Group eyes consolidation study by MSU

What would consolidation of the city and township of Plymouth mean?

The answers to that question may come from a study made by Michigan State University's Institute for Community Development.

Such a study is being considered by a group of Plymouth and Plymouth Township residents who have met with MSU community planners on its feasibility.

With a consolidation election likely to be ordered in the two local governments spring by the State dary Commission, officials from both the city and township have said such a study would be needed before a vote.

I have these comments on the pros and cons of various thought of as a toy or even a proposed methods of pet control

Non - surgical contraceptives would be effectrouble of administering them. We already have lack of responsibility for pets, let alone an added responsibility administering contraceptives. Also, most people do not know how to give or are afraid to give medication to their pets.

Higher license fees will only force breeders of purebred dogs to pay a "penalty" for their profession.

More stringent leash laws are fine, but who is going to enforce them? The police are not sufficiently staffed, and the Animal Welfare Dept. of - staffed.

Therefore, in order to properly enforce the leash law. more government employes would be necessary, which means additional taxes. Why should everyone be fined for the neglect of some?

Public education is "must." Most parents buy a pet for their children and ex-

"The radio listener saw nothing. He had to use his imagination. It was possible for each individual to enjoy the same program according to his intellectual level and mental capacity...Television has taken that away from him."

As usual, I have to be a bit of a wet blanket about the thing. Yep, the golden age of radio was fine if you could stand the blatant way the sponsors commercialized during the sign-on and sign-off, and even during the program itself.

Then there were the "Molle Mystery Theater," the "Fitch Bandwagon," "The Vaseline Program" (Dr. Christian) and the "Armour Star Jester" (Phil Baker). Even Amos 'N' Andy got stuck with some opening lines about Rinso with solium.

The worst of all was "Tom Mix and his Ralston Straight Shooters." One of the things they teach you in elementary school is telling time, and I clocked the program. Of 15 minutes, fully eight were devoted to commercials and only seven to the story.

They didn't have the term rip-off in them olden days, but that's what Tom Mix was. You sent in a boxtop and some coin for (say) a whistling ring, and it took six weeks to arrive. By that time, the episode involving the whistling ring was over. The lousy ring fell apart in two days. I hope the soul of Straight Arrow scalps the soul of Tom Mix. I would still be boycotting Ralston Purina products if my dogs didn't insist on Chuck Wagon.

to the commercial center of southeast Michigan.

That leap was so far forward that it has left many community leaders with an identity crisis - an acute inability to recognize what Southfield is and where it fits into the greater metropolitan area.

Many conceive Southfield as a bedroom community, a fine, residential area, great place to raise the kids, etc. That's nice, but Southfield is much more than a residential community.

Others view Southfield through the old "township lenses" -- purely as a local governmental unit, a separate entity unto itself. One of the hangovers from the township mentality is a myopic distrust of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG).

The argument can be heard from any township official, or any officer of a city which was a township within the past five - 10 years.

"SEMCOG is a regional agency seeking to establish regional government which would, if accomplished, take away the powers of local governments. Local government must be left completely free to make its own zoning decisions and enforce its own laws."

That type of parochial thinking is taken a step further in Southfield with some officials blaming the city's problems on its close proximity to Detroit.

"Southfield has but two problems, traffic and crime, both of which are Detroit's fault."

If this is true, then it must be that the boundaries surrounding Southfield aren't formidable enough to stop problems from penetrating. If so, then one could certainly go outside those same boundaries in quest of solutions. But Southfield seems to want to solve its problems locally without the help of regional technicians.

The transportation problem is probably the best example of Southfield's current identity crisis. The city recognizes it has a transportation problem. After all, this city with a population of 75,000 residents has a daytime population of some 500,000 persons. This is a residue to be dealt with when one becomes a commercial center.

Thus, for every person who lives in Southfield there are six more who live elsewhere but drive into the city each weekday to work. During daytime hours, then, about 85 per cent of the population are non-residents, most of whom drive automobiles into and out of the city.

If 85 per cent of your traffic problem is caused by motorists from other cities, how can a solution be reached by relying purely on local expertise? These figures cry-out for a regional approach, and literally demand much greater reliance on SEMCOG and SEMTA, its sister regional transportation agency.

Surely, the Southfield resident doesn't view Federal - Mogul, The Bendix Corp., Prudential Insur-ance, Northland Center, Amoco Oil Co., Kelley Services, Eaton Corp., Allstate, Delta Air Lines, Vilican

The poor people's most tenacious and devastating problems are created and perpetuated by the continuous avalanche of babies amidst poverty stricken families. These unfortunate, children are doomed to a life of deprivation.

Not only is there not adequate food and shelter, but the most essential elements for emotional growth, such as being wanted, loved and appreciated, are denied them. They are deprived of social, cultural and educational opportunity. These children then have no alternative when they are adults but to join the vicious poverty cycle.

I question the wisdom of our United Fund's action in withholding all funds from the Planned Parenthood League, which does educate the poor in family planning. This cold - blooded act by a so - called charity organization touches us all. We pay the burden in welfare taxes, decay of our cities, crime and denying the poor to rise above their chains of poverty.

The list could be longer, but the point is that a portion of Southfield's taxpayers do business on a re-gional, national and international scale.

Southfield is, indeed, a regional, commercial ' center of southeast Michigan and will not begin to solve its problems until turning to regional agencies for assistance. The township died in 1957 and township thinking must go in 1974.

If you think Ethan Allen is just Early American, you haven't seen us lately.

We'll always love Early American furniture. After all, while we were making it, it was making us.

But being exclusively Early American was Early Ethan Allen. Today, we have a huge variety of styles and periods each made with the same quality and craftsmanship for which our Early American is famous: You can see each piece in anyone of literally dozens of fully decorated rooms-each with its own mood and feeling. And, there are decorating experts here to take you through all this variety and help you create just the mood and feeling you want.

To make your decorating even simpler, we'll also intraduce you to the Home Fashion Center. Here you can select from hundreds of fabrics and swatches of: drapery, upholstery, carpeting and rugs - plus dozens of pillows and bedspreads. They'll add just the right finishing touches to help you create the rooms of your dreams.

So, pay us a visit soon and let us show you the wide, wide range of periods, styles and feelings that mean Ethan Allen today.

Cindy Baumhart of Livonia has thought about being a veterinary doctor for about as far back as she can remember. Now she's Dr. Cynthia J.

Baumhart, a December graduate of the Michigan State University college of veterinary science, but it didn't happen without a detour or

"When I went up to State in the fall of 1968," said this member of the first Stevenson High School graduating class, "I had registered as a zoology major.

"I guess I figured vet medicine was not a field for a girl, though I had had it in the back of my mind for a long time."

But right away she met three new coeds in the pre-veterinary curriculum. "So I wound up going to all their orientation sessions insaid stead of the ones I was supposed to attend," she said.

'And when I got home from orientation I told my parents I'd signed up for pre-vet and it was a 51/2-year course and I hoped they didn't mind."

Like many applicants to the MSU veterinary school, Cindy was accepted on her second try, as a junior. So it was back to her zoology mafor for a few months until one of 14 women in her graduating class of 47. "The work was hard," she says, looking back over four years of schooling crammed into a little lesis than three years, "but there certainly was no problem because I am a woman."

"Fortunately, all the women in the group were strong - you have to be, because if there's a 40-pound sack of oats no one is going to hoist it for you.

Cindy plans to work with small animals, a part of veterinary medicine in which she feels women have a definite advantage. "There are a lot of dogs that respond much better to women than to men - probably because they are around women more at home. Knight is one of those. Engineers to study Lakes dredging: state pilot project

By KATHY MORAN

ednesday, January 9, 1974

The first step toward dredging Wilcox. Phoenix and Newburgh Lakes to improve water quality and make them more suitable for recreation was taken Monday when a contract was signed for a study of the three lakes.

State Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) gathered Dept. of Natural Resources and local officials at the pavilion on Wilcox Lake to witness the contract signing with John R. Snell Engineers Inc.

The six-month study is expected to lead to dredging and improving the Middle Rouge lakes so they will eventually be suitable for swimming, fishing and other activities.

Pursell sponsored the bill providing $50,000 for an in-Itial engineering and limnological study and gathered support from Livonia, Plymouth and Northville officials for the pilot project.

John Snell, president of the engineering firm which was low bidder, signed the contract with Leon Cook, chief

"I'm convinced that there are many things that can be done just from my brief view of the lakes this morning," he said.

Disposing of the sediment dredged from the lakes is the prime problems since there aren't marsh areas nearby to dump the sediment, he said. "This is a real challenge," he said, adding that it's not practical to truck it away and that they want to dump it somewhere where it can do some good.

The study will be in two parts - engineering report and liminological report.

Dr. Dennis Tierney, aquatic biologist from the DNR Bureau of Water Management, said the limnological study is to determine the quality of the lake bottom sediment and water.

"This is an ideal time to find out the existing water quality," he said, adding that after the lake has been dredged the DNR will "look at the effects and see what improvements did occur?" Although the project is state financed, support from local governments will be needed for developing recreational uses of the lakes, Pursell said.

Local officials attending the signing included Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara, Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch, Plymouth Township Supervisor J. D. McLaren; Plymouth City Manager Fred Yockey; Plymouth City Commissioner Harold Guenther and Wayne County Commissioners Mary (R-Livonia) and Dumas Arrowsmith Brian (R-Wayne). Several local members of

With legislative backing, Gov. Wendell Anderson is aplementing the concept currently the rage in business circles known as "management by objectives" (MBO). He has chosen George Odiorne Associates. inc. of Plymouth, to carry out its installation.

Except for Massachusetts, which made an aborted stab at MBO, Minnesota is the first state to attempt to apply the business world concept to government.

The idea is simple enough: review your position, then set realistic goals with periodic checks to determine whether goals are being reached.

"Nobody can quarrel with the idea," said Jack Bologna, the man directing the Minnesota project.

The problem, he maintained, is the way MBO is instigated and carried out. And that problem, he insisted. has been licked by Odiorne through development of a four-step system of implementation.

The steps involve diagnosing objectives and identifying obstacles to their realization; a two-day seminar to and desirability; and, finally, training internal advisors to act as agents in the change. Minnesota, already has completed the first or diagnostic phase of MBO, Bologna said. He now is meeting with representatives of the state's 48 executive agencies and commissions in seminars explaining the con-

ept. To stimulate enthusiasm. the Legislature agreed to pay bonus of up to 25 per cent of his annual salary to the head of any state executive igency meeting its year's ob-octives, including cost reoctions

The aim of MBO is "effectiveness" rather than "efficiency," said Dr. Don Starr, another Plymouthite recently promoted to vice president of Odiorne's management development and instructional systems division.

"Efficiency is doing things right and effectiveness is doing the right things," he explained.

Franklin headed by the area's No. 1 scorer in Kevin Kaseta, who is averaging 23.7 points per game, has now reeled off five consecutive wins after dropping its first two to Wayne and Plymouth Salem.

The five straight wins have been against John Glenn, Southfield, Garden City East and West and now rival Churchill - five clubs that sport a combined 22-15 mark, to contrast the area 19 school showing of 59-75.

It was a come from behind victory all the way for Bob Visser's Patriots who are tied for first in Northwest Suburban loop with North Farmington at 2-0.

It was all Churchill the first quarter as the Chargers hit nine of 14 from the floor to lead, 19-9. The margin was sliced to 35-27 at the half and to 48-45 after three quarters. Franklin's persistence paid off in the closing minutes as a worn down Churchill (five starters going all the way) ran out of steam and the Pa-

That was the story for St. Agatha cagers as St. Alchonsus handed the Aggies their third loss of the campaign and sixth downfall in six outings.

It was all St. Alphonsus, 84-44.

The winless Aggies have now been outscored, "429 to 325, and are in search of their fourth win in two years.

St. Alphonsus, led by Ken Klein's 19 points, spurted 10 a 20-12 first quarter lead, a increased it to 42-23 at the half. St. Alphonsus held a 34 - 12 Tyra 30-6 third quarter margin to Where would you start? Would you plan a mass transit service that would. take you into downtown Detroit or have it confined only to the suburban areas on the theory that people no longer need to go down to Detroit to do their major shopping? They have it here at home.

Would you try a plan that would take you from Ann Arbor to Ypsilanti and then to Plymouth and head into the other suburbs? Or would you start down in Wayne, come up through Canton Center (which soon will be a large residential community) and thence to Livonia and Redford Township and on up to Farmington and then to Southfield?

Or would you plan two separate runs - one east and (say) in Livonia, with one close - yet.

Westland, Livonia Mall, and Wonderland on one route? Would you arrange it so that the horse players could get to their stations at Northville Downs and the DRC?

Then, there's always the question of which mile road to take when going east. Should it be Schoolcraft on the service roads to the expressway? Or should it be on Five Mile Road to reach St. Mary Hospital?

Or maybe it should be on Six Mile Road to reach many of the churches in Livonia. Or should it be on Seven Mile Road where other large centers have sprung up to join the Livonia Mall? These are all good questions and you can wile away many an hour trying to figure the best route. Remember, in the old days, we didn't have all these shopping centers and amusement places in the suburbs. The route could be almost a straight run. And the Detroit street cars didn't travel any further north than the old Log Cabin at Seven Mile and Woodward. It would be a much different story now.

So, why don't you try your luck in designing a route and a system that would meet the demands for mass transit in the suburbs.

What was formerly known as the Plymouth Area Planning Commission (PAPC) and then the Plymouth Area Economic Expansion Com-mission (PAEEC) has changed its name again.

The organization, which tries to foster industrial and large commercial tax base in the Plymouth School District, is now known as the Plymouth - Canton Development Commission (PCDC). James Houk, executive secretary of the organization which is funded by the school district and the three major governmental units within it, said the newest name change reflects the growing importance of Canton Township.

"The reason this was done was that it now better defines the area," Houk said.

The change is one of wording from saying the mayor shall appoint to the "chief administrative officer of the city" shall appoint those positions.

Controversy has arisen over the definition of the "chief administrative officer of the city" in whether that would be the mayor or the city manager.

The proposed ordinance change has also met with opposition of some housing commission members who want their commission to appoint the housing director.

To resolve the issue, which has now been argued in length at three city commission meetings and has been tabled until Feb. 18, the two commissions agreed to meet.

The meeting will begin at 8:30 p.m. in the Tonquish Creek Manor senior citizens' residence at 1160 Sheridan, Plymouth.

School librarian Brenda Diven hasn't really had time to ponder that question, even though that is precisely her situation.

"I couldn't believe I was looking at a world which had been familiar to me. All I could think of was who would ever do something like this?"

When Miss Diven walked into her office, adjacent to the library and found it relatively unscathed, "it was such a relief! My battery operated clocks was ticking away, and a can of coffee left in a cupboard was good enough to drink."

The magazine collection, which had been temporarily stored in another classroom until new shelving could be erected, was safe. And best of all, a duplicate listing of the entire contents of the li-

TO THE GAS CUSTOMERS OF CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY NOTICE OF SPECIAL CONTRACT HEARING BEFORE THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION

On December 21, 1973, Michigan Consolidated Gas Company applied to the Michigan Public Service Commission under $11 of 1909 PA 300 (MCLA 462.11), $4 of 1919 PA 419 (MCLA 460.54), and Commission Orders No. D-3096 and D-3096-50.2 for approval of special contract provisions, relating to sale of natural gas by Michigan Consolidated to Consumers Power Company (Case No. U-4498).

The application states that, following Commission approval in Case No. U-4333 of a special contract between Michigan Consolidated and Consumers Power, Michigan Consolidated delivered 10 billion cubic feet of natural gas to Consumers Power during the period May 29 - August 9, 1973, and an additional 2 billion cubic feet during the period August 10 - September 6, 1973. All such gas was delivered under the terms of the special contract approved by the Commission, at the Commission-approved price of 87 cents per Mcf.

The application further states that Michigan Consolidated and Consumers Power entered into a storage contract dated October 16, 1973, under which Consumers Power agreed to store gas which Michigan Consolidated would deliver during the period October 15 - December 31, 1973, if from time to time deliveries of gas to Michigan Consolidated by its pipeline suppliers exceeded the total of the requirements of Michigan Consolidated's customers plus the volumes it could inject into its own storage fields. This contract grants to Consumers Power the right to purchase one third of all gas stored, and an additional-right to, purchase any part of the remainder of the gas that Michigan Consolidated does not elect to withdraw from storage by June 15, 1974; The contract price is 87 cents per Mcf. The application states that, as of December 20, 1973, approximately 10 billion cubic feet of gas had been stored.

The application requests that the Commission (1) approve the sale to Consumers Power of the additional 2 billion cubic feet under the special contract approved in Case No. U-4333, (2) approve the agreements relating to sale of gas contained in the contract dated October 16, 1973, and (3) retain jurisdiction in the case and hold the proceeding open so that future special contracts for sale of gas by Michigan Consolidated to Consumers Power (should the two companies agree to any such contracts) could be submitted for Commission approval by motion, on notice to the Commission Staff and to intervenors.

A public hearing will be held at 9:30 A.M. on January 25, 1974, in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, for the purpose of determining whether the relief sought should be granted. Any interested parties may attend the hearing and participate, subject to the provisions of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure. Copies of the application may be obtained from the Secretary of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, the Secretary of Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, One Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226, or the Secretary of Consumers Power Company, 212 West Michigan Avenue, Jackson, Michigan 49201.

This notice is published by direction of the Michigan Public Service Commission.

Belle Isle: Is it Detroit's or the region's?

By TIM RICHARD

Detroit officials have been logically, should run it. involved in hard - nosed bargaining in turning over their DSR buses to the Southportation Authority.

For years. Detroit officials rejected the idea of charging admissions to city facilities used extensively by suburbanites - the Art Institute, Historical Museum, the Zoo. Now Detroit is considering a new proposal which. on one hand, would relieve the city budget but, on the other, reduce the central city's self-image.

That proposal, from the Huron - Clinton Metropolitan Authority, is that HCMA lease Belle Isle, the 1,000 acre park in the middle of the Detroit River, from the city and operate most of it as an HCMA metropark.

HCMA and its metroparks. according to a market survey, are far from household words. But if you are one of the 44 to 50 per cent of Observerland residents who has Kensington, Stony, used Creek, Metropolitan Beach or Lower Huron parks, you have patronized an HCMA facility.

And the question put to Detroit is whether to turn Belle Isle into a metropark, er HCMA would pay the too.

There was a certain irony in the press conference presentation HCMA Executive Director David Laidlaw and commissioners Kurt Keydel and William Kreger made chael O'Rourke, chairman of late last week.

reluctant to look at Belle of Commissioners. Isle. Its orientation was to- The reason: O'Rourke's ward the hinterlands of the five - county region; toward developing unused or marginal property rather than redeveloping an existing park; toward parks with water in the middle rather than to a water - surrounded park. But HCMA has been under intense political pressure even threats - to "do something" for Wayne and southern Oakland counties. Since large tracts of land suitable for metroparks are rare in those parts, redevelopment of Belle Isle, suffering from poor maintenance and a crime image problem in recent years, became logical to HCMA. The irony was that some Detroit officials were openly hostile to HCMA's running Belle Isle, even though it would save $1.6 million for the central city. One Detroit parks official even suggested HCMA simply subsidize Detroit's operation of Belle Isle and let the city continue to run it.

- Detroiters have sied away), and so a regional agency,

Laidlaw also presented a market survey which showed that although only a quarter eastern Michigan Trans- of metroparks users understand that HCMA runs them, the users overwhelmingly think those parks are clean, attractive and marvelously run. Those familiar with Isle, the survey Belle showed, think it's run-down and dangerous.

> For Detroit to enter into negotiations with lease HCMA would be, in effect, to admit the metroparks agency can probably run the island with its fountain, picnic grounds, ball fields, woods and canals better than the city has been able to. Thus, there was additional reason to their official hostility.

Club of Detroit.

Nevertheless, Detroit officials have already let HCMA know they will retain control of certain facilities - the Children's Zoo, the aquarium, the conservatory and the Dossin Great Lakes Museum.

This writer talked to editorial writers for the Detroit daily newspapers and found one warmly in favor of HCMA's proposal, the other opposed. Union leaders expressed concern over whethsame wage - fringe package to employes that the city does.

One highly interested spectator who outwardly expressed no opinion was Mithe public works committee HCMA itself had long been of the Wayne County Board
