

Fund's Drive Tops $200,000

By EDWARD WENDOVER

What was once thought an impossible dream has come true for the Plymouth Community Fund.

For the first time ever, the annual drive has reached the $200,000 mark, according to final reports given at the fund's "victory dinner" Friday night.

The $200,000 plateau — similar to the four-minute mile once thought impossible — was met and exceeded when the fund passed its goal by nearly $6,000.

Leonard Evans, general chairman, praised the efforts of area chairmen of the seven segments which make up the campaign.

"The area leaders just didn't quit. Each and every one of them got more than any other year," Evans said at the Fund dinner Friday.

Esther Hulsing, president of the Community Fund's board of directors, praised volunteers who worked on the drive and also those who gave.

"It's their time and effort and their donations that make Plymouth the type of special place it is," she said.

Rev. Robert Ward, keynote speaker at the fund dinner, said that since "happiness is a by-product of what we give away, the fund is to be congratulated on its 'attainment of joy'.

"You have realized the joy that comes when you have enriched the lives of others," Ward said.

The goal for this fund drive was $194,000 — representing a $12,000 increase over what was raised last year.

The total of $200,963 was raised from the following amounts from each area of the drive (goal in parentheses):

- Industrial — $165,789 ($146,000).
- Residential — $6,762 ($7,000).
- Professional — $3,025 ($6,800).
- Business — $13,918 ($18,400).
- Special Gifts and Clubs — $3,430 ($4,000).
- Educational — $6,129 ($10,500).
- Governmental — $1,910 ($2,100).

The largest push, as usual, came from the industrial area although as late as Nov. 5, only $73,056 had been raised there.

Ralph Brown, chairman of the industrial drive, was aided by Ed Bruce, Bill Carlson, George LaForest, Claire Schirmer, John Shimko, Bob Johnson, Dave McLaughlin, Dick Anderson, Dick Tobin and Cy Kernicky. Residential co-chairmen Gloria Hopfner and Barbara Trip were aided by several area captains and bell-ringers.

Scott Dodge was chairman of the professional area.

Business chairman Edwin Schrader was aided by James Lent, Fred Hill, Robert Bake, Robert Stremich, William Saxton, Robert Beyer, Doug Blunk, Verne Steele, Sam Dibble, William Fehlig, Harold Fischer and Ralph Lorenz.

Richard Wickard, chairman of the special gifts and clubs area, was helped by John Miller and Ann Nickoloff.

Education Chairman John M. Hoben was aided by Pat Fitzpatrick, Earl Gibson, Carl Taylor, Jim Symonds, Jan Woodring and Alma Condash.

Ray Quada, chairman of the governmental sector, was helped by Larry Groth and James Mulka.

The area chairmen and Evans praised the efforts of their assistants in meeting their goals.

Evans also praised Daisy Proctor, financial secretary for the drive "for her fine effort in coordinating our campaign."

The door-to-door campaign for the Community fund was carried out by several "area captains" and many "bell-ringers."

Among the area captains of this year's drive were:

Gurvis McNulty, Dorothy Balogh, Lynn Wilson, Dorothy Bloomhuff, Gwen Muenchow, Marion Nostrand, Bettie Carlson, Jane Frank, Joan Marquard, Gretchen Blount.

Barbara McKelvey, Mildred Czeryba, Carol Wickard, Loretta Descenzo, Carol Salesky, Alice Fisher, Beverly Stanley, Diane Cameron, Joyce Dasher, Jan Ruggiero.

WORRIED LOOKS are common today among these residents of the Gottschalk Turkey Farm. Like most of the turkey farms nowadays, manager Loyd Sharland, says the rising feed prices are the leading causes for the farm to raise specific "models" of turkeys designed for different purposes. (Observer photo)

How High Costs Make Your Turkey Special

By W. W. EDGAR

The high price of feed in our spiraling inflation has caused the turkey fanciers of the land to take a page from the automobile industry and build "models" to suit various family purses.

Sounds outlandish, doesn't it?

Well, it isn't. You can take the word of Loyd Sharland, one of the most popular fanciers in western Wayne County for it.

"With the price of feed today (better than $150 per ton), a fellow can afford to use only so much feed per bird. So, you choke off the growth at various poundages to meet various size purses — and hope for the best."

As for himself Sharland has decided on the "custom" made class. He is following his usual practice of fattening the birds to at least 20 pounds for the hens and as high as 30 pounds for the toms.

"I have a special clientele," he pointed out. "Because of the high cost of feed, I decided to reduce my stock from 2,000 to 700 birds and cater just to the folks who could afford that weight at $1 per pound, and I am sold out."

Then, you're raising what would be equivalent to the Cadillacs and the Continentals of the automobile industry?

"That's about it," he answered. "I have always dealt with top quality and I'm going to stick with that idea — at least while the feed is so high."

Asked how supermarket could offer birds for as low as 58 and 60 cents a pound

Sharland pointed out that there are cheaper models in the auto industry, too.

"What these fellows do," he explained, "is start to fatten the birds later in the season or choke them off at various weights and freeze them until the season is at its height."

"In this way they haven't too much invested in, food, and they can sell the bird that much cheaper."

It was on this theory, it was agreed, that the fanciers were controlling "models" to meet the various family purses.

It is the theory that you can have a small car if you wish — or jump up to the top custom built cars if you can afford it.

This brings up an interesting point.

A year ago Sharland explained that the turkey growers had bred the white turkey's breast to the point where the hen no longer could sit comfortably on the nest for breeding purposes and that artificial insemination was the order of the day.

Would the present theory of controlling the weight of the bird bring about sufficient change whereby the hen could rest comfortably on her nest and enjoy the natural love life of her forebears?

"No," Sharland answered. "The artificial method has proven the best and leads to improved fertility."

So the old fashioned love-life of the turkey is a thing of the past.

"There is one more odd angle to today's market," he said. "And that is the fact the black folks from the inner city always have shown a preference for the old-time bronze bird. We discarded that breed because they were difficult to dress and remove all the black pin feathers."

"But now, with the high price of feed, these bronze birds are becoming a drug on the market. The inner city folks can't afford them any more."

Meanwhile, the turkey fanciers have found relief from the high feed prices by taking a page from the auto industry and now are raising models to suit every size purse.

Ernest Henry Quits City Commission Seat

Ernest L. Henry, a veteran city commissioner, resigned his commission seat Monday after considering the move "for several months."

In his letter of resignation, Henry said his decision was made "after sitting on a deer runway in northern Michigan during the past week with no interruptions of any kind."

First elected to the commission in 1951, Henry said in resigning, "I feel that when one loses the desire, interest and enthusiasm to serve, he or she should step down and make room for someone else who has the desire to serve."

He thanked the people of the community for "the opportunity to serve but I also feel that I would not be doing justice to the position or the trust the people placed in me if I continued to serve under the above conditions."

Henry simply signed his letter of resignation, "Ernie." After his election to the commission in 1951 Henry was named mayor pro tem and continued in that role after his reelection to the commission in 1953.

His present four-year term, which began in 1971, must now be filled by the city commission and the appointee can serve until the next general city election.

Santa's Coming!

Santa Claus is coming to town Saturday.

His arrival will highlight the weekend's activities marking the start of the Christmas season in Plymouth.

The season will be welcomed in officially at 7 p.m. Friday when the traditional Christmas tree lighting ceremony will be held in Kellogg Park.

Because of the "energy crisis" this year, the tree's lights will be turned off at midnight each night.

A parade will start at noon Saturday bringing the jolly old gent from Central School's parking lot down Main Street to the park.

Santa's arrival will mark the opening of his "house" in Kellogg Park. It will be open from 1 to 5 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays, from 1 to 8 p.m. Fridays and from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturdays, and children may visit Santa during those hours.

His house is sponsored by the Retail Committee of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

A special service will be offered to holiday shoppers this year by Explorer Post 910 — free babysitting on Friday and Saturday afternoons.

The Explorers will offer the service in the Grange Hall, 273 Union St. starting this Friday.

Hours will be from 2-5 p.m. Fridays and from 2-6 p.m. Saturdays. The Explorers are raising money for the project from downtown merchants.

In addition to those Yule activities, a "Christmas Walk" will be held in the Old Village area from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 30. Free refreshments will be served.

On Dec. 9 at 4 p.m. the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will present a Christmas concert at Plymouth-Salem High School auditorium. The orchestra will be joined by the Kenneth Jewel Chorus.

Santa To Arrive At 4 Centers

Santa Claus will arrive in Observerland Friday escorted by elaborate parades and festivities at four local shopping centers.

Nineteen marching units, ranging from high school bands to veterans' groups, will escort the jolly old man to Westland Center, Wayne and Cowan Rds.

The parade will start at 9 a.m. at the Kmart store at Cherry Hill and Wayne and proceed north to Westland. Santa will be greeted by city and shopping center officials and Miss Christmas Carol. He will greet children through the holidays in the east mall.

A parade featuring Bozo the Clown, Snowball the polar bear and the Southfield High School band and choir will bring Santa to Northland Center, Greenfield and Eight Mile, Southfield.

The parade will originate at the Northland Terrace at 9:30 a.m. and end at the PH square where Santa will stay for the next four weeks to hear children's requests.

Balloons and suckers will be given to Santa's first visitors Nov. 23 and multi-color popcorn balls will be tossed to the crowd during the parade.

Santa will "drop" into the Tel-12 Mall, Telegraph and 12 Mile in Southfield, on Friday at 11 a.m. when he will arrive by helicopter and will be escorted into the mall by the Southfield - Lathrup High School band.

Giant animals and cartoon characters will arrive at the Livonia Mall, Middle Belt and Seven Mile, along with Santa at 9:30 a.m. in Crowley Court.

The characters will walk through the mall and stores greeting children both Friday and Saturday.

For the first time, bi-lingual Santas will be at the Livonia Mall beginning next week. Mexican, German and Spanish-speaking Santas will be in the mall from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and an Italian-speaking Santa will greet children Friday from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Transit Needed Between Suburbs

By Philip H. Power
Publisher

Ever since the energy crisis came upon us, a lot of people have been suggesting that it might well be the spur that at last forces some movement in this area's long-stalled mass transit system.

The argument is simple. Gasoline will either be rationed or more heavily taxed (up to a dollar a gallon, some say) than presently. At that point, private cars will either be too much hassle or too expensive for most folks. So people will be forced to use public transport more than they are now (an estimated average of 3.5 per cent of daily trips in this area are by public transport).

The money is available to help public transit systems, both from federal matching grants and from the new Michigan gas tax, which is presently bringing in something like $22 million per year for mass transit.

HOWEVER BRIGHT, the outlook isn't all that good for public transit benefiting very many people who live here in the northwest suburbs.

First problem is that public transit has been neglected for so long that only very little can be done to improve it in the short run.

"It takes a long time to upgrade transportation," according to Thomas Lipscomb, head of the South-eastern Michigan Transportation Authority. "We're now involved in too little too late."

Tim Richard writes

Fuel Crisis
Being Felt --
With Benefits

As I attended and spoke at "earth day" sessions beginning three years ago, we talked in terms of major crises in some distant decade.

Although we could see pollution problems as immediate, we talked of an implosion of resources and a declining gross national product as something we should spare our children or grandchildren.

We didn't think an energy crisis would hit us this fast.

Last summer, when gasoline prices moved over the 40-cent mark, there was some decline in tourist travel to Michigan's northland. I suspect much of the decline was due more to the miserable weather of spring and the first part of summer than to gasoline prices. And that is the way of the car industry, the Auto Club, kept telling us there was plenty of fuel - just fill up in daylight.

In the last two weeks, however, we've begun to get a taste of the way we may be living in the 21st century. The change has begun and is already noticeable.

Despite some guilt feelings, I drove to the woodlands of Livingston County for a little relaxation, Saturday. Traffic was much slower than usual on I-96. In the past, a car going 60 on that stretch would be passed by three-fourths of the other vehicles.

Last Saturday, a speed of 40 allowed one to pass two-thirds of the other vehicles. People are really starting to observe a 50 mph speed limit voluntarily.

Wood dealers are getting swamped with calls from suburbanites with fireplaces. Folks are turning down the thermostat but warming the family room with a fire. Our homes are taking on the atmosphere of English cottages in the novels. It's really rather nice.

Girl watching at the office is tougher. Mini-skirts, short sleeves and low necklines are being replaced by turtle-necks and pantsuits. We Scorpions, in particular, are no longer so easily distracted, and I expect our work output to increase.

Big car trade-in prices are reportedly taking a dive. It couldn't have happened to a more deserving bunch of motorists. For years, humorists mocked and later environmentalists viewed with horror the propensity of Americans to purchase gas-guzzling dinosaurs. It's gratifying to see the dinosaur jockeys get it in the pocket-book.

Stores are reducing their Christmas decoration and lighting. For years, certain ruthless merchants have scandalized Christians by putting up decorations and lights anytime after Halloween and taking them down on Christmas Eve.

Any theologian will tell you, however, that this is the solemn season of Advent and that the Christmas season begins Dec. 25 and ends 12 days later. The fuel crisis will have the effect of toning down our commercial desecration of a holy season.

The fuel crisis is doing us a lot of good.

For example, there are now only around 1,000 buses operating in the metropolitan area, each with a capacity of around 50 people. These buses cannot themselves take up the added demand. SEMTA has been trying to buy more buses, but federal money for matching grants has not yet arrived.

Another example involves the most likely long-range mass transit system: rail. But since so little has been done up to now, it will take a long time for any effective rail system to be put in operation, even if construction is started soon. Lipscomb estimates the first train would not be running until 1980 and an effective system would not be operating until 1990.

SECOND PROBLEM affecting people living in this area is that the assumption of the mass transit people is that such a system will be used to get people back and forth from the suburbs to the inner city.

That's the proposition which is motivating efforts to find more rail cars for the Grand Trunk commuter trains running from Pontiac to Detroit and to run a study on a commuter rail line from Ann Arbor, but

R. T. Thompson writes

Suburbs Like Women's Lib

Women's lib rose to its highest heights in what we refer to as Observerland with the election of Beverly McAninch to the position of mayor of the City of Plymouth.

One might point out that a Plymouth mayor is in effect an honorary title since the post is filled by vote of the city commission immediately after the election of new members to that board.

That the designation of mayor only means the one elected serves as chairman of the commission and represents the city as its official representative in greeting guests of high ranking, serves as official host and is the one usually selected for participation in ground breaking ceremonies and the like.

The fact remains, that even under the strong city manager plan in Plymouth, the mayor is the highest ranking officer in the administration and as such is looked up to as the one individual that has more responsibility than any other in policy making.

That's why the selection of Mrs. McAninch is so important to women in the area. For the first time in more than 25 years they have a member of the distaff side heading government in Plymouth, and now that the ground has been broken, they hope to make similar advances in other communities of the seven in the Observer Newspapers circulation area.

Women have served on school boards in Farmington, Southfield, Garden City, Plymouth, Redford Township, Livonia and Wayne - Westland with honor in the past several years and there are instances where they have been members of city councils and city commissions.

In each instance they have performed just as well, and perhaps better than, their male counterparts.

As examples, there are Southfield's Jean McDonnell and Farmington Hills' Margaret Schaeffer, who has served on both the old township board and Michigan's newest city council.

Mrs. Jane Moehle, of Plymouth, was a highly respected trustee at Schoolcraft College for years, serving in the formative years when the college needed guidance of the highest type. She played a major role in developing many of the policies that have made Schoolcraft one of the fastest growing community colleges in the Midwest.

Mrs. Esther Hulsing, of Plymouth, and Mrs. Gerry Joyner, of Livonia, had major parts in the development of their respective school systems.

Mrs. Hulsing, generally considered one of the most outstanding trustees of the Plymouth system, was one of the members with most service in the area when she finally retired two years ago. She had held the board together in many trying situations and her friends tried in vain to get her to run for another term but she decided she had given enough time to the system and wanted to enjoy her grandchildren.

it doesn't help families in Livonia or Farmington or Redford Township or Southfield.

This assumption of old fashioned suburbs acting as bedroom communities for the inner city is simply out of date. In recent years more and more industries have built new plants in the suburbs instead of in Detroit, and people living in the suburbs more and more are driving to work in another suburb instead of downtown. Shopping patterns are similar; most folks here shop in local shopping centers or stores rather than downtown.

Although I don't have any of the fancy figures the statisticians have, I suspect that right now as much transportation need exists within and between individual suburbs as does from the suburbs to downtown Detroit.

It would be a tragic waste of money if in the crisis situation we now face, transit planners went forward in a rush on the unrealistic assumption that mass transit means transportation from the suburbs to Detroit.

What is needed instead is a mass transit system that runs within the suburbs, too, and thereby meets the real needs of people rather than the assumptions of planners.

Everyone Should Help Save Fuel

EDITOR:

The president of the United States just finished his address to the U.S. regarding our present fuel shortage. His speech really hit home to me, as I have been worried about this since our gas prices began to rise.

What troubles me is that a lot of people either didn't hear his speech or when they did said, "Later . . ." I'm worried that most people won't start budgeting themselves until we are at an emergency level.

I assume some people will heed his words and form car pools, cut their speeds and unnecessary long trips. But will the major companies?

President Nixon called his proposal "Project Independence" with the goal of not having to depend on other countries for our fuel. I would prefer "Project Everyone."

He said we consume 30 per cent of the fuel in the world. One of his suggestions was "fair system of taxation," which is unclear. Does he mean the more wealth, the more you're entitled to?

This is my personal plea to start cutting down all the way around, everyone. To earn money to pay for what you need to live, you've got to be able to get to work and stay warm. Double up on rides.

Housewives, use less light; during the day, you don't need it. Conserve fuel, space, energy, water, air. We haven't got much time left on this earth, and I don't want to be so greedy that I deprive my sons of their rightful future.

Three questions for three organizations:

1. Detroit Edison - why such large watt lightbulbs?
2. Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge campus - Why so many lights burning constantly?
3. Snowmobilers, boaters, motor home owners - please conserve; it's your future, too.

Catch Greedy, Not Needy

EDITOR:

Critics of welfare reform have mounted a counter-attack and are using the poor and the old as a shield to protect the dishonest and the greedy.

Two points must be made: First, had the critics bothered to read the welfare report issued by the Oakland County prosecutor's office, they would have discovered this on the first page:

"We must be careful to separate the attack on welfare fraud and those who abuse the system from those who are legitimately receiving public assistance and are in need of help. It is the cheater, it is the greedy, it is mismanagement, it is bureaucratic waste which is the subject of this attack."

"The needs of the legitimate recipient are not to be overlooked, their plight is not to be ignored, and their reception of public assistance should not be at the forfeiture of their self-respect."

Secondly, the needy ARE helped by welfare reform. California, a state leading in welfare reform, reported the following statistics this year: 264,000 fewer people on welfare (down 12 per cent over two years); $1 billion saved from anticipated welfare spending; $652 million state surplus; and most interesting to note, a family of four on welfare which previously received $255 a month (including food stamps) now receives $315 a month plus medical care, an increase to those who are truly needy by eliminating the dishonest and the greedy.

Honest criticism of our report we welcome, deliberate distortions we condemn.

Girls Hockey: 7th Heaven

EDITOR:

This is a special thank you to the Plymouth Hockey Assn. for letting my eight-year-old daughter finally participate in a sport. After many a year of sitting at the hockey rink watching two brothers play hockey, she is in seventh heaven in full dress playing girls hockey.

As a mother who enjoys all kinds of sports, I have always felt it quite a shame there wasn't more sport activities for the athletic girl.

I understand that next spring there is even a chance the girls may be able to play softball in a Little League situation. Wonderful! We've come a long way, baby.

How To Catch Yourself
An Exotic Disease

Do you know any card-carrying members of the "Disease of the Month" club? I met the president and vice president, the other day.

It was in the waiting room at the hospital where I was busy clutching the back strings of my jazzy white gown in preparation for an x-ray. Two ladies sitting next to me were excitedly discussing their ailments with up-to-the-minute news flashes. Here's how it went.

Lady No. 1: "I've just read the most marvelous article on headaches. It really gives you all the dope."

Lady No. 2 with eyes gleaming: "Oooh, can I read it? You see I get these awful headaches over the right eye. I've been to 10 doctors and they can't diagnose it."

Lady No. 1: "You think you have troubles. I am a border-line diabetic and I have low blood sugar."

Lady No. 2, scoffing, "Borderline, you say. I am a genuine diabetic and also have a touch of anemia. By the way, have you read 'Low Blood Sugar and the Married Woman'? It's a thriller."

Lady No. 1: "I haven't read that one but must put it on my list. I loved 'The Heartbreak of Psoriasis.' It's a four handkerchief book."

Lady No. 2: "Did I tell you my doctor discovered a heart murmur? He says it's just a little murmur, but I know better. When I run up and down the stairs, I can't catch my breath."

Lady No. 1: "I haven't told you about my gall bladder operation. The doctor said, in all his years of practice, he's never seen a gall bladder that size or color. He might even write a paper on it and I want a copy to frame."

Lady No. 2: "I bet you never had your varicose veins operated on. Let me tell you, you don't know what real suffering is."

Lady No. 1: "What do you mean I don't know what suffering is? How about my kidney stone, my goiter and the lump on my third toe? Believe me, I've been through a lot. The only thing my husband ever had was a nervous breakdown and he blames it on me."

Lady No. 2: "I know what you mean, dear. My husband won't even take off work to drive me to the doctor. He says he'd have to retire first."

Lady No. 1: "What do men know about pain and sickness. I was in labor three days with my last baby. It was a breech birth and I almost lost him."

Lady No. 2: "It was tough and go with me. I got the feeling if my husband had to make a choice, he'd want to save the baby."

I had felt pretty good when I came in. But waiting for my x-ray I was sure I had diabetes, heart murmur, varicose veins, psoriasis, gall bladder, low blood sugar and a few other ailments the ladies overlooked.

And they think they've got problems.

Will certain politicians in Macomb County please return to the United States of America?

State Sen. John Bowman, Prosecutor George Parris and Drain Commissioner Thomas Welsh have publicly urged former Detroit Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh to run for governor in 1974. Their statement begins:

"We are citizens of Macomb County . . . No they're not. Only a nation has citizens. States, counties and municipalities have residents."

This is probably the first year in our nation's history that a lump of coal will be a welcome addition in any Christmas stocking.

C&O Charged With Blocking 2 Crossings

PLYMOUTH

A complaint against the C&O railroad for allegedly blocking two crossings Saturday morning, has been filed with Plymouth police by Joseph K. Valint of Taylor.

According to the complaint, the crossings at Main street and Farmer street were both blocked for a total of 17 minutes each at 11:10 a.m.

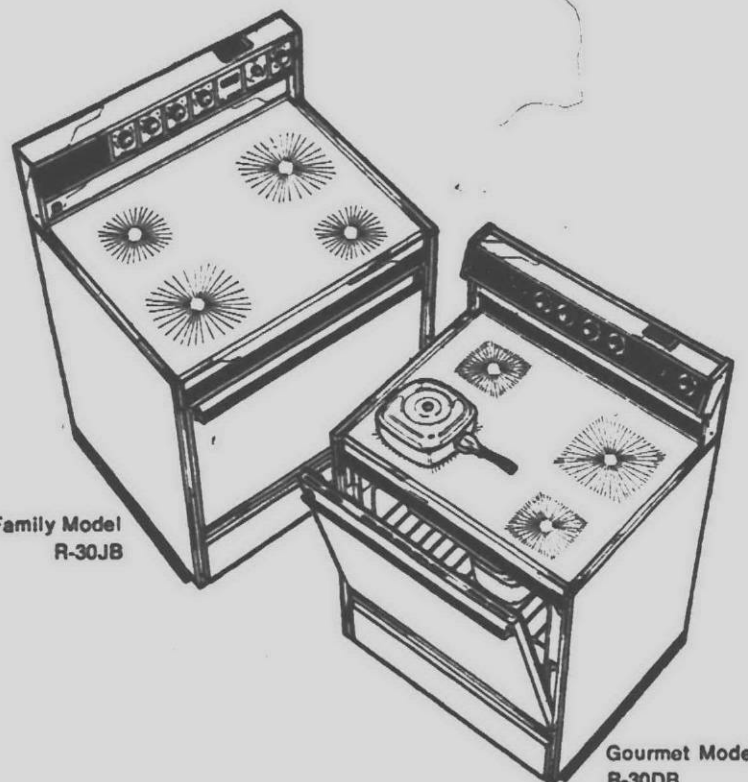

Don't Over Do

Drinking isn't the only thing many drivers over do. Over-braking, over-acceleration, as well as over-steering are the biggest causes of skids on ice and snow.

Michigan State University's Highway Traffic Safety Center suggests planning driving maneuvers well in advance and making corrections gradually.

If your vehicle begins to skid, correct early by steering in the direction of the skid; but, don't over do it. If you do, you may lose control and skid in the opposite direction.

Before you scrub another stove, see what Corning's got cooking.

Reaction Mixed To Overpass 'Compromise'

By MARIE MCGEE

CANTON Holiday Park subdivision residents are viewing their recent victory for added safety precautions on the I-275 - Joy Road overpass with "mixed emotions."

They are both jubilant over the compromise agreement and yet fearful state and county officials may renege on certain concessions agreed to at the court - ordered meeting last week in the Wayne County Road Commission offices.

Elation has slowly given way to a "wait - and - see" attitude, residents agree.

Many regard the outcome of last week's meeting as only a "partial victory." The real victory, many still feel, would be to have the state agree to raze the bridge and start again - this time with Joy Road remaining level and the expressway being elevated.

"But we're being realistic," commented Mrs. Hilda Matzo, who with her husband Gus helped organize the protest that ultimately drew attention to the hazardous conditions the residents felt the bridge imposed.

Other key people on the organizational committee included Flossie Tonda, Frank McMurray, Tom Stevenson, and Canton Township Trustee Brian Schwall.

"We're satisfied," added Mrs. Matzo, who with Mrs. Tonda attended the meeting last week.

"At least they listened to us. We did what we could," she added, referring to the efforts of the small but well organized citizens group.

Included in those efforts was a mass "show of strength" meeting attended by state and county officials. Before a capacity audience in Fiegel Elementary School gym, the citizens group vowed to physically prevent further construction of the overpass until some action was taken to eliminate the hazardous traffic conditions.

Added ammunition for their fight came from the township engineer and fire chief, who labeled the overpass dangerous.

Township officials then joined the citizens push and filed for an injunction in Circuit Court to hold up further construction. Last Tuesday's meeting between state, county road officials and township officials and adjacent Deer Creek apartment owners was the direct result of an order from Circuit Court Judge John O'Hair who personally visited the site.

Happy - and a trifle surprised - at their success in getting state officials to acknowledge the dangers, the residents say now they have adopted a "wait - and - see" attitude on two fronts.

They will "wait and see" if the two governmental units keep their promises and they want to "wait and see" what winter and icy road conditions will bring.

They emphasize that they are definitely not in favor of the township dropping the suit against the state highway department at this time.

despite the compromise that was reached.

McMurray said the township has assured them no action will be taken to dismiss the suit, scheduled for a hearing Feb. 14 in Circuit Court.

Many residents still feel the bridge is still basically unsafe and see the pending court suit as a way to correct any future hazards.

While Holiday Park residents were generally pleased with their efforts, owners of the neighboring 744-unit Deer Creek apartment complex continue to be piqued at the county suggestion that they share in the paving costs of a west bound passing lane.

Contacted by the Plymouth Mail and Observer Monday, Steven Fellows, attorney for the Deer Creek owners, said his clients are in complete

The concert will open with a John Phillip Sousa march, "Nobles of the Mystic Shrine." Tim Collins of Garden City will solo in on baritone horn in "The World Is Waiting For the Sunrise."

Did Earth Have Space Visitors Long Ago?

By KATHY MORAN

Suppose that instead of launching a Skylab, our country launched a rocket which would travel out of our planetary system into the vast universe.

And suppose that the rocket finds a planet similar to Earth where life is still at a very primitive stage.

If the foreign astronauts land on this planet, how would primitive people react to the strange intruders? Would they think that the "sons of God" had descended from the heavens?

With that question, Erich von Daniken begins his popular book "Chariots of the Gods" in which he puts forth his theory that our planet was visited by foreign cosmonauts 40,000 years ago.

And it was with this approach, that von Daniken began his lecture at Schoolcraft College last week where 2,000 believers and skeptics listened to his theory and observed slides of his evidence.

Von Daniken packed the college's gymnasium, and after every seat was filled, another 400 had to be turned away. He drew an audience comparable or larger in size than Ralph Nader, Adele Davis, or "Jesus Christ Superstar."

The advent of the space age prompted von Daniken to take a fresh look at ancient drawings and recorded stories. His conclusions seem highly probably and believable to a many in space-aware public.

At 38, von Daniken is a self-taught student of the sciences. That he acquired his knowledge on his own has been credited with his fresh views rather than stifled old theories.

He showed slide after slide of ancient carvings and statues of figures with strange helmets (or could they be space helmets?) and who often are shown floating in space.

Von Daniken also combed through ancient epics and stories recorded in the Old Testament which describe "sons of God" descending amid smoke, fire and loud noise (a space ship?) and drew similarities between stories recorded from primitive civilizations which were too distant in time and geography to have been communicated in any way other than a similar experience.

The Epic of Gilgamesh, for instance, is similar to the biblical Book of Genesis but originated from the Sumerians and is older than the Old Testament. In his book von Daniken calls Sumerians

"I say the visitors were from another solar system, and because of the great distance might still be on the way home."

--Erich von Daniken

"the mysterious people whose origin we do not know but who left behind the astonishing 15-digit number and a very advanced astronomy."

In the ancient story, Gilgamesh describes a journey where he apparently travels further and further above Earth: "The land looked like porridge and the sea like a water trough."

In that story and stories from the prophet Ezekiel (592 BC) similar experiences are described where Ezekiel apparently saw earth from a great distance above. Ezekiel's descriptions of the vehicle in which the gods descended are now accepted as descriptions of a space ship.

Von Daniken showed slides of a tombstone deep with the huge Temple of Inscriptions in Palenque, Mexico. The tomb is over the grave of the god Kukulcan and apparently shows the "god" at the controls of a rocket ship.

These and the unexplained existence of the Egyptian pyramids, possible landing strips in the plain of Nazca in Peru, stone giants at Stonehenge and Easter Island, the temple at Copan, Honduras, constructed according to the Mayan calendar (almost precisely the same as ours), and dozens of hitherto unexplained phenomena find a place in von Daniken's theories.

If his theories are true, then why did the space visitors leave and why haven't they returned?

"I say the visitors were from another solar system and because of the great distance might still be on the way home," he says, adding that they could return.

He also claims that if these ancient astronauts visited this planet, they may have left definite proof which was deposited at a logical, mathematical point and left where it couldn't be destroyed by earlier and less advanced civilizations.

"Have we ever looked for such proof?" he asks, adding that the Great Pyramid may hold the answer.

He also believes that with the development of intelligence, there is no alternative than for man to explore the universe. Those explorations may find cosmonauts from other solar systems, perhaps those who visited earth thousands of years ago.

Although his theories seem to exclude the existence of "God" as we know Him, von Daniken (who has a Catholic background) firmly believes in a "universal, timeless" God who is ultimately responsible for existence of the universe.

Von Daniken asked his audience to keep an "open and tolerant mind" - the same type that led to his theorizing.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR CHOOSING SAFE TOYS

U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

BEFORE YOU BUY

- 1 Choose only toys appropriate for the child's age and development. Many toys now have age group labels on the package.
- 2 Look for warning labels on toys, such as "Not Intended for Children Under 3 Years of Age." Remember that young children may be able to get their hands on toys designed for their older brothers and sisters once the toy has been brought home.
- 3 Certain toys should be bought only for older, mature children. These toys include chemistry sets and electrically-operated toys, particularly those producing heat.
- 4 Check fabrics for "non-flammable," "flame-retardant," or "flame-resistant" labels. Other labels to look for are "washable" and "hygienic materials" notices on stuffed toys and dolls.
- 5 Do not buy toys such as shooting games, especially those involving darts and arrows, unless they will be played ONLY under parental supervision. Avoid toys that produce excessive noise.

AFTER YOU BUY

- 6 Teach your child the proper use of toys. Be sure that instructions accompanying toys are easy to read and understand.
- 7 Supervise the play of young children. There is no substitute for parental interest and supervision. Remember that any toy can be dangerous if misused.
- 8 Check your children's toys periodically. They may develop potential hazards such as sharp points, jagged edges, or loose small parts.
- 9 Don't leave indoor toys outdoors overnight. Moisture can damage them. Check outdoor toys and games also for potential hazards. Remember that rusting can weaken metal parts.

TOYS FOR THE VERY YOUNG SHOULD BE CHOSEN WITH EXTRA CARE

- 10 When choosing a toy for an infant or small child, select one that:
 - ...is too large to be swallowed.
 - ...does not have detachable small parts that can lodge in the windpipe, ears, or nostrils.
 - ...is not apt to break easily into small pieces or leave jagged edges.
 - ...does not have sharp edges or points.
 - ...has not been put together with straight pins, sharp wires, nails, etc., that might be easily exposed.

Indians Get Help From All Sides

The drive to help needy Michigan Indians at Christmas time has become a competitive thing.

East and West high schools in Garden City are trying to out-do each other in collecting cans of food to help Indians in Sault Ste. Marie, Cross Village, Manistee and Muskegon counties and Detroit.

Honor societies in both schools are spearheading the drive, sponsored by the Indian affairs committee of the Western Wayne County Conservation Assn.

A goal of 6,000 cans has been set by committee chairman Hank Chrusciel, who is collecting the food at his home, 1945 Brentwood, Livonia. Deadline is Dec. 8.

Gallimore Elementary School in Plymouth has set Nov. 30 as its deadline to collect 500 cans.

Other schools joining the effort are Webster School second graders in Livonia, Clarenceville junior and senior highs and Taft Junior High in northwest Detroit.

Community groups pledging support include Sacred Heart Byzantine Church in Livonia, the Ford Motor Girls Club, Daughters of Isabella in Farmington, Salem United Church of Christ in Farmington, Saunders candy company, Girl Scouts neighborhood 70 of northwest Detroit, Xi Beta Chi sorority downriver and Ironworkers Local 25.

Auto Club Warns State Motorists Of Holiday Highway Driving Peril

Motorists are expected to stay close to home this Thanksgiving weekend - and close to danger - since statistics show that about 75 per cent of holiday deaths occur within 25 miles of the victim's residence, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"Since Thanksgiving is traditionally the time for short trips to see family and friends, it is potentially the most lethal of all holiday periods," said Fred Rehm, Auto Club general manager.

He noted that although motorists travel about 50 per cent fewer miles over the 102-hour Thanksgiving holiday period than on major summer holiday weekends, traffic deaths usually are as high or even higher than normal holiday totals.

"This trend appears to be caused by the fact that most motorists are driving near their homes and tend to be less alert and more careless in familiar surroundings," Rehm said.

Twenty-nine persons were killed on Michigan roads last Thanksgiving weekend as compared to the 1973 state count of 26 traffic fatalities over Memorial Day weekend, 13 during the July 4th period and 27 over Labor Day weekend.

"We urge all motorists traveling during the Thanksgiving weekend - especially those who will be near home - to drive with extra caution and to avoid overindulging in alcohol," said Rehm.

The Thanksgiving weekend officially begins at 6 p.m. today (Wednesday) and ends at midnight Sunday.

A round trip of 200 miles should be the maximum one-day travel distance for any motorists. If a motorist starts at 8 a.m. and allows four hours to drive 200 miles round trip by freeway, he can spend five hours at his destination and still be home by dark. On non-freeway roads, the same 200 miles takes between five and six hours.

Motorists driving through downtown Detroit on Thanksgiving Day should time their trips to avoid traffic from two scheduled events.

The J.L. Hudson Parade, which starts at 9:20 a.m. on Thanksgiving Day and ends about 45 minutes later, is expected to draw more than 500,000 spectators to Woodward Avenue. Large crowds also will turn out for the Detroit Lions - Washington Redskins football game, which begins at 12:15 p.m.

Travelers planning trips by air will find most flights to Florida and New York City already filled. Space still remains on flights to the Caribbean and southwest U.S., but resort accommodations are reported as booked solid in the Las Vegas, San Diego and Tucson areas.

If weather permits, several Michigan ski resorts will be open with limited facilities by Thanksgiving. Skiers should call ahead to a resort before making a trip, however. The resorts expected to be in operation include:

East Michigan - Mt. Maria, near Spruce.
Southeast Michigan - Pine Knob, near Clarkston.

CHRISTMAS AT LIVONIA MALL

SANTA WILL ARRIVE
FRIDAY AT 9:30 A.M.

Escorted by a procession of giant fantasy animals Santa will arrive at Livonia Mall, Friday, November 23 at 9:30 a.m. and take up residence in his house in Crowley Court.

Early visitors to his house will get a complimentary pair of antlers from his faithful friend, Rudolph with the shiny nose while they last. They will be handed out both Friday and Saturday.

During both days Santa's friendly animals will stroll throughout the Mall and its stores, stopping to greet their tiny friends. As an added attraction, if the mystery photographer stops by a lucky tot, he'll get an instant color snapshot free, courtesy of the Mall.

And Santa is certainly doing his part to conserve energy. Maybe on Santa's arrival the Mall won't seem as brightly lighted as usual, but the smiles from his helpers and his young admirers should more than dispel any gloom. And the fact that the Mall stores have cut their heat to 68° won't bother him a bit, it'll seem more like his home up north.

Speaking of home, this year Livonia Mall wants to make some of the foreign-born children feel at home so they will have bi-lingual Santas in the morning from 10:30 a.m.-3:00 p.m. Tuesday through Thursday, the Santa can converse in Mexican, Spanish and German. Fridays we host an Italian speaking Santa.

While browsing to see what the merchants have brought for your Christmas giving, should you find an item that's just the right thing, don't delay. Buy it then or have it put in law-away. While the stores have their storage space

Early Christmas Shoppers Find Buying Enjoyable

"EARLY" is for key to successful shopping

Making your Christmas purchases EARLY in the season pretty well guarantees your finding just the right gift, before stocks are depleted or picked over.

Shopping EARLY in the day makes shopping more pleasant, the sales help are not so fatigued and they have more time to help you with your selection.

Shopping EARLY in the week gives you a better chance at parking and saves time in actual shopping, the wait for assistance is less and the crowds are easier to walk through. Leave the weekend shopping to those who absolutely have to and be smart and shop EARLY in the week, EARLY in the day and EARLY in the season.

What's Inside

Want to know the latest in Christmas culinary preparations? Or maybe you feel creative and want to make your own Christmas decorations.

Just look inside the Mall Messenger for Holiday news and stimulating ideas on what to do during the festive days.

Of course the Livonia Mall merchants have been stocking their stores with the latest (and greatest) merchandise and are now announcing their wares in the many advertisements inside.

BEAUTIFIELDS

The newest wrinkle in Christmas ornaments are the family photo ornaments. Handled by Santa Graf at the Livonia Mall, near the Santa House you can purchase them at a very nominal charge, and insert your favorite photos for hanging on the tree. Build a "Memory Tree" - start your collection now.

Something Short 'n Sweet For A Holiday Treat

With a little candy and imagination, wrapping this year's Christmas gifts can be an artistic triumph and provide that all-important personal touch.

By using a variety of brightly-colored Christmas candies, both hard and soft kinds, decorations on gifts can be tasteful and tasty at the same time. Solid-colored wrapping papers and foils are best to set off the candy decorations. A little tape and glue will also be needed.

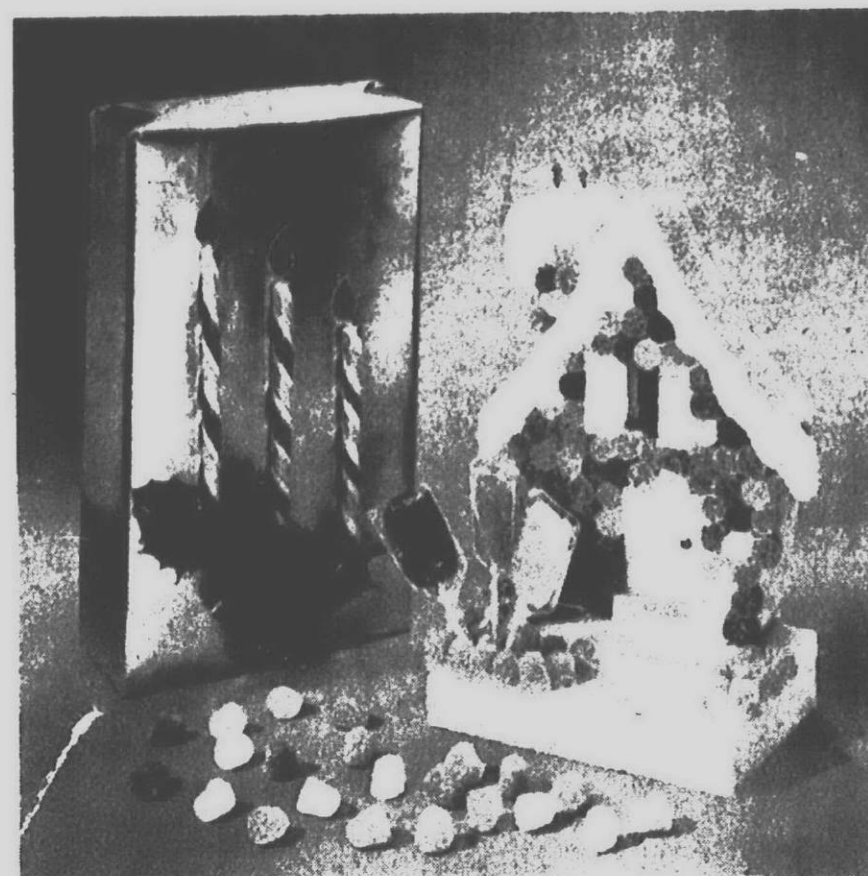

Perhaps the best candy piece to use is the red and white candy cane, one of the most traditional symbols of the Christmas season. Some say an old superstition of the Middle Ages led to the current popularity of the candy cane, when Europeans of that period carried glass canes filled with colored candies to ward off evil witches.

Canes can be used in simple designs, such as in the triple candy effect decorated with holly or ivy pictured above next to the gumdrop house centerpiece.

A more detailed use of the candy can be made as in the frame of the house in the lower picture. Segments of bar candy make the windows, the wreath on the door is a wafer, the knob a chocolate drop and the chimney a lollipop.

In the same picture, the package in the foreground is made up of nosegays of gumdrops. Different colors and sizes rest inside ribbon bows. Fine wire, tape, pins or glue can be used for attaching.

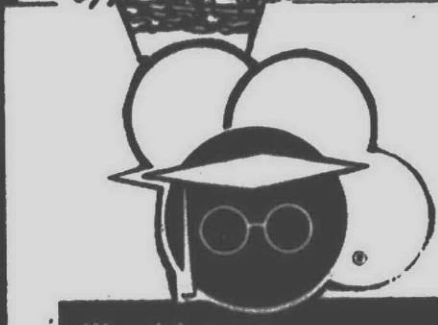

There's no limit to the number of candy possibilities for the holiday season. Sleighs can be made by mounting a small box on two large candy canes, securely tied down with ribbon around the candy and the package. The sleigh itself can be filled with a chocolate Santa and an assortment of colorful candies in a bag of goodies. Two reindeer cutouts can be attached, making this package a centerpiece as well as a clever decoration.

Pretied bows used so frequently and handily at Christmastime can be made unique with gaily wrapped candies attached to the loops or ends of the ribbon.

Gift-giving this Christmas can really enhance your reputation for originality if you use your creativity on candy-wrapped packages. Your presents will be meaningful both inside and out.

Letters to Mr. Claus...With Love And Hopes from Our Young Tots

The meaning of Christmas sometimes escapes us grown-ups, since we are too often pre-occupied with the "serious" aspects of life.

Here are some letters by local grade-schoolers, who with their candor and enthusiasms often come up with humorous, if not educational, comments on Christmas.

Dear Santa,
I want a football game.
The presents I got I will always keep them in my closet.
When I wake up in the morning and I sink down stairs and open them up I play with them. I have them up I get up because I am on the top bunk.
I do not have a letter to get down. When I was making my bed my Brother was on it and he fell down and hurt his head. I want a G.I. Joe set because all I have is one G.I. Joe. I hope you get me one so I can play with it.
We got a lot of things for Christmas.
Dale Davidson

Christmas is -- having present. And winning $5 for the best decoration in the neighborhood. And eating turkey on Christmas Day.
And decorating the tree. And having Santa come down your chimney and not getting stuck.
And going out on Christmas and singing Christmas carols.
Marco Topp

Dear Santa Claus,
I do not believe in you. I say you are a big fake. But anyway if you are true I am going to give a list of what toys I want.
A toy car race track and a money to.
Love Rex Miller

Christmas is --
Joy and Love. It is nice to me.
But the best I like about
Christmas is to make my house

Santa Claus. But I believe in Christmas.

A Molded Steamed Pudding ... Perfect Yuletide Desert

One traditional holiday dessert that's a "must" in many homes during the Yuletide season is a molded steamed pudding ... festive in appearance, moist, rich and delicious.

One of the best, to our way of thinking, is a chocolate steamed pudding, made with semi-sweet chocolate chips. It steams in only 2 1/4 hours. It's lighter, more delicate than most, and absolutely sensational when served warm with drifts of whipped cream and cherry sauce.

Even if you've never tried to make a steamed pudding before, you'll be surprised at how easily this one goes together. Here's the recipe:

Chocolate Chip Steamed Pudding

1 1/2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips
1/2 cup water
2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 1/2 cup water

Melt chocolate chips with 1/2 cup water in top of double boiler over simmering water; stir to blend well.

Beat eggs until foamy on medium speed of mixer, gradually add sugar. Blend in chocolate mixture and vanilla. Combine flour, salt, baking soda and cream of tartar. On low speeds of mixer add dry ingredients alternately with 3/4 cup water, beating just until combined.

Pour into a generously greased and sugared (granulated) 5 or 6-cup mold or heat-proof bowl, filling about 3/4 full. Cover mold loosely with waxed paper or aluminum foil and tie securely around edge with string. Place a rack in a large kettle or saucepan; pour water into kettle to top of rack. Bring water to boil; place mold on rack. Cover kettle and steam over simmering water about 2 hours and 15 minutes. (Additional water may be needed). Remove from heat, cool 10 minutes, remove cover and unmold onto a serving tray. Cut into wedges, serve warm with whipped cream and cherry sauce.

An Old Fashion Holiday Begins With A Colorful Sampler

The perfect holiday gift...a colorful sampler that gives hours of enjoyment in the making of a family tradition.

Holiday decorations that mean the most are the ones made by a member of the family or a friend. Used year after year, they become a part of the traditional observance of the Christmas season.

One that will add to your own decorations or make a handsome gift is a holiday needlework sampler.

Samplers have a history dating back to Colonial days, and mention of them can even be found in wills and literature of the early 1500's. They were originally done by young girls learning to sew. They made them for practice or to show their skill.

The holiday sampler above, an original design by Coats & Clark, is worked on cotton monk's cloth with six-strand cotton embroidery floss. The design calls for nine basic embroidery stitches, and the finished size of the sampler is 15 by 19 1/4". Easy for beginners, it's an inexpensive but rewarding project for holiday needlework.

Free pattern for the sampler can be obtained by sending a stamped self-addressed envelope to the National Cotton Council, Dept. PR, P.O. Box 12285, Memphis, Tennessee.

Goodies For A Holiday Treat

Whether you start from scratch or use one of the many excellent mixes available, you'll find that the aroma of baking and the excitement of shelling nuts, chopping fruits and cutting out cookies will help to give the children a sense of participation.

Try this easy recipe and use a variety of cutters. For the Miniature Pies, aluminum foil eliminates the need for tart pans.

Holiday Cookies

2 cups sifted flour
1 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Mazola corn oil
1 egg plus milk to make 1/2 cup

1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together into mixing bowl. Add corn oil; blend in well with fork or pastry blender. Mixture will appear dry. Combine egg-milk mixture, sugar and vanilla in bowl. Beat until very light and fluffy. Stir into flour mixture. Chill about 1 hour. Roll out on floured board or cloth until 1/8 to 1/4 inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch round cutter or as desired. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake in 400° F. (hot) oven until delicately browned, about 9 minutes. Makes 3 dozen (2-inch) cookies. Decorate as desired with Decorator's Frosting or with plain or colored sugar.

Decorator's Frosting

1 cup margarine
1 pound confectioners'

sugar, sifted
Food coloring

Combine margarine and confectioners' sugar, beating until smooth. Mix in desired coloring, dividing into portions for each color. Press through decorating tube, to make desired shapes. Flowers, leaves, etc., may be shaped several weeks ahead, wrapped in plastic film and stored in refrigerator or freezer. Makes 3/4 cups frosting. If frosting becomes too stiff: Blend in a few drops water.

Miniature Pies

3 cups sifted flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 cup Mazola corn oil
4 1/2 tablespoons cold water

Mix flour and salt in mixing bowl. Press firmly into ball with hands. If dough is lightly dry, mix in 1 to 2 tablespoons more corn oil. Wipe table top with damp cloth and place on it a piece of aluminum foil 12 inches square. Divide pastry in half and work with 1/2 at a time. Place 1/2 of dough on foil. Flatten slightly, cover with waxed paper and roll out with rolling pin or soda bottle to cover foil completely. With knife, mark off 25 (2 1/4 inch) squares. Cut through dough and foil with scissors. Turn up sides and pinch corners to form a 1 1/4 inch square shell 1/2 inch deep. Fill shells and place on baking sheet. Bake according to filling directions. Makes 50.

stocked to the rafters in November, they usually rely on several more shipments of merchandise between now and the holidays.

The Mall, this year, as in previous years, has brought in some children's entertainment to make the Christmas shopping spree less arduous for them. Good kids can be treated to old fashioned merry-go-round rides, drive their own electric car around the animated Christmas Village or play with the cranes in Pixieland and maybe win themselves a prize.

Santa will be at the Mall daily from 10:30 a.m. 'til 9:00 p.m. and Sundays 11 a.m.-6:00 p.m. Pictures of the children visiting Santa are available from the Santa Graf Company at a nominal fee but are not compulsory, and of course there is no charge to just visit Santa Claus.

Energy -- Using It And Conserving It

By MARGARET MILLER

The energy pinch is real, no matter who's at fault. We won't run out of oil or gasoline, but both will get more expensive.

A major hope for the next few years is new use of coal, in good supply in this country, and looking farther ahead there are possibilities of harnessing the energy of the sun or the heat of the center of the earth, but more use of atomic energy presents some grave problems.

In the meantime, Americans in general and suburbanites in particular are going to have to conserve, and there are plenty of specific ways to do it.

And all this is not all bad.

These were some of the ideas that came out of a family gathering on "Responsible Living in the Energy Crisis" at Newburg United Methodist Church in Livonia Sunday.

In the session, the smallest children saw films on pollution and electricity; mid-agers talked with Sister Constance Banks, a Mercy College educator who has been studying the energy crisis; and high schoolers and adults heard from Kim Siegfried, a member of the steering committee of the observing life

Detroit Area Coalition for the Environment.

To complete the evening, the families came together to discuss methods of energy saving and make collages as home reminders.

And each took home a comprehensive listing of ways to save money and energy in home heating and cooling, use of household appliances, home wiring and car operation.

The list was compiled by Tom and Linda Pate, chairmen for the evening.

"We looked through a lot of lists of suggestions but none seemed complete enough, so we plagiarized from all," Pate said.

Siegfried, in his presentation, pointed out the whole energy picture is so vast that everyone is bound to have his own view, "and mine is that of the environmentalist."

Background of the crisis, he stated, is that the United States doubles its use of energy - in all forms - every 14 years.

"That is much faster than the population has gone up," he added, "and for years this country, with a small percentage of the world's population, has been using 30 per cent of its resources."

"There has long been a question as to what would happen when the rest of the world balked at letting us have so much, and that is what happened with the Arab countries."

The "large outcry that the shortage is artificial" may be partially true, Siegfried added, but that fails to lessen the reality of the crisis.

The speaker said he agreed with President Nixon that this country must become self-sufficient in the matter of fuel supplies.

"But it's going to take a great commitment of research money for that to happen," he added. "Something on the scale of the space project."

One early development likely, he said, is "coal gasification."

"That takes coal and turns it into gas or liquid," Siegfried said. "This country has enough coal to last 300 years - at least 200 even if you consider much increased use."

"There are problems in extracting it safely and in a way that will not harm the environment and in transforming it for low-pollution use. But this is our best hope for new fuel soon."

In the future, Siegfried said, there are prospects for extracting energy from sea water or using solar energy or burning garbage. "And there are beginnings of devices to drastically reduce the waste of energy," he added.

Siegfried said he had grave doubts about a great increase in nuclear energy.

"We just don't know the facts on the possibilities of nuclear accidents in the small number of plants we now have," he said.

"We do know the Atomic Energy Commission keeps revising its possible casualty figures upward, and Congress has passed the Pierce-Anderson Act which limits liability in any nuclear accident."

In addition, he said, more nuclear plants would mean the handling of more plutonium, "the most deadly substance on earth," and it

and Mrs. Olson. Prominent in the collage was a picture of a front-yard gas lamp. "Ours is the only one on the street that has been turned off," Mrs. Olson said. (Photos by Doug Johnson)

If anyone wants to know, you can use up a lot of energy writing a story about the energy crisis.

And I relate my problems in the matter because they point up the need for a new kind of thinking.

Having committed myself to covering the church meeting probing the energy crunch, I suddenly found myself without wheels Sunday.

The car, it seemed, was ailing more than I had realized and had to stay in sick bay over the weekend.

The only answer I could think of was driving downtown with the man of our house so that I could use his car while he was at work. That meant, of course, going back to get him, but that's what I did, despite the extra use of gasoline.

So at the meeting I thus attended I saw some acquaintances who live near me. Yes, I had known they attended that church, but I didn't really like to bother them.

And later some nearby friends told me their cars had been parked in the driveway all afternoon and evening.

I never thought of asking them - they have several drivers in the family and I figured they were bound to have the cars busy.

So this story about saving gasoline really used up quite a bit.

But I think it made a point with me - in the future I'm going to be more conserving, resourceful and less isolationist.

Women's Day Planned

The women's center on the Orchard Ridge campus of Oakland Community College will hold its second annual Women's Day on Thursday, Nov. 29, in "J" Building.

Two sessions are scheduled - from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. Free refreshments and child care will be available. The college is at 1-696 and Orchard Lake Rd., Farmington Hills.

Purpose of the sessions is to acquaint women with courses and facilities at Orchard Ridge. The women will meet with faculty and staff members and discuss subjects related to returning to college and various careers.

For Town Hall Photographer In Focus

By KATHY MORAN

Philippe Halsman has built a career on shooting people and an outstanding reputation on the imaginative way he does it.

Halsman, who ranks among the top 10 photographers in the world, is admired for his ability to capture the essence and personality of his subject.

His special touch became evident to his audience at the Farmington Town Hall last week where he showed slides of his photographs.

The short, slightly-built photographer appeared at first poker-faced and slow moving, but as he began his talk at the Northland theater, his quick wit and sharp mind were apparent.

He was introduced by Farmington free-lance photographer, Joe Clark HBSS (Hilbilly Snap Shooter), who ranks Halsman at the top of admired professionals. Clark described Halsman as versatile and innovative, adding that he has "tremendous power because he is able to react with and bring out the inner person."

In the photo-speech which followed, Halsman proved Clark's description accurate as he showed slides of noted figures which were a step beyond portraits.

The expression in the eyes, the smile, the lighting, the composure, the moment of thought or the flash of a memory "brought out the inner person" and stamped "Halsman" on the picture.

A photographer has to keep two things in mind, Halsman said of his technique. He must be able to converse with his subject on something of interest, and he must be aware of the lighting and photographic techniques.

The trick to his talent is a sense of humor (without it, one should be an embalmer, he said.) He often jokes with the person, tells them a story or talks of the person's background. And while the subject is laughing, reflecting or objecting, Halsman snaps the picture.

The result is a haunting picture of Albert Einstein with eyes that seem to "reproach people for what they have done with his approach to nuclear energy," Halsman said.

A picture of the Duke and Duchess of Windsor started very stiff and serious until Halsman reminded them that the Duke had abandoned his inheritance of the throne of England for his spouse. Just 40 seconds later, Halsman had a picture of the two nestled together with warm, loving expressions.

His innovative techniques have been praised whether for putting a double exposure of broadcasters Chet Huntley and David Brinkley together to form one head or of "zooming in and out" to create a mystical picture for a story on extra-sensory perception.

He can boast of 101 Life magazine covers and speaks of the magazine's demise as a "personal tragedy."

He often takes pictures of his subject jumping as part of his theory of "jumpology" that when a person jumps "the mask falls." Among his "jump" pictures are one of Marilyn Monroe jumping as a child (she was a "little frightened child," he said) and one of then Vice President Richard Nixon in a "rather non-committal" jump.

At a luncheon following his talk, Halsman said the secret of a photogenic woman is a face with "prominent cheek bones, hollow cheeks, big eyes, small nose and firm jaw."

"If you notice, all famous actresses have the same bone structure," he said.

Yet with all these qualities, a person often freezes or falls apart in front of the camera.

How do you avoid that? someone asked.

"If you find out, let me know. I do the same thing," he said.

FRAN EVERT, free lance photographer from Farmington, gets some hints from world-famous photographer Philippe Halsman who spoke to the Farmington Town Hall last week.

DICKIE CLARK learned why you have to turn out lights when they are not in use.

LINDA PATE and her husband, Tom, served as chairmen for the family session.

Mini-Discussions Set

"Women Look at the World," a mini-discussion series, will begin Tuesday, Nov. 27, in the Oakland branch YWCA, 839 Crooks, Clawson.

Discussions will be held at 9:15 a.m. for three Tuesdays. A panel on the YWCA movement titled "The Power and the Glory is in We," will open the series.

The Dec. 4 speaker will be Mrs. Rosa Parks, the woman who started the bus boycott that began the civil rights movement, and on Dec. 11 Mrs. Dorothy Golze will show slides on Yugoslavia. Baby sitting is available.

Fight For 'The Decent,' Urges Visiting Writer

By MARGARET MILLER

Marjorie Holmes, a tiny woman with a big zeal for "the decent, the good," believes women can be a bigger force in battling pornography and obscene films.

Addressing the Livonia Town Hall last week, the four-foot 10-inch Washington Star columnist and author said she also objects to today's sex education in schools.

"I never would have believed I would oppose sex education," this mother of four said after the celebrity luncheon that followed her lecture.

"But I think it should be done in the home and I am against the way it is being taught in some schools."

"In our zeal to overcome puritanism and to protect our children, we've crammed some terrible stuff down their throats."

Miss Holmes, in private life Mrs. Lynn Mighell, said that during children's elementary school years we should "answer their questions, of course, but not try to cram in a lot of information they're not ready for."

Teaching children "the facts of life" at home and being knowledgeable about school sex education programs were just two of the means the speaker recommended for helping society reestablish moral values.

She also suggested joining Citizens for Decent Literature, based in the Carew Towers in Cleveland, a group that she said has been in the forefront of fighting against obscenity.

"And you can boycott obscene movies and censor your children's movie fare -- I did," she said.

"You can" write to your congressman to protest bulk postage rates for pornography. High postage has put some good magazines out of business, yet we receive filth under bulk rates.

Miss Holmes pointed out that she had written a magazine article 10 years ago, predicting that objectionable films then being made would find their way into homes by means of the TV screen.

"That's happening now," she said, "and there's really no way to censoring your children's viewing every moment of the day."

In her talk in the Terrace Theater, Miss Holmes described the writing of several of her books.

Representatives of two Livonia book stores that advertise in the Town Hall program, Dicksons at 33493 W. Seven Mile, and Alpha at 32011 Plymouth, were on hand to sell copies of the books for autographing.

Miss Holmes said two of her best sellers, "I've Got To Talk to Somebody, God," and "What Am I, God?" are based on the "conversational prayers" she has inserted over the years in her newspaper column "Love and Laughter."

"I wrote the first of these prayers while peeling potatoes one day," she said, "and it brought such response that I kept writing them."

The book "Two from Galilee" is the love story of Mary and Joseph, she said.

"I started thinking about them one Christmas when in church I sat near the manger scene and could smell the hay." She said it took seven years to find a publisher, but she was glad of the wait because the country moral climate is now better ready to receive such a book.

Miss Holmes also wrote a book of advice for teen-agers, "Nobody Else Will Listen," and her most recent publication is a nostalgic, "You and I Yesterday," written because "although you can't go home again we can go back a few paces."

Asked about her family, the speaker said both her daughters danced professionally. The older one, now married, was with a ballet company, she said, and the younger one does belly-dancing in a night club.

"She's a very spiritual girl and has her life well coordinated," she added. "I saw her dance and it is beautiful. The club owner told me she lends refinement to the club."

NHS Asks Gifts For Forgotten For Christmas

Observer area residents willing to share Christmas joy can brighten the lives of otherwise forgotten Northville State Hospital patients.

NHS community relations director Louis J. Schuldts said gifts can be forwarded to indigent patients or those whose family and friends seldom visit.

"Each year at this time we receive inquiries from citizens asking how they may remember indigent patients," he said.

"Presently our nursing staff members and our family care coordinator are sharing with us names of those patients whom we do not anticipate will be receiving gifts.

"Each patient will indicate two or three Christmas wishes, and we will relay these slips, along with letters of instruction, to any interested individual or group."

Schuldts said the majority of the hospital patients would be going home for Christmas or receiving gifts from families, but a few are overlooked each year.

Among these, he added, are some patients who have left the hospital and are living in the community.

First State Conference For Women Set Dec. 1

Forty thousand invitations have been sent out by the Michigan Women's Commission for the first statewide conference on women to be held Saturday, Dec. 1, beginning at 9:30 a.m. in the Kellogg Center of Michigan State University in East Lansing.

"Every type of women's group has been contacted and many have made their membership lists available to us," said Vicki Neiberg, conference coordinator.

"When we say we want all women there, we mean all women; rich, poor, urban, suburban, mothers, childless, single, married, professional, housewife. We know when we get them all together they're going to find that no matter what their background, they have a great deal in common and their common problems cross all lines."

"What we have to do is form coalitions and strategies to help each other."

The conference is called "Equality: Challenge of Change," and will offer 18 workshops with 50 women as resources. Carmen Maymi, director of the women's bureau in the U.S. Dept. of Labor, will keynote the conference at 10:15 a.m.

Between 9:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m., guests may attend workshops on women's commissions, myths, lobbying, women in politics and government, volunteerism, divorce and child custody, employment picture for women.

Energy

would be much harder to keep track of the material.

The Rev. William A. Ritter, pastor of Newburg, had a few comments on the energy crisis and people to wind up the evening.

"I think we have three instinctive reactions to the word that there's a scarcity of fuel and thus many of the important things in our lives," he said.

"First, there's the urge to hoard - to lay in a good supply so we won't run out."

"Then everyone starts thinking of all the reasons he should be the exception if energy must be rationed - his job, his family, his special interests. I talked to a teenager who thinks it's just not fair that the speed limit should be lowered just as he is learning to drive."

"And finally there is the fundamental assumption that living with less fuel is going to be less fun - that cutting back means going without the good things of life."

Of the latter, Rev. Ritter said "I don't think that is going to happen."

Instead, he suggested, we're going to learn to be more self-sufficient and we are going to learn to center interests closer to our own neighborhoods.

"And we are going to have to realize," he added "that protecting the ecosystem is not a matter of sitting in our appliance-filled homes, with two cars in the garage, and worrying about the fate of the caribou."

"Out of this crisis we can learn to conserve by adopting new life styles - and that could be not a terrible thing. I think it can be very exciting."

League Plans Dinner/Dance

The Plymouth Symphony League's annual Christmas dinner/dance is set for Saturday, Dec. 1, in Meadowbrook Country Club.

Registration fee is $5 and can be made the morning of the conference. Advance registration is necessary for the luncheon, and can be made by sending $5 to Michigan Women's Commission, 230 N. Washington, Lansing, 48933.

The commission was established by the 1968 Legislature as an independent unit of the executive office of the governor to stimulate and encourage study and review of the status of women in Michigan.

The commission was given two specific assignments: to study the critical problems women face in education, employment, health, family relations, law enforcement and civil and political rights. And to secure appropriate recognition of the abilities of women and their contribution to the state.

Task forces are at work now in the areas of public information, equal rights amendment concerning Michigan law, sex discrimination in state government, employment and health.

Lorraine Beebe is chairwoman of the 14-member commission, appointed by the governor. Her vice chairwoman is Krana Grossman.

Others are Patricia Burnett, Gerald Fiala, Joan Guy, Fran Harris, Ann Irish, Trudy Lindsay, Marie Mylan, Jacqueline Nanni, Dr. L. Eudora Pettigrew, Marion Shertzer, Rosa Torres and Myra Wolfgang.

Scottish Ceremony Unites Mephams

The father and uncle of the bride shared an old Scottish wedding ceremony when Deborah Ann Northrop, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon D. Northrop of Farmington, married Douglas Charles Mepham in Greenfield Village recently.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Mepham of Allen Park.

Dr. Floyd E. Northrop of Spring Lake, Mich., read from the Ian McLaren ritual while the bride's father gave the actual vows in the double-ring service in Martha-Mary chapel.

The bride wore a chiffon gown with lace bodice and flowing sleeves and a short, bouffant veil that fell from a seed pearl Juliet cap. Her attendants wore multicolored ruffled organza dresses.

Priscilla E. Northrop was maid of honor and Barbara J. Mepham was bridesmaid. Attending the bridegroom were Hilary Danilowicz of Wayne as best man, Timothy Northrop as groomsman and Paul Simon of Kalamazoo and Thomas Kivell of Norman, Okla., as ushers.

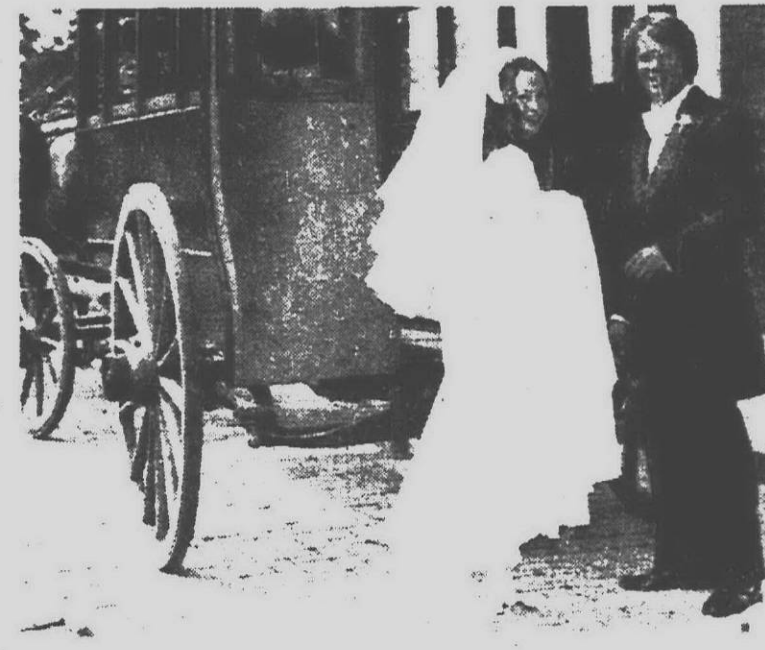

Following a carriage ride through the village, the couple greeted guests in a Lovett Hall reception, where Mrs. Kathy Kivell, sister of the bridegroom, was hostess.

and entertainment was furnished by harpist Onita Jackie Sanders. She also played for the wedding ceremony.

The newlyweds went to Niagara Falls and Toronto and then flew to Spain for a nine-day tour.

They will live on Barlow Lake near Middleville, Mich. Both are teachers in Hastings Junior High School.

The new Mrs. Mepham, a graduate of Farmington High School and Hope College, is an art instructor and her husband, who graduated from Western Michigan University, is special education teacher.

Solid Waste Poses Next Crisis

It took a crisis to bring energy shortages to the public's attention and to spur some action.

And it will probably take another crisis to bring solid waste disposal problems to the forefront.

But groups are busy at both the state and regional levels attacking the solid waste problems and are attempting to keep them from mounting to crisis level.

At the state level, Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) and three colleagues have offered a plan for a statewide authority to "plan, construct, finance and operate" disposal facilities.

At the regional level, a committee within the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments is working on both short and long range plans to solve waste disposal problems in Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, St. Clair, Washtenaw and Wayne Counties.

Chaired by Arch Vallier, a retired engineer from Plymouth, the committee is studying Pursell's plan and eventually hopes to recommend endorsement and support by SEMCOG.

Originally, the committee considered seeking legislation to govern the regional area but has decided to support a statewide plan.

"I think that politically and practically, it is better to go for a statewide bill which will give the regions the right to do certain jobs," Vallier said.

Vallier says he'd like to see Pursell's bill amended before SEMCOG joins the push for the legislation.

Rather than having the state authority control disposal facilities, Vallier says regions should do it with the state stepping in only if the regions don't meet their obligations.

A longtime advocate of local rights, Vallier wants to "protect the rights of towns and counties" and thus prefers "permissive" legislation.

"There's no question in my mind that if they don't do it themselves, the state will have to step in and do it," Vallier says.

The bill would use private enterprise to implement a solid waste management plan, according to Pursell.

Vallier says the SEMCOG task force will comb over the bill and recommend changes. He hopes that it can bring the bill before SEMCOG's general assembly in January for support.

In the meantime, Vallier would like to see a surge in interest in solid waste problems.

"But it's like the energy crisis -- it has to be on you before you'll do anything about it," he says.

The day a Livonian carries out his trash in the morning only to return and find it sitting on the curb in the evening, the impact of solid waste problems might hit a responsive cord.

SEMCOG To Hear Sen. Young

State Sen. Coleman Young, mayor-elect of the city of Detroit, will address the general assembly of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments at 8 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 29 prior to the regularly scheduled business meeting.

convene at Mercy College Conference Center, 8200 W. Outer Drive, Detroit.

SEMCOG is a voluntary association of governments composed of elected officials from 94 communities in southeast Michigan. Its principal function is to develop and coordinate region-wide planning for land use, transportation, recreation and open space, water supply, sewage disposal, storm drainage and housing.

Among the items on the agenda for the assembly are: progress report on regional solid waste plan, progress report on 1990 transportation plan and, progress report on housing plan.

OK Road Patrol For 9 Months

Despite some grumblings over the Organized Crime Task Force, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has given 19-1 approval of the $274 million 1973-4 budget.

For the second year, commissioners funded the sheriff's road patrol for only nine months in line with a policy of stimulating townships to pay for their own local police service.

Plymouth and Canton townships, in Overland, rely on the county road patrol.

The county board is asking townships to consider millage proposals for police services. Funds for the road patrol will expire at the end of August, right after the township primaries when police millages could be considered.

Commissioner Mary Dumas (R-Livonia) voted for the budget but said it should have placed more emphasis on anti-crime measures other than the $352,000 Organized Crime Task Force.

"There are many programs which I feel deserve as great or greater priority than the crime task force - for example, the metro narcotics squad, the juvenile justice program, the jail reception center and the juvenile referral center," said Mrs. Dumas, adding:

"People are more afraid of being mugged and having their purses or wallets snatched than they are of loan sharks."

Commissioner Paul Silver (D-Detroit) also questioned the crime task force and waged an unsuccessful battle to change the funding pattern.

The county board found itself in an ironic fight over park funds.

Commissioner Catherine Shavers (D-Detroit) voted against the budget, charging a "failure to provide county parks within the city limits of Detroit."

Meanwhile, the board continued to fund - with one reservation - Wayne County's quarter-mill share of the Huron - Clinton Metropolitan Authority (HCMA). It stipulated that the $3.4 million would be released only quarterly and with the approval of the board's public works committee.

Wayne County leaders have argued threateningly that HCMA was spending too much on metroparks in the hinterlands of the five-county region. Mrs. Shavers criticized county leaders for the same reason - neglecting to provide county parks for Detroit.

The board urged the state to take over the $2.2 million funding of Common Pleas Court, contending that it's essentially a district court for Detroit.

Continued renovation of buildings at the Wayne County General Hospital complex in Westland will be financed from the capital improvement fund.

The new budget generally maintains the same level of services. It represents an increase of $24.6 million over the current year.

Pollution Grant OK'd

LANSING Wayne County's air pollution control program is in line to receive a state grant of $625,000, as the result of action taken by the Natural Resources Commission.

The allotment approved by the commission will go to the Wayne County Health Department to help cost-share that agency's air pollution abatement program for the 1972-73 fiscal year.

State funds earmarked for the Wayne County program will come from surveillance fee receipts collected among air pollution sources in Michigan. They represent a major portion of $772,000, which has been budgeted this fiscal year by the Department of Natural Resources to help underwrite local air pollution programs.

Lee Jager, Chief of the DNR's Air Pollution Control Division, reported last week that similar grants covering the balance of this year's budget are proposed for programs to promote clean air in the Muskegon County, Macomb County, Grand Rapids, and Flint areas.

As planned, these state-supporting funds will total $30,318 for the Muskegon County Health Department, $49,110 for the Macomb County Health Department, $34,800 for the City of Grand Rapids, and $29,234 for the City of Flint.

Such grants going for local programs are to be used to investigate, prevent, and abate causes of air pollution, Jager explained. They also may be spent on enforcing Michigan's air pollution control laws.

Jager pointed out that future grants from surveillance fee revenues will be based upon projected local programs, rather than air pollution control activities already undertaken or carried out.

Vintage Car Nostalgia Is 'In' At The Auto Show

By FRED DeLANO

There's a special local significance in the nostalgic theme adopted for the 58th Detroit Auto Show now in progress at Cobo Hall, for devotion to vintage vehicles has reached the proportions of a full-blown craze in Observerland.

"Nostalgia ... A Ride Down Memory Lane" is the theme chosen by the Detroit Automobile Dealers Assn. for its 1974 extravaganza, and old cars from as long as 50 years ago are on display along with the latest products introduced for the new model year.

Collectors and renovators of the cars of yesteryear have found local showcases in such annual events as the Plymouth Fall Festival and Farmington Founders Festival, and so popular has the hobby become here that it has led to establishment of two agencies working exclusively in the antique vein.

These are Art Orofino's Classic T-Bird Shop at 32411 Grand River, Farmington, and Paul Hatton Enterprises, 31550 Ford Rd., Garden City.

An article issued recently by the general office of the Ford Parts Division, headquartered in Livonia at Plymouth and Middle Belt Rds., calls restoration of vintage automobiles "one of the fastest growing hobbies in the U.S. today."

Officials of the division should know whereof they speak, for requests come there daily from throughout the nation - in fact, even from abroad - for old parts.

Ford's parts retention policy makes it mandatory for the division to stock all car and truck parts, except soft trim, for the first five years, even if the sale volume is zero. The large majority of aftermarket parts in the distribution system have an average life span of approximately 13 years. Unless there is a demand for a part after the 13th year, it is removed from the system.

"With the sophistication of today's automobiles and the number of service parts in today's aftermarket increasing, it is practically impossible for us to keep many old car parts in stock," said William A. Howard, supply manager for the division.

But this doesn't mean officials won't help aficionados find parts, even though it may mean functioning only as a middleman.

George Schumm, liaison representative between the division and dealers and customers, says, "We make every effort to help out when we get a vintage car call. We can't always succeed, but we try."

Although not a vintage car buff himself, Schumm, who has been with Ford 27 years, emphasizes that "the people around here are well informed and knowledgeable and some are truly specialists in old parts."

Even though his primary interests are with the inventory of more than 200,000 up-to-date individual replacement parts Ford keeps on hand, Schumm says the extra effort to help vintage enthusiasts "is fun to do as an intellectual exercise."

"If successful, we have helped somebody out and in the process have helped the company," he adds.

The communication system among the legion of vintage hobbyists ranges from casual word-of-mouth to a teletype network among the nation's foremost junkyards. The buffs also communicate through advertisements in club and manufacturers' publications.

"With the restoration of vintage cars rapidly growing, the number of antique car clubs has increased at almost the same pace," said Howard.

"When we can't locate and provide parts ourselves, we maintain an up-to-date listing of classic car clubs, local junkyards and professional car restoration facilities for use in referring these enthusiasts."

Orofino's shop in Farmington, a meeting place for many area devotees, also contains an informal message center in the form of a large billboard where wants can be noted.

On a given day recently, memos were there from dozens of individuals wanting to buy, sell or swap parts for all sorts of vehicles from a '36 Pontiac to a '63 Buick.

Earlier this year, Orofino joined with Fred Watson of Livonia and Kenneth Lang of Dearborn Heights in promoting metropolitan Detroit's first antique car auction.

It was held at the Botsford Inn and vehicles sold ranged from a 1903 curved-dash Oldsmobile owned by Walter Beginger of Plymouth to a 1951 English-built Daimler said to have been owned by an exiled queen of Yugoslavia. The auction saw $64,000 change hands on sale of 30 of the 75 cars exhibited.

That it was held at the Botsford Inn was not surprising, for owner John Anhut is a vintage car buff himself, being a descendant of the family which produced the Anhut automobile in Detroit in 1910 and 1911.

Whereas Orofino actively engages in restoration work as well as sales, Hatton - a commercial artist by trade - operates strictly in sales and does it primarily as a hobby.

His lot and showroom are filled with cars of the old days, currently dating back to a 1917 Buick open-sided touring car.

Both men agree that the present-day craze is due in large part to a sense of nostalgia, plus the fact that these restored vehicles are more than just museum pieces only to look at. These cars really run.

New York authorities say the annual gross in the antique and classic car market easily totals $700 million. As to why the craze has hit like a windstorm may have been best expressed by Otis Chandler, publisher of the Los Angeles Times, who owns four vintage vehicles.

"For me, old automobiles are moving sculpture."

Plymouth's Band To Escort Santa In Hudson Parade

J. L. Hudson Co.'s annual Thanksgiving Day parade in downtown Detroit Thursday will feature the combined band from Plymouth's two high schools as Santa's escort.

The 176-piece unit representing Salem and Canton schools, under the direction of James Griffith, is known officially as the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park Marching Band and appeared last New Year's Day in the Tournament of Roses Parade at Pasadena.

Ten other bands, 18 floats, and an estimated 2,000 clowns and individual performers such as unicyclists and skaters will be in the parade which will leave the formation area at Woodward and Putnam at 9:20 a.m.

A second Observerland organization participating will be the Franklin Village Community Band.

Top innovation introduced by Hudson's this year will be the much publicized Jonathan Livingston Seagull float, based on the best-selling book of the same name which now has been released in movie form by Hall Bartlett Paramount Productions.

The parade will be televised locally by WWJ-TV (Ch. 4) starting at 10 a.m. and from coast to coast by CBS-TV starting at 10:25. Sonny Eliot will do the Channel 4 commentary, with June Lockhart and Jack Whitaker handling the network assignment.

PAUL HATTON, who deals in antique automobiles as a hobby, stands beside a renovated 1941 Packard which is one of the showpieces of his Garden City showroom. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring).

GEORGE LOVICH
Observerland No. 1 Coach

Franklin's Lovich Is Top Coach

When a team reaches the top, there always has to be that someone who piloted it there.

Franklin High reached that No. 1 berth in the Observerland 1973 gridiron season and the person who took it there has been selected the area's No. 1 coach.

George Lovich is that pilot. It was season No. 6 for Lovich and the first outright Northwest Suburban championship for Franklin in the past decade.

Franklin won the Northwest in a 17-0 struggle over North Farmington to place 5-0 in the league. However, the season ended in an upset by Bentley, 14-9, a disappointing scar on a perfect season.

"This was just one heck of a year," commented Lovich whose Patriots outscored opponents, 155 to 59.

Franklin won its opener over Garden City West, 23-18, and blanked Stevenson, 7-0, before stepping into Northwest action in a 13-7 victory over Westland John Glenn.

Victories over Garden City East, 14-6; Thurston, 27-6; North Farmington, 17-0, and a Northwest finale over Oak Park, 42-6, followed.

The dream was just one away from reality when Franklin slipped by rival Churchill in the mud, 3-2. But Bentley wound it all up with a 14-9 triumph and the Northwest champs were beaten.

"The real key to the season was the closeness of our group," added the Franklin coach. "That did it, the kids stuck together and covered up for one another and played as a team."

Lovich's first season at Franklin (1968) saw his Patriots tie for the Northwest crown with Thurston and North Farmington. This 8-1 mark pushes his overall record to 40-9-1, an .800 winning percentage.

Besides his 17-0 conquest of highly rated North Farmington this season, Lovich savors his '68, 14-13 win over Bentley and his '69 triumph over Bentley which had his Patriots down, 26-14, with two minutes remaining only to pull it out, 27-26.

Lovich, 35, graduated from Monessen High School (near Pittsburgh, Pa.) in 1956, a seven letterman. He played three years of football and volleyball and one of track there. He was an offensive end and defensive linebacker and checked in at 5-8 and 165 pounds, not too far off his current 5-9 and 180 pounds.

In track, Lovich cleared the high jump at 5-8.

It was then on to the University of Maryland on a football scholarship. A shoulder injury prevented him from being 100 per cent there and Lovich returned to his home state and went to work in a steel mill. He continued his education at California State College, (Pa.) only 10 miles from his home.

Lovich graduated from California State in January of '61 with an industrial arts degree. It was then up to Detroit where he was to put the finishing touches on a romance started in Monessen.

The Franklin coach met a Mary Ann out of high school who happened to be visiting an aunt in Monessen. Mary Ann went to Cass Tech in Detroit and after that first "coke date" in Monessen, it was four years later in April of '61 the two were married.

Lovich found a job at Lincoln Park High and moved to Hubert Junior High in Detroit. It was out to Livonia and Franklin High in '64 where George was the junior varsity football coach for two years and the backfield coach under Bob Bentley the next two.

Then came the '68 season and Lovich stepped in with a 7-1 record and a share of the Northwest crown.

What has followed has been a lot of Patriot wins and three prospective cheerleaders for George and Mary Ann in daughters Ann Marie, 9, Lisa, 7 and Kathleen, 4.

Hats off to the No. 1 gridiron coach-of-the-year, George Lovich.

FRANKLIN HEAD MENTOR George Lovich captured his first Northwest football crown in his six years and finished No. 1 in the area ratings.

Harrison Hawks Thump Rival Farmington, 19-0

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

A Hawk is defined as a bird of prey active by day—a Falcon is defined as a form of Hawk trained to hunt small game.

It was a day clash and the Harrison Hawks went on the prey and the Farmington Falcons found Harrison too tough to tame.

The Hawks clipped the wings of Farmington in the '73 prep gridiron finale, 19-0. It was a historic victory for John Herrington's Hawks in that it marked the first football triumph ever over a rival Farmington school.

Harrison had fallen to North Farmington the past three years and to Farmington twice before this '73 turnabout.

It gave Harrison a winning 5-4 season and dropped Hal Beardsley's Falcons to a losing 4-5 season.

"I couldn't think of a better way to close out a season," stated Herrington. "There is a big difference between a 5-4 season and a 4-5."

For Farmington it was a frustrating ending for a so-so season. The Falcons turned the ball over seven times, intercepted twice and losing five of seven fumbles.

The Harrison first over a Farmington rival was highlighted by a double dosage of an offensive first for the Hawks. In this the final game of season No. 4, Harrison came up with its first and second field goal in history.

Jim Harkin, at 6-6 and 255 pounds, booted a 30 yarder midway in the second quarter and split the uprights from 35 yards out on the final play of the first half.

Chucky Yarber added two touchdowns in the second half and Herrington was all smiles.

Harrison collected only six first downs to Farmington's four. The Hawks rushed for 172 yards and passed for five on one of four passes. Farmington totaled 93 yards on the ground and hit on two of 12 passes for 12 yards, with two intercepted.

Yarber paced the Hawk rushing with 61 yards picked up in 13 carries followed by Pink with 44 yards in seven carries.

Harrison took the opening kickoff but gave the ball up on downs when Sam Pink was stopped by the Falcons. Farmington took over on its 34.

After an exchange of punts, Pink fumbled for Harrison and Bob Holton recovered for Farmington on the Hawk 15. John Hans broke for five to the 10 and Kevin Ratliff took it to the four for a first down.

Hans carried to the two and then to the goal line but Dean Walsh of Farmington was called for holding and the Falcons were pushed back to the 16 for a second down. Holton was thrown for a four yard loss by Tim Hammer, two Holton passes fell incomplete and the Harrison defense held.

Midway in the second quarter, Hammer recovered two fumbles for Harrison, the second leading to the game's first score.

Dan Milhizer fumbled away a punt for Farmington, Hammer recovered and Harrison took over on the Falcon 20. An illegal procedure call pushed it back to the 25. On a fourth down and four situation, Harkin booted Harrison's first field goal ever, from 30 yards out and with 6:27 remaining in the half, Harrison was up, 3-0.

Farmington lost the ball on a fumble in its next series but Harrison was stopped and forced to punt. With 1:12 left in the second quarter, Farmington took over on its 20 and after Brian Ratliff was thrown for a six yard loss another fumble gave Harrison control on the Falcon 18 with three seconds left.

Harkin was called in again and booted another three pointer and Harrison had a 6-0 lead at the half.

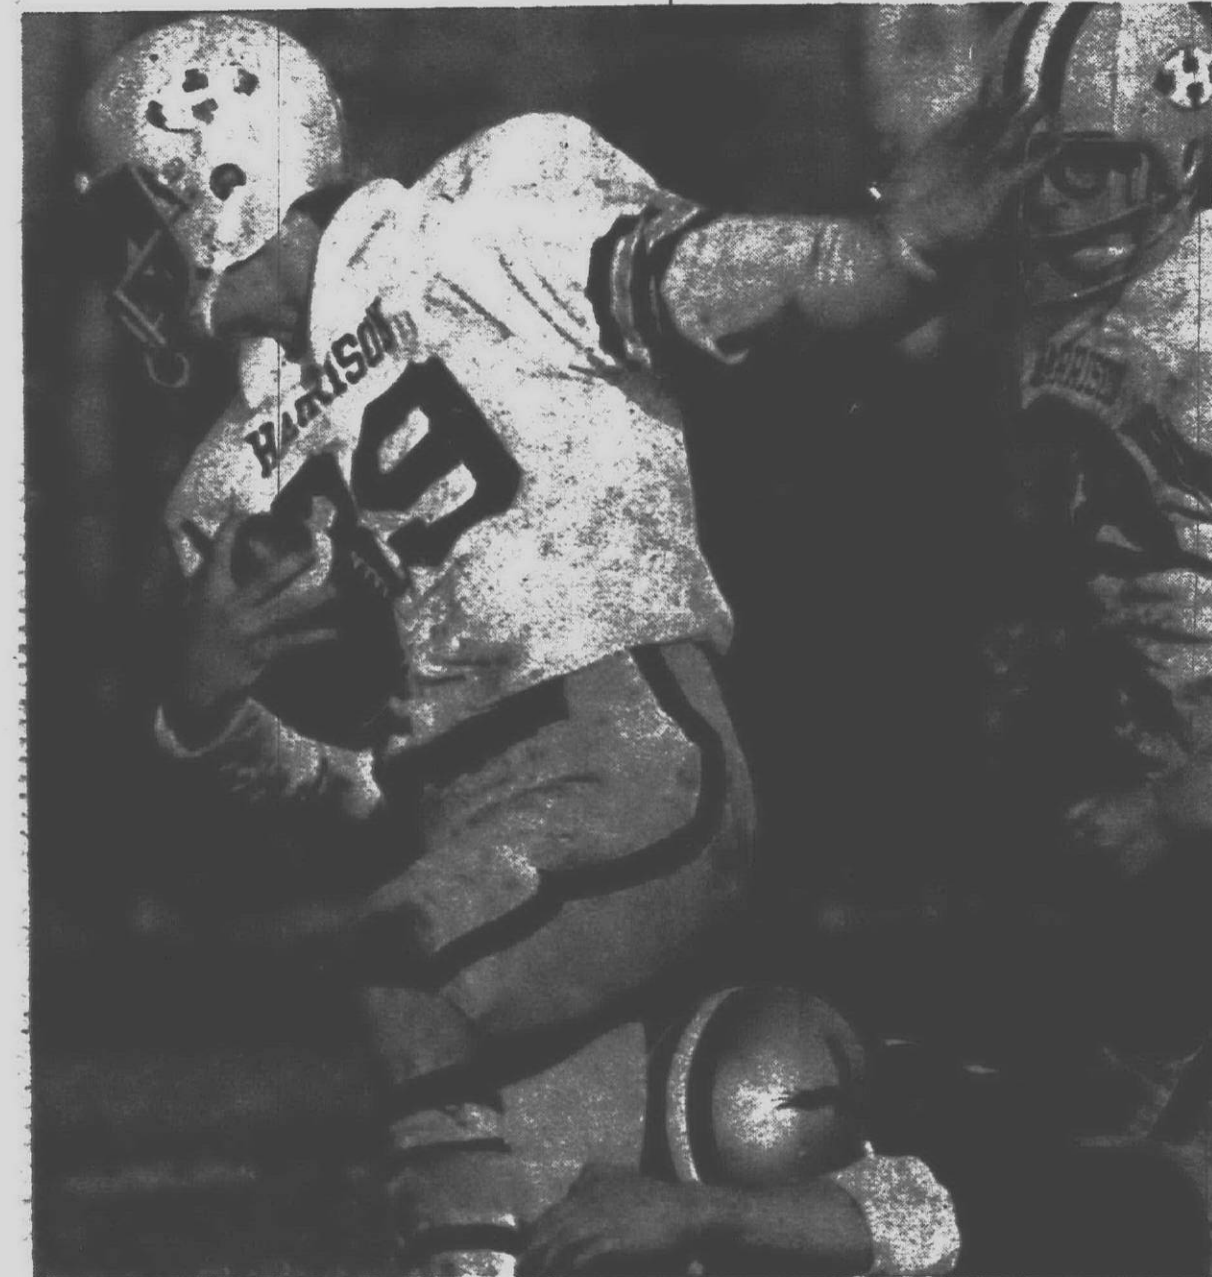

The Falcons took control in the second half on their own 26. On the first play from scrimmage, Dave Wallington pounced on a loose ball for Harrison.

Yarber then put on his running shoes and on the following play broke around right end for the distance and six points. Paul Rogind's attempt missed but with 54 seconds gone in the second half, Harrison's lead was 12-0.

Farmington came up six inches short of a first down on its next drive and Harrison took over on its 45. Pink broke loose for 25 yards and along with a Falcon unsportsmanlike call, Harrison was down to the Farmington 15.

Yarber took it in again and with 5:40 remaining in the third quarter the offensive contest was over with the defense taking control.

Interceptions by Dave Thorne and Jim Turney halted any hopes Farmington had of a comeback. Coach Beardsley turned to quarterbacks Milhizer and Jeff McPike and came up with nothing but the two interceptions and a blanking.

Lathrup's Ruhl Could Be Ohio State Key Saturday

His number is the same, height and weight almost identical - only the color of his uniform has been changed to match the talent.

The area's No. 1 defensive star of the '72 prep gridiron campaign will be returning to Michigan, in fact Michigan Stadium to be exact, this weekend.

Bruce Ruhl, the No. 1 athlete last year in Observerland from Southfield Lathrup High School, is wearing the same number he wore for four years as a prep-43, and is still stalking around at 6-2 and 188 pounds.

But the colors he wears have to be the most disliked in Michigan, especially around Wolverine territory.

Ruhl, in only his fresh season, is the starting defensive safetyman for Woody Hayes' Buckeyes. He will be on the Wolverine gridiron Saturday to try to halt and smother U-M's hopes of a Big 10 championship and a Rose Bowl trip.

The former Michigan All-State star has started the last three games for the Buckeyes and is the No. 2 man on punt returns.

Bruce is the up-man on the punt return.

BRUCE RUHL
Woody's Safety Man

"Bruce has become one of the squad's best hitters," said Buckeye defensive Coach George Hill. "He has a tremendous amount of poise and savvy for a freshman."

"He is not extremely fast but quick. Bruce has that sixth sense like a baseball outfielder."

"If Michigan thinks it can pass on Ruhl, they will be making a big mistake. Sure, our secondary has not really been tested," added Hill. "But it will be there to stop Michigan."

Ruhl has 12 tackles, four solos and eight assists. One person who has watched Bruce perform the past two weeks against Illinois and Iowa has been his high school coach Darrell Harper.

"Bruce fits into the Buckeye football program," commented Harper. "I always said that he could fit into any program anywhere in the country. Here he has stepped into the starting lineup of the country's No. 1 team-and is only a freshman."

"You know, they are all one big happy family at Ohio State," added Harper who wore the Maize and Blue during his collegiate football days. "Even though I played ball at Michigan, I'll be rooting for Bruce and the top team in the country."

"Bruce is very excited about this one. Here it is the biggest game of his life. Both offenses are about the same but Ohio State's defense has to stop Michigan."

"Bruce plays something like centerfield in a backfield which really hasn't been tested."

Ruhl, who wore the "red and white" No. 43 for four years at Lathrup and amassed 2,161 yards in 358 carries. He caught 68 passes for 995 yards, scored 41 touchdowns and 21 extra points and intercepted 19 passes and will be up against the Maize and Blue for the first time Saturday.

Last year the then Lathrup senior said, "I have always tried my best to be the best."

The best of luck to No. 43.

North Farmington's Pease-Area's No. 1 'Blue Chipper'

What do you get when you pack a 5-11, 180-pound running back into a football uniform?

Nothing but the best. North Farmington's Brad Pease has been selected the No. 1 offensive player of the year in Observerland, his credentials being some of the top in the state.

The 18-year-old back was a three-year varsity starter for Ron Holland and totaled 2,863 yards on offense in scoring 33 touchdowns. He had five games over 100 yards and two over 200 yards - 253 yards rushing against Farmington and 248 against John Glenn.

Pease rushed for 1,053 yards in 163 carries for a 6.4 average, in eight games and tallied 19 touchdowns, playing 25 quarters of 32 possible. He also caught four passes for 69 yards.

The Raider standout accounted for 202 points in his three years at North where the Raiders compiled a 22-4 record.

The No. 1 offensive player was his team chaplain, active in Fellowship of Christian Athletes and competes in track by running the 440, 220, 100, hurdles, relays, and long jump.

Pease was All-Observer last year and this season has already been chosen to the '73 All-Oakland County dream team, Detroit Free Press All Suburban and All Detroit News.

"I have never coached a finer individual," commented Coach Holland who has had some outstanding talent.

"Brad is a modest individual, a real team player who has the respect of all his players.

"He is active in choir and a genuine person."

"Brad has great speed and good strength and has that something extra when carrying the ball prior to getting there."

"His own personal commitments have pushed him to where he is today."

"His parents have to be very instrumental in his success," added Holland, who has coached two Peases prior in linebacker Jay and halfback Mike.

"Brad always gave of himself during practices," added Holland. "When we switched to defense, Brad would always run the other club's offense."

"Brad would work on our scouting reports or what we call our looney reports and would be our opposition's top back. For example, before our Franklin game, Brad was Greg Battistone."

"He gave of himself for the betterment of the club."

What was Brad's biggest thrill of his prep career?

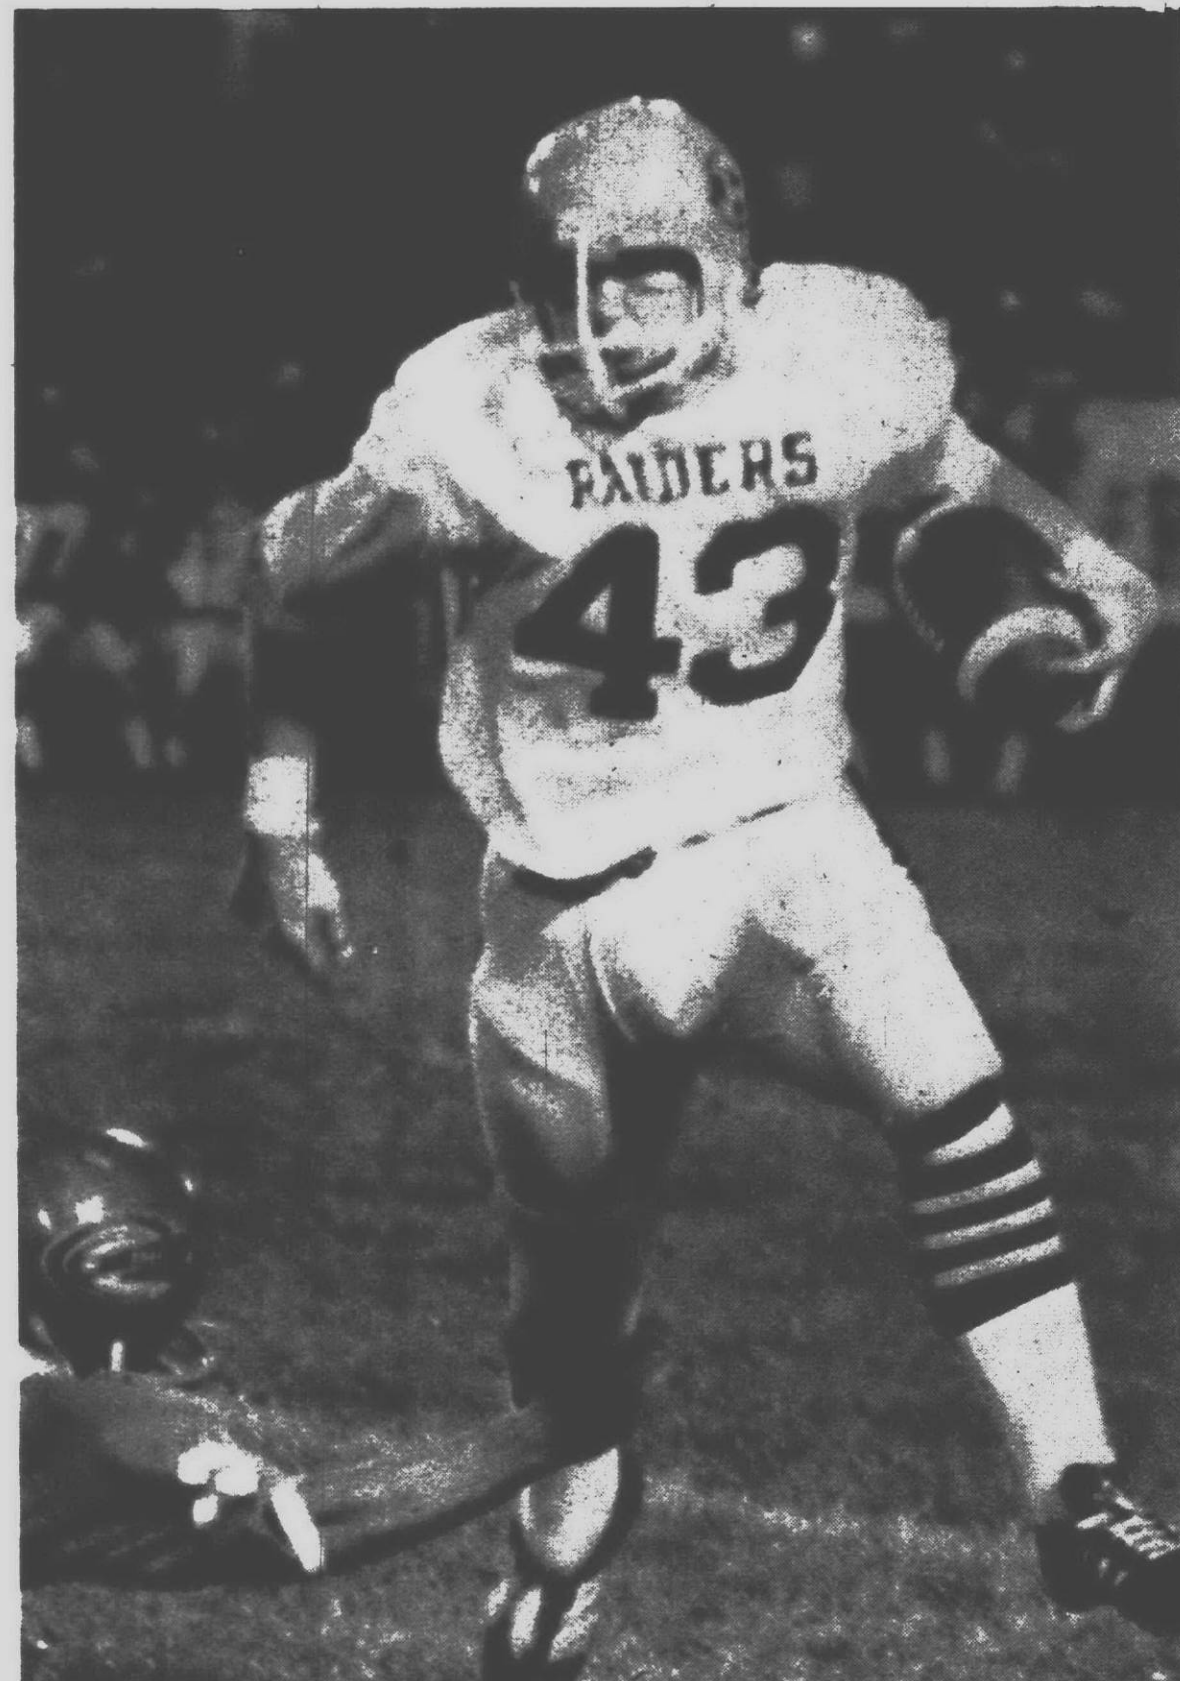

"Well, I guess it would have to be my first touchdown in my sophomore year," said the senior back. "It was the opening kickoff against Franklin and I covered 93 yards. We won 12-7 and captured the Northwest crown."

"But next would have to be crushing Farmington this year after they upset us last season."

"You know, football here at North Farmington is all Mr. Holland's doings. He is just a fantastic coach," added Pease who has been contacted by almost every major college in the country and is seriously thinking of South Carolina, Indiana or New Hampshire.

"I am hoping for college football," he added. "I have been playing football since I was seven. It's just a part of me and I have grown to love it."

Congratulations and good luck Brad Pease, No. 1 in Observerland.

Churchill Dumps Milford

The first 45 minutes of the 1973-74 prep hockey campaign in Observerland produced signs Churchill Coach Adam Mitchell is looking for.

The Chargers finished second last year to Stevenson in losing the George Gee finale, 4-2, and wound up 12-7-3 overall.

Churchill lost its non-league opener to Allen Park last year, 3-2.

This year Churchill has started on a different note with the Chargers ripping Milford 10-1.

The Chargers, paced by two goals apiece by Jeff Truax and Steve Uritti, outshot Milford, 58-7 but collected 14 minutes in penalties to Milford's eight.

At the 9:19 mark in the first period, Truax slapped home the opening goal of the season, Sam Bird assisting. Less than two minutes later, Truax did it again, this time unassisted. Fred Korte and Uritti added Churchill goals to make it 4-0 after one period.

Milford's lone tally came in the early moments of the second period on a shot by Brian Brown with Clark Toohu assisting.

The Chargers came back on scores by Brian Vessey and Mike Fox to up it to 6-1 after two periods.

Uritti, Dave Leist, Jim Gannon and Pat Meyers accounted for the Churchill goals in the final 15 minutes.

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

In the typical Thanksgiving fashion that has marked his operation for years, Leon Slavin, president and general manager of the Jackson - at - Northville Downs, will offer a special dinner for patrons and their children Thursday in the grandstand and clubhouse.

No, it isn't for free but the charge will be very nominal and the genial Slavin is making sure that all participating have the kind of a dinner that goes with Thanksgiving.

Dinner will be served from 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. in the grandstand and all evening in the clubhouse.

The Jackson - at - Northville Thanksgiving dinners always have been well attended and Slavin is looking forward to the best attendance ever this year since the price of turkeys has climbed to such a level that a few will be able to afford them this year.

Then with Thanksgiving gone, Slavin is making plans for the presentation of the official state lottery drawing on Thursday, Nov. 29. He completed arrangements a week ago and all of the lottery equipment will be located in front of the grandstand for the drawing of the lucky numbers shortly after 9:30 p.m.

"We have been selling tickets at the track for the past two years," said the Jackson boss. "State officials know that sales at the race tracks are just about the highest anywhere and because of this we had little trouble making arrangements to have the drawing here at Northville Downs."

LIVONIA SCHOOL CHIEF Ron Upton had one of the happiest moments of the fall Saturday when his four year old mare Jane's Amigo tested the single shaft sulky for the first time and led all the way to record her first victory in two months.

Named after Mrs. Jane Upton, the daughter of Newport Amigo sped to the front from the start and stayed there much to the amazement of Upton and his driver-trainer George Davis. She won with ease and took to the controversial cart like a child to a big candy bar.

Seems like everyone in the barn area knew Jane's Amigo was right and ready for a win since she went postward as the favorite at 8/5 odds and returned $5.40 to her backers. The list must have included just about all in the stands.

If you have the time and know Ron, there isn't any time like the present to ask him about his Speedster colt, a two year old turning three on Jan. 1, who could well become one of the best trotters around if it continues to improve.

Ron has sent the young and still untested youngster to Castleton Farm near Lexington, Ky., for additional training and plans to have it compete in most of the Grand Circuit events next year... if it comes along as well as expected.

ONE WONDER what Hazel Park owners are thinking after the first four days of the 29-day winter meeting.

With the knowledge that the track must average $600,000 daily in handle, to break even, management saw the first Saturday attract a crowd of 9,160 which sent $925,670 through the mutual machines.

That was the first time wagering was less than a million on a Saturday since last spring when Hazel Park opened 1973 thoroughbred racing in Michigan.

The Detroit Race Course had more than a million every Saturday, one of the big reasons for the $707,000 average for the 90 days.

The weather conditions were perfect last Saturday and most predicted well over a million handle. Which leads to the question "what will happen when the bad weather arrives?"

OUT NORTHVILLE WAY the field is gradually taking shape for the $10,000 finale of the fall and winter pacing series scheduled for the final Saturday in December.

Jed McClure, a three-year-old from the Don Niccum stable, won the first division of Saturday's divided qualifier with a wire-to-wire triumph in 2:05. Tricky Dale, the odds-on favorite from the Bob Kalish string from Southfield, was second all the way but never could catch the leader.

The second division which matched favorites Michigan Mack, Zeph's Q and Sammy Key, was a terrific duel all the mile and found Sammy Key in the winner's circle with Zeph's Q second and Mack third. The time of 2:03 was the fastest of the meeting.

Incidentally, the crowd of 5,001 wagered $408,127, one of the better Saturdays for a Jackson - at - Northville program.

Ski Heil

By

BILL CAMERON

In the endless round of meetings and cocktail parties that we inevitably find ourselves involved in, the conversation eventually turns to skiing.

On those occasions I'll meet some discerning individual who reads my column, and on very rare occasions, an individual who remembers a specific column.

Those chance meetings bolster one's ego and makes the difficult task of preparing a column seem worthwhile.

The column that seemed to elicit the most positive response was mentioned to me several times recently. After searching my files and reading it again, I thought it was worthy of repeating. The thought hasn't changed in a year so read on.

A very dear friend and I have had several discussions of why kids (and some adults) need drugs to "get high" or "get turned on."

I've had experiences where I've been so "high" I've felt that I could walk across water and I hadn't had so much as an aspirin. To me being high is to be completely happy, relaxed and at peace with yourself and the world.

There are many ways of reaching this state.

Skiers know what I mean.

Have you ever been on the top of a mountain on a sunny day when there isn't a cloud in the sky and the temperature is about 20 degrees?

You wait for the crowd to ski off and leave you alone.

All you can hear is your own breath and the crunch of the snow. It's probably as close to heaven as you might get but all is peace and tranquility. You step into your bindings and start off down the mountain making long carved turns.

The run gets steeper and you start checking, making shorter turns, developing a rhythm. A feeling of exhilaration envelopes you as you swing around and over a few moguls. You're turned on, you're in love! In love with that whole mountain. You find yourself singing as you take that final schuss down to the lift, anxious to get back up to repeat the whole procedure.

It's all there baby. Your mind and body has reacted as one. You've had that perfect run and there are many more waiting. Who needs grass or pills? You look back up the mountain and that memory is etched on your mind forever. Memories are important. Until you've been there you'll never know.

You know, I get turned on watching my oldest son ski. He has a style and grace that I'll never have and he is beautiful to watch. I envy him as I envy all youth that have the opportunity to experience these feelings that took me so long to find.

Raiders Capture 10 All-Northwest Berths

Franklin won the Northwest Suburban title in its 17-0 victory over North Farmington but the Patriots finished second best in the All-League selections.

North Farmington, second in the Northwest with a 4-1 mark and 7-1 overall showing, placed six players on the first team offense and four on defense to capture 10 slots on the 22-man squad.

The Raiders also boasted the outstanding lineman in John Daubemeyer at 6-2 and 190 pounds. Franklin countered with the outstanding back in a 5-9, 165-pound Greg Battistone.

Franklin had only one player on the first offensive squad while North, which led Observerland with 260 points, stole the show.

North's defense, which was also No. 1 in the area, giving up only 36 points in eight games, and Franklin's, which was No. 2 - giving up 50 points in nine games, took eight of the 11 first team berths.

Zero Hour Is Here For U-M

by W.W. EDGAR

The zero hour is at hand for the University of Michigan Wolverines.

Ever since that cold, gray afternoon last November when they were stopped one yard from the goal line in the Ohio State stadium and lost their bid for an outright claim to the Big Ten title, they have awaited another chance at the Buckeyes.

All through the summer months they looked forward for a chance at revenge. All through the training season and then week after week during the playing schedule they had visions of the "big" one.

The chance comes Saturday when the loathed Buckeyes invade the stadium for a battle that looms as the gem of the entire season.

The crowd is expected to set an all-time record with approximately 104,000 in the stands, provided the weather man doesn't play any dirty tricks.

As the game approaches, the Wolverines -- and their followers -- have memories of two other meetings. First, is the futile goal line charge last year, which they would like to erase with a decisive victory.

The second is the vision of 1969 when the Buckeyes were turned back in what was considered a great upset and the Wolverines went on to the Rose Bowl.

This time they are underdogs again and all you hear at Michigan these days is "Remember 1969."

Then, of course, there is the unforgettable sight of Woody Hayes racing across the playing field, ripping up the yard markers two years ago in a fit of frenzy over a decision that helped bring about the downfall of the Buckeyes.

So there is precedent for the expectation of rare gridiron drama Saturday afternoon.

Both teams are undefeated and Michigan, even at full strength, is not considered a par with the Buckeyes. But all statistics can be thrown out the window when they meet. Anything can happen -- and it usually does.

If form holds true, both teams will rely on their ground games with the emphasis on defense to keep the other team from scoring.

So, it might be, that one of the teams will gamble in the air -- and this could be a factor in the final result.

One thing is certain -- there will be plenty of drama -- with the Big Ten title and the Rose Bowl hanging in the balance.

It really is the zero hour.

Ecology Kits For Christmas

(Reprinted from the Conservation News)

A young boy packs sand into a straw and then, using an eyedropper, adds water drop by drop, counting the drops until water begins to accumulate on top of the sand.

By counting how many drops it takes to saturate the sand, he will know whether the major component of the soil is sand, clay, or mulch and how easily it will absorb nutrients.

Taking a piece of ordinary nylon stocking, a young girl stretches it across a specially-made holder and sets it outside overnight. In the morning, she counts the number of breaks in the nylon.

From this deterioration, she can determine the acids and hydrocarbons - pollutants - in her neighborhood air.

These are just two of the wide variety of ecology kits, games, books, and items now on the Christmas market from many of the nation's 800 toy makers.

Aimed at youths between the ages of 8-16, the kits encourage an environmental education and a respect for their surroundings for "a generation which has not yet learned the wasteful, polluting ways of the past."

"The environment is bound to be important this Christmas because so many people are interested in it," said Edward P. Parker, president of Parker Brothers.

"Sets that show plants growing have been in the toy business for a long time," noted Lionel Weintraub, president of the Ideal Toy Corp., "but now children can actually observe their environment through their own tests."

The manufacturers' stress on environmental toys apparently hasn't been altogether successful. Al Bonotto, an owner of two stores in Southern Oregon, says that he has sold comparatively few ecology-oriented toys. "The parent that buys one of these kits for a child seems to be the same type of parent that used to buy a chemistry set."

"And when the rational thinking that's implied in one of these environmental kits is matched up against a noisy dragster that shoots sparks," Bonotto added, "it just can't compete."

That the subject of ecology will lead to another big fad in the fad-conscious toy business is doubtful, but environmentalists feel that the ecology kits on the Christmas shelves, with all the litmus paper, eyedroppers, and vials for youths, certainly makes for a good beginning.

Fences Selected For Looks, Utility

When selecting fencing, keep in mind what it is to be used for, says Joe Cox, Michigan State University extension landscape architect.

A fence can be used for utility value, to enhance the beauty of the yard or a combination of the two.

For many homeowners fencing is purely for utility purposes, so wire fencing is often selected, but it is not usually considered very decorative. Wire fence keeps small animals and children within a confined area. The chain link fence does a very effective job because it is difficult for small children to climb.

A fence can also be used to enhance the beauty of the yard and its plantings. It can accent or screen off an area for privacy. Many styles of wire fence are available with a green vinyl coating.

Wood fences are stylish and provide a natural look, but they may require additional maintenance.

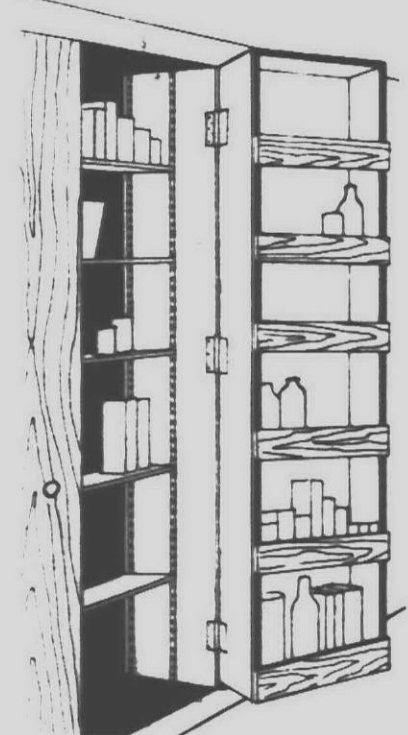

Before you start erecting your new fence, check for local regulations or ordinances on fencing, especially in regard to building a property-line fence.

Boards Give Texture To Inside Walls

Board and batten, board on board and board and gap patterns of solid wood paneling once were limited to exterior walls. Now they are used to lend richness to interior walls.

This paneling, in rough hewn western wood, brings texture and natural look to rooms. The board lines make interesting shadow patterns, and the natural color of the wood or tinted stains add a variety of color accents.

Board paneling is simple to install, either in remodeling, adding a room or new construction, and offers the homeowner a chance to save on costs by doing it himself.

CUPBOARD ACCESS problems can be eased with shelves of one by six-inch fir or pine added to doors, making contents easier to see.

GRANDFATHER CLOCK is making a comeback. You can assemble your own from a kit, finish the assembled product; or buy the completely finished clock.

Grandfather Clock Regains Popularity

One of the most traditionally American heritage pieces is the grandfather clock - crafted with nostalgia and enjoying a resurgence all its own.

The name "grandfather clock" dates back to about 1876 when a song by Henry Clay became popular with the line "My grandfather's clock was too tall for the shelf..."

Prior to this time, the clock was referred to as a "long case," and dates back to the mid-17th century.

The watchmaking industry began in America in 1830 with the pillar case clock. Until then, wooden parts were used instead of metal, since brass was scarce.

Craftsmen followed English traditions in making the long case clock, and around the middle of the 19th century, the clocks began to be mass produced.

Today the grandfather clock strikes some long-neglected chord in solid American citizens and fulfills a yearning to own a symbolic symbol of American heritage.

One Alabama clock company has been selling 3,500 to 5,000 clocks a month. Their grandfather clocks are available in three different ways: fully assembled finished clocks; assembled but unfinished clock cases; or unas-sembled kits for do-it-yourselfers.

Clockworks are imported from West Germany and the cases are made of solid native black walnut or Honduras mahogany.

Clock dealers say the buyers of grandfather clocks give various reasons for their interest; respect for time, the feel of personal involvement in ticking away the hours; love of graceful craftsmanship; and the desire to have heirlooms now to pass along later.

Whatever the reason, one thing is sure, the interest in grandfather clocks is on an upswing and it looks as if this trend will continue for a long while.

New Blinds Have Thermal Effect

MODERN TAPELESS easy-to-clean blinds are designed to conserve energy through a thermal effect and provide many new decorating possibilities.

In these energy-conscious days of fuel shortages and air conditioning "brownouts" some homeowners are returning to an ancient solution to the problem of window coverings, slatted shades.

Windows are very necessary to man's psychological well-being but they're extremely inefficient - they let heat in in summer, and they let it out in winter.

Aside from considering beauty and ease of maintenance, the search has been on for a window covering that will provide what scientists call a "thermal barrier."

The most efficient device developed to date is slatted blinds.

With modern engineering and recent advances in reflective finishes, blinds can make a difference of 10 to 20 degrees over a window that is unprotected or one covered with draperies or a non-reflective shade.

In winter, these modern blinds bounce heat back into the room from which it normally would escape through the glass.

Inevitably, talk of slatted window blinds brings up dingy visions of the '30s and the old-fashioned louvers we call "Venetian."

Forty years of improvements in technology and chemistry by manufacturers have evolved new designs and finishes that have caused quite a stir in the home fashion industry.

Decorators and designers are beginning to specify the use of the new thermal blinds not only for their efficiency, but because of the wide range of colors, finishes and the effects that can be obtained.

Unlike draperies and window shades, the sleek, slatted blind provides a crisp modern look which enhances the clean lines of modern architecture.

Average installation costs per window of horizontal blinds is less than half that of "good" draperies.

Manufacturers advise that you look for the seal of approval on the new narrow blinds, many of which will last a lifetime.

Although they come in dozens of colors ranging from warm browns and umbers to all-the hues in the rainbow, the low-gloss, brushes and polished aluminum has the most reflective surface and gives maximum heat control.

It's Snowblower Checkup Time

EXPOSED SURFACES of a snowblower can become infested with rust as can your car's body. Checking for signs of problems and taking care of them can prolong the life of your equipment.

Whether your snow removal equipment is a walk-behind model or a riding tractor with a snow blower attachment, now is the time for very important preventive maintenance.

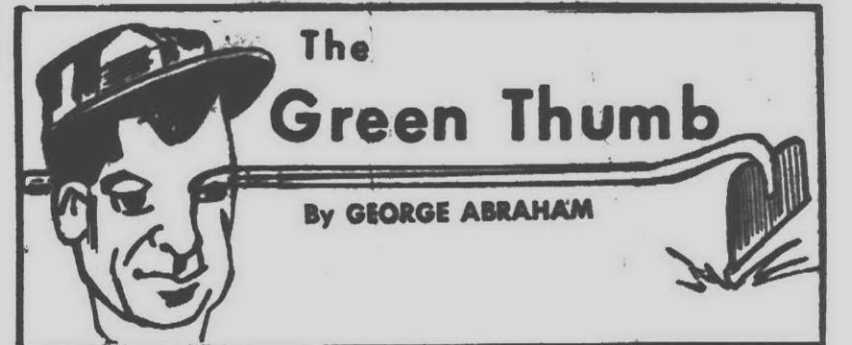

If the snowblower has been stored properly, midseason maintenance can be done quickly, simply and resultfully. Here's what should be done according to manufacturers:

- Check all exposed surfaces for rust. Clean, oil, wax or paint as needed.
- Check the engine compartment for inroads by wildlife. Clean away their debris. Check for signs of chewing. Repair belts and wiring.

• Roll vehicles forward a bit to change pressure on tires. If vehicles have pneumatic tires, add air as needed.

• Check fuel tanks for signs of condensation. Check cylinders for dryness. Follow the owner's manual and correct these conditions.

"If you take these precautions with your snow removal machines," the manufacturers advise, "You'll get more use at less cost over a longer period of time than you might have imagined. In fact, well-cared for equipment used only at intervals should last for decades."

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

Now's a good time to be on the lookout for aphids on your house plants. Also called plant lice or green flies, aphids are small, soft-bodied, pear-shaped insects, some green, but also some are black, yellow or bluish.

You see aphids in clusters on new growth, at the base of buds, or on the undersides of leaves. They feed by sucking sap and although they may not kill plants, they can reduce the vigor of them, causing a wilting or distortion of leaves, a hardening of buds, a malformation of flowers and a general stunting of growth.

These insects also produce a honeydew material on which a sooty fungus grows, making your plants unsightly. Worse than that, the aphids can act as carriers of virus and bacterial diseases.

Control: Aphids are among the easiest of house pests to control. Some of the old methods of control used by gardeners and greenhouse operators were syringing the plants with water, dusting with rotenone or pyrethrum and spraying with nicotine sulfate (Black leaf 40).

Nicotine is still very effective against aphids, and is even more effective if you add a pinch of soap.

The dieffenbachia or "dumbcane" is a fine foliage plant, but it has a tendency to get tall and leggy. When it does this, you can easily shorten the plant. Just cut the top off and place it in a jug of plain tap water to root.

By cutting the top out, you force new buds to come out from the spindly cane and the plant becomes nice and bushy. You can pot the rooted top in a six-inch pot, using a soil mixture of one part peat, one part sand and one part loam.

Another way to handle a leggy dumbcane is to take the long trunk and cut it into four-inch pieces. Place them in a mixture of sand and peatmoss. Each piece will form new roots and top shoots.

After rooting has occurred, pot up each piece separately in four-inch pots, and you'll have a lot of new plants to give your friends.

CHRISTMAS PEPPER: This showy item sold at Christmas time, produces peppers that are hot, but edible. Start plants from seeds from old peppers. They should make good sized plants by the time the holidays roll around.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: "Is it too late to cut my poinsettia back and have it bloom for Christmas?"

Answer: Yes. Better let it flower for Christmas, then cut it back. Meanwhile, dropping of leaves is caused by poor light, high temperature, too much water, not enough water and drafts. Keep your poinsettia watered regularly, because it does not like dry roots.

Use Nail Set

When nailing wood molding to walls, drive finishing nails with hammer until head protrudes 1/16th-inch from surface, finish job neatly with a nail set.

Insulation: Key To Comfort

Today's smart homeowner is a type of modern day alchemist. He doesn't use magic. He uses some sound energy conservation principles and practices to reduce his heating and lighting bill and at the same time add extra comfort and convenience to the home.

Residential home heating and cooling requirements constitute about 20 per cent of the total energy needs in Michigan, Consumers Power Co. reports. A significant portion of the energy can be wasted through inefficient home construction and maintenance. In some instances, as much as one-third of the fuel used for heating is wasted.

If there is one key to comfort in the home, it is insulation. Sufficient insulation can assist in keeping you warm in the winter and cool in the summer.

Correct amounts and properly installed insulation keeps heat in your home during the winter. This reduces the amount of heating fuel consumed and in turn decreases your bill.

In the summer time, the correct insulation will keep out heat from the sun and keep the home cooler. If you have air conditioning, the insulation can reduce the use of this major energy consuming appliance and save you money on your utility bill.

Studies have shown that installing six inches of ceiling insulation in a pre-1942 single-story 1,250 square foot home could reduce the average annual natural gas consumption by as much as 21 per cent. For a similar home built after 1942, adequate insulation could result in a 10 per cent reduction in natural gas use.

Insulation is not the only step to take towards conserving energy and reducing your home heating bill. Other measures recommended to ensure comfort to the homeowner and reduce utility bills are:

- Install storm windows. Their cost can be recouped in a few years from reduced heating costs. (Also, keep them up year-round for increased cooling efficiency in the summer.)

- Have your heating system periodically checked. Change or clean furnace filters several times during the heating season. Dirty or clogged filters prevent your furnace from operating at peak efficiency.

- Keep your fireplace damper closed when the fireplace is not in use. Open dampers can waste 20 per cent of your heated air. Warm air rises - through an open damper to the cold outside.

- Keep window shades, curtains and draperies drawn at night. It helps insulate against the cold.

- Check all radiators, grills, vents and registers to be sure they are free from obstructions that would restrict the flow of heat.

- Check for proper degree of humidity in your home. Dry air requires more heat to maintain comfortable warmth. A simple test to determine whether or not your home has enough humidity is to drop three ice cubes in a glass of water. If no condensation occurs on the outside of the glass within two minutes, your home probably does not have enough humidity.

- If the basement, garage and attic are not heated, keep these doors closed to the rest of the house.

- Repair any hot water faucets which are leaking. A leak of a single drop per second adds up to over 1,300 gallons a year - and increased operational costs of your hot water heater.

- By lowering your thermostat setting by one degree, three to four per cent less fuel is consumed. By lowering it five degrees, you use 15-20 per cent less.

The wise homeowner can find comfort in the cold Michigan winter by taking advantage of these energy conservation steps. He can also find comfort in his pocketbook by implementing these measures and saving on fuel costs.

TOUCHES OF GLAMOUR, combined with the latest convenience features, are turning today's bathrooms into "beautility" rooms. A survey shows that bathrooms are the second most popular remodeling project. Luxury items such as decorator sinks, vanities, wall paneling, carpeting, fancy mirrors, handsome cabinets and exotic hardware are popular.

Bathrooms Glamorized

The beauty wave that washed over bathrooms a few years ago shows no sign of ebbing. As a result, dull old bathrooms are rapidly becoming "beautility" rooms.

Each year, about 2.8 million bathrooms are remodeled and about 730,000 new bathrooms added to existing homes.

In most cases, the desire to glamorize is just as important as the need to update old fixtures, add convenience, or provide more space.

This trend, says a leading building material retailer magazine, has led to heavy demands for luxury items for bathrooms.

A recent remodeling survey shows these features popular for improved bathrooms: "decorator" sinks and tubs, lavatory-vanities, ceramic flooring, carpeting, ceramic wall tiles, wall paneling, "fancy" mirrors and lighting fixtures, and suspended ceilings.

Glamour accessories include: ceiling sun lamps, built-in scales, pull-out hair sprayers, built-in soap dishes and tissue dispensers, and exotic-looking hardware.

The comprehensive survey, which queried 1,500 homeowners nationally, indicates that bathrooms are topped only by kitchens as the most frequently planned home improvement for 1973.

Figures for previous years show bathroom remodeling most usual in homes valued between $16,000 and $36,000.

Most bathroom remodeling - about 77 per cent - is done by homeowners: exclusively or with some professional help.

This reflects high labor costs and the ability of do-it-yourselfers to find - usually at building supply and lumber dealers - the materials and information they need to handle the job.

Harrison Is Hit In 'No Sex Please' Madonna To Offer

2 Courses on TV For Early Risers

By JAN WILLIAMS

Once in a great while, suburbanites are afforded the luxury of professional theater within their own confines.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council gave area residents that luxury last week with "No Sex Please, We're British," starring Noel Harrison.

Although, as the title implies, there was no sex, one spectator referred to the play as "somewhat of a risk for Plymouth."

There were some eyebrow-raising scenes, but for the most part it was good family entertainment, even for pious Plymouth.

The play was about a newlywed couple (Robert Jundelin and Flair Bogan) living over the bank of which he is assistant manager. The young wife decides to supplement the family budget and answers a newspaper "business opportunities" ad.

However, the "Swedish glassware" she sends for turns out to be pornographic postcards. When by mistake she sends the firm a check, masses of films, books, pictures and more start to arrive at the apartment.

The complications increase when this respectable young couple enlist the aid of a bungling bank cashier (Noel Harrison) in an effort to hide the material from the mother-in-law (Carol Raymont), a suspicious police inspector (John-David Keller) and a couple of important bank officials (Ronald Drake and Ed Preble).

Harrison delivered an excellent performance as Brian Runicles, the bungling bank cashier. The rest of the cast did equally well.

If this performance was any indication of what's to come from the PCAC, more power to them.

Their next offering will be "Untamed Land," starring Jimmie Rodgers, scheduled for Feb. 9. Ticket orders for this performance are now being accepted by writing Theater Tickets, Central School, 650 Church, Plymouth, 48170.

Half Canadian
Michigan State's 26-man varsity hockey roster for 1973-74 lists 13 athletes from Ontario, Canada.

Men and women enrolling for the winter term at Madonna College will have the option of taking courses by TV — if they can get up early, that is.

"Sunrise Semester," two New York University courses, will be aired locally by WJBK-TV (Channel 2) and will be offered as credit courses by the Livonia college. Each will carry four semester hours of credit and there will be no pre-requisites. Examinations will be arranged through the office of the dean.

"Practical Reasoning," a philosophy course, will be aired Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, beginning Jan. 28, from 6:30 to 7 a.m. It is an introduction to critical thinking. Topics covered will include inductive and deductive reasoning, definition of terms, fallacies, appeals to reason and emotion, problem solving and decision making.

"Media in America," a communications course, will take a fresh look from contemporary social and political viewpoints at the role newspapers, magazines, books, and broadcasting play in American history. It will be offered Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, beginning Jan. 29, at 6:30 a.m.

The Stroller:
On Another Birthday

By W. W. EDGAR

Father Time, the old gent with the hour glass and the scythe, silently strode into the room the other day, ripped a sheet from The Stroller's personal calendar and departed with a sly wink in his eye.

There was nothing surprising about the visit. It had been anticipated for some time. But it did seem that these visits are coming more frequently than they did in the past.

As the Old Gent left, The Stroller couldn't help remembering the days when he longed to reach his 21st birthday - the day when he would become a man, be allowed to vote and even walk into a bar and order a lager beer if he so desired. He thought that day never would come.

Now, in the upper half of the 70s, the visits seem to come much too often. Perhaps that's why the Old Gent winked when he departed the other afternoon.

As he left, The Stroller leaned back in his chair, and smiled at the recollection of some of the big and laughable events that happened along life's highway.

For instance, some years ago, his favorite doctor patted The Stroller on the stomach and remarked - "You seem to be getting a great kick out of life. And you could enjoy it a lot longer if you took off some of that weight."

With that he induced The Stroller to indulge in a program of "re-shaping his body." The good doctor had a hatred of the word "diet" and never used it. It was just a case of "re-shaping" a person's body.

For the better part of 18 months The Stroller watched his food. He turned his back on potatoes and all things made with flour. More than that, he limited his liquid intake to six six-ounce glasses each day.

The plan worked. At the end of the 18 months The Stroller's body had been re-shaped and he had lost 70 pounds.

BUT- he didn't feel any better.

Why go through all that and not feel any better? Meanwhile The Stroller had to listen to people asking, "Are you sick?" - "You don't look well" and finally called it quits when a friend remarked, "You're not half the man you used to be."

Now the weight is all back - and The Stroller still is enjoying life.

On another occasion, the doctor friend advised giving up the use of condiments to ease a peculiar ache in a leg. That was 17 years ago. Condiments were forgotten - but the other night the peculiar ache returned.

When it did, The Stroller just smiled and decided he would take the advice of an old gent whom he had met years ago.

As a cub reporter, The Stroller was sent out to interview an elderly gent who had reached the age of 102 years.

After asking the usual questions The Stroller asked, "Have you any advice for the young folks of today on how they can reach such a ripe, old age?"

The old gent leaned forward in his chair and said: "Keep breathing."

The Stroller can think of no better advice than that to pass along on his latest birthday.

UNCONSCIOUS
by Doc Keeth

I don't mean knocked out, blotto. But I do mean that to be comfortable we should be unconscious of comfort.

Confusing? Not really.

Look at it this way. If you are comfortable, you aren't thinking about whether you are hot or cold, wet or dry, stuffy or anything else like that. You're just plain comfortable and you are thinking about girls, nuclear physics or whatever it is you like to think about.

But for the moment, let's consider how one gets this "unconscious" comfort from a heating system. It's for sure we don't get it from heat alone... because heat can be dry, dirty, stagnant and in all kinds of unpleasant conditions.

The trick to getting ideal "unconscious" comfort is to treat the air we live in. Heat it, yes, if needed - but also to humidify it, clean it, freshen it and circulate it. That way we come up with TOTAL COMFORT, which is a nice, convenient phrase for, well, for total comfort.

Our Lennox heating systems are essentially air treating systems. They do much more than just heat. That's why we call them TOTAL COMFORT SYSTEMS.

One more thing; a Lennox Total Comfort heating system is perfect for the economical addition of central air conditioning.

All this is worth knowing about. So give me a call for more details. Ask for "Unconscious."

Bank Chain Establishes Policy Unit

Five regional Michigan National Corp. banks have established a southeastern Michigan executive council, according to Stanford C. Stoddard, president of the $2.9 billion holding company.

George A. Pierson was named chairman of the Council, William E. Dove was named vice chairman, and Gerald J. DeVore was made controller.

The membership will be made up of the chief executive officers of the five affiliated banks operating in southeastern Michigan and certain officers of these banks. They are Michigan National Bank of Detroit; MNB - North Metro; MNB - West Metro; MNB - Oakland; and the newly opened Greenfield National Bank (Dearborn).

"The executive council was needed to provide an effective vehicle for the coordination of policy by the area MNC banks while insuring the individual banks operational autonomy," Stoddard said.

Pierson is now president of Michigan National Bank of Detroit and a director of Michigan National Corp. Dove is a senior vice president of three of the suburban affiliates, and DeVore is vice president and controller of Michigan National Bank of Detroit.

Archaeological Society Meets

The Clinton Valley chapter of the Michigan Archaeological Society will meet on Monday, Nov. 26, at 8 p.m. in the Ferndale Public Library, Nine Mile east of Woodward. Local archeologist Bill Karoly will speak on "Cache from the Erie River Site in Wayne County." There is no charge and the public is invited.

Commission Reversal

ONTIAC was withdrawn because of objecting property owners along the two roads.

The reversal was taken after a representative of the property owners, George A. Googolian of Pontiac, appeared to withdraw objections and urge designation.

The action was taken a week after the designation

Library Hosts Needlework

PLYMOUTH
Plymouth's Dunning-Hough Library is the borrower for a change with a traveling needlework exhibit on display through Tuesday, Nov. 27.

The creative stitchery, bound to appeal to both youngsters and adults, is 12 separate wall hangings, each a copy of an illustration from children's literature. There's Jerome the frog; Pinocchio, the puppet; the lovable crew from Rebecca Caudill's "Pocketful of Cricket" and many more.

All are the work of an Oak Park based group of professional working women who call themselves "The Needlethreaders."

The present group was formed two years ago under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Harwood. None had done creative stitchery before.

It took some seven months to complete the first group of fabric collages. Since then, a second display was completed and is making the rounds from Columbia, Md. to Flint, Mont Blanc and Grosse Pointe.

Mrs. Pat Thomas, librarian, says the exhibit has been attracting a lot of attention. "We're all real thrilled about it."

Whenever possible the book and fabric illustrations have been displayed together.

Canton Resident Charged In Death

Arraignment has been scheduled Dec. 5 for the principal of Livonia Churchill High School, who has been charged with a high misdemeanor in connection with a fatal shooting accident.

Benzie County Prosecutor John Berlin said Jack Comstock, 4362 Leeann, Canton Township, has been charged with careless use of a firearm resulting in a death.

Berlin said Lyle Sinclair of Rockford was killed Nov. 14 in a cabin on Platte Lake in Benzie County, north of Grand Rapids.

Comstock was released without bond after waiving preliminary examination, Berlin said. He refused to give other details of the incident.

He said the charge is punishable by a maximum two-year jail sentence and a $2,000 fine.

However, he commented the charge means that no malice was involved with the incident.

Berlin said Sinclair was Comstock's brother-in-law.

The Benzie County sheriff's office said they had been instructed by the prosecutor to withhold information on the incident.

However, a Grand Rapids newspaper said the accident occurred while the two men were going through the "manual of arms."

'Watergate Fallout' To Take Toll

By JACKIE KLEIN

SOUTHFIELD Local officials sworn into office in the year of Watergate will discover the fallout from the crisis in Washington.

The speaker was Lieut. Gov. James Brickley who delivered the keynote address Tuesday before a crowd of 500 at Southfield's inaugural ceremonies.

"You are embarked on a profession known for a high mortality rate for doing what is right and doing what is wrong," Brickley told newly elected city officials.

Brickley referred to Southfield as one of the state's fastest growing communities. It is mind boggling to think a boy I romped through the woods of what is now the center of a thriving metropolis.

Brickley said it is questionable if the science of politics and self-government has matured along with the "dixie" development of cities and the fast changing nature of society.

"We build beautiful communities, but our ability to govern is in doubt. We are cursed by living in interesting times."

Local office-holders, said Brickley, serve on a critical level of government in which there are pressing demands for services. Challenges increase as mobility increases, he said.

"Officials are expected to defend autonomy of government in face of changing life styles and rising demands of constituents and those who pass through their city in droves."

Watergate has caused suffering and setbacks but provides a unique opportunity to implement change, Brickley said. "If we take advantage of this opportunity, politics will never be the same again.

"Agnew contended he was judged by post-Watergate standards. But honesty and integrity aren't subject to change. What has changed is the attitude of the electorate."

Voters now frown upon the tradition that campaign workers and contributors are entitled to high patronage, he said.

"The political path is strewn with unseated politicians who are unaware of new ethics and voter sophistication. The public may be fickle but it is less forgiving when deceived."

"The system cries for disclosures. The new political ethic calls for more participation on the part of the voters as well. But we aren't responsible for the ethics and judgment of the electorate. We are responsible for our own and must level with the people."

Intellectual dishonesty is a destructive force that violates the public trust, Brickley said. "The official who articulates one thought in one part of the city and conflicting thoughts in another part is as bad as the official who stuffs the ballot box."

The politician isn't a mechanical agent, he said. The electorate will accept an opposing viewpoint if it is expressed with pure conviction.

"The office-holder who tells the voter what is unpleasant will survive. Those who pacify the voter will be discarded. Compromise is a virtue under certain conditions. But those who stand firm in crucial times are more enduring than those who are scared into submission."

"The elected official must live with his voting record long after the gallery is empty. You can't insure political survival, but there must be heightened concern in winning office and discharging responsibilities."

Switch Mail Deadlines

The energy crisis has forced the U.S. Postal Service to move up mailing deadlines for both domestic and international Christmas mail and packages.

"The urgency of the fuel energy crisis compels us to request a one week advancement of the suggested dates we gave for domestic mail and a two week advancement for foreign mail," Postmaster General E.T. Klassen said.

Domestic first-class Christmas mail should be mailed by Dec. 8 while domestic surface parcels, excepting those for Alaska and Hawaii, should be mailed by Dec. 10.

Air mail parcels and letters within the U.S., excepting Alaska and Hawaii, should now be mailed by Dec. 15.

Mail and packages to Alaska and Hawaii should be postmarked one week earlier than other domestic deadlines.

International and military mail deadlines are:

Nov. 23 - International surface greeting cards to Canada and Mexico.

Nov. 24 - Air mail greetings and parcels to armed forces in Canada, Greenland, Labrador, Newfoundland, the Congo, Liberia and the Azores. International air parcels to Africa, the Near East and Far East.

Nov. 27 - Air mail greetings and parcels to armed forces in Belgium, Denmark, England, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Norway, Netherlands, Portugal and Spain. International air parcels to Europe, South and Central America.

Nov. 29 - International air parcels to Canada and Mexico. International air greeting cards to Africa, the Near East and the Far East.

Dec. 2 - International air greetings to Europe, Central and South America.

Dec. 4 - International air greetings to Canada and Mexico.

180 In Memoriam

In memory of my dear father Michael J. Leacock. The silent, most honest and charitable man I have ever known, whose philosophy of life, when it came to helping others was, "That's what we are here for." We would have Heaven on earth if all believed as he did. My thanks to all who have comforted me. We all lost a wonderful friend but our lives have all been enriched in just knowing him. His love and goodness will remain with us always. Dorothy Leacock-Barz
