

Pros and cons of consolidation aired in debate

By SANDRA ARMBRUSTER
PLYMOUTH — Relative government efficiency, service and planning were among the areas debated in a discussion on consolidation held last week under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Republican Club.

Taking an opposing view to consolidation during the meeting was Dr. Richard Gornick, a member of the township planning commission, while "pro" consolidation views were expressed by Dr. Gary Hall and Jim Jabara, organizers of the consolidation petition drive.

Completing the panel was Beverly McAninch, Plymouth's mayor, who reviewed both sides of the consolidation issue.

Gornick emphasized that township government is a "viable alternative" in government. "It doesn't follow that population growth means we need a new structure. Township government is highly responsive to the citizens with minimal distance between the citizens and the government," he said.

He added that township government allows greater citizen involvement which "is not essential in a large city."

Gornick believes there is a sociological reason for promoting township government. "People are distrustful of government. Call it alienation, call it what you will, but people feel manipulated by forces beyond their control."

"Everyone wants to give everyone else more control over their lives, and township government is good for that," he continued.

Economic issues of consolidation "were not fundamental" to the consolidation debate, according to Gornick.

"We offer a different level of services, not a lower level. If we increase our service, we have to increase our taxes, we know that."

"The township can levy for anything in a wide range with a vote of the people," said Gornick. "We don't consider going to the people bad. We consider it an asset since we are responsive to the needs of the people."

Disputing Gornick's view of government was Hall who countered, "I don't think the form of government is very important. I think it's the people who make it good or bad."

"If we're going to share services, why don't we share the whole thing and call it one government?" asked Hall. "Let's take an eraser and wipe everything clean and start with a brand new government."

While Hall agreed that bigger isn't necessarily better, he argued that "smaller isn't necessarily better either."

While Mrs. McAninch looked at both sides of the question, she supported consolidation on the basis of efficiency and planning.

"With two mayors and two of everything, it has to cost more and not be efficient," she emphasized. "There are two master plans, but do they have any relation to one another? I don't think anyone knows."

Free refuse disposal, fire protection for the entire area and a full recreation program were among the advantages Mrs. McAninch cited for consolidation.

Disadvantages which she acknowledged included dominance by township voters, loss of uniqueness for the city, increase in township taxes, and a desire of the township to remain undeveloped.

Mrs. McAninch stressed forgetting "the old enmities, and working for the future good and needs of the community."

"People confuse consolidation with annexation, and that means something completely different," pointed out Jabara. "It's not city against township. We're all looking forward to a better community with the unification of two governments."

"We are consolidated and unified in every area but government. I for one feel we should put everything behind and provide a better place to live," continued Jabara in a call for unity.

During the question and answer session which followed the introductory remarks, past cooperation between Plymouth and Plymouth Township in the area of planning was repeatedly questioned.

"Our planning commission has voiced great concern over the strangulation of downtown Plymouth," said Gornick. "It may sound strange, but we identify with downtown Plymouth, and we are on record with our concern about it."

"We are quite disappointed on the feedback requests we make to the city planning commission and don't get," added Gornick.

One member of the audience, Bill Larking, questioned the rise in taxes with consolidation. "You may be in a position to pay it," he told the panel, "but I wouldn't be able to."

Acknowledging that the "likelihood of consolidation not passing is very good," Hall responded. "It's an uphill battle all the way, but that doesn't mean it should be attempted. I think it should because I believe it's right," he stated.

Other members of the audience voiced concern over politicians, meshing ideas, and getting "good" charter commissions to file as required for their own election before the actual consolidation elections takes place on April 2.

Helen Richardson, township clerk, told the panel that preparations for printing the ballot have not yet begun. "The county has not been directed to print the ballots, and I was told that the county doesn't know if it will even if it is directed," she explained. "But the boundary commission set the election and said the county has to print the ballots with local governments paying the expenses."

CITY AND TOWNSHIP firemen battled four hours in near zero weather before dawn Tuesday to conquer a fire which destroyed the interior of the State College of Beauty on Penniman Avenue and for a while threatened the market next door. One of the few items saved from the beauty school was the head of a mannequin which was placed on the hood of a fire truck (below). (Observer photos by Bob Woodring)

4-hour downtown fire destroys beauty school, damages market

PLYMOUTH — A fire of undetermined origin raced through the State College of Beauty, 824 Penniman, early Tuesday morning, completely destroying the interior of the building.

George Schoenneman said the fire was discovered about 3:22 a.m. by a police patrol car.

"When we got there, the building was completely filled with smoke, the entire basement on fire," the chief said.

The fire, which started in the basement, weakened the floor so that firemen were unable to enter and had to pour water from outside.

"The fire had a good start by the time we got there. The building had been modernized with lowered ceiling and partitions along the walls making it even more difficult to fight. These false walls act like a chimney pulling the smoke and fire upward," Schoenneman added. Firemen were able to confine the fire to the beauty school by pouring water on the adjoining store, the Penniman Market, which suffered minor damage.

City puts price tag on police for twp.

By EDWARD WENDOVER

PLYMOUTH — The city has proposed expanding its police protection to cover all of the city and Plymouth Township in a study released Monday.

According to the study made by Plymouth Police Chief Timothy Ford and City Manager Fred Yockey, the expanded police coverage would annually cost the township $513,500 and the city $347,000.

This would be equivalent to about 3.2 mills additional cost to township taxpayers, who would have to vote for such an increase.

The study is being considered by Plymouth Township officials who have formed a committee to study police protection in the township. Wayne County, which currently supplies the township's law enforcement, has threatened to end free police protection to the county's unincorporated areas.

According to the report, expanding the city's current police force to cover the township would cost $384,784.

The expanded department would cost $860,614 annually (based on the 1973 - 74 fiscal year) and would best be shared by the two governments on a cost per capita basis, the report recommends.

This would mean a per capita cost of $27.76 based on estimated populations of 12,500 for the city and 18,500 for the township.

The proposal also would mean a reduction of about $125,000 annually (from 6.12 mills to 4.6 mills) from the $476,000 now spent on police protection in the city each year.

According to the report, the expanded service would:

- Cover the area in three patrol zones on a 24-hour per day basis with at least one patrol car in each zone.

- Provide supervision and assistance to the three zone patrols with either a sergeant or lieutenant and a fourth patrol car that would respond to calls anywhere when assistance was necessary during the peak afternoon and night period.

- Provide detective, youth, drug control and criminal investigation services throughout the entire area based on need.

- Patrol the estimated 32 miles of roads in the city and 56 miles of township roads.

- Provide administration and communications through the police department's city hall offices.

Expanding the current city police department would mean adding 20 officers (there are 19 currently) and a secretary, the report says.

The total personnel costs in expansion would be $320,234 annually the study adds.

In addition, four new police vehicles would be needed and four existing ones would need replacing, the study shows. That expansion cost for equipment (and also that of weapons, uniforms and other supplies) is estimated to be $54,750.

The study also included investigation of two other methods of providing police protection to the township.

The first was providing services on a limited or selective basis to the township while maintaining full police coverage in the city.

Ford and Yockey dismissed that idea as not "operationally sound."

The second alternative was to have the township contract with the city for buying or hiring one or more patrol units specifically to the township without changing the level of city law enforcement.

The report said this alternative, while more operationally sound, was "fundamentally flawed from a cost viewpoint."

"It seems to us that it is next to impossible to develop adequate cost figures (for that alternative)," Ford and Yockey said in the report.

The report did not give cost estimates to the other two alternatives.

City oks fee for unification study

PLYMOUTH — City commissioners authorized a $1,500 expenditure Monday night as their share of a joint study with Plymouth Township on the effects of a consolidation.

The study will be conducted by the Institute of Community Development, Michigan State University. Purpose will be to inform residents in both communities of the pros and cons involved in the consolidation.

The question of consolidation will be put to the voters on April 2. If the consolidation question is approved by both sides, a second election will be held May 7 to elect a charter commission.

Upon voter approval of the charter, the consolidation will take effect.

Both governmental bodies agreed some time ago to split the cost of a study of the question, but Plymouth is the first to actually appropriate funds for it.

City Manager Fred Yockey told commissioners that township officials were "still fiddling around as of 4:30 p.m. this afternoon (Monday)," apparently trying to decide whether to have an independent study made. Yockey said that he advised township officials to "at least talk with the MSU group."

While agreeing to appropriating the funds, commissioners indicated that "we're not going into this thing (study) if the township doesn't participate."

The proposed study will focus on two major considerations, according to a memorandum of agreement with the MSU group encompassed in the resolution passed Monday night approving the study.

One area will deal specifically with the study.

MADONNA COLLEGE students Walter Suchara of Detroit and Judy Martin of Livonia demonstrate to Sister M. Bridget the movable features of Suchara's model home, built for Sister Bridget's class in interior design.

Madonna's plan has 2 meanings in home building

Students in Home Economics and Family Life at Madonna College are learning not only to be model home-makers, but to be home model makers as well.

A requirement of the course in interior design is to design, build, and decorate a model home. As part of their final exam, 25 students of Sister Mary Bridget have recently completed that requirement.

Most of the students, ranging in age from 18 through 40, let their imaginations take wing and came up with homes they might like to own but probably could not afford. But, Walter Suchara, the only male in the class, designed and built a two-level balsa-wood vacation home with balconied bedrooms which he hopes to build up north.

White orlon carpeting simulated snow outside the door where a miniature snowmobile was parked. Inside, a tiny clock hung on the stone chimney over a cheery fake fire.

A student majoring in child development, Sharon Gruszynski of Battle Creek, obtained permission to deviate from the rules to build a model child care center. With a year's experience as a child care aide and some research, she came up with a one - floor building incorporating areas for active play, story - corners, administration, and little lavatories.

Most students used dollhouse furniture repurposed to suit their designs and color schemes, but Sharon built her furniture and play equipment, including teeter - totters and jungle gyms, from "Play-Doh."

Before building their models, students visited model homes in the area of the college to observe floor plans, color coordination, lighting, and use of fabrics and carpeting.

Campaign financing is attacked

Local officials of the national citizens' lobby, Common Cause, have criticized Observerland state senators for their failure to support an independent state elections commission to scrutinize political campaign financing in Michigan.

The criticism came when the Michigan Senate defeated an amendment to the campaign finance disclosure bill sponsored by Sen. William Faust (D-Westland). The bill was passed by the Legislature, but without the amendment to set up a watchdog commission.

Faust was ill at the time of the vote and could not participate, but Sens. Daniel Cooper (D-Oak Park), whose district includes Southfield and Farmington, and Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth), whose district includes Livonia and Redford, opposed the amendment.

Richard Lieberknecht, publicity coordinator for the 15th District Common Cause, expressed his dissatisfaction with the senators' vote.

"An independent commission or agency must be established and given the power to enforce any law regulating campaign financing," Lieberknecht said. "Self-policing - that is public officials having exclusive enforcement authority over other public officials - is not acceptable." Without an independent policing agency, he said, "legislation purporting to reform campaign financing is meaningless."

Defending his vote against the amendment, Cooper said that bi - partisan policing of campaign spending could be effectively carried on by the state attorney general's office and the county prosecutors.

"The state shouldn't spend the money for a third agency," Cooper said. "If anything is going to kill this country, it's multi-faceted, fantastically expensive bureaucracy."

Faust, who later had his support for both the bill and the defeated amendment read into the record, reiterated his position.

"Some Democrats opposed the amendment because they thought it was too strong an addition to the checks and balances system," Faust said. But he said he thought it was necessary, "especially after Youngblood and everything else."

Citizen objections fail to block paving plans for city streets

Four hours of public comments on the proposed completion of a paving program started in 1971 ended in city commission approval Monday of all eight streets involved.

Two areas came under fire by residents who either objected to the project or to some phase of it. One project, involving the paving of Hamilton Street, from W. Ann Arbor Trail to Union, is not completely settled. Commissioners will look into an alternative street plan suggested by a resident before final approval.

The other area that drew heavy criticism was the proposed widening and other improvements of E. Ann Arbor Trail, from Mill to the city limits.

Purpose of the public hearings was to determine necessity. A second public hearing will be held on March 18 on the assessment figures. The eight streets involved are the culmination of a four-year street improvement program approved in 1971, explained City Engineer Alan Gove.

In the Hamilton Street project, residents were in favor of paving, but objected to an administration proposal for a cul de sac that would mean vacating the remainder of the street in front of the Adistra Corp's loading docks.

What city commissioners will investigate is the possibility of relocating that portion of the street in front of the loading docks.

Residents favored keeping the street open for better ingress and egress, declaring the cul de sac would do little to alleviate the heavy truck traffic.

"Besides," quipped one resident, "it's a good short cut to Krogers."

Hearings hit a somewhat nostalgic note at one point when a pioneer resident asked that the street named after her be exempted from the program.

With her son - in - law as her spokesman, Mrs. Rose Holstein, of 157 Rose Street, reported that she would be unable to pay the paving costs because of her meager income. The 79-year-old widow said she subsides chiefly on a modest pension as do several other elderly persons on the same block.

Several commissioners questioned the "necessity" of including the street at this time, but the project was approved by a 4-3 vote. Voting against it were Commissioners Joe Bida, Norbert Battermann and John Cummings.

She was told by the city assessor she could apply for financial relief from the board of review which is scheduled to begin hearings next month.

"We're a very flexible group... we can work something out," promised Assessor Ken Way.

Corinne Abatt writes

What are answers to morality code?

By CORINNE ABATT

I think it's about time, someone offered a course for fourth graders like me on how to cope with the new morality.

Most everyone who has a couple of teenage kids and has hosted their many friends runs into the same problem.

Once upon a time, girls in their late teens and early 20s did a lot of talking about orange blossoms and weddings and showers and trousseaus. Their friends' mothers got into the act, helping to plan showers, tating a pillow case border or two, and later knitting baby booties and funny little pink or white sweaters.

While still programmed for this sort of nuptial and pre-nuptial rituals, here comes a new flap.

"Guess what?" said a sweet young thing at our kitchen table last week. "Chuck and I are going to live together. I'll be moving into his apartment next week."

My first thought was to hug her and screech joyously. "Hey, Tude, that's just wonderful. Just what you've always wanted - a roommate."

Then I got to thinking that maybe her parents wouldn't think the announcement was so all-darned cool. And maybe, I ought to be standing there saying pontifically, "Tude, have you considered the consequences of this decision?"

The question of posture in the face of such pronouncements is a bothersome one. Hey, professor, what role should I be playing? Should I stand firm on my 1930-40 morality code, or should I just let the congratulations rip knowing full well that Tude and a good many young folks just like her are also going to share their bed and board, for an undetermined length of time.

The problem reverses itself with my generation. Once upon a time, the announcement of a divorce called for a certain amount of commiseration and shedding of tears - real or otherwise.

Now comes in my mail at regular intervals, party invitations with a note that the celebration is in honor of a final divorce decree.

I suspect this new type freedom fest also merits a new approach.

Call in the nature of crepe hanging and the tragedy of it all are no longer appreciated. Levity is the new mood and you had better congratulate the new divorcee on finally getting on the stick and getting rid of the flake she mistakenly married some 15 or 20 years ago.

"We'll bust open a bottle of champagne and drink to your new found freedom," you respond.

She picks up the mood and yells into the phone. "You better believe it. If you want to bring a single friend to my little do, be my guest."

Between the lines is the message that she is not going to be moping around. She's on the loose and available.

Seems the sacrament of marriage is in a transition period. To fight it would seem a little like standing on the ocean beach during a hurricane and telling the waves to calm down.

Legally married or not, maybe Tude would like a couple of my tatted pillow cases.

Tim Richard writes

Cheap politics hits its peak

Some of the cheapest politics is played by persons who aren't technically politicians. I refer of course to Ivan Barris, president of the Detroit Bar Assn.

Barris held a press conference with several others last week to denounce Wayne County commissioners for their alleged failure to provide more and better circuit court facilities. He also opposed a county board plan to set up some courtrooms in the western suburbs.

Barris indulged in sordid head politics by threatening to sue the county board for more court space. In other words, the most important single function of a legislative body - allocating precious, limited funds - is to be the subject of a court procedure. We all know how fair a judge handling this kind of case would be.

Falsely, Barris complained that lack of public transportation in the western suburbs would prevent persons without cars from using courts placed there. If he were up to date, he would know that the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority is now running a bus line down Middle Belt and Inkster roads to the county property at Michigan Avenue.

The press conferees also wept and moaned that poor people would be disadvantaged by a suburban location of some circuit courtrooms. They should know there are many scattered pockets of poor and old people in Livonia, Redford, Plymouth, Northville, Canton, Westland, Garden City, Inkster, Taylor, Romulus... all over the place. Detroit has no monopoly on poverty and low incomes, and the suburban poor deserve some consideration from the bar-risters.

Detroit was founded as a riverfront, trading post in 1701 and became the county seat of Wayne County nearly two centuries ago. Today, however, downtown Detroit in no way qualifies as a central location for courtrooms. Check a map of Michigan, and you'll find downtown Detroit is one of the least centrally located of our 83 county seats.

This is not to suggest that the county seat be moved to (say) Dearborn Heights; just to support Commissioners Tom Taylor of Westland and Mary Dumas of Livonia for their championship of the idea that a few courtrooms should be located out this way.

Commissioner Thomas P. O'Rourke notes that many circuit courtrooms are empty; judges take vacations and get sick; so there is plenty of opportunity for judges to double up on court space until new courtrooms are set up.

Mrs. Dumas points out there are 28 circuit judges with five new ones to be elected in November. Suburban commissioners say the new seats should go in the western part of the county, most likely on county property in Westland.

Suburbanites get a raw deal from their circuit courts in one important respect. While circuit courts handle all of Wayne County's big civil cases, they only handle part of the criminal cases.

Thus, all criminal cases handled by circuit judges emanate from the suburbs, yet all the witnesses, lawyers, defendants, and particularly police officers have to journey to downtown Detroit, with its outrageous parking fees, to get to a circuit court.

O'Rourke, Taylor and Mrs. Dumas are on the right track in fighting to get five courtrooms for the western part of the county. Less than 20 percent of the courtrooms is a modest demand for 50 percent of Wayne County's population to make.

Nixon forgets history lessons

By PHILIP H. POWER

President Nixon was right. One year of Watergate is enough.

Yet the very techniques used by the president to demonstrate his point in the State of the Union speech last week are exactly the reasons the Watergate crisis will go on and on.

The president said: "There will be no recession in the United States of America."

Yet last Friday the government announced that 368,000 people had lost their jobs in January, or a 0.4 per cent jump in the unemployment rate to 5.2 per cent, the largest one month rise in four years.

On Thursday Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, admitted that the administration foresees no recession this year because it has rejected the popular definition of the term - six consecutive months in which the economy declines.

In the State of the Union speech, the president promised to "break the back of the energy crisis" in 1974 and pledged American self-sufficiency in energy by the end of the decade.

Yet on Friday, John C. Sawhill, deputy administrator of the Federal Energy Office, said the nation could not break the back of the energy crisis this year; he explained the president had only meant the country could "get started in 1974" toward a solution of its energy problems.

Sawhill also explained the president had not meant the United States could supply all its own energy by 1980, but rather the goal is to "demonstrate to the world we can be self-sufficient."

Dramatically, the president announced in the State of the Union message, "that I have been assured... that an urgent meeting will be called in the immediate future to discuss the lifting of the oil embargo."

Yet on Thursday, administration officials admitted they knew of no meeting planned by the Arab oil producers except a Feb. 14 get-together, which had been announced back in December, and that there was in fact no dramatic new development to which the President referred.

Yes, one year of Watergate is enough. But the scandal cannot be excused by a traditional political speech which suggests one thing but means something else, which depends on changed meanings of terms, and which presents as new and dramatic the old and well worn.

The environment in which Watergate flourished was one in which our very language was devalued - like our declining dollar - so that it was used as an instrument to conceal meaning rather than to reveal it.

The president offered us a speech last week in the same tradition, and sadly and ironically sought to employ these very techniques as reasons for putting Watergate behind us.

And in so doing, he forgot the philosopher who observed those who fail to learn from history are doomed to be trapped by it.

Lincoln failures key to success

By HENRY HOGAN

There was a man who failed in business in '31. He ran and was defeated for the state legislature in '32.

He failed again in business in '33. He was finally elected to the state legislature in '34. His sweetheart died in '35. He had a nervous breakdown in '36. He was defeated for the speakership in the state house in '38.

He was defeated for presidential elector in '40. He was defeated for Congress in '43. He was finally elected to Congress in '46. But he was defeated for re-election in '48. He ran and was defeated for the U.S. Senate in '55. He was defeated for the vice presidential nomination in '56.

And he was elected the 16th president of the United States in 1860.

I apologize for repeating these facts, but I think about them as Feb. 12 approaches each year.

This repeated failure was none other than Abraham Lincoln.

His record should be an inspiration to those who feel that they are always facing an uphill battle with few tangible results.

Lincoln, in his own time, was not considered a great man. He was accused of splitting the Republic with his meddling in what we now call "civil rights."

Even the speech he made at Gettysburg was considered trite by the press of his time.

Yet it has survived long after its critics were buried. And it is still appropriate today as the democratic system has been threatened over the last year and a half.

"... That this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Fred DeLano writes

Students find many uses for pin money, not for laundries

In these grave times when neither of our two most influential presidents, Mr. Nixon of the Republic and Mr. Woodcock of the UAW, can agree on the goodness or the badness of the economy, there comes in the morning mail a news release from Eastern Michigan University demonstrating that the college student's purse is no less than ever a vagabond.

The Ypsilanti university's winter enrollment of 17,078 includes an untold number of our Observerland youth, lying as it does virtually at the outskirts of our Plymouth-Canton sector whose own population is growing in no small part because of the influx of the EMU professorial sect.

Universally these days, parents of college types shudder at the cost of living which a higher education for their children represents. Tuition, fees, books, room, board - they've all gone sky high, right?

But that's not where it ends at all.

It took a man named Ralph Bock, director of auxiliary services at EMU, to unravel student spending on the trivialities of life and unwittingly demonstrate that a student's pin money can go many a devious route before it ends with a cum laude chapeau.

The point is that the 415 vending, laundry and pinball machines located in EMU residence halls, classroom buildings and McKenny Union took in $218,000 for the 1973 calendar year. As a lone statistic, this is meaningless, for the vending machine way of sustenance long has been upon us.

But it's in the breakdown that one finds solace that college is still college. That EMU's 120 food vending machines averaged $1,125 each probably doesn't prove anything except that cafeterias aren't any more popular than ever.

However, realizing that pinball intake averaged $766 per machine compared to the $226 from each of the automatic coin-operated washers and dryers does tell a story.

Whoever suggested that "cleanliness is second only to Godliness" may not have had today's typical college campus in mind at all. Or do the kids still send their soiled unmentionables home in a cardboard box every week as we did years ago?

Help needed to fight rising crime rate

By MAURIE WALKER

These are the days of shortages. If one item isn't in short supply, somehow, or someone, manages to create a shortage of another.

It's serious, and yet almost humorous, too. A recent news wire story stated toilet tissue became the target for a phony shortage when a television personality announced this was the latest item that would soon disappear from the store shelves.

Christmas was darkened by the announcement that "energy was in short supply." Homes and some offices and public buildings are cutting back on heat to conserve energy.

Yet, there is one thing that is not in short supply. There is still plenty of crime. More women are being raped, more homes broken into, more violence on the streets.

It's a strange thing how all forms of government, national, state, city, county and townships will all pitch in to battle the shortage of electricity, gas, gasoline and food. Still, when it comes to battling crime, the plea of law enforcement officers falls on deaf ears.

Police chiefs from all over the country, including those in Livonia, Redford, Plymouth and Southfield, - in fact in every major area - try to put across to the "powers that be" that additional men and equipment are needed, and needed badly to combat the rising crime statistics.

Somehow money is available for increased salaries for various government officials. Money is available for trips out of state for our elected "representatives," in fact, money is available for just about everything except beefing up our law enforcement agencies.

There isn't a police agency in existence that doesn't need additional manpower. In this area, Redford is understaffed, so is Livonia, and so is Plymouth. The Michigan State Police are understaffed, so are the local sheriff departments in Wayne and Oakland Counties.

In recent years, federal funds have been increased for police training, for new equipment, but still, this is not enough. The federal government, along with local governments, have got to realize priorities. The overworked officers in the various departments have been doing a tremendous job in keeping crime from rising faster than it has.

Many local and suburban communities have reported a decline in the overall crime picture, but there are many categories where there is an increase. These crimes, robbery, rape, and assault - could be reduced with additional police on the streets.

A police officer, forced to ride alone in a patrol car during the high crime hours, late evening to early morning, has little chance of cutting the crime statistics.

He is alone when he has to stop a suspicious vehicle, one of the most dangerous tasks an officer has to perform. How can the neighborhoods be properly patrolled with a limited number of patrol cars available?

As criminals try to move out of the cities into the suburbs, it is only common sense that these suburbs require more police officers.

A recent murder in Livonia had as its victim a woman who "moved out of the inner city to the safety of the suburbs."

A Redford man just recently, was attacked in the driveway of his home as he unloaded groceries.

Party stores, restaurants, persons in parking lots of shopping centers are falling victims to criminals. Perhaps these incidents would have happened regardless of the number of police on duty. But the only way to assure a reduction in these crimes is to put more officers on the streets.

A rink-side view Adults abuse young players

EDITOR:

A year or two ago, I read about the unbecoming conduct of an irate hockey fan venting anger on a referee. It's high time the coaches, managers and trainers of the Mites, Squirts, Pee Wees, etc. learned to control their anger, tempers and running off at the mouth, directed at their own players.

During the past week, I have witnessed the most brutal display of verbal abuse directed at 9, 10 and 11 year olds I have ever heard. Not only during games but before and after as well. All done by "volunteer adults."

Come on, "men," grow up. You don't ridicule a boy in front of parents, friends and teammates because he can't suddenly become a Howe when it gets down to the nitty-gritty, especially since the fact was obvious to you all season.

For years I have preached "good conduct, sportsmanship; one man does not make or break a hockey team, don't throw sticks or helmets after a loss" — in other words, "don't be a hot dog." Then to see "adults" display all these undesirable qualities, it really boggles the mind. "Do as I say, not as I do," fellas?

Shame on each guilty one of you.

Nobody loves to win more than this family, but take the advice of one of your boys and mind: "It's not the end of the world, Mom."

Roads need fixing

EDITOR:

I would like to know why the Wayne County Road Commission has not fixed the old section of Rosedale Gardens in Livonia. You can hardly drive your car through those roads without wrecking your car in some way.

It is dangerous, too, because lots of cars are parked on the side of the road, and if you were to swerve away from a hole, there is a good chance that you might run into one of those cars.

Why can't they fill the holes and cover the road with blacktopping to hold until they are able to make it permanent?

It would make me very happy to receive get-well cards and letters or birthday cards. My birthday is on the 31st of January; I will be 49 years old. I enlisted in the Army at 17. Since I am disabled, I have a lot of time to read. It makes me very happy to receive mail.

1.3 million lives lost

EDITOR:

I have read with interest the letters concerning abortion and would like to add to the discussion.

First, abortion is more than just a word. What is conceived by human is human — no argument there. In order to grow — as a fetus does — this human has to be living — correct? The result being a living human and when abortion is performed, it destroys this human.

In fact, last year alone, abortion destroyed over 1.3 million living humans. That's more than the death toll from all U.S. wars! It really speaks poorly of such a great nation that attempts to solve its social ills by destroying those who cannot speak for themselves.

Let's look at some of the ramifications that abortion has brought. For instance, within one week after Hawaii liberalized their abortion laws, Senate Bill 1421 was introduced that required any woman who had two or more children to be rendered sterile at the time of delivery. This bill was defeated, but another like it will come up again and again.

We have recently read of Negro girls being brought into town to be sterilized without their full understanding of the permanency of their treatment. We have also read of babies, born less fortunate than others, being deprived of life — sustaining measures, because if they survived, they would be a burden on their families.

Maybe you have been horrified by articles reporting experimentation on fetuses — both prior and after abortions. One report in specific deals with experimentation of 12 aborted 12-20 week old fetuses who were decapitated and then their heads used for studies.

A learned Nobel prize winner has suggested that a baby shall not be declared human until three days after birth. Also joining the "life is cheap" mentality is a noted biologist who suggests that a child not be declared human until several years after birth! How many of us would survive the "Terrible Twos"?

Redford pickup beats Detroit's

EDITOR:

Last year I moved to Redford Township from Detroit, and I was immediately impressed with the excellent trash pickup service.

In Detroit, the collectors spilled half the trash in the alley before getting the cans to the truck. If a trash can was new when you set it out, it was old when the men put it back. You had to keep the cans on a stand so the men wouldn't have to bend over to pick them up.

Occasionally you would up with someone else's trash can, or they got yours. I can't imagine what they did with all the lids. Since your trash day constantly changed, you never knew when to expect a pickup. And the annual spring strike was never as short as two days.

In contrast, Redford's trash collectors come on their appointed days, leave the area clean, return and sometimes even stack the cans neatly where they found them, and pick up everything you leave for them. They do this with a minimum of clutter and bangs.

I always feel sorry for our trash collectors when I set out a plastic bag full of disposable diapers or four or five cans filled with branches pruned from thorn bushes. Our garbage men hold low esteem jobs and work under conditions that would leave most of us gagging. They deserve a pat on the back, not the harassment they've been getting from the public service director.

I also oppose women's lib and the Queen Bees. Because women aren't second class citizens. The problem with most women is that "they are second class thinkers." It's high time that women

3rd political party needed

EDITOR:

The State of Michigan is in desperate need of a third political party. The Republican Party represents the very rich, and the Democratic Party represents the very poor. Unfortunately, neither of these groups pays much taxes. The middle class that carries the financial burden of government has no control over the amount of taxes or where tax money is spent.

As a result, there is little or no efficiency in any government body from the state level down through the townships.

Employees who receive their wages from tax money and are servants of the people are now getting pay raises at 10 per cent per year average — twice the amount their employers the taxpayers are getting. They receive pensions that cannot be matched by industry. They generally work six to seven hours a day and have much longer vacation time than taxpayers in private business.

Surveys continue to show that business that moves out of Michigan cannot be lured back. Economy in government could keep the major share of present industry here.

Oakland County has ordered all homes and business property to be revalued at 10 per cent higher rate for the year 1974 although the selling prices are going down. The people have no voice in this decision.

There is not one elected official in Michigan who deserves to be reelected unless he preaches economy in government.

Close stores on Sundays

EDITOR:

I have decided that the way to help solve the energy crisis is by returning to the days when stores were closed on Sundays. Think of the many electric lights and the amount of heat used to operate just one store for one Sunday. If this were multiplied by the number of stores open on Sunday in Livonia, it would result in a saving of electric, oil and gas.

Furthermore, if this savings was multiplied by the number of similar communities over the entire United States, the savings of energy would amount to a staggering total.

Then multiply this savings times the number of Sundays these stores are open throughout the course of a year. The result — wow! I'm with you! As long as we have heat, who needs to shop for more clothes on Sunday?

Retarded can be taught

EDITOR:

It disturbs me whenever I read an article stating that retarded children cannot be taught.

Not too long ago I viewed a program showing how retarded children were treated in mental institutions. In my estimation, it's high time these so-called qualified teachers be chosen on a more professional level.

It takes more than just a certificate to be responsible enough to teach these children. Patience, understanding and concern should be only a few of the qualifications needed to fulfill such a specialized area.

'Soft core' porno obscene

EDITOR:

I am sure your article on pornography was intended to be informative. However, any mother who shops knows this trash is found almost everywhere. Did you need to advertise those places where the "good stuff" can be found? Your article was far too descriptive and explicit for a family newspaper.

What is obscene and pornographic — soft core, hard core? I am sick and tired of this idea that obscenity cannot be defined. If I don't want "soft core" on the coffee table for my family to see, then it's obscene!

Do I sound bitter? You bet I am! I am trying to raise four children in this valueless and immoral world. This trash is at the fingertips of any child sent to a grocery store on an errand. This week I witnessed two small boys at a store flipping through this garbage.

What is it doing to our children? Where will it all end? I pray to God that this world will wake up and rid itself of the filth that is undermining our country.

Senior citizens neglected

EDITOR:

The Observer Newspapers are to be commended for calling public attention to the new Wayne County senior citizens nutrition program in the Jan. 23 "Observing Life" section article by Margaret Miller.

The positive comments of the diners, as quoted in the article, indicate how much this program was needed and are typical of the expressions by many of the 600 elderly being served at the 11 other locations in Wayne County.

The County Board of Commissioners is proud of the fact that we were one of the first governmental units to design such a program and to receive federal funding for it under the Older Americans Act.

Senior citizens have been described accurately as the most neglected segment of our nation's population. The Wayne County commissioners, in concert with the National Assn. of Counties, worked hard for enactment of the Older Americans Act in Washington.

The 1970 census counted more than 100,000 Wayne County residents outside Detroit who are aged 60 or over. This represents almost 11 per cent of this age group in the entire state.

Nearly 12,000 of those out-county residents, or some 16 per cent, have incomes below the poverty level. Almost 25 per cent of those below poverty level are over 60 — a higher ratio than in Detroit.

This is tragic — especially in view of the fact that the overwhelming majority of these citizens are in need after devoting a lifetime to productive work and the paying of taxes.

For those reasons, we county commissioners have assigned a top priority to new programs to aid senior citizens.

Last year, we established the Wayne County Commission on Aging and, as its staff, the Wayne County Office on Aging. The nutrition program is only the first of a number of new programs we have planned.

In addition, we have applied for, and anticipate receipt of, federal funds to finance planning of housing, health and transportation programs for senior citizens.

County begins hearings on 1-mill crime tax levy

By TIM RICHARD

Wayne County commissioners are pondering whether to ask voters for a one-mill property tax hike for public safety programs.

Under the suggestion, the county would keep 20 per cent ($2.8 million in 1975), and the 43 cities and townships would split the remaining 80 per cent ($10.7 million).

Before deciding to put it on the ballot, however, commissioners will give the public a chance to comment in a series of public hearings conducted by the general government committee of the county board.

The first is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 14, at 7:30 p.m. in Westland City Hall, 36001 Ford Road.

Others will be held in downtown Detroit and the downriver area.

Chaired by Com. Samuel Turner of Detroit, the committee includes two Observer-land commissioners — Richard Manning of Redford Township and Brian Arrowsmith of Plymouth.

The millage idea isn't a firm proposal. Rather, it's simply a "suggestion" from County Board Chairman Robert FitzPatrick of Detroit, who owns a business in Livonia.

In an interview last week, FitzPatrick frankly conceded "some initial negative reaction" on the part of public officials. But he added that crime appears to be a prime concern of Detroit and suburban residents alike.

This would be the first time Wayne County government ever has gone to the voters with a millage proposal, FitzPatrick said. It would also be a rarity for a county to ask for a millage which it would split with local governments.

Individual commissioners, who asked not to be quoted, expressed two sorts of reservations with the FitzPatrick suggestion.

One was whether a special election — at a cost of $500,000 — should be called.

The other was whether 0.8 mills was exactly the amount all 43 cities and townships in Wayne County really need. Some might need more, some less. In the meantime many school districts (Livonia and South Redford, for example) will be asking for millage hikes.

As FitzPatrick suggested it, the local units would get half of the 0.8 mills on the basis of their populations, half on the basis of their assessed valuations. (See accompanying chart.)

Certificates granted by reciprocity went to David Breger, 29555 Pond Ridge, Farmington Hills; Philip J. Houdek, 30375 Old Stream, Southfield; and Eric Joss, 16152 Carriage Trade, Southfield.

Survivors are her husband, Clifford, a son, Clifford Jr. of Plymouth; daughter, Nancy of Redford; Mrs. John (Carol) Stutz of Red and Mrs. Shirley East of Redford; her mother, Mrs. Dolphene Henderson of Redford; a brother, William R. Henderson Jr. of St. Clair; and three grandchildren.

Mrs. Williams died Jan. 27 of her home after an illness of six months. Born in 1914 in Pennsylvania, she had lived in Westland since 1955. She was a member of Holy Trinity United Methodist Church.

Survivors are her children, Mrs. Cora Williams, Mrs. Helen Benda, Mrs. Ann Gorman, John Williams and William Williams, and three sisters and brothers, Mrs. John Evans, Mrs. John Hooper and Frank Terrell. Also surviving are 19 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

completing chart.) FitzPatrick carefully pointed out that all 43 except the four Grosse Pointes would receive more in their local shares than homeowners would pay. The "gravy" would come from commerce and industry.

The county would use its share, he said, for the organized crime task force, road patrol, metro squad, court-jail staffing and continuation of a helicopter patrol. The chairman noted that a federal grant for the helicopters expires after a three-year period.

Western Wayne County townships (notably Plymouth and Canton) which lack their own police forces would be free either to start them or contract with the sheriff's road patrol for continuation of its services, Turner said.

Local units would have to use all the additional receipts on safety programs and would have to maintain existing police appropriations, FitzPatrick said. They wouldn't be able to reallocate existing police funds from the general fund budget to other programs.

FitzPatrick said that since 1969 the county has raised the sheriff department's budget 99 per cent, increasing staff from 322 to 640. The county presently gets 6.07 mills from the 15-mill "winter" tax pie provided for in the state constitution.

Schools approve teacher hirings

PLYMOUTH Student overloads in the first and second grades at Tanger Elementary School will be eased somewhat with the addition of a teacher to the staff following action by the Plymouth Board of Education recently.

Actually, three appointments were made by the board to the Tanger staff. Two were replacements for teachers who were leaving the system.

Explaining the addition of the third teacher, Supt. of Schools John Hoben said: "We are losing two teachers ... who are high on the salary schedule. We feel we can add the additional teacher ... and the cost of the three would not exceed the salaries that we have been paying to the existing teachers who are leaving."

Issued contracts were Kathleen Allen, a Western Michigan Univ. graduate, with a year's experience in Gaylord; George Belvich, an Eastern Michigan Univ. graduate, with no experience; and Sara Evans, a U-M graduate, with a half year of experience in New Mexico.

The board also approved the hiring of two other teachers, one at the high school level and the other at Isbister Elementary School.

Ronald Carlson, U-M graduate with three years experience in the local system, was given a math position teaching at Plymouth - Canton High School, and Cheryl Monthei was assigned to Isbister.

Zoning law revision hearing set

PLYMOUTH A public hearing on the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance concerning non - conforming use of property and structures will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 19 in the city hall.

Under terms of the amendment, many problems involving duplex and single homes in several areas of the city will be eliminated.

The amendment will permit the re - building of a non - conforming structure should it ever be destroyed. More than that, the structure can be enlarged by a maximum of 25 per cent of the floor area.

In some of the older sections of the city the structures are given a duplex zoning and inter - mingled with single family zoning. Under the proposed amendment all structures would be given single home status.

This change was asked by the city planning commission as a means of eliminating many of the present problems, especially in the area of Harvey, Adams, Farmer, Church, Union and Roe streets.

Three related requests for rezoning were tabled until after the public hearing on Feb. 19.

Oks Fee

Continued from Page 1A ally with the consolidation question itself, while the other will be a series of seminars intended to improve understanding of the role of local government in the community.

According to the agreement, the institute will conduct three seminars. Two will be held before the April 2 election and the third will be held soon after, regardless of the outcome of the vote.

Fire

Because of the dense smoke, firemen were forced to use smoke masks. No one was injured, the chief said.

In addition to Plymouth's two pumper trucks and the aerial truck, Plymouth Township fire department stood by with a pumper and snorkel. It also assisted in pouring water on the walls of the building.

Schooneman said the fire was listed as "under control" at 7:20 a.m.

Cause is still under investigation.

Twp. seeks volunteer firefighters

PLYMOUTH -- The Plymouth Township fire department is seeking volunteer firemen, particularly for the day shift.

Fire Chief James Gignac said applicants must be between 18 and 35 years old, in good physical condition, have a good driving record and be "upstanding citizens."

Gignac said although men for the day shift are badly needed, men desiring to work other shifts will be considered.

Wages for a volunteer are $6 for the first hour of duty and $3 for each additional hour. Men accepted will receive life insurance and be eligible for workman's compensation.

All necessary equipment is furnished by the township. Volunteers are paid for training periods also, Gignac said.

Persons interested may apply at the main station on Ann Arbor Road or at the station on Schoolcraft Road.

MICHAEL J. RYAN JR., newly appointed executive director of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., of Wayne County, plans to make his home in Plymouth. He will move here from Cincinnati where he has been executive director of the American Heart Assn.'s southwestern Ohio chapter.

Cable TV pact strengthened

PLYMOUTH -- An agreement that further strengthens the pact between the City of Plymouth and Alden CATV, Inc. for cable television service was approved by the city commission.

The additional rules and regulations go beyond the cable TV ordinance passed by the commission last year prior to granting the Southfield firm the cable TV rights, explained City Attorney Charles Lowe.

"What it does," said Lowe, "is give us a little more contractual rights."

Lowe also told commissioners that he had been informed by Alden president Harold Sharpley that the Plymouth application has been filed with the Federal Communications Commission and has been assigned a number. A hearing will follow.

Learning disability film, meeting set

PLYMOUTH Parents of children who are not mentally retarded or emotionally disturbed but who still have trouble learning in school are invited to view the film "Why Can't Billy Learn" which will be shown at Isbister School Wednesday, Feb. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Following the film will be a question and answer session with representatives from the Michigan Assn. of Children with Learning Disabilities (MACLD).

The school is located at 9200 Canton Center Rd. Speakers will be James Eubank, past president of MACLD, and Mrs. Barbara Vedder, learning disabilities consultant - supervisor with the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

Rifle, archery classes held

PLYMOUTH -- The Plymouth Rifle and Archery Club instruction classes for young persons between the ages of 12 and 17, are being held every Monday at the Youth building, Union and Dodge.

Sponsored by the Plymouth police department, this youth program requires a fee of $1 per person for the lessons. Rifle and archery classes are held from 7 to 8 p.m. and from 8 to 9 p.m.

2 nominated for Canton planning post

CANTON The Federation of Canton Homeowners submitted the names of two persons they would like considered to fill the vacancy on the township planning commission created by the recent resignation of Robert Padgett.

The federation supported the nomination of Robert Miller, a resident in the northwest sector, and David Anderson, a resident of Windsor Park subdivision. The federation letter supporting the two nominees stated that "it is long past time to begin to change the make-up of the planning commission to more accurately reflect the ideas and values of the newer and more numerous citizens of our township."

Both men were members of the Citizens Advisory Council which recently completed a six-month land use study. The council's recommendations were incorporated in the master land use plan developed by Township Planner Michael Manore.

Anderson's candidacy has also been supported by the Windsor Park Homeowners' Assn.

Miller has also been backed for the planning spot by the Northwest Canton Homeowners' Assn.

Larry Harris finishes basics

PLYMOUTH -- Pvt. Larry I. Harris, 17, of Plymouth has completed basic training at the U. S. Army Training Center, armor, Ft. Knox, Ky. The soldier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Harris of 11704 Riverside.

THERE'S NO OTHER DAY LIKE THURSDAY... EXCEPT MONDAY!

Beginning March 4, 1974, The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers will be published twice weekly, on Mondays and Thursdays. Both editions will be full-sized newspapers (not tabloids); both will carry local, in-depth news about your community; both will bring you full Classified sections— Want Ads from all areas we serve. And both will fit perfectly into your weekly schedule of events.

On Thursdays, for instance, you'll find your copy of The Observer & Eccentric filled with "things to do, places to go, people to see" for the coming weekend... and you'll find a complete round-up of news and feature stories concerning your hometown. On Mondays, complete coverage of weekend events— including detailed accounts of high school sports contests— will be there for the clipping and saving.

You'll be pleased with both editions, because when it comes to hometown news, there's no other paper like The Observer & Eccentric... and no other day like Thursday. Except Monday.

MRS. SYLVIA BROWN (left), of the Children's Leukemia Foundation, and Mrs. Vera Spooner and Mrs. Ruth Brown of Beta Sigma Phi sorority show some of the stuffed animals

Beta Sigma Phi members have made for young leukemia patients. (Observer photo by Maurie Walker)

Soft hearts, soft toys for leukemia patients

Young leukemia patients in Children's Hospital will get some charming new "friends" because of the efforts of women in the Xi Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Women in the chapter, residents of the Observer area, have been working recently on an assortment of stuffed animals for use by the Children's Leukemia Foundation of Michigan.

They will be presented to Mrs. Sylvia Brown of Farmington, director of the foundation, when she tells the chapter about work with the children at the Beta Sigma Phi meeting Feb. 12 in the home of Mrs. Marvel Steiger of Farmington.

Mrs. Brown also will receive from the women a check to cover the cost of a wheelchair.

"We use them to loan out without cost to families where there is a leukemia patient," she said.

"The stuffed animals are given to the children. At the hospital we have a closet full of toys, and when a child has to take a bone marrow test — it's quite a painful process — he gets to go to the closet to pick what he wants."

"Some of the larger stuffed animals I hold back to give to the children who are hospitalized with the disease. They use them as pillows and security blankets and really love them."

Mrs. Ruth Barr of Livonia, president of the local chapter that includes 18 members, and Mrs. Vera Spooner, service chairman, said, the group had chosen the Leukemia Foundation for its philanthropy this year after some of the members met Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Barr said Beta Sigma Phi members from other localities would be welcome to attend the meeting and hear about the work of the foundation.

Mrs. Brown has been working for years with the foundation, which aids both child and adult leukemia patients and their families.

"Counseling is a big part of our work," she said, "and so is visiting children in the hospital. That's not easy — our children are all such beautiful youngsters and so intelligent."

She said that while people in the foundation never talk of "cures" for leukemia, there have been many remissions that have lasted a number of years. "A remission is a case in which all signs of the disease disappear," she said. "Since it's only in the last couple of decades that the combinations of drugs used can effect such a change, we really have no way of knowing if it is permanent and thus we don't say cure."

"In counseling we try to give hope without giving too much hope."

Mrs. Brown said she and her husband have been active in the foundation since its inception a number of years ago.

"We are the only original members still active," she said, "but many others have joined since then. I just can't let go until a cure has been found."

The foundation, now a United Fund service, has headquarters at 17801 W. Seven Mile, Detroit.

Mrs. Brown said more help always is needed. More groups like the Beta Sigma Phi chapter, for instance, might like to make dolls and stuffed animals or contribute other toys, she suggested, because "people are very generous at Christmas but our needs go on all year."

She also said organizations and individuals might like to help start a new chapter, donate blood, buy Christmas cards or give memorial tributes to advance research.

Scandinavian debutante ball to introduce 3 girls

A debutante ball, complete with grand march and plenty of dancing, is in the immediate future for three young women in Observerland.

Denise Berry of Farmington Hills, Leslie Gasaway of Plymouth and Jane Kemppainen of Redford Township will be among the guests of honor for the second Scandinavian Debutante Ball, scheduled Saturday, Feb. 9, in the grand ballroom of Cobo Hall in Detroit.

A dozen debts from all over the metropolitan area will be introduced at the ball sponsored by the Detroit chapter of the American -

Scandinavian Foundation.

Two other Observer area residents active in preparations for the ball are Harri M. Virjo of Redford Township, consul of Finland for the Detroit area and chapter president, and Mrs. Rigmor Cuolahan of Livonia, who represents those of Norwegian descent on the ball committee.

"We think our Scandinavian girls are very pretty," was the reason Mrs. Cuolahan gave for beginning the tradition on the Saturday before Valentine's Day last year.

"Last year we had 500 people attending and we hope to have even more for the 1974 ball. When I saw the girls in their white dresses during the grand march last year, I just wished I had a daughter."

"It sounds like fun," said Miss Gasaway, one of the prospective debts. "These days you just don't get many chances to dress up."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gasaway, she is of Norwegian and Swedish descent and a Schoolcraft College student. She graduated from Stevenson High School in Livonia.

Miss Berry is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Tawyea and her nationality background is Norwegian. She is a graduate of Franklin High in Livonia and is studying at Mercy College of Detroit.

Miss Kemppainen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kemppainen, graduated from Thurston High School and works for the Ford Motor Co. while studying part-time at the University of Michigan Dearborn campus.

Consul Virjo said last year's ball made enough profit so that the foundation was able to award a local college scholarship to add to the assortment of grants offered by the American - Scandinavian Foundation across the country.

Television newsman Carl Cederberg will introduce the debutantes and their escorts before the dinner, and when dancing begins each deb will have the first dance with her father. The evening will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m.

During the grand march, debutantes will receive silver bracelets with the foundation emblem, a Viking ship.

Several prizes donated by foundation members will be awarded.

These include a sculpture by Marshall M. Fredericks, local Scandinavian sculptor who has won world renown, a painting by artist John Miller and a hand-knit Norwegian sweater from Mrs. Cuolahan.

One-way bottles called big waste of energy

BY MARGARET MILLER

Banning the no-return beverage bottle in Michigan would be a major method of saving energy, contends a Redford Township environmentalist.

Robert Magnuson, Wayne State University graduate and a member of the Detroit Area Coalition for the Environment (DACE), is urging support for Michigan House Bill 4926.

"Recycling is not the answer when it comes to bottles and cans," Magnuson declared. "It takes more energy to recycle than to throw away a throwaway, and a great deal more than to use a returnable bottle."

Magnuson said the bill has been opposed strenuously by bottling industry spokesmen and unionists as a measure that would hurt business and cause unemployment.

"But unemployment has not been a tremendous problem in Oregon, where such a bill has been in force more than a year," he said, "and now in the energy crisis we must consider that aspect as opposed to the convenience of no-return bottles and cans."

Magnuson quoted figures which were compiled by Bruce Hannon of the University of Illinois after a detailed study of use of various drink containers in his state.

The Hannon figures also were used by David Putt of the DACE in recent testimony on the "bottle bill" before the House committee on consumers and agriculture.

Hannon, Magnuson said, figured the cost of producing a returnable bottle and cleaning and reusing it eight times as opposed to a throwaway bottle manufactured, returned to a recycling center and used in producing new glass. He also figured a can going the same route.

The figures, Magnuson pointed out, show that while a returnable bottle costs nine cents to produce as opposed to four cents for a no-return bottle and five cents for a can, the cost in energy is much greater.

Measured in British Thermal Units (BTUs), Magnuson

m. m. memos

I have to admit to a great deal of interest in the drive for returnable bottles in our throwaway society.

It's because I've concluded on more than one occasion that our house has room for either the empty bottles or me.

As one who rarely sips a carbonated beverage — I just don't happen to like any of them — I find I expend a great deal of private energy dealing with the supply and the containers of the same.

We used to make regular trips to a recycling center, but I recently figured out, without the aid of a university expert, that the trip isn't worth the gasoline. I did appreciate having my diagnosis confirmed in the above news story, though.

So now, even though we let our church have our metal cans for recycling, the trash volume in front of our house on collection day is increased considerably.

We also have been patronizing the independent company that has a local outlet for selling a wide variety of drinks in returnable bottles.

I really appreciate this firm and try to ignore the occasional grumbles at home that it's product isn't "the real thing."

And I keep my dream of a real solution, offering it absolutely free to some clever inventor who would like to clean up — for himself as well as the environment.

How about producing all the popular varieties of soft drinks in a tablet to dissolve? Then I might even find room for me at home.

Y sets 7th clinic

The Northwest branch YWCA will begin its seventh Self - Start Clinic Monday, Feb. 25, at 9:30 a.m. in its building at 25840 Grand River, Redford Township.

The program, in three Monday sessions, is designed to provide ideas on employment, education and volunteer work for women interested in investing time outside the home.

Lee Santiwan, former employment adviser with the Oakland University Continuum Center and more recently a management trainer, will be speaker for the opening session.

Her talk will draw upon concepts of Transactional Analysis and will be titled "Women - Fairy Tales or Reality."

The second session, on March 4, will be conducted by a panel of experts who will consider employment opportunities in specific fields and give tips on assessing one's image and taking tests.

The closing session March 11, to be titled "Value Clarification," will be conducted by Mrs. Sam Florek and other members of the Schoolcraft College counseling department.

It is intended to help each woman decide which choice is best for her.

The fee for the three - session workshop is $1.50, and the usual YW membership fee requirement will not apply. The deadline for registration, by calling the YW, is Feb. 21.

Low income families could benefit by welfare proposal

A plan to benefit low-income Americans, regardless of whether they work, whether they have children or whether the family head is male or female, is being prepared by U.S. Rep. Martha Griffiths (D-Detroit).

The congresswoman outlined her ideas on "The Family, Poverty and Welfare Programs" in a recent appearance in Southfield before the Michigan Inter-professional Association on Marriage, Divorce and the Family.

"I strongly believe in, and will soon propose, a major welfare plan to rationalize the many different programs offering income support to Americans," she said.

Benefits would be paid, she added, to "two-parent families as well as one-parent families," and will give consideration to the fact that "very few people are totally without income-earning opportunities."

"So to assure that every family with kids receives an income of $5,000 a year, we do not have to set benefits that high," she went on. "We should regard welfare as supplementary to self-help, not a total source of support."

Rep. Griffiths, citing many changes in American family life that she said have brought "total confusion" in the past decade, said there is one family-structure fact that seems to stand out.

"The two-parent family, whether black or white, is making economic progress," she stated. "The fatherless family, whether black or white, is not."

MARTHA GRIFFITHS

And, she added, there is no question that welfare itself has contributed to "the rise of fatherless families."

"As you know, two-parent families are largely excluded from Aid For Dependent Children," she stated. "I have often said that the ways and means committee, which handles welfare legislation, should be called the committee against marriage. Intact families can be at a terrible financial disadvantage relative to female-headed families at the same level."

Translating into dollars and cents, she said an AFDC mother in Detroit, with three children in school, receives benefits worth $5,300 a year, but a working man with a wife and three children and earning that amount would net only $4,500 after taxes.

The plan she proposes, she added, would permit family heads to work and still receive some benefits and thus encourage families to stay together.

It also, she said, has two design features "that I believe deserve careful consideration."

The first is "that benefits for an adult should be higher than for a child," and the second is that "benefits at some point should rise only by a token amount for additional children."

"People that have limited the size of their families for economic reasons should not be taxed excessively to pay for larger ones," she stated.

Rep. Griffiths also said the problems of families being raised by women alone are compounded by the fact that many jobs available to women are low-paying and they are "increasingly reluctant" to take them.

One solution, she added, "is to create bureaucratic sanctions requiring them to work, but this strategy has not been very successful in the past."

"Another, more positive strategy," she said, "is to vigorously attack sex discrimination in employment, in training, and in education. I support this. For years, I have fought for the Equal Rights Amendment, and soon it will be a reality."

"Some of us will like men to open doors for us. Others may want to open their own doors. But none of us wants the door closed in her face."

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN will be the honoree at a community wide dinner Wednesday, Feb. 13 in the grand ballroom of Cobo Hall sponsored by Histadrut's Public Service Council and the American Trade Union Council for Histadrut. Proceeds of the $50-a-plate dinner will go to the scholarship fund of the Histadrut's Afro - Asian Institute in Israel. Dinner reservations may be made through the council's office at 28555 Middle Belt Rd., Farmington.

Committee preparing for 1974 opera season

The Metropolitan Opera Company's annual visit to Detroit will be one month earlier than in previous years, April 29 - May 4.

Henry Ledyard, vice president and general manager of the Detroit Grand Opera Assn., sponsor of the Metropolitan season, told members of the women's committee of the Grand Opera Assn. this week, "The Metropolitan's week at the Masonic Temple promises to be one of the most exciting seasons ever."

"Three of the seven operas are new productions, and the week will feature such world-renowned artists as Marilyn Horne and Joan Sutherland."

The new productions will be Rossini's "L'Italiana in Algeri," with Marilyn Horne; Verdi's "I Vespri Siciliani," with Christina Deutekom and Franco Tagliavini; and Offenbach's "Les Contes d'Hoffman" with Joan Sutherland.

The mail of tickets is being handled by the women's committee, and those wishing to purchase tickets should send a request for ticket information, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, to the Detroit Grand Opera Assn., 20 East Jefferson Ave., Detroit 48226.

The committee is also in the midst of a membership drive in an effort to continue the Met's annual performances in Detroit.

Bringing in new members and their annual $5 membership fee are hoped to raise several thousand dollars each year to help defray the continued rising costs associated with bringing the Met to Detroit and the increasing operating expenses connected with the committee's programs.

"Dues-paying members," said Mrs. Elliott M. Estes, general chairman of the 1974 opera season, "will receive for the first time a membership directory, which will include a complete listing of fellow members as well as timely information about opera, the Detroit Grand Opera Assn., and the many programs of the women's committee."

The Detroit Grand Opera Assn. is trying to raise an additional $66,000 to contribute to the Met's performances in Detroit. Last year the Met lost more than $1 million on its touring operation, and the $66,000 is intended to help alleviate the Met's tour deficit this year.

The operas and principal performers for the Met's spring visit here are:

April 29: (opening night benefit performance) "L'Italiana in Algeri," with Marilyn Horne, Shirley Love, Theodor Uppman, Fernando Corena, and Gabor Otvos conducting.

Newlyweds live in Marquette

Mr. and Mrs. William Paul Douglass, wed recently in a candlelight ceremony in Angelica Lutheran Church in Allen Park. Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Douglass of Kendallwood Avenue, Farmington Hills, are her husband's parents.

Mrs. Douglass is the former Elaine Lynn Nagy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Nagy of Allen Park. Mr. and Mrs. L.T. Douglass of Kendallwood Avenue, Farmington Hills, are her husband's parents.

For the wedding, the bride wore a sateen gown with long sleeves, chapel train and white lace trim. She also fashioned her camelot cap and edged her finger-tip illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of sweetheart roses, daisy mums and baby's breath.

Laura Manera of Allen Park was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Linda Nagy of Trenton, cousin of the bride, and Jane Blaszkowski of Ramsay, Mich.

All wore royal blue velvet gowns with white lace trim and blue velvet bows in their hair. The honor attendant had yellow roses in her bouquet and the bridesmaids carried baby's breath with white daisy mums.

Richard Douglass of Indianapolis was best man for his brother and the guests were seated by Don Stock of Walled Lake and Don Chapman of Farmington Hills.

A reception in the Park Colony Club in Allen Park followed the ceremony, and the couple honeymooned in Canada and Upper Michigan before returning to the NMU campus.

Rochon - Culik vows are spoken

University of Michigan students Mary Ellen Culik and Thomas R. Rochon exchanged marriage vows in a recent evening ceremony in Westminster Presbyterian Church in Detroit.

Dr. George S. Sweet officiated, assisted by Father Bernard Rochon, S.M., uncle of the bridegroom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Culik of Mayfield Avenue, Livonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Rochon of Trancrest Avenue, Livonia, are the bridegroom's parents.

The bride wore an ivory gown with a pearl-trimmed bodice and an elbow-length veil. She carried yellow roses and baby's breath.

Her attendants were Jane Crawford of Northville, matron of honor; Diane Culik of Ann Arbor and Lori Rochon of Plymouth, bridesmaids; and Jennifer Tipton, flower girl.

Assisting the bridegroom were Yale Silverman of Livonia, best man, and Hugh Culik of Ann Arbor, Kirk Culik of Livonia and Timothy Rochon of Livonia, ushers.

MRS. THOMAS ROCHON (Mary Ellen Culik)

After a church parlor reception, the couple traveled to Toronto.

They will live in Ann Arbor, where the new Mrs. Rochon will complete her senior year at U-M and her husband will continue his graduate studies there.

League stages fashion show

A fashion show with clothes by B-Lynn of Farmington will highlight the Feb. 13 meeting of the Redford Suburban League.

The league will meet at noon in Vladimirs, Grand River and Eight Mile, Farmington.

Aletha Triola, program chairman of the month, will be the commentator. Models will be league members Marge Sherman, Nanci Naudi, Betty Nevins, Val Speros, Kitty Flynn, Kathy Panek, Carol Phaneuf, Mary Urban, and Ginny Burkhardt.

Center offers next series

Women in business, law and social work is the topic for the "lunchtime conversation" sponsored by the Center for Continuing Education of Women, Feb. 12, from noon to 2 p.m. in conference rooms four and five, Michigan League, Ann Arbor.

The informal discussion is planned especially for women who are considering how best to use their interests and skills.

A panel of women students will talk about their experiences in different academic programs and help to answer questions about the situation for women as students and in the job market.

The center's lunchtime conservation series continues March 12, with a discussion about women in biological and physical sciences.

Further information may be obtained from the Center for Continuing Education of Women, 330 Thompson, Ann Arbor.

Bottles

said Hannon found that the energy cost of returnable bottles is 19,220 per gallon of beverage, compared with 58,100 for throwaway bottles and 51,830 for cans.

"This means," the local environmentalist said, "that while we cut down highway speed to save energy we literally throw away a good percentage of what we save by using throwaway convenience containers for soft drinks and beer."

Magnuson said the Detroit Coalition for the Environment, first in the metropolitan area to operate a recycling center, had decided to close down that operation and instead put its work behind passage of House Bill 4926, which it considers the best of several "bottle bills" that have been introduced.

It provides, he said, that all carbonated drinks and beer, ale and other malt liquor be sold only in bottles upon which a deposit of 10 cents is paid, and that dealers be required to charge the deposit and redeem the bottles. There also is a provision for redemption centers to aid dealers with little storage space.

While total "resource recovery" proposals have drawn more attention, and the objections to the bottle bill have been more publicized, Magnuson insisted that "it's important for people to realize how much energy we waste in this way."

"The handwriting is on the wall," he added, "and we cannot go on indefinitely using energy for every whim. We face a choice. We have to decide which of many ways our available energy will be used."

"We're out to promote a healthy, realistic, mature look at the situation."

Magnuson also referred to the Oregon law, which he said had contributed greatly to reducing litter and had been accepted well by consumers and dealers.

"The effects on employment have been far less than predicted," he added.

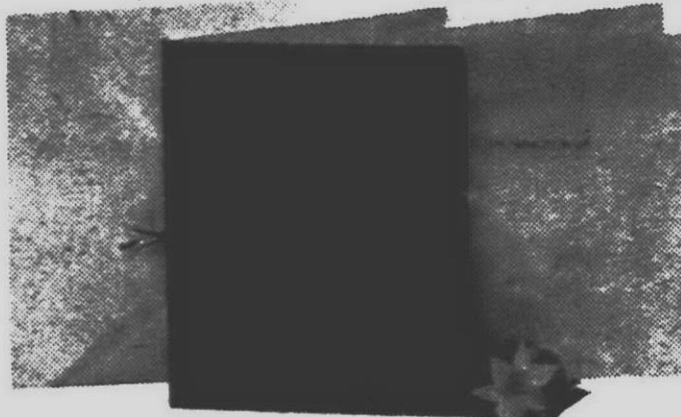

"We do have to consider the matter of jobs, but industry itself, for a variety of reasons including the energy crisis."

Magnuson said he had had conversation with State Rep. John Bennett (D-Redford) and had indications he looked favorably on the bottle bill.

He urged all interested to express their support to the representatives in their districts.

They plan to be married March 2.

Presidents to be feted

The Kenwood Women's Club will hold its annual presidents' day tea Thursday, Feb. 7, at 1 p.m. in the Lola Valley Masonic Temple, 25275 Five Mile, Redford Township. Leaders of women's organizations from all over the metropolitan area are invited. A program on Japanese flower arranging is planned.

Antiques are feature items

The women of St. John Episcopal Church, 11 Mile and Woodward, Royal Oak, will present an antique show and sale, Thursday and Friday, Feb. 14 and 15 from noon to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday, Feb. 16 from noon to 5 p.m.

There will be 22 dealers in the show with items such as Bennington ware, antique brass, copper, pewter, ivory, furniture and pottery. A continuous buffet will be available and a traditional country candy store will be a feature. There is free parking next to the church. Tickets, $1 each, will be available at the door.

OCC class is chilly

Several of his students, reports Oakland Community College associate professor Larry O'Keefe of Plymouth, really have their subject matter down cold.

They'd better. They're studying ice sculpture in the hospitality industry program O'Keefe teaches on the Orchard Ridge OCC campus, 27065 Orchard Lake Road, Farmington.

The class members' creations, including a seal, a Grecian urn, a swan and a basket of flowers, currently are in cold storage in the walk-in freezer that is part of the equipment used by students in the program.

They will be brought out for the international dinner planned on the campus in March and for the food service awards banquet later in the spring.

The chilly artistic participants include Bill Roysse of Pontiac, Peg Barber of Pontiac, John Hanson of Detroit and Mike Forbes of Detroit. Paul Friewall, who formerly taught ice carving at Orchard Ridge, also helped create the masterpieces currently on ice.

The Orchard Ridge program includes courses of either one or two years of study.

Ice-carving is one small facet of the course, which includes study and practical experience in commercial cooking, commercial baking, food service, restaurant management and hotel-motel management.

The art is an old one, although not well known or much practiced. Roman emperors are known to have had slaves rush molded snow from the mountains to chill and decorate the wine.

Today, the carvings are enjoying a new popularity for use at large parties or fancy restaurant buffets.

These are made by cutting out a rough form first with chain saws and then getting down to fine points with conventional sculpting tools.

Borin Brothers Ice Co. donated to OCC the large blocks of ice used by O'Keefe's class.

Health Saving Services will help you and your wife celebrate Valentine's Day together (alone)

If your wife is caring for an aged-infirm relative in your home — Health Saving Services will help you celebrate Valentine's Day with her. You can drop your relative off at one of our facilities after 6:00 p.m. Thursday, February 14, (where he will celebrate Valentine's Day with us) and pick him up Friday morning. You and your wife can spend a pleasant evening out, free of all responsibility for care. The cost of the overnight stay in the nursing home is just $15 for Valentine's Day, only.

League meets

The Planned Parenthood League Inc. will hold an annual meeting and luncheon at the Merrill Palmer Institute at noon, Thursday, Feb. 14.

PTG offers 'Mary, Mary'

The Plymouth Theater Guild will present its winter production, "Mary, Mary" Feb. 15, 16, 22 and 23, at 8 p.m. in Plymouth Middle School, Church at Main Street.

"Mary, Mary," a comedy by Jean Kerr, is the story of the romantic and financial misadventures of a recently divorced couple. It is directed by Andrew Hruska and produced by Kay Hruska.

The play stars Kris Cook as Mary and Jim Courtney as her husband Bob. Also featured in the cast are Diane Ball as Tiffany Richards, Larry Cook as Dirk Winston and Dennis Wrubel as Oscar Nelson.

Tickets will be available at the door, or by writing Plymouth Theater Guild, P.O. Box 451, Plymouth, 48170.

Art show set in Farmington

The Sholem Aleichem 11th annual art show and sale opens Friday, Feb. 8, and continues through Feb. 10, in the Labor Zionist Building, 28555 Middle Belt, Farmington.

Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Feb. 8; noon to 10 p.m. on Feb. 9; and 1 to 5 p.m. on Feb. 10.

Local artists, along with 150 professional Michigan artists, will display thousands of art works, representing all art media in all price ranges.

Highlights of the show will include "Meet the Artists" on Friday, and door prizes on Saturday.

Livonia Senior Citizens are busy making arts and crafts to be displayed during the Artrain visit to Livonia in early March.

In conjunction with Artrain activities, the senior citizens will sponsor a craft show Friday, March 8, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the Senior Citizens Building, Farmington at Five Mile, Livonia.

Some art forms to be displayed include weaving, macrame, spinning and quilting. All items will be for sale.

A flower arranging demonstration will also be held the same time as the art show in the next room at the Senior Citizens Building. It will be sponsored by the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, Livonia branch, from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

According to Bill Joyner, assistant to Mayor Edward McNamara and a member of the Artrain committee, local artists will have the opportunity to display their work in the Artrain.

Joyner says they are interested in displaying "unusual" art forms. Anyone interested can contact Joyner at the Livonia City Hall, or Sharon Brown, 35573 Leon, Livonia.

THIS BURCH MANN dancer will be performing along with Jimmie Rodgers in "Untamed Land," to be presented by the Plymouth Community Arts Council, Feb. 9, in Plymouth Salem High School. Tickets are on sale in the Detroit Edison office, Main St. at Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth. While in Plymouth, the dance company will hold auditions for local advanced dance students. For information contact Mrs. Gilbert Camp, 1455 Penniman, Plymouth.

Oakway features
Mischa Mischakoff

Mischa Mischakoff will be the guest performer for the Oakway Symphony's third concert Sunday, Feb. 10, at 4 p.m. in the Southfield-Lathrup High School Auditorium.

One of the great violin players of our time, Mischakoff will perform the Bruch violin concerto in G minor.

Before his long career as concertmaster with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, he was concertmaster with the NBC Symphony under Toscanini for 15 years. He served as concertmaster of the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski and went to Chicago while Frederick Stock was the conductor there.

The Oakway Symphony, an 85-member orchestra, was formed in 1972 with Francesco DiBlasi as conductor. Its first season in the Oakland-Wayne area opened with a concert in the Mercy High School in Farmington, with William Doppman as pianist, followed by a Birmingham concert in December with Paul Olefsky as guest cellist. DiBlasi will conduct the Feb. 10 concert, with Sidney Coleman as concertmaster.

MISCHA MISCHAKOFF, who will be performing with the Oakway Symphony Orchestra Feb. 10, in Southfield-Lathrup High School, will feel right at home as three of his present and former students are playing members of the orchestra. From left: Michael Olsen, who plays in the first violin section; Alyze Dreiling, also in the first violins and one of the youngest performers in the orchestra; Mischakoff; and Laura Sias.

Hemmer directs Cranbrook

Appointment of Wilfred J. Hemmer as director of Cranbrook Schools is announced by Arthur H. Kiendl, president of Cranbrook Educational Community.

Hemmer will continue as headmaster of Kingswood School Cranbrook.

As director of the schools, Hemmer is one of three divisional heads of Cranbrook Educational Community. The others are Wallace Mitchell, president of Cranbrook Academy of Art, and Robert Bowen, director of Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Cranbrook Schools are comprised of Kingswood School Cranbrook, Brookside School Cranbrook and Cranbrook School. They enroll approximately 1,200 boy and girl students from junior kindergarten through grade 12.

Hemmer came to Kingswood School Cranbrook as headmaster in 1971 after serving eight years as the founding headmaster of Lake Ridge Academy, North Ridgeville, Ohio. He has been an educational administrator and teacher for 19 years and has been a headmaster for the last 13 years.

Hemmer holds bachelor of science and master of arts in educational administration degrees from Washington University, St. Louis. He and his wife Patricia have three children. They reside in the headmaster's residence at Kingswood School Cranbrook.

Cranbrook Educational Community is an educational, scientific, nature, art and cultural center located on 300 acres in Bloomfield Hills.

Friedkin cancels
SC appearance

Film Director William Friedkin has cancelled his Feb. 12 appearance at Schoolcraft College due to personal health, according to his manager, Edgar Gross.

Friedkin, whose most recent movie is "The Exorcist," was scheduled to speak at Schoolcraft as part of the cultural and public affairs series.

According to David Heinzman, director of college relations at Schoolcraft, there will be no replacement for Friedkin and nothing has been scheduled for Feb. 12.

Heinzman said Harry Walker, Inc., the booking agency which scheduled Friedkin, notified the college of his cancellation last Monday.

In a letter Gross sent to the booking agency, he said Friedkin's doctor had advised him to cut down on his activities, which includes speaking engagements.

Gross said Friedkin was "under much stress" and in "weakened physical condition."

It was Friedkin's second cancellation of a speaking engagement at Schoolcraft. He had been scheduled to speak at the college last year, but cancelled because of problems during the filming of "The Exorcist."

C'ville schedules
Jazz concert

The Clarenceville Entertainment Series will put together four great jazz stars in a reunion concert Sunday, Feb. 17, at 8:30 p.m. in the Clarenceville High School auditorium, 20155 Middle Belt, Livonia.

Teddy Wilson on piano, Zoot Sims on saxophone, J.C. Heard on drums and Clarence Sherrill on bass will be reunited for an old fashioned jam session, which is jazz in its purest form.

The four have played together through the years while belonging to big band organizations.

The Schoolcraft College Jazz Ensemble will play a mini-concert the same evening beginning at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available at the auditorium box office on Thursdays and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. or may be ordered by mail by sending a check with a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Mrs. Bonnie Garrison, 20135 Renssler, Livonia, 48152.

Not long ago, Eckrich set out to prove you had a friend in the meat business. Well, here's further proof:
Right now, you can save up to 50¢ by buying different sizes of Eckrich smoked sausages. These are sausages so tasty they made Eckrich famous (no one else knows the smoking process). They're perfectly textured, with beautifully mild seasoning. And they're available three ways:
Little Smok-Y-Links, an ideal breakfast or snack sausage.
Smokees, the juicy frankfurter-sized sausages for sandwiches or grilling.
And old-fashioned bulk smoked sausage for dinnertime and casseroles. Get Eckrich smoked sausage and an appetizing refund now, just when you're hungry for both.
Along with the refund, we'll even send you some recipes for delicious, economical dishes made with sausages, making this an even better offer. But then, what are friends for?

IN TIMES LIKE THESE, YOU NEED A FRIEND IN THE MEAT BUSINESS.

Home security tips offered vacationers

Home security suggestions for families away on winter vacations have been listed by A.C. Purbrick, manager of the Detroit office of Pinkerton's, Inc., the nation's oldest and largest private security firm with local offices at Southfield.

He said professional burglars look first for houses with unshoveled walks and driveways. "Lack of footprints is a sure sign that nobody is home."

In view of the increase in winter vacations, he said it is especially important to give the impression that people are at home. The objective is to create uncertainty in a prowler's mind if he is considering forcible entry.

Purbrick specifically suggested the following precautions for homeowners about to go away for more than a day:

- Hire a local boy to shovel your walk and driveway in the event of snow. Also ask him to check the doors and windows if it snows; he will leave his footprints around the house.
- Encourage neighbors to use your driveway for overnight parking. This will make it appear that you are home.
- Use automatic timing or electric eye devices to operate several house lights at night. A lighted house is less apt to be burglarized than a darkened house.

• Leave curtains open, at least part way. Closed blinds make an effective screen for the burglar once he is inside.

• Close and lock all doors, including the garage, tool shed and other work shelters. Use pin tumbler, cylinder locks on outside entrances and safety latches on windows.

• The main entrance should be bolted as well as locked.

The desired objective is evidence of habitation and activity. Purbrick cited the case of an apprehended thief who admitted he would check the garbage cans before he was convinced the family was gone. One solution to empty cans is to take them indoors. "The homeowner's security plan should be thorough," he commented.

Besides these precautions, the Pinkerton's executive strongly recommends that vacationers notify their local police department of their departure date, date of return, and where they can be reached in case of an emergency.

Regular police or private security patrols then make a daily check of your property. Police should also be advised of other precautions you have taken - what automatic lighting devices are in use and where; who has been hired to shovel snow; and which neighbors have a key to the house (if any).

Among a list of don'ts, Pinkerton's includes the following:

- Don't leave a note conspicuously tacked up on the door for the milkman or some other services. Such a note is an open invitation to the would-be burglar.
- Don't let deliveries pile up on the door-step or in the mail box. Stop all deliveries, including the newspaper, dairy products and letters. The post office will hold mail, or it can be forwarded, or your neighbor can pick it up.
- Don't let the grounds go untended. In addition to snow removal, ask neighbors to watch for and remove such things as old newspapers or windblown refuse which can be tell-tale signs.

• Don't leave the keys in your car, even if it is in the garage. Remove keys and all glove compartment valuables and put them in a safe place.

• Don't leave your house key on the same ring as your car keys if you leave keys at home.

Ceiling insulation foils fuel shortage

A do-it-yourself approach to laying insulation in the ceiling of your home can bring comfort and financial savings.

The job is not difficult. It requires some basic measurements to determine how much insulation is necessary, materials to secure the insulation in place and a couple of hours to do the work.

If the homeowner chooses not to install the insulation himself, qualified insulation contractors can be called upon to do the project.

Before undertaking this task, the homeowner should first decide how much insulation is needed and what type best suits his needs.

Insulation should be purchased on the basis of its R-factor, an industry assigned rating that measures the product's resistance in keeping warm air in a home and cold air out. Consumers Power Company recommends ceiling insulation that would give the ceiling at least a Federal Housing Administration approved R-19 rating.

R-numbers are clearly marked on the insulation package. Don't choose blanket and batt insulation by thickness—it is the R-number that tells you how much you need and how well the insulation will perform.

To determine the amount of insulation needed to achieve the proper R-rating, simply divide that rating by the rating on the insulation product. If you want the desired R-rating of 19 and your choice of insulating material has an R-value of 3.70 per inch, you would need six inches of insulation to do an ideal job.

Insulation is available in three forms. Blanket insulation comes in long rolls of various widths and thicknesses. If your attic has long rows of interrupted spaces between joists, this kind of insulation is easily installed.

Insulating batts are normally made of the same material as blanket insulation, only cut into shorter lengths, usually four and eight feet. Batts are well suited for attics with cross-beaming or other obstructions that prevent long, uninterrupted rows.

Loose-fill insulation is in fiber or pellet form and can easily be poured from bags. Before you undertake your insulation project, these safety rules should be observed.

• Locate all electrical wiring in the attic and avoid unnecessary contact with it.

• Don't smoke while installing insulation. The insulation may be fireproof, but your attic probably isn't.

• Watch your step in an attic. If the construction is unfinished, the sharp ends of roofing nails are sticking out the inside surface of the attic roof. Also, install some sturdy planking on which to move about.

• Some insulation materials can irritate your skin, so you may want to wear protective rubber gloves.

• Install a light to illuminate your work area.

Your first step in insulating is to measure the attic and determine how much product you will need. Find the gross area of your attic floor by multiplying the length by the width. Then measure the joist spacing (this distance will be either 16 inches or 24 inches). If the distance is 16 inches, multiply your gross area by .90.

If the distance is 24 inches, multiply your gross area by .94.

Example: 1,200 feet of gross attic area with the joists spaced at 16 inches would require 1,080 square feet of blankets or batts (1,200 X .90 equal 1,080).

If you decide on loose-fill insulation, you'll find imprinted on the bag the number of square feet which can be covered at a given depth to attain a known "R" value. Make sure the depth remains constant. Otherwise you will cheat yourself on the total "R" value you want to reach.

The building supply center has delivered the insulation to your home and you are ready to begin.

Make sure there are no leaks in the roof by checking for water marks or stains in the attic. Water coming through the shingles will damage a good ceiling insulation job.

For loose-fill insulation, the water vapor barrier you install should be a polyethylene plastic sheet, at least two mils thick, which is laid down over the joists and ceiling before you pour any insulation.

For blankets and batts, the vapor barrier is usually attached to the insulating product.

The blanket rolls of insulation come tightly compacted from the factory. Don't unroll them until you start the job. Start at one end of the attic and unroll the blanket insulation into place in the space between the joists. Make sure the treated, vapor-barrier surface of each roll is in contact with the ceiling.

Be careful not to cover any air vents with insulation. Most vent openings are positioned so that air can flow in through one vent, over the insulation and out through the other vent.

Proper ventilation is an important part of the total insulation installation. It is recommended that you have a minimum of two square feet of inlet and two square feet of outlet for every 600 square feet of ceiling area.

Do all the long runs first, to conserve material and avoid joints and seams in the attic. The insulation blanket can be easily cut with a pair of scissors. Use the odds and ends to finish off the small spots.

With batt insulation, you also press the material into place between the ceiling joists. Again, make sure the vapor-barrier side is down. The same procedure is used to lay batt insulation as used with the blanket material, but make sure the batt pieces snugly butt up against one another, end to end, to minimize air leaks.

Pouring loose-fill insulation material is similarly easy. After a polyethylene sheet vapor barrier has been put in place, start at one end of the ceiling and start pouring. Make sure you follow the manufacturer's recommendations on proper thickness and coverage per bag.

The loose material can be leveled with a garden rake or wood slat. Small openings and corners should be hand-packed with loose-fill to make sure that all heat is retained and cold air kept out during the winter.

Properly installed insulation is a lifetime investment for your house. The savings in fuel costs can pay for the job in a few years.

For additional information on benefits gained from properly insulating your home, contact your local building supply store or call the local Consumers Power office for assistance.

EGYPTIAN BOXES, Ethiopian pottery, mounted animal horns, and sculptures of "the noble savage," revive the safari. To properly display the memorabilia of a fabulous vacation, Armstrong designer Louisa Cowan chooses Fable carpeting as a subtle but chic background.

3-month-old land sales act amended

Gov. William G. Milliken has signed into law Land Sales Act amendments aimed at clamping down on out-of-state developers on one hand, and easing up on small Michigan developers on the other.

The amendments to the three-month-old Land Sales Act are contained in HB-5205 (I.E.) and are intended to make the new law more realistic in its application.

The major change was the repeal of Section 33, intended originally by the Legislature as a "grandfather clause" — exempting from registration with the state those persons previously licensed as real estate agents.

Court opinions, however, determined that the language exempted out-of-state developers from the Michigan Land Sales Act — creating a situation in which developers of out-of-state property do not have to register with and provide information to the Department of Licensing and Regulation, while in-state developers do.

That situation is now eliminated.

The amendments also increase from 10 to 25 the number of lots, parcels or interests in land required before complying with the act — relieving the small developer from having to meet the extensive and complex filing requirements in the act.

It also raises to 50 the number of lots or parcels that can be exempted from the Land Sales Act in favor of control under the Subdivision Control Act.

Exemptions also are provided for condominiums in Michigan, currently regulated by the Department of Commerce; state agencies, cities, townships, counties or other governmental units, and mobile home parks.

HENRY M. HOGAN JR., co-publisher of The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, was elected president of the Michigan Press Assn. at its recent annual convention in East Lansing. Other officers: Philip L. Richards, Alpena News, president-elect; Melvin E. Bleich, Romeo Observer, vice president; Dan Ryan, Kalamazoo Gazette, treasurer; and Elmer E. White, executive secretary.

Business brevities

James R. Erickson of Farmington has assumed the duties of director of public affairs for the Michigan Milk Producers Assn., which will include work in legislative matters.

Erickson, 32, was director of information for the MMPA for four years before taking a post as director of communications for Associated Milk Producers, Inc., in San Antonio last June. He left that in December to return to Michigan.

Erickson is a native of Danville, Ill., and a graduate of the University of Illinois.

Appointment of Edward M. Gray of Livonia as controller of the national parts distribution center of American Motors Corp. in Milwaukee was announced recently.

Gray will be responsible for financial and accounting activities relating to distribution of service-related parts for AMC. He had been supervisor of cost and price analysis.

Gray holds bachelor of science and master's degrees from the University of Detroit. He and his family will move to the Milwaukee area in the near future.

William P. Scott, president of the Adistra Corp. of Plymouth, has announced appointment of Frank Sciutto of Westland to the position of director of data processing. Sciutto recently served as a systems manager for Gar Wood.

It also has been announced that Tom Kiley has been promoted from general production manager to general manager of Adistra's Sampson-Hill Division. Kiley succeeds J. Roland (Bud) Hill, who recently resigned.

Adistra is a marketing communication service organization with facilities in Plymouth and Northville. Its three divisions are DSI, Scott Phillips and Sampson-Hill.

Robert J. Russell Sr. of 28818 Kirkside Lane, Farmington Hills, has been promoted to property director of the Michigan region by the Allstate Insurance Companies.

Making his seventh promotion since joining the company in 1956, Russell will serve as regional representative in charge of overseeing property claim handling. He also will direct the training of property adjusters.

Richard T. Barber of 27289 Arden Park Circle, Farmington, has been promoted to division manager of the west central division in Johnson & Johnson's Health Care Division. Headquarters are in Fairview Heights, Ill.

Barber joined Johnson & Johnson in 1961 as a sales representative and most recently served as assistant Great Lakes division manager. He is a graduate of St. Bonaventure University and shortly will move with his family to Illinois.

Livonians gain promotions

Benjamin H. Paddock III, president of City National Bank of Detroit, has announced the promotion of two Livonia residents: Jack R. Knapp to assistant vice president in the branch division and George E. Pisarkiewicz to assistant cashier in the metropolitan division.

Knapp joined City National Bank in 1967 as an assistant branch manager and was promoted to branch manager in 1970. In 1972, he was promoted to assistant cashier and appointed to officer-in-charge of CNB's main office branch in the City National Bank Building.

With this promotion, Knapp became regional manager in the branch division, responsible for the overall operation of seven branches. He graduated from Ferris State College with a BS degree in business administration, and is a member of the American Institute of Banking.

Pisarkiewicz joined CNB in September 1972 as a member of the management group and administrative assistant in the metropolitan division.

He has had several years experience in operations and administration, including 12 years in banking. Pisarkiewicz attends the University of Detroit and is a member of the American Institute of Banking.

U-M, MSU say seniors' job chances are good

Ann Arbor recruiting still heavy

ANN ARBOR The energy crisis may dim what had been a bright outlook for this year's job-hunting college graduates. Still, more openings will be available this spring than last.

"We thought recruiting would be up 18 per cent this year. The extent of the energy shortage may cause us to revise the prediction downward. But that still represents a healthy increase over 1973 recruiting on this campus," says Evert W. Ardis, director of the Career Planning and Placement (CPP) Office at the University of Michigan.

In 1973-74, business recruiting will be more than 38 per cent higher than in 1970-71, the lowest year for recruiting visits at the U-M in the last decade, Ardis notes.

"Despite the energy crisis and talk in some sectors of a business recession, we are very optimistic about the job opportunities for the class of 1974."

William R. Audas, an associate director of CPP, predicts that if the fuel crisis becomes more severe, U-M's graduating class may be hurt more than seniors at some other universities.

"Our students depend heavily on the auto industry in Detroit for jobs when they graduate," Audas comments. "If the situation gets bad for Detroit, it will be reflected in the number of jobs offered to our students."

So far, however, no recruiters have cancelled their U-M visits due to the energy concern. Ardis says this is a sign that businesses do not plan to modify their hiring even if faced with a fuel crisis.

"Most students will get one of their top three choices for jobs this," Ardis estimates. "There is a feeling of optimism now that we haven't experienced in this office since the late 1960s."

CPP offers assistance mainly to liberal arts and education students. Some of the U-M schools and colleges - law and engineering, for example - have their own placement offices.

For would-be teachers, the situation is less encouraging, says Kathryn A. Flynn, senior career coordinator at CPP. She adds that a few more teaching openings are available this year than in the past, but not many.

"We hit bottom last year," she says. "Now, a few systems - Miami and Fairfax, Va., for example - that haven't interviewed here since 1970 have scheduled visits. That's an encouraging sign."

"But the graduating teachers will still have to search hard for jobs, and be flexible about location and salary if they are going to get placed," Mrs. Flynn observes.

Commenting on minorities hiring, Ardis says that "nationally, tremendous progress has been made in opening employment to all people in the last 10 years. In this office, it's now apparent that the student with the necessary skills will be hired, regardless of color or sex."

EAST LANSING Employers are actively recruiting this year's college graduates despite threats of economic recession, according to a survey conducted by Michigan State University's Placement Services.

The annual recruiting trends survey indicates that employers have taken a "wait and see" approach regarding the effect of the energy crisis on their business, says Jack Shingleton, placement director.

The 431 employers surveyed indicated that there will be an increase over last year in the number of college grads hired in addition to salary increases of four to five per cent.

Employers stressed the need for technical and applied skills, says Shingleton. The academic majors with highest demand according to the survey are accounting, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, business administration, industrial engineering, finance, chemical engineering, marketing and civil engineering.

Even elementary and secondary education and the utilities, which leveled off and/or dropped in recent years, are beginning to show a slight increase in demand for college graduates, says Shingleton.

In addition to analyzing the latest trends in hiring for the nation's employers the survey examines such areas as minority and female hiring, goals, the mobility of college graduates and what criteria employers use for selecting the grads they hire.

When asked to list the three most important things they consider when hiring college grads, "personality" headed the list, followed by "knowledge of subject material," and "previous work related experience." Grades were the fifth item on the list.

The top four reasons for NOT hiring graduates were: Lack of goals and motivation, poor communication skills, lack of aggressiveness, and lack of proper academic background.

On the other hand, employers felt that once hired today's graduates make better employees than those of five years ago because they are "better informed," "academically stronger," "more appreciative of their jobs" and "more realistic."

Employers indicated a need for colleges and universities to solve the current oversupply of college graduates by encouraging students to complete technical or skills training rather than working towards a four-year degree. They also stressed the need for more work-related experiences during college.

Additionally, emphasis was also placed on the importance of providing faculty with more contact with the prospective employers of their graduates.

In pointing out the weaknesses of college placement operations the employers cited "insufficient screening of applicants," "lack of counseling of students for interviews," and "disorganized placement operations" as the major obstacles to effective contacts with students.

Almost half of the employers surveyed indicated that they will "actively search out and consider minority candidates." About 170 firms indicated that they would take similar action when recruiting women.

The majority of firms in both cases said that they would "consider all candidates on the same basis."

Miss Teen Ager pageant lists 12 girls from area

Twelve area girls already have been chosen to participate in the Miss Michigan Teen Ager Pageant to be held March 15 and 16 at the Detroit Hilton Hotel.

The girls, all 14 to 16 years old, include Sharon DeBono of Livonia; Carmen Eshaki of Southfield; Teresa Furlong of Westland; Debra Lynn Grass of Southfield; Diane Margolis of Livonia; Laurie Ann Quigley of Livonia; LaDonna M. Reddington of Livonia; Debbie Rhone of Livonia; Mary Ann Riggs of Livonia; Clare Teresa Tully of Farmington Hills; Laurie Lynne Watsell of Westland; and Mary Ellen Wojtan of Livonia.

At the state level, scholarships will be awarded to finalists, and the winner will also receive a six-day expense paid trip to Atlanta, Ga., to compete with other state winners for the title of Miss National Teen Ager.

In the national finals, cash scholarships amounting to $10,000, a new car and a trip abroad will be awarded.

All Michigan girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are eligible to compete. Judging will be based on scholastic achievements, civic contributions, poise, personality and appearance. There is no talent or swimsuit competition.

Applications may be obtained by writing the National Teen Ager Pageant, Box 406, Rockton, Ill., 61072. Applications must be returned to the pageant office by Feb. 13.

Madonna's enrollment at new high

Madonna College enrollment for the second term, which began Jan. 7, increased to 1,064 students, according to Sister Mary Angelis, college registrar. This is 5.2 per cent over the fall enrollment and an all-time high at the Livonia college.

"This is unusual," Sister Angelis noted. "With several students dropping out and a smaller market of available incoming students, the winter term does not often increase. It has never happened before at Madonna."

Factors credited with influencing the increase are many law enforcement officers working on criminal justice degrees, child care training programs, flexibility of class hours, and personalized attention to adults returning to education.

The enrollment of veterans at Madonna has increased markedly, with 240 in the current term as compared to 50 at the same time last year. This is Madonna's second year as a coeducational institution.

Plymouth Salem crushes Bentley, 63-56

DRIVING IN FOR TWO POINTS is Plymouth Salem's Dave Prueter who paced the Salem attack in a 63-56 victory over Bentley. (Observer photo by Harry Mauthe)

By FRED DeLANO
Balanced front line strength always has been one of the most reliable keys to basketball success, and Plymouth Salem showed why - in a 63-56 triumph over Livonia Bentley which kept the Rocks on top in the Suburban Eight.

These were the statistics for Plymouth's starting front threesome as the Rocks ran their league record to 7-1 and their mark for the season to 12-2.

For Center Eric Agardy (6-9) it was 12 points and 15 rebounds. Forward Jim Ellinghausen (6-6) pumped in 14 points and added 12 rebounds. His running mate, 6-5 Bruce Johnson, put 12 points on the board and was good for 13 rebounds.

The trio's 40 rebounds alone were enough to spell Bentley's doom, the Bulldogs getting only 24 for their entire squad.

Bentley's scoring punch up front saw starters 6-5 Randy

Like getting five points, 6-1 Don Kegley 10 and 6-2 Eric Bracke six.

Hampered by Plymouth's superior height, and with the shots just not dropping, it actually was Guard Alex Charns the paced the Bulldog offense with 15 points. However, this was pretty much offset when reserve guard Dave Prueter came off the Plymouth bench to notch 13 points himself.

A decisive third quarter in which Plymouth outscored

Bentley 12-4 after a ding-dong first half gave the Rocks an edge the Bulldogs could not overcome as they fell to 4-4 in the Sub 8 and 7-6 overall.

After an 11-11 first period, Plymouth popped in 21 points in the second stanza to Bentley's 18 for a 32-29 halftime lead. Then someone put a cover over the bucket for Bentley.

The Bulldogs missed the first 14 shots they took in the third quarter, ending up with two out of 18. By that time the Rocks had things their own way as Agardy, Ellinghausen and Johnson took command of the boards.

Bentley's 23-19 edge in the fourth period didn't materialize until after the Rocks had pushed to leads ranging from 12 to 15 points.

Along with their big advantage on the boards, the Rocks had their best night of the season at the foul line as they canned 19 of 21 attempts to Bentley's 14 of 21. From the field the Rocks had a one goal advantage, 22-21, with neither team particularly red hot sharp.

"Plymouth has to be pretty much in," conceded Bulldog coach John Farrar regarding the Suburban Eight race even as he praised his own boys for their hustle and "for putting out terrifically."

With six games to go for all clubs, the Rocks are 7-1, Edsel Ford 6-2, Dearborn and Allen Park 5-3, Bentley 4-4, Redford Union and Belleville 2-6 and Trenton 1-7. Friday it will be Belleville at Plymouth, Bentley at Edsel Ford, Dearborn at Trenton and Allen Park at RU.

The way things are going, the pivotal game of the season is likely to be Edsel Ford's invasion of Plymouth next Tuesday, Feb. 12.

Churchill tops Harrison, 48-36

Churchill head mentor Pat Montagano labeled it the "worst game of the season" and at the same time thanked "someone" for having enough to salvage a win out of something so bad.

After trailing, 6-5, at the end of one quarter and taking a slim, 19-18 margin at the half, the No. 1 team in Observerland put enough together to topple Farmington Harrison, 48-36.

It was Churchill's sixth straight win since losing to Franklin and 12th victory overall. The Chargers also boast a perfect 6-0 Western Six mark.

On the other side, it was defeat No. 11 for Bob Sutter's Hawks against only two wins.

"It was just a horrible ball game," commented Montagano. "Nothing went right. Both clubs started off with technicals because of wrong numbers listed in the score-book."

Four points by Bob French and a bucket by Bob Mason got Harrison off to a 6-5 first quarter edge as Churchill could only hit two of eight from the field. Churchill mustered 14 points in the second quarter to take a 19-18 advantage at the half.

The Chargers then took off in the third quarter, 13-4, and 16-14 in the final period to

Franklin cagers survive John Glenn scare, 66-55

Franklin almost returned to its old habit of basketball giveaway.

With seven minutes remaining, the Patriots were sitting on a comfortable, 50-36 lead over John Glenn. In a matter of five minutes, the Rockets were within one at 52-51.

But the Glenn spark ran out of fuel and Franklin pulled out enough at the end to win 61-55 and remain in a tie for the Northwest top spot with Oak Park at 5-1.

For Franklin it was win number nine against three defeats and for Glenn it was its fourth loss in 15 outings.

With 1:50 left in the opening quarter, two free throws by Brian Kaluzny gave Glenn an 11-10 lead. Kevin Kaseta then picked up a hot hand for Franklin and the Patriots sported to an 18-14 lead.

Glenn fought back to tie it at 20-all, two minutes into the second on a basket by Kaluzny and free throws by Jeff Brittain.

That's when the Patriots caught fire and connected on 11 of 15 shots from the floor, scoring 22 points in six minutes to grab a 42-26 lead. Jamie Knapp was the sparkplug in the Patriot attack with 10 of his 14 points.

The third quarter saw both clubs cool off but Glenn mustered a 10-6 point advantage while Franklin's Kaseta, the area's No. 1 scorer, was on the bench nursing four fouls.

Glenn got hot from the line early in the fourth. Steve Hengesbaugh made good two charity tosses and Kaluzny popped in four straight and the lead was sliced to 50-42.

After Tim Neuman hit a two-pointer for Franklin, Jim Kholman hit five straight points for Glenn. Kaluzny added a field goal and Hengesbaugh popped in a bucket to make it 52-51 with 2:13 remaining.

Franklin finally regained its poise. Kaseta and Ken Fry hit and Glenn never got closer than three thereafter.

Franklin finished 26 of 46 for 56 per cent from the floor and Glenn 20 of 51 for 39 per cent. Rebounding saw Franklin a 37-19 winner, Kaseta and Keith Blazaitis hauling in 12 each. "Defense was our key," commented Franklin Coach Bob Visser. "We had to slow things down after Kaseta was out with foul trouble. We stopped taking the ball to the basket and began overplaying. We were just hurting ourselves."

"But I never felt at any stage that we were going to lose this one," he added. "Now Oak Park has to come at us after playing Glenn this week."

Franklin is at Garden City East Friday.

Trojans tumble, 61-40

West Bloomfield broke open a slim, 32-28 halftime contest, with 17 points in the third quarter while holding Clarenceville to two points in that quarter to pave the road to a 61-40 Wayne Oakland cage victory. It was Clarenceville's 13th loss against a solo Brighton victory.

Clarenceville trailed after one quarter, 16-9, and fought back to slice it to four at the half, 32-28.

That's when West Bloomfield started changing from a zone to man-to-man and the Trojans just couldn't adjust. Clarenceville hit only one of eight from the floor in the third stanza. Brian Luka popped in the only basket and West Bloomfield had a 49-30 margin going into the fourth.

West Bloomfield took the fourth, 12-10.

The Trojans finished 15 of 40 from the floor for 37 per cent and West Bloomfield, 21 of 44 for 47 per cent. Luka was high man for Clarenceville with 11 points. Box score:

RU got by Highland Park in its opening round, 36 - 21, and Thurston bested Stevenson, 43 - 17.

The two winners then fought it out to a 2-1 tie while Stevenson tipped Highland Park in the consolation match, 30 - 27. For RU, the meet pushed its overall mark

Turf Tips, Quips

By Doc Minard

Michigan's harness racing scene didn't change Monday even though the management shifted from Jackson - at Northville to that of Northville Downs under the direction of John Carlo and his associates.

But one thing became clear immediately. Those who love to watch the pacers and trotters will have to be content with the conventional two-shaft sulkes for the remainder of the year. A vote of horsemen at the 'Downs showed little if any inclination to use the controversial single shafts and the problem was eliminated in a hurry.

Managements - at Hazel Park and Wolverine Raceways have already indicated they want no part of the revolutionary single shafts which already have been barred in Canada by a vote of the horsemen.

Thus, promoters of the idea are left with little more than dreams of bringing something to the sport that may have brought faster times, better and more dangerous racing. It was the last mentioned that finally resulted in the bans in North America.

Northville Downs opened its 39-night meeting with a crowd of 3,147 wagering $316,846 - much better than the usual Monday opening night and partially due to the fact that the 'Downs had the only game operating in the area, since Windsor is dark on Mondays.

The head - to - head competition started Tuesday and it will be interesting to see how the tracks compare for the remainder of their meetings.

Racing Secretary Harry Peterson arranged a stand-out program for the opener, one so evenly matched that nary a longshot scored during the evening. Biggest payoff on a single race came in the third when Dandy's Lad,

A driving layup where the final dribble bounced off the foot and out of bounds cost North Farmington a basketball game.

After a three-point play by Jim Riley pushed Garden City East to a 53-52 lead with 21 seconds remaining, North drove down court and off the foot it went and East had won a come from behind battle.

It was North's third straight setback in the Northwest loop and its fourth in its last five games.

For Billy Joe Young's East Panthers, it was victory No. 6 in 13 games and its second triumph in the Northwest.

"North kept pulling away from us but our kids kept their composure and stayed right in there," said Young whose Panthers host league leading Franklin Friday.

East hit 25 of 58 from the field for 43 per cent. Greg Emery and Jim Peter shared scoring honors with 14 points each.

North notched one per cent better, 25 of 56 for 44.

The area's No. 3 scorer Jim Fredericks returned to the North lineup after missing key clashes with Franklin and John Glenn and popped in 18 points with Mike Daley adding 14.

"We did everything you are supposed to do to win," stated North Coach Ken

Dean. "But somehow we lost."

North hit the opening four buckets of the game and spurred to a 14 - 8 first quarter lead. Fredericks came up with eight of his points in the second quarter but his mates could only come up with two more as East sliced it to 24 - 22 at the half.

North won the third quarter, 16 - 14, to carry a 40 - 36 advantage into the last eight minutes.

With 1:21 remaining, East tied it at 50-all and Fredericks hit a 12-footer to put North back up, 52 - 50 and 50 seconds left. East missed on a shot and in a scramble, John Creighton was fouled for North but missed on a one-and-one situation.

East hauled in the rebound and Riley popped in a tying bucket and was fouled with 21 seconds showing on the clock. The East sophomore made good his charity toss to put East up for the first time.

North then had its opportunity with 21 seconds remaining but then came the dribble off the foot and a bounce into the loss column. Dennis McCrary's 12 grabs paced North to a 37 - 13 advantage on the boards. North travels to Thurston Friday and East hosts Franklin in Northwest loop action.

Groves tips Lathrup, 63-50

Southfield Lathrup got in foul trouble and in the process lost a key Met Suburban loop clash.

Birmingham Groves overcame a first quarter, 18-12 deficit, to romp past the Chargers, 63-50.

It was Lathrup's third setback in the Met in six games and its seventh overall against six wins. The Met defending champs came up with 31 fouls with Groves' 23 of 35 performance at the free throw the difference. Lathrup's six of 30 from the floor in the second half didn't help matters with Groves taking the second half, 32-21.

Groves also won the rebound battle, 40-33.

"I knew we would have to hit the boards to beat Groves," said Lathrup Coach Jim Kourtakakis. "But we just didn't."

"We have to be the most sporadic team around," he added. "But I still think we have a shot at winning the Met. We are capable of winning the last four since we are against front-runner Royal Oak Dondero."

Dondero is on top of the Met with a 5-1 mark followed by Rochester Adams at 5-2, Lahser at 4-3 and then comes Lathrup at 3-3.

Groves finished just one field goal better in the league battle, 20 of 50 from the field for 40 per cent while Lathrup hit 19 of 57 for 33 per cent.

John Gardner who finished with 19 points for Lathrup hit for eight of those in the first quarter and along with Jim Ballantyne's six points got Lathrup off to an 18-12 first quarter edge.

But Groves took the second quarter, 19-11, to grab a 31-29 lead at the half. Groves hit nine of 10 from the charity line in that quarter. Lathrup's Ron Silberstein was already guilty of three fouls and Scott Spelich four.

Groves pulled away in the third, 16-12 and Ballantyne, Spelich, and Silberstein all fouled out for Lathrup early in the fourth while Tom Hart and Gardner were playing with four fouls. Box score:

Last-second technical downs Southfield

The Southfield Blue Jays have come up with a new way to lose a basketball game.

After leading the entire game over favored Berkley, a bucket with two seconds remaining tied things up for Berkley at 63-61.

A Southfield player in the hectic chaos that followed called for a timeout, only to find that Southfield had no timeouts remaining.

Thus Berkley was awarded a technical foul and possession of the ball. Bruce Flowers, who finished with 23 points, popped in the charity toss and Southfield lost 64-63.

This disheartening South-eastern Michigan loop loss has to take its toll on the Blue Jays who just two weeks ago snapped a four game losing streak with wins over Wyandotte and Birmingham Seaholm. Now they have dropped back down to an overall, 4-9 record, and Coach Don Kaump knows it is going to be an uphill battle from here on.

Berkley led after one quarter, 15-13, but it was all Southfield after that, except for the last two seconds. Ira Labensky and Greg Miller each popped in six points in the second quarter for Southfield as the Blue Jays spurred to a 32-26 halftime margin.

Southfield spurred by as much as 10 points in the fourth period after leading at the end of three quarters, 49-40. But Berkley came back with a barrage of free throws in the fourth.

Berkley wound up making good, 16 of 19 from the charity line in the quarter, finishing 22 of 28 from the line overall.

With 57 seconds remaining, Miller's two free throws gave Southfield a 62-59 margin. With 46 seconds left, Bob Porter cut it to 62-61 for Berkley.

At the 10 second mark, Southfield let an opportunity to cash in on victory slip away. Robin Richards converted only one of two from the line for Southfield to make it 63-61. Then came Porter's field goal in the closing seconds that notched it up at 63-61 and then came the timeout that was not to be. Flowers hit on the technical. Berkley got control of the ball and the game.

Both clubs made 21 field goals, Southfield, 21 of 61 for 34 per cent and Berkley, 21 of 62. Southfield missed 10 free throws in that disastrous fourth quarter.

Berkley held the rebound edge, 47-36.

Northern routs Stevenson, 84-45

Pontiac Northern's pressure did a job on Livonia Stevenson.

After a nip and tuck first quarter, the Huskies exploded for 28 points in the second quarter while holding the Spartans to 10. The 43-22 margin at the half all but decided the outcome.

It was Northern, 84-45, at the final buzzer.

"The officials just let the game get away from them," commented Stevenson Coach George VanWagoner. "The contest was at their place and we got blitzed that second quarter."

"For all practical purposes, we were done in the second quarter. Before going over there, I really thought we had a chance," added the Stevenson coach whose Spartans now stand at 1-4 in the Inter-Lakes loop and 5-8 overall.

Northern took the third quarter, 17-6, and the final eight minutes, 24-17.

Northern wound up popping in twice as many buckets as Stevenson. The Huskies hit 36 of 68 from the floor for 53 per cent and the Spartans finished 18 of 62 for a 29 per cent.

Stevenson's 15 fumbles and 28 turnovers helped the losing cause.

Stevenson's lack of offensive punch came in the two-some of Jim Gilliland and Ray Davis. Gilliland popped in 26 and Davis 19 in the victory over Waterford, 65-60.

Northern's defense blocked off this 45 point two-some and held Gilliland scoreless and Davis to just two points.

Northern is now on top of the Inter-Lakes with a 5-0 mark followed by Waterford at 3-2. Stevenson hosts Walled Lake Central Friday. Box score:

Tigers falling in Tri-River

Cherry Hill dumps West

Execution has now cost Garden City West two key Tri-River games and a bounce from the No. 1 spot.

Two weeks ago, West was unbeaten in Tri-River basketball play at 6-0 but Riverside came along and bumped off Chris Babler's crew, 73-64.

Now Cherry Hill took its turn and toppled West, 57-50, to leave Riverside on top at 7-1 and West and Cherry Hill next best with 6-2 marks.

"We just have not been executing," said Babler. "I just can't get the kids to go inside. We should bounce back from these two losses. The kids are too good to fall apart now."

West could only come up with a five of 14 in the first quarter, falling behind Cherry Hill, 18-11. West then missed three straight one-and-one situations in the second and hit four of 12 from the floor to slip behind at the half, 30-20.

Cherry Hill then fell victim to West's half-court press in the third quarter. The Tigers reeled off 11 straight points but had to settle for a 16-14 period making it 44-36 after three quarters.

West also won the fourth quarter, 14-13, but the Tigers just didn't have the spark to overcome the first half deficit.

West finished with two more field goals, 22 of 52 for 42 per cent while Cherry Hill hit on 20 of 50 for 40 per cent.

The difference came at the charity line where Cherry Hill made good 17 of 23 tosses, 10 of those coming in the final quarter.

Servite handles Borgess

"If we were a second half ball club, things would be different around here," explained Coach Jim Brisky after his Bishop Borgess cagers fell to Servite in Catholic Double A action, 76-62.

"We simply don't have the horses to last that second half."

It was six weeks prior that Borgess pulled off a surprise stall in upending Servite, 32-31. This time Brisky knew his tactic just wouldn't work.

It wound up being Borgess' 11th setback in 15 games.

Servite jumped off to an early 4-0 lead and took a 23-13 lead after one quarter. Borgess then moved into a zone and hit nine of 13 from the floor in the second quarter. Dan Kelly scored nine points and Borgess sliced it to 33-32 at the half.

"We were coming around and then the second half started, the officials blew a goal tending call and Servite reeled off eight straight points," commented the Borgess coach. "Servite just pulled away after that."

Servite won the third quarter, 19-8, and the fourth stanza, 24-22. Borgess' four of 14 from the floor showing in the third took the drive out of the Spartans.

Borgess finished 26 of 51 from the field for 51 per cent and Servite hit on 32 of 62 for 50 per cent. Dan Kelly paced the up and down Borgess assault with 21 points followed by Greg Drypen with 17. Box score:

Thurston falls, 78-61

Thurston remained in the cellar of the Northwest Suburban loop basketball race.

Oak Park dumped the Eagles, 78-61, for Thurston's sixth straight defeat in the Northwest and its 12th overall in 13 matches. It was also Thurston's ninth consecutive loss since its victory back on Dec. 11, 1973 against Dearborn Ann Arbor, 64-54.

The Eagles spurred to an early, 10-6 lead and slipped behind after one quarter, 21-20. The Redskins opened it to 40-33, at the half and gradually pulled away, winning the third quarter, 19-16, and the final, 19-12.

Thurston wound up 22 of 66 from the field for 33 per cent and the Redskins, tied with Livonia Franklin for the league top spot, hit 31 of 74 for 44 per cent.

Thurston did win the battle of the boards, 42 to 37, Curt Beadle hauling in 10 and Gary Biretta 11.

The dominating factor was points and Borgess sliced it to 33-32 at the half.

"We were coming around and then the second half started, the officials blew a goal tending call and Servite reeled off eight straight points," commented the Borgess coach. "Servite just pulled away after that."

Aggies lose 12th

The Aggies were mauled again.

For the seventh times in seven weeks, St. Agatha was humbled on the basketball court.

St. Alphonsus blitzed St. Agatha, 74-37, for the Aggies' 12th setback in 13 outings. Seven were by a 15 point margin or more. St. Agatha has now been outscored, 914 points to 669 in the 13 games total. Seven of the 12 losses were by a margin of 20 points.

It was St. Alphonsus, 16-10 after one quarter, and up to 41-18 at the half and 60-26 heading into the last eight minutes.

Rick Mond and Mike Rex were the solo Aggies to hit the double figure scoring mark with 10 points each. Results:

Mott blitzes Canton

Plymouth Canton cage coach Casey Cavell is hoping No. 13 proves lucky for his Chiefs.

Waterford Mott, the second best club in the Western Six loop, ripped Canton, 78-55, for Canton's 13th loss in thus far a winless season.

But 13 is where Cavell is hoping this unwanted streak comes to an end.

Canton is hosting Farmington Harrison this Saturday night and according to Cavell, they are going to be shooting for this one in a big way.

"We want this one," said Cavell. "Harrison nipped us in the first round, 54-52, and it would be nice to get that first varsity win ever on our home court."

A poor first quarter set the stage for the Mott disaster as the Chiefs hit on only four of 15 from the floor with Mott dancing to a 23-9 lead.

Mott popped in another 23 points in the second to all but seal up the win with a 46-24 margin at the half. Canton did settle down in the second half with Mott boasting just a slim, 32-31 margin.

Canton hit 21 of 59 from the floor for 36 per cent. Tom Close was the solo Chief to break the double figure scoring mark with 10 points. Mott finished 34 of 70 for 49 per cent. Box score:

RU drops 10th

Redford Union head coach Carl Andrews tabbed it the "worst officiated game he has ever witnessed. Dearborn chalked it up as win No. 5 in the Suburban Eight.

Dearborn ran up a 14-7 first quarter score, pushed it to 30-11 at the half and coasted in with a 30 point second half while holding RU to eight points in the third period and 12 in the fourth.

"This was a rough one," commented Andrews whose Panthers now stand 2-6 in the loop and 3-10 overall. "The game was just full of fouls but very few were called, except on us."

Neither team came up with any resemblance of a good shooting performance. RU hit on only 12 of 60 for 20 per cent and Dearborn, 20 of 66 for 30 per cent. RU did win the rebound contest, 46-29.

This week's action pits Allen Park at RU Friday. Box score:

Arrowsmith's aim is better health care

Wayne County citizens who are interested in quality health care should pay close attention to remarks of Commissioner Brian G. Arrowsmith, 27th District Republican who is also chairman of the County Board of Health. Arrowsmith serves with two other commissioners on the five - member health board which is the policy making body that enforces federal, state and local health laws and establishes county health regulations.

A county commissioner since January 1973, and a member of the Board of Health since May 1973, Arrowsmith believes that the commissioners' new presence on the health board will contribute immensely toward the identification of health needs and the solution to health problems.

Commissioners began serving on the health board for the first time in February of last year. Arrowsmith's 27th District includes Wayne, Belleville, Plymouth and part of Westland, plus the townships of Canton, Plymouth, Sumpter, Van Buren and some of Northville.

While noting that there are many health priorities that deserve equal attention, Arrowsmith thinks that the first chores of the health board should begin with air pollution control, safe waste disposal systems and respiratory disease control.

He also emphasizes the importance of public health programs such as food inspection and inspection of nursing homes, control of venereal disease, and Project PRESCAD (preschool, school-age and adolescent) and other programs for protection of school children.

Arrowsmith pointed out that the Board of Health recently passed a resolution declaring that "penalties for infractions of air pollution requirements should be similar throughout the state of Michigan.

The resolution urges the Legislature to increase the court fines that may be imposed on air polluters in Wayne County from $100 per day to $10,000 per day.

"It is ironic that only in Wayne County, which has the heaviest concentration of industry and therefore the biggest problem, the maximum fine is only $100," said Arrowsmith.

"In all 82 other counties in Michigan, a violator may be fined $10,000," he added.

"Some firms consider the $100 fine to be a cost of doing business because it is less expensive than the equipment needed to comply with the regulations that we have enacted."

At the same time Arrowsmith called for flexibility with industry "where necessary."

He noted that the health board, in response to the energy crisis, recently approved a one-year moratorium on regulations governing sulfur content of coal so that suppliers could meet emergency demands for heating of private homes, apartment buildings and small commercial establishments.

Waste disposal in Sumpter Township is another major concern of Arrowsmith. He refers to preliminary studies undertaken last summer which suggest that the system is inadequate.

If the final report supports early suspicions, he says he will urge immediate corrective action from both the Board of Health and the Board of Commissioners.

Although Arrowsmith lives in Canton Township and represents that vicinity on both the Board of Health and Board of Commissioners, his concerns also extend into inner-city Detroit.

The county operates a tuberculosis clinic on Park Avenue in the "Cass Corridor" where there is high incidence of respiratory disease that he wants eradicated.

"It is apparent that at least one of the clinic programs must be expanded if we are to eliminate this disease," he stated.

Part of the expansion, he said, should include an extended "out-reach" program, which would seek out and maintain direct contact with transient individuals who are hard to locate because they live in the same place for only brief periods.

Arrowsmith praised a volunteer citizens' group called the Park Avenue Auxiliary which has been studying the clinic operation and also recommends more out-reach and follow - up efforts.

He also has high praise for John Stock, acting director of the health department, and for all department heads.

"We have some very excellent health officials who are working very hard to assure the well - being of our communities," he said.

Arrowsmith was elected to his first two-year term on the Board of Commissioners in November 1972. It is his first time holding political office and he is one of only three Republicans on the board.

He is a graduate of Wayne Memorial High School and Eastern Michigan University, where he earned a bachelor of science degree and teaching certificate in 1969.

On the Board of Commissioners he is a member of the Ways and Means Committee, the General Government Committee, and a special sub - committee studying the salaries of county elected officials and other chief administrative officers.

Arrowsmith was appointed to the Board of Health by his 26 colleagues on the Board of Commissioners, and will serve a five - year term.

Others on the Board of Health are Mrs. Geraldine O'Loan of Detroit, Conrad Mallet and James DeSana, both county commissioners, and Dr. Don J. Litzenger.

Canton country store thrives after 45 years

"I never pass a little country store. Remote from rush and hurry of the town, its roof and walls dust-stained and weather-brown, Without an impulse to walk in the door..."
--KATHERINE EDELMAN

By JUDITH BERNE

CANTON — Three generations of the Colburn Dennis family have made their living from the general store on Canton Center Road which serves up groceries and gasoline to residents of and wayfarers through Canton township.

Its paneled walls, dimly-lit interior and jars of penny candy are a soothing contrast to the starkness, neon lights and elimination of the penny characteristic of modern day supermarkets.

And to its proprietors, Colburn Dennis Jr. known as 'Colb' and Colburn Dennis III, known as 'Butch', customers are not unknown faces in the check-out line, but persons to talk to and to know.

"Being friendly is just as important as what you sell," Colb firmly believes. "I like talking to people. The old guys come in for a loaf of bread and stay half an hour to talk."

Colb remembers when his father built and opened the store back in 1928. "We lived above the store and all around us were farms. In those days the market carried such items as men's work shoes and rubber boots, wash tubs, wash boards and nails in addition to grocery staples.

"People bought all their needs from us; now it has become more of an odds and ends kind of business."

Sporting a diamond ring on his finger and about to leave for a month's vacation in Florida, Colb doesn't deny that he and his family have made a good living through most of the years. "Every year business gets a little — not a lot — better."

During the depression, Colb recalled times when his dad might only take in $4 all day long. "When people didn't come in, he decided to go to them. He took a grocery truck on the road stocked with a little bit of everything. It kept the wolf from the door."

When Colburn Dennis Sr. died early this January the market was closed all day for only the second time in its 45-year history. The other time was for Colb's mother's funeral back in February of 1951.

"With those exceptions, we've been open at least a portion of every day including Christmas and New Year's," Colb continued. And in all those hours of business there has never been a robbery attempt. "I've carried a gun for 30 years and never had to use it. Sure glad I didn't."

Colburn Dennis III recently became a partner in his dad's business and both men evidence no worries about the two shopping centers proposed for their immediate vicinity. "I don't believe they will hurt us one bit — they might even bring more people out here," Colb declared.

As a steady stream of customers kept the cash register ringing and the gas pumps in use, the Dennis' general store seemed as timely as ever.

As one woman told Colb, "I spend $25 at the supermarket during my Saturday 'big shopping' and $50 on what I buy here all week long."

Pursell sparks state help in safety drive

PLYMOUTH

Senator Carl Pursell (R - Plymouth) has obtained the help of the Michigan State Police and the Safety Division of the State Highway Department in developing a two - prong safety program for Plymouth School District.

State Police officials have agreed to analyze the five most critical traffic intersections as a first target in reducing accidents near Plymouth schools.

Sen. Pursell also obtained an agreement with state highway officials to provide a complete up - date on all new expressways, routes and cloverleafs which will assist persons in recognizing potentially congested areas.

Mrs. Flossie Tonda, chairman of the School Safety Committee, and school officials, met with Sen. Pursell and state officials to initiate this program.

Fire count drops in twp. for 1973

By MAURIE WALKER

PLYMOUTH Township recorded three fewer fires in 1973 than reported in 1972. Fire Chief James Gignac said in reporting that 225 fires occurred last year compared with 228 in the previous year.

Value of property destroyed by fire last year totaled $164,390 while the 1972 figure hit $217,230.

There were 11 fires attributed to arson last year causing $106,700 in damages. In 1972 there were also 11 arsons causing destruction valued at $91,825, Gignac said.

"We had two bomb threats last year compared with five in 1972," the chief said.

The fire department responded to 14 more alarms last year than it did in 1972, the figures reading 677 in 1972 compared to 691 last year.

False alarms last year totaled 13, the same as in 1972 while ambulance runs climbed to 410 in 1973 from 405 in 1972.

The township fire department assisted other departments in eight fires last year and responded to 17 rescue runs. In the previous year, the department assisted other departments in 12 fires and 17 rescue runs, according to Gignac.

The chief said causes of fires were broken down in categories with carelessness responsible for 35 fires; lighting 15; electrical problems 15; overheating of stoves or furnaces 17; petroleum products two, and fires caused by juveniles four.

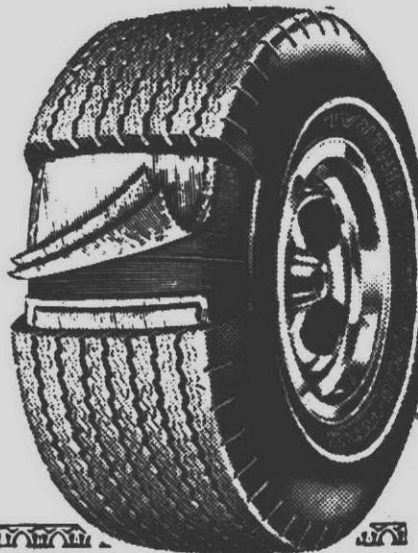

"Even though we had only three fewer fires last year, the fire loss in terms of dollars was reduced substantially," Gignac said.

Ad firm names Livonia man vice president

Gustafson - Whitmer Advertising Inc. of Ann Arbor has announced the election of Livonia resident Marc A. Williams as company vice president.

Williams joined the advertising firm in 1968 as a layout artist, and for the past year has acted as creative director. He will continue that responsibility in his new position as vice president.

HONORED BY POWER MAGAZINE for its programs in design, methodology and operating practices in conserving energy sources, the Livonia Chevrolet Spring and Bumper plant was awarded the Energy Conservation Award by Power's editor-in-chief James J. O'Connor. An orange and black flag and a plaque were presented to James W. McLernon, Chevrolet's general manufacturing manager; plant manager Richard Dauch, and George Johnson of Plymouth, regional plant manager. Shown in the presentation are (from left) Dauch, O'Connor, Johnson and McLernon. (Observer photo by Bob Woodring).

GOP unit fights authorization of teacher strikes

LIVONIA - In a letter to members of the Michigan State House and Senate Appropriations and Education Committees, the Livonia GOP Women have criticized actions by the Legislative Task Force on Act 379 for recommending legalizing teacher strikes.

"Legalizing public employee strikes means goodbye to education professionalism, service and safety," the group's president, Virginia C. Huestes, said in the letter. The G.O.P. Women further suggested that "individual financial penalties for days struck" might be one method of dealing with the problem.

The letter also states the opposition of the group to reduced time proposals in the "aftermath of an illegal strike," and asks whether the Lansing legislators are afraid of striking teachers.

Schoolcraft forms energy study unit

As a follow-up to his Phase I program for energy conservation, President C. Nelson Grote has formed a campus-wide committee for further conservation as needed at Schoolcraft College.

The 11 member committee will act in an advisory capacity directly responsible to the president. Its duties will include serving as a source of information to the college community concerning state and federal regulations or guidelines regarding energy measures.

At its first meeting Jan. 15, Dr. Grote charged the committee with these four specific tasks: first, the evaluation of Phase I and a report on its implementation and effectiveness; second, the refinement of Phase I including additions, deletions, and exceptions; third, the development of contingency plans; and fourth, the development of long-range plans.

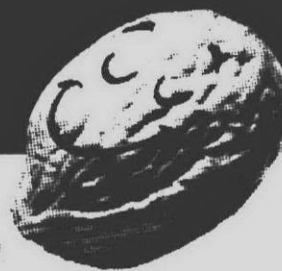

The committee is composed of representatives from all areas of campus activity. Members include Norman Wheeler, director of institutional research and planning, and committee chairman; E.F. Petersen, manager of business services; Larry Ordowski, director of liberal arts; Ron Griffith, director of community services; Delavan Sipes, electronics instructor; Sandra Florek, counselor; Robert Stover, maintenance schedule coordinator; Harold Rossow, maintenance shift leader; Jean Miller, secretary; Shirley Lepler, president of the student activities board; Margitta Lutz, president of the veterans club; and Art Pepin, editor of the Campus Globe.

The committee plans to meet frequently to discuss changing energy situations, and will issue periodic bulletins to keep the campus community informed. Persons with suggestions may contact any committee member or Chairman Wheeler at the college.

Retirees aid SC

Retired persons are now serving as volunteers at Schoolcraft College as part of the National Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP).

The purpose of this program, which is part of the national Total Action Program, is to match community needs with the skills and resources of retired persons. This matching creates meaningful volunteer work for senior adults.

RSVP participants never replace an employee, but offer additional human qualities to services offered by non-profit organizations.

Four people are currently serving as volunteers at Schoolcraft. They have assisted during registration and also give of their time in the writing concepts center. The concepts center is part of the College's English composition program.

According to Betty Andrews, Schoolcraft's senior adult affairs coordinator, their participation encourages interaction between students, faculty, staff, and retirees. "We all need good models for the later years to erase stereotypes," she added.

Volunteers generally work close to home and are not expected to assume any expenses. Whenever possible, transportation and meal costs are reimbursed.

Retired persons who desire to learn more about the RSVP program should call Ms. Andrews at the college. Schoolcraft is located at 18600 Haggerty Road in Livonia.

MRS. IVA GOLDKETTE is one of the first to serve in the Retired Senior Volunteer Program at Schoolcraft College. A Livonia resident, she helped serve coffee during winter term registration and helps in the writing concepts center.

Retired federal workers meet

The Western Wayne County Chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees will have its next meeting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 13 in the home of Franklin L. Page, 15236 Willowbrook Dr., Plymouth.

Secretary Robert B. Gordon of Livonia said that all retired federal employees are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be served.

ROBERT M. BAUMGARTEN of Westland has been named an agent for Allstate Insurance Co. with an office in Lincoln Park. Baumgarten lives at 37127 N. Orchard Circle.

On dean's list

PLYMOUTH — Kathleen A. Houppert of 15073 Robinwood in Plymouth has been named to the Saginaw Valley College dean's list for the fall semester. She was awarded the honor for having achieved a grade point average of more than 3.0.

Heating the outdoors wastes natural gas

CHECK YOUR ATTIC PROPER INSULATION SAVES FUEL AND MONEY

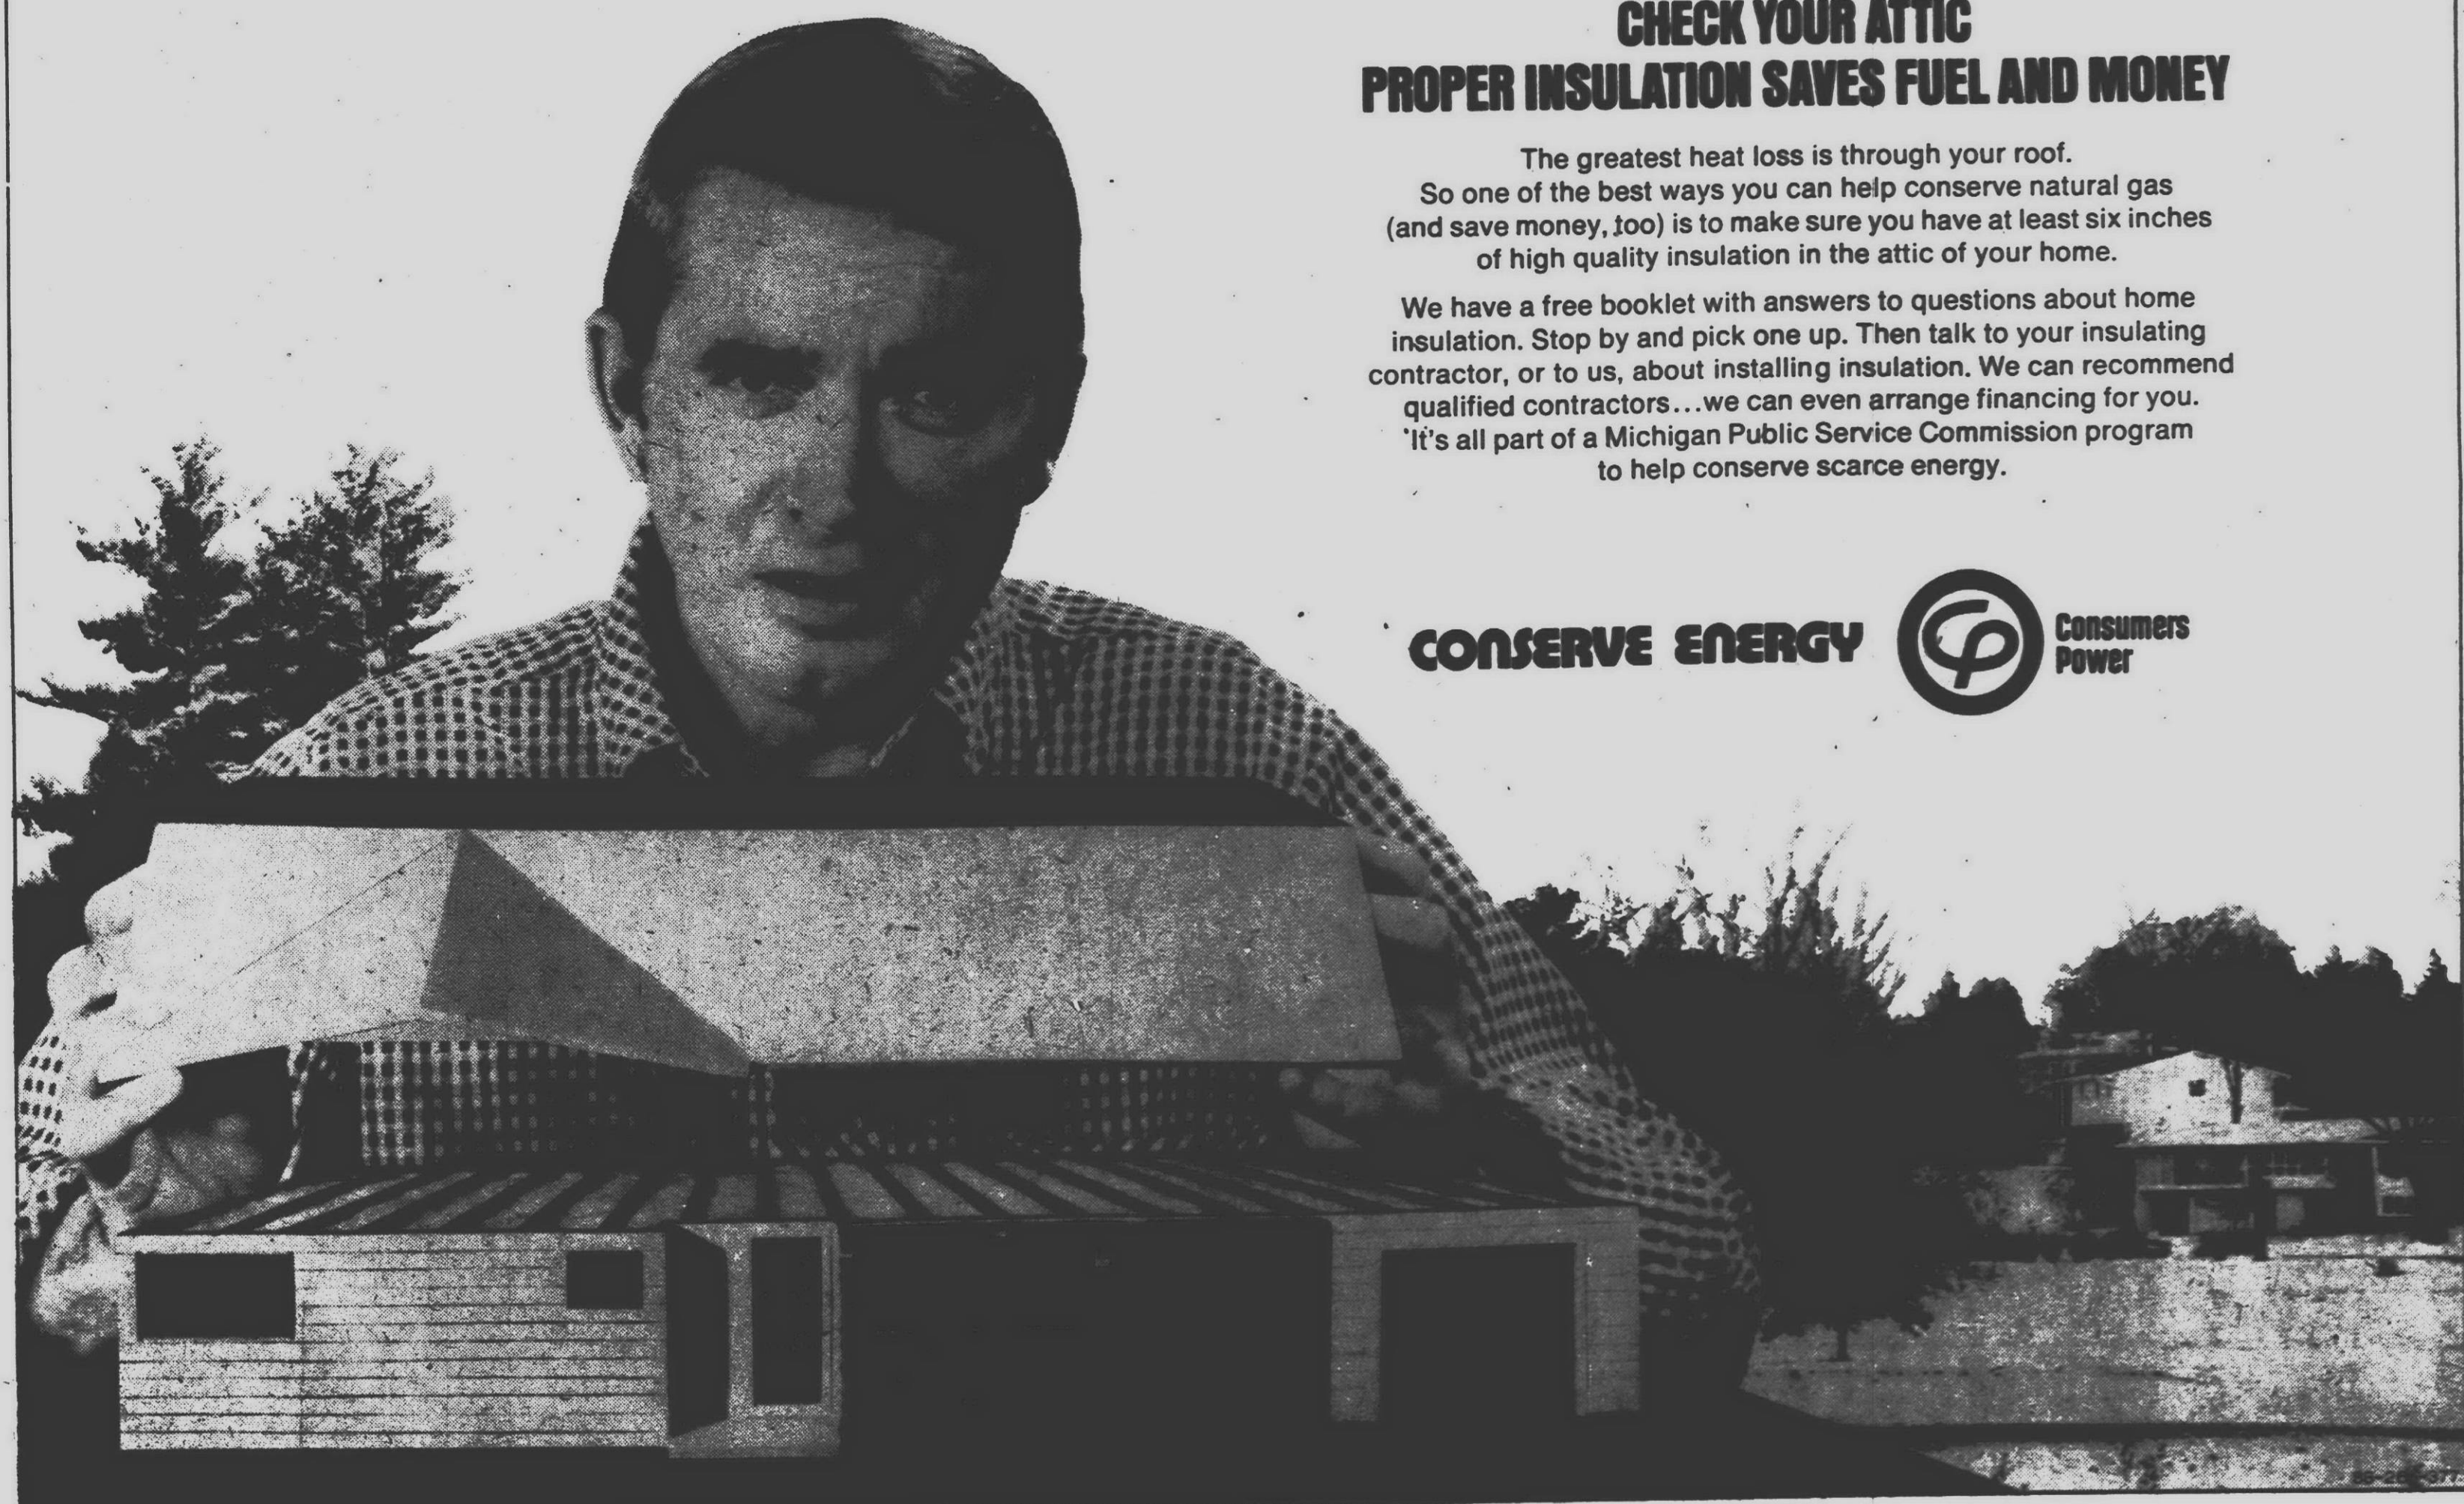

The greatest heat loss is through your roof. So one of the best ways you can help conserve natural gas (and save money, too) is to make sure you have at least six inches of high quality insulation in the attic of your home.

We have a free booklet with answers to questions about home insulation. Stop by and pick one up. Then talk to your insulating contractor, or to us, about installing insulation. We can recommend qualified contractors...we can even arrange financing for you. It's all part of a Michigan Public Service Commission program to help conserve scarce energy.

CONSERVE ENERGY

Consumers Power

Think Tank

We're sure that by now you've had it up to there with talk about the energy crisis. We have, too. So what do you say we both do something about it?

Let's go on a gas diet. The American Automobile Association (AAA) has asked its sixteen-million members across the country to voluntarily cut gas usage by twenty-five percent to avoid gas rationing. As part of this national effort, we're asking you and all Michigan drivers to join in.

We're not suggesting that we starve ourselves to the point of stalling. On the contrary. Let's keep traveling by trimming away excess gasoline usage. (Cut down, so to speak, on galories.)

Think Tank. That's what Think Tank is all about: Sharing ideas so that together we can save enough gas to avoid rationing. We'd like you to think more about your gas tank and come up with as many gas saving ideas as you can. Send them to us and we'll share them with everyone else.

Six tips you might be tankful for.

To get us started here are some gas saving ideas:

1. Use a light touch. Drive your car like you had an egg between your foot and the gas pedal. Try not to break the egg.

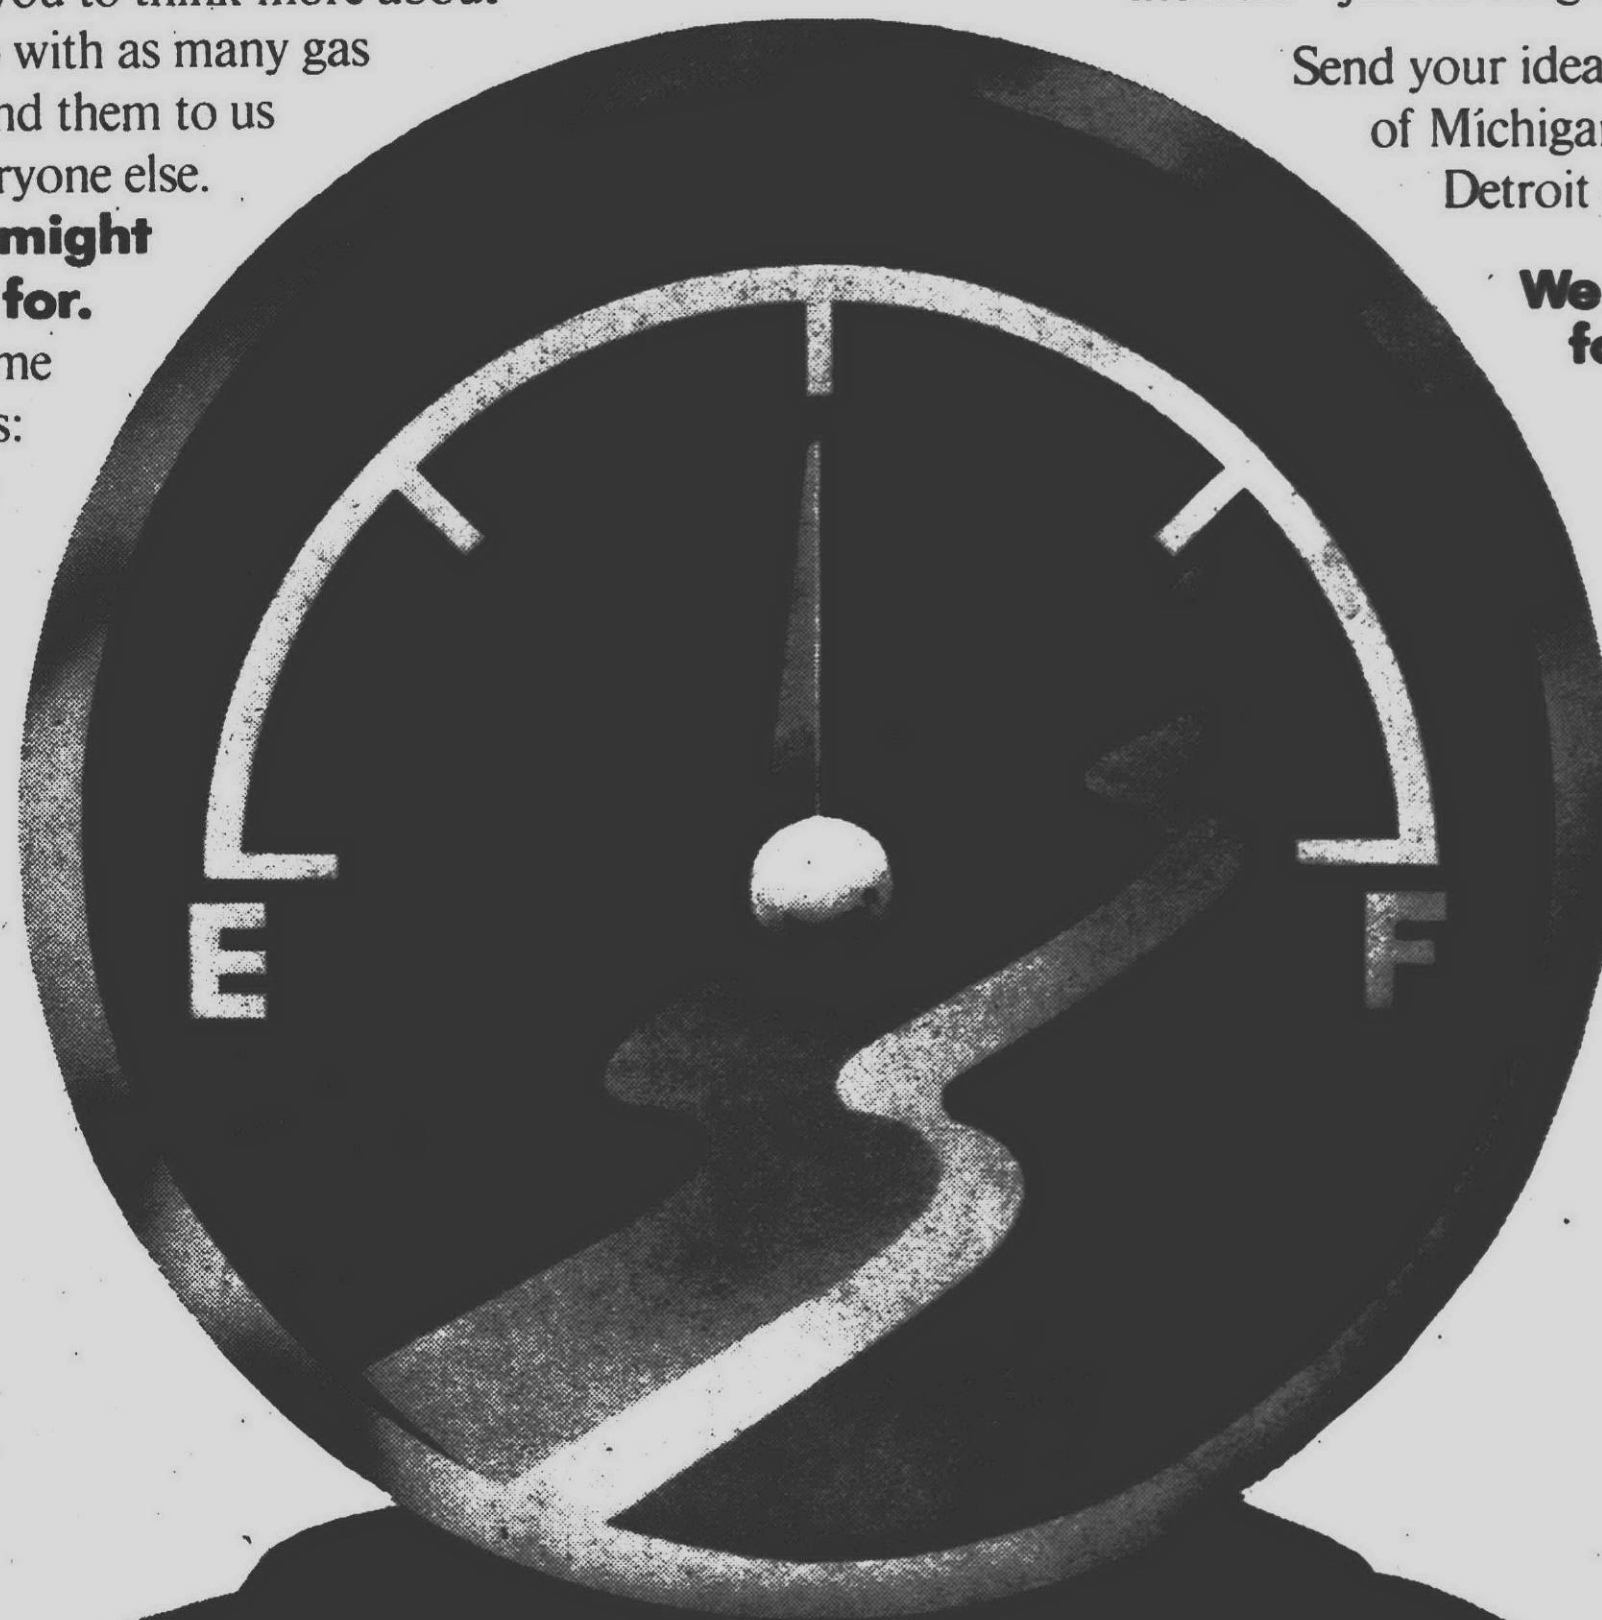

2. Look ahead for ways to gently slow your car without using the brake pedal.
3. Drive 55 mph or less.
4. Plan ahead to make shopping trips in a straight line without doubling back or crossing your own path.
5. Make sure your car is tuned-up and tires are properly inflated.
6. Join a car pool.

Now send us your ideas. Most of our ideas you've already heard. Send us yours. (Don't be shy, now. The idea that just popped into your head has probably never been thought of before.) We'll send you a Think Tank bumper sticker and membership card to prove you're doing your part to avoid gas rationing.

Where to send them. Your ideas can concern anything from camping vehicles to power mowers—just so long as they save gas.

Send your ideas to the Automobile Club of Michigan, 150 Bagley Ave., Detroit 48226.

We want to do more for you.

FOUR BARGAIN DAYS AWAIT SHOPPERS

We're Helping to Curb The ENERGY WASTE! how about YOU!

53 STORES AND SERVICES

LIVONIA MALL

7 Mile Road at Middlebelt

So what's a "Doorway Sale"? No, the Mall is not actually selling their doorways, but because there are no sidewalks in an enclosed Mall it becomes the place where the stores set their biggest marked-down clearance items on tables and racks for their customers. Bringing back for a few days the old-world atmosphere of a sidewalk bazaar.

However, due to the limited space available to each store not all their best values can be set outside, so be sure to look inside throughout for other markdowns that could save you lots of hard-earned cash. In fact, the shortage of storage space for seasonal items and short lot items is the reason so many of the Mall stores even price remaining stock below their cost to make room for the new Spring merchandising that is now arriving.

Some of the many planned "other" activities at the Mall during the sale are sure to keep the kiddies and dad happy and maybe even bring your home a nice gift in the form of a box of steaks or even a $50 fruit basket if you're lucky.

For the children there will be the petting zoo stationed by Crowley's where the children can see a variety of animals free, or even go inside and pet them for a nominal 25 cents -- bring your camera, children and animals just naturally go together.

For Dad, or Mom or even the whole family there'll be a championship miniature golf course, the Village Green. For a small greens fee you'll be able to challenge other members of your family, or even yourself. With prizes and surprises for the "hole in one"ers. Located by Sears. It's brand new and a "first" in the area.

Back by popular demand we're once again featuring the "Grate" Steak Out where you can get to sample pieces of delicious Delmonico steaks and enter for a

Shop With a Friend

Since the corner store has gone out of vogue we have almost become four-wheel shoppers, depending heavily on automobile transportation.

Cars are here to stay, of course, but at Livonia Mall we suggest shopping pools. Take your neighbors or friends on shopping excursions. Take turns driving and you'll find the gas bill decidedly reduced, you'll be contributing to energy conservation, and you'll likely enjoy your shopping companions.

We can adequately handle most automobiles with our 4,500 parking spaces, but if each car carried a shopping pool, it would be a favor to shoppers and our environment.

Livonia Mall is aware of the energy shortage and has taken steps to reduce power output. Read about them inside the latest Mall Messenger.

chance to win one of 25, 5 lb. boxes of steaks being given away. If you like them and are not one of the lucky 25 they'll also be available for purchase, at sale prices naturally. McInerney's, not to be outdone, will be giving away one of their famous $50 fruit baskets to some lucky person, plus 10 other prizes, all deliciously edible. Of course a purchase is not necessary, just register. But one entry per person, please.

Thursday night as you concentrate on family shopping and saving there'll be soothing danceable music brought to you by the "Dreamers" from 7-9 p.m. Give them a hand as you go 'buy,' all entertainers respond better to applause.

Thursday and Friday night from 7-9 p.m. if you delight in a challenge, then come to the auction in the Community Room.

Fletcher's Hobbies will be auctioning off trains and car sets, hobby supplies and many other related items, some will go for as much as 90% savings. Be there early because there is only room for 200 people at a time.

Reminiscent of an old-time carnival and warm summer weather the "Diggers", a carnival game, will be in the Crowley's Court to help quiet the nagging of the teenagers who get so quickly bored with shopping. Leave them play and enjoy themselves and maybe win a prize or two while you enjoy saving your money and shopping during the Mall's long awaited Spring Doorway Sale.

Hey Kids! Don't Miss Petting Our Animal Friends

Have the kids chum with the animals. Here's a rare chance to see our four-legged friends at close range, and for only 25¢ youngsters can pet them to their hearts' content.

The "Grate" Steak Returns

Because of many requests Livonia Mall will be holding its "Grate" Steak Out again this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Chefs from the HOUSE OF PORTION CONTROL MEATS will be there cooking some of their delicious steaks for you to sample a portion.

Along with the tantalizing smells of broiling steaks you will have the chance to win your very own 5 lb. box of Delmonico steaks. Each box contains 10 meal-sized Delmonicos, freshly wrapped and sealed and frozen ready for your home freezer, and there's 25 boxes of them to be given away.

The display, situated in front of Kresge's, will have entry blanks available. There's nothing to buy, just register, but one entry per person and only one box of steaks per family. Drawing will be Monday, Feb. 11.

Here's A Gas-Saving Idea: Do Your Shopping At Livonia Mall

Ever stopped to think just how much gas you can save by shopping at a regional shopping center? By making one trip you can save on the mileage you'd build up traveling from store to store the old-fashioned way of 20 years ago, or so. You can also cut down on the number of trips necessary to do all your shopping and combine many shopping trips into one.

At Livonia Mall you can get your hair coiffured while the automobile is being repaired. You can purchase your week's groceries after you've selected your families' wardrobe for the season and even get your shoes repaired while waiting for the men to have their hair skillfully barbered. Then all go out to one of the Mall restaurants for dinner followed by an evening of relaxation at the movies.

In this gasoline shortage conscious time it's possible to get the most from your liquid gold by planning all your purchases and services and then going to Livonia Mall where you can find everything from Apples to Zithers available. By the way, help even more by planning with your neighbors and form a car-pool for the day, or use the available bus lines.

A Better Idea?

LIVONIA MALL

Mall Balances Energy Savings With Customer Shopping Needs

What does a dynamic, thriving regional shopping center do to conserve energy, yet retain shopping convenience and efficiency for the thousands of customers that depend on that center's services for their daily shopping needs.

In the wake of the crisis' first big surge Livonia Mall took measures to slash energy use. The Livonia Mall, as one of the area's biggest businesses and a town center, has implemented many energy saving measures such as turning down thermostats, dimming lights, especially high energy spotlights in the stores, cutting back instore demonstrations of electric appliances and even turning off the big Livonia landmark, their pylon, shortly after closing.

However, faced with the problems of security and safety to their customers in the parking lots, the Mall has decided to restrict only the lights within the Mall, yet maintain a well-lighted parking area during the hours of darkness.

The center Mall lights have been converted from high energy spots to bare strip tube lighting, which is the most efficient use of energy for lighting. And even the power of the new lights have been cut in half.

Drop ceilings in most of the stores and mall courts have helped by conserving heat loss directly through the roof (the main cause of heat loss) by the insulating properties of the air trapped between. Some stores have yet to turn on their furnaces this winter, while others, more exposed to the elements with outside windows, have set their thermostats from 65-68°. The Mall itself is being maintained at 68°.

Fortunately, through the forethought of the Mall's owners, George Klein and Jack Shenkman and their architect, Louis G. Redstone, Livonia Mall, one of the first enclosed Malls to be built in Michigan, was constructed with few exterior windows and doorways so heating and cooling have never been excessive in use of fuels. They found the insulative powers of masonry versus glass is 275 to 1.

In December the Mall as a whole, including stores and parking lot, showed an actual savings of 10% in energy over the previous year and 25% for the Mall area itself. In the Mall area there was a cutback in wattage of approximately 2,120 watts for a period of 19 out of 24 hours, and a lesser savings on the remaining 5 hours.

The difficulty of energy planning is balancing customer comfort and shopping convenience with energy-saving measures. So far Livonia Mall has been able to maintain a balance equitable to both sides.

M-9 MIDDLEBELT-INKSTER BUS SCHEDULE

If you want to economize on the family car's gas you might try the bus service, which begins on Michigan Ave. and Inkster Rd. and heads north to Livonia Mall.

Buses have frequent runs, as shown on the schedule below, so there is a minimum of waiting if you miss one bus.

Here is an opportunity to save gas and transportation costs yet still shop conveniently.

WITH THREE TRAVEL EXPERTS WORKING TOGETHER, THIS YEAR'S VACATION TO EUROPE WILL BE YOUR BEST...

...PAN AMERICAN, the world's most experienced airline does the flying.

...AMERICAN EXPRESS, tops in tours will escort you once you arrive.

...and GLYNN TRAVEL will put it all together for you, from the time you leave Detroit until you get back.

EUROPE IS A BARGAIN THIS YEAR WITH THE AMERICAN EXPRESS "INCLUSIVE TOUR CHARTERS"

Have no fear on these about cancellations, delays and reduced service. Pan American 747s from New York will whisk you away on that much needed vacation regardless of the energy shortage. FORTY-ONE different vacations to fit your tastes and budget. To whet your appetite:

ENGLAND: from 278.00*

9 Days to London and the English Countryside, London - Windsor - Stratford on Avon - Cotswolds - Stonehenge - Salisbury - Bath - and Bristol.

A week in London to enjoy the Theatre life or take in Buckingham Palace - is the Queen in? Check the flag. Sup a pint at one of the Pubs. Then on to a two day bonus of some of England's most beautiful countryside.

EUROPE: from 515.00*

15 Days to England, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France.

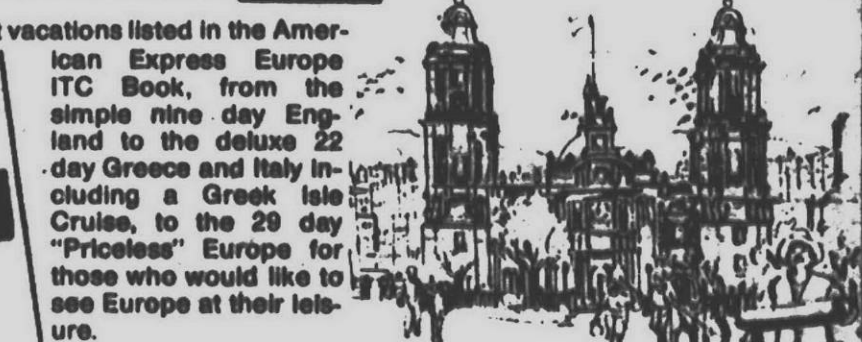

Right price for the first time visitor, this fast paced tour will show you the very best of Europe.

For those adventuresome... GUARANTEED INDIGESTION

During the 22 day tour to Portugal, Spain, and Morocco you may get to see the largest menu in the world, roasted camel prepared occasionally for Bedouin wedding feasts. (Cooked eggs are stuffed in fish, the fish is stuffed in cooked chickens, the chickens stuffed into a roasted sheep, and the sheep is stuffed into a whole camel.) This tour is priced from $743.00*. It combines Southern Europe and Northern Africa to become one of America's most popular 'sun' vacations.

*Rates quoted are from New York.
