Twp. Ballot To Include Consolidation Advisory

Plymouth Township voters will have an opportunity on Sept. 4 to voice their opinion on consolidation of the city and township and also to determine whether the township should buy Hilltop Golf Course.

The township board has agreed informally to add those items to the ballot. The Sept. 4 special election was called following a successful petition drive to give the voters a say on extending the Byron Creek Sewer into the western portion of the township.

The Hilltop question will ask whether the township should buy the golf course from the Mrs. F. A. Vollbrecht estate. The purchase would not take additional millage, township officials say.

The consolidation question is an advisory question only. It is not legally binding.

In addition, the board will place a fourth item on the agenda - another advisory question which will ask: "Are you satisfied with the current police services provided to the township?"

The township board is expected to vote Tuesday to officially add the Hilltop proposal and the consolidation and police service advisory questions to the Sept. 4 ballot.

Helen Richardson, Plymouth Township clerk, drew up the proposals Friday afternoon but stipulated that the Hilltop proposal will not be finalized until the township obtains a legal opinion and description of the estimated 55-acre golf course.

She said the price would not be determined until then.

Mrs. Richardson and Township Supervisor J. D. McLaren said that about half of the purchase cost - if the voters approve the proposal - would be paid by federal shared revenue.

The remainder would not require increased millage, they said. But they added that exactly how it will be paid cannot be determined until the deal is finalized.

In addition to the golf course itself, the proposal includes the purchase of the vacant triangle of land bounded by Ann Arbor Trail, Beck and Powell roads across from the golf course.

Under stipulations of sale, the Vollbrecht name would be incorporated in a new name for the course.

The golf course is located adjacent to the existing township recreation site, and discussions about buying the course have been under way for several years.

Exact price of the purchase will be revealed when negotiations are complete and will be on the ballot, Mrs. Richardson said.

The consolidation advisory question which will be on the ballot will say:

"Do you favor consolidation of the governmental entities of the city of Plymouth and the township of Plymouth?"

Schools Cut Program, Leave Athletics, Music

By EDWARD WENDOVER

Several items were eliminated from the 1973-74 Plymouth schools program by the unanimous action of the school board Thursday night.

The board has not yet determined the fate of the district's extra-curricular athletic and music programs, participation in the area-wide recreation authority through facilities and money or the non-state-required pupil transportation now offered by the district.

In addition, the board voted Thursday to reserve Sept. 20 as a special election date in the event that "public demand" favors another try for the 1.5 operating millage increase levy which was defeated by the voters on June 11.

The items from the budget thus far total $608,522 and include:

- Hiring 50 new teachers at a starting average of $9,500 each rather than 62 teachers at an average of $11,000 as proposed to the county allocation board in the preliminary 1973-74 budget.

- Hiring all replacement teachers at the $9,500 average rather than $11,000.

- Reducing the central school office staff by not hiring directors of research-development and community relations and by not replacing the assistant superintendent of instruction.

- Eliminating all field trips and in-service days.

- Eliminating driver education classes from the regular school offering. (Summer classes will be retained.)

- Eliminating cafeteria noon supervision from the general budget costs and surplusing it with a five cents increase in the cost of student lunches.

- Eliminating the computer math class.

The cost of the eliminated items falls $210,478 short of the $819,000 total cutback needed to provide a balanced budget.

Based on a student population increase of 1,100 anticipated for the fall and on state aid remaining at last year's level, the estimated receipts for the district will be $12,241,215. The proposed budget called for expenditures of $13,060,125, leaving a deficit of $820,000.

The board has not decided when it will make a decision on the additional cuts which must be made to balance the budget, but is considering the following possibilities:

- Eliminating high school and middle school athletics.
- Eliminating high school and middle school performing music.

- Transporting students only in cases where required by state law.

- Closing all buildings one-half hour after school - thereby eliminating use by junior athletic programs, the Plymouth-Canton Recreation Authority programs, scouts and other groups. (This would save on custodial costs.)

- Eliminating a $21,000 commitment to the recreation authority.

- Eliminating nursing services in schools, high school and middle school extra-curricular activities, outdoor education, and participation in the Plymouth Area Economic Expansion Commission.

The board may also consider increasing the average class size by one pupil - thereby saving about $214,000. But several board members have spoken out against that route.

School Board Member Marda Benson said, "I don't think it's good education to keep adding one (student per class) each time you need $200,000."

In reserving the election date, board members said they were only allowing the possibility of an election.

School board member E.J. McClendon said, "I will not support the election unless I hear a lot of demand that the cuts be restored."

At Tuesday's school board workshop session on the budget cuts, Supt. John M. Hoben said, "If the community is concerned, the groundwork (for an election) will be there, but they have to show a mandate."

"Unless there's a public mandate, we're just barking up the wrong tree," Hoben added.

The 1.5 mill operating increase was defeated on June 11 by more than 800 votes - 2,669 against to 1,885 for.

The workshop session of the board, at which the board members reached a consensus on the items they formally cut from the budget Thursday night, saw much debate about the district's athletic and music extra-curricular programs and its commitment to the recreation authority which would rely on school gymnasiums for its junior basketball program.

School Board Member John Graves (who was absent from Thursday's meeting) described the varsity athletic program as "entertainment for the community."

There was some discussion about maintaining those sports which almost pay for themselves through gate receipts.

School Board Member Gary Mirto said that would be "discriminatory" and could put the board in a position of having special interest groups trying to underwrite particular sports.

Mrs. Benson added, "I'm not willing to say, 'Cut out athletics,' but support the recreation authority on the other hand."

Melvin Blunk, assistant superintendent for business, told the board Tuesday night that even with the proposed budget cuts, some uncertainty exists due to the student population increase.

Since the district's state aid is based in part on the number of pupils, the district could lose $193,000 if the school population increase fell 300 below the estimated 1,100.

The final figures on student population and on state aid will not be known until after school opens.

July 20 Is Deadline To Register

The deadline for voter registration in time for a special Aug. 20 school election - should one be called - is 5 p.m. July 20.

The Plymouth school board has reserved the Aug. 20 date in the event it decides for another try at an operating millage increase.

Thus far, the board has not committed itself to the election but has simply reserved the date.

Radicals Claim Bomb Aimed At Recruiter

By MAURIE WALKER

A claim by the People's Revolution Army of North America that it was responsible for the bombing in Plymouth Tuesday, as well as one in Jackson, has brought federal agents into the case.

The Jackson Citizen Patriot, a daily newspaper, is reported to have received a letter from the group boasting it planted both bombs and that the one in Plymouth was intended for the Army recruiting office on Penniman, next to the National Bank of Detroit office.

Police originally thought the bombing was aimed at the bank.

The letter also reportedly stated the group planned a similar bomb in a Navy recruiting office in Jackson. This one failed to discharge and was discovered.

Plymouth police say they have received no such notice as that sent to the Jackson paper but are co-operating with State Police and the FBI in the investigation.

Both bombs were pipe bombs loaded with a black powder. They are being studied by the State Police crime lab in Plymouth.

The Plymouth bombing, which took place at 3:05 a.m. Tuesday, damaged the bank's windows and windows in other buildings.

Lt. Rodney Cannon of the Plymouth police said the bomb was of the non-professional type. He added that police had doubted the bombing was an attempt to break into the bank.

Plymouth police, as well as State Police, had voiced suspicion at the time of the bombing that it might have been meant for the Army recruiting station rather than the bank.

City P&R Dept. Sets Recreation For Senior Citizens

The Plymouth Parks and Recreation Dept., is beginning the senior citizens recreation program on Monday in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer.

Various activities will be highlighted throughout the summer.

On Monday there will be a charcoal sketching demonstration by Joan Curran. On July 23 senior citizens who like to travel are encouraged to drop in for a discussion on trips. Ideas for both one-day and longer vacations will be shared.

A representative from the Social Security office has been invited to answer questions on the recent freeze and the new benefits.

Square dancing will be featured through July 31 from 1 to 3:30 p.m.

A trip to Bob-Lo is scheduled for July 13. Reservations are available from the parks and recreation office. Cost is $3.50. The bus will leave the cultural center at 8:15 a.m. The excursion includes the boat trip and a train ride around the island plus bingo and dancing. There will be a charge of 25 cents for island admission.

Everyone Loved The Parade...

By RICH McCULLEN

PLYMOUTH
Gov. William Milliken took the lead and a pair of elephants brought up the rear as the annual July 4 parade took to the street in Plymouth Wednesday.

Crowds lined the entire mile-long Main Street parade route as early as 11 a.m. in competition for prime seats for the parade, one of the best known in the state. The curb was lined with people four-deep by the time the parade stepped out about 12:15.

Milliken followed first behind the VFW Color Guard, reviving a tradition begun by G. Mennen Williams and seldom missed over the years since. He headed a host of state and local political dignitaries who walked the parade route, shaking hands with youngsters.

It was the clowns and horses, however, who earned the biggest response from the kids, along with the dozens of antique cars scattered among the 50-odd units. For sheer enthusiasm, recognition belonged to the Cavaliers drill team that came all the way from Painesville, Ohio to join the march.

Other highlights included several elaborate floats, antique bicycles with riders in costumes of the era, two bagpipe bands, several tribes of YMCA father and son Indian Guides, Observer Sports Editor Tom Donoghue in the Detroit Tiger bug, Miss Plymouth and her court, and a pair of elephants from Kings Animal Land of Mt. Clemens, brought to the parade by John Smith of Plymouth.

Clouds threatened the festivities throughout the morning but no rain fell to dampen the Independence Day spirit.

A brisk wind also tormented marchers, taking its heaviest toll on the huge aluminum foil globe built by the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club, which seemed as perilously close to coming apart as the real one.

There was no prize this year for the best overall entry. In the adult category, judges awarded the top honors to St. Peter Lutheran Church for its float representing the hospital ship Hope, with second place going to the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club and third to the Church of the Nazarene.

Among the bands, the Plymouth Community band took first place, followed by the South Windsor, Canada, Lions Band, and the Plymouth fife and drum corps.

The Plymouth Center for Human Development was first among the youth group entries for its Special Olympics float, followed by the YMCA Indian Guides and the Plymouth Youth Symphony.

The Francers of the Redford Township Fire Fighter's Union were the top majorettes, second place going to Debbie and Cindy Gray and third to Michelle's Twirlers.

Among the commercial entries, first place went to Schmidt's Farm Market, second to John Smith's elephants, and third to the Alphabet Gallery.

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN saluted the crowd.

Trees Planted As Memorial

By W. W. EDGAR

PLYMOUTH
One highlight in Plymouth's annual celebration of the nation's birthday and the anniversary of shaking off England's yoke was the planting of two special trees.

They were planted in memory of a smiling Englishman who six years ago gave the city an emotional lift.

The trees, both of the Washington hawthorn variety, were planted as a memorial tribute to Frank Chapman, the late lord mayor of Plymouth, England, who paid the city high tribute by attending the 1967 centennial with three members of his cabinet.

During his short stay here, Chapman made many friends who now recall him as a smiling, jovial chap who got a great kick out of helping the city celebrate its independence from the homeland.

It was he who surprised the assemblage at the civic dinner by presenting the city the "bit of rock" taken from the steps of dock from which the Mayflower sailed. The rock now has a prominent place in the brick wall between City Hall and the Library.

"This is a grand tribute," British Consul James Hyslop stated when viewing the trees. "They will be another lasting link in the bond of friendship that has been forged between the two Plymouths."

The trees were selected as the memorial on the theory that they will stand through the years in silent tribute to the former lord mayor who gave Plymouth and the southeastern section of Michigan an emotional lift with his visit six years ago.

While viewing the memorial trees, British Consul James Hyslop continued a tradition by reading a report from John C. Porter, the present lord mayor of Plymouth, England, regarding the condition of the four Michigan trees planted in the municipal building plaza overseas as a gift of the Michigan people.

The report says:

"I ask you, Mr. Consul, on Independence Day 1973, to convey to the mayor and citizens of Plymouth, Michigan, greetings from the City of Plymouth, England."

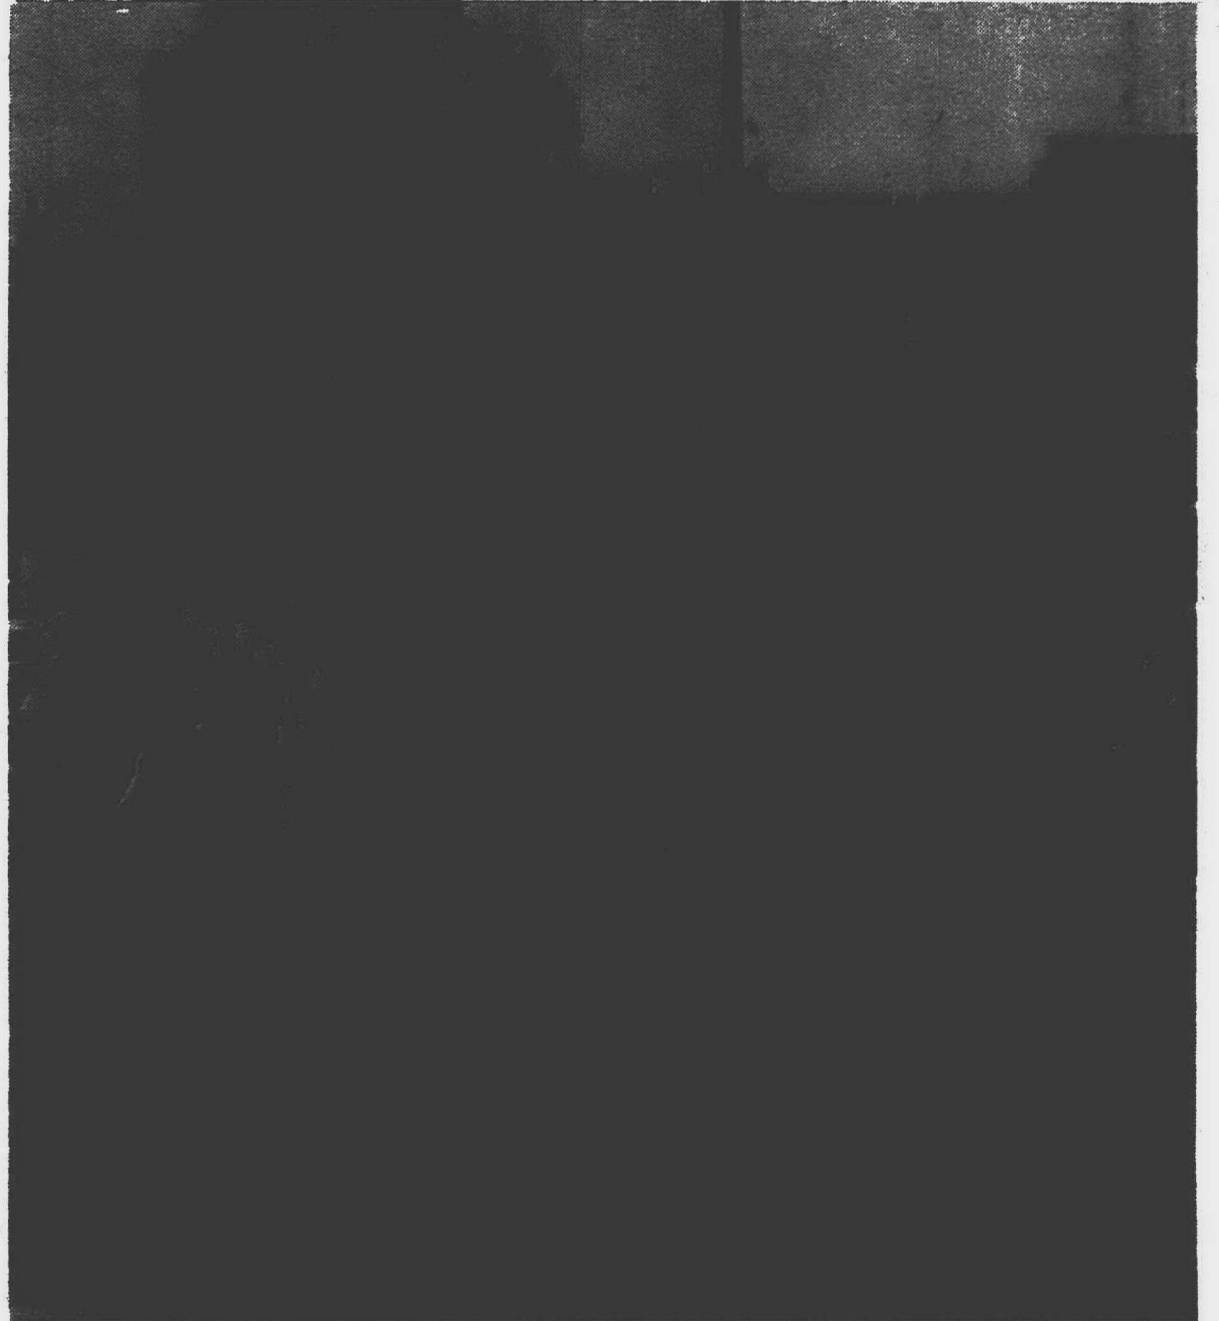

"The people here will be with you in spirit on the Fourth of July when, in accordance with the custom we have established the American flag will fly from the city flagpole and we will renew in our thoughts the sincere and brotherly sentiments which unite us across the seas."

"In previous years I have reported that two of the four imperial locust trees, the gift of Plymouth, Michigan, have flourished, but the others have not done so well. The position now is that the two larger trees have maintained their condition ahead of those which received earlier setbacks."

"The largest tree has developed five substantial side branches of four to six feet in length and is developing into a most graceful and elegant specimen. The other trees, although somewhat behind, are still showing every sign of reaching similar size and beauty."

DAVID KOLB rode in the Salvation Army bus.

EVERY PARADE must come to an end.

W WITH ALICE TOWARD NONE

The Plymouth school board will pick a new leader at its organizational meeting Monday night. At this point, even the board members don't know who the president will be.

Despite much "back room politicking" that's been going on, and at least one unofficial meeting held at a board member's house, no one is a top contender for the prestigious position.

There are four possibilities — two of whom deny interest.

The first is George Lawton, current board president. He says he doesn't want another term.

But is that modesty and the usual statement made by serious candidates?

"Absolutely not," says Lawton with the conviction of a person certain he can't muster the necessary support even if he wanted to.

Several members have been openly critical of Lawton's "iron hand" methods used during his presidency.

The second candidate is Gary Mirto, who, although strongly pooh-poohing the notion that he'd like the job, often assumes political roles as though garnering support for a boost.

Mirto says he'll cast his vote for the third possible candidate — Fred Penar.

But Mirto and at least one other member have questioned tapping Penar as leader in light of the possibility his job may take him away from the district for two months at some point in the near future.

Penar admitted to the Plymouth Mail & Observer that he'd like the job.

The fourth probable candidate for the presidency is E.J. McClendon, who will be sworn in to his board term at Monday's meeting.

"I wouldn't mind filling that role, and I think I could," McClendon said, but added that he wasn't really seeking it.

The other three members, John Graves, Marda Benson and Joe Gray haven't been seriously rumored for the job, but you never know.

The balloting will be by written vote, which means we'll be able to surmise who voted for whom. This could lead to either a first ballot decision or even to an unexpected surprise winner — one of the three candidates not being seriously considered.

Penar probably summed up the situation:

"What it's going to end up being will be surprise to everybody."

Schools Renew Contracts

PLYMOUTH
The Plymouth School Board has renewed two-year contracts with Supt. John M. Hoben and Deputy Supt. Dr. Earl Hogan, giving them each five per cent increases to be applied towards cars leased by the district.

The contracts, which will run from July 1, 1974 through June 30, 1976, call for a $32,000 annual salary for Hoben and a $28,000 annual salary for Hogan. Those are the salaries they are making under their current contracts, which expire next year.

The board's action to renew the contracts came after a written evaluation session with the two top administrators and the board.

The board voted unanimously to renew the pacts.

What Was Candidate's Answer?

There have been several inquiries made to The Plymouth Mail & Observer concerning a statement made by a defeated school board candidate, Mrs. Zella Flora, at the June 5 candidate's forum.

Each of the six school board candidates was asked at the forum how often he or she had voted in school elections.

Mrs. Flora said, in her lengthy answer, that she had often been travelling out of town during school elections. She summed up her statement saying that she wasn't sure exactly how many elections she had voted in, but that she thought she had voted in "almost all of them."

According to school district records (which include absentee ballots), Mrs. Flora had voted in only one of the last 10 school elections before the June 11 race in which she ran second behind Dr. E.J. McClendon for a four-year board term.

Jr. Football Registering Next Week

EDITOR:

It saddened me a bit to read your criticism of the Jaycees in your June 28th edition.

The Jaycees have a pretty good track record of community service. They, and the many other service organizations, provide a multitude of services that are expected and taken for granted.

There are so many additional services which could be performed that they are a constant reminder to me to be thankful to the Jaycees and all of the other service groups. Therefore, I am inclined to judge by results rather than by organization.

The community is happy to sit back and let the Jaycees handle the July 4 celebrations. The results are family type events which are so badly needed and the parade is an enviable expression of community and national pride.

I have participated in the July 4 celebrations in many different ways. Some have been better than others. Some Jaycees have worked harder than others; but collectively, they get things done. At times they may be short on organization, but this all creates just enough excitement to make it enjoyable to work with them.

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BOARD OF TRUSTEES REGULAR MEETING JUNE 26, 1973

The meeting was called to order at 8:00 P.M. by Supervisor McLaren. All members were present, except Gene Overholt and Russell Ash who were on vacation.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF MINUTES - Regular Meeting, June 12, 1973. Mr. Millington moved that the minutes of the June 12, 1973 regular meeting be approved as submitted. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

EXECUTIVE MEETING, June 19, 1973. Mr. Burke moved that the minutes of the executive meeting of June 19, 1973 be approved as submitted. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously.

READING, CORRECTING AND APPROVAL OF BILLS - Mr. Burke moved that the bills in the Grand Total of $48,255.63 be paid. Supported by Mr. Millington and carried unanimously.

OPENING OF BIDS - One (1) F.M. two way Mobile Radio; One (1) Remote Control Desk Set; One (1) Remote Adapter Chassis. Supervisor McLaren advised if there were any more bids to be submitted. As there were none, Mrs. Holmes moved that the bids be closed at 8:00 P.M. Supported by Mrs. Richardson and carried unanimously. Mr. Briggs read the one bid from Motorola, Inc., which priced out the required items at $1,148.00. Mrs. Richardson moved that the bids from Motorola, Inc., in the amount of $1,148.00 be accepted and that a purchase order be issued for same. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

OLD BUSINESS - Joseph Bida, D.P.W. Superintendent Re: Resignation from Township of Plymouth effective June 30, 1973. Mr. Millington moved that the Board accept the resignation of Mr. Bida and send him a letter of recognition for services rendered. Supported by Mrs. Holmes. The question was called and carried, with a nay vote by Mr. Burke.

Helen Richardson, Clerk Re: Salary Continuation or Disability Income Plan. Mrs. Richardson stated that she had sent a communication to all employees of the Township, both union and non-union to meet and hear a presentation of the proposed plan. She stated that she was disappointed in that so few employees showed up for the meeting. Mrs. Richardson read the letter that she sent and stated that most employees were in favor of the plan, but that the Fire Department was not totally satisfied and she had not heard from the Teamsters.

Mr. Bida stated that his department had not been represented as much as possible because of the 3:00 P.M. time of the meeting. He said that it would be better if the meeting was held either right before or right after lunch.

Mrs. Holmes moved that the non-negotiated employees be covered by the plan, with the negotiated employees joining when possible. Supported by Mr. Millington. In the discussion that followed, Mr. Burke stated that a response from the negotiated employees should be gotten before the Board gave final approval. Mrs. Richardson suggested that no action be taken for a period of one month and that the unions (Firefighters and Teamsters) should meet with Mr. DuBay and the representatives of the Plan for discussions. Mrs. Holmes stated that she would go along with the one month delay. The question was called and the following roll call vote was taken: Yes: Millington and Holmes. No: Burke, Richardson, and McLaren. The motion was denied.

Mr. Burke moved that negotiators of the DPW and Fire Department meet for a presentation of this plan at a formal bargaining session and that this item resurface on the July 24, 1973 agenda. Supported by Mrs. Richardson. The question was called and carried with Mr. Millington voting "No".

Joseph Bida, Superintendent D.P.W. Re: Costs of having sectional maps on sanitary sewers kept up to date. Mr. Millington moved that the Board grant approval of Mr. Bida's recommendation and have sectional maps on Sanitary Sewers brought up to date at an approximate cost of $2800.00 and that the continuing responsibility would be that of the DPW and that funds should be transferred from Contingency to cover cost of same. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

NEW BUSINESS - Loren W. Gould, Gould Development. Re: Requesting extension on Tentative Preliminary Plat for proposed Beacon Trail Subdivision located on south side of Ann Arbor Trail, containing 68 lots. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board grant the extension on the Tentative Preliminary Plat for proposed Beacon Trail Subdivision for a period of one year. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously.

Helen Richardson, Clerk - Re: Resolution establishing date of election and ballot wording on referendum.

Mrs. Richardson read the wording of the referendum. Discussion followed regarding the fact that the petition stated the next scheduled election, rather than a Special Election. Mrs. Richardson explained that she had discussed this with Attorney Morgan and he had advised that in the case of referendums on Bond issues, it was necessary to hold an election within the ninety day statutory limit. This was not true on renaming referendums. Mr. Gould asked if this was turned down, how long would it be before the sewer would get out to Beck Road?

Mr. Richardson said that it would certainly delay the sewer as the Board of Trustees would have to pass a resolution approving the sewer to Beck Road and procedures would have to be initiated once again. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Resolution as submitted be approved and that an election be held on September 4, 1973. Supported by Mr. Millington and carried unanimously.

Clifford Hines, Clerk Re: Petition requesting Board to contact Wayne County Road Commission to install a sign labeled "Children Playing - 15 Miles per Hour" for entrance to Hines Court. Mrs. Holmes moved that the Supervisor contact the Wayne County Road Commission and request their cooperation in placement of this sign. Supported by Mr. Burke and carried unanimously.

Mr. Burke moved that the meeting be adjourned. Supported by Mrs. Richardson. Supervisor McLaren adjourned the meeting at 10:25 P.M.

Approved,
J. D. McLAREN,
Supervisor

Respectfully submitted,
HELEN I. RICHARDSON,
Clerk

MRS. JAMES SAMUEL JABARA
(Mary Patricia Blaul)

Jabararas Wed In MSU Center

Mary Patricia Blaul and James Samuel Jabara exchanged nuptial vows in the St. John Student Center in East Lansing in a morning ceremony June 16.

The Rev. John Foglio officiated for the rites held before members of the couple's immediate families and grandparents.

A bridal luncheon in the Hospital Inn, Lansing, followed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Donald Blaul of Nottingham Avenue, Farmington. Mr. and Mrs. Kallid A. Jabara of Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride pinned a cameo that had belonged to her maternal grandmother to the ivory crepe dress she chose for her wedding. The dress was fashioned with a lace yoke and collar and lace trim on the short, puffed sleeves. She carried ivory rosebuds and wore rosebuds in her hair.

Her only attendant was her sister, Debra Suzanne Blaul of Farmington. She wore an empire gown of lavender floral print organza and carried a nosegay of lavender mums and baby's breath.

The best man was Dean Jabara, brother of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Blaul wore a floral print jacket dress and Mrs. Jabara was in pink chiffon.

After the ceremony and luncheon, the newlyweds had a week's honeymoon in the Jabara family cabin near Bellaire. A reception was given in their honor by the bridegroom's family in the Schloss Mountain resort at Mancelona on June 23.

They plan to make their home in Mason while completing their work on bachelor degrees at Michigan State University.

'His Kids' In Concert

"His Kids," an instrumental and choral ensemble formed by young adults, will present a concert at United Assembly of God of Plymouth on Sunday, July 8, at 11 a.m.

The group was formed by high school seniors and college students to meet their spiritual needs. The young adults, some of whom are former drug users, are from Orange County, Calif., and are giving concerts at school assemblies and churches through the country.

Directed by Tom Newman, "His Kids" performs contemporary music presenting the "gospel as it is" for "young people as they are."

The group has been acclaimed by composers and church leaders for its contagious enthusiasm, balanced spiritual impact and well-disciplined performances.

Mission Family Visits

The Hamen Cross family of the Afro-American Mission in Detroit will visit Ward United Presbyterian Church, Farmington Road at Six Mile, Livonia, on Sunday, July 8.

Hamen Cross Jr. will speak at the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services, telling of his work with inner-city youth.

Local Singers In Choir For Nazarene Concert

Thirty-seven Observer area singers are joining in a sacred concert Tuesday, July 10, in the Detroit Institute of Arts.

The choir of the First Church of the Nazarene, 18751 Fenkell, Detroit, is working with gospel musician Andrae Crouch and nationally-known choir director Thurlow Spurr to present the concert.

Singers from other denominations also will be part of the 100-voice choir.

Two performances are set, at 7 and 8:55 p.m. Admission is $3.

Crouch, famous for his modern gospel music stylings, will present the first half of the program with songs his group has made famous.

In the second portion, Spurr will direct the choir in the latest musical work by John W. Peterson, "Jesus Is Coming." Spurr has for a number of years been director of a gospel group known as the Spurrows.

Shirley Balmer of Plymouth is serving as accompanist and music coordinator for the performance, and singers from Livonia, Redford Township, Plymouth, Farmington, Garden City, Westland and Southfield are in the big choir.

LIVONIA—Tony Carpenter, Hazel Diegel.

REDFORD TOWNSHIP—Iona Baker, Scott Baker, Linda Green Blazo, Dave Eden, Charles Eden, Paul Eden, Lori Crocker, Dennis Crocker, Walter Kolbe, Loreta Rusch, John Simpson.

PLYMOUTH—Marty Jabara, Becky Draper, Bill Galmer, Charles Bruce, Bea Bruce, Julia Bruce.

FARMINGTON—Carlynn Lunn, Susan Lunn.

GARDEN CITY—Dave York.

WESTLAND—Ken Beard, Brenda Chambers, Debbie Estelle, Bob Glise, Debbie Glise, Ella Knapp.

SOUTHFIELD—Joan Collier, Kirt Collier, Paul Collier, Don Garrett, Kay Garrett, Tom Sommerville, Vernon Sommerville.

Tickets for the two performances may be reserved by calling the First Church of the Nazarene.

They also are available in Howard's Bookstore, Dickson's Bible and Bookstore, Grand Bible and Bookstore and the Detroit School of the Bible.

The sponsoring church and the Voice of Christian Youth are joining in an effort to help 500 troubled young people who are residents of Pine Hills Christian Camp have the opportunity to attend the gospel concert.

They are asking that individuals and families buying tickets for the concert purchase an extra one for one of the young people at the camp.

Plymouth Wesleyan Setting For Rites

Plymouth Wesleyan Church was the setting for the recent wedding of Linda M. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs.

William Murphy of Ivywood Lane, Plymouth, and Robert J. Marlow. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Genevieve Marlow of Fraser.

The Rev. Keith Somers officiated for the afternoon rites, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white voile gown with a deep border of chunly lace at the bodice and hemline and double flounces edging the cuffs and chapel train. Her veil fell from a matching lace dior bow, and her bouquet was of yellow roses, white miniature carnations and yellow statice.

Gail Murphy, as maid of honor for her sister, wore pastel yellow dotted swiss with lace trim at the collar and cuffs. Her headpiece was a matching bow, and she carried a basket of blue and yellow daisies and baby's breath.

Wearing similar dresses in pastel blue were four bridesmaids.

They were Janice Murphy, sister of the bride, Janice Moore of Plymouth, Connie Miller of Pontiac and Karin Slabicki of Fraser, cousin of the bridegroom.

Assisting the bridegroom were Mitchell Bobrowiecki Jr. of Dayton as best man and James Budzyn of Dayton, John Chancey of Detroit and William Murphy, brother of the bride, as ushers.

For the ceremony and reception in the Club Venetian, Madison Heights, both mothers wore floor-length gowns. Mrs. Murphy's was teal blue and Mrs. Marlow's mint green.

The couple had a California honeymoon and will live in Westland. Both are graduates of Oakland University.

The new Mrs. Marlow will enter the University of Michigan Rackham School in the fall, and her husband is employed as a development engineer by Ford Motor Co. in Dearborn.

MRS. ROBERT J. MARLOW
(Linda M. Murphy)

Bopp-Miller Vows Spoken

Molly Jane Miller and Warren G. Bopp II were united in marriage in a recent afternoon ceremony in the United Church of Big Rapids.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Vera Miller of Big Rapids and the late Charles Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bopp of Farmington are the bridegroom's parents.

Officiating for the ceremony was the Rev. Burton E. Erickson, and the bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, David Miller.

She wore an A-line gown of silk illusion over taffeta with ruffles edging a lace bib, front panel and cathedral train. Her hip-length veil was held by a small lace cap and she carried an arrangement of lilac roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Jane Baker of Big Rapids, honor attendant, wore a white and purple print moire victorian dress and a white garden hat. She carried a small nosegay of lilac and white rosebuds.

Six bridesmaids wore dresses like hers and carried single lilac carnations.

They were Mrs. David Reed and Karen Bopp of Farmington, sisters of the bridegroom, Cindy Baker, Julie Rehkopf, Joan Baker and Mrs. Steven Waddell.

Flower girl Monica Malone, dressed as a miniature bridesmaid, carried a basket of rose petals. Dale Whaly was ring-bearer.

Timothy Smith of Big Rapids was best man and the ushers and groomsmen were Doug Bopp and David Reed of Farmington, Tom Sava of Kalamazoo, Russ Smith of Bay City and Matthew Zimmerman and Steven Waddell of Big Rapids.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise floor-length gown and Mrs. Bopp chose a gown of peach peau de soie.

A buffet dinner in the Osceola Inn, Reed City, followed the ceremony.

The newlyweds had a brief honeymoon in northern Michigan and Canada before the bridegroom reported for duty with the U.S. Army in Germany.

MR. AND MRS. WARREN G. BOPP II
(Molly Jane Miller)

Engaged

MICHELE LaRICHE

Mr. and Mrs. Louis LaRiche of Hanford Road, Plymouth, announce the engagement of their daughter, Michele Marie, to Kenneth Kriutz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kriutz of Caprice Drive, Plymouth. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Plymouth High School and attended Grand Valley State College. She is employed by LaRiche Chevrolet in Plymouth. Her fiancé, a 1971 Plymouth High graduate, works for Saunders truck leasing. No wedding date has been set.

"THE HAWAIIANS"—Mark and Diane Yasuhara—will present a sacred concert in Clarenceville United Methodist Church of Livonia on Friday, July 13, at 8 p.m. Their program ranges from classical to contemporary, including gospel songs, Hawaiian music and traditional and modern hymns. Mark Yasuhara is a graduate of the University and has auditioned for the San Francisco and Metropolitan operas. The church is located at 20300 Middle Belt.

Rev. Lester Kinsolving's Religion Update

The usually uproarious annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) was, during two of its three days in Portland, Ore., so unbelievably placid that former SBC President Herschel Hobbs announced: "Someone must have put chloroform in the air conditioning!"

There was, however, no chloroform apparent in the activities of this largest of all U.S. Protestant denominations. For during 1972, SBC membership passed 12 million, and total income for the first time exceeded $1 billion. Moreover, the denomination has called for 600 volunteers to prepare for the time when Mainland China may allow the return of missionaries.

This will add to the 2,507 overseas missionaries currently maintained by the SBC in 77 countries (even as such dwindling denominations as the Methodists, the United Presbyterians and the Episcopalians are substantially reducing their foreign missionary efforts while suggesting that the day of the missionary is over.)

Such dynamic SBC accomplishments, together with the presiding of layman Owen Cooper of Mississippi — one of this decade's most affable and widely admired church leaders — created two days of near-euphoria.

Religion news writers, accustomed to the wildly colorful, scripture-studded brawls which generally highlight this convention, grew absolutely desperate for something newsworthy to report.

Then, as if by Divine Intervention, along came Mrs. Sappington.

The honey-blond wife of the pastor of Cloverleaf Baptist Church in Houston, Mrs. Sappington quite nicely implements Texas' glorious reputation for producing pious, pious women.

Mrs. Sappington introduced a resolution entitled "The Place of Women in Christian Service."

This resolution was so startling to the convention's resolutions committee that they rewrote (translation:

misleading) it for final submission to the convention. This procedure was indeed a strategic error.

For as Mrs. Sappington wisely perceived, this giant assemblage of fiercely independent and frequently frisky Baptists fairly bristles at any attempt — by anything resembling central authority — to suppress one of its number, particularly attractive Texas blondes.

Hence she was able to persuade the convention to ignore the committee's emasculated resolution in favor of voting overwhelmingly that (1) Most of Women's Lib is an attack upon Scripture — because: (2) Scripture affirms that Man is the head of woman — and: (3) Woman was created for man — and as such is man's glory.

After adoption of this notable theological position, the convention adjourned for lunch — leaving Mrs. Sappington surrounded by a dozen infuriated seminary students, women and pastors.

The Rev. John Claypool of Fort Worth, for example, seemed to have turned purple from attempting to choke down his rage as he quietly growled at Mrs. Sappington:

"Scripture also says let the women keep silent in church!"

But this pastoral rebuke left Mrs. Sappington unfazed. For immediately she flashed a great big smile and cooed confidently:

"This isn't in church!" She was then asked whether she could recall ever having disagreed with any of her husband's sermons.

"I did once," she admitted — which caused her detractors to become especially attentive. "But almost immediately he showed me where I was wrong!"

Summer Team Views Pastor's Role

A young "team" currently at the helm in Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia might be said to exemplify a new way the UMC Detroit Conference looks at its clergy.

The Rev. Donna J. Lindberg, one of a handful of women ordained as ministers in the conference and a member of its Board of Ministry, is beginning service as associate minister at Newburg. She graduated from seminary 3½ years ago.

Tom Kinney, an Adrian College student, is spending the summer as a ministerial intern.

Together they are directing activities of the church this month during the vacation of the senior pastor, the Rev. William A. Ritter.

Kinney is working in the vocational internship program under the Detroit Conference Board of Enlistment. The program is in its second summer.

"It's designed for students who think they might be interested in going into the ministry," Kinney said. "Gives them a chance to try it out and see if they like it."

In his case, the internship is mainly working with youth groups in the church, but he also will have a chance to preach and assist in wedding and other church functions.

His program includes church school teaching on alternate Sundays and directing of children's festivals the church sponsors during the summer.

It also has included another major aspect of a minister's job — a disappointing turnout for a folk musical effort and the resultant cancellation of the project.

"I think I'll have a better chance to assess my reactions to the summer next year after I'm back in classes," he said.

"But one reaction at this point is an idea that maybe churches should consider an interest-type program for youth. Instead of a group of 40 young people meeting once a week, it might be a good idea to offer a variety of programs, and have varying age groups work on them."

"That's how adult programs are offered in churches," Donna Lindberg agreed, and it probably would work better for young people too."

Rev. Lindberg said the internship program might be regarded as part of a general change she has noted while serving on the Board of Ministry for the conference.

"I see a change in terms of the quality of the ministry," she said.

"In seeking to bring men and women into the clergy, there's more attention given to the total person — his 'calling,' his educational background, his moral integrity — instead of focusing particularly on any one of these."

"I don't think we're by any means discounting the idea of the 'priesthood of all believers,' but we're seeing the ministry more as a profession with specialized training in many areas a part of the picture."

Rev. Lindberg, a native of Iron Mountain in the Upper Peninsula, graduated from Adrian College and Perkins Seminary, affiliated with Southern Methodist University.

Her first pastoral assignment was in Beverly Hills United Methodist Church, and she also has served as associate pastor of First United Methodist Church of Port Huron.

She has led a group of young people in a work camp in Mexico and serves the conference as a member of the Commission on the Status of Women as well as the Board of Ministry.

Kinney, a resident of Flushing, Mich., has worked two summers at United Methodist camps in Michigan.

A junior at Adrian, he has been involved actively in campus religious organizations and in a leadership development program sponsored by the conference.

PEGGY MOORE

Mr. and Mrs. Chester G. Moore of Cranston Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Peggy Marie, to Samuel Arthur Townshend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Townshend of Battle Creek. The bride-elect graduated from Bentley High School and in 1973 from the University of Michigan, where she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Her fiancé is a University of Michigan senior, majoring in engineering and political science and affiliated with Theta Chi fraternity. A Dec. 22 wedding is planned.

JANICE VERLINICH

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Verlinich of Parklane Avenue, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janice, to Robert F. Pryzma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Pryzma, of Crawfordsville, Ind. The bride-elect is a 1972 graduate of Michigan State University and is employed by Scott-Shuptrine in Dearborn. Her fiancé graduated from MSU in 1971 and is employed by J.C. Penny Co. A Sept. 2 wedding is planned.

DARLENE MEKULEN

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mekulen of Wood Drive, Livonia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Darlene, to Vernon G. Ruhle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruhle of Coleman, Mich. The bride-elect is a 1970 graduate of Stevenson High School and a senior at Olivet College. Her fiancé attended Olivet College and is now playing baseball in the Detroit Tiger baseball organization in Lakeland, Fla. They plan to marry Jan. 18, 1974.

Tea Will Honor Childbirth Classes Begin July 12

The Metropolitan Detroit Chapter of the Women's Army Corps Veterans Association will host a tea in honor of the national president, Dorothy A. Dickes of Dearborn Heights, and the national corresponding secretary, Virginia G. Nagy of Madison Heights.

It will be held at the home of Judge and Mrs. Lawrence Gubow, 4397 Sunningdale, Bloomfield Hills, on Saturday, July 21, from 2-4 p.m.

Miss Dickes is an administrative secretary to Clayton M. Moor, assistant general counsel of the Wayne County Road Commission.

The chapter extends an invitation to all former WACs to attend the tea and meet the national president and national corresponding secretary.

At the 1973 national convention in Atlantic City in August, the chapter will submit a bid for the 1975 national convention to be held in Detroit.

Classes in the Lamaze method of childbirth will begin in Livonia July 12 under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Childbirth Education Association. These will be held at the Newburg Methodist Church, 36500 Ann Arbor Trail.

Other locations and dates for the seven-week series are:

July 18 - Garden City Hospital, 6245 Inkster, south of Ford.

July 24 - Church of the Nazarene, 24356 E. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

July 25 - in Westland, place to be announced later.

For information and pre-registration, call Mrs. Susan Dickey, registrar, 24542 Knollwood, Novi.

Registered nurses or women experienced in the Lamaze technique teach the classes.

Subject matter focuses on labor, birth, neuromuscular control and effective breathing patterns to enable mother to be confidently awake, aware and participating during birth.

Husbands are urged to attend classes.

Thanks to the fine work of the many chapters in Observerland the Michigan Youth Bowling Association has established a record for membership in a year that is just coming to an end.

As the books were closed on June 30, the association boasted a membership of 33,501 and, as usual, became one of the bulwarks of youth bowling in the nation.

So large has the membership become that the state has been divided into eight areas for the purpose of reducing travel in determining championships. And region No. 2, which included metropolitan Detroit, is the largest with 9,786 members.

Each area now has its own championships and the area winners meet to decide the state championships.

These area roll-offs are now taking place and already the Observerland juniors are making a name for themselves.

Barbara Hamlin, daughter of the Farmington Lanes owner; Dan Kinjorski, of Bowlercraft Lanes; and Jeff Gafewick, of Roosevelt Lanes, have been named to the all-state team. They will be among the honored guests when the association holds its annual "Parade of Champions" on Sunday, Aug. 12, at the Warren Chateau in Warren.

Don Levoska, a 190 average bowler in the Bel-Aire Classic, finally reached the goal of every bowler.

Competing in the Kings and Queens summer league, he rolled the first perfect game of the summer season and it helped him to a 699 series.

After opening with a 222 game, he posted the 300 and closed with a 172 to crown 40 years of knocking down the pins.

Along the way he had a string of 15 consecutive strikes.

Mrs. Barbara MacQueen, mother of Findlay MacQueen, owner of the Plymouth and Southfield Bowls, passed away in her California home last Monday night.

Her death came only a few months after "Fin's" father's demise. The couple had been married for 61 years.

Her death now leaves "Fin" to carry on the MacQueen name in the bowling industry, and he will make another great contribution with the opening of the Plaza Bowl in Plymouth Township next fall.

Marie Schneider of Plymouth, who does her bowling at Garden Lanes, topped the women's league this week with a 627 series. At this figure she gained a margin of 24 pins over Betty Kindery. Joe Forence topped the Monday Foursomes with a 635.

The Victor Park Raceway team, member of the Westland Classic during the winter months, won the American Motors tournament sponsored by Coon Bros. that closed Sunday night at Westland.

To gain the victory the team posted a 3184 count.

Meanwhile Westland is fast becoming the youth bowling capital of western Wayne County. For example, last Tuesday morning 34 teams took the lanes in the weekly competition. Of this group, close to 50 were retarded children whose main recreation now is trying to topple the pins.

Jim Morawa was the big man in the Trip League at Country Lanes when he came through with a 255 in a 624 series.

The Lady Elks (Fawns) also had a great time at Livonia Lanes before Ethel Meisner took top scoring honors with a 197 in a 513 series.

Honors in bowling come in many unusual ways. Take the case of Kay Allen, a 95 average bowler at Bel-Aire Lanes. She became the talk of her league this week when she contributed a 106 triplicate.

Cathy Luptowski took over the peacemaking role in the Ladies Wednesday League with a 534 series. A 130 bowler, she put together games of 204, 190 and 140.

And Rolli Krause came out on the long end of things in the Bermuda Shorts league with a 626 series gained on games of 235, 200 and 191.

Detroit Wins ARCA Feature

Flat Rock Speedway's four feature events were carried out in perfect fashion Saturday night.

John Anderson, Detroit driver, won the feature event with a two car length victory over Danny Byrd of Dearborn Heights.

Anderson started 10th and got a break in traffic to take the lead after only nine laps of the 30 lap affair.

In the regular 30 lap feature, Danny Byrd ended a long dry spell at Flat Rock with a victory over Joe Rutman of Dearborn Heights.

Dick Crup of Hudson, took the lead and led to lap 16 when Byrd passed on the outside and was never strongly challenged the rest of the way. Anderson, looking for two wins in one night spun early, recovered and finished fifth in the second 30 lap affair.

Crup finished third in both events. Ed Hage, of Ypsilanti, finished fourth and Ray Alexander of Southgate, fifth.

The competition was exceptionally close in the ARCA late models. New engine and weight rules are providing closer running putting more pressure on the driver to know how to properly handle the car.

In the late model preliminary events Anderson was fast qualifier at 13:30. Joe Rutman won the dash. Crup won the Pursuit and Buddy Bennett, of Utica, the consolation event.

Denny Pace, the Plymouth defending Figure 8 champ, had a field day. He won both feature events, set a track record of 14:56 in qualifying, won the dash and finished second in the pursuit race.

Denny bettered his own track record by .01 of a second in breaking the mark of 14:57 he established on Sept. 4, 1972.

Farmington Legionnaires Win

Position night was just what Farmington's American Legion baseball squad ordered.

Third place Farmington blanked Troy, 4-0, while the two front-runners Rochester and Berkley fought to a four-all deadlock. Farmington thus slipped into first place with an 11-4 mark. Rochester and Berkley sport 10-3-1 records, in the 18th District standings.

Dennis Hagen handled the Farmington pitching chores with a four-hitter, walking four and striking out two in recording his fifth win against one setback.

Greg Zott, Greg Bloss and Dave Jones hurried for Troy with Zott taking the loss and Farmington collecting five hits.

Farmington broke a scoreless duel in the fourth inning. Jeff Herman led off with a walk. Randy Stringer singled and Tom Celani walked to fill the bases. Sam Pink delivered a two run single, scoring Herman and Stringer. Mitch Thomas walked to again load the sacks.

Ron Buck popped out and Jim Esthorne singled to score Celani and give Farmington a 2-0 lead.

Farmington added an insurance run in the sixth. With one out, Thomas was hit by a pitch, Buck drew a walk and Hagen singled in Thomas.

Franklin Berry Downs North Farmington, 8-3

It was No. 8 night for Franklin Berry.

The Mack National squad came up with eight walks and eight hits in defeating North Farmington, 8-3.

It was Franklin's fifth victory in six decisions.

Jamie Knapp started on the mound and lasted 6½ innings, giving up three runs on four hits, walking three and striking out five. Mickey Fisher chalked up the save, retiring the last two batters on pop-ups to the infield.

Berry opened with two runs in the first when Jeff Waterstone tripled, Bob Fallow singled and moved around to third on an error. He scored on a sacrifice by Gar Frantz.

A walk to Frantz, singles by Dan Longeway and Tony Dattilio and an error increased it to 4-0 in the third.

North got one run back in the fourth when Steward was safe on an error, stole second and scampered around on a hit by Marty Raymond.

Franklin pulled away in the fourth with three runs on one hit. Knapp and Waterstone drew walks and Follow singled in Knapp. Frantz walked and Livesay was safe on an error with Waterstone and Follow scoring.

A walk to Dave Hollandsworth, single by Knapp and walk to Waterstone pushed across the final run in the fifth.

North showed signs of a comeback in the top of the seventh when Knapp had trouble finding the plate. John Creighton and Bruce Brewin singled and Raymond was safe on an error to fill the bases.

Knapp then walked Lou Doot and Chuck Weber to make it 8-3, and Coach Paul Hunt had seen enough. In came Fisher and he got the next two batsmen to pop out and preserve the victory.

Shawn McCarthy Named 'Borgess Man' Of Year

Eighteen year old Shawn McCarthy of Redford Township was selected "Borgess Man of the Year" at Bishop Borgess High School's annual athletic banquet.

The award is voted upon by the coaches for the senior who has displayed outstanding qualities in leadership, academics and sports. In announcing the award, Sister Nadine Sheehan, Borgess assistant principal, stated that she received the following comments about Shawn from the coaches:

- He gives 100 per cent all the time.

- Has drive and determination.

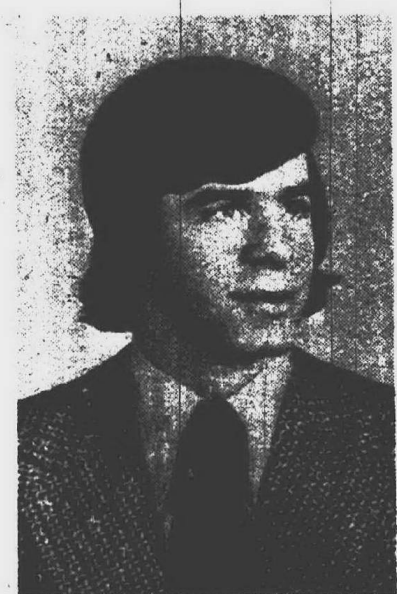

- His well-mannered, well-liked and a gentleman.

- Knows how to get along with his fellow players and coaches.

- Keeps giving even when things do not go his way.

McCarthy was a varsity three sports man for the Borgess Spartans, earning three letters in football and track and two in basketball.

He was All-Catholic and All-City in football last year as a defensive halfback leading the Double A in interceptions and his team in

SHAWN MCCARTHY 'Borgess Man Of Year'

In basketball, Shawn averaged 11 points a game during his varsity career and was co-captain as a senior. His 39 points against St. Francis Cabrini while on the frosh team is still a school record.

McCarthy was All-City in track his junior year and this year, as a member of the Spartan's 440 and 880 relay teams, again received All-City honors.

Additional All-State and All-Observerland honors were received when Borgess' 440 relay team finished in the top 10 at the State "A" finals in Lansing.

Shawn maintained a "B" academic average at Borgess and has narrowed his choice of colleges to Central Michigan or Michigan Tech.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

It will be a long time before Howard Niles, second eldest son of the well-known harness racing family of Northville, forgets his 55th birthday. In fact he probably will remember it as long as he's around and very definitely for the next several months.

Howard and brother Norm, who is in the business of hauling pacers and trotters to all parts of the United States and Canada, celebrate birthdays on the same day, June 30. Norm is a year older.

Howard was handling early morning chores Saturday on his farm near South Lyon, jogging horses, feeding others and all of the multitude of things one has to do when driving and training for a large public stable.

Then he hopped aboard his mini-bike and started for the farmhouse and breakfast. En route the brakes jammed, tossed Howard off the bike which landed atop him.

No one knows how long the badly injured Howard was sprawled on the ground but some time later one of the farmhands was walking towards the house when he came upon the mud-covered Niles.

Howard was rushed to St. Mary Hospital in Livonia where examination revealed a broken right hip. He'll be in the hospital for another two weeks and then returns home for a long period of time on crutches.

Just five years ago, Howard came out of a race accident at Jackson Raceway with a broken left hip that sidelined him for six or seven months before he was able to return to training again.

For the benefit of his many friends, Howard is up and around in a wheel chair.

His room number is 567 at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia, for those who would like to send him a get well card. Despite the fact he's only been hospitalized a week, the days are getting long and he's having trouble keeping busy.

We know from personal experience how long days in a hospital can get. We're hoping his multitude of friends and fans try to brighten a dull period.

Ben Farber, leading driver at Northville Downs after two full weeks of the 36-night summer meeting, has a double goal in Saturday's featured $5,000 invitational pace at Northville Downs.

The comely Brighton housewife, who admits she likes driving standardbreds better than doing housework, would like to guide Easy Irv, the pride and joy of the Farber stable, to victory in the invitational and set a track record at the same time.

Easy Irv, which paced to a mile in 1:59.4 at the recent Wolverine meeting, registered the fastest time of the year at the 'Downs a week ago when clocked in 2:01.3.

There isn't any question that Easy Irv could have gone faster but he didn't have any competition in the final quarter and won handily by five and a half lengths.

Irv faces a field of six challengers this time in bidding for his sixth win in 12 starts.

Tim Valley, a four-year-old from the Silver Maple Farm of Richmond, shows two firsts in its last three starts. Ark Time won its last in 2:02.4 and Dave Butler was a winner two races back in 2:03.4.

Others going to the post are: Erlana's Valley, Prince Knox, who could surprise; and H. T. Luca. The last mentioned had earnings of $43,200 last year but has had nothing but troubles in four outings this season.

Mrs. Farber has an excellent chance of winning the secondary feature, the $3,000

White Pigeon pace, with Emerald Scar, a five-year-old mare with five wins in 13 starts this year.

Emerald Scar won her last start in 2:04.3 and is in the same kind of competition again.

The field lists: Tiger Jet, victor in 2:01 at Wolverine; Whirlaway, from the Joe Adamsky stable; Erlana's Jane, who won her last in 2:04.1; Mr. Bubbles, who had a string of five earlier in the year; Mike A Breeze, with a 2:01 triumph at Wolverine; and Easy Tom, who hasn't lost in four outings to date.

And that all adds up to one of the finest paces of the meeting, one that could wind up with as many as four on the wire at the finish.

F'ton Arts Council Expands Goals

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first article in a series of three describing the operations of Observerland's three Community Arts Councils. They are Farmington, Plymouth and Southfield.

By BETTY MASSON

When it was formed in October 1969, the Farmington Community Arts Council's original purpose was the somewhat nebulous one of "encouraging cultural and educational organizations in the Farmington area."

There are indications, over the 1972-73 season, that some of the mists are beginning to clear.

This was the year in which the council went into the schools, primarily the junior high schools, with programs conducted by volunteers who are also professional artists.

The FCAC has always had a close association with the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College, and this year three of its art professors entertained and informed school children under the FCAC aegis.

Ted Striewski, an award-winning sculptor, gave film demonstrations on sculpture, which "had the kids absolutely mesmerized," according to Mrs. Roger (Marlowe) Belanger, FCAC president.

Bob Piepenberg took his potter's wheel to the students and showed them how a potter creates.

Kegham Tazian gave demonstrations of his collages, which are winning him fame.

Others were involved in the in-school programs:

Mrs. Evelyn Kreson, director of the Michigan Ballet Theater (formerly the Suburban Ballet), with her students staged demonstrations on the history and requirements of dance.

Paul Barber, director of music at Harrison-High School, brought in his 18-piece jazz band, and presented a musical history of jazz.

Sr. Micheline, of Mercy High School, gave classes in line drawing, in which students produced their own works of art with newspaper print and charcoal.

Dr. J. Harold Ellens, of University Hills Church, gave talks on the relationship between art and religion.

In addition, the council sponsored a visit by Max Ellison, Michigan poet, who spent four days in the junior high schools and high schools, and proved a popular attraction.

So enthusiastic has been school response, these programs will undoubtedly continue.

Dr. Daniel Greenberg of OCC's speech and drama department is a member of the board of directors this year.

The council is taking a strong interest in the formation of a new symphony in the northwest suburban area. Mrs. Belanger, who is on the steering committee, said, "The Farmington Arts Council has committed itself to support the symphony in any possible way, short of financial."

The FCAC has also promised to help the Michigan Ballet Theater host the Mid-West Regional Ballet Association conference, which will be held in June 1974 in Farmington's Mercy High School.

Thousands of ballet students and their families are expected to attend, reports Mrs. Belanger.

This summer, the council members are involved with Robert Lieber, school social worker, in "Operation Insight '73." Lieber is taking six German youths and six American boys on an eight-week tour of the U.S. The group will be in Farmington the weekend of July 14 and the week of Aug. 18-25.

The council was also able during the spring to give $300 in scholarships to deserving very young people. The money enabled several children to attend an "Artistart" program in University Hills Church. The money came from a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Plans for the future, possibly the fall of 1974, include an arts festival, which would involve Farmington school children.

Contests would be held to encourage participation.

The council's chief continuing project, and one which Mrs. Belanger believes is unique, has been publication of a calendar of events in the Farmington area.

About 5,000 of these calendars are sent out free of charge to individuals and organizations. They are updated every three months with a supplement which can easily be pasted on the calendar.

Financing for this is through advertising and "a friendly printer."

Funds for the council have been raised since its inception through the sale of memberships. Cost is $10 for individuals and $25 for organizations.

On the minus side this year, "Exposure to the Arts," a series of lectures and demonstrations for adults, failed to draw enough registrants and had to be shelved. The series had run successfully for three years previously, the first year as a four-part series of performing arts programs.

A watercolor workshop by L. T. Shackelford of California did attract about 24 artists.

This year, Mrs. Belanger is making a special effort to encourage all interested to attend FCAC meetings. These are held at 8 p.m., the second Tuesday of each month (beginning again in September) in the library of the Alexander Hamilton Insurance Co., in Farmington.

Board members for the new year include, besides Mrs. Belanger, Shirley Hatfield, treasurer; Mrs. James Ellis, recording secretary; Richard Frankel, corresponding secretary; John Allen, chairman of the calendar; Haroune Alameddine, activities chairman; Robert Lieber, vice-president for memberships; and Dr. Greenberg.

Signed on for possible committee work are Mrs. Robert Neuhauser, Mrs. Marilyn Wheaton, Ted Mann, Mrs. Virginia Dickerman and Roland Sharette.

Anyone wishing to contact the FCAC may do so through the board members or through the Farmington Community Center.

MEMBERS OF the Farmington Community Arts Council are looking forward to a busy and productive 1973-74 season. From left are Priscilla Molner, Dr. Daniel Greenberg (hold-

Vienna Is Theme SC Concert 'Bright'

By TIM RICHARD

Some years ago an orchestra produced a record called "Classical Music for People Who Don't Like Classical Music," a stripped-down version of melodies from great works.

At Schoolcraft College this month, they're giving a summer music festival that could well be dubbed "Chamber Music for People Who Don't Like Chamber Music." The chief difference is that ensembles here don't offer stripped-down versions; they're performing the real thing, but exquisitely programmed.

Indeed, this, the seventh year's programming is probably the best yet. Assistant Director Allen Shaffer's illuminating program notes reveal that the connecting theme isn't any one composer or pair of classical/modern composers; rather, it's Vienna, which has attracted and held more master composers than perhaps any other city.

The performers may deviate from the program as printed. In his program, coordinating work, it seems, Shaffer found that every work on one evening's agenda was in the same key. Without knowing why, an audience would have been bored by such a setup.

If "chamber" scares you — and it apparently scares men, who were outnumbered 3-1 at last Tuesday's opener — don't let it. The faculty has picked out, and Shaffer has programmed, some of the liveliest, brightest entertainment you can find on a summer's eve.

Take next Tuesday's offering. Shaffer and Donald Morelock have scheduled something by Schubert (one of the few composers actually born in Vienna) that I've never heard — Fantasia in F Minor for two pianos — but Shaffer gave me this rundown:

"It's one of Schubert's very late works, 1828. It's important because it was experimental. He compressed into a single movement the elements of four movements."

Ah, yes, that was quite a trend among the Romantics. Haydn wrote in the traditional four movements; his pupil, Beethoven, introduced the unifying rhythm (fifth symphony); Schumann, the cyclical melody (fourth symphony); the incomparable Liszt (both piano concertos)...

"It's lyrical and melancholy," Shaffer went on about the Schubert Fantasia. "He was a prolific composer, even though he died at 31. We tend to dismiss the piano duet, but a lot of very good work was done in that form. It's an easy medium to write in. He could sit down with a friend and try it out right away."

Shaffer is a perfect example of the kind of total musician that Wayne Dunlap, former Schoolcraft music director, brought into the program when he began it in 1967. Shaffer is a performer, teacher and writer with a fine sense of audience. Later in next Tuesday's program he will perform, with composer in residence Robert W. Jones, a concerto for celesta and harpsichord by Pinckham, whoever Pinckham is.

Shaffer, who has taught and performed in all the Schoolcraft summer festivals and music schools since the beginning, now spends the regular school year at Norfolk (Va.) State College but continues to return for the summer because "it's a nice change of pace for me."

Also on that program will be a five-instrument version of Richard Strauss' "Till Eulenspiegel's Merry Pranks" and a Rossini sonata for four stringed instruments.

That's what I call absorbing programming. That is no idle compliment. Last year, to be honest, I think Director Richard Saunders may have given the performers too free a hand so that they selected stuff THEY liked but which was a mile beyond us ordinary slobs. This year I sense a compromise.

The Tuesday evening programs begin at 8:30 p.m. (not 8, as a publicity announcement said) in the Warman Campus Center at the north end of the Hagerty Road campus. Admission is $1, but I think they should charge more so that people will value it more highly.

Last Tuesday's program was one of the best this listener has heard. Whether the taxpayers out here know or care, four excellent musicians from the Detroit Symphony who teach at Schoolcraft during the summer have taken the college's name for their quartet.

Violist Dave Ireland says he and violinists James Waring and Inez Redman, and cellist Mario Difore, get together every week and have been performing recitals all around the Detroit metropolitan area.

In my own fascination with Beethoven's violin and piano concertos, I never learned he wrote for a woodwind quintet. But there is such a thing: David Mariotti, oboe; Oliver Green, clarinet; Clement Barone, flute; Paul Ganson, bassoon; and Eugene Wade, French horn. It adds up to chamber music for people who THINK they don't like chamber music.

Concerts, Films Slated At OCC

The Oakland Ridge campus of Oakland Community College in Farmington Hills will kick off its summer events program with a rock concert tonight (Saturday) and Sunday in the outdoor amphitheater.

The rock concert will feature several groups on Saturday including Father, Whiz Kids and Chip Stevens running from 6 to 11 p.m.

Sunday's concert features Stretch Thomas and Gaslight running from 6 until 10 p.m.

The campus is located at 27055 Orchard Lake Road near I-696 in Farmington Hills.

The summer program will continue July 15 at 7:30 p.m. when the Brookside Jazz Ensemble will perform in the amphitheater with singer Ursula Walkers.

A film week with old-time comedians Charlie Chaplin, W.S. Fields and the Marx Brothers will begin on Wednesday, July 25, in Room 294 of J-Building at 8 p.m.

The old-time comedians will be featured July 25, 26 and 30. Recent popular films will be shown on alternate dates beginning with "Goodbye Columbus" with Ali McGraw and Richard Benjamin on July 23.

"The Dirty Dozen" with Lee Marvin, Jim Brown and Telly Savalas will be shown July 27.

Admission for the rock and jazz concerts is $2 to the general public and $1 to OCC students with identification. The films are $1 to the public and 50 cents to OCC students.

C'ville Concert Slated Monday

The Clarenceville High School band will give a sneak preview on Monday, July 9, of the program it will perform for the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City.

The preview was scheduled in appreciation for community residents who helped the band raise $7,000 to compete for the governor's trophy in Traverse City. It will begin at 7 p.m. at the high school athletic field, Middle Belt south of Eight Mile.

The band will compete on July 12 at 7:30 p.m. for the trophy in Traverse City.

The Detroit Tigers are the band's theme for the competition program.

"In My Merry Oldsmobile" is the first song, featuring a formation with an automobile. The band will play "It's A Lovely Day Today" in the second skit. Students dressed as opposition baseball players will be sprayed with spray cans marked "Tiger power."

A giant glass and two large Alka Seltzer pills are props for the third skit. White balloons are used for fizz and the seltzer is used to soothe Billy Martin's stomach as the band plays "No Matter What Shape Your Tummy's In."

"Take Me Out To The Ball Game" will be played while a 12-foot long hot dog is gobbed by a giant baseball fan.

The closing formation features Elsa's "Procession to the Cathedral."

The 130-member band will stay at Shuss Mountain Ski Resort with 20 chaperones for the competition from July 11-13.

Word Processing

Experts estimate the Word Processing Industry will explode to 8.5 billion by 1990. Wang Laboratories, a major force in both Marketing/Service and research and development expects to be in an even stronger position in the months ahead. You could be part of this tremendous growth in field service as a technician or in field service management.

If you have "electric typewriter" experience already, and are interested in becoming one of 200 selected across the country, instead of one of 200,000... and if you have a sincere interest in getting ahead in management in a short period of time, instead of "after 15 years of faithful service"... we are interested in you. We're building fast, and we need people who want to do the job.

Send your resume of experience and education to us or call:

DAYS OF YORE in Observerland as exemplified by this old illustration of Ann Arbor Street in Plymouth.

Long, Long Ago...

By CAROL KATZ

Where oh where have the old days gone?

At first glance, it may seem that they are buried forever, under concrete and rows of look alike subdivisions.

With a little bit of extra looking and digging they can still be uncovered, however, within a number of old buildings in Observerland and within the memories of certain old time residents.

MRS. GLADYS RYDER, who has lived a long life in the Livonia area, remembers when horse and buggy and the streetcar were the main forms of transportation in the quiet farming community. She remembers when gypsies camped in open fields, and when people of all ages would get together for spirited sleighing parties in the middle of winter.

Arising at 5 a.m. and retiring at 9 at night was the general rule in an area where most people grew nearly everything they ate. It was not unusual, at about the turn of the century, for a farm wife's account book to show a monthly expenditure of $5. People made their own lard, butter and cheese and canned between 200 and 300 jars of fruits and vegetables each year. Meat was produced by the chickens, pigs and steers that were part of the livestock supply.

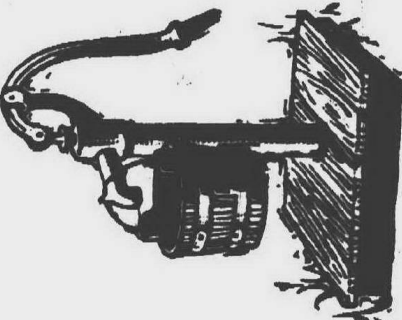

Bread baking was a daily part of the housewife's ritual and Johnny Cake, now called corn bread, was a popular dish dating back to early pioneer times.

Sunday was the day for making your own ice cream and many a child, in the early days of the century, was assigned the arduous task of hand cranking a gallon or so for Sunday dinners. Mush and milk, a cereal dish, was often served for Sunday night suppers.

BECAUSE LIVONIA was a farming community, residents had to go into Plymouth and Wayne for their dry goods materials. Here they purchased such household items as thread, kerosene, sugar, tea and coffee. Mrs. Ryder remembers old time peddlers who made their rounds periodically, stopping at the doorsteps of customers they grew to know personally.

Fabric for clothing was a household expense, but wardrobes were limited. Women had very few dresses, according to Mrs. Ryder, and these were usually of dark fabrics which didn't easily show dirt. Back in those days, dry cleaning was unheard of.

On Saturday many people rode into Detroit on the streetcar for a day of shopping in the big city. A Saturday night date might involve a streetcar trip into Detroit for an evening at the theatre.

The streetcar, which had a regular network throughout the area, was established in 1898. In 1916, because of the coming of the automobile, the streetcar was eliminated. Roads, however, were still rough and many people chose to travel by horse and buggy rather than get stuck in a muddy ditch.

MRS. RYDER REMEMBERS taking horse and buggy trips to the old Penniman-Allen Theatre in Plymouth for such post World War I movie classics as "Birth of a Nation."

An area of one room school-houses, Livonia had no high school in the early days of this century. Thus, Mrs. Ryder attended Wayne

From Wagon Wheels To Whitewalls

What does the suburban housewife with four kids and a dog in a station wagon have in common with the pioneer mother who got jounced along in her family's covered wagon down a muddy dirt road?

Not much, perhaps, but the simple and impatient desire to get from one place to another in as short a time as possible.

Americans, being a restless people, have always been on the move. In the past we trekked across unsettled territories in search of a better life, and today we are retracing the pioneers' wagon wheels in camper vehicles and station wagons in a quest for recreation, novelty and a way to fill up our two week summer vacations.

THE FIRST AMERICANS, the Indians, traveled on foot in search of fertile hunting ground. Their trails were simple dirt paths, but so well situated that many of our modern roads directly follow their directions. Michigan Avenue, Grand River and Ann Arbor Trail were once all well traveled Indian paths in the middle of dense woodland.

Then came the pioneers in covered wagons which lumbered precariously over these narrow trails. The trip from Detroit to the Livonia area could take as long as three days back in the 1830s; wagons of often fell into ruts or got stuck in the mud. Many pioneers used oxen rather than horses to pull their huge loads; they needed all the muscle they could muster!

"CORDUROY" ROADS, which were covered with long wooden planks, represented something of an improvement. Plymouth and Grand River were two such local roads and were operated as toll roads with stations placed at appropriate intervals.

They made for loud and bumpy traveling, but they did speed things up somewhat. Soon stage coaches were heard rumbling over the wooden planks carrying new settlers to virgin territory in the wilds of Michigan.

It was recorded that two four-horse coaches went daily along the old Farmington route and were able to accommodate 24 passengers. It was not unusual to see nine or so extra passengers riding on top of the coach. Everyone was on the move!

The coming of the streetcar in 1898 was a boon and a blessing to local residents who were often snowed and mud bound. A network of stations was set up through the present Observer area.

The advent of Henry Ford's cheap and convenient Model T changed our transportation methods drastically. Soon the entire nation was set on wheels and things haven't been the same since.

In 1925 the Detroit Union Railway took its last gasping breath and died. It simply wasn't used much anymore -- passengers had abandoned it for the car, and trucks were now carrying much of the freight that had once been the sole property of the old trolley cars.

NOBODY SEEMED to mind much. The automobile seemed the perfect answer to everyone's problems.

But today we have begun to scratch our heads and wonder if there mightn't be alternative forms of transportation to meet the smog ridden and rush hour mad entanglements of 1973.

High Drama: The Underground Railroad

Local historians must content themselves with mostly quiet tales of old time farmers and the doings of tiny country villages.

It's bland stuff, compared to the history of battle grounds and revolutionary uprisings, but there is one local story that stands out clearly above the others. It is the tale of the underground railroad.

STILL STANDING today in the Observer area are homes in which runaway slaves were sheltered before the Civil War. Farmington, settled originally by devout Quakers, was the site of much underground

THE OLD POWER MILL was rumored to have been a station for runaway slaves along the Underground Railroad. Since harboring slaves was a national illegal act, there is little concrete evidence to prove the notion... or to disprove it. (Photo, Courtesy of Virgil Cornwell) railroad activity, as well as parts of Livonia and Plymouth.

Slaves, on their way from the South to freedom in Canada, were often given sanctuary in the homes and barns of sympathetic Abolitionists.

Although many of these long ago local residents were outstanding members of their communities, they were clearly disobeying the Fugitive Slave Law which made the harboring of slaves by northern sympathizers illegal.

As unthinkable as slavery is today, most old, local residents were blandly unconcerned with it, deeming it to be a necessary evil or a problem for the South to solve by itself.

Local Abolitionists, then, risked not only imprisonment at breaking the law but the censure or disapproval of many of their neighbors as well.

MARCUS SWIFT, a preacher and farmer whose land touched parts of what are now Garden City and Westland, was one of the area's most outspoken Abolitionists.

Long before the outbreak of the Civil War he broke away from the old Methodist Church because many of its leaders actually owned slaves and refused to condemn the institution of slavery itself.

In a passionate proclamation written with an old quill pen, he announced his break from the old church establishment, denouncing slavery as the "sum total of all villainies" and accusing the church of discriminating against "the poor of Christ's flock on account of their colour."

For years he was ridiculed and ostracized, but he never forsook his militant stand.

He died in Plymouth at the home of his son long after slavery had been abolished. "I have lived in a glorious age," he said at the end of his long life. Descendants of Swift are still living in the Plymouth area to this day.

NATHAN POWER, one of Farmington's first settlers and an ancestor of Philip Power, publisher of the Observer Newspapers, was another man whom legend claims as an Underground Railroad supporter.

In 1836 Power, a member of the Quaker sect, attended an anti-slavery conference in Ann Arbor.

diary, full of the details of early pioneer life in the area, reveals certain hints that point to possible anti-slavery activities.

Slaves themselves often traveled by night down the Rouge River. They were met by farmers who often hid them in their wagons under huge bales of hay, thus transporting them to the next "station."

Secrecy was the fuel for underground railroad activities. A leak would mean capture for the fugitives and jail or a stiff fine for their sympathizers. So quietly did the underground railroad run that there are very few documents today to tell its story.

MYSTERY CLOUDS much of what we might know about the local underground railroad network. Farmington historians can point to certain old houses in town with trapdoors and hidden tunnels that were probably used as shelters for runaway slaves.

The old house that formerly functioned as the Suburban Decor shop was probably a hiding place for slaves, as is an old house on Grand River next to Federal Department Store. Eleven Mile and Power is the site of another old home that legend claims as an underground railroad station, and the present intersection at Ann Arbor and Wayne Roads in Livonia is said to have contained yet another hiding place.

Freedom Road in Farmington is now traveled by cars and trucks and camping vehicles. Remember, though, that there was a time when wagon wheels and footsteps passed quietly over it by moonlight in a desperate search for all that its name implies.

High School, a trip she made by streetcar. Although most of her friends went to school in Plymouth, she chose Wayne because the daily fare there cost less.

After her graduation in a class of 21 graduates in 1916, she began a career as a teacher in a one room schoolhouse for $40 a month. Her duties included the teaching of about 50 students as well as sweeping out the building and seeing that the wood burning stove was properly lit. She had a paddle for disciplinary purposes, but never had to use it.

When Mrs. Ryder was married in 1920, she moved to the house she still lives in today on Ann Arbor Trail near Newburgh. Then the road was paved in dirt and farms lay all around.

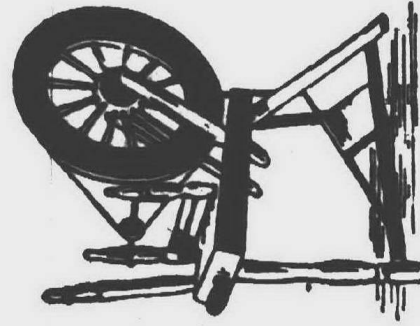

Newburgh had been a small trading settlement, dubbed "new burgh" by early settlers who arrived mostly from New England and New York.

TODAY THE AREA of Ann Arbor Trail and Newburgh is still dotted with signs from quieter and earlier times. The old Newburgh Methodist Church, built originally in 1834, supplies motorists with a bit of the nostalgic past as does the old four room brick Newburgh School.

One of the last standing streetcar depots in Michigan is to be found at 37413 Ann Arbor Trail, a reminder to automobile drivers of the days when many people got around the area by trolley car.

Mrs. Ryder's home, too, tells many a story about the past. It is filled with a cozy clutter of antiques, such as Tiffany lamps, hand carved furniture and old style picture frames, many of which have been in her family for as long as two generations. Seated in an alcove off the living room is a colorful collection of some 300 old fashioned dolls of many types. The oldest doll dates back to 1866 and belonged to Mrs. Ryder's mother. Her collection also includes dried apple dolls, a Mary Todd Lincoln doll and one transplanted all the way from Germany.

Mrs. Ryder grew up on the Smith farm; now a nursery run by her brother Clyde Smith and his sons on Newburgh Road south of Joy. Her husband, Donald Ryder, was descended from one of the first families to settle in the Livonia area. She herself is a member of the Livonia Historical Commission.

Does she regret the passing of the old days before technology and a burgeoning population transformed the countenance of her old town?

"I doubt that people were happier then," Mrs. Ryder stated comfortably amidst her antiques and memorabilia. "They had their problems. Actually, every age has its good times. I like things the way they are."

COUNTRY STORE

*I never pass a little country store,
Remote from rush and hurry of the town,
Its roof and walls dust-stained and weather-brown,
Without an impulse to walk in the door.
I want to hear again, with lifting latch,
The soft, far music of tinkling-bell.
That brought from somewhere as its warning fell,
A quaint storekeeper, with a tangled thatch
Of long white hair. How tall he seemed to stand!
While I, all tremble, looked at peppermints,
At dolls and cakes, at mirrors catching glints
Of sunlight stealing through this fairyland;
Debating, wondering, half-alert, half-shy,
What three bright pennies in my hand might buy.*
