

Township To Weigh Police Protection

By EDWARD WENDOVER

Law enforcement and the various ways it can be provided are being studied by the Plymouth Township Board.

The board voted unanimously to study the problem as a result of the narrow vote on an advisory question which asked residents if they were satisfied with their current police protection. That question passed, 1,094 yes to 963 no.

In addition, the board said it would not go to the voters seeking millage to finance the existing police service provided to the township by the Wayne County Sheriff's Department Road Patrol.

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners had requested all townships in the county which rely on the sheriff for law enforcement, to "commit in writing their willingness to place on the ballot at the next general government election, the question of millage to finance the road patrol services."

The county board has been faced with budget problems and because of that is seeking the townships to pay for the police protection which the sheriff provides them. Cities get no such service.

Townships have maintained that since state law places the responsibility of law enforcement in unincorporated areas on county government, the townships should not be forced to pay for the service.

On several occasions, the county has threatened an end to the road patrol's funding. This year the service was to expire in August, but the county commissioners voted to extend it through Nov. 30, the end of the fiscal year.

It was then they voted that extension, that the board decided to ask the townships to seek additional millage for the service.

In making the motion against seeking additional millage for the road patrol, Plymouth Township Trustee Gerald Burke also proposed that the township form a committee to study alternatives to the present road patrol services.

The alternatives to that service, which have been discussed separately before, are forming a township police department, contracting with another municipality (such as Plymouth) which already has a police force, or contacting with the county sheriff.

The sheriff, under contract, provides additional patrols with some local governments.

Burke's motion was passed unanimously by the board after lengthy discussion.

Township Supervisor J.D. McLaren said the issue was first brought to the board in a letter from the county commission on August 10. He said action on the letter was postponed until after the Sept. 4 advisory question on police protection.

"This came with the understanding the county commissioners are insistent that they get additional funds to provide law enforcement in spite of the fact that the townships feel they (the county) have a legal and moral responsibility to provide this," McLaren said.

Township Trustee Gene Overholt said, "If I'm going to the people of Plymouth Township for millage for police protection, it sure as hell isn't going to the Wayne County Sheriff Department."

Trustee Frank Millington took issue with that and said he felt the sheriff provides "good service" to the township.

"They give us lousy service," Overholt shot back. He then said he favored exploring alternatives to the existing road patrol service because the request for millage was "not to improve service but maintain it."

Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes said, "At this time I think I agree with Gene (Overholt). We have to explore other means."

Trustee Russel Ash said the police protection was an "obligation imposed by state government for county governments to provide for townships."

Clerk Helen Richardson said, "I look at this differently. I'm talking about millage on the ballot for police protection because of the close vote."

She said the township should go to the ballot with a police millage question but not stipulate how that protection would be provided - whether it be the county or otherwise.

"The election shows we must take some sort of action," she said.

Burke replied that the township board shouldn't "put the cart before the horse. Shouldn't we know what this (protection) will cost and where it's going to come from 'before going to the voters'?"

Millington said the county's reluctance to continue funding the patrol was "discrimination against townships."

Mrs. Holmes said, "We pay the county lots of money, and if enough of it doesn't go to the road patrol, that's their (the county's) problem."

Ash said he agreed. "If Wayne County is getting themselves in a position where their money is not sufficient to meet their budget, they should go to all areas and ask for more money to finance their entire budget and not single out specific items."

Millington said this request from the county for townships to obtain funding for a service which it provides, "is only the beginning."

Overholt said, "We could go to court and win this, but that doesn't say what the degree of responsibility (for providing law enforcement) should be."

The township supervisors' association has contemplated organizing legal action to force the county to provide police protection.

Plymouth and Canton townships are also served by the State Police who have their only sub-post in the state on Mill Street in Plymouth. But that service is only supplemental to regular police protection in the area.

"If we didn't have the State Police, we'd be in bad shape," Overholt said.

In discussing Burke's motion to study police protection in the township, Millington said it would be a waste of time and money. Nothing ever comes out of these studies."

Overholt added that he thought "it behooves us to present information on police protection situation during a consolidation campaign if an election is ordered."

The Michigan State Boundary Commission is expected to rule favorably on a petition seeking consolidation of Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

THE BIGGEST DOG category of the Fall Festival pet show always produces some good picture opportunities - particularly when the biggest dog drags along a little kid. Observer Photographer Doug Johnson captured these shots of the winner in the biggest dog category, Maggi, a great Dane entered by four-year-old Brad Van Hull. You might say the boy, and his dog see eye-to-eye.

Free On Bond, Lee Seized In 2nd Assault

By MAURIE WALKER

Terry W. Lee, 18, of Plymouth, one of three persons charged with second degree murder in the Aug. 18 death of Karl Godina, 18, of Livonia, was arrested Tuesday and charged with "assault with intent to commit murder" as the result of a fight outside a bar last Friday.

Lee is being held by the Washtenaw County Sheriff pending a pretrial examination on the second charge.

Free on bond in the first charge and awaiting results of a plea to dismiss the case, Lee was arrested Tuesday by Washtenaw County Sheriff deputies after Robert E. Wallace of South Lyon told police Lee had stabbed him.

Sheriff Detective Fred Patterson said Lee is being held on $50,000 bond for allegedly knifing Wallace, 18, Sept. 7 during a scuffle outside Hefner's Hideaway, 9775 N. Terretorial Rd.

Patterson said deputies were called to the bar where "a fight was taking place." When they arrived, they found Wallace who had been stabbed several times. He later identified Lee as the assailant.

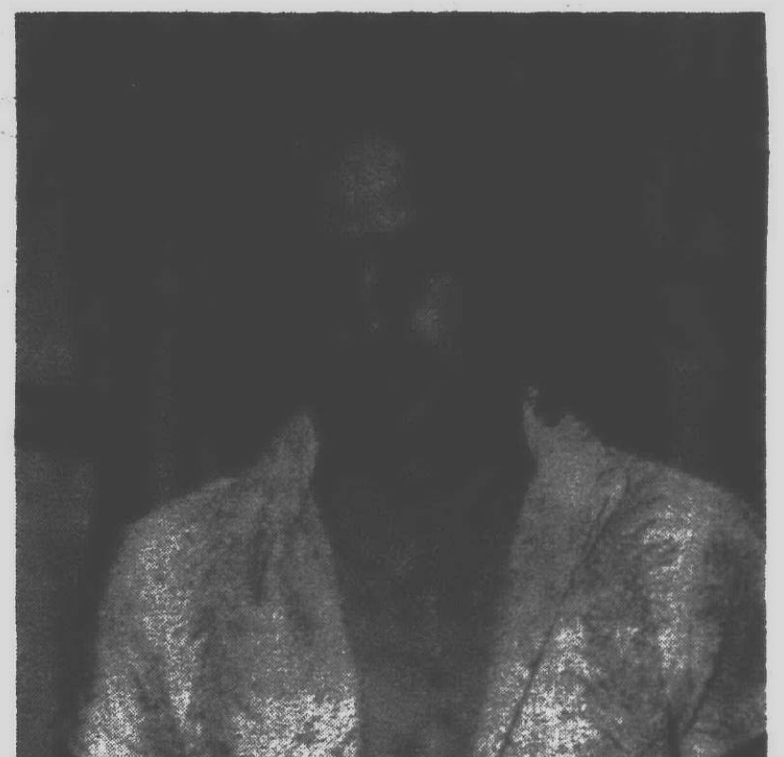

Deputies arrested Lee at the Palace Restaurant, 1507 W. Ann Arbor Rd. in Plymouth Township where he is employed.

It was the same restaurant where Godina was killed on Aug. 18.

Lee, along with Henry E. Peer, 25, of Plymouth, and Phyllis Williams, 26, of Livonia, will appear Monday before 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis in Plymouth. Davis is expected to rule on a defense motion of dismissal.

The motion resulted from conflicting evidence by prosecution witnesses at the pretrial examination.

The prosecution charged the trio had beaten Godina with their fists, hit him with a catsup bottle and kicked him to death.

Dr. George Russanow, an assistant county medical examiner told the court that Godina died of "manual strangulation" and not from beating, as charged.

Other persons testified Godina was actually the aggressor in the fight.

All Winners In Contests At Annual Fall Festival

A segment of the Plymouth Fall Festival is the contests. There are four major contests: the pet show, sponsored by the Optimists and the Plymouth Schools Continuing Education Department; the window decorating contest, sponsored by the AAUW; the produce competition, sponsored by the Rotary Club; and the costume competition.

The following is the list of winners of those contests at last weekend's festival. Winners are listed in order of placing (first place first, second place second, etc.)

Seminar Delayed

After a last minute postponement of the opening session, the second program of the first annual Publicity-Press Relations seminar conducted by the Observer

Newspapers will be held next Wednesday as scheduled. Last Wednesday's meeting was postponed in late afternoon due to production problems associated with continuing labor negotiations at the Observer plant.

The Observer plans to reschedule the session in October and also announced plans for a third meeting to take care of those who registered too late.

Wednesday's program will follow the format announced earlier with three meetings conducted simultaneously and groups moving on after 30 minute discussions.

All accepted for Sept. 19 registrations will be welcomed. Those who were not accepted because of registrations after the 150 quota had been reached have been notified. They will be welcomed to the third session which will be announced later.

Edward Johansson His Love Spanned Oceans

By CORINNE ABATT

Former Swedish Consul Edward Johansson of Plymouth was a man born with a love of people. It was a moving force in his life and it spanned oceans and countries.

It seems only right that the man who died suddenly in Plymouth on Aug. 13 leaving a strong imprint on American and Swedish life should have had memorial services here and be buried in his native home of Eskilstuna, near Stockholm.

In his 68 years of life he never lost the desire "to get out and meet people."

That's how his widow, Inga, phrases it. She tells how he came to the United States for the first time with his father, industrialist C.E. Johansson when he was 14 years old. As a young man, he spent another year in Dearborn with his father in 1929-1930.

The Johanssons were married in 1931 having met when both were students at Goteborg University in Sweden. She was studying art. He was working toward a degree in engineering. He eventually earned a master's degree in chemical, electrical and mechanical engineering.

Mrs. Johansson says that during that period, "He wanted to come here all the time, he had so much fun here."

In 1950 Johansson became president of the two companies in Dearborn which his father had founded, Swedish Gage Co. and C.E.J. Gage Co.

The elder Johansson, well known both here and in Sweden, is credited with doing the same thing for his native land that Henry Ford did for American industry. He made mass production possible through the measurement and standardization of parts. The elder man, who for a time worked with Henry Ford, held several patents. His son followed suit and held patents for three fine measuring devices.

When the son took over the family business, he moved his wife and children to a home in the Palmer Park area of Detroit. Later they moved to Birmingham and finally he and his wife settled in Plymouth.

It was during the years in Birmingham that Johansson was appointed and consented to serve as Royal Swedish Consul for Michigan.

Mrs. Johansson recalls the years of consular service as very active and demanding ones. "It was seven years on the go all the time, but he just loved people and he loved to entertain."

"And he was a perfect host," his daughter, Mrs. James (Marianne) Garber of Plymouth says with pride.

Three years ago Johansson had a stroke and shortly after was equipped with a heart pacemaker. The family felt that by living in Plymouth in the home on Turkey Run, he would be nearer to University Hospital in Ann Arbor where he went for care and check-ups.

His love of people remained undimmed. His wife recalls the pleasure he had in being part of a Plymouth Fourth of July parade and Additions to the agenda were called and approved as distributed. It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Penar to approve the minutes of the regular meeting of August 13, 1973, as distributed.

It was moved by Member Mirto and seconded by Member Penar to approve the minutes of the regular meeting of August 13, 1973, as distributed. Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried. It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Benson to approve the minutes of the special meeting of August 20, 1973, with the following correction:

Page 1, Others present: Change Counselor Libbing to Coordinator Miller. Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried. It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Benson to amend the minutes of the regular meeting of July 24, 1973, page 4, paragraph 4, line 2 to read: "the period of five years from 1973 to 1977, rather than 1977." In addition, the minutes of August 13 and 20, 1973, should be amended to state that actions taken by this Board were made by a "six member Board - one Board member seat vacant."

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried. Suggestions from citizens were requested. John Broome inquired as to what amount of mileage will be levied out of what is available and requested that the Board restate its commitment to reimburse items. Mrs. Judy Prince represented a group of parents on Highland Road regarding a specific transportation hazard near Miller School. Mrs. Marcelle Beronoff expressed the hope that any new mileage levied would benefit all children and not just special interest groups. Member Benson replied that the Board has just started to put items back into the budget and would consider all items.

Dr. Wendell Hight expressed the members of the Maximum Utilization of Facilities Committee. Dr. Hogan expressed his apologies to the group and to citizens present that materials prepared by the group were not reproduced as yet for public distribution. The report was deferred until a later meeting of the Board.

It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Turner to table the appointment of representatives to the Plymouth Area Economic Expansion Commission until the second meeting in September. Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried. MASA-MARS Joint Cooperation materials were distributed for information. A representative for the Task Force 36 was discussed, being a working group considering collective bargaining and negotiations through the Wayne County School Board Association. Member Mirto expressed opposition to rejecting this group due to amount of influence which might come from outside groups. Members Benson, Gray, Lawton and Turner expressed the hope that the group would be able to increase expertise in negotiations.

It was moved by Member Lawton and seconded by Member Benson that Member Penar be made a representative to Task Force 36. Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and Turner. Nays: None.

The motion was carried. It was moved by Member Penar and seconded by Member Benson to table until the meeting of September 10 the consideration of Board reaction to the possibility of a bowling alley and a Class C liquor license on property adjacent to the Barchett School property on Canton and Highland Roads, reaction requested by the Canton Township Board.

Ayes: Members Benson, Gray, Lawton, McClelland, Mirto, Penar and

Canton Board Hikes Tax Rate By One Mill

By SANDRA ARMSTRUSTER

CANTON
Property taxes for operating Canton Township will be increased by nearly one mill during the 1973-74 tax year to a total of five mills.

This will mean an increase of $1 in tax per $1,000 of assessed valuation, or about a $20 increase annually on a $40,000 home.

"Our limit is five mills, and that's what we should have," said Supervisor Philip Dingeldey. "We've got to have something for the police department."

The board of trustees explained to the audience that police protection from the Wayne County Sheriff would cost about $200,000 for one patrol car.

Township Clerk John Flodin told the board, "We need a fire station in the north. We have elections coming up which should be held in public buildings and we're running out of places."

Revenue from the millage would amount to about $500,000 if all taxes were collected; however, Dingeldey said tax collections usually run about 88 per cent.

Tax base in the township will remain constant for homeowners because the township has a factor of 1.0. Flodin said this means property values are not equalized "because we are properly assessed."

Tax bases are reviewed by state and Wayne County Bureaus of Taxation, and if property is found to be undervalued, an equalization factor is added to a base of one.

Flodin added that the township was completely reassessed two years ago.

His Love Spanned Oceans

how excited he was about the Kiwanis pancake fest. He stood out in front while the pancakes were being served, talking with everyone, coaxing them to try the pancakes. He also helped with the serving.

She recalls how he loved to go to the grocery store and the bank in Plymouth so he could see his friends and kid and joke with the young women who worked there.

Because of his health there were not as many parties as before, but certainly no fewer people.

The couple felt at home here and Mrs. Johansson will make her home here after going to Sweden for final services for her husband and a visit with her sister and family. The couple made yearly trips to Sweden. The last time was during Christmas 1972.

"He had to celebrate Christmas in Sweden again before he died."

There are other memories — more distant. Edward Johansson's story of driving one of the first Cadillacs imported to Sweden when he was about 15 years old.

Mrs. Garber thinks her father was in on one of the first trans-Atlantic phone calls from the United States to Sweden. A Michigan Bell executive who remembers the call told her about it.

Mrs. Johansson says it was March 15, 1939, her father-in-law's 75th birthday, "a big, big, occasion." The call of congratulations came from American business associates. Since the elder Johansson was hard of hearing his son talked and relayed the messages.

The man who learned early in life to love America, found love late in life for a town called Plymouth.

Mrs. Garber remembers her father as, "always happy, always kidding."

His children, now grown, all born in Sweden and firmly established here, like their father, have a spiritual allegiance to both countries. They are Carl E. Johansson of Southfield, Mrs. Berit Northrup of Farmington Heights and Mrs. Garber. Another son, an electronic engineer and flyer, died in a plane crash in Grand Canyon.

Gospel Concerts, Carillon Dedication, Installation Set

MAIN STREET BAPTIST CHURCH, 9451 South Main, Plymouth, will host the Evangelical Quartet of Akron in special services at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 21, and Saturday, Sept. 22. The quartet has visited in this area on several previous occasions. There will be interpreters for the deaf during both services.

ST. PAUL UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia, will begin adult Bible classes at 9:30 a.m. Sundays and at 10 a.m. Tuesdays, beginning the week of Sept. 16 and running through Dec. 16. The Rev.

William McGaughey will teach the identical classes.

PRINCE OF PEACE LUTHERAN CHURCH, 28000 New Market, Farmington Hills, will install Brenda Kasten as deaconess during its 10:45 a.m. service Sunday, Sept. 16. A reception in her honor will follow the service. Miss Kasten is a native of St. Louis, Mo., and a graduate of Valparaiso Lutheran University, where she majored in theology. Her primary responsibilities at Prince of Peace will be in Christian education and youth ministry.

GRAND RIVER BAPTIST CHURCH, Six Mile west of Farmington Road, Livonia, will dedicate a new carillon during its 10:45 a.m. service Sunday, Sept. 16. The taped bell system, installed last week by the Schulmerich Co., was donated by members and friends in memory of the Rev. Thomas Sleete, pastor of the church for 22 years until 1968. His family will be present for the dedication service.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH, 43065 Joy, Plymouth, will present trumpeter Chuck Ohman in a sacred concert Saturday, Sept. 15, at 8 p.m. Ohman, an outstanding trumpet artist, also sings baritone solos in the concert he gives. He also has made many television appearances.

ST. ANDREW EPISCOPAL CHURCH, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia, begins Christian education classes for deaf children Saturday, Sept. 22, at 10 a.m. Classes for nursery, primary, intermediate and teen students will be taught and directed by Mrs. Kenneth G. Davis, former public school teacher of the deaf and hard of hearing. Working with her will be Mrs. James Besancon, Mrs. Willis Reid and Linda Clark. Parents interested may call the church for details.

LAKE POINTE COMMUNITY CHAPEL, 42150 Schoolcraft, Plymouth, will resume its Pioneer Girls youth program Monday, Sept. 17. Groups are being set up for girls from the third through 12th grades. Call Mrs. Carl Young, 2149 Treadwell, Westland.

THE SALVATION ARMY will conduct an "old fashioned" Salvation Army street meeting in Kellogg Park in Plymouth at 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 15. A brass band will be on hand along with members of the Salvation Army Corps from Plymouth, Howell, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Adrian, Jackson, Hillsdale and Monroe.

MEMORIAL CHURCH OF CHRIST, 35475 Five Mile, will sponsor a Faith Promise Rally and Mission Fair Sept. 13 to 16, with each Sunday School class and youth group sponsoring a booth representing different missions. Four guest speakers will include Inwon Kwon of Korea at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 13.

THE ARCHDIOCESE OF DETROIT will sponsor a special workshop for all teachers of religious education Saturday, Sept. 15, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Mercy High School, 11 Mile and Middle Belt, Farmington. It will include courses in art, music, drama and classroom communications as well as classes on scripture, liturgy and sacramental programs.

ST. MATTHEW LUTHERAN CHURCH, 5885 Venoy, Westland, will install Carolyn Bauer as teacher of the first and second grades at St.

Matthew Lutheran School during the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday, Sept. 16. Miss Bauer is a music education graduate of Concordia Lutheran College in Seward, Neb., and has worked as a camp counselor and vacation Bible school teacher and with underprivileged children.

Adult Classes Are Announced

Congregation Beth Abraham-Hillel will open its adult education series on Oct. 23 when the first semester begins. The series will continue on Tuesday evenings through Dec. 11.

Harry Jubas, synagogue director of education, will teach Hebrew for beginners and conversational Hebrew. He is department head for Hebrew at Oak Park high school.

Rabbi Israel I. Halpern, spiritual leader of the congregation, will lead the classes in Bible for Moderns. The seminar on current Jewish issues will be directed by Bernard Kaufman, attorney.

Those who register will have an opportunity to enroll for two sessions each week. Registrations should be made through the synagogue office.

DAN DeKONTY has been elected pastor of the Livonia Assembly of God. A graduate of Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., he previously served the Olivet Assembly of God Church and he and his wife have traveled as evangelists for the Assemblies of God. The Livonia church operates the Loveland Nursery day care center.

Church Rededicates After Fire Tragedy

By MARGARET MILLER

A Redford Township church that has rebuilt from the ruins of a devastating fire will rededicate its building and congregation Sunday, Sept. 16.

The service is planned at 10 a.m. in Christ Lutheran Church, 14350 Wormer, and for most of the members attending there will be grim memories along with new hope.

On a cold Saturday last November, the church suffered the blow that cost the life of one of its members and made its sanctuary and fellowship hall useless for months.

"There was a leak in the roof," recalled the Rev. Jerry Stroud, who had come to Christ Lutheran as pastor just a year earlier, "and several of us were trying to fix it."

"We had a bucket of melted tar, but it was cold and the tar kept getting hard. So we put it on the stove to soften it. Then Bill Molnar Sr. went to get the bucket off the stove - we don't exactly know what happened, but the tar spilled on him and the fire started."

Before the flames were extinguished, the sanctuary and fellowship hall adjoining were reduced to little more than charred walls.

Molnar died of his burns after several days of hospitalization.

But the congregation, at a cost of $68,000, now is in the final stages of rebuilding, and the service Sunday will celebrate that fact.

"This tragedy has pulled the congregation together and has had a strengthening effect on the people," said Pastor Stroud.

"Now, as the rebuilding program is completed, Christ Lutheran wants to renew its dedication to almighty God."

The Rev. Clarence Beireis, who was founding pastor when the church was organized in November of 1960, will come from his present home in Creston, Ohio, to preach the rededication sermon. His topic will be "Faith's Children."

There will be two anthems by the senior choir and two solos by Eugene Dyer, vocal music director at Redford Union High School.

"And during the service," Rev. Stroud said, "we're going to distribute paper and pencils to our children and ask them to write a message of their faith. These messages will be put in helium-filled balloons which we'll release at the end of the service."

In rebuilding, the congregation placed the planning and decision-making in the hands of a four-man committee composed of Erwin Poelka, Jack Cassidy, Keith Goodnough and Pastor Stroud.

"The committee put in hundreds of hours - we had no idea of the time involved when we started," the pastor said.

Some changes were made. Instead of the portable kitchen equipment that had divided the cooking area and the fellowship hall, new appliances were built into one end of a new, large room.

Einar Salmonson and Eli Becht, two congregation members who work with wood, built a couple of new large crosses and new altar rails.

The church's youth group put in a lot of hours repairing some of the fire damaged chairs, tables and lamps.

"That saved us quite a sum of money," Pastor Stroud said, "and there was enough left in the insurance settlement to send the kids to a Lutheran youth convention."

Taking charge of the rededication is a committee including Elaine Lempke, Margaret Petsch, Margaret Fert, Helen Kobberstead, Sandy Branstrom and Velma Sarkady.

After the service, the young people will be enrolled for Sunday school, and then everyone will be served a complimentary buffet luncheon in the new kitchen and fellowship area.

"But the important thing," Pastor Stroud said, "is that this isn't just a rededication of the building. It has to be rededication of ourselves, too, because a new building doesn't make a church."

Musselmans Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Musselman of 10 Mile, Farmington Hills, are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, Sept. 15.

Married in St. John Lutheran Church in Flint, they lived in Birmingham for 13 years before moving to the Farmington Hills home they have occupied for 37 years.

Hayes and the O & W Tool and Die Co.

The couple have one son, Gilbert, of Farmington, who celebrated his 25th wedding anniversary with his wife, Bonnie, on Sept. 4.

There is one grandson, Dennis, and all three generations of Musselman men are members of the Farmington Elks, a rare situation.

The Gilbert Musselmans will host a party in honor of the elder couple Saturday, Sept. 15.

Pair Wed In Memphis

Virginia Anne Sears and David Grant Countryman were married in a Sept. 1 ceremony in Memphis, Tenn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sears of Memphis and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Countryman of Hemingway Avenue, Redford Township.

The couple honeymooned in Arkansas and will live in Millington, Tenn. The bridegroom has been serving in the U.S. Navy for a year.

Coffee Begins Sorority Year

A coffee will open the year's activities for Gamma Phi Beta Sorority on Wednesday, Sept. 19 at 10 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Donald K. Tyler, Jr., 29741 Rambling Road, Southfield.

Christmas card albums, a project which helps fund camps for underprivileged children, will also be distributed.

Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. F. Thomas Schnorrenberg, 14435 Ramblewood Drive, Livonia.

know NO fault

Michigan has passed a brand new no-fault auto insurance law which is effective October 1, 1973. Here's how it affects you:

If you own a car, truck, bus, or trailer, you must have this insurance. If you don't, you could be fined $500, jailed for one year and lose your driver's license and license plates. Two-wheeled motorcycles are not included.

To get your Michigan license plates you must prove you have this insurance. If you don't have a policy, you must buy one.

the people company

It's the age of computer companies and manufacturing companies - of punch-card correspondence and mass production. And maybe that's not all bad, at least in some businesses.

When it comes to our own profession, though, we're against this modern trend. We still think of ourselves as a "people company" - a place where helping is still a personal gesture of human caring.

Saturday's 9th Race

25th 'Mile' Dash Draws 14 Hopefuls

With a field of 14 starters, including several outstanding stars from the east and mid-west, Saturday's 25th renewal of the $100,000 Michigan Mile and an eighth at the Detroit Race Course could be one of the most interesting in history.

Track management is looking forward to a crowd of more than 22,000 for the silver anniversary celebration. If that many turn out, it would be the largest throng of the racing season at a Michigan track.

Drawing for post positions took place Thursday morning when Racing Secretary Norris Gwinn opened the entry box and found 14 names, including the Jack Van Berg - Pat Luckino entry.

The selection of spots was a highlight of the annual Michigan Mile brunch attended by more than 40 press, radio and television personalities as well as members of the Detroit Racing Association board of directors.

The rail position went to Roman Scout, a six-year-old owned by Wayne County Road Commissioner Michael Berry.

Then came: 2 - New Alibhai; 3 - Mo Bay; 4 - Master Ribot; 5 - Beau Julian; 6 - Tri Jet; 7 - Kilfoil; 8 - Golden Don; 9 - Governor Max; 10 - Lone Bird; 11 - Aljamine; 12 - El Fakir; 13 - Blue Chip Don; and 14 - Canadian Jeff, part of the Van Berg - Luckino entry.

Tri-Jet, a four-year-old owned by Fred Hooper, is considered the early choice off its recent victory in the $124,720 Hawthorne Gold Cup in Chicago. The son of Jester has won $184,598 already this year with five wins, a second and two thirds in 11 starts. It picked up $65,821 as a three, when in the money seven times in 11 outings.

But right behind Tri Jet is Master Ribot, also a four-year-old, who displayed plenty of class in winning the Great Lakes Handicap earlier in the year at the big mile oval.

Then there's the Michigan bred Kilfoil, owned by Len Polichens of Kent, O., who was bred on the Susan Fisher farm. Kilfoil takes a string of five wins into the Mile... all victories in distances of a mile or more.

It wasn't so many days back that Jack Van Berg, most successful trainer at the meeting, was reported to have said he had the winner of the Mile in his barn.

Thus when Jack, who is a partner with Pat Luckino in the ownership of the entry of El Fakir and Canadian Jeff, entered the two horses, he kind of confused those who awaited the draw to see which of his string was entered.

El Fakir, Argentina bred, won a test last week by nine lengths in his first start at the DRC. The big five-year-old came from far back in the field to make a big move and darted under the wire an easy victor.

Canadian Jeff, the other part of the entry, loves to get out in front and set the early pace. So it could be that Van Berg will use the one to wear down the sprinters and then come on with El Fakir in the long stretch for a victory.

Governor Max, a four-year-old who showed enough to be considered a Kentucky Derby hopeful a year ago, was a disappointing fourth last week in a prep for the mile. But since then he has been working well.

Governor Max is owned by a five-man syndicate from Serendipity Farm. The horse is named after Max Pincus, one of the partners who include Joe Nederlander of Detroit.

The Mile is listed as the ninth event of the 10-race program.

Colorful pre-race card entertainment includes an acrial soaring performance by the European and world champion kite flyer Rudy Kishazy; a precision drill and maneuvers by the 19 member Detroit Mounted Police and a riding exhibition by Michigan's "Pinto Queen," 17-year-old Sue May.

Detroit's budding actress and entertainer Laura Lee will take part in the festivities, including the Mile's winner circle ceremonies.

The day's racing starts at 1 p.m.

Area Girls Shine In Nationals

Nancy Gavoor, of Livonia, and Diane Panosian, of Farmington, captured honors in the Armenian Youth Federation National Olympics held in Toronto.

Miss Gavoor, a senior at Stevenson High who placed second in the state last year in the 220 yard dash, dashed to three national titles.

She won the 220 yard dash in :26.4; 440 in :58.0 and 880 in 2:39.4.

Miss Panosian, a senior at North Farmington High, won the girls' 25 and 50 yard freestyle events and placed second in the breaststroke.

Wolverines Go To Night Work

Heat has been a major factor in University of Michigan football practices this fall as the high temperatures finally forced Coach Bo Schembechler to hold a night workout, the first time he has ever done so since coming to Michigan.

Aces 12th Hole At Idyl Wyld

After only 10 years of golfing, Charles Klaska, 41, of 28979 Bock in Garden City chalked up his first hole-in-one on the No. 12 123 yard hole with his none iron at Idyl Wyld Golf Course.

It came in the Northville Ford Plant tourney with Klaska carding a 47 on both the front and back nines.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

From the DRC comes word that management will drop the ninth race every time the horsemen fail to fill races. If the races fill all scheduled events, then the track will present nine races daily. But if there are one or more races with six - horse fields, then those with short fields will be scratched.

"The horsemen were paid some $400,000 more than they deserved under the terms of their 1972 contract," stated Vice President and General Manager Dick Wilson. "We are trying to get some of that money back this year and told the horsemen of that plan as early as last spring."

"Now we're trying to regain some of our losses from last year and the first ones to cry 'foul' are the horsemen. Seems they are willing to take advantage of situations such as existed last year but want nothing to do with our plans this year."

Such has been the story of horsemen through the years. Apparently they forget they actually are putting on the show and track management is giving them the stage.

It's much like the man handling the cameras at a movie. All he does is make sure patrons can see the film, he has nothing to do with what happens at the gate. If the film is good, the turnstile count soars, if the film is a dud, then customers stay away in droves.

That's the situation at the races. The horsemen provide the show. If they put on a good show, then they share in the 'take.' However, if the programs don't draw, the handle goes down, and the crowds sag and the responsibility lies with the horsemen.

They shouldn't scream loud and long about poor crowds, a dip in purses and such things until such time that they do things to put on a better show. Such as, better horses make for better races and in turn for larger crowds and bigger handles. That's the ideal situation... it's about time the horsemen realized the fact and did something to improve their own product.

LIVONIA BOY, the 14-year-old pacer owned by Jack Richards of Livonia, is in the midst of a big year even though it is the oldtimer's last for competition. Rules of the United States Trotting Association ban a horse from racing after its 14th year.

One of the state's top stars in the early years of its career, Livonia Boy is bowing out with a loud bang. The aged pacer won his share of races during the Northville Downs' winter meeting and then continued at the Downs summer session.

Now it is back in winning form at Jackson's half-mile oval. Livonia Boy recently won two in a row there and probably will wind up its career when Jackson moves to Northville Downs in mid-November for the final standardbred meeting of the year in Michigan.

SIR DALRAE, the West Coast speedster who showed fans at Wolverline Raceway why he's considered the nation's best, recently won his 12th consecutive race, 10th straight in two minutes or faster and hiked his 1973 earnings to $253,150 with a 1:57 victory in Brandywine's $25,000 General "Mad" Anthony Wayne pace.

The victory, his 14th race mile in 2:00 or faster this year, came on the heels of a 1:57.3 track record triumph in Greenwood's $58,300 Canadian Pacing Derby.

Sir Dalrae simply sped away from his competition in a $12,000 overnight at Wolverline, pacing the last half in a spectacular :56.2, fastest half-mile of the year in Michigan and the best entry at the big mile track.

ED DRAUGELIS, the prominent Plymouth lawyer who also owns a few standardbreds, entered into another phase of the business two weeks back. Ed is a partner in a 30-acre farm in Salem Township geared to handle ailing pacers and trotters.

It consists of an elaborate, knotty-pine stable, and numerous paddocks for horses to rest when needing a break from racing or a place to recuperate from injuries.

In addition there is a training track. Ed greeted more than 100 friends and well-wishers when he had an open house inspection recently. Practically all were owners of pacers and trotters and all appeared enthused at such a setup so close to metropolitan Detroit and the three area tracks at Northville Downs, Wolverline Raceway and Hazel Park. It's worth your time to drop by the farm on Brookville Road just outside of Plymouth near N. Territorial Road.

Although the fall and winter league season is only two weeks old competition already has reached a high peak.

This is evident in the various suburban classics that have drawn a number of the top bowlers in the metropolitan area.

A fine example was furnished during the week when only 12 pins separated the top three scorers in the Wonderland Classic and each of the trio broke the 700 barrier.

Jim Large set the pace for the trio with a 717 to gain a one pin edge over Dick Preston, one of the area's real veterans who seems to be off on another good season. The third member was Jerry Bingham who fired a 705.

The Classic also posted its second 3200 series in as many weeks when George Bashara's Wonderland team came through with a 3222.

THE 700 BARRIER also was broken in the Bel-Aire Classic when Chet Suncere put together games of 237, 239 and 224 for an even 700.

Trailing him were Nick Colucci with 690, Dick Witty with 676, Jack Brown with 644, Alex Morton with 640 and Fred Bickle with 629.

THE OTHER TWO major Classics—Westland and Garden Lanes—didn't produce a 700 series but the battles weren't settled until the final pin fell.

Dick Beattie paced the Westland group with a 683 that included a 267 final game. He held a seven pin edge on Ed Wylie who was most consistent with games of 231, 222 and 223 for 676. Rick Capaldi was in third place with 667.

Harry Fill posted the high game of the night with a 269 in a 642 series. At Garden Lanes it was Norm Bochemek who set the pace with a 667.

In his wake came Larry Brandt with 641 and John Grinrod with a 632.

PENNY McLEAN, the young lady who topped the "mean" averages in the metropolitan all-star leagues last

The Bentley Bulldogs have their running shoes ready for the 1973 cross country campaign. Coach Ron Fedraw knows this is a year where Bentley could put it together on the three-mile courses.

If the first two meetings are any indication, Fedraw should be in for one heck of a season along with visions of an outstanding track team in the spring.

Thurston Dashes By Canton, 19-42

Thurston captured five of the first six places to dump Plymouth Canton in a non-league cross country meet, 19-42.

It was Thurston's second victory in as many outings and Canton's first setback in varsity competition.

Lou Torcolacci, of Thurston, scored individual honors with a 16:52 clocking for the three miles with Canton's Brian Bennett second at 17:01.

Thurston then wrapped up the meet with the next four places. Paul Benedict ran third at 17:25, Bob Wilson fourth at 17:27, Eric Forbes fifth at 17:36 and Jerry Meredith sixth at 17:45.

Canton's Mike Guzman ran seventh at 17:56 with Dan Graustein (18:15) and Lou Macerattini (18:42) placing eighth and ninth for Thurston.

Tom Kelly, Paul Johnston and Mike Potter rounded out Canton's scoring with 10th, 11th and 14th places respectively.

"I have had this group of kids now the third year," commented Fedraw. "I have never seen a crew work as hard."

Bentley opened the campaign with what had to be labeled an upset over last year's No. 2 team in the state at Livonia Stevenson.

The Bulldogs handed the Spartans a 26-29 setback, the first cross country loss for Stevenson in three years.

Stevenson did boast individual honors in Steve White who captured first with a 16:15 clocking followed by Bentley's Jay Kirksey in second at 16:28 and Tom Hoseny in third at 16:29.

Rick Galindo of Stevenson placed fourth at 16:38, Alex Charns scored a Bulldog fifth at 16:51 and K. C. Stanger a Stevenson sixth with a 17:11 time.

Placing seventh was Bentley's Steve Spreitzer (17:16) with Stevenson's Ken Brown eighth at 17:19, Bentley's Tim Sobolak ninth at 17:20 and Stevenson's Bob Opsommer No. 10 with a 17:21 clocking.

Bentley sprinted past Belleville in its Suburban Eight League opener, 19-44.

The Bulldogs took seven of the first eight places with Belleville's Randy Block Sobolak at 16:52. Bentley's spilling a shutout with a 16:23 second place.

The other four finishers for Belleville were Ed Conrad in ninth (17:44), Mike Young in 10th (18:08), Doug Hall in 13th (18:27) and Tom Kos in 15th (18:34).

Bentley's Hoseny captured first place honors with a 16:27 time. Then came Belleville's Block followed by six straight Bulldogs.

Placing third was Kirksey at 16:28, fourth was Charns at 16:46 and fifth was Tim Sobolak at 16:52. Bentley's Chuck Kovach ran sixth at 17:00, Steve Spreitzer seventh at 17:04 and Paul Bien eighth at 17:18.

Thurston Runs Past RU, 21-36

Thurston High opens 1973-74 varsity competition with a 21-36 cross country triumph over rival Redford Union.

Paul Benedict and Jerry Meredith paced the Thurston assault with first and second place respectively. Benedict clocked in at 17:26 with Meredith next at 17:35.

RU then took third and fourth. Doug Milne finished third at 17:40 with Ed Boynton next at 17:42. Thurston prevailed with fifth, sixth and seventh place showings.

Lou Torcolacci ran fifth at 17:59, Bob Wilson sixth at 18:00 and Eric Forbes seventh at 18:07.

Completing the RU attack was Jim Olson in eighth at 18:22, Mike Hasty in 10th at 18:43 and Gary Pogoda in 11th at 18:47.

Franklin Runners Blitz RU, 15-42

Franklin High scored a shutout cross country non-league victory over Redford Union, 15-42.

The Patriot three-milers captured first through fifth place and ninth before RU came up with the five necessary finishers and a 42 score.

Finishing first for the Patriots was John Fritz with 17:13. Doug Shaffer was second in 17:21, Glen Cutright third with 17:31, Russ Genter fourth at 17:34 and Jim Cyrl completed the perfect Franklin scoring with a 17:51 clocking.

Sixth overall but first for RU was Doug Milne at 17:55. Next was Mike Hasty at 18:42 for RU followed by Ed Boynton in eighth at 18:15.

Franklin's Mark Waterstradt dashed in for a ninth place finish at 18:37 to interrupt the RU flow. Jim Olson placed 10th for RU at 19:01 with Jim Haggart at 19:04.

ONE OF THE surprise performances of the week was contributed by Jackie Bird in the new mixed classic at Farmington Lanes.

Graduating from the senior division of the junior leagues only two years ago, she showed her older rivals how it is done with a 606 count.

Linda Hamlin took top honors in the Prep Girls League with a 175 game.

Showing the same ability that enabled her to win consistently last year Ellie Wilkins took top place in the Livonia Lanes Ladies Classic with a 213 in 530.

Another who stole the show in his league was Ralph Zdrozny who rolled games of 235, 245 and 226 for 716 at Mayflower Lanes.

ONLY ONE PIN separated the leaders in the Bel-Aire Businessmen's League when Aron Litsky posted a 609 for

'Friends' Dominated By Tough Dialogue

By JAN WILLIAMS

The only thing "The Friends of Eddie Coyle" has to offer is a lesson in modern profanity. Even good acting by Robert Mitchum rates second to the language in this Paul Monash film.

With a plot that's neither perplexing nor suspenseful, the dialogue manages to keep it alive.

Coyle, portrayed by Mitchum, is an ex-convict in the Boston area trying to buy a suspended sentence. The rap is transportation of illegal goods across state lines.

His friends on one side of the law are robbing banks. If he finks on them, his friends on the other side of the law promise to put in a good word for him with the prosecuting attorney.

But Coyle finds out that if you give friends an inch, they'll take a mile, and both sides have a surprise for him at the end of the road.

Various bank robberies and Coyle's involvement with the robbers and cops use up a lot of footage.

Three-fourths of the way through the film, if you haven't fallen asleep, there's a scene where the Chicago Black Hawks take on the Boston Bruins.

Although it's Coyle and a friend taking in the action at Boston Gardens, you might find yourself, hockey fan or not, wishing you could change seats with them.

This particular scene also offers a revealing look at sports fans watching their favorite team. As Coyle's friend remarks: "They don't give a damn what we do. They're watching the Bruins."

That was more than could be said of the theater audience and the film at times. But maybe it's just that most viewers are already well-versed in modern day profanity.

One thing to look forward to is the film's possible future showing on television. If censorship standards aren't drastically lowered in the next five years, it will be interesting to see what's left of the dialogue after editing.

If You Can Sing, Read This---

If you can warble like the canary or even if you just sing in the shower, you might have what the Plymouth Community Chorus is looking for.

William Grimmer, vocal director at Plymouth East Middle School, urges anyone interested in the chorus that can sing to attend an organizational meeting Wednesday, Sept. 19 at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer. Plymouth residency isn't required.

It is preferable that participants have some experience in choral singing, either through previous school experience or church choir. Voice checks will be conducted for placement in the chorus.

"I think Plymouth has a need for this type of chorus. Livonia has had one for years, but Plymouth, where people are cognizant of music, has never had one."

Grimmer stresses that both men and women are needed for singing as well as sound and lighting work.

He expects the first rehearsal to be scheduled for Sept. 26. All rehearsals will be on Wednesdays.

WILLIAM GRIMMER

sal to be scheduled for Sept. 26. All rehearsals will be on Wednesdays.

The chorus is under the auspices of a board of directors elected by the chorus. The board will determine the musical content which is expected to range from classical choral literature to show tunes.

Grimmer, who will direct the rehearsals and concerts, has been vocal director at East Middle School for 17 years.

Youth Symphony Looks For Talent

The Plymouth Youth Symphony is looking for junior high aged musicians for its full scaled symphony orchestra as it opens its fifth season Tuesday, Sept. 18.

The symphony will accept musicians from Plymouth and the surrounding communities of Livonia, Northville, Westland and those west of Plymouth.

An open rehearsal for those interested is set for Tuesday, Sept. 18 from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 1603 in Plymouth Salem High School, 46181 Joy Road. No auditions will be held at this time. Membership fee is $15 for the season.

Orchestra activities will include trips to major orchestra concerts in Detroit and Ann Arbor, social gatherings, fund raising events and four public performances.

The orchestra is directed by Michael Endres, who is also its founder and director of the Plymouth High School Orchestra.

Schoolcraft Searches For Male Singers

Men are in demand for Schoolcraft College's Symphonic Choir, and all area residents, including women, are invited to join.

The choir is open to students and non-students. Rehearsals are held Tuesdays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The first general meeting is set for Tuesday, Sept. 18.

There is no membership fee, but some previous choir experience and regular attendance at rehearsals are required. Last year's choir was composed of 40 women and 20 men.

Choir director Bradley Bloom said the first concert will be given in early December and will feature the works of R. Vaughn Williams.

This will be the choir's sixth season under Bloom, who is conductor of choirs and instructor of music theory at the college.

Traffic Jams May Lessen

PONTIAC In an effort to lessen traffic jams in connection with events at Pine Knob, the Oakland County Road Commission has scheduled extensive road improvements in the area for construction in 1974.

According to William Richards, chairman of the Board of County Road Commissioners, total project cost will be $200,000. He said Indusco Corp. of Troy, owners and operators of Pine Knob, will pay $120,000 of the cost, with the road commission paying the balance.

Richards said improvements will include installation of an extra traffic lane along the east side of Sashabaw Road, from I-75 to Clarkston Road; improvement of the Sashabaw - Clarkson intersection by installation of a left-turn lane in all four approaches; expanding the capacity and improving the traffic flow on the northbound I-75 exit ramp to Sashabaw Road; installing a passing lane along the west side of Sashabaw, from the I-75 bridge to Waldron Road; and improvement of the Sashabaw - Waldron intersection.

CELIA MERRILL TURNER (left) director of Will-O-Way Theater, is cast as the mother in the theater's production of "Barefoot in the Park." Playing the role of her daughter is Eileen Weiss. The play opened Sept. 7 and will continue through Sept. 29. In the theater, 775 W. Long Lake Rd., Bloomfield Hills.

What Is Night Life In Observerland?

"Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

Benjamin Franklin's advice was prudent, all right, and undoubtedly sensible. The trouble is that many people, being night owls and just plain old fun loving, never bother to follow it. As a matter of fact, it's been shown that Franklin himself didn't follow it, either!

The bright world of night life has many temptations. Most of all it's hard to resist the opportunity to unwind after a long day when pleasure and relaxation present themselves to you.

Of course, what's fun and entertaining to you may be nothing of the kind to your next door neighbor. But that's what makes night life the fascinating patchwork of variety that it is: night life is something different for each and every one of us.

The glamor of the night club has long been associated with night life.
In the old days such places had vast stage and seating facilities and their atmosphere, all too often, was just plain barny.

TODAY'S NIGHT SPOT is smaller and more intimate. Entertainment, too, especially on a local level, is lower keyed. It's not unusual for customers to be serenaded by barefoot folk singers while they enjoy their drinks and dinners.

Dining out is another popular after hours form of relaxing, and enjoying a meal not prepared in your own kitchen is a treat that goes back to the old time inns of yore which served hungry travelers in the midst of their long and perilous journeys.

NIGHT CLUB ENTER- TAINMENT...

Because of increased vacation travel and wide interest in gourmet dining, the Observer area abounds with a large variety of ethnic restaurants. Here, you'll find German, Mexican, Greek, Jewish, Italian,
Chinese and Japanese restaurants right in your own stamping grounds.
Good old American fare is going strong too.

While night life is usually associated with the luxury and service of night clubs and fine restaurants, there are those who find their evening relaxation in totally different ways.

Bingo, the game of chance you enjoyed as a child, draws large crowds in area civic leagues and halls. It's become one of the favorite diversions of many local senior citizens.

BOWLING HAS BECOME bigger than ever. Many local bowling alleys offer, beside just the game itself, the convenience of built-in restaurants, bars, dancing and banquet rooms.

WEEKLY BOWLING LEAGUE...

Forming your own league with friends, neighbors or fellow workers can be done directly through the bowling alley. Many local places have employees, whose sole job it is to establish these leagues according to workable rules and schedules that are convenient for everyone.

While the early evening hours are considered prime time for bowling, many leagues don't begin playing until as late as 9:30 p.m.

Bowlers can form mixed leagues, usually consisting of husband and wife teams, and separate leagues for men and women. Children may join special teams, too.

Some leagues may decide to play for prizes; others may choose to become "sanctioned" — thus competing in tournaments. Nearly all, however, celebrate their season's end with a bowling banquet, a dinner and dancing event that is a social highlight for many Observerlanders.

The pleasures of home provide great numbers of suburbanites with night life enjoyment. What with color TVs, stereos, handsomely equipped kitchens and recreation rooms, many people have no desire to wander far from the hearthside at night.

Fashions for at-home entertaining have become standard in the wardrobe of many a local hostess whose night life pleasure lies in whipping up gourmet meals in the intimacy of her own home.

Just what is your night life pleasure? Without having to search very hard, you'll probably discover that it's ready and waiting for you right in your own home town.

WHAT IS NIGHT LIFE? Dining Out...

By CAROL KATZ

One of the principal pleasures of night life is good eating.

But did you ever wonder, while enjoying an expertly prepared meal in luxurious surroundings, just who it is behind those kitchen doors that makes your pleasure all possible?

Don Throneberry, Head Chef for both the House of Lords and the Picadilly in the Raleigh House complex on Telegraph and 10 Mile, is in charge of bringing good meals to countless numbers of people every day.

He has gone under the actual title of "Chef" for six years; he started back in 1955 at Detroit's Sheraton Cadillac as a kitchen runner doing such tasks as squeezing oranges for fresh juice.

A HEAD CHEF, according to Throneberry, is very much an administrator. Organization, scheduling, buying and planning all come under his domain, as well as supervising the staff. Throneberry heads a crew of 16 people.

The fine points of good cooking, such as the secrets of making smooth sauces, seasoning, and the various ways of cutting vegetables, must be second nature to a chef, even though he may not do most of the actual work.

The kitchens for the House of Lords and the Picadilly are divided into several departments, as are good sized kitchens in restaurants throughout the world.

In-charge of main entrees such as soups, stews and sauces is the second cook, a job which requires about five years of training to be done well, according to Chef Throneberry.

The gardemanger specializes in cold foods. Cold soups, hord'ouvres, escargots and such things as chicken salad are his responsibility.

THE PASTRY DEPARTMENT, for which there is a separate kitchen at the Raleigh House complex, represents a specialized world of cuisine.
Ice cream is prepared here, too.

The broiler cooks oversee the cooking of steaks and fish, while the fry cooks are in charge of food cooked in deep fat, like shrimp and French fried potatoes.

Scallopi, filet of sole and anything else that is pan fried is prepared by the saute man.

The salad section is a whole separate department of fresh vegetables and fruits and dressings, while the elaborate delicatessen style sandwiches served at the Picadilly are prepared by still another section of the busy kitchen.

Chef Throneberry, who still manages to do much of the actual cook-

CHEF DON THRON-EBERRY...

ing, puts in a long day's work. It's not unusual for him to begin at 7 a.m.
and work until 11 p.m.

One of his chief responsibilities is the ordering of food. He does this on a daily basis, using the menu, which he prepares himself, as a guide.

HOW MUCH FOOD comes into a restaurant's kitchen by day? Throneberry estimates that he orders 300 lbs. of beef a day (not including hamburger), 50 to 100 lbs. of corned beef, 100 lbs. of pastrami, 144 heads of lettuce, 48 quarts of cream and 40 gallons of milk.

"We buy more bread and rolls than anyone in the area outside the Broadway Market," says Throneberry who sees 60 dozen rolls, 60 loaves of rye bread, 15 loaves of white bread and 10 dozen bagels in a day. He keeps extra loaves in the freezer to take care of emergencies.

Finding top notch vendors and making them stick to their high quality is one of the chef's main responsibilities.

Although the House of Lords is closed temporarily for renovations, the Picadilly draws an estimated 1500 people a day, enough to prevent the head chef from lounging about.

FINDING GOOD HELP is a major difficulty. Because the training period is long and wages have traditionally been low, many people simply stay away from restaurant work.

Would-be chefs, especially, are put off by the detail, hard work and knowledge that are required to do the job well. Throneberry estimates that only two out of 10 cooking school graduates ever go on to become full fledged chefs; many opt out for short order cooking which is worlds easier and less demanding.

Because of this the demand for good chefs is tremendous. "For every cook there are 10 jobs waiting," Throneberry estimates. The pay at the top level is quite high.

He admits that he's never personally known a female chef in his career and feels that the long hours involved are deterrents to women who usually have family responsibilities waiting for them after work.

What does a head chef eat when he's relaxing at home?

"My wife gets kind of mad at me because I seldom eat at home," Throneberry says. "I taste and taste and taste and taste all day long. Why should I want to eat later on?"

What Is Night Life? COMMUNITY THEATRE...

By CAROL KATZ

Some people create the excitement of their own night life.

Many of them do so through the outlet of community theatre, a night time activity which attracts a colorful array of local people for an intriguing variety of reasons.

Observerland abounds with community theatres.

The Farmington Players present their productions in a handsomely remodeled barn on 12 Mile; the Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild has its own small but tastefully decorated store front building on Five Mile and Beech Daly.

The Theatre Guild of Plymouth struggles along by performing at local schools, while the newly reorganized Southfield Community Players have been using the awkward facilities of a speakers' podium in their city's Civic Center Building. The Wayne-Westland Civic Players, also in need of their own home, make do by performing at local school auditoriums.

STAGE FACILITIES, often downright miserable, can cramp a group's style. Players using school auditoriums must fit in their rehearsal and production times around school band concert and graduation ceremonies. Even those organizations with their own buildings have budget limitations which mean that seating is often makeshift and floors are usually bare.

But the traditional "smell of greasepaint" and the sweet sounds of applause keep local theatres alive. The frustrations may be many, but so are the rewards.

Just what kind of people become involved in community theatre? First, there are those who have been stagestruck all their lives, and although they may be lawyers, housewives or advertising men during daytime hours, their considerable appetites and talents for the stage compel them to take on double lives, often at the price of considerable exhaustion.

And there's loads of work for everyone. Actors and directors may spend four or five nights a week over a two month period in rehearsing a play; set designers usually do double duty as painters and carpenters, and the getting together of props and costumes are jobs that are tackled by loyal drones who do heavy amounts of telephoning and errand running during their extra hours.

MANY OF THE STAGESTRUCK have paying jobs in the field; community theatre attracts drama teachers with PhD's and television producers who just can't bear to part with the glamor of the stage once working hours are over.

But some of the most valuable community theatre people are those who have never set foot on stage; they act as ticket chairmen, treasurers and recording secretaries, and it is their good, solid non-temperamental abilities that often hold their groups together.

People looking for something different as far as social life often flock to community theatre. You needn't be attached to a mate to be acceptable and no one will look sneeringly upon you if your life style doesn't revolve around the local P.T.A. To be part of the group, all one needs is a willingness to work hard and to become involved.

Observer area theatre groups produce between three and five plays a season. They're chosen, usually, for their audience appeal. Suburban theatre goers look for topical, light entertainment, and for this reason Neil Simon's plays are local favorites.

Such well known titles as "Butterflies are Free" and "Barefoot in the Park" are still making their rounds in the local theatre circuit to enthusiastic response.

MORE INTELLECTUAL FARE, such as classical drama and theatre of the absurd plays by such playwrights as Albee and Ionesco, while often personal favorites of local directors and actors, are generally not well received by local audiences.

"The community wants entertainment that is light and easy to understand. We've tried other things, but we've found that people are just turned off by anything that isn't current and clearly comprehended," explained a local actress.

"This is interpreted by cynics as a concession to mediocrity on our part," she continued, "but I don't see it that way. There are many popular plays that have something important to say, and I see nothing wrong in serving the community. Still, it would be nice to do something different for a change."

The availability of certain kinds of actors is another consideration in selecting a play. Community theatre attracts many attractive young women, for example, while older male actors are sometimes almost impossible to discover. Many a good play has been rejected by local theatres because there were no middle aged males in sight who could perform.

In the Observer area, roles for racial minorities, while plentiful in current literature, are virtually impossible to fill on a local basis.

CHILDREN'S PLAYS — usually the old classic fairy tales — are performed regularly. Last year the Livonia-Redford Theatre Guild produced "Rumpelstiltskin" and the Wayne-Westland Civic Players did "Hansel and Gretel" to full houses. Juvenile productions are often excellent vehicles for stagestruck kids to get their first chance onstage.

While local theatre provides big thrills for its actors, it also gives area residents a chance to do their theatre going right in Observerland. Admission prices are approximately the same as those of neighborhood movies, and discounts are often given for students and senior citizens.

Audiences can enjoy an usually cozy atmosphere created by the less than grandiose stage facilities and by the fact that many people at local performances know one another. Many come to see their friends and neighbors onstage, thus eliciting the kinds of personal response that may be lacking in professional theatre.

THIS WEEKEND on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. the Southfield Community Players will experiment by doing an outdoor Vaudeville show on the Civic Center grounds. Such informal presentations are particularly appealing to local suburban audiences.

Theatre goers have no guarantee as to the quality of drama they will see in local productions. This is probably true of professional theatre, as well. It seems that theatre can go from the ridiculous all the way to the sublime.

Local theatre has hit both peaks, and it will undoubtedly continue to do so. However, it is a labor of love seeking to enrich its community with purely home grown talent.

WHAT IS NIGHT LIFE? Movie Going...

Although they're altogether different from what they used to be way back in the innocent '30's and '40's, the movies will always serve a very real purpose in entertaining the public.

That's the opinion of Margaret Wilson, who started as a cashier at Plymouth's Penn Theatre in 1945 and now functions as its owner and manager.

Movie going, according to Miss Wilson, is still probably the biggest form of night life entertainment in the local area.

"Movies are still affordable," explains Miss Wilson, who tries hard to keep her prices down with a $2 admission for adults and 75 cents for children. Other diversions, such as night clubbing, for example, are many times more costly and beyond the budgets of large numbers of people.

GOING TO THE MOVIES serves as a social function, unlike staying at home in front of the TV. "At a good comedy a robust laughter will encourage others around him to laugh," comments Miss Wilson. "During a mystery there's a common feeling of suspense in the audience. If you're watching TV with maybe one or two other people, there isn't the same sharing of enjoyment."

Often combined with eating out, going to the movies continues to be a good way to get together with friends.

Although movies are thought of as appealing to younger and younger audiences, Miss Wilson's customers, people from the Plymouth and Livonia areas, are people of all ages. She has seen no big shift in the age of the moviegoing public.

There is more of a pattern of parents dropping their children off at the show, rather than accompanying them as they used to 15 or 20 years ago. This may reflect statistically in a younger audience, but Miss Wilson feels it also points to an increased sophistication among adult movie goers.

Most kiddie films, at least those made today, may satisfy the juvenile members of an audience, but they prove tedious and uninteresting to the parents.

During the World War II era, when there were several theatres in the Plymouth community, audiences had a choice of four different movies a week. According to Miss Wilson, some people never missed a single one.

Today, even if there were more movies available, they wouldn't attract such a dutiful following. "The public is more discriminating," she points out and, although movie going remains a popular diversion, the number of admissions is much less than it used to be during the heyday of the '30's and '40's.

Of course, the contents of the movies themselves have changed radically. In the early 1950's a movie entitled "The Moon is Blue," upset and outraged many church groups and communities by its blunt use of the word "pregnant."

TODAY'S MOVIE GOERS would never raise even an eyebrow to that; the days when married couples in movies slept demurely in separate beds and when romantic scenes ended in tepid kisses seem to have disappeared forever.

Because of these changes, many parents show concern for what their children will see. A "PG" rating (parental guidance) elicits telephone calls to the movie theatre in an effort to find out just what the film contains. "Most parents are concerned about sex rather than with violence or language," Miss Wilson observes.

Different movies attract different crowds.

"Paper Moon" which has had large audiences, has attracted the older theatre goers in the Plymouth area. Action films, like "Westworld" attracts men who come by themselves to see it, while women, in twos and threes, are more apt to attend romances.

Because the whole pattern of dress has changed, Miss Wilson's customers come in much more casual attire than they used to. Barefoot moviegoers are not unknown at the Penn these days, although Saturday nights still see many people dressed up.

PLYMOUTH WAS ONCE a farmer's town, and the Penn was frequented by farming families who spent a Saturday in town trading and shopping on Main Street, then rounded off their visit with an evening at the show. Admission prices back in 1945 were 40 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

Eating patterns represent another big change. "People eat more than they used to," Miss Wilson states emphatically. The Penn used to sell only candy, but the public began requesting popcorn and beverages which are now sold.

Different types of solid foods are currently being requested by some customers, although Miss Wilson states with a smile that she has no plans to go into the restaurant business.

The increase in eating habits creates a small problem in maintaining quiet in the theatre, especially among children. Frequent trips for popcorn, followed by treks up the aisle for soft drinks and then candy can cause noise and disturbance.

Real misconduct, however, is minimal as are vandalism and theft. Moviegoers in suburban Plymouth can and do enjoy a pleasant atmosphere in which to find escape, entertainment and romance on their nights out on the town.

RECIPE
CONTEST

WIN $25

Here's your chance to win $25 for your favorite recipe. If you're inclined to shudder at the picture at the right and murmur, "I wouldn't let my daughter play with eggs at $1 a dozen," then this contest is just what you've been looking for—a chance to win $25 or $10 in "egg money."

Here's all you do:

1. Find your favorite recipe for either a vegetable/salad, a main dish (casserole or meat), or a dessert.

2. Put it in an envelope along with the official entry blank below and a recent snapshot of yourself. (One that you don't want returned, however if you don't have a snapshot you may still enter.)

3. Your entry must be postmarked no later than Friday, October 5, 1973. The decision of the judges is final. One entry per person.

Our FOCUS: Suburbia Recipe Contest winners will appear in the October 20, 1973 issue of FOCUS: Suburbia "Recipe Box." There will be one $25 Grand Prize and three $10 "Best of Category" prizes.

So find a recipe you've kitchen-tested or family-tested and mail it in. You have nothing to lose and could add $10 or $25 to your household or personal budget!

WHAT IS NIGHT LIFE?

Belly Dancing...

By CAROL KATZ

Her name is Princess Madiha -- "that's what everybody calls me" -- and, veiled in gauzy blue and glimmering gold, her raven hair cascading down her back, she is the star dancer in the Arabian Review at Mitch Housey's, a recently remodeled pleasure dome on Schoolcraft in Livonia, just opposite the Detroit Race Track.

She doesn't like the American term of "belly dancing" for what she does; she much prefers "Oriental dancing" to describe it. And it really is more encompassing; the dance, after all, being performed by use of the hands, the arms, the legs and even facial expression.

BORN IN DAMASCUS, SYRIA, Princess Madiha has never taken a dancing lesson in her life. As a child she simply watched others dance in her native country and practiced herself at home. The result has been a career of 16 years in professional Oriental dancing, one which has taken her to all parts of the world.

While she maintains a tight schedule for herself, a normal day in her life would seem topsy turvy to the average nine to five.

Up at 2 p.m. after sleeping for a good 10 hours, she begins her day with coffee and a glass of milk and honey.

Dinner comes at about 6 p.m. and then it's time for her to put on her makeup for the night's performance. The show at Housey's begins at 8 p.m. and runs throughout the evening until 2 a.m.

After performing she relaxes at home with a hot bath and watches some TV before she goes to bed, usually at about 4 a.m.

"I eat all kinds of food, and I love mashed potatoes," she says in her enthusiastic way, the inflections of her native Syria softening her speech, "but I limit my meals to two a day." She spends a good deal of time in the kitchen for cooking is one of her favorite activities.

ORIENTAL DANCERS, if they're not careful, can quickly lose their figures, according to Princess Madiha. The dancing, while strenuous, tends to soften the body rather than to firm it up.

For this reason, the Princess devotes a regular part of her day to exercise. She gets in as much bicycling and swimming as she can, too, and recommends that other dancers in the field do the same.

The Princess does not practice dancing during the day. Her three nightly performances are enough to keep her from getting stale, and she rehearses her routines with the musicians before the initial performances.

Another favorite leisure time activity is card playing, although "I don't do it for money."

The Princess loves her work. She considers it an art and cherishes the people whom she meets through it. "Some people collect stamps," she explains, "but I collect friends in my work. It is one of the most important parts of my life."

Although she has been to many places on the globe, from Japan and Hong Kong to Italy, the Princess, who has lived here for six years, rates this country as her favorite, outside of her native Syria.

"Eighty percent of the people I've met here are honest," she says. "This is not true in other countries."

AND AMERICAN MEN? The Princess doesn't see distinctions between men throughout the world. "In every country you find all kinds," she comments. "Men are men wherever you go."

Women's liberation is not one of Princess Madiha's favorite causes. "Woman is woman; if she doesn't feel that men are stronger than she is, then she loses her femininity. I think a man should be boss."

Although her dancing generally gives her the kind of pleasure that causes her black eyes to sparkle and her face to break into brilliant smiles, it does have its occasional drawbacks.

Some of her most embarrassing moments during a performance come from the comments of other women. Once she was told, quite loudly, by a female member of the audience to "Leave my husband alone." Sometimes she receives not words, but simply mean looks from other women. "This really hurts me," the Princess explains.

She thinks that American women make some of the best dancers in her field. The other performers at Housey's are American born, and the current popularity of books and how-to-do-it classes in belly dancing are now instructing girls in a seductive art form that would have been taboo for their mothers. "American girls can do this type of dancing very well," the Princess states firmly.

GO-GO DANCING, a strictly American form of entertainment, is something which the Princess admires. "I salute the girls who can do this," she says with approval.

Like most Oriental dancers, Princess Madiha sews her own costumes, thus selecting the kind of colors and styles that will enhance her act. She also arranges her own choreography, fitting her body movements in with the sound of the Arabian oud, flute, drum and cymbals.

There is good money to be earned in the field but only for those who are really talented. It is not for those who can do no more than show off their bodies. According to Princess Madiha, who states her case intensely, "A girl must be honest with her dancing, and then it is art."

The customers at Mitch Housey's can watch an Arabian review nightly with the comfortable benefit of drinks, full sized meals or good sized after theatre snacks. Whether or not anyone thinks of art as Princess Madiha and the other dancers sway seductively to the frenzy of the music is not certain, but the faces at the tables look as though they've found the thing they were seeking -- pleasure.

And that's what night life is all about.

WHAT DO YOU WEAR, WHERE?

WHEN NORTH WINDS BLOW and snow begins to fall, two or three piece evening outfits will be topped by short, plush little fur jackets. Often nipped off right at the waistline, these little cold weather shrugs are equally at home with the new high waisted pants that are the mainstay of daytime wear. Strike another note for versatility!

The full length dress has some new touches this year. In love with the layered look, some designers have carried it over into evening with long dresses that come with matching short jackets or romantic blazers.

The glitter of rhinestone is seen often in nostalgic tribute to the razzle dazzle era of the '30s and '40s. Black is back, too; not safe, decent, stay-in-the-background black, but the black of the vamp and the Jean Harlow era. Often combined with the lowest necklines seen in years, this season's long dress is frankly sexy and sensational.

"Um -- pardon me, madam, but your -- er -- legs -- are showing."

For the fashion conscious night lifer, the above remark would be something of an embarrassment. The after five scene for the '73 season is one in which legs are as constantly covered as they were in mid-Victorian times, but in altogether different ways and for altogether different reasons.

The full length skirt and long dress will take the well dressed Ms. on just about any evening she pleases this season. Mid or mini lengths are still being shown, but only as a change from the overwhelming emphasis on the all-the-way-to-the-floor look.

THE CURRENT LOOK in evening wear works two ways: for more casual occasions like at-home parties and small dinners, there is the long skirt which can be combined with daytime jackets, blouses and sweaters; for the razzle dazzle of a really big night out, there seems to be only one '73 alternative -- and that's the glamor of the full length dress.

Evening skirts fall luxuriously from the waist in handsome varieties of nubby tweeds and splashy plaids. They're nicely contrasted with silky textured blouses or ribbed sweaters with the added accent of long metal chains and necklaces.

The layered look, big for daytime, carries over into the night scene, too. The floor length skirt is on good fashion terms with the blazer as well as the new, heavy knit cardigans.
