, his 10th inning state tourney day of pitching ended and in came Fuls.

Kulazienka started Schmidtke and he worked the first seven innings. He gave up five hits, walked two and struck out two, before giving way to Hackman.

It turned into a four-way pitcher's duel with both of RU came up with two real threats. In the second, Friedman singled and Lupe Bravo advanced him to third, but Bill Campbell popped out to halt that scoring threat.

In the seventh, after one out, Campbell singled and was wild pitched to third. But Kalil grounded out to strand another Panther at third.

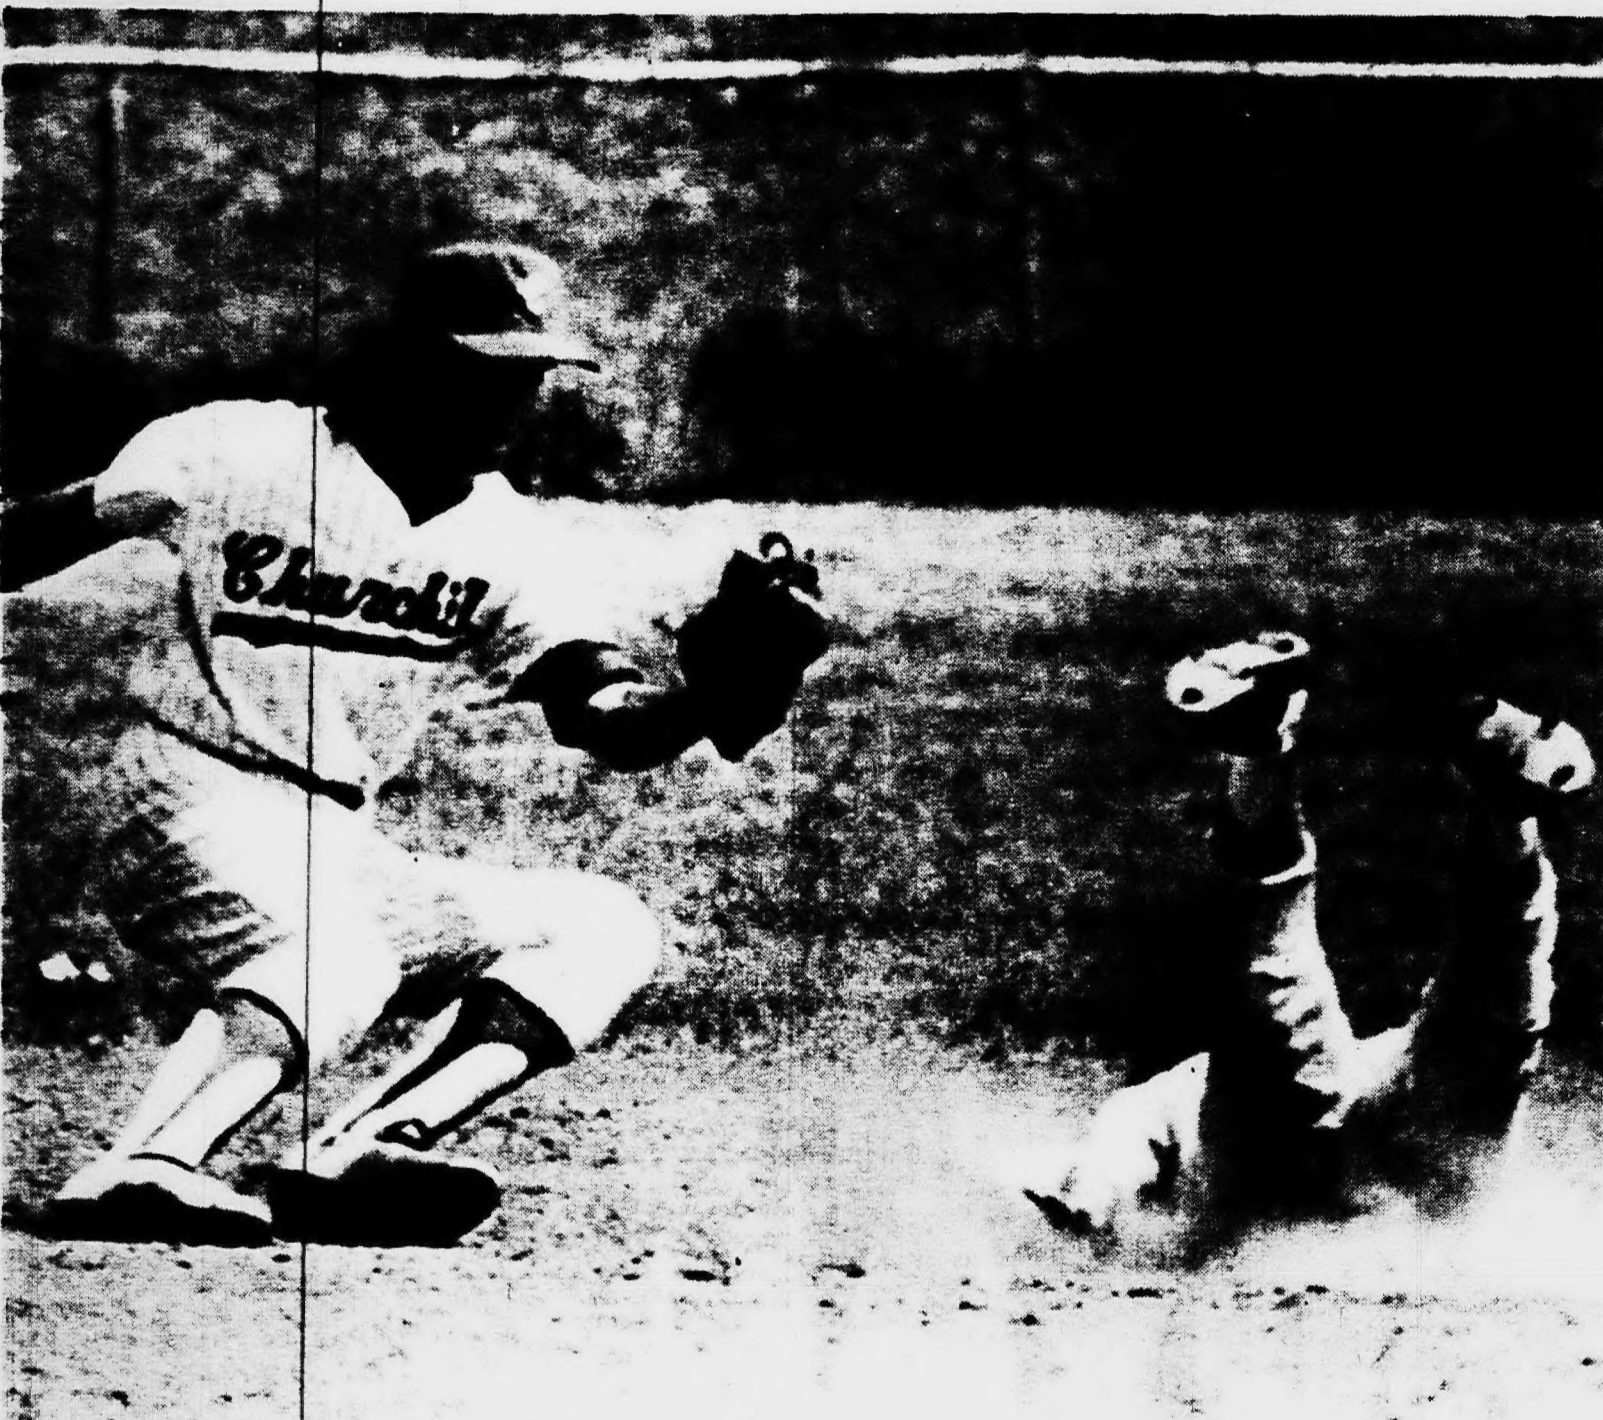

East came close to breaking the scoreless duel in the bottom of the eighth. Paul Reed singled but was forced at second by Hackman. Steve Cauldron singled and Hackman moved around to third.

However, George Karr missed on a squeeze. RU catcher Richmond put the tag on Hackman, and Cauldron was thrown out at third attempting to steal.

Keith Anleitner opened East's 10th ground ball to Kalil at short that was booted. Anleitner moved to second on a passed ball and was sacrificed to third by Jim Wisniewski.

Coach Atkins had Fuls walk Paul Reed and Hackman intentionally to fill the bases with only one out.

Cauldron then stepped up and Fuls proceeded to uncork four straight balls and Anleitner came in with the winning run as RU fell victim to its first shutout in 31 games this season.

Milford Upends Farmington, 3-1

The Farmington baseball flight came to an abrupt halt in the state districts at Southfield High.

Milford High tallied three times in the last of the sixth to upset Farmington in a district semifinal clash, 3-1. The Falcons flapped to a 6-3 Inter-Lakes showing and finished with an 11-6 mark.

Farmington Coach Rick Roy went with senior right-hander Dennis Hagen. He gave up seven hits in the six innings with Milford collecting three in the sixth for the three runs.

The Falcon hurler walked three and struck out six and finished with a 4-4 showing. Tom Gray went the distance for Milford. The senior left-hander allowed just five hits, walked five and struck out six.

Farmington broke a scoreless duel in the third when Jeff Herman walked, Rick Pauline walked and Pat Nicolini doubled home Herman.

Hagen and Farmington were coasting along with the 1-0 lead until the sixth.

Gary Aldrich led off for Milford with a shot down the left field line. Falcon outfielder Pat Nicolini leaped for the ball, had it in his glove, hit the ground and flipped over, the ball squirted loose and Aldrich wound up on second with a two-bagger.

Gray followed with a single to score Aldrich and tie things up and advanced to second on the throw to the plate and to third on a flyout. Bill Small singled and Gray scampered in to put Milford up, 2-1.

An infield out moved Small to third and Hagen walked Sam Acree to put runners on first and third with two outs.

Acree broke for second and Falcon catcher Bill Willson uncorked a wild toss to second that sailed into center field and Small scored with Milford's third run.

Stevenson Has 3 All-Leaguers

Stevenson High and Pontiac Northern shared top billing in the Inter-Lakes All Conference baseball ratings.

Bob Ganzak, Tom Centers and Mark Tressler made the No. 1 squad for Stevenson while Hans Medina, Ron Erwin and Brian Chismo captured berths for Northern.

The All Inter-Lakes infield consists of Jim Watson, of Walled Lake Central, at first base; Chismo of Northern, at second; Rick Peszko of Central, at shortstop; and Ganzak, of Stevenson, at third.

Farmington's Rick Pauline, Bill Kennedy of Waterford and Medina of Northern make up the outfield and Stevenson's Mark Tressler was the selection for the catching berth.

Centers, of Stevenson, and Erwin of Northern, were selected the top slots in the pitching department. Erwin is a junior.

Honorable mention honors went to: Guy Meyers, John Daniels, Pete Sparling, Kevin Bates and Keith Paschke of Waterford; Bob Holton, Jeff Herman, Pat Nicolini, and Dennis Hagen of Farmington; Paul Biding of Walled Lake Central; Steve Brown from Stevenson; and Jack Cole and Mark Carie of Pontiac Northern.

Captains Named

Co-captains in 1973 for Michigan State's football team are tailback Mike Holt of Highland Park and defensive tackle John Shinsky of Lyndhurst, Ohio.

Plymouth Rallies By Bentley To Push Loop Record To 6-5

Plymouth High pushed across two runs in the eighth to topple Livonia Bentley in Suburban Eight baseball action, 9-7.

It was Plymouth's sixth league victory against five setbacks but only its seventh overall in 21 outings. Bentley slipped to a 4-8 conference record.

The Rocks outlived Bentley, 11 to 10 and jumped on five Bulldog errors to overcome a 7-4 deficit.

Steve Robb and Tom Willette worked the Plymouth mound with reliever Willette in the last 4 1/3 innings to pick up his second triumph.

Bentley Coach Marty Klozik utilized Doug Murphy, Paul Roshirt and his ace, Dan Vezina, with the latter hurling the final 3 2/3 innings and suffering the defeat.

The Rocks opened with three runs in the second. Ron Willette started with a single and Ron Egloff beat out an infield hit. Murphy threw wild on a pickoff attempt with Willette moving to third and Egloff to second.

Murphy booted a bunt by Jim Szilagyi with Willette scoring. Egloff advancing to third, and Szilagyi to second. After a strikeout, Tony Rossi beat out a bunt with Egloff and Szilagyi scoring to make it 3-0, Plymouth.

Bentley came back in the third to take a 5-3 lead.

Bob Cross led off with a three-bagger and scampered in on a single by Glenn Stevens. Roshirt drew a walk and Bob Wasilewski was safe on a bunt to fill the sacks.

Al Bolz delivered a two run double and Brent Boegler singled up the middle to score two more.

Plymouth sliced it to 5-4 in the fourth. With one out, Szilagyi singled and was sacrificed by Keith MacDonald. Rossi walked and John Chiatlas doubled in Szilagyi.

Bentley increased its margin to three in the last of the inning. Cross singled off Robb but was forced by Stevens. Roshirt doubled and Wasilewski singled to score Stevens.

Bolz squeezed in Roshirt and Plymouth Coach Wayne

Suburban Eight

Sparkman had seen enough. He brought in reliever Tom Willette who promptly closed the door on the Bulldogs, allowing no runs in 4 1/3 innings and only two hits.

Borgess Has Cage Clinic

Bishop Borgess High basketball Coach Jim Brisky announced a seven week basketball clinic starting June 11 and lasting through July 28.

The clinic will be on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. at the school.

There will be no fee and any youngster ages 11-17 is invited to attend.

Making Rules

Michigan State baseball coach Danny Litwhiler serves as baseball rules and tournament committee chairman for NCAA District Four.

Plymouth moved to within one in the fifth. Jeff Waller walked, Robb singled and Rob Willette bunted with Waller cut down at third. Egloff smashed two run double and the Rocks had sliced it to 7-6.

Bentley threatened in the last of the inning but a relay from Robb in center to Jeff Stringham at the plate nailed Vezina attempting to score on a double by Cross.

Plymouth's last shot came in the top of the seventh. Ron Willette led off with a single off Vezina and after Egloff went down on strikes, Vezina was called for a balk and the fun began.

Bentley Coach Klozik put up an argument that lasted 15 minutes with the end result being that Plymouth first base coach Bill White was ejected.

Bidwell grounded out but with two outs Tom Willette knocked in his brother Robb with a hit to left center to notch things up at seven-all.

Plymouth tucked away victory in the eighth. Waller was safe on an error. With two out, Robb singled. Vezina then made a wild pick-off toss to first, with Waller scampering around to score and Robb ending up at third.

Rob Willette laced a two-bagger and Robb scored to give the Rocks a two-run cushion and the victory.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Michigan's most successful harness racing meet is gradually grinding to a halt with waning attendance at all-time highs.

Wolverine Raceway's 82-night meeting ends on Tuesday, June 19 and all indications are for the greatest collection of records ever made by a Michigan track in a single year.

At the moment Wolverine, which uses the facilities of the Detroit Race Course and the big mile track, shows an increase of 10 per cent in betting and 3.8 per cent in attendance.

The nightly average handle after 68 nights was $657,347, far exceeding the state record of $642,000 held by Hazel Park, and the nightly turnstile count is 7,390 way ahead of the 7,117 for the same number of nights in 1972.

A year ago Wolverine passed the million dollar mark for the first time ever in the state of Michigan. Saturday the big mile track plant had its fifth consecutive weekend in which it bettered a million. ... quite something when one considers no other harness racing track in the metropolitan area has even come close to a million.

And for the second time of the meeting, the pacers and trotters outdrew the runners on a Saturday. Wolverine had 13,588 going through the gates and Hazel Park had to be content with 13,095.

The trotters had a total handle of $1,051,112 for the night, $1,958,524 for the weekend and $4,431,118 for the six nights. The last mentioned is another all-time high, shattering the standard set a week earlier.

Now the big mile track plant is ready for what management believes will be the biggest closing two weeks in its 24-year history.

If the weather remains good and the track fast, fans should be treated to some of the fastest miles ever recorded in the Midwest. The reason is that Wolverine opens its annual Grand Circuit activities Friday and the program continues to the end of the meeting.

Racing Secretary Bill Connors has heard from practically every stable in the land that has top Grand Circuit performers and each owner has indicated he'll have his horses at Wolverine if they are ready for that kind of competition.

Castleton Farm, owned by Wolverine President Frederick Van Lennep, has its standout pacers and trotters enroute to Wolverine from Lexington including Colonial Charm, last year's two-year-old trotting filly, and Burning Speed, one of the circuit's fastest three-year-old trotting colts.

Both are eligible for the Roaring Grand's opening events next Friday. ... the $40,000 Matron three-year-old trot and the $8,000 Matron three-year-old filly trot.

The influx of the stables from the east, south, midwest and west started Monday and Connors believes most of the Circuit horses will be on the grounds by the weekend. In fact, he's hoping to arrange a couple of $12,500 invitationals for Saturday just as he had last weekend.

He knows the three-year-old pace, slated for Friday, June 15, when that track presents its annual Good Ol' Times night, will list most of the early contenders for the Little Brown Jug next September.

Ricci Rennie Time, generally considered the fastest of all off his brilliant two-year-old record when clocked in 1:56.3, has been training at Brandwine Raceway. His owners expect to have him at Wolverine by mid-week.

On the grounds are Racing Knight, winner of the $21,650 Motor City two weeks back and a 1:58.4 victor in Saturday's three and four-year-old invitational pace; J.R. Skipper, Gay Skipper and Bret Over Again.

As expected fans were treated to one of the finest pacing events ever at Wolverine last Saturday when Racing Knight, piloted by Dick Buxton, charged through the stretch to take the lead in the invitational and then had enough to hold off the late move of Keystone Pebble for the 1:58.4 win.

The clocking was the fastest of the year in Michigan and only a second off the track record. The highly rated J.R. Skipper was an even fourth all the way, never improving his position.

Bret Over Again, from the Earl Forsyth stable of Birmingham, had the lead for a while but faded and wound up sixth and last.

Owner Joe Sacco, of Southfield, celebrated his birthday Saturday and driver Merritt Dokey and Creeder Limbo, star of the Sacco stable, made it one worth remembering. The four-year-old made his season debut in a sparkling manner with a 2:00.3 victory.

Creeder was fourth turning into the stretch and made things easy by pulling away and opening up two lengths. He was still a length in front when he hit the wire ahead of Shells Gold.

The Farmington Lims slo-pitch softball club, winners of the '72 Farmington Founders Festival Tourney, remained unbeaten in the rain plagued Inkster Memorial Softball Tourney.

Lims knocked off Garden City Sport Shop, 6-3, and High-Spot of Dearborn, 12-5, to win the winners bracket. Roger Frayer's grand slam homer pushed the Lims crew past a favored Dearborn.

Tourney finales will be held this weekend at the Westwood Park in Inkster.

Tips On Planning A Perennial Garden

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

Iris, peonies and oriental poppies dominate the garden in early June.

They have large, dramatic blooms that provide a spectacular display. However, there are many other perennial flowers that can be combined with these to create a truly delightful garden scene.

One way to plan a perennial garden is to choose one of these dominant types and use it lavishly in large clumps throughout the length of the flower border. This will become the major theme for the garden.

By choosing several colors or shades of this main plant you establish variations on the major theme and get variety and interest in the garden.

Then select an assortment of the smaller, daintier, less dominant perennials that will complement your dominant plants. Choose ones that will enable you to work out a special color scheme and that will provide contrast of form and texture.

Among the June-blooming perennials that can be used with iris, peonies or poppies are coral bells, columbines, lupines, gas plant, meadow rue, false indigo, rock-rose, Veronica, lunaria, and lemon lily.

Coral bells have dainty bell-like flowers on wand-like spikes that arise from a low cluster of basal leaves. These spikes, which are 12 to 18 inches in length, have an airy grace. They can be used in the rock garden, in front of evergreens, or along a garden path or walk, as well as in the foreground of the perennial border.

They are also good in bouquets. In addition to light coral color, there are also white coral bells and varieties with rose-red and bright pink flowers.

Columbine also has dainty blooms on slender stalks. These blooms have a unique form. There are five rounded petals backed by five longer pointed colored sepals and streaming back from these five long tubular "spurs." They come in an array of pastel hues which include many shades of blue, pink, lavender, yellow, red and white. There are many attractive two-tone and bicolor combinations.

They complement iris, which also are available in many of the same shades. The light green finely cut foliage is as dainty as the blooms. Since the foliage fades and dies back when the blooming season ends, columbine should be planted where overhanging leaves of other plants can fill the gap.

Lupines have spikes thickly clustered with pea-like flowers in many beautiful, glowing colors including blue, purple, yellow, red, pink and white. Some blossoms are two-toned. These flower spikes can be two feet long and the stems they are on can be three to five feet tall. The handsome foliage is palmately divided into many segments or leaflets. The strain known as Russell lupines is especially attractive.

Baptisia, or false indigo, are plants that are closely related to lupines. They, too, have pea-like flowers, but the spikes are less compact. There is a species with purple-blue flowers and another with yellow flowers. The leaves are three-parted like clover leaves. The plants are sturdy, bushy plants that grow from two to four feet in height.

Gas plant, or Dictamnus, is a wonderful old-fashioned plant that can be a joy in modern gardens. They form handsome bushy plants two feet tall with foot-long spikes of orchid, pink or pure white flowers rising above the glossy green leaves. Plants are best started from seeds because this plant does not transplant easily.

If an established clump is not disturbed, it can grow and bloom for several generations of gardeners. Incidentally, the plant is named for the gas given off by the plant. A pastime on summer evenings in Victorian times was to ignite this gas for a brief display.

Veronica is another plant with slender spikes of bloom. These spikes provide good contrast for round flower heads. There are several Veronicas that bloom in early June.

One known as spike speedwell has 12 inch spikes of tiny purple flowers. Bastard speedwell has 18 inch spikes of violet flowers.

Hesperis, or dame's rocket, is another old-fashioned plant that can be used to fill in between other more dominant plants in the perennial garden. It has clusters of small four-petaled flowers in shades of white, lavender or purple. The rather coarse, large leaved plants grow up to three feet tall.

The lemon lily is the first of the daylilies to come into bloom. It has canary yellow bell-shaped fragrant flowers on two-foot stems that rise above the clump of narrow grass-like leaves. It is beautiful with blue or dark purple iris and makes a bright combination with flame colored poppies.

Several biennials which bloom in June can be used to add interest to the perennial garden. Sweet William has small pink, red, or white disc-like flowers that are striped or spotted or laced with a contrasting shade. These plants seed freely and although classed as biennials, often persist for numerous years.

Lunaria is another interesting biennial. This plant, also known as honesty, silver dollars or money plant, has clusters of small attractive purple flowers on branching stems up to three feet tall.

The flowers are attractive in the garden and can be used for cut flowers. The chief fascination, though, comes after the flowers have faded and the seed pods have ripened. These are flat and disc-shaped. When the outer covering and seeds are gently rubbed off a translucent silver disc remains. These make beautiful and long-lasting dried bouquets.

Many garden centers have container-grown or potted perennial plants. It is easy to move these into the garden at any time during the growing season.

Also, most perennials can be dug and transplanted even when in bloom if they are handled carefully and watered well until they have become established.

Meadow Brook Rose Gardens Bloom Again

Rose lovers can look forward to a real treat when 1,600 newly planted varieties bloom in the Meadow Brook Hall rose garden toward the end of June.

Restoration of the once famed garden of Matilda Dodge Wilson was made possible by a gift from the Cranbrook Chapter of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Assn. for new plantings and maintenance.

A formal dedication ceremony, including unveiling of a bronze plaque at the entrance to the garden, will be held at the end of June to coincide with the first full bloom of the roses.

"We are most grateful to the Cranbrook Chapter for restoring the rose garden and appreciate the chapter's intention to be a source of continuing support so that many in the years to come may enjoy the peace and beauty of this lovely garden setting," said Lowell Eklund, dean of Oakland University's division of continuing education, who administers the hall.

For information about house and garden tours during the peak bloom, call the division of continuing education at OU.

The new planting includes 35 varieties of roses: 16 new patented hybrid teas, 13 old-favorite hybrid teas that are no longer on the patent list, six floribundas, and two patented climbers.

"It takes 10-12 man hours per week to spray with fungicides and insecticides and do the necessary pruning," said Frederick Durancieu, director of grounds and landscaping.

What's Good For Lawn Is Good For Trees

Trees grow better on a untended ground. Where tree well-fertilized lawn than on roots and grass compete for

DUTCH ELM DISEASE

Benlate has been registered as an aid in the control of Dutch elm disease.

According to Gurdon K. Dennis, district extension horticultural agent, it is not a cure-all. Methoxychlor sprays and sanitation should be continued when adding the use of Benlate to control programs.

Combine Benlate with Methoxychlor during spring sprays before beetles begin to feed.

There is a 60 per cent chance of curing trees with Dutch elm disease if they show five per cent or less infection in the crown. There is less than 50 per cent chance of cure if the crown shows five to 10 per cent infection.

There is no chance of cure if root graft or more than 10 per cent crown infection.

RATE OF APPLICATION: Eight pounds 50 per cent w.p. per 100 gallons of water as a foliar spray, two to three gallons of formulation per tree.

Injection method: two pounds per 100 gallons; injections at two-inch intervals and left in place 24 to 48 hours.

nutrients, stepped up fertilization may be needed.

Most tree roots extend well beyond the canopy spread, and fertilization beyond the drip-line still benefits the tree.

Research shows that typical lawn fertilization can result in the trees gaining from 50 to 100 per cent more height and trunk diameter than trees not receiving such feeding. The tree canopy, a rough measure of shade, may be two to four times more voluminous when fertilized.

Shade trees are often fed by filling holes bored into the soil with fertilizer. It is doubtful that benefits to the tree are any greater for this method than by spreading fertilizer over the lawn beneath the tree.

It is certainly more economical to spread a fertilizer with a lawn spreader than it is to dig fertilization holes. Incidentally, the latter stimulate tufts of grass growth at the expense of lawn uniformity.

Slow-release lawn fertilizers have much to recommend them for trees as well as grass, and should cause less lawn poking when fertilizer is buried.

Outdoor Room Meets Relaxation Need

Today's home architecture and the communities in which homes are built, the pace of life of the people who live in those homes, and the quality of the environment surrounding them all call for a new approach to outdoor living.

The nursery growers, garden centers and landscape firms which make up the American Association of Nurserymen are studying this fact of life, and have come up with a new "outdoor room" to meet what they identify as an important need.

They call it the "quiet place".

The working man or woman comes home from a noisy, smelly, tense world with a need for quiet, fresh air, peace of mind, and comfort.

When the weather is at all acceptable, these should be found outdoors; but, too often, the outside part of the home is not designed to provide them.

Many homes these days are built with a concrete slab somewhere at the back which is intended to serve as a patio. With some imagination and a bit of plantings, it can be made into a useful additional room to add to the home—a party place.

But seldom does it serve as the place for retreat or intimate conversation today's hectic pace makes necessary. Thus, the development of the new outdoor room: the quiet place.

Depending on the decorative bent of the family, or the creativeness of the garden center or landscape designer, the "quiet place" may take on any number of shapes and sizes and decorative approaches.

Common ingredients will be a "sight and sound" barrier of shrubs and trees, splashes of color provided by flower plants and trees, a couple of comfortable outdoor chairs or lounges, or sometimes, a birdbath or fountain to add nature's music to the mini-environment.

The important element in the planning of a "quiet place," the association says, is that it provide the small and private outdoor room for the home—the place where one or two or three tired and busy people can relax in a healthful atmosphere, in beauty, in release from the noise of traffic and industry, and in privacy.

Green, growing nature's gifts provide the vital elements for natural air conditioning, attractiveness, sound reduction, and sight screens.

This is the right time of year to set aside a corner of the yard to design a quiet place.

It can be another room of the home—an outdoor room—to add a new dimension to family life.

24-Inch Stud Spacing Cuts Framing Costs

When you are building a house, space those floor joists and wall studs 50 percent farther apart—at 24 inches instead of 16—and you'll save from $250 to $500 on framing costs.

Test houses supervised by the National Association of Home Builders have proved it, and both NAHB and the lumber industry are promoting this technique for saving on lumber and labor.

All four of the major building code agencies, plus the Federal Housing Administration, accept the 24-inch framing module, which involves floor joists, wall studs, and roof trusses.

The number of builders who have swung to the wider spacing is growing, but a majority of the more than 100,000 house contractors continue to frame their units at 16-inch centers, thus passing up sure savings.

In hundreds of communities, outdated codes still bar use of the 24-inch system. But local change is merely waiting for someone to take the first step, observes the nationwide technical staff of Western Wood Products Association.

Oftentimes, no builder has asked the building inspector about it, and no home buyer has demanded it of his contractor.

A builder often is reluctant to change to 24-inch spacing for fear that his competitor down the street will point out to prospective buyers that his framing looks flimsier than 16-inch.

Actually, controlled tests accepted by code agencies have proved the wider spacing to be fully adequate.

This system requires the next greater thickness for rack-resistant plywood or insulation aboard to be used as sheathing over the framing skeleton.

Large builders who sell from completed models have no fear of visual comparisons of framing, and put the savings into more useful and appealing items, such as appliances, storage or a wood deck.

But the savings on both lumber quantities and man-hours that are inherent in 24-inch spacing are equally available to the small builder. It may be up to the home buyer to demand it before construction starts.

A 16-page booklet, "Mod 24," which explains how the system is applied, is offered free by Western Wood Products Assn., Yeon Bldg., Portland, Or. 97204.

Nasturtiums Are Edible Bouquets

For a really delicious taste-thrill, snap off the spur of a nasturtium flower and eat it.

The combination of sweet nectar and mildly pungent flavor of the plant mingle to produce a delicious taste.

Actually, the entire nasturtium plant, including stems, leaves, flowers and seeds are great to eat.

The spicy leaves are good in sandwiches and salads, imparting a flavor similar to garden cress. The seeds make a good winter snack.

They grow large as peas and are easy to handle.

Just clean and bottle them with freshly boiled vinegar. Then seal and store for winter.

Of course, nasturtiums are beautiful in the flower garden. Choose dwarf varieties for low beds and borders, and tall types to climb up trellis and netting.

Flowers are mostly yellow, orange and red on long stems excellent for dainty flower arrangements.

Cultivate soil well before planting seed in spring after danger of frost. When planted in shade or a soil that's too rich and moist, they have a tendency to produce more leaves than flowers.

Children love to plant nasturtium seeds because the seeds are very easy to handle, and the resulting plants have other attractions.

For instance, hummingbirds love nasturtium nectar, and if you have never seen a hummingbird in your garden a bed of nasturtiums might well attract them.

Two popular varieties of nasturtiums are the gleam and jewel series. Flowers of gleam are extra-large and sweet-scented, growing three feet tall with stems long enough to make beautiful flower arrangements.

The jewel series are low-growing—just one foot high, each plant creating a neat dome of flowers and foliage.

EVERY PORTION of a nasturtium is good to eat—the flowers, the stems and the leaves are great in salads, while the seeds are delicious pickled.

Leaves Relieve Noise Pollution

A major characteristic of contemporary society is noise. Traffic sounds, sirens, super-sonic booms, machinery, amplified musical instruments, raucous voices.

All have become a way of life, and, according to informed authorities, contribute to and aggravate all sorts of tension-related ailments: headaches, stomach ulcers, neuroses, mental illness, allergies, even cardio-vascular and circulatory disease.

Nature has a gift to relieve the condition, the American Association of Nurserymen says. It's a simple, green leaf.

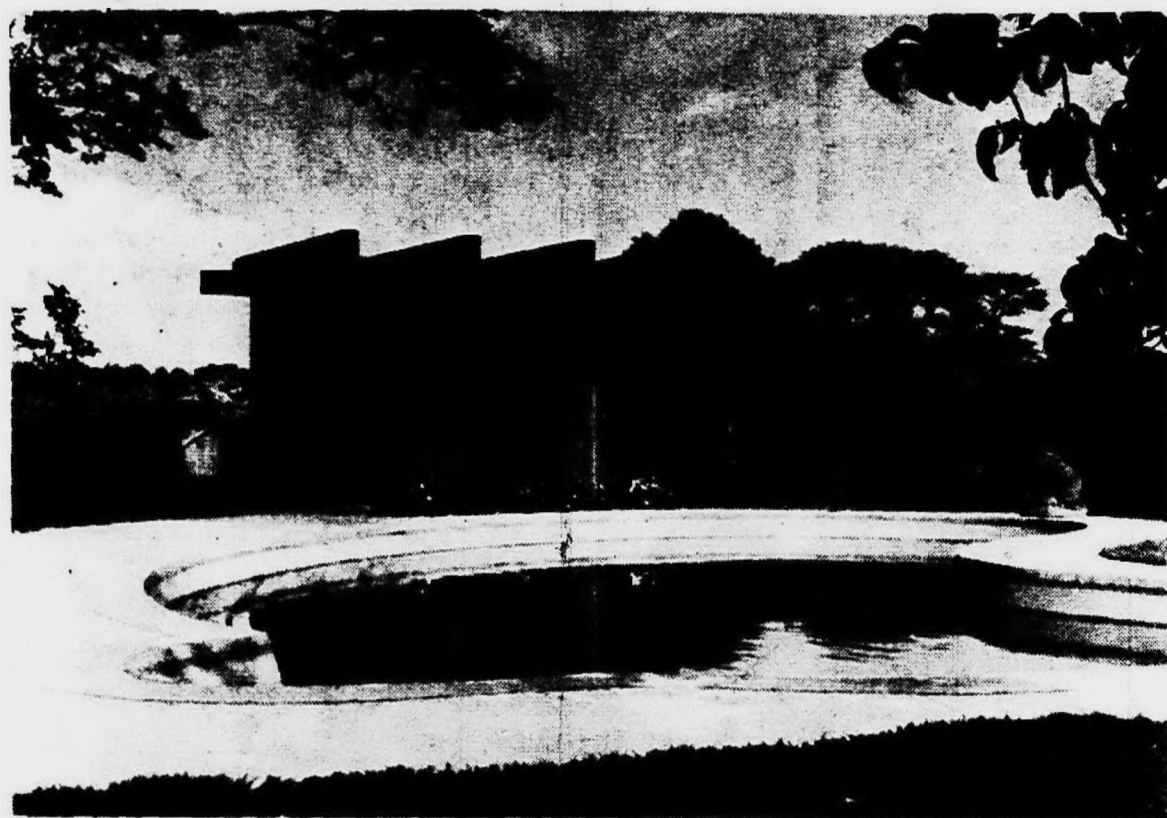

Among its many other talents, a leaf has the ability to act as an acoustical baffle, deflecting sound waves, changing their direction, reducing their intensity.

Highway engineers have become aware of this. They know that mass plantings of hedges, trees, shrubs, grass, and vines can reduce the noise of heavy highway traffic by as much as 60 per cent.

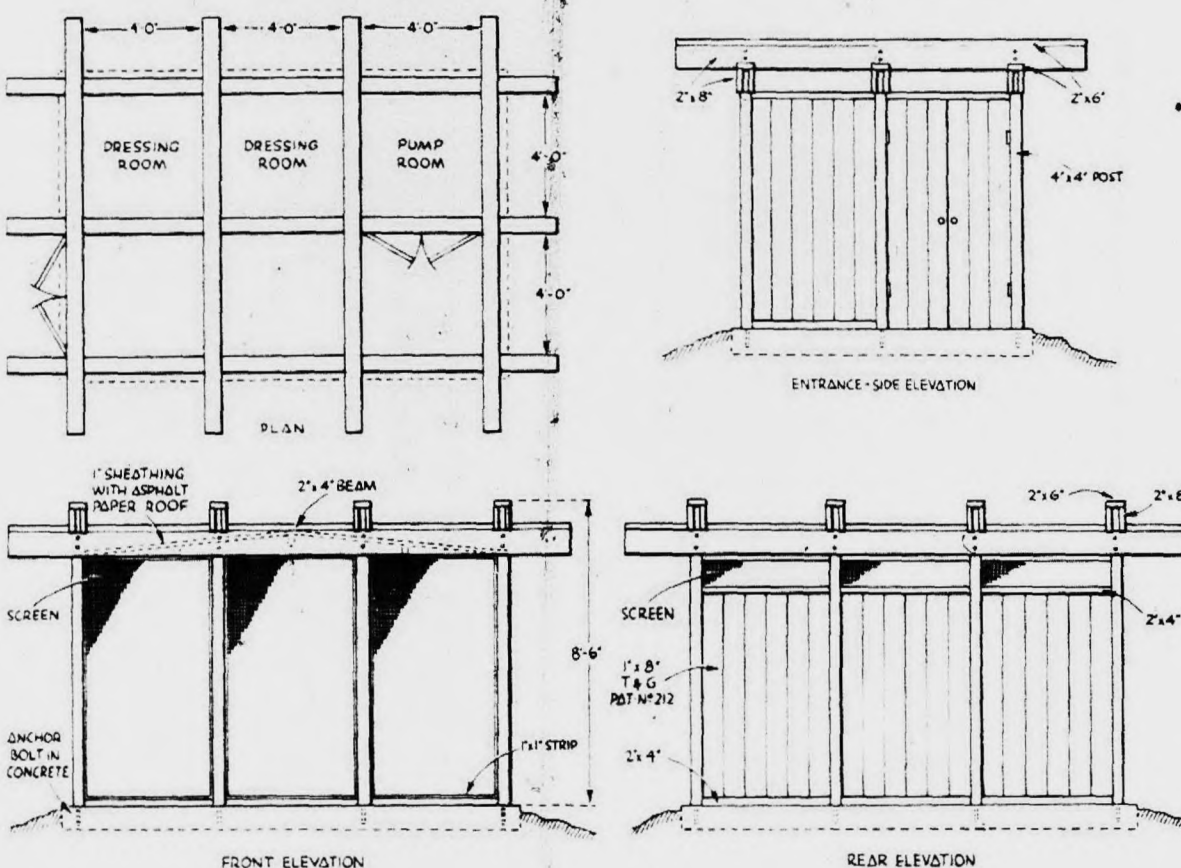

The noise level above wide expanses of concrete can be reduced as much as threefold if the concrete surface is broken up by plantings.

Now the nation's nursery growers, garden center operators, and landscape firms in the American Association of Nurserymen are encouraging private homeowners to utilize the power of plantings to silence their surroundings.

It is more than a matter of beauty, they say. It may well be a matter of survival in an otherwise too noisy world.

REDWOOD POOL HOUSE is adaptable to house dressing rooms, pool equipment, sheltered dining and relaxation area, perhaps a sauna. For additional information on building outdoor structures, write for the booklet "Garden Redwood" from Dept. JC, California Redwood Assn., 617 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Calif. 94111, and enclose 10 cents handling.

Built-In Buffet Benefits Dining

A dining room buffet for serving and storing dishes, linens, and silver can be built in, adding a custom look to the room.

Simple box construction of 2x4-inch western wood is framed in any dimension, to suit proportions of the room and amount of storage space desired.

Louver wood doors offer full access to the storage shelves and may be stained or painted to complement the room decor.

Design Sets Housing Style

Choice of wood siding material and applications for a house should depend on size and design of the particular model.

Single-story homes are most effective with vertical sidings, although horizontal sidings can be used to emphasize low, sweeping lines.

Horizontal lap siding de-emphasizes verticals in two-story designs, and split-levels look best in horizontal clap-board coverings.

Fescues Added To Mixtures

In compounding the top lawnseed mixtures, fine fescues are invariably included because of their ability to withstand shade and to conquer poor soil. Fine fescues are of two sorts, the dense-growing Chewy variety, and the creeping types.

Duke Ellington Tops July 4 Program

PLYMOUTH
Duke Ellington and his orchestra will perform in concert at the Plymouth Cultural Center on July 4 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Advance tickets for the performance are on sale now at the center, 525 Farmer, at $3 for bleacher seats and $4 for the main floor.

The legendary jazzman's appearance was made possible by action of the City Commission Monday imposing a new, more flexible fee schedule for major events at the center which would accommodate the demands of promoters of professional entertainment.

Under the former system, all major programs at the center were charged a basic minimum fee of $350. Those which charged admission were then required to split their after-profit expenses 60-40 with the City.

The new schedule offers three possibilities - the original 60-40 percentage split, a $350 minimum with an additional six per cent of gross receipts to the city (the arrangement reached with the Ellington promoters), or a straight 10 per cent of gross receipts to be paid to the city.

The concert was made possible, and is receiving its financial backing, by two Plymouth residents with an interest in making use of the Cultural Center facilities during the slack summer season.

Dennis Campbell, sales representative of Detroit Gasket Co., and Frank Phillips, president of A & K Vending, which services machines at the center, arranged the appearance through friends.

LumberDays Alive At Hartwick

The saga of Michigan's early lumber days and camping go hand in hand at Hartwick Pines State Park.

The park, seven miles northeast of Grayling on M-93, contains 9,138 acres, including some 80 acres of virgin white pine and hemlock, the last remaining stand in the Lower Peninsula.

Camping, history, hiking, fishing and canoeing are offered in this park, a favorite of many.

Besides the towering trees, an attraction in themselves, a kitchen mess hall, workshop, logging wheels, chains and a museum remind visitors of the lumbering in this area in the last half of the 19th century.

Some nine miles of hiking trails, not all of them marked, wander through the woods. One of the best-known leads to the chapel in the pines which offers a solitude all its own.

Fishing is excellent, since the AuSable River, one of the state's famed trout streams, runs through the park.

The AuSable is equally popular for canoeing.

Although one of the smaller state parks with 46 modern campsites, it attracted 163,879 persons last year with 4,833 permits issued, making it one of the most popular in the Lower Peninsula from standpoint of usage.

Hartwick Pines State Park was named for Maj. Edward E. Hartwick, who died of illness in World War I. His widow purchased the property in 1929 and gave it to the state. The park was dedicated in 1935.

If Hartwick Pines State Park campground should be full, other state parks in the vicinity include Higgins Lake State Park North and South, with 203 and 506 campsites respectively; Otsego Lake Park, 201 campsites and Rifle River Recreation Area, 128 campsites.

There also are five privately operated campgrounds in the Grayling area. Prices range from $2.50 to $5.50 a night.

Area attractions include the Fred Bear Museum on M-93, two miles west of Grayling, with extensive collections of trophy game animals from India, Africa and North America, shot by bow and arrow; the Grayling Fish Hatchery, in Grayling; the Call of the Wild Museum in Gaylord, near the silver blue water tower, adjacent to I-75; Camp Grayling National Guard reservation, west of Grayling on Lake Margrethe, open to the public; and rides on the Little Smokey scenic steam train, a mile and a half west of Grayling, or cruises on the Nora Lee Paddleboat, which operates on the AuSable River in Grayling.

Fat Intake Related To Longevity

Research by nutritionists at Michigan State University shows a substantial relationship between fat intake and longevity.

In a paper given before a recent meeting of the American Institute of Nutrition in Atlantic City, N.J. Miss Eleanor Schlenker, Dr. Olaf Mickelson, Dr. James Feurig and Dr. Margaret A. Ohlson reported the results of a new survey of 97 women previously studied in 1948.

When they correlated dietary intake of fat with longevity, the researchers found that the greater the fat intake, the shorter the life and the greater the difference between life expectancy and age at death.

Women who died 15 years earlier than expected consumed diets that provided 80 grams (2.8 ounces) of fat per day. Those who lived 10 years longer than expected consumed 49 grams (1.7 ounces per day).

In addition to the difference in fat intake, the study shows that the women who died prematurely had higher intakes of calories and carbohydrates and lower levels of thiamin, riboflavin, niacin and ascorbic acid (vitamin C).

Check Shocks

Worn out rear shocks on a car may cause damage to the transmission, differential and universal joint, warn auto experts. Weak rear shocks cause the car to bounce going over bumps, lifting both wheels off the road and back down again.

Regional Park Policy Changes Eyed

Within 30 days, a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners and representatives of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA) will meet to discuss the possible development of more parks within Wayne County boundaries.

The meeting was decided June 1 during discussion between the two groups over location of park sites and representation on the governing board of the regional park authority.

Wayne County commissioners dispute use of HCMA funds, claiming that Wayne County fails to receive a fair return for the approximate $2.3 million it contributes toward the HCMA annual budget in millage payments. Wayne County, the most populous of the five counties which are members of HCMA, is responsible for about 56 per cent of the park authority's revenue.

However, only about 2,500 out of 14,000 acres of HCMA developed parkland is located in Wayne County. Also it is estimated that only 22 per cent of HCMA parkland is in Wayne County, although some 59 per cent of the five-county population resides within Wayne boundaries.

Commissioner Thomas P. O'Rourke, chairman of the public works committee, said he will recommend that the board refer the two issues back to his committee while discussions continue.

"I think our meeting was very productive," said O'Rourke. "We raised some problems and some needs which I think they did not previously realize, and they seemed cooperative toward our requests."

Eugene J. Ellison, chairman of the HCMA board, said that "certain park policies might need to be changed after 33 years without modification."

"HCMA is willing to look for and reconsider the use of additional acreage within Wayne County to satisfy needs of this heavily-populated area," he stated.

Ellison said "this meeting between HCMA and Wayne County is long over due and, frankly, there were several things that we didn't realize from your standpoint - and if changes occur, they will have started here today."

He also indicated that property is not secured for parks merely because it is available, but rather because of the natural resources it will offer - and parks which are excellent for county recreation purposes may or may not fit into regional plans as now developed by HCMA throughout the five-county area.

He said the authority would gladly explore possible future park sites within Wayne County with the parks and recreation department and the Wayne County Road Commission.

At no time during the discussion did the committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners indicate any dissatisfaction with William E. Kreger, Wayne County's representative on the HCMA board since 1954, who was also present at the meeting. In fact in a discussion regarding possible expansion of representation for Wayne County on the HCMA Board, the feeling was expressed that Wayne County only wanted "more Bill Kregers."

Kreger pointed out that many improvements at Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville have been made because of his efforts in co-operation with other HCMA board members.

The 2,500 acres in HCMA parkland include Lower Huron with 1,200 acres and the new Willow Metropark at 1,500 acres, where a major games-swimming pool complex is under development and should be in use in 1974-75.

In addition, 1,711-acre Oak-

Rock is expected to be in public use in 1974-75 with a Nature Center and other facilities.

David O. Laidlaw, director of HCMA, stressed that historically the regional park system has built parks on the best natural resources available and to meet the needs of Wayne County residents - Lower Huron, Willow and Oakwoods Metro parks are all getting more attention in improvements so as to help meet the needs of increased urbanization in Wayne County.

Other HCMA officials attending the meeting were Commissioners Jesse A. Rutherford (Washtenaw) and Clifton W. Heller (Livingston); plus Robert L. Bryan, secretary; and James J. Pompo, deputy director.

Members of the county public works committee, besides O'Rourke, are: John Lesinski of Dearborn, James DeSana of Wyandotte, Rose Mary C. Robinson of Detroit, Ervin A. Steiner Jr. of Grosse Pointe, and Samuel A. Turner of Detroit.

The seven-member HCMA board consists of one member from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw and Livingston counties, plus two members appointed by Gov. William G. Milliken.

County Studies Divorce Aid Desk

A proposal by three Wayne County Commissioners for a "self-help" divorce counter in the county clerk's office drew support from potential users and opposition from lawyers when aired at a public meeting.

The proposal by Commissioners Paul Silver, Rose Mary C. Robinson and Huey A. Ferguson was discussed last week at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners public safety and judiciary committee.

The concept was supported by a dozen citizens, including several women who said they needed divorces but could not afford high fees demanded by lawyers.

The resolution in which the three commissioners made their proposal stated that the average charge by lawyers for each side "in even uncontested, childless divorces," is between $400 and $500.

Most outspoken of the supporters was Mrs. Virginia Cramer, who said she has been crusading for years to eliminate lawyers from divorce procedures. She contended that lawyers overcharge for their services.

Mrs. Cramer is under an order by Wayne County Circuit Court to refrain from operating a divorce counseling service, which included a do-it-yourself divorce kit.

The legal profession was represented by Ivan A. Barris, president of the Detroit Bar Assn; Attorney C. Buessor, treasurer and chairman of the bench-bar committee of the Detroit Bar; and John Lizza, chairman of the Michigan State Bar's unauthorized-practice-of-law committee.

Barris said the Detroit Bar board of directors had taken no position on the proposal by the three commissioners, but made it clear that he opposed it.

Buessor charged that Wayne County would become "the Reno of Michigan." He said he believed there are too many divorces already, adding "and I'm a divorce lawyer."

Lizza described the proposal as "ill-advised" and said, "What you contemplate is clearly unauthorized practice of law." If enacted, he predicted, "the courts in due course would strike it down."

One man who supported the proposal said he had handled his own divorce proceeding in court that morning. "The whole thing was over in 10 minutes," he declared.

The meeting was punctuated by several verbal clashes between Silver, who initiated the proposal, and Barris.

The resolution calls for "a type of 'self-help' divorce counter as a function of the office of Wayne County clerk similar to the 'small claims division' of Common Pleas Court." It adds:

"At this counter, citizens seeking divorce and without minor children or other serious complicating factors would simply pay a nominal fee (e.g., $25) plus court costs to file their divorce papers with the assistance of a specially designated and trained clerical department."

Ex-Candidates Supporting McQuesten

Four former candidates for Schoolcraft College trustee have announced their support for one candidate seeking a trustee position in the June 11 election.

Mark A. McQuesten, former candidate for Wayne County commissioner and graduate of Schoolcraft College, was endorsed for a two-year term on the college board.

The former candidates are the Rev. Ivan Smith, Mark J. Bowlsby, George F. Shirley and the Rev. James Schafer.

In their announcement the former candidates stated that McQuesten's "long term active involvement and visible concern for the college is a major reason for our announcement of support."

"Because of his close association with the college in past years, his election would bring a new perspective and depth of understanding to the Schoolcraft board."

ROBERT G. PELKEY has been named executive director of the Livonia-based Michigan Mobile Home and Recreational Vehicle Institute. The institute is an association of 700 companies including dealers, parks and campgrounds, manufacturers, suppliers and others in the mobile home industry. Pelkey, a Brighton resident, has been a member of the board of directors of the association since it was founded in 1962. He has been associated with the industry as a salesman, manufacturer, and campground developer.

8 Seek 3 Full Schoolcraft Terms...

They Were Asked

All 10 candidates in the Schoolcraft College trustee election were asked the following questions. Three persons will be elected to six-year terms in the June 11 election and one will be elected to a two-year term.

1. Should a faculty member and/or student representative be allowed to sit with the board in a non-voting capacity?
2. How do you view the current administration-faculty relations? If you see any problems, how should they be resolved?
3. What building priorities should the college set? (e.g. fine arts building, outdoor physical education facilities, vocational facilities, etc.)

Nancie Blatt

Nancie Blatt, 35, of 19482 Parker, Livonia, is a substitute teacher and holds a bachelor's and master's degree in education from the University of Michigan.

Mrs. Blatt is completing a six-month appointment to the Schoolcraft board and was the board's delegate to the American Assn. of Junior and Community Colleges convention.

She is a member of the by-laws committee and serves as board parliamentarian.

She has worked in several millage campaigns for the Livonia schools and worked on Schoolcraft's unsuccessful millage campaign in 1971.

Mrs. Blatt served on two citizens committees studying financing of Livonia schools and the feasibility of a vocational-technical high school.

She is a member of the League of Women Voters and was legislative chairman for the Northwest Assn. for Retarded Children.

1. Yes. In order to make proper decisions, the Board of trustees needs input from groups who may have different opinions. We can make better judgments if various points of view are represented. Having a student and faculty member sitting at the board would allow a freer flow of ideas.

2. Relations do seem strained, and there is an obvious lack of understanding between the two groups. I think having a faculty member sitting at the board table would help to open communications. The board has recognized and has indicated to both groups the importance to the college of improving relationships.

3. We have just completed an addition to the applied sciences building which will give us more vocational-technical facilities. The state has indicated that there is a possibility of funding for the Fine Arts Center.

This was part of the original master plan for the college, and I feel that it should have top priority. This center could be a focal point for cultural and community activities in the college district.

Paul Y. Kadish

Paul Y. Kadish, 36, of 18687 Purlingbrook, Livonia, is an insurance executive and president of Associated Group Underwriters Inc.

He currently is completing a two-year term on the Schoolcraft board where he serves as treasurer. He is serving on the board's audit and review committee and bylaws and policy committee.

Kadish completed his undergraduate work in business administration from Wayne State University.

An unsuccessful candidate for State Senate in 1970, Kadish is a member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

He also is on the board of directors of the Michigan Community College Assn. and a member of the MCCA's special legislative committee. Kadish was appointed to the Public Officials Compensation Board in Livonia.

1. I am favorable to having both a non-voting seat for both faculty and the student body. However, I believe that it is most necessary to have the students represented. It is most advantageous to the trustees to have regular input from the students and faculty to help us in the decision-making process.

2. There is a definite problem between certain levels of the administration and the faculty. I have, however, every confidence that the present difficulties are not irreparable.

The president of the college is aware of these problems and I am certain that the situation will improve within a reasonable length of time.

3. The college is not in the process of completing a voc-tech addition and I would, therefore, consider the building of a Fine Arts Center as the number one priority.

Alfred D. Ringsred

Alfred D. Ringsred, 30, of 4465 Parkhurst, Plymouth, is a systems analyst and programmer and is veteran recruiter for Schoolcraft's Center for the Education of Returning Veterans.

He holds an associate degree in arts from Schoolcraft and has taken IBM and Life Ordinary Management Assn. courses. He is a member of Tanager Elementary School's Parent Teacher Organization in Plymouth and the Wayne-Westland Parents Drug Abuse Committee.

1. The board, in making decisions, has a responsibility to the electorate to insure that all pertinent information is made available to the board. Two important resources in providing such information are the faculty and student body.

Each of these groups has a separate and distinct perspective both from each other and the administration.

Allowing representatives of these organizations to sit with the board can help the board immeasurably in fulfilling its responsibility to the community.

2. The current relations between these two groups are not what they should be. The adversary relationship that currently exists is unnecessary and damaging to the efforts of the college.

Since those involved have been unable or unwilling to resolve their differences, it is the responsibility of the board to do what is necessary to bring these two groups together so the college can benefit from the expertise of both factions working together.

3. The first priority in building should be aimed at satisfying the needs of existing programs. Vocational-technical expansion, now in its final stages, should be sufficient for the present.

Richard Buerk

Richard G. Buerk, 29, 8277 Woodcrest Drive, Westland, is assistant principal of Stevenson Junior High School in Westland.

He formerly taught social science, English and science in Adams Junior High School. He completed his undergraduate degree in education from the University of Michigan and a master's degree in history from Eastern Michigan University.

His memberships include the Westland Library Board, Westland Kiwanis Club, Westland Symphony committee and Plymouth Elks.

1. I favor faculty and student representation on the Schoolcraft board in an advisory capacity. The board is a policy rendering group and needs input from the entire college community if it is to meet the educational challenges confronting Schoolcraft.

The faculty and student body compose a rich reservoir of human resources necessary in the formation of sound educational policies and programs. It would be a breach of public responsibility if the board did not utilize its available sources of information.

2. I feel the present relationship between the administration and faculty of Schoolcraft is strained to the point of preventing meaningful dialogue and interaction between the two groups.

It is impossible to win a ball game if you are denied your turn at bat. Education should, and must be, the result of a team approach. The people charged with implementation of policy should also have the opportunity to voice opinions in the formation of that policy.

3. Building priorities at Schoolcraft are dependent upon the needs of the college and the community. College facilities should not be built if community ones are available and sufficient.

PAUL Y. KADISH

Some state funding will be made available in the very near future and I think the board must act very soon or take the chance of losing state matching funds. If state funds are not taken advantage of when made available now, we may never get them.

ALFRED D. RINGSRED

The current need in outdoor facilities for physical education is tennis courts. Because of the growing interest in this sport, tennis courts should be given a significant priority. In long range planning, a fine arts building and cultural center should receive high priority.

Gerald L. Cox

Gerald L. Cox, 46, 32761 Maplewood, Garden City, is a teacher in the Detroit public schools.

Cox has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Michigan State University, a master's from Wayne State University and a doctorate in education from the University of Michigan.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for Schoolcraft trustee in 1963 and 1971 and was considered for an appointment to the board in January. He is a governor of the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

Cox has taught at Chicago Vocational School and was employed with Southern Pacific Lines in New York and Pittsburgh, Pa. Cox also was assistant professor of general business at Wayne State University and formerly was head of curriculum at Cass Technical High School and business department head at Central High School in Detroit.

1. The board should continue its present policy of seating elected representatives and college administration at the table. Students, faculty, taxpayers and interested citizens should "get the floor" when this is desirable.

2. Current difficulties exist

RICHARD G. BUERK

Such facilities as a Fine Arts Center, however, could be designed to benefit not only the curriculum, but cultural, educational and social aspects of the community as well.

S'craft Election Facts

Election day is Monday, June 11, from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Registered voters in the school districts of Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth and Northville are eligible to vote in the college election.

Vote in your normal school district precincts.

Schoolcraft is a two-year community college with its main campus at 18600 Haggerty Road, Livonia, and a service center at Garden City's Florence Elementary School.

The college is governed by an eight-member board of trustees elected for six year terms from the college district at large. Holdover trustees are Chairman John LaRue, Vice Chairman Rosina Raymond, LeRoy Bennett and Arch Vallier.

The college district was created in 1961 and was named for Henry Rowe Schoolcraft, 19th century scholar, explorer, geologist and regent of the University of Michigan.

The first students were admitted in August of 1964.

Schoolcraft is accredited by the Michigan Commission on Accreditation and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Noel Little

Noel Little, 26, of 41318 Windsor Court, Northville, is an insurance adjuster for Citizens Mutual.

Miss Little earned an associate of arts degree from Schoolcraft in 1971.

1. Being the originator of the motion while on the Student Senate at Schoolcraft College, I am very much in favor of a student and faculty member on the board of trustees.

I would be opposed to such action though if there was the stipulation that (a) the faculty advisor would automatically be the president of the Faculty Forum, I believe the position should be specifically an elected one - not an appointed position; and

(b) that the student representative also be elected by the student body in a specific election and not automatically a position held by the president of the Student Senate or someone appointed by the Student Senate. I also would be against a grade point average being a stipulation unless it was specifying nothing below a 2.0.

2. I get the general impression from feedback from a substantial number of faculty members that relations between the administration and because of emerging collective bargaining practices. To avoid crisis confrontations, grievances (real and imagined) should be handled at an early stage by practicing good human relationships with the leadership of conflicting groups. Sound management preserves high morale of faculty by encouraging participation.

3. A review of building needs would (a) assess how well vocational-technical objectives have been met, (b) revise the master plan in line with student enrollments, and (c) provide for early construction of a Schoolcraft cultural arts center.

NOEL LITTLE

faculty are substantially severe, if not in fact the worst they have ever been since the faculty strike.

I believe that an evaluation system written by the faculty on the administrators could lead to avenues of improvements. If progress was not forthcoming, then the possibility of a probationary period being given to certain administrators might be the answer.

3. I can not at this time intelligently evaluate what the building priorities should be. I would need to be presented with the pertinent information before committing myself to a decision of this proportion.

James Higgins

James E. Higgins, 47, of 29449 Linda, Livonia, is a registered professional engineer and works for Detroit Edison where he does engineering economic studies.

He also has worked for Detroit's Public Lighting Commission and Giffels and Vallet Consulting Engineers. Higgins is a graduate of the University of Detroit's engineering school and has taken seminars at Cornell University and the University of Texas.

He is a Republican precinct delegate and a member of the Engineering Society of Detroit and Knights of Columbus.

1. The administration provides the normal necessary buffer between the elected public board of trustees and the faculty and the student. However, good lines of communication must be maintained. Good input to the board is an absolute necessity.

I do not believe one student representative or faculty can express all viewpoints. The board agenda can include a time period, every third meeting, for specific input from all campus groups.

2. Teachers are extremely proud of and sensitive concerning teaching ability. The administration-faculty relationships should not be analogous to the great U.S. Marine Corps. However, in difficult cases, the administration must govern the college.

If I am elected, I will do my best to improve the present good administration-faculty relations by keeping open lines of communications to faculty and students. This will be done when it is necessary to bypass the buffer administration.

3. Schoolcraft's first priority should be the vocational-technical area. The graduate needs a productive job for himself, Michigan and the USA.

Secondly, outdoor tennis courts can come when the budget permits it. The present indoor facilities are some of the best in the state.

In the third place, Schoolcraft College cannot compete with Michigan (U-M) in fine arts. A good meal-culinary arts-a Schoolcraft speciality, is the way to a woman's as well as a man's heart.

Gerald Lunden

Gerald Lunden, 32, of 9357 Marie, Livonia, is employed by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

He was an unsuccessful candidate for the Livonia Board of Education in 1971. Prior to joining the sheriff's department 11 years ago, Lunden was administrative assistant to the commanding general of the U.S. Forces in Germany.

He is a member of the Western Wayne County and Detroit traffic safety commissions, governor's commission on traffic safety, Masonic Lodge and Big Brother program.

1. I believe the seating of faculty and student representatives as non-voting members of the board would be most helpful in providing a spectrum of divergent viewpoints thus enabling the board to reach decisions in the most equitable manner.

I don't believe faculty members work just for money alone. I believe they work for a sense of satisfaction about the institution they belong to. The faculty and students have a stake in the future of Schoolcraft.

2. I am very optimistic regarding the future of Schoolcraft College. While there is some ivory tower attitude lingering about, it can be removed with an improvement in internal communications coupled with some encouragement and guidance from the board.

The way to break any spell of cynicism and restore confidence is by delivering on the commitment to provide the best education.

3. The community need today is for an education that will qualify an individual for his chosen profession. The large numbers of those who possess a bachelor's degree yet are in a quandary as to how they are going to make a living is indicative of our problem.

While a liberal arts education is important in teaching one to enjoy life, it is far more important for the college to prepare an individual to be ready for life.

...As 2 Seek To Fill Vacancy

Ronald K. Cowden

Ronald K. Cowden, 32, of 1577 Westbrooke, Livonia, is director of student activities at Bentley High School in Livonia.

Cowden is a Bentley graduate and received a bachelor's degree from Western Michigan University and a master's in educational administration from Eastern Michigan University.

He is a Republican precinct delegate, and his memberships include the Livonia Jaycees, Ward United Presbyterian Church and Wayne County 2nd Congressional District committee. He directs the Livonia Youth Inc. program during the summer.

1. I think representatives from both groups could offer much advice and input into the development of curricula and policy. Their position, I feel, should be an advisory one; trustees-directly responsible to the electorate-must maintain their legal decision-making powers.

I suggest representatives be chosen from each of these groups on a rotating basis so that the views of all segments and philosophies of each group would have their ideas brought to the trustees.

2. From listening to participants at Schoolcraft meetings, I detect there is some breakdown in communication between the faculty and administration. The two groups need to listen to and evaluate each other's ideas for their value.

The administration should pay more attention to the input of the faculty and pass it on to the trustees; in turn, the faculty needs to accept that their view is only one part of a total picture. Communication is the key!

3. I consider the function of a community college is to provide educational, professional and cultural needs of all age students within its district. I feel, then, that within the budget, building priorities should be in that order too. Facilities for instruction-vocational, academic or recreational-should be built in order of the need and potential use. I favor the construction of a cultural center at Schoolcraft but would factor it into the total needs of the college.

RONALD K. COWDEN

MARK A. MCQUESTEN

Mark McQuesten

Mark McQuesten, 23, of 14476 Summerside Court, Livonia, is office manager of the Livonia branch of Associated Group Underwriters Inc.

McQuesten received an associate of arts degree from Schoolcraft in 1972. He is a member of Livonia Interested Democrats and was appointed a Livonia youth commissioner.

1. I was a student government representative when this concept was originally proposed. It was my privilege to have personally presented this proposal twice before the board of trustees. Understand that when such a proposal was made, the board provided little opportunity for discussion of issues by students and faculty.

We now have a different board which expresses a new openness towards students and faculty. If the students and faculty again feel they must make such a request, I would be in the affirmative.

2. Faculty-administration relationships are strained. There is a lack of trust and respect for each other's role and person. Neither party can be held solely responsible for the present situation, but both parties will if it continues.

To remedy this I would first reconvene the Waldenwoods conference and call for a committee to make specific recommendations for institutional changes. Second, I would call for a general review of all faculty and staff to re-examine their individual roles within the institution.

3. I fully support the proposed construction of the Fine Arts Center. This center will become a focal point of the community for cultural and public affairs.

There is little doubt that we must concentrate on the development of the vocational-technical curriculum but that in itself would be incomplete. The college community must dedicate itself to a balance of both the cultural and the technical skills.

'Moonladies' Are Nominated

The Dearborn Civic Theater's three "Moonladies," from "Mame," were nominated for Kenny award for the "best featured actress in a musical" by the theater. The "Moonladies" are Mrs. Janet Glass of Redford Township, Mrs. Gloria Dukatz of Livonia and Mrs. Helene Chambo, also of Livonia. The awards were presented at a dinner June 2 in the Brentwood House, Melvindale.

The DCT's first play of the new season will be "Applause."

Southfield residents in the show are Alice Avedesian, Lisa Buckfire, Denise Bravell, Riva Dines, Ann Church, Tine Drew, Mike Dawson, Janice Diamond, Robert Ferris, Mark and William Felsenfeld and Sandra Pfister.

Also in the show are Farmington residents Jean and Bob Frieling, Cathy Proctor and Jim Lewis.

All are students of Kathy MacLean's Performing Arts Studio in Southfield.

Musical accompaniment will be by Ina Slater Still, organist at Nardin Park United Methodist Church, Farmington. The lighting and stage director is Robert Horner of Southfield.

Genealogists Meet June 9

The Detroit Society for Genealogical Research Inc. will discuss "The Germans in Michigan, When and Where They Settled" at a meeting Saturday, June 9, at 2 p.m. in the explorer's room of Detroit Public Library on Cass Ave.

The public is invited to hear Kurt Keydel, publisher of Abend Post-Detroit, a German newspaper. Keydel is on the board of governors of Wayne State University and chairs the board of commissioners of Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

Individual genealogical problems will be discussed between 9:45 and 11:45 a.m.

Savoy Brown To Perform

The first outdoor rock concert at Eastern Michigan University will feature "An Afternoon with Savoy Brown" Saturday, June 9, at 4 p.m. in Rynearson Stadium on the west campus.

Tickets are $5 if purchased in advance from J.L. Hudson's ticket office or the McKenny Union ticket office at EMU. They will be $6 at the gate which will open at 12:30 p.m.

16 Soloists, Chorus Set Concert

Sixteen young artists, assisted by a 25-voice choir, will trace the development of "now" music in a concert at 8 p.m., Saturday, June 9, in the Birmingham Community House, 380 S. Bates.

The program is entitled "Kaleidoscope of Talent," and will feature music from the 17th century to today, from Vivaldi and Bach to Leonard Bernstein and Roger Williams. Tickets will be on sale at the box office.

REDFORD TOWNSHIP Music Society scholarship winners this year were Glen Polinski, pianist; Maria Hendrickson, vocalist; and Laura Kargul, pianist. They received their $50 awards at the society's annual meeting. The 1973-74 officers are Nathaniel Banks, president; Mercedes Sterling, first vice president; Liz Lavelly, second vice president; Irene Smith, corresponding secretary; Lucille Davies, recording secretary; and Edward Weiss, treasurer. They are meeting this month to discuss plans for the new season. (Observer photo)

Casting Call

The Lathrup Children's Theater will hold try-outs for "Aesop's Fables," a rock musical with book by Ed Graczyk and music by Shirley Hansen, from 2 to 4 p.m., Saturday, June 9, and Sunday, June 10.

The auditions will be held in the Lathrup Municipal Building, 27400 Southfield Road. The play, which is a modern version of Aesop's Fables, will be presented July 26, 27 and 28 and Aug. 3 and 4.

All rehearsals and performances will be in the Lathrup Municipal Building. Rehearsals will be in the mornings.

There are acting, singing and dancing parts available for young people eight years old and over. Back stage workers and instrumentalists are also needed.

'South Pacific' 'Fourposter' To Be Staged

The classic Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "South Pacific" will be performed by St. Dunstan Guild of Cranbrook June 8 to 10 and 14 to 16 at 9 p.m. The production will be staged in the outdoor Greek theater at Cranbrook in Bloomfield Hills.

OBSERVATION POINT

Steep Growth In Suburban Crime Requires Immediate Local Work

It's time to start talking openly about a big and growing problem in the suburbs: crime.

Just recently, a woman was allegedly raped in the parking lot at the Livonia Hospital in Livonia.

Residents in Southfield and Lathrup Village are reporting unparalleled increases in burglaries to their homes.

Several weeks ago, dynamite was planted in the parking lot at the Livonia Mall. Fortunately, it was discovered before it exploded.

A recent survey showed that overall crime in Redford Township increased by 34 per cent from 1968 to 1972, with a startling jump of 94 per cent in burglary. Last week from Monday to Thursday, a total of 14 breakings and enterings were reported in the township alone!

Canton Township, with the fastest population growth rate of any community in this area, is faced with a shortage of police protection when Wayne County cuts back the sheriff road patrol activities and demands local reimbursement.

A REPORT issued last week by Redford Township Police Chief Edwin Gleza put the matter eloquently:

"What does it matter if a community has fine recreational facilities, if it is overrun by drug cultists, petty thieves and muggers."

"What does it matter that its libraries are stacked high with the wisdom of the ages, if its residents are concerned about their safety while walking there at night?"

"And what does it matter that a community has fine schools if the students are being robbed of lunch money or assaulted on their way there?"

All this may be a little self-serving, since the report was made in connection with a request to the Redford Township Board for more money for policemen, but Gleza — and other suburban police officials who have been making similar remarks — do have a point of utmost importance.

Everyone who has lived here in the suburbs for a while can recall the days when one didn't lock the car by habit or when no one paid much attention to the strength of the lock on the front door or when taking a stroll on a dark street in the twilight was just taking the fresh air instead of a risk.

It's no longer that way, and this means that one of the essential qualities of suburban living has gradually been eroded away.

JUST WHY is a matter for speculation.

One theory is that intensified police activity in Detroit such as STRESS has driven the thieves and muggers into the suburbs, where the pickings are easier and the police protection less rigorous.

Another explanation is that urban renewal and slum clearance in advance of expressway construction have gradually driven certain elements in Detroit away from the core city and toward the suburbs.

Of course, the increase in heroin addiction and the consequent necessity to steal in order to support the drug habit have affected burglaries and larcenies.

Although many addresses of persons arrested in the suburbs are from the City of Detroit, a substantial percentage of them are from these very suburbs.

If you listen to ministers and teachers, many of them report that today's young people, regardless of where they live, are less respectful of private property than in former years.

IT'S A DISTURBING problem, but one that must be talked about openly if it's ever going to be solved.

Obviously, one solution to the crime problem is increased police protection.

In 1971, the national average of police officers per 1,000 population was 1.80. In Michigan it was 1.51. But in the suburbs around Detroit, it was 1.34.

Increased police protection means more men, more equipment, and more sophisticated methods. All these cost money.

In the end, if people want better police protection, they are going to have to pay for it by their taxes.

Just how much money will be needed and whether or not it will come from an increase in taxes or a cut in other local government services will be determined by public debate and discussion.

The time for that discussion is right now.

MARBLES ARE QUIETER, AND CHEAPER AND SAFER

Endorse Kadish For SC

Eight candidates are seeking the two six-year positions on the Schoolcraft College Board, while two candidates are vying for the single one-year post.

Two incumbents, one who has served less than a year, are included in those seeking the longer term. They are Paul Kadish, bidding for one of the six-year positions after serving a two-year term, and Nancie Blatt, who was appointed six months ago to fill an unexpired term.

After interviews with nine of 10 candidates (Gerald Lunden failed to appear), an Observer panel has developed recommendations for the benefit of those residing in the college district to follow when going to the polls next Monday.

We endorse Kadish for re-election to the board.

He has demonstrated real knowledge of college business and, most of the time, in dealing with conflicting campus interests. Kadish has been the most pleasant surprise of the new trustees elected two years ago. Schoolcraft has some real political problems, and Kadish has the most political know-how of any board member or candidate.

We give well qualified ratings to Dr. Gerald Cox, of Garden City, and Richard Buerk, an assistant principal of Stevenson Junior High in the Wayne-Westland District.

Buerk could well be the best of the candidates other than Kadish. He has had some contact with the college but, until now, no direct involvement. He listens to the various interest groups but we don't think he'll swallow anyone's line whole-hog.

Dr. Cox has made two close runs for the college board previously. Despite losing, he has kept active in volunteer positions, demonstrating beyond question his sincere interest in Schoolcraft College. A Detroit school teacher, Dr. Cox has convinced us he could deal with labor problems objectively.

Right or wrong, some college district residents from the smaller school districts feel a need for direct representation on the college board, and a Garden City resident such as Dr. Cox would answer that need.

Recommended for consideration but rated not as well qualified as the three mentioned above is Mrs. Blatt. She has been an interested trustee in her six months on the board but has been wary of revealing strong feelings on any issue. One is hard put to find anyone who feels strongly about her, pro or con.

Mrs. Blatt's past civic involvements have been chiefly in Livonia school campaigns and Democratic politics. If elected to a full term, she will probably do no harm and perhaps a bit of good.

For the two year term, we cannot recommend one candidate over the other.

Ronald Cowden is director of student activities at Livonia Bentley High and his contacts with students are his chief association with the college. He has the endorsement of the Livonia Education Association and talks as if he won't be "our boy" for the Schoolcraft Faculty Forum. That may be so.

Mark McQuesten probably knows more people at the college and more details of its problems than any other three candidates. He also has a three-year career as a campus politician and editorialist. He has matured, but we still suspect he has a lot of axes to grind, a lot of commitments to interests other than overall public interest. If elected, he could be one of the best trustees or one of the worst.

Ordinance Puts Teeth In Mini-Bike Code

After hearing complaints from residents for the past three or four years and from the Police Department during that same period about inability to enforce a nebulous law, the Livonia City Council has finally resolved the motorcycle and mini-bike situation with the strongest ordinance in the state.

Other cities would do well to study Livonia's ordinance and follow its lead.

Passed as an emergency measure, which makes it effective almost at once, the ordinance regulates the use of the vehicles on public and private property.

For some time, the police department has been plagued by complaints from residents of the noise and misuse of mini-bikes and motorcycles on streets in what otherwise are quiet neighborhoods.

Complaints of youngsters driving mini-bikes up and down streets, going on sidewalks, scaring pedestrians, tearing up lawns and doing numerous other things in violation of state and local regulations have been mounting.

It is a well known fact that individuals driving mini-bikes on public streets must have driver permits. It also is an established fact that one must be 16 to get a driver's license.

Small wonder then that Livonia residents complained and flooded the police department with calls when they saw youngsters under the age of 16 roaring down the street on mini-bikes and oftentimes thumbing their noses at those who objected.

A great deal of the fault had to go back to the parents who bought the mini-bikes for their youngsters, knowing full well that it would probably result in a violation of the code.

These parents appeared to want to satisfy the desires of their children, generally warned them of what they could and could not do and then turned their attention to other things.

But when they received a call from the police station to come down and get their youngster and discovered they had to pay a fee for impoundment of the bike... well, that was something else.

Usually the police department was accused of harassment and other tactics blamed for the entire affair with little of the responsibility placed on the erring youngster or the equally as erring parents.

All of that is a thing of the past now. The ordinance, which becomes effective after official publication, includes regulations for motorcycles, mini-bikes and go-carts among other vehicles.

It provides that motorcycles cannot be used on private or public land except in designated areas or on unimproved parcels of 10 acres or larger with permission of the owner and a city permit.

In recent weeks, we have seen motorcycles roaring through the center section of the Schoolcraft freeway, using small hills of dirt on construction projects. All we are certain, without any permission.

Another part of the ordinance provides that mini-bikes can be used on private occupied property between the hours of 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Private unoccupied parcels of more than five acres can be used by mini-bikes with the permission of the owner and a city permit.

Violation of the ordinance can result in impoundment of the vehicle. Owners must pay $10 in addition to $1 per day storage fee to get the vehicle back.

Interesting indeed are the hours. Previously it was nothing to hear mini-bikes roaring around as early as 7 a.m. and as late as 11 p.m.

Youngsters should take note of the new regulations. . . from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., even in these days of daylight saving time. Parents should keep these hours in mind and make their children stay in bounds. . . either that or take a chance on appearing in court.

This ordinance has teeth and was written and adopted to use. You better believe it.

Leonard Poger writes

Busing Isn't Major Issue Anymore In Suburbs

Congressman William Ford (D-Taylor) held his annual thank you dinner for his suburban district's newspapers.

That, of course, isn't news.

But what is of interest is that of the lengthy discussion of various issues, the war is still topic number one although there are no U.S. combat troops left in South Vietnam and all the known American POWs are back home.

What is news by the sin of omission is that busing wasn't mentioned once during the give-and-take session with Ford, a liberal Democrat who was forced to talk about nothing but busing during last summer's primary election.

Some of the questions concerned the expansion of combat activities into Cambodia; the continuing Watergate bugging issue and its "chilling" effect on telephone conversations in Washington, D.C.; amnesty for young men who refused to fight in the Vietnam War, among others.

But the absence of busing talk was interesting for several reasons.

One is that it reflects a general bias feeling about the issue, which mirrors the public's attitude.

The publishers, editors and reporters at Ford's dinner (which featured prime rib in spite of rising meat prices and a national meat boycott) aren't concerned about busing now because their readers have taken an emotional vacation from the issue.

The letters to the editor and phone calls have virtually vanished. The conversation in the neighborhood pubs is dominated by food prices—particularly meat prices.

Suburbanites are still opposed to busing but the issue doesn't take up much of the after-dinner discussions any more.

Ford is asking his suburban voters about post office efficiency or lack of it; a national health insurance program; protection of newsmen's confidential sources by federal law; protection of private pension plans by federal law; and American financial aid for the rebuilding of North Vietnam; and—leading off the questionnaire—is the issue of rising food prices and what should be done about them.

Is busing dead as a current political issue?

Probably, if suburban newspapermen at Ford's dinner are an accurate reflection of their communities' moods.

Sense And Nonsense

Livonia's annual Memorial Day parade lacked its usual gusto this year, some observers feel. Officials are probably saving up all the hoopla for the forthcoming "Spree '73."

Take the parade's clown contingent, for instance. Most of them marched along hardly bothering with the small fry who lined the parade route while women in an accompanying car threw out token pieces of candy. Somehow that's a job the red-nosed, baggy pants characters are much better suited for.

But the crowning touch was the open car labeled "Wayne County Big Brothers"—that was filled with women.

Cheers to the woman who was brave enough to loudly exclaim: "That's carrying women's lib too far."

And then came a request from the Redford Township Chamber of Commerce, asking we publish a photo and story about a Detroit columnist who was speaking at one of their luncheons.

When asked if the writer made mention of the luncheon in his column, the chamber's spokesman said: "Why I don't know, but you're our local newspaper and we expect our coverage to come from you."

The chamber never said whether they considered asking one of our columnists to speak at the engagement.

EDITOR:

We read the article, "Students Help Haunt School," in the May 26 edition of your paper. The fair was at the Rosedale Elementary School in Livonia. The article states that, "the scene was a strobe-lighted area with a mummy, a corpse with a knife in his stomach, a body hanging from the end of a rope and a weird looking half person. It was the fair's big### gest money maker."

Both my husband and I shuddered to think that the PTA at Rosedale would offer such a gruesome spectacle at an elementary school.

Even though the money will go toward a public address system for the school, I question whether the Rosedale PTA showed much integrity in promoting this hideous display at an elementary school "fun" fair.

Does the PTA, and do parents from Rosedale, feel that the end justifies the means for making money? Didn't they consider moral values for their children?

There are many people who feel that there is no need to glorify such gory atrocities. Surely there are better ways to have "fun!"

Public Rallies To MIA Cause

EDITOR:

The POW-MIA Committee of Livonia would like to thank all of those who assisted us in the last few weeks. So far we have collected over 6,000 signatures on letters to Southeast Asian leaders asking for information on Spec. 5 Craig Dix of Livonia. We have also collected thousands more signatures on letters for other Michigan men.

Most importantly, we have been able to make more people aware that there are 1,300 men still missing in action. Whether you wore a bracelet or a MIA button, you were "spreading the word" that we must have some information on the fate of these men.

Be assured that, although we have obtained many signatures and sold many bracelets during the last three weeks, we've only begun. We will not give up. We will continue writing to our leaders and the Asian leaders (and urging you to do the same) until ALL our missing are accounted for.

Young Singer Gains Praise

EDITOR:

As a reader of your Observer paper, I do enjoy the opinions on your Forum page.

I'd like to commend the young man, Randy Herkness, who entertained with such beautiful songs at the Westland Festival. Also, I heard him at the Radcliff Junior High cabaret show. He's a very talented young man. He should really be lauded with praise.

'Spot Zoning' Stirs Anger

EDITOR:

This is a word of warning to the residents of Plymouth Township, so they will not have the same problem that arose in our neighborhood.

If you attend a planning commission meeting on rezoning that you are against and the commission has turned it down, this is not the end of it. The board of trustees, our body of elected officials, can override the commission's recommendation and allow the rezoning regardless of how many people are against it. So make sure you know when a rezoning is brought before the trustees and be present to fight your cause.

Over two years ago, a dentist bought a house in our neighborhood (R-1) and requested a rezoning for T-O. It was denied by both the commission and the trustees because it was "spot zoning." A year later the dentist bought the house next door to the first one and requested another rezoning. The commission denied it, but our board of trustees saw fit to grant permission for an office. Why the change of heart? They knew 27 signatures of surrounding neighbors were against it. Is it

"Who you are and not the majority that counts?"

In order to fight this zoning, the neighbors secured 1,043 signatures to have a referendum against the rezoning put on the ballot of November 1972. You, the people, voted 2 to 1 against the rezoning, but how many of you know that this dentist is being permitted to go in as a non-conforming business in a residential area. A building permit was granted by the township, even though they knew the petitions were out. Why?

Why bother with referendums or even elections in this "fair" township of ours, when your vote which is supposed to be your greatest gift freedom doesn't mean a tinker's?

So, if you have a zoning problem, don't bother with petitions and a lot of hard honest work. See a lawyer and get an injunction as fast as you can. Something must be done about spot zoning and turning residential areas into non-conforming alley ways that make your street look like a hodge podge.

In our democratic country, the majority rules! Pardon the snicker!

(Mrs.) ANNA MILLIGAN

Fish Won't Know Girls From Boys

Unlike many sports, there will be no discrimination against girls in Saturday's Tom Sawyer - Becky Thatcher fishing derby on the shores of Newburgh Lake in Livonia.

Boys and girls from ages 6-16 will compete for prizes in a derby that lasts from 7 a.m. to noon. To compete, the young fishermen must register first at the signs on Newburgh Point, south of Hines Drive and just west of Newburgh Road.

Only natural baits -- worms, grubs, minnows and the like -- may be used. Contestants using plugs, poppers or artificial flies will be declared ineligible.

Co-sponsoring the annual event are the parks and recreation departments of Livonia, Westland, Garden City, Plymouth and Redford Township, along with the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn.

Prizes will be given to the boys dressed most like storybook character Tom Sawyer and girls dressed most like Becky Thatcher. Prizes will be given for the largest fish caught in each of several species found in the lake.

There is no charge for entry. Residents of any community may compete.

Support Urged For Millage

EDITOR:

Residents of Holiday Park Subdivision in Canton Township are concerned with the safety of our children coming and going to Fiegel School because of the heavy traffic on Joy Road.

We have used various methods to voice our concern in hopes that the necessary funds will be appropriated for constructing a sky walk over Joy Road.

We have been advised by the school board that the only way to assure said construction is through approval of the upcoming millage. The purpose of this letter, therefore, is to encourage you to support this millage in your paper and to advise the electorate of the importance of so doing.

Many schools besides Fiegel (most specifically Bird School) are faced with hazardous safety conditions and desperately need the money necessary to correct these problems.

This millage, if approved, would cost the individual taxpayer very little. Each homeowner would be assessed at an annual rate of 40 cents per $1,000 on 50 per cent of the cash value of their property.

For example, property valued at $30,000 would be assessed 40 cents per year of $15,000 -- or $6 annually. It seems inconceivable that any person, whether or not parents of school age children, would not be willing to pay such a small price annually to protect all our youngsters.

We urge your individual support and urgently request each citizen of the Plymouth community to vote YES for the SAFETY portion on the ballot.

Board Member Names Choices

EDITOR:

If I have learned anything in the first year of my term on the board, it is good intentions and formal education are not enough to preserve the independence and integrity of the people's board of education. Instead, it takes a great deal of time, a constant awareness and above all, a system of mutual trust and common ideals among the board members themselves.

On June 11, all of us, as citizens, parents, voters, and taxpayers have an opportunity to perhaps complete the work that was begun in last year's school election by placing on the board two candidates whose commitment to a board of education free from manipulation is a matter of personal knowledge to me.

Dr. E.J. McClendon and Joseph Gray, both of whom ran for the board last year, are again seeking that office. Dr. McClendon is seeking the four-year term and, Gray the one-year term.

Both of these fine gentlemen have time and time again, both in last year's election and throughout this past school year, demonstrated a genuine concern for

Boost Given To Mrs. Flora

EDITOR:

On Monday, June 11, Plymouth voters will cast their ballots for two positions on the school board. As a graduate of the Plymouth schools, I feel qualified to speak out. Scottie Flora is the best qualified of the candidates for the four-year seat to meet the needs of our community.

A mother, with a background in business, I sincerely feel she would offer the balance the board needs. An 18-year resident of Plymouth Township, Mrs. Flora has been involved with our community's youth in activities including the Council of Community Concerns, Youth Incorporated, and as a volunteer probation officer in the 35th District Court.

She is willing to speak out for the needs of our students, parents, taxpayers, and teachers. Mrs. Flora has the

Marking Tool Is Available From Police

NORTHVILLE Thanks to two concerned residents, Northville Township police have launched Operation Identification, a program whereby citizens can permanently mark their valuable items with an etching tool loaned by the police department.

The engraver can be picked up at the police station, free of charge, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. The tool comes complete with instructions. Borrowers are asked to return it within 48 hours.

Mrs. James VanBuren of Edenderry Drive and Mrs. Paul Hughes of Harbert Drive suggested this idea to Police Chief Ronald Nisun. Supervisor Lawrence Wright and the township trustees quickly approved it.

The recommended identification mark to be engraved of items of value is a driver's license number. This makes stolen items traceable. When the engraver is returned, window stickers are given to warn that valuables have been marked for positive identification.

Pregnant Students Have Own School

By MARGARET MILLER

Only a few years ago, a high school girl who became pregnant also became, almost automatically, a high school dropout.

Now, through a new class winding up its first year in Garden City and available to most Observerland communities, a pregnant high school or junior high girl continues her advance toward that diploma, taking just a short time off when her baby arrives.

In the class, officially designated "Garden City Extended Education School," she finds understanding, a more comfortable situation and the sort of counseling and academic help that meets her own needs.

She also may find herself doing better work than ever before in her school career.

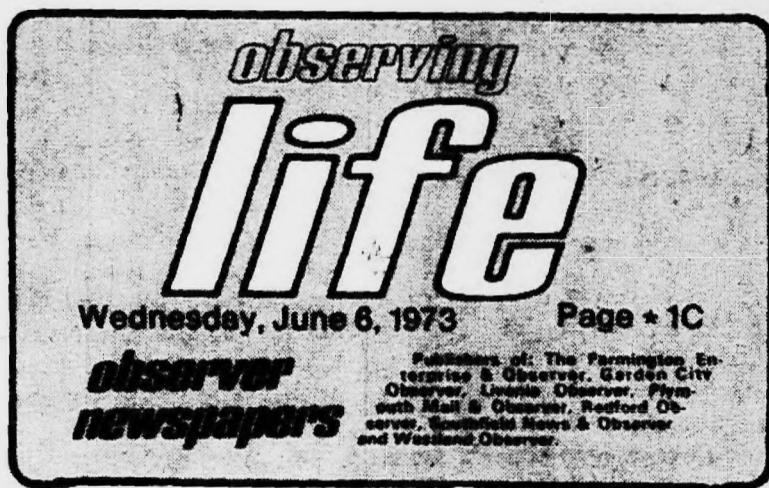

The class, begun last September, meets from 1 to 5 p.m. each day in the First United Methodist Church of Garden City, 6443 Merriman.

Students have come this year from the Livonia, Plymouth, Wayne-Westland, Redford Union and South Redford districts as well as Garden City. Each district participating pays a share of the costs.

Three teachers are on hand — Mrs. Lynn Reynolds to teach English and history and other academics on a high school level; Mrs. Lauren Fitzharris for home economics; and Mrs. Nancy Lonsinger for the junior high girls in the class.

Two public health nurses come twice a week to give special instruction and Elwin Slack, Garden City district homebound teacher and developer of the program, stops by just about every day.

In addition, the services of school social workers in the various high schools are available to the girls, and there are occasional rap sessions with Dr. Michael Shearer, Wayne-Westland school psychologist.

In the first year, 61 girls have been in the class.

Informal statistics prepared by Slack show four in the eighth and ninth grades, 18 in the 10th, 16 in the 11th and 23 in the 12th.

There have been 18 girls who are 15 and under, 16 aged 16, 25 aged 17 and two 18-year-olds.

Twenty-six married girls enrolled, and there were 35 single ones. "That figure can change from day to day," Slack pointed out, "since some are married during the school year." Mrs. Fitzharris agreed and mentioned that "one of our girls is getting married this week."

Of the 17 unmarried girls who had delivered their babies at the time the statistics were compiled, 11 were keeping them and six were putting them up for adoption. Classes at the church follow the regular school semesters. Each student has her program outlined for her, fitting the basics to her particular needs.

The girls take as much as three weeks off when their babies are born and then return to the special class until the end of that semester.

It's not unusual for them to bring the babies to visit class, Mrs. Fitzharris said.

Finishing up the semester in the special program makes things a lot simpler in the matter of record-keeping and high school credit compilation, Slack said.

The program, one of only 41 of its kind in the state, complies with a recently-passed law requiring that pregnant girls be accepted in their regular classes or provided an alternative other than working on a homebound plan.

Even before that law was enacted, Slack had become convinced that was the only way to go.

"Several years ago," he said, "I was trying to teach them at home."

"I found that pregnancy as a reason for not being in class was definitely increasing. Probably that was at least partly due to the fact that girls were choosing to continue their educations instead of just dropping out of school if they became pregnant."

"At any rate, teaching these girls at home was most unsatisfactory because of difficult family situations, and I was having trouble finding time for children who needed my help because of illness."

Slack tried for two years to conduct a special class in the Garden City board of education office building. That too had its drawbacks, and last summer the Garden City district applied to the Michigan State Board of Education for a special and separate class.

The board, faced with the new law, designated the district to operate a school for pregnant students in the northern catchment area of the Wayne County intermediate school district. Each district participating signs a contract agreeing to pay for students it sends.

Getting the green light just before school opened last fall, Slack crammed into a single week the hiring of three teachers, arranging to rent the church, working out an agreement with the public health nurses and setting up specific programs for each student entering.

"From an academic viewpoint, I knew I had to stick to the basics," he said. "Nothing like business or science courses requiring special equipment."

"But I made home economics training a top priority. These girls definitely need that."

In planning the courses, he said, "we're concerned with a total picture of the girl -- not just getting her through high school." So there are three focuses -- her academic work, her medical situation and her social adjustment.

The visits of the public health nurses for two hours once a week take care of the second part of that picture.

Nurses Nancy Birchmeier and Eleanor LaRoy said their part of the class sessions deals with pre-natal advice, discussion of labor and delivery, post-partum care and infant growth. They also include family planning discussions, some talk about formula making and giving the baby a bath, and a hospital tour for the girls.

The three teachers, all less than two years out of college, carry through the academic program.

"Our standards are high," said Mrs. Reynolds. "It's not a goof-off school. But we can be more understanding about the physical problems involved in pregnancy."

Mrs. Fitzharris pointed out that the church is a more comfortable place because

As Credit Risk

'A Dead Male Is Better Than A Live Female'

By KATHY MORAN

A widow who seeks credit cards in her own name often finds that "a dead male is a better credit risk than a live female."

The fact that widows are advised to keep their credit cards in their husband's name demonstrates the discrimination that women face when seeking credit, says Esther Shapiro, consumer specialist for the Michigan Credit Union League.

"We are beginning to find out that women as creditors don't exist," Mrs. Shapiro told a group of women in a Continuum Center lecture at Schoolcraft College.

Mrs. Shapiro, a wife who has sought credit cards in her own name for business reasons, said getting them is a "constant battle."

Women face discrimination in obtaining credit regardless of their marital status, she added.

Mrs. Shapiro said widows are generally advised to keep their credit cards in their husband's name, to which one widow replied, "Fine, collect from him."

Bills have been proposed in the State Legislature to remedy these situations, she said. In the meantime, women will have to face humiliation in getting credit.

"If a husband and wife want to buy a house, they can afford a better house if the wife is working," she said.

"But for the wife's salary to be counted as a basis for getting credit, she often has to submit a doctor's letter saying she is taking precautions not to have children.

"This is a kind of humiliation," Mrs. Shapiro said. "I recommend applying the 'Shapiro Counter Index of Fertility,' in which a husband is required to submit a sperm count also."

She complained that single women lose their credit rating when they marry and must assume their husbands'.

"When I married, my credit file disappeared."

If a woman marries a man who is considered a bad credit risk, she carries the same stigma -- even if she divorces him.

"Divorcees are considered 'unstable' and therefore a bad credit risk anyway. And if the divorcee's ex-husband was a credit bum, she has twice the trouble, even though the most stable thing she did was to get rid of the bum."

Mrs. Shapiro urged the women to support a bill introduced by Sen. David Plawecki (D-Dearborn Heights). It would require financial institutions to apply the same criteria to all people and "make it illegal to deny credit solely on the basis of sex," she said.

"I believe that everyone has to establish the ability to repay, but lots of women have the means," she declared.

m. m. memos

Not surprisingly, the month of June brings its increase in the volume of weddings being reported.

And over the years, I've noted that nervous brides come up with some entertaining innovations in the English language when they bring in their pictures and the descriptions of their big occasion.

So this first week of June is a good time to bring you up to date.

For instance, the past year brought the usual assortment of misspellings of peau de soie, that traditional material for wedding gowns. My favorite is potisu -- looks to me more like an exotic kitchen concoction.

Wedding gowns have been trimmed in some unusual ways according to my correspondents. There was one with "beat trim" -- (I suppose that's how the beading looks after an evening of dancing at the reception) and another with "seeded pearls" -- (are tennis matches now finding their way to weddings?)

We had a bride whose veil was held by a lace crow (instead of crown) and one whose flowers were in a nosegay (instead of a nosegay.)

One reported her vows were spoken in a "light and airy ceremony." We figured the church must have been air-conditioned.

But in reporting bridal boobies, I can't in good conscience avoid telling about the trick our esteemed newspaper pulled on one young couple.

The description of their wedding was reading along well, until somehow our gremlins managed to insert a paragraph about a church fair somewhere.

They were very nice when they asked us if we would please rerun the story so people would know they didn't really charge a dollar for attending their reception!

Alice Ross New Pioneer President

Alice Ross of Southfield will be installed as president of the Greater Detroit Council of Pioneer Women when the group meets at 12 noon Thursday, June 14, in the Labor Zionist Institute, 28555 Middle Belt, Farmington.

Taking office with her will be Ruth Miller, executive vice president, and Dorothy Tendler, Adell Ozrovita, Elsie Harold and Estelle Wilk, vice presidents.

Other officers include Sylvia Isaacs, Adele Mondry, Blanche Tuchman, Lillian Shapiro, Sarah Kanter and Celia Janower.

Speaker for the afternoon will be Judith Novick of Chicago, national coordinator of the Midwest area Pioneer Women.

She will tell about the trips she and her husband, Dr. Rudolph G. Novick, have made to Israel to study the work that Pioneer Women have sponsored in that country.

Mrs. Ross is a graduate of Wayne State University and a former teacher in Detroit schools. She has been a member of Pioneer Women for 14 years, serving as executive vice president of the council and as vice president for education.

Frank D'Agostino of Southfield has been elected executive secretary of the Re-Steel Contractors Assn.

TWO EDUCATORS were initiated recently into the Beta Eta chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, international honorary education society. Receiving roses from Kay Briggs (left), president, are Margaret Weber, counselor at East Junior High School in Farmington, and Carolyn Plsek, principal of Highmeadow Elementary School in Farmington. The local chapter includes members from the Clarenceville, Farmington and Southfield school districts as well as Our Lady of Sorrows parochial school.

Environmentalism To Speak June 11

Dr. Barry Commoner, nationally-recognized environmentalist from Washington University, St. Louis, Mo., will address the annual meeting of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Michigan (ALASM) at 8 p.m., Monday, June 11.

The meeting, open to the public, will be held in the Conference Center of Mercy College, 8200 W. Outer Drive, Detroit.

The Lung Association, encompassing Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties, was formerly known as the Tuberculosis Society.

Dr. Commoner is director of the Center for the Biology of Natural Systems. He is the author of "Science and Survival" and "The Closing Circle." He has been called the "Paul Revere of ecology."

"The proper use of science is not to conquer nature, but to live in it," he says. "We may yet discover how to devote the wisdom of science and the power of technology to the welfare and survival of man."

Concerned about man's total environment, Dr. Commoner has termed pollution the "impending crisis."

He has been most concerned about excessive uses of chemical fertilizers, detergents, insecticides and other harmful substances which pollute air and water.

"There is simply not enough air, water and soil on earth to absorb man-made poisons without effect," he says.

Dr. Commoner earned his bachelor's degree with honors in zoology from Columbia University in 1937, and his MA and PhD in biology from Harvard University.

YW Sets Annual Strawberry Gala

The 10th annual Strawberry Festival at the North-west branch YWCA, 25940 Grand River, Redford Township, will be held Thursday, June 7, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Band music, square dancing and old-fashioned strawberry sundae will be featured during the evening.

A special tribute will be paid to Datus Moore, who brought a band to the first Strawberry Festival at the YW in 1963 and has furnished entertainment for the annual event ever since.

Moore, retiring this year as music director in the Redford Union school district, will be on hand with the Hilbert Junior High dance band.

Music by the Pearson Junior High Band led by Dave Bonamici, and square dancing for the family, led by Mrs. Mildred Brennan, also will be part of the program.

Mrs. Harold Caton is chairman of the committee planning the event. Working with her are Mrs. Angie Piazza, Mrs. Charles Lavigne, Mrs. George Morris, Mrs. James Wetzel, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Robert Woolfenden and Mrs. Harry Gaither.

There will be a charge for the sundae but none for the program. The public is invited. If weather permits, festivities will be held on the branch lawn.

Jewish New Year Card Display Set

The Metropolitan Detroit chapter of Hadassah will introduce the "Artist Series" Jewish New Year cards this month.

The cards are made from original designs by Mrs. Donald Kapetansky, of the Hadassah Heights Group in Southfield and Mrs. Stanley Frank, of the Hadassah Birmingham Group.

There are four cards in the series, two contemporary themes and two traditional themes. They are all printed on heavy stock colored paper and have matching colored envelopes. They are set for imprinting the names on the inside in the same type style and color ink as used in the rest of the card.

Production of Hadassah's own cards has long been a dream of the chapter, and through the efforts of the member artists, and various Hadassah chairman, Mrs. Marcus Scheiman, Mrs.

Charles Snider and Mrs. E. Newton Rottenberg, the series is now available.

Mrs. Kapetansky studied anthropology at the University of Michigan until her marriage. She has taken art classes and now studies sculpture.

MR. AND MRS. GILBERT ENGEL
(Wanda Distler)

Wanda J. Distler Weds G.C. Engel

Wanda J. Distler was given in marriage by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Distler of Gold Arbor Road, Plymouth, when she became the bride of Gilbert C. Engel.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Nadia Engel of Stockton, Calif., and the late Gilbert G. Engel.

The Rev. James K. Ward officiated at the ceremony on May 4, in Dearborn Christian Church.

The bride wore an Empire style gown of organza over bridal taffeta and Alencon lace.

The fitted bodice had a small ruffle at the neckline. Lace decorated the front of the dress and the edge of the full train. Ruffles bordered the hemline and the bishop sleeves of the gown. She carried a cascade of white roses.

Barbara Bell of Lexington, Mich., was the maid of honor and Glenda Distler, the bride's sister, and Mrs. Gretchen Daggett of Ann Arbor were the bridesmaids.

All wore mint green dresses of dotted swiss, styled with empire waists and short puffed sleeves. They carried yellow daisies with dark green velvet streamers and wore yellow daisies in their hair.

Peter Engel was his brother's best man. The ushers were Frank Sanders of Grand Haven and Robert Smith of New Britain, Conn.

The bride's mother wore a floor-length powder blue gown.

A reception was held at the church for some 150 guests.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Plymouth High School. In 1970, she received her BA in social work from the U-M and in 1972, her MSW. She is employed as a social worker.

The bridegroom is also a social worker. He graduated from Sacramento State in 1971, and received his MSW from the U-M in 1973.

Special Class

chairs and tables are used instead of classroom desks.

Many of the girls, with time to devote to studying and few distractions, are doing better in their academic work than ever before.

"And in a class situation like this, we can give more specialized attention," Mrs. Reynolds said. "Sometimes we can spot specific learning problems that had been a stumbling block."

Because good nutrition is so important during pregnancy and it's a problem for some of the girls, Mrs. Fitzharris plans a lunch with them one day a week.

"Not fancy gourmet food," she said, "but the kind of nutrition they need."

And because the girls' social life at this stage can be just about nil, there's an emphasis on field trips to cultural spots.

Slack said the program has been accepted well by school administrations and families as well as the girls.

3 Silver Anniversaries Celebrated

Two sisters and a brother, all married in 1948, recently celebrated their 25th anniversaries at a party hosted by their mother and two other brothers.

Honored at the gala at the Redford Golf Club were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eland (Jo Vusich) of Redford Township, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Eland (Lucy Vusich) of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Vusich of Detroit.

Robert and Daniel Eland are brothers.

The party was given by Mrs. Catherine Vusich of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Vusich of Redford Township and Mr. and Mrs. John Vusich of St. Louis, Mich.

First Child

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Meloche of S. Umberland Court, Canton Township, announce the birth of their first baby, a son, Stephen Daniel, on May 9.

His grandparents are Lawrence Meloche of Southfield and Mrs. T. LaCroix of Royal Oak.

Vicki Coyne Weds In St. John Bosco

St. John Bosco Catholic Church, Redford Township, was the setting for the May 5 wedding of Vicki Lee Coyne and Robert Leonard Markowicz.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Coyne of Brady Street, Redford Township, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard C. Markowicz of W. Chicago, Redford Township.

The Rev. James Sullivan officiated at the afternoon ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory silk organza gown with Venice lace appliques, crystal and pearl beading and a detachable train.

She carried a small white heirloom family Bible covered with two orchids and ribbon streamers. She also wore a 58-year-old diamond and pearl drop heirloom necklace, which belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Frank Lach.

Following the mass, the newlyweds received an apostolic blessing plaque from the Vatican.

Mrs. Laurie Terns of Livonia was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of purple polyester organza with organza pleated sleeves trimmed with Venice lace. She carried yellow roses, orchid daisies and purple carnations.

Jo Ann Williams of Redford Township and Judy Silvas of Detroit were the bridesmaids.

Dennis Markowicz, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Another brother, Charles Markowicz, and Barry Coyne, the bride's brother, were the ushers.

The bride's mother wore a purple silk crepe gown. The bridegroom's mother wore a long orchid brocade dress.

A reception for 300 guests was held in the American Legion Hall, in Garden City.

Mr. and Mrs. Markowicz will make their home in Dearborn, following a honeymoon trip to Florida.

The bride graduated from Thurston High School in 1970 and is employed at Manufacturer's National Bank in Westland. The bridegroom graduated from Thurston in 1968 and is a foreman at Chrysler Corp., Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cripps of Crestwood Drive, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathy Lynn, to Roy Gilbert Farden Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. Farden of Lindsay Drive, Plymouth. She graduated from Plymouth High School in 1972. Her fiancé, a 1971 graduate of PHS, is employed by Automotive Appliance Co. A Sept. 8 wedding is being planned.

The Cookout Goes Oriental

By ELLY

An oriental cookout? It could be the taste treat of the outdoor season. It looks like an all-American barbecue, only the hamburger's underpinnings and the hors d'oeuvres have been changed.

Chinese cheeseburgers are replete with chunks of cheddar cheese, water chestnuts, and such vigorous seasonings as chili sauce, soy sauce and bottled Chinese hot mustard.

Frozen egg rolls can be grilled in minutes to serve as a hot hors d'oeuvre or with the meal. Since egg rolls are precooked, they are ready to serve as soon as they reach a golden brown.

Large or medium egg rolls which come two to 15 in a package are best for grilling, according to home economists who developed the picnic. Choose a variety of flavors - shrimp, chicken, lobster or meat and shrimp.

In addition to Chinese hot mustard, try serving egg rolls with 30-second sweet-sour sauce. Combine one part soy sauce with two parts bottled red sweet and sour sauce. Serve cool or set saucepan on grill to warm.

Serve your favorite green salad but replace croutons with coarsely crushed chow mein noodles at the last minute.

Since Chinese wine, "en ka pa," is not widely available, feel free to borrow saki from the Japanese. Otherwise, a dry white wine is complementary to seafood or soy-sauce based dishes.

Iced tea is also a fitting companion drink, and most semisweet carbonated beverages blend well.

Although fortune cookies with ice cream are a charming dessert, virtually any American dessert, even the very sweet, is palatable after a Chinese meal.

Guests will probably opt to try "oo long" tea with dessert, but have coffee ready for the less adventuresome.

CHINESE CHEESEBURGERS

- 1 lb. ground round or chuck
- 1/2 c. chopped water chestnuts
- 3/4 c. cubed cheddar cheese
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 2 T. chili sauce
- 1 1/2 t. Chinese hot mustard
- 2 t. soy sauce
- 6 hamburger buns, toasted and buttered

Combine all ingredients except buns. Shape into patties. Grill over medium heat for five minutes on each side for rare, 10 minutes for medium and 15 minutes for well done. Serve on buns.

CHINESE CHEESEBURGERS are filled with chunks of cheddar cheese and water chestnuts. Add egg rolls and you have an oriental cookout.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN T. MAXWELL

Open House Is Set For Maxwells

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Maxwell of Plymouth, marking their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, June 10, will be honored by an open house in their home at 42955 Joy.

Their son, Russell, of Plymouth, and his family will host the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell were married in the parsonage of the Highland Park Methodist Church, Mrs. Maxwell is the former Alice Petersen.

Both originally from Missouri, they lived in Detroit from the time of their 1923 marriage until 1930, when they moved to Plymouth and Mr. Maxwell founded his tool and die business.

Russell Maxwell is their only child. There are four grandchildren.

Decorators Set Installation

New officers for the Northville Spring Chapter of China Decorators will be installed when the group winds up its year with a meeting at 10 a.m. Thursday, June 7, in the Plymouth Credit Union, 500 S. Harvey.

Mrs. Earl Coons will conduct the installation. Also planned for the meeting is a "taste and tell" luncheon and a silent auction.

Commerce Changes Date

The date of the 39th anniversary reunion of the 1934 graduates of Commerce and Commerce East High Schools has been changed from May 19 to Oct. 27. Those interested should call Mrs. Irving Rosen, 27400 Franklin, Apt. 214, Southfield, 48076.

Planning Cuts Time Over Old Cook Stove

Whether you're an old hand at camping or a first-timer, one thing's sure: you won't want to spend a lot of time over the old cook stove.

To cut meal preparation time, Dr. Portia Morris, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University, suggests you take advantage of some of the same time-savers you use at home.

One of these is convenience foods.

Canned soups, fruits and vegetables, meat and gravy dishes, potato and bean salad, beef stew, corned beef hash, chili and baked beans, package mixes for macaroni and cheese, add-the-meat main dishes, instant potatoes, pancake mix and ready-to-eat cereals reduce preparation time, measuring and cooking time and eliminate the need to carry a fully equipped store of basic ingredients and spices.

One-dish meals - chili, chicken and noodles, ham and beans - are great favorites with both cooks and hungry campers.

Whether for meals or nutritious snacks, many fruits and vegetables are good to eat raw. Stock your cooler or ice chest with individual cans of juice for a thirst-quenching and nutritious snack.

To keep sugar, flour and other staples from becoming damp, pack them in plastic bags, Dr. Morris suggests. Put each bag in a large can with a plastic lid to protect it while traveling.

At the campsite, use the can as a cooking pot. Make a cover with a couple thicknesses of aluminum foil.

Canned vegetables can be heated in the cans. Open the can and bend the lid back for a handle. After dinner there's no pan to scrub - simply throw the can away.

To transport liquids - mild, distilled water for a baby's formula, juice - keep in mind that plastic containers don't shatter and are much lighter than glass. They will melt, however.

Quick-and-easy may be foremost in your mind, but don't forget about food safety when you're camping, Dr. Morris urges. Keep perishable foods hot - above 140 degrees - or cold - below 40 degrees, she advises.

Eliminate storage problems with leftovers by combining hearty outdoor appetites with careful planning to eliminate leftovers.

"One mistake many beginning campers make," the specialist observes, "is trying to take all their food with them. But part of the fun of visiting new towns is prowling through the local grocery store and trying products you might not find at your local store."

Shopping also gives you the chance to get acquainted with the proprietor, she notes, who is often a gold mine of information about what there is to see and do in the area.

Rotary Anns Plan Plymouth Picnic

The Plymouth Rotary Anns will entertain their husbands at a picnic at 6 p.m. Friday, June 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lundin, 13775 Ridgewood.

Preceding the gathering the Rotarians and Rotary Anns will visit the Rotary School Farm adjoining the Plymouth-Salem school property.

The Plymouth Rotary provided a large share of the financing for the farm, which is designed for nature study by children in Plymouth and surrounding school districts.

Rotary visitors to the farm will be able to see copies of a booklet on the project recently compiled by the Rural Life Center Committee headed by Salle DeRoo.

Mrs. Mildred Curtis is in charge of the Rotary Anns picnic. Working with her are Mrs. Charlotte Gaffield and Mrs. Mary Brown.

Consumer Must Fight For Notice

By KATHY MORAN

"Consumers are always at the bottom of the barrel," says Esther Shapiro, president of the Consumers Alliance of Michigan.

That's why she recommends, "Let's all get out and make trouble once in awhile."

Mrs. Shapiro, who is also a consumer specialist for the Michigan Credit Union League, told at a Women's Continuum audience at Schoolcraft College that the rights belonging to consumers are just beginning to be recognized.

Although she has held the post of consumer specialist since the mid '60s Mrs. Shapiro said that she has no background for it and consumer education courses are still rare.

She said that a prime reason for lack of consumer education is pressure exerted by business on school districts.

Businesses frequently are the targets of active consumer crusaders and don't want courses offered in schools which they support through taxes, she added.

Consumer rights first were considered in 1962 when President John Kennedy delivered a consumers message to Congress outlining a consumers bill of rights, Mrs. Shapiro said.

These four rights include the right to safety, right to free choice, right to be informed (often called the right to know) and the right to be heard.

She said they are still applicable today and advised her female audience to "use them as a benchmark to measure progress."

People automatically assumed they would be sold food and drugs which were safe until the Bon Vivant soup scandal, she said, when a person died from poisoning and it was discovered a "soup kettle is a perfect breeding ground for bacteria."

The Upjohn bottle cap incident shocked people who assumed that intravenous feeding would be completely sterile and safe, she noted.

Several people were fed contaminated solutions because of bacteria on the bottle caps.

Consumers are given a "great deal of choice, but how much choice do we really have?" Mrs. Shapiro asked.

As soon as a manufacturer comes out with a new product, other manufacturers rush to duplicate or make a "watered down version."

"We have a vast amount of economically wasteful duplication."

She cautioned shoppers to watch for weights and prices on different products. On shopping trips, she noticed that two detergents had 2.3 pounds in each box but one box was larger than the other leading shoppers to think they were getting more for a slightly higher price.

She said that some tuna fish is marked 39 cents for 6.5 ounce cans and 85 cents for a 12.5 ounce can. Even though the buyer might think the larger can was the best buy, a quick look at the prices would show that's not true, she said.

"Our freedom of choice is really abrogated," she said.

Consumers should be given the proper information to make intelligent decisions, Mrs. Shapiro continued. Deceptive advertising tricks a person into buying a product that he might not want or need.

"Soap is sold to make us beautiful or socially acceptable," instead of to make people clean, she said.

Automobile advertising is almost exclusively directed at men and usually promises them a car full of girls rather than a means of transportation, she said.

"I'm out to exterminate the Shell pest strip," Mrs. Shapiro said, criticizing the ads which show it used in a wedding scene or near where children are playing.

"It's dangerous. Anything which gives off a vapor which kills flies shouldn't be breathed by humans."

She said that fine print on the outside package warns against putting the pest strip in a room where food is prepared, a nursery or a sick room. But it isn't prominent and can easily be missed by a user, she said.

A consumer exercising his right to be heard often must rely on consumer groups and federal agencies to get action on a complaint.

The consumer's right to be heard is just beginning to get priority consideration, Mrs. Shapiro said.

At this point, he must rely on consumer groups and federal agencies to make a complaint and get any sort of action.

She added that in the near future a federally-published director will be available with listings of state, county and city agencies available to the consumer.

3 Women Give 40 Years To Scouting

Two Livonians and a Redford Township resident were honored recently for their years of volunteer service to the Girl Scouts of Metropolitan Detroit.

The three who have given a total of 40 years of service to scouting, are Mrs. Kathi Vanderlinden, Mrs. William McDonough and Mrs. Lawrence Glueck.

Mrs. Vanderlinden was presented with a "Landmark" membership pin for 10 years of scouting activity. She is currently a leader in the council's Neighborhood 41.

Mrs. McDonough, along with Mrs. Carl Kirby of South Lyon received a 15-year membership pin. Both are currently serving as adult volunteers in Neighborhood 49 in Livonia.

Mrs. Glueck has served as a troop organizer for the past 15 years. For 11 of these years, she was also a troop leader in Redford Township's Neighborhood 60. She is the girl scout representative to the Catholic Youth Organization.

Don't Fret Over Chalaza

Chalaza is the thick, white,ropy material you sometimes find attached to the yolks of fresh eggs, explains Maryann Beckman, Michigan State University consumer marketing specialist.

The substance is natural, harmless and edible, Mrs. Beckman assures.

Chalaza keeps the yolk centered as the egg is formed. It tends to disappear as the egg ages.

City Woman's Picnic Planned

The Livonia City Woman's Club will hold a potluck picnic and swim party beginning at 12 noon, Thursday, June 21.

The picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. Betty Moelke, with swimming at the home of Mrs. Goldie Char.

Marth Heiss is in charge of prayers, and co-hostesses will be Dorothy Bruce, Rosell Gocharian, Vera Gutherie and Esta McKenzie.

Backing Up Helps Brakes

Cars with self-adjusting brakes can stop faster going forward if they are backed up once in a while, according to auto experts. The self-adjusting mechanism is actuated only when the car is backed up and then the brakes applied.

Shakespeare Wouldn't Recognize This Hamlet

SCHOOLCRAFT COLLEGE instructor Robert Black works in his studio fashioning his "People Pots" from clay and porcelain. He molds wrinkled faces and puts them on long cylindrical bodies like the one in the background.

By KATHY MORAN

He calls them "People Pots," but Robert Black's ceramic creations aren't really pots at all — and they don't look like most people you know.

They are tall figures molded into characters pulled from the recesses of Black's imagination.

And they are so distinctive that many refer to one of the Schoolcraft College instructor's figures as simply a "black."

His "people" make other people smile. That's one reason that he can't create enough to fill the demand.

Anyone who has seen a "black" cracks a smile when he sees the caricature-type, wrinkled face with drooping eyes.

With a little variation, that wrinkled face becomes Sherlock Holmes, Hamlet, Merlin, a weather-beaten sea captain or a Jewish rabbi.

Each of Black's characters is designed the way he perceives them in his mind — not necessarily the way most people picture them.

For example, Sherlock Holmes (his most popular character) wears the typical detective hat and sports a calabash pipe — but he doesn't look like Basil Rathbone.

And Hamlet is distinctly Shakespearean as he peruses a skull in his hand, but the figure doesn't resemble Richard Burton.

"The pots are a reflection of how I think the character should look," Black said. "As I work with them the faces change. If you looked at the same pots I did last year and compared those I'm doing now, you would see a difference."

In just 10 to 15 minutes, Black transforms a piece of clay into a detailed face.

An unusual set of "tools" is found in his Ann Arbor studio attached to his home. His tools include a broomstick, small stick, a metal saw blade and a wood block with varied patterns carved on it.

Using tiny balls of clay or porcelain, Black flattens one on top of the other to form drooping bags beneath tiny eyes.

Another piece of clay forms a long crooked nose, and still another is shaped into a handlebar mustache.

Black combs the clay with a round saw blade to give the "hair" texture. Then he slaps more clay on the wood block to shape a design for a hat.

Once the face is completed, he attaches it to the long cylindrical body made by one of his two assistants. The bodies are made by rolling clay around a broomstick.

He coats the figure with a black glaze and then rubs it off so it just clings to the crevices. The figure is finally baked in an electric kiln for 24 hours. When it emerges from the kiln, it's done — except for a few of his caricatures which require a little decorative paint.

Black also teaches drawing and design at Schoolcraft, but his ceramics classes are most popular. He teaches his students how to make his "pots" after they learn how to throw regular pots on a wheel.

He says he is an example to his students that they can make a living as an artist or earn their way through school by completing artwork.

The fruits of his success are evident in his large home sitting on a hill overlooking four rolling acres of green grass and beautiful trees.

His home is decorated not only with his own pots — but with artwork for which he traded his pots. Among his collection is his "Pentagon duo — charge and go nowhere." The duo are robust generals closely resembling the fictional Don Quixote's sidekick Sancho Panza.

years ago, when Black was fashioning cylindrical forms with nobs on the top, he saw the possibility of making the nobs into faces.

Since then, he has been working six hours a day, after teaching all morning at Schoolcraft, trying to keep up with the demand.

Will the market ever get flooded with "blacks"?

"I used to think it might, but now I can't even begin to touch the market," he said.

His other characters include Mexican generals, a high priest, a judge, tennis player and the Red Baron. He varies his characters as he is inspired and often is commissioned to do special figures.

They are on sale in several spots in Ann Arbor and Chicago as well as several other spots in the country.

It's satisfying to make a living in a way that makes other people happy, he says. And it has proved so financially successful that he'll likely be making his "People Pots" for years to come.

Bus Drivers To Study At EMU Workshop

YPSILANTI

What to do in an emergency and how to handle a problem child are two of the numerous topics that will be discussed in a school bus driver workshop scheduled for June 18-20 on the Eastern Michigan University campus.

Topics discussed in class will include emergency procedures, defensive driving, first aid treatment, driver-student relations, state laws and regulations, medication awareness and bus operations.

The demonstrations will include a tire blow-out simulator and test crashes between a specially reinforced bus and cars driven by a stunt driver.

A "Rodeo" consisting of a series of driver tests such as cornering through a line of barrels, backing up and parking, will be held on the third day.

Total cost for the workshop including room and board and tuition is $20. For more information write or call University Conferences, Division of Field Services, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti.

Antique Show Scheduled For This Week

Antique dealers from all over Michigan and from as far away as Pennsylvania are displaying their wares at the semi-annual antique walk at the Livonia Mall, Seven Mile and Middle Belt, through June 10.

Among the memorabilia on hand for browsers and buyers will be Edison phonographs, handmade quilts, stained glass windows, hand-carved and ivory inlaid Moravian chests, and some 17th century Japanese items.

Demonstrations of stripping and refinishing methods and a booth with imitation-antique pictures will also be featured.

There is no charge for the exhibit.

How OCC Language Prof Teaches: 'You're A Sharer'

By CORINNE ABATT

There's a quiet revolution going on in the Farmington home of Bernard Reilly, assistant professor of English at the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College.

For the past year and a half, Reilly has been working on his doctor's degree in English. It has been an unusual experience.

For one thing, he is in a program at the University of Michigan which is unique in the state and still a rarity across the country. Upon completion, he will be awarded the degree of doctor of arts in the teaching of English.

Reilly is one of 19 in the first program of its kind at the university. The emphasis is on the teaching of English in a community college, so essentially Reilly is re-searching his own job.

He took a leave of absence to do the course work for his degree during the 1971-72 school year, came back to Orchard Ridge in the fall of 1972 and was granted a sabbatical leave for the 1973 winter session.

This 15-week leave from teaching duties, granted by the college to faculty who have taught for three years, entitles him to work on research for his degree at half pay.

Reilly will resume his full-time teaching position at Orchard Ridge when the spring semester starts.

He returns with much confidence and a fresh feeling about his position and goals, infinitely richer in what he has to give and how he wants to give it.

"Instead of being geared to research, our program at the University of Michigan was geared to literacy - how to help the student love his own language and be proud of what he possesses. We start with the idea that they have language abilities and what we want to do in the classroom is enhance it."

He explains the role of the teacher: "Then you're not becoming a corrector, you're becoming a sharer."

Even though Reilly is a specialist in the field of grammar, he doesn't feel that the study of grammar, per se - diagramming sentences, the parts of speech, the technical terms of construction - really contributes to the individual's ability to express himself.

While in service, Reilly took extension classes through Florida State University. He received his bachelor's degree at Central Michigan, took his graduate work at Wayne State and earned an advanced degree as a reading specialist from Eastern Michigan.

Berg Memorial Scholarship Is Awarded

Jill Farber of West Bloomfield and Joseph Corcoran of Northville are recipients of the Gary Michael Berg memorial scholarship for the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College.

The scholarship was started in Berg's honor by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Berg of 29268 Franklin Hills Dr., Southfield.

Berg died in a scuba diving accident in Pine Lake a year ago. He was a sophomore at Orchard Ridge at the time.

Miss Farber, a graduate of North Farmington High School, and Corcoran, a graduate of Northville High, are straight "A" students at Orchard Ridge.

Madonna Gets Award Winner

Carol Ann McHenry of Blissfield has been awarded a $750 scholarship to attend Madonna College in Livonia. Miss McHenry's award is the highest available from the Alvin M. Bentley Foundation, which provides scholarships to Michigan high school graduates on the basis of academic excellence and financial need.

In a sense, he is turning his back on many of the traditional methods of teaching English. The turn-around began before he began his doctoral work.

"I was enjoying some interesting experiences with students before I went into the program. I had begun to realize that you shouldn't be so demanding on a precise way of doing things. I was ready for something different."

The program at the University of Michigan answered Reilly's need.

"It really seems surprising that a tradition university like Michigan would engage itself in such a program."

The program is not in the standard tradition, under the education department. It was conceived and developed by the English department faculty, and Reilly says they fought many battles and jumped many hurdles to bring it to reality.

Carnegie-Mellon University was one of the first to introduce such a program, and a few universities on the West coast now offer the doctor of arts degree in the teaching of English.

Reilly's 19-member doctoral group took several classes together and then each chose others - not necessarily from the English department - which they felt would enhance their skills - sociology, or anthropology for instance. Reilly took a course in modern Afro-American literature, another in modern fiction, and several in linguistics, the science of language.

The latter, he found significant in reinforcing his feelings about language.

"Traditional grammar is just one grammar. There are all kinds of grammars."

He remarks frequently, as he speaks about his studies, that English teachers "really do not know what we want to do." But the impression is that Reilly is very close to knowing what should happen in English classes in a community college.

"Community college students are people who are not necessarily going to school full time. They are employed, living and working in the community. Our student doesn't leave his environment; he stays in it - that's a problem in itself. He wants to lead the same life he led in high school, but he's taking on another activity. Many don't know how to handle it."

He sees little difference in the abilities of students away from home from those at a community college - different circumstances, no less desire to grow and learn, no less ability.

He is three or four chapters into his dissertation, aiming to complete it this summer. After an analysis of the factors in and functions of any message, he is building a series of exercises in English designed to enhance fluency without benefit of terms such as "subjective," "objective," "gerund" and "participle," and many, many more which may serve to block expression rather than further it.

His exercises include asking the student to do similar things in construction as shown by example - to take a series of short factual sentences and work them into an informative paragraph that is cohesive.

It involves taking the basic elements that reside in all communication and deciding how to get across the message, clearly and effectively.

"I don't want to talk about right answers," Reilly says as he explains his work.

He looks at one page of exercises and says, "This offers a range of choices, and the questions to the student will revolve around, 'Why did you choose this? How does this choice fit with your other choices? The choices they make are the ones they will have to live with?'"

Everything is aimed to ward making language interesting, building fluency in reading and reading using the student's skills as the basis.

Reilly calls it "a better appreciation of the components so the person won't be ashamed to read or write or express himself."

Reilly doesn't hold any immediate hopes for a broad based departure from traditional ways of teaching English. "I don't think it will happen until we really know what we want to do."

He takes a flexible view of the entire area of language - written and spoken. As he feels there are no right answers to written expression, he says there are no right ways to the spoken word. He mentions the National Council of Teachers of English desire to accept whatever dialect a person speaks.

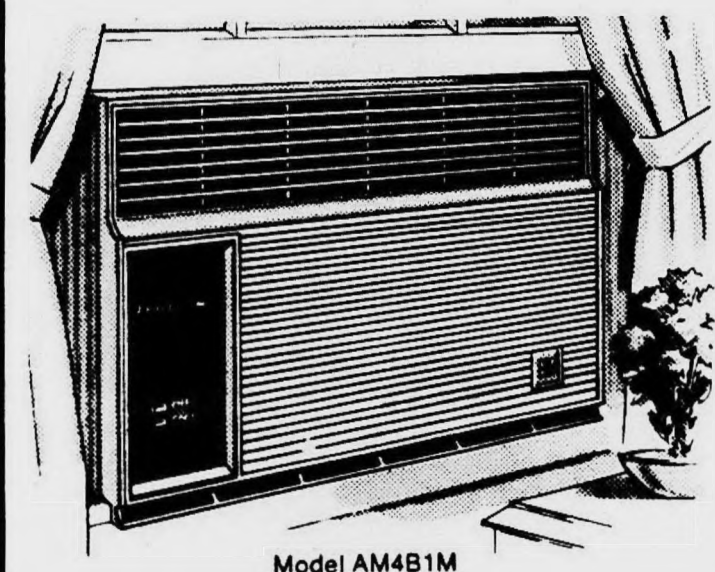

Enjoyment, enrichment, growth, expression - these are the words that Reilly favors as he talks about teaching language.

BERNARD REILLY, assistant professor of English at the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College, will return after a sabbatical leave with a fresh approach to teaching language.
