Yockey: 'Quit Recreation Pact'

By EDWARD WENDOVER

The City of Plymouth should stay out of the area-wide recreation authority.

That is the opinion of City Manager Fred Yockey, whose report to the city commission Monday night called the authority "counter-productive to the best interests of the City of Plymouth."

Yockey said such an authority would only delay municipal unification and would help the townships far more than the city.

In his own report, Mayor James McKeon recommended that "the city's position on the recreation authority be reviewed."

The two reports were released at a workshop on the authority called by the city commission to decide whether the city should join.

The commission discussed some of the points made in the two reports but took no action.

So far, only the city remains as a holdout. The authority has been backed – by adoption of a formal agreement and through financial commitments – by the Plymouth School District and Plymouth and Canton townships.

The authority, which hopes to begin operation this fall, has been pledged $15,827 by Plymouth Township; $17,694 by Canton Township; and $14,000 plus office space, accounting, auditing, employe benefits and facilities use by the schools.

Those three governmental units signed the authority agreement in April and have been awaiting the city's approval of that same pact since then.

A dissolution clause that would permit participating governmental units to drop out if a budget could not be agreed on has been the reason given by the city commission against signing the agreement.

But Yockey's report cited four "disadvantages" to the city's joining the authority – and did not mention the dissolution clause.

Among those reasons was "by participating in the recreation authority, the city will be aiding the townships to provide recreational programs for their residents, which will only delay consideration of consolidation or unification."

Yockey's report adds:

- The authority would mean a "substantial cost increase" to the city with "far fewer services."
- The city would lose its present autonomy because control of the board will be vested in a nine-member board.
- The authority would concern itself more to developing recreation programs in the outlying townships, where there are currently limited recreation programs, and not to the city program.

McKeon stressed the township's difficulties in financing authorities because of limited taxation powers.

"I believe it is time for the city to recognize that the townships' tax limitations preclude the possibility of effective authorities," the mayor's report said.

"I have been reluctant to accept this fact, but it becomes more evident as time goes by that truly effective authorities between the city and Plymouth Township, in particular, will not happen."

McKeon cited attempts to form a refuse authority and a police authority, both of which, he said, have been stymied by the township.

"Our last budget review pointed out many inequities between city and township taxpayers," the mayor concluded. "I believe our first priority should be to reduce these inequities insofar as the city taxpayers are concerned.

"It would seem that the next order of business would be to better identify these inequities and determine what steps should be followed to put the city taxpayers on a more equitable basis with township taxpayers."

It was thought that there might be discussion of the city's role in the authority at the regular commission meeting Monday night, but this was mentioned as a time to accept feedback from the authority board.

Rocks Launch Homecoming Fest

It's homecoming time.

The annual gala game for Plymouth Salem High School is Friday, Oct. 12, against Allen Park and will be highlighted by the crowning of the 1973 Homecoming Queen and her court.

Competing for the queen's crown are five senior girls, one of whom will be elected to the honor by the students in voting on Thursday.

The five are: Pam Adams, Mary Covington, Diane Fisher, Shawn Haarz and Shelly Robb.

Also on the queen's court are three underclass girls who were selected from about eight nominees in each class.

They are: Natalie Carroll, a junior; Becky Amyx, a sophomore; and Mary Cavanaugh, a freshman.

Thursday, the Homecoming Parade will be held followed by a bonfire.

The parade will start behind Central Middle School at 7 p.m. on Adams Street, curve over to Church Street and then proceed south on Harvey to Ann Arbor Trail. Turning east on Ann Arbor Trail, the parade will continue to Main Street, then north to Church, returning to its starting point behind the middle school.

The bonfire will be held behind Central on the practice field immediately after the end of the parade.

Friday, a pep assembly will be held in school and that night at the game the queen will be introduced at halftime. The winners of the float contest also will be announced there.

The game begins at 8 p.m. in the Centennial Education Park stadium.

During the halftime, the alumni band – made up of former PHS band members – will perform in its second annual appearance.

4 City Candidates Get Civic Federation Nod

The Plymouth Civic Federation has endorsed Norbert Battermann, Joseph Bida, John Moehle and Bernard Schmitz for city commission.

According to Anthony C. Licata, chairman of the organization, the four were selected after the group interviewed seven of the eight candidates running for the four commission seats.

"In general, the federation endorsed candidates who supported tax reductions or a holdback of further increases, a review and audit of manpower needs and workloads in city departments, maintenance of past high level services for Plymouth homeowners and businessmen," Licata said.

He added that the endorsed candidates expressed "tentative support for city-township consolidation," favored "reconsideration of the city's cultural center function, non-resident use and fees" and also supported "meaningful public hearings on annual city budgets with sufficient lead time to provide for citizen requested changes before final approval."

Licata said, "The Plymouth Civic Federation and its members will provide active campaign support to its endorsed slate of candidates.

"They are the best qualified to serve the people of Plymouth in the months ahead and during what promises to be a period of serious financial considerations, administrative reorganization and possible governmental changes."

The federation chairman also said, "Our group intends to move from its present phase of passive observation in city government to the arena of advocacy and active participation in policy making decisions."

The city election is Nov. 6.

Q. Is tobacco a stimulant? M.E., Livonia

A. Tobacco is considered a stimulant - sedative. At this point in time, it is considered that tobacco causes physical and mental dependence, and obviously the potential for organic damage is present.

Government studies indicate that those who smoke are definitely more likely to contract various forms of cancer, cardiovascular damage and emphysema than those who do not smoke.

Madonna Tops The 1,000 Mark

For the first time, Madonna College boasts an enrollment of more than 1,000 students.

In the head count taken the last week in September, there was an increase of 48 per cent over a year ago, and the actual enrollment totaled 1,020.

There were 300 male students and 720 women.

"This is a great day for Madonna," said Sister Mary Lauriana, academic dean. "And I think it can be traced to four factors:

"1. The special attention given to adult students.

"2. Our new program that includes such courses as fire prevention and safety along with criminal justice.

"3. The fact that we have gone co-educational.

"4. Our location, in the center of a growing area."

This is the second year of the co-educational program, and the results have been more successful than anticipated.

"The larger enrollment also is an endorsement of our new programs that have been attracting attention," Sister Lauriana explained, "and we are all so happy about it."

Blunder Delays Attendance Policy

By MARIE McGEE

PLYMOUTH

An apparent administration blunder in not consulting the Plymouth Education Assn. on new attendance rules forced the board of education Monday to again table a decision on the sorely needed policy.

After listening to PEA president Joe Henshaw, board members agreed with him that the new policy does indeed affect the working conditions of the teachers, thereby making it a negotiable item under the terms set forth in the master teaching contract.

Henshaw charged that by failing to get teacher input on the new policy, the administration violated that section of the contract that calls for a policy to stay in force until it can be negotiated.

Henshaw said the teachers were never asked for any recommendations and were never offered the opportunity to negotiate on the policy despite the fact that the new policy thrusts new procedures and responsibilities on the staff.

He further charged that some of the high school teachers had already been instructed by the administration to carry out at least a portion of the as - yet - unpassed attendance rules.

Some of the new attendance guidelines have been included in the teacher handbook that was distributed at the beginning of the current year, Henshaw charged.

A somewhat embarrassed board of education admitted an error in procedures had been committed and took steps to correct the situation which they said was the result of a breakdown in communications between the two groups.

At the outset of the discussion, the attendance issue was taken off the table where it had been placed two weeks ago. A resolution was then advanced by Trustee Gary Mirto to accept the policy as recommended by the administration.

It was then that Henshaw fired his opening salvo, charging the board with "never having read the master contract."

Upshot of the discussion was that rather than vote on Mirto's resolution in light of Henshaw's charges, the board quickly voted to table the item again.

Accompanying that action was a resolution from Trustee Fred Penar directing Norman Kee, district personnel director, to meet immediately with PEA officials and iron out the problems. He asked that the policy be resubmitted "by the next regular board meeting" and further directed that a list of PEA objections be included.

After questioning Kee, Penar indicated that the administration should have recognized the attendance policy was a negotiable item and followed the proper procedure "before ever submitting it to this board."

At one point in the discussion, tempers flared slightly between Henshaw and Dr. Earl Hogan when Hogan reminded the PEA president that he had been given a copy of the new policy two weeks ago but had never voiced any objections to it.

Henshaw's reply was to remind Dr. Hogan that he received his copy the night the policy was to come up for board discussion. He said he felt his objections were at least partially evident when he appeared before the board two weeks ago and asked for the item to be tabled so that he could study the document.

He admitted that perhaps he was "remiss" in not contacting the board in the two-week interim period, but felt that the administration was equally remiss in not contacting the teachers' union.

School Board Wrangles With Floor Problem

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth school trustees have agreed on a two-pronged attack to get action on what's to be done about the Plymouth - Salem High School gym floor.

The board this week directed its legal counsel to obtain from the construction company a memorandum declaring that the repair work on the floor will be continued if it is not completed by the time the bond covering the repairs expires in mid-November.

The second attack will come from the architectural firm representing the school district who will appeal to the contractor, Ferguson Construction Co., to remedy what has been termed as a "sorry situation" on the basis of what effect the job would have on the company's reputation.

A spokesman for the architectural firm, O'Dell, Hewitt and Luckenbach, sympathized with the board in its running battle with the contractor to have the floor put in working order.

He admitted that no one is quite sure what makes the composition - type "tartan floor" bubble, making it useless for gym activities.

Weary of the problem, board members hinted they may even ask the contractor to install a wooden floor in lieu of repairs.

Real Estate Ads Show Trend In Population Shifts

In today's society, you catch the first faint stirrings of change not in radical political groups or scholarly publications, but from ads or in bars or shopping center concourses.

The following come from a selection of the past weekend ads:

"Wooded, scenic surroundings..."

"Kid country is in West Bloomfield . . . where youngsters roam the wide open spaces, breathe fresh country air, play in parks and lakes. . ."

"Condominiums adjacent to the natural beauty of W.P. Holliday Nature Preserve . . . a country setting with all the urban conveniences . . ."

"Ideally situated on a rolling site of unspoiled natural beauty . . ."

THERE'S MORE here than just a bunch of home and condominium developers pitching hard for their product, to a suburban audience.

What's interesting is the particular emotional appeal selected for the pitch: nature; open spaces; small size; fresh air; country; woods.

Compare this with what the developers were pushing three, five, eight years ago. Then it was convenience, easy terms, the luxury of a separate house, the neighborliness of the folks in the subdivision, the attractions of suburban living with shopping centers so near by.

There's still some of the "country life with urban conveniences" line in the ads today, but what is striking about them is the emphasis on the country, on the small size of the development, on the air of rural peace and security and wholesomeness.

The ideal suggested by these ads is a group of not much more than 200 homes, gently settled away from everything else in the middle of rolling countryside and woods, with small local stores run by friendly local people, where everybody knows everybody else and where if your kid gets lost any passerby knows who he is and will bring him home, riding on his shoulder.

This, in case you hadn't recognized it, is a somewhat sugared - up description of a classical English village. It's also what the ad men who design the real estate ads these days seem to think will sell.

And that suggests a whole lot about what's happening in our society.

IN TWENTIETH CENTURY American history, we have seen two gigantic population movements in the last 50 years, each of which has taken the nature of the country and shaken it by the neck.

The first, which took place from the time of the depression to just after World War II, was the movement of people from the farms to the big cities. It involved all told perhaps 60,000,000 people over a decade; it built the cities to metropolises; it fueled the industrial engine that won the war; it created the sprawling slums.

It created the second population movement, from the cities to the suburbs, which started just after the war when cars and roads became generally available, and is still going on.

Before it is over, it will involve perhaps just as many people as the movement from the farms to the cities. It built the suburbs into what they are today: the largest single chunk of our population; the biggest block of economic resource; miles upon miles of homes and apartments surrounding shopping centers.

BUT IF YOU read the real estate ads, it didn't do enough.

It provided good schools, but now teachers strike in the suburbs just as willingly as in Detroit. It provided a sense of security and peace, but the dope trade has pushed into the suburbs and the single most rapidly increasing crime in our country is suburban burglaries.

It provided human-scale neighborhoods and subdivisions, but the suburbs grew so fast that the promise of a face to face society evaporated in the mass homogenization of the vast shopping center.

Unless I miss my guess, what the real estate ads are suggesting is the tip of the next big population movement in our country: from the suburbs to essentially rural villages.

Just how fast this will happen or how soon I do not know. But it will have consequences equally as great as the two previous movements, and it is only wise to begin thinking about that right now.

Young Drivers Getting A Bum Rap

Last week in this space, I gave the state and some of our local police a bad time for the dishonest drunk driving statistics they have been issuing about our 18-20 year olds.

Despite squawks from some of the men in blue, I see no reason to back down on my contentions that (1) figures involving "drinking" drivers are worthless because alcohol isn't purported to be a factor in the accident, and (2) arrest figures for 1972 and '73 can't be compared to 1971's because at almost the same time the 18-year Age of Majority law went into effect, the state lowered the definition of drunk driving.

Instead, more evidence has come in indicating the young drivers are being hit with a bum rap on drinking. It comes from Bruce D. Bowen of the University of Michigan and Michael R. Kagay of Princeton.

They made a report to the White House Conference on Youth on the impact of the lowered age of majority on drinking and driving. They are quoted in a newsletter by Traffic Safety for Michigan, a privately financed outfit based in Lansing.

The average 18-20 year old, they estimate, drank about one six-pack of beer per weekend and one bottle of liquor more a month after the age of majority was lowered in Michigan and Vermont, the only states with adequate data. Other findings:

• Possibly "young drivers need not have as much to drink as older drivers in order to attract the attention of the police." Young drivers "were convicted with significantly lower blood alcohol content levels than were older drivers."

(Comment: It could be that young drivers "can't handle their liquor" as well as older drivers, but it could also be that the police are just looking harder for younger drinking drivers. Probably both.)

• Young drivers are less likely to be drinking drivers. "Even though 18-20 year olds represent 11 per cent of the intoxicated drivers, they are 20 per cent of all night time drivers."

On the other hand, the 25-34 age group accounts for 27 per cent of all drivers but a whopping 41 per cent of all legally drunk drivers (blood alcohol content at least 0.10 per cent).

• Young drivers who commit offenses while legally drunk are far from a disproportionate part of the population. "In fact, Michigan 18-20 year olds represent 8.8 per cent of the licensed drivers and merely a proportionate number (8.6 per cent) of those arrested."

(Comment: The figures are for arrests only; I have yet to see any figures on convictions. Isn't that interesting? There's a vast difference between arresting a young driver and getting him convicted in court.)

• "State police in both Michigan and Vermont stated that enforcement of the law on 18-20 year olds was probably more lenient before the change in the age of majority law; hence, that fact alone might account for some of the increase in arrests."

Other Bowen and Kagay findings:

Young drivers don't drink as much as older groups. But if they do drink, they're "more likely to be involved in an accident." The young drivers have "sheer inexperience" in handling drink, but "we would not be surprised to find declining accident figures in subsequent years."

I'm not sure why our police have been so manipulative in building a case against 18-20 year old drivers. Perhaps the police are over-zealous; perpahs it's political. If it's political, the police will get little help from Bowen and Kagay, who conclude:

"There does not appear to be significantly more justification for prohibiting 18-20 year olds from drinking than for prohibiting any other age group."

We Salute Our Carrier Boys And Girls

Today, the Observer Newspapers group salutes and pays tribute to a worthy and special group of young business youngsters who are engaged in establishing a good record in their first business venture, that of serving as a newspaper carrier. Saturday has been designated international newspaper carriers day.

Your newspaper carrier, whether a boy or girl, is a remarkable youngster ranging in age from 12 to the late teens. He or she – there are as many girls delivering newspapers as boys – is learning by actual experience the lessons of thrift, honesty, courtesy and the worthwhile rewards of faithful performances of duty.

Whether it is a day with the sun shining, or one with rain pouring down, ice on the streets and sidewalks or covered with snow, these youngsters do everything possible to deliver the Observers.

Sure, there are times when the paper arrives late but you can wager this is due to production problems at the plant and have nothing to due with the normal delivery habits of the carrier.

They know folks want the twice-weekly products of the Observer family and that it is their responsibility to make deliveries as quickly as possible.

They have a great deal of loyalty for the newspaper and to their customers. That's why you so often will see our carrier boys and girls hustling along in late afternoon on Wednesdays and Fridays making stops at each home. They take pride in their work and want readers to have the newspapers in hand as quickly as possible.

We can well remember the days back in Ohio when we were delivering newspapers at the age of eight. It didn't make any difference what the weather was, we wanted to have the papers in the hands of readers as early as possible. In those days, we had to cover as many as five or six miles from the first customer to the last, but there wasn't any complaining; we had a job to do and we did it.

The carrier boys and girls today don't have as far to walk, but they have that same determination, and they have a "well done" feeling when the last paper is delivered.

They are capable representatives of a team of more than a million newspaper carriers in the United States and Canada. One will find these young people have bank accounts, savings for future education needs, paying a goodly portion of their expenses in connection with daily living. Many of them, with justifiable pride, provide little luxuries for the family such as household appliances, furniture and such.

Since the days of Ben Franklin, America's first recognized carrier boy, the opportunity for enterprising young people as carriers has developed to the point where IT is an integral part of our American way of life.

In the role of newspaper carriers, they have been afforded an opportunity to learn first hand how to develop abilities as a salesman, how to meet the public, and how to get along with their fellow carriers.

Occasionally they suffer a setback or a disappointment in their first business venture which serves as a lesson for the future. These setbacks teach that one has to be alert in these competitive times, and each mistake can be a costly one in prestige or even monetarily.

Truly, your newspaper carrier is a youngster who takes responsibilities seriously and who will in later years take a place among the business and professional leaders of tomorrow.

One need only check the rosters of today's business leaders to learn many attribute a great part of their success to the fact that they were at one time one of those young business people known as newspaper carriers, lending credence to the slogan, "Today's newspaper carriers will be tomorrow's leaders."

Tax Reform Dead Issue

Property tax reform was formally pronounced dead and buried last month when Detroit voters approved a proposal to have a property tax millage instead of a personal income tax levy for school operations.

The millage victory in Detroit and its related election campaign made it clear that it will be tough -- if not outright impossible -- for suburban schools to promote property tax reform in the near future, if ever.

The campaign arguments for property tax reform were a flip-flop argument of what school officials in Detroit and its suburbs were arguing for many years.

But there was a new twist to the campaign which appealed to the voters' emotions.

In the Detroit campaign, a citizens' committee stressed the point that with a property tax levy, local industry and business pay the lions share of the tax.

With an income tax levy, individuals pay the burden for school operations.

But the argument left untouched the age-old problem of how to fairly provide financial support for public institutions.

There is no doubt that the typical homeowner with a $25,000 house and a $10,000 salary in Detroit felt he was "sticking it" to the business industry community to approving a property tax levy and dropping the burdensome income tax.

But the problem still remains how large suburban districts with little business or industrial plants to help pay the tax load can continue to finance budgets which have been growing faster than the national inflation factor.

The Wayne-Westland school district continues to have the highest millage rate in the state. The board was forced, for a number of unrelated reasons, to boost its millage rate this year while neighboring districts were actually cutting their own rates.

The district is primarily made up of residential subdivisions with the only major taxpayers being Westland Shopping Center and the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant in Wayne.

Suburban school officials have been trying for more than a decade to get the state legislature to reform the school financing system.

But voters have indicated in the Detroit election and the statewide proposal last fall that high and unfair property tax levies will be with us for a while yet.

Editor:

In Mr. Yack's recent letter to the editor, he points out that he has a $35,000 investment in his occupation compared to the production worker's $5 lunch bucket. Teachers are not alone in this category.

Nurses, for example, have an investment in their occupation also. Likewise, the nurse does not offer a material product. Her promotions and pay increases are based strictly on performance, education and seniority.

But in contrast, the nurse works a full eight hours in comparison to a teacher's six hours. The nurse also works 12 months a year, with many holidays and weekends included.

Mr. Yack seems very envious of the production worker's pay, but how about the work he does -- with its unrewarding monotony, dirt, noise and dangers from machinery or other workers?

As a nurse, I would never consider trading my job, with its poor pay and benefits, for that of the production worker with its high pay and numerous benefits. The personal satisfaction and enjoyment I receive from my work far outweighs the money.

If that man on the production line can tolerate his job, he deserves the pay. I would far rather see him there than in the welfare line.

The nursing profession has many problems and grievances, as does the teaching profession. But when I chose nursing as my career, I made a commitment to serve others. If I do not perform this service, the public whom I serve has a perfect right to object, even though they do not pay my salary.

If the time should come when I am not willing to do my best in my profession and uphold my commitment, then I feel it would be time to get out of public service.

Granted, every profession has grievances that need to be worked out, but in the teachers' strike there is a defenseless person caught in the middle -- the child. Where are his rights? Who represents him at the bargaining table?

City Bans Telephone Alarms

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH

A new ordinance, preventing the installation of any telephone dialer alarms without prior written consent of the person to be called, has been passed by the Plymouth City Commission.

Passed at the suggestion of Police Chief Timothy Ford, the ordinance is aimed at alarm vendors who are promoting the use of these alarms.

The devices are attached to a telephone and can be preprogrammed to dial into the police department telephone without regard to the abilities of the police desk to handle the message.

Chief Ford said this robot electrical device, when activiated, electronically dials a precoded number and delivers a prerecorded message. These devices are designed to automatically activate when the circuit is closed or broken without discrimination between circuit trouble and actual cause, he said.

"The idea is good if the city could handle the massive incoming calls that might occur," Ford said.

"One of the major problems could arise if there was an accident somewhere within the city and these robot lines had our board tied up on some other incident. The accident report just couldn't be received."

Ford said the ordinance still leaves the door open to any company that sells a dialer system to provide the city with a separate line.

"For the city to install a separate line would be too costly. However, a company could install an isolated line just for its customers."

The chief said one of the problems with this system is that it isn't designed to recognize a disconnect signal and continue to dial or redial and/or deliver a prerecorded message through a complete cycle even though the police switchboard has received and acted on the information.

"If the switchboard operator attempts to break the connection, the device will perceive the broken connection and begin redialing sequence over and over again.

"Thus the switchboard must wait for the full cycle before hanging up. In times of emergency it would take the department twice as long to clear a line as it does now," the chief added.

"Certain of these systems don't recognize a dial tone. They pause and then dial. This could result in the system dialing into an open circuit during periods of heavy demand."

Ford said that if several of these devices were activiated simultaneously, by a wind or rain storm, "our police switchboard would become overloaded and preclude real emergency calls from being received."

The chief said in this situation, the department would have to respond to each alarm received even though reasonably certain they were false.

"Another problem," Ford said, "is that there is no positive way, known to us, by which this department can ascertain whether an alarm is valid or whether some knowledgeable criminal is using the procedure to decoy the responding patrol unit away from an actual crime scene."

In presenting the ordinance to the commission, Ford said "without adequate control, these telephone alarm systems can be purchased and programmed to automatically notify any city office, for any reason, and are limited only by the imagination and desire of the purchaser."

The chief said that during September, he had 20 inquiries from residents who were interested in having this type alarm system installed.

Hawthorn Center Seeks Livonia Fire Protection

LIVONIA

Hawthorn Center, a state mental health facility on Haggerty Rd. in Northville Township, has asked Livonia to provide its primary fire protection.

Fire Chief John Bunk, in a letter to the city council, said neither Northville nor Northville Township's fire departments can cover the center.

Bunk recommended that Livonia sign an agreement committing the city to provide protection up to the point that equipment is not needed in Livonia.

Now, Bunk said, the city does not have mutual aid agreements with Northville or Northville Township, as it does with other surrounding communities. There has been a "verbal mutual understanding," between the departments.

State laws require Hawthorne to have a prepared fire emergency plan, Bunk said. After meeting with Hawthorn and Northville officials, "there is no question but that the City of Northville cannot provide adequate fire protection for a facility of this type," Bunk said.

The fire chief added that the request is for primary fire protection, which implies that Livonia equipment and manpower is committed to covering the center.

Bunk said the city law department has recommended that a formal agreement be negotiated between Livonia and Northville Township.

Besides the present 200-to 250-bed facility, another 80-bed hospital addition is planned, Hawthorn officials said.

Cultural Center Rates Apply To Everyone

PLYMOUTH

There will be absolutely no "freebies" at the Plymouth Community Cultural Center.

That was the decision of the city commission which was asked to set a policy on the frequent requests for free use, or use at a reduced fee, of the center's facilities.

Non-profit groups or community organizations will not be given special rates.

The resolution passed by the commission ordered the city manager to revise and maintain a fee schedule for use of the center.

It further said, "There shall be no deviations permitted from the fees established... for any citizen or group of citizens."

The commission voted 6-1 for the resolution. Commissioner Ernie Henry voted no.

"There are some groups that should be given a lesser rate," Henry explained his vote. "Those that add to the cultural base of the community."

Some questions you've asked us about your future at The Lutheran Retirement Center

During the last two years, a lot of people from all over Michigan have asked us a lot of good questions about the Lutheran Retirement Center in Ann Arbor. Here are the ten most frequently asked, along with the answers:

1. What will be some of the important features at The Lutheran Retirement Center?
Among the most important features of life at The Center will be freedom from homeowner responsibilities, well balanced meals, special dietary services, constant attention to health needs, a balance between privacy and companionship, and an independent form of living with assured security. Residents will be free to come and go as they choose, to entertain guests and relatives, to participate in the varied activities available and to help plan those activities. In fact, residents will be expected to live there as they would in the homes from which they come with complete freedom and privacy.
2. Who will be eligible?
Persons who are 65 years of age or older are eligible. They must be in reasonably good health for their age, with the qualities of personality conducive to congenial group living, and with the income and resources to meet the financial requirements. Persons who are motivated by ethical principles, without regard to religious denominations will be sought. An Admissions Committee, with the Executive Director, will decide all matters of eligibility.
3. What happens if a person is accepted as a resident but is not ambulatory when The Center is ready for occupancy?
He or she will be admitted without qualification and will receive all benefits to which residents are entitled.
4. May residents bring their own furniture?

In the event a resident is provided with nursing care in the nursing care facility beyond 10 days per year or an accumulated 30 days in three years, an additional modest per deim charge will be made. This nursing care facility will be accredited by all state and local agencies, and qualified by the Medicare program.
7. What about facilities for regular exercise, especially during colder months?
The Center's sponsors believe that residents can benefit greatly from regular exercise, and have planned to provide indoor exercise equipment. Apparatus such as stationary bicycles and other equipment will be available at no charge. And because exercise is a vital part of many therapeutic programs, it will be encouraged. In addition, outdoor exercise facilities - a perimeter walk and bike path - are planned.
8. Will special diets be served in the regular dining room?
Yes, special diets will be served if prescribed and required by your physician, and supervised by The Center's dietician.

10. What happens to a resident if he becomes unable to meet financial obligations after living at The Center for some years?
Residents are assured they will not be requested to leave The Center because of financial reverses after having established residency. While assuming the responsibility of self support as a resident of The Center there is equal responsibility upon each resident to properly care for the financial resources upon which he depends.

And women.

And children of all ages. Whole families of them.

"The two - front purpose of the National YMCA is physical recreation or education and family programming," explains John Schmuhl, executive director of the local organization. "The Plymouth Community 'Y' takes this approach also.

"A few years ago, our efforts here were concentrated toward families -- especially youngsters -- of lower socio - economic status. Having established this part of our program, we now offer activities and services for middle, upper middle and upper class people too.

"This makes us truly a community YMCA."

One of Schmuhl's most successful programs is Indian Guides, with more than 300 men and boys in Plymouth, Northville and Canton. Indian Guides teaches youngsters about tribal democracy, Indian lore and crafts, but its underlying purpose is to foster a closer relationship between fathers and sons.

Bridging another generation gap, the Junior Co-Ed Hi-Y and the Co-Ed Hi-Y for junior and senior high school boys and girls is a dynamic program of service and social action. "A Hi-Y group and parents worked together to plan a graduation party for the seniors of Plymouth Salem and made it a total success," Schmuhl said.

For several years the YMCA has sponsored an after - school program for grade school - aged boys and girls at Starkweather Elementary School, providing a variety of games, crafts and recreation in a club type setting. "It's an atmosphere of personal achievement, competition and fair play," Schmuhl explains. "We hope that the spirit carries back into the home and the classroom as well.

"Volunteer instructors, with donated needles and yarn, also conduct a knitting class for Starkweather girls after hours. We continue to try to reduce costs and overhead expenses," he notes. "In this case we've got a program that's completely free!"

The YMCA's community employment service, offered to junior and senior high school youths, is also completely free. But it pays off big dividends for several hundred youngsters who file for and receive jobs through it.

'Y' sports activities include classes in tennis, baseball and golf, designed not only to promote knowledge and skill in an activity but to foster self - discipline and satisfaction from mastering a new task.

The use of any of the six YMCA canoes is offered without charge to any civic or church group. Three day camps are held during the summer for boys and girls aged four and up, with local high school youngsters enlisted as counselors. Special family events such as a family swim night, Halloween family party and a family Christmas party are held periodically during the year.

"We also have an active, dedicated 'Y's Men's Club, which supports our activities in a large numger of ways, from fund-raising to painting the club offices," Schmuhl concludes.

"So far, the Plymouth Community YMCA has been supported through the generosity of the Plymouth Community Fund. In order to grow beyond that funding, we have expanded our services and programs in the communities of Canton and Northville as well. These communities will share in the support and the benefits of the 'Y' in the future.

"Ours is an effort to strengthen every member of the family, of all classes of people in many areas of their lives. You can't help but have a better community for it."

Family Services

PLYMOUTH

When Joe stopped working during the recent auto strike, he found out that his marriage had stopped working as well.

"My wife works a night shift, four to midnight," he explained to the counselor at Family Service. "She left for her job as soon as I came home from mine. I guess we both suspected there were problems in our marriage, but we were so seldom together, we never talked about them.

"Suddenly there I was home all the time, and there was no running away from it. The differences between us had grown bigger than we could handle."

A crisis, such as a job loss, illness or accident, can impair even the most stable family relationship, according to Plymouth Family Service director Dolly Brenner.

Periods of teenage rebelliousness or tight finances are common – but critical – stages that can strengthen or snap the bonds of marriage.

Recognizing that often, as in Joe's case, a couple can't work things out alone, a group of concerned Plymouth citizens formed Family Service 10 years ago.

The Plymouth Community Fund endorsed their goals and continues to support them.

As of this summer, 1,877 families had been in touch with the office at 880 Wing St. "This represents 6,721 people who have been helped directly or indirectly – a sizable percentage of Plymouth's population," observes Mrs. Brenner.

Opened with one professional counselor and one secretary, the Family Service staff has increased to two full and one part-time person this year, with requests for service growing steadily. If this year's Community Fund drive is successful, the agency hopes to increase its professional staff to three.

Other Community Fund supported agencies rally to the aid of local families in trouble. The Salvation Army, which has traditionally offered counsel on personal and religious matters, offers emergency welfare services for persons experiencing temporary but immediate needs for food, clothing, furniture or shelter. The Plymouth Corps has helped an average of three to four families per week during the past few years, according to Capt. Warren Yoder.

The American Red Cross Chapter donated funds for food, clothing and furniture to Plymouth families whose homes were damaged in fires last year.

The help extended by Family Service is of a less concrete but equally crucial nature: listening, advising, bridging some of the communication gaps between wife and husband or parent and child.

"No one can say with certainty what trouble costs, but if there were no counseling services in Plymouth, the price of trouble could range to frightening proportions," Mrs. Brenner said. "Not just dollars, but human misery and dreadful waste."

Where Learning Can Be Exchanged

PLYMOUTH

Are you interested in, say, Himalayan Yaks...and looking for someone who shares the same interest?

Well, your troubles may be over. The Plymouth Youth Center's learning exchange can bring you face to face with others who share your "special" interest.

It works like this: people who are interested file their name, phone number and interest with Youth Inc. and the accumulated lists serve as the basis for organizations and activities.

Possibilities range from a club format to an information exchange group or just getting together once for a field trip. It will depend largely on the people involved.

The center offers these suggestions of things to do: yoga, collecting anything, winter sports, pottery and painting.

Or there are things to learn about: social-political study and action groups on economics, prisons or the American Indian.

Or skills to be acquired: bike repairing and printing.

The Learning Exchange is sponsored by Plymouth Youth Inc., 271 S. Main St. which will provide a meeting place and offer its resources and skills.

Along with the Exchange, Youth Inc. intends to develop a resource center which will be a collection of bibliographies, literature, sources for material and source people. Interested persons may apply at Youth Inc. Monday through Friday from 3-9 p.m.

How Community Fund Helps Other Agencies

Community Dental Fund

PLYMOUTH

Ouch!

A toothache is always painful and always very distracting. Especially to a young student.

Imagine if you will for a moment, that you are a student in Plymouth High School. A tooth, perhaps a molar, or maybe even a highly visible front incisor has been wasting away little by little for many months or even a year or more.

Lately it has been taking a turn for the worse. Now it responds violently to heat, cold and sweets. At present it is aching and jumping to some degree all of the time. How can you possibly concentrate on your school work while enduring this torment? If it does happen to be in front and it is partly decayed away, it becomes an appearance problem as well.

It could well contribute to mental anxieties and inferiority feelings as it embarrasses you by its unsightly appearance.

The tooth should have been attended to by the student's dentist at the first hint of trouble. But it wasn't. It was put off time after time. Most people would have had it taken care of promptly, but the student we are describing is unable to afford the dental attention because of severe economic adversity.

He may be even further disadvantaged because of the absence of badly needed relief from the painful tooth.

"Should we just sit back and see this student's future jeopardized by this bad tooth?"

At the Plymouth Community Fund where that question may be asked, they can do a real service to mankind by assisting this student during his time of need.

A portion of your Plymouth Community Fund contribution goes to the Plymouth Dental Fund to aid in correcting the needy student's dental problems. Administered by Dr. Thomas Morse and Mrs. Virginia Gibson, this dental program has a staff of 13 participating dentists who contribute their services to this cause at a greatly reduced rate and at no cost to the needy student.

The Plymouth Community Fund assures a continuation of this very worth while home town, charitable activity. For more than 20 years, needy students have benefitted from this attention to their dental problems because Plymouth people cared and wanted to assist others.

VISITING NURSE Mary Periard helps one senior citizen with her medical needs. That's just one of the services provided by the VNA.

Visiting Nurses

PLYMOUTH

Several months ago, an elderly widow began making plans to leave the Plymouth home she had occupied for 45 years. With no family nearby to attend her increasing medical needs, she saw no choice but to retire to a nursing home.

"But the thought of disposing of all this," she said gesturing with emotion toward a lifetime collection of curios, family pictures and furniture that had withstood four children and four decades of marriage, was almost more than I could bear."

Because of a unique non-profit public health agency, the Visiting Nurse Assn. (VNA) of Metropolitan Detroit, her thought of moving never materialized. The VNA arranged for a professional nurse to make regular stops at the home, dispense medication, and perform whatever treatment or therapy seems necessary.

That's only a fraction of what they do on a typical house call.

Professional nurses, assisted by licensed practical nurses, change dressings, massage limbs, and minister injections and pills. They visit the chronically ill, the aged, the handicapped, mothers with new babies,– anyone who needs part time care and rehabilitation.

"They bridge the gap between a patient's need for hospitalization and his return to normal health. Working with 42 area hospitals, the VNA arranges a program of home care services for patients being discharged. Thus patients can go home earlier with minimum interruption of their medical care," explains VNA Education Director Mrs. Cathryn Kurtagh.

"The nurse teaches family members how to care for the patient between her visits, showing them how to bathe the patient, give injections, or position him comfortably in a bed or wheelchair. Trained home health aides are available to assist with personal care and homemaking services under nursing supervision when there is no family member able to care for the patient and the home," she said.

In addition to its nursing staff, the VNA has other health care specialists contributing to the treatment and rehabilitation of its patients:

•Public health nutritionists offer guidance in planning meals for improved family nutrition, and in implementing special diets prescribed for such conditions as diabetes, heart disease and obesity.

•Registered physical therapists conduct treatments specified by physicians, such as exercises and gait training, to help patients function at a maximum level.

•A registered occupational therapist teaches patients how to strengthen weak muscles and improve coordination through crafts and daily living activities.

•Speech pathologists perform diagnostic evaluations and treat patients with speech and language problems in a family-oriented therapy program.

The VNA of Metropolitan Detroit was founded in 1898, the second organization of its kind in the country. Its services are available to all persons, regardless of economic status. Fees are based upon ability to pay, and are often covered through health plans such as Blue Cross or through Medicaid or Medicare.

Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts

PLYMOUTH

If you think scouting is square knots and scrapbooks, you haven't heard about the National Girl Scout Music and Arts Conference held last July in Rockford, Ill.

Two Plymouth girls, Janice Gunn of 8700 Brookville and Anita Nickoloff of 9123 Manton, both members of Troop 363, represented the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council at the two week encampment. Among the activities were rope and wood sculpture, water ballet, candlemaking and jug band music.

A steadily growing movement in Plymouth, scouting combines tradition with "today." Cub packs, Boy Scout troops and Explorer posts now enroll more than 1,000 boys in the city, while Brownie and Girl Scouts added two troops last year to number nearly 1,300. There are also girl Explorers.

Founded upon the principles of conservation and appreciation of the natural outdoors, the scout organizations are committed to ecology.

It's demonstrated by Cub Scouts collecting newspapers and non-refillable pop bottles for a recycling center; by Junior Girl Scout Troops 526 and 696 cleaning up the grounds of Smith School; and by boys and girls participating in Project SOAR, "Save Our American Resources," a national project aimed locally at cleaning up the environment.

Yet ecology is only a fragment of this Community Fund-supported program. Scouting emphasizes not merely what a youngster does, but what he learns – about the activity and himself – in the process.

"Cub scouting, for boys eight through 10, stresses family togetherness, personal achievement, and getting along with others," explains Donald Nelson of the Detroit Area Council. "Boy Scouts learn and practice democracy while delving into specialized merit badge subjects ranging from life-saving to atomic energy."

Service projects are also central to the scouting program. During the past year, Girl Scout Troop 637 made three visits to the Wayne County Child Development Center in Plymouth, bringing pumpkins at Halloween and helping the youngsters decorate them. Junior Troop 303 gave the children at the center an Easter party. Junior Troop 290 made Easter baskets for the patients at Plymouth State Home, while Junior Troop 696 collected toys for the children there at Christmas.

The Explorer program exposes boys and girls aged 14 to 18 to a variety of business and career opportunities. Sponsored by local companies and professional persons, the program associates young people with working adults and teaches them first hand about job skills and responsibilities, Mr. Nelson says. "The experience has greatly influenced scouts in their decisions about future studies and careers."

Scouts, in fact, are assuming increasing adult responsibilities within their own organization. Last March, the Huron Valley Council voted to admit girls aged 14 to 18 to full adult status as voting members of the board of directors.

Senior Citizens Club

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth senior citizens have little time on their hands, thanks to the Plymouth Community Fund.

Organized in October, 1960 with 30 charter members, the Plymouth Senior Citizens Club now has a roster of 237. Meetings are held from noon to 4 p.m. Thursdays at the Tonquish Creek Manor Recreation Room.

The fund supports an activities director, Mrs. Janet Luce, who obtains entertainment for the meetings ranging from travelogues to speakers and local school talent. She also schedules bus trips to places of interest, including "twinkle tour" each Christmas to view the holiday lights and decorations of downtown Detroit and Dearborn.

"A committee provides sandwiches or other refreshment during the first two monthly meetings," according to Mrs. Winifred M. Downing, the club's secretary. "The third week features a birthday cake to honor all members who had had birthdays that month, while on the fourth week, the club furnishes meat and beverages for a potluck dinner.

"We have catered dinners near Thanksgiving and Christmas," she adds. "This means a great deal to the members who are alone. Our group also remembers the residents of rest homes and shut-ins at Christmas with gifts or flowers."

Thoughtfulness is a central element of the club's program. It appoints a health and welfare committee to remember those who are ill with cards, flowers and personal cards. A telephone committee notifies the group of a member's serious illness or death.

Plymouth's older residents are looked after by several other Community Fund agencies as well.

Red Cross volunteers processed almost 90 inquiries from Plymouthites in Project FIND, a national campaign to identify and enroll elderly persons eligible for federal food assistance. (In all, approximately 1,000 northwest area residents requested help in receiving food through this program.)

Twice a month, the Salvation Army runs its mini-bus route for the residents of Tonquish Creek Manor, transporting them to the bank, grocery store and shopping centers. The Michigan Cancer Foundation and the Visiting Nurses Assn. also service many elderly patients.

"Without the support of the Plymouth Community Fund, none of this could be accomplished," Mrs. Downing says. "This group derives so much in the way of both social services and social contact. We would be unable to 'earn' the funds to conduct these activities if support were discontinued."

JCs Start Program

PLYMOUTH

A new fire safety program called Operation Red Ball is now underway with the sponsorship of the Plymouth Fire Department and Plymouth Jaycees.

Red Ball stickers have been distributed to both the Plymouth and Plymouth Township fire departments. Stickers are to be placed on bedroom windows of children and invalids.

In case of emergency or fire, rescuers can go directly to those rooms, speeding life-saving work.

Jaycees, local agents for American Red Ball Transit Co., are providing the stickers as a community service. American Transit is a worldwide moving company with headquarters in Indianapolis.

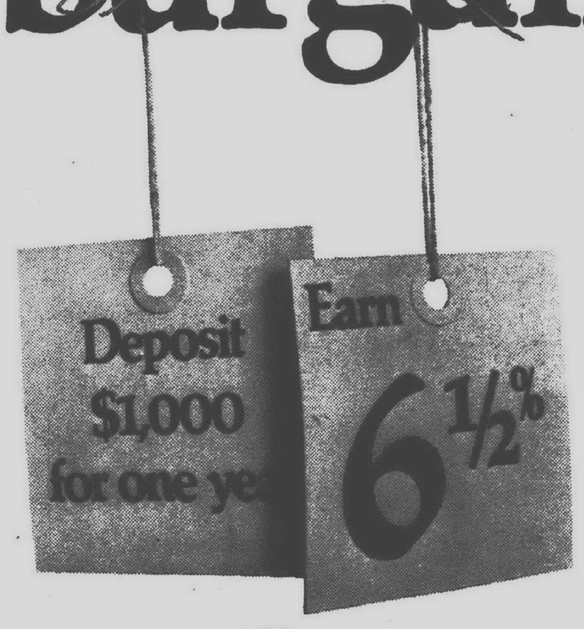
First Federal announces a bargain.



On money.

If you'll deposit $1000 or more in a Certificate Savings Account for just one year, you'll earn 6½% annual interest, paid and compounded quarterly.

And that's a bargain.

That means you no longer have to tie up your funds for a long period of time to earn high interest on your savings. In fact, 6½% annual interest yields an effective annual rate of 6.66%.

So ask yourself this: At times like these, when it seems like every day you're getting a little less for your money...shouldn't you take advantage of a savings program that offers you so much?

Whoever thought money would be a bargain?

More Guards For Airport

Up to 60 special security guards will be hired at Detroit Metropolitan Wayne County Airport under an agreement between the County Road Commission and the county sheriff.

The arrangement between the Road Commission, which operates the airport, and Sheriff William Lucas was approved by the County Board of Commissioners last week.

The new guards, who will be uniformed and armed, will be responsible for security in terminal buildings, runways, aprons and taxiways -- areas now patrolled by Sheriff's deputies.

They also will replace federal marshals now stationed at baggage inspection points and passenger boarding areas.

The sheriff will continue to be responsible for law enforcement outside of the terminals and those outdoor areas not patrolled by the security guards.

The Road Commission decided to create the force of "airport operations assistants -- security" after the Federal Aviation Agency directed that airports nationally take over the responsibilities of the federal marshals. The FAA set a Nov. 1 deadline at Metro Airport.

The matter came before the Board of Commissioners after the sheriff's deputies' union complained to the board about the road commission plan.

However, the sheriff acknowledged that the road commission has the statutory authority over security at the airport and, after months of discussion, agreed to the arrangement.

The Board of Commissioners gave its approval after receiving the signed agreement between the sheriff and the road agency.

The deputies' union, Local 502M of the National Union of Police Officers, contended: that airport security requires full-time police officers; that the road commission guards will cost more; and that deputies' morale will suffer because the security guards will be paid more.

The road commission contended that the cost will be about the same, but that the security guards will be able to devote about 30 per cent of their time to non-security management duties.

In an effort to resolve the dispute, the board's public safety and judiciary committee appointed one of its members, Commissioner Richard E. Manning, of Redford, to meet with the three parties.

S'craft Dean Is --

'Going Places' In Voc-Tech

By KATHY MORAN

A gold-painted distributor cap sits on Ted Diebel's desk, but pencils, instead of spark plug wires, fill the openings.

The cap is first indication that the man behind the desk is interested in vocational fields. And after a brief discussion, that impression is reinforced.

Diebel is Schoolcraft College's new dean of applied sciences. He is settling into his new position with respect for the direction the college has taken in career fields, and he has plenty of new ideas.

He's replacing Jon Adams who retired this summer after building the college's vocational program from 500 to 2,600 students.

Diebel is likely to put the same thrust in vocational areas as Adams did since he worked as assistant dean to Adams when both were involved in vocational programs at Ferris State College in Big Rapids.

He already is speculating on programs Schoolcraft could initiate if job opportunities and funding are available.

"Schoolcraft College is well established in the vocational education picture," Diebel said. "This college is going places. This is the kind of activity I want to continue to be a part of."

DEAN TED DIEBEL: "There are practically no limitations to what can be done if the job opportunities are there..."

Diebel's vast background in career education includes a year as administrator of a federal project in Khartoum, Sudan, where he helped develop an occupational program and teacher training program.

The project, sponsored jointly by Dunwoody Industrial Institute of Minnesota and the U.S. Agency International Development, was halted abruptly when war broke out in the Middle East and Sudan severed diplomatic relations with the United States.

Prior to going to Sudan, Diebel spent a year as state director for vocational education in Montana. He returned to Montana after his year in Sudan and spent six years as dean of vocational education at North Moutana College in Havre.

His experience also includes 6½ years as assistant dean for trade and industrial education at Ferris, 1½ years as mechanical drafting instructor at Ferris and three years as a pre-vocational teacher in Muskegon.

A native of Michigan, Diebel graduated from Michigan State University in 1957 with a degree in industrial education and later earned a master's in vocational education and administration from the University of Michigan in 1956.

He says community colleges provide opportunities for training a person for gainful employment and at the same time give them an opportunity to take general education courses.

The college provides alternatives which allow a person to receive training, retraining or upgrading, he said.

He sees as possibilities for Schoolcraft to expand, such fields as graphic arts, law enforcement and security, and health related fields.

"There are practically no limitations to what can be done if the job opportunities are there as well as the economic support to make it possible," Diebel says.

He says he will be updating, improving or replacing programs which may fade in popularity.

Diebel describes himself as a family man who enjoys the outdoors and has been active in scouting activities with his wife, Juanita, and three sons Dan, 15, Dave, 12, and Mike, 11.

Currently he is waiting to sell his home in Montana and move his family to Michigan.

Diebel's professional activities include the American Vocational Assn., National Occupational Competency Testing Institute and Kiwanis. In Montana, he was vice president of the local hospital's board of trustees.

JAMES M. HARTMAN of Westland has been appointed senior assistant manager of the National Bank of Detroit's Ford-Wayne Road office in Westland. A bank employe for 3½ years, Hartman has served as teller, general teller and assistant manager. He is a student at the University of Detroit and member of the U.S. Army Reserve.

Volunteers Are Needed

Madonna College is accepting applications for the volunteer probation officers training program which prepares private citizens to counsel youthful offenders.

Persons interested in becoming a volunteer officer can get applications from Ronald Troyer, Madonna College, 36600 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150.

The college has trained more than 500 citizens during the last three years through the federally funded program.

'S'more' Stories Of A Girl Scout Leader

observing life

By MARGARET MILLER

When you're a Cadette Girl Scout leader and your girls tell you "you could write a book," there's just one course of action.

You write a book.

Mrs. Judy Cleveland of Farmington is the author, and the book she wrote – with help from a couple of friends also in Girl Scouting – is a true chronicle of a leader who found Scouting too much fun to quit.

It's titled, with complete logic, "A Little Bit Led to S'more."

Judy admits it was a Boy Scout friend who came up with the idea of naming the volume after S'mores, those gooey confections of graham crackers, chocolate bars and roasted marshmallows dear to the hearts of Girl Scouts everywhere.

But the encouragement for the writing came from Mrs. Betty Stone of Lathrup Village and Mrs. Julie Dawson of Birmingham – as well as the girls in Cadette Troop 317 in Farmington.

Judy and Fred Monroy are co-leaders of that troop, and a good share of the book are about its adventures and misadventures.

Mrs. Stone is illustrator of the book, coming officially off the presses Friday, Oct. 12, and Mrs. Dawson, former staff member for Southern Oakland Girl Scouts (SOGS), is publisher.

The three had worked together on the SOGS public relations committee, and that's how "S'more" had its beginning.

To publicize Girl Scout week in March this year, the public relations committee put out a humorous article Judy wrote about Scouts, especially those in Troop 317.

It came complete with illustrations by co-leader Monroy, and this newspaper gave it a big spread.

The Cadettes in 317 were delighted and started telling their Mrs. Cleveland she should write a book.

At first it seemed a good joke, said Judy, who had led Brownie and Junior before Cadettes. "But then I started thinking about all the adventures we've had," she said "and when the ideas started coming at 3 a.m., I decided it was time to start writing."

Julie Dawson had by this time resigned her full-time job with SOGS and was thinking of a business that would help other women develop their talents. The book seemed a natural.

"And the person we wanted for illustrator was Betty Stone," Mrs. Dawson said. "She has done many illustrations for Girl Scout publicity and would know just what we wanted."

So the book became a three - woman project and definitely a fun one because, the trio agreed, "we enjoy each other."

Ads have been placed in American Girl and the Girl Scout leaders magazine, and already some orders have been received.

"We'll see now if it sells," Julie said. "We think it will, because there's no comparable publication for Girl Scouts, and we have a big built-in potential market when you consider all the Scouts and their parents and leaders."

"A Little Bit Led to S'more," costing $2, can be purchased only by writing or telephoning Mrs. Peter Dawson, Dept. E, 631 Gordon Lane, Birmingham, 48009.

Tucked into each book as a bonus is an embroidered patch – showing a s'more, of course – and suitable for sewing onto jacket, jeans or hat. The patches are all ready but the ladies still have to add chocolate with liquid embroidery.

Judy Cleveland's current 317 girls are likely to be early customers. "But you have to promise," she told them so solemnly they almost believed her, "that you won't read it until you're out of the troop. I don't want you getting any ideas."

Film Stars To Headline 2 Town Halls

Two names often in theater lights, David Niven and Olivia de Haviland, will headline the Livonia and Farmington Town Hall openers Oct. 17 and 18.

Niven will be speaker for the Livonia series at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 17, in the Terrace Theater, 30400 Plymouth, Livonia.

Miss de Haviland's talk is scheduled by the Farmington Town Hall in the Northland Theater, 15600 J.L. Hudson Drive, Southfield, at 11 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 18.

Both also will be guests at celebrity luncheons following the lectures.

Niven, making the Livonia Town Hall appearances one of the first in a new lecture tour, leads off a series that also will feature writer and columnist Marjorie Holmes on Nov. 14, naturalist Jean-Pierre Hallet Jan. 16, and television personality Virginia Graham March 20.

Tickets for the lecture series are $10 and may be purchased at the theater at the time of the Niven talk.

The Livonia celebrity luncheons are held in the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. Luncheon reservations must be made by calling the telephone number printed on the back of the season tickets. Reservations for the Niven luncheon are due by Friday, Oct. 12.

Miss de Haviland, who made many top films in Hollywood and now makes her home in Paris, will use as her topic "From the City of Stars to the City of Lights."

The Farmington series she opens also will include as speakers photographer Philippe Halsman on Nov. 15, writer Irene Kampen on March 21, and writer Catherine Marshall on April 18.

Series tickets are $10 and may be purchased at the theater or reserved with Mrs. Rita Mosshamer, 34032 Moore Drive, Farmington.

Farmington celebrity luncheons are held in Vladimir's Restaurant, Grand River at Eight Mile. They cost $5.50 and reservations should be telephoned to Shirley Hatfield at the Farmington Board of Education by 12 noon Monday, Oct. 15.

Pine Cones Stockpiled

Juniors Gather For Project

A huge stockpile of pine cones, acorns, thistle and other dried material will be turned into big, decorative wreaths as the Western Suburban Junior Women's Club conducts its annual workshops early next month.

The workshops, in which anyone interested can fashion a holiday wreath for the investment of $7.50 and one evening, are scheduled Nov. 6, 7 and 8 in the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, 701 Church.

All materials will be furnished, and the club will use the proceeds to raise funds for a Schoolcraft College scholarship, to support the Kidney Foundation and to make a donation to Loch Rio, a home for young girls in Belleville.

Workshops will begin at 8 p.m. each evening. On Thursday, Nov. 8, a 10:30 a.m. session also is planned.

Reservations will be closed Oct. 30, but the club urges all interested to reserve space early since all places usually are filled before the deadline.

Those interested in making a wreath or two for the holidays may make reservations by calling Mrs. Kenneth Zecman, 14860 Farmbrook, Plymouth.

The wreath project was begun by the Western Suburban Junior club in 1968 when Mrs. Alma Kelly, then conservation chairman, learned a new, fast and foolproof method of fashioning the popular wreaths.

In the first workshop that year, club members brought their own materials and paid for the workshop. Since then the project has become a major fund-raiser for the organization, with members gathering the materials all summer.

Carolyn Zecman has headed the project for several years.

This year, each member was asked to be responsible for three 20-gallon plastic bags full of pine cones and assorted other materials to be sure of having a good supply for the workshop.

SC Series Consider Female Status, Jobs

Growing up as a female and employment opportunities for women will be the subjects of two Schoolcraft College discussion series beginning next week.

The college's women's continuum is sponsoring both "Growing Up Female," scheduled to begin Monday, Oct. 15, from 1 to 3 p.m., and "Let's Take Another Look at Occupations," planned Tuesdays from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. beginning Oct. 16. Each series runs six weeks.

There is no charge for either series. Women wishing to register should call the Schoolcraft Continuum office.

Nancy Dufour, continuum head, and Lynn Bankes will lead the discussions on femaleness, to be held in room B240 in the Liberal Arts Building on the Schoolcraft campus.

The number of participants will be limited to 25.

Mrs. Dufour said the series will give women an opportunity to share feelings and awareness of being female in America.

Topics may include marriage and the family, education, religion, laws, biological and psychological sex differences, the job market, health care services for women, women in other cultures and developing a separate identity and changes in lifestyles.

Actual discussion topics will be set and researched by the entire group. Guest speakers and films may be arranged.

The series on job opportunities, with Mrs. Dufour as discussion leader, will be held in room 102 of the college's new instructional center at 29205 Florence, Garden City.

This series will give women an opportunity to take a closer look at 30 or more occupations with emphasis on the tasks involved in doing the work, skills and abilities necessary, the training required, the outlook for women in the area, earnings and working conditions.

Some occupations covered will be in the health fields, human relations fields, business, the social service fields, science and technical areas.

Participants will meet in a group of 20 to discuss their own experiences in the work world and their knowledge of the work experiences of others.

Occupational materials will be available for review.

Camp Fire Girls Get New Program

Camp Fire Girls in this area and across the country have brand-new program materials as they begin their 1973-74 year.

The revisions -- ranging from a new name for Camp Fire Girls nine to 11 years of age to new craft materials for various age levels – were introduced recently by Mrs. Beverly Buchanan of Livonia.

Mrs. Buchanan is a member of the Detroit area CFG Council's program introduction committee.

As of Sept. 12, Camp Fire Girls nine to 11 are in the Adventurer program. Adventurers, as well as Blue Birds, ages six to eight, Discovery Club members, ages 12 and 13, and Horizon Club members, ages 14 to high school, all have new guidelines and ideas.

Included in the Adventurer program are projects on religions, stressing the application of worship and ethics to all aspects of life, and new "venture crafts," in which girls plan and evaluate their own activities.

Mrs. Buchanan said the Camp Fire program for the '70s "helps young people learn what they need to know to become competent, caring and fulfilled adults."

"It encourages self-development and self-awareness," she added, "and builds skills in leadership, planning and decision-making."

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL apple month and there's no better way to celebrate than with caramel apples, brittle crispies and fresh apple cider.

Carmel Apples Offer October Party Fun

Food as an integral part of the party is an American tradition, but getting friends together especially to prepare food is also becoming popular with modern hostesses.

Fondueing has helped to generate interest in guest participation, and what better way to extend this pleasant custom, particularly in the fall when apples are harvest time fresh, than to introduce "caramel apple'ing!"

October is National Apple Month, so why not a "caramel apple'ing" party to help celebrate?

Making caramel apples is perfect party fun because it will interest the seasoned chef as well as the novice cook in your group – who will, of course, delight in adding to his repertoire.

Choose any favorite apple variety and allow to warm to room temperature before dipping. After the crisp apples have been coated with rich creamy caramel, these delicious – and nutritious – confections can be trimmed in any number of interesting ways.

Although this recipe suggests dressing the caramel apples with candy corn, you might also consider marshmallows, chopped nuts, coconut or other candies.

Perhaps your guests would even enjoy bringing trimmings to the party themselves.

When the evening waxes old and cooks and artists have put away their tools, you'll want to serve some simple additional treats to round out the party fare. Cider and brittle crispies, a cereal cookie full of marshmallow and peanut-brittle surprises, will add to your guests' enjoyment of their delectable caramel apple creations.

Caramel apples are best in autumn when fresh juicy apples are in greatest abundance. Dairy-fresh caramels are always available in convenient 14-ounce bags – just the right size for one batch of caramel apples. And in fall, you'll find them with wooden sticks packed right in the bag in your grocer's produce section, alongside the apples, as well as on the candy shelves.

CARAMEL APPLES

49 (14 oz. bag) caramels
2 T. water
4 or 5 medium-sized apples, washed and dried
Wooden sticks

Melt caramels with water in covered double boiler or in saucepan over low heat. Stir occasionally until sauce is smooth. Insert a wooden stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot caramel sauce turning until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples. Place on greased waxed paper; chill until firm. Keep in a cool place.

Variation: Before chilling apples, decorate with candy corn or roll in chow mein noodles.

BRITTLE CRISPIES

1 c. miniature marshmallows
1/4 c. margarine
4 c. crisp rice cereal
1 c. crushed peanut brittle

Melt marshmallows with margarine in a saucepan over low heat; stir occasionally until smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in cereal and candy. Press into a greased nine-inch square pan and cool. Cut into squares. Serve with apple cider.

Members of the LWV local study group will chair the session, with each planning commission chairman presenting a brief synopsis of the current status of planning and zoning in the city and township. The speakers will answer questions from the floor.

Mothers-To-Be Are Offered New Annapolis Course

Mothers-to-be can learn more about the birth process and hospital facilities in Annapolis Hospital, 33155 Annapolis, Wayne.

The six-week course, offered by the Peoples Community Hospital Authority, will be held from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays in the hospital. The next course is scheduled to begin in late October or early November.

The course will consist of a tour of the labor and delivery areas and the nursery, and a childbirth movie, according to Mrs. Ann Harkins, the instructor who is also head nurse in the delivery room at Annapolis.

"We teach basic anatomy, fetal development, nutrition, pre and post-natal exercises, anesthetics, breast feeding, and baby care and bathing," said Mrs. Harkins.

"In addition," she continued, "the women are taken on a tour of the labor and delivery areas and the nursery. They are also shown a movie of an actual birth. With these adjuncts to the purly bookwork sessions, the women have an informed concept of the birth process and the hospital facilities."

Mrs. Harkins has been with PCHA at Annapolis Hospital for two years.

CONDUCTOR MICHAEL ENDRES

Endres Gets New Post

H. Michael Endres has been named new director of the Westland Civic Symphony Orchestra.

Endres, director of orchestras in the Plymouth Community Schools for eight years, was appointed recently by Westland Mayor Eugene McKinney. He replaces Charles Heard who resigned to devote more time to other musical activities.

Rehearsals for the orchestra will begin Wednesday, Oct. 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the instrumental room at John Glenn High School. Anyone interested in auditioning should contact Parks and Recreation Director Mel Bailey.

The first concert of the Westland Civic Symphony Orchestra 1973-74 season will be Dec. 9 in the Wayne-Westland Community Auditorium. Concerts also are planned March 10 and as part of the Westland Spring Festival activities during the Memorial Day weekend.

The new director has taught in various elementary and middle schools, and his assignment has included vocal music, beginning wind instruments, beginning and junior high strings, as well as being the high school orchestra director.

Endres currently teaches full time at Plymouth High School where his assignment includes symphony and cadet orchestras, music history, music theory, and two string quartets.

His musical education includes bachelor and master of music degrees plus doctoral work from the University of Michigan and graduate work at the University of Kansas and California State College. While at Michigan, Endres studied conducting.

He has been a member of the community orchestras in Plymouth, Jackson, Ann Arbor, Hillsdale and was principal bass of the Eastern Michigan University Civic Orchestra for three years.

JCC Gets Back To Bach

"Bach is Back," an all Bach musical program, will mark the opening of the Jewish Community Center Symphony Orchestra's 1973-74 season.

The event is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in the Aaron DeRoy Theater, 18100 Meyers Rd., Detroit.

The opening concert will feature as guest soloists Detroit Symphony Concert Master Gordon Staples and his wife Beatriz, also with the Detroit Symphony.

Staples will perform Bach's E Major Violin Concerto and the two will perform the D Minor Double Concerto. The performance will mark the first time the two have appeared together professionally as a husband and wife team.

Another feature of the concert will be Detroit pianist Joann Freeman's performance of Bach's D Minor Piano Concerto.

Tickets now are available in the Jewish Center cashier's office.

THE NATURAL LOOK, in modern home furnishings and accessories, is exemplified by the suede and leather pillows, authentic American Indian rug, and ceramic racoon in natural colors. The large collection, assembled from all over the world, makes its debut Oct. 13 in all Hudson's stores.

Reroofing Is Redecorating

In the old days, you merely "reroofed." Now, you can also "redecorate."

The difference is that for a long time, roofing styles – like men's fashions – stayed pretty much the same. A new roof usually looked like the old one – only cleaner.

Introduction of what the industry is calling a "new breed" of premium-grade asphalt shingles changed that.

Reroofing has become an opportunity to visually upgrade not just the housetop, but the entire exterior.

The new shingles have a dramatic textured look and are available in a wide range of rustic colors. Both elements – line and hue – reflect the increasing environmental interest of architects, builders and homeowners.

Essentially, the new shingles offer a natural appearance with the fire-resistant benefits of man-made roofing.

To achieve the textured look, a variety of manufacturing processes are used. Some shingles are embossed, some have staggered butt-lines, other are double or triple laminated.

They are designed to last up to 25 years with little or no maintenance.

The colors of the new shingles tend to be deeper, bolder and more natural looking. They are most popular in "earthtones" – browns, greens and slate grays.

There is also a new white shingle that's chemically treated to retard the growth of fungi and algae.

It was designed for use in warm, humid areas like the South where white roofs are subject to ugly discoloration by these microscopic growths. Roofs with treated shingles stay white longer.

Mortgage Blues? Stay Put; Remodel

The mortgage situation in most areas of the country is virtually impossible. Many homeowners are deciding to stay put and remodel.

The wise ones schedule remodeling projects in order of importance – a kind of five-year plan. It could be two years or 10 but, whichever, analyze your needs carefully and assign priorities.

Most important are the items that have a bearing on the safety of your family, or protection of the house. If the roof leaks, it should be repaired right now. The same is true if exterior wood is starting to rot, or if wiring is dangerously outmoded, or a septic tank is not functioning properly.

Next, consider your home in terms of space. Are there enough bedrooms? Adequate bathroom facilities? Sufficient storage areas?

Then analyze the situation in relation to comfort, convenience, ease of maintenance – the items that affect everyday living: an up-to-date kitchen, insulation, weatherstripping, self-storing storm-screen windows, washable wall and floor coverings.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

This year's crop of seeds on most ornamental trees is quite heavy.

Is it possible to start some trees from the seed? No reason why you can't. That's how Mother Nature does it each fall. So copy her trick.

First, keep in mind that some tree seeds must be exposed to a cold treatment. That is, they need the winter to break their internal dormancy. If seed is sown outdoors in a mixture of sand and peatmoss, and left there all winter the exposure is just what the seed needs. This treatment is called "stratification" and it comes with fall sowing.

You can get the same effect by keeping the seed in the refrigerator. A few tree seeds which need the cold treatment include birches, buckeyes, ash, cherries, American chestnut, Douglas fir, hemlocks, hornbeam, juniper, mulberries, some oaks, magnolias, some spruces, sweetgum, sycamores, walnuts and many others.

If by chance you can't get these tree seeds planted outdoors, or "stratified" over winter, you can put the seeds in the deep freeze compartment for a week or two before planting them in the spring.

Start gathering your seeds as soon as they are ripe, which is when they start falling off the tree.

In case you're wondering about seeds of peach, apple and other fruit trees, remember they rarely produce good fruit. You shouldn't plant them unless you plan on budding or grafting "good" stock on them.

If you want to plant walnuts, chestnuts and other nuts now, better use a beer or pop can, open end down. Slit the top of the can and pry the sharp edges upward slightly so that the little seedling can get out but the squirrels can't get in. Be sure to bury the nut, then set the can over it.

Incidentally, most or many acorns can be planted in the classroom or kitchen window, without giving them any particular treatment. This makes a good project for your children.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: "Is it true you can plant seeds of some annuals now and have them come up early in the spring?"

Yes, a few can be sown now. One of the best is the bachelor button. Sow them in the ground and they will lie dormant all fall. Then in spring they will come up and make very husky plants. Once you get them started, you'll have bachelor buttons coming year after year.

Garden Chatter

Tommy Easterbrook, 8, harvested his carrot crop last week, a half a bushel of them. Tommy decided a 10½-inch giant that weighed one pound, 4½ ounces, must be just about the largest carrot around.

The young gardener is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Eastwood of 42512 Hamill, Plymouth Township. He attends Tanger Elementary School.

Eclectic Decor Needn't Be 'Hodge-Podge'

OFF-BEAT COLOR SCHEME is the idea behind Designer Robert Whitman's bedroom, with vibrant shades of color found in the most beautiful flower gardens. It combines the colors your mother told you wouldn't work ... and makes them work beautifully.

Eclectic is a fascinating idea . . . but every time YOU try it, it seems to turn out "hodge - podge."

Taking what appears to be the best of various styles or colors is an art – and the whole business of going eclectic is one of the most exciting adventures in home decorating today.

"It's easy for decorators," you say. "But how can I make it work?"

Simply, by using a thread of continuity.

This is not as paradoxical as it sounds.

In the anomaly of this newest home furnishings style, you can crossbreed styles, colors, patterns – do almost anything you feel like. Heresy becomes quite acceptable.

What you must remember is that somewhere in your individuality, a central scheme – a big idea – holds the pieces together.

If you study the living room by designer Cathy Erb, you'll see oriental tables . . . a neoteric (add that to your decorator vocabulary!) etagere . . . traditional upholstered pieces . . . and a French Provincial ceiling.

What makes it go together so beautifully?

If you take a close look, there is a key pattern theme throughout the room – diamonds. They're in the tables; they're in the carpet; they make up the window grillwork. There is even a diamond design in the wall - covering and in the upholstery. The diamond pattern unifies the room and still allows the excitement and contrast of the eclectic mix.

What's the big idea in the bedroom? Designer Robert Whitman says: "An offbeat color scheme."

Pick up a color scheme from a decorating book, and you're a student . . . pick out a color scheme from a magzine, and you're a copy-cat . . . but translate a color scheme from nature, and you're an artist!

If you're afraid to mix red, purple, lavender, orange, and yellow . . . you shouldn't be. Mother Nature does it all the time, and she knows it's "not nice to fool" you!

Take a look at the floral arrangement on the elegant dresser. Roses, delphiniums, violets, and marigolds make a fantastic composition.

Whitman uses another simple trick – mating several shades of the same color family. For example, the plush carpet in lilac highlights the purple in the bedspread . . . and the gold of the sitting room walls is picked up in another shade of gold in the plaid love seat. The furniture in this room is from Thomasville's Chateau Provence Collection.

Don't be self-conscious about mixing the old with the new. Antique appointments give a new house character and mellowness . . . while modern new furnishings update an old house.

Eclectic doesn't mean putting a square peg in a round hole. It means creating the extraordinary . . . the uncommon . . . the unusual . . . with diverse elements based around some central or big idea.

With this in mind, you can start today with your own big idea and create surroundings of a hybrid quality . . . and live "eclectically" – happily – ever after.

29 Soil Types Charted In Wayne Land Survey

A three-year survey which charted all the soil types in Wayne County has been completed with a declaration that it "will open a new chapter in Wayne County government's efforts to improve our environment."

Results of the survey will be available from the Wayne County Soil Conservation District office, 2006 S. Wayne Road, Westland.

The soil survey covered 230,000 of the 388,000 acres in Wayne County, missing only those acres "irrevocably covered with concrete or buildings," in the words of one survey official.

Among the 29 soil types identified is a previously-unclassified variety found near Belleville and therefore named "Belleville loamy fine sand."

The survey was conducted by the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Michigan Agricultural Experiment State at Michigan State University. The Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service and the County Planning Commission cooperated in the program.

Half the $120,000 cost of the survey was granted by the Board of Commissioners, with the balance underwritten by the Department of Agriculture and MSU.

Robert FitzPatrick, chairman of the county board of commissioners, said the soil survey will serve as a blueprint for planning of green belts and "preservation of our dwindling farmlands."

"It also gives us a guide as to the best locations, from the environmental point of view, for commercial and residential development," he added.

Survey results will be used in the regulatory powers which the county received under the state sedimentation and erosion control legislation passed last year, as well as under anticipated state land use legislation, FitzPatrick added.

FitzPatrick said the county's activities in the field of environmental protection would be stepped up.

He called for stiffer fines for air pollution and to announce he will ask the County Board of Commissioners to establish a Wayne County Environmental Council.

"I believe the state should give the courts in Wayne County the authority to impose the same stringent fines for air pollution that are in force throughout the rest of Michigan," FitzPatrick stated.

"Elsewhere," he added, "violators may be fined $10,000 for each day of violation. Only in Wayne County is the maximum fine limited to $100 per day."

Our Garden Columnists Meet

A Visit With Katy And Doc Abraham

By BETTY FRANKEL
Special Writer

"Take the right fork and go up the hill until you come to the bank planted with blue spruce," said Katy Abraham as she directed me to the house where she and "Doc" Abraham live and produce their Green Thumb garden column, which appears in the Observer and other newspapers.

They were just the sort of directions a gardener would give, and I had no trouble finding the right plants and the right house.

Doc and Katy Abraham live in Naples, N.Y., and recently, when I was near there I decided it would be fun for the Observer's "Suburban Gardener" to pay a call on the "Green Thumb" gardener.

Naples is in the heart of New York State's Finger Lakes region, a beautiful area with long narrow lakes separated by gently rounded hills patch-worked with farms.

There are fields of wheat that have taken on a ripe golden hue by now, and row after row of grape vines. This is wine country, and in early autumn the air is perfumed with the heady aroma of grapes that hang in big heavy clusters from the vines.

At Doc and Katy Abraham's, the grape fragrance mingles with the scent of freshly cut grass and the perfume of many kinds of flowers.

Their long, low white house, built on the crest of the hill, has a lower level where Doc does his writing. The sunny, cheerful room, filled with a busy clutter of books, brochures, partially finished manuscripts, and mail waiting to be answered, has a wall lined with book shelves.

There are hundreds of garden books, and stacks of pamphlets ready to be mailed to readers who request information.

Next to the house is a small greenhouse not too busy at this season but waiting to be filled with all sorts of plants.

The carport was crammed with impatiens and begonias, with pots and boxes and hanging baskets that had been hastily rescued when frost had been predicted the previous evening.

There was also an assortment of plants and paraphernalia that Doc and Katy had used the preceding evening when they had taped their weekly television show for a Rochester, N.Y. station.

As Doc showed me around the large yard, he pointed out some of the unusual and interesting things he was trying out: Luffa gourds with insides that can be used for wash cloths or sponges, Rieger begonias with big gorgeous blooms, sweet yellow banana peppers.

There were herbs growing in cement blocks, and many kinds of plants were being grown in half barrels. Big tomato plants with cages around them had their roots in a half-barrel of garden soil.

Cucumbers sprouted from another barrel and another could hardly contain all the flowers that tumbled from it.

On the front porch was an attractive planter box made from an old water tank cut in half lengthwise.

The lunch that Katy so hospitably served featured homegrown tomatoes, cucumbers and corn on the cob - and delicious elderberry pie. We ate on the glass-enclosed sun porch amidst a gorgeous jungle of big red and green and silver-leaved begonia plants which Katy had raised from seeds.

After lunch Doc went to exercise his green thumb on the estate of Mrs. William Widmer, whose husband had owned vineyards and the wine company whose headquarters are in Naples.

Katy took me for a tour of the area so I could see the grapes -- the purple Concords, the green Niagaras and the rosy catawbas--being harvested. Some were being picked by hand and others were being gathered by a huge machine with metal arms that reached out, clutching and shaking the vines until the bunches of grapes dropped off into big hoppers.

In the midst of the vineyards, like a jewel with the vine covered hills for a setting, was Canandaigua Lake glinting in the sun.

When I reluctantly left, Doc Abraham tucked a bottle of the local wine and a big basket of juicy, purple grapes into the car. Their winy fragrance accompanied me all the way back to Michigan.

Anyone Can Grow A Bottle Garden

There are a number of plants that will root and grow in water, say Michigan State University horticulturists.

The plants best suited for bottle gardening include geranium, impatiens, wax begonia, coleus, philodendron, aglaonema and most ivies such as English ivy and German ivy.

Many of these plants have embryonic root systems at the nodes (joints) on the stem. These preformed roots develop rapidly when the plant is placed in water.

Any waterproof container can be part of your bottle garden. Prepare the container by washing it with warm soapy water, rinsing thoroughly and drying it. Wash plants in soapy water with a vegetable brush.

Cut off any leaves that would be below the water line and any dead or damaged foilage. Then cut the plant stem just below the node, the point where the leaf originates. The cut should be sharp without damaging the stem.

Replace the water lost by evaporation and change the water monthly to control algae growth. Keep the container clean and clear. Green containers are especially good for bottle gardening since the growth of algae is reduced.

A water-soluble house plant fertilizer may be added to the water at one-fourth to one-fifth the rate recommended for potted house plants.

Does A Higher Office Beckon Sen. Pursell?

By KATHY MORAN

Although the 1974 election seems miles away, the jigsaw pieces are already being fitted for what will become the Republican and Democratic tickets in the statewide election.

One major puzzle is who will fill the lieutenant governor slot on the Republican gubernatorial ticket if, as expected, Lt. Gov. James Brickley declines to run again.

Sen. Carl Pursell of Plymouth is rumored to be on the list of likely candidates for Gov. Milliken's running mate.

Pursell's record as a freshman senator is on his side, coupled with the fact that he is one of the most noted Republicans from southeastern Michigan.

Those factors, along with speculation that Brickley is looking for a place to pursue his interest in criminal justice, may combine to put Pursell on the GOP ticket.

Should Milliken be in the position of scouting for a new lieutenant governor candidate, he'll have to look toward a metropolitan area to balance his ticket. As a Traverse City resident, Milliken has support from out-state areas and will need a partner to draw votes from urban areas.

Pursell stands out as a respected legislator who has accomplished more in his brief political career than many of his elder colleagues.

At 40, Pursell has held one term as a Wayne County Commissioner, during which time he became concerned about the cumbersome bureaucracy in county government.

He was elected to the Senate in 1970 and made one of his top priorities a major bill to reorganize county government, putting a strong elected or appointed official at the top of the county structure.

Now, after three years of guiding the bill through the Legislature, and two previous years of pushing for the reform, he is on the brink of passing the reorganization plan.

Pursell was appointed to the Senate's most powerful committee – appropriations – where he has a voice in all major bills.

Currently, Pursell says the Senate is still in his political future and that he and his administrative assistant, Bob Webber, have mapped out their strategy for a fall campaign.

"I enjoy the Senate very much," Pursell said. "I plan to run for the Senate next year and continue my work there. I think I can be more effective and make a contribution to our district and state in that role."

Should Pursell run for the Senate again, he'll be running in a different district. His first campaign was in a district composed of Farmington, Livonia, Plymouth City and Township and large rural section of Oakland County.

Due to reapportionment, the shape of his new district was changed to include Plymouth City and Township, Livonia and Redford Township, generally considered a "swing" district.

He says he was fortunate to have represented his old district in his first term because he became the only area legislator to develop strong working contacts in Oakland and Wayne counties.

By virtue of his position on the appropriations committee, Pursell has developed contacts in out-state areas and earned a reputation as a legislator who knows how to compromise and work his bills through the often cumbersome legislative process.

A strong supporter of mass transportation, Pursell was instrumental in passing the mass transit bill, which allocates one-half cent of a two cent gasoline tax increase for development of mass transportations systems.

Interested in environmental issues, Pursell sponsored the first bill to pass the Legislature providing state funds to clean up polluted lakes. The three lakes to benefit are Newburgh, Phoenix and Wilcox in the Plymouth area.

He also sponsored a bill to provide funding for academically talented programs which aided Livonia programs and a bill on year-round schools.

Currently he is working on a proposal to solve solid waste disposal problems.

In his second year in the Senate, Pursell was chosen as one of 50 outstanding legislators in the country and attended the State Legislators Conference of the Institute of Politics.

Since winning that distinction, Pursell has been considered destined for higher office.

"Some have said that I won't have a choice about it (the lieutenant governor's place on the GOP ticket)," he said. "But at this point, I don't think I'm interested. I don't think I have the makeup."

But by his own admission, politics is a "strange game of timing, events and personalities which collide from time to time."

Pursell adds that he loves a floor fight and thinks he could win the candidacy during the Republican convention.

"I love a battle and have been very successful with most of the battles I have been involved with on the convention floor.

"But that doesn't mean I'm interested," he hastens to add. "Whatever will be will be."

The events which occur in the next few months may determine Pursell's political future, and it may be that the former Plymouth businessman and teacher will end up a candidate for the state's second highest office.

Bikes To Take Over Hines Drive For A Day

Suburban bicyclists will have a chance to pedal a 10 mile length of the Hines Drive Sunday, Oct. 21, without worrying about cars or motorcycles.

The Wayne County Road Commission, at the urging of State Rep. John Markes (D-Westland), has approved the closing of the drive to auto and motorcycle traffic from 10 a.m. - 3 p.m. from the parkway east of Newburgh to its ending at Ford Rd.

Markes, whose 36th district includes parts of Westland and Livonia, said many bicycle clubs in the state have been invited to enjoy the car-free drive along the drive.

He said persons coming to the parkway in their autos will find parking space at the Warren, Telegraph, and Merriman access points as well as west of Newburgh.

He noted that since the road commission closes the flooded Hines Drive after heavy rains, he is hoping for a "flood – but of bicycles."

The freshman legislator said the parkway closing is an "historical event in that we hope to hold it every year, allowing bicycling enjoyment and an opportunity to support the concept of utilizing existing facilities until bicycling paths in Michigan become a reality."

North Routs Thurston

sports

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

It had the makings of a Northwest Suburban football battle to the finish, a real physical tooth and nail, black and blue clash that could determine the league champion.

The makings were of the wrong ingredients, for Thurston High forgot to read the recipe.

If the Thurston Eagles were supposed to be hot after 31-0, and 67-0 victories, you never would have known it on the North Farmington High gridiron.

The game that was to be, just wasn't.

The now 3-0 Raiders destroyed Thurston, 45-0. It seemed only appropriate that the girl friend of North running back Brad Pease, who scored three touchdowns, be crowned Homecoming Queen during the halftime ceremonies.

The honors went to Nan Mistele.

"It just seemed that we didn't come to play," said first year Thurston Coach Don Riehl. "It was a complete team collapse. I really don't think our team is as bad as we looked against North. We played bad football and the score made it look even worse."

North jumped on two fumbles and an 11 yard punt to explode, 17-0, eight minutes into the clash.

Thurston fumbled on its third play from scrimmage. North's John Daubenmayer pounced on it at the Eagle 16. But Daubenmayer's big recovery was still to come.

The Raiders drove in and Pease fumbled on the one with the ball trickling into the end zone where Daubenmayer fell on it again, this time for six points. Jeff Lindberg converted and with 3½ minutes gone, the Raiders were not to be headed.

The next kickoff saw Thurston's Tom Dowdy fumbling and Tom Moore recovering for North on the Thurston 17.

North had to settle for three points this time with Lindberg making good his first field goal attempt ever, a 37 yarder for a 10-0 lead.

A Thurston 11 yard punt set up the next Raider score with Pease scoring his first of three on a 17 yard burst. Lindberg converted and with 3:55 remaining in the quarter it was North 17 and Thurston 0.

"Everyone picked the same game to play poorly," added the Thurston coach, who just couldn't believe the opening moments.

A 17 yard pass in the flat from North QB Mike Daley to Jim Fredericks set up the next Raider score with Pease pushing it in from six yards out. The kick was blocked and it stood, 23-0, at the half.

The second half kickoff dispelled any thoughts of a Thurston comeback. Danny Kramer, a 5-6, 130 pound senior back, hauled in the boot for North and dashed down the sidelines 89 yards for six points.

A conversion by Lindberg gave North a 30-0 margin.

"That kickoff return really burned us and all but finished us off," commented Riehl.

A Daley interception of a Gary D'Ascenzo pass set the stage for the next Raider score. Pease scored from 10 yards out and Lindberg split the uprights to push it to 37-0.

To add insult, North's Jim Fredericks scored a two-point safety with a tackle of Thurston's Tom Dowdy in the Eagle end zone to increase it to 39-0 early in the fourth.

North's final score was set up by a short Thurston punt with Mike Kotecki going one yard for six points.

First downs showed North had a 19-8 edge.

The Raiders picked up 215 yards on the ground and held Thurston to a -73 rushing and only 53 in the air on eight of 18 passes for a total yardage of -16 yards.

North hit on five of eight passes for 61 yards.

Churchill Rolls To 13th Straight Over Canton

By FRED DeLANO

For all the praise Livonia Churchill has drawn for its defensive strength in sweeping to 13 straight football victories, don't forget what opportunitsts the Chargers are offensively.

They gave a convincing demonstration of such alertness in capitalizing on three Plymouth Canton fumbles, a blocked punt and a pass interception for four touchdowns and a safety in beating the Chiefs, 27-6, for No. 13.

Now 4-0 for '73, Coach Ken Kaestner's club possesses the longest winning streak of any Class A team in Michigan and has taken dead aim on a second successive Western Six title. The Chargers hope to take another step toward that crown when they host Farmington Harrison in a 4 p.m. game Friday.

Undermanned Canton, a new school without any seniors on its roster and only 13 substitutes on the bench, gained some solace even in defeat by becoming only the second team in two years to score on the ground against Churchill.

With the score already 27-0 in the final period, fleet Jeff Young lugged a kickoff 73 yards to the Churchill 12 yard line and six plays later he went over from less than a yard out to spoil Churchill's potential shutout. The Chargers blanked six opponents en route to a 9-0 record last year and have two shutouts this fall.

Despite being a new team, Canton did anything but roll over and play dead. In fact, the Chiefs got to Churchill's 12 and 29 yard lines in the first quarter, only to give up the ball on fumbles both times.

However, it was not until the second quarter that Churchill got the break that turned the tide. This came with recovery of a fumbled punt on the Plymouth 31 and immediately Mark Roncoli passed to Mike Gotshall for a touchdown. Alan Leirstein's conversion made it 7-0, but it was the only extra point Churchill scored all evening.

Before the second period ended, the Chargers grabbed another Plymouth bobble on the Chiefs' 26 and moments later Bill Reardon smashed in from the two to make it 13-0.

Canton opened the third quarter with another fumble at its 32 which was covered by the Chargers, and a three-yard scoring burst by Phil Lafave made it 19-0.

On the next series of downs, Churchill lineman Tim McMahon blocked a Canton punt and when the ball caromed through the end zone for a safety it made the count 21-0.

Churchill got its final tally on the first play of the fourth quarter when tackle Bill Anderson picked off a pass by Canton's Tom Close and ambled 20 yards for the score.

Although the Chargers' pride was dented by not getting the shutout, they still limited Canton to only 56 net yards from scrimmage while getting 176 themselves.

Canton Coach Jim Muneio conceded, "errors hurt us," but added that "our kids did a real good job...I'm not put out at all by their performance."

Canton, now 1-3 overall and 0-2 in the Western Six, will be at Waterford Mott Friday night. Mott was 8-1 last fall and now is tied at 2-0 with Churchill in the league.

Kaestner, who went the same route as Muneio in starting from scratch without seniors at Churchill six years ago, complimented the Chiefs for their "scrappy" performance.

He also added that it certainly wasn't one of Churchill's "super" games. "We're going to have to be at our best this week," he said, "for Harrison will be the best and the biggest we've played yet."

Salem Topples Dearborn

Plymouth Salem tallied twice in the opening quarter and added another touchdown in the third to topple Dearborn High in Suburban Eight football action, 22-8.

It was victory No. 3 in four contests for Tom Moshimer's Salem Rocks who now stand 2-1 in the Eight.

Quarterback Rick Neu was the keynote to the Rock attack with 126 yards picked up on the ground in 14 carries which included a 70 yard TD spurt and a one yard QB sneak for another score.

Salem collected 14 first downs to six by Dearborn and outrushed its opponents, 301 to 137 yards.

Neu hit on five of 11 passes for 41 yards for Salem with two intercepted while Dearborn's aerial assault netted 76 yards in six of 14 with two intercepted.

An 11 yard pitch from Neu to Mark Kraay accounted for the first Salem score with Jeff Horton passing to Gary Baker for a two-point conversion.

The Rocks pushed it to 15-0 at the end of the first quarter on a 70 yard burst by Neu with Horton making good the point after.

Dearborn sliced it to 15-8 in the third quarter but Neu tucked the victory away for Salem with his second score late in the final quarter.

Friday's action has Salem entertaining Allen Park in the Rocks' homecoming clash starting at 8 p.m.

The Court Jester

by BILL CAMERON

I still hear remarks made about the Riggs-King spectacle. The question always arises as to why Margaret Court, who has beaten Mrs. King on more than one occasion, fared so badly against Riggs.

It was simply attack versus defense. Mrs. Court chose to stay in the backcourt and ended up playing her opponent's game, while Mrs. King attacked from the opening serve and moved Riggs all over the court. When you're 55 and are forced to move from side to side and forward and back, you run out of gas rather quickly. Look at Pancho Gonzales.

As great as he is, he can't hack the best of five set matches played in some tournaments, and he's only 45.

The most recent match of interest was between 62-year-old Bitsy Grant, former Davis Cup star and 19-year-old Betsy Butler. She beat him 6-1, 5-7, 6-3. Grant said, "When a tennis player gets to be 62 he's a fool to play singles, and I'm the biggest fool around."

On a recent radio interview I hear Ray Senkowski, former U. of Michigan great challenge Trish Faulkner to a match. Trish is an Australian, former tournament player still playing an occasional tournament, and pro at the Northwest Racket Club. Take it easy on him, Trish.

Speaking of clubs, this should be the most exciting year for tennis in the Observerland area. What with the opening of six indoor clubs in the area plus two already established, we should see great improvement in all levels of play because of the year-round opportunity afforded everyone to play tennis.

If you're not aware of the clubs, here's a list of the new ones recently opened, or soon to be open, plus those already established: Southdowns, Farmington; Huron Valley, Dixboro; Court House, Farmington Township; Dearborn Tennis Club, Dearborn; Northwest Racket Club, Livonia; Grand Slam Tennis Club of the Livonia Family Y, Livonia; Farmington Racquet Club, Farmington; and Centaur Farms Racquet Club, Southfield. All are within a half hour drive of Observerland.

The Livonia Tennis Club conducted its annual closed doubles tournament and new champions were crowned in each division. In the women's division, 2nd seeded Elaine Beck of Southfield and Pat Hurick of Livonia defeated Barb Boyle and Peg Morgan of Livonia 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

The men's division found the second seeded team of Al Butler and Bill Cameron edge the top seeded team of Dean Snyder, Farmington, and Tom Simon of Westland 2-6, 6-3, 6-3. The mixed doubles team of Ellie Muma and Jim Callow of Livonia ousted the top seeded team of Livonians Mary Frandsen and Jud Kingsbury 7-6, 6-7, 6-4.

Glenn Rockets Explode Past Oak Park, 34-6

The Rocket explosion was a long time coming, but it finally happened and first year Coach Lloyd Carr is just hoping the spark stays around.

John Glenn routed Oak Park, 34-6, in a Northwest Suburban game for the Rockets' first football victory in four attempts. Glenn had previously been shut out by Wayne and Churchill and held to seven points by Franklin.

This 34 point production matches Glenn's '72 output of its first six games. The Rockets mustered only 49 all last season while its opposition rattled off 143 points with Glenn having a 1-7 season.

Glenn's first score was set up on a pass interception by Jim Barnyak who returned it to the Redskin 16. Rocket QB Terry Johnson then hit Jeff Brittain for a 15 yarder to the one where Johnson carried it in. Pat Delucka made good the extra point and it was Glenn's second score in 158 minutes of football.

Oak Park rallied with a 64 yard drive that sliced it to 7-6 with the Glenn front wall blocking the extra point.

Another Oak Park turnover led to the next Glenn score with George Roberts recovering a fumble for the Rockets on the Redskin 28.

On a fourth down and 10 play, Johnson combined with Brittain again for an 18 yard six-point play. The kick was wide but Glenn was scoring and that was all Coach Carr was concerned about.

Glenn had a touchdown called back with five seconds remaining in the half when Johnson hit Brittain again on a 20 yarder. An offside call nullified that play and it stood 13-6 at the half.

Fred Shoemaker took over the Glenn offensive attack in the third quarter. The 5-7, 140-pound sophomore, who had dedicated the game to his father who was seriously ill, scored two touchdowns in the third on runs of 39 and 37 yards and added a two-point play to give Glenn a 28-6 lead going into the final quarter.

Shoemaker wound up with game rushing honors and a Glenn record with 157 yards in 21 carries.

Glenn's final score came on a pass interception by Bob Scibiorski who picked off a Redskin pass and dashed 24 yards to paydirt.

Glenn finished with 10 first downs compared to six by Oak Park and outrushed the Redskins, 165 yards to 141. Johnson hit on six of 12 passes for 65 yards and Oak Park three of eight for 23.

Spartans Tumble, 18-6

Stevenson High's sparkle for the '73 gridiron season could well have been game No. 1, a 14-12 victory over Redford Union which is winless in four attempts.

The Spartan victory cry quickly changed to a meow with Franklin High, Pontiac Northern and now Walled Lake Central all getting the best of Stevenson football.

Walled Lake Central handed Stevenson its second Inter-Lakes setback, 18-6, with a six-pointer in the second quarter and two in the third telling the story.

Stevenson's solo tally came in the fourth quarter with five minutes remaining.

Central amassed 14 first downs to five by the Spartans. The rushing department was dominated by Central, 198 yards to 78. Passing had Stevenson hitting on three of 11 for 38 yards and Central the same number but for 54 yards.

The Walled Lake club scored on a 51 yard drive in the second quarter with a 38 yard spurt by QB Mike Imhoff setting up a one yard burst into the end zone by fullback Marty Pietras. A two-point conversion failed and it was 6-0 at the half.

Pietras tallied his second early in the fourth with another two-pointer failing. Central's third touchdown was by halfback Craig Long on a one yard dash with the Spartans again stopping short a two-point conversion.

Stevenson's score came with five minutes remaining with QB Bruce Nichols combining with Tom Cox for a 30 yard scoring toss.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

With only five weeks remaining of its 90-day meeting, the Detroit Racing Association hopes to keep the big mile track at the Detroit Race Course humming until closing day on Nov. 10.

The Octoberfest program includes two fine Michiganbred mile and a sixteen events during the rest of the month. Slated for Oct. 13 is the Dowling Memorial for two year olds and Saturday, Oct. 27 brings out the state's top two year olds in the Michigan Futurity.

Thanks to the Michigan Racing Commission, the track will welcome children under 12 accompanied by an adult to the races on Saturday, Oct. 20 and Saturday, Oct. 27.

The DRA will present its annual Old Time Day on Saturday, Oct. 20 when prices will be rolled back to the turn of the century. Featured will be dime hot dogs, nickel soft drinks, special eveuts and an excellent racing program.

It will be one of the two days at which youngsters under 12 will be admitted for the races. They must be accompanied by an adult but once inside they'll be able to load up with the bargain - priced hot dogs. A big day for the kids but one that parents don't enjoy so much when they have to take their offspring home after the last race and hope they last until they get inside the doors before unloosing the effects of all the low priced goodies.

A feature of Old Time Day will be a non-betting race for former jockeys. Howard Craig, now clerk of scales at DRC, will be among the riders and has been putting the rest of the field of oldtime jocks together. Craig isn't having any trouble rounding up enough veteran riders . . . fact is he probably could get enough for two special races.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for DRC Vice President and General Manager Richard S. Wilson and his new bride, the former Jane Delene, of Livonia.

The wedding plans were the best kept secret at the track and it was only after the newlyweds took off for the Tattersalls in Lexington, Ky. that anyone other than close associates knew what was happening.

After the three-day honeymoon, the happy couple returned to the track and were busy with their usual work schedule last Tuesday.

Dick returned from Lexington with the news that the Castleton offerings at the sale went for the highest average price ever. One colt was sold for a Castleton high of $175,000 . . . it was a son of Good Time. Castleton sent 72 colts and fillies to the sale and averaged $24,500. It wasn't too many years back that would have been the highest bid for the top offering.

WITH JOCKEYS complaining about a soft spot in the racing surface near the chute for the six-furlong starts, DRC Track Supt. Jimmy McPhee ordered his crew out immediately after Saturday's races to strip the track at that corner.

McPhee planned to work throughout the night and into Sunday morning to correct the soft spot that almost resulted in canceling the programs on Thursday and Friday.

The white-haired track boss, who takes a great deal of pride in this year's racing surface, was much shocked when the soft spot showed up after the recent heavy rains.

It didn't take long for Jim to present a plan for ending the problem and received permission from Dick Wilson to make the necessary repairs as soon as possible.

JERRY COON, who started the Jackson Raceway summer meeting as track superintendent, left after two weeks to take a similar post at Liberty Bell Raceway near Philadelphia. Jerry took over at Liberty Bell last winter and then returned to his home in Michigan at the end of that meeting.

One hears that he has been offered a year round position to take care of Liberty Bell and a new thoroughbred track under construction in that vicinity.

Kettering Jolts Trojans, 28-0

Clarenceville opened the '73 gridiron campaign with an 18-6 explosion over Crestwood. Coach Ralph Weddle had hoped it was a sign of things to come.

But it has turned out to be a sign of things not to come.

Clarenceville failed to score a point in the next three games. The latest downfall came against Waterford Kettering in a Wayne-Oakland clash, 28-0.

"We just have been over-matched," stated Weddle, "Kettering averaged something like 220 pounds per man on the line compared to our 175. We have no size."

Kettering took the opening kickoff, marched 60 yards with Bill Starnes scoring from six yards out, and it was 6-0. Bill Kurtz made it 14-0 at the half on an eight yard spurt.

Kurtz tallied his second six-pointer in the third from seven yards out and Starnes his second in the fourth on an eight yard dash to give Kettering a four touchdown cushion.

Clarenceville's offensive showing amounted to one drive to the Kettering 30.

"Kettering took away our short passing game and we never had the time to turn to a long passing attack," added Weddle.

Trojan quarterback Brian Luka was thrown for a loss seven times.

Kettering collected 14 first downs to six by Clarenceville. The Trojans were held to 85 yards on the ground and 58 in the air with Luka hitting on six of 18 passes.

The ground game for Kettering netted 267 yards with the aerial assault totaling 58 yards on five of nine passes.

Clarenceville is hoping to get untracked Friday and get back on the scoreboard at Milford in another Wayne-Oakland League battle.

4-0 Franklin Just Gets By GC East, 14-6

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Franklin High's offense has not clicked, the talent is there -- the points are not, but head coach George Lovich is not about to revamp his '73 drive to the Northwest Suburban title ... yet.

Lovich is not going to touch a winner.

His now 4-0 Patriots are far from popping bulbs on the scoreboard but they are winning and according to Lovich, that is all that is necessary at this stage of the game.

Franklin, which has been sputtering more and more with every 48 minutes of football, got by Garden City East for its second Northwest victory, 14-6.

"We are not scoring a lot of points," commented Lovich. "But at the same time we are not losing."

"Just as long as we stay healthy, we will put it all together," added the Franklin coach with full realization that his club will have to have it together come Oct. 20.

That date is Franklin's homecoming against an opponent that also stands at 2-0 in the Northwest and is out to win its third title in the last four years.

And that team is scoring points.

North Farmington opened Northwest action with a 33-6 triumph over East and then crushed Thurston, 45-0, the same Thurston team that had annihilated Oak Park a week prior, 67-0.

Franklin has outscored its four opponents, 57 to 31, for a 26 point spread in four outings.

The Patriots are at Thurston Saturday afternoon (Oct. 13) in what Lovich hopes will be an offensive warm-up for the following North Farmington clash which should decide the Northwest champ.

The eight point triumph over East was far from making amends for last season's 39-21 downfall but it was victory No. 4 for Franklin.

In what is becoming more of a habit for the Patriots, Franklin tallied the first time it got its hands on the ball. After the opening kickoff, Dan Quinn spurted two yards to his 30 and with only one minute elapsed Franklin was on the board.

Greg Battistone broke loose around left end for 70 yards, Quinn converted and Franklin had itself a 7-0 lead.

East decided to come back with a dash of its own.

The Panthers, who are now 1-3, marched to the Franklin 39 where quarterback Bob Ponte pulled into his bag of tricks. He came out with a behind the lines pass to split end Pete Plagens who in turn stepped back and lofted a pass to John Bescziko who legged the 39 yards to paydirt with not a Patriot around.

A two-point conversion failed and with 9:42 remaining in the first quarter, Franklin had a slim 7-6 margin. The offensive spurts for both clubs changed to a defensive standoff until the third quarter when Franklin added an insurance tally.

After an exchange of punts, Franklin marched from its 43 to the Panther seven only to have quarterback Larry Casey turn the ball over to East on a fumble, John Sullivan making the recovery.

But on the first play from scrimmage, East's Steve Bentley fumbled and Tim Ninnis recovered for Franklin right back on the East seven. Casey was stopped for no gain but Quinn came back on the second play with a spurt around end. He made good the point after and Franklin was up, 14-6.

The rest of the contest was played between the two 30 yard markers with interceptions by Franklin's Joe Pollard and Dean Morrison halting Panther drives.

Franklin collected 10 first downs to six by East and outrushed the Panthers, 126 yards to 65. Battistone, who played only the opening quarter, picked up 74 yards in three carries.

East was held to 65 yards on the ground and 39 in the air on two of eight passes. Franklin's aerial assault collected 126 yards on nine of 14 passes, Morrison hauling in five of Casey's passes for 86 yards.

Crush Western In Tuneup, 21-6

Harrison Ready For Churchill

The fortunes of Farmington Harrison's 1973 football campaign will be for all to see come Friday afternoon on the Churchill gridiron.

"The Churchill game will decide the success of our season," commented Harrison head Coach John Herrington whose Hawks knocked off Walled Lake Western, 21-6, for their second win in three outings. "The winner of this game should decide the Western Six championship."

Harrison travels to Churchill Friday (Oct. 12) with kickoff slated for 4 p.m.

"Our key will be to move the ball on offense," added Herrington who knows his squad will be up against the longest winning streak currently in Class A football. "Our kids have to have an extra incentive to stop Churchill's streak at 13 but we are going to have to maintain good field position."

This will be the fourth meeting between the two Western Six foes who battled to a 0-0 deadlock in '70, Harrison winning in '71, 12-7, and Churchill getting the upper hand last year in its championship season, 23-0.

Walled Lake Western surprised Harrison with a six-pointer four minutes into the clash.

Western's Kevin Niessen returned a Sam Pink punt 53 yards to the Harrison 12 before being brought down from behind by Dave Thorne.

Harrison's defense held for three downs but on a fourth and 12 situation, Niessen combined with Al Gainer in the end zone for six points. A two-point run conversion failed.

The Hawks sat on the 6-0 score for just two minutes. Harrison quarterback Mike Credele climaxed a 73 yard march with a 49 yard scoring toss to Chuck Yarber, for his first of three touchdowns. Paul Rogind made good the point after and Harrison had a 7-6 lead.

Coach Herrington then called for an onside kick, it worked and Harrison's Dave Wallington fell on the loose ball on the Western 47.

Yarber capped an eight play drive with a six yard burst, Rogind converted and it stood 14-6 at the half.

A Harrison drive to the Western 10 was halted late in the first half on downs. Pink intercepted a pass and dashed to the Western one at the close of the half.

The Hawks pushed their margin to 15 in their first drive of the third stanza. Yarber sprinted three yards around end to finish off a 68 yard march and Rogind converted.

Harrison had 12 first downs to four by Western.

The Hawk defense held Western to 11 yards on the ground with Western picking up 117 in the air on eight of 16 passes with two intercepted.

Yarber paced the Harrison rushing with 108 yards in 18 carries. Credele connected on six of 12 passes for 121 yards in the Hawk attack.

Bulldogs Snap RU Jinx, 21-8

The Bentley Bulldog finally broke the leash to the Redford Union "doghouse" and sped to a victory.

Bentley had gone 201 minutes without scoring a point against Redford Union. The '73 Bulldog "machine" put a halt to an unwanted streak with a 21-8 Suburban Eight victory over the now 0-4 RU club.

It was Bentley's bounce back into the win column after suffering consecutive defeats at the hands of Belleville and Plymouth Salem. The Bulldogs sport an overall 2-2 mark.

Bentley's last score against RU came in the '68 contest with four minutes remaining and gave the Bulldogs a come from behind win over RU, 7-6.

The following season saw RU blank the Bulldogs, 14-0, followed by successive 27-0 routs in '70 and '71 and a 33-0 lashing in '72.

"Our team speed just overpowered RU," commented Bentley Coach Glen Goode.

With about five minutes elapsed the RU jinx was snapped.

It was the second time Bentley had the ball and the Bulldog, "Mr. Everything" Bob Wasilewski returned a punt 35 yards to the RU 45. Four plays later, Wasilewski hit Jerry Lacy on a 35 yard scoring toss and Bentley had scored its first point against RU in 201 minutes. Wasilewski made good the conversion and it was 7-0.

Bentley pushed it to 13-0 in the second with Wasilewski carrying it over on a two yard QB sneak to cap a 15 play 68 yard drive.

Bulldog 215 pound tackle Paul Roshirt set up the next score when he blocked an RU punt. It carried out of the end zone and Bentley was awarded a two-point safety to make it 15-0.

RU then free-punted from its 20 and Bentley took over on its own 45. Fourteen plays later, Kevin McGee hit paydirt on a two yard plunge. The kick was wide but Goode and his Bulldogs knew they had snapped the Panther jinx and were once again in the win column.

RU's touchdown score came in the closing minutes with senior halfback Kevin Rogers scoring from six yards out to highlight a 65 yard march.

A Bill Campbell to Glen Sander pass play accounted for a two-point conversion.

Bentley picked up 14 first downs to 10 by RU and outrushed the Panthers, 226 to 136. Bruce Boudnek paced the Bulldog assault with 56 yards in 14 carries followed by Wasilewski with 49 yards in 11 carries and McGee with 38 yards in seven attempts.

The air game saw Bentley collect 50 yards with Wasilewski hitting on two of three passes. RU totaled 47 yards on six of 10. Bentley's Lacy and Bill Brown intercepted stray Campbell passes.

Divine Child Air Game Smothers Borgess, 12-7

Before a crowd of 8,500 Borgess fought back in the third stanza to overtake unbeaten Divine Child, 7-6. Then it lost the lead and the contest with five minutes remaining on a 31 yard scoring toss, 12-7.

It was Borgess' second setback in four outings and first in the Double A. Divine Child stretched its streak to four.

It was a simple case of Borgess' defense failing to stop the quarterback - receiver combination of Gary Forystek to Ed Kasparek.

The two Livonians combined for both scores on a 78 yard and 31 yard touchdown plays.

Divine Child didn't waste anytime in getting on the scoreboard with Forystek and Kasparek clicking on the first offensive play of the game for a 78 yard six-point play.

It was a sprint out pass that caught Borgess' backfield sleeping. The conversion attempt was wide and with only 45 seconds elapsed, it was 6-0 Divine Child and that's the way the first half ended.

Borgess had a scoring endeavor slip away in the second period.

Borgess did make good its next offensive attempt early in the third quarter. A 13 play, 52 yard drive was capped on a one yard spurt by Dan Kelly. Birney split the uprights to give Borgess a 7-6 margin.

On the next set of downs for Borgess, a 42 yard field goal attempt by Birney hit the uprights and bounced back.

It was down to the last 5½ minutes and Borgess fumbled on its own 30 with Kasparek recovering for Divine Child. Kelly put a quick halt to that drive with an interception on the two yard line but Borgess was against the wall and Birney put his foot into a 42 yarder.

Kasparek returned the punt to the Borgess 46. On a third down play, Forystek hit Kasparek on a 31 yard toss and Divine Child had the lead for good. A two-point pass play failed and with 4:44 remaining it was 12-7.

Bus Line Transfer Deal Made

Two new customer services designed to encourage wider use of the regional bus systems were announced Monday by William C. Marshall, chairman of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority.

Marshall, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, announced a new transfer policy which will permit Detroit riders to transfer to suburban buses at a reduced rate, saving them as much as 50 cents a day.

He also announced a centralized telephone information service where bus riders can call to get route and schedule information on Metropolitan Transit, Great Lakes Transit, Lake Shore, Martin Lines and the Pontiac system.

Information on all the routes can be obtained by calling the Detroit number of 962-5515 or the suburban toll free number of 800-462-5161.

Information on some DSR routes will also be available including transfer points.

The information service is open from 6 a.m. until 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The new transfer policy allows DSR bus passengers to get a free SEMTA suburban transfer which allows them a 25 cent discount when they transfer to a suburban bus line.

DSR riders can get the free transfer from the bus driver before transferring to a suburban bus line. The suburban bus driver will detach the lower portion of the transfer, and riders will pay 25 cents less the regular fare.

On return trips, passengers will give the remaining portion to the suburban bus driver and again pay 25 cents less.

Suburban bus drivers don't give transfers to change from suburban buses to the DSR buses. A rider must be on a DSR bus first to get a transfer. Thus, a rider who lives in the suburbs and works in Detroit will have to get a transfer on his return trip in the evening for use the next morning.

Riders can obtain a suburban transfer for a 25 cent discount when transferring from one suburban bus to another.

Local Role Needed In State Land Plans

Michigan is in dire need of a land preservation policy, but it must ensure strong local participation if it is to succeed, according to the chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, Robert E. FitzPatrick.

This was the emphasis of FitzPatrick's testimony before a state legislative committee during public airing of a proposed land use bill under consideration by the House of Representatives.

Held in Detroit's City-County Building, the hearing was conducted by the House Committee on Towns and Counties, and chaired by Rep. Phil O. Mastin Jr. (D-Hazel Park).

Mastin is sponsor of House Bill 5055 which would establish a Michigan land use plan to guide public and private land development, and create a seven-member Land Use Commission to implement provisions of the plan.

The plan would protect prime agricultural, state historical and other unique lands by regulating the extent and quality of development in these areas.

FitzPatrick, speaking also as first vice president of the Michigan Association of Counties, said county governments are prepared to support land use planning if it stresses local decision-making as well as state guidance.

He called local participation "an indispensible ingredient if the proposed land use legislation is to be successful," and said that "county government and all other levels of government have vital roles to play in the planning process."

"It must be recognized that there are local issues which must be solved--and can only be solved--by those who are intimately familiar with the roots of the problems," he stated.

FitzPatrick also declared a need for a stronger county role in land use planning.

WILLIAM D. WALTERS was elected vice president and chief operating officer of Cogsdill Tool Products, Inc., Farmington. He was formerly chief engineer with Standard Tool & Mfg. Co. of Lyndhurst, New Jersey and more recently vice president with Engineering International, F. Joseph Lamb Co.

Old Western Ghost Town Will Visit

"Buzzard Creek," an exact miniature replica of an old western ghost town, will be displayed at Livonia Mall, Seven Mile and Middle Belt in Livonia, Oct. 17 to 21.

The deserted town features sun baked and weathered stores, houses and streets as well as a Wells Fargo Stage Depot and livery stable.

Inside the houses and stores are skeletons, ghosts and monsters including a piano player in the Last Chance Saloon, a barber, blacksmith and dancers.

Buzzard Creek, created by Jean LeRoy, is displayed on a platform and has all the proper sound effects and dozens of miniature lights and is animated by 42 motors.

If You Use Fuel Oil, Pray For Mild Winter

By W.W. EDGAR

If you depend on fuel oil to heat your home or business, better cross your fingers and hope for a mild winter. Otherwise, you are going to be in trouble.

At least, that is the word from the oil suppliers in the area who have been placed on a quota for the year. And one company – Gulf Oil – is even curtailing its activities to the point where it may leave the state.

Most suppliers, according to a survey taken during the past week, have been assured they will receive the same amount of fuel as a year ago. But if the winter is one of those old-fashioned cold spells, these quotas will not be sufficient.

"In other years," said J.D. McLaren, head of the McLaren-Silkworth Company in Plymouth, "we could use our quotas from the major companies and then go to the minor companies for the remainder. But these sources have now been dried up, and we'll be in real trouble if our quotas are not sufficient during this energy crisis."

No companies are taking on new customers except to replace those who were lost because of conversion to gas.

Fortunately, none of the homes now under construction in the Canton Township and Westland areas, where building has been going on apace, will be affected.

"Where ground has been broken and applications for fuel have been made," one Westland official explained. "The companies are honoring the contracts."

And Phil Dingeldey, Canton Township Supervisor, was certain none of the many existing subdivisions will be affected -- but there will be no new ones considered.

"Things don't look too bad for this year," McLaren said. "But I am deeply concerned about next year. I have dealt with Gulf Oil Co. for 20 years and was notified that my quota will be met this year. But nothing was said about the year to follow.

"All I know is that some of the Marathon Oil company property on Mill Street, untouchable a year ago, is now being offered for sale."

Mobil Oil officials, who refused the use of their names, have let it be known their customers have been placed on a three-month allocation and can be guaranteed no more oil after December.

Ken Stricklin, manager of Standard Oil, said, "We are taking care of our customers, but we can't accept new applications."

Gene Kafila, manager of the Eckles Oil Co. that is supplied by Texaco, stated there is no problem at the moment because he has been assured the same quota as a year ago. But as to the future, he admitted, the company could not give him a definite answer.

Marathon dealers are in much the same situation. Keith Myers, sales manager of the Observerland area, is taking on no new customers, other than to replace those lost by conversion to gas.

Sunoco, according to Tom Trombley, operations manager, already is importing oil from Finland to cope with domestic shortages.

"This is a crazy world," he said. "We used to be the richest country in the world in natural resources, and now we have to import Finnish oil to keep warm. There's no telling what will happen if we have an old fashioned winter."

Meanwhile Consumers Power Co., one of the largest suppliers of gas, has placed a ban on new customers.

So, you had better keep your fingers crossed and hope for a mild winter.

JUNIOR BASKETBALL registration will be continued the next two Saturday mornings at Junior High West and scenes like these will be repeated. Here Jack Christie measures Roger Hogan, a third grader, during last weekend's registration. Signup hours are 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Oct. 13 and Oct. 20.

New AAA Office Opens Next Week

PLYMOUTH Automobile Club of Michigan will open its new Plymouth headquarters Monday at 44511 Ann Arbor Rd. in Plymouth Township.

The new facility, located in the Plymouth Square Shopping Center at Sheldon Road, will serve a membership that has tripled in size over the last 10 years. It will service nearly 16,000 local Auto Club members.

"Since the Plymouth Auto Club office first opened in 1923 in the Mayflower Hotel, it has been moved three times as services expanded and quarters became cramped," said Auto Club Plymouth Manager Richard Roberts.

Roberts pointed out that the new facility will have 6,000 square feet, one-third more room than the present office at 798 Penniman Ave. which the Auto Club has occupied since 1963.

"The new facility also can accommodate up to 53 employes to provide improved service for our membership, which is expected to grow to 30,000 within the next 10 years," Roberts explained. "Presently, we have 31 employes."

The Plymouth office had the second highest percentage of new members of all 56 Auto Club offices last year. Only the club's Rochester-Utica office had a larger percentage growth.

"To facilitate our moving, we will be closed this Saturday," Roberts said. "Our office is normally open Saturday from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

The office was developed by All-State Development Co. of Southfield. It was built by Kay-Bee Construction Co. of Lathrup Village.
