City adopts stiffer liquor license policy

To take a tighter grip on liquor, the city of Plymouth has adopted a new statement of policy concerning the issuance of Class "C" licenses and the sale and consumption of alcoholic beverages on the premises.

The policy firmly establishes the fact that no one has a "right" to a license and that any consideration given to applicants must be secondary to the requirements of the community - at large.

Even then, they will be approved only to foster the economic growth of the city at large and to provide a service to the community.

Approval of any new or reclassification of existing alcoholic beverage license for consumption on the premises will be based upon the moral and business character of the prospective licensee, under the new policy.

The policy also requires that each applicant seeking a license must furnish the following:

- A minimum of three character endorsements.
- A written statement showing history of business activity, if any.
- Drawings and written description showing where and how the proposed establishment will operate.

• Evidence that the establishment will conform to the current standards of existing building ordinances, and other municipal laws and regulations and that all new applicants conform to the current zoning ordinances.

• Satisfactory evidence showing the applicant has the financial ability to complete his project according to his plans and within a reasonable period of time.

• Any other information that may be requested by the city manager which is pertinent to the proper consideration of the application.

If approval is given an applicant the state Liquor Control Commission is notified and it has the sole authority to issue the license.

Consolidation study to start?

PLYMOUTH - Michigan State University researchers say they hope to begin a consolidation study for Plymouth and Plymouth Township by the end of this week.

Kenneth Verburg, an associate professor with MSU's Institute for Community Development, said a general outline of what the study would include is yet to be finalized by the Consolidation Steering Committee.

The steering committee, comprised of five members representing the city and township, has been acting as a liaison between the MSU researchers and the city commission and township board.

The Plymouth Township

Board voted unanimously last week to share in the cost of the consolidation study along with the city. The city commission, although it has not yet voted formally to co-sponsor the study, has agreed informally to it.

In supporting the study - which is estimated to cost a maximum of $3,000 - the township board ordered that it be completed by March 7 which is just under four weeks before the state-ordered consolidation election will be held on April 2.

"It's a little unfortunate we're getting started so late," Verburg said. "We've never worked under these kinds of time constraints before."

A GET-WELL WISH and a chocolate valentine were given to five-year-old Kelly Goeman at St. Mary Hospital Monday by Nancy Nalepka, 7, who was injured with him while they were on their way to Tanger Elementary School in the pre-dawn hours Jan. 11. Nancy was released from the hospital about two weeks ago, and Kelly hopes to get out in one or two weeks. The parents of the two Plymouth Township children, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Nalepka and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Goeman, said Monday. "We would like to express how deeply we appreciated the concern and the prayers for the recovery of our children. We are convinced that the combined power of these thoughts has speeded them on their way to a complete recovery." (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

THE OLD LOG CABIN that stood as a landmark at Haggerty and Warren roads in Canton Township for 90 years has been nearly destroyed by fire. Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulun attributed the blaze to vandals. These photos by Observer Chief Photographer Bob Woodring show the cabin before and after the blaze.

At Smith School: They're literally bridging gaps

By MAURIE WALKER

A constructive project, aimed at bridging a creek plus any gap there may be between children and parents, is taking place at Plymouth's Smith Elementary School.

The idea, spawned three years ago, of having a bridge span Tonquish Creek behind the school is taking place.

Through the efforts of Howard Oldford, Parent-Faculty Organization (PFO) chairman, a steel bridge, approximately 36 feet long, will be erected on the site this spring.

Blueprints were drawn through the efforts of Oldford, who also enlisted the assistance of other parents.

The welding class at Plymouth-Canton High School is preparing to build the prefabricated bridge that will be brought to Smith school for completion in the spring.

Bill Lutz, school principal, said that once the bridge is brought to Smith, fifth grade students, the "seniors" of the school, and their parents will install the footings and assemble the bridge across the creek.

"Reason for the bridge."

Lutz said, "is so the children can have access to approximately two acres of wooded area across the creek. The children have been sliding down the banks and getting wet in their attempt to get into the area. The bridge will solve many problems."

Lutz said the two acres will be developed into a nature center, the children and parents planning to plant additional trees, install paths through the area "and perhaps put in a picnic table or two."

The triangle-shaped property, which belongs to the school, is located directly off the playground and, Lutz says, has held a fascination for the children.

Lutz said the area will also serve as an outdoor science lab for the school and will serve the community as a recreation center.

"The bridge is being financed by the PFO from projects of theirs during the year. There will be a spaghetti dinner and our annual Mardi Gras will be held March 23. All these are fund raising projects.

"I feel one of the nice things about this project is that the children and their parents are involved together. And it gives the students something to occupy their spare time."

He said other grades will be working on the project too but that it is mainly the fifth graders' program.

"We are all looking forward to this spring when Smith School will bridge Tonquish Creek," he smiled.

Lightning starts fire

A freak January thunder and lightning storm caused a fire at a Plymouth home early Sunday morning.

Fire Chief George Schoenneman said lightning hit the aluminum eavestrough of a house at 1799 Lexington about 3 a.m. It traveled to the downspout hitting a gas meter just outside the house.

"The lightning grounded into meter rupturing the gas line," Schoenneman said.

"Flames shot into the air like a big blow torch. We couldn't put water on it for fear of spreading the flames all over the house so we played water on the side and roof until the gas company crew arrived."

He said gas men pinched the tubing of the gas line to shut off the flow of gas.

"There was very little damage and none of the John Welsch family who live in the house, were injured," the chief added.

WILLIAM LUTZ, principal of Plymouth's Smith Elementary School, points out over Tonquish Creek which runs behind the school and will be the site of a bridge being built by the Parent-Faculty Organization and students. It will lead to a two-acre parcel that will be turned

4 Hines Dr. bike days set for '74 Saturdays

Bicyclists who enjoyed riding on Edward Hines Drive for a day last fall, when the road was closed to automobiles will have four more times this year to enjoy scenic rides.

State Rep. John Markes (D-Westland), who arranged the first bike day in the park, has received approval for four more bike days on May 4, June 1, Sept. 7 and Oct. 5.

The drive will be closed from Ford Road to Haggerty Rd. for any motor vehicles, leaving the parkway open for bicyclists and picnics. Markes said the dates are easy to remember because they are the first Saturdays in those months.

He said he couldn't get permission for dates in July and August from the Wayne County Road Commission because those months are the prime picnic times for the parkway.

Fire has good side Auto layoffs start taking toll in area

CLARENCEVILLE Probably the most heartening thing to emerge from the aftermath of the tragic Clarenceville Junior High School library fire is the spirit of cooperation from the community, school officials say.

Last week, the school district added another name to the list of people who want to help. The latest offer came from the library staff at nearby Carl Sandburg branch library on Seven Mile Rd. in Livonia.

The staff has offered to assist the school in holding a series of special visits to help meet the library needs of the students.

According to De Wayne Nutter, Clarenceville Junior High principal, seventh and eighth graders will be taken to the library today (Wednesday) and tomorrow by bus. The visits will last one class period. A visit on Friday is also being planned to catch all the students who couldn't go during the regular class period.

He said that the Sandburg staff "has more than welcomed us" and offered to help in any way possible.

Library officials, on the other hand, say they are more than happy to cooperate because it gives them a chance to make students aware of the facility and its various services at a key point in a student's academic life.

"We're sorry, though, that it took a fire to bring us together," said one library worker.

What spokesmen for Detroit's automotive industry call "adjustment to the market place" led this week to the indefinite layoff of 600 hourly employees at the Ford Motor Co. transmission plant in Livonia.

In brief, as slumping sales necessitated inventory and production schedule adjustments among the Big 3, production work schedules throughout the nation have been similarly downgraded.

However, Observerland plants of General Motors and Ford had generally escaped any major, lasting blows of indefinite layoffs until Ford included the 600 transmission plant workers in a national count of 1,550 indefinite layoffs effective Jan. 28.

At the same time, however, Ford did recall 175 workers at its Sheldon Road plant in Plymouth and announced that recalls for the week of Feb. 4 will include 400 more at Rawsonville, Saline and Sheldon Road.

Ford's latest announcement of indefinite layoffs are in addition to the 7,400 hourly workers who have been given one- and two-week periods off work this month.

Cutbacks in General Motors production have not materially affected the five GM plants in Observerland in the area of indefinite layoffs although both Fisher Body and Chevrolet spring and bumper in Livonia have been affected by short-term employe cutbacks, all previously announced.

Residency rules no longer feasible

By PHILIP H. POWER
Co-Publisher

Lt. Eugene Caviston is one fine police officer. A longtime veteran of the Detroit force, he is a good example of how important a good man is in doing the toughest job in our society.

Recently, Lt. Caviston and his wife decided on a divorce.

Mental cruelty? No. Incompatibility? Certainly not. Failure to agree on how to raise the kids? Meddling in-laws? No. No.

They decided to split because they live in Farmington Hills, and the City of Detroit has a residency rule that requires police officers to live in the city if they are to keep their jobs.

The divorce would let Lt. Caviston "move" to Detroit to meet the letter of the residency rule, but continue to "associate" with his ex-wife and family out here in the suburbs to meet the spirit of their decision to live in Farmington.

Obviously, it's strategy of the absurd, designed to call to public attention a silly rule which is only hurting the City of Detroit while discriminating against people who want to live here in the suburbs.

The thrust behind any residency requirement, I suppose, begins with the old and reasonable notion that people working for a city, particularly in sensitive positions such as the police, ought to know something about the city, and that probably the best way to know the city is to live there.

Observation point of Philip H. Power

Back in the days when there was only a Detroit and no surrounding suburban areas, this kind of logic probably made sense, since living in Brighton, for example, hardly prepared one for coping with the problems of being a Detroit policeman.

What then happened is that cities started passing their own local taxes, particularly the Detroit city income tax. The notion was that it was unfair and insincere for someone to be working for a city but not paying the full shot of city taxes like everybody else. Again, that seemed fairly reasonable.

But two major developments changed markedly the reasonableness of a strict Detroit residency rule:

First, the suburbs grew up around Detroit, offering solid, sensible folks like Lt. Caviston another nice place to live, educate their kids and raise a family.

Second, and simultaneously, life in the City of Detroit began to get pretty grim. Schools went to pieces; once secure neighborhoods became unsafe; municipal services deteriorated. Not everywhere, but in some areas.

The reasonableness of the residency rule used to rest on the notion that it was appropriate to require each Detroit city employe to share the good parts and bad parts of living in the city, since living within the city wasn't much worse or much better than living elsewhere. But with what has taken place over the past 10 years or so in Detroit, the residency rule requires some city employes to make what for them is a real sacrifice to work for the city by living in it.

Lt. Caviston wants to keep his job with the Detroit force, but he doesn't want to sacrifice his life here in the suburbs to do so. There are a whole lot of people like him, and should the Detroit Board of Education adopt the same residency rule as it is now being pressured to, we will discover countless thousands more suburbanites in the same pickle.

I think that the real solution to both the ills of the city and the suburbs will not be cured by forcing people to live where they do not choose to, but rather in making both city and suburb pleasant, satisfying places to live and bring up a family.

Residency rules, no matter how well intentioned, do not help do that, and in the meantime they unfairly penalize many well-meaning professionals who would like to live in the suburbs and work for Detroit but who are artificially prevented from doing so.

Our method of choosing a president is all wrong

By HENRY HOGAN
Co-Publisher

Imagine, if you can, a country that calls itself a democracy, selecting its chief executive officer in the following manner:

"Each State shall appoint in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress..."

"The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves..."

The vote should then be sent to the seat of government and shall be opened and counted by the president of the Senate in the presence of the two houses of Congress.

IF NO PERSON receives a majority of the votes, the House of Representatives shall elect the President from the three candidates receiving the highest votes. The House shall vote by states and each state shall receive one vote.

If you are at all familiar with the U.S. Constitution you will recognize that this is the manner in which our country selects its president.

The great principle of one man-one vote is somehow absent. So absent that our president is elected on the one man - no vote principle.

In our state, the Legislature has decided that the political parties that appear on the state ballot may select a slate of electors at their state convention.

WHEN THE PRESIDENTIAL election comes along, the people in Michigan pull a lever that has the name of the candidate on it, but they are in fact voting for a slate of electors picked at a convention.

The slate that receives the highest number of votes are elected as Constitutional electors and may cast all of Michigan's votes and according to the Constitution may cast their votes for anyone they please as long as that person is qualified to be president.

Under our system, the votes cast for the losing slate of electors is completely lost and even those voting for the winning slate are in no way electing a president.

Aren't the people now sophisticated enough to be trusted to elect their own president?

It's pretty hard for the Supreme Court to call the Constitution unconstitutional, so this mess can only be cured by an amendment to the Constitution.

How long must the American people wait for such an amendment?

S'craft president serves state in 3 educational ways

C. Nelson Grote, president of Schoolcraft College, is perhaps Michigan's only educator whose appointments to state advisory committees range in scope from elementary through higher education.

Dr. Grote's appointments, all by the State Board of Education, include the Michigan Advisory Council for Vocational Education, of which he is chairman, the Council on Elementary and Secondary Education, and the Council on Post-secondary Education.

The council for vocational education formally advises the state board and informally ly advises the State Department of Education on matters relating to statewide programs.

Its membership includes representatives of management, labor, secondary and post-secondary institutions, private and public institutions, vocational educators and nonvocational educators, special interest groups, professional educators and the general public.

A second-year member of the voc-ed advisory group, the Schoolcraft president serves it and the others as a public service without compensation.

While it is unusual for one person to be appointed to three major advisory groups, Dr. Grote's participation is consistent with his broad background in teaching and administration.

Tim Richard writes

Yes, there is 'crisis,' but is this the answer?

Things aren't always black or white. They're usually grey - light or dark, but grey.

That point came home to representatives of environmental groups and myself as we listened to Observerland legislators discuss the energy powers bill that is now state law.

We were predisposed to favor the bill. As chairman, I took a poll of all non-elected persons present and found agreement, by a 4-1 margin, that there is indeed an "energy crisis," as broadly defined in the long term.

Speaking fervently against the energy bill was State Sen. Dan Cooper (D-Oak Park), whose 15th district includes Southfield and Farmington. Cooper's argument was not in terms of the environmental but governmental powers.

He thought the bill's grant of power to the state Public Service Commission was far too broad. He noted it is composed of three men (two Republicans, one Democrat) who are part-timers and admittedly inexperienced in some of these matters.

Cooper enunciated phrases like "checks and balances" and "separation of powers" - the kind you usually hear in political science or law classrooms. He felt the issue was real. He was still upset about a Free Press editorial that made him look like an anti-environmentalist ogre and obstructionist.

The point, quite valid, is that when you label something "environmental" legislation, keep in mind that it may be a constitutional issue, too.

Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), whose district includes Livonia and Redford, pointed out a couple of things, however, that Cooper hadn't mentioned.

One was the new law's time limit: six months. If the law is defective, Pursell said, there is a chance to repair it.

The other is that passing a law is one thing, but financing its administration quite another. Pursell noted that the bill had been amended to reduce its appropriation; thus, the danger of setting up another bureaucratic empire was reduced.

The moral: In this election year, you will hear a number of candidates thunder out, "I'm for anything that will help..." labor or the schools or old folks or the environment. Almost all issues are far more complex than that.

When Cooper's voted record is evaluated by conservationists and environmentalists next fall, let's keep in mind that the energy bill was only one issue.

If he votes "right" on other environmental bills, we can conclude he was sincere in raising constitutional objections to the energy bill. If he turns out to have a pattern of opposition to environmental bills, we can conclude his legal talk was window dressing. We'll see.

There was something ironic in hearing Cooper, a Democrat, object to granting the executive too much power. When I studied these matters in school, back in the Truman-Eisenhower days, liberal political scientists worshipped at the shrine of the chief administrator: "He is the representative of no constituency, but of the whole people" - so they quoted Woodrow Wilson.

Funny, but as Sen. Cooper spoke, I could hear the conservative voices of the senior Henry Cabot Lodge and Robert A. Taft.

The right way to start

With a state-ordered consolidation election for Plymouth and Plymouth Township set for April 2, the officials of both communities have agreed to co-sponsor a consolidation study.

This step is clearly an indication that the governmental officials of both communities are approaching the issue with the proper attitudes.

Hopefully, the study (which would be conducted by Michigan State University's Institute for Community Development that conducted a similar study in Farmington) will be impartial investigation of the effects consolidation would have on area residents, businesses and industries.

In the past, emotions have often clouded the unification issue in the Plymouth Community. Maybe this time, by getting off on the right foot with the study, this will be avoided.

By showing their will to work together, city and township officials have assured the people of their communities that all the facts of consolidation will be brought out.

Proponents of consolidation have previously been critical of township officials, saying they tried to block even any discussion of the issue.

The township board's unanimous action to co-sponsor the study should more than demonstrate its willingness to provide the people with the information necessary for a rational decision on April 2.

Unfortunately, there will not be much time between the study's publication date - tentatively set for March 7 - and the election.

This means that local service groups like the League of Women Voters and the two governments should start planning now to coordinate public forums on the study's contents.

With less than a month between the study's publication and the election, there will be much work needed to get the information to the people and then to allow the people to debate the issues.

One possibility would be to get the MSU study team to conduct a forum (or forums) on the issue once its report is published.

This would add an objective control of the public debates which would be similar to the desirability of having the outside group conduct the study. Both the proponents and opponents of consolidation should support the idea of having a neutral party see the consolidation issue through the election. Although things have started in the right direction towards a fair campaign on the issue, a great deal of planning is still needed to make the most effective use of the limited time before the vote.

Sense And Nonsense

The Plymouth City Commission has finally heard about separation of church and state, it seems.

In the past, an invocation followed the pledge of allegiance as the second item on the city commission agenda.

But at the first meeting chaired by the newly-elected mayor, Beverly McAninch, the invocation was overlooked although on the agenda.

At the next meeting when it again looked as though the prayer would be forgotten, Commissioner Joe Bida broke in with a loud prayer.

Then, on the agenda for the next meeting, there was no invocation called for.

Will the pledge of allegiance be next?

You've heard the one about a giraffe being a horse that was made by a committee?

Well apparently the Plymouth City Commission, sharing that distaste for the committee structure, has decided not to have any more committees.

Not that it isn't using committees - it just isn't going to use that word any more.

Now they're studies. But the commission agenda still calls for "committee reports" which is where the "study group" chairmen give their reports.

Westland's new intern program aids students

Robert F. Kennedy said once that politics is a noble profession.

In the post-Watergate period, people are finding it difficult to believe that anything or anyone involved in politics is honorable about anything.

But there may be a change for the better in the near future.

One way to make a change is to encourage people of integrity to take public positions and lead the way.

Some suburbs have taken a few small steps - notably in the police cadet programs such as those in Livonia and Westland - to try and get qualified persons into the important public service jobs in city government.

Another key step was taken this month with the announcement of a new "city government intern program" by Westland's mayor Eugene McKinney.

Under the program to involve the Livonia and Wayne-Westland school districts, high school seniors will be offered Westland city administrative internships.

Purpose is to give the seniors a "first hand insight into city administration and hopefully encourage them to pursue public administration in college," McKinney said.

He stressed the program will be far different than similar ones which sometimes turn into something resembling a school co-op program to give city hall some cheap labor.

The interns in Westland city hall will receive various assignments in the planning, police, fire, personnel, recreation and public services departments.

Being more than just observers, the seniors will get directly involved in various administrative chores.

The program is hoped to spur high school youngsters to at least consider a career in city administration, which is usually overlooked by competent, hard working students.

If successful, the program may not cure all of the problems in government.

But at least, the public won't get more of the lawyer-types who led the federal government into the quicksand of Watergate.

Their bazaar helped charity Fuel cuts danger to local colleges

EDITOR:

The Western Suburban Junior Woman's Club certainly appreciates your mention of us in the recent Observer Newspapers article. "The bazaar — does it build the treasury or the ego?" We also felt that the pine cone wreath making workshop provided not only a fun-filled craft evening for the women of the area, but in addition a worthwhile product for those willing to do the work.

However, our real pleasure has been when we are able to take our entire net proceeds from the workshop and contribute them to charitable organizations. It is with great satisfaction that the 40 members of our club reach this goal.

We felt that those women in the area who participated in the workshop would like to

So what began as a Christmas fair with a great deal of needed fellowship (on my part) resulted in God's blessing so that we could help others.

I would like to add that great things have happened and are happening since Pastor Stroud came to our church with his darling wife, Annella, and three kids, Holly Laurel and David.

Switch school starting times

EDITOR:

I recently read your paper and was greatly surprised by some of the articles. Most of them were great except for a few articles with misleading information.

The article I am talking about in particular is one concerning the early starting time for elementary school children. I am a junior high student in Livonia, and here the elementary school children go to school in the dark. But the junior highs start at 9:30 a.m.

Parents are concerned about the young children going to school in the dark. So why not have the older junior high students go earlier? In this case, everyone would be happier with the switch in starting times. The teachers don't like teaching long into the afternoon, and the students don't enjoy getting home by bus at 4:30.

I feel the school board should be urged to look into this situation. The students will like it better, and the community will be more at rest.

565 patients grateful

EDITOR:

Please relay our sincere thanks to each church and to the employees of each business firm, and to each individual resident within your Observerland area for gifts and cash donations received during this busy Christmas season.

Through their cooperation, over 340 of our inpatients and over 225 of our patients who now resident in family care and county referral program homes, who otherwise would be forgotten, were remembered with individual Christmas presents.

Our thanks also to many who contributed to our patient benefit fund, the resources of which provide year-long benefits to important and helpful activities not provided by our budget.

Members of our staff join me in wishing the very best to your readers during 1974.

Santa hotline was success

EDITOR:

The Westland Jaycees and hundreds of Westland area boys and girls wish to express our thanks to the residents of the Four Chaplains Convalescent Center in Westland for their help on our Santa hotline. Without them, the hotline would not have existed, and the youngsters would have missed talking to Santa.

I also want to compliment the center as an outstanding facility where the residents are treated as one large family and seem to be well cared for. The staff at the center recognized the benefit of the hotline to both the children and the residents and were happy to make their facilities available.

Again thanks to the following people: Shirley Polite, Howard Rasmuson, Mildred Montgomery, John Smollen, Mary Gibson, William Wells, Ellen Rapp, Joan Acton, activities director; Paul Bortell, administrator.

Community colleges could suffer severe setbacks if the energy crisis results in gas rationing, say several college officials.

Not only are most of the colleges considered "commuter campuses" but a large portion of the students work part time or full time while attending classes and thus depend heavily on automobile transportation.

That's why Dr. Richard Norris, president of St. Clair Community College and chairman of the Southeastern Michigan League of Community Colleges, called a meeting between college officials and transportation officials last week.

Meeting at Schoolcraft College, seven college presidents and seven top level college administrators met with county and state transportation officials to discuss the problems.

The meeting was the first of its type and drew officials from Wayne, Washtenaw, Oakland, St. Clair and Macomb and Monroe Counties, the State Dept. of Transportation and Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMATA).

Also attending were representatives from the Michigan Community Colleges Assn. and Michigan Dept. of Education.

Recognizing that the energy crisis could have a severe impact on colleges, Dr. Norris said the meeting gave college officials an opportunity to express concerns to transportation officials. It also gave participants an opportunity to identify possible short, intermediate and long range solutions.

He said that all college officials left the meeting resolved to encourage students to form car pools.

"The community colleges in southeast Michigan recognize that if fuel prices get much higher or if gas rationing becomes necessary, this is going to have an impact on their student bodies," Dr. Norris said. "These are essentially commuter campuses."

He said there was a consensus among the officials that if rationing starts, students will use gas allotments for "purposes other than education."

DR. RICHARD NORRIS (left), president of St. Clair Community College and chairman of the Southeast Michigan League of Community Colleges, and Alan Crawford, transportation coordinator for the State Dept. of Transportation, discuss results of a meeting between college and transportation officials held at Schoolcraft College.

Although car pools are seen as immediate solutions to the problems, they haven't been successful at the colleges where they have been tried, he said. Officials discussed offering incentives, such as prime parking space for cars with two or more passengers, to overcome inconvenience caused by having to stay on campus longer waiting for passengers.

Tom Okasinski, operations director for SEMTA, said the authority will look into trial bus routes to feed into the colleges. He also said the authority is developing long range regional plans to serve the needs of area roads.

The meeting at Schoolcraft was the first opportunity that transportation officials have had to collect input from the colleges, Okasinski said. He offered to keep working with the colleges to solve transportation problems.

Dr. C. Nelson Grote.

Schoolcraft president, said the major accomplishment of the meeting was that transportation officials "now have a better understanding of the nature of the student bodies that attend our institutions."

"More than 80 per cent of our (Schoolcraft) students work full or part time so we are not just talking about transportation from home to school to home," he said. "We are talking about transportation from home to school to work, work to school to home and all other combinations."

Because students work and attend school, it will be difficult to set up car pools, Dr. Grote said. "While car pools have some potential, I view them as having limited potential," he said.

Schoolcraft will attempt to encourage car pools, he added.

Dr. Norris said the conference was "very productive" and that similar meetings may be scheduled in the future.

Silver didn't quit committee

EDITOR:

I strongly deny ever making the statement attributed to me in the Jan. 16 Observer Newspapers article headlined "2 commissioners get appointments." The article stated: "Silver resigned (from the Human Resources Committee) saying the committee had failed to follow any of his proposals."

I never made such a statement. If I had, it would not have been a true statement because the records of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will show that the Human Resources Committee, of which I was chairman, concurred in my recommendations 99 per cent of the time.

The records also will show that the full board of commissioners concurred in those recommendations, with one or two exceptions, in every instance. In the one or two exceptions, the board merely made minor amendments to those recommendations.

The fact is that the appropriate committees and the full board of commissioners gave me almost total cooperation in the proposals I submitted — proposals which have actually revamped the entire health delivery system in the county, along with other social programs.

I never resigned from the Human Resources Committee, although a number of months ago I did ask the chairman of the board of commissioners to relieve me of the responsibility of being chairman of the committee. He did not act on my request until he made the usual new committee assignments for the new year on Jan. 11.

I asked to be relieved as committee chairman because of dissatisfaction with the performance of the chairman of the board of commissioners.

Although the board had allocated hundreds of thousands of dollars for additional administrative staff, the board chairman had failed to implement the policy and programs adopted by the board of commissioners. Therefore, I could not in good conscience remain as part of his administration.

Fellowship had double benefit

EDITOR:

I read your article on bazaars. All you said was true. However, I would like to add to that article.

Our church, Christ Lutheran at 14350 Wormer, Redford Township, was damaged by fire Nov. 11, 1972 (my husband died as a result of burns received from the fire). In order to earn money to replace things destroyed by the fire, we decided to have a Christmas fair.

We worked three times a month, two hours each session. We had, at first, a well meaning goal for our profits. Pastor Jerry Stroud reminded us at each workshop that we met for FELLOWSHIP and that our final results (profits) were secondary.

Somewhere along the months, it was decided to give half of our fair proceeds to someone in need — in our church, our community and world missions. The most we dreamed of earning for our fellowship was around $500.

Would you believe we had earned $1,400? $700 was given to those in need and $700 was put in our treasury. We are still helping others in need with the $700.

So what began as a Christmas fair with a great deal of needed fellowship (on my part) resulted in God's blessing so that we could help others.

I would like to add that great things have happened and are happening since Pastor Stroud came to our church with his darling wife, Annella, and three kids, Holly Laurel and David.

Selective Service registers 5,063 from area in '73

During 1973, the first year of a zero draft, the Livonia Selective Service System Area Office's local boards registered 5,063 men, according to Eleanor Everett, assistant supervisory executive secretary.

The registration for 1973 compares favorably with the 5,491 men registered in 1972 when Selective Service was supplying inductees to the armed forces. Men who have served in the armed forces are not now required to register.

Congress requires the Selective Service to continue registration and classification and to maintain a standby operation ready for immediate operation in a national emergency.

Failure to register in prescribed time, which is 30 days before or after a man's 18th birthday, is a felony subject to a $10,000 fine and five years in prison.

Initial enlistment of registrants of the Livonia area office also declined during the past year. Records indicate that 760 registrants enlisted voluntarily in the armed forces in 1973 compared with 1,095 in 1972.

Ford asks early impeachment vote

A vote on the impeachment of President Nixon at the earliest possible time is essential for the nation's well being, U.S. Rep. William D. Ford (D-Taylor) declared.

Speaking at a meeting of UAW Local 600 retirees in Dearborn, Ford charged that the United States has been thrown into a virtual paralysis by general distrust and suspicion of the president.

Ford, who was one of the first members of Congress to introduce an impeachment resolution last October, noted that the House Judiciary Committee has already begun investigatory work on impeachment. Committee Chairman Rodino has indicated that a decision might be made by April.

"I would like to see a vote even before that time," Ford said, "but it apparently is not possible."

Disclaiming any partisan considerations in his demand for an early vote on impeachment, Ford pointed out that the same position has been taken by three top Republican leaders - Vice President Gerald Ford, Senator Barry Goldwater and House Minority Leader John Rhodes.

"Their reasons differ from mine," Ford conceded. "They hope the president will be exonerated, while I fully expect him to be convicted on several counts. Whatever the result, however, the nation will be the winner, and we can leave the whole ugly mess to historians."

Asked whether he would prefer the president's resignation or impeachment, Ford said he would far prefer resignation.

"Impeachment and the resulting trial by the Senate would be a long, drawn-out procedure, that would keep our country in turmoil for many months. However, since the president has stated flatly that he will not resign, impeachment, no matter how unpleasant, is the only avenue we have left.

"We have absolutely no leadership today," Ford charged bluntly. "The President and the entire executive branch are so tied up with defending Nixon, and trying to explain his position, that no one has time to worry about solving our nation's domestic problems."

"The energy crisis is threatening our entire way of life, inflation is eating up the value of the dollar, problems are literally begging for solutions, but the executive branch of our government is bogged down with Watergate, and all its sordid revelations. "We have so many problems to solve they almost defy counting - pension reform, welfare reform, tax reform, campaign reform, education reform, healthcare reform, the energy crisis, consumer shortages, runaway inflation, the threat of unemployment - the list is almost endless."

The Stroller:

Liquor licensing arouses citizenry

One of the most interesting things a fellow learns while strolling along the journalistic trail is that few things arouse the citizenry out of its apathy toward local government more than the issuing of liquor licenses.

Sure, they'll fume and fuss at any mention of an increase in taxes and they'll storm and fume over a change in the zoning code (especially, if it affects their neighborhood) but they never storm the government citadel to voice their objections on a face-to-face basis.

In fact, oftentimes there are less than a half dozen taxpayers who put in an appearance at a public hearing on the annual budget when they can question how their tax dollars are being spent.

But let there be an application for a new liquor license - or even the transfer of an old one - and it will be the talk of the town. And seldom are the officials placed under more pressure than during the time of the liquor discussions.

Only recently one of The Stroller's colleagues referred to the issuing of liquor licenses as a political plaything.

Maybe so. But The Stroller remembers a time when this so-called plaything became a boomerang.

He was reminded of it the other evening while attending a meeting of the Livonia City Council when it sustained Mayor Edward McNamara's veto of the recommendation for a new license.

During the discussion one of the councilmen (Jerry Brown) stated that he was opposed to the issuance of a license for this particular location and said he would rather save it as an inducement for some high class restaurant that would be an attraction to the city.

That was it.

No sooner had he spoken than The Stroller's well of memories spilled over to a night when he was a member of the same city council.

On this particular evening the Council was discussing the upgrading of a tavern license to a Class "C" category. It was The Stroller's feeling that the community had a sufficient number of "saloons" and he, too, felt that the license should be saved for a high class road house.

Unlike Councilman Brown who openly stated what he wanted, The Stroller blurted out, "I think we should get something for it."

What an unfortunate choice of words!

Before he left the council chambers they had boomeranged as he overheard some of the citizenry complaining, "Imagine those grafters, wanting something for a liquor license."

On another occasion, during his term on city council, one of the well known personages appeared and asked that the council approve the upgrading of a license for his brother - a sickly person whom, he claimed, no longer could work in the shops.

With this sympathetic approach he won over the council. The license was approved and the 'sick' brother took over.

Fine. Except that within a year the brother sold the license for a tidy sum. What's more, both brothers got a good chuckle out of the fact that they had put something over on the council.

And only recently much the same kind of criticism was leveled at the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees for transferring the old "Lofy license" to a group for a new eating emporium.

Maybe in some eyes liquor licenses are playthings for politicians. But when you're sitting on the other side of the table they more often than not are boomerangs.

Little girls, they used to say, grow up to be mothers so they should learn to cook and sew, while boys learn shop work like their dads. Or do they? Should they? In a Plymouth middle school, some big changes are going into effect this week....

Plymouth schools even shop, home economics

BY MARGARET MILLER

SHOP EQUIPMENT will be less mysterious to sixth and seventh grade girls in Plymouth's East Middle School as a new program of equalized shop and home economics for boys and girls goes into effect this week. From left: Diane and Dana Shanks, who attend East, and Pamela Henkel, a student at Central Middle School. Their mothers' protest of discrimination before the Plymouth school board brought about the change. (Observer photos by Harry Mauthe and Bob Woodring)

Girls and boys are getting equal shares of industrial arts and home economics classes beginning this week in Plymouth, due largely to the efforts of two mothers who saw the former system as discriminatory.

Donna Henkel and Jeanette Shanks, both with daughters of middle school age in Plymouth, went before the school board to protest the fact that their girls were getting less shop time in school than their male classmates.

This was in direct violation of Title 9 of the federal education amendments of 1972, the mothers held.

The school board agreed and ordered a middle school curriculum review to remove any discrimination based on sex.

John M. Hoben, superintendent, said he had directed principals to be sure that there is "equal opportunity" for boys and girls in shop and home economics programs at the sixth, seventh and eighth grade levels.

"Our shop classes in the high school have been open to all students regardless of sex for some time now," he said. "I feel there is no discrimination at this point. The only place it existed was at the middle school level and that has been corrected."

What brought these two mothers to the protest that effected change?

Donna Henkel and Jeanette Shanks, both active in the Schoolcraft - Livonia chapter of the National Organization of Women (NOW), said they realized by chance they were working on the same problem. Their daughters, attending different schools, both were feeling discrimination.

Mrs. Henkel's daughter, Pamela, is in the seventh grade at Central Middle School.

"Last semester she had an art class she enjoyed greatly," her mother said, "and she told me she really would like to take shop and learn more about working with wood, plastics and metals.

"But to do so she would have to make it an elective and give up choir. The boys had 15 weeks of shop, but she had only five weeks while taking the longer time in home living courses. One

'We will change'

Teachers express concern over 'integrated classes'

"Kids enter the sixth grade with a definite sex identification, whether we like it or not."

The words are those of Mrs. Jackie Johnson, home living teacher at Plymouth Middle School East, and they sum up both the basic need for equal educational opportunities irrespective of sex and the practical concerns that those opportunities may present.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Sandy Lestock will be teaching both boys and girls cooking and sewing under the new scheduling going into effect this week, following a protest by two mothers that former policies were discriminatory.

Tim Bortles will be teaching both sexes in shop.

"We will change," Mrs. Johnson said after Carl Taylor, principal, had commented that the new scheduling "with excellent cooperation from the teaching staff."

But she had to voice reservations.

"I want to be sure the best interests of the students will be served," she added, "and I feel sure there are some parents who would prefer the system we used before."

MACLD will hear Dr. Eldis

Dr. Fran Eldis, director of the Children's Hospital communications center, will address the Farmington chapter of the Michigan Association for Children with Learning Difficulties Thursday, Jan. 31, at 8 p.m.

SANDY LESTOCK

"Role stereotypes need changing."

JACKIE JOHNSON

"There's sex identification whether we like it or not."

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Lestock had to concede that some of their objections concerned practicality in the matter of teaching sixth graders.

"In the sixth grade, when Johnny likes Susie he pokes her with a pencil in English class, but in the sewing room he can keep unthreading her machine," Mrs. Johnson said.

"And in the shop - well there are all kinds of possibilities with the equipment there."

They also felt that the level of maturity at sixth and seventh grade might make completely integrated and equal instruction for boys and girls not the best system for the students.

The middle schools' philosophy that all children get shop at either sixth or seventh grade level has not been fully implemented, due largely to building and staff limitations, Mrs. Johnson said.

"We've attempted," she explained, "to take the child as he comes to us and handle his education within our capacities and to the best interests of the majority."

"For me, the ideal situation would be one in which we offered more shop than we do and more home living than we do to both girls and boys."

At this stage of their lives, the "little girls seem to be more interested in home ec and the boys more interested in shop - except that they have a lively interest in the other class," Mrs. Johnson said.

For most, she added, this has been satisfied with a few weeks of girls in shop and boys in sewing and cooking in the seventh grade.

Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Lestock expressed concern the quality of instruction might diminish, since in general girls and boys come with differing levels of acquired skill with regard to sewing, cooking and shop equipment.

"I just have to spend more time helping boys thread sewing machine needles," she said, "and if boys and girls are in the same sewing class that means two basic projects to work on."

She and Mrs. Lestock agreed that boys at this age, while wanting to learn to cook and sew, "do have a lot of worries about their masculinity," and some girls do worry about the shop equipment.

"I think we may be pushing them into situations many do not want," Mrs. Johnson said. "I can see good reasons for doing so, but I can see problems too."

Mrs. Lestock said she was much in agreement that male and female stereotypes as presented in early elementary course materials are bad and need changing.

"I've seen some of those supposedly new books, and they still show Mother with her hair in a bun and wearing an apron!" she said.

"Both Jackie and I have offered our services for making suggestions to improve course materials so that roles are less stereotyped in the early years."

"I guess what we're saying," Mrs. Johnson concluded, "is that this really should start earlier."

Women on the Go

She's student and employe and wife and mother and...

Joan Neff of Farmington combines the roles of full-time law student, part-time law office worker, wife of a minister, mother of two little boys and homemaker.

She does it with varying degrees of concentration on the various roles but to the satisfaction of all concerned. Because, for Joan and her family, it's the reasonable way to function at this time in their lives.

"I'm going to law school," said this holder of bachelor and master's degrees in history from the University of Chicago, "because the education I had had up to now just was not worth much on the job market."

"I'd mention my master's degree to prospective employers and they'd ask if I could type. A law degree will open up a lot more possibilities."

Joan entered Wayne State University law school in the fall of 1972 after some assorted employments that included social work, research, part-time office work and teaching sociology at Schoolcraft College.

The latter job came shortly after Joan and her husband, Rick, moved to Farmington when he became pastor of the Universalist-Unitarian Church there. It was also before the birth of their second son, Jeremy, two years ago.

"I taught sociology because they didn't need history teachers," Joan said. "There were no full-time openings at all."

Though law school seemed a big step, Joan said that "really, the only time I question my decision is during exam week, and then I've been known to wonder what in the world I'm trying to do."

She must have felt reassured after her first year, in which she took top scholastic honors in a class of more than 200.

She won the West Publishing Co. Hornbook award for the highest scholastic average, the Corpus Juris Secundum book award from the American Law Book Co., the bronze scholarship key and the Harry B. Keidan memorial scholarship.

"I rather hesitate to tell people, though," she said. "Then they expect me to do it again this year, and I'm not sure I will."

For Joan, a day at school means first taking four-year-old Joshua to Seton Nursery School and Jeremy to stay with a sitter, then reversing the process when she's through classes. One day a week her schedule runs late, so Rick picks up the boys and then gets dinner.

"I really love that," his wife said. "Rick has backed me all the way in my decision to go back to school. Anyone trying to do it without the full support of her husband would have a terribly difficult time."

For this family, "the fact that we've learned to increase our tolerance" about the state of the house has been a big help.

"Last year," Joan said, "I'd wander around the house worrying about all the things that had to be done but still not having time to do them. This year I've learned not to worry as long as things are reasonably clean and we're healthy."

"Of course, we've had to make some sacrifices. We don't go out as much or entertain as much. I used to bake bread and make a lot of my own clothes, and I just don't have time now."

She did get in some bread-making last summer when she was working full time, which she finds easier than a full school program.

"When you're going to school, you're never really free," she explained. "There's always something you should be doing, and that's a frustrating feeling."

Joan's decision to return to school came when she realized that in staying home with the little boys all the time "Sesame Street was getting to be the high point of my day."

Getting back to more scholastic pursuits seemed to make more sense.

"I know a lot of women," Joan mused, "who don't want to work or go to school because they have small children, and yet they do a lot of volunteer work. That doesn't seem to count, though it too takes them away from home."

"There's no question that we need volunteer workers. But that's not my style. I like to get credit for what I do, school credit or wages."

Mothering as she does it now also makes sense to Joan.

"I think I spend more time now BEING with the kids," she said. "When I was home with them all the time it seemed I rarely gave them full attention, I was always doing something else too."

"Now I make a special time to be with them. I think for our family it's better."

After completing her three-year law course, Joan isn't making predictions for the future.

"There are a lot of options - continuing to work in a law office, business, politics, governmental work. The more I learn about law the more I find that interests me."

Newlyweds live in Marquette

Mr. and Mrs. William Paul Douglass, wed recently in a candlelight ceremony in Angelica Lutheran Church in Allen Park, are living in Marquette and studying at Northern Michigan University.

Mrs. Douglass is the former Elaine Lynn Nagy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Nagy of Allen Park. Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Douglass of Kendallwood Avenue, Farmington Hills, are her husband's parents.

roses, daisy mums and baby's breath. Laura Manera of Allen Park was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Linda Nagy of Trenton, cousin of the bride, and Jane Blaszkowski of Ramsay, Mich.

All wore royal blue velvet gowns with white lace trim and blue velvet bows in their hair. The honor attendant had yellow roses in her bouquet and the bridesmaids carried baby's breath with white daisy mums.

After a church parlor reception, the couple traveled to Toronto.

They will live in Ann Arbor, where the new Mrs. Rochon will complete her senior year at U-M and her husband will continue his graduate studies there.

Rochon - Culik vows are spoken

University of Michigan students Mary Ellen Culik and Thomas R. Rochon exchanged marriage vows in a recent evening ceremony in Westminster Presbyterian Church in Detroit.

Dr. George S. Sweet officiated, assisted by Father Bernard Rochon, S.M., uncle of the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Culik of Mayfield Avenue, Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rochon of Trancrest Avenue, Livonia, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride wore an ivory gown with a pearl-trimmed bodice and an elbow-length veil. She carried yellow roses and baby's breath.

Her attendants were Jane Crawford of Northville, matron of honor; Diane Culik of Ann Arbor and Lori Rochon of Plymouth, bridesmaids; and Jennifer Tipton, flower girl.

Assisting the bridegroom were Yale Silverman of Livonia, best man, and Hugh Culik of Ann Arbor, Kirk Culik of Livonia and Timothy Rochon of Livonia, ushers.

Richard Douglass of Indianapolis was best man for his brother and the guests were seated by Don Stock of Walled Lake and Don Chapman of Farmington Hills.

A reception in the Park Colony Club in Allen Park followed the ceremony, and the couple honeymooned in Canada and Upper Michigan before returning to the NMU campus.

Mrs. Henkel said her daughter is delighted that changes will be made to permit her to take shop.

Mrs. Shanks' report was that her sixth-grade daughter, Diane, came home from East Middle School in tears because she had been told she could not take shop.

"My Husband used to be an industrial arts teacher and Diane is interested in mechanical things," she explained. "She wants to be an airline pilot and she will need some breaks."

Her mother decided to provide one with the protest to the school board, and while she was at it she checked the curriculum of another daughter, Dana, in the seventh grade.

She found out, she told the board, that girls in that grade are offered both industrial arts and home living but they are distributed on an unequal basis.

She made that part of her protest too.

Their documented arguments were supported by Lee Lavalli, state coordinator of NOW, Marcia Borowski of the Plymouth - Northville League of Women Voters, and Dr. Joseph McClellen, Plymouth resident and member of the educational and clinical psychology department at Wayne State University.

Following the potluck dinner will be a variety program, "Getting It All Together" with Betty Love as chairman. It attempts to bring out the varied facets of talent of musicale members in composing and acting.

The program opens with five choral selections by the Farmington Musicale chorus, directed by Sue McCallum. One number is written and composed by Mrs. Love, also a chorus member. Others include Brahms and the Carpenters' "Both Sides Now."

Appearing next will be the junior chapter Glockenspiels, lending a youthful slant with vocal, ensemble and instrumental group.

The humorous finale is a one-act farce "Auditions: Impossible," written by June Rado with a cast of nine members. Included is a vocal trio composed by Charlene Slabey of musicale.

This special Valentine occasion has been set aside each year for musicale members to entertain their husbands. Evening hostess Dorothy Hennis and committee plan a dinner theme of "Merry-go-round of music" for table decor. Members are to take a dish to pass and table service.

'Canton's majority awaits public trust'

EDITOR:

On Tuesday, Jan. 15 from 8 p.m. until midnight at the UAW Local 735 hall in Canton, another chapter of the pitiful tragic-comedy of Canton Township government was acted out before approximately 600 or more concerned and interested citizens of our township.

State law mandates our township officials to hold public hearings on zoning changes for the purpose of obtaining true public sentiment concerning the proposed change on land use and to make certain that changes affecting other residents and property owners cannot be pushed through the alleyways in the dark of night without some notice being given to those people who are most affected by the proposed change.

Because of this state mandate, five of the seven appointed officials of the planning commission of our township sat through four hours of public hearing, listened to arguments from many, many organizations of citizens within the township and to many individual feelings and beliefs, for the most part, absolutely opposed to the location of the Mocerri shopping center.

Then without a pause, the planning commission voted unanimously in favor of the shopping center rezoning.

Just prior to that vote, a Plymouth school teacher stood up and addressed township officials by stating that she had always taught her students to get involved with the system and bring about needed changes peacefully and by normal political process.

The school teacher further stated that after witnessing the attitudes of the planning commission members and their response to the overwhelming turnout against the shopping center proposal that night, she was now forced to change her mind and agree with her school students that there evidently is no way for either a single citizen or even 600 citizens to be heard and listened to by the political structure.

It has long been the great frustration of those of us who have worked within the township, either to obtain changes for the better or prevent changes harmful to the community, that the elected officials of the township and their appointees are tragically unable and unwilling to listen to the people of the township who, through their vote and their trust, placed these people in public office.

The Federation of Canton Homeowners Associations is dedicated to the premise that it is vitally necessary in our growing township for citizens in all areas of the township to come to the aid and assistance of others when problems arise even though they do not particularly affect them at that moment.

That type of cooperation and public concern can only benefit the development of our township and make life pleasant and worthwhile for everyone.

Representative democracy, the theory upon which this country has been built, was dealt a near lethal blow in the public mind on that Tuesday night.

The township board of trustees who have been elected to public office by the vote of the people and in whom the public has shown their faith and trust by that election now have an opportunity, when the Mocerri Project is brought before them, to unanimously respect the overwhelming public sentiment and vote against the rezoning of the residential acreage to a shopping center.

The vast majority of the voters of Canton Township now anxiously await the results of that public trust.

ROBERT E. GREENSTEIN, President
Federation of Canton Homeowners Associations

'What about no shopping center?'

EDITOR:

Undoubtedly if one wants to be unpopular in Canton at the present time, one need only mention "shopping center" or "Mocerri" or some such close relationship. To be popular, mention, "Yes, have a shopping center but not there."

It's a funny thing, but the Canton Planning Commission seems to follow the fads and frills of the times quite closely. When multiple housing was in style, the commission readily zoned for multiples. When gas stations were in vogue, permits were passed for such stations in quick order. Since shopping centers are moving well, then it would seem the thing to do is zone for shopping centers.

Golly! If they were really following with care the problems of the energy crisis, they might zone the Mocerri area for an oil refinery (tongue in cheek). I wouldn't put it past them folks.

Well, I guess I must now play the devil's advocate and maybe present, possibly, a very unpopular view - one that has not been brought up of late as far as I can recall. What about a proposal of NO shopping center complex whatsoever.

If the school financing problem were changed (as the State Legislature proposes), I wonder how many people would then support the "Cantonland" shopping center concept?

Those that feel such a shopping center would create identity are in for a rude awakening as those folks in Livonia and Westland have found out. If one really dwells on the point of identity, you may ultimately reach the logical conclusion that identity comes from the people, not from buildings; interested concerned citizenry, not giant asphalt parking lots.

Plymouth has identity, yet strangely enough does not seem to need a large shopping center complex, no mid-rise development, no office complex. The people of Plymouth seem to live with some kind of pride, right? What does this pride consist of? The answer could very well be used as an incentive in the search for Canton identity.

Once the people have had the opportunity to explore the whole area of Canton identity, then might we not set up a definitive plan of some kind to attain that which people have identified as being worthy. The whole idea of shopping centers, gas stations and multiple housing projects all reflect a philosophy of values.

If you identify and discuss your values and have some kind of consensus concerning those values, you may find many of your recent Canton Township headaches somewhat or entirely relieved.

"Cantonland" will not serve as any giant aspirin for our problems concerning the schools and Canton identity.

Disregard residents

EDITOR:

The Canton Township Planning Commission, in approving the "Mocerri Project" on Jan. 15, showed their complete disregard for the many residents of Plymouth and Canton townships who now live in the Joy - Sheldon area.

I strongly urge all residents of Canton Township to phone or write the Canton Township officials demanding that they disapprove the "Mocerri Project."

While the planning commission members are appointed, the township officers are elected. If the township officers want to stay in office after the next election, they will listen to the calls and letters of the voters of Canton Township.

'New demagogues are anti-progress'

EDITOR:

There seems to be a group of emerging demagogues in Canton Township who will have enormous powers because of the docile and follow-the-leader thinking the new residents are showing.

These groups seem to block any new endeavor in the township and are bent on being anti-progress and just the opposite of any move the Canton officials want to make.

I believe with all the money and hardships invested in the homes of the new residents, it would be a great injustice if they did not receive and get all the conveniences of shopping and services they can get.

You wonder how the township developed and governed itself to today's stature and achievements of the past decades without these new associations and councils that have so recently sprung up. These groups are militant and openly hostile and even contemptuous of the present governing boards.

I know, for I have attended some of the meetings. They mutter under their breath when their demands are not instantly adhered to.

Just wait till they get into these elective posts. They will probably try to shove their will and dictatorial powers down the new residents' throats.

I don't think (trustee) Brian Schwall should worry too much about Canton's identity. It's been around since 1833 and it hasn't lost itself as yet.

Let's not stop progress or these developers and builders are going to bypass Canton like it had the plague. I am sure the developers will take extra care with the woodlands, meadows to preserve their beauty. For future developments bring gains and strengthen the township.

Wes Kaiser -- We regretted our emotions

EDITOR:

On behalf of the Charter Township of Canton Planning Commission, I would like to express my appreciation for your factual reporting of the public hearing we held on the Mocerri rezoning request Jan. 15.

We on the planning commission feel it is our responsibility to support those things that we feel are in the best interest of the township as a whole.

Your reporting of what was at times more of a political rally than a public hearing was gratifying.

I know that many people - including myself - made remarks motivated by our emotions which we later regretted.

WESLEY KAISER
Chairman
Canton Township Planning Commission

'Money makers winning again'

EDITOR:

I read with some concern the article on the Mocerri Project to be built at Joy and Sheldon roads.

It looks like a good "money maker" for the people involved; but for those of us living here, it is one more sign of the suburban sprawl that is so characteristic of unplanned growth.

In an age so concerned about over-population and looking toward the future, it is strange that immediate gain can overshadow any thought beyond next year.

With an increasing influx of population and business in an unplanned and sporadic fashion, a community's bankroll for services may grow a little larger, but its sense of identity and purpose will be eroded to a degree that can never be replaced.

Once a development begins, a community should plan when it will be enough and the density for "humane" living will be reached.

No one cares to think about the future in this way - because it puts a limit on how much money a person or corporation can make.

A community is people, and the strength of a community flows from these people. Too many people can have the same effect on a community as too many cars can have on the environment.

The Mocerri Project may prove a benefit to some individuals, but certainly a good majority will have a different opinion. I consider myself in the majority and would rather see business projects the size of Plymouth Square in various parts of Canton Township than the monstrosity of a Mocerri Project, no matter how many big corporations would like to see it otherwise.

'Moceri vote shows contempt for people'

EDITOR:

The unanimous vote by the Planning Commission for the Moceri Project can only be viewed as exhibiting disregard and contempt for the needs of the people of Canton Township.

Moceri was allowed to trot out his stable of well paid experts to play with drawings and charts and tell us only what he wanted us to know.

Then, even before the public was heard, Commissioner Flossie Tonda stated her reasons why she was going to vote that night for the Moceri Project. Although Mrs. Tonda was the only commissioner who openly stated beforehand that her mind was made up, it was obvious she was not alone.

The public hearing was merely a formality. The trial was over before the jury ever convened.

The Planning Commission had willingly brought their closed minds, "listened," and voted their own way.

Ironically, the meeting proved that we, the people of Canton Township, possess a genuine identity within ourselves. We have shown we do not need to grope for the golden ring "identity" on Moceri's commercial merry-go-round.

We are fools, indeed, if we allow Canton Township to prostitute itself for the money the Moceri Project may bring.

Ceccato to give EMU concert

When the Detroit Symphony Orchestra presents a concert during its residency Feb. 3-5, at Eastern Michigan University, the audience will have an opportunity to see the first local appearance of the newly-appointed conductor, Aldo Ceccato.

The concert will be Sunday, Feb. 3, at 8 p.m. in Pease Auditorium on the EMU campus, Ypsilanti.

Ceccato was named to the post of principal conductor in Detroit less than three years after his successful American debut with the Chicago Lyric Opera in November 1969.

Born in Milan, Italy, in 1934, he entered the conducting field in his early twenties after a successful career as a pianist. As a pianist, he played not only the classical repertory but also jazz. He believes that every musician, especially a conductor, should have roots in both forms of music.

His early studies began at the Verdi Conservatory in Milan. Later, he studied both in Holland and at the Academy of Music in Berlin. Early conducting engagements were with leading European orchestras and with opera companies in Rome, Naples, Venice, Florence and Milan's La Scala.

After serving as guest conductor with several American symphonies, he made his New York Philharmonic debut in 1970.

The Eastern concert will feature Joseph Gurt, EMU faculty member, as piano soloist in a Mendelssohn concerto.

Tickets are available at McKinny Union, Carty's Music Store and two Richardson's Pharmacies in Ypsilanti.

Stamp club sets exhibition

The Dearborn Stamp Club will hold its 41st annual stamp exhibition and bourse in the Dearborn Youth Center, Michigan and Greenfield Avenues, Dearborn on Saturday, Feb. 2, and Sunday, Feb. 3.

The hours will be 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Club members will place 70 frames of stamps on exhibit in competition for five trophies.

'Chariots' offers nothing

By JAN WILLIAMS

If you read the book, heard the lecture, or saw the television special, it's doubtful you'll find anything new in the film version of Eric von Daniken's "Chariots of the Gods."

"Chariots," a winner at the 1973 Atlanta Film Festival, explores von Daniken's controversial theory that many ancient civilizations developed as the result of advanced knowledge brought to Earth by extra-terrestrial visitors.

The Sun International Productions release documents the theory with examples from countries around the world, including such archaeological enigmas as the statues on Easter Island, the pyramids, and cave drawings resembling modern-day astronauts.

Von Daniken makes some interesting comparisons between the ancient findings and modern space technology. However, one's interest begins to wane when he raises a lot of questions to which he provides no concrete answers. It merely

Coin club will hold 10th show

The Birmingham Bloomfield Coin Club will hold its 10th annual coin show from 10 a.m. - 5 p.m. in the Birmingham Masonic Temple, 357 N. Woodward Ave., Bloomfield Hills, on Sunday, Feb. 3.

Approximately 26 dealers will be participating in the bourse with many specialties, and a large variety of silver bars. The non-competitive exhibits planned for the show will include a number of educational informative displays.

The show has a multiple purpose. It serves as a chance for the dealers to get together and the collectors to show their special displays. It also gives the general public a chance to learn about and view rare coins, buy, sell or barter.

A new feature in the show is the striking of the first issue of a wooden nickel, commemorating the show. They are available by sending 25 cents and a self-addressed envelope to the club, in care of P. O. Box 23, Birmingham, 48012.

The sponsoring club has grown steadily while accenting education in its programs. They have furnished local libraries with numismatic books and periodicals and they will give free sample copies of various coin papers away at the show.

Genealogists set meeting

Mrs. Harriette Wheeler of Grosse Pointe, will discuss how to research and write up your family history, part one, at the Feb. 9 meeting of the Detroit Society for Genealogical Research, Inc.

The meeting is set for 2 p.m. in the Explorers Room, Detroit Public Library.

There will be an opportunity for discussion of individual genealogical problems between 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m.

Ford exhibits famous Americans

For the fourth consecutive year, the Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn is presenting its Famous Americans Exhibit now through Feb. 17.

This year, the exhibit focuses on the lives and works of five American innovators who helped move the nation and the world into the promise of the 20th century. They are Orville and Wilber Wright, Thomas Edison, Henry Ford and horticulturalist Luther Burbank.

Their accomplishments—the airplane, electric light, the assembly line and a host of improved farm products—are the basic ingredients of today's production, transportation, and agricultural industries.

The careers of all these eminent Americans flourished around the turn of the century, so the five men knew and admired each other's work. This is only one insight presented by the exhibit, which offers a more immediate view of this productive period in American history.

Highlighted are some of the handmade objects, household furnishings, tools and experimental equipment these men used in their early years, together with a display of letters, documents, photographs and paintings relating to their lives and times.

Everything in the exhibition has been gathered from the collections of the Henry Ford Museum and of Greenfield Village, where the historic family homes of these men have been preserved.

The Famous Americans Exhibit is displayed in the special exhibit area of the Henry Ford Museum near the Street of Early American Shops whose crafts shops and specialty stores recall the time before American commerce felt the impact of such men as Edison, Ford and the Wright Brothers.

There is no additional charge for the Famous Americans Exhibit beyond regular museum admission.

SC schedules film festival

Schoolcraft College will present the first of three winter children's film festivals Saturday, Feb. 2.

Shows are at 11 a.m. and 1 p.m., and will be held in the Liberal Arts Theater on campus, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia. There is no admission charge and free coffee is available to parents. Movies for children between the ages of five and eight will include "Andy and the Lion," "London Bridge is Falling Down," and "Jack and the Beanstalk."

The preschool show for ages three to five will feature "Peter's Chair" and "Caps for Sale."

S'field hosts chess championships

Young Michigan chess players will be competing in two separate championship events the weekend of Feb. 2-3, in Southfield-Lathrup High School, 19301 W. 12 Mile, for the title of Michigan Junior Champion (under 13).

The junior tournament is a six-round event over Saturday and Sunday with an entry fee of $5 (plus $3 membership in the Michigan Chess Association). Registrations will be taken at Southfield - Lathrup until 9:30 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 2.

The Young Junior tournament (also six rounds) will be completed on Saturday. Its entry fee is $3 (no memberships required). Registrations will be taken until 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Forty-five trophies, including two for each age, and many other prizes will be awarded.

A "sponsors" tournament also will be held on the side for relatives and friends who bring the junior players and for any others who wish to pay the $5 entry fee to help support the junior tournaments.

The two junior tournaments last year drew over 200 players, and the Michigan Chess Association expects even more this year. It has arranged two large playing areas and a sizable crew of adults to conduct the tournaments. Co-sponsoring the events are the Southfield Community Schools and the Southfield Parks and Recreation Department.

leisure

The current junior champion is 19-year-old Steven Feldman, a second-year pre-med student at the University of Michigan. Feldman, who grew up in Oak Park, has played tournament chess for five years. He was the highest finishing junior in the 1972 Michigan Open Championship, capturing the state junior title, and then defended it successfully last year in the junior championship by scoring a perfect 6-0.

He achieved special recognition in the summer of 1972 after he beat senior master William Martz of Wisconsin, one of the strongest players in the Midwest. Shortly afterwards, he obtained an expert's rating, which he has maintained by his excellent play in tournaments since then.

Last year's runner-up, Fred Lindsay, graduated from Southfield-Lathrup High School a year ago and now attends the University of Michigan.

Randy Donahue, last year's third-place winner and a student at Michigan State University, rates in the high Class A range.

A real battle for the girls' championship could develop.

Last year Nancy Gamburd of Southfield, Darlene Krause of Dearborn Heights, and Jan Ravas of Lake Orion tied for top honors with three points. With new challengers in the field, this could be an exciting race.

Last year's young junior champion, Daniel Togasaki of Farmington Hills, will graduate to the junior section this year, leaving the door open for a new champion.

Morris Jackson of Royal Oak and John Genga of Detroit, who finished second and third in last year's young junior race, have since had some experience in rated tournaments and are thus the men to beat this year, and Elaine Gasper of Flint were the top three girls in the young junior last year and are expected to defend their titles this year.

Musicale plans 3rd concert

The Livonia Musicale will present its third program Sunday, Feb. 3, at 4 p.m. in the Liberal Arts Theater of Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

The group, comprised of amateurs, semi-professional and professional musicians in the area, is affiliated with the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Included on the program will be flutist Cathy Ceton, recipient of the 1973 instrumental scholarship at Schoolcraft College. Miss Ceton will perform two movements from J.S. Bach Sonata I in B minor, accompanied by David Marcum.

Featured on the program will be an original musical work entitled "Audition: Impossible." This humorous work was written by June Rado and will be performed by nine members of the Farmington Musicale.

The farce is divided into five sections and includes a trio written for the group by Charlene Slabely.

Performing will be Wanda Dodsworth, Betty Love, Sue McCallum, Carolyn Dinsler, Marie Walck, Marilyn Truitt, Sharon Cardecia, Alice Kojinski and Astra Kalnins.

New musicians in the area interested in the organization may contact Donald Morelock or Rosemary Jackson of the Schoolcraft music department.

Turgeon directs 'The Mousetrap'

The Farmington Players' winter production, Agatha Christie's "The Mousetrap" opens Friday, Feb. 15, at 8:30 p.m. in the Players Barn, 12 Mile Road between Orchard Lake and Farmington Road.

Turgeon's theatrical experience includes leading roles in such productions as "Star Spangled Girl," "Cactus Flower" and "Once Upon a Mattress."

In addition to acting credits, he has directed "Picnic" and "Death of a Salesman."

Due to the strong demand for tickets, the Players have announced an additional performance on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 8 p.m.

For ticket information, contact Mrs. Dolores Shevlin, 24175 Locust Drive, Farmington, 48024.

Top enamelists are featured

"National Enamels Invitational," which brings together the top enamelists in the country, will open in the Birmingham Bloomfield Art Association, Feb. 10, and continue through March 17.

The ancient art of enameling dates back to the sixth century B.C. Fundamentally, enameling is applying a form of glass to a base and fusing the two materials using heat.

Two events, accompanying the exhibition, designed to expand the viewpoint and further explore the area of enameling, will also be held at the art association.

A cloisonne workshop, conducted by Robert Fisher, is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 23, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. William Harper will present a program entitled, "Contemporary Enamel Trends," Friday, March 1, at 8 p.m.

The one day workshop Feb. 23 will feature a brief overview of cloisonne followed by explicit instruction.

A few bright spots seen in area housing market

By TIM RICHARD

Despite generally gloomy economic forecasts, the used house market should improve and interest rates decline in 1974, say the experts. That will be good news for real estate firms but a mixed blessing for consumers. Realtors are strongest in the used, single-family detached dwelling segment of the housing market. That business will remain fairly strong as new housing starts decline. The mobile home industry, despite adverse publicity over safety conditions, will continue to grow simply because young families often can't afford the soaring prices of standard houses. These conclusions emerged from a seminar sponsored by the United Northwest Realty Assn. and Western Wayne Oakland County Board of Realtors. Speakers were three men from the financial side of the business. In an interview, Robert Field, vice president in the administration and mortgage department of Manufacturers National Bank, said the housing mix of the future "will be decidedly toward the mobile home market. Young families can't afford the big ticket houses." Field called apartments "under-priced" and predicted rising rents in 1974. Real estate people, salesmen by nature, work on their emotions and need frequent pep talks to buck up their spirits. Some were unhappy the financiers couldn't give them more encouraging news, and they constantly looked for bright spots. There were a few. One salesman noted that even if unemployment among blue collar workers is high, suburban real estate firms were dealing in the $57,000 housing market, and the executives who can afford them are still being transferred in and out by their companies. Another noted that the slowdown in new housing starts will bring more customers into the used housing market, thereby generating more sales commissions. Field said commercial banks will take care of customers first; that many of those customers are industries; and that "the decade of the '70s has been a capital-short decade." While banks will have mortgage money available, he indicated they won't be aggressive about making mortgage loans. Field also noted that building trades contracts are to be negotiated this year. Typically, labor costs can be expected to rise 10 per cent each time a contract is written. The message to real estate salesmen: Tell the customer to buy now before the price goes even higher. Mortgage banker Bruce Schlusel, vice president of Michael Wartell Co., saw some bright spots in the interest rate market. FHA's rate has dropped from 8.5 to 8.25, and Schlusel predicted a drop to 8.0 by April and perhaps below that by the end of the year. Funds for the so-called "95 per cent loans" (with a minimum down payment) will be available, with rates dropping from 9.5 to 8.75 per cent. Schlusel also predicted further drops in the area of conventional mortgages with a 30 per cent down payment, with the rate there going below 8.0 per cent interest.

He encouraged real estate firms to deal with the Federal Housing Administration programs, but several persons in the audience said the suburban market has little dependence on FHA help. Bert West, vice president in the mortgage department of First Federal Savings & Loan, largest mortgage lender in the metropolitan Detroit area, blamed Federal Reserve Bank policies in mid-1973 for causing a drying up of available mortgage funds. But these policies have been corrected, and there has been an increase in the inflow of savings.

Samonek also noted that young families are larger today than 10 years ago. Those families, he said, will outgrow their mobile homes and be prime customers for used houses since new housing starts will be "lucky to get to 1.4 million."

Plants propagated by air layering

Air layering is a method of propagation used by the Chinese centuries ago. Roots are formed along the stems while the stems are still attached to the stock plant. Some of the house plants that can be air layered are dumbcane, croton, Chinese evergreen, philodendron, rubber plant, fiddle-leaf fig, oleander and camellia. The first step is to assemble all the materials. Air layering should be done quickly to prevent the cut from drying out, say Michigan State University horticulturists. You will need a sharp knife, a double handful of sphagnum moss, a six by eight inch sheet of polyethylene film, rooting compound, twine, and wrapping tape.

Remove any leaves three to four inches above and below where you want to make the cut. Then, with a sharp knife, make an upward or downward cut one to 1 1/2 inches long and 1/4 to 1/2 through the stem. To prevent the wound from healing over quickly insert a wooden match or toothpick in the cut. Dust the cut with a small amount of rooting hormone. Next wrap the cut with moist sphagnum moss. The ball of moss should be about six inches long and four inches wide. Use twine to hold the moss in place and cover the ball with plastic. Seal the edges and seam with tape. After several weeks roots should be visible. When the roots have filled the sphagnum moss, cut the layer from the stock plant just below the ball of moss and remove the plastic. Pot the layer immediately.

Plant of the week

Euphorbia milii, commonly called crown-of-thorns, is a shrub from Madagascar with slender climbing stems growing to four feet in length. The plant is armed with spines, says William Carlson, Michigan State University horticulturist, and leaves are a dull green. The flower bracts range in color from yellow to salmon-pink, rosy red, and scarlet.

Euphorbia milii prefers bright light or full sun for best growth. This can best be obtained from a south window. Temperatures should be warm, 62-65 degrees F. at night and 80-85 degrees F. during the day. Loamy garden soil with 1/2 part perlite or vermiculite and 1/2 part peat or humus is desirable. If preparing your own mixture, pasteurize it to eliminate harmful bacteria. Do this by steaming for one-half hour at 180 degrees

EUPHORBIA MILII

F. or by baking the moist soil in an oven at 180-250 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes. Drench the soil thoroughly after planting and then allow it to become moderately dry between waterings. Propagation is by stem tip cuttings. Place the stems in water and fungicide and let the milky juice flow out. Let the cuttings dry out before planting in rooting medium.

Condominium in your future?

High interest rates on new mortgage money are forcing many persons to put off buying their dream house. Instead, they are staying in their rented apartments.

The result is a shortage of multi-family rental units in many cities.

But the multi-family housing picture isn't all that bleak. According to Wes Wise, the publisher of Apartment Construction News, apartments for sale are readily available.

He mentions that of the 1.8 million new housing units scheduled for 1974, about 1/2 will be townhouses for sale to consumers.

"People interested in buying a condominium in 1974," Wise said, "will have the luxury of being able to shop around."

It's a good idea to take along a check list while inspecting the premises before buying. Prior to looking at a new apartment, write down the measurements of your present place.

Empty rooms always appear larger. The measurements will give you a yardstick for comparing both the total living area and the size of the rooms in the new apartment.

Inquire about storage space. Remember that if you're moving from a house, you won't have an attic or a basement to store things in. Be sure there is ample closet space near the front entrance as well as in the bedrooms.

Look and see if the kitchen and dining areas are convenient for cooking and serving meals.

Try to imagine how the furniture will be arranged to fit the room layout taking the placement of windows and doors into consideration. Inspect the windows and doors for signs of quality craftsmanship.

Wood windows and wood panel doors add beauty and indicate the builder's concern for comfort.

Before purchasing the unit, make sure the apartment has enough electrical outlets. As a general rule, any point along the floor line of a wall should within about six feet of the nearest outlet. And they should be double outlets.

In kitchens there should be several outlets at countertop height for appliances.

The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

There are two things left in this world that are still a bargain: Your seed catalog and the free windshield wash at your gas station.

When you consider the information found in a seed catalog you can't help wondering what a bargain it is. A few pennies or a postal card is the only investment needed for getting some useful information in your seed or nursery catalog.

These catalogs contain much useful information gathered by knowledgeable people. Months of planning go into making the catalog. Most companies will begin planning next year's catalog as soon as the current year's supply is distributed.

These catalogs are costly to the seed or nursery firm - running anywhere from $1 to $4 apiece. Many catalogs list from 1,000 to 3,000 different items, some rare and some not so rare.

It's a good idea for parents to spend some time with their children, studying a seed catalog. Help them make out a seed order and watch your children sprout into worthwhile citizens.

We know some good teachers who are teaching kids to read by studying seed catalogs. No reason why you can't teach arithmetic from the seed catalog. For example, suppose seed costs $4 an ounce, and you need about 1/32 of an ounce. What would be the cost? To go a step further, there isn't a subject taught in high school which can't be taught, based on nature study.

Some gardeners prefer to start their own peppers from seed, but find getting them to germinate is tough. The No. 1 requirement for good germination is plenty of heat - 72 degrees or more, up to 85 degrees f.

There's one pepper we wish you'd try this year and that is Sweet Banana. It has long pointed yellow fruit, looks like a hot pepper but has sweet flesh. Peppers are about six inches long, light yellow and turning to bright red.

Don't get this one mixed up with hot peppers called, Rumanian Wax or Hungarian Wax - they look like Sweet Banana but are very hot.

A good sweet pepper is the bell-shaped Vinedale, ideal for people grow "all bush and no fruit." This pepper will bear anywhere, being early.

Pennell is another early producer, fine for short season areas where other peppers won't bear.

GREEN THUMB CLINIC: "We have mealy bugs on our plants. Is there a cure for them? We've sprayed with everything."

Answer: Many gardeners use a systemic bug killer (Ortho granules) for killing mealy bugs. Use small quantities, such as a half a teaspoonful per pot. NEVER USE IT ON ANY CROP THAT IS EDIBLE. Never use the soil for anything but ornamental plants.

This works on all house plants that have mealy bugs, scales, red spider mites and aphids. The Isotox systemic insecticide is generally recommended for outdoor plants such as roses and other ornamentals, but it also works on house plants, if USED IN SMALL AMOUNTS.

Apartments' institutional look is gone

The institutional look of drab concrete walls and metal sash in multi-family housing is rapidly giving ground to an army of apartment dwellers demanding the appearance and comfort in the best of single-family homes.

Builders, recognizing the appeal inherent in the warm, textured appearance of single-family homes, are now incorporating that look in multi-family garden and townhouse apartments.

The styles of these apartment communities range from Early American to contemporary.

Wood products provide the warmth and texture that the residents of apartment complexes desire. So builders are using wood components such as panel doors and wood windows to attract residents.

Cross - and - Bible panel doors of ponderosa pine can emphasize the Colonial architecture of a community while multi-paneled Mediterranean doors with ornate carving lend authenticity to the contemporary look.

A design theme can be carried further with wood windows. Casements, for example, blend well with modern design.

Adding removable grilles gives them a traditional, multi-paneled look.

To meet the comfort requirements of today's apartment residents, builders are installing wood windows with insulating glass.

Quality wood windows with insulating glass provide winter comfort by guarding against heat loss.

Esch promises help to citizens in energy crisis

ANN ARBOR - U.S. Rep. Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor) announced plans for a new "energy action program" aimed at helping constituents in the 2nd Congressional District which includes Plymouth, Northville and Livonia in Wayne County.

Speaking before the Ann Arbor Jaycees, Esch said, "While Congress is in the process of investigating the extent and nature of possible shortages that exist and their relationship to costs, it is important that we minimize the adverse effects on citizens at this time. For that reason, I am initiating an energy action program involving the following:

"Our office stands prepared to provide liaison services on the numerous problems our citizens may encounter. We have installed a special telephone number in Ann Arbor to assist all citizens in the district on energy related matters by dialing 761-FUEL. We hope to be of assistance in answering constituent problems involving fuel and energy and provide liaison with the proper government officials.

"In recent trips throughout the district, we have found concern over the lack of predictability of supplies as well as some individual cases of price gouging. Our office stands ready to be of assistance in such matters.

"During upcoming weeks we will meet with various school boards throughout the district on any shortages that may occur as well as to work cooperatively toward minimum consumption.

"Conferences with the appropriate community and labor officials throughout the district will be held in the coming weeks to ascertain the extent of the shortages and the impact on the business and labor market conditions.

"Meetings have been arranged with local public officials to discuss development of programs for the unemployed resulting from the energy crisis and related matters. Briefings will be held on the Daniels - Esch Act which will provide increased funds for public employment."

Esch indicated that he will serve as liaison between the Department of Transportation and local officials in developing carpools. Esch has already received assurances of cooperation from the Department of Transportation in meetings with those officials last month.

$9 million in freeway bids OK'd

Three contracts totaling nearly $9 million have been awarded by the State Highway Commission for the construction of Observerland freeways.

Holloway Construction Co. of Wixom was lowest of six bidders at $5.97 million for approximately one mile of construction of I-96 freeway from near Farmington Road to near Warner Court in Livonia.

The project also includes construction of about 2.7 miles of I-275 freeway from US-12 (Michigan Avenue) to M-153 (Ford Road) just west of Westland.

Work on both projects includes excavation, grading and drainage structures, with paving scheduled later. Excavated material from I-96, a depressed roadway, will be used as fill on the I-275 project.

C.A. Hull Co., Inc., of Wall-ed Lake, was low bidder at $1.51 million for construction of six bridges in Livonia. They will carry Brookfield Court over I-96, left turn roadways over I-96 at Berwick Court, Merriman Road over I-96, Warner Court over I-96, a west left turn over I-96 at Merriman, and an east left turn over I-96.

Churchill tops Mott, 48-47

Churchill saw, charged and conquered.

Observerland's No. 1 basketball squad with a 10 win and one loss record put its mark on the line against another 10-1 club with the outcome victory.

It was the Western Six showdown between the unbeaters and Churchill hung on in the closing seconds to the tune of a 48 - 47 triumph over Waterford Mott.

"I really didn't expect it to be this type of game," commented Churchill Coach Pat Montagano. "Things were really physical out on the court. The officials let the game go but at the same time didn't let things get out of hand."

"Heck, of our 59 shots, we were fouled on 10 of those alone," he added.

Churchill came up with its poorest showing of the season from the floor on 21 of 59 attempts for 36 per cent while Mott hit 17 of 47 for 36 per cent also. The battle of the boards saw Don Braun haul in 21 rebounds as the Chargers led in that facet, 47 - 30.

Churchill's Don Forest had to have some anxious moments in the closing seconds as he missed four free-throws in the final minute in the Chargers attempt to tuck victory away.

"This one really had me worried," explained the Churchill coach. "The complexion was constantly changing, you just didn't know what to expect next."

PAT MONTAGANO
His Chargers are hot

Mott's Mike Grace popped in the first bucket of the contest and was followed by Churchill's Chuck Wayner. Mott broke a six all tie with five straight points to lead after one quarter, 11 - 8.

Both clubs shook off signs of nervousness early in the second quarter with Churchill outscoring Mott, 16 - 13, and tying its foe, 24-24, at the half on a three - point play by Rich VanWagoner.

After an exchange of buckets to start the third period, Forest, VanWagoner and Ken Landini hit from the floor to push the Chargers to a 32 - 26 advantage.

The margin was upped to eight but closed to five at the end of three quarters at 40 - 35.

With 2:23 remaining, Mott had closed the gap to 44 - 43 and quickly took the lead, 45 - 44, on two charity tosses by Dan Bauer.

Churchill then missed on its scoring chance. Mott got the rebound but was called for traveling and Braun responded with a two-pointer to give Churchill a 46 - 45 lead with 54 seconds left.

Mott moved right back down court and Blaies Saffron popped in a 10 footer to give Mott the lead at, 47 - 46. But Churchill's offense proved true to form in the clutch and VanWagoner hit again to make it 48 - 47 with 26 seconds showing.

The Waterford club then turned the ball over on a traveling call but Forest was fouled and missed two from the line, Mott getting the rebound.

Bedlam then broke out on the Mott court and the officials had to call time as paper was strewn about the playing surface.

With order restored, Mott had the ball at midcourt and missed on a 20 footer from the corner.

A jump ball was called on the rebound. Braun got the tip for Churchill and with six seconds remaining, Forest was again fouled and missed on a one - and - one situation to ice the victory.

Mott got the rebound but time had run out and the Chargers were unbeaten in round one of the Western Six at 5-0.

The Chargers play host to Farmington Harrison Friday and travel to Garden City East next Tuesday before hosting Walled Lake Western on Feb. 8. Box score:

Oak Park cagers scalp Franklin in overtime

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

Roar... purr... sputter. The Franklin High basketball machine must have been touched by the energy crisis. Just when the Patriots appeared to be building victory momentum, with the Northwest loop title just one item to be captured... it failed to produce.

"The game was ours but wasn't," commented Franklin Coach Bob Visser after his cagers were thwarted by Oak Park in overtime, 66-64, thus halting an eight winning streak and sending the Northwest loop race into the three-way puzzle.

"I guess we tried to put the game away too early," he added. Franklin, Oak Park and John Glenn all sport 4-1 league records at the completion of the first round with the second and final pairings set to kickoff this Friday. The Patriots have none other than a surging John Glenn on tap at the Glenn gym.

Visser knows better than anyone the importance of this Friday's game and the difficulty he will encounter. Glenn is 10-3 overall, with two of the losses coming at the hands of Cherry Hill by a total of four points.

The other was Franklin's first triumph in the league this season as the Patriots all but blew Glenn off the court in a 69-52 fashion. Visser commented that "this loss to Oak Park might be a good thing, we will come out of it that much better."

One thing is for sure, Oak Park came out of it better. The Redskins hit 29 of 79 from the floor for 37 per cent and made good eight of 19 from the line. Franklin hit 26 of 58 for 45 per cent and hit 12 of 22 from the charity marker.

Willie Rankins and Frank Miles proved to be the thorns in Visser's side. Rankins popped in 29 points and Miles 22. The No. 1 scorer in Observerland Kevin Kaseta managed to hold his slot as he pumped in 30 points in the losing effort.

"I just couldn't figure this one out," added the Franklin coach after the stunning upset. "We had 20 fumbles and 36 turnovers. This is the most any team I have ever coached has come up with in one ball game."

"Sure Oak Park was aggressive and on our bodies all night and the fumbles, well, the 20 came when our kids had the ball and then they didn't," added Visser.

"It was just bad news." Franklin spurred to an early, 11-6 advantage but settled for a 14-13 lead after the first eight minutes. The Patriots then went on to outscore the Redskins, 20-17, in the second period to lead at the half, 34-30.

"The first half was a decent game," commented the Franklin coach. "The second half turned into a free - for - all."

Franklin opened up an 11 point, 43-32 lead early in the third. But the Redskins started streaking and proceeded to up Franklin, 13-6, to slice it to 49-45 heading into the final eight minutes.

Oak Park quickly tied it at 50-all. Franklin missed on three one - and - one situations and before Visser could blink it was 58-44.

Kaseta came through with a bucket with 11 seconds remaining to give Franklin a 60-58 lead and it appeared the Patriots had survived a Redskin scare.

But Oak Park danced down court and in the midst of a mad scramble, Miles tossed up a short hook jump that found the mark and the buzzer sounded with the score deadlocked at 60-60.

Franklin won the overtime tip but missed on three straight scoring chances and Miles got Oak Park on the board, 62-60. After another Patriot missed, Dave Levanon popped in his only bucket of the contest to up the Redskin margin to four. Then came a Kaseta basket.

Rankins put the finishing touches on an Oak Park upset with a two-pointer with 13 seconds remaining in overtime. Kaseta got the Patriots to within two but the buzzer sounded and Franklin had run out of time.

"We are just going to have to do the job at Glenn," finished Visser. "Defense will be the name of the game and our boys will be ready."

Southfield Blue Jays blitz Seaholm, 87-60

Southfield Coach Don Kaump has to be hoping that maybe - just maybe, his Blue Jays have found the winning spark that quickly vanished early in the season.

For the first time, Southfield put together two consecutive wins, an 87-60 triumph following a four point decision over Wyandotte.

That 87-60 win over Birmingham Seaholm was Southfield's first in the Southeastern Michigan Conference where the Blue Jays now stand 1-3 while Seaholm slipped to an 0-4 showing.

Southfield took off to a 15-8 first quarter push over Seaholm and then took advantage of a five minute scoring lapse by Seaholm in the second stanza. While the Maples were caught looking for the bucket, Southfield proceeded to reel off 26 points, Greg Miller popping in 10 points and Greg James six and the Blue Jays found themselves up, 41-17, at the half.

Nine of 10 players on the Southfield roster scored in the third period as the Blue Jays exploded to a 67-33 margin with eight minutes still to play.

Seaholm finally won the last quarter, 27-20.

Southfield finished with a 43 shooting per cent, hitting 32 of 74 while Seaholm shot 34 per cent on 21 of 62. The battle under the boards saw Southfield score a 43 to 27 advantage.

High school hockey crowds are really something!

Here we go, back into the world of prep hockey and what better person to visit than the high school hockey fan.

Just what sort of breed is this person? If the gathering at Ford ice rink in Livonia, home of the Suburban Hockey loop, is any indication at all - this breed ought to venture forth into the realms of the extinct.

After a recent clash involving two area schools, the restroom facilities were declared a near disaster area.

The water closets were found filled to the hilt with beer and wine bottles, touched off with a spattering of beer cans. The partitions were torn down, trash cans had been dumped on the floor and what must have been a display of fireworks was still smoking in the corner.

Isn't it amazing what a contest of slapping a hard rubber item into a net can touch off?

The hockey fans have also found a new and what must be a thrilling experience to indulge in between periods when the ice is being resurfaced.

Livonia Parks and Recreation employee Norm Hamilton has become a target of sorts while sitting aboard his Zamboni machine while resurfacing the ice.

His seven minutes of circling the ice have become fun and games for the foolish target shooters.

"These kids are unreal," commented Hamilton who has made it known at the Livonia City Hall that if this act continues, he will simply and flatly refuse to resurface the ice between periods. "All sorts of candy is tossed at me along with just about anything they can get their hands on."

"I have been instructed that if this continues, I don't have to resurface the ice," he added. "I don't appreciate being used as a target for kids who haven't grown up yet."

"Better supervision is needed at these games," added the Parks and Recreation employee. "The teachers just don't seem to check the kids or watch what they bring in."

"Kids are constantly coming in with bulging pockets."

Verbal usage around the rinks has neared the realm of civilization but there still exists the media that constantly violates the "no smoking rule."

And the ones that breach this rule are not the wine-toddlers but the enthusiastic parents who must feel this posted regulation does not pertain to them.

Walking near the stands during a recent prep encounter I came upon one such parent, huffing and puffing away on one of his "cancer sticks" and I mentioned to him if he knew there existed a "no smoking" rule for all to abide by.

His reply was "Oh, there is," and he continued to puff merrily along.

Just what sort of breed is this high school hockey fan?

Coaches not co-operating

This paragraph is for all you parents and preps who have called and questioned - just why their school was being left out of the weekly "Top Wrestlers" ratings. It seems that your coach has made it known that he doesn't have time or really has the desire to call in his results. I guess it is tough these days to make a five minute phone call once a week.

Spartans belt Wyandotte, 5-3

Livonia Stevenson scored twice in each of the first two periods and added a goal in the third to top Wyandotte in Suburban Hockey loop action, 5-3.

Goals by Steve Hillman and Paul Vermeesch got Stevenson off to a 2-0 lead early in the first period. After Wyandotte tallied in the closing minutes, Brian Van Norman and Hillman pushed Stevenson to a 4-1 advantage heading into the final 15 minutes.

Wyandotte slipped two quick shots by Stevenson goalie Curt Downs in the first minute of the third but his defense came to arms and Jeff McDonald iced the win at 7:58.

Glenn Rockets destroy North, 72-50

The Northwest Suburban basketball schedule for the 1973-74 season is half in the history books - now begins the race to the championship seat.

With the second round ready to tip-off this Friday, no fewer than three clubs occupy first place. Defending champion, Westland John Glenn, Livonia Franklin and Oak Park all share that spot with identical 4-1 marks.

Then comes North Farmington at 2-3, Garden City East at 1-4 and Thurston High at 0-5.

Most area coaches are favoring the Westland crew of John Glenn which knocked off North Farmington, 72-50, for its fifth straight victory since losing to Cherry Hill by two points in the Christmas tourney finale back on Dec. 27, 1973.

Glenn, the No. 3 squad in Observerland with an overall 10-3 showing is the top offensive crew with a 74 points per game scored average.

In fact Glenn has lost two of its games to Cherry Hill by a total of four points. The other defeat came at the hands of Northwest foe Franklin, which fell to Oak Park last week.

The first of many Northwest explosions comes this Friday as the Rocket crew hosts Franklin in the final meeting between the two contenders - a must win for both.

Ken Dean's Raiders from North Farmington, which started off with bang and six victories, have meanwhile slipped almost into a "spoiler" role.

The loss to Glenn was North's third in its last four games and its second straight where the area's No. 3 scorer Jim Fredericks watched from the sidelines with an injured knee.

"We are to play the role of the spoiler now," commented Dean after the 22 point setback against Glenn.

"We just didn't do the things we wanted to do against Glenn," added the North coach whose cagers stand 8-4 overall. "Teams like Glenn you have to beat - you can't beat yourselves like we did."

"Glenn ran and capitalized on our mistakes and they had to score on something like 10 breakaways."

"Sure, there has to have been a definite letdown since Fredericks was forced to leave the lineup. In addition, our No. 2 player Mike Bancroft has been sick. It has just been tough on our kids."

North did show early signs of that Raider spark in taking a 14-9 lead only to have Glenn score the last six points of the first period to lead after eight minutes, 15-14.

Glenn edged ahead at the half, 33-26.

The Rockets broke it open in the third quarter as if they had been toying with the Raiders. Glenn hit on nine of 13 from the floor and outscored North, 23-10. Jim Kholmian, who copped game scoring honors with 19 points, pumped in eight in that span and Jeff Brittain added six.

Trailing by 20 heading into the last eight minutes, North lost its composure and came up with 14 of its 30 game total turnovers and Glenn took the stanza, 16-14.

Glenn finished 32 of 66 from the field for 40 per cent and North hit 22 of 57 for 39 per cent.

Now comes the Northwest explosion - first launching site, this Friday at John Glenn. Box score:

East cagers thwart Thurston

"This had to be our best performance yet," bellowed Coach Billy Joe Young after his Garden City East cagers topped Thurston in Northwest Suburban loop action, 77-66.

"We have been progressing all along," he added.

It was East's fifth win overall against seven setbacks but only its first victory in the Northwest in five outings.

"It was a simple case of East putting the ball in the basket and us not," commented Thurston Coach Dan Bennett whose Eagles slipped to a 1-10 mark.

East hit 27 of 62 from the field for 43 per cent. Greg Emery paced the Panther scoring attack with 25 points followed by Jim Peter with 18 and Jim Riley with 14.

Thurston's assault which saw the complete 13 man roster break into the scoring column wound up 30 of 68 for 44 per cent. Cory Rodriguez was high with 14 points.

East jumped off to a 14-10 first quarter margin and was never to be headed as it piled up 21 points in the second to lead at the half 35-22. Thurston held its ground the second half, winning the third quarter, 18-16, and matching East's 26 points in the last quarter but the Panthers had already come up with the necessary punch.

Thurston's downfall started with its leading scorer and worked its way through the lineup. Kurt Beadle, who had been averaging close to 14 points per game, was held to just seven by the East defense which has allowed an average of 60 points per game.

Thurston did manage to win the rebound battle, 47-41.

Young realizes that his crew will now play an important role in the Northwest race. His squad is coming and has some up and one remaining clash with the three clubs that are currently tied for first, Franklin, Oak Park, and John Glenn all sport 4-1 marks.

"I really don't know what to think about this race now after Oak Park knocked off Franklin," added Young. "I guess I would have to favor Glenn but it is going to be interesting."

Thurston travels to Oak Park this Friday while East journeys to North Farmington with Churchill and Franklin on tap next week. Box score:

GC West grapplers up dual mark to 8-0

Dean Shipman and his Garden City West wrestlers have laid the groundwork for a record breaking season and are set to get into the real construction.

Unbeaten in dual competition, West dumped Schafer to finish at 6-0 in the Tri-River race and up its overall mark to 8-0. The eight wins coupled with a season ending victory over Churchill gives the West Tigers nine consecutive wins.

The Tri-River finale showed West a 42 - 18 victor over Schafer, the Tigers coming up with five pins. The loop stage is now set with the league meet coming up Feb. 16.

Before the Tri-River showdown, West is hosting its annual novice meet on Feb. 8-9 where Coach Shipman is expecting more than 400 wrestlers from over 40 schools to compete.

tap (Feb. 12) before the league battle.

The West junior varsity club is keeping pace with the varsity as it ripped Schafer, 72-0, for its 10th win.

The 24 point triumph over Schafer saw West come up with two pins inside the minute mark. At 147 pounds, Dann Holmes pinned his foe in 31 seconds and at 157 pounds, Dave Rochon pinned his opponent in 40 seconds. West's record pin this season is held by Chuck Miller with a 25 second pin in the Melvindale match.

The Tiger school record is sported by Bob Worthy who in 1966 recorded a 13 second pin against John Glenn.

Winless Canton Chiefs suffer 12th loss, 54-51

Plymouth Canton is now alone at the bottom.

With the prep basketball season well into its home stretch toward "March Madness," Canton holds a distinction that first year Coach Casey Cavell could do without.

The Canton Chiefs are now the only club in the 19 school Observerland area that has failed to break into the victory column.

The latest slip came at the hands of Northville in Western Six competition, 54-51.

St. Agatha and Canton were the two remaining squads yet to snap their unwanted streaks and the Aggies finally did so in a 58-57 fashion over Mt. Carmel.

Canton's next assignment in knocking down the barrier is against Waterford this Friday with Farmington Harrison, Woodhaven, Walked Lake Western, Churchill and Northville again the last-chance opportunities to avoid a winless season.

Box score:

NORTHVILLE (54)
Shapiro, 2-3-7; Krizan, 2-3-4-2; Todd Eln, 7-1-3-12; Tom Eln, 6-3-4-12; Yoncoski, 6-3-3-2; Norton, 1-0-0-2; Christian, 6-3-1-1. TOTALS, 21-12-17-54.

NORTHVILLE 34 8 10 16-54
PLYMOUTH CANTON 12 10 16 12-51

"We played a good game," commented Cavell after the three - point loss. "We just didn't have it at the end."

Northville took a slim, 14-12 first quarter lead. A bucket by Tom Close notched it at 22-all at the half for Canton and the stage was set for a battle that was not to sway four points either way.

Both clubs totaled 16 in the third stanza to make it 38-all. With five minutes showing, Northville had spurred to a four point spread and went into a stall.

That's when Canton moved out of its zone and Northville jumped to a 49-40 score. The Chiefs regained their composure and came back with a press. With 10 seconds left, Ray Mandel popped in a Canton two - pointer to cut it to 54-51.

The Chiefs, now with 12 losses, hit 50 per cent from the floor, 22 of 44.

Casey did have a bright spot in that this setback marked the first time ever that Canton had out-rebounded its opponent.

Don Lloyd's nine grabs, and a trio of Ron Lack, Tom Close and Rick Thom all hauled in seven each with Brian Stemberger collecting five in the Chief's 37-29 win on the boards.

Area fencers win Junior Olympics

The Observerland area will have four juniors in the upcoming National junior olympic fencing tournaments to be held in Tallahassee, Fla., on Feb. 16.

Qualifying for the nationals were Livonia's Wayne Barrett, Garden City's Tom Klekner and Dennis Murphy and Miss Terri Harms of Westland.

Murphy qualified with a first place berth in the under 16 men's foil in the Michigan division of the junior olympics sponsored by the Amateur Fencing League of America. Klekner placed second behind Murphy with Barrett taking sixth.

Barrett's rise to fame came in the sabre event where he took a first to qualify.

Miss Harms won first in the Women's under 16 foil tourney.

Riverside Rebels daze GC West hopes, 73-64

WONDERING JUST HOW the official could ever have called it the way he did is Garden City West cage Coach Chris Babler in a stunning upset loss to Riverside, 73-64. (Observer photo)

By TOM DONOGHUE
Sports Editor

The Tri-River basketball race is now up for grabs. Garden City West's inability to take full advantage of its height to halt Riverside's fast break has turned the race into what has to shape up to be a scramble to the finish.

Chris Babler's West was the remaining unbeaten team in the Tri-River and in excellent position to jump to a two-game lead on everyone at the finish of the first round.

But it was just not to be. Riverside saw to that and instead of West sporting a perfect 7-0 mark heading into the home stretch, the Tigers find themselves in a tie for first with Riverside at 6-1 and a surging Cherry Hill club right on their heels at 5-2.

Riverside defeated West, 73-64, with four of the Rebels coming up with 65 of the 73 points. Greg Schupra headed the group with 21 points followed by Tim Adams with 18, Ken Szerba with 16 and Bob Wright with 10 points.

West was sputtering from behind with Tiger Ken Kinsvater staying out of foul trouble and hitting a game high of 24 points.

"They just did a fine job on us," commented Babler whose Tigers are now pitted against Cherry Hill Friday in what is a must contest for both clubs. "Our execution was very poor. This has to be considered an upset. We just couldn't stop their break.

"We didn't want to run with them but we were forced to."

For West it was its fourth loss in 13 games.

Riverside came up with a 51 shooting per cent from the field, 24 of 47. West popped in three more field goals at 27 of 57 for 45 per cent. The difference came at the line where the Rebels sank 25 of 30 charity tosses and West only 10 of 18.

West did win the battle under the boards, 32-22, Bob Peace and Paul Tatro hauling in seven each and Kinsvater at 6-5 staying out of foul trouble by staying away from the boards.

A bucket and free throw by Randy Shelley sliced it to 14-13 at the end of the first quarter in favor of Riverside.

West took the lead at the 1:12 mark into the second stanza on a bucket by Kinsvater, 17-16. The Rebels went on the drive and popped in 10 straight points to take a 26-17 lead with four minutes remaining in the half.

For all practical purposes, West never seemed to get itself back into the contest after that scoring lapse.

Two free throws by Kin-svater and a bucket by Scott Chidester brought West back to six at the half, 36-30.

The Rebels jumped to a 10 point lead early in the third quarter and maintained it to the start of the fourth at 54-44.

Then with 6:01 showing on the clock, and West down, 62-50, Kinsvater hit two from the line and Peace popped in a bucket. Riverside missed on a free throw and Chidester hit two from the line to slice it to 62-56.

That was the closest West could get - six points, as Riverside held on and stretched it back to nine at the final buzzer.

Ripening Salem trips Trenton, 70-52

It's time that some Plymouth Salem basketball foe again forced the Rocks to keep their minds on their work, and Friday it's more than likely to happen when Plymouth takes its 11-2 record into the Bulldog country of Livonia Bentley.

The Rocks pulled themselves together in the fourth quarter at Trenton last weekend to outscore the Trojans 20-2 in the last five minutes for a 70-52 triumph. They finished the first half of the Suburban Eight schedule all alone in first place at 6-1.

However, after romping to 17-9 and 38-24 leads at the quarter and half against cellar-dwelling Trenton, the Rocks fell prey to third quarter jitters brought on by the Trojans' full court press and started throwing the ball into the stands instead of to teammates. Of Plymouth's 17 turnovers for the game, nine came in the third period. It saw the Rock lead shrink to 48-40 and then into a 50-50 deadlock early in the final stanza before Plymouth turned on the heat for its seventh straight win.

Eric Agardy, 6-9 junior center, scored seven of his game-leading 29 points in that final surge. He took possession of the boards to boost his rebound total to 20 as Coach Fred Thomann parlayed Agardy's height with a trio of ball hawking guards to thwart Trenton's zone.

Dan Moore and Jim Ellinghausen, with 12 and 11 rebounds respectively, helped give Plymouth a 55-27 edge in that department. Until Trenton's John Lutz fouled out after a 20-point performance, the Rocks weren't as safe as the statistics would indicate.

This helter-skelter victory followed a ragged 56-36 win over Redford Union. In neither triumph did the Rocks look as impressive as in previous "must" wins over Allen Park and Dearborn. Ellinghausen and Dave Prueter were in double figures with 14 and 11 points respectively.

As the Sub 8 goes into its final seven games, Plymouth leads the pack at 6-1 and Edsel Ford is second at 5-2. Deadlocked for third at 4-3 are Bentley, Dearborn and Allen Park followed by RU and Belleville at 2-5 and Trenton 1-6.

Plymouth's invasion of Bentley Friday marks renewal of one of the area's oldest athletic rivalries and will see the Rocks trying for at least a repeat of their 54-53 home court win over the Bulldogs in December.

In other league action Edsel Ford will be at Belleville, RU at Dearborn and Trenton at Allen Park.

365 day winless drought ends

St. Agatha finally wins, 58-57

Second year Coach Frank Turk knew it would be just a matter of time for his St. Agatha cagers to break into the win column.

The time finally arrived - 61 days after the Aggies opening loss to Royal Oak St. Marys, 57-52.

After dropping their first 10 contests of the campaign, St. Agatha nipped Mt. Carmel, 58-57, on a last second 10 foot jumper by Nick Mondy.

Thus ended a basketball drought around Aggie territory that hadn't seen a victory for a day short of a complete year.

The last victory was back on Jan. 26, 1973 when St. Agatha toppled the same team, Mt. Carmel, by a 79-59 score. The Aggies were 2-16 last season, their only other victory against the same Mt. Carmel crew, 61-58.

In fact, the last time St. Agatha beat someone other than Mt. Carmel was on Feb. 9, 1972 when Royal Oak St. Mary fell to the Aggies, 65-56.

The Aggies who had been outscored by 198 points prior to the first victory had taken on losses by five, two, 28, 38, one, 40, 15, 10, 43, and -19 points in that order before Mondy's 10 footer with five seconds remaining snapped the spell.

Mt. Carmel, which earlier in the season had dumped St. Agatha 78-40, edged ahead after one quarter, 11-10. The margin was increased to 26-23 at the half and up to 44-38 after three quarters.

St. Agatha finally caught up with Mt. Carmel in the final minutes and wound up outscoring Mt. Carmel, 20-13, in the final stanza.

Mike Rex and Marty Thompson paced the Aggies with 21 and 13 points respectively with Mondy adding 12.

St. Agatha travels to St. Alphonsus Friday and hosts Orchard Lake St. Marys on Tuesday (Feb. 5). Box score:

Harrison Hawks upset Adams tankers, 87-85

Farmington Harrison pulled off one of the top surprises of the current swim campaign.

Mark Holdridge's Hawks splashed Rochester Adams, 87-85.

It was Harrison's seventh victory against two losses and one tie.

It was anyone's meet up to the next to final event when Harrison swept the 100 breaststroke. Bruce Howell won it for the Hawks in 1:04.5 and was followed by teammates Jeff Hornacek and Chris Hoehner. Adams then won the 400 freestyle but Harrison had enough points for victory.

The triumph had to be extra sweet for Holdridge as his Hawks placed only fourth in the Oakland County championships with Adams second to champion Birmingham Groves.

The diving event saw Harrison's Rich Kral hand Adams' Ken Cousineau his first defeat in two years. Kral lost to Cousineau by six points in the Oakland meet but Kral captured this one going away with a 271.75 total, 17 points above the Adams diver. Kral is now ranked the No. 1 diver in the state.

Double winner in the meet for Harrison was Mark Rado with a 1:50.1 first in the 200 freestyle and a :50.1 in the 100 freestyle.

RU Panthers tip Belleville

Redford Union made good its tosses from the charity line and in the process won itself a Suburban Eight basketball game.

The RU cagers hit 19 of 30 from the free-throw line and topped the Belleville Tigers, 51-44, who missed on five chances from the line.

It was RU's second win in the Sub Eight against six losses and victory No. 3 in 12 outings.

Belleville hit six more field goals than RU, 22 of 67 for a 33 per cent and RU collected 16 of 45 from the field for 36 per cent.

RU was called for 11 fouls while the Tigers collected 22.

Gary Kochish's and Tom Sweeney's 10 rebounds each paced RU to a 42-23 triumph in that department as the Panthers jumped to a 14-8 first quarter scoring edge and maintained that at the half, 22-16. Belleville nudged closer after three periods, 35-32, and managed to slice it to within one early in the fourth. But RU went on to outscore Belleville, 16-12, in the final eight minutes.

Divine Child beats down Borgess stall, 56-39

To stall is defined by Webster as to act hesitantly so as to deceive or delay - an evasive trick. Bishop Borgess stalled five weeks ago and won an upset Catholic Double A victory over Servite, 32-31.

Borgess Coach Jim Brisky elected to use this tactic in an attempt to upend last year's Class B state champion Divine Child winner over Borgess earlier in the season, 72-45.

The stall worked for the first half as Borgess led, 25-21. It backfired the second half as Divine Child got Borgess to force it shots and the Falcons roared by 19-3, in the third stanza and 16-11 in the final eight minutes.

"Divine Child adjusted at the half and my kids didn't react," said Brisky whose Spartans now stand at 2-5 in the loop and 3-10 overall.

Divine Child is now on top of the Double A with a 6-1 mark followed by Servite and Shrine with identical 5-2 records.

The Falcon trio of Bob Winslow, Ed Kasparek and Gary Forystek combined for a total of 49 points, leaving only seven points to be distributed among the six other Divine Child players.

Winslow hit for 24 points, Forystek scored 13 and Kasparek pumped in 12. Borgess was led by Dan Kelly with 13. Borgess' leading scorer, Greg Drypen, with a 16.8 average, was held to just 10 points.

Borgess, which started off working for the good shot, hit four of nine from the floor in the first quarter, Drypen scoring six points and Divine Child trailed, 11-10.

Divine Child connected on only four of 15 from the field in that quarter and hit on four of 16 in the second as Borgess made good four of five to carry a 25-21 lead into the locker room at the half.

The tables started to turn in the second half as Borgess had trouble finding the range and hit on only one of seven from the floor, that bucket coming with five minutes elapsed in the third quarter. It wound up a three-point play by Kelly - the lone score for Borgess in the stanza.

Meanwhile, Divine Child improved its mark with a seven for 28 showing to take over command heading into the last eight minutes, 40-28.

"We started forcing our shots and completely forgot our game plan," added the Borgess coach.

The final quarter was a simple case of Divine Child's defense keeping Borgess away from the bucket with the Falcons rolling up a 17 point advantage.

Divine Child finished 22 of 62 from the floor for 36 per cent and Borgess hit on 12 of 39 for 31 per cent.

Winslow's 13 rebounds paced the Falcons to a 30-23 advantage in that department. Borgess now travels to Servite Friday before returning home for its final four games of the season against Bishop Gallagher, Redford St. Marys, Gabriel Richard, and Notre Dame. Box score:

Lathrup tops Lahser 65-62

The defending Met Suburban cage champions aren't out of the 1973-74 race yet.

After dipping to a two win - two loss loop record, Jim Kourtakis' Southfield Lathrup Chargers slipped past Bloomfield Hills Lahser, 65-62, to keep their hopes alive for a title repeat.

Lathrup, now 3-2 in the league, finds Rochester Adams on top of the Met with a 5-1 showing followed by Royal Oak Dondero at 4-1. Lahser now stands at three all. Of the two clubs ahead of Lathrup, the Chargers lost to Kimball by a 13 point, 65-52 score, and fell to Rochester in overtime, 75-71.

Lathrup fell six field goals short of matching Lahser's output in that department but more than made up for it at the free throw line with 21 of 29 chances falling through the hoop. Lahser meanwhile had only nine opportunities and cashed in on six one-pointers.

Lahser finished 28 of 73 from the floor for 38 per cent and Lathrup hit on 22 of 51 for 43 per cent. The rebound battle showed Lathrup a narrow victor, 37-36, John Gardner hauling in 16.

The Charger one-two scoring punch struck again as Jim Ballantyne pumped in 20 points and John Gardner 22. Ballantyne is currently the No. 2 scorer in Observerland with a 22.4 points per game average and Gardner is No. 7 with a 15.8 average.

Lahser led after one quarter, 18-16, and at the half, 33-32. It was a 12 all tie in the third period and a nip-and-tuck contest up to 2 1/2 minutes remaining in the clash.

Two free throws by Ron Silberstein put Lathrup up, 59-58, and a bucket by Ballantyne made it, 61-58. Lahser sliced it to, 61-60 and Gardner pushed it back up to 63-60. With 20 seconds showing on the clock, Mark Newson hit a 10 footer to again slice it back to one but Silberstein made good two more tosses from the charity line to ice the Met triumph.

Franklin wrestlers win; Glenn scuttles North

Westland John Glenn chalked up its third win in the Northwest wrestling loop. Plymouth Canton dropped its third straight in the Western Six and Livonia Franklin presented its first year Coach Tom Tucker with his first league win.

Glenn remained perfect in the Northwest with a decisive 31-22 triumph over previously unbeaten North Farmington. Glenn recorded four decisions and two pins.

The Canton crew, like its basketball counterpart is still in search of that first varsity win. Defending Western Six champion Walled Lake Western put together seven pins in routing the Chiefs, 56-7.

Franklin snapped a two meet losing streak as the Patriots knocked down Oak Park, 57-6, for Coach Tucker's first loop victory. Results:

Turf Tips, Quips

For the first time since the thoroughbreds wrapped things up more than a month ago, Michigan's racing activities will swing into full play next weekend.

Jackson will close its meeting at Northville Downs next Saturday and Johnny Carlo and his associates will open a 39-night campaign the following Monday, officially beginning the new year for area tracks.

Meanwhile, owners and trainers of thoroughbreds have been notified the Detroit Race Course facilities will be available for early training on Friday, Feb. 1, just a month ahead of the DRC opener on March 1.

Vice president and general manager Richard S. Wilson checked back to the big mile track two weeks ago and immediately began speeding up plans for the running season.

It didn't take long for Wilson to make several announcements of importance to the horsemen... in case none had heard rumors that have been circulating around the southern tracks now in operation.

Tom Dorsey, assistant general manager and director of racing, will take over the duties of racing secretary this year assisted by John Brecknec. Wilson hasn't been satisfied with the abilities of former racing boss Norris Guinn and apparently released him at the close of last fall's meeting.

Dorsey has been busy during the past six weeks visiting tracks in the south and far west with the thought of lining up bigger and better stables for the 120 day meeting.

Ed McKenzie, a steward in his resignation at the end of the 1973 meeting and will take over as racing secretary at Arlington Park in the Chicago area.

Although no official announcement has been made, it is believed McKenzie took several members of the racing secretary crew at DRC along with him to Chicago.

The fabulous Michigan Mile, which goes over a distance of a mile and an eighth, will be raced on Saturday, June 22, according to Wilson.

"We checked the situation very carefully," he said, "We discovered a date we thought would be most favorable to attract many of the top horses from across the nation. As far as we can learn there isn't any race on June 22 that will have the value of our Michigan Mile."

This year's renewal will be worth $100,000 guaranteed. That should make it attractive for the best aged horses and for many of the better three-year-olds.

"Before the end of the winter season, we hope to have a list of nominees that will include more of the top stars than ever before," said Wilson. "More than that we expect most of them will be entries and not just nominees."

IN THE POCKET

By W.W. EDGAR

Competition along the metropolitan bowling front was filled with surprises during the past week.

For instance, little Lynn Irons, a nine-year-old, topped the big four - the 4-6-7-10 - at Merri-Bowl Saturday and Kenny Kozma, who is only 11 years old, came through with a 103 triplicate at Woodward Lanes.

Meanwhile, Eddie Lubanski, one time holder of the world invitational title and a headliner for years, failed to qualify for the finals this coming weekend in the Masters Tournament conducted by the Greater Detroit Bowling Association.

The showing of the two young bowlers was the best of the season in the youth leagues and added another rich chapter to the work being done by the youth instructors.

Lubanski's downfall came as a shock to those who have been accustomed to seeing him battle with the leaders.

But the figures tell the story and he will be among the spectators at Orchard Lanes when Roger Thorpe defends the match game title on Saturday.

Heading the challengers will be Mike Totsky, who paced the eight game qualifying round with an 1817. This gave him a seven pin edge over Fred Vitaki while Chuck Sunseri was third with 1799.

Lubanski was able to score a mere 1636, and missed qualifying by 13 pins. He had company, though, when Don Wray, another all-star turned in a 1624.

Four more bowlers will be enshrined in the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame when the 1973 class is admitted on March 23 in the Detroit Historical Museum.

Heading the list is Mary Beck, one time Detroit councilwoman who has been one of the game's best boosters over the years.

She will be joined by Charles A. (Buck) Walby, one of the more aggressive proprietors, and Bill Busetta, member of the famed E&B and Pfeiffer teams when they won the ABC titles.

The posthumous selection was Fred Bujack, also a member of the Pfeiffer team when it was at the peak of the nation's teams.

Milford topples Clarenceville

First year Coach Bob Wolf tabbed it "the worst game we have played all year."

His Clarenceville Trojans dropped No. 12 as Milford rang up a 54-36 decision. Both clubs were winless in the Wayne-Oakland loop at 0-4 and Milford was without a victory overall.

Clarenceville stands 1-12 overall, a 12 point win over Brighton the only thing between the Trojans and complete failure.

It was 14-6 Milford after one quarter and 27-11 at the half. Clarenceville closed it to 35-23 after three quarters but Milford took off in the fourth, 19-13.

"It was a simple case of our offense failing to do anything," said Wolf whose Tro-

Farmington preps in state rankings

The three Farmington High Schools found their way into the first state rankings of the 1974 gymnastic season.

North Farmington's John Dickson was the area's most dominant figure as he placed in the top 10 in five different events. Dickson was No. 9 in floor exercise, No. 10 on the still rings, No. 2 on the parallel bars, No. 3 on the high bar and second in the state all around.

will be the beneficiary on the most unusual charity match of the season this Sunday at Oak Park. It will be the seventh meeting of B'nai B'rith and the Knights of Columbus and more than 200 bowlers are expected to compete when the firing starts at 1 p.m.

The Doris Sports Shop team of Battle Creek took the lead in the Elks Tournament at Plaza Bowl with a 2939 count Sunday. Bob Henry and Jim Reigel, of Ann Arbor, paced the doubles with 1142. Harold Plagens, of Plymouth, still is leading in the all-events with 1702 and the singles with 718.

They had another close tussle for top honors in the Westland Classic where only eight pins separated the top three. Bernie Peters landed on top with a 684 and Eddie Maizka tied Donn McKay for second place with 676.

In the women's leagues, Doris Turner set the pace with a 622 that included a middle game of 224. Other high counts included Joan Hubbel 613, and Marcie Bashor 608. The main spotlight focused on Terry Fox, a 163 average bowler, who started with nine strikes in a row but settled for a 259 in a 560 series.

Fred McClain took hard luck honors for the week when he was headed for a perfect game only to leave the No. 4 pin stand on his 11th ball for a 289. This helped him to a 706 series and the pace making role for the night in the garden classic. Paul Horowitz landed second with a 680.

Tom McCullough also had the door to fame shut in his face when he left up the No. 10 pin on a solid hit in the Bel-Aire Classic. The 299 sent him on the way to a 668 and the head of the list. Trailing him were John Kaminski 643, John Slivko 633 and Bill Newman 635.

Don Nowak beat out John Lennon by three pins to pace the Businessmen's loop with a 652 and Gil Schornhorst landed third with 640. John Zavislak shared some of the week's honors when he topped the 7-9 split in the Junior League.

21 seconds remaining... Churchill nips Alpena

Mike Fox's goal with 21 seconds left on the clock enabled Livonia Churchill to score a non-league prep hockey victory over visiting Alpena, 5-4.

Alpena jumped to an early 3-1 edge in the first period with Churchill's Rick Parks slicing it to a 3-2 heading into the second stanza.

Tallies by Jeff Traux and Fred Korte pushed the Chargers to a 4-3 margin in the second period.

The Bentley Bulldogs took two giant steps in making waves toward upending Livonia Stevenson in the Suburban prep hockey race.

Bentley scored 16 goals in back-to-back wins over Churchill and Southfield Lathrup. The Bulldogs outshot Churchill, 34 to 23, in topping the Chargers, 7-3, and outshot Lathrup, 36 to 15, in crushing the Southfield crew, 9-1.

The city clash with Churchill saw the two clubs accumulate a total of 88 minutes in penalties along with two game misconducts. Churchill chalked up 64 of those minutes in frustrating efforts against Bulldog netminder Russ Brown.

Tom McLean came up with the three-goal hat trick in the Lathrup romp. Bentley now stand at six wins - three losses and one tie in Suburban action. Game results:

Schoolcraft given science and math grant for $1,000

An institutional grant for science of $1,000 has been received by Schoolcraft College from the National Science Foundation (NSF).
Directions accompanying the grant entitled "Administration of Institutional Grants for Science," explain that such grants are designed to help maintain a strong academic base for science, mathematics and engineering.

They may be used at the discretion of the recipient institution for support of direct cost of research and education in all fields of science and engineering.

Schoolcraft became eligible for the grant as a result of the college's participation in a two-year research grant entitled "Research Participation for College Teachers," which expired in October 1973.

The grant had been under the direction of chemistry instructor Ralph Atchley. This previous grant satisfied the NSF requirement that the institution seeking an institutional grant must have participated in a NSF research project.

A committee of science and mathematics instructors has been organized by the college to determine how the grant will be spent.

The committee consists of instructors Grover Niergarth, biology; Andrew Watson, chemistry; William Ryan, geology; Bryce Lockwood, physics; Wilson Munn, mathematics; and Ralph Miller, geography. Their recommendation will then be submitted to Norman Wheeler, director of mathematics and science.

Tax hike hearings to be held

A committee of county commissioners will hold public hearings throughout Wayne County to get reaction to a proposal for a special one mill property levy to support local and county public safety programs.

The hearings will be conducted by the General Government Committee of the County Board of Commissioners.

Committee Chairman Samuel A. Turner (D-Detroit) said dates and locations for the hearings would be established within a couple of weeks.

County Board Chairman Robert E. FitzPatrick, who proposed the special levy, attended the committee meeting and supported the plan for hearings.

FitzPatrick has proposed that the voters be given the option of approving a one mill property levy to raise $13.5 million annually to be used to bolster law enforcement and related programs.

Under his plan, 80 per cent of the tax revenue — about $10.7 million annually — would be returned directly to the 43 cities and townships in Wayne County for use in local public safety programs.

Distribution would be through a formula based on the population and aggregate property valuation of each community.

New energy law: significant or 'give-away'?

By KATHY MORAN

A new law which gives Gov. William Milliken power to declare an energy emergency in Michigan was labeled both a significant step during the energy crisis and a dangerous "give away" of power.

The legislation, which passed the State House in December and Senate in January, was discussed during an environmental conference held at Suburban Communications Corp. (formerly Observer Newspapers Inc.) plant in Livonia.

Sponsored by Concern Inc., an environmental group, and the Observer, the conference was called to bring representatives from environmental groups together with state legislators to discuss environmental issues.

The all-day conference focused mainly on the energy emergency powers bill and a proposed land use bill but also touched on other controversies such as solid waste disposal and "Super Sewer" plans.

Concern Inc. is a Washington-based group with local affiliates which aims to educate consumers to buy products which are least harmful to the environment and encourage manufacturers to produce products which aren't harmful to the environment.

A noted conservationist, State Rep. Raymond Smit (R-Ann Arbor) reviewed the bill which empowers the governor to declare a state of energy emergency and gives the three-member, bipartisan Public Service Commission power over distribution of gas, oil, coal and electricity to assure that essential services and human needs are met.

Once the governor declares the emergency, it will stay in effect for 180 days unless the State Legislature overrides his action.

Calling the measure a "kind of temporary expedient," Smit said it is one positive step of many that will be needed to deal with energy problems.

Among other needed measures, Smit cited additional assistance in developing mass transportation and additional compensation for persons displaced from their jobs because of energy problems.

"I think in the totality of the picture, hindsight will prove that this kind of legislation was needed to cope with these emergencies," Smit said.

Agreeing with the need for getting more information on the energy shortage, State Sen. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park) termed the emergency powers bill a dangerous precedent. Cooper likened it to the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution which gave the president the power to wage an undeclared war in Southeast Asia.

As in the Gulf of Tonkin resolution, the Legislature could find itself struggling to regain powers as Congress did regarding the Vietnam conflict, he said.

"This bill is a blank check," Cooper said. "It gives them (the administration) a blank check to handle any energy emergencies that come up."

Senate Democrats spoke with the appointed Public Service Commission members prior to voting on the bill and found that "nobody knew anything more about the energy shortage than what the large oil companies have said."

The governor already had the power to declare an emergency under Compiled Law 10.31, Cooper added. He noted that although the Legislature could override the governor, it hasn't overridden a veto in many years - even when the governor has vetoed a bill which passed unanimously.

"Once you give away power, it's gone," he said. "We felt it was, if you will, a power grab on the part of the executive," said Sen. William Faust (D-Westland) agreeing with Cooper's position.

State Rep. John Bennett (D-Redford Township) also disagreed with the bill because "it gave the governor too many powers." He said that he trusted Gov. Milliken not to abuse the power, but added that they don't know how many years it will be in effect and who else could become governor in the meantime.

The bill has to be renewed in six months, but since it passed the initial controvery, it is expected to be renewed.

Rep. R. Robert Geake (R-Northville) said he supported the bill because it will help the Legislature gather pertinent information on the energy shortage. He added that he didn't think the Legislature could act fast enough if a real emergency occurred.

Rep. John Markes (D-Westland) agreed that the law will help gather information so that "any decisions made will be intelligent ones" and said that the Legislature could review administrative decisions if necessary.

Smit said the energy shortage calls for both short and long range solutions.

An informal poll of the 25 persons attending the conference indicated that an overwhelming majority, nearly four to one, believed there is some type of energy crisis.

Extra care in engineering...it makes a big difference in small cars.

What do you look for in a small car?

Low sticker price?

Dodge Dart Swinger Special and Plymouth Duster are priced lower than Volkswagen's most popular model.*

Good fuel economy?

Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster with their slant six engines can go farther on a gallon of gas than Nova, Comet, Maverick, Apollo, Ventura and Omega.

Adequate trunk space?

Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster have more trunk room than Nova, Maverick or Comet; up to twice as much as Vega and up to three times as much as Pinto.

Plenty of passenger room?

Plymouth Duster and Dodge Dart can seat 5 or 6 passengers compared to Pinto and Vega's four. And they each have more hiproom than Nova, Mustang II and Comet and up to 20" more total hiproom than Maverick.

Electronic Ignition?

Every Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster made in this country has it standard. Not true of other small cars.

Low upkeep?

Dodge Dart and Plymouth Duster can save you up to $62 in ignition maintenance alone every 24,000 miles over competitive 6-cylinder engines like Nova's.†
